INQUIRY INTO PROPOSED ENERGY FROM WASTE FACILITIES

Being farmers along the Currawang Rd, 30 ks from Tarago, we, as a family of three, feel that the incinerator will have a detrimental effect on our farm, our income and our health. We pride ourselves for being regenerative farmers producing clean protein, in the form of beef and lamb. Our animals breathe fresh air, eat clean grass and drink uncontaminated water from dams and creeks that we trough for health of the dam and river systems.

We are appalled that Sydney feels it can not only dump their rubbish here but now pollute our air as well with their toxic waste.

Sydney has to deal with their own waste and incinerate in Sydney. If the air they say will be free of toxins then they should have no trouble swallowing their own waste.

Fair go, how much of idiots do they think we are. If the science declares a clean waste then they should have no trouble living with it themselves.

If the waste is not clean then it goes into our water tanks and we drink the water directly from our tanks. I'm not willing to risk that , nor do I want to produce contaminated protein. These people do not care about what goes onto their table at night and into their mouths. If they did they would have respect for farmers producing wholesome, clean food, not only for themselves but the Australia economy. Respect farmers please and respect the community in which they and the surrounding community live.
