Hens are beings that feel pain and suffering just like you do. They lay eggs not for us, but for their own sustenance and survival, and to procreate if they choose

Have you ever smelt death? I have outside a local Sydney chicken slaughterhouse, where in one night thousands of 6 weeks old babies are killed for their bodies, so humans can eat eggs and their flesh. While they are laying eggs for humans, they are crammed, living on top of each other, lying in their own filth. I ask you to research this yourself by just doing a basic google search. I don't think scrambled eggs will seem the same if you truly see the cruelty behind the egg industry. Please end factory farming, battery cage hens that produce eggs from animals that are held against their will.

Chickens are born into a life of hell.

End the cruelty.
