INQUIRY INTO CEMETERIES AND CREMATORIA
AMENDMENT REGULATION 2018

Name: Mrs Donna Andrews

Date Received: 28 August 2018

I am writing in regards to the possibility of my Grandmother's remains being dug up from her final resting place. She was buried in 1993 and my parents bought the plots next to hers so they could all be together. My father volunteered his time mowing watering and cleaning up rubbish for many years until his heart condition no longer allowed. It is my strong belief that graves should never be disturbed. The plot has been payed for and the grounds are mostly maintained by volunteers. You really should consider the emotional effect that this has on loved ones who remain, and still grieve no matter how long ago they lost this person. This is truly devastating for me and I will do everything I can for this not to happen.
