The Failure of the NDIS is to provide financial support to pensioners who have all the after hours day to day responsibilities of caring for there disabled adult retts girls who can't be left in aged care institutions because of such high needs. And can't go on a respite holiday unless they take a carer with them which doesn't provide any real respite care for people like us. When it was state disability we used to get a support package. Not Fair now. What about fighting for the committed family members who also need help
