INQUIRY INTO CROWN LAND IN NEW SOUTH WALES

Name: Mr Al Bloom

Date received: 19 July 2016

---

To whom it may concern,

please use Crown Land responsibly, keeping in mind the connected nature of humanity with each other and all beings.

Issues include the use of public space, which is important for community building and safety for pedestrians and bicycle riders, which will then lead on to increased bicycle use, as well as reduced automobile use, reducing pollution and creating a safer, friendlier community.

Future generations' use of Crown Land is important to experience the biodiversity that Australia has on offer, which should be conserved as a priority. It should be in no one's power for the extinction of species, especially to make way for money making, ethic breaking businesses.

Indigenous Land management and respect for the land should be better integrated into society, through trust building, increased relationships and lessons between indigenous and non-indigenous laws.

Using Crown Land to further extend the wealth and feed the greed of casino owners, and those connected to them, is detrimental to community, furthers distrust in government, and works in damaging ways to exacerbate social and created issues of gambling, drug and alcohol addictions in which these environments pick on the vulnerable.

Please consider a walk in a forest if there is one locally, or going to the ocean. Listen.

Thanks,

Al Bloom.
