52	29-7-76	Breaking away from confinement, and drunkenness.	do 42 days, do	do.
53	3 8-76	Desertion, and making away with kit	do 49 days, do	do.
54	13-11-76	Disobedience of orders, in being dressed in plain clothes in the streets.	do 42 days, do	do.
55	16-11-76	Leaving his guard at Government House	do 56 days, do	do.
56	22-11-76	Drunkenness	Fined £1, reduced to ranks	do.
57	27-11-76	Making away with kit	Not guilty, he being not at the time responsible for his actions.	do.
58	8-12 76	Insubordination, and riotous conduct	Imp. h.l, 168 days	do.
59	20 12-76	Making a false statement	<sup>4</sup> do 63 days	do.
60	2-12-76	Drunkenness, and riotous conduct	do 56 days	do.
1877.
61	2 1-77	Leaving guard	Imp h.l., 49 days	do.
62	18-1-77	Feigning disease	do 98 days	do.
63	22-1-77	Drunkenness	Not guilty	do.
64	22-1 77	Making away with kit	Imp. h l, 56 days and stoppages	do.
65	22-1-77	Feigning disease	<sup>5</sup> do 56 days	do.
66	23-1-77	Absence, and making away with kit	do 42 days	do.
67	23-1-77	Sleeping on his post	Not guilty	do.
68	2-2-77	Sleeping on his post	Imp. h l, 56 days	do.
69	17-2-77	Making away with kit	do 49 days	do.
70	9-3-77	Drunk on duty	do 28 days	do.
71	12-3-77	Insubordination, and breaking away from confinement.	<sup>6</sup> do 70 days	do.
72	17-3-77	Desertion	do 42 days	do.
73	11-4 77	Neglecting to visit his sentries and making a false statement.	do 48 days	do.
74	16 4-77	Drunk on duty	Fined £1, and reduced to ranks	do.
75	16 4-77	Drunk on duty	Imp. h.l, 48 days	do.
76	27-4-77	Insubordination	do 168 days	do.
77	27-4 77	Making away with kit	do 28 days	do.
78	28 4-77	Disgraceful conduct	do 56 days	do.
79	4-6-77	Breaking out of barracks	do 21 days	do.
80	6-6-77	Absence and insubordination	do 56 days	do.
81	15-6-77	Insubordination and breaking out of barracks	<sup>7</sup> do 672 days	do.
82	2 6-77	Drunk on duty	do 56 days	do.
83	2-6-77	Breaking out of barracks and using threatening language.	do 56 days	do.
84	27 7-77	Breaking out of barracks; insubordination (disgraceful).	do 56 days	do.
85	6-8 77	Drunk on guard	do 28 days; fined £1	do.
86	6-8-77	Desertion and making away with kit	do 336 days	do.
87	6 8 77	Absence	Reduction to the ranks	do.
88	14-9-77	Absence, insubordination, and making away with kit.	Imp. h.l, 28 days	do.
89	21-9-77	Making away with kit	do 56 days	do.
90	14-9-77	Absence and making away with kit	do 14 days	do.

<sup>1</sup> 22 days remitted<sup>2</sup> 7 days remitted<sup>3</sup> 4 days remitted<sup>4</sup> 21 days remitted<sup>5</sup> The whole remitted<sup>6</sup> 23 days remitted.<sup>7</sup> Insubordination, in drawing a sword on his superior officer

No	Date	Crime	Award	By whom confirmed
1877—continued
91	9-9-77	Drunkenness	Imp. h.l., 28 days; fined £1	Sir H. Robinson
92	21-9-77	Desertion; losing kit	do 56 days, and stoppages	do.
93	26-10-77	Drunkenness and escaping from confinement	do 56 days, and fined £1	do.
94	6 10-77	Absence from his guard, and drunk	do 28 days, and fined £1	do.
95	13-10-77	Absence from his guard, and drunk	do 49 days	do.
96	22-10-77	Allowing a prisoner to escape	Not guilty	do.
97	29-10-77	Escaping from confinement; insubordination	Imp. h.l., 56 days	do.
98	29-10-77	Disobedience of orders; insubordination	do 28 days	do.
99	31-10-77	Escaping from confinement	do 28 days	do.
100	5 12-77	Insubordination	do 7 days	do.
101	5-12-77	Desertion and making away with kit	do 56 days, and stoppages	do.
102	11-12-77	Insubordination; damaging Govt property (two charges); using threatening language to the Provost sergeant.	do 504 days, and stoppages	do.
1878.
103	7-1-78	Desertion, and making away with kit	Imp. h.l., 56 days, and stoppages	do.
104	29-12-77	Desertion, and making away with kit	do 35 days, and stoppages	do.
105	29-12-77	Disgraceful conduct, feigning disease	Not guilty	do.
106	29-12-77	Disgraceful conduct, feigning disease	do.	do.
107	31-12-77	Insubordination	do.	do.
108	4-1-78	Leaving his post	Imp. h.l., 49 days	do.
109	29-12-77	Desertion, and making away with kit	do 35 days, and stoppages	do.
110	24-1 78	Absence, and loss of kit	do 42 days, and stoppages	do.
111	21 1-78	Bringing spirits into the guard-room, destroying a pair of handcuffs.	35 days, and stoppages	do.
112	4 1-78	Insubordination	182 days	do
113	4-1-78	Insubordination	168 days	do
114	7-1-78	Absence	14 days	do.
115	19-1 78	Absence, and loss of kit	49 days, and stoppages	do.
116	21 1-78	Drunkenness	Reduced to the ranks, and fined £1	do.
117	5&7-1-78	Improperly dressed	Reduced to the ranks	do.
118	26-1-78	Smoking in the streets and absence	Imp. h.l. 7 days	do
119	7 2-78	Disobedience of orders	Reduced to the ranks	do.
120	26-2-78	Smoking in the streets, and absence	Imp. h.l., 7 days	do.
121	7-2-78	Making away with kit..	do 56 days	do.
122	9-2-78	Breaking out of Barracks	do 98 days	do.
123	8 2-78	Drunkenness, and insubordination	do 84 days, and fined £1	do.
124	11-2-78	Disobedience of orders, and destroying Government property.	Stoppages. ....	do
125	11-2-78	Insubordination (2 charges), breaking away from escort	Imp. h.l., 21 days	do
126	16-2-78	Insubordination	do 119 days	do.
127	18-2-78	Breaking out of barracks	do 336 days	do
128	20-2-78	Insubordination	do 49 days	do.
129	20-2-78	Improperly making a prisoner of a N.C. Officer; drunk on duty	do 21 days, reduced to ranks; fined £1.	do.
130	26-1-78	Smoking in the streets, and absence..	do 7 days	do.
131	27-2-78	Making away with kit	do 56 days	do
132	4-3-78	Drunkenness, and insubordination	do 56 days, and fined £1	do.
133	15-3-78	Drunkenness, and insubordination (2 charges)	do 84 days	do
134	19-3-78	Desertion, and making away with kit	do 56 days, and stoppages	do
135	18-3-78	Desertion, and making away with kit, and disgraceful conduct, escaping from confinement.	do 336 days, and stoppages	do.
136	1-4-78	Desertion, and making away with kit	do 112 days, and stoppages	do
137	1-4-78	Desertion, and making away with kit..	do 56 days, and stoppages	do.
138	1 4-78	Leaving his guard, drunk on duty	do 35 days	do
139	2 4-78	Leaving his guard, drunk on duty	do 35 days, and fined £1	do.
140	8-4 78	Sleeping on his post	do 84 days	do
141	8-4-78	Insubordination	do 56 days	do
142	11-4 78	Gambling in camp.	Not guilty	do
143	11 4-78	Absence, and escaping from confinement	Imp. h.l., 56 days	do.
144	11-4 78	Absence, drunkenness, and insubordination, accompanied with personal violence.	do 56 days, and fined £1	do
145	17-4-78	Desertion, and making away with kit.....	do 86 days, and stoppages	do.
146	18-4-78	Breaking out of camp	do 35 days	do.
147	29 4 78	Riotous conduct, and using obscene language in the streets.	do 84 days	do.
148	3-5-78	Insubordination, accompanied with personal violence.	do 252 days	do.
149	29 4-78	Riotous, and using obscene language in the streets	do 98 days	do
150	3 4-78	Stealing from a comrade, and discharged with ignominy	do 336 days	do.
151	7-5-78	Breaking out of barracks, drunk, riotous	do 28 days	do
152	3-5 78	Drunk, insubordination	do 168 days	do
153	16 5-78	Desertion, and loss of kit	do 56 days	do.
154	6-6-78	Desertion, and loss of kit	do 56 days, and stoppages	do
155	12-6-78	Smoking in the streets	<sup>1</sup> Not guilty	do.
156	12-6-78	Threatening a gunner in the execution of his duty.	do	do
157	12-6-78	Smoking in the streets	<sup>2</sup> Imp. h.l., 14 days	do.
158	19 6 78	Absent from his guard and breaking out of barracks	do 28 days	do
159	15 6 78	Desertion, making away with kit	84 days and stoppages	do
160	20-6-78	Concealing disease	<sup>3</sup> Imp. h.l., 56 days	do
161	20 6 78	Insubordination (three charges)	do 168 days	do
162	25 6-78	Improperly in possession of articles the property of a comrade	do 21 days	do
163	24 6 78	Insubordination, allowing one of the picket to get drunk	do 56 days	do.

No.	Date	Crime.	Award.	By whom confirmed.
1878—continued.
164	24-6-78	Drunk on duty	Imp. h.l., 28 days, and fined £1	Sir H. Robinson,
165	24-6-78	Drunkenness	do 56 days	do.
166	24-6-78	Drunk on duty	do 35 days, and fined £1	do.
167	24-6-78	Drunkenness, and making a false statement	Not guilty	do.
168	28-6-78	Desertion, and making away with kit	Imp. h.l., 35 days, and stoppages	do.
169	28-6-78	Drunk on duty	do 21 days	do.
170	8-7-78	Desertion, making away with kit	do 49 days, and stoppages	do.
171	18-7-78	Desertion, making away with kit	do 56 days, do	do.
172	19-7-78	Drunk on duty	do 56 days, and fined £1	do.
173	15-8-78	Desertion, and making away with kit	do 70 days, and stoppages	do.
174	15-8-78	Stealing the property of a comrade	do 168 days, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
175	12-8-78	Gambling and insubordination	Imp. h.l., 28 days	do.
176	22-8-78	Absent, making away with kit, and insubordination.	do 35 days, and stoppages.	do.
177	29-8-78	Drunk, and soliciting money from the public	Fined £1	do.
178	29-8-78	Drunk, and soliciting money from the public	Imp. h.l., 56 days, and fined £1	do.
179	29-8-78	Drunkenness, and insubordination	do 84 days, do	do.
180	29-8-78	Selling the property of a comrade	do 14 days	do.
181	2-8-78	Desertion, and making away with kit	do 56 days, and stoppages	do.
182	7-8-78	Making a false statement	do 21 days	do.
183	14-8-78	Absent from guard mounting parade	Not guilty	do.
184	12-8-78	Drunkenness	Imp. h.l., 35 days, and fined £1	do.
185	12-8-78	Desertion, making away with kit	do 168 days, and stoppages	do.
186	19-8-78	Drunk, parading for picket	do 56 days	do.
187	14-8-78	Desertion, and making away with kit	do 189 days, and stoppages	do.
188	28-8-78	Absence	Reduced	do.
189	16-8-78	Deserted, making away with kit	Imp. h.l., 52 days	do.
190	23-8-78	Insubordination	do 84 days	do.
191	23-8-78	Drunkenness	do 56 days, and fined £1	do.
192	9-9-78	Drunkenness	do 28 days, and fined £1	do.
193	9-9-78	Resisting escort, damaging Government property, absent.	do 112 days, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
194	23-9-78	Absence	Reduced	do.
195	23-9-78	Insubordination, drunk	Imp. h.l., 84 days	do.
196	23-9-78	Being improperly in possession of articles the property of a comrade.	do 35 days	do.
197	27-9-78	Desertion, making away with kit	do 168 days	do.
198	2-10-78	Absent from parade, breaking out of barracks, making away with kit.	do 84 days, and stoppages	do.
199	7-10-78	Absent from parade, riotous in the streets	do 168 days	do.
200	14-10-78	Insubordination and using threatening language.	do 56 days	do.
201	21-10-78	Desertion, making away with kit	do 168 days, and stoppages.	do.
202	14-10-78	Drunkenness	do 56 days and fined £1	do.
203	21-10-78	Desertion and making away with kit	do 189 days	do.
204	24-10-78	Absence	do 35 days and fined £1	do.
205	21-10-78	Absence and drunk	do 56 days and fined £1	do.
206	23-10-78	Insubordination, desertion, and making away with kit.	do 256 days and stoppages	do.
207	4-11-78	Absence	do 35 days	do.
208	14-11-78	Insubordination and drunkenness	do 168 days and fined £1	do.
209	21-11-78	Leaving his guard, being without his waist-belt contrary to orders.	do 28 days	do.
210	6-12-78	Riotous in barrack-room, wilfully injuring a comrade.	do 168 days	do.
211	2-12-78	Allowing lights to burn in barrack room after hours, neglecting to obey orders.	Reduced to the ranks	do.
212	31-12-78	Drunk when parading for picket	Imp. h.l., 48 days, and fined £1	do.
213	30-12-78	Drunkenness	do 21 days	do.
214	31-12-78	Absence, insubordination, making away with kit.	do 168 days and fined £1	do.
1879.
216	3-1-79	Insubordination (two charges), disgraceful conduct.	Imp. h.l., 59 days	do.
217	24-1-79	Desertion, making away with kit	do 168 days and stoppages	do.
218	24-1-79	Drunk when parading for picket	do 56 days	do.
219	25-1-79	Insubordination	do 252 days, and fined £1	do.
220	25-1-79	Desertion and making away with kit	do 168 days, and stoppages	do.
221	31-1-79	Insubordination (two charges)	Not guilty	do.
222	30-1-79	Sleeping on his post	Imp. h.l., 42 days	do.
223	30-1-79	Drunkenness	do 28 days, and fined £1	do.
224	4-2-79	Smoking in the streets	do 28 days	do.
225	5-2-79	Familiarly associating with a Gunner	Reduction to the ranks	do.
226	10-2-79	Neglecting to obey orders, breaking his arrest.	Reduced to the ranks; imp. h.l., 14 days	do.
227	10-2-79	Absence, altering pass without authority	Imp. h.l., 52 days	do.
228	17-2-79	Insubordination (two charges)	do 28 days	do.
229	24-2-79	Insubordination	do 35 days	do.
230	3-3-79	Making away with his accoutrements	do 21 days, and stoppages	do.
231	10-3-79	Absence, insubordination (two charges)	do 21 days	do.
232	10-3-79	Absence, disobeying orders	do 49 days	do.
233	10-3-79	Disgraceful conduct, absence, resisting picket.	do 84 days	do.
234	12-3-79	Insubordination, using improper language concerning his superior officer.	do 168 days	do.
235	24 3-79	Familiarly associating with Gunners, neglecting to make a prisoner, neglecting to report a case of drunkenness.	Reduced to the ranks	do.
236	24-3-79	Desertion, making away with kit	Imp. h.l., 168 days	do.

<sup>1</sup> 28 days remitted.<sup>2</sup> Revision—Finding, not guilty.<sup>3</sup> Discharge remitted<sup>4</sup> Revision, to be discharged from H. M. Service with ignominy<sup>5</sup> 28 days remitted.

No	Date.	Crime.	Award.	By whom confirmed.
1879—continued.
237	31-3-79	Riotous in the streets, insubordination, willfully damaging Government property.	Imp. h.l., 84 days, and stoppages.....	Sir H. Robinson.
238	31-3-79	Insubordination.....	do 35 days.....	do.
239	31-3-79	Conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, breaking his arrest.	do 28 days.....	do.
240	14-4-79	Drunk when parading for defaulters' drill ...	do 84 days; £1 fine .....	do.
241	23-4-79	Drunkenness, having unlawfully in his possession the property of an officer, breaking his arrest.	do 42 days, reduced to ranks, fined £1.	do.
242	2-5-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	do 252 days, and stoppages....	do.
243	5-5-79	Breaking out of barracks when a prisoner, making away with kit.	do 49 days, and put under stoppages.	do.
244	19-5-79	Absence, drunkenness, insubordination ...	do 168 days.....	do.
245	9-6-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	do 336 days, and stoppages.....	do.
246	13-6-79	Absence, making away with kit .....	do 28 days.....	do.
247	9-6-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	<sup>1</sup> do 336 days.....	do.
248	13-6-79	Absence, making away with kit .....	do 28 days, and stoppages.....	do.
249	25-6-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	<sup>2</sup> do 168 days.....	do.
250	2-7-79	Drunkenness, absence .....	do 70 days; fined £1 .....	do.
251	7-7-79	Riotous conduct, drunkenness .....	do 96 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
252	7-7-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	do 196 days, and stoppages.....	do.
253	10-7-79	Drunk on duty .....	do 28 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
254	14-7-79	Allowing drink to be brought into the Guard-room when sentry.	Not guilty .....	do.
255	20-7-79	Drunk on guard, using insubordinate language to his superior officer.	Imp. h.l., 77 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
256	20-7-79	Drunk on guard.....	do 49 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
257	25-7-79	Allowing his guard to get drunk, posting a sentry knowing him to be drunk.	do 21 days, and reduced to the ranks.	do.
258	25-7-79	Drunk on duty .....	do 49 days.....	do.
259	26-7-79	Drunkenness, insubordination .....	do 21 days.....	Sir A. Stephen.
260	15-8-79	Insubordination (two charges) .....	<sup>3</sup> do 168 days.....	Lord A. Loftus.
261	1-9-79	Absence .....	do 14 days.....	do.
262	1-9-79	Drunkenness .....	Not guilty .....	do.
263	14-9-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	Imp. h.l., 168 days .....	do.
264	12-9-79	Absent from defaulters' parade, insubordination.	do 84 days.....	do.
265	7-10-79	Drunk on duty .....	do 56 days.....	do.
266	15-10-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	do 168 days.....	do.
267	27-10-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	<sup>4</sup> do 224 days.....	do.
268	29-10-79	Desertion, making away with kit, insubordination.	<sup>4</sup> do 336 days.....	do.
269	29-10-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	do 222 days.....	do.
270	4-11-79	Drunk on escort, insubordination .....	do 77 days and fined £1 .....	do.
271	7-11-79	Absence, disgraceful conduct .....	do 168 days and stoppages .....	do.
272	17-11-79	Drunkenness .....	do 28 days and fined £1 .....	do.
273	22-11-79	Sleeping on his post .....	do 42 days.....	do.
274	28-11-79	Desertion, losing by neglect his kit .....	do 252 days .....	do.
275	28-11-79	Drunk on duty .....	do 28 days.....	do.
276	15-12-79	Desertion, making away with kit .....	<sup>4</sup> do 236 days and stoppages .....	do.
277	18-12-79	Desertion .....	do 210 days .....	do.
278	22-12-78	Desertion .....	<sup>4</sup> do 168 days .....	do.
279	29-12-79	Insubordination, disgraceful conduct .....	<sup>5</sup> do 56 days.....	do.
1880.
280	2-2-80	Breaking out of camp, insubordination, escaping from confinement.	Imp. h.l., 56 days.....	do
281	11-2-80	Absence, disgraceful conduct.....	<sup>4</sup> do 98 days .....	do.
282	20-2-80	Drunkenness, insubordination .....	<sup>6</sup> do 112 days; fined £1 .....	do.
283	20-2-80	Desertion .....	<sup>7</sup> do 168 days, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
284	5-3-80	Desertion, making away with kit, disgraceful conduct (two charges), misappropriation of money (two charges).	Imp. h.l., 588 days; reduced to the ranks; stoppages, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
285	22-3-80	Desertion, making away with kit.....	Imp. h.l., 280 days; stoppages, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
286	9-4-80	Drunkenness .....	Imp. h.l., 56 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
287	12-4-80	Desertion, making away with kit.....	do 168 days, and stoppages.....	do.
288	12-4-80	Drunk on duty .....	do 112 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
289	17-4-80	Insubordination .....	do 49 days .....	do.
290	20-5-80	Drunk on duty .....	do 21 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
291	28-5-80	Drunkenness .....	do 35 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
292	10-6-80	Desertion, making away with kit .....	do 252 days, and stoppages.....	do.
293	10-6-80	Leaving his guard, drunk on duty .....	<sup>8</sup> do 56 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
294	10-6-80	Desertion and making away with kit .....	do 252 days, and to be discharged with ignominy.	do.
295	26-7-80	Desertion and making away with kit .....	Imp. h.l., 196 days .....	do.
296	1-7-80	Insubordination, conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.	do 56 days.....	do.
297	3-9-80	Absence, drunkenness, conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.	do 42 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
298	6-9-80	Drunkenness, conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.	To be reduced to the ranks ..	do.
299	20-9-80	Striking with his fist and kicking his superior officer.	Imp. h.l., 336 days, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
300	20-9-80	Resisting escort, escaping from confinement, desertion, making away with kit.	Imp. h.l., 266 days, and stoppages.	do.

<sup>1</sup> 84 days imprisonment, hard labour remitted. <sup>2</sup> Revision—24 days imprisonment, hard labour; stoppages; and to be discharged with ignominy from H.M. Service <sup>3</sup> 120 days remitted. <sup>4</sup> To be discharged with ignominy. <sup>5</sup> Revision—49 days imp. h.l. <sup>6</sup> Revision—168 days, and discharged with ignominy. <sup>7</sup> 138 days remitted, and the discharge with ignominy. <sup>8</sup> To be discharged as a worthless character.

No. of	Date.	Crime	Award	By whom confirmed.
1880—continued.
301	8-10-80	Desertion, making away with kit	Imp: h.l., 168 days, to be discharged with ignominy.	Lord A. Loftus.
302	25-10-80	Breaking out of barracks when confined thereto.	Imp. h.l., 21 days	do.
303	15-11-80	Deserted, made away with kit	do 252 days, and stoppages	do.
304	10-12-80	Drunk on duty, conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.	To be reduced to the ranks	do.
305	30-12-80	Conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.	To be reduced to the ranks, and 42 days imprisonment.	do.
1881.
306	14-3-81	Desertion, making away with kit	Imp. h.l., 168 days, and stoppages	do.
307	1-4-81	Breaking out of barracks, conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline	do 63 days	do.
308	18-4-81	Desertion, making away with kit	do 182 days, and stoppages	do.
309	6-5-81	Desertion, making away with kit	do 196 days, do	do.
310	30-5-81	Violence to escort ordered to take him into confinement, insubordinate language.	do 84 days	do.
311	4-6-81	Leaving his guard	do 56 days	do.
312	3-6-81	Desertion, making away with kit	do 168 days.	do.
313	6-6-81	Desertion, making away with kit	do 252 days, and stoppages, to be discharged with ignominy.	do.
314	20-6-81	Desertion, making away with kit	Imp. h.l., 168 days, and stoppages	do.
315	7-9-81	Stealing a cheque, making a false entry in the register	do 14 days, and reduction	do.
316	17-10-81	Attempting to desert, making away with kit	do 224 days, and to be discharged with ignominy.	do.
317	17-10-81	Drunk on guard	Imp. h.l., 56 days, and fined £1	do.
318	5-12-81	Desertion, losing kit, while in confinement writing on the wall remarks reflecting on his superior officer, attempting to escape, destroying Government property.	Imp. h.l., 357 days; stoppages, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
319	14-12-81	Stealing a purse, making a false accusation	Imp. h.l., 84 days; discharged with ignominy.	do.
320	16-12-81	Drunk when on sentry attempting to escape	Fined £1, and imp. h.l. 49 days.	do.
321	4-12-81	Drunk on parade	Imp. h.l., 56 days	do.
322	14-12-81	Desertion, making away with kit	do 168 days, and stoppages.	do.
1882.
323	6-8-82	Allowing a party of which he was in charge to get drunk.	Reduced to the rank of corporal	do.
324	17-2-82	Conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, making a false statement	Imp. h.l., 84 days	do.
325	17-2-82	Conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, threatening language.	do 84 days	do.
326	20-2-82	Resisting a non-commissioned officer ordered to take him into confinement, losing articles of his kit.	Fined £1, and reduced to the ranks	do.
327	1-6-82	Desertion, making away with kit	Imp. h.l., 168 days; stoppages, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
328	26-6-82	Desertion, losing, by neglect, his kit	Imp. h.l., 196 days, and stoppages	do.
329	3-7-82	Desertion, losing, by neglect, his kit	do 168 days, and discharged with ignominy.	do.
330	17-7-82	Desertion, losing, by neglect, his kit	<sup>1</sup> Imp. h.l., 168 days, and stoppages	do.
331	10-8-82	Attempting to desert, deficiency of kit	do 105 days, and stoppages	do.
332	27-9-82	Escaping from prison	do 252 days	do.
333	27-9-82	Escaping from prison	do 252 days	do.
334	27-9-82	Leaving his guard without orders	<sup>2</sup> do 77 days	do.
335	28-9-82	Drunkenness	do 56 days and fined £1	do.
336	6-10-82	Desertion	do 168 days	do.
337	18-10-82	Desertion, losing his kit by neglect	<sup>3</sup> do 168 days and stoppages	do.
338	20-10-82	Desertion	<sup>4</sup> do 168 days	do.
339	21-11-82	Neglecting to obey garrison orders	<sup>5</sup> do 35 days	do.
340	14-12-82	Desertion, losing kit	<sup>6</sup> do 168 days and stoppages	do.
1883.
341	8-1-83	Desertion when in charge of Government House guard	To be reduced to rank of bombardier	do.
342	8-1-83	Leaving his guard	<sup>7</sup> Imp. h.l., 28 days	do.
343	9-1-83	Drunk on duty	do 49 days	do.
344	12-1-83	Absent from parade, breaking out of barracks.	<sup>8</sup> do 63 days	do.
345	29-1-83	Absence, loss of kit	do 42 days and stoppages	do.
346	12-2-83	Absence	Reduced to rank of bombardier	do.
347	15-3-83	Absence	Imp. h.l., 7 days and reduced to ranks	do.
348	19-3-83	Conduct to prejudice of good order and military discipline.	do 21 days	do.
349	24-3-83	Desertion and loss of kit	do 168 days and stoppages	do.
350	23-4-83	Leaving his guard	<sup>9</sup> do 28 days	do.
351	5-5-83	Feigning disease	<sup>10</sup> do 42 days	do.
352	7-5-83	Desertion and loss of kit	do 196 days and stoppages	do.
353	18-5-83	Desertion and loss of kit	<sup>11</sup> do 168 days	do.
354	21-5-83	Conduct to prejudice of good order and military discipline.	Reduced to the ranks	do.
355	31-5-83	Desertion and loss of kit	Imp. h.l., 210 days and stoppages	do.
356	14-6-83	Insubordinate language	do 49 days	do.
357	12-7-83	Desertion, and loss of kit	do 168 days	do.
358	13-8-83	Absence	<sup>5</sup> Reduced to rank of sergeant	do.

<sup>1</sup> 68 days' imprisonment remitted, also discharged with ignominy    <sup>2</sup> 21 days remitted    <sup>3</sup> 56 days remitted    <sup>4</sup> Conduct to be reported to His Excellency the Governor on expiration of 112 days imprisonment    <sup>5</sup> Sentence remitted    <sup>6</sup> Conduct to be submitted to His Excellency the Governor on expiration of four months    <sup>7</sup> 14 days remitted    <sup>8</sup> 21 days remitted    <sup>9</sup> 14 days remitted    <sup>10</sup> 30 days remitted.    <sup>11</sup> Conduct to be reported at end of 84 days imprisonment

No.	Date.	Crime.	Award.	By whom confirmed.
1883—continued.
359	24-8-83 ...	Stealing goods, the property of a comrade ...	<sup>1</sup> Reduced to the ranks, and 168 days imp.	Lord A. Loftus.
360	3-9-83 ...	Desertion, loss of kit .....	<sup>2</sup> Reduced to the ranks, and imp. h.l., 168 days.	do.
361	3-9-83 ...	Breaking out of barracks.....	Imp. h.l., 42 days.....	do.
362	3-9-83 ...	Attempting to desert, loss of kit, attempting to escape from confinement.	<sup>3</sup> do 189 days, and stoppages.....	do.
363	4-10-83...	Desertion, loss of kit .....	do 196 days.....	do.
364	1-11-83...	Insubordinate language, and making a false accusation.	<sup>4</sup> do 49 days.....	do.
365	2-11-83...	Drunkenness .....	Reduced to the rank of corporal.....	do.
366	16-11-83...	Feigning sickness .....	Imp. h.l., 56 days.....	do.
367	23-11-83...	Disobedience of orders when in confinement	do 186 days .....	do.
368	29-11-83...	Conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.	Reduced to the ranks .....	do.
369	6-12-83...	Drunkenness .....	Imp. h.l., 84 days, and fined £1 .....	do.
370	8-12-83...	Desertion, deficiency of kit.....	do 196 days.....	do.

<sup>1</sup> 2 months remitted.    <sup>2</sup> 84 days imp. remitted.    <sup>3</sup> 50 days remitted.    <sup>4</sup> Revision 35 days imp. h.l.

NOTE.—In some cases men have been tried three or four times, so that the number 370 does not represent that number of soldiers tried.

Sydney : Thomas Richards, Government Printer.—1884.

[6d.]

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PERMANENT ARTILLERY.

(COURTS MARTIAL HELD, DESERTIONS, DEATHS, &amp;c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 18 December, 1883.

MR. A. G. TAYLOR to ask THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,—

- (1.) On what date was the present Brigade of Permanent Artillery formed?
- (2.) How many men have enlisted in its ranks up to the present date?
- (3.) How many still remain members of the Brigade?
- (4.) How many desertions have taken place?
- (5.) How many deserters are still uncaptured?
- (6.) How many members have died?
- (7.) How many have been discharged as medically unfit?
- (8.) How many have been dismissed from the Force for breaches of military regulations?
- (9.) How many Courts Martial have been held up to date?
- (10.) How many Courts of Inquiry have sat in judgment on alleged misconduct of commissioned officers?
- (11.) How many non-commissioned officers have been reduced for military misconduct?
- (12.) How many members of the Force have been prosecuted before the civilian Criminal Courts?
- (13.) What is the total cost (approximate) of the Permanent Force since the establishment of the present Brigade?
- (14.) By how many Courts Martial has a verdict of guilty been recorded?
- (15.) By how many Courts Martial has a verdict of complete acquittal been recorded?
- (16.) What was the aggregate amount of last year's vote paid to the commissioned officers?
- (17.) The like to non-commissioned officers?
- (18.) The like to the gunners or privates?
- (19.) What is the present relative strength of the Brigade, showing the proportion of (a) commissioned officers and (b) non-commissioned officers and (c) gunners?
- (20.) How many members of the Force are at the present date undergoing imprisonment in the Military Provost?
- (21.) The like in Darlinghurst Gaol?
- (22.) The like under defaulters drill?
- (23.) How many members are in the Military Hospital?
- (24.) How many are awaiting Court Martial?
- (25.) How many sentences awarded by Courts Martial have been mitigated by the Commander-in-Chief since the Brigade was established?
- (26.) What is the aggregate number of convictions, military and civil, recorded against members of the Force since its establishment?

The following information, in answer to the above Questions, has been supplied by the Commandant:—

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 1.—No. 1 Battery, 2/8/71; No. 2 Battery, 22/8/76;No. 3 Battery, 19/6/77. | 16.—£5,834 14s. 11d.   |
| 2.—1,089.  | 17.—£3,870 18s.  |
| 3.—307.  | 18.—£10,174 2s. 8d.  |
| 4.—386.  | 19.—(a) 4 Field Officers, 2 Captains, 7 Subalterns.  |
| 5.—308.  | (b) 4 Staff Sergeants, 2 Staff Corporals, 3Battery Sergeant-Majors, 16 Sergeants,13 Corporals, 11 Bombardiers. |
| 6.—12.   | (c) 9 Trumpeters, 236 Gunners.   |
| 7.—37.   | 20.—3.   |
| 8.—105.  | 21.—2.   |
| 9.—398.  | 22.—2.   |
| 10.—5.   | 23.—7.   |
| 11.—30.  | 24.—1.   |
| 12.—78.  | 25.—46.  |
| 13.—£237,852.  | 26.—476.   |
| 14.—375.   |  |
| 15.—23.  |  |

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

NEW SOUTH WALES ARTILLERY.

(COURTS-MARTIAL HELD.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 9 July, 1884.

RETURN laid upon the Table of this House by the Colonial Secretary in answer to Mr. A. G. Taylor's question, No. 5, of 9th July, 1884.

Desertion and loss of kit (13).

Sentence, 196 days imprisonment and stoppages.

Do.	168	do.	do.
Do.	168	do.	do.
Do.	168	do.	do.
Do.	168	do.	do.
Do.	196	do.	do.
Do.	168	do.	do.
Do.	168	do.	do.	(eighty-four days remitted).
Do.	168	do.	do.
Do.	reduced to gunner, and 168 days imprisonment (sixty-eight days remitted).
Do.	168 days imprisonment and stoppages.
Do.	196	do.	do.	(forty-six days remitted).
Do.	238	do.	do.	and discharged with ignominy.

Theft (4).

Sentence, 120 days imprisonment, and discharged with ignominy.

Do.	120	do.	do.
Do.	252	do.	do.	(not confirmed).
Do.	168	do.	do.

Disobedience of Orders.

Sentence, 234 days imprisonment.

Conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline (2).

Sentence, reduced to Bombardier.

Acquitted.

Leaving guard without permission (2).

Sentence, 56 days imprisonment.

Do. 56 do.

Insubordination.

Sentence, 184 days imprisonment.

Offering violence to a superior.

Sentence, 112 days imprisonment.

Using threatening language.

Sentence, 84 days imprisonment.

Breaking out of Barracks (2).

Sentence, 28 days imprisonment.

Do. 28 do.

Sleeping on post.

Sentence, 56 days imprisonment.

Drunk on duty.

Sentence, 84 days imprisonment.

Drunkenness.

Sentence, reduced to Bombardier.

[765 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £1 4s. 7d.]

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

NEW SOUTH WALES ARTILLERY.

(RE-ENGAGEMENT OF CERTAIN NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS—CORRESPONDENCE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 28 October, 1884.

The Commandant to His Excellency the Governor.

My Lord,

Brigade Office, Sydney, N.S.W., 4 September, 1884.

I have the honor to submit, for your consideration, appeals from Battery Pay and Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson and Acting Bombardiers Kelleher and Henderson, all of No. 1 Battery, Permanent Artillery, against the decision of the Officer Commanding that Corps not to permit them to re-engage for a further period of service.

2. Your Excellency will note by the correspondence that these appeals were, in the first instance, made direct to me, and that in memo. of June 9th I endorsed my opinion in regard to those of Acting Bombardiers Kelleher and Henderson. Colonel Roberts has, however, dissented from my ruling, and desired reference to higher authority. It will consequently now be necessary to regard those appeals as being made direct to your Excellency.

3. For your Lordship's convenience, I beg to recapitulate, as shortly as possible, the leading features of each case:—Sergeant Jackson, in appealing against the Commanding Officer's decision, remarks that he has to take exception to the last two punishments awarded him by Colonel Roberts, and applies that they may be re-investigated before the Commandant; that there is otherwise only one previous case recorded against him, for which he was admonished; that before being promoted to the rank of Sergeant he was in possession of one good-conduct badge, and has held the position of Battery Pay and Quarter-master Sergeant of No. 1 Battery for twenty-one months.

4. The matters from which arose the two punishments above referred to, as stated by Sergeant Jackson, are: that when Gunner Webster, the cook for the Sergeants' mess, was taken into hospital, the cook-house and cooking utensils were found to be in such a filthy condition that the dining members intended to ask they might be permitted to retain the services of Gunner Webster's temporary substitute, Gunner Runneger. Gunner Webster, on his release from hospital, resumed the cook's duties, by taking away the cooking utensils, &c., from Gunner Runneger, who reported the matter. Sergeant Jackson referred it to Battery Sergeant-Major Bennett, who declined to act in the absence of Brigade Sergeant-Major Green. By desire of the dining members of the mess, Sergeant Jackson then applied to Major Airey, the Senior Officer present in Barracks, who gave instructions for Gunner Runneger's retention as cook until the following morning, when inquiry would be made. Subsequently Sergeant Jackson was placed under arrest by Brigade Sergeant-Major Green, for refusing to allow Gunner Webster to do the cooking, and afterwards said that it was by Colonel Roberts' order that Webster was to do the cooking. No order to that effect had been given him prior to seeing Major Airey, nor was he aware that the Brigade Sergeant-Major had received any orders from Colonel Roberts on the subject. For acting under the orders of Major Airey, he was marched down from Victoria Barracks to Dawes' Point, and punished by reprimand. A short time after this he was serving out rations, and gave Gunner Webster a piece of beef of about 5½ lbs. for the Sergeants' mess, who took it to the Brigade Sergeant-Major and asked him if it was a proper piece. The Sergeant-Major said no; but no orders were given to have it changed. No exception was taken to the meat by the dining members. Brigade Sergeant-Major Green again placed him under arrest by order of Colonel Roberts, for not serving out sufficient meat, and he was again marched down to Dawes' Battery and severely reprimanded. This closes the case of Sergeant Jackson as represented by himself, to which may be added the character given him by the Officer Commanding his Battery, to the following effect: that he had found Sergeant Jackson to be a thoroughly good and trustworthy non-commissioned officer, especially as a Pay Sergeant; but that he had had occasion to find fault with him as regards his Quarter-master's duties, but nothing of sufficient importance to register a crime against him.

5. As against this, Colonel Roberts gives as reasons for not permitting this non-commissioned officer to re-engage, that Sergeant Jackson has not done his work in a satisfactory manner (although it is not specified in what particular respect he has been found wanting, as was required by my memo. of 9th of June); that he was nearly tried by Court-martial for his last offence; that he was then under arrest for using improper language to a gunner; and further, he considers that when a non-commissioned officer is not, in his opinion, a desirable man to retain for a further period of service, and would stop, if re-engaged, the promotion of more deserving men, he is acting for the good of the Service in declining to re-engage him. Colonel

Roberts further points out, in his letter of July 31st, that Sergeant Jackson's statement in regard to the two punishments to which he takes exception is full of grave inaccuracies, as proved by the evidence attached of certain officers and non-commissioned officers. He also instances the recent trial of Sergeant Jackson by Court-martial on a charge of which he was acquitted. In addition to the foregoing, Brigade Quarter-master Sergeant Webster states, in obedience to instructions, that Sergeant Jackson is in no way fitted for the position he holds.

6. The cases of Acting Bombardiers Kelleher and Henderson may be taken conjointly. The former states, in support of his appeal, that he is nearly two years in possession of a good-conduct badge, and during the last three years has had only one minor offence entered against him, viz., for absence for two hours. He held the appointment of Assistant-Master Gunner for nearly two years in the Southern District, and gave up that appointment for the purpose of returning to Head-quarters to learn his duty as a non-commissioned officer. The latter non-commissioned officer states that he is in possession of one good-conduct badge since August, 1883, and that it is two years and nine months since he has had an entry against him in the Defaulters' Book. Has held the appointment of Assistant-Master Gunner in the Southern District for over two years, and still holds that position.

7. The reports of the Officer Commanding the Battery to which these men belong, and of Captain Baynes, Lieut. Le Patourel, Lieut. Airey, and the Master-Gunner of the district, testify to the fact of these non-commissioned officers having performed their duties as Assistant-Master Gunners in a satisfactory manner.

8. The Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery urges as a bar to these men re-engaging, that when Kelleher was absent he was simply reprimanded, as he stated he did not intend to re-engage, and that Henderson's character was formerly not good, and his qualifications not first-class.

9. In subsequent memorandum of June 18th, Colonel Roberts advances further reasons for his action viz., that Kelleher at the end of five years' service has only reached acting rank, and has not presented himself for examination for promotion; also that Henderson after five years' service is only a supernumerary acting bombardier, and had that rank conferred upon him merely to give him authority over working parties: that his qualifications are not such as to entitle him to promotion, and if he was permitted to re-engage he would simply fill the place of a better man.

10. In regard to the foregoing, I am of opinion that Sergeant Jackson has but little cause of complaint as to the mode in which he was dealt with in connection with the cook of the Sergeants' mess, and with the subsequent serving out of an improper ration to that mess. The preponderance of evidence points to the fact that he was aware of Colonel Roberts' order, given through the Brigade Sergeant-Major, for the re-employment of Webster in place of Runnegar at the time he sought to contravene that order by reference to the Senior Officer in Barracks, to whom he does not seem to have intimated the existence of any such order, as he should have done. Sergeant Jackson was moreover, in my opinion, guilty of improper conduct in having wilfully issued a defective meat ration to the Sergeants' mess. These matters have been dealt with, and it must be concluded that this non-commissioned officer has been appropriately punished.

11. Major Airey has not, in my opinion, committed any particular impropriety in having directed, as Senior Officer in Barracks, at so late an hour as 6 p.m., the retention of Runnegar as cook until the following morning, seeing that he was ignorant of the existence of any order to the contrary; and it certainly was no business of his to seek information, he having a right to expect that all orders emanating from the Commanding Officer at Dawes' Battery to the troops in the Victoria Barracks would pass through the Senior Officer in Command of the latter post. Neither does there appear to have been any attempt to carry out that rule which precludes a man on discharge from hospital returning to special employment without reference to the Officer Commanding the Battery to which he belongs—see Major Airey's statement in letter of 8 August, to which the Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery takes no exception. The rule of the Service requires that in the case of a detached post like the Victoria Barracks, all orders from the Head-quarters at Dawes' Battery should be conveyed to the former through the Officer in Command of the same, and not through a subordinate, as was done in this instance. Had this course been adopted, no such irregularities would have occurred as mark this unpleasant case.

12. It now remains for your Excellency to decide if a non-commissioned officer, formerly in possession of a good-conduct badge (relinquished by the rules of the Service on promotion to the rank of Sergeant), and who for a considerable time has held, and still retains, the important and responsible position of Battery Pay and Quarter-master Sergeant, and who has, with one exception, comported himself to the satisfaction of the Officer Commanding his Battery, is to be permitted to extend his service in the Corps. The man's character is undoubtedly good, for the official record by which the soldier's character is required to be mainly gauged, viz., the Regimental Defaulter Sheet (attached) exhibits no entry against him, during his five years' service. His good character is also otherwise vouched for by the retention of his position as a non-commissioned officer. On the other hand, it is true that Sergeant Jackson has not performed his Quarter-master's duties to the entire satisfaction of the Officer Commanding his Battery, and Brigade Quarter-master Sergeant Webster goes so far as to affirm that Sergeant Jackson is in no way fitted for the duties of his position. If this be the case, why has not the Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery exercised his powers by depriving Sergeant Jackson of his acting appointment of Pay and Quarter-master Sergeant, and thus have caused him to revert to the grade and duties of an ordinary Sergeant, for which his qualifications have not been called in question?

13. In like manner the Regimental Defaulter Sheets (attached) of Acting Bombardiers Kelleher and Henderson will show that the former, since January, 1880, and the latter since August, 1881, have had no entries recorded against them. Indeed they both wear special marks of distinction, and receive additional pay as the reward of consistent good conduct. Notwithstanding the fact of the Officer Commanding the Battery to which these men belong, and other officers under whom they have acted as Assistant-Master Gunners, having testified to their capabilities as such, yet, if the Officer Commanding the Permanent Artillery had reason to be dissatisfied, why did he not deprive them of those acting appointments which he, on his own authority, conferred upon them?

14. It is manifest that if these three non-commissioned officers have for so long a time been permitted to improperly absorb non-commissioned rank and responsible positions, to the exclusion of better men, the fault rests with the regimental authorities alone, and should not, I venture to think, be now used as an argument against their continuance in the Force in appropriate positions.

15. I can see no proper justification for the rejection of these men; and looking at the amount of crime in the Corps, and the preponderance of the recruit element, I should judge that the retention of a number of old soldiers of good character would in every respect be of the greatest benefit to the Service.

16. I cannot admit the propriety of the construction which Colonel Roberts has chosen to place upon my action in this matter, as being calculated to affect his position and authority as the Officer Commanding the Corps. Reference to section 43 of the Army Act will show that these non-commissioned officers have merely exercised their privilege of appeal, which, under the same section, I am bound to entertain and deal with to the best of my ability. Nothing beyond this has been attempted by me.

I have, &c.,
JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,
Commandant.

[Enclosures.]

The Officer Commanding No. 1 Battery, N.S.W. Artillery, to The Officer Commanding N.S.W. Artillery.
Victoria Barracks, 26 May, 1884.

Sir,
I have the honor to report that the n.c. officers, as per margin, paraded before me on Saturday morning, requesting that the case of their re-engaging might be brought under the notice of the Commandant. I have had their statements taken in presence of an officer, and forward them herewith.

I have, &c.,
GEO. J. AIREY, Major,
Comd. No. 1 Battery, N.S.W.A.

No. 662, Bty.
Pay and Qr.-mr.
Sgt. William
Jackson.

No. 663, A. Br.
James Kelleher.
No. 665, A. Br.
Jas. Henderson.

Victoria Barracks, 24 May, 1884.

No. 662, Battery Quarter-master Sergeant W. Jackson states:—I feel wronged by the decision of the Colonel Commanding in refusing my re-engagement, and respectfully beg to appeal against it to the Commandant. In doing so, I wish to draw attention to the last two punishments awarded to me by the Colonel Commanding; and as this is all that is against me, excepting one admonishment as a gr., I wish that in both these cases that I may be allowed to have them re-investigated before the Commandant.

Before being promoted to the rank of Sergeant I was in possession of one good-conduct badge, and have held the position of Battery, Pay, and Quarter-master Sergeant of No. 1 Battery for the past twenty-one months.

I beg most respectfully to ask that this may be forwarded.

No. 662, WM. JACKSON,
Batt. Pay and Q.-m. Sgt., No. 1. Br., N.S.W.A.

No. 663, A. Br. James Kelleher, states:—I feel wronged by the decision of the Colonel Commanding N.S.W.A., for not allowing me the privilege of re-engaging, and beg most respectfully to appeal against it.

I am nearly two years in possession of a good-conduct badge, and during the last three years I have had only one minor offence against me, which was being absent for two hours. I held the appointment of Assistant-Master-Gunner for nearly two years in the Southern District, where I believe I gave every satisfaction. I gave up the appointment of Assistant-Master-Gunner for the purpose of returning to Head-quarters to learn my duty as a non-commissioned officer; since I returned to my duty at Head-quarters I have not been brought up to the Orderly Room for any dereliction of my duty.

I beg most respectfully that this may be brought under the notice of the Commandant.

JAMES KELLEHER,
A. Br., No. 1 Battery, N.S.W.A.

24/5/84.

No. 665, A. Br. Joseph Henderson states:—I feel myself aggrieved by the decision of the Colonel Commanding, in refusing my application for re-engagement, and beg most respectfully to request my case may be referred to the Commandant.

I am in possession of a good-conduct badge since last August, and it is two years and nine months since I have had an entry of any kind against me in the Defaulter Sheet. I have held the appointment of Assistant-Master-Gunner in the Southern District for over two years, and am still holding that position, in which I believe I have given every satisfaction.

J. HENDERSON,
A. Br. No. 1 Battery, N.S.W.A.

24/5/84.

Memorandum to Officer Commanding No. 1 Battery.

Artillery Brigade Office, Dawes' Barracks, Sydney, 28/5/1884.

You will be good enough to point out to Battery Pay and Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson, Acting Bombardiers Kelleher and Henderson, that their re-engagement is subject to the recommendation of the Commanding Officer, that their cases have been reported to the Commandant, and will be submitted to him.

By order,
ROBT. A. NATHAN,
Lt. and Acting Adjutant.

The Colonel Commanding N.S.W. Artillery,—These men informed.—G.A., Major, Cg. No. 1 Battery.
4/6/84.

Memorandum to Officer Commanding No. 1 Battery, N.S.W.A.

Artillery Brigade Office, Dawes' Barracks, Sydney, 3 June, 1884.

No reply has yet been received to my memo., dated 28th May, 1884, relative to the re-engagement of Sergeant Jackson, A. Bombardiers Kelleher and Henderson. The Officer Commanding No. 1 Battery N.S.W. Artillery will therefore be good enough to forward same without further delay.

CHAS. F. ROBERTS, Colonel,
Commanding N.S.W. Artillery.

The Colonel Commanding N.S.W. Artillery,—Forwarded as requested.—G.A., Major, Commanding No. 1 Battery, 4/6/84.

Memorandum to Commandant.

Artillery Brigade Office, Dawes' Barracks, Sydney, 5 June, 1884.

In forwarding the appeals of the three non-commissioned officers, I would point out that the Senior-Sergeant Jackson, Pay and Quarter-master Sergeant of No. 1 Battery, has not done his work in a satisfactory manner, and he was nearly being tried by a C.M. for his last offence. He is now in arrest for using improper language to a gunner.

Acting

Acting Bombardier Kelleher, when absent in December last was reprimanded, as he stated he did not intend to re-engage.

Acting Bombardier Henderson's character formerly was not good, and his qualifications are not first-class.

They were not recommended by the Officer Commanding their Battery.
Battery and Regimental Defaulter Sheets herewith.

CHAS. F. ROBERTS, Colonel.

Memorandum to Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery.

(Confidential.)

Brigade Office, Sydney, 9 June, 1884.

I MUCH regret that I feel myself unable to support the action of the Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery, in deciding not to permit Acting Bombardiers Kelleher and Henderson to re-engage.

In order to enable me to decide if it is my duty to support or dismiss the appeal of Sergeant Jackson, I should wish it to be specified in what particular respects he has failed to do his work in a satisfactory manner. This non-commissioned officer, having held the responsible and trustworthy position of Major Airey's Pay Sergeant for nearly two years, the officer may be called upon to state how the duties of that position have been performed. As the two last offences entered against Sergeant Jackson in his Defaulter Sheets, including that protest against him by the Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery as having nearly resulted in a Court-martial, and as the mode which those offences were disposed of by the Commanding Officer have a material bearing upon the question of his re-engagement, and form the subject of further appeal, I consider it desirable that Sergeant Jackson should be called upon to specify in writing the nature of his complaints in relation thereto.

I trust that the Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery will see fit to reconsider his decision; but in any case I shall be glad of the return of this correspondence, for submission if necessary to superior authority.

J.S.R., Col., Comdt.

Memorandum to Officer Commanding No. 1 Battery.

Artillery Brigade Office, Dawes' Barracks, Sydney, 11/6/1884.

MAJOR Airey is requested to state how Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson has performed his duties; and further directed that this non-commissioned officer should be called upon to specify in writing the nature of his complaints in relation to his application for re-engagement.

By order,
ROB. A. NATHAN,
Lt. & Adj.

The Colonel Commanding N. S. Wales Artillery :--I have found Sergeant Jackson a thoroughly good and trustworthy n.c. officer, especially with regard to his duties as Pay Sergeant. I have had to find fault occasionally with him as regards his Quarter-master's duties, but nothing of sufficient importance to register a crime against him.—G.A., Major, Cg. No. 1 Battery, 16/6/84.

Statement of Sergeant Jackson.

Victoria Barracks, 13 June, 1884.

IN accordance with your instructions to specify the nature of my complaints relative to my re-engagement, I have been in the Corps for five years, and up to last February was only once admonished, and that as a gunner.

The other two crimes since I beg most respectfully to explain :--About six months ago the man told off for cooking in the Sergeants' mess (Gunner Webster) was taken into hospital by order of the Doctor, for the purpose of seeing if he was sane or not, and in our handing the things over to a new cook (Gunner Runnegar), we found the cook-house and all the cooking utensils in a most filthy condition; and after what we saw we fully intended to parade and see if we could get Gunner Webster returned to duty, and keep the new man, should Gunner Webster come out of hospital again. Gunner Webster came out of hospital on the evening of the 16th February, 1884,* and went to the cook-house and took the key away from Gunner Runnegar, who came up and reported it. I, as senior dining member of the mess, reported it to Bde. Sergeant-Major Bennett, Bde. Sergeant-Major Green not being in Barracks at the time, who said he could do nothing in the matter. I then, at the request of the dining members, went to Major Airey, who was then Senior Officer in Barracks, and explained the complaint. Major Airey then gave me instructions to keep the new man (Gunner Runnegar) in the cook-house until inquiry was made the next morning. Without saying a word to me, Bde. Sergeant-Major Green came and placed me under arrest for refusing to allow Gunner Webster to do the cooking for the Sergeants' mess. He said after that it was the Colonel's order, but that order was not given to me—I acted upon the order of Major Airey.† I was marched down to D. Battery, a distance of about 3 miles, and then received the punishment of being reprimanded for my action in the matter. I believe that in obeying Major Airey's orders I was carrying out my duty, and I am perfectly sure that I was not aware at the time that the Bde. Sergeant-Major had any orders from the Colonel on the subject, neither did I receive any orders prior to seeing Major Airey.‡ The second charge occurred a few days afterwards. I was serving out the rations one morning and gave

* This statement is not borne out by the facts submitted by Bgde. Sgt.-Major Green, Qt.-mr. Sgt. Webster, Sgt. Walters, and Gunner Webster.—C.F.R., Col.

† From the statements of the Brigade Sergeant-Major and Sergeant Walters, it appears that this n.c. officer must have been aware of the order from Colonel Commanding with reference to Gunner Webster doing the work of mess cook prior to going to Major Airey, and he here makes a false statement.—C.F.R.

‡ The order was given to him by Sergeant Walters and Sergeant-Major Green on Friday, the 15th. This statement is also a false one.—C.F.R.

gave this man a piece of beef about 5½ lbs. ; he took it to the Bde. Sergeant-Major, and asked him if it was a proper piece to give to the Sergeants' mess, and he said no. No exception was taken to the meat by the dining members. Bde. Sergeant-Major Green gave me no orders to change the meat. Bde. Sergeant-Major Green again went down to the Colonel Commanding, and when he came back he placed me under arrest, by order of the Colonel, for not serving out sufficient meat and butter. The latter part of charge was withdrawn, and I was again marched down to D. Battery, and again received a punishment by being "severely reprimanded." The dining mess has been closed ever since.

These two crimes, together with the admonition as a gunner, is all against me in the five years, and I have been performing the duty of Pay and Quarter-master Sergeant to No. 1 Battery for over twenty-one months.

No. 662, WM. JACKSON,
Batt. Pay & Qr.-m. Sgt., No. 1 Bt., N.S.W.A.

The Colonel Commanding N.S.W. Artillery,—In accordance with memo. 11/6/84, Sergt. Jackson's complaint herewith.—G.A., Major, Cg. No. 1 Battery, 13/6/84.

Memorandum to Commandant.

(Confidential.)

Artillery Brigade Office, Dawes' Barracks, Sydney, 18 June, 1884.

WITH reference to confidential memorandum, dated June 9th, the matter now divides itself under two heads—1st. The cases of the two Acting Bombardiers, Kelleher and Henderson ; and 2nd, that of Sergeant Jackson. As his case is delayed for further correspondence, I now state the 1st. It is with considerable reluctance, yet with all due respect, I submit that the question of re-engagement of non-commissioned officers and soldiers is subject to the recommendation of the Commanding Officer, and is not a right. This officer is most likely to know whether it would be to the interests of the Service to take on, for a further period, any man who on completion of his first term may apply ; and I consider that when a non-commissioned officer is not, in the opinion of his Commanding Officer, a desirable man to retain for a further period of service (for by so doing, promotion of more deserving men would be stopped), he is only acting for the good of the Service in declining to re-engage him.

Acting Bombardier Kelleher at the end of five years has only reached the acting rank ; he did not present himself for examination for promotion, and when before me for absence in December last, pleaded in mitigation of punishment that he had only some five or six months to serve and did not intend to re-engage.

Acting Bombardier Henderson is only after five years service a supernumerary acting bombardier, having that rank given him while performing the duties of Assistant-Master-Gunner, in a portion of the Southern District, in order to give him authority over any working or fatigue parties sent to him ; he consequently is the junior acting non-commissioned officer in the Brigade, having been appointed 8/8/83. His qualifications are not such as to entitle him to promotion, and he would simply fill the place which a better man might hold, if he were re-engaged for a further time.

The Queen's Regulations are very definite on this subject, and I would suggest that the question of re-engagement should be submitted, as suggested, for the decision of higher authority ; for I at times find myself in a difficult position, especially when a desirable man may offer to re-engage, and the states show that (absentees not yet struck off included) the Corps is full up in numbers.

CHAS. F. ROBERTS, Colonel,
Com. Art. Forces.

I return correspondence on this subject, but would wish, as soon as this portion has been considered, that the whole may be returned to me, to complete Sergt. Jackson's case.—C.F.R., Col., 18/6/84.

The Officer Commanding Per. Art.,—Returned for completion of Sergt. Jackson's case, when the whole correspondence will be submitted to higher authority as requested ; and, in order to supply full information, the Officer Commanding the Battery may be called upon to furnish a report as to the manner in which Acting Bombardiers Kelleher and Henderson have performed their duties as Assistant-Master-Gunners in the district under his charge.—J.S.R., Col. Comdt., 20/6/84.

[Enclosures.]

Brigade Quarter-master Sergeant Webster to The Brigade Adjutant, N.S.W. Artillery.

Sir,

Victoria Barracks, Sydney.

In obedience to your instructions I forward the following report, viz.:—About 9 a.m. on the 19th February, 1884, I was shown a piece of meat issued by Brigade Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson to Gunner Webster, then cook of Sergeants' mess, supposed to be for four dining members, the said consisting of about 4 lbs. of bone and 1½ lb. meat, and the very worst part that it could be cut from. The proportion for four full rations should be 3¾ lbs. meat and 1¼ lb. bone. I made inquiries why he issued such a piece of meat to the Sergeants' mess ; he told me the meat sent this morning was not much over weight ; I then made inquiries from the contractor, and found the weight of meat delivered to No. 1 Battery on the said morning (19th February) was 109 lbs. instead of 87¾ lbs., or 21¼ lbs. over weight. I have not the least doubt but this was done for some spiteful purpose, whether directly or indirectly to the Officer Commanding Artillery I am unable to state ; the said officer having given instructions that Gunner Webster was to cook for the Sergeants' mess, and Sergeant Jackson refusing to eat anything that Gunner Webster cooked.

W. WEBSTER,
B.Q.-m. Sergt. N.S.W.A.

True copy.—ROBT. A. NATHAN, Lt. & Actg. Adjt., N.S.W.A.

Captain P. Murray to The Brigade Adjutant, N.S.W. Artillery.

ON or about February 19th last, being officer of the day at Victoria Barracks, I was present at the issue of rations ; shortly afterwards Brigade Sergeant-Major Green brought Gunner Webster, who was then Sergeants' mess cook, before me, in order that I might inspect a piece of meat which had been issued by Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson to Gunner Webster for cooking. It was in my opinion quite unfit for that purpose, as it consisted of a large bone with a small piece of meat attached ; I do not think it would have been accepted by any married man or the cook's mate of any mess.

Brigade Sergeant-Major Green also reported to me that for two or three days the Sergeants had declined to eat anything that Gunner Webster cooked. I therefore reported the case to Major Murphy as Senior Officer at Victoria Barracks. I was subsequently present at the Artillery Brigade Office when Sergeants Jackson, Llewellyn, and Walters were severely admonished for their conduct by the Colonel Commanding, who ordered the Sergeants' dining mess to be closed.

PEMBROKE MURRAY,
Capt. N.S.W.A.
20/6/84.

Major

Major Murphy to The Brigade Adjutant, N.S.W. Artillery.

Victoria Barracks, 19 June, 1884.

FORWARDED :—My statement regarding rations issued to Sergeants' mess, on 19th February last ; also, Sergeant Walters' statement regarding Gunner Webster's return to the Sergeants' mess, on 16th February, 1884.

M.M., Major.

Major Murphy to The Officer Commanding, N.S.W. Artillery.

Sir,

Victoria Barracks, 19 June, 1884.

On the morning of the 19th February last, a piece of meat which had been served out by Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson for the use of Sergeants' mess, Victoria Barracks, was brought before me by the Orderly Officer. The piece was nearly all bone, with a little meat attached to it, and was in no way a fit ration for three (3) Sergeants. As it appeared to me to have been served out with intent and not through mistake, I considered it my duty to take the matter before the Officer Commanding the N.S.W. Artillery, which I accordingly did.

I have, &amp;c.,

M. MURPHY, Major,
N.S.W.A.

Victoria Barracks, 19 June, 1884.

SERGEANT Thomas Walters states that he was caterer for the Sergeants' mess for the month of February, and on the evening of the 11th February Gunner Webster, the cook of the Sergeants' mess, was sent to hospital. I handed the key of the cook-house to Gunner Rennegar to do the cooking ; on the following Friday when Mr. Green came back from Dawes' Battery, he told me that Gunner Webster was to go back to the cook-house by the Colonel's order. I told Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson the order that had been given that evening. Gunner Webster came out of hospital on Saturday, the 16th February.

THOS. WALTERS,
Sergeant.

Quarter-master Sergeant Webster to The Brigade Adjutant, N.S.W. Artillery.

Sir,

Artillery Brigade Office, Dawes' Barracks, Sydney.

In obedience to your instructions, I forward a report upon the capabilities, &c., of Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson.

Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson is not in any way, in my opinion, fitted for the position he holds. When I give him instructions to act in any case that requires a little forethought he is completely lost. Whether his behaviour is caused by the after influence of drink or from utter incapability I cannot say, but Sergeant Jackson is not a fit man to hold his present rank.

W. WEBSTER,
B. Q.-m. Sgt, N.S.W.A.
11/6/84.

Sergeant-Major Green to The Brigade-Adjutant.

Sir,

Victoria Barracks, 18 June, 1884.

I beg most respectfully to state that on the 15th February, 1884, I was ordered by telegram to bring Gunner Webster, who was then in hospital, to Dawes' Battery. I did so.

(1.) Gunner Webster was brought before the Commanding Officer (Colonel C. F. Roberts) respecting a letter which he had written to Mr. A. G. Taylor, M.L.A. The Colonel asked me what duties Gunner Webster was performing, and how he performed them. I stated that he was cook in the Sergeants' mess, and had given every satisfaction—I had heard no complaints as to his conduct. The Colonel then ordered him to be sent back to the mess again.

(2.) On my return to Barracks I ordered the caterer (Sergeant Walters) to employ Gunner Webster as before in the mess.

(3.) About 3 p.m. on the 15th February, 1884, I told Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson that the Colonel had ordered Gunner Webster to be cook again in the Sergeants' mess, to which he made no answer. Sergeant Walters (the caterer) also told Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson the Colonel's orders with reference to Gunner Webster.

(4.) On Sunday morning, the 17th February, 1884, Gunner Webster came to me and reported that Battery Quarter-master-Sergeant Jackson had ordered him to give up the key of the kitchen, or he would put him in the guard-room. I ordered Gunner Webster to tell Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson I wished to see him at once, but he did not come. I went and found him, and placed him in arrest for "irregular conduct" in ordering Gunner Webster from the mess kitchen, knowing that he was placed there by me and by the Colonel's orders.

(5.) On the following Tuesday morning Gunner Webster brought the rations to me which were served out to him for the use of the mess by Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson ; he considered it was not a fair ration. I found that there was only about 1½ lb. of meat, the remainder being bone.

(6.) The rations for three Sergeants and Gunner Webster being 6 lbs. of meat with a fair proportion of bone, I showed the rations to the Orderly Officer (Captain Murray), and asked Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson if he could not supply more ; he replied that he had no more to give.

(7.) Major Murphy reported it to the Officer Commanding (Colonel Roberts), who on the same date ordered me to place Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson in arrest for issuing an insufficient quantity of meat and no butter to the Sergeants' mess.

(8.) Gunner Webster was employed in the mess previous to his discharge, for one year and eight months. On his re-engagement, at the request of Battery Quarter-master Sergeant Jackson, he was again employed as cook, and continued to perform this duty for seven months, until admitted to hospital.

I am, &amp;c.,

H. GREEN, W.O.,
N.S.W. Artillery,

Gunner Webster to The Brigade Adjutant.

Sir,

Victoria Barracks, 18 June, 1884.

I most respectfully beg to draw your attention to the following statement :—I came out of hospital on the 16th February at 2 p.m. and reported myself to Sergeant-Major Green ; he told me to take up the duty as cook in the Sergeant's mess. I did so. Next morning at half-past 7 o'clock I went to the ration store for the Sergeants' mess rations ; Sergeant Jackson refused to serve me, and at the same time ordered me to give up the key of the Sergeants' mess kitchen or he would put me in the guard-room ; I then went to Sergeant-Major Green and told him what Sergeant Jackson had told me to do ; Sergeant-Major Green sent me to tell Sergeant Jackson that he wished to see him at once, and told me to go on with the cooking for the mess, and I went to the ration store afterwards and took the rations and cooked them and placed them on the table, and also cooked the meals for the Sergeants on Monday. On the same day Sergeant Jackson was brought before the Colonel for ordering me out of the cook-house. On Sunday morning I went for the rations as usual ; Sergeant Jackson gave me the rations, which I considered not sufficient ; I showed them to Sergeant-Major Green, he asked Sergeant Jackson if he could supply any more ; Sergeant Jackson stated, "No, that he had no more to give." Sergeant-Major Green then took the meat before Captain Murray, and he reported the case to Major Murphy, who forwarded the report to the Commanding Officer. I also beg to state that I have been in the Sergeants' mess as cook and waiter for two years and three months altogether, and proved myself in every way satisfactory, and it was the Sergeant's wish for me to take over the cooking the second period, and in fact they forced me to take it over, under the penalty of being made a prisoner, on account of the satisfactory manner in which I had done my work in first period.

E. WEBSTER,

Gunner, N.S.W. Artillery.

True copy.—ROBT. A. NATHAN, Lt. &amp; Actg. Adjt., N.S.W.A.

The Officer Commanding N.S.W. Artillery,—These papers sent back in accordance with request made this day per telegram. By command, H.D.M., Captain, B.-M., 12/8/84. To be returned.

Colonel

Colonel Roberts to The Commandant.

Sir,

Dawes' Battery, 31 July, 1884.

Enclosures 24.

In forwarding the enclosed correspondence with reference to the re-engagement of Sergeant Jackson and Acting Bombardier Kelleher and Supernumerary Acting Bombardier Henderson, I beg to point out that the conduct of these non-commissioned officers has proved that I was correct in my opinion that it was not desirable to re-engage them ; and I respectfully submit that, according to the Queen's Regulations, their re-engagement is subject to the recommendation of the Officer Commanding, and in this case I consider my action should be upheld. I stated my reasons for the course I pursued when called upon by the Commandant, viz., that Bombardier Kelleher had, when up for punishment, urged in mitigation that his time was nearly up and he did not intend to re-engage. Supernumerary Acting Bombardier Henderson had only the acting rank given him when doing his work as district gunner ; that at the end of five years these men had only reached the acting rank, and neither of them had presented themselves for promotion or to pass the necessary examination. Further, I pointed out that these non-commissioned officers would only prevent better qualified men from obtaining the promotion they worked for and looked forward to as a reward if they were retained in the Service.

The two acting bombardiers have both been before me, as Commanding Officer, for breach of discipline.

In Sergeant Jackson's case, he would have been tried for insubordinate conduct (had his time not been so nearly up) in the early part of this year, to which case he refers in the statement he makes on June 13, but which statement I regret to have to point out is full of very grave inaccuracies. The statements of the officers and senior non-commissioned officers (two of whom are now warrant officers), as well as the gunner, who was the cause of the case against Sergeant Jackson being brought to light, are attached, and they undoubtedly prove the misstatements made by Sergeant Jackson, if not an insubordinate manner in the way he behaved in the case referred to. He has since been tried and acquitted on a charge which, although not proved before the Court-martial, undoubtedly was sufficiently clear when investigated to warrant his trial. The case broke down from the curious conduct of the second witness, who declined to state on oath what he had stated before his Commanding Officer, had signed to as correct on the summary of evidence, and what he now, when called upon to explain his conduct on the Court-martial by His Excellency the Governor, states he is fully of belief that the Sergeant did say.

I note that Major Airey reports favourably on Sergeant Jackson as a Pay Sergeant, but he has frequently given considerable trouble with regard to his Quarter-master Sergeant's duties. The Brigade Quarter-master Sergeant has brought to my notice, and he reports him unfit for his position.

As I have previously requested that this question of authority to accept the re-engagement of men may be referred to higher authority, being as I submit one of purely regimental detail, as laid down in Queen's Regulations and Army Discipline Act, I now again have the honor to request that it may be forwarded for the decision of His Excellency the Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

I have, &c.,
CHAS. F. ROBERTS,
Colonel.

[Enclosure.]

Statement of Sergeant Jackson.

Victoria Barracks, 13 June, 1884.

In accordance with your instructions to specify the nature of my complaints relative to my re-engagement, I have been in the Corps for five years, and up to last February was only once admonished and that as a gunner.

The other two crimes since I beg most respectfully to explain :—

About six months ago the man told off for cooking in the Sergeants' mess (Gunner Webster) was taken into hospital, by order of the Doctor, for the purpose of seeing if he was sane or not ; and in our handing the things over to a new cook (Gunner Runnegar), we found the cook-house and all the cooking utensils in a most filthy condition, and after what we saw we fully intended to parade and see if we could get Gunner Webster returned to duty and keep the new man, should Gunner Webster come out of hospital again. Gunner Webster came out of hospital on the evening of the 16th February, 1884, and went to the cook-house and took the key away from Gunner Runnegar, who came up and reported it. I as senior dining member of the mess reported it to Bde. Sergeant-Major Bennett, Bde. Sergeant-Major Green not being in Barracks at the time, who said he could do nothing in the matter. I then, at the request of the dining members, went to Major Airey, who was then Senior Officer in Barracks, and explained the complaint. Major Airey then gave me instructions to keep the new man (Gunner Runnegar) in the cook-house until inquiry was made the next morning. Without saying a word to me, Bde. Sergeant-Major Green came and placed me under arrest for refusing to allow Gunner Webster to do the cooking for the Sergeants' mess. He said after that it was the Colonel's order, but that order was not given to me—I acted upon the order of Major Airey. I was marched down to D. Battery, a distance of about 3 miles, and then received the punishment of being reprimanded for my action in the matter. I believe that in obeying Major Airey's orders I was carrying out my duty, and I am perfectly sure that I was not aware at the time that the Brigade Sergeant-Major had any orders from the Colonel on the subject, neither did I receive any orders prior to seeing Major Airey.

The second charge occurred a few days afterwards. I was serving out the rations one morning, and gave this man a piece of beef about 5½ lbs.; he took it to the Bde. Sergeant-Major, and asked him if it was a proper piece to give to the Sergeants' mess, and he said no. No exception was taken to the meat by the dining members ; Bde. Sergeant-Major Green gave me no orders to change the meat. B.-S.-M. Green again went down to the Colonel Commanding, and when he came back he placed me under arrest, by order of the Colonel, for not serving out sufficient meat and butter. The latter part of charge was withdrawn, and I was again marched down to D. Battery, and again received a punishment by being "severely reprimanded." The dining mess has been closed ever since.

These two crimes, together with the admonition as a gunner, is all against me in the five years, and I have been performing the duty of Pay and Quarter-master Sergeant to No. 1 Battery for over twenty-one months.

No. 662, WM. JACKSON,
Batt. Pay & Qr.-m. Sgt., No. 1. Battery, N.S.W.A.

True copy,—H. D. MACKENZIE, Capt. B.-M.

Memorandum to Officer Commanding N.S.W. Artillery.

Brigade Office, Sydney, 4 August, 1884.

To complete correspondence in cases of Sergeant Jackson, A. Br. Kelleher, and A. Br. Henderson, it is requested that the reports of the Officer Commanding the Battery (called for in memo. dated 20/6/84), on the manner in which the two acting bombardiers have performed their duties as Assistant-Master-Gunners in the district under his charge, may be forwarded.

By Command,

H.D.M., Capt., B.-M.

The Officer Commanding No. 1 Battery will be good enough to comply with the above request.

By Order,

R.A.N., Lt. &amp; Adjt.

7/8/84.

Major Airey to Colonel Roberts.

Victoria Barracks, 8 August, 1884.

Sir,

In answer to memo. I beg to state, for information of the Commandant, that Gunner Webster, when cook of the Sergeants' mess, was ordered to hospital for observation as to his sanity. On the 16th February, 1884, he was discharged from hospital. Sergeant Jackson came to my quarters about 6 p.m. on that day, I having just come into Barracks, and reported that Gunner Webster had gone to the Sergeants' mess kitchen and taken the key from Gunner Runnegar, the cook, and that the Sergeants objected to eat anything cooked by him, owing to certain remarks he had made, and also that when he went to hospital the kitchen was found to be in a filthy dirty state. Sergeant Jackson reported that he was unable to see the Sergeant-Major, as he was away from Barracks, but that he had seen the next senior non-commissioned officer, who said he could do nothing without orders. Sergeant Jackson came to me as the senior non-commissioned officer of No. 1 Battery in Barracks and senior dining member of the Sergeants' mess. In consequence of this report I ordered Gunner Runnegar to be retained in the Sergeants' mess kitchen till next morning, when the matter could be investigated. I would here state that it is the rule, when an employed man comes out of hospital, for the senior non-commissioned officer to inquire from the Officer in Command of the Battery whether he is to go to his duty or the employment he was in before going there. No orders were received by me from the Artillery Brigade Office relative to Gunner Webster.

At the time I gave this order I was also Senior Officer in Barracks, Major Murphy sleeping, by permission, at Coogee, for which place he had then left.

It was reported to me next morning that Sergeant Jackson had been placed under arrest by Mr. (then S.M.) Green, for ordering Gunner Webster to give up the key of the kitchen. He was marched to Dawes' Battery and punished by a "reprimand." I then during the investigation, for the first time, became aware that an order had been given to Sergeant-Major Green for Gunner Webster to go back to the Sergeants' mess as cook. With regard to the second offence occurring three days after Gunner Webster came out of hospital, I attended the investigation at Dawes' Battery, and Sergeant Jackson was "severely reprimanded" for insubordinate conduct in connection with the issue of rations; the other dining members, Sergeants Llewelyn and Walters, were cautioned for refusing to eat the meals cooked by Gunner Webster, and the Sergeants' mess ordered to be closed as a dining mess. With regard to my reasons for giving this order, owing to the non-observance of the chain of responsibility and my not having been informed, as Officer Commanding Gunner Webster's Battery, that the Colonel had given an order on the subject, I was not aware of its existence, and I acted on the representation made to me, and, as I considered, in the best interests of the Service. Had I been aware of such order this trouble could not have taken place, and I respectfully beg to point out that by its omission I was placed in a position tending to lower my authority in the eyes of the non-commissioned officers and men of the Force, as, having given a distinct order to Sergeant Jackson, he was placed under arrest by the Sergeant-Major without any reference to me for carrying out my instructions.

I have, &amp;c.,

GEO. J. AIREY,

Major, Commanding No. 1 Battery.

Major Airey to Colonel Roberts.

Victoria Barracks, 9 August, 1884.

Sir,

In answer to memo., I have the honor to state that A. Brs. Kelleher and Henderson have at all times carried out their duties as Assistant-Master-Gunners to my entire satisfaction. I have called upon those officers in charge of sub-districts, and the District-Master-Gunner, under whose immediate command these non-commissioned officers have worked, for reports, which I attach*. A. Br. Kelleher resigned the Assistant-Master-Gunner at South Head at his own request, for the purpose of coming to Head-quarters, with a view of passing his examination for promotion.

I have, &amp;c.,

GEO. J. AIREY,

Major, N.S.W. Artillery, Commanding Southern District.

* Enclosures, 5 :—M., Brigade-Major, 4/8/84. Reports—Capt. Baynes, Lieut. H. Le Patourel, Lieut. H. P. Airey, District-Master-Gunner Sgt. Crabtree.

[Enclosures.]

Memorandum to Officer Commanding New South Wales Artillery.

Brigade Office, Sydney, 5 August, 1884.

(Urgent.) As Sergeant Jackson affirms he acted upon Major Airey's order, that officer may be called upon to state what he knows of the matter, and explain his reasons for directing Gunner Runnegar to continue to do the duty, and the complaint made through Sergeant Jackson to stand over till the next morning, notwithstanding an order from Colonel Roberts for the employment of Gunner Webster was in existence.

Copy of Sergeant Jackson's statement herewith, for Major Airey's perusal.

By Command,

H. D. MACKENZIE,

Captain, B.-M.

Major Airey,—To comply with above memo.—C.F.R., Col., 6/8/84.

Major

Major Airey to Captain Baynes.

BE good enough to furnish report as to the manner A. Br. Henderson performed his duties as Assistant-Master-Gunner when you were in charge of No. 1 Sub-district, Southern District.

G.A., Major.
8/8/84.

Captain Baynes to Major Airey.

DURING the seven (7) months I was in charge of No. 1 Sub-district, Southern District, A. Br. Henderson was the Assistant-Master-Gunner, and he at all times carried out his duties to my entire satisfaction, keeping his guns, stores, &c., in perfect order. I had no fault to find with him at any time.

F.B., Captain.
8/8/84.

Major Airey to Lieutenant Le Patourel.

BE good enough to furnish me with a report of the manner A. Br. Henderson performed his duties as Assistant-Master-Gunner when you were in charge of No. 1 Sub-district, Southern District.

G.A., Major.
8/8/84.

Lieutenant Le Patourel to Major Airey.

DURING the time that I have had charge of the No. 1 Sub-district, Southern District, when A. Br. Henderson was Assistant-Master-Gunner, he carried out his duties to my satisfaction, keeping his guns, stores, &c., in perfect order.

H. LE P.
9/8/84.

Major Airey to Lieutenant Airey.

WILL you please state the manner in which A. Brs. Henderson and Kelleher performed their duties as Assistant-Master-Gunners during the time you were in charge of the detachment and sub-district at South Head.

G.A., Major.
8/8/84.

Lieutenant Airey to Major Airey.

A. Brs. Henderson and Kelleher, during the time I was in charge of South Head detachment, invariably gave me entire satisfaction. As to their carrying out their various duties as Assistant-Master-Gunners, I never once had to find fault with them. I do not think either of them was brought before me for any crime or negligence of orders during the three years I was at South Head.

H. AIREY, Lieut.
8/8/84.

Major Airey to The District Master Gunner.

SERGEANT Crabtree will report as to the manner A. Brs. Kelleher and Henderson performed their duties as Assistant-Master-Gunners in the Southern District.

G.A.,
Major, Commanding Southern District, N.S.W.A., 8/8/84.

Sergeant Crabtree to The Officer Commanding Southern District.

Sir,

I beg to report that during the time A. Brs. Kelleher and Henderson were performing the duties of Assistant-Master-Gunners in the Southern District they gave every satisfaction, and I had never any cause to complain of them.

J. CRABTREE,
Sergeant, A.-Master-Gunner.

Colonel Roberts to The Commandant.

Sir,

Artillery Brigade Office, Dawes' Barracks, Sydney, 20 August, 1884.

In Major Airey's letter of 8th August, 1884, for the first time a reference is made to the fact of Gunner Webster having made "certain remarks" (but the nature of these remarks is not stated), which led to Sergeants objecting to eat anything cooked by him. It is a notable fact that this man Webster was especially applied for as cook by Sergeant Jackson, who reported to Major Airey that Gunner Webster had been sent back to duty as Sergeants' messcook. The Brigade Quarter-master Sergeant informs me that he visited the kitchen three times a week and found it clean, and that no report was made to him of it being in a dirty state.

Enclosures 22.

The evidence of warrant officers and non-commissioned officers, previously submitted, proves that Sergeant Jackson was made aware of my order that Gunner Webster should return to duty as cook the day before he reported the matter to Major Airey, by the Brigade Sergeant-Major as well as by Sergeant Walters, the mess caterer, whose duty it was to inform the senior dining member, which duty he appears to have duly performed.

It is therefore apparent that Sergeant Jackson was aware of the order when he applied to Major Airey, who appears, without making any inquiry from the Artillery Brigade authorities, to have issued an order in opposition to that of the Senior Artillery Officer; and I consider that his proper course would have been, not to have issued any instructions with reference to the management of a Department under supervision and direction of the Staff of the Corps until he had referred the matter to higher authority. Gunner Webster had not been returned to his duty from employment in the Sergeants' mess, but was taken to hospital as a temporary measure, for the medical officer's observation. Further, a senior officer to Major Airey was in Sydney at the time, who could have been consulted by wire. Major Airey, if he had sent for the Brigade Sergeant-Major before taking action, could have ascertained the directions given for management of the Sergeants' mess; or if he had taken the trouble to ask Sergeant Jackson by whose order or under what authority Gunner Webster was directed to return to the Sergeants' mess he would probably not have interfered in a Regimental Staff Department for which he is in no way responsible, and I cannot see that he has any cause of complaint or can excuse himself from the consequences when he takes upon himself to issue orders without first inquiring into the whole state of the case. It further appears that Sergeant Jackson improperly allowed his Commanding Officer to remain in ignorance of the distinct order issued to him from higher authority.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. F. ROBERTS, Colonel,
Commanding N.S.W. Artillery.

Memorandum to Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery.

Brigade Office, Sydney, 1 August, 1884.

THE Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery will be good enough to forward to this office, as soon as convenient, the Regimental Defaulter sheets of Sergeant Jackson, Bombardier Kelleher, Bombardier Henderson.

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,
Commandant.

Regimental sheets as above herewith.—CHAS. F. ROBERTS, Colonel, 7/8/84.

REGIMENTAL Defaulters' Book—New South Wales Artillery. Regimental number and name, 663, James Kelleher; enlisted, May 27th, 1879; joined, May 28th, 1879.

Place.	Date of Offence.	Cases of Drunkenness.	Offence.	By whom reported, and names of Witnesses.	Punishment awarded.	By whom ordered.	Remarks. (In accordance with Queen's Regulations.)
Sydney .....	28/7/79	1	Drunk and using obscene language in King-street about 10.30 p.m.	Br. Hall .....	Ten days C.B....	Major Airey ..	30/7/79—H.D.M.
Raspberry Gully	5/10/79	....	Disobedience of orders in breaking out of camp between 1 and 2 p.m., and not returning till 4 p.m.	B. S.-M. Griffiths ..... Sergeant Smart..... Corporal Stack .....	Deprived one day's pay; ten days C.B.	Colonel Roberts	6/10/79—H.D.M.
				Inspected by Commandant, Dec. 5, '79.
Sydney .....	20/1/80	2	Drunk and using obscene language in the streets of Sydney.	Civil Police.....	Fined £3 or three weeks imprisonment (latter inflicted.)	Civil Power....	21/1/80—H.D.M. Capt.-Adj.
				Inspected by Commandant, Dec. 15, '80.
				Inspected by Col. Commandant, Novr. 29th, 1881.
				Inspected by Lieut.-Colonel Christie, Acting Commandant, December 7th, 1882.
				Inspected by Col.-Commandant, Nov. 26th, 1883.

REGIMENTAL Defaulters' Book—New South Wales Artillery. Regimental number and name, 665, Joseph Henderson; enlisted 29th May, 1879; joined 30th May, 1879.

Place.	Date of Offence.	Cases of Drunkenness.	Offence.	By whom reported, and names of Witnesses.	Punishment awarded.	By whom ordered.	Remarks. (In accordance with Queen's Regulations.)
Sydney .....	5/6/80	....	Absent tattoo roll call till 11.25 p.m.	A. Br. Parker, A. Br. Crew.	10 days C.B.....	Lieutenant H. Le Patourel.	H.D.M.
				Inspected by Commandant, 5th December, 1879.
				Inspected by Commandant, 15th December, 1880.
South Head ....	9/8/81.	1	Breaking out of Barracks at 8.30 a.m., and not returning until brought back by escort at 10.15 a.m., and then drunk. 2. Disobedience of orders in being outside the boundary fence improperly dressed.	Br. Simpson, S.-M. Griffiths, Sergeant Walsh, Sergeant Cronin.	14 days C.B.....	Colonel Roberts, 11/8/81.	H.D.M.
				Inspected by Colonel Commandant, 29th November, 1881.
				Inspected by Lieutenant-Colonel Christie, Acting Commandant, 7th December, 1882.
				Inspected by Colonel Commandant, 26th November, 1883.
				Regimental Number and Name—662, William Jackson; enlisted 26th May, 1879; joined May 27th, 1879.
				Inspected by Commandant, 5th December, 1879.
				Inspected by Commandant, 15th December, 1880.
				Inspected by Colonel Commandant, 29th November, 1881.
				Inspected by Lieutenant Colonel Christie, Acting Commandant, 7th December, 1882.
				Inspected by Commandant, 26th November, 1883.

Minute by His Excellency the Governor.

Government House, Sydney, 8 September, 1884.

WITHOUT entering into the details of the various questions referred to in these voluminous reports, I consider that, by the Queen's Regulations, section 9, para. 82, re-engagement can only take place on the recommendation of the Commanding Officer.

It is evident that were it not so, the authority of the Commanding Officer, who is responsible for the administration of his regiment, would be impaired, and the maintenance of discipline greatly weakened.

I desire therefore that the action of the Officer Commanding the Permanent Artillery, in the three cases referred to, be upheld.

AUGUSTUS LOFTUS.

8/9/84.

The Commandant, through the Colonial Secretary.—A.L., 8/9/84.

Minute by the Colonial Secretary:—This minute I have to-day directed to be forwarded to the Commandant, in pursuance of a minute of His Excellency on the Commandant's letter of 4th September.—W.B.D., 8/10/84.

The Commandant, B.C., 8/10/84.—C.W.

The Commandant to His Excellency the Governor.

My Lord,

Brigade Office, Sydney, N.S.W., 6 October, 1884.

I have the honor to forward, by desire of the Officer Commanding Permanent Artillery, the accompanying letter, wherein he seeks information as to the decisions arrived at in regard to certain correspondence connected with Lieutenant H. P. Airey and Sergeant Jackson, Bombardiers Henderson and Kelleher of that Corps, submitted to your Excellency under cover of my letters of the 8th of August last, No. 84/384, and of the 4th ultimo, No. 84/413, respectively.

I have, &amp;c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,

Commandant.

Reply was forwarded through the Colonial Secretary.—A.L., 7/10/84.

[Enclosure.]

Colonel Roberts to The Commandant.

Sir,

Artillery Brigade Office, Dawes' Barracks, Sydney, 29 September, 1884.

I have the honor to request that I may be informed if any decisions have been arrived at in the case of appeal of Lieut. H. P. Airey against confidential report forwarded in my letter of the 16th June, 1884; also, of the non-commissioned officers, viz., Sergeant Jackson, A. Br. Henderson, and A. Br. Kelleher, who appealed against my decision as to re-engagements, &c.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHAS. F. ROBERTS, Colonel,
Commanding N.S.W. Artillery.

The Officer commanding Permanent Artillery,—No reply has yet been received to either of the communications referred to.—J.S.R., Col., Comdt., 30/9/84.

The Commandant,—As these matters are of importance, I would request that they be referred to the higher authority for whose decision they were submitted. I would further point out that this communication only reached this office this morning, although answered by you on the 30th ultimo.—CHAS. F. ROBERTS, Colonel, 6th Oct., 1884.

Send this under cover to Mr. C. Walker, and ask him to show to Mr. Dalley the previous paper minuted by me, and request Mr. Dalley to have it forwarded to the Commandant with any observations or his approval.—A.L., 7/10/84. The P.S.

Let His Excellency's memo. of 8th September be forwarded to the Commandant.—W.B.D., A.-G., 8/10/84.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

PERMANENT ARTILLERY.

(APPOINTMENT TO VACANT CAPTAINCY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 17 June, 1884.

Minute Paper.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 2 June, 1884.

REFERRING to the various conversations I have had with His Excellency on this subject, I now desire, at his request, to place in this form my views on the whole question, which I preface with a short review of the main facts.

This vacancy has now existed for about six years. It has formed the subject of many letters and minutes, the greater part of which has been collected together in a return placed before Parliament on November 29th last.

Public attention has been called to it, and it has formed the subject of many questions and debates in Parliament, and it now seems imperative that some final steps should be taken in the settlement of the matter.

The history of it seems to be—that a vacancy occurred in September, 1878; that various subalterns applied for the promotion; that an examination was ordered in 1880; that the following officers presented themselves for examination, viz.:—Lieutenants A. Le Patourel, Baynes, Nathan, Airey, Bouverie, Savage; that of these, Messrs. Baynes, Airey, Bouverie, and Savage passed the examination, and Messrs. Le Patourel and Nathan failed to do so; that Colonel Roberts, Commanding the Artillery, in his confidential report, which is necessary under the Queen's Regulations, reported unfavourably of Lieutenant Baynes, who was the senior among those who passed—this was upon October 21st, 1880; that Messrs. Le Patourel and Nathan, both of whom, apart from the examination, were well reported of by their Commanding Officer, preferred claim to be considered in the minute, and no one of the three junior officers who passed was promoted.

This state of affairs continued for upwards of two years while the late Ministry remained in office, although a good deal of correspondence took place; and Sir Henry Parkes advised His Excellency that he had, upon the approval of Colonel (now Major-General) Scratchley, determined to recommend that a fresh examination be held.

When the present Government came into office both Colonel Roberts and Colonel Richardson were in England on leave; and shortly after the return of the latter, in January, 1883, the matter was again taken up, and the question arose as to what were the best steps to be taken, owing to the complications which had arisen by lapse of time.

This led again to further correspondence, which culminated in the present Colonial Secretary agreeing that the decision of Sir Henry Parkes as to holding another examination should be upheld.

Owing to the absence of Lieutenant Bouverie the examination was postponed until after his return, which took place about two months ago.

Meanwhile various circumstances render the reconsideration of the subject necessary; and it is open to grave doubt how far officers who did pass the prior examination can be compelled, under the Regulations, to submit themselves to a second; and if they cannot thus be compelled, it seems somewhat doubtful whether their former pass can be thrust aside in favour of any one who may submit himself for the second examination.

To raise a conflict of claims by such a proceeding might, therefore, have the effect of increasing the complications by which the matter has been surrounded for so many years.

I have, therefore, after having weighed with much consideration the whole of the difficulties which surround this intricate matter, come to the conclusion that it is my duty to recommend to His Excellency that it would be better to drop the proposed second examination, and fall back upon the selection of one of those who passed the former examination.

In view of such recommendation, it becomes necessary to inquire which officer I ought to recommend to be selected. In the order of seniority they stand thus—Baynes, Airey, Bouverie, Savage. In the order of merit as tested by the examination they stand thus—Savage, Bouverie, Airey, Baynes. As however the Regulations require only a qualifying and not a merit result, it is clear that, cæteris paribus, they are all fitted for the promotion, and seniority therefore would command the position.

It therefore remains to be seen whether there be anything standing against the Senior-Lieutenant Baynes of such a character as would preclude him from obtaining the promotion. As before mentioned, Colonel Roberts, on the 21st October, 1880, reported as follows:—

“Lieut. Baynes.—This officer is a good drill, and well up in his duties. I regret, however, to have to notice that he has not benefited by previous warnings, having again been cautioned, by His Excellency’s desire, in October, 1882. At the latter end of 1880 he was reported for carelessness in connection with the command of his battery, and His Excellency held him guilty of carelessness. His Excellency’s minute of October, 1880, states that his claim for future promotion will depend upon reports on an amendment with regard to points reported.”

This was communicated to him on the 3rd November, and replied to by him on the 18th January, 1881.

And again, on 23rd April, 1883, he was reported on by Colonel Roberts, as follows:—

“Lieutenant Frederick Thomas Bendge Baynes, appointed to the N. S. Wales Artillery, Aug. 28th, 1876. Lieutenant F. B. Baynes is an officer who carries out his duties in a fair manner, but is too much inclined to associate with the non-commissioned officers and men, and does not always keep his proper position in this respect; is a good drill, and can instruct fairly well the non-commissioned officers and men; has lately been reported upon confidentially by me to the Commandant with regard to want of proper supervision and management of No. 1 Battery while in temporary command; prior to his appointment in this Force he was a private in the Volunteer Infantry (I understand).”

There is no doubt that an undue familiarity between officers and men is subversive of that degree of discipline which it is necessary to maintain; but the question arises, is an offence of this kind never to be atoned for? Is not four years’ deprivation of promotion sufficient to wipe it out? I understand that in every other respect this officer has won the good opinion of his superior officers; at all events, there seems no question that if it had not been for this one charge he would have been entitled to and would have received the promotion.

The punishment has been a severe one, and I have no doubt that it will prove sufficient to guard him from falling into any similar error of judgment. I am forced to the conclusion, and therefore recommend, that the ends of justice will be best met, and the solution of this difficult question be satisfactorily arrived at, by promoting Lieutenant Baynes to the long-vacant captaincy.

ALEX. STUART.

Minute for the Honorable Colonial Secretary.

Government House, Sydney, 5 June, 1884.

THE Governor and Commander-in-Chief has received the minute of the Honorable Colonial Secretary of 2nd instant, in regard to the appointment to the vacant captaincy in the Permanent Artillery.

Considering the lapse of time which has occurred since the last examination took place, in which four of the subaltern officers successfully passed,—considering also that, in fairness to the successful candidates on that occasion, it would be neither in accordance with justice or the requirements of the Service to impose a second examination on them,—and considering also the inconvenience and loss to which they would be exposed by having to undergo a fresh examination,—the Governor and Commander-in-Chief is happy to concur in the opinion of the Colonial Secretary, that the intention to hold a second examination shall be cancelled, and that the former examination shall be maintained.

In taking this course, the Governor and Commander-in-Chief does not intend to be governed in his decision by the confidential reports previously received from the Commanding Officer of the Regiment. During the years which have since elapsed there has been ample time for progress and improvement, and, as already expressed to the Colonial Secretary on a former occasion, the Governor and Commander-in-Chief considers that the promotion should be given to the senior lieutenant who has passed the examination, provided that he is satisfactorily reported as eligible for the post, by the Officer Commanding the Regiment.

Before accepting, therefore, the recommendation of the Colonial Secretary, the Governor and Commander-in-Chief is bound by the Queen’s Regulations to call for a confidential report from the Commanding Officer, as to the “personal efficiency, conduct, and character” of the subaltern officers of his regiment; and it will afford the Governor and Commander-in-Chief great satisfaction should he thereby be enabled to ratify the recommendation of the officer named by the Honorable Colonial Secretary.

The necessary instructions will be immediately addressed by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief to the Commandant to cause this confidential report from the Commanding Officer to be forwarded through him.

AUGUSTUS LOFTUS.

Minute for the Colonial Secretary.

Government House, Sydney, 16 June, 1884.

THE Governor and Commander-in-Chief, with reference to his previous communication of the 5th instant, has the honor to inform the Honorable Colonial Secretary that he has received the confidential report of the Commanding Officer of the Permanent Artillery as to the personal efficiency and conduct of the lieutenants of that corps during the past year.

He is happy to learn that, in the confidential report, Colonel Roberts bears testimony to the efficiency of Lieutenant Baynes, the senior lieutenant, eligible for promotion, in the following terms:—

“Lieutenant Baynes.—This officer, who has been previously unfavourably reported upon, has, I am glad to say, benefited by the various warnings he has received, and has performed his duties to my satisfaction, and with an evident desire to prove that he was endeavouring to qualify himself for command of a battery. He is well acquainted with garrison gun drill.”

The Governor and Commander-in-Chief has therefore much satisfaction in submitting to the Executive Council the appointment of Lieutenant Baynes to the vacant captaincy in the Permanent Artillery, and, with your concurrence, requests that the necessary instructions may be given for doing so.

AUGUSTUS LOFTUS.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

WILLIAM JACKSON.

(PETITION OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 21 October, 1884.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

Your Petitioner, William Jackson, late Sergeant, New South Wales Artillery,—

HUMBLY REQUESTS:—

That your Honorable House will take into consideration his case, and cause inquiry to be made into it.

Your Petitioner asserts that on the 27th May, 1879, he enlisted in the N.S.W. Permanent Artillery for a period of 5 years, which time expired on the 26th May, 1884.

Your Petitioner, on the 20th May, 1884, made the usual application to be allowed to re-engage for a further period of 5 years, through the usual channel, viz., the officer commanding his Battery, who by forwarding the same assented to such re-engagement, but which was refused by Colonel Roberts.

That your Petitioner might reasonably expect such re-engagement to be allowed, as he had, by his good conduct and qualifying by examination, attained the rank of Sergeant, and rendered himself an efficient artilleryman, and subsequently had been employed by the officer commanding his Battery, as Pay and Quartermaster Sergeant, which responsible position he held since the 15th September, 1882, to that officer's satisfaction, the more especially as until quite lately the Government were granting a bonus of £75 for sergeants re-engaging, and that it will cost the Government about £9 for clothing a recruit, taking Sergeant Jackson's place, besides the cost of his training, and the fact that he may not become an efficient artilleryman.

Your Petitioner further urges, in consideration, that on his appeal, which by right he made to the Commandant of the Land Forces, the said Commandant sanctioned his re-engagement. Since then he has been compelled to take his discharge, by virtue of a direction from His Excellency the Governor, which direction your Petitioner contends is null and void, as the Commandant, under paragraphs 19 and 20, section 2, of the Queen's Regulations, and orders for the Army, is the officer alone responsible for the regimental duties of the Forces.

Your Petitioner humbly sets forth that men of good character having rendered themselves efficient artillerymen, and having by strict attention to duty, raised themselves to trustworthy positions, being discharged, must have a detrimental effect on the morals of the Forces.

And your Petitioner humbly prays your Honorable House to take the above circumstances into your consideration; and, as in duty bound, he will ever pray.

WM. JACKSON,

Late Battery Pay and Quartermaster-Sergeant, No. 1 Battery, N.S.W. Artillery.

1883-4.

---

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

---

PERMANENT AND VOLUNTEER FORCES.

(ANNUAL REPORTS, &c.)

---

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 13 August, 1884.

---

RETURN to an Address of the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 4th July, 1884, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all Annual Reports and Returns of the Commandant on the “Permanent and Volunteer Forces not already printed by order of this “House.”

(Mr. Slattery.)

---

ANNUAL RETURN of Armed Land Forces (inclusive of Regular Artillery) in the Colony of New South Wales, 1st January, 1879.

Whether Militia, Volunteers, Military, Police, &c.	Designation of the several Corps, grouped by Arms of the Service.	No. of Troops, Batteries, Companies, &c., in each Corps.	Establishment of each Corps.			Actual Strength.			Distribution of each Corps, specifying Head-quarters.			Armament of each Corps.	Average No. of days training in each year.
			Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Place.	Strength.
										Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.			Field Guns.
Regulars	General Staff.....		5	5		5	5		Head-quarters, Sydney.....	5	5		{ 240-prs. Armstrong F. guns 4 12. „ Howitzer „ 2 6. „ field guns „ 282 Henry carbines „ 11 Enfield rifles „ { 240-pr. F. guns (Armstrong) 4 9. „ field guns „ 2 12. „ „ Henry carbines undergoing conversion of breech. Henry rifles undergoing conversion of breech. 100 Henry rifles „ Henry rifles undergoing conversion of breech. „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „ „	Twenty-four.
	N.S.W. Artillery.....	3	13	362	13	329		{ Head-quarters, Sydney .....	12	302
	Medical Staff.....		2	..		2	..		{ Det. at Newcastle .....	1	27
	Permanent Staff .....		..	12		..	12		Head-quarters, Sydney.....	2	..
Volunteers under New Organization.	Head-quarters Band.....		1	32		1	32		„ „ .....	1	32
	Artillery.....	6	21	279	17	186		{ Head-quarters, Sydney, 4 Battery .....	13	96
	Engineers .....	1	3	57	3	53		{ 1 Battery at Newcastle .....	2	44
	Torpedo & Signalling Corps Infantry—	1	6	94	6	88		{ 1 Battery at Wollongong .....	2	46
	1st Regiment.....	4	15	327	19	130		Head-quarters, Sydney.....	3	53
	2nd Regiment .....	4	15	327	16	128		„ „ .....	6	88
	3rd Regiment .....	4	15	327	12	206		„ „ .....	19	130
	Northern District.....	2	7	163	8	126		Head-quarters, Richmond .....	16	128
	Southern „ .....	1	3	82	2	..		{ 1 Company at Windsor .....	2	2
	Total, New Organization .....		106	2,067	104	1,295		{ 1 „ at Parramatta .....	2	43
							{ 1 „ at Bathurst .....	3	59
							{ 1 „ at Goulburn.....	3	49
							{ Head-quarters, Newcastle, & 1 Co.	4	80
							{ 1 Company at Maitland .....	4	46
							Head-quarters, Kiama .....	2	..

ANNUAL RETURN of Armed Land Forces, 1879—continued.

Whether Militia, Volunteers, Military, Police, &c.	Designation of the several Corps, grouped by Arms of the Service.	No. of Troops, Batteries, Companies, &c., in each Corps.	Establishment of each Corps.			Actual Strength.			Distribution of each Corps, specifying Head-quarters.			Armament of each Corps.	Average No. of days training in each year.
			Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Place.	Strength.
										Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.			Field Guns.
Volunteers under Old Regulations.	Honorary Staff .....	.....	5	...		5	...		Chaplains .....	5	...
	Artillery .....	11	41	841		8	268		Head-quarters & 10 Battery, Sydney	8	263		Henry carbines undergoing conversion of breech.
	Engineers .....	1	3	97		...	19		1 Battery, Newcastle	...	5		Henry rifles undergoing conversion of breech.
	Rifles.	1st Regiment .....	8	32	769	Vide page 2.	6	205	Vide page 2.	Head-quarters, Sydney	...	19	Vide page 2.	Henry rifles undergoing conversion of breech.	Twenty-four.
		2nd Regiment .....	7	29	672		5	291		Head-quarters & 1 Co., Richmond	...	19		Henry rifles
		3rd Regiment .....	8	32	769		7	245		1 Company, Penrith	...	37		Henry rifles
		4th Regiment .....	4	14	387		5	124		1 Parramatta	...	7		Henry rifles
		5th Regiment .....	4	14	387		7	191		1 Hawkesbury	...	15		Henry rifles
									1 Bathurst	...	29		Henry rifles
									1 Goulburn	...	33		Henry rifles
								1 Orange	...	61		Henry rifles
								1 Mudgee	...	44		Henry rifles
								1 Head-quarters & 1 Co., Newcastle	...	35		Henry rifles undergoing conversion of breech.
	Total, Old Organization	.....	170	3,922		43	1,343		1 Company, East Maitland	...	31		Henry rifles
Cadet Corps ..	King's School .....	1	...	...		1	65		1 West Maitland	...	36		Henry rifles
	Newington College .....	1	...	...		1	78		1 Singleton	...	22		Henry rifles
	Sydney Grammar School ..	1	...	...		2	100		Head-quarters & 1 Co., Kiama	...	71		Henry rifles
	Saachie House School .....	1	...	...		1	37		1 Company, Ulladulla	...	52		Henry rifles
	Public Schools .....	1	...	...		1	1,064		1 Jamberoo	...	49		Henry rifles
	Total, Cadet Corps	.....	...	...		6	1,344		1 Wollongong	...	19		Henry rifles
									Head-quarters, Parramatta	...	65		50 Hay rifles & 50 carbines
									Head-quarters, Newington	...	78		56 Hay rifles & 20 carbines
									Head-quarters, Sydney	...	100		2 6-pounder field guns, 55 Hay rifles, & 48 carbines
									Head-quarters, West Maitland	...	37		30 Hay rifles & 30 carbines
									Head-quarters, Sydney	...	1,064		116 Hay rifles & 1,181 carbines
										...	6
										...	1,344

The Commandant to His Excellency The Governor.

Remarks on Organization, Recruiting, &c.

Your Excellency,

I have the honor to submit a report of the Military Forces under my command for the year ending the 31st of December last.

The establishment of the Permanent Artillery now consists of three batteries, but is thirty-three under its strength.

On the whole I am prepared to report a marked improvement as regards drill and efficiency, the practice of interior economy, and the condition of the Regimental books, batteries, stores, and barracks.

The scale of crime I regret to say still continues high, the number of Courts-martial, as compared with the actual strength of the corps, amounting to no less than 30 per cent., which, however, I may observe, is mainly to be attributed to the unusually large number of very young soldiers in the ranks, the inexperience of many of the Non-commissioned Officers, and the scattered distribution of the corps in small detachments throughout the various districts.

The average number of desertions as compared with that of the preceding year has not decreased, and may in a great measure be traced to the fact that many persons landing for the first time in the Colony experience considerable difficulty in obtaining suitable employment, and they therefore enlist to avoid present pressure, deserting when they have gained information sufficient to indicate a more palatable source of employment than soldiering. Again, the facility with which men can desert and obtain refuge in the adjoining Colonies is decidedly favourable to the commission of this particular crime.

To the above observations I should add that the corps in my opinion has to serve under conditions exceptionally favourable to the commission of offences of a military nature; but I anticipate the difficulties in this respect will be gradually overcome.

As regards the Volunteer Forces, I have to report that a partial reorganization has been effected. I say partial, because although a new Force of Volunteers has been created to serve under a system of payment the old corps are left en l'air, mere skeletons in point of numbers, for the most part without officers, and with no provision for instruction, training, clothing, &c., and although the state of these corps may fitly be described as disorganized, yet their existence under such circumstances undoubtedly has a prejudicial effect on the satisfactory organization of the new Force, which it is believed is intended to supplant them.

It will be seen that the regulations for the management, instruction, training, and guidance of the new Force, as also the establishment to be maintained, were promulgated in the Government Gazette of the 9th of September last (copy attached).

The rates of pay were notified in Gazette of 23rd September last (copy also attached).

The new Force is limited to 1,800 of all ranks, including General and Volunteer Permanent Staff, as recommended by Sir William Jervis, which number however I may remark was so fixed by him in view of the services of an ironclad being available as part of the system of defence. Should this vessel not be forthcoming it is obvious that 1,800 men will be insufficient, more especially when it is borne in mind that such number was intended by Sir William for the defence of Sydney alone, whereas it is now distributed generally over such parts of the Colony as are deemed to require defence, and includes those intended to have been covered by the ironclad.

The new regulations have for their object the better government, discipline, and efficiency of the Volunteer Force, the salient points of which are as follows:—

- (a.) The abolition, as far as practicable, of the pernicious system of comparatively independent company commands, by which means the principal responsibility and command is vested in the Regimental Commanding Officer, thereby securing unity in the administration of command and discipline, a more complete and exacting chain of responsibility, together with the practice in peace time of a system of regimental interior economy, such as of necessity would have to be observed on active service, and which is indeed in conformity with the fundamental principles of the military organization of all armies.
- (b.) The introduction of an educational test for candidates for first commissions, and a higher degree of military examination for other officers.
- (c.) The introduction of a standard of age, height, and chest measurement, with a medical examination as to physique generally, in order to ensure the bodily fitness of Volunteers to perform such military duties as might be required of them.
- (d.) One of the most important features introduced has been the appointment of fully paid Adjutants to regiments, who are required to give up all their time (as is the case in the Imperial Reserve Forces) to the performance of regimental duties; as also to assist their respective Commanding Officers in the military business generally connected with their commands, by which means such prompt attention is given to matters as would otherwise be impossible to Commanding Officers who are also engaged in civil avocations.
- (e.) The most important change, however, has been the introduction of an annual course of continuous training, in addition to exercise on detached days, a point I have for many years advocated as being the only true method by which the Volunteer Force could acquire such an amount of real efficiency as would qualify it to take the field without incurring the delay and difficulties incident to teaching it at a critical period the rudiments of the Military Service.
- (f.) The rates of pay have been fixed on a somewhat similar scale to that obtaining in the Naval Brigade, with this exception, that it has been apportioned on an entirely different system, giving one-third for attendance at full period of continuous training; one-third for attendance at drills on detached days; and one-third for efficiency, i.e., for attendance at the full period of continuous training in addition to the drills on detached days, and which, in point of fact, may be considered as deferred pay, having for its object both the incentive to, and reward for, efficiency.

It has been urged that Colonial Volunteers require no higher degree of training than is undergone by Volunteers in the mother country; but to this view I take the strongest exception, in that the Imperial Volunteers are regarded and treated purely as reserves, relying on both the Regulars and Militia to accept the the first shock of war, and thus securing time for that special training necessary to fit them for the field. Here the Volunteers, in the absence of a sufficiently numerous body of Regulars and Militia, must of necessity be in the first line, and would in all probability be required to act without any further opportunity of improvement, either in discipline or efficiency, beyond that gained by their training in peace time, and it therefore follows that Colonial Volunteers should receive during peace such a degree of training as would enable them to assume without delay the exceptionally prominent position that would be thrust upon them in time of war.

The recruiting for the Volunteer Force under the old regulations has not been resumed; that under the new progresses in a fairly satisfactory manner.

I have, &c.,
J. S. RICHARDSON, Colonel,
Commandant, 7/3/79.

True copy,—H. D. MACKENZIE, Acting Major of Brigade.

[Supplement to the New South Wales Government Gazette, 9 September, 1878.]

REGULATIONS.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 9 September, 1878.

HIS Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to make the following Regulations, under the "Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867," for the Volunteer Force now to be enrolled on a system of partial payment.

MICHAEL FITZPATRICK.

REGULATIONS UNDER THE "VOLUNTEER FORCE REGULATION ACT OF 1867."

INTERPRETATION.

1. By the term "Corps" is meant a united body consisting of two or more Batteries or Companies formed into a Consolidated Regiment, as also a Battery or Company formed separately, or in the country districts forming part of an Administrative Regiment, with the exception that, when Corps are permitted to elect the persons who are to be recommended for first commissions, the word "Corps" shall be held to mean the particular Battery or Company in which the vacancy for such appointment has occurred: Provided also that in the case of an Administrative Regiment, and the several Companies composing it, the Officer commanding such Regiment shall, for the purposes of discipline referred to in clause 28, paragraph 1, of the Volunteer Act, be deemed to be the Officer commanding the Corps, and the word "Corps" in such case be held to mean Administrative Regiment.

2. By the term "Recruit" is meant a Volunteer who has not been finally dismissed recruit drill and who has not passed through the course of musketry.

CONSTITUTION.

3. The Volunteer Force of New South Wales is maintained under the Act 31 Vic. No. 5, and is subject to the provisions of that Act, and to all Regulations made with regard to the same by the authority of the Governor.

4. The Volunteer Military Force shall consist of the following arms, namely:—

Artillery.
Engineers.
Torpedo and Signalling.
Infantry.

5. Engineer and Torpedo and Signalling Corps will be formed of persons who are connected with the profession of Engineers, Electricians, Instrument-makers, and Mechanics generally—and in the case of the latter Corps, a proportion of Boatmen.

PRECEDENCE.

6. The Volunteer Force takes precedence immediately after the Militia, and Officers of the Volunteer Force take rank with Officers of Her Majesty's Regular and Militia Forces within the territory of New South Wales and its dependencies, as the juniors of their respective ranks, and with the Officers of the Permanent Forces of the Colony, according to dates of commissions.

7. The different arms of the Volunteer Military Force rank in the following order, viz.:—

Artillery.
Engineers.
Torpedo and Signalling.
Infantry.

8. The relative precedence of Officers of the entire Volunteer Force is determined solely by the ranks and dates of commissions in that Force.

9. The relative precedence of Officers of different Corps holding commissions of the same rank and date is determined—

1st. By reference to previous commissions.

2nd. By the relative precedence of the arms or regiments to which they belong.

10. The relative precedence of Officers of one Corps, bearing commissions of the same rank and date, is determined by the order in which the appointments are inserted in the Gazette.

11. Medical Officers will hold the relative rank of Captain; the Principal Medical Officer the rank of Major.

12. Every Corps and Administrative Regiment receives a title or number indicating its relative precedence with regard to the other Corps and Administrative Regiments of the same arm. The Batteries or Companies in a Corps and Administrative Regiment take precedence according to their numbering.

13. On parade, Corps and Administrative Regiments are to be distributed and drawn up in the mode which the Officer in command may judge most convenient and best adapted to the purposes of the Service.

COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

14. The Commissioned Officers of the Volunteer Force are appointed by the Governor. All proposed appointments, promotions, and resignation of commissions of Officers, are submitted to the Governor by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

15. All appointments, promotions, resignations, and dismissals of Commissioned Officers are inserted in the Gazette, and such resignations and dismissals shall, unless notified to the contrary, be held to mean absolute withdrawal from the Volunteer Force.

16. Every Officer of Volunteers is required, on receiving his commission, to take the Oath of Allegiance prescribed by the Volunteer Act.

17. The appointment of Honorary Chaplains will be sanctioned only on the recommendation of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

18. No Officer holding an honorary commission can, by virtue of it, take precedence of any Officer holding a substantive commission.

19. Every Officer is required to possess a competent knowledge of his duties, and to give a proper attendance to the drills of his Corps or Regiment, and the administrative duties connected therewith.

20. Any Officer who fails to pay proper and diligent attention to the duties of his position will not be allowed to retain his commission.

21. Officers will be liable at any time to be required to undergo an examination by a Board appointed by the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force as to their military competency for their rank and position. Officers failing to pass such examination will not be allowed to retain their commissions.

22. The Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force is authorized to appoint such Officers, or other persons, as he may think fit, to be examiners of candidates for commissions and promotion.

23. Surgeons, in the proportion of one per Regiment, in addition to a Principal Medical Officer, will be appointed as a Medical Staff to the Volunteer Force generally, who will perform such duties as may be required of them, under the direction of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

24. All candidates for commissions must produce a certificate of having passed the Civil Service Examination of the Colony, or an examination of a higher degree.

25. In addition to the above, a Subaltern appointed direct must, within one year from the date of his appointment, and a candidate for a commission from the ranks must, prior to his appointment, pass an examination before a Board of Officers in the undermentioned subjects:—

ARTILLERY.

- (a.) Practical examination in the evolutions of a Company—Field Exercise, part II, excepting as regards movements in extended order.
- (b.) Duties of guards—Field Exercise, part VII.
- (c.) Carbine or Short Rifle Exercises (manual and firing), and the drill of one description of gun used by the Corps.
- (d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of Volunteer Force.

ENGINEERS.

- (a.) Practical examination in drilling a Company in close order—Field Exercise, part II.
- (b.) Duties of guards—Field Exercise, part VII.
- (c.) Practical acquaintance with the exercise for the short rifle (manual and firing).
- (d.) Military Engineering (Sapper's Manual):—
  1. Hasty defences—chap. I, sec. 1–12.
  2. Defence of posts—chap. I, sec. 12–33. Field-works, chap. II, sec. 24–32.
  3. Throwing up earthworks—chap. IV, sec. 56–62.
  4. Revetting materials—chap. V.
  5. Revetments—chap. VI.
- (e.) Volunteer Act and Regulations—Standing Orders of the Volunteer Force.

TORPEDO AND SIGNALING CORPS.

- (a.) Practical examination in drilling a Company in close order—Field Exercise, part II.
  - (b.) Duties of guards—Field Exercise, part VII.
  - (c.) Practical acquaintance with the exercise for the short rifle (manual and firing).
  - (d.) Signalling—flags, lights, electric telegraph, &c., &c.
  - (e.) Electricity in connection with submarine warfare, and how applied—batteries required, how constructed, and kind generally used.
Magneto-electricity for exploding submarine mines.
Galvanometers.
  - (f.) Torpedoes—Electro contact mines, ground mines, mechanical mines, circuit closers—how arranged and exploded.
Aggressive Torpedoes—Harvey's, Whitehead's, outrigger for boats.
Fuzes and detonators—how constructed and applied—charges: powder, gun-cotton, dynamite, and lithofracteur—relative values.
Cases—Size of cases for certain quantities of explosive and for different depths.
Firing by observation, and cross-bearings by Shutter apparatus.
Testing table.
Cables for submarine mines.
Testing the same.
  - (g.) Volunteer Act and Regulations—Standing Orders of the Volunteer Force.
- Examination for Captains and Field Officers will be of a more extended nature in the above subjects than is required of Subalterns, with the addition of—
- (a.) Battalion drill (omitting extended order)—Field Exercise, part III. Proper mode of route marching—Field Exercise, part VII.

INFANTRY.

INFANTRY.

- (a.) Practical examination in squad drill, and the evolutions of a Company—Field Exercise, parts I and II.
- (b.) Duties of guards and outposts—Field Exercise, parts VI and VII.
- (c.) Practical examination in the rifle exercises, aiming and position drill.
- (d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Volunteer Force.

26. If any Officer appointed direct fails to pass examination in the subjects above quoted, he will be examined again within six months, and in the event of a second failure he will be required to resign his commission.

27. Previous to promotion to the rank of Captain, Subalterns will be required to pass an examination before a Board of Officers in the following subjects:—

ARTILLERY.

- (a.) Practical examination in Company drill and command of a Company in Battalion (excepting movements in extended order)—Field Exercise, parts II and III, as far as relates to the Command of a Company in Battalion.
- (b.) Duties of guards—Field Exercise, part VII.
- (c.) Service of description of ordnance worked by the special branch of the Corps to which they belong.
- (d.) Exercise with or without machines with the same guns.
- (e.) General knowledge of the ordnance served by the special branch of the Corps to which they belong, as regards ammunition, stores, and carriages, care of magazines and shell-rooms, flight of projectiles, ranges and penetration.
- (f.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of Volunteer Force.

ENGINEERS.

In addition to the subjects specified in examination for Subalterns:

- (a.) Battalion drill (omitting extended order)—Field Exercise, part III; proper mode of route marching—Field Exercise, part VII.
- (b.) Military engineering.
  1. Deflade and obstacles, &c.—chap. II, sec. 33-45.
  2. Batteries—chap. III.
  3. Execution of the work in connection with throwing up earthworks—chap. IV, sec. 63-68.
  4. Details of batteries—chap. VII.
  5. Field kitchen—chap. X. Boning and levelling. From instruction.
  6. Trenches. From instruction.

INFANTRY.

- (a.) Practical examination in Company drill, and command of a Company in Battalion—Field Exercise, parts II and III, as far as relates to the command of a Company in Battalion.
  - (b.) Duties of guards and outposts—Field Exercise, parts VI and VII.
  - (c.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Volunteer Force.
28. Captains, before they are eligible for promotion to be Field Officers, will be required to pass an examination in the following subjects:—

ARTILLERY.

- (a.) Practical examination in Battalion drill (omitting extended order) and the command of a Battalion in Brigade, and the proper mode of route marching, as laid down in Field Exercise, parts III, IV, and VII.
- (b.) Duties of guards, as laid down in Field Exercise, part VII.
- (c.) Practical acquaintance with drills of the guns in use in the Corps, and exercise with or without machines with the same.
- (d.) General knowledge of the ordnance used by the Corps—ammunition, stores, carriages, &c., care of magazines, shell-rooms, flight of projectiles, ranges, and penetrations.
- (e.) Volunteer Act and Regulations, and Standing Orders of Volunteer Force.
- (f.) Riding.

INFANTRY.

- (a.) Practical examination in Battalion drill—Field Exercise, part III.
- (b.) Knowledge of movements of Battalion in Brigade—field manœuvres and tactics—Field Exercise, parts IV and V.
- (c.) Duties of guards and outposts, proper mode of route marching—Field Exercise, parts VI and VII.
- (d.) Riding.
- (e.) Volunteer Act and Regulations, and Standing Orders of Volunteer Force.

They must further be in all respects eligible to take command of the Corps or Regiment in the absence of the Commanding Officer.

29. Gentlemen appointed direct as Captains or Field Officers will be required to pass the examination prescribed for the respective ranks before the expiration of one year from date of appointment.

30. In estimating the eligibility of Officers for promotion, the examinations passed will be considered in conjunction with the reports made by their Commanding Officers and Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

31. The promotion of Commissioned Officers, up to the rank of Captain, will be made as far as may be, by seniority, subject to the passing of such tests as may from time to time be required. Appointments to the higher grades will be made by selection, subject to such examinations as may be deemed proper.

32. It shall be the duty of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, and other responsible Officers, to bring to the notice of higher authority any misconduct or dereliction of duty on the part of any Officer of the Volunteer Force, and also to draw attention to any case in which the necessity for the maintenance of discipline may not have been borne in mind by those exercising authority under the Volunteer Act.

33. Names of Officers for appointment, promotion, and retirement, shall be forwarded through Officers commanding Corps or administrative Regiments, stating whether they assent or dissent.

34. In special cases the Governor may waive the examination of any Officer appointed to or promoted in the Volunteer Force.

NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

35. The Non-commissioned Officers of a Corps, other than Permanent Staff, shall be appointed by the Commanding Officer from among the members, subject to the approval of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and such orders as may be issued from time to time regarding examinations.

36. When a Non-commissioned Officer is reduced by the Commanding Officer of his Corps or administrative Regiment for any sufficient cause, the circumstances of the case having been duly investigated, a report shall be forwarded to the Brigade Office for the information and approval of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

37. Non-commissioned Officers, in addition to the annual training, may be required to attend a course of such special instruction as their positions may require.

MEMBERS.

38. No person below the age of eighteen, or above the age of forty-five years, is to be enrolled as a Volunteer in any Corps except—

39. Boys of fourteen years of age and upwards, for the purpose of being trained as buglers and trumpeters, subject to a special examination as to probable fitness.

40. Apprentices are not to be enrolled without the consent of their masters.

41. No member of a Corps is to be enrolled in another Corps until he has legally ceased to be a member of the former Corps.

42. A member of a Corps can only be transferred into another Corps with the approval of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

43. Persons discharged from a Corps are not in any case to be re-enrolled in any Corps without the approval of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

44. Enrolled members are classed as efficient and non-efficient.

45. In order to be reckoned as "efficient," Volunteers must have fulfilled the conditions prescribed in these Regulations.

46. The nominal standard height for Volunteers is 5 feet 6 inches for Infantry, Engineers, and Torpedo and Signalling Corps, and 5 feet 7 inches for Artillery. But it shall be competent for the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, when he deems that course desirable, to reduce the standard to 5 feet 4 inches for Infantry, Engineers, and Torpedo and Signalling Corps, and to 5 feet 6 inches for Artillery.

47. The minimum chest measurement to be not less than 32 inches.

48. Exceptions to the standard of height may be allowed with approval of Officer Commanding Volunteer Force,—in the Artillery in case of Drivers, in the Torpedo and Signalling Corps in the case of men who are known to possess special scientific acquirements, in the Infantry where men are shown to have exceptional skill with the rifle, and generally in the case of musicians, buglers, trumpeters, or persons who from previous experience are likely to make particularly good non-commissioned officers.

49. In the inspection of recruits for the Volunteer Force, examining Surgeons must be guided by their judgment and experience in determining whether the men possess the physical capacity requisite for discharging the military duties of Volunteers.

50. The principal points to be attended to are :—

- (a.) That the recruit is of healthy aspect, and does not present an appearance of feeble health or impaired constitution from existing or previous disease.
- (b.) That he is intelligent.
- (c.) That his vision is good, or at least sufficiently good to enable him with the right eye to discern objects clearly at not less than 300 yards.
- (d.) That the capacity of the chest is fairly proportioned to his stature, and that the heart and lungs are healthy.
- (e.) That he is not ruptured.
- (f.) That the limbs are properly formed and developed and the motions of the joints are satisfactory.

51. Recruits desiring enrolment will be first examined by the Officers Commanding Corps, and in administrative Regiments by the Officers commanding or their Staff, as may be ordered, to see that they come under the conditions of age, height, &c., required by the Regulations. The recruits being found suitable for enrolment, and entry having been made of the abovenamed particulars on the attestation sheets, they will be brought before Medical Officers, or medical gentlemen duly authorized to inspect recruits, who will sign certificates in the following form, certifying to the fitness for service of such recruits, which certificates will appear on the attestation sheets :—

Form.

I, A.B., do certify that _____ does not appear to be over the age noted in this attestation sheet, that he is healthy, has good eyesight, is of proper chest measurement, is not ruptured, and is capable of bearing the fatigue incident to the performance of military duty.

52. Care must be exercised in the enrolment of men for the Field Batteries that a certain proportion are able to ride, and are possessed of knowledge as to management of horses.

53. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to require of the Officers Commanding Corps to bring forward from time to time for discharge such Volunteers as may be unfit for the performance of their military duties, through age, infirmity, or other cause—as also such Volunteers as may be below the standard or requirements of these Regulations.

PERMANENT STAFF.

54. The Permanent Staff is composed respectively of Officers and Non-commissioned Officers, and is generally under the orders of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, notwithstanding such Officers and Non-commissioned Officers may be attached to Corps or administrative Regiments.

55. The appointment, promotion, and discharge of Non-commissioned Officers and other subordinates of the Permanent Staff rests with the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force; and all such persons serving for pay shall take the oath of allegiance and subscribe a declaration of voluntary service, and be subject to all regulations for the discipline of the Force.

56. Non-commissioned Officers of the Permanent Staff rank with Volunteer Non-commissioned Officers in the different grades, according to the dates of their appointments in the Force, and the ranks in which they may have been detailed to act when specially attached to Corps or administrative Regiments.

57. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to classify, from time to time, the Non-commissioned Officers and others of the Permanent Staff, according to zeal, experience, and general conduct—such classification to carry with it the relative rates of pay approved by the Government.

58. The Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force is authorized to place any Non-commissioned Officer or other subordinate of the Permanent Staff, under stoppages of pay for any offence—such as irregularity of conduct, or want of attention to his duties, which may be proved against him; such stoppage for any such offence not to exceed one month's pay; and no Non-commissioned Officer or other subordinate shall receive more than half his pay during the time he shall have been under arrest or suspended from duty for any offence which may have been proved against him.

59. Non-commissioned Officers, when attached to a Corps or administrative Regiment are, for the time being, under the direction of the Officer Commanding that Corps or Regiment, who will report to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force any irregularity of conduct, incompetency, or want of attention he may observe on the part of these Non-commissioned Officers.

ORGANIZATION OF CONSOLIDATED CORPS AND ADMINISTRATIVE REGIMENTS.

60. The Officer Commanding a consolidated Corps is responsible for the discipline, drill, and instruction of the various Batteries or Companies composing such Corps, and he will notice any infraction of the provisions of the law, or of the orders of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force relating to the use of arms, the regulations about clothing, distinctive marks of rank, discipline, and the like.

61. Officers commanding Batteries and Companies, and others are in like manner responsible to the Officer Commanding the Corps for the condition of their Batteries or Companies, and all matters relating to discipline, care of arms, accoutrements, clothing, stores, the payment and messing of their men, and the carrying out generally of such other details as may be necessary for the administration of military business.

ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION.

62. The object of an administrative organization is to unite separate Corps in the Country Districts under a common head, to secure uniformity of discipline, and the system of drill, to afford them the advantage of the instruction and assistance of a Regimental Staff (in addition to the Permanent Staff), and to create, as far as practicable, a regimental system.

63. The Field Officer commanding an administrative Regiment will have the general charge of the discipline, drill, and instruction of the several Corps under his command. He will inspect them from time to time, and will take notice of any infraction of the provisions of the law, or of the orders of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, relating to the use of the arms, the regulations about clothing, distinctive marks of rank, or discipline.

64. Officers commanding Corps in an administrative Regiment are required to bring to the notice of the Officer commanding the Regiment all infractions of discipline, misconduct, neglect or inefficiency on the part of those under their command, and, subject to such orders as may be issued, to take charge of all arms, accoutrements, clothing, and other stores issued in their Corps, as well as to see to the payment and messing of their men, the execution of all orders, and the maintenance of discipline.

65. No Officer of a Corps forming part of an administrative Regiment has any authority over the other Corps of which it is composed, in consequence of their administrative union; but whenever the several Corps, or any number of them, meet together for drill, the senior Officer present assumes the command.

DUTIES OF ADJUTANTS.

66. An Adjutant of Volunteers is purely a Staff Officer, and is not allowed to hold a regimental commission as Field Officer, Captain, or Subaltern.

67. An Adjutant is appointed to give instruction to Volunteers in the Regiment he is attached to. He is subject to the orders of his Commanding Officer, and he is required to assist him in carrying on the military duties of the Corps, or administrative Regiment, as the case may be; but he is not to take any part in the non-military affairs of the Corps or Regiment. It is his duty to visit the component parts of the administrative Regiment to which he belongs, in accordance with such orders as may be issued.

68. The Adjutant of a Corps is to keep a muster-roll—the Adjutant of an administrative Regiment is to have access to the muster-rolls and other official documents of all the Corps composing it, and to keep a Regimental muster-roll.

69. Every Adjutant is required to keep a diary, showing the instruction imparted by him, and the hours during which he has been in attendance at his office, as also the duties performed by the Non-commissioned Officers of the Permanent Staff attached to his Corps or administrative Regiment.

70. He will prepare and forward all such returns as may be required, as well as keep or superintend the keeping of the books of his Corps or administrative Regiment.

71. He will generally perform the duties of Regimental Paymaster and Quartermaster.

72. The Non-commissioned Officers of the Permanent Staff attached to his Corps or administrative Regiment will be specially under his supervision.

73. As acting Paymaster it will be the Adjutant's duty to exercise a special supervision over all claims submitted against the Government, as also to see to the settlement of all claims submitted on behalf of his Corps or Regiment, and, as acting Quartermaster, to watch over the issue and return of all stores and their proper treatment.

DISCIPLINE.

74. Meetings are not to be held in Corps or administrative Regiments, for the purpose of expressing an opinion upon the acts of a Commanding Officer, or of recommending any particular course of action; nor are memorials to be drawn up to the same effect; and no meetings, except those called together by or under the authority of the Commanding Officer of a Corps, or administrative Regiment, who will be responsible for doing so, will be recognized. If any Officer or Volunteer has cause to think himself aggrieved, he will represent his case through his Captain to the Officer Commanding the Corps or administrative Regiment; any appeal against the decision of the Officer Commanding the Corps or administrative Regiment will be made through the latter to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and any further appeal will be made through these Officers for transmission to higher authority.

75. Although it is intended that every opportunity shall be given for inquiry into well-founded complaints and the redress of grievances, Officers and Volunteers will be personally responsible if they prefer complaints of a litigious or frivolous character.

76. Officers and Volunteers of a Corps, or administrative Regiment, are not individually or collectively to attend political meetings or join in public political discussions or demonstrations in uniform. Bands of Corps or administrative Regiments are not to appear in uniform for any purpose without the consent of the Commanding Officers of their Corps or Regiments.

77. When a Volunteer has been discharged for misconduct, a notification of the fact, with the cause of discharge, will be inserted in Corps, Regimental, and Brigade Orders.

78. Disobedience of orders or any disrespect shown to any Officer will be instantly reported to the Officer Commanding the Corps or Regiment; and it is earnestly to be impressed upon all ranks that discipline depends so essentially upon obedience to Non-commissioned Officers that not only must all Commissioned Officers see that it is always duly enforced, but Non-commissioned Officers failing to report any contempt or neglect of their authority will be liable to be instantly reduced.

79. The arrest referred to in clause 28, paragraph 2, of the Volunteer Act is held, in accordance with the custom of the Military Service, in addition to such power of custody as is given by the Volunteer Act, to mean a suspension from all military duty and participation in rifle-shooting until the cases leading to such arrests may be disposed of.

80. Duty with a Corps is held to mean not only presence under arms on parade, but the performance of all administrative duties of a military nature, in or out of uniform.

81. Any Volunteer who fails to produce, for inspection, as required, any arms, accoutrements, or other property entrusted to his care, within a reasonable time, will be proceeded against under the Volunteer Act, and steps will be taken for his summary discharge from the Force, for disobedience of orders.

82. Corps are not to assemble under arms for any purpose unconnected with military drill or rifle practice, except with the approval of the Governor.

83. When Volunteers belonging to one or more Corps are brought together under arms at rifle-shooting matches, or on other occasions, the senior Officer present, in uniform, is to be considered in command of all the Volunteers on the ground; and although his position in this respect does not involve any authority for his interference in the arrangements of the meeting, yet he is responsible for the due maintenance of order and discipline.

84. Volunteers in uniform shall give the military salute to his Excellency the Governor and to all Commissioned Officers of the Military and Naval Forces in this Colony, and Officers of Her Majesty's Service, when in uniform.

85. Officers commanding Batteries or Companies, and others, in Corps or administrative Regiments, are required to report, through the proper channel, all breaches of discipline and neglect of duty to the Officers commanding their Corps or Regiments.

86. The Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, Officers Commanding Corps, and during continuous training, the Officers commanding administrative Regiments, shall have power to enforce the following fines:—

	s.	d.
(a.) For appearing on parade not in the order of the day or with clothing, arms, accoutrements dirty, incomplete, or improperly put on ... ..	2	6
(b.) Talking in the ranks ... ..	2	6
(c.) Inattention and other minor irregularities ... ..	2	6
(d.) Neglect of duty... ..	5	0
(e.) Neglecting to notify to Officer commanding Battery or Company change of address within fourteen days of such change ... ..	7	6
(f.) Leaving the ranks without permission ... ..	10	0
(g.) Drunkenness on parade, or duty, or in camp, or elsewhere in uniform, will be visited with a fine of 20s. for the first offence, and a repetition of the offence will invariably be punished by discharge.

87. Fines inflicted under the above Regulations will be noted in the Quarterly Returns, and will form a re-credit to the public.

88. The Officers commanding Corps or administrative Regiments will, immediately after parade, receive the reports of Officers and enter in a Defaulters' Book the names of any Volunteers who have misconducted themselves, together with their decisions as to the fines to be inflicted; or, in aggravated cases, they will report the circumstances in detail to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, who will, if any additional penalty appear requisite, order a portion of the pay, not exceeding double the amounts above specified, to be stopped, or the cases to be dealt with as may seem to him to be necessary.

89. These fines will be deducted from the pay of the Volunteer, whether the same has accrued prior to or subsequent to such fines being awarded.

90. Commanding Officers of Corps or administrative Regiments will report to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force all cases in which fines are inflicted; and if any Volunteer shall feel himself aggrieved, he may address the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force on the subject, through the Officer commanding his Corps or administrative Regiment.

91. The Officer Commanding Volunteer Force is empowered to issue such standing and temporary orders from time to time as may be necessary to facilitate the administration of military and public business.

92. No member of the Force is to be buried with military honors beyond those due to his rank, and except by the express desire of his friends, notified to the Officer Commanding the Corps.

93. The Queen's Regulations and customs of the Imperial Military Service will be taken generally as a guide in all matters not specifically dealt with in the Volunteer Act and these Regulations.

COURTS OF INQUIRY.

94. A Court of Inquiry is to be considered as a Board, of which the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force may make use to assist him in arriving at a correct conclusion on any subject on which it may be expedient for him to institute an inquiry.

95. If it is found necessary to cause the conduct of an Officer to be investigated by a Court of Inquiry, the Governor can alone direct the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force to convene the Court, which, in such a case, must be composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force.

96. The duties of a Court of Inquiry depend on the instructions which the convening authority may think proper to give. It may either be employed merely collecting and arranging evidence, or it may, in addition, be directed to give an opinion as to the facts established by that evidence; but it will have no power to pronounce any judgment as to the course to be taken by the convening authority in dealing with those facts. When facts connected with the conduct of an individual are submitted to the investigation of a Court of Inquiry, it is necessary that the instructions for the guidance of the Court should be sufficiently specific as regards matter, names, dates, and places, to convey clearly to the Court the nature of the subject into which it is appointed to inquire, and also to enable the person whose conduct is called in question to know what he has to answer.

97. It rests with the authority who orders the assembly of a Court of Inquiry to decide whether it shall be open or close. All evidence taken by a Court of Inquiry is to be recorded, as nearly as possible, in the words of the witness on oath, and in the order in which it is received. The proceedings, when closed, are to be signed by the President and members, after which they are to be forwarded by the President direct to the convening authority.

98. A Court of Inquiry may be re-assembled as often as the superior authority may deem necessary, and on every occasion of its meeting it is competent to receive and record new evidence, if so directed.

Declaration to be made by President and members of Court.

99. I, A.B., do declare upon my honor that I will duly and impartially inquire into the matters to be brought before this Court; I further declare upon my honor, that I will not on any account, or at any time, disclose or discover my own vote or opinion, or that of any particular member of the Court, unless required to do so by competent authority.

100. A record of the above declaration having been taken is to be entered in the proceedings of the Court.

DRILL, TRAINING, EXERCISE, AND EFFICIENCY.

101. To test efficiency every Corps of Volunteers will be inspected annually by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, or other appointed Officer.

102. Recruits enrolled in the Volunteer Force shall attend the head-quarters of the Corps in which they are enrolled, or at such other place, and at such time as may be directed by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, for such preliminary drill as may be necessary to fit them for the ranks.

103. Recruit drill will be conducted by the Volunteer Permanent Staff under the direction of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and no recruit shall be entitled to pay until he has been passed into the ranks by an Officer of the General or Volunteer Permanent Staff.

104. A recruit shall be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st January of any year, provided during the previous year he has attended, subsequent to his being passed into the ranks, at least the proportion of one drill per month, including Annual Inspection, for the remaining part of such year, and also has attended with his Corps such period of continuous training as may have been ordered during the remaining part of such year; but no Volunteer ceases to be a recruit under any circumstances, nor can he be held to be efficient, until he has done a course of musketry instruction.

105. An Officer or Volunteer shall under no circumstances whatever (except as noted in paragraph 110) be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st January of any year unless during the previous year he has fulfilled the requirements hereunder specified:—

- (a.) Continuous training and exercise for six days, at Easter or other convenient time, and at such place as the Governor may appoint.
- (b.) Sixteen attendances (including Annual Inspection) out of twenty ordered on detached days, for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places, in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (c.) Shot practice for Artillery Volunteers, attendance at two lectures in the case of Volunteers of the Engineer and Torpedo and Signalling Corps, and a course of musketry for Infantry Volunteers, will be required annually, in addition to the attendance enumerated in (b.), and for which no pay will be granted beyond that earned by efficiency.

Nevertheless the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force shall have power to direct any Volunteer to be classed as a non-efficient for want of proficiency, whether in drill instruction or a knowledge of the special duties of his position.

106. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to issue, from time to time, such orders as may be necessary to secure the attendance at parades, &c., of Bandsmen, in lieu of the special training required in paragraph 105; and at such rates of remuneration as may seem proper: Provided, however, that the annual rate of pay sanctioned by the Government for the various ranks be not exceeded.

107. For the purpose of efficiency, the duration of parades shall be at least an hour and a half, but should the Corps or administrative Regiments having assembled be dismissed through inclement weather or other cause before the hour and a half be passed, such parade may be returned under the authority of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

108. The Field Officers of a Corps or administrative Regiment are not to be absent from inspection without first having obtained leave from the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

109. When Corps of administrative Regiments are inspected at their own head-quarters, the Commanding Officer of such Corps must obtain similar leave through the Officer Commanding the Regiment. In each case sufficient reasons must be assigned for leave being required.

110. Officers and Volunteers who desire to be absent from the Annual Inspection for any special reason must apply in writing to the Commanding Officers of Corps or administrative Regiments, stating reasons for their applications. If such reasons are not satisfactory leave will be refused. In case of sickness a medical certificate must be transmitted within one week. Absence under these circumstances shall not prejudice the efficiency of individuals, provided they have otherwise attended the total amount of drill, exercise, and training required for efficiency.

111. It shall be competent to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and Officers Commanding Corps and administrative Regiments, to order a course of recruit drill to such Volunteers as may fail to exhibit a proper degree of proficiency. But such attendance at recruit drill will not count towards pay or efficiency.

112. Attendance at Funerals will not be allowed to count towards efficiency, nor will pay be granted for such attendance.

113. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to order a course of recruit drill for Officers and Volunteers whenever, in his opinion, rendered necessary, and under the same conditions as for recruits.

114. No Officer or Volunteer arriving on the parade ground after a parade has been formed up shall be entitled to a record of attendance as towards efficiency or pay.

115. Commanding Officers of Corps or administrative Regiments are responsible for forwarding the applications of Officers for leave of absence from continuous training through the proper channel to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and in transmitting the same they should express their own opinions as to the granting or withholding of leave, after having obtained full information on the subject. An Officer in asking for leave must not content himself with stating urgent private affairs as the ground of his application, but must give good reason why such leave is absolutely necessary.

116. Any leave from continuous training (except in case of sickness) must be applied for previous to the assembly of the Corps or Regiment for such training.

117. An officer who applies for leave on account of sickness must forward a medical certificate as follows :—“
 _____, of the _____ Corps or Regiment having applied for a certificate on which to ground his application for leave of absence, I do hereby certify that I have carefully examined this Officer, and find that [the nature of the disease, &c., is to be here fully stated, and the period during which the officer has suffered under its effects], and that in consequence thereof I conceive him to be incapable of military duty.”

118. When the whole or any part of the Volunteer Force is called out for continuous training, notices of the men enrolled in the Volunteer Force to attend such training and exercise shall be sent by the order of the Commanding Officer of the Corps or administrative Regiment to which such men belong, by the post, to the residences of the several men, as stated on their attestations or the muster-rolls, or as subsequently notified by them; and such Commanding Officer shall cause such notices to be published in one or more of the newspapers of the district fourteen days at least before the time so appointed. Any such notice so published shall be deemed a sufficient notice to every Volunteer to whom the same applies, notwithstanding that he may not have received notice by post.

119. Any Volunteer who, without leave lawfully granted, or sickness certified, according to these Regulations, absents himself for a period of three months from the time and place appointed for preliminary training, or detached days of training, or absents himself from the time and place appointed for the continuous training and exercise of his Corps or administrative Regiment, or during the time of such training and exercise, shall be discharged. Exception however being allowed when in the opinion of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force such exceptional circumstances may exist as to warrant a relaxation of such penalty.

120. Battery and Company parade states, showing the total numbers on parade, with names of absentees, must be rendered to the Adjutant of the Corps or Regiment immediately before the parade is dismissed, and that Officer is held strictly responsible for the correctness, as regards numbers present. Officers commanding Batteries and Companies are responsible that a proper record is preserved for entry in quarterly returns, of the names of those present on parade, as no pleas of error will be entertained after such returns have been rendered to the Brigade Office.

121. It is competent to the senior Officer on parade to direct any Officer to assume command for the purpose of manœuvring a Corps, or administrative Regiment, although other Officers senior to him be present.

122. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, or Officers commanding Corps and administrative Regiments, to detail an Officer or Non-commissioned Officer of the Permanent Staff to assume command, on parade, of any Corps or administrative Regiment for the purpose of exercise and instruction.

MUSKETRY INSTRUCTION.

123. The course of instruction for Volunteers will be as laid down in Brigade Orders from time to time.

Badges for Rifle-shooting.

124. With a view to stimulate individual exertion, and to reward the proficiency of Volunteers in the use and management of the rifle, a system of badges has been adopted, and the following rules for the award thereof are to be strictly adhered to :—

- 1st. To the best shot of a Battalion—a badge of cross muskets and crown above and below worked in silver on scarlet cloth ground.
- 2nd. To the best shot of a Corps—a badge of cross muskets and crown above worked in silver on scarlet cloth ground.
- 3rd. To certain of the first class shots—(to be styled “marksmen”)—a badge of cross muskets worked in silver on scarlet cloth ground. These badges are to be worn on the left arm, immediately above the point of the cuff, and retained for the period of one year from date of issue.

125. Every Volunteer must go through the course with his own Corps or Company; the only exceptions will be in the case of men who, having commenced the course, become ill and unable to go on, duly verified by medical certificate, or men who are absent on special leave granted by the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force previous to commencing the course.

PAY AND ALLOWANCES.

126. Pay and allowances shall be granted to the several ranks at such rates as may be sanctioned by the Government; but payment shall, under no circumstances other than those noted in paragraphs 23 and 106, be made, except for performance of actual duty, and on the following system—for example, in the case of gunners, sappers, and privates :—

- (a.) 10s. for each day of attendance during the period of continuous training.
- (b.) 5s. for each attendance at the ordered number of detached days of training.
- (c.) Balance unappropriated as above, and equalling  $\frac{1}{3}$  of annual rate on qualifying as an efficient for the year.

The annual rates of pay of other ranks, other than command pay, to be proportionately distributed in like manner.

127. No Officer or Volunteer shall be entitled to receive pay for any time during which he has been in arrest, or under suspension from duty, if adjudged to have been guilty of the matters alleged against him.

128. Any Officer or Volunteer who absents himself either with or without leave, for any cause whatsoever, from the time and place appointed for detached days of training, or does not appear at the time and place appointed for continuous training and exercise, or so absents himself during the time of such training and exercise, shall not be entitled to pay for the period of such absence; neither shall command pay be drawn by any Officer who is absent from duty beyond three months, but the proportion of such pay for period of absence shall be paid to the Officer in actual performance of his duties; nor shall forage or horse allowance be drawn by any Officer who is absent on leave beyond six and three months respectively, but the proportion of such allowance for period of absence shall be paid to the Officer in actual performance of his duties.

129. No Officer or Volunteer shall be entitled, under any circumstances, to the grant of pay for efficiency, unless he has qualified as an efficient under these Regulations.

130. Officers to whom full forage allowance is granted will be required to keep a horse and appointments, which must be their own bona fide property, and suitable for military purposes. In default they will only be entitled to receive horse allowances for the provision of suitable horse and appointments.

131. Pay accounts will be rendered and settled quarterly.

132. No claim against the Government in respect of pay or allowances will be admitted for any year if not submitted for adjustment prior to the 1st day of March in the year following, in order that the performance of the public business may be facilitated, and the provisions of the Audit Act observed.

133. It shall be the duty of the Brigade Paymaster to see that all claims against individuals or Corps are closed annually, and not later than the 15th of March in every year.

CLOTHING.

134. Uniforms will be supplied on the requisitions of Commanding Officers of Corps, the cost of which will be defrayed by the public.

135. The distinctions in uniforms and appointments, which are prescribed in Her Majesty's Regulations, to denote the ranks of the wearers, are to be observed by Volunteers of the various grades. Officers commanding Corps and administrative Regiments are held responsible that the local rules regarding uniform are strictly adhered to.

136. Consolidated Corps, and Corps forming part of an administrative Regiment, must be clothed alike.

137. Clothing to last three years will be issued on the following scale for Non-commissioned Officers and Volunteers :—

2 Norfolk jackets	1 forage cap and puggaree or cap cover
2 pairs trousers	Helmet.

138. Recruits will be entitled to clothing on having passed preliminary drill.

139. Volunteers will, for period of continuous training, provide themselves with kit, as follows :—

3 shirts	1 clothes-brush
3 pairs socks	1 box blacking
2 towels	1 piece of soap
1 knife, fork, and spoon	1 housewife
1 comb and brush	2 pairs boots, suitable to the Service.
2 shoe-brushes

140. It is required of Officers commanding Corps in all cases in which uniform has been damaged, rendered unserviceable, or lost, prior to the expiration of the period during which it was required to last, to cause such individual to repair or renew such uniform at his own cost, or in default to proceed under penal clauses of Volunteer Act in the above respect.

141. Volunteers resigning or being discharged from the Force shall, in cases in which the uniform returned by them has not lasted the prescribed period, be liable to such stoppage from any pay which may be accruing to them at time of such resignation or discharge, as will represent the proportionate value of such uniform, with reference to the unexpired portion of the period for which it was originally issued.

142. Uniform supplied by the public will remain the property of the Government until it has lasted the prescribed period, after which it may be considered the property of the individual.

ARMS, ACCOUTREMENTS, AMMUNITION, AND STORES.

143. All arms, accoutrements, &c., issued to a Volunteer Corps remain the property of the Government, and the Commanding Officer for the time being is held responsible for their being at all times in a serviceable state, and for their being returned into store when required in good condition, fair wear and tear excepted.

144. Great attention should be paid to the proper cleaning and care of arms entrusted to Volunteers; and Officers are to point out to those under their command that the barrel of the rifle is so delicately finished, that should rust be permitted to accumulate inside it must inevitably destroy the integrity of the grooves, and consequently impair the accuracy of the weapon.

145. The establishment of Officers and Non-commissioned Officers for Corps and administrative Regiments is amply sufficient to ensure a proper supervision of the arms and accoutrements consistently with other occupations. Neglect of duty must therefore always exist in a Corps where the arms or accoutrements are in bad order.

146. The rifle must invariably be cleaned immediately after use.

147. Volunteers must not, under any circumstances, tamper with their rifles, or use other than the authorized ammunition; and any rifles which, on inspection, may be found to have had their locks or any other parts improperly altered or damaged will be at once returned into store, and repaired at the expense of the Corps or individual.

148. As the Commanding Officer is responsible for the conditions of the arms issued to his Corps, it will be his duty to withdraw permission to Volunteers to keep their arms at their own houses, whenever such Volunteers fail to keep their arms in proper order, and he will cause the same to be deposited after drill in armouries, or places set apart for that purpose. In any case in which the arms are neglected, the discretionary power granted to the Commanding Officer in this respect will be withdrawn.

149. The repairs of all arms returned by Commanding Officers will be executed in the manner and to the extent laid down for the repair of arms in possession of the Regular Army. In the case of the repair of a barrel, or supply of a new barrel, the complete arm, with its bayonet, should be sent in.

150. Commanding Officers are to forward to head-quarters any Government arms in the possession of their Corps requiring repairs, accompanied by a certificate of the cause and extent of damage. The cost of repairing arms, if damaged wilfully, or by neglect, or want of due precaution, together with transmission to and fro, will be charged to the Corps or individual.

151. Ammunition will be issued at the discretion of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

152. Every Country Corps is required to provide a secure place for the custody of its small arm ammunition.

153. When ammunition is provided by Government for the use of a Corps, careful arrangements should be made by the Commander Officer for its conveyance from the railway station or place to which it may have been transmitted.

154. The Commanding Officer of a Corps or administrative Regiment is responsible to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force for all stores which are supplied by Government for the use of the Corps or Regiment.

155. Targets and mooring-tackle are supplied to Artillery Corps.

156. The hire of boats to place and remove the targets is also allowed.

157. All surplus stores—such as empty powder-barrels, metal-lined cases, metal cylinders, or empty bursters—are to be forwarded to head-quarters by the cheapest and most direct conveyance.

158. In case where ammunition is forwarded to a Corps, for instructional purposes, the Officer commanding such Corps will be held responsible for any unexpended balance; and in case of such balance not being accounted for, the value of the same may be made a charge against such Commanding Officer, to be deducted from his pay and allowance.

159. A certificate must be rendered on the 1st January in each year by Officers commanding Corps and administrative Regiments, that, subsequent to the Annual Inspection in the previous year, such arms as were not then seen by the Inspecting Officers had been duly seen by them or their regimental staff, and found complete and in good order, or otherwise, as the case may be.

160. It shall be the duty of Officers commanding Corps and administrative Regiments to require of Officers relinquishing or assuming command of individual Batteries or Companies to sign a mutual certificate of transfer, according to form.

161. Any loss, damage, or destruction of arms, accoutrements, or stores, which may be traced to any Officer or Volunteer, will be required to be made good by stoppage from his pay, or, in default thereof, proceedings against him will be instituted against him under the Volunteer Act.

CORRESPONDENCE.

162. All official correspondence from Corps is to proceed from the Officer Commanding, or pass through him.

163. When a Corps forms part of an administrative Regiment the official correspondence of the Officer commanding the Corps is to pass through the Field Officer Commanding.

164. Applications for leave of absence, returns, reports, and correspondence on military subjects are to be addressed to the Brigade-Major.

165. The Paymaster will correspond direct with the Treasury and Audit Office on matters connected with his financial duties.

166. Commanding Officers of Corps or administrative Regiments, and Adjutants of such Corps and Regiments, will communicate direct with the Paymaster on matters of finance.

167. Applications for leave of absence for Officers up to one month, and for Volunteers up to three months, must be made to the Officers Commanding Corps. Beyond these periods, and in the cases referred to in paragraphs 108, 109, and 115 of the Regulations, applications must be made to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

168. Correspondence on Artillery subjects will be addressed to the Officer Commanding Artillery Forces.

169. As a general rule the system here laid down will be adhered to, but it will be competent for the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force to issue orders in variation thereof, from time to time, in view of facilitating the conduct of public and departmental business.

BOOKS AND RETURNS.

170. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to require such books to be kept up by Corps or administrative Regiments, and such returns and states to be rendered from time to time as he may deem necessary.

GUN-DRILL AND PRACTICE OF ARTILLERY VOLUNTEERS.

171. No gun practice of Artillery Volunteers is to be carried on, except under the superintendence of an Officer of the Permanent Staff, unless a relaxation of this rule has been specially sanctioned by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

172. Neither Volunteers not at exercise, nor other spectators, are to be allowed to congregate round barrels or cases containing powder which are being issued.

173. Bands of music must be prohibited from playing, either inside or in the immediate vicinity of Batteries, during gun practice.

174. Whether in firing with or without shot, saturated cartridges are not to be used; they spoil ranges, and are apt to leave embers in the gun.

175. The practice of firing blank cartridges against time is forbidden.

176. Sword-bayonets are not to be used by Artillerymen engaged at gun-drill or moving powder.

177. No smoking is on any account to be allowed in the vicinity of gun-carriages or waggons in which ammunition is being conveyed.

178. In all cases in which blank ammunition is fired from Batteries in use by Volunteers, which consists of less than four guns, the intervals between the firing are, under no circumstances, to be less than 20 seconds, and especial care is to be taken in such cases in sponging out the gun and serving the vent, with the view of obviating as far as possible any chance of accident.

179. Magazines are to be kept strictly clean, and free from all gravel, sand, or grit; and no iron, light, lucifer match, or anything likely to cause combustion, is to be permitted therein, nor is any one to enter a magazine with articles of a combustible nature on his person.

180. No smoking or fire is to be permitted near a magazine.

181. In moving powder-barrels about a magazine, all friction is to be avoided as much as possible, and care to be taken that no powder is spilt on the floor, on which an old rug or blanket is to be placed; and all persons employed in a magazine must either wear list slippers or remove their boots or shoes. The magazine floor must be carefully swept after each transaction.

182. When a magazine is open for airing during fine weather, some one must be in charge on the spot, to warn persons from approaching it except on duty.

183. Cases or barrels of powder are not to be opened either inside a magazine or immediately outside the door. When brought out to supply batteries in action, they are to be deposited in rear and to windward thereof, under proper guard.

PRECAUTIONS AT RIFLE PRACTICE.

184. In order to provide for the safety of the public, indiscriminate private practice at Volunteer Rifle Ranges is not to be permitted. All practice should be so regulated as to ensure the presence of an Officer or Non-commissioned Officer, who will be in charge of the firing party, and held responsible for enforcing strict regularity and discipline.

185. None but experienced persons are to be employed as Markers at Rifle Ranges. The responsibility of employing boys in that capacity at private practice must rest with the members of the Force.

186. The Officer or Non-commissioned Officer in charge of the firing point will see that the special Rules and Regulations of Rifle Ranges are carried out, provided they be not inconsistent with the above.

187. Officers in charge of Rifle Ranges will afford facilities for target practice to Cadet Corps, subject to such orders as may be issued by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force from time to time.

188. Cadet Corps are formed of youths of ten years of age and upwards.

189. The members of a Cadet Corps are not to be attested for service.

190. The Commissioned Officer of a Cadet Corps receives only an honorary commission.

191. No Cadet Corps shall be formed unless fifty members can be enrolled; and prior to the acceptance of service a guarantee must be given by the Head Master of the school wherein such Corps is sought to be formed, that due care will be taken of such Government stores as shall be issued, and that payment will be made of such charges as may be assessed on behalf of the Government against such school, on account of loss, damage, or destruction.

SCHEDULE.

Form of Certificate for Exemption from Jury List.*

I certify that _____ of _____ has served as an efficient Volunteer for two years, thereby claiming exemption from serving as a Juror, during the year _____, in accordance with clause 37 of 31 Victoria, No. 5, of the Volunteer Regulation Act of 1867.

(Place and date.)

Commanding Volunteer Force.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 9th September, 1878.

His Excellency the Governor is pleased, with the advice of the Executive Council, to fix (exclusive of Staff) the establishment and distribution of the Volunteer Force to be reorganized under the above Regulations, as follows:—

ARTILLERY.

Distribution.	Lieut. Colonel.	Major.	Captains.	1st Lieutenants.	2nd Lieutenants.	Permanent Staff.						Total.
						Adjutant, Pay and Quarter-Master.	Regimental Sergeant-Major.	Quarter-Master Sergeant.	Trumpet Major.	Battery Sergeant Majors.	Sergeants.		Corporals.	Trumpeters.	Gunners.
Sydney .....	1	1	4	4	4	1	1	1	1	4	8	12	4	156	202
Newcastle .....	...	...	1	1	1	...	...	...	...	1	2	3	1	39	49
Wollongong .....	...	...	1	1	1	...	...	...	...	1	2	3	1	39	49
Total .....	1	1	6	6	6	1	1	1	1	6	12	18	6	234	300

* This Certificate to be renewed at the commencement of each year.

The four Batteries at Sydney, with Regimental Staff, to form a Consolidated Corps, and with one Battery at Newcastle and one Battery at Wollongong, to be styled the "New South Wales Regiment of Volunteer Artillery."

ENGINEERS.

Distribution.	Major.	Captain.	Lieutenant.	Colour-Sergeant (Staff).	Quarter-Master Sergeant.	Sergeants.	1st Corporals.	2nd Corporals.	Buglers.	Sappers.	Total.
Sydney .....	1	1	1	1	1	2	3	3	2	45	60

The Torpedo and Signalling Corps as at present organized, to be subject to the above regulations.

INFANTRY.

Distribution.	Lieut.-Colonels.	Majors.	Captains.	1st Lieutenants.	2nd Lieutenants.	Permanent Staff.			Bugle-Majors.	Colour-Sergeants.	Sergeants.	Corporals.	Buglers.	Privates.	Total.
						Adjutants, Pay and Quarter-Masters.	Regimental Sergeant-Majors.	Regimental Qr.-Mr.-Sergeants.
Sydney .....	2	2	8	8	8	2	2	2	2	8	24	32	16	568	684
Western District .....	1	1	4	4	4	1	1	1	1	4	12	16	8	284	342
Northern District .....	...	1	2	2	2	...	1	...	...	2	6	8	4	142	170
Southern District .....	...	...	1	1	1	...	...	...	...	1	3	4	2	71	85
Total.....	3	4	15	15	15	3	4	4	3	15	45	60	30	1065	1281

The Infantry at Sydney to be formed into two Regiments of four Companies each, and with Regimental Staff, to form a Consolidated Corps, to be styled the "1st and 2nd Regiments of New South Wales Volunteer Infantry."

The Infantry in the Western District to consist of one Regiment of four Companies, and with Regimental Staff, to form an Administrative Regiment, to be styled the "3rd Regiment of New South Wales Volunteer Infantry"—Company Head-quarters at Parramatta, Windsor, Bathurst, and Goulburn.

The Infantry in the Northern District to consist of two Companies, with Head-quarters at Newcastle and Maitland.

The Infantry in the Southern District to consist of one Company, with Head-quarters at Kiama.

MICHAEL FITZPATRICK.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 9th September, 1878.

VOLUNTEER REORGANIZATION.

THE Government, having in view the past services of Officers and Men of the Volunteer Corps, is desirous of recognizing the same, by affording priority of appointment and enrolment to such of the existing Volunteer Force (other than those maturing for Land Orders), as may be willing to continue their services in the Force to be formed under the above Regulations.

As a preliminary measure, Officers desirous of continuing their services will be good enough to submit their names through the usual official military channel.

Further notice will be given for the commencement of the enrolment of Volunteers.

MICHAEL FITZPATRICK.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 23rd September, 1878.

Hrs Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to approve of the following Scale of Pay and Allowances to the persons serving in the Volunteer Military Force to be enrolled under the Regulations approved and published in the Supplementary Government Gazette of the 9th instant, viz. :—

	ARTILLERY AND INFANTRY.		Per annum.
	£	s. d.	£	s. d.
Lieutenant-Colonel ...	...	...	100	0 0
Major ...	...	...	50	0 0
Captain...	...	...	40	0 0
First Lieutenant ...	...	...	30	0 0
Second Lieutenant ...	...	...	25	0 0
Trumpet and Bugle Major ...	...	...	17	0 0
Battery Sergeant-Major and Colour-Sergeant ...	...	...	17	0 0
Sergeant ...	...	...	15	0 0
Corporal ...	...	...	14	0 0
Trumpeter and Bugler ...	...	...	10	0 0
Gunner and Private ...	...	...	12	0 0
Forage allowance to Officers Commanding Regiments of 4 Batteries or Companies and upwards ...	...	...	64	0 0
Horse allowance—Major ...	...	...	25	0 0

ENGINEERS.

								Per annum.
								£	s.	d.
ENGINEERS.
Major Commanding	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	70	0	0
Captain...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	40	0	0
Lieutenant	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	30	0	0
Colour-Sergeant	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	17	0	0
Sergeant	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	15	0	0
First Corporal...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	14	0	0
Second Corporal	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	13	0	0
Bugler ...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	10	0	0
Sapper ...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	12	0	0

TORPEDO AND SIGNALLING CORPS.

Major Commanding	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	200	0	0
Captain...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	100	0	0
First Lieutenant	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	60	0	0
Second Lieutenant	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	40	0	0
Colour-Sergeant	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	30	0	0
Sergeant	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	25	0	0
First Corporal...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	20	0	0
Second Corporal	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	15	0	0
Bugler ...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	10	0	0
Private ...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	12	0	0

MEDICAL STAFF.

Principal Medical Officer, ranking as Major	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	60	0	0
Surgeon, ranking as Captain...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	40	0	0
Horse allowance to each	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	25	0	0

MICHAEL FITZPATRICK.

ANNUAL Return of Armed Land Forces (inclusive of Regular Artillery) in the Colony of New South Wales, 1st January, 1880.

Whether Militia, Volunteers, Military, Police, &c.	Designation of the several Corps, grouped by Arms of the Service.	No. of Troops, Batteries, Companies, &c., in each Corps.	Establishment of each Corps.			Actual strength.		Increase or decrease of each Corps since last return.			Distribution of each Corps, specifying Head-quarters.			Armament of each Corps.	Average No. of days training in each year.
			Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Place.	Strength.
												Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.
Regulars.....	General Staff .....	.....	5	5	4 40-pounder Armstrongs 4 16- " M.L.R. 6 12- " Howitzers 4 9-pounders Eighteen, viz. :-	5	5	Last return, 1 Jan., 1879.			Head-quarters, Sydney.....	5	5	2 40-pounder Armstrong field guns. 4 16-pounder M.L.R., field guns. 4 12-pounder Howitzers. 337 short Henry rifles.	Being Regulars, this Corps is trained continuously during the year.
	N.S.W. Artillery ...	3	13	345		13	330	.....	1	Increase, 4 16-pounder M.L.R.; decrease, 4 6-pounders.	{ Head-quarters, Sydney ...	12	299
	Medical Staff .....	.....	2	...		2	...	.....	.....		Head-quarters, Sydney.....	2	...
	Permanent Staff .....	.....	...	13		...	13	.....	1		Head-quarters, Sydney.....	...	13
	Head-quarters Band..	.....	...	32		...	32	.....	1		{ Head-quarters, Sydney, 4 Batteries.	15	180
Artillery .....	6	21	279	19	270	2	84	Newcastle, 1 Battery .....	2		46
Volunteers (New Organization.)	Engineers .....	1	3	57	3	53	.....	.....	Wollongong, 1 Battery ...	1	44	4 40-pounder Armstrongs 4 16- " M.L.R. 6 12- " Howitzers 4 9-pounders Eighteen, viz. :-	2 40-pounder Armstrong field guns. 4 9-pounder field guns. 2 12-pounder Howitzers. 290 short Henry rifles. 100 long Henry rifles.	Six whole days continuous training, twenty half days at detached periods, in addition to which is required a shot practice for Artillery Corps, two lectures for Engineers and Torpedo Corps, and a course of musketry for Infantry Corps.
	Torpedo and Sig. Corps	1	6	94	5	76	1	12	Head-quarters, Sydney.....	3	53
	Infantry—	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Head-quarters, Sydney.....	5	76
	1st Regiment .....	4	15	327	16	322	3	192	Head-quarters, Sydney.....	16	322
	2nd Regiment .....	4	15	327	16	300	.....	172	Head-quarters, Sydney.....	16	300
	3rd Regiment .....	4	15	327	12	314	.....	108	{ Head-quarters, Richmond	2	3
	Northern District ...	2	7	163	8	156	.....	30	1 Company at Windsor ..	2	77
	Southern District.....	1	3	82	3	...	1	.....	1 Company at Parramatta	2	74
									1 Company at Bathurst ...	3	79
									1 Company at Goulburn ..	3	81
								Head-quarters, Newcastle	4	75
								1 Company at Maitland ...	4	81
								Head-quarters, Kiama .....	3	...
	Total.....	.....	105	2,051	102	1,871	2	12 decrease		102	1,871
							6	586 increase

ANNUAL Return of Armed Land Forces, 1880—continued.

Whether Militia, Volunteers, Military, Police, &c.	Designation of the several Corps, grouped by Arms of the Service.	No. of Troops, Batteries, Companies, &c., in each Corps.	Establishment of each Corps.			Actual Strength.			Increase or decrease of each Corps since last return.		Distribution of each Corps, specifying Head-quarters.			Armament of each Corps.
			Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Place.	Strength.
												Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.		Field Guns.
Cadet Corps.	King's School .....	.....	...	...	...	1	83	...	.....	.....	Parramatta .....	1	83	...	{ 50 Hay rifles. 51 carbines. 56 Hay rifles. 20 carbines. 64 Hay rifles. 62 carbines. 30 Hay rifles. 35 carbines. 30 Hay rifles. 30 carbines. 86 Hay rifles. 918 carbines.
	Newington College .....	.....	...	...	...	1	84	...	.....	.....	Newington .....	1	84	...
	Sydney Grammar School .....	.....	...	...	...	2	129	...	.....	.....	Sydney .....	2	129	...
	Saachie House School .....	.....	...	...	...	1	46	...	.....	.....	Maitland .....	1	46	...
	All Saints College .....	.....	...	...	...	1	38	...	.....	.....	Bathurst .....	1	38	...
	Public Schools .....	.....	...	...	...	1	1,018	...	.....	.....	{ Various parts of the Colony, Head-quarters, Sydney. .... }	1	1,018	...
	Total .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	7	1,398	.....	.....	.....	.....	7	1,398	.....
Volunteers (Old Organization).	Honorary Staff .....	.....	4	...	.....	4	...	.....	1	.....	Chaplains .....	4	...	{ Head-quarters, Sydney (10 Battery) ... Newcastle (1 Battery) .....
	Artillery .....	11	41	841	} Vide page 18.	5	59	} Vide page 18.	3	209	{ Head-quarters, Sydney (10 Battery) ...	5	58
	Engineers .....	1	3	97		3	4		.....	15	{ Head-quarters, Sydney .....	.....	1
	1st Regiment .....	8	32	769		3	95		.....	110	{ Head-quarters, Sydney .....	3	95
	2nd Regiment .....	7	29	672		No return.	.....		.....	.....	{ Head-quarters, Sydney .....	No return.	.....
	3rd Regiment .....	8	32	769		3	85		.....	160	{ Head-quarters & 1 Company, Richmond .....	.....	2
	4th Regiment .....	4	14	387		3	113		.....	11	{ 1 Company, Penrith .....	.....	36
	5th Regiment .....	4	14	387		6	50		.....	141	{ 1 Company, Parramatta .....	.....	1
	Total .....	.....	169	3,922		24	406		.....	14	646 decrease	24	406		{ 1 Company, Bathurst .....	3	3
															{ 1 Company, Goulburn .....	.....	6
															{ 1 Company, Orange .....	No return.	.....
															{ 1 Company, Mudgee .....	3	37
															{ Head-quarters & 1 Company, Newcastle .....	.....	33
															{ 1 Company, East Maitland .....	.....	29
													{ 1 Company, West Maitland .....	.....	29
											{ 1 Company, Singleton .....	3	22
											{ Head-quarters and 1 Company, Kiama .....	No return.	.....
											{ 1 Company, Ulladulla .....	3	50
											{ 1 Company, Jamberoo .....	3	.....
											{ 1 Company, Wollongong .....	.....	.....

The Commandant to His Excellency the Governor.

Remarks on Organization, Recruiting, &amp;c.

My Lord,

I have the honor herewith to submit my Annual Report (in duplicate) of the Permanent and Volunteer Military Forces of the Colony for the year ending 31st December last.

During the year 1879 the various corps composing the command have been inspected.

Since my last report the establishment of the Permanent Artillery has been reduced by the action of Parliament from 375 to 355 of all ranks. This corps passed creditably in drills of the various kinds applicable to its special branch of the Force. I also found the regimental books, batteries, ordnance, stores, and barracks generally in a satisfactory condition. The number of Courts-martial, although of not so frequent occurrence as heretofore, I regret to say still continues large. The crimes for which men are brought to trial are those principally relating to insubordination and desertion. The former description of crime is without doubt greatly fostered by the want of experienced non-commissioned officers, a disadvantage which can never be remedied so long as the corps is widely distributed on detachment, portions of which are stationed at the Victoria Barracks, Dawes' Point, Watson's Bay, Steel Point, Middle Head, George's Head, Bradley's Head, and Newcastle. As a matter of fact the corps has never had the advantage of being concentrated, as is the case with Imperial Regiments, and therefore it has never had the opportunity to inaugurate a sound system of discipline and interior economy, or to properly train the officers and non-commissioned officers. Desertion is rendered comparatively easy from the fact that the high rates of pay speedily enables a man (to whom discipline, &c., has become irksome) to save sufficient money to provide a passage to a neighbouring Colony, where he is secure from apprehension.

This corps during the past year has rendered material aid to the civil power in suppressing disorder in the Newcastle district. It has also been engaged in the construction of certain works in progress in connection with the fortifications on either side of the harbour of Port Jackson, as designed by Sir William Jervois, K.C.M.G., and Colonel Scratchley, C.M.G.

The Volunteer Force enrolled under the new Regulations of September, 1878, may be said to a great extent to resemble in constitution and organization the Militia of the United Kingdom, and has now to all intents and purposes completed its establishment, excepting as regards the Kiama Company of Infantry, the enrolment of which was for certain reasons not proceeded with. The past year was the first of its service and in the recruit stage, and I am pleased to report that the attendance during the period of continuous training, as also at the drills called on detached days, has been most satisfactory, whilst the marked improvement manifested from time to time in drill, discipline, and efficiency, together with the absence of any cavilling and discontented spirit, has amply demonstrated the superiority of the system of training, &c., now adopted as compared with that which formerly obtained with the Volunteer Force under the old system. Moreover, I have no hesitation in saying that the continuous training, combined with the supervision, instruction, and assistance generally afforded by the fully paid regimental staff, has effected much towards rendering officers and non-commissioned officers practically acquainted with their respective duties, and the establishment of a chain of responsibility and mutual reliance throughout the different ranks, such as indeed was totally impracticable under the old system. The period of six days continuous training commenced on Friday, the 11th of April, to the following Wednesday, both days inclusive. The Artillery has been trained in gun drill, a certain amount of infantry exercises in close order, and in duties of guards, &c. The Engineer Corps has been trained in infantry movements in close order, duties of guards, and field exercises of an engineering character. The Torpedo Corps has been trained to infantry movements in close order, duties of guards, and exercises applicable to that special branch of the service, viz., the manipulation of torpedoes, &c., &c. The Infantry has been trained to infantry drill in close and extended orders, duties of guards and outposts, route marching, &c. The recruits generally and the whole of the infantry corps have been passed through a course of musketry. The abolition (under the new system) of the large number of comparatively independent company commands, and vesting instead such commands and responsibility primarily in the Regimental Commanding Officer, the application of a standard of age, height, chest measurement, and physique generally, medical examination of recruits, and the appointment of a fully paid staff to regiments, have been attended with extremely satisfactory results.

Your Lordship will note, as regards the Volunteer Corps existing under the old organization, the paucity of numbers on the roll, the total absence in most cases of any officers to control the few men left, as also cases where no returns can be procured in consequence of there being no one responsible for rendering the same. In point of fact these corps are disorganized, neither is there any provision made on the Estimates for their instruction, training, and clothing, nor are they even armed. In conclusion I may remark that the delay in rendering this report was caused by my endeavour to get information from some of these corps last referred to.

I have, &amp;c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON,
Col., Commandant.

True copy.—H. D. MACKENZIE, Act. Major of Brigade.

ANNUAL Return of Armed Land Forces (inclusive of Regular Artillery) in the Colony of New South Wales, 1st January, 1881.

Whether Militia, Volunteers, Military, Police, &c.	Designation of theseveral Corps, grouped by Arms of the Service.	No. of Troops, Batteries, Companies, &c., in each Corps.	Establishment of each Corps.			Actual Strength.		Increase or decrease of each Corps since last return.		Distribution of each Corps, specifying Head-quarters.			Armament of each Corps.	Average No. of days training in each year.
			Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Place.	Strength.
											Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.			Field Guns.
Regulars.....	General Staff .....	.....	5	5	} 2 40-pounder Armstrongs M.L.R. Howitzers } 4 16- " " Howitzers } 4 9-pounders Eighteen, viz:—	5	5	.....	.....	Last return, 1 Jan., '80	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	5	5	.....	Being Regulars, this Corps is trained continuously during the year.
	N.S.W. Artillery .....	3	13	307		13	296	.....	decrease 38	{ Head-quarters, Sydney .....	12	268	} 2 40-pounder Armstrong field guns. } 4 16-pounder, M.L.R. } 6 12- " " Howitzers } 316 short Henry rifles.
	Medical Staff .....	.....	2	...		2	...	.....	.....	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	2	...		.....
	Permanent Staff .....	.....	.....	14		.....	14	.....	increase 1	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	.....	14		18 long Henry rifles.
	Head-quarters Band .....	1	.....	32		.....	31	.....	decrease 1	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	.....	31		1 long Henry rifle.
	Hon. Chaplain .....	.....	1	.....		1	.....	.....	increase 1	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	1	.....		.....
	Artillery .....	6	21	279		18	254	.....	.....	{ Hd.-qrs., Sydney, 4 Batteries	13	163		} 4 9-pounder field guns. } 2 12-pounder Howitzers. } 290 short Henry rifles. } 59 short Henry rifles. } 100 long Henry rifles.
	Engineers.....	1	3	57		3	57	.....	.....	{ Newcastle, 1 Battery.....	2	45
	Torpedo and Sig. Corps.....	1	6	94		6	89	.....	.....	{ Wollongong, 1 Battery .....	3	46
	1st Regiment .....	4	15	327		14	324	.....	.....	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	3	57
2nd Regiment .....	4	15	327	16	295	.....	.....	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	6	89
3rd Regiment .....	4	15	327	10	318	.....	.....	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	14	324
Northern District .....	2	7	163	7	150	.....	.....	Head-quarters, Sydney .....	16	295
Southern District .....	1	3	82	3	.....	.....	.....	{ Head-quarters, Richmond... ..	2	3
Total.....	.....	106	2,014	98	1,833	.....	.....	{ 1 Company, Parramatta ... ..	2	79	} 341 long Henry rifles.
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	{ 1 Company, Windsor..... ..	2	81
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	{ 1 Company, Bathurst..... ..	3	79
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	{ 1 Company, Goulburn .....	1	76
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	{ 1 Company, West Maitland ..	4	74
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	{ 1 Company, Newcastle .....	3	76
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Head-quarters, Kiama..... ..	3	.....
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....		.....
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....		.....
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....		.....
Cadet Corps.	King's School .....	.....	.....	.....	1	79	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Six whole days continuous training, twenty half days at detached periods, in addition to which is required a shot practice for Artillery Corps, two lectures for Engineers and Torpedo Corps, and a course of musketry for Infantry Corps.
	Newington College.....	.....	.....	.....	1	105	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
	Sydney Grammar School .....	.....	.....	.....	1	108	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
	Saachie House School .....	.....	.....	.....	1	60	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
	All Saints College .....	.....	.....	.....	1	52	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
	Public Schools.....	.....	.....	.....	1	997	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
	Total.....	.....	.....	.....	6	1,401	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Volunteers (Old Organization).	This information cannot be furnished, as the Corps are practically non-existent.

The Commandant to His Excellency the Governor.

Remarks on Organization, Recruiting, &amp;c.

My Lord,

11 February, 1882.

I have the honor to forward the Annual Return of the Armed Land Forces of the Colony, together with my remarks thereon.

The usual annual inspection of the Regular and Volunteer Military Forces has been carried out by me during the past year.

The establishment of the Regular Artillery on the 1st January last was 320 of all ranks, the actual strength, 309. It appeared to me that a manifest improvement had taken place as regards the discipline and efficiency of this corps; the drill was good; I also found both the regimental and battery books, returns, well kept, correctly posted, &c. The condition of the various batteries, ordnance and stores in charge of this corps, was most creditable. A comparison of the number of trials by Court-martial, summary awards of imprisonment by Commanding Officer, summary discharges for bad and incorrigible character, and the number of deserters for the last three years, may serve to indicate in some degree the actual state of crime. The number of Courts-martial for the years 1878-79-80 respectively, was 109, 67, and 36; summary awards of imprisonment by Commanding Officer, 57, 39, and 42; summary discharges for bad and incorrigible character, 11, 9, and 18; discharges by sentence of Courts-martial for the years 1879 and '80, 19 and 17; desertions for the three last years, 80, 58, and 33. It will thus be seen that although the number of Courts-martial has materially decreased, that of summary awards has slightly increased. The exercise of the power of summary discharge of bad characters has also necessarily tended to lessen the number of Courts-martial. The desertions have also decreased. In addition to the ordinary training, 212 of all ranks went into camp at Easter with the Volunteer Force.

The supply of recruits is equal to the demand, and of 127 medically examined during the past year, 73 were taken and 54 rejected; the Medical Officer, however, reports that the physique of those enlisted is inferior to those of 1879. Much dissatisfaction and inconvenience is caused by the mode in which the contract for the annual supply of clothing is carried out, months being frequently allowed to lapse before clothing properly due is supplied. In many cases positive hardship and expense have been inflicted on the men.

The Garrison Hospital appeared to be in a most creditable condition, and under efficient management and control, the percentage of men of the Regular Artillery admitted during the years 1878, '79, and '80, being 24.48, 13.07, and 9.57. The prevalent complaints treated during the past year, were injuries, venereal, colds, intemperance, and measles; one death occurred through alcoholic phthisis.

I also inspected the Military Prison in the Victoria Barracks, and found it clean and in good order, and conducted on the principles obtaining in the Imperial Service.

The establishment of the Volunteer Force on the 1st January last was 1,715, of all ranks, and the total number enrolled, 1,620, of which 1,371 qualified as efficient during the past year, or over five-sixths of the entire Force. During the past year the Force has undergone six days continuous training in camp, and twenty half days training, in addition to the time spent at shot practice, lectures, and musketry. As this Force matures its service, a steady improvement is manifest in discipline, drill, and the practice of interior economy, and consequently efficiency; the superiority of the present system of training over that which formerly obtained under the purely Volunteer system is markedly apparent to all conversant with the conditions of the Military Service. Punctuality, order, silence, and steadiness in the ranks, and obedience now reign, where the converse was the general characteristic. The Force is governed with comparative ease, and judging from the absence of complaint, with satisfaction to all concerned. It is also my pleasing duty to note the extremely rare occasions on which any irregularity is committed, a fact amply demonstrating that in time of peace the punishment by fine and summary dismissal, combined with a slight pecuniary reward for work actually performed, is sufficient to preserve discipline. The stringent examination of Officers for appointment and promotion has had a beneficial effect, and Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers generally have evinced a creditable zeal by their attendance at classes of instruction, to render themselves fitted for their self-imposed duties. Recruiting progresses satisfactorily and at the present moment the establishment is complete. The musketry course was duly completed, and 1,070 of the Infantry were put through instruction, showing both an improvement in numbers, as also in the figure of merit. Great inconvenience is felt from the want of centrally situated drill sheds for the purpose of drilling recruits prior to passing them into the ranks.

In conclusion I may state that the expenditure connected with the Regular and Volunteer Forces, inclusive of Staff, averages for 1880 nearly £94 per head for the former, and somewhat under £18 for the latter.

I have, &amp;c.,

J. S. RICHARDSON, Col.,
Commandant.

True copy.—H. D. MACKENZIE, Captain, Acting Major of Brigade.

ANNUAL Return of Armed Land Forces (inclusive of Regular Artillery) in the Colony of New South Wales, 1st January, 1882.

Whether Militia, Volunteers, Military, Police, &c.	Designation of the several Corps, grouped by Arms of the Service.	No. of Troops, Batteries, Companies, &c., in each Corps.	Establishment of each Corps.			Actual Strength.		Increase or decrease of each Corps since last return.		Distribution of each Corps, specifying Head-quarters.			Armament of each Corps.	Average No. of days training in each year.
			Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Field Guns.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.	Place.	Strength.
											Officers.	N.C.O. & Men.
Regulars	General Staff		5	5		5	5							Being Regulars this Corps is trained continuously during the year.
	N. S. Wales Artillery	3	13	307		13	277		decrease 19	Head-quarters, Sydney	5	5
Volunteers (New Organization).	Medical Staff		2	...	2 40-pounder Armstrongs. 4 16- " M.L.R. 8 12- " Howitzers 4 9-pounders. Eighteen, viz. —	2	...			Head-quarters, Sydney	2	...	2 40-pounder Armstrongs 4 16- " M.L.R. 8 12- " Howitzers 4 9-pounders.	Six whole days continuous training, twenty half days at detached periods, in addition to which is required a shot practice for Artillery, two lectures for Engineers and Torpedo Corps, and a course of musketry for Infantry Corps.
	Permanent Staff		...	14		...	14	...			Head-quarters, Sydney	...			14	17 long Henry rifles.
	Honorary Chaplain		1	...		1	...	...		decrease 1	Head-quarters, Sydney	1			...	1 long Henry rifle.
	Head-quarters Band	1	...	32		...	30	...			Head-quarters, Sydney	...			30
	Artillery	6	21	279		18	276	...		increase 22	Head-quarters, Sydney, 4 Batteries.	13			186	4 9-pounder field guns. 2 12- " Howitzers. 289 short Henry rifles.
	Engineers	1	3	57		3	57	...			Head-quarters, Sydney	3			57	59 short Henry rifles.
	Torpedo & Sig. Corps	1	6	94		5	92	...		decrease 1 increase 3	Head-quarters, Sydney	5			92	100 long Henry rifles.
	1st Regiment	4	15	327		15	327	...		increase 1 increase 3	Head-quarters, Sydney	15			327	330 long Henry rifles.
	2nd Regiment	4	15	327		16	327	...		increase 32	Head-quarters, Sydney	16			327	329 long Henry rifles.
	3rd Regiment	5	18	408		14	406	...		increase 4 increase 88	Head-quarters, Richmond 1 Company, Parramatta 1 Company, Windsor 1 Company, Bathurst 1 Company, Goulburn 1 Company, Orange 1 Company, West Maitland 1 Company, Newcastle	2 3 3 3 2 1 4 3			3 79 81 81 81 81 81	451 long Henry rifles.
Northern District	2	7	163	7	162	...		increase 12	1 Company, Newcastle	3	81	169 long Henry rifles.
Southern District		2	...	2	...	...			Head-quarters, Kiama	2	...
	Total		108	2,013	101	1,973					101	1,973
Cadet Corps.	King's School		...	...	1	83	...		1 20 decr.	Parramatta	1	83	Hay rifles. Carabines. H.R. Long
	Newington College		...	...	1	201	...			Stanmore	1	201	46 45 15
	Sydney Grammar School		...	...	1	108	...			Sydney	1	108	56 106 15
	All Saints College		...	...	1	47	...			Bathurst	1	47	63 62 15
	Saachie House School		...	...	1	42	...			Maitland	1	42	30 30 ...
	Public School		...	...	1	1,097	...			Various parts of the Colony, Head-quarters, Sydney.	1	1,097	30 35 ...
		Total		...	...	6	1,578				6	1,578	45 1,118 ...

The Commandant to The Principal Under Secretary.

Remarks on Organization, Recruiting, &amp;c.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 23 January, 1881.

I have the honor to forward the Annual Return (in duplicate) of the Permanent and Volunteer Military Forces of New South Wales, concerning which I beg to submit the following report:—

It will be noted that the strength of the Permanent Artillery was, on the 1st January, 30 below the authorized establishment of 320 of all ranks. This is to be accounted for by the unusual number of men whose engagement for 5 years from date of enrolment of the second battery in August, 1876, terminated about the close of last year. Notwithstanding that large numbers of men present themselves for enrolment, the accession of recruits has been slow, as the character and antecedents are more strictly examined than heretofore. During the month of November last I made by annual inspection of this Corps and the barracks, batteries, guns, stores, &c., in charge. I found the Battalion drill fair, the Armstrong, Field, and Garrison Gun drills good, and the detachments had a fair knowledge of their duties. The Regimental and Battery books and returns were well kept, properly posted, and in good order. The batteries, guns, and stores were in exceptionally good order, and in this respect left little to be desired. The Barracks and rooms were in very fair order, but capable of improvement in matters of minor detail. This corps has undoubtedly improved in the practice of a proper system of regimental interior economy. The number of Courts-martial for the year was 18, which, whilst decreasing yearly, is still higher than is to be desired, more especially considering that no less than 17 men have been discharged for bad and incorrigible conduct, and whose cases would otherwise have swelled the number of Courts-martial. The discharges by purchase, completion of service, disability, &c., amounted to 57. The desertions were 29 as compared with 32 of previous year. This particular crime will, I fear, always prove very prevalent, in consequence of temptations to desert held out by the gold-fields and the more congenial and remunerative employment attached to civil occupations. Unexampled facilities also exist for men deserting to the neighbouring Colonies, and in the absence of a reciprocity treaty are able to set the military authorities at defiance. The mode in which the annual clothing is still supplied by the local contractors causes much dissatisfaction and hardship. As much as nine months have been suffered in many cases to elapse between the proper and real dates of supply. Efforts have been made to obviate this unsatisfactory state of affairs, but as yet with little avail. I am unable to bring my report concerning the New South Wales Artillery to a conclusion without drawing attention to the highly unsoldierlike conduct to be attributed to one or other of the officers in the matter of the ventilation of supposed grievances through the agency of questions put in Parliament,—questions which, from their nature, must of necessity have either been formulated by the officers themselves or at their instigation. Such practice not only tends to discredit the corps, but it is also unnecessary, as the laws of the service make ample provision for the redress of grievances of every nature.

In my visit to the Garrison Hospital I had reason to be impressed with the cleanliness of the premises, the attention paid to the comforts of the patients, the absence of complaints, and the general air of good order manifest throughout. Of 156 men medically examined for this corps during the past year, 93 were passed as fit. The number of cases admitted to Hospital was 157, of which 37 men were suffering from injuries, 22 venereal, 18 intemperance, and 10 colds. Of 5 men discharged as unfit, 3 suffered from epilepsy, 1 hernia, and 1 insanity.

The military prison in the Victoria Barracks appeared to be under proper control and in good order, and the regulations bearing on its management strictly carried out.

The authorized establishment of the Volunteer Force is 1,800, and the actual strength appears to have been 1,783 on the 1st instant.

During the past year I conducted the usual annual inspection of the various regiments and corps, and I am happy to report that, with one exception, I had reason to feel satisfied with the improvement manifest in the drill, discipline, and efficiency of the Force generally. Of the total strength, as above quoted, there are 1,478 efficient, or 83 per cent, on the whole. The officers and non-commissioned officers are now fairly conversant with their duties both in camp and on the parade ground, and consequently the performance of the ordinary military drill and routine is rendered comparatively easy and satisfactory to all concerned. As an instance I may mention that on the Force going into camp last Easter all ranks at once fell into their places, and all the details connected with settlement in camp were carried out quickly and without the least noise or confusion. It is in these respects that the value of continuous training becomes so apparent. The annual course of training, consisting of six days continuous training in camp at Easter, and twenty half days during the year in addition to shot practice, lectures, and musketry, was duly and satisfactorily carried out. In addition to the usual inspections the Force during the month of March underwent an inspection at the hands of Colonel Downes, R.A., Commanding Local Forces, South Australia, and Colonel Anderson, C.M.G., Commanding Local Forces, Victoria. These officers, after a critical examination of the Forces, were pleased to express their great satisfaction at the steadiness, discipline, and correctness of drill exhibited on the occasion; and they further considered that the appearance presented by the troops was creditable in every way. I may here mention that the New South Wales Artillery took part in this parade. I have no hesitation in affirming that the system of payment for services rendered has succeeded beyond expectation, and is fast developing the essentials of an effective military organization, and to an extent impossible to an unpaid Force. It may not be inopportune to attach to these returns the opinions of the various commanding officers as to the working of the system. These opinions I may remark were called for in order to assist the labours of the recent Royal Commission on Defences, which sat in Sydney at the commencement of last year.

The Musketry Returns for the past year show that 1,176 men, as against 1,132 men in previous year, went through a course of musketry with an improvement in the figure of merit of 28'66, as compared with 20'78.

Great difficulty, as I have frequently pointed out, exists in the drilling of recruits who alone attend at night, from the want of properly lighted and centrally situated drill sheds. In the metropolis the only drill ground available is situated at the Victoria Barracks, and consequently recruits have to make great personal sacrifices to attain the necessary standard of drill to be passed into the ranks.

No difficulty exists however in obtaining a sufficient supply of recruits.

Since my last report a corps with head quarters at Orange has been added to the 3rd Regiment of Infantry. In point of fact several offers of service have been lately received for the formation of corps in various parts of the Colony, but I understand their offers are likely to remain in abeyance until the military question is considered in connection with the forthcoming Report of the Royal Commission on Colonial Defence, now sitting in England.

A

A Royal Commission, of which Sir James Martin, Chief Justice, was President, sat during the past year, and reported upon the defences of New South Wales. The Commission practically confirmed the existing organization and system of training of the local Forces, recommending, however, an addition to the number of Permanent Artillery, the formation of a Permanent Artillery Reserve, an increase in the number of daylight drills per annum to the Volunteer Force, and the formation of a Volunteer Reserve. No action has been taken in regard to the recommendation of that Commission, nor is it I believe intended so to do until the report of the Royal Commission above referred to is promulgated.

I have, &c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,

Commandant.

True copy.—H. D. MACKENZIE, Captain, Acting Major of Brigade.

Lieutenant-Colonel Goodlet to Colonel Richardson.

Dear Sir,

Volunteer Office, 11 March, 1881.

In the year 1860 I was elected first Captain of the Glebe Company of Volunteer Rifles, which post I held till April, 1868, when I was promoted to Major of the Suburban Battalion, and which Corps I had the honor to command for ten years, till transferred to my present command in the N.S.W. Volunteer Infantry. I mention these facts merely to show that I ought to be in a position to give an opinion on the relative merits of the two Forces, as requested by you.

When the Volunteer Rifle Companies were started England was at war, and the members held well together while the excitement and apparent necessity lasted, but after two or three years, when the novelty wore off, and it became known that the fines could not be enforced, the attendance of many at parades became fitful, but some, I must say conscientiously, attended to their duties till the last, while others, who might have done likewise, got disgusted by coming up time after time without getting a satisfactory drill, owing to paucity of attendance.

Thus, when the land order system was introduced, many joined from mere mercenary considerations, and were satisfied so long as they made up the number of drills required to pass, but which were not sufficient to make them efficient, and, as might be expected, the result was very detrimental to the Force.

The organization of the present Force, the N.S.W. Volunteer Infantry, I think well adapted to the circumstances of the Colony, for while not withdrawing labour from the market it provides a Force equal to what a young community situated as this requires.

The men, as a rule, feel they are paid a fair equivalent for their services, and desire to do their part well in return, and what with this feeling and the power of inflicting and collecting fines discipline is more easily maintained than in the old Force.

The annual period of consecutive training is very beneficial, as the men not only learn camp duties but settle wonderfully down to their drill, and the difference between the steadiness of the men at the end and the commencement of the period of continuous training has to be experienced to be appreciated; and further, all parades must be held by daylight, and are well attended, as officers and men require to be present at not less than sixteen out of twenty to make them efficient, which I think a very good regulation.

From past experience and my knowledge as a large employer of labour (my firm employs more men than there are in 2nd Regiment), I am almost certain that it would be impossible to get an unpaid Volunteer Force to go through the continuous training and steady drill that the present paid Force does.

In conclusion I would suggest calling the Force the "Volunteer Militia," as I think that name would better describe what the Force really is.

I have, &c.,

JOHN H. GOODLET, Lieut.-Col.,

Commanding 2nd Regiment Volunteer Infantry.

Lieutenant-Colonel Wilson to Colonel Richardson.

Sir,

Sydney, 26 February, 1881.

I have the honor to state, with reference to your request calling for my report as to the working of the new system generally of the existing Volunteer Force, that it far exceeds my expectations, and have no hesitation in pronouncing the new Force a complete success.

The Artillery branch of the Force, which I have the honor to command, works admirably, and is very much superior to what the old Force was, and better disciplined, less irregularities occur, and very few complaints are heard of, the men nearly in every case, as witness the recent encampments, putting up cheerfully with all inconveniences. The stamp of men are superior and much steadier, and are much more regular in their attendance, as can be proved by referring to parades states. The officers under my command work harmoniously, and the same may be said of non-commissioned officers. Much credit is due to the adjutants and drill instructors for the appearance of the men on parade, as also their efforts in affording instruction by classes at night, and which are always well attended. In conclusion, I beg to state that in my opinion the Force as now organized could scarcely be improved on, and as the men see more service any defects in the ranks can be easily remedied.

I have, &c.,

WATSON WILSON, Lieut.-Col.,

Commanding N.S.W. R.V.A.

Major Wilkinson to Lieutenant-Colonel Christie.

Sir,

West Maitland, 24 February, 1881.

I have the honor, in reply to the Commandant's memo. dated 18th February, requesting the officers commanding regiments and corps to report on the working of the present organization of the Volunteer Force,—

With respect to the organization, sufficient time has hardly elapsed to give the present system a fair trial, but the experience gained so far shows it to be an improvement upon the old, both with regard to training, discipline, and practice of interior economy.

The

- Training. The training is conducted with more system, the instruction being carried on in a progressive manner and is conducive to implant habits of obedience and regularity of attendance, with more attention to appearance and soldierly bearing, consequently are more amenable to discipline, which can be more strictly enforced than was possible under the old system, where there was little or no check upon irregularity or misconduct, which under the new is enforced by forfeiture of pay or fines.
- New.
- Old.
- Interior economy. The practice of interior economy is getting better understood and enforced every day, and the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men are gradually being educated into the proper groove of individual responsibility, which, though considered irksome at first, is leading to a proper appreciation of its benefits, everything working smoothly and in order, and I have no hesitation in saying that as the members get more conversant with its working, no difficulty will be experienced in carrying out its provisions. Possibly some of the details in Act and Regulations may require a little amendment.
- Efficiency, Old Force members. Comparing the efficiency of the old with the present Force, great difficulty was always experienced in getting good musters under the old Regulations; there was no hold on the members to compel attendance, and provided they could get the minimum number necessary to constitute a drill, and put in (14) fourteen such attendances during the year, so as to qualify as efficient, they imagined they had done all that was required to constitute a good Volunteer.
- Officers. In consequence of this paucity of attendance officers were unable to improve themselves or to put in practice the theoretical knowledge obtained by study. This applied particularly to country districts, and when called out on periodical occasions for some grand parade with large bodies of men, the officers, from want of practice, were at sea—from no fault of their own, but because by reason of the small attendance were unable to practice their duties.
- Shooting, old Force. With respect to rifle practice,—with the exception of (say) 10 per cent. of the old Force, very little interest was taken by the members generally. These generally were men who were fond of it—who could afford time, and probably only joined upon account of the shooting. I consider, and I believe it is borne out by experience, that the present Force as a whole quite equals the old Force, as witness the high scores at the last Rifle Association matches, and the number of marksmen during the last course of musketry, 1880, will compare favourably with previous years. This I consider is accounted for by making the attendance at the annual course of musketry compulsory, and if a slight encouragement were given to marksmen, together with annual issue of efficiency ammunition, the result would be most satisfactory.
- New.
- Marksmen. There was little or no system of organization in the old Force, everything being conducted rather loosely—too much equality, and when occasionally officers carried on their duties strictly much dissatisfaction was the result.
- Examination. The examination before promotion I heartily agree with, and if the efficiency of the movement generally is to be successful it must be adhered to. Some are sure to grumble at failure, but if there is any esprit de corps one or two failures should not discourage any candidate. However, for first commissions I would recommend the first examination to be confined to drill, and to have a second one (say) after twelve or eighteen months' service. The men also take more pride in serving under officers who have passed their examination, and their commands are always more cheerfully obeyed. Under the old system I have seen officers and men arguing about the correctness of a movement or word of command.
- Payment of recruits. I am also in favour of recruits being allowed some compensation for their attendance at preliminary drill. It requires a little enthusiasm to attend these drills three times per week for three months (say) one and a half hour each drill, and it is acknowledged that this is the most irksome time in the Volunteer Service. A great many fall out during this training, but payment (say) at the rate of 1s. per drill, payable when dismissed drill, would act as an incentive, and ensure better and more regular attendance. Under the old system the date of a man's joining counted towards his five years' service, practically paying him for his recruit service.
- Recruits.
- Clothing. The present system of issuing clothing might be amended. Instead of issuing two complete sets, I would suggest that a period of twelve or eighteen months should elapse between issue.
- In favour of the present system, I have it on good authority that in a neighbouring Colony a somewhat similar system was in force, but on the score of economy reverted to the old system, and the whole Force, I am given to understand, is in a most unsatisfactory state. From my own experience, extending over a number of years (having joined in August, 1860), I believe the present system, with perhaps a few alterations which may be necessary as we gain more experience in the working, will turn out a fine trained body of men, fairly disciplined and acquainted with the arms of defence entrusted to them, and will, if ever called upon to do so, give a good account of themselves; but would, in addition, recommend the formation of at least (say) two companies of permanent infantry, because, in the case of invasion, Volunteers in this Colony would be at once called out to the front; they would be a valuable adjunct to the present Force.

I have, &c.,

ALEXR. WILKINSON, Major,
Commanding Northern Regiment.

Major Rowe to Colonel Richardson.

Sir,

In compliance with your memo., dated February 18th, I have the honor herewith to append my report on the working of the Volunteer Force new Regulations.

From practical experience I have found the present system to work admirably, and in my opinion requires very little amendment.

The more carefully the system is examined the greater the difficulty to suggest improvement.

At the enrolment I had no difficulty whatever in obtaining suitable professional men and tradesmen of all classes to the number allotted by the establishment, viz., 60.

I have experienced no difficulty in securing discipline under the new Regulations.

At the parades, working or otherwise, the men have been scrupulously punctual in their attendance. They have worked together cheerfully in their duties as engineers. The corps I have the honor to command is composed of intelligent tradesmen—young, strong, and healthy, capable of undertaking any mechanical work or undergoing fatigue.

I regard them equal in ability and endurance to any similar body of men.

The

The officers are professional men ; Commanding officer an architect ; 1st Lieutenant a first-class trigonometrical surveyor and engineer ; 2nd Lieutenant a civil engineer,—all of whom are practical, as well as theoretical, in their knowledge, competent to design and carry out any kind of military work that may be required of them ; and further, have the respect and confidence of the men whom they instruct.

The quarterly lectures of the officers, in accordance with the Regulations, have been well attended ; and may be considered a good school for imparting military instructions.

I am perfecting my plans for competitive examinations for non-commissioned officers' positions, also for prizes and badges, for which you kindly recommended the Government to vote the annual sum of £15, for military modelling, &c. All the models submitted will become the property of the Government, and will be retained in the school of Military Engineering for the instruction of the corps.

The only regret that I have to express is that the parades are not numerous enough for the purpose of instructing an engineer corps, who are expected, when brigaded, to be equal with other branches of the Force.

I find if the men are kept at working parades too often they fall off in infantry drill. I could profitably occupy the whole of the parades required by the Regulations in teaching engineering duties. In order to provide for remedying this, I would respectfully recommend ten moonlight parades during the year in addition to the day parades already provided for, and that six of the same should be compulsory.

I think the constitution of the Force, as regards the Naval Brigade, Torpedo Corps, and Engineers, is capable of being modified with advantage.

The Naval Brigade being a Colonial Force, and intended to operate in the immediate defence of the city and adjacent points on the coast, should be under the control of the Commander-in-Chief, and I think should be brought under the same system as that relating to the other branches of the service.

The duties of the Torpedo Corps being confined to one class of work, should I think be numerically weaker than the Engineer Corps, whose duties would, in the event of active service, be much more general. And portions of the corps would be required say at Botany, Newcastle, Port Jackson, and also with field force, which itself might possibly be operating in more than one locality.

For these reasons I think it would be wise to increase strength of the Engineer Corps, which is not up to the strength of the old corps existing eight years back.

I would also point out that the difference in remuneration existing between Torpedo and Engineer Corps, from commanding officer down, is undesirable.

I would also recommend that the mechanics in the infantry regiment, if desirous, should be allowed to obtain transfers to the Engineer Corps. It would be the means of keeping up the strength of the company and obtaining the most intelligent and efficient men.

I am inclined to think that four days only should be compulsory during continuous training ; notice to be forwarded to the Commanding Officer before going into camp, so as to regulate the camp duties ; and that written notice should be permitted to be received up to 4 p.m. on the evening before the camp, for all that are unable or prevented attending camp duties.

I regard the present Force vastly superior in all its branches to the old men.

A few parades at night, in order to fill up the vacuum between the day parades, will make the Force perfection, so far as perfection can be arrived at in training citizen soldiers.

The entire Force is now working as perfectly as possible. There is no jarring of its machinery that I know of, and it promises to be infinitely superior to anything we have had before. The men, as a body, are young, strong, and vigorous, capable of undergoing fatigue. They are active in duty in the field.

The remuneration I consider reasonable in comparison to the old Force, men who I consider obtained 15s. for every parade.

The attendance of the old Force in my company averaged twenty-nine drills per man per year.

The average price of land order, £100 ; therefore each man obtained the sum of nearly 14s. per drill for the period of five years.

In conclusion, is it not necessary that the commanding officers should have an intelligent knowledge of the surrounding country, by having access to all military survey plans, &c., showing the intended defence proposed ; or that meetings of commanding officers should be summoned periodically to study such matters ? Would not the work of defence be more effectively performed, having a thorough knowledge of what they might have to carry out ?

If not competent to be trusted with such information then such ought not to be in possession of a commission.

I have, &c.,

THOS. ROWE, Major,
Commanding Engineer Corps.

Lieutenant-Colonel Holborow to The Commandant.

Sir,

Head-quarters, 3rd Regiment V.I., 26 February, 1881.

The Government having appointed a Royal Commission for the purpose of considering and reporting upon the working of the Volunteer Force under the new organization, I do myself the honor of expressing my experience as Commanding Officer of the 3rd Regiment V.I. since its inauguration, with a view of assisting the Commission in its labours.

1st. I have found no difficulty whatever in securing suitable men to fill my regiment to its full strength, and men are always waiting to fill any vacancies that occur by change of residence, these men being nearly all farmers and mechanics, and their ages invariably ranging from 20 to 35 years. A regiment has been formed that has been highly complimented by His Excellency as an exceedingly fine and efficient body of men.

2nd. The system adopted, under which the men are paid according to attendance, has had a most beneficial effect. The men attend the parades most regularly ; the result is, a system of drill is carried out that under other circumstances could not be carried into effect, and as a natural consequence the men move and work together in a manner that, until the adoption of the new Regulations, was out of the question. The extra pay to the non-commissioned officers has conduced to the success of the movement, for they now betray an interest and anxiety for promotion, thus pay more attention to general efficiency, the general well-being of each corps being thereby attained.

3rd. To continuous training can, in my opinion, be attributed a large portion of the undoubted success of the new system. The men of my regiment look forward to the annual gathering with eagerness, and and I find that the few days during which the whole Force have an opportunity of working together has a wonderful effect. The men improve rapidly, and I find them more steady and generally more efficient than could be reasonably expected in so short a time; and out of a total of 299, the strength of my regiment, 285 were in attendance at last camp—a fact which speaks for the popularity of the Regulations. The strength of my regiment at the present time is 334, the full strength allowed by the Regulations being 342, the men required to complete its full strength being now under examination.

With a view of rendering an excellent system still nearer, in my opinion, perfection, I would, with all due deference to superior experience, offer the following suggestions:—

1st. That the strength of each corps be increased to 100.

2nd. That the continuous training be increased to eight days.

3rd. That having in view the spirit infused by music into military matters, each country corps be allowed a band of ten musicians, and as they now possess the instruments, and men can be readily found to use them, the expense will be inconsiderable.

4th. That the uniform supplied to my regiment having been so slovenly and carelessly made, and the quality of the material indifferent, a man, no matter how tidy, cannot possibly look really well; and I would strongly suggest that, instead of allowing one firm to secure the making of the whole quantity, the officers commanding regiments be allowed to invite and deal with tenders for the supply of their several regiments, or that a Board be appointed, who shall see that all contracts are carried out better and more speedily than has hitherto been the case.

5th. That in future each man should be supplied with one suit of uniform for drill purposes, of the same style as that now used, and also one for inspection and reviews, the tunic of which shall be of cloth, similar to that issued to the old Volunteer Force.

In conclusion, I would express my firm conviction of the utter impossibility of forming and keeping together a purely Volunteer Force. The attempt has been made upon three several occasions in New South Wales, failure in each instance being the result. It is, in my opinion, out of the question for men to give their spare time to drill without some remuneration, especially when there are so many attractions which absorb it.

I have, &c.,

WM. H. HOLBOROW, Lieut.-Col.,
Commanding 3rd Regt. V.I.

Lieutenant-Colonel Raymond to The Commandant.

Sir,

1st Regiment Volunteer Infantry, Sydney, 28 February, 1881.

In reference to your confidential memo. of 18th instant, I have the honor to state that in my opinion the working of the new system generally is far superior to the former organization; and I need only point, in confirmation of my belief, to the present state of the Force as compared with that under the old Regulations.

Superior, however, as the present organization is, there is doubtless room for improvement, especially in regard to the officers. In many of them there is not that esprit de corps that should exist, and which I attribute in a great measure to the system of election to first commissions, which still stands part of the Act. A partial remedy would, I think, be achieved by direct appointments, on the recommendation of the officer commanding regiments or corps, the nominations to be as far as possible selected from the respective corps. The elimination from the Regulations of the term volunteer, all brigade changes, dress regulations, or other matters, to be by general order, not by the votes of the officers; and regimental matters to be similarly worked by the officers commanding, subject, of course, to the general provisions of the Act and Regulations. I think such a regulation would have a good effect, by doing away with discussion, as we all know there are some who oppose the majority, often merely for opposition sake.

The present system of training, as carried out in the 1st Regiment, has, I venture to assert, resulted in a marked improvement in the non-commissioned officers and in the steadiness of the men under arms. The improvement in interior economy is the result of the period of continuous training, prior to which most in the service were utterly ignorant of this necessary branch of duty, solely from lack of practical teaching. I believe it would be wise to extend the system further, by giving to each regiment the control of the clothing, which should be obtained from Home, in the same manner that troops on foreign service are supplied. While on this subject I would call attention to the present dress. The Norfolk jacket is a very good working dress; but when used for shooting, drill, &c., it is not fit for parade purposes. No one will deny that a soldier should appear smart and clean on parade, which they cannot do with the present dress; and I need only point to the different appearance as regards dress between the Permanent and Volunteer Artillery on the parade of last Saturday—the one with gold lace, white belts, and tunics; the other, silver lace, brown belt, and bad fitting Norfolk jacket. I respectfully maintain these distinctions should not be. The whole defence force of the Colony should be treated alike in every way, especially as to equipment, and I venture to assert that a more cordial feeling than at presents exists in the Force will be the result of such a course.

I should also recommend the formation of a reserve, admitting at once all old Volunteers, and hereafter only such as have passed through the ranks of the present Force, to appear for inspection once a quarter, at Commandant's Brigade Parade; that full forage should be allowed to all mounted officers; a cavalry corps to be formed in the country districts, and two companies each to be added to the Head-quarter Regiments of Infantry, with two supernumerary officers besides, which would enable these battalions to be drilled as 8-company battalions; a band allowance to each regiment, to be supplemented by a small subscription from the officers; a mess allowance for the formation and maintenance of a brigade mess, in connection with reading-room and military library for reference, to be also supplemented by subscription from officers.

Musketry instruction I have always believed should be carried out by the staff of the respective regiment, and see no reason to alter my opinion.

I would also mention for your consideration the advisability of substituting the following arrangement for detached drill, viz.:—Three day drills, and substituting therefor seven night parades (principally company drill); the number of drills for efficiency standing at thirteen day parades and four night drills. This would free the men for three more Saturdays during the year. The extra money required for these seven drills could be obtained from the three days parade struck off, and deducting a pound from the efficiency money at the end of year, making it £3 instead of £4. It

It must be obvious to all conversant with the present organization and the old, that without some remuneration it would be impossible to obtain the services of the men for continuous training, or the necessary number of day parades to establish a proper standard of efficiency. At same time I am induced to make the foregoing suggestions as to the substitution of a few night drills for day parades, believing that such a modification, while being acceptable to the general body of the regiment, might be introduced without deterioration to the Force.

I trust I have not strayed beyond the intention of your memo. in this short outline of some of the salient points of the new organization, which it has struck me might be improved upon, and which may be summed up as follows:—

- Abolishing the system of election.
- General and regimental orders to take the place of meetings of officers in matters affecting the brigade and regiment, such as changes of dress, &c.
- Regiments to have control of clothing.
- Tunics to be supplied, and white belts; and all distinctions as to lace, &c., to be abolished in the Force.
- Formation of a reserve.
- Forage.
- Formation of a cavalry corps.
- Head-quarter regiments of infantry to be strengthened.
- Band allowance to regiments.
- Allowance for brigade mess and reading-room, library, &c.
- Musketry instruction.
- Alteration in detached drills in regard to efficiency.

I have, &c.,
R. PEEL RAYMOND, Lieutenant-Colonel,
Commanding 1st Regiment Volunteer Infantry.

REMARKS in reference to the Organization of the Volunteer Force.

Commissioned Officers.

I AM of opinion that clause 24, directing that all candidates for a commission must have passed the Junior Civil Service examination or one of a higher degree is unnecessary, as many members of the corps are scientific men, trained to some particular branch of science, in consequence of which they are exempt from the rule relating to clerical appointments in the Civil Service, and are not required to pass the Civil Service examinations; and I think this should also apply to non-commissioned officers or privates whose practical knowledge of the special duties of the corps would otherwise render them eligible.

Discipline.

Clause 86.—The whole system of fines is in my opinion unsatisfactory, because it takes away from commanding officers all discretionary power in inflicting them, leaving out of consideration the opportunity that officer has of knowing the offenders' previous conduct or the repeated or aggravated nature of the offence; and I need hardly point out that the fact that if the immediate commander of the corps was invested with a discretionary power as to the amount of the fine, it would have a most beneficial effect as regards its discipline.

Clause 104.—In this case I cannot see why buglers should be compelled to go through a course of musketry instruction, which is described as consisting of four nights' position drill and sixty rounds target practice.

Clause 105.—I consider that the number of parades ordered is nothing like sufficient to ensure the efficiency of a corps like the Torpedo and Signalling Corps, which, in addition to the duties peculiarly its own (such as a knowledge of electricity, signalling, boating, diving, and other matters essential to its usefulness),* has to be as well up in military drill as any other corps. In my experience at any rate it is expected to perform those duties on brigade parades with the same accuracy as corps whose one and only duty it is to practise the same.

* See attached list of duties A.

Clause 110.—I cannot see why the inspection (the most important parade of the year, as by it the efficiency of the several branches of the Force is tested by the Inspecting Officer) should be the only parade from which absence with leave can be granted and the person to whom such leave is granted can be returned efficient.

Clause 119.—If a member is taken ill on the morning of the camp, perhaps after he has fallen in to proceed there, and a medical certificate to that effect is given, it cannot alter the case as regards the efficiency of such member. While on this subject of inability to attend parade, I might mention the case of Private J. Miller, of my corps, who was suddenly taken ill on the night of the lecture to the corps in 1879. He had attended every parade and had gone through musketry instruction (for which the lecture had been substituted), but, although the medical certificate was sent in, and the circumstances explained, he was returned non-efficient.

