

INQUIRY INTO SAME SEX MARRIAGE LAW IN NSW

Dear who ever this may concern,

I believe we should have same-sex marriage legal in Australia. I think that also, because some parliament members are in fact in same sex relationships and marriages themselves, the other Australian Parliament members would understand that no matter how long you keep this law holding off for, it will, over time, take over the parliament's votes and the public of Australia itself will vote to have same-sex marriage laws risen.

And I see a lot of arguments against it and it all comes down to the same thing: religion. Same-sex marriage isn't to do with religion. Australians wouldn't have brought it up if it was. This is a law that needs to be looked at in an open-minded way, because of course it is shocking to some people and will be when you guys finally let same-sex couples marry. But as humans, we must as loving, compassionate, and caring beings see through and dismiss these so-called "cons" and arguments about what same-sex marriage will do to society and care about the hearts of Australian same-sex couples. You must also look at how many people support gay marriage as well. So many groups on social networking sites have been dedicated to promoting to fight for same-sex marriage laws, and almost 90,000 people have liked each of those pages. So much propaganda is brought about in today's society to promote it, so how can you be so blind and not see how desperate people are getting to get their opinions out to the Parliament and Government?

Please consider the hearts of all Australians as one for this law to be risen and used as a new way for same-sex couples to commit to one another for a lifetime.

Thankyou, I appreciate your time.

P.S. Not everybody is gay, so relax about the "whole" country turning homosexual.

P.P.S. Just please consider making it legal, just to have it there to comfort the homosexuals of Australia.

P.P.P.S. I, myself, am not gay.
