Referring to my letter of the 10th instant, No. S. 59, and to my subsequent conversation with you, on the subject of the Financial Agency of this Government in London, I have the honor to request that you will be good enough to inform me, if the Oriental Bank Corporation will continue to conduct the Government Account on the same terms as heretofore, pending the decision of the London Board, upon the reference which it is presumed was made by you to them, by the mail which left Sydney on the 22nd instant.

I have, &c.,

T. W. SMART.

No. 31.

MANAGER, ORIENTAL BANK CORPORATION, SYDNEY, to THE HONORABLE THE COLONIAL TREASURER.

*Oriental Bank Corporation,
Sydney, 29 March, 1865.*

SIR,

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter (S. 73), of the 25th instant, in which, referring to previous correspondence and verbal communications, I am requested to state whether "the Oriental Bank Corporation will continue to conduct the Government Account in London, on the same terms as heretofore, pending a reference to the Court of Directors"?

The assumption with which your letter closes—that the subject was brought under the consideration of the Directors, in our letters by the last mail—is correct; and I do not know that I can more clearly express my present views on this matter, than by giving the following quotation from my letter to them of the 22nd instant.

"Since writing you by the last mail, I have had an interview with the Treasurer, on the subject of our resumption of the office of Financial Agents of the Colony, in England, but I have declined committing the Bank to any engagement, for the following, amongst other reasons:—

- "(1.) That until the Government have placed before the House their Estimates of the Ways and Means for the current year, no opinion can be formed as to the probabilities of the present financial difficulties being overcome.
"(2.) That it will be necessary for the Bank to know in what manner the Government propose to meet the deficiency in the revenue at 31 December, 1864.

"As far as the intentions of the Government have been communicated, I understand they intend to ask for leave to raise a loan (5 per cent. Debentures of the usual currency) for about £900,000; £400,000 of this for the purpose of taking up and cancelling the 6 per cent. Treasury Bills, and the balance to pay off the deficiency for 1864.

"And that, as regards the future, they will bring forward proposals for such additional taxation as will, in their opinion, be sufficient to make the revenue equal to the expenditure.

"But assuming that the Government succeed in carrying their measures, it will then be a matter of consideration for the Bank, whether the assistance required from them will not be more than they are disposed to grant.

"On this subject, I have pointed out to the Treasurer that we are now holders in London of about £500,000 of Debentures; that in addition to this, we should have to raise in the course of the year, the greater part of the £900,000, forming together, a larger amount than it would appear probable, judging from the past, could be disposed of in the course of (say) twelve months.

"I shall be able next mail, to give full information on all these subjects; but I have told the Treasurer that the business is of such grave importance that I will merely forward the propositions of the Government to London, for the consideration of the Court of Directors."

It may perhaps appear that the Bank are taking rather a wider view of the subject than strictly appertains to their position, when discussing the policy of the Government as regards taxation, &c.; but when it is borne in mind that a very considerable sum of money will have to be raised by the Agents of the Government (or attempted to be raised), the success or otherwise of the negotiation of the securities must to a great extent depend upon the view which may be taken by monetary people in London, as to the magnitude of the debt in relation to the resources of the Colony, and the sufficiency of the taxation to meet their engagements present and prospective.

An offer on my part (even were I disposed to give it) to accept the conduct of the Agency on the same terms as heretofore, pending this reference to London, would not be of any assistance to the Government, seeing that the account is at the present time considerably beyond the limits of the late agreement.

£252,000 was the extreme point which the Bank agreed to advance at any one time, in cash and in credits, against the deposit of Debentures—

|  |          |
|--|----------|
| But at the present time, the cash advance in London, by last advices, was..... | £165,700 |
| And the outstanding credits .....  | 206,600  |

|                |          |
|----------------|----------|
| Together ..... | £372,300 |
|----------------|----------|

And in addition to this amount, we were applied to in your letter of 21st instant, to issue further credits to the extent of £120,000 for interest due 30th June, and £25,000 for a cash transfer.

I am, &c.,

GEO. K. INGELow,
Manager.

QUEENSLAND DEBT.

No. 1.

GOVERNOR SIR JOHN YOUNG, BART., to SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

*Government House,
Sydney, 12 November, 1862.*

MY LORD DUKE,

I have the honor to forward herewith, a copy of an Act of the Legislature of New South Wales, 26th Victoria, No. 8, intituled, "An Act for determining the portions of the Public Debt of New South Wales to be borne by the Colony of Queensland," to which I have assented, in the name and on the behalf of Her Majesty.

2. This Act has been passed in accordance with the desire expressed in your Grace's despatch, No. 85,* of date December 26th, 1861. It accords in substance, though not exactly in form, with the Act passed in Queensland; and I hope it may be the means of bringing about an equitable settlement of the question to which it refers.

3. I trust your Grace will be able to advise Her Majesty to leave this Act to its operation.

I have, &c.,
JOHN YOUNG.

No. 2.

SECRETARY OF STATE to GOVERNOR SIR JOHN YOUNG, BART.

(No. 15.)

*Downing-street,
6 February, 1863.*

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your despatch, No. 102, of the 12th of November, forwarding copy of an Act of your Government (No. 8 of 26th Victoria), "for determining the portions of the Public Debt of New South Wales to be borne by the Colony of Queensland."

The chief difficulties which have hitherto presented themselves to a settlement of this question may now, I trust, be surmounted; and I shall be glad to learn that a final and satisfactory arrangement on the subject has been arrived at between the two Colonies.

I have to inform you that the Act has been laid before the Queen, and that it will be left to its operation.

I have, &c.,
NEWCASTLE.

No. 3.

COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to COLONIAL SECRETARY, QUEENSLAND.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, New South Wales,
31 July, 1863.*

SIR,

I have the honor to enclose a copy of an Act passed by the Legislature of this Colony, for determining the portions of the public debt of New South Wales to be borne by the Colony of Queensland.

2. You will perceive that in this measure, a clause (section 10) has been inserted, which provides that nothing contained in the Act shall affect debentures issued by the Government of New South Wales before the separation therefrom of the Colony of Queensland, which were secured as well out of the revenue of the latter as out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of New South Wales.

3. As in the Act passed in Queensland there was, I believe, a designed omission, by the Parliament of that Colony, of a clause similar to that referred to, I think it right to draw your attention pointedly to it; and I shall be glad to be informed whether you will submit, for the consideration of the Legislature of Queensland, that the Acts of both Colonies should be assimilated, as a necessary preliminary to the appointment of Commissioners, for the purpose of determining by arbitration the several portions of the public debt which shall be borne and discharged by Queensland.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES COWPER.

No. 4.

GOVERNOR SIR JOHN YOUNG, BART., to SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

*Government House,
Sydney, 7 August, 1863.*

MY LORD DUKE,

With reference to your Grace's despatch, No. 85,* of the 26th December, 1861, urging the propriety of an early settlement of the questions of account pending between this Colony and Queensland, I have the honor to state that the hopes which I founded on the legislation of last Session have hitherto been deferred.

2. It appears that a difficulty exists, in consequence of the discrepancy between the Acts passed by the Queensland and the New South Wales Legislatures, respectively. The former omits the provisions of clause 10 of the latter's Act, which the authorities in this Colony consider important. In the Queensland Act, this clause is stated as clause 9. It stood so in the original Bill, but an alteration took place subsequently.

3. A correspondence on the subject is now proceeding between the Colonial Secretaries of the two Colonies, with the view of clearing up this mooted point; and I write this despatch to place your Grace in possession of the actual position of the matter, and to assure you that I have not lost sight of, or failed to press it on the attention of the Ministry.

I have, &c.,
JOHN YOUNG.

* Vide Votes and Proceedings, Legislative Assembly, 1862, vol. 1, page 1081.

No. 5.

COLONIAL SECRETARY, QUEENSLAND, to COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Brisbane, 17 August, 1863.*

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 31st ultimo, enclosing a copy of the Act passed by the Legislature of New South Wales, "for determining the portions of the public debt of New South Wales to be borne by the Colony of Queensland," and calling particular attention to clause 10 of the said Act, which proposes to secure the debentures of New South Wales upon the revenue of Queensland.

2. In reply to your request to be informed whether this Government will propose to the Legislature of Queensland the enactment of a similar provision, as preliminary to the appointment of Commissioners to arbitrate, I beg to state that it will not be in our power to take any such action, and that it would be inconsistent with the ground upon which it has hitherto been proposed to base a settlement of the question.

3. On reference to the despatch of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, dated 21st July, 1856, and included among the "papers relative to the separation of the Moreton Bay District," presented to the Imperial Parliament in 1858, it will be perceived that even at that time the basis of settlement was distinctly defined. "There can be no doubt," says Mr. Labouchere, "that the basis of arrangement should be an equitable division according to the several contributions to the revenue of the two portions, and the benefits which they respectively derived or expected from the public services to which the loans thus contracted were appropriated." It was with a view to establish this sound and equitable position, as a starting point for future arbitration and settlement, that the Parliament of Queensland passed, in 1860, the "Act for the adjustment of Accounts of New South Wales." And I venture to draw your attention to the circumstance that the Duke of Newcastle, in his despatch to Sir John Young, dated 26th December, 1861, expresses "his most earnest desire that an Act may be passed in New South Wales, at the earliest period, analogous to that which has been enacted on the subject by the Legislature of Queensland."

4. I may be relieved from the necessity of troubling you with an examination of some other aspects of this important question on the present occasion, by referring you to Sir George Bowen's despatch to the Secretary of State, dated 21st August, 1861, and printed among the Parliamentary Papers of New South Wales, in 1862. This document clearly and succinctly sets forth the views of this Government; and in the 6th paragraph makes the suggestion, which I would again press on your consideration, that it might be the better course to consider the accounts to have been practically balanced as closely as need be desired.

5. I am not altogether without hope that your Government may be disposed to accede to this view, which would, I submit, be a fair and simple solution of a great difficulty, creditable to both Colonies, and conducive to that friendly feeling which it is at the present time so desirable to maintain. Or, should the Government of New South Wales be disposed, for the reasons above adduced, to waive the claim urged in the 10th section of your Act, this Government would be willing to take the necessary steps for an arbitration, provided such arbitration were not based on the assumption, not at present admitted, that any portion of the debt of New South Wales is to be borne by the Colony of Queensland, or that the revenue of this Colony is in any degree a security to the holders holders of New South Wales debentures. The credit of New South Wales stands so high at the present time, that it is free from any necessity for such collateral security, even if this Government were able, consistently, to afford it; but it has always been maintained by this Parliament that the Consolidated Revenue, present and future, is the security on which colonial debentures are taken, and not merely the Crown Lands, which, from the probability of future separations, no less than from the rapidity with which they are alienated into private hands, could form only an uncertain and ever decreasing means of repayment.

6. I trust that your Government may be enabled to agree to some method of determining these questions, without the necessity of a reference to the Imperial Government.

I have, &c.,

ROBERT G. W. HERBERT.

Minute of Colonial Secretary, New South Wales, on above.

It seems to me that the Government of Queensland greatly overrate the importance and misconceive the meaning of the 10th section of the "Queensland Debt Act of 1862," when they object to be bound by its provisions in settling the vexed question of our inter-colonial debt. The clause seems to me no more than a precautionary enactment, intended to prevent any prejudice being done to the claims of public creditors, whatever these claims may be. At the same time I should not have been inclined with the late Government to insist on any notice being taken of this particular section by the Government of Queensland, provided they were otherwise disposed to come to terms upon the matter. Of such a disposition on their part I confess I see no convincing proof in the correspondence before me, nor do I entertain any very fervent expectation. The Imperial Government should have determined this question before separation, and in not having done so, neglected their duty. It will never be determined by the litigant parties, for the simple reason that there is no authority to compel either to abide by the issue. But as in the last letter before me there is embodied a suggestion for arbitration, which is indeed the object of the negotiations from beginning to end, it may be as well to invite the Government of Queensland to propose some definite plan of arbitration, according to their own notions of what is equitable. The Government of this Colony will then have the option of acceding or not to the terms offered; and if the result should be a failure, the only course left for us will then be to decline any further correspondence on the subject.

No. 6.

COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to COLONIAL SECRETARY, QUEENSLAND.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, New South Wales,
22 January, 1864.*

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you that I duly brought your letter of the 17th August last, relative to "the apportionment of the public debt," under the consideration of the present Ministry of this Colony.

2. In my predecessor's communication of the 31st of July last, your attention was drawn to the 10th clause of the Queensland Debt Act of 1862, a copy of which was therein enclosed; and inquiry was made whether you would submit, for the consideration of the Legislature of Queensland, the enactment of a similar provision, as preliminary to the appointment of Commissioners, for the purpose of determining by arbitration the several portions of the public debt to be borne and discharged by Queensland. In your letter under reply, you state that it will not be in the power of your Government to take the course suggested.

3. It appears to my colleagues and myself that some misapprehension prevails on your side, as to the effect and importance of the section in question. It is—like the proviso at the end of clause 6 of the Imperial Act, cap. XLIV, 24 and 25 Vict., whose terms it borrows—simply declaratory of the state of matters pending the final adjustment, and provides against possible prejudice to the holders of debentures, while it fixes the primary liability on New South Wales. We do not think the point of sufficient note to found such a difference upon as might obstruct the general settlement which we are anxious to effect. While, therefore, we do not waive the claim, such as it is—indeed, have no power to waive it, being bound by the terms of our Act—we are prepared to leave the question of its express acknowledgment on your part in abeyance. We do so in the hope of clearing away difficulties from the path, and engaging your Government to take steps towards the solution of this long pending question. In proof of our anxiety to bring it to an early issue, I have to add that this Government is prepared, in terms of the Act, to appoint a Commissioner to meet one duly appointed on behalf of Queensland; and and in the event of any difficulty arising as to the appointment of an Umpire in the mode prescribed by the Acts of Parliament of each Colony, to recommend that a representation be made to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies, for the appointment of a third Commissioner to act as Umpire.

As you express your willingness to arbitrate, we submit this proposition for your consideration, and invite you to adopt it, or to propose some other definite plan for our consideration, aiming at the same desirable object, viz.—the prompt adjustment of the unsettled accounts.

I have, &c.,
W. FORSTER.

COLONIAL SECRETARY, QUEENSLAND, to COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Brisbane, 1 March, 1864.*

SIR,

I have the honor to acquaint you that the Government of Queensland accept the proposal of the Government of New South Wales, as contained in your letter of the 22nd January, that a Commissioner should be appointed on behalf of each Colony, to confer upon matters preliminary to an adjustment of accounts. The mode proposed for the selection of an Umpire, in the event of it being necessary, is also approved.

2. Your further communications on this subject will receive the immediate attention of this Government.

I have, &c.,
ROBERT G. W. HERBERT.

No. 8.

GOVERNOR SIR JOHN YOUNG, BART., to SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES.

*Government House,
Sydney, 20 June, 1864.*

SIR,

With reference to my last despatch on the subject of the apportionment of the public debt between this Colony and Queensland, I have the honor to enclose copies of the correspondence which has taken place, and which will shew that this long-pending matter is on the eve of a settlement.

2. The appointment of a Commissioner for this Colony has been offered to the Hon. E. Deas Thomson, C.B.—a very good selection—and I have every hope that he will undertake the duty.

I have, &c.,
JOHN YOUNG.

No. 9.

MINUTE FOR EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 23 June, 1864.*

The Government of Queensland having accepted a proposal made by this Government, that a Commissioner should be appointed on behalf of each Colony, to confer upon matters preliminary to an adjustment of accounts between the two Governments, under the Act 26th Victoria, No. 8, it is recommended that the Honorable Edward Deas Thomson, Esq., C.B., be appointed the Commissioner on the part of New South Wales.

WILLIAM FORSTER.

Minute 64/25, 28 June, 1864.—Confirmed, 5 July, 1864.

Upon the recommendation of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, the Executive Council advise the appointment of the Honorable Edward Deas Thomson, Esq., C.B., as Commissioner for New South Wales, to confer with a Commissioner to be appointed by the Government of Queensland, upon matters preliminary to an adjustment of accounts between the two Governments, under the Act 26 Vict., No. 8.

ALEX. C. BUDGE,
Clerk of the Council.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 23 June, 1864.*

SIR,

The Government of Queensland having accepted a proposal made by this Government, that a Commissioner should be appointed on behalf of each Colony, to confer upon matters preliminary to an adjustment of accounts between the Governments, I am directed to inform you, that a Commissioner on the part of New South Wales will be immediately appointed, and to request that you will cause the accounts prescribed by the 6th clause of the Act 26 Victoria, No. 8, to be prepared, with as little delay as possible, for the information and guidance of the Commissioners.

I have, &c.,
W. ELYARD.

AUDITOR GENERAL to UNDER SECRETARY.

*Audit Office, Sydney,
28 June, 1864.*

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, in reference to your letter of the 23rd instant, No. 46, that, in compliance with a Treasury letter, dated 9th February, 1860, of which a copy is enclosed, the Returns therein asked for, Nos. 3, 7, 8, and 9—being the only ones which could not be prepared elsewhere than in this office—were transmitted to the Treasury, on the 12th December, 1861.

2. To enable me to prepare the Statements called for by your letter under reply, I shall require the Returns above mentioned, as sent to the Treasury, as well as those which it is presumed were obtained by that office in completion of the series 1 to 10. If not so obtained, I shall now require Statements corresponding to those numbered 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, and 10, in the Legislative Assembly Papers, ordered to be printed, 8th April, 1858, to be prepared and furnished to me, before proceeding with the accounts required from me, under the Act 26th Victoria, No. 8.

I have, &c.,
W. C. MAYNE,
A. G.

No. 16.

HONORABLE E. DEAS THOMSON, C.B., to COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

Sydney, 14 September, 1864.

SIR,

Referring to the letters from Mr. Under Secretary Elyard of the 22nd July and 31st ultimo, the former notifying the appointment of myself as Commissioner for New South Wales, and the latter the appointment of the Colonial Treasurer of Queensland as Commissioner for that Colony, for settling the intercolonial debt at the period of separation,—I have the honor to call the attention of the Government to the speech delivered in the Legislative Assembly on the 31st ultimo, by the Colonial Secretary of Queensland,

Queensland, in which he observes, that the award of the Commissioners is not to be considered binding on the Government or Parliament of that Colony, but simply as a preliminary investigation subject to future confirmation or disallowance. Conceiving that there was some ambiguity on this point in the correspondence on the subject between the two Governments, I stated to His Excellency the Governor, that I would only accept the appointment on the distinct understanding that the decision of the Commissioners, or of the Umpire in case of their disagreement, was to be accepted as final and conclusive. His Excellency was then of opinion that, by the mutual consent of the two Governments to submit the matter to arbitration, it was impossible to conceive that any difficulty could arise on this point. As, however, the speech of the Colonial Secretary of Queensland, to which I have referred, now places the question on an entirely different footing, I consider it my duty to state that I must adhere to my previously expressed determination to refuse the appointment, unless both Governments agree to abide by the award of the Commissioners or Umpire as the case may be.

I have, &c.,
E. DEAS THOMSON.

Crown Law Officers.—Will the decision of the Commissioners or Umpire be conclusive? If so, it matters little what Mr. Herbert may say in a parliamentary speech, or the Queensland papers report.—W.F.—B.C., 17 Sept., 1864.

AUDITOR GENERAL to UNDER SECRETARY.

Audit Office, Sydney;
28 September, 1864.

SIR,

Referring to my letter of the 28th June, 1864, respecting Returns for the Queensland Debt Account, required by your letter of the 23rd of the same month, I have the honor to inform you, that to enable me to prepare the first account, under clause D of the 6th section of the Act 26th Victoria, No. 8, I shall require, in addition to the Returns already received from the Treasury, under blank cover, from your office, on the 15th July, a Return for the years 1852 to 30th November, 1859, shewing the amount received in each or any of those years, from the territory north of Point Danger, under the several following heads, viz. :—

Survey of land and runs.
Licenses to wholesale spirit dealers.
Licenses to retail fermented and spirituous liquors (including confectioners' and packet licenses.)
Night licenses to publicans, and for billiard tables.
Licenses to auctioneers.
Auction duty.
Rents of tolls and ferries.
Rents of wharves.
Assessment on stock beyond the Settled Districts.
Fees on the preparation and enrolment of title deeds.
Port and harbour dues.

2. I have also to state that the Returns No. 2 and No. 2a, received at the same time, and enclosed herewith, give only a portion of the rental of Crown Lands, whereas the entire rental, within and beyond the Settled Districts, whether for depasturing stock, or for any other purpose, derived from the Queensland territory prior to separation, is required to be shewn.

3. I have therefore to request that I may be supplied, as early as possible, with the information specified above, to enable me to complete the accounts required by the Act 26th Victoria, No. 8.

AUDITOR GENERAL to UNDER SECRETARY.

Audit Office, Sydney,
17 October, 1864.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to point out that, in the Returns required by your letter of the 23rd June, 1864, No. 46, under the Act 26th Victoria, No. 8, there are two descriptions of expenditure with which Queensland is to be debited under clause D of section 6—the one, local, to be included in the second account, and the other, for "General Government," to be included in the fourth account.

2. There are, however, several items of expenditure, which were shewn in the Returns formerly prepared, of General Government expenditure, and laid before Parliament on the 8th April, 1858, that might be questioned, as not coming strictly under that designation, although they cannot be objected to as items of general expenditure chargeable to the undivided Colony as a whole. The items I refer to are, the "Endowment of the Sydney University" and "Pensions and Retired Allowances."

3. It will be seen by the Act 26 Victoria, No. 8, that no provision is made for general charges of this nature, while the giving the Colony of Queensland its population share of the revenue derived from duties of Customs, strictly entitles this Colony to be relieved, per contra, of a like share of all such items as those referred to, which are mainly, if not wholly, defrayed out of that revenue.

4. Before preparing the return required, as the fourth account under the Act referred to, I wish to have the instructions of the Honorable the Principal Secretary, as to whether the items quoted, and others of a similar nature, such as the endowment of the Grammar School, the Affiliated Colleges, and the Australian Museum, with the interest on the loans raised for the Colleges and Grammar School, are to be treated as General Government Expenditure, or in what manner the Colony of Queensland should be debited with its share of this expenditure.

I have, &c.,
W. C. MAYNE,
A. G.

To be re-submitted.—W.F. 31 Jan., 1865.

I think the items in question come properly under the head of General Government Expenditure. I shall be glad, however, of the opinion of the present Auditor General on the subject, in case he sees any reason to differ.—W.F. B.C., 20 Jan., 1865.

I see no reason to differ from this opinion.—C.R. 23/1/65.

OPINION OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Honorable E. Deas Thomson, respecting his appointment as Commissioner for New South Wales No. 16.
Wales for settling Intercolonial Debt at separation of Queensland.

By the 2nd and 4th sections of our Act 26 Vic., No. 8, the award of the Commissioners or the Umpire is to be final and binding. The Queensland Act is, I believe, to the same effect. Under these circumstances, it seems to me that the speech of the Colonial Treasurer of Queensland, referred to by Mr. Thomson, must be inaccurately reported; if not, that gentleman is labouring under some misapprehension. In any event, I think that it would be advisable for the Colonial Secretary to communicate at once with Mr. Herbert, calling his attention to the report in question, referring him to the sections of our Act, and requesting to know the views of the Queensland Government, before any further steps are taken in the matter of the arbitration.

JAMES MARTIN,
Attorney General.

SECRETARY OF STATE to GOVERNOR SIR JOHN YOUNG.

(No. 47.)

Downing-street,
3 September, 1864.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your despatch, No. 54, of the 20th of June, 1864, enclosing copy of a further correspondence which had taken place between your Government and the Government of Queensland, respecting the apportionment of the public debt between the two Colonies. Vide supra
No. 8.

I am very glad to learn that there is now every prospect of an early and satisfactory settlement of this question.

I have, &c.,
EDWARD CARDWELL.

Has anything been done since Mr. Moffatt's death? Inform me, that I may answer this despatch. J. Y.—14 Nov., /64.

Queensland Debt.

Nothing further appears to have been done in this matter since the decease of Mr. Moffatt.

Mr. Deas Thomson drew attention to a statement made by the Colonial Secretary of Queensland, respecting the award of the Commissioners not being binding on that Colony. This was referred to the Crown Law Officers, and it was suggested that a communication on the subject should be made to Mr. Herbert. It was, however, decided that the matter should remain over for the present. 30th Dec., /64.

I see no reason for moving in the matter at present. W. F.—6 Jan., 1865.

I think it would be better to take this matter up, and not leave it to the Home Government to settle. Perhaps Mr. Cowper, as soon as he can find leisure, will renew the proceedings, by writing to Mr. Herbert. J. Y.—8 Feb., /65.

ISSUE OF COPPER COINAGE FROM SYDNEY MINT.

No. 1.

MEMORANDUM FROM DEPUTY MASTER to COLONIAL TREASURER.

Royal Mint,
21 September, 1863.

MEMO.—Mr. Eagar, M.L.A., and Mr Flood called on me this morning, to represent the want of copper money in the Colony, and the inconvenience which is experienced in consequence.

They exhibited returns, which shewed that, in one case, out of sixty-eight copper pieces in the till of a shopkeeper, but one was a genuine British coin; and in another, but six out of thirty-seven were British coin.

They also represented that there is now a general disinclination to receive the tokens, which have been for some years in circulation in Sydney as a copper currency, and generally received as change.

To remedy this state of affairs, it is recommended that the Government should, in the first place, send by this mail for one thousand pounds' worth of copper coin, and afterwards take such steps as the development of the panic, which is now stated to have commenced, may suggest.

E. W. WARD.

The Honorable Col. Treasurer.

No. 2.

EXTRACT FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29.

MR. SAMUEL to move, That in the opinion of this House, there ought to be a Copper Coinage issued from the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint.

Memo. by Under Secretary:—

For the remarks of the Deputy Master.—B.C., 23/9/63—H.L.

Report of Deputy Master:—

A copper coinage at the Mint in Sydney would be objectionable on several grounds. The silver and copper coins of the United Kingdom are tokens only; their intrinsic value is not equal to their nominal value. The intrinsic value of a penny does not exceed the  $\frac{1}{16}$  part of a sovereign. For this reason, among others, the law of England does not allow the public to bring copper or silver to the Mint in London for coinage; and no doubt on similar grounds the practice would be disallowed here.

Gold is coined at the Mint in London as the public require it, and silver as Government may decide that change is required. Copper has not been coined at the Mint in London for the last eight years. The copper coinage is executed by contract at Birmingham; the Government buying the copper producing the coin, and keeping it in store, from which it is issued in £5 bags, as the public ask for it. By this arrangement the Government get the advantage due to the difference between the nominal and the intrinsic value of the coin, and the inducement to the public to demand copper beyond the requirements for change is removed.

The same course might be pursued here. I cannot, however, recommend that it should be. The profit on the coinage of the small quantity of copper coin required for a simultaneous coinage of gold and copper, if the latter was manufactured at the Mint, would be very great.

The amount of copper currency sufficient to facilitate the retail business of this Colony may be estimated at ten thousand pounds' worth. The cost of importing this would not exceed £250, and it could be kept up to this amount by importing annually one thousand pounds' worth, in addition, at a cost of £25. As it is the business of a Government to provide an adequate currency, I recommend this course for adoption. If the cost is considered of importance, I believe the Home Government, rather than they would sanction the coinage of copper at the Sydney Mint, would consent to supply the Colony at this rate free of charge. The coin might then be kept in store at the Mint, and issued as demanded, at its nominal value.

No. 3.

DEPUTY MASTER OF THE MINT to THE HONORABLE T. W. SMART.

Royal Mint,
29 September, 1863.

MY DEAR SIR,

In replying to some of Mr. Lane's queries on the copper question, I have concluded with the remark that it may be as well, looking to the future, "to have the Mint in Sydney capable of discharging all the functions of a Mint in London." In fact, since seeing you and Mr. Cowper, it has appeared to me that it would be better for the Ministry to state the pros and cons of the case, which are pretty evenly balanced, and leave it to the House to decide. On going into the calculation, I find we could make a small profit by coining copper, and it would be the same with silver. Now that the Mint is obtaining an extended circulation, it may perhaps also undertake extended duties. I have still my opinion that the Home Government will object, but they had better be left to do so than that we should urge it as an argument.

The practical difficulty of coining copper and gold side by side I must find a way of meeting.

Yours faithfully,
E. W. WARD.

[Enclosure 1 in No. 3.]

[Urgent.]

Can the Deputy Master coin copper, under the Order of Council defining the constitution of the Sydney Mint?

The Deputy Master can coin copper at the Mint, but only of such designs as may, from time to time, be approved by Her Majesty, and of the standard of weight and fineness of the currency of the Realm.

If Mr. Samuel's motion were carried, what steps should be taken towards issuing a copper coinage from the Mint at Sydney?

Application must be made to England for the necessary dies, as well as some additional machinery.

Is the process of coining copper more or less expensive than that of coining gold?

More expensive for each piece coined; but as the copper coin of England is but a token—

Would the expenses of the copper, its coinage, &c., be covered by the value of the coin?

A slight profit might be realized by the coinage of copper in the Colony.

H. L.
29/9/63.

A thousand pounds' worth of copper coined annually would be sufficient to keep this Colony supplied. The profit on coining this might probably amount to £150.

E. W. WARD.
29 Sept., 1863.

It is a question on which I give no opinion, whether the Governor could not order the execution of a copper coinage other than that authorized in the Order in Council. If he could, the dies could probably be procured in a few days.

If it be decided to ask from the Imperial Government the pecuniary authority and implements to execute a copper coinage, I submit that the same for a silver coinage be asked for. I am informed that we are short of silver in the Colony.

It would, perhaps, be as well, looking to the future, to have the Mint in Sydney capable of discharging all the functions of the Mint in London.

E. W. W.

[Enclosure 2 in No. 3.]

Does Mr. Samuel, by his motion, mean that there should be an immediate coinage of copper at the Mint, or merely that power should be obtained from England to coin copper?

1. In the former case, it can only be decided after inquiry, whether such a necessity exists, and consequently, whether the Executive should oppose or agree to the motion.

1. In the latter case, it is perhaps hardly advisable to oppose the motion. Copper can be coined at the Mint without cost to the Colony, and so could silver, probably both with a small profit. It may therefore be desirable, having regard to the future, that the Sydney Mint should be capable of discharging all the functions of the Mint in London. Therefore, silver as well as copper, may be included in the motion.

ISSUE OF COPPER COINAGE FROM SYDNEY MINT.

2. If the Executive agree as to the necessity of an immediate coinage, they should first obtain from the banks, on best terms possible, all the copper held by them. They should send this to the Mint, and issue a notice advising the public that copper coin of the currency of the United Kingdom can be exchanged at the Mint for gold and silver coin at the rate of 240 pence for one sovereign, or five pence for one shilling. It may perhaps be necessary to put some limit on the quantity that any one applicant can receive. The Government should forward the local Parliament to coin some local token which shall have legal currency until the genuine British coin shall have been obtained, when the tokens can be called in by proclamation and exchanged for the genuine article.

3. Whilst this Act is passing, the Executive should decide whether it is necessary to coin half-pence as well as pence. What the design on the coins shall be. They should, as soon as possible, authorize the Deputy Master to procure the metal for the necessary token, and a sufficient supply of dies for the quantity of tokens to be coined.

4. The power to coin silver and copper tokens should be obtained by the House; on Mr. Samuel moving his resolution that no further immediate action be taken as to the supply of coin, his necessary and thus save the complications which an Act of Parliament followed by the issue of local tokens would produce. It has been urged that the Government are bound to protect from loss the holders of the spurious tokens now in circulation and that great distress will be occasioned if this be not done. Whether this should be done or not is a question of policy on which I give no opinion. But should it be decided to do so in any degree, the intention should be kept secret until the latest possible period, for the Government will be greatly imposed upon.

2. The same course will probably be desirable under this view of the case, as stated on the opposite margin.

3. The Government should forward the local Parliament to coin some local token which shall have legal currency until the genuine British coin shall have been obtained, when the tokens can be called in by proclamation and exchanged for the genuine article.

4. The power to coin silver and copper tokens should be obtained by the House; on Mr. Samuel moving his resolution that no further immediate action be taken as to the supply of coin, his necessary and thus save the complications which an Act of Parliament followed by the issue of local tokens would produce. It has been urged that the Government are bound to protect from loss the holders of the spurious tokens now in circulation and that great distress will be occasioned if this be not done. Whether this should be done or not is a question of policy on which I give no opinion. But should it be decided to do so in any degree, the intention should be kept secret until the latest possible period, for the Government will be greatly imposed upon.

*NOTE.—The Government, at the same time, agreeing to obtain the necessary powers for the future from England.

UNDER SECRETARY FOR FINANCE AND TRADE TO SECRETARY TO CROWN LAW OFFICERS:
P.O. 1177. [Urgent.]
The Treasury, New South Wales,
October 1863.

SIR,
I am directed by the Honorable the Treasurer to request that you will have the goodness to obtain the opinion of the Crown Law Officers on the following points:—
1st. Whether the Governor has the power to consent to a copper coinage at the Mint, and if not, whether he can issue an issue of copper tokens to be recalled when the necessary authority is obtained from the Imperial Government for the copper coinage.
2nd. Whether the authority is to be obtained from the Imperial Government for the copper coinage.
I have, Sir, the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
HENRY CLANE,
Under Secretary.

P.O. A copy of the Order of Her Majesty in Council defining the constitutions of the Mint at Sydney is herewith enclosed.

Enclosure

[Enclosure in No. 4.]

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 19th day of August, 1853.

Present:—The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, in Council.

WHEREAS there was this day read at the Board a representation from the Commissioners for executing the office of our Lord High Treasurer in the words following: that is to say,—The Commissioners of your Majesty's Treasury beg leave to represent to your Majesty, that it appears to your Majesty's said Commissioners to be expedient:—

“That a Branch of the Royal Mint be established at or near Sydney, in New South Wales, on such site as the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony for the time being, may approve; that the Chief Officer thereof, who shall be considered as a Deputy Master of the Royal Mint on being appointed by Her Majesty, be authorized and empowered to coin gold and other coin in accordance with the standards of weight and fineness of the currency of this realm, and of such designs as may from time to time be approved by Her Majesty; and that the Master of the Royal Mint be authorized to prepare and transmit dies for such coins so long as the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury may think necessary, and subject to such regulations as they may prescribe.

That it may be lawful for the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony for the time being, with the advice of His Executive Council, to frame regulations under which the Mint shall receive gold bullion, and coin the same, and unless other provision shall be made for the expenses of the Mint, to authorize the retention (without reference to any charge which may be imposed for the expenses of refining such bullion) of such a proportion thereof, or of the coin struck therefrom, by way of a Mint charge, or seigniorage, as shall be sufficient to raise a fund for defraying the expenses attending the coinage, and to apply the same to such purpose.

That the Deputy Master be empowered, subject to the approval of the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony for the time being, to enter into such contracts, and to establish such regulations for the orderly and convenient performance of the duties of the Mint as may be found necessary; and that he do hold his office during Her Majesty's pleasure, the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony, being empowered to appoint a person to perform his duties, in the case of his death, or incapacity from any other cause, until the pleasure of Her Majesty is made known.

That four other principal Officers of the Mint be appointed from time to time by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and that the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony, be empowered, on the application of the Deputy Master, to suspend either of them in case of misconduct; and on the recommendation of the Deputy Master, to appoint a person to perform the duties of either of them, in case of death, sickness, infirmity, resignation, or suspension, subject to the orders of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury.

And that the four Officers so to be appointed shall be:—

1st. The Superintendent of the Bullion Office, who shall be responsible to the Deputy Master for the receipt of bullion, and the delivery of coin by the Mint, the safe custody of the same while in charge of his department, the faithful conduct and accurate record of all transactions with the public and the coining department of the Mint, the general precision of the arrangements and the integrity of the operations of the refinery and melting house, and for the faithful and zealous discharge of any other duties which the Deputy Master may direct him to perform.

2nd. The Superintendent of the Coining Department, who will be responsible to the Deputy Master for the bullion delivered into his charge by the Superintendent of the Bullion Office, for its conversion into coin of the legal weight, properly stamped with the authorized dies, for the safe custody and legitimate use of the dies, for the operations of his department being properly and economically conducted, for the records thereof being kept with care and precision, and for the faithful and zealous discharge of any other duties which the Deputy Master or his representative may direct him to perform.

3rd. The first Clerk of the Bullion Office, who, under the immediate supervision of the Superintendent of the Bullion Office, will be responsible to the Deputy Master for the skillful and economical direction of the operations of melting and refining, for the records thereof being kept with care and precision, and for the faithful and zealous discharge of any other duties which the Deputy Master or his representative may direct him to perform.

4th. The Registrar and Accountant, who will be responsible to the Deputy Master for the proper registering and safe custody of the documents delivered to his charge, for the store, cash, bullion, and other accounts of the Mint being kept with care and precision, in such form as may from time to time be directed, and for the faithful and zealous discharge of any other duties which the Deputy Master or his representative may direct him to perform.

And that all such other officers and servants of the Mint as may be necessary, shall be appointed and discharged from time to time by the Deputy Master, on the approval of the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony.

And the Deputy Master shall faithfully, and without unnecessary delay, after the expiration of each calendar month, transmit to the Master of the Royal Mint the following returns:—

- Weight of rough gold and weight of bullion received from the public, by the Bullion Office.
- Weight melted previous to assay.
- Weight assayed, valued, and value thereof.
- Weight refined.
- Weight and value of bullion re-issued, and amount charged for melting, assaying, and refining.
- Weight of bars delivered for coinage, distinguishing those from scissel and ingot pots.
- Weight of each description of coin produced.
- Weight of each description of coin delivered to the public, and the amount (if any) charged for coining.
- Number and average of assay reports on which ingot pots have been passed into work, and the highest and lowest assay reports of such pots.
- The same for scissel pots.
- The same for the assay of coin.

Number and description of dies received or completed during the month, of dies worn out, of dies effectually defaced, and of serviceable dies in hand.

And that the Deputy Master shall faithfully, and without unnecessary delay, forward to the Master of the Royal Mint, at the end of every quarter, a Return shewing the waste during the quarter, distinguishing the waste arising in melting, in refining, in coining, and in assaying.

And he shall forward any other returns which the Master of the Royal Mint, with the consent of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, may require.

And that, to ensure the careful observance of the standard in the coin, the Deputy Master shall only permit coin to be delivered to the public between such hours on such days as shall from time to time be ordered by the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony, during which time, an Officer appointed by the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony, shall attend and take, without preference in the selection, a number of pieces in proportion to the quantity delivered, not being more than one piece out of every five hundred coins, nor less than one piece in five thousand. That the piece or pieces so taken be sealed up by the officer appointed as aforesaid, and the envelope dated and signed by him, be forwarded by the Deputy Master to the Master of the Royal Mint in London, for such examination as the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury may direct.

And

And that the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony, shall obtain once every month, from the general circulation, two pieces in good condition of each description of coin issued from the Mint, and shall cause the same to be transmitted to England, in such manner as he shall think fit, in order that they may be subjected to the like examination.

And that the Governor, or Officer administering the Government of the Colony, shall also direct a Board of Government Officers, not less than three in number, to assemble at the Mint at the expiration of each quarter, for the inspection of the store of bullion and coin in the Mint, and report on the same to him, stating the exact amounts of the balance of each description verified by them; and shall transmit a copy of the report to the Deputy Master, to be transmitted by him to the Master of the Royal Mint.

SIR,

Enclosure herewith returned.

With reference to your letter of the 1st instant, requesting the opinion of the Crown Law Officers on the following points:—

- 1st. Whether the Governor has power to consent to a copper coinage at the Mint; and if not—
- 2nd. Whether he can consent to an issue of copper tokens, to be recalled when the necessary authority is obtained from the Imperial Government for the copper coinage;—

I am directed to forward the enclosed copy of the Honorable the Attorney General and the Solicitor General's opinion thereon.

I have, &c.,

[Enclosure in No. 5.]

Copy Opinion.

We have carefully perused His Excellency's Commission as Governor-in-Chief, and the Letters of Instruction, also the Order in Council, dated 19th August, 1853, establishing the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint, and the Colonial Act 19 Vic., No. 3, "to regulate the Currency of New South Wales;" and are clearly of opinion that the undoubted prerogative of Her Majesty to prescribe the impression and denomination of all coinage, and to fix the value at which all coined moneys are to be current and a legal tender in Her dominions, is in no way transferred to or vested in the Governor.

On the contrary, the reservation of this prerogative in the 1st sect. of 19 Vict., No. 3, and the direction, by the 3rd paragraph of the 6th article in the Governor's instructions, to reserve for Imperial consideration, all Bills "whereby any paper or other currency may be made a legal tender except the coin of the Realm or other gold or silver coin," and by the 10th paragraph, all Bills affecting the royal prerogative, clearly shew that upon this topic the Governor has no authority to consent to such issue; nor has the Deputy Master of the Mint any authority to use the appliances of that department beyond the scope of the present Order in Council.

2. Nor are we aware of any precedent, or authority for the Governor to consent to any issue of "copper tokens" to be recalled when the necessary authority is obtained from the Imperial Government for a copper coinage.

As the copper panic has subsided, I would advise the postponement of this question until after the Bill making permanent provision for the Sydney Mint has become law. The country is in some degree pledged to pass such a Bill (see correspondence between the late Ministry and the Home Government on the subject, and the Act passed in England in consequence), and it would be hardly politic to ask for further favours until this pledge has been fulfilled, or the Government have done their best to fulfil it.

MR. THOMAS SMITH to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Sydney, 2 October, 1863.

SIR,

As Mr. Fairfax would not publish the enclosed letter in the Herald, owing to the immense number of letters of complaint sent to him for insertion, on the subject of the copper coinage, I beg you to excuse my enclosing the same to you for your perusal; and if anything could be done to get rid of the counterfeits, it would indeed be a great blessing to the small shopkeepers and the poorer people of this community, more especially to the toll-keeper on the Pymont Bridge, whose annoyances are really vexatious and incessant, owing to the small sums which every passer-by has to pay, or receive in change.

I have, &c.,

[Enclosure in No. 7.]

THE COPPER COINAGE.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Sir,

I have waited patiently, under severe daily annoyances (to which myself and other citizens ought not, I conceive, to be subjected), for some notice to be taken by the Deputy Master of the Mint, of my letter in your issue of Saturday last, upon the miserable condition of the copper money of this city.

Although my troubles and perplexities continue, owing to the deluge of counterfeit copper still coming down upon me at the toll-house, I live in hopes to obtain relief some time; and I beg to ventilate the subject further, with a still more earnest voice for redress, because a reparation for the mischief is close at hand, being aware that the curative process for this public evil is most obvious and easy; and that relief may be immediately given to the whole community by the authorities, and this, too, without loss or expense to the Government or the public.

The simple remedy might be, to pass a short enactment, authorizing the Mint to receive those of the tokens which were found to be of good copper, and to melt and re-issue them of such a weight as would pay all the expenses of re-coinage.

There is no doubt if this were carried into effect, each individual coin (that is, the new pence and half-pence) could be absolutely made of more intrinsic value than those of the last copper coinage which have been issued from the Mint in England.

Here, then, if this were accomplished in the Colony, is an immediate and cheap antidote for a very serious and constant public annoyance, which, although it is promulgated in the simplicity of man's heart, it is nevertheless surmised that it might, if placed in the full tide of red tapeism, take five years to consummate, owing to the Royal privilege; the opinion perhaps required of the Law Officers of the Crown in England, references to the Master of the Mint, Orders in Council, official despatches backwards and forwards to the old country, &c.; and, if so, the citizens here would be needlessly suffering all the time, not merely a perplexity, but a real incessant affliction; and therefore I again strenuously call, in a supplicating voice, upon the Honorable the Deputy Master of the Mint to put an end, at once, if he can, to one at least of the miseries of human life (as I daily experience it); and by his obtaining an Act from the Legislature, to operate without procrastination, it would greatly redound to his honor, to the credit of the head of the Government, and also to our relief and happiness.

Your obedient servant,

JAMES O'SHAUGNESSY,

Lessee of the Tolls of the Pymont Bridge Company.

28 September, 1863.

P.S.—Supposing the whole of the copper tokens were received into the Mint, to melt down for coinage, and re-issue, I believe they would not in quantity be half enough to supply the wants of the Australian Colonies, consequently, the Deputy Master of the Mint could purchase copper, and issue the remainder required, at a large profit—say, perhaps, forty or forty-five to the pound.

If this matter cannot be brought about by an Act of the Legislature here, without reference to England, and obtaining the sanction of the Queen, then, to prevent delay, it is proposed that the copper coin be issued from the Mint as tokens.

GOLD FIELDS.

No. 1.

ASSISTANT GOLD COMMISSIONER DOUGLAS to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS AND PUBLIC WORKS.

Nundle, 6 September, 1858.

SIR,

As considerable discussion has lately taken place relative to the supply of water for sluicing, &c., by the American Company on this gold field, and as the recently established local Court has evinced a desire to interfere with the owner of the ditches, &c., I deem it my duty, in the absence of any provision to meet such a case in the new Gold Fields Regulations, to lay the whole matter, as concisely as possible, before you, for the information of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands and Public Works, and to solicit instructions as to the following points:—

Vide clause 20, which scarcely applies.

1. To what extent is the proprietor, Mr. Loren Dana, to be supported in his claim to the ditches, &c.?
2. What control have I, as Assistant Commissioner, over the supply of, and charges for, the water to the miners?
3. When it appears advantageous to the interests of the public, can I sanction the extension of these ditches?

It appears that about the month of June, 1853, a party of six Americans, Messrs. Foote and Co., came on to this gold field, and, with the sanction of Mr. King, the then Assistant Commissioner, shortly commenced sluicing operations in Nuggetty Gully. They were afterwards allowed to carry water to Little Nundle, a distance of about three miles; and on the 7th August, 1855, Mr. King gave them a written promise (copy annexed) to supply the gold field with water from Swamp Creek.

At this time they had been at considerable labour on the work; and subsequently, other reservoirs and dams to save, and altogether about forty miles of ditches to convey, the water to various parts of the gold field, have, at a large outlay of capital, been skilfully and scientifically constructed. (Vide lithographed plan in the office of the Surveyor General.)

The ownership of the works now belongs to Mr. Loren Dana, who, diverting the stream from the Swamp Creek, where it is not required, at the price of 10s. per sluice head of six inches per diem, supplies the miners with water.

He also allows one sluice head to run in Happy Valley without charge; this being a condition imposed by Mr. King, although there is no written document to that effect.

The benefit derived from this artificial supply of water is incalculable; indeed, had not this vast work been conceived and ably carried out by these enterprising Americans, there would not have been any possibility of working the larger part of these gold fields, and they would, in all probability, long ere this have been entirely deserted. At the present moment, it is only by means of this supply of water that the auriferous ground, in many places, can be wrought; and I am strongly of opinion that the proprietor is deserving of every encouragement that can be afforded him. To induce capitalists to enter into gold mining speculations, it is absolutely necessary to ensure them protection; and I think that any undue interference with this Water Company would be injudicious, and injurious to the interests of this gold field and mining generally.

Still, it may not be deemed advisable to allow what in course of time might be considered a vested right; and I have, therefore, felt it my duty to submit the case for the consideration of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands and Public Works, especially as Mr. Dana has now applied for permission (copy annexed) to construct a new ditch, to supply Happy Valley, where a great many people are just now surfacing, and require the water immediately. He desires to raise the waste water which has been supplied from his reservoirs, to Oakenville Creek, and make it again available in Happy Valley. To this there does not appear to be any objection, provided he allows a sufficient quantity to flow in Oakenville Creek, for the use of residents in the neighbourhood, which he promises to do.

I beg leave to annex the copy of a portion of a report from Mr. Durbin, late Commissioner of Crown Lands for this District relative to this Water Company, which was laid before the House on the 6th December, 1855 (I am not certain of the year).

I have &amp;c.,

B.

"In company with Mr. King, I visited the water works of an American Company, formed on the Hanging Rock, with Mr. Commissioner King's sanction. This enterprising Company have been permitted to lead two or three streams to different localities about the field where there was an absence of water, and thus afforded a numerous class of persons an opportunity of working claims by means of sluicing, which before were unavailable. The Company alluded to, make a charge to recipients of water furnished to them, at the rate of an ounce of gold per week, but also hold claims of their own, which they are working.

"I have intimated to Mr. King my opinion that they are deserving of every encouragement that can be afforded them, so long as, by their system of sluicing, they do not obstruct the work of other miners."

C.

Union Inn, Sept. 3rd, 1858.

Sir,

I most respectfully have to request that you will grant me a permanent permission to erect the necessary ditches from Oakenville Creek to Happy Valley, for the purpose of conveying water from the first to the latter place.

I propose to take all the water in said creek, that is emptied into it from my reservoirs on Hanging Rock, as also all the water in the said creek at the head of my ditch or ditches, excepting what may be required by persons residing contiguous thereto below these points.

In the event of this my application meeting with your approval, I beg that you will favour me with a written permit, for the better security of my labour and expense in the construction of aforesaid ditches, &c.

With great respect,

I am, &c.,

LOREN DANA.

CIVIL CROWN SOLICITOR to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS AND PUBLIC WORKS.

Civil Crown Solicitor's Office,
Sydney, 29 September, 1858.

SIR,

Referring to your minute on the accompanying letter, addressed to you by Mr. Commissioner Douglas, dated 6th September, 1858, in which he reports that an application has been made to him by a Mr. Dana, for permission to construct certain works which will enable them to supply water to Happy Valley, and in which he submits three questions relating to water privileges, upon which he is desirous of having information for his guidance,—I have the honor to inform you, that having laid Mr. Commissioner Douglas' letter, with a copy of the new Gold Fields Regulations, before the Honorable the Solicitor General, that officer has been pleased to write replies to the Commissioner's queries, and to make some observations with regard thereto. A copy of such replies and observations I now have the honor to transmit to you herewith.

I have, &c.,

WM. W. BILLYARD,
Civil Crown Solicitor.

Per J. B. JACKSON.

[Enclosure in No. 3.]

I HAVE attentively perused the letter, under date of the 6th instant, from Mr. Commissioner Douglas, and also a copy of the Gold Fields Regulations, promulgated under the 12th section of the Act 20 Vic., No. 29; and it appears to me that the three questions submitted by the Commissioner may be answered in the following manner:—

1. Mr. Dana may be supported in his claim to the ditches, &c., to the extent which the public convenience requires. The Commissioner is entrusted with a great latitude of discretion in this respect, but the Regulations do not allow him to grant, or uphold him, a monopoly of water privileges.

2. A control is not given in direct terms to the Commissioner over the supply of and charges of water to the miners; but the 20th Regulation provides, that in cases where any water privilege has been granted, by which, in the Commissioner's opinion, the public interests would be injuriously affected, affected, the water must be allowed to return to the ordinary channel whenever the Commissioner shall so direct. If the supply be insufficient, or the charge made be too high, the Commissioner might easily effect a change for the better by an intimation that the water privilege would be abolished.

3. The Commissioner may undoubtedly sanction the extension of the ditches, if the extension appears to be for the public advantage.

I may observe, in addition, that a careful study of the 19th, 20th, and 21st Regulations already referred to, can hardly fail to help any Commissioner in coming to a right conclusion about water privileges. I cannot undertake to say, with my limited knowledge of the subject, that they will meet every case that may arise; but they certainly, in my opinion, meet every point raised by Mr. Commissioner Douglas. The principle to be collected from them appears to be, that the first grantee of the water privileges shall be entitled to retain them so long as his possession is consistent with the interests of the public, but no longer. No such privilege, therefore, can be permanently granted; and it is liable to revocation, whether in writing or not, at the discretion of the Commissioner.

I find that I have anticipated, in the fourth paragraph of the opinion which accompanies the present, the reference of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands and Works respecting the Regulations issued by the local Courts; and I beg to bring that paragraph under his notice accordingly.

[Enclosure in No. 5.]

1. If the Government are aware that a monopoly of the only water available for the working of claims at the Hanging Rock, Nundle, and Peel River Diggings, on the Northern Gold Fields, is enjoyed by certain persons claiming title to the same, as successors of a Company styled "The American Water Company," to whom a license for vending the said water was granted by Mr. Commissioner King, in the years 1853, 1854?

2. If the Government have received any report upon this matter from the Assistant Commissioner at Nundle, or other person, representing and complaining of the exorbitant weekly rental demanded and exacted for this water from the miners, under the aforementioned alleged derivable right?

3. Whether the right to such monopoly has any legitimate existence, and if not, whether steps will be taken by the Government, to relieve the miners from such unwarranted levy?

TELEGRAM from ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER ADDISON, IN REPLY.

13 March, 1865.

Your letter respecting Mr. Pickering's questions about American Water Company has just reached me. I start at once for the Peel River, chiefly to get the information required. Meanwhile I beg to suggest that inquiry in the matter be made of my predecessor, Chief Commissioner Douglas, as, from his long residence at Nundle, he is thoroughly conversant with all the circumstances of the case in question. See Mr. Douglas' letter to you of the 6th September, 1858, on this subject.

MR. W. BRADFORD to SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Nundle, 14 March, 1865.

SIR,

I address you by request of Mr. Geo. Single, owner of one-half of the right of water and ditches known here as "The American Water Company's," as I see our Member, Mr. Pickering, is, on the 21st instant, to ask the Government certain questions appertaining thereto.

In answer to which, I beg leave to make the following true statements.—1st. No monopoly of the only water available for the working of claims at the Hanging Rock, Nundle, and Peel River Diggings exists, as a party, Powell and Co., have a ditch running from the eastern waters, the "Barnett" or "Barnard," and can supply Nundle. A party, Cummings and Co., own one of the original American Company's ditches, nine miles in length, taking the water from Swamp Creek, and supplies the Peel River Diggings in part.

The American Company can only supply a small portion of the gold field, and have ever been very liberal in supplying the miners—always giving a week's water free to any party wishing to prospect.

That no exorbitant rental has been demanded and exacted, as the Rules and Regulations have been made at a public meeting of the miners, held at the Commissioner's office, he presiding and sanctioning, and all agreeing to the said rules.

The original American Company made over thirty-two miles of ditches in 1852-3 and 4, permission being given by the then acting Commissioner, C. M. A. King, Esq., and has ever been held good by all succeeding Commissioners, they conceiving that the permanence and prosperity of the gold field have been mainly attributable to the supply of water carried to the diggings by means of the American Company's ditches; and it only wants parties to manifest the same enterprising spirit which the original American Company did, to avail themselves of the needed water.

Trusting that you will see justice done, and apologizing for thus addressing you on the subject,—

I am, &c.,

WINSLOW BRADFORD.

For the owners and for myself (being the lessee of Mr. Single's share.)

No. 10.

TELEGRAM from GOLD COMMISSIONER DOUGLAS to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

I HAVE been absent from Bathurst, visiting gold fields, since Thursday last—return Saturday next—just received your message here. The prior rights to water of Swamp Creek at Hanging Rock was granted in, I think, 1854, by Commissioner King, to American Water Company. Company went to vast expense and labour in scientifically constructing reservoirs and dams to save the water then running to waste, and many—over thirty, I believe—miles of ditches, to carry it as required by the miners to all parts of the gold workings. This Company originated this admirable system of water supply in this Colony; and to their energy and skill alone, in my opinion, may be attributed the long-continued success of the Gold Fields at Nundle, Hanging Rock, and Peel River. Since original permit, the water has passed to different parties, and the present proprietors are,

are, I believe, Messrs. Watts and Single. A charge for the supply of this water, regulated by me from time to time, has been made as on other gold fields; and the object of the parties now complaining appears to me to be, to deprive the proprietors of the benefit of their labour, skill, and capital, invested in this extensive series of water conduits, and to obtain gratuitously the water for which a moderate fee is now demanded. I have already protected the proprietors in their water privileges; feeling that, without good cause, it would be hard to deprive them of the benefits now accruing to them, and, through them, to the gold fields generally. At the same time, they well know that their tenure would be upheld only so long as the public interests were not injuriously affected thereby, which, in my opinion, has not yet been the case, but quite the contrary. If the proprietors were now deprived of their water-right, the large capital invested by them would be entirely sacrificed, with the probability that the few parties securing the available supply of water would be only temporarily benefited, to the permanent injury of the gold field generally. The water of Swamp Creek is not, as alleged, the only supply of water available for the gold fields: there are numerous races drawing water from the Peel River, besides various other sources. The Commissioner can always regulate the charges if considered exorbitant, having the power under 41st Regulation, to cause water to be returned at any time to its ordinary channel; or, under same Regulation, he, with assessors, can fix the price to be charged for surplus water. A report was made relative to this Company's water privileges by me, in, I think, 1858. Mr. Addison has all the documents connected therewith in his office.

See Enclosure to
No. 1, marked A.

It would appear from a memorandum in this office, dated 7th August, 1855, and signed by Mr. Gold Commissioner King (a copy of which is herewith annexed), that a prior right to the water in Swamp Creek was granted by that officer to certain parties styling themselves "The American Water Company," and such right has been held by that Company, or their representatives, up to the present date. The water derived from the above source is conveyed by a main race from the Swamp Creek to Bowling Alley Point, and thence to the furthest extremity of the Peel River Gold Field.

There can be no question whatever, that the water thus made available by the Company has been for years past of incalculable benefit to that portion of the diggings.

All parties who may require to purchase the water are plentifully supplied; and, so far as I can learn, there are no complaints as to the monopoly by the Company.

Under the circumstances, I am of opinion that the holders of this water privilege have exercised it, as far as possible, to the public advantage, and that they have a vested right, which should on no account be disturbed.

2. With regard to the supply of water for the working of claims at the Hanging Rock and Nundle diggings, I find that the only water available is that obtained from Burrowes' and the Burnt Hut Creeks, together with the watershed of the ridges in the vicinity, and that races to collect the whole of this water were cut by the American Company, about the same period that they obtained a grant of the water from Swamp Creek, but under what authority I am unable to ascertain. These races convey water to the Hanging Rock and to the head of Butchers' Gully. From the former locality it is distributed to the gold workings in Oakenville Creek and Happy Valley.

I have called upon the present holders (who are the successors of the American Company) to shew me by what right they claim a monopoly of the water, but they admit their inability to produce any document conferring such privilege, nor do I believe that any written authority was ever granted, although it is not improbable that, in accordance with the practice of former years, verbal permission to obtain the water in question was given by the then resident Commissioner.

It may be as well here to state that the parties now in occupation of the main race from Swamp Creek to Bowling Alley Point, on the Peel River, have no connection whatever with the holders (Messrs. Watts and Single) of the races that supply the Hanging Rock and Nundle diggings.

3. After a full examination of the whole matter, I am clearly of opinion that, seeing the number of years the races from Burrowes' Creek and its neighbourhood have remained in the undisturbed possession of the Company and its successors, it would be an act of injustice altogether to ignore their claims.

At

At the same time, it is certain that the present monopoly causes dissatisfaction, and occasions much inconvenience to a large number of the miners, whose operations are suspended from the want of water.

In view of these facts, I would suggest that the best and most equitable course to all parties would be for the Government to empower the resident Commissioner to limit the supply of water now obtained by Messrs. Watts and Single, to a quantity not to exceed three (3) ground sluice-heads.

This arrangement would, I conceive, be satisfactory to the miners, and of little detriment to the holders of the races, as from my own observation, I am enabled to state that even in the present dry season, when the demand for water far exceeds the supply, a considerable quantity from the races is allowed to run to waste.

4. In conclusion, I beg to transmit herewith, a copy of an opinion given by the Solicitor General in this matter, in the year 1858; also a map* of the Hanging Rock Gold Field, shewing the races as originally cut by the American Water Company.

I have, &c.,

G. W. F. ADDISON,
Commissioner in Charge,
Northern Gold District.

GOLD ESCORT FEE.

(PETITION—NERRIGUNDAH.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 18 May, 1865.

---

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

The Petition of the Business men and Miners, resident upon the Nerrigundah Gold Field,—

RESPECTFULLY REPRESENTS:—

That the fee of eight pence per ounce charged by the Government for escorting gold, is oppressive upon the mining community, unless coupled with responsibility in case of loss.

Your Petitioners further represent, that if the Government assume responsibility, that the mining community is willing to submit to such fee for escort, as will be commensurate with the risk incurred.

Your Petitioners therefore pray that you will be pleased to remit the above mentioned fee; or if it shall be deemed advisable to retain the fee, then that the Government assume responsibility.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MR. GOLD COMMISSIONER SIBTHORPE.

(PETITION RELATIVE TO.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 31 May, 1865.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned Miners and Residents of Stoney Creek, Iron Barks, Mookerwa, and Macquarie River Gold Fields,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioners beg most respectfully for the removal of our resident Gold Commissioner, Mr. L. H. Sibthorpe.

That your Petitioners, in claiming your honorable attention to the subject matter of this Petition, beg most respectfully to state their entire conviction that the case is well worthy your honorable consideration.

That your Petitioners, in bringing under your honorable notice the circumstances herein stated, desire respectfully further to state, that we consider him totally unfit and incapable to fulfil the office he now holds as Gold Commissioner.

For the following reasons:—

1st.—Because he has the only officer in this district appointed for the adjustment of claims, and has repeatedly neglected his duty by refusing to proceed to places where new ground has been opened, and by such refusal caused much inconvenience and loss of time to the mining community.

2nd.—That by refusing, when requested to attend to places where various mining disputes have taken place, he has caused general dissatisfaction, as well as entailing unnecessary expense.

3rd.—That parties seeking his advice, on several occasions, in certain cases connected with mining matters, and acting upon the advice given by him—his decisions have been contrary to his own instructions.

4th.—That his ungentlemanly conduct, and overbearing manner to persons seeking the exercise of his authority, contrasts unfavourably with other Commissioners under whose supervision we have had the honor to reside, and which, we venture to state, tend in a great measure to retard the mining interests of this portion of the Western Gold Fields.

5th.—His stated aversion to the miners, as a class, as openly expressed by him in public, on several occasions, in which he compared the miners, as a body, more degraded and unprincipled than the worst of criminals.

6th.—His arbitrary and vindictive custom of inflicting extreme penalties in most of the minor cases brought before him whilst on the Bench, as well as his practice of introducing and commenting upon private matters quite irrelevant to the cases under investigation, thereby causing the public to lose all confidence in his administration of Justice.

7th.—That your Petitioners beg to call the attention of your Honorable House to the importance of this Gold Field, the numerous quartz reefs, several of which are working, and the continual prospecting for new alluvial ground, of which has proved very remunerative.

8th.—Your Petitioners therefore pray, that your Honorable House will be pleased to see the necessity of advising the Government to give our case a favourable consideration.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, etc., etc.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

CROWN LANDS.

(REVALUATION OF RUNS, &amp;c.—REPORT FROM CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 31 January, 1865.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

*Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 31 January, 1865.*

SIR,

The Honorable the Minister for Lands having expressed a wish to have placed before him, in an official report, the substance of the communication which it has been my duty, from time to time, to make to him, as the results have become apparent, of the measures which have been taken, pursuant to the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, for the renewal of the leases of the runs to which its provisions were immediately applicable, and more particularly as to the appraisalment of the rent charges, I have the honor, in compliance with his desire, to submit a series of statements which have been prepared to shew, as much in detail as practicable, the state of this question, which, at the present time, on the eve of the expiration of the leases of the more valuable classes of runs still held under the Orders in Council, naturally engages much general interest. These statements should have been presented at an earlier period, but for the difficulty that has been experienced in ascertaining the extent to which land has been withdrawn from pastoral tenure by the operation of the system of conditional selection; and, even now, I have to regret that this information cannot be procured in such a shape as to afford more than approximately, correct data for calculations on this the most important disturbing element in the consideration of the value of the lands remaining under lease.

The tenures which have been converted into leases under the Act are, first, those of runs in the districts formerly Intermediate, now Second Class Settled, of which the leases for eight years under the Orders in Council expired in 1859; and, second, of runs in the remoter Unsettled Districts which have been leased by tender since the 22nd February, 1858. The former class (consisting of the intermediate counties of Rous, Richmond, Clarence, Raleigh, Dudley, Vernon, Hawes, Parry, Buckland, Dampier, Beresford, Cowley, Buccleugh, Wallace, Wellesley, and part of Auckland) comprises the greater part of the pastoral district of Clarence, portions of New England, Liverpool Plains, and Murrumbidgee, and the whole of the districts of Macleay and Monaro. The runs being situated principally upon the main dividing range of the Colony, or upon eastern waters, were, as compared with other districts, of inferior pastoral value originally; while, from their comprising much land adapted for agriculture, and being from situation and tenure first exposed to the operation of the system of conditional selection, and further diminished by large purchases of land by the former lessees under pre-emptive right,—the value which the leaseholds possessed under the original tenure has necessarily considerably deteriorated. The latter class (new runs) comprehend the refuse of former years—lands naturally devoid of water, remotely situated, or small portions shewn to be unleased by the measurement of adjacent runs. Of these, though many have by improvements and by the extension of the Colony, become valuable to their possessors, the "fair annual value" in an unimproved state cannot but be recognized as a minimum.

Before proceeding, therefore, to examine the results of the appraisements already made (which I confess have not realized my own previous estimate), it is necessary to observe that they are not such as to qualify the anticipations that may reasonably be entertained of a large increase of the revenue from the pastoral lands, on the falling in, at the end of the present year, of the fourteen years' leases under the Orders in Council, which comprehend all the most valuable pastoral lands in the Colony.

From the accompanying returns, it will be perceived that, in all, 643 tenures have, up to the present time, been converted into leases under the Act of 1861, an appraisalment having been made pursuant to its provisions, of the fair annual value of the runs for pastoral purposes. The appraised rental has amounted to £26,035 15s. 1d., which, as contrasted with the amount (£33,221 8s. 6d.) previously received for the rent and assessment of the same runs, shews a reduction of £7,185 13s. 5d.

On the other hand, it appears that 180,698 acres of land have been sold in these districts by conditional selection, and that 36,960 acres have also during the past three years alone, been alienated under pre-emptive right. The sales by selection have cancelled the grazing right of the leaseholders, to the extent of three times the area of adjoining land, and transferred it to the purchasers; and to lands sold by pre-emption a leasehold right of similar extent is also attached, irrespective of the holding of the runs. By these means (allowing one-fourth for grazing rights of purchasers which may conflict with one another) the quantity of land embraced in the runs in question, estimated at 6,661,000 acres, may be stated to have been reduced to the extent of 687,389 acres, or more than one-tenth; and as the lands that have been purchased have naturally been the most valuable portions, the value of the remainder has been diminished to a more than proportionate extent. The land sold to conditional selectors represents, at £1 per acre, £180,698; that sold to the lessees by pre-emptive right realized £38,433 12s. 9d.; the interest of these sums at 5 per cent. would amount to £10,956 11s., or considerably more than the loss upon the former rates; and if, in addition to this, the rental (about £1,500 per annum) that would be chargeable upon the adjoining lands of which the leases have been cancelled, be taken into account, the reduction that has taken place as a result of the appraisements is, if not justified, at least shewn to have had an equitable basis. It must also be stated that large areas had been withdrawn from lease, for sale by auction, or for gold mining, in respect of which no previous reduction in the rent charges had taken place, and that in many instances, claims for such reductions had been for a long time pending, sufficiently numerous of themselves to produce a sensible result in the appraisements.

A brief comparison of the results exhibited by the enclosed return, as to the several districts in detail, may not here be out of place; and it will be of advantage to point out to which of the classes adverted to at the outset, the respective runs appertain.

In the district of Bligh two leases only have been converted, the runs have only recently been taken up, and the new rent charge is of the same amount as the late charges for rent and assessment.

In the Clarence District fifty-five runs formerly leased for eight years under the Orders in Council, at an aggregate rental (inclusive of assessment) amounting to £5,078 1s. 10d., have been appraised and converted into leases under the Act, at a rental of £4,634 2s. 3d., shewing a decrease of £443 19s. 7d. The sales in this district by conditional selection have amounted to 36,559 acres, and by pre-emption to 2,715 acres. A deduction at the rate of 5 per cent. upon the price of the land sold (£36,559 and £2,823—say £39,382) would have amounted to £1,966, shewing that, irrespective of the leasehold value of the adjoining land of which the leases have been cancelled, the scale adopted by the appraiser would, if the appraisal had embraced all the land included in the former tenures, have shewn an increase of about 30 per cent. This district being stocked almost exclusively with cattle, the effect of detached portions being taken out of the runs has been to depreciate in an unusual degree the remainder; and though some, perhaps several, of the runs, might have borne without injustice a higher rent charge, I do not think the appraisements as a whole can fairly be objected to.

In the district of Darling fifty-six tenures have been converted; the appraised rental, £2,225 4s., shewing a slight increase (£38 9s.) upon the old rates, which amounted to £2,186 15s. These are all new runs, naturally (with few if any exceptions) devoid of water. I do not conceive that any material increase in the charges could have been fairly anticipated.

Nine runs in the Gwydir District have been appraised, the charges upon which have been reduced from £303 10s. to £244. These runs also have been recently taken up, and are of limited value as well as extent.

In the Lachlan District 128 new runs have been brought under the conditions of the Act, the rental of which has been reduced on appraisal from £4,156 19s. 7d. to £2,039 10s., or rather more than one-half. This reduction, so much at variance with my anticipations of rates voluntarily tendered and paid within a recent period, for runs many of which had to my knowledge changed hands at a premium, appeared to me to be a proper subject for inquiry, of the appraiser, as to the principles by which he had been led to such a result; and the correspondence hereto appended has passed between Mr. Beckham and myself upon the subject. The reduction has not, in my opinion, been justified; but the appraisements having been duly made by the appraiser regularly appointed by the Government and the lessee, and being by law final and binding upon the Government as a party to the appraisal, as well as upon the other parties, no option existed in giving effect to them.

In the Second Class Settled portion of the district of Liverpool Plains, thirty-seven runs have been appraised, the adjusted rental of which amounts to £1,710 10s., as contrasted with £2,002 6s. 3d. formerly received, being a reduction of £291 16s. 3d. Five thousand and twenty-eight acres have been alienated out of these runs by pre-emptive sale, which have realized £5,424 19s. 3d., and 14,330 acres by selection. This would have accounted for a considerable deduction from what would have been the present annual value of these runs had they remained intact; but the country being of exceptional pastoral value as compared with other lands held by similar tenure, I had looked, and I think with reason, for a large increase rather than a reduction of the rental in this instance.

The appraisements in the Macleay District (formerly Intermediate) have been seventeen in number. The old charges amounted to £748 10s. 10d., which have been reduced by no less than £519 10s. 10d., the appraised rental amounting to only £229.

An

An acreage of 13·125 has been alienated by conditional selection. Though knowing the district to be of very inferior pastoral value, I failed to discern any grounds for so great a reduction, and invited the appraiser to inform me of them. This officer did not think fit to reply to my inquiries, and shortly afterwards ceased to be connected with the Public Service. His appraisements, though very far from satisfactory, were necessarily acted upon.

In the Second Class Settled District of Monaro, 176 runs have been appraised. The rates under the former tenure amounted to £8,994 4s. 6d., which have been reduced to £6,358. In this district the sales by pre-emptive right, from 1861 to 31st October, 1864, amounted to 27,036 acres, and realized £27,972 16s. 6d., and the conditional selections amounted to 102,846 acres. The interest upon the price of the land withdrawn from lease and sold, without taking into account the rent from the grazing rights, would have far exceeded the loss upon the old rates, and left a wide margin for the progressive increase in the value of such properties, as regards the land remaining under lease. Many runs in this district have moreover been largely reduced in extent and value, by the proclamation and occupation of Gold Fields embracing large portions of the district.

Of the Murrumbidgee District a small proportion only is of the Settled (2nd.) Class. This comprises sixty runs which have been appraised at a rental of £2,337 15s., being less by the sum of £514 2s. 9d. than the former rates—£2,851 17s. 9d. The runs in this portion of the district, originally of limited extent and value, have still further been reduced by reservation and sale, and by extensive gold fields. The pre-emptive purchases of the lessees have amounted to 1,532 acres only, but the sales by auction and conditional selection, have been unusually large. The Commissioner of this district, Mr. Lockhart, has addressed to me the accompanying letter, in justification of his appraisements, which I have seen no reason to question.

Twenty runs have been appraised in the Second Class Settled portion of New England, the rental of which has been increased from £1,352 16s. to £1,617 10s. The sales by pre-emptive right amounted to only 649 acres, but 4,379 acres have been sold to selectors. The appraisements are low in amount, but not sufficiently so to call for special remark.

In the district of Warrego twenty-five runs have been appraised. They consisted principally of runs on the Lower Bogan River, which, after having been for a long time withheld from occupation, were offered for tender in the year 1859.

There was much competition for them, which resulted in rates of premium being tendered extravagant in amount, and paid for short periods only; and in the runs being again and again forfeited and tendered for in the like manner, at nominally high rates, which were paid in part only, or where paid in full, regarded by the parties who perceived that the Bill before Parliament provided for the appraisement of all such tenures, as the price which they were paying for the purchase of the leases. The former rates in these cases amounted to £2,620 0s. 6d., which were reduced on appraisement to £1,795. Notwithstanding this large reduction (£825 per annum), I believe the appraised rental represents the full value of the country.

The remaining runs, fifty-eight in number, are in the Wellington District, and have been granted by tender since 1858. Several of them are of the same class as those just referred to, and were tendered for at rates beyond their value. The rental of the whole amounted to £2,866 6s. 3d., and has been reduced to £2,785 3s. 10d. This appraisement has been complained of as excessive in some cases.

The foregoing computations, in so far as they refer to the conditional selections, are approximate only, a portion of the land selected (how much the Survey Department is not in a position to state) will have been selected in reserves, and not directly out of the pastoral runs. This is, however, more than compensated for by the land which has been reserved from lease but not sold, and by that which has been sold without the formality of reservation.

I have already admitted that the revaluation by appraisement has not realized my anticipations of the increased revenue that would be thereby obtained. I think that the appraisers have not as a rule taken sufficiently into account the special value which some of the lands possess, and the increased value which the advancement of the Colony, the opening up of new markets, an improved supply of labour, and increased facilities of communication and supply, have conferred upon all such holdings, since the original estimates of pastoral capability (which were generally exceedingly moderate) upon which the charges under the old tenure were computed were arrived at. It is, I think, to be regretted, that it should have been necessary to refer to the appraisers, not merely the computation of the rents by a standard of value, but the determination of the standard by which they were to be computed; and the rates paid under the expired tenure which they appear to have taken as the standard (the maximum standard in one remarkable instance) were not the equivalent of the interests which they represented; but the determination of the rental having been by the Act remitted absolutely to sworn appraisers whose awards the Government were bound to accept, it must be obvious that for the Government to have prescribed a standard for the appraisers' acceptance, or to have laid down rules for their guidance, would have been to render them not arbitrators but agents, and to usurp the responsibility which was committed by the Act to their consciences alone. I purpose separately to consider, however, how far the arrangements for carrying on the system of appraisement admit of modification in detail, so as to obviate the disadvantages which have become apparent in its operation hitherto, and, I trust, lead generally to more satisfactory results.

Before quitting the subject, it is right to point out that the object of recent legislation, with respect to the Crown Lands of the Colony, has avowedly not been the augmentation of the revenue derivable therefrom. Had such been the object, it must have been accompanied by the concession of a more secure holding, and greater advantages to the tenant than are afforded by the present fugitive tenure, which hardly guarantees possession from day to day, gives little security, and consequently offers little inducement for improvements. I entertain no doubt that the revenue from the pastoral lands might easily be quadrupled, and the productiveness and value of the lands permanently increased to a corresponding extent, if the public tenants were enabled to rely upon such a tenure as no one would dream of dispensing with in transactions with a private landlord.