In my opinion, the present organization does not work so satisfactorily as the one the corps served under originally, viz., £1 per month for privates, and a parade weekly, two at night and two at day per month, with power to inflict fines for absence, the amount of such fine to be at the discretion of the commanding officer.

Under that system the corps was far more efficient, especially in their infantry drill and signalling.

Under present arrangements there is no provision made to empower the commanding officer of the corps to insist on its being practised in night duty on the water, a most necessary part of its duties.

In a corps of this sort (formed I may say from the Electric Telegraph Department of the Colony) I consider that the rules laid down for efficiency require great relaxation.

These members of the corps are liable at any moment to be sent on Government duty in the country for periods varying from one or more months, and, although granted leave from their military duties, are mulcted in the amount due for efficiency, when in reality they are already efficient. One instance I may mention is that of Sergeant Corbett, who was sent to Melbourne in October last by the Government to take charge of the electrical exhibits, &c., shown by the Telegraph Department of New South Wales at the International Exhibition.

Corbett

Corbett left in October last, since which, up to the end of the year, there were five parades that he could not attend, and of course lost his efficiency for 1880.

If he does not return till close of Exhibition he will be unable to attend the continuous training, which will render him non-efficient for this year also—a loss to him of over £17. It would be a great improvement if parades at night by moon or gas-light for drill purposes in addition to the present day-light parades were allowed, and the commanding officer to have power to fine absentees from such parades.

The system of paying once a quarter is unsatisfactory. Monthly payments would be a greater incentive to regular attendance than the present system.

In conclusion, I would suggest that, at any rate for this corps, there should be thirty-five parades per annum, twenty of which should be by day and fifteen by night.

That provision be made to pay monthly.

That in cases of absence with leave, on Government duty, or sickness duly certified to, such absence shall not vitiate the efficiency of such men.

That the regulation which orders that a recruit who has joined in the last quarter of any year, and who possibly has not attended a single parade after he was passed into the ranks, provided he does a course of musketry, receives the same pay for efficiency as the man who has attended every duty during the whole year, requires revision.

E. C. CRACKNELL, Major,
Major Commanding Torpedo and Signalling Corps.

According to the last War Office Manual the following is a complete list of subjects in which a submarine miner should be thoroughly well trained :—

Rowing.	Drying gun-cotton.
Sculling.	Testing detonators.
General handiness in boats.	Adjusting relays.
Taking soundings.	Connecting circuits with relay.
Use of sextant.	Making up primers for ground mines, buoyant, and electro-contact mines.
Knotting and splicing.	Fitting up test table.
Making grummets.	Daily testing.
Making fenders.	Shutter apparatus.
Bending thimbles to wire ropes.	Testing firing battery.
Signalling with flags and lamps.	Testing charges.
Limelight.	Testing electro-contact mines.
Army and Navy code.	Testing galvanometers.
Morse sound reading.	Finding liquid resistance of batteries.
Telephone.	Use of dynamo-electric exploder.
Crowning cables.	Use of reflecting galvanometer.
Soldering and jointing cores.	Use of condenser.
Splicing cables.	Testing cables.
Laying out, picking up, and grappling cables.	Knowledge of principles of electricity and magnetism.
Loading mines.	Working out electric examples.
Connecting up mines and making water- tight joints.	Working electric light.
Lowering mines into boats.	Mechanical mines.
Laying out mines.	Passive obstructions.
Raising mines.	Improvised apparatus.
Work at junction box.	Engine-driving.
Hydraulic testing.	Diving, submarine mining, and general service.
Making up batteries.

The Acting Commandant to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 15 January, 1883.

I have the honor to forward herewith, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, the Annual State connected with the Military Department, dated the 1st instant.

PERMANENT ARTILLERY.

THE strength of the Permanent Artillery on the 1st January was 315 of all ranks, being 5 below the establishment. Much difficulty has been found in keeping up the strength of this Corps during the year, in consequence of the state of the labour market in the Colony, which has operated to prevent men joining, as also to cause many to leave who would otherwise have re-engaged for a second or third period of service, and to encourage desertion. The fact of the Government having however, in July last, consented to give bonuses ranging from £75 to £50 to non-commissioned officers and men completing a total service of 10 years, as also a bonus of £5, and kit allowance of £3 to men re-engaging for further terms of service, will, I have no doubt, have a considerable effect in inducing for the future, a larger proportion of non-commissioned officers and gunners to complete a second or third period of service. The retention of a certain leaven of old soldiers, especially in such a service as the Artillery, is eminently desirable, both from an efficiency and disciplinary point of view. The conduct of the men of the Corps has, on the whole, been good, the number of Courts-martial in 1882 having been 21, as against 18 in 1881. The number of discharges in 1882 has been:—3 by disability, 5 by sentence of Courts-martial or on account of incorrigible character, 10 by purchase, 48 on expiration of term of service, as against 5, 21, 18, and 31 respectively in 1881. The number of desertions has been 46 in 1882, as against 31 in 1881. It is much to be desired that some mutual arrangement should be come to by the various Australian Colonies for the arrest of deserters leaving the one Colony for the other. At present this cannot be effected. The fact of Permanent Artillery Corps now existing in South Australia and Victoria would seem to give those Colonies at least an interest in coming to some mutual understanding with New South Wales on this subject. The facility with which men can abscond, and the immunity they thus enjoy from arrest, are powerful encouragements to desertion, and it need scarcely be added that every deserter costs a considerable sum of money to the Government. The number of admissions to Hospital in 1882 has been 184, resulting principally from injuries and chest ailments. There were 3 deaths during the year. The number of recruits examined in 1882 has been 305; the number passed into the ranks, 163. It will be noted what a large proportion of men are found unfit for the duties of Artillerymen, duties requiring a specially sound physique, and good constitution. The work done by this Corps during the year in the moving, mounting, and dismounting of ordnance, has been especially heavy, involving the transit of two 25-ton guns from the ship's side to Middle Head; the moving and mounting of the armament of three 9-inch R.M.L. guns, and four 80-pounders, at the new fort at Newcastle; the moving and mounting of two 9-inch M.L.R. guns, and two 80-pounders, at the new fort at Bare Island; and the dismounting of guns at Middle Head, and elsewhere, to admit of the prosecution of the changes in the works being carried out under Major-General Scratchley's superintendence. A considerable amount of other work has been done in connection with the moving of Artillery material, such as shot, shell, platforms, &c., &c. The whole of this work has been done in a manner very creditable to the Corps, and to Lieut.-Colonel Spalding, who has been charged with the carrying out of the greater portion of it. On inspection of the Corps I had but few complaints submitted to me, and found the forts and stores under its charge in excellent order, the Barrack rooms clean, and the system of discipline generally in accord (as required by law) with that existing in the Imperial Army. The drill of the men was good, when the large number of young soldiers in the ranks, and the number of detachments given, is taken into consideration. I may however perhaps be permitted to draw attention to the evil results likely to be brought about by the existing state of things in connection with the stoppage of promotion among the Officers of this Corps.

VOLUNTEER FORCE.

The strength of the Volunteer Force on the 1st instant was 1,686 of all ranks, or 114 below its establishment, the difference being caused by the fact that men who have failed to qualify for the efficiency grant, payable on the 1st January, frequently leave towards the end of the preceding year, as also by the difficulty found in the country districts, with the limited staff, in carrying on the musketry course of the various scattered corps annually, and at the same time providing with sufficient frequency for the instruction of recruits to fill the vacancies caused by men becoming non-effective.

In addition to the ordinary curriculum of detached drills, musketry, &c., the Force was encamped for six days at Middle Head and the Victoria Barracks, and subjected to a rigid course of instruction in the work connected with the service of the several arms, the Infantry more especially being practised in outpost duty and the construction of shelter trenches. The attendance of the Force was exceptionally good, being 109 in excess of that of any previous year since the new Regulations have been in force. The men worked cheerfully and well, although subjected to really heavy work, to which very many of them must be but little accustomed.

The musketry for the year, under Captain Compton's superintendence, has been carried out in a satisfactory manner, although the fact of every man of the Infantry having to go through annually instead of every two years, as under the old Volunteer system, entails much additional work on the staff. The number of men exercised has been about the average; but the figure of merit of the shooting shows a very substantial improvement in the rifle shooting skill of the Force, a matter for especial congratulation. The number of men leaving the Force every year is large—in 1882 nearly 500 fully trained—owing to the migratory character of much of our population; but although a considerable amount of work is cast on the Regimental Staff and Company Officers by this, as also considerable expense on the Government, there still remains the fact that a large number of men passing through the ranks is thus trained to drill and the use of arms. There has been during the past year an entire failure in the system of supplying clothing to the Volunteer Force, the contractor—Mr. Nicholson—having carried out the work in a most unsatisfactory manner, a very large number of men having now no clothing who should have received it many months ago. The change in the mode of supplying and fitting clothing which has been introduced this year (1883) in connection with both the Permanent and Volunteer branches of the service will, however, I believe, reduce to a minimum such complaints in the future.

The

The change referred to consists in drawing the clothing direct, in assorted sizes, from the Store Department, and fitting it by the aid of departmental master tailors, assisted in some instances by local contract. In conclusion I may say that at the annual inspection I found the Force generally in a satisfactory condition. That on the whole its organization, while admitting of minor amendments, is such as meets the wants of such a community as our own, is, I think, proved by the fact that it has been practically adopted in Queensland, and is so officially proposed for adoption in Victoria and Tasmania.

FORTIFICATIONS.

As before stated, the new works constructed to defend the entrances to Newcastle and Botany Bay have (with the exception of two guns now on the spot awaiting arrival from England of new iron carriages) had the guns mounted in them; but the magazines in these works are not yet completed. Were this work at once carried out they would be ready for defensive service, although the barrack accommodation still remains to be provided. Some months since it being found that the many other duties devolving on the men of the Permanent Artillery, and the necessity for perfecting their instruction in the varied descriptions of ordnance now in use, did not admit of such working parties being found as would enable the works of entrenchment at Middle and South Heads to be completed within any reasonable time, the further execution of these works was transferred to the Colonial Architect by order of the Minister. It is to be hoped that the completion of them, as well as the construction of the emplacements for the 25-ton guns at Middle Head, of the redoubt above George's Head, and the new casemate battery below George's Head may be accelerated, as the system of defence proposed for the northern side of Sydney Harbour is now in a very incomplete state. It is also to be hoped that the barrack accommodation at Newcastle and Bare Island may be provided as soon as possible. The guns being mounted in these localities men must be kept there to look after them, who are now lodged, and will be till the barracks are built, in much discomfort.

MILITARY STORES.

During the year extensive orders for military stores have been sent to England, including 2,000 sets of military accoutrements, 8 Gatling guns complete, a number of pack-saddles and carts for carriage, and supply of small-arm ammunition waggons to complete equipment of 16-pounder M.L.R. field battery; as also limbers for 40-pounder guns of position, together with a considerable quantity of harness for gun-teams, and 3 new-pattern iron gun-carriages for garrison service.

A most essential want will have been met when these stores have been received. In addition, a large supply of ammunition of various kinds—artillery, small-arm, and Gatling—has been ordered, in view of bringing the stock up to a certain definite scale. A recommendation as to the minimum number of rounds to be kept up of every description of ammunition has also been submitted to the Minister, and it has been recommended that the Treasury should be desired never to let the supply get below such scale.

Finally, I would take this opportunity of drawing attention to the following matters which the efficiency of the department requires should meet with consideration, viz., the simplification of the administrative arrangements in connection with the Barrack department, Ordnance Store and Works services, the proper drainage of the Victoria Barracks, the provision of a central drill-hall for Volunteer use in the metropolis, as also of a military library and reading-room, centrally situated, for the officers of the Volunteer Force, the creation of a Reserve for both the Permanent and Volunteer Forces, and the disbandment of the old Volunteer Force.

As respects the first I may observe that it is an axiom of military administration that any Military Force should be complete in itself, that it should not be obliged to have recourse for assistance to departments outside, as also, that the supply services should be (as indeed they are in every army in the world) under the orders of the Military Commandant. Here an entirely different system prevails, leading to delay, and to a diffused and undefined responsibility. If this be so in peace it is easy to see how it must be in the event of active operations.

The drainage of the Victoria Barracks has been in a very bad state for years, low fever having become endemic in them, and money for several years having been placed on the Estimates to remedy these evils, but not expended.

The provision of a central drill-shed for the Volunteer Force is very essential, seeing the only ground now available for recruit drill is at the Victoria Barracks, which is by no means a central situation, the effect being that recruiting is to a great extent limited to the portions of Sydney immediately adjacent to the Barracks. A gymnasium and a reading-room might well be connected with such central drill-shed. Amusement and instruction would thereby be combined, and a social meeting-place provided which could not be without its use in holding the Volunteer Force together and popularizing it. A reading-room is also urgently required, and might be connected with it, where officers could meet, and where those of them who are so inclined might find the means for military study and the perusal of the contemporary literature of war.

The creation of a Reserve for both the Permanent and Volunteer branches of the service is most desirable, inasmuch as the number of men available is not now such as with our expanded armament we require. The cost of the maintenance of such would be comparatively small, seeing the existing staff would suffice for its training, &c.—some £25 per annum for each man affiliated to the Permanent Force, £4 per annum for each Volunteer. The formation of such a Reserve is but the complement to the system of organization now existing in connection with the two branches of our Military Forces, and, in addition to increasing our numerical strength, would otherwise have a most beneficial effect on them, as creating additional bonds between the Military Forces of the country and the general public. The continued existence on paper of the old Volunteer Force, while in no way adding to the military strength of the Colony, is creative of embarrassing administrative situations.

During the month of January, 1882, Colonel Richardson proceeded on leave of absence to England, the performance of his duties being undertaken by Colonel Roberts, of the New South Wales Artillery. On that officer himself proceeding to England in March, I was nominated by the Government to the command of the Military Forces, and Lieut.-Colonel Spalding to the special charge of the Artillery.

I have, &c.,

W. B. B. CHRISTIE, Lt.-Col.,
Acting Commandant.

P.S.—The reasons which, as stated in this report, tended to reduce the strength of the Volunteer Force on the 31st December having already ceased to operate, it is on this date (15/1/83) within 40 of its establishment, the greater portion of this deficiency being caused by the inability of the Torpedo Corps to obtain the services of the particular class of mechanics, &c., which it requires.

W.B.B.C., Lt.-Col.

---

True copy.—H. D. MACKENZIE, Captain, Acting Major of Brigade.

---

Sydney : Thomas Richards, Government Printer.—1884.

[1s. 3d.]

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

PERMANENT AND VOLUNTEER MILITARY FORCES.

(REPORT AND RETURN OF, FOR 1883.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 4 June, 1884.

The Commandant to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

I have the honor to submit the Annual Report and Return of the Permanent and Volunteer Military Forces of the Colony for the past year.

PERMANENT ARTILLERY.

The strength of the Permanent Artillery on the 1st of January last was 310—the establishment being 320 of all ranks. In connection with this subject, there would appear to be certain causes which militate particularly against the maintenance of the corps at all times to its full strength. For instance, during the past year there were no less than 78 discharges, of which 6 were for disability; 15 by purchase; 41 on termination of limited engagement; 2 by ignominy; 11 for incorrigible and worthless conduct; and 3 as not being likely to become efficient artillerymen. In addition, 64 were lost to the corps by desertion, and 2 by death; thus making a total of 144, as against 120 in 1882.

The most serious loss results from desertion, which I am of opinion may in part be accounted for by reason of the high rate of wages ruling the labour market, and the extraordinary facilities which exist for men who from one cause or another become dissatisfied with the Service, to desert to the neighbouring Colonies, where comparative security from apprehension is afforded. I also think that numbers of new arrivals make use of the Military Service merely as a convenience, by enlisting with no positive intention of loyally carrying out their engagements. These desert as opportunity offers to better their condition. This evil might to some extent be met by the restriction of recruiting, as a rule, to those who have been resident in the Colony, say for twelve months, and who can produce satisfactory credentials. The costly drain to which the corps is normally subject may be judged from the fact, that no less than 163 recruits were passed into the ranks in 1882, and 141 in 1883; thus, of a force of only 306, exclusive of officers, it would at first sight appear that no less than 304 are soldiers of less than two years' service. This is however not quite the case, for the new element is to be debited with a proportion of the annual loss; but it may be roughly computed that close on four-fifths of the corps are recruits. Instead therefore of the Permanent Artillery being composed for the most part of highly trained gunners—such as the country has a right to expect—it is in point of fact composed of men far below the professional standard of efficiency, for competent authorities hold that an efficient gunner cannot be made under eighteen months or two years, and that too in England, where he is trained and instructed under the most complete and favourable circumstances.

The desirability of retaining in the ranks a certain proportion of old soldiers has always been recognized by the military authorities, and accordingly the Government was induced in 1882 to grant bonuses, with the object of encouraging non-commissioned officers and men of good character to remain in the Service. These however have since been abandoned, on the score, I presume, of economy, although it may very well be questioned whether after all the sum thus spent as a retaining fee was not in reality cheaper than having to supply and instruct large bodies of recruits, to say nothing of the superior efficiency of a force composed of a good leaven of old soldiers, as compared to that which at present exists.

Common

[740 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £2 11s. 3d.]

Common sense would indicate that it is futile to expect men to devote the best years of their lives to a profession which holds out no prospective advantages, and in which a lower rate of remuneration prevails than is to be found in civil occupations. Soldiers of ordinary intelligence recognize the fact that under the present system they must eventually be thrown back into civil life in a worse condition as regards learning a handicraft, or of otherwise earning their living, and providing for the future, than would have been the case had they abstained altogether from entering the Service; consequently, it is not surprising they should refuse to continue a career fraught with such personal disadvantages.

It follows that if a highly trained body of men is to be available on an emergency, bonuses for re-enlistment must be given, together with an increase of emolument in the shape of deferred pay—supplemented by the right of non-commissioned officers and gunners of exemplary character, after certain service, to succeed to such positions of trust in the Government Service, as constables, messengers, warders, porters, &c.—provided always their other qualifications are equal to the requirements thereof. Whilst on this subject I take the liberty of advocating, as a condition of enlistment, that recruits should be possessed of a simple educational standard, such as the power to read and write correctly.

The conduct of the men has, as a general rule, been good, still it cannot be denied that the number of Courts-martial, thirty-five, as compared with twenty in 1882, is not entirely satisfactory, but here again the want of means to induce experienced non-commissioned officers to remain in the Force exercises a prejudicial effect upon discipline. It is well known that there is hardly any greater provocation of crime than non-commissioned officers wanting in that tact, temper, and firmness in dealing with men, which can only be gained by experience, combined with special qualifications.

At the annual inspection of the corps, I found the drill good; the arms, clothing, and accoutrements in good order; the barrack-rooms and out-offices clean; the Brigade and Battery Books were correctly kept and posted; the system of discipline and interior economy in accordance with that laid down in the Queen's Regulations, &c. A few complaints were preferred of an unimportant character, which were duly dealt with. The corps went into camp at Easter, conjointly with the Volunteer Artillery, at Middle Head, and a small portion with the Field Battery of Volunteer Artillery at Windsor. This intimate association I regard as of great value, in tending to cement the bond of good feeling which should exist under a community of interests between all branches of the Defence Forces, as also in holding up as an example the higher standard of efficiency which must necessarily be exhibited by bodies under regular training.

The number of cases admitted into hospital was 214, which may be enumerated under the following heads:—

- (a) Diseases of the genito-urinary organs, 46.
- (b) Alimentary canal, 12.
- (c) Respiratory organs, 40.
- (d) Nervous system, 7.
- (e) Acute, specific, and general, 59.
- (f) Injuries, &c., 45.

During the year two deaths occurred, from inflammation of the brain and phthisis respectively. The men discharged as unfit for service were six, of which four were suffering from epilepsy, one from hernia, and one from gonorrhoeal rheumatism. The state of the hospital and general arrangements reflects great credit on Staff-Surgeon Williams, who has been but a short time appointed to the medical charge of the corps. That officer reports the drainage of the Victoria Barracks defective, and that it is only by the exercise of excessive vigilance that the Barracks are not in a condition highly dangerous to health.

I also inspected the various outlying forts, barracks, magazines, ordnance, and stores; found them in excellent order and condition.

The Military Provost in the Victoria Barracks was in good order, and conducted strictly in accordance with the Imperial Regulations. The management has of late materially improved, under the supervision of an active and intelligent Provost Sergeant.

It is much to be regretted that the matters affecting the promotion of a subaltern to the vacant captaincy, which has existed since the formation of the third battery in 1877, have not yet been arranged, as it is to be feared that a spirit of distrust and ill-feeling has, in consequence sprung up amongst the officers generally, and that the corps itself has suffered considerably in the eyes of the public.

The Permanent Artillery, in addition to their customary duties, have been engaged in road-making, the formation of parade grounds at Middle and South Heads, the mounting and dismounting of ordnance, also the transport of iron shields to positions contiguous to the batteries in which they are to be permanently fixed.

Provision in the Estimates of the year was made for the formation of a Permanent Artillery Reserve; but, from one cause or another, nothing has yet been done. It is, however, to be expected that during the current year the Reserve will be duly established.

VOLUNTEER FORCE.

The strength of the Volunteer Force serving under the partially paid system was, on the 1st January last, 1,798, out of an establishment of 1,968, thus showing a deficit of 170. This may be accounted for by the cessation of recruiting towards the end of the year, to enable the staff to complete outstanding work prior to the commencement of the duties of the new year; in addition to which, men who have failed to qualify as efficient, in many instances leave towards the end of the year. Two companies of Infantry have lately been added to the establishment. No difficulty exists as regards the supply of recruits.

During the past year I inspected the various regiments and corps, and had every reason to be satisfied with the drill, the state of the clothing (except as hereafter noted), and the arms and accoutrements. The books were properly posted, and for the most part showed an improvement over previous years.

The

The Force, in addition to the training on detached days throughout the year, went into camp at Easter for six days' training, and numbered 1,569 out of 1,800 on the roll. The Garrison Artillery and Torpedo Corps encamped as usual at Middle Head, near the Main Harbour Batteries and Torpedo Stations. The former were employed chiefly with gun-drill, and the latter with scientific experiments. That portion denominated the Field Force, and composed of Field Artillery, Engineers, and Infantry, encamped at Windsor, on a site most favourable for drill and manœuvre, and was exercised in the formation of guards, outposts, shelter-trenches, and rifle-pits, field artillery movements, battalion and brigade drill, and manœuvre on an extended scale, together with the attack and defence of positions. It is particularly gratifying to note the beneficial effect which previous periods of continuous training have had on the force, by enabling it from the time of marching into camp to perform the usual field and camp duties with the regularity, ease, and absence of confusion appertaining rather to regular troops. All ranks entered with spirit into their duties, and generally comported themselves to the entire satisfaction of the officers in command of camps.

During the past year no less than five-sixths of the entire Force qualified as efficient, which fact, combined with the practice of a proper regimental system of interior economy, together with the steadiness, discipline, and good conduct which has marked the Force on all occasions, entitles it, in my opinion, to be deemed reliable. It is due to commanding officers to note that they take a pride in their commands, and to the officers and non-commissioned officers generally, that they support authority and render, as indeed do the rank and file, a cheerful obedience to orders.

Notwithstanding the increased facilities afforded by the assistance and superintendence of a master tailor, the issue of clothing has been very unsatisfactory, by the failure of the contractor to supply in sufficient quantities. Even that supplied was, as a rule, in such large sizes as to necessitate re-making. Much dissatisfaction and inconvenience has naturally been caused by the contractor's inability to carry out the terms of his contract.

The whole of the Force has been recently supplied with the modified valise equipment (pattern 1882), which it is intended to issue on such occasions as going into camp, &c. Buff leather accoutrements have been substituted for those of brown leather, with the effect of adding materially to the smart appearance of the men.

The annual course of musketry, conducted by Major Compton, a most painstaking officer, was attended by 1,227 men (exclusive of 180 artillery recruits) and may be subdivided as follows:—

Marksmen, and 1st classmen, 437 (of which 207 are in the former category); 2nd classmen, 397; 3rd classmen, 393.

The average of the Engineer and Torpedo Corps, and Infantry Regiments, was 66·05—percentage of 3rd classmen 32·02—with a figure of merit of 34·03, as against 35·66 in 1882.

During the past year amended regulations have been issued with the view of forming a Volunteer Reserve, composed of corps serving under a purely voluntary system i.e. receiving State-aid in the shape of arms, accoutrements, ammunition, instruction, and a capitation allowance for provision of clothing, and incidental expenses. This body is intended to be affiliated, as far as practicable, to the partially paid regiments; and, in point of fact, to form part of such, with however a comparatively modified course of training. One battery of Artillery and two companies of Infantry are now in course of formation, and the Government has under consideration the extension of the movement. Advantage was taken of the change in the regulations, to increase the number of drills of the partially paid Force, from twenty to thirty-two—half of which will be held by day, and half by night—and in addition to the continuous training in camp, shot practice, lectures, and musketry.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,
Commandant.

Sydney, 20th February, 1884.

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

CLOTHING FOR VOLUNTEER FORCE, 1881 AND 1882.
(CORRESPONDENCE, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 9 October, 1883.

RETURN to an Order, made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly, dated 24th April, 1883, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all correspondence, minutes, documents, and other papers “having reference to all Contracts for the supply of Clothing for the “Volunteer Force during the years 1881* and 1882.”

(Mr. Holborow.)

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. Thomas L. Nicholson.

Sir, The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 21 May, 1881.
I have the honor to inform you that the Colonial Treasurer is prepared to accept your tender for the supply of clothing, &c., for the Volunteer Force during the year 1882, provided that you submit, in place of Mr. Hutchinson, who is not known by this Department, another surety of whom he can approve. 15½ per cent. off schedule price.
I have, &c.,
JAMES THOMSON,
For U.S.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. Nicholson.

Sir, The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 26 May, 1881.
Referring to Treasury letter, S.766, of the 21st instant, in which you were informed that the Colonial Treasurer was prepared to accept your tender for the supply of clothing for the Volunteer Force in the year 1882, subject to your submitting (in the place of Mr. Hutchinson) a surety of whom he could approve, I have now the honor to state, by Mr. Watson's direction, that unless the name of a gentleman of whom he can approve as a surety be submitted by the 31st instant, together with a certificate from the person so named, to the effect that he is willing to become bound in the sum specified in the conditions of contract (£1,200), the conditional approval in question will be withdrawn, and such arrangements made in regard to the acceptance of another tender as may seem best for the interests of the Public Service.
I have, &c.,
G. EAGAR.

Mr. W. Harris to The Colonial Treasurer.

Dear Sir, Corn Exchange, Haymarket, 30 May, 1881.
Referring to your letter of 26th May, I have the honor to inform you that I am willing to become security for the sum wanted, viz., £1,200, for the due performance of Mr. Nicholson's tender for Volunteer clothing.
I am, &c.,
W. HARRIS.

May be accepted.—J.W., 3/6/81. Mr. Ross. Inform Mr. Nicholson.—G.E., 4/6/81.
Done.—M.R., 4.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. Nicholson.

Sir, The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 4 June, 1881.
Referring to correspondence in the matter of your tender for Volunteer clothing for the year 1882, and to Mr. W. Harris's letter of the 30th ultimo, in which he undertakes to become one of your sureties in connection with the contract, I have now the honor, by direction of the Colonial Treasurer, to inform you that such tender has been accepted.
I have, &c.,
G. EAGAR.

The

* There is no correspondence in connection with the Volunteer Clothing Contract for 1881, beyond the notification of acceptance of Mr. William Henderson's tender.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. Nicholson.

Sir, The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 9 June, 1881.
I have the honor to inform you that the Colonial Treasurer has directed that, unless the bond in connection with your tender for Volunteer clothing, 1882, be duly executed and delivered within Tuesday next, the 14th instant, the tender next lowest to yours will be accepted.

I have, &c.,
G. EAGAR.

Lieut.-Colonel Christie to The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir, Brigade Office, Sydney, 27 March, 1882.
In forwarding the attached communication from Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes, the Brigade Pay and Quarter Master, dated 24th instant, I have the honor specially to bring to your notice the following facts with regard to the non-delivery of Volunteer clothing by Mr. Nicholson, the Government contractor. It will be seen that Mr. Nicholson was informed, so far back as the 4th June, 1881, that his tender was accepted, it being intimated to him at the same time, that the clothing would be required early in the present year, and yet up to date none of the clothing alluded to whatever has been delivered. This, notwithstanding Mr. Nicholson's distinct promise to the Commandant on several occasions, prior to the commencement of the year, that the delivery should take place as desired. I may add that the necessary requisitions with measurements, &c., were supplied to the contractor in July and August last, hence from seven to eight months have elapsed without any evidence being shown of Mr. Nicholson's desire to complete his contract.

The difficulties occasioned by this delay through the default of the contractor are numerous; and more especially so this year when, through an alteration having been made in the substitution of a tunic for one of the patrol jackets, some men are practically left with only one suit of uniform.

Requesting that the special attention of the contractor may be directed to the great inconvenience caused, and that he may be called upon to take immediate steps to remedy the same,—

I have, &c.,
W. B. B. CHRISTIE,
Lieut.-Col., Commanding Military Forces.

[Three enclosures.]

Call on Mr. Nicholson for an explanation.—J.W., 30/3/82. Mr. Ross.—G.E., 31/3/82. With copy of letter. Done.—31, M.R.

[Enclosure.]

Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes to The Commandant.

Sir, O'Connell-street, 24 March, 1882.
I have the honor to draw your attention to the fact that the contractor for supply of Volunteer uniforms for the current year will not be able to complete the whole required by the 4th of May next.

Mr. Nicholson's tender was accepted, and he was informed of the same on the 24th of June, 1881; shortly after this I told him that these uniforms would be required early in the following year. The Commandant also saw Nicholson on two or three occasions prior to the 1st of January last; on each occasion he promised to have the greater portion finished in the early part of the year 1881. Just before the Commandant left for Europe, he began to think there was little chance of getting them completed in time, and sent for Mr. Nicholson, and asked him when he would be able to deliver the uniforms, to have the quantity required so that the Force could appear in new uniform on Queen's Birthday. Doubting the possibility of his completing the necessary number of suits for that date, I asked him to state in writing the earliest time he thought he would be able to complete the contract—(See my letter marked A, and his reply thereto marked B, attached). I beg to enclose a copy of Schedule of prices, and conditions of contract.

I have, &c.
THOS. BAYNES,
Lieut.-Colonel,
Brigade Pay and Quarter Master.

P.S.—Requisitions with measurement rolls for Head Quarters Corps were forwarded to Mr. Nicholson in July last, and for Country Corps in August, but no uniforms have yet been received.—T.B., Lieut.-Colonel, Brigade Pay and Quarter Master.

[Sub-enclosures.]

A.

Lieut.-Colonel Baynes to Mr. Nicholson.

Sir, Brigade Pay Office, Sydney, 16 March, 1882.
I have been directed to ask you to be pleased to state the earliest date you think you will be able to complete the Volunteer uniform (tunics and trousers) for current year, that is all those whose names you have been furnished with.

I am, &c.,
THOS. BAYNES,
Lieut.-Colonel,
Paymaster.

True copy,—T. B., L.-Col., Paymaster.

B.

Mr. Nicholson to Lieut.-Colonel Baynes.

Sir, 118, King-street, 21 March, 1882.
I hope to have the bulk of the uniforms in by the 20th May next, and the remainder shortly afterwards. The whole would have been delivered by that date (20th May), but there was not a sufficient quantity of that particular quality of scarlet in the market, consequently it had to be specially manufactured.

I am, &c.,
THOS. NICHOLSON.

True copy,—T. B., L.-Col., Paymaster.

The

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. Nicholson.

Sir, The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 31 March, 1882.
I have the honor, by direction of the Colonial Treasurer, to hand you enclosed herewith copy of a letter from the Commandant, with reference to the non-delivery by you of clothing for the Volunteer Force, under your contract.
Mr. Watson desires that you will furnish an immediate explanation.

I have, &c.,
G. EAGAR.

[Enclosure.]

Lieut.-Col. Christie to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir, Brigade Office, Sydney, 27 March, 1882.
In forwarding the attached communication from Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes, the Brigade Pay and Quarter Master, dated 24th instant, I have the honor specially to bring to your notice the following facts with regard to the non-delivery of Volunteer clothing by Mr. Nicholson, the Government contractor. It will be seen that Mr. Nicholson was informed, so far back as the 4th June, 1881, that his tender was accepted, it being intimated to him at the same time that the clothing would be required early in the present year, and yet up to date none of the clothing alluded to whatever has been delivered. This, notwithstanding Mr. Nicholson's distinct promise to the Commandant on several occasions prior to the commencement of the year, that the delivery should take place as desired. I may add that the necessary requisitions, with measurements, &c., were supplied to the contractor in July and August last; hence from seven to eight months have elapsed without any evidence being shown of Mr. Nicholson's desire to complete his contract.
The difficulties occasioned by this delay through the default of the contractor are numerous, and more especially so this year, when, through an alteration having been made in the substitution of a tunic for one of the patrol jackets, some men are practically left with only one suit of uniform.
Requesting that the special attention of the contractor may be directed to the great inconvenience caused, and that he may be called upon to take immediate steps to remedy the same,—

I have, &c.,
W. B. B. CHRISTIE,
Lieutenant-Colonel Commanding Military Forces.

Mr. Nicholson to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir, 118, King-street, Sydney, 5 April, 1882.
I have the honor, in reply to your letter No. S 696-4,205, dated 31st ultimo, in reference to the supply of clothing to the Volunteer Force under my contract, and to the accompanying letter from the Brigade Office, to state that the premises assumed in the latter are in part misleading and incorrect. In the month of June I received notice that my tender was accepted, but did not receive any intimation that the clothing would be required early in the present year, and had I done so would have immediately pointed out that such a thing would have been impossible, inasmuch as it took several months to collect the measurements. You will please observe that each man has to be measured by me and fitted, and it is utterly incorrect that measurements have been supplied to me. It is proposed to get size rolls for 1883. Such being the case, it is just possible the Commandant has presumed that such practice obtained this year. In regard to the delay and trouble in obtaining measurements, I would ask your attention to the press copy of my letter to Lieut.-Col. Baynes, dated 3rd November last, enclosed herewith, and in addition I have only to refer to the fact that a Brigade Order appeared repeatedly as an advertisement in the daily papers instructing the men to call at my place to be measured. For the purpose of obtaining the measurements I sent men to Bathurst, Orange, Goulburn, Newcastle, Maitland, and Windsor, to try and get the measurements. The first measurements that I was able to obtain was on the 23rd September, at which time the men were called by Brigade Order, when only about 100 attended, and up to month of November only some 250 measurements were obtained, although I had repeatedly sought to get the men together. Some 200 have been measured during last month. These facts completely contradict the statement that I was supplied with the measurements in July and August last.

I exceedingly regret that any inconvenience should have been occasioned, but you will at once see that no blame can attach to me. My letter of 21st March will disprove the assumption that I promised Lieut.-Col. Baynes to supply any portion of my contract prior to 20th May next, although at special request I will supply some Band suits for the encampment this week. I will use the utmost diligence and despatch in completing my contract.

I am, &c.,
THOS. L. NICHOLSON.

The Commandant.—J.W., 17/4/82. G.E., 18/4/82, B.C. Lieut.-Col. Baynes, for any remarks.—
W.B.B.C., Lieut.-Col., 19/4/82.

[Enclosure.]

Mr. Nicholson to Lieutenant-Colonel Baynes.

Dear Sir, 118, King-street, 3 November, 1881.
I am compelled to complain of the manner in which the men have attended to be measured for uniforms. I have had four men in attendance for several Saturdays to measure, and on one occasion only two men attended.
If you do not assist me in this matter I cannot get the uniforms ready.

I am, &c.,
THOS. L. NICHOLSON,
per R. CURRELL.

Minute of Brigade Pay and Quarter Master on Mr. Nicholson's letter of 5th April, 1882 (above).
Brigade Paymaster's Office, Sydney, 25 April, 1882.

Memo. re uniforms for 1882.

With reference to your minute on Mr. Nicholson's letter of the 5th instant, in the second par. of which he states that "he did not receive any intimation that the clothing would be required early in the present year," this statement is not in accordance with facts, for shortly after it was notified to Mr. Nicholson that his tender was accepted he called at my office to inspect samples. I then told him that the Commandant was anxious to have the Force in cloth tunics and trousers as early as possible next year. "I will do my best." Some short time after he called again with his son, and took pieces of some of the samples as patterns. About this period the Commandant sent for him, and in my presence told him he was anxious to have the men clothed by the beginning of the year. His reply was, "I will commence at once, and have the whole completed before the Queen's Birthday."

As

As stated in my letter of the 24th ultimo, No. 82/66, the Commandant saw Mr. Nicholson on two or three occasions prior to the 1st January last, and on each occasion Mr. Nicholson promised to have the greater portion of the uniforms finished early. He was furnished with some of the measurement rolls in July and August, and others shortly afterwards.

He informed me he wished to commence with the Engineer Corps first; but I requested him to commence with the Orange Corps, as they were newly formed and required their uniforms at once. Mr. Nicholson states, "It is utterly incorrect that measurements have been supplied to me." Of course measurements could not be supplied. This appears to be a clerical error. It should be measurement rolls for Mr. Nicholson to fill in. These rolls were forwarded to him—some in July—but principally in August, 1881; but he appears to have taken no steps to measure the several Corps till September, October, and November.

THOS. BAYNES,
Lieutenant-Colonel,
Brigade and Quarter Master.

Lieut.-Colonel Christie to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 28 April, 1882.

In reply to Mr. Nicholson's letter of the 5th instant (forwarded to me with your minute of the 18/4/82), taking exception to certain matters contained in my letter of the 27th ultimo (No. 82-146, addressed to you), I have the honor to inform you that it would appear from a statement made by Lieut.-Colonel Baynes (attached) that it was intimated to Mr. Nicholson by himself, as also by Colonel Richardson that the clothing in question was wanted early in the year. The very fact that requisitions for the supply of clothing were sent to him by Lieut.-Colonel Baynes as early as July, 1881 (the great body of the requisitions however being remitted in August, 1881), would seem to have been an intimation to that effect, as it could certainly never have been supposed that nine months after the clothing was requisitioned for it would remain unsupplied. While also personally unaware of what Colonel Richardson said at their interviews to Mr. Nicholson, I yet know that officer was anxious to have the men clothed as early as possible in the year, and this for very good and substantial departmental reasons. Mr. Nicholson is correct in stating measurements were not furnished to him in July and August, 1881; but the forms headed measurement rolls (they being really requisitions for the supply of articles to the men named in them) were.

As regards obtaining the measurements of the individual men, I have little doubt Mr. Nicholson did have some trouble, which is simply inevitable with the Volunteer Force, its members not being available in barracks for measurement at any time, like regular troops; but I do not find that he ever addressed Colonel Richardson as to any special difficulty in this direction, and Lieut.-Colonel Baynes only once, and this solely with reference to one corps, viz., 1st Regiment of New South Wales Volunteer Infantry; neither do I think it can be held that because he could not get the measurements of some men justification is to be found for inordinately delaying the supply to others who had been duly measured.

I find the Bathurst and Windsor Corps Volunteer Infantry were measured in September last, yet now, seven months afterwards, they have not received a suit. Again, the Windsor Corps Volunteer Infantry, the Northern Corps, and, as I believe, the bulk of the men of the 1st and 2nd Regiments of Volunteer Infantry, were measured in October, yet they have as yet received no clothing.

In conclusion, I would again urge the requirements of the Volunteer Force in the way of clothing for the current year.

I have, &c.,

W. B. B. CHRISTIE,
Lieut.-Col., Commanding Military Forces.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to The Acting-Commandant.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 21 September, 1882.

I am directed by the Colonial Treasurer to enclose a letter signed "One of them," which appeared in the Sydney Daily Telegraph of Saturday last.

Mr. Watson would be glad to be furnished, with the least possible delay, with information on the matter, so that he may be in a position to answer any inquiry that might be made of him in Parliament.

This Department has not received any communication from you with regard to Mr. Nicholson's contract since April last, and it is therefore presumed that the clothing has been duly supplied.

I have, &c.,

G. EAGAR.

Sydney Daily Telegraph, Saturday, September 16, 1882.

VOLUNTEER UNIFORMS.

To the Editor of the "Sydney Daily Telegraph."

Sir,

As a non-commissioned officer in the 1st regiment of N.S.W. Volunteer Infantry, will you allow me to say that some nine months ago, in accordance with instructions received from head-quarters, the men of the regiment were ordered to leave their measure for new uniforms at a certain tailoring establishment in King-street. Till this day the long-looked for garments have not been issued. Perhaps Mr. McElhone or some other Member of the House would ask to see the specification, and inquire whether any other tailoring firm tendering would have been allowed the same latitude. By inserting this you will greatly oblige.

Yours, &c.,

ONE OF THEM.

Lt.-Col. Baynes, for report as to supply of clothing for current year to Vol. Force.—W.B.B.C., Lt.-Col., 21/9/82. The Commandant,—This matter was fully reported upon in my letter No. 82-66, of 24th March, 1882, to the Commandant, and subsequently in minute 82-23 of 25/4/82, on Treasury letter dated 18th April, 1882.—T.B., Lt.-Col., B.P. & Qr. Mr., 22/9/82. Lt.-Col. Baynes,—I want to know how the supply stands at this date.—W.B.B.C., Lt.-Col., 22/9/82.

The Acting Commandant—The contractor, Mr. Nicholson, has delivered to date 633 suits of uniform.—T.B., Lieut.-Col., Brigade Pay and Quarter Master, 27/9/82.

The Brigade Pay and Quarter Master,—

(1.) What is the total amount of clothing to be supplied according to existing contract?

(2.)

The Supt. of Stores, as to the possibility of making arrangements with some reliable contractor.—G.E., 12/10/82, B.C. The uniforms could be made by Messrs. H. Bull & Co., or Mr. W. Henderson. Both these firms hold the necessary material, and are prepared to supply at once.—W.O.H., 16/10/82, B.C. The Under-Secretary Finance and Trade.

I regret that Contractor Nicholson should give so much trouble in carrying out his contract. Let him be informed that failing to carry out the contract as requisitioned for on or before the 31st inst., the articles required will be purchased at his risk and cost.—J.W., 19/10/82. Mr. Ross.—G.E., 20/10/82. Informed.—20, M.R. The Commandant informed.—M.R., 24/10/82. The Supt. of Stores to note and return.—B.C., 24/10/82. G.E. Noted and returned as requested.—W. O. HOPKINS, 1/11/82, B.C. The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

---

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. Nicholson.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 20 October, 1882.

I have the honor, by direction of the Colonial Treasurer, to inform you that a report has been received from the Acting Commandant, bearing date 2nd instant, in reference to your contract for the supply of Volunteer clothing for the current year. Lieutenant-Colonel Christie states that, speaking generally, you have delivered a little over a quarter of the quantity of clothing which has been requisitioned for; that you have not completed the issue of clothing to any one corps; and that some corps, notably the Volunteer Artillery, have received no clothing at all from you.

Mr. Watson is unable to imagine a much more unsatisfactory report than the foregoing, and he cannot any longer permit such a state of affairs to continue—the more so as you have already been allowed great latitude. I am therefore to inform you that unless all requisitions in your hands are fully completed by the 31st instant they will be considered as cancelled, and the outstanding supplies will be purchased at your risk, in terms of clause 5 of the conditions of contract.

I have, &c.,
G. EAGAR.

---

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to the Acting Commandant of the Forces.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 24 October, 1882.

Referring to correspondence in regard to Mr. Nicholson's Contract for Volunteer Clothing, 1882,—I have the honor to apprise you that Mr. Nicholson has been informed that unless all requisitions in his hands are completed by the 31st instant, they will be cancelled, and the outstanding quantities of articles purchased at his risk.

The Superintendent of Stores reports that Messrs. H. Bull & Co. and Wm. Henderson & Co. hold the necessary material for the uniforms and are prepared to supply at once.

In the event of Nicholson failing to comply with Treasury demand, I have to ask that you will place yourself in communication with Mr. Hopkins.

I have, &c.,
G. EAGAR.

---

Mr. Nicholson to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

118, King-street, 27 October, 1882.

With reference to your communication of 20th instant, complaining of the non-fulfilment of my contract for the supply of Volunteer Infantry uniforms, I beg to explain that whatever delay has occurred has been unavoidable, Vide the following reasons:—

1. The material ordered from England for these uniforms was not delivered for three or four months after specified time, some of it not coming to hand until September. This delay was, I believe, in great part attributable to the war in Egypt, and the unusual demand for military cloths in England.
2. From September to December—the spring months—is about the busiest time in the year, and the difficulty of procuring labour during these months is very great.
3. Had the material arrived in proper time, the whole of the contract would have been completed ere this, as during the slack months workmen would have been plentiful, and I should not have been pressed for time; but, owing to the reason contained in paragraph 1, the material did not come to hand until the very busiest time of the year; hence the delay.

Referring to the amount of work already supplied, I beg to forward herewith a list, from which it will appear that a total of 900 suits, or about two-thirds of the entire contract, has been delivered; and with regard to the non-supply to the Volunteer Artillery, I would respectfully draw your attention to the lists showing "Orders of Inspection," by Colonel Baynes, from which it will be seen that the date set down for inspection of the Artillery—before which uniforms cannot be supplied—is 11th November.

The 900 suits referred to are supplied as per list; and I would point out that where the entire corps has not been supplied it is no fault of mine, but has arisen from my not being able to get the men for fitting-on purposes when at their respective stations.

In addition to these, there are 800 pairs of trousers ready, which I have applied to be allowed to supply, but have received no reply; and I am given to understand that their delivery cannot be taken, owing to the inadequacy of storage room in the Volunteer Department.

In view of the above, and of the fact that the clothing as yet supplied has been declared superior to sample, and has given every satisfaction, I beg respectfully to ask that a further extension of a month or six weeks be given me to complete the contract, and to hope that an enforcement of clause 5 in the Conditions will not be made in this instance, as the consequences to me, with a great quantity of partly-made clothing on my hands, would be very serious.

I have, &c.,
THOS. L. NICHOLSON.

200 suits	...	...	...	...	1st Regiment.
200	„	...	...	...	2nd „
80	„	...	...	...	Orange
74	„	...	...	...	Bathurst
74	„	...	...	...	Goulburn
60	„	...	...	...	Parramatta
60	„	...	...	...	Windsor
76	„	...	...	...	Maitland
76	„	...	...	...	Newcastle

Total ... 900 „

There are about 800 pairs of trousers ready for delivery, but no order to deliver the same.—T.L.N., 26/10/82.

Commandant's Inspection.

The Commandant will make his inspection of the following Volunteer Corps during the December quarter as follows, viz.:—

Wollongong Artillery, 17th October.
Maitland Infantry, 25th October.
Newcastle Infantry, 26th October.
Head Quarters Artillery, Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4, 11th November.
Goulburn Infantry, 28th November.
Orange Infantry, 13th November.
Bathurst Infantry, 14th November.

It is hoped Mr. Nicholson will have each corps completed prior to their inspection by the Commandant.

THOS. BAYNES,
Lt.-Col., B.P. and Q.M.,
2/10/82.

Brigade Office, 14 September, 1882.

The following will be the dates of delivery of uniforms by Mr. Nicholson for current year, viz.:—

Bathurst Rifle Corps, 9th September, 1882.
1st and 2nd Regiments Corps, 15th September, 1882.
Orange „ 16th „ „
Newcastle „ 16th „ „
West Maitland „ 23rd „ „
Goulburn „ 7th October „
Parramatta „ 14th „ „
Windsor „ 21st „ „

Engineers }
Artillery } During the month of November, 1882.
Torpedo Corps }

The Adjutants of corps and Officers Commanding have been notified of the above.

THOS. BAYNES,
Lt.-Col., B.P. and Q.M.

The Commandant, who will perhaps report as to the propriety of acceding to Mr. Nicholson's request or otherwise.—G.E., 27/10/82, B.C. Lt.-Col. Baynes for report, W.B.B.C., Lt.-Col. 30/10/82.

Lieut.-Col. Christie to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Brigade Office, Sydney, 31 October, 1882.

In accordance with your minute of the 27th instant, on Mr. Nicholson's communication of the same date, relative to the supply of Volunteer clothing, I have the honor to state that I have called for a report (attached) from the Brigade Pay and Quarter Master, as to the advisability or otherwise of giving Mr. Nicholson an extension of time to carry out his contract. Having considered the same, I am of opinion that on the whole it would be better for the Department that he should be permitted to complete the clothing of the Volunteer Infantry and the Volunteer Engineers, on the distinct understanding that those corps be clothed within the time promised. As regards the Volunteer Artillery and Torpedo Corps, there seems to me to be no probability of Mr. Nicholson being able to supply within the specified period. Should the Treasury, therefore, be of opinion that other contractors are in a position to take the work up, I think Mr. Nicholson might be relieved of that part of the contract.

Awaiting your decision on the subject of a possible extension of Mr. Nicholson's time, I have as yet issued no orders with reference to your letter of the 24th October, 1882, No. P.O. 1,829-10,670, indicating cancellation of contract from this date.

I have, &c.,

W. B. B. CHRISTIE, Lt.-Col.,
Acting Commandant.

I think Mr. Nicholson may be allowed the time asked for, and I therefore concur in the views of the Commandant.—J.W., 4/11/82. Mr. Ross,—Inform.—G.E., 7/11/82. Then, as to other contractors for Volunteer Artillery and Torpedo Corps. See separate memo.—15, M.R.

Memo for the information of the Commandant.

31/10/82.

In reference to Mr. Nicholson's letter of the 27th instant, re uniforms, I find he has delivered between eight and nine hundred suits of infantry uniforms, and has nearly completed the fitting of same to 3rd Regiment and the two companies of the Northern District, and states that he is ready to fit the 1st and 2nd Regiments of Infantry, by companies. I yesterday visited his his shop and store-room, when he pointed out to me apparently about 800 pairs of trousers made up and ready for issue, consisting of infantry and artillery patterns. I also saw sufficient material in cloth, of the proper quality, to complete the contract for all arms. It does not appear to me that, considering the quantities to be made up, say at least 450 suits for Artillery, Torpedo, and Engineer Corps, that they could be furnished in the time asked for, viz., six weeks; I do also think it possible for him to complete the Infantry and Engineer Corps in that time if the Adjutants will give him the requisite assistance in fitting the men—that is, call them together by companies.

If the Government close his contract we shall be in worse predicament than we are at present, as from whom will they purchase the articles required? I scarcely think that the houses named in Treasury letter, P.O. 1,829 and 15,670, dated 24th instant, viz., Messrs. H. Bull and Co., and W. Henderson & Co., would be able to make up and fit the quantity in less than three months.

THOS. BAYNES, Lt.-Col.,
Brigade Pay and Quarter Master.

Memo.

Nicholson's Volunteer Clothing Contract, 1882.

Mr. Nicholson attended at the office of the Under-Secretary on the 8th instant, when the Colonial Treasurer's decision was communicated to him by Mr. Eagar in my presence. Mr. Nicholson expressed himself as gratified at the leniency of the decision, and stated that every effort would be made to give effect to it. The decision was that no clothing would be received from him after 31st December, 1882, and that uniforms must be supplied complete and in quantities sufficient for each corps, &c., at each delivery.—M.R., 15/11/82. The Acting Commandant, who will perhaps be good enough to note and return.—G.E., 17/11/82, B.C.

The Under-Secretary, Finance and Trade,—Decision conveyed noted; but I would observe that, in my opinion (in which Lieut.-Colonel Baynes, the Brigade Quartermaster, concurs) much practical difficulty is likely to result from insisting on the last two stipulations mentioned in Mr. Ross's minute, with reference to supply of uniform only when complete, and only when rendered in sufficient quantities for each corps, seeing that the fitting of the garments forms part of the present contract. I cannot see how 300 suits or so are to be fitted simultaneously. I would respectfully suggest that the Department should take what it can get, however delivered (provided of course it be good and properly fitted), up to 31st December.—W.B.B.C., Lt.-Col., B.C., 17/11/82. Mr. Ross, G.E., 24/11/82.

The Treasury concurs in the Acting Commandant's suggestion of 17/11/82, that the Department had better take what it can get up to 31st December next.—G.E., B.C., The Treasury, 24/11/82. The Acting Commandant to note and return. The Under-Secretary Finance and Trade. Noted and returned.—W.B. B.C., Lt.-Col., B.C., 8/12/82. Mr. Ross, G.E., 10/12/82.

Mr. Nicholson to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

118, King-street, Sydney, 14 December, 1882.

I beg respectfully to ask for an extension of time to complete contract for Volunteer uniforms. I am reluctantly compelled to ask this favour in consequence of the complete upset of ordinary business arrangements, owing to the elections, which have caused serious derangements of all tradesmen, particularly so with my artisans. Scarcely one in twenty of my men have done a day's work in the past month; they are now again settling down.

I have found it impossible to obtain other workmen to take their places, owing to the press of business, that is always great at Christmas; therefore I trust you will concede to me this favour, and you may depend upon the whole contract being completed on or before the end of January, 1883.

I have, &c.,

THOS. L. NICHOLSON.

Mr. Ross,—Ascertain how far Mr. Nicholson has complied with the terms of his former promise, and report.—G.E., 15/12/82.

Mr. Ross,—To be considered in connection with Mr. Nicholson's late application for an extension of time.—G.E., 16/12/82.

Will the Commandant be good enough to report how far Mr. Nicholson has complied with the terms of his promises, as indicated in the accompanying papers.—G.E. The Acting Commandant, B.C., 18/12/82.

Lieut.-Col. Baynes will be good enough to report as to progress made by Mr. Nicholson in performance of his contract since his last report was rendered; also what clothing remains unsupplied now.—W.B.B.C., Lieut.-Col., 20/12/82.

The Acting Commandant,—In reply to minute of the 20/12/82, re Mr. Nicholson's contract, I find on inquiries that he has done very little in the way of fitting the remainder of the clothing due to the Volunteer Force since last extension of time. I am informed he has returned about fourteen garments (after alteration) to the Goulburn corps, and about twenty to the Parramatta corps. I visited his shop and store this morning, and saw a large number of tunics cut and ready for the workmen, and apparently a sufficient quantity of cloth adaptable for the uniform required. He has delivered to my store about 600 pairs of trousers, made to measure, but not yet fitted. Adjutants of corps informs me that at the present holiday period it is very hard to get the men to attend. Many are away from home during the holidays.—T.B., Lieut.-Col., B.P. & Q.M., 28/12/82.

The Under-Secretary Finance and Trade,—It will be seen from Lieut.-Col. Baynes's report that but little progress has been made by Mr. Nicholson towards carrying out balance of contract.—W.B.B.C., Lieut.-Col., 28/12/82.

The extension of time asked for (i.e., to 31st January, 1883) may be granted.—J.W., 3/1/83.

The Acting Commandant, in confirmation of verbal message already sent him (papers to be noted and returned).—G.E., B.C., The Treasury, 3/1/83. Return.

Lieut.-Col. Baynes, for information.—W.B.B.C., Lieut.-Col., 5/1/83. Return. The Acting Commandant,—Noted and returned.—T.B., Lieut.-Col., B.P. & Q.M., 5/1/83. The Under-Secretary Finance and Trade. Seen and returned.—W.B.B.C., Lieut.-Col., B.C., 9/1/83.

Mr.

Mr. Nicholson to The Colonial Treasurer.

Sir, 118, King-street, Sydney, 18 January, 1883.
I have the honor to apply for a further extension of time to complete my contract for Volunteer clothing until the 7th of March. On account of the scarcity of labour, I find it impossible to finish before that time.

The whole of the material I have on hand, and a great portion is in the hands of my work-people. During the elections and holidays it has been impossible to get through the work. All my staff are at work again, and I will finish by that date.

Trusting this will receive your early and favourable consideration,—

I have, &c.,

THOS. L. NICHOLSON.

Let me have all the papers re Nicholson's contract.—G.R.D., 18/1/83.

On perusal of these papers I find Mr. Nicholson's conduct to have been extremely objectionable. He may, however, be allowed an extension to the 7th March, with the clear understanding that no further extension or concession will be allowed to him.—G.R.D., 2/2/83. Mr. Kirkpatrick, 3/2/83, G.E. Done, F.K., 3. The Commandant to note and return.—G.E., B.C., Treasury, 12/2/83.

Memo. for The Colonial Treasurer.

Volunteer Clothing Contract, 1882.

T. L. Nicholson.

Contract accepted, 4th June, 1881.

Requisitions and the men's measurements* were forwarded to him in July and August, 1881, and he was informed by Commandant that supplies would be required under such requisitions early in 1882. Commandant reports that Nicholson promised that delivery should be duly made.

27th March, 1882 (i.e. seven or eight months from date when measurements were given him), Commandant reports—"No clothing at all yet to hand."

31st March, 1882.—Nicholson called upon for an explanation.

5th April, 1882.—Nicholson replies, and tries to throw blame of delay upon Commandant, in that he could not get the men's measurements.

28th April, 1882.—Commandant admits some difficulty in getting measurements of Volunteers, who are not in barracks like the regulars, but states that non-measurement of some men could not justify the delay in delivery to others who had been measured—e.g., Bathurst and Windsor Corps of Infantry measured in September, 1881—nothing supplied to them up to end of April, 1882. Northern Corps of Infantry and the bulk of the men of the 1st and 2nd Regiments Infantry measured in October, 1881—not a single suit supplied to end of April, 1882.

2nd October, 1882.—Commandant reports that, speaking generally, not more than one-quarter of the clothing has been supplied; no one corps has been completed; and that nothing at all has been supplied to the Volunteer Artillery.

20th October, 1882.—Nicholson informed by Treasury that all requisitions remaining incomplete at 31st October, 1882, will be cancelled.

27th October, 1882.—Nicholson pleads in excuse for delay—

(a) Non-arriving to time of his material from England,

(b) War in Egypt (?),

(c) Difficulty in procuring labour in the spring months (?), and asks for further extension of a month or six weeks. Granted to 31st December, 1882.

14th December, 1882.—Applied for extension to end of January. Granted.

18th January, 1883.—Applied for extension to 7th March, where matter now rests for decision.—M.R., 27/1/83.

Mr. Evans.—Place this with Nicholson papers.—J.T., 20/4/83.

* Explained in Commandant's letter of 28th April that these measurements were not working measurements. The main point, however, is not affected.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. Nicholson.

Sir, The Treasury, Sydney, 3 February, 1883.
Referring to your letter of 18th ultimo, I have the honor, by direction of the Colonial Treasurer, to inform you that a further extension of time for the completion of your contract for Volunteer clothing to the 7th March has been allowed, with the clear understanding, however, that no further extension or concession will be allowed to you.

I have, &c.,

G. EAGAR.

The Commandant to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir, Brigade Office, Sydney, 12 February, 1883.
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your minute of 12/2/83, covering a notification from the Colonial Treasurer to the effect that a further extension of Mr. Nicholson's contract to the 7th proximo has been given, and to state that the necessary instructions have been issued on the subject.

I would at the same time draw attention to the very great dissatisfaction existing throughout the Volunteer Force at the manner in which the clothing contract for the past year has been carried out, and to the fact of the still very unsatisfactory position of the Force as regards the non-supply of uniform. I would also express a hope that, in the interests of the Service, no further concession be made to Mr. Nicholson.

I have, &c.,

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,

Commandant.

To be resubmitted 7th March next.—G.R.D., 16/2/83. Registrar.—G.E., 16/2/83. Resubmitted accordingly.—A.E., 6/3/83. The Under-Secretary, &c., &c.

Mr. Nicholson to The Colonial Treasurer.

Sir, 118, King-street, Sydney, 7 March, 1883.
 Since you kindly granted me an extension of time to finish my contract I have delivered 240 suits; there still remains about 300 coats (tunics) to finish.

I can supply forty per week of the above garments, if permitted to finish.
 I may call your attention to the fact that the garments are made in the Colony, and as tradesmen are very scarce that is the cause of so much delay.

The whole will be finished by the middle of May, so that the entire Volunteer Force will be clothed by then, and by one person, which is a consideration, the whole of the goods being made alike.

Trusting you will permit me to finish by delivering regularly every week say at least forty,—

I remain, &c.,

THOS. L. NICHOLSON.

Mr. Evans, previous papers.—J.T., 10/3/83. The Honorable the Treasurer wished to see them by the 7th instant, and they were sent to you on the 6th idem.—A.E., 12/3/83. The Under-Secretary. Put with other papers.—G.R.D., 28/3/83.

Let a strong letter be written to Nicholson informing him that complaint has been made by the military authorities for the non-completion of his contract; that the men have suffered inconvenience at the present encampment; that the extension of time to 7th March, granted by me on 2nd February last, has expired; and that I now call upon him for an explanation before finally dealing with the case.—G.R.D., 28/3/83.

Mr. Ross.—J.T., 29/3/83. Done.—M.R., 30. Bring forward with reply.—J.T., 30/3/83. Reply herewith.—A.E., 4/4.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to Mr. Nicholson.

Sir, The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 30 March, 1883.
 I am directed by the Colonial Treasurer to inform you that another complaint has been received from the military authorities with reference to the non-completion of your last year's Volunteer clothing contract. The men have suffered inconvenience at the Easter encampment in consequence of your failure to redeem your promises.

Mr. Dibbs now instructs me to say that, as the extension of time to 7th March has expired, he calls upon you for an immediate explanation before finally dealing with your case.

I have, &c.,

JAMES THOMSON,

For the Under-Secretary.

Mr. Nicholson to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir, 118, King-street, Sydney, 3 April, 1883.
 In answer to your letter dated the 30th of March, I would respectfully call your attention to my letter of the 7th of March, in which I explain the cause of delay.

I beg to state that the whole of the scarlet tunics are supplied, and any of the four regiments who were without clothing at the Camp at Windsor were recruits.

I have received no requisition to clothe them, as they belong to the other contractor, and not to me. The balance of my contract are the Volunteer Artillery and Torpedo Corps (blue tunics), and my promise of the 7th March will be faithfully carried out if permitted to finish by the middle of May, and in time for Queen's Birthday.

Brigade orders are to receive no clothing after 7th March, and the Department will not take any clothing over until they receive orders from the Hon. the Colonial Treasurer.

Trusting you will permit me to proceed and complete—hoping to receive a favourable reply,—

I have, &c.,

THOS. L. NICHOLSON.

[Enclosure.]

Mr. Nicholson to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir, 118, King-street, Sydney, 7 March, 1883.
 Since you kindly granted me an extension of time to finish my contract, I have delivered 240 suits; there still remains about 300 coats (tunics) to finish.

I can supply forty per week of the above garments, if permitted to finish.

I may call your attention to the fact that the garments are made in the Colony, and as tradesmen are very scarce, that is the cause of so much delay.

The whole will be finished by the middle of May, so that the entire Volunteer Force will be clothed by then, and by one person, which is a consideration, the whole of the goods being made alike.

Trusting you will permit me to finish by delivering regularly every week say at least forty,—

I remain, &c.,

THOS. L. NICHOLSON.

To the Commandant. Urgent.—G.R.D., 7/4/83. B.C., 7/4/83.—J.T., for U.S.

The Commandant to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir, Brigade Office, Sydney, 25 April, 1883.
 I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a minute from the Treasury, dated the 7th instant, indorsed on a letter from Mr. Nicholson, dated the 3rd instant, together with papers attached. With reference to Mr. Nicholson's letter, Lieut.-Colonel Baynes's report, attached, would indicate that it is is not a fact that Mr. Nicholson has supplied all the scarlet tunics, 110 still remaining to be furnished to the Infantry Regiments, as also 99 pairs of trousers. In addition to this deficiency, 234 tunics, and the same number of trousers, remain unsupplied to the Volunteer Artillery, and 68 tunics to the Torpedo Corps. The inconvenience caused by the failure to furnish the clothing to the Volunteer Artillery and Torpedo Corps has been very great, and I cannot but regret that, as recommended by Lieut.-Colonel Christie, in his letter of 31/10/82, steps were not taken to relieve Mr. Nicholson of the portion of his contract connected with the supply of clothing to the corps wearing the blue tunic, in which case they would probably have been supplied from other sources by this time.

As regards Mr. Nicholson's promise to forthwith carry out the balance of his contract, I may say at once I have no faith whatever in his professions, seeing that since early in the year 1882 he has been continually making promises of this character, and to no purpose.

It is a fact, as stated by Mr. Nicholson, that instructions were issued to the effect that no clothing should be taken over from him after the 7th March, and that they are still in force. They were necessitated by the instructions given me from the Treasury, that the time of Mr. Nicholson's contract had been extended to that date. I am not aware that any further extension of time has been accorded him.

I have, &c.,
JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,
Commandant.

Memorandum.

Brigade Office, Sydney, 11/4/1883.

To Lt.-Col. Baynes, who will be good enough to furnish particulars as to what articles remain unsupplied to various corps under Mr. Nicholson's contract.

W.B.B.C., Lt.-Col.

Clothing unsupplied by Mr. Nicholson on his contract for 1882 :—

					Tunics.	Trousers.
Volunteer Artillery	...	...	...	...	234	234
Engineer Corps	...	...	...	...	...	...
Torpedo Corps...	...	...	...	...	68	...
1st Regiment Infantry	...	...	...	...	48	48
2nd " "	...	...	...	...	...	...
3rd Regiment	}	Parramatta	...	...	1	1
		Windsor	...	...	11	11
		Bathurst	...	...	22	22
		Goulburn	...	...	16	16
		Orange	...	...	12	...
Newcastle Infantry	...	...	...	...	1
West Maitland...	...	...	...	...	...
Total	...	...	...	...	412	333

THOS. BAYNES, Lieut.-Col., 24/4/83.

Place these with later papers.—G.R.D., 30/5/83. Mr. Evans,—See to this, please, and then hand to Mr. Ross, to enable him to prepare return called for by Parliament.—J.T. (for U.-S.), 31/5/83.

Mr. Nicholson to The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

118, King-street, Sydney, 17 May, 1883.

I have the honor to report, for the information of the Colonial Treasurer, that I will supply 112 Volunteer Artillery tunics to the military authorities before Queen's Birthday, this being the Sydney portion of my contract.

It will be impossible to have the Torpedo uniforms finished by Queen's Birthday, but will have them finished a few days later.

I have, &c.,
THOS. L. NICHOLSON.

May be taken.—G.R.D., 30/5/83. Inform the Commandant. Mr. Ross,—Inform officially. He has already been informed, privately, by the Treasurer himself. See previous papers.—J.T., 31/5/83. Done.—M.R., 1/6/83. Mr. Ross,—Have the return required by the Legislative Assembly prepared at your leisure.—J.T., 1/6/83.

Dear Mr. Dibbs,—I have given orders that Nicholson's clothing shall be received.—Yours very truly, JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Brigade Office, 23 May, 1883.

The Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade to the Commandant.

Sir,

The Treasury, New South Wales, Sydney, 1 June, 1883.

Referring to the intimation given to you by the Colonial Treasurer verbally, to the effect that he had approved of an application made by Mr. T. L. Nicholson to be allowed to send in 112 Volunteer Artillery Tunics before Queen's Birthday, I am now directed by Mr. Dibbs to confirm such arrangement, officially.

I have, &c.,
JAMES THOMSON,
For the Under-Secretary.

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

VOLUNTEER CORPS.

(FORMATION OF, IN COUNTRY DISTRICTS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 29 November, 1883.

RETURN laid upon the Table of this House, by the Colonial Secretary, in answer to Mr. Stokes' Questions 2 and 3, of No. 21, of the 25th October, 1883, showing,—

“ How many applications were considered for enrolment and decided upon during the late recess ?

“ The number of applications that were supported by petition from each town, and the numerical strength of each petition ? ”

2.—Fourteen, viz., Richmond, Hay, Goulburn, Lithgow, Kiama, Manly Beach, Wagga, Penrith, Ulladulla, Mudgee, Burrawang, Moss Vale and Berrima, Tamworth and Forbes.

3.—From the documents I have had access to the following would appear to be the state of the case:—

Towns, &c.	Application supported by petition.	Petitioners.
Richmond ... ..	1	119
Goulburn ... ..	1	34
Lithgow ... ..	1	110
Kiama ... ..	2	107
Manly Beach ... ..	1	74
Wagga ... ..	Nil.	62
Penrith ... ..	1	98
Ulladulla ... ..	4	58
Mudgee ... ..	2	70
Moss Vale and Berrima ... ..	1	127
Tamworth ... ..	3	104
Forbes ... ..	2	123

Brigade Office,
Sydney, 16th November, 1883.

JOHN S. RICHARDSON, Col.,
Commandant.

1883-4.

---

NEW SOUTH WALES.

---

VOLUNTEERS.

(NAVAL ARTILLERY—REGULATIONS.)

---

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 5, sec. 50.

---

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 6th March, 1884.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased, in accordance with section 50 of the "Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867," to make the following Regulation regarding the uniform to be worn by the Officers of the Volunteer Naval Artillery.

ALEX. STUART.

---

UNIFORM TO BE WORN BY THE OFFICERS OF THE VOLUNTEER NAVAL ARTILLERY.

Navy-blue cloth, with distinction stripes, same as Royal Navy, only silver.

Cap same as Royal Naval Volunteer Artillery, with distinguishing letters of the Corps.

Sword and belt same as Royal Naval Volunteer Artillery, with distinguishing letters on buckle.

Buttons same as Royal Naval Volunteer Artillery, with distinguishing letters of the Corps.

---

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

NEW SOUTH WALES.

VOLUNTEER FORCE REGULATION ACT OF 1867.

(REGULATIONS UNDER).

Presented to Parliament pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 5, sec. 50.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 25th August, 1883.

REGULATIONS.

HIS Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has, in substitution of the Volunteer Regulations of the 9th of September, 1878, been pleased to make the following Regulations, under the Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867, for the Volunteer Military Force enrolled on a system of partial payment, or one of gratuitous service—the Regulations affecting the payment and training of the former description of Force not to come into operation until the 1st of January, 1884, and those portions of the Regulations of the 9th September, 1878, bearing upon its payment and training, to continue in force until the 31st of December, 1883.

ALEX. STUART.

REGULATIONS UNDER THE "VOLUNTEER FORCE
REGULATION ACT OF 1867."

INTERPRETATION.

1. By the term "corps" is meant a united body consisting of two or more batteries or companies formed into a consolidated regiment, as also a battery or company formed separately, or in the country districts forming part of an administrative regiment, or connected under an administrative system, with a consolidated regiment: Provided also that in the case of a regiment, and the several corps or companies composing it, the officer commanding such regiment shall, for the purposes of discipline referred to in clause 28, paragraph 1, of the Volunteer Act, be deemed to be the officer commanding the corps, and the word "corps" in such case be held to mean regiment.

2. By the term "recruit" is meant a Volunteer who has not been finally dismissed drill.

CONSTITUTION.

3. The Volunteer Force of New South Wales is maintained under the Act 31 Vic. No. 5, and is subject to the provisions of that Act, and to all Regulations made with regard to the same by the authority of the Governor.

4. The Volunteer Military Force shall consist of the following arms:—

Artillery,
Engineer,
Torpedo,
Infantry;

which may be formed into corps partially paid for services rendered, and into reserve corps or portions thereof serving gratuitously, which shall be formed in places where the partially paid corps do not exist, and shall be connected by a regimental organization with such partially paid corps; but corps formed under the system of partial payment may be supplemented as to numbers by the affiliation to them, or to any portion of them, of a reserve serving gratuitously.

5. Engineer and Torpedo Corps will be formed of persons who are connected with the profession of engineers, electricians, instrument-makers, and mechanics generally—and in the case of the latter corps, a proportion of boatmen.

PRECEDENCE.

6. The different arms of the Volunteer Military Force rank in the following order, viz. :—

Artillery,
Engineer,
Torpedo,
Infantry.

7. Every corps and regiment receives a title or number indicating its relative precedence with regard to the other corps and regiments of the same arm. The corps, batteries, or companies in a regiment take precedence according to their numbering.

8. On parade, corps and regiments are to be distributed and drawn up in the mode which the officer in command may judge most convenient and best adapted to the purposes of the Service.

9. Officers of the Force rank with Officers of Her Majesty's Regular and Militia Forces within the territory of New South Wales and its dependencies, as the juniors of their respective ranks, and with the Officers of the Permanent Forces of the Colony, according to dates of commissions.

10. The relative precedence of Officers is determined solely by the ranks and dates of commissions in that Force.

11. The relative precedence of Officers of different corps holding commissions of the same rank and date is determined—

1st. By reference to previous commissions.

2nd. By the relative precedence of the arms or regiments to which they belong.

12. The relative precedence of Officers of one corps, bearing commissions of the same rank and date, is determined by the order in which the appointments are inserted in the Gazette.

13. Medical Officers will hold the relative rank of Captain; the Principal Medical Officer, the relative rank of Major.

COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

14. The Commissioned Officers are appointed by the Governor. All proposed appointments, promotions, and resignations are submitted to the Governor by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

15. All appointments, promotions, resignations, and dismissals are inserted in the Gazette; and such resignations and dismissals shall, unless notified to the contrary, be held to mean absolute withdrawal from the Force.

16. Every Officer is required, on receiving his commission, to take the Oath of Allegiance prescribed by the Volunteer Act.

17. The appointment of Honorary Chaplains will be sanctioned only on the recommendation of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

18. No Officer holding an honorary commission can, by virtue of it, take precedence of any officer holding a substantive commission, or assume command otherwise than in connection with a cadet corps to which he may belong.

19. Every Officer is required to possess a competent knowledge of his duties, and to give a proper attendance to the drills of his corps or regiment, and the administrative duties connected therewith.

20. Any Officer who fails to pay proper and diligent attention to the duties of his position will not be allowed to retain his commission.

21. Officers will be liable at any time to be required to undergo an examination by a Board appointed by the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force as to their competency. Officers failing to pass such will not be allowed to retain their commissions.

22. The Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force is authorized to appoint such Officers, or other persons, as he may think fit, to be examiners of candidates for commissions and promotion.

23. Surgeons, in the requisite proportion, in addition to a Principal Medical Officer, will be appointed as a Medical Staff to the Force generally, who will perform such duties as may be required of them, under the direction of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

24. All candidates for first commissions must produce a certificate of having passed the Civil Service Examination of the Colony, or an examination of a higher degree, and except in the case of persons possessing special military experience will not be eligible for appointment as subalterns if over thirty years of age, or as Captains or Field Officers if over forty years of age.

25. Subalterns appointed direct must, within one year from the date of appointment, present themselves for examination; and candidates for commission from the ranks must, prior to appointment, pass an examination before a Board of Officers in the undermentioned subjects:—

ARTILLERY CORPS.

- (a.) Company drill in close order.
- (b.) Duties of guards.
- (c.) Carbine or rifle exercises, and the drill of one description of gun used by the corps.
- (d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

ENGINEER CORPS.

- (a.) Company drill in close order.
- (b.) Duties of guards.
- (c.) Rifle exercises.
- (d.) Military engineering (Sapper's Manual):—
  1. Hasty defences.
  2. Defence of posts. Field-works.
  3. Throwing up earth-works.
  4. Revetting materials.
  5. Revetments.
- (e.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

TORPEDO CORPS.

- (a.) Company drill in close order.
- (b.) Duties of guards.
- (c.) Rifle exercises.
- (d.) Signalling—flags, lights, electric telegraph, &c., &c.
- (e.) Electricity in connection with submarine warfare, and how applied—batteries required, how constructed, and kind generally used.
Magneto-electricity for exploding submarine mines.
Galvanometers.

(f.) Torpedoes—electro, contact mines, ground mines, mechanical mines, circuit closers—how arranged and exploded.

Aggressive Torpedoes—Harvey's, Whitehead's, out-rigger for boats.

Fuzes and detonators—how constructed and applied—charges: powder, gun-cotton, dynamite, and litho-fracteur—relative values.

Cases—Sizes of cases for certain quantities of explosives and for different depths.

Firing by observation, and cross-bearings by shutter apparatus.

Testing table.

Cables for submarine mines.

Testing the same.

(g.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

Examination for rank of Captain and Field Officers will be of a more extended nature in the above subjects than is required of Subalterns, with the addition of—

(a.) Battalion drill in close order, and proper mode of route marching.

(b.) Standing Orders of the Force.

INFANTRY CORPS.

(a.) Squad and company drills.

(b.) Duties of guards and out-posts.

(c.) Rifle exercises.

(d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

26. Captains appointed direct must within one year from date of appointment present themselves for examination, and subalterns prior to promotions to the rank of Captain must pass an examination before a Board of Officers, in the undermentioned subjects:—

ARTILLERY CORPS.

(a.) Company drill and command of a Company in Battalion in close order.

(b.) Duties of guards.

(c.) Service of description of ordnance worked by the special branch of the corps to which they belong.

(d.) Exercise with or without machines with the same guns.

(e.) General knowledge of the ordnance served by the special branch of the corps to which they belong, as regards ammunition, stores, and carriages, care of magazines and shell-rooms, flight of projectiles, ranges, and penetration.

(f.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Force.

ENGINEER CORPS.

In addition to the subjects specified in examination for Subalterns:—

(a.) General knowledge of battalion drill and proper mode of route marching.

(b.) Military engineering:—

1. Defilade and obstacles, &c.

2. Batteries.

3. Execution of the work in connection with throwing up earthworks.

4. Detail of batteries.

5. Field kitchen. Boring and levelling. From instruction.

6. Trenches. From instruction.

(c.) Standing orders of the Force.

Examination for rank of Field Officer will be of a more extended nature in the above subjects than is required of Subalterns and Captains.

INFANTRY CORPS.

(a.) Company drill, and command of a company in battalion.

(b.) Duties of guards and outposts, and proper mode of route marching.

(c.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Force.

27. Field Officers appointed direct must within one year from date of appointment present themselves for examination, and Captains prior to promotion to the rank of Field Officer must pass an examination before a Board of Officers in the undermentioned subjects:—

ARTILLERY CORPS.

(a.) Battalion drill in close order, and the command of a battalion in brigade.

(b.) Duties of guards and proper mode of route marching.

(c.) Drill of guns in use in the Corps, and exercise with or without machines with the same.

(d.) General knowledge of the ordnance used by the Corps—ammunition, stores, carriages, &c., care of magazines, shell-rooms, flight of projectiles, ranges, and penetration.

(e.) Volunteer Act and Regulations, and Standing Orders of the Force.

(f.) Riding.

INFANTRY CORPS.

- (a.) Battalion drill.
- (b.) Knowledge of movements of Battalion in Brigade—field manœuvres and tactics.
- (c.) Duties of guards and outposts, proper mode of route marching.
- (d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Force.
- (e.) Riding.

They must further be in all respects eligible to take command of the corps or regiment in the absence of the commanding officer.

All officers will be expected to be practically acquainted with the exercises in which they have been theoretically examined.

28. If any officer appointed direct fails to pass examination, he will be examined again within six months, and in the event of a second failure he will be required to resign his commission.

29. In estimating the eligibility of officers for promotion, the examinations passed will be considered in conjunction with the reports made by their commanding officers and Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

30. The promotion of Officers up to the rank of Captain will be made as far as practicable by seniority, and to the higher grades by selection, subject to the passing of such tests as may from time to time be required, but no officer belonging to a corps connected under an administrative organization with a consolidated regiment can claim promotion in such regiment; and no officer of a reserve corps or company, can claim promotion outside such corps or company; provided however, that in the case of a vacancy in a corps, and no officer of that corps having qualified to fill the same, it shall be incumbent on higher authority in the interests of the Service to complete the establishment by the promotion or transfer of a duly qualified officer from another corps, or in some other manner.

31. Officers after twenty years' commissioned service may be recommended for a step of honorary rank on retirement, with permission to retain their rank and to wear the uniform of the Corps to which they belonged.

32. It shall be the duty of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, and other responsible officers, to bring to the notice of higher authority any misconduct or dereliction of duty on the part of any officer, and also to draw attention to any case in which the necessity for the maintenance of discipline may not have been borne in mind by those exercising authority under the Volunteer Act.

33. Names of officers for appointment, promotion, and retirement, shall be forwarded through officers commanding corps or regiments, stating whether they assent or dissent.

34. In special cases the Governor may waive or vary the examinations referred to in foregoing paragraphs.

NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

35. The non-commissioned Officers of a corps, other than Permanent Staff, shall be appointed by the commanding officer from among the members, subject to the approval of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and such orders as may be issued from time to time regarding examinations.

36. When a non-commissioned officer is reduced by the commanding officer of his corps or regiment, for any sufficient cause, the circumstances of the case having been duly investigated, a report shall be forwarded to the Brigade Office, for the information and approval of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

37. Non-commissioned officers may be required to attend a course of such special instruction as their position may require.

MEMBERS

38. No person below the age of eighteen, or above the age of thirty-five years, is to be enrolled as a Volunteer in any corps except the reserve, in which the maximum limit shall be forty-five years.

39. Boys of fourteen years of age and upwards may be enrolled for the purpose of being trained as musicians, buglers, and trumpeters, subject to a special examination as to probable fitness.

40. Apprentices are not to be enrolled without the consent of their masters.

41. No member of a corps is to be enrolled in another corps until he has legally ceased to be a member of the former corps.

42. A member of a corps can only be transferred to another corps with the approval of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

43. Persons discharged from a corps, for any cause whatever, are not to be re-enrolled in any corps without the approval of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

44. Enrolled members are classed as efficient and non-efficient.

45. In order to be reckoned as "efficient," Volunteers must have fulfilled the conditions prescribed in these Regulations.

46. The normal standard height for Volunteers is 5 feet 6 inches for Infantry, Engineer, and Torpedo Corps, and 5 feet 7 inches for Artillery. But it shall be competent for the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, when he deems it desirable, to reduce the standard to 5 feet 4 inches for Infantry, Engineer, and Torpedo Corps, and to 5 feet 6 inches for Artillery.

47. The minimum chest measurement shall be not less than 32 inches.

48. Exceptions to the standard of height may be allowed with approval of Officer Commanding Volunteer Force,—in the Artillery, in case of Drivers, in the Torpedo Corps, in the case of men who are known to possess special scientific acquirements, in the Infantry where men are shown to have exceptional skill with the rifle, and generally in the case of musicians, buglers, trumpeters, or persons who from previous experience are likely to make particularly good non-commissioned officers.

49. In the inspection of recruits for that portion of the Force serving under the partial payment system, examining Surgeons must be guided by their judgment and experience in determining whether the men possess the physical capacity requisite for discharging the military duties of Volunteers.

50. The principal points to be attended to are—

- (a.) That the recruit is of healthy aspect, and does not present an appearance of feeble health or impaired constitution from existing or previous disease.
- (b.) That he is intelligent.
- (c.) That his vision is good, or at least sufficiently good to enable him with the right eye to discern objects clearly at not less than 300 yards.
- (d.) That the capacity of the chest is fairly proportioned to his stature, and that the heart and lungs are healthy.
- (e.) That he is not ruptured.
- (f.) That the limbs are properly formed and developed, and the motions of the joints are satisfactory.

51. Recruits desiring enrolment will be first examined by the Officers Commanding Corps, and in Regiments by the Officers Commanding, their Staff, or such other person as may be ordered, to see that they come under the conditions of age, height, &c., required by the Regulations. The recruits being found suitable for enrolment, and entry having been made of the abovenamed particulars on the attestation sheets, they will, if not of the reserve, be brought before Medical Officers, or medical gentlemen duly authorized to inspect recruits, who will sign certificates in the following form, certifying to the fitness for service of such recruits, which certificates will appear on the attestation sheets:—

Form.

I, A.B., do certify that _____ does not appear to be over the age noted in this attestation sheet, that he is healthy, has good eyesight, is of proper chest measurement, is not ruptured, and is capable of bearing the fatigue incident to the performance of military duty.

52. Care must be exercised in the enrolment of men for the field batteries that a certain proportion are able to ride, and are possessed of knowledge as to management of horses.

53. Officers commanding corps and regiments are required to bring forward from time to time for discharge such Volunteers as may be unfit for the performance of their military duties, through age, infirmity, special inefficiency, or other cause—as also such Volunteers as may be below the standard or requirements of these Regulations.

PERMANENT STAFF.

54. The Permanent Staff is composed respectively of Officers and non-commissioned officers, storemen, care-takers, and others, and is generally under the orders of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, notwithstanding such officers and non-commissioned officers or others may be attached to corps or regiments.

55. The appointment, promotion, and discharge of non-commissioned officers and other subordinates of the Permanent Staff, rests with the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force; and all such persons serving for pay shall take the oath of allegiance and subscribe a declaration of voluntary service, and be subject to all regulations for the discipline of the Force.

56. Non-commissioned officers of the Permanent Staff rank with Volunteer non-commissioned officers in the different grades, according to the dates of their appointments in the Force, and the ranks in which they may have been detailed to act when specially attached to corps or regiments.

57. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to classify, from time to time, the non-commissioned officers and others of the Permanent Staff, according to zeal, experience, and general conduct—such classification to carry with it the relative rates of pay approved by the Government.

58. The Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force is authorized to place any non-commissioned officer or other subordinate of the Permanent Staff, under stoppages of pay for any offence—such as irregularity of conduct, or want of attention to his duties, which may be proved against him; such stoppage for any such offence not to exceed one month's pay; and no non-commissioned officer or other subordinate shall receive more than half his pay during the time he shall have been under arrest or suspended from duty for any offence which may have been proved against him.

59. Non-commissioned officers, when attached to a corps or regiment are, for the time being, under the direction of the officer commanding that corps or regiment, who will report to the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force any irregularity of conduct, incompetency, or want of attention he may observe on the part of these non-commissioned officers.

ORGANIZATION OF CONSOLIDATED REGIMENTS.

60. The officer commanding a consolidated regiment is responsible for the discipline, drill, and instruction of the various batteries or companies composing it, and he will notice any infraction of the provisions of the law, or of the orders of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, relating to the use of arms, the regulations about clothing, distinctive marks of rank, discipline, and the like.

61. Officers commanding batteries and companies, and others, are in like manner responsible to the officer commanding the regiment, for the condition of their batteries or companies, and all matters relating to discipline, care of arms, accoutrements, clothing, stores, the payment and messing of their men, and the carrying out generally of such other details as may be necessary for the administration of military business.

ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION.

62. The object of an administrative organization is to unite separate corps in the Country Districts under a common head—as far as practicable with a regimental system,—and to secure uniformity of discipline and drill, and to afford them the advantage of the instruction and assistance of a regimental staff.

63. The field officer commanding a regiment will have the general charge of the discipline, drill, and instruction of the several corps under his command. He will inspect them from time to time, and will take notice of any infraction of the provisions of the law, or of the orders of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, relating to the use of arms, the regulations about clothing, distinctive marks of rank, discipline, &c.

64. Officers commanding corps in a regiment are required to bring to the notice of the officer commanding the regiment all infractions of discipline, misconduct, neglect, or inefficiency on the part of those under their command, and, subject to such orders as may be issued, to take charge of all arms, accoutrements, clothing, and other stores issued to their corps, as well as to see to the payment and messing of their men, the execution of all orders, and the maintenance of discipline.

65. No officer of a corps forming part of a regiment other than the regimental commanding officer and his authorized staff has any authority over the other corps of which it is composed, in consequence of their administrative union; but whenever the several corps, or any number of them, meet together for drill, the senior officer present assumes the command.

DUTIES OF ADJUTANTS.

66. An adjutant of Volunteers is purely a staff officer, and is not allowed to hold a regimental commission, and consequently cannot exercise regimental or corps command, except as noted in paragraph 122.

67. An adjutant is appointed to give instruction to the regiment to which he is attached. He is subject to the orders of his commanding officer, and he is required to assist him in carrying on the military duties of the regiment, but he is not to take any part in non-military affairs. It is his duty to visit the component parts of the regiment, in accordance with such orders as may be issued.

68. The adjutant of a regiment is to keep a muster-roll, and is to have access to the muster-rolls and other official documents of the corps composing it.

69. Every adjutant is required to keep a diary, showing the instruction imparted by him, and the hours during which he has been in attendance at his office, as also the duties performed by the non-commissioned officers of the Permanent Staff attached to his regiment.

70. He will prepare and forward all such returns as may be required, as well as keep or superintend the keeping of the books of his regiment.

71. He will generally perform the duties of regimental paymaster and quartermaster.

72. The non-commissioned officers of the Permanent Staff attached to his regiment will be specially under his supervision.

73. As acting paymaster it will be his duty to exercise a special supervision over all claims submitted against the Government, as also to see to the prompt settlement of all claims submitted on behalf of his regiment, and, as acting quartermaster, to watch over the issue and return of all stores and their proper treatment.

DISCIPLINE.

74. Meetings are not to be held in corps or regiments, for the purpose of expressing an opinion upon the acts of a commanding officer, or of recommending any particular course of action; nor are memorials to be drawn up to the same effect; and no meetings, except those called together by or under the authority of the commanding officer of a corps or regiment are to be held. If any officer or Volunteer has cause to think himself aggrieved, he will represent his case through his captain to the officer commanding the corps or regiment; any appeal against the decision of the officer commanding the corps or regiment will be made through the latter to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and any further appeal will be made through these officers for transmission to higher authority.

75. Although it is intended that every opportunity shall be given for inquiry into well-founded complaints and the redress of grievances, officers and Volunteers will be personally responsible if they prefer complaints of a litigious or frivolous character.

76. Officers and Volunteers of a corps or regiment are not individually or collectively to attend political meetings or join in public political discussions or demonstrations in uniform. Bands of corps or regiments are not to appear in uniform for any purpose without the consent of the commanding officers of their corps or regiments.

77. When a Volunteer has been discharged for misconduct, a notification of the fact, with the cause of discharge, will be inserted in Corps, Regimental, and Brigade Orders.

78. Disobedience of orders or disrespect shown to higher authority will be instantly reported to the officer commanding the corps or regiment; and it is earnestly to be impressed upon all ranks that discipline depends so essentially upon instant obedience that not only must all commissioned officers see that it is always duly enforced, but non-commissioned officers failing to report any contempt, or neglect of their authority, will be liable to be instantly reduced. Military custom indicates that obedience should be rendered, even when it may be considered justifiable to prefer a subsequent complaint.

79. The arrest referred to in clause 28, paragraph 2, of the Volunteer Act is held, in accordance with the custom of the Military Service, in addition to such power of custody as is given by the Volunteer Act, to mean a suspension from all military duty and participation in rifle-shooting, until the cases leading to such arrests may be disposed of.

80. Duty with a corps is held to mean not only presence under arms on parade, but the performance of all administrative duties of a military nature, in or out of uniform.

81. Any Volunteer who fails to produce, for inspection, as required, any arms, accoutrements, or other property entrusted to his care, within a reasonable time, will be proceeded against under the Volunteer Act, and steps will be taken for his summary discharge from the Force, for disobedience of orders. Every Volunteer on becoming non-effective is required to immediately return to the Head Quarters of his corps, all arms, accoutrements, clothing, stores, &c., which may have been issued to him.

82. Corps or regiments are not to assemble under arms for any purpose unconnected with military drill or rifle practice, except with the approval of the Governor.

83. When Volunteers belonging to one or more corps or regiments are brought together under arms at rifle-shooting matches, or on other occasions, the senior officer present, in uniform, is to be considered in command of all the Volunteers on the ground; and although his position in this respect does not involve any authority for his interference in the arrangements of the meeting, yet he is responsible for the due maintenance of order and discipline, and the carrying out of any rules formulated to ensure safety.

84. Volunteers in uniform shall give the military salute to His Excellency the Governor, Officers of the Military and Naval Forces of the Colony, and Officers of Her Majesty's Imperial Service, when in uniform.

85. Volunteers will be careful on all occasions to appear either in the authorized uniform of their corps or regiments, or in purely civilian dress—the unsoldierlike appearance of Volunteers dressed partly in uniform and partly in civilian costume bringing discredit not only on themselves but on the force to which they belong.

86. Officers commanding batteries or companies, and others, in corps or regiments, are required to report, through the proper channel, all breaches of discipline and neglects of duty, to the officers commanding their corps or regiments.

87. The Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, officers commanding corps, and during continuous training the officers commanding administrative regiments, in place of officers commanding corps, shall have power to enforce the following fines :—

	s. d.
(a.) For appearing on parade not in the order of the day, or with clothing, arms, accoutrements dirty, incomplete, or improperly put on	2 6
(b.) Talking in the ranks	2 6
(c.) Inattention, and other minor irregularities	2 6
(d.) Neglect of duty	5 0
(e.) Neglecting to notify to Officer commanding Battery or Company change of address, within fourteen days of such change	7 6
(f.) Leaving the ranks without permission	7 6
(g.) Minor cases of insubordination and disobedience of orders	10 0
(h.) Drunkenness on parade or duty, or in camp, or elsewhere in uniform, will be visited with a fine of 20s. for the first offence, and a repetition of the offence within twelve months will invariably be punished by discharge.

Fines inflicted under the above will be noted in the quarterly returns, and will form a re-credit to the public.

88. Officers commanding corps or regiments will, immediately after parade, receive the reports of officers as to any Volunteers who have misconducted themselves, and in case of fine will cause record of offence and punishment to be made in the Order Book, or, in aggravated cases, they will report the circumstances to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force in writing, who will, if any additional penalty appear requisite, order a portion of the pay, not exceeding double the amounts above specified, to be stopped, or the case to be dealt with as may seem to him to be necessary.

89. These fines will be deducted from the pay of the Volunteer, whether the same has accrued prior to or subsequent to such fines being awarded.

90. Commanding Officers of Corps or Regiments will report to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force all cases in which fines are inflicted; and if any Volunteer shall feel himself aggrieved, he may address the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force on the subject, through the officer commanding his corps or regiment.

91. The Officer Commanding Volunteer Force is empowered to issue such standing and temporary orders, from time to time, as may be necessary to facilitate the administration of business.

92. No member of the Force is to be buried with military honors beyond those due to his rank, and except by the express desire of his friends, notified to the officer commanding the corps.

93. The Queen's Regulations and Customs of the Imperial Military Service will be taken generally as a guide in all matters not specifically dealt with in the Volunteer Act and these Regulations.

COURTS OF INQUIRY.

94. A Court of Inquiry is to be considered as a Board, of which the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force may make use to assist him in arriving at a correct conclusion on any subject on which it may be expedient for him to institute an inquiry.

95. If it is found necessary to cause the conduct of an Officer to be investigated by a Court of Inquiry, the Governor can alone direct the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force to convene the Court, which in such a case must be composed of Officers of the Volunteer Force.

96. The duties of a Court of Inquiry depend on the instructions which the convening authority may think proper to give. It may either be employed merely collecting and arranging evidence, or it may in addition be directed to give an opinion as to the facts established by that evidence; but it will have no power to pronounce any judgment as to the course to be taken by the convening authority in dealing with those facts. When facts connected with the conduct of an individual are submitted to the investigation of a Court of Inquiry, it is necessary that the instructions for the guidance of the Court should be sufficiently specific as regards matter, names, dates, and places, to convey clearly to the Court the nature of the subject into which it is appointed to inquire, and also to enable the person whose conduct is called in question to know what he has to answer.

97. It rests with the convening authority to decide whether it shall be open or close. All evidence taken by a Court of Inquiry is to be recorded, as nearly as possible, in the words of the witness on oath, and in the order in which it is received. The proceedings, when closed, are to be signed by the President and members, after which they are to be forwarded by the President direct to the convening authority.

98. A Court of Inquiry may be re-assembled as often as superior authority may deem necessary, and on every occasion of its meeting it is competent to receive and record new evidence, if so directed.

Declaration to be made by President and members of Court.

99. I, A.B., do declare upon my honor, that I will duly and impartially inquire into the matters to be brought before this Court; I further declare upon my honor, that I will not on any account, or at any time, disclose or discover my own vote or opinion, or that of any particular member of the Court, unless required to do so by competent authority.

100. A record of the above declaration having been taken is to be entered in the proceedings of the Court.

DRILL, TRAINING, EXERCISE, AND EFFICIENCY.

101. To test efficiency, every corps will be inspected annually by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, or other appointed officer.

102. Recruits enrolled in the Force shall attend the head quarters of the corps in which they are enrolled, or at such other place, and at such time as may be directed by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, for such preliminary drill as may be necessary to fit them for the ranks.

103. Recruit drill will be conducted by the Permanent Staff, under the direction of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and recruits shall be passed into the ranks by an officer of the General or Permanent Staff, or other appointed person.

104. A recruit shall be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st of January of any year, provided during the previous year he has attended, subsequent to his being passed into the ranks, at least the proportion of one drill per month, including Annual Inspection, for the remaining part of such year, and also has attended such period of continuous training, or such musketry instruction, as may have been ordered during the remaining part of such year: provided that no reserve recruit shall be required to attend any period of continuous training.

105. No Officer or Volunteer under the system of partial payment shall, except as noted in paragraph 23, be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st January of any year unless during the previous year he has fulfilled the requirements hereunder specified: provided that field officers of the regimental staff will not be prejudiced as regards efficiency for non-attendance at night drills; but it is required that a general superintendence and occasional presence at such drills shall be given by them.

- (a.) Continuous training and exercise for six days at Easter or other convenient time, and at such place as the Governor may appoint.
- (b.) Twelve daylight attendances (including Annual Inspection) out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (c.) Twelve night attendances out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (d.) Shot practice for Artillery Volunteers—Attendance at two lectures in the case of Volunteers of the Engineer and Torpedo Corps, and a course of Musketry for Infantry Volunteers, will be required annually in addition to the attendances enumerated in (b) and (c), and for which no pay will be granted beyond that earned by efficiency.
- (e.) If absent from Annual Inspection with leave of the Commanding Officer, or through sickness duly certified, one attendance will be required in addition to those enumerated in (b) and (c).

No Officer or Volunteer of the Reserve shall, except as notified in paragraph 23, be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st of January of any year, unless during the previous year he has fulfilled the requirements hereunder specified.

- (a.) Eight daylight attendances (including Annual Inspection) out of twelve ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (b.) Twelve night attendances out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (c.) Shot practice for Artillery Volunteers—Attendance at one lecture in the case of Volunteers of the Engineer and Torpedo Corps will be required annually, and a course of Musketry for Infantry Volunteers will be required biennially in addition to the attendances enumerated in (a) and (b).
- (d.) If absent from Annual Inspection with leave of the Commanding Officer, or through sickness duly certified, one attendance will be required in addition to those enumerated in (a) and (b).

Nevertheless the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force shall have power to direct any Volunteer to be classed as a non-efficient for want of proficiency, whether in drill, musketry instruction, or a knowledge of the special duties of his position.

106. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to issue, from time to time, such orders as may be necessary to secure the attendance at parades, &c., of Bandsmen, in lieu of the special training required in paragraph 105; and, except in the case of the reserve, at such rates of remuneration as may seem proper.

107. For the purpose of efficiency, the duration of parades shall be at least an hour and a half, but should corps or regiments having assembled be dismissed through inclement weather or other cause before the hour and a half be passed, such parade may be returned under the authority of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

108. The field officers of a corps or regiment are not to be absent from inspection without first having obtained leave from the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

109. When corps under an administrative system are inspected at their own Head Quarters, the commanding officers of such corps must obtain leave from the officer commanding the regiment. In each case sufficient reason must be assigned for leave being required.

110. Other officers and Volunteers who desire to be absent from the Annual Inspection for any special reason must apply to the commanding officers of corps, stating reasons for their applications. If such reasons are not satisfactory, leave will be refused. In case of sickness a medical certificate must be transmitted within one week.

111. It shall be competent to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, and officer commanding corps and regiments, to order a course of recruit drill to such individuals as may fail to exhibit a proper degree of proficiency; but such attendance at drill will not count towards pay or efficiency.

112. Attendance at funerals will not be allowed to count towards efficiency, nor will pay be granted for such attendance.

113. It shall be competent for the Officers Commanding the Volunteer Force to order a course of special drill for corps and individuals whenever, in his opinion, rendered necessary, but such attendance at drill will not count towards pay or efficiency.

114. No officer or Volunteer arriving on the parade ground after a parade has been formed up shall be allowed to fall in. A parade shall be held to be formed up when immediately after assembly the roll has been called.

115. Commanding officers of corps or regiments are responsible for forwarding the applications of officers for leave of absence from continuous training, through the proper channel, to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force; and in transmitting the same, they should express their own opinions as to the granting or withholding of leave, after having obtained full information on the subject. An officer in asking for leave must not content himself with stating urgent private affairs as the ground of his application, but must give good reason why such leave is absolutely necessary.

116. Any leave from continuous training (except in case of sickness) must be applied for previous to or on the first day of the assembly of the corps or regiment for such training.

117. An officer who applies for leave on account of sickness must forward a medical certificate as follows of the _____, of the _____ corps or regiment, having applied for a certificate on which to ground his application for leave of absence, I do hereby certify that I have carefully examined this officer, and find that [the nature of the disease, &c., is to be here fully stated, and the period during which the officer has suffered under its effects], and that in consequence thereof I conceive him to be incapable of military duty.

118. When the whole or any part of the Force is called out for continuous training, it shall be notified, when necessary by the post, through commanding officers of corps, to those concerned, when such training and exercise shall take place, and publication thereof shall also be made in one or more of the newspapers of the district. Any such notice so published shall be deemed a sufficient notice to every officer and Volunteer to whom the same applies, notwithstanding that he may not have received notice by post.

119. Any Volunteer who, without leave lawfully granted, or sickness certified, according to these Regulations, absents himself for a period of three months from the time and place appointed for training, or absents himself from the time and place appointed for the continuous training and exercise of his corps or regiment, or during the time of such training and exercise, shall be discharged, exception however being allowed when in the opinion of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force such circumstances may exist as to warrant a relaxation of such penalty.

120. Corps, battery, and company parade states, showing the total number on parade, with names of absentees, must be rendered to the commanding officer or adjutant of the regiment immediately before the parade is dismissed, and such officer is held strictly responsible for the correctness, as regards numbers present. Officers commanding corps, batteries and companies are responsible that a proper record is preserved, for entry in quarterly returns, of the names of those present on parade, as no pleas of error will be entertained after such returns have been rendered to the Brigade Office.

121. It is competent to the senior officer on parade to direct any officer to assume command for the purpose of manœuvring a corps or regiment, although other officers senior to him be present.

122. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, or officers commanding corps and regiments, to detail an officer or non-commissioned officer of the Permanent Staff to assume command, on parade, of any corps or regiment for the purpose of exercise and instruction.

MUSKETRY INSTRUCTION.

123. The course of instruction for Volunteers will be as laid down in Brigade Orders from time to time.

124. With a view to stimulate individual exertion, and to reward the proficiency of Volunteers in the use and management of the rifle, a system of badges has been adopted, and the following rules for the award thereof are to be strictly adhered to:—

- 1st. To the best shot of a regiment, an embroidered badge of cross muskets and crown above and below on scarlet cloth ground.
- 2nd. To the best shot of a corps or company an embroidered badge of cross muskets and crown above on scarlet cloth ground.
- 3rd. To certain of the first class shots—(to be styled "marksmen") an embroidered badge of cross muskets on scarlet cloth ground. These badges are to be worn on the left arm, immediately above the point of the cuff, and retained for the period of one year from date of issue.

125. Every Volunteer must go through the course with his own corps or company: the only exceptions will be in the case of men who, having commenced the course, become ill and unable to go on, duly verified by medical certificate, or men who are absent on special leave granted by the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force previous to commencing the course.

PAY AND ALLOWANCES.

126. Pay and allowances shall be granted to the several ranks at such rates as may be sanctioned by the Government; but payment shall, under no circumstances, other than those noted in paragraphs 23 and 106, be made, except for performance of actual duty, and on the following system,—for example, in the case of gunners, sappers, and privates:—

- (a.) 10s. for each day of attendance during the period of continuous training.
- (b.) 5s. for each attendance at daylight drills.
- (c.) 2s. 6d. for each attendance at night drills.
- (d.) Balance unappropriated as above, and equalling one-fourth of annual rate, as bonus for efficiency.

The annual rates of pay of other ranks, other than command pay, will be proportionately distributed in like manner.

127. Recruits enrolled for the first time will be entitled to receive, on being passed into the ranks, a sum equal to that appropriated for efficiency, but such recruits will not be eligible to receive efficiency money on the 1st of January following. It shall also be competent for the Officer commanding the Volunteer Force to strike off the pay list any recruit who may have failed to go through a course of musketry when opportunity offers to complete efficiency in respect thereto.

128. No Officer or Volunteer shall be entitled to receive pay for any time during which he has been in arrest, or under suspension from duty, if adjudged to have been guilty of the matters alleged against him.

129. Any officer or Volunteer who absents himself either with or without leave, for any cause whatsoever, from the time and place appointed for attendances at drill, or does not appear at the time and place appointed for continuous training and exercise, or so absents himself during the time of such training and exercise, shall not be entitled to pay for the period of such absence; neither shall command pay be drawn by any officer who is absent from duty beyond one month, but the proportion of such pay for period of absence shall be paid to the officer in actual performance of his duties; nor shall forage or horse allowance be drawn by any Officer who is absent on leave beyond three and one month respectively, but the proportion of such allowance for period of absence shall be paid to the officer in actual performance of his duties.

130. An allowance to regimental messes may be charged at the daily rate of 5s. for every officer present during continuous training.

131. Officers to whom full forage allowance is granted will be required to keep and use a horse and appointments, which must be their own bonâ fide property, and suitable for military purposes. In default they will only be entitled to receive horse allowance for the provision of suitable horse and appointments.

132. Pay accounts will be rendered and settled quarterly.

133. No claim against the Government in respect of pay or allowances will be admitted for any year if not submitted to the Brigade Office for adjustment prior to the 1st day of March in the year following, in order that the performance of the public business may be facilitated, and the provisions of the Audit Act observed.

134. It shall be the duty of the Brigade Paymaster to see that all claims against individuals or Corps are closed annually, and not later than the 15th of March in every year.

135. An annual capitation allowance of £2 shall be granted for every efficient officer and Volunteer of a Reserve Corps, and the issue of such allowance shall be based upon the number of efficient shown in the annual returns; but no claim to this allowance shall be admitted at the commencement of any year if the number of efficient in any corps be less than three-fifths of the authorized establishment of such corps and the services of such corps shall be dispensed with.

136. These capitation allowances are to provide officers commanding corps with the means of supplying uniform and of meeting expenses other than those connected with the issue of arms, accoutrements, ammunition, musketry stores, and the provision of instruction; and should a surplus remain at the end of any year after deduction on account of above, the same will be handed over to officers commanding corps, for deposit in a Bank, and kept distinct from any private or other account.

137. In case of the disbandment of a corps any balance standing to the credit of the capitation fund with the Brigade Paymaster shall become the property of the Government, after payment of all expenses sanctioned under these regulations.

138. A committee shall be formed of the officers and the two senior non-commissioned officers of the corps, to audit the accounts and prepare an annual balance sheet of the funds accruing from these allowances; and such balance sheet shall be rendered to the Brigade Office not later than the 1st of March of every year, for the information of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force, and a copy thereof shall also be published by the commanding officer in corps orders. The account kept in the books of the Bank shall be subject only to the drafts of the commanding officer and two members, whom the committee may conjointly empower to draw cheques.

CLOTHING.

139. Uniforms will be supplied on the requisitions of commanding officers of corps, the cost of which will be defrayed by the public, and in the case of reserve corps out of the capitation grant, except as hereinafter provided.

140. The distinctions in uniform and appointments, which are prescribed in Her Majesty's Regulations, to denote the ranks of the wearers, are to be observed. Officers commanding corps and regiments are held responsible that the local rules regarding uniforms are strictly adhered to.

141. The several portions of a regiment must be clothed alike.

142. Clothing will be issued on the following scale for Volunteers :—

- 1 tunic every five years
- 1 jacket biennially
- 2 pairs trousers triennially
- 1 forage cap biennially
- Helmet every five years

There will be granted to Reserve Corps, on first formation the following articles :—

1 tunic, 1 pair of trousers, and 1 helmet to each Volunteer on fixed establishment.

143. Recruits will be entitled to clothing on having passed preliminary drill.

144. Volunteers will, for period of continuous training, provide themselves with kit, as follows :—

- 2 shirts
- 2 pair socks
- 1 towel
- 1 knife, fork, and spoon
- 1 comb and brush
- 2 brushes
- 1 box blacking
- 1 piece of soap
- 1 housewife
- 2 pairs boots, suitable to the Service.

145. It is required of officers commanding corps in all cases in which uniform has been damaged, rendered un-serviceable, or lost, prior to the expiration of the period during which it was required to last, to cause such individual to repair or renew such uniform at his own cost, or in default to proceed under penal clauses of Volunteer Act in the above respect.

146. Volunteers resigning or being discharged from the Force shall, in cases in which the uniform returned by them has not lasted the prescribed period, be liable to such stoppage from any pay which may be accruing to them at time of such resignation or discharge, as will represent the proportionate value of such uniform, with reference to the unexpired portion of the period for which it was originally issued. After uniform has lasted the prescribed period, or has been paid for, it may be considered the property of the individual.

ARMS, ACCOUTREMENTS, AMMUNITION, AND STORES.

147. All arms, accoutrements, stores, &c., provided to a corps or regiment remain the property of the Government and the commanding officer for the time being is held responsible for their being at all times in a serviceable state, and for their being returned into store when required in good condition, fair wear and tear excepted.

148. Great attention should be paid to the proper cleaning and care of arms entrusted to Volunteers; and officers are to point out to those under their command that the barrel of the rifle is so delicately finished, that should rust be permitted to accumulate inside, it must inevitably destroy the integrity of the grooves, and consequently impair the accuracy of the weapon.

149. The establishment of officers and non-commissioned officers for corps and regiments is amply sufficient to ensure a proper supervision of the arms and accoutrements and other stores. Neglect must therefore always exist where the arms or accoutrements, &c., are in bad order, or where there is an absence of systematic issue and return.

150. The rifle must invariably be cleaned immediately after use.

151. Volunteers must not, under any circumstances, tamper with their rifles, or use other than the authorized ammunition; and any rifles which, on inspection, may be found to have had their locks or any other parts improperly altered or damaged, will be at once returned into store, and repaired at the expense of the corps, or individual.

152. As the commanding officer is responsible for the condition of the arms issued to his corps or regiment, it will be his duty to withdraw permission to Volunteers to keep their arms at their own houses, whenever such Volunteers fail to keep them in proper order, and he will cause the same to be deposited after drill in armouries, or places set apart for that purpose. In any case in which the arms are neglected, the discretionary power granted to the commanding officer in this respect will be withdrawn.

153. The repairs of all arms returned by commanding officers will be executed in the manner and to the extent laid down for the repair of arms in possession of the regular Army. In the case of the repair of a barrel, or supply of a new barrel, the complete arm, with its bayonet, should be sent in.

154. Commanding officers are to forward to Head Quarters any Government arms in the possession of their corps or regiment requiring repairs, accompanied by a certificate of the cause and extent of damage. The cost of repairing arms, if damaged wilfully, or by neglect, or want of due precaution, together with transmission to and fro, will be charged to the corps, or individual.

155. Ammunition will be issued at the discretion of the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force.

156. Every country corps is required to provide a secure place for the custody of its small arm ammunition.

157. When ammunition is provided by Government for the use of a corps, careful arrangements should be made by the commanding officer for its conveyance from the railway station or place to which it may have been transmitted.

158. The commanding officer of a corps or regiment is responsible to the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force for all stores which are supplied by Government for the use of the corps or regiment.

159. Targets and mooring-tackle are supplied to artillery corps.

160. The hire of boats to place and remove the targets is also allowed.

161. All surplus stores—such as empty powder-barrels, metal-lined cases, metal cylinders, or empty bursters—are to be forwarded to Head Quarters by the cheapest and most direct conveyance.

162. In case where ammunition is forwarded to a corps, for instructional purposes, the officer commanding such corps will be held responsible for any unexpended balance; and in case of such balance not being accounted for, the value of the same may be made a charge against such commanding officer, to be deducted from his pay and allowance, or, in case of a reserve corps, will be made good by deduction from capitation allowance.

163. A certificate must be rendered on the 1st January in each year, by officers commanding corps and regiments, that, subsequent to the Annual Inspection in the previous year, such arms as were not then seen by the inspecting officer had been duly seen by them or their regimental staff, and found complete and in good order, or otherwise, as the case may be.

164. It shall be the duty of officers commanding corps and regiments to require of officers relinquishing or assuming command of individual batteries or companies to sign a mutual certificate of transfer, according to form.

165. Any loss, damage, or destruction of arms, accoutrements, or stores, which may be traced to any officer or Volunteer will be required to be made good by stoppage from his pay, or, in default thereof, proceedings against him will be instituted under the Volunteer Act. In the case of reserve corps, any such loss, damage, or destruction will be made good by deduction from capitation allowance.

CORRESPONDENCE.

166. All official correspondence from corps is to proceed from the officer commanding, or pass through him.

167. When a corps forms part of a regiment wholly or partially under an administrative system, the official correspondence of the officer commanding the corps is to pass through the field officer commanding.

168. Applications for leave of absence, returns, reports, and correspondence on military subjects are to be addressed to the Brigade-Major.

169. The Paymaster will correspond direct with the Treasury and Audit Office on matters connected with his financial duties.

170. Commanding officers of corps formed separately or regiments, and adjutants of such corps and regiments, will communicate direct with the Paymaster on matters of finance.

171. Applications for leave of absence for officers up to one month, and for Volunteers up to three months, must be made to the officers commanding corps. Beyond these periods, and in the cases referred to in paragraphs 108 and 115 of the Regulations, application must be made to the officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

172. Correspondence of artillery corps will be addressed to the Officer Commanding Artillery Forces.

173. As a general rule the system here laid down will be adhered to, but it will be competent for the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force to issue orders in variation thereof, from time to time, in view of facilitating the conduct of public and departmental business.

BOOKS AND RETURNS.

174. It shall be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to require such books to be kept up by corps or regiments, and such returns and states to be rendered from time to time as he may deem necessary.

GUN-DRILL AND PRACTICE OF ARTILLERY VOLUNTEERS.

175. No gun practice of Artillery Volunteers is to be carried on, except under the superintendence of an officer of the Permanent Staff, unless a relaxation of this rule has been specially sanctioned by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

176. Neither Volunteers not at exercise, nor other spectators, are to be allowed to congregate round barrels or cases containing powder which are being issued.

177. Bands of music must be prohibited from playing, either inside or in the immediate vicinity of batteries, during gun practice.

178. Whether in firing with or without shot, saturated cartridges are not to be used; they spoil ranges, and are apt to leave embers in the gun.

179. The practice of firing blank cartridges against time is forbidden.

180. Sword-bayonets are not to be used by artillerymen engaged in gun-drill or moving powder.

181. No smoking is on any account to be allowed in the vicinity of gun-carriages or waggons in which ammunition is being conveyed.

182. In all cases in which blank ammunition is fired from batteries in use by Volunteers, which consist of less than four guns, the intervals between the firing are, under no circumstances, to be less than 20 seconds, and especial care is to be taken in such cases in sponging out the gun and serving the vent, with the view of obviating as far as possible any chance of accident.

183. Magazines are to be kept strictly clean, and free from all gravel, sand, or grit; and no iron, light, lucifer match, or anything likely to cause combustion is to be permitted therein, nor is any one to enter a magazine with articles of a combustible nature on his person.

184. No smoking or fire is to be permitted near a magazine.

185. In moving powder-barrels about a magazine all friction is to be avoided as much as possible, and care to be taken that no powder is spilt on the floor, on which an old rug or blanket is to be placed; and all persons employed in a magazine must either wear list slippers or remove their boots or shoes. The magazine floor must be carefully swept after each transaction.

186. When a magazine is open for airing during fine weather, some one must be in charge on the spot, to warn persons from approaching it except on duty.

187. Cases or barrels of powder are not to be opened either inside a magazine or immediately outside the door. When brought out to supply batteries in action, they are to be deposited in rear and to windward thereof, under proper guard.

PRECAUTIONS AT RIFLE PRACTICE.

188. In order to provide for the safety of the public, indiscriminate private practice at Volunteer Rifle Ranges is not to be permitted. All practice should be so regulated as to ensure the presence of an officer or non-commissioned officer, who will be in charge of the firing party, and held responsible for enforcing strict regularity and discipline.

189. None but experienced persons are to be employed as Markers at Rifle Ranges. The responsibility of employing boys in that capacity at private practice must rest with the members of the Force.

190. The officer or non-commissioned officer in charge of the firing point will see that the special Rules and Regulations bearing on the safety of Rifle Ranges are carried out.

191. Officers in charge of Rifle Ranges will afford facilities for target practice to cadet corps, subject to such orders as may be issued by the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force from time to time.

CADET CORPS.

192. Cadet corps are formed of youths of twelve years of age and upwards.

193. The members of a cadet corps are not to be attested for service.

194. The commanding officer of a cadet corps receives only an honorary commission. He may appoint acting subalterns in the proportion of one for every fifty cadets.

195. No cadet corps shall be formed unless fifty members can be enrolled; and prior to the acceptance of service a guarantee must be given by the Head Master of the school wherein such corps is sought to be formed, that due care will be taken of such Government stores as shall be issued, and that payment will be made of such charges as may be assessed on behalf of the Government against such school, on account of loss, damage, or destruction.

196. Any cadet corps whose number of enrolled members falls below twenty-five shall ipso facto be deemed to have ceased to exist and commissions to have lapsed, and it shall thereupon be incumbent on the Head Master of the school to return forthwith all arms, stores, &c., the property of the Government.

197. The undermentioned paragraphs of these Regulations do not apply to the reserve:—87, 88, 89, 90, 115, 116, 118, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 144, and 146.

SCHEDULE.

*Form of Certificate for Exemption from Jury List.**

I certify that _____ of _____ has served as an efficient Volunteer for two years, thereby claiming exemption from serving as a Juror, during the year _____, in accordance with clause 37 of 31 Victoria, No. 5, of the Volunteer Regulation Act of 1867.

Commanding Volunteer Force.

(Place and date.)

* This Certificate to be renewed at the commencement of each year.

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

VOLUNTEER FORCE REGULATION ACT OF 1867.

(AMENDED REGULATIONS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 5, sec. 50.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 25th September, 1884.

VOLUNTEER FORCE.—AMENDED REGULATIONS.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased, under the power conferred by the 50th section of the Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867, to make the following Regulations for the Volunteer Force, in substitution of clauses 87, 104, 105, 107, and 127 of the Regulations published in a Supplementary Government Gazette of the 25th August, 1883.

ALEX. STUART.

87. The Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, Officers Commanding Corps, and during continuous training the Officers Commanding Administrative Regiments, in place of Officers Commanding Corps, shall have power to enforce the following fines:—

	s.	d.
(a.) For appearing on parade not in the order of the day, or with clothing, arms, accoutrements dirty, incomplete, or improperly put on.....	2	6
(b.) Talking in the ranks .....	2	6
(c.) Inattention, and other minor irregularities.....	2	6
(d.) Neglect of duty .....	5	0
(e.) Neglecting to notify to Officer Commanding Battery or Company change of address, within fourteen days of such change .....	7	6
(f.) Leaving the ranks without permission.....	7	6
(g.) Minor cases of insubordination and disobedience of orders .....	10	0
(h.) Drunkenness on parade or duty, or in camp, or elsewhere in uniform, will be visited with a fine of 20s. for the first offence, and a repetition of the offence within twelve months will invariably be punished by discharge.

Fines inflicted under the above will be noted in the quarterly returns, and will be retained by Officers Commanding Regiments and Corps for the purpose of encouraging proficiency in the arm special to their respective branches of the service.

104. A recruit shall be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st of January of any year, provided during the previous year he has attended, subsequent to his being passed into the ranks, at least the proportion of one drill per month, including Annual Inspection, for the remaining part of such year, and also has attended such period of continuous training, shot practice, proportion of lectures, and musketry instruction, as may have been ordered during the remaining part of such year: Provided that no Reserve recruit shall be required to attend any period of continuous training.

105. No Officer or Volunteer under the system of partial payment shall, except as noted in paragraph 23, be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st January of any year unless during the previous year he has fulfilled the requirements hereunder specified: provided that Field Officers of the regimental staff will not be prejudiced as regards efficiency for non-attendance at night drills; but it is required that a general superintendence and occasional presence at such drills shall be given by them.

- (a.) Continuous training and exercise for six days at Easter or other convenient time, and at such place as the Governor may appoint.
- (b.) Twelve daylight attendances (including Annual Inspection) out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (c.) Twelve night attendances out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (d.) Shot practice for Artillery Volunteers; attendance at two lectures in the case of Volunteers of the Engineer and Torpedo Corps; and a course of Musketry for Infantry Volunteers will be required annually, for which attendances as follows will be allowed:—

Shot practice.—Two attendances under sub-section (c.)

Lectures.—Two attendances under sub-section (c.)

Musketry.—Three attendances under sub-section (c) for Volunteers who may qualify for 1st Class. Two attendances under sub-section (c) for Volunteers who may qualify for 2nd Class.

- (e.) If absent from Annual Inspection with leave of the Commanding Officer, or through sickness duly certified, one attendance will be required in addition to those enumerated in (b).

No Officer or Volunteer of the Reserve shall, except as notified in paragraph 23, be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st of January of any year unless during the previous year he has fulfilled the requirements hereunder specified.

- (a.) Eight daylight attendances (including Annual Inspection) out of twelve ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (b.) Twelve night attendances out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (c.) Shot practice for Artillery Volunteers—Attendance at one lecture in the case of Volunteers of the Engineer and Torpedo Corps will be required annually, and a course of Musketry for Infantry Volunteers will be required biennially, for which attendances as follows will be allowed:—

Shot Practice.—Two attendances under sub-section (b).

Lecture.—One attendance under sub-section (b).

Musketry.—Three attendances under sub-section (b) for Volunteers who may qualify for 1st Class. Two attendances under sub-section (b) for Volunteers who may qualify for 2nd Class.

- (d.) If absent from Annual Inspection with leave of the Commanding Officer, or through sickness duly certified, one attendance will be required in addition to those enumerated in (a).

Nevertheless the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force shall have power to direct any Volunteer to be classed as a non-efficient for want of proficiency, whether in drill, musketry instruction, or a knowledge of the special duties of his position.

107. For the purpose of efficiency, the duration of parades shall be at least an hour and a half, by day, and an hour by night; but should Corps or Regiments having assembled be dismissed through inclement weather or other cause before the time specified be passed, such parade may be returned under the authority of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force.

127. Recruits enrolled for the first time will be entitled to receive, on being passed into the ranks, a sum equal to that appropriated for efficiency, but no recruit will be eligible to receive efficiency money on the 1st of January following. It shall also be competent for the Officer Commanding the Volunteer Force to strike off the pay list any recruit who may have failed to go through shot practice, proportion of lectures, or musketry instruction when opportunity offered to complete efficiency in respect thereto.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

CHARGES AGAINST THE OFFICERS OF THE "WOLVERENE."
(CORRESPONDENCE, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 25 September, 1884.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 26th August, 1884, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all charges made by Mr. F. H. Rowe against the Officers of the ‘Wolverene,’ and all correspondence and documents bearing upon the same subject.”

(Mr. A. G. Taylor.)

SCHEDULE.

NO.	PAGE.
1. Mr. T. H. Rowe to the Lieutenant Commanding H.M.C.S. “Wolverene.” 26 April, 1884 .....	2
2. Statement by Thomas Rowe. 27 April, 1884 .....	2
3. Mr. T. H. Rowe to the Colonial Secretary .....	2
4. The Lieutenant Commanding H.M.C.S. “Wolverene” to the Principal Under Secretary. Two enclosures. 1 May, 1884.....	2
5. The Lieutenant Commanding H.M.C.S. “Wolverene” to the Principal Under Secretary. 1 May, 1884.....	4
6. Minute by Colonial Secretary .....	4
7. Mr. T. H. Rowe to the Colonial Secretary .....	4
8. Same to same. 24 June, 1884.....	5

[765 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £4 1s. 6d.]

CHARGES AGAINST THE OFFICERS OF THE "WOLVERENE."

No. 1.

Mr. T. H. Rowe to The Lieutenant Commanding H.M.C.S. "Wolverene."

Sir,

H.M.C.S. "Wolverene," 26 April, 1884.

I am extremely sorry to have to make such a serious charge against one of your officers, and only for your sake I should have made it public on the quarter-deck to-day, as I have known it a long time, and I am now placing it in your hands to do as you see fit with it, and for you to be on the safe side and its consequence. Mr. Thomas has, one time and the other, been taking a very large quantity of ship's gear to his own house,—to wit, he has taken dozens of knives and forks, spoons, glasses, cruet-stands, and other stores; in fact, he has taken everything that is any good. Only this last week all, or nearly all, the fancy fruit dishes has gone to his place this week. Not only this, I have five other distinct charges to make against him, far more serious, which you, quite innocently, would be involved in. What I have just told you is the lightest charge of all,—the others are far more serious. Sir, this is no idle talk of mine; when you have read this send for me in your cabin, and I will tell you what you ought to know and how you would be involved in it. Sir, by me writing to you like this, I hope you will not think I am doing it out of any ill-will towards you, as it is not so—the fact is I don't want you to be mixed up in it.

P.S.—When you have read this send for me in your cabin, I will then come and tell you what I know.

P.S.—I know the consequences if what I say is not true.

I remain, &c.,

T. H. ROWE.

No. 2.

Statement by Thomas Rowe.

H.M.C.S. "Wolverene," Sydney, 27 April, 1884.

I, Thomas Rowe (painter), do here testify that I have no other charges against any officer, man, or boy, in this ship except those this day laid before the Captain.

T. H. ROWE.

Witnessed by FRANCIS P. TAYLOR, Lieutenant Commander.

Charges.

1. Taking mess gear ashore, and keeping it at his own house for private purposes.
2. Splicing main brace without orders from Commanding Officer on different occasions.
3. Tampering with stores (gold-leaf, &c.)
4. Falsifications on pay-sheet.

No. 3.

Mr. T. H. Rowe to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

H.M.C.S. "Wolverene," Sydney, 28 April, 1884.

I beg to inform you that I am about to make some very serious charges against Mr. Thomas, M.A.A.; and knowing that if I do not prove them the result will be very serious for me, I wish to have an independent inquiry into the matter. Sir, they formed a Court on board, to which I objected to, on the grounds that I would not have got an impartial hearing; there would have been no evidence taken down, and his own judges he would require as his witnesses. I wanted to ask him two or three questions before I stated my charges, and it was not allowed.

The charges:—

- 1st. Gross neglect of duty.
- 2nd. Taking stores and fitting, &c.
- 3rd. Putting down and receiving goods not service.
- 4th. Issuing ship's beer without orders.
- 5th. Receiving presents from contractors; and other charges.

I remain, &c.,

T. H. ROWE,

They have detained me on board, and the accused is at large.

Painter and storekeeper.

Referred to Captain Taylor for inquiry and report by direction of the Colonial Secretary.—B.C.; 28/4/84. C.W.

No. 4.

The Lieutenant Commanding H.M.C.S. "Wolverene" to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

1 May, 1884.

As directed in your B.C. of the 28th ultimo, I have now the honor to enclose herewith, for your information, the result of the inquiry held on board this ship, on charges made by T. H. Rowe, ship's painter, against Mr. E. Thomas, Master-at-arms and Paymaster, also report on the same.

I have, &c.,

FRANCIS P. TAYLOR.

I understand the Attorney-General will see the Colonial Secretary on this matter.—C.W., 30/8/84.

I understand that these papers have been called for in Parliament, meanwhile that Rowe has left the Service.—A.S.

[Enclosures.]

[Enclosures.]

1.

REPORT of inquiry into charges brought by T. Rowe, painter, against Mr. E. Thomas, Master-at-Arms and Paymaster, held on board H.M.C.S. "Wolverene," 29th April, 1884.

1st charge—Gross neglect of duty.

This charge was not entertained.

2nd charge—Taking stores and fittings, &c.

(a.) Taking casks of beer to his own house from the ship.

Ans. Mr. Thomas admitted taking beer to his house on different occasions, but stated that it was paid for privately, being supplied in 5-gallon casks, whereas the ship's beer is always supplied in 10-gallon casks.

Mr. Kidman being called as a witness, backed up Mr. Thomas's statement in refuting the charge.

(b.) Taking mess knives and forks on shore.

The accuser called boy M'Kinley as a witness, who, on being questioned, stated that he remembered knives and forks being taken ashore, and knew nothing of their being returned.

Ans.—Mr. Thomas admitted taking them on shore, but stated that he borrowed them from Isaac Rowe (the then Captain's steward) from Saturday till Monday, for a special purpose.

The accuser here called boy Holliday as a witness, who, on being asked if he had seen any stores go out of the ship, stated that he had seen nothing but the casks of beer as above-mentioned in (a) of this charge.

(c.) Taking writing-table used in office (before re-furnishing) ashore for private purposes.

Ans.—Admitted by Mr. Thomas, who stated that the writing-table in question had been the private property of Captain Symons, who presented it to him on leaving the ship, and that he (Mr. Thomas) had received special permission to remove it ashore by the Captain of the ship.

(d.) Taking condemned meat-safe ashore, and having it repaired at Government expense.

The accuser called as a witness boy Holliday in support of the charge.

Ans.—Mr. Thomas admitted having taken the meat-safe ashore by permission of the Captain, but denied having it repaired with Government stores, and stating that ship's carpenter repaired it for him out of working hours.

An entry in Mr. Lassetter's books on the date referred to, re wire-netting for meat-safe paid for privately by Mr. Thomas, as well as the evidence given by Mr. Lewington (Mitchell & Co.), as to a ring supplied for said meat-safe, completely refuted this charge.

(e.) Taking dessert service on shore belonging to commissioned officer's mess for private use.

Ans. Mr. Thomas admits to this, and called as a witness Scott (ship's steward). Scott, on being questioned, stated that Mr. Thomas informed him that he intended to borrow the said service for a few days, and to return them the early part of the following week.

He further stated that the full number of pieces borrowed had been since returned.

f. Taking large box containing crockery out of the ship.

The accuser called as witnesses to the contents of the box boys McKinlay and Reedy, who had no information to give.

Ans. Mr. Thomas admitted taking the box, which was not Government property, ashore, stating 1st that it was given him by the commanding officer, who had previously ordered it to be burned, 2nd. that it contained only a case of beer, his private property.

Mr. Thomas here called as a witness to contents of box, Mr. Beaney, who upheld Mr. Thomas's evidence in a conclusive way.

3rd charge—Receiving stores in addition to those demanded.

(a.) T. Rowe stated that the accused in the month of August, 1883 (in the painter's demand for stores) two bottles of liquid gold, value 4s. 6d., and that he only lately discovered the same through picking up by chance in the steerage the said demand.

The accuser, however, on being asked to produce the paper in question, was unable to do so, saying he had dropped it where he found it.

Ans. Mr. Thomas admits obtaining the two bottles of gold privately, and on examination of his store books, proved that no liquid gold was ever supplied for ship's use.

(b.) Adding a bottle of Eau de Cologne to a private account of the Captain's, and applying the same to his own use.

Ans. Mr. Thomas referred this to the Captain, who refuted the charge.

4th charge—Issuing extra beer to ship's company without orders.

Ans. Mr. Thomas admitted that on three occasions he had served out extra beer to the ship's company.

The accuser further stated that on the 31st of March (the ship being thrown open to visitors on account of the "Woolloomooloo Regatta") a ten-gallon cask was emptied; this, however, included the allowance for the day to both officers and ship's company.

Mr. Thomas here stated that for some months during his time on board H.M.C.S. "Wolverene," he had not taken up his allowance of beer, but used cocoa instead.

The accuser then called Mr. P. M'Carthy (boatswain), and S. Swancott (warrant officers' servant) re the above statement.

Mr. M'Carthy on being called was asked if he had known Mr. Thomas to have been a teetotaler for the few months he had been in the ship. He stated in answer that he was not aware of it.

S. Swancott on being called verified Mr. Thomas's statements as to not taking up his allowance of beer for considerably over a month; beyond that he could not remember.

5th charge—Receiving presents from contractors.

The accuser stated that in December, 1882, a case of spirits and beer came on board with the ordinary ship's provisions, that he (T. Rowe) assisted Mr. Thomas to open the case and asked the accused what it contained, and was told it was a Christmas box from Mr. Kidman's.

Ans.—Mr. Thomas stated he had ordered the case, but expected it would be a present, from what he was told by the man in Kidman's store at the time; but shortly afterwards the account came in to him and was paid as a private bill.

Mr. Kidman on being questioned substantiated Mr. Thomas's statement.

6th charge—Having spirits on board.

This charge the accuser withdrew, on being informed by the Captain that a certain amount of spirits was allowed to the officers.

The accuser having expressed himself as satisfied, the investigation here closed.

FRANCIS P. TAYLOR,
Lieutenant-Commander.

2.

REPORT on investigation re charges brought against Mr. E. Thomas, Master-at-Arms and Paymaster, by T. H. Rowe, painter.

The first charge, of gross neglect of duty, was not taken into consideration, as I don't consider any seaman belonging to this ship competent to judge whether his superior officer is doing his duty satisfactorily or no.

In the second charge, of taking stores and fittings out of the ship, I cannot find any proof of embezzlement.

In the third charge, of receiving stores in addition to those demanded, I can find no proof whatever.

The fourth charge, of issuing beer without orders on three different occasions, is, I consider, a matter which should lie within the province of the Captain of the ship for report to the Colonial Secretary if necessary.

In the fifth charge, "receiving presents from contractors," I find that no proof has been adduced to prove bribery, which the charge implies.

The

The sixth charge, of having a supply of spirits on board, fell through, as leave has always been granted by myself for a small supply of beer and spirits at my discretion.

The above charges show me that a cruel and malignant disposition to blacken an officer's character has been most persistently carried out for months past by T. H. Rowe; but beyond a certain amount of uncalled for self-assurance and presumption, as well as in one or two cases gross carelessness if not actual disobedience of existing orders, on the part of Mr. Thomas, I can find no proof of either embezzlement or bribery, which the accuser evidently wishes to imply.

The inquiry was conducted by myself, assisted by Lieut. Drake, and both accuser and accused were at liberty to call and examine their witnesses before us. At the expiration of the inquiry the accuser expressed himself perfectly satisfied, and stated that he had no further charge to make.

No legal advice was allowed from the shore, although both accuser and accused had provided themselves with lawyers to watch their case.

I may mention that, before leaving the ship, each of the lawyers entered a protest against being prohibited from watching the case on behalf of their respective clients.

30/4/84. F.P.T.

No. 5.

The Lieutenant Commanding H.M.C.S. "Wolverene" to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

H.M.C.S. "Wolverene," 1 May, 1884.

I have the honor to request that I be allowed to discharge to the shore, T. Rowe, seaman, belonging to this ship:—

- 1st. For direct disobedience of orders given by myself in presence of the 1st. Lieutenant of the ship.
- 2nd. For highly insubordinate conduct towards the 1st Lieutenant on several occasions.
- 3rd. For inciting others of the crew to blacken the character of an officer, and by so doing causing a feeling of disaffection throughout, which tends to overthrow all discipline.

I would most strongly urge that my request be complied with, as the longer he remains on board the worse will it be for the general good order and discipline of the ship under my command.

I have, &c.,

FRANCIS P. TAYLOR.

Submitted, 2/5/84.

No. 6.

Minute by Colonial Secretary.

I will be obliged by my Hon. Colleague the Attorney-General advising in this matter. It appears to me doubtful whether this man can be discharged ashore, which may be more simply expressed, dismissed, before the expiry of his time, unless under sentence either of a Court-martial or of a Water Police Magistrate in the event of its being held that he has jurisdiction over the articles of agreement in regard to the ship.—A.S., 9th May, 1884. The Secretary to the Attorney-General, B.C., 10 May, 1884.—C.W. Submitted.—W.W.S., 16 May, 1884. On these papers I shall see the Colonial Secretary.—W.B.D., 20/6/84. The Principal Under Secretary.—W.W.S., 27 June, 1884. Submitted, 1/7/84.

No. 7.

Mr. T. H. Rowe to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

77, Botany-street, Surry Hills, May 12th.

Hearing that the charges I brought on behalf of the Government against Mr. Thomas, M.A.A. of H.M.C.S. "Wolverene" are still under consideration, in my first letter to you I stated I had five charges, and several others, nine altogether. At the inquiry held on board, on the 30th of April, Captain Taylor would only hear the second, third, fourth, and fifth, all of which I clearly proved Mr. Thomas himself acknowledged; the other charges are far more serious. As I wish to get the matter settled, and to clear myself in this most serious matter, I am strongly advised to take it to the Hon. Member for Mudgee, Mr. A. G. Taylor, but as it would be more public than I should wish, and I am sure you are not acquainted with the true facts of the case, if you will kindly allow me to state my case before yourself or any other gentleman of the Ministry, I shall be only too happy to wait your pleasure at any hour you may think fit to appoint. I am extremely sorry to have to waste your valuable time, knowing it is fully occupied with other important matters.

I remain, &c.,

THOMAS H. ROWE,

Late Painter and Storekeeper, H.M.C.S. "Wolverene."

List of charges:—

- 1st. Gross neglect of duty in regard to boys' messing, &c.
- 2nd. Taking Government stores to his own house, &c.
- 3rd. Putting down for stores not for the use of the Service.
- 4th. Issuing ship's beer without permission three times.
- 5th. Receiving presents from the contractors.
- 6th. Selling Government gear.
- 7th. Puts down for too much stores.
- 8th. Using Naval Volunteer Artillery stores.
- 9th. Making false pay-sheets.

P.S.—What I state above I am able to prove. I would not have been in a hurry, only my witnesses are being threatened and are being discharged.—T. H. ROWE.

No. 8.

Mr. T. H. Rowe to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

77 Botany-street, Surry Hills, 24 June, 1884.

On the 26th of April I, T. H. Rowe, painter and storekeeper, made some very serious charges against Mr. Thomas, clerk on board of H.M.C.S. "Wolverene;" at the same time Mr. Drake, the commanding officer, instead of assisting me in doing both his own and my duty he did all in his power against me. He tried to intimidate my witnesses; he made a false statement in the ship's log, and made a prisoner of me, whilst the man I accused was at large and in constant company with Mr. Drake, and who is also connected with some of these charges. I believe that Captain Taylor was greatly influenced in this matter by Mr. Drake. On the 1st of May, about 10 a.m., I was first brought up and disrated to an A.B.; an hour afterwards again up and discharged (for writing the letter on the 28th April to you) with a very bad and untruthful discharge, made out by this same Mr. Thomas. I have been on board of the "Wolverene" ever since she left England, having fitted her out in 1876. I took my discharge; time expired April 18, 1881, and joined at the request of Captain Symonds, 20 January 1882, where I have been since until discharged. On the 8th of May I wrote to you; I received no answer. I came to your office and saw Mr. Walker, who told me the case had been settled, and that Captain Taylor had satisfactorily explained everything. Not having heard the charges, Captain Taylor could not, with truth, explain them to you. I have since tried a dozen times to get an interview with you, but failed. The Court was held on board, on the 29th of April; Mr. M'Culloch, barrister, and Mr. Carruthers, solicitor, appeared for me, but they were not allowed. I then brought my charges; the Captain said it was your orders to only hear the second, third, fourth, and fifth, all of which I clearly proved; the first, sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth, were not heard.

The charges are:—

- 1st. Gross neglect of duty in regard to boys' messing, schooling, &c.
- 2nd. With taking Government gear ashore amounting to some hundreds of pounds.
- 3rd. Putting down for stores not used by the Government.
- 4th. Issuing ship's beer three times.
- 5th. Receiving presents from contractors.
- 6th. Selling Government gear.
- 7th. Putting down for too much stores.
- 8th. Using Naval Volunteer Artillery stores.
- 9th. Making out false pay-sheets.

Mr. Thomas is still on board. Sir, I thank you if you will grant an impartial inquiry into these charges. In bringing them to light I had no other motive than doing my duty.

I remain, &amp;c.,

THOMAS HUGH ROWE.

I understand the Attorney-General will see the Colonial Secretary on this matter.—C.W., 30/8/84.

I understand that these papers have been called for in Parliament. Meanwhile that Rowe has left the Service.—A.S.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

---

HOSPITAL MANAGEMENT.

(PETITION FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF CENTRAL BOARD—RESIDENTS OF WINDSOR, RICHMOND, AND HAWKESBURY.)

---

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 4 April, 1884.

---

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned residents of Windsor, Richmond, and the Hawkesbury Valley,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners have heard with great delight that it is the intention of your Honorable House to take into consideration the subject of the subsidized Hospital Charities of the Colony.

Your Petitioners desire to represent that, through want of technical acquaintance with hospital organization and management among residents in the country, many districts are absolutely destitute of the advantages of cottage hospitals, and hence sustain serious trouble and often even irreparable injury, which could be avoided if there existed in Sydney a central Hospital Board to which the philanthropically disposed could apply for guidance and advice in starting and maintaining local hospitals.

Your Petitioners also find that, in consequence of the want of the same useful offices, existing country hospitals, matters of household arrangements, medical treatment, and other details are not in satisfactory condition, which unhappy state of things it is believed could be remedied if local managing committees were afforded such assistance as a well-informed central committee could afford them.

Your Petitioners respectfully submit that, in obscure medical cases, and in surgical cases of great difficulty, it is highly desirable that the medical officers in small local hospitals should be afforded such well selected advice and assistance as a central Board could supply from the greater centres of population, which would enable such cases to be treated in the pure air of the country instead of in Sydney, as so frequently at present happens.

Your Petitioners desire humbly to submit that, if a central Board, consisting partly of medical men familiar with hospital organization, and partly of philanthropic gentlemen of enlarged views and known charitable instincts, were to be appointed to inspect hospitals, advise the committees of management, and audit expenditure, great public benefit would result; and your Petitioners believe that the services of such a central Board would be generally acceptable to local committees, the subscribing public, and particularly to the poor; and further, that the services of such a Board would conduce to greater usefulness and economy, and the more so if the sphere of operations of the Board were to comprise hospitals entirely supported by voluntary contributions as well as those subsidized by the State.

Your Petitioners being much impressed with the importance of their views on these matters, humbly pray that their respectful representations be taken into consideration by your Honorable House.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

[Here follow 21 signatures.]

---

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

HOSPITAL ACCOMMODATION AND POSITION FOR THE CITY OF SYDNEY.

(CORRESPONDENCE RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 9 October, 1883.

SCHEDULE.

NO.	PAGE.
1. Minute of the Colonial Secretary. 2 August, 1883 .....	1
2. The Principal Under-Secretary to the Medical Adviser to the Government. 3 August, 1883 .....	2
3. Dr. MacLaurin to the Principal Under-Secretary. 16 August, 1883.....	2
4. The President of the Board of Health, &c., to same. 22 August, 1883.....	4
5. Dr. Cox to same. 22 August, 1883 .....	6
6. Sir Alfred Roberts to same. 25 August, 1883 .....	7
7. George Fortescue, Esquire, M.B., to the Colonial Secretary. 25 August, 1883 .....	9
8. The Principal Under-Secretary to the President of the Board of Directors of the Sydney Hospital. 10 Sept., 1883..	9

No. 1.

Minute of Colonial Secretary.

Subject :—Hospital accommodation and position for the city of Sydney.

Colonial Secretary's Office, 2 August, 1883.

A. REQUEST to receive a Deputation from the Sydney Hospital for the purpose of asking the further sum of £50,000 towards the new building, and the conviction held by me for many years that the Macquarie-street site was not suited for a large general Hospital of approved modern type has forced the whole subject of hospital accommodation for the city of Sydney and its vicinity upon my anxious consideration.

I am most strongly of opinion (seeing that nearly every hospital receives large aid from Government, either directly in money grants both for building and maintenance, or in liberal payments for what are termed "Government patients") that the whole administration of our city hospitals should be placed under one Board, and that the present system of Government aiding institutions which are to a certain extent rival if not antagonistic, should be stopped and diverted through one channel into directions best suited for the urgent and beneficial requirements of the people.

The first step appears to me is to ascertain what number of beds may be deemed the reasonable requirement; and then to consider how these should be apportioned. I mean as to the different classes of service for which they should be available, and which may perhaps be roughly classed thus—

1. Emergency or accident cases.
2. Cases of ordinary hospital treatment.
3. Cases of fever or other malignant and infectious disease.
4. Syphilitic diseases of females.
5. Convalescent cases.
6. Chronic cases, such as are administered in the asylums.
7. Lying-in or maternity cases.

One advantage of a single Board or controlling power would be that the patient would be sent to the hospital specially suited for the complaint, and thus ensure for the patient the ready application of the best means of treatment. Another great advantage would be in the saving of expense consequent on combined and yet uniform action and management: for example, a patient is suffering from some acute ailment requiring much nursing and very careful medical treatment and diet, and has to be placed in a hospital costing probably from 30s. to 25s. per bed per week. As he gets health he may be sent to the convalescent hospital, where the expense per bed is not one half, owing to the lessened nursing staff and to the degree of self-help which exists on the part of the patient.

* 74—A

The

The next point which presents itself for consideration is where ought the various hospitals to be situated, and what ought to be the accommodation provided.

On this latter point I would like to be favoured with the opinions of the Medical Adviser to the Government, of Sir Alfred Roberts, Dr. James Cox, Mr. George Fortescue, and Dr. McLaurin. Until I receive such I will assume that a fever hospital of 60 beds would be probably required; lock hospital, 30; ophthalmic hospital, 30; accident hospital, 60; convalescent, 100—together 280, and if the whole hospital accommodation necessary be assumed at 800, then general hospital accommodation for about 520 would be required. Of this St. Vincent's (unaided by Government) provides 100, leaving 420 to be provided by the general public or Government.

For providing this accommodation two institutions are at present competitors, viz., the Sydney Hospital, with at present 200 beds or when completed proposing to accommodate about 240, and the Prince Alfred Hospital, at present affording accommodation for about 140, and when completed proposing a total accommodation of about 450.

In point of position for the good of the patients the advantage seems to me to be altogether on the side of the Prince Alfred Hospital, which possesses an area of ground much in excess of the Sydney Hospital, and indeed largely beyond for its 450 beds (when completed) that laid down in 1864 by the Chirurgical Society of Paris as indispensable.

The administrative part of that hospital is all provided for, although not all internally fitted, so that the expense of completing it would be only for the actual pavilion accommodation necessary.

The Sydney Hospital would require a very much larger sum to finish it, and is I understand of the very objectionable plan of three stories of wards, which on limited area increases the risk of spread of disease to an alarming extent.

In absence of opinions to the contrary my opinion therefore is, that it would be better to cease further aid to the erection of the Sydney Hospital, and that the Government should resume it and expend its present value in completing the Prince Alfred and in proceeding with some of the other hospitals alluded to.

That a Hospital Board (to embrace all) should be appointed, each Board nominating to it a certain number of its members, and that such Board should have the management of the whole of the Government-aided hospital arrangements of the city.

In this paper I need not discuss the object to which the Sydney Hospital site when resumed may be devoted; suffice it to say that there are several for which the present work, although perhaps more elaborate and expensive than necessary, may yet be put without much actual loss.

By the adoption of the plan thus roughly sketched out, I am sure that a large saving would be effected and a much greater efficiency be secured.

A copy of this minute may be sent to the medical gentlemen indicated, with a request that they would favour me with their views.

ALEX. STUART.

---

No. 2.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The Medical Adviser to the Government.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 3 August, 1883.

I am directed to forward to you a copy of a minute which has been written by the Colonial Secretary, on the subject of hospital accommodation for the city of Sydney and its neighbourhood, and to request that you will kindly favour Mr. Stuart with your views on the subject.

I have, &c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

[Similar letters addressed to Sir Alfred Roberts, Knt.; James C. Cox, Esquire, M.D.; H. N. MacLaurin, Esquire, M.D., and G. Fortescue, Esquire, M.B.]

---

No. 3.

Dr. MacLaurin to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Macquarie-street, Sydney, 16 August, 1883.

I have the honor to submit to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary my remarks on his minute regarding hospital accommodation and position for the city of Sydney. These may be conveniently arranged under three heads, viz., administration, provision, and situation.

1. As to administration, it is clear to me that great gain would result to the public from bringing the medical charitable institutions of the city and suburbs under one controlling Board. The service would be carried out with greater economy, there would be an absence of competition between different institutions, and patients could be sent at once to the particular hospitals for which their cases were suited. In order that the responsibility of the Directors should be real and not merely nominal, I should suggest that their number should be not less than five nor more than nine. Of these the Chairman should be the principal executive officer of the charitable administration. He ought, I think, to be a salaried officer appointed by the Government, and should be expected to devote a large portion of his time to this duty. Besides presiding at the meetings of the Board, he would have to exercise a general superintendence over the various institutions in question, to see that the directions of the Board were carried out by the officials of the different institutions, and to act in such emergencies as might from time to time arise in the intervals between the meetings of the Board.

For this office, which would be of a very responsible character, there are at least three gentlemen in Sydney, any one of whom possesses the requisite qualifications in a very high degree. They are, the present Medical Adviser, Sir Alfred Roberts, and Dr. Arthur Renwick. Any one of these gentlemen would, I am convinced, discharge the duties of the office in a manner which would leave nothing to be desired.

As for the other members of the General Board, they might very well be appointed, at all events at first, in the manner proposed by the Honorable the Colonial Secretary.

2. As for accommodation, the plan proposed in the minute seems to me to be on the whole fairly adequate, so far as it goes, to the requirements of the town.

I have no doubt that the Prince Alfred Hospital when finished will, with the assistance of St. Vincent's Hospital, provide a sufficiency of beds for our general hospital requirements.

To the list of subsidiary hospitals or institutions given in the minute I should be inclined to make one or two additions.

There ought in my opinion to be a central office in some part of the city, where information could be given and applications for admission received. This establishment should be connected with the other hospital buildings, wherever situate, by telephone; consequently any one who wished a patient to be admitted could arrange for it at once by application to the central office. Here also the principal ambulance service might have its head quarters, and in this way the inconvenience arising from the distant situation of the Prince Alfred Hospital would be greatly obviated.

For the emergency hospital it would seem that the number of beds originally estimated (forty) has been increased to sixty. This number is not at all too high; for this institution would have to receive not merely accidents, but also almost all the police cases, as well as cases of poisoning and attempted suicide, and such cases of very acute illness as would not bear transport. It would therefore require to be divided into several wards (both male and female) according to the class of cases admitted, and it would be necessary that in each ward there should be always a few vacant beds.

I observe no notice in the minute of any provision for a dispensary service. This has been a very useful feature of the Sydney Infirmary service, and it ought not, in my opinion to be omitted.

As for the lying-in-hospital (No. 7 of the list in the minute) that might I think be kept separate with advantage, from the management of the other institutions.

3. The question of situation is very much simplified by the decision of the Hon. Colonial Secretary, in the propriety of which I quite concur, to rely for general hospital accommodation on the Prince Alfred Hospital (when finished) and St. Vincent's Hospital. I have only to consider what are the departments of the medical charitable service which could not with justice to the public interests be conducted at these institutions.

It is evident that the central office for inquiries, &c., ought to be in town. The inconvenience which would arise from constant journeys to Newtown, if arrangements had to be made for the reception of a patient or inquiries as to his state, is obvious enough to any one. Moreover, there ought to be an ambulance service at the central office. It is clear also that the emergency hospital, as I have described it, must be in town, and it might with great propriety be under the same roof with the central office and the ambulance service.

The dispensary department should also in my opinion be in town. It is really intended for the benefit of persons belonging to a class but little removed from pauperism, and its site should not be too far from the dwellings of those who are expected to take advantage of it. Now this class of persons are to be found mainly in the thickly peopled portions of Sydney and its immediate neighbourhood, and certainly not in such suburbs as Newtown or Camperdown. I am credibly informed that the out-door department of the Prince Alfred Hospital is to a great extent made use of by persons who are perfectly well able to pay for their own medical attendance. It is unjust to the rest of the community that such patients should receive medicines and medical attendance at the public expense.

Provision must also be made for the out-door patients of the ophthalmic department. Most of them come from the country and live in boarding-houses in Sydney. They attend the ophthalmic out-door department on an average twice a week. It would be manifestly improper to require these people suffering from the different forms of ophthalmia and other ophthalmic complaints to travel through the dust and wind which generally prevail in summer so far as Newtown, if reasonable accommodation could be provided in town. As for the beds for ophthalmic in-patients, there are various grounds on which I might recommend that they should be attached to the dispensary. These are, however, rather matters of convenience and economy in working than of absolute medical necessity.

For the fever hospital there are only two principal conditions,—first, that it should be isolated, and secondly, that it should be within moderately easy reach of the different parts of the town.

The situation of the female lock hospital would depend more on considerations of convenience than on any special medical requirements.

There seems to me to be at present no necessity to incur any large expense for a convalescent hospital. The admirable Government Asylum at Liverpool might be very readily turned to account for that purpose. The same statement applies to the treatment of chronic cases.

The Children's Hospital in Glebe Road is, I understand, a very useful institution. It might be associated with the hospital scheme for the city, by being brought under the authority of the General Hospital Board.

The maternity hospital should, I think, be kept separate from the others; its Board of Management ought in my opinion to consist principally of ladies.

It will be seen from the foregoing remarks that there are certain institutions connected with the charitable medical service which ought without doubt to be situated in the city of Sydney. These are—the central office, with an ambulance head-quarters, the emergency hospital, the dispensary, the ophthalmic dispensary, and possibly the beds for in-patients of the ophthalmic department. All of these might with great propriety be assembled under the same roof, and it will be necessary to find a situation for them.

Now the site of the Sydney Hospital in Macquarie-street is undoubtedly very well adapted for this purpose; but there are certainly many other situations in the city which would be equally suitable; the question therefore whether the site in Macquarie-street should continue to be devoted to the hospital service must be answered in accordance with considerations which are no longer purely medical. In settling it the Hon. Colonial Secretary should in my opinion have regard, first, to the relative expense of the various sites proposed, and secondly, to the importance of the public departments for which the Macquarie street site might be employed if it were no longer devoted to hospital purposes.

I have, &c.,

H. N. MACLAURIN, M.D

No. 4.

The President of the Board of Health and Medical Adviser to Government to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Board of Health Office, 127, Macquarie-street, Sydney, 22 August, 1883.

In compliance with the desire of the Colonial Secretary, I have the honor to give an epitome of my views upon the question of hospitals for the Metropolitan District; and in doing so, would observe that after very careful deliberation I have been forced to the conclusion that a correct estimate of the amount and nature of the accommodation which is necessary for the treatment of the sick poor can only be formed by taking into consideration the circumstances of the people of the country districts and the country hospitals as well as those of the city.

The subject may be conveniently divided into four sections:—

1. The amount and nature of the accommodation which is necessary.
2. The number of hospital beds at present available.
3. The additional accommodation which should be provided.
4. The manner in which the whole of the hospitals of the Metropolitan District subsidized by the Government should be governed.

In nothing is the disposition to centralization in this Colony more visible than in the way in which the sick poor are made to gravitate towards the metropolis, where their presence tends to swell our charitable institutions to an abnormal extent; and for this reason it is impossible to accept, without considerable reserve, estimates which are based upon a set of conditions wholly different.

In some of the counties of England the whole hospital accommodation, exclusive of Union Infirmaries, amounts to only one bed per 1,000 of the inhabitants; for instance, Cumberland, with a population of 220,000, has only 222 hospital beds, including general, fever, and convalescent institutions; and Leicester, with a population of 270,000, has 226 beds; but here one cannot doubt that the duty of providing for the sick poor must be diverted to some other channel; for according to Oppert, who is one of the best English authorities, there should be provided in the large town districts four hospital beds for every thousand of the inhabitants, including Union Infirmary beds, which are calculated to be one-fourth of the whole.

Were we to accept the first estimate, we would be already in possession of numbers far in excess of our requirements; and were we to accept the latter, we would find ourselves very far short of the requisite number.

I think that a safe and fair estimate, considering the circumstances of our labouring population, which is vastly better off than the same class in the mother country, would be three hospital beds per 1,000, and that one-fourth of these should be in the hospitals of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, which are equivalent to the Union Infirmaries of England.

This calculation would give for the Colony, estimating our population to be 800,000, no less than 2,400 hospital beds, which I think should be divided as follows:—

General hospitals...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1,600
Convalescent hospitals	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	100
Fever	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	80
Lock	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	40
Lying-in and women's diseases	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	80
Asylums' hospitals for chronic and incurable cases	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	500
								2,400

At the present time there are under treatment at the Government Asylums' hospitals at Parramatta, Hyde Park, and Liverpool, no less than 500 patients, most of whom belong to the chronic or incurable class; but I am informed by Dr. Rowling, the Visiting Surgeon to the Parramatta Asylums, that a large number are suffering from acute diseases, and would be more properly treated in a general hospital.

There are also available for general hospital purposes 54 small hospitals scattered over the country districts, containing no less than 900 beds, which number added to those of the asylums, would make a total of 1,400, leaving 1,000 to be accounted for in the metropolitan hospitals.

At present Sydney is provided with 640 beds, of which there are in the—

Sydney Hospital and branch at Moorecliffe	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	268
Prince Alfred Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	140
Sick Children's Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	40
St. Vincent's Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	100
Lying-in and General Hospital at Benevolent Asylum	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	92
								640

And there can be no doubt that this list should be without delay supplemented by a fever hospital of 80 beds, a hospital for venereal diseases in women to contain 40, and one for convalescents to contain 100.

The question of the propriety of completing the new Sydney Hospital in Macquarie-street in its present form is quite as much a financial as a medical one. To my mind the objection which has been made to its erection on the score that the area is too confined is not of great weight, as practically the Outer Domain is almost as much available as if it were a part of the hospital grounds, but that the building should be erected four stories in height is a contravention of the best principles of modern hospital construction; moreover, that it should be built of polished freestone, which is notoriously the most expensive method of construction, is from a medical point of view both unnecessary and undesirable. I think that the cost of the whole construction when completed may fairly be put down at £300,000, while the value of the land on which the buildings stand is certainly not less than £100,000. Altogether, this calculated at £5 per cent. interest would give £20,000 per annum, equal to £80 per bed, which added to the cost of maintenance, which last year was £53 per bed, would make the whole cost £133 per patient per annum.

A very large portion of the Sydney Hospital is utilized for the purpose of the treatment of accidents and cases of urgency, for which its situation is well adapted; and were it determined to discontinue the erection, I would point out the absolute necessity for the establishment of an accident hospital, which should not consist of less than 100 beds, at some convenient site. This might, I think, be built for about £25,000 to £30,000.

The propriety of maintaining large hospitals in towns is a point which has been warmly contested for many years past, but it is now pretty well agreed that such institutions, which are absolutely necessary for the purpose of clinical teaching, are only tolerable when constructed on the pavilion principle, or as nearly as possible approximating the condition of so many distinct hospitals, communication between which may be at any time entirely cut off. This necessity has been amply provided for in the construction of the Prince Alfred Hospital, which is built with a view to the total isolation of the wards, and in my opinion it may therefore be with safety enlarged to its full size as originally designed, which would afford the necessary facilities for clinical teaching at our medical school.

A fever hospital is an absolute necessity for the well-being of the people of the city: at present typhoid fever is treated in the general hospitals, which is a questionable practice when carried to a great extent; while measles and scarlet fever are wholly unprovided for, the authorities of all the hospitals declining to treat such cases.

I would strongly recommend that, in the neighbourhood of Petersham or Leichhardt, a site for a fever hospital should be at once acquired, and that this should contain about 10 acres, which would afford ample room for erection of suitable buildings and at the same time perfect security to the neighbourhood. Pending the erection of this hospital the Sanatorium at Little Bay might be used as a fever hospital, for which purpose it is admirably adapted, and might be permanently occupied for that purpose but for its great distance from town, which to a certain extent militates against its usefulness. The position at Petersham, on the other hand, while equally capable of isolation, is situated in a position extremely accessible to the class of people who may be expected to avail themselves of a fever hospital.

Should the Government determine to carry out the alterations to the coast hospital which I have already proposed, by removing a portion of the buildings to a site (say) a thousand feet further south of their present situation, there to be enclosed by a high galvanized iron fence and kept wholly for the isolation of patients suffering from cholera, small-pox, or other virulently infectious disease which may unhappily at some future time invade our shores, I think that the remaining portion, which would accommodate (say) 100 patients and a complete staff, might be utilized for the purpose of a convalescent hospital; and I would point out that this would not materially impair its usefulness for the purpose for which it was originally intended, as it could be evacuated by the convalescents on very short notice if urgently required. I attach Appendix A. a plan of the coast hospital, with the proposed alterations marked in blue ink.

I would further point out the necessity for the establishment of a hospital for venereal diseases in females. This I believe to be of paramount importance for the preservation of the health of the community. Every year thousands of our population are being polluted by syphilitic poison, and these in turn transmit the loathsome disease to their children, causing an amount of social misery too horrible to contemplate. I am so firmly impressed with the magnitude of this evil that, failing the establishment of a hospital for the treatment of such cases, I see no alternative but that the State should undertake the regulation of prostitution; but I wish to observe that I believe that all the benefit which is possibly derivable from such a measure would be equally well if not better obtained by carrying out the voluntary system in a humane way.

The lock hospital should be conducted solely by Government officers, and every facility should be offered for the skilful and kind treatment of the unfortunate females, without submitting them to the prying curiosity of irresponsible persons. It should be in the city, in a cheerful situation, where it would be easily accessible. It should be placed so that the inmates would be free from the gaze of passers-by, and at the same time it should have a cheerful and pleasant outlook, and above all things it should not be surrounded by high walls, or the inmates will not unnaturally conclude that they were in a sort of gaol, and the entire system would inevitably result in failure. The whole of these conditions which I have sketched out as requisite are possessed in an eminent degree by the Moorecliffe Hospital, and I would recommend in the strongest way that it be without delay acquired for the purpose indicated.

In a city of such magnitude as Sydney it is absolutely necessary that there should be some provision for the accommodation of parturient women who cannot be attended at their own homes, such as domestic servants, single women, and females deserted by their husbands, and I think that a fair proportion of beds would be about 8 per 100,000 inhabitants. This institution should be made available for training midwives, and in it a course of lectures upon elementary obstetrics should be given, and at its close an examination held and a certificate granted, without which no midwife should be allowed to practise her calling.

The lying-in hospital at the Benevolent Asylum seems to answer the above purpose well, and the success which has hitherto attended its management is, from a medical point of view, remarkable.

Should the Government determine to resume the Macquarie-street site, I think that the accident hospital, to contain 100 beds, should be built upon the Flagstaff Hill, and that the Prince Alfred Hospital should be enlarged to 350 beds (its full complement as 450). This number, with the

Accident Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	100
St. Vincent's Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	100
Fever Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	80
Lock Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	40
Lying-in Hospital, Benevolent Asylum	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	90
Convalescent Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	100
Sick Children's Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	40

A total of ... .. 900

capable of expansion to 1,000, as occasion required; which number, with the 1,400 already enumerated, complete the accommodation proposed for the whole Colony, viz., 2,400.

The present system of payment by the State for the maintenance of what are called Government patients is exceedingly faulty, and in my opinion not only well calculated to extinguish every spark of self-reliance on the part of the labouring classes, but also to discourage benevolence on the part of the rich.

The

The ease with which a so-called "Colonial Secretary's order" is obtained for maintenance at the Government expense in the large hospitals will inevitably have a material influence in pauperizing the whole of the poorer classes in the course of time.

In Scotland, in a large number of the great works, it is the custom to deduct a small sum (say a penny) every week from each man's wages, as a works subscription to the hospital. This sum in a large factory amounts to a very considerable amount at the end of a year, and every man subscribing feels that he is laying up money in case of accident or grievous illness; and when such unhappily does befall him, and he is obliged to seek the aid of the institution, he does so as "his right," and without any feeling of pauperism. I have, during a considerable residence in a large Scottish hospital, often tested this feeling on the part of mechanics and others who were patients, and I have frequently been met with an indignant assurance that the patient did not enter as a pauper, because he had subscribed at the works since he was a boy.

Some such system should be fostered in connection with all our great works in the city.

With regard to the discouragement of benevolence on the part of the rich, the collector for the Sydney Hospital informs me that when seeking subscriptions he is frequently told by persons that the hospital is a Government institution, and that they in consequence decline to subscribe.

The custom of granting Government aid to metropolitan hospitals, which are wholly unconnected with each other and governed by totally distinct Boards, is also, in my opinion, fallacious, and calculated to be followed by extravagant expenditure, because of the rivalry which is almost certain to be engendered, and which in itself would, under other circumstances, give a healthy and perhaps beneficial tone to the management.

The establishment of a General Metropolitan Hospital Board would obviate this danger, and moreover, would be conducive to economical management of the whole, as it would afford facility for entering into larger and more favourable contracts for the supply of provisions and hospital necessaries. Further, it would absolutely prevent the imposition which is practised by a large class of impostors who may be said to live upon the hospitals, who always, on being dismissed from one institution, seek and often obtain admission to another.

It is hardly necessary to point out the advantages which would accrue to the general public from the establishment of a central office connected by telephone with all the hospitals of the city, where information as to accommodation available in each could be immediately obtained; this office might be in the same building as the dispensary and the General Board of Management, and perhaps the whole might with advantage be attached to the proposed accident and emergency hospital.

I have not hitherto alluded to the manner in which the out-patient dispensaries should be conducted, but I must observe that I consider these a very important part of the hospital system. There should be several of them in the city where the sick could easily reach them, and this is especially necessary for those who need the aid of the ophthalmic hospital surgeons, but I would point out that the ophthalmic hospital should be in the suburbs, attached to the general hospital for clinical teaching, and in connection with the medical school.

The only other point to which I would wish to refer is the desirableness of fostering the small country hospitals. English experience has clearly shown that the success of such institutions has been as great, and in some aspects greater than the success of the large hospitals of the towns. The presence of one of these institutions secures to the district the services of a practised medical attendant, and he, from his constantly having a variety of cases of emergency and accident under his care in the hospital, must acquire a habit of self-reliance that can only be maintained by hospital practice, and which is manifestly an advantage not only to himself but to the community in which he is located.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES K. MACKELLAR,

President of the Board of Health, and Medical Adviser to the Government.

No. 5.

Dr. J. C. Cox to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Hunter-street, Sydney, 22 August, 1883.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 3rd instant, enclosing a copy of a minute written by the Colonial Secretary, on the subject of hospital accommodation for the city of Sydney and its neighbourhood, and requesting my views in the matter.

In reply, I beg to state that I am of the opinion that the following hospital accommodation is necessary for the city and its neighbourhood, viz. :—

1. A large general hospital, such as the Prince Alfred Hospital.
2. An emergency hospital in a central and elevated part of the city, and of easy access.
3. An ophthalmic hospital, in an appropriate situation.
4. A maternity or lying-in hospital.
5. A lock hospital for females.
6. A fever and affection diseases hospital, such as is built at Little Bay.
7. A children's hospital.

The number of beds required for these several hospitals should, in my opinion, be as follows :—

General hospital	...	...	...	...	450
Emergency hospital	...	...	...	...	150
Ophthalmic hospital	...	...	...	...	50
Lying-in hospital	...	...	...	...	30
Female lock hospital	...	...	...	...	30
Fever hospital	...	...	...	...	50
Children's hospital	...	...	...	...	50

Total number of beds required at present... 810

These

These seven hospitals should in my opinion, if receiving pecuniary assistance from Government, be placed under one Board of Management.

Possibly it would be advisable to place under the same Board a large convalescent hospital, but this should not be within the neighbourhood of the city.

Hospital accommodation for incurable cases and for the paupers of the Colony should be managed by a separate and distinct Board, the convalescent hospital being placed under either of these Boards, whichever may be found advisable.

Hitherto our city dispensaries have been amalgamated with the city hospital, and have been managed by the Hospital Board and worked in the Macquarie-street buildings.

I am of opinion that the dispensary should no longer be connected with the central emergency hospital; and I may point out that the buildings now in the course of erection in Macquarie-street, for hospital accommodation, are so constructed as still to combine these two important sources of public relief, and must have considerably added to the expense of those buildings.

It is only just to the Board of Management of the Sydney Hospital to invite your attention to the large amount of relief that has been given to the poor of this city by the dispensary medical officers. No less than 8,421 patients were prescribed for last year at the Macquarie-street institution and its branches; of these 880 were visited at their own homes.

It is not enough to have one general dispensary, with small branch establishments; there should be a distinct dispensary for the different quarters of the city. I should prefer to see the dispensary department, with the home visiting of the sick, placed under a separate Board of Management.

The central emergency hospital should be for the reception of accidents, self-inflicted wounds, for burns, scalds, loss of blood from rupture of blood-vessels, cases of poisoning, sudden seizure of fits, difficulty in passing water, &c., &c.

In advising that the dispensary should be separated from the emergency hospital, I do not advocate there not being an out-door department at the emergency hospital for the immediate treatment of minor cases of emergency not requiring admission into a hospital.

In recommending that 150 beds would be ample for the central emergency hospital, I think that would only meet the demands that at present exist. The city is growing rapidly, the use of machinery is increasing, our streets are narrow and the traffic becoming daily greater, all of which circumstances tend to increase the number of accidents, and the future should be looked to in building an emergency hospital.

The present site of the Sydney Hospital is as good as could possibly be desired. It is central, easy of access, and stands in a healthy locality, but I regret that it was decided to build it facing Macquarie-street, as I had always advocated that it should have been built fronting the Domain, and having it separated from Macquarie-street by a well laid out garden. The only objection I can see to the present site is the great value of the land on which it is built.

I consider the material of which the new hospital is being built is objectionable and of an unnecessary costly character, and that the third story is not required.

This hospital built without a third story, and without the dispensary accommodation, would have been ample as an emergency hospital for some time to come.

As far as I can ascertain, the only reason assigned for building this third story was to have it recognized as a teaching School of Medicine by the University of this city, and by the various Schools of Medicine in Europe and elsewhere, bringing the number of beds up to the standard required.

As this has, I believe, influenced the determination to build this new hospital three stories high and establish it as a separate clinical School of Medicine, I would like to state that I am of opinion that the various hospitals enumerated by me should be combined, both for efficiency and economic purposes, as one teaching School under the direction of the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Sydney.

The present fever hospital at Little Bay might be made I think available to meet the present wants of this class of cases, if it were connected with the city by means of a tramway.

The female lock hospital accommodation which has for years been carried on in Macquarie-street should, I think, be created into a distinct establishment. Whether the ophthalmic hospital should be a distinct establishment or combined with the other hospitals is a matter of opinion—I should prefer to see it a distinct establishment in an appropriate position—but it is absolutely essential, judging from the present demand, that there should be a well established out-door relief dispensary for eye diseases.

I have, &c.,

JAMES C. COX, M.D.

No. 6.

Sir Alfred Roberts to The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

76, Bridge-street, Sydney, 25 August, 1883.

In accordance with the wish of the Colonial Secretary, I have the honor to enclose herewith an expression of my opinion upon the points submitted in his memorandum upon "the hospital accommodation required by the Metropolitan District," and forwarded to me in your covering letter of the 3rd instant.

In thus submitting the results of my experience for Mr. Stuart's consideration, I desire to remark that I have purposely refrained from entering into any details upon the important questions raised, feeling that such a course would have made the report voluminous and tended rather to embarrass the Colonial Secretary at the present stage than otherwise, and that it could be dealt with after a settlement more effectually of the main question.

I have, &c.,

ALFRED ROBERTS.

[Enclosure.]

Memorandum.

76, Bridge-street, Sydney, 17 August, 1883.

In dealing with the important minute of the Colonial Secretary, it will be convenient to consider in the first place the character and requirements of the district for which medical relief is required; secondly, the nature and amount of such relief; and finally, the organization by which it should be conducted and distributed.

I

Population in middle of 1882
287,908.

I will presume that Sydney with its suburbs contains a mixed population of about 240,000 persons, the increase of which having been very rapid within the last few years, will probably continue in a less degree for some time to come. It contains a large and increasing shipping port, and is already the seat of considerable manufacturing industry.

For the extent of its population it is scattered over a considerable area, and owing to its physical features it is well ventilated, and can never contain the dense masses of population common to the large cities of most countries.

The labouring classes, and those immediately above them, are, considering the climate, wages, and cost of food and clothing, better off than those of most other communities, and to a very considerable extent they provide for their own attendance by means of respectable medical clubs.

In addition, however, to the local requirements of the metropolitan area, provision has to be made for a certain proportion of cases of serious illness which steadily flow in from the sparsely populated country districts and the neighbouring islands.

The medical relief required to meet this demand consists of—

- 1st. Hospital accommodation.
- 2nd. Dispensary or outdoor attendance.

The patients for whom the hospital accommodation is required may be classified as follows :—

- 1st. Cases of serious accident and emergency.
- 2nd. Cases of general illness of a non-infectious character.
- 3rd. Cases of general non-infectious illness during the convalescing stage.
- 4th. Cases of general non-infectious illness of a chronic nature.
- 5th. Cases of incurable disease.
- 6th. Cases of venereal disease in women.
- 7th. Cases of infectious fevers, and
- 8th. Cases of lying-in.

Cases of ophthalmic disease and of venereal disease in men have not been mentioned, because they can advantageously be received into the general hospital.

The accommodation provided for the above should also be available for the purposes of medical education in connection with the University, and of training nurses and midwives.

The general principles upon which the accommodation should be provided and conducted may be said to be efficiency, economy, freedom of injury to the health of the surrounding locality, morality, and convenience.

The proportion in which it should be provided and the details of its organization may be gathered from the past average proportion of accidents and serious illness, and the experience of the present system of management, its successes and failures, guided by a firm and charitable determination to offer relief to every necessitous case of suffering without undermining the independence of the recipients.

Accepting the acknowledged general principle that the number of separate "special" hospitals should be kept at a minimum, it appears that the hospitals and proportionate number of beds required are as follows :—

- 1st.—One general hospital, with present accommodation for beds and an expansive power to reach 500 beds.
- 2nd.—One emergency hospital, having a fixed accommodation for eighty beds.
- 3rd.—One country hospital for convalescent patients with cases of chronic and incurable disease. It should contain present accommodation for about 120 beds and have free expansive capacity.
- 4th.—One fever hospital, with present accommodation for fifty beds and expansive capacity of a total of 150.
- 5th.—One lying-in hospital, with present accommodation for fifty cases and expansive power to the extent of 100.
- 6th.—One female lock hospital, capable of receiving at once thirty patients, and of being increased to a total of fifty beds.

The general hospital should be situated within the proximate suburbs, and should be adapted to receive all varieties of cases except those of infectious fever, female venereal patients, and lying-in women.

The emergency hospital should be situated in a convenient healthy spot, as nearly as possible central to that part of the city which, being beyond easy and quick access to the general hospital, is at the present time most productive of accidents and emergency cases. As its utility will depend upon its proximity to the neighbourhood in which accidents incapable of removal to the general hospital are of frequent occurrence, its work will be of a local character, and its accommodation should not exceed the prospective requirements of the neighbourhood immediately surrounding it.

Its site will necessarily be valuable; and being in a locality where it is important to mass together as few cases of serious disease as possible, its administration should be carefully guarded, in order that no patients may be received into it who can be treated equally well in the general hospital.

With the growth of manufacturing industry it will probably be necessary to establish at some future time other emergency hospitals in the neighbourhood where the trades are developed.

In construction and management the general and emergency hospitals should be replete with every means suggested by modern science for the cure of disease and imparting sound medical education.

The country branch hospital should be built upon the isolated pavilion principle, and adapted to receive every variety of case which does not require active treatment or high nursing. The inmates would consist of patients recovering from acute illness or severe accidents, cases of a confirmed chronic character and of incurable disease.

The site should be essentially healthy, and situated upon a railway line a few miles from Sydney. The construction should be as economical as possible.

The management should also be inexpensive, the services of patients capable of rendering them being utilized equally for the benefit of the hospital, and to afford them occupation calculated to prepare them for home duties and labour.

The female lock hospital should for many reasons be a separate isolated building, and situated not far from the city. The site, besides being healthy and cheerful, should possess grounds for exercise and recreation.

The fever hospital should be well isolated, but not too far removed from the centre of population. It should be so constructed and managed as to be capable of being worked economically with a small number of patients, as a general rule, but capable of having its powers of admission rapidly extended upon the occurrence of an epidemic.

The lying-in hospital should also be situated a short distance from town, to ensure healthfulness and quietude. It should however be sufficiently near to render its practice accessible to the students of the University, and to work in association with the clinique of diseases of women. It should also afford accommodation for probationers in training for the position of accouchement nurses. Arrangements should also be made in connection with the general and emergency hospitals for training nurses to provide for vacancies in the staffs of the metropolitan hospitals, to supply efficient matrons and nurses to the numerous country hospitals, and to provide also a sufficient number to meet the demands for trained nurses in private families.

Having thus briefly epitomized my views in respect to the character, location, and amount of hospital accommodation required, I will proceed to consider the question of organization.

The opinions so ably expressed in the Colonial Secretary's minute appear to me to nearly cover the subject. I concur in the opinion "that the administration of all the hospitals should be controlled by one Board of direction," and I consider that the time has arrived when the inauguration of such a step should be undertaken without delay.

I believe that only by some arrangement such as that suggested can medical relief be restricted to suitable applicants and administered with full efficiency, strict economy, and in a manner calculated to raise rather than depress the independence of the recipients.

I can see no other practical way in which the arrangements necessary for the due classification of cases economically and otherwise are likely to be made and adhered to, or any other mode by which the public is so likely to be satisfied that the expenditure of their funds will be carefully considered and judiciously conducted.

One instance will suffice to explain my meaning. "I find upon calculations upon which I can rely, that every bed in the general and emergency hospitals will cost fully from £65 to £70 per annum for interest upon the original expenditure for construction and current cost of maintenance; and that a country hospital for convalescing, chronic, and incurable cases can be provided for from £25 to £30 per annum. It is clear, therefore, that patients capable of removal from the expensive to the economical establishment should be transferred at the earliest date compatible with the benefit of their condition. It cannot however, be expected that this would be done systematically unless the officers in the different hospitals worked in harmony under one direction.

I venture to suggest, as the best mode of carrying out the views of the Colonial Secretary upon this subject, that each hospital should be placed under the charge of a house committee, of whom a certain proportion should be elected by the subscribers and a certain proportion appointed by the Government, that the chairman, treasurer, honorary secretary, and one Government member of each committee should together form a Board of control, the chairman of which might if desirable be appointed by the Government.

In reference to the important point which gave rise to the minute of the Colonial Secretary, viz., the substitution of a small emergency hospital for the large and expensive institution the erection of which has been commenced in Macquarie-street, and the completion of the Prince Alfred Hospital as the general hospital of the metropolis, I am of opinion that the existence of two general hospitals will be quite unnecessary for many years to come, and would undoubtedly lead to unnecessary expenditure and confusion of interests.

The site in Macquarie-street would be a suitable one for an emergency hospital of from seventy to eighty beds, but whether so large and valuable a site can be spared for this purpose is a question upon which I cannot offer an opinion.

The Prince Alfred Hospital has been planned as a complete general hospital and medical school. It includes departments for the diseases of the eye, diseases of women, &c., &c., and when completed will accommodate 520 beds. The whole of the administration as well as ward accommodation for 230 patients will be completed about the end of this year.

I must finally allude to one important branch of medical relief not referred to in the minute, in which the Colonial Secretary has confined himself to hospital accommodation only.

In Sydney as in all large communities the outdoor relief given through the dispensary branches is very considerable, and reaches the most destitute class of persons.

I submit that this relief should be more fully organized and taken as near the homes of recipients as possible, by establishing branch dispensaries in densely populated centres, and should include a special ophthalmic branch within the city. It should however be strictly confined to the poorest and most deserving class.

The department should be conducted by a separate committee represented at the central Board of control, in the same manner as those of the hospitals.

ALFRED ROBERTS.

No. 7.

George Fortescue, Esquire, M.B., to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

25 August, 1883.

I have to apologize for some unavoidable delay in replying to the questions upon which you have done me the honor to ask my opinion, and I take the first opportunity of leisure which has occurred to me to convey my views upon the subject. This might well be done by expressing my entire concurrence with the opinions advanced in your minute, and with the reasons by which they are justified; nor do I think that, even in matters of detail, I have anything material to add to your conclusions. That the general hospital for Sydney should be built somewhere in the suburbs is, I think, incontestable, and equally that the erection of a hospital of 250 beds upon the limited site in Macquarie-street is opposed to all the teachings of modern science in this direction, and would be an inevitable source of danger to the city and disappointment in the working results of the institution.

As the State cannot reasonably be expected to subsidize a third general hospital, it seems to me that without doubt the best course to take on all grounds of propriety as well as of economy is to finish the Prince Alfred Hospital up to its full capacity of 450 beds, to resume the site of the Infirmary, so valuable for other public purposes and so necessary to the future architectural embellishment of the city, and to secure another site, either by the removal of the Observatory, or by the resumption of land east of Upper Fort-street, for a hospital of 100 beds, in a situation very healthy and central, and which will meet the local requirements for urgent cases and accidents.

An ophthalmic hospital as a separate institution is, I think, not at all necessary, and the speciality will indeed be better worked as a department of the general hospital.

A lock hospital is no doubt urgently required, and I know of no better place for it than that proposed at Miller's Point; probably the number of beds suggested (thirty) will be sufficient to begin with, but will need before long to be considerably increased.

A provision for convalescents is highly desirable, and I suppose that arrangements can be made for their accommodation at Little Bay; but I think that the number of beds proposed can be reduced by one-half.

I would wish to point out that the probable introduction of the compulsory registration of infectious disease—a regulation much to be desired—and the necessity for providing for the isolation of the subjects of the various forms of contagious fever, makes the establishment of two or three detached pavilions necessary, and will increase the number of beds to be held available in periods of epidemic emergencies, beyond the calculations of your minute, to probably 100 or 120 beds in all. These pavilions should of course be of the simplest construction, preferably of wood, and will have to be placed upon a somewhat extended area at a considerable distance from the city.

It would, I feel, be quite out of place for me to go beyond the letter of your inquiries into minute or general considerations upon this very important subject which has been so sufficiently treated in your paper; but you will allow me to hope that this proposed settlement of a somewhat unsettled matter will be successful and will be final, and that the present demoralizing interference with the duties of individual benevolence will be allowed to cease; that these practically State institutions, if they are to remain under their present conditions, may remain subject to Government supervision as models of efficiency and good management; and that the future needs of the city in the way of hospital relief which an increasing population will bring may be left, as elsewhere, to be met by the efforts of private liberality and the organized charity of the public.

I have, &c.,

G. FORTESCUE.

No. 8.

The Principal Under-Secretary to The President of the Board of Directors of the Sydney Hospital.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 10 September, 1883.

I am directed to inform you that the Colonial Secretary, after communicating his views to the deputation of the Board of Directors of the Sydney Hospital which waited on him on the 3rd ultimo for further aid to the new building of the institution, invited the opinions of the Medical Adviser to the Government

Government and of four other leading members of the profession; and as their views, though differing in details, coincide in the main with those held by the Colonial Secretary, he laid the matter before the Cabinet, and the Government has determined that it will not advise Parliament to grant any more money for the building now in progress.

2. I am desired to assure you that it is not from want of appreciation of the large benefits which for a long period of years have been given by your institution, but from a conviction that the building of a large and expensive hospital in that particular situation is in the highest degree inexpedient, and that the Government shall not be the main supplier of funds to build up rival institutions.

3. If you decide upon abandoning the hospital, the Government will be ready to entertain the resumption of the ground and buildings and the expending of the value thereof in such other hospital accommodation as the needs of Sydney or the Colony require, so that the funds subscribed as well as the grants given by the Government will continue to be applied for the purposes originally intended by the donors, with the one exception of the change in the locus in quo.

I have, &c.,
CRITCHETT WALKER.

---

APPENDIX A.

REFERENCE TO MAP.

Hospital Ground.

Sanatorium or Healthy Ground.

WW. WW. Neutral Ground and Watershed.

HOSPITAL BUILDINGS.

- P 1 P 1 Ward Pavilions, each containing 8 patients.
 P 2 P 2 Do do do 14 do
 P 3 P 3 Do do do 6 do
 P 4 P 4 Do do do 6 rooms for private paying patients.
 P 5 Two Ward Pavilions for Dark Races, containing 20 beds.
 L Laundry.
 V Quarters for Laundresses, Special Attendants, or Constables.
 A Quarters for Medical Superintendent.
 B Quarters for Assistant Medical Officer, Dispensary, and Drug Store.
 C Telegraph Operator's quarters.
 D Quarters for Matron.
 E Quarters for Nurses.
 F Quarters for Servants.
 G Kitchen Block, containing—Kitchen, Scullery, General Baths, and Pantry.
 J Hospital Store.
 K Space reserved for Poultry Yard, to receive poultry from infected premises.
 YY Spaces reserved for Kitchen Gardens.
 M Ambulance Quarters.
 N Ambulance Men's Kitchen.
 O Stables.
 P Carriage Shed.
 Q Disinfecting House.
 R Stockyard—Kennel for Cattle and Dogs from infected premises.
 T Entrance Lodge.
 U Dam for Water Supply.
 XX Windmill Pumps.

SANATORIUM.

- 1 1 Quarters for Married Couples.
 2 Quarters for Single Men.
 3 Quarters for Single Women.
 4 Kitchen and Quarters for Servants.
 5 Laundry and Bath-house.
 6 General Store.
 7 Bath-house for bathing persons before entering Sanatorium.
 8 Windmill Pump.

83/21
BLOCK PLAN

Shewing position of Buildings for

SANATORIUM

LITTLE BAY

Scale - 100 feet to 1 inch.

The Buildings marked with a red cross are to be removed to a site enclosed by Blue lines to the south in the plan.

LITTLE BAY

James Barret
Archit.
PUBLIC WORKS
20DEC91
GOVERNMENT ARCHITECT, N.S.W.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

PRINCE ALFRED AND SYDNEY HOSPITALS.
(COST, ACCOMMODATION, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 12 March, 1884.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 18th January, 1884, That there be laid upon the Table of this House, a Return showing:—

- “(1.) The estimated value of the land attached to Prince Alfred Hospital.
“(2.) The cost of buildings up to the present time.
“(3.) Cost of fixtures and furniture.
“(4.) The estimated amount still required to complete and furnish the other portions of the building.
“(5.) The total amount paid by the Government towards the above.
“(6.) The number of beds that will be available when the buildings are completed.
“(7.) The same information in regard to the Sydney Hospital.”

(Mr. Abigail.)

THE following information has been supplied by the authorities of the Hospitals respectively. The valuations of land do not appear to have been made by skilled appraisers, but only estimated by the Hospital authorities.

No. of Question.	Prince Alfred Hospital.	Sydney Hospital.
1	£ 20,000 0 0	£50,000.
2	142,463 5 8	£59,516 15s., exclusive of the amount now due to the contractor and architect.
3	7,011 2 4	£5,000 (about).
4	48,000 0 0	According to alternative plan, lately submitted to the Government by the Directors, £50,000. According to the original plan of the architect, £140,000.
5	112,500 0 0	£45,000.
6	500 0 0	According to original scheme, about 300. According to modified scheme, about 150.

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

LANDS FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES ACQUISITION ACT.

(RESUMPTION OF LAND FOR HOSPITAL AT FORBES).

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 44 Vic. No. 16, sec. 6.

NOTIFICATION OF RESUMPTION OF LAND UNDER 44 VICTORIA, No. 16.

NEW SOUTH WALES, ) By His Excellency the Right Honorable to wit. ) Sir AUGUSTUS WILLIAM FREDERICK SPENCER LOFTUS (commonly called Lord AUGUSTUS LOFTUS), Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, a Member of Her Majesty's
(L.S.) Most Honorable Privy Council, Governor
AUGUSTUS LOFTUS, and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony
Governor. of New South Wales and its Dependencies.

WHEREAS Parliament has duly appropriated a sum of money out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund for or towards the construction of a Hospital at Forbes, in the said Colony, and the lands hereinafter described are required for the purpose of the erection thereon of the said Hospital or in connection therewith: Now, I, the Governor aforesaid, with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony, in pursuance of the powers in this behalf given to or vested in me by the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," do, by this notification published in the Gazette and in a newspaper, that is to say, in the "Forbes Times" circulated in the Police District wherein the said lands are situated, declare that the lands hereinafter described have been resumed for the public purposes hereinafter mentioned, that is to say for and in connection with the Reserve for the Hospital at Forbes, to the intent that upon the publication of this notification in the Gazette the legal estate in the said lands shall forthwith be vested in the Minister for Public Works and his successors, on behalf of Her Majesty, for the purposes of the said last-mentioned Act, for an estate of inheritance in fee simple in possession, freed and discharged from all trusts, obligations, estates, interests, contracts, charges, rights-of-way, or other easements whatsoever, and to the intent further that the legal estate therein, together with all powers incident thereto or conferred by the said Act, shall be vested in the said Minister as a trustee with the powers stated in the said last-mentioned Act. And I declare that the following are the descriptions of the lands hereinbefore referred to, that is to say:—

County of Ashburnham, parish of Forbes, town of Forbes: Commencing on the southern side of Elgin-street, at a point bearing south 78 degrees 30 minutes west and distant 3 chains 27 links from a point where the southern side of that street meets the western side of Flint-street; and bounded thence on the north by Elgin-street, bearing south 78 degrees 30 minutes west 2 chains and 3 links; on the west by a line bearing south 11 degrees 30 minutes east 2 chains; on the south by a line bearing north 78 degrees 30 minutes east 2 chains and 3 links; and on the east by a line bearing north 11 degrees 30 minutes west 2 chains to the point of commencement,—containing 1 rood 24½ perches, and said to be in the possession and occupation of Agnes Low.

Also, all that piece or parcel of land situated in the town, parish, county, and Colony aforesaid: Commencing on the northern side of Berkley-street, at a point bearing south 78 degrees 30 minutes west, and distant 3 chains 27 links from a point where the northern side of that street meets the western side of Flint-street; and bounded thence on the south by Berkley-street, bearing south 78 degrees 30 minutes west 2 chains and 3 links; on the west by a line bearing north 11 degrees 30 minutes west 2 chains; on the north by a line bearing north 78 degrees 30 minutes east 2 chains and 3 links; and on the east by a line bearing south 11 degrees 30 minutes east 2 chains to the point of commencement,—containing 1 rood 24½ perches, and said to be in the possession and occupation of Charles A. Low.

Also, all that piece or parcel of land situated in the town, parish, county, and Colony aforesaid: Commencing on the southern side of Elgin-street, at a point bearing north 78 degrees 30 minutes east, and distant 3 chains 25 links from a point where the southern side of that street meets the eastern side of Church-street; and bounded thence on the north by Elgin-street, bearing north 78 degrees 30 minutes east 2 chains and 5 links; on the east by a line bearing south 11 degrees 30 minutes east 4 chains to Berkley-street; on the south by that street bearing south 78 degrees 30 minutes west 2 chains and 5 links; and on the west by a line bearing north 11 degrees 30 minutes west 4 chains to the point of commencement,—containing 3 roods 11 perches, and said to be in the possession and occupation of M. M'Glynn.

Given under my Hand and Seal, at Government House, Sydney, this thirteenth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, and in the forty-seventh year of Her Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,

F. A. WRIGHT.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

LANDS FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES ACQUISITION ACT.

(RESUMPTION OF LAND FOR HOSPITAL AT FORBES.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 44 Vic. No. 16, sec. 6.

ABSTRACT of Resumption under the provisions of the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act."

County.	Parish.	Town.	Area.	Purpose of Resumption.	Date of Gazette in which Proclamation of resumption appeared.	Remarks.
			r. p.		1884.
Ashburnham..	Forbes..	Forbes..	1 24½	In connection with the reserve for the hospital.	29 January.	Said to be in the possession and occupation of Agnes Low.
Do ...	do	do	1 24½	do ...	do ...	Said to be in the possession and occupation of Charles A. Low.
Do ...	do	do	3 11	do ...	do ...	Said to be in the possession and occupation of M. M'Glynn.

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MASTER IN LUNACY.

(REPORT FOR 1882.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Master in Lunacy to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Department of Lunacy, Supreme Court, 25 October, 1883.

I have the honor to submit for your information a Report for the past year (1882), of the working of that part of the "Lunacy Act of 1878," which comes under my supervision as Master in Lunacy.

During the past year inquiries have been instituted into about 350 cases of patients who were admitted into the several Hospitals for the Insane, and who it was supposed had property which might be applied to their maintenance, or who had friends and relations likely to be in a position to contribute towards their support. I have during the past year received 453 letters, and have despatched 673 during the same period, in reference to lunacy matters. Summonses have been issued requesting persons to attend before me, in order that I might inquire into their circumstances, and settle what amount I considered fair and reasonable for them to contribute towards the support of their insane relatives, in order that the necessity to apply to the Police Court, under the 147th section of the Act, might be avoided. In almost every case so brought before me, I have ascertained that this is the best method to adopt; but there are, I regret to say, a few cases in which I find that it will be necessary for me to proceed at law against persons who are liable, and who I am convinced are well able to contribute towards their relatives' maintenance. In one case, just as I had all the papers ready, and was about to take legal proceedings against the husband of a patient who was an inmate of the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, the patient had so far recovered that she was discharged; though the husband of the patient no doubt knew, when the application was made to him under the 147th section of the Act, that he would be compelled to contribute towards his wife's support. By this means the Hospital was relieved of a patient who might have remained an inmate thereof for a much longer period.

Contributions for the maintenance of patients, from their estates and from their relatives and friends, have been collected and paid into the Treasury during 1882, to the amount of £5,863 7s. 9d., viz. :—

	£	s.	d.
For patients in the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville ... ..	4,365	8	11
"                                    "          Parramatta ... ..	537	5	3
"                                    "          Callan Park ... ..	337	3	2
"                                    "          Newcastle ... ..	353	6	2
"                                    "          Cooma ... ..	18	2	2
Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River ... ..	252	2	1
	£5,863	7	9

This sum is irrespective of a sum of more than £700 payable by the Imperial Treasury towards the support of convict patients who still remain in the Hospitals for the Insane, at Parramatta and Newcastle, and which sum does not pass through my hands, but is paid direct to the Treasury. The amount collected last year for maintenance of patients, viz., £5,863 7s. 9d., shows an increase over the receipts for the year 1880, of £112—(Fees)?

During the past year there has been collected, on behalf of insane patients, the sum of £7,372 9s. 4d., and the sum of £6,772 17s. 3d. has been disbursed in investments upon deposit, maintenance of patients, allowances to their families, and refunds to themselves upon discharge. I also held, on the 31st December, 1882, fixed deposits representing a sum of £4,635, which I had invested on behalf of patients, bearing interest at current rates, and the sum of £600 in Government debentures.

During the same period 331 patients have had various weekly sums contributed towards their maintenance, and on the 31st December, there remained on the pay-sheet patients to the number of 258, viz. :—

	Total number of patients for whom maintenance was paid during 1882.	Number of patients on pay list on 31st December, 1882.
In Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville ... ..	224	174
” ” Parramatta ... ..	34	26
” ” Callan Park ... ..	24	14
” ” Newcastle ... ..	27	25
” ” Cooma... ..	2	1
In Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River ... ..	20	18
	331	258

Eight applications have been made to the Court for declarations of insanity. In seven of these applications Committees were appointed to manage the estates of the patients who were declared to be of unsound mind. In the eighth case no order was made, and the patient was discharged. The number of patients in the Institutions for the Insane, on the 31st December, 1882, was as follows, viz. :—

At the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville ... ..	870
” ” Parramatta, free and convict ... ..	797
” ” ” criminal ... ..	51
” ” Callan Park ... ..	146
” ” Newcastle ... ..	239
” ” Cooma ... ..	60
” Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River ... ..	144
Absent on leave on 31st December, from Gladesville, 16 ; Parramatta, 2 ; Newcastle, 2 ; Cook's River, 1 ... ..	21
Amounting in all to ... ..	2,328

remaining on the books of the Hospitals for the Insane, as against 2,218 on the 31st December, 1881, which shows an increase in admissions over discharges, deaths, &c., of 110 patients.

Eighty-nine pay patients, representing annual contributions amounting to £1,854 8s., were discharged or died during 1882, and seventy-seven new pay patients were placed upon the pay-sheet, representing an annual income of £2,165. 110 patients were admitted into the Hospitals without the addresses of friends and relatives, and I was unable to obtain any information about them. In every case in which I had the slightest information as to an address I endeavoured to follow up and find out such person, and obtain all the information I could obtain as to patient's circumstances and properties. As such a variety of novel and interesting cases of patients, whose estates have to be administered, are constantly brought under my notice, I shall enumerate a few which have come under my investigation and management during the past year :—

1. In this case the patient was admitted into the criminal division of the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta, he having been (during the interval between arrest and trial) found to be insane. The Sheriff reported the matter to me, and I caused inquiry to be made as to whether the patient was possessed of property, and found that he was the owner of two cottages and a piece of vacant land, and that no one was looking after the patient's interest; the tenants had refused to atorn, and the deeds were in the possession of the patient's brother-in-law, who had advanced funds to obtain possession of them. I accordingly, in compliance with the 107th section of the Act, reported the matter to the Court, and His Honor the Primary Judge made an order authorizing the patient's brother-in-law to enter into possession thereof, do the necessary repairs, collect the rents, pay himself so far as they would go, and when he had repaid himself, the income was to be applied to the patient's maintenance, should he still remain a patient in the Hospital.
2. In this case the patient was admitted into the Hospital for the Insane at Gladesville, on the 28th December, 1857, and on the 25th March, 1876, her husband died, leaving property in trust for her, yielding a rental of about £2 4s. per week. Early in the year 1882 it was represented to me that the trustee had not paid any sum towards the maintenance of the patient. I at once instituted inquiry, and it transpired that the trustee had retained the proceeds of the said property from the death of the husband to the time of my inquiry, a period of nearly six years. I immediately took possession of the property on behalf of the patient, and commenced to receive the rents, and which I still continue to do. After many conferences with the trustee, and if possible to avoid legal proceedings, I offered to compromise the matter, and made, I thought, a fair offer considering the circumstances of the case. My offer to compromise was rejected, and there was no other course left open to me but to proceed in establishing my claim in Equity. I accordingly presented a petition to the Court, praying for declaration of insanity and appointment of guardian to sue. A statement of claim was filed against this trustee and her husband (she having during these proceedings married). His Honor the Primary Judge made a decree for an account against both husband and wife. The accounts were taken, and a sum of £467 was found to be due to the patient, and upon the motion confirmation of the report His Honor said, “that the Master in Lunacy had offered liberal terms to the female defendant in offering to accept £300, terms which were better than she had a right to expect, but this offer was refused, and the case had to be brought into Court. It was from this time that he would date the misconduct. He would make the order for payment of costs by defendants as between party and party.” When the above amount of £467 is received, the Consolidated Revenue will benefit to a very large extent out of the said sum for arrears of maintenance, and this patient's estate is now contributing the sum of 25s. per week towards her support. 3.

3. A patient who was admitted into the Gladesville Hospital on the 3rd January, 1877, had a small piece of ground and a cottage thereon at Balmain, which was mortgaged, and the rent barely paid the interest. After having ascertained that the patient was likely to remain an inmate of the institution probably for life, I requested the mortgagee to sell and pay over to me the balance after deducting his claim, and I am now applying the sum so received towards patient's support in the hospital.
4. This was the case of a patient who was a gold-miner at Temora, and who was admitted into the Asylum on 27th February, 1882, as an insane patient. It was reported to me that the patient had an interest in a claim at Temora. I at once communicated with his mates, and was informed that the claim was worked out and all the wash-dirt stacked, and they were waiting for rain to wash. I obtained information that patient's mates were trustworthy men, and would act honorably in the matter. When rain came the dirt was washed. Patient's share of the proceeds, which amounted to the sum of £1,538 3s. 7d., had been deposited in the Australian Joint Stock Bank there, and was afterwards forwarded to me. When the patient was admitted into the hospital he had but £315 to his credit in the Bank, the remainder was made up by his share in the proceeds of the said wash-dirt, which sum I invested upon fixed deposit, and applied a portion of the interest to his support in the hospital until his death, which occurred on the 6th November, 1882. The patient has a father living in Ireland, and he is now taking steps to obtain the money, which still remains to his son's credit in the books of my office.
5. In this case patient before his admission rented 2 acres of land at North Shore, under a ninety-nine years lease, with a view to making a home for his wife and children, but after losing a Government situation through a sunstroke he was obliged to mortgage the land to enable him to live until he got better and was again able to work, but his mind gave way and he had to be sent to the Asylum. His wife, in order to pay off the mortgage and keep her little cottage over her head, was advised to sell an acre of the land. This she could legally do. In pursuance of the powers conferred upon me under the Lunacy Act I caused one acre of the land to be sold, and the proceeds after paying the mortgage to be handed to the patient's wife, towards the support of herself and family. Had I been unable to act in this matter the property would no doubt have been lost to the estate, and this poor woman with five young children depending upon her for support would have lost their home.
6. This was the case of a patient who was a carrier and owned a waggon and ten horses, with harness, which I, after having ascertained that he was likely to remain a considerable period in the Asylum, caused to be sold and the proceeds thereof forwarded to me, and which I now hold for his benefit. This occurred in the latter end of 1879, and I looked upon the matter as finally settled, but in October last a person called upon me and stated that he could put me in the way of recovering a sum of £56 14s. 9d. due to the above estate, and gave me such information that I was enabled to recover the said sum, which was paid over to me so soon as I made application for it; but it most likely would never have been paid had I not received information as to the fact of its being due to the estate, more especially as the patient had no relatives or friends in the Colony.

The above are only a few instances taken out of some 100 or more cases which have been dealt with by me during the past year, and they certainly go a long way to prove the usefulness of such an Act as the "Lunacy Act of 1878," and show how necessary it is that the officer charged with its administration should be vested with such powers as the Master in Lunacy possesses under the Act. Were his powers limited, he would in many cases be unable to protect property, and collect funds belonging to "insane patients," and to act with that promptness which the nature of many cases demand, were he compelled to apply to the Court on every occasion.

Cases not unfrequently occur where married women whose husbands have been admitted into the Asylum have been unable to obtain any or portion of a sum of money deposited by them in a Savings' Bank previous to their insanity, although the support of their wives and families required such an application, under the 144th section of the Act; the object of which is, to provide in a summary and inexpensive manner the means of making available the estates of those insane patients whose property, being of a small amount, could not bear the more expensive proceeding by declaration under the 92nd section of the Act. The Master is empowered to take such steps for the management, care, and disposal, and for the management of the estate of an insane patient as to the Master may seem expedient.

Immediately upon its being reported to me that a patient has funds, and his wife and family without means, I cause the funds to be at once collected, and allow what I consider a fair and reasonable sum for the wife's support so long as the money lasts. This is done without expense to the estate, and every shilling of the patient's money is devoted to the support of himself and family. It often becomes necessary for me to sell horses, cattle, live stock, &c., belonging to patients who have been apprehended as insane in different parts of the Colony. So soon as I become aware that a patient has a horse, team, &c., I at once cause the same to be sold, in order to save expense of agistment, and then if the patient recovers he has a little money coming to him upon discharge, instead of finding that his property was sold to defray expenses. In one case in which a patient had a quantity of furniture in a house in which he lodged, I, after having ascertained from the Medical Superintendent of the Hospital in which he was a patient, that his case was likely to be a protracted one, caused the furniture, in order to save expense of storage, to be sold, paid his landlady what was due to her, and placed the balance to his credit, so that when he obtains his discharge he will receive the balance instead of finding that his goods had been sold to pay for rent due.

The reports furnished by the police through their Inspector-General, to the number of fifty-six, have been most carefully prepared, and much zeal and energy has been devoted to these reports. In one case in particular I was much gratified in perusing the report. It was made in that of a patient who, on admission, possessed amongst other things sixteen horses, eleven pigs, and a growing crop. The property was sold, and realized £93 odd. The debts were paid, amounting to some £50, and the balance (viz., £43 11s. 8d.) forwarded to me on behalf of patient. None of the debts were paid until the claimants had made declarations of debt, and the senior-constable who had charge of the matter had fully satisfied himself as to the correctness of the said accounts.

Had

Had this matter been placed in the hands of an agent, I am convinced, from perusal of the papers, which show such a large amount of work performed, that very little, if anything, would have been left for the benefit of the patient.

In Victoria no insane seaman is permitted by the Custom-house officer to be landed, unless the captain either enters into a bond for, or deposits, £100 towards his maintenance. In this Colony no such law is in force; but in order to prevent as far as possible seamen who become insane from becoming a burden upon the public funds of the Colony, I communicated with the Shipping Master in reference to this matter, and find that the instructions issued by the Board of Trade on the subject are as follows:—

The officer (or Shipping Master) will have to decide what is just (1) between the master and the seaman; (2) between the masters and owners and the public. It is manifestly unjust that the public should have to pay for the consequences of a master engaging an unprofitable servant, or for an arrangement made for the convenience of either party.

If, therefore, it is to be feared that a seaman is left behind without some provision made for him by the master, will fall into distress and become a burden upon public funds, the officer will be justified in refusing his sanction or certificate until the master, either by procuring the seaman other employment of a permanent character, or providing for his conveyance home, or in some other way, has made such provision for him as the officer thinks is required by the justice of the case.

I am glad to report that the Shipping Master has rendered me every assistance in reference to this matter, by refusing to give the necessary certificate to the master of a ship who has sent any of his crew to a Hospital for the Insane until he has made satisfactory arrangements with me as to the maintenance of the patient he leaves behind.

The result of this arrangement has been to increase the Revenue in several cases during the past year, which, but for the assistance so afforded to me by the Shipping Master, would have resulted in a loss to the Public Revenue of the Colony. I take this opportunity to state that the Imperial Government have always made provision for the payment of maintenance for any patient forwarded to a Hospital for the Insane from any of their ships of war, so long as the patient remains an inmate of the institution.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

ARTHUR T. HOLROYD,

Master in Lunacy.

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MASTER IN LUNACY.

(REPORT FOR 1883.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Master in Lunacy to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Department of Lunacy, Supreme Court, 5 August, 1884.

I have the honor to transmit for your information a report of the administration and management of the estates of insane persons and patients in my Department as Master in Lunacy for the year 1883. I have during the past year instituted inquiries into 323 cases of patients who were admitted into the several Hospitals for the Insane, both as to their property and relationship, in order to obtain payment for the maintenance of such patients, either out of their own funds, or from their relatives when no funds of their own could be obtained for that purpose.

Contributions towards the maintenance of patients from their estates, and from their relatives and friends, have been collected and paid into the Consolidated Revenue, amounting to the sum of £5,995 18s. 3d., from the following sources:—

	£	s.	d.
For patients in the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville ... ..	4,433	11	4
” ” ” Parramatta ... ..	600	8	5
” ” ” Callan Park ... ..	337	18	2
” ” ” Newcastle... ..	447	4	8
” ” ” Cooma ... ..	5	18	0
” Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River ... ..	170	17	8
Total ... ..	£5,995	18	3

which shows an increase over the receipts for the year 1882 of £121 10s. 5d. The above collections do not include an amount of £700, or thereabouts, payable by the Imperial Government towards the support of convict patients, who still remain in the Hospitals for the Insane at Parramatta and Newcastle. This sum does not come into my hands, but is paid direct to the Treasury. Court fees, amounting to the sum of £68 11s. 6d., have also been received and paid into the Treasury. I may here state that since the coming into force of the Lunacy Act in 1879 to the 31st December last I have collected and paid altogether into the Consolidated Revenue the sum of £23,192 15s. 11d. for the maintenance of patients, and Court fees to the amount of £246 13s. 2d., making together a total sum of £23,439 9s. 2d.

During the past year funds to the amount of £9,849 15s. 11d. have been collected on behalf of patients and placed to the credit of a “Trust Fund”; and the sum of £7,654 13s. 5d. has been disbursed in investments upon deposit, maintenance of patients, allowances to patients' families, and refunds to themselves upon discharge. I also held, on the 31st December last, fixed deposits representing a sum of £9,316 9s. 9d., which have been invested on behalf of patients, and bear interest at current rates, and I hold £600 in Government debentures.

During the same period 292 patients have had various weekly sums contributed towards their maintenance; and on the 31st December last there remained in the maintenance ledger open accounts on behalf of pay patients to the number of 250, viz. :—

Name of Institution.	Total number of Patients for whom maintenance was paid during 1883.	Total number of Patients on Register on 31 December, 1883.
Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville ... ..	197	157
” ” Parramatta ... ..	34	35
” ” Callan Park ... ..	20	14
” ” Newcastle ... ..	29	29
” ” Cooma ... ..	1	1
Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River ... ..	11	14
	292	250

Only three applications for declarations of insanity have been made to the Court during the past year, as against eight made during the year 1882.

One application was made to the Court, under the 81st section of the Act, for liberty to take a patient out of the jurisdiction of the Court; but as it was not proved to the satisfaction of the Judge who heard the application that it would be for the benefit of the patient to be removed, no order was made. The number of patients in Institutions for the Insane on 31st December, 1883, was as follows, viz. :—

At the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville ... ..	801
"    "    Parramatta ... ..	1,000
"    "    Callan Park ... ..	150
"    "    Newcastle ... ..	246
"    "    Cooma ... ..	60
At the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River ... ..	146
Absent on leave, &c. ... ..	21
	2,424

being the total number of patients remaining on the register on that date, as against 2,328 remaining on the register on the 31st December, 1882. This shows an increase in admissions over discharges, deaths, &c., of 96, and an increase, since the coming into force of the Lunacy Act, on the 1st April, 1879, to the 31st December, 1883, of 508 patients. In thirty-four cases I have had the assistance of the Inspector-General of Police, who has caused inquiry to be made by the police. The reports furnished by them have contained much valuable information, and have been of great assistance to me in dealing with matters connected with the insane. In many instances the information supplied by the relatives of patients has been found to be correct, but in others, I am sorry to say, it is not so. In one case the daughter of a patient, who resides in the country, was written to and requested to state her father's position and circumstances before his admission to the hospital. She, in reply, stated that her father had done nothing for the last three years, and that what little means he had were exhausted, and she and her sisters had been compelled to go into service. This letter I referred to the police for inquiry, the result of which was that the patient was possessed of a house and land, from which he received, previous to his admission, an annual rental of £75; that the house the daughter written to resided in was his property, and that he had a considerable sum in a bank upon fixed deposit; and, further, that the statement as to this young woman and her sisters having had to go into service was without foundation. On three occasions I have been compelled to apply to the Court for authority to sell real estate which I discovered, and which belonged to patients, in order that a portion thereof should be applied towards their maintenance. In one case I have taken proceedings in Equity to obtain possession of property belonging to a patient, and to obtain a decree for an account.

Many persons who are in arrear with contributions towards the maintenance of their relatives have been threatened with legal proceedings, and I fear that such proceedings will have to be resorted to before the amounts so in arrear are recovered.

I have been compelled to put in force the 147th section of the Act by taking proceedings against the father of a patient who was, I had ascertained, well able to contribute to his son's support, although he refused to do so. The result of these proceedings was that an order was made against him, by the presiding Stipendiary Magistrate, to pay the sum of 12s. 6d. per week towards his son's maintenance. From the above account it will appear that the business of the Lunacy Department has very largely increased since its establishment in 1879, and this is confirmed by the fact of a steady annual increase of patients, at the rate of 100 patients a year. With my present staff I cannot prevent arrears of work in the office, and I feel satisfied that an additional clerk would have the effect of increasing the maintenance contribution and add considerably to the Treasury receipts.

ARTHUR T. HOLROYD,
Master in Lunacy.

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF THE INSANE.

(ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1882.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 42 Vict. No. 7, sec. 73.

The Inspector-General of the Insane to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir, Lunacy Department, Inspector-General's Office, Gladesville, 31 March, 1883.

In accordance with the 73rd section of the Lunacy Act of 1878, I do myself the honor to submit for your information a Report on the state and condition of the Hospitals and other Institutions in this Department, for the year ending 31st December, 1882.

And have, &c.,
F. NORTON MANNING,
Inspector-General.

On December 31st, 1881, the number of insane persons in this Colony, exclusive of unreported cases maintained in private dwellings, was 2,218; and of these, 2,080 were on the registers of the Hospitals for the Insane, and 138 were in the Licensed House for the Insane at Cook's River.

On December 31st, 1882, the number of insane persons on the registers was 2,307, and their distribution was as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville ... ..	447	423	870
Do Parramatta (Free and Convict) ... ..	593	204	797
Do do (Criminal) ... ..	45	6	51
Do Callan Park ... ..	146	.....	146
Do Newcastle ... ..	130	109	239
Do Cooma ... ..	60	.....	60
In the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River ... ..	9	135	144
	1,430	877	2,307

Sixteen patients were absent on leave from Gladesville, two from Parramatta, two from Newcastle, and one from Cook's River, at the close of the year.

