Summary

Submission from: Lee Burgoyne

During the holidays my son observed the latest non-smoking advertisements on the television and asked many questions about smoking. My husband and I are former heavy smokers but have been smoke free for approximately 14 years.

Our son was born with one lung and was intrigued that individuals would voluntarily cause the damage described to their lungs.

His understanding of the situation was "No Lungs, No Life!"

This was a truly enlightening concept of the truth from a 7 year old.