The natural conditions of the Colony offer peculiar facilities for instituting a system which would afford all the requisite guarantees for the beneficial occupation and improvement of the lands by the first tenants, without interference with any interest of subsequent growth.

It is satisfactory to be enabled to state, in conclusion, that the revenue from the occupation of Crown Lands for pastoral purposes during the past year, shews an increase upon the year preceding (notwithstanding the loss upon the appraisements) of £9,510 11s. 7d., or far in excess of the increase in any previous year since the separation of Queensland.

I have, &c.,
A. O. MORIARTY,
Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

RUNS OF CROWN LANDS.—SECOND CLASS SETTLED DISTRICTS.

CONVERSION OF LEASES.

THE fair annual value for pastoral purposes of the undermentioned Runs having been appraised pursuant to the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861," at the respective amounts hereunder set forth, it is hereby notified for the information of all parties interested, that the present leases of such runs may be converted into leases under the said Act, by the payment into the Colonial Treasury, on or before the 31st proximo, of the adjusted rental for the year 1863.

2. Any of these leases which may not have been so converted by the date above specified, will be held to have lapsed, and the runs will in due course be offered to competition as vacated.

RUNS OF CROWN LANDS.

CONVERSION OF PASTORAL LEASES.

THE fair annual value for pastoral purposes of the undermentioned Runs having been appraised, pursuant to the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, at the respective amounts hereunder set forth, it is hereby notified for the information of all parties interested, that the present leases of such runs may be converted into leases under the said Act, by the payment into the Colonial Treasury, within two months from the present date, of the adjusted rental for the year 1863.

2. As, however, by the regulations under which these runs are now held, the next payment of rent will fall due prior to the 1st proximo, and default therein will entail the penalty of forfeiture, it will be necessary either that the appraised rental as now notified, or rents at the rates heretofore paid, should in all these cases be paid into the Treasury as usual, on or before the last day of the present month, and the Lessees will receive credit for the amount of such payments, on conversion of their leases as above mentioned.

3. Any of these leases which may not be so converted within the specified period of two months, will be held to have lapsed, and the runs will in due course be offered to competition as vacated.

CROWN LANDS.

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 31st October, 1863.

RUNS OF CROWN LANDS—CONVERSION OF LEASES.

THE fair annual value for pastoral purposes of the undermentioned Runs having been appraised, pursuant to the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, at the respective amounts hereunder set forth, it is hereby notified, for the information of all parties interested, that the present leases of such runs may be converted into leases under the said Act by the payment into the Colonial Treasury, on or before the 31st December next, of the adjusted rental for the year 1864.

2. Any of these leases which may not have been so converted by the date above specified will be held to have lapsed, and the runs will in due course be offered to competition as vacated.

RUNS OF CROWN LANDS—CONVERSION OF LEASES.

THE fair annual value, for pastoral purposes of the undermentioned runs, having been appraised, pursuant to the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, at the respective amounts hereunder set forth, it is hereby notified, for the information of all parties interested, that the present leases of such runs may be converted into leases under the said Act, by payment into the Colonial Treasury, within two months from the present date, of the adjusted rental for the year 1864.

2. The amounts, if any, already paid on account of the rents of these runs for this year, will be credited as part payments of the adjusted rentals now called for.

3. Any of these leases which may not be so converted within the specified period of two months will be held to have lapsed, and the runs will in due course be offered to competition as vacated.

RUN OF CROWN LANDS—CONVERSION OF LEASE.

The fair annual value, for pastoral purposes, of the undermentioned run, having been appraised pursuant to the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861," at the amount hereunder set forth, it is hereby notified, for the information of all parties interested, that the present Lease of such run may be converted into a Lease under the said Act, by the payment into the Colonial Treasury, on or before the 7th January next, of the adjusted rental for the year 1865.

2. In the event of this Lease not being so converted by the date above specified, it will be held to have lapsed, and the run will, in due course, be offered to competition as vacated.

Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 186 .

Sir,

With reference to my letter of apprising you that His Excellency the Governor General had been pleased, with the advice of the Executive Council, to appoint you a Commissioner of Crown Lands, for the purpose of defining the boundaries and assessing the grazing capabilities of runs beyond the Settled Districts, and transmitting your commission as such, I have now the honor, by the direction of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands, to explain to you the objects which the Government have had in view in your appointment, and to add such instructions as will probably be sufficient for your guidance in the performance of the duty devolving upon you; and will, it is hoped, when carried out with diligence and energy on your own part, secure for those objects, in so far as they are dependent upon your exertions, a speedy and effectual attainment.

2. It will be necessary, as briefly as possible, to advert to the proceedings which have already been taken in connection with the matter, in order fully to apprise you of the present state of it, and of the further proceedings, with a view to which you have been appointed.

3. You are probably aware that, by Her Majesty's Order in Council, dated 9 March, 1847, the licensed occupants of Crown Lands beyond the Settled Districts were authorized to demand, and have demanded accordingly, leases of their several holdings; those holdings having previously been held under a license in each case to occupy Crown Lands, the fee upon which was proportioned to the quantity of stock depastured and area occupied according to the Commissioners' returns, but which, with the exception of the name of the run, afforded no particulars as to its specific locality or limits. It was obviously necessary that these should be ascertained and prescribed for embodiment in the leases; and, as a first step, the claimants of leases were required to set forth in their demands the boundaries, &c., which they claimed; and the descriptions thus set forth were collectively published in the Government Gazette, for the information of all parties concerned. Very many cases of overlapping and disputed claims were thus brought to light, and various measures were from time to time resorted to for their settlement.

4. The descriptions given by the applicants, even where not ascertained to have overlapped one with another, having still been found in many cases to comprise encroachments upon adjacent Crown Lands, or upon adjoining runs, of which the occupants had failed to ascertain and notice the encroaching claims, and having, with few exceptions, been found very defective in precision,—and with a view to complete descriptions being prepared for insertion in the leases, giving effect in cases of dispute or curtailment to the respective decisions and arrangements arrived at by the appropriate tribunals, or entered into with the sanction of the Government, by the parties themselves,—the necessity became apparent of the various runs having their boundaries as claimed or settled, authoritatively carried out and defined upon the ground.

5. By the 2nd section of cap. 2 of the same Order in Council, the rent to be paid for each run is required to be computed upon an estimate of its grazing capabilities, to be arrived at by the assessment of valuers appointed in the manner therein detailed; and the necessity for the immediate completion of this measure has been enhanced since the passing of the "Increased Assessment and Rent Act of 1858," 22 Victoria, No. 17.

6. It was the duty of the Commissioners of Crown Lands beyond the Settled Districts to assess the runs; to examine and compare on the ground the boundaries claimed by the occupants; to ascertain, and (as far as practicable) settle any still existing disputes; curtail any attempted encroachments upon Crown Lands; and to define and describe the boundaries, as a preliminary to their being surveyed, or according to the intention of the Government at one period, as a measure final in itself. Those proceedings have accordingly, for some years past, been in progress, when not interrupted by causes upon which it is unnecessary here to enter; and it is with a view of carrying them to completion in the district of _____ in which the office of Resident Commissioner of Crown Lands has been abolished, that you have been appointed.

7. I beg to refer you to the notice in the Government Gazette of _____ and to the enclosed list of runs remaining to be assessed and described in the district of _____ and I have to request that you will, without loss of time, proceed to that district and commence operations. I enclose for your information a copy of the pamphlet of Land Regulations. I also forward complete copies of the boundaries of the several runs included in the accompanying list, comprising the decisions upon any disputed cases that may have occurred, and the substance of any agreements as to boundary of which the Government has been apprised; and measures will be taken for affording you the means of ready reference to information with respect to any of the assessed runs of which, as adjoining those under examination by you, you may require particulars.

8. It is believed that in the office of the late Commissioner of Crown Lands you will find valuable data for your guidance upon this and many other points. Any documents or other information there existing, will be at your disposal while employed upon your present duty; and it will be desirable that, before proceeding further, you should possess yourself of such references as may thus be procurable, for the careful custody and preservation of which you will of course become responsible.

9. The interval thus gained will admit of your arranging your plan of operations, and giving timely notice to the occupants of the various runs, so that they may be prepared with their valuers to meet at the time you may appoint in each case.

10. Upon visiting a run, your first care should be to make a thorough inspection of the country, so as to render its boundaries and those of the adjacent runs, so far as they are coincident, as respectively claimed or defined, perfectly clear and familiar to you. You should then, with the materials already in your possession, aided by such explanations on points of detail as the occupant may be able to afford you, draw up a revised description of the whole run, defining each boundary in a manner sufficiently distinct to admit of plain identification, and to shut out the possibility of future disputes.

11. It may be well here to impress upon you the desirability of relying as much as possible, in the preparation of your descriptions, upon the natural features, and more especially the water system of the country that you are describing; and, where these are not available, or when it becomes necessary to depart from them in following out the actual boundaries, to cause their absence to be supplied by prominent and durable land marks, more especially with reference to the points of boundary lines. You should avoid, as far as possible, leaving boundaries to be defined only by the compass bearings of imaginary lines, or giving any estimates of distances that are not fully reliable. In these respects, anything short of perfect accuracy tends rather to confusion than to precision, while to obtain perfect accuracy would, in most instances, involve a more tedious and expensive process than is contemplated in the duty entrusted to you.

12. Having completed the preparation of the description, and should no disputed boundaries thereby become apparent, you should submit the same to the Licensee of the run, for his signature, upon the form hereto appended, requiring him at the same time, to appoint, as therein indicated, the person whom he nominates to act as valuer, on his behalf, of the grazing capabilities of the run.

13. You should then, in conjunction with the valuer so appointed, make an assessment of the quantity of stock that in average seasons the run will carry. In doing so, you will of course be guided by your own judgment and experience; but I would suggest, that as the capability of most runs has now been ascertained and tested, you will be much assisted by a reference to the quantity of stock held by each run during an average of years, upon which point you will find full information in the declared Returns filed in the late Commissioner's Office.

14. It may anticipate a difficulty if I here observe, that while it is not the opinion or desire of the Government that holders of runs, who have by expensive improvements largely increased the capabilities of the lands in their occupation, should be called upon to pay rent upon the improved capabilities; it is considered just, that country offering, in its natural state, facilities for improvement, should be rated at a higher estimate than country of the same character not possessing the same advantage, whether it be availed of by the holder or not.

15. In the event of a difference of opinion between yourself and the valuer appointed by the Licensee, the further steps to be taken are pointed out by the 3rd clause of the Order in Council, chap. 2, 9th March, 1847. Should you agree in an assessment, the result should be inserted in the document above mentioned, with your respective signatures, and then transmitted to this office.

16. Should you find, upon completion of the description of a run, that any dispute or discrepancy exists between the claims of the holder and those of an adjoining occupant, your first endeavour should be, by an amicable and judicious interposition, to effect an arrangement between the parties; and should it be their desire, there can be no objection to your acting as an umpire between them, having previously obtained their engagements to abide by your decision. Beyond this your authority will not extend; and failing in effecting an amicable arrangement, you should proceed to define, as much in detail as possible, the disputed as well as the undisputed portions of each run, and forward your report, containing these particulars, with such further information as you may be able to afford, with respect to the character and capability of the country, stock depastured thereon, during an average of years, and, as far as possible, distinguishing each portion, so as to admit of an assessment being ultimately made without requiring that an Agent of the Government should again visit the locality for the purpose. It may, however, in some cases happen that the disputed land will be of less than sufficient extent for the pasturage of 1,000 sheep or 160 cattle, or to affect to such an amount the capability of the whole run. In such a case, the difference would be insufficient to affect the rent charge, and the assessment might be completed without reference to the dispute, of which, nevertheless, full details should, as before, be reported.

17. Much importance will attach to your reports upon disputed cases, as tending to manifest the extent to which disputes still remain unsettled, and as affording the grounds for any further proceedings which it may be found advisable, ultimately, to take for their disposal.

18. Your remuneration will be by fees, at the uniform rate of seven pounds ten shillings (£7 10s.) for every run that you may value and describe in a satisfactory manner, or upon which, in cases of dispute, you may forward a satisfactory report to the Government. You will be expected to provide yourself with such attendance, horses, and equipment as you may require, and without any further cost to the Government.

19. You will be good enough to forward your reports as you complete them, to this office, and to apprise me, from time to time, of your address; and I should be glad if you would refer to me immediately for any further instructions or information that may become necessary for you in the course of your proceedings.

20. It is probable that you may also be called upon to report on tenders for new runs lying in the localities through which, in the course of your more regular duties, you will pass; but should such a necessity arise, it will be the subject of special and separate instructions.

21. It only remains for me to express a hope, that the duty entrusted to you may be discharged with an amount of care commensurate with its responsibility; and to add, that while it is of great importance that the business should, as speedily as practicable, be brought to a close, it is of much greater importance that it should be completed in an accurate and reliable manner.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

Commissioner of Crown Lands,
District.

Crown Lands Office,
Sydney,

1862.

Sir,

By my separate letter of this date, you will receive instructions for the appraisalment, in pursuance of the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, of the rent of the runs in your district, which are held under promise of lease, made subsequently to the 22nd February, 1858, comprehending as well those runs for which the tenders have been accepted subsequently to that date, as those situated in the class of lands formerly Intermediate, now of the Second Class Settled Districts, of which the leases under the Orders in Council expired on the 31st December, 1859, and which have since been held under the provisions of the Act 23rd Victoria, No. IV. You will also receive, in a separate communication, authority for determining by appraisalment under the Act first mentioned, the grazing capabilities of such such runs as have not yet been assessed under the Orders in Council; and as by the recent changes in the law and regulations, the instructions heretofore in operation relating to the valuation and determination of the boundaries of runs have become to some extent obsolete, I deem it advisable to take the present opportunity of anew directing attention to this portion of the duties upon which you are engaged.

2. Provision having been made in the 27th clause of the Occupation Act for the issue of leases, with such general descriptions of the runs as, without the detailed precision and accuracy of actual survey and measurement, may define the lands with certainty, it will now more than ever be necessary that, where not already done, the boundaries of each run should be definitely set forth, and any disputes respecting them brought to an issue prior to its appraisalment.

3. Before serving the lessee with the notice of your appointment, or arriving at any decision as to the value of the land for pastoral purposes, it will be your duty to visit and make a thorough inspection of each run, inquiring into the boundaries, and comparing them with those claimed by the holders of adjoining runs, or, should the run be bounded by unlocated Crown Lands, with the extent of country which the claimant has been authorized to occupy, so that you may be enabled to remedy any imperfections or inaccuracies of the present descriptions, to bring under notice any still pending disputes or encroachments upon vacant Crown Lands, and, where no such difficulties exist, to prepare in each case a revised description, defining the land with sufficient precision for adoption in a lease. This description should be signed by yourself and the holder of the run, and forwarded to this office with the appraisalment, upon which also a copy should be indorsed. For your guidance in framing descriptions, I beg to direct your attention to the 10th and 11th paragraphs of my former letter of instructions, and to add that the boundaries must, in all cases, be so defined that if at any time hereafter they should be surveyed, the survey may be made to illustrate and complete the definition of them, without altering their position.

4. Wherever the boundaries of a run have been already detailed for adoption in a lease by your predecessors in office, it will of course be unnecessary for you to examine and define them afresh, unless they have been modified or altered by any subsequent arrangement. The appraisalment may be made under the description herewith furnished, and a copy thereof indorsed on the award.

5. Any disputed boundaries that may in the course of your proceedings be brought to your notice, which have not already been settled by authority, and in which the claim of either party is not inconsistent with the recorded description of his own run, should, when practicable, be arranged by mutual consent of the parties thereto; but, should you fail to effect such an arrangement, you will ascertain and report fully the situation, extent, and limits of the disputed land, to the end that the dispute may be referred to arbitration under the Act. In like manner you will report to me full particulars of any encroachments upon Crown Lands. In any such cases, you will be careful to abstain from making any boundary marks which might prejudice the fair consideration of the claim of the holder of any run.

6. When a run is being appraised of which any of the boundaries are disputed, if it should appear to you in your discretion as sole appraiser (or to the appraisers, should there be two), that the disputed land is not sufficiently valuable or extensive to increase or diminish the annual pastoral value of the whole run so far as to affect the rental, the appraisalment may be completed without further delay; or, where this course cannot be followed, the appraisalment should, if practicable, be made in the alternative, in such a manner as, by shewing the pastoral value of the run exclusive as well as inclusive of the disputed land, to admit of being adopted on the dispute being ultimately settled.

7. If it should be found impracticable to appraise a run by reason of a disputed boundary, the fact should be duly certified under your hand and that of the claimant's appraiser, if any: I would, however, impress upon you the desirability of completing an appraisalment in every case in which it can be made consistently with a due regard to the interests of the claimant and of the public.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

The Commissioner of Crown Lands,

Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

*Crown Lands Office,

Sir,

Referring to your appointment as Commissioner of Crown Lands for the district of

I have now the honor to transmit to you the necessary documents appointing you to determine, pursuant to the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, either as a single appraiser, or in conjunction with an appraiser appointed by the claimant in each case, the rent of the several runs enumerated in the accompanying Schedule.

2. I also transmit to you for the purpose of being served, notices addressed to each of the respective claimants, announcing your appointment in terms of the 23rd clause of the Act; and calling upon them respectively either to concur in your appointment as sole appraiser, by signing and transmitting to you a copy of your appointment, or in the event of their claiming to appoint appraisers on their own behalf, to make such appointments as prescribed by the said clause within sixty days after notice. It is necessary that you should be in a position to prove service of such notices, to enable you to act as sole appraiser in the event of a claimant's failure to take steps in pursuance thereof.

3. On receiving the claimant's concurrence in your appointment in any case, you will be at liberty, after making the necessary declaration, to proceed in the appraisalment without delay.

4. In the event of any claimant appointing his own appraiser, he will be at the cost of his remuneration, as well as that of the umpire to be in that event appointed by you and the claimant's appraiser; and before entering upon the appraisalment you will see that these appointments are respectively made in due form, to which end the necessary forms have been prepared and are appended to the several notices. With respect to the appointment of an umpire, I am desired, without in any way fettering your discretion, to impress upon you the necessity of concurring only in the appointment of gentlemen of intelligence and reputation, having no interest direct or indirect in the matter of appraisalment.

5. I have to direct your special attention to the declaration, a copy of which is indorsed on each appointment, to be taken in every case by the appraiser or appraisers and umpire before acting.

6. The 13th clause of the Act points out that the rent of each run is to be determined by appraisalment of the fair annual value of the land for pastoral purposes, without taking into consideration any improvements effected by the occupier; and the 23rd clause contains detailed provisions for carrying out the appraisalment. It is, therefore, only necessary for me further to point out that such value as between landlord and tenant should be expressed in the award by a specific pecuniary rate, not being less than £10 per annum; and that as it will be applicable to the period of five years now about to commence, and will entirely supersede the rent (inclusive of the premium, if any) and assessment now paid, the prospective as well as the immediate advantages of the holding should be taken into fair consideration.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir,

Pursuant to the 23rd clause of the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861," I beg to give you notice that has been appointed appraiser on the part of the Crown, to determine the fair annual value for pastoral purposes of the land comprised in the run called situate in the district of and held by you. I append a copy (marked A), of such appointment, and have to request that you will either concur in the appointment of Mr. as sole appraiser, or nominate an appraiser on your behalf.

2. Should you concur in the appointment of Mr. as sole appraiser, you will be good enough to sign the certificate (marked B), at the foot of the above-mentioned document, and transmit the same to him forthwith; and the appraisement will thereupon be made by him without expense to you.

3. Should you, however, claim to appoint an appraiser on your own behalf, it will be necessary that the appointment should be made in writing under your hand, and delivered to the person whom you may nominate, within sixty days from the date of service of this notice. I append a form which may be used for the purpose (marked C); but you must understand, that in the event of such being your decision, it will involve the expense not only as an appraiser on your behalf, but also of an umpire, and that you will be required to pay all costs of their remuneration.

4. If you fail either to concur in the appointment of a sole appraiser, or to appoint an appraiser on your behalf, in manner above stated, the appraisement will, on the expiration of the allotted period, be made by the appraiser appointed by the Government, and as provided by the Act.

Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 20 October, 1864.

Sir,

I have the honor to invite your attention to the statement noted in the margin, with reference to the appraisements lately sent in by you. Seeing that the runs that are in question have all been taken up by tender within a recent period, at the old rates of rent and assessment computed upon the tenderers' estimates of pastoral capabilities,—and that the greater part of them have changed hands at prices ranging up to a large amount,—and that the fair annual value, which was the subject of appraisalment for the ensuing five years, should be inclusive of every element of value, and not merely based upon the capability of the land for grazing a certain amount of stock in average seasons,—it does not appear to me that the reduction of the rent charges by over fifty per cent. can be justified. I am aware that in most of these cases expenditure is required to procure water supply; but not only must this fact have been within the knowledge of the applicants when taking up the runs, but it has already been allowed for in the extended areas of the blocks. You will understand that the Government, being only in the position of a party to the appraisalment of the runs, which is now binding upon them as well as the lessees, I do not of course contemplate contesting your appraisements, which, moreover, having been made under the obligations of an oath, are, I do not question, made conscientiously and to the best of your judgment.

At the same time I think it only fair to you to give you the opportunity of explaining, should you desire to do so, the principles by which you have been guided in arriving at the results that I cannot help regarding as so much to be deplored; and it is not less necessary that I should be informed of those principles for my future guidance before appointing you to appraise the rest of the runs in this district, with the possible result of the destruction of the revenue now derived from rentals which are manifestly disproportioned, in the majority of cases, to the marketable value of the property which they represent.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands,
Lachlan.

I have, &c.,
A. O. MORIARTY,
C.C.C.L.

Crown Lands Office,
Binalong, 23 November, 1864.

Sir,

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter respecting my appraisements of runs in this district, and complaining of the reduction of the rent charges made by me, and requesting me to state the principle by which I have been guided in arriving at the results; and beg leave to state that, according to the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861," the appraisers are to fix the annual value of each run in a perfect state of nature, as well as locality and area, without any reference to improvements or to the amount the lessees may have hitherto been paying.

2. On visiting the country in question, I found it perfectly destitute of permanent water, and very poorly grassed; and after a careful examination, and making strict inquiries both from interested and disinterested parties of long and large experience, I could arrive at no other conclusion than that the country in question is in fact valueless in a state of nature.

3. After my return to Binalong from visiting the runs referred to, I continued to make the appraisalment of them my serious study; and the principle I then adopted was to appraise each block of 100 square miles at £30 per annum, those of 50 at £15, and so on down to £10, this sum being the minimum; and this system I have carried out, except in cases where portions of the runs are very scrubby, and useless for grazing purposes.

4. I believe that the lessees of blocks of twenty-five square miles, and even less, have been paying a yearly rent of £10, with an assessment of £20, making a total of £30; and if I had taken that as a guide or principle to appraise the runs, the lessees of the blocks containing 100 square miles would have to pay a yearly rent of £120, which would, in my opinion, be a gross injustice, inasmuch as the land is valueless until a large expenditure has been made upon it, and even then it is doubtful if it will be of any permanent value; and again, such an appraisalment would have placed this very inferior country upon a similar footing with blocks of the same area on the south side of the Murrumbidgee River (viz., £120 per annum rent), where one acre is equal to fifteen or twenty of that between the Lachlan and Darling, with the advantage of roads and much shorter distances from market.

5. I have no hesitation in stating, from my practical knowledge, that it will require at least ten acres of the back waterless country in this district to graze each sheep, taking an average of years after permanent water is obtained.

6. On the country north of Balranald, in all the wells that have been sunk, the water (if any) is too salt for any purpose.

7. In the winter and summer of 1862 and 1863 all the stock had to leave the back country north and south of the Lachlan River, for the want of both grass and water; and there was not much short of 100,000 sheep travelling up and down that stream waiting for rain, and ruinous losses took place amongst the stock.

8. A large amount of capital must be expended to make the back blocks of any use, in making tanks, dams, and wells; and there is a great risk in sinking wells, as in many instances, after expending £200 or £300 on each well, the water may be quite salt.

9. The carriage of produce down from, and supplies up to, the back blocks north of the Lachlan is very expensive. There is also a great want of timber for building purposes; hundreds of miles have not a tree upon the ground, and lessees who are making improvements have to cart wood upwards of eighty miles, and zinc or galvanized iron from Melbourne or Adelaide for roofing.

10. I may mention that several lessees of blocks north of the Lachlan are going into a very large expenditure in endeavouring to make that country available for stock. One party has already expended above £22,000 in improvements alone, and another has spent between £3,000 and £4,000, and are not certain now that their supply of water will last through the summer.

11. I have taken the opinion of many experienced and disinterested men, who are well acquainted with the country I have appraised; and the unanimous reply I have received is, that I could not conscientiously have acted otherwise than I have, to do justice to all parties, which has been my object and study in making my appraisements, more especially as in all cases I have acted as sole appraiser.

12. On comparing my appraisements of runs with those recently published of other districts, I cannot discover that mine are so deplorably low, particularly when the nature and locality of the country is taken into consideration.

13. If a heavy annual rent was placed upon the blocks of land between the Lachlan and Darling, I consider it would tend very much to retard the opening up of that large tract of country.

I have, &c.,
EDGAR BECKHAM,
Commissioner of Crown Lands.

The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, &c., &c., &c.,
Sydney.

It appears to me that Mr. Beckham has not only altogether failed to justify the reduction of the charges upon the runs in question to the extent of over 50 per cent., but has, on the contrary, shewn that he has proceeded upon principles as erroneous, as the result of his appraisements is unsatisfactory.

To speak of country which has not only voluntarily but with avidity been taken up at the former rates, and in many instances changed hands at comparatively high premiums afterwards, as being "in fact valueless" in a state of nature, is a simple absurdity. The facts shew that the lands do possess a value, and one not existing in theory only, but which has been actually realized.

No doubt in many, perhaps most of these cases, capital has to be expended in securing water, which may be evidence of the defective pastoral capability of the land in a state of nature; but without dwelling on the facts that, as I have already pointed out, the area of most of these blocks has already been enlarged up to the maximum to compensate for that deficiency, and that the worth of the country when water is secured becomes, as I suppose Mr. Beckham will hardly dispute, out of all proportion to the rest of the improvements, it is sufficient to observe that it is not how many stock the land will carry in a state of nature, or whether it will carry any stock at all, that is the matter under appraisalment; but how much per annum the lease for five years of the land is worth under the Act.

Mr. Beckham's explanation of the principle on which he has proceeded is in effect, that he has taken the minimum rate under the former system as his maximum, which he has applied to the runs of maximum extent, and made a deduction therefrom corresponding with inferiority of extent or capability.

bility, overlooking the fact that the former minimum (his maximum) was proportioned to a certain pastoral capability (4,000 sheep), and to the minimum extent of twenty-five square miles, which was enlarged up to 100 only on the assumption of the larger area being requisite to feed that quantity of stock. He argues that if he had appraised the runs of minor extent at £30, he must have appraised the larger ones at £120, or a rate equivalent to the runs on the south side of the Murrumbidgee. It is not apparent why he should have done anything of the kind; but regarded as an illustration of the manner in which he would have applied the principles which he had laid down for his guidance, it is sufficient to shew how far they have been erroneous. As Mr. Beckham refers to the blocks on the south side of the Murrumbidgee, it is as well to observe that I do not know of any blocks in that position, of which the present rents have been arrived at by reference to area, or upon any such principle as he conceives would have been likely to lead himself into injustice. The rents in that district are computed in the same manner with reference to their pastoral capabilities as were those of the runs appraised by Mr. Beckham prior to their appraisal; and if in some cases those rents now amount to £120 per annum for blocks of 100 square miles, it is estimated by the Commissioner of the district that when the time comes for appraisal of them under the present Act, the rental proportioned to that extent will be about £350 per annum.

It has been my duty to invite the attention of the Government to the results of the appraisal of rentals generally which have been in my opinion unsatisfactory, but that opinion is specially applicable to the appraisements made by Mr. Beckham, and which have formed the subject of the present correspondence.

*Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 22 December, 1864.*

Sir,

Referring to your letter of the 23rd ultimo, in reply to mine of previous date, adverting to the reduction of the rent charges as shewn in the appraisements made by you of certain runs in the Lachlan District, and requesting you to state the principles by which you had been guided in arriving at those results,—I have the honor to observe that it appears to me that you have not only altogether failed to justify the reduction of the charges, upon the runs in question to the extent of over 50 per cent., but have on the contrary shewn that you have proceeded upon principles as erroneous as the result of your appraisements is unsatisfactory.

To speak of country which has not only voluntarily but with avidity been taken up at the former rates, and in many instances changed hands at comparatively high premiums afterwards, as being in fact valueless in a state of nature, is a simple absurdity. The facts shew that the lands do possess a value, and one not existing in theory only, but which has been actually realized.

No doubt in many, perhaps most of these cases, capital has to be expended in securing water, which may be evidence of the defective pastoral capability of the land in a state of nature; but without dwelling on the facts that, as I have already pointed out, the area of most of these blocks has already been enlarged up to the maximum to compensate for that deficiency, and that the worth of the country when water is secured becomes, as I suppose you will hardly dispute, out of all proportion to the cost of improvements, it is sufficient to observe that it is not how many stock the land will carry in a state of nature, or whether it will carry any stock at all, that is the matter under appraisal; but how much per annum the lease for five years of the land is worth under the Act.

Your explanation of the principle on which you have proceeded is in effect that you have taken the minimum rate under the former system as your maximum, which you have applied to the runs of maximum extent, and made a deduction therefrom corresponding with inferiority of extent or capability. Overlooking the fact that the former minimum—your maximum—was proportioned to a certain pastoral capability (4,000 sheep), and to the minimum extent of 25 square miles, which was enlarged up to 100 only on the assumption of the larger area being requisite to feed that quantity of stock, you argue that if you had appraised the runs of minor extent at £30, you must have appraised the larger ones at £120, or a rate equivalent to the runs on the south side of the Murrumbidgee. It is not apparent why you should have done anything of the kind; but regarded as an illustration of the manner in which you would have applied the principles which you had laid down for your guidance—it is sufficient to shew how far they are erroneous.

As you refer to the blocks on the south side of the Murrumbidgee, it is as well to observe that I do not know of any blocks in that position of which the present rents have been arrived at by reference to area, or upon any such principles as you conceive would have been likely to lead you into injustice. The rents in that district are computed in the same manner with reference to their pastoral capabilities as were those of the runs appraised by you prior to their appraisal; and if in some cases these rents now amount to £120 per annum for blocks of 100 square miles, it is estimated by the Commissioner of the district that when the time comes for the appraisal of them under the present Act, the rental proportioned to that extent will be about £350 per annum.

It has been my duty to invite the attention of the Government to the result of the re-appraisal of rentals generally, which have been in my opinion unsatisfactory; but that opinion is specially applicable to the appraisements made by you, and which have formed the subject of the present correspondence.

I have, &c.,

A. O. MORIARTY,
Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands,
Lachlan.

*Murrumbidgee District,
Crown Lands Office,
Hay, 9 December, 1861.*

Sir,

One of the most delicate duties possible by the new Crown Lands Occupation Bill is laid upon the sworn appraisers, who have to fix fair and equitable rents for runs of Crown land. I do myself the honor to point out that, if the appraisers generally acting for the Crown have not some ideal standard as to what is a fair and equitable rent, there will be at least great diversity in their appraisements, and either a serious loss to the revenue on the one side, or practical injustice to the run holders on the other.

I have, therefore, taken the very great liberty of submitting for your perusal, a document in which I have attempted to set forth the principles on which, I think, an appraiser of the rents of runs in this district might very fairly be guided.

Should

Should the principles therein set forth meet with your approval, I shall endeavour to act on them in any case in which I may be called on to officiate. If they do not meet with your approval, will you do me the honor to convey to me your ideas on the subject, in order that, if possible, I may be able to act in uniformity with others (on principles laid down by you for our guidance) so far as our oath permits us?

To me it seems very evident that some standard must be fixed in each appraiser's mind, if the Act, in that respect, is to work equitably.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES G. N. LOCKHART,
Commissioner, Crown Lands.

To the
Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands,
Sydney.

I think the principles suggested by Mr. Lockhart with so much forethought and ability would, in general, lead to an equitable determination of the proper rental of runs of Crown Lands in the Murrumbidgee, and other pastoral districts similarly occupied and circumstanced; but it appears to me that the Government would not be justified in laying down any general principles for the guidance of sworn appraisers, to whom the Legislature have determined that the duty in question should be entrusted, and one only of whom (if either), namely, the Government referee, would be likely to pay any regard to the principles laid down for his observance, even if it were proper that such a step should be taken.—A. O. M., 3 January, 1861.

An attempt to inquire into the principles by which Rents of Runs of Crown Lands should be regulated in the Pastoral District of Murrumbidgee. By C. G. N. LOCKHART, C.C.L.

In old settled countries, the proportion of rent payable to the landlord by the cultivator, for land in an improved and flourishing state, has frequently formed the subject of inquiry on the part of political economists.

Adam Smith states the proportion of profit (after deducting expenses of husbandry) which should go to the landlord is two-fifths—three-fifths being reserved as the profit of the tenant.

We will reserve that statement as a test of the correctness of certain calculations which I am about to make on the data afforded by M'Culloch, who is generally admitted as an authority on such subjects.

In making these calculations as to the rent properly payable by the Crown tenants of the Murrumbidgee District, I have confined myself altogether to the growth of wool and sheep husbandry. Wool is the only pastoral production which has a value in the commerce of the world, forwarded from the district; and the sooner that the growth of wool be considered the main object of squatting pursuits, the better in my opinion will it be for the Colony. I propose further to put out of question, all returns made to sheepholders from the sale of fat stock, as I place that profit against lengthened land carriage and the diminution of ordinary profits therefrom arising—a matter which could not have presented itself to the mind of either of the authors above mentioned. Indeed M'Culloch evidently presupposes that proper roads do exist. I also feel the more propriety in rejecting all produce except wool from these calculations, as M'Culloch admits that with a diminishing fertility of soil, the proportion of rent payable to the landlord becomes more than proportionally smaller.

Empire, vol. i.
p. 561.

M'Culloch, in fixing the rent, sets down one-fourth ( $\frac{1}{4}$ th) of the gross produce as the very highest proportion payable. Now, in making this calculation available against the Crown tenants of the Murrumbidgee District, I suppose a sheep station with 4,000 sheep depasturing on twenty-five square miles, four acres to one sheep—an average natural capability seldom reached. I presume water for man and beast available at all times.

ib. vol. i. p. 560,

Of wool those sheep will produce on an average  $2\frac{1}{2}$  lbs. each, or 9,000 lbs. in all, which at 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. (1s. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.) amounts in gross to £550, one-fourth of which (at M'Culloch's calculation) for gross rent would amount to £137 10s.

It is very evident, however, that this "gross" rent is something very different from the "real" rent at which we wish to arrive. M'Culloch very clearly points out the difference. The "real" rent is that rent which the land would fetch in a state of nature, destitute of houses, fences, and every sort of artificial melioration. He confesses great difficulty in fixing the proportion between "real" and "gross" rent. He ventures, however, on the proportion of twenty millions of "real" to forty-five millions of "gross" rent.

Abiding, then, by this arbitrary definition by M'Culloch, we find that the "real" rent payable for the station carrying 4,000 sheep, as above described, is to be found by the proportion—or at the rate of 48s. per square mile, or £15 per 1,000 sheep.

$$45 : 20 :: 137\cdot5 : x = \text{real rent.}$$

$$\text{Real rent } x = \text{£60.}$$

Let us see how this result would bear the test of Adam Smith's dictum—that the rent should be two-fifths of the profit found by deducting the expense of husbandry.

Assuming, as above found, that the "real" rent is £60, and the "gross" rent £137 10s.—

$$\text{Then } 2 : 5 :: 137\cdot5 : x \text{ gross profit.}$$

or at the rate of £85 16s. 3d. per 1,000 sheep—a sum not far from the truth probably on the first class run supposed, leaving as it does a net profit of about £71 per 1,000 sheep, to pay interest on all money invested in the run in the shape of stock.

Yet experience tells us that over a number of years this profit is an extreme one—above average; although I have purposely omitted all profit derivable from sale of stock, which has been done as a set-off to the difficulties to be encountered in this remote district.

I think, therefore, that we may fairly arrive at this result—that a first class run, in a healthy district, sufficiently supplied with water—in fact, a model station—can afford to pay rent to the Crown at the rate per square mile of 48s., or per £1,000 sheep £15.

Doubtless if a few fine runs were put up to public auction, the rents obtainable would be found in all probability far above the above results. The demand for fresh country by depasturers in the vicinity, a lively demand for breeding sheep, the state of the money market, or the desire on the part of intending settlers at once to obtain a run, might all be such as to raise the value of the runs so offered to competition; just as in Ireland small farms have been held at rents far above their real value, with results beneficial neither to the tenant nor to the landlord.

In appraising rents of runs in this district, I apprehend that there are three matters which should be taken into consideration:—

- 1st. The quality of the run.
- 2nd. Its acreable grazing capability.
- 3rd. The facilities which it offers for conveyance of produce and stores to and fro.

I would apportion the rent of the model run thus. I presume the rent to be divisible into 250 equal parts, of which—

|   |              |
|---|--------------|
| Quality should form .. .. .                       | 100 parts.   |
| Grazing capability should form .. .. .            | 100 „        |
| Facilities for market should form .. .. .         | 50 „         |
| Total rent, value £15 per thousand .. .. . | 250 „ |

In this district there are three nearly distinct zones of pastoral lands classified as to their quality. The first class, familiarly known as "salt bush country," comprise all the lands lying west of a line running from Mulwely, on the River Murray, to Rauds, on the Billabong, and thence to Arajoe, on the Murrumbidgee. Other things being equal, these runs are superior by 40 per centum to those of class No. 2, which may be called "undulating forest country," extending from the Sydney and Melbourne Road westward to class No. 1, and are again themselves, generally, by 20 per centum superior to class No. 3, "mountainous country," extending eastward from the Sydney and Melbourne Roads to the sources of the Murrumbidgee and Murray Rivers.

I would say, therefore, in a general way, that runs in these three districts would stand thus as regards their quality:—

|--|------------|
| Salt bush country, No. 1 .. .. .         | 100 parts. |
| Undulating forest country, No. 2 .. .. . | 60 „       |
| Mountainous country, No. 3 .. .. .       | 40 „       |

and it would follow, therefore, that where a run in first class salt bush country paid a rent of £60, it would only pay £36 if situated in class No. 2, and £24 if in class No. 3. But it might happen that the grasses were so much more luxuriant on a run of No. 2, or even of No. 3, that the superiority in quality would be more than compensated. I would say, as a general rule, that water in each case being equally available, the grazing capabilities of these three classes of runs might be stated thus:—

|  |                  |
|--|------------------|
| Salt bush, No. 1 .. .. .                 | 40 parts in 100. |
| Undulating forest country, No. 2 .. .. . | 100 „            |
| Mountain country, No. 3 .. .. .          | 80 „             |

but of course these would be subject to variation in each particular case.

To arrive at a fair result the facilities of transit should also be taken into consideration; but it not being of so much value as the other qualities, I have only assigned to it a subordinate value in the scale.

My model run, to the standard of which I would refer all others, would therefore be this:—

|   |                  |
|---|------------------|
| Area, 25 square miles.  |                  |
| Grazing capability, 4,000 sheep, which it can depasture at all seasons of the year. |                  |
| Quality .. .. .   | 100 parts in 100 |
| Capability .. .. .  | 100 „ 100        |
| Facility .. .. .  | 50 „ 50          |

Total .. .. . 250 „ 250, or rent at rate of £15 per thousand sheep or 48s. per square mile.

I would refer to the Appendices A and B for an example of that actual scheme of appraisalment in cases of class No. 1 and 2 runs. I do not wish to press my forms on your attention, but simply adopt these as a means of arriving at that truth which you may order to put into any more desirable form. The two first runs I have taken as they are well known in the district.

I would fix Denilquin rent at £201 2s. 6d. per annum; it now pays, with assessment, £120 per annum.

I would fix Tala rent at £517 10s. per annum; it now pays, with assessment, £280.

At the same time, my scheme would lower the rents of the poor runs considerably, relatively to the first class runs.

In Appendix B I give again an actual example of run in class No. 2, Gerogery, which I would assess at £124 2s. instead of £80 paid at present. But again, I give one mountainous run in Appendix C, Yarara, which would pay £26 5s. per annum instead of about £40 as at present.

There is one class of runs in this district difficult to deal with; I refer to those which have no permanent water supply on them, and which, therefore, are incapable of depasturing stock all the year round. It has in such cases been found necessary to add to the minimum of twenty-five square miles, in order to obtain an average capability. Thus, if the run from peculiar drainage is capable of depasturing sheep for six months, then has the area been doubled so as to keep 8,000 sheep for that six months. If the run were only capable of keeping sheep for four months, then the area has been given so as to feed 12,000 sheep during that four months.

Now I presume it will be admitted that this extra area should not bear an increased rent, but that in these cases the appraisalment should go on the standard of £15 per thousand sheep. I may state that in the majority of cases the grazing acreable capability of the back runs is superior to those of the frontage.

In Appendix D I give an example of the appraisalment of a dry back block, first quality; by which it will be seen that in such cases I would propose an increase in the rents of the salt bush first class back blocks, but in the inferior blocks there would be a falling off from the present rents.

If the results of this inquiry appear to be in any degree available, each valuing Commissioner might supply himself with the condensed formulæ.

Sir,

With reference to your letter of the 9th ultimo, forwarding a report upon the subject of determining the rent, &c., of the runs in the Pastoral Districts, I have the honor to inform you that I think the principles suggested by you with so much forethought and ability, would in general lead to an equitable determination of the proper rental of runs of Crown Lands in the Murrumbidgee and other pastoral districts similarly occupied and circumstanced; but it appears to me that the Government would not be justified in laying down any general principles for the guidance of sworn appraisers, to whom the Legislature have determined that the duty in question should be entrusted, and one only of whom, if either, namely, the Government referee, would be likely to pay any regard to the principles laid down for his observance, even if it were proper that such a course should be taken.

I have, &c.,

 Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands,

*Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 17 November, 1862.*

Sir,

I have the honor to inform you, that I have been struck by the circumstance that the rents of several runs in the Macleay District appraised by you as sole appraiser, have, in the majority of cases, not exceeded, or exceeded only by trifling amounts, the rents heretofore paid under the Orders in Council, in addition to which heretofore the lessees have been paying an assessment under the Act of 1858 equivalent to treble their rents.

On the adoption of the new appraisements, the runs will, as has been explained to you in your instructions, be exempt from assessment, so that in the cases to which I refer, the payments of the lessees to the Revenue have been diminished by about 300 per cent.

I do not assume any right to revise awards made by the appraisers under the obligations of an oath, but it seems to me that the reasons which have operated with you in making these reductions are a fair subject of inquiry and explanation, in order that, if your estimates are based upon erroneous principles or views of your instructions or the regulations, the error may be corrected before further injury to the Revenue takes place.

It occurs to me as possible that you may have overlooked the fact that the appraised rental will supersede the present assessment as well as the present rental.

I have now to request that you will be good enough to supply further information explanatory of your awards at your earliest convenience.

I have, &amp;c.,

Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

*Murrumbidgee District, Crown Lands Office,
20 August, 1863.*

Sir,

I do myself the honor to forward herewith the appraisement of three runs named on margin. It will be observed that these are mere shreds and patches; and none of them having any water, they have all been placed at the minimum.

It will be observed that every appraisement, or estimate of grazing capabilities, reduces the rentals of the land.

This arises from two circumstances. The appraisements of runs taken up since 1858 are small, because the runs are generally such as are here enclosed—small portions, useless to any other persons than the tenderer; yet most of them have been paying the rent and assessment as on a bond fide 16,000 acre run; when they are appraised the difference becomes apparent.

The grazing capabilities of the salt bush runs in this district in their natural state are very small in area. So long as these runs pay according to their areas, the discrepancy is not so much observed; but when they are assessed according to their grazing capability only, the Revenue at once suffers alarmingly.

The squatters as a body have no desire to have these runs estimated, and rents thereby reduced; probably they are not aware of the consequence of demanding that estimate of the grazing capabilities of their runs to which they are entitled under the Orders in Council of 1847.

I have no doubt but that I have drawn down your animadversion upon myself, by the passive resistance I have shewn to an order to estimate the grazing capabilities of these fine grazing lands. But when I reflected upon the loss of Revenue on one hand, and the acquiescence in paying the present rents on the other, I do not think that I would be justified in shewing any great zeal in dealing with this question.

When the quality and position of the runs form an element in the rentals to be paid, as provided for in the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1862, the result will be widely different; no doubt the rental derivable from salt bush country will be doubled.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHARLES G. N. LOCKHART.

The Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands,
Sydney.

I do not assume a right to question Mr Lockhart's sworn appraisements; but I cannot admit, or abstain from taking exception, in some respects, to the views set forth in this communication.

With respect to the reduction in the case of the runs leased since 1858, described by Mr. L. as small portions "useless to any other persons than the tenderers,"—I have to observe that it is the rental, not to any other persons, but to the tenderers or their assigns, that is the subject of appraisement; and that the fact of these portions of country being taken up and occupied at the old rates—by rent and assessment—is the best proof that could be obtained that the fair annual value to the occupants is not less than those rates.

And with respect to the pastoral capabilities of runs in their natural state,—much of the country referred to is, I am aware, absolutely worthless, until improved, for grazing purposes; but on the other hand, not only are any facilities natural or locally available that may exist for improvement matters of fair consideration, but it must be remembered that it is for grazing purposes that the country is rented from the public, and that the rental is fairly chargeable upon such natural capabilities as the country possesses when such capabilities are utilized. Again, the quality of pasturage and position of land are not matters to be excluded in passing an estimate of capability; on the contrary, they should enter largely into such an estimate, because, although fattening country favourably situated for markets may not, at any one time be capable of grazing more than a given number of stock, it enables the occupant to fatten and send to market within a given period an actual quantity of stock far beyond the numbers ordinarily depastured, and therefore actually possesses a capability far greater than inferior country less favourably situated but capable of maintaining the same average of stock.

As to the progress of the duty of assessing the capabilities of runs in the Murrumbidgee District,—I am aware that it has been delayed, even more than the ordinary difficulty of enlisting the co-operation of the lessees, and the impossibility of compelling or dispensing with it, prior to the late changes in the law, would have excused; but I confess my surprise to learn from Mr. Lockhart that he himself has opposed a "passive resistance" to the order. It is now necessary that I should inform him that the matter is not one of opinion or policy, still less of discretion with executive officers, but of carrying out the law; and that now that he is empowered by the Occupation Act to bring the duty to a close, he will be held responsible for any further delay that may arise in its completion.—18 Sept., 1863.

Sir,

With reference to your letter of the 20th August last, forwarding appraisements of the runs named in the margin, and reporting your reasons for reducing the rentals thereof, and also as to the delay which has occurred in the assessment of the grazing capabilities of the runs in your district,—I have to inform you that I do not assume any right to question your sworn appraisements, but I cannot admit or abstain from taking exception in some respects to the views set forth in your communication.

With respect to the reduction in the case of the runs leased since 1858, described by you as small portions "useless to any other persons than the tenderers",—I have to observe that it is the rental not to any other persons but to the tenderers or their assigns that is the subject of appraisement, and that the fact of these portions of country being taken up and occupied at the old rates of rent and assessment, is the best proof that could be obtained that the fair annual value to the occupants is not less than those rates.

And with respect to the pastoral capabilities of runs in their natural state,—much of the country referred to is, I am aware, absolutely worthless until improved for grazing purposes; but on the other hand, not only are any facilities, natural or locally available that may exist for improvements, matters of fair consideration, but it must be remembered that it is for grazing purposes that the country is rented from the public, and that the rental is fairly chargeable upon such natural capabilities as the country possesses, when such capabilities are utilized. Again, the quality of pasturage and position of land are not matters to be excluded in framing an estimate of capability; on the contrary, they should enter largely into such estimate, because, although fattening country favourably situated for markets may not at any one time be capable of grazing more than a given amount of stock, it enables the occupant to fatten and send to market within a given period an actual quantity of stock far beyond the number ordinarily depastured, and therefore actually possesses a capability far greater than inferior country less favourably situated, but capable of maintaining the same average of stock.

As to the progress of the duty of assessing the capabilities of runs in the Murrumbidgee District, I am aware that it has been delayed, even more than the ordinary difficulty of enlisting the co-operation of the lessees, and the impossibility of compelling or dispensing with it, prior to the late changes in the law, would have excused; but I confess my surprise in learning that you yourself have opposed "a passive resistance" to the order. It is now necessary that I should inform you that the matter is not one of opinion or policy, still less of discretion with executive officers, but of carrying out the law; and that now that you are empowered by the Occupation Act to bring the duty to a close, you will be held responsible for any further delay that may arise in its completion.

*Crown Lands Office,
Armida, 24 March, 1864.*

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge your letter of the 10th instant, 64-660, respecting the appraisement of the fair annual value of Stoney Batter, instead of that of the grazing capabilities of the run as requested.

In reply, I regret to say that I was not aware that I was not observing instructions, apprehending that the grazing capabilities and fair annual value were the same thing, or equivalents.

The appraisement is based upon the grazing capability of the run, viz., 3,600 cattle, or £225 at the rate of £40 per 640 cattle.

Trusting that this explanation may be satisfactory, until I have a further communication whether I shall forward a fresh appraisement,—

I have, &c.,

ALEXANDER BLACK, C.C.L.,

*Crown Lands Occupation Office,

Sir,

With reference to your letter of explanation of the 24th ultimo, concerning the incorrect appraisement of the Stoney Batter Run,—I beg to refer you to the very plain and specific instructions which you hold, pointing out the steps necessary to be taken for the performance of such duties, the import of which you have, as it would appear from your report, neglected to make yourself conversant with; and I beg also to add an expression of my surprise that you should have failed to bestow upon this matter, on which more than any other the public interests demand the exercise on your part of intelligent care and discretion, sufficient examination to have recognized the distinction between the appraisement of the pastoral capabilities of land regarded merely as indicating the quantity of stock, and the pastoral value into which every element of value, as for instance, climate, soil, character of herbage, situation in relation to markets for produce or for fat or surplus stock, and all similar advantages, should be appreciated and taken into account.

I have, &c.,

*Murrumbidgee District Crown Lands Office,
6 December, 1864.*

Sir,

The present alleged financial state of the Colony has caused much speculation as to the possibility of a largely increased revenue being derived from runs of Crown Lands—the leases of which expire on 31st December, 1865. The attention of officers connected with the Occupation of Crown Lands must have been drawn to the various ideas on this subject sent forth by the press, and announced from the hustings in the general election of Members of Assembly now in progress. Under these circumstances, I do not think I can be held as going out of my way in drawing your attention to the subject, and in venturing an opinion as to the probable revenue which may be derived from renewed leases of these runs within the district of Murrumbidgee; their fair annual values being obtained by the usual method of appraisement.

I have thought much upon this subject of late—not as regards the policy which should be pursued in the matter—not as regards any theories which I may have heard started on the subject—but as regards the proper method of carrying out that policy which is already fixed as the law of the land, by the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861." My ideas have not travelled beyond that Act and the proper manner of giving effect to its provisions. In it, the method of renewing leases and of fixing the proper rent charges is laid down. I have inspected a very large number of runs, with a view to ulterior proceedings. The principles laid down in the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861" seem fair towards the lessee on the one hand and the Treasury on the other; but the carrying of these principles into effect unfortunately depends much upon the technical acquirements of the appraisers, still more upon their probity. They require to understand well what they are engaged in doing, and to do it without regard of persons.

I presume that there is no doubt, but that the runs which fall in on 31st December, 1865, may be renewed as five years leaseholds under the Act. There can be as little doubt, but that they were meant to be renewed. In fact, the leases which were held under the Orders in Council for eight years have been renewed. I am not aware of any reason why lease holders for fourteen years should be differently dealt with. I am aware that the result of the appraisal fixing the fair annual value of these leases has been considered unsatisfactory. I will endeavour to explain how this has occurred in the Murrumbidgee District. I will express an opinion as to the probable result of appraisements of runs falling in in 1865, pointing out that all the possible loss has been incurred, and urging steps for the realization of the gain at the earliest possible period.

The runs which have been appraised in the Murrumbidgee District hitherto consist of four classes, which must of necessity be let at lower rents than hitherto. There are, first, the formerly so-called intermediate runs lying on the Snowy Mountains, and adjacent to the old nineteen counties. The country is bad, rotten, sour, utterly unfit for grazing sheep; on some of the runs cattle rot, and horses will not remain upon them. The climate is humid, herbage plentiful, though coarse. In some cases the runs are fit for dairy farming, and homesteads are comfortable. A great proportion of these runs are below the standard of 16,000 acres. The auction prices of forfeited runs in the locality show that my appraisements are not too low. Secondly—Many of the appraised runs lie adjoining the very bad ones, and are also very inferior, but not so much so as to have prevented conditional purchasers from entering thereon. The soil—washings from the Snowy Mountains—is rich, the climate temperate, and small farms can keep families; but with the location of conditional purchasers, there is a more than corresponding decrease of rent. Thirdly—Reserves have been made on many of the runs. Although not now necessary, there is no way of reincorporating these reserves with the runs. An abatement of rent under sworn appraisal ensued in such cases, though previously no steps had been taken to do so. Fourthly—In the better class of country small blocks had been found after surveys, and had been tendered for of late years. To obtain these pieces at all, the price of full runs had to be tendered; but of course under a sworn appraisal, a reduction in proportion to the area became a necessity.

These circumstances chiefly have kept down the rent roll of the Murrumbidgee, as fixed by appraisal hitherto; but in working through the list, I observe that wherever I have had a full sized good run, there has been a very great increase of the charges.

Presuming that the present Crown Lands Occupation Act remains in force, and that the leases falling in on 31st December, 1865, are to be renewed in terms thereof, I anticipate that the appraised rent roll will give a very different result. The runs consist either of fine salt bush country, low in grazing capability but excellent in quality, and within easy reach of market; or of fair forest country, not indeed equal in quality to the first, and generally more remote from market, but of high grazing capability. On the first of these there should be a very large increase of revenue; on the second there should be a considerable one.

Before expressing an opinion as to what this increase should be or may be expected to be, I beg leave again to point out the principles on which these appraisements must be made under the present Act. If that Act be repealed, indeed, or amended, so that its policy towards Crown Lessees be altered, then of course other principles would have to be acted on.

Two of the leading principles in that Act I take to be these:—1st, rent charges are to be fixed according to the natural grazing capabilities of the runs; 2nd, the occupant has the right to purchase the lands on which his improvements stand.

On the runs now in question this natural capability has, generally speaking, very much increased since the year 1852, when the fourteen years' leases were issued. Many of the runs which had then no permanent water on them, are now abundantly supplied therewith, and all are better supplied than in former years. Creeks or watercourses formerly called dry may now be classed as running streams. This has doubtless arisen from the stocking, and the consolidation of the soil in consequence; but it is a "natural" increase, and must form one datum in fixing the rent charge. Thus, for instance, the Billabong Creek, which was formerly dry for a great portion of the year, over the greater part of its course may be fairly treated as forming a permanent water frontage. It has been bridged at the public expense in four places, and punt ferries have been established on it. Again, the grasses on the runs are much thickened—more stock can be kept. This is also a "natural" consequence of depasturing, and must be taken into consideration. On some runs, however, the forest has thickened into "scrub." This being also a natural consequence, must tell pro tanto against increase of rent charge.

Some attention has been drawn to the greatly increased rentals fixed as fair ones in the Colony of South Australia, under circumstances generally (but wrongly) supposed to be similar to those obtaining here. I believe that I am correct in stating, that at the expiration of the leases in South Australia the improvements made by the squatters have reverted to the Crown, and any tenant succeeding to the lease, obtains the wells, tanks, sheds, yards, fences, and even the dwelling-houses erected by the outgoing tenant. He can therefore, of course, offer a high rent for the run. It is not for me to make any remarks on the manifest impolicy of such legislation. It was the law under which these runs were held. It is sufficient for me to point out, that it is diametrically opposed to the letter and spirit of our Crown Lands Occupation Act, by which the tenant is allowed to purchase all lands so improved. In fact, any incoming tenant on one of our runs would have to erect a second set of necessary improvements, and would then, in all probability, find that all improvable spots had become the freehold property of the ousted tenant. Were, in the Murrumbidgee District, the improvements to pass, with the runs, into other hands, the result would be somewhat similar to that in South Australia. But the rent of an improved farm is something very different from the real rent of unimproved soil in a state of nature. The two rents are declared by MacCulloch to stand as forty-five to twenty, a calculation which reduces the South Australian rents by more than one-half. I may go farther, and state with confidence, that were the leases of runs in the Murrumbidgee District put up to auction on the terms laid down in the Act, viz., leases for five years renewable for same term, at the same rent, in event of improvements—the present outgoing tenants retaining those improvements which alone make the runs of any value, the rents offered would not nearly equal those to be obtained by an honest appraisal. That is always presuming that the runs were offered in numbers at one time, as would certainly require to be the case.

In a letter which I did myself the honor formerly to address to you on this subject, I pointed out that first class runs in the Murrumbidgee District, excelling in quality, capability, and position, could afford to pay at the rate of 56s. per square mile as rent. The constantly increasing facilities of steam communication along our rivers, and the rapid transit of wool to Melbourne, by the Murray River Railway, have however somewhat changed my views. I think first class runs could pay a higher rent, as their profits have increased.

I think such runs could bear a rental of 70s. per square mile. I do not mean to say but that the tenant could and would pay more, rather than leave the run; but according to the views which I hold, and which I have previously attempted to explain, this rental is all that the tenant has a right to pay, or the public a right to expect for their eaten grass. The Treasury can have no claim on a share of the tenants' profits—depending, as they do, on the employment of capital, on favourable seasons, on good markets, and on judicious management. As well might the Treasury be called upon to bear its share in losses over a period of disastrous seasons. The rent charge of 70s. per square mile on good runs, carrying naturally (as explained by me) one sheep to four acres, brings the rent charge on each thousand sheep as high as £21 17s. 6d., a very high rate indeed, and one which can only be met by improving the runs and enabling them to keep more stock. The grazing capabilities can in no cases be doubled on runs naturally watered, though they may be so on runs for which an acreage allowance has been made, in that they could not naturally keep sheep all the year round. On these runs there is some result to be obtained from skill and capital even at that rent, but on well watered runs the rent I so propose may be, or might be, in many instances, a crushing one, were it indiscriminately levied.

Of course a time must come when rent should be paid on the improved capability of the runs. Whether that time has come on some of the runs in the Murrumbidgee, long held under lease, is a question which would admit of argument. The Occupation Act makes no distinction. The highly improved runs, however, have not generally been held so long under lease as those runs have been which were lately appraised; nor, in most instances, have the improvements made in recent years been as yet remunerative. But at the expiration of the tenancy about to be conferred in terms of the present Act, presuming that a second tenancy were to be created, the appraisal of rent should be on the improved capabilities of the runs. But the rentals can never realize, or be fairly appraised at, anything approaching the rates written or talked of by persons utterly ignorant of the matter.

Presuming that a tenant purchases all the land on which his improvements stand, what may be the value of the surrounding Crown Lands run? Nothing but the original natural capability! Any attempt to do more than to fix a fair rent must defeat itself.

I may say that the Crown tenants of this district, one and all admit that a great increase on their rent charges should take place—I do not anticipate much difficulty in dealing with the subject in a fair practical spirit. I have not found one person at all captious on the matter, and I can take certain precautions, needless to detail, to ensure uniformity in the awards.

I think on the whole that the rent roll of the Murrumbidgee will be more than doubled. Many of the runs will be appraised at three times the present rent and assessment. The charges on the good back runs will be doubled, and there are but few of the inferior forest runs but which will bear an increase of one-half. The present total charges of the Murrumbidgee runs amount to £23,705 15s. 10d., say £24,000. I think I may very safely say that this will be increased to £50,000, perhaps to £60,000.

Presuming always that the present Crown Lands Occupation Act is to continue to be the law, I beg leave to point out that this increase should be available from the 1st January, 1866. In order that the Treasury should reap the full benefit, the appraisal should be made in 1865. The purchase of any improvements—or the land rather which contains them—during the year 1865, can make no difference, as the grazing capabilities of these purchased blocks which should be excepted from the run, may be taken practically to be nil; and the value which such improvements confer on the adjoining Crown Lands is not to be taken into consideration in the appraisal.

The appraisal of the few runs already made has been nearly as troublesome as will be that of the whole district.

I do myself the honor to suggest, therefore, that steps should be taken to have the renewable leases appraised sufficiently early in 1865 to allow of the increased rents being at once paid into the Treasury on the expiration of the current leases. I would further suggest that I should furnish a list of all runs south of the River Edward—where the increase will be greatest—and that these runs should be first proceeded with, in order that it may be seen whether the proposed system is likely to work well, and such considerable increase as I anticipate be probably realized.

I have only found one fallacy in the minds of some of the lessees. It is this—That because a conditional purchaser—of course taking the pick of a run—only pays 40s. per square mile for his grazing right, therefore the tenant of a whole run, good, bad, or indifferent, should pay less, certainly not more. I do not see, however, that because one set of men are unduly favoured by law, that a sworn appraiser should abate his conviction if that would be a fair annual value of the run.

I have, &c.,

Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Surveyor General.

The following table shows the results of the experiments conducted on the effect of the concentration of the solution on the rate of reaction. The concentration of the solution was varied from 0.1 M to 0.5 M, and the rate of reaction was measured by the time taken for the reaction to complete. The results show that the rate of reaction increases with increasing concentration of the solution.

| Concentration of Solution (M) | Time taken for reaction to complete (s) |
|-------------------------------|---|
| 0.1                           | 120                                     |
| 0.2                           | 60                                      |
| 0.3                           | 40                                      |
| 0.4                           | 30                                      |
| 0.5                           | 24                                      |

The above results indicate that the rate of reaction is directly proportional to the concentration of the solution. This is because a higher concentration of the solution means there are more particles available to react, leading to a faster rate of reaction.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

CROWN LANDS.

(ADDITIONAL AND AMENDED REGULATIONS UNDER OCCUPATION ACT.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 3 May, 1865.

*Department of Crown Lands,
Sydney, 28 April, 1865.*

CROWN LANDS BEYOND THE FIRST CLASS SETTLED DISTRICTS.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to make the following additional and amended Regulations, under the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861," with a view of providing more effectually for the appraisement of the fair annual value of old runs and runs, prior to their conversion into leases for five years, under the Act, and upon the renewal, under the terms and conditions of the Act, on their expiration, from time to time, of such leases as may already have been, or may hereafter be, converted thereunder, and for the disposal of forfeited or vacated runs in the Second Class Settled and Unsettled Districts.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

APPRAISEMENT OF RUNS ON EXPIRATION OF LEASES.

1. On the appointment, on or before the expiration of the term of the lease, or promise of lease, in force for the time being, of an appraiser, by the Minister for Lands, or by the officer authorized by him in that behalf, due notice of such appointment will be given to the lessee or claimant of a lease, requiring him either to concur in the person so appointed, acting as sole appraiser, or to appoint an appraiser on his own behalf, within sixty days of such notice, as prescribed by the Act. Such notice will be forwarded to the usual place of residence of the lessee or claimant, if known to the officer charged with the service of the notice, or if unknown to him, will be delivered at the run about to be appraised.

2. The appraiser or appraisers, when appointed, shall, in all cases, before entering on the appraisement, make an inspection of the run, and an estimate of its extent and of its capability for pastoral purposes in a natural state; which estimate, with a statement of the nature and value of the improvements, of the quantity of land withdrawn from the original leasehold (if any), by sale, reservation, or otherwise, and of any other circumstances whereby the pastoral value of the run, in an unimproved state, may have been increased or diminished, shall be appended to the appraisement when made.

3. The appraisement will not include any land which may have been withdrawn from lease by sale or reservation, unless a notice of the cancellation of such reservation shall have been published in the Government Gazette prior to the appraisement; but any land, part of the original holding, which may, by such cancellation of a reserve, wholly or in part, revert to a run, must be duly taken into account, in determining the fair annual value of the whole run.

4. The appraiser or appraisers, having made the declaration prescribed by the Act, and appointed (except in the case of a sole appraiser) an umpire thereunder, shall appoint a time and place for holding a Court of appraisement at some convenient place in the district, and shall give not less than seven days' notice in writing thereof, to the parties interested, and to the umpire, if any.

5. The appraisement shall be made in open Court, and upon due inquiry and consideration of any evidence, documentary or otherwise, which may be laid before the appraiser or appraisers by the claimant of a lease, or at the instance of the Government, or which may have been produced at their own instance.

6. In determining the fair annual value of a run for pastoral purposes, the appraiser or appraisers are not to take into account any improvements which may have been effected at the cost of the claimant of the lease, or any person through whom he may derive his right or claim, whether by the construction of dams or reservoirs for water, by fencing, or laying down artificial grasses, by buildings, or otherwise. The appraised annual value must, however, in all cases, be so computed as to represent every natural advantage or source of profit, including facility of access to market, which the run may afford for the grazing of stock, whether sheep, cattle, or horses, and whether such advantages have been availed of to their full extent or not; and the annual value so arrived at must be that which the appraiser or appraisers believe to be the fair annual rental value, in average seasons, for pastoral purposes, of the lands comprised in such runs, except as aforesaid. The previous rates of rent and assessment are not to be taken as the guide to fair annual value.

7. Every appraisalment, when made, is to be transmitted, without delay, to the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

8. If in any case it shall be made to appear that, subsequently to the determination, by appraisalment, of the fair annual value of a run, such value has been materially diminished, by reason of the sale, or withdrawal from lease, or otherwise, of any of the land included in the appraisalment, a fresh appraisalment will be made.

9. Any lessee of Crown Lands who may claim, under the 15th clause of the Act, an extension of his current lease to ten years, at the same rental, in consideration of artificial means having been adopted whereby a run, which, in its natural state, was incapable of sustaining 4,000 sheep or 800 cattle, has been rendered capable of permanently depasturing that quantity of stock, or any such lessee having by like means increased the pastoral capabilities of a run to the extent of one-half, must make application to the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, during the first quarter of the last year of such lease, setting forth full particulars of the nature, situation, and value of the several improvements in respect of which such extension is claimed.

10. No application will be necessary in the case of the conversion or renewal of leases, as hereinbefore provided for. The necessary steps for appraisalment will in due time be taken by the proper officer of the Government.

FORFEITED OR VACATED RUNS.

1. Leases of runs that may have been forfeited or vacated will be, from time to time, offered for sale by auction.

2. Each run will be put up at a minimum upset rental, in accordance with the 17th clause of the Act, and the lease will be sold to the person who may offer the highest premium for the purchase thereof.

3. The purchaser will be required to pay down, at the time of sale, a deposit equivalent to 25 per centum of the premium (if any) offered for the lease, together with the upset rent for the year, to be computed from the commencement of the current quarter to the 31st December ensuing; in default of which, the auctioneer shall again forthwith put up the lease, and shall not accept any bid from the person so making default.

4. The balance of the purchase money for the lease shall be paid into the Colonial Treasury, in Sydney, within three months of the day of sale; and, in default of such payment, the sale shall become void, and the amounts paid by way of deposit shall be forfeited.

5. Runs, of which the leases may remain unsold, after having been twice offered for sale, by auction, may be obtained on lease at the rent at which they shall have been last offered, on application to the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, and payment of the rent from the commencement of the current quarter to the 31st December ensuing, unless in any case in which it may be considered expedient that the run should again be offered to lease at auction.

6. All sales of such leases which may be offered at auction will be notified in the Gazette, at least one month before the time appointed for such sale.

7. The Regulations with respect to forfeited or vacated runs, comprising chapter 3, sections 40 to 43 inclusive, of the Regulations under the "Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861," bearing date 1st November, 1861, are hereby repealed.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

CROWN LANDS.

(RETURNS RESPECTING RUNS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 15 June, 1865.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 21 March, 1865, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“ A Return shewing, in alphabetical order,—The names of “ all the runs the leases of which were submitted to sale
 “ by public auction, during the year 1863, under the Crown “ Lands Occupation Act of 1861; the district in which each “ run is situated; the estimated number of acres in each “ run; the names of the lessees in all cases where such “ leases were sold; the amount of annual rent to be paid for “ each run leased, distinguishing those runs forfeited (if any)
 “ after the deposit was paid.”

CROWN LANDS.

No. 1.

MR. CHARLES COLWELL to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

Coonabarabran, 6 March, 1860.

SIR,

I beg leave to state to you, for your information, that on my tendered run, called Wombalong South, violent proceedings took place on the 1st March, by Henry Bloomfield, Houston Bloomfield, together with four men and a constable.

Their proceedings were as follows, viz.:—Houston Bloomfield and one of his men burst in the door of my hut forcibly with axes; and Henry Bloomfield presented a revolver, on entering my hut, at my wife, her not complying with his request to leave the hut, knocked her down, and forcibly ejected her out of the house, threw out part of the property, and part ultimately destroyed by fire, together with the hut, also cut and burnt the yards. Rough estimated loss of property, about £400.

The brief outlines of the proceedings I have let you know, hoping that you will give such instructions to the local Commissioner for him to investigate the matter.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHARLES COLWELL.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to MR. CHARLES COLWELL.

Crown Lands Office,Sydney, 16 March, 1860.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, in reply to your letter of the 6th instant, respecting violent proceedings taken against you by the Messrs. Bloomfield and others, that I regret I have no power to interfere in the case.

I apprehend that you will be under the necessity of applying to the law for protection, and damages for the outrages, if you can prove that they have been committed.

I have, &amp;c.,

A. G. M'LEAN.

MR. CHARLES COLWELL to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

Coonabarabran, 15 August, 1860.

SIR,

It now being better than two months since I have seen Mr. Commissioner Daniel, respecting his coming to look over the Wambalong South Run; he then promised me that he was coming to inspect it, as he had not looked over it yet; and I having a law suit pending with respect to Mr. Bloomfield burning my hut and yards, I still retaining possession on behalf of myself and the Government.

Wishing Mr. Commissioner Daniel would come and look over it, and the boundaries of M'Laren's Narawane Run before the suit comes off, if you would be pleased to remind Mr. Commissioner Daniel of the necessity of his doing so, as it might put a stop to a great deal of litigation.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHARLES COLWELL.

SIR,

I beg to refer for your consideration the enclosed letter, dated 5th February last, which I have received from Mr. T. H. Dangar, protesting against the acceptance of any tender from Mr. Colwell, which may interfere with the boundaries of his run called Terembone. Never returned.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 5th February last, and to inform you that I am unable to find any outstanding tender from Mr. Colwell, conflicting with the boundaries of your Terembone Run, but that I have referred your letter for the consideration of the District Commissioner.

No. 7.

T. G. DANGAR, Esq., to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

Bullerawa, Wee Wau, Namo River, 26 April, 1861.

SIR,

With reference to the correspondence that took place between the late proprietor of Terunbone (Mr. Richards) and your department, relative to the encroachment made by Mr. Colwell on his Terunbone Run, I do myself the honor to inform you that the run has changed possessors, and become my property.

I beg to reiterate all that Mr. Richards advanced in support of his claim to that portion of the run held under license by Mr. Colwell, and of which he is in illegal possession; and I beg to again urge that justice may be afforded me, and Colwell's encroachment abated, either by the cancellation of his license or otherwise.

To prove more clearly that my claims are just, I forward you a copy of the description of Terunbone, inserted in Mr. Daniel's estimation of the run. He admits my claim, as all else who are at all conversant with the true merits of the case, on the Wee Talliba Gunnilar or Bungle Creek to 2 miles below Billeroy Waterhole. Admitting a part he admits the whole, and even the original description warrants my claim to the Wee Talliba Creek from the point specified.

My true boundary extends beyond the Terunbone Stockyard two miles, and a line from my marked tree to that place, at right angles to my other boundaries, would take in Colwell's hut, &c., and prove beyond a doubt the validity of my claims.

I merely forward a copy of Mr. Daniel's description for your perusal. I do not accept it, except so far as it confirms all that has been previously urged in support of the claim to the Wee Talliba Creek.

As I am exceedingly anxious to have the matter settled without having recourse to litigation, I would be willing to decide the case upon justice and its own merits.

I have, &c.,
THOS. DANGAR.

TERUNBONE.

Commencing on the Terigeri or Terunbone Creek, at a marked tree CF, on the right bank of the said Creek, at Jacky-good-morning's old yard, about 6 miles from Terunbone Stockyard, and about 9 miles from Bullarora; thence a line northerly for 5 miles, including Terigere Creek and dividing this run from Bullarora; thence a line easterly, 5 miles parallel with Terunbone Creek, then a line southerly for 5 miles to the Terunbone Creek at the stockyard, and continuing that line over the creek for about 5 miles, until it reaches the Wee Taliba Creek, 2 miles below Bellarora (C. Colwell's hut); thence the Wee Taliba Creek downwards, on the right bank for about 5 miles; thence a line northerly for about 5 miles to the marked tree CF, on the right bank of the Terunbone Creek at Jacky-good-morning's yard, the starting point, and dividing this run from Bellarora.—Area 32,000.

SIR,

With reference to my letter of 26th April last, having allusion to the boundaries of the Terumbone Run, I do myself the honor to request whether I shall be justified in taking possession of the Taliba or Bungle Creek, from a point two miles below Belleroi (Charles Colwell's hut), and thence downwards, on the right bank of the said creek, for about five miles.

Your early reply will be a favour.

T. G. DANGAR, Esq., to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

*Bullerawa, Wee Waa,
6 May, 1861.*

SIR,

I do myself the honor to acknowledge and to thank you for your letter of the 15th ultimo, by which I am glad to perceive, and to be informed that you can find no outstanding tenders of Mr. Colwell's interfering with the boundaries of my Terunbone Run; and for your kindness in referring my letter on this subject to the consideration of the District Commissioner I feel much obliged, and when he has reported, the purport of same will be a favour.

My principal object in addressing you on this matter, and protesting, was in case Mr. Colwell or any one else should tender for land interfering with my Terunbone Runs, that the same might be properly and maturely investigated, with a due protection to and preservation of my rights, before any tender was accepted depriving me of any further portion of my Terunbone Runs.

I have, &c.,

No. 10.

E. DAINTRY, Esq., to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Sydney, 4 December, 1861.

SIR,

Copy herewith
Herewith.

Referring to the tender made by Mr. Chas. Colwell, opened on the 5th July, 1858, for a new run of Crown Lands in the District of Bligh, known by the name of Wambelong South, and to Colonel Barney's letter to Mr. Colwell of 27th July, 1858, I have the honor, on the part of Mr. Colwell, to request that a license for the run in question may now be granted to him.

I believe a caveat was entered against Mr. Colwell's application, on behalf of the then owners of the adjoining stations of Narawan and Calarivi, now the property of Messrs. Bloomfield, and that Mr. Colwell's application had, in consequence, stood in abeyance ever since; and with reference to this I am instructed by my client to state, that the Messrs. Bloomfield having issued execution, in an action of ejectment, to recover possession of the land in the occupation of Mr. Colwell as portions of Narawan and Colerawa, and having taken forcible possession of and burnt the hut occupied by Mr. Colwell and his family, the latter brought an action of trespass against Messrs. Bloomfield, which was tried in the Supreme Court in the month of February last, when Mr. Colwell obtained a verdict, the jury expressly finding that the hut in question was not on any part of Narawan and Colerawa, or of the latter.

Messrs. Bloomfield moved for a new trial, but the full Court recently sustained the verdict. Under these circumstances I submit that my client is entitled to a license of the station in question.