The increase during the year was eighty-nine; and this, though less than the increase during 1881, was somewhat above the average for the last ten years, as will be seen from the following return:—

Year.	Increase.
1873.....	86
1874.....	62
1875.....	109
1876.....	43
1877.....	89
1878.....	87
1879.....	95
1880.....	88
1881.....	119
1882.....	89
	867

No new Institution has been opened, and at the close of the year there was an increase of 62 patients at Gladesville, 19 at Parramatta (Free), 6 at Callan Park, 4 at Newcastle, and 6 at Cook's River, whilst there was a decrease of 6 at Parramatta (Criminal) and 2 at Cooma, as compared with the numbers at the close of the preceding year.

The number of insane persons to population on 31st December, 1882, was one in 354, or 2.82 per thousand; and this is nearly identical with the proportion in England, which at the close of 1881 was one in 352, or 2.84 per thousand.

The proportion of insane to population is increasing only very slowly, as will be seen in the following return, showing the proportion of insane persons to population in this Colony and in England for the last ten years:—

Year.	Population of New South Wales.	Total Number of Insane in New South Wales on 31 December.	Proportion of Insane to Population in New South Wales.	Proportion of Insane to Population in England.
			Per M.	Per M.
1873	560,275	1,526	1 in 367 or 2·72	1 in 381 or 2·62
1874	584,278	1,588	1 in 367 or 2·72	1 in 375 or 2·66
1875	606,652	1,697	1 in 357 or 2·80	1 in 373 or 2·68
1876	629,776	1,740	1 in 361 or 2·77	1 in 368 or 2·71
1877	662,212	1,829	1 in 362 or 2·76	1 in 363 or 2·75
1878	693,743	1,916	1 in 362 or 2·76	1 in 360 or 2·77
1879	734,282	2,011	1 in 365 or 2·74	1 in 357 or 2·80
1880	770,524	2,099	1 in 367 or 2·72	1 in 353 or 2·83
1881	781,265	2,218	1 in 352 or 2·84	1 in 352 or 2·84
1882	817,468	2,307	1 in 354 or 2·82	.....

The following tables show the number of admissions, discharges, and deaths; the proportion of recoveries; the rate of mortality; the causes of insanity in those admitted; the causes of death; the length of residence in those who recovered and those who died; as well as the ages, condition as to marriage, religious profession, and native countries of those admitted and under care in all the Institutions for the Insane during the year 1882.

TABLE 1.

SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1882.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December.....	1,360	858	2,218
	Male.	Female.	Total.
Admitted for the first time during the year .....	286	142	428
Re-admitted during the year .....	20	25	45
Transferred during the year.....	38	14	52
Total under care during the year .....	1,704	1,039	2,743
Discharged or removed—
Recovered .....	118	84	202
Relieved .....	20	15	35
Not improved.....	2	1	3
Transferred.....	38	14	52
Escaped (and not re-captured) .....	3	0	3
Died.....	93	48	141
Total discharged or died during the year .....	274	162	436
Remaining .....	1,430	877	2,307
Average number resident during the year.....	1,391	854	2,245
* Persons under care during the year † .....	1,700	1,037	2,737
* Persons admitted .....	340	179	519
* Persons recovered .....	116	83	199

* Persons, i.e. separate persons, in contradistinction to "cases" which may include the same individual more than once.
 † Total cases, minus re-admission of patients discharged during the current year.

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, with the Mean Annual Mortality, and the proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent., in the Hospitals for the Insane, for the years 1876 to 1882 inclusive, and including the Licensed House for the year 1882.

Year.	Admitted.			Transferred from other Hospitals, &c.			Discharged.			Transferred to other Hospitals, &c.			Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days.			Died.	Remain- ing in Hospital, 31st December in each year			Average number resident.			Percentage of Recoveries on Admissions and Re-admissions.			Percentage of Patients re- lieved on Admissions and Re-admissions.			Percentage of Deaths on average numbers resident.
	Admitted for the first time.		Re-ad- mitted.	M.		F.	Re- covered.		Re- lieved.	M.		F.	M.		F.		M.		F.	M.		F.	M.		F.	M.		F.	M.		F.
	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.		M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
1876	182	111	293	33	27	60	101	12	118	88	70	158	17	19	36	100	45	145	.....	78	29	107	1072	533	1605	1052	536	1588	40	90	50	72	44	75	7	90	13	76	10	19	7	41	5	41	6	73
1877	262	100	362	62	24	86	138	14	152	147	137	64	201	17	18	35	130	21	151	.....	97	20	117	1147	548	1695	1130	529	1659	42	28	51	61	44	86	4	97	14	51	7	81	3	58	3	78	7	05
1878	212	126	338	40	38	78	112	36	148	108	46	154	17	20	37	113	45	158	.....	99	28	127	1174	609	1783	1175	579	1754	42	35	28	05	37	01	6	75	12	19	8	39	8	42	4	83	7	24
1879	241	128	369	40	26	66	98	12	110	112	58	170	21	28	49	97	17	114	.....	91	26	117	1232	646	1878	1188	620	1808	39	36	37	66	39	08	7	47	18	18	11	26	7	66	4	19	7	10
1880	267	145	412	28	30	58	42	24	66	133	63	196	21	19	40	40	35	75	3	.....	3	96	40	136	1276	688	1964	1249	665	1914	45	08	36	00	41	70	7	11	10	85	8	51	7	68	6	01	7	10
1881	284	134	418	35	27	62	31	9	40	133	73	206	16	14	30	34	19	53	5	.....	5	84	26	110	1354	726	2080	1314	700	2014	41	69	45	34	42	91	5	01	8	69	6	25	6	39	3	71	5	46
1882	286	142	428	20	25	45	38	14	52	118	84	202	22	16	38	38	14	52	3	.....	3	98	48	141	1430	877	2307	1392	854	2246	38	56	50	29	42	70	7	18	9	58	8	03	6	68	5	02	6	27

TABLE 3.

SHOWING the Causes of Insanity, apparent or assigned, in the Admissions in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1882.

	Male	Female	Total
MORAL—
Domestic trouble (including loss of relatives and friends) . . . . .	1	16	17
Adverse circumstances (including business anxiety and pecuniary difficulties) . . . . .	6	1	7
Mental anxiety and "worry" (not included under above two heads) and overwork . . . . .	10	9	19
Religious excitement . . . . .	7	6	13
Love affairs (including seduction) . . . . .	...	...	...
Fright and nervous shock . . . . .	...	4	4
Isolation . . . . .	5	...	5
Nostalgia . . . . .	...	...	...
PHYSICAL—
Intemperance in drink . . . . .	47	20	67
Do (sexual) . . . . .	1	...	1
Venereal disease . . . . .	...	...	...
Self-abuse (sexual) . . . . .	9	...	9
Sunstroke . . . . .	12	4	16
Accident or injury . . . . .	9	1	10
Pregnancy . . . . .	...	1	1
Parturition and the puerperal state . . . . .	...	17	17
Lactation . . . . .	...	...	...
Uterine and ovarian disorders . . . . .	...	1	1
Puberty . . . . .	...	...	...
Change of life . . . . .	...	2	2
Fevers . . . . .	4	1	5
Privation and overwork . . . . .	9	...	9
Phthisis . . . . .	1	...	1
Epilepsy . . . . .	3	6	9
Disease of skull and brain . . . . .	7	...	7
Other bodily diseases and disorders and chronic ill-health . . . . .	5	...	5
Old age . . . . .	7	...	7
Excess of opium . . . . .	1	...	1
Do. tobacco . . . . .	1	...	1
PREVIOUS ATTACKS . . . . .	20	13	33
HEREDITARY INFLUENCE ASCERTAINED . . . . .	20	17	37
CONGENITAL DEFECT ASCERTAINED . . . . .	18	6	24
OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES . . . . .	6	3	9
UNKNOWN . . . . .	97	39	136
Total . . . . .	306	167	473

TABLE 4.

SHOWING the Causes of Death in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1882.

	Male	Female	Total
CEREBRAL DISEASE—
Apoplexy and paralysis . . . . .	4	3	7
Epilepsy and convulsions . . . . .	9	5	14
General paralysis . . . . .	17	1	18
Maniacal and melancholic exhaustion and decay . . . . .	7	9	16
Inflammation and other diseases of the brain, softening, tumour, &c. . . . .	5	2	7
THORACIC DISEASE—
Inflammation of lungs, pleura, and bronchi . . . . .	10	1	11
Pulmonary consumption . . . . .	4	4	8
Disease of heart and blood-vessels . . . . .	7	5	12
Cancer of throat . . . . .	...	1	1
ABDOMINAL DISEASE—
Inflammation and ulceration of stomach, intestines, and peritoneum . . . . .	4	2	6
Dysentery and diarrhoea . . . . .	2	2	4
Albuminuria . . . . .	...	1	1
Disease of bladder and prostate . . . . .	...	...	...
Disease of liver . . . . .	2	1	3
Diarrhoea . . . . .	2	...	2
ERYSIPELAS . . . . .	...	1	1
TYPHOID FEVER . . . . .	2	3	5
GENERAL DEBILITY AND OLD AGE . . . . .	16	7	23
GANGRENE . . . . .	1	...	1
ACCIDENT . . . . .	...	...	...
SUICIDE . . . . .	1	...	1
Total . . . . .	93	48	141

TABLE 5.
SHOWING the length of Residence in those Discharged Recovered, and those who have Died in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1882.

	Recovered.			Died.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Under 1 month .....	8	4	12	5	3	8
From 1 to 3 months .....	37	20	57	11	2	13
From 3 to 6 months .....	26	22	48	9	4	13
From 6 to 9 months .....	18	7	25	8	2	10
From 9 to 12 months .....	8	10	18	11	.....	11
From 1 to 2 years .....	8	8	16	16	7	23
From 2 to 3 years .....	6	6	12	9	2	11
From 3 to 5 years .....	3	6	9	9	6	15
From 5 to 7 years .....	2	1	3	5	1	6
From 7 to 10 years .....	.....	.....	.....	2	5	7
From 10 to 12 years .....	.....	.....	.....	3	4	7
From 12 to 15 years .....	.....	.....	.....	3	2	5
Over 15 years.....	2	.....	2	2	10	12
Total.....	118	84	202	93	48	141

TABLE 6.
SHOWING the Ages of the Admissions and Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, and also the Ages of all Patients under care, during the year 1882, in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane.

	Admitted and Re-admitted.			Recovered.			Removed, Relieved, &c.			Died.			Patients under care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
1 to 5 years .....	3	1	4	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	1	4
5 to 10 years .....	5	1	6	...	...	...	1	...	1	3	...	3	18	12	30
10 to 15 years .....	6	1	7	1	...	1	1	...	1	2	1	3	29	13	42
15 to 20 years .....	12	6	18	5	5	10	5	...	5	1	2	3	55	40	95
20 to 30 years .....	82	45	127	28	23	51	8	4	12	4	8	12	250	147	397
30 to 40 years .....	71	51	122	35	21	56	20	13	33	24	8	32	397	246	643
40 to 50 years .....	60	33	93	26	21	47	11	6	17	14	8	22	435	257	693
50 to 60 years .....	36	22	58	17	9	26	9	7	16	22	11	33	296	179	475
60 to 70 years .....	25	4	29	4	4	8	8	...	8	16	6	22	154	102	256
70 to 80 years .....	6	1	7	2	1	3	...	...	...	6	3	9	59	34	93
80 to 90 years .....	...	2	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	2	8	7	15
90 and upwards .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Total.....	306	167	473	118	84	202	63	30	93	93	48	141	1,704	1,039	2,743

TABLE 7.
CONDITIONS as to Marriage in those admitted and those under care in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1882.

	Admissions and Re-admissions.			Under care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Single .....	184	48	232	1,016	361	1,377
Married .....	89	100	189	354	435	789
Widowed .....	20	18	38	64	118	182
Unascertained .....	13	1	14	270	125	395
Total.....	306	167	473	1,704	1,039	2,743

TABLE 8.
SHOWING the Religious Profession of those admitted and those under care in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1882.

Religious Profession.	Admissions and Re-admissions.			Under care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Protestant—
Church of England .....	140	73	213	765	426	1,191
Presbyterian .....	23	12	35	88	55	143
Wesleyan .....	15	3	18	51	19	70
Lutheran .....	6	.....	6	46	4	50
Other Protestant Denominations .....	7	3	10	32	15	47
Roman Catholic .....	102	73	175	563	482	1,045
Pagan .....	7	.....	7	66	1	67
Hebrew .....	2	2	4	13	6	19
Mahomedan .....	.....	.....	.....	5	.....	5
Unascertained .....	4	1	5	75	31	106
Total.....	306	167	473	1,704	1,039	2,743

TABLE 9.

SHOWING the Native Countries of those Admitted and Re-admitted, and those under care in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1882.

Native Countries.	Admitted and Re-admitted during 1882.			Under care during 1882.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
British Colonies { New South Wales .....	95	55	150	416	295	711
{ Other Colonies.....	8	6	14	34	21	55
Great Britain..... { England .....	89	40	129	496	227	723
{ Scotland .....	17	8	25	94	51	145
{ Ireland .....	63	53	121	416	401	817
France .....	.....	1	1	12	6	18
Germany .....	5	2	7	48	13	61
China .....	7	.....	7	69	.....	69
Other Countries .....	17	2	19	119	25	144
Total.....	306	167	473	1,704	1,039	2,743

Admissions.

The number of patients admitted for the first time during the year was 428—286 males and 142 females; and the number re-admitted—having been at some previous time under care and treatment—was 45—20 males and 25 females; the numbers together making a total of 473. Of the total number of admissions and re-admissions, 264 were received by order of Magistrates under section 6 of the Lunacy Act; 170 at the request of friends, relatives, or official guardians, under section 8, and 11 under order from the Colonial Secretary under sec. 3 of the Lunacy Act Amendment Act. The remainder (28) were received into the Hospital for the Criminal Insane, under the provisions of the sections of the Act relating to insane criminals.

The admissions were less by 4, and the re-admissions less by 17, than during the year 1881, but were somewhat over the average for the last five years, which was 461. The re-admissions form a percentage of 9.51 on the total admissions.

The ratio of admissions to the population of the Colony is for the last ten years shown in the following return :—

TABLE showing the ratio of Admissions to the population of the Colony, from 1873 to 1882 inclusive.

Year.	Admission.	Population.	Proportion of Population.
1873	342	560,275	1 in 1,638
1874	330	584,278	1 in 1,770
1875	356	606,652	1 in 1,704
1876	360	629,776	1 in 1,749
1877	457	662,212	1 in 1,449
1878	424	693,743	1 in 1,636
1879	440	734,282	1 in 1,668
1880	476	770,524	1 in 1,618
1881	494	781,265	1 in 1,581
1882	473	817,468	1 in 1,728

The average is 1 in 1,654 for this period, and the figures go to show that there has been no marked increase of "occurring" insanity during that period.

In my Report for the year 1881, and in several former Reports, I deemed it necessary to direct attention to the number of cases admitted direct from ships or immediately after arrival in the Colony; and though the number so received during the year 1882 was not so large as in some former years, I think it necessary again to advert to this subject. The closure, under special enactments, of most of the ports of other Colonies to insane persons brought by ships, unless an undertaking is given for their maintenance, throws on this Colony an undue proportion of these patients, and the failure of the French authorities to provide an asylum in New Caledonia brings a number of cases from that Colony. "The person before the Court is my wife—I have just arrived from Noumea for the purpose of putting her in an asylum—there are no asylums in Noumea or I should not have brought her up" was part of the evidence given in one case during the last year, and the Consul at Noumea has during this and former years applied for admission for "distressed British subjects" found in New Caledonia.

The deportation of these cases is the more unfair because all French subjects found insane in New South Wales, including convicts on ticket-of-leave from New Caledonia, are kept in the Institutions for the Insane in this Colony at the expense of the New South Wales Government.

All the medical certificates received with patients during the year have passed through my hands; and though signed by no less than 190 medical practitioners, have, as a rule, been full and satisfactory. I found it necessary, however, to object to six certificates as defective and containing imperfect evidence of insanity. In four of these the certificates were amended by the persons who signed them, and the amendments were approved by the Colonial Secretary under section 13 of the Lunacy Act; in the remaining two cases the medical practitioners declined to amend the certificates, and the patients were discharged. One of these patients was demented and childish, but more fit for a Benevolent Asylum than an Institution for the Insane, and the other was a case of temporary insanity from drink.

In one case admitted to the Reception House one of the medical certificates was found to be signed by an unqualified practitioner. The patient was undoubtedly insane, and a certificate by a qualified practitioner was obtained in accordance with the provisions of the Lunacy Act before the patient was admitted in the Hospital at Gladesville.

Admissions

Admissions by Transfer.

The number of patients transferred from one Institution to another during the year was 52. Nearly half of these transfers were from the Hospital for the Criminal Insane to other Institutions, on expiry of sentence or other change of status; and the remainder were either for purposes of classification, or because it was considered that a change would be beneficial to either the mental or bodily health of the patient.

Discharges.

There were 240 patients—140 males and 100 females—discharged during the year, and of these 202 were discharged recovered, 35 relieved, and 3 not improved.

The discharges of the recovered, calculated on the admissions and re-admissions, give a percentage of 42·70, and the discharges of the relieved a percentage of 8·03, making together a percentage of 50·73 so benefited by treatment as to be able to return to their work in the world, or to live with friends.

The percentage of recoveries, as will be seen by Table 2, is nearly the same as during the year 1881, and taken with the fact that 24 patients under certificate were discharged recovered after treatment in the Reception House, may be regarded as satisfactory. The percentages in Hospitals for the Insane, excluding Newcastle, was 45·34; in the Hospital for the Criminal Insane, 28·57; and in the Licensed House at Cook's River, 36·36.

The percentage for all Institutions, excluding the Hospital specially set apart for Idiots and Imbeciles at Newcastle, into which curable cases are rarely admitted, and from which no case was discharged during the year, was 44·10, and this compares favourably with the recoveries in English Asylums, where (establishments for Idiots also being excluded) the recoveries have averaged 39·44 during the last ten years.

The patients discharged relieved were in all cases taken under the care of friends, in some cases after a preliminary period of absence on trial.

Escapes.

The number of escapes during the year was 30, and of these 8 were brought back within an hour, 8 within twenty-four hours, 9 within seven days, 2 within fourteen days, and 3 remained absent at the close of twenty-eight days, the statutory period within which they could be received again in Hospital. All of these patients were afterwards heard of, one was re-admitted under a fresh order and certificates, one was taken care of by his brother, and the third obtained work up the country, and was reported on by his master as well conducted though still weak in mind. The number of escapes is greater than last year, but is small compared with the escapes from the Asylums in Great Britain. In Scotland, where the Asylums are known to be among the best conducted in the world, the Commissioners in Lunacy report 310 escapes out of an average of 10,206 patients resident during the year 1881, and an average of 36 escapes per thousand patients in Asylums during the last ten years.

In all Institutions for the Insane conducted on modern principles a large measure of liberty is granted to convalescent patients, with the best results, and the escapes as a rule are from this class who become tired of the restraint of Hospital life before the Medical Superintendent considers them quite recovered. I am unaware of any serious damage done by an escaped patient in this Colony during the last fifteen years.

Deaths.

141 patients died during the year, and the mortality on the average number resident was 6·27 per cent. This percentage is higher than last year, but still below the average rate in Institutions for the Insane in this Colony, and much below the death-rate in Great Britain, which averaged over 7 per cent. in Scotland, and over 9 per cent. in England, during the quinquennial period ending December 31, 1881. The causes of death are shown in Table 4. In 62 cases death was due to cerebral disease, in 32 to disease affecting the lungs, heart, or larger blood-vessels, in 16 to abdominal lesions, in 1 to erysipelas, in 5 to typhoid fever, in 23 to general debility and old age, in 1 to gangrene, and in 1 to suicide. The latter occurred in the case of a patient who was on leave of absence, had been living with friends for four months, and in whom no change was observed prior to his taking his life by hanging.

Leave of Absence.

The number remaining on leave on 31st December, 1881, was 17, 6 males and 11 females, and in the course of 1882 leave was granted for various periods to 50 patients, making a total of 67. Of these 21 were discharged; 23 were returned to hospital, some during and others at the close of the probationary period; 2 died; and 21 remained on leave at the close of the year.

THE numbers granted leave of absence from the different Institutions are shown in the following return:—

Institution.	On leave 31st December, 1881.			Granted leave, 1882.			Discharged recovered.			Returned to Hospital.			Died whilst on leave.			Remaining on leave, 31st Dec., 1882.
	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total
Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville	2	10	12	7	28	35	...	13	13	4	12	16	1	1	2	4	12	16
Do. Parramatta	1	1	2	3	1	4	2	1	3	1	...	1	...	...	1	1	2	2
Do. Callan Park	2	..	2	4	...	4	4	..	4	2	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...
Do. Newcastle.	1	...	1	3	...	3	...	...	...	2	...	2	...	...	...	2	...	2
Licensed House, Cook's River.....	...	...	...	1	3	4	...	1	1	1	1	2	...	...	...	...	1	1
Total .....	6	11	17	18	32	50	6	15	21	10	13	23	1	1	2	7	14	21

The total number of probationary removals since this course was rendered legal by the provisions of the Lunacy Act of 1878, has been,—in 1879, 2; in 1880, 27; in 1881, 29; in 1882, 50.

The system has so far worked satisfactorily, but has not yet been so frequently resorted to as appears advisable. The cases in which it may be with advantage adopted are those in which the progress towards recovery is not complete, and the patient is fretted and kept back by the restraints of hospital life; those in which an entire change in surroundings is necessary for complete restoration; those in which some curb curb or check is required to prevent the patient falling into evil ways ; and those in which, as pointed out by the Scotch Commissioners in Lunacy, " there is difficulty in deciding whether an improvement in the mental condition of a patient is dependent on his removal from the conditions of ordinary life, or whether he has regained sufficient soundness of mind to enable him to suit himself to them." Besides these cases, leave of absence and a return to home life is attended in some chronic cases with the happiest results, and the patient is rendered much more contented in hospital by the knowledge that he may occasionally spend a few days at home.

Total number under care.

The total number under care and treatment during the year was 2,743—1,704 males and 1,039 females ; an increase of 99 on the number under care during 1881. The daily average number under care was 2,245, or 94 in excess of the average number for the preceding year.

The native countries, ages, condition as to marriage, and religious profession of the patients admitted and those under care during the year are given in tables 6, 7, 8, and 9. Except in the general increase in numbers, the figures do not present any marked difference from those furnished in former years.

The particulars as to nationality and age, ascertained by the Census of 1881, were not published until the beginning of the present year ; and the following three tables showing the nationality and age of the insane under care in 1881 in relation to the Census returns could not be previously given :—

TABLE 1.

Birth-places.	Population.			Percentage of Population.			Proportion of Sexes.			Number of Insane under care.			Proportion of Insane per 1,000 of Population.
	Persons.	Males.	Females.	Persons.	Males.	Females.	Proportion of Males in 100 persons.	Proportion of Females in 100 persons.	Proportion of Females to 100 Males.	Persons.	Males.	Females.	Persons.	Males.	Females.
All Nationalities .....	751,468	411,149	340,319	100·00	100·00	100·00	54·71	45·29	82·77	2,644	1,638	1,006	3·51	3·98	2·95
New South Wales .....	465,559	233,515	232,044	61·96	56·79	68·18	50·15	49·85	99·37	653	370	283	1·40	1·58	1·22
Other Australian Colonies ..	44,708	24,780	19,928	5·94	6·03	5·87	55·42	44·58	80·46	55	33	22	1·23	1·35	1·15
Aborigines.....	1,643	938	705	0·22	0·23	0·20	57·09	42·91	75·16	3	1	2	1·82	1·06	2·83
Great Britain, Ireland, and other British possessions.	208,512	125,668	82,844	27·74	30·56	24·34	60·26	39·74	65·92	1,663	997	666	7·97	7·93	8·03
Total British subjects..	720,422	384,901	335,521	95·86	93·61	98·59	53·42	46·58	87·17	2,374	1,401	973	3·29	3·64	2·89
Foreign Countries .....	28,516	24,698	3,818	3·80	6·01	1·12	86·61	13·74	15·45	270	237	33	8·69	9·02	6·87
Unspecified and born at sea..	2,530	1,550	980	0·34	0·38	0·29	61·26	39·13	63·22

TABLE 2.

Birth-places.	Population, 1881.			Number of Insane patients under care.			Proportion of Insane per 1,000 of Population.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
New South Wales .....	233,515	232,044	465,559	371	235	656	1·58	1·23	1·40
Other British Colonies and possessions .....	27,339	26,936	48,275	33	22	55	1·20	1·09	1·13
England and Wales .....	70,787	39,887	110,674	478	226	704	6·75	5·66	6·36
Scotland .....	15,828	9,251	25,079	105	50	155	6·59	5·40	6·18
Ireland.....	36,494	32,698	69,192	414	390	804	11·37	11·92	11·63
France .....	1,205	292	1,492	14	4	18	11·61	17·12	12·06
Germany .....	5,367	2,154	7,521	49	14	63	9·13	6·03	8·37
China .....	10,141	64	10,205	66	...	66	6·50	...	6·46
Other Countries .....	9,535	2,288	11,823	108	15	123	11·32	6·55	10·40

TABLE 3.

Ages.	Population, 1881.			Number of Insane Patients under care.			Proportion of Insane per 1,000 of Population.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
1 to 5 years .....	.....	.....	.....	...	...	...	.....	.....	.....
5 to 10 .....	49,877	49,141	99,018	14	11	25	0·28	0·22	0·25
10 to 15 .....	45,071	43,408	88,479	27	16	43	0·59	0·36	0·48
15 to 20 .....	38,169	37,565	75,734	49	42	91	1·28	1·11	1·21
20 to 30 .....	75,106	59,969	135,075	227	155	382	3·02	2·61	2·82
30 to 40 .....	56,699	40,345	97,044	396	241	637	6·98	5·97	6·56
40 to 50 .....	43,668	27,189	70,857	447	239	686	10·23	8·79	9·68
50 to 60 .....	24,735	14,758	39,493	270	163	433	10·91	11·04	10·96
60 to 70 .....	13,484	8,676	22,160	142	101	243	10·53	11·64	10·96
70 to 80 .....	5,106	3,049	8,155	56	32	88	10·96	10·49	10·79
10 to 100 .....	1,260	628	1,888	10	6	16	7·93	9·55	8·47

The first point of interest (see Table 1) is that the proportion of insane men under care in 1881 to every 1,000 of population was 3·98, whilst the proportion of insane women was only 2·95, whereas in England the proportion of insane men was during the year 1881 2·38, and of women 2·52 to the population. The difference may be accounted for partly by the fact that for many years the proportion of males in this Colony was largely in excess of the females, and during all these years contributed a larger annual quota to the number of insane now accumulated as chronic cases in the Asylums, and partly from the stress of climate and of occupation falling more heavily on the male than on the female population. The drinking habits of a large part of the male population may also account in part for the difference. The proportion of insane to population born in New South Wales is only 1·40, and in other Australian Colonies 1·23 per 1,000, whilst the proportion born in Great Britain is 7·97 per 1,000, and in foreign countries 8·69 per 1,000 of the population. On examining Table 2, it appears that the number of insane born in England and Wales is 6·36 per 1,000 of population; in Scotland, 6·18 per 1,000; in Ireland, 11·63 per 1,000; in France, 12·06; in Germany, 8·37; in China, 6·46; and in other countries, 10·40.

The very small percentage of Australian-born population is to be accounted for by the fact that, as shown in Table 3, insanity is a disease most common in middle and old age, and is rare in childhood and youth, to which period of life one-third of the population mainly, if not entirely, of Australian birth belong. The high proportion of Foreign-born patients appears due partly to the admission of the waifs and strays of all nations to our hospitals, the ports of other Australian Colonies being to a large extent closed to them, as noticed in a former part of this Report, and partly to the peculiar isolation of foreigners in an English-speaking community, an isolation which tends to mental disturbance. The very large proportion of persons born in Ireland, which is twice as large as the proportion born in England and Scotland, is perhaps the most remarkable fact shown by these returns. The total number of insane persons of Irish birth under care in 1881 was 804, or nearly one-third of the total number, whilst the proportion of persons of Irish birth to the general population was only about one-eleventh.

Numbers remaining at close of year and Accommodation.

The number of patients at the close of 1882 was 2,307—1,430 males and 877 females; and of these, 144 (9 males and 135 females) were in the Licensed House at Cook's River, 125 of this number being at the charge of the Government. The number in Hospitals was 2,163—1,421 males and 742 females; and the accommodation in these Hospitals on the standard of cubic feet fixed by the English Commissioners in Lunacy as the lowest compatible with health is (the new buildings at Parramatta having been opened) sufficient for 2,025—1,361 males and 604 females. So that there are at present 138 patients—60 males and 78 females—in excess of the number for whom there is room, and by the close of the year, at the usual rate of increase, this number will have increased to about 230.

The new Hospital at Callan Park, which will accommodate 660 patients, and was designed to meet the increasing number of insane persons, will, it is hoped, be ready for occupation early in next year; but its commencement was so long delayed, and the time occupied in its construction has been so great, that its wards will be filled almost as soon as opened. With 230 patients in excess of the accommodation—125 under private care at Cook's River, 60 in buildings borrowed from the Department of Prisons at Cooma, 146 in the old buildings at Callan Park which are to be removed, and 78 in temporary structures at Gladesville, making altogether 639 now awaiting proper accommodation—there will be little or no spare space to meet the increase of future years; and unless some further provision is made, the overcrowding which has so long existed, and the resort to temporary expedients which have so militated against the successful management of the Institutions, must again commence.

Of the existing accommodation, nearly one-third—or rooms for 651 patients—consists of wooden buildings, the remainder being of brick or stone. The number of single or separate rooms is 337, or about 1 to every 8 male and 1 to every 5 female patients; and considering the proportion of noisy, dangerous, and dirty cases, the number, especially for the male patients, is too small for successful administration.

The wooden buildings, which have been erected at a much less cost than those of stone or brick, are still found to answer remarkably well for chronic and quiet cases, though they are a constant anxiety from their liability to fire. I have already reported that they should not form more than one-third of the total accommodation, as only special classes of patients can be treated in them, and they are quite unfit for the noisy, violent, and demonstrative.

With regard to future buildings, I have nothing to add to the recommendations on this head contained in my Report for the year 1881. There are now 200 patients in the Hospitals, from Goulburn and its immediate neighbourhood and from the Southern Districts, which have direct communication with Goulburn by rail or road; so that if a new hospital is built on the Kenmore Estate, purchased for hospital purposes, these patients can be removed thither, and will be nearer their friends and homes.

Accidents.

The number of accidents has not been large, considering the number of patients under treatment, but it has exceeded that for the preceding year, and has included a considerable proportion of serious cases, most of which occurred at Gladesville. Happily no accident has been attended with fatal result. The number of fractures was 7; fractures of the tibia, fibia, and radius were purely accidental, and were caused by falls, and fractures of the radius, metacarpal bone and nasal bone occurred during quarrels with fellow-patients. In one case of fracture of the arm, the exact mode in which the injury was received could not be ascertained, the patient being too demented to afford any information, but the evidence pointed to a fall in the dormitory during the early part of the night. The other accidents were two cases of sprained ankle, a scalp wound, and cuts in the face and scrotum, and a dislocation of the patella from a fall. As usual, a large proportion of the accidents occurred in epileptics. The most serious occurrence during the year was the wounding of two attendants by a patient in the Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Parramatta, by means of a long sharpened nail. One attendant received a penetrating wound of the chest which might have proved fatal, and the other a severe cut on the face. This attack formed the subject of a long investigation, and a special report to you. The attendant who was most severely injured was in charge of the ward, and his negligence and breach of orders nearly cost him his life. I have held special inquiries in all cases of accident or injury when such a course appeared to me necessary.

Changes

Changes among Officers, Attendants, and Servants.

The only changes among officers during the year have occurred through the resignations of the Rev. Julian Rowsell, Church of England Chaplain at Gladesville, and of the Rev. J. Dillon, Roman Catholic Chaplain at Callan Park, in whose places the Rev. William Lumsdaine and the Rev. J. J. Carroll were appointed. The changes among attendants and nurses numbered 45, and among servants, 22, during the year, and of the total number who left the service of the department 44 were men and 23 women.

The following were the causes of leaving:—Left voluntarily or through ill health, 43, of whom 16 were attendants or artisans, 11 nurses, 8 male and 8 female servants; absconded, 1 nurse; dismissed for ill treatment of patients, or on account of complaints made by them, attendants, 2; for drunkenness, attendants, 6, male servant, 1; for incompetence or unsuitableness, attendants, 3, nurse, 1, male servants, 3; for insubordination, attendant, 1, nurse, 1, male servant, 1, female servant, 1, for neglect of duty, attendants, 3; total, 23.

The following table shows the changes at each Institution:—

Institution.	Dismissed.	Resigned or absconded.	Total.
Gladesville.....	9	17	26
Parramatta .....	7	5	12
Callan Park .....	3	4	7
Newcastle .....	1	2	3
Cooma.....	.....	4	4
Reception House .....	1	2	3
Cook's River.....	2	10	12
Total .....	23	44	67

The changes have been more numerous than during the year 1881, but the number who left by resignation was exactly the same, and of the 19 nurses and female servants who left in this way the greater number left to be married.

There was no death among either officers or attendants during their term of service.

Cost of Maintenance.

The receipts of the Department have amounted to £6,767 15s. 6d., or £136 2s. 1d. more than in 1881, and the details are shown in the following table:—

TABLE showing total receipts on account of Institutions for the Insane, during the year 1882.

Name of Institution.	Collected for Maintenance of Patients.	Paid from Imperial Treasury for Maintenance of Patients.	Sale of Fat and old Stores.	Rent of Land.	Total.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville .....	4,365 8 11	.....	109 19 7	.....	4,475 8 6
Do. Parramatta .....	537 5 3	606 15 0	35 15 10	.....	1,179 16 1
Do. Callan Park.....	337 3 2	.....	12 12 3	.....	349 15 5
Do. Newcastle.....	353 6 2	60 13 6	10 2 4	.....	424 2 0
Temporary Hospital for the Insane, Cooma .....	18 2 2	.....	1 1 0	.....	19 3 2
Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River .....	252 2 1	.....	.....	.....	252 2 1
Reception House for the Insane, Darlinghurst.....	43 14 3	.....	.....	.....	43 14 3
Inspector-General's Office .....	.....	.....	.....	23 14 0	23 14 0
Total .....	£ 5,907 2 0	667 8 6	169 11 0	23 14 0	6,767 15 6

The collections made by the Master in Lunacy for the maintenance of patients amounted to £5,097 2s., being £128 14s. 3d. more than in the preceding year.

The total expenditure for the year was £83,386 14s. 4d., and the amount is made up as follows:—General expenses, including cost of Inspector-General's Office, allowance to official visitors, &c., £2,395 1s. 7d.; maintenance in Hospitals for the Insane, £72,286 17s. 8d.; maintenance of Government patients in the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River, £7,334 13s.; maintenance in the Reception House, £1,370 2s. 1d.

The cost for 1883 exceeds that of the preceding year by the sum of £10,172 6s. 7d., and of this increased amount £9,991 12s. was expended for maintenance in Hospitals, in which the average daily number of patients resident was ninety-one more than during the preceding year.

The following tables give particulars of expenditure:—

TABLE showing Annual Cost of Patients in Hospitals for the Insane, during the year 1882.

Institution.	Total number under care.	Average number resident.	Total Cost.	Amount of Collections.	Total Annual Cost per Patient without deducting Collections.	Annual Cost per Patient, deducting Collections.
			£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Gladesville .....	1,113	817	27,673 2 5	4,475 8 6	33 17 5	28 7 10½
Parramatta .....	962	847	28,788 16 8	1,179 16 1	33 17 7	32 9 9½
Callan Park .....	188	144	5,681 18 8	349 15 5	39 9 2½	37 0 6½
Newcastle .....	257	237	7,103 16 5	424 2 0	29 19 4	28 3 8½
Cooma .....	62	60	3,039 3 6	19 3 2	50 13 0½	50 6 8½
Total.....	2,743	2,105	£72,286 17 8	£6,448 5 2	.....	.....

Average cost per head without deducting collections, £34 6s. 9½d., or, deducting collections, £31 5s. 6½d.

TABLE showing Weekly Cost of Patients in Hospitals for the Insane, during the year 1882.

Institution.	Total number under care.	Average number resident	Total Annual Cost.	Calculated on average number resident.
				Salaries and Allowances.	Provisions &c., &c.	Amusements, Books, and Periodicals.	Incidental Expenses and minor repairs.	Materials for employment of Patients.	Stores, Bedding, &c.	Total weekly Cost without deducting Collections.	Weekly Cost deducting Collections.
Hospital for the Insane—			£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Gladesville .....	1,113	817	27,673 2 5	0 3 11 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 5 8	0 0 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 3 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 2 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 2 9 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 13 0 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 10 11
Parramatta .....	962	847	28,788 16 8	0 3 10 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 5 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 2	0 0 1	0 3 4	0 13 0 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 12 6
Callan Park .....	188	144	5,681 13 8	0 6 2 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 5 7 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 3 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 5	0 0 6 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 2 2 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 15 2 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 14 2 $\frac{1}{2}$
Newcastle .....	257	237	7,103 16 5	0 3 9 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 5 3	0 0 1 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 0 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 2 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 1 7 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 11 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 10 10
Ditto (temporary), Cooma..	62	60	3,039 3 6	0 6 9 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 9 4	0 0 3 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 3 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 0 5	0 2 3 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 19 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 19 4 $\frac{1}{2}$

Average weekly cost without deducting collections, 13s. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., or, deducting collections, 12s. 0 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.

On an examination of the expenditure and a comparison of the details with those for the preceding year, it appears that the increase has been mainly due to the general increase in the cost of provisions which has been experienced throughout the Colony. Almost all the contractors threw up their contracts early in the year, and new ones were taken at greatly increased rates. The increased cost of provisions was—at Gladesville 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., Parramatta 1s. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., Callan Park 1s. 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ d., Newcastle 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ d., Cooma 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., per patient per week. The total cost of provisions and necessaries during 1882 was £30,918 6s. 11d., as against £24,796 10s. 3d. paid in the preceding year, the dietaries remaining the same and only a daily average number of ninety-one more patients being provided for.

The cost of salaries shows a slight increase at Gladesville, where the opening of the new wing involved an increase of the staff. The only other marked increase is in the cost of clothing and stores at Parramatta, which has risen from 2s. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to 3s. 4d., or 1s. 0 $\frac{3}{4}$ d., per week per patient; and this is due to the purchase of an extra stock of clothing, bedding, &c., in anticipation of the opening of new buildings for 350 patients, which should properly have taken place in 1882, but was delayed until the beginning of the current year.

The following table shows the cost of maintenance in Hospitals from 1870 to 1882, both years included:—

TABLE showing weekly cost of Maintenance at Hospitals for the Insane, during the years 1870 to 1882 inclusive.

Year.	Gladesville.		Parramatta.		Newcastle.		Cooma.		Callan Park.
	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.
1870 .....	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
1871 .....	0 12 6	0 12 11	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
1872 .....	0 11 11 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 12 4	0 9 0	0 9 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
1873 .....	0 12 8	0 13 2	0 9 3	0 9 4	0 16 11	0 16 11	.....	.....	.....	.....
1874 .....	0 12 7	0 13 0	0 11 4 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 12 5	0 16 0	0 16 1	.....	.....	.....	.....
1875 .....	0 12 2 $\frac{1}{4}$	0 12 10 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 12 3	0 12 4 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 13 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 13 6	.....	.....	.....	.....
1876 .....	0 12 2	0 12 6 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 11 10 $\frac{1}{4}$	0 11 10 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 14 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 14 3	.....	.....	.....	.....
1877 .....	0 12 5	0 13 1	0 10 0 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 11 2 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 14 1	0 14 4 $\frac{1}{2}$	.....	.....	.....	.....
1878 .....	0 12 5	0 13 1	0 11 8 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 11 10 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 14 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 14 7	*1 17 8 $\frac{1}{2}$	*1 17 8 $\frac{1}{2}$	.....	.....
1879 .....	0 11 2	0 12 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 12 3 $\frac{1}{4}$	0 12 10 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 13 3 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 13 6 $\frac{3}{4}$	1 2 7	1 2 7 $\frac{1}{2}$	.....	.....
1880 .....	0 11 2	0 12 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 11 2 $\frac{1}{4}$	0 11 7	0 12 8 $\frac{1}{4}$	0 13 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 2 2	1 2 2	*1 2 11 $\frac{3}{4}$	*1 3 10 $\frac{1}{2}$
1881 .....	0 9 5	0 11 2 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 10 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 11 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 11 5	0 12 0 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 0 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	1 0 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 13 3 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 13 11 $\frac{1}{2}$
1882 .....	0 10 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 12 2 $\frac{1}{4}$	0 10 2 $\frac{3}{4}$	0 10 9 $\frac{1}{4}$	0 10 9 $\frac{1}{4}$	0 11 8	0 18 5	0 18 7 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 12 10 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 13 8 $\frac{3}{4}$
1882 .....	0 10 11	0 13 0 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 12 6	0 13 0 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 10 10	0 11 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 19 4 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 19 5 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 14 2 $\frac{1}{2}$	0 15 2 $\frac{1}{2}$

* First year, and including cost of stores and outfit.

The cost of Government patients at Cook's River was at the rate of £1 2s. 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per week without deducting collections, or £1 1s. 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per week collections being deducted.

Each patient admitted into the Reception-house cost the sum of £2 10s. 9d. for his care and treatment therein.

The rate of maintenance for the year has, compared with former years, been exceptionally high, and there is reason to fear that for 1883, and possibly for succeeding years, the cost will not much diminish. The price of provisions still continues high, the current rate of wages has necessitated a considerable increase in the salaries of attendants and servants, and the spirit of the times has tended and is still tending to an increased expenditure and to the multiplication of comforts in life generally, and, as a consequence, in what is expected by patients and their friends in Hospitals and other Institutions for the Insane. In addition to this, the establishments at Parramatta and Gladesville, owing to the rapid increase in the number of patients and the delay in completing new establishments, have grown beyond the size at which institutions of this character can be most economically managed, and are both of them without the area of land which would allow the keeping of cows to supply the large amount of milk necessary, and the employment of the patients in the most profitable manner in the growth of forage and other farm produce.

Reception House for the Insane, Darlinghurst.

The Lunacy Act Amendment Act, which was assented to in December, 1881, opened the doors of this Institution to the many doubtful cases of insanity which are taken before the Police Magistrates sitting sitting in Sydney, and remanded for medical treatment and further inquiry, and the patients now admitted to this Institution are of two classes—

1st. Those for whom either one or two medical certificates have been signed, and who are awaiting transfer to a Hospital for the Insane, and

2nd. Those who are under remand under section 1 of the Amending Lunacy Act.

Of the first class, three patients remained on 31st December, 1881, and 310 were admitted during the year; making a total of 313 under care and treatment. Of these, 24 recovered and were discharged; 285 were sent on to Hospital, and 1 died, and 3 remained on 31st December, 1882. Of the patients forwarded to Hospital, 246 went to Gladesville, 37 to Callan Park, and 1 to Newcastle.

Of the second class, 227 were admitted, and of these 153 were found, after treatment varying from seven to twenty-eight days in duration, fit to be at large; 61 were certified as insane, and returned to the Reception House, for transfer to Hospital; 4 died, and 9 remained at the close of the year.

Taking the two classes together, and deducting the 61 patients who appear in both classes, first under remand and second under certificate, the number of cases treated has been 479, and of these 177 were discharged recovered.

The work done by the Institution has therefore been large and important. It enables scientific treatment to be applied under favourable conditions at an early stage of the malady, and so stops a number of cases from passing into a more advanced stage, and affords a temporary refuge of the most fitting kind for cases which from their nature must go on to Hospital for further and more lengthened treatment.

At present this Institution is all but unique; the only similar Institution of which I am aware being at Paris, near the large Asylum of St. Anne, and receiving all the cases from the Department of the Seine. In England the wards of the poor-houses have, up to this time, done part of the work carried out here by this Institution, but the want of a separate Institution is much felt, and Sir H. W. Gordon, a Justice of the Peace for the County of Middlesex and Visiting Magistrate for one of the largest County Asylums, in a letter published in the Lancet of the 21st October, 1882, recommends the establishment of a Receiving House for the County, and urges that all lunatics should first be sent to this Institution and detained there under supervision until each individual case has developed itself, when the patient would be either discharged or drafted to such Asylum as the Medical Officer might consider best suited for the particular case; and the Lancet, in commenting on this letter, points out that this is identical with a proposal made by the Lancet Commission on Lunatic Asylums, in 1876-7, as "likely to effect a solution of the difficulty of dealing with doubtful cases."

This Colony is in this particular very decidedly in advance of the Mother Country; and the establishment at Darlinghurst, as well as the work done in it, may be viewed with satisfaction. I have had particular pleasure, both during the past and former years, in showing the Institution to visitors from other Colonies interested in the treatment of insanity.

My visits of inspection during the year have numbered twelve, and I have on several other occasions visited the Institution to make special inquiries or to see individual patients.

I have invariably found the Institution in excellent order, and the patients well and properly cared for. At none of my visits did I find any patients in restraint, and the arrangements of the establishment are now such that it has not been found necessary to resort to it, except in special cases and at rare intervals.

There has been no serious accident, and the whole management of the Institution has been satisfactory.

The increased number of patients has rendered some increase of the staff necessary, and the Medical Officer has required assistance in dispensing medicines, which has under the authority of the Colonial Secretary been afforded by the Dispenser of the Gaol.

The Chaplains of the Gaol have as in former years visited the Institution whenever their services have been required.

Some alterations to the windows have greatly improved the ventilation, and the whole building is in good repair.

The following tables give the Statistics of the Reception House for the year:—

TABLE 1.

SHOWING the number of Patients under certificate received at the Reception House for the Insane, during the year 1882, and their disposal.

Year.	Remaining.			Received.			Sent to Gladesville.			Sent to Parramatta.			Sent to Callan Park.			Sent to Newcastle.			Discharged of sound mind.			Discharged to Police Court.			Died.			Remaining on 31st December.
	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
1882 ...	2	1	3	196	114	310	145	101	246	...	...	...	37	...	37	...	1	1	12	12	24	...	1	1	1	...	1	3	...	3

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the number of Patients received at the Reception House for the Insane, during the year 1882, under section 1 of the Lunacy Act Amendment Act.

Year.	Remaining.			Received.			Sent to Police Court and discharged.			Sent to Police Court, certified as insane and returned to Reception House.			Died.			Remaining
	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
1882.....	...	...	...	175	52	227	121	32	153	43	18	61	4	...	4	7	2	9

Some change is certainly desirable, and should, I think, be in the direction of building a separate central ward for these cases at one of the Police Courts or in connection with the Reception House. The law as it at present stands does not permit of their admission to the Reception House before being seen by a Magistrate, even if the present accommodation at the Institution were sufficient.

Whilst insane patients in and near Sydney have now the advantage of care and treatment in the Reception House in the early stage of their malady, those living in country districts have still no other refuge than the prisons; and the arrangements in all these which I have had an opportunity of seeing, including those at Bathurst, Goulburn, Maitland, Mudgee, Albury, and Armidale, are very ill adapted for the reception and care of insane persons.

The number of patients admitted into some of these prisons or passing through them on their way to Hospital is now large. For instance, 16 were admitted for treatment and 13 were lodged for a day or two at Maitland; 11 were admitted for treatment and 21 received temporary shelter at Bathurst; and 9 were admitted for treatment and 18 were lodged for a day or two en route to Hospital at Goulburn.

I think it much to be regretted that at these important centres at least, some movement to provide special wards for the insane in connection with the general Hospitals has not been commenced. The 48th section of the Lunacy Act provides for the establishment of these wards, but leaves the initiative to the Committees of the Hospitals. In the neighbouring Colony of Victoria such wards have been built at five of the Country Hospitals, and the Committee are repaid by the Government all expenses incurred in the treatment of patients in them.

In the more remote and sparsely populated districts of this large Colony the prisons must no doubt remain, for some time to come, the temporary refuge for the few cases of insanity requiring care; but the gradual extension of the railway has rendered the transfer of these cases to Hospital much more rapid and easy, and the limit of fourteen days' residence has only been exceeded in two cases during the year.

I am indebted to the courtesy of the Comptroller-General of Prisons for the following return,— from which it appears that 340 persons were under observation or treatment in prison for symptoms of insanity during the year 1882. Of these, 114 were forwarded to Hospitals for the Insane, for treatment, 21 were forwarded to other gaols, being under sentence or subject to legal disability; 97 were sent to Police Court and thence discharged; 98 were discharged cured; 4 died, and 6 remained at the close of the year.

RETURN showing number of persons under treatment in Prisons, for symptoms of insanity, during the year 1882.

Name of Gaol.	Under treatment and not certified as Insane.	Certified as Insane in Gaol.	How disposed of.						Received in transit.
			Discharged to Hospital for Insane or Receiving House.	Discharged to Darlinghurst or other Gaols.	Discharged to Police Court.	Discharged—cured.	Died.	Remaining
Parramatta .....	22	6	6	.....	15	5	.....	2	.....
Berrima .....	2	.....	.....	2	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Maitland .....	16	16	16	1	5	8	.....	2	13
Bathurst .....	11	6	6	5	.....	5	1	.....	21
Goulburn .....	9	11	10	2	8	.....	.....	.....	18
Young .....	4	3	3	.....	.....	4	.....	.....	2
Mudgee .....	2	6	6	.....	.....	2	.....	.....	.....
Albury .....	12	3	2	.....	.....	12	1	.....	.....
Armidale .....	2	.....	.....	.....	.....	2	.....	.....	4
Deniliquin .....	13	1	.....	1	13	.....	.....	.....	.....
Grafton .....	6	4	4	.....	5	.....	.....	1	.....
Hay .....	3	12	12	.....	.....	3	.....	.....	3
Tamworth .....	4	4	4	.....	4	.....	.....	.....	2
Wagga Wagga .....	10	.....	.....	.....	10	.....	.....	.....	7
Yass .....	11	5	5	.....	4	7	.....	.....	.....
Walgett .....	4	.....	.....	2	2	.....	.....	.....	.....
Forbes .....	1	4	.....	4	.....	1	.....	.....	.....
Braidwood .....	4	2	1	1	2	.....	.....	.....	.....
Wilcannia .....	8	4	4	.....	.....	8	.....	.....	.....
Windsor .....	.....	4	2	1	.....	1	.....	.....	.....
Coonabarabran .....	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	.....	.....
Wentworth .....	5	.....	.....	.....	3	2	.....	.....	.....
Coonamble .....	4	.....	.....	.....	.....	4	.....	.....	.....
Casino .....	1	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	.....
Port Macquarie .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	1
Warialda .....	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	.....	.....
Bega .....	1	1	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	.....
Wollongong .....	1	1	1	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	.....
Singleton .....	4	2	2	.....	4	.....	.....	.....	.....
Bourke .....	4	2	2	.....	4	.....	.....	.....	.....
Orange .....	6	3	3	.....	6	.....	.....	.....	4
Campbelltown .....	5	1	4	.....	.....	2	.....	.....	.....
Muswellbrook .....	2	.....	1	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	.....
Narrabri .....	9	3	3	.....	.....	9	.....	.....	1
Queanbeyan .....	1	1	1	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	1
Tenterfield .....	5	.....	.....	.....	.....	4	1	.....	.....
Murrurundi .....	2	.....	.....	.....	2	.....	.....	.....	.....
Cooma .....	4	1	1	.....	4	.....	.....	.....	.....
Glen Innes .....	4	.....	.....	.....	.....	4	.....	.....	.....
Dubbo .....	11	13	13	.....	.....	11	.....	.....	.....
Gunnedah .....	.....	1	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	2
Wellington .....	2	2	.....	2	1	.....	1	.....	1
Gundagai .....	1	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	.....
	218	122	114	21	97	98	4	6	80

Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville.

At the close of the year 1881 the number of patients in this Hospital was 808, and during the year 301 were admitted direct, and 4 received from other Hospitals, making together 1,113 under care and treatment. Of these, 162 were discharged, 135 recovered, 24 relieved, and 3 not improved, 19 were transferred to other Institutions, 2 escaped and were not retaken, and 60 died. At the close of the year there were 870 on the register, of whom 16 were absent on leave. The daily average number resident was 817. The recoveries show a percentage of 44.81 on the admissions, and the deaths a percentage of 7.34 on the average number resident.

I paid visits of inspection to the Hospital on March 1st and 2nd, April 18th and 19th, May 25th, July 4th and 5th, August 22nd and 23rd, September 21st, October 19th, and December 7th, and the following are extracts from my entries in the Inspector's book, at three of these:—

April 18th and 19th.—I have spent a large part of these two days in an inspection of this Hospital, during which I examined all the buildings occupied by patients, as well as the kitchen, store, laundry, and out-buildings, and saw all the patients.

In visiting the wards, out-buildings, and grounds, I spoke to a considerable number of the patients, and gave all an opportunity of speaking to me. I heard no complaints of harsh or unkind treatment, and in every instance in which complaint was made of detention, I made such inquiries as satisfied me that this was not continued without due and sufficient cause. I found one man, B., with a fractured radius, but as the Medical Superintendent has made a full inquiry (detailed in the Medical Journal) and satisfied himself that this was the result of an accident—a conclusion confirmed by the man's own statement—I did not consider any further inquiry necessary. In the male division I found 12 patients in bed, 9 from bodily ailments and general debility, 2 from severe mental excitement, and 1 owing to the desirability of avoiding excitement at the morning medical visit. In this case, and in several of the feeble patients, the confinement to bed is only deemed necessary during the morning hours. In the female division there was not a single patient in bed,—a condition which, considering the number of patients, must be considered as indicating a most favourable condition of health.

There was very little noise or excitement in any part of the Hospital, except No. 5 in the male division, and the condition of the wards except in No. 2 male division was very satisfactory, the patients being well and properly dressed, and the day-rooms, dormitories, and yards in good order. In No. 2 male—always a difficult yard to manage, and involving some peculiar embarrassments from which other wards are free—the general condition, is I think, capable of improvement. The yard itself is capable of improvements; and the patients, whose boots were uncleaned and their dresses somewhat untidy, did not look as neat and well-cared for as usual. I found the kitchen, laundry, and stores, clean and in good order. The laundry is now too small for the immense amount of work now necessary, and it is only by care and management that it can be properly done. The laundress in charge pointed out the necessity for a sorting-room, and steps should, I consider be taken to provide this. The patients in the out-buildings and artisans' shops appeared to be working well and contentedly, and I was glad to observe a larger number than usual with the tailor.

The stores supplied by the contractor were of good quality, but the Medical Superintendent has found it necessary to complain of some negligence with regard to the times of supply. The milk under the new contract is thoroughly satisfactory. Some delay has been experienced in supplying boots from the Prisons Department, and the attention of the Superintendent of Stores has been drawn to this irregularity.

The contractor for attendants' clothing having failed to supply within contract period, and having by the delay occasioned much dissatisfaction to the staff and difficulty to the officers, I have deemed it necessary to report his conduct to the Treasurer and advise the cancelling of his contract. At the Hill Branch I found every part in excellent order and thoroughly clean. The attendants and nurses seem to have spared no labour to make this division thoroughly comfortable, and the general arrangement of the buildings has been found well suited to the requirements of the inmates.

I saw and signed the statutory books, and found them in good order. I checked the admissions with the papers authorizing detention and found all correct, but my attention was called to the fact that the authorities at the Reception House had in one instance found it necessary to obtain another certificate, owing to the Justices at Kempsey having accepted one from an unqualified practitioner.

On the laxity of such a course I have thought it advisable to address the Clerk of Petty Sessions of the District. The Register shows the number now to be 421 males and 392 females, of whom 1 male and 15 females are absent on trial. These figures show an increase of 17 males and a decrease of 12 females since the beginning of the year. The case books are correctly kept and written up to a recent date. I made various inquiries on matters of detail, and consulted with the Medical Superintendent on several points affecting the management of the Hospital. The disposal of the earth-closet refuse formed the subject of consideration on this and previous occasions, and improvements will be made in this respect as soon as possible.

July 4th and 5th.—I have spent a large part of these two days in visiting this Hospital, seeing the male wards and the Hill Branch, together with the outdoor and garden working parties on the first, and the female wards, with the laundry, kitchen, wood-yard, artisans' shops, &c., on the second day. I took care to see the patients both in the wards and wherever they were employed, spoke to a very large number, and gave all an opportunity of speaking to me. The only complaints made were two or three of detention and two of insufficient food. In the former the patients were not fit subjects for discharge; in the latter there was no reason to think that more food was necessary. I found the patients in every ward and department of the Hospital unusually quiet. One man only was noisy, and he has some delusions with regard to myself which make him irritable and excited at my visits. The patients in all the wards were warmly and sufficiently clad, and appeared clean, tidy, and well cared for. The general health of the patients was remarkably good. Only 4 female patients out of a total of 398 were in bed, and of these, two were suffering from typhoid fever, one from erysipelas, and one from an ulcer. In the male division, containing 412 patients, 11 were in bed, but 3 of these get up daily after the morning medical visit. One was in an epileptic attack, and two others are only suffering from minor ailments. I found no one in seclusion. One patient in each division (male and female) was in restraint by camisole. One male patient had a muff on one hand to protect a sore, and one male and one female patient were fastened in their chairs by means of linen bands round the waist, to prevent them falling out. I made myself acquainted with the special circumstances of each case, and consider that the course adopted was necessary and right.

In one of the wards of the male division I noticed two patients with black eyes, and on inquiry found that both had been caused by blows from one of the patients who is prone to sudden attacks of violence. The great strength and sudden action of this man render a blow from him very dangerous, and the Medical Superintendent has suggested his removal to some other Institution. I feel, however, that this would be only to remove the danger from one hospital to another, and I recommend that this patient should be carefully watched—not allowed to get up in the morning till the other patients are washed and dressed and the attendants at liberty to attend to him, and placed in his room or in the corridor at all times when the attendants are specially engaged.

There have been three cases of typhoid fever—two at the new wing and one at the main building, and, from all the circumstances, there can be very little doubt but that they were due to drinking water obtained from the dam. There are already several houses on the catchment area, and in heavy rains the drainage from these is washed into the dam. It is clearly high time that steps were taken to ensure a supply from some other source, and in the meantime steps must be taken to fit tanks and pumps so as to give a sufficient supply for drinking purposes from the underground tanks.

I found all the dormitories and day-rooms visited in excellent order and thoroughly clean. Steps should be taken to supply hair beds to the female ward of the Hill Branch, and "kopok" or feather pillows to a number of the older and more feeble female patients. In other respects the beds and bedding are sufficient, and as a rule in good order. A large amount of painting has been lately done in several of the wards, with the effect of making the rooms much more bright and cheerful, and two of the yards have been improved by re-alignment with posts and chains, and by making rockeries. A number of requisitions on the Colonial Architect's department made some months ago are still unattended to, but I understand that the contracts for the works have been taken.

I found the laundry, kitchen, and shops in fair order, and an average number of patients employed in them. The number of patients in the sewing-room seemed however to be smaller than usual, and I think that every possible effort should be made to induce the female patients to go there or to sew in the wards. A great many patients who will not work persistently or go to the sewing-room will work in the wards, if simple work is always at hand and given to them by the nurses.

In

In the store the provisions generally were of good quality, and I found the beef, of which there have been some complaints recently, of fair average quality. I saw and signed the statutory books, and I examined the case books, which are kept with great care and attention.

On examining the letters detained by the Medical Superintendent, all of which I destroyed, I found that they were not endorsed with the reasons for detaining them. This is necessary by the 183rd section of the Act.

September 21st.—I found the number of patients on the Register of this Hospital to be 424 males and 399 females, a total of 823; and of these, 2 males and 13 females were absent on leave, under the provisions of the Lunacy Act. The number of female patients has not increased for some months, but the male patients have increased by 20 since the beginning of the year, and the male wards are now much over-crowded. I found the numbers in the male wards as follows:—

No. 1.....	73	No. 4.....	89
No. 2.....	76	No. 5.....	30
No. 3.....	74	No. 7.....	82

and these numbers not only strain to its utmost the sleeping accommodation, but involve overcrowding and discomfort at meal-times, in the lavatories, &c., and lead to quarrels and disturbances which would not take place if the numbers were smaller. Neither 1, 2, or 3 wards are large enough for more than fifty patients, and the over-flowing stream of admissions renders the completion of the new buildings at Parramatta more and more necessary, so that the women may be removed from the Hill Branch and their place taken by men.

I saw and signed the statutory books, which are correctly kept, and the late entries in which call for no comment; and I saw and destroyed all letters written by patients and detained by the Medical Superintendent since my last visit, considering their detention necessary and called for.

I examined the day and night reports and other official papers, and in connection with the day reports I took special note of the number of patients employed. The reports from the female division show a gradual and satisfactory increase of numbers in active employment, but on the male side of the house there is (with an increased number of inmates) some diminution—especially during the last three months—in the number actively employed. The falling off appears to be mainly in the numbers employed in the gardens and grounds. Attaching as I do the utmost importance to the employment of the patients, especially in out-door avocations, and feeling that the employment of patients has not yet attained the development which it should in this Colony, I desire to call the special attention of the Medical Superintendent to this subject. I visited all the wards in the male and female division and the Hill Branch, and saw all the patients, speaking to a considerable number and listening to all who wished to speak to me. No complaints of harsh treatment were made, and the general appearance of the patients and their demeanour was satisfactory, and seemed to indicate care and attention on the part of the attendants. I found no one in seclusion, and the instances of restraint were as follows:—M. (male) and M. (female) by camisole; A. T. (male) and B. (female) fastened in chair, and one patient (male) in protection bed. I considered the means employed judicious and necessary. The number sick was very small. In the male division 8 were in bed, but in 3 cases the patients were not sick but remained in bed at their own wish. In the female division 3 only were in bed, and 1 of these was suffering from a bruised hip caused by an accidental fall.

The wards generally were clean and in good order. Some attention to minor details (and among other things the replacement of old and defaced looking-glasses) is necessary in No. 2 male, and I have suggested the use of linen bed-covers in some of the rooms, and the gradual introduction of these into most of the male wards, in the place of the old woollen rugs.

At the female ward at the branch I was extremely pleased to notice the greatly increased number employed in sewing, and the general improvement in the patients, due beyond doubt to the care and tact of the nurse recently placed in charge. In the afternoon I visited the out-buildings, artisans' shops, &c. The building and fitting of the new amusement room, which has occupied a very considerable time, and is now approaching completion, has postponed some necessary work in the shops which I think should be undertaken as soon as possible. The carpenters' shop requires flooring, lining, fitting with racks for tools, and clearing of a large amount of rubbish which it now contains; and the mattressing room and tailors' shop require repainting. The whole of the artisans' department is inadequate to the growing size and wants of the Institution, and when funds are available should be rebuilt. Meantime, much may be done to improve the rooms and make them more cheerful.

On an examination into the supply of drinking water to the wards, it appears that three of them (Nos. 4 and 2 female, and No. 3 male) are unsupplied with roof water, and a requisition has been at once furnished to the Colonial Architect's Department for the necessary tanks, pipes, and fittings, to furnish a good supply to all of these.

I saw the papers received with all patients admitted since the last inspection by the official visitors and found them correct, except in the case of J. B., whose papers were specially submitted to me, and where the medical certificates are defective. J. B. being bed-ridden and feeble is detained in Hospital until amended certificates can be obtained, or he can be otherwise provided for.

This Institution received during the year all the cases of insanity occurring in the Sydney and in the Northern, Southern, and Coast Districts of the Colony; and the number of these, amounting to upwards of 300, has been a great strain on the accommodation of the Hospital and on the energies of the officers and staff.

I have already stated that the number of serious accidents has been somewhat large, and this has been due in a great measure to the reception of such a large proportion of acute cases, and the presence of a considerable number of dangerous epileptics.

The water supply has been a subject of some anxiety. When the present scheme for supplying the Hospital was arranged, the catchment area consisted of a large space of uncultivated ground, and the water falling on open grass land or sandstone rock was comparatively pure. The advent of a considerable population, the division of a large part of the area into small allotments for building, and the formation of roads, have contaminated the supply, and before many years have passed the creek now supplying the dam will be little better than a sewer. The occurrence of typhoid fever in the Hospital during the past year was due undoubtedly to impure water, and it is time that steps were taken to procure a supply from another source. I have already recommended that borings should be made with the diamond drill, to ascertain if an artesian supply can be obtained, and failing this that a supply should be obtained from the Nepean scheme by way of the new bridges, as soon as this water is available for use in Sydney. In the meantime the filters have been renewed, and arrangements made to supply drinking water to every ward from underground tanks filled from the roofs.

With an increasing number of male patients, the present area of land is found too small to allow of the employment of the full number who could be engaged in that best of all work for the insane—farming and gardening. It will be necessary to enclose and clear a part of the adjoining reserve, the soil on which, though poor in character, may under high cultivation be made productive, and a further area of land should, if possible, be secured by purchase. The present vegetable garden, owing to the dry season, has been very unproductive, and the supply of vegetables and fruit was less in 1882 than during former years.

The erection of a new amusement hall has occupied the time of all the patients who could be employed as artisans, and it has been found necessary to engage the services of several skilled tradesmen in addition. The room, the dimensions of which are 120 × 30 feet, is now complete, and serves admirably for the purpose for which it was intended.

Dr. Joseph, the Medical Superintendent, who had for some time been in bad health, obtained leave of absence at the end of January, and did not resume duty till the 1st of November. The duties of Medical

Medical Superintendent were undertaken by Dr. William C. Williamson, whose management of the Hospital during the nine months was most successful, and who left the Hospital in a higher state of discipline and efficiency than it was when he took charge. Mr. Eric Sinclair, M.B., was appointed to the position of Assistant Medical Officer in the room of Mr. Herbert Blaxland, appointed Medical Superintendent of Callan Park late in 1881, on January 7th, and still holds the appointment, the duties appertaining to which he has most efficiently and zealously performed.

The Hospital has been visited about once in every month by the official visitors appointed under the Lunacy Act. Mr. Alfred Roberts and Mr. Owen have held office during the whole year. Dr. Alleyne, who is missed and regretted by all with whom he had official relations, died during the year, and was succeeded as official visitor by Dr. Mackellar.

I have had an opportunity of perusing all the entries made by the official visitors in the Inspectors' book. The reports express a general satisfaction with the condition of the Hospital, but on several occasions the overcrowding of the wards has been freely commented on.

Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta—(Free and Convict.)

The number of patients in this Hospital on December 31st, 1881, was 779, and during the year 72 were admitted direct, and 27 by transfer, making a total of 878 under care. Of these, 35 were discharged recovered, 1 was discharged relieved, 4 were transferred to other Hospitals, 1 escaped, and 39 died, leaving 798 on the register at the close of the year, of whom 2 were absent on trial. The daily average number resident was 790. The percentage of the recoveries calculated on the admissions was 48.61, and the deaths give a ratio of 4.93 on the average number resident, both percentages being highly satisfactory. I visited and inspected the Hospital on February 13th, April 4th, May 27th, June 6th and 20th, July 22nd, August 25th and 29th, October 26th, and November 24th, and found it necessary to pay a number of other visits, to hold special inquiries or to consult with the officers of the Colonial Architect's Department with regard to buildings in progress.

The following are extracts from some of my entries in the Inspector's book:—

February 13.—I have this day visited the Hospital and inspected all the wards except that for convalescents. In the course of my visits I saw all the patients except those in No. 1, and those employed in the farm, garden, wood-yard, carpenters' shops, laundry, and offices. I heard no complaints of harsh or unkind treatment, or of other grievances except that one man, named S., stated that the amount of food was insufficient, a statement not supported by his appearance, and negatived by the evidence of the attendants in the ward. In the male division I found two patients in restraint by camisole owing to very destructive habits, and one wearing a glove on the right hand for the same reason. In this division two patients were in the small seclusion yards of the criminal ward, and three in seclusion in single rooms, but one of these was only placed there during the medical visit, owing to the noise and excitement he causes at this time. In the female division one patient was in muffs owing to destructive habits, and two in the small seclusion yards. The general health of the patients seemed fairly good. Eight men and two women were in bed, and these from chronic ailments or from failing powers in old and feeble persons. The rooms and yards were as a rule in good order and clean. In the criminal yard the seclusion yards have not yet been closed, as was recommended some time ago, but the Medical Superintendent reports that the work has not escaped attention and will soon be commenced. In this ward the gardens and grass-plots are kept and attended to with commendable interest by the attendants, and to assist their efforts it is very desirable that small paling fences should be placed in one or two places, and posts and chains in others, so as to ensure the growth of plants, &c., now liable to destruction. In the weatherboard division various improvements are in progress, and a new senior attendant, temporarily in charge, is taking an active and intelligent interest in his ward, but there are several points which need attention and which are beyond his efforts. The number of seats in this division is altogether too small; a further supply is needed under the shed, in the small yards between the dormitories and in the general grounds. Without these it is impossible to keep the patients tidy and clean, or to prevent them lying on the ground. A number of tables under the shed are also required, and might perhaps be spared from some of the other yards as soon as the large dining-room in the main building is used as intended. The roofing of the shed in this yard requires repair (the tiles are easily replaced); and lastly, the urinals and closets require attention, both being out of repair and very offensive owing to leakage of urine.

In the large dormitory over the dining-room in the main building an improvement would be effected by the removal of the high and unsightly wire fire-screens; and as the cubic space is high in this dormitory, being about 720 feet per head, additional bedsteads might be placed where the screens now are.

I saw the patients at dinner in three wards. In the large dining-room the meal was served with order and care, but in the Hospital and adjoining ward the arrangements are very unsatisfactory and leave much to be desired. It is very desirable that the spare space in the large dining-room should be used as soon as possible, and the mode of service improved. The attendants would look much more tidy if they wore aprons whilst serving the patients' meals. I saw and signed the statutory books, which are correctly kept, and, with the case books, are written up to a recent date.

June 6th.—I have this day visited this Hospital, and, accompanied by the Assistant Medical Officer, who is temporarily in charge owing to the serious illness of the Medical Superintendent, have passed through all the wards within the weatherboard and main division of the Institution. I saw all the patients in the wards, and found them sufficiently, and, as a rule, tidily clad. There was a marked absence of noise and excitement, and no complaints were made, although, as usual, there were urgent requests for discharge from a few. All the patients admitted since my last visit were specially pointed out to me, and I examined all these and heard the statements of all who wished to speak to me. I found one man, H., in restraint by camisole for very destructive habits, and one woman was wearing gloves to prevent her removing dressings from sores. One man was in seclusion for an outbreak of violence and excitement, and one woman for serious aggressive tendencies. Five patients were in the small seclusion yards in the female, and one in the male division. With regard to the women in these yards, I notice that nearly the same patients are always in them at my visits, and it appears that only six or seven patients are ever placed in them. In these cases I think it advisable that a change of surroundings should be tried, and I propose directing their removal to some other Institution as soon as arrangements can be made.

The number of sick is very small; and although the women and some of the men have a pallid and unwholesome look, there is little active ailment, and the death-rate is remarkably small. I am convinced that the ill-fitted and arranged cook-house in the female division, which does not allow of any variety in the mode of preparing the food, is responsible for the pallid appearance in the inmates in this division.

I noticed with pleasure that the number of patients engaged in the sewing-room is slowly increasing, and I think that, with some persuasion and pressure, more of the male patients might be induced to go to the tailors' shop. I found only two there—a falling off since my last visit. I saw the greater part of the day rooms, corridors, and dormitories, and found them in good order and clean. Various minor improvements are in progress, and a number of patients are employed under the carpenter and painter. The Assistant Medical Officer suggested that the shed in the inner criminal yard should be partly enclosed, and provided with a fireplace. In wet and cold days this would add greatly to the comfort of the patients, and I think might be undertaken by the artisans on the staff of the Hospital when pressing work now on hand has been completed.

I saw an excellent dinner of meat pie and potatoes served to the patients in the criminal and in No. 2 yard. In the latter the arrangements left little to be desired, but in the former the manner of serving meals might be very decidedly improved, and I consulted with the Assistant Superintendent on this subject. I am glad to learn that arrangements are being made to serve the dinner to the patients in No. 3 yard in the large dining-room with those from No. 2.

I saw and signed the statutory books, all of which, except the medical journal for the criminal division, are written up to a recent date. The volume referred to is kept as a rule by the Medical Superintendent himself, and the entries have been delayed owing to his illness. The case books are kept in accordance with the Colonial Secretary's order on this subject. I saw the papers received with all patients admitted since my last visit and found them correct. The number of patients on the register is as follows:—

Free and convict males, 584 ; females, 214. Total, 798.
Criminal                    53 ;                    5.                    58.

This shows an increase of 14 males and 5 females among the free and convict, and of a total of 2 among the criminal patients, since 31st December, 1881. Of the free patients, 3 males and 2 females are absent on leave under provisions of the Lunacy Act.

I visited the weatherboard division for men, during which I passed through several of the rooms, which were in good order, and saw a number of the patients. I found a quantity of old bed-ticking and other materials in an unlocked store at the back of the boiler-house, and on inquiry found that the store-rooms in the weatherboard division were not large enough to hold all the clothing and stores in use. At the same time I found that the boiler was much out of repair, and the attendant in charge reported that it was altogether insufficient to supply the hot water required on bathing days. It is imperative that additional store-rooms be provided, and that the boiler-house should be altered and fitted with two boilers, each equal to supply the whole of the hot water necessary. I afterwards visited the farm, the cultivation of which has been of late somewhat improved, and which on the whole looks more tidy than formerly. Fencing is required along the upper boundary of the garden, and the stables and other buildings are extremely defective and inadequate, and as soon as funds are available should undoubtedly be replaced by new and complete farm buildings.

There has been some improvement in the management of the manure pits, but they are still in some respects unsatisfactory. I am of opinion that the liquid manure should be used more freely and rapidly, and not allowed to accumulate as it does at present, with the result of being very offensive, and that the ashes and other dry material should be used more systematically to cover the closet refuse.

August 25th.—I this day accompanied the medical officers on their usual morning visit to the weatherboard division for men, the division for criminals, and Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 wards for male patients, and in these parts of the Hospital I saw all the patients and visited the greater number of the rooms occupied by them. The patients were sufficiently and properly clad, and were as a rule decidedly more tidy than at some former visits. The general health was good, and the number in bed smaller than usual. No one was in seclusion, but there was one man in one of the small yards in the criminal division. I saw no one in restraint. There was an unusual absence of noise and excitement; and although all had an opportunity of speaking to me one only made a complaint, and showed a bruised arm, which on inquiry turned out to have been caused by a fellow-patient during a quarrel in which the complainant was beyond doubt in fault.

I found the rooms as a rule clean and in good order, and I noticed with great pleasure the improvement which has taken place in the dress of the patients and in the general appearance of the weatherboard division, due in a great measure to the energy and care of a new attendant in charge. This division is now undergoing painting inside, and it is advisable that it should also be painted outside, for which, as it is a service of some magnitude, requisition might be made on the Colonial Architect. In this division, new store-rooms for brooms and utensils are necessary, and also a new drinking fountain in the general grounds. In the Hospital yard the roofing of the central building leaks badly, and should as a temporary measure be covered with galvanized iron until the alterations so very necessary in the buildings in this yard can be carried out. The patients from two wards now dine in the general dining-room, and some of the tables and seats formerly used are available for the shed of the weatherboard division, in which they are much needed.

The progress of works in the new wing for women is painfully slow, and at present there is no prospect of their immediate completion. I examined and signed the statutory books, which are correctly kept, and, together with the case books, are written up to a recent date, and I have visited the whole of the female division and some of the out-buildings with the Medical Superintendent. I found no one in the small seclusion yards or the single rooms, but one woman, Mrs. R., was in restraint by camisole owing to very destructive habits. The women as a rule seemed in fair average health, and there was no one in bed. The Hospital rooms were as usual comfortable and clean, but the condition of both rooms and bedding in the old range was far from satisfactory. This horrible building will soon, it is hoped, be emptied, and it is not worth while spending paint or labour in connection with it, but some of the cobwebs might be removed, and the bedding receive some little attention.

In the stores I found the provisions of excellent quality, and no complaints were made as to the conduct of the contractor. Some of the outbuildings, and notably a room at the back of the closets of the Hospital, were far from tidy, and require attention. There was a very unpleasant smell of gas in several parts of both the male and female divisions, and I am of opinion that a requisition should be made on the Colonial Architect for a thorough overhaul of all gas-fittings, and a renewal where absolutely necessary. In connection with the male and female weatherboard divisions, a new straw-house is needed, and a requisition should be forwarded.

October 26th.—I have to-day, with the Medical Superintendent and Assistant Medical Officer, visited the Criminal division of this Hospital, Nos. 2, 3, and 4 wards, occupied by male patients, and the whole of the division appropriated to women.

The patients were, as a rule, quiet and orderly, and free from all complaints except as to detention. I noticed two patients with bruised faces, but both were accounted for satisfactorily, being due to quarrels which the attendants could not prevent. In the Criminal division I found one man, recently admitted and suffering from acute mania, in a camisole, to prevent him denuding himself by tearing his clothing, and one man was in the small seclusion yard at the medical visit, for the safety of the officers and attendants, who are specially occupied at that time. The division was clean and in good order.

The outer yard would be much improved by aligning some of the grass-plots with posts and chains, and it seems desirable to remove the clothes store into the attendants' mess-room, partitioning off the space necessary as early as possible. If this cannot be carried out by the carpenter, the service might be made the subject of requisition. In the wards I visited in the male division I saw all the patients except those actively employed. Six only were in bed, and the general health and condition is satisfactory. No one was in seclusion, and one only in restraint, owing to destructive tendencies. The rooms were clean and in good order. The Medical Superintendent reports that the ventilation of the single rooms is most defective, especially during the summer, and it is clearly advisable to cut openings in the inner wall to improve this. In the female division, the number of patients has somewhat diminished, but some of the recent admissions are the subjects of acute insanity, and the want of classification is rendered by these more and more apparent. This division contains a very large number of old and feeble patients, but there is little or no absolute illness. One patient was in her room owing partly to her mental condition and partly to a bodily ailment requiring rest, and one patient was from choice in one of the small seclusion yards. I saw three female patients and several men with a view to discharge, and arranged with the Medical Superintendent to discharge some at once and others as soon as arrangements could be made with their friends.

November 24th.—I have to-day visited this Hospital, and after spending some time in the new buildings for women, and making arrangements to hasten their completion so far as possible, I inspected the weatherboard division for male patients, which I found in very good order. The patients were clean and tidy in dress, quiet in demeanour, and free from complaints. The yards and grounds of this division have been recently much improved, and seats asked for some time ago have now been received, and add greatly to the comfort of the patients. The day-rooms and dormitories were clean and in good order. Some of the latter are undergoing repair, necessary owing to the ravages of white ant, and all are being repainted. I saw the table laid for dinner, and noticed that the supply of drinking-mugs, salt-jars, &c., was defective. This should be remedied at once. The fire-engine shed of galvanized iron is unfit for the purpose, and the engine is becoming spoiled from the heat. A new engine-shed should be provided in a suitable situation.

In my last Report I remarked that the number of patients actively employed was too small, and in this respect there has been little or no improvement during the year. The Hospital still compares unfavourably with the other Institutions with regard to the number employed, and also with regard to the number attending Divine Service. I regard the systematic employment of the patients and their regular attendance at Divine Service as important agents in promoting their quietude, comfort, and happiness, as well as means towards their mental restoration, and no efforts should be spared to effect improvements in this direction.

There

There has been complete immunity from all epidemic disease, and no accident except of a most trivial character has occurred during the year.

The old prison range, which nearly fifty years ago was reported as unfit for habitation by prisoners, and which has been for so many years the special opprobrium of this institution, was still inhabited by patients at the end of the year, owing to the delay in completing the new buildings for women, but it has now been vacated, and I have requested that authority may be granted for its demolition.

This Institution, though many improvements have been made, is still wanting in some of the most essential parts of a Hospital for the Insane. Some of the buildings are so old and ruinous as to be almost beyond repair; there is no properly appointed hospital room; the rooms for epileptics are ill-arranged, ill-ventilated, and beyond the supervision which is necessary; there is a great need of garden ground for the employment of the criminal patients, and a number of details require attention. The provision of all that is necessary must be a work of time, but I have already submitted plans for remedying the more pressing defects, and I trust that by the close of another year I shall be able to report that some steps have been taken in the direction indicated.

The town waterworks having been completed, the water from this source was laid on to the Hospital during the year, and every part of the building has now a full and unstinted supply. Fire-mains have been laid round the weatherboard buildings, with plugs at frequent intervals, and the high pressure at which the water is delivered would be of great service in case of fire. The price now charged by the Corporation is, in my opinion, too high, and when the Nepean scheme is complete it may be advisable for the Government to bring a main from the channel as it passes Parramatta and obtain the supply for this Hospital from this.

The Hospital was inspected as usual during the year by the official visitors, on whose reports I have no comment to offer.

Hospital for the Criminal Insane, Parramatta.

There were 56 patients—50 males and 6 females—in this Hospital on 31st December, 1881: and 28 patients—26 males and 2 females—were admitted during the year, making a total of 84 under care and treatment. Of these, 8 were discharged recovered and were returned to prison, and 25 were transferred to the general hospital on expiry of sentence, or, in cases awaiting trial, the Attorney-General declining to prosecute. There was only 1 death, and this was due to pulmonary consumption.

The number on the register at the close of the year was 50—44 males and 6 females, and their classification was as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Detained during the Governor's pleasure .....	22	4	26
Found insane on arraignment .....	2	.. .. .	2
Awaiting trial .. .. .	4	1	5
Serving sentence .....	16	1	17
	44	6	50

The recoveries give a percentage of 28.57 on the admissions, and the death rate was only 1.75 on the average number resident. I visited and inspected the Institution on February 13th, April 4th, June 6th, July 22nd, August 25th, October 26th, and at two of these visits I checked the registers, and saw every patient on them. I saw and signed the statutory books at each visit. Some improvements have been made by asphaltting and otherwise altering the small seclusion yards, and by aligning the grass-plots with posts and chains, and in supplying presses to hold the patients' clothes at night; but there is need of further improvements, and some enlargement of the bath-room and lavatory, an additional store-room, the enclosure of the shelter shed in the inner ward, so as to render it serviceable in wet weather, are among the more pressing wants.

The Medical Superintendent has encouraged the employment of the patients, and the number usefully employed has been during the greater part of the year 40 per cent. of the total number under care. It is found impossible, however, under existing arrangements, to find employment without risk of escape or other danger for a number who would benefit by active work.

A combination between two convalescent patients—one awaiting trial and the other detained during the Governor's pleasure—during which they displayed a marvellous amount of ingenuity and skill, resulted in the escape of both, and an investigation which formed the subject of a special report disclosed some want of discipline on the part of the staff, and some defects in the arrangements, which have since been remedied.

The patients were both recaptured within thirty-six hours by the Medical Superintendent and the staff under his directions.

Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park.

The number of patients on December 31st, 1881, was 140, and 48 were admitted during the year. The number discharged was 26, of whom 20 were recovered and 6 were relieved. Three patients were transferred to other Hospitals, and 13 died. The number on December 31st, 1882, was 146. The recoveries give a percentage of 43.47 on the admissions, and the deaths a percentage of 9.02 on the average number resident. The statistics of the Hospital are given in the report of the Medical Superintendent (Appendix A), and in the tables attached thereto.

I paid ten visits of inspection during the year, one in each month except January and September, and the following extracts from my entries in the Inspector's book show the general state and condition of the Hospital:—

February 25th.—I have this day paid a lengthy visit of inspection to this Hospital, and with the Medical Superintendent passed through all the wards, stores, offices, and out-buildings.

The patients on the books number 139, and of these 1 is absent on leave. With one exception—a patient named W. who was accidentally overlooked—I saw and spoke to each patient individually and marked them off on my official list, and I gave all an opportunity of speaking to me. I heard no complaints of harsh or inconsiderate treatment, and the only complaints submitted to me were want of sufficient food in one instance, and of undue detention in three or four.

The

The patient complaining of insufficient food is a querulous, fault-finding man, who is in good health and shows no appearance of needing more sustenance; and in all the cases in which the detention was complained of I satisfied myself that there was good and sufficient reason for this. The general health is fairly good, though in one or two instances I noticed purpurous patches on the hand. No one was in seclusion or restraint, and 3 only in bed—1 from diarrhoea, 1 from old age and debility, and 1 owing to great restlessness, which rendered confinement to bed advisable. The Medical Superintendent reported that there had been recently a considerable number of cases of diarrhoea, but there has been complete freedom from any epidemic or other disorder. The wards and dormitories were in good order throughout, especially in No. 2 and 3 divisions. In No. 1 some extra care is necessary, the windows in the dormitories up-stairs being uncleaned, and there being other minor evidences of defective supervision.

The kitchen, laundry, and out-buildings have been recently cleaned and re-whitewashed, and were in good order. In the store I saw the bread, cheese, sugar, and other articles of provisions, all of which were satisfactory as to quality. I visited the wood-yard, orchard, garden, and grounds, as well as the blacksmiths' and carpenters' shops, and saw all the patients employed in these departments. A considerable number of patients were usefully occupied, giving an average of 53 daily, and the garden and grounds show evidence of care and attention in their tidy and improved condition. The engagement of an additional attendant for out-door work will no doubt result in further improvements, and in an increase in the plantations, &c., which it is desirable should be formed in advance of the occupation of the new Hospital. I saw and signed the statutory books. There have been four admissions since my last visit, three discharges—two as sane and one to the care of friends—and one death.

The case books are written up to date, the entries being made in accordance with the case book order.

March 9th.—I have to-day visited this Hospital, and inspected every part occupied by patients. I saw all the patients in the wards, and the greater part of those actively employed, and I took especial care to examine all the patients admitted since my last visit—five in number. I heard no complaints of harsh or unkind treatment, but two patients under the influence of delusions complained that they had been drugged. No one was in seclusion or restraint, and three only were in their rooms—one from old age, one from maniacal excitement, and the third owing to mental peculiarity which entails very exhausting movements, and renders it advisable that the patient should spend as much time as possible in bed. The condition of wards 2 and 3 appeared very satisfactory; the patients were clean and tidy in dress, and the rooms in excellent order. In ward 1 the condition of the patients' dress and that of some of the mattresses was not so satisfactory as I could wish, and the rooms were neither so clean nor so orderly as on former occasions.

There appears to be a somewhat over-degree of carefulness amounting almost to stinginess on the part of the attendant in charge with regard to the issue of clothing. On inquiry I found that about twenty patients have Sunday suits; and I think this arrangement satisfactory, and one that might be extended with advantage, as tending to the comfort and self-respect of the patients.

April 11th.—I carefully checked the registers, and saw all the patients except two, one of whom was in Sydney with an attendant, and the other in bed owing to general debility. I found the wards unusually quiet, the patients being free from excitement, and making no complaints except of detention, and in all instances in which this was named as a grievance I was fully satisfied that it was necessary and right, and that discharge could only result in mischief. The patients in all three wards were tidy in dress, clean, and apparently well cared for, and the Hospital throughout was in good order. The dormitories are being improved by painting the bedsteads and by the supply of new counterpanes. I found five patients in their rooms, but in three cases the doors were left open, and the patients were in feeble health. One of these had a glove on one hand, to prevent interference of a wound of the finger caused by gangrene.

I visited the kitchen, stores, laundry, and other offices, and found them in fair order. The provisions were satisfactory as to quality, but the Medical Superintendent reports that the contractor is inattentive to orders, and that the provisions are not delivered at the times required. He has been warned that a repetition of irregularity will subject him to be dealt with under the conditions of contract. All the milk now required is obtained from the cows kept on the farm. I saw the patients in both dining-rooms at dinner. The meal, which consisted of well-cooked meat pie, was served with order and tidiness, and the attendants are evidently paying care and attention to the dining arrangements.

May 20th.—There was some excitement and noise in No. 3, and several patients were clamorous for discharge, but in none of these cases did the mental condition warrant such a course. I heard no complaints of harsh treatment, and such complaints as were made were due to delusions, and referred to poisoning, feeding with human food, and other impossible matters. I saw one patient with a badly bruised hand, but this was due, according to his own statement, to his having struck another patient. The number of patients is now 147, and since my last visit there have been 6 admissions, 3 discharges, and 2 deaths. I saw the papers received with all the patients admitted, and found them in order. The deaths were due to exhaustion in old-standing dementia in one case, and to morbis and albuminuria in the other. I saw and specially examined all patients since my last visit.

June 24th.—From an examination of the day and night reports, it appears that an average of 55 patients are usefully employed, and that as a rule 9 are wet and 1 or 2 dirty at night. On going over the list of those with faulty habits, the Medical Superintendent explained that all were either cases of acute mania or extreme dementia, and that in no case could much alteration in habits be expected until there was a change in the mental state. I passed through all the wards, visited the artisans' shops, the laundry, kitchen, wood-yard, orchard, and all the places where patients were employed except the garden, and I saw all the patients except those employed with the gardener, all of whom I have seen within the last month during visits paid to the works at the new Hospital. There was little or no noise or excitement, though in No. 3 yard several patients were very anxious for discharge, and inclined to be angry because no promise of immediate release could be given to them. I found all tidily and sufficiently clothed, and there was a complete absence of all complaint except as to detention. 5 were in bed, 3 in single rooms with the doors open, 1 in a single room with the door closed, and 1 in an associated dormitory. No one was in seclusion or restraint. The rooms were in good order and clean, but the smell in one or two occupied by dirty patients was, notwithstanding free ventilation, very bad. In these rooms I think that chlorine should be occasionally liberated, and that the floor should be well sprinkled with chloride of lime or other disinfectant. The supplies in the provision store were satisfactory as to quality; and the contractor has, since my last visit, paid attention to the requirements as to the hours of supply.

August 31st.—I saw all the patients in the wards, and a number of those in the grounds, workshops, and offices, and I examined especially the 8 admitted since my last visit, and saw the papers on which they were sent. I found 8 patients in bed—4 from minor physical ailments, 1 owing to epileptic and 1 to maniacal excitement, and 2 at their own wish. The latter were in single rooms, the doors of which were left open. One patient was in seclusion owing to an outburst of excitement, but no one was in restraint. In Nos. 1 and 2 wards the patients were quiet and orderly, but in No. 3 there was considerable excitement, especially among the epileptics. There was in this ward also a want of tidiness and a neglect of details which call for some improvement. The rooms occupied by patients were, as a rule, clean and in good order. The kitchen was in its usual excellent order, and the laundry and out-buildings generally were in a creditable condition. I saw some of the articles in the store and found them thoroughly good, but the meat is still reported to be thin, and not as good as should be supplied. I have expressed my opinion to the Medical Superintendent that a thoroughly satisfactory supply should be insisted on.

November 2nd.—The patient who, at my last visit was absent through escape, has been returned, and it does not appear that any of the attendants are seriously to blame. I found no one in restraint, but one patient was in seclusion owing to persistent fighting with a fellow-patient. Five patients were in bed. The general health was good, and the patients were tidy and properly dressed, and seemed well cared for. I heard no complaints as to harsh and unkind treatment, though every one in the Hospital had full opportunity of speaking to me. The rooms were clean and in good order throughout, and the kitchen and other out-buildings were in excellent order.

December 21st.—I have to-day visited this Hospital, which now contains 140 patients. Since my last visit 6 have been admitted and 6 discharged. Of the cases admitted 5 were original admissions and 1 a transfer from Gladesville; and of the discharges 5 had recovered (1 after three months' leave of absence) and 1 was discharged to the care of his wife, relieved. I found 5 patients in bed—2 in an associated dormitory; 2 in single rooms with the door open, and one with the door locked; the latter patient is up every afternoon, under special charge of an attendant. The patients generally seemed well and properly cared for, and in two wards were quiet and free from complaint. In the third ward there was a considerable amount of turbulence and noise started by one or two excitable patients and taken up by others. The rooms throughout were clean and in good order, and the dormitories in the old buildings have been made much more comfortable in appearance by means of mosquito-curtains and carpets on the floor. I saw all the patients employed in the wood-yard, workshops and grounds, except those with the gardener. A considerable amount of useful work is in progress.

The Hospital has received during the year all the cases brought under the notice of the Magistrates at the Water and suburban Police Courts, besides a number admitted at the request of friends. No serious accident has occurred, and there has been complete exemption from all epidemic disease.

The Medical Superintendent has been anxious to secure as much amusement as possible for the patients, and has encouraged cricket and other out-door games. Some of the happiest days spent by the patients have been when cricketing teams from the Hospitals at Gladesville and Parramatta, or from the Orphan Schools and the "Vernon" have visited the Hospital.

The steam-launch has been in frequent use to bring these visitors or to take the patients from Callan Park to play return matches, or for a trip down the harbour. Besides concerts and amusements at the Hospital, parties of patients have attended most of the dances and concerts held at Gladesville by arrangement with the Medical Superintendent of that Hospital.

The Chaplains have been most punctual and regular in their attendance, and the number attending Divine Service has never been less than 50 per cent. of the total number of inmates.

The works at the new Hospital have been in progress throughout the year, but the amount of work done has been less than I anticipated or hoped, and the contract time, now all but up, will be largely exceeded unless the work proceeds much faster than it has hitherto done.

Hospital for the Insane, Newcastle.

The number of patients in this Hospital on 31st December, 1881, was 235—128 male and 107 female. During the year 15 were admitted direct, and 7 were transferred from other Hospitals, making the total number under care for the year 257; of these 2 were discharged relieved, 16 died, and 239—130 males and 109 females—remained on the register at the close of the year, at which time however two were absent on trial. The number of patients under 16 years of age at the close of the year was 70—39 males and 31 females—and exactly 200 out of the total number were Australians by birth.

The deaths give a percentage of 6.75 on the average number resident. Three of the deaths were due to typhoid fever, of which there were six cases in the Hospital during the year. The cause of these cases could not be discovered. The drainage of the Hospital, which is distinct from the drainage of the town, and opens by a separate outlet to the sea, was found on examination to be in good order. The Institution was at all my visits free from offensive smell, and there was no reason to suspect contamination of the drinking-water, which is obtained from deep wells. The only serious accident was a dislocation of the knee-cap caused by a fall.

I visited the Hospital on February 16th and 17th, May 30th, September 5th, and October 31st, and at two of my visits I checked the registers, and was careful to see every patient. At all my visits I inspected all the rooms occupied by patients, as well as the out-buildings and offices, and found every part of the Hospital clean and in good order. The statutory books were produced for my inspection and signature at each visit, and were found correctly kept and written up to a recent date.

The following is a copy of my entry in the Inspector's book at my visit on September 5th:—

September 5th.—I have to-day visited the Hospital without prior notice, and have inspected every part of it occupied by patients, as well as the stores, kitchen, laundry, and out-buildings. In checking the register I saw every patient, spoke to the greater number, and gave all an opportunity of speaking to me. The number is now 241, and of these 91 males and 80 females are over, and 39 males and 31 females are under 16 years of age. The number of children in proportion to adults is slowly increasing. Since my last visit 2 males and 1 female have been admitted direct, and 1 male and 2 females from Gladesville. I saw and examined them, as well as the papers on which they were admitted, and consider all fit subjects for the Institution, whilst the admission papers are in proper form and order. I found the patients as a rule in good health; 2 only were in bed in the female division and 10 in the male division, and most of these were suffering from minor ailments. One female is suffering from an attack of erysipelas of the leg, and is very properly isolated, but with this exception there is complete freedom from infectious or epidemic disorder. I found one girl in seclusion, but she had only been in a few minutes and was released at my visit, and one boy was in restraint by muffs, for reasons which I consider sufficient. I was, as on former visits, pleased with the general look of happiness and contentment among the patients generally, and especially the children, and the evident liking for and confidence in their nurses and attendants. The rooms were as a rule in good order and clean, and the bedding was clean and sufficient. The Hospital room has been much improved by painting and decoration, and the nurse in charge has been placed in complete charge of the room, and of the smaller boys without the supervision of the attendant in No. 2 ward as heretofore. Some parts of the male division require repainting, and I consider that the bedsteads throughout should be painted and varnished, the work being done slowly and by the labour of attendants and patients.

The kitchen, laundry, and out-buildings generally were in fair order, but the cooking apparatus requires attention. Some of the pipes are leaking and others are stopped, and these should be at once overhauled, and the kitchen painted throughout. I very much regret to find that the drying-room in the laundry, which has been fitted with steam pipes, is not yet in working order, and that the heat obtained is quite inadequate for drying purposes. The ventilation is so imperfect that the moisture is not driven off, but condensing on the ceiling, drips again on to the clothes. Some very considerable alterations will be necessary before this can be considered a success, or at all answer the purpose for which it is intended.

In the store I saw various articles of provisions, and found the bread, groceries, and other articles of good quality. I was present when the meat for the next day's dinner was delivered, and considered the quality satisfactory. I visited the three dining-rooms during the patients' dinner-time, and found an excellent dinner of meat-pie, served to all the more hale among them, and minced-meat, rice and milk, beef-tea, &c., to the more feeble. The dinner in all the rooms was served with the greatest order and care.

I spent a considerable time in examining the statutory books, the case books, and the departmental records, and found all in good order, and in addition to these I saw the daily and night reports for the past fortnight, the dietary and extra issue-sheets and other records. I find that the number actually employed is 27 females and 37 males; and the number attending divine service, 82 males and 39 females; the number wet and dirty by day is 23 males and 25 females; the number wet at night, 17 males and 16 females and the number dirty at night, 6 males and 5 females. The number employed remains small, and I wish to direct the most serious attention of the Superintendent to the desirability of using every endeavour to increase the number of those occupied. I am well aware that this can only be brought about by care and extreme patience on the part of nurses and attendants, in teaching the younger patients to occupy themselves usefully, and that many of those taught will be a long time before becoming an assistance to those in charge of them. In connection with the subject of employment, I have brought under the notice of the Superintendent the necessity for forming a class for gymnastic exercises, in which many incapable of employment may be taught a fuller use of their limbs, with the result of improving both their health and their intellects. I have supplied the Superintendent with Dr. Roth's Manual, and pointed out notices of the system to be employed in the English Kindergarten, and in Duncan & Millard's book on the training of the feeble-minded, and I hope at my next visit to find that a commencement has been made.

In the course of my visit I noticed a number of minor works requiring attention; the floor of the recreation shed requires a fresh coating of tar; the invalid chairs require repairs and new sacking, and there are various minor matters which require the attention of the carpenter. Most if not all of these are within the capacity of the artisan attendants and members of the staff, and do not require extraneous assistance. The Superintendent spares no pains to procure amusement

TABLE 3.
SHOWING the Causes of Death in the Hospital for the Insane, Newcastle, during the year 1882.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
CEREBRAL DISEASE :—
Apoplexy and paralysis .....	.....	.....	.....
Epilepsy and convulsions .....	2	2	4
General paralysis .....	.....	.....	.....
Maniacal and melancholic exhaustion and decay .....	.....	.....	.....
Inflammation and other diseases of the brain, softening, tumour, &c.....	2	.....	2
THORACIC DISEASE :—
Inflammation of lungs, pleura, and bronchi .....	3	.....	3
Pulmonary consumption .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of heart and blood-vessels .....	.....	.....	.....
ABDOMINAL DISEASE :—
Inflammation and ulceration of stomach, intestines, and peritoneum .....	2	.....	2
Dysentery and diarrhoea .....	.....	.....	.....
Albuminuria .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of bladder and prostate .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of liver .....	1	.....	1
ERYSIPELAS .....	.....	.....	.....
TYPHOID FEVER .....	1	2	3
GENERAL DEBILITY AND OLD AGE .....	.....	.....	.....
GANGRENE .....	1	.....	1
ACCIDENT .....	.....	.....	.....
SUICIDE .....	.....	.....	.....
Total .....	12	4	16

TABLE 4.

SHOWING the Ages of the Admissions and Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, and also the Ages of all Patients under care, during the year 1882, in the Hospital for the Insane at Newcastle.

Ages.	Admitted & Re-admitted.			Recovered.			Removed, Relieved, &c.			Died.			Patients under care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
1 to 5 years .....	3	1	4	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	3	1	4
5 to 10 years .....	4	1	5	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	3	.....	3	.....	17	12	29
10 to 15 years .....	3	.....	3	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	1	2	1	3	26	11	37
15 to 20 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	2	3	31	23	54
20 to 30 years .....	1	2	3	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	2	1	3	35	31	66
30 to 40 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	2	.....	2	5	25	30
40 to 50 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	11	3	14
50 to 60 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	1	7	3	10
60 to 70 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	1	1	.....	1	5	3	8
70 to 80 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	4	1	5
80 to 90 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
90 and upwards .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
	11	4	15	.....	.....	.....	2	.....	2	12	4	16	144	113	257

Temporary Hospital for the Insane, Cooma.

The number of patients on December 31st, 1881, was 62, and of these 2 died during the year. Both deaths were due to thoracic disease. No patient was admitted. I visited this Hospital on April 24th and 25th, and on November 17th and 18th, and the following are copies of the entries made in the Inspector's book at these visits :—

April 24 and 25.—I have spent a considerable part of both these days in visiting this Hospital, and have taken care to see and speak to every one of the patients on the register, 61 in number, and to examine specially all those sick and all those exhibiting any mental change. I found no one in restraint, and, as appears by the medical journal, there has been no instance of this since my last visit. Two patients were in bed, one from dysenteric diarrhoea, and another owing to mental excitement, which seems always in some degree alleviated by a stay in bed and separation from other patients. The instances of seclusion since my last visit have been very few, and only six patients have been subjected to it. I found the general health of the patients good. Two are failing rapidly in mental health and exhibiting increasing bodily feebleness, and two or three others look thin, but are free from complaint and exhibit no signs of active disease. I found all well and sufficiently clad, and there was complete freedom from noise or excitement. The only complaint made was by a man who exhibited a bruised finger, which he stated had been caused by an attendant, but his complaint was so mixed up with delusions of persecution and the action of mysterious influences that I could not attach any importance to it, especially as I could obtain no evidence of a struggle or difficulty with attendants, and found that he was in the habit of striking his hand violently on the door of his room at night. Another patient had a swollen hand, which he reported was caused by his own act in striking another patient on the head in his dormitory last night—a statement confirmed by further inquiry.

I found the day-room, corridor, and dormitories clean and in good order, and the bedding clean and ample in quantity; the kitchen, stores, and other buildings were all in commendable order, and in the store I found the articles supplied by the contractor of good quality, with the exception of some milk, which certainly looked thin and blue, but could not be tested owing to the absence of the necessary instruments. I have directed that lactometer glasses and cream tubes are to be procured and the milk regularly tested. In the clothing store certain articles, as closet-tubs, shirts, and scrubbing-brushes were all inferior to sample, and representation was at once made to the Superintendent of Stores on the subject. The water supply has, during the entire summer, been carted from the creek, and though rain has recently fallen the amount collected in the tanks is small. A contract has been taken for deepening the well, but very little progress has been made with the work, which is now (owing to difficulty in blasting the rock) at a standstill. I saw the patients at dinner, consisting of soup, roast beef, and potatoes, well cooked and served with due order. The soup did not appear to be as good as it might be, and I suggested some alteration in the arrangements, and the substitution of split-pease for barley in the soup on one day a week. The number of patients actively employed is 28, and the number attending divine service 21. The Chaplains appear to have attended with regularity, and the visits of the medical officer are sufficiently frequent. The amusement of the patients is, owing to various circumstances, difficult, but advantage is taken of any local entertainment to send parties to it, and a large part of the vote for amusements last year was expended in the purchase of a supply of new books and an assortment of illustrated and other newspapers and magazines. I saw and signed the statutory books, which are in good order, and I examined the case book and other departmental records, which are correctly kept. There has been one change on the staff by the resignation of an attendant, and another leaves at the end of this month, arrangements having been made to fill both vacancies. The general management of the Hospital is satisfactory, and the staff is working harmoniously and well.

November 17th and 18th.—I visited this Hospital on both these days, and have seen all the patients on the register. I took special care to speak to every one, to make all necessary inquiries as to their mental and general health, and to give to all the fullest opportunity of stating any complaints or grievances. The number of patients is now 60, and the only change since my last visit has been the death from phthisis of a Chinaman. I found the patients on both days thoroughly quiet and free from all excitement, and no complaints of any kind were made to me. The general health is satisfactory, though several are feeble owing to increasing brain degeneration. The only patient in bed was suffering from epilepsy, with rheumatic gout of old standing and recent tubercular mischief of the chest. The dress of the patients was clean and tidy, and the general appearance indicated attention and care on the part of those in charge.

The dormitories and day-rooms were thoroughly clean and in good order, and the bedding plentiful and in excellent repair. Some of the pillows appear to be stuffed too tightly, and I think a part of the horse-hair might be removed from these with advantage. The kitchen, laundry, and stores, were clean and orderly throughout. Some of the appliances in the laundry require attention, and the "acorn" wringer must be renewed or repaired. The various articles of provisions found in the stores were of thoroughly good quality, and the Superintendent reports satisfactorily of the general supply by the contractor with regard to all articles except butter and milk. The latter especially has been extremely unsatisfactory in quality at times, and owing to the general scarcity of this article in the district, it has been impossible to replace the articles supplied by the contractor with anything except the condensed article. The supply of spare clothing was ample but not extravagant, and the only article of which the supply was defective was flannel drawers, which have been the subject of requisition on the store department for some weeks. The water supply has for many months been obtained by cartage from the creek, the rainfall having been very small. The well is now in hands of contractors, who have undertaken to deepen it, and though working continuously the progress is not above 1 foot a week, the rock being extremely hard. About 15 or 16 feet have up to this time been added to the depth, with the result of a decided increase in the supply, but the water whilst the blasting operations are in progress is unfit for use. There is good reason to hope that when a total depth of 90 ft. is reached (or 14 feet below the present level), if not before, the supply will be such as to meet all requirements of the Institution, and thus do away with one of the greatest difficulties in its management.

I saw the statutory and departmental books, all of which are properly kept. From the medical journal it appears that restraint has not been used in any case since my last visit, and that the instances of seclusion have been few and unfrequent, seven being recorded in five individuals. There has been neither accident nor escape. From an examination of the day and night reports, it appears that twenty-eight or twenty-nine patients, or nearly 50 per cent., are actively employed, and that an average of twenty-one attend Divine Service. The number wet at night is on an average three, and the number dirty one or two. The Superintendent expresses himself satisfied with the general conduct of the staff.

The medical officer has been sick for a considerable period, but his duty during this time was undertaken by Dr. Clifford and the visits paid regularly. Dr. Daniel has now resumed duty, and I met him at the Hospital and consulted with him as to several of the patients under his care.

The following tables give the statistics of the Hospital for the year:—

TABLE 1.
SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths in the Temporary Hospital for the Insane, Cooma, during the year 1882.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December, 1881.....	62	.. ..	62
Admitted for the first time during the year.....	.....	.....	.....
Re-admitted during the year .....	.....	.....	.....
Transferred during the year .....	.....	.....	.....
Total under care during the year .....	62	.....	62
Discharged or removed—
Recovered .....	.....	.....	.....
Relieved .....	.....	.....	.....
Transferred .....	.....	.....	.....
Escaped (and not recaptured) .....	.....	.....	.....
Died .....	2	.....	2
Total discharged or died during the year .....	2	.....	2
Remaining .....	60	.....	60
Average number resident during the year .....	60	.....	60

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the Admissions, Discharges and Deaths, with the mean Annual Mortality, and the proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent., at the Temporary Hospital for the Insane, Cooma, during the years 1877 to 1881 inclusive.

Year.	Admitted.			Transferred from other Hospitals			Discharged.			Transferred to other Hospitals.			Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days		Died.		Remain- ing in Hospital 31st December			Average number resident.			Percentage of recoveries on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of patients released on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of Deaths on the average number resident.
	For the first time.		Re-ad- mitted.	M.		F.		Total.		Re- covered.		Re- lieved.		M.		F.		Total.		M.		F.		Total.		M.		F.		Total.
	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
1877	4	4	60	60											1	1	63	63	62	62											1	61	1	61
1878	2	2					2	2				2	2		1	1	60	60	62	62	100	100										1	61	1	61
1879	1	1					3	3							1	1	57	57	60	60	300	300										1	66	1	66
1880	3	3										1	1		2	2	64	64	64	64												3	12	3	12
1881	2	2					1	1	2	2				1	1	2	2	62	62	64	64	100	100										3	12	3	12
1882															2	2	60	60	60	60													3	33	3	33

Licensed-house for the Insane, Cook's River.

The number of patients in this institution on 31st December, 1881, was 136—6 males and 132 females; and during the year 11 patients were admitted direct, and 12 were transferred from Hospitals for the Insane, making a total of 161 under care during the year. Of these 4 were discharged, recovered; 2 were discharged, relieved; 1 was transferred to Gladesville, and 10 died. The number on the register at the close of the year was 144, inclusive of 1 absent on trial; and the average daily number resident was 140.

The recoveries give a percentage of 36.36 on the admissions, and the deaths a percentage of 7.14 on the average number resident. The deaths with two exceptions were due to cerebral disease. 125 of the female patients in this institution are maintained by the Government under special agreement with the proprietor, and in case of recoveries or deaths the vacancies are filled up from the Hospitals at Gladesville or Parramatta. The private patients, who numbered 9 males and 10 females at the close of the year, are placed in a separate part of the building.

The license for this house was renewed, under the provisions of section 24 of the "Lunacy Act," for a further period of three years from May 1st, 1883, and Dr. Arthur Vause became the Medical Superintendent, under arrangements with the former licensee at this date.

I visited the Institution on January 30th, March 15th, May 8th and 29th, July 7th and 16th, September 11th, October 10th, and November 29th. At three of these visits I checked the register and saw and spoke to every patient, and at other visits have given every one an opportunity of speaking to me and complaining if they so wished. The complaints have been few and unimportant, and the accidents have been confined almost entirely to trifling cuts and wounds received by epileptic patients in falling during fits. At two of my visits I saw the Government patients at dinner which was good in quality, plentiful in quantity, well-cooked, and served with care and cleanliness. The accommodation for private patients to which I took exception in my last report has been greatly improved by the Medical Superintendent, who has made arrangements which admit of a more satisfactory classification of the inmates, and added to the cheerfulness and comfort of the rooms by new furniture and bedding. The official visitors, Messrs. A. Roberts and William Owen and Dr. Alleyne, succeeded by Dr. Mackellar, have visited the Institution as usual during the year. Their reports, which I have had an opportunity of perusing, do not call for any comment.

The following table give the statistics of the Institution for the year:—

TABLE 1.

SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River, during the year 1882.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December, 1881	6	132	138
Admitted for the first time during the year	7	4	11
Re-admitted during the year	1	11	12
Transferred during the year
Total under care during the year	14	147	161
Discharged or removed—
Recovered	2	2	4
Relieved	1	1	2
Transferred	1		1
Escaped (and not recaptured)
Died	1	9	10
Total discharged or died during the year	5	12	17
Remaining	9	135	144
Average number resident during the year	7	133	140

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the Admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, with the mean Annual Mortality, and the proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent. at the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River, during the years 1876-1882 inclusive.

Year.	Admitted						Transferred from other Hospitals, &c			Discharged						Transferred to other Hospitals, &c	Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days	Died	Remaining in Hospitals, 31st Decemoe in each year	Average number resident.	Percentage of recoveries on admissions and re admissions			Percentage of patients relieved on admission and re-admission			Percentage of deaths on average numbers resident
	Admitted for the first time			Re-admitted			M	F	Total	Reco-vered			Re-ieved								M	F	Total	M	F	Total	M	F	Total	M	F	Total
	M	F	Total	M	F	Total				M	F	Total	M	F	Total																		M	F	Total	M	F	Total	M	F	Total	M	F
1876	2	1	3				33	33			1	1	1	1		2	8	10	5	130	135	6	113	119			50	00		33	33	31	25	7	06	8	88
1877	5	3	8	1	1		11	11	2	6	8	1	1	2	1	3	2	7	9	4	130	134	5	129	134	40	00	150	0	88	88	25	00	11	11	40	00	5	42	6	66
1878	5	2	7	1	1		1	7	8	3	2	5	1	1	1	2	1	8	9	5	128	133	5	128	133	50	00	20	00	81	25	10	00	6	25	20	00	6	24	6	76
1879	3	1	4	1	1		4	4	1	1	2	1	1	1	1		5	5	6	127	133	4	128	132	33	33	50	00	40	00	50	00	20	00	3	93	3	79
1880	3	2	5	1	1		9	9	1	3	4	1	1	2	2	2	5	5	6	129	135	4	128	132	25	00	150	0	66	66	25	00	50	00	33	33	3	90	3	79
1881	5	9	14				1	10	11	4	3	7	2	5	7		8	8	6	132	138	5	132	137	80	00	33	33	50	00	40	00	55	55	50	00	6	06	5	83
1882	7	4	11				1	11	12	2	2	4	1	1	2	1	1	9	10	9	135	144	7	133	140	28	57	50	00	36	36	14	28	25	00	18	18	14	28	6	77	7	14

TABLE 3.

SHOWING the Causes of Death in the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River, during the year 1882.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
CEREBRAL DISEASE :—
Apoplexy and paralysis .....	.....	1	1
Epilepsy and convulsions .....	.....	2	2
General paralysis .....	.....	.....	.....
Maniacal and melancholic exhaustion and decay.....	.....	4	4
Inflammation and other diseases of the brain, softening, tumour, &c.....	1	.....	1
THORACIC DISEASE :—
Inflammation of lungs, pleura, and bronchi.....	.....	.....	.....
Pulmonary consumption .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of heart and blood-vessels .....	.....	1	1
ABDOMINAL DISEASE :—
Inflammation and ulceration of stomach, intestines, and peritoneum .....	.....	.....	.....
Dysentery and diarrhæa .....	.....	.....	.....
Albuminuria .....	.....	1	1
Disease of bladder and prostate .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of liver .....	.....	.....	.....
ERYSIPELAS .....	.....	.....	.....
TYPHOID FEVER .....	.....	.....	.....
GENERAL DEBILITY AND OLD AGE.....	.....	.....	.....
ACCIDENT .....	.....	.....	.....
SUICIDE .....	.....	.....	.....
Total .....	1	9	10

TABLE 4.

SHOWING the length of Residence in those discharged recovered, and in those who have died in the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River, during the year 1882.

Length of residence.	Recovered.			Died.
	Males.	Female	Total.	Male	Female	Total.
Under 1 month .....	1	.....	1	.....	.....	.....
From 1 to 3 months .....	.....	1	1	.....	.....	.....
From 3 to 6 months .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
From 6 to 9 months .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
From 9 to 12 months .....	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	1
From 1 to 2 years .....	.....	1	1	.....	.....	.....
From 2 to 3 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
From 3 to 5 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	1
From 5 to 7 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	1
From 7 to 10 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	3	3
From 10 to 12 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	1
From 12 to 15 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	2	2
Over 15 years .....	1	.....	1	.....	1	1
Totals .....	2	2	4	1	9	10

TABLE 5.

SHOWING the Ages of the Admissions and Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, and also the Ages of all Patients under care during the year 1882, in the Licensed House for the Insane, at Cook's River.

Ages.	Admitted and Re-admitted.			Recovered.			Removed relieved, &c.			Died.			Patients under care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
1 to 5 years.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
5 to 10 years.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
10 to 15 years.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
15 to 20 years.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	2
20 to 30 years.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	6	6	6
30 to 40 years.....	2	1	3	1	2	3	1	...	1	1	2	3	5	38	43
40 to 50 years.....	4	1	5	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	4	4	7	55	62
50 to 60 years.....	1	1	2	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	1	1	2	23	25
60 to 70 years.....	...	1	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	17	17	17
70 to 80 years.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	5	5	5
80 to 90 years.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	1
90 and upwards.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Ages unknown.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Totals.....	7	4	11	2	2	4	2	1	3	1	9	10	14	147	161

Observation Ward, H.M. Gaol, Darlinghurst.

The number of the patients in this ward, under the provisions of the Lunacy Act, on 31st December, 1881, was 8, and 57 were admitted during the year. Of the total number 44 were discharged as sane, 14 were sent to Hospital, and 7 remained at the close of the year. There were no deaths.

The ward continues to be most useful for the purpose of defeating malingering and detecting the exact mental condition of persons undergoing sentence. The warders in charge have become specially trained in their duty, and are a great assistance to the medical officer in dealing with the cases admitted. The ward has been used for the reception of doubtful cases under remand from the Police Courts; but the number of these has been much less than in former years, and would have been still fewer had the alteration in the Lunacy Law, allowing these cases to be sent to the Reception House, been fully known to the Magistrates during the earlier months of the year. At the present time no cases under remand are sent to the Observation Ward except such as are inadmissible to the Reception House—persons who are charged with some criminal offence, or have served a prior sentence in gaol. The latter belong, as a rule, to the class of habitual or gutter drunkards. The following return gives the statistics of the ward for the year:—

RETURN showing the number of persons received into the Observation Ward, H. M. Gaol, Darlinghurst, during the year 1882, the place whence received, and their disposal.

	Remaining on 31st December, 1881.			Received.			Discharged.												Remaining on 31st December, 1882.
	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	Of sound mind.			To Hospital for the Insane.			To Police Courts.			Died.			M.	F.	Total.
							M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
Admitted under the provisions of section 60 of the Lunacy Act.	H. M. Gaols:—
	Darlinghurst.....
	5	...	5	40	...	40	32	...	32	9	...	9	...	...	...	...	...	...	4	...	4
	Bathurst.....
	Goulburn.....
	1	...	1	1	...	1	1	1	2	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
	Parramatta.....
	1	...	1	2	...	2	...	...	2	2	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
	Berrima.....
	1	...	1	...	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Albury.....
	1	...	1	2	...	2	2	...	2	2	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Maitland.....
	...	...	...	2	...	2	2	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Gosford.....
...	...	...	2	...	2	2	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Dubbo.....
...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Ryde.....
...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Windsor.....
...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
West Kempsey.....
...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Eden.....
...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Armidale.....
...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
Country Lock-ups.....
...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Supreme Court, Sydney.....
...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Quarter Sessions.....
...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Police Courts under sentence.....
...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
..	..	on remand.....	5	...	5	157	22	179	12	1	13	3	...	3	143	19	162	1	...	1	4	1	5
Total.....
13	...	13	212	24	236	54	3	57	17	...	17	143	19	162	1	...	1	11	1	12

I inspected the ward on February 3rd, March 23rd, June 30th, August 8th, September 22nd, and November 8th, and on each occasion saw and spoke to every inmate, and gave all an opportunity of stating any grievances or complaints.

On two occasions I found patients in restraint by means of muffs, owing to self-inflicted injury, and in one case recommended their discontinuance—the patient having apparently passed out of the acutely suicidal stage. On June 30th one of the inmates, an epileptic, complained of rough treatment at the hands of his attendant, but I found that the man was subject to attacks of great irritability and violence, during which he was very difficult to manage, and I do not consider that the force used was more than necessary for the safety of the other inmates.

At all my visits the ward was in excellent order, and I have had repeated occasion to notice the excellent and intelligent way in which the registers and journal are kept by the warder in charge.

APPENDIX A.

The Medical Superintendent, Callan Park, to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, 26 February, 1883.

I do myself the honor to submit for your information a report upon the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, for the year 1882, together with the usual statistical tables.

The number of patients remaining in the Hospital on 31st December, 1881, was 140.

During the year 48 patients were admitted, 43 for the first time, 3 were re-admitted, and 2 were transferred from other Hospitals.

The total number under care was 188, and the average number resident 144.

The number discharged during the year was 26, of whom 20 had recovered, 6 were relieved, and 3 were transferred to other Hospitals.

The deaths during the year numbered 13.

The number remaining in the Hospital on 31st December, 1882, was 146.

On comparing the statistics of the year with those of 1881, it will be observed that the total number admitted was less by 5, the admissions for the first time being the same, viz., 43, while the re-admissions were only 3, as against 8 in 1881, forming 6.25 per cent. of the total number admitted. The number transferred from other Hospitals was the same in both years, viz., 2.

Of the cases re-admitted, two had been formerly discharged as recovered, and one at the request of friends as relieved. One only was discharged and re-admitted during the year.

The percentage of recoveries on the total number admitted was 41.6, while the number of those sufficiently restored to mental health as to be discharged to the care of their friends gives a percentage of 12.5 on the admissions and re-admissions. The proportion of deaths was higher in 1882 than in the previous year, the number being 13, or 9.2 per cent. as against 6.6 per cent. on the average number resident in each year. The causes of death are given in table 4, by which it will be seen that four died from old age, and that more than half the remainder were due to cerebral disease. The average age of those who died was fifty-six and a half years, the oldest being eighty-three and the youngest thirty-three. No case of accidental or sudden death occurred during the year.

During the year four patients were granted leave of absence for varying periods, two were discharged recovered at the expiry of their leave, one was returned to Hospital as unmanageable, but afterwards discharged to the care of his friends, and one merely went to the mountains for a week's holiday, being convalescent at the time and waiting for a ship to sail in which he had taken his passage to England.

On the whole the general health of the patients has been good, though early in the year diarrhoea attacked a considerable number of the patients and several attendants; the cause was obscure, but the disease yielded readily to treatment. No serious accident happened to any patient during the year.

The number of patients received direct from shipboard or after but a short residence in the Colony was not large this year, being only five, of whom two came to the Colony in search of health, and three were seamen. Two of the wards being enclosed by paling fences, which are easily scaled, attempts at escape and escapes for short periods have been somewhat numerous, but in no instance did a patient remain away permanently, nor were the attendants found to be seriously to blame.

The dormitories have been rendered more homely-looking and comfortable by having matting laid down the centre, and mosquito curtains have been supplied to two rooms, where better-class and convalescent patients sleep, adding greatly to their comfort.

In consequence of the great number of windows which were broken in single rooms by violent patients, it has been necessary to substitute wire netting in several, thereby lessening the danger of patients getting pieces of glass, and decreasing the cost of glazing. In these rooms the ventilation is good, and no rain enters, as the windows face the north.

A large number of patients have been usefully employed during the year, an average of over fifty having been daily occupied in the garden, wood-yard, laundry, kitchen, store, blacksmiths', carpenters', and tailors' shops, in addition to aiding in the daily work of the Hospital. Besides repairing and re-painting portions of the old building, all the fire-wood used in the institution has been felled and cut up, and a considerable addition has been made to both orchard and kitchen garden. A wide path has been formed along the centre of the avenue, at the southern boundary, which will provide a pleasant and shady walk when the trees have grown higher; and at the eastern boundary a portion of ground which had been fenced off with the view of forming an avenue has been cleared of scrub and planted with native ornamental trees, which in time will make a pretty screen to the fence and hide the small houses beyond.

The usual Sunday services have been regularly held by the Chaplains, and were largely attended by appreciative congregations. Through the kindness of Mrs. Madgwick, to whom we are indebted for playing the harmonium, the Church of England services have been rendered more pleasant and attractive by the addition of hymns.

The amusement of the patients has again occupied the attention and time of the officers, and as much as possible has been done to afford recreation and change; picnics have been organized, trips in the steam launch have been frequent, and cricket has been practised daily when the weather permitted during the season, while on Saturdays matches were played against kindred institutions or local clubs. Advantage was also taken of associated amusements at Gladesville, and throughout the winter, of the dances, which were always looked forward to with pleasure, and thoroughly enjoyed by a large number of the patients.

Thanks are again due to the Balmain Coldstream and Balmain Alliance Bands for many pleasant afternoon performances; also to the members of the Eureka Minstrels, the Balmoral Ethiopian Minstrels, the Lytton Amateur Dramatic Club, and other gentlemen who kindly gave their services at dramatic and other entertainments.

Acting on a verbal communication from you, buckets filled with water and long-handled mops are placed in each of the wards every night, with a view of checking fire at its outset should such a necessity arise.

Towards

Towards the end of the year the water supply, which had been precarious and intermittent for some time, quite failed, and on attempting to fall back on the reserve tank the water was found to be contaminated with sewage matter and quite unfit for use. Great inconvenience resulted for about two weeks, when the Hospital main was connected with the high level supply to Balmain via Petersham, and thanks are due to the City Engineer and his officers for the speed with which they pushed the work on. At the present date the supply is abundant, and the faulty drain-pipes which led to the contamination of the tank water have been taken up and relaid and the tank well scoured out. To Mr. Fraser our thanks are due for a peacock, and to Mrs. James Elliott, Mrs. James Norton, and the Balmain School of Arts, for parcels of illustrated and other papers; to Mr. Deemer for a 10-gallon cask of ale; also to the Secretaries of the General Post Office and the Public Free Library, for old newspapers, magazines, and periodicals.

A donation of £1 ls. was received from the friends of the late J.S., for amusements.

I have also to acknowledge the receipt of two parcels of illustrated papers and a number of substantially bound Graphics received anonymously.

There have been several but not material changes in the staff of attendants throughout the year. An important and much needed addition has been made by the appointment of an outdoor attendant, most of whose duties were formerly performed by the gardener, which besides taking up valuable time kept him from his special work, which is constantly increasing as fresh additions are made to the garden. As a whole the duties of the staff have been performed satisfactorily, and I have at all times been afforded willing and efficient aid.

I have, &c.,
H. BLAXLAND,
Medical Superintendent.

TABLE 1.

SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1882.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December, 1881 .....	140	.....	140
	<table border="1"> <thead> <tr> <th>Male.</th> <th>Female.</th> <th>Total.</th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>43</td> <td>.....</td> <td>43</td> </tr> <tr> <td>3</td> <td>.....</td> <td>3</td> </tr> <tr> <td>2</td> <td>.....</td> <td>2</td> </tr> </tbody> </table>			Male.	Female.	Total.	43	.....	43	3	.....	3	2	.....	2
Male.	Female.	Total.
43	.....	43
3	.....	3
2	.....	2
Admitted for the first time during the year .....
Re-admitted during the year .....
Transferred during the year .....
	48	.....	48
Total under care during the year .....	188	.....	188
Discharged or removed—	<table border="1"> <tbody> <tr> <td>Recovered .....</td> <td>20</td> <td>.....</td> <td>20</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Relieved .....</td> <td>6</td> <td>.....</td> <td>6</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Transferred .....</td> <td>3</td> <td>.....</td> <td>3</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Escaped (and not recaptured) .....</td> <td>.....</td> <td>.....</td> <td>.....</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Died .....</td> <td>13</td> <td>.....</td> <td>13</td> </tr> </tbody> </table>			Recovered .....	20	.....	20	Relieved .....	6	.....	6	Transferred .....	3	.....	3	Escaped (and not recaptured) .....	.....	.....	.....	Died .....	13	.....	13
Recovered .....	20	.....	20
Relieved .....	6	.....	6
Transferred .....	3	.....	3
Escaped (and not recaptured) .....	.....	.....	.....
Died .....	13	.....	13
Total discharged or died during the year .....	42	.....	42
Remaining .....	146	.....	146
Average number resident during the year .....	144	.....	144

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the Admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, with the mean Annual Mortality and the proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent., at the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the years 1879 to 1882 inclusive.

Year.	Admitted.		Transferred from other Hospitals, &c.	Discharged.			Transferred to other Hospitals, &c.	Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days.	Died.	Remaining in Hospital 31st December in each year.	Average number resident.	Percentage of recoveries on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of Patients relieved on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of Deaths on average numbers resident.
	Admitted for the first time.			Re-covered.	Re-admitted.							M. F.		M. F.		M. F.		M. F.		M. F.		M. F.
	M.	F.		Total.	M.	F.						Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.
1879	16	16	54	54	1	2	2	3	3	1	107	56	56	6.25	6.25	12.5	12.5	1.78	1.78
1880	52	52	2	5	18	2	2	5	5	12	129	120	120	33.33	33.33	3.70	3.70	10.00	10.00
1881	43	43	8	2	26	26	4	4	2	2	1	140	135	135	50.98	50.98	7.84	7.84	6.62	6.62
1882	43	43	3	2	220	20	6	6	3	3	13	146	144	144	43.47	43.47	13.04	13.04	9.02	9.02

TABLE 3.

SHOWING the Causes of Insanity, apparent or assigned, in the Admissions in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1882.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
MORAL :—
Domestic trouble (including loss of relatives and friends) .....	.....	.....	.....
Adverse circumstances (including business anxiety and pecuniary difficulties).....	1	.....	1
Mental anxiety and "worry" (not included under above two heads), and overwork .....	.....	.....	.....
Religious excitement .....	1	.....	1
Love affairs (including seduction).....	.....	.....	.....
Fright and nervous attack.....	.....	.....	.....
Isolation.....	.....	.....	.....
Nostalgia .....	.....	.....	.....
PHYSICAL :—
Intemperance in drink .....	3	.....	3
Do. (sexual).....	.....	.....	.....
Veneral disease .....	.....	.....	.....
Self-abuse (sexual) .....	4	.....	4
Sunstroke .....	3	.....	3
Accident or injury .....	.....	.....	.....
Pregnancy .....	.....	.....	.....
Parturition and the puerperal state.....	.....	.....	.....
Lactation .....	.....	.....	.....
Uterine and ovarian disorders .....	.....	.....	.....
Puberty .....	.....	.....	.....
Change of life .....	.....	.....	.....
Fevers.....	1	.....	1
Privation and overwork .....	1	.....	1
Phthisis .....	1	.....	1
Epilepsy.....	1	.....	1
Disease of skull and brain.....	.....	.....	.....
Other bodily diseases and disorders and chronic ill-health.....	1	.....	1
Excess of opium .....	.....	.....	.....
PREVIOUS ATTACKS .....	.....	.....	.....
HEREDITARY INFLUENCE ASCERTAINED .....	5	.....	5
CONGENITAL DEFECT ASCERTAINED .....	.....	.....	.....
OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES.....	.....	.....	.....
UNKNOWN .....	22	.....	22
OLD AGE.....	2	.....	2
Total .....	46	.....	46

TABLE 4.

SHOWING the Causes of Death in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1882.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
CEREBRAL DISEASE :—
Apoplexy and paralysis .....	.....	.....	.....
Epilepsy and convulsions .....	3	.....	3
General paralysis .....	1	.....	1
Maniacal and melancholic exhaustion and decay .....	1	.....	1
Inflammation and other diseases of the brain, softening, tumour, &c. ....	.....	.....	.....
THORACIC DISEASE :—
Inflammation of lungs, pleura, and bronchi .....	.....	.....	.....
Pulmonary consumption .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of heart and blood-vessels .....	1	.....	1
ABDOMINAL DISEASE :—
Inflammation and ulceration of stomach, intestines, and peritoneum .....	1	.....	1
Dysentery and diarrhœa .....	2	.....	2
Albuminuria .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of bladder and prostate .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of liver.....	.....	.....	.....
ERYSIPELAS .....	.....	.....	.....
TYPHOID FEVER .....	.....	.....	.....
GENERAL DEBILITY AND OLD AGE.....	2	.....	2
OLD AGE AND DIARRHŒA.....	2	.....	2
ACCIDENT .....	.....	.....	.....
SUICIDE .....	.....	.....	.....
Total .....	13	.....	13

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF THE INSANE.

(REPORT FOR 1883.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 42 Vic. No. 7, sec. 73.

The Inspector-General of the Insane to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Lunacy Department, Inspector-General's Office, Gladesville, 4 April, 1884.

I do myself the honor to submit, for your information, in accordance with the 73rd section of the Lunacy Act of 1878, a Report on the state and condition of the Hospitals and other Institutions in this Department for the year ending December 31st, 1883.

And have, &amp;c.,

F. NORTON MANNING,
Inspector-General.

THE number of insane persons in this Colony on December 31st, 1882, was 2,307, and the number on the same date in 1883, 2,403; so that the increase during twelve months was 96—44 males, and 52 females. The distribution of the insane on December 31st was as follows:—

	Number on register.			Absent on leave.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville ... ..	478	323	801	7	17	24
Do Parramatta (Free and Convict) ... ..	595	349	944	1	2	3
Do do (Criminal) ... ..	50	6	56	...	...	...
Do Callan Park ... ..	150	...	150	4	...	4
Do Newcastle ... ..	134	112	246	2	...	2
Do Cooma ... ..	60	...	60	1	...	1
Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River... ..	7	139	146	2	6	8
	1,474	929	2,403	17	25	42

There was an increase of 147 patients at Parramatta (Free), 5 at Parramatta (Criminal), 4 at Callan Park, 7 at Newcastle, and 2 at Cook's River. The number at Cooma remained the same, and the number at Gladesville decreased by 69. The decrease at Gladesville was occasioned by the transfer of patients to the new wards for women opened during the year at Parramatta. These wards served to accommodate the larger part of the increase for the year, as well as to relieve to some extent the overcrowding which existed existed in the wards at Gladesville at the close of the year 1882. The increase of 96 insane persons during a year seems at first sight a very large one; but it is only slightly in excess of the average increase for the last ten years, and it must be mentioned that the increase in the general population of the Colony during the year 1883 was 51,842, so that the rate of increase in the insane in proportion to the general population was somewhat less than usual.

[1,250 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £62 1s. 6d.]

The following tables are of considerable interest. The first shows the number of insane persons, the population of New South Wales, and the proportion of insane to population both in this Colony and in England for the past twenty years; and the second shows the ratio of admissions into Institutions for the Insane to the population of the Colony for the same period:—

Year.	Population of New South Wales.	Total Number of Insane in New South Wales on 31 Dec.	Proportion of Insane to Population in New South Wales.	Proportion of Insane to Population in England.
			Per M.	Per M.
1864	392,589	984	1 in 399 or 2·50	1 in 457 or 2·19
1865	411,388	1,037	1 in 395 or 2·52	1 in 445 or 2·24
1866	431,412	1,114	1 in 387 or 2·58	1 in 436 or 2·29
1867	447,620	1,155	1 in 387 or 2·58	1 in 424 or 2·35
1868	466,765	1,230	1 in 379 or 2·63	1 in 411 or 2·43
1869	485,356	1,226	1 in 395 or 2·53	1 in 403 or 2·48
1870	502,861	1,289	1 in 389 or 2·57	1 in 400 or 2·50
1871	519,182	1,387	1 in 374 or 2·67	1 in 394 or 2·53
1872	539,190	1,440	1 in 374 or 2·67	1 in 387 or 2·58
1873	560,275	1,526	1 in 367 or 2·72	1 in 381 or 2·62
1874	584,278	1,588	1 in 367 or 2·72	1 in 375 or 2·66
1875	606,652	1,697	1 in 357 or 2·80	1 in 373 or 2·68
1876	629,776	1,740	1 in 361 or 2·77	1 in 368 or 2·71
1877	662,212	1,829	1 in 362 or 2·76	1 in 363 or 2·75
1878	693,743	1,916	1 in 362 or 2·76	1 in 360 or 2·77
1879	734,282	2,011	1 in 365 or 2·74	1 in 363 or 2·75
1880	770,524	2,099	1 in 367 or 2·72	1 in 353 or 2·83
1881	781,265	2,218	1 in 352 or 2·84	1 in 352 or 2·84
1882	817,468	2,307	1 in 354 or 2·82	1 in 348 or 2·87
1883	869,310	2,403	1 in 361 or 2·77

Year	Admissions.	Population.	Proportion to Population.
1864	199	392,589	1 in 1,973
1865	182	411,388	1 in 2,260
1866	196	431,412	1 in 2,201
1867	181	447,620	1 in 2,473
1868	223	466,765	1 in 2,093
1869	265	485,356	1 in 1,831
1870	253	502,861	1 in 1,987
1871	340	519,182	1 in 1,527
1872	303	539,190	1 in 1,779
1873	342	560,275	1 in 1,638
1874	330	584,278	1 in 1,770
1875	356	606,652	1 in 1,704
1876	360	629,776	1 in 1,749
1877	457	662,212	1 in 1,449
1878	424	693,743	1 in 1,636
1879	440	734,282	1 in 1,668
1880	476	770,524	1 in 1,618
1881	494	781,265	1 in 1,581
1882	473	817,468	1 in 1,728
1883	476	869,310	1 in 1,826

From these returns it will be seen that though during the first ten years, from 1864 to 1873, there was a considerable increase in the proportion of insane persons under care, and in the number admitted, there has been little or no increase during the last ten years either in the accumulated cases or in the admissions or "occurring cases" in proportion to the general population; that the "burden," as it is fitly called, of insanity is at a standstill, and is now somewhat less in this Colony than in the Mother Country—the proportion of insane to population being in 1883—1 to 361, or 2·77 per thousand in New South Wales, and 1 in 348 or 2·87 per thousand in England.

The following tables show the number of admissions, discharges, and deaths, the proportion of recoveries, the rate of mortality, the causes and forms of insanity in those admitted, the causes of death, the length of residence in those recovered and those who died, as well as the ages, conditions as to marriage, religious profession, and native countries of those admitted and under care in all the Institutions for the Insane during the year 1883.

A table showing the form of mental disorder in the admissions, recoveries, and deaths during the year, and in the inmates on December 31st, is given for the first time.

TABLE 1.

SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1883.

				Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December, 1882 .....				1,430	877	2,307
				Male.	Female.	Total.
Admitted for the first time during the year .....				272	161	433
Re-admitted during the year .....				21	22	43
Transferred during the year .....				29	145	174
				322	328	650
Total under care during the year .....				1,752	1,205	2,957
Discharged or removed—
Recovered .....				119	75	194
Relieved .....				19	11	30
Transferred .....				29	145	174
Escaped (and not recaptured) .....				.....	.....	.....
Died .....				111	45	156
Total discharged or died during the year .....				278	276	554
Remaining .....				1,474	929	2,403
Average number resident during the year .....				1,443	904	2,347
* Persons under care during the year † .....				1,746	1,203	2,949
* Persons admitted .....				289	180	469
* Persons recovered .....				118	75	193

* Persons, i.e., separate persons, in contradistinction to "cases" which may include the same individual more than once.
 † Total cases, minus re-admission of patients discharged during the current year.

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, with the Mean Annual Mortality, and the proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent., in the Hospitals for the Insane, for the years 1876 to 1883 inclusive, and including the Licensed House from the year 1882.

Year.	Admitted.		Transferred from other Hospitals, &c.	Discharged.		Transferred to other Hospitals, &c.	Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days.	Died.	Remain- ing in Hospital, 31st December in each year	Average number resident.	Percentage of Recoveries on Admissions and Re-admissions.			Percentage of Patients re- lieved on Admissions and Re-admissions.			Percentage of Deaths on average numbers resident.
	Admitted for the first time.	Re-ad- mitted.		Recovered	Re- lieved.						M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
	M.	F.	M.	F.	M.	F.	M.	F.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
1876	182	111	293	33	27	60	101	12	113	38	70	158	17	19	36	100	45	145	.....	.....	78	29	107	1072	533	1605	1052	536	1588	40	90	50	72	44	75	7	90	13	76	10	19	7	41	5	41	6	73
1877	262	100	362	62	24	86	133	14	147	137	64	201	17	18	35	130	21	151	.....	.....	97	20	117	1147	548	1695	1130	529	1659	42	23	51	61	44	36	4	97	14	51	7	81	8	58	3	78	7	05
1878	212	126	338	40	38	78	112	36	148	108	46	154	17	20	37	113	45	158	.....	.....	99	28	127	1174	669	1783	1175	579	1754	42	85	28	05	37	01	6	75	12	19	8	69	8	42	4	83	7	24
1879	241	128	369	40	26	66	98	12	110	112	58	170	21	28	49	97	17	114	.....	.....	91	26	117	1232	646	1878	1188	620	1808	39	86	37	66	39	08	7	47	18	18	11	26	7	66	4	19	7	10
1880	267	145	412	28	30	58	42	24	66	133	63	196	21	19	40	40	35	75	3	3	96	40	136	1276	688	1964	1249	665	1914	45	08	36	00	41	70	7	11	10	85	8	51	7	68	6	01	7	10
1881	284	134	418	35	27	62	31	9	40	133	73	206	16	14	30	34	19	53	5	5	84	26	110	1354	726	2080	1314	700	2014	41	69	45	34	42	91	5	01	8	69	6	25	6	39	3	71	5	46
1882	236	142	428	20	25	45	38	14	52	118	84	202	22	16	38	38	14	52	3	3	93	48	141	1430	877	2307	1392	854	2246	38	56	50	29	42	70	7	18	9	58	8	03	6	68	5	62	6	27
1883	272	161	433	21	22	43	29	145	174	119	75	194	19	11	30	29	145	174	.....	.....	111	45	156	1474	929	2403	1443	904	2347	40	61	40	98	40	75	6	48	6	01	6	30	7	69	4	98	6	84

TABLE 3.
SHOWING the Causes of Insanity, apparent or assigned, in the Admissions and Re-admissions in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
MORAL—
Domestic trouble (including loss of relatives and friends) .....	2	9	11
Adverse circumstances (including business anxiety and pecuniary difficulties) .....	13	4	17
Mental anxiety and "worry" (not included under above two heads), and overwork ...	16	9	25
Religious excitement.....	10	6	16
Love affairs (including seduction) .....	2	2	4
Fright and nervous attack .....	.....	2	2
Isolation .....	4	3	7
Nostalgia.....	1	.....	1
PHYSICAL—
Intemperance in drink .....	46	18	64
Do (sexual) .....	.....	.....	.....
Venereal disease.....	.....	.....	.....
Self-abuse (sexual) .....	9	.....	9
Sunstroke .....	7	1	8
Accident or injury.....	13	1	14
Pregnancy .....	.....	1	1
Parturition and the puerperal state .....	.....	11	11
Lactation .....	.....	.....	.....
Uterine and Ovarian disorders .....	.....	3	3
Puberty .....	.....	.....	.....
Change of life.....	.....	3	3
Fevers.....	3	3	6
Privation and overwork .....	2	1	3
Phthisis .....	.....	.....	.....
Epilepsy .....	10	10	20
Disease of skull and brain.....	16	4	20
Other bodily diseases and disorders and chronic ill-health.....	5	2	7
Excess of opium.....	.....	.....	.....
PREVIOUS ATTACKS .....	2	1	3
HEREDITARY INFLUENCE ASCERTAINED .....	5	5	10
CONGENITAL DEFECT ASCERTAINED .....	17	10	27
OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES .....	8	3	11
UNKNOWN .....	102	71	173
Total .....	293	183	476

TABLE 4.
SHOWING the Causes of Death in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
CEREBRAL DISEASE—
Apoplexy and paralysis .....	5	5	10
Epilepsy and Convulsions .....	8	2	10
General paralysis .....	15	4	19
Maniacal and melancholic exhaustion and decay .....	12	10	22
Inflammation and other diseases of the brain, softening tumour, &c. ....	14	2	16
THORACIC DISEASE—
Inflammation of lungs, pleura, and bronchi .....	5	3	8
Pulmonary consumption .....	9	6	15
Disease of heart and blood vessels .....	5	.....	5
ABDOMINAL DISEASE—
Inflammation and ulceration of stomach, intestines, and peritoneum .....	6	4	10
Dysentery and diarrhoea .....	10	.....	10
Albuminuria .....	1	.....	1
Disease of bladder and prostate.....	1	.....	1
Disease of liver .....	1	.....	1
Cancer of peritoneum .....	.....	2	2
ACUTE ECZEMA WITH ACUTE MANIA .....	.....	1	1
ERYSIPELAS .....	2	1	3
TYPHOID FEVER .....	.....	2	2
GENERAL DEBILITY AND OLD AGE .....	16	2	18
GANGRENE OF FEET .....	.....	1	1
ACCIDENT .....	.....	.....	.....
SUICIDE .....	1	.....	1
Total .....	111	45	156

TABLE 5.

SHOWING the length of Residence in those Discharged Recovered and in those who have Died in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane during the year 1883.

	Recovered.			Died.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Under 1 month .....	10	3	13	6	6	12
From 1 to 3 months .....	40	18	58	10	7	17
„ 3 to 6 months .....	31	15	46	10	5	15
„ 6 to 9 months .....	12	8	20	9	6	15
„ 9 to 12 months .....	5	7	12	7	.....	7
„ 1 to 2 years .....	8	10	18	16	5	21
„ 2 to 3 years .....	3	6	9	11	2	13
„ 3 to 5 years .....	5	3	8	14	3	17
„ 5 to 7 years .....	3	4	7	11	2	13
„ 7 to 10 years .....	.....	.....	.....	2	1	3
„ 10 to 12 years .....	1	.....	1	6	2	8
„ 12 to 15 years .....	1	.....	1	6	3	9
Over 15 years.....	.....	1	1	3	3	6
Total.....	119	75	194	111	45	156

TABLE 6.

SHOWING the Ages of the Admissions and Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, and also the Ages of all Patients under care during the Year 1883, in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane.

	Admitted and Re-admitted.			Recovered.			Removed, Relieved, &c.			Died.			Patients under care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
1 to 5 years .....	2	1	3	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	6	2	8
5 to 10 years .....	7	.....	7	.....	.....	.....	2	.....	2	2	.....	2	21	12	33
10 to 15 years .....	9	5	14	2	.....	2	2	3	5	2	.....	2	35	19	54
15 to 20 years .....	10	15	25	7	5	12	3	6	9	2	1	3	55	49	104
20 to 30 years .....	67	59	126	28	26	54	10	25	35	11	9	20	290	181	471
30 to 40 years .....	67	45	112	37	19	56	7	42	49	20	7	27	389	299	688
40 to 50 years .....	68	33	101	24	12	36	12	35	47	31	13	44	469	297	766
50 to 60 years .....	30	13	43	15	9	24	6	24	30	14	5	19	267	181	448
60 to 70 years .....	22	6	28	5	2	7	.....	10	10	15	7	22	151	117	268
70 to 80 years .....	8	6	14	.....	.....	.....	3	9	12	11	3	14	59	37	96
80 to 90 years .....	3	.....	3	1	2	3	2	2	4	3	.....	3	10	11	21
90 and upwards .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Total.....	293	183	476	119	75	194	48	156	204	111	45	156	1,752	1,205	2,957

TABLE 7.

SHOWING conditions as to Marriage in those admitted and re-admitted and those under care in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane during the year 1883.

	Admissions and Re-admissions.			Under care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Single .....	181	73	254	1,075	417	1,492
Married .....	78	87	165	345	520	865
Widowed .....	22	22	44	79	142	221
Unascertained .....	12	1	13	253	126	379
Total.....	293	183	476	1,752	1,205	2,957

TABLE 8.

SHOWING the Religious Profession of those admitted and re-admitted and those under care in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane during the year 1883.

Religious Profession.	Admissions and Re-admissions.			Under care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Protestant—
Church of England .....	97	71	168	744	468	1,212
Presbyterian .....	22	10	32	89	58	147
Wesleyan .....	8	9	17	49	32	81
Lutheran .....	9	3	12	47	6	53
Other Protestant Denominations .....	28	25	53	54	50	104
Roman Catholic .....	112	62	174	617	555	1,172
Pagan .....	7	.....	7	65	.....	65
Hobrew .....	3	1	4	14	5	19
Mahomedan .....	2	.....	2	6	2	8
Unascertained .....	5	2	7	67	29	96
Total.....	293	183	476	1,752	1,205	2,957

TABLE 9.

SHOWING the Native Countries of those Admitted and Re-admitted, and those under care in the Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane, during the year 1883.

	Admitted and Re-admitted during 1883.			Under care during 1883.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
British Colonies { New South Wales .....	65	75	140	432	350	782
Other Colonies .....	12	8	20	31	23	54
Great Britain... { England .....	86	43	129	480	251	731
Scotland .....	14	7	21	90	57	147
Ireland .....	67	45	112	444	463	907
France .....	1	...	1	13	4	17
Germany .....	15	...	15	54	15	69
China .....	6	...	6	67	...	67
Other Countries .....	27	5	32	141	42	183
Total .....	293	183	476	1,752	1,205	2,957

TABLE 10.

SHOWING the form of Mental Disorder in the Admissions, Recoveries, and Deaths of the year 1883, and of Inmates in Hospitals and Licensed House for the Insane on 31st December, 1883.

Form of Mental Disorder.	Admissions.			Recoveries.			Deaths.			Remaining in Hospital.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
CONGENITAL OR INFANTILE MENTAL DEFICIENCY:—
Do (a) with Epilepsy .....	5	4	9	...	...	...	3	1	4	43	32	75
Do (b) without Epilepsy .....	19	9	28	3	...	3	6	4	10	148	100	248
Epileptic insanity .....	8	10	18	...	3	3	3	3	6	74	29	103
General paralysis of the insane .....	16	3	19	1	...	1	18	2	20	29	6	35
MANIA:—
Sub-acute and simple .....	9	8	17	9	8	17	3	4	7	11	12	23
Acute .....	18	21	39	16	8	24	11	4	15	45	21	66
Chronic .....	1	...	1	2	...	2	2	3	5	140	146	286
Recurrent .....	6	3	9	2	1	3	1	...	1	64	24	88
Delusional .....	68	27	95	32	4	36	12	3	15	361	188	549
A Potu .....	12	6	18	8	6	14	...	...	...	9	4	13
Puerperal .....	...	5	5	...	5	5	...	2	2	...	20	20
Senile .....	...	2	2	...	1	1	...	1	1	5	5	10
MELANCHOLIA:—
Simple .....	7	8	15	5	5	10	1	...	1	9	13	22
Acute .....	9	6	15	8	6	14	2	...	2	12	10	22
Chronic .....	2	2	4	...	...	...	1	...	1	37	41	78
Recurrent .....	2	2	4	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	4	7
Delusional .....	43	39	87	17	18	35	14	6	20	214	125	339
Puerperal .....	...	5	5	...	4	4	...	...	...	...	8	8
Senile .....	4	...	4	15	14	19	...	...	...	7	9	16
DEMENTIA:—
Primary .....	31	14	45	...	...	...	10	6	16	145	66	211
Secondary .....	5	2	7	...	...	...	2	2	4	21	17	38
Senile .....	17	7	24	1	2	3	13	3	16	63	42	105
Organic (i.e., from Tumours, coarse brain disease, &c.)	6	...	6	...	...	...	9	1	10	34	7	41

Admissions.

The number of patients admitted for the first time was 433—272 males and 161 females, and the number re-admitted, having been at some former period under care, was 43—21 males and 22 females; the numbers together making a total of 476. The admissions were 5 more, and the re-admissions 3 less, than during the year 1882.

The medical certificates on which all patients are admitted to Institutions for the Insane have, as in former years, passed through my hands, and as a rule have been correct in form, and satisfactory as regards the evidence of insanity contained in them. In six instances I considered they did not comply with the requirements of the statute, and in five of these amendments were made at my request by the medical practitioners signing them, and approved by the Colonial Secretary under the 13th section of the Lunacy Act. In the remaining instance, as the medical practitioner, when appealed to, declined to alter his certificate, I directed the Superintendent of the Institution into which he had been admitted to obtain a certificate from another medical practitioner. The refusal to amend the certificate was in the instance referred to couched in uncourteous, not to say impertinent, terms, and was in marked contrast to the courtesy and consideration which have characterized the necessary correspondence of medical practitioners with this Department during the past and preceding years.

The question of the deportation of British subjects who become insane in New Caledonia to this Colony, which has formed the subject of correspondence for a long period, has during the year been satisfactorily settled. The Colonial Secretary, in a minute bearing date 17/2/83, set forth the whole matter for the consideration of the Home authorities, and after a lengthy correspondence M. Jules Ferry, on behalf of the French Government, under date 9/11/83, agreed to retain and provide for the insane persons persons of British nationality who became insane in New Caledonia, in the same way as has been done for years past by the Government of New South Wales in regard to persons of French nationality who are thrown on their hands.

The question of the admission to the Institutions for the Insane in this Colony of persons arriving in a condition of insanity from Great Britain, the neighbouring Colonies, or the South Sea Islands, remains for consideration. In several of the neighbouring Colonies there are special enactments to prevent the landing of these persons except under an undertaking to pay for their maintenance; and while such is the law elsewhere, and New South Wales receives these persons without question or hindrance, they are certain to be sent to this Colony.

In 1883, as in former years, the insane population of the Colony was materially increased by the admission of persons who were insane on their arrival by sea, and were in some instances, there is reason to believe, insane when they were placed on board ship.

Discharge of the Recovered.

The number discharged recovered during the year was 194—119 males and 75 females, and calculated on the admissions and re-admissions, gives a percentage of 40·75 per cent.

In addition to these recoveries, 19 patients admitted under certificate, and 201 under remand, were discharged from the Reception House during the year as recovered and fit to be at large.

The percentage of recoveries varied somewhat in the different Institutions. At Gladesville it was 44·66; Parramatta (Free), 44·57; and Callan Park, 37·50; giving an average for the three hospitals into which ordinary acute cases are admitted of 42·24.

In Parramatta Criminal it was 16·66, and at the Licensed House, Cook's River, 41·17 per cent. There were no recoveries at Newcastle or Cooma during the year.

Discharge of the Unrecovered and Boarding Out.

During the year 30 patients have been discharged as relieved, to the care of friends, under the 88th section of the Lunacy Act, the friends undertaking that they shall be properly taken care of, and having made satisfactory arrangements accordingly. These patients have, as a rule, been greatly benefited by hospital treatment, and some have recovered so far as is possible, their ordinary condition being one of brain enfeeblement, either existing from birth, or resulting from disease or decay. In some instances patients discharged as relieved are possessed of means; in others, they are able immediately on leaving the hospital to earn a livelihood under favourable circumstances, with slight help and supervision, and, in a certain proportion of cases, the mental improvement continues after discharge until all sign of mental weakness or disease has passed away, and the patients become virtually sane and able to earn their own living without help, restriction, or guidance. A certain proportion of the cases are at the time of discharge, and continue to be, a burden and cost to their friends; and there can be no doubt but that a large number of persons, even in the lower walks of life, are, owing to the liberal rates of wages, and other causes more or less peculiar to the Colony, able to bear this burden without assistance. Under these circumstances it has not been deemed advisable, except in special cases, to grant an allowance to relatives and friends for the maintenance of patients so discharged, but the provisions of the Lunacy Act have been kept in view, and an allowance for or towards maintenance has been granted to relatives on the discharge of two unrecovered patients during the year. It has not yet been found practicable to take any steps towards "boarding out" patients, or placing them with strangers paid for their maintenance. On the one hand, whilst men and women can obtain the wages now given for all kinds of labour in this Colony they are not likely, except under most exceptional circumstances, to be willing to take charge of lunatics except at a cost far beyond the present maintenance rate in hospitals. On the other, the absence of suitable homes, and of village life, the isolated dwellings, and sparse population, the dangers and difficulties of "bush" life, and the impossibility of effective medical or parochial supervision, all stand in the way of any present adoption of the system except in very occasional and special cases.

Transfers.

The number of patients transferred from one Institution to another during 1883 was 174. The transfers were authorized in every instance by the Colonial Secretary, under the 80th section of the Lunacy Act; and the main reasons for the change were to relieve overcrowding at Gladesville, to fill vacancies caused by death among the Government patients at Cook's River, and to afford a change of air or scene in cases where these seemed likely to effect a change in the general or mental health. In 14 cases the transfers were made from the wards of the hospital for the criminal insane to the wards of the general hospital, on expiry of sentence or change of status. The following return shows the transfers during the year:—

Transferred from.	Transferred to.
	Gladesville.		Parramatta (free).		Callan Park.		Newcastle.		Cooma.		Cook's River.
	M.	F.	M.	F.	M.	F.	M.	F.	M.	F.	M.	F.
Gladesville .....	...	...	2	133	2	...	6	3	...	...	1	4
Parramatta { (Free) .....	1	2	...	...	-1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
{ (Criminal) .....	...	...	11	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Callan Park .....	2	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Newcastle .....	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Cook's River .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...

Escapes.

The number of escapes during the year was 31. In 7 cases the patients were brought back within an hour, in 17 within 24 hours, in 4 within 7 days, and in 2 within 14 days.

In the remaining case the patient was convalescing when he ran away, and when heard of through the police, at the end of twenty-one days, he had so far recovered that his name was struck off the books of the hospital.

The

The following statement shows the number of Escapes during the last 2 years :—

Year.	Number of escapes.	Brought back.	Not brought back.
1882 .....	30	27	3
1883 .....	31	30	1

Deaths.

The deaths numbered 156, and the death rate again is much below that in Asylums in Great Britain, being 6·64 per cent. as against an average rate of nearly 8 in Scottish and over 9 in English Asylums.

The mortality has varied greatly at the different Hospitals: at Callan Park it was 9·45 per cent.; at Gladesville, 9·11 per cent.; at Newcastle, 7·02; at Parramatta (Free), 4·76; and at Cooma, 3·39. There were no deaths at Parramatta (Criminal). At Cook's River the death rate was 5·51. The highest death rates occur, as might be expected, in those institutions which receive a large percentage of acute cases, insanity being much more fatal in its acute than in its chronic stages.

The causes of death are set forth in Table 4.

Disease of the brain is shown, as in former years, to be the most frequent cause. No less than 77 deaths are attributed to this in its varied forms, 28 to thoracic disease (15 of these being from pulmonary consumption), 25 to abdominal disease, 18 to general debility and old age, 3 to erysipelas, 2 to typhoid fever, 1 to acute eczema, 1 to gangrene, and 1 to suicide.

Leave of Absence.

The number of patients to whom leave of absence has been granted under the provisions of the Lunacy Act has slowly increased. In 1879 it was 2, in 1880, 7, in 1881, 29, in 1882, 50, and in 1883, 67, and the system has worked most satisfactorily and well. The leave has been granted in some cases as a preliminary to discharge, and in others with the view of enabling patients suffering from chronic forms of insanity to spend short periods with their friends. No accident or trouble has occurred during the past year, and I am of opinion that the more frequent use of probationary removal would lead to a larger number of permanent discharges than take place at present. The numbers removed on probation from each establishment are shown in the following return :—

Institution.	Remaining on leave, 31st Dec., 1882.			Granted leave, 1883.			Discharged Recovered.			Returned to Hospital.			Died whilst on leave.			Remaining on leave 31st Dec., 1883.
	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total
Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville	4	12	16	15	30	45	3	11	14	9	14	23	...	...	...	7	17	24
Do. Parramatta	1	1	2	2	4	6	1	...	1	1	2	3	...	1	1	1	2	3
Do. Callan Park	...	...	...	5	...	5	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	4	...	4
Do. Newcastle	2	...	2	2	...	2	...	...	...	2	...	2	...	...	...	2	...	2
Do. Cooma	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
Licensed House, Cook's River	...	1	1	2	6	8	...	1*	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	6	8
Total .....	7	14	21	27	40	67	4	12	16	13	16	29	...	1	1	17	25	42

* Discharged relieved.

Total number under care.

The total number under care and treatment during the year was 2,957—1,752 males and 1,205 females; an increase of 214 on the number under care during the year 1882. The daily average number under care was 2,347, or 102 in excess of the average for the preceding year.

Number remaining at close of the year.

The number of patients on the registers of the Hospitals at the close of the year was 2,257—1,467 males and 790 females; and on the register of the Licensed House, 146—7 males and 139 females. The accommodation at the same date in the Hospitals was for 2,025 patients—1,361 males and 664 females; so that there were 232 patients in excess of the number for whom there was room.

The following short return shows the number at each Hospital and the number for whom there is room :—

Name of Institution.	Number for whom there is room.			Number on Hospital Register.			Number in excess of accommodation.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Gladesville .....	423	244	667	478	323	801	55	79	134
Parramatta .....	630	350	980	645	355	1,000	15	5	20
Callan Park .....	141	.....	141	150	.....	150	9	.....	9
Newcastle .....	111	70	181	134	112	246	23	42	65
Cooma .....	56	.....	56	60	.....	60	4	.....	4
Total .....	1,361	664	2,025	1,467	790	2,257	106	126	232

From this it will be seen that all the Hospitals are overfull, but that the overcrowding is greater at Gladesville and Newcastle.

The

The new Hospital at Callan Park, which, according to the contract time, should have been completed in June, 1883, will it is hoped be ready for occupation at the close of the present year. With 232 patients over the proper number in the wards of the existing Hospitals; 60 at Cooma, in buildings borrowed from another Department; 150 at Callan Park, in the old house and other buildings, which should be removed as soon as possible; 125 boarded out at Cook's River; and (with the experience of former years) a certain increase of not less than 90 patients for the year 1884, there will be a total of 657 patients awaiting admission on the completion of the new Hospital, and it is evident that some steps must at once be taken to provide additional accommodation.

I have already recommended the commencement of a new Hospital on the estate purchased for this purpose at Kenmore, near Goulburn; and it will, I think, be advisable to hand over to the Lunacy Department in the meantime some of the buildings now occupied as Orphan Schools, and which I understand are likely to be vacated on the extension of the boarding-out system. The buildings and grounds at the Protestant Orphan School would serve admirably for the imbecile children now at Newcastle, who have not sufficient space for out-door exercise and occupation at present; and the Institution at Newcastle might be set apart for aged, demented, and quiet epileptic patients.

There is now an accumulation of at least 400 patients of this class in the Hospitals. They are harmless, require comparatively little care and attention, and as far as their mental condition is concerned are absolutely beyond cure or alleviation. In Great Britain cases of this kind are maintained in Poor-houses or in separate Institutions in which the attendants are fewer in number, the medical supervision less constant, and the dietary less liberal than in Institutions for acute cases of insanity; in which, in fact, the whole arrangements are made to assimilate much more to the Poor-house than the Hospital, with the result that there is a very considerable saving in the expense of maintenance.

A special Institution has been set apart for cases of this kind at Sunbury, in Victoria, with the result that the maintenance rate therein during the year 1882 was only two-thirds of that in the Hospitals at Kew and Yarra Bend; and I have no doubt but that a similar Institution in this Colony would effect an important saving.

Accidents.

The accidents have not been more numerous than usual, and only one was fatal. In this case a patient in Gladesville committed suicide by cutting his throat with a piece of glass bottle. An inquiry was held by the Coroner, at which I was present, and a full report of the circumstance, was made to you. It did not appear that blame attached to any member of the staff.

In five cases the accident involved fracture of bones. The arm twice, the neck of the thigh, the collar-bone, and a small bone of the hand. In two cases these were occasioned by falls, and in two others the patients were pushed down by fellow-patients. In the fifth case the fracture was sustained during a quarrel. In one case the shoulder was dislocated during a struggle with a fellow-patient, but in this case it appeared on inquiry that the bone had been out on several previous occasions, and was dislocated and returned with ease. The remaining accidents were two cases of wounds—one on the thigh caused by climbing and falling on a sharp paling; and the other a self-inflicted wound of the throat, made with suicidal intent. In the majority of the cases I did not think a special inquiry necessary, the report, by the Medical Superintendents being full and explanatory. Six cases of sudden death occurred, three at Gladesville and three at Parramatta. In all but one of these inquiries were held by the Coroner, and verdicts returned in accordance with the medical evidence without comment or recommendation.

Changes among Attendants.

The changes among attendants and servants were 43, and among nurses 15, and of the total number of persons who left the service of the Department 38 were men and 20 women. According to the returns furnished to me the causes of leaving or dismissal during the year were as follows:—Left voluntarily or on account of ill-health, 41; dismissed for breaches of discipline, 6; for incompetence, 4; for ill-treating patients, 3; for drunkenness, 3; and for dishonesty, 1. The changes have been less numerous than during the year 1882.

The following return shows the changes at each Institution.

Institution.	Dismissed.	Resigned or absconded.	Total.
Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville.....	0	13	22
Do. Parramatta.....	3	11	14
Do. Callan Park.....	1	2	3
Do. Newcastle.....	.....	3	3
Temporary Hospital for the Insane, Cooma.....	.....	.....	.....
Reception House for the Insane.....	1	.....	1
Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River.....	3	12	15
	17	41	58

Two attendants died during the year—one, who reckoned only a few months' service, from typhoid fever; and the other, who had been in the Department for nearly eighteen years, from a lingering and painful illness. The latter held for some years the responsible position of senior attendant in charge of the criminal division of the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta, and by his firmness and decision of character, combined with tact and uniform kindness, he managed the troublesome and dangerous class of patients under his charge in the most satisfactory manner. His death was a severe loss to the Department in which he had so long and ably served.

Restraint.

In this and prior reports mention of restraint has been used, and I think it advisable to show what is meant by this, and the manner and extent in which it is used in the institutions in this Colony.

The authorized means of restraint are the camisole, or jacket, made of canvas or ticken, with sleeves sewn into the pockets; the straight jacket, with long sleeves, also made of canvas or ticken; muffs, muffs, made of canvas or leather, for confining the hands; and gloves, made of leather or canvas, for preventing the use of the fingers. It is a standing rule at all the Institutions that these appliances are to be used only by the direct order of one of the Medical Officers, and in Institutions without a Resident Medical Officer, of the Superintendent, with the subsequent sanction of the Visiting Medical Officer; and it is distinctly understood that they are, when not in use, to be kept under lock and key by one of the officers, and not accessible to the attendants and nurses. In every instance in which restraint is employed the name of the patient, the reasons for restraint, the means employed, and the period for which the treatment is continued, are entered in the Medical Journal.

It has not been deemed advisable to lay down any hard-and-fast rule as to the cases in which it is or is not to be employed. Its use is left entirely to the discretion of the physician in charge, and it is prescribed in the same way as a dose of medicine, an extra quantity of food or stimulant, a shower or warm bath, or any other remedy.

At all my visits of inspection I take care to see every patient in restraint, and inquire into the necessity for its use, and I have on several occasions caused returns to be prepared which show the amount in use at all the Institutions at one time. These returns show that the amount never exceeds one patient in restraint out of every 400, or  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent., and is frequently much less, and that in half of the cases it is employed for surgical reasons, to allow of the healing of wounds or other injuries, or to prevent the irritation or causation of troublesome sores. Hospitals for the Insane can of course be managed altogether without mechanical restraint. Some of the best in the world are so, and in one Institution in this Colony no restraint has been employed for nearly three years; but my experience, gathered from a wide field in the Hospitals of Great Britain, Ireland, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Italy, as well as in the United States and a number of the Colonies, has not convinced me of the wisdom of total disuse of this agent, and has certainly led me to believe that any hard-and-fast prohibition of it would be a fatal mistake. Under proper regulations it has a useful place in the treatment of insanity; and I hold that the position taken by the physicians of American Hospitals is in this respect more philosophical and more humane than the extreme views held by some alienists in Great Britain.

Cost of Maintenance.

The receipts of the Department from all sources have amounted for the year to £6,879 2s. 4d., being £111 6s. 10d. more than in the preceding year, and the details are shown in the following table:—

TABLE showing total Receipts on account of Institutions for the Insane during the year 1883.

Name of Institution.	Collected for Maintenance of Patients.	Paid from Imperial Treasury for Maintenance of Patients.	Sale of Fat and old Stores.	Rent of Land.	Total.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville.....	4,433 11 4	83 13 5	.....	.....	4,517 4 9
Do. Parramatta .....	600 8 5	548 16 8	73 16 4	.....	1,223 1 5
Do. Callan Park .....	337 18 2	.....	25 11 4	.....	363 9 6
Do. Newcastle .....	447 4 8	54 17 8	15 8 9	.....	517 11 1
Temporary Do. Cooma .....	5 18 0	.....	.....	.....	5 18 0
Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River .....	170 17 8	.....	.....	.....	170 17 8
Reception House for the Insane, Darlinghurst .....	19 17 0	.....	.....	.....	19 17 0
Inspector-General's Office .....	.....	.....	.....	61 2 11	61 2 11
Total .....	6,015 15 3	603 14 4	198 9 10	61 2 11	6,879 2 4

The collections made by the Master in Lunacy for the maintenance of patients amounted to £5,995 18s. 3d., being £132 10s. 6d. more than in 1882.

The total expenditure for the year was £82,618 0s. 11d., and the amount is made up of the following items:—General expenses, including cost of Inspector-General's Office, allowance to official visitors, and maintenance of steam-launch "Mabel," £2,356 3s. 3d.; maintenance of patients in Hospitals for the Insane, £71,511 0s. 9d.; maintenance of Government patients in Licensed House at Cook's River, £7,322 12s. 6d.; maintenance of patients in Reception House, £1,428 4s. 5d.

With the exception of the cost at the Reception House, where the number of patients has been much in excess of former years, the expenditure has been somewhat less under each heading, and the total expenditure is less by £768 13s. 5d.

The cost of maintenance in Hospitals, notwithstanding that the daily average number of patients resident was 102 more, was £775 16s. 11d. less than in the preceding year.

The following tables give the particulars of expenditure in the Hospitals:—

TABLE showing Annual Cost of Patients in Hospitals for the Insane during the year 1883.

Institution.	Total number under care.	Average number resident.	Total Cost.	Amount of Collections.	Total Annual Cost per Patient without deducting Collections.	Annual Cost per Patient, deducting Collections.
			£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville...	1,177	801	26,127 17 10	4,433 11 4	32 12 4½	26 19 7
Do Parramatta ...	1,105	952	28,139 3 9	600 8 5	29 11 1	28 5 5½
Do Callan Park ..	181	148	6,650 2 11	337 18 2	44 18 6	42 9 6
Do Newcastle ...	266	242	7,623 2 5	447 4 8	31 9 11	29 7 2¾
Temporary do Cooma .....	62	59	2,970 13 10	5 18 0	50 7 0	50 5 0
Total .....	2,791	2,202	71,511 0 9	5,825 0 7	.....	.....

TABLE showing Weekly Cost of Patients in Hospitals for the Insane during the year 1883.

Institution.	Total number under care.	Average number resident.	Total Annual Cost.	Calculated on average number resident.
				Salaries and Allowances.	Provisions &c., &c.	Amusements, Books, and Periodicals.	Incidental Expenses and minor repairs.	Materials for employment of Patients.	Stores, Bedding, &c.	Total weekly Cost without deducting Collections.	Weekly Cost deducting Collections.
Hospital for the Insane—			£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Gladesville .....	1,177	801	26,127 17 10	0 4 2½	0 5 10½	0 0 1½	0 0 3	0 0 2½	0 1 10½	0 12 6½	0 10 4½
Parramatta .....	1,105	952	25,139 3 9	0 3 11½	0 5 0½	0 0 1½	0 0 2½	0 0 1½	0 2 0	0 11 4½	0 10 10½
Callan Park .....	181	148	6,650 2 11	0 6 9	0 5 7½	0 0 3	0 0 6½	0 0 5½	0 3 7½	0 17 3½	0 16 4
Newcastle .....	266	242	7,623 2 5	0 3 10½	0 5 7½	0 0 1½	0 0 4½	0 0 1½	0 1 10½	0 12 0½	0 11 3½
Cooma .....	62	59	2,970 13 10	0 6 11½	0 9 5½	0 0 2½	0 0 3½	0 0 5½	0 2 0	0 19 4½	0 19 3½

Average weekly cost without deducting collections, 12s. 5½d., or, deducting collections, 11s. 5½d.

On a comparison of the details of expenditure with those for the year 1882, it appears that the cost for salaries has been somewhat greater at all the Institutions, owing to the increases in the salaries of attendants granted at the beginning of the year. The cost for provisions has been about the same as during 1882, the contract rates for almost all articles having been high, and much in excess of the rates during some previous years, owing to the prolonged dry weather.

The cost of stores, which include all articles of hardware, clothing, bedding, &c., has decreased during the year at all the Hospitals except at Callan Park, where an extra supply was required to commence the outfit for the new buildings, and Newcastle, where the weekly cost was 3d. in excess of that for the preceding year. The total decrease in the cost of stores as compared with the year 1882 was £2,892 2s. 7d. The cost for stores has been slowly decreasing for the last two or three years, and the decrease is, I believe, owing—

- 1st. To the improved system under which contracts are taken in the Store Department, by which better materials, at a lower cost, are obtained than under the arrangements formerly made.
- 2nd. By the substitution of improved samples, many of the samples being until lately very unsatisfactory, the materials being poor and cheap, and wearing a very short time, and the economy in the purchase of such articles being as false in Government establishments as in private houses.
- 3rd. To the efforts made to manufacture as much clothing as possible in the Hospitals, and to enforce economy in its issue—and
- 4th. To the general improvement in the quality of gaol-made articles, an improvement which it is hoped will continue, as the matting is at present the only article of which it is possible to express unqualified approval.

The cost for stores is still higher than it should be, and further efforts should be made to reduce the cost by encouraging the patients to work in every possible way, so that the whole clothing for their use should be made in the Hospitals. The price charged for gaol-made articles is, considering their quality, still high, and the cost to the Lunacy Department would be less if the articles could be obtained through contractors.

The following comparison as to details of weekly cost between the Borough Asylums in Great Britain and the Hospitals in this Colony is interesting:—

Average weekly cost per patient in Borough Asylums in England (taken from 37th Report of Commissioners in Lunacy for the year 1882.)		Average weekly cost per patient in Hospitals for the Insane in New South Wales.
	£ s. d.		£ s. d.
Provisions and beer .....	0 4 7	Provisions and beer .....	0 4 10½
Clothing, bedding, &c.....	0 1 2	Clothing, bedding, &c.....	0 2 0½
Salaries and wages .....	0 2 5½	Salaries and allowances.....	0 4 3½
Necessaries—Fuel, light, &c.....	0 1 3½	Fuel and light .....	0 0 6½
Surgery and Dispensary—(Medicines, &c.) .....	0 0 0¾	Medicines .....	0 0 1½
Wines and spirits .....	0 0 0½	Wines and spirits .....	0 0 0½
Farm and garden (less produce sold) .....	0 0 3½	Miscellaneous—(including amusements, incidental expenses, materials for employment of patients and minor repairs) ...	0 0 7
Miscellaneous .....	0 0 7½
	0 10 5½		0 12 5½

It will be seen that the main difference in cost is due to the amount for salaries and wages being larger in this Colony than in England. The salaries paid to officers are not as a rule higher than in Great Britain, but the wages to attendants, nurses, and servants are very greatly in excess of the English rates.

The

The following table shows the cost of maintenance in Hospitals from 1870 to 1883, both years inclusive:—

TABLE showing weekly cost of Maintenance at Hospitals for the Insane, during the years 1870 to 1883 inclusive.

Year.	Gladesville.		Parramatta.		Newcastle.		Cooma.		Callan Park.
	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.	Collections deducted.	Collections not deducted.
1870 .....	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
1871 .....	0 12 6	0 12 11	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
1872 .....	0 11 11½	0 12 4	0 9 0	0 9 1½	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
1873 .....	0 12 8	0 13 2	0 9 3	0 9 4	0 16 11	0 16 11	.....	.....	.....	.....
1874 .....	0 12 7	0 13 0	0 11 4¾	0 12 5	0 16 0	0 16 1	.....	.....	.....	.....
1875 .....	0 12 2½	0 12 10¾	0 12 3	0 12 4½	0 13 5½	0 13 6	.....	.....	.....	.....
1876 .....	0 12 2	0 12 6¾	0 11 10½	0 11 10¾	0 14 1½	0 14 3	.....	.....	.....	.....
1877 .....	0 12 5	0 13 1	0 10 0¾	0 11 2¼	0 14 1	0 14 4¼	.....	.....	.....	.....
1878 .....	0 12 5	0 13 1	0 11 8¾	0 11 10¾	0 14 1½	0 14 7	*1 17 8½	*1 17 8½	.....	.....
1879 .....	0 11 4½	0 12 3¼	0 12 9½	0 12 10¾	0 13 3¾	0 13 6¾	1 2 7	1 2 7	.....	.....
1880 .....	0 11 2	0 12 1½	0 11 2¼	0 11 7	0 12 8¾	0 13 1½	1 2 2	1 2 2	*1 2 11¾	*1 3 10¼
1881 .....	0 9 5	0 11 2½	0 10 5½	0 11 1¼	0 11 5	0 12 0¾	1 0 5¼	1 0 5¼	0 13 3½	0 13 11½
1882 .....	0 10 1½	0 12 2¾	0 10 2¾	0 10 9¾	0 10 9¼	0 11 8	0 18 5	0 18 7½	0 12 10½	0 13 8¾
1883 .....	0 10 11	0 13 0¼	0 12 6	0 13 0¾	0 10 10	0 11 5½	0 19 4¼	0 19 5¾	0 14 2¾	0 15 2¾
1883 .....	0 10 4½	0 12 6½	0 10 10½	0 11 4½	0 11 3½	0 12 0¼	0 19 3¾	0 19 4¼	0 16 4	0 17 3¾

* First year, and including cost of stores and outfit.

The cost of Government patients in Cook's River was at the rate of £1 2s. 6¾d. a week without deducting collections, and £1 2s. collections being deducted.

Each patient admitted into the Reception House cost £2 9s. 6d. for his care and treatment.

The cost of the insane to each individual of the population in the years 1873 and 1883 is shown in the following return:—

Year.	Population of New South Wales.	Number of Insane.	Total cost of Insane, collections deducted.	Cost of Insane to each individual of population, collections being deducted.
1873.....	560,275	1,526	£ s. d. 49,378 12 11	£ s. d. 0 1 9¾
1883.....	869,310	2,403	75,719 1 7	0 1 8¾

With regard to the future there does not appear to be any immediate prospect of any material decrease in the annual maintenance rate in Hospitals for the Insane. At the present time there seems every likelihood of a large rise in the cost of articles of food—meat and milk especially—and it is impossible to lower or alter the ration scales now in use without impairing the usefulness of the Institutions. A very large percentage of the patients admitted show indications of slow starvation, of being overworked and underfed; of bodily health undermined from improper or insufficient food, and a career of hard labour, to which may be added the worries and difficulties, the hardships and exposures, incident to settlers in new countries. This condition has been noted in other countries, and the Medical Superintendent of an American Asylum* thus appositely puts the matter: "The term insufficient food does not mean that these people could not get enough to eat, for they come from a productive country, but the fact is that very many do not have a sufficient variety of well-cooked, wholesome, nutritious food to sustain the demands made upon the system because of the labour they perform, and gradually they succumb—starved but not empty; filling is not feeding, and persons improperly nourished who perform hard labour must sooner or later break down."

Add to this, that insanity is in many of its phases a disease where copious and nutritious diet, in which milk and eggs should take a large place, is absolutely necessary; and it will be seen that any reductions under this head would be very unwise. In the matter of milk, the most suitable diet, either alone or in conjunction with other things, for most of the insane in the acute stage of their malady, and for the more feeble in all stages, the Hospitals in this Colony are under peculiar disadvantages. Owing to the absence of large farms or areas of grazing ground, such as exist in Victoria, Queensland, and at most Home Asylums, almost all the milk has to be purchased. At Gladesville, where the land consists of a few rocky acres, the whole of the milk is purchased, and cost during last year the large sum of £1,304.

Steps have been taken at Callan Park and Parramatta to increase the number of cows kept, and arrangements made for keeping a few at Gladesville. If a large area of grazing ground could be secured in some position easily accessible by road or rail, so as to keep the cows from all the Institutions when not in milk, a number more could be kept and a saving effected.

Reception House for the Insane, Darlinghurst.

At the close of 1882 there were 3 patients in this Institution under medical certificate and awaiting transfer to Hospital, and 9 under remand by Magistrates, and during the year 293—178 males and 115 females—were received under medical certificate, and 286—205 males and 81 females—on remand by order of Magistrates. The number of cases under treatment was therefore 579. Of these, 80 were first admitted under remand and next re-admitted under medical certificate, so that the total number of inmates was 499.

Taking

*Tenth Annual Report of Northern Hospital for the Insane at Madison, Wisconsin, U.S.

TABLE showing the number of Patients under certificate received at the Reception House for the Insane during the year 1883, the place whence received, and their disposal.

	Received.			Sent to Gladesville Hospital.			Sent to Callan Park Hospital.			Sent to Newcastle Hospital.			Discharged to care of friends.			Discharged of sound mind.			Died.			Remaining on 31st December, 1883.
	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
Sydney .....	98	90	188	62	78	140	25	25	25	1	1	10	7	17	3	3	3	2	2	2
Goulburn .....	9	9	18	7	9	16	2	2	2	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Armidale .....	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5
Newcastle .....	6	4	10	6	4	10	6	4	10	6	4	10	6	4	10	6	4	10	6	4
Tamworth .....	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3
Wagga .....	10	1	11	10	1	11	10	1	11	10	1	11	10	1	11	10	1	11	10	1
Grafton .....	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6
Liverpool .....	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4
Gundagai .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Grenfell .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Maitland .....	10	2	12	10	2	12	10	2	12	10	2	12	10	2	12	10	2	12	10	2
Narrabri .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Scone .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Yass .....	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3
Cootamundra .....	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1
Shoalhaven .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Gunnedah .....	4	4	4	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3
Hay .....	4	1	5	4	1	5	4	1	5	4	1	5	4	1	5	4	1	5	4	1
Inverell .....	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1
Bega .....	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2
Young .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Berrima .....	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2	2
Wilcannia .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Kiama .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Albury .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Bulli .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Queanbeyan .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Braidwood .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Moruya .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Glen Innes .....	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	1	1
Deniliquin .....	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Total.....	178	115	293	138	103	241	25	25	25	2	2	1	12	7	19	3	3	3	2	2

The necessity for some special provision for the temporary care and treatment of insane patients in some of the larger towns of the Colony, which was pointed out in my report for 1882, has, I am aware, engaged the attention of the Government, but, so far as I am informed, no definite arrangement has been arrived at. To establish Reception Houses, each with a separate staff, would be too costly, and the most satisfactory arrangements would appear to be to erect special wards in connection with either the public Hospital, the Gaol, or the Police Station, and to provide attendance and care by means of officials connected with the main establishment. The Committees of Public Hospitals have taken no steps under section 48 of the Lunacy Act, and it remains for the Government to take such action as may be necessary. It will be seen from the following return, for which I am indebted to the courtesy of the Comptroller-General of Prisons, that the number of cases treated in some of the gaols, and especially in that at Maitland, is now very considerable, and, as I have already pointed out, the prisons are almost all ill-adapted for the care and treatment of this class of cases:—

RETURN showing number of persons under treatment for symptoms of Insanity during the year 1883.

Name of Gaol.	Under treatment and not certified as Insane.	Certified as Insane in Gaol.	How disposed of.						Received in transit.
			Discharged to Hospital for Insane or Receiving House.	Discharged to Darlinghurst or other Gaols.	Discharged to Police Court	Discharged--cured	Died	Remaining
Albury .....	8	1	1	.....	2	6	.....	.....
Armidale .....	5	6	6	.....	2	3	.....	6
Bathurst .....	1	8	7	.....	.....	2	.....	14
Bega .....	1	2	2	.....	.....	1	.....	.....
Berrima .....	2	1	1	2	.....	.....	.....	.....
Bourke .....	8	3	3	.....	8	.....	.....	.....
Braidwood .....	6	4	4	.....	.....	6	.....	.....
Casino .....	1	1	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Cooma .....	2	3	3	.....	2	.....	.....	.....
Coonamble .....	5	.....	.....	.....	.....	5	.....	.....
Deniliquin .....	12	2	2	.....	12	.....	.....	.....
Dubbo .....	8	13	13	.....	.....	8	.....	.....
Forbes .....	1	4	4	.....	1	.....	.....	.....
Glen Innes .....	3	4	4	.....	.....	3	.....	.....
Goulburn .....	14	14	14	.....	12	1	1	14
Grafton .....	13	6	5	.....	13	1	.....	1
Grenfell .....	1	1	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Gundagai .....	1	1	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Gunnedah .....	1	3	3	1	.....	.....	.....	.....
Hay .....	5	4	4	.....	5	.....	.....	4
Inverell .....	4	4	3	.....	.....	.....	1	.....
Maitland .....	24	15	15	.....	19	2	1	2

Name of Gaol.	Under treatment and not certified as Insane.	Certified as Insane in Gaol.	How disposed of.						Received in transit.
			Discharged to Hospital for Insane or Receiving House.	Discharged to Darlinghurst or other Gaols.	Discharged to Police Court.	Discharged—cured.	Died.	Remaining
Mudgee .....	9	6	6	2	.....	7	.....	.....	.....
Murrurundi .....	.....	4	4	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Muswellbrook .....	1	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	.....
Narrabri .....	5	2	2	.....	3	1	.....	1	.....
Orange .....	9	2	2	.....	8	.....	1	.....	4
Parramatta .....	12	5	5	2	6	2	.....	2	1
Queanbeyan .....	2	1	1	.....	1	.....	.....	1	1
Tamworth .....	3	3	3	.....	.....	3	.....	.....	.....
Tenterfield.....	4	1	1	.....	2	1	.....	1	.....
Wagga Wagga .....	11	4	4	.....	10	.....	1	.....	.....
Walgett .....	4	.....	.....	2	2	.....	.....	.....	.....
Warialda .....	4	.....	.....	.....	4	.....	.....	.....	.....
Wellington .....	3	3	.....	3	2	.....	.....	1	2
Wentworth .....	8	.....	.....	2	3	3	.....	.....	.....
Wilcannia .....	4	2	2	.....	2	.....	.....	2	.....
Windsor.....	2	1	1	.....	.....	2	.....	.....	.....
Wollongong .....	4	.....	.....	1	.....	3	.....	.....	.....
Yass .....	7	5	5	.....	.....	6	.....	1	.....
Young .....	1	3	3	.....	.....	1	.....	.....	.....
Total .....	212	142	136	15	120	65	5	13	53

Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville.

The number of patients at the close of 1882 was 870—447 males and 423 females. The number admitted for the first time was 261—143 males and 118 females; the number re-admitted, 39—17 males and 22 females; and the number transferred from other hospitals, 7—5 males and 2 females. The total number under care was 1,177—612 males and 565 females; and of these, 134 were discharged as recovered and 18 as relieved, 151 were transferred to other hospitals, and 73 died, leaving 801—478 males and 323 females—at the close of the year. The daily average number resident was 801.

The complete statistics for the year are given in the report of the Medical Superintendent and the tables thereto appended (vide Appendix).

The Hospital was visited on eleven occasions during the year by the official visitors—Sir Alfred Roberts, Mr. William Owen, Q.C., and Dr. J. C. Cox—whose reports, forwarded to you after each visit, expressed general satisfaction with the state and condition of the Hospital. My visits of inspection were paid on January 9th, March 1st and 14th, April 19th, May 29th, July 10th and 11th, August 6th and 7th, September 10th, October 25th and 27th, and December 10th; and on all these occasions I visited the wards, saw and spoke to the patients, and inspected the day-rooms, dormitories, and other buildings. On other occasions I have visited the laundry, stores, out-buildings, and offices, and taken special occasion to see the patients employed both in these places and in the gardens and grounds. I have on several occasions been present at divine service and at the associated amusements, and have to express my satisfaction with the general management of the Institution. This Hospital, as during former years, has been the main curative Institution of the Colony, and has received two-thirds of the acute cases which have been admitted. During the early months of the year the wards were much overcrowded, and to this and the number of recent admissions is to be mainly attributed the number of accidents, some of which were serious, but only one—a case of suicide, especially reported to you—fatal. In all cases the occurrence of serious accidents has been reported to me, and I have in such cases as seemed to me necessary held special inquiry. At the close of the year the Hospital contained 134 patients—55 males and 79 females—in excess of the number for whom there was proper dormitory accommodation.

The water supply of the Hospital has again been a subject of great anxiety, neither the quantity nor quality being satisfactory. The falling off in quantity has been due to the dry season, and the deterioration in quality to the increasing population and the larger number of roads and patches of cultivation over the area on which the water is caught.

Acting under advice from the Geological Surveyor, borings with the diamond drill were made during the year with a view of either obtaining a fresh supply or increasing the present one; but the operations were unsuccessful, the quantity obtained being very small, and the quality unfit for ordinary household purposes. As there appears to be little hope of obtaining water from the new Nepean supply for the city and suburbs of Sydney for several years, steps have been taken to sink another underground tank, to enlarge the dam, and to add another sand-catch. These works have been mainly undertaken by the labour of patients and attendants, paid labour only being employed for such work as the patients are not qualified to perform.

The number of patients usefully employed has increased during the year, and at the close was 49 per cent. of the total number of inmates. With care and attention on the part of officers this number may be still further increased. The number attending divine service is still too small, being but little above half those who might with benefit go to the services provided, and now that a spacious room has been set apart it is hoped that steps will be taken to ensure a larger attendance.

Dr. T. Morgan Joseph, who returned from leave of absence at the close of 1882, found after a short period of service that his health would not permit of the satisfactory performance of his duties, and on 21st September he resigned his appointment. The vacancy thus caused was filled after some delay by the appointment of Dr. Eric Sinclair, who had for nearly two years been Assistant Medical Officer. The office of Assistant Medical Officer was vacant at the close of the year, but has since been filled by the appointment of Dr. Chisholm Ross.

Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Free and Convict).

This Hospital contained 798 patients—594 males and 204 females—at the close of the year 1882, and 233—71 males and 162 females—were admitted during the year, making a total of 1,031—665 males and 366 females—under care and treatment. The number admitted for the first time was 82, the number re-admitted 1, and the number transferred from other hospitals 150. The discharges numbered 45, 37 on recovery, 4 relieved, and 4 transferred to other hospitals, and the deaths were 42. The number remaining on December 31st was 944, and the average daily number under care 901.

The recoveries give a percentage of 44·57 on the admissions, and the deaths one of 4·76 per cent. on the average number resident; both these percentages are satisfactory. The death-rate is the lowest for some years. The statistics of the Hospital are set forth at length in the report of the Medical Superintendent, and the tables thereto attached. (See Appendix.)

The official visitors—Sir Alfred Roberts, William Owen, Esquire, Q.C., and Dr. Cox—have visited the Hospital once a month and furnished to the Colonial Secretary a copy of the entry made by them in the Inspector's book after each visit. Such suggestions as have been made by the official visitors have received attention. I have visited the Hospital for purposes of inspection on ten occasions during the year, and have had opportunities of seeing all parts of it and making myself acquainted with details of management at special visits made to hold inquiries, to examine buildings in progress, or for other purposes.

At my visits of inspection I have invariably passed through the wards and seen the patients, giving all the fullest opportunities of stating grievances or making complaints; and when complaints appeared to be well founded I have made inquiries, unless the matter had been already inquired into and fully dealt with by the Medical Superintendent.

The general appearance of the patients and their dress has been as a rule satisfactory. No serious accident has occurred. The event of the year has been the occupation of the new buildings for the female patients. These buildings contain day and dormitory accommodation for 350 patients—one-fourth of the dormitory accommodation being in single rooms—a laundry, kitchen, scullery, and bakehouse, and other offices, clothing and provision stores, mortuary, and also cottages for the Assistant Medical Officer, Matron, Engineer, and Gateporter.

The buildings are of one story throughout, and are built mainly of weatherboard, the single rooms, kitchen, stores, as well as the fireplaces and chimneys throughout, being of brick. There has been little attempt at ornamentation, but they have a comfortable homelike look, and the object sought for, the largest amount of accommodation at the smallest cost, consistent with the comfort and proper classification of the inmates and efficient administration, has been attained.

The rooms for patients are divided into six wards, each with verandah and airing grounds so as to allow of classification. The laundry, which is one of the best arranged in the Colony, is fitted with such machinery as is necessary, and since its completion the whole washing of the establishment—1,000 patients and the attendant staff—has been done in it. The store-rooms are also arranged to serve for the whole establishment, and the kitchen and other buildings in connection with it are large enough to cook for 650 patients—the 350 females and 300 males living in the weatherboard buildings for that sex, as well as the staff of attendants and nurses occupied in these parts of the Hospital. The patients, 210 in number, were removed from the old prison range in February, and during the year nearly 140 others were transferred from the overcrowded wards at Gladesville. At the close of the year the number of inmates was 352, and having settled down in their new home the wards presented a very comfortable and cheerful appearance. The change in the appearance and also in the conduct of the patients transferred from the old prison buildings was most marked and satisfactory. There was a decided improvement in the general health; the amount of noise and excitement became less; seclusion, which before had been somewhat extensively employed, was very rarely necessary; and the number of patients usefully employed increased.

The opening of the new laundry has permitted a long-desired change in this department of the Hospital. Under former arrangements the supply of clean bed linen and clothes to a large number of the patients was insufficient, and the whole appearance of the patients bore evidence of this. With the new kitchen it has been found possible to close one of the kitchens in the male division, as well as the one in the old prison buildings, and so to save considerable expense.

Early in August the Colonial Secretary and the Minister for Works visited the Hospital and authorized the demolition of the old prison buildings, which had so long been a disgrace to the department, and the use of the stone in the erection of new buildings for 100 male patients.

The contract for this work was taken late in the year, and the new buildings are progressing rapidly. When completed the patients will be removed from the old buildings now standing opposite the main entrance of the Hospital. These buildings, which were erected in the early days of the Colony, are reported by the Colonial Architect to be beyond repair, and will be demolished as soon as the patients are removed.

A large number of substantial alterations have been carried out during the year. These have included the conversion of the old kitchen and stores into a dining-room for attendants and single sleeping-rooms for patients, the erection of a cottage for night attendants, the re-arrangement of the administrative offices so as to provide quarters for the dispenser, a visiting-room for patients' friends, a library and additional offices and storerooms, and the provision of fire-engine and cart-shed, straw-house, as well as numerous minor alterations in the wards, all tending to the better administration of the Hospital.

The Medical Superintendent has in his report pointed out that the room in which divine service is now held is too small to hold the number of patients who might with benefit be permitted to attend, and I would strongly advise the erection of a special building to serve as church and recreation hall. If built of weatherboard, in the style of the new buildings, the expense need not be great, and the present room will be available as a hospital for those suffering from physical ailments, which is now much wanted.

The proportion of patients actively and usefully employed is still much too small, though it has increased somewhat during the year. There is still room for improvement in this direction.

The condition of the farm buildings is very unsatisfactory, and the management of the farm generally is capable of improvement. The first step should be the erection of a bridge across the river, so as to render it easily accessible at all seasons, and the sanction of the Minister for Works has been obtained for this.

In the beginning of September Dr. Charles Taylor, who had been the Medical Superintendent of the Hospital for eleven years, and who for some months had been unable to discharge his duties owing to ill-health, ill-health, resigned his appointment, and his resignation was soon followed by his death. The Hospital lost by death Mr. Simms, the dispenser, who had been on the staff for some years.

Dr. Godson, the Assistant Medical Officer, was appointed Medical Superintendent in October, and up to the close of the year the vacancy caused by his promotion was not filled. Dr. W. C. Williamson was appointed Assistant Medical Officer early in January.

Hospital for the Criminal Insane, Parramatta.

The number of patients on December 31st, 1882, was 50—44 males and 6 females, and the number admitted during the year was 24—21 males and 3 females, making a total of 74 under care. Of these, 4 were discharged recovered, and 14 were transferred to other hospitals on expiry of sentence or cessation of criminal responsibility. There was no death. The number remaining on December 31st, 1883, was 56, and their classification is shown in the following return:—

CLASSIFICATION of the Crimes and Sentences of Patients remaining in the Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Parramatta on 31st December, 1883.

Crime.	Classified with reference to the period at which insanity was recognised.															Total number in Hospital, 31st December, 1883.
	Certified to be insane whilst awaiting trial.			Found insane by Jury on arraignment.			Acquitted on the ground of insanity.			Relieved on the ground of insanity.			Certified as insane whilst serving sentence.
	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total	M.	F.	Total
Murder .....	1	...	1	2	...	2	11	1	12	...	...	...	4	1	5	18	2	20
Attempt to murder .....	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	2
Manslaughter .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	...	3
Rape .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	1	3	...	3
Indecent assault .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
Unnatural offence .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
Cutting and wounding, shooting with intent, &c. ....	1	...	1	...	...	...	4	2	6	...	...	...	5	...	5	10	2	12
Burglary and housebreaking .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1
Sheep and horse stealing .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	2	2	...	2
Larceny and petty thefts .....	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	2
Arson and malicious burning .....	2	...	2	1	...	1	1	1	1	...	...	...	...	...	3	1	4
Attempting suicide .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1
Threatening to murder .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Garotting .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1
Uttering a forgery .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1
Vagrancy .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	2	2	...	2
Obtaining money under false pretences .....	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
Embezzlement .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1
Total .....	6	...	6	4	...	4	21	5	26	1	...	1	18	1	19	50	6	56

I visited and inspected the Institution on March 19th, June 2nd and 26th, August 28th, November 13th, and December 27th, and on June 26th and December 27th I saw and spoke to every patient, marking off each name on my list, and making particular inquiries into the cases of all recently admitted.

At all my other visits I saw all the patients except a few employed in various ways, and gave all an opportunity of speaking to me and stating any complaints or grievances.

No complaints, except as to detention, were made, and the general appearance of the patients as regards dress, cleanliness, and general health was satisfactory.

At the beginning of the year I found that there were several patients in this division who had been found insane either whilst awaiting trial or on arraignment for comparatively minor offences. Their condition was one of chronic insanity, and even if they did recover they could scarcely be put on their trial owing to the time which had elapsed since the crime was committed and the absence of witnesses. I therefore recommended that they should be relieved from their criminal responsibility, and on the Attorney-General expressing his decision not to prosecute, they were transferred from this Hospital to the wards of the Free Division.

At only one of my visits did I find a patient in restraint, and this was a very violent and dangerous Chinaman, subject to paroxysms of homicidal mania. The Medical Journal shows that both restraint and seclusion have been rarely resorted to, and the small seclusion yards have not been used for some months.

There has been no accident of any importance during the year. The chief improvements which have been made during the year have been the fitting up of a new store for clothes and utensils, and the boarding-in, flooring, and fitting with a fireplace of the recreation shed in the inner ward. The chief want of the Hospital at present is a new bath-room and lavatory. The present room is much too small, and is not properly fitted with basins, &c. The number of patients usefully employed averaged 30 per cent. throughout the year. A larger number would willingly work, but the risk of escape in this class of patient has rendered it impossible to employ them outside the wards.

Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park.

The number of patients on December 31st, 1882, was 146, and 35 were admitted during the year, 30 being admitted for the first time, 2 re-admitted, and 3 transferred from other Hospitals. The number discharged was 14, of whom 12 had recovered and 2 were relieved. Three patients were transferred to other Hospitals and 14 died. The number remaining on December 31st, 1883, was 150, and the average daily number resident was 148. The recoveries give a percentage of 37.50 on the admissions, and the deaths one of 9.45 on the average daily number resident. The statistics of the Hospital are given in the report of the Medical Superintendent, and the tables attached thereto (see Appendix).

I paid ten visits of inspection during the year, one in each month, except March and September, and I have on various other occasions visited the wards and other parts of the Hospital when engaged in making arrangements with regard to the new Hospital immediately adjoining. On all my visits of inspection I have passed through and spent some time in every ward, examined a number of the patients, and given all an opportunity of speaking to me and making any complaints they wished; and I have afterwards visited the kitchen, stores, laundry, workshops, garden, and other places where patients were employed, so as to see those who were not in the wards at the time of my visits.

On two occasions during the year I have checked the Register, so as to take care and see every inmate of the Hospital. Patients recently admitted have always been examined, and the papers sent with them inspected at each visit. The complaints made to me have been few and infrequent, and in no instance has any serious complaint of harshness or ill-usage on the part of attendants been brought before me. At all my visits I have examined and signed the statutory books and the case books, which have been properly kept and written up to a recent date. The Medical Journal shows that restraint has only been employed in two cases, and for short periods, during the year, and that only two accidents have occurred—one a dislocated shoulder, and the other a wound of the thigh. The former was caused in a struggle with another patient, and on examination the bone was found to be easily removed from the socket owing to former dislocations. In the latter case the patient, a general paralytic, attempted to climb on to the roof, and fell on the top of a sharp paling. I have as a rule found the wards in good order, the patients properly clothed, and the beds and bedding clean and in a satisfactory condition of repair. On two occasions I visited the dining-rooms whilst dinner was being served, and found the arrangements commendable, a well-cooked and sufficient dinner being served in a careful and orderly way.

At almost all my visits I inspected the provisions and other stores, and with two or three exceptions found the supplies of good quality. On one occasion I considered the potatoes bad, and found on inquiry that they had only just been delivered, and that Dr. Blaxland's attention had not been called to them. Some difficulty was experienced at various periods with regard to the meat supplied by contract, but whenever it was unsatisfactory in quality a fresh supply was obtained.

The number of patients usefully employed increased during the year, and the proportion at its close was 50 per cent. About 54 per cent. attended the religious services and behaved with decorum.

A very considerable amount of work has been done in laying out, turfing, and planting the wards and grounds of the new Hospital, enlarging the vegetable garden and cricket paddock, and improving the plantations.

Dr. Blaxland, who has been in sole medical charge of the Hospital during the year, reports very favourably of the staff under his orders, and has had no difficulty in filling satisfactorily any vacancies which have occurred among the attendants and servants. Progress has been made with the new Hospital during the year, but the contract time has expired, and there is still much to be done. There is I fear little prospect of its being completed and ready for occupation before the close of the current year.

Hospital for the Insane, Newcastle.

The number in Hospital on December 31st, 1882, was 239—130 males and 109 females. During the year, 18 patients—13 males and 5 females—were admitted direct, and 9—6 males and 3 females—were transferred from other Institutions, making a total of 266—149 males and 117 females—under care and treatment during the year. One patient was discharged relieved, 2 were transferred to other Hospitals, and 17 died, leaving 246 patients on the Register at the close of the year, of whom 2 were absent on trial. The daily average number resident was 242, and the deaths give a percentage of 7.02 on this. The most frequent cause of death, as might be expected in children, a large number of whom are of a scrofulous and weak habit, was abdominal disease, with diarrhoea and other complications. No serious accident has occurred.

The number of inmates under 20 years of age on December 31st, 1883, was 138—87 males and 51 females; and of the total number under care during the year, 211 were natives of New South Wales or the neighbouring colonies. I visited the Hospital on January 31st and February 1st, April 12th, June 30th, July 1st and 2nd, September 27th and 28th, and December 28th, and the following are copies of the entries made in the Inspector's book at two of these visits:—

January 31st and February 1st.—I visited the Hospital on both these days. It now contains 238 patients, and there are 240 on the Register. Two males are on leave of absence. At my last visit the numbers were:—128 males and 110 females; total, 238. Since that date, 6 males and 2 females, total, 8, have been admitted; 4 males and 2 females, total, 6, have died; and 2 males have been allowed leave of absence, the names of the latter still remaining in the Register. Of the number now in Hospital, 39 males and 31 females are under 16 years of age, and 71 suffer from epileptic fits, though in a number of cases these appear at somewhat infrequent intervals. I went through every part of the Hospital and saw all the patients, directing special attention to those admitted since my last visit, all of whom, except one, I consider fit subjects for the Institution. The one exception is an elderly man who is demented, and should have been sent to Parramatta, but his papers are in correct form, and as his health is feeble I do not think an immediate transfer desirable. I found the inmates as a rule in good bodily health, and free from infectious and epidemic malady. No one was in bed except 2 cripples in the female division, and only 6 in the male. The demeanour of the patients was quiet and orderly, and their general appearance one of contentment. No one was in seclusion or restraint. The women and children were as clean and tidy as usual, and the men and boys showed evidence of care and attention, though there is still room for improvement in the condition of those in No. 2 Ward.

The dormitories and other rooms were in good order, but the bedsteads require repainting and some repairs to the feet-casters and other parts; and the same is the case with the invalid chairs, which also require new ticking. The pillows require repicking and some of the mattresses require renewal. I find on inquiry that delay has been experienced in obtaining a supply of mattresses and pillow-ticks from the Store Department. In the male division I think some alterations to the windows of the single rooms desirable, as they are at present dark and ill-ventilated; and a new store room is required, the present one being too small and damp. The kitchen has been repainted and is in good order, and the out-buildings generally have received attention. The drying room is all but useless, notwithstanding the extensive alterations. The highest temperature which can be obtained is 110°, and this is insufficient for drying purposes. The continued dry weather has caused the garden to be very unproductive, and the water supply has been a matter of considerable anxiety and labour. At present the greater part is obtained from a well at the Superintendent's residence, and is raised entirely by hand labour. I visited the stores, in which all articles of provisions appeared good in quality, except the lime-juice, which is I believe an unwholesome chemical concoction, and which must be returned to the contractor.

I saw the patients in one of the male wards and all those in the female division at dinner, which consisted of Irish stew well cooked and palatable, and served with order and cleanliness.

I spent the whole of the afternoon in the examination of the statutory books and departmental records, and I examined also the day and night reports, the diet sheets, and the case books. With regard to the diet sheets, I very strongly advise the substitution of milk for beer or other stimulants in all cases where this is possible. The number employed is 36 males males and 27 females, and is much too small. I am quite convinced that with care and patience a much larger number, especially of the female patients, could be taught to be useful and to occupy themselves continuously.

There have been some recent changes in the staff, but the vacancies have been filled satisfactorily, and the general work of the Hospital appears to be properly performed.

June 30th, July 1st and 2nd.—I visited this Hospital on each of the above days, and have made a thorough inspection of every part of it. The number of patients is 243—133 males and 110 females; and of these, 44 males and 31 females, total 75, are under 16 years of age. Since my last visit 3 males and 1 female have been admitted, and 2 males and 1 female have died. I saw and specially examined each of the new patients, and found all fit subjects for the Hospital. During my visit I took care to see every patient on the Register, checking off the names on my list during my visits to different parts of the Institution. No complaints of any kind were made to me, and the general cheerfulness and contentment of the patients and their confidence in, and in many cases evident attachment to, the attendants and nurses, are excellent indications of the treatment they experience. The general health is good; no patient was in bed in the female division, and though 11 were in bed in the male Hospital there is no serious ailment—almost all being kept in bed owing to feeble circulation, paralysis, frequent epilepsy, or some condition rendering the recumbent position and bed in cold weather desirable. The female patients were very neat and tidy, as usual, leaving, in fact nothing to be desired in this direction, and the males were fairly tidy and comfortably and warmly clad. The rooms throughout were in good order and clean. Some few patients are sleeping on mattresses on the floor, and I have made arrangements that bedsteads are to be provided for these.

I visited the laundry, sewing-room, kitchen, stores, carpenter, tailor, and blacksmith shops, and found all in good order. In the stores and kitchen I saw the meat, bread, and potatoes, sugar, cheese, and other articles of provisions, and found all of satisfactory quality. The milk is of proper specific gravity, and by the lactometer shows a good percentage of cream in the cream tubes. I saw the patients at dinner in all three wards; it consisted of excellent soup, with roast beef and potatoes all well cooked, and served with great care, attention, and cleanliness.

In the laundry I saw the drying closet, which at last, in the hands of a local engineer, promises to be a success, and in which there was a heat of 120° at the time of my visit.

Alterations to gas-fittings are in progress, but the work is not proceeding as rapidly as is desirable, and some other requisitions on the Colonial Architect's Department of long standing are still unattended to. I saw and signed the statutory books, which are correctly kept. From the Medical Journal it appears that there has been no case of serious accident since my last visit, and that seclusion and restraint have only been resorted to in very occasional and exceptional instances, and the latter only by means of gloves or muffs in cases of extremely destructive habits. There was no one in either seclusion or restraint at the time of my visit. From the day and night reports it appears that 37 males and 27 females are usefully employed; that 24 males and 20 females are wet and dirty by day, that 26 males and 24 females are wet, and 12 males and 5 females dirty at night. I examined the diet sheets and found that the amount of stimulants and extras now used is small, the ample and varied dietary rendering extras and medical comforts but little necessary. On July 1st I attended divine service, at which the Rev. Canon Selwyn officiated. The church-room was full of patients and attendants, the singing of hymns and responses excellent, and the selection of prayers, as well as the address delivered by the chaplain, appeared to me most judicious. Mr. F. Cane kindly played the harmonium, as usual, and the whole service, with the admirable behaviour and attention of the patients, left a most pleasant and satisfactory impression on my mind. The number who attended the two services was 133, of whom 75 were males and 58 were females. A large number have special Sunday suits, of which they are proud and take great care. I examined the departmental records and case books, which are in good order; saw the Medical Officer, who reports the general health and sanitary condition as satisfactory; and spent a considerable time in consulting with the Superintendent on details of management. The Superintendent reports very satisfactorily of the conduct of the staff, in which no changes have taken place for some time.

The water supply of the Hospital has been a constant anxiety, but at such times as the wells and tanks at the Hospital have failed the well near the Superintendent's house, which has been fitted with a windmill and hand-pump, has yielded a good supply. The new corporation water-supply from the Hunter River is not likely to be available for at least three years, and there is no way in which the supply for the Hospital can be increased, so that constant care in its use will be necessary.

The supply of vegetables from the garden has been very small, owing to the continued dry weather. I have for some time been dissatisfied with the dormitory accommodation for nurses, especially for those employed at the male division, and at my visit in September I consulted with the Superintendent and the Clerk of Works from the Colonial Architect's Department as to the manner in which additional rooms could be most economically and satisfactorily provided. It was decided to recommend an additional story to some of the buildings in the female division, and plans for this alteration have been prepared, and now await approval.

The following tables give the main statistics for the year:—

TABLE 1.
SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Hospital for the Insane,
Newcastle, during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December, 1882 .....	130	109	239
	Male.	Female.	Total.
Admitted for the first time during the year .....	13	5	18
Re-admitted during the year .....	6	3	9
Transferred during the year .....	19	8	27
Total under care during the year .....	149	117	266
Discharged or removed—
Recovered .....	.....	.....	.....
Relieved .....	1	.....	1
Transferred .....	2	.....	2
Escaped (and not recaptured) .....	.....	.....	.....
Died .....	12	5	17
Total discharged or died during the year .....	15	5	20
Remaining .....	134	112	246
Average number resident during the year .....	132	110	242
*Persons under care during the year † .....	149	117	266
*Persons admitted .....	13	5	18
*Persons recovered .....	.....	.....	.....

* Persons, i.e., separate persons, in contradistinction to "cases" which include the same individual more than once.

† Total cases, minus re-admission of patients discharged during the current year.

Temporary Hospital for the Insane, Cooma.

The number of patients on 31st December, 1882, was 60. Two patients were admitted and 2 died, so that the number on December 31st, 1883, was the same as on the same date of the preceding year. The average daily number resident was 59, and the death rate was 3·39 per cent. on this.

I visited this Hospital on April 24th and 25th, and November 17th and 23rd, and the following are copies of my entries in the Inspector's book at these visits:—

April 24th and 25th.—I visited this Hospital on both these days, and inspected every part of it, including the offices, stores, and out-buildings. I found the rooms occupied by patients, as well as all the accessory buildings, clean and in excellent order, and the bedding was clean, in good repair, and sufficient in quantity. There are 60 patients on the register, and the only changes since my last visit are one death and one admission. I saw and spoke to every one of the patients, checking the names by my list. One only was in bed, suffering from the dulness following severe epileptic paroxysms. The general health is thoroughly good, and the patients as a rule were well and properly dressed. In some instances, however, the clothing was not quite as tidy as usual, and the boots were unblacked. Some little extra attention is evidently necessary on the part of the attendant in charge. There was a complete absence of noise or excitement, and no complaints of harsh, unkind, or improper treatment were made to me. I found no one in restraint or seclusion. There has been, as shown by the Medical Journal, no instance of the former for nearly two years, and the latter has only been used in five instances, and for short periods, since my last visit.

The Superintendent reports favourably of the supplies under the new contracts, and such articles of provision as I saw in the stores were excellent in quality. The meat was somewhat thin, but of average quality; and the milk, as shown by the cream-tubes and lactometer, thoroughly good.

There was a sufficient supply of all articles of clothing for immediate use, but some articles, such as under-flannels and drawers, are running out; and I thought it necessary to request the Superintendent of Stores to supply the stock of these articles, for which requisitions have already been sent, as soon as possible.

I examined the day and night reports and diet-sheets. It appears that about 28 patients are always actively employed. The extras on the diet-sheet are few, and the amount of stimulants used small, and only given when absolutely necessary. I saw and signed the statutory books, which are correctly kept, and I examined the papers received with the only patient recently admitted.

The departmental records, including the provision and store accounts, are properly kept and written up to date. The contractor for deepening the well has nearly completed his work, the water supply is much improved, and will, except in very droughty seasons, be sufficient for all purposes. A new pump to raise the water is now required, the old pump being worn out and the water now raised in buckets. The water has throughout the summer been carted from the creek, and the supply thus obtained has been bad in quality, and barely sufficient to meet the wants of the Institution.

