

INQUIRY INTO ROAD TOLLING

I am against the reintroduction of a toll on the M4, and although I do not drive now, I have sympathy for those people who have to drive to work and who will be forced to pay a toll on a road that has already been paid for through a previous toll. Many people in the west have no choice but to travel long distances to work and are struggling to make ends meet. The reintroduction of a toll on the M4 is just putting another burden on these people.