I have, &c.,
EDWIN DAINTRY.

Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.—B.C., 9 December.—M. F.

[Enclosures.]

[Enclosures.]

No. 39 of 5 July, 1858.

TENDER FOR A LEASE OF A NEW RUN OF CROWN LANDS.

INTERMEDIATE OR UNSETTLED DISTRICTS.

In accordance with the provisions contained in Her Majesty's Order in Council, published in the New South Wales Government Gazette, of the 7th October, 1847, and of the Regulations of the Local Government published in pursuance thereof, I, Charles Colwell, senior, of Coonabarabran, do hereby propose to take a lease for fourteen years of the Crown Lands known as Wombalong South, in the District of Bligh; which lands are particularly described in the Schedule annexed to this Tender.

2. And in consideration of such lease, I am willing, and hereby offer to pay in advance, minimum rent, below which it is provided by the said Order in Council, that no run shall be let, namely, ten pounds per annum, with two pounds ten shillings per annum added thereto, for every thousand sheep or their equivalent in cattle beyond four thousand sheep or their equivalent, which the run shall, under the provisions of the said Order in Council, be estimated as capable of carrying; and also in consideration of such lease, and by way of premium for the same, I do offer to pay yearly in advance, the further sum of in addition to the amount of the said minimum rent.

3. And I do agree that in the event of this tender being accepted by His Excellency the Governor General, and of such acceptance being notified in the New South Wales Government Gazette, I will, within sixty days after such notification, pay into the hands of the Colonial Treasurer, at Sydney, as and for the first year's rent of the said run, notwithstanding that the lease of the said run may not have been executed, the sum of ten pounds, being the amount, according to my computation, of the grazing capabilities of the run, of the payments which I have above offered to make viz.:-

|  |          |
| Minimum yearly rent, below which no run can be let .. .. .   | £10 0 0  |
| Further payment at the rate of £2 10s. per thousand, for the number }of stock above four thousand sheep or their equivalent, which the }run applied for is estimated to be capable of carrying .. .. } |          |
| Additional yearly payment, offered by way of premium .. . . .  |          |
| Total .. . . .   | £ 10 0 0 |

Such payment, nevertheless, to be without prejudice to the subsequent adjustment of the rent, according to the second and third sections of the second chapter of the above-mentioned Order in Council.

4. And I do agree that in the event of this tender being accepted, to subscribe to the following conditions, viz.:-That in addition to all other terms prescribed by the present regulations, the occupancy of the said run, and the lease to be ultimately issued, shall be subject to any new or modified conditions which the Legislature may impose.

5. And in consideration of this tender being accepted, and in the event of such payment not being made within the before-mentioned period of sixty days, I further agree to forfeit to Her Majesty the sum of twenty pounds, by way of liquidated damages, and to forfeit any right acquired by virtue of this tender and such acceptance thereof as aforesaid.

Given under my hand, this 22nd day of June, A.D. 1858.

To the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands,
Sydney.

CHARLES COLWELL, SENR.

P.S.—Tenderers for runs are requested to be particular in affixing their signatures to the tender in the proper places, and to prevent inconvenience and delay, to name an agent in Sydney, to attend to their interests in the tender.

*Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 27 July, 1858.*

Sir,

I have to inform you, that your tender for a new run of Crown Lands in the District of Bligh, known by the name of Wambolong South, was duly opened on the 5th instant, by the Board appointed for the purpose, and that the same has now been referred for the report of the Commissioner of the District, on receipt of which, the result of your application will be communicated to you.

2. You must be prepared to point out to the above officer, on being called upon to do so, the run for which you have applied, and the boundaries thereof.

Mr. Chas. Colwell,

SIR,

Wombolong
South, 39—July,

With reference to your letter to the Under Secretary for Lands, on behalf of Mr. C. Colwell, dated 4th ultimo, respecting that gentleman's tender for the runs named in the margin, I have to inform you that that tender, not having yet been reported upon by the Commissioner of the District, I am not as yet in a position to make any recommendation as to the disposal of Mr. Colwell's application.

It is proper that, to prevent misapprehension, I should take the opportunity of informing you, that the proceedings which your letter narrates are not those provided by law for the disposal of Crown Lands, and even if they had been, that I do not gather that they were of such a nature as to bear upon the rights of lease of the respective parties.

No. 14.

COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS, BLIGH DISTRICT, to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

*Castlereagh River,
8 November, 1862.*

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, in reference to the occupation of a place called Wambolong, by Charles Colwell, that I have lately visited that locality and seen Mr. and Mrs. Colwell (names of notoriety), and have now the honor to report to you the substantial facts of Colwell's case.

Some seven years ago, Mr. Archibald Walker held the runs Narrawan, 16,000 acres, and Colerawa, 32,000 acres, the whole known as Gumin Gumin Run, situated on the western side of the Warembungle Mountains, where the Creek Wambolong rises with a course westerly to the Castlereagh.

The land forming that run, except on its western side, which is an open plain, is surrounded by the Warembungle Ranges, in an elliptical or triangular form; the open in the mountains at Colwell's hut, on the Wambolong Creek, in which there is a small spring of water. The mountains environ the hut on all sides, a rocky fastness, with this creek or gorge as an inlet to the ranges, eastwardly.

There is a station (Lakeman's) some fifteen miles distant from Colwell's, among the hills; probably a kind of run might be found between that station and Colwell's.

The chief portion of what Colwell calls Wambolong Run is below his hut, and that land is claimed as a portion of Gumin Gumin Run. It is available, and naturally forms part of it. Moreover, it appears necessary to give the run its stated area.

Colwell

Colwell had a private survey of Gamin Gamin, as well as Wambolong, by a Mr. Surveyor Cose. Disregarding natural boundaries, and the provisions of the Land Regulations, and following a literal description as to the direction of lines, the survey was carried over barriers (but never traversed), and in this manner a profession was made that there was sufficient land for forming a new run for Colwell.

That survey is an absurdity, and a mere fanciful affair, neither directed nor recognized by authority. The evil done is misleading an ignorant man, and creating a false confidence.

I take the liberty of observing, that surveys, in the existing state of things, and for years to come, appear not only unnecessary but injurious; following literally, as generally they do, imperfect and erroneous descriptions, the errors of which they but confirm.

The power reserved to the Government of altering and modifying boundaries appears a most necessary reservation; and a judicious and careful attention to the instructions from your office to Commissioners for laying out runs, and defining the land with certainty, will result in practical and sure boundaries; when the chain and theodolite, following literal descriptions, lead to complication and confirm confusion.

Colwell has a tender in for Wambolong, and so far shews a desire to obtain the land in the course prescribed by law. He has never received authority to occupy the land, whether he is trespassing upon Gamin Gamin or not, still he is a trespasser, being upon, on the other hand, Crown Lands without authority; during the last seven years he has squatted free of rent.

I have the honor briefly to lay before you the history of Colwell's occupation of Wambolong. While Mr. Walker held Gamin Gamin some seven years ago, Colwell settled on Wambolong during Mr. Walker's absence in England; the run was then in charge of a hutkeeper, the sheep being at Louice shearing.

Upon Mr. Walker's return to this country he entered an action of trespass against Colwell, which was compromised by Colwell paying a certain sum, and agreeing to vacate. The run was then being transferred to the Bloomfields, who permitted Colwell to remain a few weeks until he could shift—which time never came. Some four or five years afterwards the Bloomfields got exasperated, went with a strong force during Colwell's absence, and violently removed Lady Colwell, family, and property, beyond the precincts of the hut, which she vainly strove, single-handed, and sword in hand, to defend. The hut was then burnt, after a desperate encounter.

This somewhat ruthless transaction was brought before the Judge, and Colwell obtained damages.

In conclusion, whether Colwell is within the bounds of Gamin Gamin Run or not (which I believe he is), he is a trespasser, if not on leased, upon unlocated Crown Lands.

Waiting your further instructions,—

I have, &c.,

ALEXR. BLACK,
C.C.L., Bligh.

Request Commissioner Black to proceed at his earliest convenience to the definition, pursuant to his instructions of the Colerawa Run, and to take the same opportunity of reporting fully upon Colwell's tenders, and disposal of which has already been delayed for an extravagant length of time. As it appears, however, from this report, that the land in the occupation of Colwell is a part of Colerawa, the Commissioner should again give him notice to vacate it forthwith, under penalty of being summarily ejected under the provisions of the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861.—A.O.M.—22 Decr.

*Minute of Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands on Telegram from Mr. Commissioner
Daniel, of 8th October, 1863.*

REFER Mr. Daniel to my letters to his predecessor and himself, dated respectively, 8th January, 23rd June, and 16th October last, and direct him, on his return to Wellington, to proceed forthwith to Narrawan Run, with a view to the appraisal of its capabilities, and the official determination and verification of its boundaries. Send him, for his information, tracing of a map handed in by a surveyor employed by Mr. Bloomfield, which professes to shew the boundaries of that and the adjacent run as ascertained by actual survey. He will proceed, as directed by his general instructions, to compare the claims there shewn with the boundaries of adjoining runs where any such adjoin; and with a view to the final settlement of the matter here in dispute, determine, after careful inquiry and local examination, the upper boundary of the run on the Bombalong Creek, having previously given the applicant (Colwell) for a new run higher the creek due notice, and called upon him to point out the commencing point of his application. He will then be in a position to report finally and decidedly upon the tender, so that it may be accepted if the land applied for, or any portion thereof sufficient to form a run, be really open to lease, or if the whole or the available portion thereof be really a part of Bloomfield's run, it may be definitely and without further delay declined.

Further inform Mr. Daniel, that, while I do not hold him responsible for delays not attributable to him, it is apparent that the state of this matter, in which a tender has been for over five years left undisposed of, and a tenant of the Crown exposed during a still longer period to trespasses and unnecessary litigation, is such as to bring reproach not alone upon this department, but upon the Government, and that it is therefore imperative that no further delay should take place.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to COMMISSIONER DANIEL.

*Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 27 November, 1863.*

SIR,

I have the honor to refer you to my letters to your predecessor and yourself, dated respectively, 8 January, 23 June, and 16 October last, respecting the Narranan and Colerawa Runs in the Bligh District, and the tender and trespass of Chas. Colwell; and I have now to request that you will be good enough, on your return to Wellington, to proceed forthwith to the Narranan Run, with a view to the appraisalment of its capabilities, and the official determination and verification of its boundaries, for which notices and appointments are herewith forwarded, and also, for your information, a tracing of a map handed in by a surveyor employed by Mr. Bloomfield, which professes to shew the boundaries of that and the adjacent run as ascertained by actual survey. You will proceed, as directed by your general instructions, to compare the claims thus shewn with the boundaries of adjoining runs where any such adjoin; and with a view to the final settlement of the matter here in dispute, determine, after careful inquiry and local examination, the upper boundary of the run on the Wambalong Creek, having previously given the applicant (Colwell) for a new run higher up the creek due notice, and called upon him to point out the commencing point of his application. You will then be in a position to report finally and decisively upon the tender, so that it may be accepted if the land applied for, or any portion thereof sufficient to form a run, be really open to lease; or, if the whole or the available portion thereof be really a part of Mr. Bloomfield's run, it may be definitely and without further delay declined.

I have further to remark that, while I do not hold you responsible for delays not attributable to you, it is apparent that the state of this matter in which a tender has been for over five years left undisposed of, and a tenant of the Crown exposed during a still longer period to trespasses and unnecessary litigation, is such as to bring reproach not only upon this department but upon the Government, and it is therefore imperative that no further delay shall take place.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to inform you that Mr. Commissioner Daniel has been here and inspected the run known as Wambalong South. He informs me that there is sufficient country for a run, likewise a piece of unoccupied Crown land, I think not large enough for a run, but being good arable land, I think admirably adapted for free selection.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to furnish a report on tender No. 39 of the month of July, 1858, of Mr. Charles Colwell, senior, called Wambalong South, in the District of Bligh.

This tender is objectionable, being land wholly included in the run called Colerawa under license to Messrs. Riley and Bloomfield.

MESSRS. RILEY AND BLOOMFIELD to SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

*Royal Hotel, Sydney,
8 September, 1864.*

SIR,

About eight years ago, a man of the name of Charles Colwell with his family settled down upon a run in the District of Bligh, called Colerawa or Wambolong; then in the occupation of Mr. Archibald Walker, and applied to the Government for a lease, which was refused on the grounds that it was part of Mr. Walker's run; and at the same time Mr. Walker brought an action in the Supreme Court, and was awarded damages against Colwell for trespass. We then purchased the run from Mr. Walker; Colwell at the same time promised to quit without delay; soon after this Mr. Walker left the Colony for England, and then the Colwells refused to give up possession, and I applied to the Supreme Court to appoint a special bailiff to eject them. The bailiff, however, met with such resistance that he was afraid to act; the Supreme Court then appointed our Mr. Bloomfield a special bailiff to eject them, which he did, and burned down the hut that Colwell had built. Colwell then brought an action against us for destroying his property, and the Court awarded him £120 damages against us, as the jury considered that we had not sufficiently proved that the hut was within the boundaries of the run. Since then we have had a survey made of the run, and Commissioners Black and Daniel have both, we believe, reported to the head of the Crown Lands Department that Colwell is a trespasser; and although I am given to understand that the Commissioner of Crown Lands for that District has received instructions to eject Colwell and his family, still nothing seems to have been done in the matter, and we would therefore humbly request that you will inquire into the cause of such gross delay or neglect in or by some branch of the Crown Lands Department.

We have, &amp;c.,

SIR,

Referring to your telegram of the 8th October, 1863, reporting that you had given notice to Mr. Colwell to vacate the land occupied by him on the Colerawa Run, on penalty of summary ejection, I have the honor to request you will be so good as to report whether this intrusion by Mr. Colwell has yet been abated.

dated 8th September, 1864.*

THE former papers in this matter are enclosed. I regret to state that there has been great and hardly justifiable delay in dealing with the trespass complained of. The tender of Colwell has now, however, been definitely declined, the land being wholly included in the run of the present complainants; and I have reported to the Surveyor General, in reply to a reference as to a conditional selection attempted to be made by Colwell, that the land, being included in an unexpired lease under the Orders in Council, is not open to selection.

Herewith.

The District Commissioner has been directed to call upon Colwell to vacate the land (and has done so), or on his failing to remove, to take proceedings for his ejection under the Occupation Act. The trespasser Colwell is the holder of another run (if not of two other runs) in the same district in a different locality, and there seems to me to be nothing whatever to entitle the trespasser to any special consideration beyond the pertinacity with which it has been maintained, and the length of time during which it has been suffered to remain unrepressed.

Application for the Conditional Purchase of unimproved Land without competition by Charles Colwell, junior, and Thomas Colwell, per Charles Colwell, senior, Agent, of Wombalong.

RECEIVED with deposit, this twenty-fourth day of December, 1863, at 10½ o'clock, a.m., by

LUKE M'GUINN,
Land Agent for Dubbo District.

Dubbo, 24 December, 1863.

Sir,

I desire to purchase, under the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861, without competition, the portion of unimproved Crown Land hereunder described; and I tender herewith a deposit at the rate of five (5) shillings per acre on the area for which I apply.

I am, &c.,

CHARLES COLWELL.

The Crown Lands Agent,
Dubbo.

Description.

County of Gowen, parish of district of Bligh, one hundred and thirty (130) acres of unimproved land, situated on the Wombalong Creek, about 3 miles from its head, on the south bank, near the junction of Spire Creek, about 11 miles from Norwane, Bloomfield's station, and 9 miles from Tenebar, Lakeman's station.

Memorandum of Land Agent on Colwell's application.

I could not designate on my map, the reserve selected for conditional purchase by Thomas Colwell in behalf of his sons on the Wombalong Creek; but as he insisted on the reserve being there, I enclose his application and deposit for your consideration.

LUKE M'GUINN,

The Surveyor General.

Referred to the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, with a request that he will be good enough to state whether the land herein applied for is held under lease.

B.C., Surveyor General's Office,
Sydney, 18 May, 1864.

MR. CHARLES COLWELL to SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Wombalong, Bligh,
8 November, 1864.

SIR,

Yesterday a servant of Mr. Daniel's, the Crown Lands Commissioner for this (Bligh) District, came here with the stockman of the Narrawang Run; the former produced a document purporting to be from his master, which he held in his hand for my perusal, and which was by him removed before I had time to make myself acquainted with its nature. From what I could ascertain, it was an order for me to vacate this place, under the plea of its forming a portion of the Colerawa Run—which cannot possibly be the case, since, in 1856, by competent survey, it was shewn to the contrary; and moreover, Mr. Daniel himself, on a subsequent occasion, told me that there existed two blocks of unleased country here, which in fact is the case, and Wombalong is one of them.

What I beg to ask from your Honor is, if I trespass on any run, is it not for the proprietor of same to proceed against me, rather than the Commissioner of the District, whereby I may have an opportunity of shewing that Wombalong South, which I have tendered for, forms no portion of Colerawa, or any other licensed run? The bearer of the document represented himself to be a Sheriff's officer.

I have, &amp;c.,

CLAIMS OF TENANTS OF THE CROWN.

---

REPORT.

---

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly, appointed on the 14th of March, 1865, "to inquire into, and report upon, the Claims of Tenants of the Crown, lodged with the Government, for compensation for injuries done to their properties, since the Discovery of Gold on their rented Crown Lands,"—"and to whom was referred, on the 21st of March, 1865, the Evidence taken by the Committee appointed for the same purpose during the Session 1863-4,—with power to send for persons and papers," have agreed to the following Report,—

Your Committee have had four cases under their consideration, and have examined several witnesses whose evidence, together with affidavits and other documents, will be found appended hereto.

After due consideration, your Committee are of opinion that the claims of Messrs. J. B. Richards and J. Collitts do not entitle them to any compensation, because the alleged injuries to their properties did not take place during the existence of the Gold Fields Acts, under which such compensation was authorized.

Your Committee are of opinion that the claim of Messrs. W. and J. Rankin was a just one; but as the Legislature (since the appointment of your Committee) granted them compensation, it is unnecessary to make any recommendation in their case.

With reference to the claim of Mr. William Cummings for compensation for injury done to his own property, and that of his late brother, Thomas Cummings, your Committee are of opinion that it

it is a similar one to that of Messrs. W. and J. Rankin ; and that the greatest injury to the said property was sustained during the currency of the Act, 16 Vict., No. 43, which authorized compensation for such injury.

Your Committee, therefore, respectfully recommend that Mr. Cummings' claim be referred by the Government to arbitration ; and that he may receive such compensation as shall be ascertained to be just and reasonable.

J. A. CUNNEEN,
Chairman.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

CLAIMS OF TENANTS OF THE CROWN.

THURSDAY, 30 MARCH, 1865.

Present:—

MR. CUNNEEN, | MR. EGAN,
MR. FORLONGE.

JAMES A. CUNNEEN, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Michael Fitzpatrick, Esq., examined:—

1. By the Chairman: Have you any other papers than those already produced before the Committee, connected with the claim of Mr. Wm. Cummings? Yes, I have some further papers—some that have arisen since the others were produced. Michael Fitzpatrick, Esq.
2. What is the nature of them? Here is a letter from Mr. Cummings, dated 21 April, 1863, renewing his claim to compensation; also two papers from the Crown Law Officers, with a legal opinion upon it, which opinion was conveyed to Mr. Cummings. That concluded the correspondence, so far as I know. 30 Mar., 1865.
3. Will you be good enough to hand these in? Yes. (The witness handed in the papers referred to. See Appendix.)
4. When you were examined before, there was a claim of Mr. Rankin's pending, but he had not been paid the amount of compensation—Has he since been paid? I think he has, speaking from memory. The money was placed on the Estimates I know, and I believe voted; if so, of course he has been paid.
5. You have no statement you wish to make to the Committee? None whatever.

Harold Maclean, Esq., examined:—

6. By the Chairman: I understand that in 1862 and after that time you were Gold Commissioner in the Western Districts? Yes. H. Maclean, Esq.
7. Were you placed in possession of the facts connected with a claim made by Messrs. W. and J. Rankin, for injury done to their property on account of the discovery of gold on their rented Crown Lands? I was referred to for a report upon their case. 30 Mar., 1865.
8. Could you state to the Committee any facts you may be in possession of with reference to their claim? It was under my own observation that their run was occupied by an immense number of persons at the time of the movement upon the Lachlan gold fields.
9. By Mr. Forlonge: When was that? In the commencement of 1862, I think.
10. By the Chairman: In 1862 did you say? I am not quite sure about the date just now; I think it was at the end of 1861, or the commencement of 1862, that the movement there took place; in November, 1861, I think it commenced.
11. Are you aware whether there was any Act in force under which compensation was given, when they received this injury? I am aware there was an Act in force at the time the movement of the people took place upon that gold field—at the time the actual invasion or incursion upon their run took place.

- H. Maclean, Esq.
30 Mar., 1865.
12. Are you aware whether compensation was granted to them under any particular Act, and if so, what Act? Compensation was granted to them under 20 Victoria, No. 29.
13. Do you know whether that Act was in force when they applied for compensation? I do not think the Act was in force when they applied, but it was in force at the time they sustained the injury.
14. Could you afford the Committee any other general information in connection with this claim of the Messrs. Rankin? It was evident to me that the run, as a cattle run, was destroyed at the time, and great complaints were made to me by Mr. Rankin of the injury he was then sustaining. As the holder of the station, he expressed an intention of resisting the occupation of it by the horses and cattle of the miners, by exercising his rights, which I advised him not to do, saying the lease would be cancelled immediately if he attempted any such course. He therefore followed my advice, and instead of doing as he had intended, made his claim for compensation.
15. Are you aware that, while you were Gold Commissioner, Mr. William Cummings applied for compensation for injuries done to his property on account of the discovery of gold on his rented Crown Lands? Yes, an application from Mr. Cummings was referred for my report.
16. When was this? I do not recollect the date exactly; it was subsequently to Mr. Rankin's claim; I fancy the papers would show the date.
17. Could you state to the Committee any general facts in connection with his case, either favourable to his claim or unfavourable to it? I regarded Mr. Cummings' claim as an equitable one, and I considered that the claims of all persons whose runs have been taken for gold field purposes would be likewise equitable. The actual value of the loss he had suffered could only be arrived at by appraisal or investigation, which I was not directed to go into.
18. I perceive by the correspondence that you and Mr. Cummings are at issue, or misunderstand one another, perhaps only with regard to whether he sustained the injury during the currency of the Act allowing compensation, or before? At the time I reported upon Mr. Cummings' application, I was under the impression there had been no Act in the year 1852—no Gold Fields Act at all; but I find that there was an Act in force for the last three days of 1852, the date of it being the 28th December. Therefore, in one respect, I was wrong, and in the main, right in my view.
19. Are you aware of the particular date or dates during which Mr. Cummings sustained an injury by the discovery of gold, from first to last, not only when it commenced, but when it ended? The miners entered upon Tambaroora, or the Dirt Hole Creek mentioned by Mr. Cummings, I said in 1851-2, in my former report. I know there was a considerable population at the Dirt Holes, and some at Tambaroora, upon the 18th February, 1852, because on that day I arrived at Sofala, on the Turon, and a Commissioner returned from Tambaroora, having collected some 300 or 400 licenses on that day.
20. Are you aware whether Mr. Cummings had any sheep or cattle stations in this country which was proclaimed a gold field? I have reason to believe he had; it has never been disputed.
21. Mr. Cummings states he had 20,000 sheep depasturing in that neighbourhood at the discovery of the gold fields—have you any reason to doubt that? I have no knowledge as to the numbers of his stock, or the extent of his station. I had merely to report upon the question of entertaining his application. All these particulars would have been ascertained afterwards by arbitrators, or some formal inquiry. I believe he had some considerable amount of stock, as he states.
22. You state then that the gold diggers came in upon this country in 1851 and 1852? I say 1852 more positively, but I believe they were there in 1851.
23. How long did they continue there? They have continued there ever since. Mr. Cummings suffered his injury, in my idea, in 1852, but he has continued to sustain the injury ever since. His leasehold, however, was a yearly one, so that perhaps it could scarcely be counted beyond the year.
24. It would not be determined until a proclamation appeared proclaiming the gold fields? No; there was no particular law at that time applicable to the case.
25. Are you aware when this proclamation appeared? I do not remember the date of the proclamation, but the proclamation does not necessarily deprive the holder of his run; the run may be withdrawn after the proclamation. On the Western Gold Fields under my charge, by a sort of understanding with the Crown tenants, we never withdrew the runs, though they suffered considerable injury. The understanding was that they should not impound the horses of the miners and others on the gold fields, and the Commissioners would not allow the miners and storekeepers to keep large herds of cattle as against the squatter; and that understanding worked satisfactorily for both sides.
26. But in the case of a cattle station, is it not the fact that the miners, in prospecting and moving about the country, so disturb the cattle that they go back into the mountains, and never fatten? Yes, undoubtedly, but it much depends upon the extent of what is called the "rush"; for instance, on the Lachlan there were 25,000 people, and the cattle immediately disappeared into the back ranges. The injury is less or greater according to the number of the mining population.
27. I perceive that in reporting upon the Messrs. Rankin's claim, you state as follows, in your report of January 20, 1862:—"The present Gold Fields Act does not contain the provision, which was at one time a part of the measure, for compensation in such cases; but the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands points out that the gold field in question was opened while the former Act, which did contain the compensation provision, was in operation. The case can therefore, it appears to me, be entertained under the former Act; and even otherwise, I see no reason to prevent the claim of Messrs. Rankin being entertained on its own merits, by obtaining a report thereon." Here you state that, even though their claim claim did not happen during the currency of the Act, you saw no reason why it might not be entertained. But in your report upon Mr. Cummings' case, dated 10th February, 1863, you state—"With reference to the question of entertaining this application, I conceive it to be right to point out that the adoption of such a course must open the door to similar applications without number, ranging from the opening of the gold fields in the Colony to the present period." How do you reconcile these two reports,—that in one case you see the great danger of opening the door to innumerable applications, while in the other you suggest that, even though there should be no legal claim, you see no reason why the claim should not be entertained on its merits? Because I was aware that a movement had been made in 1852 or 1853, at the opening of the gold fields, and that the matter had been disposed of by the Government of the day. I did not think that these claims so far back would be revived; I did not think they would necessarily follow the entertaining of Mr. Rankin's case. Applications were made to the Government in 1852, and I did not consider another Government, ten years afterwards, would take up the cases. I did not consider the entertaining of Mr. Rankin's claim would open the door to the reconsideration of cases that had occurred so long before.

H. Maclean,
Esq.
30 Mar., 1865.

28. Why should it not, if they were parallel cases? It occurred under a different regime altogether—a different Government. But when I saw Mr. Cummings' application, I perceived that Mr. Rankin's case would be made a precedent for all the holders of runs at the former period of which I speak. I did not, however, advise the Government not to entertain it on that account; I merely pointed out what they would be doing, for the Secretary for Lands to consider.

29. Do you not think that, as Mr. Rankin was compensated, as he had a right to be, every other person who had the same right, and was in the same position, ought to be compensated as well as he? I am of opinion that all the Crown tenants who received injuries from this cause ought to be compensated.

30. Under the Act? No, throughout.

31. That would be contrary to the law. In passing the 25th Victoria, No. 4, the Legislature made special provision that they should not be compensated, except by remission of rent? That was to apply to future cases. Well, that was against my advice, as far as my advice went; I urged very strongly the maintenance of the old clause.

32. Mr. Cummings states (and his statement is confirmed by a large number of witnesses) that he received a great part of the injury during the years 1853 and 1854—can you state to the contrary? No, I cannot say anything to the contrary; I have not gone sufficiently into the case to do so.

33. While you were Gold Commissioner, did any claim made by Mr. Joseph Collett come under your notice, for compensation for the same run as Mr. Rankin had been compensated for? I do not think it reached me officially; I have heard of the claim a good deal.

34. Was a claim made by Mr. Richards for compensation under the same Act—did it come under your notice, or was it referred to you? Not under my notice officially; it was not referred to me.

35. Are you aware of any of the facts? Yes, I am aware of the facts, to some extent.

36. Are you aware whether he sustained the injury before the Act came into force in 1852? Before and since, in the same way as Mr. Cummings. But in all these cases they were yearly tenants, whereas Mr. Rankin's was a longer lease; it was a different class of lease.

37. It would appear from Mr. Rankin's letter here, that he speaks of a yearly lease? He merely refers to the receipt for the yearly rent. Of course the rent would be paid yearly, whatever the lease.

38. What stations had Mr. Richards—sheep or cattle stations? Sheep at the Turon. Where Sofala is, was Mr. Richards' station.

39. It appears that Mr. Richards' claim was sent in 1851, before the passing of the Gold Fields Act, and that the injury took place before he sent in the claim, which would put it further back still? It was in 1851, before Mr. Cummings sustained any injury. The miners went to Sofala first, and from there to Tambaroora.

40. The Gold Fields Act was not in force then? No, there was no Gold Fields Act until 28th December, 1852.

41. Do you conceive it to be a broad distinction between Mr. Richards' and Mr. Rankin's claims, that one happened before the Gold Fields Act came into force, and the other during its currency? I do not see any difference in the principle of the two claims.

42. I am speaking legally? I think there is a legal difference, decidedly. But the continuance of the injury may be held to be equal to the actual taking place of it.

43. Are you aware that Mr. Richards' claim has been absolutely refused by the Government? I am aware it was refused by the Governor General in 1852, because I happened to be present when Mr. Richards pressed it personally upon him, and I have heard nothing more of the claim since. I would desire to make a final remark, that at the time I reported on Mr. Rankin's application, I did not foresee it would open up the claims I supposed to have been disposed of in former years.

44. Are you aware of any other claims that are before the Government,—I believe we have all the claims that have been made, and we have none but those I have mentioned? I do not know what number have been made, but I know it to have been a matter of grievance and complaint amongst the holders of these runs, for all the Western Gold Fields were upon somebody's run.

45. Are you aware that only four cases have been placed before the Government, and two of these have been refused? I suppose others would be revived if these should be sanctioned—plenty more would come forward; I know of several cases myself.

JAMES A. CUNNEEN, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

William Cummings, Esq., M.P., examined:—

William
Cummings,
Esq., M.P.

6 April, 1865.

46. By the Chairman: You are one of the persons who has lodged a claim with the Government, for compensation for injury done to your property on account of the discovery of gold on your run? Yes.

47. Have you been examined before on the subject? I have.

48. Do you desire to give any further evidence yourself, or to place any before the Committee? I have some evidence I wish to place before the Committee, and I should wish to make a few remarks in addition to my previous examination.

49. Can you make any additional statements to those already made by you in proof of your claim? I can state the circumstances in connection with the discovery of gold, and where it was discovered at the time, and up till that part of the country was proclaimed a gold field.

50. The Committee would be glad to hear any additional evidence you can give in proof of your claim? In the latter end of 1851 gold was discovered at a place called Dirthole Creek, some miles distant from what is known as Tambaroora. At that time there were only a few people there located. In 1852 gold was discovered at Tambaroora—what is known as Tambaroora—a small patch of country. The population, until after that country was proclaimed a gold field, was confined, or principally confined, to these two localities—Dirthole Creek and Tambaroora Flat. After it was proved to be a paying gold field, it was proclaimed, I believe, in 1853—I am not quite sure. After the proclamation the population increased rapidly, and came to spread over the whole face of the country, in large bodies of men prospecting and digging—

51. In 1853? In the latter end of 1853. After that part of the country was proclaimed a gold field, where gold had been previously discovered at Dirthole Creek and Tambaroora Flat, it was completely occupied; the whole face of the country was covered with groups of men prospecting and digging for gold, for several miles round. The injury done to my property and the property of my late brother was done then. I am not aware of any injury having been done previous to that part of the country being declared a gold field. There might have been some, but it was very small. But after the proclamation, the injury, in a very short time, was commenced seriously. No expense in men's wages and horse flesh was spared to try and gather together the cattle that had been so completely dispersed over the face of the country. The cattle got in that state, from being so driven about, dispersed from their homes, and driven over the face of the country, that all the cattle that could be collected or had been collected in four or five months would not pay one half of the expense incurred in the collection.

52. Are you certain, from your own knowledge, that the injury you sustained was principally after January, 1853? I am positive the great injury done to my property, and that of my late brother, was after the population increased in the ratio they did after the proclamation. There might have been some little injury done before that, but it was not perceptible or such that I took any notice of. Had the population been confined to Dirthole Creek and Tambaroora, where gold was first discovered, I do not suppose I should have suffered any very serious injury, or at all events such as I seek compensation for.

53. For how long after January, 1853, did you occupy these Crown lands with stock? The stock were there for some length of time after, but I think we gave up all hopes of collecting any more cattle in 1856. In 1856, I think, we went out into the back country and built new yards—what were called American yards—where large mobs of cattle had been driven back into the mountains; and in the end of 1856, or the early part of 1857, we gave it up. I went out myself, and saw it would not pay one-third the expense of collecting them. I had seven men there and forty-two horses. When I went out I at once put a stop to it.

54. Do you wish to place before the Committee any other evidence in addition to what you have now given? It is so inconvenient to bring evidence here, or else I could have produced every man in the neighbourhood who had been resident there then and for many years before, but I thought it sufficient to place before the Committee two affidavits taken before the Police Magistrate at Bathurst, and taken down by the Clerk.

55. Are they sworn affidavits? Yes.

56. What are the names of the gentlemen who made those affidavits? One is the son of the late Captain Piper, who resided there many years before in the neighbourhood of Tambaroora, and the other is the evidence of my eldest son who was employed in collecting the cattle till we gave it up; he had charge of the men and was working at it himself.

57. Will you hand in Mr. Piper's affidavit? (The witness handed in the same. See Appendix.)

58. The other is from whom? My eldest son.

59. What is his name? Thomas Augustus Cummings.

60. Will you hand in his affidavit? (The witness handed in the same. See Appendix.)

61. Have you any further evidence, documentary or otherwise, that you wish to place before the Committee? No other evidence.

Sir,

Clear Creek, 21 April, 1863.

I congratulate you on your safe return from Victoria. Relative to my application to the Honorable the Secretary for Lands, praying that Government will, in justice to me, grant me an opportunity of proving my loss, as stated, before two assessors—one chosen by the Government, another by me—with power to name an umpire,—the matter will be decided by the Executive. I hope and trust you will see justice done to me. The Secretary for Lands all but made me a final promise that my request would be granted. The case has been referred to the Chief Gold Commissioner, Mr. M'Lean; he admits the justice of application, but goes on to say, if the Government admits my claim they will have to admit other claims. I cannot understand the equity of Mr. M'Lean's remarks; at all events the case will come before the Executive, when I hope justice will be done to me.

The Honorable Charles Cowper.

Sir,

I have the honor to return, herewith, the papers received by me from your department, which relate to Mr. William Cummings' application for compensation for the losses he states he has sustained through gold diggings having been discovered at the Turon, and to request that you will be pleased to inform me whether the papers referred to have been forwarded, in order that I may prepare an agreement for arbitration, or whether it is intended that I should submit same to the Attorney General to advise thereon?

If I am to prepare an agreement for arbitration, it is necessary that I should be informed of the matter to be arbitrated; and if the Attorney General's opinion is required, I should be informed of the questions upon which such opinion is required.

The subject appears to have been under consideration of the Executive Council, but there is nothing with the papers intimating the decision arrived at, and the minute of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands (see within—Crown Law Officers) appears to refer to a paper not sent.

Sir,

I have the honor to return to you the accompanying papers relative to the claim of W. Cummings, Esq., M.P., for compensation for damage alleged to have been done to his property, through or in consequence of the discovery of gold on the Lower Turon; and to state that I have laid such papers before the Honorable the Attorney General, who has written an opinion in the matter, a copy of which I now send to you, on the annexed half-sheet.

MR. M'LEAN's report appears to me to be perfectly just, and sufficiently answers Mr. Cummings' claim. The Government has no fund to apply to such purposes, nor do I see any ground for any legal or equitable claim against the Government. If Mr. Cummings has any claim which can be founded on other grounds, it should form the subject of a Petition to Parliament.

B.

On this fourth day of March, 1865, Alexander Piper, of Stoney Creek, near Bathurst, gentleman, being duly sworn, maketh oath and saith :—

Before the discovery of gold at Dirt-hole Creek and Tambaroora, in 1851, I had a general knowledge of the cattle and sheep of William Cummings, and his late brother Thomas, then depasturing on several stations in the neighbourhood of Tambaroora and the Lower Macquarie. In the latter end of the year 1851 gold was discovered at the aforesaid places; and in the year 1852, Tambaroora and the adjacent country, including the several sheep and cattle stations of the before-mentioned William Cummings and Thomas Cummings, were proclaimed gold fields. When gold was first discovered a Dirt-hole Creek and Tambaroora, the miners were not numerous, and were principally located at the two places last mentioned. The country around Tambaroora, and Tambaroora itself, being proclaimed a gold field, the population rapidly increased; a great body of people spread over the gold fields, prospecting and digging for gold, in consequence of which the Cummings' cattle began to be dispersed all over the country by the miners; and the cattle, from being so continually hunted about, became so wild that it was dangerous to come to close quarters with them.

They were driven from their usual homes, and became valueless, although Mr. Cummings spared neither men nor horses to collect the said cattle.

The destruction of those cattle by being shot down by the miners has become a topic of general conversation. The loss to Cummings has been very great, although I, of my own knowledge, cannot say the number of cattle destroyed.

William Cummings and his late brother had six sheep stations stocked, in the aforesaid locality, at the time of the proclamation declaring it a gold field. I know the sheep; they were very good, and quite free from disease known as scab in sheep.

Some sheep brought on to the diggings, for the use of the population, turned out to be scabby, and through them Cummings' sheep became infected with that disease.

The diseased sheep were supposed to belong to James Manning.

The expense incurred by Cummings in curing his sheep, wages being very high at the time, was very great, and in consequence of the number that died from the effects of the dressings and the poverty of the sheep, he must have suffered great loss.

Eventually Cummings had to abandon all his sheep and cattle stations on the proclaimed gold fields in the above-named locality.

The destruction caused to Cummings' cattle and sheep properties, through the discovery of gold in the locality already named, is out of my power to calculate.

On this fourth day of March, 1865, Thomas A. Cummings, of Hollybrooke, in the Colony of New South Wales, maketh oath and saith :—

Before the discovery of gold at Dirt-hole Creek and Tambaroora, in 1851, I had an intimate personal knowledge of the cattle and sheep of William Cummings and his late brother Thomas, then depasturing on several stations in the neighbourhood of Tambaroora and the Lower Macquarie.

In the latter end of the year 1851, gold was discovered at the aforesaid places; and in the year 1852, Tambaroora and the adjacent country, including the several sheep and cattle stations of the before-mentioned William Cummings and his late brother Thomas, was proclaimed a gold field. They were driven from their usual runs, and became valueless; although, to my knowledge, every possible exertion was made to collect the said cattle.

The destruction of those cattle by being shot down by the miners is a matter of great notoriety in these parts. The loss occasioned thereby must have been very great. William Cummings and his late brother Thomas had six sheep stations stocked, in the aforesaid locality, at the time of the said roclamation.

I had a personal knowledge of the sheep; they were very good, quite sound, and free from the disease known as scab. ## MINUTE FOR EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 4 July, 1862.*

HAVING been for some time impressed with the necessity for the adoption of some different mode to that now existing for regulating expenditure on such of the Subordinate Roads of the Colony as are under the supervision of the Superintendents, I have now, after consultation with the Under Secretary for Lands, the Surveyor General, and other Officers of the Department, arrived at the conclusion that the least objectionable method of dealing with these moneys will be substantially that in practice in the Main Roads Branch of the Public Works Department, modified, of course, to suit the circumstances of the Minor Roads.

2. I beg, therefore, to recommend this course for the approval of His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council, and also that the Under Secretary for Lands should act in the same capacity in the matter as the Commissioner of Main Roads in the Works Department; that is to say, that the money shall be paid into the bank, to the credit of the Under Secretary, to be paid by him to the contractors, on receipt of proper certificates from the Superintendents that the works have been duly performed; the amounts voted or authorized for any work, and the payments in each instance; being duly entered in a Register to be kept for the purpose.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

MINUTE OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

UPON the recommendation of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands, and after having fully deliberated on the subject herein referred to, the Executive Council approve of the plan suggested by the Honorable the Secretary for Lands, with reference to the supervision of the expenditure on such of the Minor Roads of the Colony as are under the control of the Superintendents, and advise that it be carried into effect accordingly.

EXTRACT FROM MINUTE OF SECRETARY FOR LANDS, indorsed on joint Report of the Acting Surveyor General and Commissioner for Main Roads, on the proposed transfer of certain Minor Roads to the charge of Department of Works from the Department of Lands.

A considerable portion of this duty has been cast on the Under Secretary for Lands, but it is considered desirable, that there should be a professional head to the branch, and also, that time and labour would be saved by one officer taking the whole conduct. Arrangements should therefore be also made to carry this out.

It is my intention to submit a proposition to my colleagues, under which the past services of Mr. Fitzpatrick, with regard to these roads, would have some more substantial recognition than mere thanks.

JOHN ROBERTSON, ESQ., to SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Sydney, 21 December, 1863.

MY DEAR WILSON,

Mr. Fitzpatrick has spoken to me on the subject of his claim for management of the money part of the Minor Roads business, and says that, although I have made apparent on the papers my intention to have submitted to my colleagues a proposition in his favour, I have not said what amount I intended to have recommended as a fair allowance for the extra duties.

The amount I intended to have suggested was £200 per annum, to be taken from the savings on the Vote for the purpose of Minor Roads.

I write this, not in any way presuming to bind you, but merely to make clear what was my intention when writing my last minute on the subject.

I am, &c.,

MINUTE PAPER FOR THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 10 July, 1864.*

REFERRING to the proceedings of the Executive Council on 4th July, 1862, under which the Under Secretary for Lands was appointed to supervise the expenditure on such of the Minor Roads of the Colony as were under the Road Superintendents,—an arrangement which has since been abrogated by the transfer of this duty to the Commissioner of Main Roads,—I now recommend to His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council, that the sum of £320 19s. 4d. be paid to Mr. Fitzpatrick, being at the rate of £200 per annum (that being the remuneration promised him by the late Government, for the performance of this duty), from the 14th August, 1862,—the date from which the arrangement commenced,—to the 21st March, 1864, when the Roads were re-transferred. This expense to be charged to the unexpended balance of the Vote for Classified Roads for 1863.

J. BOWIE WILSON.

No. 6.

MINUTE OF SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

I HAVE consulted with Mr. Cowper; and considering the great delay which has occurred, and especially considering the Minute of Council of 2nd August, 1864, the only proper course open to the present Government is to place the amount on the Supplementary Estimates for 1864.

JOHN R.,
13 February, 1864.

[Minute referred to in No. 6.]

Treasurer and Secretary for Finance and Trade to His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council.

*The Treasury, New South Wales,
1 August, 1864.*

THE Honorable the Treasurer submits to His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council a Statement, furnished by the Auditor General, of Votes and Balances of Votes of 1863, and previous years, which remain as liabilities in the books of this department, on the 30th June last, together with Statements compiled in the Treasury, by the Accountant, shewing the payments which have been made direct therefrom during the month of July (including the June drafts by public officers against credits in their favour with the Bank of New South Wales), under the new system of keeping the public accounts, in reduction of those liabilities, and the balances which thereafter remain.

As the Treasurer considers it desirable that all unnecessary and uncertain liabilities previous to 1864 be written off, so that the public accounts may be no longer embarrassed with them, he recommends that the undermentioned sums, details of which are given in the accompanying Statements, be so dealt with in the books of the Treasury and Audit Office, and that instructions be conveyed, in the usual manner, to the Auditor General, to that effect.

As it is, however, probable that claims may, from time to time, during the present year, be preferred against some of those Votes and Balances of Votes proposed to be written off, which must be liquidated, the Treasurer further recommends that authority be given for the payment of all such proper claims to the extent of the sums written off, and that provision be made in the next Supplementary Estimate submitted to Parliament, for payments of this nature.

G. EAGAR,
Treasurer.

Minute

4 M. FITZPATRICK, ESQ., UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Minute 64-30, 2nd August, 1864.—Confirmed, 10th August, 1864.

For the reasons herein stated, and upon the recommendation of the Honorable the Colonial Treasurer, the Executive Council advise that authority be granted to write off in the books of the Treasury and Audit Office, all unexpended Votes and Balances of Votes previous to 1864, amounting in whole, as appears from the Statements herewith submitted, to the sum of £200,757 12s. 11d.

The Council having also in view the possibility of claims being preferred from time to time, during the present year, against some of these Votes, which must be liquidated, advise that authority be granted for payment of all such properly vouched claims, to the extent of the sums written off, and provision made for the same in the next Estimates submitted to Parliament.

Approved—J. Y. 13 Aug., /64.

MINUTE OF SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

MR. FITZPATRICK having resubmitted the case to me, I immediately consulted with Mr. Cowper, who concurs with me, after a careful consideration of the matter, that it would be unfair to Mr. Fitzpatrick to hold the money back from him, but that it should be paid forthwith, and a vote asked from Parliament. This will, as well as meeting the claims of Mr. Fitzpatrick more fairly, comply more accurately with the third subdivision of the first paragraph of the Executive Council Minute, alluded to in my last Minute on the subject. To be charged to Vote for Classified Roads, 1863.

JOHN R.

No. 8.

SECRETARY FOR LANDS to COLONIAL TREASURER.

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 27 February, 1865.

SIR,

£320 19s. 4d.

I do myself the honor to request that you will be so good as to pay to Mr. M. Fitzpatrick, the Under Secretary of this department, the sum of three hundred and twenty pounds nineteen shillings and four-pence, for special duty performed by him in supervising the expenditure of the money voted for such of the Minor Roads of the Colony as were under Road Superintendents, before their transfer to the Works Department.

2. I may mention that Mr. Fitzpatrick was appointed to perform this duty by Minute of Executive Council, dated 4th July, 1862, and the rate of remuneration subsequently fixed was two hundred pounds per annum; and although, for reasons which are not very apparent, the late Government hesitated in paying Mr. Fitzpatrick, I find from a Minute prepared for the Executive Council, and left by the late Land Minister, that he (Dr. Wilson) had fully satisfied himself of the justice of the claim, and of the period over which the remuneration should extend, namely, from 14th August, 1862, when the arrangement sanctioned by the Minute of the 4th July actually commenced, to the 21st March, 1864, when the Minor Roads were transferred to the Works Department.

3. This sum will, in accordance with the original intention, be charged against the unexpended balance of the Vote for Classified Roads for 1863; but as this balance is one of those written off by the Executive Minute of the 2nd August, 1864 (but without prejudice to voted claims upon it), it will be necessary, in accordance with the 3rd subdivision of the first paragraph of that Minute, that the amount should hereafter be voted by Parliament, and it will accordingly be placed on the Supplementary Estimates for 1864.

I have, &c.,
JOHN ROBERTSON.

MINUTE PAPER FOR THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 2 March, 1865.*

FOR the reason set forth in the accompanying Minute of the late Minister for Lands, it is now recommended to His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council, that Mr. M. Fitzpatrick, the Under Secretary for Lands, should receive the sum of three hundred and twenty pounds, nineteen shillings and four-pence, for his services in connection with the expenditure in the Minor Roads of the Colony, for the period from 14th August, 1862, to 21st March, 1864. £320 19s. 4d.

This sum to be charged, in the mean time, to the balance of the Vote for Classified Roads for 1863, but to be eventually placed on the Supplementary Estimates.

JOHN ROBERTSON.

MINUTE OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

THE Executive Council having carefully considered the whole circumstances of the case herein set forth, together with the opinion expressed by the late Secretary for Lands, advise that the sum of £320 19s. 4d. sterling, be paid to Mr. Michael Fitzpatrick, Under Secretary for Lands, as compensation for his services in connection with expenditure on Minor Roads, for the period from 14th August, 1862, to 21st March, 1864, the said amount to be paid in anticipation of parliamentary sanction, and charged in the mean time against the balance of the Vote for Classified Roads, 1863.

ALEX. C. BUDGE,
Clerk of the Council.

Minute, 65/12. 2 March, 1865.

Confirmed, 8 March, 1865.

MESSRS. WOOD BROTHERS AND KIRK.

[Between Messrs. Wood Brothers and Kirk and the Government.]

No. 1.

WOOD BROTHERS & KIRK, P. G. KIRK, & Co., to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS, SYDNEY.

Melbourne, 17 July, 1863.

SIR,

As agents for Messrs. Wood Brothers & Kirk, of Pental Island Station, we beg to inform you that they received a letter from C. G. N. Lockhart, Esq., the Commissioner of Crown Lands for the Murrumbidgee District, stating that their run (for which they have been paying rent and assessment to the Victorian Government for many years), is a portion of the territory of New South Wales, and requesting them to place themselves in communication with you, to ascertain the amount of rent payable to the New South Wales Government. In reply, we beg to inform you that we called the attention of the Victorian Government to the matter, and at same time forwarded a copy of Mr. Lockhart's letter, and now enclose copy of reply which we received.

We have, &c.,

GEORGE KIRK & CO.

[Enclosure in No. 1.]

Office of Lands and Survey,
Melbourne, 13 July, 1863.

Gentlemen,

I have to acknowledge receipt of your communication, dated 2nd instant, forwarding copy of a letter addressed, under date of 20th June last, by the Commissioner of Crown Lands for the Murrumbidgee District, under instructions from the Government of the Colony of New South Wales, to Messrs. Wood Brothers & Kirk, of Pental Island, relative to the pastoral occupation by them of that island. No copy in the department.

In reference to this subject, I have to inform you that the claim of the New South Wales Government to the island in question is not acquiesced in by this department; and, as you are aware, some correspondence has taken place between the Government of this Colony and the Colonial Secretary of the former, regarding this matter, and the latter will be forthwith apprised of the reasons why the claim is not considered valid.

I have, &c.,

C. HODGKINSON,

Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Survey.

Messrs. George Kirk & Co.,
Melbourne.

No. 2.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to G. KIRK & Co.

New South Wales.
Crown Lands Occupation Office,
Sydney, 26 September, 1863.

GENTLEMEN,

With reference to your letter of the 17th July last, as agents for Messrs. Wood Brothers & Kirk, stating that these gentlemen having received, from the Commissioner of the Murrumbidgee District, a notice to the effect that they were in the unauthorized occupation of Crown Lands forming part of the territory of New South Wales, and known as Winge Winge Burt, or Pental Island, you had called the attention of the Victorian Government to the matter, and received a reply—copy of which you forwarded,—I have now the honor to inform you, that I have not received any instructions from the Government of this Colony countermanding those already given, as to the disposal of the island occupied by your constituents, of the purport of which the proper authorities in Victoria have been duly made aware. The geographical question having been set at rest by the Act of the Imperial Parliament 18 and 19 Victoria, cap. 54, the only question remaining to be dealt with is, as between this department and the occupants of a portion of Crown Lands now held without any lawful authority, but to which, in the event of the rent and assessment, payable according to law, being duly paid into the Colonial Treasury in Sydney, in future, the claims to leases under Her Majesty's Order in Council, of the present occupants, will be duly respected, prior to any of the other applications for leases of the islands referred to, which have been received, being entertained.

2. As the occupants of the Wingee Wingee Burt or Pental Island Run, appear to have been entitled, under the Orders in Council, to a lease for fourteen years from the 1st January, 1852, their tenure will, up to the period of the expiration of that lease, be in accordance with the provisions of the Orders in Council, subject, of course, to the payment into the Colonial Treasury, in Sydney, of rent and assessment as aforesaid.

Upon a valuation being made, under the Orders in Council, of the pastoral capabilities of the land, for which purpose the necessary steps will be forthwith taken, the rent and assessment will be determined by those capabilities. In the mean time they will be computed upon the estimated area of the island, viz., 18,400 acres.

The assessment for 1863 amounts to £34 10s., and is now payable. The rent for 1864 will be payable in advance, on or before the 31st December next, and will, unless the capabilities should in the mean time be valued, amount to £10.

On the expiration of the term of the present lease, the lessees will be entitled to a renewed lease for five years, under the provisions of the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, at a rental to be determined by an appraisal of the fair annual value for pastoral purposes of the run in its natural state.

The occupants will receive credit for any payments already made by them to the Government of Victoria, as these, having been received illegally, have been claimed from that Government.

I have, &c.,

A. O. MORIARTY,
Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

No. 3.

G. KIRK & Co. to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS, SYDNEY.

Melbourne, 15 October, 1863.

SIR,

We have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communication of 26th ultimo, respecting the occupation by our constituents, Messrs. Wood Brothers and Kirk, of Pental Island, otherwise known as Wingy Wingy Burt. In reply, we beg to state that our friends have hitherto paid all claims in respect to their occupation of said island to the Government of this Colony, and had already paid the assessment for the current year, prior to the receipt of your letter; however, without prejudice, we beg to enclose draft, value £44 10s., being amount of assessment for 1863, as also, rent for 1864, as claimed by you in terms of your letter of 26th ultimo. Please forward the same to the Treasurer, and direct receipts to be forwarded to us.

Dft., £44 10s.

Be kind enough to give us further information as to the meaning of the last paragraph in your letter, which reads as follows:—"The occupants will receive credit for any payment already made by them to the Government of Victoria, as these, having been received illegally, have been claimed from that Government."

Query:—Since what date?

We have, &c.,

GEORGE KIRK & Co.

No. 4.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS, SYDNEY, to G. KIRK & Co.

New South Wales.

Crown Lands Occupation Office,
Sydney, 23 October, 1863.

GENTLEMEN,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th instant, covering draft for £44 10s.—the amount of assessment for 1863, and rent for 1864, on Messrs. Wood Brothers and Kirk's run, Wingee Wingee Burt or Pental Island—which I have duly forwarded to the Treasurer, and for which I now beg to enclose the receipt.

Receipt here-with.

With reference to the inquiry contained in your letter, I have the honor to inform you, that the intention of the paragraph noted by you was, to intimate that it was not the intention of this Government to demand from the tenants arrears of rent and assessment, such arrears having been claimed from the Government of Victoria, by whom the amounts had been received.

These arrears embrace all payments received by the Government of Victoria, from the date of the separation of that territory from New South Wales.

I have, &c.,

A. O. MORIARTY,
Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

No. 5.

G. KIRK &amp; Co. to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS, SYDNEY.

Melbourne, 9 November, 1863.

SIR,

We have the honor to forward copy of a letter received by us, this morning, from the Office of Lands and Survey here, from perusal of which you will note that this Government will continue to exact rent for Pental Island, otherwise Wingy Wingy Burt. As agents for our friends, Messrs. Wood Brothers and Kirk, we have to express a desire that the matter should receive the early attention of the proper authorities.

We have, &c.,
GEORGE KIRK & Co.

[Enclosure in No. 5.]

*Office of Lands and Survey,
Melbourne, 6 November, 1863.*

Gentlemen,

Referring to my letter of the 21st ultimo (No. 63-5052.—G.B.), I am directed to inform you, that the Government of Victoria will continue, as heretofore, to exact rent for Pental Island, which forms part of the territory of Victoria.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to G. KIRK &amp; Co.

New South Wales.

*Crown Lands Occupation Office,
Sydney, 27 November, 1863.*

GENTLEMEN,

In reply to your letter of the 9th instant, forwarding copy of one received by you from the office of Lands and Survey in Melbourne, stating that the Government of Victoria would continue to exact rent as heretofore, for the Pental Island Run, I have only to refer you to my communication of the 26th September last, pointing out that the general question had been set at rest by an Act of the Imperial Parliament, and that the term and duration of tenure of the island would be as provided for in Her Majesty's Order in Council of the 9th March, 1847, in accordance with which a lease will be issued on the grazing capabilities of the land being appraised. No. 2.

The intimation conveyed to you, of which you have forwarded a copy, must have arisen from a misapprehension of the circumstances of the case, as the demand referred to would be one incapable of being enforced.

I have, &amp;c.,

A. O. MORIARTY,

Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands.

No. 1.

COMMISSIONER LOCKHART to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

*Murrumbidgee District,
Crown Lands Office, Neimuir River,
8 April, 1859.*

SIR,

I do myself the honor to direct your attention to the fact of two islands in the River Murray, both of considerable size, forming in my opinion a portion of the Colony of New South Wales, being occupied by Victorian Licensees, who pay to the Treasury of Victoria the license fees and assessments which should accrue to the Treasury of New South Wales.

I have always understood that the southern boundary of the Colony of New South Wales is the southern bank of the River Murray, and that therefore, all the water, and consequently all the islands therein, form a portion of the territory of New South Wales.

The more considerable of the two islands referred to, is known as Pentill. Its lower point is nearly at Swan Hill, and it stretches upwards to Mr. Capel's boundary at Mooroomgatta, being about 20 miles in length, by an average breadth of 1½ to 2 miles. It was supposed to form a part of Messrs. Edden and Keane's Reedy Lake Run, in the Colony Colony of Victoria; but on the subdivision of that run, was sold, and is occupied by Messrs. Wood and Kirk. The southern branch of the river which forms this island is nearly equal in volume to the northern branch, is of course always running, and is seldom fordable.

The lesser of the two islands referred to, commences just at Gorm Head Station, and runs up the river for about 11 miles, with an average breadth of from  $1\frac{3}{4}$  to 2 miles. It is occupied by a Mr. Magarey, in conjunction with a run named Ganawarra, in the Colony of Victoria. This Ganawarra Run was previously held by a Mr. Archibald Campbell. I am informed, by a distant relative of Mr. Campbell's, that he did at one time apply to the Colony of New South Wales for license to occupy this island under the name of Yang. It is known, however, more properly, under the name of Pukaroo. I have no trace of any such application by Mr. Campbell. As the boundary of Gorm Run is the River Murray, I consider that this island should have formed part of Gorm Run, more especially as the southern branch of the river, in this instance, is the main stream, cleared from all impediments in its channel, and used by the various steamers. This island is only available for about four months in the year.

Both these islands are in the Grand River Murray Reserve, but might be leased from year to year, to the actual occupants, in the case of Pentill, which forms a run by itself, and to Mr. John Capell, in the case of Pukaroo.

Of course, pending the decision of the Government, I have had no communication with the Victorian occupants.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES G. N. LOCKHART,

Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Submitted for the consideration and instructions of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands and Public Works. There can be no doubt that the whole watercourse of the River Murray, from its source to the eastern boundary of the Colony of South Australia, is within the Colony of New South Wales.—GEO. BARNEY, S.G.—B.C. 18 May, 59.

This matter appears worthy of consideration, and I am of opinion that the Government of Victoria should be applied to, with reference to it. As any communication on the question should be conducted through the Chief Secretary, refer.—JOHN R.—30 July.

Principal Under Secretary.—M. F.—1 Aug.—B.C.

COMMISSIONER LOCKHART to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

*Murrumbidgee District,
Crown Lands Office,
25 July, 1859.*

SIR,

See No. 1.

On the 8th day of April last, in my letter numbered 77, I did myself the honor to draw attention to the fact, that the revenue derived from the grazing over two large islands in the River Murray, was paid into the Treasury of Victoria, although the land forms a portion of the territory of New South Wales.

The letter so addressed to you was put into a roadside bag, 130 miles away from any post office, and, as I have not observed the matter in any way referred to by you, I am apprehensive that the letter may never have reached your office.

I do myself the honor to request that I may be informed whether the letter referred to reached its destination.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES G. N. LOCKHART,

Commissioner Crown Lands.

The attention of the Honorable the Secretary for Lands and Public Works is invited to my blank cover reference on this subject, of the 18 May last, with a request that I may be apprised of the decision arrived at thereon, at his convenience.—GEO. BARNEY, S.G.

ACTING CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to COMMISSIONER LOCKHART.

*Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 29 September, 1859.*

SIR,

With reference to your letter of the 25th of July last, No. 59/154, in which <sup>See No. 2.</sup> you refer to your former letter of the 8th April, No. 59/77, calling attention to the fact that the revenue derived from two large islands in the Murray was paid into the Treasury of Victoria, I have the honor to request that you will furnish me with further information respecting the situation of the islands in question, named in your first communication Purtell and Puckeroo, and whether they are identical with Wingee Wingee Burt Island, situated just above Swan Hill, and Pugarmilly Island, about 10 miles above that island (Wingee Wingee Burt Island).

I have, &amp;c.,

A. G. McLEAN,
A.C.C.C.L.

P.S.—I should also feel obliged to you for a copy of your letter of the 8th April, 59-77, the original having passed out of this office and been mislaid.

No. 4.

COMMISSIONER LOCKHART to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

*Murrumbidgee District,
Crown Lands Office,
15 October, 1859.*

SIR,

I do myself the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 29 <sup>See No. 3.</sup> ultimo, No. 59/1806, requesting further information regarding two islands on the River Murray, the revenues derived from the occupation of which are paid into the Treasury of the Colony of Victoria.

The two islands to which I refer are named, in the chart of the River Murray compiled by Mr. Surveyor Townsend, as Wingey Wingey Burt and Pukarneilly.

As requested by you, I forward a copy of my first letter on the subject, dated 8th April, 1859, with the explanation, that at the time I wrote that letter I had not access to the map of the Murray River, and used the names Pentill and Pukaroo in reference to these islands—these names being those by which they are known on the spot.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHARLES G. N. LOCKHART,
Commissioner of Crown Lands.

SIR,

I have the honor to enclose an extract of a communication forwarded to this <sup>See No. 1.</sup> office by the Department of Lands in this Colony, relating to two islands in the River Murray, which are considered to form a portion of New South Wales, but which are occupied by persons who are understood to pay license fees and assessment to Victoria; and to state that it appears to this Government that the revenue arising from these islands should be credited to this Colony; and that the runs should be brought under the operation of the regulations in force in New South Wales.

No. 4.

In retransmitting to you the letter of Mr. Commissioner Lockhart, dated 25 July last, returned to me under your blank cover letter of the 20th September last, on the subject of the occupation of two islands in the River Murray, by Victorian settlers, I have the honor to forward the desired copy of a former letter of Mr. Lockhart's on the subject, together with a further letter, which I have obtained, containing other information which I had required.

2. I beg also to report that, by Mr. Townsend's survey, which was carried along the north bank of the Murray, and consequently omitted the southern channels, which form the islands in question, these channels are represented, where branching from that surveyed, in the case of the upper and smaller island, as considerably larger than the one surveyed; and in the case of the other, as nearly equal in size to the channel surveyed; thus bearing out the statements of Mr. Lockhart.

3. By the Act of Parliament 18 and 19 Victoria, cap. 54, New South Wales is made to embrace "the whole watercourse of the River Murray, from its source therein described to the eastern boundary of South Australia," and this would appear to embrace, as suggested by Mr. Lockhart, all islands.

4. I would beg, however, to suggest, that before any communication is addressed on the subject to the Victorian Government, the matter may be referred for the opinion of the Crown Law Officers.

I have, &amp;c.,

A. G. McLEAN,

A. S. Genl.

These papers were called for at the instance of the Principal Under Secretary. In forwarding them to him, it may be proper to remind him that the legal opinion suggested by the Acting Surveyor General, as to the jurisdiction of this Colony over the waters of the Murray, has already been taken (if I recollect aright), and will, I doubt not, be found with the papers respecting the Customs dues on dutiable goods conveyed up the Murray from South Australia.

Principal Under Secretary.

M.F.—B.C., 21 Nov.

As a communication has already been made to Victoria on this subject, is it necessary to do anything further at present? The papers relating to the Customs dues at the Murray are at the Treasury.

SIR,

No. 104 of November, 1860.

I have to inform you that your Tender for a new Run of Crown Lands in the District of Murrumbidgee, known by the name of Wingee Wingee Burt, was duly opened on the 5th ultimo, by the Board appointed for the purpose, and that the same has now been referred for the report of the Commissioner of the District, on receipt of which, the result of your application will be communicated to you.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to COMMISSIONER LOCKHART.

Tender No. 104, of November, 1860.

Crown Lands Occupation Office,
Sydney, 18 December, 1860.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit to you the accompanying Abstracts of Tenders opened on the 5th ultimo, for new Runs stated to be in your District; and I have the honor to request that, as early as the nature of the duty will permit, you will report for the information of the Honorable the Minister for Lands, on each Tender, separately, as follows:—

- 1.—Whether the Tender comprises any land under lease or license, or under promise of lease or license, or applied for in any prior Tender;—or whether after excluding any such land, sufficient will remain to constitute a run available for pastoral purposes.
- 2.—Whether in your opinion, it is advisable that any portion of the land tendered for, should be withheld from pastoral lease for any public purpose.
- 3.—Whether the description given in the Tender correctly indicates the land tendered for, or sufficiently for its identification, or whether you would suggest that it should be amended.
- 4.—Whether the size and shape of the block are conformable to the 51st and 52nd sections of the Regulations, or if not, in what manner you would suggest that its area or boundaries should be modified.
- 5.—Whether it will be necessary to procure water by artificial means.
- 6.—If the description is altogether vague or illusory; or if you find it necessary to call upon the applicant to point out the boundaries described in the Tender, and he fails to do so, you will report accordingly, to the end that the Tender may be rejected.
- 7.—If the land described in one Tender be in fact identical with that comprised in any other Tender, forwarded to you at the same time, you will report accordingly, and the Tenders will be disposed of according to the respective amounts of premium offered.
- 8.—If, however, it shall occur that two or more persons have thus applied at the same time for different runs, of which nevertheless part of one includes the whole or part of another, you should communicate with the applicants with a view to an arrangement of the boundary by mutual consent, failing which, you will report in what particulars the respective Tenders overlap one another, to the end that the matter may be referred to arbitration.
- 9.—You will understand that your reports must in all cases be made after personal inquiry and examination, and that you will be held responsible for the actual boundaries of each run being so determined on the ground, prior to the acceptance of the Tender for it, as to admit of recognition by applicants for adjoining lands, and of their applications being dealt with, without delay or risk of ultimate litigation.

TENDER FOR A LEASE OF A NEW RUN OF CROWN LANDS.

UNSETTLED DISTRICTS.

In accordance with the provisions contained in Her Majesty's Order in Council, published in the New South Wales Government Gazette, of the 7th October, 1847, and of the Regulations of the Local Government, published in pursuance thereof, I, Henry O. MacCormack, of Tumut, do hereby propose to take a lease for fourteen years, of the Crown Lands known as Wingeë Wingeëburt Island, in the District of Murrumbidgeë; which lands are particularly described in the schedule annexed to this tender:

2. And in consideration of such lease, I am willing and hereby offer to pay in advance the minimum rent, below which it is provided by the said Order in Council that no run shall be let, namely, £10 per annum, with £2 10s. per annum added thereto for every thousand sheep, or their equivalent in cattle, beyond four thousand sheep or their equivalent, which the run shall, under the provisions of the said Order in Council, be estimated as capable of carrying; and also in consideration of such lease, and by way of premium for the same, I do offer to pay yearly, in advance, the further sum of £5 in addition to the amount of the said minimum rent.

3. And I do agree that in the event of this tender being accepted by His Excellency the Governor General, and of such acceptance being notified in the New South Wales Government Gazette, I will, within sixty days after such notification, pay into the hands of the Colonial Treasurer, at Sydney, as and for the first year's rent of the said run, notwithstanding that the lease of the said run may not have been executed, the sum of £15, being the amount, according to my computation of the grazing capabilities of the run, of the payments which I have above offered to make, viz. :-

|  |         |
|--|---------|
| Minimum yearly rent below which no run can be let .....  | £10 0 0 |
| Further payment at the rate of £2 10s. per thousand for the number of stock above four thousand sheep or their equivalent which the run applied for is estimated to be capable of carrying ..... |         |
| Additional yearly payment offered by way of premium .....  | 5 0 0   |
| Total .....  | £15 0 0 |

Such payment, nevertheless, to be without prejudice to the subsequent adjustment of the rent according to the second and third sections of the second chapter of the above-mentioned Order in Council.

4. And I do agree that, in the event of this tender being accepted, to subscribe to the following conditions, viz. :- That in addition to all other terms prescribed by the present regulations, the occupancy of the said run and the lease to be ultimately issued, shall be subject to any new or modified conditions which the Legislature may impose.

5. And in consideration of this tender being accepted, and in the event of such payment not being made within the before-mentioned period of sixty days, I further agree to forfeit to Her Majesty the sum of £20 by way of liquidated damages, and to forfeit any right acquired by virtue of this tender and such acceptance thereof as aforesaid.

Given under my hand, this fourteenth day of October, A.D., 1860.

HENRY O. MACCORMACK.

To the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, Sydney.

P.S.—Tenderers are requested to be particular in affixing their signatures to the tender in the proper places, and to prevent inconvenience and delay, to name an Agent in Sydney, to attend to their interests in the tender.

No. 10.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

20 December, 1860.

Islands in the Murray River.

I think it right to bring again under the notice of the Honorable the Minister for Lands, the subject of the enclosed correspondence, which appears, from some cause, to have been overlooked during the past year.

The correspondence relates to certain islands in the River Murray, forming portions of the territory of New South Wales, which are held under pastoral lease from the Government of Victoria, and pay to that Colony rent and other dues properly belonging to the collection of the Customs. The question has been mixed up in some way with that of the collection of the Customs dues upon goods imported across the Murray, from which, however, it is obviously distinct.

See No. 5.

I perceive, from the enclosed minute of the Principal Under Secretary, that a communication was addressed in the month of October, 1859, to the Chief Secretary of Victoria, intimating an opinion that the revenue arising from these lands should be credited to this Colony, and the runs brought under the operation of the regulations of New South Wales. I cannot gather that any further action has ensued, and have now to submit, that it is necessary that some steps should be taken with reference to the occupation of the lands, which are now being occupied without any lawful authority.

It appears to me, that the rent and other dues received from these lands since the year 1851, are due to this Colony, as they are not within the territory separated from New South Wales and erected into the Colony of Victoria, under the Imperial Act 13 and 14 Vict., cap. 59; but whatever doubts may be entertained upon this point, there can be none whatever that, under the 5th clause of the present Constitution Act, 18 and 19 Victoria, cap. 54, these revenues have belonged to this Colony from the period of the promulgation of that Act, viz., on the 5th November, 1855. It will of course be proper that that the contracts entered into on behalf of Her Majesty, with the present occupants of the lands in question, should be maintained in their integrity, on the control of them being assumed by this Government, as they appear to have formed portions of runs previously held under license. The rights of the occupants are secured by the Constitution Acts of the respective Colonies, but as such rights are dependent upon the payment from year to year of the legal dues, I submit that the occupants should be made aware of their position, so as to admit of their securing their rights, by the payment, for the future, of their rents and assessments into the Colonial Treasury in Sydney, according to law.

As it cannot, however, be doubted, that the parties will be communicated with by the Victorian Government, there will probably be no necessity for treating with them, until the negotiations between the respective Governments shall have been brought to a conclusion.

Cabinet—Appd. May go on to the Chief Secretary, to whose department correspondence with the neighbouring Colonies belongs. JOHN R.—28 January.

It would be convenient in such cases as this, that a letter should be addressed by the Department of Lands, to this office, stating the terms in which it is desired that a communication should be made to Victoria. Something more definite seems necessary as to the course intended to be taken by this Government. C. C.—30 Jany./61.—B.C.

COMMISSIONER LOCKHART to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS.

Murrumbidgee District,

Crown Lands Office,

28 January, 1861.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to recommend that the tender by Mr. Henry O. MacCormack, being tender No. 104, of November, 1860, for an island in the River Murray, known as Wingee Wingee Burt, should be accepted—it being neither held under, nor claimed, nor promised in lease.

It would appear, from the wording of the notification of the Grand River Murray Reserve, that this reserve extends back two miles from the north bank of the river, and that therefore, islands in the stream of the river are not liable to this reservation.

I may mention that these islands in the river, which are certainly within the territory of New South Wales, are actually from time to time occupied by Victorian graziers, who pay assesment to the Treasury of the Colony of Victoria, for the agistment of stock within these portions of the territory of New South Wales.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES G. N. LOCKHART,

Commissioner of Crown Lands.

UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS to PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY.

Department of Lands,

Sydney, 7 February, 1861.

SIR,

Referring to your communication, under blank cover, of the 30th ultimo, respecting certain islands in the River Murray, forming portions of the territory of New South Wales which are held under pastoral lease from the Government of Victoria, payment being made to that Colony of rent and other dues properly belonging to the revenue of New South Wales, I am directed to request that you will have the goodness to move the Chief Secretary to cause a further letter to be addressed to the Chief Secretary of Victoria, as it would appear that no answer has been received to the one addressed to that Government on the subject in the month of October, 1859.

No. 5.

2. It appears to Mr. Secretary Robertson that the rents and other dues received from these lands since the year 1851 are due to this Colony, as they are not within the territory separated from New South Wales and erected into the Colony of Victoria, under the Imperial Act 13 and 14 Victoria, cap. 59; but whatever doubt may be entertained upon this point, there can be none whatever that, under the 5th clause of the present Constitution Act, 18 and 19 Victoria, cap. 54, these revenues have belonged to this Colony from the period of the promulgation of this Act, viz., on the 5th November, 1855.

3. This communication to the Victorian Government now seems expedient, with a view to the rights of this Colony to the islands and to the revenue arising therefrom being asserted, and in order that a recognition of such rights may be obtained from that Government before any steps are taken with the occupants.

I have, &c.,

COMMISSIONER OF LAND AND SURVEY, VICTORIA, to COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

*Office of Lands and Survey,
Melbourne, 13 February, 1862.*

SIR,

The attention of this department has been recently called to certain correspondence which has taken place between the Licensees of Pental Island Run, on the Murray River, and their agents in this city, from which it would appear that the former are apprehensive regarding the security of their tenure of that run under license from the Government of this Colony.

Allusion is made, in the correspondence, to a rumour that Pental Island has been claimed by the Government of New South Wales as part of the territory of that Colony, and that tenders for occupation thereof have been invited by that Government.

The question as to whether the island alluded to forms part of Victoria or New South Wales has, I am aware, been the subject of correspondence between the two Governments, to which I would beg reference; and as there is no knowledge in this department of an intention on the part of your Government to take any action likely to disturb the arrangements hitherto observed in respect to this island, it is hoped that the apprehensions to which I have referred are groundless, and that due intimation will be given in the event of your Government contemplating the adoption of any measures that might affect existing interests in connection with the island in question.

Sydney, 31 October, 1862.*

SIR,

Referring to the letter from the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Survey, Melbourne, forwarded by you under blank cover of the 28th February last, in which it is requested that intimation may be given, in the event of the Government of this Colony contemplating the adoption of any measures which might affect existing interests in connection with Pental Island,—I am directed by Mr. Secretary Robertson to request that you will have the goodness to bring under the notice of the Chief Secretary, in order that the requisite communication may be made to the Government of Victoria, that it is necessary that steps should be taken in regard to the occupation of the lands, which are now being occupied without any lawful authority.

2. It appears to the Minister for Lands, that the rents and other dues received from these lands since the year 1851 are due to this Colony, as they are not within the territory separated from New South Wales and erected into the Colony of Victoria, under the Imperial Act 13 and 14 Vict., cap. 59; but whatever doubts may be entertained upon this point, there can be none whatever that, under the 5th clause of the present Constitution Act, 19 Vict., cap. 54, these revenues have belonged to this Colony from the period of the promulgation of that Act, viz., on the 5th November, 1855.

3. It will be proper, of course, that the contracts entered into on behalf of Her Majesty, with the present occupants of the lands in question, should be maintained in their integrity, on the control of them being assumed by this Government, as they appear to have formed portions of runs previously held under license. The rights of the occupants are secured by the Constitution Acts of the respective Colonies; but as such rights are dependent upon the payment, from year to year, of the legal dues, it is deemed necessary that the occupants should be made aware of their position, so as to admit of their securing their rights, by the payment, for the future, of their rents and assessment, into the Colonial Treasury in Sydney, according to law.

