Introduction

This paper contains a summary of results for the 1999 election of 21 members to the New South Wales Legislative Council. The 1999 election will long be remembered for the imposing size of its ballot paper, with 264 candidates in 81 groups distributed across three rows on a ballot paper approximately one metre across by 70 centimetres down.

The number of candidates and the complexity of the count (conducted for the first time in New South Wales by computer) has meant that it is difficult to obtain copies of the detailed count by electorate, or the complete distribution of preferences. This publication, prepared by extracting information on counts from disks supplied by the State Electoral Office, should provide most of this hard to obtain information.

The publication is broken into four sections.

- Section 1 contains the overall statewide count, summaries of the distribution of preferences, and details of the final composition of the quota for elected candidates.
- Section 2 lists the Legislative Council result for each Legislative Assembly electorate, and also provides a summary of vote by region. For ease of understanding, parties have been listed in order of statewide vote.
- Section 3 provides more details for each party group on the ballot paper, with ordered tables showing the vote received by a party group in each electorate.
- Section 4 consists of summary tables comparing the vote for selected parties in the Legislative Assembly and Legislative Council.

While all calculations and analysis of preference flows are based on the results provided by the Electoral Office, their accuracy is entirely the responsibility of the author.

Counts 2 to 16 proceeded to distribute the surplus votes of the three groups with more than a quota of votes. The first 15 vacancies were filled by the following candidates in order:

| Order | Candidate | Party |
|-------|-------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1 | Jeff Shaw | Labor Party |
| 2 | Patricia Forsyth | Liberal Party |
| 3 | David Oldfield | Pauline Hanson's One Nation |
| 4 | John Della Bosca | Labor Party |

| 12 | John Hatzistergos | Labor Party |
| 13 | Don Harwin | Liberal Party |
| 14 | Meredith Burgmann | Labor Party |
| 15 | Henry Tsang | Labor Party |

With no further candidates possessing a quota, the process of excluding candidates with the lowest total of votes began. Count 17 excluded Robert Minale (R2/PF) who had no votes, with the next five counts excluding candidates with only one vote. In all, 36 counts were conducted before the first candidate with 10 votes was reached, a further 24 until a candidate with 20 votes was reached. Count 142 was the first count where a candidate with 100 votes was excluded, and Count 177 the first with more than 500 votes.

Count 181 was the first to exclude a candidate possessing a ticket vote, Kylie Kilgour of Tenants Have Rights. Between Count 16 and Count 180, only 9709 votes or 0.27% of the total had been distributed as preferences. Between Counts 182 and 194, nine more party tickets were excluded. With the exclusion of Sonia Cousins (DEM) at Count 195, only one candidate remained for each party remaining in the count. The following table shows the total votes and order of each remaining candidate at Count 195. The change in vote since Count 16 represents the change in Party vote, not the change in the vote for each candidate.

Between Counts 196 and 240, 44 party tickets were excluded, and there were significant rises in the totals for candidates who received strong flows from these tickets. Lee Rhiannon (GRN) passed Fred Nile (CDP). Damien Tudehope (AFA) rose 13 places to 7th, Brandon Raynor (ES) 31 places to 10th, Malcolm Jones (ORP) 16 places to 13th, Glen Druery (R2/PF) 22 places to 16th, Rebecca Lambert (WP/SF) 28 places to 18th and David Bradley (HDP) 23 places to 20th.

Despite their high primary counts, the totals for Brian Burston (ONP), Jim Pirie (SP), Klaas Woldring (PLP) and Jeremy Matthew (MSR) had stalled. 91.2% of all preferences distributed between Counts 196 and 240 were ticket votes, and while several candidates had received a significant number of below the line votes, these had almost no impact on the position at the end of count 240.

Summary information on the flow of preferences at the exclusion of the final candidate on each party ticket, from Count 181 to Count 263, can be found in the summary table on pages 24 to 29.

The exclusion of the next five candidates saw a continuation of the strong flows of preferences to Lee Rhiannon (GRN) and Malcolm Jones (ORP). Despite the increase in their vote thanks to preferences, David Bradley (HDP) and Rebecca Lambert (WP/SF) were to be the next two candidates excluded.

