Name: Name suppressed

To whom this may concern.

Since very little I felt something was wrong in the world, only to grow up and realize the illegality of nature was the cause of a lot of badness going on.

I was anti cannabis until an older age, only to suddenly change my whole way of thinking after many studies, and now totally agree it is logical nature was legal and cannabis allowed to proliferate to help humanity.

Cannabis has helped me in many ways, from placing a bandaid on my skin wherever I had pain, to taking it internally and finding it help me with issues I thought were normal. My symptoms I have spoken to my doctor about are insomnia, depression and anxiety. I am lucky my doctor always helped me psychologically and didn't prescribe drugs to me. However, I am glad I found cannabis because my life has been much better ever since, and it helping me with these issues.

Two of my relatives recently died from cancer and I couldn't help them because of the laws.

In a world where nature is illegal I think it is normal that things are going wrong. If you want to help your country's people and economy, please help this plant become legal again.
