I do not support greyhound racing. As a Queensland Veterinary Science student, we are given greyhounds to use for our practicals and anatomy classes. Our uni runs a greyhound rescue facility and as student, we understand why we are given greyhounds for study purposes. But greyhound racing is a cruel industry, just like the horse racing industry, that degrades the worth of these beautiful animals, causes unnecessary injuries and harm, and essentially wastes these animals. They have such beautiful personalities and such a gentle nature, and it is a shame to see the sheer amount of these dogs that are unable to be re-homed due to permanent behavioural traits that are bred into them.
