INQUIRY INTO USE OF BATTERY CAGES FOR HENS IN THE EGG PRODUCTION INDUSTRY

My name is _____ born in Sydney, a VFX artist in the Australian film industry. I shouldn't have to worry about Australia doing the wrong thing but I do.

These disgracefully cruel tiny cages that are illegal in the EU need to be banned in Australia. Restricting any living animal from the very basics such as feeling soil under the feet let alone not having enough space to even spread a wing for life is Australia's national shame when it come to animal cruelty that has only survived as long as it has due to lack of transparency to the average consumer not educated with the detail of this archaic system. Do what's right and progress Australia.

"The greatness of a nation and its moral progress can be judged by the way its animals are treated."
