Re: Parliamentary enquiry into the impact of the WestConnex Project

As a resident of the Inner West, Sydney, I am deeply concerned about the effect of the WestConnex project on the local community, including the health impact of increased car usage and installation of unfiltered pollution stacks.

As a resident of Sydney, I am seriously concerned the impact of this project has already had on large residential areas of the city and suburb and the rejection of the State government to consider public transport options, preferring to develop motorways increasing the number of cars on the road.

Also, I am concerned at the future financial burden on commuters forced to use tollways to reach their places of employment.

As a resident of NSW, I am very concerned about the way this project has been undertaken with minimal public consultation. Contracts with major construction companies were signed off well before full disclosure to the public of the financial and social consequences.

I respectfully request that the enquiry investigates the many claims against this Project in full.

Yours faithfully
