I am a General Practitioner and a Christian and am concerned that marriage is preserved as a life long commitment between a man and a woman. I believe marriage was created by God as a basic social unit for the good of children and society as a whole. This setting has the best opportunity to provide a healthy environment for children's development. I believe that children need the modelling and love of a same sexed and opposite sexed parent for the development of their personality, identity, sexuality and role in society.
