I would like to raise an objection to the outrageous waste of public funds going towards re-building the Sydney Football Stadium.

I am saying this as an avid sports fan who frequently attends games at the SFS.

Yes it could do with a lick of paint but to think that it needs knocking down and rebuilding is nothing short of scandalous. It's a perfectly adequate stadium that is VERY rarely anywhere near full, to spend the millions of dollars it would require, to no obvious public benefit, screams of personal gratification on the part of the Government and SCG trust.

When this money could go towards infrastructure, schools, even re-developing many of the suburban sports grounds it makes absolutely no sense to me to waste this money on something that nobody asked for.

Also the parkland around the ground is something the City of Sydney should cherish, not build over.

I hope that my voice will be heard on this issue.

Regards,
