This is appalling. People have their loved ones buried to have a place to go and remember them. It's hard enough that people have gone through such a loss by losing a loved one to death but now you think it's okay to take away the one physical link they have to their loved one. I know I would be very distressed if they removed my Father who was buried 29 years ago. Absolutely appalling. This government is an absolute mess and an embarrassment. This is the most disrespectful thing I have ever come across in my life and I completely oppose it.
