Dear Director,

See what happens when people make money out of animals. They do not care for them, they exploit them. Once no more money can be made they become a 'waste' product to their 'owners'. It's time people are made responsible for their actions, especially when those they target have no voice of their own. If we are indeed the superior beings we have a duty to look after the vulnerable and start taking responsibility for our behavior in this world.

Sincerely,

Laura Wilks
