INQUIRY INTO PROVISIONS OF THE RIGHT TO FARM
BILL 2019

Name: Mr Rodney Blundell

To think that any body is trying to stop farming is beyond belief. Whether it's crops or cattle or sheep is irrelevant. Farms are the source of our food. What people consume is a personal choice; but it is not the right of the consumer to tell producers what they can or can't produce on the farms. The integrity of the campaigners should be questioned - on what were they raised? Has their well being suffered as a result of farming? - No!

Invasion of farms and vigilante action is not the way of democracy in this country. Like any other issue, the views of these vegan activists should be channelled through their politicians, not by direct threats and violence and invasion of private properties which also raises the issue of spreading disease.

Legislate for farmers to have the right to farm and punish the invaders.
