DRIVERS AND THEIR IMPACT IN NEW SOUTH WALES

most off the drivers that go into height restrictions can't read or understand english because there are driving on international licenses

It is getting worse day by day

That don't understand what traffic light red means and have no idea what stop sign and give way signs also

I see this everyday off the week as they have no understanding off Australian road rules at all

I did a heavy driving course in the RAN in 1978 where u learn all and more

These days u have one day courses which doesn't teach them jack we need to change the method off getting heavy vehicle licence and barr everyone from driving on a international licence do these 2 things and you will change things out there on the road dramatically you will see a big change. And I mean barring everyone from driving on international licence as we have a big influx off irish out here working on construction sites etc and there seems to be a loop hole in the system that lets drive heavy vehicles on there international licence and I have seen the way they drive and they also have no ideas about Australian road rules.