The Superintendent reports favourably of the conduct of the staff under his orders, and the vacancies in the list of attendants which occurred last year appear to have been filled by respectable, well-conducted, and suitable men.

I met the Medical Officer at the Hospital. His visits, as well as those of the Chaplains, have been paid with sufficient frequency.

November 17th and 23rd.—I visited this Hospital on both the above days, and passed through the wards, dormitories &c., with the Superintendent. The number of patients on the Register is 60, and the only changes since my last visit have been 1 death from epilepsy and 1 admission. I specially examined the patient recently admitted, and found him a fit subject for the Hospital. The papers sent with him are correct. I granted leave of absence to one patient for one month at the request of his wife. The statutory books which I signed have been correctly kept, and from the Medical Journal it appears that restraint has not been resorted to in any instance since my last visit, and that the instances of seclusion have been rare and exceptional. I found the patients quiet and orderly, and no complaints, except such as were obviously due to delusion, were made to me. In two instances, lest there should be any mistake, I allowed the patients an opportunity of seeing me alone and stating their grievances at length, and found that all these were due to a disordered imagination. The general health of the inmates was most satisfactory, and only two seemed in any way out of health. One of these is suffering from chronic brain disease, and the other from chest affection. One patient was in bed owing to ulcers of the legs, which, as he was restless and fidgetty, would not heal whilst he was allowed to get up. The wards, dormitories, and other parts occupied by the patients are models of cleanliness and order.

The bedding was thoroughly clean and in excellent order, and the clothing of the patients tidy and suitable. The laundry, kitchen, stores, stables and offices, out-buildings, &c., were all thoroughly clean and in good order. The buildings throughout were in good repair, various minor alterations conducing to comfort and order have been carried out by the patients and staff, and the woodwork has almost all been recently repainted. The deepening of the well, which was in progress at my last visit, has been completed, and a new pump fixed, with the result that the Hospital is now fairly and in ordinary seasons will be abundantly supplied with water of excellent quality. The sugar, tea, and groceries in the stores were quite equal to sample, and the bread, meat, and other articles of provisions were all of good quality. The Superintendent reports very favourably of the contractors, and the arrangements by which the contracts are now taken, in sections instead of in one contract as formerly, seems to answer well. From the day and night reports, it appears that the number of patients employed is on an average 30, and that there is usually about 1 dirty and 3 or 4 wet at night. The diet-sheets show that while the patients are in no way stinted, only such extras as are absolutely necessary are given. I examined the departmental records, which are properly kept, and from the visitors' book it appears that the chaplain and medical officer are regular in their attendance. One of the attendants is on sick leave, but his place is taken by an efficient substitute, and the Superintendent reports very favourably of the general conduct of the staff under his orders.

It is proposed to remove the patients from this temporary hospital as soon as the Hospital at Callan Park is ready for occupation.

Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River.

The number of patients in this Institution on 31st December, 1882, was 144—9 males and 135 females, and during the year 16 patients were admitted for the first time, 1 was re-admitted, and 5 were transferred from other Institutions, giving a total of 166—18 males and 148 females. Of these, 7—5 males and 2 females—were discharged recovered; 5—3 males and 2 females—were discharged relieved; and 8—5 males and 3 females—died. The number remaining at the close of the year was 146—7 males and 139 females, and the average daily number resident was 145. 2 male and 5 female patients were on leave of absence at the close of the year. The recoveries give a percentage of 41·17, and the discharges as relieved a percentage of 29·41 on the admissions. The death rate was 5·51 per cent. on the average number resident.

The cause of death in 6 cases was cerebral disease, and in the remaining 2 cases death was due to pulmonary consumption in one and general debility and old age in the other.

The Institution consists of two separate divisions—one for patients maintained at the expense of the Government, and the other for private patients. In the former the only changes were 5 deaths and the admission of 5 new patients from Gladesville and Parramatta to take the place of those deceased. In the division set apart for private patients the changes have been more than usually numerous, and the number admitted has been greater than during any previous year since the opening of the Institution.

I paid visits of inspection on January 2nd, February 5th, March 24th, May 8th, June 30th, August 23rd, October 8th, November 10th, and December 13th. On each occasion passed through all the rooms occupied by patients and spent some time in conversing with all who wished to speak to me. At one visit I checked the register and saw and spoke to every patient, and at nearly every visit I saw and spoke to all the private patients, taking especial care to see and examine all recently admitted, as well as to see the official papers received with them.

The

The arrangements for the Government patients have not been altered during the year, and are on the whole satisfactory. Dr. Vause, the Medical Superintendent, has made some alterations in the division for private patients with a view of improving the classification and separating patients with faulty habits from others. There was only one accident, a self-inflicted wound of the throat made with suicidal intent; the wound soon healed, and the patient after a time recovered and was discharged.

The following are copies of my reports, made at two of my visits during the year :—

August 23rd.—I have to-day visited this Institution, and seen all the patients, with one or two exceptions. I saw and spoke to all the private patients except one. The number of these now on the Register is 9 males and 13 females, and of the latter 5 are absent on leave, under the provisions of the Lunacy Act. One of these is reported by the Medical Superintendent to have overstayed her leave, and I have requested Dr. Vause to report this officially, unless she either presents herself for examination or sends the necessary certificate within two or three days.

There has been one admission since the last official visit, and I examined the papers in this case and found them correct. There has been no discharge or death. From the Medical Journal it appears that there has been no serious accident since the last visit, and no occurrence to call for remark. Restraint has been employed by means of muffs in two cases for faulty habits. The numbers employed are 58 on an average. I signed the statutory books, which are written up to a recent date. In visiting the wards I found no one in bed, and, though some of the female patients are old and feeble, the general health is satisfactory. The rooms throughout were clean and the patients free from complaint, except as to detention. I have made myself acquainted with the special circumstances and mental condition of all those who are clamorous for discharge, and though in one or two cases the patients might perhaps be discharged to the care of friends who would take an active and kindly interest in them, and provide for their maintenance, there is no prospect of their doing well in the absence of these, and the only place for them is an Institution where they can be taken care of.

On examining the visitors' book, I notice that the Church of England chaplain has not visited the Institution during the current month, and I learn that there is no explanation of his not having done so.

Sir Alfred Roberts, one of the official visitors, met me at the Institution, and we together examined a private patient at very considerable length, and with great care, to ascertain as far as possible his mental condition and fitness for discharge.

10th November.—I have to-day visited this Institution, which now contains 125 Government and 16 private patients; of the latter 8 are males and 8 females. 5 females and 1 male are on leave of absence, and are still on the Register. Of these, 2 females have overstayed their time without report, and the Medical Superintendent has taken steps to obtain the necessary certificates either for extending leave or for discharge. I passed through all the wards, and found them clean and in order. I saw and spoke to all the private patients, and I saw all the Government patients at dinner, which consisted of boiled meat, potatoes and other vegetables, and soup, served with care and cleanliness. The patients all had an opportunity of speaking to me, and none made complaints.

I saw and signed the statutory books. The changes since my last visit have been as follows :—Admissions, 2 males, direct; and 1 female, transferred from Gladsville; discharges, 2 males, recovered; death, 1 female. I saw the papers on which the new patients were received and found them correct, and I examined both these patients and assured myself of their fitness for the Institution.

The general health of the inmates is good, but 2 patients (both suffering from chronic brain disease of long standing) were in bed, and neither of them is likely to live very long.

I made inquiries as to the means of extinguishing fire, which consist of a hydrant in the central square, supplied from an elevated tank, which is connected with an underground tank, by a force pump, and three extingtuers. I found that the question was under the special consideration of the Medical Superintendent, who frequently looked to the condition of the appliances, and who at once adopted my suggestion to place buckets with water in them and mops in the verandahs at night, as is done at theatres and other buildings. I am of opinion that as soon as a supply of water from the Sydney mains can be procured hydrants should be placed in various places, both inside and outside the buildings, as without these wooden buildings can not be considered safe.

The following tables give the main statistics of the Institution :—

TABLE 1.

SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River, during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December, 1882 .....	9	135	144
	Male.	Female.	Total.
Admitted for the first time during the year .....	7	9	16
Re-admitted during the year .....	1	.....	1
Transferred during the year .....	1	4	5
	9	13	22
Total under care during the year .....	18	148	166
Discharged or removed—
Recovered .....	5	2	7
Relieved .....	3	2	5
Transferred .....	.....	.....	.....
Escaped (and not recaptured) .....	.....	.....	.....
Died .....	3	5	8
Total discharged or died during the year .....	11	9	20
Remaining .....	7	139	146
Average number resident during the year .....	8	137	145
*Persons under care during the year † .....	17	148	165
*Persons admitted .....	7	8	15
*Persons recovered .....	5	2	7

* Persons, i.e., separate persons, in contradistinction to "cases" which may include the same individual more than once.
† Total cases, minus re-admission of patients discharged during the current year.

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the Admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, with the mean Annual Mortality, and the proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent, at the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River, during the years 1876-1883 inclusive.

Year	Admitted				Transferred from other Hospitals, &c	Discharged				Transferred to other Hospitals, &c	Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days	Died	Remaining in Hospital 31st December in each year.	Average number resident	Percentage of recoveries on admissions and re admissions			Percentage of patients relieved on admission and re admission.			Percentage of deaths on average numbers resident
	Admitted for the first time		Re-admitted			Recovered		Relieved							M F Total			M F Total			M F Total
	M	F	Total	M		F	Total	M	F						Total	M	F	Total	M	F	Total	M	F	Total	M	F	Total
1876	2	1	3			33	33			1	1	1			2	8	10	5	130	135	6	113	119			50	00		33	33	31	25	7	06	8	38
1877	5	3	8	1	1	11	11	2	6	8	1	1	2	1	3	2	7	9	4	130	134	5	129	134	40	00	150	00	88	88		25	00	11	11	40	00	5	42	6	66
1878	5	2	7	1	1	1	7	8	3	2	5	1	1	1	2	1	8	9	5	128	133	5	128	133	50	00	20	00	31	25		10	00	6	25	20	00	6	24	6	76
1879	3	1	4	1	1	4	4	1	1	2	1	1	1	1		5	5	6	127	133	4	128	132	33	33	50	00	40	00		50	00	20	00		3	93	3	79
1880	3	2	5	1	1	9	9	1	3	4	1	1	2	2	2	5	5	6	129	135	4	128	132	25	00	150	0	66	66	25	00	50	00	33	33		3	90	3	79
1881	5	9	14			1	10	11	4	3	7	2	5	7		8	8	6	132	138	5	132	137	30	00	33	33	50	00	40	00	55	55	50	00		6	06	5	83
1882	7	4	11			1	11	12	2	2	4	1	1	2	1	1	9	10	9	135	144	7	133	140	28	57	50	00	36	36	14	28	25	00	18	18	14	28	6	77	7	14
1883	7	9	16	1	1	1	4	5	5	2	7	3	2	5		3	5	8	7	139	146	8	137	145	62	50	22	22	41	17	37	50	22	22	29	41	37	50	3	65	5	51

TABLE 3.

SHOWING the Causes of Insanity, apparent or assigned, in the Admissions and Re-admissions in the Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River, during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
MORAL --
Domestic trouble (including loss of relatives and friends)	.....	.....	.....
Adverse circumstances (including business anxiety and pecuniary difficulties)	.....	1	1
Mental anxiety and "worry" (not included under above two heads) and overwork	2	1	3
Religious excitement	.....	.....	.....
Love affairs (including seduction)	.....	1	1
Fright and nervous attack	.....	.....	.....
Isolation	.....	.....	.....
Nostalgia	.....	.....	.....
PHYSICAL :-
Intemperance in drink	3	1	4
Do (sexual)	.....	.....	.....
Veneral disease	.....	.....	.....
Self-abuse (sexual)	2	.....	2
Sunstroke	.....	.....	.....
Accident or injury	.....	.....	.....
Pregnancy	.....	.....	.....
Parturition and the puerperal state	.....	.....	.....
Lactation	.....	.....	.....
Uterine and ovarian disorders	.....	.....	.....
Puberty	.....	.....	.....
Change of life	.....	.....	.....
Fevers	.....	.....	.....
Privation and overwork	.....	.....	.....
Phthisis	.....	.....	.....
Epilepsy	.....	2	2
Disease of skull and brain	.....	.....	.....
Other bodily diseases and disorders and chronic ill-health	.....	.....	.....
Excess of opium	.....	.....	.....
PREVIOUS ATTACKS	.....	.....	.....
HEREDITARY INFLUENCE ASCERTAINED	.....	1	1
CONGENITAL DEFECT ASCERTAINED	1	.....	1
OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES	.....	.....	.....
UNKNOWN	.....	2	2
Total	8	9	17

Observation Ward, H. M. Gaol, Darlinghurst.

The number of inmates of this Ward on December 31st, 1882, was 7, and the number admitted for observation and special care during the year was 78, making a total of 85. Of these, 61 were returned to the ordinary prison wards, after varying periods of observation and treatment, as of sound mind; 14 were certified as insane and forwarded to the Hospital at Parramatta; 3 were sent to the Police Court; and 7 remained at the close of the year.

In addition to the special use for which this ward was set apart under the provisions of the Lunacy Act, it has, as during former years, appeared to be the most fitting place for the detention of certain classes of prisoners, viz.:-

- 1st. Those showing symptoms of insanity whilst awaiting trial.
- 2nd. Those acquitted on the ground of insanity, and awaiting disposal according to the pleasure of His Excellency the Governor; and
- 3rd. Those who display mental peculiarities whilst under sentence or on remand from the Police Court.

The inmates belonging to the latter class numbered, including 5 remaining from 1882, no less than 151, and with few exceptions belonged to the class of habitual drunkards or habitual criminals.

The following return gives the statistics of the Ward for the year :—

	Remaining on 31st December, 1882.			Received.			Discharged.												Remaining on 31st December, 1883.
							Of sound mind			To Hospital for the Insane.			To Police Courts.			Died.
	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
Admitted under the provisions of section 63 of the Lunacy Act and section 4 of the Lunacy Act Amendment Act, from,—	H.M. Gaols :—
	Darlinghurst	4	...	4	47	1	48	39	...	39	7	...	7	3	...	3	...	...	...	...	3	...	3
	Bathurst	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Goulburn	1	...	1	5	...	5	4	...	4	2	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Parramatta	...	...	...	8	...	8	6	...	6	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Berrima	1	...	1	2	...	2	3	...	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Albury	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Maitland	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Shoalhaven	...	...	...	1	1	2	...	...	...	1	1	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Gosford	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Glen Innes	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Ryde	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Campbelltown	...	...	...	3	...	3	3	...	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Mudgee	...	...	...	...	2	2	...	2	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Dubbo	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Wellington	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Wollongong	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
	Armidale	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Awaiting Trial.	Supreme Court, Sydney
		Quarter Sessions
Acquitted on the ground of Insanity, and awaiting Governor's pleasure.	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1
Police Courts	Under Sentence
	On Remand
	4	1	5	101	14	115	32	1	33	3	4	7	94	14	108	...	...	...	...	...	3	...	3
Total	11	1	12	205	21	226	91	3	94	16	5	21	97	14	111	...	...	...	...	...	12	...	12

I inspected the ward on January 18th, May 20th, August 29th, and December 5th, and on each occasion saw and spoke to every patient, and gave all an opportunity of complaining if so inclined. In the only instance in which I heard any, except the most trivial complaints, I carefully investigated them, and found that they were unfounded.

I found no one in either seclusion or restraint at any of my visits, and the ward was always in good order and the records carefully kept. The following is a copy of the entry made in the Inspector's book at my visit on December 5th :—

I have to-day visited the Observation Ward at Darlinghurst, and after making a list of inmates from the Register I saw all those in the ward at my visit.

The number on the Register was 14, and of these 2 were away at the Police Court awaiting medical examination and certificates. Of those in the ward, 4 were awaiting trial for attempts at suicide; 7 were serving sentences ranging from six months to three years, and 1 was serving a Police Court sentence of one month. Of the 7 serving comparatively long sentences, 3 were epileptics who display some mental disturbance about the time of the fits, but are not otherwise bad in mind. I spoke to and examined each inmate, and gave all an opportunity of speaking to me and making complaints. I heard no complaints of any kind; there was no noise or excitement, and the general condition of the inmates was evidence of care and judicious treatment. No restraint in any form has been used since my last visit. I examined a lad at some length with a view of gauging his mental capacity and responsibility, petitions having been forwarded for remission of sentence on the idea that he was mentally deficient. The corridor and cells were thoroughly clean and in good order, and the Register was written up to date, and, as usual, kept with great care.

Since my last visit a special dormitory has been arranged for epileptics, in which 2 who are in the Observation Ward by day, and others whose condition does not need special supervision during the day, now sleep at night.

APPENDIX.

The Medical Superintendent, Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Gladesville, 1 March, 1884.

I have the honor to forward, for your information, the report upon the Hospital for Insane, Gladesville, for the year ending 31st December, 1883, accompanied by the usual statistical tables.

As my appointment as Medical Superintendent was made on September 1st, 1883, the report will necessarily be brief and confined to statistical information.

On December 31st, 1882, there were remaining in Hospital, 447 males and 423 females, making a total of 870 patients.

During the year 1883, 307 patients were admitted, of whom 165 were males and 142 females. Of these, 261—143 males and 118 females—were admitted for the first time; 39—17 males and 22 females—were re-admissions; and 5 males and 2 females were transferred from other Hospitals for the Insane.

The total number under care during the year was 1,177—612 males and 565 females.

The average number resident was 801—459 males and 342 females.

The number discharged during the year was 303. Of these, 65 males and 69 females—a total of 134—had recovered; 10 males and 8 females—a total of 18—had improved; and 11 males and 140 females—a total of 151—were transferred to other Institutions for the Insane.

The deaths numbered 73—48 being males and 25 females. The causes of death are shown in Table X.

The number of patients on the Register on December 31st, 1883, was 801—478 males and 323 females.

These statistics are given in tabular form in Table I.

The

The number of admissions annually since 1870 is shown in the following table:—

Year.	No. of admissions.	Year.	No. of admissions.
1870	197	1877	433
1871	277	1878	400
1872	268	1879	333
1873	296	1880	311
1874	312	1881	344
1875	337	1882	305
1876	340	1883	307

Of the admissions during 1883, 93 were suffering from mania in one of its forms, 105 from melancholia, 48 from dementia, 13 from epileptic insanity, 18 from congenital mental deficiency, and 13 from general paralysis of the insane. The insanity was said to be due to moral causes in 39 cases, and to physical in 137, while in 176 no cause was known to the friends or connections or could be ascertained after admission. These figures are given in detail in Tables VIII and IX respectively.

Of those admitted, 104 were by request of friends, 28 by request signed by officers of public institutions, gaols, &c., and 168 by order of Magistrates; 7 were by transfer warrant from other Hospitals for the Insane. As the process of admission by request of friends is becoming better known fuller advantage is taken of it. This is a very desirable result, as the patients are thus saved the publicity of the Police Courts, and the fees being paid by their friends, the cost to the Government is less.

The number of patients discharged recovered was 134, giving a percentage of 44.66 on the admissions and re-admissions; discharged relieved, 18, giving a percentage of 6. The deaths numbered 73, which, calculated on the average number resident, gives a percentage of 9.11. The death rate on the male side was 10.45, while on the female it was 7.31. The mortality this year is 1.77 per cent. higher than in 1882, and is due to the large number of acute cases admitted.

Of the 151 patients transferred to other Institutions for the Insane, 133 were sent to Parramatta when the new buildings for women were opened there; 4 were sent to the Licensed House at Cook's River to replace Government patients deceased therein; 9 imbeciles and idiots were sent to Newcastle; and the remainder, 5, were sent to Callan Park or Parramatta with a view to improvement in their general health or mental condition.

Particulars as to leave of absence under the 82nd section of the Lunacy Act are shown in the following table:—

Remaining on leave 31st December, 1882.			Number granted leave during the year 1883.			Discharged recovered.			Returned to Hospital.			Died whilst on leave.			Remaining on leave 31st December, 1883.
M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
4	12	16	15	30	45	3	11	14	9	14	23	.	...	...	7	17	24

The working of this clause of the Act has been of great benefit to patients. Doubtful cases can be tried at home, and convalescents can often be allowed to return home earlier than if they had to be kept until quite recovered. Patients subject to recurrent attacks, too, can remain with their friends during the intervals, and return for treatment at the onset of the attacks.

One case of suicide occurred during the year, the particulars of which have already been communicated to you.

Several accidents happened during the year. These were—two fractures of the upper arm, one of the hip, one of the clavicle, and one of the wrist. In every case an inquiry was held, and the injury was found to be due to accident alone. Three cases of sudden death occurred, in two of which the Coroner deemed it necessary to hold an inquest. In two of these cases the death was due to heart disease, and in one to cerebral effusion.

A copy of each issue of the Australian Churchman, Bathurst Free Press, Bega Gazette, Deniliquin Chronicle, Dubbo Daily Express, Dubbo Despatch, Maitland Mercury, Riverina Grazier, Wagga Wagga Advertiser, Wagga Wagga Express, Wellington Gazette, Yass Courier, Social Reformer, St. Leonards Recorder, Orange Liberal, and the Weekly Advocate has been regularly sent during the year. Two copies of the Bathurst Times, Queanbeyan Age, Western Post, Southern Argus, Manaro Mercury, Goulburn Herald, and the Burrangong Argus have been sent for one subscription. The proprietors of the Sydney Daily Telegraph have sent a copy of each issue gratuitously. I desire to express my gratitude to the proprietors of these papers for their generosity.

The Hunter's Hill Private Dramatic Society, the Sydney Amateur Comedy Society, the Redmyre Glee Club, the Highland Musical Union, and the ladies and gentlemen of Gladesville have kindly given entertainments during the year, which have been much appreciated and enjoyed by the patients. Pleasant afternoons have also been spent in listening to the City Fire Brigade Band and to the band of H.M.S. "Nelson."

The following donations for the amusement of the patients have been received during the past two years, and are now gratefully acknowledged:—Mr. Thomas, of Forbes, £5 5s.; Mr. Darvall, £5; Mr. Alex. Beattie, £1; Mr. T. Small, £1 2s.; Mr. J. De V. Lamb, £2 2s.; Rev. F. Binsfield, £1 1s.; "Little Dal's Christmas Gift," per Mrs. Kerwin, £2 2s.; Capt. M'Lean, £5 5s.; Mr. F. W. Beed, of Hay, £1 1s.; Mary Riley, £1; Mrs. M., £10; Mr. H. M., £5; and Mrs. H., £4 10s., through Dr. Manning; packages of illustrated papers from Miss Walker of Rhodes, Mr. E. O. Smith, Mr. J. E. Manning, Miss Walker of Yaralla, Mrs. Makinson, Sir Alfred Stephen, Mr. F. Levick, Mr. Forde, Mr. H. C. D'Ardier, Mr. J. H. Adger, Dr. Manning, Mr. O. W. Hanby, Dr. Leibius, Mr. Owen, Mr. R. F. Rankin, and Mr. Jas. C. Taylor.

Mrs. Darvall, of Ryde, Mr. R. R. Terry, and Mr. T. Salter have generously sent from time to time large quantities of fruit and oranges.

The following animals and birds have also been received, and have served to make the wards more cheerful and interesting:—From Mr. C. W. Lawson, of Mudgee, a kangaroo and a wallaby; Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, M.L.A., 3 Chinese pheasants; Mr. J. Shelley, Buckwarroon, Cobar, 8 young emus; Sergeant Ussher, Taree, a native bear; Mr. W. Bulfin, Birkenhead, 2 rosella parrots; and Mr. H. M'Lean, Five Dock, a cockatoo.

And have, &c.,

ERIC SINCLAIR, M.B., Medl. Supt.

TABLE 1.
SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, during the year 1883.

				Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December .....				447	423	870
				<table border="1"> <thead> <tr> <th>Male.</th> <th>Female.</th> <th>Total.</th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>143</td> <td>118</td> <td>261</td> </tr> <tr> <td>17</td> <td>22</td> <td>39</td> </tr> <tr> <td>5</td> <td>2</td> <td>7</td> </tr> </tbody> </table>			Male.	Female.	Total.	143	118	261	17	22	39	5	2	7
Male.	Female.	Total.
143	118	261
17	22	39
5	2	7
Admitted for the first time during the year .....
Re-admitted during the year .....
Transferred during the year .....
Total under care during the year .....				165	142	307
Total under care during the year .....				612	565	1,177
Discharged or removed—				<table border="1"> <thead> <tr> <th>Male.</th> <th>Female.</th> <th>Total.</th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>65</td> <td>69</td> <td>134</td> </tr> <tr> <td>10</td> <td>8</td> <td>18</td> </tr> <tr> <td>11</td> <td>140</td> <td>151</td> </tr> <tr> <td>48</td> <td>25</td> <td>73</td> </tr> </tbody> </table>			Male.	Female.	Total.	65	69	134	10	8	18	11	140	151	48	25	73
Male.	Female.	Total.
65	69	134
10	8	18
11	140	151
48	25	73
Recovered .....
Relieved .....
Transferred .....
Escaped (and not recaptured) .....
Died .....
Total discharged or died during the year .....				134	242	376
Remaining .....				478	323	801
Average number resident during the year .....				459	342	801
*Persons under care during the year† .....				609	563	1,172
*Persons admitted .....				162	140	302
*Persons recovered .....				64	69	133

*Persons, i.e., separate persons, in contradistinction to cases which may include the same individual more than once.
†Total cases, minus re-admissions of patients discharged during the current year.

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the Admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, with the Mean Annual Mortality and the Proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent., at the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, from the year 1869 to 1883 inclusive.

Year.	Admitted.			Transferred from other Hospitals, &c.			Discharged.			Transferred to other Hospitals, &c.	Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days	Died.	Remaining in Hospital 31st December.	Average number resident.	Percentage of recoveries on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of patients relieved on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of Deaths on the average number resident.
	For the first time.	Re-admitted.	Total.	Re-covered.	Re-lieved.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.						M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
																											M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
1869..	143	75	218	56	32	88	20	9	29	12	40	53	53	7	60	429	223	652	435	215	650	39	16	42	66	40	36	..	..	..	12	18	3	25	9	23
1870..	131	66	197	41	35	76	7	3	10	233	1	234	25	4	29	254	246	500	262	231	493	31	29	53	03	33	57	..	..	..	9	54	1	73	5	88
1871..	172	105	277	53	40	93	6	7	13	111	40	151	27	8	35	229	256	485	265	248	513	30	80	38	01	33	57	..	..	..	10	18	3	22	6	82
1872..	164	104	268	76	49	119	11	4	15	68	39	107	29	9	38	215	259	474	231	256	487	42	63	47	11	44	44	..	..	..	12	55	3	51	7	80
1873..	189	107	296	64	36	100	12	10	22	41	16	57	20	10	30	267	294	561	246	279	525	33	86	33	64	33	78	..	..	..	8	13	3	59	5	71
1874..	186	126	312	51	41	92	9	13	22	49	104	153	40	15	55	304	247	551	280	301	581	27	44	32	53	29	48	..	..	..	14	28	4	08	9	46
1875..	203	134	337	44	53	97	7	5	12	56	34	90	37	10	47	363	279	642	327	264	591	21	67	39	55	23	78	..	..	..	11	31	3	73	7	95
1876..	208	137	345	81	69	150	14	18	32	98	43	141	26	17	43	349	267	616	342	268	610	39	90	50	36	44	11	..	..	..	7	60	6	34	7	05
1877..	311	122	433	129	64	193	13	17	30	126	21	147	38	10	48	354	277	631	343	263	606	41	48	52	56	44	56	..	..	..	11	07	3	80	7	92
1878..	240	160	400	101	44	145	13	20	33	109	42	151	37	9	46	334	322	656	335	301	636	42	08	27	50	36	25	..	..	..	11	04	2	99	7	23
1879..	204	129	333	88	52	140	12	26	38	74	12	86	34	14	48	330	347	677	338	331	669	43	13	40	31	42	03	..	..	..	10	05	4	22	7	17
1880..	132	115	247	25	29	54	9	1	10	86	51	137	14	17	33	23	32	55	2	2	36	23	59	335	369	704	333	353	686	54	43	35	66	45	51	10	19	11	80	10	96	10	81	6	51	8	60
1881..	170	118	288	25	27	52	3	1	4	76	67	143	8	12	20	15	14	29	1	1	29	18	47	404	404	803	371	380	751	38	97	46	20	42	05	4	10	8	27	5	88	7	81	4	73	6	25
1882..	147	112	259	17	25	42	4	4	62	73	135	12	15	27	9	10	19	2	2	40	20	60	447	423	870	419	398	817	37	80	53	28	44	81	7	31	10	94	8	97	9	54	5	02	7	34
1883..	143	118	261	17	22	39	5	2	7	65	69	134	10	8	18	11	140	151	..	..	..	48	25	73	478	323	801	459	342	801	40	62	49	28	44	66	6	25	5	71	6	00	10	45	7	31	9	11

TABLE 3.

SHOWING the length of Residence in those Discharged Recovered and those who have Died in the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, during the year 1883.

	Recovered.			Died.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Under 1 month .....	4	2	6	5	6	11
From 1 to 3 months .....	22	17	39	5	5	10
From 3 to 6 months .....	19	13	32	7	3	10
From 6 to 9 months .....	5	6	11	6	3	9
From 9 to 12 months .....	5	7	12	4	.....	4
From 1 to 2 years .....	4	10	14	8	3	11
From 2 to 3 years .....	2	6	8	3	.....	3
From 3 to 5 years .....	2	3	5	8	1	9
From 5 to 7 years .....	2	4	6	1	.....	1
From 7 to 10 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
From 10 to 12 years .....	.....	.....	.....	1	1	2
From 12 to 15 years .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	2	2
Over 15 years .....	.....	1	1	.....	1	1
	65	69	134	48	25	73

TABLE 4.

SHOWING the Ages of the Admissions and Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, and also the Ages of all Patients under care during the year 1883, in the Hospital for the Insane at Gladesville.

	Admitted and Re-admitted.			Recovered.			Removed, Relieved, &c.			Died.			Patients under Care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
1 to 5 years .....	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1
5 to 10 years .....	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1
10 to 15 years .....	3	4	7	1	...	1	2	3	5	...	...	...	3	6	9
15 to 20 years .....	6	11	17	5	5	10	2	5	7	...	...	...	13	17	30
20 to 30 years .....	38	46	84	12	23	35	6	25	31	5	6	11	124	115	239
30 to 40 years .....	38	35	73	21	17	38	...	38	38	10	3	13	150	144	294
40 to 50 years .....	39	25	64	13	12	25	4	35	39	15	9	24	155	144	299
50 to 60 years .....	24	12	36	9	9	18	3	22	25	4	3	7	90	76	166
60 to 70 years .....	9	4	13	4	1	5	...	9	9	8	2	10	54	40	94
70 to 80 years .....	5	5	10	...	...	...	2	9	11	5	2	7	19	17	36
80 to 90 years .....	1	...	1	...	2	2	...	2	2	1	...	1	2	6	8
90 and upwards .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
	165	142	307	65	69	134	21	148	169	48	25	73	612	565	1,177

TABLE 5.

SHOWING the Religious Profession of those admitted and those under care in the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, during the year 1883.

Religious Profession.	Admissions.			Under Care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Protestant—
Church of England .....	44	50	94	233	219	452
Presbyterian .....	11	7	18	37	34	71
Wesleyan .....	6	7	13	26	21	47
Lutheran .....	6	1	7	28	2	30
Other Protestant Denominations .....	23	22	45	40	37	77
Roman Catholic .....	70	54	124	210	242	452
Pagan .....	2	.....	2	18	.....	18
Hebrew .....	2	1	3	5	2	7
Mahomedan .....	1	.....	1	2	.....	2
Unascertained .....	.....	.....	.....	13	8	21
Total .....	165	142	307	612	565	1,177

TABLE 6.

CONDITIONS as to Marriage in those admitted and those under care in the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, during the year 1883.

	Admissions.			Under Care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Single .....	104	56	160	410	189	599
Married .....	48	67	115	151	285	436
Widowed .....	13	19	32	38	80	118
Unascertained .....	.....	.....	.....	13	11	24
Total.....	165	142	307	612	565	1,177

TABLE 7.

SHOWING the Native Countries of those Admitted and Re-admitted, and those under care, at the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, during the year 1883.

	Admitted and Re-admitted during 1883.			Under care during 1883.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
British Colonies .. { New South Wales .....	39	54	93	131	153	284
{ Other Colonies.....	3	6	9	10	13	23
Great Britain .....	53	37	90	192	131	323
{ England .....	6	5	11	28	28	56
{ Scotland .....	39	36	75	153	215	368
{ Ireland .....	1	.....	1	5	1	6
France .....	12	.....	12	32	6	38
Germany .....	1	.....	1	15	.....	15
China .....	11	4	15	46	18	64
Other Countries .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Total.....	165	142	307	612	565	1,177

TABLE 8.

SHOWING the form of Mental Disorder in the Admissions, Recoveries, and Deaths of the year 1883, and of Inmates on 31st December, 1883, at the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville.

Form of Mental Disorder.	Admissions.			Recoveries.			Deaths.			Remaining in Hospital.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
CONGENITAL OR INFANTILE MENTAL DEFICIENCY :—
(a) with Epilepsy .....	1	4	5	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	3	4
(b) without Epilepsy .....	9	4	13	...	...	...	...	1	1	20	14	34
Epileptic Insanity .....	7	6	13	...	1	1	...	...	...	29	15	44
General Paralysis of the Insane .....	10	3	13	1	...	1	8	1	9	13	3	16
MANIA :—
Sub-acute and Simple.....	9	8	17	9	8	17	3	4	7	11	12	23
Acute.....	13	19	32	7	7	14	5	4	9	16	8	24
Chronic.....	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	29	39	68
Recurrent.....	2	3	5	1	1	2	...	...	...	10	5	15
Delusional .....	21	16	37	11	4	15	6	2	8	99	52	151
A Potu .....	7	5	12	5	5	10	...	...	...	7	2	9
Puerperal.....	...	4	4	...	5	5	...	2	2	...	5	5
Senile .....	...	2	2	...	1	1	...	...	...	3	3	6
MELANCHOLIA :—
Simple .....	7	8	15	5	5	10	1	...	1	9	13	22
Acute .....	4	3	7	4	5	9	1	...	1	6	6	12
Chronic.....	...	1	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	17	11	28
Recurrent.....	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	2
Delusional .....	41	37	78	11	17	28	9	5	14	105	76	181
Puerperal .....	...	3	3	...	4	4	...	...	...	...	1	1
Senile .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	3
DEMENTIA :—
Primary .....	25	12	37	11	4	15	8	5	13	88	46	134
Secondary .....	2	...	2	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1
Senile .....	5	4	9	...	2	2	4	1	5	10	5	15
Organic (i.e., from Tumours, coarse Brain Disease, &c.) .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	2	3	...	3

TABLE 9.

SHOWING the Causes of Insanity, apparent or assigned, in the Admissions, in the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
MORAL :—
Domestic trouble (including loss of relatives and friends) .....	2	6	8
Adverse circumstances (including business anxiety and pecuniary difficulties) .....	1	3	4
Mental anxiety and "Worry" (not included under above two heads), and overwork .....	8	8	16
Religious excitement .....	1	5	6
Love affairs (including seduction) .....	1	1	2
Fright and nervous attack .....	.....	1	1
Isolation .....	1	1	2
Nostalgia .....	.....	.....	.....
PHYSICAL :—
Old age .....	2	.....	2
Intemperance in drink .....	27	16	43
Do. (sexual) .....	.....	.....	.....
Veneral disease .....	.....	.....	.....
Self-abuse (sexual) .....	3	.....	3
Sunstroke .....	5	.....	5
Accident or injury .....	9	1	10
Pregnancy .....	.....	.....	.....
Parturition and the puerperal state .....	.....	7	7
Lactation .....	.....	.....	.....
Uterine and Ovarian disorders .....	.....	1	1
Puberty .....	.....	.....	.....
Change of life .....	.....	2	2
Fevers .....	2	3	5
Privation and overwork .....	2	.....	2
Phthisis .....	.....	.....	.....
Epilepsy .....	7	7	14
Disease of skull and brain .....	4	2	6
Other bodily diseases and disorders and chronic ill-health .....	.....	1	1
Excess of opium .....	.....	.....	.....
PREVIOUS ATTACKS .....	2	1	3
HEREDITARY INFLUENCE ASCERTAINED .....	4	4	8
CONGENITAL DEFECT ASCERTAINED .....	10	5	15
OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES .....	2	2	4
UNKNOWN .....	72	65	137

TABLE 10.

SHOWING the Causes of Death in the Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
CEREBRAL DISEASE :—
Apoplexy and Paralysis .....	2	1	3
Epilepsy and Convulsions .....	2	.....	2
General Paralysis .....	9	2	11
Maniacal and melancholic Exhaustion and Decay .....	7	9	16
Inflammation and other diseases of the brain, softening, tumour, &c. ....	10	2	12
THORACIC DISEASE :—
Inflammation of lungs, pleura, and bronchi .....	2	2	4
Pulmonary consumption .....	.....	4	4
Disease of heart and blood vessels .....	2	.....	2
ABDOMINAL DISEASE :—
Cancer of peritoneum .....	.....	2	2
Dysentery and diarrhoea .....	3	.....	3
Albuminuria .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of bladder and prostate .....	.....	.....	.....
Disease of liver .....	1	.....	1
ACUTE ECZEMA WITH ACUTE MANIA .....	.....	1	1
ERYSIPELAS .....	2	1	3
TYPHOID FEVER .....	.....	1	1
GENERAL DEBILITY AND OLD AGE .....	7	.....	7
ACCIDENT .....	.....	.....	.....
SUICIDE .....	1	.....	1

The Medical Superintendent, Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta, to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta, 12 March, 1884.

I do myself the honor to submit, for your information, a report upon the Hospitals for the Insane at Parramatta, for the year 1883, accompanied by the usual statistical tables.

The number of Patients on the 31st December, 1882, was 848, classified as follows :—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free .....	577	201	778
Criminal .....	44	6	50
Convict .....	17	3	20
Total.....	638	210	848

The total number Admitted and Re-admitted in 1883 was 107, classified as follows :—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free .....	57	26	83
Criminal .....	21	3	24
Convict .....	.....	.....	.....
Total.....	78	29	107

The total number of Patients transferred from other Institutions was 150, classified as follows :—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	14	136	150
Total.....	14	136	150

The total number under Care was 1,105, classified as follows :—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	648	363	1,011
Criminal .....	65	9	74
Convict .....	17	3	20
Total.....	730	375	1,105

The total number Discharged was 45, as follows :—

	Discharged Recovered.			Discharged Relieved.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free .....	33	4	37	3	1	4
Criminal .....	4	.....	4	.....	.....	.....
Convict.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Total.....	37	4	41	3	1	4

The total number of Deaths during the year was 42, classified as follows :—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	32	10	42
Criminal .....	.....	.....	.....
Convict .....	.....	.....	.....
Total.....	32	10	42

The total number of Patients transferred to other Institutions was 18, classified as follows :—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	2	2	4
Criminal .....	11	3	14
Convict .....	.....	.....	.....
Total.....	13	5	18

The total number of Patients in the Hospitals on the 31st of December, 1883, was 1,000, distributed as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	578	346	924
Criminal.....	50	6	56
Convict.....	17	3	20
Total.....	645	355	1,000

In comparing the statistics of this year with those of 1882, it will be observed that the total number of admissions into the Free Hospital is 11 more, and of Criminals 7 less, than in 1882. The total number of patients transferred from other Institutions to this Hospital was 150 in all, as against 27 last year; by far the major portion of this number came from Gladesville on the opening of the new weatherboard buildings at this place. One patient only was re-admitted during the year, after having been discharged as recovered. The percentage of recoveries on the total number of admissions and re-admissions during the year was 44.57, and a percentage of 4.81 were sufficiently well in mental condition to be discharged to the care of their friends. The proportion of deaths calculated on the average number resident during the year was very low, being only 4.76 per cent., a fact which of itself speaks volumes for the general sanitary condition of the Institution, and is the more to be wondered at considering the large number of old and feeble patients resident, there being 118 between 60 and 70, 41 between 70 and 80, and 11 over 80 years of age.

A large proportion of the deaths that occurred was due to diseases of the chest.

The youngest patient who died was 28 years, and two died over 80 years of age.

There were no cases of accidental death during the year.

Three patients died somewhat suddenly, and in each case the Coroner was communicated with, but did not think an inquiry necessary except in one case.

No epidemic of any kind has found its way into the Hospital wards, the general health of the patients being exceedingly good, and more especially has a marked change in this respect been observable amongst the female patients who were removed at the commencement of the year from their gloomy prison in the main building to the cheerful and comfortable quarters they at present occupy. The wards in this new division of the Hospital are now assuming a more home-like and tidy appearance than at first, and things are gradually settling down into their proper order.

No accident of any moment occurred, and there were few escapes. In the few instances in which patients did escape they were returned to the Hospital in a few hours. A great many improvements have taken place in the grounds, under the management of the gardener, assisted by those patients who prefer being employed in this way.

Soon after the old prison buildings were vacated authority was granted for their demolition, and at the same time a contract was entered into for the erection of a new ward for the male patients now accommodated in the central block, which is in a very ruinous condition, and which the Colonial Architect reports to be beyond repair, except at a cost which it is not thought advisable to incur.

The stone from the old prison buildings is being largely used in the construction of the new ward. When this addition is completed it will add greatly to the convenience of the Institution and the comfort of the patients; and it is intended that it shall be mainly set apart for convalescent and industrious patients.

Amongst other recent additions may be mentioned the Board-room and library, the latter of which has filled a want long felt, as the books would speedily have become destroyed had they still been retained in the old Board-room, which is a dark, damp, and cheerless place.

The Medical Superintendent's old office has been ornamented and painted, and so converted into a cheerful room, in which patients see their friends, and is a very great improvement upon the place formerly used for that purpose.

A fair proportion of the patients have been usefully employed in various occupations, such as in the garden and grounds, laundry, wood-yard, kitchens, stores, farm, and wards.

The usual Sunday services have been regularly conducted both morning and evening, and the number attending divine worship is gradually increasing; even at the present time there is not nearly sufficient accommodation for those who are willing and able to attend; and as I consider the number of those fit to attend, and likely to be benefited by going to divine service, capable of great increase, and, moreover, as we have no place specially set apart for concerts, theatricals, dancing, and other forms of amusement for the patients, I would strongly recommend that a detached room be built on a vacant piece of ground situated between the male and female weatherboard buildings, which could be utilized for conducting divine service on Sundays and serve as an amusement-room on other days of the week.

As in former years, every attention has been paid to the amusement of the patients; during the winter months the usual fortnightly dances were held, which conduced greatly to the cheerfulness and contentment of the inmates.

The various members of the staff have been most assiduous in their endeavours to provide recreation and enjoyment to those placed under their charge; and thanks are due to the lady and gentlemen amateur members of the various dramatic and glee clubs which have so frequently visited the Institution, giving their time and attention in aiding to make a few hours pass pleasantly to the inmates.

Besides the above-mentioned means of amusement, a great number occupy themselves with quoits, bowls, draughts, bagatelle, billiards, cards, and cricket. When practicable, some of the patients, principally females, are taken for a drive; and when the weather permits, walking parties are formed.

The amateur companies to which we are chiefly indebted for their generous services are—The Vaudeville Minstrels, the Balmoral Minstrels, the Sydney Amateur Comedy Company, and the Lytton Dramatic Club.

Cricket has charms for a greater number than any other form of amusement, and the ground is used by the men at least three times every week, and more frequently when convenient. On public holidays scratch matches are organised, in which officers and attendants unite with those under their care, and by their presence add greatly to the interest of the game, as far as the patients themselves are concerned. I am fully convinced that were the members of the staff prohibited from playing with the

the

TABLE 3.

SHOWING the Causes of Insanity, apparent or assigned, in the admissions and re-admissions in the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Free), during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
MORAL :—
Domestic trouble (including loss of relatives and friends) .....		4	4
Adverse circumstances (including business anxiety and pecuniary difficulties).....	7	1	8
Mental anxiety and "Worry" (not included under above two heads), and overwork	4	.....	4
Religious excitement.....	4	1	5
Love affairs (including seduction) .....	1	.....	1
Fright and nervous attack .....	.....	1	1
Isolation .....	1	2	3
Nostalgia .....	.....	.....	.....
PHYSICAL :—
Intemperance in drink .....	12	1	13
Do. (sexual).....	.....	.....	.....
Venereal disease .....	.....	.....	.....
Self-abuse (sexual) .....	3	.....	3
Sunstroke .....	2	.....	2
Accident or injury.....	2	.....	2
Pregnancy .....	.....	1	1
Parturition and the puerperal state .....	.....	3	3
Lactation .....	.....	.....	.....
Uterine and Ovarian Disorders .....	.....	2	2
Puberty .....	.....	.....	.....
Change of life .....	.....	1	1
Fevers.....	1	.....	1
Privations and overwork .....	.....	1	1
Phthisis .....	.....	.....	.....
Epilepsy.....	.....	1	1
Disease of skull and brain .....	7	2	9
Other bodily diseases and disorders and chronic ill-health.....	4	1	5
Excess of opium .....	.....	.....	.....
PREVIOUS ATTACKS .....	.....	.....	.....
HEREDITARY INFLUENCE ASCERTAINED.....	.....	.....	.....
CONGENITAL DEFECT ASCERTAINED .....	2	2	4
OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES .....	.....	.....	.....
UNKNOWN .....	7	2	9
Total .....	57	26	83

TABLE 4.

SHOWING the Causes of Death in the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Free), during the year 1883

	Male.	Female.	Total.
CEREBRAL DISEASE :—
Apoplexy and Paralysis .....	1	3	4
Epilepsy and Convulsions .....	3	.....	3
General Paralysis .....	5	1	6
Maniacal and melancholic Exhaustion and Decay .....	2	1	3
Inflammation and other diseases of the Brain, Softening, Tumour, &c.....	1	.....	1
THORACIC DISEASE :—
Inflammation of Lungs, Pleura, and Bronchi .....	2	1	3
Pulmonary Consumption .....	8	1	9
Disease of Heart and Blood-vessels .....	2	.....	2
ABDOMINAL DISEASE :—
Inflammation and Ulceration of Stomach, Intestines, and Peritoneum.....	.....	2	2
Dysentery and Diarrhoea .....	2	.....	2
Albuminuria .....	1	.....	1
Disease of Bladder and Prostate .....	1	.....	1
Disease of Liver .....	.....	.....	.....
Erysipelas .....	.....	.....	.....
Typhoid Fever .....	.....	.....	.....
General Debility and Old Age .....	4	1	5
Accident.....	.....	.....	.....
Suicide .....	.....	.....	.....
Total .....	32	10	42

TABLE 5.

SHOWING the length of Residence in those Discharged, Recovered, and in those who have Died in the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Free), during the year 1883.

	Recovered			Died
	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total.
Under 1 month	3		3
From 1 to 3 months	14	1	15		2	2
From 3 to 6 months	8	1	9	1	2	3
From 6 to 9 months	3	2	5	2	2	4
From 9 to 12 months				2		2
From 1 to 2 years				2		2
From 2 to 3 years	1		1	4	1	5
From 3 to 5 years	3		3	4	1	5
From 5 to 7 years	1		1	5		5
From 7 to 10 years		...		2		2
From 10 to 12 years				2		2
From 12 to 15 years				5		5
Over 15 years				3	2	5
Total	33	4	37	32	10	42

TABLE 6.

SHOWING the Ages of the Admissions and Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, and also the Ages of all Patients under care, during the year 1883, in the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta (Free).

	Admitted and Re-admitted			Recovered			Removed, Relieved, &c			Died			Patients under care
	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total
1 to 5 years	..		..
5 to 10 years													1		1
10 to 15 years													5	5	10
15 to 20 years	3	1	4	1		1		1					65	29	94
20 to 30 years	17	9	26	12	3	15		1	1	2	1	3	151	86	237
30 to 40 years	15	8	23	12	1	13	1	1	2	6	1	7	128	79	207
40 to 50 years	7	5	12	3		3	1		1	9	2	11	200	95	295
50 to 60 years	3	2	5	3		3	1	1	2	8	2	10	128	79	207
60 to 70 years	10	1	11	1		1			3	3	4	7	75	53	128
70 to 80 years	1		1				1		1	2		2	33	15	48
80 to 90 years	1		1	1		1	1		1	2		2	7	4	11
90 and upwards
Total	57	26	83	33	4	37	5	3	8	32	10	42	665	366	1,031

TABLE 7.

CONDITIONS as to Marriage in those admitted and re-admitted and those under care in the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Free), during the year 1883.

	Admissions and Re admissions			Under care
	Male	Female.	Total	Male	Female	Total.
Single .....	33	8	41	334	71	405
Married .....	13	16	29	85	140	225
Widowed .....	4	1	5	31	47	78
Unascertained ..	7	1	8	215	108	323
Total... ..	57	26	83	665	366	1,031

TABLE 8

SHOWING the Religious Profession of those admitted and those under care in the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Free), during the year 1883.

Religious Profession	Admissions and Re admissions			Under care
	Male	Female.	Total.	Male	Female	Total
Protestant—
Church of England .....	23	13	36	282	126	408
Presbyterian . . . . .	3	2	5	19	15	34
Wesleyan .. . . .	...	1	1	14	8	22
Lutheran ... . . . .		...		12	2	14
Other Protestant Denominations . . . . .	3	2	5	5	10	15
Roman Catholic .. . . .	23	6	29	247	188	435
Pagan .. . . .	2		2	37	...	37
Hebrew .. . . .				4	2	6
Mahomedan... ..				2	2	4
Unascertained . . . . .	3	2	5	43	13	56
Total . . . . .	57	26	83	665	366	1,031

TABLE 9.
SHOWING the Native Countries of those admitted and re-admitted and those under care at the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Free), during the year 1883.

	Admitted and Re admitted during 1883.			Under care during 1883.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male	Female.	Total.
British Colonies ... { New South Wales	9	11	20	121	68	189
{ Other Colonies. ....	3	1	4	7	6	13
Great Britain        { England . . . . .	15	5	20	179	76	255
{ Scotland . . . . .	3	2	5	39	20	59
{ Ireland . . . . .	17	6	23	193	175	368
France ... ..				5	2	7
Germany ... ..	1		1	16	6	22
China ... ..	2		2	42		42
Other Countries	7	1	8	63	13	76
Total . . . . .	57	26	83	665	366	1,031

TABLE 10.
SHOWING the form of Mental Disorder in the Admissions, Recoveries, and Deaths of the year 1883, and of Inmates on 31st December, 1883, at the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta (Free).

Form of Mental Disorder.	Admissions.			Recoveries.			Deaths.			Remaining in Hospital.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female.	Total	Male.	Female.	Total
CONGENITAL OR INFANTILE MENTAL DEFICIENCY—
(a) with Epilepsy ... ..										14	2	16
(b) without Epilepsy . . . . .	1	2	3	3		3	2		2	37	12	49
Epileptic Insanity ... ..		2	2			2	2		2	20	9	29
General Paralysis of the Insane	1		1				6	1	7	7	1	8
MANIA—
Acute . . . . .	4	2	6	4	1	5	2		2	16	10	26
Chronic ... ..				1		1	1	3	4	98	79	177
Recurrent . . . . .										9	18	27
Delusional . . . . .	32	7	39	18		18	6	1	7	217	82	299
A Potu . . . . .												1
Puerperal . . . . .		1	1								7	7
Senile . . . . .										2	2	4
MELANCHOLIA—
Acute . . . . .	1	2	3	2		2				2	4	6
Chronic . . . . .	1	1	2							18	22	40
Recurrent . . . . .		1	1							1	3	4
Delusional . . . . .	1	3	4	3	1	4	5	1	6	47	30	77
Puerperal . . . . .		1	1								3	3
Senile . . . . .	2		2							6	5	11
DEMENTIA—
Primary . . . . .	2	2	4	1		1		1	1	33	17	50
Secondary . . . . .										3	2	5
Senile . . . . .	6	2	8	1		1	4	2	6	42	37	79
Organic (i.e., from Tumours, coarse Brain Disease, &c.)	5		5				4	1	5	22	4	26

TABLE 11.
SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Hospital for the Criminal Insane, Parramatta, during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In Hospital on 31st December, 1882	44	6	50
Admitted for the first time during the year	21	3	24
Total under care during the year	65	9	74
Discharged or removed:—
Recovered	4		4
Transferred	11	3	14
Total discharged or died during the year	15	3	18
Remaining	50	6	56
Average number resident during the year	45	6	51
* Persons under care during the year†	65	9	74
* Persons admitted	21	3	24
* Persons recovered	4		4

* Persons, i.e., separate persons, in contradistinction to "cases" which may include the same individual more than once.

† Total cases, minus re admissions of patients discharged during the current year.

TABLE 12.

SHOWING the Admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, with the Mean Annual Mortality, and the proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent., at the Hospital for the Criminal Insane, Parramatta, for the years 1876 to 1883, inclusive.

Year.	Admitted.			Transferred from other Hospitals &c.	Discharged.				Transferred to other Hospitals, &c.	Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days.	Died.	Remaining in Hospitals 31st December in each year.	Average number resident.	Percentage of recoveries on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of patients relieved on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of Deaths on the average number resident.
	For the first time.		Re-admitted.		Re-covered.		Re-lieved.							M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
	M.	F.	Total.		M.	F.	Total.	M.
1876	6	2	8	1	1	4	4	3	3	3	3	34	5	39	40	66	50	00	8	53	7	50
1877	10	10	1	1	3	3	1	1	2	2	2	38	4	42	41	27	27	5	40	4	87
1878	8	2	10	1	2	2	4	2	2	1	1	2	40	4	44	25	00	66	66	5	26	4	65
1879	16	3	19	12	5	5	3	3	6	1	7	3	51	6	57	31	25	26	31	15	78	6	12	5	66
1880	21	2	23	4	4	11	2	13	4	4	4	53	6	59	17	39	3	51	7	54
1881	18	3	21	6	6	14	3	17	1	1	50	6	56	23	57	2	00	1	78
1882	26	2	28	8	8	24	1	25	1	1	44	6	50	28	57	20	0	1	75
1883	21	3	24	4	4	11	3	14	50	6	56	45	6	51	16	66

The Medical Superintendent, Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, to The Inspector General of the Insane.

Sir,

I do myself the honor to submit, for your information, a report upon the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, for the year 1883, together with the usual statistical tables.

The number of patients remaining in Hospital on 31st December, 1882, was 146. During the year 35 patients were admitted—30 for the first time, 2 were re-admissions, and 3 were transferred from other Hospitals. The total number of cases under care was 181, and the average number resident was 148.

The number discharged during the year was 14, of whom 12 are classed as recoveries, and 2 were discharged so much improved as to be capable of making their own way in the world. 3 were transferred to other Hospitals and 14 were removed by death.

The number remaining on the books on the 31st December, 1883, was 150, out of which number 4 were so far advanced towards recovery as to be allowed leave of absence, and at that date were residing with their friends.

A comparison of the statistics for the year 1883 with those for 1882 shows the number remaining on 31st December was nearly the same; the admissions however for the first time were less by 13 in 1883 than in the previous year—the re-admissions were less by 1, the transfers from other Hospitals were the same, while the average number resident was greater by 4.

Of the 2 re-admissions both were discharged at the request of relatives, under section 84 of the Lunacy Act of 1878, and though both were fairly well at the time a return sooner or later was expected.

The recoveries give a percentage of 37.50 on the total number admitted, and those discharged relieved give a percentage of 6.25. The smaller number of recoveries, as compared with the previous year, is due to the number of admissions being smaller, and the fact that many of those admitted were suffering from incurable forms of mental disease, such as general paralysis, epileptic insanity, and the dementia of old age. The deaths numbered 14, being 1 more than in 1882, and giving a percentage on the average number resident of 9.45. Old age and cerebral disease again play an important part as will be seen by a reference to Table IV, where the causes are given. No case of sudden or accidental death occurred during the year.

Four patients were granted leave of absence during the year (under section 82 of the Lunacy Act of 1878), and all were away on the 31st December. One was away for the second time, having been once returned to Hospital for a short period and again granted leave. The general health of the patients has been very good throughout the year. The only serious accidents that occurred were two—one by the attempt on the part of an old and partially paralysed patient to swallow a large piece of crust, incautiously given him by a fellow-patient—it lodged in his larynx and was removed with considerable difficulty; the other by a kick from another patient on the perinæum, causing severe hemorrhage from the urethra.

The escapes and attempts were again numerous, but only in one case did a patient remain at large more than a few hours. In another case, some difficulty was experienced in regaining charge of the patient, as he had been apprehended by the police and charged with some minor offence. Both these patients escaped at night from an associated dormitory under circumstances which formed the subject of a special report to you at the time, and I therefore refrain from again entering into particulars.

In my report for last year I mentioned having substituted wire netting for glass in several single rooms. As this has proved of much value in the case of turbulent patients, I have deemed it advisable to make a similar change in four other rooms. A large number of patients have been usefully employed during the year, an average of about 70 having been daily occupied in the garden, wood-yard, laundry, kitchen, store, blacksmith's, tailor's, and carpenter's shops, in addition to materially aiding in the daily work of the Hospital. In the old building portions have been repaired and repainted, all the firewood used in the Institution has been felled and cut up, and a further addition has been made to the kitchen garden by patients working with skilled artisans and attendants. Along the southern boundary a strip of land adjoining the avenue has been fenced in and trenched by patients and planted with ornamental trees, which will render the grounds much more secluded. Some poplar trees, which were formerly planted alternately with pines, were removed, as they were not making good growth, and Cumberland fig-trees substituted.

In

In the new buildings, all the airing courts in the female division have been laid out and planted with grass and flowering shrubs, and considerable progress has been made towards laying out and levelling the grounds at the cottages in the same division.

The boat-house, which was in course of erection last year, has been completed, and a house for shelter and for storing tools and garden produce has been erected in the kitchen garden. In wet weather those employed can shelter themselves during showers or find occupation in sorting and stowing away vegetables and seeds. A great improvement has also been effected in the cricket paddock by removing a hill and extending the practice ground.

The usual Sunday services were regularly conducted by the chaplains, and were attended by large and appreciative congregations, the average number attending divine worship being about 77, giving a percentage on the average number resident of 52.02. We are greatly indebted to Mr. Frederick Russell, who regularly attended the Church of England services to play the harmonium, and kindly devoted one evening a week to choir practice. As much as possible was done to promote amusement and change for the patients, cricket again forming our chief recreation, matches having been played against kindred institutions and local clubs. On Wednesdays the steam launch frequently took parties for trips on the harbour, and during the winter, through the courtesy of the Medical Superintendent at Gladesville, a party of patients attended the fortnightly dances there, which were always looked forward to and thoroughly enjoyed. Thanks are due to the members of the Sydney Amateur Comedy Company and the Vaudeville Minstrels, who kindly gave their services at dramatic entertainments and concerts.

I have to acknowledge with thanks a parcel of illustrated and other papers from David Finlayson, Esq., and a donation of £4 10s. 6d., collected by William Jones, Esq., from cricketers belonging to the club and other well-wishers, which was expended for the patients on the Prince of Wales Birthday, in accordance with a wish expressed by the subscribers.

There have been several changes in the staff during the year. The vacancies resulting from resignation and discharge were however satisfactorily filled. As a whole the oftentimes onerous duties of the staff have been performed to my satisfaction, and I have to thank the officers and staff for cheerfully and willingly maintaining the discipline of the Institution.

I have, &c.,
H. BLAXLAND,
Medical Superintendent.

TABLE 1.

SHOWING the Admissions, Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total
In Hospital on 31st December, 1882 .....	146	.....	146
	Male.	Female.	Total.
Admitted for the first time during the year .....	30	.....	30
Re-admitted during the year .....	2	.....	2
Transferred during the year .....	3	.....	3
	35	.....	35
Total under care during the year .....	181	.....	181
Discharged or removed—
Recovered .....	12	.....	12
Relieved .....	2	.....	2
Transferred .....	3	.....	3
Escaped (and not recaptured) .....	.....	.....	.....
Died .....	14	.....	14
Total discharged or died during the year .....	31	.....	31
Remaining .....	150	.....	150
Average number resident during the year .....	148	.....	148
* Persons under care during the year † .....	180	.....	180
* Persons admitted .....	30	.....	30
* Persons recovered .....	12	.....	12

* Persons, i.e., separate persons, in contradistinction to "cases" which may include the same individual more than once.

† Total cases, minus re-admissions of patients discharged during the current year

TABLE 2.

SHOWING the Admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, with the Mean Annual Mortality, and the proportion of Recoveries, &c., per cent., at the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the years 1879 to 1883 inclusive.

Year.	Admitted.			Transferred from other Hospitals, &c.	Discharged.			Transferred to other Hospitals, &c.	Escaped and not recaptured within 28 days.	Died.	Remaining in Hospital 31st December in each year.	Average number resident.	Percentage of recoveries on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of Patients relieved on admissions and re-admissions.			Percentage of Deaths on average numbers resident.
	Admitted for the first time.		Re-admitted.		Re-covered.		Re-admitted.						M. F.		M. F.		M. F.		M. F.		M. F.		M. F.
	M.	F.	Total.		M.	F.	Total.						M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.	M.	F.	Total.
1879	16	16	32	54	54	108	1	2	3	3	1	107	107	56	56	6.25	6.25	12.5	1.78	1.78
1880	52	52	104	5	18	23	2	5	5	12	12	129	120	120	33.33	33.33	3.70	10.00	10.00
1881	43	43	86	2	26	28	4	2	2	1	9	140	135	135	50.98	50.98	7.84	6.62	6.62
1882	43	43	86	2	20	22	6	3	3	13	13	146	144	144	43.47	43.47	13.04	9.02	9.02
1883	30	30	60	3	12	15	2	3	3	14	14	150	148	148	37.50	37.50	6.25	9.45	9.45

TABLE 3.

SHOWING the Causes of Insanity, apparent or assigned, in the Admissions and Re-admissions, in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1883.

	Male.	Female.	Total.
MORAL :—
Domestic trouble (including loss of relatives and friends) .....
Adverse circumstances (including business anxiety and pecuniary difficulties) .....	2		2
Mental anxiety and "Worry" (not included under above two heads), and overwork... ..	1		1
Religious excitement .....	2		2
Love affairs (including seduction) .....
Fright and nervous attack .....
Isolation .....
Nostalgia .....
PHYSICAL :—
Intemperance in drink .....	3		3
Do. (sexual) .....
Veneral disease .....
Self-abuse (sexual) .....	1		1
Sunstroke .....
Accident or injury .....	1		1
Pregnancy .....
Parturition and the puerperal state .....
Lactation .....
Uterine and Ovarian disorders .....
Puberty .....
Change of life .....
Fevers .....
Privation and overwork .....
Phthisis .....
Epilepsy .....	2		2
Disease of skull and brain .....
Other bodily diseases and disorders .....
Excess of opium .....
PREVIOUS ATTACKS .....
HEREDITARY INFLUENCE ASCERTAINED .....
	1		1
CONGENITAL DEFECT ASCERTAINED .....
OTHER ASCERTAINED CAUSES .....
	2		2
UNKNOWN .....
	17		17
Total .....	32		32

TABLE 4.
SHOWING the Causes of Death in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1883

	Male	Female	Total
CEREBRAL DISEASE —
Apoplexy and Paralysis			..
Epilepsy and Convulsions	1		1
General Paralysis	1		1
Maniacal and melancholic exhaustion and decay	3		3
Inflammation and other diseases of the brain, softening, tumour, &c			...
THORACIC DISEASE —
Inflammation of lungs, pleura, and bronchi			.
Pulmonary Consumption	1		1
Disease of heart and blood vessels	1		1
ABDOMINAL DISEASE —
Inflammation and ulceration of stomach, intestines, and peritoneum	1		1
Dysentery and diarrhoea	3		3
Albuminuria
Disease of bladder and prostate
Disease of liver
ERYSIPPLAS
TYPHOID FEVER
GENERAL DEBILITY AND OLD AGE	3		3
ACCIDENT
SUICIDE
Total	14	.. ..	14

TABLE 5

SHOWING the length of Residence in those Discharged Recovered, and in those who have Died, in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1883.

	Recovered			Died
	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total
Under 1 month .....	1		1	1		1
From 1 to 3 months .. .. .	3		3	3		3
From 3 to 6 months .. .. .	2		2	1		1
From 6 to 9 months .. .. .	3		3
From 9 to 12 months .. .. .				1		1
From 1 to 2 years .. .. .	3		3	1		1
From 2 to 3 years .. .. .				4		4
From 3 to 5 years .. .. .				2		2
From 5 to 7 years .. .. .				1		1
From 7 to 10 years .. .. .
From 10 to 12 years .. .. .
From 12 to 15 years .. .. .
Over 15 years .. .. .
Total...	12		12	14		14

TABLE 6.

SHOWING the Ages of the Admissions and Re-admissions, Discharges, and Deaths, and also the Ages of all Patients under care, during the year 1883, in the Hospital for the Insane at Callan Park.

	Admitted and Re admitted			Recovered			Removed, Relieved, &c			Died			Patients under Care
	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total
1 to 5 years
5 to 10 years
10 to 15 years	2		2	1		1			..				1		1
15 to 20 years													4		4
20 to 30 years	7		7	3		3				3		3	52		52
30 to 40 years	9		9	2		2	2		2	3		3	48		48
40 to 50 years	12		12	4		4				1		1	46		46
50 to 60 years				2		2				2		2	16		16
60 to 70 years	1		1							3		3	12		12
70 to 80 years	1		1							2		2	2		2
80 to 90 years
90 and upwards
Total	32		32	12		12	2		2	14		14	181		181

TABLE 7.

CONDITIONS as to Marriage in those admitted and re-admitted, and those under care, in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1883.

	Admissions and Re-admissions			Under Care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Single .....	20	.....	20	122	.....	122
Married .....	10	.....	10	52	.....	52
Widowed .....	2	.....	2	7	.....	7
Unascertained .....	...	.....	...	.....	.....	...
Total.....	32	.....	32	181	.....	181

TABLE 8.

SHOWING the Religious Profession of those admitted and re-admitted, and those under care, in the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1883.

Religious Profession.	Admissions and Re-admissions.			Under Care.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Protestant—
Church of England .....	9	.....	9	76	.....	76
Presbyterian .....	4	.....	4	14	.....	14
Wesleyan .....	1	.....	1	3	.....	3
Lutheran .....	2	.....	2	4	.....	4
Other Protestant Denominations .....	2	.....	2	3	.....	3
Roman Catholic.....	12	.....	12	76	.....	76
Pagan .....	2	.....	2	3	.....	3
Hebrew .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Mahomedan .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Unascertained .....	.....	.....	.....	2	.....	2
Total .....	32	.....	32	181	.....	181

TABLE 9.

SHOWING the Native Countries of those admitted and re-admitted, and those under care, at the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, during the year 1883.

	Admitted and Re-admitted during 1883.			Under care during 1883.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
British Colonies { New South Wales .....	6	.....	6	49	.....	49
{ Other Colonies .....	2	.....	2	2	.....	2
{ England .....	9	.....	9	52	.....	52
Great Britain..... { Scotland .....	2	.....	2	9	.....	9
{ Ireland.....	7	.....	7	51	.....	51
France .....	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	1
Germany .....	1	.....	1	3	.....	3
China .....	1	.....	1	2	.....	2
Other Countries .....	4	.....	4	12	.....	12
Total.....	32	.....	32	181	.....	181

TABLE 10.

SHOWING the form of Mental Disorder in the Admissions, Recoveries, and Deaths of the year 1883, at the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, and of Inmates on 31st December, 1883.

Form of Mental Disorder.	Admissions.			Recoveries.			Deaths.			Remaining in Hospital.
	Male.	Female.	Total	Male.	Female.	Total	Male.	Female.	Total	Male.	Female.	Total
CONGENITAL OR INFANTILE MENTAL DEFICIENCY—
(a) with Epilepsy .....	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
(b) without Epilepsy .....	2	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	10	...	10
Epileptic Insanity .....	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1	17	...	17
General Paralysis of the Insane .....	2	...	2	...	...	...	1	...	1	4	...	4
MANIA—
Acute .....	...	...	...	3	...	3	4	...	4	...	...	...
Chronic .....	...	...	...	1	...	1	1	...	1	8	...	8
Recurrent .....	4	...	4	1	...	1	...	...	...	3	...	3
Delusional .....	7	...	7	1	...	1	...	...	...	38	...	38
A Potu .....	2	...	2	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	1
Puerperal .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Senile .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
MELANCHOLIA—
Acute .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Chronic .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...
Recurrent .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Delusional .....	7	...	7	3	...	3	...	...	...	43	...	43
Puerperal .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Senile .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
DEMENTIA—
Primary .....	2	...	2	2	...	2	...	...	...	11	...	11
Secondary .....	2	...	2	...	...	...	1	...	1	9	...	9
Senile .....	2	...	2	...	...	...	5	...	5	3	...	3
Organic ( i.e. , from Tumours, coarse Brain Disease, &c.) .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	...	3

Sydney: Thomas Richards, Government Printer—1884.

[1s. 6d.]

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

PATIENTS IN LUNATIC ASYLUMS—PRISONERS IN GAOLS.
(CAUSES OF CONFINEMENT, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 11 June, 1884.

RETURN (in part) to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 14th May, 1884, That there be laid upon the Table of this House, a Return showing,—

“ (1.) The number of patients in all our Lunatic Asylums, and also stating “how many of them have brought on the disease through the use or abuse “of drink.

“ (2.) A similar Return with reference to the prisoners in our Gaols.”

(Mr. Buchanan.)

Number of Patients in Institutions for the Insane on the 15th May, 1884.			Number whose disease has been brought on by the use or abuse of drink.
Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
1,498	952	2,450	95	42	137

[765 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £1 4s. 7d.]

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

PATIENTS IN LUNATIC ASYLUMS—PRISONERS IN GAOLS.
(CAUSES OF CONFINEMENT, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 12 August, 1884.

FURTHER RETURN (in part) to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated the 14th May, 1884, That there be laid upon the Table of this House, a Return showing,—

“(1.) The number of patients in all our Lunatic Asylums, and also stating “how many of them have brought on the disease through the use or abuse “of drink.

“(2.) A similar Return with reference to the prisoners in our Gaols.”

(Mr. Buchanan.)

Number of Prisoners in the Gaols of the Colony on the 14th July, 1884.	Number of those whose incarceration was traceable to drink.
2,302	1,191

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

LUNATIC ASYLUMS, PARRAMATTA, GLADESVILLE, AND CALLAN PARK.

(LENGTH OF SERVICE, &amp;c., OF ATTENDANTS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 19 December, 1883.

STATEMENT in answer to Mr. Hugh Taylor's Question No. 1, 19 December, 1883.

MR. HUGH TAYLOR to ask THE COLONIAL SECRETARY,—

- (1.) The number of male and female attendants employed at the Hospital for Insane at Parramatta?
- (2.) The number of male and female attendants who have held their appointments for more than twenty years?
- (3.) The number of male and female attendants who have been compelled to resign their position as attendants through being unable to continue in such service by the number of years they have held their position, or by injuries received in such service?
- (4.) The number of persons who have received compensation from the Government for length of service, or for injuries received in such service, during the last ten years?

Question.	Parramatta.		Gladesville.		Callan Park.
	Males.	Females.	Males.	Females.	Males.	Females.
No. 1 ... ..	46	27	42	26	12	None.
2 ... ..	5	1	1	None.	None.	None.
3 ... ..	*2	None.	None.	None.	None.	None.
4 ... ..	2	None.	None.	None.	None.	None.

* In 1883.

1883-4.

---

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

---

WILLIAM CRESSWELL.
(CORRESPONDENCE, &c.)

---

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 29 July, 1884.

---

RETURN to an Address of the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 13th February, 1884, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“(1.) Copies of all Correspondence between the Government of New South Wales and the Imperial Government, and all other sources, from the 8th October, 1878, to the present period, referring in any manner to an inmate of the Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, called William Cresswell; also copies of all letters or documents which have been received from Thomas Cresswell, or any other person, by the Superintendent, or any other person engaged in the management or conduct of the said Asylum.

“(2.) Copies of all Correspondence which has at any time taken place between the Inspector-General of Police in New South Wales and the Inspector of Prisons in Victoria relative to an inquiry respecting two persons who had been imprisoned in Victoria, and whose names were given by Mr. Joseph Eckford, of Sydney, and whether the said Inspector of Police, before giving a reply to the said inquiry, consulted with or sought the advice of the Attorney-General; and, if so, the substance of such consultation or advice.”

(Mr. Brunker.)

---

[ 790 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £28 3s. 6d.]

WILLIAM CRESSWELL.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Clerk of Petty Sessions, Parramatta.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 10 October, 1878.

In transmitting to you the accompanying extract from an address adopted by the Legislative Assembly on the 8th instant for information respecting the lunatic named in the margin, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to request that you will have the goodness to furnish the particulars relative to the letter therein alluded to.

I have, &c.,

M. R. ALLAN.

[Enclosure.]

THAT Mr. Wickham, who was Chief Clerk at Darlinghurst Gaol on or about 20th June last, be requested to state: is it a fact that he had received a letter, in his official capacity or otherwise, from the friends of the lunatic before alluded to, and that he had forwarded it to Dr. Taylor some three or four days previously—he having made this statement to Mr. Eckford in the presence of Mr. Eckford's two daughters and two officials in Mr. Wickham's office.

The Clerk of Petty Sessions, Parramatta, to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Police Office, Parramatta, 11 October, 1878.

In acknowledging receipt of your letter of the 10th instant, accompanying extract from an Address adopted by the Legislative Assembly for information respecting the lunatic named in the margin, I have the honor to state it is a fact that I received a letter from the friends of the lunatic referred to, and forwarded that letter to Dr. Taylor, as I have previously stated to Mr. Eckford. The date I do not recollect, but may be able to ascertain, if necessary. The letter in question did not pass through my hands in my official capacity, it was a private communication, asking information on behalf of the lunatic's mother.

I have, &c.,

GEO. WICKHAM, C.P.S.

Mr. F. O'Brien to Dr. Taylor.

Dear Sir,

413 Harris-street, Ultimo, Sydney, 16 October, 1878.

By the post following this you will receive per book post the printed matter referred to in my previous letters—please return them at your convenience. Mr. Fitzpatrick has seen them through Mr. Tomlinson (the son of a clergyman near Arlesford, Hants), whose name is in one of the papers forwarded, a solicitor residing in Sydney. He (Mr. F.) is also aware of my having a letter from Mr. Onslow for the late Mrs. Cresswell, in which it distinctly states Eckford and Lock will be entitled to the reward of £2,300, &c., &c.; you can see it and also a letter to myself if you wish.

The large amount of information I gave Mr. Eckford over Mr. and Mrs. Cresswell was never intended to be published and sold at the street corners of every town in England at a penny a letter for Mr. E. (see specimen sent.) Bouker & Sons letter was shown by me to Mr. E. under a solemn pledge that it should not be published. Of course the reward is a great temptation, but if it is not obtained till the claimant gets released and the Tichborne estates it will be long enough first; and should that event be likely to happen I shall have something to say that would much astonish the astute Mr. Eckford and many others. Before Mr. Eckford sent the letter to Mr. Cross I pointed out to him that his attack on yourself would do more harm than good so far as Cresswell's release was concerned, and I am still of that opinion.

Faithfully yours,

FRANK O'BRIEN.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 10 October, 1878.

In transmitting to you the accompanying extract of an Address of the Legislative Assembly, for information respecting the lunatic named in the margin, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to request that you will be good enough to furnish me with the following papers, which are required for the purpose of being laid on the Table of the Assembly, viz:—

Copies of all correspondence in the hands of Dr. Taylor, Medical Superintendent, Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, relating to the aforementioned lunatic, more especially a letter said to have been forwarded by Mr. Wickham, Chief Clerk of Darlinghurst Gaol, on or about 20th June last to Dr. Taylor, from the friends of the lunatic in England.

Copies of all minutes in your hands, or those of the Resident Surgeon at Gladesville relating to the aforementioned lunatic, together with the names of barristers from England, and solicitors or agents from Sydney, who interviewed you and at whose instance in 1871.

Report from the Superintendent of the Lunatic Reception House, furnishing copies of dates when the said lunatic was received by him, how often, what was his state of mind whilst under his care, and whom did he represent himself to be.

I have, &c.,

M. R. ALLAN.

The Inspector-General of the Insane to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Lunacy Department, Office of the Inspector of the Insane, 22 October, 1878.

I do myself the honor to forward herewith the correspondence, &c., relative to William Cresswell, a patient in the Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, as requested in your letter of the 10th instant.

Yours, &c.,

F. NORTON MANNING.

Minute by Colonial Secretary.

Mr. R. Y. Cousins, of Bathurst, waited on me to-day and voluntarily stated that the man Cresswell, now in Parramatta Asylum, is well known to him—that he was engaged in England by the late Mr. William Kite (Mr. Cousins' father-in-law) about the year 1855, to take charge of some bulls—that he arrived

William
Cresswell.

William
Cresswell.

William
Cresswell.

arrived here and went direct to Bathurst, where he was employed for a considerable time under Mr. Kite's immediate inspection—that he then went to Wagga Wagga and started in business as a butcher. From Wagga Wagga he used to write to Mr. Cousins letters more or less incoherent. Mr. Cousins heard no more of him until he was sent to a lunatic asylum. This man was engaged in the name of Cresswell and was never known by any other name.

Mr. Cousins added that Mr. John Kite is prepared to bear the like testimony.—M.F., 25/10.

Dr. Taylor to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, 30 October, 1878.

I have the honor to enclose a letter received by me this day from Mr. John A. M'Donald, relative to the lunatic William Cresswell. I forward it as it is very desirable it should appear amongst the correspondence called for.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. TAYLOR,

Medical Superintendent.

B.C., 31/10/78. The Principal Under-Secretary, Sydney.

[Enclosure.]

Mr. J. A. M'Donald to Dr. Taylor, Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta.

Rose Hill-street, Parramatta, 3 October, 1878.

In reference to William Cresswell, at present confined in the Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, I beg to state that I was acquainted with him in the year 1856, at Bathurst. We were very often together; in fact warm friends. He (Cresswell) gave me as a keepsake a book, The Modern Farrier, a book that he set a great value on, as it had been his father's. The same book I have still in my possession, with the address, Wm. Cresswell, Bulldown Farm, Bramly, Hants, June, 1833, written in several places.

I was married in the early part of 1857, and left Bathurst to reside on the Lower Lachlan River. I never saw nor heard of Cresswell again until last June, when a friend of mine in Bathurst, where I was at dinner, told me that my old mate was in the madhouse, and that it was reported he was Orton. After that I saw by the Herald that Mr. Eckford had a motion on in the House concerning Cresswell. I wrote to the Minister for Works, informing him what I knew of the case, and asked for leave of absence to visit the Asylum. Leave was given on the 27th September, and I was shown round the inmates, and in the second yard that I visited I found amongst a number of other men my old friend Cresswell. I knew him at once, and I showed him the book which he claimed as his, and in turning the pages over he missed a leaf, the skeleton of a horse, and asked what had become of it. In our conversation we mentioned some of our old conversation, and he recollected one horse, Elegance, and I called him Bill, a name that he would not be called. He instantly checked me, and told me his name was William. I said you have not forgot that, old man. When I was going away he asked me to come and see him again. The next time I called to see him was Wednesday, the 16th of October. He recalled a bit of fun we had at Ashton's Circus, to me, an affair I had almost forgotten it was so long since. I have never known him under any other name than that of Cresswell.

JOHN A. M'DONALD.

Dr. Taylor to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, 31 October, 1878.

I have the honor to forward you a copy of a letter belonging to the Cresswell correspondence, which was inadvertently omitted at the time of copying of the remainder.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. TAYLOR,

Medical Superintendent.

The Principal Under Secretary, Sydney, B.C., 1/11/78.

[Enclosure.]

Dr. Taylor to Mrs. West.

Madam,

Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, 3 June, 1875.

In answer to your letter of the 28th February, 1875, I beg to state that your brother, Mr. William Cresswell, is at present in very good bodily health, but has made no mental improvement. He is subject to frequent attacks of delusional mania, when he becomes violent and aggressive. His mental condition has not improved in any way, neither do I consider his case hopeful for permanent recovery.

In compliance with your wish I have endeavoured to persuade him in his calmer moments to allow his photograph to be taken, but he has not up to the present time consented; I may, however, yet be successful. You can, if you think fit, send a Post-office Order, payable to me in Parramatta, for (£1) one pound, out of which the expense of obtaining the photograph could be defrayed and any balance handed over for your brother's use.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. TAYLOR,

Medical Superintendent.

Mrs. West, care of Mrs. Sinclair,
15 Blackmoor-st., Drury-lane, London, W.C.

The Principal Under Secretary to Mrs. Mary C. Haigh.

Madam,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 8 November, 1878.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to request that you will do him the favour to lend him for production in Parliament in connection with the case of the lunatic, William Cresswell, any original letters that you may have from the Cresswell family.

I have, &c.,

M. R. ALLAN.

Dr. Taylor to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, 19 November, 1878.

Herewith I have the honor to forward, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, a letter from Mrs. Haigh, of Woollahra, relative to her personal knowledge of the lunatic, William Cresswell, and also of his family in England.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. TAYLOR

Medical Superintendent.

B.C., 20/12/78. The Principal Under Secretary, Sydney.

[Enclosure.]

[Enclosure.]

Mrs. Mary C. Haigh to Dr. Taylor.

Sir,

Alton-street, Woollahra, 15 November, 1878.

As I understand further information is desired of me as to what I know of the lunatic William Cresswell and his family; I beg to say I first became acquainted with the Cresswells at the house of a Mr. Howitt, who last wrote me concerning your patient; this was in London in 1842. The family then consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Cresswell, who at that time resided near Reading, in Berkshire, two sons and three daughters. Thomas, the younger son, was in business, a grocer; the elder was William—your patient. The eldest daughter, Anne, married a Mr. Gough, who carried on business as a draper, at St. John's Wood, and afterwards went to America. The second (Ellen) married a Mr. Birch. She is now a widow living in London. The third (Emily) died unmarried. I was on intimate terms with the family, and saw them all more or less frequently about nine or ten years, till my coming to this Colony. I cannot recollect when William Cresswell came to the Colony, but I think it must have been during my passage on return to England about 1861. He brought letters addressed to me. As I had left the Colony he handed them over to my brother, Mr. William Rusby. In London I renewed my acquaintance with the Cresswell family, and was told he was coming out to go to Mr. Kite's, at Bathurst.

The early part of 1866 I again came to Sydney and sometime after, perhaps two years, William Cresswell called on me, asked after members of his family, and told me he had been with Mr. Kite of Bathurst. I do not remember seeing him again until a few days before he was locked up in the Darlinghurst Reception House; I then thought his manner peculiar and strange. I afterwards heard he was a decided lunatic, and I lost sight of him until I saw a newspaper paragraph respecting an application for his release on the ground that he was Arthur Orton. I then thought it a shame that the poor lunatic should be taken out of the asylum—a place so suitable for his malady—and be worried and irritated by travelling from place to place and by being made a show of. In the interest of himself, of his family, and of common humanity, I caused the Honorable the Attorney-General to be made acquainted with what I knew of the patient, and suggested I should be allowed an interview with him for the purpose of satisfying myself that Cresswell the lunatic was the same Cresswell I had known for so many years. The Attorney-General approved the course, and as you are aware I saw Cresswell in the asylum in your presence; you know how readily I recognized him, and how as readily he knew me, identified his sister's portrait, spoke of her and of her children, spoke rationally a few minutes, and relapsed into imbecile talk.

I have not the slightest doubt but that your patient is no other than the William Cresswell I have been acquainted with since 1842, and any one present at our interview must have seen he had no doubt nor hesitation in his recognition of myself. I have written to Cresswell's friends and mentioned the attempt to prove him to be someone else.

Yours truly,

MARY C. HAIGH.

The Principal Under Secretary to Mrs. Mary C. Haigh.

Madam,

Colonial Secretary's Office, 23 November, 1878.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to request that you will favour him with a speedy reply to my letter of the 8th instant, asking you to lend him for production in Parliament in connection with the case of the lunatic, William Cresswell, any original letters that you may have from the Cresswell family.

I have, &amp;c.,

M. R. ALLAN.

Mrs. Mary C. Haigh to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Alton-street, Woollahra, 27 November, 1878.

I much regret that illness in my family, occasioning my absence from town, should have prevented an earlier acknowledgment of your letters of 8th and 23rd instant. Although I am afraid it is too late to be of any service, I enclose the only* letter in my possession having reference to the lunatic, William Cresswell.

I have, &amp;c.,

MARY C. HAIGH.

Acknowledge receipt with thanks.—M.F., 3/11.

The Principal Under Secretary to Mrs. Mary C. Haigh.

Madam,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 3 December, 1878.

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 27th of last month, forwarding, in response to the Colonial Secretary's wish, a certain letter received by you from England concerning the lunatic William Cresswell, I am directed by Mr. Fitzpatrick to thank you for so courteously acceding to his request.

I have, &amp;c.,

MAXWELL ALLAN.

Dr. Taylor to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, 6 January, 1879.

I have the honor to state, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, that the patient named in the margin was visited on the 3rd instant by Mr. William Kite, of Bathurst, and Mr. M. Forrest.

Mr. Kite, being conducted into the yard occupied by Cresswell and many other patients, at once recognised and identified Cresswell as the man who had been employed by his father at Bathurst in 1854.

Cresswell entered into a brief and incoherent conversation with Mr. Kite; but made allusion to a flea-bitten mare, called "Dewdrop," whereby Mr. Kite is fully confirmed in his identity of the patient as the William Cresswell employed by the late Mr. Kite, of Bathurst, in 1854.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHAS. TAYLOR,

Medical Superintendent.

The Principal Under Secretary, Sydney.—F.N.M., B.C., 6/1/79.

Minute by Colonial Secretary.

Crown Solicitor,—

10 December, 1879.

I wish a bond prepared, to be executed by Joseph Eckford, Esq., M.P., by which, if a patient in the Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, is delivered to his custody, he will undertake such custody in conducting him to England, and there deliver the said patient to the custody of friends under similar bond, or otherwise duly restore him to the authorities of this Colony. The patient's name is William Cresswell, and it is alleged that his presence in England is necessary to the ends of justice.

H.P.

B.C., 10/12/79.—C.W.

The

* Not with papers

William Cresswell.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Crown Solicitor.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 9 January, 1880.

As it is understood that application will be made to the Supreme Court to day for the release of the person named in the margin, a patient in the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta, to the care of Mr. Joseph Eckford, M.P., I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to request that you will attend the Judges in Chambers at the time of hearing of the application, and watch the case on behalf of the Crown.

William
Cresswell.

I have, &c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

The Crown Solicitor to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Crown Solicitor's Office, Sydney, 2 June, 1880.

I have the honor to return herewith the Colonial Secretary's minute of 10th December, 1879, respecting the application of Joseph Eckford, Esq., M.L.A., that William Cresswell, at present confined in the Lunatic Asylum at Parramatta, should be delivered into his custody for the purpose of being conveyed to England, and to report as follows:—

Shortly after the minute referred to had been received by me, Mr. Eckford called upon me, and requested to be informed in what way it was proposed arrangements for the delivery of Cresswell into his custody should be carried out, and I suggested that it would be advisable that he should make application to a Judge of the Supreme Court, under the provisions of the "Lunacy Act of 1878," and on 2nd January last Mr. Eckford applied in person to His Honor Mr. Justice Hargrave, upon an affidavit setting out the grounds of his application, that Cresswell should be delivered into his custody, to be taken out of the jurisdiction—the application was adjourned to Friday, the 9th January, for the production of an affidavit or declaration by Dr. Taylor, the Medical Superintendent in charge of the asylum at Parramatta, as to Cresswell's condition.

Mr. Eckford obtained the required declaration from Dr. Taylor, a copy of which I forward herewith, and in compliance with the instructions contained in your letter of 9th January I attended before the Judge to watch the proceedings on behalf of the Government. I stated that I attended for the purpose mentioned, but I notice that the Judge's minute is that I consented to the order; my consent was not to a particular form of order, but to any order the Judge might think fit to make. I do not know that this is material, but I think it better to mention it, as the instructions in your letter were simply to watch the case.

Upon reading Dr. Taylor's declaration the Judge ordered that Cresswell should be delivered into the custody of Mr. Eckford upon his giving a bond in the sum of £500 for the safe custody, conveyance to England, and maintenance there of Cresswell, and appointed Friday, the 16th January, to settle order, and consider form of bond to be given.

I prepared draft bond and submitted it for the consideration of His Honor, who approved thereof, and I left an engrossment in the Master's Office for execution by Mr. Eckford. A copy of the bond as executed is forwarded herewith.

The Judge's order made on 7th January last, was not taken out by Mr. Eckford until some time after that date. A copy was left with me, which I also forward herewith.* It will be noticed that under the order, Cresswell should be forwarded to England within six months of the date of the order. If not so forwarded it will be necessary that Mr. Eckford should make another application.

I have, &c.,

JOHN WILLIAMS,

Crown Solicitor.

These papers may now be referred for perusal of the Inspector-General of the Insane.—H.P., 8/6/80. Dr. Manning, B.C., 8/6/80.—C.W.

It appears from these papers that Mr. Justice Hargrave's order becomes void on July 7th next and I would suggest that Mr. Eckford should be reminded of this.—F.N.M., 23/6/80. The Principal Under Secretary.

Inform Mr. Eckford, 24/6/80.

[Enclosures.]

Declaration of Dr. Taylor.

In the matter of the "Lunacy Act of 1878," and of William Cresswell, a patient admitted into the Parramatta Lunatic Asylum, in the Colony of New South Wales, on the 18th day of April, A.D. 1872.

I, CHARLES TAYLOR, Doctor of Medicine, of Parramatta, in the Colony of New South Wales, do solemnly and sincerely declare that I am Medical Superintendent of the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta, and a duly qualified medical practitioner. I know the patient William Cresswell now under my care at the before-named Hospital for the Insane. He has been under my care since September 22nd, 1872. He has been insane many years, having been twice a patient in the Hospital for the insane at Gladesville previous to his admission to Parramatta. He is the subject of recurrent mania, incoherent and irrational in conversation, and unable for any length of time to give his attention to any topic of conversation. This condition indeed is tending to dementia. His bodily health and condition are excellent. I am aware that Mr. Joseph Eckford, M.L.A., has applied under power-of-attorney for the care and custody of the said William Cresswell in order that he may restore the said William Cresswell to his friends in England. To spare the patient any exposure to undue excitement his presence in open Court should, if practicable, be dispensed with. Under suitable care and protection, accompanied with at least two male attendants, and provided with all personal requirements for the voyage as clothing, good and sufficient food, and comfortable lodging, there can be no objection to the removal of this patient from his present custody and care for the purpose of conveying him to England by steam or sailing-ship. Having recently forwarded two male lunatics from the Parramatta Asylum to England with safety, I am enabled to speak with confidence on this matter. Under kind and judicious management the patient William Cresswell will give but little trouble on the voyage, and as he has never displayed any suicidal tendencies and is seldom aggressive there is every expectation that he would reach his destination in health and safety. And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty intitled "An Act for the more effectual abolition of oaths and affirmations taken and made in various departments of the Government of New South Wales and to substitute declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial oaths and affidavits."

Declared at Parramatta, this 6th day of January, 1880, before me,— CHRISTR. M'RAE, J.P.

CHAS. TAYLOR.

BOND:—

BOND :—Joseph Eckford, Esq., to the Queen.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that I Joseph Eckford of Sydney in the Colony of New South Wales Esquire a Member of the Legislative Assembly of the said Colony am held and firmly bound unto Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria in the penal sum of five hundred pounds sterling to be paid to Her said Majesty her heirs or successors for which payment well and truly to be made I bind myself and my heirs executors and administrators firmly by these presents Signed with my seal Dated the eighteenth day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty.

WHEREAS one William Cresswell is now detained as an insane patient in the Hospital for the Insane situate at Parramatta in the said Colony And whereas the above bounden Joseph Eckford has made application under the provisions of the eighty-first section of the Lunacy Act of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight to his Honor John Fletcher Hargrave Esquire one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of the said Colony that the said William Cresswell be delivered into the care and custody of him the said Joseph Eckford acting as the Attorney of and for Thomas Cresswell of Union-street Reading County Berks England in order that he the said William Cresswell may be conveyed to England and delivered into the care of the said Thomas Cresswell And whereas his Honor John Fletcher Hargrave as such Judge as aforesaid has ordered that upon the said Joseph Eckford giving a bond to Her Majesty in the sum of five hundred pounds conditioned as hereinafter mentioned the said William Cresswell shall be delivered by the Medical Superintendent of the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta into the care and custody of the said Joseph Eckford to be by him conveyed to England and then delivered into the care of the said Thomas Cresswell Now the condition of this obligation is such that if upon the said William Cresswell being delivered into the care and custody of the said Joseph Eckford he the said Joseph Eckford do and shall thereafter upon the said William Cresswell being delivered into his care and custody immediately and with all convenient dispatch proceed to convey the said William Cresswell from the said Hospital for the Insane in Parramatta to England and for that purpose find and provide him with a passage by steamer or by sailing vessel and find and provide him with all necessary personal requirements such as clothing on the said voyage within six months from the date of the said order and do provide and pay for the attendance and passages by vessel of at least two good and sufficient male attendants to attend to and have the care of the said William Cresswell on the said voyage and until he is delivered into the care of the said Thomas Cresswell at Union-street Reading County Berks England and find and provide or cause or procure the said William Cresswell to be found and provided with good and sufficient board lodging and clothing and all proper care and attendance in England during such time as he shall be of unsound mind.

Then this obligation will be void and of none effect otherwise to remain in full force and virtue.

JOSEPH ECKFORD. [L.S.]

Signed sealed and delivered by the above-named Joseph Eckford in the presence of—
ARTHUR T. HOLROYD, Master in Lunacy.

The Principal Under Secretary to J. Eckford, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 30 June, 1880.

Adverting to the order made on the 7th January last by His Honor Mr. Justice Hargrave, for the delivery into your custody of the person named in the margin, a patient in the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to draw your attention to the fact that under such order Cresswell should be forwarded to England within six months of the making thereof, i.e., the 7th proximo, and if not so forwarded it will be necessary for you to make another application.

I have, &c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

J. Eckford, Esq., M.P., to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 1 July, 1880.

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter, reminding me of the time expiring on 7th instant for the removal of the person named in the margin, a patient in the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta, for the purpose of having him forwarded to England, and, if not so forwarded, it will be necessary for me to make another application.

In reply thereto I beg to state it is my intention to apply again immediately on receipt of my instructions and remittances, which will not be later than by the mail due here on 14th of next month.

I am, &c.,

JOSEPH ECKFORD.

The Inspector-General of the Insane, B.C., 3/7/80.—C.W. For Dr. Taylor's information.—
F.N.M., 6/7/80. The Medical Superintendent, Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta. To be returned.
Noted.—C.T., H.I.P., 8/7/80. Seen and returned.—F.N.M., 10/7/80. The Principal Under Secretary.

J. Eckford, Esq., M.P., to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 21 December, 1882.

I respectfully beg leave to apply for the release of William Cresswell, a lunatic confined in the Parramatta Asylum, for the purpose of taking him to England to be handed over to Thomas Cresswell, upon whose power of attorney an order was made by the Primary Judge early in January, 1880, which order was not carried out owing to Thos. Cresswell not sending the necessary funds to convey this lunatic to England; and as I am informed the papers connected with this case are in your office, I shall feel obliged by you giving the Crown Solicitor whatever instructions may be necessary.

I am, &c.,

JOSEPH ECKFORD.

The Crown Solicitor, B.C., 27/12/82.—C.W.

Dr. Taylor to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta, 3 January, 1883.

I have the honor to state, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, that the patient William Cresswell was interviewed by Messrs Fossey and Bullock from Melbourne. They made to me the extraordinary statement that they knew where to find and could produce the veritable Arthur Orton, who was well known to Mr. Fossey. I advised them at once to place their information before the Colonial Secretary as if their statement be true it is most essential to the cause of justice that they should be called upon to verify so important an assertion.

I have, &c.,

CHAS. TAYLOR,

Medical Superintendent;

Mr.

Mr. W. Fossey to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 4 January, 1883.

I have the honor to report to you that on account of knowing personally both Arthur Orton and Roger Tichborne, I considered it was my duty to come to Sydney from Melbourne with the view of clearing up the dispute with reference to Wm. Cresswell, now in the Parramatta Lunatic Asylum. Consequently I had an interview with Dr. Taylor and Wm. Cresswell. Having reported to Dr. Taylor the whereabouts of the true Arthur Orton and condemning the Wm. Cresswell he strongly recommended me to report the same to the Chief Secretary, which is as follows: The true Arthur Orton is well known as Harry Smith, butcher, Temuka, Canterbury, New Zealand, and is concealing his identity, and in him being brought forward it would put an end to the said dispute. This said Harry Smith's occupation is a slaughterman, horse-breaker, and dog trainer. He is engaged by a Mr. Boyed Thomson, butcher, at Temuka. The said Harry Smith who I knew as Arthur Orton in Wapping, London, and Bourke-st., Melbourne, agrees to description exactly what the unfortunate claimant give at his trial, and doubt is out of the question in the identity of Harry Smith being the said Arthur Orton, in him being brought forward against his will, which will put an end to the Tichborne Mystery, all other legal points being easily cleared up.

I have, &amp;c.,

WALTER FOSSEY.

The Inspector-General of the Insane, B.C., 5/1/83.—C.W. Seen and returned.—F.N.M., 11/1/83.
The Principal Under Secretary.

[Enclosure.]

Sydney, New South Wales, 4 January, 1883.

THE full description of Arthur Orton, known as Harry Smith the butcher, now at New Zealand, agreeing exactly with the evidence of the unfortunate claimant known as Tom Castro, but known by me as Tichborne:—5 feet 10 inches in height; sallow complexion; knock-kneed; flat-footed; very long bony hands and feet; dragging his left foot in walking; one shoulder more forward than the other; light brown eyes; light brown hair, partly grey; prominent features; sharp narrow face; stoop in back; narrow round shoulders; thin foxy beard; two front teeth out on upper jaw; (A.O.) on fore part of his arm; a ring in one ear and bead in the hole of the other ear; slaughterman, horse-breaker, and dog trainer; 48 years of age.

WALTER FOSSEY, H.M.C., Melbourne, of 16 years.
Wm. D. Bullock, Watchmaker, Melbourne; or No. 8, off Pymont Terrace, Pymont-st., Sydney.

THE full description of William Cresswell, the supposed Arthur Orton, now in the Parramatta Lunatic Asylum:—A fresh complexion; about 5 feet 10 inches in height; straight legs and back; a well made man; light blue eyes; he tells me that his name is Wm. Cresswell and not Orton; never at Hobartown: only knew Degraives in Melbourne; been in London but knew nobody there.

Examined by me, before Dr. Taylor and W. D. Bullock, on January 3, 1883.

WALTER FOSSEY,
51, Brighton-st., East Richmond,
Melbourne, Victoria.

Dr. Taylor to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Lunacy Department, Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta, 16 January, 1883.

I do myself the honor to forward, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, a letter received by me from Mr. Walter Fossey, of Melbourne, having reference to the interview had with the patient William Cresswell, and a professed knowledge of the identity of Arthur Orton.

I have previously addressed myself to you upon the same subject by letter bearing date January 3, 1883.

I have, &amp;c.,

CHAS. TAYLOR,
Medical Superintendent.

Forwarded, 17/1/83.—F.N.M. The Principal Under Secretary.

[Enclosure.]

Mr. W. Fossey to Dr. Taylor.

Sir,

51, Brighton-street, East Richmond, Melbourne, Victoria, or Custom-house, Melbourne, 11 Jan., 1884.

I thought it was as well to inform you that since myself and Mr. Bullock inspected Wm. Cresswell, I have returned to duty in the Custom-house. The next day after seeing you, we both went to Sir Henry Parkes, the Chief Secretary, who was greatly interested when he instructed me to write out my report in an official form, which I did. The principal point to bring Arthur Orton, who is in the name of Harry Smith, forward against his will that he may be seen and identified, which will put an end to the Arthur Orton difficulty. This Harry Smith, who is the renowned Arthur Orton, agreeing exactly in every particular to the description of the unfortunate claimant give at his trial, and known by me as Arthur Orton in Wapping, London, and Great Bourke-street, Melbourne, and who is a companion of Mr. W. D. Bullock's in the name of Harry Smith. Arthur Orton has concealed his identity under the name of Harry Smith, which I have found out in tracing him from Messrs. Eastern and Bennetts'—now Thos. Bennetts', butchers—of Great Bourke-street, Melbourne. He was their slaughterman, in the name of Harry Smith, when I spoke to him for an hour, knowing him only at the time as Arthur Orton, of Wapping, East London, he telling me all his troubles when at Hobartown, and his voyage in the ship "Middleton" as butcher, and in charge of two Shetland ponies and ferrets his father sold to a gentleman at Hobartown; and with all my perseverance Mr. Joseph Eckford, of York-street, Sydney, has been making the claimant and his friends in London believe Wm. Cresswell is Arthur Orton, who is no more like him than my foot. However, I persuaded Mr. Edmund Kimber, the claimant's solicitor, to send out Charles Orton to settle the dispute. This Charles Orton, who is a brother to Arthur Orton, agrees with me in every particular since he has seen Wm. Cresswell. The comparison between Charles Orton, with his empty back, and Wm. Cresswell is far and wide, but Harry Smith and Charles Orton are the very picture of each other, only one taller than the other. Harry Smith is working for Boyed Thomson, butcher, of Temuka, Canterbury, New Zealand; and also for his son Alexander Thomson, butcher, at Timaru. Harry Smith sleeping there, in charge of a lot of greyhounds, being dog-trainer on the Omarai race-course, his occupation being dog-trainer, horse-breaker, and master slaughterman. His description is as follows:—5 ft. 10 in. in height, sallow complexion, sharp narrow features, light brown or red eyes, light brown hair, prominent features, high cheek bones, very thin hair, couple of teeth out on upper jaw (A.O.) on his arm, ring in left ear and bead in hole of right ear, but I believe they are now removed, narrow round shoulders with a stoop, one shoulder more forward than the other, knock-kneed, flat-footed, pointing his toes north and south, very long bony hands and feet, dragging one foot a little in walking, hands covered with scars, calls himself a Norfolk man before strangers. The unfortunate claimant's evidence is exactly the same, he, said Orton's eyes always looked red, but not certain to the colour, and was going in the name of Smith, and a tall bony man with a long narrow face; would now be 48 years of age. Smith told Mr. Bullock that for £1,000 he would come.

come to Melbourne to me, and I could prove his identity before going to England, which is correct. The report I give of Wm. Cresswell is as follows:—A straight well-built man, large light blue eyes, fresh complexion, small hands and feet; never in Hobartown; only knew Degraives in Melbourne, and knew nobody in London. I reported that I knew, personally, Arthur and R. C. Tichborne. The Claimant's troubles are these:—The said William Foster engaged him in Melbourne instead of William Frost, who engaged him for Jas. Connell, Esq., extension station owner, residing at Kew. William Foster knew Arthur Orton at Hobartown, and after him leaving Hobartown as a woman, in the name of Maria Lock, as being in difficulties, he went to William Foster at Gippsland, when Tichborne met him, they both changing their names. Tichborne first knew Arthur Orton, through him going to the barracks for orders for Messrs. Cook and Slater, butchers, who had the contract at Kensington, London. The next trouble was the "Osprey" arriving in timber ballast, and not reported in the papers, on July 29, 1854, but reported at Custom House, namely: American schooner "Osprey," from Staten Island, New York, on July 29, 1854, in ballast, Captain L. Owen, 158 tons register, or 250 tons burden, Messrs. Falkner, Ross & Co., agents, who were timber brokers.—Mr. Wilson, landing waiter for Customs. The log-book and the whole mystery got over by a determined step, leaving the enemies to do their own fiddling.

I have, &c.,

WALTER FOSSEY.

Mr. W. D. Bullock's address is Bay View Terrace, No. 8, off Pyrmont-street, Pyrmont, Sydney, New South Wales, who can find Arthur Orton at any time.—W.F.

Dr. Taylor to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Lunacy Department, Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta, 16 March, 1883.

I do myself the honor to forward herewith, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, a mass of correspondence addressed to me on matters relative to the identity of "Arthur Orton," by a Mr. Walter Fossey, of Melbourne.

I have no knowledge of the writer other than by previous correspondence, now in your hands, and by a recent visit paid the Institution in order that he might see the patient, William Cresswell. The information supplied appears to me to be more fitted for the consideration of the law officers, and should, I think, have been addressed to them in the first instance. My personal interest in the correspondence might cease on forwarding it to its proper destination, had I not observed that Mr. Eckford, M.L.A., is reported by a Mr. Bullock to have expressed some feelings of animosity against myself, and an intention to endeavour to remove me from my office. As I have offered no offence or injury at any time to Mr. Eckford, I am unwilling to attach any importance to the statements made, but at the same time I consider it my duty in justice to myself to point them out. The passages alluded to are underscored in pencil, and are to be found at pages 2, 6, 21.*

I have, &c.,

CHAS. TAYLOR,
Medical Superintendent.

*Vide Enclosure
pp. 8, 9, and 11

[Enclosure.]

Mr. W. Fossey to The Medical Superintendent to the Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta.

My dear Sir,

51, Brighton-st., East Richmond, Melbourne, Victoria, 12 March, 1883.

As knowing you have a great desire, like myself, to see the Arthur Orton mystery cleared up, I beg of you most earnestly to use your influence with the Sydney Government to forward Harry Smith, who is Arthur Orton, to England (against his will, as he wants £1,000 for his will). It is not only important but a most honorable cause for any person to assist in so doing, as it will for a certainty release a very unfortunate and innocent man. I know positively the two men personally and their characters. I have enclosed you a quantity of information that I have seen by my eyes, and no hearsay whatever, that you may have the opportunity of giving some assistance. In the meantime I know of persons interested to keep all legal points in the dark by a lot of fiddling. I promised in my letter to Mr. Edmund Kimber, the Claimant's solicitor, if he sent out Charles Orton I would go to the expense of going to Sydney with Mr. Bullock, and see this said William Cresswell, and forward him a true honest comparison of the two men, namely, the right and wrong.

Now, Sir, you was present while I inspected the said William Cresswell, and I feel quite certain the result will be that Harry Smith is taken to England, and the unfortunate Claimant is released. In myself and Mr. Bullock calling upon you to see this said Cresswell, in reference to him being Arthur Orton, it seems to appear to you, as it is to me, quite ridiculous, you knowing, as I do, positively that he is William Cresswell, and no other person whatever. I can clearly judge your feelings at the time when W. H. Lock and Joseph Eckford called upon you for your favour to see the said Cresswell, and then make the Claimant's friends in England believe you was prejudiced against the poor unfortunate Claimant, and done your best to conceal the said Cresswell. I can assure you positively this said Cresswell has been a thorn in my side; and if it had not been for the mistake Messrs. Lock and Eckford had made in this said man, Harry Smith, namely, Arthur Orton, would have been taken to England, and the poor unfortunate Claimant released six years ago.

The following is the description the unfortunate Claimant gave of Arthur Orton at the time of his trial, which can be read, which this said Harry Smith agrees to a letter, as if he was made on purpose, even to his handwriting, his letter being like a press copy to the one wrote to Mary Ann Loader, his sweetheart, which myself and Mr. Bullock compared in the Melbourne Public Library; and also the account he gave of his family, and also acknowledging himself to be Arthur Orton to strangers.

This is the claimant's evidence:—

Arthur Orton is going in the name of Smith horse-breaker and dog fancier; six years younger than myself, who would be now 48 years; light brown hair, front tooth out; I am not positive to the colour of his eyes, but I remember they always looked red, prominent features, rather long face, high cheek bones, narrow sharp face, a very sallow complexion, thin foxy coloured hair on face, round shoulders, stoop in back, knock-kneed, very long bony hands and feet, dragging one foot little in walking, knuckles on hands projecting, long legs with short body, large ears, not positive of him being or working as slaughterman, not positive of him wearing rings in ears, but (A.O.) marked on fore part of arm, 5 feet 10 inches in height, and a bony man.

The following is my evidence of Arthur Orton:—

Arthur Orton is going in the name of Harry Smith, horse-breaker, dog fancier, and slaughterman; six years younger than the Claimant, now 48 years; light brown hair, now turning grey, red or mahogany coloured eyes, eye-lids inflamed in catching cold, prominent features, long, narrow, sharp looking face, high cheek-bones, a very sallow complexion, thin foxy coloured hair on face, round narrow shoulders, a twist in one shoulder, projecting more forward than the other shoulder; he has a rolling walk, short body with long legs, knock-kneed, very long bony hands and feet, drags one foot in walking, large knuckles on hands, projecting, hands covered with scars, one particular long tear along the left thumb, through securing a sheep on the jetty at Hobartown; well known as Harry Smith, the slaughterman and horse-breaker, by all the slaughtermen of Melbourne and Sydney before the Tichborne trial—and afterwards in Dunedin and Christchurch and Canterbury, New Zealand,—leaving Melbourne for New Zealand on March, 1867, after coming from Wagga Wagga on December, 1866; his feet, or at least his toes, point north and south, being flat-footed, large ears projecting, a ring fitting close in the left ear, and the hole filled up with lead in the right ear; (A.O.) faintly tattooed—the size of a fourpenny piece—about 4 inches above the wrist on the front part of the arm, 5 feet 10 inches in height and a bony man; got a country accent in speaking, and calls himself a Norfolk man amongst strangers; I asked him why he wore a ring in his ear and he told me that he was obliged to keep the holes in his ears open on account of having weak eyes as it was a great relief to them; cheerful disposition; he is very much like his brother Charles in the face, the exact same shape nose; Charles has got a hump on the middle of his back and he is short, and Arthur has got a hump on shoulder as if double-jointed but tall, front tooth out.

The

The following is the evidence I give of William Cresswell :—

Large strong light blue eyes, fresh complexion, a strong thick long white beard, about 60 years of age, a full fleshy face, thick neck, a robust looking man, a fine set of teeth, rather small ears, short fleshy hands and feet, a full-chested, stout, and a well-built man, perfectly straight in his body and legs, and walks as straight as if drilled for the army; a straight nose, which none of the Orton family has got. Upon me questioning him he stuttered and grinned a minute or two before answering the questions. The questions and answers: What is your name? Answer: William Cresswell. Was you ever in Hobart Town, Tasmania? Answer: No. Do you know my face? Answer: No. Was you ever in Melbourne? Answer: Yes. Was you ever in business or in any situation in Melbourne? Answer: No. Mention some person's name that you knew in Melbourne? Answer: Degrades. Can you remember the name of any other person? Answer: No. Was you ever in London? Answer: Yes. Mention the name of some place or person in London? Answer: Do not remember any. And in walking with the warders he was perfectly straight, and about 5 feet 10 inches in height. I then remarked to Doctor Taylor that he was no more like any of the Orton family than I was, and this man, Mr. Bullock, is better acquainted with Arthur Orton, in the name of Harry Smith the slaughterman, than any man in the colonies. Doctor Taylor requested me to report Harry Smith to the Chief Secretary, which I did the following morning, and Mr. W. D. Bullock was with me, and I read the report to him after writing it in an official form at the Under Secretary's desk, which took me over an hour. Mr. Eckford endeavoured to persuade me not to go and see Cresswell, as he said it would lose faith in me. In reference to Harry Smith it is perfectly clear to me now that he was afraid of me exposing his weakness. The late Guilford Onslow was just as weak, but he asked me in his letters several times for to go and see this said Wm. Cresswell. However I trust that weakness is over now; it was ridiculous for me to go to the expense to see Cresswell, when I knew Arthur Orton from seven years of age, and traced him from Melbourne to New Zealand, and knowing him to be concealing his identity under the name of Harry Smith, for the sake of getting £1,000, which is his own words. The Claimant's commission, Charles Orton, and D. Smith agree with me in every particular. I have since written to Edmund Kimber, Esq., 15, Walbrook, E.C., London, the claimant's solicitor, giving the result as promised, who is a gentleman unprejudiced like myself. According to what Mr. Bullock tells me upon his return to Melbourne, that I have quite thwarted Mr. Eckford's object in view, by seeing Cresswell and the Chief Secretary, and threatens to have his spite out on me and Doctor Taylor. However, I went to the expense of going to Sydney to join Mr. Bullock, who came from Grafton for the benefit of the poor claimant, and not Mr. Eckford. While I was in Sydney Mr. Eckford was very anxious for me to telegraph to New Zealand for Harry Smith, namely Arthur Orton, so I spent a pound in so doing, which was as follows :—

“TELEGRAM to Temuka Station, addressed to Harry Smith, butcher, Canterbury, New Zealand.
“ANSWER immediately. Will you come? Your brother Charles here. Passage paid, and a thousand pounds.
Dated December 27th, 1882.

(Signed) FOSSEY & BULLOCK.”

The address was at the back, namely, Walter Fossey and W. D. Bullock, Bay View Terrace, No. 8, off Pymont-street, Pymont, Sydney, or Joseph Eckford, Esq., Family Hotel, 17 York-street, Sydney, and I paid 1s. to have the above address registered, and in not getting an answer I went upstairs and spoke to Mr. Wilson the manager, also Mr. Direks, the cable clerk, and have since wrote two letters to friends of Orton's to hand to him, and just the other day I wrote to the Temuka Post and Telegraph Office to write me a few lines giving me the reason why no answer has not been sent to me. I have done all that I could possibly do, sparing no expense whatever, and after I left for Melbourne Mr. Bullock got the operator of the Pymont telegraph office to make enquiries, which he did, and said the telegram must still be there.

The career of the said Arthur Orton, both in England and the Australian Colonies :—

In the year 1849 he was 14 years of age, and left his father's shop and shipped in the “Ocean” for Valparaiso in the month of June, and returned in the “Jessie Miller” on the 11th of June, 1851. In the month of August he went to work for Messrs. Cook and Slater, a large butcher at Kensington; he was then 16½ years of age. This said butchers had the contract to supply the barracks with meat; this said Orton in going to the barracks for orders got acquainted with Roger Charles Tichborne and other officers there. Arthur Orton left this said butcher's and went to work along with Robert Osbaldstone at the Newgate market as a slaughterman. He left there and went to work for Mr. Jefferies, butcher, at Knightsbridge, in the early part of 1852, and shortly left and opened a small shop on his own account in New Cut, Marsh Gate, Lambeth, and being unsuccessful he was determined to seek his fortune in Australia.

In the latter part of November, 1852, an opportunity offered itself, his father having sold to a Mr. Chapman, of Hobart Town a pair of Shetland ponies. Arthur Orton then engaged to sail in the ship “Middleton” as butcher and to take charge of Mr. Chapman's ponies, and arrived at Hobart Town at the latter end of February, 1853, being ninety days odd on the voyage, which he informed me himself.

The career of Arthur Orton in the Australian Colonies :—

Soon after landing he went to work for Wm. Ladd, a butcher, conducting a butcher's stall in the market of a Saturday night. He then took charge of the cattle that was received there by boat from Wm. Forster, of Gippsland, and then opened a butcher's shop on his own account, and on account of being unsuccessful and in debt, he was determined to seek his fortunes in Victoria, and to take the first opportunity of leaving Hobart Town, and in being on good terms with the family of Lock's, they being his ship's mates in the “Middleton,” he got the loan of Maria Lock's clothes and arranged with a ticket-of-leave man of the name of Tom Ham, to clear out for Melbourne on a dark night; they both left together as arranged, on the 15th November, 1853, Arthur Orton in the name of Maria Lock, and Tom Ham in the name of Henry Bailey, in the schooner “Gold Seeker,” for Melbourne, of 164 tons register, captain H. Wilson, as two steerage passengers, Messrs. Stevens and Co., Melbourne Agents. Arrived in Melbourne on the 21st instant. Arthur Orton immediately changed his clothes and went to work as slaughterman for James Swingle, proprietor of the Slaughtering Yards then on the banks of the Yarra, working in his favourite name, Harry Smith, with Thos. Stephenson, who was his mate, and in three months afterwards in the month of March, he went to work at Collingwood, and from there went to Gippsland, and worked for a Mr. Johnstone and Wm. Forster, being acquainted with them at Hobartown; consequently he was obliged to go by his own name. After working for Wm. Foster as stock-driver he left for Melbourne in the commencement of 1857, and went to work as slaughterman in the name of Harry Smith for Messrs. Easton and Bennett, butchers, Great Bourke-street, and stopped with them for 18 months, and in that time he broke in a great many horses for Messrs. Easton and Bennett, and Mr. W. D. Bullock, who was the gentleman he was lodging with at that time; he left about the latter part of 1858, and Joseph Kennedy succeeded him. Roger Charles Tichborne, then in the name of Thomas Castro, arrived in Melbourne from Gippsland, and left with Harry Smith, who I knew as Arthur Orton, for Bendigo and Castlemaine. After they had seen a little bush life together they parted company in 1860, about January, Castro running the mail from Boru to Miranda, about 74 miles, and was at Omapo and other places, and Harry Smith went to work for George Rice, butcher, of Pitt-street, Sydney, in the commencement of 1861, as slaughterman and horsebreaker, and in the latter part of 1861 he left and went to Forbes Diggings along with a fellow slaughterman of the name of William Osbaldstone, and about three months they returned to Sydney together, and left for Melbourne in the steamer “Wonga Wonga.” Upon arriving, they stopped at Mr. Lydie's “Adam and Eve Hotel,” Little Collins-street, East, and went to work in High-street, Prahran, and in the year 1862 he left for Wagga Wagga, and in December, 1865, he came back to Melbourne, and went to work at the Sandridge Bend Slaughtering Yards, and breaking in horses, and about four months afterwards he met W. D. Bullock and said he was off to New Zealand, which would be about the end of March, 1867; he then went to work in Dunedin, and at the commencement of Tichborne's trial about the year 1870. William Osbaldstone met him on the 8-mile rush, Otago Island, previously writing to Melbourne to him for to come over as he could get him £6 per week, and in the year 1873 he met him in Hokitika, and in the year 1876 I found him working for Boyed Thomson and his son Alexander, butchers, Temuka, Canterbury, the son having his shop at Timaru, an out-of-the-way place. After getting two letters from him I sent Mr. W. D. Bullock to him, when he found him carrying two pails of water, with a netted brown guernsey on and a boy's or like a middy's cap on. He was master slaughterman, and had charge of a valuable greyhound called the Balmoral, which won the golden cup on the Omapo coursing ground, and he broke in all Thomson's horses. He was found to a letter as the Claimant and myself described. The following was the conversation between myself and Arthur Orton which interested me to trace him. About the month of October, 1857, myself and a gentleman of the name of Thomas Lilley, was going up Bourke-street on a Saturday afternoon to see the wild cattle at the cattle-yards, and when opposite Messrs. Easton and Bennett's, butchers, Thomas Lilley nudged nudged me with his elbow, saying, "There is a towny of yours." I looked round, and said, "He is one of the Ortons—the youngest one, Arthur; I will go and have a talk to him." We both went up to him, and I said, "Halloo, Orton, what has brought you to this part of the world?" He answered, "You have the advantage of me; yet I know your face well enough." I said, "Walter Fossey, shipping timber merchant, of Poplar." He then asked me when I came out. I said, "On November 15th, 1852, in the ship 'Northumberland,' one of Green's ships." He then said, "I was leaving the East India Docks about that time, in the 'Middleton.'" He asked me, "How many days was you coming out?" I answered, "86 days." I then said, "What passage did you make?" and he answered, "90 days odd, but we put in at Hobart Town." I said, "How did you like Hobart Town?" when he said "It is a damn'd hole, I was glad to get out of it." He then turned his head round, and noticed Wm. Richards, the shopman, standing at the block listening to our conversation. He then stepped from the doorway and took hold of my arm and walked about 6 feet on one side, telling me he had not been there long, which appeared strange to me at the time. He then asked me what I was doing, and I said, "Bright Bros., timber salesman—my old business." I then asked him if he had many passengers coming out, and he said, "A good few; I came out as the butcher of the ship, taking charge of a pair of Shetland ponies the old man sold to a gentleman at Hobart Town." He then asked me if I had been to the diggings, and I said, "Yes, I was there about twelve months, and some got plenty of gold," and he said, "If the 'Middleton' had come straight to Melbourne I should have made some money." I then asked him why he wore a ring in his ear, and he said he was obliged to keep the holes in his ears open to relieve the eyes as they were very weak. He then asked me which was the best diggings to go to as he intended to go, and I said Bendigo and Castlemaine was a poor man's diggings as it was shallow sinking. I then gave him instructions how to work the diggings to advantage. I shook Orton, and we parted great friends. I had no idea at the time he knew Roger Charles Tichborne. When I went up to Arthur Orton he was standing leaning his right shoulder against the doorway of the shop with his legs across, looking at the people passing; his sleeves of the blue jumper was tucked up and his high boots outside of his trousers. I could plainly see on his arms (A. O.) tattooed very faintly on the fore part of his arm about the size of a four-penny piece, and about 3 or 4 inches from the wrist, and also the whole of the left ear filled up with lead and a ring in the right ear, fitting close up. He wore a sealskin cap at the time which he said he brought from Wapping, and the description is as the Claimant and myself have given; but he was then, when I spoke to him, about twenty-three years of age, and myself about twenty-nine years of age. Two or three weeks after that as I was passing the cattle-yards, which is now a meat market I stopped to have a look at the wild bullocks. I caught sight of Arthur Orton amongst the men. I put my hand up and he came and spoke to me, and said, "Excuse me shaking hands as I am in such a dirty state" and remarked the trouble they had with the wild cattle; he then had a dirty looking cabbage-tree hat on. And about a month or two afterwards as I was walking up Collins-street east, between Swanston and Elizabeth streets, I was surprised to see Roger Charles Tichborne walking on the opposite side, going towards Elizabeth-street. I stopped and stared at him with astonishment as I fully expected he had returned to England; he was walking very steady, looking very serious as if in deep thought; and the last time I spoke to Arthur Orton in England he was walking alone High-street, Wapping, about the year 1851, and he was then about sixteen years of age; and I stood staring at him as he had grown so tall in a short time. About six years ago my fellow officer, James M'Keown, drew my attention to a paragraph in the Telegraph paper in reference to the said William Cresswell being Arthur Orton. I remarked that I knew Roger Charles Tichborne and Arthur Orton as well as I knew any two men in Melbourne, and I will quickly clear up that mystery. I first wrote to Dr. Taylor, at Parramatta, to ask the color of William Cresswell's eyes; the answer I got was light blue. I immediately said that he is no more Arthur, Orton than I am, as Arthur Orton has light brown eyes, and Roger Charles Tichborne very dark brown eyes, and if Orton's face was fat he would resemble Tichborne in the face only. Mr. M'Keown informed me a Mr. Wright, an inquiry officer in Little Collins-street, had the Claimant's and young Tichborne's photos in a large album with 100 photos in it. I called, and quickly picked out the Claimant's photo, as Tichborne got stout, and the young man exactly as I see him when he landed at Sandridge. I gave Mr. Wright the description before I came to his photo., and he stared at me with astonishment. I next called upon Thomas Bennett, butcher, formerly Easton and Bennett, and asked him if he had a man working for him, giving the description of Arthur Orton, in the year 1857, and he said yes, and they called him Harry Smith, and he was recommended as a good London mutton butcher, and done the slaughtering and assisted in the shop of a Saturday afternoon, and was with him about eighteen months, and left for Bendigo diggings with some other man, and recommended me to see his shopman, William Richards, who was then in business for himself, as butcher, in Stephen-street, who gave me a long account of him, remembering me talking to him in the doorway. He then recommended me to see Mr. W. D. Bullock, the person Harry Smith was lodging with at the time, then gold-broker, of 235 Great Bourke-street, Melbourne East, and now Suffolterrace, Green-street, Windsor, as he had more time, and knew all his acquaintances, and living on his property, having twenty houses. I then called upon Mr. W. D. Bullock, and he was of great assistance to me in finding Harry Smith. I reported there was a fortune left him, and interested all his mates to find him. At last he was found by some of his mates in New Zealand. He had to give the correct account of his family. The first letter was written by Alexander Thomson, the party or butcher he was working for, and then he had to write it in his own handwriting. He went to say—

"Timaru.

"If I must write myself, I will give you a correct account. I have a sister, Mary Maggie, and living, and brother Charley, Tom and others, in London, and Robert, in British Columbia, and my father and mother are both dead, and now will you send me the letter.

"HARRY SMITH."

The above was written to one of his mates, namely, Charles Henry Elms, at Messrs. Garforth & Lee, butchers, of Lyttleton, Christchurch, New Zealand, to answer a letter I sent him. The answer was forwarded to me by the butcher of New Zealand St., Arawata. The handwriting and spelling all agreed. I then went to the expense of sending Mr. W. D. Bullock to him, who stopped and slept with him for three months. I then wrote to him about a dozen long letters, and got a few letters from him. He remarked, at the time of Tichborne's trial, he was on the Eight-mile Rush, Otago Island, 20 miles from a township, and, upon the arrival of the English mail it would take his mate nearly a whole day to get the London Times, when he would read all about the trial to his mate, and stated the whole affair was upside down through a lot of barbers' clerks, and he said he could tell me more in 5 minutes than all I knew about Tichborne, and if I could get him £1,000 he would go to England and release Tichborne, and he had several allotments of land at Sale, Gippsland, and if he had money he would join his brother Robert in a farm in British Columbia, and should he have to go to England W. D. Bullock must go with him to nurse him, on account of him having the cramps in his limbs. He remembered me perfectly well speaking to him at Easton and Bennett's door, in the year 1857. He particularly wished me to inquire in Melbourne if Edward Lock was still living (the witness at the Claimant's trial, and brother to the said Maria Lock), and who was at Castlemaine with him. He knew the wrecked sailor, Alex. Malcolm, having the by-name "Yorkey." He wrote a letter to a fellow-slaughterman of the name of William Chamberlain, in Melbourne, boasting of them not making him Arthur Orton yet. In reading one of my letters one evening he was quite overcome, with tears in his eyes, and remarked, "Poor Tom," with a heavy sigh. Went by the name of Harry Smith, as he would not disgrace the name of Orton as a slaughterman. At the time he was in London, with Messrs. Cook and Slater, going to the barracks for orders, at Kensington, he could have got into the horse regiment if he had straight legs, as they could straighten up his back, and then he would not have been a d—d slaughterman. He said he would very much like to see me, and would come if I sent him £40 to pay his expenses and his passage here and back. He spoke of Captain Barry being just like Roger Tichborne. He spoke of having a match with a Bill Chamberlain, a fellow-slaughterman, while in Melbourne, of killing ten sheep, for £5 a-side. The wrecked sailor has been at my house several times, and was with Orton and Tichborne at Wagga Wagga, and knew Orton exactly as I do, and he called himself Alfred Smith while at Wagga Wagga, being ashamed of Tichborne knowing him to be a slaughterman, as the sailor says the name Harry is the great secret. However, upon my inquiry of Mr. Thomas Bennett, I found out he had been there in the name of Harry Smith, which accounts for him taking me by the arm and walking from the doorway, that Mr. Richards, the shopman, should not know that his name was Arthur Orton. Roger Charles Tichborne spoke to me with a French accent, and Arthur Orton with a country accent, and would easily pass off for a Norfolk man amongst strangers. Should any person say that Harry Smith is not Arthur Orton, let them pay for half-a-dozen photographs of him in full length, and let the Claimant, and all that should know him, get one, and to send one to Edmund Kimber, Esq., the Claimant's solicitor, No. 15, Walbrook, E.C., London, for the Claimant to identify. Mr. W. D. Bullock done his best to get his photograph, but Harry Smith shuffled him out of it. The wrecked sailor told me that Harry Smith will never go to England without he is arrested.

(As a true Englishman I consider it cruel to allow a man to perish in prison simply because he had no proofs of his evidence at the time of his trial, and the evidence that I give will be found to be the proofs that is so important to justice.)

P.S.—

P.S.—Arthur Orton has deceived the world with his Harry Smith, the Norfolk man; but he cannot alter his appearance when once brought to the front before all persons that know Arthur Orton. It is impossible to make any mistake in that man, as he could be picked out amongst 100,000 men, on account of his singular appearance. His little brother, Charley, has a singular appearance with his hump on his back and wide walk, who is to be seen stopping with D. Smith, at Mr. Eckford's "Family Hotel," 17, York-street, Sydney, and any man on seeing Harry Smith would immediately swear they are brothers.

To Dr. Taylor,—

Dear Sir,

I here forward you a copy of a letter that Mr. W. D. Bullock forwarded to me which no doubt will be amusing to you.

Dear Friend,

Pymont, Sydney, 1 February, 1883.

I will be starting for Melbourne on Saturday, 3rd February, at 12 noon. We expect to arrive in Melbourne on Monday; we will be going by the "Windouree" steamer, one of Parkins' boats; meet me at the wharf as I have a lot to tell you. I have been twice to Eckford's, and I only see him once. He is in a dreadful state about us going to the asylum and also to the Secretary. I can see by his ways he is stopped from going to the asylum, because he declares he will get you and Dr. Taylor out of your places, but I only put that to his bad spite. I believe they are on the opposite side, for I told him why did he tell you that he was going to get £5,000 for Cresswell, to settle a dispute of large property in the Cresswell family in England, to put you off from going to the asylum. He says it was not to let you know their secrets; so I told him was it likely we was going to let him know our business, as he was keeping us in the dark. I can see very well that they are at their full length. Now he says we will be in all the papers—I only laughed at him, and that made him worse; he swore and called us b—— spies and roughs, and told me never to come on his place again; I thanked him very much and kept my temper, I was very cool, and I saw how things was with them, and that they were at their length, as he said, us Victorians to have the cheek to come and interfere with them. Don't forget to meet us.

Yours, &c.,

W. D. BULLOCK.

Dear Sir,

I have no respect for any person that would seek to make money upon the expense and misfortune of his fellow man.

It has been reported that Harry Smith has gone to America in the name of Davis, I have since found out he is still with Alexander Thomson, butcher at Timaru, on the West Coast. The above is like many other false reports.

With the money Harry Smith got as his reward in winning the gold cup with the said valuable dog in his charge, called the Balmoral, on the Omaru Coursing Ground, he gave £7 10s. for a suit of dark clothes and 35s. for a pair of boots, with the full expectation of me sending him the £40 to come and see me with a view of going to England to release the unfortunate Claimant. In the commencement of the year 1854 Harry Smith and Ballarat Harry was well known to be always together as mates by all the butchers and slaughtermen in Melbourne and to have left together for Gippsland, and on account of Ballarat Harry leaving Harry Smith returned to Melbourne and went to work for Messrs. Easton and Bennett, butchers, in Great Bourke-street, where I met him. Harry Smith is acquainted with a Mr. Woods, a butcher in Sydney.

I will now give you the particulars in reference to the unfortunate Claimant, Roger Charles Tichborne, and myself. I landed from the ship "Northumberland," Captain Gill. Richard Green, Esq., the owner, was the last gentleman I shook hands with in leaving the docks, who gave me a letter to his Melbourne agent, Octavus Brown, Esq. Knowing a good respectable company of sixteen in number who was thoroughly prepared for the diggings, which was called the Blackwall Railway Company, I paid £18 to them while on my passage and joined them. We all went to the diggings, Melbourne being completely deserted. I returned to Melbourne in twelve months, disgusted with the diggings. I called upon Octavus Brown, Esq., who introduced me to Messrs. Hart and Thorp, who was then the representatives of Messrs. Bright Bros. & Co., consequently I was their timber salesman for ten years. On the 29th July, 1854, I went to Sandridge to go on board of the ship "Albatross," Captain Gever, to arrange the best plan of forwarding a quantity of slates she had on board, and while waiting for Richard Banner, the boatman, I observed about sixty persons near the Lower Pier, which was called at that time Liardet's Jetty. I went to see, out of curiosity, what the excitement could be, when I was informed that these three men had been picked up on the wide ocean, a long way out at sea, in a small open boat, and one was the son of a baronet. The men was then pointed out to me. I then went up to one of them, who appeared more sociable than the others; I asked him to give me the particulars. He said, "There is four of us arrived safe; we left one on board the 'Osprey,' which brought us into the bay after picking us up in that boat, a long way out at sea, off the Brazilian coast." We then inspected the boat, which was a strong-looking boat, but small, and painted black. He then pointed out the American schooner "Osprey," which was anchored off St. Kilda. She was also painted black, and arrived in the bay at 4 o'clock that morning, being dark. The boat he called the jolly-boat. He told me if it had not been for him they would have been all lost. "They left Rio Janeiro on 20th April, 1854, and the 24th April, that day, the 'Bella' met with a squall and sprung a leak, and gradually settled down as she gained on the pumps; captain, mate, and most of the crew took to the lifeboat, and in seeing that she was overcrowded and hampered up with provisions, six of us made up our mind to take the small boat, known as the jolly-boat, and in knowing that all the boats had been kept dry and in a leaky state, we launched about eleven planks and lashed them together, and also launched the jolly-boat; we threw two bags of biscuits and a small keg of fresh water into her. The six of us then got into her, and then getting on the raft of planks, as being the carpenter, I turned up the boat and caulked her, and in so doing we had the misfortune of losing a man and the keg of water, and the biscuits getting wet, we put the boat into the water again, and the five of us got into her and followed the lifeboat for provisions and water. That night it became calm and very dark, and the third night there was a great storm—in letting the boat drift with the sea only saved us—and at daylight in the morning there was nothing to be seen but the open sea. Roger Tichborne was lying on his back at the bottom of the boat, half dead with the dysentery, and a sailor who was previously unwell died. There was only three able men left, myself and two sailors; we then give up all hopes of being saved, and at noon the same day a vessel came in sight; it was then rather calm, and we pulled our utmost towards her, a fresh breeze sprung up, and she appeared to be leaving us, so one of us took off the red shirt and stuck it up on the oar as a flag of distress; she was then coming towards us and our hearts rejoiced once more. We had a difficult job to get Roger Tichborne on board as he was insensible. I informed Captain Owen that he was a son of a Baronet, Sir James Tichborne, of Hampshire, England, that every care should be taken of him. This said carpenter was a stout young man, about twenty-five years of age, round face, fresh complexion, thick dark whiskers, and a good hearted Scotchman. He then pointed out to me this Roger Tichborne, telling me that he was heir to large estates, also pointing out to me the wrecked sailor. I went up to Roger Tichborne to speak to him but he was in full conversation in French with Lieutenant Crawford who was then Police Magistrate at Sandridge. In the mean time I went and had a good look at the sailor, who was rather tall with a long sandy beard and a fresh complexion. I then returned to Roger Tichborne finding him alone. I addressed myself to him by saying the carpenter of the 'Bella' has been telling me the particulars of the wreck, your position of life, and the manner you have suffered. Tichborne said it nearly killed him and you see what is left of us. I said to him if I were in your position I should not think for a moment of stopping in the Colonies going into the bush. I have been up there and a man's life is thought no more of than a dog's life. He said, "I have only what I stand upright in," raising his shoulders. I then said there is plenty of money in Melbourne. If you only make yourself known in Melbourne you will quickly get sufficient money to pay your passage to England. You are really Roger Tichborne, son of Sir James Tichborne, Baronet, and heir to large estates in Hampshire, England? He said, "Yes, if ever I get back again." I then said, "Now friend, take my advice and lose no time in getting back to England. I see you have had a narrow escape of losing your eye by that cut down your face." He said it was done through hooking an albatross just outside the heads." He spoke with a French accent. He thanked me and joined the other wrecked men and walked into Mr. Cruickshank's drapery shop and bought a few things. There was a foreigner with them in the shop. The boys at the door remarked about his having crooked fingers. They all came out and went into the hotel and had a glass of ale each. Tichborne came out directly, smoking a cigar, waiting outside for the men. Tichborne asked me the nearest way to Melbourne. I directed him across the flat in the line of the Yarra. Tichborne and the two wrecked men shook hands with this foreigner. Some said "Good bye, Louie," and some "Good bye, steward." The three then started for Melbourne meeting Captain Chessell and Lieutenant Crawford, who had walked slowly ahead before them. This said Louie went back to the boat to return to the "Osprey." Captain Chas. Chessell, who was a ship-builder on the south side of the Yarra, took the three wrecked men to his house and had dinner, being then after 12 o'clock noon. He then made up a subscription amongst his workmen, to furnish the men with money. He then took them across the Yarra to the "Royal Highlander Hotel," in Flinders-street, and introduced the three men to William Frost, who was conducting the hotel for the widow, widow, Mrs. Shanks, who ultimately married her. Captain Chessell told Wm. Frost to board the three men as long as they like to stop at his expense, informing him the position of Roger Tichborne. That same evening Mr. William Frost gave Roger Tichborne a letter to a friend of his, of the name of James Connell, Esq., at Kew, who was a large station owner at Gippsland. Kew at that time was called the country, on account of Tichborne telling him that he was a good horseman, being in the Army, and would like to see the country and have a little sport. The unfortunate man called William Frost, William Foster at his trial, consequently placed himself in the place of Arthur Orton, or Harry Smith. The said hotel is exactly opposite the wharf, and was always crowded with new arrivals, on account of being exactly opposite the steamers that landed the new arrivals from the ships in the bay. William Frost also went in the name of John Frost. He is in a good position, and ready to prove the above. Early next morning Roger Tichborne and the two wrecked men left for the country, and upon arriving near Kew, Tichborne left his two mates and followed a shepherd with sheep to show him the way to James Connell, Esq. He then delivered his letter and went on duty, going to Gippsland on horseback—his two mates going to the diggings; their names was Andrew Jack, known as Sheaves, the carpenter of the "Bella," and the other Alexander Malcolm, known as Yorkey, the sailor of the "Bella," and on Tichborne meeting Arthur Orton at Dargo Station, and afterwards finding he was going by the name of Smith amongst strangers, he changed his name to Thomas Castro, not wishing to disgrace his own name. He very seldom came in company with Arthur Orton, but while Arthur Orton was with him he went by the name of Alfred Smith, not wishing Tichborne to have the run of him, as he was ashamed of him, knowing he worked as a slaughterman, as the word Harry Smith was his bye-name amongst his fellow slaughtermen. Poor unfortunate Tichborne was like a lost sheep, while Orton could get work at any part of the colonies at slaughtering, and breaking in horses. I need not go into the career of Roger Tichborne any more than he was hunting time until the death of his father as he was unhappy at home, little dreaming his brother's wife's relations or the Huntington family would have turned upon him and waste a fortune to do him out of his estates, making a harvest amongst lawyers. Knowing his weak points, I know Roger Charles Tichborne to be a quiet, good-natured, and a generous disposition, very dark brown eyes, with thick eye-brows, sallow complexion, sleepy-looking eyes, short neck, very dark straight hair, very little hair on face, holding his head as if he had a boil at the back of his neck, very small hands and feet, short legs in proportion to his body; he was twenty-five years of age when I spoke to him on July 29, 1854, and had the appearance of being a stout man. He wore a black-felt billy-top hat, rather broad brim, a long monkey jacket, buttoned at the top, black cloth trousers, light Wellington boots, black silk neck handkerchief, with a bow, and a loose collar, and had the appearance of an American captain, and appeared very reserved; and in reading his trial I am prepared to prove his evidence, which was impossible for him to do at the time of his trial, and being at such a distance from the Colonies. He spoke the solemn truth in reference to Arthur Orton and the "Osprey." The only two points that upset his evidence was not knowing Orton went by the name of "Harry" behind his back, instead of Alfred, and calling William Frost William Foster, which completely sold the poor unfortunate man, placing himself wholly in the hands of the lawyers as A. Orton. The evidence of the wrecked sailor to me, who was several times at my house, the account of the wreck was exactly the same as the carpenter's. He goes on to say:—If I and you was at the trial poor Tichborne would never have been convicted. I would have been at the trial only I was not on the articles. I relieved another sailor before leaving Rio Janeiro on account of him taking bad. I was at South America with Roger Tichborne and bathed with him, and can swear to him on account of the brown mark on his side of the shape of a rolle or possum. I went to England and reported of him being saved from the wreck, and on my return I found he was going by the name of Tom Castro. I asked him why he changed his name, and he said because he met with all sorts of characters, and did not wish to be known. I was at Wagga Wagga with Orton, and Tichborne Orton is exactly the man you state, and will never come to the front without he is arrested. One thing I am sorry for, I signed a paper for a lawyer of the name of Stewart, which stated Roger Tichborne never landed from the "Osprey" with me; and, if God spares me, I will go to England and release the poor fellow.

The evidence of Lewis Owen, captain of the "Osprey" to me before the trial: I left Staten Island, New York, with Ebony logs, and filled up with nuts, and cleared out in ballast for Geelong or Melbourne; myself and another bought her from a person in San Francisco on speculation for the Colonies; her name was on her stern, only painted over—namely, "Osprey" of San Francisco. She is 185 tons register, or 250 tons burden. When off Rio Janeiro we picked up this Roger Tichborne and four sailors in a small open boat, who informed me they were saved from the wreck of the "Bella," bound to New York. This Roger Tichborne was very bad in his bunk nearly the whole time he telling me that he is the son of Sir James Tichborne, Baronet, of Hampshire, England, and heir to large estates. I first went to Geelong Heads; being low tide I could not pass the bar, and left for Hobson's Bay, arriving at 4 a.m., consigned to Messrs. Faulkner, Ross, & Co., timber brokers. I anchored off St. Kilda, it being then very dark, and berthed at 2 p.m., discharged the nuts into the "Abeona" lighter, and towed up the Yarra early next morning, and sold her to C. L. Throgmorton for a lighter, and she will take 300 tons of cargo up the Yarra with less draught of water than any other lighter. Captain Lewis Owen was about forty, thick dark whiskers, with sallow complexion, dark eyes, rather stout, and a Welshman.

About six years ago two of my fellow officers of the name of John Tod and James M'Keown brought the ship report book to me, and pointed out to me of two "Ospreys" being reported in the same week; the former one was the "Osprey" of 66 tons, Captain Carmical, arriving in Hobson's Bay on July 26, 1854, with general cargo; the latter one was the American schooner, "Osprey," Captain L. Owen, from Staten Island, New York, in ballast, 185 tons register, or 250 tons burthen, arriving the 29th July, 1854, Messrs. Faulkner, Ross, & Co., agents—Mr. John Tod remarking to me at the time, "That is the long lost "Osprey," when I said, "That is the very one that picked up poor Tichborne on the wide ocean;" I afterwards found Mr. Wilson was the landing-waiter.

The reason she was not reported in the papers she came into the bay at 4 a.m. very dark morning, and had all the appearance of a Geelong lighter, having little or no rigging, as there was about a dozen lighters at that time running to Geelong, and no report made of them, as the bay was crowded with ships at that time, and another "Osprey" in the bay at the time. With respect to myself, I am a father of seven sons and a daughter, and got a fellow-feeling for an ill-used man with a family. I have felt an interest in the claimant from the day I spoke to him at Sandridge; he is three months younger than myself, and if I had not been on duty as Inspector of Distilleries at Warrenheip Distillery at the time of the trial (being out of the way of seeing the papers), I would have found Arthur Orton at that time, also the wrecked sailor. I now trust Orton is taken to England against his will. I will let you know shortly the reason my telegrams and letters have not been answered, and the exact spot he is being concealed, if he is shifted from Temuka or Timaru to Dunedin of late. I have been ten years with Bright Brothers & Co., and eighteen years in the Customs, and all my actions are open and straightforward. I may make an enemy through doing my best and spending my money that an innocent man may get the opportunity of proving his conviction to be principally through false evidence, and I consider it to be my duty as an honorable man to do so, and as I am now situated the only opportunity I have is to simply give the reports, being as certain as my very existence, if I was supported by either the Sydney or the Victorian Governments, that I could give my time and attention, I could produce all the legal points that is so much required to release and prove the innocence of an unfortunate and an ill-used man, and which seems to appear a mystery to this wide world. I have enclosed a scrap that I cut out of the Telegraph paper of the 3rd of March, 1883. Loved by his dear children, and shut out from the world for want of the simple legal points of his evidence, which is at my finger ends, while every stratagem is now being used to keep the legal points from being exposed by persons that know them as well as myself, who are interested in so doing.

I am, &c.,
WALTER FOSSEY.

THE TICHBORNE CLAIMANT.

The eldest son of the Tichborne claimant has addressed the following letter to the Home Secretary:—"January 3, 1883. Right Honorable Sir,—I have just seen my father, who is fifty-four years old to-day. He looks very well, and, considering his position, is better than I expected to find him. He has now been in prison nearly nine years, and to-day is the first time I have seen him since his conviction. I cannot express in words my gratitude for allowing my brother and myself the great favour of seeing my dear father again, and I do sincerely hope that, as he has already suffered so much in convict prisons, you will use your influence to grant his early discharge, especially as I and my brother and two sisters need a father's attention and advice.—Awaiting your reply, I am, yours truly, R. C. D. TICHBORNE." The following reply has been received, addressed to Mr. R. C. D. Tichborne:—"Whitehall, 10th January, 1883.—Sir,—The Secretary of State for the Home Department having carefully considered your application on behalf of Thomas Castro, or Arthur Orton, I am directed to express to you his regret that he is unable to discover any sufficient ground to justify him, consistently with his public duty, in advising Her Majesty to interfere in this case.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, A. F. O. LIDDELL.—
Age, 3 March, 1883.

[Private.]

[Private.]

Dear Sir,

I forward you a copy of the reports handed to me, which resulted in that legal point being cleared up :—

Copy of the report of Mr. John Tod, H.M.C.

Melbourne, Victoria, Australia, 9 May, 1881.

I AM asked to state an occurrence what took place about four or five years ago, which has a bearing on the interest of Sir Roger Tichborne. At the time the Custom-house was being rebuilt, consequently all papers and books belonging to the department were removed to temporary offices in the neighbourhood. One day, when on duty there, waiting my turn to go out, being a drawback officer, a fancy came into my head to ascertain on what day the ship that carried me to Melbourne anchored in Hobson's Bay. Having secured the Customs import book for 1853 and 1854, I commenced searching for my object; in doing so I came on what rather surprised me, namely, that two ships of the same name of "Osprey" being reported as arrived within ten days, and of different tonnage, which had been in the bay at the same time, which was about July, 1854. I immediately drew some of my brother officers' attention to the fact, saying, "Here is the lost 'Osprey' there has been so much talk about." One of them said, "Show that to Mr. Wm. King." I did so. His reply was, "I (or we) know all about that." Since then I have not seen the book. The import book was for the year 1853 and 1854.

JOHN TOD,

H.M.C., No. 36, Regent-st., Fitzroy, Melbourne.

To Edmund Kimber, Esq., Solicitor for Sir Roger Tichborne, London.

Copy of the report of Mr. J. S. M'Keown, H.M.C.

Sir,

Melbourne, Victoria, Australia, 9 May, 1881.

I, James Stuart M'Keown, do solemnly and sincerely declare that, about four or five years ago, at the time the new Custom-house was being built, all the old ship report books were temporarily put into a room at the corner of William-street and Flinders-lane, opposite the Shipping Office, which was then used as the Custom-house, this said room was also used as the Customs, namely, the Drawback Office, which is now used as the Harbour Trust Office. Mr. John Tod, Mr. Walter Fossey (my fellow officers), and myself, were sitting together on this said heap of old books, waiting our turn for entry for drawback, when Mr. John Tod drew my attention to the report of the arrival of two schooners "Osprey" in the same week which, I believe, was the last week of July, 1854, Mr. Walter Fossey remarking at the time, "It is the latter one that picked up Roger Tichborne." He having said so much about her I immediately advised Mr. Tod to take the book and show Wm. King, my fellow-officer, the said reports, who had formerly reported to the Department that she was not reported, and, if necessary, I am prepared to swear to the above statement, and make him produce the book.

I am, &amp;c.,

JAMES STUART M'KEOWN,

Of Her Majesty's Customs.

To Edmund Kimber, Esq., Solicitor to the Claimant.

Copy of Mr. Walter Fossey's (H.M.C.) Statutory declaration.

4 May, 1881.

THAT about four or five years ago, at the time the Custom-house was being rebuilt, all the old ship report books was temporarily put in a room at the corner of William-street and Flinders-lane, opposite the Shipping Office, which was then used as the Harbour Trust Office. Mr. John Tod and Mr. James Stuart M'Keown (my fellow officers), and myself, were sitting together on the said heap of old books waiting our turn for entry and for drawback, and on account of me saying so often to most of the officers, especially to Mr. John Tod, he being about my own age, that I have seen Owen's "Osprey" the day she arrived, and was on board of her, when a lighter, talking to Captain L. Owen. He informed me that he left Staten Island, New York, in timber ballast; and I have often said she must be reported in some book. Consequently, Mr. John Tod, my fellow officer, felt an interest in looking for the report when the opportunity offered itself. He, however, took this opportunity, and after finding the book for 1854, he very quickly found two schooner "Ospreys" reported in the same week, namely, the 26th day of July, 1854, the little Scotch "Osprey," of 66 tons register, Captain Carmical, with general cargo.

And three days afterwards, on the 29th July, 1854, the American schooner "Osprey," of 185 tons register, or 250 tons burthen, Captain L. Owen, from Staten Island, New York, in ballast, Messrs. Falconer, Ross, & Co., agents. Mr. John Tod drew my attention to them. I immediately told him the latter "Osprey" was the very craft that picked up Roger Tichborne in a small open boat on the open sea. Mr. Tod then drew Mr. M'Keown's attention to them, who is another brother officer, when he immediately advised him to take the book and show the reports to Wm. King, another fellow officer, Mr. James M'Keown telling me at the time it was Wm. King that reported to the Department, at the time of Roger Tichborne's trial, that the "Osprey" was not reported. Mr. Tod then took the book to Wm. King, showing him the reports. Wm. King then took the book from Mr. Tod, and remarked, in an abrupt manner, that he knew all about it. I have several times since looked for the same book.

WALTER FOSSEY.

Copy of Mr. E. Kimber's letter to Mr. W. Fossey.

Dear Sir,

22 Queen-street, City, London, E.C., 14 September, 1881.

Your esteemed favour of the 1st August duly arrived here on the 12th instant, and it was duly laid before the Committee on that date. They are very grateful to you for your continued exertions in the cause, and have requested me to take care that the declaration of yourself and your friends, Tod and M'Keown, are brought before the authorities here.

Yours, &amp;c.,

E. KIMBER.

Metropolitan Committee, N.T.R.A., to Mr. W. Fossey.

Sir,

18 Reymouth-road, London, S.E., 12 September, 1881.

I am directed by the Executive Committee (Metropolitan Committee) of the National Tichborne Release Association to transmit to you their sense of deep gratification and pleasure at the nature of the information recently forwarded by you to Mr. Kimber, and of their great obligation to you for untiring and indefatigable energy and patience which you have devoted to the cause of an innocent man.

The Committee cannot too highly express their appreciation of your patient and arduous labours, but they trust you will accept this as a token at least that your very valuable labours are highly appraised. The Committee would be pleased if you would also convey their thanks to your two brother officers for the assistance they have rendered you. Wishing you sincerely full and complete success in your researches,

I have, &amp;c.,

THOS. E. POWELL,

Sec., Metropolitan Committee, N.T.R.A.

The Inspector-General of Police to Inspector Thorpe.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 31 March, 1883.

WILL Mr. Thorpe be good enough to obtain a written statement from Mr. William Rush of any circumstance which may have come under his notice with reference to William Cresswell, referred to in Mrs. Haigh's statement. Copy herewith.

EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P.

Mr. William Rush's statement is forwarded herewith, re William Cresswell.—C. THORPE, Inspector. Newcastle, 6/4/83. The Inspector-General of Police, Sydney.

Submitted for the information of the Hon. the Attorney-General.—HENRY GOFF, for I.G.P., B.C. 9/4/83. The Secretary to the Attorney-General.

[Enclosures.]

[Enclosures.]

I HAVE read my sister, Mrs. Charles Haigh's statement and confirm it, so far as William Cresswell's calling upon me on his arrival in the Colony between the years 1853 and 1856. I saw him several times subsequently, but have not seen him for many years since; being in constant communication with my sister I have heard of Cresswell from her; she informed me that the Cresswell alluded to was an inmate of an asylum.

Witness—C. THORPE, Inspector.

Newcastle, 6 April, 1883.

W. C. RUSH.

Seen. To be referred to the Crown Solicitor.—W.B.D., A.G. The identification of Cresswell appears to be complete. These papers should be shown to Mr. Oliver.—10/4/83.

Mr. Superintendent Lydiard to The Inspector-General of Police.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District, Bathurst, 7 April, 1883.
MEMO.—Mr. Kite has seen this man Cresswell at Parramatta. He has identified him as a man who was in his father's employment some years back. The Inspector-General has seen Mr. Kite previously with regard to this matter. I have sent Senior-sergeant Carroll to Kelso to see Mr. Cousins' books, and I now attach his report on the matter. So far as I can judge Cresswell and Orton are not identical.
C.J.P.L., Superintendent.

Senior-sergeant Carroll to Mr. Superintendent Lydiard.

Police Station, Bathurst, 7 April, 1883.

Re inquiry respecting William Cresswell.

SENIOR-SERGEANT CARROLL reports that he has seen R. Y. Cousins, Esq., J.P., of Kelso, respecting the above, and herewith attaches that gentleman's written statement respecting Cresswell. Mr. Cousins does not remember the name of the ship Cresswell came out in.

The Sergeant also saw Mr. William Kite, of Kelso, and that gentleman informed him that he saw and identified a man in the Parramatta Lunatic Asylum about four years ago. That man was William Cresswell, the same who was in his father's employ about thirty years ago, and who about that date brought out from England some bulls for his father, Thomas Kite. Mr. Kite states that he is quite positive about this matter.

Mr. Kite states that he will be in Sydney about the end of this month; that he will call on the Inspector-General of Police and, if required, will again go and see the man Cresswell.

D. CARROLL,

Senior-sergeant.

Forwarded to the Inspector-General.—C.J.P.L., Supt., 7/4/83.

From Mr. R. Y. Cousins, Kelso.

Kelso, 7 April, 1883.

WILLIAM CRESSWELL arrived in Sydney on or about the 24th of November, 1855, and brought bulls from England for the late Mr. Kite. He was in the service of Mr. Kite for seventeen weeks, namely, to March 21st, 1856. This would make twenty-eight years in November next from the time of his arrival in this country. Our London agents at that time were Messrs. Robert Brooks and Co., of St. Peter's Chambers, Cornhill, London, by whom I believe William Cresswell was engaged. He went or was at Wagga Wagga some time after, and wrote to us from that place. I am not aware at present, or do not remember, if he went to the Braidwood district or not.
R. Y. COUSINS.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Attorney-General.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 2 April, 1883.

Re Cresswell, a lunatic.

The attached statements are submitted for the Attorney-General's information.

Mr. R. Y. Cousins, of Kelso, can give particulars regarding the ship and date of Cresswell's arrival in charge of bulls for the late Mr. Kite. Mr. Cousins has been communicated with on the subject.

EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P.

[Enclosure.]

The Inspector of Detectives to The Inspector-General of Police.

Detective Office, Sydney, 30 March, 1883.

Sir, Re William Cresswell, an inmate of the Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta.

I have the honor to report for your information that I have seen Mrs. Haigh and her brother, Mr. Waltham Rush, from whom I obtained the attached statements.

Mrs. Haigh is not very clear as to dates, but she informs me that Mr. Wickham, Clerk of Petty Sessions at Parramatta, accompanied her to the Asylum to see the inmate, Cresswell, made a note of the dates and circumstances when they were fresh in her memory, and no doubt he will be able to give particulars.

I have, &amp;c.,

W. CAMPHIN,

Inspector of Detectives.

Sydney, 30 March, 1883.

Mrs. Charles Haigh states:—I lived in High Holborn, London, about 1842; I knew the Cresswell family; Annie Cresswell, afterwards Mrs. Henry Gough, lived in High Holborn; I have been informed that she went to America, where she died; I knew Thomas Cresswell, living in St. John's Wood, London, a grocer; Ellen Cresswell, afterwards Mrs. Birch, also lived at St. John's Wood; Emily Cresswell, St. John's Wood, since dead; I also heard that Cresswell, senior, and his wife stayed at St. John's Wood with their daughter, Mrs. Gough, but they lived at Reading, in Berkshire; I saw William Cresswell at his sister's house (Mrs. Gough) in St. John's Wood; I saw him frequently; I came out to this Colony in 1849 and returned to England about 1852; I then saw some members of the Cresswell family; I did not then see William; I returned to Sydney about 1855; during my stay in England I was informed by the family that William Cresswell had gone to Sydney, and when I arrived in Sydney I was informed that he had been to see my brother, William Rush, who was an auctioneer in Pitt-street, now in the Customs at Newcastle; he said that he had brought out horses or cattle for Mr. Kite, of Bathurst; I saw William Cresswell about twelve years ago in Britannia-terrace, when he called to see me to inquire about his family at home; he then told me that he had been for some time at Mr. Kite's, at Bathurst; Mr. Wickham, late clerk at Darlinghurst Gaol, informed me that he was arrested the same day and sent to the Receiving House for being of unsound mind; sometime afterwards I went with Mr. Wickham to the asylum at Parramatta and saw the same William Cresswell whom I had known in England; he recognized me for a few minutes and asked me about his friends at home; I showed him the photograph of his sister Annie; he said, "Oh yes, Emily;" I said, "No, Annie;" he then said, "Oh yes, Annie;" the sisters were much alike; Cresswell then began to ramble, and Dr. Taylor said it was no use remaining any longer; I have not seen Cresswell since; I have received a letter from a friend of the family, Mrs. Howitt, of High Holborn, asking if I had seen him; I replied that I had, and forwarded clippings from the newspapers relative to Cresswell to Mrs. Howitt; I have not now got Mrs. Howitt's letter.
MARY C. HAIGH.

Witness—W. CAMPHIN.

Sydney, 29 March, 1883.

Waltham Rush states:—I lived in London from 1836 to 1849; I knew Mr. Gough, senior, whose son afterwards married Miss Cresswell—they lived at Lincoln's Inn Fields; Cresswell (I do not know his Christian name) frequently visited there; I left England 1849; I was in business on Brickfield Hill; some time before 1875 a young man came to my shop and and touched me on the shoulder, and said : " How do you do, Rush ? " ; I said to him : " I do not recognise you " ; he said, " You remember my sisters at home—Miss Cresswells ? " ; I said, " Oh, yes ; I see now you are a Cresswell " ; I said to him, " What have you been doing ? " ; he said, " I have been knocking about the bush " ; he asked me where my sister Mary lived ; I gave him her address, Britannia-terrace, Point Piper Road ; he said, " I will call upon her ; I would like to see her " ; he then left me, and I have not seen him since ; I was told by some person, whom I cannot remember, about a fortnight after this conversation, that he had been arrested for being of unsound mind ; I recognise the photograph of the female as that of Annie Cresswell, and the male as that of her husband, Mr. Gough.

Witness—W. CAMPHIN.

WALTHAM RUSH.

Memo. from Inspector of Detectives to Inspector-General of Police.

Re William Cresswell, an inmate of the Lunatic Asylum.

Detective Office, 1/4/83.

MEMO.—Mr. Kite, of Bathurst, informed me that about three years ago he visited the Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, when he saw an inmate named William Cresswell whom he recognised as a person of the same name who had been in his father's employ, and had brought out bulls from England for him about thirty years ago. Mr. Kite also states that his visit to the Asylum at Parramatta was recorded in the books of the institution by Dr. Taylor.

W. CAMPHIN,

Inspector of Detectives.

The Inspector-General of the Insane to The Inspector-General of Police.

Lunacy Department, Inspector-General's Office, Gladesville, 30 March, 1883.

My Dear Fosbery,

I send you Cresswell's history as far as I know it. I believe Dr. Taylor knows something more of the man, but he is just now very ill, and I have not thought it right to trouble him. Of course he was seen and examined by solicitors and barristers on both sides during Tichborne trial, and some hundreds of letters have been sent to me about him. I transferred him to Parramatta to rid myself of an abominable nuisance. Dr. Taylor has I know taken some interest in the question, and when better may be able to give you some information.

I have, &c.,

F. NORTON MANNING.

Lunacy Department, Inspector General's Office, Gladesville, 30 March, 1883.

WILLIAM CRESSWELL was first admitted to Gladesville on January 13, 1871, being committed by the Bench at Braidwood. He was described as a butcher, forty-two years of age ; a Catholic, married, but separated from his wife. His only property consisted of a gold ring, an opossum rug, a peculiar leather vest, a knife, and a tobacco pouch. He was in a bad condition of health and covered with vermin. The only particulars as to his insanity forwarded with him were that he was continually writing extravagant letters to Lord Belmore, talked nonsense, and was very violent and abusive.

He soon became much better in mind, and was discharged on April 27, '71. Before discharging him I had a long conversation, during which he told me that he came from the south of England ; was born at or near Strathfieldsaye ; and that his father held land or was in some way employed under the Duke of Wellington. This statement has, I believe, since been confirmed, and there have been letters sent to Mr. Eckford from a brother.

Cresswell was readmitted to Gladesville on August 15, '71, and was then described as a gold-digger. He was sent from Camden, and was described as having various delusions about being entitled to money, and on the paper is this note : " It is said that Cresswell's family are parties to a Chancery suit of long duration in England, so that there may be some foundation for his hallucination with regard to money or property coming to him."

The first time Cresswell was mentioned in connection with the Tichborne case was I think in a paragraph in Goulburn Herald, published in September, 1871, in which there are these particulars :—" He arrived in Queanbeyan district some years ago, then calling himself Smith, and engaged as groom or coachman to Mr. William Davis, of Ginnindera, and subsequently married a Mrs. Clark, widow of an innkeeper. He ill-used her, was tried for assault, and received a sentence of imprisonment."

Cresswell was transferred to Parramatta on April 18, '72, and has remained there ever since.

F. N. M.

Mr. W. Fossey to Dr. Taylor.

51, Brighton-street, East Richmond, Melbourne, Victoria,

22 March, 1883.

Dear sir,

To complete the information in reference to the renown Arthur Orton, I have enclosed to you the letter I have just received from the Temuka Postmaster and Telegraph Officer, in answer to my letter. I wrote to him requesting some reason why no answer has been sent to my telegram that I forwarded from Sydney, which was as follows :—

New South Wales Electric Telegraph.

TELEGRAM to Temuka Station, addressed to Harry Smith, butcher, Canterbury, New Zealand.

Answer immediately ; will you come ; your brother Charles here ; passage paid, and thousand pounds.

Date, December 27th, 1882.

FOSSEY AND BULLOCK.

The answer which you see by the letter is as follows :—

Memorandum to Mr. W. Fossey, East Richmond, Melbourne.

Dear sir,

Government Postal Department, Temuka, New Zealand, 1 March 1883.

In reply to your enquiry re a telegram, addressed by you from Sydney to a Mr. Henry Smith, Temuka, I beg to inform you that the telegram referred to was duly delivered to Mr. Smith at his residence at Winchester on the day of its receipt at this office, but as to why no reply was sent to it I am unable to say. I have written to him on the subject and requested him to communicate with you with as little delay as possible, which no doubt he will do.

I have, &c.,

B. D. O'HALLOBAN, Postmaster and Telegraphist.

I have noticed by Mr. B. D. O'Halloran's letter that he has called Harry Smith Mr. Henry Smith, and Walter Fossey Mr. William Fossey. I cannot understand why he should do so ; however it is perfectly clear to me that Arthur Orton, namely Harry Smith, is shying, or alarmed of his identity being known to the public, and it clearly appears to me that he is secreted by the Roman Catholics of that district, especially by Boyed Thomson and a Mr. Quinn. I wrote a letter to Harry Smith, in the care of Mr. Quinn, of the "Star Hotel" at Temuka, on account of it being a house he so often visited, and I got no answer. However Harry Smith or Arthur Orton is the recipient of the description the Claimant gave at his trial, and he is to be seen at the country township of Winchester, Canterbury, New Zealand, which is close to Boyed Thomson's, the butcher's farm, who Arthur Orton is engaged by. Winchester Station is only 2½ miles from Temuka Station. He can now be taken either against his will or with a free pardon or reward ; it is impossible to make any mistake in the man on account of his peculiar appearance ; he could be easily picked out of 10,000 men ; he has evidently removed from his place of residence, namely from the slaughtering sheds, in care of

Boyed

Boyed Thomson's dogs at Timaru to Winchester, on account of secrecy, and being more out of sight. I have sworn a statutory declaration that this Harry Smith is Arthur Orton, youngest son of the late George Orton, shipping butcher of Wapping, East London, and my prayer is that he is taken to England with as little delay as possible, which will immediately release an innocent man. Just because poor Tichborne did not agree to the Roman Catholic regulations his sister-in-law and family, with the support of all the priests, got him convicted.

With reference to the "Osprey," Captain L. Owen, arrived in Hobson's Bay at 4 a.m.; the wrecked men with Roger Charles Tichborne landed at Sandridge in the jolly-boat at 10.30 a.m. The "Osprey" berthed at 2 p.m., and then discharged a quantity of nuts into the lighter "Abeona" that she had to fill up space. At 6 a.m. next morning she was towed up the Yarra to Captain Charles Chessell's slip, he having two steam winches, being a ship-builder, and there discharged ebona logs and satin wood she had for ballast, also fourteen cases of provisions. She was then sold to a C. L. Throgmorton, who was an American and an extensive lighterman, who cut down the bulwarks of the said "Osprey" and used her as a lighter. Captain Owen and crew went to the diggings, and three months afterwards Captain Owen returned and took charge of the same "Osprey" as a lighter, and was in her from November, 1854, to about December, 1860; consequently all books on board were taken to C. L. Throgmorton's office, and in the year 1865 he became insolvent, Mr. Shaw being the official assignee; consequently Captain L. Owen and the lighter "Osprey" was well known by every merchant and lighterman in Melbourne in those days, and the wrecked carpenter and sailors relations was nearly as well known. The said "Osprey" was ultimately condemned and laid up in the salt water river, Footscray, for some years, and was then broken up to repair the wharf at William Brown's, fellmonger, at the end of the Australian Wharf, Mr. William Brown giving a declaration to the fact. Thus ends the "Osprey," and what is more strange, this very spot was the slaughtering yards on November 21st, 1853, the first place Arthur Orton went to work in Victoria in the name of Harry Smith, on arriving from Hobartown, after he changed Maria Lock's clothes; and should I ever be supported I feel quite certain I can get Captain L. Owen's log-book, giving the account of picking up the "Bella's" wrecked men and Roger Charles Tichborne off the Brazilian coast, in a small open boat on the open ocean, which was the very same boat that brought them ashore at Sandridge from the "Osprey."

I got an order from Judge Noel, Commissioner of Insolvency, dated October 14th, 1880, and inspected a stack of books about 5 feet square, in the cellar of the Treasury, and I feel quite certain Captain L. Owen's log-book is in that stack of books, which I could quickly find if supported. The whole that I have written is solemn and true, and my prayer is that some step is taken without delay to release an innocent man.

My opinion in this mysterious case, that in communication with R. S. Sanderson, Esq., M.L.A., now Minister of Justice, who has known me a long time, the hidden legal points could be brought to light to the satisfaction of the world at large, which would be the greatest honor to all persons interested.

The main cause of the poor unfortunate man's conviction was simply through being shut out of proofs of his evidence, and false evidence brought to bear by those interested in his estates, and afterwards representing a lunatic for Orton, or a lamb for a fox, has gone greatly against the unfortunate man; however his enemies have shown their colour in Ireland, which should be sufficient to open the eyes of any honorable Government. The most disgusting part that has come to my ears is so many false reports in reference to both Tichborne and Orton, which has come from Tichborne's enemies purposely to mislead, to confuse, and to put all kinds of bad impressions upon the case into the ears of the public. Is there anything honorable in so doing? Would any such beings sign their name to such trash, not even let their names be known, but work as it were in the dark?

The wrecked sailor Alexander Malcolm, known as "Yorke" as coming from New York, has been to my house scores of times, he being so interested in poor Tichborne, he remembering me at the time of his landing at Sandridge. He was with Orton and Tichborne at Wagga Wagga, and greatly interested in giving me all the particulars and the occurrences that passed at Wagga Wagga, which would fill a volume to write it all out.

The wrecked carpenter Andrew Jack went by the name of Sheaves on board of the "Bella," and he was at work as ship-carpenter on the south side of the Yarra for years, and unfortunately for the Claimant he died with inflammation in the lungs just twelve months before the trial, leaving a sister and several houses on Emerald Hill. She has since got married and living at Hotham, and the wrecked sailor died only three years ago with inflammation in the liver, leaving a wife and a cottage in Richmond. I now conclude, trusting something is done for poor Tichborne.

I have, &c.,

WALTER FOSSEY.

For the information of the Colonial Secretary.—CHARLES TAYLOR.

The Inspector-General of Police to Captain Zouch.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 9 April, 1883.

IN August, 1871, William Cresswell, a lunatic, was received at the Reception House, Darlinghurst, believed to have been sent from the Braidwood district. Will Captain Zouch be good enough to cause inquiries to be made respecting Cresswell and if possible trace his movements prior to the above date, and any other particulars obtainable.

EDMD. FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

Returned with the statements of persons who came in contact with Cresswell, alias Smith, from about 1860 up to the time he became a lunatic. It must have been in Victoria Orton and Cresswell, probably at Sale in Gippsland, became acquainted, and both being butchers may have worked together there.—H.Z., 4/5/83. The Inspector-General of Police.

[Enclosures.]

[Enclosures.]

Re William Cresswell, a lunatic, now in Gladesville Asylum.

Police Department, Goulburn Station, 27 April, 1883.

It is very desirable that every particular connected with this man's history, previous to his incarceration in August, 1871, should be traced.

He is said to have arrived in the Queanbeyan district from Victoria about the year 1860, was known by the name of Smith, was a crack shot and a good cricket player, though much addicted to drink.

Forwarded to Senior-sergeant Latimer, who will furnish me with such information regarding the lunatic Cresswell as he may be in possession of, as well as the names of persons he believes could give a sketch of Cresswell's antecedents.—
H. ZOUCH, Superintendent, Southern District.

Senior-sergeant Latimer to Superintendent Zouch.

Re William Cresswell, a lunatic.

Police Station, Berrima, 28 April, 1883.

SENIOR-SERGEANT LATIMER reports, for the information of Captain Zouch, and in reply to the attached communication relative to William Cresswell, a lunatic, now in Gladesville Asylum,—

That Cresswell arrived in Queanbeyan district about the latter part of 1861 from Sale in Gippsland, where the Senior-sergeant believes he was employed as a butcher.

His first employment in Queanbeyan district was with William Davis, Esq., of Gininderra, in the capacity of groom; he remained in that employment for some six or nine months, under the name of John or William Smith, during which time he became acquainted with Mrs. Clarke, a widow, who kept a public-house at Jerrabiggery, Gundaroo, and in a short time married her under the name of William Cresswell.

He was very much addicted to drink and he and his wife lived very unhappily until, in consequence of his intemperate and violent habits, she left him.

His license then lapsed and his wife obtained a license for a house in Queanbeyan, which she conducted independent of Cresswell, who remained on the farm attached to the inn at Gundaroo until the property he inherited from his wife was squandered; he remained about the district for some time after living none knew how, and left about 1864 or 1865, and was next heard of in Sydney.

Cresswell was a good shot; the Senior-sergeant heard him offer for a wager to throw up two lemonade bottles in the air and break both with two revolvers as they came down.

He always attended any pigeon matches in the neighbourhood, but generally took exclusive possession of and attended to the trap as one experienced in such matters.

He was a good cricket player, very fond of horses, a good judge of a horse, and could bleed and prescribe medicine for horses and cattle with confidence and success.

On Cresswell's first appearance in Queanbeyan he wore a brown velvet shooting coat and leggings, and generally adopted a style of dress similar to that worn by a gentleman's servant or game-keeper in England.

Cresswell had a peculiar habit of winking one eye, and nodding his head when speaking.

Mr. William Davis, now of Goulburn district, could give a sketch of Cresswell's antecedents, also Mr. J. J. Wright, of Queanbeyan, and John Stafford Letts (known as old Taff Letts), of Gundaroo, who knew Cresswell in Sale.

R. LATIMER,
Senior-sergeant.

Mr. D. Smith to The Crown Solicitor.

Sir,

4, Charlotte-terrace, Castlereagh-street, 18 April, 1883.

At a public meeting held on Sunday last, April 15th, 1883, in the Domain, about from two to three thousand persons being present, it was unanimously resolved: "That a petition be prepared and signed by as many of the inhabitants of the city of Sydney and Colony of New South Wales as will, and be presented to the Governor in Council, praying that the lunatic now confined in the Lunatic Asylum at Parramatta, in the name of William Cresswell, has been identified by Charles Orton as his brother Arthur Orton, James Peebles, the second mate of the ship 'Middleton,' who left London with Arthur Orton in the year 1853 for these Colonies, and others of equal testimony, to be the real Arthur Orton. That the said lunatic be sent to London in care of some responsible person, to be identified, that an innocent man may be set free, who is now undergoing a term of imprisonment for fourteen years as Arthur Orton in England. That a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the Attorney-General and Crown Solicitor."

By Mr. Smith, from London, who is authorized to act for and on behalf of the Tichborne Committee in London.

Mr. F. O'Brien to The Colonial Secretary.

Re William Cresswell, a lunatic.

Sir,

Derwent-street, Glebe, 2 April, 1883.

I see by Friday's Evening News that Mr. J. Eckford has again applied for his release as Arthur Orton, and as my name is likely to be used again (vide pages 26 and 27 of correspondence minutes re William Cresswell, ordered to be printed 6th November, 1878, by the Legislative Assembly), I beg to enclose for your information* letters from the late G. Onslow to myself, the late Mrs. Cresswell, and which will show the object of the persons moving in the matter.

When the letters reached me Mrs. Cresswell was dead, and as the writer is also dead there can be no breach of faith in my handing them to you.

My principal object in troubling you I have enclosed in a private letter.

Mrs. Cresswell had no better reason for supposing her husband to be Arthur Orton than she had that he was Roger Tichborne—mere drunken boast on his part.

I have, &c.,
FRANK O'BRIEN.

The Attorney-General.—A.S., 2/4/83.
C.W. Seen.—W.B.D., A.-G., 12/4/83.

The Secretary to the Attorney-General, B.C., 5/4/83.—

Mr. W. Clarson to The Attorney-General.

Sir, The Illustrated Sydney News Office, 70 Pitt-street, Sydney, 10 April, 1883.

Having observed by the papers that a fresh application is made for the release of the man Cresswell, on the plea that he is the veritable Arthur Orton I take the liberty of informing you that I have very special knowledge on the subject, which will quite confirm you in the attitude you have taken in opposing the application.

I shall be glad to call upon you at any time you may appoint and give you in twenty minutes a narrative of the whole matter, and of the absurdity of the application. I am, &c.,

WM. CLARSON.

For the Inspector-General.—W.B.D., A.G., 11/4/83.

The Inspector of Detectives to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir, Detective Office, 11 April, 1883.

I have the honor to report for your information that I have seen Mr. Clarson at the office of the Sydney Illustrated News, when he handed to me the attached statement relative to Mrs. Jury's visit to Parramatta Lunatic Asylum for the purpose of identifying her brother, Arthur Orton.

I have, &c.,

W. CAMPHIN,
Inspector of Detectives.

Submitted for the Attorney-General's information.—EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P. B.C., 11 April, 1883. The Secretary, Attorney-General's Department.

[Enclosure]

The Illustrated Sydney News Office, 70, Pitt-street, Sydney.

Statement as to Mrs. Jury and the man Cresswell in the Parramatta Lunatic Asylum.

MRS. JURY was an old lady who, with her daughter, kept a small school near Hackney, London. She was the sister of the veritable Arthur Orton, and declares that the present claimant is not her brother. She states that when her brother, who was a seafaring man, last returned to their house he had a severe gash on one of his cheeks, the mark of which she believes could never be obliterated. Feeling her family disgrace by being thought to be connections of the Claimant, and hearing that her brother was confined under the name of Cresswell in the Parramatta Asylum, she got assistance in order to help her to make the voyage, and if possible identify the man. She was a passenger with us by the "Tanjore," P. and O. steamer, and she arrived at Melbourne about the middle of May, 1877; and owing to there being some error in the arrangements for supplying her with funds, I lent her £5 to carry her on to Sydney, when on arrival she got it from J. Woore, the agent for the P. and O. Company; she paid the money to Gibbs, Shallard, & Co., and on the suggestion of Mr. Gibbs took lodgings at "Eckford's Hotel."

During the voyage to Melbourne she was very ill, and made a confidant of me as to her mission to Australia. In due course of time she was afforded an opportunity of closely examining the man Cresswell, and she at once determined that he bore no resemblance whatever to her brother Arthur. She called on our Melbourne firm on her way home, and seeing me she declared as above. WM. CLARSON.

Mr. W. Fossey to Dr. Taylor.

Sir, 51, Brighton-street, East Richmond, Victoria, 14 April, 1883.

As having told you in my letter that I promised Edmund Kimber, Esq., the Claimant's solicitor, who I know to be a gentleman without prejudice like ourselves, namely, that I would go to Sydney and see Wm. Cresswell, if he sent out Charles Orton and D. Smith.

I here send you a copy of E. Kimber, Esq.'s letter I received this last mail per the s.s. "Shannon."

Dear Sir, 15, Walbrook, London, E.C., 13 February, 1883.

I yesterday received your letter of the 27th of December last, announcing your visit to Sydney with Mr. Bullock and your interview with Mr. Eckford and Messrs. D. Smith and C. Orton. We now anxiously await the result of your deliberation. It is very good of you to take so much trouble and to go to so much expense, while you get nothing but abuse from your colleagues in the Custom-house in return. This is treatment, however, that all who have had anything to do with the case have had to undergo. Now for eight years past the Metropolitan Committee have been working almost every week, at great expense and self-denial, knowing, as they do, that it is in the great and holy cause of justice. We have no other interest in the case than to see justice triumph, and are therefore living exemplars of the proverb, "Virtue is its own reward."

Yours, &c.,

EDMUND KIMBER.

W. Fossey, Esq.

Dear Sir,

I have these letters on the way to E. Kimber, and you can judge the contents. I make the allowance for Eckford and D. Smith's weakness, as they are wholly in the dark, but C. Orton, I consider, is prejudiced up to his eyes.

As a truthful friend to Roger Charles Tichborne, the unfortunate Claimant, and knowing before my Maker I can now go straight to New Zealand and put my hand on the shoulder of Arthur Orton, late of Wapping, East of London, and the youngest brother to Charles Orton, now in Sydney, and could pick the two brothers out of 10,000 men in the dark by placing my left hand on the nose and passing my right hand from shoulder to shoulder on the back. The Claimant at his trial gave a true and honest description of Arthur Orton, and William Cresswell, the lunatic, is not the slightest comparison. I am much delighted to be able to send you this paragraph which I cut out of the Evening Herald :—

"At a 'Tichborne' meeting this evening, Mr. D. Smith, of London, who came out with Charles Orton, to take home the lunatic Cresswell, who is said to be identical with Arthur Orton, will give an account of the Claimant's trial."

I have in my possession in print, the Claimant's evidence or description of Arthur Orton, which is a copy of what I sent; and let D. Smith or any other man produce a genuine printed evidence that I have, before getting possession of William Cresswell, the lunatic. D. Smith or Joseph Eckford will never expose themselves by producing the above. I would rather let time expose their weakness than to make any remark offensive, having taken stock. In my report to Sir Henry Parkes, I stated I knew personally Roger Charles Tichborne and Arthur Orton, and taking Harry Smith, who is Arthur Orton, to England against his will, it will put an end to the Arthur Orton dispute.

For

For the sake of information I will now give you simply the great mysterious points of the Tichborne case, having proofs positive. Tichborne asked Orton what name he was going by, and he answered, "Smith," and on Tichborne asking him what Christian name, he said "Alfred," while he was going by the name of Harry. In asking why he did so, he remarked he did not wish him to know that he at times worked as a slaughterman.

The next unfortunate point—When Tichborne left Wagga Wagga in June, 1866, for England, he shook hands with Orton, Orton then wearing a cabbage-tree hat, and a leather jacket; and three months afterwards Orton gave this leather jacket to William Cresswell, who was then an ostler at a hotel. Cresswell began to weaken his brains by drinking, became a noted character, and he went by the name of "Leather Jacket." Orton then started for Melbourne, working occasionally on his way down, arriving in Melbourne in December, 1866, and left for New Zealand in March, 1867. A Mr. W. H. Lock reported that a man was run in a lunatic asylum with a leather jacket on; the Claimant naturally remarked it was very likely to be Orton (simply on account of the leather jacket), proved and verified by the wrecked sailor, Wagga witness in Melbourne, and Orton himself. And in asking Cresswell where he got the leather jacket from, he will tell you Harry Smith gave it to him.

The next unfortunate point—The Claimant at his trial said William Foster engaged him as stock-driver in Melbourne, instead of William Frost, who engaged him in the name of Roger Tichborne, for James Connell, a large station-owner living at Kew—William Foster being the person that engaged Arthur Orton at Gippsland.

The next unfortunate point—The American schooner "Osprey," with three bare masts, coming from Geelong in the dark, and every appearance of a lighter, consequently not advertised in the paper, as arriving in ballast, and so many other "Ospreys" arriving to confuse the above one.

The next unfortunate point—The Claimant never wrote home to say he was saved from the wreck of the "Bella" and enjoying good health in the colonies, having been picked up by a three-masted American schooner. The reason for the above was that, if writing home, his mother would have insisted of him coming home, he not feeling happy at home.

I am in communication with the real Arthur Orton, and he will have nothing to do with Messrs. Eckford, D. Smith, and Charles Orton, but under certain conditions will go to England with myself and Mr. Bullock.

The identity of William Cresswell, the lunatic is as follows:—His family lives at Berkshire, England, and he has been engaged as an overseer on a sheep station in New South Wales, and no butcher whatever, but has a brother, Thomas, a butcher, in Berkshire. The above evidence came from six of the oldest butchers in New South Wales, on me showing his photograph to find out his identity for the satisfaction of the unfortunate Claimant.

I am thankful to the Sydney Government for bringing a pressure upon the real Arthur Orton, as he is more straightforward and candid with me, giving me the opportunity to meet his views and come to a mutual understanding. He has nothing whatever to fear in this wide world, although there has been so many wicked and false reports, simply for the purpose of putting a bad impression in the minds of the public, and to intimidate the poor man and his friends that actually know him, and more, that false meanings are continually put to anything favourable to him. However I trust the time is not far off when I can introduce Arthur Orton to Roger Charles Tichborne, which I shall feel it the greatest honor in this world, and will not ask for a penny, but simply my expenses; and I am sure every honorable gentleman in this wide world will be delighted to see; so every support I can get in the way of pressure and influence will assist me to bring it to a close. I say, truthfully from my heart, I have no faith or communication with any person in this wide world upon this important affair, excepting Edmund Kimber, Esq., the Claimant's solicitor, the real Arthur Orton and his solicitor, Dr. Taylor, of Parramatta, and Mr. W. D. Bullock; and each of us, I consider, is sincere and true, and, I trust, with the support of our Maker, will each receive the honor that is due to us in bringing the great mystery to a success. I may remark again, that William Cresswell, the lunatic, has been a thorn in my side in getting the Orton affair cleared up. I can show you half-a-dozen letters from E. Kimber and the late Guilford Onslow, saying the evidence goes to show that William Cresswell, the lunatic in the Parramatta Lunatic Asylum, is Arthur Orton, and said as much as that Harry Smith was an impostor and I was a spy—which came from the late G. Onslow, through W. H. Lock and Joseph Eckford. Edmund Kimber, Esq., never did believe in the lunatic; but in never seeing Mr. Eckford or W. H. Lock, and not hearing the other side, he was obliged to take all for gospel. Myself, Mr. Bullock, and the real Arthur Orton, and Dr. Taylor will make such men as Daniel Smith and Joseph Eckford look very silly shortly.

I have just received a letter from the real Arthur Orton's solicitor, which is a very kind and business-like one. Both myself and Mr. Bullock will now write to him, or at least to the real Arthur Orton, and amuse him in reference to the lunatic and his brother Charles and Daniel Smith. This last I received was dated Temuka, 4th April, 1883. He shall as quick as possible satisfy the Claimant to his identity, by his photo. in cabinet size, and private communication, which will place me in a position to go to England with him and Mr. Bullock to nurse him, as he is dreadfully troubled with the cramps in his limbs, through the exposure to wet weather.

Arthur Orton is in the name of Harry Smith, in New Zealand, as master slaughterman.

Robert Orton is in the name of Robert Smith, in British Columbia, as a farmer.

The above are corresponding together, and are the two lost brothers that are missing, and that were talked so much about at the Claimant's trial, which I will shortly bring to light before the public, satisfactorily.

I am, &c.,

WALTER FOSSEY.

Forwarded for the information of the Colonial Secretary.—C.T., 17/4/83.

Mr. W. Fossey to Dr. Taylor.

Dear Sir,

51 Brighton-street, East Richmond, Melbourne, Victoria, 5 May, 1883.

Knowing you to be a supporter in clearing up the Arthur Orton mystery, I here forward you some fresh information, which is a copy of a letter I have received from the real Arthur Orton, namely,
Harry

Harry Smith. The original I have forwarded to Edmund Kimber, Esq. The postage stamps are the exact same as the letter I sent to you from the Temuka Telegraph Office. The address was as follows :—

Walter Fossey, Esq., 51, Brighton-street, East Richmond, Melbourne, Victoria.

Temuka, 4 April, '83,

Dear Sir,

Your letter and telegram to hand, and in reply I will go at once, providing the money is paid to me at the Bank of New Zealand, Temuka—that is the £1,000 sterling—but under no other amount will I go.

Yours respectfully,

HARRY SMITH.

Per Wm. Rt. UPRICHARD,

Attorney for Harry Smith.

P.S.—Please address—Harry Smith, care of Wm. Rt. Uprichard, Temuka.

Mr. Bullock, who was stopping with him for three months, informs me that this Wm. Rt. Uprichard, who is acting his attorney, is his mate, and been a smart London butcher. His position is as follows :—Winchester, Arthur Orton is stopping at Thomson's farm—3 miles Temuka, 3 miles Timaru, 15 miles Omaru.

I have wrote to him for his photographs, view of back and front, and private circumstances between himself and Tichborne, in a sealed letter addressed to Tichborne, all in his own handwriting ; I could then forward them to Mr. Edm. Kimber ; I would then be able to get him £1,000 and sufficient to pay our expenses to England. I have not met with the success at present. Should I do it will immediately put an end to the Arthur Orton mystery, when I will quickly let you know. Putting the screw on him will get him out of his shell. I forgot to tell you while I was stopping in Sydney, and the first day I called upon Mr. Eckford's, where Daniel Smith and Charles Orton was stopping, with a view of taking stock of them all, as I promised Mr. Kimber, I found Mr. Eckford's eldest son a very intelligent young man, and quite unprejudiced ; his name is Walter Eckford, and about twenty-five years of age. We were walking up and down the front verandah of the hotel talking about A. Orton. He told me his father was in a fix with the A. Orton affair, and that Daniel Smith was nothing but an old parrot, and Charles Orton a deaf old fool. That being the first information I got, I immediately remarked that was exactly my opinion of them ; and the true Arthur Orton would not trust himself with them, as he remarked, as I remark, that they are upside down through a lot, what he calls "barbers' clerks."

I see by the papers Daniel Smith was fined £10 for selling one of those pamphlets on Tichborne's penis, which is the same as a horse, goes up out of sight, which was so when a child ; yet all true. D. Smith should not have been so-mean to sell one, which served him very well right, and for exciting the public, which does more harm than good. My views is to produce all the proofs of the evidence, which I can easily by being supported by the Governurent, which will be the greatest honor to all that assists in clearing up the great mystery in a quiet, straightforward manner. Messrs. Fossey, Taylor, and Kimber will receive the greatest honors in the mystery being cleared up. I hide nothing to Dr. Taylor, of Parramatta, and Edmd. Kimber, of London, that we may all pull together with a strong will. I have wrote to Mr. Kimber a very long letter. I told him I was very much deceived in finding Mr. Eckford a tall, raw-boned, speculative Scotchman, and Smith and Orton made tools of by Eckford, and they are upside down, just as the real Arthur Orton remarked ; and if Wm. Cresswell was taken to England it would most seriously damage the case, as poor Tichborne would find that he has been made a great fool of, and the public would all laugh at the folly of Tichborne's friends. The real Arthur Orton, who is in the receipt of the Claimant's evidence, is troubled with rheumatism in his limbs, like myself. I am writing to him that in the event of us getting the cash we will go to England with every comfort and attendance, and to place every confidence in Walter Fossey, Doctor Taylor, and Mr. Kimber, and success will be certain, as he will deal with gentlemen without the slightest of prejudice, but only seeking for justice.

I may tell you the real Arthur Orton has a different disposition from his brother Charles in Sydney, yet you would see they are brothers in an instant. In getting the cash I will get the log-book and go straight to Mr. Edmd. Kimber, of 15, Walbrook, E.C., London, with the real Arthur Orton and the log-book, and release that unfortunate man now falsely in gaol.

From yours very faithfully,

WALTER FOSSEY.

Forwarded for the information of the Colonial Secretary.—C.T., 11/5/83.

These papers were forwarded under B.C. to the Inspector-General of Police. on 15/5/83.—W.L.B.B., 21/5/83.

Papers herewith. The inquiry (re Cresswell) is proceeding in Victoria, under the Attorney-General's instructions.—EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P. B.C. The Principal Under Secretary, 21st May, 1883.

Mr. C. O. Orchard to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Fernbrook, North Bowenfels, May 7, 1883.

I have lately returned from Tasmania ; while there my father-in-law informed me that he could identify Arthur Orton by an accident that happened him in Tasmania, while butchering there, which will leave a mark as long as Orton lives ; my father-in-law took him to Dr. Daughy, who is now dead, and had the accident dressed and sewn up. I am of opinion that I could also identify Orton by the information given me. If the man Cresswell is Arthur Orton he still carries the mark which nothing could obliterate.

I remain, &c.,

CHARLES O. ORCHARD.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Secretary to the Attorney-General.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 8 May, 1883.

Inquiry re Wm. Cresswell, a lunatic.

THE attached papers are submitted for the information of the Hon. the Attorney-General, who perhaps may deem it advisable that they should be referred to the Chief Commissioner of Police, Melbourne, with a view of ascertaining Cresswell's movements in Gipps Land, where he is reported to have been prior to 1860.

EDMUND FOSBERY,

Inspector-General of Police.

Submitted.—W.W.S., 13 May. Let this be done and the result reported to me.—W.B.D., A.-G., 14/5/83. The Inspector-General of Police—W.W.S., B.C., 14/5/83.

The

The Inspector-General of Police, Sydney, to the Chief Commissioner of Police, Melbourne.

Police Department, Inspector General's Office, Sydney, 14 May, 1883.

WILL the Chief Commissioner of Police, Melbourne, be good enough to have searching inquiries made in Gippsland, to trace if possible the career of the man Wm. Cresswell (or Smith) in that district. Dates should be ascertained, if practicable, of his arrival at and departure from places where he was living.

His description and full particulars will be found in the papers.

The inquiry is one of some importance.

EDM. FOSBERY, I.G.P.

[Enclosures.]

Memo. Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Southern District, 2 May, 1883.
CAN it be traced in this gaol records that William Cresswell served a sentence there in 1864? He was tried at the Queanbeyan Quarter Sessions and sentenced on 1st July, 1864, to twelve months for an assault; was received at Goulburn Gaol 21st July, 1864.
H. ZOUCH.

Description of William Cresswell :—

BORN, Hants, England; religion, Protestant; arrived in colony 1854, ship "Maid of Judah"; profession, publican; born 1826; height, 5ft. 7½in., stout build, complexion dark, hair grey, eyes grey, two moles on back, large scar back of left hand, sinews shrunk.—C. GRAHAM, C. warder, pro gaoler, 3/5/83.

William Cresswell was admitted to Goulburn Gaol on the 25th July, 1864. He was tried at the Queanbeyan Quarter Sessions for assault, sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment, and discharged on the 1st April, 1865.—P. HERBERT, gaoler, 2/5/83. The Superintendent of Police.

Memo. Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Southern District, 2 May, 1883.
SEE John Stafford Letts, of Gundaroo, known as "Old Taff Letts," and ascertain all and what he knows of one Wm. Cresswell, who at one time kept the "Old Gundaroo Inn," and afterwards was about Queanbeyan. It is said that Letts was acquainted with Cresswell at Sale, in Gipps Land, before he came to Queanbeyan. Endeavour to glean all you can of Cresswell's antecedents; he has been traced in this colony, but information is wanted as to who and what he was in England and Victoria.
H. ZOUCH, Superintendent, Southern District.

Constable Agassiz to Mr. Superintendent Zouch.

Police Station, Gundaroo, 4 May, 1883.

CONSTABLE Agassiz respectfully reports that John S. Letts left Gundaroo about eighteen months since and went to Bungendore, where he lived for some time with a man named John M'Enally. He is said to have subsequently gone to Nimitybelle to reside with a relative named William Letts.

Several of the old residents here were intimately acquainted with William Cresswell, and they assert that he was of a reserved disposition and never spoke of his previous history.

Cresswell is said to have been eccentric at times, and when in that mood he would constantly exclaim, "I will make a stir some day; they don't know who I am."

Previous to his arrival in Gundaroo he was coachman for a Mr. W. Davies, at Gininderra. He then went by the name of G. F. Smith.

The constable will continue his inquiries and report, but he deemed it advisable to forward the foregoing particulars in order that Letts might be promptly traced.

A. AGASSIZ,
Constable, 3,823.

Constable Lesmond to Sub-Inspector Casey.

Police Station, Queanbeyan, 14 April, 1883.

Re William Cresswell, a lunatic referred to in annexed report.

CONSTABLE LESMOND, in the absence of Senior-Sergeant Cornett, on duty, most respectfully begs to report, from his own personal knowledge of the lunatic William Cresswell, and from inquiries he has made, Cresswell arrived in this district from Victoria, where he said he came from, in 1860. He was working at Duntroon for Mr. George Campbell; from there he went to work for Mr. William Davis, J.P., of Ginninderra; from there he got married to a Mrs. Clarke, a widow, on the 6th of April, 1863, who kept a public-house at Gundaroo, where Cresswell lived until he was arrested for assaulting an old man, and was convicted at the Court of Quarter Sessions at Queanbeyan, on the 1st July, 1864, and sentenced to one year's imprisonment in Goulburn gaol. He was forwarded to Goulburn on the 21st of July. Cresswell returned to Queanbeyan in 1865, but only remained a short time. Constable Lesmond cannot obtain any information of his having been in the district since. Cresswell, when at Duntroon and Ginninderra, went by the name of Smith. He was known to be a crack shot and a great cricket-player, and was very much addicted to drink. His wife kept a public-house in Queanbeyan for about two years; she left about 1866.

Mr. William Davis, referred to in this report, lives now at Woodhouselee, near Goulburn. Mr. J. J. Wright is absent from home. Mr. O'Neill was not in the district in Cresswell's time.

GEORGE LESMOND,
Constable.

Forwarded to Superintendent. I don't think any further information can be obtained in this district.—WALTER C. CASEY, Sub-Insp., 18/4/83. Captain Zouch, Superintendent of Police, Goulburn.

Sir,

The Mount, Woodhouselee, 23 April, 1883.

In answer to your memo. of the 20th instant, inquiring about William Cresswell, alias Smith,—

I engaged him as groom by the name of Smith about the year 1860. I think he remained in my service about 15 months; then left and married a widow named Clark, who kept a publichouse at Lower Gundaroo. After a short time he took to drinking, and removed into Queanbeyan, and after a time was sent to Gladesville. Whilst with me I was well satisfied with his conduct; he was a smart, intelligent man, good with horses, a good whip, good shot, and could play cricket well. I used to take him out with our Ginninderra eleven to play in matches. I think he would recognise me now if I saw him. He was not a drunkard whilst with me.

From his general manner I should say that he had been chiefly in service with gentlemen, perhaps as gamekeeper, or carry a second gun. If I can be of any further use in the matter please let me know.

I have, &c.,
WM. DAVIS.

Senior-sergeant Fenton to Captain Zouch.

Memo.

Police Station, Goulburn, 10 April, 1883.

Re William Cresswell, a lunatic referred to in annexed letter.

SENIOR-SERGEANT FENTON reports that, from inquiries made at the Goulburn Gaol, it appears that a lunatic named William Cresswell was certified as such in Braidwood, on the 6th December, 1870, and received at Goulburn on the 6th January, 1871, en route to Tarban Creek, to which institution he was forwarded on the 12th January, 1871.

The

The Braidwood police, therefore, may be able to furnish some particulars of the history of this man, previous to his being arrested there on the charge of insanity.
R. FENTON, Senior-sergeant.

Forwarded to Mr. Casey, who will have searching inquiries made as to Cresswell's antecedents, where he came from, and how he was employed, &c., &c.—H. Z., S.S.D., 10/4/83.

Senior-sergeant Cornett, for careful inquiry and report. I find that this man came from Queanbeyan, where he at one time kept a publichouse; probably Mr. O'Neil or Mr. J. J. Wright may be able to give some information.—WALTER C. CASEY, Sub-Inspector, 12/4/83. Senior-sergeant Cornett, Queanbeyan.

Mr. J. J. Wright to Captain Zouch.

Sir,

Queanbeyan, 26 April, 1883.

In reply to your letter of 20th instant, referring to William Cresswell, now a lunatic in Gladesville Asylum, I have to state that I have known him for many years. When I first became acquainted with him he was living at Majura, near Duntroon; subsequently he engaged with Mr. George Campbell, of Duntroon, and had business transactions with me. One day, when in the Commercial Bank here, Cresswell came in and handed the then manager, Mr. Glennie, a cheque of Mr. George Campbell's to be cashed, the manager requested him to sign his name upon the back, which he did. I asked him whether he was connected in any way with Sir Cresswell Cresswell; he replied that he was not—but that there was a mystery around his name, that I might some day hear of. This occurred many years before the Tichborne claimant was talked of. Cresswell had small rings in his ears, and was tattooed with figures or letters upon his hand or wrists. He was a good shot, cricketer, and well-known to be a first-class butcher. During the latter part of his residence in this district he drank freely, in fact to excess, and had delirium tremens two or three times. When he came here first he was a fresh complexioned, well-built man, and as far as I can remember about 5 feet 9 inches in height. I saw him about six years since in Parramatta Lunatic Asylum.

Sergeant Latimer, of the Police Force, knows of many of the circumstances I have mentioned; as also does Mr. Glennie, to whom I have referred, and who is at present I believe a bank manager in Queensland.

I have, &c.,
J. J. WRIGHT.

Memo. by Chief Commissioner of Police, Victoria.

Police Department, Chief Commissioner's Office, Melbourne, 25 May, 1883.

REFERRED to Inspector Beaver who will be good enough to have careful and searching inquiries made in this matter.

The man William Cresswell or Smith is in some way connected with the celebrated Tichborne case, and the attached file relates to his career in New South Wales previous to his incarceration, in 1871, in a lunatic asylum.

The file shows that he came to New South Wales from Sale, in this Colony, about the year 1860.

It is therefore desired that his career in this Colony previous to 1860 may be traced, and that, if possible, dates of his departure from and arrival at places should be ascertained.

The inquiry should be made with as little delay as possible.

H. M. CHOMLEY,
Chief Commissioner of Police.

Referred to Sergeant Irwin for searching inquiry and report. It is probable that the John Stafford Lett referred to in this file is identical with the man who had a recent law-suit in Sale (Lett v. Lett), and brother to William Lett, of Nevertire. Is this man still in the district? If so he should be seen at once and full particulars obtained from him or any of the old residents of Sale. Mr. Patten, who was J. S. Letts' solicitor, may be able to state where he now is.—A. BEAVER, Inspector, Sale, 28/5/83.

Returned to Sergeant Irwin. Can any trace of the man Lett be found at Sale?—EDWD. SCANLON, Sub-Inspector, pro Inspector; absent on duty, Sale, 12/6/83.

No trace of "S. Lett" can be found here.—J. IRWIN, Sergeant, 1,402, Sale, 12/6/83.

Forwarded for the information of the Chief Commissioner of Police.—EDWD. SCANLON, Sub-Inspector, pro Inspector, absent on duty, Sale, 12/6/83.

Memo. by Chief Commissioner of Police, Victoria.

Police Department, Chief Commissioner's Office, Melbourne, 20 June, 1883.

J. S. LETTS is one of the persons specially mentioned in the attached correspondence as being likely able to give material particulars regarding Cresswell or Smith. I am surprised, therefore, at the apparently feeble attempt that has been made to get Letts' statement. Sergeant Irwin reports that Letts would be found at Bairnsdale in the employ of Mr. Watson. The matter is referred to Sergeant Goodenough, who merely returns the papers, with some dozen words or so, saying that Letts has left Broadlands some two months ago, and Mr. Watson does not know where he has gone. Mr. Beaver will be good enough to return this file to the Bairnsdale Police with instructions to them to endeavour to trace Letts. Surely he gave some indication of his probable destination, or if he did not do this a little inquiry may elicit something as to his probable intentions.

H. M. CHOMLEY,
Chief Commissioner of Police.

For Sergeant Goodenough's attention.—A. BEAVER, Inspector, 22/6/83.

Returned to inspector's office, Sale, with particulars of J. S. Letts' statement attached.—ROBERT ALEXANDER, Senior Constable, No. 25, pro SERGEANT GOODENOUGH, absent on duty, Bairnsdale, 25/6/83.

Letts' statement forwarded to Chief Commissioner of Police.—A. BEAVER, Inspector, 26/6/83.

[Enclosures.]

Sergeant J. Irwin to The Officer-in-Charge, Sale.

Gippsland Police District, Sale Station, 6 June, 1883.

REPORT of Sergeant Irwin relative to attached file, re Cresswell or Smith. I have made inquiries of various old residents in the neighbourhood of Sale, with result as follows:—Mr. William F. Parker, painter, &c., of Sale, knew Smith well; Mr. Parker's words to me were: "I knew Smith in 1858, he was some way connected with Blair, a butcher, then carrying on business in Foster-street, Sale; he was a medium-sized man but stoutish; I heard that he was a crack shot but cannot say so of my own knowledge; I cannot say whether he had any marks on his arms or not; I would know him again if I saw him; I cannot say where he came from, nor can I say where he went; he left Sale about the beginning of 1859." Another old resident of Sale, Mr. Charles Gordon, in answer to questions said, "I knew Smith well and would know him now; now; he was a Londoner, between thirty and thirty-four years of age, about 5 feet 8 or over, stoutish, dark hair and eyes and I think had a scar over right eye, was a heavy drinker, loud talker and swearer; came to Sale about 1859, I think; cannot say from whence he came; left Sale some time in 1869, cannot say where he went to; he did not tell any person when he was leaving; Smith had been a partner in a butchering business with old 'Blair,' who has since died." Mr. John Johnston, now a farmer, residing at Tangie saith: "I knew a butcher named Smith, who was a partner with old 'Blair,' in Sale; I believe he came to Sale in the end of 1857, and some time afterwards joined Blair; I think he came from Sydney, because he often talked of it; Smith was a Londoner, about 30 years, 5 feet 9 or 10 inches, stout, very dark eyes—always blood-shot—a heavy drinker and great swearer; I think he left Sale in 1859; I think that I would know him now." I have been unable to see Mr. S. Letts as he lives at Bairnsdale with Mr. Watson of Broadlands. See memorandum in Mr. Parker's own hand-writing attached.

J. IRWIN,
Sergeant, 1,402.

Referred to Sergeant Goodenough for inquiry and report.—EDWD. SCANLON, Sub-Inspector, pro Inspector, absent on duty, Sale, 7/6/83.

Mr. Watson states: "S. Lett left his place two months ago, and he does not know where he has gone to."—H. GOODENOUGH, Sergeant, 447, 11/6/83.

Memo. for Sergeant Irwin.

I have resided in Sale, North Gippsland, since 1838; in 1859 I recollect a butcher named Smith; to me he was always "Smith" never Orton, and was a medium-sized man, stoutish; Arthur Orton was in Sale, ostler at the "Exchange Hotel," in January, 1859; and was about Sale some time after he left service with Duncan Clark at the "Exchange Hotel"; he (Orton) was 5 feet 10½ or 11 inches in height, in no way answering the description given of Smith—(Cresswell, the lunatic); personally I can in no way connect the two men, Orton and Smith; at the time referred to John Thompson (or Hedgecock) had a butcher's shop at the back of and on the "Exchange Hotel" premises; he and "Arthur the Butcher," or Orton, were intimate; I often saw them together, and have talked to them in company; Orton left Sale about March or beginning of April, 1859, and I afterwards heard of him breaking in horses, with Charles Whitburn, near Bairnsdale; at the time of the "Tichborne" affair "John Thompson" had resumed his proper name of "Hedgecock" and was, with myself, a witness called to give evidence before the Commission of Enquiry in the first or civil suit; some time after the criminal trial of De Castro (or Orton), J. Thompson, talking the matter over with me, expressed his regret that he had not been taken to England by the Tichborne family as a witness to the identity of the "Claimant" with Orton, and he said pointedly, "although some further confusion might have happened from Arthur and Smith having changed names;" as I had never heard of this previously, I was much surprised that Thompson should be aware of it and was about to ask him further of the matter when he was called by his employer, Mr. Sprod; when shortly after, some weeks I think, I tried to resume the conversation, Thompson was almost too ill to talk and merely saying, referring to the exchange of names, that "it was something about a horse" he left me and I never saw him again alive.

WM. F. PARKER.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Secretary to The Attorney-General.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 25 June, 1883.

Sir,
Re Cresswell, a lunatic.

As the attached papers appear to contain important information in the above case, I have the honor to submit them for the information of the Attorney-General.

Further inquiry is being made with a view to trace Cresswell previous to his residing at Tumut.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND FOSBERY,

Inspector-General of Police.

[Enclosures.]

Tumut, 18 June, 1883.

I REMEMBER a man by the name of William Cresswell being in my employ about 16 or 17 years ago; I have heard him say that his people kept a butchering establishment in Wapping, England. I have also heard him mention the name of Arthur Orton as being identified with him; I knew the man some two or three years before he was in my employ, and often heard him speaking of the butchering establishment in Wapping; he was a thorough butcher by trade; while in my employ he was butchering for me.

JOHN M'NAMARA.

Tumut, 18 June, 1883.

ABOUT sixteen or seventeen years ago I was acquainted with a man butchering for Mr. John McNamara in the town of Tumut, and I was in the shop on different occasions, and I passed the remark that he was a good butcher, and he told me that he learned his trade from a good butcher; and I asked him where he learned the trade, and he told me in Wapping, London, and that his name was Arthur Orton, and he did not care who knew it. I must state that he used to go by the name of Cresswell, or mostly by the nickname of "Leather Jacket." It was when I asked him why they called him that name he told me his name was Arthur Orton. I have been in the butchering business a great many years, and was in the business at the time I knew him, and I must say that I never saw a much better butcher than the said "Leather Jacket." I always considered him an eccentric person at times, and he had very strange notions, but seemed right enough when working in the butcher's shop, but not when away from it.

THOMAS DOAD, butcher, Tumut.

Mr. R. Dear to Sergeant Zoellner.

Sir,

At your request I send you the following news relating to the lunatic Cresswell. He (Cresswell) was in my service for nearly twelve months about fifteen years ago, and went out of his mind while in my service. He had a mania for writing letters, and amongst others he indited letters to members of the Tichborne family, Lord Mildmay, the Bishop of Winchester, and to Ortons of Wapping, all of which letters I destroyed after he (Cresswell) was sent to the asylum, thinking they were of no further use.

Cresswell has frequently told me that he was not going by his right name; he never told me what other name he bore.

I am, &c.,

ROBERT DEAR.

Tumut, June 19, 1883.

I HAVE known William Cresswell, alias "Leather Jacket," about twenty years. He was a good butcher, and has told me that he served his time at Wapping with his father, in London; and I have seen him sign his name on slips of paper Arthur Orton when he was drunk many times. I have been to the slaughter-yards with him, and he has told me many times that his name is Arthur Orton; this was before the Tichborne case, about sixteen years ago.

JAMES CARR.

Sergeant Zoellner to Mr. Superintendent Battye.

Police Station, Tumut, 20 June, 1883.

SERGEANT ZOELLNER, in forwarding the accompanying documents, also begs to state that on 9th January, 1870, he arrested the said William Cresswell at Tumut on a charge of vagrancy. He was then sentenced to three months imprisonment in Gundagai Gaol, and at the expiration of that term of imprisonment he was sent to the Lunatic Asylum. The entry then made in lock-up charge-book was—"William Cresswell, labourer, 43 years of age, English, a Roman Catholic."

A. ZOELLNER,

Sergeant.

Forwarded with four letters, viz., one from Robert Dear, one from Jno. M'Namara, one from Thomas Doad, and one from James Carr.—E. M. BATTYE, Capt., Supt., 23/6/83. Inspector-General of Police, Sydney.

Evening

Evening News, 13 June, 1883.

THE TICHBORNE CASE.

To the Editor.

SIR,—I agree with you that the above case has been a standing bore ever since its completion, now some nine years ago, and as I was in London during the original trial in 1870, or 1871, the name of Tichborne conjures up memories of the past, both pleasant and unpleasant. My object in writing about the Claimant is merely to direct attention to the affidavit now being published by Daniel Smith, the Tichborne martyr, from the late police-sergeant at Tumut, who arrested the lunatic Cresswell when first he exhibited signs of insanity. In this affidavit it is positively sworn that Cresswell had written several letters and memoranda to the police at Tumut—where he was employed as a butcher—giving valuable information about some cattle-stealing transactions that had taken place in that district. These communications, it appears, were signed Cresswell, also Arthur Orton, and sometimes A.O. When asked by the sergeant where he came from, he replied, Wapping, England, and that his father was also a butcher there. Now all this happened, as I understand it, long before the Tichborne case was ever heard of, or before Cresswell showed any signs of lunacy. Accompanied by Daniel Smith, this ex-police sergeant has lately visited Cresswell in Gladesville Lunatic Asylum, and at once recognised him as the butcher of Tumut, and Cresswell also informed him that he declined to shake hands with him, as “he was the man who put him in there,” thereby clearly remembering the visitor, although the latter swears he has never seen the lunatic from the day he left Tumut until that visit. Then Charles Orton also declares that Cresswell is his brother, so that it appears strange to me that the Attorney-General should have so hastily concluded not to permit this lunatic to be sent to England—all expenses being defrayed from London—just to give the man now in prison for the past nine years a chance of explaining who he is, if he is not Arthur Orton. For it does not follow that he is Tichborne, although he may not be Arthur Orton; but he was convicted for being Arthur Orton, and surely a prima facie case has been made out now that he is not Orton, at any rate. I feel sure that the Hon. Robert Wisdom would have granted this harmless and reasonable application.

Yours, &c.,

FAIR PLAY.

Any information that can be obtained at Tumut, in the Albury District, with reference to this matter, ought to be afforded.—E.F., I.G.P. 13/6/83. Captain Battye, Albury.

Referred to Sergeant Zoellner for careful inquiry and report.—E. M. BATTYE, Capt. and Supt., 15/6/83. Sergeant Zoellner, Tumut.

Police Department, Inspector General's Office, Sydney, 25 June, 1883.

Memo. from Inspector-General of Police to Capt. Battye.

Re Lunatic Cresswell.

Further inquiries must be made to trace Cresswell previous to his residing in the Tumut District. This is important. Full information should be obtained.

For careful inquiry by Sergeant Zoellner.—H. GRUGEN, Sergeant, pro Supt., abst. Albury, 23/6/83.—E.F., I.G.P.

[Important.] Forwarded for the Attorney-General's information in connection with other reports on the subject.—EDM. FOSBERY, I.G.P., B.C., The Secretary, Attorney-General's Department.

Sergeant A. Zoellner to Mr. Superintendent Battye.

SERGEANT ZOELLNER, in forwarding the appended, respectfully begs to state that he cannot at Tumut obtain any further information concerning the lunatic Cresswell. Mr. Woods a few days ago returned from Sydney when the Sergeant learnt that he had a knowledge of Cresswell, and thus supplied the Sergeant with the information contained in appended.

