All animals, including the pets we love, the animals that are farmed, and wildlife have the same feelings as you or I. Your dog feels joy and pain, your children feel joy and pain, and so do pigs and chickens. All animals deserve the same legal rights. Progressive change is looming. This is no different to hindsight perspective of the ridiculousness of when women were not allowed to vote, when black people were treated like animals in chains and forced to slave "owned" by white people. All animals deserve the same rights. Would you be happy for your dog to live as caged chickens do in Australia? Would you be happy if your dog or pet lived their life in a gestation crate like pigs do in Australia? Better rights, better conditions and transparency is required on farms, it's a necessity, Current conditions are cruel for most (but not all) but most animals on Australian farms. Allow progressive change, and for this to happen transparency is a MUST.