I have, &c.,
MICHL. FITZPATRICK.

No. 24.

In reference to the letter of the Chief Secretary of Victoria, of 29th December last, urging that the islands of the Murray River were shown upon Townsend's Murrumbidgee District Map as within the Colony of Victoria, &c., there is nothing whatever to show that this survey was undertaken with a view to the determination of the boundary of the Colony of New South Wales, having been made several years previously to the separation of the Colony, and for facilitating the issue of squatting licenses. The survey consists merely of a single system of traverse lines, following leading and continuous features along the north side of the Murray within the Murrumbidgee District, to which Mr. Townsend's surveys were confined. The indefinite appearance of the islands and other features in consequence of their being too far removed from the traverse to show anything beyond their approximate position.

I enclose a copy of the notice which I have forwarded to Mr. Beveridge. On the whole these islands in the river will show about 3250 per annum to the Colony, and a sum of about £3,000 in rent for the same...

COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES, to CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA. CHARLES COWPER, Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, New South Wales, 13 May, 1863.

SIR, With reference to a letter from your department of the 29th December last, respecting Pentel Island, I have the honor to annex an extract of a Report which has been received from the Department of Lands, stating the nature and purpose of the survey made by Mr. Townsend; which is alluded to in your communication, and which, it is clear, cannot affect the question whether the island is within the boundary of New South Wales or Victoria. The Act 19 Victoria, cap. 54, provides that the whole water-course of the River Murray is and shall be within the territory of New South Wales, and therefore, including the lands situated in any portion of that watercourse.

I have, &c. CHARLES COWPER.

No. 24.

No. 26.

You are occupying an island in the River Murray within the jurisdiction of the Colony of New South Wales, and so far as I know, with the least authority as to do so. It is however possible that you may have been misled as far as to pay rent to the Treasury of the Colony of Victoria; and if you have been so misled, you are not bound to pay the same. If you have been so misled, you are not bound to pay the same. If you have been so misled, you are not bound to pay the same.

No. 25.

I do myself the honor to report that, in obedience to your instructions, when Mr. Melbournie placed myself in communication with the occupants of Wingey Wingy Burt and Pukarneilly Islands, in the River Murray, and informed them that it was necessary that they should apply to you, in order that they might be lawfully put into possession under the rules and regulations of the Colony of New South Wales. This they promised to do.

The occupants of Wingey Wingey Burt, alias Pentland Island, trade under the name of Wood Brothers and Kirk.

The occupant of Pukarneilly Island is J. B. Hughes, Esq.

I waited on the Surveyor General of the Colony of Victoria twice on this matter, who consulted the Honorable the Minister, and he informed me that there would be no obstruction placed in the way of our receiving the rents from the islands, &c., &c., and gave me full particulars of payments hitherto made, area, &c., &c. Wingey Wingey Burt, or Pentland Island, contains 18,400 acres, and was assessed, under Mr. Duffy's recent Land Act, at 13,000 sheep; rental, £400 per annum. The average rental paid by assessment on actual stock for the last six years has been upwards of £300 per annum.

These amounts in the case of this island are easily traceable, as it has been held as a distinct run. The returns from which these assessments are made are sent in in the month of January. The occupants—Woods and Kirk—have dry blocks on the Wimmera Plains, in Victoria; the waters thereon fail by January, and the sheep have been crowded on to the island, which, submerged in the winter, has a thick coating of coarse grass during the dry months of the year. The run on the island, thus stocked up during the summer, has paid a high rental in the form of assessment.

Under our mode of proceeding, I would be inclined to assess the grazing capabilities of the run at 6,000 sheep on an average of seasons, if placed under the Orders in Council. If it be brought within the Occupation Act of 1861, I should say its fair annual value would be about £110 to £120.

Puckarmilly Island has always been held as a part of Connewarra Run, in Victoria, and it is not easy to say what has been paid into the Victorian Treasury on account of it. It contains about 9,000 acres, is totally submerged in winter floods, but grazes cattle well during the summer months. Its grazing capabilities, under the Orders in Council, would be about 250 head of cattle, on an average of seasons. At a fair annual value under the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, it might be rated at £25 per annum.

It would appear only fair that the Government of Victoria should account to that of New South Wales for the mesne profits derived from their unwarranted occupation of these islands. As between individuals, these can be recovered for six years back. That period would take us nearly back to the passing of the Constitution Act, which fixed the proprietorship of these islands in New South Wales. Probably you may not consider it advisable to raise that part of the question, until one payment has been made to our Treasury from the occupants.

Having been so far successful in recovering these islands for the Colony of New South Wales, I have thought it within the spirit of my duty to warn another Victorian occupant—Mr. Peter Beveridge—to come in and beg of you to place him on the list of our Crown Lands' lessees. The island which he occupies is below Swan Hill, and is of the fair annual value, as a pastoral property, of about £150 per annum. It is more clearly an island than is Pentland or Wingey Wingey Burt, as, in the case of Beveridge's Island, the steamers traverse that branch of the river which is next to the Victorian shore.

I enclose a copy of the notice which I have forwarded to Mr. Beveridge.

On the whole, these islands in the river will add about £250 per annum to the Treasury, and a sum of about £2,000 is fairly recoverable as arrears—or rather, repayments—from the Victorian Treasury.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES G. N. LOCKHART,
Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Sir,

You are occupying an island in the River Murray, within the jurisdiction of the Colony of New South Wales, and, so far as I know, without the slightest authority so to do. It is, however, quite possible that you may have been misled so far as to pay rent to the Treasury of the Colony of Victoria; if so, you will oblige me by informing me that such is the case. You will be so good as to inform me if the land was applied for in the first instance as a part of the Victorian Run, or whether you have taken it up afterwards.

If you have really been misled, and the Government of Victoria has entered into any contract with you, I have no doubt but that the same will be taken into consideration. You had better, therefore, as soon as possible, apply to the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, Sydney, to relieve you from the position in which you stand—a trespasser on Crown Lands—at any moment liable to prosecution.

No. 29.

CHIEF SECRETARY, VICTORIA, to COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

Victoria.

Chief Secretary's Office,
Melbourne, 31 July, 1863.

SIR,

No. 27.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 13th of May, in further reference to Pental Island; and in reply, have to observe, that in the Imperial Act 14 Victoria, it was declared that the northern boundary of the Colony of Victoria was the course of the Murray from its source to the eastern boundary of South Australia. My description clearly placed Pental Island in Victoria; but it was obviously desirable that the control of the navigation of this part of the Murray, and the authority to work punts thereon, should not be vested in both Colonies. The Imperial Act 18 and 19 Victoria subsequently enacts that the whole watercourse of this part of the river should be part of New South Wales.

It was evidently the intention of the framers of this Act to give the Government of New South Wales the control of the navigation of the part of the Murray in question, and to restrict the boundary of Victoria to the left margin of the river, but not to cut off from the latter Colony twenty square miles of pasture land previously assigned to it by the Imperial Act first mentioned.

Further, I have to state, that in a careful survey of the Murray, made some years ago by Mr. Urquhart, the district surveyor, the ana-branch forming Pental Island was represented as having insignificant dimensions compared with those of the Murray River on the north side of the island, which, prior to the separation of Victoria from New South Wales, formed part of the Reedy Lake Run. This run was, at that period, recorded as being in the Wimmera District of Port Phillip; and in page 1079 of the New South Wales Government Gazette of 1848, the boundary of that run on the north is described as the Murray, whilst the Narraboot or ana-branch is clearly shewn by the description to intersect the run, and to be in the Port Phillip District.

For the foregoing reasons, I have to inform you that the Government of Victoria cannot acquiesce in the claim advanced on the part of the Government of New South Wales.

I have, &c.,
JAMES M'CULLOCH.

Regarding this as peculiarly a legal question, the Secretary for Lands is desirous of having the opinion and advice of the Crown Law Officers.—Crown Solicitor.—B.C., 23 October, /63.—M. F.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to UNDER SECRETARY FOR FINANCE AND TRADE.

Crown Lands Occupation Office,
Sydney, 28 September, 1863.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you that an island known as Wingee Wingee Burt, or Pental Island, in the River Murray, forming a portion of the territory of New South Wales, has been held hitherto under pastoral lease from the Government of Victoria, by Messrs. Wood Brothers & Kirk, who have paid to that Government the rent and other dues properly belonging to this.

The contract entered into, on behalf of Her Majesty, with the present occupants of the land in question will, of course, be maintained in its integrity; and as the island appears to have formed part of a run the occupant of which was entitled, under the Orders in Council, to a lease for fourteen years from the 1st January, 1852, the tenure will, up to the expiration of that lease, be in accordance with the provisions of the Orders in Council, subject, of course, to the payment into the Colonial Treasury, in Sydney, of the rent and assessment as provided by law.

Upon a valuation being made, under the Orders in Council, of the pastoral capabilities of the land, for which purpose the necessary steps will be forthwith taken, the rent and assessment will be determined by those capabilities. In the mean time they will be computed upon the estimated area of the island, viz., 18,400 acres.

Messrs. Wood Brothers & Kirk have been informed accordingly, that the assessment for 1863, amounting to £34 10s., is now payable, and that the rent for 1864, amounting to £10, will be payable, in advance, on or before the 31st December next; and I have, therefore, to request that you will be good enough to cause a report to be made of the receipt of the payments above referred to.

Messrs. Wood Brothers & Kirk will receive credit for the payments already made to the Government of Victoria, as these, having been received illegally, have been claimed from that Government.

Opinion.

BEFORE any further steps are taken in this matter, it appears to me that an accurate survey should be made of the River Murray, all round Pental Island, shewing the width and general character of the stream on each side. If the stream on each side is navigable with equal facility, and is generally of such a character as to be regarded as a river divided into two branches by an island, then there can be no doubt that the whole island, in that case, will belong to this Colony. Should it turn out, however, that the southern branch is only an insignificant watercourse, not in any way possessing any of the characters of a river, then the island will belong to Victoria. Before this question can be properly determined, therefore, there ought to be a very accurate survey and plan made, shewing the width and depth of the stream on each side. Should the survey and plan shew the southern channel to be the main branch of the river, or a branch equally important with the northern branch, and the Victorian Government still refuse to recognize the title of this Colony to the land in question, then the only course that can be taken will be to submit the whole case to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, with a request that he will take such steps as may be necessary to enforce the just claims of this Colony by Parliamentary sanction, if it can be done in no other way.

Instruct the Surveyor General to carry out the survey in accordance with the opinion of the Attorney General. J. B. W. 12 Feb. 1864.

Sir,

Surveyor General's Office,
Sydney, 29 February, 1864.

A question having arisen as to whether Pentland Island properly belongs to New South Wales or to Victoria, I have the honor to request that you will cause to be made a survey of the island and both banks of the Murray, and any islands adjacent, with sections of the river, at not less than three places on each side of the island, by which the average volume of the water will be fairly represented; for instance, one section on each side should shew the least sectional area, one the greatest, and one the intermediate area. The sections which should shew the approximate position of high and low water levels need not be as exact as it is customary to take them for bridge purposes, and they may be prepared by ordinary soundings, taken at estimated equal distances. The total distance must, of course, be accurately ascertained, and the positions of the sections shewn on the plan.

No. 34.

3. For your guidance I enclose a copy of the opinion of the Attorney General's opinion, and have to refer you to the Constitution Act for the description of the boundary between the Colonies, and by which you will more fully understand the bearings of the case.
4. The period at which a rise in the Murray may be expected to take place will soon arrive; and in order that the survey may be completed at an early date, you are at liberty to exercise a discretion as to which licensed surveyor should be employed, but the island in question is properly within the district held by Mr. McCulloch.

Pentland Island

The island in question is properly within Mr. L. S. M. McCulloch's district; but as I find so much difficulty in getting surveys performed by him, I cannot recommend that he be employed in this instance.

Mr. Berry (should he be employed) will be ready to proceed to the spot within one week from the present date; and the rate at which he proposes to undertake the survey for will be £2 per mile for the traverse, £25 for the hire of a boat and taking sections, and £60 time lost in travelling. This latter item appears large, but it would be fully as much more were a salaried surveyor employed. Pentland Island is not marked as such in any chart in this office; probably Ruggamilly and Wingee (Wingee Burt) Island are intended as before.

5. The cost of making the survey of these two islands and both banks of the Murray will be very considerable—not less than £600; and before finally issuing instructions perhaps the Surveyor General will be good enough to inform me, by telegram or otherwise, whether I am at liberty to give Mr. Berry the survey, and have &c.

In reference to your letter of the 5th instant, I have the honor to inform you that I think it undesirable to accept Mr. Berry's tender for the survey of Pentall Island, as little difficulty will be experienced in obtaining the services of a licensed surveyor at the customary rate of £2 per mile.

The duty in question is one of so much importance that it will be necessary that the sections and the collection of the information requisite to make the report, should be carried out by you; the traverse round the islands, and their connection (by intersection) with the opposite banks, at points not more than twenty chains apart, being performed by a licensed surveyor, whose work you will check occasionally on the ground, in order that it may be thoroughly relied on. The hire of a boat, at a reasonable rate, will be allowed for this service, and payment will be made on proper vouchers being furnished.

3. Tracings from Mr. Surveyor Townsend's original plottings are being prepared, and will be forwarded as early as possible; and I may add, that should the services of a reliable officer not be procurable in the district, a licensed surveyor will be despatched from head quarters.

 SURVEYOR GENERAL, UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

A COPY of a report furnished to me by Mr. Surveyor Wood, with tracings of his plans of Pentall and Puggarmilly Islands, and sections of the northern and southern channels of the River Murray, are submitted herewith.

These surveys clearly shew that the islands named are surrounded by deep, and permanent waters of the River Murray, divided into two deep and navigable channels, though not of equal volume.

In the case of Pentall Island the sections shew that the larger volume of water takes the northern channel, while in the case of Puggarmilly Island the main waters pass through the southern channel. In neither case is the difference in volume sufficient to make any difference in the capability of the channel for the purposes of navigation, the least depth of water being six feet at low summer level. The influx of the Loddon River, on the Victorian side, makes but little difference in the volume of the channel of the Murray into which it flows. Section K to L is taken above its mouth and I to J below it.

Enclosure in No. 38
 Will reference be made to your letter of the 20th instant in the River Murray, I have the honor to inform you that I propose employing Mr. Berry for that duty.

Sir,
 In compliance with instructions issued to me on the 29th February, 1864, I have the honor to transmit to you the plans and sections of Pentall and Puggarmilly Islands, in the River Murray.

Pentall Island is situated in the River Murray, the lower portion of which is about half a mile above Swan Hill; it is about fifteen miles in length, with an average breadth of about two miles. The greater portion of the island is annually flooded, but there are some sandy rises along its centre which remain dry during the highest floods. There are immense swamps and dense reed beds along the whole length of the island, particularly in the deep bends of the two branches of the Murray. The island is very lightly timbered, and chiefly gum along the south branch of the river; the north branch, for a considerable distance, is quite free from timber of any description. The River Loddon flows into the south branch of the Murray, about three miles below the north-east end of the island. Both branches of the river are capable of being navigated, but the north branch is that used by the steamers, the south being obstructed by a bridge erected by the lessees of the run.

Puggarmilly Island is situated in the River Murray, and commences about nine miles above Pentall Island, and a little above Gonn Station; it is nine miles in length, with an average breadth of a little over one mile. This island is very thickly timbered with Pentall Island.

Puggarmilly Island.

with gum, and is almost entirely under water during floods. There is a little open ground near the south branch of the Murray, and extending to the centre of the island for about two-thirds of its length. Like Pental Island, there are large swamps and reed beds, which extend to the open ground.

The north branch of the river is very much blocked up with fallen timber, but could be made, by clearing that away, equally as navigable as the south branch, which is used by the steamers.

Sections, Pental Island.

Sections have been taken of both branches of the Murray in three different places—the probable deepest, the shallowest, and the intermediate places. The sectional area of the water, in square feet, at the three places where the sections were taken in the south branch, was—

CROWN SOLICITOR to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Crown Solicitor's Office,
Sydney, 31 January, 1865.

SIR,

In re Pental Island.

I have the honor to return to you herewith the papers herein, which I received from your department, and to state that, having laid them before Mr. Attorney General Martin, he has been pleased to write a further opinion, a copy of which I send to you on the annexed half-sheet.

I have, &c.,

JOHN WILLIAMS,
Crown Solicitor.

Opinion.

From the report of Mr. Surveyor Wood, it appears to me to be quite clear that the two islands referred to in that report form a portion of this Colony. The proper course to take will be to send a copy of my former opinion, together with Mr. Wood's report and a copy of the survey, to the Victoria Government, with a request that they will withdraw from exercising jurisdiction over these islands, and acknowledge that they form part of this Colony. Should the Victoria Government refuse to withdraw or make such acknowledgment, then the aid of the Home Government should be invoked, and copies of all the correspondence, charts, and opinions, should be sent to England, for the information of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, in order that he may be in a position to decide the dispute.

UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS to PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY.

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 31 January, 1865.*

SIR,

In returning the communication from the Chief Secretary, Victoria, forwarded by your B. C. of the 10th August, 1863, together with previous correspondence on the subject of Pental Island, I am directed by Mr. Secretary Wilson to enclose a copy of the Attorney General's opinion, and the copy of a report furnished by Mr. Surveyor Wood, with tracing of his plans of Pental and Puggermilly Islands, and sections of the northern and southern channels of the River Murray. 31 July, 1863.

2. From the report of Mr. Surveyor Wood, it appears to be quite clear that the two islands referred to in that report form a portion of this Colony; and I am to suggest, for the consideration of the Chief Secretary, that the enclosures be forwarded to the Victorian Government, with a request that they will withdraw from exercising jurisdiction over these islands, and acknowledge that they form part of this Colony.

COMMISSIONER LOCKHART to CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS:

*Murrumbidgee District,
Crown Lands Office,
Wagga Wagga, 5 April, 1865.*

SIR,

I do myself the honor to state that I have observed it to be stated authoritatively, that a Conference between the Colonies of New South Wales and Victoria, on the subject of "Border Customs," is shortly to be held in Sydney.

I do myself the honor to suggest that this affords an opportunity of settling the matter of the islands in the River Murray, so as to relieve the present occupants from paying for their occupancy to both Colonies, as at present.

Pental (the principal island) is indisputably in our territory. A survey of the water volumes and of the island was ordered, and was made; but I have reason to believe that the result has never yet been forwarded, although I saw the work finished in May, 1864.

I think I have afforded all the information which I could in my correspondence on the subject. It may perhaps be considered that the Meriboot (the Victorian name of the southern branch of the Murray) is a continuation of Loddon River, which there enters the Murray. I am in a position to state, however, that the Loddon has been repeatedly dry, whilst the Murray splits at the head of the island and flows in two full streams, the southern one taking about one-third of the whole waters of the River Murray.

I have, &c.,
CHAS. LOCKHART,
C. C. L.

Minute of C. C. C. Lands on Mr. Commissioner Lockhart's letter of 5th April, 1865.

SUBMITTED for the commands of the Honorable the Minister for Lands.

I am not aware of any pending question with respect to the ownership of the islands in the Murray, which can come before the Conference, unless it should be deemed advisable to take the opportunity of representing to the delegates from Victoria the inconvenience of rent charges being demanded by the Government of that Colony, from the occupants of lands unquestionably in New South Wales, and now leased under this Government.

Secretary for Lands.—B.C., 12 April, /65.

No. 42.

Minute of Chief Secretary on letter from the Under Secretary for Lands, dated 31 January, 1865.

I regret that I did not take advantage of the presence of the Victorian Ministers, when here lately, to obtain a conference with the Secretary for Lands with them upon this matter, as I had postponed making this communication until I could ascertain whether it was necessary or expedient to send the latter portion of Mr. Martin's opinion, or make a demand so imperative as that contained in the concluding part of this letter.

I shall be glad if Mr. Robertson will look over the correspondence, and say whether the course determined on by Mr. Wilson may not be modified. It is not wise to irritate when there may be an amicable adjustment of a dispute.

Under Secretary for Lands.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

*Crown Lands Office,
Sydney, 3 May, 1865.*

SIR,

Pental Island or
Wingee Wingee,
Murrumbidgee.
R. G. Wood,
W. Wood, and
J. Kirk.

I have the honor herewith, to submit a lease which has been prepared in favour of Robert Grosvenor Wood, William Wood, and Joseph Kirk, the present holders of a promise of lease of the run named in the margin, the boundaries of which are described in conformity with requirements of the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, and are undisputed, and I beg to suggest that the lease may be submitted for the Great Seal and the signature of His Excellency the Governor, with a view to its being issued in the usual manner.

The run in question is an island in the Murray—one of those which were claimed by the Victorian Government.

I have, &c.,

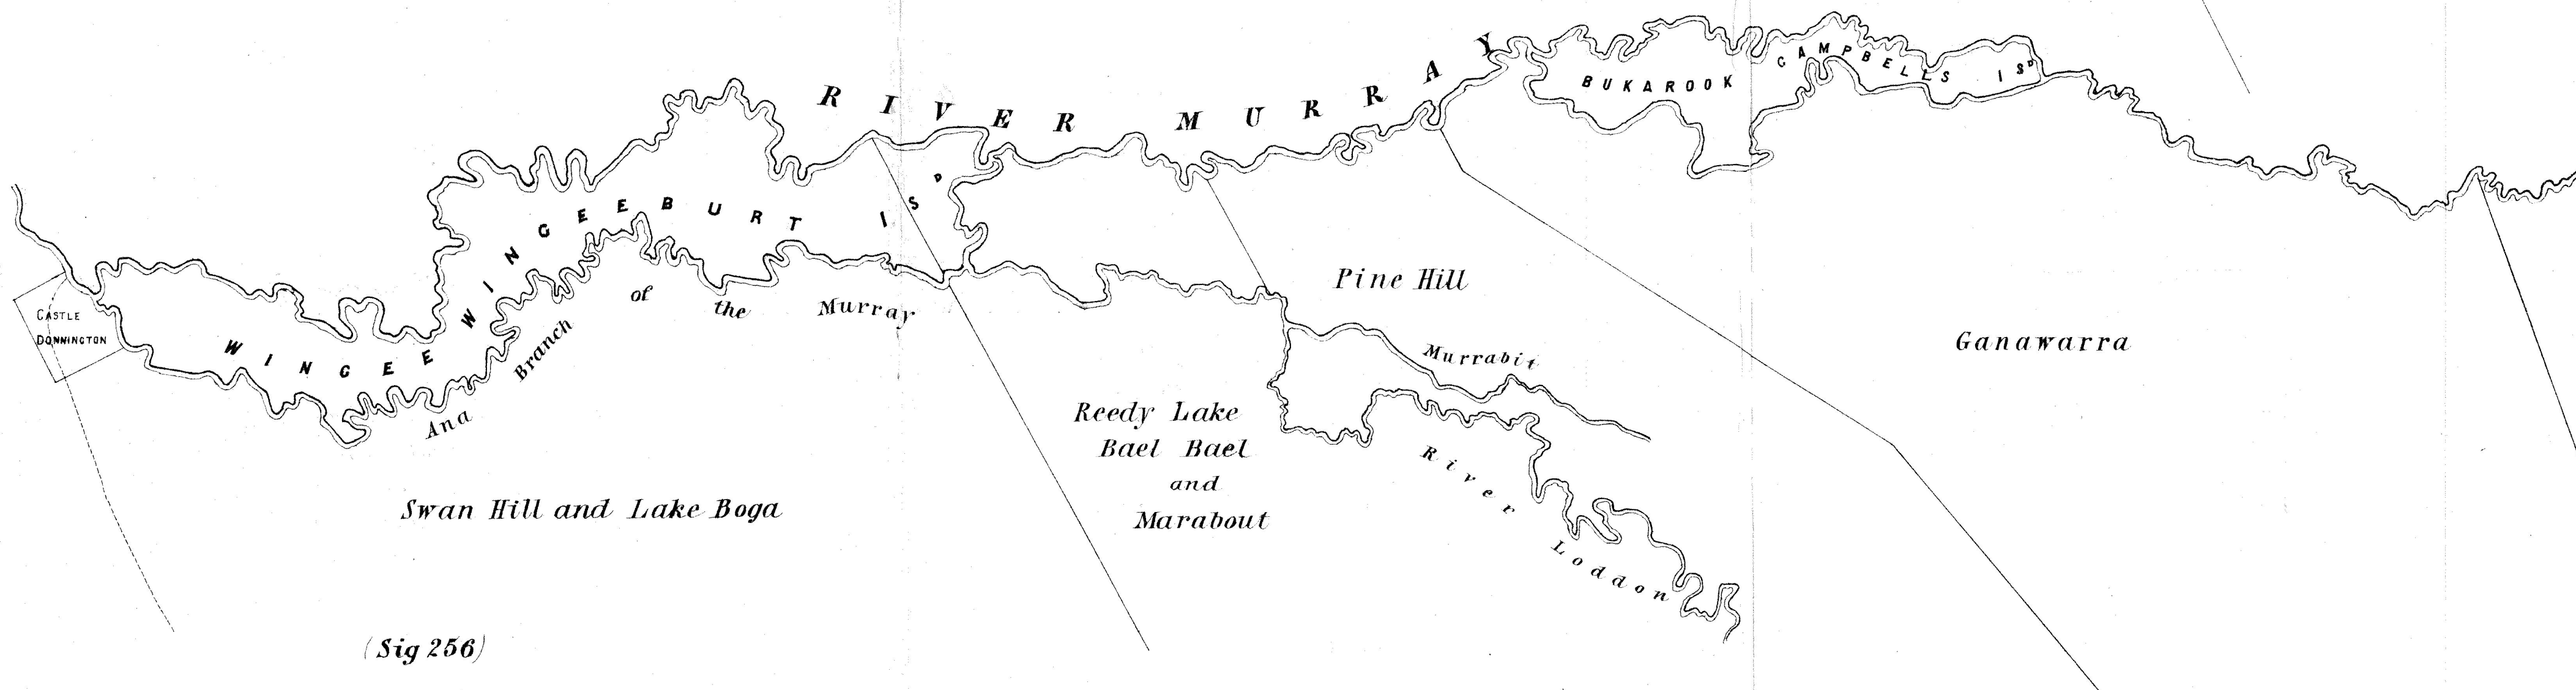

A. O. MORIARTY,
C. C. C. Lands.

REAL PROPERTY ACT.

(RETURN RELATIVE TO.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

REGISTRAR GENERAL to PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY.

Registrar General's Department,
Land Titles Branch,
Sydney, 27 February, 1865.

SIR,

I have the honor herewith to forward the Return of transactions that have taken place under the Real Property Act, 26 Vict., No. 9, for the year ending 31st December last, and also a Return of the number of Grants, &c., that have been issued under the provisions of the said Act, during the before-mentioned period.

The number of applications to bring land under the provisions of the Act is slightly in excess of the previous year, while the value of the property dealt with under the Act is largely increased.

The total area of land now under the Act is 203,435 acres, 0 roods, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$  perches, the value of which amounts to £880,857 8s.

The total value of land dealt with by means of transfer is £51,089 6s. 1d., and the amount secured by way of mortgage is £101,217 15s.

The public confidence in this measure—so simple, inexpensive, and sure—is permanently established; and it is considered a great boon by those who have had transactions under it.

The advantages which are derived under this Act are felt as a matter of course by those immediately concerned; but I venture to affirm that, indirectly, the whole Colony will benefit, for land brought under its operation becomes more valuable, and the complexity and uncertainty of investigation of title under the old system is abolished.

These facilities will be found to give an impetus to all kinds of transactions with land, especially amongst the poorer classes.

In conclusion, I have to express my confidence, that as each year terminates, so will there be found a great increase of business in this branch of my department; and I trust that a liberal and wise Legislature will accord its hearty support and assistance to those appointed to carry out the details of so useful and important a measure as the Real Property Act.

I have, &c.,
THEO. J. JAQUES,
Registrar General.

SCAB IN SHEEP.

(RETURN OF INFECTED SHEEP IN THE COLONY, AT 31 AUGUST AND 30 NOVEMBER, 1864.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 31 January, 1865.

MEMO.—The accompanying tabulated Report on the state of the Sheep in this Colony, at 31st August and 30th November last, which became infected with scab in the end of 1862 and the beginning of 1863, is submitted herewith; and I am glad to be able to state, what the Report more fully bears out, that the disease is fast disappearing from the Colony, there being now only 29,909 diseased or doubtful sheep, out of some 288,517.

2. The numbers of infected sheep remaining after being dressed at 30th November last, as well as of those killed and paid for under the old Scab Act, are of course certain; while those put down as "otherwise accounted for," although mere estimates, may be depended upon, as they are to a considerable extent from actual returns from the several districts. In this way, the total number of sheep which have been infected since the end of 1862 is brought up to 288,517, or in round numbers to 300,000.

3. The table appended to the Abstract, shewing the efficacy of the several dressings used, brings out the result most completely in favour of tobacco and sulphur. It will be seen that other ingredients have in some instances been used with this dressing, but quite needlessly, so, for the general Report shews, in the Returns of the Messrs. Richardson Brothers' and Mr. John Brown's sheep in the Canonba District, that two dippings of tobacco and sulphur, without any other ingredient, are a certain and thorough cure, and that too without removing the sheep from their old runs or yards.

4. Arsenic has been successful in some instances, but only where the sheep were moved, on being dressed, to new ground; and the per centage of losses through the poison has been very high. Many deaths have also occurred through the use of the mercurial dip.

5. Hayes' Specific has effected a cure in a few instances, where the sheep were in small lots, and moved to clean ground; but the Returns shew that it has failed wherever the stations were large.

6. Allen's Specific, again, is shewn by the Inspectors' Reports to have proved a total failure.

P.S.—The Returns received since the above date, from the different Inspectors, now shew the result of the dressings to be as follows:—

SCAB IN SHEEP.

THE following Regulation, respecting the Inspection of Sheep from adjoining Colonies, which has been made by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, in lieu of No. 11 of the Regulations of 10th June last for carrying into effect the "Scab in Sheep Act of 1863," is hereby published for general information.

J. BOWIE WILSON.

11. All sheep about to be introduced from any of the adjoining Colonies shall be examined at the following places respectively, and by the several Inspectors hereinafter mentioned, namely:—

For sheep intended to be introduced from South Australia, at the crossing-place at Chowella, in that Colony,—by the Inspector of Sheep at Wentworth; for sheep from Victoria, at the crossing-places in that Colony, on the Murray at Wentworth, Euston, Swan Hill, Moama, and Albury,—by the Inspectors stationed at the said several crossing-places; and for sheep from Queensland, at Goondiwindi, and at Ballandean Station, on the road to Tenterfield, in that Colony,—by the Inspectors stationed respectively at Warialda and Glen Innes. And no sheep intended to be introduced from any of the adjoining Colonies shall be examined, or allowed to be crossed, at any other crossing-place than those herein mentioned, without the sanction of the Directors for the district into which such sheep are to be introduced, on first crossing the Border.

SCAB INSPECTOR, WARIALDA.

No. 1.

UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS to SHEEP DIRECTORS, WARIALDA.

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 13 May, 1864.*

GENTLEMEN,

I am directed by the Minister for Lands to call your attention to that portion of the 27th section of the Scab Act which provides for the inspection of sheep coming from Queensland into this Colony, and to request that you will state whether or not you consider it necessary that there should be another inspector on the border, for that purpose, besides Mr. Fraser at Tenterfield, and if so, that you will mention some place to the westward of his district where a second inspector should be stationed.

2. You will also, in that case, have the goodness to nominate a fit person for the appointment, the duties of which would be principally, although not exclusively, confined to the inspection of sheep from Queensland, and for which the salary will be £100 a year, with an allowance of £2 10s. for stamps and stationery.

I have, &c.,
MICHL. FITZPATRICK.

No. 2.

SHEEP DIRECTORS, WARIALDA, to SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Warialda, 13 June, 1864.

SIR,

We beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 13th ultimo, calling our attention to the 27th section of the Scab Act, which provides for the inspection of sheep coming from Queensland, in answer to which we beg respectfully to state that we do not consider it necessary that another inspector should be placed on the border to the westward of Tenterfield, as Mr. Ridley, who is stationed at Warialda, can look out for any sheep that may cross to the westward of Mr. Fraser's district.

We have, &c.,

F. WYNDHAM,
A. A. ADAMS,
EDWARD HILL,
DANIEL CAPEL, } Sheep Directors.

No. 3.

H. MORT, Esq., to SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Sydney, 30 June, 1864.

SIR,

I have the honor to solicit your attention to the annexed extract from a communication we have received from Mr. Lloyd, of Callendoon, suggesting the expediency of appointing Mr. Myles as Border Inspector for New South Wales.

I have, &c.,
HENRY MORT.

[Enclosure.]

Extract from letter :—

Callendoon, 28 May, 1864.

"I think it would be very advantageous, and a protection against the introduction of diseased stock into this part of the country, if the present Border Inspector for Queensland, Mr. Myles, had power to act as inspector on the New South Wales side of the M'Intyre River. I would strongly recommend that the New South Wales Government appoint Mr. Myles to act in that capacity on the border of New South Wales. If you are of my opinion in this matter, please to see Mr. Wilson on the subject, and endeavour to get the appointment made. Mr. Myles says that he would be happy to act for New South Wales, in the same capacity as he does for Queensland, for a moderate salary.

"I remain, &c.,
"CHAS. W. LLOYD."

MINUTE ON No. 2.

ALTHOUGH the Directors for Warialda have stated (see 64-3372) that a Border Inspector is not required, it would seem that, for the convenience of the public, if not for the protection of the country, there should be so, as the station of the Inspector for Warialda is some eighty miles from the border, to which there is likely no communication but by messenger.

The appointment, however, being in the Directors' hands, they might, perhaps, be again communicated with, pointing out the requirements of the case, and informing them of the arrangement that could be made, by which the Queensland inspector could act as inspector for this Colony at a moderate salary.

UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS to SHEEP DIRECTORS, WARIALDA.

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 12 July, 1864.*

GENTLEMEN,

I am directed by the Minister for Lands to refer you to my communication of the 13th May last, and to point out that if the appointment of an additional inspector for your district be not necessary for the protection of the Colony, it is so for the convenience of the public; the station for the inspector of your district being at too great a distance from the border to enable parties introducing sheep to give the requisite notice without greater delay and inconvenience than they ought to be subjected to.

2. I am to request, therefore, that your Board will reconsider this matter, and to inform you that the services of Mr. Myles, the Queensland Border Inspector have been offered at a moderate rate of salary, and he might be nominated by you, provided you consider that his appointment would be a proper one.

I have, &c.,

MICHL. FITZPATRICK.

No. 6.

CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE to INSPECTOR RIDLEY.

(Circular.)

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 28 July, 1864.*

SIR,

I have, by this day's post, forwarded to you fourteen forms of the Monthly Return called for by Instruction 7; and you will be so good as to see that this return is regularly and correctly made up, and transmitted immediately on the expiry of every month. Herewith.

2. As it has been found necessary (in order to include all classes of sheep in the same return) to make more columns in this form than may be required in your district, these spare columns may be employed to record any additional information regarding the inspections you make which may be of sufficient importance to be conveyed in your returns.

I have, &c.,

A. BRUCE,
C. I. of Sheep.

No. 7.

SHEEP DIRECTORS, WARIALDA, to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Warialda, 5 August, 1864.

SIR,

We have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours noted on the margin, and to inform you that it is not our intention, at present, to nominate Mr. Myles, <sup>12 July, 1864.</sup> or any other gentleman, for appointment as additional inspector under the 27th section of the Scab Act, nearer the boundary of Queensland than Warialda, such an appointment being unnecessary for the convenience of the public, and a waste of public money.

We have, &c.,

EDWARD HILL, } Sheep Directors.
F. WYNDHAM, }

No. 8.

INSPECTOR RIDLEY to CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE.

Warialda, 9 August, 1864.

SIR,

In reply to your letter of the 28th of last month, I have the honor to inform you that mine is a clean district. The only returns that I can send you are of travelling sheep, which I will send on your approval.

It would be quite impossible for me to return all the sheep in the district monthly, as twelve inspectors could not do it if they were travelling every day in the year.

I have, &c.,

F. W. RIDLEY.

No. 9.

CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE to INSPECTOR RIDLEY.

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 18 August, 1864.

SIR,

I am in receipt of your communication of the 9th instant, with respect to your monthly returns and the inspection of your district, and I have again to refer you to Instructions 7 and 16 on these subjects, and to request that you carry out those, as Annexed. well as all other instructions, to the letter.

2. While there is nothing in the instructions alluded to which can be construed to mean, as you infer, that an inspector must see all the sheep in his district every month, there is, on the other hand, nothing to prevent him from being able to state on his returns that they are clean; provided that, having once made (as he ought to do) a general inspection of the sheep in his district, he finds them clean, and is aware that no sheep which have afterwards come in contact with those in his district could have given them the infection.

3. I would further remind you, that the inspector's whole time is to be devoted to the duties of his office, and his monthly return ought to shew that it is. It must, therefore, be regularly and correctly made up, and transmitted to this office.

I have, &c.,

ALEX. BRUCE,
Chief Inspector.

"7. The inspector shall keep such books as the Chief Inspector may require, including a journal or record of the employment of his time, and of the state of the health of the flocks in his district, from which he will, at the end of the month, make up a return to the Chief Inspector, in the form of Schedule K hereof."

"16. The first and most important duty of the inspector, after that of preventing the spread of the disease, is to detect its existence immediately on its outbreak; and he should for this purpose not only endeavour to gain the earliest possible information of its doing so from third parties, which, as well as the names of such parties, must be kept strictly private, but he must keep up such a systematic round of inspection of the flocks in his district as would render it impossible for the disease to exist for any length of time without his detecting it."

MEMORANDUM OF CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE ON NO. 7.

UNDER the circumstances, it would seem that the Government can do nothing further towards the appointment of a Border Inspector, and Mr. Mort may be so apprised. <sup>See 5 Aug., 1864.</sup>

To await a further letter from Mr. Lloyd.—M. F.—25th.

No. 11.

CHIEF INSPECTOR OF SHEEP to INSPECTOR RIDLEY.

(Circular.)

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 13 September, 1864.*

SIR,

Annexed.

With respect to those owners who may have omitted to make the returns of their sheep called for by section 37,* the proper course to pursue will be for you to lay informations against these defaulters under that section; and if the cases are proved to the satisfaction of the Magistrates, they will order the defendants to make the necessary return to the Clerks of Petty Sessions, within some short period (say seven days), at the same time inflicting such a penalty for the delay as the case may require.

Annexed.

2. On the return being made to the Clerks of Petty Sessions, they will proceed, as directed by sections 39 and 40,† to give intimation of the amounts of contribution due by the respective owners, and to make the returns ordered to the Treasury, calling attention to their being late; and it will then rest with the Colonial Treasurer, by section 42,‡ to enforce payment of the contributions, if they be not paid, and, if he thinks fit, of additional sum there mentioned by way of penalty.

I have, &amp;c.,

P. R. GORDON.

(For the Chief Inspector of Sheep.)

* 37. Every owner of sheep exceeding such number of five hundred depastured and kept in the Colony shall make to the Clerk of Petty Sessions for the district in which the said sheep are depastured a return on the first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four and on the first day of January in each succeeding year or within fourteen days thereafter in each year of all sheep so kept and depastured and any owner who shall fail to make such return at the time so appointed or shall omit to deliver the same or transmit it to such Clerk by registered letter through the post shall incur for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

† 39. The several Clerks of Petty Sessions shall within twenty-one days after the first day of March in each year from such returns calculate the amount of contribution to be made by the several owners within their respective districts and shall on or before the first day of April then next make a return thereof to the Colonial Treasurer according to which return the contribution hereinbefore mentioned shall upon notice as hereinafter provided be due and payable as aforesaid by the owners therein named except in so far as the same may be affected by any order made on appeal as hereinafter provided.

40. The said several Clerks of Petty Sessions shall also not less than one month previous to such contribution becoming due cause a notice in writing to be served upon each such owner at the residence of such owner apprising him of the amount of contribution to which he is liable and requiring him to pay the same at the office of the Colonial Treasurer in Sydney or other place appointed as aforesaid on or before the thirty-first of May then next ensuing.

‡ 42. In the absence of any such appeal within the time limited or in the case of such appeal being decided against the appellant if the owner liable to pay such contribution shall not on or before the thirtieth of June pay the same to the Colonial Treasurer or other officer as aforesaid the said Treasurer shall issue a warrant under his hand to the Clerk of Petty Sessions of the district directing him and his assistants to levy the amount together with an additional sum equal to one-fifth part thereof by way of penalty by distress and sale of a sufficient part of the sheep in respect of which the contribution shall have been calculated and such Clerk and his assistants to whom such warrant shall be so directed may make such distress and sale according to the law and practice in like cases.

If you have not already done so, I would beg to call your attention to the necessity of your making a general inspection of your district, as soon as possible, in terms of instruction 16, and to request that while doing so, you will carefully note in your journal the number of sheep you examine, in order that you may, in accordance with instruction 41,* be in a position to check the returns made by the owners to the several Clerks of Petty Sessions, and that a carefully condensed copy of your journal be transmitted at the end of each month. MEMORANDUM ON No. 11.

MR. LANE, at the Treasury, informed me on Friday, that it had come to his knowledge that a number of sheep owners had omitted to make their returns to the Clerks of Petty Sessions as required by section 37, and was desirous that I should address a circular to each of the inspectors, calling immediate attention to this. Mr. Bruce, before leaving, anticipated this, and drew up two circulars,* which I copied and despatched on 16th instant to each of the inspectors. The first circular requested the inspectors to make a general inspection of his district, to count the sheep, and compare the numbers with the returns made to the Clerks of Petty Sessions; and the second gave such instructions to the inspectors as Mr. Bruce thought was necessary to ensure a conviction against those parties neglecting to make the returns. It is submitted to know if these two circulars are sufficient to meet the case; or if, as Mr. Lane suggests, another circular should be addressed to the inspectors calling immediate attention to the matter.

CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE to INSPECTOR RIDLEY.

Department of Lands,
Sydney, 23 September, 1864.

SIR,

Referring to two circulars addressed to you, from this office, on 13th instant, urging you to commence a general inspection of your district, to compare the returns made by the various sheep owners to the Clerks of Petty Sessions, with the numbers which you find to be actually depastured on each station, and in the event of discrepancies or omissions on the part of any sheep owners, to lay informations against them under clause 37,—I am now directed to inform you that several instances of omissions and incorrect returns have been reported to the Government, and to point out to you (if not already done) the immediate necessity that exists for carrying out the instructions contained in the above-named circulars.

INSPECTOR RIDLEY to CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE.

Warialda, 3 October, 1864.

SIR,

On my return home from the Barwin (after being absent ten days), I found your letters, the last bearing date 23rd September; and in reply, I have the honor to inform you, as I before stated, that it is impossible for me to make a general monthly return of all the sheep in the district according to regulation 7; therefore, if you are not satisfied with what I say, I must refer you to the Directors to prove my statement.

INSPECTOR RIDLEY to CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE.

Warialda, 1 November, 1864.

SIR,

In reply to yours of the *10th ultimo, just to hand, in which you state, "does *No copy kept. not bind you to any specified time for making a general inspection of your district,"—I have the honor to inform you that, if I were travelling every day in the year, I could not see all the sheep in this district; I am, therefore, at a loss to know how I am to make a general inspection at all, or make a return to compare with those sent to the Clerk of Petty Sessions.

SCAB INSPECTOR, WARIALDA.

I have had enough to do of late in crossing sheep from Queensland, and expect to have to cross a good many more, I shall therefore feel obliged by your sending me some certificate forms for crossing them.

I am now on my way to Callendoon, although Mr. Lloyd has not sent me any further notice than you gave me. I have had some very long journeys of late.

If you are not satisfied with what I say, I must refer you to my Directors as before.

I have, &c.,

F. W. RIDLEY.

REPORT OF CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

ALTHOUGH the instructions to inspectors have now been before them for three or four months, the inspector here has not only not taken any steps to carry out instruction 41, directing him to check the returns made by the owners in his district, but it would seem, from the tenor of his communications, that he is not inclined to do so, or to make the general inspection requested by me, while he could easily do both in the course of a month or two, and attend to his other duties besides.

I would therefore recommend that payment of his salary be stopped, till he has made the required inspection and checked the returns as directed.

Sydney, 21 November, 1864.

SIR,

Referring to the letter addressed by you, on the 1st instant, to the Chief Inspector of Sheep, on the subject of your failure to comply with No. 7 of the instructions issued some three or four months ago to the different inspectors, viz., as to the checking of the returns made by the sheep owners in your district to the Clerk of Petty Sessions,—I am directed to inform you that, as from the tenor of your communications, you neither seem disposed to attend to this duty nor to make the general inspection of your district, also required by No. 16 of the Regulations, the Secretary for Lands has directed the payment of your salary to be stopped until you shall have complied with the instructions above referred to, both of which it is considered ought to be carried out in the course of a month or two, without interfering with your other duties.

SHEEP DIRECTORS, WARIALDA, to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Warialda, 29 November, 1864.

SIR,

Mr. F. W. Ridley has shewn us your letter, dated the 21st instant, from which it appears that you are dissatisfied with the way in which he has attended to your instructions No. 7, as also No. 16.

We beg respectfully to state, that it is quite impossible for Mr. Ridley to comply with your instruction No. 7,— 1st—As he could not count all the sheep in this district within the year;

2nd—That, even admitting it was possible for him to do so, we are very sure the owners of sheep in this district would not allow him to count them, there being no clause in the Scab Act giving that authority.

With regard to instruction No. 16, we also beg to state, that it is impossible for him (as well as quite unnecessary) to make a personal inspection of all the sheep in this district, as all the sheep are well known to be perfectly clean, and never any sign of scab among them.

In conclusion, we beg to say that Mr. Ridley has plenty to attend to in looking after and inspecting travelling sheep, which duties he has attended to faithfully, and we see no reason whatever to complain of him in any way.

No. 21.

REPORT OF CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE to UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

MEMO:—If an inspector is to report on the state of his district, it must not be from common rumour, especially where, like Warialda, it adjoins an infected one, but he is to do so from his own personal knowledge only, and if this did not occur to Mr. Inspector Ridley on his appointment, it ought to have done so on his being furnished with a copy of the "Instructions," which speak pointedly as to this in Nos. 7 and 16. (See also copies of No. 9 letter addressed to him of 18th August herewith.)

2. That Mr. Ridley might have carried out a general examination of all the sheep in his district, by making occasional tours of inspection from his station, is evident, not only from the fact that he has now been in office for nearly eight months, during which he would frequently have had little else to do, but also from the circumstance that the inspectors, in other districts, one of which is nearly twice the size of Mr. Ridley's, and some of them twice as large, with far more arduous duties to perform, through there being infected sheep in them, have already completed general inspections, and checked the returns by owners.

3. It was never intended that the inspector, in checking the returns by owners, should yard and count the sheep, although it is plain that this power is contained in the concluding portion of section 11, but merely that he should see and examine every flock and if the owners or shepherds would not give him the number in the flocks as he examined them (which they would in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred) he could estimate the number from the size of the flock, and make an entry in his memorandum book accordingly; and this would be check enough for all practical purposes.

4. In most cases the flock books are open to the inspectors, but it will be seen that they should have merely told the owners that they were making a general inspection of their districts, and said nothing of checking the returns, but taken the number of the sheep in the several flocks, as it were in the course of such inspection; and they would thus have carried out their instructions from head quarters, without giving umbrage to the owners.

5. Without reference, however, to those who made short returns, this inspection and checking is necessary to detect those who made no return at all.

6. Although officers than once reminded, Mr. Ridley has never complied with instruction calling for a report of the duties performed by him during the month, and as he has not done so, I am unable to see whether or not his time is so very fully occupied as to prevent him from making this general inspection, or if he be doing his duty as he ought, and I would beg to remark, that while it is very desirable that Directors should approve of the conduct of an inspector, yet as the Chief Inspector, and not the Directors, has the control of the inspectors, and is responsible that they faithfully discharge their duties, these officers should, in the first instance, satisfy the Chief Inspector that they are doing so, and Mr. Ridley's conduct has not hitherto appeared in this light to me, and I must, therefore, again recommend that payment of Mr. Ridley's salary be still withheld until the inspection and examination referred to, as well as all other instructions he has received from me, are carried out.

No. 22

UNDER SECRETARY FOR LANDS to SHEEP DIRECTORS, WARIALDA.

Department of Lands,

Sydney, 16 December, 1864.

GENTLEMEN,
In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 29th ultimo, in which, with reference to a communication addressed to Mr. Sheep Inspector Ridley, on the 21st of the same month, you state that it is impracticable for him to carry out the instructions issued to him for checking the returns of the sheep owners, and for making a general inspection of the district, I am directed by the Secretary for Lands to forward to you a copy of a report in the matter from Mr. Bruce, the Chief Inspector (to whom your letter was referred), and to inform you that, as Mr. Secretary Wilson concurs in the view of that officer on the case, payment of Mr. Ridley's salary must still be withheld until he has carried out the instructions above alluded to, as well as all other duties required of him.

MICHEL FITZPATRICK.

No. 23

CHIEF INSPECTOR BRUCE to INSPECTOR RIDLEY.
(Circular.) Department of Lands, Sydney, 17 January, 1865.

SIR,
Referring to my circulars of 13 and 23 September last, directing a general inspection of your district, and the checking of the returns made by the owners of the number of their sheep, I have now to request that you will report to me, without delay, the result of your performance of these duties.

2. In doing so, I have to point out that you should keep in view to make the inspection and check for the present year previous to the end of May, to enable you to prosecute defaulters within six months of the date of their offence; as the period within which actions may be brought into a Court of Petty Sessions is limited to that time, when—as in the Scab Act—its provisions are silent on that point.

3. Further, I would remind you that the settlers need not be made aware that while you are making your annual inspection of the flocks in your district (and you must see every one of them), you are also checking their returns; for if there should be some few instances in which you cannot learn the numbers in a flock from the owner or shepherd, as a matter of detail, in your noting the inspection in your journal you can estimate and note the number of such flock from its size, and thereby avoid giving umbrage to any of the parties by appearing to call their returns into question.

I have, &c.,

ALEXR. BRUCE,

Chief Inspector of Sheep.

CIRCULAR EXPLANATORY OF INSTRUCTIONS.

(Circular.)

*Department of Lands,
Sydney, 17 February, 1865.*

SIR,

It has come to my knowledge that the purport of the circular of 17th ultimo, respecting a general inspection and checking of returns, has been misunderstood, or I might say misread by those inspectors who inferred that the sheep on the several stations were to be counted, which a more careful reference to the circular alluded to, would have shewn was forbidden. I take this opportunity of stating, that it is not the practice for subordinate officers to disclose to the public the subject of any communications they receive from head quarters, and that those inspectors who stated publicly (as some did) that they were instructed to count all the sheep in their district, displayed a great lack of discrimination and prudence in doing so.

In making this check for 1864, inspectors again, in some instances, sent a return of the number of sheep in their districts to the Chief Inspector, seemingly, instead of comparing the numbers ascertained by them with those in the returns made to the several Clerks of Petty Sessions in these districts, in terms of instruction 41; and there can be no difficulty in carrying out this comparison, as those owners who may have made their returns to a wrong Clerk of Petty Sessions, can of course be compelled to shew to whom they did so, while a list of the defaulters (if any) is all that should be forwarded to head quarters.

I have, &amp;c.,

ALEXR. BRUCE,
Chief Inspector of Sheep.

SEWERAGE AND WATER SUPPLY.

(EIGHTH YEARLY REPORT—1864.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

TOWN CLERK to PRINCIPAL UNDER SECRETARY.

Town Clerk's Office,Sydney, 15 February, 1865.

SIR,

I have the honor, by direction of the Right Worshipful the Mayor, to transmit herewith the Eighth Yearly Report of the Proceedings of the Municipal Council of Sydney under the Sewerage and Water Acts, in order that the same may be submitted for the information of the Parliament of New South Wales, in terms of the Sydney Corporation Act of 1857.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHA. H. WOOLCOTT,

Town Clerk.

EIGHTH YEARLY REPORT of the Municipal Council of the City of Sydney, of their Proceedings under the Sewerage and Water Acts.

THE Municipal Council of the City of Sydney have the honor to submit, for the information of the Parliament of New South Wales, the following Report of their Proceedings, and Statements of Receipts and Expenditure, under the Sewerage and Water Acts, from the 1st of January to the 31st December, 1864.

SEWERAGE.

The following works have been undertaken in connection with the main sewerage of the city during the past year:—

Elizabeth-street.—A 6-feet oviform sewer has been constructed for a distance of three hundred feet, from the large sewer in Hay-street to the watercourse near Market-lane.

Liverpool-lane.—Three hundred and twenty feet of stone culvert, 3 feet by 3 feet 6 inches, has been built from Crown-street to the watercourse in Riley-street.

William-street East.—Twelve hundred feet of 16-inch, and four hundred and eleven feet of 12-inch stoneware pipe drain has been laid in this street, from Craigend to Rushcutters' Bay Bridge.

Druitt-street.—Six hundred and thirty feet of 16-inch, and five hundred and seventy feet of 12-inch stoneware pipe drain has been laid from York-street to Darling Harbour.

Woolloomooloo Bay.—The following works connected with the drainage of the district of Woolloomooloo have been contracted for and satisfactorily commenced, viz.:—Three hundred and three feet lineal of 10-foot stone culvert, an 8-foot stone culvert one hundred and thirty-five feet in length, and a 6-foot stone culvert four hundred and five feet in length, all in the line of Forbes-street; street; a western branch from the Forbes-street sewer, 8 feet in width, six hundred and twenty-five feet in length, extending to Palmer-street near the Domain Gate, and a branch from it to Bourke-street, 6 feet in width and three hundred and forty feet in length; also an eastern branch from the Forbes-street sewer, 6 feet in width and seven hundred and fifty feet in length, extending into Dowling-street; and about three thousand three hundred and sixty feet lineal of 16-inch stoneware pipe in the line of the several streets and ways projected on the plan.

The number of house connections made with the main sewers during the year is ninety, making a total number of one thousand and eighty-eight (1,088).

The whole of the sewers constructed since the passing of the Sewerage Act have been in perfect working order, and are found in every respect to answer the purpose for which they are intended.

WATER.

The engines and the machinery at Botany have continued to work day and night (Sundays excepted), without any casualty whatever. The quantity of water sent into Sydney during the year amounted to 657,267,552 gallons. The supply at the Reserve at Botany, and at Lachlan Swamp, has been abundant throughout the year.

The construction of the High Level Reservoir at Paddington has been commenced during the year, and the contract for the excavation satisfactorily performed. It is hoped that the work will be entirely completed during the year 1865, and that the Council will be enabled to afford a more copious and regular supply to the higher portions of the city, and will also extend the lines of mains to many of the surrounding municipalities.

The several contracts for the supply of coal, stores, water-locks, and other requirements during the year, as well as for cementing the chimney-shaft at Botany, have been satisfactorily completed.

Appendix A.

The quantities of piping laid for the extension of the supply of water to the city and suburbs (as detailed in Appendix A), are as follows:—

|        |     |     |     |     |              |
|--------|-----|-----|-----|-----|--------------|
| 3-inch | ... | ... | ... | ... | 2,496 yards. |

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SYDNEY SEWERAGE.
(PETITION—MUNICIPAL COUNCIL, SYDNEY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 20 April, 1865.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the Municipal Council of the City of Sydney.—

Most respectfully sheweth:—

That your Petitioners are laboring under considerable embarrassment and disadvantage from their present position with regard to the sewerage affairs of the city. That the liability of the city, in connection with the sewerage works, amounts to about three hundred thousand pounds. That the greater portion of this liability was incurred under the management of the City Commissioners, who were not responsible to, nor under the control of the citizens; and that the works were executed at an enormous cost, and greatly in excess of the cost of similar works which have been undertaken by your Petitioners. That many of the sewers constructed by the City Commissioners are available principally for the drainage of properties belonging to the Government, who are exempt from the payment of sewerage and all other rates. That, from the defects in, or the insufficiency of the provisions of the Sewerage Act, your Petitioners have not been enabled to receive the revenue which it was contemplated should be derived from the public sewers; and that even should the whole amount of rates proposed by your Petitioners, it would be scarcely adequate for the redemption of the debt which has been incurred. That your Petitioners are constantly appealed to by the citizens to continue the system of sewerage in various parts of the city, and they are aware of the necessity which exists for the construction of further works; but in the present unsatisfactory position in which they are placed with regard to the debt to the Government, and the difficulties connected with the collection of the sewerage rates, your Petitioners are reluctantly compelled to postpone the carrying out of any extensive operations until some satisfactory arrangements have been arrived at. Your Petitioners, therefore, humbly pray that your Honorable House will take the matter into consideration, and adopt such measures as may seem most desirable for relieving your Petitioners from their present difficulties in connection with the sewerage of the city.

And your Petitioners will ever pray, &c.

(PETITION—MUNICIPAL COUNCIL, SYDNEY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 20 April, 1865.

The humble Petition of the Municipal Council of the City of Sydney,—

MOST RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That the greater portion of this liability was incurred under the management of the City Commissioners, who were not responsible to, nor under the control of the citizens; and that the works were executed at an enormous cost, and greatly in excess of the cost of similar works which have been since undertaken by your Petitioners.

That many of the sewers constructed by the City Commissioners are available principally for the drainage of properties belonging to the Government, who are exempt from the payment of sewerage and all other rates.

That, from the defects in, or the insufficiency of the provisions of the Sewerage Act, your Petitioners have not been enabled to receive the revenue which it was contemplated should be derived from the public sewers; and that even should the whole amount of rates proposed by the Act be recovered by your Petitioners, it would be scarcely adequate to the requirements for the payment of interest on the debt which has been incurred.

That your Petitioners are constantly appealed to by the citizens to continue the system of sewerage in various parts of the city, and they are aware of the necessity which exists for the construction of further works; but in the present unsatisfactory position in which they are placed with regard to the debt to the Government, and the difficulties connected with the collection of the sewerage rates, your Petitioners are reluctantly compelled to postpone the carrying out of any extensive operations until some satisfactory arrangements have been arrived at.

MUNICIPALITY OF KIAMA.

(PETITION.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 31 March, 1865.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned Mayor and Aldermen of the Municipality of Kiama,—

HUMBLY AND MOST RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That the Municipality of Kiama, consisting of three Wards (Kiama, Jamberoo, and Gerringong), was incorporated and constituted under the provisions of the Municipalities Act of 1858.

That the Municipal Council of Kiama contracted a cash credit in accordance with section eighty-seven of said Act, with the sanction of the Governor and Executive Council; the amount thus borrowed being secured by bond on the personal estate of the several members of the said Municipal Council.

That the sum included in said bond, which has already fallen due, and for payment of which Petitioners are personally and severally liable, and for which they are now paying heavy interest out of their private resources, has all been expended in making permanent improvements in the Municipality, in hope that it would have been duly realized by the ordinary revenue at the disposal of the Council.

That in the present state of the law, as decided by the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of the Shoalhaven Municipality, Petitioners are advised that the Council has no power to proceed for the recovery of rates, either by action or by issuing of warrant of distress.

That should judgment be enforced for the immediate payment of said bond, Petitioners will be placed in a position of great hardship and of pecuniary distress. They beg to assure your Honorable House that they signed the bond and undertook the liability, in full faith that they were protected by an Act of Parliament, securing the collection of rates and the payment by endowment of an equal amount out of the general Revenue; they acted solely for the benefit of the community, having no private interest to serve; and they cast themselves with confidence on your Honorable House, to afford them that relief which a due regard to public faith as well as to individual interest demands.

Petitioners, therefore, humbly pray your Honorable House to take the premises into favourable consideration, and to pass such an Amended Municipalities Act as shall effectually relieve Petitioners from their present state of anxiety and personal liability in respect of said bond; and that it will please your Honorable House to make such further enactment and provision as may be necessary, to enable the Council to carry out the assessment and levying of rates for the purpose of public works and improvements within the Municipality.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

JOHN BLACK,
Mayor.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT OF 1858.

(PETITION—CENTRAL ILLAWARRA.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 April, 1865.

The Petition of the Chairman and Councillors of the Municipality of Central Illawarra,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH:—

That on the passing of the Municipalities Act of 1858, your Memorialists, and those whom they represent, were amongst the earliest who availed themselves of a measure which they felt assured would be productive of a large amount of good to themselves, and if generally adopted, to the Colony at large.

That the great and permanent improvements that have been made within the Municipality, since it has been incorporated, are evidence that the expectations of your Memorialists were not without foundation.

That great as these improvements have been, they would have been far more extensive and important, were it not that certain defects exist in the Act under which they hold their existence, and that the full and proper working of the Council has been thereby rendered almost impossible.

That your Memorialists were induced to believe that an Amendment Act would be brought before Parliament, whereby the impediments to the working of the present Act would be removed.

That Session after Session has passed away without such being done.

That your Memorialists, looking at the great advantages which well-regulated Municipalities confer upon the public, and remembering the defects of the present Act, humbly pray that the present Session may not be allowed to close without the Municipalities Act of 1858 being amended.

And your Memorialists, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 16 May, 1865.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the Mayor and Aldermen of Wollongong,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That on the passing of the Municipalities Act of 1858, your Petitioners, and those whom they represent, were among the first to avail themselves of a measure, which they felt assured would be productive of a large amount of good to themselves, and, if generally adopted, to the Colony at large.

That the great improvements that have been made in the Town of Wollongong since it became incorporated, are evidence that the expectations of your Petitioners were not without foundation.

That great as these improvements have been, they would have been far greater, were it not that certain defects were discovered in the Act under which they held their existence, and that the full working of the Corporation became therefrom almost impossible.

That your Petitioners were induced to believe that an amendment Act would be brought before Parliament, whereby the impediments to the working of the present Act would be removed.

That Session after Session has passed away without such being done.

That your Petitioners, looking at the great advantages which well-regulated Municipalities confer upon the public, and remembering the defects of the present Act, humbly pray that the present Session may not be allowed to close without the Municipalities Act of 1858 being amended.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT OF 1858.

(PETITION—WILLOUGHBY (NORTH).)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 17 May, 1865.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Inhabitants—Householders of the northern part of the Parish of Willoughby, County of Cumberland,—

SH EWETH :—

That your Petitioners view with alarm the proposal to amend the existing "Municipalities Act," by including in one Municipality, towns and the adjacent rural lands.

That the effect of such an enactment will be to render the Parish of Willoughby subject to be incorporated with the Town of St. Leonards, thereby placing a large extent of country land, comprising about eighteen square miles, occupied by a scattered rural population not exceeding five hundred in number, entirely under the control of the Town of St. Leonards and its populous suburb, containing a population of about three thousand five hundred, in an area of about two square miles.

That the northern part of the Parish of Willoughby is inhabited by a population supported almost exclusively by the produce of their gardens and small farms; and that the number of residents of this class has considerably increased during the last year.

That the portion of the Parish of Willoughby which contains the largest number of inhabitants is at the points which abut on the waters of Port Jackson, known as Blue's Point, and Kirribilli Point, Milsom's Point, and Neutral Bay, which might be included with the Town of St. Leonards by extending the boundaries of that town, without altering the principles of "Municipalities Act of 1858."

That the rural population of the said parish has always been opposed to being united with the Town of St. Leonards, and is desirous of becoming a rural Municipality alone.

And your Petitioners pray that no such alteration may be made in the said Municipalities Act of 1858, as will subject a country district to be included with an adjacent town in one Municipality.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

CHAPTER I
THE EARLY HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES
The first European settlement in North America was established by the English in 1607 at Jamestown, Virginia. This was followed by the Pilgrims in 1620 at Plymouth, Massachusetts. The French established settlements in the St. Lawrence Valley and the Mississippi River region. The Spanish established settlements in the Southwest and Florida. The Dutch established settlements in the Hudson River Valley and the Delaware River region. The Swedish established a settlement in the Delaware River region. The Quakers established a settlement in Pennsylvania. The Dutch and English fought the Second Dutch-English War (1656-1674) over control of the Hudson River Valley. The Dutch were defeated and the English took control of the region. The Dutch and English fought the Third Dutch-English War (1681-1684) over control of the Delaware River region. The Dutch were defeated and the English took control of the region.

CHAPTER II
THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR
The American Revolution was fought between the thirteen original colonies and Great Britain from 1775 to 1781. The war began with the Battles of Lexington and Concord in April 1775. The Continental Congress fled to Lancaster and then to York in Pennsylvania. The British evacuated Philadelphia and moved back to New York City. The Continental Army followed them and fought the Battle of the Clouds on September 26, 1777. The British evacuated New York City and moved back to Philadelphia. The Continental Army followed them and fought the Battle of Red Bank on December 19, 1777. The British evacuated Philadelphia and moved back to Lancaster and then to York. The Continental Army followed them and fought the Battle of Red Bank on December 19, 1777. The British evacuated Philadelphia and moved back to Lancaster and then to York. #### PETITION.

To His Excellency SIR WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor General in and over all Her Majesty's Colonies of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY :—

We, the undersigned householders, resident in the township of St. Leonard's and in the parts adjacent thereto, in the parish of Willoughby, on the north shore of Port Jackson, as specified and set forth in the plan or diagram hereto annexed, humbly represent to your Excellency that they are desirous that the said township of St. Leonard's, and the said parts adjacent thereto, may be declared a Municipality under the Municipalities Act of 1858, but that the limits of the said township, as the same are declared and set forth in the Electoral Act 14 Victoria, No. 48, and in the *map or plan of the parish of Willoughby in the Office of the Surveyor General of this Colony, are too small and inconvenient for the establishment of a Municipality for the township alone; we therefore pray that the boundaries of the said township may be enlarged as follows, that is to say :—Bounded on the west by a perpendicular line commencing at the south-west corner of J. W. Bligh's 5a. 1r. 22p. to the waters of Port Jackson, at Wolstoncraft's Wharf; on the south by the waters of Port Jackson; on the east by a perpendicular line, commencing at the waters of Long Bay, intersecting J. C. Tucker's 5½ acres, following the eastern boundary of Thrupp's 700 acres, intersecting James Robertson's 86 acres, to the waters of Port Jackson; on the north by the waters of Long Bay and by a creek in continuation thereof to the point at the south-west corner of J. W. Bligh's 5a. 1r. 22p. as aforesaid.

PETITION.

To His Excellency SIR WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor General in and over all Her Majesty's Colonies of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY :—

We, the undersigned householders, resident in the township of St. Leonard's, in the parish of Willoughby, on the north shore of Port Jackson, humbly represent to your Excellency that the population of the said township considerably exceeds one thousand persons; and we pray that the said township may be declared a Municipality under the Municipalities Act of 1858, by such name and with such limits and boundaries as your Excellency shall please to appoint.

No. 3.

F. H. GRUNDY, Esq., to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

119, Elizabeth-street,
Sydney, 25 January, 1860.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit a Petition signed by about eighty-five householders resident within the parish of Willoughby, east of the township of St. Leonard's, North Shore, for the purpose of being laid before His Excellency the Governor General, praying His Excellency to constitute the Rural District in the Petition mentioned, a Municipality under the provisions of the Municipalities Act of 1858.

I have, &c.,

[Enclosure in No. 3.]

To His Excellency SIR W. T. DENISON, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor General in and over all Her Majesty's Colonies of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same, &c., &c.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Householders resident within the Rural District hereinafter described,—

SHEWETH AS FOLLOWS :—

1. It would, in the opinion of your Petitioners, be of essential benefit to the inhabitants of the Rural District lying within the boundaries hereinafter set forth, that the same should be constituted a Municipality, under the Municipalities Act of 1858, by such name as your Excellency shall think fit.

2. The said district is situated in the south-eastern portion of the parish of Willoughby, in the county of Cumberland; commencing at the south-eastern boundary point of the township of St. Leonard's, being the junction of the eastern side of Walker-street with the waters of Port Jackson, and bounded on the south and east by the said waters to Middle Harbour; on the north by the said waters and Middle Harbour; on the west by a line bearing due south to the north-eastern boundary point of the said township of St. Leonard's, and thence along the said eastern boundary of the said township to the point of commencement.

3. The said Rural-District contains five hundred inhabitants and upwards.

4. The stone wharf for steam ferry boats at Milson's Point, in the said Rural District, has been lately extended, and now affords the means of direct communication for traffic from the Circular Quay, Sydney, to Lane Cove, Bradley's Head, Middle Harbour, and the Northern Roads.

Your Petitioners, therefore, humbly pray that your Excellency, with the advice of your Executive Council, will be pleased to declare the said Rural District to be a Municipality accordingly, by the name of "St. Leonard's East," or by such other name as your Excellency shall think fit.

And your Excellency's Petitioners will ever pray, &c.

No. 4.

A. BERRY, Esq., to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

*Lyons' buildings, George-street,
Sydney, 14 February, 1860.*

SIR,

I do myself the honor of sending you herewith, a Petition to His Excellency the Governor General, against the erection of the town of St. Leonard's, with extended boundaries, into a Municipality, containing the names of sixty-five householders and landholders.

These rural lands were alienated by the Government, perhaps twenty or thirty years before the town of St. Leonard's was proclaimed, and were by that proclamation excluded from the boundaries.

Considerably more than twelve months ago—soon after the passing of the Municipal Bill—the Honorable Sir William Burton, who possesses a house and garden in the town of St. Leonard's, associated himself with some half-dozen of the inhabitants of the town, for arranging measures for the incorporation of the nominal parish of Willoughby with the said town—a parish which extends upwards of ten miles from east to west. After this scheme was brought to maturity, Sir William wrote me saying that he hoped that I would support the measure. I immediately replied in the negative, and gave him some of my reasons for so doing; of which reply I annex an extract in the Appendix No. 1.

A Petition was got up against this Municipality, signed by hundreds. The measure was found to be hopeless, and was left in abeyance.

At that time, Mr. Robey and Mr. Bligh, landholders in the parish of Willoughby, were Members of the Legislative Council; and although they had warmly supported the Municipal Bill and all its clauses in its passage through the House, as soon as they discovered how it would affect their individual interests, became the most strenuous opponents of the measure.

Sir William and his associates now changed their tactics, and concocted another measure to incorporate the town with enlarged boundaries; a principal object of which was to render my estate of the Crow's Nest liable to be assessed ad libitum, and at their discretion, for making and repairing the streets of St. Leonard's, and other municipal purposes in which I had no interest.

It is hardly necessary to observe that there is now as rabid a warfare of the lack-landers and their leaders against the landholders of the Colony, as there was in France during the first Revolution, in the days of Murat and Robespierre.

This must eventually prevent capitalists from investing any of their capital in Australia.

I annex a paper containing a few of my ideas on Municipalities—Appendix No. 2.

APPENDIX No. 1.

(Copy of a letter sent to Sir William W. Burton.)

North Shore,
10 November, 1853.

My dear Sir William,

I regret that I cannot support your proposed measure for incorporating the nominal parish of Willoughby with the town of St. Leonard's under the present "Municipal Bill," some of the provisions of which are unequitable—one of them, indeed, is unprecedented, viz., that which authorizes taxation on unoccupied buildings; because rent is as much the mother of taxation as freight is of wages.

Beside these considerations, I object, on principle, to the incorporation of towns with country districts, as the towns will swamp the people of the country, who will become virtually the serfs of the towns. I therefore consider it unfair to induce the country people thus prematurely to enter into the arrangement before they have had time to consider the effects of it.

Add to this, I neither know the boundaries of the nominal parish of Willoughby nor whether it has any fixed boundaries. This much, however, I know, from looking over the printed paper which you sent me, as drawn up by the self-elected Committee,—that most of the objects proposed by those interested parties are such as I have no direct interest in. There are two cases, indeed, in which I may be said to have an interest—first, the road from the "Union Inn" to Gore's boundary; and next, the road from the Crow's Nest to Ryan's; but the first line of road was made originally at my expense, and some years ago I gave the second line of road for the accommodation of the public, without any compensation whatever.

Altogether, it is quite evident that the parties who drew out this prospectus have determined beforehand that I, at any rate, shall be taxed for their advantage, and for purposes in which I have no interest. This compels me to say, that I have already made considerable sacrifices for the benefit of the people of St. Leonard's; amongst which I may enumerate, that I subscribed upwards of £500 to the funds of the first Steam Ferry Company, which formed Blue's Wharf, and made the original road therefrom; and again, I paid £500 to the second, or "Herald" Company, although I have derived no advantage from this large outlay, as I never use Blue's Ferry.

Whilst thus liberal for the purposes of St. Leonard's, I may add that, for any purposes of my own, I have never asked aid from the Government or any one else, and have expended more money on another road from Sydney Harbour (of which, when finished, the public will reap the advantage) than the Government and the whole of the public have expended on Blue's Road; and if, as stated, the Committee have lately expended £325 on this road, derived from voluntary contributions, I have been one of those who contributed to this amount, and have repeatedly contributed to the same purpose, although I never use that road.

Perhaps, therefore, it would now be wise in me to take a solemn pledge never more to make voluntary contributions for any purpose whatever, as, under existing circumstances, I am sure to be victimized; indeed, I have, on more occasions than one, received the most ungracious returns from the Government, for public services.

To conclude: I consider that the proper mode of proceeding would have been for the people of St. Leonard's to have incorporated themselves in the first instance, when, if they proved themselves capable of managing their own affairs, they might, with a better grace, have induced the inhabitants of Willoughby to join them.

At the same time I am aware that I shall be victimized, provided the Committee are able to inveigle and superinduce the poor people of the parish of Willoughby (who are not in the habit of considering these matters); still this is no reason why I should offer myself a voluntary victim, and say to the Committee, "Cut me into minced collops, and come and eat me!"

I remain, &c.,
ALEXR. BERRY.To the Honorable
Sir William W. Burton,
&c., &c., &c.

APPENDIX No. 2.

MUNICIPALITIES were originally dependent Governments—every municipality was virtually an imperium in imperio. When the general Government became more powerful, and better regulated, they were gradually shorn of many of their functions; latterly all that remained was the care of the streets, sewerage, and similar duties. They were then found not to work well, and were reformed and reconstituted; but these reformed municipalities were again found not to work better than the older ones. The reason seems to be, that they were reconstituted upon erroneous principles.

A modern municipality is the virtual incorporation of all the real property within its limits into joint stock property, so far as regards certain specific purposes stated in the charter of incorporation. Thus far they differ in no respect from any other joint stock company. If the municipality borrows money, it is a virtual mortgage on all the property within the municipality, and the mortgagee can deal with the property in the same way as in any other mortgage.

Municipalities are therefore no longer, in reality, political institutions, but are virtually commercial ones. They only seem to differ from any other joint stock company, from their principles not being generally understood. A joint stock company or bank may be fairly taken as the model of a municipality. In a joint stock bank the shareholders only have a voice in the management of the bank. The public at large, or the customers of the bank, have no voice in the management unless they are shareholders. The shareholders appoint the directors, and the directors nominate their chairman. The directors are virtually the aldermen of the corporation, and the chairman is the mayor.

In municipalities, on the contrary, the public at large have the same voice in the management of this joint stock company as the owners of the property, and it may often happen that the owners of the property have no voice whatever in the management; no wonder, therefore, that such institutions have proved failures, or grievously oppressive; dear-bought experience will only enlighten the majority of mankind on these subjects.

The vast British metropolis now occupies an area of upwards of 30,000 acres, and a population of two millions and a half, but the city of London proper only contains an area of 600 acres, with a population of about 130,000. The jurisdiction of the Lord Mayor of London does not extend beyond this limited area; less than a century ago, the greater part of the outside parishes consisted of fields, but the city of London never made any attempt to grab these fields, and tax them for the purpose of making and repairing its streets, &c.; and all the streets of these quondam fields are now managed by Commissioners; and other municipal duties are done by companies, such as for the supply of water and gas.