A. ZOELLNER,
Sergeant.

Forwarded with Mr. Wood's statement to Inspector-General, 6/7/83.—E. M. BATTYE, Capt. and Supt.

Mr. C. Wood to Sergeant Zoellner.

Sir,

Tumut, 2 July, 1883.

I beg to furnish you with the following particulars concerning William Cresswell, the reputed Arthur Orton :— My first acquaintance with W. Cresswell was at Duntroon, a station near Queanbeyan; I was at that time store-keeper for G. Campbell, Esq., and Cresswell applied for and obtained employment, as far as my recollection serves me, about the year 1862; at that time he passed under the name of George Fitzclarence Smith.

He stated that immediately previous to his arrival at Duntroon he had been butchering at the “Gulf Diggings.” He was at first employed at Duntroon as a labourer, he afterwards took the woolpressing, and then left on the conclusion of shearing; upon leaving Duntroon he obtained employment as groom to W. Davis, Esq., of Ginninderra Station.

I think Cresswell was in the employ of Messrs. Campbell and Davis about twelve months. Shortly after leaving Ginninderra Cresswell married a Mrs. Clark, who kept a public-house in Gundaroo; he then for the first time (in that district) assumed the name of William Cresswell, facetiously stating at the time that his wife had better behave herself as Sir Cresswell Cresswell (the Judge of the English Divorce Court) was his uncle.

He Cresswell and his wife led a very unhappy life, and after repeated appearances at Court they separated by mutual consent, Mrs. Clark (or rather Mrs. W. Cresswell) giving her husband two hundred pounds (£200) conditionally that there should be no further claim on his part as to any property she might possess. In 1864 I left for Queensland, and have not seen him since. Some three years ago, whilst in Sydney, Mr. Thompson, then M.L.A. for Queensland, requested me to accompany him to Gladesville and see Cresswell, but Parliamentary business interfered and the visit was not made.

On his arrival at Duntroon Cresswell had the appearance of a man about 35 or 38 years of age; he was always eccentric, although shrewd enough in his dealings.

He was an excellent cricketer, the best at that time in the Southern districts, and a marked peculiarity of his was this, he was left-handed; this is a peculiarity I have never noticed as being a characteristic of Arthur Orton. His brother should be able to speak on the matter (of course I refer to his assumed brother, C. Orton, who is said to have identified him). Cresswell used to speak of a young cricketer, a banker, whom he termed “Squire Lubbock,” whom he played with and was well paid by. This was said to have been near London, of which place Cresswell claimed to be a native. W. Cresswell was also an excellent shot, and often used to speak of matches he had won in England, a statement I have no reason to doubt. In fact I thought that his youth had been passed about cricket grounds and other sporting gatherings, getting what he could from the gentlemen who attend such places.

Cresswell was an illiterate man; he spoke with the London dialect, and employed the usual slang expressions used by sporting Londoners. A marked ejaculation of his, when assenting to any observation, being “Right”—he always used it.

He used to deal a little in horses, but was not a good rider; indeed he would not mount a buck-jumper if you gave him the horse.

During the time I knew Cresswell (nearly two years) I saw him under the influence of liquor several times; I often heard him “blow” about the sporting exploits of his youth, and his doings in Victoria, but the only place he ever spoke of but Australia was England, and I have heard him say that he came to the diggings from London direct.

I never heard him speak a word of any language but English, and I do think that considering Cresswell and I were both English, both fond of athletic sports, had he ever been in South America he would have told me in some of the many conversations we had with each other concerning our personal antecedents.

I remain, &c.,

CHARLES WOOD.

The

The Inspector-General of Police to The Secretary to the Attorney-General.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 30 June, 1883.

Re Cresswell.

FURTHER reports from Victoria submitted to the Attorney-General.

The various statements are perplexing and confusing, but probably if they were all carefully examined and compared with regard to dates, personal descriptions, &c., it might be found that the lunatic Cresswell was a mate of Arthur Orton's (the Tichborne claimant) and that they changed names sometimes for purposes of their own.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

Seen.—W.B.D., A.-G., 3/6/83.

[Enclosure.]

Memo. from Chief Commissioner of Police, Victoria, to Inspector-General of Police, Sydney.

Police Department, Chief Commissioner's Office, Melbourne, 27 June, 1883.

RETURNED to the Inspector-General of Police, Sydney, with the result of the inquiries of the Victorian police in this matter.
H. M. CHOMLEY,
Chief Commissioner of Police.

[Enclosure.]

Gippsland Police District, Bairnsdale Station, 23 June, 1883.

Report of Robt. Alexander, senior-constable No. 25, relative to attached file re Cresswell or Smith.

John Stafford Lett states: I knew William Cresswell or Smith; he was a butcher, a partner of a person named Blair, in Foster-street, Sale; he told me that he came from Hobart Town; he was about thirty years of age, about 5 feet 7 inches, stout build, an active well made man; he was an Englishman, but I could not say from what part of England; his hair was fair, and his eyes blue; I did not look on him as a great drinker; I never observed that he was a great swearer; he was a loud talker; I am quite sure I would know him now if I saw him; I saw him in Queanbeyan about eight years ago; he assaulted a man named Vernon in George Hunt's public-house, Queanbeyan; he was arrested and sent to gaol for that offence, and received a sentence of twelve months in Goulburn gaol; I have no recollection of seeing a scar over his eye; I think he had marks of Indian ink on his wrists; I lived with him about fifteen years ago at Dundaroo in New South Wales <sup>Qy. Gundaroo, near Queanbeyan.</sup> for twelve months; a man named Orton came with him; they came, I believe, in a cattle ship to Port Albert; they kept company in Sale; Orton was fond of horses, Cresswell was not; if I were at Mrs. Bennison's in Sale I would know the year that they came to Sale, at present I am unable to fix the date of their coming to Sale.

WITNESS—R. ALEXANDER, No. 25, pro Sergt. Goodenough.

his
JOHN STAFFORD + LETT.
mark.

Mr. D. Smith to The Crown Solicitor.

Sir,

No. 4, Charlotte-terrace, Castlereagh-street, Redfern, 3 July, 1883.

A committee is being formed for the purpose of assisting me with the petition which has already several thousand signatures, to get the release of Arthur Orton, now in the name of Cresswell, in the Lunatic Asylum at Parramatta. I should feel greatly obliged if you would inform me the probable amount of money the Crown Law Officers would require to pay the expenses of the transit of Cresswell and an attendant, and if I might suggest a person fitted for the position would be one of the present officials at the Parramatta Asylum. Of course in naming the amount it would include the passage back to Sydney of A. Orton if he is not the person whom we firmly believe he is. We have now in our possession indisputable proof that he is Arthur Orton, and it would give satisfaction to a great number of people in the Colony if you would kindly comply with this request.

Yours, &c.,
DANIEL SMITH.

Minute by Crown Solicitor.

In re Cresswell, a lunatic.

MR. DANIEL SMITH called upon me this afternoon and handed me the letter which I submit here. 3 July 1883. with. Will the Attorney-General please say what reply I shall send thereto.

JOHN WILLIAMS,
Crown Solicitor.

9 July, 1883.

THE writer may be informed that the Attorney-General declines to have any communication with any persons as to the removal of the lunatic other than persons shown to be members of his family, who are anxious to withdraw him from the asylum in order that he may be cared for with greater tenderness than he is now receiving. The application at present made to the Supreme Court for the removal of the lunatic is based upon the assumption that the lunatic is Cresswell, and the authority of his brother in England, bearing his name, is the foundation of that application. It now transpires that the very same persons who are parties to this application affirm that the lunatic is not Cresswell at all but Arthur Orton; and that the use of the name of Cresswell and the supposed authority have been but pretences to obtain possession of the lunatic and to remove him from the asylum and the country. The Attorney-General will resist to the utmost every attempt to withdraw the lunatic from the protection of the Government, and to hand over to persons who plainly have no other interest in him than to speculate upon his alleged identity with Arthur Orton. Conclusive evidence that this lunatic is Cresswell is in possession of the Crown from people who have known him since he came to the country; and no application for his removal has ever been made by any member of the family of the Ortons.

Minute by Attorney-General.

I DESIRE that the application, of which notice has been given, for an extension of Mr. Justice Hargrave's order herein, may be vigorously opposed. I entirely disapprove of the removal of this lunatic from the care and custody of our own asylum, and I perceive that there is great probability that Mr. Justice Hargrave made his order under a misconception that the Crown consented to such order, which was not the fact. I am quite opposed to the surrender of this lunatic, and so far from facilities being offered by the Government to effect this purpose, the greatest care should be taken that no such facilities should be afforded. I have not at hand an opinion which I gave on this case when I was last in office, but that opinion should be shown to Counsel representing the Crown, when this application is made, with the view of informing him of my reasons for strongly opposing such application.

23/3/83.

WILLIAM B. DALLEY,
Attorney-General.

The Chief Commissioner of Police, Melbourne, to The Inspector-General of Police, Sydney.

Police Department, Chief Commissioner's Office, Melbourne, 23 July, 1883.

FORWARDED to the Inspector-General of Police, Sydney, in connection with the previous file on the subject, which was returned to him on the 27th ultimo, per my memo., Q 6388.

H. M. CHOMLEY,
Chief Commissioner of Police.

I beg to forward the attached important statement for the Attorney-General's information.—EDMUND FOSBERY, Inspector-General of Police, 25 July, 1883.—B.C., The Secretary, Attorney-General's Department. Seen—W. B. D.

[Enclosure.]

Statement of John Stafford Lett, of Sale, in Gippsland, in the Colony of Victoria, labourer.

Re Cresswell, a lunatic.

In the year 1858 I was a grazier living at Sutton Forest Station, near the Ninety-mile Beach, in the Colony of Victoria, and was one of the licensees of that station. I was frequently at Sale, and I remember being in that year at a public-house at that place, kept by one Richard Bennison, who is now dead, and I there saw two men, one named Smith, whose Christian name I believe was William, and the other named Arthur Orton. I asked Smith where he came from and he said he had just arrived from Hobart Town. Shortly afterwards I left Victoria and went to reside at Gundaroo, in New South Wales. After I had been at Gundaroo five or six years I one day saw Smith there, and spoke to him, and ascertained from him that he was then living as groom in the service of William Davis, of Giminderie, near Queanbeyan, a squatter. About eight or nine months afterwards I was at Mrs. Clark's hotel, at Gundaroo, when Smith came in, and in the course of conversation told me he had left Mr. Davis' employ. I remember that Smith stopped at Mrs. Clark's hotel for some time, and subsequently was married to Mrs. Clark, at the Church of England, at Gundaroo. I was present at his marriage, and when the clergyman who performed the ceremony asked Smith his name, he said "My name is William Cresswell." Smith (alias Cresswell) lived at Gundaroo about eighteen months after his marriage, but owing to disagreements with his wife they separated, his wife going away to Queanbeyan, while Smith (alias Cresswell) carried on the hotel at Gundaroo, but after a few months he got into difficulties and left the place. I afterwards heard that Smith (alias Cresswell) had been sentenced to twelve months imprisonment in Goulburn Gaol for an assault, but after he came out of prison I saw him again, first at Gundaroo, where he told me he had been in prison at Goulburn, and next at Queanbeyan, where he remained for a few weeks. I then heard that Smith (alias Cresswell) had gone as a hired man with a circus to Wagga Wagga, and the last I heard of him was that he had been arrested at Braidwood for stabbing a man, and that shortly afterwards he had been sent to a lunatic asylum. I believe that the man Cresswell, at present in a lunatic asylum in New South Wales, is the same person as the man named Smith, whom I saw with another man named Arthur Orton, at Sale, in the year 1858.

The above statement is true, and I am prepared to swear to it in any Court of Justice.

his
JOHN STAFFORD + LETT.
mark.

THE contents of this statement were read over by me to the said John Stafford Lett, who stated they were correct, and he then made his mark at the foot thereof in my presence, this 17th day of July, 1883.—WILLIAM PATTEN, Sale, Gippsland, a Solicitor of the Supreme Court of the Colony of Victoria.

Forwarded for Mr. Beaver's information. I met Mr. Lett a few days ago in Sale, and then asked him to tell me what he knew of the man Smith or Cresswell; he told me that he would give his statement upon paper in a day or two. Mr. Patten, solicitor, has this day, on behalf of Mr. Lett, handed me this paper. (See former correspondence on the Chief Commissioner of Police in this matter).—J. IRWIN, Sergeant, Sale, 17/7/83.

Forwarded for the information of the Chief Commissioner of Police, in connection with previous correspondence on the same subject. (Vide my memo., V. 1429, 26/6/83).—A. BEAVER, Inspector, Sale, 17/7/83.

Memo. by the Inspector-General of Police.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 26 July, 1883.

PERHAPS the Chief Commissioner of Police, Melbourne, would kindly cause the writer of the attached letter to be seen, and his statement taken at length on the matters he refers to.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

The Chief Commissioner of Police, Melbourne.

54 St. David-street, Fitzroy, Melbourne, 23 July, 1883.

NOTICING by the telegraphic messages from New South Wales that an effort is being made to release from Parramatta Asylum for the Insane one Cresswell, under the pretext that he is Arthur Orton, I beg to offer evidence to the contrary, my expenses only paid to Sydney, and return and loss of time. I have proof I was at the Snake Ridge Station, Gippsland, in '54 and '5. Leaving there in '55, I went to Mewburn Park Station, and in the year '56 was Orton's mate, employed on that station by Captain Johnson. In Sale, Gipps Land, in the years '58 and '9 I knew Arthur Orton, and he was horsebreaking. Cresswell at that time was there, and was distinct from Orton, the latter leaving in May, 1859 with a horse, or, I should say, a mare, he was entrusted with by Mr. Blacker to break in. Orton sold this mare at Port Albert, and escaped. I possess a copy of the warrant for Orton's arrest for horse-stealing, giving a description of his person, issued at Sale in Gipps Land, in the month of June, 1859, very different from the description of Cresswell's person. If my evidence is of consequence it is at your disposal in assisting to put an end to this miserable farce, the Tichborne agitation.

I have, &c.,
J. C. LE SAGE.

Police

Police Department, Chief Commissioner's Office, Melbourne, 28 July, 1883.
MEMO.—Forwarded to Mr. Kennedy, who will be good enough to cause an experienced member of the plain clothes Police to see Mr. Sage, and obtain his full statement on the subject.

The member of the Force told off in the matter will also report who and what Mr. Sage is.

Inspector Kennedy.

H. M. CHOMLEY,
C. C. Police.

I beg to attach Sergeant Brown's report, also one by Constable O'Donnell.—D. S. KENNEDY, Inspector, 3/8/83. The Chief Commissioner of Police. The statement of J. C. Hodges, alias Le Sage, is forwarded herewith to the Inspector-General of Police, Sydney, as requested.—H. M. CHOMLEY, C. C. Police, 6/8/83.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Secretary to the Attorney-General.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 8 August, 1883.

Re Cresswell.

THE attached report from Victoria is submitted for the Attorney-General's information.

The object of Le Sage, alias Hodges, is too transparent; a liar should have a better memory. Wire fencing was not used for about ten years after 1854.

Seen—W. B. D., A.-G.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

[Enclosures.]

VICTORIA POLICE DETECTIVE REPORTS.

Police Department, Melbourne, Detective Office, 2 August, 1883.

Re James Charles Le Sage's Statement relative to a man named Cresswell, supposed identical with Arthur Orton.
I HAVE to report for your information that last night I met Mr. Le Sage by appointment at his house 54, St. David-street. He states:—"I arrived in Hobart Town in the month of December, 1852, in the ship "Australasian," from the London Docks, with his father and family. That his father had been a captain in the East India Company's Service. In 1853 I came from Tasmania to Victoria, and went to Bendigo, now known as Sandhurst, remained there till the end of 1854, when I again returned to Tasmania, where I stayed for some time. I there had made the acquaintance of a lady, and through her left Tasmania for Port Albert, Victoria, in the above name; my right name is James Charles Hodges. I was engaged in Hobart by Mr. Guesdow to come to Gippsland, Victoria, to the station of Mr. John King, "Ridge Station," to erect 11 miles of wire fence; this was in November, 1854; I remained at the "Ridge Station" until 1856. In February of that year I went to Mr. Johnson's, Newburn Park Station; that was the first time and place that I had met Arthur Orton in Victoria, I knew him in Wapping, England, and went to school with him there to a private school taught by a Miss Punter, in Fenchurch-street, Wapping, England; we met there daily for three months, after which I went back to Tasmania for two or three months, after which I came back to Freestone Creek, near Newburn Park Station, where I went prospecting for gold. In 1858 I went into Sale. About the same time Orton came into Sale from Boysdale Station. I saw him there on and off from that time, up to May 1859, when he was charged with horse-stealing from a Mr. Thomas Blacker, Sale. (See P. G. 1859, page 217), as "Arthur Orton." I did not see him again until 1862, when I met him at Hay, New South Wales; he was then passing under the name of Smith; he was stock-riding on some station near Hay. I have not seen him since, and I do not know where he is now. While he (Orton) was in Sale in 1858 and '9, he was occupied as a horse-breaker, and knocking about the coach stables. There was also a man there named Cresswell, who used to knock about with Orton assisting him horse-breaking, &c. Orton left Sale first, at the time named, and Cresswell shortly after, both were tall men and nearly about the same age. I have never seen Cresswell since; I do not know whether I would know him now or not, but I would know if he is Orton, as the latter I could not mistake. I have thought for a long time that Orton is dead. There was a young man at Boysdale Station from 1854 to '56. Mr. Forster was then owner of the station, this young man was known as the French Lord; he seemed to be a friend of Mr. Forster's. He was known as "Tom Castro," and used to be a stockman, looking after stock; he spoke French. I have been out shooting bulls with him and Orton on the M'Alister River, Gippsland. Orton one of those days shot a piece off my skull. I was insensible for some time. Orton said it was done by accident. After this I was unable to do any work for four months, and I lost my hearing from then until now, I am now very deaf. My age is 51, I am 5 feet 9 inches high; Orton is 3 or 4 years younger than me. I know a lot about the history of Tom Castro in the Colonies. I made an affidavit respecting some of the particulars, at the time of the Tichborne trial, and sent it home, but I never heard any more about it. I am of opinion that the claimant is Sir Roger Tichborne, known in Gippsland as Tom Castro. I am doing nothing at present, and if my expenses were paid to and from Sydney, my time, &c., I would go and willingly set the matter at rest, as to whether Cresswell is identical with Arthur Orton or not."

This man seems interested either on behalf of Sir Roger Tichborne or Arthur Orton. The latter he believes to be dead. There is something very strange in his manner, being deaf I could not sound him as I would like to, as his wife asked him all the questions that I required to know. He referred to Plain-clothes Constable O'Donnell as a man who is acquainted with him for many years, who might perhaps throw some light upon the character of the man as to whether he is a reliable man or otherwise.

Mr. D. S. Kennedy, Inspector in charge of Plain-clothes Police, Melbourne.

JOSEPH BROWN,
Sergeant, 1871.

Re James Charles Hodges, referred to by plain clothes Sergeant Brown.

Police Department, Melbourne, Detective Office, 2/8/83.

I RESPECTFULLY report, for the information of the officers in charge of detectives, that I have known the man Hodges, referred to in the attached report, for about ten or twelve years. From what I know of the man it is my opinion that no reliance could be placed on his word. My reason for doubting his word is that some years ago I was foreman of a boot factory where he was employed; a dispute arose between him and another man (since dead), and the statements made then by Hodges were false. I have also been informed that he is only living with the woman whom he calls his wife.

Mr. D. S. Kennedy, Officer in charge of Detectives.

E. O'DONNELL,
Plain Clothes Constable, 2,907.

Mr. W. Fossey to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir, 51, Brighton-street, East Richmond, Melbourne, Victoria, 10 September, 1883.

I have the honor to report the following with the view that justice may triumph in the Tichborne mystery:—

Myself being the only person now living who is personally acquainted with the two men, namely, Roger Charles Tichborne, and known by the name of Thomas Castro; also Arthur Orton, formerly of Wapping east of London, and known by the name of Henry Smith, a slaughterman and horse-breaker, and dog-trainer.

I have written a great deal to Dr. Charles Taylor, of Parramatta Lunatic Asylum, upon the same subject, having had an interview with him in the last Christmas holidays. Seeing also that unfortunate man William Cresswell.

I considered that any further information of importance coming under my notice should be made known to you.

I enclose a letter that I have received from the Telegraph Officer of Temuka, Canterbury, New Zealand, in answer to my letter requesting the whereabouts of Harry Smith.

I can scarcely credit the truth of this said letter, after me writing so much upon Harry Smith's identity, as I naturally thought that he was taken to England, as he is positively the REAL Arthur Orton, and the correct receipt of the Claimant's evidence of the description of Arthur Orton, formerly of Wapping, beyond all doubt.

I may also state he would have written to me again in answer to my request for his photograph for to forward to England.

I beg to show to you that the two men resemble each other in the face, as was stated at the trial.

R. C. Tichborne.	Arthur Orton.
Eyes, colour of ebony or dark brown.	Eyes, colour of mahogany or red, generally called brown.
Hair on face, dark brown and very thin and straight.	Hair on face brown, and very thin and straight.
Shape of face, rather flat.	Shape of face rather long, but sharp and narrow.
Sallow complexion.	Sallow complexion.
A full fleshy face.	High cheek-bones, with a sharp bony face.
Nose, medium and straight.	Nose, long and crooked.
Speaking with a French accent.	Speaking with a rather broad country accent.
At the present time hair turning grey.	At the present time hair turning grey.
The body and limbs has no comparison.	The body and limbs has no comparison.
Ears, small and close.	Ears, large and projecting.
Eye-brows, thick and dark brown.	Eye-brows, thin and light brown.
Eye-lashes, long and full.	Eye-lashes, very slight, with lids inflamed.
Quiet and gentle manner.	Excitable and coarse manner.
A contented easy disposition.	A discontented uneasy disposition.

The unfortunate Claimant in giving the description of Arthur Orton at his trial was laughed at as he remarked about Arthur Orton dragging his right foot a little in walking, and having long bony hands and feet—stoop in the back, speaking with a rather broad country accent, his eyes always looking red, but not certain to colour, knock-kneed, walking flat-footed, his toes pointing north and south, and going by the name of Smith. Myself knowing the Claimant told the truth respecting Arthur Orton, formerly of Wapping, as I can certify to the same in Harry Smith who is the REAL Arthur Orton, and who is anxious to go to England with me, with the view of releasing the Claimant. Arthur Orton told the Claimant that he was going by the name of Alfred Smith, as he was ashamed of him knowing that he worked as a slaughterman occasionally, as he is well known in the name of Harry Smith amongst his fellow slaughtermen.

A Mr. William Mitchell, a saddle and harness maker, who now resides in Emerald Hill, was a next door neighbour to Tom Castro at Wagga Wagga, N. S. Wales, for years, who I spoke to upon the subject, is thoroughly acquainted with the two men, knowing them as mates, they going by the name of Tom Castro and Harry Smith; he told me that Tom Castro would sometimes call himself Arthur Orton, and Harry Smith would call himself Roger Tichborne. William Mitchell giving the exact description of them both, or the same description of Harry Smith as the Claimant gave of Arthur Orton, knowing myself personally that Harry Smith and Arthur Orton is one person, and Tom Castro and Roger Charles Tichborne is one person.

There is scores of persons in Wagga Wagga who know personally Tom Castro and Harry Smith.

The following is a copy of the letter I enclose :—

Government Postal Department, Temuka, New Zealand, June 27, 1883.

MEMORANDUM.

To Mr. Walter Fossey, 51, East Richmond, Melbourne, Victoria,—

Dear Sir,

In reply to yours of 13th instant, re Mr. Harry Smith's whereabouts, I beg to inform you that he is at present working for a Mr. Swinton, of Winchester, 4 miles from Temuka.

I am, &c.,

B. D. O'HALLORAN,
Postmaster and Telegraphist.

I wrote requesting him to inform me Harry Smith's whereabouts, on account of seeing a paragraph in the Evening Herald that the REAL Arthur Orton has been found and on his way to England under the egress of a REAL M.P. of New South Wales.

Myself having at present no satisfactory proofs to certify to either of the above reports as being true.

I greatly sympathize with the unfortunate Claimant. At the same time, Harry Smith, who is the REAL Arthur Orton, has acknowledged over and over again to me that he will go to England with me at once and release the Claimant; but he asks for a reward that I am not able to give him.

And in respect to myself I should only like the honor of taking him home to England; in getting authority and means, I would immediately take him before Lord Coleridge as the REAL Arthur Orton, formerly of Wapping, east of London, either with or against Master Orton's will.

There are several persons that I know in Melbourne, know him as Arthur Orton, and scores of persons in the East of London that I know, know him as Arthur Orton.

It would be such a satisfactory thing to all the world for that man to be taken to England and brought to the front, which would end the Arthur Orton mystery. As there is a class of persons in England in the dark, being prejudiced upon William Cresswell being Arthur Orton, and another class of persons interested in smothering truth and justice.

According to the enclosed letter (if true), Arthur Orton is now working for a Mr. Swinton, a butcher, under the name of Harry Smith, and if so it is to keep himself more secret until he hears from me something more satisfactory in reference to his reward, he knowing the importance of his presence in England.

I feel very proud and happy in seeing the telegram from London, that Lord Derby refused an order for the release of William Cresswell. If he had been taken to England through the infatuation and prejudice of a few persons in England it would have ruined the poor unfortunate Claimant's case, as he (Cresswell) would have been laughed at by all as being an unfortunate luney, and having no interest whatever, and knowing nothing of Tom Castro or Arthur Orton, or anything whatever of the case; in fact he knows nothing, but grins and stutters and stares at you in the face, and does not agree in any shape or form with the evidence the Claimant gave of Arthur Orton. I can positively testify that about the year 1865 William Cresswell was boundary-rider on Mr. Cambell's sheep station at Dunstrum, New South Wales. But Arthur Orton never in his lifetime had to do with any sheep station, yet he is an expert in killing sheep and training horses, and he was only a short time on William Foster's cattle station at Gippsland.

I have informed the real Arthur Orton that I have seen the William Cresswell as a matter of form, as promised Edmund Kimber, Esq., on account of Mr. Joseph Eckford falsifying such evidence to his identity of Orton. Sir,—As this is a very important point of the case, my statements being true as they were before my face, I appeal to you for the sake of justice only, or at least that justice may triumph, as there is no other person in the Colonies that I could depend on, or have the power to take steps in the right direction.

I enclose a few scraps for your inspection that I have cut out of the papers.

I may also state that my faith is in you, as I know you are as positive as I am that William Cresswell is quite a stranger to the Tichborne case, and knowing you sympathise for the unfortunate Claimant.

I beg to state that I forwarded Charles Orton's letter to his brother Arthur with a view of exciting him, which was the means of him writing to me immediately, acknowledging the receipt of my telegram from Sydney, and two long letters I wrote afterwards, in me returning back to Melbourne. He wrote in a determined manner that he would go to England with me at once upon being rewarded.

Charles Orton's letter was in one of the Sydney papers, also in a Wagga Wagga paper, which was forwarded from Sydney to Mr. Bullock for me.

This said letter stated that he, Charles Orton, was greatly abused by Daniel Smith and Joseph Eckford, because he would not swear that William Cresswell was his brother Arthur, stating that, as a Christian man he would not swear falsely, and felt it very hard to be left at his age so far from home. I greatly sympathised with the old gentleman, and I immediately forwarded his letter with some scraps I cut out of the papers to his brother Arthur, who is now only watching the opportunity to go to England with me or a M.P. He would have come to Sydney to see me and his brother Charles, but he did not believe in Daniel Smith and Mr. Eckford, in reference to his reward, he knowing the importance of his presence in England. The only difference between the brothers, Arthur is taller and has darker eyes, and the hump on the shoulder, Charles having the hump in the middle of his back. I now sincerely pray the opportunity will soon be given to me, when I will go straight to England with Harry Smith and take him before Lord Coleridge, and introduce him as the real Arthur Orton, formerly of Wapping, East London, and also the receipt of the claimant's evidence of the description of Arthur Orton, given by him at his trial. Before he (Orton) has an interview with the Claimant, I myself, simply require the means and authority to produce the REAL Arthur Orton before Lord Coleridge, and on myself receiving the above I will quickly execute the above, independent of any mortal person, which will quickly put an end to the Arthur Orton mystery.

I have, &c.,

WALTER FOSSEY.

EXTRACTS.

THE Claimant has been "interviewed" since my last, and appears to maintain wonderfully good health, considering all things. He was much depressed on hearing that, consequent on some informality, there must be delay in the legal identification of Cresswell with Arthur Orton, and "Sir Roger" complains, not unreasonably I should judge, of what appears the rather harsh application to him of the "silent system." The sympathisers with this "unfortunate nobleman" will be glad to hear that when his time is up a choice of "homes" awaits him, and there appears to be quite a hot competition among his friends in the midlands for the honor of offering him an asylum. "Sir Roger's" term should eventuate in a ticket-of-leave about November, 1884, in ordinary course, but his supporters mean to try legal conclusions long before then, although it is not yet clear that the obdurate authorities will melt before the testimony of "the true Arthur Orton." One thing is bitterly certain, and that is—that entirely outside the peculiar case of the Claimant—about the most difficult thing of all to rectify in this country is a miscarriage of justice. While on this subject, I may as well add that the announcement made in the Sydney Morning Herald touching this William Cresswell, and generally couched in terms exceedingly adverse to the Claimant, has caused, as might be supposed, intense irritation among the thorough-going Tichborneites on this side.

ON Wednesday last we gave an extract from a leading article in the Times on the law of Contempt of Court. On Monday we shall publish an able article on the same subject from the Pall Mall Gazette, which, had it not been written at the other side of the world, might supposed to have been written on the Herald case. The article to which we refer alludes to some decisions for contempt of court in connection with the Tichborne case. Some of those cases were cited for the plaintiff in the action against our publisher.

THE Tichborne case, London, 17th August.—The partisans of the Tichborne claimant have subscribed a sum of money for the purpose of paying the passage to England of the man Cresswell, who is at present confined in the lunatic asylum, at Parramatta, New South Wales, and who is alleged to be identical with Arthur Orton.

MR. KIMBER has, it is stated, been instructed to take proceedings with a view to re-open the Tichborne case immediately on the arrival in England of the party now conveying from Australia the lunatic Cresswell, who is alleged to be Arthur Orton.

The Crown Solicitor will please advise as to the reply which should be given to this application.—A.S., 19/9/83. The Crown Solicitor, B.C., 20 September, 1883.—C.W.

Sir A. Stephen to The Crown Solicitor.

My dear Williams,

24, College-street, 13 September, 1883.

In establishing the identity or non-identity of Arthur Orton—identity with the convict at Dartmoor, and non-identity with the lunatic Cresswell—it may be useful to know that the real Arthur Orton was in Launceston, Tasmania, in 1855, with his two sisters, Mrs. Jury and Mrs. Tridgett, the former of whom kept an inn there. He had at this time returned from Valparaiso, and occasionally he talked Spanish.

Mr. Baylis, of Wagga, could get proof of the time when Orton was first seen in that town; and it is quite possible that there are still persons in Launceston who would be able to prove that he and Cresswell are different people.

Yours, &c.,

ALFRED STEPHEN.

Mrs. Deborah Simpson to The Crown Solicitor.

Sir,

"Turf Hotel," Sandy Creek, 29 November, 1883.

Yours of the 23rd duly received, and have known the person you name, Mr. William Cresswell, now a lunatic in the Parramatta Asylum. Him and the Claimant was partnership in a butchering business at the Tumut in 1864; I was keeping an hotel in Wagga. I often had conversation with them both. Cresswell told me he had travelled with Castro through Gippsland and other parts, but not liking his unprincipled habits they parted, as he himself (Cresswell) was of a good family. His father was a gentleman yeoman.

yeoman. I think, Buckinghamshire, England, was the place he came from ; and when he chose to go home property was waiting for him. I have seen his writing, as well as the Claimant's ; they are very opposite to each other in every way. Cresswell has always the carriage and bearing of a gentleman, the Claimant as he is, a Wapping butcher. I did not see Cresswell for ten years when I visited him with an order Judge Forbes kindly gave me ; he knew me well, and conversed on various subjects, especially the Claimant. He said Tom was where he ought to be—he was an impostor. He also remembered his marrying a servant of mine, her having an illegitimate child in my house in 1864. It was not the Claimant's, as she did not know him at the time ; she had only been in Wagga seven months. I visited Cresswell in 1879 ; he was not so well as when I saw him before. He knew me well, and our conversation was much as before. Dr. Taylor was present at the first, and took the conversation down no doubt ; the records could tell you. He wore a leather jacket, and was called by the name of "Old Leather Jacket." He spoke of that, and said it was throwing about. I also visited him again in June last, when you kindly gave me the order. I was much surprised to see him changed for the worse ; he has altered twenty years from my previous visits. Still, he knew me well, and talked of many things, as before. I send a receipt of the Claimant's to the solicitors, Messrs. Bowden and Allen, some sixteen years ago that I paid him for meat, and saw him write the receipt. I think I have explained to you the best my memory can bring, hoping it will be to your satisfaction. I should thank you not to publish my name. If possible, any other information you require I will be willing to give.

Yours, &c.,

DEBORAH SIMPSON.

Mr. Dargan Smith to The Attorney-General.

Sir,

Vaucluse Road, near the Convent, 14 December, 1883.

Perceiving by the public papers that the "Tichborne" matter has not subsided, for your information I beg to state (as I have already stated to the "stump orator, D. Smith") that the man in gaol is the real "Arthur Orton." I first saw Arthur Orton in 1851, previous to the opening of the Great Exhibition in London, a fight in the Whitechapel Road, in which Orton was one of the combatants, drew my attention to him. My business in connection with railways caused me to visit Tasmania, and one of the first persons I met in Launceston was Arthur Orton. I inquired what he was doing, and putting him in mind of where I first saw him. Somewhere in 1861 or 1862 I met him near Geelong (Vic.) with his "swag" on his back ; he was then going to try his luck on the Ballarat gold-fields. In the end of 1862, somewhere about November, I saw him again, at the "American Hotel" (Anthony's), at Creswick. I gave him a few shillings on both the last occasions. He was then talking of going to the "Tumut." I saw he was wanted under the name of A. O., or "Tom de Castro," by the public papers, for horse-stealing or cattle-stealing, I forgot which, and I believe he got a sentence in Castlemaine Gaol.

I have no bench mark in my mind when I saw him near Wagga Wagga, but it was since the above dates. I had his "carte," sent out from London, and can swear most positively that the photo. was identical with the man A. O., or "Tom de Castro." My object in writing you is simply to state that I took so much notice of the cranium of "Orton" that if his head was separate from his body I could identify it ; and, if required, would journey to Parramatta for the purpose of interviewing the man Cresswell at my own expense.

I have, &c.,

DARGAN SMITH, Engineer.

Mrs. Marie Biggers to The Attorney-General.

Sir,

154, George-street, Sydney, June 3, 1884.

I beg to inform you that I knew a person named Alfred Cresswell, who ought now be 50 years of age.

And as there is to be an inquiry on Friday to identify a person named Cresswell, at present in the Parramatta Lunatic Asylum, I have taken the liberty of addressing you on the subject. If he be the boy Cresswell whom I knew he will have a spear wound in his hip, inflicted when a boy by my brother, the mark of which will never leave him. I so firmly believe him to be the same that I could not rest until I wrote to you.

Trusting this may help to further justice, I beg to remain very respectfully, yours,

MARIE BIGGERS.

Japanese Curio Shop, George-street North.

Referred by direction of the Attorney-General to the Crown Solicitor.—W.W.S., 4 June, 1884.

J. Jenkins, Esq., J.P., to The Attorney-General.

Sir,

Young, June 9, 1884.

Having just seen Mr. Freestone, of Young, solicitor, who has some very important evidence, documentary and otherwise, concerning the release of Cresswell,—he knew Cresswell before he was married in 1861 and 1862 and 1863, when he married early in 1863 a Mrs. Clark, a widow of Robert Clark, a publican, of Gundaroo. He holds a letter from Wm. Cresswell to apply for the transfer of the license from Ellen Clark to himself. In October, 1863, he was requested, in writing, to go to Gundaroo for the purpose of drawing up a deed of separation, as they did not live happily together. In 1864 Mr. Freestone defended Cresswell at Queanbeyan for assault, and in 1867 he defended him for larceny. I have seen to-day all the documentary evidence held by Mr. Freestone, and I think they are of such importance that you should secure his evidence.

I have, &c.,

Address :—Care of A. S. Freestone, Young.

JOHN F. JENKINS, J.P.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

WILLIAM CRESSWELL.
(PETITION FOR RELEASE OF—RESIDENTS OF SYDNEY.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 7 February, 1884.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Residents of the City of Sydney and Colony of New South Wales,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

1. On the twenty-eighth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, a person arraigned as Roger Charles Doughty Tichborne, alias Thomas Castro, alias Arthur Orton, was convicted in the Queen's Bench, Westminster, London, before three of Her Majesty's Justices sitting at Bar, of an indictment charging him with committing wilful and corrupt perjury, one of the assignments being that the defendant had falsely sworn in the course of certain judicial proceedings that he was Roger Charles Doughty Tichborne, the son of Sir James Tichborne, Baronet, by his wife, Henriette Felicitte.

2. It became, and was material on the hearing of the said trial, whether the said defendant was or was not one Arthur Orton, the son of a butcher at Wapping, in London. The prosecution alleged the defendant to be the said Arthur Orton, while the defendant maintained he was not the said Arthur Orton but the said Sir Roger Charles Doughty Tichborne, Baronet, the son of Sir James Tichborne, Baronet, deceased, and his wife, the said Henriette Felicitte.

3. The jury at the said trial found specifically in answer to questions left to them by the President of the Court that the defendant was not Sir Roger Charles Doughty Tichborne, Baronet, but the said Arthur Orton, the son of a butcher at Wapping aforesaid.

4. The defendant was sentenced to fourteen years' penal servitude, and such sentence is still unexpired.

5. On the eighth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, a man who gave the name of William Cresswell, was received in the Sydney Gaol, charged with being of unsound mind, and after medical examination was relegated to the Parramatta Lunatic Asylum.

6. Affidavits have been filed in the Lunacy Branch of the Supreme Court of New South Wales from a number of highly respectable people of good repute, many of whom were his old acquaintances, that on identification they believe him to be the true and undoubted Arthur Orton, the son of George Orton, deceased, a butcher, at Wapping aforesaid.

7. An application was made on the seventh day of November, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, by Daniel Smith, an agent appointed by the Committee of the "Tichborne Release Association," that the said William Cresswell, otherwise Arthur Orton, may be removed from the said Colony to London, England, on an undertaking made by him, the said Daniel Smith, for the safe charge, custody, and maintenance of the said William Cresswell, otherwise Arthur Orton, and to give such security for the said William Cresswell, otherwise Arthur Orton, in any place beyond New South Wales as to the said Judge may seem fit.

8. On the eleventh day of December, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, the case came on for hearing before His Honor Mr. Justice Faucett, in the Supreme Court of New South Wales, sitting in Lunacy. After hearing learned counsel on both sides, His Honor dismissed the application, holding that the Court had no jurisdiction, and stating that it was a proper case for the Government to decide.

9. Under these circumstances your Petitioners, in the interest of justice, humbly pray that your Honorable House may cause a Committee of Inquiry to be held in this matter, and if the Report be favourable, that the lunatic be removed from the Lunatic Asylum, Parramatta, to London, England, under the charge and control of the agent or any responsible person whom your Honorable House may deem fit to appoint, and that all expenses incurred by such removal of the said lunatic shall be borne by the "Tichborne Release Committee," of which there is at present time a member of the Committee residing in Sydney.

Your Petitioners, therefore, humbly pray that your Honorable House will consider their wishes. And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

[Here follow 10,500 signatures.]

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

GOVERNMENT ASYLUMS FOR THE INFIRM AND DESTITUTE.

(REPORT FOR 1882.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 8 November, 1883.

The Manager of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute to
The Principal Under-Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 18 October, 1883.

I have the honor to forward the usual statistical returns for 1882, in connection with the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, and the Erysipelas Hospital at Parramatta; and, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, it is my duty to report,—

1. Generally—

The increased number of admissions is attributable to the fact that these institutions are open to destitute persons discharged from the Sydney Hospital and other kindred establishments subsidized by the Government, who do not require further active treatment, but who have not sufficiently recovered their health and strength to enable them at once to earn a livelihood; it would be impossible to leave these poor persons to their own resources, and it is expedient to shelter them in these Asylums, because the cost of their maintenance is much less to the State than if they were continued in the hospitals till thoroughly convalescent.

2. Pauperism—

Is not on the increase. In 1878 the daily average of inmates was	...	...	...	1,382
and in the past year it was	...	...	...	1,612

The numerical increase of	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	230
---------------------------	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----

is really accounted for by the fact that owing to the increased facilities offered by the railway extensions so many necessitous persons are sent from the outlying districts to the central Asylums; and in view of our yearly increase of population by immigration the percentage of paupers is certainly not so high as it was, and this is as it should be, for the old people who are recipients of the bounty of the State may be said to belong almost to a past generation, and they have outlived their friends, and so are destitute in the truest sense of the word. Now and for some years past the circumstances and earnings of our artizan and labouring classes have so greatly improved and increased that they are better able to make provision for old age, and for those kinsfolk who otherwise would be dependent on the Public Charities.

3. Cost of Maintenance—

The accompanying returns are self explanatory, and yet I presume to offer some comments which I trust may prove interesting and useful.

The expense in these Asylums all told amounts to about £13 10s. per head per annum. This year the cost is £1 12s. 5¼d. per head higher than it was in 1881, and the enhanced price of meat and bread alone more than accounts for the difference, for while in 1881 contractors supplied the Institutions with meat at 7s. per 100 lbs., and bread at 9s. 11d. per 100 lbs., in 1882 we had to pay for meat from 16s. to 27s. 1d. per 100 lbs., and for bread 12s. 4d. per 100 lbs., and these Asylums have borne all expenses incidental to the forwarding of indigent persons from the interior to be under our care.

It is difficult to make fair comparisons when all the incidents do not harmonize, and, in pointing out that in the United Kingdom the cost of maintaining a pauper under the Poor Law Guardians is £35 11s. 4d. as against our £13 10s. 5d., I deem it right to acknowledge that the greater cost of provisions in the old country—the employment of large staffs of salaried officials, controlled by a Board, which is practically irresponsible for its expenditure—accounts for an important part of the difference.

Here we have cheaper food, the work of the establishments all done by the inmates, and no expense incurred without most careful consideration and authoritative sanction. But it is needless to travel far from home to compare expenditure, as the price paid by the Government for each pauper in the country Hospitals ranges from £47 to £92 per head per annum.

4. I have now to report separately on the several Asylums under my direction and control.

The Hyde Park Asylum has, throughout the year, accommodated 284 inmates, and it was inconveniently crowded, so much so that it was deemed expedient to utilize the matron's quarters for the accommodation of the old people. The health of the inmates has been tolerably good, and I have every reason to commend the arrangements for their comfort, which will be well provided for when they are transferred to Newington, where it is intended to domicile them.

The Liverpool Asylum has afforded shelter and a home to a daily average of 727 inmates, whose general health has been good, and whose comfort has been well cared for; the mortality table in connection with this institution is not a reliable index, because all cases of phthisis, bronchitis, and asthma are sent here, as the Asylum is so healthily situated, and the appliances for the treatment of diseases, &c., are more complete than in the other institutions. Notwithstanding the numbers of deaths at an early age amongst phthisical cases it will be seen that the general average age at death was 66.15 years. One centenarian, 112 years old, joined the great majority. He had been in this Asylum upwards of twenty years. I was able to prevent any overcrowding by drafting 120 men to Newington for a while, and so these poor old people had comfortable quarters.

The Parramatta Asylum.—The daily average of inmates during the year was 251, and the additional accommodation which the old Tweed Factory (recently purchased by the Government) will afford, when the alterations are completed, will rank this as a very important asylum. Already the bed-ridden inmates are removed from the main building and occupy the large hospital ward, which, being cheerfully situated on the river bank, is an agreeable change, fully appreciated by the poor people. The want of a spacious recreation ground is much felt. The men have to take exercise outside the precincts, and too frequently, when they get into the town, some of them are tempted to drink and return intoxicated, and are insubordinate and troublesome.

The Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-street Asylum for the Infirm and Destitute.—This was established upwards of seven years ago, when this disorder prevailed in the city and suburbs. It has ever since been largely availed of, and proved very useful as an adjunct to the Sydney Hospital. All sufferers from infectious diseases are brought and treated here—erysipelas, scarlet-fever, measles, itch, &c. The cases are of course kept separate from the convalescent, and, owing to the excellent management, no contagious disease has spread. The buildings, which were very dilapidated, have been efficiently repaired, and the place is in thoroughly good working order, and is in fact now as important and satisfactorily managed an asylum as we have.

The Newington Buildings.—These, as I have stated, were used during the winter months for the accommodation of some of the men drafted from the other asylums.

One of the Chinese lepers who occupied a hut in the grounds died; the other two have been removed to the Little Bay Sanatorium.

Diseases of the Eye, &c.—The arrangement made for an ophthalmic surgeon to visit the institutions periodically will prove of great convenience. Last year 369 inmates were sent to the Sydney Infirmary for treatment, and sufferers from diseases of the eye are hardly fit to go about the city, exposed to its dangers and temptations.

The late Dr. Robert Champley Rutter.—I much regret the death of this gentleman, who for many years held the position of surgeon to the Parramatta Asylums and the Erysipelas Hospital. He was always most conscientious in the discharge of his duties—a very careful and efficient practitioner, whose special skill in the treatment of erysipelas was of great advantage to the patients, and the health of the inmates generally justifies my meed of praise to the late doctor, and the expression of my deep regret that we are deprived of his services.

I should fail in a simple act of justice if I did not bear willing testimony to the excellent conduct of all the officials at these Asylums; their devotion to and interest in their duties are highly commendable, and they have heartily co-operated with me in every scheme for the comfort of the poor people confided to our care; cleanliness, discipline, order, and regularity have been well maintained throughout.

5. As my office is somewhat analogous to that of the Poor Law Guardians in England, except that I am directly amenable to the Colonial Secretary for any maladministration, I deem it right in concluding my report to state that I am always careful to make the fullest inquiry before admitting any one to be in fact a State pensioner; and the records of the Asylums will show that I am continually drafting out those who become able to support themselves, or who have friends willing to receive and help them. It must not be supposed that the occupants of our Asylums are identical. Some, indeed many, must make them their last homes on earth; but to others they are but recruiting grounds for recovering health, and these institutions have proved and continue to be admirable shelter for the poor of the Colony, who generally appreciate the provision made for their comfort.

I can make no suggestion for better or different management of the Asylums; they are designed to and do prevent vagrancy and mendicancy in our streets to a very large extent.

I have, &c.,
FREDERIC KING,
 Manager.

RETURN of the Expenditure of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, for the year 1882.

Asylum.	Average daily No. of Inmates	Salaries.		Rations.		Clothing.		Contingencies.		Total.
		Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.
Sydney . . . . .	284	£ s. d. 686 12 5	£ s. d. 2 8 4½	£ s. d. 2,074 15 4	£ s. d. 7 6 1½	£ s. d. 640 15 3	£ s. d. 2 5 1½	£ s. d. 620 13 6	£ s. d. 2 3 8½	£ s. d. 4,022 16 6	£ s. d. 14 3 3½
Parramatta . . . . .	251	629 4 9	2 10 1½	1,990 4 8	7 18 7	514 16 6	2 1 0½	801 0 7	3 3 9½	3,935 6 6	15 13 6½
Liverpool . . . . .	727	1,863 14 4	2 11 3½	5,320 0 5	7 6 4½	1,800 11 10	1 15 9½	1,981 4 10	2 14 6	10,465 11 5	14 7 10½
Total . . . . .	1,262	3,179 11 6	2 10 4½	9,385 0 5	7 8 8½	2,456 3 7	1 18 11	3,402 18 11	2 13 11	18,423 14 5	14 11 11½

FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

Sydney, 18th October, 1883.

DETAILED List.

	Sydney.		Parramatta.		Liverpool.		Total.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Salaries . . . . .		686 12 5		629 4 9		1,863 14 4		3,179 11 6
Food . . . . .	1,646 17 3		1,449 14 1		4,120 5 2
Medical comforts . . . . .	146 14 5		284 13 8		563 6 0
Vegetables . . . . .	161 9 3		53 5 11		210 14 8
Gratuities . . . . .	58 4 10		112 8 11		211 16 8
Milk . . . . .	61 9 7		90 2 1		213 17 11
Clothing . . . . .		2,074 15 4		1,990 4 8		5,320 0 5		9,385 0 5
Contingencies—		640 15 3		514 16 6		1,800 11 10		2,456 3 7
Travelling expenses . . . . .	42 6 5		81 17 5		554 13 7
Fuel . . . . .	37 3 8		156 5 9		431 0 8
Medicines . . . . .	40 4 7		88 8 9		145 12 9
Water . . . . .			75 14 10		195 2 0
Burials . . . . .	155 0 0		68 8 0		272 6 9
Medical certificates . . . . .			1 1 0		0 2 0
Light . . . . .	56 12 3		52 14 10		21 0 0
Soap . . . . .	44 4 4		26 0 5		57 18 4
Straw . . . . .			20 3 2		54 9 7
Rent . . . . .	8 17 4		63 7 4		97 2 0
Ironmongery . . . . .	102 2 4		77 0 9		115 6 9
Sundries . . . . .	83 17 7		89 18 4		36 10 5
		4,022 16 6		3,935 6 6		10,465 11 5		18,423 14 5

FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

Sydney, 18th October, 1883.

COMPARATIVE RETURN of the expenditure of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, from 1863 to 1882 inclusive.

Year.	Average No. of Inmates	Salaries.		Rations.		Clothing.		Contingencies.		Total.
		Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average per head.
1863 . . . . .	624	£ s. d. 1,958 0 9	£ s. d. 3 2 9	£ s. d. 4,463 5 10	£ s. d. 7 6 0½	£ s. d. 989 16 8	£ s. d. 1 11 3½	£ s. d. 1,584 15 0	£ s. d. 2 1 9½	£ s. d. 8,995 18 3	£ s. d. 14 8 3½
1864 . . . . .	673	2,013 15 10	2 19 10	4,944 17 0	7 6 11½	1,047 3 9	1 11 1½	1,211 14 6	1 16 0	9,217 11 1	13 13 10½
1865 . . . . .	721	2,125 2 2	2 18 11½	4,905 0 7	6 16 0½	2,107 10 10	2 18 8½	1,483 7 1	2 1 2	10,621 0 8	14 14 7
1866 . . . . .	856	2,299 15 5	2 13 8½	5,982 14 2	6 19 9½	1,746 7 11	2 0 9½	1,870 12 0	2 3 8½	11,899 9 6	13 13 0
1867 . . . . .	931	2,742 10 10	2 18 10½	5,961 19 8	6 8 0½	2,467 8 7	2 13 0	2,098 10 8	2 5 0½	13,270 9 14	14 5 0½
1868 . . . . .	969	2,668 16 0	2 15 1	6,638 18 4	6 17 0½	1,914 11 7	1 19 6	1,727 19 3	1 15 7½	12,950 5 2	13 7 3½
1869 . . . . .	970	2,571 6 4	2 13 0	6,324 7 7	6 10 4	1,943 12 10	2 0 0½	1,602 4 1	1 13 0½	12,441 10 10	12 16 6½
1870 . . . . .	997	1,781 10 8	1 15 8	6,035 19 1	6 2 1	2,033 18 11	2 0 9½	1,343 16 10	1 6 11	11,245 5 6	11 5 9
1871 . . . . .	1,065	1,819 0 5	1 14 2	6,380 16 5	5 19 10	2,148 10 0	2 0 4	1,612 2 2	1 10 8½	11,960 9 0	11 4 7½
1872 . . . . .	1,105	1,976 13 0	1 15 9½	6,467 15 2	5 17 0½	2,414 12 9	2 3 8½	1,828 0 6	1 13 0½	12,687 1 5	11 9 7½
1873 . . . . .	1,096	2,027 16 4	1 17 0	7,422 19 0	6 15 5½	2,304 11 7	2 2 0½	2,018 9 6	1 16 10	13,773 16 5	12 11 4
1874 . . . . .	1,140	2,236 13 1	1 19 2½	8,333 11 8	7 6 2½	2,777 8 11	2 8 8	2,543 14 0	2 7 7½	15,405 13 0	13 10 3½
1875 . . . . .	1,138	2,512 11 3	2 4 11½	8,892 14 4	7 15 9½	2,543 14 0	2 7 7½	2,058 4 4	1 16 14	16,288 1 9	14 6 3
1876 . . . . .	1,166	2,622 19 10	2 4 11½	9,940 16 2	8 10 6	3,062 13 1	2 12 6½	2,721 10 0	2 6 8	18,347 1 1	15 14 8½
1877 . . . . .	1,233	2,715 4 9	2 4 0½	9,773 0 1	7 18 6½	2,632 0 7	2 2 8½	2,881 2 11	2 6 8	18,001 8 14	14 11 11½
1878 . . . . .	1,256	2,789 12 9	2 4 5	10,407 16 3	8 5 5½	3,193 9 2	2 10 10½	2,468 14 3	1 19 3½	18,859 12 5	15 0 3½
1879 . . . . .	1,259	2,940 19 7	2 6 8½	8,639 1 11	6 17 3	3,728 8 3	2 3 4	2,727 15 11	2 3 4	17,036 5 8	13 10 7½
1880 . . . . .	1,269	2,988 16 0	2 7 1½	7,636 7 8	6 0 4½	2,856 0 8	2 5 0	2,772 7 11	2 3 8½	16,253 12 3	12 16 2
1881 . . . . .	1,266	2,908 4 7	2 6 10½	7,175 2 4	5 13 4	3,429 14 6	2 14 2½	2,855 8 4	2 5 1½	16,428 9 9	12 19 6½
1882 . . . . .	1,262	3,179 11 6	2 10 4½	9,385 0 5	7 8 8½	2,456 3 7	1 18 11	3,402 18 11	2 13 11	18,423 14 5	14 11 11½
			2 7 8		6 18 9		2 4 3½		1 19 11½		13 10 7½

FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

Sydney, 18th October, 1883.

RETURN of the number of Inmates sheltered in the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, for the year 1882.

Asylums.	In Asylum, 1st January, 1882.		Admitted during 1882.		Discharged during 1882.		Died during 1882.		In Asylum on the 31st December, 1882.
	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Total.
Sydney . . . . .	237	277	487	333	442	251	63	75	219	284	284
Parramatta . . . . .	724	.....	1,093	.....	813	.....	271	.....	733	.....	219
Liverpool . . . . .	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	733
Total . . . . .	961	277	1,580	333	1,255	251	334	75	952	284	1,236

FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

Sydney, 18th October, 1883.

RETURN

RETURN of ages of deceased Inmates of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute for the year 1882.

	Years										Total
	10	20	30	40	50	60	70	80	90	100
The Hyde Park Asylum		1	10	4	8	22	17	11	1	1	75
„ Parramatta „	1		6	4	7	16	17	11	1		63
„ Liverpool „	3	13	9	25	28	42	82	57	11	1	271
Total	4	14	25	33	43	80	116	79	13	2	409

FREDERIC KING,

Manager.

Sydney, 18th October, 1883.

RETURN of percentage of Deaths and average age of deceased Inmates of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute for the year 1882.

	Deaths	Percentage	Average Age
The Hyde Park Asylum	75	26 40	63 40
„ Parramatta „	63	25 09	64 41
„ Liverpool „	271	37 27	66 15
Total	409	29 58	64 65

FREDERIC KING,

Manager.

Sydney, 18th October, 1883.

RETURN of Deaths in the Government Asylums for the year 1882.

Disease	Hyde Park	Parramatta	Liverpool
Asthma		4	1
Apoplexy	1	1	3
Aneurism			2
Bronchitis	2	6	5
Brain disease			2
Blood poisoning			1
Cancer	2	2	17
Cardiac disease	7	1	15
Congestion of lungs	1		7
Chronic cerebritis	3
Cirrhosis of Liver	1
Dropsy		1	5
Diarrhoea	12	4	2
Dysentery	1	5	4
Drowned			1
Exhaustion	1	2	4
Epilepsy		2	3
Enteric fever			1
Hæmoptysis			1
Hepatic disease			3
Intemperance	1		2
Imbecile debility			7
Injuries accidentally received			1
Jaundice			1
Paralysis	9	5	26
Phthisis	10	6	28
Prostratic disease			5
Rheum			1
Rheumatism			2
Semile decay	22	23	118
Scrofula disease of hip joint			2
Scrofula disease of ankle joint	1
Spinal disease			1
Sunstroke		1
Syphilis	1
Total	75	63	271

FREDERIC KING,

Manager.

Sydney, 18th October, 1883

RETURN of the Expenditure of the Erysipelas Hospital for the year 1882

Asylum	Daily average number of inmates	Salaries		Rations		Clothing		Contingencies		Total
		Total	Average per head	Total	Average expense per head	Total	Average expense per head	Total	Average expense per head	Total	Average expense per head
Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie street Asylum, including Newington	350	£ 904 5 4	£ 2 11 8	£ 2,996 18 11	£ 8 11 3	£ 808 8 1	£ 2 6 24	£ 1,188 16 10	£ 3 7 11	£ 5,898 9 2	£ 16 17 0

FREDERIC KING,

Manager.

Sydney, 18th October, 1883.

DETAILED

DETAILED LIST.

	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Salaries .....				904	5	4
Food .....	2,349	2	3
Medical comforts .....	210	18	5
Vegetables .....	120	3	4
Gratuities .....	216	3	7
Milk .....	101	1	4
Clothing .....				2,996	18	11
Contingencies—				808	8	1
Travelling expenses .....	138	4	1
Fuel .....	153	12	4
Medicines .....	170	7	2
Water .....	64	15	6
Burials .....	110	19	0
Medical certificates .....
Light .....	41	3	11
Soap .....	18	4	4
Straw .....	29	18	8
Rent .....	81	9	4
Ironmongery .....	87	6	8
Sundries .....	169	18	1
Fodder .....	122	16	9
				1,188	16	10
				£	5,898	9 2

Sydney, 18th October, 1883. FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

RETURN of the number of Inmates sheltered in the Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-street Asylum for the Infirm and Destitute at Parramatta for the year 1882.

Asylum.	In Asylum, 1st January, 1882.		Admitted during 1882.		Discharged during 1882.		Died during 1882.		In Asylum, 31st December, 1882.
	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.
Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-street Asylum.	327	2	921	23	813	23	96	1	339	1

Sydney, 18th October, 1883. FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

RETURN of ages of deceased Inmates of the Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-street Asylum for the Infirm and Destitute, for the year 1882.

	Years.
	10	20	30	40	50	60	70	80	90	100	Total.
The Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-street Asylum.....	...	1	8	9	15	26	26	11	1	...	97

Sydney, 18th October, 1883. FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

RETURN of percentage of Deaths and average age of deceased Inmates of the Erysipelas Hospital, and Macquarie-street Asylum for the Infirm and Destitute, at Parramatta, for the year 1882.

	Deaths.	Per cent.	Average age.
The Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-street Asylum .....	97	27.71	62.73

Sydney, 18th October, 1883. FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

RETURN of Deaths in the Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-street Asylum, at Parramatta, for the year 1882.

Asthma .....	1
Apoplexy .....	4
Bronchitis .....	9
Cancer.....	9
Cardiac Disease.....	2
Cerebral Disease .....	1
Congestion of Lungs .....	1
Delirium Tremens.....	2
Diarrhoea .....	4
Dropsy .....	8
Dysentery ..	10
Exhaustion.....	3
Erysipelas .....	1
Epilepsy .....	1
Inflammation of Bowels .....	1
Leprosy .....	2
Paralysis.....	3
Phthisis .....	9
Senile decay .....	26
Total.....	97

Sydney, 18th October, 1883.

FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

GOVERNMENT ASYLUMS FOR THE INFIRM AND DESTITUTE.

(REPORT FOR 1883.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Manager of the Government Asylums to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 1 October, 1884.

I have the honor to wait on you with statistical returns of the several Asylums under my charge for the year 1883, and for the information of the Colonial Secretary I beg to report,—

1. Generally—

The admissions for the year were 2,764. Of these there were sent from the Sydney Hospitals as convalescent patients, requiring to recruit their strength, 570; and of new arrivals who sought our clime in hopes of regaining health and strength and rallying from phthical diseases, there were 45; and there were 752 persons who had not previously been under the care of the State.

The total number of admissions was 149 less than that of the year 1882.

The continuance of the arrangements under which pauper convalescents are sent from the Hospitals to the Asylums is undoubtedly advantageous on all accounts; but as in many instances these Institutions are thus burdened with patients requiring special and expensive treatment the average cost of maintenance is increased, as I pointed out in my last Report.

The Hyde Park Asylum has been overcrowded throughout the year. The other Institutions have not been inconveniently filled.

The purchase of the old Tweed Factory, at the George-street Asylum, Parramatta, has enabled us to accommodate a large number of inmates, who were removed from Newington on the commencement of the new buildings there, and thus the comfort of the old people has been provided for.

2. Reporting separately on the Asylums, I have to say of the—

Hyde Park.—The daily average of inmates shows an excess on comparison with my last returns. In the winter months our resources were taxed to the utmost; and under the circumstances it is very satisfactory to be able to report that there was no increased sickness. Of course the inmates had to experience a little inconvenience from the overcrowding.

Liverpool.—The daily average of inmates was 724, as against 727 in the previous year.

The deaths were 206, as against 271 in 1882. This Institution, from its excellent position, its large, lofty, and well ventilated wards, and especially from its efficient management, has proved a good resort for the aged and infirm, and for phthical cases.

Consumptive and asthmatical patients, removed from Sydney, have derived the greatest benefit and relief.

During the very dry weather the water of the river close to the Asylum was impregnated with the offal water and matter from the manufactories above the dam, and the impurities and stagnant state of the river resulted in the emission of most unsavoury odours; and at one time there was great anxiety lest the malaria should breed fever or other contagious diseases amongst the inmates; but all this was averted, and when the rains came a "fresh" cleared the impurities from the river.

Parramatta has given home and shelter to 280 inmates during the year,—an excess of twenty-nine over the previous period. The acquisition of the new premises has enabled me to provide for this increased number without any inconvenience.

A hospital ward has been prepared for the accommodation of fifty invalids. It is on the bank of the river, and the aspect is good and air invigorating; the outlook is cheerful—a very beautiful view on the opposite side of the river.

When the repairs to and alterations of the mill premises are completed, this Institution will be capable of accommodating 750 inmates.

The lavatory and kitchen arrangements, sheds, &c., are in a forward state, and when completed the plans now in abeyance can be carried out.

The Macquarie-street has been continued partly as a Hospital for the reception of infectious cases, and partly as an Asylum for the infirm and destitute.

3. The Expenditure.

The cost of maintenance of the above 1,598 inmates has amounted to £24,066 6s. 5d., or £15 1s. 2¼d. per head,—an increase of 9s. 2d. per head on last year's rates; but the return includes the Macquarie-street establishment, which, as I have pointed out, is more of a Hospital than an ordinary Asylum.

The comparative statement annexed, grouping a period of twenty-one years, shows the evenness of management over that period; and, in considering the care bestowed upon and the comforts provided for the inmates, it will I trust be deemed a very satisfactory feature in connection with these Institutions.

4. The Staff generally

There has been no change in; and while it would be invidious to select any one for special commendation, it is my most pleasing duty to testify to the efficiency and cordial support and ability of the various officers in their respective spheres, and to add that the subordinates also have merited my full approbation; all have cheerfully and honestly performed their duties.

5. The Boys' Hospital or Asylum.

The arrangements under which we now receive helpless lads into the Parramatta Asylums have proved a great success. One of the cottages near the George-street Asylum has been fitted up as a hospital, and accommodates fourteen boys.

These forsaken waifs, afflicted with every class of deformity, are under the special charge and protection of an experienced elderly woman.

6. Ophthalmic and Eye Hospital.

The necessity for a separate establishment has been brought under notice. Many difficulties have heretofore prevented anything being done, but each year I am more impressed with the necessity: there must be a properly organized hospital for the especial treatment of ophthalmic patients, &c., and this is testified to by the surgeons, who despair of successful treatment otherwise.

7. The Contractors for Supplies

Have fulfilled their engagements satisfactorily, and there have not been any complaints, except of meat, which has not infrequently been of inferior quality.

I have, &c.,
FREDERIC KING,
Manager.

RETURN of the Expenditure of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute for the year 1883.

Asylum.	Average daily No. of Inmates	Salaries.		Rations.		Clothing.		Contingencies.		Total Expenditure.
		Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.
		£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Sydney .....	298	761 13 6	2 11 2	1,913 14 11	6 8 6	880 17 5	2 19 1	674 0 2	2 5 2	4,230 6 0	14 3 11
Parramatta .....	280	770 9 3	2 15 0	2,332 1 7	8 6 6	751 3 0	2 13 8	999 7 7	3 11 4	4,853 1 5	17 6 6
Liverpool .....	724	1,766 14 9	2 8 10	5,324 15 4	7 7 1	1,160 16 1	1 12 0	1,742 6 3	2 8 2	9,994 12 5	13 16 1
	1,302	3,298 17 6	2 10 8½	9,570 11 10	7 7 2	2,792 16 6	2 1 4½	3,415 14 0	2 12 5½	19,077 19 10	14 13 0½

DETAILED LIST.

	Sydney.		Parramatta.		Liverpool.		Total.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Salaries .....		761 13 6				1,766 14 9	3,298 17 6
Food .....	1,443 0 3		1,870 13 1		4,115 1 0
Medical comforts .....	207 0 10		195 17 3		680 7 2
Vegetables .....	131 2 5		54 14 8		194 1 5
Gratuities .....	50 14 2		117 2 8		210 3 11
Milk .....	81 17 3		93 13 11		125 1 10
Clothing .....		1,913 14 11		2,332 1 7		5,324 15 4	9,570 11 10
Contingencies—		880 17 5		751 3 0		1,160 16 1	2,792 16 6
Travelling expenses .....	41 4 2		136 3 6		302 14 11
Fuel .....	100 19 2		198 2 0		500 8 0
Medicines .....	26 15 1		91 16 2		115 13 2
Water .....			45 0 0		220 0 0
Burials .....	106 15 0		119 17 0		207 12 0
Medical certificates .....
Light .....	53 6 2		49 2 10		18 18 3
Soap .....	38 19 2		27 14 7		65 7 11
Straw .....	3 6 0		23 14 7		46 3 2
Rent .....	144 11 0		68 1 10		84 14 0
Ironmongery .....	77 9 2		114 5 7		66 14 2
Sundries .....	80 15 3		125 9 6		100 14 6
Fodder .....					13 6 2
		674 0 2		999 7 7		1,742 6 3	3,415 14 0
							19,077 19 10

COMPARATIVE

COMPARATIVE RETURN of the Expenditure of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, from 1863 to 1883 inclusive.

Year.	Average No. of Inmates	Salaries.		Rations.		Clothing.		Contingencies.		Total.
		Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average per head.
1863	624	£ 1,958 0 9	£ 3 2 9	£ 4,403 5 10	£ 7 6 0½	£ 989 16 8	£ 1 11 8½	£ 1,584 15 0	£ 2 1 0½	£ 8,995 18 3	£ 14 8 3½
1864	673	2,013 15 10	2 19 10	4,944 17 0	7 6 11½	1,047 8 9	1 11 11	1,211 14 6	1 16 0	9,217 11 1	13 13 10½
1865	721	2,125 2 2	2 18 11½	4,905 0 7	6 16 0½	2,107 10 10	2 18 8½	1,483 7 1	2 1 2	10,621 0 8	14 14 7
1866	856	2,299 15 5	2 13 8½	5,982 14 2	6 19 9½	1,746 7 11	2 0 9½	1,870 12 0	2 3 8½	11,899 9 6	13 18 0½
1867	931	2,742 10 10	2 18 10½	5,961 19 8	6 8 0½	2,467 8 7	2 13 0	2,098 10 8	2 5 0½	13,270 9 9	14 5 0½
1868	969	2,668 16 0	2 15 1	6,638 18 4	6 17 0½	1,914 11 7	1 19 6	1,727 19 3	1 15 7½	12,950 5 2	13 7 3½
1869	970	2,571 6 4	2 13 0	6,324 7 7	6 10 4	1,943 12 10	2 0 0½	1,602 4 1	1 13 0½	12,441 10 10	12 16 0½
1870	897	1,781 10 8	1 15 8	6,085 19 1	6 2 7	2,083 18 11	2 0 9½	1,343 16 10	1 6 11	11,245 5 6	11 5 9
1871	1,065	1,819 0 5	1 14 2	6,380 16 5	5 19 10	2,148 10 0	2 0 4	1,612 2 2	1 10 3½	11,960 9 0	11 4 7½
1872	1,105	1,976 13 0	1 15 9½	6,467 15 2	5 17 0½	2,414 12 9	2 3 8½	1,828 0 6	1 13 0½	12,687 1 5	11 9 7½
1873	1,096	2,027 16 4	1 17 0	7,422 19 0	6 15 5½	2,304 11 7	2 2 0½	2,018 9 6	1 16 10	13,773 16 5	12 11 4
1874	1,140	2,236 13 1	1 19 2½	8,333 11 8	7 6 2½	2,777 8 11	2 8 8½	2,058 4 4	1 16 1½	15,405 18 0	13 10 3½
1875	1,133	2,512 11 3	2 4 11½	8,892 14 4	7 15 9½	2,543 14 0	2 7 7½	2,339 2 2	2 1 1½	16,288 1 9	14 6 3
1876	1,166	2,622 19 10	2 4 11½	9,940 16 2	8 10 6	3,062 13 1	2 12 6½	2,721 10 0	2 6 8	18,347 19 1	15 14 8½
1877	1,233	2,715 4 9	2 4 0½	9,773 0 1	7 18 6½	2,632 0 7	2 2 8½	2,881 2 11	2 6 8½	18,001 8 4	14 11 11½
1878	1,256	2,789 12 9	2 4 5	10,407 16 3	8 5 8½	3,193 9 2	2 10 10½	2,468 14 3	1 19 3½	18,859 12 5	15 0 3½
1879	1,259	2,940 19 7	2 6 8½	8,639 1 11	6 17 3	2,728 0 3	2 3 4	2,727 15 11	2 3 4	17,036 5 8	13 10 7½
1880	1,269	2,988 16 0	2 7 1½	7,636 7 8	6 0 4½	2,856 0 8	2 5 0	2,772 7 11	2 3 8½	16,253 12 3	12 16 2
1881	1,266	2,968 4 7	2 6 10½	7,175 2 4	5 13 4	3,429 14 6	2 14 2½	2,855 8 4	2 5 1½	16,428 9 9	12 19 6½
1882	1,262	3,179 11 6	2 10 4½	9,385 0 5	7 8 3½	2,456 3 7	1 18 11	3,402 18 11	2 13 11	18,423 14 5	14 11 11½
1883	1,302	3,298 17 6	2 10 8½	9,570 11 10	7 7 2	2,792 16 6	2 1 4½	3,415 14 0	2 12 5½	19,077 19 10	14 13 0½
			2 7 9½		6 19 1½		2 4 1½		2 0 6½		13 11 10½

RETURN of the number of Inmates sheltered in the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute for the year 1883.

Asylums.	In Asylum, 1st January, 1883.		Admitted during 1883.		Discharged during 1883.		Died during 1883.		In Asylum on the 31st December, 1883.
	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Total.
Hyde Park	.....	234	.....	316	.....	245	.....	63	.....	292	292
Parramatta	219	.....	757	.....	637	.....	72	.....	267	.....	267
Liverpool	733	.....	969	.....	772	.....	206	.....	724	.....	724
	952	284	1,726	316	1,409	245	278	63	991	292	1,283

RETURN of Ages of deceased Inmates of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute for the year 1883.

	Above the age of—
	10	20	30	40	50	60	70	80	90	100	Total.
The Hyde Park Asylum	...	3	2	7	8	17	20	5	1	...	63
„ Parramatta	...	1	1	3	11	17	21	17	1	...	72
„ Liverpool	2	11	12	19	18	26	65	50	2	1	206
Total	2	15	15	29	37	60	106	72	4	1	341

RETURN of percentage of Deaths and average Age of deceased Inmates of the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute for the year 1883.

	Deaths.	Percentage.	Average Age.
The Hyde Park Asylum	63	21.14	62.80
„ Parramatta	72	24.91	69.33
„ Liverpool	206	28.45	64.76
Total	341	24.83	65.63

RETURN of Deaths in the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, for the year 1883.

Disease.	Hyde Park.	Parramatta.	Liverpool.	Total.
Apoplexy .....	2	.....	.....	2
Asthma .....	.....	.....	1	1
Bronchitis .....	1	12	3	16
Cancer .....	3	2	14	19
Cardiac disease.....	4	1	8	13
Cerebral softening .....	.....	.....	2	2
Cerebrites .....	2	.....	.....	2
Debility.....	.....	2	45	47
Dementia .....	.....	.....	3	3
Disease of kidneys .....	.....	.....	1	1
Disease of liver .....	1	1	.....	2
Disease of spleen .....	.....	1	.....	1
Diabetes.....	.....	1	.....	1
Diarrhoea .....	13	6	2	21
Dropsy .....	2	.....	9	11
Dysentery.....	.....	.....	2	2
Dysponia .....	.....	.....	5	5
Dyspepsia .....	.....	.....	1	1
Effusion on brain.....	.....	4	.....	4
Epilepsy .....	.....	2	1	3
Fits .....	1	.....	.....	1
Gastritis .....	.....	1	.....	1
Gangrene after paralysis.....	.....	1	.....	1
Hernia .....	.....	.....	1	1
Hip disease .....	.....	.....	1	1
Jaundice .....	.....	.....	1	1
Manition .....	1	.....	.....	1
Mitral disease .....	.....	1	.....	1
Nephritis .....	.....	2	.....	2
Paralysis .....	3	1	18	22
Phthisis.....	13	10	33	56
Prostatic disease .....	.....	.....	1	1
Rheumatism.....	2	.....	.....	2
Rupture or aneurism .....	.....	.....	1	1
Rupture of heart .....	.....	1	.....	1
Senile decay .....	14	21	52	87
Softening of brain .....	.....	2	1	3
Syphilitic tuberites .....	1	.....	.....	1
Total.....	63	72	206	341

RETURN of the Expenditure of the Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-street Asylum for the Infirm and Destitute for the year 1883.

Asylum.	Daily average number of inmates.	Salaries.		Rations.		Clothing.		Contingencies.		Total.
		Total.	Average per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.	Total.	Average expense per head.
Macquarie-street, Parramatta	296	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
		960 11 0	3 4 10½	2,424 14 6	8 3 5½	453 8 1	1 10 7½	1,149 13 1	3 17 8	4,988 6 7	16 16 9

DETAILED LIST.

	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Salaries .....							960	11	0
Food .....	2,029	14	2
Medical comforts .....	186	11	9
Vegetables .....	86	6	2
Gratuities .....	90	2	1
Milk.....	32	0	4
				2,424	14	6
Clothing .....				453	8	1
Contingencies—
Travelling expenses .....	180	3	4
Fuel.....	141	6	2
Medicines .....	91	12	8
Water .....	37	7	6
Burials .....	129	10	6
Medical certificates .....	2	2	0
Light .....	56	13	0
Soap.....	5	6	8
Straw .....	15	8	9
Rent .....	115	12	0
Ironmongery .....	72	4	0
Sundries .....	263	9	10
Fodder .....	38	16	7
				1,149	13	0
							4,027	15	7
Total .....							£4,988	6	7

RETURN of the number of Inmates sheltered in the Macquarie-street Asylum, Parramatta (known as the Erysipelas Hospital), for the year 1883.

Asylum.	In Asylum, 1st January, 1883.		Admitted during 1883.		Discharged during 1883.		Died during 1883.		In Asylum, 31st December, 1883.
	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Men.	Women.	Total.
Macquarie-street West, Parramatta	339	1	714	8	707	9	78	.....	268	.....	268

RETURN of Ages of deceased Inmates of the Macquarie-street Asylum for the Infirm and Destitute for the year 1883.

	Years.											Total.
	10	20	30	40	50	60	70	80	90	100
	The Macquarie-street Asylum, Parramatta...	...	3	4	8	14	19	22	8	...	...

RETURN of percentage of Deaths and average Age of deceased Inmates of the Macquarie-street Asylum, Parramatta, for the year 1883.

	Deaths.	Percentage.	Average age.
The Macquarie-street Asylum (also known as the Erysipelas Hospital)	78	26.35	62.58

DEATH Return for the Macquarie-street Asylum, Parramatta (also known as the Erysipelas Hospital), for the year 1883.

Disease.	No. of Deaths.
Apoplexy .....	2
Alcoholism .....	1
Bronchitis .....	12
Cancer .....	6
Cardiac disease .....	4
Debility .....	4
Delirium tremens .....	1
Disease of liver .....	1
Diarrhœa .....	6
Dropsy .....	3
Effusion on brain .....	2
Epilepsy .....	1
Gangrene of leg .....	1
Gangrene of lung .....	1
Injury to spinal cord .....	1
Mitral disease .....	1
Nephritis .....	1
Paralysis .....	4
Phthisis .....	6
Rheumatism .....	2
Rupture of blood-vessel .....	1
Rupture of abscess of right lung .....	1
Senile decay .....	13
Scrofula .....	1
Typhoid fever .....	1
Ulceration of bladder .....	1
Total .....	78

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PUBLIC CHARITIES.

(REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 30 Vic. No. 19, sec. 4.

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Preliminary and general remarks in letter to the Colonial Secretary .....	1-7
Part 1.—Reports on Charitable Institutions within the Department of the Colonial Secretary, viz. :—
The Government Asylums for Infirm and Destitute .....	7, 8
Hospitals—
The Sydney Hospital ... ..	9
The Prince Alfred Hospital .. ..	11
The Sick Children's Hospital, Glebe .. ..	13
Country Hospitals .. ..	14-22
The State Children's Relief Board .. ..	23, 24
Destitute Children's Asylum, Randwick .. ..	24
The Benevolent Society's Asylum .. ..	27-29
The Infants' Home, Ashfield .. ..	29, 30
The Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind .. ..	30-32
The Industrial Institution for the Blind .. ..	33, 34
Part 2.—Reports on Charitable and Subsidized Institutions within the Department of the Minister of Public Instruction, viz. :—
The Nautical School Ship "Vernon" .. ..	36
The Female Industrial School, Biloela .. ..	37
The Protestant Orphan School, Parramatta... ..	38
The Roman Catholic Orphan School, Parramatta .. ..	39
Literary Institutes—
The Sydney Mechanics' Institute and the Technical College .. ..	40-42
Seventy-four Country Mechanics' Institutes and Schools of Art .. ..	43-55

The Inspector of Public Charities to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

20 May, 1883.

In accordance with Act, 30 Victoria No. 19, I have the honor to lay before you my seventh Annual Report on the Public Charities of the Colony which come within my inspection.

The total expenditure on the above institutions from the public revenue, during the year 1882, amounted to £153,003 12s. 10d., and may be divided as follows :—

	£	s.	d.
In the Department of the Colonial Secretary—
For maintenance cost, wholly borne by the Government .. ..	45,420	8	8
" subsidies, at rate of £2 to £1 on subscriptions... ..	4,000	0	0
"                   "           "           "           " .. ..	22,242	5	4
" buildings (unconditional grants) .. ..	51,450	0	0
"           " (conditional, £1 to £1 on subscriptions) .. ..	3,447	7	9
Extraneous expenses { Inspector's salary and travelling expenses... ..	588	5	2
{ For burials, pauper removals, &c. ... ..	1,209	19	4
	1,798	4	6
In the Department of the Minister of Public Instruction—
For maintenance cost (Orphan and Industrial Schools) wholly borne by Govern- ment .. ..	15,237	19	5
Technical Education (unconditional part of £10,000 vote) .. ..	3,105	3	5
Educational (conditional, £1 to £2 subscribed) .. ..	4,200	3	1
Buildings (conditional, £1 to £2 subscribed) ... ..	2,102	0	8
	£153,003	12	10

The above expenditure may be classed under three principal headings, viz. :—1. Pauper maintenance ; 2. Hospital extension and improvement ; and 3. Educational purposes.

As regards the first, I have in former reports pointed to large defects in its manner of application, and suggested the advisability of a more vigilant control.

In connection with one of the most important of my suggestions, the Government responded by establishing the State Children's Relief Board, whereby a large number of children will annually, it is hoped, be removed from all pauper surroundings and associations, and gain for themselves friends moving in a grade superior as regards character and industry to that to which their parents belonged.

Further means are, however, necessary to reduce the sources of supply whence these children and paupers generally have come, and to remove as far as may be a recurrence of circumstances such as furnished the grounds for their becoming chargeable on the State.

So long as the Act for the prevention of wife and child desertion is inoperative in its penal clauses, and Asylum doors can be so easily opened, so long will this offence (often with collusion) be practised against the State.

The English Fugitive Offenders Act (capable of extension) includes within it remedies for the evil.

Its general adoption throughout the Australasian Colonies could not fail in at once producing marked effect by bringing offenders within the reach of the law, notwithstanding the fact of their removal beyond the borders of the particular Colony in which their offence had been committed.

Adaptations also of the South Australian Act, so far as relates to compelling relatives within certain near degrees of affinity to contribute, when judged to be in a condition to do so, towards the cost of maintaining husbands, wives, parents, or children in our Asylums, might be introduced with advantage.

It is often expedient on social as well as pecuniary grounds to place relatives in Asylums ; this need not, however, be done at the public cost, or merely in order to relieve persons of their family responsibilities for convenience only.

The second principal item of expenditure on Government Charities is on account of extension and improvement of our Hospitals.

The very superior accommodation, appliances, and professional skill they offer (generally free, or at nominal cost to the patient) induces a preference for hospital over home treatment among our operative classes, even when possessing comfortable family surroundings.

To restrain such desire within legitimate bounds and prevent a great public convenience and advantage from degenerating into an evil will require careful watching.

To this end recommendations for admission might be given with less lavish hand, while accident and emergency cases could be left to the Hospital authorities to deal with.

It has always appeared to me the vote for pauper maintenance in the Sydney Hospital has been in large measure improperly used.

The wording of the vote is distinct, yet a considerable proportion of persons who avail themselves of it altogether repudiate the term pauper as applicable to themselves.

Such people might be encouraged to make direct applications, paying by arrangement a quota of their cost according to their circumstances, without at all coming on the Government, while the Hospitals would find their resources in the £1 to £1 contribution of the Government, the increased payments by patients, and from public subscriptions.

The advantage of such practice is that the element of self-support would grow, and yet not interfere with the usefulness of these Institutions.

The success of such a plan is already apparent in the comparatively large amount paid into the country hospitals by contributing patients, although my suggestions to their Committees to this end have as yet been only partially adopted.

Its necessity in regard to the Metropolitan Hospitals is evident from the fact, that notwithstanding a large number of the pauper class chronic cases are provided for in the hospitals of the Government Asylums, the amount paid to the Sydney Hospital from the pauper vote for 1882 amounted in 1882 to £8,806 12s. 6d. in addition to the £3,500 paid as subsidy £1 to £1 on its subscriptions.

On the other hand, the receipts from contributing patients was only £731 1s. 6d.

The expenditure under the third principal heading will be alluded to in the second part of my Report which treats of the Institutions within the Department of the Minister for Public Instruction.

The Government Asylums for Infirm and Destitute.

These Asylums continued to exhibit evidences of active and judicious management, with strict attention to economy.

The large Hospitals within them have already received favourable mention in my reports as forming very valuable aids to our Metropolitan General Hospitals, by relieving them of tedious and convalescent as well as chronic cases.

The details and statistics of the year are given in extenso in separate report, page 7, and show that there was a slight increase both in the numbers of admissions and maintenance cost per head.

The Hyde Park Asylum for females continued to be dangerously overcrowded throughout the whole year ; also the nuisance complained of by the inmates of the Liverpool Asylum from the disgusting state of the river during many months remained a menace to the health of all within its influence.

Every effort is being made to remedy the first of these evils, and I beg to urge the immediate adoption of action by the Government to remove the second.

HOSPITALS.

A general activity was apparent last year both in the country districts and in Sydney, in matters pertaining to the extension and improvement of our Hospitals.

The instructions recently issued that all proposed plans and sites for new Hospitals should be submitted to the Inspector for report previous to adoption cannot fail in securing good results.

Country Hospitals.

Several new Hospitals were either begun or opened last year, as at Gunnedah, Cobar, Cowra, Kempsey, Vegetable Creek, Brewarrina, and Hillston.

There seems a genuine intention on the part of the Committees of our country Hospitals to improve their administration, and bring them into accord with modern ideas and approved methods.

Trained

Trained nurses are more generally employed, and always find favour by the results which follow on their introduction.

Care will have to be taken when applications are considered for new Hospitals, lest some of them be unnecessarily near to each other. A Victorian Board of Inquiry reported that a distance of 50 miles (where the access was not exceptionally difficult) should separate these institutions, or they would be liable to interfere with one another.

Details of income, expenditure, diseases treated, and working are given, pages 14 to 22.

The Sydney Hospital

Continued to work under great pressure and many disadvantages even to the close of the year.

The opening of the Prince Alfred Hospital has produced little appreciable effect in reducing the number of applications for admission into the older institution,—a fact tending to prove that there is scarcely any limit to which free hospital accommodation will be availed of without scruple.

The new buildings in course of erection have progressed without interruption. The second contract, bringing the walls to the floor level of the second story, is now far advanced.

The expenditure to 31 December, 1882, on these buildings, had amounted to £42,212 10s. 5d., of which £25,000 had been provided by Parliamentary votes.

Full details of the working of this Institution are contained in separate report, page 9.

The Prince Alfred Hospital.

The principal event of the year in connection with our Hospitals was the opening of this Institution, on the 25th September, 1882, since which date it has become very active as regards the number of its admissions, and gained much public favour from the superb accommodation it offers, and the attention and skill of its medical and nursing staffs.

The Directors promise that several branch wards will be ready for occupation during the present year.

Statistics of the operations and expenditure on this Hospital, to 31 December, 1882, will be found on page 11.

After finishing those parts of the Hospital still in course of construction, it is estimated a further outlay of £60,000 to £80,000 will be required to complete the entire plan.

The Sick Children's Hospital, Glebe.

This Institution is acquiring a recognized and important position. Last year it was much more largely availed of than at any corresponding period since its opening.

The administration appears effective and economical, and the relief offered is of most excellent quality.

Separate report as to admissions, expenditure, and medical report are given on page 13.

The State Children's Relief Board.

In the opening remarks of my Report are suggestions for supplying remedies to certain of the evils alluded to in the President's Report for 1882.

Nearly all his recommendations have my cordial support; but bearing in mind that the "boarding-out" system is still on its trial here, and is looked upon with suspicion by the advocates of the "barrack system," I think the time has not arrived to extend the powers conferred by the present Act, or give the Board as at present constituted a wider control than that over its own children.

It might, however, safely be entrusted with power to remove, take into its care, and place in a home any State child, wheresoever previously that child for the convenience of the Government may have been placed.

The Board's action in dealing with State children has to the present time been most successful and economical. It has disclosed a fact scarcely before contemplated, namely, that while, excepting for the infirm or the viciously inclined, institutions or schools for girls will not be much longer required, a certain reluctance is shown to receive any but young boys into homes, probably because they entail greater care and responsibility on foster-parents, and when arrived at a wage-earning age are apt to leave their homes. For youths therefore a school life will still, I fear, have to be provided by the State.

As regards the industrial training on State farms, referred to in the President's Report, I cannot see that any action is necessary. The great demand for labour allows every boy to become self-supporting as soon as he is able to work, and we know the attempt failed at the Randwick Asylum.

The Destitute Children's Asylum, Randwick.

Separate report on this Institution, page 24, shows the number of admissions, maintenance cost per head, and the Society's operations generally during the year 1882.

Excepting in respect of the objection taken by their President (an objection repeatedly pointed out by me) as to the small number of the Society's direct admissions, the administration and its results have been satisfactory.

The cost of the Institution during the past two years has been reduced, while at the same time the condition of the children in the Asylum has materially improved.

Out of an average for the year of 622 children no death took place, there was much less ophthalmia, less general sickness, and altogether a healthier and brighter appearance among the children.

At the Society's last annual meeting the President drew attention to the fact that the Board had not for a considerable time been fulfilling the promises of their founders to the public, that they had improperly restricted direct admissions, and that such a policy alienated the public confidence. He adverted to the probable effects of the new system (the boarding-out) in Institutions like that of Randwick, and in the public interest, recommended hearty co-operation with the State Children's Relief Board as the best means of serving the Government.

The Benevolent Society.

This Society has been very fully occupied, and from inadequate accommodation experienced considerable difficulty in meeting the calls made upon it.

The children's wards especially were very overcrowded.

Owing to good and active supervision their general health was fairly maintained, but the surroundings are most objectionable and more frequent removals from the Asylum is most advisable.

The Institution acts as a receiving-house to the lowest stratum of our society. There is an especial liability therefore for the admission at frequent short intervals of all manner of infectious and contagious diseases. I do not hesitate to say that hitherto the Randwick Society has not done all that might reasonably be expected from it in relieving the Benevolent Asylum, more especially since the erection (largely at the Government cost) of its new receiving-house.

The cases in the Lying-in Hospital (within the Asylum) were more than usually successful. Not a single death took place in 237 accouchements last year.

In the Out-door Relief Department a more liberal scale of distribution was adopted, entailing a correspondingly heavier outlay.

The fact that this department is the only one on which the Benevolent Society expends its own funds, offers some guarantee that vigilant inquiry in guarding against imposition will be made, at the same time all out-door relief lies especially open to abuse, and is actively pauperizing in its tendencies.

Consequent on the representations made to the Government, the Society have recently erected a second isolating or infected ward, thus affording the means of separating adults from children.

A determination of the question more than once submitted during the past two years by the Board to the Colonial Secretary, as to whether he would approve of the erection of a new and more commodious Asylum on the present site, or whether Government would prefer that the Society relinquished it, as being likely to be required for future railway extension or public purpose, and build elsewhere, is still anxiously waited for.

There are several objections to the former of these alternatives, but a decision is much needed, the present buildings being very unequal to requirements. Moreover, delay will largely increase both the difficulty and the cost of obtaining a new suitable site for the Institution.

In making terms with the Benevolent Society I would desire to point out that the Society has a reserve fund of £34,000, three-fourths of which it owes to the Government, and that the whole of the Society's outlay for maintenance in the Asylum and one-half of the disbursements on out-door relief have been furnished from the Public Treasury.

Particulars of the operations of this Institution are given with separate report, on page 27.

Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind (Children), and Industrial Blind Institution (Adults).

I have grouped these entirely separate Societies together because, although each is reported on separate pages, the following remarks have reference to them collectively.

Both Societies are desirous of making extensions—(the Newtown Society with a view to the introduction of industrial training,) entailing the erection of new workshops, &c.—and, as generally happens under similar circumstances, are likely to call on the Government for assistance.

It may be useful, in arriving at any determination on this point, to reconsider the letter of Sir Hercules Robinson, written to Sir Alfred Stephen, as representing the Trustees of the late Mr. Wood, and to ascertain if joint action could not be arrived at whereby needless expense may be avoided, the objects of both Societies secured, and the public sympathy for the blind kept in one channel instead of being weakened by division. Copy of Sir Hercules' letter is appended.

In the letter referred to, dated 15th January, 1876, addressed to Sir Alfred Stephen, Sir Hercules Robinson wrote as follows:—

I have been thinking over your note about Mr. Wood's legacy, and making some inquiry as to the number and circumstances of the blind in Sydney and its neighbourhood, and I will now give you, for what they may be worth, my ideas upon the scheme which you have laid before me. The blind may be divided, I think, with reference to your proposal into four classes.

1. Those who have some means of their own, or whose relatives are able to support them: These not being indigent would perhaps not be eligible for your institution; and if they were eligible, they probably would be, as they certainly ought to be, unwilling to be the recipients of public charity.

2. Blind beggars: This is an agreeable and lucrative trade; and this class would be most unlikely to abandon their calling to learn an industry which at best would yield but a bare pittance.

3. Adult paupers, now inmates of one or other of the Government asylums: I give the particulars of this class in a separate paper marked A. It will be seen that, out of a total of 102, 90 are over 40 years of age, and 76 are over 50 years of age. I am told that if you eliminate from this 102 the aged, the infirm, and those physically or mentally incapable of exerting themselves, there would scarcely be half-a-dozen left capable of learning a new industry, and earning a livelihood, even if they were willing to make the attempt, which is more than doubtful.

And 4, blind children—a class now being educated and cared for in the well-managed institution for the deaf and dumb and the blind on the Newtown-road: It is, I believe, with this class—the young—alone that any considerable amount of real good can be done in the direction you desire. And it so happens that the weak point in the existing Blind Institution is that whilst it educates the children, and trains them in household work, it has been unable, from want of workshops, to teach them a trade. They have accordingly, as they grow up to be sent out as apprentices, instead of being able, when they leave the institution, to set up in some business on their own account. Now, if you draw your inmates from class 3, I venture to think you will be simply establishing a blind pauper asylum, dependent for its daily support upon public charity, and doing expensively what is now being economically done by the Government. The inmates of the Government asylums are maintained, at the expense of the taxpayers generally, at a cost of about £13 a head. Your twelve inmates in a separate establishment would each cost three times that sum. Blind paupers are a legitimate charge upon the general revenue, and I think it would be a grave mistake, apart altogether from the extravagance of the arrangement, to relieve the taxpayers generally of this charge, and to transfer it to the charitably-disposed of Sydney—a small body already too largely imposed on. If any of this blind pauper class are really able and willing to work—which I much doubt—why should they not do so in the Government asylums at Liverpool and Parramatta, as well as in your proposed institute in William-street? If you draw your inmates from class 4 you simply establish an institution in competition and rivalry with one already in existence, which is well managed, and which only requires additional funds to enable it to extend the sphere of its operations and of its usefulness. Having all its administrative machinery complete, it is obvious that additional funds subscribed to the existing institution would go much further in aid of the actual sufferers in this class than if subscribed to a separate institution, which would have to maintain a second and a needless staff. I dismiss as impracticable the idea of your drawing your inmates from both classes 3 and 4, and any one cognizant of the peculiar proclivities of the blind will appreciate appreciate the necessity of preventing association between the young and the adults; and the funds at your disposal would be quite inadequate to provide a building suitable for separate and distinct establishments. Bearing in mind then the want in the existing blind institution, and the view, which I believe to be correct, that it is with the young alone that any real good can be effected, I would venture to offer the following suggestions:—

1. That upon the ground of the existing Deaf and Dumb and Blind Institution a building be erected in a separate enclosure to be called "The Wood's Industrial Institute for the Blind."
2. That it contain, as proposed, beds for twelve adult inmates, and separate workshops for adults and children.
3. That the workshops for adults be sufficiently large to accommodate, as well as the twelve inmates, outdoor adult pupils if any should desire to attend and learn a trade.
4. That the workshops for the young should be so arranged as to prevent any association between the young and the adults—a point, as I conceive, of serious importance.
5. That the two institutions be separated by a high wall and a locked gate, and the children from the Deaf and Dumb and Blind Institution be under the eye of their Superintendent whilst engaged daily in their industrial studies.

The two institutions might at the same time be under the same general management and control, and the new institute carried on without imposing on the public any considerable additional charge for administrative machinery. For myself, I do not believe in the success of the adult part of the scheme. If, however, I should be wrong in this view, you must bear in mind that anything you propose to do at the corner of William-street could be done better and far cheaper at Newtown-road; whilst you would at the same time be supplying a great want in the existing blind institution. And should the adult part of the proposal fail, you will then be able to fall back upon the industrial education of the young, and concentrate your efforts in that direction. If some such plan as this is not agreeable to the trustees, or considered legal under the will, and the only alternative is a separate institution for the "indigent" adult blind as proposed at the corner of William-street, I should certainly for my own part, for the reason which I have given, think it better that the legacy should lapse than that the public should be saddled with such a "white elephant."

The Infants' Home, Ashfield.

The ladies who conduct this Charity seem zealous in their duties, and accomplish very fair results. The children are well cared for. Such of the elder boys as are fit attend the Public School. Eight children were removed last year and placed in charge of foster-parents by the State Children's Relief Board.

Statistics of last year's operations are given in detail, page 29.

The remarks which follow have reference to the Institutions within the Department of the Minister of Public Instruction, and are comprised within the second part of this Report.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS, 1882.

Nautical School Ship "Vernon," and Female Industrial School, Biloela.

The daily average number of youths and boys on the "Vernon" last year was 186.

The daily average number of girls and little boys at Biloela—102 girls; 18 boys under seven years of age, awaiting transfer to the "Vernon."

The success of the "Vernon" during the past three or four years has been very marked as a means for disciplining and directing into wholesome channels the superabundant activity and previously misapplied intelligence of neglected boys.

The School Ship is, however, getting filled up, and in event of the committals increasing in number, as is most probable, further accommodation will be required.

English authorities maintain that no boy under twelve years should be placed on a training-ship, but the life on board appears specially adapted to control and reclaim the "larrikin" of this Colony.

Perhaps relief might be obtained by transferring the senior youths (who merit such promotion by steady conduct and smartness) to the "Wolverene."

Between the years 1877 and 1882 the cost per head on the "Vernon" has been reduced from £36 15s. to £25 13s. 1d. The amounts received from parents has largely increased, and last year realized £231 14s. 2d.

A larger proportion of the boys now adopt a seafaring life than used to be the case. For details, see page 36.

The Female Industrial School, Biloela.

The health of the children throughout last year was excellent.

The Matron reports favorably as to their conduct during the year, but the large number of apprentices yearly returned to the Institution betrays the fact that there is a weak point in the system carried on at this Institution; and in the hope that I may direct attention to it, I offer the following remarks.

The girls at Biloela are drawn from two sources—those who come under the care of the State on account of the crimes or vicious lives of parents; and those who have themselves matriculated in vice, or have associated with bad characters. In the former case the children are generally young when they reach the Schools; in the latter, often of ages approaching womanhood.

Most of the first class, but for the danger of interference on the part of parents, might be boarded out, being simply "neglected children," but the last have many evil experiences, and possibly bad habits, which require constraint for their eradication.

To permit association between these two varieties of minds must contaminate the younger and more impressible. I therefore would advocate an entire separation between them. At present the senior and junior divisions work apart, but during leisure hours they come into contact, and a girl brought up for years in the School, and of herself knowing nothing of a life outside it, is associated with those whose teachings and influences can only be corrupting to her.

I do not think that the apprentices are blamable in every instance when sent back to the School; often the fault may lie as much with the employer who is deficient in tact and self-control, but the fact remains, there are too many cases of failure, and effort is required to search out and remove the cause.

Separate details and statistics are given of the Industrial School on page 37.

THE ORPHAN SCHOOLS.

*The Protestant Orphan Schools.**

Considerable numbers of children were withdrawn, especially from the girls' division, by the Boarding-out Officer last year; and the admissions not having increased to corresponding extent, there has been a reduction in the total number of children in this establishment, causing an increase in the cost of maintenance per head.

The health of the children remained good, and the management active and very satisfactory.

*The Roman Catholic Orphan School.**

Large reductions have been made in the numbers at this Institution also, but not from precisely the same causes.

A few children were removed to private homes by the State Children's Relief Board; which liability becoming known, a yet larger number were taken away from the Institution by their friends, showing incontestably that there had been no necessity for their previous admission.

I have already alluded to the small proportion of children apprenticed from this Orphanage, as compared relatively with that from the Protestant Orphan Schools, or with the numbers returned to friends. I believe the apprenticing test should be generally enforced in cases where payments have not been made towards maintenance cost of the child while in the School, the Minister retaining power to make very special exemptions.

The internal management of the Roman Catholic Orphanage continues excellent; the Inspector's Report (Department of Public Instruction) on educational progress for the year is the best given to any of the Juvenile Charitable Institutions; and the health of the children was so good as to leave little to be desired.

The reduction of numbers caused unavoidably a small rise in the pro rata maintenance cost as compared with that in former years.

SCHOOLS OF ART, LITERARY INSTITUTES, AND TECHNICAL COLLEGES.

SUMMARIZED Statement of the position of Schools of Art, Literary Institutes, &c., which have furnished Returns to the Inspector for the year 1882, showing their cash assets, liabilities, revenues from private sources, and the subsidies they received from the public funds.

	£	s.	d.
Credit balances, 31st December, 1882 ... ..	2,759	7	2
Overdraft and loans ... ..	16,486	12	11
Membership subscriptions ... ..	7,613	19	11
Receipts from hire of halls for entertainments ... ..	3,530	4	6
Rentals derived from shops and offices attached to Schools of Art buildings ... ..	1,906	16	6
Interest on invested funds ... ..	359	15	2
Parliamentary votes towards buildings ... ..	1,484	5	5
Amount annual subsidies—£1 to £2 on members' subscriptions	3,886	10	6
Special subsidy to the Technical College, Sydney ... ..	2,272	5	0

The differences between the last amount and the statement on page 1 of this letter represents the moneys unaccounted for by the absence of returns.

A generally expressed desire that opportunities for the attainment of scientific and technical education be brought within reach of the general community caused Parliament in 1881 to vote (in addition to the usual subsidies, £1 to £2 on behalf of Schools of Art) a sum of £10,000 for promoting technical education.

Of this amount but £3,105 was able to be claimed on terms which the Minister deemed sufficient, the Sydney Technical College receiving £2,272.

The Schools of Art, &c., received for educational purposes £4,200 and for buildings £2,100. Of these two amounts, the returns herewith furnish particulars to extent only of £3,886 10s. 8d., subsidies on subscriptions, and £1,484 5s. 5d. in building account, the difference in each case representing payment from Institutions which have not sent returns to the Inspector.

In my former reports I have endeavoured to point out to the Minister the unsatisfactory conditions of these Institutions. While payments considerable in the aggregate are annually made to them, they are required to furnish no evidence that the State money is being applied to really educational purposes.

That they are useful in a certain sense and meet a requirement I do not wish to ignore, but as educational means they have hitherto generally failed in their promise.

How best to bring them into harmony with the original intentions of the founders of Schools of Art, and at the same time retain for them the interest of the community, so as to be to some extent self-supporting, is a subject worthy the attention of the Minister.

They nearly all comprise a hall used for entertainments, a reading-room, where newspapers and ephemeral literature is perused, and a library; the latter, though generally containing many well-selected works of reference and instruction, yet for the most part consist of current modern fiction. Lectures have been given, and in some few cases classes have been conducted and sustained in them, but as a rule the Committees have been baffled either by want of means or power in awakening the public interest. They confess that while disunited they see little hope of improvement, and ask not only for aid but guidance and direction which shall introduce homogeneous action among themselves.

The reform must come from a power outside; and to this end, in my report for last year I made certain suggestions, which I beg to be allowed again to offer. I would recommend the nomination of a Board of Advice, who would submit a plan to the Minister for the future working of all our Schools of Art and Technical Colleges. The Science Chairs at the University, the Technical College, and the Scientific Departments of the Government might each be represented on such Board, together with any gentlemen who in the opinion of the Minister may appear specially qualified to advise on such matters.

Before

* For report, see pages 38 and 39.

Before concluding this letter I desire to direct attention to two subjects not yet touched upon:—

1st. The question of encouragement to insurance as a means of providing a motive for thrift among the masses of our population, with a view in time to lessening the overgrown bulk of our Public Charities.

I do not advocate the formation of a State Insurance Office, but simply that Government might insist on all its employes insuring their lives, and periodically furnishing proof that their policies were being properly kept up.

The habit of self-restraint and prevision once called into activity would probably grow from motives of self-interest. Other large employers would be led to follow the Government example, and after a time the custom would become general.

2nd. I have before alluded to the difficulties and delays I yearly experience in obtaining the materials for my annual reports.

The very large sums of public money expended on the Public Charities, &c., proves the necessity of more full and earlier information being rendered to the Legislature.

In a large majority of instances the subsidies are paid over to Committees holding honorary appointments, annually chosen, and but partially acquainted with the requirements of the Inspector.

Ignorant of the purpose to which the information asked for is to be applied, they are reluctant to furnish it, lest it subject their management to unfavourable criticism; consequently my reports are not only much delayed but they are often incomplete.

But one way of overcoming this vis inertiae occurs to me, viz., that of making the certificate of the Inspector that satisfactory returns (in accordance with the approved Government printed forms) have been rendered to him, not later than the third week in January each year for the year previous), a condition of the payment of any subsidy by the Government, and notifying to above effect.

Such plan would not interfere with local freedom of action in management, while it would leave with the Committees themselves the responsibilities on non-compliance and the consequences of neglect.

I have, &c.,

HUGH ROBISON,
Inspector, Public Charities.

THE GOVERNMENT ASYLUMS FOR INFIRM AND DESTITUTE.

THESE Institutions continued in all matters connected with their general management, economy of administration, and active supervision, to be maintained in a highly creditable state of efficiency.

Owing to the increased rates at which their supplies, especially of meat, were furnished during the year 1882, the cost of maintenance was more than usual.

The expenditure on repairs and improvements to buildings, on the other hand, was much less than it has been for some time past.

The total admissions (2,857) were slightly in excess of those in 1881 (2,704). The number of deaths, 506, against 385 in 1881, contrasts unfavourably for last year.

Notwithstanding, however, this large increase, the general health of the inmates was fairly good.

The following details and statistics serve to show the working of the different Asylums:—

The Females' Asylum, Hyde Park.

This place remained during the whole year in a most dangerously overcrowded state, obliging the manager frequently to refuse admissions to most eligible and necessitous applicants.

The management under such disadvantageous circumstances was carried on with much anxiety and many difficulties; and, that the bad results almost inevitably consequent on such overcrowding did not follow, may be reasonably attributed to the great attention paid to the general and personal cleanliness of the inmates and to good ventilation.

As has often happened before, the drains and closets of the Institution were not seldom out of order, occasioning much annoyance. The want of sufficient fall being the origin of the trouble, I would recommend a trial of the earth system as a possible remedy, pending the removal of the Asylum to another site.

Altogether the Asylum for Destitute and Infirm Females, in its present state, is far from being an Institution creditable to the Colony.

The Liverpool Asylum.

The high character gained by this establishment in past years, both from the superior character of the accommodation and general excellence of its administration, was well sustained during the year 1882.

Its hospital, both as treating large numbers of chronic cases and also in supplementing the work of the Metropolitan Hospitals, was able to render valuable aid in relieving the above Institutions.

The phthisis ward has for some time become a distinctive feature of the Asylum and a source of the greatest comfort to many unfortunate young men who, but for the kindly alleviations it offers, would find their last days and sad lot still harder to bear.

Till the late rains much inconvenience continued to be felt from the polluted state of the river fronting the Asylum, the stench in certain conditions of wind or weather being almost intolerable. I have already reported very urgently on this subject, which affects the general public as well as the inmates of the Asylum.

The George-street Asylum, Parramatta.

But for one circumstance the management of this Asylum is very satisfactory—its cost always exceeds that of the other Government Asylums, and should be explained or remedied. In the item of clothing the difference is especially observable.

From the fact, however, that notwithstanding the higher contract rates in 1882, a small reduction was effected is a hopeful sign.

The

The garden, formerly only leased, has been purchased, and secures a valuable adjunct to the Asylum. Also, within the present year was secured on favourable terms the large mill on the opposite side of the road, thus acquiring ample accommodation for future increase of numbers without entailing material addition to the supervising staff.

The Macquarie-street Asylum and Erysipelas Hospital.

In my previous reports I expressed a suspicion that the purposes and work of this Institution are of too complex a character, and questioned the propriety of transmitting erysipelas, scarlet fever, and measles from Sydney into Parramatta.

It is true great opportunities for isolating the diseases are offered by the character of the buildings and the accommodation at command at this institution, but already the inhabitants of Parramatta express disapproval of the continuance of the usage; and, as suitable buildings exist there, I venture to suggest that in future all cases of scarlet fever or measles be removed from Sydney to Little Bay, and that only such cases be treated in the Macquarie-street Asylum Hospitals as are found in Parramatta itself or its immediate neighbourhood.

Of the success of the treatment and the excellence of the administration in the Asylum I cannot speak too highly.

Of 63 cases of erysipelas, only one resulted fatally, and the general death rate is the lightest in any of the Government Asylums. The character of some of the cases under treatment shows the important work effected by this Institution.

Statistics of numbers and analysis of cost of maintenance is added in tabulated form, so that inter-comparison between the Institutions can be made.

Statistics, Government Asylums for Infirm and Destitute, 1882:—

	Hyde Park.		Liverpool.		George-st., Parramatta.	Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-st. Asylum.
	Females.	Males.	Males.	Males.	Males.	Females.
In House, 31st December, 1881 ...	277	724		237	324	5
"    "    1882 ...	284	733		219	339	1
Daily average numbers throughout year	284	727		251	350	...
Average of ages of inmates ...	63.4	66.15		64.41	62.73	...
Percentage of deaths ...	26.40	37.27		25.09	27.71	...
Admitted, 1st January to 31st December	333	1,093		487	917	27
Discharged ...	251	813		442	807	28
Died ...	75	271		63	94	3

Analysis of numbers and cost of Maintenance:—

Exclusive of cost of repairs and improvements by Department of Colonial Architect:—

		£	s.	d.
Hyde Park (females) Asylum ...	284	14	3	3½
Liverpool (males) " ...	727	14	7	10¾
George-street Asylum, Parramatta ...	251	15	13	6½
Macquarie-street Asylum, and Erysipelas Hospital, Parramatta. Gross cost ...	350	16	17	0¼
Total expenditure for maintenance ...	£24,322 3s. 7d., or £15 2s. per head.
Corresponding expenditure in 1881 ...	£21,033 5s. 11d., or £12 19s. 4½d. ,,

Analysis of Expenditure:—

Items per head.	Hyde Park.		Liverpool.		George-street, Parramatta.		Macquarie-st. Asylum and Erysipelas Hospital.
	£	s. d.	£	s. d.	£	s. d.	£	s. d.
Food and medical comforts ...	7	6 1¼	7	6 4¼	7	18 7	8	11 3
Clothing and boots ...	2	5 1¼	1	15 9¼	2	1 0¼	2	6 2¼
Salaries... ..	2	8 4¼	2	11 3¼	2	10 1½	2	11 8
Contingencies ...	2	3 8½	2	14 6	3	3 9¾	3	7 11
Average net cost for maintenance ...	14	3 3¼	14	7 10¾	15	13 6½	16	17 0¼
Add for medical attendance paid for out of medical vote (£350); £150 for Hyde Park; £200 for George- street, Parramatta ...	0	10 6¾	Included in Salaries.		0	15 11	Included in Salaries.

Also add expenditure by Colonial Architect, under his vote totals:—

Ordinary repairs ...	325	4	4	37	4	11	7	13	6
Furniture ...				28	0	8	14	1	5
Total ...	325	4	4	65	5	7	21	14	11
Per head ...	0	1	10¾	0	1	9½	0	1	9
Gross cost per head ...	14	15	8¾	14	9	8½	16	11	2½

THE SYDNEY HOSPITAL.

It might reasonably have been assumed when the Prince Alfred Hospital was opened that a sensible effect would be felt at the Sydney Hospital, and the too great demands for some time past made upon it would be diminished.

The experiences of last year did not realize such anticipations; for not only has every bed in the Macquarie-street Institution been kept occupied, but the actual numbers admitted during 1882 exceeded those for 1881 by 168.

To provide accommodation for the increasing number of applications, the Hospital Committee arranged to remove all the eye cases to a Branch Institution at Moore Cliff—where they are now treated separately—and to devote the space gained in the Hospital to general cases.

Further, by the permission of Government, convalescent typhoid fever cases have been sent to the Sanatorium at Little Bay, where is stationed a medical officer and nursing staff.

The latter form of diseases has been very prevalent for some time within the city and surrounding districts. No fewer than 172 cases were treated in 1882 at the Sydney Hospital alone.

The works in progress for the new permanent buildings progressed continuously throughout last year.

The second contract, which is already well advanced, will carry the walls to the height of the first story. The expenditure to 31st December last was £42,212 10s. 5d., of which amount £25,000 had been paid by Parliamentary vote.

As regards minor improvements, the most important was the demolition of the wooden mortuary, and the temporary occupation of the steam laundry as a mortuary and post mortem examination room.

Another improvement is the placing the fire prevention apparatus under the inspection of the Fire Brigade, and a purpose (not carried into effect at end of the year) to connect the Brigade Office with the Hospitals by telephone.

It will be remembered that complaints of discourtesy and reluctance to attend casualty cases and cases brought for admission or examination by the police—especially at late hours—were made against some of the officials and attendants.

The Hospital Board were making inquiry into the fact, but stayed proceedings on the Colonial Secretary appointing a Commission for the same purpose.

The report furnished to the Government does not come within the history of the year (1882) under review; but anticipating somewhat, it may briefly be stated that though some grounds for dissatisfaction at the irritable manner of a few of the Hospital officials might exist, yet that the allegations in the main were exaggerations and scarcely worthy of notice. On the other hand, it was unmistakably shown that the gate surgeon was often unnecessarily disturbed at night, and the interests of the patients in the wards suffered by the intrusions at late hours of noisy persons; by the enforced absence of the resident staff, who were liable to be called away to Police or other Courts to give evidence, to the neglect of their regular duties.

It is likely that these evils, brought into prominence, will be remedied in the future, the Colonial Secretary having invited the Board to give effect to the suggestions of the Commission.

An increase is apparent in the payments by patients towards the cost of their maintenance, and is encouraging as showing what may further be done in the same direction.

Receipts from Patients.

	£	s.	d.
From the Mercantile Marine ... ..	239	13	6
"    Sailors H.M. Navy ... ..	52	6	3
Special subscriptions ... ..	731	1	6
	£1,023	1	3

The nursing staff kept up its character for efficiency, and met all calls made upon it. Its duties, consequent on the large number of fever cases, were specially heavy.

Matrons for the Hospitals at Armidale and Forbes were provided, also head nurses for the Hospitals attached to the Randwick Asylum and the Protestant Orphan School.

General Statistics.

Admissions—January to December,—	1882.	1881.
Medical cases ... ..	1,341	1,458	} 2,726.
Surgical " ... ..	1,553	1,268
The largest number of admissions—November ...	258	December ...	265.
The smallest " " June ... ..	222	February ...	176.
		1882.	1881.
The number of accidents and urgent cases attended to but not admitted into the wards ... ..		2,945	2,553
Ophthalmic branch (indoor) ... ..		131	...
Do. (out-patients) ... ..		476	384
Deaths in wards ... ..		381	379
Of whom 112 died within forty-eight hours of admission.
Number of patients in Hospital, 31st December ... ..		208	188
Do. cases treated by District Surgeons in connection with
Dispensary ... ..		8,431	7,640
Of whom were visited at own homes ... ..		880	894

RETURN of the number of persons under treatment, the order of disease for which they were treated, and the number of deaths in each order, during the year 1882.

Disease.	Number of Patients.	Number of Deaths.
CLASS I.—ZYMOTIC DISEASES.
Order 1.—Miasmatic Diseases ( measles, scarlatina, diphtheria, dysentery, fevers, &amp;c. ) .....	215	40
Order 2.—Euthetic Diseases ( syphilis, hydrophobia, glanders, &amp;c. ) .....	70	.....
Order 3.—Dietic Diseases ( privation, want of breast milk, scurvy, alcoholism, &amp;c. ) .....	150	19
Order 4.—Parasitic Diseases ( thrush, worms, hydatid, &amp;c. ) .....	2	.....
Total Class I .....	437	59
CLASS II.—CONSTITUTIONAL DISEASES.
Order 1.—Diathetic Diseases ( gout, dropsy, cancer, tumour, mortification, &amp;c. ) .....	220	16
Order 2.—Tubercular Diseases ( scrofula, tabes, phthisis, hydrocephalus, &amp;c. ) .....	83	62
Total Class II .....	303	78
CLASS III.—LOCAL DISEASES.
Order 1.—Diseases of the Nervous System ( cephalitis, paralysis, epilepsy, ophthalmia, &amp;c. ) .....	281	40
Order 2.—Diseases of the Organs of Circulation ( pericarditis, aneurism, heart disease, &amp;c. ) .....	90	40
Order 3.—Diseases of the Respiratory Organs ( laryngitis, bronchitis, congestion of the lungs, &amp;c. ) .....	200	43
Order 4.—Diseases of the Digestive Organs ( gastritis, enteritis, hernia, hepatitis, spleen disease, &amp;c. ) .....	200	33
Order 5.—Diseases of the Urinary Organs ( nephritis, diabetes, stone, kidney disease, &amp;c. ) .....	190	20
Order 6.—Diseases of the Organs of Generation ( ovarian dropsy, uterus disease, &amp;c. ) .....	124	.....
Order 7.—Diseases of the Joints and Bones ( arthritis, osteitis, joint disease, &amp;c. ) .....	63	3
Order 8.—Diseases of the Integumentary System ( phlegmon, ulcer, skin disease, &amp;c. ) .....	65	.....
Total Class III .....	1,213	179
CLASS IV.—DEVELOPMENTAL DISEASES.
Order 1.—Developmental Diseases of Children ( premature birth, malformation, teething, &amp;c. ) .....	.....	.....
Order 2.—Developmental Diseases of Adults ( paremnia, childbirth, &amp;c. ) .....	2	.....
Order 3.—Developmental Diseases of Old People ( old age, &amp;c. ) .....	.....	.....
Order 4.—Diseases of Nutrition ( atrophy and debility ) .....	28	7
Total Class IV .....	30	7
CLASS V.—VIOLENCE.
Order 1.—Accident or Negligence ( fractures, contusions, burns, poison, bites, drowning, &amp;c. ) .....	902	57
Order 2.—Gunshot Wounds, Stabs, &c. ....	3	1
Order 3.—Murder, Manslaughter, &c. ....	.....	.....
Order 4.—Suicide .....	6	.....
Order 5.—Execution, Hanging .....	.....	.....
Total Class V .....	911	58
Diseases ill-defined .....	.....	.....
Sudden Deaths .....	.....	.....
Total from all Causes .....	2,894	381

FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1882.

Income—	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Subscriptions from general public .....	3,554	11	7
"    "    patients .....	731	1	6
				4,285	13	1
Government subsidy £ to £ on subscriptions .....	3,500	0	0
"    "    for maintenance of paupers—quarter ending
31 December, 1881 .....	1,302	17	9
Quarter ending 31 March, 1882 .....	1,293	12	3
"    "    30 June, 1882 .....	1,372	17	9
"    "    30 September, 1882 .....	1,337	4	9
				8,806	12	6
Amount received from Resident Officer's fees .....	110	19	0
"    "    the British Navy .....	52	6	3
Paying patients, Mercantile Marine .....	239	13	6
"    "    Police .....	18	0	0
				309	19	9
Pupils' fees .....	30	9	0
				451	7	9
Interest on investments .....	347	14	4
Loans falling due .....	5,000	0	0
From Government, on account of New Hospital .....	12,500	0	0
				17,847	14	4
Overdraft at Bank of New South Wales .....				3,134	2	10
				£34,525	10	6
				Expenditure—

Expenditure—		£	s.	d.
Overdraft, 31 December, 1881, Bank New South Wales	...	667	17	4
Salaries and wages—		£	s.	d.
General staff	... ..	4,311	9	9
Nursing staff	... ..	320	0	0
District surgeons	... ..	450	0	0
		<hr/>
		5,081	9	9
Hospital maintenance—
Provisions	... ..	3,976	5	4
Ice	... ..	57	1	10
Gas	... ..	432	10	1
Washing	... ..	694	13	9
Fuel	... ..	216	13	6
Aerated waters	... ..	40	19	0
Wines, beer, spirits	... ..	229	17	2
Furniture	... ..	800	17	7
Drapery	... ..	485	2	8
		<hr/>
		6,934	0	11
Drugs	... ..	1,244	5	10
Surgical instruments	... ..	329	10	5
" appliances	... ..	146	13	11
" dressings	... ..	174	19	3
		<hr/>
		1,895	9	5
Funerals and coffins	... ..	238	5	0
Branch dispensary	... ..	145	11	0
Printing and stationery	... ..	369	8	11
Commission	... ..	86	19	11
Petty expenses	... ..	75	17	4
Expenses of Hospital Bill in Parliament	... ..	120	0	0
Fire insurance	... ..	52	1	6
Buildings and repairs	... ..	1,359	4	11
Permanent new structure	... ..	17,499	4	6
		<hr/>
		£34,525	10	6

Liabilities—	Balance-sheet, 31 December, 1882.	£	s.	d.
To Building Fund	... ..	5,182	15	4
Benefactors' Permanent Trust Fund	... ..	3,343	0	4
Samaritan Fund	... ..	1,663	11	11
Patients' Money Account	... ..	100	8	2
Infirmary and Hospital Benefactors' Building Fund	... ..	360	0	0
Bank of New South Wales	... ..	3,134	2	10
		<hr/>
		£13,783	18	7

Assets—		£	s.	d.
By Government Debentures (N.S.W.)	... ..	6,300	0	0
Savings' Bank Investment Account	... ..	1,663	11	11
Patients' Money Account	... ..	100	8	2
Balance	... ..	5,719	18	6
		<hr/>
		£13,783	18	7

THE PRINCE ALFRED HOSPITAL.

To meet the urgent requirements of the city and the surrounding population, more especially to the westward, this Institution, though yet in a very incomplete state, was formally opened for the reception of patients on the 25th September, 1882.

During the first fortnight the admissions amounted to over fifty, some of the cases being of a very serious character, requiring very skilful operating.

From that time the numbers in the Hospital have so increased that of late every bed has been occupied in the main wards.

Of the six pavilions which are contemplated in the complete plan of the Prince Alfred Hospital only two are as yet erected. These accommodate 120 beds, and in subsidiary and isolating wards are forty more.

The eastern block—to contain children's wards, ophthalmic ward, clinical or lecturing theatres, and the operating department—is in an advanced state, and will be ready for occupation during the present year, also a lock ward.

The central administrative block is in part already occupied, and will be complete in a few months.

On

On the 31st December, 1881, the Hospital account stood as follows:—		£	s.	d.
Amounts derived from private subscriptions and interest thereon	...	41,770	3	9
Voted by the Legislature	... ..	100,000	0	0
		<hr/>
		141,770	3	9
Expended to date	... ..	99,192	5	10
Contracts in progress	... ..	35,822	0	0
Other liabilities	... ..	4,281	7	9
		<hr/>
		139,295	13	7
Balance, 31st December, 1881	... ..	2,474	10	2

To erect the four additional pavilions it is estimated a further sum of £70,000 or £80,000 will be required.

The following statistics show the number of admissions, cases, and expenditure since the Hospital was opened, and bring the account up to 31st December, 1882:—

Statistics, 1882.

Admissions, from 25th September to 31st December,—

Medical cases	... ..	128
Surgical do.	... ..	120
		<hr/>
		248
The largest number of admissions in October	... ..	81
The smallest do. do. in September	... ..	12
The number of accidents and urgent cases attended by resident medical staff, but not admitted into wards	... ..	450
The deaths in wards	... ..	21
Do. within forty-eight hours of admission	... ..	4
Number of patients in Hospital, 31st December, 1882	... ..	79
Amount received from contributing patients, £194 5s.

Medical Return of Cases treated.

RETURN of the number of persons under treatment, the order of disease for which they were treated, and the number of deaths in each order, during the year, 1882, August to 31 December.

Disease.	Number of Patients.	Number of Deaths.
CLASS I.—ZYMOTIC DISEASES.
Order 1.—Miasmatic Diseases ( measles, scarlatina, diphtheria, dysentery, fevers, &amp;c. )	17	2
Order 2.—Euthetic Diseases ( syphilis, hydrophobia, glanders, &amp;c. )	6	.....
Order 3.—Dietic Diseases ( privation, want of breast milk, scurvy, alcoholism, &amp;c. )	2	.....
Order 4.—Parasitic Diseases ( thrush, worms, hydatid, &amp;c. )	.....	.....
Total Class I	25	2
CLASS II.—CONSTITUTIONAL DISEASES.
Order 1.—Diathetic Diseases ( gout, dropsy, cancer, tumour, mortification, &amp;c. )	11	1
Order 2.—Tubercular Diseases ( scrofula, tabes, phthisis, hydrocephalus, &amp;c. )	17	6
Total Class II	28	7
CLASS III.—LOCAL DISEASES.
Order 1.—Diseases of the Nervous System ( cephalitis, paralysis, epilepsy, ophthalmia, &amp;c. )	26	3
Order 2.—Diseases of the Organs of Circulation ( pericarditis, aneurism, heart disease, &amp;c. )	12	2
Order 3.—Diseases of the Respiratory Organs ( laryngitis, bronchitis, congestion of the lungs, &amp;c. )	20	4
Order 4.—Diseases of the Digestive Organs ( gastritis, enteritis, hernia, hepatitis, spleen disease, &amp;c. )	19	4
Order 5.—Diseases of the Urinary Organs ( nephritis, diabetes, stone, kidney disease, &amp;c. )	9	2
Order 6.—Diseases of the Organs of Generation ( ovarian dropsy, uterus disease, &amp;c. )	15	.....
Order 7.—Diseases of the Joints and Bones ( arthritis, ostitis, joint disease, &amp;c. )	43	1
Order 8.—Diseases of the Integumentary System ( phlegmon, ulcer, skin disease, &amp;c. )	16	.....
Total Class III	160	16
CLASS IV.—DEVELOPMENTAL DISEASES.
Order 1.—Developmental Diseases of Children ( premature birth, malformation, teething, &amp;c. )	2	.....
Order 2.—Developmental Diseases of Adults ( parameia, childbirth, &amp;c. )	.....	.....
Order 3.—Developmental Diseases of Old People ( old age, &amp;c. )	.....	.....
Order 4.—Diseases of Nutrition ( atrophy and debility )	5	1
Total Class IV	7	1
CLASS V.—VIOLENCE.
Order 1.—Accident or Negligence ( fractures, contusions, burns, poison, bites, drowning, &amp;c. )	23	5
Order 2.—Gunshot Wounds, Stabs, &c.	.....	.....
Order 3.—Murder, Manslaughter, &c.	.....	.....
Order 4.—Suicide	.....	.....
Order 5.—Execution, Hanging	.....	.....
Total Class V	28	5
Diseases ill-defined	.....	.....
Sudden Deaths	.....	.....
Total from all Causes	248	31

FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1882.

		£	s.	d.
Income—
Balance, 31 December, 1881	...	2,474	10	2
Received from public—
Donations and legacies	...	4,123	19	0
Contributed by patients	...	194	5	0
		<hr/>
	Total Current Account	6,792	14	2
Expenditure—
Hospital Maintenance	...	1,192	5	2
Salaries to resident medical staff	...	194	18	0
Drugs and instruments	...	296	13	5
Medical comforts and stimulants	...	37	13	6
Nursing staff and Matron's salaries	...	666	19	8
Funerals	...	12	15	0
Buildings, &c.	...	3,029	10	8
Secretariat printing and stationery	...	270	7	11
Sundries	...	47	15	11
Balance, 31st December, 1882	...	1,043	14	11
		<hr/>
		6,792	14	2

It is a very gratifying feature in the working of the Hospital last year that, from the 248 patients treated, contributions to amount of £194 5s. were received, and is an earnest of what can be done when encouragement is not given (by too easy admissions) to patients to cast themselves on the Government.

The Hospital has lately obtained a promise that it shall have a moiety to extent of £4,000 of the annual pauper vote.

THE SICK CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL, GLEBE.

A full account of this most beneficent Charity, and its special objects, was given in my report for 1880.

The Hospital contains four main wards, and is designed to accommodate forty children, twenty males and twenty females. In addition to above, there are detached wards for the separate treatment of such infectious or contagious diseases as may arise within the Hospital, or which may unobserved have been imported into it—but infectious cases are not knowingly admitted.

The management is by a Board, having both ladies and gentlemen on its Committee.

The administration and nursing is carried on by a trained staff of ladies, under direction in matters of domestic routine of a Committee, and of an Honorary Medical Staff in those connected with the treatment of the patients.

The admission ages for patients is between eighteen months and twelve years.

By a rule of the Institution, relatives of children are required according to their ability to pay towards the maintenance cost of patients, but no case proper for treatment is refused admission on pecuniary considerations.

As the Institution became more generally known to the public, so has a greater desire been shown by the friends of diseased children to avail themselves of the benefits it offers.

On my last visit I found every bed occupied, and the wards, &c. in most thorough order.

The staff at the present time, presided over by the Lady Superintendent, consists of three sisters and seven nurses, four of whom are lady probationers.

Owing to the stricter supervision required, the severe nature of many of the cases under treatment (diseases of the joints and bones, malformations, &c.) and the dependent character of the patients, the nursing staff is larger in proportion to the number of patients than would suffice in a Hospital for adults—thus involving a higher rate of expenditure per head. I do not think, however, it is extravagant or could be diminished without impairing its efficiency.

In two respects the Board's management is specially deserving of commendation. Its insistence in making persons contribute who are able to pay towards maintenance cost. The large number of trained nurses they are sending out: five of these are now engaged at the Prince Alfred Hospital, two in the Newcastle Hospital, and one at the Infants' Home, Ashfield.

Numbers—	Statistics, 1882.
Cases in Hospital, 31 December, 1881	...	25
Admissions during 1882	...	94
		<hr/>
		119
Discharges, cured or relieved	...	59
Incurable or removed	...	11
Deaths	...	11
		<hr/>
		81
Remaining in Hospital, 31 December, 1882	...	38

For greater economy of space, the details of diseases treated is placed at foot of the table for Country Hospitals, page 18, but may thus be briefly stated:—

Class 1—Zymotic cases	...	12	deaths	...	2
" 2—Constitutional	...	6	"	...	4
" 3—Local	...	81	"	...	2
" 4—Developmental	...	9	"	...	1
" 5—Violence	...	10	"	...	2
Diseases ill-defined	...	1	"	...	0
		<hr/>			<hr/>
		119			11
		<hr/>			<hr/>

Income—

		FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1882.		£	s.	d.
Income—
Balance, 31 December, 1881	...	...	...	641	6	0
Received from public subscriptions	...	...	...	1,408	9	2
Contributed by friends of patients towards maintenance cost	...	...	...	257	0	6
From Government subsidy, £ to £ on subscriptions	...	...	...	831	17	2
				<hr/>
				£3,138	12	10
Expenditure—
Maintenance—Food	...	...	...	568	1	4
Linen and bedding	...	...	...	97	4	4
Washing	...	...	...	62	18	8
Furniture, crockery, &c.	...	...	...	140	2	0
Wages	...	...	...	247	4	0
Fuel and lighting	...	...	...	62	0	4
				<hr/>
				1,177	10	8
Medical Officers' salaries	...	...	...	...	...	.....
Drugs and instruments	...	...	...	138	15	6
Medical comforts and stimulants	...	...	...	5	12	0
				<hr/>
				144	7	6
Nursing staff and supervision	...	...	...	415	10	8
Funerals	...	...	...	1	10	0
Buildings and repairs	...	...	...	54	9	8
Secretariat, printing, insurance, &c.	...	...	...	127	1	8
Sundries	...	...	...	41	12	0
Balance, 31 December, 1882, in hand	...	...	...	58	7	6
Reserve Fund	...	...	...	1,118	3	2
				<hr/>
				1,176	10	8
				<hr/>
				£3,138	12	10

COUNTRY HOSPITALS.

FULL statistics of the operations, diseases treated, sources of income, and the expenditure in the various Country Hospitals of the Colony, are given in tabulated form on succeeding pages, 15 to 22 (inclusive).

Briefly stated, they may be described as below:—

Total number of cases received in wards	...	...	...	4,602
Do. of out-door patients treated	...	...	...	841
Deaths in Hospital	...	...	...	467
Number of contributing patients	...	...	...	599
Totals of sources of Income—				£ s. d.
Subscriptions from public	...	...	...	17,994 11 5
Contributions by patients	...	...	...	2,099 0 9
From Government, by unconditional votes	...	...	...	6,417 17 3
” ” annual subsidy, £1 to £1 on subscriptions	...	...	...	16,462 13 7
” ” unclaimed poundages and police fines	...	...	...	2,166 2 10
Total Expenditure—
Hospital maintenance	...	...	...	13,510 17 1
Stimulants and medical comforts	...	...	...	866 10 2
Out-door relief	...	...	...	433 9 10
Medical Officers' salaries, drugs and instruments	...	...	...	7,729 8 6
Nursing and superintendence	...	...	...	6,034 19 2
Buildings and repairs	...	...	...	8,579 9 11
Sundries	...	...	...	*16,740 13 1
Total current accounts expenditure	...	...	...	53,895 7 9
Reserve funds, 31 December, 1882	...	...	...	25,692 7 4

* Includes balances, charges on funerals, secretariat, insurance, and miscellaneous.

COUNTRY HOSPITALS—General Return, 1882.

Name of Hospital.	Accommodation.				Cubic Air Space per Bed.	Total Admissions.	Discharged cured or relieved.	Discharged incurables or at own request.	Died.	Remaining in Hospital, 31/12/82.	Daily Average Numbers throughout year.	Number Paying Patients.	Number Patients more fit for Benevolent Asylum.	Number Out-Patients.	No. Paid Medical Staff.	No. other Officials not on Nursing Staff.
	M.	F.	M.	F.
Adelong (closed)	...	...	...	...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Albury	...	...	...	...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Araluen (closed)	...	...	...	...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Armidale	5	1	15	2	701	126	.....	.....	13	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Balranald	3	.....	18	.....	970	76	68	1	2	5	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Bathurst	3	1	37	12	1,891	279	246	3	15	15	M. 19 6·7 F. 6	4	2	26	1	1
Bega	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Boorowa	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Braidwood	3	2	12	4	500	30	20	.....	4	6	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Bourke	3	.....	17	.....	.....	137	92	10	21	14	13·6	8	1	.....	1	1
Brewarrina	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	4	6	.....	.....	11	.....	1	1
Carcoar	3	1	13	3	1,035	46	35	1	4	6	.....	16	1	6	1	.....
Condobolin	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Copeland North	2	1	3	2	1,800	5	4	.....	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	7	1	.....
Cobar	2	1	7	2	M.W. 720, F.W. 840	39	27	2	8	2	3·5	.....	4	17	1	1
Cooma	2	2	8	3	1,046	25	19	.....	4	2	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Coonamble	1	1	4	1	M.W. 477, F.W. 560	48	34	5	6	3	M. 2 F. 1	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Cowra	1	1	2	2	604	43	38	1	3	1	M. 1·8 F. 82	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Deniliquin	3	1	23	3	M.W. 708, F.W. 500	151	21	.....	16	14	14·3	5	5	188	2	1
Dubbo	3	1	18	6	1,000	152	127	.....	14	11	M. 12 F. 2	26	60	42	1	1
Forbes	2	1	.....	21	955	113	86	7	14	6	7·66	17	7	.....	1	1
Glen Innes	1	.....	6	.....	1,446	52	39	.....	8	5	M. 3 F. 0	6	.....	.....	1	.....
Goulburn	3	3	16	10	.....	262	212	20	18	12	M. 10 F. 2	72	44	30	3	1
Grafton	6	2	17	5	1,780	102	87	5	7	3	4·3	.....	13	14	1	1
Grenfell	1	1	5	4	1,092	22	17	.....	4	1	M. 1·6 F. 3	.....	.....	2	1	.....
Gulgong	2	1	15	3	820	52	42	.....	3	7	.....	5	1	33	1	1
Gundagai	2	1	12	2	620	56	46	2	7	1	M. 3 F. 3	10	10	7	1	1
Gunnedah	1	1	4	3	1,034	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	M. 3·2 F. 6	.....	4	.....	1	.....
Hay	2	1	20	2	600	206	174	.....	18	14	M. 14 F. 1	.....	11	96	1	1
Hill End	3	1	14	4	1,200	28	17	3	3	5	M. 2 F. 2	4	7	12	1	.....
Hilston	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Inverell	4	1	9	2	1,114	95	77	.....	10	8	M. 7 F. 1·3	23	4	.....	1	1
Kempsey	2	2	20	.....	1,926	18	14	.....	3	1	.....	11	.....	4	1	1
Kiandra (closed)	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Lismore	1	1	4	2	1,350	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....

No Hospital Building, out relief only.
Vote in aid passed for future Hospital.

Buildings not ready for reception of patients at end of 1882.

<sup>a</sup> Honorary Medical Staff.

<sup>b</sup> Medical Return gives only 149.

<sup>c</sup> The Returns as regards admissions and discharges, also number of deaths, must be incorrect.

COUNTRY HOSPITALS—General Return, 1882—continued.

Name of Hospital.	Accommodation.				Cubic Air Space per Bed.	Total Admissions.	Discharged cured or relieved.	Discharged incurables or at own request.	Died.	Remaining in Hospital, 31/12/82.	Daily Average Numbers throughout year.	Number Paying Patients.	Number Patients more fit for Benevolent Asylum.	Number Out Patients.	No. Paid Medical Staff.	No other Officials not on Nursing Staff.
	Wards.	Beds.
	M.	F.	M.	F.
Maitland .....	7	2	35	15	844	175	135	10	19	11	11	12	50	178	3	1
Maclean or Rocky Mouth .....	1	...	...	...	(Not yet built.)	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Menindie (closed) .....	...	...	...	...	(Ruinous.)	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Moruya (cottage) .....	...	...	...	...	(Not yet built.)	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Mudgee.....	2	1	20	10	1,400	158	133	.....	17	8	(Not stated.)	12	(Not stated.)	(Not stated.)	1	1
Murrurundi .....	3	1	8	4	550	55	50	1	4	...	M. 3·3 F. 6	10	14	.....	1	.....
<sup>a</sup> Muswellbrook.....	2	1	9	6	729	19	13	.....	4	2	(Not stated.)	.....	15	.....	1	.....
Narrabri .....	3	1	14	2	814	103	82	.....	15	6	M. 8·6 F. 1·1	15	4	.....	1	.....
Newcastle .....	4	2	20	8	1,080	212	154	21	15	22	M. 18·1 F. 2·2	65	8	32	1	1
Orange .....	...	...	...	...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Parke .....	1	1	4	4	972	41	32	5	4	.....	3	14	3	8	1	.....
<sup>b</sup> Parramatta .....	2	2	16	8	1,219	175	128	13	19	15	(Not stated.)	10	20	.....	.....	.....
Port Stephens .....	...	...	...	...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Queanbeyan .....	2	1	5	2	616	16	13	.....	2	1	(Not stated.)	15	2	.....	1	.....
<sup>c</sup> Scone .....	2	2	8	5	.....	60	47	1	4	8	M. 8 F. 5	10	23	5	1	.....
Sofala .....	3	...	6	...	558	5	4	.....	...	1	.....	2	1	.....	1	.....
<sup>d</sup> Singleton .....	5	5	30	10	M.W. 410 F.W. 775	72	48	.....	10	14	M. 10 F. 4	3	(The majority.)	.....	1	1
Tamworth .....	2	1	12	4	M.W. 585 F.W. 468	137	107	.....	22	8	11·5	.....	(Large number.)	.....	1	1
Temora.....	1	1	6	3	1,250	43	35	2	4	2	M. 3 F. 3	14	8	.....	1	1
Tenterfield .....	2	1	5	2	792	32	26	.....	3	3	M. 5 F. 2	(Not stated.)	(Not stated.)	2	1	.....
Urana .....	1	1	4	3	780	50	44	.....	5	1	M. 3·3 F. 2	5	1	.....	1	.....
Vegetable Creek.....	...	...	...	...	(Hospital in course of erection only.)	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
<sup>e</sup> Wagga Wagga .....	*4	1	17	6	666	170	124	4	30	12	M. 11 F. 2	6	8	94	.....	1
Warialda .....	3	2	7	2	900	45	34	4	...	7	M. 7 F. 1	3	5	.....	1	1
Walgett .....	2	1	6	3	1,280	80	66	.....	10	4	M. 4·8 F. 4	.....	7	.....	1	1
Wellington .....	3	1	10	2	464	41	38	.....	3	.....	2·5	16	2	.....	1	1
Wilcannia .....	2	1	20	.....	804	203	156	12	17	18	M. 15 F. 0	.....	18	.....	1	.....
<sup>f</sup> Windsor .....	5	3	35	16	900	*137	89	.....	13	35	M. 30 F. 8	25	(Very many.)	14	1	1
Wollongong.....	1	1	5	5	878	48	37	.....	10	1	M. 2·3 F. 1	.....	.....	.....	1	1
Yass .....	3	1	11	2	550	28	21	.....	5	2	(Not answered.)	28	.....	.....	2	1
<sup>g</sup> Young .....	4	1	15	4	811	91	64	6	9	12	(Not stated.)	32	5	.....	.....	2
Sick Children's Hospital, Glebe .....	2	3	20	20	720	119	59	11	11	38	M. 17 F. 17	69	.....	.....	.....	.....
<sup>h</sup> Maitland Benevolent Society's Asylum .....	6	3	12	6	501	124	108	3	13	13	(Not stated.)	·2	(Almost all.)	(Not ans'd.)	.....	1
Infants' Home, Ashfield .....	...	...	...	...	.....	117	37	*	30	47	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....

* 1 Incurable, 2 Adopted. <sup>a</sup> 15 Benevolent cases did not pass into Hospital Wards. <sup>b</sup> Honorary Medical Staff—An error in General Return of 1882. <sup>c</sup> Relief in money to amount of £65 was given during 1882. <sup>d</sup> 60 Hospital and 12 Benevolent Asylum cases. <sup>e</sup> Honorary Medical Staff. <sup>f</sup> A great number of the inmates are in the Asylum Wards only, and are not Hospital cases. <sup>g</sup> Honorary Medical Staff. <sup>h</sup> Cases treated are generally merely of senile decay; no medical return.

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure in Country Hospitals for the Year 1882.

Income.

Town.	Balance, 31st December, 1881.	From the Public.			From Government.				Interest on Invested Funds.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1882.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1881.	Grand Total.
		Subscriptions.	Donations.	Contributed by Patients.	Special Vote.	Annual Subsidy.	Unclaimed Poundages.	Police Fines.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Adelong.....
Albury.....	92 5 1	568 16 6				602 15 9	80 0 4	14 4 0		25 1 1	1,383 2 9		1,383 2 9
Araluen.....
Armidale.....		1,004 19 7	20 17 6	45 5 0	500 0 0	299 19 8	92 17 1	15 9 0		108 1 11	2,087 9 9	180 19 6	2,268 9 3
Brewarrina.....	137 14 7	88 0 9							20 8 0		246 3 4	680 0 0	926 3 4
Balranald.....	379 8 10	584 19 11				300 0 0		0 5 0			1,293 11 3		1,293 11 3
Boorowa.....
Bathurst.....	1,400 5 6			18 8 0		1,344 2 10	36 1 10	24 7 0	57 10 0		2,880 15 2	1,500 0 0	4,380 15 2
Bega.....
Braidwood.....		50 5 0	35 19 3	61 1 0		100 0 0	10 5 4	6 7 0	12 5 0	31 9 10	307 12 5		307 12 5
Bourke.....		589 7 6	101 0 0		100 0 0	412 19 10	121 18 5	11 5 0	18 0 0		1,354 10 9	600 0 0	1,954 10 9
Carcoar.....	23 6 10	152 12 5	12 5 0	35 4 6		200 0 0		1 12 0	18 9 0		443 9 9	319 13 4	763 3 1
Copeland North.....	72 15 9	117 16 4			199 19 10	66 6 6		2 12 6	2 0 0		461 10 11		461 10 11
Cobar.....	239 11 11	535 2 5		16 8 0	381 15 3	319 19 10		11 10 0			1,504 7 5		1,504 7 5
Condoblin.....
Cowra.....	130 15 4	24 10 6	2 19 0	39 5 6	299 19 10	298 10 6	25 17 6	6 15 0		27 3 8	855 16 10		855 16 10
Cooma.....	175 2 6	30 14 0	123 19 9	4 14 0		154 10 4		13 16 6			502 17 1		502 17 1
Coonamble.....	63 15 11	69 4 0	248 2 9	30 0 0		116 13 4		6 9 8			534 5 8		534 5 8
Deniliquin.....	354 3 0		433 9 3			170 18 6	33 2 11	7 6 0			998 19 8		998 19 8
Dubbo.....	27 18 9	198 3 6		43 15 0		322 19 9	99 17 4	12 9 0		113 5 9	818 9 1		818 9 1
Forbes.....	434 13 6	182 11 7	200 0 0	37 4 10		169 17 1	60 6 8	9 5 0	6 5 0		1,100 3 8		1,100 3 8
Glen Innes.....	8 0 9	359 4 4		46 12 0		124 6 0	49 10 4	14 11 3		98 6 1	700 10 9		700 10 9
Gunnedah.....	674 15 0	67 19 0	286 16 1			357 19 6	30 14 1	6 17 6	3 0 1		1,428 1 3		1,428 1 3
Goulburn.....	408 1 6	393 16 1		169 18 6				18 0 10			989 16 11		989 16 11
Grafton.....	348 3 10	442 16 8			99 19 10			28 1 0			919 1 4		919 1 4
Grenfell.....	234 11 3	95 3 6		32 10 0		175 2 10			9 0 0		546 7 7	300 0 0	846 7 7
Gulgong.....	86 6 6	74 14 0	120 3 4	11 0 0	200 0 0	200 8 11	17 4 6	9 19 8	10 17 6		730 14 5	250 0 0	980 14 5
Gundagai.....	2 15 10	175 14 8	2 7 9	29 6 6		113 19 6	73 15 5	33 18 4	9 0 0	17 7 9	458 5 9	300 0 0	758 5 9
Hay.....	302 0 8	515 12 10	4 10 0	1 0 0		810 12 7		13 16 6			1,647 12 7		1,647 12 7
Hill End.....	15 13 9	129 16 0	1 8 0	7 7 0		106 9 9		3 1 0	32 0 0	41 14 0	337 9 6	800 0 0	1,137 9 6
Hillston.....	1,293 1 9	50 7 4	4 9 0					2 5 0			1,370 3 1		1,370 3 1
Inverell.....	9 1 6	293 6 5	32 4 0	71 13 7	499 19 10	265 17 10		7 12 0	12 5 6	53 15 9	1,245 16 5		1,245 16 5
Kempsey.....	226 0 4	205 17 4		21 16 4		749 19 10		19 4 5		12 2 8	1,235 0 11		1,235 0 11
Lismore.....	184 14 4	148 11 8						20 14 8			354 0 8		354 0 8

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure—continued.
Income—continued.

Town.	Balance, 31st December, 1881.	From the Public.			From Government.				Interest on Invested Funds.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1882.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1881.	Grand Total.
		Subscriptions.	Donations.	Contributed by Patients.	Special Vote.	Annual Subsidy.	Unclaimed Poundage.	Police Fines.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Maitland .....	128 18 5	609 4 3	0 8 8	59 0 0		552 11 9			29 9 10				6,379 12 11
Maclean (Rocky Mouth).....
Maitland Benevolent Society ..	385 12 1	231 16 1	1 3 9	3 19 0			12 12 8	26 2 6					661 6 1
Moruya .....
Menindie .....
Mudgee .....	6 1 7	469 13 9	50 0 0	44 10 6		291 7 10	16 11 3	3 6 4					881 11 3
Murrurundi .....	615 18 1	228 14 9	4 2 6	63 5 6		379 15 7	22 19 9	5 0 1	16 0 0			400 0 0	1,735 16 3
Muswellbrook .....	316 4 5	84 5 10	58 15 4	22 16 0	250 0 0	200 0 0	13 16 10	6 19 6	3 0 0				955 17 11
Narrabri .....	383 4 7	372 12 5	100 0 0	21 7 8		351 7 6	237 11 5						1,466 3 7
Newcastle .....	277 15 8	701 1 8	4 7 0	338 12 9		701 1 8		58 7 0	72 15 0			1,000 0 0	3,154 0 9
Orange .....		249 10 1	97 7 1	80 16 8		442 12 1	101 11 9	8 2 10		229 16 7			1,209 17 1
Parkes .....	98 7 2	64 5 4	95 11 4	33 5 6	200 0 0	236 4 10		1 2 6					728 16 8
Parramatta .....	1,525 14 5	215 2 0	66 15 7	45 4 8	738 2 9	320 0 0			81 11 10			200 0 0	3,192 11 3
Port Stephens .....
Queanbeyan .....	62 0 10	55 9 6		33 12 6		100 0 0		12 0 0					263 2 10
Singleton .....	30 16 10	162 9 3	15 13 3		300 0 0	198 5 2	3 12 8	3 2 6		15 5 8		75 0 0	804 5 4
Scone .....	411 0 7	108 10 3	9 6 6	36 15 0		193 6 10	27 15 3	12 9 0	17 13 2				816 16 7
Sofala .....	87 12 9	21 1 0		20 0 0		15 5 6		5 5 0	3 0 0				152 4 3
Tamworth .....	8 2 3	130 4 10	70 0 0		300 0 0	79 5 9	74 4 5	20 10 2	13 4 11			250 0 0	945 12 4
Tenterfield .....	25 8 8	113 5 10	22 11 6	25 5 0		115 1 7		9 0 0	13 13 6			492 18 5	817 4 6
Temora .....		96 4 6	155 16 0	36 10 0	499 19 10	299 19 10		7 19 6					1,096 9 8
	436 3 5	381 10 3		31 6 9	290 0 0	131 19 8		7 10 0					1,278 10 1
		1,160 4 11				1,000 0 0		2 18 0					2,163 2 11
Warialda .....	178 10 9	676 2 0			303 0 3	964 14 2		27 4 7	44 0 0			300 0 0	2,493 11 9
Walgett .....	325 19 8	169 18 2		12 10 0	5 0 0	150 3 5	76 4 10	12 13 9					752 9 10
Wellington .....		467 14 2	132 2 0	8 10 0	200 0 0		13 17 0			258 16 11			1,081 0 1
Wilcannia .....	212 8 3	39 4 0	38 5 9	42 14 5	349 19 10	141 14 4	25 6 9	15 15 10					865 9 2
Windsor .....	212 7 5	816 3 11	71 18 3	113 15 9	200 0 0	997 1 1	39 14 3			83 17 1			2,534 17 9
Wollongong .....	122 5 11	263 17 2	12 17 0	97 10 4		383 13 9		10 16 0	251 0 0			4,700 0 0	5,842 0 2
Yass .....	28 9 6	198 11 1	0 15 0	5 11 9		199 19 10		15 0 0	4 3 6			105 0 0	557 10 8
Young .....	48 9 8	17 1 0	26 0 0	46 13 0		93 2 0	45 5 11	8 5 0	73 17 3			1,200 0 0	1,558 13 10
	67 2 0	36 10 9	19 11 8	124 0 9	500 0 0	139 8 9	103 12 11	18 8 6	25 8 5			497 16 4	1,532 0 1
Total .....	£13,319 19 5	15,290 12 7	2,703 18 10	2,099 0 9	6,417 17 3	16,462 13 7	1,546 9 5	619 13 5	859 17 6	1,116 4 9	60,436 7 6	19,151 7 7	79,587 15 1

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure—continued.

Expenditure.

Town.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1881.	Hospital Maintenance	Medical Comforts and Stimulants.	Out-door Relief and forwarding to Asylums, &c	Medical Officer		Wardman's and Matron's Salary.	Funerals	Buildings and Repairs.	Secretary's Department, Printing and Insurance.	Sundries.	Balance, 31st December, 1882	Total Current Account	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1882	Grand Total.
					Salary.	Drugs and Instruments.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Adelong .. .. .
Albury .. .. .		52 8 2	79 18 0		100 0 0	72 1 4	351 7 6	43 2 0	207 15 0	54 0 0	22 10 9		1,383 2 9		1,383 2 9
Araluen .. .. .
Armidale .. .. .	208 5 2	1,080 17 9			80 0 0	136 1 11		18 5 0	744 19 5				2,268 9 3		2,268 9 3
Brewarrina .. .. .									120 0 1	4 5 1	18 5 3	53 12 11	196 3 4	730 0 0	926 3 4
Balranald .. .. .		221 10 7	11 5 0		300 0 0	28 8 3	130 7 0	2 17 0	2 15 3	74 9 6	88 13 2	433 5 6	1,293 11 3		1,293 11 3
Boorowa .. .. .
Bathurst .. .. .	226 0 3	797 10 4	40 19 6		150 0 0	139 13 4	417 9 7	10 0 0	140 10 6	73 18 8	2 0 11	282 12 1	2,280 15 2	2,100 0 0	4,380 15 2
Bega .. .. .
Braidwood .. .. .	14 3 0	98 13 3	2 0 0		50 0 0	20 6 0	76 16 0	6 5 0		34 7 3	5 1 11		307 12 5		307 12 5
Bourke .. .. .	3 7 11	365 14 0	19 15 0		250 0 0	78 5 0	165 8 0	51 0 0	52 3 7	26 0 0	39 3 2	303 14 1	1,354 10 9	600 0 0	1,954 10 9
Carcoar .. .. .		149 13 4	4 4 0		75 0 0	11 8 0	75 0 0	5 0 0	53 9 6	4 3 6	6 13 0	90 9 5	475 0 9	288 2 4	763 3 1
Copeland North .. .. .		27 14 1		1 1 0	109 7 8	28 4 0	14 5 10				179 19 10	100 18 6	461 10 11		461 10 11
Cobar .. .. .		255 1 6	15 8 0		132 14 7	91 5 0	126 3 0	40 0 0	44 19 11	77 3 0		721 12 5	1,504 7 5		1,504 7 5
Condoblin .. .. .
Cowra .. .. .		92 12 2	2 1 0		125 0 0	5 9 3	58 6 8	4 10 0	52 16 11	8 17 10	6 3 0		355 16 10	500 0 0	855 16 10
Cooma .. .. .		101 5 7	15 15 0		50 0 0	68 16 0	64 0 0	18 2 6	8 12 0	39 16 6	10 3 11	26 5 7	402 17 1	100 0 0	502 17 1
Coonamble .. .. .		102 1 3	6 18 6		187 10 0		60 18 4	12 0 0	48 10 0	23 5 7	21 1 10	72 0 2	534 5 8		534 5 8
Demiquim .. .. .		348 11 5			108 6 8	63 12 4	120 0 0	43 16 0	31 3 0	40 18 0	32 1 8	210 10 7	998 19 8		998 19 8
Dubbo .. .. .		293 9 5	22 1 0	23 19 0	112 12 0	23 18 10	108 0 0	44 12 6	93 6 11	67 11 6	28 17 11		818 9 1		818 9 1
Forbes .. .. .		293 16 7			125 0 0	25 7 6	125 4 0	30 0 0	42 16 0	32 13 0	88 18 9	136 7 10	900 3 8	200 0 0	1,100 3 8
Glen Innes .. .. .		278 19 4	5 7 6		105 5 0	13 19 2	141 7 0	35 0 0		28 5 0	92 7 9		700 10 9		700 10 9
Gunnedah .. .. .		82 0 7			26 1 6	15 6 4			858 18 1	9 12 0	163 4 4	72 17 10	1,228 1 3	200 0 0	1,428 1 3
Goulburn .. .. .		105 4 1	12 12 0		37 10 0	32 6 9	166 0 0	24 8 6	11 10 0	41 0 10	18 13 0	540 11 9	989 16 11		989 16 11
Grafton .. .. .		161 11 11	3 15 0		100 0 0	131 5 4	101 17 6	5 7 6	24 15 0	26 14 0	34 10 11	329 4 2	919 1 4		919 1 4
Grenfell .. .. .		126 13 7	3 3 6		93 13 4	19 3 0	65 0 0	2 10 0	87 0 0	9 8 9	18 3 0	121 12 5	546 7 7	300 0 0	846 7 7
Gulgong .. .. .		172 4 2	13 8 0		67 1 8	185 6 1	80 0 0	3 0 0	7 19 6	33 4 4	0 17 6	160 3 2	723 4 5	257 10 0	980 14 5
Gundagai .. .. .		173 10 1	12 3 6	3 5 6	100 0 0	16 1 5	60 0 0	18 0 0	32 0 0	14 12 2	28 13 1		458 5 9	300 0 0	758 5 9
Hay .. .. .		397 7 1	60 5 0		150 0 0	115 11 1	183 19 4	57 14 9	239 14 10	101 3 6	25 2 10	316 14 2	1,647 12 7		1,647 12 7
Hill End .. .. .		113 14 0	8 13 9		75 0 0	44 6 6	65 0 0	7 0 0	0 7 0	15 18 1	7 10 2		337 9 6	800 0 0	1,137 9 6
Hillston .. .. .										32 3 3		1,337 19 10	1,370 3 1		1,370 3 1
Inverell .. .. .	25 9 5	346 0 3	8 10 0		100 0 0	40 9 10	110 18 2	15 5 0	17 0 0	62 17 4	19 6 5		745 16 5	500 0 0	1,245 16 5
Kempsey .. .. .		6 15 10			33 6 8		34 13 4		1,036 0 0	55 12 0	68 13 1		1,235 0 11		1,235 0 11
Lasmore .. .. .									307 0 2	3 5 1	10 1 2	33 14 3	354 0 8		354 0 8

Hospital not yet erected.
Only out-relief given. No response to application for Returns.

Hospital not yet built.

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure—continued.

Expenditure—continued.

Town.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1881.	Hospital Maintenance.	Medical Comforts and Stimulants.	Out-door Relief and forwarding to Asylums, &c.	Medical Officer.		Wardsman's and Matron's Salary.	Funerals.	Buildings and Repairs.	Secretary's Department, Printing and Insurance.	Sundries.	Balance, 31st December, 1882.	Total Current Account	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1882.	Grand Total.
					Salary.	Drugs and Instruments.
Maitland .....	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Maitland (Rocky Mouth) .....		523 14 11	57 7 2	50 0 0	100 0 0	111 11 2	140 0 0	32 5 0	134 4 9	40 12 3	62 14 3	127 3 5	1,379 12 11	5,000 0 0	6,379 12 11
Maitland Benevolent Society .....		139 6 5	2 0 0	149 15 2		0 16 9	47 6 6	3 7 0	62 10 0	29 18 6	24 13 7	201 12 2	661 6 1		661 6 1
Moruya .....
Menindie .....
Mudgee .....	324 2 11		25 9 0	5 15 6	50 0 0	43 3 5	166 18 4	51 3 0	26 8 5	46 7 6	6 12 9	135 10 5	881 11 3		881 11 3
Murrurundi .....		234 0 8	9 14 0	38 8 11	105 0 0	24 19 6	112 0 0	7 0 0	40 14 0	13 3 6	21 14 8	729 1 0	1,335 16 3	400 0 0	1,735 16 3
Muswellbrook .....		110 6 10	4 7 6	14 0 0	40 0 0	19 17 8	78 17 9	12 10 0	21 1 1	6 10 5	8 4 2	140 2 6	455 17 11	500 0 0	955 17 11
Narrabri .....		243 7 7	9 0 0		160 0 0	1 15 0	129 8 1	24 12 0	176 0 3	5 11 10	42 5 0	170 3 10	966 3 7	500 0 0	1,466 3 7
Newcastle .....		769 15 0	6 16 0	16 0 6	150 0 0	97 0 9	167 4 0	13 4 6	422 16 11	83 7 10		67 0 3	1,793 5 9	1,360 15 0	3,154 0 9
Orange .....	392 10 8	376 3 5	9 5 0		60 0 0	72 17 6	157 12 0	24 5 0	91 1 0	19 10 0	6 12 6		1,209 17 1		1,209 17 1
Parkes .....		121 4 7			166 9 9	23 2 4	75 13 6	14 10 0	209 15 0	6 17 0	21 14 9	89 9 9	728 16 8		728 16 8
Parramatta .....		397 11 6				113 4 0	257 15 3	12 19 8		13 14 0	148 19 3	248 7 7	1,192 11 3	2,000 0 0	3,192 11 3
Port Stephens .....
Queanbeyan .....			120 3 6		50 0 0			5 5 0	17 0 0	6 1 8	63 12 5	1 0 3	263 2 10		263 2 10
Singleton .....		187 17 10		30 12 9	70 0 0	2 10 0	120 5 4	13 0 0	307 10 6	29 17 7	39 14 4	2 17 0	804 5 4		804 5 4
Scone .....		155 7 4		65 0 0	57 12 6		83 15 0	10 0 0	38 14 6	6 14 5	32 10 5	367 2 5	816 16 7		816 16 7
Sofala .....		16 17 7				8 16 0	30 0 0			6 3 0	0 5 0	90 2 8	152 4 3		152 4 3
Tenterfield .....		113 16 6	11 0 0		98 5 8	39 11 8	60 0 0	9 0 0	11 14 0	9 15 0	0 8 4	7 13 4	361 4 6	456 0 0	817 4 6
Tamworth .....		259 8 0	118 6 3	4 4 0	58 0 0	105 18 6	80 12 6	42 14 6	3 11 0	85 11 8	24 3 9	163 2 2	945 12 4		945 12 4
Temora .....	261 6 7	161 17 6	22 10 6		50 0 0	54 0 9	79 5 8	2 15 0	298 1 8	50 3 7	1 12 0	114 16 5	1,096 9 8		1,096 9 8
Urana .....		203 18 8	8 5 0		100 0 0	61 12 0	127 2 6	15 19 0	244 10 10	67 3 9	207 14 3	242 4 1	1,278 10 1		1,278 10 1
Vegetable Creek .....									362 5 6	6 7 11	132 2 8	362 6 10	863 2 11	1,300 0 0	2,163 2 11
Wagga Wagga .....		364 19 5		10 5 0		73 1 5	266 0 2	49 12 0	710 0 3	57 9 3	88 4 3	374 0 0	1,993 11 9	500 0 0	2,493 11 9
Warialda .....		120 4 2	3 16 0		150 0 0	26 2 6	50 0 0		90 11 6	17 0 3	5 1 9	289 13 8	752 9 10		752 9 10
Walgett .....	165 12 10	447 2 4			153 2 6	64 3 0	86 11 6	59 10 0	34 0 0	11 13 6	59 4 5		1,081 0 1		1,081 0 1
Wellington .....		92 7 6	10 2 6		110 0 0		95 0 0	16 5 0	278 8 9	25 9 7	4 19 11	232 15 11	865 9 2		865 9 2
Wilcannia .....		794 18 5	51 10 8		250 0 0	142 9 11	230 0 0	105 0 0	242 0 1	35 18 10	82 19 10		1,934 17 9	600 0 0	2,534 17 9
Windsor .....		530 18 0	26 16 10		40 0 0	74 11 7	206 10 2	10 5 0	57 2 11	9 16 6	82 18 5	103 0 9	1,142 0 2	4,700 0 0	5,842 0 2
Wollongong .....		174 15 5	13 12 0	21 2 6	25 0 0	27 5 5	60 0 0	18 0 0	114 5 10		9 18 4	93 11 2	557 10 8		557 10 8
Yass .....		72 14 0	Included in maintenance.		104 0 0	16 3 9	90 0 0	10 17 6	4 19 6	27 14 0	13 11 3	38 13 10	353 13 10	1,200 0 0	1,558 13 10
Young .....		253 3 2	8 5 0		100 0 0	42 8 6	137 13 4	45 15 6	313 19 0	18 10 2	35 11 8	276 13 9	1,232 0 1	300 0 0	1,532 0 1
Total .....	£	16,20 18 9	13,510 17 1	866 10 2	433 9 10	5,064 18 0	2,664 10 6	6,034 19 2	1,111 10 5	8,579 9 11	1,732 9 3	2,265 2 10	10,012 11 10	53,895 7 9	25,692 7 4	79,587 15 1

STATE CHILDREN'S RELIEF BOARD.

Although this Board has issued its second report, it will be remembered that it was only in November of 1881 it commenced to operate as a Government Institution having legal recognition.

Following the general plan of my Report, I beg to submit, page 24, statistics of the numbers of children boarded out and their maintenance cost within the year 1882; but in order to afford information concurrent with that given by the Board's own report (to 31st March last), additional tables are appended, to which the following remarks are applicable:—

From the latter it will be seen that, notwithstanding exceptional initiatory expenses, in addition to other advantages, the plan of placing State children in private homes is an economical one, and that little difficulty exists in finding suitable guardians or homes for any of the children, excepting the older boys.

To 31 December last 259 children had been dealt with,* of whom one died, seven were returned to friends, and two sent to Industrial Schools for persistent misconduct. The expenditure incurred within the same period amounted to £3,578 4s. 4d., less £99 6s. 6d. paid into Treasury (receipts from parents). The average rate of cost is estimated at £18 per head per annum, which will compare favourably with that in any other of our Charities for children, when the yearly interest, value of the buildings, and land are included in their estimates.

The annual report of the President is full of interesting details as to the success, not only in this Colony, but elsewhere, of the boarding-out system, and makes special reference to the many safeguards employed to protect the children, and to the friendly interest created on their behalf.

It further points out several anomalies, defects and omissions in the State Children's Relief Act requiring rectification.

Some of these refer specially to its own action, but others have a general significance, and as such have before been alluded to in my own reports, with suggestions for removal.

Nearly all the recommendations must meet general acceptance; at the same time, it is more than questionable if it would be advisable at present to give the Board all the control it seeks over other Charitable Institutions for the young subsidized by the Government.

To it might safely be assigned the power of withdrawing from any Institution any State child, but to go beyond might unduly interfere with private benevolence, deprive it of a legitimate field for action, and complicate the relations between our private subsidized Charities and Government.

The principal of these—the Destitute Children's Society, Randwick—already possesses legal privileges, and would be likely to put forth claims on the score of past services rendered to the Government, inasmuch as, in addition to the State children in the Asylum, there are others one moiety of whose maintenance cost is borne by its subscribers, some of whom are not yet prepared to acknowledge the superiority of the system adopted by the State Children's Relief Board.

There is much force in the statement in the report that the S. C. R. Board is placed at disadvantage in its endeavours to protect the public interests by the interval which elapses between the time it receives charge of a child and that child's admission into an asylum.

To some extent this interval is capable of being reduced by regular and frequent intercommunication, but I question if the real difficulties do not lie rather in the defective state of our laws as regards wife and child desertion, the permission enjoyed by destitute persons to come into the Colony, and the absence of power to better enforce paternal obligations after parents have cast their offspring on the State.

These weak points in our position have been already referred to in my reports, and find place in my opening letter.

STATISTICS.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 31 DECEMBER, 1881, TO 31 DECEMBER, 1882.

Income.	£	s.	d.
Balance in Bank, 31 December, 1881	13	8	9
Deposit from Treasury in February	404	10	0
Refund from Gardner & Co.	0	5	7
Deposit from Treasury—March	500	0	0
May	500	0	0
July	500	0	0
October	800	0	0
December	460	0	0
From Treasury—Salary, Boarding-out Officer	400	0	0
Total receipts	3,578	4	4
Refunds to Treasury, being amounts received during year from parents, &c.	99	6	6
Balance	3,478	17	10
Expenditure.
Payments to guardians for maintenance	1,680	16	0
Clothing for children boarded-out	616	11	0
Salary of Boarding-out Officer	400	0	0
Office rent and quarters, Boarding-out Officer	250	0	0
Conveyance of children to homes of guardians	47	9	7
Travelling expenses†	91	14	4
Incidental expenses	61	4	2
Medicines and medical attendance	38	19	5
Advertising	51	11	0
Balance in Bank, 31 December, 1882	339	18	10
£3,578	4	4

* To 30 April, 1883, 342 children had been placed in homes, of whom 171 were below six years of age, and of remainder two-thirds were of ages from six to ten years.

† Clerical assistance, &c., £52; money order, £1 0s. 5d.; funerals, £3 2s. 6d.

RETURN OF CHILDREN PLACED OUT, FROM JANUARY 1 TO DECEMBER 31, 1882.

	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Children under control, 1 January, 1882	34	46	80
Boarded-out during January, 1882	6	16	22
"    February "	1	1	1
"    March "	2	...	2
"    April "	7	14	21
"    May "	9	12	21
"    June "	5	13	18
"    July "	4	5	9
"    August "	9	14	23
"    September "	9	15	24
"    October "	11	8	19
"    November "	7	9	16
"    December "	...	3	3
	103	156	259
	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Sent to Industrial School during year ended 31 December, 1882...	1	1	2
Returned to friends ditto	4	3	7
Died ...	1	...	1
	6	4	10
Leaving placed out, 31 December, 1882	97	152	249

DESTITUTE CHILDREN'S ASYLUM, RANDWICK.

THE condition of this Institution throughout the year was most satisfactory, as regards cleanliness, order, and the general efficiency of its management.

The facilities at the Society's command, and the attention now paid to isolating infectious cases, especially the ophthalmic, from ordinary ailments, has been attended with the best results.

There were last year altogether fewer hospital admissions and serious cases, and the large body of the children looked brighter and more healthy than used formerly to be observable.

The improvement is encouraging from the fact that since drafts of children have been made by the State Relief Board from the Benevolent Asylum, the Randwick Board, which is supplied chiefly from that source, has been much less particular as to the quality of its own admissions from the Asylum.

In order to give effect to certain recommendations of their late medical staff, the Committee initiated, about the end of last year, plans for improving the ventilation of the class-rooms and dormitories. These works are now well advanced, and will, when completed, further conduce to the comfort and health of the children.

The Colonial Secretary recently intimated a desire to withdraw, as required from time to time, certain of the State Children from the Randwick Asylum, for the purpose of boarding them out under the auspices of the State Children's Relief Board, as is done from the Orphan Schools and Benevolent Asylum.

The Randwick Society does not, however, appear disposed to accede to the wishes of the Government in this matter, and, to remove difficulty possible in the future, I might suggest that no State child go henceforth to Randwick, except on the distinct understanding that he remains there only during the pleasure of the Colonial Secretary.

As a good point in the Society's administration, I desire to draw attention to the watchful care exercised on the welfare of the apprentices indentured from this Institution. During 1882, in addition to inquiries made through the police, 103 apprentices were visited.

Forty-four boys and forty-eight girls became entitled to gratuities on completion of apprenticeship. A sum of £385 11s. 6d. was received for maintenance from parents or guardians of children admitted direct by the Society.

GENERAL STATISTICS, 1882.

	State Children.	Society's Children.	Total
Daily average number of children in the Asylum throughout the year 1882	513	159	672
Cost per head to Government	£18 15s. 9½d.
Numerical strength in Institution, 31st December, 1881...	Boys. 395	Girls. 276	671
Admissions from parents	Boys. 26	Girls. 21	= 47
By Colonial Secretary's order	67	29	= 96
	93	50	= 143
Discharges to parents	51	28	= 79
Apprenticed...	49	41	= 90
Deaths	1	1	= 2
	101	70	= 171
Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1882...	...	...	643

CLASSIFICATION.

CLASSIFICATION.

Children.	Under 7 years.		From 7 to 9 years.		From 9 to 11 years.		From 11 to 13 years.		Total.
	P.	R.C.	P.	R.C.	P.	R.C.	P.	R.C.	Boys.	Girls.
Boys .....	67	22	95	25	69	20	58	31	387	.....
Girls .....	32	19	51	27	51	31	23	22	.....	256
	338				305				643

MEDICAL OFFICER'S HEALTH REPORT.

Remaining in Hospital, 31st December, 1881	...	...	77
Admissions, 1882, some more than once	...	...	386
			463
Discharged from Hospital	...	...	414
Deaths	...	...	2
			416

Remaining in Hospital, 31st December, 1882 ... .. 47

Both children whose deaths are here recorded were recent admissions, one being a hopeless case.

Description of cases—

Affection of the eyes	...	...	...	149
Whooping-cough	...	...	...	27
Croup	...	...	...	17
Diarrhoea	...	...	...	6
Pneumonia	...	...	...	4
Typhoid fever	...	...	...	1
Erysipelas	...	...	...	1
				205

Also, abscess, chicken-pox, stomatitis, otorrhea, skin affections, bronchitis, &c....

...	...	...	...	258
				463

EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS, 1882.

Report of Inspector, Department of Public Instruction—

Boys' division	...	...	...	Nearly fair.
Girls' do.	...	...	...	Fair.
Infants' do.	...	...	...	Very fair.

The school is under the entire control and management of the Government.

ANALYSIS of Expenditure, 1882, showing expenditure under similar headings for 1881.

	1881. 662 children.			1882. 672 children.			1881. Cost per head.			1882. Cost per head.
	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Salaries .....	3,125	11	1	3,164	5	1	4	14	5	4	14	2½
Rations .....	2,768	5	10	3,779	18	5	4	3	7½	5	12	6
Clothing and bedding .....	1,143	13	6	2,295	12	0	1	14	6½	3	8	3½
Furniture, &c. ....	350	16	3	155	6	4	0	10	7¼	0	4	7½
Crockery and hardware .....	110	0	10	107	2	8	0	3	7	0	3	2¼
Fuel and lights.....	486	7	3	495	12	0	0	14	8½	0	14	9
Farm .....	770	1	9	929	2	6	1	3	3	1	7	7¼
Incidental expenses .....	359	7	4	344	1	6	0	10	10½	0	10	2½
Education .....	386	5	0	378	4	3	0	11	8	0	11	3
Medicines .....	144	16	2	155	1	4	0	4	4½	0	4	7½
Buildings and improvements .....	1,338	7	4	822	19	2	2	0	5	1	4	5½
Total cost, exclusive of cost of buildings and improvements .....	9,654	5	3	.....	.....	.....	14	11	8	17	11	3½
Gross total cost as paid by Government .....	10,992	12	4	.....	.....	.....	16	12	1	18	15	9½

APPRENTICE FUND, 1882.

	£	s.	d.
Credit Balance in Government Savings' Bank, 31st December, 1881	...	...	3,968 0 9
Wages received from employers, 1882...	1,592	2	7
Interest paid by Bank on deposits	181	16	3
			1,773 18 10
			5,741 19 7
Wages paid in 1882 to forty-four boys and forty-eight girls, on completion of indentures	1,972	8	6
Amount transferred to general account in A.J.S. Bank for incidental expenses	105	0	0
Other deductions	81	9	10
			2,158 18 4
Leaving Cr. balance, 31st December, 1882	...	...	3,583 1 3

FINANCIAL

FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1882.

Income—	£	s.	d.
Balance A.J.S. Bank ... ..	1,885	0	10
Amount of public subscriptions and donations ... ..	1,612	3	10
Interest from Perpetual Subscribers' Fund... ..	597	8	3
Receipts from Government—
Subsidy at £2 to £1 on subscription
to £2,000—
For 1881 ... ..	333	6	8
For 1882 ... ..	3,666	13	4
	4,000	0	0
Paid for maintenance of State Children—
November, 1881 ... ..	589	5	11
December, „ ... ..	599	3	9
	1,188	9	8
Supplementary account for 1881 ... ..	1,195	8	2
Maintenance account, 1882 ... ..	4,808	7	11
	11,192	5	9
Fees paid by employers in apprenticing ... ..	108	3	0
Amounts received from parents, &c... ..	385	11	6
	493	14	6
Amount transferred from Apprentice Fund ... ..	105	0	0
Sales ... ..	30	9	8
	135	9	8
Amount received account debentures due ... ..	2,200	0	0
Fixed deposits repaid ... ..	500	0	0
Interest on fixed deposits ... ..	170	0	0
	2,870	0	0
Legacies on account Perpetual Subscribers' Fund... ..	3,509	14	3
Special donations ... ..	800	0	0
	4,309	14	3
Cheques not presented, 31st December, 1882 ... ..	232	10	1
Overdraft A.J.S. Bank, 31st December, 1882 ... ..	784	6	3
	£24,112	13	5

Expenditure—
Cheques not presented, 31 Dec., 1881 ... ..			314 12 8
Salaries and wages ... ..	2,125	17	0
Secretary and Accountant ... ..	325	0	0
Chaplains and Medical Officer ... ..	287	7	0
Salary and Commission to Collector ... ..	321	1	1
	3,059	5	1
Payments on account of education ... ..			378 4 3
Buildings and improvements... ..			822 19 10
Maintenance—Wages ... ..	105	0	0
Clothing and bedding ... ..	2,295	12	0
Ironmongery ... ..	107	2	8
Groceries ... ..	848	17	1
Flour ... ..	103	10	0
Meat ... ..	1,147	0	6
Bread ... ..	1,110	14	4
Provisions ... ..	569	16	6
Fuel and lights ... ..	495	12	0
Farm ... ..	929	2	6
Medicines ... ..	155	1	4
	7,867	8	11
Printing, advertising, stationery, postages ... ..	302	12	0
Premium insurance on £35,000 ... ..	35	0	0
Interest and exchange on A.J.S. Bank ... ..	6	9	6
Furniture and miscellaneous... ..	155	6	4
	499	7	10
Purchase N.S.W. Government Debentures... ..	7,300	0	0
Premium and accrued interest on above ... ..	1,039	5	4
Fixed deposits A.J.S. Bank ... ..	2,000	0	0
Payments on account boring for water ... ..	723	17	10
„ „ erection of drying-room ... ..	107	11	8
	11,170	14	10
	£24,112	13	5

GENERAL ACCOUNT.—LIABILITIES AND ASSETS ON 31ST DECEMBER, 1882.

Liabilities—	£	s.	d.
Dr. to Bequest Fund ... ..	94	3	8
to Perpetual Subscribers' Fund ... ..	345	0	4
Cheques not presented ... ..	232	10	1
Balance A.J.S. Bank ... ..	784	6	3
	£1,456	0	4

Assets—

Assets—	£	s.	d.
Government subsidy, £2 to £1 on subscriptions proportion of £4,000 ...	333	6	8
„ Maintenance account, September ... ..	590	18	3
October ... ..	601	17	6
November ... ..	593	8	0
December ... ..	580	6	4
	2,366	10	1
Fixed deposits account A.J.S. Bank... ..	7,049	6	9
Supplementary account for maintenance of State Children, being difference between rate £14 and £18 15s. 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. on 512 $\frac{1}{2}$ , the daily average number throughout the year 1882 ... ..	2,455	3	10
	71	9	8
	2,383	14	2
	£12,132	17	8

Memo. of total Assets belonging to the Society, 31 Dec., 1882.

Net assets ... ..	£10,676	17	4
Perpetual Subscribers' Fund at credit ... ..	15,545	0	4
Value of stores on hand at cost price ... ..	1,752	6	1
Picnic Fund ... ..	164	17	11
	£28,139	1	8

THE BENEVOLENT SOCIETY'S ASYLUM.

THE plan and operations of this Institution may be described as follows:—

1. Out-door relief.—By assistance rendered to the sickly and aged, or to widows having to support large families, or to the temporarily distressed. The relief is given either in money towards payment of rent or in provisions. Applications are considered also in cases of emergency for help in payment of burial expenses, &c. The expenditure last year for above purposes amounted to £1,234 10s. 8d., of which £500 was provided by annual vote of the Legislature.

2. A Receiving House, to which deserted or homeless children are brought by the police, or where State children awaiting transfer to other places are provided for under Colonial Secretary's order.

3. A Lying-in Hospital.

4. A Receiving House for sickly indigent women, or for females requiring treatment for diseases peculiar to women, but who cannot be received into hospitals.

5. Providing legal assistance in cases of wife and child desertion or of affiliation.

By arrangement made in the year 1862 the Society is reimbursed the entire cost of maintenance of all the women and children in the Asylum, so that its own expenditure is confined to providing a moiety of the outlay incurred upon out-door relief and for repairs.

It receives all fines paid into the Metropolitan Police Courts, and derived from this source last year £663 16s. 9d.

By accumulations, by the sale of part of the land originally granted to it and since resumed for the Redfern Station, by interest, and by legacies and other sources, on the 31st December last the Society's reserve fund amounted to £34,325 6s. 11d., to which might be safely added £1,000 to £1,500, the under-estimated value of 200 acres of land at Bankstown.

It would be advisable to keep the fact of this large reserve in view at the present time, as the Government is being moved by the Board to assist the Society in the erection of new buildings possessing larger accommodation and of improved character.

A decision is also waited for as to whether the land now occupied by the Asylum will be required for railway extension purposes, in which event another site will have to be secured. A determination of this matter is pressing, not only from the fact that delay will increase the difficulties of finding a suitable position, but because the present Asylum is very overcrowded, and the liability of the inmates to contract, eye affections occasions a suspicion of hospitalism in the walls, &c.

The work within the several departments of the Society's operations continued to be carried on in a very satisfactory manner.

The food supplied was ample and excellent in quality, and great care was paid to cleanliness and sanitation.

The staff of officers and attendants were most zealous in the discharge of their difficult and often repulsive duties, performed sometimes under the most discouraging circumstances. The children show that great care and attention is bestowed upon them; and the fact that in the Lying-in Hospital 237 women, some of whom were in a wretchedly diseased state, were accouched without a single death resulting is of itself evidence of high skill and efficiency on the part of the medical officers and nurses.

An increase in the expenditure in Out-door Relief is owing in part to the more liberal scale recently adopted by the Board. As no form of charity is so demoralizing to the recipients, or so open to imposition this department requires special watching.

Recommendations through persons influential with the Committee ought to be carefully discouraged, and full and frequent reports of the cases relieved required from the Visiting Officer.

STATISTICS FOR 1882.

	Women.	Children.	Total.
Numbers remaining in Asylum, 31 December, 1881 ... ..	73	145	218
Admissions during 1882 ... ..	311	345	656
By births ... ..	...	228	228
	384	718	1,102
Discharges—
	Women.	Children.
With permission ... ..	282	317
To Randwick Asylum ... ..	...	95
Boarding-out Officer ... ..	...	74
Infants' Home, Ashfield ... ..	...	1
Asylum for Imbeciles ... ..	...	1
Mission Home ... ..	2	2
Police ... ..	...	1
Sydney Hospital ... ..	6	...
Absconded... ..	3	3
Died... ..	3	68
	296	562	858
Remaining in Asylum, 31 December, 1882... ..	88	156	244

Classification of Religious Creed professed by Inmates or Parents of Children.

	Women.	Children.
Belonging to Protestant Churches ... ..	195	225
Roman Catholics... ..	116	120

Medical Report.

71 deaths—3 of adults and 68 of children—were reported. A considerable number of the latter were in a hopelessly diseased or dying condition at time of admission. Inter alia, causes of death:—Marasmus or wasting, 27 cases; congenital syphilis, 7 cases; premature birth, 9 cases. Of the cause of deaths of adults, 1 was from burns, the result of an accident.

Table showing Ages of Children at time of Death.

Under month.	1 to 3 months.	3 to 12 months.	1 year to 3 years.	8 to 11 years.
9	22	22	11	2

The Medical Officer states that cases of congenital syphilis are largely on the increase.

237 women were safely accouched during the year. Of the above number, 45 only were married, 63 were natives of Great Britain and Ireland, 4 of other places in Europe, and 169 were Australian born, of whom 145 were natives of the Colony, and but 15 of the number married women.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1882.

	£	s.	d.
Income—
Balance in Bank, 31 December, 1881, and cash in hand ... ..	923	1	9
Received from public—
By Subscriptions... ..	549	2	4
Payments by women... ..	64	3	0
Do for children ... ..	52	1	0
	665	6	4
Received from Government—
For maintenance of women and children ... ..	5,565	6	6
Subsidy, as moiety out-door relief ... ..	500	0	0
From Police Courts, fines ... ..	663	16	9
	6,729	3	3
Interest ... ..	150	0	0
Sundry small receipts ... ..	11	18	0
	£8,479	9	4
Expenditure—
Account Maintenance—
Provisions ... ..	£2,677	18	11
Drapery and clothing... ..	502	19	8
Fuel and lighting ... ..	219	8	2
Medicines ... ..	124	15	4
Medical comforts ... ..	56	12	2
	3,581	14	3
Furniture... ..	125	11	3
	3,707	5	6
Salaries ... ..	1,149	13	6
Sundries—
Gratuities... ..	155	13	0
Commission ... ..	37	3	6
Insurance... ..	14	7	0
Stationery, printing, advertising ... ..	75	13	5
Petties and petty cash ... ..	103	5	2
	386	2	1
Carried forward ... ..	5,243	1	1
			Brought

	£	s.	d.
Brought forward...	5,243	1	1
Money disbursed to out-pensioners	373	3	6
Interments	157	15	0
Buildings and repairs	409	5	4
Investment Fund...	1,500	0	0
Balance, 31 December, 1882	796	4	5
	£8,479	9	4

Investment Account and Contra.

Dr.
To Legacies and bequests	5,722	16	7
Proceeds of sale house and land (resumed)	10,359	4	5
Investment and interest on Bank deposits...	15,883	19	4
Thomas Walker's donation	300	0	0
Land at Bankstown, original valuation	480	0	0
Amounts from General Account	1,500	0	0
Do do do	79	6	7
		1,579	6 7
	£34,325	6	11
Cr.
By Land at Bankstown, probably worth £2,000	480	0	0
Thirty New South Wales Government Debentures	3,000	0	0
		3,480	0 0
Deposit in Banks—
Bank of New South Wales	23,903	11	8
The City Bank	6,941	15	3
		30,845	6 11
	£34,325	6	11

THE INFANTS' HOME, ASHFIELD.

THE objects of this Society are to protect infants who, whether by the fault or the circumstances of their parents, unhappily are in need of such fostering care, and at the same time to afford to deserted wives and single women with infants an opportunity to recover position, and honestly support themselves and their children.

By the manner in which they carry out this purpose, the Committee assert they offer no inducements to laxity of morals, nor encourage neglect of parental obligations.

Whether or not such duties should have been included in the work of "The Benevolent Society" is an open question—the fact remains, a necessity existed, and this Society have occupied themselves in endeavouring to minister to it.

That much suffering and many infant lives have been saved is beyond question.

Many fallen women, through the Society's benevolent assistance, have been enabled to recover a respectable status; on the other hand, they have experienced many instances of ingratitude and imposition, but in all the interests of the children have been secured.

As regards cleanliness, accommodation, and management, the Infants' Home is well conducted, and every effort exerted to keep the women who are admitted into it usefully and fully employed in domestic routine, the care of the infants, and in laundry work.

From the last, £200 1s. 2d. was realized during the year 1882, also from mothers £111 8s. 6d.

As is always the case in similar Institutions elsewhere, the death rate is abnormally heavy—many of the children on admission bearing unmistakeable traces of hardship and disease acquired or inherited from vicious parentage.

Full details of the operations and financial position of the Society are given in accompanying statistics.

STATISTICS FOR 1882.

	Women.	Children.		Total.
		Male.	Female.
Numbers remaining in Institution	21	30	17	47
Admissions during 1882, January to December	36	32	38	70
Discharges	37	16	21	37
Deaths		19	11	30
Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1882	20	30	20	50
Number given up to State Children's Relief Board		6	8	14
Removed to Newcastle Asylum for Imbeciles		1	...	1
Adopted		1	1	2
Left Institution with mothers		7	13	20
Attending Public School, and boarding in Home		*8	...

NOTE.—Towards end of year only two boys attended school, possibly the others are those removed for "boarding-out."

MEDICAL REPORT, 1882.

Diseases.	Cases.	Deaths.
Class I—Zymotic.—Dietic ... ..	10	...
Parasitic ... ..	12	3
Class II—Constitutional.—Tubercular ... ..	15	2
Class III—Local.—Nervous system ... ..	20	1
Respiratory ... ..	2	1
Digestive organs ... ..	15	11
Integumentary system ... ..	3	1
Class IV—Developmental.—Teething, &c. ... ..	12	...
Nutrition (debility, &c.)... ..	20	11
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	109	30

FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1882.

Income—	£	s.	d.
Balance 31st December, 1881 ... ..	596	12	10
Received from subscriptions ... ..	232	8	6
"    "    Donations ... ..	920	0	0
"    "    Parents ... ..	111	8	6
"    "    Government subsidy ... ..	1,064	16	3
"    "    Boxes (of clothing?) ... ..	28	14	3
"    "    Laundry work ... ..	200	1	2
Interest remitted ... ..	100	0	0
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
Total current account ... ..	£3,254	1	6
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
Expenditure—
Maintenance account ... ..	1,048	10	7
Medical Officer's salary ... ..	20	0	0
Drugs and instruments ... ..	10	17	11
Nursing Staff and Lady Superintendent's salaries... ..	606	6	6
Funerals (two years) ... ..	84	7	6
Buildings and repairs... ..	67	14	7
Secretariat, printing, &c. ... ..	23	12	6
Sundries, interest ... ..	100	0	0
Balance, 31st December, 1882, as given ... ..	272	11	11
Do.    do.    error ... ..	20	0	0
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
Total current account ... ..	2,254	1	6
Invested funds ... ..	1,000	0	0
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
	£3,254	1	6

INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB AND THE BLIND.

THIS Institution especially recommends itself to public favour, by the evident intention of the Managing Committee to avoid leaning improperly on the Government.

That such a course meets the general approval is shown by the support which the benevolent public have continued to accord to it.

While the Government subsidy last year was only £450, the subscriptions amounted to £1,832 13s. 7d., besides a special donation of £830. It also received legacies to the amount of £2,234 14s. 3d.

The school fees equalled £974 2s. 10d., and clothing repayments £93 19s. 8d., showing that the objects of the Charity reach not only the children of the State, but are utilized by all sections of the community.

An excellent rule of the Society requires that children sent to the Institution from beyond New South Wales shall be returned to their own Colony.

I have again to speak in most favourable terms of the success of the management. The Ladies' Committee, whose special functions are to supervise domestic arrangements, appears to work in perfect harmony with the House Committee, and thus renders valuable service. There also seems an excellent sympathy between the teaching staff and the pupils.

The health of the children during all last year was excellent, a few cases of whooping-cough being the only hospital cases.

Several improvements of a substantial and costly character were made or completed during the past year, as the cementing the outside walls of the Institution, the erection of a portico, of an iron and stone fence along the Society's land, and of a gymnasium.

The sleeping accommodation is found to be too limited, and a new wing to contain dormitories and workshops is contemplated.

The carrying into effect such idea, in so far as relates to the workshops, might I think be delayed, and the Industrial Blind Institution Committee invited to reconsider some of the suggestions made by Sir Hercules Robinson, in his letter to Sir Alfred Stephen.

To duplicate teaching power and workshops, and so distract and divide the public sympathy on behalf of the blind, is surely not good policy.

That Sir Hercules was right in saying the chief supply of blind workers would have to be sought for from the Newtown Institution will now be generally admitted.

On occasion of my last visit to the Institution, I gave particular attention to the Articulation Class formed about eighteen months ago. The teacher explained that, to give the system fair play, it would be necessary to completely separate her pupils from those mutes who practised the sign methods of communication, but to do so would involve large extra expense.

I found seven children under tuition, only two of whom could be said to have passed the rudimentary stage; these had advanced far enough to make very tolerable imitations of words spoken, and could readily understand and detect stock phrases. A girl repeated after me a sentence containing a word with which she was wholly unaccustomed, proving the capabilities of the system. Whether results will generally repay the cost of the effort I am unprepared to say, but to me an objection lies in the fact that the voices of the children are most unnatural and unpleasant, and that conversation necessitates the speakers being opposite to and in full view of each other.

Of the 213 who have passed through the Institution, or are now inmates, 166 were deaf and dumb. Of these—

5	are employed at printing.
3	„ „ „ farming.
4	„ „ „ shoemaking.
2	„ „ „ as carpenters.
7	„ „ „ dressmakers, milliners, or tailoresses.
1	is „ „ „ bookbinder.
1	„ „ „ „ gold-digger.
5	are „ „ „ saddlers.
2	„ „ „ teaching in the Institution.
3	„ „ „ at domestic work in the Institution.
1	is „ „ „ as tinsmith.
1	„ „ „ „ engineer.
1	„ „ „ „ labourer.
1	„ „ „ „ coal-miner.
2	are „ „ „ engravers.
1	is „ „ „ draftsman.
9	were idiotic, and placed in Asylums for Insane.
8	died.
57	remain in the Institution.
52	unaccounted for; some left the Colony, others at household work, &c., with parents.
166

Of the blind—

1	works in a brick-yard, having somewhat recovered his sight.
1	„ „ at mattress-making.
2	work „ „ basket-making.
1	works „ „ piano-tuning.
1	„ „ „ chair-caning.
2	died.
1	married.
17	returned to their homes.
21	remain in the Institution.
47

STATISTICS.

Number of Children.

	New South Wales.		Queensland.		Tasmania.	Friendly Islands.	Total.		Grand Total.
	Deaf and Dumb.	Blind.	Deaf and Dumb.	Blind.	Blind.	Deaf and Dumb.	Deaf and Dumb.	Blind.
In the Institution, December 31st, 1881 .....	33	12	17	7	2	.....	50	21	71
Admitted in 1882 .....	7	1	4	1	.....	1	12	2	14
Discharged in 1882 .....	40	13	21	8	2	1	62	23	85
Remaining in the Institution, December 31st, 1882 .....	5	1	2	3	.....	.....	7	4	11
	35	12	19	5	2	1	55	19	74

STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE, FROM JANUARY 1ST, TO DECEMBER 31ST, 1882.

Receipts—

To Balance, December 31st, 1881, as follows:—	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Fixed deposits ... ..	4,190	0	0
Debentures ... ..	510	0	0
				4,700	0	0

Less—

Overdraft, General Fund Account ... ..	£164	0	8
„ Building Fund Account ... ..	52	17	0
				216	17	8
						4,483 2 4
To Government subsidy ... ..	450	0	0
Subscriptions and donations, Sydney ... ..	970	2	1
Specials donations, „ ... ..	830	0	0
Subscriptions and donations, country... ..	361	14	0
„ „ Queensland* ... ..	19	6	0
Collections by friends in country ... ..	253	6	0
„ „ Queensland* ... ..	228	5	6
Legacies received ... ..	2,284	14	3
School fees, New South Wales ... ..	425	2	10
„ Queensland* ... ..	474	0	0
„ Tasmania ... ..	50	0	0
„ Friendly Islands ... ..	25	0	0
Clothing repayments, New South Wales ... ..	65	3	11
„ „ Queensland* ... ..	28	15	9
Proceeds, cow and calf sold ... ..	5	17	6
Interest on investments ... ..	269	4	6
						6,740 12 4
Total receipts during the year ... ..						£11,223 14 8

* Receipts from Queensland—

Subscriptions and donations ... ..	£	s.	d.
Collections by friends ... ..	228	5	6
School fees ... ..	474	0	0
Clothing repayments ... ..	28	15	9
	£750	7	3

Expenditure—

By salaries and wages ... ..	£	s.	d.
Provisions and fodder ... ..	1,119	13	8
Drapery, clothing, and boots ... ..	501	3	8
Advertising, printing, stamps, and stationery ... ..	201	16	10
Furniture, crockery, and bedding ... ..	174	16	8
Books and school requisites ... ..	148	7	3
Petty house expenses ... ..	109	12	4
Alterations and repairs... ..	102	6	4
Fuel, gas, and medicine... ..	85	6	3
Travelling expenses ... ..	53	6	9
Insurance ... ..	40	3	8
Purchase of cow ... ..	8	12	6
Payments to Contractor and Architect, on account of cementing, erection of porch, cow-shed, and gymnasium ... ..	8	8	0
Interest to Bank on overdraft... ..	265	4	0
	0	9	7
				2,819 7 6
Total expenditure for the year ... ..						2,819 7 6
To Balance, invested as follows:—
Fixed deposit ... ..	8,100	0	0
Debentures ... ..	510	0	0
Bank Balance Building Fund Account ... ..	106	3	8
				8,716	3	8

Less—

Overdraft on General Fund Account ... ..	311	16	6
						8,404 7 2
						£11,223 14 8

The Perpetual Subscribers' Fund—

Amount of John W. Wood's legacy ... ..	1,000	0	0
„ J. G. Raphael's legacy... ..	43	0	4
						1,043 0 4

THE INDUSTRIAL BLIND INSTITUTION.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1882.

		£	s.	d.
Income—
Balance, 31st December, 1881	...	345	19	6
Donations and subscriptions	...	902	6	6
Government subsidy	...	1,080	19	0
Realized by sales of work	...	394	10	9
Interest	...	9	9	0
Overdraft, 31st December, 1882	...	54	14	10
		<hr/>
		£2,787	19	7
Expenditure—
Wages to workers	...	392	3	1
Salaries	...	365	11	2
Materials purchased	...	229	14	8
Sundry expenditure	...	82	9	10
Repairs and improvements	...	92	2	6
Investments Account Building Fund	...	1,624	9	0
Interest	...	1	9	4
		<hr/>
		£2,787	19	7

The objects aimed at by the Society are—the instruction of the indigent blind of both sexes in trades and manual labour, thus providing them with a means of gaining a livelihood, by furnishing instructions in various handicrafts, convenient accommodation, materials, and appliances for carrying on their work, and a place in which the work can be displayed and sold.

A further intention of the Society for promoting the welfare of the blind, but not yet carried into effect, is the formation of a library in relief-print, the delivery of lectures on suitable subjects, the affording opportunity to such blind indigent persons as show capacity to study of music, and, if found practicable, the receiving a limited number of the workers into residence.

The costly character of the building and its very restricted accommodation have placed the Society hitherto in difficulties, by limiting the space for operatives, and so enhancing the cost of tuition.

At the end of the year 1882 there were only ten workers, eight of whom were basket-makers and two mattress-makers. Some of these have acquired considerable proficiency.

For the large expenditure of public and private funds already incurred (without reference to the value of the building erected), such result appears very inadequate.

The Committee, however, entertain a hope that by completing workshops, the foundations of which are already laid, additional space for fifteen or twenty workers will be gained, and that if an active sympathy in their endeavours is shown, by the public purchasing their work, the Institution may become largely self-supporting.

As stated above, the funds in hand for extensions amount to £1,624 9s., and in all probability Government will be asked to further aid in carrying out the work; hence leading to the consideration of the question whether as at present constituted the Institution is working on correct principles, and whence are the additional workers to come.

At its initiation, our late highly esteemed Governor, Sir Hercules Robinson, after particular inquiry into the numbers and circumstances of the blind in the Colouy, expressed, in a letter to Sir Alfred Stephen, representative of the trustees of the late Mr. Wood, and now President of the Industrial Blind Institution, his views as to the best method of applying the Wood legacy.

Setting aside those blind persons already provided for by friends, &c., he divided the indigent blind into sections:—

1. He showed that the professional blind beggar would be very unlikely to abandon his trade and become a worker.
2. That of the 102 blind then in the Government Asylums, 90 were over 40 years of age, 76 over 50 years; and that if the aged, the infirm, and those physically or mentally incapable of exerting themselves were eliminated, that out of the entire number scarcely half-a-dozen would be left who would be capable of receiving instruction or willing to be taught.
3. That blind children were the best and largest source for furnishing the stock out of which would come the future blind workers; and, in order to carry on the benefits of the education offered to the children in our Institution on the Newtown Road, and at the same time fulfil the intention of the testator of the Wood legacy, he laid down certain suggestions (given below), adding significantly that were a separate adult Blind Institution called into existence it would only be saddling the public with the maintenance of "a white elephant."

He further proceeded to show that the children in the Newtown-road Institution, as they matured, required, in addition to their mental education, instruction in handicrafts, to prevent them from becoming permanently dependent, and that without bringing them into contact with adults, both classes could be instructed, under the arrangement he suggested, by the same staff of teachers.

Extract from Sir Hercules Robinson's letter to Sir Alfred Stephen:—

Bearing in mind then the want in the existing Blind Institution, and the view, which I believe to be correct, that it is with the young alone that any real good can be effected, I would venture to offer the following suggestions:—

1. That upon the ground of the existing Deaf and Dumb and Blind Institution a building be erected in a separate enclosure, to be called "The Wood's Industrial Institute for the Blind."
2. That it contain, as proposed, beds for twelve adult inmates, and separate workshops for adults and children.
3. That the workshops for adults be sufficiently large to accommodate, as well as the twelve inmates, out-door adult pupils, if any should desire to attend and learn a trade.
4. That the workshops for the young should be so arranged as to prevent any association between the young and the adults—a point, as I conceive, of serious importance.
5. That the two Institutions be separated by a high wall and a locked gate, and the children from the Deaf and Dumb and Blind Institution be under the eye of their Superintendent whilst engaged daily in their industrial studies.

The

The two Institutions might at the same time be under the same general management and control, and the new institute carried on without imposing on the public any considerable additional charge for administrative machinery.

For myself, I do not believe in the success of the adult part of the scheme. If, however, I should be wrong in this view, you must bear in mind that anything you propose to do at the corner of William-street could be done better and far cheaper at Newtown Road; whilst you would at the same time be supplying a great want in the existing Blind Institution; and should the adult part of the proposal fail, you will then be able to fall back upon the industrial education of the young, and concentrate your efforts in that direction.

If some such plan as this is not agreeable to the trustees, or considered legal under the will, and the only alternative is a separate Institution for the "indigent" adult blind as proposed at the corner of William-street, I should certainly for my own part, for the reason which I have given, think it better that the legacy should lapse than that the public should be saddled with such a "white elephant."

Another reason for amalgamating the two now opposing Institutions would be that the public sympathy and interest would be increased and single, whereas now it is divided—therefore weakened.

As the Committee of the Deaf and Dumb and Blind Institution are now contemplating adding handicraft teaching to their curriculum, the time seems favourable for a reconsideration of Sir Hercules's proposals; and as calls on the Government from both Institutions are probable, I have deemed it my duty to direct the attention of the Colonial Secretary to what I believe will be the best means of effecting the largest amount of good results at least cost.

---

---

PART 2.

INSTITUTIONS WITHIN THE DEPARTMENT OF THE MINISTER OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

---

---

NAUTICAL SCHOOL SHIP "VERNON."

THIS Institution continues to show a very active and efficient supervision.

Daily average throughout year of numbers in—

1882.	1881.
186	166 Increase 20.

Judging from the above increase, it may be inferred that the purpose and usefulness of the "Vernon" are becoming better known to and appreciated by country Benches.

Many of the boys on arrival on board bear unmistakeable evidences of neglect and hardships endured, while some are suffering from infectious skin affections.

The Superintendent has drawn my attention to the dangers probable from these last—which increase as the numbers in the ship grow larger.

I would suggest that a medical examination be made prior to any boy going on board, and that infectious diseases cases be treated at the Benevolent Asylum, where ample means for isolating them exist.

The general health of the boys throughout 1882 was excellent. One death is reported.

The maintenance cost per head compares favourably with that of any former year, the advance in the price of meat being borne in mind.

1882.	1881.
£25 13s. 1d.	£25 16s. 10d.

This is the more satisfactory as included in the above are items for alterations and fitting up a new schoolroom, together amounting to £482 17s. 4d.

In estimating and comparing the expense of this Institution with Randwick Asylum and others, it must be borne in mind that a much closer supervision—as well by night as by day—has to be maintained, and that trained and responsible men only can be employed.

The payments towards maintenance by parents or guardians is steadily increasing in amount; last year £231 14s. 2d. was received from this source.

Of the boys apprenticed a much larger proportion adopted the sea for a profession—twenty of these are now serving on board the "Wolverene."

Captain Neitenstein reports having received many letters from lads formerly under his care, describing their well-doing.

Statistics—1882.

Numerical strength—

Numbers on ship, 31 December, 1881	...	...	...	...	...	177
Admissions—
By committals	...	...	...	...	...	99
Returned from "Wolverene" (ill health)	...	...	...	...	...	1
"    Indentures cancelled...	...	...	...	...	...	6
"    Employer not fulfilling conditions	...	...	...	...	...	1
"    Employer leaving his residence	...	...	...	...	...	5
Re-admitted from Infirmary	...	...	...	...	...	1
"    from Female Industrial School	...	...	...	...	...	6
					—	119
						296
Discharges—
Apprenticed	...	...	...	...	...	88
To relatives	...	...	...	...	...	18
Infirmary	...	...	...	...	...	1
Informal warrant	...	...	...	...	...	1
Female Industrial School	...	...	...	...	...	1
Dead	...	...	...	...	...	1
					—	110

Number on board, 31 December, 1882 ... .. 186

The daily average number throughout the year is also ... .. 186

Ages of committals :—3 to 7 years, 3; 7 to 10 years, 30; 10 to 13 years, 34; 13 to 17 years, 52; total, 119.

Apprenticeships :—39 general servants; 31 sailors; 15 farm and station hands; 1 store assistant; 1 gardener; 1 groom; total, 88.

Religion of boys admitted :—Protestants, 56; Roman Catholics, 63.

Visits of Religious Instructors :—Protestants, 59; Roman Catholics, 63.

Payments on account maintenance, £231 14s. 2d.

Medical Report of cases during year in Hospital—

Heart disease	...	...	2	Low fever	...	...	2
General debility	...	...	2	Pneumonia	...	...	1
Epileptic	...	...	1	Gastric irritation	...	...	2
Former injuries	...	...	3	Bruises	...	...	2
Rheumatism	...	...	1	Dislocation	...	...	1
Wounds	...	...	1	Skin diseases	...	...	6

Total cases, 24. 1 death from heart disease.

Statement of Expenditure, 1882.

	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Maintenance—
Salaries, including medical ... ..	1,635	6	2
Provisions ... ..	2,003	15	7
Clothing and bedding ... ..	441	18	4
Boots ... ..	40	0	0
Books and stationery ... ..	67	18	8
Fuel and lighting ... ..	61	10	6
Medicines ... ..	38	4	3
Sundries ... ..	82	1	5
				4,420	14	11
Deduct amount paid by parents, &c. ... ..				231	14	2
				4,189	0	9
Add good conduct gratuities to boys ... ..	23	10	0
Repairing ship's guns ... ..	29	15	0
Ship's stores, paint, wire rigging, &c. ... ..	347	17	4
Alterations and repairs by Colonial Architect, fitting up schoolroom, &c. ... ..	482	17	4
				883	19	8
Gross cost to Government ... ..				£5,073	0	5 or per head—£25 13s. 1d.

The cost a few years back was between £30 to £40 per head, at a time when provisions and labour were paid for at lower rates.

THE FEMALE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, BILOELA.

THE operations during the past year at this Institution may be considered satisfactory, as regards the good order, discipline, and cleanliness in which it was maintained.

The health of the children also was excellent.

The average cost per head was slightly higher in 1882 than in 1881, explainable by the increased rates of the provision contracts.

It must be a matter for regret that so considerable a proportion of the girls apprenticed to employers from the Industrial School are year by year returned to it for alleged misconduct.

That the fault is not always on the side of the apprentice is shown by the fact that a change of situation, coupled perhaps with the greater tact of their new employers, produces often a marked improvement in the girls.

The question, however, naturally suggests itself, is the system in the school not capable of improvement; and in answer it might be said that the contact with girls who have been vicious cannot fail to have a disturbing effect on those others who have grown up within the school, and but for such companionship could not have gained evil experiences.

Entertaining such opinion, I have no hesitation in recommending that total separation be maintained between the committals above a certain age and such as from tender years have grown up in the Institution, the distinction to be maintained till the latter are apprenticed.

I desire further to suggest that, when practicable and able to be done without disclosing the home to parents, children below seven years of age might be placed in private families, under the supervision of the State Children's Relief Board.

My reason for limiting the above suggestion is because "neglected" children beyond the age mentioned frequently require the restraining influences of asylum and school life to subdue the restlessness begotten of their previous habits.

The recent curtailment of the ground belonging to the school will, I fear, increase the difficulty of giving effect to my first recommendation at Biloelela.

The requirements of the new Dock in course of construction have deprived the Institution of its laundry, office, children's playground, and the bathing-house, and make it not improbable that ere long a necessity may declare itself for the entire removal of the School to some other site.

Already large gangs of workmen are employed in the immediate vicinity and under observation of the inmates of the Industrial School. This cannot but have an undesirable effect on the senior girls.

Statistics.

	Girls.	Boys.	Total.
Remaining in Industrial School, 31st December, 1881 ...	109	21	130
Admitted, 1882 ... ..	40	2	52
Re-admitted, 1882 ... ..	10	...	...
	159	23	182
Discharged, 1882—	Girls.	Boys.
Apprenticed ... ..	28	...
On attaining eighteen years of age ...	9	...
To parents, at request ... ..	5	1
Absconded ... ..	2	...
To "Vernon," on attaining seven years ...	7	...
	44	8	52
Remaining in Institution, 31 December, 1882 ... ..	115	15	130

Table

Table of respective ages—				Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Total.
Under 4 years	...	...	...	3
4 to 8	"	"	"	30
8 " 12	"	"	"	42	...	130	...	...
12 " 16	"	"	"	35
16 " 18	"	"	"	20
Daily average of numbers throughout the year 1882					...	102	18	120

Expenditure, 1882.

	£	s.	d.
Salaries	675	0	0
Good conduct gratuities	16	7	9
Rations	1,119	18	0
Fuel and lights	61	15	6
Forage for cows and horse	101	2	0
Medicines	18	10	5
Drapery	140	17	6
School books, stationery, &c.	12	3	7
Ironmongery and crockery	55	10	5
Boots	347	3	0
Sundries	15	14	0
Incidental	79	0	0
	2,643	2	2
Less by payments from parents	11	0	0
	2,632	2	2
Add proportion, Medical Vote	50	0	0
„ payments by Department Colonial Architect—
For ordinary repairs	72	13	0
„ furniture	7	12	0
	80	5	0
	£2,762	7	2
Average cost per head	£23	0	4

The progress in School, according to the report of the Inspector for the Department of Public Instruction, was "nearly fair."

Many of the girls on admission are lamentably ignorant, and often almost unteachable, so far as abstract mental effort is concerned.

THE PROTESTANT ORPHAN SCHOOL, PARRAMATTA.

I HAVE again to testify to the care and attention the children receive at this Orphanage, and to the success as respects their health and cheerful appearance which such exertions on the part of the management secure to them.

Considering the further decrease in the daily average numbers—213 in 1882 against 226 in 1881, and 233 in 1880—and the high rates at which the contracts for provisions were accepted last year, there appears to have been a due regard to economy in the administration, although the maintenance cost per head shows a slight increase—£17 19s. 8d. in 1882, and £17 4s. 5½d. in 1881.

In making comparisons as to relative cost between the two Orphan Schools, or between either and the Randwick Asylum, it should always be remembered that the smaller Institution must stand at disadvantage.

As the children in all three vary between the ages extending almost from infancy to that when they are considered fit to be apprenticed, their divisional staffs of caretakers must correspond, the cost of supervision falling the more lightly per head as the numbers increase.

At the Protestant Orphan School last year a further difficulty was called into existence by the removal of several of the elder girls by the State Children's Relief Society.

Many of these had assisted in the domestic duties of the Institution, and their places could not be supplied without interfering with the schooling of the grade younger than themselves.

Statistics, 1882.

Numbers—		Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1881	...	147	79	226
Admitted during 1882	...	36	21	57
		183	100	283
Discharged during 1882—		Boys.	Girls.
Apprenticed	...	8	13
Returned to relatives	...	18	18
To Boarding-out Officers, S.C.R. Board...	...	7	32
Died	...	1	...
		34	63	97
Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1882	...	149	37	186
Average daily numbers in Orphanage throughout year, 213.		—	—	—

The

The large excess of girls over boys withdrawn for boarding-out will have to be narrowly watched, because it may altogether change the character of our juvenile asylums—leaving for them only boys.

Analysis of Expenditure.

PROTESTANT Orphan School—Average cost in detail for the year 1882.

Year.	Average No. of Children.	Salaries.		Maintenance (Provisions.)		Clothing.		Furniture.		Crockery, hardware, &c.		Fuel.
		Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
		£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
1882 ....	213·2	1,281 15 1	6 0 3	1,336 2 6	6 5 4	436 11 8	2 0 11½	Nil.	Nil.	131 12 2	0 12 4	137 3 5	0 12 10¼
Year.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Light.		Forage.		Incidental Expenses.		Allowance to Officers, in lieu of Quarters, Rations, &c.		School Books and Books for Library.		Medicines.		Total average cost, exclusive of repairs to buildings, &c.
			Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
1882 ....	120 14 0	0 11 3¼	65 19 5	0 6 2¼	185 6 4	0 17 4½	160 0 0	0 15 0	47 15 9	0 4 5½	3 8 0	0 0 3¼	18 6 4¼

	Cost of maintenance.	Cost per head.
As per above return ... ..	£3,906 8 4	£18 6 4¾
Deduct payments by friends of children ...	71 13 6	0 6 8¾
	£3,834 14 10	£17 19 8

The increase in amount paid by parents, &c., is a most satisfactory item, £71 13s. 6d.

