I grew up in West Pennant Hills, where my mother still lives. I was a child when the M2 opened and I remember thinking "$2.50! So when I grow up, if I want to use this road it will be $5 round trip?!" Now it is $6.89, one way, more than double the original. To get from mums to the airport, includes the M2, Lane Cove Tunnel, Harbour Tunnel/Bridge and Eastern distributor. Almost $20, and thats just one way. I really do feel that it creates a class system, where people are forced to stay away, or take the older longer routes into the city simply because they can't afford $40 to get a loved one from the airport. It would be great to see some thought put into which roads are tolled, so we don't create these expensive corridors such as WPH-airport. Thank you for taking my submission and reviewing this issue.
