Hi, I would like to raise a point to be considered by the inquiry into First Nation incarceration. Why are AVO's and DVO's used so frequently in situations where the perpetrator is an Aboriginal person. As a case manager in the New England im very aware of how often these are put in place by Police and then breached by Police then the individual is incarcerated by Police. Whilst similar situations involving non-Aboriginal predators Police will often agree about the lack of benefit an AVO will achieve. Clear imbalance.
