I am a concerned citizen. Public parkland in Sydney is limited already and any plans to commercialise our parklands is very concerning. With climate change causing hotter days in the city it is imperative that we maintain and increase our available parkland as a refuge from the heat and a way to cool overheated city spaces. Commercialising parklands suggests that some of this parkland will be lost.

The suggestion that some of our parkland could be developed smacks of land grab by unscrupulous developers.

Enough is enough. Leave parklands alone.
