Westconnex is a disaster for Sydney. • It will increase the number of cars coming into the city and increase congestion; • the current goals and benefits of the project are not clear • It has a flawed business case based on assumptions that are no longer valid; • It will make sydney less liveable with reduced air quality and massive loss of parkland, trees and valuable inner city land which could be used for housing; • There has been a serious lack of transparency and consultation with affected communities.