Count 253 excluded Damien Tudehope (AFA). His vote included eight party tickets, four with next preferences for Peter Breen (RLS) who received 59.3% of preferences, and two for Malcolm Jones (ORP) who received 20.3% of preferences. This pushed Malcolm Jones into 2nd position, while Peter Breen rose from 10th to 5th. Despite their high votes at Count 16, Brian Burston (ONP), Jim Pirie (SP), Klaas Woldring (PLP) and Jeremy Matthew (MSR) were slipping down the order through the failure to receive ticket preferences.

Count 254 excluded Jeremy Matthew of Marijuana Smokers Rights. He had received a much higher vote than expected thanks to a favourable position on the ballot paper. Had his vote been lower, he would have been excluded from the count and his preferences directed to Glen Druery (R2/PF). Instead, Druery had already been excluded, and Matthew's preferences now flowed to Malcolm Jones (ORP) (ELECTED 16). Jones had been elected on strong flows of preferences, passing 28 other candidates with higher primary counts.

Count 255 distributed the surplus votes for Malcolm Jones. The votes distributed consisted solely of votes transferred at Count 254 from Jeremy Matthew to Jones, and so were mostly Marijuana Smokers Rights ticket votes with next preference for Peter Wong (UNI). 99.3% of Jones' surplus now flowed to Wong, pushing him into 4th position ahead of Peter Breen (RLS) and Fred Nile (CDP).

Having risen from 41st to 10th, Count 255 finally excluded Brandon Raynor (ES). His vote consisted of 14 different party tickets, nine with next preference for Peter Breen (RLS), and 58.8% of preferences flowed to him. However, one ticket from Spencer Wu (VOP) was directed to Arthur Chesterfield-Evans (DEM), enough votes to put him over the quota (ELECTED 17). The distribution of Chesterfield-Evans' surplus was delayed, as it would not effect the order of exclusion of the next candidate.

Count 258 distributed the Democrat surplus, which consisted of two separate tickets from Spencer Wu (VOP). One ticket flowed to Fred Nile (CDP), while the second exhausted due to defective numbering. As exhausted preferences are put aside as part of the elected candidate's quota, more of Wu's other ticket votes were distributed to Nile than would otherwise have been the case. Count 259 distributed the Greens' surplus, based on Woldring (PLP) and Bailey (CPA) preferences tickets, resulting in 99.1% of the surplus flowing to Peter Breen, resulting in him moving to first position.

Count 262 distributed Wong's surplus of 3138 votes, all consisting of Shooters Party ticket votes with preference for David Costello (RCP). Peter Breen's surplus was distributed at Count 263, but as the One Nation ticket votes that elected him had no further valid preferences, only 106 below the line votes were distributed. With only two candidates remaining in the count, and only one vacancy to be filled, Fred Nile was declared elected (ELECTED 21).

Table 1.4: Composition of Final Quotas

The following tables show the source of votes for the quotas of all elected candidates. Also shown is the composition of the vote for the remaining non-elected candidate at the end of the count, David Costello, as well as all exhausted votes at that point. Looked at another way, these tables show the final destination after the distribution of preferences of all ticket votes for excluded candidates. All candidates were declared elected with a quota of 161 717 votes, except Fred Nile (CDP), who was elected to fill the final vacancy with less than a quota.

Some explanation is needed for the tables for the Labor and Liberal / National Party candidates. When the first candidate on each ticket was declared elected, a sample of those votes was retained as the quota for the candidate, and the rest distributed as preferences. For example, with Jeff Shaw (ALP), there were 1,306,409 Labor ticket votes, 5,213 block votes that numbered below the line from 1 to 15 down the Labor ticket, and 8,423 other first preference votes. While any votes with no further preferences remained with Shaw, the same proportion of each type of vote was then distributed as preferences. As Shaw's surplus trickled down the Labor ticket at subsequent counts, it is possible to work out how much of the Labor ticket and block votes ended up residing in the quota of each elected candidate. This is indicated in the following tables, as is the candidate's primary count and the total below the line preference votes received.

For all other candidates, the detailed distribution allows the original source of all ticket votes for elected candidates to be determined. The table has also included the number of the relevant preference from the party's registered ticket vote.
