I currently use a medical cannabis oil for relief of inflammation in my joints & sinuses.

I was relying on pain killers & anti-inflammatory prescribed drugs. Now the cannabis is also prescribed by a doctor & ordered through a chemist & delivered to me, albeit expensive as it's not covered by PBS.

My point is that the benefits of the THC mixed with CBA in the oil are working with my condition & should be used by many people. This would keep more off the often dangerous levels of other prescribed drugs, Opioids, antidepressants, etc.

Driving on our roads under the influence is dangerous & criminal but small levels of THC detected well after the dose taken...12 hours plus... should be no different to a alcohol blood level below 0.05.

I think we're all aware of laws in other countries regarding the medical & personal use of cannabis. We are so far behind without legalisation!
