I feel that it is an absolute disgrace that these decisions are being made despite the objections from the local community and environmental teams.

Is it not bad enough that the local communities already have to live in the stench of the current tip.

That our children can't go out to play in "fresh" air.

Perhaps the decision makers could live in the area for a few weeks and take in the aromas like we have to and maybe just maybe they will realize what they are doing in wrong.
