

Submission
No 143

INQUIRY INTO ELECTRICITY SUPPLY, DEMAND AND PRICES IN NEW SOUTH WALES

Name: Mr Janos Ertz

Date received: 16 October 2017

I think it's time politicians on both sides of the political divide stopped playing toxic politics and got serious about tackling climate change while dealing with the future of electricity supply. Rooftop solar should be recognised as a small step in the right direction and as such the feed in tariff should be set by government to a minimum price that reflects the true value of the electricity fed back into the grid. The price should take into account the fact that small scale solar generation is taking pressure off the big polluting power stations and providing a clean alternative.