I am a concerned Australian citizen. Concerned about the cruelty that is happening to animals across the board and has been proven..in abattoirs and in some farming practices. These industries, if they are doing everything humanely should be totally transparent. Secondly I am very concerned that our democratic legal system and our right to freedom of speech is being totally compromised. This isn't Australia...we are not living in a dictatorship where journalists can be searched and where people cannot stand up for their beliefs in peaceful protests. There are a lot of things worth protesting about in Australia at the moment and people in our society have the right to do this. Therefore this law that they are suggesting needs to be squashed if we are to remain the free country that we have always known.