To

TOWN AND DISTRICT OF ST. LEONARD'S.

To His Excellency Sir W. T. DENISON, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor-General in and over all Her Majesty's Colonies of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same, &c. &c.

We, the undersigned resident householders and land proprietors of the parish of Willoughby, in the Colony of New South Wales, beyond the boundaries of the town of St. Leonard's, having been informed that a Petition to your Excellency, by certain householders of the town of St. Leonard's, in the course of signature, praying that said town may be incorporated with enlarged boundaries, under the provisions of an Act 23 of Victoria No 13, so as to enclose a large quantity of rural lands tributary to said town, for the purpose of making and repairing the streets, &c. We humbly pray that your Excellency will not assent to the incorporation of these enlarged boundaries with said town, as it would be highly unjust and illegal to incorporate the same with said town without your consent as aforesaid.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound will ever pray, &c. &c.

To His Excellency Sir WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor General of New South Wales, &c. &c. &c.

We, the undersigned, being a Committee of householders resident in the township of St. Leonard's and parts adjacent thereto, duly appointed at a public meeting of resident householders, to carry forward a Petition which was adopted at such public meeting and humbly signed, and was recently presented to your Excellency, praying for an extension of the boundaries of the township of St. Leonard's as set forth in that Petition for the purpose of the said township, extended being afterwards erected into a Municipality, respectfully represent to your Excellency, &c. &c. &c.

1. That we observe, by a publication in the Government Gazette of the 16th February 1860 headed "St. Leonard's East Petition" that certain persons, whose names are therein set forth have presented a Petition to your Excellency setting forth that they are householders resident within the Rural District, in the Parish of Willoughby East of the township of St. Leonard's, and praying that your Excellency will be pleased to declare the said Rural District to be a Municipality, by the name of "St. Leonard's East," or by such other name as your Excellency shall think fit.

2. That the boundaries of the proposed Municipality include a portion of the parish of Willoughby, to which your Petitioners, and those whom they represent, have petitioned your Excellency that your Excellency may be pleased to extend the township of St. Leonard's, and would preclude altogether the extension of the township in that direction, and would thus prevent the erection of the township into a Municipality with any possible advantage.

3. That the said Petition sets forth a fallacy, in the following paragraph:—"That the stone wharf for steam ferry boats at Milsom's Point, in the said Rural District, has been lately extended, and now affords the means of direct communication for traffic from the Circular Quay, Sydney, to Lane Cove, Bradley's Head, Middle Harbour, and the Northern Roads"—whereas we assert, and are ready to maintain, that the "means for direct communication for traffic extend only from the Circular Quay, Sydney, to the said stone wharf; that there is no accessible road from the stone wharf to any of the other points named in the said Petition; and that no carts, or carriages have ever passed from the stone wharf to Lane Cove, Bradley's Head, Middle Harbour, or the Northern Roads."

That whilst the said route to those points is inaccessible, carts and carriages in great numbers, and with large traffic, have long been, and are still, in the habit of passing daily to and from the steam ferry at Blue's Point (where also there is a commodious stone wharf) to all the above points.

That the resident householders in the township of St. Leonard's have, during the last two years, expended their funds, and have been assisted by the Government, in repairing this direct communication, and with great success, the chief part of the money having been laid out upon parts of the road not within their township. But their funds have been long exhausted, the roads are again out of repair, and we cannot contemplate the raising funds for their repair by any private subscriptions, as before, of only a few of the residents.

That nearly all the resident householders in and adjacent to the township are equally anxious with ourselves, and those whom we represent, to obtain the benefit of a Municipality, and the only object they had in presenting a Petition for the extension of the township was, that when extended it might be so erected that the whole parish of Willoughby would be greatly benefited, by the repair of the roads through our township, inasmuch as they present the only passable route to other parts of the parish.

That we regard the Petition of the persons whose Petition to your Excellency is erroneously headed "St. Leonard's East Petition," as a contrivance to prevent our township from obtaining a Municipality at all—by closing the township within its present confined limits; whilst the extent of country which these persons pray may be included in their proposed Municipality is so vast and unreasonable, that we do not believe they can be in earnest in desiring it: it would be wholly unmanageable, and is such as we do not believe your Excellency will sanction.

9. But if a Municipality should be established in our neighbourhood, then we take leave, respectfully but firmly, to protest against the assumption by any such Municipality of the name of "St. Leonard's East." There is no part of the district which is sought to be incorporated which goes by that name; no part of it lies within the township of St. Leonard's, and the appropriation of that name would lead to confusion. We do not suppose that the petitioners can be really in need of pirating the name of our township.

10. But we further represent to your Excellency, that not only is there a fallacy in the fact stated of the means of communication between the "stone wharf," at Milsom's Point, and Lanè Cove, &c.,—there is a fallacy also as to the persons signing the Petition: they are not all householders resident within the Rural District sought to be erected into a Municipality, as they pretend to be, that is to say:—

Which names being subtracted from the Petition presented to your Excellency, and published in the Gazette as "St. Leonard's East" Petition, will leave an insufficient number to entitle the Petitioners to your Excellency's consideration.

Lastly, your Excellency cannot fail to observe, on reference to the map or plan of the parish of Willoughby in the public records, how small and inconvenient are the present limits of the township of St. Leonard's, and, on reference to the Petition for extension, how reasonable is the extension prayed for, how properly it may be attached to the township, and how advantageously to the whole community in these parts. We therefore humbly pray that your Excellency will reject the erroneously termed "St. Leonard's East" Petition, and take our Petitions, for extension of the township and for its erection into a Municipality, into consideration; and if disputed, that your Excellency will afford us an opportunity of proving and maintaining the facts we have stated, which we are able to do in every particular, and that your Excellency will do us justice herein.

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL.

Surveyor General's Office,
Sydney, 21 February, 1860.

A PETITION praying the proclamation of a Municipality under the name of "St. Leonard's East," was published in Gazette No. 32, of the 13th instant; and the boundaries prayed for, include the land between the eastern boundary to the town of St. Leonard's and the waters of Port Jackson.

2. This Petition embraces the town of St. Leonard's and certain lands to the east and west of that township; but the boundaries, which appear unobjectionable in respect of the area and the position of the lands embraced, include part of the proposed St. Leonard's East Municipality; and the relative dates of receipt of the Petitions may, therefore, under the Act, have an important influence on the boundary between them.

3. Should it be determined by Government to adopt, arbitrarily, boundaries for the proposed Municipalities, the larger portion of Thrupp's grant should, in my opinion, belong to the St. Leonard's Municipality; and that prayed for as "East St. Leonard's" should not embrace the northern and eastern portions on Middle Harbour and Port Jackson as prayed for, and on which it would probably appear, were the places of residence of the Petitioners ascertained, that few (if any) reside.

MINUTE OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

Proceedings of the Executive Council, on the 19th March, 1860, relative to a proposed extension of the boundaries of the town of St. Leonard's, in connection with the contemplated incorporation of the town.

Minute 60/14.—Confirmed, 26th March, 1860.

His Excellency the Governor General lays before the Council, a Petition signed by certain householders resident in the township of St. Leonard's and its vicinity, representing themselves as desirous of having the said localities declared a Municipality, and praying that the boundaries of the town (which, it is stated, as at present constituted, embrace an area too small and inconvenient for a Municipality) may be extended in the manner set forth in the said Petition, and more particularly described in a map which accompanies it.

Having carefully examined the map, and bearing in mind the objects for which the extension is avowedly sought, the Council are not prepared to advise that the town of St. Leonard's should be extended precisely as prayed; but deeming it desirable that its limits should be enlarged so as to embrace that portion of the main line of road to Lane Cove which lies between the present southern boundary line and the ferry at Billy Blue's Point, they advise that the boundaries be extended accordingly, as set forth in the accompanying description furnished by the Acting Surveyor General; and that the same be notified in the usual manner, for the purposes of the Towns Police Act.

Clerk of the Council.

PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency SIR WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor General in and over all Her Majesty's Colonies of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same, &c., &c., &c.

WHEREAS by an Act of Council passed in the second year of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and numbered two, for regulating the police in certain towns, and for removing and preventing nuisances and obstructions, and for the better alignment of streets therein, it was amongst other things enacted, that whenever the Governor or Acting Governor, for the time being, of New South Wales, should deem it expedient to extend the said Act to any towns in the said Colony, in addition to those specially named therein, it should and might be lawful for the said Governor or Acting Governor for the time being, to declare the same by Proclamation: Now, therefore, I, the Governor, in pursuance of the power and authority vested in me by the said recited Act, do by this my Proclamation hereby direct that the provisions of the said Act, as amended by a certain other Act of Council, passed in the eleventh year of Her said Majesty's Reign, and numbered forty-four, and by a certain other Act of Council, passed in the nineteenth year of Her said Majesty's Reign, and numbered ten, be extended to the township of St. Leonard's, in the Metropolitan Police District, in the county of Cumberland: And whereas by the said first-mentioned Act, passed in the second year of the reign of Her Majesty, and numbered two, it was amongst other things enacted, that upon a description of the boundaries of the said towns being published in the New South Wales Government Gazette, the same should be deemed to be the limits of the said towns respectively, within the meaning of the said Act: Now, therefore, I, the Governor aforesaid, do, with the advice of the Executive Council, hereby direct that the following shall be deemed to be the boundaries of the said township of St. Leonard's, for the purposes of the said Act, that is to say:—

County of Cumberland, parish of Willoughby; commencing on high-water line, on the shore of Hulk or Quibéree Bay, at the south-western corner of J. Milsom's 50 acres, and bounded thence on the east by the west and north boundaries of that land, being Walker-street, northerly, and Berry-street, easterly, to the western boundary of J. Parker's, 20 acres; thence by the west and north boundaries of that land, being Alfred-street, northerly, and M'Laren-street, easterly, to a creek falling to Neutral Bay; thence by that creek, forming part of the west boundary of A. Thrupp's 700 acres grant, upwards, and the western boundary line of that grant, northerly, to Long Bay, Middle Harbour; on the north by high-water line of the waters of that bay, westerly, to the north-east corner of T. H. Lewis' 24 acres; thence on the west by the eastern boundary of that land, southerly, to its south-eastern corner; again on the north by the southern boundaries boundaries of that land and G. A. Bell's 20 acres, being a creek flowing to the Willoughby Falls, and a branch thereof, upwards, to the south-west corner of the last-mentioned land; thence again on the east by the western boundary of G. A. Bell's 20 acres aforesaid, and part of the western boundary of A. M'Arthur's 23 acres, northerly, to the south-eastern corner of A. Park's 8 acres; thence again on the north by the south boundary of that land, westerly, to the east boundary of J. W. Bligh's 5 acres 2 roods; thence by the east and south boundaries of that land, southerly and westerly, to the east boundary of G. Woodcock's 3 acres 3 roods and 30 perches; and thence by the east and south boundaries of that land, southerly and westerly, to the east boundary of J. Mark's 13 acres and 28 perches; again on the west by part of that boundary and the east boundaries of A. Mossman's 34 acres, A. Berry's 20 acres, and J. R. C. Hatfield's 40 acres, being West-street, southerly, to the south-eastern corner of that 40 acres; thence by the south boundary of that land, westerly, to the north-eastern boundary of E. Wolstoncroft's 524 acres grant; thence by part of that boundary, south-easterly, about 7 chains and 50 links to a lane; thence by a line forming the northern side of that lane, and its westerly prolongation to the western side of the Lane Cove Road; thence by the western side of that road, southerly, to Bay Road; thence by the north side of that road, westerly, and the western side of a road forming the eastern boundaries of Barney and Martin's lands, (the latter road being the north-westerly continuation of Isabella-street,) southerly, to the south-east corner of Martin's land; thence by a line forming partly the southern boundary of that land, and the northern boundary of T. Walker's 39 acres grant, westerly, to the north-west corner of that grant; and thence by the western boundary of that grant, southerly, being a creek falling to Berry's Bay; and on the south by high-water line of the waters of Port Jackson, south-easterly and northerly, to the point of commencement.

Given under my Hand and Seal, at Government-House, Sydney, this thirtieth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty, and in the twenty-third year of Her Majesty's Reign.

SIR W. W. BURTON AND OTHERS to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

St. Leonard's,
11 April, 1860.

SIR,

We the undersigned, being resident householders of the township of St. Leonard's and parts adjacent, in the parish of Willoughby, county of Cumberland, and also a Committee duly appointed at a public meeting of the resident householders, whose names are signed to two Petitions lately presented by us to His Excellency the Governor General—the first of the said Petitions praying for the extension of the township of St. Leonard's in manner therein mentioned, and the other of the said Petitions praying that the said township (meaning the said township when so extended) may be declared a Municipality under the Municipalities Act of 1858—respectfully state, that we have observed, in a recent Government Gazette, that His Excellency has been pleased, with the advice of the Executive Council, to extend the western boundary of the said township, so as to include therein the point called "Blue's Point," and also a small piece of land called Walker's thirty-nine acres, but in no otherwise extending the limits of the said township. Under these circumstances, we are compelled to state that the trifling extension so made is altogether insufficient to enable the resident householders to undertake the duties and responsibilities attending our desired incorporation. On behalf, therefore, of ourselves and the other Petitioners, we pray that the decision of His Excellency the Governor General on the Petitions heretofore presented by us, praying that the township of St. Leonard's may be erected into a Municipality, may be stayed, and that in the mean time our Petition for the further extension of the township in the manner prayed for by ourselves and those whom we represent, may be reconsidered.

REPORT OF SURVEYOR GENERAL.

THIS letter may be considered as an objection to the boundaries of the town of St. Leonard's as proclaimed on the 30th March, on the ground that the area embraced is insufficient to support a Municipality. The object sought in determining the boundaries was not, however, to provide for the erection of a Municipality, but to add to the Government town of St. Leonard's such lands as, being now thickly built upon or likely shortly to be so, might with propriety be brought within the provisions of the Towns Police Act, 2 Vict., No. 2.

Considering that land within the boundaries of the Government town could not properly, whether built over or not, be excluded from the Proclamation, it only remained to be considered what adjacent lands were likely to be so; and these, from the proximity of Middle Harbour on the north, could only be on the east, west, or south of the Government town.

On the east of the town, Thrupp's grant of 700 acres, now almost entirely the property of Mr. J. Cooper, extends from Middle Harbour to Port Jackson; and with the exception of a few buildings near Neutral Bay and Shell Cove on portions of the grant which have been sold or leased, and which are entirely of a villa character, there is not, so far as I am aware, above one occupation in this large extent of land; and there could therefore exist no grounds for applying the provision of the Act referred to, to land on the east of St. Leonard's.

On the west of the Government town, the land is principally the property of Mr. Berry, and is not likely to be disposed of or built upon at present; and towards the southern end of the west boundary, the sketch accompanying these papers will shew that all the land sold in small allotments by Mr. Berry, and which is now, or may shortly be, built upon in town form, has been included by the Proclamation; Mr. Berry's residence and grounds, and two adjacent portions of land which include villas, being excluded.

This inclusion of the portion of Mr. Berry's estate which has been sold in allotments to the extent of between twenty and thirty acres, does not seem to have been understood by the writers.

To the south, Walker's and Blue's grants, which have been subdivided, and are being built over to a large extent, have been included.

The only other land, about the inclusion of which in the Proclamation there could have existed a question, is that known as Milsom's Point, and including Ryan's, Milsom's, and Parker's grants, with the small portions between Careening Cove and Neutral Bay.

Although these lands have been built on to a considerable extent, but almost entirely in a villa form, their interests are not identical with those of the inhabitants of St. Leonard's, and the division between them is approximately determined by the traffic by the Milsom's Point and Billy Blue's Point Ferries.

The difference of interests and wishes is very clearly shewn by the Petition for the erection of a Municipality of St. Leonard's East; and concluding, therefore, that Milsom's Point could not with propriety be embraced in St. Leonard's, I could see no boundary so convenient or proper to adopt between them as that of the Government town.

Apart from the application of the provisions of the Towns Police Act, and from the principle that the municipal boundaries of a town should accord with those under that Act, I see no reason, save the opposition of residents (the grounds for which will be for the consideration of Government), to deviate from the opinion expressed in the third paragraph of my Report of the 21st February, now with these papers, as a general determination of boundaries for the two Municipalities, leaving their detail settlement to be made on the adoption of the proposal.

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S REPORT.

ENCLOSED are a description and illustrative * sketch of the Municipal District which it has been proposed to call "Saint Leonard's East," and the boundaries of which accord with the recommendations in my Reports of the 21st February and 26th April last. * Appendix B.

It will be seen that the northern boundary is somewhat irregular, following, as it does, the edge of the table-land, for the indefinite boundary of which a series of right lines have been substituted, with a view, while following generally the natural boundary, to render the precise position definite.

The terminations of the right lines have been marked on the rock, and a reference to the marks has been recorded in this office.

SIR,

I have the honor, on the part of the petitioners for the establishment of a Municipality at St. Leonard's East, North Shore, to ask at what time the Municipality will be proclaimed. We have been waiting patiently since June for the Proclamation, and we are now informed that the matter rests with the Acting Surveyor General; but upon applying to him, he states that the description of the boundaries has been sent to be printed, and we cannot obtain any further information. There is, at present, ample unemployed labour to make the main road from the steamboat ferry at Milsom's Point to the township, but if further delay arises, we fear the labour now available will be away to the Snowy River or other diggings.

MUNICIPALITY OF EAST ST. LEONARD'S.

PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency SIR WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor General in and over all Her Majesty's Colonies of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same, &c., &c., &c.

WHEREAS by an Act of the Parliament of New South Wales, passed in the twenty-second year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for establishing Municipal Institutions," and commonly stiled and cited as "The Municipalities Act of 1858," it was amongst other things enacted, that any city, town, or hamlet, then or thereafter established, or any rural district, might, as therein provided, be constituted a Municipality; and it was by the said Act enacted, that the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, might, on the receipt of a Petition signed by not fewer than fifty householders resident within any such city, town, hamlet, or rural district, praying that the same might be declared a Municipality under the said Act, and stating the number of the inhabitants thereof, cause the substance and prayer of such Petition to be published in the Government Gazette; and unless a Counter-petition, signed by a greater number of householders, resident as aforesaid, should be received by the Colonial Secretary within three months from the date of such publication, the Governor, with the advice aforesaid, might, by Proclamation published in like manner, declare such city, town, or hamlet, or such rural district, to be a Municipality, by a name to be mentioned in such Proclamation, and might also, by the same or any other Proclamation, define the limits and boundaries thereof; and that upon such publication, the Municipality should be constituted accordingly: And whereas a Petition from eighty-one householders resident within the rural district east of the township of St. Leonard's, in the county of Cumberland, in the Colony of New South Wales, praying that the same might be declared a Municipality under the provisions of the said Act, and stating that the number of the inhabitants thereof was five hundred and upwards, was presented to the Governor, the substance and prayer of which Petition were duly published in the Government Gazette, in accordance with the provisions of the said Act: And whereas no Counter-petition was received by the Colonial Secretary within three months from the date of the publication of the Petition for such Municipality: And whereas the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has, in exercise of the powers conferred by the said Act, determined to declare by Proclamation such rural district of East St. Leonard's to be a Municipality, by the name hereinafter mentioned, and to define the limits and boundaries thereof in the manner hereinafter defined: Now, therefore, I, Sir William Thomas Denison, the Governor General and Governor-in-Chief aforesaid, in pursuance of the provisions of the said Act, and with the advice of the Executive Council, do by this my Proclamation, declare that the district hereinafter described and named shall be a Municipality within the meaning of the said Act, and that the limits and boundaries thereof shall be as follows, that is to say:—

MUNICIPALITY OF EAST ST. LEONARD'S.

County of Cumberland, parish of Willoughby; commencing on high-water line of Hulk or Quibéree Bay, at the south-western corner of J. Milsom's 50 acres; and bounded thence on the west by the west and north boundaries of that land, northerly and easterly, to the west boundary of J. Parker's 20 acres; thence by the west and north boundaries of that land, northerly and easterly, to a creek falling to Neutral Bay, and thence by that creek, forming part of the west boundary of A. Thrupp's 700 acres grant, upwards, to a point distant 5 chains south from the intersection of the south side of Falcon-street, town of St. Leonard's, with the west boundary line of A. Thrupp's grant aforesaid; thence on the north by lines through that grant, along the summit of the southern fall of the table-land, bearing south, 4 chains and 50 links, south 24 degrees 10 minutes east, 2 chains and 83 links, south 40 degrees east, 10 chains, south 18 degrees 6 minutes west, 5 chains and 19 links, east 6 degrees south, 12 chains and 18 links, south 13 degrees east, 10 chains and 68 links, north 42 degrees east, 25 chains, south 59 degrees east, 12 chains and 70 links, and east 3 degrees 30 minutes south, 1 chain and 92 links, to a creek falling to Great Sirius Cove, and thence by that creek, downwards, to that cove; on the east and on the south by high-water line of the waters of Port Jackson, southerly and westerly, to the south-western corner of J. Milsom's 50 acres aforesaid.

And I do hereby, with the advice aforesaid, declare and direct that such Municipality shall be called by the name of "The Municipality of East St. Leonard's."

Given under my Hand and the Seal of the Colony, at Government House, Sydney, this seventeenth day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty, and in the twenty-fourth year of Her Majesty's Reign.

SIR,

His Excellency the Governor General, with the advice of the Executive Council, having by a Proclamation dated the 17th instant, and duly published in the Government Gazette, declared the Rural District east of the township of Saint Leonard's, to be a Municipality within the meaning of the Act 22 Victoria, No. 13, to be called the Municipality of East Saint Leonard's,—I am directed to inform you that His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Council, has been pleased to appoint you to be the first Returning Officer of the Municipality.

2. A copy of the Proclamation in which your appointment is notified is transmitted herewith; and you will observe, that the first meeting of the electors is to be held at noon, at such place at Saint Leonard's as may be fixed for the purpose, on Thursday, the 13th September; and I am to request that you will have the goodness to cause the Proclamation to be once published in the nearest local newspaper, as required by the 12th clause of the Act, and give the necessary notice of the place where the meeting of electors will be held.

3. I am at the same time desired to enclose, for your information, a copy of the Municipalities Act, the 12th and following clauses of which prescribe the duties devolving on Returning Officers, and the steps to be taken for the election of Councillors and subsequently of the Chairman of the Council, who, as provided for in the 35th clause, will be the future Returning Officer.

4. You will observe, on reference to the 37th clause of the Municipalities Act, that the election of Auditors must also take place on the day fixed for the election of Councillors.

(REPORT FROM MEDICAL ADVISER TO THE GOVERNMENT, FOR THE YEAR 1864.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

MEDICAL ADVISER TO THE GOVERNMENT to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Parramatta, 23 March, 1865.

SIR,

In accordance with the directions contained in your letter of 10 January, No. 167, I do myself the honor to furnish the Annual Report of the progress of Vaccination during the year 1864, shewing the number of children which have been vaccinated by the Government Vaccinators throughout the Colony, with the age and sex.

2. The number is large, though not quite equal to the year 1863. The total is 11,069, of which 10,696 were successful. The number of male children is 5,639, of female 5,430.

3. In Sydney and the Suburbs 4,790 children have been vaccinated—4,724 successfully. Of the total number, 2,519 were boys, 2,271 were girls. In the Country districts, 6,279 children have been vaccinated—5,972 successfully. Of the total number, 3,120 were boys, 3,159 girls.

4. In the ten years from 1853 to 1862 inclusive, 20,696 children were vaccinated, or an average of 2,069.6 annually. For the years 1863 and 1864, the aggregate of successful vaccinations is 23,666, or an average of 11,833 annually.

5. The year 1863 was a year of alarm, as frequent accounts of the prevalence of small pox in different countries were before the public; but 1864 was a year in which the usual apathy prevailed, and the number would have been much lower, but for the large number vaccinated by Dr. Beamish in Sydney.

6. Of this gentleman's method of proceeding many complaints were made and laid before the Government. They were referred to Dr. Alleyne for investigation, who made a report thereon; with respect to the point which most affects the public interest—the validity of his vaccinations—Dr. Alleyne was of opinion, after examining the arms of many children vaccinated by Dr. Beamish, that the cicatrices looked well, and promised fairly for giving immunity to the children.

7. I have distributed many hundreds of Husband's capillary tubes amongst the Vaccinators, and have reports of their value from many quarters.

8. In 1864, there were sixty-eight Vaccinators, eleven of that number being for Sydney and the Suburbs. All these Sydney gentlemen have made returns of their work—of the Country Vaccinators, only thirty-four have made returns, leaving twenty-three from whom I have heard nothing.

I have, &amp;c.,

R. GREENUP,
Medical Adviser to the Government.

 CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.

---

 REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly, to whom was referred, on the 25th of April last, the "Bill to enable the members of the United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney assembled in Synod to regulate the affairs thereof"—beg leave to report to your Honourable House,—

That they have examined the Witnesses named in the margin* (whose respective evidence will be found appended hereto,) and that, the Preamble having been proved to the satisfaction of your Committee, and verbally amended† by them, they proceeded to consider the several clauses of the Bill, in which it was not deemed necessary to make any amendment.

*Rev. R. L. King,
B.A.
W. Barker, Esq.
Right Rev. F.
Barker, D.D.
Rev. Canon
Allwood.
A. Gordon, Esq.
†Vide Schedule of Amendments.

And your Committee now beg to lay before your Honourable House the Bill, as so amended by them, with the Title altered so as to read thus "A Bill to enable the members of the United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney assembled in Synod to regulate the temporal affairs thereof."

*Legislative Assembly Chamber,

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.

TUESDAY, 2 MAY, 1865.

Present:—

| MR. BURDEKIN, |  | MR. COWPER,  |
| MR. BYRNES,   |  | MR. MORRICE, |
|               |  | MR. OSBORNE. |

THE HON. CHARLES COWPER, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. Barker appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

The Rev. Robert L. King examined:—

1. By Mr. Barker: I believe you were one of the Secretaries of the Church of England Conference, held in the month of February last? I was. Rev. R. L.
King.
2. Do you produce the Minutes of the Conference? I have them here. 2 May, 1865.
3. How was the Conference summoned? The Conference was summoned by letters from the Bishop of Sydney, addressed to the clergy of the diocese, inviting them to call meetings in their parishes, and to conduct the elections of lay representatives, in accordance with the terms of the Bill assented to by the last Conference.
4. Will you state briefly, what was the provision for electing lay representatives—what steps were taken to secure a fair representation of the clergy and laity? Each clergyman was required to summon a meeting of his parishioners, at which meeting two lay representatives were to be chosen. The clergyman was to take the chair at such meeting, but not to be entitled to vote, excepting to give a casting vote when the votes for the different persons proposed were equal. As soon as six persons were assembled, a list of those present was made, and we proceeded to business. Those who were present signed the following declaration:—"I, the undersigned, do declare that I am a member of the United Church of England and Ireland." When that paper had been signed, those persons who had signed the declaration proceeded at once to the election of representatives. If there were less than fifty persons attending, only two representatives were to be chosen; if there were more than fifty, three representatives might be chosen. The Chairman was to take in writing the votes of the qualified persons present, each of whom might give one vote for as many persons as were to be elected; and the Chairman, at the close of the meeting, was to declare the number of votes given for each candidate, and to give to each person elected a certificate of his election.
5. Can you state whether a circular was addressed to every licensed clergyman in the diocese? Yes, I believe to every clergyman having a cure of souls, and to some, indeed, who had a license but not a cure of souls. There were sixty-nine clergymen summoned by the circular.

- Rev. R. L. King.
2 May, 1865.
6. How many attended the conference? I think, on different occasions, all but three or four—I believe four—who were living in distant parts of the Colony, or who were unable, from sickness, to be present.
7. With the exception of four, all those summoned attended? Yes, I believe so.
8. Were all the parishes within the diocese represented by laymen? They were not all represented by laymen; from some parishes there was no return; but all but three of the parishes were represented either by laymen or by the clergyman of the parish. These three were—Carcoar, from which there was no return of lay representatives; Forbes, from which also there was no return; and Wellington, the clergyman at Wellington being very ill and unable to come; but the circular was sent to all.
9. They were all summoned? They were all summoned.
10. And with the exception of three parishes—these being distant parishes—all were represented? They were.
11. Are you able to inform the Committee, how many lay representatives attended the conference? Not exactly. There were 111 names returned in answer to the Bishop's circular, and by far the larger number of those attended. The names were called over on the first day, but not afterwards, it being found that it occupied too much time. The number of those who did not attend was certainly very small indeed. On the first division, seventy voted on one side and fifty-three on the other, including clergymen and laymen; out of 180 members of the conference, there were 123 present.
12. That was in the early part of the sittings? On the first day, very nearly at the beginning. Several more came in later, and several in the evening.
13. The result of the conference was an agreement upon certain fundamental constitutions for the management of the Church? It was.
14. Can you inform the Committee whether those constitutions were unanimously agreed upon, or if there was any difference, what it was? There was no difference whatever expressed. The resolution moved by the Dean of Sydney, and seconded by Mr. Stuart, was unanimously adopted.
15. The resolution adopting the fundamental constitutions? Yes; the minute I have on the subject is—"The motion was then put, and carried unanimously."
16. Will you look at this (handing a printed paper), and inform the Committee whether it is a copy of the fundamental constitutions agreed to and accepted unanimously by the members of the conference? This is a copy. (Handed in. See Appendix.)
17. By the Chairman: How many days was this conference in session or discussion? They met on four days—on Tuesday and Wednesday in one week, and on Wednesday and Thursday in the following week.
18. By Mr. Barker: Was there any agreement by the conference as to the expediency of applying to Parliament for such a Bill as is now before this Committee? The Committee appointed to draw up this Bill was appointed by an almost unanimous vote of the conference; there were certainly two dissentients, but with the exception of these two, the rest of the conference was unanimous.
19. Can you inform the Committee what really was the voice of the conference itself with regard to legislation—There was a resolution moved, I believe,—will you be kind enough to state what that resolution was? On the third day the conference sat, the following resolution was moved:—"That application be made to Parliament for an Act to legalize the "fundamental constitutions and provisions accepted and agreed upon by this conference; and "that a committee be appointed to prepare a Bill for that purpose, and to petition for and "promote the passing of such Bill into law."
20. Was that carried by a very large majority? There were only two dissentients, out of 109 who were present.
21. By the Chairman: Were they clergy or laity? They were two clergymen.
22. No laymen? No laymen.
23. By Mr. Barker: The Bill now before this Committee is the Bill prepared by the Committee appointed by this resolution? Yes.
24. Will you favour the Committee with your own opinion as to the expediency or necessity of applying to Parliament to give effect to the constitutions? The necessity of it I would rather leave to these more learned in the law than myself; I feel quite assured of the expediency of it. I do not see how we are to give any effect whatever to our proceedings, unless we have something tangible to go upon. The fact of previous legislation existing in matters connected with property held by the Church of England, seems to me to make it very expedient indeed—if not more than expedient, absolutely necessary—that some authority should be given us to deal with these matters, before we can deal with them to any good effect.
25. Your own opinion is that the constitution could not be fully carried out without the aid of the Legislature? I feel quite sure of that, so far as I can form any opinion on any matter connected with law.
26. By Mr. Burdekin: What is the difficulty in dealing with a churchwarden or clergyman who misbehaves himself now—Suppose a churchwarden permitted a clergyman to preach doctrines contrary to the Temporalities Act? The difficulty at the present time is that whatever is done must be done by the Bishop of his own motion.
27. There is the machinery —? There is the machinery at present existing—the Bishop himself.
28. If I understand rightly, the object of the Bill is to change the machinery? To enable the Church of England, in some respects, to change the machinery.
29. By Mr. Barker: The Bill gives no additional powers to the Bishop? I think it rather takes away from his present powers.

30. I believe it is considered by the Church generally that it is expedient to allow the clergy and laity to have some voice in the general management of the affairs of the Church? Rev. R. L. King.
Quite so.

31. Is not that one of the primary objects of this Bill? It is.

2 May, 1865.

32. At present the clergy and laity have nothing to do with the general government of the Church, in any form whatever? They have nothing to do with it at present.

33. The government is vested solely and exclusively in the Bishop? Entirely.

34. And in the case of questions of discipline, the Bishop is obliged to act as judge, as jury, and in many cases as prosecutor also? Yes.

35. Is it not considered that it would be more satisfactory if the Bishop were relieved of that position to some extent? I believe that is one of the principal reasons which makes so many wish to have a Synod established; but no alteration can take place unless some legal force is given to the Synod, as I understand the matter; and as it is desired that the clergy and laity should have some voice in these matters, the only way in which the alteration can be made is by an appeal to the Legislature.

36. In point of fact, has not His Lordship sought, in every case that has arisen, to avoid exercising the power vested in himself under the Church Act, by giving the clergyman the opportunity of having the matter determined by assessors? Yes, up to a very late period, when one who was being dealt with in that way refused to submit to it, and appealed to the Supreme Court, to compel the Bishop to act himself on his own authority and without the intervention of any assessors.

37. But in that case the Bishop acted only because he was compelled? Only because he was compelled.

38. Are you aware whether in every case the parties have had the opportunity given them of appearing by counsel or solicitor, if they thought fit, before the Bishop? I am hardly able to answer that question.

39. By Mr. Byrnes: At the meetings for the election of lay representatives to the Conference, was the clergyman of each parish the chairman of the meeting in his own parish? The clergyman of each parish was the chairman of the meeting, according to the provisions laid down in the Bishop's circular.

40. To whom were the voting papers committed? To the clergyman, as chairman of the meeting, and by him to scrutineers appointed at the meeting. I omitted that in my former statement. At least, this was the course adopted at the meeting at which I myself presided.

41. And the scrutineers declared, I suppose, on whom the election had fallen? Yes, to the chairman, and he to the meeting.

42. By the Chairman: I think you alluded to a former conference—when did that take place—has there been one or more previous to this last? Only one.

43. When did that take place? In 1859,* I think.

44. When this same subject was fully discussed by lay representatives and the clergy? Yes.

45. And the same result, I think, was arrived at; that is to say, to ask the Legislature to pass a law dealing with the affairs of the Church? Yes.

46. And nothing has transpired in the interval to shew that any large number either of the clergy or laity are opposed to the measure now before the Committee? No, but rather the contrary, I think; for the final resolutions of the previous conference were only carried by a majority against a rather considerable minority; while on this occasion the resolution agreeing to appeal to the Legislature was carried almost unanimously.

47. So far as you can judge, it is the general desire of the Church, both clergy and laity, that the Legislature should pass this Bill now submitted to the Committee? I believe it is the desire of the Church generally.

William Barker, Esq., Solicitor for the Bill, examined:—

48. By Mr. Burdekin: I wish to understand exactly what is the benefit legally you seek to obtain by the Bill now before the Committee? The advantage that would be obtained would be that the Bishop, the clergy, and lay representatives, might meet together in Synod, and make rules and ordinances for the general regulation and management of the affairs of the Church; and such Synod being assembled under the authority of an Act of the Colonial Parliament, no question could arise as to its legality or its right to represent the Church within the diocese, and it would be enabled to carry out these constitutions mentioned in the Preamble of the Bill, which it is legally impossible for it fully to carry out without an Act of Parliament.

W. Barker,
Esq.

2 May, 1865.

49. You do not intend to ask for an amendment of the Church Temporalities Act? Not by this Bill. No doubt, when the Synod comes into existence, it will be its duty carefully to consider all existing laws affecting the Church, and to ask either for the total repeal of the Church Temporalities Act, or for such amendment as may be required.

50. In point of fact, if you get this Bill through, and the Legislature refuses to amend the Church Temporalities Act, all the property the Church now holds will be without the cognizance of the Synod? Except in so far as the Synod will be authorized to call persons to account in due course of law, and to prevent breaches of trust.

51. The Synod would have no power to alter the Church Temporalities Act? No; the second clause of the Bill provides that no rule or ordinance shall be made in contravention of any existing law; and the twenty-third clause of the constitutions shews that no such power was contemplated by the conference. The eighth clause of the constitution contains this

* Revised:—November and December, 1858.

W. Barker, Esq.

this provision:—"The Synod may call upon any person holding property belonging to the Church in the diocese, or in any parish thereof, or in which the Church or any such parish is in any manner interested, to render a full account of all such property, and of the manner in which the same and every part thereof is applied and disposed of." So that the Synod, although it would not have the control of the property, would have a sufficient power to interfere to prevent any misappropriation or breach of trust. It is a matter still of very great doubt, whether it is legal for the Bishop to summon a Synod without the authority of Parliament. I believe the case of the Bishop of Cape Town and the Reverend Mr. Long, reported in the 9th volume of the Jurist, (new series), is greatly misunderstood, and has been frequently misrepresented. I consider that that case is not an authority in favour of the position that the Bishop may summon a Synod, and that such Synod may make such laws or ordinances as may appear expedient for the general welfare of the Church; but on the contrary, I regard it as a strong authority to shew that the Bishop has no such power, and that the rules and ordinances that might be made by any such Synod could not be enforced. For the Privy Council, in that case, I believe expressly decided that, in so far as the Synod summoned by him assumed to exercise the functions of a Synod, their acts were illegal and could not be enforced. The facts out of which that case arose may be briefly stated as follows:—The Reverend William Long was a licensed clergyman in the Diocese of Cape Town, and had taken the usual oaths prescribed by the laws and usages in force in England, and amongst others, the oath of canonical obedience to the Bishop by whom he had been ordained priest. In the year 1856, the Bishop being of opinion that for the purpose of settling some scheme of church government which should be binding upon the religious community of which he was the head, thought it desirable to convene a Synod, consisting partly of clergy and partly of laymen, members of the Church within his diocese. In November of the same year, the Bishop issued a pastoral letter in which he stated his reasons for thinking it expedient to establish a Synod, and declared of what persons the Synod should be composed. There were to be, firstly, lay delegates, to be elected in the different parishes; and secondly, duly licensed clergy in priests' orders. Mr. Long was summoned by the Bishop to attend the Synod to be held on the 21st January, 1857, and he was required to give notice of the intended meeting, and to take the necessary steps for electing delegates. Mr. Long and his parishioners were opposed to the measure, and they refused to take any step in the matter, nor would Mr. Long attend the Synod himself. The Synod was held (but without any express sanction of the Crown, and without any attempt being made to obtain the assistance of the Legislature to carry into effect its objects), and certain Acts and Constitutions were passed. In 1860, the Bishop convened another Synod, to be held in January, 1861, and again summoned Mr. Long to attend, and at the same time sent to him a copy of the regulations adopted by the previous Synod for the election of deputies. Mr. Long was of opinion that the convening of this Synod, without the authority of the Crown or of the local Legislature, was an unlawful act on the part of the Bishop—that the Synod itself was illegal and its acts of no validity; and he declined to take any steps for calling the meeting for election, or to attend the Synod himself. The result was, that Mr. Long was cited to appear before the Bishop to answer for his disobedience; and after various proceedings, he was finally deprived of his charge and of the emoluments belonging to the same. Mr. Long and the churchwardens of his church sought relief from the Supreme Court of the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope against the judgment of the Bishop, but the result of these proceedings was a decision in all material points in favour of the Bishop. Mr. Long afterwards appealed to the Privy Council, and the decision of that supreme tribunal was "that the order of suspension issued by the Bishop was one that was not justified by the conduct of Mr. Long, and that the subsequent sentence of deprivation, founded upon his disobedience to the order of suspension, must fall with it." Lord Kingsdown, in delivering judgment for their Lordships, said "It is admitted that Diocesan Synods, whether lawful or not, unless with the license of the Crown, have not been in use in England for above two centuries; and Mr. Long, in recognizing the authority of the Bishop, cannot be held to have acknowledged a right on his part to convene one, and to require his clergy to attend to it. But it is a mistake to treat the assembly convened by the Bishop as a Synod at all. It was a meeting of certain persons, both clergy and laity, either selected by the Bishop or to be elected by such persons and in such manner as he had prescribed, and it was a meeting convened, not for the purpose of taking counsel and advising together what might be best for the general good of the society, but for the purpose of agreeing upon certain rules, and establishing, in fact, certain laws, by which all members of the Church of England in the Colony, whether they assented to them or not, should be bound. Accordingly, the Synod, which actually did meet, passed various acts and constitutions purporting, without the consent either of the Crown or of the Colonial Legislature, to bind persons not in any manner subject to its control, and to establish Courts of Justice for some temporal as well as spiritual matters; and in fact, the Synod assumed powers which only the Legislature could possess. There can be no doubt that such acts were illegal. Now, Mr. Long was required to give effect, as far as he could, to the constitution of this body, and to take steps, ordered by that body, for convening one of a similar nature. He was furnished with a copy of the acts and constitution of the last Synod, and he was requested to attend carefully to the enclosed printed regulations with regard to the election of delegates. He clearly, therefore, was required to do more than give notice of a meeting, and he could not give the notice at all without himself fixing the time and place at which the meeting was to be held. He was required to do various acts of a formal character for the purpose of calling into existence a body which he had always refused to recognize, and which he was not bound by any law or duty to acknowledge. The oath of canonical obedience does not mean that the clergyman

"clergyman will obey all the commands of the Bishop, against which there is no law, but he will obey all such commands as the Bishop, by law, is authorized to impose; and even if the meaning of the rubric, referred to by the Bishop in his case, were such as he contends for—which we think that it is not—it would not apply to the present case in which more was required from Mr. Long than merely to publish a notice." It appears to me that this case has clearly decided that the clergymen within the diocese were under no obligation to become members of such a Synod, nor were they bound in any way by its decrees; and therefore, that Mr. Long was justified in refusing to summon a meeting for the election of representatives, and in refusing obedience to the summons of the Bishop and the decrees of that Synod; and that clergymen might disregard every ordinance of the Synod, and still be entitled to retain their churches, parsonages, and other emoluments.

W. Barker.
Esq.

2 May, 1865.

52. In point of fact, is the word "Synod" a word that has any legal meaning in this country? It has a well known ecclesiastical meaning, but of course it cannot have any legal local signification here, simply because the ecclesiastical laws of England are not recognized and do not apply. A Diocesan Synod is understood to be an assembly of the Bishop and his presbyters, to put in execution Canons made by Provincial Synods, and to agree upon rules of discipline for themselves.

53. Any other phrase might as well be used as "Synod"? No, because it is well known that the word "Synod" has a sufficiently definite meaning to have it understood what are the functions of such a body, as I have already mentioned.

54. Would not this first clause be exactly as good if the word Synod were omitted? There is no necessity for the word in that clause; and if there were any objection to it, it might be changed or omitted, for the constitutions clearly shew what is intended. It has been decided by the Privy Council, in the case of the Bishop of Cape Town, to which I have already referred, that although the Bishop summoned, without the authority of the Crown or of the Local Parliament, what he called a Synod, it was not a Synod at all. Here it is in so many words:—"But it is a mistake to treat the assembly convened by the Bishop as a Synod at all." And therefore the calling a particular body by the name of Synod will not make it a Synod.

55. The conference, by that Bill, only wish to regulate the temporal affairs of the Church? That will be the only practical operation of this Bill; it can have no effect otherwise. There are no punishments—no penalties of any kind provided, except in so far as are mentioned in the 19th and 20th sections of the constitutions; and it is merely to affect the office-bearers of the Church as provided by the first clause. The doctrine and discipline of the Church are involved only in so far as these are inseparably connected with the right to the occupation of church property, and in this respect the present Temporalities Act goes quite as far. Indeed in this respect there is no material alteration that I can see, if any.

56. But at the present time it will not affect any office-bearers, because the Church has no property out of the Temporalities Act. I cannot see that it will affect anybody, if the Bill is passed, and the church Temporalities Act remains unrepealed—if the Church has no property except what it holds under that Act? There is I believe a great deal of property in which the Church is interested that is not held under that Act.

57. I thought all the Government grants had been given under the Temporalities Act? The grants are expressly made subject to the Temporalities Act and the General Church Act; but I believe there is a great deal of land which has been given by private individuals as sites for churches and for other church purposes.

58. By the Chairman: There is, I believe, no power contemplated by this Act that has not been already conferred on the Wesleyans, the Congregationalists, and the Baptists, by the Legislature? None whatever. The Colonial Statute, 2 Vict., No. 7, enables the Wesleyan Methodists, Independents, and Baptists, to provide as fully for all matters affecting the general management of the affairs of their respective Churches as they can possibly desire, and certainly as fully as the members of the Church of England would desire for their Church. None of the Churches require or would seek for authority from the State for the internal government or management of the affairs of the Church. The aid of the Legislature is required only in so far as is necessary to protect the property, and to prevent its being used for purposes different from that originally contemplated, and against the rules of the particular body. The Wesleyan Model Deed recorded under the Act to which I have referred, provides minutely for everything affecting the doctrines and discipline of the Church, and under this Act they were enabled to bring all their property under the provisions of this deed, which is as binding under the Act as if it had been made a Schedule to it. If a similar Act were passed for the Church of England, and all the church property were brought under the provisions of a similar model deed, made applicable to the constitution of the Church of England, and the Synod now contemplated were put in the place of the Wesleyan Conference, the Church of England would not require, I believe, to ask any further assistance from the Legislature. The Presbyterian Church, under the 8th Wm. IV, No. 7, and 4 Vict., No. 18, has all the aid from the Legislature, that the Church could possibly desire or would accept; for by the 1st clause of the 4th Vict., No. 18, the Colonial Legislature has inseparably connected the right to possess their church property with the doctrines of the Confession of Faith and the other standards and formularies of the Established Church of Scotland. These standards may be taken to be the model deed, or deed of settlement of that Church; and what the members of the Church of England now seek is to be placed in a similar position. The Synod contemplated by the Church of England, would assume no greater powers than are exercised by the Synod of the Presbyterian Church.

59. By Mr. Burdakin: What was the objection on the part of the conference to asking for the repeal of the Temporalities Act, and making the Synod when assembled an authoritative body to regulate all the affairs of the Church? Because, that in itself is a large question, and

W. Barker,
Esq.

and requires a great deal of consideration before the Church could come to Parliament prepared to say what amendments in the Church Temporalities Act were deemed most expedient; and it is thought that it would be more conducive to the interests of the Church, and altogether more becoming, that such an application should be made by the Synod, when it had been determined, after discussion and due deliberation, what alterations are required for the general welfare of the Church.

The Right Reverend Frederic Barker, D.D., Lord Bishop of Sydney, examined:—

Right Rev.
F. Barker,
D.D.
2 May, 1865.

60. By Mr. Barker: Your Lordship presided at the Conference held in the month of February last? Yes.

61. And the fundamental constitutions that were then unanimously passed by the conference were entirely approved of by your Lordship? They were.

62. Is it your Lordship's opinion, that it is necessary that an Act should be passed by the Legislature, to enable the Church fully to carry out the constitutions that have been approved of? It is. I consider a Synod to be a governing body—governing by representation; and there can be no representation in the Church, which shall enable a Synod, composed of the Bishop, clergy, and representatives, to govern the Church, without the aid of the Legislature. I consider that a voluntary compact of the Bishop, clergy, and laity, would have no real effect; and therefore, I have always stated it as my conviction, that we must apply to the Legislature. We want representation—we want the power of dealing with property. There is considerable property belonging to the Church, which is not under the Church Act—which is not held by trustees appointed under the provisions of the Church Act. There are churches built, that are not built under the provisions contained in the Church Act. We wish also to have power to deal with offences that may arise amongst the clergy, in a more satisfactory manner than we can do at present. I am, by the 20th clause of the Church Act, obliged to take cognizance of clerical offences, to institute the suit, to be (as in one case) the prosecutor, to be the judge, and to pronounce sentence; and I have no power to deviate from that course, unless power be given by the Legislature. There is a very important subject which is not provided for by the Church Act—the disposition of the Church patronage. That will be one of the subjects that will come under discussion by the Synod, and for which, provision would be made. At present, the patronage of the diocese is practically in the hands of the Bishop. I wish to divest myself of a portion of that power—to share it with the clergy and the laity, in the manner that has been accomplished in other dioceses. I have no power to do that under the Church Act—the Church Act takes no cognizance of it. It is also desirable that the limits within which a clergyman should exercise his parochial functions should be clearly defined, and his rights in relation to other clergymen be established; I have no power to do this at present. There are certain districts, which we call parishes, within which the clergyman may exercise his functions, but there is nothing to prevent other clergymen from doing the same; and the clergy require the boundaries of their parishes to be defined. A Synod would do that. There is also another very important matter which a Synod, being legalized, would effect, namely, that its regulations should be obligatory not only upon the Bishop, but upon his successors. On the supposition that we met together by voluntary arrangement, no constitutions which we might frame under such voluntary arrangement would be binding upon my successor. For these reasons, I consider it absolutely necessary to apply to the Legislature.

63. Will your Lordship state to the Committee whether, if this Bill be passed into law, it will have any practical effect beyond the temporalities of the Church? None. I think the proper title of this might have been "A Bill to regulate the temporal affairs of the Church of England." It is quite as much so as the Presbyterian Bill which has recently been passed. The title of that Bill appears to be "to regulate the temporal affairs;" and I consider that our Bill, with its fundamental constitutions attached, is a Bill of precisely the same character as the Presbyterian Church Bill with the articles of Basis of Union attached:—

" Presbyterian Union.—Articles of Basis of Union.

" I. That the designation of the United Church shall be 'The Presbyterian Church of New South Wales;' and that the Supreme Court of the Church shall be designated 'The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of New South Wales.'

" II. That the Word of God, as contained in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, is held by this Church as the supreme and only authoritative rule of faith and practice.

" III. That the Westminster Confession of Faith, the Larger and Shorter Catechisms, the Form of Presbyterian Church Government, the Directory for the Public Worship of God, and the Second Book of Discipline, are the subordinate standards of this Church."

I regard the object we have in view as precisely similar to the object of the Presbyterian Church Bill, except that the Presbyterian Church Bill deals with certain detached bodies of Presbyterians, while our Bill deals with the members of the Church of England. The detached bodies of Presbyterians wish to form themselves into one Synod, and seek the aid of the Legislature to enable them to do this; we, the members of the Church of England, seek to form ourselves into a body called a Synod, and we ask the aid of the Legislature to enable us to do this. The Presbyterian Church Bill has appended to it the Articles of the Basis of Union, defining who the parties are, referring to certain standards of faith, saying who they are who seek this legislative enactment; we, to our Bill, append certain fundamental constitutions, which the whole body of the Church of England in this diocese has unanimously

unanimously agreed to, and thus say who we are who seek this legislative assistance, and what we propose to do.

64. Is it intended to enforce any doctrine or discipline so as to affect the persons or consciences of any members of the Church, apart from the temporalities? Certainly not.

65. Perhaps your Lordship would be kind enough to point out what would be the practical working of the Bill in that respect? In the second part of the first clause it is said:—
 “And the said constitutions and all rules and ordinances made in conformity therewith shall be binding upon the said Bishop of Sydney and his successors and all other members of the said Church within the said diocese but so far only as the same may concern their respective rights duties and liabilities as holding any office in the said Church within the said diocese.” That would affect trustees and churchwardens—trustees who have property committed to them in trust, and churchwardens who have the management of church funds. It would affect them only in respect to the property which they hold in trust, and to the funds with the distribution of which they are charged. If they ceased to be trustees or churchwardens, they would in no way be affected by the provisions of this Bill.

66. Does it involve any new obligation on the part of the clergyman—any new subscription beyond what is now required, with regard to articles, liturgy, or formula, or any additional obligation to the Bishop? None. The only additional obligation would be to agree to the regulations which would be framed under the authority of this Bill, and to the framing of which he must himself be a party.

67. If the Church were now altogether without property, would there be any need for the Bill whatever? Certainly there would not be a necessity for such a legislative enactment as this. In dioceses such as New Zealand and South Australia, where they have no Church Act whatever, they have been enabled to meet and carry on their affairs without applying to the Legislature. But even there, difficulties have occurred. The Bishop of South Australia has desired a legislative enactment to make their synodical regulations binding upon his successors, which at present they are not; and in the case of a clergyman who resisted the judgment of the Bishop and the decree (it might be termed) of the Synod, it was necessary to appeal to the Supreme Court, which necessity would have been avoided had they possessed a Bill empowering the Synod to act.

68. If all the Church property in the Colony were vested in trustees upon the trusts for the Church of England, equally as extensive as the provisions contained in the Wesleyan Model Deed, would not that meet all that the members of the Church of England seek for? Undoubtedly it would. I conceive that our application is simply another mode of obtaining the powers which are possessed by the Wesleyan body at the present time.

69. It is your Lordship's opinion that this Bill and the constitutions taken together certainly do not go further than the Wesleyan model deed? Certainly they do not go further, and in some respects they do not go so far.

70. Perhaps your Lordship will state whether, apart from what took place at the conference, your Lordship was enabled to ascertain that it is the general desire of the members of the Church of England in the diocese that a Synod should be formed, as contemplated by the constitutions? The desire is, I may say, universal, and has been increasing, I think, for many years; and it has become so strong in the minds of some of the clergy and the laity, that unless we have such power, I fear that the progress of the Church will be materially hindered—that many of the influential of the clergy and laity feel that they ought to be intrusted with a share in the management of the affairs of the Church; and that the present condition of things is so unsatisfactory—the autocratic position of the Bishop is to them so distasteful—that unless a Synod be established, I feel that my own power of carrying on the work of the Church will be very seriously hindered. It should be understood, I think, by the Committee, that the effect of this Bill will be very materially to diminish the power of the Bishop; that instead of being what he has been described as being—an autocrat, he then becomes a limited governor of the Church, and that his authority is shared by the clergy and by the laity; and that by the further measures that will be carried out under the authority of this Bill, the power of the Bishop will be still more limited. I refer particularly to the question of patronage. I look upon it myself with great satisfaction, as enabling me to divide a responsibility which is very weighty, and which I think ought to be shared by the clergy and laity. I feel that the advantages to the Church will be very great—that additional interest and additional confidence will be called forth; and that under any circumstances—such as the death of the Bishop, a vacancy of the See, or the continued illness of a Bishop—it will then be possible to carry on the affairs of the diocese by means of the Synod.

71. In point of fact, by these constitutions, is there not a relinquishment by the Bishop of as much of his power as he can relinquish consistently with his episcopal office? I think so. The constitution of the Church of England is episcopal, the government of the Church is episcopal; and the effect of this Bill will be to enable the Bishop, without discharging himself from any of his proper functions, to share his responsibilities and his authority with the whole body of the Church; so that it can no longer be said that the Church of England in this diocese means the Bishop; it will, under the authority of this Bill, be the Bishop, the clergy, and the laity.

72. It is not contemplated by the Bill or constitutions to alter in any manner the constitution of the Church? Certainly not.

73. By the Chairman: Your Lordship is Metropolitan of the Australasian Colonies—what Colonies are included in your Lordship's jurisdiction as Metropolitan? All the Australian Colonies—Queensland, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia.

74. I believe your Lordship has, as Metropolitan, visited most of these Colonies? All except Western Australia.

75. In Victoria and Tasmania there are Synods constituted by the Legislature? There are.

76. Can your Lordship state, from your own knowledge or information, whether the working of the Church in these two Colonies, by means of the Synods, is more satisfactory than in New Zealand and South Australia? I can only say that, both in Victoria and in Tasmania, the working of the Synod has been highly satisfactory to all parties. In South Australia the Bishop expresses himself perfectly satisfied with the working of the Synod, but I do not think that opinion is shared by some of the influential of the clergy and laity. Of New Zealand I know nothing; it is not in my province.

77. The circumstances are different there, there having been no previous legislation? None.

78. I see your Lordship, when examined before a Committee of the Legislative Council in May, 1860, on this very point, gave evidence to this effect:—

“19. By Mr. Barker: From what your Lordship has stated, I understand that it is your opinion that any Synod to be formed in the Colony, in order to be effectual, must be established by Act of Parliament? I am very decidedly of that opinion. I am of that opinion because I do not feel that what has taken place elsewhere gives us any encouragement to proceed in any other mode.

“20. Perhaps your Lordship would state why you think voluntary association would not be sufficient? I think so, because it would only be obligatory on the Bishop and clergy so long as they chose to abide by the terms of it. It would not bind the successor of the Bishop, and it would not bind a person who was not a conscientious man; that is, a clergyman finding that it would be to his interest to withdraw from such a voluntary compact, and should he choose to do so, there would be no power of restraining him, or of punishing him for doing so. That would also be the case with parishes. Parishes might refuse to join, and there would be no remedy against them. We should only have authority over them so far as they chose to submit to it and bring themselves within the terms of it. A case in point has arisen in the Diocese of Adelaide, which I may mention to the Committee:—A clergyman, for an ecclesiastical offence, has been suspended by his diocesan, and his license withdrawn. The proceedings of the Bishop have been confirmed by the Synod, and the clergyman is in this position—that he is, ipso facto, excommunicated by his diocesan; his brother clergy and the laity of the Synod, in possession of the Bishop, but he retains the temporalities in spite of them. He is in possession of the best endowed church in the Diocese of Adelaide, and considerable portions of the endowments have been expended in vain attempts to dispossess him. He signed the voluntary compact, but he excuses himself for refusing now to submit to the arrangement then made, and there is no power to punish him for so doing. That, I conceive, might be the case here under the same circumstances.

“21. So that the evil arising from voluntary association would be, that there would be no power to enforce their ordinances against clergymen or office-bearers who refused to recognize their authority, or who withdrew from the Synod? None; and the practical effect would be, probably, to split up the Church into a number of independent communities.”

Are these your Lordship's sentiments now, or have you seen any reason to alter them? None, except that, as to a point of fact, the clergyman had not signed the voluntary compact.

79. Your Lordship is then clearly of opinion that these constitutions cannot be fully carried into effect without the aid of the Legislature? I am.

80. By Mr. Burdekin: Supposing land had been granted to the church by private individuals, or has been obtained by purchase, and is not under the Church Act, in what way does your Lordship see that the trusts are carried out? It would be very difficult for me to deal with trustees, or so-called churchwardens, where the church had been built upon land not granted by the Crown, or not under the operation of the Church Act; and I conceive one effect of this Bill would be, to enable us to deal with property and with churches not at present under the Church Act.

81. What clause in the constitutions, or in the Bill, would enable any trust in any way to be varied, or any power to be taken from the trustees of any church where the land is held by trustees? Under the third clause “The Synod may make ordinances upon and in respect of all matters and things concerning the order and good government of the United Church of England and Ireland and the regulation of its affairs within the diocese including the management and disposal of all church property moneys and revenues (not diverting any specifically appropriated or the subject of any specific trust nor interfering with any vested rights)” &c., &c.

82. You understood your Lordship to say, that if the Government were to grant all the church property in a similar way to the Wesleyan model deed, all the purposes of this legislation would be effected? I think it might be possible to frame a deed similar to the Wesleyan trust deed, under which these properties might be managed, but I conceive that, having regard to previous legislation, that would be a matter of extreme difficulty, and that the more simple mode is the one which we have at present adopted, and by which, when assembled in Synod, we shall be enabled to discuss what alterations are required in the existing Church Act, and to come to the Legislature perhaps two or three years hence, and ask for the repeal of the Church Act. That is the course which was taken in Melbourne. There, the Synod met under legislative sanction without repealing the Church Act, and discussed in Synod what was desirable in order to the proper management of the affairs of the Church; and when they had made all their own arrangements in Synod, they then came to the Legislature and said—We ask you to repeal the Church Act. But for us now to go to the Legislature and say, repeal the Church Act, would be to leave us without law. For us to wait until we had agreed amongst ourselves what changes should take place, would be, I think, indefinitely to postpone the Synod. I do not believe it would be possible to induce gentlemen to come together and discuss the very grave matter of the repeal of the Church Act, with proper deliberation, on any other basis than that which we seek, that is, legislative enactment.

83. It was objected in the House, that as the constitutions will be part of the Bill—for the Bill refers to the constitutions, and it will be necessary for the members of the Church in all elections of representatives to follow the terms of the constitutions—Many members of the House objected to clause 18 of the constitutions:—"Each Representative shall before taking part in or voting at the Synod sign and deliver to a President the following declaration—'I the undersigned A.B. do declare that I am a communicant of the United Church of England and Ireland.'"—They objected to that, on the ground that it was something in the nature of a test—Is there any value whatever in having that clause in the Bill—Could it not be safely left to the parish meeting, as under the tenth clause, each person being required to declare that he is a member of the Church—Cannot the members of the Church be trusted sufficiently to choose persons in whom they have confidence, without requiring a further test as to their being bonâ fide members of the Church? That was a matter very gravely and deliberately discussed at our previous conference; and I think the feeling was nearly unanimous, that in order to obtain a representative of the Church in the Synod, we ought to have a person who, from his known attachment to the Church, and from the piety and consistency of his life, would be a suitable representative; and that the only proper test (if we may use such a term) to apply in the case would be the one provided by the Church itself, which requires that every member of the Church shall communicate at least three times in the year. And I may further say, I know no case of a Synod in any of the Colonies being established upon any other basis than this, namely, that the representatives of the Church in the Synod shall be communicants.

84. Will your Lordship state to the Committee, whether the constitutions of other Churches contain any provision similar to this—the Presbyterian, Wesleyan, or other bodies—as evidence of the bonâ fide character of the representative? I am unable to answer that question. I believe no deacon in the Independent denomination would be elected unless he were a communicant.

THE HON. CHARLES COWPER, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

W. Barker, Esq., appeared as Solicitor for the promoters of the Bill.

The Rev. Canon Robert Allwood called in and examined:—

85. By Mr. Barker: I believe you attended the Conference in the month of February last? I did.

86. And were present at all the proceedings? I was present at all the proceedings throughout.

87. Did you take any part in preparing the constitutions that were adopted at that Conference? I was a member of the committee appointed by the Conference, and took part in framing the constitution.

88. The constitutions mentioned in the preamble of the Bill now before the Committee—can you say whether they were or were not unanimously adopted? They were unanimously adopted, without a dissentient voice.

89. Are you able to inform the Committee, from your experience and observation, and frequent communication with members of the Church, both laymen and clergymen, whether it is generally considered that it is expedient for the interests of the Church, that a Synod should be formed, consisting, as set forth, of clergymen and lay members? I believe it is the general if not the universal opinion of the Church, that a Synod ought to be formed consisting of the Bishop, clergy, and laity of the Church of England.

90. Is it your opinion that it is necessary, or if not absolutely necessary, that it is expedient that an Act should be passed by the Legislature, to enable the Church efficiently to carry out the constitution? I think it is extremely desirable and expedient that such an Act should be passed—I might almost say that I think it is necessary. I think it is necessary to the good government of the Church that it should be passed, for I think unless such an Act were passed, there are many members of the Church of England, both clerical and lay, that would feel some difficulty in attending a meeting of the members of the Church called in any other way.

91. Doubts are still very considerably entertained whether a Synod assembling without the authority of such an Act as this, would be able to enforce their decrees in any way? I have very great doubts in my own mind whether they could do so. I think it would be rather a talking than a working Synod. A great deal might be said but very little might be done.

92. If a Synod were formed without the sanction of the Legislature, would there be any obligation upon any clergyman or other member of the Church to take part in the proceedings? I cannot conceive any legal obligation. I presume the clergy would, in courtesy to their Bishop, attend any meeting that he called, but still we should not feel ourselves legally bound to do so.

Rev. Canon
R. Allwood.
4 May, 1865.

- Rev. Canon R. Allwood. 93. You would do so only in courtesy to the Bishop? Yes, in courtesy to him.
- 4 May, 1865. 94. Is it sought to affect the members of the Church by this Bill and constitutions further than as respects the property of the Church practically? It affects the office-bearers of the Church.
95. Would it affect them further than in so far as they are connected with property—for instance, are not doctrine and discipline necessarily linked with the possession of property; and the decrees of the Synod in so far as they dealt with office-bearers would be to deprive them of the property if they violated the constitution? That I presume to be the only object of it, just as in a joint stock company the officers would be bound by the rules of the company, and if they transgressed them they would be removed from their office.
96. Will you inform the Committee whether, in your opinion, these constitutions would impose any new burden or obligation upon clergymen further than they have at present or upon any other office-bearers of the Church? On the contrary, I think it would be extremely satisfactory to the Church at large; and so far from imposing a burden upon them, it would invest the clergy and laity with a responsibility which they ought to have, but which they have not at present.
97. It does not involve any additional subscription by the Church? Not any.
98. The 7th clause prohibits, does it not, any interference with the articles, liturgy, or formularies of the Church? Yes.
99. And all that is contemplated by the Act is to enable the Church more efficiently to manage and regulate their own affairs? That I look upon as our sole object in meeting together in Synod.
100. Is it your opinion that, taking the Act and Constitutions together, that they can possibly have any greater effect? I can conceive no other effect that they would have.
101. By the Chairman: Was there much discussion in the Conference? On what point?
102. As to the propriety of asking the Legislature for this Bill? Yes, there was a good deal of discussion.
103. It lasted more than one day, did it not? Not the discussion on that point, as to whether we should ask the Legislature or not.
104. The Conference was continued during two or three days? In the first instance I introduced a Bill with the sanction of the Bishop himself, which Bill was withdrawn in consequence of the opposition that was made to it. The Bill might, perhaps, have been carried by the majority; but seeing that the Conference were divided with regard to it, I relinquished the Bill, for I saw no use in coming before Parliament unless we came as a united body.
105. What was the difference between your Bill and this? The great difference seems to be this—that I introduced a simply enabling Bill, asking the Legislature to sanction our meeting in Synod; and after we had got the sanction we should then have drawn up the constitutions. The converse was taken, the constitutions were first drawn up, and we now ask the Legislature for an enabling Bill.
106. After a rather extended discussion, was it not rather a matter of considerable doubt whether it was necessary even to pass a Bill to give the power to the Church to meet at all? Yes, there was an opinion expressed by the minority to that effect.
107. Therefore the shape in which it is now presented carries the matter a stage further, by the Church having agreed first to a constitution, or articles upon which they will afterwards carry out its affairs? Yes.
108. That is the chief difference between your Bill and this? Yes, my Bill did not contemplate any constitution being laid before Parliament; it was merely an enabling Bill, to sanction the Church of England meeting together in Synod. It was considered a wiser and better course, which I concurred in, and I hope it will prove so, to adopt constitutions and append them to an enabling Bill.
109. You look upon this more as a deed of settlement to the Act of Incorporation of a Bank? Yes, I do; precisely in that point of view, any trading company or bank could draw up rules and regulations, which they think most desirable for their own government, and put them before the Legislature in all honesty, to assure them that they do not interfere with the rights and privileges of anybody. We merely put these constitutions before the Legislature, to shew the rules and regulations by which we intend to be guided as a Church, and which cannot affect any but ourselves.
110. Do you consider that this Bill has reference to anything besides the temporal affairs of the Church? None.
111. Are you aware of the legislation at present on the Statute Book in reference to the various sections of the Church without the Church of England? I am not perfectly.
112. Do you consider that any powers are asked for by the constitutions and Bill now before the Committee, beyond what have been asked for and conferred upon the Presbyterians, Wesleyans, Independents, and Baptists? I do not; I do not think we ask for any more power. I should be sorry to ask for any more than have been given to other religious denominations.
113. It has been stated that, if an Act were passed to repeal the Church Temporalities Act, this would be all that the Church would need? I do not think so. I think that such a course ought not to be adopted without grave consideration—that if hastily adopted, it would be followed by unforeseen and serious consequences. I think the wiser course would be for the members of the Church to form themselves into a Synod, and then to take into consideration the Church Temporalities Act.
114. And then ask for a repeal of it? Yes, or for such amendment as may be necessary.
115. With regard to the second division of the preamble—"Whereas such constitutions cannot be fully carried into effect without the aid of the Legislature"—is it your deliberate opinion opinion that such is the case? It is. I do not think that they can possibly be carried out without the consent of the Legislature. I do not see anything binding in them without legislative enactment. I think the Church of England might be called together in conference, or by whatever name such meeting might be called, and talk over these matters, but, in my opinion, our conclusions would not be binding without legislative sanction.

Rev. Canon
R. Allwood.

4 May, 1865.

116. By Mr. Tighe: You said just now that these constitutions were adopted by the unanimous consent of the meeting? Yes.

117. Do you know whether the meeting was under the impression that they could not meet in Synod, without legislation, in consequence of some present Act preventing them? No; the meeting was not under this impression.

118. Was not that the impression? A large proportion of the meeting—I will not say a large proportion—but a great many members, gave expression to this opinion, but that was not the impression of the majority.

119. It was the impression of many? Yes, and they stated their objections.

120. If it should so happen that such legal disability was found not to be really in existence, could it then be presumed that this was the unanimous wish of the whole meeting? I do not see how that follows at all. I think the whole meeting expressed their sanction to these constitutions, some of the members of that meeting having the opinion you state, and others not having it.

121. I did not mean with regard to the constitutions, but with reference to the necessity for legislation upon it; supposing the meeting had not that opinion that legislation was necessary, would many of them have rather been without any legislation at all than have applied for it, if they did not think it was absolutely necessary in consequence of this ancient Act preventing them from meeting, and that it was through having that opinion that unanimity was brought about? I do not think that unanimity was brought about by that opinion at all; as to the necessity of the case, I did not myself feel it was necessary, but I thought it highly expedient, and I think that this was probably the opinion of a large majority.

122. By the Chairman: You mean to declare the law upon that particular point? Yes.

123. By Mr. Tighe: You say it was unanimously desired that this Bill should be applied for? No; these constitutions were passed unanimously—that was the question; the Bill was not passed unanimously, there were two dissentients.

124. Have you reason to believe, if many were there who considered that a Bill was not necessary in consequence of this ancient law—do you think, in that case, the Bill would have been passed by so large a majority as it was? I think it would; I do not think their private opinion would have weighed with them much against the expressed opinion of the great majority.

125. Supposing this Bill to be necessary, do you think it is good to confine it merely to one diocese of the colony? We have nothing to do with the other dioceses.

126. Are not the other dioceses under the care of the Bishop of Sydney? Only so far as he is the Metropolitan. This is a mere diocesan Bill, applicable merely to this diocese of Sydney. This will not affect the other dioceses in any way.

127. Supposing it were necessary for Sydney, do you not think the same reasons which make it necessary for Sydney make it necessary for the rest of the Colony, for the good of the Church? I think it desirable that the other dioceses should unite, but that is a matter for their consideration; we are only asking for legislation for ourselves.

128. Has the Bishop of Sydney as Metropolitan, any control over other dioceses, in so far as they relate to diocesan affairs? He has not, and therefore, had no power to make such an application.

129. Does this Bill propose to give authority to the Synod to make further ordinances or rules than are contained in this? By the third clause, "The Synod may make ordinances upon and in respect of all matters and things concerning the order and good government of the United Church of England and Ireland, and the regulation of its affairs within the diocese," including management and disposal of Church property, election of Church wardens, and so forth.

130. By Mr. White: Are you aware that a conference of the clergy and laity of the diocese of Newcastle took place about the same time as the Sydney conference? I am aware of it.

131. Are you aware of the result of that conference? No. I have only read a short summary of it in the papers, and really, I could not clearly understand what was the result, or what was to be done. I only judge from it, that they declined to adopt the Bill which I introduced into our own conference.

132. The Bishop of Newcastle does not concur with the proposal now made? So I have understood, but you will bear in mind, that this applies merely to the diocese of Sydney; we do not interfere with the Bishop of Newcastle's diocese in any way.

133. May not the result be, that the diocese of Newcastle might ask for a Bill, and a different constitution from this, and the Bishop of Goulburn the same? It is possible that that might be the case; of course I cannot say whether they would or would not, I believe the Bishop of Goulburn has expressed his perfect satisfaction. His is a small missionary diocese at present, and it is not likely that for the next two or three years, there will be a sufficient number of clergy there to meet in conference.

134. Do you not think it would be more desirable that the several dioceses should unite in some one measure that would apply to all? That would be more desirable if it could be done.

135. Has the proposition been made to these other dioceses to join in a general measure? The two conferences meeting at the same time, it was hoped they would result in taking one view of the subject.

136. But they did not? We were disappointed in finding in Newcastle they had not.

Rev. Canon
R. Allwood.

4 May, 1865.

137. By Mr. Parkes: Have any difficulties arisen in promoting the religious progress of the Church of England, which can be practically stated to the Committee, which would be remedied by this Bill? I think there is a great difficulty in the circumstance of the Bishop having what is considered by many, a kind of autocrat power; I think that would be remedied by this Bill, and the clergy and laity; and the Church of England would have a considerable degree of power in acting conjointly under it with the Bishop. You will observe by the constitutions, the laity will constitute two thirds of the Synod, having a very potential voice in all matters.

138. I do not know that I clearly understand some portions of your evidence. I understood to say that a minority of the conference were of opinion, it was not necessary to obtain an Act of Parliament to give validity to these constitutions? They expressed an opinion to that effect, but they were unanimous in voting at last in favour of going to the Parliament.

139. The vote was unanimous, but still there was a minority when the subject was discussed—who expressed that opinion? But that opinion was considered of so little value, so secondary, that it was given up.

140. Was that opinion held by some of the clergy as well as by the laity? Yes.

141. Will you name any of the clergymen who opposed the intended application to Parliament? I do not think you can call it an opposition on their part.

142. It was merely an expression of opinion? Mr. Stack and Mr. George King, I can name among the clergy.

143. Are you aware of whether any other Church, Roman Catholic, Wesleyan, or Presbyterians, has any authority from the Parliament of the country to do what the Church of England would have power to do under the 19th clause of the constitutions? I am not well acquainted with the working of other denominations, but I imagine that no Church could exist without such a tribunal as is here presumed.

144. The Church of England has existed up to this point? Yes; because the Bishop has it altogether in his own power, and it is to relieve the Bishop of that power, which is a very invidious responsibility, that this clause is proposed.

145. In the case of other Churches, the authority is derived from the head of the Church in every instance, but you propose to have an Act of Parliament to give a Synod of the Church of England very large powers, which are complete powers of government, as embodied in this 19th clause? It is to give them the power exercised by other bodies.

146. Is there any instance within your knowledge of any Church having these powers, by Act of the Colonial Parliament? I suppose the Wesleyans, by their trust deed, have the power of dealing with offenders against discipline.

147. It is not identical with these? It may not be identical. This is only transferring the power at present exercised by the Bishop alone, from the Bishop to the Synod. I would beg to make one observation with regard to this Bill. This is strictly the Bill of the laity of the Church of England, concurred in by the clergy certainly. The first Bill that was introduced which was by myself, with the sanction of the Bishop, may be said to have been a clerical Bill. That was set aside, and this Bill is introduced by the laity, drawn up by the laity, though concurred in fully by the clergy. I think it is well for the Committee to consider both the Bill and the fundamental constitutions in this light—as expressing more particularly the wish of the laity of the Church of England.

148. By Mr. Burdekin: The Bill in the preamble says “Whereas the members of the United Church of England and Ireland”—are you, from your own knowledge, certain that the general body of members have concurred in this? I do not know how we could get at their sentiments in a better way, than by the course taken. The Bishop sent circulars to every parish in the diocese, and the parishioners chose two, and in some cases three, lay delegates, who with the clergy, formed the conference; and when you find that they came to a unanimous vote—for I may almost consider it unanimous, as there were only two dissentients in a meeting of 119 gentlemen—we may look upon it as the unanimous consent of the Church of England.

149. You are not at all aware of any large body of dissent from this, among members of the Church of England? I have not heard a syllable of dissent—I believe there is thorough satisfaction with it.

150. By Mr. Byrnes: The dissentients were two clergymen, I think you stated? I did not state that—but they were two clergymen.

