My experience with the NBH has being very positive. I have a close relative who spent 2 months there and because of the care they received is back to good health.
As a patient myself I was admitted through the emergency department and my admission and treatment was first class.

As a general comment, the new modern NBH is just that. New and Modern so I think it would be impossible to find fault when compared to the outdated Manly and Mona Vale hospitals,

Also, I have a close relative who spent time at Westmead. My thoughts are "thank God we have the NBH" as Westmead to me like Manly Hospital seemed to me to be Old and Ancient.

To me any faults found by the committee will be about politics.
