I'm writing to support the relaxation of cannabis restrictions in NSW. The current approach isn't working. Let's explore why:

Health: Compared to alcohol and tobacco, cannabis is less harmful. With sensible regulation, we can manage any risks effectively.

Medicinal Benefits: Many people benefit from cannabis for medical reasons. Legalisation would ensure they access safe products.

Harm Reduction: Prohibition hasn't stopped cannabis use; it's fueled a dangerous black market. Legalisation would promote safety and accountability.

Criminalisation: Current laws unfairly target marginalised communities, worsening social inequalities.

Health: Stigma stops people from seeking help and accessing healthcare services.

Economic: Stigma hampers economic growth and innovation, hindering potential benefits for NSW.

Conclusion:

It's time to rethink cannabis regulation in NSW. Let's prioritise evidence-based policies that promote public health, social justice, and economic growth.

Thank you for considering these points.

Sincerely,