151. Were the parishes of the two clergymen who were dissentients represented by lay members? I do not know; but I presume they were. I am told that the lay representatives of one parish were present.

152. Were the lay members of the one parish favourable? They must have been, for their vote was unanimous, with the exception of two dissentients.

153. And in every case the lay members were supposed to represent the body of members of the Church of England? They were selected by the parishioners, by the pew-holders, and renters of sittings.

154. By Mr. Macpherson: Have you any reason to suppose that the other dioceses have any objection to this Bill, on the score that it will interfere with them? I do not see how it is possible they can have; if they read it, they will find that it strictly applies to the Diocese of Sydney.

155. In point of fact, their objection is simply to the adoption of the Bill themselves, and not to the Diocese of Sydney doing so? Yes.

156. By Mr. Burdekin: I understood you to say, in answer to a question put by a member of the Committee, that the Bishop of Newcastle did not concur in what has been done by the Sydney conference, will you be good enough to state whether there is any difference of opinion between the Bishop of Newcastle and the members of the Sydney Conference, as to the expediency

- expediency of establishing a Synod, and of making any application to Parliament for a Bill? No; the Bishop of Newcastle approved of the first Bill that was submitted to the conference.
157. Are you aware of any difference of opinion, excepting upon mere matters of detail under the constitution? I am not aware; I have not seen the minutes of the conference at Newcastle.
158. I understood you to say, in answer to a question by Mr. Parkes, that the Rev. Mr. Stack objected to the application to Parliament for a Bill? Mr. Stack expressed an opinion that he was not favourable to an application to Parliament, but he at last voted in favour of it.
159. Was he a member of the Committee that drew up the fundamental constitutions of this Bill? Yes.
160. And an assenting party to both the Bill and Constitutions? Yes.

Rev. Canon
R. Allwood.
4 May, 1865.

Alexander Gordon, Esq., Barrister at Law, called in and examined:—

161. By Mr. Barker: You were a member of the conference of the clergy, and representatives of the laity, of the Church of England, held in Sydney in the month of February last? I was.
162. Did you attend from day to day at all the proceedings of the conference? Yes, I think I was present at the whole of the proceedings, from the beginning to the end.
163. Certain fundamental constitutions were agreed upon at that conference, as a constitution for the management and regulation of the affairs of the Church in that diocese? Yes.
164. Were these constitutions unanimously agreed upon, or was there any great difference of opinion? They were unanimously agreed upon.
165. Was it considered by the conference expedient, that application should be made to Parliament for an Act to enable them effectually to carry out those constitutions? That was the result of the discussion.
166. Was that unanimously, or by a very large majority? I think there were only two dissentients.
167. Would you be good enough to inform the Committee, whether it will be possible for the church fully to carry out the constitution without the aid of the Legislature—Having regard to the clauses of the constitution—be good enough to direct your attention to the third clause? I apprehend it would not be possible for the Church of England, without the aid of the Legislature, to carry out these constitutions fully, regarding the constitutions as a sort of deed or agreement, entered into by the members of the Church of England, for the regulation of their own affairs.
168. Could the eighth clause be carried out without the aid of the Legislature? No; I think the eighth clause certainly could not be carried out.
169. Supposing a Synod were formed in accordance with these constitutions, and without any Parliamentary sanction, can you state what right any such Synod would have to claim to be the representatives of the Church of England within the diocese? Without Parliamentary sanction a body might meet together under the name of a Synod, but could not assume to represent that section of the public, termed the Church of England. The members of it would only in fact, if I may use such an expression, represent themselves or those who chose to say were represented by them.
170. What right would any number, whether two, three, or five hundred assembled together, have to make laws to bind the majority? They would have no right.
171. Or to determine what number should fairly represent the majority? That would be impossible for them to do.
172. Is there any legal doubt entertained as to the power of the Bishop, clergy, and laity, to meet together to exercise the functions of a Synod, without the authority of Parliament? There is a very great doubt indeed whether the Bishop, or the Bishop and members of the Church of England, can meet together and exercise the functions of a Synod, without the authority of Parliament. I apprehend they could not; there has been no decision, and nothing has taken place that would solve that doubt in favour of their ability to meet.
173. Supposing a Synod were to be formed without the sanction of Parliament, would it be obligatory upon any member of the Church, whether clerical or lay, to become a member of that Synod, or to obey its ordinances? Certainly not. The decision of the Privy Council in the case of the Bishop of Cape Town, determined clearly that it would not. There can be no doubt upon the matter—as a lawyer, I say that.
174. Might not any clergyman or any office-bearer of the church, in possession of church property, disregard all the ordinances of such a Synod, and yet be entitled to keep possession of church property in opposition to the Bishop and Synod? Undoubtedly he could.
175. It has been stated, that the judgment of the Privy Council in the case of the Bishop of Cape Town, decides, that it is quite competent for the Bishop, clergy, and members of the Church of England to meet in Synod, and to make such laws, regulations, and ordinances, as they may think necessary for their own government—Is that a correct representation of the judgment in that case? I hesitate somewhat to answer that, because, it appears to reflect upon the intelligence of any one who would say so, but I should say, it is as incorrect a representation of the judgment as could possibly be made; the decision was precisely the reverse.
176. You understand it to be, that such a Synod would be altogether powerless? Altogether powerless.

A. Gordon,
Esq.
4 May, 1865.

- A. Gordon, Esq.
4 May, 1865.
177. Is there anything in that judgment which authorizes the statement, that the Act of Submission does not apply to clergy within the Colony? I have read the judgment very carefully in order to satisfy myself upon that point, and after giving it the best consideration I can, I have, as a lawyer, arrived at the conclusion that there is nothing in that judgment which absolutely determines that question.
178. In your opinion, does it on that point go farther than to intimate that the members of the Church of England may meet together when and where they please, and talk upon any matter? That is the result of my consideration of that judgment.
179. Was it not decided by that judgment that, in so far as the assembly at Cape Town assumed to exercise the functions of a Synod, their acts were illegal and void? That was the result of the judgment, and to which the Duke of Newcastle gave effect in his Despatch, for he directed the Governor not to recognize the proceedings of the assembly called the Synod till those acts had been repealed.
180. It was your opinion that in order that a Synod might be formed in accordance with the constitutions agreed upon by the Synod—that the Synod should be entitled to be considered as the representative of the Church in the diocese—that an Act should be passed giving force to this constitution? That is my opinion; I think that is the great value of the Act which is sought to be obtained.
181. Is there anything in the Act and constitutions, taken together, that could in any manner affect any other diocese than the diocese of Sydney? I believe not; it was certainly not the intention to affect any other diocese, and I do not believe that any other diocese is affected in any degree whatever.
182. Would the constitutions and the ordinances to be made by the Synod affect any other than office-bearers of the Church. I would direct your attention to the first clause of the Bill? Persons holding office in the church are the only persons who will be affected by the constitutions.
183. It would affect none but office-bearers? None.
184. Would the office-bearers of the Church be connected otherwise than in so far as they were connected with church property? Certainly not; if it can be supposed to have any other effect, that was not the intention of the Bill. It was intended to affect them only so far as their duties as office-bearers were concerned.
185. Is it your opinion, as a lawyer, if the Act were passed, that the Act and constitution taken together, would have any greater effect? None.
186. Practically, is not this a Bill confined to the temporal affairs of the Church? Entirely.
187. And it touches doctrine and discipline only in so far as these are necessarily connected with the description of Church property? It only affects doctrine and discipline where they are connected with property, and where you cannot disconnect the one from the other.
188. That is to say certain persons holding certain doctrines, are entitled to hold certain property? Yes.
189. There have been a variety of objections made to this Bill, respecting which I should be glad if you would favour the Committee with your opinion, as to whether they have any foundation either in the Bill, or in the constitutions.—It has been said to be a most glaring attempt to infringe upon religious freedom—Can you inform the Committee whether it in any manner, either directly or indirectly, affects any other persons than members of the Church of England in the diocese of Sydney? It certainly affects no other persons than members of the Church of England in the diocese of Sydney—As to the general charge of affecting religious freedom, I should like to have some evidence shewing where it does so. I cannot see it.
190. It has been said that this Bill is intended to create an established Church within the Colony; will you state whether there is anything whatever in the Bill and constitution taken together, to justify the statement that it will give any pre-eminence to the Church of England, over any other church? Certainly not; understanding the expression "Established Church" in the sense of Pre-eminent or Dominant Church, I say it does not give any pre-eminence to the Church of England over any other religious body in the Colony.
191. You are acquainted with the legislation already existing, affecting other religious bodies? Yes.
192. Will you inform the Committee whether this Bill and constitution, taken together, would give any power to the Church of England within the diocese of Sydney, other than is already possessed by the Presbyterian Church, and by the Wesleyans, and by the Congregationalists, under existing legislation? I apprehend that this Bill will do for the Church of England what has been already done for Presbyterians, Wesleyans, Independents and Baptists; certainly not more.
193. Will you explain what has been done for these bodies, so that the Committee may understand how you justify the statement? With regard to the Wesleyan body, their constitution, or what I should call their constitution, exists under the Statute, 2 Victoria, No. 7, which gives the same legislative sanction to the model deed of the Wesleyan body that is now sought to be given to the fundamental constitutions which have been agreed upon by members of the Church of England. The model deed of the Wesleyan body may be said to have been agreed upon by the Wesleyan body very much in the same way that the fundamental constitutions have been agreed upon by members of the Church of England; that deed having been so agreed upon by the Wesleyan body as their constitution, the Act 2nd Victoria, No. 7, places the churches, chapels, and other church property of the Wesleyan body under the control of that model deed. That deed, having provided first of all for the existence of what I would call their legislative body or conference—its formation and constitution being recognized by the recitals—it proceeds to point out in the form of a trust who are to be the persons who were to be permitted to preach and officiate in the chapels of the Wesleyans layans; the times and manner of service are prescribed, and there is an express proviso with respect to doctrine—that is, who shall be taught by those who are to enjoy the privilege of ministering in these chapels. The clause is on page 27 of the printed copy of the deed, and is as follows:—“ Provided always that no person or persons whomsoever shall at any time hereafter be permitted to preach or expound God’s holy word or to perform any of the usual acts of religious worship upon the said piece of ground and hereditaments nor in the said chapel or place of religious worship and premises or any of them or any part or parts thereof nor in or upon the appurtenances thereto belonging or any of them or any part or parts thereof who shall maintain promulgate or teach any doctrine or practice contrary to what is contained in certain notes on the New Testament commonly reputed to be the notes of the said John Wesley and in the first four volumes of sermons commonly reputed to be written and published by him.”

A. Gordon,
Esq.

4 May, 1865.

194. Is not the clause you have just read as much directly under parliamentary authority as would be the constitution mentioned in the Bill now before the Committee? Precisely. Any person violating this clause would under this Act of Parliament be liable to the consequences stated in the model deed. He is tied down by the provisions of the model deed.

195. Will you read from the 2nd Victoria, No. 7, the words referring to this deed? Omitting superfluous words, and reading as to the Wesleyan body only. The Act is:—“ Be it therefore enacted that so soon as any chapel or chapel and minister’s dwelling belonging to the aforesaid Society shall be erected the trustees are authorized and required at the request of three or more of the subscribers or of three or more of other members of the Society to convey the trust premises and the lands belonging thereto to trustees to be nominated according to the usages of the Society to hold to the use of the Society upon the trusts stated and set forth in a model deed of the Society to be enrolled in the Supreme Court within two years after the passing of this Act after the same shall have been proved to the satisfaction of the Governor and Executive Council to be a deed recognized and established by the usages of the Society.” And the Act, by another clause, provides for the enrolment of the deed on behalf of the Wesleyans, when presented for that purpose, by the Chairman or Senior Minister of the New South Wales District.

196. In point of fact, the Parliament enabled the Wesleyans to convey their property upon any trusts that they thought fit, the only condition being that it should be plain that such trusts were usual in the Wesleyan body? Yes.

197. And that deed did not even require the approval of the Parliament or of the Government? Not at all; the Parliament does not appear to have taken any trouble about the deed; all they required was that the deed should be the recognized and established deed of the Wesleyan body.

198. Does not that deed minutely provide for all matters of discipline? Yes, I ought to have mentioned before, that, in connection with the time and manner of services to be performed in the chapels, there is a long proviso on page 25 of the deed, respecting preachers, immoral, erroneous in doctrine, or deficient in ability. I will, with the permission of the Committee, read the following portions of it:—“ Provided that if at any time the trustees or if the stewards and leaders of classes of the Society assembling at or belonging to the chapel or the majority of them shall believe that any preacher appointed by the Conference is either immoral erroneous in doctrine or deficient in ability it shall be lawful for the trustees or for the stewards and leaders of classes or a majority of them to summon the preachers of the district in which the chapel is situated and also all the trustees stewards and leaders of the circuit in which the chapel is situated to meet in the chapel on a day and hour to be appointed of which due notice shall be given and the Chairman of the District shall be President of the assembly and every preacher trustee steward and leader shall have a single vote and the Chairman shall have a casting vote. And if the majority of the meeting adjudge that the accused preacher is immoral erroneous in doctrine or deficient in abilities he shall be considered as removed from the circuit in which the chapel is situated and the District Committee shall appoint another preacher in his place till the ensuing Conference and shall determine among themselves how the removed preacher shall be disposed of till the ensuing Conference and shall have authority to suspend him till then from all public duties. And if the preacher refuse to submit to the above mode of trial he shall be considered as suspended until the ensuing Conference and the District Committee shall supply his place till another preacher be appointed. And the preacher thus appointed and all other preachers shall be subject to the above mode of trial.” A comparison of what is provided by the fundamental constitutions, and what is compared in the Wesleyan model deed, can scarcely be treated with gravity.

199. Will you direct your attention to the 19th clause of the constitutions, and inform the Committee whether, in your opinion, as a lawyer, the power of legislation that would be given by this 19th clause, supposing the Bill to be passed into law, would be greater or less than is given to the Wesleyan body? The 19th clause could not possibly exceed in its operation the power given under the clause of the model deed, to which I have just referred. All that could be done under the 19th clause of these constitutions, would be to remove from his office a clergyman who had not fulfilled what his own body deemed to be his duty.

200. There is no power to depose the clergyman here? Not at all.

201. Without going into the matter very much in detail, will you say whether the model deed does or does not provide for all matters of doctrine and discipline? Minutely.

202. Will you say whether or not the constitutions do or do not possess equal power? There is one remark I would make in connection with the model deed; there is reference throughout to the general rules and usage of the body, and the general rules and usage of the body are defined on page 36 to be “ the general rules, usage, and practice of the whole body of the said people called Methodists throughout Great Britain, as the same general rules, usage, and

A Gordon,
Esq.

4 May, 1865.

" and practice respectively appear in and by the annual minutes of the said Conference from " time to time printed and published by them under the authority of the said in part " recited deed-poll, but subject at all times to the proviso respecting doctrines in these " presents contained." So that the rules and usages of governing the Wesleyan body in this Colony are very much modified by the rules and usages of the main body in England.

203. Has not the Congregational body equal power under some Act, if they think proper to exercise it? The Congregationalists and Baptists have precisely the same powers, if they choose to exercise them. If they have a model deed regulating their affairs in the same way as the Wesleyans have, this Act would give them precisely the power which the Church of England asks at the hands of the Legislature at the present time.

204. Is there anything further required of the Congregationalists or Baptists than to shew that what is contained in the model deed is in accordance with the usage of the particular society? Nothing more; and if the Congregationalists and Baptists had met and agreed upon fundamental constitutions, in the same way that the members of the Church of England have done, all they would have had to do would have been to embody them in a document, and have it registered in the Supreme Court, and it would be as binding upon them as the constitution referred to in the Bill will be binding upon members of the Church of England.

205. By Mr. Tighe: That is by virtue of this Act? By virtue of this Colonial Act, 2 Vict., No. 7. The Congregationalists and Baptists are included in one Act, but I am not aware that any body but the Wesleyans have availed themselves of its provisions.

206. By Mr. Parkes: Do you, as a lawyer, consider that this Act of the Colonial Parliament adopts that model deed of the Wesleyan Methodists, within the four corners of it—every word of it? It adopts it, I think, for this purpose, that those who take property as trustees, preachers, or church officers of the Wesleyan body, are bound by this deed, just as much as if each one of these clauses had been set out in this Act of Parliament. I will suppose the case of trustees holding property for the Wesleyan body, and a minister of that body enjoying the use of the property so held in trust; if the minister was to violate the doctrine of the Wesleyan body he would forfeit his right to enjoy the property in consequence of such violation, and the test of violation would be, whether he had not come within that clause as to doctrine which I have read. But with regard either to the Church of England, or the Wesleyans, the Parliament can take notice of doctrine and discipline only for the purpose of securing the property of the body to those who observe them. This is all that is contemplated by the Bill before the Committee.

207. Do you, as a lawyer, consider that this Act before me, the 2nd Victoria, No. 7, adopts the whole of the document, a copy of which you have in your hand, in the same manner that this Bill expressly mentions the constitutions? As a lawyer, I have not the smallest doubt upon the point.

208. Do you think as a member of this community, and not as a lawyer, that if such a Bill were before the Parliament now, with that deed appended, so that Parliament could thoroughly understand it, that they would let the Bill be passed? Not being a Member of the Legislature, I cannot answer that question; but I should say, that the matter was one which no more concerned the Legislature, than the particular clauses of a deed of settlement of any company. If the Legislature saw that the deed or these constitutions, would violate the rights and liberties of persons outside the company or community, it might object, but not otherwise.

209. This Bill was passed before I arrived in the Colony, and I presume before you arrived; but do you think when it was passed, that the old Legislative Council had any means of knowing what was intended by these three words "the model deed"? I think what they understood was this, that the different religious bodies had all of them forms of government arranged, each one for itself, in the country from which they came; and that these members of religious bodies who immigrated to this Colony, would probably like to be governed by the rules, regulations, and usages of their respective bodies in precisely the same way as they had been in the old country; and they, therefore, thought it perfectly safe to legislate in such a way as to let members of religious communions have the same religious advantages they had in the old country, and they did not trouble themselves in regard to minute details. This model deed had been drawn up by learned persons in England, and the Legislature might think that what had suited the Wesleyan body in England might be best suited to them here.

210. By Mr. Barker: It was very well known before the passing of this Act, what were the provisions of the model deed? Yes, every Wesleyan, I apprehended, knew perfectly well what was the model deed. The model deed had been in existence, though in a less complete form, ever since 1784.

211. By Mr. Parkes: I think, as a matter of fact, there were no Wesleyans in the Legislature at that day? Possibly not, but the Act itself shews that they were established in the colony.

212. By Mr. Barker: Will you inform the Committee whether the Colonial Parliament have not imposed upon the Synod of Australia the whole of the doctrine and discipline of the Church of Scotland by recent enactment? The Act 4 Victoria, No. 18, which substituted the Synod in place of the Presbytery of New South Wales, refers to a Synod to be constituted according to the recommendation of the established Church of Scotland; and, assuming it to be constituted, confers on the Synod certain powers and privileges, subject however to the following proviso:—"Provided always that the several powers privileges and advantages conferred by this Act upon the said Synod of Australia shall cease and determine unless the said Synod shall continue its adherence to the doctrines of the confession of faith and to the other standards and formularies of the established Church of Scotland and in the exercise of discipline shall follow the laws of that church." Speaking generally rally, the Legislature seems to have regarded these laws or constitutions, or model deeds, simply as agreements entered into by the religious body among its own members; and as any large section of the community cannot be bound without the aid of the Legislature, it gave that aid which was necessary to render the agreement binding.

A. Gordon,
Esq.

4 May, 1866.

213. By Mr. Parkes: Is it not a reasonable probability that this Synod, if invested with that legal authority, which is proposed to be given to it, would assert its control over the church and school lands, or to what it considers its fair share of the benefits of those lands? I do not know that it would do it in any other way than as any members of the Church of England might do it at the present moment. This Bill would not alter the position of things at all; if this Bill enabled the Synod so to represent the Church of England as a body, that it could make a claim to property which was supposed to belong to the Church of England, the Synod would be able to do that which every member of the Church of England may do just now. It would be in a position neither better nor worse than members of the Church of England generally.

214. I do not think I have made myself clearly understood; what I meant was this: Would not, in all probability, this Ecclesiastical Parliament, as I call it, pass resolutions as other Parliaments do, declaring certain rights to exist with reference to these Church and School lands, the stake being so large? I should say certainly not; they might say, that, in their opinion, they thought the Church and School lands did or did not belong to them, but that would have no effect, whatever, upon their legal position.

215. I know that the Synod would have no legal power, in fact, over these lands—but, is it not true, perhaps one of the greatest truths taught in history, that power is acquired by degrees, step by step; and would not the Synod be likely to seek to enforce its power, first, by passing resolutions, by memorials, by petitions, by using any kind of influence within its compass—would not that, in the nature of things, be likely? I can hardly answer further than by saying, that persons taking an interest in any particular matter are likely to take steps in regard to that. For instance, the committee of the Church Society, or of the Diocesan Society, might take an interest in such a matter, and memorialize, or petition, and the Synod would be in the same position, neither better nor worse.

216. Would it not be a much more important body having authority, and therefore may we not reasonably expect that it would exercise greater influence? It would have precisely the influence that would be exerted now by petitions or addresses sent up by different parishes of the Church of England to the Legislature. The members sitting in one room would represent these parishes, and any act they did would go before Parliament, as the act of the representatives of those parishes. This Act of the Legislature would not alter the matter at all.

217. I ask this question mainly in order to illustrate the probable working of this Synod—Do you not think that the large creative powers which are in these constitutions will be availed of to an extent which are not now conceived of—the Synod will meet every year, will deliberate, questions of all kinds will be introduced; the Synod will have as complete power of legislation, so far as the affairs of the Church of England are concerned, and so far as the diocese of Sydney extends, as any legislative body can have? No, they would have precisely the same powers which you see exercised by the Wesleyan Conference, which meets once a year. Seeing what is done by the Wesleyan Conference, and by the Presbyterian Synod, you see what will be the action of the Church of England Synod. The newspapers inform us of the proceedings of the Presbyterian Synod, which meets from year to year, and of the Wesleyan Conference, which also meets annually; and from what you see takes place in them, you may infer what will take place when the Church of England meets precisely in the same way that those bodies now meet.

218. I do not see very clearly yet that those bodies have the same authority that the proposed Synod would have? If you will allow me to put it upon that issue. Take the Synod of the Church of Scotland and the Wesleyan Conference; they act precisely in the same way as the Synod, proposed to be constituted of members of the Church of England, will and must act in. I appeal to the history of the Colony, and to general experience, to shew what will be the result of the Legislature granting what is now asked.

219. By Mr. Barker: With regard to the Church and School lands of which Mr. Parkes has spoken, would the Synod contemplated by the constitutions have any greater power or influence than any Church conference or congress voluntarily assembled? None whatever it would have precisely the same.

220. Nor any greater than the Church Society might exercise at the present time? None greater at all.

221. With regard to the power of legislation that you have spoken of, is there any power to do anything more than merely to provide for the internal government of the affairs of the Church of England within the Diocese of Sydney? That is the only power.

222. Is there power to legislate in any manner so as to control any property? There is no power of legislation at all.

223. Will you be good enough to refer to the 19th clause, and state what you conceive to be the power given by that? The powers I conceive to be given by the 19th clause, are just those which must be exercised by any religious body with regard to those who held any office connected with that body—the same that the Presbyterians exercise with regard to their ministers; the same which the Wesleyans exercise with regard to their ministers; and which the Church of England has hitherto exercised with regard to her ministers, through the medium of the Bishop—and the object of this clause is to adopt a less apparently arbitrary form of Government. It limits the power of the tribunal to the mere deprivation of of "license or office, and of the rights and emoluments thereto appertaining."

224. There would be no power of legislation given to the Synod, excepting so far as that they

A. Gordon,
Esq.

4 May, 1865.

they make rules for their own Government? That is my understanding, and I cannot understand that there is any more power of legislation given by these fundamental constitutions, than there is given to the governing body of any insurance company whose deed of settlement is sanctioned by the Legislature.

225. With regard to the 19th section of the Constitution, does that go any further than existing legislation upon the subject, or is its effect to regulate a power already existing? Its effect is to regulate a power already existing; it does not go one step beyond that.

226. Will not the establishment of such a tribunal greatly limit the exercise of power now vested in the Bishop? It will limit it to a very considerable extent.

227. Does not the power given there by the 19th section fall short of the power given in the Wesleyan model deed in the 8th and 9th clauses? By the 8th clause of the early deed of 1784, incorporated by recital into the Wesleyan model deed, the Conference has power (I am reading from page 18 of the printed copy) "to expel and put out from being a member thereof or from being in connection therewith or from being upon trial any person member of the Conference or admitted into connection or upon trial for any cause which to the Conference might seem fit and necessary. And every member of the Conference so expelled and put out should cease to be a member thereof to all intents and purposes as though he were actually dead." By the 9th clause, the conference has power to admit into connection with them, or upon trial, any persons whom they may approve to be preachers under the care and direction of the conference.

228. Is not the principal advantage to be derived from the passing of this Act to enable to carry out the constitutions, that the clergymen and lay members of the Church of England will have some share in the management of the general affairs of the Church? That I understand to be the general object that the conference had in view in passing these constitutions and framing the Bill.

229. Is any increased power given to anybody? None.

230. Certainly not to the Bishop? Certainly not to the Bishop.

231. Can you inform the Committee whether the doctrines and formularies of the Church of England have already been recognized in the legislation of this Colony? In the Church of England Temporalities Act, 8 Wm. IV, No. 5, in the 11th section, there is a direct recognition of the Canons of 1603. The section provides in what way churchwardens are to deal with the funds raised; and among the purposes to which these funds are to be applied, it mentions "to provide all things which may be necessary for the due and orderly celebration of public worship and the administration of the sacraments in such church or chapel as aforesaid according to the directions contained in the rubrics of the Book of Common Prayer and in the Constitutions and Canons Ecclesiastical relating to divine service and the administration of the sacraments agreed upon with the King's Majesty's license in the Synod begun in London in the year 1603." And by the 2nd and 3rd sections of the same Act, trustees are required to be persons not known to impugn publicly any of the doctrines of the Church of England, and become disqualified by so doing, and may be removed from being trustees. So that the doctrine of the Church of England and the regulation of its services by the Canon of 1603, have already been recognized, and to a certain degree incorporated into the legislation of this Colony.

232. Are you acquainted with the provisions of the Presbyterian Act passed this Session? Yes, I am generally.

233. Are you able to state whether the Parliament, in passing the Bill now before the Committee, would go further than they have already gone in passing that Act for the Presbyterians, having reference not merely to the Act itself but to the Act recited? Having reference to the Act recited, the Legislature has done for Presbyterians precisely what it is asked to do for the Church of England.

234. Your opinion is, that the Church, in asking for this Bill, asks for no more than the Presbyterians have obtained? For no more. The only variation is, that the Church of England Bill uses phraseology known to the Church of England, whereas in the Presbyterian Bill phraseology is used known to the Presbyterian body.

235. You are aware of the provision contained in the present Act, with regard to the power vested in the Bishop of withdrawing a license? Yes.

236. Will you inform the Committee what is the course of proceeding under that Act—whether, in cases where the Bishop is required to exercise his power under that Act, it has been the practice to allow the parties to nominate assessors, and to appear by counsel or solicitor? As far as I am aware, the practice has always been on the part of the Bishop to give every possible opportunity for the accused party to nominate assessors, and to have legal assistance; in fact, so to conduct the trial that it should not be one as if before a mere domestic tribunal. It was so in a particular case which occurred about four years ago. The Bishop had occasion to complain of the conduct of a clergyman; and following in substance the usual practice, he caused him to be summoned before the Chancellor and four incumbents of the diocese, in order that the matter might be inquired into, and reported on to the Bishop, allowing the clergyman to nominate two of the incumbents. The clergyman refused to nominate, and disputed the right of the Bishop to proceed in this form, and brought the matter before the Supreme Court. The Judges held that, though the mode of procedure adopted was more favourable to the accused, and more consistent with constitutional feeling than that prescribed by the Act, yet that the latter must be followed. The consequence was, that the Bishop, not by his own act or his own will, but as the result of action on the part of the clergyman, was obliged himself to deal with the case.

237. Has it not been the practice, before the Bishop exercised the power vested in him under this Act, to give to clergymen the option of naming two out of four assessors? I believe it has; I know of no instance to the contrary.

238. Is it not within your knowledge, as Chancellor of the Diocese, that it has been the practice to intimate to the clergyman that he was at liberty to appear by counsel or solicitor, as he thought fit? Yes.

A. Gordon,
Esq.

239. Have you ever known any case in which the parties have not had the option of nominating assessors and of being represented by counsel or solicitor? None, excepting that single instance where the option had been given and refused, and when under the direction of the Supreme Court a different course was obliged to be adopted.

4 May, 1865.

240. Has the Bishop exercised his power only because he was obliged by the Supreme Court, upon the intervention of the accused clergyman? Yes.

241. By Mr. Tighe: How would the provisions made by Wesleyans in their Model Deed be binding upon the clergymen of the Wesleyan Church, without legislation? They are made binding in this way:—There is for each chapel in England a short deed which refers to the Model Deed; the different office-bearers I believe join in the short deed, but the consequence in England has been that a great number of discussions have arisen within the Wesleyan body, with regard to whether particular chapels have or have not been brought within the terms of the Model Deed, which no doubt would have been avoided, if it had been in accordance with the wishes of the Wesleyan body in England to get there the same legislative sanction for the deed which they have got in this Colony.

242. They have never applied to the English Legislature for an Act to empower them to carry out the provisions of this deed? No, they work it by means of a short deed referring to the large deed.

243. As a matter of law, might not the Church of England in this Colony make their own rules and regulations, as the Wesleyans have done, and carry them out in this Colony as well as the Wesleyans in England can carry out their rules and regulations there, without legislation? It would be impossible to do that here. Under existing legislation there are trustees of church property; and if the Church of England Conference was to agree to a model deed like that of the Wesleyans, it would be a breach of trust, on the part of any trustee holding existing property, to accede to the terms of that deed. Therefore, speaking generally, and having regard to existing legislation, it would be impossible to work a model deed. Great part of the property of the Church of England is vested in trustees, who hold it upon trusts impressed upon it by the Church of England Temporalities Act.

244. Dissimilar from what it is in England? Yes, there is nothing similar to it in reference to the Wesleyan property in England. Supposing that members of the Church of England meet together and pass fundamental Constitutions, and then ask the trustees of any existing trust property to hold the property upon rules and regulations passed by the Synod, the trustees would be unable to comply with that request without committing a breach of trust which would expose them to a suit in Equity. So that with regard to existing property, you cannot interfere with its trust in any way without the aid of the Legislature. I do not deny (although it might be an inconvenient course), that, with regard to future property, you might manage in the same way as the Wesleyans do in England; but the obvious inconvenience would be, that you would have two separate sets of property—one under the Church Temporalities Act, and the other under the control of the Synod. The Wesleyans probably saw that such would be their position, and that made them ask for the Act 2 Victoria, No. 7. They had property given to them, or expected to have property given to them, which could only be given to them under the trusts of the General Trust Act, 7 Wm. IV, No. 3, and the trustees under that Act could not legally have recognized the trusts of the model deed. They therefore sought the sanction of the Legislature to fix the trust of their model deed upon the property given to them under the General Trusts Act? The Church of England is now doing in 1865, what the Wesleyans did in 1838.

245. That argument has no application whatever to the 19th clause—Now I presume the 19th clause might be dispensed with as far as the matter goes; for if they can in England make regulations to keep their clergy in proper doctrine and order, we here could do the same without legislation? No doubt the Synod might censure the clergyman—they might do what they liked with respect to censure—but the clergyman would hold his property, his parsonage, and his church, under the trusts of the Church Temporalities Act, which only gives one mode of dealing with him. The Synod might say what they liked, but he might set them at defiance, and hold his property in spite of the censure. The only way in which he could be reached would be through the absolute power of the Bishop, so that you would have two powers exercised against the clergyman—one the censure of the Synod, and the other the statutory authority of the Bishop.

246. As to the Ecclesiastical Legislature, as it has been called,—if it passed any resolutions as to land, you are ready to say, as a lawyer, all their resolutions would go for nothing? They would go for nothing, except with regard to the disposal of their own property.

247. If they passed any resolution to say such and such property was theirs, it would have no effect? None whatever.

248. By Mr. Byrnes: I suppose it comes within your knowledge, that in England the Conference have dealt with some of their ministers under that deed poll, and expelled them from their connection? Yes.

249. And that these ministers have in their turn brought actions against the President of the Conference—are you aware of that? I am not aware.

250. Do you recollect anything about the expulsion of three gentlemen who were termed the "Fly-street ministers"? No, I do not.

251. I suppose you have some recollection of various suits that have been brought, in reference to the real property of the body? Yes, I am more familiar with them.

252. In every case under that deed, the decision has been in favour of the Conference? The decision has been, I believe, generally in favour of the Conference; the discussion has

A. Gordon,
Esq.

4 May, 1865.

been, whether the property has been brought within the terms of the deed; when once within the terms of the deed, there has been no question about it.

253. You mentioned, a few minutes ago, if I understood you aright, that the deed was signed by the officers of the Church? I used the expression rather hastily; I think that is the mode.

254. The deed can only be signed by trustees? There is a short deed which, by reference to the large deed, incorporates it.

255. And in every case now under the model deed, there are some fifteen or twenty trustees? Yes.

256. By Mr. Macpherson: With reference to clause 19 of the Constitutions, I understood you to say, a little while ago, that at present no trial of any clergyman can take place except by the Bishop, in consequence of the decision of the Supreme Court? Unless with the consent of the clergyman.

257. Have you any knowledge of any former cases ever having been tried before the Bishop and assessors—any personal knowledge? No personal knowledge—the cases happened before I came to the Colony.

258. Are you aware whether, in the cases you have referred to as having taken place previously, counsel or attorneys were employed by the persons accused? I am not sure—I cannot bring to mind at this moment whether such was the case or not.

259. Are you aware whether the evidence taken in such cases is oral or written, or both? I have no personal knowledge of the matter; I would rather not speak to what I have no personal knowledge of.

260. In the only case to which you refer, of which you have any knowledge, was it open to the public or was it a close discussion? As far as I recollect, it was open to the public, and some few persons were I believe present.

261. In point of fact, such could not be the case since the decision of the Supreme Court? Unless with the consent of the clergyman.

262. Would not any decision given by the assessors be worthless, unless concurred in by the Bishop? Unless concurred in by the Bishop.

263. Is there any appeal from the Bishop's decision? There is a direct appeal given, I think, by the letters patent to the Archbishop of Canterbury.

264. Then there is no appeal except to the Archbishop of Canterbury? There is also an appeal to the Privy Council.

265. I suppose the expense of such an appeal would be something enormous? I should think it would be very great.

266. They would, at all events, be probably beyond the reach of any ordinary clergyman? Apparently not; for in the case of the Bishop of Cape Town Mr. Long appealed, and succeeded in his appeal, and what Mr. Long did, I suppose some one else might do.

267. The object of the 19th clause is to facilitate the matter, and make the proceedings more public? Yes.

268. Have you reason to believe that the 19th clause is one desired by the Bishop? Yes, as far as I know; and having the honor to fill the position of the Bishop's Chancellor, I may say that the Bishop anxiously desires it.

269. By Mr. Byrnes: Would you state what effect the enrolment of Wesley's deed poll in the High Court of Chancery was intended to have upon it? I think it was merely for the purpose of dealing with it in the most legal form. The way in which the model deed was constructed was this:—A piece of land was purchased and conveyed to trustees upon these full trusts; and in order to make the conveyance complete, it was enrolled under the statute 9 Geo. II, cap. 36.

270. For the purposes set out in the clause on page 6 of the printed copy, stating the general objects of the trusts declared? Those I believe were exactly their purpose.

271. By Mr. Barker: Would it be legally possible to bring the property of the Church under such a deed of trust, without the aid of Parliament? Absolutely impossible without the aid of Parliament.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.

APPENDIX.

(To Evidence given by Rev. R. L. King, B.A., 2 May, 1865.)

A.

(Draft as prepared by Committee of Conference.)

FUNDAMENTAL CONSTITUTIONS

For the management and regulation of the affairs of the United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney.

WHEREAS it is expedient that further and better provision should be made for the management and regulation of the affairs of the United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney And whereas for the purpose of making such provision and also with a view to promote the united action of the members of the said Church it is desirable that the members thereof meet in Synod and make such rules and ordinances as for the purpose hereinbefore mentioned they may deem requisite :

Now we the members of the United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney present at a Conference of the clergy and representatives of the Laity of the said Church convened and presided over by the Right Reverend Frederic Lord Bishop of Sydney and Metropolitan and held in the city of Sydney in the month of February A.D. 1865 do agree to and accept the under-written articles and provisions as fundamental Constitutions for the management and regulation of the affairs of the said Church.

1. The members of the said United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney shall meet in Synod as herein provided. Synod to be held.

2. The first Synod and all subsequent Synods shall be convened in the manner herein provided save in so far as the same may be altered by the Synod acting under the provisions hereinafter contained And the Synod shall be convened and holden once in every year by summons of the Bishop stating the time and place of meeting And the Bishop or in his absence a Commissary appointed by him in writing shall be President of the Synod and may adjourn prorogue and dissolve the same with the concurrence of the Synod Provided always that a new Synod shall be elected and convened at least once in every three years And it shall not be lawful for the President to vote on any question or matter arising in the Synod. President and time of holding.

3. The Synod may make ordinances upon and in respect of all matters and things concerning the order and good government of the United Church of England and Ireland and the regulation of its affairs within the diocese including the management and disposal of all Church property moneys and revenues (not diverting any specifically appropriated or the subject of any specific trust nor interfering with any vested rights) and for the election or appointment of Churchwardens and Trustees of churches burial-grounds church lands and parsonages And all ordinances of the Synod shall be binding upon the Bishop and his successors and all other members of the Church within the diocese but only so far as the same may concern their respective rights duties and liabilities as holding any office in the said Church within the diocese. Power of Synod generally.

4. The Synod may make rules for the conduct of all business coming before it and for trying the validity of the election of any representative and for supplying any vacancy in the Synod which may be occasioned by death resignation or any other cause. Rules for conduct of business.

5. The Synod may make rules for altering the periods within which and the manner in which subsequent Synods shall be convened and the mode of electing representative members and for restricting the number of the clergy and representative members to be respectively summoned to any future Synod and as to the manner in which such restriction shall be effected and as to the number necessary to constitute a quorum Provided that the number of representative members to be summoned to any such future Synod shall not be more than thrice nor less than twice the number of clergy to be summoned And provided that the declarations hereby imposed and no other shall be required either from members of the Church voting at the election of representatives or from such representatives when elected. Rules for future Synods.

6. Every rule and ordinance of the Synod shall be made by a majority of the clergy and representative members collectively or if five members shall on any question so desire the votes shall be by orders the presence of not less than one-fourth of the members of each order shall be necessary to constitute a quorum Provided that no such rule or ordinance shall take effect or have any validity unless within one month after the passing of the same the Bishop shall signify to the Synod his assent thereto Provided also that any such rule or ordinance to which the Bishop shall not assent may be the subject of reference to and determination by any Provincial Synod which may hereafter be holden. Mode of voting and quorum.

7. The Synod shall not make any alteration in the articles liturgy or formularies of the Church except in conformity with any alteration which may be made therein by competent authority of the United Church of England and Ireland in the United Kingdom. Conformity to liturgy &c.

8. The Synod may call upon any person holding property belonging to the Church in the diocese or in any parish thereof or in which the Church or any such parish is in any manner interested to render a full account of all such property and of the manner in which the same and every part thereof is applied and disposed of. Synod may call for accounts.

9. Whenever the Bishop shall convene the first Synod he shall summon thereto each clergyman licensed to a separate cure of souls within the diocese and representatives as hereinafter provided And for electing such representatives the Bishop shall require each clergyman licensed as aforesaid to summon a meeting of the members of the Church of the age of twenty-one years being males and occupiers of seats in his church or residents within his parish or district at such time within limits which may be prescribed by the Bishop and at such place within the parish or district as to such clergyman may seem convenient and every member so summoned shall be entitled to vote at such election but the clergyman summoning the meeting shall not be entitled to vote at such election save to give a casting vote. Mode of convening Synod.

10. The clergyman if present shall act as Chairman of the said meeting and so soon as six persons are assembled the meeting may proceed to business and the Chairman shall cause a list to be made of those who are present and add thereto the names of any who subsequently attend before the proceedings are closed and the Chairman shall cause minutes to be taken of the proceedings And every member of the Church shall before taking part in or voting at such meeting subscribe the following declaration :—

“ I the undersigned A. B. do declare that I am a member of the United Church of England and Ireland.”

- Representatives to be elected. 11. Every such meeting shall choose as representatives two male persons of the age of twenty-one years each such person being a communicant of the Church and not being a clergyman licensed to a separate cure of souls and if more than fifty persons shall attend and vote it shall be lawful for such meeting to elect one such additional representative but no parish or district shall elect more than three representatives.
- Mode of election. 12. In case at any such meeting the persons proposed for election exceed the number which the meeting is authorized to elect the Chairman shall take in writing the votes of the qualified persons present each of whom may give one vote for such persons proposed as he may think fit but not exceeding the number to be elected and where the votes for two or more are equal the Chairman shall give a casting vote in favour of either one or more of such persons as the case may require And the Chairman shall declare to the meeting the names of the persons elected.
- Certificate of election. 13. The Chairman shall cause to be delivered to each person elected a certificate of his election and shall sign the minutes of the meeting in token of their correctness and shall forward them to the Bishop together with all subscriptions and lists which have been laid before the said meeting and a certificate of the names callings and addresses of the persons elected to be laid before the Synod at its opening.
- Vacancy in cure or absence of clergyman. 14. If the cure be vacant or the clergyman be absent or unable from any other cause to act the Bishop shall appoint a person to perform all the functions devolving on such clergyman under any of the five preceding sections of these Constitutions.
- Summoning of Chancellor and Registrar. 15. The Bishop may summon to the Synod as members thereof the Chancellor and the Registrar of the diocese who shall have the same rights powers and privileges as representative members.
- Representation of St. Paul's College. 16. The Warden of St. Paul's College within the University of Sydney shall always be summoned to the Synod as a clerical member thereof and two lay members of the Church to be elected by the Council of the said College from amongst themselves shall likewise always be summoned to such Synod as representative members thereof and the said Warden shall cause to be delivered to each member of the said Council so elected and shall also forward to the Bishop a certificate of such election.
- Defects and errors not to vitiate proceedings. 17. No rule or ordinance of the Synod nor anything done under these Constitutions shall be vitiated by reason of the non-election of any representative or of the non-summoming of any person entitled to be summoned thereto or of any informality in or respecting any such election or summoning.
- Declaration to be made. 18. Each representative shall before taking part in or voting at the Synod sign and deliver to the President the following declaration:—
"I the undersigned A. B. do declare that I am a communicant of the United Church of England and Ireland."
- Synod may establish tribunal. 19. The Synod may establish a tribunal for the trial of offences by clergymen licensed by the Bishop within the diocese as well those involving breaches of discipline as questions of doctrine and the ritual of the Church and may frame rules and ordinances for the initiation and conduct of trials before and the mode of proceeding under such tribunal and no sentence shall be pronounced other than that of suspension or deprivation of license or office and of the rights and emoluments thereto appertaining and there shall be the same right of appeal as now exists from the decisions of the Bishop.
- Clergyman's license when to be withdrawn. 20. The license of a clergyman shall not be withdrawn cancelled or revoked unless at his own request or as the consequence of a sentence pronounced under the provisions of these Constitutions or by some Court of competent jurisdiction Provided that until a tribunal shall have been established as hereinbefore mentioned nothing herein shall affect any of the powers now vested in the Bishop.
- Ordinances to be transmitted to Archbishop. Absence, &c., of Bishop. 21. A copy of all ordinances passed by the Synod shall be sent by the Bishop to the Archbishop of Canterbury.
22. In case of the absence from the Colony of the Bishop the powers by these Constitutions vested in him shall be exercised by a Commissary appointed by him and in case no such Commissary shall have been appointed or the see be vacant such powers shall be exercised by the person who shall then be the next in ecclesiastical rank or degree in the diocese and resident therein until the return of the Bishop or the assumption of office by his successor.
- Nothing in contravention of law. 23. Provided always that no rule or ordinance of the Synod shall be made in contravention of any law or statute in force for the time being in the Colony.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD.
(PETITION RELATIVE TO.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 4 May, 1865.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

The Petition of Richard Sadleir, R.N., Liverpool,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioner, as a Member of the Church of England in this Colony, while desirous of the establishment of Church Synods, is nevertheless, with many clergymen and lay members of the Church, opposed to any legislative interference on the subject,—

Because such interference is not necessary, Synods having been established without legal compulsion, in the Colonies of South Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand, &c. Because the establishment by law of a Church Constitution, as contemplated by the Bill before your Honorable House, is a violation of the principle of religious equality so generally recognized, founding, as it would do, a Church Constitution established by law—a position sought for by no other religious denomination, being unchristian in principle. Because, at the Conference held in Sydney in February, 1865, a respectable minority of clergy and lay representatives there opposed any appeal to the Legislature on the subject, considering such “degrading”; while in the Diocese of Newcastle, the Conferences there seemed to consider the amendment of the Church Temporalities Act was what was required. Because the Church Constitution proposed thus to be established is highly objectionable, proposing, as it does, a religious test as a qualification for the representatives, which, if sanctioned by law, would be virtually to revive religious tests long abolished, while it likewise contemplates the establishment of a tribunal for matters of discipline, doctrine, &c.—questions, your Petitioner humbly suggests, not strictly within the province of the Colonial Legislature, as interfering by law with the rights of conscience and freedom of “a willing service.” Because the Church, as at present constituted, is established on the Christian principle of a voluntary compact, which the law in question would subvert into a compulsory organization. Because it implies distrust in the members of the Church,—that they alone, of all religious bodies, cannot be bound together in Christian fellowship by the sacredness of moral obligation. Because there is every probability such legislation will lead to a disruption of the body, by fettering the freedom of religious action.

For these and other reasons, your Petitioner humbly prays that any legislation of your Honorable House may be confined to the Temporalities of the Church alone, and not to the creating a Church Constitution by law affecting doctrine and ritual.

And will, as in duty bound, ever pray.

RICHARD SADLEIR.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.
(PETITION—PRESBYTERIAN MINISTERS, ETC.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 19 May, 1865.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned Presbyterian Ministers and Office-Bearers, in the said Colony,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That the Bill at present before your Honorable House, “to enable the “Members of the United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney “assembled in Synod to regulate the affairs thereof,” appears to your Petitioners highly objectionable and injurious, for the following reasons, among others: first,—because it proposes to legalize “certain fundamental constitutions agreed to and accepted,” as the fundamental constitutions of that church, which said constitutions avowedly deal with matters of doctrine and discipline; and that in the opinion of your Petitioners, it is beyond the province of the civil power to legislate on the doctrine and discipline of any one denomination of religion; and if the civil power legalize the doctrine and discipline of one denomination, where all denominations are on an equality as regards their civil rights, then it should also legalize the doctrine and discipline of every denomination, when a portion of such denomination apply for such legalization; and this, in the opinion of your Petitioners, would wound the consciences of a large and loyal portion of Her Most Gracious Majesty’s subjects. Secondly, because it proposes to give power to the Synod of the said church, to “establish a tribunal for the trial of offences by clergymen
“licensed by the Bishop within the diocese as well those involving breaches of discipline
“as questions of doctrine and the ritual of the church;” and, in the opinion of your Petitioners, such a tribunal, if armed with the proposed legislative sanction, would be improperly endowed with the functions of the civil magistrate. For these and other reasons, your Petitioners, humbly pray your Honorable House not to pass the said Bill.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, etc.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.

(PETITION—ARCHBISHOP AND ROMAN CATHOLIC CLERGY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 25 May, 1865.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the Roman Catholic Archbishop, and of the undersigned Roman Catholic Clergy of Sydney, and the neighbourhood,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

1. That your Petitioners, the Archbishop and undersigned Clergy of the Roman Catholic Church in New South Wales, have seen with regret and alarm the progress of a Bill, commonly called the Church of England Synod Bill, presently under discussion in your Honorable House.

2. That they firmly believe such an Act of the Legislature, on behalf of the Church of England, would endanger the present happily established religious equality of all denominations.

3. That this conviction is not founded solely on any express words or enactment in the proposed Bill, but on what they hold to be the inevitable tendency of any special Legislation, whatever, for one community; which community, moreover, has had in years past special relations with the Civil power, and which still holds such in the United Kingdom.

4. That although the preamble of the Synod Bill describes its object as being, to empower members of the United Church of England and Ireland to carry into effect, by aid of law, constitutions accepted for the management of their temporal affairs only; yet, the constitutions themselves, thus proposed to be carried into effect by aid of the Legislature, do erect a tribunal before which offences involving questions of doctrine and ritual are to be tried, and followed, if it seem fit, by sentence of suspension from sacred offices, and its consequences. Your Petitioners respectfully urge that spiritual affairs are here necessarily involved; and that to legalize a tribunal having powers conferred by the Legislature, so to judge and to sentence, must be, or will be taken as, an establishment by law pro tanto of the denomination which, in its most intimate character, is so distinguished by the law.

5. That such perilous distinction must necessarily be the result of the Synod Bill; because your Petitioners, speaking for themselves and for their whole community, do not desire any action of the Civil Legislature in their religious concerns, nor could they accept any if offered to them.

6. That your Petitioners, therefore, most unwilling as they are to appear in any way as interfering with the affairs of another body, cannot remain longer silent, lest their silence should be construed into acquiescence or indifference. They believe the Bill in question to be fraught with most dangerous consequences: in simple self-defence they declare and protest against it, so far as they may respectfully do so. And thereupon they earnestly pray your Honorable House to withhold from it your assent.

And your Petitioners will ever pray, &amp;c.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.

(PETITION—MINISTER AND PARISHIONERS OF CHRIST CHURCH, NEWCASTLE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 25 May, 1865.

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the Reverend the Minister and certain Parishioners of the Cathedral Church of Christ Church, in the Diocese of Newcastle, in the Colony of New South Wales,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That the notice of your Petitioners has been specially drawn to a movement, recently made by the Members of the Church of England within the Diocese of Sydney, for the purpose of obtaining the sanction of your Honorable House to the passage of a Bill, "To enable the Members of the United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney to amend in Synod to regulate the affairs thereof."

That your Petitioners have viewed with alarm this movement, which appears to them to be fraught with much danger to the fundamental principles of their Church; and by which, as they fear, a violation of its integral unity is threatened, as regards its spiritual action in this Colony.

Your Honorable House knows with how much care and perseverance, and at how great cost, the principle of combined action has been guarded in the United Church of England and Ireland; how, in all matters of doctrine and discipline, the voice of the whole Church, in her several branches, as constituted in many parts of the world, has been distinctly heard declaring, that the subdivision of any branch thereof into several Dioceses does not violate her integrity, nor authorize the separate action of one Diocese independently of all others which may be included within the limits of the same Colony, or under the jurisdiction of one government.

That your Petitioners beg respectfully to direct your attention to the history of their Church in this respect; and to ask—have the Bishop, Clergy, and Laity of one Diocese, ever before sought from any Government powers and privileges for themselves, to the exclusion of other Dioceses around them, until this present effort in the Diocese of Sydney? That, in the next place, your Petitioners do respectfully submit to your Honorable House that, if there does exist an inherent right in the Members of the Church of England and Ireland, as a body, within the Diocese of Sydney, to take action, and to apply for powers to the Legislature, independently of the Church in other Dioceses of the same Colony, the same right cannot be denied to her Members in every separate Diocese, under this or any other Government. And if each separate Diocese should follow the example thus set before them, and assume the power of "making Rules and Regulations for the government and discipline of the Church, as Fundamental Constitutions," what security is there that the Fundamental Constitutions of each Diocese shall be consentaneous, or that they shall not be even opposed in their principles and operation?

That your Petitioners do therefore further submit that, if such separate action should be supported by the sanction of Parliament, and become the rule in each Diocese, the Church's unity of action will, of necessity, be violated; and each Diocese will become a disunited section, instead of an integral part of a United Church.

That your Petitioners have observed that one of the principal arguments advanced in support of the Bill before your Honorable House, is, that similar powers have been granted to other religious bodies. But your Petitioners do respectfully submit—1st,

That

That no such powers as those now sought have ever been granted by any Act of the Legislature—powers dangerous, because not defined—powers which may be exercised, under the sanction of Parliament, for the oppression of individuals, and the general injury of their Church—powers which will, if granted, confer the privilege of Legislation independently of Parliament; and 2nd, That among all the Acts which have been passed for the relief of religious communities, not one can be found marred as this is with the blot of exclusive Legislation; for this is not an Act applied for by the Members of the Church, but by one section only of that body.

That, in conclusion, your Petitioners beg leave respectfully to refer to past Legislation in support of the prayer of their Petition. The Act of 8 William IV., No. 5, "To regulate the temporal affairs of Churches &c.," is still in force, and its provisions apply to the affairs of their Church in all parts of the Colony. Until this Act shall have been repealed, a second Temporalities Act cannot in justice be passed, to grant exceptional powers and privileges to one part of the Church of England in the Colony, to the exclusion of the rest; for your Petitioners respectfully submit, that the powers sought are exceptional and exclusive. Considering then, that any such Act to be just, should be of universal application, and free from all invidious distinction or partiality, your Petitioners do humbly entreat your Honorable House to refuse your sanction to this, or any other similar, measure, which may not proceed from the Church of England and Ireland, in this Colony, as an integral religious community.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.

(PETITION—BISHOP OF NEWCASTLE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 31 May, 1865.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned, William Tyrrell, Doctor of Divinity,
Lord Bishop of Newcastle,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

1. That, in the opinion of your Petitioner, the Synod Bill for the Diocese of Sydney, now before your Honorable House, will, if passed into law, diminish the religious influence and public usefulness of the Church of England in this Colony, by introducing division and disunion between the different Dioceses of that body, which should be, in spirit as well as name, the United Church of England and Ireland in New South Wales.

2. That the so-called fundamental Constitutions appended to the said Bill, and for which it is proposed to obtain legal sanction by means of the said Bill, are objectionable in many other respects, as well as in the two following particulars which injuriously affect the rights and liberties of some of the clergy :—

(1st.) It has been the right of every presbyter of the Church of England to sit as presbyter in his Diocesan Synod; whereas the said Bill will deprive that class of presbyters, whose duties are most laborious, and whose position should secure for them general sympathy and encouragement—namely, curates—of this their undoubted right.

(2nd.) The said Bill, if passed into law, will bring every licensed clergyman in the Diocese of Sydney under the control of the Synod and its tribunal, whether he be willing or most unwilling to have his status, when ordained and licensed as under the known law of the Church of England, altered in this respect; whereas every necessary benefit of union could be soon obtained by allowing to those clergymen, who are already licensed, the option of joining the Synod or not, and making the coming under the control of the Synod compulsory upon all who should be hereafter licensed, with a previous knowledge of this condition, to which they would thus voluntarily assent.

3. That great misapprehension exists with respect to the object of the said Bill, which, when correctly understood, must be pronounced useless, unprecedented, and positively injurious. For the question at issue between the supporters and opponents of the said Bill is not whether legislation is now required for the Church of England—for all are agreed on this point—all are agreed that a careful revision of the Church Temporalities Act is urgently required, to which a Church Constitution might be appended—but the question at issue is really this: whether the whole United Church of England and Ireland in this Colony should be required to consult together, and agree in applying to Parliament for an amended Church Temporalities Act with an appended Constitution, as the other religious denominations have done; or whether legal sanction should be given to an enabling Bill with a Constitution appended, when applied for by one Diocese alone, not as a final measure, but only to enable the Synod of that one Diocese to begin to consult, so as to ascertain its wants with a view to future legislation. Such a purely diocesan enabling Bill your Petitioner believes to be useless, because the whole United Church of England, or any section of it, can now meet for consultation with a view to legislation without any such enabling Bill. He believes it also to be unprecedented, because no such enabling Bill, with or without an appended Constitution, has been applied for by, or granted to any other religious body in this Colony ; and he believes it to be positively injurious, not only because it will introduce and encourage division and disunion in the Church of England by its exclusive spirit, and deprive certain clergymen of their rights and liberties, but also because it will afford a precedent for religious legislation without limit, and establish a just claim on behalf of every other religious body, and of every separate section of such body, to obtain legal sanction, not only for its well-considered requirements, as regards its temporalities, but also for its meeting together to begin to consult as to what it really requires.

On these grounds your Petitioner prays that your Honorable House will not pass the Bill now before it, incorrectly entitled "Church of England Synod Bill," instead of "Diocese of Sydney Synod Bill," but will refuse its sanction to any Church of England legislation, except a careful revision of the present Church Temporalities Act, assented to, and applied for by the three Dioceses of Sydney, Newcastle, and Goulburn, which now compose the United Church of England and Ireland in New South Wales.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will every pray, &c., &c.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

The humble Petition of the R. Catholic Inhabitants of Berrima District,—

SH EWETH :—

(1.) That the Church of England by its Synod Bill, now before the House, asks the Legislature to place it in a better position than that it now holds: whilst it now holds the same place before the civil law, as the other religious communities.

(2.) It then asks the Legislature to take it specially under its care, and place it above others.

(3.) We love and value religious liberty.

(4.) We then ask the Legislature to reject the Bill, and your Petitioners will ever pray.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.
(PETITION—BATHURST.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 1 June, 1865.

---

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the Clergy, and of the Catholic Laity of the district of Bathurst,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioners have heard with regret, there is at present before your Honorable House a Bill entitled “The Church of England Synod Bill,” and that the object of such Bill, as stated by its promoters, is “to enable the members of the “United Church of England and Ireland within the Diocese of Sydney assembled in “Synod, to regulate the affairs thereof.”

That this Bill, if passed into law, will have the effect of investing the members of the Church of England in Synod assembled, with powers of legislation scarcely inferior to those possessed by the Legislature of the Colony.

That such powers of legislation are unnecessary, as it has been officially declared by the late Secretary of State for the Colonies, “That the Church of England is not “unduly fettered in these Colonies, and that she is in exactly the same position as other “religious bodies—no better and no worse.”

That such powers of legislation would, therefore, constitute the Church of England a Church as by law established in the Colony, and thus give to the said Church a dominance completely subversive of that civil and religious equality which has for some years existed among the different religious denominations in the Colony.

That such a dominance of any one sect would be injurious, not only to the just status of the other religious bodies, but also to the best interest of the Colony at large.

Your Petitioners, therefore, pray that this Church of England Synod Bill be not passed into law, more especially as some of the most esteemed members of the body to which it relates, are among its most earnest opponents.

And your Petitioners will ever pray, &c.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD BILL.

(PETITION—BISHOP OF GOULBURN.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 7 June, 1865.

To the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the Bishop of Goulburn,—

GENTLEMEN :—

Your Petitioner would submit the following statement and Petition for the consideration of your Honorable House :—

1. That he arrived in his Diocese and entered upon the active duties thereof in April, 1864 ; that he considered it to be his first duty to become practically acquainted with the condition and requirements of the United Church of England and Ireland, in the Diocese committed to his oversight ; that for this purpose he personally visited each district thereof, in a journey of (2,661) two thousand six hundred and sixty-one miles.

2. That your Petitioner was much impressed by the existence of two great deficiencies in connection with his work as Bishop of a new Diocese: first, the want of a clergymen everywhere ; secondly, the manifest need of a more perfect organization in the Church for the management of its internal affairs ;—that he is striving, on the one hand, with all diligence, to provide additional clergymen ; and that on the other, he looks with hope and confidence to your Honorable House to pass an Act, which may enable the Church in the said Diocese of Goulburn, to create the much needed organization.

3. That he considers it to be essential to the well-being of an Episcopal Church, in a British Colony, that the regulations for the management of its affairs should be recognized and confirmed by the law, and consequently accepted by its members for the proper government of the communion to which they are attached.

4. That in the present condition of the ecclesiastical affairs of the United Church of England and Ireland in the Colony, your Petitioner is of opinion that it would be almost hopeless to attempt to bring the members of the said Church into active co-operation for the mutual benefit of all, within the limits of the Diocese, without a duly recognized organization assembled in Synod, acting under the sanction and authority of law.

5. That your Petitioner was for twelve years in a position of official connection with the affairs of the United Church of England and Ireland, in the various Colonies of the British Empire ; and that he thus gathered information and gained experience, which serve to guide him in his duties, and which specially urge him to attach the greatest importance to the prayer of the Petition, which he now addresses to your Honorable House.

6. That in the course of his tour of visitation, your Petitioner heard, with great satisfaction, of the proceedings of the Diocese of Sydney, in reference to a Synod, and of the fundamental Constitutions unanimously agreed to by that Diocese, fully represented in a Church Conference ; that he has carefully considered the terms of the said Constitutions, and of the Bill which, in connection therewith, has been introduced into your Honorable House, to enable the members of the United Church of England and Ireland, within the said Diocese of Sydney, assembled in Synod, to regulate the affairs thereof ; that he gives his general approval to the said Constitutions and Bill, on his own behalf, and therefore prays your Honorable House to pass the said Bill, that it may become law.

7. That he would further humbly entreat your Honorable House to permit a clause or clauses to be inserted in the said Bill, whereby the Diocese of Goulburn, or any other Diocese in the Colony, may be allowed to avail itself of the provisions of the said Bill, upon certain conditions, that is to say,—in the case of the Diocese of your Petitioner, provided that within twelve months after the passing of the said Bill, the fundamental Constitutions, which shall be agreed upon and accepted by Bishop, Clergy, and Laity of the Diocese at Goulburn, duly certified under the hand and episcopal seal of the said Bishop of Goulburn, shall be recorded in the Supreme Court, and that the same or a certified copy thereof shall be evidence of the said Constitutions for the Diocese of Goulburn.

8. That for the above reasons, namely, the recent arrival of your Petitioner in Australia, and his consequent absence on visitation, when the Diocese of Sydney was engaged in preparing the Bill which has been introduced into your Honorable House, your Petitioner would earnestly entreat your favourable consideration of his prayer, and allow the insertion, in the said Bill, of a clause or clauses to the above effect, in order that the Diocese of Goulburn may be brought into united action with that of Sydney, and may also, in due time, become possessed of the benefit of the co-operation of the Laity and Clergy, in legal Synod assembled.

Your Petitioner will ever pray, &c.

M. GOULBURN.

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL BOARD.

(REPORT FOR 1863.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

SECRETARY OF DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL BOARD to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

*Denominational School Board Office,
Sydney, 25 July, 1864.*

SIR,

I have the honor, by direction of the Denominational School Board, to enclose herewith their Report for the year 1863.

I have, &amp;c.,

C. E. ROBINSON,
Secretary.

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOLS.

SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

AN increase of £5,000 having been made in the Vote for Denominational Schools for the year 1862, which, although proposed as a supplemental grant for that year, was not placed at the Board's disposal till the commencement of 1863, owing to the late period at which the sanction of Parliament was obtained thereto,—the Board were enabled, early in last year, to meet some of the pressing demands made upon them for the establishment of new schools, the appointment of assistant and pupil teachers, and for increases to teachers' salaries. The uncertainty, however, which at the time existed as to the permanency of this increase, added to the fact that no such corresponding amount was placed either upon the primary or supplemental Estimates for 1863, led the Board to consider the schools and increases thus provided for, as of a temporary nature only, and dependent upon the future provision which might be made for their support.

The sum of £35,000 (similar to that which had been voted according to the primary and supplemental Estimates for 1862) having been voted for 1864, the Board have, at the request of the various Heads of Denominations, given these arrangements a permanent character.

The table (Appendix A) gives a summary of the schools, permanent and supplemental, supported out of the total sum thus available for 1863, while the balance-sheet (Appendix B) shews the expenditure out of the original grant of £30,000 in aid of fixed schools; and a separate statement (Appendix C) shews the support allowed to the supplemental establishments during 1863, out of the additional grant of £5,000 for 1862 above referred to.

The number of schools under the Board during 1863 was 331, against 305 in 1862. The aggregate number of children whose names have been entered upon the rolls during the past year is 31,193, being 1,890 more than appeared for 1862. The number on the rolls on the 31st December, 1863, was 20,565, or 1,981 more than that shewn for 1862; and the average daily attendance has risen from 13,199 during 1862, to 14,488—an increase during 1863 of 1,289 children.

The fullest information is given in table (Appendix D) relative to the attendance and attainments of the children in each Denominational School, with the amount of fees received by the teachers, and other detailed particulars. The attainments of the children, as compared with the returns for 1862, shew a marked improvement; the proportion of children on the rolls stated to be tolerably advanced in the various branches of primary education during 1863, being much greater than appears to have been the case during the previous year.

GENERAL INFORMATION IN REFERENCE TO THE SCHOOLS.

The Annual Reports of the Inspectors of the Church of England Schools in the Sydney Diocese, and of the Roman Catholic Schools, are hereto appended, to which the Board refer for full detailed information as regards each school belonging to these denominations.

In reference to the Schools of the Church of England in the Newcastle Diocese, and the Presbyterian and Wesleyan Schools, for which no inspection is provided, the Board would invite attention to the table (Appendix G) in which information is given respecting each school in detail, as regards the material, tenure, and convenience of the school buildings, the success of each school, so far as the attendance thereof of the children in the neighbourhood is concerned, the supply of books and school furniture, and the state of the schools in question generally.

The Board also append the Reports of the Masters of the Training Departments at St. James' and St. Mary's, Hyde Park, to which they refer for full information as regards the number, qualifications, and duration of probation of the candidates admitted to training during the past year, and of the general state of these establishments.

GEORGE ALLEN,
Chairman.

APPENDIX E.

Sydney, 1 March, 1864.

Sir,

I have the honor to submit, for the information and approval of the Board, my general report on the Church of England Schools in the Diocese of Sydney, inspected and visited by me during 1863.

In presenting this my second general report, I am happy to be able to say that, during the year, considerable improvement has taken place in these schools.

Besides visiting and inspecting the schools in the usual manner, my time has been occupied in drawing up documents (vide forms A and B in appendix) which are intended to aid in the establishment of a more uniform and definite method of teaching in the schools under my inspection. These documents have received the approval of the Head of the Denomination, and under his direction have been issued to all the schools, accompanied by an official announcement that my future inspections will be based upon them. The same authority has also extracted from my first general report the paragraphs relating to the "organization" and "discipline" of our schools; and by issuing these in the form of a circular note to the several Local School Boards, has endeavoured to secure the carrying out the suggestions for improvement in these respects therein proposed.

Towards the close of my last report, I called the attention of the Board to the following general desiderata, viz.—1st, a general examination and classification of our teachers; 2nd, a greater number of assistant and pupil teachers; 3rd, a greater number of infant schools; 4th, the issuing of a code of rules and regulations for the guidance of Local Boards and teachers; and 5th, the compilation of a Table of Attainments.

It had been my hope that all these wants would have been supplied during the year; but I am thankful to be enabled to record that these instalments have been already received, viz.:—1st, the addition of three (3) infant schools to our list; 2nd, the appointment of five (5) adult assistants and thirty-one (31) pupil teachers; and 3rd, the sending forth of the Table of Attainments in the forms of A and B (appendix).

I trust that the present year will not pass away without witnessing some effort made to supply the remainder of our general wants. Every day deepens the impression that, if our schools are to make decided progress, something must be done in these directions.

To enable me to make my reports on individual schools more complete in items of information, I have drawn up and used the form marked C in the appendix. This form will be useful to the Head of the Denomination, by supplying him with such statistical information as will enable him to regulate the supply of books, &c., to the several schools, the return of the "stock on hand" being part of the items supplied in the form.

Having recounted the general efforts for the improvement of our schools, I will now pass on to state in a brief manner the alterations that have been effected in detail during the year. And first as regards the buildings, or

THE PREMISES.

Nine (9) new schools have been established during 1863, three (3) of these being infant schools; one (1) school has been temporarily withdrawn, leaving the total number of schools on the list (at 31st December) one hundred and thirteen (113).

The following schoolhouses have been erected in all 1863:—St. Philip's primary, and St. Philip's infant (Sydney); Rouse Hill, Kippelaw; Pyrmont (Sydney); Wingecarribee; and Lower Mittagong. The last-mentioned was not opened, and the buildings at Bolong and Sackville Reach were not ready for occupation at the end of the year.

I am glad to say that all these edifices are substantially put up, having, with one exception, been built of brick or stone; and further, that considerable attention has been bestowed on the lighting and ventilation. The fitting up of the interiors of the majority has also been carefully superintended.

Extensive repairs or additions have been made to eight (8) other schools and residences.

The subject of the tenures on which schoolhouses are held is also receiving attention; and the resolution of the Central Board not to grant aid from the general public vote towards either the building or repairing of any school unless the deed shall have been registered officially, will gradually reduce the number of "rented" or "sufferance" tenures.

As regards the accommodation in the schools, I regret to have to report that no effort has been made to increase the size of the rooms in the great majority of instances specified in my last report as having insufficient accommodation; the infant schools at St. Philip's (Sydney), and at Camden, being the only exceptions. And my former remark on the want of room for teaching in several "school churches" still holds good.

The number of "earthen" floors is diminished by one (Wingecarribee), remaining now at two (2).

Some attention has been paid to the subject of ventilation, but there are yet many schools where the windows do not open both upwards and downwards. In some of the new schools I notice that the means of lighting and ventilating are not placed so low down in the walls as was formerly the fashion; and there is an advantage gained by adopting this plan—a proper supply of light and air can be got without exposing the children to the influence of a violent current of air.

With respect to the matters of cleanliness and neatness, both in the persons of the children and in the schoolroom, it will be seen, by referring to the account of the several schools appended to this report, that in general, satisfactory terms have been employed in describing the condition of the schools as regards these items of discipline. But I must be understood to speak in this respect of the schools only as I found them. Although at first sight it might appear a difficult matter to judge of the general state of the school in this respect from one day's report, yet on the other hand, more reliance may be placed on that report (as a criterion) than is commonly supposed; for if a schoolroom and children are found to be slovenly and dirty at inspection, and after due notice of my coming has been given, I do not think one can be far wrong to condemn it as being habitually an untidy school. Up to the end of the year, only three schools were provided with apparatus for washing the hands and faces of the scholars.

No privies have yet been built at Tarago, Tirranna, Collector, Fairy Meadow, or East Bargo. I am still of opinion that the erection of proper out-offices should be compulsory on the Local Boards, and I am sorry that efforts have not been made to build them at these places.

Playgrounds have been provided at St. Philip's School (Sydney), and in two other places fences have been placed between the boys' and girls' section.

My former remarks upon the want of teachers' residences at so large a number of places, cannot, I am sorry to say, be altered. One of the least things a parish could do, in return for having a teacher and his salary furnished without charge upon their funds, would be to put up a comfortable dwelling for him.

FURNITURE AND APPARATUS.

Although during the year proper furniture has been in a few cases provided, there is still a very large number of schools quite destitute of suitable fittings. This want of furniture is a great drawback to the proper organization of a school; and so much so was this felt in two instances, that the teachers (unable otherwise to procure funds, and being most anxious to put their schools in good order) went to the expense of purchasing out of their own pockets, desks and forms. A very general want is that of cupboards or presses for school books; not more than a dozen schools are well supplied in this respect. Now that the surplus of the "book fund" is set apart by the Board for supplying furniture, as well as apparatus, I hope soon to see all our schools furnished with suitable desks and forms, with a master's desk or table, cupboards, chairs, and hat-pegs, in addition to the stock of books and apparatus now annually issued.

Books,

BOOKS, MAPS, &amp;C.

There has been a better supply of religious books this year. The remarks I formerly made as regards the "use" of the books (both teachers' and children's), their "condition," and the number of books "purchased" by the pupils, still hold good as a general statement. Until some regulations are issued (and cupboards supplied), I fear that the stock will continue to suffer from the same want of attention mentioned in my first report as being already too prevalent. I cannot let this opportunity pass without bringing under the notice of the Board, the growing complaint of the destruction done to the stock of (day) school books by the scholars of the Sunday schools. The latter schools should, I submit, find their own books, which are generally of one character (religious), and not very numerous; and further, because it is the religious books that are often difficult to be secured in sufficient numbers to keep up the supply in our day school stock.

OFFICIAL DOCUMENTS.

Generally speaking, the roll-books are more neatly and correctly kept than hitherto. There is still, however, ground for complaint, on account of the size and shape of the register.

I beg leave again to suggest that two books be used in place of this one. The keeping of school registers is an important part of a teacher's duty; and, though I do not wish to see the teacher burdened with unnecessary work in this department, it is very desirable that a uniform series of registers should be adopted—such a series as would contain all necessary items for public information. Much attention has been given to this matter in the Mother Country; and if our school registers are not required to be so elaborately compiled, we may at least take a few hints from the public forms in use there.

ORGANIZATION, DISCIPLINE, AND INSTRUCTION.

Organization.—The great drawback to proper organization is the want of suitable furniture. It is true that good furniture may be badly arranged (and the converse is also true), but much inconvenience is felt where no suitable desks and forms are provided. I am glad to be able to say that several teachers have acted upon the advice I gave them when examining their schools, by reorganizing their schools, and have reported that they found their work made easier in consequence. Forty (40) schools are now well furnished and organized. At the close of the year fourteen (14) schools were furnished with galleries, and five (5) schools are supplied with desks and forms placed upon graduated platforms—an arrangement which almost dispenses with the necessity for building a gallery.

Discipline.—This most important part of school-keeping is gradually receiving the attention it deserves. Considerable improvement in the discipline of the schools at Balmain, St. Barnabas' (Sydney), Goulburn, and Wollongong, is apparent; and at St. Andrew's Primary, St. Philip's Primary, and Pymont (Sydney), and at the Globe, improvement is observable, though not so great in extent as at the other places. I am glad to find that in this respect the model schools, both primary and infant, fully sustain their pretensions; and also that the candidate teachers in training have the importance of securing good discipline impressed upon them. I regret to have to report that the great majority of the teachers of the "fifteen" schools referred to in my last report, have not yet dispensed with the rod either as a means of obtaining or maintaining discipline.

Punctuality of attendance is not yet by any means generally insisted on, and it is invariably the worst practised in the least disciplined schools. I think that in all country schools, bells should be rung to inform the neighbourhood of the time of day, as a great many of the people in these districts either do not keep any or keep regulated time-pieces.

Regularity of attendance is, on the whole, much in the same state as mentioned in my last report, and the "average age" and "stay at school" are not materially altered, excepting that in the places where new infant schools have been opened, the "average age" of the pupils of the primary school in the same locality has been raised by the consequent withdrawal of almost all the junior scholars.

Instruction.—The quality of the instruction given, and the extent to which the various subjects have been taught, have during the year advanced; but much greater progress would have been made, if teachers had put into practice the advice contained in the pages of the excellent manuals on "school management" and "method," which are added to their stock of books from time to time. Judging, however, the means used by the end attained, I should say that the great majority of our teachers have very much to learn of the "art of communicating." The disappointment which I have frequently seen manifested, by both local boards and teachers, at the result of my examination (visà voce) of the scholars of the respective schools, has very often to be charged upon the teachers rather than the pupils. From the general good character which the teachers bear, I am sure that, in the large majority of instances, they have not been idle or inattentive in teaching—very frequently have laboured hard; and I can easily understand the disappointment at the "falling off" witnessed. But after making every allowance for timidity and reserve, on the part of children unused to public examination, as well as for irregular attendance, I am compelled to the conclusion that the chief cause of failure arises from a want of knowing how to teach.