Report of school progress during the year 1882 as furnished by the Inspector of Department for Public Instruction:—

Boys' division, progress ... ..	Fair
Girls' do. ... ..	Fair
Infants' do. ... ..	Very fair.

Clothing returns, showing work done—

	Number of articles made.	Repaired.
By the girls ... ..	379	9,809
By attendants ... ..	2,160	No account.

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC ORPHAN SCHOOL, PARRAMATTA.

From the economy of its administration, the healthy and happy condition of the children, and the accord between the latter and their guardians, a very favourable impression is produced upon me on the occasions of my visits to this Institution.

There is, however, a circumstance in connection with it alluded to in previous reports, to which attention seems desirable.

Year by year, in proportion to the total numbers but very few children are apprenticed from this Orphanage, the great bulk of those reaching the apprenticing age being returned to friends.

A suspicion naturally arises as to whether the Committee who recommend applications to the Minister make sufficient inquiry and guard the Government from improper calls being made upon it.

Following up this idea, it is at least remarkable that when it became known that the State Children's Relief Board intended to place some of the children in private (R.C.) families under the Boarding-out System, a considerable number of children were at once withdrawn, thus showing the value of the test principle in the Public Charities.

The medical returns for 1882 are most satisfactory. There was little serious illness, and but few cases of eye disease, the cases being of a constitutional character only.

Of the three deaths reported, two were of female infants very delicate at time of admission.

Statistics.

Numbers—	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Remaining in Institution, 31 December, 1881 ... ..	178	142	320
Admitted during 1882 ... ..	24	15	39
	202	157	359
Discharged, 1882—	Boys.	Girls.
Apprenticed ... ..	9	5
Returned to friends ... ..	36	50
Died ... ..	1	2
	46	57	103
Remaining in Institution, 31 December, 1882 ... ..	156	100	256
Average number of children throughout 1882, 291.

Analysis

Analysis of Expenditure.

A.

AVERAGE cost in detail for the year 1882:—

Year.	Average Number of Children.	Salaries		Maintenance. (Provisions.)		Clothing.		Crockery and Hardware.		Fuel.
		Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
		£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
1882.....	291	1,294 0 0	4 8 11	1,705 19 3½	5 17 2½	620 6 2	2 2 7½	61 0 3	0 4 2½	187 2 0½	0 12 10½
Light.		Forge.		Incidental expenses.		Allowances to Officers in lieu of Quarters and Rations.*		School Books and Stationery.		Medicine.		Total average cost per head, exclusive of repairs to buildings, &c.
Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
57 8 6	0 3 11½	83 6 7½	0 5 8½	72 7 1½	0 4 11½	80 0 0	0 5 5½	80 0 0	0 5 5½	27 0 5	0 1 10½	4,268 10 5	14 13 4½

Daily average number, 291.

Cost of maintenance...	£	s.	d.
Average cost per head	4,268	10	5
Add proportion medical vote, £80; rate per head	14	13	4½
„ Repairs and additions (Colonial Architect's vote).	0	5	6
Deduct received from parents, £29 10s.; sale of pigs, £2 10s. ...	32	0	0
Total cost per head ...

Work done by girls during the year—Articles made, 1,057; repaired, 5,314.

Educational progress—Report of Inspector for Département of Public Instruction:—

Boys' Division...	Fair to very fair
Girls' do. ...	Fair
Infants' do. ...	Fair to very fair.

THE SYDNEY MECHANICS' INSTITUTE AND TECHNICAL COLLEGE.

The number of members increased last year from 1,920 to 1,954, and a further increase appears imminent consequent on the present agitation on foot regarding Sunday opening and cognate questions. The Government has of late become identified with the Institution, from the largeness of its subsidies (£4,027 10s. 10d) for 1882, and will have to secure it from disturbances of a sectional character.

During the year 1882 the Library received large additions, and now contains separate works to the number of 10,724; the newspapers and magazines taken in amounting to 300.

SYDNEY SCHOOL OF ARTS (Branch Institution No. 1).

Financial Statement.

Income—		£	s.	d.
By Subscriptions	...	1,709	10	9
Hire of Hall	...	†1,000	0	0
Rents charged, Technical College	...	500	0	0
Government subsidy, £1 to £2 on subscriptions	...	†1,489	8	4
Miscellaneous	...	69	14	9
		£4,768	13	10
Expenditure—
Salaries...	...	1,201	9	8
Books and binding	...	680	16	2
Newspapers	...	133	0	11
Furniture and repairs...	...	118	11	1
Lighting	...	-193	12	11
Printing and advertising	...	76	12	10
Insurance and interest	...	250	17	6
Miscellaneous ...	...	208	3	7
		£2,863	4	8

Critically examined, the above account bears the following objectionable features:—

That the Society during the year 1882 received from the public funds, on the plea of being public instructors, the sum of £1,755 5s. 10d., which was applied solely to the maintenance and extension of a miscellaneous library (consisting largely of works of popular fiction).

That it carried a credit balance of £900 to a reserve fund of its own, casting upon its branch institution, the Technical College (further aided by Government to extent of £2,272 5s.) the expenditure on what should have fallen upon itself as a public instructor.

To

* Boys' Teacher allowed £54 per annum in lieu of quarters and rations; baker allowed £26 per annum in lieu of quarters.
† £100 of which was for 1881. ‡ 63½ 2s. 6d. of which was for 1881.

To better explain my meaning, it seems to me that to a School of Arts belongs the teaching of science and co-ordinate matters, as to a Technical College that of the application of science to actual works, trades, and manufactures.

Had such distinction been made, we should have found within its curriculum, and paid for out of above sum of £900, the classes and lectures on Constitutional History and Political Economy, English History and Literature, Elocution and Grammar, Abstract Mathematics, Phonography, Physiology, Languages, Class Singing, and Free-hand Drawing,—subjects which I contend do not legitimately come within the sphere of technical training.

I may conclude these remarks by observing that I do not advocate a separation in the classes carried on under the two branches of the one Institution, but only that all the Government aid should be fully utilized in teaching, and not carried to any reserve fund, or to recoup previous outlay of the Society.

Government subsidy should be paid to the College, and it should be entirely disassociated from the Institute, the latter charging for its hall as a private corporation.

TECHNICAL COLLEGE (Branch Institution, No 2).

		Financial Statement, 1882.
Income—		£	s.	d.
Government grant in aid	... ..	2,272	5	0
Class fees	... ..	1,281	18	4
Receipts from lectures	... ..	93	17	0
		<hr/>
		3,648	0	4
Expenditure—		<hr/>
Purchase of apparatus, models, &c.	... ..	£314	8	0
Furniture, fittings, &c.	... ..	97	16	2
Salaries...	... ..	320	18	4
Allowances to teachers	... ..	372	7	6
Fees paid to do.	... ..	1,281	18	4
Advertising and printing	... ..	253	2	4
Lectures, expenses	... ..	237	19	0
Rent of buildings	... ..	570	1	0
Miscellaneous	... ..	272	6	7
		<hr/>
		3,720	17	3

Owing to the early receipt of the Government subsidy, the Technical College was enabled last year to better consolidate its classes, and to give fixed salaries to the teachers of Chemistry, Engineering, Modelling, and Free-hand Drawing, and the classes on Architecture and Building Construction were improved and formed on a more comprehensive basis.

Arrangements were also initiated for opening classes on Geology and Mineralogy,—subjects which in this Colony are deserving of a chief place in the teaching of all our Schools of Arts cum Technical Colleges.

The Management are deserving of praise, not only for the economy of its administration, but for the results they have already secured from the teaching they afford, several of their students having gained prizes or favourable recognition beyond the Colony.

With a view to adding value and status to their School, the Board have asked to be affiliated to the Sydney University, so that the annual examinations may be conducted by its Professors, with whom will lie the granting of certificates of competency to successful students.

With certain modifications to meet local conditions, the system accepted by the directing Board is very similar to one suggested by Professor Huxley for the recently organized City and Liveries Institute of London.

It was intended at one time to make the course of instruction extend over a period of three years for those desirous of reaching the grade of Associate, but experience has shown that at the present time there are insuperable difficulties in carrying out such idea, and it has therefore for the present been abandoned.

The following statistics exhibit the number of students, ages and occupation, the studies engaged in, and the subjects of the principal lectures delivered during the year 1882:—

Number of classes, 29; entries, 2,003; individuals, 1,100.

Average of ages, eighteen years, reduced by the number of youths between thirteen and sixteen years, who attended the Commercial Class.

Statement of the occupations of the students in attendance during the period from January 1st to 31st December, 1882:—

Architects and draughtsmen, 24; agents, 2; accountants, 3; articled clerks (solicitors), 42; bricklayers, 16; builders, 8; boilermakers, 3; bookbinders, 2; booksellers, 2; bootmakers, 5; brewers, 2; clothmaker, 1; carpenters and joiners, 96; clerks (mercantile), 99; coach-builders, 3; confectioner, 1; chimney-sweep, 1; clergymen, 2; civil servants, 30; carvers and gilders, 7; chemists, 15; cabinet-makers, 2; drapers, 18; engravers, 5; engine-driver, 1; engineers, 54; farmers and gardeners, 7; grocers, 8; gasfitters, 4; ironmongers, 6; iron-moulders, 7; labourers, 6; leather-workers, 2; medical students, 2; messengers, 20; millers, 2; plasterers, 19; painters and decorators, 18; printers, 18; plumbers, 6; photographers, 2; reporters, 5; stonemasons and quarrymen, 31; scholars, 40; smiths, 7; stone-carvers, 6; storemen and carters, 17; saddlers, 6; shipwrights, 6; tailors and dress-makers, 7; teachers, 49; tobacco-workers, 3; watchmakers and jewellers, 15; warehousemen, 8; wood-turners, 2; unspecified, 223. Total, 1,003.

Statement of Classes, Students, Fees collected, &amp;c, to 31 December, 1882.

Classes	Number of Students entered	Fees paid by Students on behalf of Teachers	Allowances to the Teachers in addition to fees	Equivalent of half fees from poor Students paid to Teachers
		£ s d	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Anatomy and Physiology	23	9 5 0	...	...
Applied Mechanics and Steam-engine	27	22 4 0
Actuarial Science	32	49 4 0
Chemistry	90	119 16 0	...
Commercial (Writing, Arithmetic, &c)	420	200 8 10	18 0 0	11 1 0
Drawing (School of Design)—
Architectural ... ..	171	94 15 6	21 10 0	0 12 6
Free-hand	226	103 16 8	185 11 0	0 5 0
Mechanical	55	29 15 9		1 11 3
Design	25	8 18 4
Ladies only	95	121 3 6
Painting in oil, &c	32	59 7 6
Geometry and Perspective	11	4 0 0	19 10 0
Elocution	41	17 12 6		0 10 0
Electricity	8	10 10 0	..
English Grammar	58	21 4 0
" Constitutional History	10	3 3 0	.. . . .	.. . . .
" History and Literature	8	4 0 0		.. . . .
Languages—
French . . . . .	121	58 7 0	.. . . .	0 15 0
German . . . . .	23	16 10 0		.. . . .
Greek . . . . .	11	5 17 6		0 15 0
Italian . . . . .	13	8 10 0	.. . . .	.. . . .
Latin . . . . .	33	22 0 0	.....	1 10 0
Law . . . . .	164	132 6 0	.. . . .	.. . . .
Mathematics . . . . .	72	35 6 6	.. . . .	.. . . .
Modelling . . . . .	48	23 17 6	40 3 4	.. . . .
Pharmacy . . . . .	19	8 15 0	.....	.. . . .
Singing . . . . .	87	16 15 6		.. . . .
Shorthand . . . . .	73	33 19 6		0 5 0
*Bricklayers' . . . . .	7	4 7 6	2 0 0	.. . . .
Students' fees paid 31st December ..		36 1 9	..	.. . . .
Total classes, 29 . . . . .	2,003	1,281 18 4	286 14 4	17 4 9

* Commenced October 1st

For summary of operations, management, income, and expenditure of seventy-five country Schools of Art and Literary Institutions, see letter to Colonial Secretary heading this Report. Full details in tabulated form are as follows—pages 43 to 55 —

COUNTRY SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1882.

Name.	Locality.			Trustees.	Management.			Rules furnished.	Days and hours Institution is open to the public (Sundays and public holidays excepted.)
	Distance and direction from Sydney.	Available to Population of	Population Increasing.		Administration.
					Total Committee.	Officers (including President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary).	Appointment.
Adelong Literary Institute .....	311 S.W.	700	Not increasing	No Freehold .....	12	4	Ballot .....	None printed	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Albury School of Arts .....	387 S.W.	3,000	Steadily .....	T. H. Mate, A. Andrew, M.D., V. F. Nagle, G. C. Thorold, P. E. Fallon.	9	4	Annual ballot	Work well, sent	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Anvil Creek School of Arts.....	100 N.	100	Moderately .....	Wm. Farthing, J.P., Thos. Tunks, Esqs.....	9	4	Ballot .....	„ furnished	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Armidale Literary Institute ...	313 N.	3,000	Rapidly .....	Mayor and Aldermen .....	9	4	By M. Council	No copy; work well	Daily, 8 a.m. to 9.30 p.m.
Ashfield School of Arts.....	5 W.	2,000	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Daily, 5 to 10; Sat. 3.30 to 10.
Ballina School of Arts (closed)...	.....	.....	.....	No Trustees. The temporary building occupied was destroyed by storm. Funds are being collected for a permanent structure.	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Balmain Working Men's Institute.	3 W.	700	Rapidly .....	J. Booth, J.P., H. Perdriau, and N. Selfe, Esqs. ....	12	4	Annual ballot	Work well ...	Nightly, 7 to 10 p.m.; Saturday, 3 to 11 p.m.
Bathurst School of Arts .....	145 W.	7,000	Slowly .....	Jas. Rutherford, E. Webb, M.L.A., W. H. Suttor, M.L.C., J. Busby, and G. A. May, J's.P., Esqs.	12	3	„	Not furnished	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Bega School of Arts .....	255 S.	2,000	Rapidly .....	R. Ritchie, J. Davis, J. H. Lee, and — Wray, Esqs.	7	4	.....	.....	.....
Boat Harbour School of Arts ...	374 N.	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Braidwood Literary Institute...	180 S.	1,500	Slowly .....	Maddrell, Burn, Leeke, Larmer, J's.P., Esqs. ....	7	4	Annual ballot	Furnished ...	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Branxton Mechanics' Institute..	110 N.	200	„ .....	A. Russell, T. Drinan, M'Donald, Esqs. ....	.....	4	.....	.....	Wed. and Sat., 7 to 10 p.m.
Brewarrina School of Arts .....	520 N.W.	200	Rapidly .....	No Freehold .....	7	4	.....	.....	Tues. and Fri. 7 to 9 p.m.
Bombala School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute.	312 S.S.W.	.....	Slowly .....	W. Rutherford, W. Coulter, J's.P., Esqs. ....	13	3	Annual ballot	Work well ...	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Botany School of Arts .....	5 S.	300	„ .....	Jno. Geddes, G. L. Lord, and Wm. Stephen, J's.P., Esqs.	9	4	Ballot .....	„	Four days in week 7 to 9 p.m.
Bourke Mechanics' Institute ...	600 N.W.	1,600	„ .....	J. Becker (deceased), G. C. Tompson, M. Good, Esqs....	7	4	„	Furnished ; work well.	Mon, Wed., and Sat., 8 to 10 p.m., Sundays, 2 to 5 p.m.
Burwood School of Arts .....	7 W.	5,500	„ .....	H. Humphery, J.P., W. Archer, Mayor, K. King, Esq., and S. H. Lambton, C.S.	6	5	„	.....	Mon., Wed., Friday, 7.30 to 9 p.m.
Cambewarra School of Arts.....	106 S.	500	„ .....	Jas. Waddington and Jas. Frazer, J's.P., Esqs. ; Chas. Moffitt, T. Shepherd, and S. Matthew, Esqs.	9	4	Annual ballot	Furnished ; work well.	Daily, 7 to 10 p.m.
Camden School of Arts.....	41 S.	1,200	„ .....	E. Simpson, J.P., B. Martin, C.P.S., T. Burritt, Esqs. (deceased)	7	4	„	.....	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Carcoar School of Arts .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Half-yearly ballot.	.....	Closed.
Casino School of Arts .....	450 N.	900	Rapidly .....	W. Bundock, J. Barling, J's.P., J. Grime, Esq. ....	12	5	Annual ballot	Furnished ; work fairly.	Daily, 9 a.m. to 9.30 p.m.
Charlestown Literary Institute	50 N.	100	.....	Not answered .....	7	5	.....	.....	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Clarence Town School of Arts...	111 N.	500	Nearly stationary	Messrs. B. Eagleton, S. Roberts, F. Lowe, A. M'Donald	7	5	Annual ballot	Not forwarded	Tues., Thurs., Sat., 7 to 10 p.m.
Cudal .....	220 W.	500	Rapidly .....	E. Taylor, Esq., G. I. Healy, L.V., M. Lannan, selector	4	4	Ballot .....	Not printed...	Tues. and Thurs., 7 to 9 p.m.
Clifton School of Arts .....	36 S.	250	„ .....	None .....	8	4	„ .....	„	Two days, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Sat. 2 to 9.30 p.m.
Cooma School of Arts .....	264 S.W.	900	Gradually.....	R. Dawson, P.M., W. Jardine, J. Lutchfield, J.P., Esq.	12	5	„ .....	Not yet agreed to.	Daily, 2 to 4, and 7.30 to 9.30 p.m.

COUNTRY SCHOOLS OF ARTS, &c.—continued.

680

Name.	Locality.			Trustees.	Management.			Rules furnished.	Days and hours Institution is open to the public (Sundays and public holidays excepted.)
	Distance and direction from Sydney.	Available to Population of.	Population Increasing.		Total Committee.	Administration. Officers (including President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary).	Appointment.
Coonabarabran School of Arts...	300 N. W.	600	Steadily .....	J. M. Allison, J. L. Brown, S. Hole, J. Knight, H. H. Kelly, Esqs.	5	4	.....	Work well ...	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Corowa School of Arts .....	400	1,500	Rapidly .....	L. Levin, M.L.A., M. F. Martin, J. Hudson, Esqs. ....	9	4	.....	Not forwarded	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Cowra School of Arts .....	130 W.	500	," .....	G. Campbell, D. Donnelly, J's.P., Esqs. ....	5	5	.....	Well .....	Daily, 4 to 10 p.m.
Deniliquin School of Arts .....	472 S. W.	2,600	Gradually.....	T. Brown, H. W. Hunter, J. Kynaston, Esqs. ....	9	4	.....	New rules not printed.	Daily, 10 to 12 a.m., 6 to 10 p.m.
Denman School of Arts .....	165 N.	350	Slowly .....	W. Bright, E. White, W. Munro, Esqs. ....	6	4	.....	Not forwarded	Daily issues from library, 8 to 10 p.m.
Dubbo Mechanics' Institute ...	278 N. W.	2,000	Rapidly .....	J. Samuels, Esq., G. W. Taylor, Esq., auctioneer, W. H. Tibbet, M.D.	7	5	.....	, ...	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Dungog School of Arts .....	130 N.	500	Gradually.....	Rev. J. J. Nash, H. Gordon, P.M., R. M'Cormack, J's.P., Esqs.	7	5	.....	Furnished ...	Daily, 8 a.m. to 9-30 p.m.
East Maitland Mechanics' Institute.	93 N.	600	Slowly .....	Alex. Dodds, F. Nainby, Esqs. ....	9	4	.....	Not forwarded	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Frederickton School of Arts ...	260 N. W.	500	Not rapidly ...	J. Wilson, F. W. Chapman, J. Lancaster, Esqs. ....	5	4	Ballot .....	Out " of print.	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Forbes School of Arts .....	240 W.	2,000	," .....	J. Bodel, A. S. Burne, H. H. Hunt, Esqs. ....	8	4	," .....	.....	Daily, 9-30 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Gladstone School of Arts .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Gosford Literary Institute .....	.....	.....	Closed .....	Temporarily closed for want of subscriptions	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Goulburn School of Arts .....	134 S.	5,000	Rapidly .....	J. C. Gannon, S. Emanuel, W. Riley, W. Davies, P.M., Esqs.	12	4	.....	Work well ...	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Grafton School of Arts .....	400 N.	2,000	," .....	A. Lardner, T. Bawden, T. Fisher, J.P., Esqs. ....	6	4	.....	.....	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Grenfell School of Arts .....	260	1,000	Steadily .....	No Freehold .....	6	2	.....	.....	Daily, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Greta School of Arts .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Gulgong School of Arts .....	Library.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Gundagai Literary Institute ...	287 S. W.	800	Not rapidly ...	No Trust .....	8	Not stated..	.....	Written only; no copy furnished.	Wednesday, 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 3 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.
Guntawang School of Arts .....	200 N. W.	200	," .....	G. Rouse, R. Rouse, R. Rouse, T. A. Brown, P.M., Esqs. There is question as to whether these gentlemen are still Trustees.	9	4	.....	Work well ...	Daily, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.
Hay Athenæum .....	450 S. W.	2,000	Increasing ...	C. Simpson and J. E. Blewitt, Esqs. ....	13	5	.....	Obsolete .....	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., except Sundays.
Hamilton School of Arts .....	60 N.	2,000	," .....	D. Murray, A. Wilde, G. M'Kean, D. Mundie, Esqs. ...	12	4	.....	Work well ...	Daily, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Hill End School of Arts .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Hinton School of Arts .....	100 N.	300	Not rapidly ...	W. Christian, R. Stubbs, J. M. Smith, Esqs. ....	6	4	.....	Not printed ...	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Lambton Mechanics' and Miners' Institute.	75 N.	3,500	Rapidly .....	R. Morehead, W. Shannon, Esqs., Messrs. R. Cairns, W. Richardson, J. Elliot, operatives.	8	6	.....	Furnished.....	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Largs School of Arts.....	98 N.	300	Slowly .....	R. Graham and J. Pearse, graziers; J. Mitchell and C. Bowden, farmers; J. Bluford, L.V.	6	5	Ballot .....	Copy sent .....	Thurs. and Sat., 7 to 10 p.m.
Lismore School of Arts.....	357	Not answd.	Very rapidly	G. Larkin, storekeeper; J. Stocks, auctioneer .....	11	4	," .....	Not printed ...	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Merriwa School of Arts .....	200 N. W.	1,000	Slowly .....	A. B. Bettington, J. Cooper, J. White, J's.P., Esqs. ...	5	4	.....	Want revising	Sun., 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; daily, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.; 3 nights 7 to 10 p.m.

44

COUNTRY SCHOOLS OF ARTS, &c.—continued.

Name.	Locality.			Trustees.	Management.			Rules furnished.	Days and hours Institution is open to the public (Sundays and public holidays excepted).
	Distance and direction from Sydney.	Available to Population of	Population increasing.		Administration.
					Total Committee.	Officers (including President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary).	Appointment.
Milton School of Arts	150 S.	580	Steady increase	Thos. Warden, J. Miller, J's.P., Esqs.	4	4	Ballot	Not furnished.	Daily, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Minmi School of Arts (closed)	100 N.	500	Increasing	No Trustees; no subscribers	...	...	...	...	Closed for some time.
Molong School of Arts	214 W.	1,000	Rapidly	W. Farmer, Jun., H. Parslow, J. M. Hughes, Esqs	8	4	...	...	Daily, 7 to 10 p.m.
Morpeth School of Arts	97 N.	1,200	"	Hon. R. Wisdom, M.L.A., D. Sims, of Iron Foundry	8	4	...	...	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Mudgee School of Arts	180 N.W.	2,000	Slowly	G. H. Cox, M.L.C., G. Rouse, D. Cassin, J'sP., Esqs	13	6	...	...	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Murrurundi Mechanics' Institute and School of Arts.	190 N.N.W.	350	Not increasing	G. Brodie, C.P.S. and J.P., Rev. J. Nash, A. Loder, J.P., Esqs.; all absentees from district.	8	4	Ballot	Not furnished.	Daily, 7 to 10 p.m.; Sat., also 3 to 6 p.m.
Muswellbrook School of Arts	150 N.	1,000	...	W. Bowman, J. H. Keys, Hon. Jas. White, Esqs.	10	4	"	Furnished	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Narrabri Mechanics' Institute	300 N.W.	1,000	Rapidly	C. M. de Lepe Wanche, C. Collins, Esqs.	12	4	"	Not furnished.	Daily, 7-30 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Newcastle School of Arts	68 N.	10,000	"	T. Hammel, deceased; C. Bolton, T. Ash, C. Ranchard, T. Greenway, Esqs.	12	4	"	...	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
North Willoughby School of Arts	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Orange Mechanics' Institute and School of Arts.	192 W.	3,000	Steadily	Jas. Dalton, C. Mackay, J'sP., Esqs	6	5	...	Not furnished.	Daily, 3 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m.
Parramatta School of Arts	15 W.	15,000	"	Land resumed by Government	6	3	Ballot	Work well	Daily, 7 to 10 p.m.
Paterson School of Arts	105 N.	500	Slowly	J. Luke, H. Brown, W. C. Rodgerson, J. Cann, W. Keppie, Esqs.	5	4	...	...	Wed. and Sat., 8 to 10 p.m.
Petersham Working Men's Institute.	3 W.	2,500	Rapidly	F. Parsons, H. Taylor, J. Wheeler, — Good, Esqs.	6	4	Half-yearly.	...	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Plattsburg Working Men's Institute.	75 N.W.	6,000	Very rapidly..	Major J. Richardson, J. Fletcher, Geo. Harris, T. Abel, D. Fuller, Esqs.	9	4	...	Not printed; work well.	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Queanbeyan Library and Institute.	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Raymond Terrace School of Arts	90 N.	800	Rapidly	J. Richardson, merchant; W. E. Shaw, P.O.; J. Hart, merchant; J. Garrett, and J. Michael.	5	...	Half-yearly.	...	Tues., Thurs., and Sat., 8 to 11 p.m.
Richmond School of Arts	37½ W.	1,000	Slowly	Rev. J. Cameron, A. Town, W. Newcomen, J'sP., Esqs.	5	4	Ballot	...	Daily, 7 to 9 p.m.
Rocky Mouth Mechanics' Institute.	325 N.	600	Rapidly	A. Cameron, S. M'Naughton, J. Weekes, Esqs.	7	4	...	Not printed	Daily, 9 to 9.
St. Leonards School of Arts	2 N.	6,000	Very rapidly..	W. Tunks, Mayor, R. Ward, M.D., C. Woolcott, J'sP., Esqs.	7	5	...	Not sent	} Daily, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Scone School of Arts	200 N.	500	Not rapidly	Thos. Cook, Alex. Johnstone, Esqs.	9	4	...	Furnished
Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts.	...	...	Rapidly	Act of Incorporation vested in Committee	12	4	...	Not furnished.	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Singleton School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute.	123 N.W.	1,000	Slowly	Alexr. Munro, grazier, J. Moore, merchant	9	4	Half-yearly.	Furnished	Daily.
								"	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

45

COUNTRY SCHOOLS OF ARTS, &c.—continued.

Name	Locality			Trustees	Management.
	Distances and direction from Sydney	Available to Population of	Population increasing		Administration.			Rules furnished	Days and hours Institution is open to the public (Sundays and public holidays excepted).
					Total Committee	Officers (including President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary)	Appointment.
South Grafton School of Arts	350 N.	500	Rapidly	Duncan Beatson, W. J. Hawthorne, H. Morrow, Esqs	12	3	Ballot . . .	.. . . .	Daily, 10 a. m. to 9 p. m.
Stroud School of Arts	121 N.	350	Slowly .	T. Laman, C.P.S., P. W. Mallon, M.D., E. C. Nicholls, grazier.	12	4	.... .	.. . . .	Daily, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Tamworth Mechanics' Institute	248 N.W.	1,000	Rapidly	J. Garland, J. McDonald, D. Regan, Esqs. . . . .	13	4	Ballot	.	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Tumut School of Arts	262 S.	800	Gradually ..	R. B. Eynch, M.D., H. Marks, W. Bridle, J.P., Esqs	5	3	Half-yearly.	.	Daily, 9 a. m. to 10 p.m.
Tenterfield School of Arts	421 N.	1,000	Steadily	C. A. Lee, E. Irby, E. R. Whereat, T. Peberdy, C. I. Cavanagh, Esqs.	10	5	Ballot .	.. .	Daily, 10 a. m. to 10 p.m.
Uralla Literary Institute	315 N.	600	Moderately	Question not answered . . . . .	6	4	" "	.	Daily, 10 a. m. to 10 p.m.
Walcha School of Arts	303 N.	400	"	R. O. Hardaker, G. R. Gill, M. A. Mitchell, Esqs.. .	10	4	" "	.	Daily, 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.
Wallsend School of Arts	75 N.	5,000	Increasing	J. Y. Neilson, J.P., Dr. Nash, J. Fryar, L. J. Grierson, storekeepers; S. A. Snadden.	11	4	" "	Not sent .	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Wagga Wagga Mechanics' Institute.	309 S.W.	4,000	Rapidly	H. B. Fitzhardinge, solicitor . . . . .	12	5	" "	Sent .. .	Daily, 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.; Sun., 2 to 6 p. m.
Waiatah School of Arts	72 N.	1,700	Moderately	David Watson, storekeeper, W. Harris, J. Anderson, Esqs.	9	4	Half-yearly.	.. . . .	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Warialda Mechanics' Institute	.	.	.	None. An attempt to open a School of Arts was made in the year 1879, but failed. The money collected remains at interest.	...	...	.. . . .	.. . . .
West Matland School of Arts..	115 N.	7,000	Slowly	Michl. and R. Scobie, farmers, Rd. Jones, Esq., J. Lee, and J. J. Riley, merchants.	15	5	Ballot .	.	Daily, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., 7 to 10 p.m.
Wickham School of Arts	78 N.	1,000	Rapidly	T. Cox, merchant, A. M. Frewin, J.P., Esqs.	12	5	.... .	.	Daily, 6 to 10 p.m.
Windsor School of Arts	34 N.W.	2,000	Steadily	J. Tebbutt, F.R.A.S., J. Cunneen, M.L.A., W. Walker, Esq.	12	4	.....	Work well .	Daily, 7 to 10 p.m.; Wed., 4 to 5 p.m.; Sat., 3 to 4 p.m.
Wyrallah School of Arts	500 N.	250	Slowly	No freehold . . . . .	3	4	.	" "	Daily, 9 a. m. to 6 p.m.
Wollongong School of Arts	50 S.	2,500	Rapidly .	.	.	.	.	.	.
Woodville School of Arts	96	200	Slowly	Messrs. Croaker & Skinner, farmers, and Wigull, store-keeper.	.	.....	.. . . .	.. . . .	On Thursdays, 8 to 10 p.m.
Woodford School of Arts	.	.	.	.	..	..	..	..	.
Wingham School of Arts	195 N.	250	Rapidly ..	J. A. Creagh, C.P.S., J. Andrews, M.L.A., J. Hall, surveyor.	8	4	Ballot . . .	.. . . .	Friday for 3 hours; other days at call.
Wentworth Mechanics' Institute	.	.	.	None yet elected . . . . .	12	5	" "	Not furnished.	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Ulmaira School of Arts	.	.	.	.	..	.....	..	..	.
Yass Mechanics' Institute	200 S.W.	700	Steadily	No returns . . . . .	..	.....	..	..	.
Young Mechanics' Institute	...	.	.. . . .	No returns . . . . .	..	.....	..	..	.

COUNTRY SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C., 1882—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING.

Name.	Results.											Miscellaneous.
	No. of Subscribers.	Membership.		Library			Classes held during 1881.			Lectures delivered during 1881.			The Hall—how used.
		Annual Subscription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of; Books chiefly read.	Number.	Subjects.	Attendance.	Number.	Subjects.	Audiences.
Adelong Literary Institute	90	£ 0 12 0	...	350	Chiefly fiction..	Fiction chiefly read	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	No hall.
Albury School of Arts	97	1 0 0	.....	574	Miscellaneous..	History & fiction	None	.....	.....	1	Robert Burns	Fair	Concerts, soirees, public meetings.
Anvil Creek School of Arts	20	0 10 0	.....	280	General.....	General subjects..	None	.....	.....	None	None	.....	Public and religious meetings.
Armidale Literary Institute	100	0 16 0	.....	1,020	Miscellaneous..	Well—general subjects	None	.....	.....	None	None	.....	Balls and dramatic entertainments.
Ashfield School of Arts...	300	0 10 0	.....	1,200	Fiction, travels, history	.....	None	.....	.....	None	Not stated	.....	Concerts, lectures, &c.
Ballina School of Arts	...	...	.....	550	Miscellaneous..	Well—all subjects	None	None	.....	None	.....	.....	Not let.
Balmain Working Men's Institute	50	{ 1 5 0 0 10 0 }	.....	550	Miscellaneous..	History & science	None	.....	.....	None	None	.....	No hall.
Bathurst School of Arts	514	{ 1 0 0 0 10 0 }	.....	7,287	Works of reference, history, science, miscellaneous	Much used; general selection of books taken.	None	.....	.....	2	Human Physiology, and Difs. of Vision	not numerous.	Public entertainments, or lectures.
Bega School of Arts	44	.....	.....	1,940	Miscellaneous..	Well—general ...	None	.....	.....	None	Poetry	.....	Local meetings, or entertainments.
Braidwood Literary Institute	100	1 0 0	.....	3,000	Largely fiction	.....	None	.....	.....	2	Dickens, & Readings	.....	Drama, concerts, social meetings.
Branxton Mechanics' Institute	20	2 qrlly.	.....	400	Miscellaneous..	Chiefly fiction read	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	General entertainments.
Brewarrina School of Arts	54	5	.....	400	Chiefly fiction..	Much used	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	No hall.
Bombala School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute.	76	0 10 0	.....	1,000	Travels, poetry, fiction.	Fairly—standard works.	None	.....	.....	1	Land We Live in...	.....	Drama, concerts, lectures, balls.
Botany School of Arts	32	0 2 6	.....	500	Miscellaneous..	Fairly, on general subjects	None	.....	.....	1	Temperance	.....	Concerts, tea meetings, temperance lodges.
Bourke Mechanics' Institute	75	1 0 0	.....	860	Miscellaneous..	Fiction most read	None	.....	.....	1	Readings, recitations, and debates	Small...	General high-class entertainments—Choral Society.
Burwood School of Arts	47	0 10 0	.....	1,838	Miscellaneous..	Novels, history, &c.	None	.....	.....	2 or 3	Not stated	.....	Lectures, concerts, drama.
Cambewarra School of Arts	12	0 10 0	.....	105	Science, history, biography.	Not much used.	1	Young men's mutual improvement.	.....	.....	.....	.....	Literary purposes, and music.
Camden School of Arts	62	0 10 0	.....	806	General character.	Fairly availed of	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Concerts, balls, theatricals, public meetings, dinners, &c.
Casino School of Arts	79	1 0 0	.....	800	Chiefly light reading.	Well used	1	None	.....	1	Temperance	150	Vocal, instrumental, and dramatic entertainments.
Charleston Literary Institute	12	0 12 0	.....	150	Not much used	.....	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	.....
Clarence Town School of Arts	30	0 10 0	.....	413	General.....	Novels most read	None	Mutual improvement class.	.....	.....	.....	.....	Balls and concerts.
Cudal School of Arts	30	0 10 0	.....	120	General	.....	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Concerts and balls.
Clifton School of Arts	70	0 12 0	.....	42	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	.....	None	.....	Reading-room meetings.
Cooma School of Arts	40	1 0 0	.....	600	Miscellaneous..	Historical works and fiction chiefly read	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Bellringers, and drama.
Coonabarabran School of Arts	45	1 0 0	.....	700	Miscellaneous..	Chiefly fiction	None	Mutual improvement class.	Not stated.	1	Astronomy	Full house.	Lectures, drama, concerts, public meetings.
Corowa School of Arts	67	1 0 0	.....	.....	.....	.....	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Not stated.
Cowra School of Arts	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Deniliquin School of Arts	31	1 0 0	10s per quarter for mathematical classes	318	Miscellaneous, but chiefly light literature.	Light literature most used.	1	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Destroyed by fire.
Denman School of Arts	55	0 10 0	.....	1,000	Miscellaneous.	Well availed of	None	.....	.....	2	Days of Creation	Good	Concerts, tea meetings, general entertainments.
Dubbo Mechanics' Institute	100	0 10 0	0 4 0	1,300	Miscellaneous..	Well availed of—fiction chiefly	1	Debating class	30	None	None	.....	Now seldom let.

COUNTRY SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1882—continued.

Name.	Results.												Miscellaneous.  The Hall—how used.
	Membership.			Library.			Classes held during 1881.			Lectures delivered during 1881.
	No. of Subscribers.	Annual Subscription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of; Books chiefly read.	Number.	Subjects.	Attendance.	Number.	Subjects.	Audiences.
Dungog School of Arts	50	£ 0 10 0	.....	550	Larger portion consists of fiction.	History, travels, fiction.	.....	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Concerts, and public entertainments.
East Maitland Mechanics' Institute.	50	0 12 0	.....	2,050	Chiefly fiction..	.....	.....	.....	.....	6	Science, Colour Blindness, Seashore, London, Samoa.	.....	Concerts, lectures, bazaars, and meetings.
Forbes School of Arts	100	1 0 0	.....	900	Miscellaneous..	All kinds read ...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Fredrickton School of Arts	26	1 0 0 0 10 0 1 0 0	.....	224	Miscellaneous..	.....	1	Mutual instruction	25	.....	.....	.....	Public meetings, and the drama.
Goulburn School of Arts	343	0 10 6 0 5 6	.....	4,830	General literature	Well .....	.....	None	.....	.....	None	.....	Concerts, balls, theatrical entertainments.
Grenfell	35	1 0 0	.....	400	Miscellaneous..	Well .....	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	No hall.
Grafton School of Arts	118	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	2,800	General literature	.....	.....	.....	.....	3	Life in India: J. Bright; Land Tenure.	Very fair	Concerts, theatricals, and readings.
Gundagai Literary Institute	25	1 0 0	.....	750	Chiefly fiction..	Not much, except light literature.	.....	None	.....	None	.....	.....	Is in the Court-house pro tem . No hall.
Guntawang School of Arts	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Used solely by employes of Mr. Rouse. Opened on application.
Hamilton School of Arts	74	0 12 0	.....	704	Miscellaneous..	Novels chiefly taken out.	.....	None	.....	1	Robert Burns	.....	Concerts, and tea meetings.
Hay Athenæum	68	1 0 0	.....	273	Science & fiction..	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Concerts, balls, &c.
Hinton School of Arts	18	0 12 0	.....	400	Miscellaneous..	Fairly .....	None	None	.....	1	Fall of Roman Empire	Good	Concerts, tea meetings, &c.
Lambton Mechanics' and Miners' Institute.	119	0 12 0	.....	1,900	Miscellaneous..	.....	.....	.....	.....	2	House of Commons: Charles Dickens.	.....	Not let to general public.
Largs School of Arts	55	0 6 0	.....	281	Miscellaneous..	Much used .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	None	.....	Public meetings, &c.
Lismore School of Arts	49	1 0 0	.....	96	Fiction & travels..	.....	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	No hall.
Merriwa School of Arts	29	0 16 0	.....	388	Miscellaneous..	Fiction chiefly read..	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Musical and literary meetings.
Milton School of Arts	74	0 10 0	.....	700	Miscellaneous..	Novels, science, travels.	.....	.....	Fairly	.....	.....	80	Principally for concerts and travelling troupes of players.
Minmi School of Arts	.....	.....	.....	.....	Chiefly fiction..	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	For entertainments.
Molong School of Arts	55	1 0 0	.....	567	Miscellaneous..	Books in demand	1	Debating only	.....	None	.....	.....	Concerts, & travelling companies.
Morpeth School of Arts	57	1 0 0 0 12 0	.....	597	Miscellaneous..	Chiefly fiction ...	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	No reply.
Mudgee School of Arts	130	1 0 0	.....	2,192	.....	Chiefly fiction ...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Theatricals, concerts, tea meetings, &c.
Murrurundi Mechanics' Institute and School of Arts.	61	0 10 6	.....	1,090	Miscellaneous..	Fiction, history, science.	1	Debating	20	2	Egypt, Electricity	Fair	Musical, dramatic, and other entertainments, &c.
Musclebrook School of Arts	80	0 16 0	None	1,009	Miscellaneous..	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Readings and public entertainments.
Narrabri Mechanics' Institute	57	1 0 0	.....	500	Miscellaneous..	Chiefly fiction ...	.....	.....	.....	.....	Life of Macaulay	Small	Concerts, lectures, bazaars, drama.
Newcastle School of Arts	400	0 12 0	By arrangement.	3,919	Miscellaneous..	Chief issues are fiction, voyages, travels, history, and science.	1	Drawing class	.....	.....	Physical Science	Fair	Accumulating a fund for erecting a hall. £390 14s., less £100.
Orange Mechanics' Institute and School of Arts.	190	1 0 0	.....	3,000	.....	All kinds called for, but fiction preferred.	.....	.....	.....	2	America: George Washington.	.....	Theatricals, concerts, public meetings, and lectures.
Parramatta School of Arts	160	0 10 0	.....	2,500	Chiefly educational.	Well used .....	None	Latin and drawing classes forming.	.....	.....	.....	.....	Hall resumed by Government for Public School.

684

48

COUNTRY SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1882—continued.

Name.	Results.												Miscellaneous.
	Membership.			Library.			Classes held during 1881.			Lectures delivered during 1881.			The Hall—how used.
	No. of Subscribers.	Annual Subscription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of; Books chiefly read.	Number.	Subjects.	Attendance.	Number.	Subjects.	Audiences.
Paterson School of Arts	46	£ 0 10 0	.....	450	Miscellaneous	Fiction chiefly ...	None	.....	.....	1	Dickens' Sketches...	Small ...	Panorama, temperance soirees. Let for a variety of purposes. Let to Department of Public Instruction as a Public School. Concerts, &c.  Concerts and drama, &c.  Concerts, drama, and balls.  Principally for music and drama. Concerts, lectures, and public entertainments. Concerts, drama, and opera.  Tea and musical meetings, &c. Public entertainments. Musical and dramatic entertainments. No hall.  Theatricals, lectures, &c.  Concerts occasionally, lectures, and drama. Drama and music. Let to Municipal Council.  Balls and concerts.  Entertainments. Chiefly concerts.  Sacred concerts, and temperance meetings. Meetings, social, musical, and dramatic. No hall. Various meetings.
Petersham Working Men's Institute	73	1 0 0	.....	448	History and fiction	Not stated	91	Primary Education	15 each	.....	.....	.....
Plattsburg Working Men's Institute.	110	0 12 0	.....	565	Miscellaneous	Much used on all subjects.	1	Mathematical	25	1	Land Laws	.....
Raymond Terrace School of Arts	50	0 8 0	.....	560	Miscellaneous	All kinds read freely.	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....
Richmond School of Arts.....	52	0 10 0	.....	900	Miscellaneous	Principally fiction	1	Music	.....	Good	1	The Long Parliament.		.....
Rocky Mouth Mechanics' Institute	42	1 0 0	.....	229	Largest part fiction.	Notwell,—science and travel chiefly used.	None	None	.....	.....	None	.....		.....
Sydney Mechanics' Institute	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	See separate Report.	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....		.....
St. Leonards School of Arts.....	83	0 10 0	.....	1,873	.....	Well,—fiction	.....	.....	.....	Several	No record	.....		.....
Scone School of Arts.....	99	0 10 0	.....	1,385	General literature.	Largely availed of	.....	.....	.....	Several	Not stated	Fair		.....
Singleton School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute.	17	1 0 0	None	4,000	General literature.	All kinds used	.....	None	.....	6	Temperance, Comets, Flame, Tom Hood, India.	.....		.....
South Grafton School of Arts	60	1 0 0	None	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	None	.....	.....		.....
Stroud School of Arts	65	0 5 0	.....	1,630	Miscellaneous	Misc. and fiction	1	Debating	.....	Good	None	.....		.....
Tamworth Mechanics' Institute	50	0 12 0	.....	940	General literature	.....	None	.....	.....	4	All scientific	.....		.....
Tenterfield Mechanics' Institute	77	0 5 0	None	784	Miscellaneous	Well, general subjects.	.....	Mutual improvement and debating.	.....	.....	On Music, Astronomy, Tom Moore, Socrates.	Good		.....
Tumut	.....	0 12 0	.....	380	Chiefly novels	.....	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....		No hall.
Uralla Literary Institute	27	0 14 0	.....	300	Miscellaneous	Fiction	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....		.....
Walcha School of Arts	60	0 12 0	.....	800	Mixed	.....	None	.....	.....	3	Free Trade, Anglo Israelism, Flame, Tom Hood.	.....		.....
Wallsend School of Arts	150	{ 1 0 0 } 0 12 0	No reply	.....	Miscellaneous	Chiefly fiction	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....		.....
Wagga Wagga Mechanics' Institute	96	5/3qr.	.....	1,250	Miscellaneous	Chiefly travels & fiction	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....		.....
Waratah School of Arts	60	0 12 0	.....	950	Miscellaneous	Fiction, biography, history.	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....		.....
West Maitland School of Arts.....	300	0 12 0	Free to Members.	5,528	Miscellaneous	Well availed of...	1	Singing	.....	Large	8	Literary & scientific	Good	Balls and concerts.
Wickham School of Arts	73	0 12 0	.....	300	Miscellaneous	All varieties	None	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Windsor School of Arts	75	0 10 0	.....	867	Miscellaneous	Well used	1	Mutual improvement.	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Wyrallah School of Arts	55	0 10 0	.....	450	Miscellaneous	History and fiction.	None	.....	.....	.....	4	Stanley's Africa, Dickens, Somerville, A. Lincoln.	.....
Wingham School of Arts	61	0 10 0	.....	350	Miscellaneous	Well,—history, fiction, science.	.....	None	.....	.....	4	History, English Literature, Fermentation.	250
Wentworth Mechanics' Institute...	70	1 0 0	None	442	Miscellaneous	.....	.....	General literature...	.....	.....	.....	No hall	No hall.
Woodville	21	0 18 0	.....	.....	.....	Fiction, history...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....

28—G

49

COUNTRY SCHOOLS OF ARTS, AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY

Name.	Year Institution was founded	Position and Accessibility.	Area of Land held.	How obtained.			If by Purchase.		Condition of Title.	Reversionary Interests thereon if Institution be closed.
				Grant from Crown.	Gift.	Purchase.	Proportion of Government Subsidy.	Amount received by Public Subscription.
Adelong Literary Institute	1877	Good	A. R. P. None			£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	Rented
Albury School of Arts	1862	"	1 0 0	Grant					Not issued	Unknown
Anvil Creek School of Arts	1874	"	0 1 0			10 0 0		10 0 0	Conveyed	None
Armidale Literary Institute	1867	"	0 2 0	Grant					Conveyed to Municipal Council	Not stated
Ashfield School of Arts	1880	"	Not answered
Balmain Working Men's Institute	1865	No-not occupied	0 1 0			210 0 0		210 0 0	Conveyed	None
Bathurst School of Arts	1859	Good & convenient	0 2 0	Grant					Not yet issued	Unknown
Braidwood Literary Institute	1858	Good	1 0 0	"					Conveyed	None
Branxton Mechanics' Institute	1876	"	0 1 0	"	Gift				"	Unknown
Brewarrina School of Arts	1873	"
Bombala School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute.	1872	Good & convenient	0 3 0			12 0 0	Not known	Not known	Conveyed	None
Botany School of Arts	1867	Very good	1 0 0		Gift of late G W Lord, Esq				"	"
Bourke Mechanics' Institute	1871	Good	0 2 0	Grant
Burwood School of Arts	1879	"	0 1 20			298 0 0
Cambewarra School of Arts	1879	"	0 2 0			25 0 0	12 10 0	12 10 0	Conveyed	None
Camden School of Arts	1858	"	0 1 0			80 0 0		80 0 0
Casino School of Arts	1875	"	0 2 0	Grant					Grant not issued	Usual
Clarence Town School of Arts		"	0 1 0			20 0 0		20 0 0	Conveyed	None
Clifton School of Arts	1881	Good
Cooma School of Arts	1866	Convenient			Site the property of colliery proprietors.				Conveyed	In trust for the public.
Coonabarabran School of Arts	1875	Excellent	1 0 0		Half gift	Half purchase			Conveyed, but not in possession	Not stated
Corowa School of Arts	1872	Centre of town	0 1 0			70 0 0
Cowra School of Arts	1878	Good	1 0 0	Grant					Not yet issued	Unknown
Cudal School of Arts	1880	"	0 2 0
Deniliquin School of Arts	1864	Convenient	0 2 0						Issued	Would revert to Crown.
Denman School of Arts	1870	Good	0 2 0		Gift
Dubbo Mechanics' Institute	1868	"	0 2 0			Not given			Conveyed	Not known
Dungog School of Arts	1872	"	0 0 33			33 3 4	8 5 0	24 18 0	"	"
East Maitland School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute.	1857	"	0 2 0			120 0 0		120 0 0	"	None
Frederickton School of Arts	1871	"	0 2 0			15 0 0			"	"
Forbes School of Arts	1862	"	0 2 0
Goulburn School of Arts	1856	"	1 0 0 1/2	Grant	Gift				Not issued	Usual for public buildings.
Grafton School of Arts	1858	Very central	0 1 0						Conveyed	Not stated
Gundagai Literary Institute	1873	Good	No land.		The Library, by permission of Police Magistrate, is kept in the Court-house.
Guntawang School of Arts	1872	"	0 2 0		Gift				Not conveyed
Hay Athenaeum	1875	Fair	2 0 0	Grant
Hamilton School of Arts	1872	Good & convenient	0 0 20			25 0 0		25 0 0	Conveyed	Not known
Hinton School of Arts	1869	Good	0 1 0			100 0 0	50 0 0	50 0 0	"	Committee not aware.
Lambton Mechanics' and Miners' Institute.	1868	"	0 0 37 1/2			26 0 0	13 0 0	13 0 0	Not stated	Not stated
Largs School of Arts	1875	"	0 1 0			40 0 0	Nil.	40 0 0	Conveyed
Lismore School of Arts	1881	"	0 2 0	Grant not yet built on or occupied.					Trustees gazetted.	Building rented
Merriwa School of Arts	1869	"	0 2 0			21 0 0	Not stated	Not stated	Conveyed	No provision
Milton School of Arts	1871	Excellently central	0 2 0		Gift				"	"
Minmi School of Arts	1878	Central	0 1 0						"	"
Molong School of Arts	1878	"	0 2 0			65 0 0		65 0 0	Conveyed	Not answered
Morpeth School of Arts	1863	Good	0 2 0		Gift
Mudgee School of Arts	1855	"	1 0 0	Grant					Conveyed	Not answered
Murrurundi Mechanics' Institute and School of Arts.	1860	Convenient	0 2 0	"					"	None
Musclebrook School of Arts	1872	"	0 1 0	"						Trustees
Narrabri Mechanics' Institute	1870	"	0 2 0	"
Newcastle School of Arts	1860	Good	0 0 32 1/2	"					Conveyed	Usual
Orange Mechanics' Institute and School of Arts.	1856	"	0 1 0			250 0 0	125 0 0	125 0 0	"	Not stated
Parramatta School of Arts	1850	"	0 2 0
Paterson School of Arts	1867	"	Building rented.			Leasehold
Petersham Working Men's Institute	1871	"	0 2 0			"
Plattsburg Working Men's Institute	1878	Very convenient	0 1 0			1737 0 0	Not stated	Not stated		None stated
Raymond Terrace School of Arts	1871	Convenient	0 2 0			50 0 0			Conveyed
Richmond School of Arts.	1866	Good	0 1 0	Grant					Not stated
Rocky Mouth or Maclean Mechanics' Institute.	1879	"	0 1 0	"					Not issued	Usual
St. Leonards School of Arts	1859	Not central	Not stated		Gift				Not conveyed
Scone School of Arts	1868	Good	0 2 0	Grant sold, not being suitable		16 0 0		16 0 0	Conveyed	None
Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts				Part gift		Part purchase			"	Not stated
Singleton School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute.	1866	Very good	0 2 0			70 0 0
South Grafton School of Arts	1877	Central	0 2 0	Grant not yet built on.					Not conveyed
Stroud School of Arts	1856	Good	0 2 0		Gift A.A. Co.				Conveyed	None
Tamworth Mechanics' Institute	1866	Fair	0 1 0			20 0 0			"	May sell or mortgage.
Tenterfield School of Arts	1871	Good	0 2 0	Grant					Not conveyed
Tumut Mechanics' Institute	1879	"	Rented			Leasehold
Uralla Literary Institute	1874	Unanswered	0 1 0	Grant not yet built on.
Walcha School of Arts	1875	Good	0 1 0		Gift				Conveyed	None
Wallsend School of Arts	1870	"	0 0 20			350 0 0	175 0 0	175 0 0	"	Usual
Wagga Wagga Mechanics' Institute	1863	"	0 1 2 1/2	Grant					Title not issued
Waratah School of Arts	1864	New site asked for Government.
West Maitland School of Arts	1856	Convenient	0 1 0		Part gift	Part purchase		Nil.	Not issued	Unknown
Windsor School of Arts	1861	Good	0 0 20	Grant
Wingham School of Arts	1875	"	0 2 0			12 0 0	4 0 0	8 0 0	Conveyed	None
Wollongong School of Arts	1860	"	0 2 0			Not given			"
Wyalah School of Arts	1873	"	0 1 0			Leasehold.			Leasehold
Wentworth Mechanics' Institute	1880	Not satisfactory	0 1 0	Grant		1s. per ann			Not conveyed

Ballina, Carcoar, and Grenfell Schools of Arts have been closed. Gulgong School of Arts has been merged in Municipal Free Library. No returns from Bega, Boat Harbour, and Warialda, Yass, and ## INSTITUTES, &amp;c., 1882.—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING.

Character (materials) of Buildings	Accommodation and Resources of the Institution as an Educational Medium					Cost of Buildings				Suitability of Buildings
	Hall	Library	Reading room	Class Rooms	Apparatus and Collections	Total Amount	Proportion of Government aid	Amount from Public	Remaining Debt
Wood	None	Library	Reading room	None	None	£ s d	£ s d	£ s d	£ s d	Fair order Suitable and in good repair
Brick	Hall	"	"	2	"	1,160 0 0	Proportions not stated in returns
Wood	"	"	"	None	"	200 0 0	65 15 9	134 4 3	Nil
Brick	"	"	"	"	"	1,200 0 0	400 0 0	800 0 0	"	"
						4,630 0 0
Stone	None	Library	Reading room	None	None	Leased premises				Not suitable, good repair Suitable, good repair
Brick	Hall	"	"	6	"	9,000 0 0	2,600 0 0	5,460 0 0	Nil
"	"	"	"	1	"	2,000 0 0	400 0 0	1,600 0 0	920 0 0
"	"	None	"	None	"	370 0 0			None
Brick	Hall	Library	"	1	"	Room lent only				Good repair
Stone and brick	"	"	"	2	Blackboard	2,118 0 0	Proportions not stated		627 0 0
Brick	"	"	"	None	None	500 0 0	250 0 0	250 0 0	Nil	Suitable, in good repair
"	"	"	"	2	"	1,100 0 0	280 0 0	560 0 0	388 18 5	"
Iron brick nogged and plastered	"	"	"	None	"	3,483 0 0	437 19 10	889 8 6	2,000 0 0	"
Brick	"	"	"	None	"	470 15 9	116 18 7	233 17 2	120 0 0	"
Brick	"	"	"	"	"	1,256 0 0	400 0 0	856 0 0	Nil	" "
Wood	"	"	"	1	"	700 0 0	248 12 8	248 12 8	202 14 8
Wood	None	None	"	None	Maps	370 0 0	120 0 0	250 0 0	Nil	" "
Giantite	Hall	Library	"	"	None	1,300 0 0	660 0 0	660 0 0	"	" "
Wood	"	"	"	"	None	277 0 0	138 10 0	138 10 0	30 0 0	" "
Brick	None	"	"	1	"	1,200 0 0			300 0 0	Very good repair
No building Court house lent pro tem	None	"	"	None	"	No buildings
Brick	Hall	"	"	1	"	388 6 0	86 4 11	171 12 2	230 0 0	In a state of thorough repair
"	"	"	"	1	Sciopticon and Microscope	420 0 0	Nil	420 0 0	Nil
Wood	"	"	"	None	None	457 0 0	100 0 0	357 0 0	"	Suitable, in good repair
Brick	"	"	"	"	"	1,200 0 0	400 0 0	800 0 0	None	Suitable, in good condition
Weatherboard, brick front	"	"	"	"	Globes, works of reference	310 0 0	50 0 0	260 0 0	Nil	Good repair
Stone and brick	"	"	"	1	Maps	2,000 0 0	Not stated		None	Suitable, in good repair
Wood	"	"	"	None	None	370 0 0	100 0 0	270 0 0	Nil	In fair repair
Brick	"	"	"	1	"	2,750 0 0	370 0 0	Not answered	None	Good repair
Brick	"	"	"	2	"	5,000 0 0	1,000 0 0	4,000 0 0	Nil	Suitable, in good order
Stone and brick	None	"	"	7	Minerals	2,200 0 0	400 0 0	1,800 0 0	"	Suitable, in repair
Iron and wood	Hall only—for all purposes	"	None	None	None	100 0 0		100 0 0	Nil	Convenient
Brick	"	"	"	"	"	1,000 0 0	500 0 0	500 0 0	Not answered	Suitable, in good repair
Wood	"	"	"	"	None	300 0 0	Nil	300 0 0	Nil	Good repair
Brick	Hall	Library	Reading room	1	"	929 0 0	464 10 0	464 10 0	"	Suitable, in good repair Excellent
Wood	"	"	"	2 & detached house of 4 rooms	Maps and charts	696 4 3	320 0 0	368 0 0	8 4 3	Suitable, and good repair
Brick	"	"	None	None	None	595 0 0	245 17 2	491 14 4	60 8 4	In good repair
Wood	"	"	Reading room	1	"	Not yet built
Wood	"	"	"	1	Mathematical Instruments	630 17 3	Not answered	Not answered	None	Suitable, and in good repair
Brick cemented	"	"	"	1	"
Brick	"	"	"	None	None	1,296 0 0	300 0 0	600 0 0	744 0 0	Commodious, in good repair
"	"	"	"	1	"	700 0 0	190 0 0	380 0 0	190 0 0
Brick and stone	Hall	Library	Reading room	2	Magic lanterns air pump, diagrams, &c	3,580 0 0	1,000 0 0	2,580 0 0	None	Suitable, in good repair
Brick	"	In one	"	None	None	1,720 0 0	No record	No record		Another room required
"	"	Library	Reading room	1	"
"	Hall used for general purposes	"	"	"	"					Good repair
"	None	Library	Reading room	Large lecture room	Possesses both	2,500 0 0	Not stated	Not stated	None
"	"	"	"	2	None	3,000 0 0	Half	Half	1,391 13 5	Suitable, in good repair
"	"	"	"	None	Books on Science	Not answered	Not answered	Not answered
"	"	"	"	"	None					Not suitable, in bad repair
"	"	"	"	2, & manager's quarters	None
"	"	"	"	3	None	5 900 0 0	1,700 0 0	3,980 0 0	Not answered	Quite new
Wood	None	Library	Reading room	None	"	Present buildings leased	300 0 0	Balance	201 3 8
Brick	Hall used for all purposes	"	"	"	"	1,363 0 0	300 0 0		None
Wood	"	"	"	"	"	Not stated	Not stated
Stone	Hall	Library	Reading room	"	"	2,000 0 0
Brick	"	"	"	4	Maps	800 0 0	200 0 0	600 0 0	No debt	Not large enough
"	"	"	"	"	Collections	2,000 0 0	1,000 0 0	1,000 0 0	Nil	Larger reading room required Very suitable, in good repair
Wood	"	Library	Reading room	None	None	Rented premises occupied				Fair repair, but unsuitable Suitable, in good repair
Brick	"	"	"	2	Maps	400 0 0	Nil	400 0 0	No debt
"	"	"	"	"	"	1,094 0 0	481 0 0	619 0 0	"
"	None	"	"	Yes	None	2,100 0 0	700 0 0	1,400 0 0	No debt	" "
"	None	"	"	None	"
Wooden premises rented—one room only	None	Library	Reading room	None	None	750 0 0	Nil	750 0 0	No debt	Requires enlarging
Brick	Hall	"	"	2	Maps and works of reference	4,500 0 0	1,200 0 0	2,400 0 0	900 0 0	Library and reading room too small Suitable, in good repair
"	"	"	"	1	None	1,800 0 0	240 0 0	Not answered	168 0 0
Brick	None	"	"	4	Maps, &c	3 000 0 0	Nil	All	No debt
"	None	"	"	None	Both	1,000 0 0	500 0 0	500 0 0	No debt
Wood	Hall	"	"	"	"	290 0 0	100 0 0	190 0 0	None
Brick	"	"	"	2	"	1,328 0 0	664 0 0	664 0 0	No debt
Wood	None	In one	"	None	"	150 0 0	Not answered	Not answered		Suitable, in indifferent repair Suitable, and in good repair

Government premises lent one room for all purposes Permanent structure not commenced

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure in Schools of Arts for the Year 1882.

Income.

	Balance 31st December, 1881.	From Government.		Subscriptions.	Hire of Hall.	Rentals.	Other Sources, Sales, &c.	Interest on Invested Funds.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1882.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1881.	Grand Total.
		Special Vote.	Annual Subsidy.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Adelong Literary Institute .....			24 13 0	87 19 0
Albury School of Arts .....	89 14 1		48 6 6	73 2 0	59 2 6		6 14 5	0 18 0		15 9 7		128 1 7
Anvil Creek School of Arts .....	3 12 4		13 5 0	21 15 0	0 5 0		0 12 0					277 17 6
Armidale Literary Institute .....				41 11 0	126 3 0							39 9 4
Ashfield School of Arts .....		576 13 11		149 2 6	136 1 6		66 9 7	3,000 0 0 <sup>a</sup>				167 14 0
Balmain Working Men's Institute .....	195 16 1		34 5 11	44 1 7								4,832 2 11
Bathurst School of Arts .....	45 6 3		180 9 6	358 11 0	278 14 0	250 0 0			1,384 6 10			274 3 7
Braidwood Literary Institute .....			75 0 0	78 2 6	63 9 6	38 1 11	3 15 0		33 9 2			2,497 7 7
Branxton Mechanics' Institute .....	3 19 4		3 15 0	10 4 8	9 12 0		0 11 6					291 18 1
Brewarrina School of Arts .....	33 15 0		9 11 10	30 19 0							12 0 0	28 2 6
Bega .....	78 15 4		71 14 10	146 17 6	48 18 0							74 5 10
Bombala School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute .....												346 5 8
Botany School of Arts .....	24 12 11		67 8 0	145 15 0	8 16 0		0 9 0	1 7 1				248 8 0
Bourke Mechanics' Institute .....			74 19 10	179 8 9	160 0 6					516 11 3		931 0 4
Burwood School of Arts .....			44 14 8	62 12 6	65 1 6	177 12 3	3 15 6			205 16 8		559 13 1
Cambewarra School of Arts .....			27 9 5	12 4 6	3 12 6	1 1 0				100 0 0		144 7 5
Camden School of Arts .....	32 9 8		8 10 0	22 16 10	31 14 6		18 8 9					113 19 9
Casino School of Arts .....			21 7 10	56 0 0	31 2 6	10 10 0	32 2 0 <sup>b</sup>			122 10 2		273 12 6
Clarence Town School of Arts .....				30 12 9	6 10 0							37 2 9
Clifton School of Arts .....
Cooma School of Arts .....			17 17 4	50 5 3	64 12 0
Coonabarabran School of Arts .....	24 2 6		42 15 4	35 16 7	12 2 6	1 10 0				338 18 0		471 12 7
Corowa School of Arts .....			48 18 9	62 1 6	29 7 6							116 6 11
Cowra School of Arts .....							40 4 3 <sup>c</sup>					180 12 0
Cudal School of Arts .....			28 9 2	59 19 4	15 15 0
Deniliquin School of Arts .....	3 5 0		28 9 11	61 1 10	2 0 0		50 0 0			244 0 5		348 3 11
Denman School of Arts .....	52 12 8		7 7 6	16 5 6	12 5 0	25 0 0	1 19 6					144 16 9
Dubbo Mechanics' Institute .....			21 12 4	56 10 0		23 15 0	117 9 6 <sup>d</sup>					115 10 2
Dungog School of Arts .....	25 18 4		17 18 1	140 8 2	12 1 0		2 2 2					219 6 10
East Maitland Mechanics' Institute .....	107 14 11		17 3 1	25 1 0	29 18 0	29 8 0	4 8 0	4 17 4				198 7 9
Frederickton School of Arts .....	2 3 7		8 15 0	6 17 0	10 10 0	1 19 0	11 16 1					218 10 4
Forbes School of Arts .....	23 7 10		45 18 1	117 8 1			5 13 6					42 0 8
Goulburn School of Arts .....			75 0 0	300 14 0	281 15 6	230 6 8	1 0 0			765 13 7		192 7 6
Grafton School of Arts .....	49 3 11		64 12 0	105 2 6	37 4 6	28 10 0	29 7 5					1,654 9 9
Gundagai Literary Institute .....	7 14 7		11 16 3	24 17 6								314 0 4
Guntawang School of Arts .....	1 0 0											44 8 4
Grenfell Literary Institute .....				42 2 6								1 0 0
Hay Athenaeum .....	26 11 10		70 18 2	109 9 9	54 3 0		22 3 0					42 2 6
Hamilton School of Arts .....	5 19 6		22 15 6	37 10 0	12 10 0		3 13 10					283 5 9
Hinton School of Arts .....	45 4 10		12 10 9	31 16 0	6 17 6		0 8 1					82 8 10
Lambton Mechanics and Miners' Institute .....	23 4 0		34 0 4	43 1 0			39 3 10 <sup>e</sup>					96 17 2
Largs School of Arts .....	18 0 0		27 6 0	75 15 0	6 0 0							139 9 2
Lismore School of Arts .....				53 18 2		10 8 0						127 1 0
Merriwa School of Arts .....	5 17 0		8 15 3	19 17 8	22 13 6		25 19 3			26 7 8		90 13 10
Milton School of Arts .....	38 18 1			11 5 0	61 14 0		0 2 6			7 6 1		90 8 9
												111 19 7

<sup>a</sup> Loan of £3,000.

<sup>b</sup> Proceeds of concert.

<sup>c</sup> From entertainments

<sup>d</sup> £114 12s. 0d. from donation.

<sup>e</sup> £39 3s. 10d. donations

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure—continued.

Income—continued.

	Balance 31st December, 1881.	From Government.		Subscriptions.	Hire of Hall.	Rentals.	Other Sources, Sales, &c.	Interest on Invested Funds.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1882.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1881.	Total.
		Special Vote.	Annual Subsidy
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Minmi School of Arts.....
Molong School of Arts.....			56 2 8	38 14 5	27 5 0	47 16 1	1 13 4		43 12 3	215 3 9		215 3 9
Morpeth School of Arts.....	33 14 4			18 0 0	18 19 0	8 0 0	0 10 0			79 3 4		79 3 4
Mudgee School of Arts.....	104 6 7		62 2 4	100 5 0	62 0 0		46 9 9 <sup>a</sup>			375 3 8		375 3 8
Murrurundi Mechanics' Institute.....	12 10 9		13 14 1	23 6 0	41 2 0		35 15 10 <sup>b</sup>			126 8 8		126 8 8
Musclebrook School of Arts.....	64 2 9		17 11 7	57 8 6			63 6 0 <sup>c</sup>			202 8 10		202 8 10
Narrabri Mechanics' Institute.....
Newcastle School of Arts.....			72 4 4	148 17 6	1 10 0	384 12 0	12 16 2	12 18 3	243 13 9	876 12 0	353 15 0	1,230 7 0
Orange Mechanics' Institute.....			100 10 9	201 1 6	175 3 4		3 0 0		1,385 15 5	1,865 11 0		1,865 11 0
Farramatta School of Arts.....	39 6 8		32 14 11	46 15 0	55 13 0		37 0 9			211 10 4		211 10 4
Paterson School of Arts.....	8 2 8 <sup>d</sup>		10 10 10	16 5 0	0 5 0		3 11 6			38 15 0		38 15 0
Petersham School of Arts.....	2 0 5		30 6 0	21 11 0	1 10 0	61 10 0			10 9 1	127 6 6		127 6 6
Plattsburg Working Men's Institute.....		273 9 0	65 11 9	115 12 8	123 3 5 <sup>e</sup>		1 5 2		9 16 5	588 18 5		588 18 5
Raymond Terrace School of Arts.....	70 1 9		10 5 4	22 9 9				2 6 3		105 3 1		105 3 1
Richmond School of Arts.....			45 5 3	40 11 6	21 10 0	15 0 0			180 2 11	302 9 8		302 9 8
Rocky Mouth or Maclean Mechanics' Institute.....	22 4 11		2 17 4	12 5 0	25 11 6		15 18 10			78 17 7		78 17 7
St. Leonards School of Arts.....	23 5 2		26 17 9	58 14 4	57 7 0	22 10 0	1 10 0			190 4 3		190 4 3
Scone School of Arts.....	11 1 0		15 8 6	38 1 0	32 15 9			1 7 11		98 14 2		98 14 2
Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts.....	64 0 5	634 2 6	855 5 10	1,809 10 9	900 0 0	500 0 0	69 14 9		4,298 16 9	9,131 11 0		9,131 11 0
Singleton Mechanics' Institute.....			114 1 1	64 6 6	50 17 6	3 18 0	20 14 11	331 8 5		585 6 5		585 6 5
South Grafton School of Arts.....
Stroud School of Arts.....	36 8 10		23 14 7	21 10 6	14 16 0		17 17 2	1 7 0		115 14 1	45 0 0	160 14 1
Tamworth Mechanics' Institute.....	35 15 5		16 16 1	75 9 0	29 11 0	33 3 7	0 19 6	0 12 7		192 7 2	21 0 0	213 7 2
Tenterfield School of Arts.....
Tumut Mechanics' Institute.....	19 18 5		12 0 3	50 15 6						82 14 2		82 14 2
Uralla Literary Institute.....	3 12 0		9 10 9	2 7 6			9 9 8			24 19 11	140 0 0	164 19 11
Walcha School of Arts.....	11 11 10 <sup>h</sup>		20 0 4	47 8 6	44 0 6		2 2 6			125 3 8		125 3 8
Wallsend School of Arts.....			150 0 0	303 1 0	10 0 0		0 11 6		1,400 0 0	1,863 12 6		1,863 12 6
Wagga Wagga Mechanics' Institute.....			46 3 5	95 7 0	25 13 0		8 1 6		146 17 7	322 2 6		322 2 6
Waratah School of Arts.....	58 7 8		254 5 8	559 18 1			0 1 9	2 12 4	1 13 9	876 19 3		876 19 3
West Maitland School of Arts.....	15 4 2		15 6 7	139 8 1	71 18 6		10 14 2		72 9 3 <sup>f</sup>	325 0 9		325 0 9
Windsor School of Arts.....	9 9 9 <sup>g</sup>		22 1 8	56 14 2	12 1 0		6 13 10			107 0 5		107 0 5
Wingham School of Arts.....	0 11 9		10 2 7	32 19 0	16 7 6					60 0 10		60 0 10
Warialda School of Arts.....
Wollongong School of Arts.....	39 15 6		5 10 0	6 10 0	4 17 6					56 13 0		56 13 0
Wyrallah School of Arts.....	24 18 10		5 12 6	21 0 0	0 15 0	2 5 0				54 11 4		54 11 4
Wentworth Mechanics' Institute.....	9 13 5		30 11 1	47 5 0						87 9 6		87 9 6
Wickham.....	198 2 6		409 14 8	251 11 9					1,029 0 11	1,888 9 10		1,888 9 10
Woodville.....	20 0 0		5 0 0	30 0 0	5 0 0		10 11 0			70 11 0		70 11 0
Yass.....
Young.....
Total .....	£ 1,907 7 1	1,484 5 5	3,886 10 8	7,613 19 11	3,530 4 6	1,906 16 6	868 18 3	3,359 15 2	13,486 12 11	38,044 10 5	571 15 0	38,616 5 5

53

Proceeds, concert. <sup>b</sup> £32 18s. 10d. from entertainments. <sup>c</sup> Part entertainments. <sup>d</sup> £1 18s. 6d. error in balance for 1881. <sup>e</sup> Part proceeds of rentals. <sup>f</sup> £9 5s. of overdraft due, Building Fund | <sup>g</sup> Balance given for 1881 was £30 18s., which was actually the balance on 22nd January, 1882. <sup>h</sup> £9 0d. 11d. omitted in balance given for 1881.

EXPENDITURE in Schools of Arts, Literary Institutes, &c, for the year 1882
Expenditure.

	Overdraft, 31st December, 1881	Purchase of Books	Buildings and Repairs	Administrative Expenses	Sundries	Balance, 31st December, 1882	Total Current Account	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1882	Grand Total
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Adelong Literary Institute	53 19 7	9 8 3		39 0 0	25 13 9		128 1 7		128 1 7
Albury School of Arts		62 13 7	1 1 0	57 5 2		96 17 9		60 0 0	277 17 6
Anvil Creek School of Arts		12 19 6	12 12 0	8 8 0	3 0 0	2 9 10			39 9 4
Armidale Literary Institute		47 11 0		74 0 0	10 0 0	36 3 0			167 14 0
Ashfield School of Arts	4,015 11 7	39 3 2	445 3 7	269 16 1	62 8 6		4,832 2 11		4,832 2 11
Ballina School of Arts
Balman Working Men's Institute				59 4 6	5 2 2	209 16 11			274 3 7
Bathurst School of Arts		253 7 6	1,689 17 11	225 12 6	328 9 8		2,497 7 7		2,497 7 7
Bega School of Arts		57 9 8	31 0 4	114 12 4		143 3 4			346 5 8
Boat Harbour School of Arts
Braidwood Literary Institute	55 6 2	73 2 9	30 15 6	80 3 7	19 0 11	33 9 2	291 18 1		291 18 1
Branxton Mechanics' Institute		3 5 6	10 13 0	5 18 0	1 14 6	6 11 6	28 2 6	12 0 0	40 2 6
Brewarrina School of Arts		43 1 11	5 0 0	4 7 8	0 4 6	21 11 9	74 5 10		74 5 10
Bombala Mechanics' Institute
Botany School of Arts		14 17 6	132 9 6	18 0 0	66 16 4	16 4 8	248 8 0		248 8 0
Bourke Mechanics' Institute	388 18 5	65 0 0	282 7 6	98 5 10	96 8 6		931 0 4		931 0 4
Burwood School of Arts	284 2 1		5 5 0	49 13 8	220 12 4		559 13 1		559 13 1
Cambewarra School of Arts	120 0 0			1 10 0	13 0 11	9 16 6	144 7 5		144 7 5
Camden School of Arts		29 8 0	1 1 6	39 11 6	1 17 9	42 1 0	113 19 9		113 19 9
Carcoar School of Arts
Casino School of Arts	175 8 5	31 15 2	28 0 1	19 10 0	18 18 10		273 12 6		273 12 6
Charleston Literary Institute
Clarence Town School of Arts	13 19 2		0 8 0	5 9 0	1 11 9	15 14 10	37 2 9		37 2 9
Chifton School of Arts
Cooma School of Arts	358 7 1	8 2 3	8 0 0	56 6 7	40 16 8		471 12 7		471 12 7
Coonabarabran School of Arts		35 5 1	31 9 2	20 15 4		28 17 4	116 6 11		116 6 11
Corowa School of Arts	2 5 10	28 2 4	2 3 0	79 10 9	41 17 0	26 13 1	180 12 0		180 12 0
Cowra School of Arts
Cudal School of Arts	234 6 5	3 17 4		Not stated	110 0 2		348 3 11		348 3 11
Deniliquin School of Arts		40 3 8		17 5 0	16 11 0	70 14 1	144 16 9		144 16 9
Denman School of Arts		46 7 0	5 5 0	19 12 0	4 2 0	40 4 2	115 10 2		115 10 2
Dubbo Mechanics' Institute	65 1 3	42 11 5	26 7 9	40 5 10	11 12 9	33 7 10	219 6 10		219 6 10
Dungog School of Arts		4 12 0	110 10 0	19 2 7	3 14 5	60 8 9	198 7 9		198 7 9
East Maitland School of Arts		34 6 3	11 11 0	30 19 8	7 14 0	133 19 5	218 10 4		218 10 4
Frederickton School of Arts		4 17 6	21 10 0	1 6 0	10 1 1	4 6 1	42 0 8		42 0 8
Forbes School of Arts		61 4 4	19 10 0	60 0 0	29 7 2	22 6 0	192 7 6		192 7 6
Gladstone School of Arts
Gosford Literary Institute
Goulburn School of Arts	785 5 4	127 5 5	420 16 6	184 6 1	136 16 5		1,654 9 9		1,654 9 9
Grafton School of Arts		49 11 8	100 0 0	84 2 3	70 14 8	9 11 9	314 0 4		314 0 4
Grenfell School of Arts		14 16 5	6 7 0	1 14 0	8 2 8	11 2 5	42 2 6		42 2 6
Grreta School of Arts
Gulgong School of Arts
Gundagai Literary Institute		12 2 0		10 10 0	1 14 0	20 2 4	44 8 4		44 8 4
Guntawang School of Arts
Hay Athenæum		37 18 6	37 19 6	77 2 8	92 16 8	37 8 5	283 5 9		283 5 9
Hamilton School of Arts		26 5 9	12 3 3	12 0 0	2 8 0	29 11 10	82 8 10		82 8 10
Hill End School of Arts
Hinton School of Arts		6 4 0	5 12 0	10 17 0	13 7 9	60 16 5	96 17 2		96 17 2

NOTES —<sup>a</sup> Merged into Municipal Free Library, and not entitled to annual subsidy <sup>b</sup> Fittings and furniture <sup>c</sup> £60 paid for piano <sup>d</sup> Balance, 1881, was £178 4s 9d, therefore £2 16s 4d not accounted for <sup>e</sup> Interest on overdraft <sup>f</sup> No mention of administrative expenses, unsatisfactory return <sup>g</sup> In return, 1881, given as £60 16s 3d <sup>h</sup> £86 12s 3d of above was for fuel and lighting <sup>i</sup> £6 for rent <sup>j</sup> £33 3s 6d spent in prizes at carnival

690

54

EXPENDITURE in Schools of Arts, &c —continued

	Overdraft, 31st December, 1881	Purchase of Books	Buildings and Repairs	Administrative Expenses	Sundries	Balance, 31st December, 1882	Total Current Account	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1882	Grand Total
	£ s d	£ s d	£ s d	£ s d	£ s d	£ s d	£ s d	£ s d.	£ s d
Lambton School of Arts		32 7 10	19 8 11	77 6 10	4 3 7	6 2 0	139 9 2		139 9 2
Largs School of Arts			61 13 6		30 5 6	35 2 0	127 1 0		127 1 0
Lismore School of Arts	0 12 2	69 19 0		18 2 6	2 0 2		90 13 10		90 13 10
Merrilwa School of Arts		11 10 10	52 15 6	25 14 10	0 7 7		90 8 9		90 8 9
Milton School of Arts		7 11 3	10 0 0	31 0 0	45 5 10	18 2 6	111 19 7		111 19 7
Minmi School of Arts
Molong School of Arts	44 8 5	12 10 11	53 15 9	22 1 4	82 7 6		215 3 9		215 3 9
Morpeth School of Arts		27 3 3		33 3 6	6 8 2	12 8 5	79 3 4		79 3 4
Mudgee School of Arts		80 0 6	145 11 0	50 0 0	94 2 3	5 9 11	375 3 8		375 3 8
Murrurundi Mechanics' Institute		25 2 5		41 1 0	15 17 5	44 7 10	126 8 8		126 8 8
Musclebrook School of Arts			42 5 0	20 9 0	87 12 0	52 2 10	202 8 10		202 8 10
Narrabri School of Arts
Newcastle School of Arts	168 3 7	234 9 10	18 15 6	179 19 8	14 5 2		615 13 9	614 13 3	1,230 7 0
North Willoughby School of Arts
Orange Mechanics' Institute	1,366 1 1	90 17 2	26 15 0	272 14 8	109 3 1		1,865 11 0		1,165 11 0
Parramatta School of Arts		45 0 0		49 16 4	73 9 4	43 4 8	211 10 4		211 10 4
Paterson School of Arts		9 0 2	0 15 0	17 2 7	2 19 0	8 18 3	38 15 0		38 15 0
Petersham Working Men's Institute				114 9 6	12 17 0		127 6 6		127 6 6
Plattsburg Working Men's Institute	276 0 0	117 1 9	144 8 5	26 16 0	24 12 3		588 18 5		588 18 5
Queanbeyan Literary Institute	Closed.
Raymond Terrace School of Arts		11 15 0	13 0 0	16 2 6	1 10 7		42 8 1	62 15 0	105 3 1
Richmond School of Arts	201 3 8	2 8 0	36 5 0	45 13 4	16 19 8		302 9 1		302 9 8
Rocky Mouth (or Maclean) School of Arts		42 17 3	2 6 6	22 10 9	3 17 5	7 5 8	78 17 7		78 17 7
South Grafton School of Arts
St Leonards School of Arts		58 13 8	7 11 11	86 0 0	30 4 10	7 13 0	190 4 3		190 4 3
Scone School of Arts		54 4 6	8 17 9	22 5 6	8 18 2	4 8 3	98 14 2		98 14 2
Sydney Mechanics' Institute	5,069 19 1	813 17 1	118 11 1	1,201 9 8	886 11 10	1,041 2 3	9,131 11 0		9,131 11 0
Singleton Mechanics' Institute	252 0 0	59 6 4	30 6 0	240 9 8	3 4 5		585 6 5		585 6 5
Stroud School of Arts		14 10 10	30 10 0	27 4 5	2 6 0	21 2 10	95 14 1	65 0 0	160 14 1
Tamworth School of Arts		28 15 9	59 14 3	71 8 11	22 18 6	8 17 2	191 14 7	21 12 7	213 7 2
Tenterfield School of Arts
Tumut School of Arts		29 2 9	10 0 0	11 12 8	6 10 0	25 8 9	52 14 2		82 14 2
Uralla Literary Institute		8 2 6			2 5 8	10 7 9	20 15 11	144 4 0	164 19 11
Walcha School of Arts		32 9 10	9 1 5	32 11 8	11 11 3	39 9 5	125 3 8		125 3 8
Wallsend School of Arts	1,500 0 0	60 0 0	158 18 8	135 18 10	8 15 0		1,863 12 6		1,863 12 6
Wagga Wagga Mechanics' Institute	164 9 8	71 6 8	3 1 10	57 11 5	25 12 11		322 2 6		322 2 6
Waratah School of Arts		29 4 8	735 15 0	54 6 0	57 13 7		876 19 3		876 19 3
Warialda Mechanics' Institute
West Maitland School of Arts		86 0 6	17 2 2	109 18 4	111 19 9		325 9 9
Windsor School of Arts		31 0 10	0 15 0	38 15 0	33 19 9	2 9 8	107 0 5
Wingham School of Arts		5 4 0	21 3 0	28 9 6		5 4 4	60 0 10		60 0 10
Wickham School of Arts		54 12 2	1,561 15 0		272 2 8		1,888 9 10		1,888 9 10
Wollongong School of Arts			18 1 8	1 0 0	2 17 3	34 14 1	56 13 0		56 13 0
Woodville School of Arts		5 18 9		3 0 0	24 16 10	36 15 5	70 11 0		70 11 0
Woodford School of Arts
Wyrallah School of Arts	14 13 0				4 0 0	35 18 4	54 11 4		54 11 4
Yass School of Arts
Young Mechanics' Institute
Wentworth Mechanics' Institute		38 0 8			23 8 0	28 0 10	87 9 6		87 9 6
Ulmarra School of Arts
	15,610 2 0	3,627 3 1	6,913 18 9	4,912 12 7	3,744 16 10	2,759 7 2	37,636 0 7	980 4 10	38,616 5 5

* In 1881, balance £33 7s 7d, belonging to Building Fund, was included £12 19s 11d account interest    <sup>b</sup> Balance, 31/12/82, was £1,041 2s 3d in hand, and owing by sundry debtors    <sup>c</sup> Given in 1881 return as £169 10s 8d    <sup>d</sup> Paid for lectures, £14 12s

[1s. 9d.]

---

Sydney : Thomas Richards, Government Printer.—1888.

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PUBLIC CHARITIES.

(REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 30 Vic. No. 19, sec. 4.

CONTENTS.

	PAGE.
Preliminary and general remarks in letter to the Colonial Secretary .....	1-7
Part 1.—Reports on Charitable Institutions within the Department of the Colonial Secretary, viz. :—
The Government Asylums for Infirm and Destitute .....	7, 8
Hospitals—
The Sydney Hospital .....	9
The Prince Alfred Hospital .....	11
The Sick Children's Hospital, Glebe.....	12
Country Hospitals .....	13-19
The State Children's Relief Board .....	20
Destitute Children's Asylum, Randwick .....	21
The Benevolent Society's Asylum .....	23
The Infants' Home, Ashfield .....	14, 17-19
The Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind .....	25
The Industrial Institution for the Blind .....	26
Part 2.—Reports on Charitable and Subsidized Institutions within the Department of the Minister for Public Instruction, viz. :—
The Nautical School Ship "Vernon" .....	28
The Female Industrial School, Biloela.....	30
The Orphan Schools, Parramatta .....	31, 32
Schools of Art and Mechanics' Institutes.....	33-54

The Inspector of Public Charities to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

1 July, 1884.

I have the honor to lay before you my Annual Report on the Public Charities and Schools of Art for the year 1883.

The expenditure from the Public Revenue on the above Institutions amounted during the year and may be classified as under :—

Department of the Colonial Secretary.

Maintenance—	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Wholly borne by Public Treasury ... ..	48,744	10	4
Subsidy, £ to £ on subscriptions ... ..	24,722	19	1
				73,467	9	10
Buildings, &amp;c.—
Wholly borne by Public Treasury ... ..	40,840	7	10
Subsidy, £ to £ on subscriptions ... ..	868	2	1
				41,708	9	11
Furnishing and outfits to Hospitals—
Wholly borne by Public Treasury ... ..	350	0	0
Subsidy, £ to £ on subscriptions ... ..	300	0	0
				650	0	0
Medical instruments, &amp;c.—
Wholly at public cost (Government) ... ..				325	0	0
Purchase of land and buildings, Parramatta—For Asylum, Infirm and Destitute ...				7,000	0	0

Department of Public Instruction.

Maintenance—
Wholly borne by Public Treasury ... ..	13,512	0	9
Subsidy, £ to £ raised by subscriptions ... ..	4,980	14	8
				18,492	15	5
Buildings—
Department, Colonial Architect ... ..	964	10	1
Subsidy, £1 to £2 erecting of School of Arts ... ..	666	15	11
				1,631	6	0
Technical Education—
Wholly borne by Public Treasury ... ..				5,176	17	10
Salaries of Inspector, Public Charities, and Inquiry Officer, and travelling expenses ...				740	19	0
				£149,192 18 0

[1200 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £84 8s. 6d.]

The absence of a sound principle in the distribution of such large sums of public money is worthy of more consideration than heretofore has been accorded to it, but I bring the matter to your notice the more hopefully from the fact that the past year has been made memorable in the history of the Public Charities of the Colony, by the expressions of interest on the part of your Government to learn clearly the actual condition of the several Public Charities, the relations they bear to the Government and to one another, the economy of their management, the degree in which each is supplying public requirements, and to what extent their present status is in harmony with the progress of modern ideas.

Coincident with this expression there is evidence of a consensus of public opinion to the effect that some thorough change is desirable in the administration of the votes for charitable purposes, and that the present system of subsidising a large number of separate Institutions, all dependent on the State, yet few of them acknowledging to it any allegiance, and which place their private interests before those of the State should be superseded by a well considered plan able to compel homogeneous action and having a single eye to providing for public wants rather than the aggrandizing of Institutions at the public cost.

The best means for obtaining such results in each of the several sections of charity will probably be differently considered as persons are more or less influenced by their connection with existing vested interests.

It may be permitted to me, however, to express entire sympathy with the idea underlying your minute of 2nd August last, when the Metropolitan Hospital question came before you; and also to suggest that with necessary modifications the same principle might, with advantage, be made applicable in the case of other forms of public charity, and in the dispensing of the Government subsidies.

The above remark has special reference to Institutions which have the care of state children, and to the Schools of Arts throughout the Colony.

In the case of Hospitals, the advantages of a proper distribution of work under the guidance of a central direction are too evident to require advocacy on my part, while a cursory investigation will suffice to exhibit the necessity for better control over the Institutions, an influence, willing and able to cope with the mass of imposition constantly brought to bear on the State funds, and a more rigid and wise economy in the manner of their expenditure.

In the event of such Boards being created, past experience goes to indicate that in their formation special attention is required in two respects:—

First.—To the necessity of restricting the numbers on each Board so as not to weaken individual responsibility.

Second.—The need of providing against possible future embarrassment to the Government through the influence of their members.

Under the present system it must be acknowledged such influences have been introduced and have not always been to the public advantage.

Following usual custom, I beg to offer in this letter a few prefatory remarks on each of the Charitable Institutions, while in the body of the report will be found full details of their operations and financial position.

Abstract Statement—Government Asylums, Infirm and Destitute.

	Hyde Park.	Liverpool.	George-st., Parramatta.	Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-st. Asylum.
Daily average number throughout the year ...	298	724	289	296
Deaths ... ..	63	206	72	79
Average ages of deceased inmates ... ..	62·80	64·76	69·33	62·58
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Average cost per head—maintenance, &c., only	14 14 2	13 16 0	18 0 10	16 16 9
Gross cost per head, including expenses on buildings ... ..	15 7 10	13 19 4	18 2 1	16 16 9
Total expenses for maintenance on all four Asylums	...	...	...	£24,066 6 5
Travelling expenses incurred in bringing paupers to Asylums, in account with Railway Department ... ..	...	...	...	660 5 11

The Government Asylums for Infirm and Destitute.

Only in regard to the Asylums, which are already under direct State control, I do not recommend any change being made.

It will be remembered that when taken over from the Benevolent Society they were placed under a Board, but it was found that intimate acquaintance with individual applicants for admission was so essential, that practically the Board had to place itself entirely in the hands of its Manager, and came at length to efface itself.

The work at present is carried on in a most satisfactory manner both as regards economy and administration.

In the Report furnished to you by the Medical Adviser to the Government the number of Hospital beds in the Government Asylums is set down at 600.

My former Reports have explained the important assistance the Asylums have been in the habit of rendering to the General Hospitals; but many of the cases admitted are quite outside the proper functions which they ought fairly to be called upon to perform, and means for relieving them might be devised.

It is probable that ere long the inmates of the Macquarie-street Asylum, Parramatta, will be accommodated in the buildings lately added to the George-street Asylum, when, if not required for some other purpose, the first-named premises might be handed over as a Convalescent or Consumption Hospital to the future Controlling Hospital Board.

A much needed ward was last year added to the Asylum in George-street, into which admission is given to destitute boys and youths suffering from chronic forms of disease, and who hitherto have been inadmissible into any of the Public Charitable Institutions.

Full details of the working and cost of the our Asylums for Infirm and Destitute are given on pages 7 to 9.

Destitute

Destitute Females' Asylum, Hyde Park.

Notwithstanding that the rooms formerly occupied by the Matron Superintendent and her family were added to the ward accommodation of the Asylum, it continued throughout the year in a dangerously overcrowded condition; even now the tension from insufficient and improper accommodation is so great that further interim measures will have to be adopted before the new Asylum in course of erection at Newington can be ready.

George-street Asylum, Infirm and Destitute Males, Parramatta.

At the Asylum for males, George-street, Parramatta, the purchase of the large buildings and the land adjacent has served to meet a very pressing want. So soon as the building is ready for occupation a second Asylum, in extent of accommodation nearly equal to the one at Liverpool, will be in the possession of the Government.

Asylum for Infirm and Destitute Males, Liverpool.

It may be mentioned, as an evidence of appreciation of the management of the Government Asylums, that the Liverpool Asylum was last year visited by the Hon. Rufus Woods, a prominent and active member of the State Charities Board of Massachusetts.

Institutions of a similar character in America have frequently been found very troublesome to manage.

In making commendatory observations on the order, cleanliness, excellent relief, absence of coercion, and smoothness of administration exhibited, he stated that the difficulties which his own Board had encountered seemed in this Colony to have been satisfactorily provided for or were conspicuous by their absence.

He visited the Liverpool Asylum more than once, declaring his intention to make a very full report with recommendations resulting from the information he had gained to his own Board.

The Macquarie-street Asylum and Erysipelas Hospital, Parramatta—Males.

The work at this Asylum continued to be of a very important character, patients discharged from the Metropolitan Hospitals being admitted, many of whom required a continuance of active medical treatment, and some of the cases being of a serious character.

In regard to cases of erysipelas and infectious diseases, the admissions were not nearly so numerous as in any previous year since the establishment of the Hospital.

In former reports I have alluded to the inadvisability of sending infectious diseases from Sydney to Parramatta for treatment.

HOSPITALS.

The reports on Hospital accommodation for the City of Sydney, made to you by several of the principal members of the medical profession in response to your inquiries, consequent on the applications by the directors of the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals for further large grants of public money, stated with considerable unanimity the probable requirements for the sick poor of the metropolitan district and for general information is here again broadly stated.

Estimate of Hospital Accommodation.

Fifty-three Country Hospitals possess	...	...	...	...	900 beds.
Required for Metropolitan District	...	...	...	...	1,500 "
					2,400 "
					2,400 "
In the several Government Asylums and Hospitals are	...	...	...	...	500 "
St. Vincent's Hospital	...	...	...	...	100 "
Prince Alfred Hospital, if completed on original plan	...	...	...	...	450 "
Sick Children's Hospital	...	...	...	...	40 "
Proposed Accident and Emergency Hospital	...	...	...	...	100 "
" Lying-in	...	...	...	...	90 "
" Female Lock	...	...	...	...	40 "
" Fever	...	...	...	...	80 "
" Convalescent	...	...	...	...	100 "

Had these reports been furnished at a subsequent date it is probable they would have advised larger provision being made for fever cases.

In 1883 there were treated in the Prince Alfred and Sydney Hospitals alone 467 cases of typhoid fever and allied diseases, including pneumonia; but during the first six months of the current year the typhoid cases only in and around Sydney, treated in the above hospitals, and in the Government Coast Hospital at Little Bay, have numbered nearly 600.

In connection with this subject the following tables may possess interest:—

Number of cases of, and deaths from, Typhoid Fever, Pneumonia, Gastritis, Diarrhoea, and Dysentery, treated in the under-mentioned subsidised Institutions during the year 1883:—

	Cases.	Deaths.
Sydney Hospital	309	54
Prince Alfred Hospital	158	36
Sick Children's	32	3
Infants' Home, Ashfield	59	10
Country Hospitals, furnishing reports	485	66
	1,043	169
Total	1,043	169

Prince Alfred Hospital.

The desirability of completing this Hospital according to the original plan of six pavilions seems generally recognized, indeed, such a step could alone warrant the carrying to completion the buildings constituting its administrative department, which goes far beyond present requirements, but is suitable to a hospital of 450 beds.

The nearness of the Prince Alfred Hospital to the University and its affiliated Colleges warrants the probability that it will be the future medical School of the Colony.

In making additions it might be worthy of consideration whether one of the pavilions could not be so placed as to adapt it for receiving fever cases.

The working of the Institution and its financial position in 1883 are given on page 11.

The Sydney Hospital.

I venture to hope that a determination at no distant date will be arrived at as to whether the new buildings partially erected for this Institution are to be proceeded with or whether provision for the sick on another site will be made.

The original intention of building three tiers of wards over one another is certainly not in accordance with the opinions of the best judges in the matter of Hospital construction.

If, as has been suggested, the accommodation be reduced to about 150 beds by abolishing the top story in the design, the question that naturally suggests itself is should so valuable and prominent a site be sacrificed for this object, while it is quite possible to make suitable provision for a small hospital on an equally convenient and less valuable position. Statistics for the year are given on pages 9 and 10.

Coast Hospital, Little Bay.

For a portion of the year as a temporary measure convalescent cases were sent from the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals to this Institution, but late in November active operations under the supervision of the Medical Adviser to the Government were resumed, and henceforth it will take a place among the most active of our public charities.

Anticipating somewhat the remarks to be made in a future report I may state that fever cases, certified as allowing of removal, have within the current year been admitted in considerable numbers into the Little Bay Hospital, and also that it is doing a large amount of work as a Convalescent Hospital.

It is my duty to point out that under present conditions of transit the journey from Sydney to Little Bay has been found prejudicial to many fever patients, also that sometimes they have been unfavourably affected by the climatic changes due to the proximity of the Hospital to the sea.

As a convalescent Hospital, Little Bay offers many advantages, excepting in cases of pulmonary disease and rheumatic affections.

Lying-in Hospital.

To present time the management of the Lying-in Hospital has been the principal care of the Benevolent Society, but a change both of building and management appears now to be desirable.

On the formation of the contemplated Central Hospital Board the direction of this Institution will probably fall within their influence, and a new site be chosen, probably near Camperdown, in order that obstetric instruction may be included in the medical course of the University.

The major part of the large funds in the hands of the Benevolent Society chiefly derived (directly or indirectly) from the Government, might be availed of in the erection of the future Lying-in Hospital.

Full details of the operations during 1883 are given on page 23, under the heading "Benevolent Society."

Sick Children's Hospital, Glebe.

Some discussion has of late been going on as to whether this Institution ought to be continued in its present form.

Had sufficient provision been made in the general Hospitals for Children there is no question but that the greater number of patients now sent to the Glebe would have gravitated towards the larger Institutions, but under existing circumstances it seems to be desirable to continue the Sick Children's Hospital pending better arrangements being made.

Full particulars of the operations of the year and financial position of the Institution are given on page 12 in the body of this report.

The Country Hospitals.

PARTICULARS of accommodation, receipts, expenditure, and diseases treated within the Country Hospitals are given on pages 13 to 19, and, excepting the last, are exhibited in a condensed form in the following table:—

Total number of cases received into wards	...	...	...	4,570
Do out-door patients	...	...	...	865
Total deaths in Hospital	...	...	...	475
Do number of contributing patients	...	...	...	548
Totals of sources of Income—				£ s. d.
Subscriptions from public	...	...	...	18,215 6 8
Contributions by patients	...	...	...	2,239 16 8
From Government—
By unconditional votes	...	...	...	4,612 12 8
„ annual subsidy, £1 to £1 on subscriptions	...	...	...	16,947 11 6
„ unclaimed poundages and police fines	...	...	...	1,223 19 6
Interest	...	...	...	1,505 9 11

Total

Total Expenditure—

Hospital maintenance ... ..	14,363	10	4
Stimulants and medical comforts ... ..	685	1	11
Out-door relief ... ..	192	17	10
Medical officers' salaries and instruments ... ..	8,176	10	2
Nursing and superintendence ... ..	6,153	2	4
Buildings and repairs ... ..	10,977	2	10
Sundries ... ..	3,019	0	9
Total current accounts expenditure ... ..	*55,323	4	4
Reserve funds on 31st December, 1883 ... ..	20,999	9	11

As in Sydney, so throughout the Colony generally, typhoid fever occupied a very conspicuous position among the cases treated last year in the various Hospitals.

The number of such cases reported in the returns to this office by Country Hospitals was 485.

From many quarters a strong desire was expressed for special provision to be made for treating the above class of disease in isolating wards.

I have frequently drawn attention to the vexatious delays and difficulties I experience in compiling this report, owing to the irregularity with which returns are made to me by many of the country Institutions; and I beg again to express the opinion that in no part of any Government charity scheme is there more necessity for reform than in the conditions of distribution of subsidies to the country Institutions.

The fact that they are managed by Honorary Committees composed of members frequently changed, and but few of whom are acquainted with Hospital requirements and administration, renders it advisable that they should be brought under more skilled influence and a strong general control; also, that they be made to recognize the fact that they may fairly be required by the Government to furnish promptly the information it asks for, to keep their records and accounts in the form it suggests, and to assist it in building up statistical information.

INSTITUTIONS FOR THE CARE OF STATE CHILDREN.

Table showing comparative cost of State children in the four principal Institutions:—

	Dec., 1882.	Dec., 1883.
State Children's Relief Department, average No. ... ..	249	494
Cost per head ... ..	£18 0 0	£16 7 0
Asylum for Destitute Children, Randwick, average No... ..	490	407
Cost per head ... ..	£18 15 9	†£20 0 3½
Protestant Orphan School, average No. ... ..	186	146
Cost per head ... ..	£17 19 8	£22 14 10
Roman Catholic Orphanage, average No... ..	256	193
Cost per head ... ..	£14 13 4	*£16 9 4

(Exclusive of repairs to buildings, etc.)

*NOTE:—I am unable to show the fair proportion which should be debited from the Colonial Architect's vote for ordinary repairs and improvements, as those items are included in the large expenditure made upon new buildings.

The success of the efforts of the State Children's Relief Board to present time has exceeded the most sanguine anticipations of the advocates for boarding-out State children, many of the difficulties anticipated having been found to have no real existence.

The average of ages of the children hitherto boarded out is 6½ years, showing that the foster parents have not been influenced by the sole desire to obtain State children with a view to profit by their services, as has been so often stated.

It is also satisfactory to observe that the applications for boys have largely increased, and that the fear expressed in my last report that an Institution might possibly be still required for boys for whom homes could not be found was groundless.

It was thought at one time that suitable homes could not be procured in the Colony for any large number of children, but as a matter of fact the Board has always been able to command a selection both as regards the homes and the foster parents, into whose charge the children have been entrusted.

Many of the latter are of a class far superior to what had been expected, and the affectionate relations springing up in very numerous instances between the children and their foster parents give promise of permanency and are the more valuable in that they supply a counterpoise to the possible after-influences, which the children's natural parents might desire to exercise on their having attained a wage-earning age.

The absence of such home attraction and influence has always been a weak point when apprenticing children from Asylums, and possibly has led to numerous evil consequences, more especially in the case of female children.

I venture to point out what appears a defect in the State Children's Relief Act.

It allows of no special provision being made for children who suffer from hereditary physical taint, and who therefore are objected to by healthy families.

This class of unfortunates is sufficiently numerous to warrant attention to their provision.

They would be most suitably placed in numbers of about twenty in cottage homes, where, under kindly supervision, they might be afforded the advantages of medical observation, country air, and abundant milk diet.

Orphan

* Includes balances, charges on funerals, secretariat, insurance, and miscellaneous expenses.

Orphan Schools.

The Government Orphan Schools at Parramatta have reached a most critical period in their history; in both, the number of children is so reduced that economy of administration, with satisfactory results, has become well nigh impossible.

In the second part of this report will be found full particulars of these two Institutions, pages 31 and 32.

Randwick Asylum.

For some years past the Randwick Society has made comparatively few direct admissions, and notwithstanding its professions to the public and the heavy subsidy it annually receives from the Government, it has cast upon the State the relief of destitute children who came to it through the Benevolent Asylum, and were maintained after admission into Randwick entirely at the Government expense.

The supply from this source however has failed since the operations of the State Children's Relief Board became active, and recently the Board has been withdrawing Government children from the Asylum for the purpose of placing them in homes.

From the above causes the children at Randwick are greatly reduced in numbers, the Government State Children's Relief Board now doing the work heretofore entrusted to the Society at much reduced cost. Statistics are given on page 21.

Industrial Schools—S.S. "Vernon."

Provision, by a more perfect machinery for the control and education of children of vicious parentage, and the reclamation of young persons whose criminal tendencies have made them dangerous to the community, has long been acknowledged as a pressing necessity in the Colony. The public therefore have learnt with satisfaction that this subject is engaging your attention.

By your remarks from time to time it is satisfactory to know that you are prepared to recognize the sentiment becoming more and more pronounced, that in dealing with the irregularities and crimes of youthful persons reform is to be the one idea to be kept prominently before the State, or to use a current expression that the errors of the young shall be considered in the majority of instances to have been committed "without discernment."

This idea has already actuated the management, carried on for some time on board the "Schoolship 'Vernon,'" where are collected children and youths both of loose and criminal habits, both classes being placed together within the Department for Public Instruction.

Notwithstanding the want of means for better classification, the success following on the training given by the "Vernon" has been so encouraging as to justify an extension of the experiment in the proposed new Institution near Bankstown.

Statistics of the "Vernon" are given on page 28.

Female Industrial School, Biloela.

In regard to healthiness and general discipline there is little but what is favourable to report.

Attention has, however, been frequently directed to the unfortunate form and surroundings of this Institution, and to the evils likely to follow on the association of the younger portion of the children with the older girls, contaminated by vicious experiences.

Whenever possible I venture to recommend that the younger children—those committed only to protect them from evil parents—might with advantage be placed in the charge of the State Children's Relief Board.

In regard to the young women a better developed plan of practical instruction than heretofore has been attempted appears to be very desirable.

Many of the above have never had opportunities afforded them of learning useful female duties by approved methods.

To present time it does not appear to me that sufficient effort has been made to supply these young women with the information they so much need, or to inculcate habits and methods of housewifery which on their discharge from Biloela would enable them to occupy positions of respectability.

For Statistics, see page 30.

Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind.

This Institution continued to carry on its interesting work throughout the year in an efficient manner.

The health of the children was good, and the teaching maintained its excellent character.

In regard to the articulation class for deaf mutes progress was reported; but the teaching must still be considered as of an experimental character.

To give it proper effect I fear it will be found necessary to isolate the pupils from mutes accustomed to use signs in communicating with each other.

The large additions to the building advanced steadily during the year, and when completed will increase the dormitory accommodation and also provide workshops, which hereafter are to be used in teaching handicrafts.

Statistics of this Institution will be found at page 25 in the body of the report.

The Industrial Blind Workers' Institution, Boomerang Road.

The operatives, now about ten in number, were in constant employment throughout the year; and there is much improvement in the quality of the work performed.

Owing to scanty funds and the exceptional difficulties of such an undertaking the Committee have scarcely advanced the Institution beyond its initiatory stage.

They complain that, seeing the excellent quality of the articles offered for sale and their very moderate price, there has scarcely been so generous a response to their efforts on the part of the public, by a readiness to purchase, as they had been led to expect.

From the fact that the Institution is likely to be in large measure dependent on State aid, I am still hopeful a way will be found for centralizing public interest in behalf of the blind by bringing this charity into co-operation with the Institution on the Newtown Road, and thus economising supervision and industrial instruction in both.

Within

Within the present year the Industrial Blind Workers' Institution experienced a heavy loss through a fire, which destroyed uninsured material to the value of £280.

The Treasurer's balance-sheet is given on page 26 in the body of the report.

THE SCHOOLS OF ARTS, LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C.

In former reports, when alluding to the failure in a large majority of instances of these Institutions to provide a system of supplementary education as was originally expected by the Government, I was careful to point out what appeared to be the chief obstacles to their better development, and to state an impression that it would be needful to introduce influences which would act upon them continuously, and by a power outside themselves.

Attention was drawn to their isolation from one another—to their generally impecunious condition, obliging resort to illegitimate means for support, and the neglect of their true duties—also to the necessity for a central controlling intelligence, possessing authority to mould them into better form, and able to confine their action within proper bounds.

The Government, by its creation of a Technical Board, and the promise of liberal grants, has gone a long way towards rendering the vivifying these Institutions possible; but there is something required from the Institutions themselves, namely, a surrender to the Board of the appliances they possess in the shape of accommodation, &c., together with thorough willingness in carrying out its suggestions. In few words, they should keep prominently before themselves the fact that they are expected to be a constituent part of the educational system of the country.

After determining on a course of action, circulars of inquiry were addressed to the several Schools of Art, teachers of Public Schools, and large employers of labour by the Government Technical Board, with a view to ascertain what field existed for its operations in the several districts of the Colony, the extent of local teaching power, and the subjects likely to prove interesting and beneficial to each.

By the end of the year a large number of replies were received, and arrangements matured for sending itinerant lecturers to most of the Schools of Art in the centres of population.

A most valuable work lies before the Board in the future, but to conduct it with advantage and success extreme caution as well as zeal is now necessary lest by attempting too much at the outset disappointment may result.

In arranging for the delivery of lectures difficulty was now and then experienced from the fact that letting their halls and class-rooms formed a principal source of revenue, and to place them whenever called upon at the disposal of the Technical Board would involve serious pecuniary loss.

In the heretofore neglected condition of the Institutions such objection might carry weight, but it will now have to be made plain that Schools of Arts possess a quasi-public character—that the State holds large share in them, and that no individual interests can be allowed to stand in the way of giving best effect to the intentions of the Government in offering opportunities for the acquirement of knowledge in applied science to every active member of the community.

I have, &c.,

HUGH ROBISON,

Inspector of Public Charities.

THE GOVERNMENT ASYLUMS FOR INFIRM AND DESTITUTE.

It affords me much pleasure again to draw your attention to the excellent management and economical administration of these Asylums.

For a considerable part of the year they were all very full, but since the purchase of the mill in George-street, Parramatta adjoining the Asylum, pressure so far as to accommodation for male paupers is concerned has been removed.

Only a portion of the new premises have yet been able to be utilized; the work of cleaning, fitting-up, and adaptation is however proceeding steadily, and when completed the George-street Asylum will rank next after Liverpool, and be able to accommodate about 600 inmates. The Macquarie-street Asylum may then if required be devoted to some other purpose.

In my preliminary letter reference has been made to a large work of somewhat exceptional character, which for the last few years the hospitals within the Asylums have been required to perform, duties belonging properly to convalescent hospitals and not to Destitute Asylums.

So soon as means and opportunity permit, I would suggest that admissions be properly divided, and that pauper, chronic, and convalescent hospitals be brought within the control of the Central Hospital Board.

Among the advantages gained by the recent Government purchase are four cottages which provide accommodation for imbecile cases arising from senile decay, and for poor boys who suffer from hereditary or permanent disease, and are not admissible into any ordinary hospital. These unfortunates are now most amply provided for, and are entirely apart from the adult paupers.

Within the maintenance charge (£24,066 6s. 5d.), set against these Institutions for 1883, is an item of £660 5s. 11d., included only because it could not conveniently be embraced within any other heading of Government expenditure. It represents the cost of carriage to Sydney of paupers sent from inland districts to the Asylums, incurred prior to their admission.

Reasonable allowance being made for the exceptionable season the contracts for supplies were fairly carried out.

The Destitute Females' Asylum, Hyde Park.

...Excepting in matters pertaining to care and attention, good order, and cleanliness, there is little to convey satisfaction in respect of this Institution, which remained dangerously overcrowded during the whole year, notwithstanding that the Matron-Superintendent's quarters were given up for additional ward-accommodation.

Many

Many urgent applicants (sometimes in bad weather) were obliged to be refused, it being found impossible to receive them.

I would earnestly solicit that the Colonial Architect be invited to push forward the erection of the new Asylum at Newington with the utmost possible expedition, in order that an end be put to a condition of matters in respect of provision for aged and infirm destitute females, which has long been far from creditable to the Colony.

Notwithstanding all the disadvantages under which the management laboured, it is satisfactory to find that the health of the inmates throughout the past year was fairly good.

As usual the drainage was a source of frequent trouble and anxiety, furnishing an additional and important reason for changing the site of the Institution.

For statistics of cost, admissions, &c., see general table, pages 8 and 9.

The Liverpool Asylum (Males).

The management during 1883 has again performed a work alike important and satisfactory. Full particulars of its operations are given in attached general table, pages 8 and 9.

The health of the inmates, all things considered, was equal to the average of years, but great anxiety and possibly some bad consequences resulted from the very offensive effluvia constantly rising from the river immediately opposite to the Asylum. For the greater part of the year the weather was dry, and the river in consequence was so low that a large accumulation of rotting filth was left in the water and on the banks; it is wonderful a pestilence was not occasioned, not only within the Asylum but throughout the town.

About the close of the year arrangements were made for reroofing the central buildings.

In reshingling the kitchen a defect has, I am informed, appeared. During heavy rain a great deal of the water passes over the spouting and is lost; this matter might be inquired into.

The large underground tank, built in 1882, proved invaluable during the recent drought, and afforded a supply of wholesome drinking water to the large numbers in the Asylum, at a time when it would have been difficult to procure water of equal quality elsewhere.

The George-street Asylum.

By the purchase of the land and buildings formerly in the occupation of the Messrs. Byrnes as a tweed factory, and their annexation to the old George-street Asylum adjoining, a new character has been given to this Institution.

When the alterations and additions contemplated are completed the accommodation in the new premises will it is expected be equal to the requirements of nearly 400 inmates.

By the junction of the old and new Asylum by means of a bridge, all the buildings will be brought under one management, and form an institution of the first class.

Considerable progress has already been made in repairs and fitting up.

The detached building, formerly used as a cloth-room, and the cottage adjoining, now make an admirable hospital and hospital kitchen.

Two of the four cottages on the ground are occupied by imbecile cases, arising from senile decay, the other two as a hospital and refuge for destitute boys and youths suffering from severe forms of chronic disease.

In the general table, pages 8 and 9, will be found details of the operations and cost of this Asylum in 1883.

During the same period the health of the inmates was considered as having been fair.

The Macquarie-street Asylum and Erysipelas Hospital.

In former reports I have more than once made mention of the large number of hospital cases passing through this Institution.

As has already been said, the character of some of the above cases warranted treatment rather in a Hospital than in an Asylum.

As soon as the George-street Asylum extensions are completed I venture to suggest that the inmates from the Macquarie-street Asylum be transferred thither, and if not otherwise required that the Macquarie-street Asylum be used as a Convalescent Hospital for such cases as cannot be advantageously treated at Little Bay.

Statistics for the past year will be found on pages 8 and 9.

A remarkable diminution is apparent in the number of cases of erysipelas treated last year, only twenty having been sent to the Hospital. Of these nineteen recovered.

The cases of infectious diseases admitted were also inconsiderable in number.

I have already in previous reports pointed to the inadvisability of transmitting patients suffering from such diseases as scarlet fever, measles and scabies, from Sydney to Parramatta for treatment.

Statistics—Government Asylums for Infirm and Destitute:—

	Hyde Park.	Liverpool.	George-street, Parramatta.	Erysipelas Hospital and Macquarie-st. Hospital.
	Females.	Males.	Males.	Males.	Females.
In House, 31st December, 1882 ... ..	284	733	219	339	1
” ” ” 1883 ... ..	292	724	267	268	...
Daily average numbers throughout year ...	298	724	289	296	...
Average ages of deceased inmates... ..	62·80	64·76	69·33	62·58	...
Percentage of deaths ... ..	21·14	28·45	24·91	26·35	...
Admitted 1st January to 31st December... ..	316	969	757	718	8
Discharged ... ..	245	772	637	690	9
Died ... ..	63	206	72	79	...

Analysis

Analysis of numbers and cost of Maintenance :—

Exclusive of cost of repairs and improvements by Department of Colonial Architect :—

		£	s.	d.
Hyde Park (females) Asylum ... ..	298	14	3	11
Liverpool (males) " " " " " "	724	13	16	0
George-street Asylum, Parramatta ... ..	280	17	6	7
Macquarie-street Asylum, and Erysipelas Hos- pital, Parramatta, gross cost... ..	296	16	16	9
Total expenditure for maintenance, *£24,066 6s. 5d., or £15 10s. 9½d. per head.

Analysis of Expenditure.

	Hyde Park.	Liverpool.	George-street, Parramatta.	Macquarie-street Asylum and Erysipelas Hospital.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Food and medical comforts ... ..	6 8 5	7 7 1	8 6 7	8 3 6
Clothing and boots ... ..	2 19 2	1 12 0	2 13 8	1 10 8
Salaries ... ..	2 11 1	2 8 9	2 15 0	3 4 11
Contingencies ... ..	2 5 3	3 8 2	3 11 4	3 17 8
Average net cost for maintenance ...	14 3 11	13 16 0	17 6 7	16 16 9
Add for medical attendance paid for out of medical vote (£350); £150 for Hyde Park; £200 for George-street, Parramatta ... ..	0 10 3	Included in Salaries.	0 14 3	Included in Salaries.

Also add expenditure by Colonial Architect, under his vote totals :—

Ordinary repairs ... ..	201 0 0	108 4 3	18 12 6	.....
Furniture ... ..	3 0 0	13 18 0	.....	.....
Total ... ..	204 0 0	122 2 3	18 12 6	.....
Per head ... ..	0 13 8	0 3 4	0 1 3	.....
Gross cost per head ... ..	15 7 10	13 19 4	18 2 1	16 16 9

THE SYDNEY HOSPITAL.

THE working of this Institution during the year under review is presented in the tables hereunder :—

Diseases treated in Sydney Hospital, 1 January to 31 December.

	Cases.	Deaths
General diseases ... ..	506	34
Respiratory organs ... ..	317	102
Circulatory organs and blood ... ..	120	40
Alimentary canal and abdominal organs ... ..	223	29
Diseases of nervous system ... ..	277	22
Diseases of the skin ... ..	36	1
Diseases of genito-urinary organs... ..	223	16
Diseases of osseous system ... ..	26	...
Diseases of joints and bursæ ... ..	34	...
Diseases of mouth, nose, &c. ... ..	16	...
Tumours ... ..	48	3
Diseases peculiar to women ... ..	58	...
Diseases of the eye and ear ... ..	192	...
Fractures ... ..	321	17
Dislocations, &c. ... ..	370	12
Unclassified ... ..	351	5
Total ... ..	3,118	288

General Statistics.

Admissions—January to December,—	1883.	1882.
Medical cases ... ..	1,472	1,341
Surgical " " " " " "	1,646	1,553
	3,118	2,894.
The largest number of admissions—October ...	294	November ... 258.
The smallest " " February ...	227	June ... 222.
	Year	1883.	1882.
The number of accidents and urgent cases attended to but not admitted into the wards ... ..	2,817	2,945
Ophthalmic branch (indoor) included in above, 3,118 ... ..	192	131
Do (out-patients) ... ..	499	476
Deaths in wards ... ..	309	381
Number of patients in Hospital, 31st December, 1883 ... ..	221	208
Do cases treated by District Surgeons in connection with Dispensary ... ..	8,901	8,431
Of whom were visited at own homes ... ..	775	880

FINANCIAL

* NOTE.—The above amount includes £660 5s. 11d., charged to the Asylums for cost of carriage of inmates sent from country districts, &amp;c.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1883.

Income—		£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Subscription from general public (including patients) ... ..	...	...	...	...	4,163	15	6
Government subsidy £ to £ on subscriptions ... ..	...	...	...	...	4,000	0	0
"December," for maintainance of paupers—quarter ending 31st	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
December, 1882 ... ..	...	...	...	...	1,581	17	3
Quarter ending 31 March, 1883 ... ..	...	...	...	...	1,786	6	9
"    "    30 June, 1883 ... ..	...	...	...	...	1,758	10	9
						5,126	14	9
Amount received from resident officers' fees ... ..	...	...	...	...	111	15	6
Paying patients, Mercantile Marine... ..	...	...	...	263	19	0
"    "    Police ... ..	...	...	...	14	0	0
					227	19	0
Pupils' fees .. ..	...	...	...	...	22	1	0
						411	15	6
From Government on account of new Hospital ... ..	...	...	...	...	20,000	0	0
Nursing Staff subsidy... ..	...	...	...	...	1,250	0	0
						21,250	0	0
Overdraft at Bank of New South Wales ... ..	...	...	...	...		2,819	5	7
						£37,771	11	4
Invested Funds, 31 December, 1883 ... ..	...	...	...	...		6,300	0	0
Expenditure—		£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Overdraft, 31 December, 1882 ... ..	...	...	...	...	3,134	2	10
Salaries and wages—
General Staff ... ..	...	...	...	...	4,463	16	8
Nursing Staff ... ..	...	...	...	...	370	0	0
District Surgeons ... ..	...	...	...	...	450	0	0
						5,283	16	8
Hospital maintenance—
Provisions ... ..	...	...	...	...	5,038	17	5
Ice ... ..	...	...	...	...	67	0	7
Gas ... ..	...	...	...	...	402	16	2
Washing ... ..	...	...	...	...	789	16	6
Fuel ... ..	...	...	...	...	265	18	3
Areated waters ... ..	...	...	...	...	73	6	0
Wines, beer, spirits ... ..	...	...	...	...	296	16	9
Furniture ... ..	...	...	...	...	534	18	7
Drapery ... ..	...	...	...	...	967	13	3
						8,437	3	6
Drugs ... ..	...	...	...	...	1,149	6	6
Surgical instruments ... ..	...	...	...	...	263	9	6
"    appliances ... ..	...	...	...	...	186	19	4
"    dressing ... ..	...	...	...	...	213	18	4
						1,813	13	8
Funerals and coffins ... ..	...	...	...	...	196	10	0
Branch Dispensary ... ..	...	...	...	...	148	9	0
Printing and stationery ... ..	...	...	...	...	370	16	6
Commission ... ..	...	...	...	...	91	14	5
Petty expenses ... ..	...	...	...	...	169	7	4
Interest ... ..	...	...	...	...	17	6	11
Fire Insurance ... ..	...	...	...	...	51	14	9
Buildings and repairs ... ..	...	...	...	...	1,102	11	2
Permanent new structure ... ..	...	...	...	...	16,954	4	7
						19,102	14	8
						£37,771	11	4

The above statistics are at this time of special interest, as showing not only the pauperising tendencies of the relations long existent between the subsidised public charities and the Government, but also because the large amount of Government assistance already given to this Institution furnishes its Board with an argument for making further claims on the Public Treasury.

The design of the new Hospital as originally approved is not in conformity with modern Hospital rule, and if altered will so reduce the accommodation that commercially speaking the cost per bed will be enormous. Objection has also been made to the soft nature of the stone used as being unfit for hospital buildings.

Your determination on the Board's last application will probably be made on purely financial grounds, for although the Macquarie-street site possesses certain advantages of accessibility and surroundings, it cannot be denied but that there are weighty objections to so prominent and valuable a position being occupied otherwise than by a public building of the first class, calculated to embellish the city.

'Inquiry has shown that another site sufficient for requirements, and almost equally convenient, may be secured at a moderate price, and therefore that there is no absolute necessity for maintaining a Hospital in Macquarie-street.

In all matters of internal management I desire to report favourably of the Institution.

The training staff sent out seven nurses during last year, and has been maintained in a state of efficiency.

The

The Eye Branch at Moore Cliff was actively employed, but almost entirely in the treatment of patients admitted under Colonial Secretary's recommendation. Since the appointment of a specialist for eye diseases at the Government Asylums the above circumstance appears somewhat anomalous.

THE PRINCE ALFRED HOSPITAL.

The following tables represent the operations of this Hospital during last year:—

Patients remaining in Hospital, 31st December, 1882...	...	...	79
"    received during the year	...	...	990
			1,069
Patients discharged, cured, or relieved ...	...	...	773
"    "    incurable, or at their own request	...	...	50
Deaths ...	...	...	127
			950

Patients remaining in Hospital, 31st December, 1883... 124
Discrepancy of 5—probably in number of discharges.

Returns of number of persons under treatment during the year 1883, the order of disease for which they were treated, and the number of deaths in each order:—

Diseases—	Cases.	Deaths.
*General ...	307	49
Of respiratory organs ...	58	14
Circulatory organs and blood ...	34	7
Alimentary canal and abdominal organs ...	80	18
Nervous system ...	44	8
Cellular tissues and skin ...	62	2
Genito-urinary organs ...	47	5
Osseous system, joints and bursæ ...	76	3
†Tumours...	20	3
Peculiar to women ...	52	5
Eye, ear, and nose ...	44	...
Fractures, dislocations, and local injuries ...	106	10
Unclassified ...	15	3
Totals ...	945	127

HONORARY TREASURER'S FINANCIAL STATEMENT from 1st January to 31st December, 1883:—

Income—	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Balance, 31 December, 1882 ...	654	0	9
Received from public by subscriptions and donations ...	3,581	5	0
Contributed by patients...	1,322	16	0
Received from Government—Special Vote ...	12,500	0	0
"    "    Maintenance of pauper patients ...	2,087	5	7
"    "    Annual subsidy... ...	4,000	0	0
Interest on invested funds ...	135	5	10
Overdraft, 31 December, 1883 ...	1,177	6	4
Total current account...				25,457	19	6
Amount at fixed deposit, 31 December, 1882				7,500	0	0
Grand total ...				£32,957	19	6

Expenditure—	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Hospital maintenance (including wages other than for nursing staff)	5,537	10	6
Out patients ...	620	0	0
Medical Superintendent's salary ...	450	0	0
Resident Medical Officer's salary ...	250	0	0
Drugs and instruments ...	679	12	0
Medical comforts and stimulants ...	303	11	10
Nursing staff ...	1,277	0	0
Secretary's salary ...	250	0	0
Funerals ...	81	16	0
Buildings and repairs ...	14,160	0	10
Printing, stationery, and postage ...	216	5	6
Sundries—Insurance commission extras ...	432	2	10
Total current account...				24,257	19	6
Amount at fixed deposit, 31 December, 1883				8,700	0	0
Grand total ...				£32,957	19	6

As

* Phthisis, 115 cases—25 deaths.

† Mammary, 7 cases—1 death. Malignant, 13 cases—2 deaths.

As regards appliances, cleanliness, and order, this Institution presents a model of what all our hospitals should offer; but in certain directions even the Prince Alfred Hospital would benefit by being included within the influences of the proposed Central Controlling Hospital Board.

I have pleasure in drawing attention to the comparatively large amount paid by contributing patients, an earnest of still better results obtainable in the future when the present pauperising system, common to all our charities, shall have been abandoned.

The large central administrative block having been completed the consideration immediately follows whether the erection of the remaining pavilions contemplated in the plan of the Hospital should not be proceeded with, in order to render the working of the Hospital economical.

In my preliminary letter I have endeavoured to show that such a course is advisable, and that the suggestion is in consonance with the opinions of our medical authorities.

One of the proposed pavilions might be so placed as to adapt it for use for typhoid and allied diseases, a provision necessary in the western part of the city whence come a large number of such cases. It is extremely desirable that the lock and ophthalmic wards be fitted up as quickly as possible.

THE SICK CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL, GLEBE.

In the tables below are given particulars of the working and financial position of this Institution during the year under review.

Statistics, 1883.

Numbers—

Cases in Hospital, 31st December, 1882	...	...	...	...	...	38
Admissions during 1883	...	...	...	...	...	115
						153
Discharged, cured, or relieved	...	...	...	...	110
Incurable or removed	...	...	...	...	7
Deaths	...	...	...	...	16
Remaining in Hospital, 31st December, 1883	...	...	...	...	21
						154*

Diseases treated, 1 January to 31 December 1883.

	Number of Cases.	Deaths.
General diseases	28	1
Diseases of respiratory organs	14	2
" Alimentary, canal, and abdominal organs	6	2
" Nervous system	8	1
" Skin	7	...
" Genito-urinary organs	4	1
" Osseous system	43	2
" Of the eye	4	...
Accidents, injuries, &c.	9	2
Unclassified	10	4
	133	15

HONORARY TREASURER'S FINANCIAL STATEMENT from 1st January to 31st December, 1883.

Income—

	£	s.	d.	£.	s.	d.
Balance, 31/12/82	124	12	7
Received from public by subscriptions	317	5	6
" donations	171	14	0
Contributed by patients	290	11	9
Received from Government—Annual subsidy	864	9	6

Total current account	...	...	...	1,768	13	4
Amount at fixed deposit, 31/12/83	...	...	...	1,118	3	2

Grand total ... 2,886 16 6

Expenditure—

	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Overdraft, 31/12/82	1,111	14	0
Dispenser's salary	65	0	0
Drugs and instruments	160	1	11
Medical comforts and stimulants	41	4	11
Nursing staff and Superintendent's salaries	460	0	3
Funerals...	5	7	7
Buildings and repairs	345	17	4
Secretary's salary, printing, &c.	70	10	10
Sundries...	50	3	5
Balance, 31/12/83	576	16	3

Total current account ... 2,886 16 6

Grand total ... 2,886 16 6

Order,

*Discrepancy of 1 here.

Order, cleanliness, and careful administration, have proved the management both active and efficient, but frequent misunderstandings between the Committee and their honorary Medical Staff point to the want of an outside controlling power, in whom would vest the responsibility of guarding the interests of the public.

A doubt has been expressed, not without reason, as to the sanitary fitness of the premises for Hospital purposes, and further, whether the neighbourhood is one wherein diseases of an enteric form should be treated if provision can be made elsewhere.

The General Hospitals do not possess at present requisite accommodation for children, but the question of continuing this Hospital where it is now situated is worthy of your attention, more especially when regarded in the light of the following facts:—

During last year 154 children were treated, or a daily average of 14 males and 19 females. The net expenditure amounted to £2,310 Os. 3d., of which £864 9s. 6d. was paid by the State—a rate per head of £70 for maintenance.

COUNTRY HOSPITALS.

STATISTICS of accommodation, diseases treated, and sources of income and expenditure of Country Hospitals during the year 1883.

Hospitals against which an asterisk is placed were not sufficiently advanced to admit patients during 1883.

COUNTRY HOSPITALS—General Returns.

Hospital.	Male Wards.	Female Wards.	Beds.		Cubic air-space per bed.	Average number of Patients.		Number of Paying Patients.	Number of Patients admitted who were more fitted for Benevolent Asylum.	Total numbers treated within year.	Discharged cured or relieved.	Discharged at own request.	Deaths.	Number remaining in Hospital, 31st December, 1883.	Outpatients.
			For Males.	For Females.		Male.	Female.
Albury.....	3	1	25	5	910	19	...	...	12	224	199	...	8	17	226
Armidale.....	2	1	19	3	1,287	16·5	2·5	...	10	183	152	...	13	18	...
Balranald.....	3	...	17	...	480	4	...	1	...	44	31	1	6	6	34
Bathurst.....	3	1	35	10	1,819	...	...	2	80	286	238	...	26	22	...
Fraidwood.....	3	2	16	4	500	2	...	...	...	32	27	...	2	3	...
Pourke.....	3	...	16	...	719	13·5	...	11	11	145	119	1	12	13	...
Brewarrina.....	1	1	4	4	1,657	4	·3	...	3	50	23	...	2	5	...
Carcoar.....	3	1	13	3	1,035	3	·3	2	2	53	44	2	5	2	...
Cobar.....	2	1	7	2	780	...	2·5	...	2	32	21	2	5	4	...
Cooma.....	2	2	8	3	1,046	·04	·08	1	1	17	11	...	4	2	...
Coonamble.....	1	1	4	1	515	2	1	11	3	48	31	4	9	4	...
Copeland North.....	2	1	3	2	1,800	...	1	...	1	6	6	...	...	...	5
Cowra.....	1	1	2	2	691	2	·5	14	1	38	28	...	8	2	†
Deniliquin.....	3	1	23	3	708	10	10·75	...	5	119	91	...	16	12	116
Dubbo.....	2	1	16	9	800	10	1·5	32	16	133	109	...	18	6	82
Forbes.....	3	1	12	3	960	10	...	33	12	101	81	...	13	7	30
Goulburn.....	3	2	18	7	1,100	...	11	...	20	248	223	...	16	9	62
Glen Innes.....	1	...	6	...	400	1·5	...	39	2	75	63	...	8	4	1
Grafton.....	6	2	17	5	1,780	4·5	·9	...	9	80	72	1	7	...	11
Grenfell.....	1	1	5	5	1,092	...	...	6	1	19	15	...	3	1	4
Gulgong.....	2	1	15	3	820	...	6·5	11	2	65	43	2	20	...	14
Gundagai.....	1	1	12	...	...	3·	...	11	3	32	21	1	7	3	...
Gunnedah.....	1	1	4	3	864	2·5	·7	4	7	50	28	13	8	1	...
Hay.....	2	1	20	2	600	...	...	...	...	207	...	...	23	...	...
Hill End.....	3	1	14	4	1,200	1·5	·5	4	4	26	22	...	3	1	5
Inverell.....	4	3	9	4	1,200	7·7	2·	14	5	101	88	...	5	8	...
Kempsey.....	2	2	7	4	1,235	3·4	·7	...	4	60	48	3	3	6	14
Lismore.....	1	1	4	1	900	2	...	...	3	29	26	...	3	...	...
Maitland.....	7	2	35	15	844	7·4	2·9	6	60	189	141	15	17	16	160
Mudgee.....	2	2	12	12	1,400	...	...	...	...	119	102	...	10	7	...
Murrurundi.....	2	1	8	4	550	3	·75	...	9	60	51	1	6	2	...
Muswellbrook.....	2	1	9	6	729	...	...	10	...	36	27	...	3	6	...
Narrabri.....	3	1	14	2	814	...	...	...	...	110	...	...	8	9	...
Newcastle.....	5	3	24	10	1,152	17·22	3·2	79	13	292	233	14	23	22	12
Orange.....	2	2	16	4	934	13	2	10	A great proportion	160	127	...	14	19	...
Parkes.....	1	1	4	4	972	3	·9	13	...	43	29	1	8	5	...
Parramatta.....	2	2	16	8	1,219	...	...	...	...	...	249	...	19	...	...
Queanbeyan.....	2	1	5	2	616	1	...	10	1	16	13	1	1	1	...
Scone.....	2	2	8	4	1,780 & 1,512	6·3	2·5	8	7	56	40	6	4	6	6
Singleton.....	5	5	27	13	1,411	12·7	4·3	...	25	65	...	...	8	16	...
Sofala.....	2	...	8	...	558	1	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
Tamworth.....	2	1	12	...	585	7·1	·7	3	21	105	88	...	8	9	...
Temora.....	1	1	6	3	1,250	1·6	·36	10	8	36	30	...	4	2	...
Ternterfield.....	3	1	8	2	765	2	·2	5	...	35	29	1	4	1	1
Urana.....	1	1	4	3	780	2·7	·3	1	1	44	39	1	2	2	...
Vegetable Creek.....	1	1	6	2	1,600	Hospital not opened.		...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Wagga Wagga.....	3	1	24	5	849	15	2	19	6	184	135	4	31	14	66
Walgett.....	2	1	8	2	1,248	6	·5	8	2	69	51	1	14	3	...
Warialda.....	3	2	7	2	900	3	1	7	7	45	33	5	5	2	...
Wellington.....	3	1	10	2	464	1·3	·4	10	2	27	18	3	4	2	...
Wilcannia.....	2	1	18	...	804	15	...	Many.	3	171	140	...	16	15	...
Windsor.....	5	3	52	...	900	31	9	51	26	154	105	...	16	33	16
Wollongong.....	1	1	5	5	878	...	...	Several.	...	61	51	...	3	7	...
Yass.....	3	1	11	2	173·6	·08	·02	30	2	34	28	...	5	1	...
Young.....	4	1	15	4	811	...	...	82	10	135	107	...	22	6	...

† Considerable number.

COUNTRY HOSPITALS—MEDICAL RETURNS.

Name.	Diseases of																				Tumours.	Diseases peculiar to Women.	Diseases of the Eye.	Fractures.	Dislocation, &c.	Un-classified.	Totals.
	General Diseases.		Respiratory Organs.		Circulating Organs and Blood.		Alimentary Canal and Abdominal Organs.		Nervous System.		Skin.		Genito-Urinary Organs.		Osseous System.		Joints and Bursæ.		Mouth, Nose, &c.								Diseases.	Deaths.
	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.
Adelong	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Albury	43	1	32	1	11	...	18	...	11	...	8	...	4	...	6	1	...	...	4	...	6	2	3	6	36	2	...	...	36	...	224	7
Araluen	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Armidale	30	...	18	4	4	...	18	4	9	1	...	...	7	2	3	...	...	...	1	...	...	11	...	26	1	...	...	44	...	172	12
Ashfield (Infants' Home)	5	2	22	4	...	...	57	11	3	2	4	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	19	3	...	20	...	...	...	...	61	15	191	39
Balranald	4	...	4	1	2	2	...	...	4	...	1	1	5	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	12	1	...	...	7	...	44	6
Burrangong (See Young)	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Brewarrina	7	...	5	...	...	...	4	1	2	1	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	...	6	...	30	2
Bombala	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Bathurst	52	1	24	3	15	1	13	4	9	1	...	...	12	1	1	...	1	1	...	...	3	...	23	...	21	3	...	...	14	...	188	15
Bega	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Braidwood	4	...	6	1	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	3	1	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	7	...	...	2	...	26	2
Bourke	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Carcoar	11	2	5	1	1	...	3	2	6	...	1	...	5	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	9	...	...	2	...	45	5
Copeland North	3	...	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	6	...
Cobar	2	1	4	...	1	1	3	...	7	3	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	7	1	...	5	...	32	7
Condobolin (not ready for patients)	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Cowra	4	...	11	5	3	1	2	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	2	1	1	...	2	...	4	1	...	4	...	36	8
Cooma	4	...	4	1	...	...	3	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	1	...	3	1	17	4
Coonamble	3	1	6	2	1	...	5	3	6	1	...	...	4	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	2	...	3	...	11	2	...	4	...	48	9
Deniliquin	17	2	14	3	10	4	9	4	18	2	...	...	14	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	4	...	24	1	...	8	...	119	16
Dubbo	26	2	34	9	6	1	6	...	8	1	...	...	1	...	2	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	8	...	15	1	...	15	2	125	16
Forbes	9	...	17	5	8	2	16	5	13	...	3	...	6	...	4	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	3	...	5	...	...	15	1	101	13
Glen Innes	19	...	9	2	...	...	6	1	4	2	2	...	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	2	...	24	...	4	...	4	1	74	8
Gunnedah	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Goulburn	68	2	21	6	11	1	24	1	11	1	...	...	11	...	...	...	...	...	10	...	...	...	...	49	1	...	13	...	248	16
Grafton	21	2	4	...	1	...	10	2	9	2	1	...	7	1	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	8	...	...	15	...	80	7
Grenfell	7	1	...	...	1	1	6	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	2	...	19	3
Gulgong	9	...	12	3	9	3	10	5	8	3	4	...	3	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	5	...	10	...	10	2	...	5	2	80	20
Gundagai	5	...	7	1	3	1	6	3	1	1	...	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	5	1	...	1	...	32	7
Hay	45	2	32	9	8	3	28	7	19	1	8	...	10	...	4	...	...	...	...	...	...	5	...	29	1	...	19	...	207	23
Hill End	10	3	6	...	1	...	2	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	4	...	...	2	...	26	3
Hillston	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Inverell	21	1	20	...	4	3	2	...	10	...	1	...	5	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	7	1	7	...	10	...	...	10	...	101	5*
Kiandra	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...

* Births, 2.

COUNTRY HOSPITALS—Medical Returns.

Name.	Diseases of																				Tumours,		Diseases peculiar to Women.		Diseases of the Eye.		Fractures.		Dislocation, &c.		Un-classified.		Total.
	General Diseases.		Respiratory Organs.		Circulating Organs and Blood.		Alimentary Canal and Abdominal Organs.		Nervous System.		Skin.		Genito-Urinary Organs.		Osseous System.		Joints and Bursæ.		Mouth, Nose, &c.		Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.
	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.	Cases.	Deaths.													Diseases.	Deaths.
Kempsey	11	2	3	1	...	10	...	4	...	...	...	4	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	4	...	2	...	11	...	...	...	8	...	60	3
Lismore	3	1	1	...	2	1	...	1	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	13	1	...	...	7	...	28	3
Maitland*	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Menindie	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Moruya Cottage Hospital	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Mudgee	36	5	15	2	8	11	2	10	3	2	1	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	4	...	5	...	24	...	...	...	...	120	10
Murrurundi	17	...	8	3	2	4	1	3	2	1	...	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	...	16	...	...	...	60	6
Muswellbrook	6	...	4	...	3	2	3	5	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	1	1	2	...	5	...	8	...	...	...	38	3
Narrabri	25	...	21	...	6	1	5	...	5	1	1	...	10	2	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	13	...	14	3	...	...	8	1	110	8
Newcastle	68	1	39	5	10	3	27	3	20	2	7	...	15	2	2	...	...	...	...	1	...	5	1	5	...	45	6	...	...	48	...	292	3
Orange	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Parkes	9	1	10	3	3	2	4	1	1	...	1	...	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	...	...	8	1	43	8
Parramatta	62	4	37	8	5	1	27	3	17	...	...	...	7	1	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	4	...	4	...	21	1	8	1	54	...	249	19
Port Stephens	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Queanbeyan	4	1	5	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	16	1
Scone	18	3	6	1	4	...	8	...	3	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	5	...	2	...	...	4	...	56	4
Sick Children's Hospital	28	1	14	2	6	2	8	1	...	7	...	4	1	43	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	4	...	9	2	10	4	133	15
Singleton	6	3	5	3	1	...	5	...	7	1	...	3	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	...	4	...	10	...	...	36†	...	80	8
Sofala	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	1	...	...
Tamworth	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Temora	13	1	3	1	...	4	1	...	...	...	3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	9	1	...	2	...	34	4
Tenterfield	7	...	7	1	1	1	2	...	5	1	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	6	...	...	5	1	35	4
Urana	8	...	5	1	2	1	4	...	5	...	1	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	11	...	...	6	...	44	2
Vegetable Creek	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Warialda	5	1	6	1	...	5	1	3	1	1	...	5	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	5	...	8	1	...	5	...	45	5
Wagga Wagga	36	...	37	...	6	...	15	...	12	...	4	...	4	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	4	...	43	...	...	...	22	...	184	31
Walgett	20	2	7	1	2	...	10	4	6	3	1	...	3	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	4	...	10	2	...	6	1	69	14
Wellington	4	...	3	2	5	2	2	1	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	11	...	...	...	...	27	5
West Maitland Benevolent Society	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Wilcannia	40	1	18	9	4	1	12	2	7	1	5	...	11	...	3	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	20	...	19	2	...	31	...	171	16
Windsor	63	2	14	6	2	1	12	3	10	1	...	9	1	3	1	...	...	...	...	3	1	3	...	6	...	16	...	13	...	154†	16
Wollongong	9	1	9	...	2	1	10	1	5	...	2	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	...	15	...	...	5	...	61	3
Yass	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Young	24	6	25	6	5	2	11	5	7	...	...	5	...	2	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	8	...	24	3	...	24	...	136	22
Total.....																											4,517	486	...

* Maitland Hospital omitted to send medical return. † Senile decay. ‡ 41 Senile decay.

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure in Country Hospitals for the Year 1883.

Income.

Town.	Balance, 31st December, 1882.	From the Public.			From Government.				Interest on Invested Funds.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1883.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1882.	Grand Total.
		Subscriptions.	Donations.	Contributed by Patients.	Special Vote.	Annual Subsidy.	Unclaimed Poundages.	Police Fines.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Albury .....		1,356 10 2			1,637 19 10	470 0 4	29 17 7	12 7 2			3,506 15 1		3,506 15 1
Armidale .....		701 9 6		23 1 8	299 5 0	600 0 0	40 5 2	24 7 3			1,688 8 7		1,688 8 7
Balranald .....	433 5 6	338 3 1		11 12 0		558 19 8		3 0 0			1,345 0 3		1,345 0 3
Bathurst .....	282 12 1	696 4 1		39 6 0		1,006 10 4		25 10 4	100 10 0		2,150 12 10	2,100 0 0	4,250 12 10
Bega .....	No return—outdoor relief only.
Braidwood .....		51 2 0	52 14 0	48 17 0		100 0 0	6 12 6	7 14 10	18 0 0	6 19 11	292 0 3	400 0 0	692 0 3
Bourke .....	281 5 1	644 17 2	72 9 0	55 14 3		412 19 10	32 10 1	18 10 0	24 0 0		1,542 5 5	600 0 0	2,142 5 5
Brewarrina .....	53 12 11	623 12 7				299 8 2	6 4 5		10 19 0		993 17 1	730 0 0	1,723 17 1
Carcoar .....	90 9 5	115 18 0	39 16 11	63 2 0		200 0 0	37 5 8	5 0 0	27 10 7		579 2 7	288 2 4	867 4 11
Condobolin .....
Copeland North .....	97 13 2	44 16 0				117 16 2		1 0 0			261 5 4		261 5 4
Cobar .....	722 19 5	298 2 7		19 6 0		418 5 0		8 19 0	12 9 10		1,480 1 10		1,480 1 10
Cooma .....	26 5 7	17 17 0	123 9 10			170 10 7	63 5 11	4 12 0	5 10 0	50 6 10	461 17 9	100 0 0	561 17 9
Coonamble .....	72 0 2	91 5 0	158 19 1	39 0 0		425 8 5	42 3 1	3 10 0			832 5 9		832 5 9
Cowra .....		99 6 0	266 13 2	40 12 6		113 6 8	3 9 7	13 2 0	4 11 6		541 1 5	500 0 0	1,041 1 5
Deniliquin .....	210 10 7	496 16 0				531 9 5	9 9 2	10 10 0	5 0 0		1,263 15 2		1,263 15 2
Dubbo .....		324 12 6		124 0 0		457 14 3	43 1 3	7 16 0		251 2 0	1,208 6 0		1,208 6 0
Forbes .....	336 7 10	171 1 6	70 9 6	136 8 6		497 6 5	26 2 7	0 15 0	10 0 0		1,248 11 4		1,248 11 4
Glen Innes .....		382 2 8		154 5 4	500 0 0	359 4 4		5 10 0			1,401 2 4		1,401 2 4
Goulburn .....	540 11 9	354 14 2		179 13 3		300 0 0	18 8 3	19 11 6			1,412 18 11		1,412 18 11
Grafton .....	329 4 2	170 13 1				499 19 8	9 11 7	8 1 0		81 13 7	1,099 3 1		1,099 3 1
Grenfell .....	121 12 5	117 4 9		17 5 10	150 8 8		32 3 1		15 0 0		453 14 9	300 0 0	753 14 9
Gulgong .....	128 11 6	88 10 0	115 19 11	59 17 7		205 17 2	23 17 5				622 13 7		622 13 7
Gundagai .....
Gunnedah .....	272 17 10	234 11 5		23 10 0	275 0 0	354 15 1	29 10 9	6 6 0	13 10 0	0 1 10	1,210 2 11		1,210 2 11
Hay .....	316 14 2	430 13 4	2 15 4	63 1 4		531 11 3		3 15 6			1,348 10 11		1,348 10 11
Hill End .....		112 9 2		22 1 0		129 15 10		0 2 6	40 0 0		304 8 6	800 0 0	1,104 8 6
Hillston .....
Inverell .....		302 12 4	213 11 3	67 17 6		325 10 3		10 3 6		54 19 3	974 14 1	250 0 0	1,224 14 1
Kempsey .....		935 7 8	5 0 0	9 6 0		227 13 6		12 1 0			1,189 8 2		1,189 8 2
Lismore .....	33 14 3	152 1 6				155 2 0		15 12 0		57 1 3	413 11 0		413 11 0
Maitland .....	127 3 5	399 14 3	108 5 0		100 0 0	600 0 0		2 0 0	320 0 0		1,657 2 8	5,000 0 0	6,657 2 8

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure—continued.

Income—continued.

Town.	Balance, 31st December, 1882.	From the Public.			From Government.				Interest on Invested Funds.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1883.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1882.	Grand Total.
		Subscriptions.	Donations.	Contributed by Patients.	Special Vote.	Annual Subsidy.	Unclaimed Poundages.	Police Fines.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Maclean .....
Moruya .....
Mudgee .....	135 10 5	457 13 6		40 2 9		300 0 0	13 8 3	4 5 0			950 19 11		950 19 11
Murrurundi .....	729 1 0	168 8 7	15 15 0	9 0 0		294 1 1		0 5 0	25 10 0		1,242 0 8		1,242 0 8
Muswellbrook .....	140 2 6	81 19 6	32 14 6	37 15 0	250 0 0	165 17 0	1 7 6		20 0 0		729 16 0	500 0 0	1,229 16 0
Narrabri .....	170 3 10	439 13 9				399 19 10		2 0 0	25 0 0		1,036 17 5	500 0 0	1,536 17 5
Newcastle .....	67 0 3	750 0 0		299 17 10	149 19 10	750 0 0		39 4 6	67 5 6		2,123 7 11	1,360 15 0	3,484 2 11
Orange .....	236 6 10	163 16 7	38 14 9			630 8 2					1,069 6 4		1,069 6 4
Parkes .....	89 9 9	74 11 0	141 7 6	45 3 0	150 0 0	156 5 6	24 7 11	1 0 0	5 10 0		687 14 8		687 14 8
Parramatta .....	248 7 7	251 5 8		63 12 1		249 19 10			107 18 0	346 11 8	1,267 14 10	2,000 0 0	3,267 14 10
Queanbeyan .....	1 6 3	59 4 1		38 15 0		89 2 0	18 14 8	36 15 0			243 11 0		243 11 0
Scone .....	367 2 5	117 14 4	156 19 9	38 5 5		154 11 9	19 6 4	2 3 4	11 11 0		867 14 4		867 14 4
Singleton .....	2 17 0	226 9 4	8 8 0	1 1 6		178 2 4		0 11 0		14 18 1	432 7 3	221 8 3	653 15 6
Sofala .....	90 2 8	29 15 10				21 1 0		5 0 0	3 12 7		149 12 1		149 12 1
Tamworth .....	163 2 2	118 14 0		2 5 0		186 11 10	46 19 1	3 19 5	10 10 0	98 15 6	630 17 0		630 17 0
Temora .....	114 16 5	73 17 5	105 17 6	25 15 0		299 19 8		0 1 0			620 7 0		620 7 0
Tenterfield .....	7 13 4	187 3 0	19 5 0	15 5 0		113 5 8		3 10 0	21 14 9		367 16 9	456 0 0	823 16 9
Urana .....	242 4 1	391 15 2		13 19 0		197 5 5					845 3 8		845 3 8
Vegetable Creek .....	362 6 10		207 14 4		150 0 0			6 15 0	42 10 0		769 6 2	130 0 0	2,069 6 2
Warialda .....	289 13 8	192 19 8		43 18 0		169 18 2		5 1 0			701 10 6		701 10 6
Wagga Wagga .....	374 0 0	1,001 10 10			749 19 8	676 2 3	80 4 1	13 12 7	70 0 0	246 15 8	3,212 5 1	500 0 0	3,712 5 1
Walgett .....		444 11 10	12 5 10	19 17 3	99 19 8	300 0 0		25 17 0		267 16 7	1,170 8 2		1,170 8 2
Wellington .....	232 15 11	76 4 1	9 8 6	32 0 0		30 10 1	22 4 11	1 12 0			404 15 6		404 15 6
Wilcannia .....		618 6 6	116 8 7	40 10 6		994 0 8	121 18 0	3 15 0	32 0 0	219 4 9	2,146 4 0	1,400 0 0	3,546 4 0
Windsor .....	103 0 9	298 8 6		185 15 0		400 0 0		9 10 0	386 10 8		1,383 4 11	1,526 11 9	2,909 16 8
Wollongong .....	93 11 2	151 12 0	89 2 11	2 18 6		198 9 11	6 6 5	4 9 0		35 17 2	581 18 1		581 18 1
Yass .....	38 13 10	78 0 1	10 0 0	76 6 6		42 10 10	26 6 7	25 11 6	53 16 6		351 5 10	200 0 0	551 5 10
Young .....	276 13 9	169 12 11		189 9 10	100 0 0	180 3 2		2 13 6	15 0 0		933 13 2	300 0 0	1,233 13 2
Total .....	£ 9,053 7 8	16,375 15 8	2,194 5 2	2,419 9 11	4,612 12 8	17,247 11 6	835 1 10	426 17 5	1,505 9 11	1,732 4 1	56,402 15 10	21,332 17 4	77,735 13 2
Infants' Home, Ashfield..	271 2 10	379 4 3	400 0 0	184 3 0	872 11 6	.....	Boxes.	80 17 0	.....	60 0 0	.....	2,247 18 7	1,000 0 0	3,247 18 7

C-066

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure—continued.

Expenditure.

Town	Overdraft, 31st December, 1882.	Hospital Maintenance.	Out-door Relief.	Medical Officer.			Wardsmen's and Matron's Salary.	Funerals.	Buildings, Repairs, and New Furniture.	Secretary's Department, Printing and Insurance.	Sundries.	Balance, 31st December, 1883.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1883.	Grand Total.
				Salary.	Drugs and Instruments.	Medical Comforts, Stimulants.
Albury .....	£ s. d. 25 1 11	£ s. d. 555 0 0	£ s. d. .....	£ s. d. 100 0 0	£ s. d. 83 4 0	£ s. d. 58 16 5	£ s. d. 250 0 0	£ s. d. 8 12 6	£ s. d. 1,162 2 9	£ s. d. 47 14 6	£ s. d. 57 7 5	£ s. d. 358 16 5	£ s. d. 2,706 15 1	£ s. d. 800 0 0	£ s. d. 3,506 15 1
Armidale .....	108 2 11	531 14 8	.....	80 0 0	74 17 4	.....	198 15 9	13 6 0	440 16 3	64 5 6	3 5 2	173 5 0	1,688 8 7	.....	1,688 8 7
Balranald .....	.....	165 4 2	.....	233 6 8	90 16 6	11 7 8	132 0 0	7 0 0	22 1 2	81 13 4	30 17 3	520 13 6	1,345 0 3	.....	1,345 0 3
Bathurst .....	.....	1,170 9 7	.....	150 0 0	127 19 4	39 6 6	454 0 4	26 5 0	53 19 0	85 1 0	.....	43 12 1	2,150 12 10	2,100 0 0	4,250 12 10
Bega .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Braidwood .....	31 9 10	116 15 10	.....	75 0 0	22 18 9	9 15 0	No Return.	Out-door Relief only.	.....	35 7 0	6 9 4	.....	392 0 3	300 0 0	692 0 3
Bourke .....	.....	473 19 4	.....	250 0 0	59 15 6	28 15 6	157 14 7	42 16 0	132 14 0	37 9 6	31 14 3	27 6 9	1,242 5 5	900 0 0	2,142 5 5
Brewarrina .....	.....	178 17 9	.....	141 2 6	70 0 0	.....	41 13 4	.....	1,225 10 1	11 6 9	.....	55 6 8	1,723 17 1	.....	1,723 17 1
Carcuar .....	.....	161 13 10	0 10 0	75 0 0	15 7 0	5 3 0	75 0 0	9 10 0	16 14 3	6 7 6	9 6 10	76 19 7	451 12 0	415 12 11	857 4 11
Condobolin .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Copeland N. ....	.....	46 13 3	.....	37 10 0	4 17 6	2 17 0	46 14 2	.....	.....	16 4 0	10 1 8	96 7 9	261 5 4	.....	261 5 4
Cobar .....	.....	215 11 2	.....	152 18 7	71 5 0	24 7 6	129 18 6	37 0 0	103 19 0	71 8 1	2 2 0	671 12 0	1,480 11 10	.....	1,480 11 10
Cooma .....	.....	69 1 9	.....	150 0 0	36 9 6	4 14 0	50 0 0	10 17 6	1 1 0	30 0 0	9 13 10	.....	361 17 7	200 0 2	561 17 9
Coonamble .....	.....	145 9 0	2 0 0	150 0 0	.....	11 17 0	55 0 0	38 7 6	40 9 6	10 8 4	34 14 4	344 0 1	832 5 9	.....	832 5 9
Cowra .....	27 3 8	218 10 0	.....	125 0 0	.....	6 10 0	41 17 0	8 0 0	14 11 6	16 19 11	45 15 6	34 3 10	538 11 5	502 10 0	1,041 1 5
Deniliquin .....	.....	341 16 5	.....	200 0 0	60 15 6	10 11 0	120 0 0	29 17 6	96 12 1	64 3 1	28 0 1	311 19 6	1,263 15 2	.....	1,263 15 2
Dubbo .....	117 0 5	.....	.....	151 14 0	34 4 11	22 1 0	108 0 0	36 15 0	350 4 0	56 12 10	331 13 10	.....	1,208 6 0	.....	1,208 6 0
Forbes .....	.....	292 19 3	.....	125 0 0	25 0 0	.....	84 0 0	45 0 0	293 11 11	29 10 5	200 9 5	153 0 4	1,248 11 4	.....	1,248 11 4
Glen Innes .....	97 16 1	295 11 4	.....	100 0 0	52 3 3	24 16 2	120 0 0	20 0 0	359 9 0	24 11 0	157 18 10	148 16 8	1,401 2 4	.....	1,401 2 4
Goulburn .....	.....	269 7 6	3 4 4	48 18 4	41 19 9	.....	145 0 0	9 0 0	10 19 0	40 17 4	24 4 6	68 18 8	662 18 11	750 0 0	1,412 18 11
Grafton .....	.....	165 8 6	.....	100 0 0	7 10 5	.....	108 2 6	12 0 0	170 8 6	18 7 1	17 6 1	.....	599 3 1	500 0 0	1,099 3 1
Grenfell .....	.....	73 18 0	.....	100 0 0	23 2 3	7 19 3	65 6 0	3 0 0	1 7 0	3 12 6	18 13 10	156 15 11	453 14 9	300 0 0	753 14 9
Gulgong .....	.....	291 9 11	.....	72 18 4	54 13 9	17 5 6	.....	21 0 0	8 6 0	36 4 2	59 8 2	61 7 9	622 13 7	.....	622 13 7
Gundagai .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Gunnedah .....	.....	129 0 1	.....	60 0 0	42 4 11	5 8 2	85 3 8	21 0 0	129 10 7	11 8 8	26 6 10	.....	510 2 11	700 0 0	1,210 2 11
Hay .....	.....	372 9 4	.....	150 0 0	62 11 0	6 0 0	183 15 6	45 0 0	12 19 0	54 3 4	23 1 4	438 11 5	1,348 10 11	.....	1,348 10 11
Hill End .....	41 14 0	106 15 0	.....	75 0 0	24 12 6	6 14 0	58 10 0	4 11 0	2 12 0	.....	3 0 7	30 19 5	354 8 6	750 0 0	1,104 8 6
Hillston .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Inverell .....	53 15 9	352 0 11	.....	100 0 0	50 2 9	33 6 0	114 17 0	23 5 0	38 0 3	83 9 6	125 16 11	.....	974 14 1	250 0 0	1,224 14 1
Kempsey .....	12 2 8	140 15 6	.....	89 5 0	20 19 9	2 2 0	78 0 0	7 15 0	14 2 0	38 8 6	3 17 7	182 0 2	589 8 2	600 0 0	1,189 8 2
Lismore .....	.....	56 2 11	.....	.....	24 15 3	.....	48 15 0	.....	177 10 0	9 9 0	96 18 10	.....	413 11 0	.....	413 11 0
Maitland .....	.....	528 6 6	50 0 0	133 6 8	59 18 2	40 0 0	180 0 0	27 8 0	62 8 9	46 16 4	40 13 10	188 4 5	1,357 2 8	5,300 0 0	6,657 2 8
Maclean (Rocky Mouth) .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....

ANALYSIS of Income and Expenditure—continued.

Expenditure—continued.

Town.	Overdraft, 31st December, 1882.	Hospital Maintenance.	Out-door Relief.	Medical Officer.			Wardsman's and Matron's Salary.	Funerals.	Buildings, Repairs, and New Furniture.	Secretary's Department, Printing and Insurance.	Sundries.	Balance, 31st December, 1883.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1883.	Grand Total.
				Salary.	Drugs and Instruments.	Medical Comforts, Stimulants.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Moruya.....
Mudgee.....		367 12 11		50 0 0	40 0 0	19 19 6	78 0 0	17 17 0	180 15 4	47 13 2	7 0 1	142 1 11	950 19 11		950 19 11
Murrurundi.....		201 6 5	0 5 0	105 0 0		6 3 6	104 15 0	21 0 0		28 9 6	8 2 6	766 18 9	1,242 0 8		1,242 0 8
Muswellbrook.....		100 10 5	12 0 0	40 0 0	57 8 8	8 17 6	80 10 0	4 0 0	213 19 5	5 13 4	6 7 6	200 9 2	729 16 0	500 0 0	1,229 16 0
Narrabri.....		308 6 4		160 0 0		10 4 0	106 6 1	36 12 0		12 6 0	30 3 9	106 5 8	266 13 7	500 0 0	1,536 17 5
Newcastle.....		713 19 11		150 0 0	239 7 11	5 4 0	203 12 3	16 5 0	594 7 7	76 9 2	14 12 6	46 13 1	2,060 11 5	1,423 11 6	3,484 2 11
Orange.....	229 16 7	269 18 11		60 0 0	127 1 6		146 17 10	32 7 6	78 14 7	74 0 6	44 6 0	6 2 11	1,069 6 4		1,069 6 4
Parkes.....		92 7 10		172 10 6	33 0 1	7 13 9	81 5 0	28 10 0	145 10 0	19 11 1	31 15 10	75 10 7	687 14 8		687 14 8
Parramatta.....		633 8 11			216 1 8		340 1 4	8 15 6	108 16 8	22 5 1	114 12 7	23 13 1	1,467 14 10	1,800 0 0	3,267 14 10
Queanbeyan.....		141 16 8		50 0 0	1 4 0	2 17 0				5 6 6	3 0 0	39 6 10	243 11 0		243 11 0
Scone.....		214 17 2	72 0 0	80 16 0	4 2 10	10 4 0	82 10 0	6 10 0	18 14 3	8 5 6	6 14 3	208 18 1	713 12 1	154 2 3	867 14 4
Singleton.....		185 2 7	35 2 10	70 0 0	2 4 9		146 0 0	11 0 0	13 13 11	9 0 6	74 9 7		546 14 2	107 1 4	653 15 6
Sofala.....		12 11 6			0 17 6		29 5 0			3 4 0	2 16 0	30 18 1	79 12 1	70 0 0	149 12 1
Tamworth.....		169 17 10		67 10 0	78 10 1	62 19 0	94 5 0	12 10 0	48 15 6	70 1 9	26 7 10		630 17 0		630 17 0
Temora.....		131 5 3		50 0 0	47 17 0	6 11 6	91 0 0	11 7 6	82 16 4	41 17 11	37 0 8	120 10 10	620 7 0		620 7 0
Tenterfield.....		126 19 10		100 0 0	33 8 6	12 16 0	76 0 0	9 0 0	81 18 8	10 16 6	15 4 3	57 13 0	523 16 9	300 0 0	823 16 9
Urana.....		210 17 9		100 0 0	40 14 10	10 4 0	116 16 0	9 0 0	14 9 6	64 14 8	16 3 9	262 3 2	845 3 8		845 3 8
Vegetable Creek.....									1,130 12 1		648 10 2	290 3 11	2,069 6 2		2,069 6 2
Warialda.....		152 10 1		147 10 0	38 16 3	10 17 6	62 10 0	11 5 0	21 12 6	19 1 6	18 16 7	218 11 1	701 10 6		701 10 6
Wagga Wagga.....		595 14 9			135 16 5		276 8 8	47 16 6	1,921 10 4	60 16 0	174 2 5		3,212 5 1	500 0 0	3,712 5 1
Walgett.....	258 16 11	361 18 4	2 0 0	177 10 0	100 8 3		95 16 8	45 0 0	19 5 0	15 15 5	93 17 7		1,170 8 2		1,170 8 2
Wellington.....		70 0 5		100 0 0		3 5 0	85 0 0	20 10 0	15 19 6	22 9 6	73 18 9	13 12 4	404 15 6		404 15 6
Wilcannia.....	83 17 1	698 5 7		250 0 0	87 17 7	75 17 8	296 14 2	70 0 0	1,014 2 3	131 4 3	38 5 5	800 0 0	3,546 4 0		3,546 4 0
Windsor.....		641 3 2		40 0 0	137 18 8	30 9 10	259 17 0	9 4 0	52 3 0	15 0 7	55 17 1	141 11 7	1,383 4 11	1,526 11 9	2,909 16 8
Wollongong.....		238 7 7	19 0 0	20 0 0	39 16 1	13 13 0	60 0 0	6 0 0	14 7 0	16 12 3	4 2 2		431 18 1	150 0 0	581 18 1
Yass.....		79 6 6		78 0 0	11 11 2	7 12 6	50 3 0		9 16 10	20 8 8	3 3 6	91 3 8	351 5 10	200 0 0	551 5 10
Young.....		449 9 8		100 0 0	106 3 4		126 16 0	27 19 6	237 7 6	15 16 0	18 14 4	1 6 10	1,083 13 2	150 0 0	1,233 13 2
Total.....	£ 1,086 17 0	14,632 17 10	196 2 2	5,444 16 7	2,822 11 8	685 1 11	6,298 2 4	974 10 0	10,988 1 10	1,866 16 3	3,043 5 3	7,947 0 5	55,986 3 3	21,749 9 11	77,735 13 2
Infants' Home, Ashfield.....		570 18 7	Clothing. 41 12 2	Fodder. 120 13 2		23 4 7	Interest. 100 0 0	Nursing Staff and Superintendents Salaries. 437 17 10	68 10 0	34 14 10	33 18 6	178 11 1	637 17 10	2,247 18 7	1,000 0 0	3,247 18 7

THE STATE CHILDREN'S RELIEF DEPARTMENT

Has very largely increased its operations since my previous report.

The number of children boarded out on December 31, 1882, was 249; 302 have since been placed in homes.

During the past year 54 children were discharged to friends, 2 died, and 1 was sent to Biloela, leaving 494 under control on December 31, 1883. Of these, 17 are adopted without payment, 8 are apprenticed, 43 are paid for at special rates (7s. a week) by reason of their chronic infirmities or temporary ailments, and 426 are placed out under the usual subsidy of 5s. a week. The gross expenditure of the department during 1883 was £7,694 18s. 10d., and the average cost per child to the Government, £16 7s. (after making due allowance for collections from parents), or £1 13s. less than last year, including maintenance charges, outfits, management expenses, and rent. Dealing with the corresponding items in connection with the public Asylums, it is seen that boarding-out is the most economical method of dealing with State children.

Further summarising the statistics of the Department, I find that the total number of children boarded out up to December 31, 1883, was 577, of whom 426 were Protestants and 151 Roman Catholics.

ASYLUMS from which Children have hitherto been selected.

Benevolent Asylum.	Randwick Asylum.	Protestant Orphan School.	Roman Catholic Orphan School.	Ashfield Home.	Biloela.	Children's Hospital.	Total.
383	28	71	53	35	5	2	577

The Asylum for Destitute Children at Randwick was not operated upon until September last.

AGES at which Children have been boarded out

Under 1.	1 to 2.	2 to 3.	3 to 4.	4 to 5.	5 to 6.	6 to 7.	7 to 8.	8 to 9.	9 to 10.	10 to 11.	11 to 12.	Total.
5	21	54	67	62	55	47	43	65	53	51	54	577

Average of ages, 6 years and 1 month.

A marked feature in the boarding-out system is the close supervision established over the children by means of local lady visitors and Government officials, which tends to keep the guardians mindful of their duties, while it does not disturb friendly relations between foster-parents and their wards in good homes.

The report of the President of the Board for the past year contains suggestions in reference to future methods for dealing with the dependent and delinquent children of the State, and treats of other matters, to which I have before drawn attention. It proposes to concentrate the general control of all institutions for the young under one direction, to remodel on the family system those of the existing asylums which cannot be dispensed with, to establish cottage homes, to give industrial training to inmates of reformatories and industrial schools, and to bring defaulting parents so directly within the grasp of the law that they shall be less able to evade their responsibilities. These are subjects worthy of consideration and might be made the motives of Parliamentary and departmental action.

THE State Children's Relief Department in account with Colonial Treasurer during year ended 31 December, 1883.

PAYMENTS.		RECEIPTS.
	£ s. d.		£ s. d.
To Board of children from 1 Jan., 1883, to 31 December, 1883 .....	5,512 0 6	By Balance in Bank, 31 December, 1882 .....	339 18 10
„ Clothing from 1 January, 1883, to 31 December, 1883 .....	843 12 4	„ Deposit from Treasury, January, 1883 .....	500 0 0
„ Boxes for children's outfits .....	83 6 8	„ Refund, F. Skidmore, Feby .....	2 0 0
„ Boarding-out officers salary from 1 January, 1883, to 31 December, 1883 .....	400 0 0	„ „ Chas. Guest, March .....	1 15 0
„ Secretary's salary from 1 Jan., 1883, to 31 December, 1883 .....	200 0 0	„ Deposit from Treasury, March .....	500 0 0
„ Rent from 1 January, 1883, to 31 December, 1883 .....	218 0 0	„ „ „ April .....	500 0 0
„ Incidental expenses* .....	98 8 11	„ „ „ May .....	500 0 0
„ Advertising .....	33 17 0	„ „ „ July .....	1,000 0 0
„ Conveyance of children to destinations .....	140 13 2	„ „ „ Aug .....	500 0 0
„ Medical attendance and medicines .....	40 4 4	„ „ „ Oct .....	1,500 0 0
„ Travelling expenses (officer) .....	105 14 11	„ Refund, D. Robinson, October .....	1 5 0
„ Balance in Bank after paying accounts .....	19 1 0	„ Deposit from Treasury, Jan., 1884 .....	1,750 0 0
	£7,694 18 10	„ Treasury for Boarding-out Officer's salary, from 1 January, 1883, to 31 December, 1883 .....	400 0 0
		„ Treasury for Secretary's salary from 1 January, 1883, to 31 December, 1883 .....	200 0 0
			£7,694 18 10

Received from contributing parents during the year..... £171 16 0

* Clerical assistance, £57; money orders, £9 11s. 6d.; repairs, £3 17s.; Gas Company, £15 10s. 8d.; extra books and stationery, £2 12s. 3d. petty accounts, £9 17s. 6d.

THE DESTITUTE CHILDREN'S RELIEF SOCIETY, RANDWICK.

THE statistics of this Society as given below show a marked diminution in the number of the children maintained in its Asylum, more especially of the Government children.

In previous reports I have drawn attention to the comparatively few admissions each year into Randwick other than of the children sent there through the Benevolent Asylum at the entire charge of the Government.

Since the operations of the State Children's Relief Board, by frequent drafts it has removed nearly all the State children from the Benevolent Asylum; very few, therefore, went last year to Randwick.

In addition to cutting off its chief source of supply the boarding-out officer in October last received instructions to withdraw Government children from the Randwick Asylum.

Discharges to parents and apprenticing (97) further reduced the numbers in the Asylum, so that on 31st December they were less by a hundred than in January previous.

In consequence of the advice given to it by its medical staff the Randwick Board made several extensive improvements to their buildings. The ventilation of the dormitories and class-rooms was improved, the Hospital grounds fenced in, and the laundry arrangements perfected by the introduction of very complete machinery.

Carrying into effect another recommendation, the Board engaged a house at Campbelltown as a convalescent home, under the family system, for weakly or constitutionally tainted children likely to be benefited by change to an inland air. This experiment has already given promise of excellent results.

In all matters pertaining to good order, cleanliness, and attention to the requirements of the children in its care, the Management is deserving of high commendation; but the cost at which they are maintained contrasts very unfavourably with that in other Institutions.

The general health report for the year is favourable. No trouble was experienced from serious forms of epidemic disease, but eye affections were numerous. For many of the latter cases the Asylum is not responsible, the children having had weak eyes when sent there.

The number treated in the Hospital during 1883, was 336; of these 12 were transferred to the Sanatorium at Campbelltown, 2 died, and 47 remained in the wards on 31st December, 1883; most of the cases were of a simple character.

DESTITUTE CHILDREN'S ASYLUM, RANDWICK.

General Statistics, 1883.

	State Children.	Society's Children.	Total ...
Daily average number of children in the Asylum throughout the year...	471	159	612
Cost per head to Government charged, but reduction agreed on	£24	1s. 1½d.
Numerical strength in Institution, 31st December, 1882...		Boys. 387	Girls. 256 — 643
Admission from parents ...	Boys. 23	Girls. 16 = 39
By Colonial Secretary's order ...	54	20 = 74
	77	36	113 756
Discharges to parents ...	43	41 = 84
To Boarding-out Officer ...	1	27 = 28
Apprenticed ...	61	36 = 97
Deaths ...	1	1 = 2
	106	105	211
Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1883	...	...	545

NOTE.—The number of State children within the present year has been since greatly reduced.

CLASSIFICATION.

Children.	Under 7 years.		From 7 to 9 years.		From 9 to 11 years.		From 11 to 13 years.		Total.
	P.	R.C.	P.	R.C.	P.	R.C.	P.	R.C.	Boys.	Girls.
Boys .....	49	15	76	28	73	28	66	23	358	.....
Girls .....	26	11	32	18	35	22	33	10	.....	187
	255				290				545

REPORT OF INSPECTOR FROM DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Boys—15 and 16 March, 1883 ... .. Very fair.
 Girls—21 and 22 March, 1883 ... .. Good.
 Infants—19 and 20 March, 1883 ... .. Very fair to good.

MEDICAL

Expenditure—		£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
Overdraft A.J.S. Bank, 31/12/82 ... ..		784	6	3
Cheques outstanding ... ..		232	10	1
					1,016	16	4
Salaries and wages ... ..		3,051	8	4
Maintenance, &c. ... ..		8,525	16	9
Educational charges ... ..		386	12	4
Printing, stationery, postage, &c. ... ..		271	13	9
Sundries, interest, insurance, &c. ... ..		241	8	2
Buildings and improvements ... ..		2,248	7	10
					14,725	7	2
Purchase N.S.W. Government Debentures ... ..		1,000	0	0
Premiums and accrued interest on above ... ..		107	8	6
Payments account—erection of new drying-room ... ..		812	6	7
“ “ “ “ farm cottages ... ..		1,165	8	10
					3,085	3	11
					£18,827	7	5

GENERAL ACCOUNT—LIABILITIES AND ASSETS ON 31ST DECEMBER, 1883.

Liabilities—		£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
To bequest fund ... ..		104	3	8
“ perpetual subscribers' fund ... ..		13	12	3
“ cheques outstanding 31 December, 1883 ... ..		20	17	1
“ overdraft A.J.S. Bank, 31 December, 1883 ... ..		2,159	11	1
					2,298	4	1
Assets—
By Government subsidy for November and December, 1883 ... ..		333	6	8
“ Government maintenance account for Nov. and Dec., 1883 ... ..		999	13	10
“ Government supplementary acct. do. for maintenance ... ..	£4,743	9	8
“ less paid by parents in 1883 ... ..		165	17	6
		4,577	12	2
“ fixed deposit account A.J.S. Bank ... ..		7,000	0	0
					12,910	12	8
Add value of stock in hand at cost price, 31/12/83 ... ..					2,902	11	10
“ picnic fund at credit ... ..					66	7	6
					£15,879	12	0

MEMO. OF TOTAL ASSETS OF SOCIETY, 31 DECEMBER, 1883.

	£	s.	d.	£	d.
Net assets ... ..	13,581	7	11
Amount of perpetual subscribers' fund ... ..	16,213	12	3
				29,795	0 2

Statistics of Orphan and Industrial Schools given in Part 2 of Report.

THE BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

THE applications of the Board to the Government to be informed if the present Asylum site would be required for public purposes has been met by an intimation that it will be resumed for Railway extension.

A consideration of the entire question as to what is to be the future work of the Society appears to follow on your enunciation of a general Hospital scheme, in which it may be assumed a Lying-in Hospital will find place.

A further contraction of the operations heretofore carried on under the auspices of the Benevolent Society must result from the developed action of the State Children's Relief Board, and the removal of any necessity for keeping large numbers of children in a reception-house, where they are constantly liable to the evils of aggregated numbers and the danger of infection from imported diseases.

It appears probable, therefore, that the work of the Benevolent Society will undergo an entire change, and its Board be split up into committees distinct from each other, leaving to that which retains the Society's present name the distribution of out-door relief, and the providing a receiving-house for destitute women and children picked up by the police until suitable provision can be made for them.

The advantages of such plan is obvious. No large institution will be requisite; the property of the Society, with exception of a few special bequests, can revert to the State, and the bulk of the large reserve funds in the Society's hands—chiefly the accumulation resulting from Government grants in the past, with interest thereon—may be utilized in providing for a commodious Lying-in Hospital or for a new Reception-house.

In regard to out-door relief, although to present time I believe the action of the Society has been both economical and judicious, I fear there is evidence of increased action demanding the jealous observation of the Government.

All writers on the Charities question bear concurrent testimony to the very stringent measures necessary in working out-door relief, and to its pernicious effect unless exercised along with extreme vigilance and a determination to make those assisted use effort to ameliorate their own condition.

In this respect more evidence is required from the Benevolent Society, particularly as it contemplates making larger calls for aid on the State.

THE

THE BENEVOLENT SOCIETY'S ASYLUM.

	Women.	Children.	Total.
Numbers remaining in Asylum, 31 December, 1882 ... ..	88	156	244
Admissions during 1883 ... ..	297	350	647
By births ... ..	...	203	203
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
	385	709	1,094
Discharges—
	Women.	Children.
With permission ... ..	251	266
To Randwick Asylum... ..	...	70
Boarding-out Officer ... ..	...	130
Aborigines Mission Station ... ..	2	5
Hyde Park Asylum ... ..	1	...
Mission Home ... ..	7	7
Police ... ..	3	6
Sydney Hospital ... ..	2	...
Absconded ... ..	7	4
Dead ... ..	5	60
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	278	548	826
Remaining in Asylum, 31 December, 1883 ... ..	107	161	268

Classification of Religious Creed professed by Inmates or Parents of Children.

	Women.	Children.
Belonging to Protestant Churches ... ..	198	99
Roman Catholics... ..	235	115

Medical Report.

There were 65 deaths, 31 of these males, and 34 females.

Table showing ages at time of Death.

Adults.	Under 6 months.	6 months to 3 years.
5	47	13

210 women were safely accouched during the year. Of that number 33 only were married.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1883.			£	s.	d.
Income—
Balance in Bank, 31 December, 1882, and cash in hand ... ..			844	1	10
Received from public—
By Subscriptions... ..	...	...	£474	1	3
Legacy ... ..	...	...	100	0	0
Payments by women... ..	...	...	33	0	0
Do for children ... ..	...	...	37	2	11
			<hr/>
			644	4	2
Received from Government—
For maintenance of women and children ... ..	...	...	3,647	10	0
Subsidy, as moiety out-door relief ... ..	...	...	500	0	0
From Police Courts, fines ... ..	...	...	350	10	8
For erection new ward ... ..	...	...	620	0	0
			<hr/>
			5,118	0	8
Interest ... ..	...	...	150	0	0
Sundries ... ..	...	...	23	3	0
Overdraft, Bank of New South Wales, 31 December, 1883 ... ..	...	...	1,763	14	0
			<hr/>
			£8,543	3	8

Expenditure—

Account Maintenance—
Provisions ... ..	...	...	£3,208	5	3
Drapery and clothing ... ..	...	...	726	6	0
Fuel and lighting ... ..	...	...	237	15	9
Medicines ... ..	...	...	179	13	9
Medical comforts ... ..	...	...	21	8	9
			<hr/>
			4,373	9	6
Furniture ... ..	...	...	143	18	2
			<hr/>
			4,517	7	8
Salaries ... ..	...	...	1,344	16	9
Sundries ... ..	...	...	62	15	2
Gratuities ... ..	...	...	134	0	10
Commission ... ..	...	...	63	4	8
Insurance ... ..	...	...	15	2	0
Stationery, printing, advertising ... ..	...	...	77	0	5
Petties and petty cash ... ..	...	...	70	17	9
			<hr/>
			423	0	10
Money disbursed to out-pensioners ... ..	...	...	851	2	0
Interments ... ..	...	...	132	7	0
Buildings and repairs ... ..	...	...	1,156	9	11
Interest on overdraft ... ..	...	...	2	15	6
Refund to Government, receipts account maintenance women and children ... ..	...	...	115	4	0
			<hr/>
			£8,543	3	8

Investment

Investment Account and Contra.

Dr.	To Legacies and bequests	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	£	s.	d.
	Proceeds of sale house and land given by Government and resumed	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	6,222	16	7
	Investment and interest on Bank deposits	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	17,254	12	3
	Thomas Walker, donation	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	300	0	0
	Land at Bankstown, original valuation, worth (say) £2,000	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	480	0	0
	Amounts from General Account	...	...	...	...	1,500	0	0
	Do do	...	...	...	...	79	6	7
									1,579	6	7
									£36,195	19	10
Cr.	By Land at Bankstown, probably worth £2,000	...	...	...	...	480	0	0
	Thirty New South Wales Government Debentures	...	...	...	...	3,000	0	0
									3,480	0	0
	Fixed deposits—
	Bank of New South Wales	...	...	...	...	24,996	11	1
	City Bank	...	...	...	...	7,719	8	9
									32,715	19	10
									£36,195	19	10

THE INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB AND THE BLIND.

THE progress and condition of this Institution continues most satisfactory. The health of the children was good throughout the year, and the excellent care and training bestowed upon them, was evinced by their creditable appearance and intelligence as shown at the last public examination.

The articulation class for deaf mutes has been continued, but under somewhat difficult circumstances, owing to want of means for isolation.

It is said children taught by this system should be entirely separated from mutes, accustomed to express themselves by signs.

Heretofore it is to be feared that on the admission of deaf mutes into the Institution, as in a large majority of instances they had previously been medically examined, it was too readily assumed that their deafness was incurable. Henceforth it is arranged that when any child is found to possess the sense of hearing, even in a remote degree, he is to be kept under the observation of a specialist, and the case regularly reported upon.

There is little change in the numbers in the Institution; but the dormitories are full, and in order to anticipate sudden calls for extra accommodation, the Committee have been occupied in providing new dormitories and isolating wards.

On the ground floor of the new wing arrangements have been made for workshops, where a course of industrial training and handicraft may be given to the elder children.

Numbers of Children.

	New South Wales.		Queensland.		Tasmania.		Friendly Islands.	Totals.		Grand Totals.
	Deaf and Dumb.	Blind.	Deaf and Dumb.	Blind.	Deaf and Dumb.	Blind.	Deaf and Dumb.	Deaf and Dumb.	Blind.
In the Institution, December 31st, 1882 .....	35	12	19	5	.....	2	1	55	19	74
Admitted during 1883 .....	7	3	1	...	2	1	.....	10	4	14
	42	15	20	5	2	3	1	65	23	88
Discharged during 1883.....	4	1	5	...	.....	1	1	10	2	12
Remaining in the Institution on December 31st, 1883 .....	38	14	15	5	2	2	.....	55	21	76

STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE, FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31ST, 1883.

Dr.					Cr.
Receipts.	£	s. d.	£	s. d.	Expenditure.
To Balance December 31st, 1882, as follows—					By Salaries and wages .....
Fixed deposits .....	8,100	0 0			Groceries and provisions .....
Debentures .....	510	0 0			Drapery and clothing .....
Bank balance, Building Fund account .....	106	3 8			Advertising, printing, postage, and stationery .....
	8,716	3 8			Furniture, ironmongery, and bedding .....
Less Overdraft, General Fund Account .....	311	16 6	8,404	7 2	Sundry expenses .....
Subscriptions and Donations, Sydney .....	1,001	11 3			Alterations and repairs .....
Subscriptions and Donations, Country .....	671	3 9			Fuel, gas, and medicine .....
Subscriptions and Donations, Queensland .....	251	7 9			Travelling and expenses .....
Special donations .....	530	0 0			Books and school requisites .....
Legacies .....	225	0 0			Purchase of two cows .....
Annual grant from N.S.W. Government .....	450	0 0			Interest on overdraft .....
School Fees, New South Wales .....	420	4 2			Premium on debentures .....
" Queensland .....	421	5 0			Insurance .....
" Tasmania .....	40	0 0
" Friendly Islands .....	6	5 0			Payments to Contractor, Architects, and Clerk of Works, on account of new buildings .....
Clothing Repayments, New South Wales .....	49	13 4			Total expenditure during the year .....
Clothing Repayments, Queensland .....	14	6 6			Balance as follows— £ s. d.
Clothing Repayments, Friendly Islands .....	4	0 0			Fixed deposits 7,500 0 0
Interest on investment .....	544	14 8			Debentures ... 500 0 0
Proceeds of cows and calf sold .....	6	11 6			8,000 0 0
Total receipts during the year £ .....	4,636	2 11			Less Overdraft, General Fund Account .....
	£13,040	10 1			" Overdraft, Building Fund Account .....
					2,579 12 11
					2,808 18 11
					5,196 1 1
					£13,040 10 1

E. &amp; O. E.

The Perpetual Subscribers' Fund remains the same as in 1882.

INDUSTRIAL BLIND WORKERS' INSTITUTION.

ATTENTION has already been drawn to the difficulty of carrying on this small Institution, and to the advantages likely to follow on centralizing public attention to a single Institution for the promotion of the interests of the blind.

The Directors of the Industrial Blind Asylum are of opinion that an amalgamation with the Institution in the Newtown Road is not possible, owing to differences of intention, and also from certain stipulations in connection with the bequest of £5,000 by the late Mr. Wood.

As, however, it seems probable that the Institution will be greatly dependent on the Government, it may have to be further considered whether such amalgamation cannot be effected.

It was intended last year to extend the too limited accommodation by erecting workshops at the rear of the main building, as was contemplated in the original design of the Institution.

Owing, however, to insufficient funds the proposal was found impracticable and an alternative suggestion was adopted, namely, to devote larger space in the present building to the purpose by curtailing the household accommodation.

In their report the Board express desire for a more practical sympathy on the part of the public by greater readiness to purchase the articles manufactured at the Institution. These productions are now of such substantial and excellent character as to be well worthy of patronage, and the prices asked are always extremely reasonable.

It must be remembered as an additional claim on the public that the blind workers are aided in proportion to their necessities while under tuition, and afterwards receive the whole value of the goods they manufacture, less the cost of materials. There is thus a constant drain on the resources of the Society, without place for any margin of profit.

The expenses of supervision and instruction are also ratably increased by the small number of workers in the Institution, who last year amounted to ten only.

Financial Statements are given below.

BALANCE SHEET of Industrial Blind Institution, 31 December, 1883.

1882.	£	s. d.	£	s. d.
Dec. 31—To Balance ... ..	54	14 10	Donations and subscriptions ... ..	623 7 6
" Wages to workers ... ..	452	5 5	From Government... ..	313 7 0
" Salaries ... ..	423	11 8	Goods sold ... ..	684 15 3
" Materials purchased ... ..	436	6 1	Interest ... ..	53 14 10
" Sundry expenditure ... ..	125	11 7	Fixed deposit Investment Building Account... ..	1,624 9 0
" Outstanding accounts ... ..	194	3 7
" Fixed deposits ... ..	1,265	13 0
" Balance ... ..	347	7 5
	£ 3,299	13 7		£ 3,299 13 7
			1883.
			Dec. 31—By Balance ... ..	£ 347 7 5

---

---

PART 2.

INSTITUTIONS WITHIN THE DEPARTMENT OF THE MINISTER FOR PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

---

---

NAUTICAL SCHOOL-SHIP "VERNON."

ANOTHER year's satisfactory work was performed at this Institution.

By the increased number of committals it is evident the management has gained for itself the attention of the country Benches, who now have become aware of the value of the school-ship as a means for the reclamation of neglected and criminal children. The Institution has also won favourable observation in the neighbouring Colonies.

The statistics show that the numbers have increased, and that many of the committals are youths of advanced age.

Records of conviction for stealing, &c., are entered at the Police Courts against nearly all the boys sent last year to the Vernon.

The discipline on board continues to exhibit most salutary effects.

Ten apprentices were returned to the Institution with cancelled indentures. Although misconduct is presumable, yet it does not necessarily follow in every instance, other circumstances sometimes causing indentures to be cancelled.

£185, the largest sum yet realized within a like period, was obtained for maintenance contributions, &c., in 1883, from parents, a fact the more noteworthy as the proportion of orphans, or boys on board whose fathers were serving sentences in gaol, was greater than is usual.

The general health of the boys was excellent, the total number treated in Hospital being only thirty-three.

One death took place—a lad suffering from heart disease when committed, and whose recovery from the first was regarded as hopeless.

I desire to call attention to the fact that purulent ophthalmia was introduced by six boys from the interior, causing for a time great fear lest the disease might spread.

The risk of bringing so dangerous a disease into a school-ship, where isolation is difficult, cannot be over-estimated. I venture therefore to recommend that the medical officer of the "Vernon" be instructed to examine and report on new arrivals, with a view to their immediate removal should they be affected by any contagious disease.

It is to be regretted that no boys left the "Vernon" last year to take up a seafaring life. Captain Neitenstein states that many would have been glad to have done so, but the difficulties surrounding their apprenticeship in vessels owned in this Colony greatly militates against giving effect to such desires.

RETURN showing discharges and admissions on the "Vernon," during the year 1883:—

Number on board 31st December, 1882	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	186
Admitted—
By committals, 1883	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	119
Returned, indentures cancelled	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	10
From Industrial School, Biloela	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	6
From Infirmary (returned incurable)	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
								— 136
Total number of boys in 1883	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	322
Discharged—
Apprenticed	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	74
To Girls' School as under 7 years	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	4
To relatives	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	29
Lunatic Asylum	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Dead	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
								— 109
Remaining on board, 31st December, 1883	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	213
Daily average number throughout year	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	206

PARTICULARS as to parentage of committals:—

Both parents living	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	48
One or both dead	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	53
Unknown	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	18

RETURN showing visits made by religious instructors:—

Protestant.	Catholic.	Total.
47	70	117

HEALTH during 1883 :—

Total number of boys on board during the year—322.

Gastric fever ... ..	1
Do irritation ... ..	3
Skin disease, chilblains, &c....	9
Mesenteric disease ... ..	1
Ophthalmia ... ..	11
Rupture ... ..	1
Cuts, bruises, &c. ... ..	4
Necrosis ... ..	1
Incontinence of urine ... ..	1
Heart disease... ..	1
Total cases treated ... ..	33

Of the ophthalmia cases six arrived suffering with that disease. One death occurred from heart disease.

RETURN showing ages of committals in 1883 :—

Under 7.	7 to 10.	10 to 13.	Over 13.	Total.
4	24	40	51	119

RETURN showing to what boys were apprenticed :—

General servants.	Station and farm.	Dairyman.	Sawyer.	Plasterer.	Shoemaker.
63	7	1	1	1	1

RETURN showing professed religion of parents of those admitted :—

Protestant.	Roman Catholic.	Total.
32	54	136

Copy of Inspector's Report on the regular inspection of the N.S.S. "Vernon" School, held May 11th, 1883 :—

First Class.

Reading ... ..	Fair	Attention ... ..	Fair
Writing ... ..	Fair	Mental effort ... ..	Fair
Dictation ... ..	Tolerable to fair	Mental culture ... ..	Tolerable
Arithmetic ... ..	Tolerable	General proficiency ... ..	Tolerable to fair
Object lesson ... ..
Singing... ..	Tolerable

Second Class.

Reading ... ..	Tolerable+	Attention ... ..	Fair
Writing ... ..	Fair	Mental effort ... ..	Fair
Dictation ... ..	Tolerable+	Mental culture ... ..	Tolerable
Grammar ... ..	Moderate to tolerable	General proficiency ... ..	Tolerable to fair
Geography ... ..	Tolerable to fair
Object lesson ... ..	Very fair
Singing... ..	Very fair
Arithmetic ... ..	Tolerable to fair

Third Class.

Reading ... ..	Fair —	Attention ... ..	Very fair
Writing ... ..	Fair	Mental effort ... ..	Fair
Dictation ... ..	Fair+	Mental culture ... ..	Tolerable
Arithmetic ... ..	Moderate+	General proficiency ... ..	Tolerable to fair
Grammar ... ..	Tolerable
Geography ... ..	Tolerable
Object lesson ... ..	Fair
Singing... ..	Very fair

J. McCREIDIE,
District Inspector.

Return

Return showing cost per head during 1883:—

	£	s.	d.
Salaries ... ..	1,794	11	8
Provisions, including medical comforts ... ..	2,026	14	6
Clothing, including bedding and tailors' wages ... ..	558	6	0
School articles, books and stationery ... ..	41	5	3
Ship stores, including new boat, spars, paint, crockery, rope, mess utensils	174	11	3
Fuel and light ... ..	61	4	3
Medicines ... ..	35	1	5
Sundries ... ..	65	15	3
Salary of Visiting Surgeon ... ..	50	0	0
Band—New instruments and repairs to old ... ..	26	1	0
Darlinghurst Gaol—Various expenses ... ..	117	14	6
Repairs to decks ... ..	26	1	6
Gratuities to good-conduct-boys and for providing recreation ... ..	50	7	2
Total ... ..	£5,027	13	9
Deduct amount contributed by parents ... ..	185	0	3
Cost to Government... ... ..	£4,842	13	6
Cost per head during 1883=£23 10s. 1d.
Add from Colonial Architect's vote:—
Repairs ... ..	£190	13	7
Furniture ... ..	68	0	7
	£258 14 2 or £1 5 1 per head
Making gross cost per head ... ..	£24	15	2

FEMALE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, BILOELA.

THE health of the children at the school was remarkably good throughout the year, and the general conduct is described as being satisfactory.

A considerable expenditure, amounting in all to £1,996 12s. 1d., was incurred in repairing and fitting up certain outbuildings to supply the place of accommodation, of which the institution was deprived by the requirements of the new graving dock in course of construction.

Seeing that a removal of the Institution to some other site is imminent, it might have been worthy of consideration whether the above outlay might not in large part have been avoided; or if such expenditure was a condition of the institution remaining at present in situ, whether such necessity did not of itself furnish argument for immediate removal.

An unusually large number of apprentices (44) were sent out. The re-admissions (6), were below the average, as compared with previous years.

Five children were removed to the care of the State Children's Relief Board. Such manner of disposing of the younger children, committed to the school solely as being neglected children, is a step in the right direction, and will be attended with beneficial results.

Attention has been directed to the advisability of a fuller training in household matters being given to the elder girls.

Complaints of the manner in which the contract for meat was carried out necessitated weekly reports being made to this office. These are transmitted to the Minister for Public Instruction. Improvement has followed on the above course having been adopted.

Report of Inspector Public Schools in Department of Public Instruction:—

Biloela Industrial School—Fair.

	Girls.	Boys.
Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1882 ... ..	115	15
Admitted, 1883 ... ..	50	5
Re-admitted, 1883... ..	6	...
	171	20

Discharged, 1883—	Girls.	Boys.
Apprenticed ... ..	44	...
Re-apprenticed (doing well) ... ..	1	...
On attaining eighteen years of age ... ..	5	...
To parents, at request ... ..	8	1
To "Vernon," on attaining seven years ... ..	...	6
To boarding-out officer ... ..	5	...
To Benevolent Asylum ... ..	1	...
Absconded ... ..	1	...
	65	7

Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1883 ... ..	106	13
--	-----	----

Table of respective ages—	Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Total.
Under 4 years ... ..	3	}	106	13	119
4 to 8 ,, ... ..	24
8 ,, 12 ,, ... ..	37
12 ,, 16 ,, ... ..	37
16 ,, 18 ,, ... ..	5
Daily average number throughout the year ... ..	...	...	114	12	126

Expenditure,

								Expenditure, 1883.		£	s.	d.
Salaries	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	720	0	0
Good conduct gratuities	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	19	16	0
Rations	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1,148	15	4
Fuel and light	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	117	14	6
Forage for cows and horse	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	83	9	1
Medicines	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	26	0	0
Drapery	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	221	14	0
School books, stationery, &c.	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	23	5	5
Ironmongery and crockery	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	95	11	11
Purchase of cows	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	31	0	0
Sundries	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	22	13	6
Incidental	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	79	0	0
								<hr/>
								2,588	19	9
Less by payments from parents	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	27	17	0
								<hr/>
								2,561	2	9
Add proportion, Medical Vote	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	50	0	0
								<hr/>
								2,611	2	9
								<hr/>
Average cost per head	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	21	10	4

A sum of £1,996 12s. 1d., for repairs and fitting up outbuildings, consequent in major part on losing accommodation, is not included in the above.

THE ORPHAN SCHOOLS, PARRAMATTA.

In both Orphan Schools there has been a rapid diminution in numbers, owing to the discontinuance of admissions, apprenticing, discharges to parents, and withdrawals by the State Children's Relief Board.

So far as circumstances have permitted, taking into account the decrease in both Institutions, the managements have retained their high character for efficiency and economy, but it cannot fail to be observed that the cost per head in each has risen considerably, and that these establishments can only be carried on (in their present form) at a largely increased rate of expenditure; also, that the accommodation will be greatly in excess of requirements.

The health of the children was good, few cases of serious illness having occurred in either Institution.

ROMAN Catholic Orphanage, Parramatta—Average cost in detail for the year 1883.

Year.	Average Number of Children.	Salaries.		Maintenance (Provisions).		Clothing.		Crockery and Hardware.
		Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
1883 .....	242	£ s. d. 1,367 10 0	£ s. d. 5 13 0	£ s. d. 1,566 2 8½	£ s. d. 6 9 5	£ s. d. 470 14 3	£ s. d. 1 13 10½	£ s. d. 84 17 1	£ s. d. 0 7 0

Year.	Fuel.		Light.		Forage.		Incidental Expenses.		Allowances to Officers in lieu of Quarters and Rations.
	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
1883 .....	£ s. d. 175 17 6	£ s. d. 0 14 6½	£ s. d. 67 5 5	£ s. d. 0 5 6½	£ s. d. 66 19 2	£ s. d. 0 5 6	£ s. d. 26 10 0	£ s. d. 0 2 2½	£ s. d. 80 0 0	£ s. d. 0 6 7½

Year.	School Books and Stationery.		Medicine.		Total average cost per head, exclusive of repairs to buildings.		Colonial Architect's Dept. Additions, Repairs, and Furniture.		Gross cost.	Gross cost per head.
	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
1883 .....	£ s. d. 34 10 4	£ s. d. 0 2 10	£ s. d. 45 3 0	£ s. d. 0 3 8½	£ s. d. 3,985 9 5½	£ s. d. 16 9 4½	£ s. d. 1,284 4 2	£ s. d. 5 6 1	£ s. d. 5,269 13 7½	£ s. d. 21 15 5½

As per above return	...	...	...	...	...	Cost of maintenance.	Cost per head.
Deduct payments for children...	...	...	...	...	...	£3,985 9 5½	£16 9 4½
						20 16 0	0 1 8½
						<hr/>	<hr/>
						£3,964 13 5½	£16 7 8*

Statistics.

Numbers—		Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Remaining in Institution 31 December, 1882	...	156	100	256
Admitted during 1883	...	29	14	443
		<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
		185	114	299
Discharged during 1883—		Boys.	Girls.
Apprenticed	...	12	5
Returned to friends	...	33	16
To Boarding-out Officer	...	8	30
Died	...	2	0
		<hr/>	<hr/>
		55	51	106
Remaining in Institution 31 December, 1883	...	130	63	193

Work

* The above does not include a large expenditure under the Colonial Architect's vote,—£5,269 13s. 7½d.

Work done by the girls	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	Number of articles made.
" attendants	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	467
Report of school progress during the year 1883, as furnished by the Inspector of Department for Public Instruction:—								914
Boys' division progress	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	Very fair
Girls' do	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	Fair+
Infants' do	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	Fair
General health of children—	Excellent.

Analysis of Expenditure.

PROTESTANT ORPHAN SCHOOL—Average cost in detail for 1883.

Year.	Average Number of Children.	Salaries.		Maintenance (Provisions).		Clothing		Furniture.
		Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
1883 .....	177·4	£ s. d. 1,933 4 8	£ s. d. 7 10 3½	£ s. d. 1,245 1 9	£ s. d. 7 0 4½	£ s. d. 299 4 7	£ s. d. 1 13 9	Nil.	Nil.

Year.	Crockery, hardware, &c.		Fuel.		Light.		Forage.		Incidental Expenses.
	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.
1883 .....	£ s. d. 97 0 4	£ s. d. 0 10 11½	£ s. d. 139 10 7	£ s. d. 0 15 8½	£ s. d. 123 10 0	£ s. d. 0 13 11	£ s. d. 47 6 0	£ s. d. 0 5 4	£ s. d. 175 12 3	£ s. d. 0 19 9½

Year.	Allowances to Officers in lieu of Quarters and Rations.		School Books and Books for Library.		Medicines.		Total average cost, exclusive of repairs to buildings, &c.	Colonial Architect's Department—Repairs and Furniture.
	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.	Total cost.	Rate per head.		Total cost.	Rate per head.
1883 .....	£ s. d. 165 3 4	£ s. d. 0 18 7½	£ s. d. 42 7 9	£ s. d. 0 4 9½	£ s. d. 14 13 0	£ s. d. 0 1 8	£ s. d. 20 15 2½	£ s. d. 425 4 7	£ s. d. 2 8 0½

Daily average number, 177·4.

As per above return	...	...	...	...	Cost of maintenance.	£3,682 14 3	Cost per head.	£20 15 2¼
Deduct payments by friends for children	...	...	...	£70 0 0
Sales of pigs, &c.	...	...	...	3 15 0
					73 15 0		0 8 4
					£3,608 19 3		£20 6 10¼
Add repairs and additions (Colonial Architect's Vote)	...	...	...	...	£425 4 7		£2 8 0½
Gross cost	...	...	...	...	£4,034 3 10		£22 14 10¼

PROTESTANT ORPHAN SCHOOL.

Statistics, 1883.

Numbers—				Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1882	...	...	...	149	37	186
Admitted during the year 1883	...	...	...	25	22	47
Total for 1883	...	...	...	174	59	233
Discharged—				Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Apprenticed	...	...	...	12	2	14
Returned to relatives	...	...	...	24	14	38
To Boarding-out Officer, S.C.R. Board	...	...	...	14	21	35
				50	37	87
Remaining in Institution, 31st December, 1883	...	...	...	124	22	146

Daily average throughout the year 1883, 177·4.

Report of school progress (Inspector's Department, Public Instruction):—

Boys' division	...	...	...	...	Very fair
Girls' do	...	...	...	...	Fair
Infants' do	...	...	...	...	Tolerable

Clothing returns—

Work done by girls—Articles made	...	...	...	218
Do do repaired	...	...	...	6,772
Do attendants do made	...	...	...	1,344

SCHOOLS OF ART.

IN former reports the Schools of Art throughout the Colony generally were referred to as having failed in their original intention, and as lapsing into vehicles for popular amusement rather than as supplying the means for supplementing education in the direction of applied science.

It has also been pointed out that their status is unsatisfactory, in that they appear unable to attract to themselves the public interest when endeavouring to work on legitimate lines.

Their reading-rooms and libraries, however, have been beneficial by encouraging a taste for reading, and although at times their Committees have adopted irregular methods for aiding their resources, it must be conceded that necessity rather than deliberate intention probably caused them to go astray.

A time seems to have arrived when a new departure in a better direction has become possible to them.

By the liberal public grants made during the last two years for the purpose of teaching elementary science, and by the formation of a Technical Board to supply the teaching power, the Government has furnished a very valuable incentive to the Committees to carry out the designs of the founders of such institutions.

I venture to point out there is yet a step wanting in order that the intention of the Government, and the means it has afforded, may be fully utilized.

A central directing administrative body is necessary to give coherence to the scheme. At present the Schools of Art suffer from isolation. Few of their Committees have any real idea of what the institutions in their charge should, and might, become—and any effort occasionally made in a right direction fails from want of continuity.

To overcome these weaknesses, to awaken the public mind, especially of the younger portion of the community, to the importance of availing themselves of the valuable means now placed within their reach, and to create an influence common to all these Institutions, I would suggest that the Technical Board be called upon to elaborate a scheme for the future control and guidance of all the Schools of Art throughout the Colony, that it be clearly intimated to the latter that in the future they will be required to carry out the purposes for which Government aid is accorded to them, as integral parts of the educational system of the Colony; and that only in so far as they fulfil those purposes they will be considered in the distribution of subsidies.

By some such plan only can we hope for the abolition of existing abuses and the establishment of desired reforms.

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES,

Locality and

Name.	Distance and Direction from Sydney.	Available to Population of	Population increasing.	Year Institution was founded.	Is Site good and convenient.	Area of Land held.	How obtained.	If by Purchase.		Has the Title been conveyed to Trustees.
								Proportion of Government Subsidy.	Amount received by Public Subscription.
Adamstown .....	Miles. 80 N.	1,000	Yes .....	1879	Yes .....	½ a.	Purchase .....	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	Conveyed .....
Adelong .....	311 S.W.	600	No .....	1877	" .....	Institution does not hold any landed property.
Anvil Creek .....	100 W.	250	Increasing .....	1877	" .....	½ a.	Purchase .....			Conveyed .....
Albury .....	390 S.W.	3,500	" .....	1859	" .....	1 r. 19 p.	Grant from Crown .....			Not conveyed .....
Ashfield .....	6 W.	6,000	" .....	1881	" .....	½ a.	Purchase .....	Nil.	627 10 0	Conveyed .....
Ballina .....	350 N.	1,000	Rapidly .....		" .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			" .....
Balmain .....	3 W.	5,000	Yes .....	1865	No .....	17 p.	Purchase .....	210 0 0		" .....
Bathurst .....	145 W.	9,000	" .....	1843	Yes .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			" .....
Bega .....
Berrima .....	86	600	Yes .....	1883	Excellent .....	½ a.	Leased to Institution .....			Not conveyed .....
Blayney .....	172 W.	1,200	" .....	1880	Very good .....	½ a.	Purchase .....		200 0 0	" .....
Boat Harbour .....	No School of Arts.		An attempt was made to .....		establish one, but proved a failure .....
Braidwood .....	185 S.	200	No .....	1858	Yes .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			Conveyed .....
Branxton .....	110 N.	200	" .....	1866	" .....	½ a.	" .....			It is believed so .....
Brewarrina .....	525 N.W.	1,000	Fairly so .....	1873	" .....	½ a.	Purchase .....		150 0 0	Conveyed .....
Bombala .....	340 S.	2,000	Yes .....	1872	" .....	60 ft. x 100 ft.	" .....			" .....
Botany .....	6 S.	500	Yes, fairly .....	1867	Yes .....	1 a.	" .....			" .....
Bourke .....	600 N.W.	1,800	Yes .....	1871	" .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			Yes—J. Beecher, M. Good, G. C. Thompson. Conveyed .....
Burwood .....	7 W.	5,600	Increasing .....	1879	Good and convenient .....	½ a.	Purchase .....		293 0 0	" .....
Cambewarra .....	106 S.	500	Yes .....	1879	Yes .....	½ a.	" .....	12 10 0	12 10 0	" .....
Camden .....	41 S.	1,200	No .....	1858	Good and convenient .....	1 r.	" .....		80 0 0	" .....
Candelo .....	258 S.	300	Yes .....	1879	Yes, central .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			" .....
Casino .....	450 N.	1,050	Rapidly increasing .....	1875	Good and convenient .....	½ a.	" .....			" .....
Clifton .....	32 S.	300	Yes .....	1879	No .....	None.	Held on loan .....			Not conveyed .....
Cooma .....	260 S.S.W.	1,250	" .....	1865	Good and convenient .....	22 p.	Purchase .....	150 0		Conveyed .....
Coonabarabran .....	365 W.	450	Slowly .....	1877	Yes .....	1 a.	Half Crown grant, half gift.	6 0 0	6 0 0	" .....
Coonamble .....	375 N.W.	2,500	Moderately .....	1881	Yes, very central .....	1 r. 35 p.	Grant from Crown .....			" .....
Corowa .....	400 S.W.	1,000	Fairly .....	1873	Yes .....	¾ r.	Purchase .....	900 0 0		" .....
Cowra .....	210 W.	700	Fair rate .....	1876	Good .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			Not yet conveyed Trustees will be appointed shortly. Conveyed .....
Cundletown .....	180 N.	500	Increasing rapidly .....	1879	Good and convenient .....	½ a.	Purchase .....		29 0 0	" .....
Cudal .....	221 W.	600	Yes .....	1881	Yes .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			" .....
Deniliquin .....	481 S.W.	2,000	" .....	1864	No, wants extending for classes.	½ a.	" .....			" .....
Denman .....	172 N.	1,000	Gradually increasing .....	1872	Yes .....	½ a.	Gift .....			" .....
Dubbo .....	278 N.W.	5,000	Pretty rapidly .....	1868	Fairly .....	½ a.	Purchase .....			" .....
Dungog .....	130	800	Increasing rapidly .....	1872	Yes .....	13 p.	" .....		420 0 0	" .....
Frederickton .....	301	500	Increasing .....	1871	Good and convenient .....	½ a.	Purchase .....	Not stated		" .....
Forbes .....	240 W.	2,000	Declining .....	1862	Site convenient .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			" .....
Glen Innes .....	392 N.	1,200	Yes .....	1881	Good and convenient .....	½ a.	" .....			" .....
Gosford .....	50 N.	Not stated	No .....	1878	No site available .....	Nil.	" .....			" .....
Goulburn .....	134 S.	600	Increasing rapidly .....	1854	Good and convenient .....	¾ a.	Grant from Crown .....			Conveyed .....
Grafton .....	350 N.	5,000	Population increasing .....	1358	Site convenient .....	½ a.	" .....			" .....
Gulgong .....	Merged into Municipal Free Library.
Gundagai .....	300 S.W.	800	Population increasing slowly.	1853	Site inconvenient and unsuitable.		A room at the Court-house granted by courtesy of the Minister for Justice.
Gunnedah .....	270 N.W.	2,000	Population not increasing .....	1880	Site convenient .....	½ a.	Grant from Crown .....			Conveyed .....
Hay .....	460	2,000	Population stationary .....	1878	" .....	1 a.	" .....			" .....
Hamilton .....	60 N.	2,000	Not increasing .....	1872	Good and convenient .....	½ a.	Gift .....			" .....
Hinton .....	100 N.	300	No .....	1869	Site convenient .....	½ a.	Purchase .....	100 0 0		" .....
Jerilderie .....	416 S.W.	500	Slowly—Railway expected to bring an influx.	1881	Good and convenient .....	None.	Private property rented .....			" .....
Lambton .....	75 N.	3,500	Population increasing .....	1868	Site convenient .....	37½ p.	Gift .....			Conveyed .....
Largs .....	98 N.	300	Slowly .....	1875	Good .....	1 r.	Purchase .....		40 0 0	" .....
Lismore .....	350 N.	500	Rapidly increasing .....	1879	" .....	2 r.	Grant from Crown .....	Not stated.		Trustees Gazetted .....
Merriwa .....	200 N.W.	1,000	Not increasing .....	1869	" .....	¾ a.	Purchase .....		21 0 0	Conveyed .....
Milton .....	150	2,000	Population increasing very rapidly.	1871	Site convenient .....	½ a.	" .....			" .....
Molong .....	214 W.	1,000	" .....	1878	Yes .....	½ a.	" .....		65 0 0	" .....
Morpeth .....	92	2,000	Population stationary .....	1860	Site convenient .....	Not answered	" .....			" .....

&c, 1883.—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING.

Establishment.

