Marriage is not just who you spend your life with it is the "ideal" for the family base. That is why only a man and women can produce a baby (a miracle of life). If children can be brought up by loving male and female parents, they get all that they need. Mums and Dads are different and provide different characteristics to a family. I realise that this doesn't always happen, but it should remain the ideal. I thought this issue had been voted out. Homosexuals have all the same legal rights, just not the covenant of "marriage". Please leave marriage as between one man and one woman, as it was voted in parliament and expressed by so many Australians.