The "programme of study" should always be worked upon the basis of a time table drawn up in accordance with it. The number of schools in which I find time tables is not large; and the places where these tables are well drawn up and frequently revised are yet fewer in number. On the other hand, I notice with pleasure the increase in the number of "divisional" or class time-tables, where formerly only "general" ones were used. Space forbids that I should enlarge upon the subject of instruction, but I desire to state that more attention should be bestowed upon the junior portion of the scholars. The teacher who stakes his reputation on his first class, and who is loudest in his lament at the absence of his eldest scholars from examination, will not be regarded as being so successful or good a teacher as that one whose endeavour is to advance all the classes, in due proportion to the ages and ability of the scholars in them.

TEACHERS AND LOCAL BOARDS.

Teachers.—The number of trained teachers has been augmented by seventeen (17), who have all been trained at the Model Schools in Sydney. As before mentioned, thirty-six (36) assistants have been added to the staff of teachers. In appointing these assistants the following rules have been observed:—Seventy (70) pupils must be in average daily attendance before one assistant can be appointed, and thirty (30) more in attendance before each additional one.

No provision has yet been made for pensioning off old and incapable teachers; but as this subject must be taken into consideration whenever any general examination of our teachers shall take place, I will not here enlarge upon the topic. During the year many stipends have been increased, and, in the great majority of cases, the increase has been well deserved; but in distributing extra funds, unless the additional salary be given on specific grounds, and, after due consideration, more harm than good may result.

Local Boards.—As a general rule, these local directors have taken more interest than previously in the working of their respective schools. In many schools, the pages of the roll-book bear testimony to this; but very few official meetings of the members are herein indicated.

There were still a few instances, where no member of the local board attended any inspection; and several, at which the Reverend Chairman was the only representative member. But, on the other hand, I must mention, that many members attended the examinations at considerable inconvenience to themselves, as regards their business pursuits, &c. Notwithstanding that the attention of these gentlemen has been more generally given to their duty, there is abundant room for increased zeal in these

these local authorities, many of whom are very ignorant of the duty undertaken by or imposed upon them. Rules for their guidance are much needed, and a "minute-book" in which the proceedings of meetings for business should be recorded, ought to form part of the stock of "official documents." When it is found necessary to repair, enlarge, or rebuild the school premises, an account of the resolutions passed of the collection of funds and their expenditure should be entered, for information of persons interested.

I now proceed briefly to review the several subjects of instruction given in our schools.

RELIGIOUS.

Scripture History.—Although this item of religious knowledge has received more attention than previously was bestowed upon it, I must repeat that it is still one of our least successfully taught subjects. To make the teaching of this branch of study extend through all the classes, and embrace a knowledge of Bible History in outline, as well as a study in detail of the most important parts, have been the objects sought in drawing up that portion of the "programme of study" relating to the Holy Scriptures. If the course there prescribed be faithfully followed, there will be no room for regret that this most essential part of denominational education has been neglected.

Church Catechism.—The meaning of the most important words in, and the general sense of, the several questions and answers of the Catechism, have in teaching been more frequently dwelt upon, but not in so many schools as could have been desired. The requirements of the "programme" are such as, if met, will result in as thorough a knowledge of this subject as can be expected from children.

I wish I could report that the Scriptural and Liturgical lessons were more frequently superintended in person by the Reverend Chairmen of the Local Boards; and that stated examinations in these subjects were more common.

SECULAR.

Reading.—A good deal of pains has in several schools been bestowed upon the reading, as the improved style plainly shews. Too much time is however devoted to the reading in the upper, and too little in the lower, classes. Were matters reversed, the teacher would find his work easier in the end. Simultaneous reading is by far too much neglected, and hence few children read distinctly enough to be readily understood by an auditor. As regards pronunciation, in addition to the common abuse of the aspirate, I observe a general habit of giving a thin drawling sound to the vowels in such words as "earth," "word," "worship," "bird"—thereby pronouncing them as though they were spelled weird (word), beard (bird), &c., &c.

Another general fault is the ignorance of the proper tone of voice to be used at the various stops. Most of the pupils seem to think that pauses only are required at these stops, or else that the voice should be dropped at them indiscriminately. In hearing classes read, I generally refrain from using a book myself, in order that I may be placed in the position of an ordinary hearer, and so am enabled to determine the distinctness with which the passage is read, by the only true and proper test. The reading in our schools would rapidly and more generally improve, if teachers would themselves study elocution, and endeavour to impress its cardinal rules upon their scholars' minds.

Writing.—Penmanship is generally one of the strong subjects taught among us, and too often the only one well taught.

An improved class of copy-books is being introduced, and the number of loose sheets of paper, and "sugar-paper" copy-books, which used to be seen, are now seldom met with. There is one general defect in teaching the junior children to write on slates, and that is, the delay in learning to make capital letters until long after they can make the small ones well, and even write monosyllables from dictation. It will be seen by looking at the "programme of study," that the slates of the youngest children should be ruled with permanent lines; but I do not care to see the elder children unable to write half a dozen lines from dictation, either on paper or slates, without these aids to regularity and neatness. More attention should also be paid to providing a full supply of slates and pencils, when ordering the yearly grant. It should not be necessary for any teacher on the day of inspection to have to issue new slates, or long sticks of pencil—these are generally symptoms of a want of thorough discipline and proper management.

Dictation.—This subject is practised in almost every school, and in several with great success. Paper should if possible be more frequently used by the eldest pupils to write their exercises upon, as it is highly desirable that something more than mere copy headings should be practised. There is an almost total absence of letter writing in our schools; and in consequence, the great majority of our eldest scholars are unable to write a letter, or even properly to address an envelope. This last-named neglect may be cited as one instance of that inattention to making the instruction given in our schools practical in its character which is too generally observed.

Arithmetic.—Too little attention is given in general to this important branch of study. It is hoped and expected that the course prescribed will have the effect of making the knowledge of this subject more sound, accurate, and extended, although not so pretentiously taught as at present. "A little and well," should be the aim in teaching the value and use of figures. Notation and numeration are more generally considered to be branches of arithmetic than formerly; but "mental" arithmetic is neither systematically nor practically taught. Even where the course marked out in the "First Book of Arithmetic," is professedly adopted, I find that the rules are not well known by the children, nor are the questions varied in form by the teacher. Arithmetical tables are in general regularly rehearsed, but do not extend as often as they should into the "weights and measures." I will conclude my remarks on this head, by stating that the various modes in which a particular arithmetical question may be worked out, are not so often made plain and practised as they should be; many pupils can only do a proposed sum after one way, or according to one rule.

Grammar.—In teaching this subject, a small text book called "Grammar for Beginners," is more generally used both in school and at home. Amongst the eldest scholars, the chief rules of syntax are not sufficiently applied in their parsing lesson. Three of the great divisions of grammar, viz., orthography, etymology, and syntax, might be more frequently made to correspond with the "tripartite" plan of organization adopted, by being taught in this order. There is one general defect prevalent in the mode of teaching and learning the elements of English grammar; and that is, the want of an accurate and ready knowledge of the definitions, both in respect of the "parts of speech," and also of the ordinary grammatical terms, such as "consonant," "vowels," "genders," "mood," "neuter," &c. The number of children "learning" grammar has this year been increased; but there is still plenty of room for a much larger increase before the requirements of the "programme" can be reported as being in general satisfied.

Geography.—The geography of Australia is being taught more generally, and oftener in conjunction with map-drawing. With the text books (Wilkins' "Geography of New South Wales," and Ireland's "Geography and History of Oceania") now in our teachers' hands, and the excellent maps now on the school walls, the knowledge of the "land we live in" ought to be extensive and correct, at least to a much greater extent than it now is. I should have liked to have seen the tracks of the explorers of the present day more frequently (neatly) marked on the maps of Australia hung up in our schools. The sight of these tracings would be an evidence of an interest in the study of local geography, which all teachers should endeavour to take. In the geography of the Bible there is still but little progress made—the map of Palestine being generally neglected, notwithstanding teachers are furnished with a "hand-book" thereto. In teaching "general" geography no suitable manual is found capable of being used as an auxiliary (in the light of a "home lesson," similar in purpose to the "Grammar "Grammar for Beginners") to the viva voce school lessons; as a consequence, the knowledge obtained is vague and scanty in the great majority of instances. I may here notice two books that should be added to our stock of school books as works of reference; namely, an English Dictionary and a General Atlas. These might be used by the senior scholars with considerable advantage.

History (English).—The edition of the "History of England," now in use in our schools, is written in a much more attractive style than the former was. One lesson per week, got up well, would meet the requirements of the "programme," in respect of history. There is almost a total absence of oral instruction in this branch of school work, notwithstanding that the means for getting up historical lessons are supplied to the teachers in the form of text-books on the subject.

Vocal Music.—As regards those schools mentioned in my last report as being deficient in this item of instruction, I cannot report any extensive improvement. The school at Liverpool has had vocal music introduced, in so far as the singing of hymns goes; but this is the only exception. In many schools where singing is taught, either by ear or note, there is a want of variety in the choice of songs. I would commend to the notice of our teachers the manuals of Messrs. Martin and Murby, as affording excellent examples in the way of selections of suitable words and music for practice. Where musical notation is employed in teaching to sing, more care should be taken to give definite and accurate than extensive knowledge of the science. I do not know whether our teachers have adopted M. Wilhem's system (as it is set forth in Mr. Hullah's Manual) because they considered it to be the best, and found the means of teaching it ready at hand; but without desire of disparagement, I should like to call their attention to the excellent work of the Rev. J. Curwen ("Singing for Schools and Congregations") based on the Tonic Sol-fa method. They may derive from the introductory chapter some excellent hints as to what should be the aim in teaching children to sing; and I believe they will also find that the system fully accords with its motto—"cheap, easy, and true."

Mapping and Drawing.—Mapping, so far as sketching outlines on slates is concerned, has been more generally practised than before; and in almost all our primary schools, the senior scholars attempt the drawing of the coast line of Australia at the least. There is, however, a great want of teaching in both these departments. Many teachers merely place the map or diagram before the pupils, saying (in effect), "copy that." I have found this out, when I have asked a child such questions as these:—"If you are set to draw the map of Australia, where would you prefer to begin, and why?" "What points in the coast line are opposite each other?" "How do you test the correctness of your drawing?" The want of a text book for teaching drawing is much felt, and is probably the cause of a lack of that amount of oral teaching which should precede and accompany practical work in these as in other departments of study.

Needlework.—This essential part of the instruction given to the female pupils in our schools is now taught at the schools at Emu Plains, Bankstown, and Tarago. As regards the time given to the teaching of this subject, there is as yet no uniformity observable; in several schools too much time is devoted to this branch; Plain sewing, as distinguished from fancy needlework, is, I am glad to see, becoming more fashionable; in two or three schools it is the only kind allowed, while at several places it occupies the larger portion of the time set apart for teaching this branch of school work.

Having thus briefly reviewed the various subjects of school instruction, I will, in conclusion, respectfully invite the attention of the Board to a few matters of importance to the well-being of our schools, and necessary to the preservation of efficient supervision of them:—

- 1st. As regards the furnishing the Local Boards and teachers with the official report of the Inspector—no steps, I regret to say, have yet been taken to inform the local governors of our schools of the Inspector's opinion of their respective schools; neither have copies of my first general report, nor of my individual reports, been submitted to their notice since the beginning of the present arrangement for inspection. This has, without doubt, prevented much improvement that would otherwise have been effected; and has had a tendency to cause the official visit of the Board's Inspector to be looked upon as a mere matter of routine. I am happy to say that the tendency in this direction is not general; but unless some means of furnishing extracts from or copies of an Inspector's report to the Local Boards be soon devised, the benefit of inspection will be greatly impaired. In Great Britain, in the schools under the inspection of officers appointed by the "Committee of Council on Education," it is the practice to send (in manuscript) to the managers, shortly after his visit, a summary of each report made by an Inspector upon a particular school.
- 2nd. The devotional exercises at the opening and closing of our schools are more frequently conducted in a proper manner than formerly. There is, however, room for improvement in several schools, both in respect of regularity in, and in the manner of conducting, these exercises. It is hoped that the "Form of Prayer" recently drawn up by the Very Rev. the Dean of Sydney, and furnished to the teachers, will have the effect of causing this part of school duty to be better attended to.
- 3rd. Home lessons are not at present by any means as common as they should be, and when learned, are not so varied in subject as could be desired. It is much to be regretted that the faculty of memory is not more generally cultivated among our schools; very few of whom are able to repeat correctly even half a dozen texts of Holy Writ, much less to recite from memory easy stanzas from the best poets.

In the detailed account of the schools in the Diocese of Sydney, which is appended to this report, the following points require to be noticed:—The * prefixed to the names of those schools indicates which I have visited and inspected during 1863. Whenever the wife of the teacher is stated to take part in the instruction of the scholars, it should be understood (unless stated to the contrary) that she receives no salary as his wife, and is not required to do more than superintend and teach the needlework; though, as a rule, she adds the charge of the juniors, for part of the day at least, to this duty.

Considering that the past year has been a kind of transition time for both Inspector and schools—a time when changes found necessary at the first inspection were being planned and carried out wholly or in part—I believe I may safely say that our schools are making progress, and I trust that each succeeding year may witness a movement in the same direction.

I have, &c.,
ISAAC COBURN.

To the Honorable the Chairman of the Denominational School Board, Sydney.

* ANDREW'S, ST. (Primary), SYDNEY.

The schoolhouse is a good stone building, capable of accommodating eighty-five children. The situation is not good, being within the precincts of the cathedral. The organization, furniture, apparatus, and supply of books, &c., are good and sufficient. The discipline is not good; and, though clean at inspection, the children are said to be often untidy, and are generally unpunctual and irregular in attendance. One female assistant is paid by the teacher, and divides the work of teaching with him. The general state of attainments is fair.

* ANDREW'S, St. (Infant), SYDNEY.

The premises adjoin the primary school at right angles, and have communication with it. The accommodation is for 100 children. There is no furniture, except a fair stock of forms; and the organization, discipline, and instruction cannot be praised. The teacher pays one female assistant.

ASHFIELD.

This school, formerly held in a bake-house, has been given up.

* APPIN.

A two-roomed cottage is rented by the teacher, for the purposes of a schoolroom and residence. The room used for teaching is unsuited, and there is no proper furniture or apparatus. The children are taught by a female, and, considering the circumstances of the case, with very fair success. The room will hold about thirty-three children.

* BATHURST (Primary).

The premises, which are of brick, are two-storied, centrally situated, and have a good playground attached. The primary school occupies the ground floor, and will accommodate 112 pupils. The organization is very good, as are also the desks, furniture, and apparatus. The order, punctuality, general appearance, and management of the pupils, are by no means praiseworthy. There are two assistants paid by the teacher.

BATHURST (Infant).

Vacant.

* BARNABAS', St. (Primary), SYDNEY.

The premises are excellent in material, design, and construction, and spacious enough to accommodate 224 children. The organization, desks, general furniture, and apparatus, are very good. The discipline is too lax, especially as many of the children are rough in manners, and unused to control. They are more clean and tidy than the locality would lead one to expect. The teaching power is too weak; more than one-half should be taught in an infant school (110 being seven years old and under). Considering these facts, and the short time the school has been open, the general attainments are very fair.

* BARNABAS', St. (Infant), SYDNEY.

This school is under the same roof as the primary, from which it is separated by a wooden partition. The size of the room is small; but having a gallery, it will hold about eighty children. The supply of books, &c., is good, but as the school has been at work only a few months, the progress made is not great. The teacher has been trained, is very energetic, and has an assistant.

* BALMAIN.

The schoolhouse, though substantially built, is not well adapted for teaching, being in shape a combination of the octagonal and rectangular. It will hold 143 children, when they are grouped for teaching purposes. The desks, furniture, and apparatus are good, and the organization is the best that can be secured under the circumstances. There is a fair supply of books and maps, and the discipline and general management reflect credit on the teacher. His sister, and two monitors paid by him, carry on the instruction, which he actively superintends; and, though somewhat deficient in method, they have combinedly produced very satisfactory results—results especially manifest in the hand-writing and spelling of the pupils throughout the school.

* BANKSTOWN.

The school is held in a wooden building, capable of accommodating forty-six children. It is not fitted or furnished in a suitable manner, and the classes are not well arranged. The discipline and attainments are of a low degree; needlework is now taught. The parents of the scholars are in poor circumstances.

* BERRIMA.

A stone building, formerly the coach-house and stables of Revd. J. S. Hassall, is used as the schoolhouse, and will accommodate fifty children. Suitable desks are provided, and placed in as good positions as the shape of the room will permit. The supply of books and apparatus is good and sufficient. The discipline and general appearance of the pupils pleased me much, and I was favourably impressed with the amount of knowledge the children had acquired since the opening of the school—about eleven months. The knowledge of scripture history and of the church catechism was above the general average. Needlework ought to receive more attention.

BOLONG.

The building was not finished at the end of the year.

BURWOOD.

The schoolhouse is of brick, capable of accommodating eighty-eight children, but is neither fitted nor furnished for that number. The discipline, general management, and style of teaching are moderate only, and result in a similar state of attainments. The appearance of the children was more pleasing than the result of my examination of their school work. The teaching is solely individual in method, and is carried on by the teacher and his daughter, the former being paid by the Central Board.

* BUNGENDORE

* BUNGENDORE.

The premises are of brick, will accommodate forty children, and are neatly finished and enclosed. The desks and forms are not well arranged, but the room is neat and clean. The discipline is good; the children clean, but their attendance is very irregular, and they are said to be very dull at learning. The progress made is generally fair, and in penmanship very great.

CABRAMATTA.

The building is of wood, neat in appearance, and equal to the accommodation of forty-three scholars. The organization is very good, and the school is well supplied with desks and apparatus. The state of discipline, the appearance of the room and children, deserves to be commended. The want of better method in teaching, and the irregularity of attendance, account for a falling off in attainments, especially as regards scripture history and geography.

* CAMDEN—(Primary).

The premises are of brick, and include a residence for the teacher. The site is good, and the extent of accommodation for sixty. The organization, desks, furniture, apparatus, and supply of books, &c., are good and sufficient. The discipline is very good, and the work of teaching is carried on quietly, and, judging from examination, effectively, more especially as regards penmanship, reading, and music. The moral tone of the school is high, teachers and children working harmoniously. The teacher pays two assistants.

* CAMDEN—(Infant).

The building is of wood, will now accommodate fifty pupils, and is suitable for its purpose. The fittings include a gallery, and the school is well supplied with books and apparatus. The children are very clean and neat, and, under the zealous care of the teacher and an assistant, have made very fair progress; their singing being especially praiseworthy.

CASTLE HILL.

The wooden schoolroom used here is not large enough for the number in attendance, being only sufficient for forty. Owing to the want of proportion in its shape, the room cannot be properly organized with the present furniture. The supply of apparatus and books is sufficient. The discipline is good; but the method might be improved. The teacher's faults arise from zeal, common at his age, and will probably disappear as he gains experience. The children are clean and respectable, and have made very fair progress (except in needlework, which is not taught), considering the limited amount of teaching power, and the want of a larger schoolroom.

CANTERBURY.

School is held in a good stone building, centrally situated, and equal to the accommodation of eighty-eight children. The desks and furniture are well arranged and of very good quality; and the room, if the walls were plastered, would be a pattern of neatness. A platform, graduated to suit the desks, is required. The teaching, which does not embrace needlework, has produced good results, in reading more especially. The teacher was trained as a schoolmaster in England.

CASTLEREAGH.

The premises, which are of brick, and on Sundays used for divine service, are situated on a hill, away from the bulk of the population of the township. Nominally there is accommodation for eighty; but half the area of the floor is occupied with church pews, and the space reserved for teaching is unprovided with proper furniture. The scholars are taught by a mistress and her sister, and the method practised is solely individual. The state of attainments is fair. There is only one teacher receiving a Government stipend.

* CAMPBELLTOWN.

The premises are of brick, and they will accommodate only seventy-five pupils, a number much less than the roll-book furnishes as in daily attendance. As a consequence, the teacher has to take all the juniors into his house, where they are taught by his wife. The furniture is not good, and is badly arranged. The children are in excellent order, and the room is very neat. The daily routine is carried on, without fuss, by both the teacher and his monitors; some of the latter being children of advanced age. The general state of attainments is good; the knowledge of the catechism, penmanship, and dictation, being very good. Taken as a whole, and considering the lack of proper fittings and space, the school is in a very satisfactory state. The area fenced in for a playground is very large, and would present a pleasing prospect if the out-offices in it were in proper repair.

* CHRIST CHURCH (Primary), SYDNEY.

The building is of brick, on stone foundation, surrounded by a tastefully-kept garden and a good playground. It was presented to the parish by T. S. Mort, Esq., of Greenoaks, and is a model, as regards design and execution. Internally, it is fitted with good desks, on a graduated platform, capable of accommodating nearly 300 pupils, and is furnished with an ample stock of books and apparatus, which are neatly kept in places provided for them. Externally, ample provision is made for cleanliness, &c., and there is a good classroom attached. The discipline is good, though obtained by rather harsh measures; the children are very neat and respectable in appearance; they exhibit a fair amount of knowledge, though it is too mechanical in character. The knowledge of needlework, music, and arithmetic, is superior, and reflects credit on the teachers, of whom four are assistants receiving either Government stipends, assistance from parish funds, or payment from the head teacher.

* CHRIST.

* CHRIST CHURCH (Infant), SYDNEY.

The premises are fairly suitable, will accommodate 200 children, and are separated from the primary school. There is a gallery provided, and some desks for the senior scholars, and the use of a classroom is obtained for half the day. The organization is good; the discipline and general management very fair. The teaching is carried on by a mistress, and two assistants paid in part by her. There is a want of method visible in the teaching; but, considering the large number of children taught, the results are satisfactory, and in scriptural knowledge, penmanship (confined to the first class), and writing on slates, very good. The room and children are neat and clean, and the singing is very fair.

* COOK'S RIVER.

The premises are of brick, half the building being new and placed at right angles to the old portion; the shape is not the best for school purposes, though there is room enough for 155 scholars. The new part is fitted on the "tripartite" plan with desks, and there is a gallery in the old. The teaching is carried on by a master and his wife, and a pupil teacher, who are much overworked in taking charge of so large a school. The discipline has suffered, and the progress of the pupils has been retarded on this account. The appearance of the pupils is not prepossessing, and the attendance of elder boys is irregular. An infant school is wanted.

COBBITY.

The premises are of brick, and in good repair, affording accommodation to eighty scholars. The organization is very fair, and the fittings and furniture include a gallery for twenty. There is a good supply of materials for teaching. The pupils are clean, and in good order; but owing to the short time the school had been under the present teacher, the examination did not shew very favourable results.

* COLLECTOR.

The stone building in which the scholars are taught is also used for divine service. About seventy children can be taught in the room, which, however, is not properly fitted up, and does not favourably impress one's sight, the windows being broken and the walls disfigured. The attendance is very irregular, especially in wet weather, owing mainly to the flat nature of the ground. As regards attainments I can speak highly, the teacher (gratuitously assisted by her husband during part of the day) having worked very hard. There is a peculiar tone of voice observable in the children's answering, consisting of a throwing or jerking up of the voice at the end of each sentence. I did not notice this in all the neighbouring schools, but found the same peculiarity in one or two schools in quite an opposite part of the diocese.

CORNWALLIS.

The building is of weatherboards, and will hold about sixty-four scholars. There is no ground enclosed for recreation, but a residence is provided for the teacher. The furniture is not of the best kind, though it and the schoolroom are nearly new. There is a good supply of books and apparatus, which are neatly kept. The children are clean and fairly neat, though not far advanced in knowledge. Many of the pupils had not been at a school before this was opened. Divine service is held here on Sundays.

* DAPTO WEST.

The premises, which are of wood, and capable of accommodating sixty children, have during the year undergone extensive repairs. There is a residence for the teacher, and a large field for a playground, &c. The organization is not good; the desks should be modernized in shape. There is a very fair supply of apparatus, and also of maps, books, &c. The children are very irregular in attendance, but are neat and clean, harmonizing in these latter points with the appearance of the schoolroom. The instruction, carried on by the teacher and his wife, shews fair results, if we except the scriptural knowledge, in the teaching of which there is a great want of method. The teacher, as in other cases, has had to contribute largely towards the fund for repairs, &c., in order to raise enough to meet the wants of the school.

* DARLINGHURST, SYDNEY.

There is here a good stone building, affording accommodation to 160 children. The playground is fitted with a circular swing, is enclosed, and has excellent out-offices in the rear. Owing to a total want of proper furniture, the classes are arranged in a very unsuitable fashion. The books, maps, and apparatus, are sufficient. The discipline suffers from want of proper organization, but is very fair; the children are said to be very regular in attendance, and appear to be respectable as a whole. The staff of teachers consists of a master and two female assistants, one employed as a sewing-mistress with great success. The general state of attainments is very fair.

DENHAM COURT.

This is a wooden building, holding only thirty-five children—a less number than the names on the roll; it has an earthen floor, is wanting in out-offices, but has a residence for the teacher. There are no desks, and the forms are rough and unsuited. The children are fairly neat and clean, but are not in good order. The instruction is given by the teacher, with the occasional help of a monitor; it is deficient in method, and has produced only fair results. The teacher is not placed in comfortable domestic circumstances.

DOORAL.

The building is of wood, too small for the attendance, and is awkwardly constructed. One half of the floor is below the level of the other, and the ventilation is defective. The organization is the best that can be adopted in the case, and there is a proper supply of materials for school work. The discipline is excellent; the teaching very earnest and thorough; and had the attendance been more regular, the results would have been very good. A new schoolroom, properly fitted up, is much needed. There is a teacher's house attached, and out-offices, but both should be repaired.

* EAST

* EAST BARGO.

The schoolhouse is a wooden structure, capable of accommodating thirty pupils; it has been put in repair, and has a residence for the teacher attached; is surrounded by an enclosed paddock, but is not provided with proper out-offices. There are no desks, a few forms constituting the furniture. The children are kept in good order, are clean, but very dull, and backward in their learning. The situation is a very trying one for the teacher, being isolated from all social intercourse, and even from easy access to the means of support.

EMU PLAINS.

The school is held in a stone building, which is also the church. There is accommodation for eighty, according to measurement. Repairs are wanted in several places, especially the windows. There is great need for proper furniture; of books and apparatus there is a good supply. The discipline is very fair; the organization moderate; the attendance irregular and unpunctual. The instruction is given by teacher and monitors, and, on the whole, with fair success. The position of the teacher, in a social point of view, is not comfortable, and probably will lead to a change being made.

ENFIELD.

The premises, which include a residence, are of stone, and were erected by the late Thomas Hyndes, Esq., as a parish school. They are well adapted to the founder's purpose. The furniture, apparatus, and materials for teaching, are provided in sufficient abundance, but are not arranged and used to the best advantage. There is a great want of system in teaching and maintaining order. The appearance of the scholars was fairly pleasing, but there is a want of punctuality and regularity in attendance. The teacher and his wife divide the work of teaching; and, considering their advanced age, produce fair results. Means to enable them to retire in favour of a younger couple should be at once forthcoming, if the school is to go forward.

* FAIRY MEADOW.

The building is of wood, in good repair, capable of accommodating fifty children; but without proper offices, a playground, and in need of painting both in and outside. The organization is defective, more desks are required, and the stock of slates and pencils is too low. The discipline is not sustained, and the teaching is wanting in method. The appearance and manners of the pupils do not warrant the highest praise. The teacher, who is assisted occasionally by her mother, works hard; but from want of training, wastes her energy, and does not realize the results her superior education would lead one to anticipate.

FOSTER'S VALLEY.

Vacant.

* FOX GROUND.

This is a nice wooden building, used as a church on Sundays, and it includes a teacher's residence. The schoolroom will accommodate fifty children, that number generally attending. The ventilation is not sufficient, but the furniture is suitable and ample. The discipline is very fair, and the children are very neat and respectable in person and manners. From the isolated nature of the locality, however, they have become very shy, and require great patience and skill on the part of the teachers, even in daily intercourse with them. The attainments, except in geography and arithmetic, are very fair, but would have ranked much higher had not the school been closed for some months during the year.

* FREDERICK'S VALLEY.

The premises are constructed of wood, and are used as a place for divine worship. The accommodation is for fifty scholars; and the teacher's dwelling-house and the out-offices are in course of erection. Internally, more desks and better organization are wanted. With the exception of a clock, the school is well supplied with apparatus, and also with books and maps. The children are in fair order, clean, and punctual in attendance. More energy in teaching is required, especially as a majority of the scholars are but beginners. The teacher is assisted by his daughter, who seems to understand her duty. Considering the short time since its establishment, the school has made very fair progress.

* GERRINGONG.

The scholars are taught in a wooden building capable of accommodating seventy pupils. Divine service is celebrated here on Sundays. Repairs are necessary, particularly at the east end wall. There is a small house for the teacher, and a good enclosed playground; and a privy is being built. The organization is good, but the desks and forms are not. There is a sufficient supply of apparatus and books, &c., with the single exception of slates. The discipline is fair, but a firmer style of issuing orders is necessary. On account of the natural timidity of the children, however, the line between firmness and harshness of manner should be carefully kept in view. The appearance and manners of the children, though much improved, are by no means perfect, and the same may be said of their attainments. The attendance has been larger of late; but the income derived from the fees is very small, and irregularly paid. The teacher is anxious to deserve success, but fails from want of method in teaching.

* THE GLEBE (near Sydney).

The building is a school-church, built of brick, cruciform in shape, has a small playground and proper offices provided, and will accommodate 160 scholars. The organization and furniture are good, the apparatus sufficient, and the supply of books, &c., with the exception of slates, ample. Repairs to some of the desks should be attended to. The discipline is not firm enough in tone, but the appearance and attendance of the scholars is good. The instruction is given by the teacher and two (2) assistants, one being a pupil teacher, and the other paid by the teacher. The number of young pupils is large enough to require a separate room for their instruction. As regards attainments, the reading and dictation of the upper classes are very good; the rest of their work, with the exception of the religious knowledge, very fair. The juniors are making fair progress, but require a little more attention and supervision on the part of the teacher. The singing of the whole is good, and is the result of a good deal of attention paid to the subject.

* GOULBURN.

* GOULBURN.

The building is of brick, fairly central in situation, and comprises two schoolrooms with a teacher's dwelling-house between. The accommodation is for 100 in all; the seniors being taught by the teacher in one room, and the juniors by his wife—now a paid assistant—in the other. There is no playground provided, but the teacher cultivates a small garden in front of the school. Internally the rooms are clean, but furnished with heavy and awkward desks and forms. A clock is wanted in one room, but in other respects the school is provided with apparatus; as for books—the scholars supply themselves to a large extent. The discipline in the senior school is very fair; in the junior, good. The appearance of the children is on the whole neat and clean, but they do not appear to be very punctual in attendance. The style of teaching, especially in the upper school, might be improved, and the knowledge made more certain, and less extensive in range. The penmanship is good throughout, the grammar very fair, and, except in their knowledge of the Bible History, the pupils have made fair progress in the remaining branches. To make schools worthy of a town like Goulburn, a new primary and infant school should be built on another site.

* GOULBURN NORTH.

The premises are of brick, situated upwards of a mile from the Goulburn schools, and are used as a church. As a school they will accommodate seventy pupils. There is a small residence attached, and an enclosed playground is provided. The windows are not glazed, only filled-in with canvas. The organization is very fair, desks having been lately put in at the teacher's expense; and there is a good supply of books and maps. The discipline (which is maintained by pretty free use of the cane) is very fair, while the appearance of the children is satisfactory. The instruction is carried on after the manner of individual teaching, and is not extensive enough in range, especially in the lower classes. Except in penmanship, the pupils have not made much progress. This is due, as is also the mode of governing the scholars, to want of knowledge in the teacher; he is old, labours single-handed, but earnestly; and though at first sight his manner seems harsh, he goes about his work with a sincere desire to benefit his children. This is another case where a retiring pension is wanted, and has been earned.

* GUNDAROO.

This school is held in the church, a stone building, in good repair and well situated, and there is a small residence attached. The school was re-opened two months since, after having been closed for some years. There were thirty-two children in attendance at the close of the year.

HARTLEY.

Vacant.

HOLSWORTHY.

A school-church, built of wood, affording accommodation for fifty scholars, and having a residence for a teacher attached. The organization is moderate, the desks not well shaped; the black-board wants an easel to complete it. In other items of apparatus and books the supply is adequate. The discipline is fair; the personal appearance of the scholars wanting in cleanliness and neatness. The children are few in number, isolated in position, and dull at learning. The teacher is very anxious to bring them on in their learning, but fails to secure any but fair results, through want of a knowledge of the best methods of teaching.

HUNTER'S HILL.

The school is held in the church, a good stone edifice, capable, according to the area of its floor of accommodating ninety-six children. As, however, the church seats are arranged, the only available part for teaching is very limited. Under these circumstances, no proper organization is found; indeed no suitable fittings exist. Of books and maps there is a very fair supply. The discipline, considering the crowded space, was very fair; and the children, though generally young, very neat and clean. The scholars are taught by a mistress who is very anxious to do her duty to them; but from want of professional training, has not obtained results commensurate with her efforts. As the neighbourhood is an increasing one, a master and his wife would be pretty sure of success, if a proper room were provided.

* JAMES' SAINT—MODEL (Primary), SYDNEY.

The premises are built of brick, well situated, and cover, with the offices, residence, and playground, a considerable area, having entrances on the east and west sides. The primary school is held on the first floor, and the infant on the ground—an arrangement undesirable for school purposes, but rendered necessary from want of funds to provide separate buildings. The primary schoolroom has two large classrooms, formed by partitioning off part of the original room. The accommodation is equal to about 300 children, who are formed into senior and junior schools, and taught by a head master (who is also training master), two adult assistants, three pupil teachers, and alternately by the candidate teachers in training. The organization of each room is on the "tripartite" plan; the desks, forms, apparatus, &c., being good, but barely sufficient in number. Graduated platforms for the desks are needed, especially in the large room, where, if provided, the present huge teacher's platform should be taken down. The discipline is on the whole, very good, and the appearance and demeanor of the children, respectable. There is a want of punctuality and regularity in the daily attendance, which mars the effect of the work. As regards the attainments of the scholars, they have a very good knowledge of grammar; the penmanship and dictation are also good throughout; the needlework is very good; and excepting religious knowledge, the remaining subjects may be said to be very fairly done. Several parts of the building have been repaired during the year; but further and extensive repairs are required to the windows and the out-offices. In fact, the building is so old and extensive, that the cheaper plan in the long run, and decidedly the better for school purposes, would be to pull it down and rebuild primary and infant schools on the site.

* JAMES' ST.—MODEL (Infant), SYDNEY.

Accommodation is provided for 250, including a classroom for "babies" to the number of forty-five. There are two galleries provided, and a sufficient stock of fittings, apparatus, books, &c., with the exception of desks for the senior class. The organization, discipline, method of teaching, and general management, are excellent, and fully justify the name—Model Infant School. The instruction is carried on by a head mistress (who is also training mistress), assisted by three pupil teachers and the several candidates who may be in training. The course of instruction includes dictation, penmanship, geography, and (gallery) lessons on "common things." The state of attainments keeps pace with the general management.

* JAMBEROO.

The building, which is of wood, and is used as a church, will accommodate eighty scholars, and has a residence at the rear. There is a small playground enclosed, in which stand suitable out-offices. Several new desks are required before the organization can be reported to be "good." The school is well supplied with books and apparatus, and is in a good state of discipline. The children are generally very neat and clean, but are timid and nervous before strangers. This reserve is more noticeable amongst the girls, and may be due, in part, to the impulsive energy thrown into his work by the teacher. The elder children assist the teacher and his wife in the work of daily instruction, and the average state of attainments ranks "very fair"; dictation and writing on paper rising to "good." One or two of the scholars learn Latin after hours. Extensive repairs and some new furniture are necessary, to put the premises and school into good order.

* KELSO.

The schoolhouse is built of brick, is in good repair, will accommodate sixty children, has a residence adjoining, and is surrounded by an enclosed playground, in which stand suitable out-offices. The organization is very fair, the supply of desks not sufficient; apparatus, books, and maps, are fully supplied. The order and appearance of the children and room are worthy of commendation. The instruction is given by the teacher, with the help of his wife and one or two monitors. The average amount of attainments is very fair. It is a pity that the room, when undergoing repairs, was not made a little longer.

* KIAMA.

The building is of wood, and was formerly the church; it is in a ruinous state, and is very uncomfortable in wet weather; there is a residence close by, and out-offices and an enclosure for playground are found. Considering the bad state of repair, and the apologies for desks furnished, the organization and discipline are in a fair state. The children are not very neat, and are very unpunctual. The instruction is based on the monitorial system, but it does not embrace needlework. In grammar the upper class has made very fair progress; the knowledge of scripture history is fair; and for the most part, the progress in the remaining subjects is very fair, but too much confined to the upper classes. The teacher must have been attentive, to have done so much under such very unfavourable circumstances. There is room for ninety pupils.

* KIPPELAW.

The school-church is well built and situated; it is of stone, will accommodate eighty-eight scholars; has a residence put up, and out-offices are being built. The school has been in existence for about two (2) months during the year. It is supplied with books and apparatus, but the fittings are not finished. The majority of the scholars had never been at school before this was opened, though rapidly approaching their teens. About forty will probably be the highest average attendance.

KURRAJONG NORTH.

The building is a stone school-church, in good repair, capable of accommodating seventy pupils. There are out-offices and a residence provided, but both are in much need of repair. The organization is good; the desks want new tops; the supply of apparatus, &c., is sufficient. The discipline is excellent, and the room and children neat and clean. The work of teaching is conducted by the teacher and his wife. The singing, penmanship, and grammar, have been well attended to; and in general the attainments are very creditable. A modification of manner in giving orders would be better for the teacher, his manner in this respect being somewhat too harsh.

KURRAJONG SOUTH.

The premises are of wood, have recently been repaired, will accommodate fifty pupils, and are furnished with residence, offices, and playground. Owing to the projecting of the fire-place and chimney, the organization cannot be considered good, nor are proper desks provided. The state of discipline is very fair, as is also the appearance of the scholars. There is a want of firmness in the mode of giving orders to the pupils. The progress made in grammar and geography is not equal to that attained in the rest of the subjects—these generally being fairly done. If the chimney were removed to the end of the room, and new desks provided, the appearance of the room would be much improved, and more convenience afforded for teaching.

LEONARD'S, ST. (Boys), NEAR SYDNEY.

The building is a stone one, capable of affording accommodation to fifty-three pupils; is furnished with a residence, playground, and necessary offices. More ventilation is required. The organization is very fair; the desks, &c., good; an easel is wanted, to complete the supply of apparatus. The discipline is not good; the children fairly clean; the manner of the teacher is too harsh; the younger children read well, the seniors too fast; in other respects their attainments are fair only.

LEONARD'S, St. (Girls').

This school, which is also used for divine worship, is built of stone, and is situated upward of a mile from the boys'; it will accommodate fifty pupils, and is in good repair. The arrangement of the furniture is fair; but new desks are wanted, as well as more books and apparatus. The order and appearance of the scholars and room are praiseworthy, and the same may be said of their regularity in coming to school. The method of teaching is not good, being solely individual; and the studies are, to a very great extent, confined to learning by heart. The penmanship, the knowledge of the scriptures, and of the words of the church catechism, are good; the rest of the subjects shew only fair progress. This school is in a better situation for attendance than the boys'.

* LIVERPOOL.

The premises are of wood, two stories high, will accommodate 130 scholars, have been extensively repaired of late, and are furnished with out-offices and an extensive playground enclosed. The major portion of the scholars are taught on the first floor, the ground floor being divided into a junior school-room and teacher's residence. Suitable desks are provided up-stairs, and a gallery is erected in the junior school-room. Internally the walls want colouring; and to secure more ventilation and light, the desks should be removed to the opposite side of the room. Apparatus and books are supplied in sufficient quantities. The discipline is only fair; a want of firmness in giving orders and having them obeyed being very conspicuous. The majority of the children are very neat, clean, and fairly punctual. The teacher is assisted by a female pupil teacher, who generally has charge of the juniors; and monitors are sometimes employed. There is a want of sympathy and harmony in working the different departments of the school, which mars the work of teaching. The reading of the first division is good; the penmanship and dictation in general very good; the rest of the work is fairly done.

* LORD'S FOREST.

The school-church in which the scholars are taught is a neat wooden structure, capable of accommodating seventy-two children, and furnished with proper grounds and out-offices; new and smaller desks are required before the organization can be said to be perfect. The supply of books and apparatus is sufficient. The room is very neatly kept. The children are in good order, and clean in person and in dress. The work of instruction has for some months past been carried on by the teacher's daughter, in consequence of the illness of her father, arising from a severe sun-stroke. The pupils have made very fair progress in general, the exceptions being the reading in the lowest class, and the grammar in the upper, which are below this standard; while the penmanship, dictation, and knowledge of the church catechism, are above it. The pupils have to come a considerable distance, and are the children of poor people.

* MACQUARIE RIVER.

School is held in a wooden building, used on Sundays as a church, and capable of accommodating seventy scholars. Its situation is too much exposed to the gusts from the hills, as the walls evidence; but it is provided with a residence, offices, and an enclosed playground. The arrangement of the classes is the best that can be made while the desks remain fixed to the walls; and there is a good supply of materials for teaching. The order and cleanliness are praiseworthy, but the attendance is irregular. One teacher conducts the work of instruction, with zeal, if not with quite as much prudence as could be desired. Needlework and singing are not attempted, grammar and geography are very little known, the writing on paper and slates is good, and the children have a fair knowledge of the other subjects. The district is poor, and sparsely peopled. Repairs are wanted in and outside the residence.

MARSFIELD, PARRAMATTA.

The building is of brick, well built and situated, will accommodate 133 children, is well ventilated, and furnished with out-offices and a playground. The desks and fittings are good and fairly planned, and there is a good supply of books and apparatus. The discipline is very moderate, the classes unequally distributed; the children are fairly neat and clean, but the room is littered with books, &c. The work of the school is carried on by the teacher and his wife, and is noisily and harshly conducted—not from design, but owing to ignorance of a better method. The teacher has been twenty-four years at work in this place; and though anxious to do his duty, is too old to have so heavy a charge on his hands. Needlework is well attended to; while the knowledge of scripture history and the catechism is neither extensive, accurate, nor intelligent; the remaining subjects are known only moderately. It is a pity that in so fine a room a good school is not found.

* MENANGLE.

The school-house and dwelling are of wood, and well placed. Forty pupils may find accommodation in the former. A playground and offices are provided; but minor repairs are required, internally, and to the outside of the building. The shape of the room is not the best, nor is the furniture complete. The clock provided is not in repair, but there is a good supply of books and apparatus. The discipline is lax, though the children are fairly neat and clean. There is a want of method in the mode of teaching. The attainments are moderate throughout.

MITCHELL'S CREEK.

Vacant.

MITTAGONG UPPER.

Vacant.

MITTAGONG LOWER.

A new stone school-church has been built, but the fittings had not been put in at the end of the year, nor had it been opened as a school.

* MORUYA.

* MORUYA.

The school-church here is a nice wooden structure, well built and neatly painted inside and out. Its situation is good; the accommodation equal to eighty; and the playground, residence, and offices, are surrounded by a neat fence. The church seats are converted into desks for the day school, after the manner proposed in my first general report. There are nine so used, and they are found to answer well. The supply of books, &c., is sufficient. The discipline is in a very fair state; and the pupils, though unpunctual, are very clean and neat. The instruction is given by the teacher and his wife, who are both anxious to give satisfaction. The reading of the lowest class was done in better style than in the other classes; the writing books ought to be cleaner; the singing is good, and there is a general tone of progress observable.

* MUDGE. E.

The premises are of wood, centrally situated, capable of accommodating ninety-two pupils; and there are furnished a residence, playground, and necessary offices. The schoolroom has no floor laid down; and though good desks and forms are provided, they are not well arranged. There is a good supply of apparatus, but not of books. The order in school is obtained and maintained by too much harshness, and is not good. The room is untidy, but the pupils are clean and neat. The method of teaching is too mechanical—rote-work largely prevailing. The reading of the first class is good; there is no singing practised; and the juniors do not write. The attainments as a whole are only fair. In a town like Mudgee there should be a much larger and better school.

* MULGOA.

The building is of brick, substantially built, but not adapted to its present use. It is kindly lent by a member of the local board, and furnishes a residence for the teacher, and two rooms which will hold about fifty children. The floor is of stone; the ground attached is used as a playground, and has the necessary offices standing thereon. So far as the shape of the room will permit, the furniture is well arranged. There is a full supply of working materials, except books on religious subjects. The discipline is good, and the appearance of both children and room cannot be too highly commended. The teacher, though physically weak, is very earnest; and considering the backward state of the scholars when he re-opened the school, his teaching has not been without effect.

* NARELLAN.

The school-church is a brick building, capable of accommodating eighty children; it is in good repair, has been recently coloured inside, and has a residence, with playground and offices, attached. The organization is very fair; there are several desks; the church seats are used as forms too often, as other forms are freely furnished; and there is a good stock of books and apparatus. The discipline is very fair, cleanliness of pupils very fair, and they are pretty punctual and regular in attendance. The teacher is assisted by his daughter in the work of the school; and though the method of imparting knowledge is not of a high order, yet, owing to the zeal infused into the teaching, the general results take a very fair rank. New and lighter furniture would be more acceptable than the present stock.

* NEWTOWN (Primary).

School is held in the transept of the church. The accommodation is equal to 146, and the room is well proportioned and ventilated. A small plot of ground is used for out-door exercises, and the necessary out-buildings are provided. The desks are fixed to the walls; the forms are scattered about the room. No proper classification exists; the boys are taught by the master at one end, and the girls by an assistant (engaged by the teacher) at the other. There is a total absence of discipline; the children pay little attention, save when ruled by the rod; they are not fully employed, and are very "late comers." The majority are very backward in their learning; the elder boys have slightly improved; but, taken as a whole, there is little to praise, except the room itself.

* NEWTOWN (Infant).

This school, which has been established nine months, is for the present held in a rented chapel. The situation is very fair, but the building is not a suitable one, and under the circumstances cannot be properly fitted up. It will accommodate about sixty. The children were clean, and in good order; they are taught by an ex-assistant of St. James' Model Infant School (Sydney), and, considering all things, have made creditable progress.

* O'CONNELL PLAINS.

The premises are of wood, plastered outside and in. Thirty-two pupils can find room within the walls; a residence is attached, and a playground and office are provided. The furniture is not suitable, being old and cumbersome; sufficient apparatus is provided, but more books should be sent. The scholars are not punctual or regular in attendance; they are, however, clean and orderly, and seem to like their teachers. Most of them had to begin at the alphabet eighteen months ago, and had to learn manners at the same time; they are now making fair progress. New furniture is much wanted.

PADDINGTON.

The premises are of stone, substantially built, and will afford accommodation for 103 children. A playground is (in part) enclosed, and proper out-offices are built. The organization is good; the same may be said of the furniture. Apparatus is fully supplied, but more books are wanted. The discipline and general appearance of both scholars and room are worthy of praise. The instruction is given by the teacher and an adult female assistant. The singing, drawing, and needlework are good; grammar should receive more attention, together with the reading of the juniors, and the style of writing. The tendency of the teaching, especially in the upper classes, is to sacrifice solid and accurate work for that of a showy description.

PARRAMATTA.

There is here a very good stone building, of ample dimensions, and well ventilated. Accommodation is provided for 140 children, for whose use are also furnished a small playground and the necessary out-buildings, and for the teacher a residence. Internally, the furniture and fittings, if we except.

except a gallery running across the eastern end, are not in keeping with the room. New desks, and forms of a lighter description, are required. The supply of books and apparatus is sufficient, but neither are well used. The classification and discipline are very moderate, and, though fairly clean, the scholars are very unpunctual and irregular. The instruction is divided between the teacher and wife, the latter taking the juniors all the day. The scripture history, grammar, and reading, of the senior class are very fair; otherwise, throughout the school, the state of attainments is only moderate.

PENNANT HILLS.

The school is held in the church—a very good stone building, well placed, surrounded by a spacious playground, provided with small offices, and capable of accommodating ninety-five pupils at present. Twenty (20) feet of stonework are now being added to the length. A residence is furnished. The organization is good; the furniture, apparatus, and supply of books and maps, being also good and sufficient. The children are very neat and clean, harmonizing with the appearance of the room; and they are well distributed in classes, and kept in very good order. They are punctual and regular in attendance, as a rule. The instruction is given by the teacher, assisted by his wife (who is paid by the Central Board) and some monitors. Though wanting in method, the instruction is earnestly and kindly given. The needlework, penmanship, and singing, can be highly spoken of; the religious knowledge wants a good deal of attention bestowed upon it, as also does the study of grammar; for the rest, fair progress has been made. There appears to be a good healthy moral tone in the school, and the teachers are much respected.

PENRITH.

The schoolhouse is of wood, will accommodate 120 pupils, is provided with out-offices and a playground, but requires repairs and whitewashing. The furniture and its arrangement, and the supply of books and apparatus, are satisfactory. The discipline is not good; the rod is too freely used, yet not from harshness, but from want of firmness on the part of the teacher. The children are neither punctual nor regular in attendance, but are on the whole clean. The teacher is assisted by his wife, but the method employed is too much individual in character to reach all the school in just proportion. The progress made is only fair. Little interest appears to be taken in the school by the local board.

PETERSHAM.

The scholars are taught in a brick building, used also as a church, fairly situated, large enough to accommodate eighty-eight children, furnished with out-offices, but having no fences to define the playground. The church furniture is much in the way, and diminishes the extent of accommodation by one-third. The desks are chiefly the property of the teacher, and there is a lack of suitable forms. The supply of books and apparatus is sufficient. The discipline is very fair, but is maintained by too free a use of the cane. The children are for the most part clean, regular, and punctual. The work of teaching is conducted by the master and his wife; but though honestly, is not skilfully done. The reading throughout is moderate; grammar and geography require more attention; but the other subjects are fairly got up. More room to work in is much to be desired.

* PHILIP'S, ST. (Primary), SYDNEY.

During the year, the school has been removed to the new buildings erected on Church Hill. These premises are of brick, spacious, handsome, and thoroughly suited to their daily use. Playgrounds, offices, washing-places, &c., are fully provided; and internally the room is fitted with desks on a graduated platform. Apparatus, books, maps, &c., are fully supplied, and upwards of 150 pupils can be taught in the room. The discipline is not strict enough; the scholars are generally clean and neat; and the punctuality and regularity are very fair. The school is under the charge of a master, assisted by a sewing mistress (paid by the local board), an adult assistant and two pupil teachers. Needlework and singing are well done; the religious knowledge and reading require attention; and a more uniform series of copy-books is desirable. The remaining subjects are very fairly known.

* PHILIP'S, ST. (Infant), SYDNEY.

This schoolroom adjoins the primary. It is furnished with two (2) classrooms containing galleries; but notwithstanding these additions, the accommodation is insufficient. The school has increased since its removal from Harrington-street; 225 pupils were on the books in December. Desks are provided for the first class; and good and sufficient furniture, apparatus, and books, for the whole school. The organization, discipline, and general management, are worthy of great praise. The appearance of the room and scholars clean and tidy. A mistress and four pupil teachers are employed, and the attainments are of the same kind as at the model school, and not far inferior in degree. More room will have to be added soon, or scholars refused.

---

PICTON.

Vacant.

---

PITT TOWN.

The dwelling-house and schoolroom are of brick, well situated, but in very bad repair. Accommodation is provided for fifty-four children, and a playground and out-offices are furnished. The organization is very fair; the desks not good; and there is a very fair supply of books and apparatus. The children were fairly clean and in good order, but the room was untidy. Regularity of attendance is much to be wished for. The teacher is assisted by his wife in the work of instruction; the pupils have only a moderate acquaintance with scripture history and the catechism; their attainments in reading and writing are only moderate, in the remaining subjects fair.

PYRMONT (Boys'), SYDNEY.

The schoolhouse is a wooden building, rented, of good dimensions, but very much out of repair. The school, however, is about to be removed into a spacious room built of stone by the parish, for this purpose. At present the organization is good, though the furniture is only fair; and there is a sufficient supply supply of books and apparatus. The children are pretty clean, but are neither punctual nor regular in coming to school, and when there, are not kept in very good order. The method of instruction is very faulty—nearly all the work being by rote-learning; their penmanship, however, is good. The religious knowledge, grammar, and geography, require much more attention.

* QUEANBEYAN.

The premises are built of stone, will accommodate fifty children, and are furnished with a residence, out-offices, and an enclosed playground. Internally the wants are,—colouring for the walls, new desks and forms, and more neatness in arranging the books and apparatus, together with addition to the reading part of former stock. The discipline is very fair, the children generally clean, but very late in coming to school, and irregular in attendance. The teacher is assisted by his wife, and seems to be very anxious to do his duty; but owing to the irregularity of attendance, and to the presence of many very young children, the result of the teaching is only fair. No singing is attempted; and the reading of the first class, and their knowledge of grammar and geography, are below the standard.

* RANDWICK.

School is held in the church, a good stone building, capable, according to area, of accommodating 100 children; and the necessary out-buildings are furnished. The space allotted to the school is only about a fourth of the interior, and is quite destitute of proper furniture. The floor is made of cement—a bad arrangement in cold weather, and in the absence of a stove. The books are too few in number, and the apparatus supplied is not much used. The teaching is carried on by a mistress; and, though earnestly and kindly imparted, is deficient in method, and has produced only limited results. Singing is not attempted, and dictation, grammar, and geography, are only names; but the reading and writing are fairly done. Most of the children are very young, and unpunctual and irregular in attendance. A proper schoolroom is very much wanted here.

* REDFERN (Primary), NEAR SYDNEY.

The schoolroom is of wood, out of repair in several places, and in need of painting throughout. It will accommodate 140 pupils, and has two privies and a large playground attached. The furniture is good, and the school is organized on the "British system," which is, however, not the best that could be adopted. There is a want of slates and pencils, but other materials are fully supplied; the local board assisting in supplying these. The discipline, though maintained with too much bustle, is very fair; plenty of manual exercise is gone through, in and out of school. The scholars are generally clean and neat, regular, and fairly punctual; a little more neatness in the room is, however, desirable. The monitorial system, in accordance with the organization, is fully employed. As regards the attainments,—the penmanship, singing, mental arithmetic, and Australian geography, are good; the knowledge of the catechism moderate, and of the Bible too limited in range; the other subjects are fairly done.

* REDFERN (Infant).

A wooden building, much too small, without a classroom, and situated at the rear of the primary school. There are about 150 on the books. A gallery is furnished with two desks to the top seat, and some spare forms complete the list of furniture. The arrangements for teaching are not good, nor are the teaching and general management of the highest order, though well meant. The general state of attainments is fair, and the children are clean and tidy.

RICHMOND.

The premises are built of brick, whitewashed outside, and two stories in height; the ground floor forming the dwelling, and the first floor the schoolroom. The proportions of the rooms are not good, and roof ventilation is much needed. Sixty-six scholars can be taught here, for whose use a playground and the necessary out-buildings are provided. The organization would be good if new and smaller desks were provided; and the discipline, supply of books, &c., together with the personal appearance of the pupils, merit commendation. The attendance, however, is not very regular. The children are taught by a master, with the assistance of his wife and a few monitors. The knowledge of scripture history and geography, is moderate only; of grammar, good; needlework is well and neatly done; and the remaining subjects very fairly worked up.

RICHMOND—NORTH.

A well-built spacious school-church is here found. The accommodation is for 112 scholars, who have a playground and offices provided for them; but the teacher is not furnished with a residence. Inside, the room is clean, neat, but not supplied as a school should be with furniture, and some additional desks are needed. The children are in very fair order, kindly governed, clean in person and dress, and tolerably punctual and regular in attending school. The system of teaching is not the best adapted to make ready scholars, but it is the only method known to the teacher. The school has only been opened one year, during which time fair progress has been made.

* ROUSE HILL.

The school is held in a very neat brick building, recently used as a church, and capable of accommodating eighty-eight scholars. Outside, it is furnished with offices and an enclosed playground, and the interior is well ventilated, neatly coloured, and furnished with very good desks and forms, placed in parallel rows in three divisions. There is a good stock of books, &c. The major part of the scholars are now for the first time at school, but if only regular and attentive, they have a good opportunity of making fair progress in a short time.

RYDE.

The premises are of brick, too small for the number, the accommodation being only equal to fifty-seven. A residence, playground, and out-offices, are provided; and the buildings have been lately repaired and painted at considerable expense. The cumbersome shape of the furniture prevents proper organization; apparatus, books, and maps, are sufficiently abundant. The discipline, considering the the want of room, is good; and the pupils are clean, but not punctual. The teaching is conducted by a master and his wife (the latter being a "trained teacher"), and the attainments are on the whole very fair; the writing being too small, and the reading of the lowest class, moderate only. The room should be lengthened about twelve feet, and new furniture put in.

SACKVILLE REACH.

Vacant.

SEVEN HILLS.

The premises are of brick, very dilapidated, used as a church on Sunday. The room will accommodate sixty scholars, and is furnished with a playground, out-buildings, and residence, the two latter very much out of repair. The organization is very fair. There is a good supply of working materials, with the exception of the desks, which are old and heavy. The discipline is good, and the pupils are rewarded with tickets for coming clean, punctually, and regularly. The school is under the charge of a master, but he is assisted in teaching by his wife. Singing and needlework are well done, the reading very fairly, and the other subjects well attended to. Indeed, the zeal and kindness with which the work of teaching is here pervaded, ought not to be impaired by being exercised under such unfavourable circumstances. I am glad to say there is a prospect of a new schoolroom being soon erected.

* SHOALHAVEN (TERRARA).

This is a wooden building, centrally situated, capable of accommodating seventy children, furnished with proper out-offices, and surrounded with a small unenclosed plot of ground; externally the walls have been painted, but the interior should be renovated, and some more air-passages put in. The furniture, books, and apparatus, are good and sufficient; and the organization is good. The discipline is only fair, the appearance of the children not prepossessing as regards cleanliness and neatness, and their attendance fairly regular. The teacher's mode of life is not favourable to success; his family lives in Sydney, and consequently needlework is not taught. Singing is omitted from the curriculum; grammar, the catechism, and slate writing are fairly done; geography is very fairly known; the rest tolerably. The school is expecting a change of teacher shortly.

* SOFALA.

The schoolroom and residence are of wood, roofed with bark. The former has only accommodation for seventy-five children—a number below the average daily attendance; but proper playgrounds and out-offices are provided. The desks and forms are very fair, and well arranged; and there is a fair supply of books and apparatus. Though the room is over-crowded, the children are kept in very good order, and they are clean and neat—in these points harmonizing with the appearance of the room. The present teacher has not been long in charge; and has had to deal with children whose learning was at a very low ebb. They are progressing rapidly, under the zealous control of the teacher and his wife. An infant school should be established here.

SOUTH COLAH.

The schoolroom is built of wood, and used for divine worship. It is capable of accommodating forty-six children, and is nearly new, the floor being as yet not fastened down. The necessary out-offices are provided, and there is plenty of room for out-door exercise. The school stands on land given by the teacher. The organization is fair, the furniture good, and the supply of materials for working is complete, with the exception of maps. The scholars are clean, the room neat, and the order pretty good; but there is a want of life in the management of the school. The teacher is a man of superior education, but does not appear to possess tact. The locality is very sparsely populated, and most of the children are at school for the first time; their attainments are therefore limited.

SOUTH CREEK.

The building is of brick, out of repair as regards the roof and windows, but furnished with a residence, playground, out-offices, and will accommodate seventy-two pupils. The organization is very moderate, there being no proper classification of pupils; the furniture very old-fashioned, and the supply of books unequal to the demand. The discipline is fair, the children generally punctual and regular. The method of teaching is solely individual; and the attainments of the pupils in general only fair. There is neither singing nor drill practised; geography and religious knowledge imperfectly known; the penmanship is good, and dictation very fair.

SURRY HILLS (Primary), SYDNEY.

The schoolroom is a brick building, equal to the accommodation of 110 scholars, furnished with out-offices, playground, and a residence, which last however is not used. The organization is very good. The desks are placed in parallel rows on a graduated platform, and there is a sufficient supply of books and apparatus. The discipline is very fair, the children clean and neat, and regular and punctual in their attendance. The instructor is given by a master, who is assisted by his wife and a female pupil-teacher. The penmanship and dictation throughout are good; needlework, arithmetic, and geography, are well attended to; and the rest of the attainments, with the exception of the catechism, very fair. The state of the out-offices requires immediate attention, if the residence is to be made available.

* SURRY HILLS (Infant), SYDNEY.

The school is held in a small room contiguous to the primary. The furniture is entirely unsuited to its purpose, with the exception of the gallery. About 100 children are enrolled as attendants. Owing to the size of the room, the usual exercises practised in infant schools cannot be properly conducted. The attainments and discipline of the school are not of a high order.

---

* SURTON

* SUTTON FOREST.

The school is held in the church—a stone building very commodious, but in other respects not suitable for this purpose. No playground is provided, but a privy has recently been erected. Some new desks have been furnished by the teacher, and they are well arranged. The school is well supplied with books and apparatus; the scholars are respectable in appearance, and are kept in very good order. The monitorial system is employed; and the attainments are in general satisfactory, with the exception of the reading and dictation of the senior class. Geography and penmanship are good; although it is only very recently that writing desks have been provided.

* TABAGO.

The premises are built of brick, used as a church, and surrounded with a playground in which stands a teacher's house. The accommodation is equal to sixty; but the windows are unglazed, and the necessary offices are unprovided. The furniture, fittings, apparatus, and books, are properly furnished, and neatly arranged and kept. The children are generally clean, tolerably regular and punctual, but are not kept in good order when at work. The teacher is assisted in the management of the school by his wife and daughter. The children are somewhat backward in their learning, especially in scripture history, catechism, and writing. The reading of the middle and lowest division is however praiseworthy.

* THERESA PARK.

The children are taught in a wooden building, which is also used as a church. It is small in size, out of repair, and rough in construction; but has attached to it a small residence, and ground for recreation, in which proper out-buildings are placed. There is no furniture worthy of the name. What rough forms there are, are well arranged; and books and maps are supplied. The children are fairly neat, but dull in manner, and backward in their learning. The teacher, who is old, does his best, and keeps his charge in good order. The people are just now very badly off.

* TIRBANNA.

This is a stone school-church, in good repair, and capable of accommodating seventy scholars. A residence and a good playground are provided, but no other appendages. Excepting four church seats and a cedar plank standing on some blocks, there is no school furniture. Books are supplied abundantly, but they are not properly used in teaching. The master is too old for his work, and his scholars are very deficient in rudimentary learning. A married teacher is wanted here.

* TRINITY, HOLY (Primary), SYDNEY.

The schoolroom is well built, of stone, well ventilated and lighted, very clean and neat internally, but too small by one-third for the number attending. Outside, there is a playground bordered with trees, which shelter out-offices, water-tank, &c. The desks, forms, and fittings, are very well adapted to school requirements; and sufficient working materials are kept in stock. The discipline is good, and the general appearance of the pupils is in harmony with that of the room. Two pupil teachers, and two monitors, assist in teaching. The reading and writing of the highest class may be called good; the arithmetic throughout is fairly done, and the remaining subjects very fairly.

* TRINITY, HOLY (Infant), SYDNEY.

Two large rooms, under the same roof as the primary school, are used for teaching the infants in. Folding doors divide these rooms, in the larger of which a gallery is found, and in the smaller the "babies" are taught. About 160 children can be accommodated. They are taught by a mistress, two pupil teachers, and one paid monitor. The room and children are very clean, and good order and active attention to work are insisted upon. The out-door provisions are similar to those of the primary school. The general state of attainments is very fair, and the studies comprehend dictation and singing.

* ULLADULLA.

The building is of wood, in want of repair to make it weather-proof, and is furnished inside and out with due regard to the wants of the scholars. There is a residence furnished, but it is some distance off, and in a dilapidated condition. A few more reading books should be added to complete the stock of materials for teaching. The children are very neat and well-behaved; and the work of teaching is carried on in a very quiet manner, without however becoming languid. In the junior class more attention should be paid to reading. The seniors read with considerable taste; the writing is throughout good, and the grammar and dictation of a similar character. Indeed, with the exception of the bad state of repair in which the premises are found, the school is in a very satisfactory state. About sixty pupils can be accommodated within the walls.

* WAVERLEY.

The children are taught in a stone building, which is used also as a church, and will accommodate ninety pupils (nominally). The building is in good repair, is furnished with out-offices, but stands on a plot of ground unenclosed. Internally the space for teaching is limited—the church furniture occupying a good deal of room. There is a great need of desks and forms, but a sufficient supply of books, &c., is provided. There are too many classes, but these are kept in good order; and the children are clean, and regular in attendance. The instruction is based on the monitorial method, superintended by a mistress. Considering the crowded state of the room and method adopted, fair progress has been made, the penmanship being the best point.

* WATERLOO

* WATERLOO ESTATE (Primary).

The school-church here is constructed of wood, well situated, and surrounded by a good playground, enclosing necessary out-buildings. The accommodation is, by measurement, for 132—a number below the return of the roll; but this space is again lessened by the presence of church furniture, and there is a want of proper fittings in the shape of desks and forms. The discipline and general appearance of the scholars can be favourably spoken of. The instruction is given by a master, his wife, one pupil teacher, and a monitor—the juniors being under the special care of the second and last-named persons. Penmanship, drawing, and Australian geography, are very well done; and the attainments in the other subjects are very fair.

* WATERLOO ESTATE (Infant).

This school is held in a rented cottage opposite to the site of the primary school. The building is unsuitable, and the furniture very limited in supply. The room has been opened as an infant school for six months; but the stipend for the teacher will not commence until next year—the existing school being now looked upon as forming part of the primary. In a suitable room, properly fitted, and under a trained teacher, the attendance might be largely increased, as the neighbourhood is a populous one.

WILBERFORCE.

The premises are of brick, two stories in height, very much in need of repairs, especially to the walls; furnished with necessary out-offices and grounds; and capable of accommodating sixty-four pupils on the first floor, and the teacher's family on the basement. The furniture is good, and well arranged; and the stock of materials is sufficient. The children and room are kept in good order, and the former are regular and punctual. The master is assisted by his wife, and by monitors; and the instruction is carried on quietly, yet earnestly, and in a good spirit. The penmanship and grammar of the upper class and arithmetic are praiseworthy; and the general state of attainments is very fair. Drill and vocal music are practised daily.

WINDSOR.

The schoolroom and residence are of brick, fairly situated, and lately thoroughly repaired. The accommodation is ample, ninety scholars being the present limit. A playground and the necessary out-buildings are provided; but the floor of the room is a brick one, and not very evenly laid. The furniture and its arrangements are of the worst description; but the stock of books and maps is quite equal to the demand. Order is maintained chiefly by use of the rod; and the method of instruction is very faulty. Singing and drill seem to be unknown; and the state of attainments is in general very moderate. The teacher has been upwards of twenty-two years engaged in his present work in this district, and has had no opportunity of witnessing other schools at work. Some provision should be made to enable him to retire.

* WINGECARRIBEE.

A new school-church, built of stone, and capable of accommodating eighty children, has recently been erected. The interior is furnished with desks; and the school was at work the last two (2) months in the year. Thirty-eight scholars were in attendance at the close of the year.

* WOLLONGONG.

The brick building forming the schoolhouse and residence, has of late been enlarged and thoroughly renovated. The schoolroom will now hold 120 pupils, and very nice desks and forms are fitted up for their use. Outside the walls are separate playgrounds and offices. The scholars are kept in excellent order, and the room is very neat. The attainments are only fair, but the present teacher has not long had charge; and as he is the seventh within the memory of a first-class boy, it will be evident that the progress could not be greater than it is. Now that every auxiliary to progress is provided, it is expected that another year will witness a marked improvement.

* WOONONA.

The wooden school-church at this place is now too small for the attendance, seventy-two being the maximum number on the roll. Ten or twelve feet should be added to the length. The teacher would not then be compelled to use part of his dwelling to teach in. A playground, &c., are provided. The organization is the best that can now be made; but if the room were to be lengthened, the present desks might be made smaller, and placed in another direction. The supply of books, &c., is good, and the general appearance and management of the scholars very praiseworthy. The master, his wife, and daughter, have all laboured hard since they came. The scholars generally are making considerable progress, though the religious knowledge is only moderate. Needlework is well attended to, and singing practised.

* YASS.

The schoolroom is very old, and much overcrowded. A new room is wanted, as the numbers are increasing. The residence and offices are very badly built, and no playground is provided. Inside, the furniture is very fair, and arranged as well as circumstances will permit. Notwithstanding the limited space, the children and room are very neat, and kept in excellent order. The penmanship, needlework, and knowledge of the catechism, are good, the arithmetic is fair, and the rest of the subjects are very fairly taught. The numbers attending, and the size of the town, are sufficient to warrant the establishment of a larger school.

APPENDIX A.

A PROGRAMME OF STUDY recommended to be pursued in the Church of England Primary Schools, in the Diocese of Sydney.

SUBJECTS.

- The Holy Scriptures* . . . . . The 1st and 2nd Divisions should be made acquainted with the general outline of Scripture History; and should study in detail the books of St. Luke and the Acts of the Apostles.
The 3rd Division should be familiar with the History of Our Saviour, and with the biographies contained in the Book of Genesis.
Note.—In addition to the above, the whole school should learn by heart portions of the text of the Bible; for which purpose the Faith and Duty of a Christian may be used.
- The Church Catechism* . . . . . The 1st Division should learn the text of the Catechism throughout, and be able to explain its meaning.
The 2nd Division should learn the text throughout, with the exception of that relating to the Sacraments.
The 3rd Division should learn by heart the Apostle's Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and the Ten Commandments; and should be able to explain, in their own idiom, the meaning of the most prominent words and phrases of the same.
Note.—Teachers are strongly advised to give a lesson once a week to the 1st and 2nd Divisions on the Liturgy. The pupils should be made to understand the Order of Public Worship; should be taught how to find the proper Collects, Lessons, &c., therein used; and should have the nature and contents of the various offices of the Church explained to them, to the end that they may use the Prayer Book with "the spirit and the understanding."
The children of parents who object to their being taught the Catechism and Liturgy are regarded as exempt from the necessity of receiving these lessons.
- Reading* . . . . . The 1st Division should be able to read fluently and with expression the Third Book of Lessons, and to explain the meaning of the principal words and phrases of the several lessons.
The 2nd Division should exhibit a similar knowledge of the Second Book of Lessons and of the First Sequel thereto.
The 3rd Division should be able to read clearly the First Book of Lessons either from the books or the cards, or to read the lessons on the mounted sheets (large size). In either case, the children should be able to spell the words, and to explain, in their own language, the meaning of their reading lesson.
- Writing* . . . . .
(Including Dictation.)
On Slates. { The 1st Division will be expected to write neatly, expeditiously, and correctly, any passage dictated from Third Book of Lessons, or from Bithell's Spelling Taught by Dictation, &c.
The 2nd Division should write neatly, and with correct spelling, any passages dictated from Second Book of Lessons.
The 3rd Division should be taught to write clearly and neatly the Alphabet, in both small and capital letters, and to copy from the black-board monosyllables in text-hand. The slates for this division should have lines 3/4-inch apart cut in lightly on one side.
On Paper. { The 1st Division should be taught to write copies in small, text, and large hands, neatly; and when practicable, dictation on paper, the drafting of letters, receipts to tradesmen's accounts, &c., should be added.
The 2nd Division should be taught large text and text-hand copies.
- Arithmetic* . . . . . The 1st Division should be able to work any sum in compound rules and reduction, neatly, correctly, and quickly; and, in numeration and notation, to read and write correctly up to 100,000,000.
The 2nd Division should be able to put down by dictation correctly to 100,000; and to work sums in simple addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division, correctly and neatly.
The 3rd Division should be able to count and put down on slates numbers as high as 1,000; and to work sums in simple addition and subtraction up to thousands.
Mental Arithmetic and Tables. { This 1st Division to know all the tables in the First Book of Arithmetic, and to work the examples in mental arithmetic in the same manual; cases i. to xii. inclusive.
The 2nd Division to know the multiplication table to the end of 12 times; the pence, shillings, and time tables; and to be able to work mentally all arithmetical operations with numbers not involving a higher result than 100.
The 3rd Division to know the multiplication table to the end of 5 times, and to be able to add and subtract numbers not involving a higher result than 30.
- Grammar* . . . . . The 1st Division to know the Grammar for Beginners, in detail, and to be able to parse sentences out of Third Book to page 73, on the model of that grammar.
The 2nd Division to know the Grammar for Beginners to page 26 inclusive.
The 3rd Division to be able to define the parts of speech in simple language, and to point out nouns and adjectives in their reading lessons.
- Geography* . . . . . The 1st Division to know the outlines of general geography, and to be familiar with the geography of Australasia and Palestine.
The 2nd Division to know the outlines of the geography of Australasia and Palestine.
The 3rd Division should be able to give simple definitions of common geographical terms, and to point out examples of the same on a map.
- History (English)* . . . . . The 1st Division to be acquainted with the outline facts of English history, and in detail with the history of the period of the Reformation.
- Music (Vocal)* . . . . . When practicable, all the scholars should be taught simple moral and religious songs. When the singing is taught by notes, some acquaintance with the elements of music will be required.
- Drawing* . . . . . When practicable, the drawing taught should be geometrical or linear drawing, on a simple scale—the object not being so much to obtain a thorough command of the pencil, as to educate the eye and judgment in the study of proportions, to aid in cultivating the faculties of observation and comparison.

Mapping

- Mapping* ..... The 1st Division should be able to sketch in outline, the Maps of Australasia, Palestine, and Europe; and if possible, to fill up the first fully. Object aimed at—the power of inserting from memory places in correct relative positions.
- Needlework* ..... The girls of the 1st and 2nd Divisions to exhibit specimens of plain needlework.
- Home Lessons* ..... These are recommended to be set out of the following School Books:—Faith and Duty of a Christian, Chief Truths of the Christian Religion, Collects, Questions on the Books of the Bible, Watts' Divine and Moral Songs, Australian Geography (Ireland's), Arithmetic, Grammar for Beginners (Cornwell's), Bithell's Spelling Taught by Dictation, Outlines of Chronology, and Table Book. The children should not take home more than one book each at a time, and Teachers should see that all books lent are punctually returned and in good order. Payment for lost books should also be insisted on, as the Teacher is held accountable for the school books, &c., supplied by the Board.
- Object Lessons* ..... These may be given about once a week, on the subjects treated of in the Third Book of Lessons, or on the Map of Comparative Sizes of Animals, or the Illustrations of Natural Philosophy.

- MEMORANDA.—The Local Boards, and Teachers of the respective Schools, are requested to observe:—
- 1st.—That, in issuing this Programme, the objects aimed at are—1st, to furnish a general standard to which our teachers should work, and by which the examination of our schools may be uniformly conducted; and 2nd, to render the teaching in our schools less desultory than at present, and thus make it more substantial and satisfactory in its results.
  - 2nd.—That, in accordance with the recommendation contained in the Inspector's Report to the Central Board, the scholars in our primary schools are supposed to be grouped primarily in three divisions, i.e., on the "Tripartite" plan.
  - 3rd.—That this Programme exhibits the minimum rather than the maximum amount of attainments required from the scholars, the great majority of whom will be expected at the next annual inspection to be proficient in the allotted subjects, unless sufficient cause can be shewn to the contrary.
  - 4th.—That the pupils of the 1st and 2nd Divisions must be respectively prepared to pass examination in the subjects allotted to a division one degree below their own.
  - 5th.—That due allowance will be made at inspection for want of proper appliances for carrying out the Programme, as regards the lack of apparatus and teaching power; but on the other hand, in schools where these appliances shall be found to be ample, this Programme will be taken strictly to mark the minimum standard of required attainments.

