

Submission
No 9

INQUIRY INTO ANIMAL CRUELTY LAWS IN NEW SOUTH WALES

Name: Ms Judith Essex-Clark

Date Received: 7 November 2019

If you talk to people and read current affairs, you may have noticed that the masses are losing faith in our capitalist democracy: the decay of essential services; a widening gap between rich and poor; a shrinking middle class; ugly police behaviour; the selling of Australian assets to foreign powers and corruption (etc).

Our politicians need to start acting now and start controlling capitalism. It is the nature of greedy people to abuse anything and anybody ... if they are allowed. For capitalism to work, the government is supposed to control greed and successive governments have been doing a very poor job.

It only takes a few people to cause great misery. Start controlling those who are cruel to animals via a specialist unit.

Apart from greed, people who are cruel to animals are often cruel to people and they become our murderers and rapists. Nip them in the bud.

It's time our governments encouraged some moral progress. If they don't want to, for whatever reason, let the charitable organisations do it for them and give them the power and finances needed. Current politicians can't continue to just do nothing about animal cruelty or we will stop voting for you.