Reversionary Interests thereon if Institution be closed	Character (materials) of Buildings	Accommodation and Resources of the Institution as an Educational Medium					Cost of Buildings				Suitability of Buildings
		Reading room	Library	Hall	Class rooms	Apparatus and Collections	Total Amount	Proportion of Government aid	Amount from Public	Remaining Debt
	Wood	Reading room	Library	Hall		15 maps, countries of the world	£ 350	£ 238	£ 200	£ 85	In good repair
	"	"	"	"			The building used is private property and is rented by the Institution				In fair order
From Trustee to Trustee	Wood on stone blocks	"	Library	Hall	None	None	132	65		Nil	Neither suitable nor in good repair
Not known	Brick	"	"	"			1,160	Not known			Buildings suitable and in good repair
	Brick on stone	"	"	"			4,172			3,914
Usual Govt conditions	Contemplated to be wood	Reading room	Library	Hall				50			Buildings not suitable, but in good repair
Trust deed not yet delivered	Stone	"	"	"	Two	Geological specimens	13,000			205	Buildings suitable
None (See Rules)	Brick	"	"	"	One		Ultimate cost not known				" "
	Stone	Reading room	Library	Hall
	Brick	"	"	"		Building in course of erection
Three Trustees I am not aware of	Brick on stone	"	Library	Hall			2,094				Buildings suitable
None	Brick, slated roof	"	Library	"							"
On trust, no reversionary interest	Brick	"	"	"	One						Buildings suitable and in good repair
Trustees elected by the members	"	"	"	"							" "
	Brick and stone	"	"	"							" "
	Brick	"	"	"	One	Maps, &c					" "
The ultimate trust is "purchase of land or buildings for similar purposes"	Brick on stone	"	"	"		None	3,483	437	859	2,000	"
	Iron, brick, stone foundation	"	"	"			390			70	Building suitable
Property held by 3 Trustees elected by subscribers	Brick on stone	"	"	"	None	None	1,256	400	856	No debt	Suitable and in fair repair
Not answered	Wood	"	"	"	One	Maps and charts	539	213	325		Building suitable
	Brick and stone	"	"	"	None	Yes euphaneion light	540	180	360		Suitable, but not in good repair
No provision, and no prospect of its closing	Wood	"	"	"							Building not suitable
Deeds not available for information	Stone cemented	"	Library	Hall	None	Not at present	1,300	675	625	300	Suitable, and in good repair
Not answered	Wood	"	"	"			300	150	150	21	Building suitable
Should mortgage on School of Arts be not cleared off the mortgagee may close the Institution	Brick	"	"	"						300	" "
	Brick, iron roof	"	"	"			1,200				" "
	Tenders called for brick building	A room lent for the purpose present as a library used at						Not stated			Suitable, and in good repair
	Wood	Reading room	Library	Hall	None	None
	Brick, stone foundation	"	"	"		Blackboard	388	101	250	220	Building suitable
No provision made in rules for closing	Brick, wood, and iron	"	"	"	One	Microscope	600			100	Building suitable and in good repair, but more accommodation required
None	Brick, stone foundation	"	"	"			506	128	378		Building suitable
Cannot say deeds in possession of Trustees	Brick and wood	"	"	"	None	None	1,200	600	600		Building fairly suitable and in fair repair
Not answered	Wood	"	"	"			420		420	No debt	Suitable, and in good repair
Ought not to be closed	"	"	"	"	None	"	388	Not stated			Buildings suitable
Not answered	Not answered						Building is the old Court house given by Government
							No building erected—carried on in Council Chambers
The usual Trusts	Brick on stone	Reading room	Library	Hall	Two	Collection of shells &c, &c			5,000	400	Suitable, and in good repair
	Stone and brick	"	"	"	Four	Binomial lantern complete Worked by hydrogen light	2,000	700	1,300	None	Buildings suitable
		None	Library	None	None	None
Not fully understood vide Gt. nt. Vol. 28, 1 of 19 No 80/5-11		Reading room	"	Hall	"	"	1,198	381	763	205	"
Not known	Brick	"	"	"	"	"	927	500	427	None	"
Not answered	Wood	Reading room	Library	"	None	"	250	Nil	250	Nil	Wholly unsuitable
Reverts to Trustees	Brick on concrete formation	"	"	"	One	"		464	464
		All in one					None					Suitable
See Rule 21	Wood	"	Library	None	One	Charts and maps	726	320	406	None	Buildings in good repair
Building rented	"	Hall only for all purposes	Library	None	None	None					Convenient
No provision	Wood	Reading room	"	Hall		Piano and mathematical instruments	One room 683	Nil	683	Nil	In good repair and suitable
Full control in hands of Committee	Brick and stone	"	"	"		None	1,000
Not answered	Brick on stone	"	"	"		Debating class Chess and other classes	1,264	300	600	700	Buildings suitable
Not answered	Brick . . . .	"	"	"		Class room unoccupied	Not stated				"

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES,

Locality and

Name.	Distance and direction from Sydney.	Available to Population of	Population increasing.	Year Institution was founded.	Is Site good and convenient.	Area of Land held.	How obtained.	If by Purchase.		Has the Title been conveyed to Trustees.
								Proportion of Government Subsidy.	Amount received by Public Subscription.
Moruya .....	198 S.	700	Population gradually and permanently increasing.	1880	Site very convenient	1 a.	Grant from Crown .....	.....	.....	Yes .....
Mudgee .....	181 W.	4,000	Population increasing	1857	Site convenient .....	1 a.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Murrurundi .....	192 N.	400	Not increasing .....	1861	Yes .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Muswellbrook .....	152 N.	3,000	Yes .....	1872	" .....	$\frac{2}{3}$ a.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Newcastle .....	75 N.	12,000	Rapidly increasing .....	1862	Site convenient .....	1 r.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Newcastle (Burwood) .....	73 N.	1,400	" .....	1882	" .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Leasehold, 66 years .....	.....	.....	Conveyed .....
Orange .....	192 N.W.	3,000	Steadily .....	1858	" .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	250 .....	125 0 0	125 0 0	" .....
Parramatta .....	14 S.W.	2,000	Rapidly increasing .....	1850	Site convenient	100 x 30 ft.	Original site resumed by Government. Trustees negotiating for a new site.			Conveyed .....
Paterson .....	105	300	Not increasing .....	1868	Central and convenient		Purchase .....			Conveyed .....
Plattsburg .....	70 N.W.	7,000	Rapidly .....	1878	(temporary Hall)	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	" .....	.....	1,737 0 0	" .....
Pambula .....	275 S.	500	" .....	1884	Site convenient .....	30 x 70 ft.	" .....	125 14 1	266 8 6	" .....
Richmond .....	37 $\frac{1}{2}$	1,000	Not increasing .....	1866	Convenient .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Grant from Crown .....	.....	.....	" .....
Rocky Mouth .....	350	700	With fair rapidity .....	1879	Very convenient .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	" .....	.....	.....	Not conveyed .....
St. Leonards .....	2 N.	8,000	Increasing rapidly .....	1859	Good and convenient	22 p.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Scone .....	200 N.	500	Increasing slowly .....	1869	" .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Purchase .....	.....	9 0 0	" .....
Sydney .....	.....	Sydney and Suburbs.	" .....	1833	" .....	8,684 sq. ft.	Gift and purchase .....	.....	.....	Incorporated by Act of Parliament.
Sofala .....	174 N.W.	500	Increasing .....	1879	No site .....	No area	Do not know .....	.....	.....	Do not know .....
Stroud .....	120 N.	350	" .....	1856	Good and convenient	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Gift .....	.....	.....	Conveyed .....
Tamworth .....	250	4,000	Increasing rapidly .....	1866	" .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Purchase .....	.....	150 (Trust money.)	" .....
Temora .....	200 W.S.W.	1,500	Not rapidly .....	1882	Building rented .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	" .....
Tenterfield .....	450 N.	1,500	Increasing rapidly .....	1870	Good and convenient	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Grant from Crown .....	.....	.....	Conveyed .....
Tumut .....	268 S.	800	Increasing slowly .....	1879	" .....	1 $\frac{1}{2}$ a.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Tumberumba .....	370 S.	500	Not stated .....	1879	" .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Uralla .....	325 N.	600	Stationary .....	1873	Not very convenient	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Grant from Crown .....	.....	.....	Conveyed .....
Vegetable Creek .....	403 N.	500	Not increasing rapidly .....	1882	Good and convenient	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Purchase .....	186 11 6	373 3 0	Not conveyed .....
Walcha .....	303 N.	800	Gradually .....	1875	" .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Gift .....	.....	.....	Conveyed .....
Wallsend .....	80 N.	6,000	Steadily .....	1869	" .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Purchase .....	900 0 0	450 0 0	" .....
Waratah .....	70 N.	1,800	Rapidly increasing .....	1865	" .....	28 p.	" .....	239 17 11	414 10 5	In course of conveyance
Warialda .....	400 N.N.W.	250	At fair rate .....	1883	Good site granted to Institution, but not yet built on.	2 r.	Grant from Crown .....	.....	.....	Trustees appointed, but cannot ascertain whether deeds made out in their names.
Wentworth .....	700 W.	850	" .....	1879	Tolerably convenient .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	" .....	.....	.....	Conveyed .....
West Maitland .....	115 N.	9,000	Not rapidly .....	1856	Good and convenient	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Purchase .....	Cost not known.		" .....
Wickham .....	78	1,200	Rapidly .....	1881	" .....	40 x 90 ft.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Wilcannia .....	750	1,500 to 2,000	Increasing rapidly .....	1880	" .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Grant from Crown .....	.....	300 0 0	" .....
Windsor .....	34	2,000	Not increasing .....	1862	" .....	20 p.	" .....	.....	.....	" .....
Wingham .....	195	3,000	Rapidly increasing .....	1875	Most suitable .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Purchase .....	.....	16 0 0	Conveyed .....
Woodville .....	96	About 200	Not rapidly .....	1877	Good and convenient	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Gift .....	.....	.....	" .....
Wolumla .....	265 S.	540	Rapidly increasing .....	1883	Fairly convenient .....	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	Purchase .....	.....	25 0 0	In course of conveyance
Wyrallah .....	500 W.	300	" .....	1862	Good and convenient	$\frac{1}{2}$ a.	By lease .....	.....	.....	No .....

&c., 1883.—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.

Establishment—continued.

Reversionary Interests thereon if Institution be closed.	Character (materials) of buildings.	Accommodation and Resources of the Institution as an Educational Medium.					Cost of Buildings.				Suitability of Buildings.
		Reading-room.	Library.	Hall.	Class-rooms.	Apparatus and Collections.	Total Amount.	Proportion of Government aid.	Amount from Public.	Remain- ing Debt.
Trusts contained in Crown Grant, Vol. 228, fol. 50, 20 Jan., 1872.	Brick	Reading-room	Library	Hall	None	Magic lantern and slides.	765	177	394	240	Buildings suitable, and in good repair.
.....	Brick	"	"	"	3 rooms.	Collection of minerals and maps.	3,580	1,000	.....	Nil	Buildings suitable.
Cannot answer	Stone and brick, shingled.	Reading-room and library in one.		"	"	None	Cannot state cost.				Nil	Require repairs.
.....	Brick	Reading-room	Library	Hall	"	Yes	1,690	150	.....	.....	Buildings suitable.
Usual Trusts	"	"	"	"	One	"	2,500	.....	.....	400	Buildings suitable, and in good repair.
.....	Wood	.....	.....	Hall	None	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	Seriously damaged by storm on Dec. 12, 1883.
On bond for purposes of the Institution.	Brick	Reading-room	Library	"	Two	"	3,000	Half	Half	1,242/15/9	Suitable, in good repair.
Reading-room and library; meanwhile at Council Chambers.	No building as yet; rent a reading-room		Reading-room	"	"	None	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
.....	Brick, slate roof and substantial.	"	"	"	One	"	6,094	1,993	4,091	.....	Buildings suitable and in good repair.
Not answered	Wood	"	Library	"	.....	None yet, but promised.	275	125	266	.....	Buildings suitable.
Free of debt	Brick	"	"	"	None	"	1,546	445	152	.....	Buildings in good repair.
Reverts to the Crown	Wood	"	"	"	"	None	254	85	About 200	No debt	In good repair; not very suitable.
Not answered	Stone	"	"	"	One	"	1,000, of which Government paid about one-half, but no record kept				Suitable.
Five Trusts appointed	Brick	"	"	"	None	"	900	450	450	.....	Suitable and in good repair.
No provision made for closing.	"	"	"	"	Several, occupied by Technical College.		Owing to lapse of time and frequent alterations and repairs this question cannot be answered without considerable research.				3,000	"
.....	Wood	"	"	Hall	None	None	No buildings				"
No answer	Brick	"	"	"	One	Magic lantern	400	.....	400	Nil	"
None	"	"	"	"	One	"	1,094	481	613	Nil	"
.....	"	"	None — A few books of reference only.	"	None	"	.....	.....	.....	.....	Fairly convenient.
Not answered	Brick	"	Library	Hall	One	"	About 700	No special grant from Government.	No debt	.....	Suitable.
No answer	Wood	"	"	"	None	"	Rented				"
.....	"	"	"	"	"	"	Building or room is rented				Very small.
Not provided for	Wood, iron, and brick	"	"	"	"	"	400	186	373	No debt	Not very suitable.
.....	Brick	"	"	Hall	"	"	798	.....	798	No debt	Suitable and in good repair.
Cannot see it can be closed while there are funds to carry it on with.	Brick, iron roof	"	"	"	One	Maps	5,000	1,666/10	3,333/10	900	Reading-room and library small
.....	Stone	One " large room for three purposes.	"	"	None	None	Not stated				Very suitable and in good repair.
No answer	Rented building of weatherboard.	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	In good repair.
.....	.....	Hall used provisionally as reading-room and library.	Reading-room	Library	Hall	Three	1,000	50	294	640	Building will be erected when funds available.
Trustees	Brick	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	3,000	Nil	3,000	Nil	Suitable and in good repair.
Can only be disposed of by vote of members.	Brick on stone	"	"	"	None	Maps	2,985	300	600	1,074	Yes; but a new reading-room and library are urgent requirements.
Not aware of any	Stone	"	"	"	None	Contemplated	1,516	249/6/2	764/6/6	567/2/6	Suitable.
Cannot say, trust deed not delivered.	Brick on stone	.....	.....	"	.....	None	1,500	750	750	No debt	New and suitable.
Liability to be resumed by Government if devoted to improper use.	Wood	Reading-room	Library	"	One	"	500	250	250	Nil	Suitable and in good repair.
On usual terms	"	"	"	"	.....	.....	200	66/13/4	133/6/8	No debt	Fairly suitable and in good repair, but too small for the requirements of the place.
None	"	"	"	"	None	None	265	75	150	40	Suitable and in good repair.
.....	"	"	"	"	"	"	.....	.....	.....	.....	In good repair.

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Management.

Name	Trustees.	Administration.				Abstract of Balance Sheet—1883.		Sources of Income.		Financial Position—1883.		Days and hours Institution is open to the Public.
		Com- mittee.	Treasurer.	Secretary.	Appointment.	Income.	Expenditure.	From Government.	Public Subscription.	Liabilities.	Assets.
Adamstown .....	John Syme, miner; John Wilson, miner; Joshua Meredith, miner; W. Carnley, storekeeper; E. Rca, publican.	12	Edwd. Bartly	David Williams	Ballot .....	£ s. d. 208 19 3	£ s. d. 271 11 8	£ s. d. 51 13 6	£ s. d. 177 5 9	£ s. d. 85 0 0	£ s. d. 12 5 7	Daily, 9-30 a.m. to 9-30 p.m.
Adelong .....	None .....	13	.....	W. J. Garland	.....	152 0 0	173 0 0	Nil.	.....	21 0 0	75 0 0	9 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Sun- days, 3 to 6 p.m.
Anvil Creek .....	Andrew Grimes, miner; Wil- liam Farthing, landholder; Thomas Tonks, miner.	8	John Dillon...	D. Surnton ...	Open voting..	35 8 4	31 7 0	10 17 6	22 3 0	.....	Bal. £4 1s. 4d..	6 days 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Albury .....	T. H. Mate; A. Andrews, M.D.; V. J. Nagle, solicitor; G. C. Thorold, solicitor; P. E. Fal- lon, J.P.	5	J. H. Paine...	Geo. Rhyne- hart.	At annual meeting.	351 4 8	333 4 9	36 12 10	.....	.....	Bal. £54 18. 8d.	Daily, Sundays ex- cepted.
Ashfield.....	J. H. Goodlet, J. S. Jamieson, J. Pope.	10	J. B. Gibbs ...	J. M'Gregor Dunn.	.....	520 13 8	531 17 11	84 7 4	.....	4,006 15 2	5,311 17 0	Daily, 5 to 10 p.m.
Ballina .....	E. Rose, Esq., J.P.; Chas. Jar- rett, merchant; W. Clement, Alpha sugar-mill.	...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Nil.	187 11 10	.....
Balmain .....	John Booth and Henry Perdriau, sen.	12	C. Roffey .....	J. A. Lewis...	Annual ballot	96 17 7	89 14 6	None.	.....	89 14 6	699 3 3	Daily, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturday, 3 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Bathurst .....	J. Rutherford, J.P.; Hon. E. Webb, M.L.C.; Hon. W. H. Suttor, M.L.C.; John Busby, Manager Coml. Bank; and G. A. Wray, merchant.	12	J. C. White...	.....	„	2,325 11 10	2,432 7 8	204 12 3	.....	.....	205 0 0	Daily, 10 am. to 10 p.m.
Berrima .....	R. Ritchie, H. Davis, J. H. Lee, and — Wray, Esqs.	12	.....	.....	.....	80 5 11	53 13 5	10 9 11	69 16 0	About £6 ...	26 12 6	Daily, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., Sundays excepted.
Bega .....	R. Ritchie, John Davis, John Heady, Dr. Shiels, H. Walker; Thomas Rawlinson.	12	F. Bland .....	C. Harrison ...	.....	793 14 5	.....	73 8 7	.....	Nil.	321 18 11	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Sundays 2 to 5 p.m.
Blayney .....	J. Russell, J. R. Glasson, B. Stimson.	6	John A. Wharrie.	G. L. Jones ...	At annual meeting.	.....	.....	153 3 10	.....	Nil.	504 1 3	3 times a week from 8 to 10.
Boat Harbour .....	No School of Arts .....	.....	An attempt was made to establish one, but proved a failure.				.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Braidwood.....	Robert Maddrell, J.P.; James Larmer, J.P.; J. W. Bunn, J.P.	7	.....	.....	By subscribers	.....	.....	66 1 11	.....	Nil.	About £3,000	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Branxton .....	A. Russell, storekeeper and vigneron; T. Drinan, land- owner and vigneron.	...	A. Richardson	W. Keen .....	.....	24 7 1½	27 7 1½	5 2 4	.....	Nil.	Estimated £300	Wednesdays and Satur- days, 2 hours in even- ing.
Brewarrina.....	William Dixon, grazier; J. Henderson, grazier; R. H. Featherstonhaugh, grazier; T. Thompson, storekeeper; E. Rich, storekeeper.	7	A. P. Lambert	V. Henderson	.....	978 18 2	947 2 8	15 9 4	247 5 0	917 12 1	1,343 15 0	Monday and Thursday, 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.
Bombala.....	W. Coulter and Wm. Rutherford	13	G. T. Croather	.....	Annual ballot	.....	.....	125 13 0	.....	338 11 6	2,564 12 10 including buildings	Daily, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
Botany .....	John Geddes, Esq., J.P.; W. Stephen, Esq., J.P.	8	.....	.....	Ballot .....	273 7 2	237 1 6	70 8 9	202 18 3	Nil.	36 5 8	4 days a week, 7-30 to 10.

730

38

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.

Management—continued.

Name.	Trustees.	Administration.				Abstract of Balance Sheet—1883.		Sources of Income.		Financial Position—1883.		Days and hours Institution is open to the Public.
		Com- mittee.	Treasurer.	Secretary.	Appointment.	Income.	Expenditure.	From Government.	Public Subscription.	Liabilities.	Assets.
Bourke .....	G. C. Thompson, P.M.; M. Good, publican.	...	Jas. Addison..	J. Blackshaw..	Annually by members.	£ s. d. 455 15 0	£ s. d. 3,496 6 9	£ s. d. 74 11 4	£ s. d. 244 18 10	£ s. d. 502 11 8	£ s. d. 2,025 0 0	Every evening, from 8 to 10.
Burwood.....	C. Humphrey, J.P.; W. Archer, late Mayor; Kelso King, Manager Mercantile Mutual Investment Insurance Co.; S. H. Lambton, Sec. Post Office.	7	S. H. Lambton	A. M. Woodhill.	Elected at annual meeting.	272 11 8	326 8 8	16 7 11	256 3 9	2,259 13 8	Estimated £5500	Library and reading-room on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7.30 to 9 p.m.
Cambewarra .....	Jas. Frazer, J.P.; Jas. Waddington, J.P.; S. Matthews; T. Shepherd; C. Moffatt; E. M'Kenzie.	12	S. Matthews..	H. Shepherd...	.....	50 6 3	41 3 2	Nil.....	.....	72 1 8	9 3 1	Daily, 7 to 10 p.m.
Camden .....	J. B. Martin, C.P.S.; G. Simpson, J.P.; F. Ferguson, J.P.	10	.....	.....	Ballot .....	.....	.....	19 15 10	59 16 9	Nil.....	1,295 10 0	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., Sunday excepted.
Candelo .....	G. P. Kerrison, J.P.; R. T. Kerby, J.P.; P. Heffernan, farmer.	7	T. Goldsmith..	J. W. Sharp...	.....	80 16 8	74 13 0	Nil.....	34 13 0	.....	Cr. balance, 17 5 8	Daily, 7 to 10 p.m.
Casino.....	John Grime, J.P.; W. C. Bundoock, J.P.; John Barling, licensed surveyor.	12	.....	Robt. Page ..	Ballot .....	139 10 0	152 11 11	27 19 10	111 2 6	About £160	1,600 0 0	Daily, 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Cathcart.....	Messrs. Nicholson and Stewart, squatters.	5	.....	.....	,, .....	22 2 5	14 17 10	4 12 6	.....	14 17 10	7 4 7	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Charlestown .....	John Simpson, publican .....	3	.....	.....	.....	17 16 3	21 11 0	5 17 3	11 19 0	Nil.....	8 15 9	Daily, Sunday excepted, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Clifton .....	None .....	9	.....	.....	Ballot .....	51 19 6	41 7 3	9 19 6	42 0 0	6 0 5	41 18 4½	9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Cooma.....	Robert Dawson, P.M.; W. Jardine, grazier; Jas. Tichfield, grazier.	8	G. W. Bentley	J. A. Davis ..	.....	208 12 8	156 14 7	38 19 8	169 13 0	30 0 0	2,000 0 0	Daily, Sunday excepted, 10 to 4 and 8 to 10.
Coonabarabran .....	W. H. Kelly, Esq., J.P.; G. M. Addison, Esq.; J. S. Hale, Esq., J.P.; John Knight, grazier; J. L. Brown, squatter.	5	John Wilson..	J. E. Ballard..	.....	63 9 11	90 0 0	17 18 1	56 0 10	About £25	About £650	Available to members at any time during the day.
Coonamble.....	John Fog, J.P., storekeeper; G. E. Cass, M.L.A.; W. Christien, farmer; D. M'Culloch, hotelkeeper; H. De Lyon, painter.	...	R. A. Warden	H. Di Lyon ..	Annual meet- ing.	192 1 3	.....	140 15 6	.....	91 5 0	384 1 2	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m.
Corowa .....	Messrs. Levin, M.L.A., Hudson, J.P., and Martin, property owners.	5	V. Roxburgh..	J. P. Buggy ..	.....	214 13 6	220 15 9	28 12 0	.....	340 0 0	1,280 0 0	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Cowra .....	Henry Dennis, publican; J. C. Ryall, newspaper proprietor; E. F. M'Pherson.	5	E. J. Collins...	E. F. M'Pherson.	.....	Institution having been closed for nearly 12 months, cannot give this information.		Nil.....	Nil.....	Nil.....	8 10 2	Library open daily.
Cundletown .....	H. J. Cornish, Esq., J.P., chemist; W. Cowan, Esq., J.P., storekeeper; H. Ahrowson, Esq., storekeeper; W. Burchell, Esq., hotelkeeper; J. Nevick, Esq., builder; H. See, Esq., farmer.	4	.....	.....	.....	94 15 11	67 11 7	32 0 0	11 7 0	.....	.....	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Management—continued.

Name.	Trustees.	Administration.			Abstract of Balance Sheet—1883.		Sources of Income.		Financial Position—1883.		Days and hours Institution is open to the Public.
		Com- mittee.	Treasurer.	Secretary.	Appointment.	Income.	Expenditure.	From Government.	Public Subscription.	Liabilities.		Assets.
Cudal .....	M. Lannan, storekeeper; E. Taylor, grazier; G. J. Hadley, householder.	...	G. J. Hadley	H. H. Torr	Ballot.....	£ s. d. 89 6 0	£ s. d. 55 0 0	£ s. d. 15 5 0	£ s. d. 89 6 0	£ s. d. 220 15 0	£ s. d. 465 0 0	Tuesdays and Thurs- days, 7-30 p.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturdays, 2 p.m. to 10-30 p.m.
Deniliquin .....	W. W. Hunter, builder; Thos. Brown, pastoral licensee; J. E. Kynaston.	15	.....	.....	.....	469 17 1	85 17 2	30 10 0	226 18 3	85 17 2	113 14 1½	Daily, 12 noon to 2 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Denman .....	Edward White, Esq., J.P.; Alexr. Munro, Esq., cattle- dealer; W. L. C. Brecht, Esq., vigneron.	6	G. Ogden	J. Gillies	.....	60 9 0	72 12 3	8 0 1	52 8 11	Nil .....	.....	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Dubbo .....	G. H. Taylor, J.P., auctioneer; Jas. Samuels, J.P., grazier; W. H. Tibbits, J.P., surgeon.	12	.....	.....	By subscribers at annual meeting.	.....	.....	74 19 10	150 12 2	Nil .....	1,750 0 0 18 7 4	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Dungog .....	Henry Gordon, P.M.; Rev. J. Nash, C.E.	...	J. Doyle	J. Hyland	Appointed at special general meeting.	96 16 0	97 13 0	49 19 10	46 17 0	Nil .....	Cash on hand	Daily, 8 a.m. to 9-30 p.m.
Frederickton .....	F. W. Chapman, J.P.; J. Lan- caster; J. W. Wilson, J.P.	6	John Knawr	G. Parkins, acting.	At public meeting.	12 19 1	10 2 1	.....	.....	8 11 0	5 17 0	Daily, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
Forbes .....	E. Bodd, J.P.; A. G. Burns, solicitor; W. H. Hunt, Public school teacher.	...	R. Stirling	.....	.....	169 19 4	186 13 2	59 3 7	.....	Nil .....	31 14 8	Reading-room, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.; library, 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Gladstone .....	No School of Arts .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Glen Innes .....	J. F. Utz, merchant; E. Grove, flour factor; J. J. Matthews, Esq.	11	J. Pearson	W. Callaghan	Ballot .....	15 14 0	15 2 0	Nil .....	15 14 0	.....	Balance 12/-	Daily, Sunday excepted, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Gosford .....	Nil .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Grafton .....	Thos. Bawden, J.P., auctioneer; Alfd. Lardner, J.P., gentleman; Thos. Fisher, J.P., gentleman.	12	W. Clarke	F. Doberer	Annually, by members.	.....	.....	50 17 4	273 19 8	Nil .....	4,000 0 0	Daily, 8-30 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Goulburn .....	J. T. Gannon, M.P.; Thos. Marsden, J.P.; W. Davies, merchant; W. R. Riley, news- paper proprietor.	12	W.H. Freeman	Rosevear Smith	.....	.....	.....	150 0 0 647 10 0 (special)	.....	438 15 3	.....	9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Grafton South .....	F. Morrow, boat-builder; W. J. Hawthorne, auctioneer; Duncan Beatson, J.P., butcher.	12	.....	.....	.....	92 9 4	88 11 8	Nil .....	.....	23 0 0	18 11 8	Daily, Sunday excepted, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Gulgong .....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Gundagai .....	None .....	6	M. J. Ryan	Wm. Beer	.....	.....	.....	7 3 9	22 7 6	2 19 8	16 11 7	Wednesday, 8 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 3 to 4 and 8 to 9 p.m.
Gunnedah .....	T. P. Wills-Allen, pastoralist; Geo. Cohen, storekeeper; R. J. Nowland, coach proprietor.	7	J. C. Veness	J. A. M'Phee	Annual meeting of subscribers.	252 9 10	213 8 7	Nil .....	Nil .....	205 10 10	About £1,200	7-30 to 9-30 p.m. every day, except Sunday.
Hay .....	Simon Moss, storekeeper; F. E. Blewett, storekeeper; Thos. Simpson, brewer.	...	.....	.....	.....	210 0 0	211 0 0	52 0 0	127 0 0	Nil .....	.....	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Hamilton .....	G. M'Kean, David Murray, Allan Wilde.	11	W. H. Britton	J. J. Callaghan	.....	152 15 10	46 4 9	18 15 0	.....	Nil .....	356 11 1	Daily, Sunday excepted, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Hinton .....	W. M. Christian, R. Stubbs, J. M. Smith.	6	.....	.....	.....	52 12 0	72 10 5	15 18 0	36 14 0	Nil .....	41 0 11½	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Management—continued.

Name.	Trustees.	Administration.				Abstract of Balance Sheet—1883.		Sources of Income.		Financial Position—1883.		Days and hours Institution is open to the Public.
		Com- mittee.	Treasurer.	Secretary.	Appointment.	Income.	Expenditure.	From Government.	Public Subscription.	Liabilities.	Assets.
						£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Jerilderie .....	Not stated .....	11	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	27 2 11	.....	.....	.....	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Lambton .....	R. A. A. Moorhead, Esq., superintendent Australian S. N. Company; — Shannon, Esq., assistant do.; Wm. Richardson, miner; John Elliott, miner; Robert Cairns, carpenter.	10	R. Cairns .....	Geo. Watson .....	.....	129 17 5	104 15 4	35 18 8	87 16 9	Nil .....	1,120 0 0	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Largs .....	Joseph Pearse, Esq., grazier; R. F. Graham, Esq., grazier; J. Mitchell, Esq., J.P., grazier; C. Bowder, Esq., farmer; J. Bluford, Esq., publican.	6	John Hobar ...	W. A. Morcomb.	Ballot.....	199 6 0	61 6 5	24 0 2	.....	Nil .....	879 6 0	Thursdays and Saturdays, 7-30 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Lismore .....	Not stated .....	...	A. Currie .....	J. P. F. Watkin .....	.....	.....	.....	16 18 0	.....	About cleared expenses ...	.....	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., Sundays excepted.
Merriwa .....	J. M. Bettington, Esq., J.P.; Joseph Cooper, Esq., J.P.	4	H. W. Gibbs...	J. T. White ...	General meeting of members.	78 9 5	47 8 9	10 7 9	68 1 8	Nil .....	900 0 0	Daily, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; three nights a week, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Milton.....	J. Milow and J. Warden, Js.P.	7	.....	.....	.....	135 1 9	115 8 8	5 9 10	129 11 11	18 10 8	1,240 13 8	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Molong .....	J. T. Parslow; J. M. Hughes; W. Tanner.	7	G. H. Tempest	C. H. Evans...	Ballot.....	19 7 2	.....	19 7 2	252 8 10	.....	.....	Nightly, 7 to 10, Sunday excepted.
Morpeth.....	D. Sim, J.P.; R. Wisdom, M.L.A.	8	T. Campbell...	C. F. Wakely .....	.....	78 13 6	68 14 6	9 0 0	.....	40 2 6	22 7 0	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Mount Pleasant .....	J. Rackham, S. Paull, J. M'Ewan, J. Clark, R. Griffiths, miners.	10	S. Paull.....	J. M'Gregor ...	Ballot.....	40 15 4	.....	12 10 9	24 9 6	7 8 6	18 18 3	Week-days, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Sundays, 4 p.m.
Moruya .....	W. S. Caswell, Esq., P.M.; John Emmett, storekeeper; Peter Small, carpenter; John White, bootmaker; Thos. Staunton, hotel-keeper.	7	W. H. Conolly	J. Emmott ...	.....	123 16 9	160 17 3	25 0 0	98 16 9	240 0 0	870 0 0	Reading-room: Week-days, 9 a.m. till sundown. Library: Tuesday, 3 to 5 p.m.; Sundays, 3 to 6 p.m.
Mudgee .....	Hon. G. H. Cox, M.L.C.; G. Rouse, J.P.; D. Cassin, Esq.	13	H. M. Todhunter.	.....	Ballot.....	.....	.....	50 2 4	201 12 0	Nil .....	.....	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Murrurundi .....	Rev. J. J. Nash, A. Loder, J.P. G. G. Brodie, J.P.	8	Chas. F. Juchan	G. F. Inder ...	.....	103 4 2	103 10 4	.....	.....	Nil .....	44 1 8	Daily, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Muswellbrook .....	J. H. Keys, Esq.; W. Bowman, Esq.	8	.....	E. Spencer.....	By election ...	169 0 6	205 10 5	17 7 6	.....	.....	Balance in Bank 36 14 4	Daily, 10 am. to 10 p.m.
Newcastle .....	C. Bolton, T. Ash, C. Ranchard, T. Greenway, Esqs.	12	H. Stokes .....	.....	Ballot.....	.....	.....	74 8 7	621 1 7	88 6 6	5,320 7 10	10 a.m. to 10 p.m. every lawful day, holidays excepted.
Newcastle (Burwood)	Alexr. Watson, storekeeper; Thos. Winterbine, butcher; Wm. Armstrong, miner.	11	Wm. Armstrong.	Geo. Jones ...	By general meeting.	260 11 9	219 15 9	150 0 0	.....	.....	.....	Daily, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Orange .....	Jas. Dalton, merchant; Geo. M'Kay, grazier.	6	E. J. Smith ...	R. H. Palmer	Vote of members in general meeting.	582 5 4	559 16 6	100 10 7	481 15 9	1,325 19 2	3,650 0 0	Daily, 7-30 p.m. to 10-30 p.m.; also, in afternoon three times a week.
Parramatta .....	W. H. Pass, gentleman; J. Colledge, draper; J. J. Taylor, clerk.	...	W. H. DeLowe	Gordon M'Kinnon.	Annual ballot	179 10 5	174 5 7	31 9 10	.....	Nil .....	Uncertain.	Daily (Sun. excepted), 7 to 9 p.m.

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.

Management—continued.

Name.	Trustees.	Administration.				Abstract of Balance Sheet—1883.		Sources of Income.		Financial Position—1883.		Days and hours Institution is open to the public.
		Com- mittee.	Treasurer.	Secretary.	Appointment.	Income.	Expenditure.	From Government.	Public Subscription.	Liabilities.	Assets.
Paterson .....	H. H. Brown, M.P.; J. P. Luke, J.P.; W. Keppen; James Cann.	...	.....	.....	.....	£ s. d. 41 2 3	£ s. d. 31 6 5	£ s. d. 8 2 6	.....	£ s. d. Nil .....	£ s. d. 79 15 10 Roughly estimated.	Wednesday and Saturday evenings, 10 to p.m.
Plattsburg .....	Jas. Richardson, Esq., Mayor; Jas. Fletcher, jun., Esq., colliery manager; George Harris, Esq., Alderman; David Puller, engineer; Thos. Abel, Council Clerk.	9	Jas. Fletcher, junior.	Thos. Abel ...	At general meeting of members.	248 11 8	204 11 8	57 16 0	190 15 8	Nil .....	104 11 0	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., Sundays and Government holidays excepted.
Pambula .....	Johh Behl, freeholder; George Axam, freeholder; John Martin, freeholder; Patk. Doherty, freeholder; Philip Carington, freeholder.	...	E. J. Cornell...	.....	.....	The School of Arts building has just been completed; officers not yet appointed.		Nil .....	.....	Nil .....	.....	.....
Richmond .....	Andrew Town, J.P., grazier; Henry Necomen, J.P., grazier; James Cameron, M.A., Presbyterian Minister.	...	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Rocky Mouth .....	S. M'Naughton, storekeeper; A. Cameron; J. W. Meeks, Inspector of Distillery; J. M. Kelly, baker; W. C. J. Doutty, C.P.S.	...	G. A. Irby ...	Chas. Willis...	Ballot.....	83 9 6	68 6 2	6 2 6	.....	Nil .....	330 0 0	Daily, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Wednesdays, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.
St. Leonards .....	E. M. Sayers, Esq.; Dr. Ward; C. H. Woolcott, Esq.; F. A. A. Wilson, Esq.; J. W. Guise.	6	G. V. James...	J. H. Rumsey	Annually, by ballot.	.....	.....	26 17 9	.....	Nil .....	Balance at Bank	Every day except Sunday.
Scone .....	T. Cook, Esq., grazier; A. Johnson, Esq., Auctioneer.	14	.....	.....	.....	108 12 10	91 19 6	29 0 0	16 13 4	Nil .....	About £1,500	Every evening, from 8 to 10, Sundays and public holidays excepted.
Sydney .....	Incorporated body .....	12	Richard Teece	John Henderson.	Annual ballot	4,180 3 9	3,526 10 4	909 19 3	1,820 4 6	3,340 3 6	727 2 11	Daily, 9 to 9; Reading-room, Sunday, 2 to 6 p.m.
Sofala .....	No Trustees.....	5	Henry E. Page	.....	.....	37 12 1	30 10 7	5 12 3 6 0 9 } Special grant }	.....	4 19 3	50 0 0	Mon., Tues., Thurs., 11 to 6; Wed., Sat., 11 to 10; Fri., 11 am. to 6 p.m.
Stroud .....	Thos. Laman, C.P.S.; P. W. E. Nicholls, landowner.	10	Archbld. Shaw	Jas. M'Intyre	.....	65 14 1	62 11 3	12 5 2	.....	Nil .....	89 5 8	Open daily, Sundays excepted.
Tamworth .....	J. M'Donald, Esq., C.P.S.; D. Regan, Esq., J.P.	...	J. C. Stewart	.....	By ballot .....	156 1 1	130 2 3	37 19 10	.....	Nil .....	About £2,000	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Temora .....	Not yet appointed .....	10	J. W. Nixon...	— Tabman ...	.....	58 0 1	51 4 4	8 15 4	.....	2 0 0	17 15 9	Daily, 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Sundays, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.
Tenterfield .....	C. A. Lee; T. Peberdy; C. J. Cavanagh; E. Foley.	6	E. P. Call.....	J. W. Burtley	.....	98 5 0	88 11 2	31 7 4	96 18 2	88 11 2	98 5 0	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Tumut.....	Wm. Bridle; Dr. Lynch; M. Marks, J's.P.	6	.....	.....	.....	33 17 9	.....	25 7 9	.....	32 1 6	41 10 0	Six days, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Tumberumba.....	Not stated .....	6	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Nil .....	.....	5 0 0	144 12 0	Daily, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

734

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Management—*continued.

Name.	Trustees.	Com- mittee.	Administration.			Abstract of Balance Sheet—1883.		Sources of Income.		Financial Position—1883.		Days and hours Institution is open to the Public.
			Treasurer.	Secretary.	Appointment.	Income.	Expenditure.	From Government.	Public Subscription.	Liabilities.	Assets.
Uralla.....	A. H. Richardson, bank manager; J. D. Teece, corn agent; Thos. Murray, builder; Joseph Haines, business manager; W. S. M'Crossin, publican.	6	J. Shute .....	J. D. Leece .....	.....	£ s. d. 24 13 2	£ s. d. 33 4 2	£ s. d. .....	£ s. d. 23 5 6	£ s. d. 9 19 0	£ s. d. 57 0 0	Daily, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., except Sundays.
Vegetable Creek .....	Alfred Cadell, James Graney, D. M. O'Donnell, E. Jebey.	12	.....	.....	Ballot .....	69 0 6	82 18 0	19 2 0	.....	Nil. ....	97 1 3	Every even., 7.30 to 10; Sat. 3 to 10; Sun. 3 to 5
Walcha .....	G. R. Gill, A. Mitchell, and T. O. Hardaker.	10	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Daily, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Wallsend .....	J. J. Neilsen, Esq., J.P.; Dr. A. Nash, J.P.; Thos. Tryar, storekeeper; Alex. Snedden, colliery proprietor.	11	.....	.....	.....	1,004 5 0	1,004 5 0	150 0 0	.....	900 0 0	5,750 0 0	8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Walgett .....	Building destroyed by fire. Institution being re-established.
Waratah.....	David. Watson, storekeeper; Joseph H. Anderton, storekeeper; William Harris, post-master.	9	W. Harris .....	Robt. S. M'Cormick.	.....	146 3 8	115 12 4	50 0 0	96 3 8	119 1 0	146 3 8	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. (Sundays ex.)
Warialda .....	E. H. Finch, late manager, N.S.W. Bank, late Warialda, now Cootamundra; W. B. Geddes, general agent; John Crane, saddler, auctioneer, &c.	.....	H. J. Corbett	T. H. Wilkin-son.	Ballot .....	.....	.....	35 14 0	.....	.....	33 10 2	Week-days, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.
Wentworth .....	Wm. Gunn, J.P., merchant; John S. Upton, storekeeper; W. L. Richardson, P.M. (since deceased); Newton Dewhurst, J.P., Bank manager; Henry Bocton, J.P.	11	.....	.....	.....	98 17 7	56 16 2	Nil. ....	.....	9 0 0	197 2 3	12 noon till 5 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.
West Maitland.....	Michael Scobie, Richard Jones, Robt. Scobie, J. J. Riley, John Rourke, and J. Lee, Esq's.	12	C. E. Norrie...	W. T. Lindsay	.....	555 8 5	446 4 10	200 0 0	182 5 0	.....	109 3 7 Bal. to credit	Daily, 9 a.m. to 12 a.m., 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. (Sundays & p. holidays ex.)
Wickham .....	Thos. Cox, Esq., merchant; Arther M. Frewin, contractor.	8	.....	.....	.....	1,529 19 6	1,575 6 6	Endowment	504 19 10	1,074 7 11	3,738 0 0	6 to 10 p.m. daily (Sundays excepted).
Wilcannia .....	Two left the Colony, one an auctioneer, and a Justice of the Peace.	7	.....	.....	.....	Institution not opened long enough to determine.		249 6 2	.....	800 0 0	3,500 0 0	Daily, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Windsor.....	Wm. Walker, solicitor; John Tebbutt, gentleman; James Cuneen, commission agent.	12	.....	.....	Elected annually	.....	.....	22 3 4	.....	Nil. ....	16 0 0	Daily, 7 to 10 p.m., Wednesdays, 4 to 5 p.m.
Wingham .....	Joseph Andrews, J.P.; J. A. Creagh, P.M., C.P.S.; W. J. Parsons, farmer.	8	R. S. Stokes...	J. W. Hodgins	.....	65 14 3	67 9 10	40 5 1	45 9 2	Nil. ....	610 0 0	Mon., Wed., Fri., 7 to 9 p.m., and as often on other days as required.
Woodville .....	Messrs. Croaker, Skinner (farmers), Wigull, storekeeper.	6	W. Appleyard	J. Pearce, jun.	.....	.....	.....	15 0 0	76 13 2	81 9 1	76 13 2	Tuesday evenings from 8 to 10.
Wolumla .....	James Osborne, farmer; Henry Fowler, storekeeper; John J. Smith, farmer.	13	H. Fowler, Esq.	J. Kearney, Esq.	.....	228 0 0	265 0 0	75 0 0	150 0 0	60 0 0	340 0 0	Daily, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.
Wyrallah .....	Not stated .....	3	Not	stated.	.....	26 5 0	36 12 8	8 5 0	18 0 0	.....	.....	Daily, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Results and Maintenance.

Name.	Membership.			Library.			Classes held during 1883.			Lectures delivered during 1883.			The Hall, how used.	Any Rentals.
	No. of Subscribers.	Sub- scription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of.	No.	Subjects.	Attendance.	No.	Subjects.	Audiences.
Adamstown .....	139	£ s. d. 0 13 0	.....	345	Fiction, history, biography.	.....	None	.....	.....	2	Fall of Roman Empire; Love, Courtship, and Marriage.	Well attended.	Concerts, lectures, &c. All entertainments under control of Committee.	5s. per week from Dept. Public Instruc. for infant school purposes.
Adelong .....	90	0 10 0	.....	400	Novels, history, poetry, drama, works of reference.	.....	„	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	No hall .....	No rentals.
Anvil Creek .....	25	0 10 0	.....	350	History, science, poetry, travels, fiction, and reference.	Principally light reading.	„	.....	.....	„	.....	.....	Meetings and entertainments, and free to Ministers of Religion.	„
Albury .....	1	0 0 0	.....	660	Biography, history, travels, and high class novels.	Largely ..	„	.....	.....	„	.....	.....	Concerts, bazaars .....	No.
Ashfield .....	161	0 10 0 1 0 0	.....	1,600	Fiction, travel, biography.	„ ..	„	.....	.....	.....	The Australian Navigators, Japanese Art, Kensington Museum	Attendance select.	Concerts, lectures, balls, &c.	Yes.
Balmain .....	10	0 10 0	Nil.	550	Fiction, history, poetry, science, &c.	Scientific and historical.	„	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	No hall .....	None.
Bathurst .....	515	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	7,709	Reference, history, biography, science, poetry, &c.	Much—equally divided.	„	.....	.....	1	Geology .....	Fair .....	.....	.....
Berrima .....	51	0 17 6	.....	321	.....	Well ..	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	Let on one occasion only..	10s. to date.
Bega .....	121	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	2,140	Science, history, biography, fiction, poetry, miscellaneous.	.....	One ..	Debating class during winter months.	.....	6	Campaign of Waterloo, Life and Works of Sir Walter Scott, Life of Dickens, Life of John P. Curran, Manners and Customs of New Zealanders, Local Self Government.	Largely attended.	Local and general meetings and entertainments.	None.
Blayney .....	30	.....	.....	300	.....	Middling	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	No hall... ..	„
Braidwood .....	95	1 0 0	.....	3,100	Science, history, biography, poetry, travels, fiction.	Very largely.	„	.....	.....	One ..	Temperance .....	.....	Concerts, meetings, &c...	Yes.
Branxton .....	12	0 8 0	.....	300	Mostly fiction, few travels, history, and science.	Not much	No ...	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Very seldom; mostly travelling lecturers and performers; some one belonging to the Institute present to see order kept.	From rent of hall.
Brewarrina.....	58	1 0 0	.....	400	Principally fiction, and works of travel.	Largely ..	„	.....	.....	„	.....	.....	Only just completed; will be let for entertainments.	No.
Bombala.....	60	0 10 0	.....	880	Miscellaneous.—All classes.	All classes	None	.....	.....	1	An Evening among my Books.	Over 100 present.	Theatrical, &c.	Yes.
Botany .....	50	0 10 0	.....	.....	History, poetry, philosophy, science and arts, biography, miscellaneous light literature.	Fairly ..	„	.....	.....	None	Committee are trying to arrange for fortnightly lectures.	.....	.....	„
Bourke .....	168	1 0 0	.....	1,100	¾ Fiction—balance general.	To great extent.	None	.....	.....	2	Illustrated by dissolving views.	Good .....	Concerts and general entertainments.	No.
Burwood .....	210	0 10 0 (£5 life membership)	.....	2,120	Novels, history, biography, poetry, travels, works of reference, &c.	Very largely.	One ..	Debating class .....	Only moderate.	One ..	.....	Moderate	Lectures, concerts, meetings, dramatic performances, balls, &c.	Yes, from Education Dept., Municipal Council, Presbyterian Church, and other sources.

736

44

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.

Results and Maintenance—continued.

Name.	Membership.			Library.			Classes held during 1883.			Lectures delivered during 1883.			The Hall, how used.	Any Rentals.
	No. of Subscribers.	Sub- scription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of.	No.	Subjects.	Attendance.	No.	Subjects.	Audiences.
Cambewarra .....	12	£ s. d. 0 10 0	.....	105	Scientific, historical, biographical.	Not much	None	.....	.....	Nil	.....	.....	Musical and literary entertainments.	Yes.
Camden .....	...	0 10 0	.....	950	Agriculture, history, arts, science, poetry, fiction.	Largely ...	..	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Public entertainments ..	No.
Candelo .....	40	0 10 0	.....	300	History, travels, essays, magazines, and fiction.	Chiefly travels, history, and fiction.	...	Debating and philharmonic weekly.	Fair .....	...	English Battles by Sea and Land. Poets, &c.	Fairly attended.	Moral entertainments...	Yes.
Casino .....	70	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	800	Science, history, travels, poetry, reference, novels, and miscellaneous.	Chiefly light literature.	1	Mutual improvement class.	.....	3	Remedies in cases of Emergency, Sick Nursing, Use and Abuse of Alcohol and Tobacco.	Good .....	Concerts and dramatic entertainments.	£10 10s. from Municipal Council.
Cathcart .....	40	0 5 0	.....	172	.....	Novels chiefly, but other standard works are availed of.	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Concerts and dramatic entertainments.	No.
Charlestown .....	33	0 12 0	.....	...	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	No hall.	..
Clifton .....	69	1s. 4 week	.....	...	No library .....	.....	..	.....	.....	No	.....	.....	..	..
Cooma .....	34	1 0 0	.....	600	Works of reference, educational, and miscellaneous.	Chiefly fiction and travels.	..	.....	.....	One	Judge M'Farland on N.S. Wales.	.....	Dramatic, musical, professional, and amateurs.	Only from letting for entertainments, &c.
Coonabarabran .....	35	1 0 0	.....	750	Light literature principally.	Largely availed of.	..	.....	.....	No	.....	.....	Used for concerts and balls.	£7 10s. per annum from Oddfellows.
Coonamble .....	70	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	340	Principally works of standard authors.	Much used	..	.....	.....	One	A tour through India and China.	.....	Concerts, balls, tea-meetings, bazaars, &c.	No.
Corowa .....	85	1 0 0	.....	483	20 biographies, 20 histories, 40 science, 20 essays, 383 novels and sketches.	Works of romance.	No	.....	.....	No	.....	.....	Concerts, theatricals, balls, &c.	..
Cowra .....	41	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	About 180	Not given .....	Fairly made use of.	Yes	Debating class .....	.....	..	.....	.....	No hall .....	..
Cundletown .....	50	0 6 0	.....	416	Miscellaneous .....	.....	..	.....	.....	1	Social condition of Man.	Large .....	Lectures, concerts, drama, and music.	About £20.
Cudal .....	25	0 10 0	0 5 0	260	Poems, speeches, biography, science, history, novels.	Mostly novels, issued.	...	Elocution and debating class.	15 10	2	Animal and Insect Life, War, Land Leaguers.	Large and appreciative.	Concerts, dramatic plays, balls, &c.	No.
Deniliquin .....	153	1 0 0 2 0 0	.....	600	Fiction, travels, and reference.	Largely ...	1	Shorthand .....	Pupils 4	1	Future of Riverina ...	Good .....	No .....	..
Denman .....	50	0 10 0	.....	1,200	Works of reference, poetry and drama, history, travels, biography, science, theology, geography, fiction.	..	1	Debating class .....	Average 12	2	Biography and Hygiene.	.....	Principally concerts .....	..
Dubbo .....	...	.....	.....	1,400	History, science, novels.	..	None	.....	.....	2	Astronomy, Geology.	Very poor, did not pay expenses.	No .....	None this year.
Dungog .....	68	0 10 0	.....	473	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Let for public entertainments.	No.
Frederickton .....	10	0 8 0	.....	210	Novels, periodicals, and papers.	.....	No	.....	.....	No	.....	.....	Public entertainments ..	..

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Results and Maintenance—continued.

Name.	Membership.			Library			Classes held during 1883.			Lectures delivered during 1883.			The Hall, how used.	Any Rentals.
	No. of Subscribers.	Sub- scription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of.	No.	Subjects.	Attendance.	No.	Subjects	Audiences.
Forbes.....	70	£ s. d. 1 0 0	.....	1,000	Fiction, history, sci- ence.	.....	1	Physiology .....	Good .....	1	Physiology .....	.....	No .....	No.
Glen Innes.....	25	0 12 0	.....	..	No library at present	.....	..	Debates — Protection v. Free Trade, As- sisted Immigration.	.....	3	Readings .....	.....	No hall .....	..
Grafton .....	114	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	2,500	Poetry and drama, geography and tra- vels, biography and history, science, fic- tion.	.....	None	.....	.....	2	Arch. Forbes and Dr. Steel.	Audiences fair.	Literary and dramatic ..	Yes.
Goulburn .....	273	.....	.....	5,630	Miscellaneous .....	.....	..	.....	.....	2	Wool-growing and Stock-raising.	.....	Dramatic .....	..
Grafton South .....	30 to 50	1 0 0	.....	184	Chiefly light litera- ture.	Largely ...	..	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Concerts, &c. ....	..
Gundagai .....	about 25	1 0 0	.....	650	Fiction, history, bio- graphy, science, and reference.	Fairly by towns- people.	..	.....	.....	No ...	.....	.....	No hall .....	No.
Gunnedah .....	50	0 10 6 0 3 0	.....	598	Not classified, chiefly fiction.	.....	..	.....	.....	..	Telephone, Microphone, and Electric Bells, New Zealand and its wonders, Carbon and Carbonic Acid Gas.	Fair .....	Musical entertainments ...	..
Hay.....	88	1 0 0	.....	633	Principally fiction ...	.....	..	.....	.....	No ...	.....	.....	Concerts and dancing as- semblies.	Yes, £31.
Hamilton .....	100	0 12 0	.....	760	Novels, history, bio- graphy.	Largely ...	..	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Tea-meetings .....	None.
Hinton .....	22	0 12 0	.....	400	History, travel, bio- graphy, and fiction.	.....	..	.....	.....	No ...	.....	.....	Concerts, lectures, and tea-parties.	Yes.
Jerilderie .....	..	.....	.....	500	.....	Largely ...	..	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	Local concerts, travelling theatricals.	No.
Lambton.....	125	0 12 0	.....	1,900	Catalogue not classi- fied; 70 per cent. fiction, remainder travel, history, and science.	.....	None	.....	.....	1	Anatomy .....	Full house	Not stated.....	..
Largs .....	30	0 6 0	.....	283	History, biography, travels, geography, poetry, drama, &c.	.....	..	.....	.....	4	Poetry, Life of Thackeray, Phrenology, Japan.	.....	Lectures, concerts, &c. ...	..
Lismore .....	..	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	300	Poets, travels, bio- graphy, scientific, and fiction.	.....	..	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	.....	£20 16s. per annum.
Merriwa .....	41 14 life mem- bers.	0 16 0	.....	466	Fiction, history, tra- vels, biography, &c.	.....	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Musical and literary .....	No.
Milton.....	100	0 10 0	.....	1,100	Reference and miscel- laneous.	Largely ...	..	Debating Class, fort- nightly.	40	1	Chemistry.....	Fair .....	Entertainments of all kinds.	Yes.
Molong .....	82	1 0 0 0 10 0	Nil.	587	Various scientific and other useful litera- ture.	A few scien- tific readers but gener- ally novels, and travels.	..	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	Public entertainments ...	.....

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Results and Maintenance—continued.

Name	Membership.			Library.			Classes held during 1883.			Lectures delivered during 1883.			The Hall, how used.	Any Rentals.
	No. of Subscribers.	Sub- scription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of.	No.	Subjects.	Attendance.	No.	Subjects.	Audiences.
Morpeth.....	34	£ s. d. 0 12 0 0 10 6	.....	.....	Fiction .....	.....	None	.....	.....	4	Japan, Vegetarianism Phrenology, Some Real Fun.	Moderate	.....	£20 per annum.
Mount Pleasant .....	40	0 10 0	.....	127	Miscellaneous .....	Moderately, fiction chiefly.	..	.....	.....	2	Africa, Geology .....	Fair	Generally concerts .....	Yes.
Moruya .....	37	0 10 0	.....	458	History, biography, science, travels, fiction.	Very much, principally fiction.	..	.....	.....	..	No lectures from difficulty of procuring competent lecturers.	.....	Musical and semi-theatrical.	Yes, from hire of hall.
Mudgee .....	...	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	2,194	Science, history, classics, travels, fiction.	Largely ...	...	Debating class weekly	About 12	None	.....	.....	Tea meetings, concerts, &c.	Yes.
Murrurundi .....	50	0 10 6 Life members, £5.	.....	1,033	Reference, 46; history and biography, 148; travels, 34; poetry and drama, 52; essays, lectures, 44; theology and science, 71; fiction, 638.	Largely availed of.	None	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	Drama and drawing-room entertainments.	Hire of hall only.
Muswellbrook .....	...	.....	.....	1,389	History, 234; geography, 52; science, 57; theology, 43; poetry, 66; miscellaneous, 114; fiction, 801; reference, 22.	.....	...	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	Public entertainments ...	Yes.
Newcastle .....	250	0 12 0	According to arrangement with teachers.	3,600	Reference, science, natural history, history, travels, biography, poetry, fiction.	.....	...	.....	.....	...	.....	.....	.....	.....
Newcastle (Burwood) .....	56	0 13 0	.....	346	Fiction, history, biography.	670 vols. issued, chiefly fiction.	No ...	.....	.....	No ...	.....	.....	Public entertainments occasionally.	No.
Orange .....	...	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	1,850	Philosophy, science, arts, biography, travels, fiction, &c., &c.	Fairly availed of.	None	.....	.....	Yes...	Biographical, Historical.	Meagre ...	Operatic, dramatic, public meetings, &c.	..
Parramatta .....	131	0 14 0 0 7 0	.....	1,300	History, biography, science, fiction, &c., &c.	Largely used.	..	.....	.....	25	Alcohol, An Hour with Tennyson, Manufacture of Indigo, Modern Education, Tea Culture, Warriors I have met, Kings I have known, &c.	Fairly well attended.	No hall .....	..
Paterson.....	40	0 2 6	.....	373	Miscellaneous .....	Largely availed of.	...	.....	.....	1	Japanese .....	Small .....	..	..
Plattsburg .....	150	0 12 0	.....	740	History, biography, poetry, &c.	Large circulation.	...	Debating classes held fortnightly during about six months of the year.	.....	None	.....	.....	Under lease to Department of Public Instruction for school purposes, under trustees.	£139 19s. 6d. last year.
Rocky Mouth .....	43	1 0 0	.....	266	Principally fiction ...	Only fairly well.	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	Theatricals, with occasional concerts.	No.

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Results and Maintenance—continued.

Name.	Membership.			Library.			Classes held during 1883.			Lectures delivered during 1883.			The Hall, how used.	Any Rentals.
	No. of Subscribers.	Subscription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of.	No.	Subjects.	Attendance.	No.	Subjects.	Audiences.
St. Leonards .....	80	£ s. d. 1 0 0	0 10 0	2,055	Arts and sciences, biography, history, poetry, travels, fiction, miscellaneous.	Fairly, principally fiction.	...	Debating class.....	.....	6	Phrenology, Lighting by Gas and Electricity, Sinitation, Astronomy, Art Studies in South Kensington Museum, Arts of Savage Tribes.	About 40	Various entertainments...	£22 10s. per annum from Municipal Council.
Scone .....	60	0 10 0	.....	1,344	.....	Largely availed of.	.....	.....	.....	1	Luther .....	Fair .....	Travelling Troupes.....	Yes.
Sydney .....	2045	5s. 4 <sup>q</sup> gr. £1 4 <sup>q</sup> yr.	.....	21,000	Fictions, travels, biography, history, theology, science, and fine arts.	Fully taken advantage of, especially first three sections mentioned.	.....	(See Footnote) .....	.....	.....	(See Footnote) .....	.....	.....	Hall and Classroom leased by Technical Board at £1,500 per annum.

STATEMENT OF CLASSES AND TEACHERS.

Classes.	Teachers.	Assistant Teachers.
Actuarial Science .. .. .	D. Carment .. .. .	.....
Anatomy and Physiology .. .. .	T. Dixon, M.B., C.M. .. .. .	.....
Architecture and Building Construction .. .. .	A. L. Elphinstone .. .. .	W. Blacklock.
Botany .. .. .	T. Whitelegge .. .. .	.....
Chemistry .. .. .	W. Dixon, F.C.S., F.I.C. .. .. .	.....
Class Singing .. .. .	C. Chizlett .. .. .	.....
Commercial School .. .. .	A. Adams .. .. .	J. Hardy.
Electricity .. .. .	T. E. Hewott .. .. .	.....
Elocution .. .. .	J. Connery .. .. .	.....
Do Ladies .. .. .	Lydia Hastings .. .. .	.....
Engineering .. .. .	W. H. Warren, A.M.I.C.E. .. .. .	E. Burnan.
English Grammar and Reading .. .. .	J. Connery .. .. .	.....
French .. .. .	R. Curtis .. .. .	.....
German .. .. .	A. Erythropel .. .. .	.....
Greek .. .. .	M. C. Howe, LL.D. .. .. .	.....
Latin .. .. .	Do .. .. .	.....
Law .. .. .	R. M. Sly, LL.D. .. .. .	.....
Mathematics .. .. .	H. E. Barff, M.A. .. .. .	.....
Music, Theory of .. .. .	Ann Biddell .. .. .	.....
Pharmacy .. .. .	F. Wright, M.P.S. .. .. .	.....
Phonography .. .. .	H. Graham .. .. .	.....
Freehand Drawing .. .. .	L. Henry .. .. .	(A. D. Riley.
Geometry and Perspective .. .. .	Do .. .. .	A. Tischbauer.
Teachers' Drawing .. .. .	Do .. .. .	E. W. Minchen.
Design .. .. .	Do .. .. .	Jessie Green.
.....	.....	J. R. Wright.
Painting, Saturday .. .. .	A. D. Riley .. .. .	.....
Ladies' Drawing .. .. .	Dora Phillips .. .. .	.....
Modelling .. .. .	L. Henry .. .. .	.....
Constitutional History .. .. .	E. G. Hodgson, M.A., S.C.L. .. .. .	.....

RETURN OF STUDENTS ENTERED AND FEES RECEIVED—JANUARY TO SEPTEMBER, 1883.

Students entered:—
From January 1 to March 31, 1883	484
"    April 1 to June 30 .. .. .	610
"    July 1 to September 30 .. .. .	583
Individual Students:—
From January 1 to March 31, 1883	430
"    April 1 to June 30 .. .. .	580
"    July 1 to September 30 .. .. .	582
Fees received:—	£ s. d.
From January 1 to March 31, 1883	328 0 6
"    April 1 to June 30 .. .. .	397 7 6
"    July 1 to September 30 .. .. .	363 8 0

SUMMARY OF LECTURES DELIVERED IN THE LARGE HALL—1ST JANUARY TO 30TH SEPTEMBER, 1883.

Subject.	Lecturer.
*South Kensington Museum .. .. .	2 A. D. Riley.
*Paris .. .. .	1 J. Henderson.
*Belgium .. .. .	1 A. L. Elphinstone.
.....	1 D. Ritchie.
*Fiji Islands .. .. .	2 F. Goodie.
*The Thames .. .. .	1 E. B. Taylor.
*Italy .. .. .	2 P. J. Holdsworth.
*British Museum .. .. .	1 E. B. Taylor.
*University Life at Oxford .. .. .	3 D. B. Sladen.
*Egypt .. .. .	1 P. J. Holdsworth.
Geology and Palaeontology .. .. .	7 Rev. E. C. Spicer.
Astronomy .. .. .	1 do
Experimental Physics .. .. .	7 J. G. Legge.
Practical Pharmacy .. .. .	7 F. Wright.
Economic Botany .. .. .	6 Rev. Robert Collie.
India, its Resources and Trade .. .. .	6 James Inglis.
*Astronomy .. .. .	1 Thomas Robertson.
Military Engineering .. .. .	3 T. S. Parrott.
History of European Colonization .. .. .	5 D. B. Sladen.
*Factory Accidents .. .. .	2 Dr. T. Dixon.
Dairy Farming .. .. .	1 H. Paterson.
Historical Art .. .. .	4 A. D. Riley.
Chili .. .. .	1 Rev. F. C. B. Fairry.
Bee Culture .. .. .	2 S. MacDonnell.
Elocution .. .. .	4 John Connery.
Physiology .. .. .	1 E. P. Field.
Ethnology .. .. .	2 D. Ritchie.
Sugar Growing .. .. .	1 A. Mackay.
*Artisans and their Ailments .. .. .	1 Dr. T. Dixon.
Oceanic Currents .. .. .	1 D. Ritchie.
*The Rhine .. .. .	2 A. Kethel.
Atmospheric Circulation .. .. .	1 D. Ritchie.
Zoology .. .. .	1 do
North-Western Australia .. .. .	1 J. Pentecost.
Lakes and Light-houses of New South Wales .. .. .	1 Rev. F. C. B. Fairry.
Botany .. .. .	1 D. Ritchie.
Mineralogy .. .. .	1 J. Pentecost.
*The Channel and the Thames .. .. .	1 Captain Neitstein.

Since the 1st October the following lectures have been given under the auspices of the Committee:—

*Picturesque Ireland .. .. .	2 P. J. Holdsworth.
*Scotland, Historical, Poetical, and Picturesque .. .. .	4 A. Kethel.
Shakespearean Reading .. .. .	1 J. Connery.
Continental Trip with Mark Twain .. .. .	1 C. Haviland.
Poets and Places .. .. .	1 do
Emerson .. .. .	1 M. D. Conway.

* Honorary lecture.

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Results and Maintenance—continued.

Name.	Membership.			Library.			Classes held during 1883.			Lectures delivered during 1883.			The Hall, how used.	Any Rentals.
	No. of Subscribers.	Sub- scription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of.	No.	Subjects.	Attendance.	No.	Subjects.	Audiences.
50-066 Sofala .....	30	£ s. d. 0 12 0	.....	200	.....	Fairly used; fiction chiefly; science and history in fair proportion.	None	.....	.....	None	.....	.....	No hall .....	No.
Stroud.....	69	0 5 0	.....	1,700	Miscellaneous .....	History & fiction chiefly.	..	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	Concerts .....	..
Tamworth .....	76	0 3 6 0 6 6 0 12 0	.....	1,050	General literature ...	Largely availed of.	None	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	Entertainments .....	Yes.
Temora .....	45	0 12 0	.....	.....	10 vols. Chambers' Encyclopedia, large dictionary, Government reports and publications.	Not let out.	..	.....	.....	3 ..	Meteorology, Mineralogy, Phrenology, given in a hall rented for the purpose.	50 to 150	No hall .....	No.
Tenterfield.. ..	76	1 0 0	0 1 0	856	Travels, historical, scientific, poetical, natural history, reference, &c.	Largely ...	One...	Debating class .....	20 .....	None	.....	.....	None .....	..
Tumut.....	..	0 12 0 0 10 0	.....	380	Mixed .....	Not much availed of at present.	None	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	No hall.
Tumberumba.....	80	0 12 0	.....	500	Fiction, travel, history.	Principally Fiction; History also largely availed of.	..	No classes.....	.....	No Lectures.	.....	.....	It is the intention of the Committee to initiate proceedings for erection of a suitable Hall in connection with the Institution.
Uralla.....	..	.....	.....	300	History, novels, and biography.	Chiefly light literature.	None.	.....	.....	None.	.....	.....	No Hall.....	..
Vegetable Creek .....	Not stated.	1 0 0	.....	424	Science, history, travels, & novels.	Largely availed of.	..	.....	.....	..	.....	.....	No Hall.....	..
Walcha .....	64	0 12 0	.....	1,200	.....	Fairly; Fiction about $\frac{3}{4}$ of issue.	..	Debating Class held fortnightly.	.....	Yes..	First Cause in Nature; The value of Poetry; Works of Henry Kendall.	.....	Theatrical, musical, and general town purposes.	..
Wallsend .....	250	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	900	Geography, geology, botany, mineralogy, history, and fiction.	.....	None.	.....	.....	None.	.....	.....	Sometimes concerts and theatricals.	..

SCHOOLS OF ARTS AND MECHANICS' AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, &c., 1883—HEADS OF INQUIRY RESPECTING—continued.
Results and Maintenance—continued.

Name	Membership			Library.			Classes held during 1883.			Lectures delivered during 1883.			The Hall, how used.	Any Rentals.
	No. of Subscribers.	Sub- scription.	Charge for Attendance at Classes.	No. of Vols.	Character.	How availed of.	No.	Subjects.	Attendance.	No.	Subjects.	Audiences.
Waratah.....	...	£ s. d. 0 12 0	.....	716	History, biography, science, novels, miscellaneous.	Largely availed of.	None.	.....	.....	None.	.....	.....	Not let for public entertainments.	Yes, hall let to Municipal Council.
Warialda .....	50	1 0 0 0 10 0	.....	200	Fiction, 142; miscellaneous, 58.	.....	None.	.....	.....	None.	.....	.....	Amateur performances and travelling dramatic troupes.	Yes, rental of hall.
Wentworth .....	85	1 0 0	.....	420	.....	Largely availed of.	None.	.....	.....	None.	.....	.....	Public entertainments, concerts, lectures, balls, theatricals.	None.
West Maitland.....	280	0 12 0	Free to Members.	5,727	Miscellaneous .....	Issued 3,394.	...	A French class was held, but lapsed through paucity of attendance.	.....	...	A Tour in Italy, Heads and Faces of the People, Phrenology, George Moore, Prevention of Disease, Dr. Livingstone, &c.	.....	Concerts, lectures, public meetings, bazaars, &c.	None, except rent of hall.
Wickham .....	170	1 0 0	0 1 0 per week.	568	History, science, art, miscellaneous.	Miscellaneous & science chiefly.	4	Arithmetic, 'writing, drawing, mechanics', each held weekly ...	Fair .....	Two.	Horticulture, Phrenology.	Good .....	Public school concert, choral society, floral exhibition.	Yes.
Wilcannia .....	Not stated.	.....	.....	...	.....	.....	...	.....	.....	...	.....	.....	No hall .....	£100 per annum.
Windsor .....	80	0 10 0	.....	800	Fiction, biography, history, &c., &c.	.....	None.	.....	.....	One...	College' Life at Oxford, by Professor Slade.	.....	Concerts, balls, &c. ....	No.
Wingham .....	85	0 10 0	.....	...	All subjects are represented.	Largely availed of.	...	.....	.....	Two.	Transit of Venus, The Stars.	.....	Musical, dramatic, social.	No.
Woodville .....	21	0 6 0	.....	462	History, biography, travels, poetry, drama, miscellaneous.	.....	...	Every fortnight during winter months debates are held on various subjects.	.....	One...	Phrenology .....	Large.....	Various purposes.....	.....
Wolumla .....	30	0 10 0	.....	100	Travels, histories, manufactures.	.....	None.	.....	.....	None.	.....	.....	Not used, but license applied for, and in course of preparation.	Yes.
Wyrallah .....	33	0 10 0	.....	350	General literature ...	.....	..	.....	.....	None.	.....	.....	Sacred concerts, temperance gatherings, missionary agents.	Yes, from Good Templars.

742

SCHOOLS OF ART AND LITERARY INSTITUTES, FOR THE YEAR 1883.

Income.

	Balance, 31st December, 1882.	From Government.		From Private Sources.					Overdraft, 31st December, 1883.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1882.	Grand Total.
		Special Vote.	Annual subsidy.	Members' Subscriptions.	Hire of Hall.	Rentals.	Sundry receipts, as sales, &c.	Interest on Invested Funds.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Adamstown School of Arts	19 18 0		51 13 6	170 1 6	6 5 0		0 19 3		85 0 0	333 17 3		333 17 3
Adelong Literary Institute			43 19 4	108 4 3					21 8 11	173 12 6		173 12 6
Albury School of Arts	96 17 9		36 12 10	183 13 7	62 1 6		6 3 9	2 14 0		388 3 5		388 3 5
Anvil Creek School of Arts	2 7 10		10 17 6	21 12 6			0 10 6			35 8 4		35 8 4
Ashfield School of Arts			84 7 4	101 7 6	95 4 0	118 15 0	120 19 10		914 19 8	1,435 13 4		1,435 13 4
Ballina School of Arts			50 0 0	137 11 10						187 11 10		187 11 10
Balmain Working Men's Institute	209 16 11		49 2 8				482 10 1			741 9 8		741 9 8
Bathurst School of Arts			204 12 3	401 18 0	1,322 4 9	275 0 0			205 0 0	2,408 15 0		2,408 15 0
Bega School of Arts	143 3 4		73 8 7	173 14 4	74 16 0					465 2 3		465 2 3
Berrima School of Arts			10 9 11	29 5 1	0 10 0		40 0 11			80 5 11		80 5 11
Blayney School of Arts	54 4 9	153 3 10		285 2 6				13 13 0	5 4 6	511 8 7	300 0 0	811 8 7
Braidwood Literary Institute			43 4 3	87 13 0	77 18 6	42 0 0	2 8 6			253 4 3		253 4 3
Branxton Mechanics' Institute	6 11 6		5 2 4	5 0 0	5 4 0		1 11 0	0 18 4		24 7 2	12 0 0	36 7 2
Brewarrina School of Arts	21 11 9		15 9 4	247 5 0					694 12 1	978 18 2		978 18 2
Bombala School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute				251 6 0	120 3 10					371 9 10		371 9 10
Botany School of Arts	16 4 8		70 8 9	181 8 9	5 5 0					273 7 2		273 7 2
Bourke Mechanics' Institute			74 11 4	114 19 0	210 12 0		130 4 0		482 11 8	1,012 18 0		1,012 18 0
Burwood School of Arts			16 7 11	32 6 9	62 11 6	156 11 6	4 14 0		259 13 8	532 5 4		532 5 4
Cambewarra School of Arts	9 16 6		4 9 9	11 7 9	20 10 3	4 2 0	70 0 0			120 6 3		120 6 3
Camden School of Arts	17 1 0		19 15 10	18 0 0	39 10 0		1 6 9	1 0 0		96 13 7	25 0 0	121 13 7
Candelo School of Arts		73 11 9		53 16 3	34 8 5		27 5 0			189 1 5		189 1 5
Casino School of Arts			27 19 10	49 2 6	31 8 0		0 7 8		167 12 6	276 10 6		276 10 6
Charlestown Literary Institute	12 10 6		5 17 3	11 19 0						30 6 9		30 6 9
Clifton School of Arts	31 6 1		9 19 6	17 11 0			24 9 0			83 5 7		83 5 7
Cooma School of Arts			38 19 8	28 7 0	113 2 0		28 4 0		271 10 8	480 3 4		480 3 4
Coonamble School of Arts			140 15 6	170 9 8	218 15 6		545 19 2		74 1 8	1,150 1 6		1,150 1 6
Corowa School of Arts	23 12 8		28 12 0	78 1 0	85 2 6		22 18 0			238 6 2		238 6 2
Cowra School of Arts	0 10 2			8 0 0						8 10 2		8 10 2
Cundletown School of Arts	19 5 5		32 0 0	11 7 0	8 0 0	7 10 0	16 13 6			94 15 11		94 15 11
Cudal School of Arts			15 5 0	89 6 0					220 15 10	325 6 10		325 6 10
Deniliquin School of Arts	70 14 1		30 10 11	226 18 3			141 13 10		85 17 2	555 14 3		555 14 3
Denman School of Arts	34 1 11		8 0 1	16 0 2	10 0 0	25 0 0		1 8 9		94 10 11		94 10 11
Dubbo Mechanics' Institute	33 7 10		74 19 10	111 18 10			5 5 6			225 12 0		225 12 0
Dungog School of Arts	60 8 9		49 19 10	28 10 6	17 10 0		0 16 6			157 5 7		157 5 7
East Maitland School of Arts	133 19 5			26 7 0	20 9 0	39 0 0	2 9 6	5 19 7		228 4 6		228 4 6
Forbes School of Arts	22 6 0		59 3 7	116 18 3						198 7 10		198 7 10
Glen Innes School of Arts			15 5 0				0 9 0			15 14 0		15 14 0
Goulburn School of Arts		647 10 0	150 0 0	260 11 6	332 12 6	272 18 6			389 17 9	2,053 10 3		2,053 10 3
Grafton Literary Institute	9 11 9		50 17 4	108 5 0	34 15 0	25 15 0	105 4 6			334 8 7		334 8 7
Grafton South Literary Institute	5 6 0		32 7 6	21 19 3			32 16 7			92 9 4		92 9 4
Gundagai Literary Institute	20 2 4		7 3 9	22 7 6						49 13 7		49 13 7
Gunnedah Literary Institute			134 16 6		112 3 0		5 10 4		205 10 10	458 0 8		458 0 8
Hay Athenæum	37 8 5		52 7 1	78 1 0	31 0 0		49 6 0			248 2 6		248 2 6

SCHOOLS OF ART, LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C.—continued.

Income—continued.

	Balance, 31st December, 1882.	From Government.		From Private Sources.					Overdraft 31st December, 1883.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1882.	Grand Total
		Special Vote.	Annual Subsidy.	Members' Subscriptions.	Hire of Hall.	Rentals.	Sundry receipts as Sales.	Interest on In- vested Funds.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Hinton School of Arts.....	60 16 5		15 18 0	29 6 0	7 8 0		0 3 0			113 11 5		113 11 5
Lambton School of Arts.....	6 2 0		35 18 8	56 10 6			31 6 3			129 17 5		129 17 5
Largs School of Arts.....	35 2 0		24 0 2	9 0 0	11 15 6		119 8 4			199 6 0		199 6 0
Lismore School of Arts.....	146 15 3		16 17 10	25 18 4		20 16 0	5 14 6		22 2 7	238 4 6		238 4 6
Merriwa School of Arts.....			10 7 9	29 2 8	24 5 6		14 13 6			78 9 5		78 9 5
Milton School of Arts.....	18 2 4		5 9 10	37 2 4	62 13 6		11 13 9			135 1 9		135 1 9
Molong School of Arts.....			19 7 2	63 4 6	73 13 11	113 16 5	1 14 0			271 16 0		271 16 0
Morpeth School of Arts.....	12 8 5		9 0 0	17 6 0	7 10 0	28 0 0	16 17 6			91 1 11		91 1 11
Mount Pleasant School of Arts.....	1 16 4		12 10 9	24 9 6	0 16 0		1 2 9			40 15 4		40 15 4
Moruya School of Arts.....			25 0 0	53 14 9	37 0 0		8 2 0		158 12 6	282 9 3		282 9 3
Mudgee School of Arts.....	5 9 11		50 2 4	107 17 6	93 14 6					257 4 3		257 4 3
Newcastle School of Arts.....			74 8 7	154 19 0	0 10 0	402 0 10	8 3 9	31 2 7	88 6 6	759 11 3	614 13 3	1,374 11 6
Newcastle (Burwood) School of Arts.....	13 1 9	150 0 0		31 0 0			66 10 0			260 11 9		260 11 9
Orange Mechanics' Institute.....			100 10 7	210 8 9	171 6 0		100 0 0		1,242 15 9	1,825 1 1		1,825 1 1
Pambula.....			125 14 1	266 8 6						392 2 7		392 2 7
Parramatta School of Arts.....	41 14 1		31 9 10	67 13 6			38 13 0			179 10 5		179 10 5
Paterson School of Arts.....	8 18 2		8 2 6	19 10 4			4 11 3			41 2 3		41 2 3
Plattsburg Mechanics' Institute.....			57 16 0	19 9 6	139 19 6		31 6 8			248 11 8		248 11 8
Scone School of Arts.....	4 8 3		19 0 6	58 0 0	38 12 6		0 3 6	0 9 10		120 14 7		120 14 7
Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts.....	1,041 2 3		909 19 3	1,820 4 6	675 0 0	756 0 0	10 0 2			5,212 6 2		5,212 6 2
Sofala Literary Institute.....	0 10 1	6 0 9	5 12 3	19 19 0			5 10 0			37 12 1		37 12 1
Stroud School of Arts.....	21 2 10		22 5 2	24 10 4	10 0 0		16 6 7	2 12 0		86 16 11	65 0 0	151 16 11
Tamworth Mechanics' Institute.....	8 17 3		37 19 10	27 11 6	17 0 6	42 8 10	0 6 6	1 16 8		136 1 1	20 0 0	156 1 1
Tumut Mechanics' Institute.....	13 10 0		25 7 9	8 10 0						47 7 9		47 7 9
Tumberumba Public Library and Reading Room.....	2 1 9		32 0 0	59 6 0						93 7 9		93 7 9
Uralla School of Arts.....	5 2 1			25 16 6	6 0 0		1 7 8	5 15 2	2 14 7	46 16 0	144 4 0	191 0 0
Vegetable Creek School of Arts.....	110 18 9		19 2 0	46 15 6			3 3 0			179 19 3		179 19 3
Walcha School of Arts.....	39 9 5		22 7 4	33 17 0	37 6 6		2 2 9			135 3 0		135 3 0
Wallsend School of Arts.....		150 0 0		1,004 5 0					900 0 0	2,054 5 0		2,054 5 0
Wagga Wagga School of Arts.....			47 13 1	120 2 3	36 14 6		2 18 6		120 11 9	328 0 1		328 0 1
Waratah School of Arts.....			50 0 0	81 10 10		12 15 0	1 17 10			146 3 8		146 3 8
Warialda School of Arts.....			35 14 0	78 17 10	14 0 0		0 18 0	5 0 0		134 9 10	92 5 9	226 15 7
Wentworth Mechanics' Institute.....	28 0 10		50 0 0	232 4 7	29 0 0			6 10 0	532 10 10	878 6 3	100 0 0	978 6 3
West Maitland School of Arts.....		199 19 10	100 0 3	182 5 0	60 2 6		12 16 10	0 4 0		555 8 5		555 8 5
Wickham School of Arts.....			504 19 10	1,009 19 8	15 0 0		900 0 0		174 7 11	2,604 7 5		2,604 7 5
Windsor School of Arts.....	2 9 10		22 3 4	28 10 0	41 0 0		5 6 2			99 9 4		99 9 4
Wingham School of Arts.....	5 4 4		20 5 1	31 13 8	21 7 0	0 5 0				78 15 1		78 15 1
Woodville School of Arts.....	36 15 5		15 0 0	11 9 0	2 2 6		11 6 3		4 15 11	81 9 1		81 9 1
Wolumla School of Arts.....			75 0 0	150 0 0		3 0 0			37 0 0	265 0 0		265 0 0
Wyrallah School of Arts.....	35 18 4		8 5 0	16 10 0	1 10 0					62 3 4		62 3 4
Total.....	£ 2,818 3 5	£ 1,380 6 2	£ 4,233 10 8	£ 10,602 6 3	£ 4,809 9 11	£ 2,345 14 1	£ 3,305 0 8	£ 79 3 11	£ 3,283 18 4	£ 36,941 10 4	£ 1,373 3 0	£ 38,314 13 4

SCHOOLS OF ART, LITERARY INSTITUTES, &C., FOR THE YEAR 1883.

Expenditure.

H-066

	Overdraft 31st December, 1882.	Purchase of Books.	Buildings and Repairs.	Paid for Lectures.	Administrative Expenses.	Sundries.	Balance 31st December, 1883.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1883.	Grand Total.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Adamstown School of Arts	50 0 0	33 8 10	151 13 0	2 10 0	81 5 3	2 14 7	12 5 7	333 17 3		333 17 3
Adelong Literary Institute	15 9 7	20 11 7	60 0 0		47 8 0	30 3 4		173 12 6		173 12 6
Albury School of Arts		38 12 0	216 18 0		71 9 9	6 5 0	4 18 8	338 3 5	50 0 0	388 3 5
Anvil Creek School of Arts		15 0 0	6 0 0		10 7 0		4 1 4	35 8 4		35 8 4
Ashfield School of Arts	903 15 5	30 3 5	44 7 10		447 0 10	10 5 10		1,435 13 4		1,435 13 4
Ballina School of Arts							187 11 10	187 11 10		187 11 10
Balmain Working Men's Institute					56 5 3	396 0 0	289 4 5	741 9 8		741 9 8
Bathurst School of Arts	1,384 6 10	280 16 0	326 5 4		232 5 3	185 1 7		2,408 15 0		2,408 15 0
Bega School of Arts		101 2 11	38 5 6		117 19 5	3 0 0	104 14 5	365 2 3	100 0 0	465 2 3
Berrima School of Arts		33 12 9				20 0 8	26 12 6	80 5 11		80 5 11
Blayney School of Arts		52 11 11	225 0 0			21 7 1	23 9 7	322 8 7	489 0 0	811 8 7
Braidwood Literary Institute	33 9 2	63 17 1	4 0 0		91 15 0	45 8 3	14 14 9	253 4 3		253 4 3
Branxton Mechanics' Institute		3 5 0	10 3 0		6 12 3	0 6 10	7 0 1	27 7 2	9 0 0	36 7 2
Brewarrina School of Arts		16 1 11	920 0 0		10 7 2	0 13 7	31 15 6	978 18 2		978 18 2
Bombala School of Arts and Mechanics' Institute					133 8 0	100 0 0	138 1 10	371 9 10		371 9 10
Botany School of Arts		15 12 9	150 4 0		18 0 0	53 4 9	36 5 8	273 7 2		273 7 2
Bourke Mechanics' Institute	516 11 3	59 16 3	195 0 0		159 3 2	82 7 4		1,012 18 0		1,012 18 0
Burwood School of Arts	205 16 8	2 19 9	90 16 6		63 14 4	168 18 1		532 5 4		532 5 4
Cambewarra School of Arts					1 0 0	40 3 2	9 3 1	50 6 3	70 0 0	120 6 3
Camden School of Arts		12 17 6	22 14 5		46 5 4	2 12 4	2 4 0	86 13 7	35 0 0	121 13 7
Candelo School of Arts	35 15 9	11 1 6	41 10 0		15 10 0	67 18 6	17 5 8	189 1 5		189 1 5
Casino School of Arts	123 19 6	38 6 11	49 13 6		57 11 2	6 19 5		276 10 6		276 10 6
Charlestown Literary Institute		14 9 1			7 0 0	0 1 11	8 15 9	30 6 9		30 6 9
Clifton School of Arts		19 11 1			21 16 2		41 18 4	83 5 7		83 5 7
Cooma School of Arts	323 8 9		47 4 6		82 17 4	26 12 9		480 3 4		480 3 4
Coonamble School of Arts		82 19 8	792 7 3		125 10 3	149 4 4		1,150 1 6		1,150 1 6
Corowa School of Arts		67 19 6	25 5 7		86 3 2	41 7 6	17 10 5	238 6 2		238 6 2
Cowra School of Arts							8 10 2	8 10 2		8 10 2
Cundletown School of Arts	24 16 11	16 4 6	30 1 0		21 6 1		2 7 5	94 15 11		94 15 11
Cudal School of Arts	244 0 5	30 0 0	6 0 0		15 0 0	30 6 5		325 6 10		325 6 10
Deniliquin School of Arts		68 10 11	350 0 0		120 0 0	17 3 4		555 14 3		555 14 3
Denman School of Arts		47 6 0	1 0 0		24 6 3		21 18 8	94 10 11		94 10 11
Dubbo Mechanics' Institute		100 19 3	26 7 0		50 0 0	29 18 5	18 7 4	225 12 0		225 12 0
Dungog School of Arts			55 17 3		38 7 9	3 8 0	59 12 7	157 5 7		157 5 7
East Maitland School of Arts		32 5 4	4 0 0	0 15 0	26 0 0	38 17 4	126 6 10	228 4 6		228 4 6
Forbes School of Arts		30 10 9			136 2 5		31 14 8	198 7 10		198 7 10
Glen Innes School of Arts					15 2 0		0 12 0	15 14 0		15 14 0
Gosford Literary Institute	765 13 7	179 19 5	650 5 7		257 12 9	199 18 11		2,053 10 3		2,053 10 3
Grafton School of Arts		22 11 5		63 0 0	65 0 0	163 5 6	20 11 8	334 8 7		334 8 7
Grafton (South) School of Arts		16 7 0	62 7 0		9 16 0	0 2 8	3 16 8	92 9 4		92 9 4
Gundagai School of Arts		21 0 4			11 0 0	1 1 8	16 11 7	49 13 7		49 13 7
Gunnedah School of Arts	244 12 1	12 3 6	102 7 6		79 8 7	19 9 0		458 0 8		458 0 8

EXPENDITURE in Schools of Art, &c.—continued.

	Overdraft, 31st December, 1882.	Purchase of Books.	Buildings and Repairs.	Paid for Lectures.	Administrative Expenses.	Sundries.	Balance, 31st December, 1883.	Total Current Account.	Fixed Deposit, 31st December, 1883.	Grand Total.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Hay Athenæum .....		86 3 4	10 7 6		78 0 0	37 6 5	36 5 3	248 2 6		248 2 6
Hinton School of Arts .....		2 14 6	41 1 10		11 3 0	17 11 2	41 0 11	113 11 5		113 11 5
Lambton School of Arts .....		32 5 9	3 6 0		67 12 4	1 11 3	25 2 1	129 17 5		129 17 5
Largs School of Arts .....			2 19 0			58 7 5	137 19 7	199 6 0		199 6 0
Lismore School of Arts .....	26 7 8	12 3 0	41 12 0		20 10 6	1 2 9		101 15 11	136 8 7	238 4 6
Merriwa School of Arts .....	7 6 1	13 2 6			33 11 7	0 15 7	23 13 8	78 9 5		78 9 5
Milton School of Arts .....		21 17 9	2 15 6	0 12 0	40 5 10	49 17 7	19 13 1	135 1 9		135 1 9
Molong School of Arts .....	43 12 3	23 6 6	9 16 0		41 3 5	131 4 6	22 13 4	271 16 0		271 16 0
Morpeth School of Arts .....			18 0 0	3 6 0	46 18 6	0 10 0	22 7 5	91 1 11		91 1 11
Mount Pleasant School of Arts .....		19 2 0			1 9 4	1 5 9	18 18 3	40 15 4		40 15 4
Moruya School of Arts .....	121 12 0	8 13 1	87 1 0		63 2 10	2 0 4		282 9 3		282 9 3
Mudgee School of Arts .....		33 11 6			50 0 0	92 2 9	81 10 0	257 4 3		257 4 3
Newcastle School of Arts .....	243 13 9	246 12 0	147 16 10		131 2 9	74 11 4		843 16 8	530 7 10	1,374 4 6
Newcastle (Burwood) School of Arts .....		76 12 0	112 10 0		30 13 9		40 16 0	260 11 9		260 11 9
Orange Mechanics' Institute .....	1,385 15 4	45 2 11	118 13 0		271 18 0	3 11 10		1,825 1 1		1,825 1 1
Pambula School of Arts .....			275 0 0			115 0 0		390 0 0	2 2 7	392 2 7
Parramatta School of Arts .....		44 17 6		45 12 0	67 6 4	16 9 9	5 4 10	179 10 5		179 10 5
Paterson School of Arts .....		12 8 8			16 18 2	1 19 7	9 15 10	41 2 3		41 2 3
Plattsburg Mechanics' Institute .....	9 16 5	76 19 7	85 3 7		32 12 1		44 0 0	248 11 8		248 11 8
Scone School of Arts .....	28 15 1		20 0 0		71 19 6			120 14 7		120 14 7
Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts .....		1,066 19 10	184 15 6	21 7 0	2,051 3 7	1,501 0 10	386 19 5	5,212 6 2		5,212 6 2
Sofala Literary Institute .....		11 16 6			8 14 1	10 0 0	7 1 6	37 12 1		37 12 1
Stroud School of Arts .....		37 17 0			19 11 3	5 3 0	24 5 8	86 16 11	65 0 0	151 16 11
Tamworth Mechanics' Institute .....		51 0 7	2 8 0		70 9 1	6 4 7	25 18 10	156 1 1		156 1 1
Tumut Mechanics' Institute .....						34 1 6	13 6 3	47 7 9		47 7 9
Tumberumba Public Library and Reading-room .....		40 2 9			5 0 0	23 13 0	24 12 0	93 7 9		93 7 9
Uralla School of Arts .....		18 5 5	6 0 0		6 8 8	10 6 9		41 0 10	149 19 2	191 0 0
Vegetable Creek School of Arts .....		15 0 3	8 11 0		57 15 6	1 11 3	97 1 3	179 19 3		179 19 3
Walcha School of Arts .....		22 2 6	48 4 0		49 18 6	13 10 11	1 7 1	135 3 0		135 3 0
Wallsend School of Arts .....	1,400 0 0	20 0 0	110 0 0		350 15 0	173 10 0		2,054 5 0		2,054 5 0
Wagga Wagga School of Arts .....	146 17 7	57 12 3	19 19 8		83 9 10	19 0 0	1 0 9	328 0 1		328 0 1
Waratah School of Arts .....	1 13 9	20 0 0	1 11 9		76 6 1	17 14 6	28 17 7	146 3 8		146 3 8
Warialda School of Arts .....		42 13 4			25 3 10	28 2 6	33 10 2	129 9 10	97 5 9	226 15 7
Wentworth Mechanics' Institute .....		39 0 2	905 0 0		10 8 0	23 18 1		978 6 3		978 6 3
West Maitland School of Arts .....	72 9 3	86 6 5	39 8 3		133 7 3	114 13 8	109 3 7	555 8 5		555 8 5
Wickham School of Arts .....	1,029 0 11	211 4 6	983 15 7	18 0 0	142 1 0	220 5 5		2,604 7 5		2,604 7 5
Windsor School of Arts .....		30 19 9	5 17 3		37 3 9		25 8 7	99 9 4		99 9 4
Wingham School of Arts .....		36 3 9	6 0 0		14 17 4	11 13 9	10 0 3	78 15 1		78 15 1
Woodville School of Arts .....		6 19 8			3 0 0	71 9 5		81 9 1		81 9 1
Wolumla School of Arts .....			265 0 0					265 0 0		265 0 0
Wyrallah School of Arts .....		28 18 8				7 14 0	25 10 8	62 3 4		62 3 4
Total .....	9,388 16 0	4,191 11 9	8,268 7 0	155 2 0	7,081 16 7	4,863 9 3	2,631 6 10	36,580 9 5	1,734 3 11	38,314 13 4

[1s. 9d.]

Sydney: Thomas Richards, Government Printer.—1884.

1883.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

NAUTICAL SCHOOL SHIP "VERNON."

(ANNUAL REPORT.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Superintendent, N.S.S. "Vernon," to The Under-Secretary of Public Instruction.

Sir,

Nautical School Ship "Vernon," Sydney, 4 August, 1883.

I have the honor to submit the usual Annual Report of the Institution under my charge, for the year ended the 30th June, 1883.

2. A quiet, uneventful year offers me little matter for report, so far as the ship is concerned. The Institution has peacefully travelled through its sixteenth year of existence, undisturbed by internal troubles of any kind. The staff of officers remains almost unchanged from its composition last year, and they continue to afford me the same cheerful assistance to which I have alluded in previous Reports. Willingly giving up portions of their own time, limited as that time must necessarily be, when the comfort or well-being of the inmates would be served by their so doing,—preparing and delivering lectures on subjects suited to the boys' comprehension, and entering generally into the scheme of rewarding for good conduct and deprivation of privileges for misconduct, laid down as the system upon which the lads are trained,—they have in no slight measure raised the tone of the boys and contributed towards the healthy morale now prevailing. I gladly avail myself of this, which seems a fitting occasion, to bring their conduct under the notice of the Minister. Officers performing their duties in a merely perfunctory manner are worse than useless in establishments of this kind, and form a fatal bar to success.

3. The sanitary condition of the vessel continues to be satisfactory. The cases under treatment during the entire twelve months were made up as follows:—Low fever, three; ophthalmia, fourteen; rheumatism, one; heart disease (chronic), one; chronic disease of the urinary organs, one; skin eruptions, six; epileptic fits, one; gastric irritation, three; exhaustion through want of nourishment, two; pneumonia, one; wounds, two. Six of the boys under treatment for ophthalmia arrived on board ill from that complaint; two of them had entirely lost the sight of one eye each, and the disease spread very quickly to eight others, but within four weeks the complaint was quite stamped out, and no recurrence of it has taken place since March last. The epileptic boy, who was also an imbecile, was sent to the Newcastle Asylum. Most of the other cases mentioned were contracted on shore prior to arrival, including the two boys suffering respectively from heart disease and disease of the urinary organs. These latter arrived on board suffering from disease, and appear to be incurable, as both have been under hospital treatment ashore, and have been returned to the ship just as bad as when they left it. Those referred to as suffering from want of nourishment and who were also suffering from ophthalmia were found wandering about in the country half starved and sent here. Under treatment they soon recovered and are now quite well. Their father is in gaol serving a sentence of two years. No deaths have occurred during the year, and the list of sick, as will have been seen, is but a slight one, although the number of boys on board has been considerably greater than in any preceding period of like duration. Altogether 328 lads have at one time or other been inmates of the Institution during the twelve months. It may not be out of place to point out, as evidence of the healthiness of life like this for boys, that, notwithstanding the unwholesome condition in which many of the lads arrive, only one death has taken place in a period of eight years, viz., that of a boy who arrived on board suffering from advanced disease of the heart, of which he died. At the present time we have 216 on board, and (with the exception of the two chronic cases before mentioned, who are however not laid up and who attend school, &c.) a clean bill of health.

4. The admissions and discharges have each been more numerous than in any preceding year. The discharges will be referred to later on. The admissions amount to 140, 122 of which are new committals; five are re-admissions from Biloela, to which place they had been temporarily sent until they attained a certain age; three have been removed from masters who were not properly fulfilling the conditions of contract; contract; five have been returned from the "Wolverene" for the purpose of being discharged to their relatives; and five have been returned for alleged misconduct and other reasons. Most are sent from Sydney, and the following list shows the committing Benches:—

Sydney Courts.
Water Police .....	41		Central Police..... 37
Suburban Courts.
Redfern .....	3		Newtown .....
Country Courts.
Bathurst .....	9		Kempsey .....
Brewarrina .....	4		Maitland .....
Buckley's Crossing .....	2		Newcastle .....
Deniliquin.....	2		Tamworth .....
Goulburn .....	1		Urana.....
Glen Innes.....	1		Walcha .....
Grafton.....	2		Young.....
Gulgong.....	2

5. Amongst the boys on board no grave misconduct has taken place, and their behaviour generally has been such as not to cause me any uneasiness. Recruited as we are from amongst those whom their fathers and mothers declare to be utterly beyond control, from the incorrigibles of other Institutions, and at all times numbering in our ranks lads of tender age, who have been five and six times convicted of various crimes before being sent here, it might be imagined that disorder and wrong-doing would occur pretty frequently on board, but so far from this being the case the very opposite prevails. I have always found new-comers, no matter how bad their antecedents, amenable to discipline and disposed to copy the example of those who have been a longer time on board and who have attained a certain preferment simply by reason of their own good conduct. Of course a certain amount of impatience at restraint is manifest amongst recruits for a period, varying more or less in its duration with the age and disposition of the boy, but this is only naturally to be expected from youngsters who have been used to what may be termed "the savage liberty of the pavements" up to, in many cases, an advanced age, and who now, for the first time, experience control, and that of a sharp kind. I have, as a rule, found that the boys who most strongly resent this interference with their liberty turn out ultimately our best successes, not only on board but after they leave. I have not so much faith in boys who tell me, upon arrival, that they like being sent on the "Vernon." Few boys now come here who have not been convicted of at least one offence prior to being apprehended under the Industrial Schools Act, and the ship has practically become a Reformatory, inasmuch as its business of late years has been to a large extent directed to dealing with young criminals or the associates of criminals. Rarely from Sydney do we obtain a "destitute" child in the ordinary acceptation of the term, but from the country occasionally a few are sent who have not been apprehended for any criminal offence but who have been found deserted, or have been locked up for protection in consequence of their parents being in gaol. The boys sent from the country are more trouble than all the rest put together. For the most part they present an uncouth, uncivilized demeanour for some time after arrival, are dirty in their habits, and have the smallest idea of keeping themselves or their clothes clean or tidy, and are very slow at acquiring any useful information either in school or elsewhere. This is attributable to the fact that only the worst and most neglected come here, but when, in addition, they arrive on board suffering from disease (five were sent suffering from ophthalmia) the officers find their duties considerably augmented.

6. In view of the large amount of attention now being given to the question of dealing with juvenile offenders and destitute children, it may not prove uninteresting to look back upon the work done by the "Vernon." The Institution is now in the seventeenth year of its existence, and a fair idea can therefore be gained as to the merits of its particular system and the success attained. In some respects the Industrial Schools Act, under which this vessel has its present being, differs from those in other parts of the world, notably in two important particulars: the age at which boys leave the Institution, which is here much younger, and the period of detention. The large majority of lads are only kept on board for twelve months and are then apprenticed out until the age of eighteen, so that as a matter of fact the time spent on board is but comparatively small, the greater portion of the period for which the State acts to them in loco parentis, being passed at service in various occupations. The conditions under which boys are apprenticed are that they be found in food, clothing, lodging, bedding, and all other things suitable and needful, that proper attention be paid to their moral and physical necessities, and that they be regularly sent to school (if under fourteen) until they attain the age of fourteen, or if over fourteen, their master must guarantee that the boys will be encouraged to improve themselves in their education. In addition, wages are paid them at the rate of 1s. weekly during the first year (if they are twelve years old), and this rises by yearly increases to 6s. or 7s. 6d. weekly the last year. This rate of pay is made higher in the cases of older boys. To show the demand for apprentices under these conditions, I may state that I have now sufficient applications, undisposed of, to absorb all the boys likely to be available for the next two years. The conditions introduced at the commencement of January last, that boys under fourteen should be regularly sent to school, forms no bar to our boys under that age being apprenticed. Before touching upon the manner in which apprentices from here have behaved when away from the ship, I would desire to adduce some specimens of the raw material upon which we have to work, in order that it may be clearly understood what is the nature of the reformatory process as carried out on the "Vernon." These cases are not by any means the very worst.

- (I.) Of W—s, a country lad, aged eleven, the following particulars are given in the Record Sheet forwarded with him from the Court which committed him. This boy is not classed as a criminal, being sent for having no visible lawful means of support. Religion—unknown; he states he remembers the parson and being taught catechism at Roma (Queensland). Education—seems to know letters but cannot read. Character—Mr. H. J., a carrier, says he could do nothing with him. J. C., stockman, states he took him from the last person, and gives the boy a very bad character; he says, "it would be quite impossible for any one to keep him." The boy arrived here suffering severely from bad, sore eyes.

(II.)

- (II.) Four sent from Brewarrina, all suffering severely from ophthalmia, (one has one of his eyes quite destroyed, another has one eye gone, and can only partially see with the other) Very filthy in their habits until recently—they are now free from disease.
- (III.) A boy from Sydney arrived here three days ago, charged with "wandering about the streets in no occupation." He is fourteen years of age, and when ordered to be sent on board by Mr. Clarke at the Central Police Court behaved as follows: "When leaving the Court, on his way to the lock-up, the prisoner's mother went to speak to him, and he struck her on the face with his fist, and also used an obscene expression to his father—(S. M. Herald). Prior to this he had been guilty of stealing, frequenting the company of thieves, riotous behaviour, stone-throwing, and sleeping out at night. He is now inclined to be sulky and pooh-pooh the arrangements on board, but I have no doubt that a week or two in "No. 7" class will effect a change.
- (IV.) Three brothers sent on board at different times:—(A.) Of A., aged eight, the following report is taken from the newspaper:—"Sent on board the 'Vernon,' * * The lad when of age is entitled to about £600, and was found in King-street, Sydney, using obscene language. On him were found several half-crowns and shilling pieces. Amongst his collection was a meerschaum pipe, with a knife and tobacco, and when arrested he used the most foul and abusive language to the constable." This boy for some time has been receiving good conduct pay on board; he is now between nine and ten years of age. He had been three times apprehended. B. His brother has also been sent here, who had the following list of charges to his account prior to coming on board,—1. Gambling in Pitt-street (kept in Court until its rising); 2. Summons to Water Police Court for throwing stones (10s. or four days); 3. Stealing hats from a draper's shop (Remanded for four days, then 10s. fine or four days); 4. Throwing stones (let off); 5. Stealing from a shop in George-street (discharged); 6. Found sleeping out at night in the Haymarket (sent here). Strange as it may seem, this child was only nine years of age upon arrival. This boy has also a good character, and rates as a "good conduct," for which he receives pay. (C.) Another brother, aged ten and a half, has also been an inmate of the Institution, with as bad if not worse character ashore.
- (V.) Another boy, aged thirteen, sent here for wandering about the streets, &c., in September last. Had been charged:—1. Stealing handkerchiefs; 2. Burglary at a house in Fitzroy-street, in company with five other boys, and making off with a quantity of plate (he got a month in Darlinghurst for this); 3. Running away from home (away a week, during which time he obtained a living by stealing); 4. Stealing money from a till; 5. Riotous behaviour; 6. Stealing money from a house in Riley-street (for this last offence he was imprisoned until the rising of the Court, and then a charge laid against him under the Industrial Schools Act, by which he was at length removed from the streets). Record-sheet states "no education."
- (VI.) Of five others recently sent on board, the Herald has the following (all these had been previously convicted):—"Five lads, the eldest of whom was about fifteen years of age, the youngest but eleven years, were yesterday brought before Mr. Crane in the Central Police Court, on a charge of having stolen sixty bags, to which charge they pleaded guilty, and were imprisoned for a couple or three hours in order that, in the interim, they could be charged under the Industrial Schools Act. Being brought up on a charge under that Act, they pleaded not guilty and were remanded. The history of the five lads disclosed a state of affairs little dreamt of by those who associate innocence and all the virtues with childhood, and whose idea of a child is confined to the dainty little men and women of the juvenile ball or picnic. One of the lads told his tale. 'Me and this 'ere cove (a child of thirteen) was at the theayter, when as we come out we met another cove as tells us that the other coves was round with some girls at Merloney's. We goes round and we climbs up a wall and creeps up into Merloney's through a place where a board was broke. There was five of us coves and three girls 'bout the same age as we was. The girls told us where the bags was and how we could git 'em. We slept there all night, boys and girls. Next morning us and the girls went round and took the bags. Three of us coves sold 'em—two lots for 5s. each and one lot for 6s. 6d. We give the girls some of the money. We spent ours in 'bacca, cakes, cigarettes, and matches. One of the girls got two months for shaking £2. The girls they split on us and that's how the D.s (detectives) got us. 'Spose if I have to go on the "Vernon" I have to go.' The lads, none of whom were over the age of fifteen, had deserted their homes, and had associated with thieves, and lived in sheds and cellars." I am glad to state that after a little trouble at first, these lads soon settled down and are now all ranked in the "good conduct list." On several occasions they have been through Sydney with me for recreation, and have invariably behaved well.
- (VII.) J. S., aged eleven, sent here in October—the Record Sheet forwarded with him from the Police Court states:—"No education—two brothers had formerly been sent on 'Vernon.' Father deserted his family; mother is a prostitute and a drunkard, at present undergoing two months in gaol. The mother and her four children lately resided in Ashton-court, off Sussex-street, and kept a brothel, which was frequented by thieves, prostitutes, and vagrants."
- (VIII.) F. M., a diminutive urchin said to be nearly eleven, but who appears much younger, arrived in February last, was apprehended for theft, imprisoned until the rising of the Court, and then sent on board, under the fresh charge of being found in company with thieves. Prior to this had been four times before the Bench.
- (IX.) Of W. N., sent here in March last, appears the following:—"Aged thirteen years, on a charge of having been found on the premises of Charles Steenson for the purpose of committing a felony, was sentenced to be imprisoned until the rising of the Court. He was also charged with being found wandering in the company of reputed thieves. The lad had previously been convicted at the Court for stealing, and at the Quarter Sessions for being concerned in horse-stealing." Had served five months in gaol.
- (X.) Another child, born 5 April, 1870, before being sent here had the following list:—1. Stealing money from a butcher's shop in Surry Hills (six boys watched until the man temporarily left the shop, when they decamped with the till.) 2. Stole a till from a grocer's shop in a similar similar manner. 3. Running away from home (discharged). 4. Stealing money from a 'bus (he jumped up behind a passing 'bus, collected the fares and made off). 5. Found with reputed thieves and finally sent here. This was a most expert thief, and had stolen an incredible quantity of articles from shops.

Many more cases of a similar nature could be given, but these will prove sufficient to show the kind of material with which we have to deal. It is only fair that these facts should be made known, in order that they may be duly considered when comparisons as to cost, &c., are drawn between this and other Institutions where this class of boys is not received.

7. I would now, in carrying out the idea proposed at the commencement of paragraph 6, show how the boys, a fair sample of whose course of life before coming under the "Vernon" system has been given, behave when serving their apprenticeship away from the ship. Since inauguration, in May, 1867, 1,270 boys have entered. Of these 9 have died on board or in hospital, 208 are now on board, and the remainder, 1,053, have been apprenticed or otherwise discharged. The greater bulk of those apprenticed have long since served their term of service, but 270 are now under indentures in various parts of the Colony. Of the conduct of these during the last year I have recently obtained reports from their masters furnishing information upon this head, which enables me to summarize the results as follows:—

Receiving good characters	...	...	...	...	235
" indifferent characters and absconded	...	...	...	...	14
Cancelled indentures	..	...	...	...	10
Removed from unsuitable places	...	...	...	...	5
No reports to present time	...	...	...	...	10

Of those absconding, two it is alleged by their masters were enticed away from places where they were doing well by their relatives; of those whose indentures were cancelled, five received good characters and were only returned to the ship for the purpose of being discharged to their relatives, whose applications for release had been granted. The "no reports" have been referred to the Inspector-General of Police for inquiry. The result of this inquiry will no doubt swell the number of "goods," as has been the case in preceding years. Last year, for example, out of twenty-three "no reports" referred to the police, it was found upon inquiry that twenty-one were doing well and living comfortably with their respective employers. From the number of letters from masters recently received I extract the following, which no doubt will be the best evidences of the manner in which the training on board of the "Vernon" has operated in dealing with the more vicious from among the children of the State. The originals of these letters are on board and producible at any time. Names and places are omitted, but otherwise the copies are correctly taken from the originals:—

A well-known Magistrate writes as follows:—

Dear Sir,

12 March, 1883.

With reference to the boy J. M'C. I am very glad to have the same good account to give of him that I have hitherto given, a clever, useful, and obedient lad, and I have no hesitation in saying that he will make a good farm-servant, as he is now able to do (in proportion to his strength) a little of everything that is done on the property. To use his own words, "it was a lucky day he saw the 'Vernon.'" In consideration of his good behaviour and industrious habits, I have promised to give him a cow and calf when his time expires. I also believe he intends to re-engage with me for a further period. I have only had an opportunity of paying £8 to his credit in the Dungog Savings Bank, but intend going into town in a few days, when I will then pay up the balance; any small sum that he may lose by way of interest will be more than compensated for by my having given him some small sums of money from time to time without charge. I may remark that from my experience (thirty years) in dealing with men and boys of all shades of character, I have come to the conclusion that to gather boys from such sources as the ones on board the "Vernon" are taken from and place them at first sight on what some people would call a model farm would lead to nothing short of a failure and a disappointment; the facilities for escape and the many opportunities of coming in contact with the outer world would all tend to leave a hankering after their old haunts and habits, whereas by putting them into such an Institution as the "Vernon" for one year or more would have the effect (as I have found) of effectually extinguishing all hopes and desires of returning to their old habits after they go through a probationary course on board; and if you could not find suitable masters, then it might be well to place some of them on some such farm, but my own opinion is that after they go through their probation the less they are herded together the better.

G.S.W.

May, 1883.

Dear Capt. Neitenstein,

I return you the letters you sent me to read, and I must certainly congratulate you upon the thorough manner in which you have reformed M'G. Had he not been sent on board the "Vernon" the probabilities are that he would have been a criminal all his days, instead of which he is now a useful and respectable member of society.

The boy A. R. refuses to leave my service, and states that "if forced to return to his father he will run away." He is a good little fellow, intelligent, truthful, honest, and affectionate, and I would not like to see him thrown into temptation again.

H.J.T.

Dear Sir,

May, 1883.

I have to apologise for not having answered your last letter, in reference to my apprentice W. S.; but having been away in the country I did not get it till my return yesterday; as my movements were so uncertain, I ordered my letters to be detained. The boy seems very happy and contented. Mrs. Evans has promised to apply for his sister if she bears a good character, and whose time is up in May, to join him. His principal duties are driving and riding; he has a great fancy for horses, and is one of the best-tempered lads I ever met in my life. Of course I allow him pocket money every week. I have not gone through the Government accounts lately, but will do so directly, as I shall not be so busy, and arrange everything that is in arrear.

J. H. L. E.

P.S.—I have told Simmons that he can have all the day on the 24th, Queen's birthday, and that if you would allow him he could spend the day with his brother.

Sir,

3rd March, 1883.

In reply to your inquiry respecting my apprentice, I am glad to inform you that he is giving general satisfaction; he is careful and painstaking, and I have no doubt will make a good member of society. There are seven pounds sterling to his credit in the Post Office Savings Bank, Terrara.

T. R.

Sir,

28th March, 1883.

Referring to your letter of the 22nd February, regarding my apprentice, J. R., I can report favourably; he has conducted himself remarkably well; he is a right good useful lad, and is willing to learn the dairy farming business. I have placed to his credit this year three pounds eight shillings, which makes a total sum of £6 to his credit. I have requested the lad to write to you—he is a very poor writer. He is growing a fine strong healthy lad.

J. W.

Sir,

March 31st, 1883.

The boy M'cD. has been doing very well with me since last report. He is now serving his last year. He is become a very good labourer, and is well able to get his own living, and I shall request him to come on board the "Vernon" to see you when he comes to Sydney, after expiration of his apprenticeship. For bank account see last report.

J. H. B.

Dear

Dear Capt. Neitenstein,

When may I hope to have my new apprentice? I do not want to hurry you, but there are certain little household duties which have to be attended to in our family, and F., I can see he thinks himself almost too old to have to do them. F. is going on very well, and seems anxious to make up for his late misbehaviour. I have redeemed his watch which was in pawn for £2, interest at the rate of cent. per cent. The money obtained for it when pledged the father had, and spent in drink. Leonard was at our Sunday School on Saturday. He seems to be a willing lad, and I hear he is giving satisfaction. He comes to the Parsonage occasionally to see F. and amuses himself with him.

G. S.

Dear Sir,

I have much pleasure in stating to you that my apprentice, C. K., is getting on as well as I could wish, and has very good health; as well his money up to last November amounts to £27 1s. 8d.

March 27th, 1883.

C. H.

Sir,

In reply to your circular memo. of the 9th March, I have much pleasure in stating that my apprentice, D. G., has conducted himself very satisfactorily during his time of service with me. Last Christmas he spent with father at Balmain and should have called on you.

12th April, 1883.

E. H. B.

Dear Sir,

I received your letter of the 8th instant, with reference to my apprenticed boy A.T.H. I have the honor, sir, to state for your information that he is a very good boy and doing very well. I have placed to his credit in the Bank ten pounds seven shillings and eight-pence (£10 7s. 8d.) I have laid your request before the boy for him to write to you.

March 21, 1883.

W.B.

Dear Sir,

As you wish to know how the boy behaves, he is a very good boy indeed—a very steady, quiet, and well-behaved boy. I have put £5 3s. (five pounds three shillings) in the Burrawang Bank for him.

16 April, 1883.

T.M.

Sir,

During the time A.M., my apprentice, has been in my service his conduct has been good. 2nd. Seven pounds ten shillings (£7 10s.) is deposited in Savings' Bank in his name. For last twelve months he has been receiving his wages in full. I have requested him to write you. It is very probable that he will be in Sydney with me in July next; if so, I shall be most happy to take him to see you.

19/4/83.

A. M'G.

Dear Sir,

I have to inform you that I am very well pleased with B.'s conduct during his stay with me. He is not what you could call a bright lad—in fact at times I fancy he is a little queer in his head—but I think he is anxious to do his best. At the date of your communication he had £8 4s. 5d. to his credit with the Savings' Bank.

28/3/83.

P.D.B.

Sir,

In reply to your circular respecting my apprentice P.J. M'C., I beg to state that he is doing very well and giving me every satisfaction. I have paid to his credit at Commercial Bank, Albany, up to date, the sum of £12.

7 June, 1883.

J.R.

Sir,

I am happy to say that my apprentice A.A. is quite well and giving every satisfaction. I have paid into the Savings' Bank the sum of £3 1s. (three pounds one shilling) to his credit.

23 February, 1883.

M.A. M'E.

Sir,

In reply to your circular memo. of the 9th March, I have much pleasure in stating that my apprentice D.G. has conducted himself very satisfactorily during his term of service with me. Last Christmas he spent with his father at Balmain, and should have called on you. I have paid his wages annually at the Bank, but not having the book cannot say what amount is to his credit. He has not drawn any out as yet.

12 April, 1883.

E.H.B.

Dear Sir,

I am very sorry you had to send two letters to me respecting the boy; it was through my illness I neglected answering them sooner, which I hope will not occur again. I have now deposited £22 as money paid by me in full in the Bank up to the 10th of April.

17 April, 1883.

D.W.

Dear Sir,

I have much pleasure in stating to you that my apprentice C.F. is getting on as well as I could wish, and has very good health as well. His money up to last November amounts to £27 1s. 8d.

C.H.

Dear Sir,

Walter intended to go up and see you all. Walter is a very good boy indeed; I have no fault to find with him. I am going to give him six months' schooling while I am away for a trip.

13 May, 1883.

T.B.

Sir,

In reply beg to say that I can give a good report of my apprentice boys. S.H. is on a station near Walgett with my son. I have written to him to send you the information required, which I feel sure will be a good report. As to G.C., he has also turned out well; he tells me he wrote to you several times. His time expires, I think, next month, but intends remaining with me another year, at an increase of pay. He will have saved some £16 or over. I would feel obliged if you would put my name on the list for another apprentice, as I will require one to take C.'s place when he goes to other work, after the 10th April, when his time expires. I will then pay him and inform you the amount he has.

2 March, 1883.

J.K.M.

Sir,

I beg to inform you that the boy has conducted himself well during the time he has been in my service. I am well pleased with him; also I have paid into Copeland Savings' Bank the sum of £15 12s., as three years' wages.

12 June, 1883.

C.A.J.

Sir,

He has conducted himself very well since he has been in my service; he is progressing very favourably in everything.

14 March, 1883.

J. S.

Dear Sir,

In answer to your letter, I have to state that the boy R. D. C. is both good and willing.

19 Feb., 1883.

T. D.

Sir,

I have much pleasure in stating for your information that my apprentice, on the whole, has conducted himself remarkably well, in fact much better than I could have expected under the circumstances; also that there is at present in the Bank to his credit the sum of six pounds five shillings and one penny (£6 5s. 1d.)

2 March, 1883.

W. H. A.

Dear Sir,

J. H. is well, and I am pleased to say he has conducted himself well; he is a good and quiet boy. He will write to you in the course of the week.

J. W. S.

Sir,

- Sir, I have no reason to complain of the conduct of my apprentice, H. B., and that the sum of five pounds (£5) has been lodged to his credit in the Government Savings' Bank, as portions of wages due. 17 May, 1883.
M. F.
- Dear Sir, I am pleased to say he has been a very good boy; he seems very happy and contented. 19 April, 1883.
J. W. H.
- Dear Sir, He is a very obedient good boy; his behaviour is good. I have deposited £1 in the Paterson Bank. 8 May, 1883.
C. M.
- Sir, I beg to state that my "Vernon" boy has conducted himself very well, and he has £7 8s. to his credit in the Savings' Bank, which is his wages at the end of the present month, April. 14 April, 1883.
W. S.
- Dear Sir, He is a very good well-behaved boy; I have no fault to find with him; he appears quite contented. 3 April, 1883.
M. H.
- Sir, In reply to your request with regard to my apprentice, A. M., I am happy to say he is going on pretty well; he has £2 10s. in the Savings' Bank; I put his wages in every quarter. 21 March, 1883.
A. F.
- Dear Sir, I have placed to the credit of my apprentice, R. C., in the Bank the sum of £7 16s. The boy is getting on well so far, and is growing tall. 26 March, 1883.
J. F.
- Dear Sir, The boy W. behaves generally well: he has to his credit in the Government Savings' Bank £7 5s., being the amount due to him up to March 14th of present year, less 11s., which he had in cash. I would deem it a favour if you would let me know when another boy could be got. 16 March, 1883.
F. A. H.
- Sir, The apprentice you sent me, E. A. C., has conducted himself in a creditable manner. I like him well; he is a good boy. 1 March, 1883.
J. W.
- Sir, My "Vernon" boy, D. T. O'B. is conducting himself very well, and is contented and happy. I have paid to his credit into the Savings' Bank, Bodalla, £2 for wages; the balance he has drawn. 26 Feb., 1883.
M. H.
- Sir, I am very well pleased with the boy. I have paid £3 into the Bank to his credit. 28 Feb., 1883.
T. W.
- Sir, I have great pleasure in informing you that my apprentice, J. W., has behaved himself to my satisfaction up to this date. Feb., 1883.
W. B.
- Sir, G. B. behaves himself very well; he is a docile and willing boy, and generally attentive to instruction. I have also to inform you that the sum of two pounds stg. has been paid to his credit. 27 Feb., 1883.
A. D. B.
- Dear Sir, He has given me no cause for complaint, and I believe that as he steadies with age he will be a credit to me as well as himself. There is at present 20s. to his credit at the Government Savings' Bank, Mittagong, which is something in advance of his contract wages. The boy seems very pleased at the idea of having money of his own. 16 April, 1883.
W.S.M.
- Sir, The boy has suited me up to the present time. He has three years' wages in the Bank. He has drawn no money. I have always found him in pocket money. When his time is done he will have all his wages; then he will come down and see you. 15 May, 1883.
W.B.
- Sir, In reply to yours of the 10th instant, re my apprentices, I beg to inform you that they are both getting on well. 19 April, 1883.
W.F.
- Sir, My apprentice has conducted himself well while under my supervision. The money deposited in the Bank in his name is £7 12s. I will deposit the arrears as well as this year's wages in the Bank at my earliest convenience. I will cause the lad to write soon. He has been attending a Sunday and Evening Schools. 17 March, 1883.
J.L.
- Dear Sir, The lad C.J.T. has conducted himself very well since he has been in my service. 5 March, 1883.
J.B.
- Sir, I am happy to tell you that J.L. is getting a good boy, progressing every day. Many thanks to you for the boy and the Secretary, as he is very useful for me. 24 February, 1883.
D.B.
- Sir, I beg to state for your information that the boy has conducted himself very well. He enjoys good health. 21 February, 1883.
P.C.
- Dear Sir, The boy R. M'C. that I have from your Institution has conducted himself very well since he has been in my service, and I have placed to his credit in the Savings' Bank, Broughton Creek, the sum of £2. I also requested him to write to you. 21 February, 1883.
J.B.W.
- Sir, I have had no reason to complain of the conduct of my apprentice during the time he has been in my service. £10 have been deposited in the Savings' Bank, Sydney, to his credit. The lad has been instructed to write you as requested. 15 February, 1883.
M.F.
- Dear Sir, R.W. is doing very well. He can do any work on a farm now, and I send him to Sunday School on Sundays. About his wages, he has never drawn any of it; he is saving it to make a start in life when he leaves me. When he needs any money I give it to him, as I think pocket-money only learns boys to smoke and use it wrong. The 2nd June, when he is with me two years, he will have nearly £8 saved. The boy will write to you. 21 February, 1883.
J.M.
- Sir, Our apprentices have conducted themselves very well. W.H. (whose time expires on the 21st) had £9 8s. to his credit in the Savings' Bank, Moree, on the 23rd May, 1881. 12 March, 1883.
E.P.
- Sir,

Sir, My apprentice has given entire satisfaction during the time he has been in my service. 27 February, 1883.
D.C.

Sir, I have to say that he is a well behaved and willing boy. 16 April, 1883.
E.C.

Sir, I beg to report favourably of both, the lads on the whole conducting themselves satisfactory. 14 March, 1883.
F.S.

My dear Sir, 28 July, 1883.

H. will write you himself. He has £14 10s. to his credit up to 30 June last, and is behaving himself very well indeed and is attentive to his work. I wrote to you some months ago asking for another boy, and had a reply saying that the demand was greater than the supply. If any ready now would be glad to get one. J.K.M.K.

When no reports have been received to my circular the matter has been referred to the police, and the following two specimens will show the nature of such inquiries:—

“Senior-constable Coveney, No. 1348, reports for the information of his Superintendent that he saw the boy P.J. on the 9th instant, and he informed the senior-constable that he was well treated and would write to head-quarters. The senior-constable did not see his master, Mr. R., until to-day, and he then informed the senior-constable that the boy was well conducted and that there was the sum of £12 in the Commercial Bank to his credit.
“ R. COVENEY,
“ 21st June, 1883.”

“Senior-constable Monow respectfully reports that he has visited the residence of Mr. T., and he informs the senior-constable that the lad T. M. C. is a very good boy, and is well conducted, and that he has deposited in the P. O. Savings' Bank, as wages, £7 16s., and that twelve months is now due, which shall be deposited immediately. The senior-constable instructed the boy to write to head-quarters. The lad states Mr. T. treats him well, and he looks well, and is well clad.
“ W. MONOW, Senior-constable.
“ 5th June, 1883.”

The foregoing will be sufficient to show what the masters of apprentices from here think of them. I have quoted a large number from among the many letters in my possession, because in the minds of a number of people exists the idea that the majority of “Vernon” boys turn out badly, and that there is considerable trouble to get persons to take them as apprentices.

8. I would now beg to draw attention to the manner in which our operations act upon the morale of the boys, in developing the finer instincts of nature, which in their case had long been dormant. That the lads cherish kindly feelings towards their old officers on board is very evident from the many visits we receive from boys long out of their time, and I here venture to give a few letters lately received from former inmates, to show the existence of that good feeling to which I have alluded.

Dear Sir, Aug. 2nd, 1883, The Moorings, Robertson.

I now take the liberty and pleasure to let you know how I am getting on. In the first place I am very pleased to say that I have a very good place, I like the Dr. very much. I have 1 cow to milk and firewood to cut, go errands on the pony, and other little jobs. We had some sheep, but the dogs got among them and worried so many that we had to part with them. We have 4 horses here, and we often go out for a ride. I get plenty of good food to eat, and a number of clothes. C. that came off with me seems to be getting on well, and has a good place too. F. W., that went to Helwood's, has left and gone to W—, and he likes there much better, and also gets a pony to ride. Me and him sometimes goes for a ride together. There are plenty of walabys, also opossums, and a few native bears and native cats. We had some chickens and other fowls, and the cats got into the place and killed three turkeys, five ducks, one hen and twelve chickens. The Dr. is having a new house built here, the men are at work now.

My parents wanted to have me at home, but I would rather stay where I am. Think I have told you all now, so will conclude with kind regards.
Yours obediently,
A. R.

Sir, June 21st, 1883.

I now take the pleasure of writing these few lines, hoping to find you in good health as it leaves me at present. We are getting a new school built up here. I can work a pair of horses, and plough and harrow, or do anything about the farm. We are getting on well lately. I like my master and my mistress well. I can ride very well, and I should like to ask you if I could draw a few pounds to buy a horse and saddle and bridle. I would like to know how the boys are getting on. I would like to hear from you again soon.
J. T. G.

Dear Capt. Neitenstein, 3 June.

I am glad to inform you that I am getting on well, and in the same employ. My time was up on the 27th Jan., but my master is very good to me and I remain with him for a few months more. He has got on a great business at this island, the capital of the Molluccas, and I am getting £2 10s. per month with my food and lodging. I served my time on board the “Colombo” as second mate, and I think if I go to sea one year more I will be able to pass and get a certificate. There are two Australian steamers running here from Sydney, the name of “Meith” and “Nelson,” George Stevens & Co. They bring bullocks and sundries here, and I would very much like to have a letter from you, sir, the next one. I have written two or three times but have received no letter. Many thanks to Mr. Mason, Mr. Gorman, and the boatswain for their kindness to me while I was on board. I have had a good deal of experience these last two years, which I hope will do me good. I can talk the Malay language as well as themselves; and part of Dutch, as it is a Dutch island we are on. I am going home in about another three months, I hope, but I will take care for the future as I know what the world is. I shall always remember you, sir, for your kindness to me.
J. McG.

Dear Sir, Burrawang, April, 1883.

I now take the pleasure of writing you these few lines, hoping to find you in good health, as it leaves me at present. I like my place well; I like my missus and master well. It is getting very cold now the winter is coming. I am a good milker now, I can milk the cows well.
A. G.

Dear Sir, 20 April, 1883.

Having had no time to write to you before, I now take the opportunity of doing so, hoping you are in good health, as I am truly happy to say it leaves me at present. I am getting on very nicely in the country, and I am now much stronger than ever I was in Sydney, the country air being much more to my health than the sea-breeze. My master and mistress treat me with the utmost kindness. I have not seen W. R. since the day we came up here, but I hear that he is doing very well under the care of Mr. W. at another station belonging to Mr. F. I have plenty of riding about on horseback, but nothing to do that I can call work. There is no bad company here that I can get into, and the town is 12 miles from here, I am glad to say, as I don't care about going such a distance unless on business. I hope Mr. Mason and all the other officers are quite well and in good health. With best wishes and respects to you and the family.
F.G.N.

Sir,

Sir,

I like my place very much ; I have a kind master and a good mistress ; I would like to go and see all on board again. I went to a concert on Wednesday night with Master Yeomans, and I liked it very much. I know how to drive a horse and buggy ; I drove down to the train twice to meet my master on Wednesday night. I go down to town sometimes of Saturday night with master S.Y., and he is very kind to me. I go to church every Sunday, and also to Sunday School, and Miss Y. is kind enough to teach me my lessons every night. I have nine shillings in the Savings' Bank, and will have some more in soon. I hope all the boys from the "Vernon" will get as good a place as I have got. I have good clothes, plenty to eat, and am very happy. With best respects to all the officers and boys on board.

13 April, 1883.

F.C.

Dear Sir,

30 March, 1883.

I now send you these few lines hoping they will find you well as this leaves me at present : thank God for it. Mr. M. told me you wanted me to write to you. My time is up, but I am with him again for a while ; he has been very kind to me ; I did not care to leave him ; I am thinking of going there next summer ; he has learned me to saw, and learned to farm very well ; I can build and do many things. He said he was going to try and get another boy from you if have one ; it is a very good place for a boy ; he is a very nice man, and Mrs. M. is a very kind woman ; they was always good to me. You must excuse this short letter.

R.L.

Dear Sir,

12 March, 1883.

I now take up my pen to write these few lines to you, hoping to find you in good health as it leaves me at present. I am very sorry to say that I was very ill not long ago—I was not fit to do my work for a fortnight, and I am glad to say that my master is very kind to me and his family also. I used to feel very lonesome until A. D. came up here. A. D. says he is getting on very well and is kind to me and I am the same to him.

M. J. H. M.

Dear Sir,

13 March, 1883.

As you wish me to write to you, I now do so and will tell you how I am progressing. Mr. B. would have taken me to the "Vernon" to see you and my brother and sister, but I am sorry to tell you I have not been a good boy. I go to Sunday School and prizes are given for regular attendance, but as I was taken from the school for a short time as well as the Masters B., I should have got one. You will be pleased to hear that Mrs. B. gave me a prize for learning my catechism. I am very well.

F. S.

Dear Sir,

7 March, 1883.

I now take the pleasure of writing to you these few lines, hoping to find you in good health as it leaves me at present. I am getting on very well with Mr. P. up here. I think W. H. is soon going away, for his time is nearly up. William bought a horse to go away on, and he was breaking him in in the yard, and he put the saddle on him and then he said, "Come on here S. and get on my colt, he wont buck." "All right," I said, and so I put my foot in the stirrup and on I jumped. Well, he commenced to buck, I stuck on for a short time and then he gave a plunge forward and off I came, and no sooner was I on the ground than I burst out laughing. It is nothing to get a buster up here. I believe I've had about fifty busters.

A. S.

Dear Sir,

16 September, 1883.

I now take the pleasure of writing to you hoping that you are quite well as I am myself. I am very thankful to you for giving me such information of my brother.

P. M.

Dear Sir,

26 February, 1883.

I now take the pleasure of writing to you, hoping that you are quite well as it leaves me at present. I have got a comfortable home and a kind master and mistress ; I am now going to church and to school every Sunday. I can milk and many other things which I could not do before. The master is very kind to me, he let me go to the Sunday School picnic. I had a happy Christmas, and the master gave me a nice book for a Christmas present, and the master said he will send me on board to see you and all the boys. I am very glad you sent me to such a kind master. I am well clothed and well fed. I get plenty of fruit to eat.

T. C.

Dear Sir,

23 April, 1883.

I am very happy here. Mr. T.'s sons are making a bird-cage, because they are trapping such a lot of birds. How are the boys getting on, are they as good as I was? I was going to bed and I saw an opossum on the shed, and I got out and brought him down, and I put him in the room for that night and found him dead in the morning. I grow some vegetables, and I got plenty of seeds to put in, and I have made a good garden. The boys have a good cricket club, and they have won all the matches they have played.

W. B.

Dear Friend,

12 April, 1883.

It gives me great pleasure to send you a few lines to let you know how I am getting on up here. I am happy to say I like my place very well and that I am getting on well at farm-work. My Master and Mistress treats me as well as I could possibly be treated in every way, and I endeavour to give them every satisfaction. Hoping you will excuse this short letter, but the next time I may send a longer one. I will now conclude by sending my best respects to you

W. McA.

Sir,

23 June, 1883.

Sergeant Boyd of the Police Force, Coonamble, read a letter to me that you sent him inquiring after my welfare. I am glad to be able to inform you that I am in good health and very comfortable where I am, and have been so from my first arrival here. I am in want of nothing, have plenty of clothes and all that I require, and my Master and Mistress are both very kind to me. I have been taught to milk and ride and am improving a great way on their station.

T. S.

Dear Sir,

I write to let you know how I am getting on. I like the place well, they are all very kind to me. I have not much work to do. I have had a bad cough, but the Mrs. looked after me and gave me syrup which took it away. I like the Master well, he said I am a good boy for I do as I am told.

R. D. C.

Dear Sir,

I now take the pleasure of writing these few lines hoping to find you in good health as it leaves me at present. I am well pleased with my Master. I am trying my best, Sir.

J. W.

Dear Sir,

February 21, 1883.

I like this place well, and my master and all of the family are very kind to me ; I could not get a better place. There are always good food and clothes provided for me. I am treated the same as the rest of the family and I am going to school now ; when I am at home I attend to the cattle and run errands on the farm. I am quite satisfied and contented.

H. S.

Dear Sir,

I now take the pleasure to write these few lines to you. I went to the show, there was plenty of people. I was going to write before. I hope you are well. They are nice people and I like the place. We have killed many a snake about the house when I was there.

A.F.M.

My Dear Sir,

March 8, 1883.

I write these few lines hoping to find you in good health, as it leaves me at present, and thank God for it. God bless you for your kindness to me while on board of the ship, and thank you for getting me such a good place has you got me, and I am very thankful to you for it ; and I like the place very well. I got plenty to eat, plenty of good clothes, and a good bed to lay on, and I received from T. R. the sum of £4 11s., and they are a very kind master and mistress, and I like them very well.

W.M.

Dear Sir,

March 25, 1883.

I am writing you a few lines to let you know how I am getting on. I like this place very well. I am very stout now but not tall. I suppose most of the boys that were on board then when I was there are all left now. There are plenty of fruit up this way. The weather here is very warm and dry ; we would want a couple of days rain. The crops will soon be ripe now. I would sooner my master to pay my wages when I am done my time.

Dear

Dear Sir,

I now take the pleasure of writing these few lines, hoping to find you in good health as it leaves me at present. I have sent a letter before this and receive no answer. I am very glad that you sent me here; Mrs. D is a very good mistress. Mr. B. is a man that is pleased with everything. I hope that every boy in the ship will be as well off as me, and I thank you very much for it, and I hope that Mr. Mason is getting on all right. I hope that every boy is quite well, and that there is no sickness on board the ship.

July 6, 1883.

J. McG.

Honored Sir,

My master Mr. D. has told me has received a circular from you requesting me to write and tell me how I have behaved whilst in his service, and also how much money is paid into the Bank for me. Mr. D. pays my money into the Bank every month or so, and I have everything I want, and am very happy.

April 10, 1883.

C.M.

My Dear Sir,

I received your letter a few days ago, and was glad to see you had not forgotten me. I am well used to the bush now and like it very much. I have been at work for six months, as it is the busiest time in the year getting the crops in, but I will have a rest after next week, as we will be finished. I like the bush better than Sydney. I have no more news.

3 July, 1883.

G.B.

My Dear Sir,

I now take the pleasure of writing these few lines, hoping to find you in good health, as I am, and what I find in the place. I don't believe that there is not a better place in New South Wales. I am very glad for you getting me this place, and I never shall forget you. I suppose Mr. Mason is back on board the ship again. I send my respects to you. I have no more at present.

June, 1883.

J. M'G.

Dear Sir,

I have written two letters to you, they were not nicely written, so I could not send them. I am growing very big, and am getting very good, and I like my place very much; my master and mistress are very kind and good to me. We have two nice dogs, and when I go out on a message they both follow me, and seem very fond of me. I have built a bush house for the Missus; it is pretty big. We have a lot of canaries, which sing all day long; we had a sea-gull, but the monkey got loose and killed it. Have you heard from my brother since I left the "Vernon." I would like to hear how he is getting on, and whether he has grown as much as I have. I went to see the race last Saturday week and heard the boys' band. I was so pleased to hear them play so nicely. The Hunter Hill boys are getting up a band of their own; there was a concert the other night; they made thirty pounds for it; the money was for the band. How is the "Vernon" off for water after all the beautiful rain? our well and tanks were flowing over. I go to six o'clock mass every Sunday, and to Sunday School in the afternoon. If I am good the mistress is going to let me spend the day on the "Vernon"; that is four or five times now.

November 4, 1882.

J.B.

My dear Sir,

I now take the pleasure of writing you this letter, hoping to find you in good health as it leaves me at present. I have a nice place where I am, and my master and mistress are very kind to me. I let you know that I like the country much better than Sydney; there are two or three of the "Vernon" boys where I am.

24 April, 1883.

A. C.

My dear Sir,

I write these few lines to you hoping to find you in good health, as it leaves me at present, and Mr. M. told me that he had put twelve pounds into the Bank for me. I am getting on all right, and like my place very well.

10 May, 1883.

S.H.H.

My dear Friend,

It is only now that I take the pleasure of writing to you, hoping to find you in good health, as it leaves me at present. I like my place very well. I go to church regular. I can ride on horseback very well, and drive horses in a buggy or dray sometimes. Mrs. Ross gives me lessons to learn. I have been up here 3 years next month. I can do any kind of work on a station; I get on very well up here. I can mend wire-fences or do any other things of that kind. My brother is with Mr. McE. I think I have told you all.

11 June, 1883.

P.J.McC.

My dear Sir,

I now write you these few lines hoping to find you in good health as it leaves me at present. You have sent me to a good place, where I will be made a man of some day I hope. I milk and mind the cows, and I have been keeping them off the corn lately. I often go out riding with the Mrs., and I go sometimes for the mail and over to the town. Mrs. H. is very kind to me, and I like her very much. I have lessons of a night; I come into the dining-room and Mrs. H. give me some nice story-books to read. I hope my mate, W. G., is not gone away. I am getting a famous rider. I will try and be good as long as I can.

17 April, 1883.

J.S.

Dear Sir,

I take the opportunity of writing these few lines to let you know that I am getting on very well, and I like my place very well; it is a very nice place, and we have got a good season for grass, and the crops are doing well; the cattle and horse are all looking well; they were nearly all dead in the winter. We had a lot of rain about a month ago; the places all about was flooded. I am about two miles off W. Moore's place. We are milking forty-eight cows. We have mass about every three months.

1 March, 1883.

P.L.

Dear Sir,

I now take the pleasure of writing these few lines, hoping to find you in good health, as it leaves me at present. I am well pleased with my place, and my master also; it is a nice place; I am learning a fine trade. I have easy work to do, also plenty to eat, plenty to drink, and good bedding, good clothing, treated well. I am trying to do my best towards all this. My master pays me as he tells you in his letter. At this date he treats me well. My Mrs. is kind to me also, so that I have got a kind master and mistress. Pilliga is a fine place; nothing but bushes all round the town.

July, 1883.

J.W.

Dear Sir,

My master told me to write to you, as you were anxious to hear how I was getting on in my new home. I am well and very comfortable. I have plenty of clothes and everything I want. My master is very kind to me. I get on very well. I go to church and to school every Sunday. I got all good cards for saying my lessons well. I read and learn my lesson at night.

8 March, 1883.

A.W.

Dear Sir,

My master was telling me that you wanted to know from me how I was. I was going to write to you to ask you how my brothers Alfred and Joseph are. I am going to have a holiday all day next month, and I want you to tell them that I am quite well and happy, and that my mistress is going to apply for my sister to join me when her time is up. I would have been on board before, only my master has been away. I have the Queen's Birthday, and I will be on board early, with your leave.

25 April, 1883.

W.S.

Sir,

I now take the pleasure of writing to you, hoping to find you in good health, as it leaves me at present. I have cows to milk, and I drive bullocks also, and I help my master to make butter; and I hope the band is getting on well, and yourself and all the officers and seamen, and the boys; and I attend to church; and I have a nice little pony to ride. Please write soon and let me know how you are getting on; and I am getting on better than I ever did. I have got a good master, and he treats me well, and I keep up my reading and writing, and I help to cut corn for the cows to eat; and my master has fine good horses—two fine dapple ponies and one fine buggy horse, and he has fine cows, good for milk and butter too. My pen is bad, my ink is pale, and letters to you will never fade. I am learning to ride, and I am getting on well with farming.

2 June, 1883.

R.M.

Dear Friend,

I take my pen in hand to write you an answer. I have been in the same place ever since, and am very comfortable. I am learning to milk and drive bullocks, also I am going to Sunday School every Sunday. I am living close to my brother. There was a riding circus in Robinson on Thursday night; me and the master both went to it, where we saw grand sights. I am in good health, and am yours,
R.W.

Dear Sir,

I take the opportunity of writing to you to let you know I am well and doing well. I like the place well, and I have a first-class master, and I have nothing to complain about. How is the tailors getting on, and the school? Is Mr. Ball there still, and have you the magic lantern yet? We have good crops and plenty of fine melons. With best respects and love to you, lady, and my friends,
E.T.M.

16 March, 1883.

My dear Captain,

I now take the pleasure of writing to you these few lines hoping to find you in good health, as it leaves me at present. I like my place very well, and my master is very kind to me, and I like stock-riding very well. I send my best respects to all the officers, and I wish you would let me know how my little brother is getting on.
W.R.

18 June, 1883.

Dear Capt. Neitenstein,

I received your kind letter the 25th November from Captain Carpenter. I suppose I should have received it sooner, but I was away on a voyage, and got it when I arrived back. I am no longer in Captain Carpenter's employ; I left him the 20th June, being two years and a half in his service. I am now third mate in a steam-boat out of Singapore, the name of "Cleator," getting £6 per month, doing fine business. We lost the barque "Colombo" off Celebes, cargo of coal and kerosene oil, when she took fire and foundered, and all saved; three days in the boats; landed at a port in the North named Menado. I intend to go home soon, but when I do I will give you a call and get my discharge. I hope to get my time in quick to pass for second mate, as I am up in navigation now. I have a good chance out here, but I must go home and see my parents, as it is nearly five years since I left home. I can talk the Malay language correctly as well as themselves, and part of Dutch. We are now at the Island of Banda, not far from Amboina, in the steamer "Cleator," with Captain Carpenter as passenger, loading nutmegs and other spices for Singapore, where we will be a day or two before Christmas, and I shall look up another ship bound for the Colonies. Please remember me to all the boys on board, and give my greatest respects to Mr. Mason, also to Mr. Gorman, in charge of Spectacle Island. I am sorry that G. left us, as he could have got on very well here, as he had a good master.
J.M.G.

Banda, 27 November, 1882.

Dear Captain,

I now take the pleasure of writing these few lines to you. I will commence by saying that I am getting on first-rate.
F.P.

6 July, 1883.

Dear Sir,

I got your letter and was pleased that you wrote to me. I am trying to improve in reading and writing and learning to do little sums. I am quite well, and hope to be able to write a longer letter to you soon.
T.J.

23 February, 1883.

9. The two preceding paragraphs refer to boys still serving their apprenticeship; and although many of those lads have been absent from the ship some years—in some instances five and six—they are of course under a certain amount of Government control, as all boys coming here remain under my guardianship until they are eighteen years of age. For boys over that age, and who are quite free from any interference on our part, and who may be considered to a great extent as left to their own devices, more anxiety may naturally be felt. The great goal to be obtained by any system is to implant a healthy spirit of self-reliance and self-respect which will enable the boy in after-life to honorably make his way in the world, and without which all efforts, so far as the work of these Institutions is concerned, are valueless and possibly harmful, as creating a dependent, inert disposition. I am glad to say that, although I necessarily lose sight of a great many who have passed out of my control, I know of a great number of ex-Vernon boys who are pushing their way in the world with success, and who have not again fallen into the sea of viciousness and crime from which this ship may fairly claim to have rescued them. Many of these have now become men; some are married and have families. Not long ago a young man with dense bushy whiskers accosted me in the Botanic Gardens, where the ship's band was playing at the time. I did not recognize him until he told me his name. He had since leaving made five voyages to London, and had just arrived on one of the last new steamers belonging to the port. I have since ascertained he bears a most exemplary character. He left this ship eight years ago. Another young man recently visited me who has been out of his time two years, and who is now engaged in a profitable occupation on the Clarence River. Another young man, now about twenty, who very frequently visits the ship, and who is at present engaged on the tramways, came on board last Sunday to ask my advice about resigning his situation in order to go to New Guinea. I need hardly say I opposed this. I have known him as boy and young man for ten years, and am sure he will eventually advance to a prosperous condition. Two others, apprenticed as sailors, have completed their time, but still remain with their old employers, who speak well of them. Two others, who were apprenticed in proximity to each other at some distance from Sydney, completed their terms of service, and after remaining for some further time in their master's service at current wages, took a holiday and visited the "Vernon." They have now returned. O.T.'s time expired in April, 1880. He visited us about twelve months ago, and looked well and respectable. He is still working for the master to whom he was apprenticed, and when I last heard from Mr. C. he gave the young fellow an excellent character. He is now over twenty years old. Another lad whose time expired in May, 1880, is still working for same master, Mr. M'K., who speaks in favourable terms of his character. E.J.B.'s time of apprenticeship expired in August, 1880, but he still continues in the same service on the North Shore. H. S. served his time faithfully with his master, the Honorable J.L., and his time expired in 1879, four years ago. He continues to conduct himself in his employment in the railway service. J.F. served full period of service, four years and a half, which expired in February, 1880. Still working for same master. J. McD. served faithfully his full term of apprenticeship (six years) which expired in November, 1881. He left with a good character, and is now working in the same district, not far from the ship. He had £30 in the bank in February last, and is a decent well-behaved young man. C.W. completed his six years' apprenticeship in 1881, and was at last advice with his mistress, Mrs. A. H., who speaks in favourable terms of him. A.S. served his full period of service in April, 1879; he is now twenty-two years old, and continues in same employ; last heard of in April of this year. F.B. out of his time some years; at present very respectably employed as a plasterer. J.M., after completing his time at sea, persevered in his profession, and is now second mate of a steamer. He was nearly sixteen when first sent here, and must now be about twenty-three; I frequently receive letters from him. J.G., out of his time some years, receives an excellent character at his present employment near Bodalla. H.G. completed, in March, 1881, his apprenticeship with a well-known Sydney resident, and and is still in the same service; aged 20 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; Mr. Y. visited me in July last, and spoke very highly of him. T.F. left ship eight years ago; when I last heard of him he was earning £9 monthly on the Waterworks. Mr. D., a gentleman who has known him for years, gives him a high character. J.L. visited ship in April last, upon completion of his apprenticeship in the Camden district, after which he returned to his former employment, where he is now steadily working. T.M., with his master, visited me upon completion of apprenticeship, and they both seemed satisfied with each other. The lad again came on board on 29 June last, and informed me he was still at same place. W.H.B. still with his old master, Mr. F. of Sydney—long out of his time, and must now be at least twenty-three years old. M.K. served his full period, six years, with Mr. B., and is still with same master—letter from the lad on the 30th July last. From a confidential report by police, I am happy to say he bears an excellent character in district. T.K., his brother, recently visited me when on a holiday to Sydney. Is still at Bolewarra with his old master, from whom he receives an excellent character. C.P. completed his six years' apprenticeship with Mr. N., of Rocky Mouth, but continues with same master at current wages. Mr. N. was lately on board, and gives P. a first-rate character. S.B. came on board to see me last week; he is now driving a horse and cart in Sydney, and bears a good character. Two others, who left this ship fourteen years ago, are continuing to occupy respectable positions, and are frequently seen by our officers, with whom they enter into conversation about former times on board. Of P.T.J., was received the following letter from his master's solicitor upon the completion of his indentures:—

Dear Sir,

Armidale, 21 April, 1883.

I beg to inform you that he has been a first-class working lad, and has conducted himself well; is at present working for my son, and getting 25s. weekly. I herewith beg to hand you a copy of the receipt P.T.J. has given me, showing that he has received £54 12s. The lad wishes me to state that he has a first-class master, and wishes me to convey his great thankfulness to you.

H.H.C.

Of another out of his time I desired to obtain some intelligence, as seven years had elapsed since he lived on board, so I obtained the following confidential report from the police:—"Sergeant O. reports that he has seen C. M., who states that he received in October last £35 as wages from his master. In a little time after the expiration of his apprenticeship, he went to Queensland with horses on his own account. He has since returned to his old master, who he is now engaged with as stockman. Mr. N. states he is a willing and well-conducted person, and has given him general satisfaction through his apprenticeship. He has been known to the police for some years, who have been in the habit of visiting his master's station, and on all occasions he has been well-clad and presented a decent appearance."

10. I have quoted this large number in order to show the ultimate effect of our efforts to reform boys, specimens of whose lives before they come here are fairly shown in the paragraphs marked 6, and I could easily produce many more such examples. I trust that I may be pardoned for dwelling at such length upon this topic; but considering that the utility of every work of philanthropy should be judged by its final results, I have ventured upon this occasion to produce the most practical evidences of whatever success the "Vernon" may have achieved in its sixteen years' existence, as a means of reforming and dealing with neglected and criminal juveniles, and enabling them to become decent members of society.

11. Amongst the items of expenditure shown in the accompanying tables appears an outlay which, although small, represents a departure in a new but important direction. Travelling expenses amount to £10 2s. 6d. This represents the cost of three trips I made into the country, in order to prosecute persons who were not properly fulfilling the conditions under which boys were apprenticed to them. Of this sum however, £5 2s. should be deducted, representing costs recovered and paid into the Treasury, leaving £5 0s. 6d. as the total expense to the Government. In this is also included horse and buggy hire, and personal expenses incurred in visiting a number of boys apprenticed at their masters' residences. In all three journeys were made, and twenty-eight places visited in the neighbourhood of Moss Vale, Berrima, Burrawang, Sutton Forest and Mittagong. These visits were the first of the kind made in connection with this Institution; and it is satisfactory to be able to state that in nearly every instance, although I arrived at the various places entirely unexpected, the best relations appeared to exist between master and boy. The persons who have "Vernon" boys in this locality are nearly all selectors, and the boys seemed quite to form part of the family group. In two instances a little friction seemed apparent, but my visit gave the respective parties an opportunity of fully stating their grievances, and I was enabled to smooth matters over with some advice and admonition. Good seems to have been effected, as now, at a period of eight months from my visit, I am in receipt of satisfactory letters from both parties. One of the cases in which I prosecuted was a master who refused to pay his apprentice upon the completion of the boy's time. This man produced a heavy bill for clothing, &c., as a set-off against the youngster's wages, but the case was decided against him in the District Court and he had to pay the boy £31, and also professional and witnesses' costs. The second case was one in which I caused a boy to prosecute his maater for assault, at the same time myself proceeding against him for a breach of the articles of apprenticeship. This was not a very serious matter, but I deemed it best to remove the boy from his employer, who, although bearing a high character in the district, nevertheless possessed a somewhat hasty temper. This person had both cases decided against him, was fined 10s., costs of Court and professional costs for the assault, and the indentures were cancelled, the boy receiving £8 15s. as wages. I brought the lad back to the ship with me, and he is now in another situation doing well.

12. I have no hesitation in saying that my visits to this district have been productive of much good in the interests of both boys and masters. The lads, some of whom I had not seen for five years, all appeared very pleased to see me, and the publicity given to my journeys of inspection has undoubtedly resulted in a large amount of benefit. The boys, on the one hand, feel that they are not altogether lost sight of, and consequently go about their duties in a more cheerful and happy spirit, and, on the other hand, masters who may have been disposed to shirk their obligations will not now be inclined to do so. It is obvious, however, that I could not quit my duties on board frequently enough to make a systematic inspection of all the places where boys are apprenticed; but I am so much impressed with the necessity for these inspections being made, that, although an annual report is not considered the proper vehicle for making recommendations, I cannot refrain from strongly directing attention here to the importance of this question of supervision over children after they have left, not only this but kindred establishments in the Colony. At the present time many hundreds of boys and girls are serving their apprenticeship, and the only supervision maintained is the somewhat unsatisfactory one of addressing occasional circulars to the employers inquiring as to the conduct of their apprentices, and endeavouring to maintain a correspondence with the children themselves. This is very well as far as it goes, but is not to be compared to a proper system system of personal visitation. On application, Mr. Fosbery very kindly permits the police to visit employers' residences, and to report upon the cases of any children whom there may be reason to suspect are not receiving proper treatment, but this, at best, always seems to me to be an unsatisfactory way of dealing with a very important matter. It is not desirable that the police should be charged entirely with this duty; the visits of a constable give rise to unpleasantness occasionally, and are not viewed with favour either by master or apprentice. The Dublin Society has an Inspector to visit each apprentice twice yearly; in Edinburgh, as Mr. Greig, Inspector of the Poor, states, an official has been appointed whose duty it is to supervise these children after leaving the Institutions, and, amongst numbers of others, the Misses Hill, who may be considered worth hearing upon the subject of dealing with neglected children, strongly advocate the absolute necessity of supervision after the schools are left. As one of these ladies stated, "The work of the managers is not complete when their pupils quit the Industrial Schools; they will require when put out into the world friendly supervision, which may be found necessary for some years; visiting is an essential part of the training, and often prevents falling back into evil courses." In the valuable Report of the Royal Commission upon the Public Charities of New South Wales, on page 57 appears the following:—"Whatever reforms may be effected in our reformatory, industrial, and other schools for the orphaned and the destitute, we feel convinced that their machinery for restoring the children to the ranks of honest labour, and securing their welfare in after-life, will be far from complete if some provision is not made for their supervision after they have left our Institutions. The evidence of all experienced in reformatory work strongly urges the necessity of such after-supervision." The Boarding-out Department here have recognized the necessity for this, by recently appointing another Inspector, and details respecting the visiting always form a prominent feature of the Boarding-out officer's reports. I have on various occasions dealt with this subject, and would beg to refer you to my previous communications upon this head, more especially my Annual Reports for 1878 and 1879.

12. Having thus dealt with the external portion of the Institution's affairs, I would now beg briefly to invite attention to a few more details respecting the interior economy of the vessel.

13. Although a daily average of thirteen more than last year has been maintained, the total cost has only been £177 more. The gross expenditure was £4,891, and this gives the cost per head, £25 1s. 8d., which, reduced by the contributions of parents, brings the net cost down to £24 3s. 2d. This is the lowest yet arrived at in the history of the ship, with the exception of one year, when it was slightly less. In this, it should be mentioned, are included costs of repairs, painting and other items, not, as I am given to understand, usually found in reports of this kind. Owing to the high rate, as compared with previous years at which the contract for provisions was taken, the cost per head for this item shows the large increase of £2 5s. Salaries come to nearly 13s. more, accounted for by the addition to the staff of another teacher, and by certain increases of pay. In each of the other items a reduction is shown. In connection with the charge for "salaries," which may seem somewhat high, it may be pointed out that the boys are not left night or day without supervision, and this renders a larger staff necessary than would otherwise be the case. An officer is always in charge of them at night when they have gone to bed, and this does not mean that a person sleeps within call (indeed we all do that), as is the practice elsewhere, but that an efficient watch is maintained by officers, regularly relieved at intervals through the night, to ensure wakefulness, and who are constantly moving about amongst the hammocks, and so greatly reduce any possibilities for misconduct.

14. The school routine has been conducted, without interruption, upon the half-time principle, and this gives to each boy on board at least three hours daily, but the younger lads, and some of the more backward amongst the elder ones, attend more frequently. The system is identical with that pursued in the Public Schools ashore, and is carried out by duly certified teachers. The following table gives particulars regarding the school:—

	Reading.				Writing.				Ciphering.
	Well.	Indifferently.	Not.	Total.	Well.	Indifferently.	Not.	Total.	Well.	Indifferently.	Not.	Total.
Remaining 30th June, 1882.....	60	101	27	188	60	116	12	188	60	116	12	188
Admitted to 30th June, 1883 .....	8	60	72	140	8	60	72	140	8	60	72	140
Total .....	68	161	99	328	68	176	84	328	68	176	84	328
Discharged to 30th June, 1883.....	54	66	0	120	54	66	0	120	54	66	0	120
Remaining to 30th June, 1883 .....	25	153	25	208	25	168	15	208	25	168	15	208
Total.....	79	224	25	328	79	234	15	328	79	234	15	328

From this it will be observed that of the boys admitted, no less than seventy-two, more than half, were totally unable to read or write; and that of the remainder, sixty could read and write but indifferently. Since my last report, another teacher has been appointed to assist the Schoolmaster, and much greater progress has in consequence been made than was the case formerly. Very much cannot be hoped to be accomplished, when it is considered that the vast majority only remain on board twelve months, and that they arrive here quite deficient in the most elementary education. At the examination recently held by Mr. District Inspector McCredie, the results proved as follows:

Third Class.

Reading, fair.
Writing, fair.
Dictation, fair.
Arithmetic, moderate.
Grammar, tolerable.
Geography, tolerable.

Object lessons, fair.
Singing, very fair.
Attention, very fair.
Mental effort, fair.
Mental culture, tolerable.
General proficiency, tolerable to fair.

Second

Second Class.

Reading, tolerable.
 Writing, fair.
 Dictation, tolerable.
 Grammar, moderate to tolerable.
 Geography, tolerable to fair.
 Object lessons, tolerable.

Singing, very fair.
 Arithmetic, tolerable to fair.
 Attention, fair.
 General proficiency, tolerable to fair.
 Mental effort, fair.
 Mental culture, tolerable.

First Class.

Reading, fair.
 Writing, fair.
 Dictation, tolerable to fair.
 Arithmetic, tolerable.
 Singing, tolerable.

Attention, fair.
 Mental effort, fair.
 Mental culture, tolerable.
 General proficiency, tolerable to fair.

15. During the year fair work has been done in the various departments of drill, and these exercises have undoubtedly conduced to the healthy condition the lads have at all times presented. Manning yards, big gun drill, cutlass exercise, manual and platoon exercises, pulling in boats, exercise at quarters, and light infantry drill have been regularly engaged in, and in addition the boys have been kept pretty well employed in keeping the ship &c. in good order. Carpentering, tailoring, and some sailmaking are the only trades practised on board; and although there is no outlet for boys as apprentices to trades (master tradesmen here, I find will not care about indoor apprentices), still it is handy for the boys to acquire a little rough knowledge of these handicrafts, and they are necessary to effect repairs on board. An estimate of the value of the work performed is as follows (it may be mentioned that it is not considered desirable that machinery for washing should be employed, but that each boy should be taught to wash and prepare his own clothes):—

	£	s.	d.
Jumpers made, 224, at 2s. ... ..	22	8	0
Trousers ,, 321, at 2s. ... ..	32	2	0
Flannels ,, 522, at 1s. 6d. ... ..	39	3	0
Serge caps ,, 162, at 1s. ... ..	8	2	0
Cloth do. ,, 128, at 1s. 6d. ... ..	9	12	0
Bags, towels, covers, and sundries ... ..	10	0	0
Repairs to clothing ... ..	50	0	0
Carpenters' work—repairing boats, caulking poop, making spars, coppering and repairing punt, making topsail yard, repairing shed, and general ship's work and repairs ... ..	120	0	0
Making quarter-deck awning ... ..	12	0	0
Making poop awning ... ..	7	0	0
Main deck awning, partially remade ... ..	7	0	0
Bags, 50 at 1s. 6d. ... ..	3	15	0
Covering hose, 3 ... ..	1	0	0
Two covers at 5s. ... ..	0	10	0
Boat sails, 2 at £2 10s. ... ..	5	0	0
Hammocks, 24 at 3s. 6d. ... ..	4	4	0
Repairing hammocks, beds, awnings, hoods, tarpaulins, making and repairing clews, repairing sails, &c. ... ..	50	0	0
Fishing-net, making and repairing ... ..	20	0	0
General rigger's work ... ..	150	0	0
Painting ship, inside and out, three times ... ..	60	0	0
Painting boats ... ..	12	0	0
Painting masts and yards... ..	20	0	0
Cooking and steward's work, performed by 1 officer, 11 boys ... ..	175	0	0
Washing during the year (each boy washes his own clothing, about 8 articles weekly, and a hammock every fortnight), 86,190 pieces at 1½d. each ... ..	533	13	0
Total ... ..	£1,357	9	0

16. The necessity for recreation has not been overlooked. The providing rational amusements is a very important part of the system pursued on board, as the experience of some years has proved that it is much more effectual to encourage boys to behave well by conferring upon them certain privileges and enjoyments as rewards for good and steady conduct, than the old custom of ignoring good behaviour and punishing them when misconduct takes place. No flogging has taken place for years; and although the cane has occasionally to be brought into use, for the most part it has been found that curtailment or deprivation of privileges has been amply sufficient to deal with offenders. This plan, originated by me in 1878, is peculiar to the ship, and is as follows:—The whole of the boys are divided into seven classes; No. 1 being the highest, and No. 7 the lowest. All new comers are placed in No. 7, where they receive no privileges, are liable to corporal punishment, are not permitted to skylark, and are always available for any dirty or unpleasant work that may have to be done. No boy need remain here longer than a week, and by getting a certain number of good marks from his officers can rise to Class 6, where he will find his comfort materially increased. It should be stated that the officers have separate books, in which they place "marks" as each considers a particular boy to have behaved, and these books are sent to me weekly, in order that the total number of marks to each lad's credit may be ascertained and promotions take place as deserved. A list of promotions is read out every Monday morning, in the presence of the whole ship's company, and two large class lists are constantly exposed in prominent parts of the vessel, showing the conduct of every boy on board. Class 6 enjoy the following:—Allowed to attend church on shore; exemption from cleaning brass work, &c.; permission to skylark on board in play-hours; pudding and other extras on Sundays, Wednesdays, Fridays, and on Holidays. Class 5 has exemption from corporal punishment, except for gross misconduct; admission to library and dissolving view entertainments, &c.; to land for playing, to attend regattas, fishing excursions, picnics, when practicable, and all privileges privileges of Class 6. Next rank, Class 4, has all the preceding rights, wear stripe on arm, pay at 1s. monthly, and allowed to fish at the gangway (the latter a much prized enjoyment). Class 3 enjoys all privileges of former classes, and wears decoration on arm, rates as Captains of Tops, and receives pay at 2s. monthly. Class 2 exercises all the foregoing rights, and in addition wears two stripes and decoration on arm, rates as Coxswains of Cutters, and receives 3s. monthly. Class 1 enjoys all preceding privileges, and rates as Boatswain's Mate, wearing the usual naval badge, and receives 5s. monthly. The foregoing is copied from the class list, on which also appears the following:—"A certain number of marks, gained by industry and good conduct, will raise any boy in rank in the Institution. Bad conduct and idleness will cause him to be reduced, and deprive him of the privileges he has earned; with, however, the power of re-earning good marks and regaining his position by subsequent good conduct. Each boy must bear in mind that the many privileges of the ship are accessible to all on board, are earned by simply behaving in a proper manner, and so gaining the respect of the Officers." It may be stated that all boys in the first four classes rank as boy-officers, and have command over the others, go away in charge of working parties, command boats, keep "misconducts" up to their work, and are responsible for the proper performance of various duties. Being trusted and placed "upon honor" undoubtedly tends to raise the status of the lads and improves their self-respect. During the summer the various regattas were attended, a firing party as usual being provided by us on most occasions, and a fair share of prizes borne off. Net fishing excursions up Middle Harbour also frequently took place, and enormous quantities of fish on several occasions were caught. An enjoyable trip also took place to the Weatherboard Falls, by direction of the Minister of Public Instruction, whose kindness was much appreciated by the boys and officers. Cricket and football have been played with success. The Museum and Art Gallery have also occasionally been visited. In winter the usual indoor amusements have been prosecuted, foremost amongst which may be mentioned the weekly lectures given in the schoolroom every Wednesday night, which are illustrated by means of high class photographic views projected on a screen by the ship's oxy-hydrogen lantern. Lectures upon ship-building, astronomy, celebrated authors, natural phenomena, the British Isles, foreign countries, the Tower, &c., have formed a combination of instruction and amusement highly relished by the boys. The ship's library, a well lighted, commodious apartment, now contains over 300 volumes, and is well supplied with chess, draughts, dominoes, and other games. The band, under the efficient charge of Bandmaster Orrell, has made much improvement, and has frequently played in public at the Botanic Gardens, at Regattas, on three days at the Engineering Exhibition, &c. Music of an evening on board is much relished, and has a great refining influence.

17. My best thanks for most valuable assistance are again due to Mr. Fosbery, the Inspector-General of Police. I have also again to state my indebtedness, for loan of valuable apparatus for exhibiting on board, to the Committee of the Sydney School of Arts, and Mr. Hurwood, and also to Mr. Roberts, who in addition delivered one lecture; and for donations of fruit, &c., to Mr. H. Taylor, M.P., the Committee of the Engineering Association, the various Regatta Committees, &c. Special thanks are also due to the Rev. Z. Muraire, the Rev. T. Symonds, the Sisters of St. Joseph, Mr. Robinson, and the ladies and gentlemen of Balmain, for their kind services in attending to the religious instruction of the boys. All these ladies and gentlemen have attended regularly, and often in stormy and inclement weather, at considerable inconvenience and discomfort to themselves.

18. In conclusion, I beg to express a hope that I may be pardoned for carrying this Report to so unusual a length. Feeling that the "Vernon" is to a certain extent upon her trial as an implement for reforming vicious boys, I have judged it but fair that I should take this, the only opportunity that offers, of setting down a plain statement—firstly, of the system pursued; and secondly, of its effects in after-life upon those who come under its operations. So much ignorance prevails of the working of the Institution, and so many opinions have been offered by ladies and gentlemen (interested in this important topic of "children of the State") who, I regret to say, have not been on board, at all events during my ten years of service, that a desire to place the real facts on record must form my excuse for being somewhat more lengthy than has hitherto been the case with my annual reports upon the "Vernon."

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

FREDK. W. NEITENSTEIN,

Commander and Superintendent.

(1.)

PARTICULARS relating to Parentage of Boys admitted during the year ended 30th June, 1883.

Mother in gaol; father deserted	3	Mother dead; father at sea	1
Father in gaol; mother deserted	2	Parents deserted	3
Mother a prostitute; father deserted	2	Parents drunkards, unfit to have charge of children	2
Both parents in gaol	3	Both parents dead	13
Father deserted; mother dead	3	Parents unknown	5
Parents living apart	4	Mother dead; father unable to control	14
Mother deserted; father dead	1	Father dead; mother unable to control	13
Father deserted; mother a lunatic	3	Parents unable to control	29
Father in lunatic asylum; mother cannot support or control	1	Parents unable to support or control	10
Father in hospital; mother unable to control or support	1	Father deserted; mother unable to control or support	2
Father in lunatic asylum; mother dead	1	Mother dead; father married again	1
		Father dead; mother married again	5

(2.)

CONTRIBUTIONS from various sources.

From parents	£	s.	d.
Costs of prosecution paid by defendants	175	3	6
	5	2	0
Total	£	180	5 6

(3.)

15

(3.)

TABLE showing Cost per head of Boys during past year.

Daily average number, 195.	Amount expended.	Cost per head.
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Provisions .....	2,148 6 4	11 0 4
Clothing .....	378 12 9	1 18 10
Stores .....	267 18 0	1 7 5
Fuel and light .....	58 12 1	0 6 0
School, stationery, library, and for recreative purposes generally .....	47 19 3	0 4 11
Salaries, including gratuities to good-conduct boys .....	1,814 6 7	9 6 2
Sundries, including medicines .....	51 2 1	0 5 2
Bedding .....	37 18 4	0 3 10
Repairs generally .....	76 12 6	0 7 11
Travelling expenses .....	10 2 6	0 1 1
Gross cost.....£	4,891 10 5	25 1 8
Deduct Table 2 .....	180 5 6	0 18 6
Net cost per head.....£	.....	24 3 2

(4.)

TABLE showing the Religion of Boys admitted during the year ended 30th June, 1883.

Protestant.	Roman Catholic.	Total
72	50	122

(5.)

TABLE showing the Religion of those Boys remaining on board on the 30th June, 1883.

Protestant.	Roman Catholic.	Total.
103	105	208

(6.)

TABLE showing the Ages of Boys admitted during the year ended 30th June, 1883.

7-8.	8-9.	9-10.	10-11.	11-12.	12-13.	13-14.	14-15.	15-16.	Total.
8	8	12	15	17	18	13	18	13	122

(7.)

TABLE showing the Ages of Boys remaining on the 30th June, 1883.

7-9.	9-11.	11-13.	13-15.	15 and over.	Total.
26	57	66	40	19	208

(8.)

TABLE showing Admissions and Discharges during the year ended 30th June, 1883.

Particulars.	Number.	Total.	Particulars.	Number.	Total.
Admissions—			Discharges—
New committals .....	122		Apprenticed.....	98
Returned—Indentures cancelled .....	5		Newcastle Lunatic Asylum .....	1
Re-admissions from Biloela .....	5		Discharged to relatives .....	21
Removed from unsuitable places .....	3				120
Removed from "Wolverene" in order to be discharged to relatives .....	5
		140

Remaining on board, 30 June, 1883 ..... 208.

(9.)

TABLE showing Visits of Clergymen and Religious Instructors.

Protestant.	Roman Catholic.	Total.
45	66	111

(10.)

(10.)

TABLE showing particulars relating to Parentage of Boys admitted during the year.

Number admitted.	One parent living.	Both living.	Neither living.	Unknown.
122	44	54	13	11

(11.)

TABLE showing Conduct Classification on the 30th June according to Class list.

Excellent (boy officers).	Very good.	Good.	Indifferent (including new comers).	Total.
28	112	47	21	208

1883-4.

---

NEW SOUTH WALES.

---

STATE CHILDREN'S RELIEF DEPARTMENT.

---

REPORT

OF THE

PRESIDENT, ARTHUR RENWICK, B.A., M.D.,
F.R.C.S., E., &C., &C.,

FOR THE YEAR ENDED

5 APRIL, 1884.

---

Presented to Parliament, in accordance with the provisions of Act 44 Vic. No. 24.

---

SYDNEY: THOMAS RICHARDS, GOVERNMENT PRINTER.

1884.

State Children's Relief Department,
149, Phillip-street, Sydney, 27 April, 1884.

The President of the State Children's Relief Board to The Honorable the Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

In compliance with section 12 of 44 Victoria No. 24, I have the honor to present to Parliament my third Annual Report (for the year ended 5 April, 1884) on the operation of the State Children's Relief Department of New South Wales.

Three years' official administration of the boarding-out system in this Colony is now completed, and it affords me much gratification to be able to report that the system continues to prove itself most effective as a means of providing beneficially for the children of the State. As will be seen in subsequent paragraphs of this Report, the operations of the Board have been enlarged during the past year; children have been obtained from sources other than those availed of during 1882, so that the experience from which evidence of success is deduced has not been limited to any particular class of children. Indeed the work of the State Children's Relief Department during the past year has gone far towards demonstrating that even children of the worst character can be rendered amenable to proper home influences and discipline provided the necessary conditions are fulfilled. There is certainly no good reason why success should not have been assured. As I have indicated on more than one occasion, if the essential conditions of success be observed jealously and firmly, then 2,000 children may be as safely boarded out as 200. That I am again in a position to refer cheerfully and hopefully to the operations of the State Children's Relief Board is due to the fact that no vigilance has been spared in maintaining these essential conditions.

It would almost appear a work of supererogation on my part again to describe the principles and conditions of the boarding-out system. But notwithstanding that, both in official reports and through the medium of the newspaper press, the system has from time to time been very fully explained, and that the children under its operations are now scattered over the most important districts of this Colony, the practical work of the Department continues to disclose the fact that there is still a good deal of popular ignorance in reference to it. At the risk therefore of being charged with purposeless repetition, I will once again set out very briefly the salient features of the system and state its cardinal object, as it is the earnest wish of the Board that the community generally shall fully understand its principles and details, and so be afforded a knowledge of the important work of reformation which, I think I may now safely affirm, it is rapidly and surely effecting. I firmly believe that the public require only to understand the system thoroughly to admit fully and freely that it commends itself as much to common-sense as it now does to experience.

Destitute healthy children under the age of twelve years, and also delicate children who are known not to be afflicted with eruptive or contagious complaints, are placed throughout the country in carefully-chosen homes. No foster-parent is allowed to have the care of a child until his or her character, circumstances, and reputation are inquired into by the officials of the Board, who also make inquisition into the situation of the home; its contiguity to churches, schools, and so forth; its accessibleness to the visits of the Inspectors and those of the local committees and lady visitors of the various districts. A fixed weekly payment is guaranteed to each foster-parent for the care bestowed upon the child. The obligations of a foster-parent are—to treat a ward as one of his own children, to send him to school and to church regularly, and generally to deal with him as if the legal obligations were also natural obligations. To ensure the performance by foster-parents of these these conditions, one of the most important provisions is, unquestionably, the voluntary local oversight. In every locality where children are boarded out, ladies willing to act as guardians and protectors of the children are as soon as possible so appointed by the Board, and they are required to visit every home from time to time, to observe the treatment of boarded-out children, and to report periodically to the Board the result of their observations and their work. Supervision is completed by the frequent visits, also without notice, of the Inspectors of the Board to every home. This ceaseless vigilance is a main feature of the system; it prevents shortcomings, otherwise undetected; it is the guarantee that all is going on well. It is not only the certain corrective of ill-treatment and wrong which may grow up after an apparently wise original selection of a foster-parent; it not only keeps all guardians up to their duty by a sense of its perpetual operation; but it inevitably reveals any defect in the selection in the first place of a home; it discovers whether children are behaving properly; it is a sure preventive of abuse and scandal and of any discredit to the system. I have always felt it my duty to dwell earnestly on the importance of this element of boarding-out. And I am glad to bear testimony here once more to the zeal, the tact, the industry, and the intelligent discharge of duty which have characterized the various committees of philanthropic ladies thus far appointed. The system has succeeded because such committees have been available.

As for the cardinal object of the system that must be patent. It is to surround the orphaned and destitute children of the country with the conditions of ordinary family life, so that they may feel as little as may be the lack of parentage, need not be forced into or remain in asylums, and may grow up amid all the manifold and varied influences of home, and eventually become good citizens. A collateral object, perhaps not definitely sought, but which yet is gained under the working of the system, is that by this mode of caring for dependent children certain portions of the people are compelled to accept a partnership with the State in the work and its grave responsibilities.

It is noteworthy that the testimony in favour of boarding-out, derived from experience, varies very slightly, notwithstanding that the different communities in which the system is adopted have special characteristics. The fact is that the prime conditions under which alone boarding-out can triumph are the same in all communities and all countries. I have before me a small pamphlet written by Miss Joanna Margaret Hill, a member of a family whose lives are devoted to philanthropic work, and especially that of ameliorating the condition of fatherless and destitute children in the United Kingdom. That lady pleads for the extension of the boarding-out system on the ground of its proved success. And by way of answering objections which are still made, after a thirteen years' successful trial of the system in England, Miss Hill points out that homes in every way suitable are to be obtained in plenty, if a little trouble be taken and under certain conditions; that any stinting of food or clothing to obtain a profit out of the payment for maintenance is checked by the certainty that it will show in the child's health or appearance; that proof is abundant that children who have gone out into the world resort in times of trouble or perplexity to the foster-parents for counsel and sympathy, just as if there were a natural tie between the parties; and that the periodical inspection of the children is the more effective in discovering any causes of complaint, because the objects of the inspection are less conscious of the operation, and more free to speak than children in orphan schools and asylums. Miss Hill's concluding paragraph may be quoted: "Thus, while the boarding-out system is confessedly the most economical, it is maintained to be the safest and best for our permanent children. It restores them to family life among persons of acknowledged good character, and establishing a tie which is not broken when they go forth to work for themselves, promotes vigorous health of body and mind, habits of self-dependence, and a knowledge of common life; and meanwhile secures for them inspection at once constant and unknown to its objects, and therefore thorough." These statements the State Children's Relief Board might with perfect justice adopt with respect to its own work and the results of that work.

This Department has recently been placed in possession (by the Agent-General, Sir Saul Samuel) of official reports from many eminent English and European European authorities. And it is with satisfaction that I notice that all the evidence which tends to show the great advantage of boarding-out over all other methods of dealing with State children is not afforded by visionary enthusiasts, but by practical and specially qualified Government officials and reformers, who are not likely to have been influenced by sentiment, who have also had long experience of both orphanages and workhouses, and who seem from the statistics they have furnished to have bestowed exemplary care in obtaining authentic information of results.

From quarters nearer home also there comes most reliable testimony of a like character in the form of official statistics and reports. In Victoria at the end of last year there were nearly 2,000 children in homes. There the boarding-out system had become the national policy with regard to neglected children, other than those of the criminal classes, and all the Government institutions excepting one, which is used as a depôt and receiving house, and cannot of course be dispensed with, have been abolished. And in South Australia the same result is being attained, though not so rapidly; but still, on June 30, 1883, the date of the last annual report of the Adelaide Destitute Board, there were 450 children boarded-out. In Queensland and Tasmania the system is also in force. The annual report of the English Local Government Board for 1883 shows that in England alone no less than eighty Unions had adopted the system; while in Scotland, in December, 1883, there were between 6,000 and 7,000 children boarded-out. And throughout Europe the system is operating quite as extensively and with equal success. At a Conference of the "National Association of Great Britain for the Promotion of Social Science," held in London, under the presidency of Lord Aberdare, in March, 1883, the barrack system of dealing with dependent children was very strongly condemned, and the Conference, satisfied by the closest inquiries as to the operations of boarding-out in various places for upwards of twenty years, unanimously recommended its universal adoption.

What I have so far written is in the main a repetition, in condensed form, of matter which has been stated more fully in my former reports; and although the evidence in support of the system is of more recent date, and should therefore be of more conclusive nature, its purport is precisely that which I have already insisted on. In my last Annual Report, founding my remarks on the success and logical force of the principle of boarding-out, I sketched out what seemed to me the proper lines for a further extension of the system and its management, and of necessary legislation; and although nothing has as yet been done to carry my views into effect, I am still so sensible of the need for extending the principles under which the Board works, and of augmenting its powers and scope, that I shall refer once more to the provisions which I alluded to as those which should be embodied in any new legislation on this subject. I must confess that I do not anticipate that thorough legislation in this matter will be possible till the opinion of the public is made to act on Parliament; and what I now state is put forward in the hope of influencing and instructing public opinion. That hope is strengthened by my conviction that reason is manifestly with the work which the State Children's Relief Board is promoting, and that an unprejudiced examination of the matter will convince all intelligent minds that no more beneficial social legislation could be framed than that which is here again counselled.

It would conduce at once to economy and efficiency if all Government institutions for the relief of destitute children were placed under one management. Then it would be possible to deal systematically with a very difficult problem. Uniformity of treatment would not be possible or desirable, but it is not possible, as things are adjusted at present, to do the fit thing at the right time and in the right way. The present regulation of our charities is unsystematic, costly, irresponsible. I have not hesitated to avow my belief that as regards the vast bulk of the children of the State boarding-out should be adopted, as being incomparably the best mode of dealing with them—the best mode alike for themselves and for society; and where boarding-out, pure and simple, may be inapplicable, such modification of its principles in relation to various classes of children as experience has approved should be applied. The children to be dealt with may be named in three categories. There are (1) those who can at once be boarded-out, as largely as opportunities offer for securing suitable foster-parents and homes, and conscientious local committees. An agency

agency with unfettered power to dispose of all such children would soon depopulate the various institutions. Then (2) there are children suitable for boarding-out in every respect except one. They are the unfortunate victims of disease, inherited or acquired, whom no foster-parent would care to have, and for whom barrack life is more unwholesome, mentally, morally, and physically, than it is even for robust children. Power should be possessed by those who are responsible for the disposal of destitute children to place such unhappy ones in cottage homes, under the care of select motherly persons, surrounded by comforts, in the enjoyment of suitable companionship, and subject, like boarded-out children, to jealous and vigilant official and local supervision. This would be a most beneficent adaptation of the boarding-out principle to special circumstances, and should be under the control of the agency charged with the management of the whole business of State children. Our Victorian neighbours have tried the plan successfully in connection with one of their best managed institutions—the Melbourne Orphan Asylum at Brighton—presided over by Dr. Moorhouse, Bishop of Melbourne, who takes a practical interest in its working. The daily average number of children attached to that institution last year was 359, of whom 224 were boarded-out, and 135 maintained at the asylum, which is built on the “cottage-home” plan of separate houses containing separate families, one house being a sanatorium for children returned or refused by foster-parents because of ill-health or weakly constitutions; other houses are occupied by elder boys, who are instructed in trades and agricultural pursuits, and one is set apart for training girls as domestic servants. In England this plan of dealing with dependent children is also extensively adopted. The Princess Mary’s Village Homes at Addlestone consist of thirteen buildings, each costing £400 in erection, and intended to accommodate ten children under the care of a matron or mother, the whole being under one general superintendent. The report for last year of the English National Committee for promoting the boarding-out system “confidently recommends that system and cottage homes as best adapted to the wants of orphaned and destitute children.” And Dr. Barnado’s cottage homes for destitute children in London, Essex, Jersey, and Canada, which are entirely dependent for support on free-will offerings, now contain upwards of 1,200 children, gathered in principally from among the waifs and strays of the London streets. These homes, and others at Kent, Surrey, and Leeds, are, according to the statistics, doing a marvellous work of reclamation, and they contain children who had “lost an eye, a foot, a hand, or an arm; who were crippled or deformed; whose faces were seared with disease, or who came from the streets covered with loathsome sores, and for these reasons alone had been rejected by other institutions,” in which particular I may remark, by the way, the English institutions are not dissimilar from some of our own. In order to practically test the advantage of the cottage-home plan, the State Children’s Relief Board has for some time past (by permission of Mrs. Jefferis, one of its members) exercised official supervision over that lady’s cottage home at Newtown, and has also arranged with a well-tried guardian, who has no other family ties or responsibilities, to take charge of seven boarded-out children, three of whom were declared in their first homes to be unmanageable. In both cases the results are proving most satisfactory. Thirdly, there is a class of children whom their early surroundings have made morally unfit for immediate boarding-out. For such, industrial asylums and reformatories on a limited scale must be retained. Before being sent out into the world these children must certainly be in a measure cleansed from the demoralizing influences which have encompassed them. Several means of purification would probably be suggested. There would be strict separation of the sexes—that I believe from the knowledge gained by the Board during the past three years to be indispensable; there would be proper classification; there would be industrial instruction; and, under the control of a Board convinced that boarding-out was the best imitation of the natural life of society that could be secured for these fatherless and deserted waifs, the adjustments of the asylum or reformatory would be made to partake as much as was possible in the circumstances of the characteristics of family life. Such adjustments have been adopted elsewhere, as I have said, and are as capable of being adopted here, if the management of destitute children were concentrated and systematic; were pervaded by a deep sense of the unwholesomeness of barrack life; if those who preside over it were desirous of reclaiming permanently the human material in its control; and were assured by experience that no means of reclamation are so sure and trustworthy as the refining influences of home. A Board convinced that boarding-out was the best mode mode of disposing of children to make them respectable members of society would so order asylums and reformatories as to fit their inmates, however morally soiled and unclean they might be at first, for such entrance into society. It will be evident therefore, if the case for boarding-out be admitted, that the first and foundation provision of new legislation, aiming at improved dealing with the children of the State, will be concentration of the management in the hands of a single agency, like the State's Children Relief Board, which may guide and rule affairs systematically, with flexibility, and with a defined purpose pervading the whole texture of its operations. I am anxious to avoid instituting any comparison between the actual working of the State Children's Relief Board and that of other charities, but no one who observes the course of events can be ignorant that between the two a certain amount of conflict exists, and that a certain degree of jealousy is developed which tends to defeat the cardinal purpose of all the organizations. Such conflict and such jealousy are inevitable, I imagine, where the central management is not united; but in their presence it is impossible to work with full effect to a common end. If that common end be, as I think it ought to be, the boarding-out of all the neglected and destitute children of the country, who can be so dealt with, those who are conducting other systems will be almost prone to throw obstacles in the way rather than lend every assistance. There will be friction, and hindrance, and divided counsels, instead of smoothness and harmony among those who ought to have a common end in view—I mean the welfare of the children. Officers on each side will naturally be jealous for a system rather than for perfection of results; and, in short, as I have said, the cause for which charitable agencies exist must necessarily suffer.

The legislation I have sketched would have the effect of altering the machinery under which the charity of the State towards dependent children is distributed. But should no change be made in that respect the working of our charities has shown that enlarged powers in certain directions are needed alike by the State Children's Relief Board and the managers of several other institutions. In my report of last year, at pp. 14-18, I set out somewhat fully the principal points upon which early legislation was desirable. I need not repeat in detail all that was there said; but, as the requisite powers are still to seek, it is necessary that I should indicate in a general way the grounds upon which they are demanded. It will be noted that some of the suggestions were designed to make the boarding-out system more effective; but one of the chief powers asked for would be valuable not only to this Board, but also to other authorities who are concerned with the care and regulation of destitute and neglected children.

The State very properly comes to the help of such children. It accepts with a conspicuous liberality the duty of standing to them in the place of their lost or unfaithful parents. In these pages it has been argued that the boarding-out method is preferable to any other. Yet, as between a barrack in which food, clothing, and shelter are extended to those in need, and the street, it requires no words to show that the barrack is merciful consideration and benignant care. Instead of abandonment to misery, bodily pain, temptation to crime, there are provided housing, some degree of comfort, wholesome control. The boarding-out system goes further indeed; its end is higher, and its modes more certain to ensure the best fruit for the outlay, but in one way or the other the State supplies a lack of parental guardianship. This Board has found, as other Boards have found, that the willingness of the State to provide for necessitous children is shamefully taken advantage of. Parents whose obligations have become irksome have no compunction in shirking them on to the shoulders of the State. They are perfectly content that their offspring should be dependent on State bounty, even when they have sufficient means to contribute at least a share of the cost involved in the care of their children. The law, as it stands at present, does not enable conductors of charities to reach such cases, and to compel unwilling parents, who are able, to pay some of the expenses of their children's maintenance. Instances innumerable might be cited in the experience of this and other Boards in which parents and guardians morally bound to pay, and in receipt of wages amply sufficient to allow them to contribute, have set all efforts at defiance designed to force them to discharge their obligations. My report last year exhibited the details of the powers required to remedy this state of things.

things. The defaulters and the circumstances of the default are many, and the relationships of the defaulters to children vary; but the principle which should underlie the needed legislation is the principle of compulsion applied to relatives of children who become the care of the State, obliging them to bear when able a portion of the burden of maintenance. The State Children's Relief Board has no desire to limit or withhold any charity which is fairly due. It will cheerfully come to the rescue of the orphaned and the lone. It will ask no aid from indigent widows, nor require poverty to lessen its little store. It is an agency of practical help, but it requires protection against shameless imposition. Many cases occur in which it is highly desirable for the sake of the children and for the sake of society that the State should step in through this Board, and give the children better care than they could otherwise hope for. Illegitimate children, for example, or the children of widowers, often become manifestly fit objects for the guardianship of the Board. It is a charity to all concerned for the Board to accept the obligation of guardianship, but in cases where the relatives are able to bear a part of the cost of maintenance it is clear that the Board should be armed with power to compel unwilling parents to contribute.

It is not my province here to discuss theological or scientific problems, but daily experience tells us that the circumstances in which children are brought up have much to do with the moulding of the character of the future man or the future woman. As in the material world, so in the moral. If the air a child breathes is foul and unhealthy, if his clothing is scanty and his food poor, if he must labour incessantly and is deprived of rest and recreation, if the joys of childhood are to him unknown, he will grow up—if he does not succumb under the load of privation—feeble, wanting in stamina, probably deformed, certainly stunted—shorn in some way of due proportion of manhood. If, in addition to the physical misery of his circumstances, he is environed with conditions of moral degradation—if he is familiarized with the language of profanity and habituated to unseemliness, if pure, religious, and homeful influences and laws are absent from his squalid home, if in fine he have no moral training—such a child must as certainly become criminal, as he will certainly be weak and puny of body. He will be in mind and in frame what circumstances have made him. That is the law of life. I have before me now the twenty-third annual report of the Children's Aid Society of New York—one of the most famous and extensive organizations of our day for the reformation and protection of children—which contains an account of a criminal family whose antecedents the society's officials took the trouble to trace from prison statistics for one hundred years. The tale of discovery is instructive. The genealogy went back to five girls, some of them illegitimate, belonging to a family of roving people who lived by hunting and fishing, and partly by stealnig. They attended neither church nor school; in their miserable hovel male and female members slept without regard to privacy or decency; in severe seasons they depended to some extent on charity; their life and its conditions were such as might be expected to bear evil fruit. They did bear such fruit. All through the century the descendants of these five girls were found among the criminals and the idiots, the licentious and the insane, the paupers and the prostitutes of the time. As surely as they were born the instincts of crime were born with them; these instincts were fostered by the surroundings of the infant, of the boy, or the girl, and so the criminal tendency was perpetuated and reappeared in every generation. Seeds of iniquity were sown in suitable soil, and they sprang up and bore their natural harvest; 709 descendants of these wretched beings are carefully tabulated, whose names are obtained mainly from the prison records. 368 of them were legitimate, 91 were known to be illegitimate, and 250 were unknown as to birth. Of these 128 were professional prostitutes, 67 were diseased, 18 kept houses of ill-fame, 142 received out-door relief, 64 were in the workhouse, 76 were publicly recorded as criminals. The investigators concluded that among other results of the existence of this one stream of criminal life the State had been subjected to losses equivalent to a tax of £200,000. I have very little doubt that if our own prison statistics were similarly analyzed some equally startling results arising from the existing method of dealing with criminal children would be disclosed, as the Inspector-General of Police, in his report for 1883, says:—"The cases of juvenile immorality and depravity which frequently come under public notice are most appalling. . . . The more general diffusion of education does not appear to have had the moral effect which was hoped for. . . . I find upon careful examination of the records during a period of six months respecting 494 young persons—male and female—who were apprehended for minor offences, but who may be expected to relapse into a career of crime and immorality, that only twenty-four were unable to read and write.” Can there be any doubt that if upon the five sisters, or any of the vile brood that issued from them, or upon the 494 young persons alluded to by Mr. Fosbery, real reformatory influences had been exercised, the tale of loss, and of sin and crime and degradation, would have been lessened? It is true that where conditions are favourable to morality depravity is often manifested. Most families have their scapegrace: there is a black sheep in almost every flock. Certain theologians would say that original sin exhibits its operation in spite of surroundings. That, as I have hinted, is not an inquiry upon which I feel called on to enter. But the evil which is in human nature grows to portentous dimensions where circumstances are favourable to its progress, and may be diminished by forethought and care.
the

These considerations justify me in reverting to the reformatory character which all projects for dealing with neglected or criminally-disposed children should bear. It is much to get hold of such children, to feed them, clothe them, house them, and in some degree to educate them. Such work is good work, as far as it goes. Unhappily it does not go far enough. Reform is only thorough when bulwarks against vice are set up within the individual; when he is strengthened by mental habit and by principle against temptation. Its permanence is doubtful when it is due merely to outside restraint. A prisoner in gaol cannot steal, so long as the walls of the cell confine him; but if he have not acquired in gaol a moral sense of the iniquity of thieving, on his release he will steal again. Much of the treatment of State children in this country resembles rather the discipline of a prison than the discipline which a true reformer would impose. And here comes in the value of the principle which the boarding-out system applies, and which would be applied in varied forms if that system were recognized as the one effective mode of reformation. That principle is, I repeat, the salutary influence of home training. At every stage of dealing with a child under care, training having that character would be brought to bear upon him. Evil dispositions would be repressed; good instincts would be matured. The French establishment at Mettray—one of the most successful of all such experiments at reformation—rests upon the germinal idea of “the reconstruction of the family for those offences against society which are too often the result of parental neglect, or bad example, or homelessness.” “A stranger,” says a celebrated authority on reformatories, “alighting at the entrance gate, looks down an avenue of cottages, the church, with the school to the right of it, closing the view. . . . Other structures, such as the infirmary and some of the offices, break what would otherwise be a rather formally-arranged collection of cottages into a sufficiently picturesque village. Your first impression on entering is that you are in a well-arranged village, amongst villagers, the members of the families engaged at their various occupations passing to or fro from house or shop as in ordinary social life. . . . The history of the colony is full of incidents, well authenticated, that illustrate in the most striking—many of them in the most touching—way the effect of this system in reclaiming, through the influence of family life, the most unpromising subjects.” Mettray has now been founded thirty-three years, and more than 4,000 children have been received into it. Cases of absconding are almost unknown. The evidence taken before a Select Committee on Criminal and Destitute Children a year or two ago affords another marked example of the success of reformatories conducted on the family plan in the Rauhe Haus of Germany, an establishment in which the children are classed in groups of twelve, “each forming a family at the head of which is an officer discharging the duties of a father. All these, again, are attached to their common centre, the director, who presides over the whole, and watches over their general interests; the chapel, the school, and the workshops alone are common to the whole, and these serve in some degree as a bond of association among the different families who there meet at certain intervals.” The most successful of all the reformatory institutions of which I have any official record, however, is the Redhill Establishment in Surrey, England, which deals solely with the worst classes of the juvenile criminal population of Great Britain, and which is managed very much on the lines of the French and German institutions I have briefly alluded to. The statistics of Redhill are most instructive, and and should afford encouragement to those who may shortly have to deal with the reformatory question in this Colony. "The benevolent, able, and enlightened men, to whom the institution owed its formation in 1788," says a writer upon this reformatory, "were the first to deal with that social problem at once so important and so difficult, the right treatment of the youthful criminal. With a remarkable prescience of the real solution of the difficult problem they undertook to solve, they began operations by hiring a few cottages in the village of Hackney, and distributing the children whom they took into their care into little families of twelve." And in each of these humble dwellings the boys receive some kind of industrial training. After passing through various stages, the society established the present reformatory at Redhill, but the plan of classifying and dealing with the children in families has never been departed from. Of late years the admissions have been wholly confined to boys who have been guilty of criminal practices. Every inmate has been once, and many have been eight and ten times, convicted of crime. On his first admission the boy is placed in the probationary department, where he is subjected to close superintendence and control—indeed, this department possesses the security of a prison without the prison surroundings and associations. When his habits and character have been sufficiently ascertained he is transferred to the workshops on the estate, where his industrial training is sedulously pursued, and he enjoys a greater degree of liberty. After a period, varying from one to three years, according to his proficiency in his trade, and his general improvement, the boy is apprenticed to a master in the particular business which he has learnt, or his friends are assisted to get him employment, so as to secure him, as far as possible, a fair start on re-entering the world again. The occupations taught are farming, shoemaking, carpentering, blacksmithing, baking, and bricklaying. The result of this method of dealing with criminal boys has shown the relapses into crime during twenty-five years to have been only 3 per cent. The boys, it will be seen, both in the French, German, and English institutions, live in families; they work, study, engage in sport, and, while obliged to submit to discipline, are conscious of little restraint which they do not themselves impose or consent to.

My conception of a reformatory would, however, take things further than the establishment of a New South Wales Mettray or Redhill Asylum, much as I hope to see such an institution established. The preliminary work of reformation would be but begun in the reformatory. There inmates would be classified, disciplined, taught the rudiments of good behaviour; instructed in the preliminary stages of handicrafts. As to classification of the children in families, its value cannot be over-estimated. Its absence constitutes weakness in the reforming power of any institution, as has been amply manifested in connection with reformatory work in Victoria. Then, in due course, each inmate would be boarded-out or apprenticed. And whether boarded-out or apprenticed the most effectual guarantee would be taken for the continuance of the reforming process. For, as has already been said, the boarded-out child is not then abandoned to his fate. Care precedes entry into the life of the world, oversight follows him. Equal vigilance is observed in the selection of the foster-parent and the master; and foster-parent and master are diligently watched in the performance of their duties by officials and by local functionaries. In these respects the children apprenticed through this Board, after their period of boarding-out has expired, enjoy a marked advantage over those sent out from any other Government institution in this Colony, in proof of which I may state that from the Orphan Schools alone there are, I believe, from 500 to 600 children now apprenticed who are practically at the mercy of their employers, because they are under no kind of official supervision or protection. Thus, from the moment a child from this Department came under the control of the State he would be subject to the most wholesome influences. If he had so far lived in circumstances of depravity and vice, he would in the reformatory become one of a family, and live as fully as was possible to observe it, the family life. When he became the inmate of a true family all the associations would be select, and he would not have been rudely introduced into an entirely new and diverse mode of existence. The family itself would have been carefully chosen, and the obligations of those under whom the child was placed would compel them to give him the best available moral and mental training. It is because I wish to see at work such a systematic mode of reforming the depraved child-life of the country that I have dealt with this subject so fully, that I have illustrated possibilities here by instancing results accomplished elsewhere, and that I desire to impress upon our people, the Government, and the Legislature, the desirableness of concentrating under one organization the general management of the charity of the State towards destitute, neglected, or criminally-disposed children.
that

Before passing away from this most important question I may point out that a comparison has lately been instituted between the results attained by the "Vernon" in this Colony and the Ballarat Reformatory for boys in Victoria. The justice of the comparison has been denied by the Victorian authorities, on the ground that the human material operated upon was not precisely the same. The truth seems to be that in both cases boys of criminal habits and with criminal tendencies are committed through the Courts for reformatory treatment together with merely neglected street waifs; but in the case of Victoria the younger children never reach the criminal institution—they are intercepted and sent to an industrial school, while in this Colony, in consequence of the absence of a boys' reformatory (for the "Vernon" is legally only an industrial school), the two classes of children are permitted to mix indiscriminately—a shameful condition of things which has too long been permitted to exist. No system of separation can possibly be adopted under the existing arrangements. I find on reference to the report of the Inspector of Public Charities for last year that the committals to the "Vernon" included three children between three and seven years of age, and thirty between the age of seven and ten years; and these lads, under the present method of dealing with them, inevitably associate with elder boys of the purely criminal class, several of whom have I know been convicted of the most revolting offences known to humanity. I wish it to be understood that in referring to this pernicious method of dealing with boys of tender years, many of whom are simply the homeless wanderers of the streets, I disapprove solely of the system, and in no way reflect on the management of the "Vernon," which I believe to be excellent. Indeed, I am led to understand that the Superintendent of the institution agrees with me in this matter, and is of opinion further that the ship should be used as a reformatory for elder boys only, and that the younger children should for a time be trained in an industrial school ashore, and then boarded-out. In view of the fact that a very large proportion of the elder boys of the "Vernon" are of the criminal class, it is interesting to note the difference in the results of that institution and the Ballarat Reformatory, as far as they can be ascertained from the official reports for last year, and to briefly draw attention to the cause of such difference as suggested in the leading Victorian newspapers. As indicated by the official documents, the results appear to be incomparably in favour of the "Vernon." I know from personal information that Captain Evans, Superintendent of the Ballarat Reformatory, who has recently visited this Colony officially to report on the "Vernon," denies that comparisons can fairly be made; first, because he says only forty-five per cent. of the "Vernon" boys are of the criminal class, and next, because no steps are taken to trace the career of the lads after they pass from State control in this Colony, while in Victoria the reverse is the case, and the after-life of almost every boy, whether it be good or evil, is known. I am not, however, at present concerned to establish the justice or otherwise of the comparison. What I desire to cite is the conclusion of the leading Victorian journals as to the reason for the apparently superior excellence of the "Vernon" discipline as shown by the latest annual reports, and in this connection it is not necessary to consider that the two classes of children are associated. In the general treatment of neglected and destitute children, Victoria, it is urged, has nothing to learn from New South Wales. Rather, says the writer, can the sister Colony teach her something. Victoria has adopted to a much greater extent than her neighbour the practice of boarding children out; and has proved by that extended experience its admitted superiority to any other method of dealing with State children. But in the one particular of boys who call for the operation of reforming influences, New South Wales bears away the palm from Victoria, because New South Wales has practically made boarding-out the main part of her method of reformation. The "Vernon" inmates of the purely reformatory class are retained in the ship only till they are sufficiently disciplined to be apprenticed with safety, and their career as apprentices is in many respects that of boarded-out children. This process, I may remark, however, is boarding-out without its proper safeguards. The special care in selecting homes exerted by the State Children's Relief Board, and the perpetual local and official official oversight which follows the children put out, are wanting in the case of "Vernon" apprentices. Yet, notwithstanding non-observance of the conditions, which our Board deems essential to pronounced success, many of the boys who have been demoralized by early influences and surroundings turn out well, when placed in circumstances of family life after a brief period of preliminary discipline. The fact may be justly cited, as the newspaper writer cites it, as a further proof of the value of the boarding-out system.

I have thus far dealt with the general principles of the system, and the desirability of applying them to all existing and future methods of dealing with State children in this Colony. I will now proceed to refer in detail to the operations of the State Children's Relief Department during the past year; and at the outset I would draw attention to the punctuality with which the returns have been furnished and compiled, which has admitted of the preparation within three weeks after the termination of the official year of a report of a very voluminous character.

On April 5th, 1883, there were 307 children under the control of the Board, namely, 119 boys and 188 girls. From that period till April 5th, 1884, 56 children (19 boys and 37 girls) were discharged to friends, and 1 boy and 4 girls died. 133 boys and 173 girls were selected from the various institutions and placed in homes; so that there are now 552 children (232 boys and 320 girls) under the control of the Board; of these, 221 boys and 289 girls are placed out as boarders; 6 boys and 15 girls are adopted without cost of maintenance to the State; and 5 boys and 16 girls are apprenticed. These figures do not, however, represent the total number of children thus far placed in homes. Since the initiation of the boarding-out system 648 children have been removed from the public institutions and incorporated with the family life of the country; and it will be seen from the annexed appendices that of this number 84 have been restored to their parents after careful inquiries as to the parents' fitness to receive them. I have good reason to believe that none of the children thus far discharged from State control to their friends have been returned to any of the asylums. Ten of the children restored to relatives have been sent to friends in Tasmania, Victoria, and Queensland, who were found to be well to do, and consented to receive them. Of the children now boarded-out, 1 is paid for at the rate of 10s. a week in consequence of mental and physical infirmities, which necessitate special diet, care, and nursing in her case; 2 are paid for at 7s. 6d. a week, 41 are paid for at the usual maximum subsidy of 7s., and 21 at 6s. a week, for the same reasons in a lesser degree; and the ordinary subsidy of 5s. a week is paid for the remainder of the wards, excepting those under three years of age, for whose maintenance the guardians receive 7s. a week, as provided by the regulations. Since my previous report payment for 30 infants has reverted to the minimum scale, upon the children attaining their fourth year; and as it has been determined not to again board out children under the age of three years, except in special circumstances, the only children paid for in future under the maximum rates will be the ailing or the infirm. In reference to the various classes of children dealt with, the Board have, after careful consideration, adopted the following scales of payments for the future:—

- 1.—7s. a week for children actively suffering from diseases or from chronic illness.
- 2.—6s. a week for others of delicate constitutions, but not suffering from complaints of an unpleasant character.
- 3.—5s. a week in ordinary cases of boarding-out.

The Board has decided on this course for several well-grounded reasons. Experience has shown that people will sometimes apply for very young children solely to make a money profit out of them; further, that childless women who would adopt infants without charge to the State ask for payment, thinking they may as well have it as not; and it is also naturally thought that the adoption of very young children without payment is a good guarantee for their kindly treatment. Infants of any age are, however, available for adoption as heretofore, and as it has been found that with the class of applicants who are considered desirable for foster-parents the money payment is not the primary object in view, the determination referred to is not likely to materially reduce the number of infants boarded-out, while it provides a safeguard against possible unkindness and imposition. The deaths include two from from drowning, one from malignant scarlet fever, and two from infantile wasting. In the latter cases the children were aged respectively ten and eleven months. It was thought they could not survive in the institution, and that individual care in the homes might possibly save them; but they never rallied from the illness from which they suffered when placed under the control of the Board. In both instances homes were specially selected, and increased subsidies paid to the guardians. Of the children now boarded-out 47 are paid for wholly or in part by their parents, who have contributed during the year £232 16s., an amount which it must be admitted is small in consideration of the number of parents who should be made chargeable, but which there has been much difficulty in obtaining, in view of the inability to enforce payment alluded to. A measure to remove this disability is promised by the Government, and it is hoped that it may become law as soon as the more pressing business which has engaged the attention of the Legislature during the past few months is disposed of.

In prosecutions brought by the police against defaulting guardians it has been the custom for the moneys paid into Court under magisterial orders to be forwarded direct to the Treasury. It is not sent through the institutions to which the children belonged, and so the asylums are not credited with it, although the children are maintained from asylum funds. Several such cases occurred in connection with this Department during the past year, and an effort was made to withdraw one amount from the Court, so as to test the question as to whether the usual practice should continue. The matter was referred by the Colonial Secretary to the Inspector of Public Charities for report, and the whole question was then raised, of whether it would be possible to devise a comprehensive and uniform plan of dealing, under an amended law, with defaulting guardians, so that one central authority should be responsible for the recovery of arrears, and so preserve cognizance of defaulters that few should have opportunities of escaping. After consultation with the Inspector of Charities, a memorandum was sent down from the Board, suggesting that the best way to treat these cases would be to pass them through the hands of an officer specially appointed to deal with them, and that the officer should be under the Inspector of Charities' direction. It was pointed out that a return could be furnished monthly to the Inspector by the managers of the various asylums, embodying all information supplied to them relative to the parents of the children admitted, and the sources of the admission orders. The officer would thus have a starting-point for his investigations. It was further suggested that the Inspector-General of Police might be invited to state whether the duty of prosecuting defaulters, upon cases prepared by the officer, could be vested in the police. Practically this would be merely an extension of the plan adopted at present. And in many instances the police are in possession of the principal information necessary for the preparation of these cases. If this course were followed, all moneys collected through the Courts might be paid direct into the Treasury by the police, and a record kept showing these particular transactions. The officer having the cases and results thus recorded, could periodically furnish to each of the institutions concerned statements of the payments made on their behalf, so that the managers could properly credit their respective Departments in the annual statements. Further, these proposals respecting defaulters need not affect the payments voluntarily made to the institutions by contributing parents, which could be collected as usual. If some general plan of this character were adopted, it would be improbable that parents could evade their responsibilities, because they would be well under surveillance, and, under the promised legislation, might be dealt with criminally. The fact that there are at the present time several hundreds of such defaulters is proof that the matter is not of minor importance in connection with the work of our institutions.

The sum of £6,140 was voted by Parliament for expenditure by the State Children's Relief Department during 1883. It was anticipated that this would admit of 400 children being placed out by the end of the year, but the operations of the Board increased to an extent that was unexpected, and the vote was accordingly insufficient. It therefore became necessary to ask for an advance from the Treasury, as provided by section 2 of 44 Victoria No. 24, and a further sum of £450 was accordingly placed in the Bank of New South Wales to the credit of the Board. The details of expenditure will be found in the appended balance-sheet. I have in previous previous reports explained that it is difficult to accurately calculate the precise number of children under control throughout any given period, in consequence of the irregular manner in which they are removed from the institutions, but a method of tabulating returns has been devised which will in future obviate this difficulty. Although 306 children were boarded-out from April 1st, 1883, to April 5th, 1884, the average number of these under control for a whole year, allowing for the fact that they were drafted from the asylums in monthly divisions, was only 183, or 490 altogether, inclusive of those in homes (307) when the year's work commenced. The total expenditure of £7,792 distributed over this number shows the average cost to have been about £15 18s. per child. It will thus be seen that the cost of the boarding-out system will compare favourably with that of the barrack system. This is a point, however, which, as I have already said, I do not consider to be of paramount importance so long as the best fruit for the outlay is secured to the subject and to the State. There are indeed three classes of dependent persons whose needs and misfortunes appeal specially to our humanity, and towards whom I would ever manifest a generous liberality, short of extravagance, in the disposition of public funds. They are the insane, the sick, and the orphaned. The reformation and proper training of the children thrown upon public benevolence must eventually lessen the expenditure upon gaols, and I should strongly advocate any system, no matter how costly, which would be likely to have that result, and convert the mass of the destitute juvenile population of the country into good and useful citizens.

The expenditure of the year includes maintenance and outfits of the children, cost of management, rent, travelling expenses, and sundries; and careful economy has been exercised in reference to every item. The accounts have been submitted to the Board monthly, after examination by the Finance Committee, and from my daily intercourse with the officials I have otherwise reason to believe that the financial business of the Department has been transacted with exemplary care. The estimate for the year 1884 provides for the expenditure of £12,725, and this large increase upon the vote of the previous year arises wholly from the greater number of wards to be dealt with. It is expected that by the end of the official year (April 5, 1885) there will be quite 800 children boarded-out. The vote for the year provides for the cost of additional inspection of the homes, which is now indispensable, and includes also £300 for rent of a dépôt and £700 to be expended in repairs. In connection with financial matters I may mention that the method of operating on the Parliamentary vote adopted in past years was most inconvenient; it entailed hardship on the guardians, because it seriously delayed the quarterly payments for the children's maintenance. It was customary to deposit the vote in the Bank in sums not exceeding £500, and several deposits were required to cover a quarter's liabilities. It has now been arranged that an estimate of the amount of the payments to be so made shall be prepared as soon as possible after the accounts fall due, and that a sum sufficient to liquidate them shall be promptly placed at the disposal of the Board as occasion may require, so that future delays will be avoided.

490 applications for children have been received during the year (as against 352 in the preceding twelve months). 300 applications were considered by the Board after careful investigation, of which twenty-seven were refused on the ground that the applicants were in all cases unsuitable for guardians, and in eleven instances unfit because of immorality in the homes. It is, however, satisfactory to note a marked diminution in applications of this class—a result which is doubtless due to the greater care exercised in granting recommendations. The eleven rejected applicants were so notoriously unfit that it is difficult to understand how they obtained the certificates required by the State Children's Relief Act, that they were of "sober habits and kindly character, and fit persons to have the charge and care of children."

The Board have a particular desire to encourage applications for children for adoption. This element of the boarding-out system not only relieves the State of a heavy expenditure, but it incorporates the children with the families in which they are placed in the most effective manner possible. But it has to be carefully applied to prevent abuses. It is a common practice for people to ask for children for adoption who are nearly old enough for service, in order to avoid the payments provided under the apprenticing indentures, or to evade the essential conditions of family life which

which the system imposes. Such applications are not easily detected, and consequently it has been determined to restrict the adopted children to those under eight years of age, unless good reason to the contrary can be shown. Several fatherless and motherless infants have been adopted by childless people in very good circumstances, and there can be no doubt that in such cases the children will eventually inherit property.

The children hitherto boarded-out have been selected from the asylums in the following proportions:—Benevolent Asylum, 424; Asylum for Destitute Children, Randwick, 49; Protestant Orphanage, 75; Roman Catholic Orphanage, 58; Infant's Home, Ashfield, 35; Industrial Schools for Girls, Biloela, 5; Children's Hospital, 2; total, 648. As the Benevolent Asylum is practically the national receiving house for destitute children they are promptly removed as opportunities offer for placing them in homes. And it is significant that such children, no matter how bad their home life and its surroundings may have been, are far more easily managed, and certainly do not possess worse vices, than the unfortunate little ones who have been for years trained in the institutions. This point is, however, more fully explained elsewhere apart from the statistical summary of the report with which I am now dealing.

