The expensive demolition and rebuild of the Sydney football stadium should be put on hold until the voters and tax payers of NSW can have their say at the next election in 2019. This project is unnecessary, expensive and is pandering to the connections and power of the Sydney Cricket Ground trust. It has been made clear via petitions and surveys from the NSW public that the overwhelming view is that this project is not wanted nor that there is a sound and truthful business plan attached to this project.

Aside from this is the impact that this will have on the public land at Moore Park. This space is one of the most heavily participated sports areas in the country. Public funds should be spent on sporting participation not observation
