INTRODUCTION

This paper analyses data from the 2006 Census of Population and Housing for the NSW State Electoral Districts (SED). Data was provided by the Australian Bureau of Statistics in relation to the State electoral boundaries as redistributed in 2007. A profile is included for each SED giving details of population and other selected census characteristics. The rank of the SED when compared to other SEDs for each census characteristic is also shown. Definitions of the various characteristics are provided at the beginning of the paper and should be read in conjunction with the tables. Information on the: median age; median monthly housing repayments; median weekly rent; median weekly individual income; median weekly family income; median weekly household income and mean household size for SED is included at the end of the table.

A political party affiliation is identified for each SED. Maps of the electoral districts following the 2007 redistribution are available from the NSW Electoral Commission website:
