I do believe that marijuana should be legalized for medical purposes, It has great medical benefits that people are not aware of.

The Use of it for people with muscle pain and the temporary relief for those people who can't get it from medicine we currently use. Due to side effects, lack of effect or allergies. Use in the psychological field where it has been used to improve peoples confidence, up lift there spirits and their ability to deal with stressful scenarios.

For people with an eating disorder it can help boost their apatite or if someone suffers from epilepsy can greatly reduce the amount of seizures they have daily, another benefit to medical marijuana is that it comes in all sorts of forms, from oils rubbed on the skin to inhaling vapor to cooking and eating it in a form of food or snack there for it is suitable for all ages looking for relief in my opinion the benefits to medical marijuana greatly outweigh the disadvantages
