

INQUIRY INTO PROVISIONS OF THE FIREARMS AND WEAPONS LEGISLATION (CRIMINAL USE) BILL 2020

Name: Mr Chris Collum

Date Received: 13 May 2020

---

I am concerned about the section which states any material that may be made into a firearm is a firearm precursor.

Any piece of wood, aluminium, a piece of pipe or solid steel may be used to manufacture a firearm part (whether it works or not) this mean if you have a length of pipe or a scrap piece of bar then I have firearm precursor parts and am breaking the law.

I restore old cars, I have tools and general workshop equipment, are these precursors too?

Where will this end?

My solid oak dining table could be made into a rifle stock, so now it's a precursor?

This is beyond a joke.

Every person who own a car should be charged, as the drive axles could be used to make a barrel.