

INQUIRY INTO WATER AUGMENTATION

Name: Mr Stephen Olive

Date received: 8 May 2016

One of the problems with NSW Water Licences is that once you own a licence it can be sold & transferred to another zone or water source separate to the land title. This means that a property could actually be left without water, even if it's on a river, because a previous owner sold or transferred the Water Licence to another zone. This needs to be changed & all Water Licences transferred back to the original water sources. Only after this has happened can effective water management occur in NSW.
