

Submission
No 39

INQUIRY INTO CEMETERIES AND CREMATORIA
AMENDMENT REGULATION 2018

Name: Mrs Amanda Maher

Date Received: 29 August 2018

Families are often forced to pay large sums of money to pay for a burial plot when they have lost someone and are vulnerable. Knowing that plot will house their loved ones remains offers some comfort during an emotional distressing time. To pay such a large sum of money and then have remains dug up so the plot can be resold after 25 years is disgusting and will only benefit the cemetery and government. Please do not pass this idea. Let people grieve and mourn their loved ones and show the deceased respect and deceased.