

INQUIRY INTO CEMETERIES AND CREMATORIA
AMENDMENT REGULATION 2018

Name: Mrs Catherine Cahill

Date Received: 30 August 2018

My baby brother has been buried in Botany Cemetery since 1966. Under the proposed law, he would have already been threatened with eviction twice. All his siblings and both his parents are still alive. I expect in another 25 years, at least some of his siblings will still be around, for another cycle of threatened eviction. It would seem that the people proposing this amendment must imagine that grief disappears after 25 years & those left behind won't care if their loved one is turfed out of their resting place; and won't worry about where their remains may end up. You need to actually speak to people about how this feels. This is an abhorrent proposal.
