As public school teachers and NSW Teachers Federation members we continue to campaign for the right of every student to receive a public education of the highest quality and for all students to become successful learners.

We are committed to equity and excellence for every student and in doing so assert, as was confirmed in The Review of Funding for Schooling (Gonski Review) that it costs more to deliver on these values for students with disability.

We will not stand by the currently inadequate provision of education to students with disability and the lifelong implications this inequity has.

The National Education Reform Agreement (NERA) and Australian Education Act 2013, acknowledge the requirement for, and commitment to additional funds for students with disability. The NSW government's unwavering commitment to the Gonski funding model paves the way for this investment to be realised.

We stand ready to work with our employer and NSW government in delivering equitable quality education but can only do so effectively when equipped with the necessary tools and supported by a system that is responsive to need.

We offer the following submission as an index of unmet need and a call for equity for every student.

A) Equitable access to resources for students with a disability or special needs in regional and metropolitan areas.

The biggest issue in terms of access is enabling students with disabilities is ensuring they well supported in mainstream settings within schools, not just within the existing structure of support units. Often the extra support is not there to support students in electives, they often have to return to their support class because of this. This a real problem. It narrows their curriculum considerably.

B) The impact of the Government's 'Every Student Every School' policy on the provision of education to students with a disability or special needs in New South Wales public schools.

In short the funds and staffing are not adequate to support all students who fit into these broad categories, sometimes up to a 5th pr a quarter of the enrolment.

C) Developments since the 2010 inquiry by General Purpose Standing Committee No. 2 into the provision of education to students with a disability or special needs and the implementation of its recommendations.

Basically too little in order to effectively deal with the huge increase number of students with either a diagnosed or adecdotal disability.

D) Complaint and review mechanisms within the school systems in New South Wales for parents and carers.

E) Any other related matters.
