INQUIRY INTO USE OF BATTERY CAGES FOR HENS IN THE EGG PRODUCTION INDUSTRY

Name: Mrs Lisa Spencer

Date Received: 6 July 2019

Battery Hens are subject to a short life of cruelty and pain. They are in small dimly lit cages with up to 20 other hens. They only have the size of an A4 piece of paper to live their life on. They are not able to experience a normal life as a hen. Something needs to be done to stop this type of farming. The almighty dollar is not as valuable as the life of an innocent sentient being. The government needs to address this issue and stop this abuse.
