It took three tests (on the border of NSW at a roadside RBT, then back at the station) to determine that I had a trace of THC in my system while driving. The charge I got was Driving while having a trace of THC in my system.

How absurd can you get? After 25 years driving, admittedly while using cannabis, I never had one incident, and I get charged with having a trace of THC.. after three tests. My Driving history was perfect until this testing method came into place. I think the government should prove that cannabis is unsafe before it makes laws to destroy people's lives. Cannabis saves lives. Be like cannabis.