Church of England Schools' Office, Sydney, July, 1863.

APPENDIX B.

A PROGRAMME OF STUDY recommended to be pursued in the Church of England Infant Schools in the Diocese of Sydney.

SUBJECTS.

- The Holy Scriptures* .... The 1st Division should be familiar with the history of Our Saviour, and with the biographies contained in the Book of Genesis.
The 2nd Division should have some knowledge of the history of Our Saviour, and the biography of Joseph; and should also be able to repeat texts of scripture bearing on the duties of obedience, truthfulness, honesty, &c., &c.
The 3rd Division should be taught the history of Our Saviour's birth, the early part of the life of Joseph, Moses, or Samuel; and should be able to repeat the Lord's Prayer, and such texts of Holy Scripture as are within their comprehension.
- The Church Catechism* .. The 1st Division should be able to repeat from memory the Apostles' Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and the Ten Commandments; and should be able to explain, in their own idiom, the meaning of the most prominent words and phrases of the same.
The 2nd Division should be able to repeat the Lord's Prayer and the Commandments distinctly, and should have some knowledge of their meaning.
- Reading* ..... The 1st Division should be able to read clearly in the First Book of Lessons, either from the books or the cards, or to read the lessons on the mounted sheets (large size); in either case the children should be able to spell the words, and to explain, in their own language, the meaning of their reading lesson.
The 2nd Division should be able to read and spell monosyllables from cards, and have some knowledge of their meaning.
The 3rd Division should be taught to point out small and capital letters on the reading card, and should be able to form and pronounce words of two or three letters.
- Writing (on slates)* .... The 1st Division should be taught to write clearly and neatly the alphabet, both small and capital letters, and to copy from the black-board monosyllables in text-hand. The slates of this division should have lines  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch apart cut in lightly on one side.
The 2nd Division should be able to put down from dictation the small letters of the alphabet, and to copy from the black-board monosyllables, without capitals, in large hand.
The 3rd Division should first be taught to make the elements of the letters of the alphabet, and then to combine them.
- Arithmetic (on slates)* .. The 1st Division should be able to count and put down on slates numbers as high as 1,000, and to work sums in simple addition and subtraction up to thousands.
The 2nd Division should be able to put down figures from dictation, or to copy them from the board and explain their value.
- (Mental) .... The 1st Division to know the multiplication table to the end of five times; to be able to add and subtract numbers not involving a higher result than thirty; and to have some knowledge of the Roman numerals, and of the pence and shillings tables.
The 2nd Division should be taught the addition of small numbers, and should be able to count up to 100.
The 3rd Division should be taught to name the figures when written on the board; also to count correctly up to twenty.

Note.—The ball-frame or abacus should be used both in teaching and proving the operations in arithmetic.

Geography

- Geography* ..... The 1st Division should have some knowledge of the geography of New South Wales, and should understand its position with regard to the other Australian Colonies.
- Object Lessons* ..... The 1st Division. These lessons may be given on the various substances used for food or for clothing; and where the children are sufficiently advanced, lessons on metals and manufactured goods may be given with advantage.
The 2nd Division. The children in this division should continue the subjects commenced by them in the 3rd Division, additional information being given, and the senses exercised to ascertain the qualities of the objects.
The 3rd Division should be taught to notice the uses of common things, as articles of furniture, &c., and to name their different parts—the teacher assisting the children to express themselves.
- Natural History* ..... The 1st Division should shew some knowledge of the wonderful instinct and various structure of animals, and be led to trace God's wisdom in these His works. Introductory lessons on the "Human Frame" should also be given to this Division.
The 2nd Division should be able to describe the appearance of the common domestic animals, and should have some knowledge of their habits, food, and uses.
The 3rd Division should be taught to describe the appearance of animals with which they are familiar, and to observe their habits.
- Lessons on Form* ..... The children may be taught to notice the various forms of common objects, to compare and describe them, and occasionally be exercised in sketching them on their slates.
The printed capital letters may also be used as exercises; the children being required to describe and point out the elements, and then produce them on their slates.

Note.—A lesson should be given on objects, on natural history, and on form, once a week.

A good deal of useful knowledge of "common things" may be obtained from these lessons, if carefully given.

The leading objects to be kept in view when giving these lessons are—to cultivate the faculty of observation, and to teach the children to express their thoughts correctly and clearly.

- Singing* ..... Every Division should be taught to sing simple hymns and school songs; care should be taken that the children repeat the words distinctly before learning the tune.

MEMORANDA.—The Local Boards and Teachers of the respective schools are requested to observe:—

- 1st.—That in issuing this Programme the objects aimed at are—1st, to furnish a general standard to which our teachers should work, and by which the examination of our schools may be uniformly conducted; and 2nd, to render the teaching in our schools less desultory than at present, and thus make it more substantial and satisfactory in its results.
- 2nd.—That in accordance with the recommendation contained in the Inspector's Report to the Central Board, the scholars in our infant schools are supposed to be grouped primarily in three divisions, i.e., on the "tripartite" plan.
- 3rd.—That this Programme exhibits the minimum, rather than the maximum, amount of attainment required from the scholars, the great majority of whom will be expected at the next annual inspection to be proficient in the allotted subjects, unless sufficient cause can be shewn to the contrary.
- 4th.—That the pupils of the 1st and 2nd Divisions must be respectively prepared to pass examination in the subjects allotted to a division one degree below their own.
- 5th.—That due allowance will be made at inspection for want of proper appliances for carrying out the Programme, as regards the lack of apparatus and teaching power; but on the other hand, in schools where these appliances shall be found to be ample, this Programme will be taken strictly to mark the minimum standard of required attainments.

APPENDIX F.

St. Leonard's,
14 January, 1864.

Sir,

In presenting to your Honorable Board, my third general annual report on the Catholic Schools of New South Wales, I have to record the same steady progress as in the previous year.

I visited 101 schools during the year 1863. Of these, seventy-six were visited once; twenty, twice; three, three times; and two, five times; making in all 135 visits. Five schools were opened during the whole year which I had not sufficient time to visit. The flooded state of the river prevented me visiting Burrigorang, when in Picton. Three were temporarily closed, at the time of my visit. Thirteen new schools have been opened during the year; of these I have visited six; the remaining seven were not in operation when I passed through the districts in which they are situated.

The mixed schools at East Maitland and Moruya have been formed into male and female schools, conducted in separate apartments. As these changes took place after my visit, I must report on these two schools still as mixed ones. The schools inspected include—

| Tumut .. .. .       | I had not time.                              |
| Young .. .. .       | I had not time.                              |

The new schools not visited are Gerringong, Greendale, Lagoon, Lochinvar, Orange (male and female), and the Oaks.

The total number of children on the roll-books, in the schools inspected, was 7,077, the number present being 4,671:—

|                                  | Boys. | Girls. | Total. |

* I could not get the required returns from all the roll-books, and those furnished by some were not correct, so they are not included.

Total distance travelled, 3,875 miles.

The attendance for the number of schools has not been as large as may be expected, in consequence of the inclemency of the weather during the examination of some of the metropolitan schools and many of the country ones.

A detailed statement of the schools, shewing their condition, is appended hereto.

A steady improvement is observable during the past year, regarding the efficiency of the teachers. With few exceptions, the old inexperienced teacher has been replaced by the young trained one. The same improvement is observable regarding the suitability of the school buildings, but not to the extent of that which took place in 1862.

Four are held as before—in the halls underneath churches, twelve in churches, and where held, eighty-five in houses used for no other purpose, with the exception of a few which are occasionally used on Sundays.

The improvement in accommodation is very satisfactory. I would instance Saint Mary's female Buildings school, once held in Macquarie-street, Camden mixed school, and Parramatta mixed school.

New buildings are contemplated in many places, and would have been erected during the past year, only for want of funds; however, there are three or four in course of erection.

The buildings which are at present most unsuitable for school purposes, are those in which newly opened schools are temporarily held.

Number of schools in which the buildings are—

|                               |            |
|-------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 87         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 9          |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .    | 5          |
| Total .. .. .          | 101 |

The suitability of the buildings for school purposes is—

|                                  |            |
|----------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair in .. .. .          | 77         |
| Tolerable or moderate in .. .. . | 18         |
| Indifferent or bad in .. .. .    | 6          |
| Total .. .. .             | 101 |

Suitableness.

With only a few exceptions, the absence of water-closets can only be traced to some of the new schools. In a few of the old-established ones they are kept in a most disgraceful state, and that in the city of Sydney.

Number of schools to which the out-buildings are—

|                                   |            |
|-----------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .              | 63         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. .     | 13         |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .        | 16         |
| Without any out-buildings .. .. . | 9          |
| Total .. .. .              | 101 |

The healthfulness of the school buildings, as well as the suitability of the site of each, may be put down as follows, viz:—

|                               |            |
|-------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 74         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 16         |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .    | 11         |
| Total .. .. .          | 101 |

Playground. My remarks regarding playgrounds, in my last report, still hold good:—Where they are attached to schools, there is little if any use made of them.

The playgrounds accommodation may be given as under, viz:—

|                                |            |
|--------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .           | 86         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. .  | 6          |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .     | 4          |
| Without any playground .. .. . | 5          |
| Total .. .. .           | 101 |

Furniture. Only a few of the old schools can be said to be deficient in furniture; and although all the new ones were so at the time of my visit, they have been nearly supplied since.

The state of the schools as regards furniture may be thus tabulated:—

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .                                | 76         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. .                       | 8          |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .                          | 10         |
| Without any furniture supplied by the Board .. .. . | 7          |
| Total .. .. .                                | 101 |

Maps, desks, and black-boards. The schools are at present, on the whole, very well supplied with maps, desks, and black-boards; they are not so with clocks.

The supply of maps, desks, and black-boards, is—

|                                  |                |
|----------------------------------|----------------|
| Good or fair in .. .. .          | 71             |
| Tolerable or moderate in .. .. . | 14             |
| Indifferent or bad in .. .. .    | 12             |
| Without any .. .. .              | 4 New schools. |
| Total .. .. .             | 101     |

Books. The supply of books in each school is much more adequate to meet the requirements of the schools than during the past year.

The schools may be tabulated, with regard to the supply of books, as under:—

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .                      | 70         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. .             | 14         |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .                | 13         |
| Without any supplied by the Board .. .. . | 4          |
| Total .. .. .                      | 101 |

Residences. There has not been much done in the erection of residences for teachers, during the past year. These useful appendages to schools may be thus exhibited:—

|                               |            |
|-------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 50         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 16         |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .    | 9          |
| Without a residence .. .. .   | 26         |
| Total .. .. .          | 101 |

Roll-books. In the keeping of the roll-books there is much carelessness on the part of many of the teachers. Some ignore the necessity of keeping them at all, more than the writing of the names of the pupils as they are admitted in the school, and marking their attendance at the end of the week. In justice, I must say that some are very well kept.

Number of schools in which the roll-books are—

|                               |            |
|-------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 60         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 22         |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .    | 19         |
| Total .. .. .          | 101 |

MORAL CHARACTER OF SCHOOLS.

Regularity. The regularity of the children in attending school, has much to do with their success in their studies.

It is to be deplored that parents do not take a more lively interest, or shew more anxiety in the education of their children, than they do in the Colony of New South Wales.

Number of schools in which regularity is—

|                               |            |
|-------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 47         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 20         |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .    | 34         |
| Total .. .. .          | 101 |

Punctuality. Number of schools in which punctuality is—

|                               |            |
|-------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 44         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 24         |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .    | 33         |
| Total .. .. .          | 101 |

Discipline. The discipline in the Catholic schools is, on the whole, tolerably satisfactory, with the exception of a few which are under the supervision of old untrained teachers. The same may be said of the order. Order. The government of the schools is mild—in some instances too much so. Government.

These three may be thus tabulated:—

|                               |            |
|-------------------------------|------------|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 60         |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 21         |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .    | 20         |
| Total .. .. .          | 101 |

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL REPORT.

37

I wish I could speak as favourably of the different parts which constitute the moral character of schools, as I can of cleanliness.

Number of schools in which the cleanliness is—

|                               |     |
|-------------------------------|-----|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 84  |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 12  |
| Indifferent or bad .. .. .    | 5   |
| Total .. .. .                 | 101 |

These are not to be seen in many of our schools, and when they are, they are very seldom adhered to.

In twelve schools they are very well formed and well attended to, and fair in seven.

The annexed table exhibits the schools with regard to time tables :—

|                               |     |
|-------------------------------|-----|
| Good or fair .. .. .          | 19  |
| Tolerable or moderate .. .. . | 30  |

| Without any .. .. .           | 36  |
| Total .. .. .                 | 101 |

The classification is much the same as last year, in the majority of the schools.

Classification.

Number of schools in which the classification is—

With regard to the general efficiency of the schools visited and examined by me, during the past year, I consider that, on the whole, the subjects which are taught to the children, their lessons on the Christian doctrine, historical catechism, reading, writing, dictation, and arithmetic, are done with care and with some degree of success, although I must say that arithmetic is not as practically treated in many schools as is necessary; for whilst the children work sums set for them in a particular shape, they do not in many instances take down and work off with sufficient readiness and accuracy easy sums which may be given by dictation. I do not consider that the geography and grammar are what they should be.

The honesty of the children at their lessons, and the straightforwardness which characterizes the school work, are for the most part satisfactory. There are exceptions, and I fear such exceptions will always exist; but looking at the body of our trained teachers, I believe they are all fully alive to the duty devolving upon them as teachers. It is no easy matter, with irregularity of attendance and a fluctuating body of children, to maintain that proportionate advancement in the different classes which, I firmly believe, a very large body of our trained teachers earnestly desire to maintain. The age of the children attending school, and the length of time they remain in the same school, especially in the city of Sydney, should be borne in mind, in connection with the amount of book knowledge which may be fairly expected from them.

Of

Of the children upon the registers in the schools examined by me, I find that no less than forty per cent. were under seven years, and no less than thirty per cent. under ten years, and at the same time thirty-five per cent. had been in school less than one year, and twenty per cent. less than two years. These are discouraging facts to those who would look for great results in actual attainments; but with all these drawbacks, the Catholic schools of New South Wales have effected a very great amount of good within the last few years, both in the attainments of the pupils and moral character of the schools. The religious instruction has been carefully attended to.

I have, in my last report, alluded to an opinion which I formed, after careful inspection—inspection not of the upper classes only, but of the schools throughout—respecting the present state of our school-children, as to their reading, writing, and arithmetic. I am certain that it is not possible to lay too great stress upon these three essential subjects of elementary teaching; and there can be no more sure test of a good school than to find, in addition to the religious knowledge, that these three every-day subjects are carefully and successfully taught. While able to report favourably of many schools, still in some, sufficient attention is not paid to discipline, and too often, matters of civilization and manners, and a good and proper demeanour, are overlooked, also cleanliness of person and neatness of dress. The provision for propriety and decency in the out-offices is often very inadequate; and in some schools due attention is not paid to clearing the desks after business is over, washing the floors, &c., causing the schoolroom to wear a very slipshod appearance.

As regards organization, too many teachers are still adhering to the practice of keeping their classes standing on the floor, even when the school is provided with plenty of good desks. I have seen this done even at the arithmetic and dictation lessons, when desks, if they can be had, seem specially needed to support the slates. There is not sufficient attention paid to the mode of disposing of the caps and bonnets, both with reference to neatness and appearance in the school-room during school time, and to facility of finding them when the children leave school. The copy-books are too often kept in a very disorderly way, not only in reference to the untidy appearance of each copy-book, but also in regard to the copy-books of one class being mixed up with those of another. The presses in which the books and other apparatus are kept are very frequently more dirty and disarranged than they ought to be. The rolls are in some cases very badly kept, which may be seen from the detailed statement of each school. New rolls are much needed. The classification of the teachers, as well as yearly examinations, would be of much service to our schools.

I have, &c.,

W. P. CASEY,
Inspector of Catholic Schools.

DETAILED STATEMENT of the condition of Catholic Schools inspected during the year 1863.

The letter a refers to the state of the school accounts.

“ b “ “ cleanliness of the schoolroom, &c.
 “ c “ “ supply of requisites and books, &c.

APPIN:—Visited, 8th September, 1863.

Numbers present at the examination:—16 boys, 12 girls; total, 28.

Schoolhouse needs repair. Discipline and order are moderate. The children are fairly attired, but moderately clean in person. Punctuality and regularity are tolerable. A press is required for the use of the books. None of the third or second class could read with any kind of ease, or explain any of the words of the lesson read. Arithmetic and grammar are very poor. None could tell the meaning of the diameter of the earth. The teacher said “it was a line passing through the earth.” One had six mistakes in writing the Lord's prayer, and all the others failed in writing it. The writing is very bad, and the copies unclean to a degree. The teacher is inactive, and wants system; a, fair; b, moderate; c, fair.

ARALUEN:—Visited, 13th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—18 boys, 22 girls; total, 40.

A slab building, in good repair. The order and discipline are very moderate. The pupils are moderately clean in person and dress. Punctuality and regularity are also moderate. Although at present the attainments of the pupils are very meagre, there are hopes of it this year, under the care of its present teacher, who is only in charge of it two weeks. No black-board, clock, or time-table; a, moderate; b, bad; c, deficient.

ARMIDALE, (M.):—Visited, 13th March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—28 boys.

An excellent brick building, belonging to the teacher. The order is not very satisfactory. The pupils are clean in person and dress; they are unpunctual, but regular in their attendance. The proficiency in attainments is, on the whole, fair. Maps are insufficient. Desks are not very suitable. The teacher is painstaking; a, very good; b, very good; c, tolerably fair.

ARMIDALE, (F.):—Visited, 16th March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—33 girls.

The room in which this school is held forms part of that in which the male school is held. The order is not pleasing. The cleanliness of the pupils is very good. Pegs for the bonnets, &c., are much needed. Maps are insufficient. Desks are unsuitable. The attainments are fair; a, very good; b, very good; c, tolerably fair.

BALMAIN:—Visited, 27th March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—14 boys, 17 girls; total, 31.

The school is held in the church, which is a fine stone building. The space allowed for the use of the school is insufficiently large. A new schoolhouse is needed. The cleanliness of the children is satisfactory; the order is not. Punctuality and regularity are tolerably fair. The attainments of the pupils are very meagre; a, tolerable; b, good; c, fair.

BAULKHAM HILLS:—Visited, 29th April, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—8 boys, 7 girls; total, 15.

The school, which is a new one, is held in the church, which is a good stone building. The books, desks, forms, maps, &c., required for this school, had not been supplied at the date of my visit; they were shortly after. The school is only three weeks in operation; the children's attainments, therefore, cannot be spoken of, neither can the order. The school was very much needed in the district; a, none; b, fair; c, none.

N.B.—The teacher not being competent or duly appointed, was dismissed, and an efficient one placed in charge of the school.

BATHURST (M.):—Visited, 15th May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—61 boys.

A brick building, in tolerable repair, excepting the roof. I had much reason to be pleased with the orderly bearing and cleanliness of the pupils. The moral tone is good. Punctuality and regularity are well attended to. The writing, arithmetic, and geography, are good; history, fair; and grammar, tolerable. A pupil teacher is needed for this school; a, well; b, tolerable; c, good, excepting the want of desks, which I believe no longer exists.

BATHURST (F.):—Visited, 14th May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—19 girls.

The same may be said of this schoolroom as of the above, regarding its state of repair and its furniture. The order, cleanliness, and demeanour of the pupils, are most satisfactory. The moral tone of the school is good. The attainments of the third are fair in reading and history, tolerable in geography and arithmetic, and barely tolerable in grammar. The writing of this class is good; the attainments of the other classes are meagre; a, well; b, good; c, poor.

BATHURST (I.):—Visited, 13th May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—5 boys, 35 girls; total, 40.

The appearance of the children in this school is satisfactory. The order, cleanliness, and discipline, are good; regularity, bad; punctuality, fair. The proficiency is pleasing; a, well; b, good; c, fair.

BULLI:—

BULLI:—Visited, 16th September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—18 boys, 12 girls; total, 30.

A slab house, in very moderate repair. Nothing has been done in the way of improving the house, excepting the erection of a kitchen. There is not an out-office attached to the school. The cleanliness of the pupils is fair; punctuality and regularity are tolerably fair. The proficiency in reading, writing, and arithmetic, is fair, and in geography and grammar, meagre. The copies are clean, and on the whole fairly written; a, fair; b, well; c, moderately fair.

BERRIMA:—Visited, 29th October, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—19 boys, 10 girls; total, 29.

The schoolhouse is suitable, and in good repair. The order and demeanour of the pupils are very fair; punctuality and regularity are good. The proficiency in reading, grammar, writing, and dictation, is very satisfactory; arithmetic is fair, and geography poor. The school is thought much of in the district; a, well; b, well; c, good.

BRAIDWOOD:—Visited, 23rd November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—25 boys, 29 girls; total, 54.

This schoolroom is in good repair; it is too small. The order is pleasing, and so is the cleanliness of the pupils. The reading of the senior class is fair, and the explanation of all the difficult words in the reading lesson, and the correctness of the dictation, were good. This class is fair in history; the answering in the other subjects was poor. The attainments of the junior classes are low. A mistress is needed for this school. Many families have left the town of Braidwood and its vicinity for Araluen, which accounts for the poor attendance; a, well; b, good; c, good.

BUNGENDORE:—Visited, 9th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—21 boys, 22 girls; total, 43.

The school is held in the church, which is a very noble stone building. The teacher's residence is a very bad one. No water-closet. A new supply of books, which is much required, is daily expected. The order is fair. The pupils are rather unpunctual and irregular in their attendance. The attainments of those who attend regularly are satisfactory; a, well; b, good; c, poor.

BURROVA:—Visited, 14th December, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—2 boys, 3 girls; total, 5.

The building is in good repair. The school was to be closed for the Christmas holidays on the 11th instant—the day I arrived at Burrova. I requested that it might be kept open another week; but in consequence of the teacher's marriage taking place on the 13th, the school could not be kept open any longer, according to the directions of some of the local board. However, I attended the school on the following Monday, which was a very wet day. There were only five present. The school has not had a fair average attendance while the present teacher is in charge of it. The teacher is unhealthy, and is altogether physically incapable to conduct a school. The attainments of the few who were present are poor; a, moderately; b, good; c, sufficient, and in good condition.

CAMDEN:—Visited, 7th September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—16 boys, 17 girls; total, 33.

A good brick building, in good repair. A residence for the teacher has been erected. The order is bad. The cleanliness of the pupils is good. The attainments are, on the whole, poor, except in arithmetic. The copies are unclean, and the writing carelessly executed; a, tolerable; b, untidy; c, moderate.

CAMPBELLTOWN:—Visited, 1st September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—44 boys, 28 girls; total, 72.

The building is in good repair; it is insufficiently large. The order and discipline are moderate; punctuality and regularity are fair. The attainments of the fourth class are fair in arithmetic, moderate in reading, and very moderate in geography and grammar; the copies belonging to this class are clean, and some well written; dictation is tolerable. For the third and second classes, as well as the sequel, I cannot say much; very few in the third and second classes can read with any kind of ease; none can explain the words of the lesson, or discern more than the article and noun in grammar; geography is likewise very poor; a, well; b, bad; c, insufficient.

CAMPERDOWN:—Visited, 27th August, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—55 boys, 44 girls; total, 99.

The schoolroom is insufficiently large; two rooms which adjoin the schoolroom should be made into one, for the use of the girls. The order and discipline are not satisfactory; punctuality and regularity are fair. The proficiency of the upper class is fair, I may say good in some subjects. The attainments of the other classes are tolerable. The copies are all clean, and the writing, on the whole, very fair; a, well; b, very moderate; c, moderate.

CASTLEREAGH-STREET:—Visited, 12th October, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—7 boys, 21 girls; total, 28.

The schoolroom is in good repair; it is not a very suitable one; a new schoolhouse is about being erected. Discipline is fair; punctuality and regularity are very moderate. The attainments are meagre, except in reading, which is, on the whole, tolerably fair. There are many private schools in the neighbourhood; a, fairly; b, good; c, good.

CATTAI CREEK:—Visited, 4th May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—20 boys, 8 girls; total, 28.

The building is suitable, and in fair repair. The pupils are clean in person and dress. The order is moderate, and the discipline lax. The attainments of the pupils are very low. The school has not advanced since I first saw it. The teacher wants training; a, moderately; b, fair; c, very poor.

CHARCOAL CREEK:—Visited, 10th September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—29 boys, 28 girls; total, 57.

The building is insufficiently large; a new one is much needed. The pupils are clean in person and dress. The discipline and order range between fair and tolerable; punctuality and regularity are fair. The attainments of the fourth class are satisfactory in reading, arithmetic, and grammar; and moderate in geography and dictation. The proficiency of the other classes is very fair. The copies are clean, but carelessly written; the pupils evinced a great desire to please and answer correctly; a, fairly; b, fair; c, good.

CHURCH HILL (Female):—Visited, 3rd July, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—28 boys, 60 girls; total, 88.

The hall needs colouring; it is badly ventilated, and the windows do not admit a sufficient supply of light. The pupils are clean in person and dress; they are tolerably regular, but unpunctual. The order and discipline are moderate; the subjects taught do not range high. The attainments of the pupils present may be considered fair. Owing to the season of the year, the attendance was far below the average. On my visiting the school some five or six days after the examination, I found 113 pupils present; a, fairly; b, bad; c, fair.

CHURCH HILL (Infant):—Visited, 16th July, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—24 boys, 29 girls; total, 53.

This school is held in a portion of the female schoolroom; the same may be said of it as was said of the one above. The children are tolerably clean. Their instruction is well attended to; according as they advance in information they are drafted into the girls' school. Owing to the season of the year, the attendance was small; a, moderately; b, very moderate; c, poor.

COLLECTOR:—Visited, 5th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—7 boys, 8 girls; total, 15.

The school is held in the church, which is a good stone building. No water-closets; no desks, slates, or black-board. The cleanliness of the pupils is much improved. There is no third class in the school. The pupils have a fair knowledge of the matter contained in the few books which are in the school. The day of examination was exceedingly wet; a, badly; b, satisfactory; c, very poor.

CONCORD:—Visited, 27th April, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—21 boys, 16 girls; total, 37.

The building is in good repair; the order is tolerable; the children are regular and punctual in their attendance; they are clean in person and dress. The attainments of the pupils are low. The present teacher is only three months in charge of the school; a, very moderately; b, fair; c, good.

COOK'S RIVER:—Visited, 23rd June, 1863.

This school is held in the church, which is a new brick building. No water-closets; the order is moderate; the pupils are clean in person and dress; punctuality and regularity are tolerably attended to. Although the attainments of the children are low, yet there is visible improvement; a, tolerably; b, unsatisfactory; c, insufficient.

COOMA:—Visited, 30th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—13 boys, 20 girls; total, 33.

House too small and not central. No clock or black-board. The order and discipline are bad; punctuality and regularity are good. The children are clean in person and tidy in dress. The pupils are timid in answering, and speak in an under tone; they are poor in their attainments. The writing is badly attended to. The teacher has a young family, and therefore cannot attend to her school duties; a, tolerably; b, good; c, poor.

DAPTO:—Visited, 11th September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—18 boys, 13 girls; total, 31.

The building is in good repair. The order and discipline are moderate; punctuality and regularity are bad. The pupils are tolerably clean in person and dress. The attainments of the pupils are fair in reading, very moderate in arithmetic, and bad in grammar and geography. The copy-books are clean, but carelessly written; a, well; b, satisfactory; c, tolerable.

DOUBLE BAY:—Visited, 31st March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—17 boys, 8 girls; total, 25.

This is a new stone building; it is not centrally situated; the ground requires to be enclosed. The discipline is as yet defective; punctuality and regularity are tolerably well attended to. The children are clean in person, and decently attired. The attainments of the children are low. The school is in its infancy; it is a promising one with the present teacher; a, fairly; b, good; c, good.

GOSFORD:—Visited, 4th August, 1863.

The buildings are in a most dilapidated state. A few books and a clock are all the furniture in the room. I did not examine the few children in attendance; their ages ranged between three and seven; a, very badly; b, fair; c, not any.

N.B.—The school was closed at the end of the month.

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL REPORT.

43

GOULBURN (Male):—Visited, 2nd November, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 48 boys.

The school buildings are in good repair. The order and discipline cannot be said to be anything like perfect as yet, the present teacher having been only one month in charge of the school. The pupils are fair in punctuality and regularity; their cleanliness is also fair. Their attainments are poor. The copy-books are dirty and badly written. At present there are hopes of it becoming a good school; a, fair; b, very moderate; c, fair.

GOULBURN (Female):—Visited, 3rd November, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 42 girls.

The building is an excellent one. The order and discipline are good; punctuality and regularity are fair. The pupils who were included in last year's examination, and who formed the high school, are at present in a boarding school in the convent, and are therefore no longer under the Board; but, through some mistake, their names were retained on the roll, and returned on the monthly abstract, up to the date of my visit. The pupils examined, many of whom are of an advanced age, have not been long at school. The reading, writing, and grammar, are good, arithmetic and dictation are moderate, excepting with three; a, bad; b, good; c, moderate.

GOULBURN (Infant):—Visited, 4th November, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 44 girls.

An excellent schoolroom, well kept, and very well furnished. The order and discipline are good. Punctuality and regularity are also good. The children are clean in person, and tidy in dress. The second class read very well, named the parts of speech, spelled all the numbers up to thirty, and the days of the week except one; they also spelled the months of the year; a, bad; b, good; c, fair.

GUNNING:—Visited, 17th December, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—7 boys, 17 girls; total, 24.

This school is held in the church, which is a good stone building in good repair. No water-closets or clock. The order and discipline are moderate; punctuality and regularity are good. The children are clean in person and dress. The answering was, on the whole, pleasing. This school is doing very well; a, fair, b, good, c, moderate.

HARTLEY:—Visited, 11th May, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—18 boys, 13 girls; total, 31.

This building is too small. The order and discipline of the pupils are fair. The children are clean in person and dress. The moral tone is improved. The attainments of the fourth class are most satisfactory in arithmetic, geography, grammar, dictation, and writing. The third and second classes are very tolerable in their attainments; a, well; b, bad; c, moderate.

IRISHTOWN:—Visited, 24th September, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—12 boys, 8 girls; total, 20.

This school is held in the church; it requires apparatus and furniture very much. The school has been only a short time re-opened. The children are timid; order and discipline cannot be expected to be seen in a school in operation only a month. The attainments of the children are very poor. The teacher was suffering from a severe fit of sickness. The people of this district are very poor, and cannot pay anything towards furnishing the school; a, fair; b, moderate; c, very poor.

JAMBEROO:—Visited, 18th September, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—30 boys, 23 girls; total, 53.

The building is in good repair. The order and discipline are good. Punctuality and regularity are very well attended to. The tone of the school is much improved. The cleanliness of the pupils is most satisfactory. The proficiency in attainments is most pleasing. The pupils are not allowed to write any text-hand. The school has increased in its attendance; a, well; b, good; c, good.

JEMBAICUMBENE:—Visited, 11th November, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—30 boys, 32 girls; total, 63.

The schoolroom is in good repair; it needs desks and a black-board, Third Reading Books, and some slates. The order and discipline are, on the whole, fair. Punctuality and regularity are well attended. The pupils are clean in person and tidy in dress. The proficiency of the junior classes is satisfactory, but that of the senior classes is not so promising, in consequence of their education having been neglected when young, and at present not being able to attend school as regularly as the others. The writing requires more attention. The school has increased in its attendance; a, moderate; b, fair; c, moderate.

KENT-STREET, NORTH (Male):—Visited, 30th September, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 93 boys.

The schoolroom is in good repair; it is insufficiently large. The order and discipline are very good; punctuality and regularity are also very good. Cleanliness of person and neatness of dress are most satisfactory. The tone of the school is, as usual, very good, and the teaching as effective as in previous years. Satisfactory progress has been made during the year, more especially in the 4th and 3rd classes. The copy-books are clean, and many of them well written; a, very well; b, good; c, good.

KENT-STREET, NORTH (Female):—Visited, 24th July, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—17 boys, 60 girls; total, 77.

The material state of this school continues to be good. The pupils are tolerably punctual, but irregular in their attendance; they are clean in person, and fairly attired. The discipline is moderate. Fair proficiency has been made during the year, except in the junior classes; a, well; b, good; c, fair.

KENT-STREET

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL REPORT.

KENT-STREET SOUTH (Male):—Visited, 1st July, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 30 boys.

The schoolroom is in the same state as already reported. The pupils are unpunctual and irregular in their attendance; they are tolerably clean in person and dress. The order is moderate. The grown boys who were in the school last year having gone to trades &c., and the present not having been long at school, will in some degree account for the want of a higher proficiency in attainments. They are moderate. The writing is not tolerable. The teacher is most careless in every way—in his personal appearance in the school, as well as to performing the duties required of him in keeping the school accounts and instructing those under his care. I have found him during school hours walking about the schoolroom while the pupils were teaching classes; a, very bad; b, very moderate; c, fair.

KENT-STREET, SOUTH (Female):—Visited, 30th June, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 21 girls.

The schoolroom is in very moderate repair; it is unsuitable. The children are irregular and unpunctual in their attendance. The order and discipline are moderate. The children are to a great extent infants, and therefore their attainments are necessarily low. Owing to the season of the year and the state of the weather, the attendance was small; a, bad; b, fair; c, good.

KINCUMBER:—Visited, 3rd August, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—11 boys, 13 girls; total, 24.

The buildings are in much need of repair. The pupils are unpunctual, but regular in their attendance. The discipline is tolerable, and the cleanliness of the pupils fair. The attainments are moderate in grammar, geography, arithmetic, and writing; and fair in reading and dictation; a, moderate; b, bad; c, poor.

KURRAJONG:—Visited, 5th May, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—9 boys, 14 girls; total, 23.

The building is in bad repair. No black-board and easel. The pupils are clean in person, and fairly attired. The order and discipline are very bad. The attainments of the children at present in this school are very low; many of them between the age of eight and ten years do not know their letters; a, moderate; b, moderate; c, very poor.

LANE COVE:—Visited, 26th April, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—12 boys, 7 girls; total, 19.

The material state of the school building is good. Considering the state of the weather, the children are clean in person and dress; they are moderately regular and punctual in their attendance. The discipline and order are only tolerable. Judging from the results, the methods of instruction are not good. Proficiency is only observable in arithmetic; there is none in reading, geography, or grammar; a, fair; b, good; c, good.

LIVERPOOL:—Visited, 26th June, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—10 boys, 13 girls; total, 23.

The buildings are in good repair. The order and demeanour of the pupils are good; they are tolerably punctual, but irregular. The moral tone is improved. The proficiency of the pupils, for the short time the present teacher is in charge of the school, is very satisfactory; a, well; b, good; c, ample.

MAITLAND WEST (Male):—Visited, 6th March, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 71 boys.

The schoolroom is in good repair. The pupils are regular, and tolerably punctual. The moral tone of the school is in some respects satisfactory. The discipline is unsatisfactory. The pupils are clean in person, and tidy in dress. The attainments of the pupils are not pleasing. The methods of instruction want more energy infused into them by the teacher; a, well; b, good; c, very fair.

MAITLAND WEST (Female):—Visited, 5th March, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 55 girls.

The material state of the school buildings is good. The order and discipline are unsatisfactory. The pupils are regular, and tolerably punctual; they are clean in person, and cleanly attired. The methods of instruction are defective. The progress in attainments is not at all satisfactory; a, very moderate; b, good; c, very moderate.

N.B.—The teacher has since resigned.

MAITLAND, EAST:—Visited, 26th February, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—26 boys, 18 girls; total, 44.

The schoolroom is in good repair; it is insufficiently large. The pupils are irregular and unpunctual in their attendance; they are clean in person, and tolerably attired. The order and discipline are most unsatisfactory. The moral tone is not pleasing. The pupils are mentally inert, and careless of sustained attention. There is no visible proficiency discernible in the pupils' attainments; a, tolerable; b, moderate; c, sufficient.

N.B.—The teacher has since been removed to a new school at Lochinvar.

MENANGLE:—Visited, 2nd September, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—24 boys, 28 girls; total, 52.

The building is in good repair. Punctuality and regularity are fairly attended to. The pupils are clean in person, and decently attired. The moral tone is fair. The third class is fair in arithmetic, tolerably so in reading, and very moderate in geography and grammar. The answering of the other classes was, on the whole, poor. The copies are clean, but very moderately written. None of the children write on slates, nor are they allowed to write text-hand; a, fair; b, well kept; c, very fair.

MILLER'S FOREST:—Visited, 3rd March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—29 boys, 27 girls; total, 56.

The school buildings are in very good repair. In consequence of the late rains, the attendance was much below the average. The pupils are, on the whole, punctual and regular; they are remarkably clean in person and dress. The order and discipline are good. The proficiency is fair in arithmetic, and tolerable in geography and grammar. The children read with ease and considerable fluency. Speaking generally, the school is in a fair working order, and the moral tone in some respects satisfactory; a, fair; b, good; c, good.

MORPETH:—Visited, 4th March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—43 boys, 23 girls; total, 66.

The school was not held in the new schoolhouse, at the time of my visit, although it had been completed some eight months. The people would not have a school to be held in the house when built, although intended for a schoolhouse; shortly after my visit, it was occupied as a schoolhouse. The pupils are tolerably punctual and regular in their attendance; they are not yet brought under proper discipline, neither are they classified; they are tolerably clean in person, but untidy in dress. The attainments are, on the whole, fair. The school is, at present, a promising one; a, fair; b, good; c, fair.

MORUYA:—Visited, 17th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—41 boys, 43 girls; total, 83.

The material state of the buildings is good. No clock in the school. The pupils are punctual, and regular in their attendance; they are clean and neat in person and dress. The order is fair. The tone of the school is satisfactory. The attainments of the pupils are, on the whole, moderate. The reading, through the whole school, as well as the explanation of the subjects read, is unsatisfactory. The writing and arithmetic require more attention; a, good; b, moderate; c, very fair.

N.B.—A female teacher has since been appointed to take charge of the girls; so that, at present, this school forms two separate schools.

MUDGE:—Visited, 21st May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—29 boys, 11 girls; total, 40.

A very good building. Punctuality and regularity are well attended to. The pupils are clean in person and dress, and fairly disciplined. The moral tone is improved. In attainments, the reading, arithmetic, and writing, are between fair and tolerable; the grammar and geography are poor, although there is a slight improvement visible. The decrease in the attendance is owing to the absence of a female teacher; a, well; b, good; c, poor.

MUSWELLBROOK:—Visited, 19th March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—14 boys, 10 girls; total, 24.

The school is held in the church, which is a good stone building. An out-office is much needed. The children are regular, but unpunctual; they are clean in person. The school is in its infancy. The attainments of the children are very low; a, bad; b, fair; c, very poor.

MURTAGONG:—Visited, 28th October, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—12 boys, 13 girls; total, 25.

The building is in good repair. Punctuality and regularity are tolerably fair. The order and discipline are bad. The pupils were very moderately clean in person and dress. The teacher was very untidy in her person. The attainments are poor. The teacher has not been attentive to her duties. I must say that I have been much disappointed in her as a teacher; a, very bad; b, fair; c, fair.

NEWCASTLE:—Visited, 25 February, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—40 boys, 38 girls; total, 78.

The school building is in good repair. The pupils are clean in person, and fairly attired; they are unpunctual, but moderately regular in their attendance. The moral tone is promising. The attainments of the third class are tolerable, of the second moderate, and of the sequel very moderate. The writing is unsatisfactory; a, fair; b, bad; c, sufficient.

NEWTOWN:—Visited, 22nd June, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—19 boys, 13 girls; total, 32.

The schoolroom is unsuitable; it is rented by the teacher. The children are punctual, but irregular. The discipline and order are moderate; cleanliness of person and dress pleasing. The children attending this school are, with a few exceptions, infants; their attainments are low. The writing is, on the whole, very fair; a, good; b, good; c, ample.

NIMTYBELLE:—Visited, 1st December, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—13 boys, 15 girls; total, 28.

The schoolhouse is a good weatherboard building, in good repair. The children are punctual and regular in their attendance; they are clean in person and dress; they are not disciplined. The names of the pupils are very badly written in the roll-book; there is nothing else of school accounts in it. The writing in the copy-books is very bad. The attainments of the pupils are very poor. The school is a new one; I have no hopes of it under the present teacher; a, very bad; b, good; c, none, some is daily expected.

NERRIGUNDAH:—Visited, 19th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—17 boys, 16 girls; total, 33.

A good slab building, in good repair. The pupils are unpunctual, but regular in their attendance; they are clean in person, and decently attired. The order and discipline are fair. The attainments of the pupils are, on the whole, satisfactory, more especially the junior class. The reading was good, and arithmetic poor. The copies are clean and fairly written. The school is only a short time in operation; a, good; b, good; c, good.

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL REPORT.

PARRAMATTA-STREET (Male):—Visited, 28th July, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 75 boys.

The material state of this building is good. The water-closets are in a most disgraceful state; and, for the sake of common decency, something requires to be done to them. Punctuality and regularity are fairly attended to. Cleanliness of pupils is satisfactory. The discipline is good. The moral tone of the school is improved. The proficiency of the pupils is satisfactory in all the classes excepting the second; a, bad; b, bad; c, fair in some respects. The teacher, having since shewn wilful carelessness in attending to his duties, was reduced to an assistant teacher at Saint Mary's Model School.

PARRAMATTA-STREET (Female):—Visited, 24th August, 1863.
Numbers at the examination, 138 girls.

The material state of the building is tolerable. The erection of a new schoolhouse is contemplated. The pupils are regular, but unpunctual in their attendance; they are neat and clean, both in person and dress. The order and discipline are good. The subjects taught are suitable; but the methods of instruction are, in some instances, obsolete. The proficiency is, on the whole, satisfactory in each of the subjects taught in the school, except in géography. The copies are all clean, and many of them well written. The pupils are capable of sustained attention during an examination; a, b, and c, are very good.

PARRAMATTA-STREET (Infant):—Visited, 25th August, 1863.
Numbers at the examination:—65 boys, 74 girls; total, 139.

The portion of the building in which this school is held is in bad repair. The boys who are in this school are too grown for it. Punctuality and regularity are moderate during this season of the year. The order and discipline are fair. Cleanliness is good. The attainments range as fair; a, b, and c, are good.

PARRAMATTA:—Visited, 21st October, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—49 boys, 41 girls; total, 90.

The buildings are very good. Punctuality and regularity are good. The order, discipline, and cleanliness are also very good. The tone of the school is much improved. I cannot say much, if anything, in favour of the pupils' attainments, except in dictation, which is fair with the third class. The reading of this class is poor; géography, grammar, and arithmetic, are very much below the average. The average of this class is twelve years. The reading of many in the second class is more satisfactory; they understood what was read, and can distinguish articles, nouns, adjectives, verbs, and prepositions. Arithmetic and géography are very poor. Average age, ten years. The sequel class is fair, and so is the first. The copies are carelessly written. The teacher's state of health is not good, which may account for the absence of higher attainments; a, b, and c, are good.

PADDINGTON:—Visited, 25th March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—12 boys, 14 girls; total, 26.

The schoolroom is unsuitable; it is rented by the teacher. Punctuality and regularity are badly attended to. The order and discipline are very bad. The children are clean in person and dress. The attainments are very poor. The slates and books are, to a great extent, destroyed by the children. The teacher has not much control over them; a, very bad; b, fair; c, very poor.

PETERSHAM:—Visited, 25th June, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—16 boys, 10 girls; total, 26.

The material state of the schoolroom is good. Punctuality and regularity are badly attended to. Cleanliness is fair. The order and discipline are moderately fair. The attainments of the children are, on the whole, fair. Owing to the state of the weather, the attendance was meagre; a, fair; b, fair; c, good.

PROSPECT:—Visited, 28th April, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—6 boys, 6 girls; total, 12.

The east end of the building requires some repair. Punctuality and regularity are badly attended to. Discipline and cleanliness of person are fair; the attainments of the children are very low. No water-closets; a and b are moderate; c, fair.

PITT-STREET SOUTH (Female):—Visited, 16th July, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 61 girls.

This is a good schoolroom; it is all needed for the girls. Punctuality and regularity are not well attended to. The discipline is moderate. The pupils are neat and clean in person and dress. The pupils are inattentive and much inclined to talk when at their desks; they are also inattentive in class, and unable to sustain an examination. The attainments of the pupils are, on the whole, moderate, some few excepted. Owing to the season of the year, the attendance was below the average; a, moderate; b and c are good.

PITT-STREET SOUTH (Infant):—Visited, 7th August, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—25 boys, 35 girls; total, 60.

This school requires to be held in a separate apartment. Discipline is moderate. Cleanliness is fair. Punctuality and regularity are badly attended to. The children are fair in their attainments; they are very well attended to by their teacher; a, fair; b, good; c, fair.

PICTON:—Visited, 4th September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—18 boys, 20 girls; total, 38.

The building is in good repair. The cleanliness of the pupils is pleasing. The order and discipline are moderate. The pupils are punctual and regular in their attendance; they are not classified on the roll. The attainments of two are good in arithmetic, géography, grammar, and reading. The attainments of the others are moderate, except in writing, which is, on the whole, satisfactory. Dictation is moderate. The suggestive method is too much resorted to; a, bad; b, good; c, good.

PENRITH:—

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL REPORT.

PENRITH:—Visited, 17th May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—27 boys, 29 girls; total, 56.

This is a good slab building. The pupils are unpunctual and irregular in their attendance; they are clean in person, tolerably attired, orderly, and moderately attentive. The attainments of the children are, on the whole, meagre. Many of them have not been long at school; a, b, and c, are good.

PHENIX PARK:—Visited, 27th February, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—41 boys, 21 girls; total, 62.

This is a rough slab house, nearly new. The children are punctual and regular in their attendance. The order and discipline are bad. The cleanliness of the children is fair. The attainments are meagre. The children are attentive and willing to learn. The school is only two months in operation. It was much required; a, very moderate; b, fair; c, very poor.

QUEANBEYAN:—Visited, 26th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—27 boys, 22 girls; total, 49.

The material state of the buildings is very good. The pupils are moderately punctual and regular in their attendance; they are clean in person, and decently attired. The order and discipline are moderate. There is a proficiency observable in the attainments of the pupils, yet they are not so advanced as I would expect them to be. The writing is very moderate; a, bad; b, good; c, fair.

RAYMOND TERRACE:—Visited, 2nd March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—8 boys, 3 girls; total, 11.

A slab house, in good repair. The children are unpunctual and irregular in their attendance; they are clean in person and dress. The order and discipline are bad. The methods of instruction are bad. The attainments are very poor; there is no proficiency whatever. The school has fallen away of late in its attendance; a, moderate; b, good; c, good.

N.B.—Teacher has been dismissed.

REDFERN:—Visited, 17th June, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—12 boys, 27 girls; total, 39.

House is much in need of repair. The children are unpunctual and irregular in their attendance; they are clean in person, and fairly attired. The order is tolerable. The attainments of the children are moderate; many of them are infants; a, very moderate; b, moderate; c, ample.

REIDSDALE:—Visited, 12th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—29 boys, 18 girls; total, 47.

Houses are in good repair; they are insufficiently large. Punctuality and regularity are fair. Cleanliness is also fair. The discipline and order are moderate. The attainments of the pupils are fair, except in geography; they have not made any proficiency during the past year. The writing is very bad. Prompting in class by the teacher a great barrier to progress. The teacher appears to have paid more attention to farming and other worldly matters, of late, than to his school; a, very bad; b, moderate; c, good.

RICHMOND:—Visited, 1st May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—42 boys, 53 girls; total, 95.

Buildings are in good repair. The playground requires to be enclosed. The pupils are punctual and regular in their attendance; they are clean and neat both in person and dress. The order and discipline are between fair and moderate. The proficiency is, on the whole, fair, except in geography. The school has increased during the past year; a, fair; b, good; c, fair.

RYDE:—Visited, 24th June, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—16 boys, 21 girls; total, 37.

The school buildings are in a good state of preservation. The pupils are tolerably punctual, but irregular in their attendance; they are clean in person and dress. The order is fair. The attainments of the third class are, on the whole, tolerably fair. The other classes are very low in attainments. The writing is satisfactory; a, bad; b, good; c, good.

ST. MARY'S (Male):—Visited, 20th October, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 138 boys.

The pupils are punctual and regular in their attendance. The order and discipline of the pupils are good, on entering the school from the playground, and on leaving school, but the noise in school is intolerable. The pupils are clean in person and dress; they are not able to sustain an examination for any length of time; they are inattentive and talkative in class and out of it. The moral tone of the school is between fair and moderate. The attainments of the fourth class are, on the whole, satisfactory, and their writing good; their knowledge of the first book of Euclid and algebra to quadratic equations is very fair. The attainments of the other classes are not so pleasing, and their copies are dirty and badly written. Too much attention has been given to geometry and algebra, I fear; or to the fourth class, to the detriment of the other classes. I have not always found the roll-book in the school; a, very bad; b, very moderate; c, good. The maps are, generally speaking, kept in a store-room.

ST. MARY'S (Female):—Visited, 7th July, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 90 girls.

This schoolhouse is a new one; it is insufficiently large for the requirements of the school. A private room is needed for the ladies teaching this school, and a proper place for the cloaks and hoods of the pupils; a clock and map of the world are needed. The pupils are tolerably punctual, but irregular in their attendance; they are clean and decently dressed. The discipline is moderate, and the order indifferent. The attainments of a few in the most advanced class are fair, of all the others very moderate. The pupils are, with few exceptions, inattentive; a, moderate; b, good; c, fair.

This school is held in the end of the same room with the girls, which is unsuitable. The children are clean in person and dress. The order is moderate; their instruction is well attended to; they are drafted into the girls school when fit for it; a, moderate; b, good; c, fair.

ST. ANN'S (LIVERPOOL ROAD) :—Visited, 27th May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination :—3 boys, 8 girls; total, 11.

This room, which is rented by the teacher, is unsuitable to be used as a schoolroom. The children are unpunctual and irregular in their attendance; they are clean in person and dress. The attainments of the few pupils present are very meagre; a, bad; b, moderate; c, fair.

N.B.—The school is at present held in the church.

SHOALHAVEN :—Visited, 21st September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination :—14 boys, 6 girls; total, 20.

This schoolhouse is a rough slab building; it is uncentral; a portion of the new schoolhouse is built. Punctuality and regularity are badly attended to. The order and discipline are fair. The pupils are tolerably clean in person, but untidy in dress. The attainments of two are fair, of all the others very poor. The copies are tolerably clean and fairly written; a, good; b, bad; c, fair.

ST. LEONARD'S :—Visited, 17th April, 1863.

Numbers at the examination :—20 boys, 19 girls; total, 39.

This is a newly erected weatherboard building, well fenced, and possesses good out-buildings and playground. Punctuality and regularity are tolerable. The children are clean in person and fairly attired. The discipline is moderate, yet the demeanour of the pupils is good; the moral tone of the school is also good. The proficiency in arithmetic, geography, and grammar, is very satisfactory; and in reading and writing, tolerable. The subjects taught receive all the attention they require from the teacher; a, b, and c, are good.

SINGLETON :—Visited, 20th March, 1863.

Numbers at the examination :—30 boys, 15 girls; total, 45.

The material state of the school buildings is very bad; a new schoolhouse is much needed. The pupils are irregular, but reasonably punctual in their attendance; they are clean in person and decently attired. The order and discipline are good, and the moral tone fair. The instruction is conducted with care, but the suggestive method is too much resorted to. The attainments of the third class are fair on the whole, the second tolerable, and the sequel fair. What the pupils know they understand; a, b, and c, are good.

SPRING VALLEY :—Visited, 6th November, 1863.

Numbers at the examination :—15 boys, 11 girls; total, 26.

This is a good rough slab house. No water-closets, black-board, or clock. Punctuality and regularity are moderate. Cleanliness is tolerable. Order and discipline are bad. The attainments are promising for children who have not been long at school. The school is not long in operation; a, moderate; b, tolerable; c, fair.

Numbers at the examination :—17 boys, 24 girls; total, 41.

The buildings are in good repair. The pupils are punctual and regular in their attendance. The order and discipline are moderate; they are not as good as they were last year. The pupils are clean in person and fairly attired. The attainments are fair in arithmetic; and low in reading, geography and grammar. The copies are clean, but badly written; a, tolerable; b, good; c, fair.

SOFALA :—Visited, 18th May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination :—1 boy, 4 girls; total, 5.

The state of this school and schoolhouse is much to be deplored. The building (or hut, more properly speaking) has been already described; there is some talk of building a new school-house. This school should have been closed two years ago. The poor children whom I saw in the school do not know more than their letters; two of them were servants, having infants in their arms; a, b, and c, are very bad. N.B.—This school was closed at the end of the month.

SOUTH CREEK :—Visited, 6th May, 1863.

Numbers at the examination :—12 boys, 17 girls; total, 29.

This schoolroom is unsuitable, a new one is about being built. The pupils are punctual, but irregular in their attendance; they are clean in person and decently attired. The order and discipline are fair. The instruction is conducted with fair judgment. In attainments, the third class may be considered fair, and the second and sequel classes tolerable as a whole. The reading of some of the children was very good; a, good; b, fair; c, fair.

SUTTON FOREST :—Visited, 30th October, 1863.

Numbers at the examination :—27 boys, 11 girls; total, 38.

The school buildings are in good repair, but the schoolroom is insufficiently large. Punctuality and regularity are between fair and moderate. The order and demeanour of the pupils are good, and their cleanliness pleasing. The pupils answered with less timidity than at the last examination. The proficiency is, on the whole, fair. The copies are clean and fairly written. The teacher is industrious; a, moderate; b, good; c, moderate.

SURRY HILLS (Male):—Visited, 3rd June, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 71 boys.

The schoolroom is in good repair. Punctuality and regularity are well attended to. The order and discipline are not pleasing. The pupils talk aloud at their desks. The moral tone is moderate. The progress in attainments is, on the whole, satisfactory, and the instruction earnest. The school has increased in its attendance; a, good; b, very moderate; c, good.

SURRY HILLS (Female):—Visited, 1st June, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 75 girls.

The schoolroom is in good repair. Punctuality and regularity are well attended to. The order and discipline are good, except that the pupils talk to one another at their desks; they are clean in person and dress; their manners and demeanour are pleasing. The attainments are, on the whole, moderate. Many of them are infants, and very few of them are long in the school; a, moderate; b, good; c, good.

VICTORIA-STREET (Female):—Visited, 9th July, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 68 girls.

The schoolroom is insufficiently large; it is in good repair. The pupils are, on the whole, regular and punctual in their attendance; they are clean and decently attired. The discipline and order are very good. The instruction continues to be conducted with skill and energy. The proficiency of the pupils is very good. The pupils in the upper class acquit themselves very well under examination, and evince a great desire to attend properly to their studies; their sustained attention while in class is also very satisfactory; a, b, and c, are very good.

VICTORIA-STREET (Infant):—Visited, 9th July, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—12 boys, 26 girls; total, 38.

The schoolroom is inconveniently small; the material state is good. Punctuality and regularity are fairly attended to, for this season of the year; the order and discipline are good. The children are clean and neat in person and dress. The instruction continues to be appropriate. For an infant school the proficiency is very fair; a, b, and c, are very good. N.B.—New schoolrooms are at present being erected for these two schools.

WATERLOO ESTATE:—Visited, 19th June, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—36 boys, 17 girls; total, 53.

The school is held in the church. The pupils are unpunctual, but regular in their attendance; they are clean in person, but untidy in dress. The order and discipline are bad. The schoolroom is unsuitable. Punctuality and regularity are moderately attended to. The order and discipline are good, and so is the cleanliness of the children. The attainments may be stated as being fair. Owing to the day being wet, the attendance was small; a, b, and c, are good.

WINDSOR:—Visited, 30th April, 1863.

Numbers at the examination:—38 boys, 41 girls; total, 79.

The schoolhouse is very much in need of repair, and so is the teacher's residence. The pupils are regular and punctual in their attendance; they are clean and neat in person and dress. The order and discipline are good. The moral tone of the school is good. The methods of instruction want study and skill, rather than earnestness; they are of too mechanical a description. The proficiency of the pupils is, on the whole, pleasing. The school has increased in its attendance; a, good; b, fair; c, moderate.

WOLLONGONG (Male):—Visited, 14th September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 34 boys.

The school buildings are in good repair. The pupils are punctual, but irregular in their attendance; they are clean in person and tidy in dress. The order and discipline are good, and so is the tone of the school. The answering was moderate in geography and grammar, and fair in arithmetic. The reading of the junior classes was good. In consequence of some of the children having been lately vaccinated, and for various other reasons, such as sickness and death in some families, the attendance was not as large as usual; a, fair; b, moderate, c, poor.

WOLLONGONG (Female):—Visited, 15th September, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 48 girls.

The school buildings are in good repair. Punctuality and regularity are fair. The pupils are clean in person and decently attired. The order is good. The third and second classes read well, and their explanation of what was read satisfactory; their answering was good in grammar, fair in arithmetic and dictation, and moderate in geography. The sequel and first classes are moderate in attainments. The copies are clean, and tolerably written; a, fair; b, good; c, poor.

YASS (Male):—Visited, 8th December, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 63 boys.

The material state of the buildings is good. The schoolroom is insufficiently large. The pupils are punctual and regular in their attendance; they are neat and clean in person and dress. The discipline is excellent. The tone of the school is very good. The attainments of the pupils are most satisfactory. The answering in geometry was very good—the best I have heard in any school in the Colony. The reasoning faculty is much developed; a, b, and c, are very good.

YASS (Female):—Visited, 10th December, 1863.

Numbers at the examination, 30 girls.

House is in very good repair. The pupils are punctual and regular in their attendance; they are neat and clean in person and dress. The order is very good. The tone of the school is also very good. The proficiency in attainments is, on the whole, very satisfactory. The copies are clean, and all fairly written; a, b, and c, are very good.

APPENDIX H.

TRAINING MASTERS' REPORTS.

Church of England Schools' Office,
July 18th, 1864.

Sir,

I have the honor to forward, for the information of the Denominational School Board, the Training Master's Report for the year 1863; from which it will be seen that a considerable amount of work has been accomplished, and an advance in several respects made in that department of our school operations. I have every reason to be satisfied with the manner in which Mr. Huffer has performed his duties, and with the zeal and judgment he has manifested in discharging them.

I have, &c.,

WILLIAM. M. COWPER.

The Honorable the Chairman,
Denominational School Board.

St. James' Model School,
4 May, 1864.

Very Reverend Sir,

I have the honor to submit the following Report of the Training Department in connection with this school, for the year 1863.

1. The work of the department has been carried on under the same arrangements as those noticed in my report for 1862; and I have now to report that twenty-two (22) candidates have been in training in the year—seventeen male and five female; the five (5) female candidates having been trained for infant teachers, under the care of Miss Thomas, Head Mistress of the Model Infant School.

2. Fifty (50) persons have, in the year, offered themselves as candidates for admission to the Training School; but of these, many were unable to produce satisfactory testimonials as to moral character, and were therefore rejected; two (2) withdrew their applications, and the remainder, not accepted, were unable to pass the preliminary examination successfully.

3. Of the twenty-two (22) in training in the year, eighteen (18) completed their course and were appointed to schools, and four (4) remained in training at the end of the year.

4. Of those trained and appointed to schools—

|           |          |               |                  |       |
|-----------|----------|---------------|------------------|-------|
| One (1)   | received | fourteen (14) | months' training |       |
| Two (2)   | "        | eleven (11)   | "                | each  |
| Three (3) | "        | ten (10)      | "                | "     |
| Three (3) | "        | nine (9)      | "                | "     |
| One (1)   | "        | eight (8)     | "                | "     |
| Three (3) | "        | six (6)       | "                | each  |
| One (1)   | "        | two (2)       | "                | "     |
| Four (4)  | "        | one (1)       | month's          | each. |

And of those in training at the end of the year—

|             |                      |           |        |
|-------------|----------------------|-----------|--------|
| One (1)     | had been trained for | five (5)  | months |
| Two (2)     | "                    | three (3) | " each |
| And one (1) | "                    | two (2)   | "      |

5. From the foregoing table, it will be seen that the average length of the training course—seven (7) months—is again this year in advance of the preceding year; and also that more uniformity has been obtained in the length of time the different candidates have remained in training. Thus progress has been made, in the first place, towards having a supply of teachers better qualified; and secondly, towards overcoming one of the difficulties in the way of properly classifying those who are trained. And with reference to this subject, I am of opinion that, when a more thorough and permanent classification of our teachers is practicable, and is carried out, there will be much less difficulty in obtaining proper proper candidates to be trained as teachers. I feel convinced that a greater number of superior men than at present apply, would then offer themselves as candidates. With reference to what has been already done in this matter, I have to report that, in partly classifying those teachers who have been sent out from the Training School in the year, two things have been considered, viz.:

First—The literary attainments of the teachers, and the degree in which they possess the ability and power necessary for the proper teaching and general management of a school, as shown by my report.

Second—The number of classes into which teachers are divided, corresponds with the scale of salaries as allotted to Church of England Schools. Taking the annual stipend as paid at present, viz., £96, £84, £72, and £60, these form the basis for the division of the teachers into four classes; and if, when a teacher leaves the Training School, there should not be a school vacant with a salary corresponding to the class in which his qualifications place him, he is appointed to a school with a lower salary, and when a better appointment becomes vacant, if he has continued to shew himself qualified, he is promoted accordingly. This has been the plan hitherto followed; but as the majority of our schools are now being conducted by teachers who have received more or less training for their work, candidates can be kept in the Training School over a certain period of time; and it will be practicable, shortly (when one or two other difficulties have been removed), to commence a more permanent classification—a classification based in the first place upon searching examinations, and afterwards to be confirmed or modified by the Inspector's report on the teacher's practical skill in the management of his school.

In conclusion, I have also to report that, in addition to the work already named in connection with this department, I have, in the year, received applications from and examined about sixty (60) candidates for appointments as pupil teachers. Of these, twenty-seven (27) were successful, and have been distributed, with the sanction of the D. S. Board, among those of our schools in which the average attendance of children numbers over seventy (70).

Sir,

By direction of His Grace the Archbishop, I beg to lay before the Denominational School Board the appended tabulated form, furnishing statistics of the working of the Training Department in connection with the Parramatta-street Girls' School, for the half-year ending the thirtieth day of June, eighteen hundred and sixty-three (1863).

I regret to say there has been no classification made of teachers (candidate) in the case of the said school up to the present time, and therefore, I must express my inability to annex to the appended form, information on that subject, how desirable soever it may be.

Sir,

By direction of His Grace the Archbishop, I beg to lay before the Denominational School Board the appended tabulated form, furnishing statistics of the working of the Training Department of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Model School, for the half-year ending the thirtieth day of June, eighteen hundred and sixty-three (1863).

I regret to say there has been no classification made of teachers (candidate) in connection with the said school up to the present time, and therefore, I must express my inability to annex to the appended form, information on that subject, how desirable soever it may be. In conclusion, I beg to inform the Denominational School Board that instruction is regularly imparted to the pupil teachers, male and female, attached to all the schools connected with the Board in Sydney, once a week for each sex.

Monday, August 24th, 1863.

Sir,

In reply to a communication received by me from the Catholic Board of Education, through their Secretary, Mr. J. H. J. Wiles, in relation to the "very unsatisfactory reports" I have had the honor to transmit to the Denominational School Board, concerning the Training Department of St. Mary's Model School, in the matter of the classification of teachers,—I beg leave to say that such neglect was wholly unavoidable, because I conceive, with all due submission, that there has been, to my certain knowledge, no basis hitherto laid on which such classification could by any possibility be founded. The only basis on which to found classification, is the existence of a scale by which to regulate the stipends to be awarded to teachers in proportion to their proficiency.

I have not, however, from the beginning been unprepared, on the establishment of such a scale, to furnish a scheme for the classification of teachers; and for the information of the Denominational School Board, I humbly submit, by way of anticipation, the following for their approval.

I have thought it not inappropriate to have three classes of teachers qualified to take charge of schools, each consisting of two divisions, making in all six divisions of teachers, possessed of the following varying degrees of proficiency. The sixth division, or second of third class, to be thoroughly conversant with the following subjects:—

Geography .. In its three-fold acceptation of mathematical, physical, and political.
 English Grammar .. Including a complete knowledge of "parsing" in prose and in poetry, the latter of the ordinary kind.
 Writing .. A style suitable to the office of a teacher of schools.
 Arithmetic..... A thorough knowledge up to "simple proportion" inclusive, embracing vulgar and decimal fractions, and their application to the said rule.
 Etymology .. A moderate share of information concerning the roots of English words, their prefixes and affixes.
 Chronology .. The dates of remarkable historical events, both ancient and modern, with some knowledge of "General History."

The

The fifth division, or first of third class, in addition to the above, to be familiar with the following:—

- Geography ..... Physical, of the sea.
 English Parsing ..... Milton's Paradise Lost and Regained.
 Arithmetic ..... "Compound proportion," "practice," "simple interest," and the application of fractions and decimal integrals to these departments.
 Trigonometry ..... A knowledge of the definitions of the various trigonometrical lines, and the more ordinary relations subsisting between them.
 Latin and Greek .... Sufficient knowledge thereof for construing easy sentences into the English language, and for parsing the same.

With respect to the qualifications of those who have been appointed to schools, after having undergone their course of training, they may be ranked under three heads, corresponding to the sixth, fifth, and fourth divisions of the above scheme. A greater proficiency than this could not be expected, when one considers the too often rugged subjects upon which I had to operate, as well as the very brief period embraced in the training of some—the time of training being in a few cases not over two months. There was only one of the entire number of candidate teachers who remained in training for any considerable time, and I ascribe the cause of it to be that there was no school suited to that person available during that time.

The question of the length of time teachers are under training, I beg leave to say, with all due submission, can only apply to the female candidate teachers, except in the above solitary case. With respect to them I am at liberty to say this only—that they were necessitated to remain until there were schools offering to which they could be appointed.

With the above-mentioned proviso, I beg leave to submit the following scheme for the classification of female teachers.

I deem it not inadvisable to constitute two classes, each class consisting of two divisions, including the under-mentioned varying degrees of proficiency.

The second division of second class to possess a fair share of proficiency in the following subjects:—

- Geography ..... Local, including the more remarkable mountain systems in the world, their direction and average height, the lengths and direction of the course of rivers of the larger kind, and the boundaries of the political divisions of continents.
 English Grammar .. Including expertness in the parsing of sentences of a simple kind, and the correct application of the rules of syntax.
 Writing ..... Correctness in "punctuation," and a suitable style of penmanship.
 Arithmetic ..... A correct knowledge of the first four rules, and their application to vulgar fractions, and the "four compound rules."
 Etymology ..... A slight degree of information concerning the roots of English words, their prefixes and affixes.
 Chronology ..... The dates of the foundations of the more remarkable cities of the world, and the names of their founders; also, the dates of the events of an interesting kind concerning particular countries, as battles, sieges, &c.

The first division of second class to have a fair amount of proficiency in the following subjects, in addition to the subjects embraced in the preceding division:—

- Geography ..... The mathematical branch of the subject, in extenso.
 English Grammar .. The subject of "parsing," in connection with English poetry and the analysis of sentences, as laid down in the work entitled "Morell's Grammar."
 Writing ..... Expertness in the setting of "head lines" for children, including some fact taken from history, either sacred or profane, particularly the former.
 Arithmetic ..... Reduction, simple proportion, including its application to fractions; some knowledge of integral decimals, and the manner of expressing them as fractions.
 Etymology ..... More extended information than before concerning the roots of English words, their prefixes and affixes, derived from the Latin and French languages.
 Chronology ..... The dates of the accession of monarchs to the throne of England; the particular events of an historical nature which took place during the reigns of the first twelve Emperors of Rome.

The second division of first class, in addition to the subjects embraced in the two preceding divisions, to possess some degree of proficiency in the following:—

- Geography ..... Mathematical and physical, in extenso.
 Arithmetic ..... The application of the first four rules to integral decimals, as well as the application of such decimals to "simple proportion"; the theory of proportion and "practice."

The first division of first class to possess a fair amount of knowledge in the following subjects:—

- Geography ..... The entire of Professor Sullivan's work entitled "Geography Generalised."
 Arithmetic ..... In addition to the preceding, "compound proportion," and "interest, simple and compound."
 Etymology ..... A more extended range of information than before, in roots, prefixes, and affixes of English words.

The fourth division, or second of second class, in addition to the subjects embraced in the two preceding divisions, to possess some degree of proficiency in the following:—

- Arithmetic ..... Compound interest, profit and loss, and the extraction of the square and cube root of numbers, both integral and decimal integral.
 Algebra ..... The four first rules and the determination of the values of algebraic expressions by assigning numerical values to the symbols.
 Geometry ..... The first and second books, together with deductions and corollaries therefrom.

The third division, or first of second class, besides the subjects embraced in the former divisions, to be proficient in the following:—

- Arithmetic ..... "Discount," "exchange," "barter," and the two departments embraced under the head of "fellowship," treated both integrally and decimally.
 Algebra ..... "Involution," "evolution," the reduction of algebraic expressions to their elementary factors, and the doctrine of simple equations.
 Geometry ..... The first, second, third, and fourth books, with deductions and corollaries therefrom.

The second division, or second of first class, to possess, in addition to a knowledge of the previous divisions, a proficiency in the following:—

- Arithmetic ..... A ready solution of problems in all the preceding departments, embraced commonly under the head of "miscellaneous examples."
 Algebra ..... Quadratic equations, the proof of the rules for the extraction of the square and cube root, the proof of the rule of signs, and the application of simple and quadratic equations to the solution of problems.
 Geometry ..... The first, second, third, fourth, and sixth books, with deductions and corollaries therefrom.

The

The first division, or first of first class (which completes the classification) to possess, in addition to knowledge of the subjects embraced in all the preceding divisions, proficiency in the following:—

I make two divisions of the female teachers who have been appointed to schools after having undergone their course of training, one part of whom I rank under first division of second class, and the other under second division of first class.

I have, &c.,

JNO. NICH. JOSH. KEILY.

Secretary of Denominational Board of Education.

Sydney,
Tuesday, 2 February, 1864.

Sir,

I have the honor to submit to the Denominational School Board the accompanying report, embodying the results of the working of the Training Department of St. Mary's Model School, for the half-year ending the 31st day of December, 1863.

I have great pleasure in informing the Board of the very satisfactory progress of the department for the above period. It is true the candidates would, in many instances, have obtained a higher classification, were it not that the information which they possessed on first entering the department, was of a kind quite different from that which is most suitable for a teacher of a school under the Denominational Board. Of the whole number admitted, they were the fewest who were in possession of certificates from any of the other Boards, the remainder consisting partly of those whose attention had been for some years previous directed to the study of the ancient classics, to the utter neglect of their English education; and partly of those who had to place their sole reliance on what they may have picked up during their schoolboy days. Certificates of classification are not usually given to any of the candidate teachers, male or female, until they receive an appointment to a school under the Denominational Board. Even though they may be possessed of certificates from other Boards of Education, they are unclassified until their appointment to a school under the Denominational Board be ratified. This will account for the non-filling up of the column headed "class" in the report, in all cases where no appointments have been made.

During the past half-year there were ten males examined for the office of candidate teacher, of whom eight were, on examination, rejected as incompetent. I, of course, speak of others than those whose names fill up the report. The appointment of the remaining two, though ratified, lapsed through serious illness in the one case, and in the other, because the applicant accepted of a situation in a public office in the city, pending the decision on his examination papers.

In the report embodying the result of the training of female candidates, in the column under the heading "Moneys received," I have sent in a return of only the last half-yearly stipend received by such of them as are over twelve months attached to the Female Model School, but the full sum paid to those who are under twelve months in the said school. It seems quite unavoidable that female candidates spend so long a time in that character in comparison with males, inasmuch as it is only at rare intervals there occurs a vacancy which could be filled by one of them. Every opportunity is taken advantage of, however, to initiate them in the method of conducting a school on their own account, by drafting them to such schools as are at a convenient distance, on occasions when the proper teachers of the schools may be incapacitated by illness from fulfilling their duties.

During the period embraced in this report, there were ten applicants examined for the office of pupil teacher, of whom six were accepted, and four rejected; the said four being at perfect liberty to try their luck on a future occasion. Besides these, there were two, who are pupil teachers of old, examined with the object of giving them, if found worthy, an increase of £5 in their annual stipend.

I have, &c.,

JNO. NICH. JOS. KEILY.

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL BOARD.

(REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1864.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

SECRETARY OF DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL BOARD to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

*Denominational School Board Office,
Sydney, 6 March, 1865.*

SIR,

I have the honor, by direction of the Denominational School Board, to forward herewith their Report for the year 1864.

I have, &amp;c.,

C. E. ROBINSON,
Secretary.

DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL BOARD.

REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1864.

IN submitting their Report for the year 1863, the Denominational School Board pointed out the mode by which the schools under their charge, both permanent and supplemental, had been provided for during that year; and intimated that, owing to an increase of £5,000 (originally provided by Parliament as a supplement to the vote for 1862) having been also voted in the primary Estimates for 1864, the supplemental schools referred to had been placed upon the permanent list.

Notwithstanding the aid thus afforded, applications continued, during the year 1864, to be made to the Board for the establishment of new schools, and for the appointment of assistant and pupil teachers in those already under their charge, where the increased number of children in attendance rendered such assistance almost indispensable. The Board, however, were, from the want of the necessary funds, unable to comply with these applications in the manner which otherwise would have seemed desirable; but to meet them as far as possible, and as a temporary measure, they allowed portions of the balances of the votes for former years, which had arisen from the temporary closing of schools, and other causes, to be appropriated to such purposes.

The table, Appendix A, shews in a concise form, the number of permanent schools in connection with the Board on the 31st December, 1864, supported out of the vote of £35,000 for that year; and a further Appendix, B, gives a statement of the supplemental schools receiving assistance out of the balances of former votes as already mentioned.

The

The cash statement, Appendix C, shews the mode of disbursement of the vote for 1864, having reference to permanent schools only; and Appendix D gives the payments out of the savings of former years, towards assisting supplemental schools during last year.

The total number of schools under the Board during 1864 was 347, being 16 more than was shewn for 1863, and 42 more than appeared for 1862.

The aggregate number of children whose names were enrolled during 1864 was 33,183, being 1,990 more than during 1863, and 3,880 above the number shewn for 1862.

The number on the rolls upon the last day of the year 1864 was 22,297, being an increase of 1,732 beyond the number for the corresponding period in 1863, and of 3,713 beyond that for 1862.

The average daily attendance during 1864 was 15,245; or 757 more than appears to have been the case during 1863, and 2,046 above the average attendance in 1862.

The amount of fees paid by the children during the past year was £16,839 14s. Od., being £1,135 13s. 8d. above the sum so paid in 1863, and £1,551 14s. Od., beyond what was paid during 1862.

The Board have, in Appendix E, given the fullest particulars in reference to each Denominational School in the Colony; and upon comparing this table with a similar one submitted with their Report for 1863, it will be observed that the schools are progressing favourably in point of efficiency, as indicated by the progress of the children in the various branches therein set forth.

A further Appendix, F, gives a summary of particulars in reference to school buildings, as collected from information forwarded by the teachers and Local Boards.

Full Reports from the Inspectors of Church of England Schools in the Sydney Diocese, and Roman Catholic Schools, are appended, as also Reports for the past year from the Head Masters of the Training Departments attached to those denominations.

March 6th, 1865.

Chairman.
