after seeing the film Dominion I was horrified at how mostly ex-jail workers were torturing the animals in abattoirs in what is already traumatic for farm animals . e went vegetarian overnight, but if laws are made to stop whistleblowers like with the live export industry(not that this Government cares about that) then we will not be made aware of the atrocities ityoes. Factory farming is also very c fuel and needs constant investigation that humane practice is being upheld but with your new adage laws you will stop all this and animals will suffer in silence. After the Dominion film apparently nothing was done about the atrocities committed by the abattoir workers but instead the whistleblowers were fined for trying to make people aware of this cruelty.

I thought we lived in a democracy but its bec coming evident we are not anymore.
