

INQUIRY INTO TEACHER SHORTAGES IN NEW SOUTH WALES

Dear Members of the Senate inquiry

I write to you all again after being ignored while attempting to deliver the truth in regards as to why there is a serious teacher shortage in NSW. I have just read about another ATSG member attempting suicide after being 'cancelled' by the Department of Education...the reason was chronic bullying that led the Department to 'Medically retire' him while, once again, in the process of recovery. I don't know This man personally but I do know he joins an endless list of others. Not that it matters to any of you but his name is Tim Evans (ACT). I can speak about this process of so-called 'Medical retirement' as a primary source of information, because (as I have already stated, this was also inflicted on myself only weeks ago (by email) after 10 years service. It is a horrible degrading thing to happen to any human being (and yes we are human beings)...when you are just cancelled instead of being seriously rehabilitated to return to work in a safe environment.

There is an election looming and I would like to bring to your attention to some of the comments from one group alone, as i feel this story is about to break: Teaching is a shitshow and getting worse each week, We are dealing with people who know nothing of our struggle and commitment, They just don't want to know the truth, The truth has to be told, Media!, Media! Media!, I teach classes that you just can't teach to because of this WOKE crap hell we are in, Why would anyone want to medically retire someone while they are in the process of recovery? I really don't think they know what it is like to teach in our schools? I am abused verbally by students every day...report it and they come at you (meaning the executive).

The comments go on and on.

As children are our future I once again ask to speak at this inquiry into Teacher shortages.