The children at present boarded-out are located as follows:—Ashfield, 6; Annandale, 4; Armidale, 3; Balmain, 16; Burwood, 2; Brisbane Water, 3; Braidwood, 1; Bowral, 2; Bungonia, 7; Bathurst, 13; Branxton, 2; Bargo, 6; Mittagong, 1; Joadja Creek, 1; Hill Top, 4; Fitzroy Falls, 1; Kangaroo Valley, 1; Burdenda, 1; Camperdown, 3; Concord, 1; Canterbury, 2; Cootamundra, 2; Kilrush, 1; Litledale, 1; Cullinga, 1; Cobbity, 2; Elderslie, 1; Camden, 3; Cook's River, 1; Darlington, 2; Glebe, 11; Gladesville, 1; Goulburn, 111; Homebush, 3; Hay, 1; Hinton, 2; Hanbury, 2; Kingston, 6; Kogarah, 1; Kiama, 2; Leichhardt, 15; Liverpool, 1; Marrickville, 7; Miller's Forest, 2; Mudgee, 4; Morpeth, 1; Maitland, 20; Bishop's Bridge, 1; Menangle, 14; Argyle East, 4; Merriwa, 1; M'Donald Town, 3; Newtown, 19; Newcastle, 28; Tighe's Hill, 1; Nyngan, 1; Pymont, 4; Paddington, 4; Penrith, 5; Parramatta, 23; Petersham, 1; Prospect, 1; Picton, 1; Queanbeyan, 7; Mosquito Island, 4; Redfern, 7; Ryde, 4; Rookwood, 2; Redmyre, 1; Raymond Terrace, 2; Rouse Hill, 1; Sydney, 11; Summer Hill, 6; St. Leonards, 15; Surry Hills, 8; Shoalhaven, 2; Tomago, 2; Tarago, 1; Tamworth, 1; Ultimo, 2; Woodburn, 4; Milton, 3; Yatteyatah, 2; Ulladulla, 4; Waverley, 2; Woolloomooloo, 7; Waterloo, 5; Wickham, 5; Windellama, 9; Windsor and Pitt Town, 11; Wollongong, 2; Wallsend, 1; Wallerawang, 1; Watson's Bay, 1; Waratah, 6; and there are 18 boarded-out children under transfer now in the Benevolent Asylum.

It will be noted from the following classification of the guardians' occupations and circumstances that very few poor homes have been selected. The amount paid for the maintenance of the children is so small—in the great majority of cases 5s. a week only, which also covers the cost of clothing, after the first outfit is supplied by the Department—that it is not thought wise to place them in families where the cost of their food would be felt as a material item in the household expenditure. The foster-parents are, it will be seen, presumably above the pressure of poverty, being either tradesmen, farmers, or mechanics, and as there is now no difficulty in procuring homes of these classes, applications from persons in poor circumstances are not as a rule entertained. I do not wish to be understood as implying that the Board are of opinion that such persons would be unkind to the children, but it has been deemed safer not to select guardians who would be tempted by poverty to stint their charges in food or clothing. There are now registered:—Accountants, 6; home laundresses, 18; dressmakers, 24; engineers, 4; orchardists, 2; foreman of works, 2; coachman, 1; bricklayers, 4; timber merchant, 1; gasfitters, 2; blacksmiths, 4; agricultural implement maker, 1; master miller, 1; upholsterer, 3; bakers, 3; letter-carrier, 1; journeyman brewer, 1; free-selectors, 3; postmasters, 2; clergymen, 4; clerks, 6; clerk of petty sessions, 1; cordial-maker, 1; tailors, 2; dealer, 1; surveyor, 1; fruiterer, 1; carpenters, 30; mates of vessels, 2; coach-builders, 2; civil servants, 7; widows living on means, 2; builders, 13; storekeepers, 23; boatbuilder, 1; school-teachers, 13; carters, 10; railway porters, guards, and engine-drivers, 20; stationmasters, 2; stoker, 1; widows supported by sons, 3; hawker, hawker, 1; boarding-house-keepers, 3; gardeners, 15; master butchers, 2; sempstresses, 2; coroner, 1; watchmaker, 1; asylum attendants, 10; stonemasons, 2; ironworkers, 3; farmers, 73; shoemaker, 1; dairymen, 6; policemen, 2; drapers, 3; magistrate, 1; joiner, 1; plasterer, 1; painters, 5; labourers, 3; graziers, 2; teacher of music, 1; warehousemen, 5; barber, 2; commission agent, 1; clerks, 5; packers, 4; householders, 5; restaurant-keeper, 1; harnessmaker and saddler, 2; sawyer, 1; compositor, 1; salesman, 1; animal inspector, 1; poundkeeper, 1; blind-maker, 1; cutler, 1; manager, 1; brassfounder, 1; seaman, 1; doctor, 1; editor, 1; undertaker, 1; quarryman, 1; miner, 1; nurses, 5. There have been sixty-eight transfers of children from their first guardians to other foster-parents during the year. In six cases the homes were found to be unsatisfactory after an apparently wise original selection. There was no active unkindness to the children excepting in one case, but the guardians were found to be neglectful of their charges, who were at once removed and more happily placed. In the majority of cases the guardians have given up the children because of their uncleanly habits and immoral propensities—a matter fully discussed, too, in my last year's report. Several children have been placed in no less than four or five homes, with a desire to give them every possible chance of reformation before sending them to the industrial schools. No children have been forwarded to either "Biloela" or the "Vernon," but there are two at present under control whose fate in those directions is at present uncertain. Frequent transfers are undesirable, and in this connection I may fitly point out that the State Children's Relief Board of this Colony has been placed at a great disadvantage as compared with the managers of the system in the other colonies. In both Victoria and South Australia the boarding-out department has the control of all the public institutions for children. Consequently there is a reliable source for ascertaining the characters and habits of the inmates. In this Colony the Board has had no such opportunities. The selection of children has been to a large extent mere chance work. Apparently healthy little ones have been presented as pure and wholesome and manageable who have afterwards been found to be periodically afflicted with unpleasant physical infirmities, and very difficult to control. As a result a good many children have been first placed in homes to which they were quite unsuited. The transfers have been somewhat numerous, and they have not only unsettled the children but also created such dissatisfaction among the guardians that a number of good homes have been lost. The Government have, however, taken a step which will place the Board in a better position in this matter. The rent of the present offices is £250 a year, and arrangements have, I understand, been made to lease Ormond House at a rental of £300 a year for a central depôt. There children under transfer will be temporarily accommodated; and it is also intended to keep children there a week or two after their selection from the public asylums before sending them to their homes. It is hoped that by this means such a knowledge of them will be gained that "transfers," and the expense incidental thereto, will in future be far less frequent. The depôt will also afford further office and storage accommodation, which is now much needed; and there will be no additional management cost, as the boarding-out officer will be the resident superintendent.

During the past year there have been eleven regular and five special meetings of the Board, at which the attendance has been as follows:—The President, 15; Mrs. Garran, 13; Mrs. Windeyer, 11; Mrs. Jefferis, 9; Miss Stuart, 8; Lady Jennings, 7; Lady Allen, 6; Dr. Mackellar, 9; Mr. Slattery, 3. Mrs. Windeyer and Miss Stuart were on several occasions unable to attend through illness; and Mrs. Jefferis, Miss Stuart, and Mrs. Garran missed several meetings in consequence of absence from the Colony.

Mr. Sydney Maxted, the Chief Inspector and Boarding-out Officer, made 1,176 visits to children and applicants from April 1, 1883, to March 31, 1884, as shown by the records. In my report last year I drew attention to the fact that this officer's duties were so multifarious that it was impossible for him to maintain, unaided, effective official supervision of the children. On grounds of economy the appointment of another inspector has been deferred, but it cannot be longer postponed without jeopardising the children; nor is there any reason now why it should be. The Department can now fairly bear its legitimate expenses. The official staff, compared with that of Victoria, is insignificant, making due allowance for for the difference in the number of the wards under control. The children are scattered over nearly one hundred districts—the great-majority being far inland, and many in remote parts of the Colony not at present accessible by railway, but to which they were sent because of the excellence of the homes presented. It is therefore proposed to recommend immediately the appointment of a visiting officer to devote his whole time to inspection of the homes and inquiries into applications. This help will facilitate the emptying of the institutions. Applications will be more rapidly dealt with; children may be more speedily placed out. It is not, however, intended that this aid shall supersede supervision by the boarding-out officer. That will be as continuous and effective as his other duties will permit. The operations of the Board during the past few months justify the belief that if sufficient official force is provided to admit of inquiries into applications as quickly as they are received institutions for children may be abolished within the next four or five years. As to some extent showing the magnitude of the office work, it may not be out of place to mention that nearly 6,000 letters and parcels were sent out from this Department through the post office last year, and upwards of 3,500 communications were received.

There are at present 447 separate applications for 496 children registered which the Board have not been able to deal with, because it has not yet been possible to make inquiries in respect to them. 232 children are required as boarders, 53 for adoption, and 211 as apprentices. 340 applications are from Protestants, and 107 from Roman Catholics. It will be seen that the proportion of Roman Catholic applicants is very small, while, on the other hand, the children of that denomination at present available in the institutions open to the Board are, in round numbers: Protestant, 325; Roman Catholic, 300. I would therefore earnestly ask my Catholic fellow-colonists to become active co-workers in the cause of boarding-out, and to assist in providing suitable homes for their orphaned and destitute children among the people of their own faith. The State Children's Relief Act and Regulations provide that "if there be no applications from fit persons of the same religious denomination as the children, then the children may be placed with fit persons of any other denomination"; but the Board has been careful to avoid any exercise of this power. A tender regard has been paid to the religious feelings of both Protestant and Catholic communities. The children of both classes have been placed with guardians of their own faith. And where the foster-parents have wished to send their charges to the Denominational Schools, their exemption from fees has been arranged, as in the Public Schools. In his report to me for November, 1883, the Boarding-out Officer thus refers to an official visit which he had made, when at Goulburn, to the Denominational Schools:—"I found the fifteen Catholic children at the Convent School, and the conductors of that establishment bore most gratifying testimony to the manner in which these little ones were attended to in their homes, and the regularity of their school attendance. These benevolent ladies had taken sufficient interest in the system to visit the Catholic homes occasionally, and I have not yet heard stronger evidence than they have given in reference to the satisfactory manner in which the system is working." A letter from Sister La Merci, of St. Joseph's Convent, Camden, dated February 28, 1884, bears similar testimony. That lady thanks the Department for "placing a Catholic orphan child with a good simple woman, who takes every care of her," and says, in conclusion, "the child attends our school regularly, and certainly has some painful defects of character. I quite agree with you that her disposition requires careful and kind training. As much as possible we look after her, and will visit her in her present home. Accept our sincere thanks for the interest you take in the child, and for the goodness which prompted you to write about her." Similar letters might be multiplied, as showing that the feelings of those communities who desire their children to be taught in their own schools are fully considered.

I direct attention to the tabulated school reports in Appendix M. It will be seen from these that the school attendance of the children has on the whole been very regular. Apprenticed children are only required to attend seventy days half-yearly, and when their educational attainments are up to the standard fixed by law they are exempted by certificate from school instruction. Two such certificates have been issued. It is not considered advisable to allow home instruction to supersede school school attendance, except in isolated instances, in which special reasons may exist for the concession. It might possibly be urged otherwise that there was no safe guarantee for the children's sufficient education.

I have thus far, in the historical division of this report, dealt chiefly with a summary of the statistics of the year's operations, and remarks and suggestions incidental thereto. I will, in the concluding section, as briefly as possible, refer to a few matters of general interest, the omission of which would render an official document of this character imperfect.

First, I desire to state that I think it will be necessary to effect a change in the near future in connection with the apprenticing of children. At present their boarding-out period terminates when they are twelve years of age, and they are sent to service for five years. But they are not then exempted from attendance at school. Now it is not reasonable to expect that people will engage the children as servants and pay for the privilege of educating them. Nor do I think a girl twelve years of age should lapse into service, pure and simple. That is a critical period of child-life, when motherly guidance and careful home-training are most urgently needed. And the result of apprenticing at this age also will be that on attaining their eighteenth year the boys and girls will probably be turned adrift into the world to fight the battle of life unaided, just at a time when their passions are strongest, and they require restraining influences most. This point has recently engaged the attention of social reformers in England and Victoria; and in many of the Home Unions, and in the sister Colony also, the boarding-out age has been extended to fourteen and fifteen years, according to circumstances. I feel convinced that a similar step should be taken in this Colony; I know my view is endorsed by the managers of our principal institutions, whose opinions are entitled to respect, and I trust that the necessary legislation will soon be applied to this matter.

By an authority from the Colonial Secretary, granted under an opinion from Mr. Attorney-General Dalley, the Board first proceeded to withdraw children from Randwick Asylum on July 21, 1883. The law admits of the withdrawal of all children under twelve years of age admitted by an order from the Colonial Secretary. Five girls were selected, aged from nine to eleven years, a number of scrofulous and ophthalmic children having previously been tendered and rejected, on the ground that it would not be safe to plant them in healthy families. A deputation of Randwick Directors and Officers waited on the Colonial Secretary and protested against the withdrawal of the healthy and elder children, and the rejection of the children who had been proffered for boarding-out. The action of the Department, however, was upheld. On March 29, 1884, the Randwick Directors again entered a protest with the Colonial Secretary "against the system adopted in the matter of selecting children"; and pointed out that the children withdrawn were of too great an age to be benefited by the boarding-out system; that, in fact, they would in a year or two be eligible for apprenticeship direct from the institution, in which case, it was urged, "the State would be relieved of the cost of their maintenance; the claims of long-standing applicants for apprentices would have been satisfied, and the children would have enjoyed all the comforts and advantages of happy and prosperous homes." And it was requested that boarding-out operations at Randwick might be restricted to young and delicate children. Now, I suspect that the Directors were not made acquainted with the manner in which this Department had dealt with their children. As a matter of fact, up to March 29, 1884, the average age of the forty-nine children withdrawn from Randwick Asylum was eight years. The delicate children were not ignored. A number of them were boarded-out. The only children rejected were, as I have said, those suffering from such complaints as rendered it unsafe for them to be placed with healthy children, but whom the Board hope to be able to deal with one day in cottage homes, as I have stated in a previous part of this Report. In the statistical portion of this Report brief mention is made of the fact that sixty-five delicate children, selected from various institutions, are now paid for at special rates, which entail an extra expenditure for maintenance above ordinary boarding-out charges amounting to £292 14s. a year. This expenditure would not have been incurred if the Department had dealt only with healthy subjects; nor stand, as it does at present, as an unfair charge against the boarding-out

boarding-out system. The following extract from the official record respecting eight children provided for under special rates at the last meeting of the Board will afford an accurate idea of the condition generally of children of this class :—
 “ A. and F.G., scrofulous; suffer frequently from scalp and skin eruption; liberal milk diet recommended. A.C., necrosis of skull; to remain with guardian until fit for an operation. M.O., chronic ophthalmia—a bad case. M.M., very delicate; consumptive; requires nourishing with cod-liver oil daily. B.C., prolapsus ani. D.B., very scrofulous; liberal milk diet ordered.”

As a fact, too, there are no very young girls available for boarding-out at Randwick Asylum at present. The only Government girls there under seven years of age at the date of this report are nine Protestants and seven Catholics, so that to comply with the wish expressed in the protest referred to would be to cease boarding-out from the Randwick Institution. The absence of young children has resulted from the fact that from January 31, 1883, to January 31, 1884, 146 children of the average age of 5½ years were boarded-out from the Benevolent Asylum who would otherwise have been transferred to Randwick. The physical as well as the moral advantages accruing to these children can be best judged from the medical report of Randwick Asylum for 1882. During that year there was an average of 672 children in the institution, of whom no less than 386 were admitted at one time or other into the Catherine Hayes Hospital, “many,” the report says, “being admitted more than once.” 149 suffered from ophthalmia, and the majority of the remainder were under treatment for various skin eruptions. 386 children sent into hospital in one year, all of whom were presumably healthy when taken into the asylum, because By-law No. 6 provides that no child shall be admitted into the institution unless certified by a medical man to be free from any contagious, infectious, or cutaneous diseases. This astounding record discloses in a very practical way two complaints admitted by all experienced medical men to be the bane of large institutions—namely, ophthalmia and skin eruptions, and from both of which the children are in most cases permanently cured in a few months when they are placed in healthy country homes. That has been the experience of this Board, and of managers of the boarding-out system all over the world.

Before leaving the matter of the foregoing paragraph I think it well to quote the following sentences from a letter which the Board decided to send to the Colonial Secretary in reply to the representations in reference to the selection of the so-called elder children :—“ It appears to this Board that the most important point to be considered now is whether it is desirable to continue to extend boarding-out operations to the Government girls referred to as elder children—that is, those between the ages of eight and twelve years. The result of the operation of the boarding-out system on such children thus far selected from the various institutions has disclosed that it is of the most vital importance to their future moral welfare that they should be placed under proper home training and influences as boarders for a year or two if possible before being sent to service. It is necessary to explain fully what is meant by this statement, and this explanation is given in the annexed memo. without the slightest desire to reflect on the management of Randwick or any other asylum. The demoralized condition of these unhappy children has doubtless been the result of barrack training rather than of defective management, because the care of wisely-selected guardians has after a time effected a decided improvement in their morals, manners, and habits. It is very unlikely that this result would have been gained if they had been dealt with purely as servants. . . . The advantages claimed for the children apprenticed from Randwick Asylum are secured to them in a much higher degree if they are previously for a time placed out as boarders and then apprenticed; and the State is quite as speedily relieved of the cost of their maintenance, as the children are in both cases sent to service at the age of twelve years. As apprentices from the State Children’s Relief Department they are under the effective supervision and frequent inspection of local committees and responsible government officials—a protection which they certainly do not have if apprenticed direct from the public institutions. A feature has also been disclosed in connection with the apprenticing of boarded-out children which makes it still more desirable that the elder girls under the service age in the public asylums should when possible be for a time placed in suitable homes as boarders. Recently it became necessary for the Board to apprentice sixteen children whose periods of boarding-out had expired, and in every instance excepting two the foster-parent (although proffered other children) decided to retain the child under wages. These children will never be really treated as servants to a greater extent than the natural members of the family are so treated; they will still attend school; have their meals with the guardians; and in all essential respects be dealt with precisely as they were under the boarding-out license. It is manifest that this element of the boarding-out system must be a powerful factor of good results in respect to the after lives of the children who are thus absorbed into the family life of the country and trained under proper motherly influences to habits of morality, industry, and self-reliance." The memorandum referred to gives an illustration of twenty-four cases of boarded-out girls, all under twelve years of age, selected from the public asylums, who have been detected in the indulgence of the most revolting sexual practices. One of the worst cases is that of a child ten years old, whose sister, trained in the same institution, has been in prison for prostitution. All the cases are well authenticated, and the guardians' inquiries have led to the belief that these poor little creatures have been morally contaminated by the introduction into the institutions from which they were selected of some thoroughly bad children.
 sixteen

That wise provision of the State Children Relief Act which defines as a "State child" any child for whose admission into an institution a Colonial Secretary's order has been issued, was availed of in a number of cases during the past year, and has saved a number of children from the hardships of lengthy journeys, and the State from the expense which would have been incidental thereto. At Nyngan, Mudgee, Forbes, Newcastle, and in several other districts it became necessary to provide homes for orphan and destitute children. Instead of being first conveyed to the Benevolent Asylum, as the law formerly required, they were directly boarded-out in suitable homes in their own neighbourhoods, and placed under the care of local committees.

The following are the visitors at present aiding the Board in the districts named, and to whose valuable services I have already alluded more fully:—
 Armidale—Mrs. Allingham, Mrs. Donolly, Mrs. Orridge, Mrs. Moses, Mrs. Kenny, Mrs. Patrick, Miss Wormersley. Ashfield—Mrs. Griffiths, Miss Griffiths. Brisbane Water—Mrs. T. C. Battle, Mrs. Reeve, Mrs. Herbert. Bowral—Mrs. Bowen. Balmain—Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Ford. Bungonia—Mrs. Proctor. Bathurst—Mrs. F. B. Suttor and Mrs. Webb. Berrima—Mrs. Geo. Sheppard and Mrs. Wilshire. Cobbitty—Mrs. Allnut. Cootamundra—Mrs. Gray. Coonabarabran—Mrs. M. A. B. Lamont. Camden—Mrs. Palmer. Cassilis—Mrs. Trail. Deniliquin—Mrs. McCulloch, Mrs. McArthur, Mrs. Noyes, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. S. T. G. Watson. Forbes—Mrs. A. A. Aspinall, Mrs. Raymond, Mrs. Dunstan. Field of Mars—Mrs. Stuart. Goulburn—Mrs. de Lauret, Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Hayes. Glebe—Mrs. J. G. Fraser. Grafton—Mrs. McDougall. Kiama—Mrs. Dove and Miss Kendall. Lismore—Mrs. Bryant. Leichhardt—Mrs. Finlayson. Marrickville—Mrs. S. C. Brown. Moss Vale—Mrs. H. E. Kater. Menangle—Mrs. Onslow. Morpeth—Mrs. Pearson. Merriwa—Mrs. John Shaw. Mittagong—Mrs. F. C. Williams. Newcastle—Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. O'Sullivan, Mrs. Selwyn, Mrs. Weatherill. Newtown—Mrs. Hey-Sharp. Parramatta—Mrs. Hugh Taylor, Mrs. W. J. Gunther. Queanbeyan—Miss Campbell, Mrs. P. G. Smith, Mrs. Willans, Mrs. Kemp. Raymond Terrace—Mrs. Caddell, Mrs. S. Simm. Ryde—Mrs. Collingridge, Mrs. J. C. Manning. Redmyre—Mrs. Nott. St. Leonards—Mrs. J. P. Abbott and Mrs. Whitton. Sutton Forest—Mrs. Badgery. Stroud—Mrs. MacKenzie. Tarago—Mrs. Cropper. Windsor—Mrs. Bloomfield, Miss Johnston. Wollongong—Mrs. Ewing. Woollahra—Mrs. Alexander Gordon. West Maitland—Mrs. Gillies, Mrs. Prentice, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Trenchard. Woolloomooloo—Mrs. Kyngdon. Wallsend—Mrs. Neilson. Waverley—Mrs. Simpson. Ulladulla—Mrs. McMahon, Mrs. Stoddart, Miss Kendall.

The Board have still to complain of parents and other relatives not in indigent circumstances permitting children to remain a charge upon State charity until they are old enough to earn money, and then making determined efforts to reclaim them. The Board have an earnest desire to re-unite parent and child if the slightest justification justification for doing so is presented; but applications such as I have alluded to will not be entertained. It is justly considered that the child old enough for service, whose natural protector has manifested no interest in its welfare until it is able to become a source of profit, will be happier and better cared for in a good home selected and supervised by its legal guardians than with an unnatural parent.

No permanent arrangement for providing medical attendance to the boarded-out children has yet been made, and I have once more to present the grateful acknowledgments of the Board to those medical gentlemen who have now for a period of three years given the children who needed it their valuable help without fee or reward. It is not possible to overvalue such services, nor too highly appreciate the benevolent motives which dictated them. In this connection I am glad to quote the words of a member of the medical profession, who is also one of the members of our own Board:—"Much of the success which has attended the system hitherto is due to the characteristic philanthropy of the members of the medical profession, who have in many districts attended the children either free of charge or at nominal fees, and acted as advisers to the guardians when special treatment was necessary. It is hoped that these gentlemen will continue to exercise this benevolence, and thus help to lighten the burden of the State in developing this new system of dealing with the waifs and strays of the community, and the permanent success of which must depend largely upon its economical administration, as well as upon its more solid advantages." The general health of the children has been good during the year, and I have again to mention with satisfaction the numerous instances of delicate children selected from the asylums generally becoming robust under the influences of family life and individual care. Especially is the change beneficial to scrofulous children, of whom many have been placed out, and who require liberal milk and vegetable diet and plenty of out-door exercise. Cases can be multiplied in which such children, who would probably have pined away or continued to lead a miserable existence, if not removed from the institution, have in their changed circumstances after some time ceased to present any traces of hereditary taint. Indeed it is this result which has induced the Board to make special efforts to obtain homes under the maximum subsidy, notwithstanding that the system has in consequence been charged with an expense which does not legitimately belong to it. Two of the elder lads, who had for some weeks suffered from scarlet fever at Cootamundra, were, when approaching convalescence, sent to the Coast Hospital, Little Bay, where they soon recovered strength, and were again boarded-out. One child has been in hospital some weeks under treatment for deafness, which is congenital. A sad accident happened at Goulburn during the past month, by which a brother and sister lost their lives. They proceeded to a creek at the rear of their dwelling for water for their silver fish, when the girl, aged nine, fell in, and the brother, aged twelve, endeavoured to save her. Both were drowned. Two boys, aged six and eleven years respectively, sustained broken arms by falls from horses.

During the past year the boarding-out system has been extended into the dairy-farming districts along the southern coast as far as Ulladulla, and to similar localities in the interior. The cost of reaching these districts is somewhat heavy, but the advantages to the children are very great. There is reason to believe that many such homes can be obtained for boys of ten years of age. The guardians thus far selected have faithfully complied with all the essential conditions of boarding-out. They have sent the children to school, and taken them to their own table; and the employments they have been put to are such as the families of the homes are generally trained in. In this way many of the elder boys will obtain a good knowledge of dairy-farming before their apprenticeship, and when that event is necessary there will be no difficulty in obtaining homes for them. This occupation will, it is believed, afford employment by-and-by to many lads for whom it might be difficult to find trades; and will also, it cannot be doubted, tend to create a most desirable class of colonists. This is one of the results gained in a very marked degree by the Redhill Reformatory to which allusion has been made in another part of this report.

It has been discovered that the boarding-out system will in time greatly diminish the number of dependent children. It has transpired that many parents who would willingly allow their little ones to remain in institutions, where they are easily easily accessible, readily make homes for them when they are about to be sent into the country. In this way, as others, the system will tend to decrease pauperism, and to cause many careless parents to fulfil their natural obligations.

On March 31, 1884, the following minute was received from the Minister for Public Instruction :—" I shall be glad if the State Children's Relief Board will as quickly as possible make arrangements to board-out such of the children in the orphan schools at Parramatta as are now suitable to be boarded-out." As it had already been officially notified by the Minister that the children in the orphanages old enough to be apprenticed were to be immediately sent to service, and there were to be no further admissions, the effect of this minute if acted upon would be to bring speedy finality to the institutions. The minute had not, however, been received through the Colonial Secretary's Department, of which the State Children's Relief Department is a branch, and as the Colonial Secretary had power under section 4 of 44 Vic. No. 24 to step in and prevent its operation, even if it were adopted by the Board, it was considered necessary before taking action as advised to forward the minute to the Colonial Secretary for his consideration. That course was adopted; and the Minister for Public Instruction was so informed. It is perhaps as well to state in connection with this important matter that a few months previously a resolution was passed by the State Children's Relief Board that, in order that no objection should be raised to the boarding-out system on the ground of its partial administration either as regarded the numbers withdrawn from the various asylums or the religious professions of the children selected, all children should, when practicable, be placed out from the Benevolent Asylum. That institution was specifically mentioned because it is only a receiving-house, and its managers are anxious that as soon after the children are admitted as possible they shall be provided with permanent homes. But it was further decided that when children could not be provided from the Benevolent Asylum to suit the homes under the boarding-out system, they should be selected from other institutions in proportion to the number of inmates in each; and further, that they should be boarded-out in the proportion of two Protestants to one Catholic when possible, so as to preserve, as far as it could be done in connection with the system, the same proportions of those two classes of the community as it is roughly estimated exist in relation to the whole population of the Colony.

For the purposes of this report, the usual circular was sent to the guardians a few days ago, requesting them to state, in reference to the wards boarded-out during the past year, the physical condition, manners; and habits of the children when they were first received, whether any improvement had been noticed during the period of guardianship, and, if so, in what respects. I again this year direct attention to the singular unanimity of the replies from guardians residing at such widely different points that intercommunication was not probable. I also further direct attention to the usual letters from the children as to their mode of life and treatment; from lady visitors respecting the operation of the boarding-out system in their respective districts; and generally to the interesting particulars which the Appendices contain.

In conclusion, I only discharge a most gratifying obligation when I express my great satisfaction not only with the success which has attended the operation of the boarding-out system, but also with the hearty co-operation and sympathy evinced by all those who have assisted in its development during the past year. It was only natural to expect that the lady members of the Board, who virtually initiated the system in this Colony, should continue to take a most anxious interest (as they have done) in its further extension. Scarcely less valuable have been the unwearied efforts of the lady visitors and the local committees throughout the Colony. The Chief Inspector and Boarding-out Officer has performed his highly responsible and onerous duties to the entire satisfaction of the Board, and much of the success of the system is undoubtedly due to his careful oversight of the little ones and their homes. And the other officers have assiduously and faithfully discharged their duties. I have pleasure in acknowledging the valuable assistance rendered to the Department by the Inspector-General of Police, who has strengthened our hands with even more than mere official assistance. The authorities of the various institutions—and more especially especially of the Benevolent Asylum, whose Matron has given personal and essential assistance—deserve my best thanks for the help they have rendered; and although some little friction has occurred on one or two occasions, this has arisen, I trust, solely from an anxious desire for the welfare of the children, and not so much for the promotion of the particular institution; and must surely disappear as the benefits of the boarding-out system are more clearly discerned, and its unrivalled claims in promoting the true happiness of our poor little fellow-creatures—the definite end for which all our labour is undertaken on their behalf—becomes more and more surely established.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

ARTHUR RENWICK.

---

The Tables containing names and ages of the children hitherto boarded-out, and other details referred to in the body of this Report, have been submitted to Parliament in accordance with the requirements of 44 Vic. No. 24.

---

APPENDIX A.

	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Children boarded-out on April 5, 1883.....	119	188	307
Boarded-out from April 6 to 30, 1883 .....	3	3	6
Do during May, 1883 .....	11	13	24
Do do June, „ .....	5	8	13
Do do July, „ .....	10	14	24
Do do Aug., „ .....	20	39	59
Do do Sept., „ .....	15	11	26
Do do Oct., „ .....	10	24	34
Do do Nov., „ .....	18	11	29
Do do Dec., „ .....	8	10	18
Do do Jan., 1884 .....	12	9	21
Do do Feb., „ .....	11	14	25
Do do March, „ .....	8	16	24
Do to April, „ .....	2	1	3
	252	361	613
	Boys.	Girls.
Died, from April 5, 1883, to April 5, 1884.....	1	4 — 5	61
Returned to parents during same period .....	19	37 — 56
	232	320	552

Of these children, 509 are paid for as boarders, viz., 1 at 10s., 2 at 7s. 6d., 61 at 7s., 21 at 6s., and 425 at 5s. a week; 21 are adopted without subsidy, and 21 are apprenticed.

Parents contribute wholly or in part to the support of 47 of the boarded-out children, and the remainder are supported by the State.

Of the children who died, 2 (brother and sister) were drowned; 1 died of malignant scarlet fever; 2 (infants under 1 year of age) succumbed to infantile wasting, from which they suffered when placed out.

In consequence of protests in reference to the selection of children from one of the principal institutions, boarding-out operations have been retarded on several occasions during the year pending the decision of such protests by the Colonial Secretary.

This return shows the number of children dealt with during the past year only. The total number boarded-out since the establishment of the boarding-out system in New South Wales has been 648. [See Appendix K.]

APPENDIX B.

TABLE showing Ages at which Children have been placed out.

Under 1 year.	1 to 2.	2 to 3.	3 to 4.	4 to 5.	5 to 6.	6 to 7.	7 to 8.	8 to 9.	9 to 10.	10 to 11.	11 to 12.	Total.
5	21	56	72	67	61	59	49	75	69	56	58	648

It will be seen from the above table that the average age of the children hitherto placed out under the boarding-out system has been between six and seven years.

APPENDIX C.

TABLE showing the Religion (as recorded at the Institutions) of all Children hitherto boarded-out.

Church of England.	Roman Catholic.	Presbyterian.	Wesleyan.	Congregational.	Protestants not otherwise specified.	Primitive Methodists.	Total.
171	172	13	17	2	271	2	648

The children withdrawn from the Protestant Orphanage and Infants' Home, Ashfield, are classed as "Protestant." There is no classification of the various denominations at those Institutions.

APPENDIX D.

ASYLUMS from which Children have been boarded-out.

Benevolent Asylum.	Randwick Asylum.	Protestant Orphanage.	Roman Catholic Orphanage.	Ashfield Home.	Biloela.	Children's Hospital.	Total.
424	49	75	58	35	5	2	648

APPENDIX E.

TABLE showing particulars of all Children hitherto placed out under the Boarding-out system in New South Wales.

Father dead, mother a drunkard .....	13	Father dead, deserted by mother .....	7
Father deserted, mother in service .....	2	Father unknown, mother destitute .....	6
Father dead, deserted by mother .....	10	Deserted by both parents, illegitimate .....	23
Father deserted, mother dead .....	25	Deserted by both parents, married .....	16
Father in gaol, mother destitute .....	23	Found on door-steps, parents not known .....	3
Father in gaol, mother dead .....	5	Found in Hyde Park, parents not known .....	1
Father deserted, mother destitute .....	62	Both parents dead .....	60
Father dead, mother paralyzed .....	2	Father unknown, deserted by mother .....	5
Father dead, mother destitute .....	122	Both parents in gaol .....	10
Father lunatic, mother destitute .....	6	Parents unknown .....	50
Father helpless, mother lunatic .....	2	Father unknown, mother dead .....	1
Father dead, mother lunatic .....	6	Father drunkard and a cripple, mother a drunkard ...	1
Father unknown, mother lunatic .....	2	Father dead, mother in gaol .....	3
Father lunatic, mother dead .....	5	Father dead, mother killed by step-father .....	2
Father in gaol, mother lunatic .....	1	Father dead, mother unknown .....	2
Father deserted, mother lunatic .....	3	Illegitimate, mother in asylum .....	1
Father in asylum, deserted by mother .....	1	Father helpless, mother in gaol .....	2
Father will not support them, mother dead .....	4	Mother insane, illegitimate .....	1
Father cannot work, mother dead .....	4	Mother drunkard, illegitimate .....	1
Father cannot work, deserted by mother .....	2	Father deserted, mother consumptive .....	1
Father deserted, mother destitute .....	2	Mother a half-caste .....	1
Father deserted, mother unknown .....	3	Father out of employment, mother deserted .....	7
Father pays to support, mother drunkard .....	4	Father out of employment, mother dead .....	1
Father contributes to support, mother in gaol .....	5	Father cripple, mother deserted .....	3
Father contributes to support, mother dead .....	28	Mother a half-caste, living with a man at Narrabri ...	1
Father unknown, mother contributes to support .....	7	Father drunkard, mother dead .....	4
Father dead, mother contributes to support .....	7	Father deserted, mother drunkard .....	3
Father deserted, mother on streets .....	6	Parents of weak intellect .....	1
Father unknown, mother on streets .....	7	Father in gaol, mother dead .....	1
Father in gaol, mother on streets .....	5	Father ill, mother dead .....	1
Father drunkard, mother destitute .....	4	Father contributes, mother deserted .....	1
Father drunkard, mother in gaol .....	1	Father in asylum, mother dead .....	1
Father deserted, mother in gaol .....	4	Father of unsound mind, mother in gaol .....	1
Father cripple, mother in gaol .....	1	Father unable to work, mother dead .....	1
Father deserted, children found sleeping in paddock with mother .....	2	Father helpless, mother dead .....	1
Father destitute and consumptive .....	5	Both parents drunkards .....	2
Father drunkard, deserted by mother .....	6	Father paralyzed, mother deserted .....	2
Father blind, mother destitute .....	1	Father destitute, mother dead .....	1
Father dead, mother unknown .....	8	Father in gaol, mother deserted .....	4
Father dead, mother in gaol .....	5	Father in gaol, mother unknown .....	1
Father unknown, mother in gaol .....	3
		Total .....	648

APPENDIX F.

[EXTRACTS from Boarding-out Officer's Reports upon applications. Initials are fictitious. Correct names are entered in Report Book.]

A.—Applicant wants girl, aged nine years, as boarder. Keeps small roadside store,  $\frac{1}{4}$  mile from school,  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile from church. House fairly well furnished, contains four rooms. Child to sleep in separate bed in applicant's own room. Very unfavourably impressed with this woman. When I visited her she was very much under the influence of drink, and was drinking ale with two men—apparently bushmen—in the shop, one of whom passed her money as she opened a bottle of ale. \* \* \* \* \* Appears to me to keep a house for sly grog-selling. Police suspect her of this practice.

* * * * * [Memo.—This suspicion was subsequently confirmed.]

B.—Wants two boys as boarders. Comfortable home, and applicant apparently respectable. * * * * * A very plausible woman. * * * * * One neighbour speaks well of her—two the contrary. * * * * * Represented that she is not a respectable woman, that she drinks and gambles, and has kept until very recently a lodging-house of the lowest possible description for immoral purpose * * * * * Police confirm this report.

C.—Applies for a boy boarder. Home very poor one. Woman's face marked as if from blows. Breakfast when I called consisted of bread and dripping, and tea without milk. Two neighbours give this home a very bad reputation. One person states applicant has a child in gaol. Police say that one of applicant's children is in a reformatory for robbery, and that another has recently been sentenced to a fortnight's imprisonment for theft; further, that applicant is a wife-beater.

D.—Applies for two children, boy and girl, as boarders. House very dirty. My inquiries elicited from two neighbours some serious imputations upon the morality of this family. Six persons—two of them respectable storekeepers—whom I inquired of, all say applicant and daughters not respectable people. Police do not know anything of this home.

E.—Wants four children as boarders. A leading resident, a neighbour, says — is very often drunk, and that his wife is seldom sober; also that she is in other respects a most immoral character. Applicants are in very good circumstances. Similar information supplied by two other respectable persons. Proceeded to the home, and saw sufficient evidence that it was a most unfit place for children. The woman appeared to be on the verge of delirium, apparently from drink, and had certainly been drinking heavily very recently. Her general reputation is very bad.

F.—Wants four girls as boarders. My inquiries in five quarters lead me to believe this woman is of immoral character, and cruel to children. Her own family of little children are allowed to run about the streets ragged and dirty. Two of our guardians, who profess to have known applicant many years, state that when her husband was dying it was notorious among the near neighbours that she was upon improper terms with a young man residing in her house.

G.—Woman reported by three persons who say they know her well to be very cruel to and neglectful of her own children. Applies for a girl. Husband is spoken of as brutal in behaviour to his family, and has just been refused an hotel license. Two of my informants spoke very reluctantly, and refused first to give me information, until I pointed out how necessary it was to tell the truth in the interests of the children. Applies for two girls.

H.—My inquiries elicited a favourable report of applicant's wife. Was informed that the husband is not of proper character; that he uses very bad language, and ill-treats his wife, of whom the neighbours speak in terms of sympathy. She presents the appearance of an ill-used and broken-down creature. Applies for girl.

I.—Applies for girl. Two neighbours say applicant thrashes his wife, and that two of his children have been before the police court for theft. Police report most unfavourable.

J.—Wants a girl, aged twelve. Is said to be of very dissipated habits. Neighbours strongly recommend that a child should not be entrusted to her. Also reported that moral character is not good.

K.

K.—Applies for three children under one year old. Home in a very bad neighbourhood. Applicant is foster-mother to two infants (not State children) already, who present a dirty and emaciated appearance. One neighbour remarked that "Mrs. — is going in for baby-farming."

L.—Applies for girl ten years of age. Received a very bad character of this home from three persons who live near by. The woman is occasionally intemperate, and I am informed that the husband seldom comes home sober. He also thrashes his wife frequently, and one of my informants has had to interfere to stop him. He is also said to be a gambler, and the family are frequently in great straits for the common necessities of life.

M.—Applicant is a well-to-do farmer, without children, and wants a brother and sister. The recommendations in this case are of a special character. Applicant is certified by a clergyman and a magistrate to be "of kindly character, and fit to have the care of children"; and another magistrate declares in a lengthy letter that applicant is "industrious and respectable and particularly fond of children." My inquiries, on the other hand, tend to show that he is a violent and brutal man, and the police record indicates that he has been once before the police court in reference to alleged ill-usage of a lad from a public institution; and on another occasion the local Bench refused to apprentice a boy from a public institution to him because of his well-known cruel propensities.

N.—Wants a boy for adoption. An excellent home apparently, and applicant, from his conversation, seems to have a proper appreciation of parental duty. I note this fact in justice to the clergyman who signed the usual certificate. Have discovered, however, that applicant has been punished at the police court for assaulting his apprentice from a public institution with a hay-fork, with which he wounded him in two places, the cause of offence being that the boy did not plant some potatoes properly. I have also heard some very unpleasant rumours, which I have not been able to substantiate, as to applicant's moral character.

O.—Applies for two sisters. Two neighbours gave this applicant a good character in addition to the clergyman; the home appeared very comfortable, and the children were consequently sent to him. The official visits disclosed that the man was quite unfit to be a guardian. He was of immoral character, was frequently intoxicated, and ill-treated his wife greatly. The children were removed. The wife was a thoroughly worthy woman, but the recommendation was given to the man, and it was discovered that the minister who gave it never saw him before the occasion on which he signed the certificate.

P.—Applies for a girl. Comfortable home. Woman's appearance not satisfactory. A neighbour speaks well of her. Postponed. Further inquiry: Believe this to be a most improper home; applicant is living apart from her husband, and was certainly greatly under the influence of drink when I saw her to-day. Am informed that her relations with a man who resides in the same house are of a most improper description. Third inquiry: This information is confirmed to-day by an authority which should be reliable. Have also been told that applicant assaulted her servant to-day with a billet of wood, and is likely to be summoned to the police court. Saw the servant's head bandaged, and could see that she had either been assaulted or had an accident, but could not find an opportunity of ascertaining particulars. Mrs. —'s appearance to-day confirms my opinion that she drinks habitually.

Q.—Applies for a girl. Resides next door to a dirty-looking house in which five or six Chinamen live; and have been informed that a daughter of applicant's was sent to Biloela, and a son to the "Vernon." Applicant first denied, but subsequently admitted, that this information is correct.

R.—Wants a girl ten years old as boarder. Applicant is said to be immoral. Do not like her appearance. Her manner is unpleasant. The woman's house was very dirty when I called on Sunday morning, and the two babies were in a similar state. I called about 12 o'clock.

S.—Asks for three or four boys. Recommended as a suitable home. Found home very dirty. Front windows broken; children all dirty and ragged, and none of them at school on Sunday morning. Very little bedding in place. No sign of drink, but home appears to be very poor, and the eldest girl has a very fast appearance.

T.—Applies for a boy and girl, three to five years, as boarders. Woman said to be respectable. Found the two front rooms empty. Family live in two skillions—one being a bed-room and sitting-room, the other a kitchen and dining-room. House shockingly dirty, and in the two rooms referred to as empty at least a cartload of empty bottles (beer, brandy, and whisky). In the yard found Mr. —, who appeared to me to be on the verge of delirium tremens—face bloated and disfigured, as if from drink. Neighbours stated that he is imbecile, and has been in a Lunatic Asylum—that he has not done any work for eight months.

U.—Is an applicant for a boy twelve years of age for service. Reputed to be well off, but said to be a man of immoral habits, and was recently charged with indecent assault. He was discharged, but am informed on good authority that the circumstances were such as to warrant the belief that the case was a most suspicious one.

V.—Wishes for a boy twelve years of age for service. Inquiries lead to belief that applicant is an habitual drunkard and is otherwise not of good character—also swears greatly.

W.—Wants also a boy twelve years for service. He is son of above, and said to have same faults.

X.—Asks for a girl nine or ten years old as boarder. Reported on good authority that applicant drinks, and the home is a very unhappy one. At present belongs to Salvation Army, but breaks out drinking frequently, and is very violent.

Y.—Applies for boy and girl, three years, boarders. Reported to me by person who knows applicant well, and on whose word I can rely, that applicant drinks, and is in other respects most undesirable for a guardian.

Z.—Applies for four boys, boarders, from four to eight years. Woman's husband said to be a very bad character. Drinks heavily, and has been several times at Court at the instance of his wife. She seems a motherly kind of woman, but the general reputation of the home is bad.

NOTE.—All the foregoing applicants succeeded in obtaining the necessary certificates that they were of sober character, and fit persons to have the care of young children.

APPENDIX G.

THE State Children's Relief Department in account with the Colonial Treasurer during the year ended 5th April, 1884.

PAYMENTS.		RECEIPTS.
	£ s. d.		£ s. d.
To board of children from April 1, 1883, to March 31, 1884 .....	5,501 10 8	By balance in Bank, March 31, 1883.....	19 6 11
„ Clothing from April 1, 1883, to March 31, 1884 .....	948 14 7	„ Deposit from Treasury, May, 1883 .....	500 0 0
„ Boxes for children's outfits* .....	83 6 8	„ „ „ July, „ .....	1,000 0 0
„ Boarding-out Officer's salary from April 1, 1883, to March 31, 1884 .....	400 0 0	„ „ „ Aug., „ .....	500 0 0
„ Secretary's salary, ditto.....	200 0 0	„ „ „ Oct., „ .....	1,500 0 0
„ Rent from March 9, 1883, to March 9, 1884 .....	227 0 0	„ Refund, D. Robinson, „ „ .....	1 5 0
„ Incidental expenses† .....	96 4 2	„ Deposit from Treasury, Jan., 1884 .....	1,300 0 0
„ Advertising .....	33 17 0	„ „ „ „ „ .....	450 0 0
„ Conveyance of children to destinations and cartage of outfits, ditto* .....	139 10 5	„ „ „ „ „ .....	150 0 0
„ Medical attendance and medicines .....	50 0 8	„ „ „ „ „ .....	1,920 0 0
„ Travelling expenses .....	111 14 11	„ Treasury for Boarding-out Officer's salary to March 31, 1884 .....	400 0 0
„ Balance in Bank after paying accounts to March 31, 1884 .....	148 12 10	„ Treasury for Secretary's salary to March 31, 1884 .....	200 0 0
	£7,940 11 11		£7,940 11 11

* Cost of boxes and conveyance of outfits will be greatly reduced in future. A cheaper tin box (which can be carried by the children) will be substituted for the large wooden box hitherto used.

† Incidental expenses (£96 4s. 2d.) include—Clerical assistance, £59 10s.; lighting, £15 19s. 1d.; money orders on guardians' payments, £7 5s. 10d.; repairs, £2 13s.; sundries, £10 16s. 3d.

Parents' Maintenance Account.

Dr.		£ s. d.	Cr.		£ s. d.
1883.			1883.
April 30.	—To collections from parents towards support of boarded-out children...	14 3 0	May 1.	—By cash to Treasury .....	14 3 0
May 31.	" Do. do. ....	19 12 0	June 1.	" Do. ....	19 12 0
June 30.	" Do. do. ....	8 3 0	June 30.	" Do. ....	8 3 0
July 31.	" Do. do. ....	14 3 0	Aug. 1.	" Do. ....	14 3 0
Aug. 31.	" Do. do. ....	15 16 0	Sept. 1.	" Do. ....	15 16 0
Sept. 30.	" Do. do. ....	12 13 0	Oct. 1.	" Do. ....	12 13 0
Oct. 31.	" Do. do. ....	20 8 0	Nov. 1.	" Do. ....	20 8 0
Nov. 30.	" Do. do. ....	25 5 0	Dec. 1.	" Do. ....	25 5 0
Dec. 31.	" Do. do. ....	14 13 0	1884.
1884.			Jan. 3.	" Do. ....	14 13 0
Jan. 31.	" Do. do. ....	34 13 0	Feb. 1.	" Do. ....	34 13 0
Feb. 28.	" Do. do. ....	18 14 0	Mar. 7.	" Do. ....	18 14 0
Mar. 31.	" Do. do. ....	34 13 0	April 1.	" Do. ....	34 13 0
		£232 16 0			£232 16 0

APPENDIX H.

Extracts from Letters upon the working of the Boarding-out system.

The late Mrs. RICHARD CONOLLY, Goulburn :—

* * * My first inducement to take any part in the work of the boarding-out system in New South Wales was its similarity to that of our cherished Protestant Orphan Society in Dublin, where the orphans of our respectable Protestants of a humble class were taken and provided for—not in pent-up asylums, but amidst the sunny hills and verdant meadows of the beautiful county Wicklow. There, safely located in the houses of chosen Protestant farmers, they were brought up as members of the family, carefully sent to Sunday and weekly schools, and inspected by clergymen sent from the Society. I give my most hearty approval to the system of boarding-out when carried forward under due inspection. I consider that wherever a branch of the Society is established there should be a lady visitor as well as the Government Inspector, to unite in their labours amongst both the children and the foster-parents; and I feel assured that the Government of the country could not have adopted a more salutary resolution for the training of the rising generation than that from which emanated the Boarding-out Institution. * * * Having been requested to give a statement of my opinion as to the working of the boarding-out system at Goulburn, I can most unhesitatingly answer in its favour, and my opinion is confirmed by the satisfactory evidence of the friends and inspectors who have visited us from Sydney. We are favoured with a fine healthful climate here, and this, in addition to the care, cleanliness, comforts, and caresses which the little ones receive from their foster-parents, soon renders them different-looking children from those who come down to us from the Asylum. One tiny creature, who really did look like death, insomuch that the Manager was ashamed to send her, is now one of the gems of our flock—a fine active little woman; and, more than all that can be said of their improved looks, is the improvement in the development of their affections. When they are first brought to us it is painful to see the passivity with which they will go to any strange nurse. Try the experiment now and the change will soon be found—clinging to their “mothers,” it will at once be seen that they have found a friend. We have now forty-eight children and twenty-seven nurses in Goulburn. Three of this number have proved unruly, but this is a very small item to weigh in the balance against the large amount of real good effected and happiness bestowed by the working of the boarding-out system in Goulburn. [Republished from previous Report.]

Mrs. RUSSELL, Balmain :—

Having frequently visited and carefully watched over the children placed in homes under the boarding-out system in this district for nearly two years, I have much pleasure in giving you my experience of the beneficent effect upon the children. * * * I find them living the life of natural happy children in place of one which is monotonous and unnatural in the extreme. It is a merciful change for unfortunate children who from various sad causes have been sent to the asylums where they must grow up without affection, without a sense of responsibility, with no knowledge of the world, or power to stand alone. The tie between foster-parent and child seems as real as that between parent and child, and the children are growing up well taught, well housed, clothed, fed, and in every respect kindly treated. They have the great advantage of family training, learning to fulfil in comfortable and respectable homes the many necessary duties of domestic life. The boarding-out system cannot be too highly appreciated. The success in a great measure is due to the careful management of the administrative officials, who are unremitting in their kind attention to the cases and requirements brought under their notice. The sum allowed to foster-parents is insufficient to properly recompense them.

Mrs. STODDART, Milton :—

In reply to your letter asking my opinion as to the working of the boarding-out system, I am glad to be able to say, that as far as my experience goes, it seems to answer admirably. The six children I have visited, in every case, are well treated, seem quite happy, and those who are old enough to understand would be loth to leave their present homes. One great advantage of the system is that the children are trained to the home life which is so much to be desired.

Mrs. ALEXANDER GORDON, Woollahra :—

I have been requested to send a brief statement of my experience as to the boarding-out system in this Colony. As far as I can judge the plan answers very well, though I think great care should be taken not only in the placing of the children but in the removing them when the people with whom they are placed do not give a true home to the children. I have met with such a case, and the difference in the whole bearing and manner of the child when removed and placed in a true home was most remarkable. In the other cases under my visitorship I can thankfully say they are placed with those who give them a home. Three of the children are with those who knew their parents, and have received them from love and a desire quite as much I should say to benefit the children as to be of any personal use or comfort to themselves.

Mrs. J. C. ELLIS, Newcastle :—

In answer to your request for my statement regarding the children under my care, I have much pleasure in stating that I have found the boarding-out system answer admirably, and a blessing both to the children and the foster-parents. In one instance the child, a little girl, will be adopted by the foster-parents, and is already beloved by them.

Mrs. STUART, Field of Mars :—

In answer to the request for lady visitors' statements concerning the boarding-out system, I must remind you how little experience I have had, and just now have only two children in one home to visit. I am glad to be able to state these are doing well, treated most kindly, kept clean and comfortable, made useful and happy, appearing last Saturday as bright and beaming as any children in their own home could be. My observations then would certainly lead me to be in favour of the present system.

Mrs.

Mrs. S. McMAHON, Ulladulla :—

I have great pleasure in being able to say that the boarding-out system in this district is working admirably. The children all seem very happy in their homes. They are well cared for, and their foster-parents are much attached to them. I might further give it as my opinion that there is no part of this Colony more suited to the boarding-out system than the dairy districts of the south coast. As a matter of fact the people are kind and homely, the climate is superb, the work is congenial to youth, and everything in the farming line is taught. Schools and churches are plentiful.

Mrs. PROCTOR, Bungonia :—

I have much pleasure in giving, as you request, my experience of the homes provided for the boarded-out children. Though I have very few in my district, nothing can be more perfect than their success. It is evidenced in the children even in a few months; but when they remain in them two or three years, as some here have done, the change in the children is wonderful, fully illustrating the power of training a child in the way it should go; for the sad shadow of evil so many have at first seems to pass entirely away; the cunning, timid, distrustful expression of countenance is replaced by one of a bright and happy intelligence; those who before were indolent both in body and mind are full of activity and busy members of the family, effectually learning to get their own living. If all homes are equal to those I have seen it is not easy to calculate the benefit that will result to the Colony from the boarding-out system, by arresting evil in its germ, and replacing it with its contrast—good, which it must do if subject to the same kind and vigilant control as hitherto. I wish I could say that the older children were improved in proportion to the younger; I am sorry to say that they often give so much trouble and anxiety to their employers as to discourage their efforts to do them good; but in future I have no doubt they will be earlier removed from contaminating influences.

Mrs. SELWYN, Newcastle :—

In reply to your request that I should give my opinion as to the system of boarding-out destitute children, I can only repeat what I have before said, that I consider the system, under proper supervision, an admirable one, beneficial both to the children and to the foster-parents, cheering many a home left lonely by death or other circumstances. But I must add that I consider the payment of 5s. a week quite insufficient. I see the necessity for a wise caution on the part of Government lest children should be applied for for the sake of profit; but surely there is a medium between that and the present paltry and insufficient allowance. I do not ask for a large increase, perhaps 1s. a week would be sufficient. There are many poor people, with motherly hearts, who would gladly take children, but cannot afford to lose by them. I do not want them to gain. I have always thought the pay insufficient.

Mrs. GRIFFITHS, Ashfield :—

I have much pleasure in testifying to the success of the boarding-out system, and believe it better for the future of the children than being brought up under a stereotype system such as institutions must have. I have felt that something was deficient when hearing complaints from foster-parents of the uncleanly habits of some of the children under their care, such as no amount of money could compensate for the annoyance and trouble. The arrangements soon to be carried out at Ormonde House will be the "missing link," when the natural habits and dispositions of the children will be tested, thus proving useful to the Boarding-out Officer and visitors when having to deal with such complaints, as imposition will be prevented. I find grief is manifested and promise of better behaviour when the juveniles are threatened with being sent back to the Asylum, which speaks well for the homes.

Mrs. KYNGDON, Woollomooloo :—

I readily send a few lines with regard to the working of the system of the State Children's Relief Department in the district of Woollomooloo, where I am the visitor. At present there are six houses where the children are boarded which I visit—all respectable; and I think the guardians do their best to perform their duties, and to endeavour to eradicate, by firm and gentle treatment, bad habits contracted by some of the poor children. I am always welcomed in my visits, and believe that the boarding-out system must be attended with good results.

Mrs. F. B. SUTTOR, Bathurst :—

All the children in the different homes under my supervision are well and happy; they have improved wonderfully in manners and appearance; they have all good homes; and much credit is due to the foster-parents and guardians for the care they take of the children. I regret that the important matter of increased payments to the foster-parents has not been decided upon; I am sure better homes would be secured for the children if the payments were better. This is a healthy district, and I should like to see more children boarded-out here. The fourteen children who are here already have improved in every respect. I consider the system a most advantageous one for the children.

Mrs. CROPPER, Lake Bathurst :—

In reply to your inquiry, I must again state that I consider the boarding-out system an excellent one; and a proof of it may be seen in this district, with happy children in good homes.

Mrs. BOWEN, Bowral :—

My experience of the boarding-out system is very limited, but I am quite sure that children brought up in families are much more likely to become happy and useful members of society than they would if kept in large institutions. The child under my care seems very happy and extremely well-cared for.

Mrs. O'SULLIVAN, Newcastle :—

I am indeed favourably impressed with the boarding-out system. I have eight children under my supervision, whose homes I frequently visit. I notice a marked improvement in the children, all appearing clean, happy, and well cared for by their foster-parents, the only complaint being the weekly allowance of 5s. being too small to provide clothing and food.

Mrs. S. C. BROWN, Marrickville :—

In accordance with the desire of the Board, I send you my impressions of the boarding-out system. My experience is of short duration, but since I began my duties as visitor for this district my opinion of the beneficial effects of the system has never varied. The children in my district are improved, and improving in every respect, and the homes in which they are placed are exceedingly orderly and comfortable. A remarkable affection exists between the parents and their adopted children; and where the children of the house are young the protecting care of the foster-brothers is very pleasant to see. In all cases the children are treated by the parents as their own, and share in all the pleasures enjoyed by the family. I may add that I think the sum of 5s. a week too small for the maintenance of a child, especially when, as now, the necessaries of life are so dear.

Mrs. HUGH TAYLOR, Parramatta :—

In reply to your circular of the 29th ultimo, I have to say that the children boarded-out in this district are well cared for, comfortable, and contented, and the system appears to me to continue to work admirably.

Mrs. JOHN FRASER, Glebe :—

With reference to your circular of the 29th of March, I have to state that, though my experience of the boarding-out system is somewhat limited, it seems to me that the system, so far as comes under my observation, is likely, with proper care, to work well. The children seem to be on the whole well cared for, healthy, and happy. The most pleasing feature is the attachment and mutual affection which seem to exist, in some cases in a marked degree, between the children and those with whom they are boarded.

Mrs,

Mrs. ALLNUTT, Cobbitty :—

The boarded-out children in Cobbitty are in such an unusually comfortable and happy home, and the children themselves being very good, the results of the boarding-out system in Cobbitty are all that could be desired by the advocates of the plan.

Mrs. FINLAYSON, Leichhardt :—

The children with Mrs. F— seem happy and intelligent. I have opportunities of seeing them apart, and I think they have a very comfortable home.

Mrs. SHARP, Newtown :—

M. B. is improving in many ways, and I am very glad to be able to report much improvement in N. G. Mrs. M. brought Nelly here several times. I am quite satisfied that this child is well cared for, and I only fear she may be spoilt.

Mrs. SIMPSON, Waverley :—

F. C. is in a good home, and is treated as if she were the natural child of the foster-parents. The boys with Mrs. C. are carefully looked after. R. B. is improving in every way.

Mrs. CALDWELL, Goulburn :—

A. S. recovered quickly from the attack of rheumatic fever, but has had several slighter ones since. She requires and receives much attention from Mrs. W., and appears delighted to be with her sister. In consequence of illness of Mrs. M. I have visited her home frequently, and have noticed with pleasure the care bestowed on the child.

Mrs. NOTT, Burwood :—

I am quite satisfied with the care Mrs. B. takes of the little boy, having seen him two or three times since my last report. I saw L. H. alone, and she told me she was quite happy and was treated kindly.

Mrs. MANNING, Ryde :—

Regrets that she was unable to visit E. B. before January; but knowing what an excellent caretaker Mrs. B. is of children, she has no doubt but that she was as well cared for as when she called, when everything was quite satisfactory.

Mrs. WHITTON and Mrs. ABBOTT, St. Leonards :—

The children with Mrs. C. appear to have a most comfortable home, and we feel quite satisfied as to their being kindly treated. J. M. and M. M. are kindly treated, and have comfortable sleeping accommodation. J. W. H. P. has the love and attention of a fond mother. Nothing could be more satisfactory.

Mrs. WEBB, Bathurst :—

R. L. has much improved in appearance and intelligence, and is treated as the child of foster-parent.

Mrs. ONSLOW, Menangle :—

F. D. very merry and evidently very happy, and looks well nourished and well clad. A. D. is an unhealthy looking child, with a chronic cough. She has been very roughly brought up, and will need much careful training; Mrs. R. is anxious to do well by her. A. G. has only been a short while with Mrs. R., and he looks well and happy, and says he likes his present home better than the Orphan Schools. E. M. and G. M. are very much improved. S. J. M. will scarcely leave her foster-parent's side, and is as happy as any child could be.

Mrs. DIXON, Wickham :—

H. C.—I particularly noticed in this boy a marked improvement; he is well behaved and very obedient. C. G. is given to dirty habits; Mrs. S. is very kind to him; he is looking remarkably well and wonderfully improved. S. H. is making good progress at school, and is happy and contented. I consider these boys wonderfully fortunate in having such a good home provided for them; Mrs. S. is more than a mother to them.

Mrs. DE LAURET, Goulburn :—

I saw the children, who looked well. I often meet them going to school, when they always come forward and speak to me. In dress and general appearance they are well kept, and look strong and healthy. Since my former visit to the children with Mrs. F. they seem to have materially improved, and all look healthy. They were a most uninteresting quartette when they arrived, but are all now healthy looking. I saw them once a week since they have been here up to a fortnight ago, when I was absent. Up to that time they were looking well and contented, and were well cared for too.

Mrs. EWING, Wollongong :—

H. B. L. is well mannered and intelligent. Mrs. M. seems very pleased with him and kind to him; he is very happy. E. B. P. seems happy, and Mr. B. says he is improving in conduct and education.

Mrs. GUNTHER, Parramatta :—

In answer to your request that I should give you the result of my experience in connection with the boarding-out system, I am very glad to be able to report that the children placed under my supervision are well cared for by their foster-parents. All appear happy and have given very evident signs of improvement in every way. I consider the system a great success up to the present time, and think we may look forward hopefully to its future working. In some special cases I think it would be a great boon to the mothers, and advantageous to the Government, if their fatherless children were regarded as boarded-out children. A small allowance would enable them to keep them at home instead of having to part with them to strangers, to whom the full allowance must be paid.

Mrs. ELIZABETH WHITTON and EDITH ABBOTT, St. Leonards :—

We have very great pleasure in bearing our testimony to the excellence of the boarding-out system, so far as it has come under our observation. We have regularly visited the homes of the children in our district, and in no case have we had any cause to be dissatisfied with the manner in which the children were being treated. We have visited the homes at irregular periods, and without the foster-parents having any intimation that it was our intention to do so. By this means we have been able to see the children in their natural state. The system seems to be a very great improvement upon any yet adopted in the interests of children requiring the charity of the State. The children boarded-out are free and childlike in their manners, and natural, being a marked contrast to those children who are brought up under the barrack system, and who have none of the natural habits of children. The homes of the children in this district are all that could be desired, and the guardians are we think faithfully performing their duties; the homes are clean and comfortable.

APPENDIX I

Letters from Children.

I like to be up here; I don't like to be down at the Asylum; I play with little girls; we have such a lot of fowls and a nice little dog; I go to Sunday School every Sunday, and church too; and we are going to a feast; sometimes I am a good girl, and sometimes I am a bad girl; sometimes I give Miss P— trouble, and sometimes I don't.—S.W.

I received your kind letter, and I am glad to tell you I am well, and I am very happy; I would sooner be here than there; but I would like to see my mother. Dear sir, I hope you will give my love to my dear mother; tell her I am learning to do some sewing. I got no more to tell you.—E.H. I

I am pleased to tell you that my foster-mother is very kind to me, keeps me regularly at school, dresses me very well, and in no way have I to complain.—M.S.

I received your kind and welcome letter, and it gave me very great pleasure to hear from you. I must tell you, dear friend, that I am quite contented and happy, and would sooner be with my foster-mother than at the school; I am getting on very well, and hope soon to be able to write well to you; I am very well in health.—C.R.

Nothing gave me greater pleasure in receiving your kind letter. Dear sir, I am very happy and comfortable with my foster-mother; I am going to St. Peter's school every day; I am trying my best to learn; I feel a little troubled at not seeing my own mother since before Christmas, otherwise I am happy and comfortable.—T.H.

In reply to your kind questions, I am really and truly happy and comfortable, and like living up here very much, much better than the Asylum. The schoolmaster says I am improving now, but I was very backward when I first came. My foster-mother is very kind to us, and we love her. We go to church on Sunday. I must now say good-bye. I am dear sir, yours dutifully.—E.H.

I am happy and comfortable, and like living as I am now better than in Asylum. I will try to be good and dutiful. I am progressing very well at school, and I will write to you when I want advice. I will try and grow up a good and useful member of society, and so prove worthy the interest you take in me.—J.L.

Your fond note of yesterday came to hand to-day. I feel very grateful to see that you do not forget me although so far away. I am very happy to tell you that I feel both happy and contented in my new home; my eyes, which were very bad when I came here, are quite well again. I prefer being here to being in the Asylum. I am getting on fairly at school. I go to the Sisters of St. Joseph at North Goulburn, and I like them very much; they are good kind teachers. * * * I must tell you that my foster-parents are very kind and very good to me, and I love them both sincerely. * * *—E.M.

At your request I will try and answer your welcome letter. I feel that I can say that my mother is quite willing for me to write to you about my home, and I feel that I can say that I am quite happy and comfortable. I have no wish to come back to the Asylum; and I don't think I ever shall, for I have a good mother and my wish is to do better. Please, sir, will you let me know where my brother is; I wrote one letter, but I have had no reply.—H.N.

I received a letter yesterday asking me to tell you how I like Mrs. W—, my foster-mother. I like Mrs. W— very much. I do not want to go back. I like Newcastle. I like Sunday school and my teacher. I am in upper-second at day school. I think I shall be in third class when the inspector next comes. I have some plain sewing for the exhibition—a white shirt for a little boy and something for myself. I am trying to be good and do all Mrs. W— wishes me to do. We have a holiday to-day from school. Sir, if you see my mother would you ask her to adopt me to Mrs. W—. I am sorry I have written so badly. I will try and write better next time. * * *—L.W.

I received and read your letter. Mrs. H— wished me to answer it. I hope mother is well as it leaves me at present. I am happy and comfortable. I would rather be at Mrs. H— than the Asylum. Mrs. H— gives me the same as they have to eat, and plenty, also nice clothes; and I hope she will keep me. I will try to be a good girl to her. I don't get beat, but I think I want it sometimes when I am a naughty. I like the children very much; they are good little girls, and they like me. Mrs. W— has brought me a new exercise and a copy-book. I go to school regularly, to Sunday school too. Mrs. H— is telling me to say the truth in this letter, and what I am writing is the truth. I see Amy and Stephen often. I would like to hear from mother sometimes. I send my love to mother and brother. I have read this letter to Mrs. H—, and she says it is very good. I will write more next time.—A.M.L.

In answer to your kind letter which I received to-day, I thought I would embrace the first opportunity of answering it. You wish me to tell you whether I like living here as well as in the Asylum. I would rather live here where I am than in the Asylum. I am happy and comfortable; and I try to be as good and dutiful to my foster-mother as I can. I am getting on at school very well. I go to church and Sunday school regular. I can milk a cow, and drive a horse and buggy, and also ride a horse, and can learn many useful things here where I am. My foster-parents try to teach me all they can that is good and useful. I have plenty of good food and clothes, and a clean comfortable bed to sleep in. I hope you will see that I have improved in my writing since I wrote to you last. I hope you will let me remain here where I am, as I would not like to be taken away. I shall be very glad to write to you any time.—P.C.G.

I received your kind letter yesterday. I know if I was to do as I was told and obey my guardian I would have a good home; but I intend to do better for the future. I do like being here better than in the Asylum, and I think I am getting on better at school. I go to church and Sunday school every Sunday; and my teacher was only looking on her roll book on Sunday, and I have not missed one Sunday since Christmas, and once before, except when I had the measles. I thank you very much for all the trouble you have taken of me, and for all the good homes you have got for me. I am very sorry for all the trouble I have given you; and I hope I will soon be able to earn my own living and grow up a useful member of society.—A.E.

[This child is aged fourteen years; she has been very difficult to manage, and has been in no less than six homes.]

I now take the pleasure of writing to you, just to let you know how I am getting on. I like being up in Newcastle fifty hundred times. I like my place very much. I am happy and comfortable up here. I go to the Convent School up on the hill. I am in third class in the girls' school. I obey my foster-mother in all things I can do. I attend my church every Sunday at eight o'clock Mass. I am good and dutiful to my foster-mother. Send my love to all nuns and to my two brothers; tell them that I do not forget them. So good-bye all.—M.H.

I am very happy and comfortable. I like living where I am now better than in the Orphan School. I do try to be good and dutiful to Mrs. S—. I am progressing at school very much, more than I used to. I am not in trouble, and do not want advice. I have been caned twice, but not lately; but I believe I really deserved it for bad temper. I go to school clean and tidy, and my clothes do not want mending.—F.P.

We are very happy and comfortable. We are all sent to school, and we are as happy as in the Asylum. We are all well at present. We like living in Maitland; and that is all I have to say.—F.C.

In answer to your letter of the 31st, I am getting on at school very well; the only fault in my schooling is that I cannot read so well, and I am very well in every other way. I could not read or write when I went first to school. I am in upper second in the big school. The teachers are very strict, and they get all of the girls very well. And I am sorry to tell you that I am not so happy with my foster-mother, because I sometimes am very cross, and I cannot speak civil to the children; I must say that I get plenty to eat; and the fact of the matter is that I want a change. If you would be kind enough to come, I can tell you better than I can write.—M.D.

[This child has been discharged to the mother, whose interference had for some time unsettled her.]

* * * I am treated very kindly. I am very comfortable here, and I am living very happy. I have been a very naughty girl in the past time, but I am going to be good now. I am going to school, and I am getting on very well; and Mrs. W— has forgiven me for all my faults if I try to be good, and I am so fond of the baby, and all the children like me. Mrs. W— has promised to let me go to the children's tea-meeting if I am a good girl. I am going to Sunday school, and I would like to stop here.—M.L.

I received your most kind letter last week, but I have been very ill; I was not able to answer it before. My foster-mother would not let me go out of my room for three days for fear I might catch cold; I had everything I wanted. I am not with Mrs. B. now; I am with her mother. My mistress and master are very fond and kind to me, and so does their children, they treat me like if I were their sister. My foster-mother dresses me like her own little girl, and we sleep together in a nice little room. I go to school every day, but when my foster-mother is very busy she keeps me at home once a week. I am preparing for my holy communion and confirmation. I am going to make it on the first of May. I go to church and Sunday school every Sunday. Give my love to all the nuns and to the orphans. I remain, your loving little friend, F.H.

I.

I cannot write much to you as I have not much to say, but I must tell you that I am very happy. I like to be here better than at Randwick. I go to school and to Sunday school. I go to Band of Hope when auntie can go with me. I went to the tea meeting; I did like it so much.—M.McL.

I now take the pleasure of complying with your wish. I would have done so before only we were busy. I am quite well and Mary is well, also Maggie is looking well again. Fanny was ill last week, but she seems better to-day. I am getting on well at school; I go every day but washing day. I had to stay at home a week as Mr. S— happened with an accident, and Mrs. S— was sick, and I had to mind the baby. I am quite happy and comfortable. I would much sooner be here than in the Asylum. * * * I can wash and iron very nicely now. I would not like to part from the little ones for they are as fond of me as I am of them, for they are two nice little things. I have got a nice lot of new things for Easter; I have one dress made, and the others will be made after Easter. I have everything I could wish for; every holiday I go somewhere for pleasure. They are all very kind to me up here; they are just the same to all of us. I think I have told you all this time; I will write you a longer letter next time. With kindest regards to you, your dutiful child, M.R.

According to your request I write a few lines. I am very happy and comfortable, and am doing the best I can to please Mrs. H—. I learn my lessons at home every night, and am trying to improve myself. Mrs. H— is very kind to me, and also all the young ladies, and when I am a good girl Mrs. H— always gives me some present. I am going to confession and communion at Easter, and during the holidays Mrs. H— has promised to take me to Parramatta. Mrs. Kyngdon has been to see me twice and spoke so kindly to me, and has promised to come every month. I have nothing more to say just now, but I am truly happy. Your dear child, E.N.

With much pleasure I answer your letter, and you must excuse me for not doing so before. Mr. and Mrs. B— are very kind to me and do everything to make me comfortable and happy, and I like living in the country very much. I have not been to school since my return from Sydney, but intend to do so after Easter, and intend to study hard. It has been very hot, but we have had a heavy shower this evening. I hope you and Mrs. and the children are all quite well. I have nothing more to tell you, so I must conclude with regard.—Yours affectionate, E.S.

I received your kind letter of the 1st of April; I am now going to reply to it. I like my home very much more than the Asylum. My master and mistress are very kind to me. I am very happy and comfortable. I am trying to be a very good girl. I am getting on very well at school. I go to school every day in the week except two afternoons when my mistress is teaching sewing. This is the first letter I have ever written; I did not do it all myself; Mr. W— showed me how to commence it. I hope next year I shall be able to write a letter myself. I attend Sunday school and religious instruction during the week. Hoping you and Mrs. are well, I am, your affectionate child, A.H.

I received your kind letter. I thank you for your kind advice, and I am getting on nicely at school. Dear sir, I am treated the same as Mrs. L—'s own children. I would rather live with Mrs. L— than in the Asylum.—F.G.

To my dear friend ——. I received your kind letter, afford me a great deal of pleasure, and often. I had read it over several times. I resolved to do all in my power to profit by your advice. My companions, as far as I am able to judge at present, are well-disposed lads. Also telling you that I am quite comfortable with my aunt. I am getting on very nicely at school. I will now end my letter with loving kindness.—T.L.

According to your desire I will take the liberty to write you a letter to let you know how F— and I are getting on. I am proud to tell you that both F— and myself are removed to a higher class in the day-school since our last examination. We go to Sunday school very regularly. Both of us got a very nice prize at Sunday school. I am glad to say that Mrs. T— can report more favourably of our conduct this quarter than the last, and we will try to be better in the future than we have been in the past. We try to make ourselves as useful as we can to our foster-parents. We are very well satisfied with the home * * * If we behave ourselves our foster-parents have promised to make us good and useful members of society. * * * —S. & F.P.

I received your letter yesterday, and was very glad to hear from you. I am quite well and happy. I am very comfortable where I am living. My mistress and master are very kind to me. I go to Sunday school every Sunday, and I learn my lessons better than any one in my class, and my teacher gave me a prize for good conduct. Mrs. T— has been down to see me since I came here. I went to Sydney last Wednesday, or rather I should say to Balmain, to spend the day with Mrs. T—'s daughter. It is a very pretty place down here, and we have a beautiful view of the harbour and the ocean, and when it is rough we can see the steamers going out. Your loving friend, E.W.

[This child is apprenticed. The "Mrs. T—" mentioned is her former guardian, who goes to see the child, and continues to take a strong interest in her.]

Dear Sir,—I received your letter. My uncle and aunty is so kind to me I would not like to leave them. I am getting on well at school. The copy-book that I am in now is large and small hand, and I can do hard sums. Our Sunday school had a picnic at Lake Bathurst; we went in the train, and it was so nice. I try to be a good girl, and do what I am told. I like to get a letter from you. I hope you are all well in Sydney. I am quite well. I never feel sick. I like going to day school and Sunday school, and aunty lets me go regular. We want rain in Goulburn; it would make the grass grow.—S.C.

My dear friend and guardian,—We received your kind and welcome letter this morning, the third. We are all very comfortable and happy, and get plenty of good food to eat and drink, and good beds to lie on, with plenty of good clothes to cover us. I like my place very well. I hope I will never have to go back to the Asylum. We are all getting on well at school. I am in the second highest class; Robert is in lower fourth class; Wilson is in upper second, and is a very good reader; George is in the highest class in the infants, and Bella is in second class. George is growing very fast; he has got flesh on him now, but twelve months ago he was the thinnest and smallest little boy I ever seen; the boys at school have left off calling him the sixpenny boy. Bella was blind when she came here, but our good foster-mother soon cured them, and now she has as good a pair of eyes as anybody in Bathurst. Our foster-mother took us to the show yesterday, and there was everything you could mention there; we enjoyed ourselves very well. Bella and George are learning to sew, and George is going to be a tailor. The sun has roasted everything up, and there is nothing to do in the garden. We could not write yesterday as we were at the show. Every one of us have had the measles except Georgie and myself. There has been a concert given by the Public School in aid of the Bathurst District Hospital, and was a great success, from what I heard; but I could not go, as it was at night.—W.J.S.

Dear friend,—I received your first letter (which I was anxious to get) to-day, and now I will answer it, and I hope that it will please you. I am very happy, and I think no one could be unhappy if they had such a comfortable home as I have got. I am progressing nicely at school; and I go to the Pyrmont Public School. I try to be good to my foster-mother, and I like this place very much better than the Asylum. I go to Sunday school morning and evening on Sundays. This is all I have to say at the present.—A.E.

Dear sir.—It is with pleasure that I write to you to let you know that I am quite well. Sir, I received your letter. Sir, I would rather be here than the Asylum. I hope you will come to see me the next time you come up to Newcastle. I hope you are all well. I am getting on with my lessons at school a little better. I attend to Sunday school. I get prizes for reading, and I get them every time they give them to our class. I got a nice home down in Newcastle. I hope I can stay here until my time is up. I hope I shall not go back again; and I give my love to you.—K.P.

I am very much obliged to you for the kind letter you sent me, and I am happy to say that my foster-mother is very good to me, and I like her well, and am quite happy here, and thank you for the interest you take in me.—A.L.

Alfred and I are quite well. I like to stay here. I don't want to go back to the school any more. Aunt has got a baby and is sick. Uncle is not very well. Aunt is not very well. It is such bad weather that is. My uncle bought me tools and a tin plate, gave me grapes and money, and all sorts of things; and my aunt gave me money, and gives me money for copy-books, and plenty to eat. I like the day school and the Sunday school. I have nothing more at present.—A.W.T.

I am happy and comfortable both. I have no wish to come back to the Asylum ; and my foster-mother is very good to me ; and they are very fond of me, all them. I am doing my best at school.—T.P.

I like to live here very much. I have a new dress and hat. Mr. O—— is very kind to me. I have Edith and Birty and Daisy to play with. We go to Sunday school and day school. I like to go very much ; and they get library books and library cards every second Sunday in the afternoon. I am living very happy, and I should like to see you. I get plenty to eat here, and I like to live here better than in the Asylum. I will try and do all I can for Mrs. O——. I am getting well on in school. I learn writing on slates, and reading on books, doing sums, dressing the children, and washing them every morning. We learn singing. I hope you are getting on quite well. I can make the tea and lay the table. I can tidy the rooms and sweep them out—dusting them, and wash up the tea things. I say my prayers every night before I get into bed ; and bless God that He might take care of you and the children. I will never forget you. Mrs. O—— treats us very kind, and sends us to school ; and should return the libraris back again to the Sunday-school teachers, and should be very careful about them, that they should not be destroyed. I am learning to sew. Learn to darn stockings. We went out to Burwood for a drive. And I have money-box full of money.—A.K.

You wished to know whether I was happy and comfortable with my foster-mother. I am happy and comfortable, and would rather live here than in the Asylum. I am as good and dutiful as I can be to my foster-mother. I think that I am getting on pretty well at school, as I did not know my letters when I came here, as I only been here thirteen months. My little brother Joe is growing a fine big boy, and the other three boys are quite well.—I.H.

Both my brother and I would rather live here than at the Asylum, and we are happy and comfortable. We try to be good and dutiful to our foster-mother. I have to write on unruled paper at school, and I cannot write very straight ; and I am in the fourth class. We say our prayers every night, and we go to Sunday school and church very regular. We are having very dry weather here, and all the things in the garden are withered ; but we are having some showers now. The cattle are getting poor here, and there is a very poor crop of corn. My brother will take my place of writing to you when I leave here, and he will feel proud to do so. Hoping you are quite well, and with kind regards from my brother and self.—W. Le B.

It is a long time since I last wrote you a letter. I am very glad to be able to write you a letter. I can tell you that Mrs. H. is very kind to me, and that I am very happy and comfortable with Mrs. H. ; and I know myself that I ought to try and help her as much as I can. I like living with Mrs. H. very much ; I do not wish to leave her for she is so very kind to me. I do not know whether Mrs. H. is better pleased with me than she used to be ; I think she is, for she lets me go to all the nice treats, and she also makes me such nice clothes, and keeps me very neat and tidy. I am getting on very nicely at school ; I can do all my lessons very nicely ; I am in the second highest class at school. Mrs. H. took me to the show last week ; on Friday night some of the school had to sing a lot of pretty songs, and I was singing with them ; it was very nice ; there were a great many people there. On Easter Sunday I expect a prize from my Sunday-school teacher for attendance, and on Easter Monday I am going to the Sunday-school picnic ; I went to the picnic last year, and I raced and I got such a nice lot of slate pencils. I hope I shall win a prize this time as well.—A. M'C.

Dear sir,—I received your kind letter, and I am very comfortable in my new home. I feel thankful to say I have plenty to eat and to drink, and a good bed to lie on. I would rather be here than in the Asylum. I try to be good and dutiful to my foster-mother. I go regular to school, and my master says he has no complaint to make against me * * * I go regular to Sunday school and church of a Sunday. All that I have wrote down here is the truth. Dear sir, I was pleased to receive a letter from you * * * I remain, dear sir, your child.—W.S.

I now sit down to answer your letter which I received this morning. I am very comfortable and happy with my friends, and I would much rather be here than anywhere else, but with my mother ; and I hope I shall never go back to the Asylum again. I hope you can let my mother have me after my time is up here instead of being bound out for five years. I think I am improving a great deal at school. * * * I must now give my kind love to all down there, and Katie and yourself, so good-bye for the present.—G.K.

I received your letter, and I am very thankful for the interest you take in my welfare. I am both happy and comfortable, and Mrs. K. is very kind to me, and I am very thankful to her for her kindness ; but as you asked me to speak truly, I must say I would rather live in the Asylum than live as I am now. I try to be good, and I go to school every day, only one week I was not well enough to go. I think I am improving very much. I could read your kind letter, but I cannot write well, so you will excuse my letter. I hope to be able to write a better one next time. I do not want anything, as Mr. K. very kindly buys me books or anything I want, and I am not in trouble only when I do some little thing wrong ; but I must try to do better as I grow older.—M.A.C.

I received your letter all right, and I would have written sooner, but I have exercises to do at night for to take to school in the morning. Hoping you will excuse me this time for not writing sooner. I like going to school very well, and I go to Sunday school also every Sunday ; we are to get prizes at Easter. I like stopping here now better than when I wrote to my sister. I am getting along well at school ; I am in the second class now. I can drive bullocks now, and milk cows, and I can ride on horseback. I am comfortable and feel happy at present.—R.K.

I like living here very much ; they are very kind to me. Mrs. L. says I can tidy the place very well. Miss W. gives us marks for our lessons and good conduct, and at the end of the month whoever has the most gets some toys. Mrs. S—— gave Minnie and I a present last Christmaa, as Mrs. S—— is very kind to let us come up to her place. Miss W—— was kind enough to give us a picnic. * * * We enjoyed it very much. We are getting good now. I am getting on very nicely with my lessons. * * * I will promise you that I will be very good, so as Mrs. L—— can depend upon me. On the 14th of April is my birthday, and I will be eleven years of age. I went to see my mother, and I think she will soon come out ; I hope she will.—N.G.

I like the place very much and I am treated very kindly ; Mrs. L—— treats me like a real mother ; it is nothing to what Miss W—— would treat me if I was quite good. I go out very often ; I have been to Balmain, Marrickville, Moore Park Gardens, Petersham, and the Botanical Gardens, and Miss W—— took us for a picnic to Mossman's Bay. We get everything we want ; we are never refused anything. We get every encouragement to get out of our bad habits. Sometimes we spend the afternoon at Mrs. S——, and she is very glad to hear we are getting good girls ; she has a dear little boy. I am getting on very well with my reading and writing, but not so well with my sums. I am going to try and be good. Hoping I will write a better letter next time.—M.B.

I received your kind letter this morning, and I am so glad you got home to Sydney quite safe. I am very well in health, and I am so glad to tell you and the kind ladies in Sydney that I am very happy in my new home. My parents and brothers and sisters are very good and kind to me. I don't want to go back to Sydney, but hope Mrs. P—— will let me stay with her always, and I will try to be a good girl. I am much stronger than when I left Sydney. I am not able to learn very fast, and I never wrote a letter before, so I hope you will be pleased with it, and I will try and do better next time. I must now leave off, as it is time to go to the post ; and so, my dear sir, I remain your little friend.—M.A.H.

You wished to know if I am happy and comfortable. I am very happy ; I like my guardians very much ; they are very kind to me ; I try to be good and obedient. I was promoted to fourth class this morning at school. The nuns are very kind to me, and try to advance me as much as possible. I like my home very much ; I should not like to live in an Asylum at all.—M.E.

Thank you very much for writing. I am very happy with Mrs. F——, and do not want to go back to the Asylum. I will try and be good and dutiful. I think I am getting on at school.—R.B.

I write this short note to let you know that I am very happy here. I like the place where I am very much, and I try my very best to do as my foster-mother and school-teacher learns me, and I am not in want of anything here, as every one is kind and good to me ; I have also very good health. Hoping this will find you in good health also.—G.W.

You

You asked me to write, letting you know how I am getting on at school and at home. I go to school every day, and to-day I was placed in a higher class, as I was the only girl that could do subtraction in the infants' school. I learn my lessons at home after tea and write a copy. I am so happy with Mrs. H—; she says that she is very pleased with me, and Miss H— shows me how to do my work and is very kind to me. I say my prayers every night and morning. I went to confession last Saturday, and am going to receive holy communion next Sunday.—F.H.

* * * I would much rather be with my foster-parents than in the Orphanage. They are both very fond of me, and also very kind; they treat me like their own child; I have everything I wish for, and I am always happy, but I do not go to school; the doctor said I was not strong enough, the schools are so draughty, but I am going when I get stronger. I have a bedroom for myself, and plenty nice clothes. If I say I like anything my foster-mother will get it. * * *—M.C.

In answer to your letter I am glad to tell you I like living with Mrs. C— very much, and would not like to go back to the Asylum again, as I am very happy and comfortable now. I am progressing very well at school; can read and sum fairly. * * *—M.B.

* * * I am very happy and comfortable, and would much rather live with aunty than come back to the Asylum. I will try to be good and dutiful. You wish to know what progress I am making at school. I am doing compound addition sums and using the First Sequel Spelling-book. I am in the second class in the big school. Alice and I are both very well, and we will try to be good.—E.W.

I am glad to tell you I am as happy and comfortable as I wish to be. Me and my sister like living here better than in the Asylum. I can't say I am as dutiful to my foster-mother as I ought to be, but I will try to do better in the future. My schoolmaster says my sister and I are improving. We go to Sunday school and church regular. I should like to hear from my mother and sisters. I should be glad of your advice any time when you write. I will conclude with sincere thanks for your well wishes for my welfare.—E.T.

I now thank you for the letter you sent me last in reference to my letter. I am happy and comfortable, and treated kindly. I have been to a school concert and a great many more treats, and I am yet in the Blue Bibbon Army, and I am glad to tell you that I go to church every Sunday and Sunday school, and I am glad to tell you we are going to get prizes next Sunday afternoon for those who have earned them. I will be glad for you to come up soon and see me. I am now in third class in the Public School, and I am progressing at school well, and I have joined the young people's Scripture Union, and I am trying to do my best while I am here.—E.L.

I write you these few lines to let you know how I am getting on. I am very sorry to tell you my foster-mother is very ill, but I hope she will soon be better, for she is very kind to me. I am very happy and comfortable here. I am trying to be a good girl, and I am trying to improve myself at school. This is all I can tell you this time.—J.B. I will try and write my own letter next time.—J.B.

I am very happy and quite well. I will be a good girl. Please let me stay at home here. I love Mrs. C— dearly, and I am her own little girl now. She is very lonely when I am out. I tell her not to cry because come home soon. This is my first time on paper; better next time. Hope you are quite well. Good night, sir.—J.W.

I received your letter on Friday morning, and thank you for kind inquiries for me. Dear sir, I am happy and as comfortable and I like to be here as well as in the Asylum, and I try to obey and please my foster-mother. I go to school every day and to Sunday school every Sunday, and when I am at home I do what I can for my foster-mother, who is very kind to me.—E.L.

* * * In reply to your questions * * * I am perfectly happy and very comfortable, and my master says that I have made very good progress in reading, writing, and arithmetic. This is a very nice place; I would much sooner be here than in the Asylum. I am sometimes disobedient, but I mean not to be so any more.—E.M.

I am happy and comfortable living in Goulburn. I am in the second class at school. I go to school four days a week; I have home work to do every night. I go to Sunday school every Sunday afternoon. I am not often good, but I will try to be better. I would not like to leave Mrs. C—. They are always kind to me. They help me with my home lessons of a night, and Mrs. C— says I am getting on very well at school.—E.T.

In reply to your kind letter I wish to tell you that I am both happy and comfortable. I like my foster-mother very well. She is very kind and good to me. She sends me to school nice and clean. I have plenty to eat and drink and plenty of clothes. I go to school regularly, and to Sunday school and church. I think I get on at school very well. It is only half-time school; it is two days one week and three another. I see my brother and sister nearly every day at school, and at Sunday school and at church. I would rather live where I am than in the Asylum. I should be very sorry to leave my foster-mother to go there. I can make wool flowers and cuffs and sew. I made a pair of cuffs for my sister Maude, and I sent them up to her. She was very pleased with them. My foster-mother buys me the wool and we make her the things. * * * I thank you for the card you sent me on Christmas. I was very pleased to see you up at the church, and I hope I shall see you again before long.—R.G.

In reply of your kind letter I wish to tell you that I am happy and comfortable and I love my foster-mother. She is very good and kind. I am sent to school clean and I have plenty of clothes and to eat. When she goes to Goulburn she takes me sometimes, and also my sister. I would rather live here than in the Asylum. I get on very well at school, and I go to Sunday school. I do what my foster-mother tells me, and I see my brother and sister nearly every day at church, school, and Sunday school. I can crochet and sew. We have no lady teacher, but our foster-mother shows us. I do not get the cane at school. We have three days one week and two another week. I thank you very much for the pretty card you sent on Christmas, and it was very pretty. * * * I hope you will soon come and see us again.—D.G.

Hughie and I are very thankful to you for writing us a letter to inquire whether we are happy and comfortable in our home with Mr. and Mrs. B—. In reply we can say we are very happy and comfortable, and that we like staying where we are than to be in the Asylum. We try to be good and do all we can for Mr. and Mrs. B—. I have left school now, but I still do lessons at home in the evening. Hughie did not go to school as Mrs. B— thought it was too far for him, but Mrs. B— teaches him at home. Mr. B— has taught me to milk and drive since we came to live with him. I have been well since you was up here. Mr. B— asked the Doctor if it was necessary to see me, but he said it was only the heat that caused me to faint.—E. & H. T.

In answer to your welcome letter, which I received last week, Mrs. S— desires me to answer it as soon as possible. I should have answered it before, but the baby has been very ill, and he likes me to play with him in my spare time. I am very happy and comfortable, and would not like to leave Mr. and Mrs. S— and dear little Edgar,—that is the baby, for they are very kind to me; and I have a nice pony to ride, and I am learning to drive very well. I am in the upper third class at school, and getting on very well, and like going to school. I am also very fond of the butchering business, as I think I can soon learn the trade.—E.F.

I am quite happy with my foster-mother; she is very kind to me, and I have everything that I want, and I have no wish to go back to the Orphan School. I am getting on very nicely at school, and I like the school very much.—M.M.

I received your kind letter some time ago, and I wish to let you know how I am getting on. I like living here very much, and I do not wish to leave my aunt; she is very kind to me, and tries to do the best she can to please me. I have not been as obedient as I ought to be, but I've made up my mind to do all I can to help my aunt. I have just returned home after spending my holiday. We had a school picnic Easter week; lots of races and games, and enjoyed ourselves very much. With love,—W.W.

I am getting on well at school, and I am going to get first prize in my class,—lower third. If I was a good girl, and did what I was told, I would feel quite happy and contented; it is my own fault if I feel unhappy, for I have kind people to deal with, and I would feel better off here than anywhere else if I be a good girl. I was glad to hear that you let my mother take my sister. I did not like the steamer coming down, and I was never on board so long before; I was not sick, and I got off in the morning. I cannot tell you any more at present; I must conclude with best wishes.—K.S.

I received your kind letter, and now write to let you know that I am well and happy and go to school regularly. Grandma is very kind to me, and I feel quite at home. I like living here better than in the Asylum. I remain, your dear child,—J. M'C.

I now take my pen to write to you, to let you know I am happy and comfortable, and I don't want to leave my dear mother, and I try to do all I can for her; she is very kind to me, and I hope please God will help me to do my duty towards her; and I am getting on very well at school. I have a good master. Please let me know where my sisters are, as I would like to write to them.—H.F.

You wished me to write and let you know how I like living here. I like it very much, and would not wish to leave. I go to school regularly, also to Sunday school. I am improving at lessons, although slowly, but hope to make greater progress this year. I have been learning music just eleven months, and have eight books; I like this lesson much better than the others. Walter is away for a week spending his Easter holidays; he will write directly he returns. We are to have a picnic on Thursday next; he will tell you all about it. I do not want any advice just now; I am very happy, so is Mary.—E.W.

In the kind letter you sent me you asked me if I like my foster-mother and my home. I am sure I would cry very much if my dear mother and father said I had to go back to the Asylum. I love my foster-parents very much; I do all I can to please them. I am reading the second at school, and I can do long division sums. I cannot think of anything else to tell you now.—R.M.

I am glad to be able to write you a little letter, and to tell you that I am very well and very happy. Mrs. G—— is very kind to me; I would not like to go back to Parramatta; I would rather stay with her; I go to the nuns' school every day, to church and Sunday school every Sunday. I try to be a good girl, and to please Mrs. G—— as well as I can.—M.A.F.

I am quite well, and I like home quite well; and I did not tell the truth. And I hope you are quite well. And I do not like to go back to Randwick. And I get plenty clothes to wear; plenty to eat; and I have nice clothes. And Mrs. B—— is quite well; and Mr. B—— is quite well. And I can write well, and can read little. I thank you for your letter.—M.

You will be pleased to hear that I am very happy and comfortable here, and everybody is so kind. I have several little things to do every day at home. I have been moved into a higher class at school, from the infants' to upper-second, and often get high marks. I am in no trouble, or do not want anything. Trusting you are well.—G.S.

You will be pleased to know I am very happy here, and Mrs. T—— is very kind to me; I have a comfortable home and plenty to eat. Mrs. T—— has taught me how to do a great many useful things. I have been moved from the infants' school, and soon will be moved again to a higher class. I am learning to sew and sing. We both read the Bible in spare time, and learn sacred hymns. Hoping you are well.—M.S.

I received a printed form stating that you wish me to inform you truly in reference to my home. I am very happy and comfortable, and I would sooner live up here than at the Asylum. I try and be good and dutiful to my foster-mother, which I hope may improve. Mr. P—— put me in the fourth class for a week, and put Mrs. A—— to the cost of getting new books, and then he put me back again. I have a comfortable home in every respect. I have spoke my mind truly, and am telling nothing but the truth. I am not in any trouble so far; if I want advice at any time I will immediately let you know. I am hoping to spend a pleasant afternoon with Mrs. and Mr. A—— this evening up at the Maitland Show.—J.S.

I received your letter to-day, and as regards my home I am very happy and comfortable, and I would not like to leave here to go to any other person except my mother, who is ill now, and as soon as she is able to travel she is coming for me. I am obedient to my foster-mother sometimes, but I will try and improve and be a good girl. And as regards my school, I don't improve very much, as I cannot learn; and I am never in any trouble; and I am more happy and contented here than in the Asylum.—M.K.

I received your very welcome letter; and I must say I am very happy. Mrs. G—— as been to see me; and she likes Mrs. M'E—— very much; she asked me to go and see her, but I could not find the place, it is too far; she has been twice to see me. I have no more to tell you this time, but I will soon write again.—M.S.

I am a better girl than I used to be; I never run away from school now; I can read and write now; I go to school, and mother gives me lessons as well, because she wants to make me useful for her. Mother says if I am a good girl I shall learn music; I like my home better than ever I did in my life.—E.J.

I now take the pleasure of writing you a few lines. I like living here ten times better than at the Asylum. I am improving at school. There has been a splendid rain up here, and the grass and crops are growing nicely. Mrs. H—— is dead; I am sorry to say she died the Sunday before last, and was buried on Monday in Camden cemetery. I have nothing more to say at present.—T.R.

I am very glad that I can write another letter to you again. I am not well; I have got rheumatism very bad in my neck, and I also have got a very bad cold in my head. I am also very happy and comfortable. I like living here better than any place I have been. I am improving in my lessons every day. I go to Sunday school on Sunday. Mrs. C—— came to see me when I had the rheumatism last. Dear Mr. C—— is dead; he died on Easter Monday at 10 o'clock in the night, and was buried yesterday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. W—— are very kind to me. Give my love to all at your place. I also send my love to you. I now enclose my letter.—A.T.

I am going to write to you to let you know how I am getting on. I have a very comfortable home, and I have plenty of food to eat, and I am going to try to be good, so I will try to, and leave off those naughty things. I have a very nice bed. I am not very happy here, for I am sometimes naughty; my mistress tells me to be good, and do everything that I am told. This is all I have to say, so good-bye.—E.M.

I would like to see you it is now two months since I saw you last. I am quite well, but little Ada is not well at all Mrs. W—— said she thinks she would be better if she was in Sydney, as it would be warmer down in Sydney than it is in Goulburn. She is suffering with the rheumatism, but I hope she will get better soon. I am comfortable. I am improving with my lessons. I am now in the fifth class. I also go to Sunday school on a Sunday, and church. We had on Friday and Monday our Easter holidays. I enjoyed Good Friday very much. I heard that two little orphan children were drowned at North Goulburn. Sometimes I have not done what I ought to have done. I have done wrong and displeased dear Mrs. W——; but I mean to try for the future to do right, and be a good girl.—E.A.T.

I now take the pleasure of writing to you to let you know how I like my place. I like it very much, for Mrs. C—— is very kind to me. I go to school, and as Mrs. C—— was writing, she told me to write, and I hope you will please give my love to the nuns at Parramatta; and please if you would be so kind as to send me my sister's address, Ellen, as you said that you would send me her address, if I wrote to you. Sir, I hope you will be pleased with my little letter.—M.S.

APPENDIX J.

Letters from Foster-parents in reference to the Children.

In reply to your note of the 15th instant, I beg to state that the four children entrusted to our care—three came on the 16th August, 1883, and one on the 9th February last. They are all doing exceedingly well and happy. As you are aware, three of them are children that are physically and constitutionally afflicted. The little girl, A. H., suffering from a spinal and kidney complaint, is a wonder and surprise to all who saw her when she first came to us. She has wonderfully improved in health; at first she could neither dress nor undress herself, and would sleep nearly all her time. Now she is able to go to school, and eats heartily and sleeps naturally. She has also greatly improved in her habits and manners, although very difficult to manage, having no kind of feeling for any of her foster brothers or sisters;—selfishness seems to be her chief characteristic, but I believe in time that we shall be able to overcome it. She requires great care and kind management. Poor child, her lot in life has been a hard one indeed, and if she had been left to pine in one of the large institutions institutions her life would have been a cheerful one. I have great hopes that she will yet grow out of her affliction. E. B. and D. B. both have very delicate constitutions, suffering from scalp disease when we received them, and I think that it will take some time to eradicate it, but they are much better than they were; but there seems to be a great want of vitality in their systems. E. B. has also a rupture of the navel. Both are wonderfully improved in health, and are as rosy-cheeked boys as you could wish to see. In manners, when E. B. first came, he was sly, cunning, untruthful, and vicious; he would lie down, scream, bite, and kick at any one that came near him; now he is a very good boy, kind, obedient, smart, active little fellow. D. B. is a quiet, dull, unobtrusive child, but getting more jolly and lively every day. G. B., a mere baby when he came, and could only lisp a few words, was a fiery passionate little fellow, has grown very much, is very healthy and sturdy, the pet of all the school and house, a bold, daring, boyish spirit, and of a most loving and affectionate disposition. When he first came he would go to any stranger that came to the house; now he will not stir from papa or mama if they try to induce him ever so. Hoping these few particulars will be satisfactory concerning our little ones. 2nd. My idea of the effect of the boarding-out system on the above children. In the first place I believe that the boarding-out of these children has probably been the means of saving the lives of these delicate ones, and the moral influences and comforts of a cheerful country home, combined with parental kindness and a mother's watchful care, with the salubrious climate we live in, are blessings that it was impossible for them to enjoy in the Asylums of the Colony; and I am sure that as far as regards all the children placed out in this district, the boarding-out system has proved a greater success than was ever anticipated; and I am sure that the younger the little ones are placed out in happy homes the greater will be the success that will attend the Department. In a very few years we shall see the fruits of our labours in the improvement and development of these poor little outcasts, who will grow up to be members of respectable families in the enjoyment of happy homes and influences.—E.P.

The following is a report of the children in my charge, and my opinion of the boarding-out system. First, when the children came to me they were clean outward; the elder child had sores on him; after they had been with me a few days I found that their blood was very bad, and they bred vermin fast. The elder boy had a very bad cough; the younger one was fretful and not healthy. Second, their manners very ill-behaved—the want of proper training. Third, their habits very dirty. You could not find a worse boy than the eldest boy; he was filthy in the extreme, quite idiotic, bad in any way you like to take him; the youngest boy very sulky and stubborn. I am glad to inform you that they are greatly improved in every way; they are much cleaner, better behaved, and much better in health than they were when they came to me, but the oldest boy is an idiot, with an unhealthy body; he still breeds vermin fast, and still dirty. With regard to the boarding-out system, I am convinced that to distribute children is much better than to have them together in large numbers, such as Randwick and such places. Nothing could be better than the boarding-out system, but I would advise to have the most healthy and robust of State children sent out. What the State wants is sound, healthy, useful men and women to come from those children; if so, send to be boarded-out the children that are likely to become useful members of society, that they may be taught and shown a useful living; and keep those that are likely to become a pest to society and a trouble and expense to the State in the Asylums, as it is certain that in a few years they will be in gaol or an Asylum, at the expense of the State, and not only themselves but their progeny State children, and so it is from bad to worse; and if this state of things go on, in about two hundred years Australia will have a race worse in every respect than the aborigines. I have had seven children from the Asylum, and four out of the seven ought to have been kept in the Asylum. On the one hand the State is paying for the refuse of other countries to come here, and on the other hand rearing the refuse of this colony. Let the State look ahead and improve our race by sending out the sound children that are likely to become useful members of society. Four of the children that were sent to me plainly show what a degraded state their parents were in. If something is not done to stop this state of things Australia will not find room to store all her prisoners, lunatics, and mendicants. There was a great fuss about the small-pox, but there is a much worse epidemic staring us in the face; and to help to ward off this let the State do all in its power to see that sound right-minded children are sent to proper foster-parents, who shall care for them and fit them to fight the battle of life, which they never can be taught in an Asylum; let those remain who cannot be made useful.—A. L.

I received your note concerning A.P. You wished me to inform you about her health and manners, and I find her a very healthy child, and I have no complaint at all to find with her. When I received her she did not even know her letters, but she is improving wonderfully in her lessons, and also in her health, and I am willing to keep her on the conditions which I have her at present, and do my duty to her; but as regards adopting her, I am not in the position to do so; I like the child very much, and she is quite at home with us; and as regards the clothes, I was not aware that you would change them, so I altered them to fit her, and they will do very well.—A.L.

I received your letter on the 17th; Katie is behaving herself better than she did at first. K.P. was healthy when we received her, excepting her hands; her fingers were bad, but are better now; she has not very good manners; we have noticed a little improvement in manners now, and also in schooling.—J.R.F.

In reply to your letter of the 18th, I beg to state that the health and manners of the child when I first received him were not very good; he was troubled with sore eyes, which is quite restored; he was rather a weakly child, but is now quite strong and robust; he has improved in his manners and habits; he is quite cheerful and contented; and my idea of the boarding-out system so far upon the little one is very good.—F.S.

In reply to your letter, I must inform you that my little ones are progressing favourably, and they are very good children indeed, and since I have got them I have noticed a great improvement in them for the better, and I have no complaint whatever to make against the children.—C.W.

In reply to your note of the 15th instant, I beg to inform you that the child in question is progressing and behaving as well as can be expected; he goes to school regularly, and from his lessons there is an improvement in that respect; his health was delicate when he came to us, but there is a marked improvement since; his manners are good—we have no fault to find in that respect, and the boarding-out system has been very beneficial in his case.—B.W.

W.C. is very good behaved, but cannot speak; he is well in health at present. When I received M.C. she was very sickly, and of dirty habits, and suffered with the blight; she has improved in health and habits. I strongly approve of the boarding-out system as far as the children in my charge, for they have improved in health.—M.J.

In reply, I may state his habits are industrious and clean. He had a bad cough, but he is now better. He seems to be quite at home and happy. He is attending school regularly; he also attends Sunday school.—G.T.

In answer to your inquiry of the children, I have to say that they are as well as can be expected, for you must be aware that they are not always good. As to their health, they are quite well, with the exception of M. H., who has an eruption of the head and a running of the ear. J. C. for two years suffered much from breaking out of his head, but seems much better now. The children all, however, have greatly improved since I got them.—L.S.

You wish me to inform you in regard to the children's health and behaviour. I beg to inform you that all the children I have are pretty well behaved, excepting one, and she is very badly behaved indeed. That is R. L. The others have improved greatly in conduct. In regard to health, I had two very delicate indeed when I first received them, and now I am glad to tell you that they are strong and healthy. I have never had any sickness worth speaking of since I received them, and my opinion of the boarding-out system is that it is very good, but I think there are some that are not used well.—E.M.

I received your letter yesterday, and wish to say that E. R. has improved in health and grown fatter since I had her. She is a good child, and gives me no trouble, and is fond of school. E. and R. were in a bad state of health when I received them, and had no clothes worth speaking of. R. O. had no tidy boots. E. O. had one good pair. I would like, if you could make Mrs. M. find them, a pair of boots each. I have had a deal of trouble getting their things clean. They seem well behaved, and I am satisfied with them.—A.L.

When A. B. came to my place her health was very good and her habits were very good, but her eyes were bad, and have been bad ever since. I have had the doctor attending her, but they are sometimes bad and sometimes well. He says he can do no more for them. She is not able to go to school. She is much improved in health and manners, and I think the boarding-out system is very good.—E.W. The

The four children that I have are behaving as well as can be expected at their age. They are in the best of health and look well. They eat hearty and are very happy, and in their appearance a very great improvement.—M.C.

In answer to your inquiry as to how my foster-child is progressing, I may state the habits, health, and manners, good and very cleanly. He fretted a little at first and was childish, but he is bright and contented now, and is getting quite fat. Since going to school he has grown more hardy, and he is very clever and good at school, and in fact a good boy. The boarding-out system, in my opinion, is a very good plan, so long as the children are sent to proper foster-parents.—Mrs. G.

In answer to your note dated 16th, regarding the children, they are progressing very favourably I think; and I was speaking to their teacher, and I was informed that there was not their equals entered the schoolroom. I might as well inform you that if all the children are as well done for as the four I have the boarding-out system would be a great benefit to the children, as they are healthy and strong, and do not look the same as when I got them.—F.C.

My foster-child is progressing well, and greatly improved in health and manners. When I first had her she was weak in body, apparently from neglect and want of proper food, and very forward in manners; and I noticed that after being away a month she had gone back very much, and was dirty in her body, and evidently had not been bathed since she left me, but she is now strong and robust again, and is quite contented and feels at home. I am glad to say she takes very much to Sunday school, and is very good in church on Sunday mornings; and I am convinced that, provided proper homes are found for the children, that they are happier and more likely to grow up useful members of society by being boarded-out than in Asylums; but great care is necessary to be taken in selecting the foster-parents.—M.A.H.

In answer to your letter, I write to say that the children are all well and happy. The youngest was very ill last Sunday; I had to take her to the doctor; but she is better now. Their behaviour is good. When they came to me they were not in very good health, but they are looking stronger than they did when they came, and their habits and manners were respectable. I think the boarding-out system is a good one. I send the eldest one to school.—E.L.

In reply to your letter of 17th instant, I beg to state that the children that I have in my care are greatly improved; they are progressing and behaving themselves very well, both in health and manners. There were three of them bad, not in good health at all when they came to me; you know the state of the last two, but they are a great deal better now. They will be all right with care. The boarding-out system is very good, as far as the little ones in my charge are concerned.—F.M.W.

I am happy to tell you that the child A. W. is getting on well, and she is enjoying good health, and is a very nice obedient child. I am happy to say she has improved in health and manners since I got her, as she has got a better colour and is stouter, and I am very well pleased with her.—E.C.

In your letter of this morning you asked me to let you know the habits of my foster-child when I received her. She had some very bad habits when I got her, but it was easily to break her off them, and she looks well, and is now a very good girl.—M.B.

The foster-child I had from you is progressing most favourably and is very good. When I first received him he was very thin, but now he has the most healthy appearance and is getting stout. My idea with regard to the boarding-out system is that it is very good.—F.D.

All the children are in good health, and very obedient and clean in their habits, and I am pleased to say they improve.—S.L.

In reply to your note this morning about the children, I beg to state that the two youngest had diarrhoea, but they are quite well now; I think it was the change of the weather; and the two oldest had a bad cold, but they are quite well now, and they have very much improved in their habits.—M.K.

I received your letter by this morning's post. The little girl A. H. is improving since I first got her. She has had the measles and the native pox; but she is very well and in good health now, and attends school week-days, and Sunday school, and church with me in the evenings. I am trying to teach her all I can besides. I can safely say she has got a good home, and I treat her just the same as if she were my own.—H.S.

I am in receipt of your circular of 16th, and in reply beg to inform you that A. D., who has been under my charge since 1st September last, was to all appearances in very good health when she arrived here, and has continued so ever since. She was very ignorant of household duties, and in her manners was rude and sulky, besides being very careless. She has improved in her ideas of household work, and her temper is more under control, but she still requires a great deal of attention and reproof. On the whole, I am inclined to believe that the privilege allowed her of coming under the boarding-out system will be the means of making her an honest industrious woman.—L.J.C.

In reply to yours of the 16th, I beg to say that the child under our care is growing up a good child in the true sense of the word; she is all we could wish. When we first got her her habits were so dirty that had I lived near Sydney I should most certainly have sent her back. I can truthfully say that at her age—sixteen months—I never saw a child so filthy in her habits then. I think she was very backward in walking. We got her in May; she had then no idea of walking; she did not start till September. Children, if well in health and well cared for, ought to walk before a year and eight months old. Before we had her a month we had to call in a doctor; he said she was suffering from congestion of the lungs. She has not been seriously ill since, but her stomach seems to be very weak, except that she is a fine strong girl. She has improved so much in every respect that people are constantly asking me how I manage her. She can say all the alphabet except W in a clear and distinct voice. Can say her prayers. I do not think we ought to expect much more from a child two years and three months. I do not see how there can be any question about which is the best system for the children, that is, providing they are placed in comfortable homes. Is it possible that you or anyone else can think for a minute that home comforts go for nothing in the lives of our little ones? and I can tell you this, that it is possible to love these little strangers very much; and if there was more love in some homes there would be less crime and poverty amongst our young people. This child is growing up with a home for the future, and foster-parents who will protect her from all danger and all sin as far as it is possible, and a home in times of sickness or sorrow as long as God spares us. I hope you will not think I have written too much.—J.H.

As regards the children in my care, I am pleased to say they are getting on nicely. N. W., when I first received her, was very delicate; she was in bed the first fortnight, but she has not been ill since. Her little brother has the whooping-cough at present; he is not in such good condition as he was. M. K.'s health is very good, but she had very odd habits and manners at first, but she is improving. I send them all to day school regular, and also to Sunday school, and they are quite content and happy, and I should say the boarding-out system was a great benefit to the children.—M.J.T.

In reply to yours of the 16th instant, I beg to say that my four little foster-children I consider have gained strength of constitution, that their habits are thoroughly cleanly, and manners very promising; also their general behaviour good, though of course like other young children require care and attention. My idea of the boarding-out system is that it is an excellent one, provided the children are kindly and judiciously treated.—M.C.

In answer to your inquiry concerning the progress of the child under my charge, I beg to inform you that she was very dirty in her habits and a great story-teller, but I find a great improvement in both habits, manners, and health, and my idea of the system is that it is a very good one as far as she is concerned since she has been under my charge.—M.C.

With reference to your circular of the 16th instant respecting my foster-child, I have much pleasure in being able to say that so far I am very well pleased with him; he has behaved himself remarkably well, and is a very nice little boy. His health when he first came did not appear to be good; in fact, I thought he looked rather delicate, and his appetite was very poor, but now he seems much stronger and his appetite good. His education appears to have been neglected, but I have sent him pretty regularly to school since he came, and he now seems to be getting on fairly well. As to my idea of the effect of the boarding-out system upon him, I think that he is far better off with me than he could be in the "Home."—C.M.

In reference to your letter of this morning respecting the health and behaviour of the children under my care, I am pleased to say that M.E. has improved, and is much stronger than when she came to me a poor neglected child, and is now growing a fine girl. Of course you know that W.H.M. was really ill when boarded out to me. However, you will be pleased to hear he has much improved, and I think the boarding-out system has done wonders for the poor child. As for the two M's, I at one time thought of sending them back, they were so rude and unmanageable, but I am pleased to say they have so much improved that I have changed my mind respecting doing so. The poor children all try to be obedient and respectful, and you will also be pleased to hear they all attend school regularly and are progressing very well in their lessons; and I think the children will one day feel very grateful to the State for the kind interest taken in their welfare.—K.A.G.

In reply to your letter I must say that the children that we have got are doing well. They are both healthy children. The big boy was a bit wild at first, but I am getting him broken-in a little now. The big boy goes to school, but I have not sent the little one yet, but I will send him soon. Mrs. B. was visiting the children last evening, and she spoke highly of them, and said how fat and well they were looking, and she says it is a healthy place. I said to G. H., "I will take you back to Sydney again," and he began crying, and I said, "Will you go back?" and he said, "No." They both like to be here. I think I can make fine children of them. I like the children very well. They seemed pretty healthy when I received them, but very dirty. * * * —P.J.

My foster-child is progressing very well, and her behaviour good; her habits were good, but her health poorly; manner good. I have noticed an improvement in her health. My idea of the boarding-out system is that it is a very good object.—M.G.E.

A.C. and G.C. are progressing and behaving favourably; I have noticed improvement in manners and behaviour. My idea of the boarding-out system so far upon the little ones in my charge is very favourable.—H.F.H.

I received your note about the boy W.J.; he is getting on quite well; he wants to be kept under; I have to be very firm with him; taking him on the whole he is a good boy. I think Mrs. C.— let the boy have too much of his own way. He has improved well in his health and appearance and manners. I think the boarding system very good.—M.M.

In answer to your note re foster-children E.N. and F.W., I beg to state in reference to the former that when I received her from the institution she was suffering from a very severe cold accompanied with hoarse dry coughing, from which I am happy to state she has quite recovered, and is growing stout and strong and very much improved in health; her general habits and demeanour have considerably improved, although at first she was very sullen and self-willed; she is growing out of that failing, and promises to become a very good domestic. F.W. seems a child that has been very much neglected, being very dull in intellect and manners and of a very nervous disposition; she is gradually improving, and I trust after a little while will be all right, as she is getting more contented and lively in her disposition and is improving at her school. I am of opinion the children will be more happy and become more domesticated by being placed out in various families under the boarding-out system than if retained in the institution, simply because they see more home associations than can possibly be afforded them otherwise.—F.H.

With regard to the little girl, when I first got her her manners were very bad; she was very disobedient; her health was very good; she has improved since in each case; I think as she gets older she will improve.—S.J.

Your note concerning F.B. duly came to hand on Friday last. I must say that she was in very bad health when I received her, and her eyes were so bad that she could hardly see out of them for weeks after I got her; and on taking her to the doctor he said she was very bad with bronchitis, and still added that if I was not careful she would not recover from it, but I am glad to say she has improved wonderfully both in manners and health. I almost can say that her mother would not know her now if she was to meet her. The only trouble she has at present is a slight cold, but I think she will soon get over it. In fact she is at the present both a fine and as healthy a looking child as a person could wish for; she is also a clean, obedient, and intelligent little girl. * * * In giving my opinion of the boarding-out system, I can with a true heart say that it is the best thing to do, providing the children get good foster-parents to look after them. As for the child I have, she is spoken of all over the place being so well attended to; some say she is better cared for than other children who have both father and mother.—J.M.

I received your circular, and in regard to the children their manners and behaviour are very good, and with regard to M.—K.— I am sorry that I cannot give such a satisfactory report, as you know that she is silly. All the children up to this are in excellent health, except M.A.L., who has been very ill for the last week, attended by a doctor, but I am happy to say she is better now. I am happy to say that there is a great improvement in the children since I received them, both in health and behaviour. My idea of the boarding-out system is that it is very good if the children get a good home.—B.C.

* * * As regards the child, he has greatly improved since he came up here. His habits, health, and manners are all particularly good. He has attended school every day since he came up except one. His behaviour is very good. He has greatly improved in all that I have stated. He is a clever active little boy, very obedient in every manner, and he likes his place of residence very much. * * * —G.B.

I reply to yours of the 16th, I beg to state that the children taken under my charge were, both with respect to health, manner, and habits, all that could be desired. Albert (the boy I have with me still) is a very good lad and very fond of school, and enjoys the best of health. He seems very contented, and I am perfectly agreeable to still keep him.—T.R.

A—M—, the child you placed with me, has much improved during the time she has been in my house, and is now a strong healthy girl and well behaved. When she came to me, which is about seven months ago, her face was covered with sores, and her eyes were very weak, a lotion having to be applied to them constantly. Measles then followed, but since the time above stated nothing has ailed her. In conclusion, I may add that I approve of the boarding-out system, and I think the child has benefited thereby.—K.E.

In answer to your letter, I have only to say, my experience of the boarding-out system is very limited. The only children under my notice, and I think those only in the district, are under my own personal care, which makes it rather a difficult matter to speak on without egotism. I can only say I am very pleased the system has been introduced, the children I have being relatives of mine, with the assistance received from that source I have been able to take charge of them, which otherwise I could not have done. After reading some of the letters in your report both from the children and foster-parents, I am sure the system cannot fail to be a success, and feel certain that children so placed out have by far a greater opportunity of expending their imaginations than those in an Asylum.—E.W.

The child's health is good. Not progressing a great deal yet. Manners good. The child with me is a good child and is very well. His manners are very good. Yours faithfully.—R.G.

I have much pleasure in informing you that my foster-child is going on very well and progressing fairly at school. I could not say she has any serious faults, and on the whole I quite approve of the boarding-out system.—R.G.

The children under my care are progressing favourably and behaving themselves tolerably. They certainly have improved wonderfully both in habits, health, and manners. When I received them the health was fair, but habits and manners were dreadful. The system of boarding-out is in my opinion good, judging from the happy faces of the little ones under my charge.—E.L.C.

I am duly in receipt of yours in which you ask how the boy of our adoption is progressing. I am glad to say he still continues to be a good well-behaved boy, very obedient, kind, loving, and affectionate. When first we got him his habits were clean and very careful, his health very good, and in his manner most obliging.—W.B.

When

When S— F— came to me he was not very strong—was very often complaining; but now he seems to be stronger—does not so often complain. He was when he came a very good behaved child, and, as far as his behaviour is concerned, he has still continued so; but he had two very great faults: he was not honest, and was not truthful—cannot depend on one word he says. I think he is more honest now than when he came, but not much difference in his truthfulness. I have never punished him for it yet, but I try to instil into him the consequence of it. I am afraid he has been brought up to lying and stealing, as it seems to be so habitual to him.—A.S.

My foster-children are in very good health at present, and I have not any fault to find with their conduct. The younger child when I received it was in delicate health and of dirty habits; the eldest was clean and healthy. My opinion is that the boarding-out system answers well.—E.N.

You wish to know how the boy W— S— is progressing and behaving himself. He is behaving himself well in every respect, willing and obedient in all things. I can truly say he is a good boy. The habits and health and manners of the child when we first received him were very good. He is progressing in his learning; he goes to school regularly every day, and likewise his Sunday school. I think the boarding-out system is very good. * * * *—J.F.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 16th instant, and in reply beg to state that the foster-children are progressing well and their behaviour is good. The health and habits of the children were not very good when I first received them, but there has been a great improvement in both health and manners, and they are in best of health. I consider the boarding-out system to have a great effect on the children under my charge.—E.G.

In reference to how A— G— is progressing, I am glad to state that ever since I have had her her health has been very good. Her manners are very much improved since she has been with me. When she first came to me she had a very troublesome habit of laying down and kicking and screaming with all her might if she could not have her own way, but, I am glad to say she has not done it for some time past. She has been going to school since Christmas, and seems to be getting on very nicely. My idea is that the boarding-out system is very good indeed. * * * *—C.F.S.

* * * * A— M'G— was a little delicate when we first got her, but she has improved up to this. She is very obedient in all respects; no fault with her whatever. As regards the boarding-out system, I think it very suitable.—J.F.

Your note to hand. Re M— H—, I'm happy to be able to inform you that she is progressing fairly well in her schooling, and as for her behaviour, I don't see anything to complain of in that respect. It appears she was a very delicate child in Parramatta, * * * would not know the stout child of to-day was the puny little thing of nine months ago. In fact, Newcastle appears to agree with her first-rate. To sum up, the child's habits were good when we received her, and of course they are ditto still. Her health was very middling; in fact, the first time she went to church she had to be carried out in a fainting condition; no fear of that sort of thing now. Her manners appear to have been pretty well looked after by the Sisters; therefore there was not much to improve in that respect. The boarding-out of our little girl has done her a power of good. If she takes notice of what we tell her she will be self-reliant without bigotry, and independent with modesty. As I informed you in my last, we can't take in hand to free her for five years.—T.V.

The habits of the children when I got them were very improper, but, through careful watching, they are greatly improved. The boy's health has always been good; The girl has been delicate from the commencement; she has had running from the ear all the time, causing a very unpleasant smell. The manners of the children were very good when I got them, and I am pleased to tell you they are improving in every respect. You ask my opinion regarding the boarding-out system. I think it is the best method for the benefit of the children, as long as the children are placed with good parents, for they want careful watching.—M.S.

Two of the children are all that could be desired. They were quiet and docile when they came and are so still, but the boy J. A. is unmanageable. He requires a man to deal with him. The health of the children was good when they came, and is so still. They look well and eat well. I think, so far as they are concerned, the boarding-out system agrees with them.—B.K.

In the absence of my wife, the duty of replying to your letter of the 15th inst. devolves upon me. The child in question, E. P., was, when we received him, in very good health. His manners were somewhat uncouth, but not more so than could be expected from a child so young. We, however, soon discovered that he was thoroughly untruthful; and he evinced a very remarkable shrewdness in inventing plausible stories to bolster up his false statements. By keen cross-examination, however, we generally succeed in leading him to acknowledge the truth. And I think I am justified in believing that, as a result of having the wickedness of falsehood continually impressed upon him, he is becoming more truthful than he was formerly. His health is excellent; and he promises to grow up into a strong powerful young man. Considering the short time he has been in school, his writing is I consider excellent; but he appears to be a little afflicted with a disinclination to mental exertion, which he shows in spelling and mental arithmetic. In this, however, he will probably improve in time. Generally speaking, and judging from our experience of the boarding-out system as exemplified by the child in our charge, I believe the system to be a most excellent one, and much, very much, to be preferred to what may be styled the boarding-school system.—G.T.B.

In reply to your circular of last month regarding the progress and behaviour of the child placed in my charge, I am sorry to say she is not progressing according to my wishes. She is very untruthful. Her habits, health, and manners have improved since I received her in my charge, and she would become a useful member of society provided she can be taught to tell the truth; if not, the morals of my own children are endangered.—M.J.C.

R— K— was a very bad boy when he came to me, but he is improving very much lately. I don't think it was the fault of the school, but it seems naturally in him. He is very stubborn and disagreeable, and seems to have had his own way a good deal, but I think he will change. He likes going to school now, and he is healthy and has manners to please anyone when he likes. He is growing, and is a smart lad, too, at figures. I like him very well, if he continues to improve. He would not care to go back to Sydney.—H.G.

You wanted to know how my foster-child is getting on. I think he is a good boy, and willing; but I think that he has been a little out of his mind some time or another, because he seems a little stupid in some things; but he may wear away from it; but he is all right in health.—D.T.

The girl under my care is progressing and behaving herself very well. Her habits and health were good when we received her, but her manners only fair. She is now in very good health, and is a useful well-behaved child. As regards the boarding-out system, in the case of this child, it is all that could be desired.—H.E.H.

In answer to your letter respecting the little girl in my charge, I beg to state that she has very good health, also her habits are very good. I cannot say much about her manners, but they will improve as she gets more sense. She is very good and kind, and we are very well pleased with her. She has faults, I won't attempt to deny, just like any other child. The boarding-out system is very visible on her in a great many respects. She is very happy, and improving at school.—M.R.

My foster-child is getting on nicely; both health and manners were good when I got him first, and I am happy to say he continues so. He is getting on very well at school, and at home tries to do any little thing he can well. My opinion of the boarding-out system is it is a good thing for the children when they are kindly treated.—E.M.

In reply to yours, I beg to say that the boy W.P., now in my charge, is in good health, and is progressing favourably at school. He was always a docile child. I see no particular change in him in any way.—C.W.

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter. In answer to your inquiries I may say that the girl M.J.D. was in good health when she came into my charge, and I am glad to say she is the same at present. Respecting the boarding-out system, I believe it to be the correct thing to do, providing the necessary precautions are taken to prevent the wrong class of people getting charge of the children.—J. M'L.

In

In reference to the boys A.W. and H.W., I beg to inform you that I am very well satisfied with them. They are both of them very good boys, and are making very fair progress in their schooling. A.W. was for some time very dirty in his habits, but he is thoroughly broken from them now; I would not wish for any better boy than A.W.; during my late illness he behaved like a little man, doing all that he possibly could to assist me.—E.T.

In reply to your communication of 16th instant, I beg to state that the children in my care are doing well, and behaving themselves better than when I first had them. The habits of the four were at first dirty, but all have considerably improved in this respect. The health of three of them is delicate, and they require a good deal of care, one day seeming well, and the next anything but well; the last one I got, viz., A.W., is a strong hardy girl. As to manners, they are all young, and we are doing what we can to form them, and I think there is a little improvement in this respect. Generally speaking, I think that the effect of the boarding-out system upon those in my charge has been for their benefit.—S.H.

In reply to your note of the 16th instant, asking information of K.S., I am happy to say she is a mild quiet girl; she was in good health when she arrived here, but she is now stouter, and a better complexion; her habits are very slow, and she would not exert herself or take any exercise if not looked after; indolence would perhaps be a better name for this. Mr. M'D—, the schoolmaster, says she has a fair intellect; she is to get some prizes this week. I allow Katie to correspond with her mother, for I believe she is a sensible good woman. I gave Katie your letter; I enclose her answer; I can assure you she was never helped, nor did she ask for any; she said she would write you a better letter next time, for she would have her prizes to write about; she only lost four days last quarter from school. I asked her if she were happy and content, she said yes, and she would not like to leave here. I think on your next visit here you will have a number of applications for Board children. I hear no complaints of any of the children down here.—C. M'M.

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your kind favour of the 16th instant, and in answer to your inquiries, I feel great pleasure to inform you that M.L. is quite well in health, and she appears very happy; she is growing fast, and I hope to be able to make her thoroughly domesticated. She is treated the same as our own little girls; we have only two—one seven and the other six, so she has no nursing to do, and Mr. C— is from home two days out of three. I think the boarding-out system will benefit the girls very much, that is, if they get with people that take an interest in them, and are able to teach them; but unfortunately there are so many in this Colony that are not able to show them, because they do not know themselves. M.L.'s eyes are quite well now, and in fact she is every way much improved. Hoping, dear sir, the information will satisfy you.—E.C.

In reply to your inquiries of the 16th, concerning the child C— C—, I beg to state that I consider her much improved both in temper and manners. When she came to me she was a most stubborn and disobedient child, giving way to such frantic screaming, running out and saying I won't to anything she was told to do against her inclination, then she would snatch off her hood or anything she had in her hand and dash it on the ground. I was quite disheartened, and my daughters wished me to send her back immediately as the house was kept in a constant confusion. Still I thought for the poor child's sake I would try her a little longer, and I am happy to say she seems much improved. The schoolmaster and the Rev. Mr. Johnston also think her greatly improved. She has lost the fierce sullen scowl, and the countenance is much brighter. She is fond of children and romping noisy play, and she is a child of strong passions and stubborn disposition. She may grow up honest and obedient, but I doubt there will be no affection or tenderness except where self-interest is concerned. As to her health, she looks well and hearty, eats and sleeps well, and with the exception of some scurvy patches that have come on her head and are now getting better, she is a stout, straight-limbed, well-grown child. The body is quite clean, though I think she has had the eruption before, for when she came to me her head was all scarred and in bare patches, as you must have observed. As to the boarding-out system, I consider it better than massing a lot of children good and bad together, as the children all get too much of one pattern, like mere machines. If the family is what it should be, where the child is placed, they are taught to be useful and have some home affections, though in that there will always be a sad want to the poor child.—E.M.

In reply to your favour of the 16th, I beg respectfully to say that L— W—, the State child you have placed with me, is, in my opinion, very much improved. She is not a naturally amiable disposition, but she is obedient and very religious. Moreover, the nuns' word is law with her, and I want no more. As long as she is guided by the nuns she will do right by me. You wish to know in what way she has improved. She is beginning to learn the value of things. I take her with me everywhere to buy what I want. I show her how everything costs money, and I teach her to be careful. All the children from those large places are very wasteful. Everything is supplied to them in large quantities for nothing, and they have no idea of thrift. I think it a great blessing, to girls in particular, to be boarded out. L.W. goes up to the Convent school every morning at 8 o'clock. She takes her dinner, and remains all day at the Convent. I had to get the straw tick that I told you about, but she tries to be as good as she can. Mrs. E.'s W.C. is equally distressing in this point.—H.M.

In reply to your letter about the children, I may say when I received them F— P— was very dirty in his habits, dirtying the bed often, and also wetting it. I thought I could not do anything with him, and often threatened to send him back; he is now nearly cured of that. He was also a very untruthful boy; I think he is nearly cured of that. His health was bad, but he is now strong and hearty. Mabel was a clean child. I— L— was a very dirty child in her habits, often dirtying the bed, and does it now sometimes; she was a great deal of trouble at first. I think she is improving in cleanliness. She was a petted child; she is improving in that. R— L— often wet the bed when I had him first, but now is getting a great deal better. I may say the children's manners and health are greatly improved, especially their health. This is a very healthy place here, at the seaside, for delicate children, and I think a delicate child would soon get strong here. The boarding-out system has done my four children a great deal of good, as they mix up with other children and with society instead of being shut up in the Institution. I myself would have no objection in taking another delicate child under three years old if you had one to place out that you would like a place for. All the State children about here are doing well, as I said it was a healthy place. Hoping I have answered your inquiries.—S.C.

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

VACCINATION.

(REPORT FOR 1882.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Medical Adviser to the Government to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Board of Health Office, 127, Macquarie-street, Sydney, 26 November, 1883.

Herewith I have the honor to enclose the usual Report, showing the number of vaccinations performed by the Government Vaccinators throughout the Colony during the year 1882, particularising those returned from the city and suburbs, and those from the country districts respectively.

I also enclose the returns of several of the country districts for the year 1881, which were received too late to be included in last year's report.

From a perusal of the Return for 1882 it will be seen that under one year 487 successful cases were recorded; from one to five years, 760; from five to ten years, 654; and over ten years, 287; making a total of 2,188.

I would draw attention to the remarkable falling off in the number of vaccinations as compared with the year 1881, when no less than 58,962 were recorded. During the greater part of that year small-pox was epidemic in this city, and markedly selecting its victims, for the most part, from amongst those unprotected by vaccination, and, as the report of the epidemic issued by the Board of Health shows, visiting them with a quite exceptional severity*. It created a scare, which caused an unprecedented number to avail themselves of the services of the Government Vaccinators.

During the year 1882 no such stimulus was present, and hence the country again lapsed into that apathetic state, as regards vaccination, which has characterised it in the past. I cannot refrain from here expressing a fear that we shall one day be aroused from this condition by an epidemic of small-pox which may decimate the Colony.

The unvaccinated condition of our people is, moreover, a source of perpetual danger to the neighbouring Colonies, who, in the event of such a calamity as a small-pox epidemic overtaking us, would, doubtless, in self-defence, place such restrictions upon communication with our ports as would prove most damaging to the interests of commerce.

I desire, therefore, in the most emphatic way, to urge the Government to make the practice of vaccination compulsory, by means of legislative enactment, as is the case in Victoria, New Zealand, South Australia, Queensland, Tasmania, Western Australia, and Fiji, as I feel assured that in the absence of such a law we are in perpetual danger of the introduction of small-pox, at each fresh outbreak of which the whole country will be thrown into the humiliating state of scare which characterized it in 1881; and moreover, our unprotected state in this regard makes us a standing menace to the neighbouring Colonies.

Quarantine, no matter how vigorously administered, may, and in fact occasionally will, fail to keep out small-pox. It may reach us in one of the millions of letters or articles of ready-made clothing which are annually imported, or in the effects of passengers from foreign countries; and once established here it will find but too suitable soil for its propagation in our unvaccinated population.

I

* Vaccination.

The statistics regarding vaccination were commenced on the 2nd of September, 1881. Of the 103 cases of small-pox occurring after this date, forty-seven had been vaccinated at various ages, the details of which will be found in Appendix B.

Of the total 154 cases of small-pox, forty died, being an average of 25.9 per cent. Of these, ten had been vaccinated in early life, twenty-nine had never been vaccinated, and of one there is no record. Thus, of the total number of deaths in which vaccination or non-vaccination has been recorded, 25.0 per cent. occurred amongst vaccinated patients, and 72.5 per cent. amongst unvaccinated persons.

Of the total 154 cases of variola it will be observed that in forty-two instances the disease was contracted from an inmate of the same house, and of these a large proportion was contributed by instances in which the father of the family being a disbeliever in vaccination had not allowed his children to be vaccinated, and the disease struck down with more or less fatal effect many members of the household. Thus, in one family at Pyrmont, consisting of ten members, six cases occurred, two of which terminated fatally. Of the members who escaped two were vaccinated some time previously, and the other two the day after the house was quarantined. The six members of the family who were struck down by the disease had never been vaccinated.

In another family, consisting of eight persons, residing at Woolloomooloo Bay, six unvaccinated members had small-pox and two vaccinated members escaped.

In another family in Sussex-street, consisting of six members, all unvaccinated, five cases occurred.

Another example of the protective power of vaccination occurred amongst the members of a family in Arthur-place, of whom three were unvaccinated and one was vaccinated. The three former contracted the disease and the latter escaped.

In another family consisting of five members, only two of whom were vaccinated, the three unvaccinated members alone suffered from the disease.

I have carefully examined the Vital Statistics of the Colony with a view to discover the proportion of the population unprotected by vaccination, but I have not been able to obtain any definite information on the subject. I have therefore tabulated the number of vaccinations performed during the last twenty-two years and also the births registered during the same period. From this it appears that while 465,411 were born, only 223,546 of the whole population were vaccinated by the Government Vaccinators during that time.

Although it is clear that one cannot argue that a number corresponding to the difference between the recorded vaccinations and the estimated births remained unvaccinated, yet I think that we may fairly conclude that a very large proportion of our young people are unprotected, and therefore specially liable to contract small-pox.

Vaccination by private practitioners is no doubt carried on, but to a very inconsiderable extent.

The reason for this apathy as regards vaccination is not because either the general public or the medical profession doubt its efficacy as a prophylactic against small-pox (as witness the eagerness with which it was resorted to when that disease was at our doors), but because on the part of the former there exists a fear that the vaccine lymph may be a vehicle whereby specific constitutional diseases may be conveyed to their children. That there are no good grounds for this fear is shown by the evidence given before the Cabinet in 1881, to which I have the honour to refer you. In order to combat this prejudice I obtained from the Victorian Model Farm, during the month of September, a large quantity of fresh calf lymph, which I caused to be distributed to a number of the Government vaccinators; but the reports which I have received from those gentlemen have not been very encouraging, for although they for the most part have given a favourable opinion as to the results of the use of the lymph, they have almost unanimously remarked upon the apathy of the people as regards vaccination.

I would point the desirability of inserting in the next census papers queries which would afford us reliable information as to the number of persons in the Colony who are effectively vaccinated, and,—

I have, &c.,

CHARLES K. MACKELLAR,

President of the Board of Health and Medical Adviser to the Government.

RETURN showing the number of Births during the past twenty-two years, and the number of Vaccinations performed by Government Vaccinators during the same period.

Year.	Births.	Vaccinations.	Year.	Births.	Vaccinations.
1861	14,681	2,349	1873	21,444	3,152
1862	15,434	3,155	1874	22,178	4,832
1863	15,679	12,970	1875	22,528	3,111
1864	16,881	10,696	1876	23,298	4,361
1865	17,233	8,367	1877	23,851	16,881
1866	16,950	7,606	1878	23,328	3,512
1867	18,317	6,931	1879	26,933	5,569
1868	18,485	11,237	1880	28,162	5,029
1869	19,243	21,507	1881	28,993	58,962
1870	19,648	7,084	1882	29,702	2,188
1871	20,143	6,482	Total .....	465,411	223,546
1872	20,250	17,565

CHARLES K. MACKELLAR,

President of the Board of Health, and Medical Adviser to the Government.

26 November, 1883.

RETURN showing the number of Persons Vaccinated by the Government Vaccinators in the Country Districts of the Colony of New South Wales, during the year 1882.

Country Districts.	Under 1 year of age.				From 1 to 5 years.				From 5 to 10 years.				Over 10 years.				Total.
	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.
Albury	26	29	55	55	23	40	63	63	12	9	21	21	5	10	15	15	66	88	154	154
Bathurst	..	2	2	2	8	3	11	11	6	3	9	9	..	..	..	..	14	8	22	22
Bega	5	1	6	6	15	17	32	32	23	25	48	48	10	17	27	26	53	60	113	112
Bombala	6	7	13	13	26	26	52	52	24	24	48	48	32	39	71	71	88	96	184	184
Burrumbidgee	2	1	3	2	12	17	29	20	16	20	36	21	..	..	..	..	30	38	68	43
Deniliquin	15	12	27	24	7	6	13	11	1	2	3	3	..	..	..	..	23	20	43	38
Gundagai	3	1	4	4	4	3	7	7	10	11	21	19	50	9	59	53	67	24	91	83
Kempsey, West.	..	..	..	..	1	2	3	3	6	4	10	10	..	..	..	..	7	6	13	13
Maclean	4	5	9	9	12	11	23	23	8	7	15	15	..	..	..	..	24	23	47	47
Mudgee	100	93	193	193	123	138	261	261	114	87	201	201	55	60	115	115	392	378	770	770
Murrumbidgee	..	..	..	..	1	..	1	1	5	2	7	7	..	..	..	..	6	2	8	8
New England and Gwydir	4	14	18	14	32	21	53	48	58	55	113	111	..	..	..	..	94	90	184	178
Penrith	1	1	2	2	11	6	17	17	19	8	27	27	..	..	..	..	31	15	46	46
Rylstone	..	..	..	..	5	7	12	12	5	4	9	9	..	..	..	..	10	11	21	21
Tooma and Tumberumba	7	5	12	12	7	5	12	11	5	5	10	8	..	1	1	1	19	16	35	32
Wagga Wagga	10	12	22	22	13	9	22	22	4	12	16	16	..	..	..	..	27	33	60	60
Wollombi	..	..	..	..	2	1	3	3	4	3	7	7	..	..	..	..	6	4	10	10
	183	183	366	358	302	312	614	597	320	281	601	580	152	136	288	281	957	912	1,869	1,816

RETURN showing the number of Persons Vaccinated by the Government Vaccinators in Sydney and Suburbs, during the year 1882.

	Under 1 year of age.				From 1 to 5 years.				From 5 to 10 years.				Over 10 years.				Total.
	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.
Balmain .....	3	1	4	3	3	6	9	9	7	5	12	10	..	..	..	..	13	12	25	22
Sydney .....	45	80	125	125	79	72	151	151	39	21	60	56	..	..	..	..	163	173	336	332
Woollahra .....	1	..	1	1	2	2	4	3	4	4	8	8	3	3	6	6	10	9	19	18
Total .....	49	81	130	129	84	80	164	163	50	30	80	74	3	3	6	6	186	194	380	372

SUMMARY, 1882.

RETURN showing the number of Persons Vaccinated by the Government Vaccinators in the Colony of New South Wales during the year 1882.

	Under 1 year of age.				From 1 to 5 years.				From 5 to 10 years.				Over 10 years.				Total.
	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.
Sydney and Suburbs .....	49	81	130	129	84	80	164	163	50	30	80	74	3	3	6	6	186	194	380	372
Country Districts .....	183	183	366	358	302	312	614	597	320	281	601	580	152	136	288	281	957	912	1,869	1,816
Total .....	232	264	496	487	386	392	778	760	370	311	681	654	155	139	294	287	1,143	1,106	2,249	2,188

CHARLES K. MACKELLAR,

President of Board of Health and Medical Adviser to the Government.

Sydney, 26th November, 1883.

ADDITIONAL VACCINATION RETURNS FOR 1881.

RETURN showing the number of Persons Vaccinated by the Government Vaccinators in the Colony of New South Wales during the year 1881, the reports for which were received too late to be included in the return for that year.

	Under 1 year of age.				From 1 to 5 years.				From 5 to 10 years.				Over 10 years.				Total.
	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Successful.
Grafton .....	3	1	4	4	22	22	44	44	27	41	68	68	..	..	..	..	52	64	116	116
Muswellbrook and Merton .....	2	1	3	3	7	12	19	19	7	3	10	10	..	..	..	..	16	16	32	32
Newcastle .....	29	24	53	49	90	78	168	158	60	57	117	115	..	..	..	..	179	159	338	322
Parramatta .....	2	3	5	5	10	10	20	20	5	10	15	15	..	..	..	..	17	23	40	40
Penrith .....	2	2	4	4	27	20	47	47	7	6	13	13	..	..	..	..	36	28	64	64
Urana .....	1	1	2	2	3	3	6	6	..	5	5	5	..	..	..	..	4	9	13	13
Tamworth .....	20	12	32	32	78	74	152	152	56	60	116	116	13	12	25	25	167	158	325	325
Wollongong .....	1	..	1	1	8	8	16	16	15	14	29	29	25	37	62	62	49	59	108	108
Total .....	60	44	104	100	245	227	472	462	177	196	373	371	38	49	87	87	520	516	1,036	1,020

CHARLES K. MACKELLAR,

President of Board of Health and Medical Adviser to the Government.

Sydney, 26th November, 1883.

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

(REPORT FOR 1883.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Police Department, Inspector General's Office, Sydney, 10 January, 1884.

In accordance with the regulations and the Colonial Secretary's instructions, I do myself the honor to make this my Report upon the condition and operations of the Police Department for the year 1883.

Appendix A shows the strength and distribution of the establishment at the close of the year.

Additional Police Stations have been formed during the year at the twenty-four places hereunder named :—

District.	Station.
Northern ... ..	Broadwater. Brushgrove. Bolivia. Cudgen.
Southern ... ..	Harden. Wolumla. Eurobodalla. Jindabyne.
Eastern ... ..	Peat's Ferry. Prospect. Kangaroo Valley. Clifton.
Western ... ..	Currinyalpah. Nevertire. Burraga. Barringun. Goolagong.
Namoi ... ..	Grawin. Carinda.
North-eastern ... ..	Fernmount. Coopernook. Woy Woy.
Murray ... ..	Ournie.
Metropolitan ... ..	Croydon.

An increase of twenty-nine (all ranks) was provided by Parliament, and the vacancies created as under were also filled by new appointments :—

Resignations ... ..	91
Discharges ... ..	27
Dismissals ... ..	37
Superannuations ... ..	12
Deaths ... ..	5
Total ... ..	172

The increase of pay of sixpence per diem, together with the additional sixpence per diem allowed to subordinate members of the Force providing themselves with quarters, has had the desired effect, both of decreasing the number of voluntary resignations, and in securing more than an adequate number of eligible candidates to fill up the vacancies occurring.

Six

Six police pensioners died in the year 1883, whose pensions amounted in the total to £477 per annum.

Fourteen members of the Force were superannuated—eight being allowed pensions amounting in all to £1,012 per annum, and six received gratuities on discharge, amounting in the aggregate to £770.

Six widows were also awarded gratuities amounting to £1,834.

The income of the Police Reward and Superannuation Funds (combined) was about £15,000, and the expenditure £11,500. The fund therefore, so far, has been found equal to the demands upon it, though a heavier strain may be expected when a number of the old public servants in the Force are placed upon the pension list.

As the Colonial Secretary is aware, the demands for additional Police Stations and constables have been far in excess of the small increase voted. Most of the applications made have been reasonable, but it has not been possible to comply with all, whilst in the metropolis the Force is still far below the numerical standard fixed for other similar cities.

Complaints are therefore constantly made to me, chiefly from residents in the suburbs, of inadequate police protection, and the officers have frequently represented the impossibility of providing men for beats of such dimensions as will ensure a reasonable amount of supervision.

Many of the applications for additional police protection have been from country villages, where the presence of a constable would be found advantageous to the residents to preserve good order in minor matters, but where there is little or no crime of a serious kind. Police Stations are however far more required in remote districts sparsely populated, at considerable distances from existing Police Stations, and where serious crime is prevalent. It is for such places that I have had to devote many of the additional men provided.

The cost of establishing such stations is considerable, as buildings and paddocks have to be provided, and ordinarily two constables and a tracker are required at each.

However, acting upon the Colonial Secretary's verbal approval, I have increased the strength of the Force about twenty men above the limit provided on the Estimates for 1883, and the saving in the early portion of the year has enabled me to pay the wages to the 31st December, without exceeding the vote.

It will, I am satisfied, be absolutely necessary to increase the strength still further, to meet urgent requirements on the railway works and elsewhere in the interior, as well as in the suburbs of Sydney, where increased protection is at least equally necessary.

In my Annual Report for the year 1880 (dated the 27th January, 1881) I referred to the prevalence of intemperate and dissolute habits amongst the youth of Sydney and other large cities, in the following terms:—

“The idle and dissolute habits of many of the youth in large cities may, I think, be also attributed to a change in the tone of modern social organization, and an absence of restraint upon the young, especially exemplified in the discontinuance to a great extent of the practice of apprenticing boys to a trade or handicraft, in substitution of which large numbers of young people of both sexes now find employment in factories, where they can earn good wages, giving them the command of money and long hours of leisure, unrestrained by parental control.”

I regret now to say that there has been no improvement, but rather the reverse, since that report was written. I still attribute this to the facility with which young persons of both sexes can obtain employment in factories and other large establishments where they can earn high wages, and have abundant leisure with little or no restraint.

The cases of juvenile immorality and depravity which frequently come under public notice are most appalling, and unfortunately in most instances the circumstances are not such as would allow of the provisions of the Industrial Schools Act being enforced—indeed the evil must be regarded as a moral one, to a great extent beyond the scope of the statute laws, but none the less tending to the demoralization of the community and the precursor of future crime.

The more general diffusion of education does not appear to have had the moral effect upon the classes referred to which was hoped for. I find, upon careful examination of the records, during a period of six months, respecting 494 young persons—male and female—who were apprehended for minor offences, but who, from their known dissolute habits, may be expected to lapse into a career of crime and immorality, that of this large number twenty-four only were without education, and unable to read and write.

The effect of the whipping clauses of the Criminal Law Amendment Act yet remains to be tested, as they have not been put in operation, except in one case (an adult).

Although the statistics of crime for the Colony are not yet available for reference, as far as I can judge from the reports and records, serious offences are still on the decrease. I have, however, been able to ascertain the following particulars regarding the arrests in the Metropolitan district:—

The total number of persons taken into custody by the police during the year was 21,831, being 16,600 males and 5,231 females, against 19,639, being 14,436 males and 5,203 females, in 1882, showing an increase of 2,192 persons.

For drunkenness the figures stand as below:—

Year 1881	...	...	...	...	13,949
„ 1882	...	...	...	...	11,842
„ 1883	...	...	...	...	13,312

The increase in the number of arrests for drunkenness last year is therefore above the proportion, allowing for the addition to the population, though below the total for 1881, prior to the passing of the Licensing Act.

DISTRICT.	STATION.	MOUNTED.						FOOT.
		Super-intendents.	Inspectors.	Sub-Inspectors.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.
Southern— con- tinued.	Eden .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	1
	Bowling .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Gininderra .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Cobargo .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...
	Eurobadalla .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...
	Wollongough .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Jindabyne .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
Wolumla .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Eastern.....	Depôt .....	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...
	Parramatta .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	1	1	...	7
	Rookwood .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	1
	Ryde .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1
	Hunter's Hill .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	2
	Windsor .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Richmond .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Rouse Hill .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Wilberforce .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	St. Alban's .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Penrith .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	St. Mary's .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Emu Plains .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Springwood .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Appin .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Camden .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Picton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Berrima .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Mittagong .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Moss Vale .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Robertson .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	2
	Wollongong .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Dapto .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Bulli .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	2
	Prospect .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Granville .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
	Campbelltown .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Wilton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Bowral .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Smithfield .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Liverpool .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Kiama .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Shellharbour .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
Jamberoo .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Gerrington .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Nowra .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...
Terrara .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Broughton Creek .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Kangaroo Valley .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
Cilfton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...
Milton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...
Western ....	Bathurst .....	1	...	...	1	...	2	4	1	...	1	7
	Milltown .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Kelso .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Oberon .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Hartley .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Rockley .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Wyagdon .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	O'Connell .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Trunkey .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Rydal .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	2
	Lithgow .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Wallerawang .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Sofala .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Hill End .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Tambaroora .....	...	...	1	...	...	1	2	...	...	1	5
	Orange .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Stony Creek .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Molong .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Toogong .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Cowra .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Blayney .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Carcoar .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Canowindra .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Cudal .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	3
	Mudgee .....	...	...	1	...	1	...	3	...	...	1	3
	Gulgong .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	2	...	...	...	1
	Talbragar .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Coolah .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Mundooran .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Rylstone .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Ilford .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Hargraves .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Windyeyer .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
Wollar .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	1	3
Forbes .....	...	...	1	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
Condobolin .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
Eugowra .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	2
Parkes .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	2

DISTRICT.	STATION.	MOUNTED.							FOOT.
		Super-intendants.	Inspectors.	Sub-Inspectors.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.
North-eastern —continued.	Bungwall Flat .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Coopernook .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Fernmount .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
North-western	Tamworth .....	1	...	...	...	...	1	3	1	2	...	4
	Do South .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Murrurundi .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Blackville .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Gunnedah .....	...	...	...	...	1	1	1	...	...	...	2
	Barraba .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Manilla .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Wallabadah .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...
	Nundle .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Quirindi .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Currabubula .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Somerton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Namoi .....	Moonbi .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Carroll .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Narrabri .....	...	1	...	...	1	...	3	...	1	...	3
	Boggabri .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Tambar Springs .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...
	Wee Waa .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Pilliga .....	...	...	...	...	1	1	1	...	...	...	2
	Walgett .....	...	...	1	...	1	...	2	...	...	...	2
	Goodooga .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Mogil Mogil .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Meroe .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Bingera .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Warialda .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Yetman .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Coonabarabran .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	2
	Baradine .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Boggabilla .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Moree .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Eulowrie .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Angledool .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
Millie .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Collarendabri .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Mungindi .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Carinda .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Grawin .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
South-western	Deniliquin .....	1	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	1	...	6
	Mathoura .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Moama .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Jerilderie .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Tocumwal .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Hay and Carathool .....	...	...	1	...	1	1	2	...	...	...	4
	Darlington Point .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Maude .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Mossgiel .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Booligal .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Hillston .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Euabalong .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Lake Cudgellico .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Gilgunnia .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	2
	Wentworth .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Pooncarie .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Salt Creek .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Euston .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Balranald .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Clare .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Moulamein .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Wilcannia .....	...	...	1	...	...	1	2	...	...	...	2
	Milperinka and Ti-booburra .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	...	...	...
	Menindie .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
Mount Gipps .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
Mount Hope .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
Murray .....	Albury .....	1	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	2	1	7
	Germanton .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Walbundrie .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Corowa .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Howlong .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Mulwala .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Tumberumba .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Ournie .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Gerogery .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Gundagai .....	...	...	1	...	...	...	3	...	...	1	1
	Tumut .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Adelong .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Shepherds' Town .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Reedy Flat .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Jugiong .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Wagga Wagga .....	...	...	1	...	...	1	2	...	1	1	7
	Junee .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
Urana .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1

DISTRICT.	STATION.	MOUNTED.						FOOT.
		Super-intendents.	Inspec-tors.	Sub-Inspec-tors.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.
Murray—con- tinued.	Narrandera.....	...	...	...	1	...	...	2	...	...	...	2
	Tarcutta.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Kyamba.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Hanging Rock.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Bowna.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
DEPÔT, BELMORE BARRACKS.
Constables in course of instruction, under orders for transfer.....		...	...	...	3	1	2	21	...	1	1	19
Gold Escort Conductors.....		...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Orderlies to His Excellency the Governor.....		...	...	...	1	...	1	2	...	...	...	...
DETECTIVE BRANCH.
Inspector in charge of Detectives.....		...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
First-class Detectives.....		7	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Second-class do. ....		1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Third-class do. ....		3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
TOTAL.....		11	7	8	28	26	52	117	337	24	33	79	593

Total of all grades..... 1,315.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office,
Sydney.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE FORCE.

(STRENGTH AND DISTRIBUTION OF ON 31 OCTOBER, 1883.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 20 December, 1883.

RETURN showing the Strength and Distribution of the Police Force on the 31st October, 1883.

DISTRICT.	STATION.	MOUNTED.							FOOT.
		Super-intendents.	Inspec-tors.	Sub-Inspec-tors.	Senior-Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior-Con-stables.	Con-stables.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.
Metropolitan..	No. 1 Head Station	1	1	2	...	...	...	...	3	3	9	51
	Pyrmont .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	3
	Glebe Island .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	General Post Office..	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
	Mint.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	2
	No. 2 Head Station	...	...	3	...	...	...	...	2	5	6	47
	Redfern .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	8
	Waterloo and Alex-andria .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	1
	Glebe .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3	7
	No. 3 Head Station	...	1	1	...	...	...	...	3	3	6	49
	Watson's Bay .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Waverley and Bondi	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	2
	Paddington.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	2
	Botany .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1
	Double Bay .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Rushcutters' Bay ..	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Randwick & Coogee	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	2
	Woollahra .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	4	4
	No. 4 Head Station	...	...	2	...	...	...	...	2	3	6	33
	Colonial Secretary's Office .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3
	Lands Office .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3
	Balmain .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	8
	North Shore .....	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	6
	North Willoughby..	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...
	Lane Cove .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Manly Beach .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1
	Mossman's Bay .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	No. 5 Head Station	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	1	...	6	12
	Cook's River .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Concord .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...
	Petersham .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1
	Leichhardt .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
	Camperdown .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3
	Ashfield .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1
	Enfield.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Town Hall .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Quarantine Station, North Head .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...
	Canterbury.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Marrickville .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
	Burwood.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Macdonald Town ...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Kogarah .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...
	Five Dock .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Stanmore .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Summer Hill .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Homebush .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Water Police .....	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	1	4	16
Croydon .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Hurstville .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1

DISTRICT.	STATION.	MOUNTED.						FOOT.
		Super-intendents.	Inspectors.	Sub-Inspectors.	Senior Sergeants.	Sergeants.	Senior Constables.	Constables.	Senior Sergeants.	Sergeants.	Senior Constables.	Constables.
Southern— continued.	Eden .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	1
	Bowling .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Gininderra .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Cobargo .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Eurobadalla .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...
	Wollongough .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Jindabyne .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Wolumla .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Eastern.....	Depôt .....	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...
	Parramatta .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	1	1	...	7
	Rookwood .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	1
	Ryde .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Hunter's Hill .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Windsor .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	1	2
	Richmond .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Rouse Hill .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Wilberforce .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	St. Alban's .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Penrith .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	St. Mary's .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Emu Plains .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Springwood .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Appin .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Camden .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Picton .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Berrima .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Mittagong .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Moss Vale .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Robertson .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Wollongong .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	1	2
	Dapto .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Bulli .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Prospect .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
	Granville .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Campbelltown .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
	Wilton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Bowral .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Smithfield .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Liverpool .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Kiama .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
Shellharbour .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Jamberoo .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Gerrington .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Nowra .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...
Terrara .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Broughton Creek .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Kangaroo Valley .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
Cilfton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Milton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Western .....	Bathurst .....	1	...	...	1	...	2	4	1	...	1	7
	Milltown .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Kelso .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Oberon .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Hartley .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Rockley .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Wyagdon .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	O'Connell .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Trunkey .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Rydal .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	2
	Lithgow .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	2	...	...	...	2
	Wallerawang .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Sofala .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Hill End .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Tambaroora .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Orange .....	...	...	1	...	...	1	2	...	...	1	5
	Stony Creek .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Molong .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Toogong .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Cowra .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Blayney .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Carcoar .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Canowindra .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Cudal .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Mudgee .....	...	...	1	...	1	...	3	...	...	1	3
	Gulgong .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	2	...	...	...	1
	Talbragar .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Coolah .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Mundooran .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Rylstone .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Ilford .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Hargraves .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Windeyer .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Wollar .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
Forbes .....	...	...	1	...	1	...	1	...	...	1	3
Condobolin .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
Eugowra .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
Parkes .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	2

DISTRICT.	STATION.	MOUNTED.							FOOT.
		Super-intendents.	Inspec-tors.	Sub-Inspec-tors.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.
North-eastern —continued.	Bungwall Flat .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Cooperbrook .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Fernmount .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
North-western	Tamworth .....	1	...	...	...	...	1	3	1	2	...	4
	Do South .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
	Murrurundi .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Blackville .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Gunnedah .....	...	...	...	...	1	1	1	...	...	...	2
	Barraba .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Manilla .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Wallabadah .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...
	Nundle .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Quirindi .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Currabubula .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Somerton .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Moonbi .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Carroll .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Namoi .....	Narrabri .....	...	1	...	...	1	...	3	...	1	...	3
	Boggabri .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Tambar Springs .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...
	Wee Waa .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...
	Pilliga .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Walgett .....	...	...	1	...	1	...	2	...	...	...	2
	Goodooga .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Mogil Mogil .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Meroe .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Bingera .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Warialda .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Yetman .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Coonabarabran .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	2
	Baradine .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Boggabilla .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Moree .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Eulowrie .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Angledool .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Millie .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Collarendabri .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Mungindi .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Carinda .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
Grawin .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
South-western	Deniliquin .....	1	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	1	...	6
	Mathoura .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...
	Moama .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Jerilderie .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Tocumwal .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Hay and Carathool .....	...	...	1	...	1	1	2	...	...	...	4
	Darlington Point .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Maude .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Mossgiel .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Booligal .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Hillston .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Euabalong .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Lake Cudgellico .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Gilgunnia .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	2
	Wentworth .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	2
	Pooncarie .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Salt Creek .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Euston .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Baranald .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Clare .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Moulamein .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Wilcannia .....	...	...	1	...	...	1	2	...	...	...	2
	Milperinka and Ti-booburra .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	...	...	...
	Menindie .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
Mount Gipps .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
Mount Hope .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
Murray .....	Albury .....	1	...	...	...	1	...	3	...	2	1	7
	Germanton .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Walbundrie .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Corowa .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Howlong .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Mulwala .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	...
	Tumberumba .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
	Ournie .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	2	...	...	...	...
	Gerogery .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Gundagai .....	...	...	1	...	...	...	3	...	...	1	1
	Tumut .....	...	...	...	...	1	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Adelong .....	...	...	...	1	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Shepherds' Town .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	1
	Reedy Flat .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Jugiong .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...
Wagga Wagga .....	...	...	1	...	...	1	2	...	1	1	7
June .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1
Urana .....	...	...	...	...	...	1	1	...	...	...	1

DISTRICT.	STATION.	MOUNTED.							FOOT.
		Super-intendents.	Inspectors.	Sub-Inspectors.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.	Senior Ser-geants.	Ser-geants.	Senior Con-stables.	Con-stables.
Murray—con- tinued.	Narrandera.....	...	...	...	1	...	...	2	...	...	...	2
	Tarcutta .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Kyamba .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Hanging Rock .....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
	Bowna.....	...	...	...	...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...
DEPÔT, BELMORE BARRACKS.
Constables in course of instruction, under orders for transfer .....		...	...	...	3	1	2	21	...	1	1	19
Gold Escort Conductors.....		...	...	...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Orderlies to His Excellency the Governor .....		...	...	...	1	...	1	2	...	...	...	...
DETECTIVE BRANCH.
Inspector in charge of Detectives.....		...	1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
First-class Detectives.....		7	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Second-class do. ....		1	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Third-class do. ....		3	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
TOTAL.....		11	7	8	28	26	52	117	337	24	33	79	593

Total of all grades..... 1,315.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office,
Sydney.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE FORCE.

(SUCCESSOR TO CAPTAIN ZOUCH.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 31 January, 1884.

RETURN to an Address of the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 5th December, 1883, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all correspondence, applications, minute-papers, and other documents, connected with the appointment of a successor to the late Captain Zouch, of the Police Force.”

(Mr. A. G. Taylor.)

No. 1.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 1 November, 1883.

I have the honor to recommend, for the Colonial Secretary's consideration, the appointment of Mr. Edric Vaux Morisset (who is the Senior-superintendent of Police) to discharge the duties of Inspector-General in case of my illness, absence from the Colony, or other cause, as provided by the 3rd section of the Police Regulations Act, which office has hitherto been filled by the late Captain Zouch, vide notice in the Government Gazette, dated August 30th, 1875, page 2675.

I also recommend Mr. Morisset's transfer to take charge of the Goulburn (Southern) District; the other transfers consequent thereupon will form the subject of a separate communication, as they will require consideration.

As this transfer will be no pecuniary benefit to Mr. Morisset but entail serious private loss, I recommend, in accordance with the usual practice, he may be allowed £30 towards expense of removal.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

Approved.—A.S., 6/11/83.

No. 2.

Minute-paper for Executive Council.

Appointment of Superintendent Morisset to act for Inspector-General of Police.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 6 November, 1883.

I RECOMMEND the appointment, under the 3rd section of the "Police Regulation Act of 1862," of Edric Norfolk Vaux Morisset, Esquire, J.P., Superintendent of Police, to act for the Inspector-General of Police, when from illness or other cause he may be absent.

ALEX. STUART.

No. 3.

Minute of Executive Council.

Approved.—A.L., 6/11/83.

The Executive Council advise that the appointment herein recommended be approved.—ALEX. C. BUDGE, Clerk of the Council. Min. 83/46.—6/11/83. Confirmed.—13/11/83.

No. 4.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir, Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 16 November, 1883.

In reply to your letter of the 1st instant, I am directed to inform you that His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to appoint, under the 3rd section of the "Police Regulation Act of 1862," Edric Norfolk Vaux Morisset, Esquire, J.P., Superintendent of Police, to act for you when from illness or other cause you may be absent; and that such appointment has been duly notified in the Government Gazette.

2. I am also desired to state that the Colonial Secretary approves of the transfer of Superintendent Morisset to Goulburn, and of the payment to Mr. Morisset of an allowance of £30 towards the expenses of removal.

I have, &c.,
CRITCHETT WALKER.

No. 5.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir, Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 16 November, 1883.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to state, for the information of the Colonial Treasurer, that authority has been given to the Inspector-General of Police for the payment to Superintendent Morisset of an allowance of £30 towards defraying the expenses of removing from Maitland to Goulburn.

I have, &c.,
CRITCHETT WALKER.

No. 6.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 5 November, 1883.

I have the honor to recommend the following promotions consequent on the vacancy caused by Captain Zouch's death:—

Superintendent John W. Orridge, increase of salary from £450 to £500 per annum.

Superintendent Edward M. Battye, increase of salary from £400 to £450 per annum.

Promotions.—Inspector (senior on list) James Ryeland in charge of the Eastern District and Depôt to the rank of Superintendent with salary at the rate of £400 per annum; Sub-Inspector Charles E. Harrison to be Inspector with salary at the rate of £300 per annum.

Mr. Harrison is senior on the list, having been made a Sub-Inspector on the 1st March, 1862. He was temporarily reduced for a not very serious offence, but has been severely punished by five officers having been promoted over his head to the rank of Inspector. He is well known as a highly intelligent officer.

Sub-Inspector Nicholas Larkins, increase of salary, from £250 to £275.

Acting Sub-inspector Stephen Cotter, promotion to the rank of Sub-inspector, with salary at the rate of £250 per annum.

All to take effect from the 1st instant, except Sub-Inspectors Larkins and Cotter, whose promotions would date from Mr. Kerrigan's retirement (when relieved this month).

Sub-inspectors Donohue and Bremner's promotions, already approved, to take effect from the 1st instant.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND FOSBERY,
Inspector-General of Police.

Submitted for approval.—C.W., 6/11/83. Minute by the Colonial Secretary. Approved.—A.S., 7/11/83. I think that Mr. Orridge should be appointed to Maitland. A small allowance might be made towards expense of removal. I think it is due to him that the offer be made to him.—A.S. The Inspector-General of Police.—C.W., B.C., 8/11/83.

No. 7.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 12 November, 1883.

Considering the growing importance of the northern district the charge is not inferior to that at Maitland. Mr. Orridge, whilst stating his readiness to proceed to Maitland, or anywhere ordered, expressed his desire to be left at Armidale as his previous transfer from Braidwood entailed a serious loss.

Mr. Sanderson is well qualified for the charge at Maitland, but he has a near connection in the northern Police—Sub-Inspector Wright—who would have to be moved if Mr. Sanderson went to Armidale, and I have no station for him.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
I.G.P.

Minute by Colonial Secretary.

I HAVE NO objection to the course indicated if Mr. Orridge distinctly understands that he might obtain Maitland if he chooses. I am anxious that he should not have grounds for feeling aggrieved, because I am persuaded that he is a good officer, and deserves the little extra éclat of the position if he wishes it.

A.S.,

15/11/83.

Minute for the Executive Council, 16/11/83.

No. 8.

Minute-paper for Executive Council.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 23 November, 1883.

Promotions in the Police Force.

I RECOMMEND the following promotions in the Police Force, to take effect from the 1st instant, viz. :—

Inspector James Ryeland to be Superintendent, with salary at the rate of £400 ;
 Sub-Inspector Charles E. Harrison to be Inspector, with salary at the rate of £300; and Acting Sub-Inspector Stephen Cotter to be Sub-Inspector, with salary at the rate of £250 from the date of Inspector Kerrigan's retirement.

2. I also recommend that the promotions of Sub-Inspectors Donohoe and Bremner take effect from the 1st instant, instead of from the date of Mr. Kerrigan's retirement as already approved.

ALEX. STUART.

No. 9.

Minute of Executive Council.

Approved.—A.L., 27/11/83.

THE Executive Council approves of the promotions herein recommended to take effect from the dates specified.—ALEX. C. BUDGE, Clerk of the Council. Min. 83-49, 29/11/83. Confirmed, 4/12/83.

No. 10.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 4 December, 1883.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to state, for the information of the Colonial Treasurer, that His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to make the following promotions in the Police Force, to take effect from the 1st ultimo, viz. :—

Inspector James Ryeland to be Superintendent, with salary at the rate of £400 ;
 Sub-Inspector Charles E. Harrison to be Inspector, with salary at the rate of £300 ; and Acting Sub-Inspector Stephen Cotter to be Sub-Inspector, with salary at the rate of £250, from the date of Inspector Kerrigan's retirement.

2. The Governor-in-Council has also been pleased to approve of the promotion of Sub-Inspectors
 Donohoe and Bremner taking effect from the 1st ultimo instead of from the date of Mr. Kerrigan's retirement as already authorized.

3. I am also desired to state that the Colonial Secretary has approved of the payment to the following officers of salaries at the increased rates mentioned in connection with their names respectively, viz. :—

Superintendent John W. Orridge, £500 from 1st ultimo ; Superintendent Edward Battye, £450 from the same date ; and Sub-Inspector Nicholas Larkins £275 from the date of Mr.
 Kerrigan's retirement.

I have, &amp;c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

No. 11.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 4 December, 1883.

Referring to your letter of the 5th ultimo, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to make the following promotions in the Police Force, to take effect from the 1st of last month, viz. :—

Inspector James Ryeland to be Superintendent, with salary at the rate of £400 ;
 Sub-Inspector Charles E. Harrison to be Inspector, with salary at the rate of £300 ; and Acting Sub-Inspector Stephen Cotter to be Sub-Inspector, with salary at the rate of £250 from the date of Inspector Kerrigan's retirement.

2. The Governor-in-Council has also been pleased to approve of the promotions of Sub-Inspectors
 Donohoe and Bremner taking effect from the 1st ultimo instead of from the date of Mr. Kerrigan's retirement as already authorized.

3. I am also desired to state that the Colonial Secretary approves of the payment to the following officers of salaries at the increased rates mentioned in connection with their names respectively, viz. :—

Superintendent John W. Orridge, £500 from 1st ultimo ; Superintendent Edward M. Battye, £450 from same date ; and Sub-Inspector Nicholas Larkins, £275 from the date of Mr. Kerrigan's retirement.

I have, &amp;c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

P.S.—The necessary notifications of the promotions will be duly published in the Government Gazette.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE.

(CASE OF THOMAS SCOLLIN.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 2 September, 1884.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 3rd June, 1884, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all papers in any way relating to a demand made by the Solicitor for ex-Sergeant Thomas Scollin, late a member of the New South Wales Police Force, for payment of any salary due to him up to the date of his discharge, and of all subsequent documents in any way relating to such demand, and the advice of the Attorney-General thereon.”

(Mr. Olliffe.)

Mr. A. J. Brady to The Colonial Secretary.

Re Thomas Scollin.

Sir,

Elizabeth-street, Sydney, 1 March, 1883.

I have the honor to forward you herewith petition of Mr. Scollin, requesting that a nominal defendant may be appointed to represent the Government in defending an action intended to be brought by my client (Mr. Scollin) for the recovery of pay, &c., due to him as a member of the New South Wales Police up to the time of his discharge.

I have, &amp;c.,

ARTHUR JOS. BRADY.

[Enclosure.]

Petition from Mr. T. Scollin to His Excellency the Governor.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable Lord Augustus William Frederick Spencer Loftus, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, a member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

The humble Petition of Thomas Scollin, of Little Walker-street, Saint Leonards, near Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales,—

Respectfully Showeth :—

1st. That your petitioner was employed in the Police Force of New South Wales up till the tenth day of November last, when he was discharged therefrom by the Inspector-General of such Police Force.

2nd. That, at the time of such discharge, there was due to your petitioner, for pay and for night allowance in lieu of quarters, the sum of twenty pounds fourteen shillings and five pence.

3rd. That your petitioner, although he has applied at the proper office for payment of said sum, has been unable to obtain payment thereof, and the Government of New South Wales is now indebted to your petitioner in the said sum.

4th. That your petitioner is advised, and believes that he has a just claim or demand against the Government of New South Wales, in respect of the said sum of twenty pounds fourteen shillings and five pence, and that he is entitled to recover same at law.

5th. Your petitioner therefore prays that your Excellency may be pleased to appoint, under the provisions of the “Claims against the Colonial Government Act,” a nominal defendant in the matter of this petition.

And your petitioner will ever pray, &amp;c.

Dated this first day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

THOMAS SCOLLIN.

For the opinion of the Attorney-General.—A.S., 5/3/83. The Secretary to the Attorney-General, B.C., 5/3/83.—C.W. The Crown Solicitor.—W.W.S., 20 March, 1884. Minute by the Crown Solicitor:—The amount of the claim is so small that I suggest before a nominal defendant is appointed the Inspector-General should be asked to report as to the facts of this case.—J.W., 20 March, 1884. The Secretary to the Attorney-General. Referred for the report of the Inspector-General of Police, as suggested by the Crown Solicitor.—W.W.S., B.C., 27 March, 1884.

The

[765 copies—Approximate Cost of Printing (labour and material), £3 9s 8d.]

903—

The Inspector-General of Police to The Secretary to The Attorney-General.

Re claim of Sergeant Scollin, dismissed from Police.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 27 March, 1883.

ALL the papers in this matter are in the Colonial Secretary's Department to be laid before Parliament.

The amount claimed, £20 14s. 5d., is due to Scollin, less a fee of two guineas to the Medical Board, who examined him, as required by law, with a view to superannuation. This fee is charged to the members of the Force examined by direction of the Colonial Secretary.

Scollin refused to pay it, or to accept the balance due to him less £2 2s., though he was informed that if he would apply to be relieved from the charge I would recommend the Colonial Secretary specially to authorize it.

I think the fee might be allowed, but Sergeant Scollin placed himself in an attitude of insubordinate defiance, and as a matter of discipline he could not be allowed his own way in the matter.

EDMUND FOSBERY,
I.G.P.

Submitted.—W.W.S., 23 March. Minute by the Attorney-General:—I can appreciate the Inspector-General's reluctance to sanction by this concession anything like insubordinate conduct, but the amount is so trifling, and the inconvenience so great of taking further proceedings about a matter so insignificant, that it is better to put an end to the difficulty by authorizing the fee.—W.B.D., A.G., 29 March, 1883. The Principal Under Secretary.—W.W.S., B.C., 30/3/83. Submitted for approval. Appd.—A.S., 5/4/84.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 9 April, 1883.

Referring to your blank cover report of the 27th ultimo, I am directed to inform you that, in accordance with the opinion of the Attorney-General, the Colonial Secretary approves of the payment to Thomas Scollin of the sum of £20 14s. 5d., due to him at the time of his removal from the Police Force.

I have, &c.,
CRITCHETT WALKER.

P.S.—I am desired to add that the Colonial Secretary approves of Scollin being relieved from the payment of the fee of £2 2s. for examination by the Medical Board.—C.W.

The Principal Under Secretary to The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 9 April, 1883.

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to state, for the information of the Colonial Treasurer, that authority has been given to the Inspector-General of Police for the payment to Thomas Scollin of the sum of £20 14s. 5d., due to him at the time of his discharge from the Police Force.

I have, &c.,
CRITCHETT WALKER.

The Principal Under Secretary to Mr. A. J. Brady.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 9 April, 1883.

Referring to your letter of the 1st ultimo, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that authority has been given to the Inspector-General of Police for the payment to Mr. Thomas Scollin of the sum of £20 14s. 5d., due to him at the time of his discharge from the Police Force.

I have, &c.,
CRITCHETT WALKER.

Mr. T. Scollin to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, October, 1883.

With reference to the interview you were kind enough to grant me on the 24th August last, I have the honor to state for your information that I served in the Police Force of this Colony for a period of twenty years and four months, nearly nineteen of that holding the rank of a sergeant without a single complaint ever before against me, either by my own officers or the public, and paying 3 per cent. per annum of my salary into the Pension Fund. It will be seen by the printed papers laid before Parliament last Session in my case that I was suspended from duty for insubordination, namely, refusing to submit to a deduction of two guineas, the expenses of a Medical Board, which I never asked for and was forced to go before against my wish, and, sir, you have since by a minute decided that the said two guineas should be refunded to me, thereby showing that I was guilty of no offence, and I believe that was the decision of the Attorney-General. The papers will show that the reports of my alleged misconduct, &c., were all made against me after the suspension above referred to. As I got no opportunity of explaining to these reports, all I now say is I am prepared to disprove them from official records and reliable witnesses, but if I were guilty of these offences stated against me, and which I deny, why did those officers neglect to report me at the time and allow me to hold rank for so many years? The Inspector-General alleges in his report that I was giving trouble, insubordination, &c.; surely he had the power as head of the Department to punish me and not wait until he suspended me for an alleged offence which I was not guilty of. He stated to my solicitor that if I submitted to the deduction of two guineas in all probability he would not take the extreme course of discharging me, and thereby depriving me of my pension of £2 3s. 2d. per week, which my service entitled me to according to Act of Parliament. The Inspector-General states he intimated to me that if I applied he would recommend a refund of the two guineas, but I may state that it was only done after I was discharged. As regards my sickness the Police Surgeon ought to be the judge, and his reports will show that he recommended me for a month's sick leave of absence in the month of June, 1882. After my leave expired I resumed duty, although I was then and still suffering from rheumatics. A few days after I resumed duty I was run over by two horses and a cab in Clarence-street in the presence of Police-sergeant Garland, where I got my back and ankle hurt, and from the effects of which I am still suffering. The officers and sergeants in their reports have carefully avoided to state that fact. I told the Inspector-General in his office, and also the Police Surgeon, that I had no bodily illness and that I was prepared to do any duty I was able to perform, but the Inspector-General gave orders I should be sent before the Medical Board, and these gentlemen, I presume, seeing that I had no bodily illness, returned me fit for duty, but suggested that I should be sent again before them in six months time. Referring to the fifth paragraph of my Petition to the Legislative Assembly it will be seen from Mr. Superintendent Read's report that in substance he admits using a threat on the occasion of reading the decision of the Medical Board to me. I think it will be seen by subsequent events that my doom was then sealed, for it will be seen from the reports that I was watched and dogged about the streets and to my home to try and get some report against me, although according to Senior-sergeants Bremner and Bell's statements this alleged offence of walking lame and the others they charge me with took place in the month of September, which they never reported until the 8th of November following, no doubt when instructed to do so and after I was suspended for the first-named offence. Referring to Mr. Superintendent Read's report about my first going before a Medical Board more than six years ago, I have been three times and not twice as that officer states before a Board; on that occasion he refers to I then got a month's sick leave of absence, and shortly after my leave expired I reported myself to the Police Surgeon as fit for duty, when he informed me that his instructions from Superintendent Read was that I should be sent before the Medical Board, and the Police Surgeon stated in his report in the following words:—"Although the sergeant reported himself fit for duty his (the doctor's) opinion was that my name would be soon again on the sick list," or words to that effect. The second time I went before a Board I got six month's sick leave of absence. I may state that I served in the Imperial Service for many years in the police, and also in the army, and was discharged at my own request with the rank of a color-sergeant, holding the highest certificate of competency from the highest military school then in England, namely, the School of Musketry, Hythe. I hold certificates of character from both branches under which I served. I beg in conclusion to say that I place my case (what I consider a just one) with every confidence in your hands, for I am satisfied in your high sense of honour and justice as a gentleman and the head of the Department I have served under so long.

and

I have, &c.,

THOMAS SCOLLIN,

ex-Sergeant of Police.

Submitted.—The Inspector-General of Police.—A.S., 8/2/84, B.C. C.W.

Minute by Inspector-General of Police.

THE attached letter from ex-Sergeant Scollin is full of misstatements, but it will be necessary for Superintendent Read to append his observations with other reports if requisite. What was the nature of the accident Sergeant Garland witnessed? Was Scollin on the sick list from the effect of it?—E.F., 12/2/84. Superintendent Read.

The Inspector-General of Police to Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 15 February, 1884.

Herewith I beg to submit, for the Colonial Secretary's information, further reports from Superintendent Read, the Police Surgeon, and Sub-Inspector Bremner, with reference to ex-Sergeant Scollin's statements. This is the first time I have heard of the injuries received by Scollin being knocked down by a cab.

His letter is full of misstatements. The Attorney-General did not decide that Scollin was right in refusing to pay the fees, nor did I tell his solicitor that if he paid them I would not discharge him. I said if he applied I would ask the Colonial Secretary to relieve him of the charge.

I need only add that had I not dispensed with Sergeant Scollin's services the discipline of the Metropolitan Force could not have been maintained.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND FOSBERY,

Inspector-General of Police.

[Enclosure.]

Memo. from Mr. Superintendent Read to Inspector-General of Police.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Sydney Station, 15 February, 1884.

In reply to ex-Sergeant Scollin's statement, that he had no opportunity afforded him of explaining to the reports upon which he was discharged, I have simply to repeat the substance of my minute to the Inspector-General of the 19th September, 1882, attached, that all reports were carefully read to him before they were forwarded, and that he stated in reply that he had not a word to say.

In view of the great improvement which his Divisional Officer (Mr. Inspector Anderson) reports to have taken place in the discipline of his division since Scollin's discharge, and which I myself have been pleased to notice, I now regret that his inefficiency and misconduct were not reported at an earlier date, but, in consideration of his position in rank and length of service, his officers were desirous that he should be dealt with as forbearingly as possible in the hope that he would be led to see the impropriety of the course of conduct he was pursuing, and for his own sake earnestly apply himself to the proper discharge of his duties.

I forward reports from the Police Surgeon and Sub-Inspector Bremner with reference to the injuries he alleges he received by being run over by a cab. Sergeant Garland informs me that he was with Scollin when the occurrence took place, but whether he was knocked down or not he is unable to say, as he was looking in another direction, and when he first saw Scollin after the accident he was calling to the cabman, and walking with a limp. It seems a little singular that Scollin made no reference to this injury, from which he states he is still suffering, in his Petition to the Legislative Assembly.

GEO. READ,

Superintendent.

[Sub-enclosure.]

Memo. from Mr. Superintendent Read to Inspector-General of Police.

Superintendent's Office, Sydney, 19 September, 1882.

THE Inspector-General's minute has been read to Sergeant Scollin, who states he is under the care of other medical men besides the Police Surgeon, and that this is not the first time he has been threatened by the Inspector-General.

GEO. READ,

Superintendent.

[Enclosures.]

[Enclosures.]

Sub-Inspector Bremner to Mr. Superintendent Read.

Sir,

No. 1 Police Station, Sydney, 14 February, 1884.

I have the honor to report for your information that ex-Sergeant Scollin reported himself sick on the 28th July 1882, and remained on the sick list until the 28th September following. He stated, when reporting himself sick, that whilst he was crossing the street at the intersection of Market and Clarence Streets, a hackney carriage, drawn by two horses, was driven round the corner of the said streets at a trot, and before he could get out of the way he was struck in the back by one of the horses, or the pole of the carriage, and knocked down. A few days after he resumed duty. I asked him if he felt any effects from the injuries which he stated he had received by being knocked down by the carriage, and he said he felt no bad effects whatsoever from the injuries he had received on that occasion. He also stated that bodily he felt quite well, and the only thing that was the matter with him was that his legs became so weak after walking for a short time that he felt unequal for the duty which he had to perform.

I saw Scollin during the two months that he was on the sick list walking about the streets, almost daily, apparently quite well, except that occasionally he walked with a limp. I made inquiry of Sergeant Garland and ex-Sergeant Scollin shortly after the occurrence, with the view of having the driver of the vehicle summoned, under the 17 Vic. No. 31, s. 13, for driving so as to endanger the life of Scollin, or to the common danger of passengers, but they were unable to say that he drove so as to endanger the life of Scollin, or to the common danger. An application was then made by Sergeant Garland, under the Corporation By-laws, against John Ingram, the driver of the vehicle, for going round the corner at the intersection of Market and Clarence Streets at a pace faster than a walk—the summons was not served. Scollin never made any inquiry as to whether the driver was summoned or not, nor did he ever apply for a summons against the driver.

I have, &amp;c.,

JAMES BREMNER, Sub-Inspector.

I PERFECTLY well recollect ex-Sergeant Scollin going on the sick list about the end of July, 1882, and complaining of injuries received in the legs, back, &c. Upon examination I could find no appreciable marks, or discolourations, and if he was hurt in the manner he represents the injury was not of a nature from which he would suffer permanently.

M. EGAN, Police Surgeon.

Minute by the Colonial Secretary :—Mr. O'Mara may be informed that the Government can take no steps in Scollin's case except on the sole ground mentioned for the first time in his letter of October, 1883. He there alleges that some time after the expiration of his leave and his resumption of duty he was run over by two horses and a cab in Clarence-street and was thereby injured, and is still suffering from that injury. If Scollin is prepared to submit himself to a medical examination he can present himself for that purpose at the office of the Inspector-General.—A.S., 20/2/84. The Inspector-General of Police.—C.W., 22/2/84. Noted for attention and returned.—E.F., I.G.P., 25/2/84. B.C., The Principal Under Secretary.

The Principal Under Secretary to T. C. O'Mara, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 22 February, 1884.

Referring to the communication presented by you on the 28th ultimo from ex-Sergeant Scollin, of the Police Force, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that the Government can take no steps in Scollin's case except on the sole ground mentioned for the first time in his communication above referred to, wherein he alleges that, some time after the expiration of his leave and his resumption of duty, he was run over by two horses and a cab, and is still suffering from that injury; and that if Scollin is prepared to submit himself to a medical examination he can present himself for that purpose at the office of the Inspector-General of Police.

I have, &amp;c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER.

The Inspector-General of Police to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 15 April, 1884.

With reference to the Colonial Secretary's minute of the 25th February last, on C.S. papers, as per margin, returned to you on the 1st ultimo, respecting the case of ex-Sergeant Thomas Scollin, I now beg to submit copy of a further report from the Police Medical Board, dated the 12th instant, from which it appears that Scollin's allegation as to the injury sustained by him in 1882 is not borne out by the careful medical examination made by the Board.

I have, &amp;c.,

EDMUND FOSBERY,

Inspector-General of Police.

Certificate of the Police Medical Board in the case of ex-Sergeant Thomas Scollin, late of the New South Wales Police.

WE hereby certify that we have this day examined Thomas Scollin, ex-Sergeant of the New South Wales Police, aged 50 years, and find that he has been several times during the last seven years before the Medical Board, who have never been able to find anything seriously wrong with him. We have examined him very carefully as to the accident from which he says that he suffered in 1882, but can find no trace of it. He complains of pains in his back, but acknowledges that he has no other bodily ailment. He weighs 13st. 2lb., and seems to us to be in good health.

Sydney, 12 April, 1884.

CHARLES K. MACKELLAR, } Members of the H. N. MACLAURIN, } Board.

Submitted, 18/4/84. Mr. O'Mara may be informed accordingly.—A.S., 18/4/84.

The Principal Under Secretary to T. C. O'Mara, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 22 April, 1884.

Referring to my letter of the 2nd February last, regarding the case of ex-Police Sergeant Scollin, I am now directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that it appears, from a further report of the Police Medical Board, that Scollin's allegation as to the injury sustained by him in 1882 is not borne out by the careful medical examination made by the Board.

I have, &amp;c.,

CRITCHETT WALKER,

Principal Under Secretary.

1883.

(THIRD SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE.

(CASE OF CONSTABLE M'MANAMEY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 27 November, 1883.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 16th November, 1883, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all Papers, Minutes, Depositions, &c., in connection with the “reduction in rank of Constable M'Manamey, of Forbes.”

(Mr. A. G. Taylor.)

Sergeant Carroll to The Superintendent of Police, Bathurst.

Police Station, Bathurst, 24 October, 1880.

SERGEANT D. Carroll, No. 1,427, reports that Sergeant M'Manamey did, on the 23rd instant, commit a breach of Rule 144 of Police Regulations, by being absent from Barracks after regulation hours without leave. The sergeant has also to add that, in consequence of something he heard, he went through the Barrack room this morning at 6.45 a.m., and found the sergeant in bed in a most disgraceful manner, having his clothes and boots on in bed.

D. CARROLL,
Sergeant.

Let this sergeant be informed that he is not to quit the Barracks until he has my permission.—C.J.P.L., Superintendent, 24/10/80. Severely reprimanded and cautioned that if his conduct is again brought under my notice he will be reported to I.G.P.—C.J.P.L., Superintendent, 26/10/80.

Sergeant M'Manamey to The Superintendent of Police, Bathurst.

Police Station, Bathurst, 25 October, 1880.

SERGEANT M'Manamey begs to report, with reference to Sergeant Carroll's report, that he received a message by Senior-Constable Cromie, from Mr. Pitcairn, the Crown Prosecutor, that he required to consult Sergeant M'Manamey about the case Queen v. Tucker, at 8 o'clock that evening. Sergeant M'Manamey attended at that time, and was occupied with Mr. Pitcairn till past 11 o'clock that night. Sergeant M'Manamey did not anticipate that he would be occupied so long, or he would have applied for leave.

With regard to the other portion of the report, Sergeant M'Manamey had been unwell in the early morning, and had lain down in his trousers and light boots. The sergeant was up at 7 a.m., and was engaged with several of the witnesses in the case during the morning.

W. W. M'MANAMEY,
Sergeant.

Superintendent Lydiard to Sergeant M'Manamey.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District, 27 October, 1880.

How was it that Sergeant M'Manamey left Bathurst without reporting himself at the Barracks? His conduct is most insubordinate, and I am now determined to bring it under the notice of the Inspector-General. I consider Sergeant M'Manamey's total disregard of discipline is very marked, and a bad example to younger members of the Force. I therefore think that the sooner he leaves the Service, the sooner the Department will be relieved of a man in whom no confidence can be placed. Sergeant M'Manamey has been kindly treated by Sub-Inspector Garvin and myself, without good effect.

I must now ask the Inspector-General to deal with him, unless he can give a good explanation of his absence from Barracks yesterday, and his neglecting to report himself on leaving for his station.

It is quite time I stopped this conduct of Sergeant M'Manamey, and I caution him that he had better reply to this in a becoming and proper manner, and not in his usual flippant style.

C.J.P.L.,

Forwarded through Sub-Inspector Stephenson, Forbes.

Superintendent, Western District.

Sergeant M'Manamey to Superintendent Lydiard.

Police Station, Forbes, 1 November, 1880.

SERGEANT M'Manamey begs to respectfully report, with reference to the Superintendent's report of the 27th instant, that after seeing Senior-Sergeant Casey at dinner-time of the 26th, he returned to the Court-house to have some of the witnesses paid in the case Queen v. Tucker. After this he called at Mr. Allpass's, the Inspector of Public Schools, with reference to the examination of one of his sons, who is in the service of the Department of Public Instruction; and he then called on Mr. Dettmann, Master of the Public School at Bathurst, and afterwards made arrangements for his son being accommodated at the Coffee Palace during the time of the public examinations commencing 1st November instant. When at the Coffee Palace he met some friends, and had tea with them there.

Mr. Griffiths, the prosecutor in the case, with whom Sergeant M'Manamey travelled in his buggy, for the reason that he had a large parcel of sheepskins to produce at the trial and keep in his possession, intimated that he would leave Bathurst at an early hour the next morning, and requested Sergeant M'Manamey to sleep in his room, and bring the skins, as they had to be produced again.

Sergeant M'Manamey begs to point out that he did not receive this notice till after Senior-Sergeant Casey and Sergeant Carroll had left the Barracks.

Sergeant M'Manamey went to the Barracks and told Senior Constable Cromie his position, and asked him to explain and report his leaving.

If the Superintendent will look at the matter from the Sergeant's position, he will see that he was in the hands of Mr. Griffiths, and had he left without him he would have had to travel by rail and coach, at greatly additional expense.

Sergeant M'Manamey begs to say that he had no thought of committing any breach of discipline. He thought that, in informing and reporting himself to Senior-constable Cromie, he was satisfactorily accounting for himself. He is extremely sorry that the Superintendent is so angry with him, as he can truthfully state that no man in the Service desires more to obtain his approval.

He would let his explanation end here, begging that the Inspector-General may not be troubled with the matter.

W. W. M'MANAMEY,

Sergeant.

P.S.—He did not intend to intrude the letter he received from the Bench at Parkes, but as it is made public he attaches the extract from the Forbes and Parkes Gazette of 22nd October last.

W. W. M.,

Sergeant.

Submitted—J. STEPHENSON, Sub-Inspector, 1/11/80. The letter is not worth the paper it is written on, which I can explain if asked.—C.J.P.L.

What rubbish to come from a Sergeant of Police. Will Sergeant M'Manamey take the sheepskins to bed with him? Where are they now?

The Magistrates overlook the fact that the sergeant was brought before the Bench for drunkenness, and they are not aware of his gross misconduct at Orange and Bathurst. I wish he would leave the district. I have no hesitation in stating that he is perfectly useless; that he shows a bad example to the men, and unless he can give a better explanation this report goes before the Inspector-General, when I shall recommend his reduction in the Force. Sergeant M'Manamey is merely standing in the way of more deserving men. I write this advisedly, because his conduct has for a long time been reprehensible, and he has been shown great leniency.—C.J.P.L., Superintendent, 3/11/80. Sub-Inspector Stephenson.

Copy of clipping from the Forbes and Parkes Gazette of 22nd October, 1880.

Sergeant M'Manamey.—Upon leaving Parkes, this gentleman was tendered by our local Bench of Magistrates the following very complimentary address:—"To Sergeant M'Manamey: The Bench of Magistrates at Parkes have thought it due to you to say, on your departure from Parkes, that they have found you a most efficient officer, intelligent in the discharge of your duties, and at all times respectful to the Bench. During your period of service in Parkes the district has been free from crimes of a serious nature. We trust that measure of reward which should be yours, for your long service and the faithful discharge of your duties and fitness for higher appointment, will secure it. Signed, THOMAS TOM, J.P. (Chairman); W. E. AUSTIN, J.P.; ROBERT BURNEY, J.P.; W. CLIFTON WESTON, J.P.; and JAMES HOUSTON, J.P."

Superintendent Lydiard to The Inspector-General.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District, 4 November, 1880.

I REALLY do not know what to do with Sergeant M'Manamey, and I now bring his conduct before the Inspector-General. I cannot deal with him, or I would most certainly deprive him of a stripe. To sum up his character, he is a useless, conceited member of the Force—one who has been treated kindly by his officers, officers, but to no purpose. To show the character of the man, I have had to remove him from Parkes to Forbes, so as to have him under the control of an officer. The attached report will give the Inspector-General an idea what sort of a man he is; and I have no hesitation in stating that for misconduct and inefficiency he is the worst sergeant in my district. Before I forward this to the Inspector-General, Sergeant M'Manamey can read it and make any remarks he thinks proper.

C. J. P. LYDIARD,
Superintendent, Western District.

This would imply that there are other Sergeants ill-conducted and inefficient. Surely this is not so.—E.F.

Is it the case that Sergeant M'Manamey did go to the Barracks and report himself as returning to his station to the N.C. officer on duty? What does S. C. Cromie report?—E.F., 9/11/80. Supt. Lydiard.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District, 5 September, 1878.
NON-COMMISSIONED officers and constables coming into head-quarters on any duty will report themselves at the office on their arrival. They will also report themselves before they leave to return to their stations.

[Copy hung up in the barrack-room.]
C. J. P. LYDIARD,
Supt.

Sergeant M'Manamey to The Superintendent of Police, Bathurst.

Police Station, Forbes, 6 November, 1880.

SERGEANT M'MANAMEY begs to report that he can only hope that the Superintendent will see the extreme hardship it will be to Sergeant M'Manamey.

As he has previously stated, he had no intention of committing any offence. He can only beg the Superintendent to pardon his omission.

W. W. M'MANAMEY,
Sergeant.

Submitted.—J. STEPHENSON, Sub-Inspector, 6/11/80.

Senior-Sergeant Casey to The Superintendent of Police, Western District.

Police Station, Bathurst, 10 November, 1880.

SENIOR-SERGEANT CASEY reports, with reference to that portion of Sergeant M'Manamey's report in which the Senior-Sergeant's name is mentioned, that at 1.10 p.m. on the 26th ultimo Sergeant M'Manamey met the Senior-Sergeant at the barrack gate, going to dinner. Sergeant M'Manamey tried to enter into a conversation about his being reported. The Senior-Sergeant did not wish to hear anything on the subject, and replied, "If you wish to say anything officially, Mr. Lydiard will be in the office at 2 o'clock." M'Manamey replied, "Will you be in the office after dinner?" Senior-Sergeant Casey replied, "Yes, before 2 o'clock"; and came up early on purpose, but did not see Sergeant M'Manamey again.

WALTER C. CASEY, S.S.

Sergeant Carroll to Superintendent Lydiard.

Police Station, Bathurst, 11 November, 1880.

SERGEANT D. CARROLL, No. 1,427, reports that on the 26th ultimo he never saw Sergeant M'Manamey after he left the Barracks for Court at 9.30 a.m., only once in the afternoon, and then only saw him passing up George-street in a buggy with some man.

Sergeant Carroll was at the Barracks nearly the whole of the day up to 5.30 p.m., and again from 9 to 10 p.m.

D. CARROLL,
Sergeant.

Minute by Superintendent Lydiard.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District, 11 November, 1880.

I REGRET that the whole of these papers were not sent to the Inspector-General in the first instance, but it was purely out of consideration for the Sergeant's family that they were retained.

In reply to the marginal note, Senior-constable Cromie was not in any way a non-commissioned officer of this station, but merely a witness at Court, through whom Sergeant M'Manamey sent a message, and then remained away the whole of the afternoon and night with his friends in the town. Senior-sergeant Casey, as will be seen by his report, told Sergeant M'Manamey to return at 2 p.m.

I am very glad to be able to reply to the pencil note, that I have no non-commissioned officer in this district like Sergeant M'Manamey, but to the contrary I have as good a lot of men as an officer of police could wish to have.

I cannot now deal with Sergeant M'Manamey. He was in a state of intoxication at Orange, and filthd the barrack-room; he then acted in a similar manner at Bathurst (see Sergeant Carroll's report attached). I regret that all this was not reported to the Inspector-General, but when he so persistently defied orders I was compelled to do so, not for his previous misconduct, because that was overlooked. I wish the Inspector-General would give Sergeant M'Manamey to some other officer, to see if any good can be done with him. I have failed.

C. J. P. LYDIARD,
Superintendent, Western District.

The

The Inspector-General to Superintendent Lydiard.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 12 November, 1880.

I AM certainly greatly surprised to receive these additional reports. The original charge fades into insignificance beside the very serious ones now made. They must be at once inquired into, and, if proved, Sergeant McManamey is evidently unfit to remain in the Service, and will be promptly dealt with.

Sergeant Carroll does not say what the "disgraceful state" was that he found McManamey in. If intoxicated, or suffering from the result of drinking, it should be so stated, and Sergeant McManamey should answer the charge.

Will Superintendent Lydiard also obtain reports from Orange regarding the misconduct there.

I think McManamey ought to be suspended from duty pending investigation.

EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P.

Superintendent Lydiard to The Inspector-General.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District, 13 November, 1880.

I HARDLY see how I can deal with Sergeant McManamey. The misconduct at Orange has not been reported to me officially; Sub-inspector Garvin allowed it to lapse, on account of the Sergeant's family; it occurred some two months ago. The misconduct at Bathurst the Inspector-General will see I have dealt with most leniently. What I wish to bring under the notice of the Inspector-General is the total disregard of all discipline shown by Sergeant McManamey, and the bad example he sets to other members of the Force.

C. J. P. LYDIARD,

Superintendent, Western District.

Minute by Inspector-General.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 15 November, 1880.

It is very much to be regretted that this matter has come before me in such an unsatisfactory shape that I am prevented from dealing with it in the only way that would properly meet the case.

Sub-Inspector Garvin had no business to give any consideration to the matter beyond performing his duty by reporting it to his Superintendent, when I should at once have directed Sergeant McManamey's reduction or dismissal if the charge was proved.

Having now been informed of the circumstances, I am compelled to call upon Mr. Garvin for a report of the facts.

As Mr. Lydiard dealt with the misconduct in the Bathurst Barracks by a reprimand, I conclude that the offence was not drunkenness. However, having been dealt with, it is clear it cannot be reopened.

The only punishment short of dismissal I can inflict upon a non-commissioned officer is reduction, and it is evident that I should not be justified in adopting that course when a so much graver charge is pending than that of leaving for his station without reporting himself.

EDMUND FOSBERY,

I.G.P.

Supt. Lydiard.

Minute by Superintendent Lydiard.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District, 16 November, 1880.

I CANNOT see through this matter and cannot understand the Inspector-General's minute. The misconduct at Orange occurred two months ago. The misconduct brought before the Inspector-General was last week, when he will see the gross breach of discipline. Does the Inspector-General intend that now the breach of discipline is to be reported by Sub-Inspector Garvin? I really do not see my way, but I shall take very good care that I am not in such a fix again. It is just a kindly feeling on the part of Sub-Inspector Garvin and myself that has caused this.

C. J. P. LYDIARD,

Superintendent.

The Inspector-General of Police, Sydney.

The fact that Sergeant McManamey was drunk at Orange having been officially brought under my notice, it is my duty to call upon Sub-Inspector Garvin to report on the subject. It does not affect the matter that the offence was committed two months ago, except as a reflection upon Mr. Garvin for not then reporting it.—E.F., 17/11/80. Supt. Lydiard, Bathurst.

Sub-Inspector Garvin must now make his report.—C. J. P. LYDIARD, Supt., 18/11/80.

Constable Deane's Report.

Police Station, Orange, 19 November, 1880.

CONSTABLE DEANE respectfully reports that on the night of the 13th July Sergeant McManamey arrived from Parkes with the Gold Escort. He went down the town and returned to the barrack-room at 11 o'clock. After coming into the room he sat on the bed to pull his boots off, and while so engaged he fell on the floor "drunk," where he remained until 5 o'clock a.m. the following morning. He had been very ill all night and constantly vomiting. Mr. Garvin came into the barracks about 5:30 a.m. There was a candle alight, and he saw a mess on the floor. Mr. Garvin said to the sergeant, "Did you do this?" He replied, "No, sir." He then asked who made the mess. Constable Berry replied, "The sergeant did it." Mr. Garvin said to the sergeant, "You have been drinking"; he replied, "No, sir." Mr. Garvin said, "You must not think I am a fool; you take and clean this place up at once, and be very careful what you are about when you come to my station, as I shall not overlook this sort of thing. You told me a deliberate lie, and as far as I am concerned I would not have the slightest confidence in a sergeant like you." No report of the matter was made to Mr. Garvin by any of the constables who were sleeping in that room, as Mr. Garvin discovered the mess himself. Constable Deane makes this report this morning, as Mr. Garvin told him to report the fact of what occurred.

P. DEANE,

Constable.

Sub-Inspector

Sub-Inspector Garvin's Report.

Police Station, Orange, 19 November, 1880.

MEMO.—On the morning of Wednesday, the 14th July last, I went into the barrack-room about half-past 5 o'clock, for the purpose of telling one of the mounted men I wanted my horse to ride to the railway station (about a mile distant), as I was going to Bathurst by first train. On entering the room I found a light in it and the floor wet in several places from vomiting. Sergeant M'Manamey was standing beside his bed, with a top coat on. I remarked, "What is this mess; did you do it?" The sergeant replied, "No, sir." I then said, "Who made this mess?" Constable Berry answered, "The sergeant did it." I said to Sergeant M'Manamey, "Why do you deny it? Take and clean this room up at once." He left that morning before 7 o'clock with the Manager of the Commercial Bank at Parkes for there. He certainly was not drunk when I saw him, but I told him I believed he had been drinking, as I came to that conclusion from surrounding appearances. I arrived at Bathurst that morning at 10 o'clock, and in conversation with the Superintendent during the day I mentioned what had occurred, and I said to Mr. Lydiard that I would send in a report if ever he misconducted himself to my knowledge.

I did severely reprimand M'Manamey and told him to be very careful any time he came to my station; that I would lock him up and report the least misconduct on his part; to expect no consideration from me; that if he did not think of his family I would not.

I regret the Inspector-General has thought proper to censure me about this affair. It was a matter of accident my going into the barrack-room so early, particularly in the winter-time, and I think the Superintendent will admit there are few officers in his district who pass over breaches of discipline less than I do—indeed I often thought I might be considered too exacting, because I never allow anything to pass unnoticed; and as far as Sergeant M'Manamey is concerned, I thought the very plain manner I spoke to him on this occasion would have been a caution to him for the future. Had I seen him "drunk" I should without doubt have reported him. He had permission to go down the town.

THOS. GARVIN,
Sub-Inspector.

Sergeant M'Manamey to The Superintendent of Police, Bathurst.

Police Station, Bathurst, 22 November, 1880.

SERGEANT M'Manamey begs to report, with reference to the charges of drunkenness at Bathurst and Orange, contained in papers handed to him to-day at Bathurst, where he was on prisoner escort from his station (Forbes), that he was not drunk at either place.

At Orange Sergeant M'Manamey was in the company of Mr. Brigstocke, Manager of the Commercial Bank at Parkes, till 11 p.m. of the night referred to, and Mr. Brigstocke informed Mr. Garvin the next morning that Sergeant M'Manamey was not drunk the previous night. Sergeant M'Manamey had eaten at dinner some very strong bacon (no other meat obtainable), and he was made very ill by it. He was up attending to his duty at shortly after 5 in the morning, when Mr. Garvin entered the room, and, as Mr. Garvin says, he was then sober. He left Orange before 7 a.m. with the Manager of the Commercial Bank. Sergeant M'Manamey suffered intense stomach disorder during the night, and was once unable to leave the room before his stomach acted. He was attending to this when Mr. Garvin entered, and he thought he could have it done without confessing his illness.

With regard to Bathurst, Mr. Pitcairn (Crown Prosecutor) sent a message by Senior-Constable Cromie to Sergeant M'Manamey that he required to see him on the night of Saturday, 23rd ultimo, with reference to the case Queen v. Tucker (sheep-stealing), then for trial at the Circuit Court, and removed to Bathurst for change of venue. He was occupied with the Crown Prosecutor and J. A. Griffiths, Esq., prosecutor, and S. H. Smith, Esq., witness, till past 11 p.m. Not anticipating that he would be absent after 10 p.m. he did not apply for leave. During the night he had several times to leave the room, and he remained partially dressed. He was up before 7 a.m., and was called on by some of the witnesses in the case, with whom he went to Senior-Sergeant Musgrove's room at the Court-house, and examined the sheepskins in the case, and took down a statement of the witnesses.

With regard to Sergeant M'Manamey leaving Bathurst after the termination of his case without reporting himself, he begs to say that he did report himself at the barracks to Senior-Constable Cromie, and if this was not sufficient it was his mistake. He had not the most remote idea that he was doing wrong. After the close of his case, and the payment of the witnesses, he took advantage of being in Bathurst to call upon Mr. Allpass, Inspector of Public Schools, with reference to his son, who is under Mr. Allpass, and also make some other calls. Mr. Allpass lives on the outskirts of the town, and it was when Mr. Griffiths was kindly driving him there that Sergeant Carroll saw him in a buggy.

As Sergeant M'Manamey has explained in a previous report, Mr. Griffiths, with whom he was travelling, to save his expenses, only decided on the night of the 26th ultimo to leave Bathurst early next morning. He went to the barracks and reported himself as stated, and also informed where he would be during the night.

At this short notice, and long interval since what is referred to at Orange took place (nearly five months), Sergeant M'Manamey is shut out from getting evidence in his behalf; but he will obtain from Mr. Brigstocke a statement.

The impression may be given that Sergeant M'Manamey is addicted to liquor-drinking. He can only say for himself that he is not; that he has to most carefully measure out the pay he receives to provide necessaries for his large family—a family which he and his wife have endeavoured to bring up as decently as possible.

His long service in the Force is known, and the immediately past years of his service are spoken of by the Bench of Magistrates at Parkes, under whose daily observation he was, by the letter given to him, a copy of which is attached to the papers herein.

W. M'MANAMEY,
Sergeant.

Superintendent Lydiard to The Inspector-General of Police.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District, Bathurst, 23 November, 1880.
 I THINK, on Sub-Inspector Garvin's account, I should send back these papers and reports to the Inspector-General, that he may see them. I imagine there can be little doubt but that Sergeant M'Manamey was suffering from a similar indisposition both at Orange and Bathurst. His explanation is sent herewith, but I told him yesterday that I did not think it would be believed by the Inspector-General. I have no hesitation in saying that he is a useless non-commissioned officer, one who shows a very bad example to the men, but who ought, after so long a service, to know better. Sergeant M'Manamey begged that I would write a good word for him, but I fail to see how I can consistently do so. He might get on better in some other district. Perhaps the Inspector-General would try him.

C. J. P. LYDIARD,
 Superintendent, Western District.

Minute by Inspector-General.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 25 November, 1880.
 I HAVE no manner of doubt but that Sergeant M'Manamey was drunk both at Orange and Bathurst. Constable Deane's report certainly goes straight to the point. Had Mr. Garvin made closer inquiries at the time, instead of passing over the matter with a caution, a decision in the case would have been simple.

I note also that Sergeant M'Manamey admits having told a deliberate falsehood, which is an offence in a policeman I never overlook.

He is now reported for quitting the Bathurst station without reporting himself, and Superintendent Lydiard states that he is a most useless non-commissioned officer and a bad example to the men.

Owing to the long time that has elapsed since the first offence, and considering M'Manamey's service, I will give him one more chance, directing his suspension and loss of pay of one grade in rank, until such time as his Superintendent can recommend his reinstatement,—his officer to report from time to time upon his behaviour.

E. F.

Mr. Stephenson will inform S. C. M'Manamey of the Inspector-General's decision.—C.J.P.L., Supt., 1/12/80. S. C. M'Manamey informed.—J. STEPHENSON, S.I., 3/12/80.

Superintendent Lydiard to The Inspector-General of Police.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office, Western District,
 Bathurst, 6 November, 1882.

Sir,
 I think I may now venture to recommend that Senior-constable M'Manamey be given back his old rank. His conduct lately has been most exemplary, and I think he has been sufficiently punished for his shortcomings.

I have, &c.,

C. J. P. LYDIARD,
 Superintendent.

I approve of Sergeant Carroll's promotion to the rank and pay of senior-sergeant, to take effect from the 1st December; also of Senior-constable M'Manamey's promotion to the rank of sergeant, but he cannot draw the increased pay just at present, as there are several sergeants drawing only senior-constable's pay. Perhaps he should be appointed sub-inspector under the Licensing Act.—EDM. FOSBERY, I.-G. Police, 29 November, 1882. Supt. Lydiard.

1883-4.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

POLICE.

(JOHN FLANAGAN, LATE SERGEANT AT BARRABA.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 15 January, 1884.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 18th December, 1883, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“Copies of all letters, papers, and other documents passing between the Colonial Secretary, the Superintendent of Police, Tamworth, and the Inspector-General of Police, with reference to the reduction in position and ultimate resignation of John Flanagan, late a Sergeant of Police at Barraba.”

(Mr. Levien.)

Superintendent Sanderson to The Inspector-General.

Sir,

Superintendent's Office, Tamworth, 9 August, 1882.

In re complaint of Mr. Muir, farrier, of Barraba, against S.-C. Flanagan and C. Hill, that they are in the habit of getting private jobs done at his forge and entering them in the Police vouchers as horses shod,—

I have the honor to report for your information that I visited Barraba on the 1st and 2nd instant, and inquired into the complaint noted above; hereunder is a summary of statements I was with some difficulty enabled to elicit; letter marked A I received from Mr. Muir on the 3rd July. S.-C. Flanagan and C. Hill's reply thereto are marked B, C, D. On the 19th July I received Mr. Muir's account marked E, S.-C. Flanagan's reply marked F; the paper marked G is a true copy of the amount paid Mr. Muir for the four quarters named by him, viz., March, June, and September, 1881, and March quarter, 1882. It will be seen by Mr. Muir's account, if true, that the actual police work for March quarter, 1881, was £1 17s. 6d.; Muir received £2 16s. 6d., 19s. being for private work. June quarter, police work, £1 9s. 9d., amount paid Muir, £2 2s. 3d., or 12s. 6d. for work other than police. September quarter, police work, £1 4s. 4d.; Muir received £1 14s. 6d., or 10s. 2d. for private work; for March quarter, 1882, Muir received £1 19s., but according to Muir's statement £1 14s. 3d. was for police work, and 4s. 9d. for a pair of tongs, or, in other words, according to Muir's statement, he received for the four quarters named £8 12s. 3d., or £2 7s. 3d. more than was due for police work, which only amounted to £6 5s. for the same period.

Upon visiting Barraba I gave S.-C. Flanagan the whole of the papers, and asked him whether he had any reply thereto; he replied no, he did not know what he could say, it was all false and done by Muir to injure him. Subsequently he (Flanagan) gave me the report marked F. I then put the following questions to him:—Q. I find the butts of the requisitions correspond with the vouchers and amount paid to Mr. Muir; the requisitions state so many sets of new shoes and removes for the quarter; they do not particularise what horses were shod; can you inform me how many times each horse was shod during the quarter, quarter, and date? A. They were shod as the requisition states. I kept no account, cannot tell the date. Mr. Muir sent in his bill at the end of each quarter, and the requisition was made out from that. Q. There are three horses on the station, one each for the mounted men, and a spare horse; how is it there were eight sets of new shoes and five sets of removes for the March quarter, 1881? A. There was a deal of riding done in that quarter collecting the Electoral Roll, &c., and the horses have to be frequently shod. Q. I suppose there was the same amount of riding done in the March quarter, 1882, and there are only six sets of new shoes and two removes? A. If I remember one of the horses was lame and had to be re-shod. I think there is an entry in the duty-book. S.-C. Flanagan searched the duty-book, but could not find it. Q. In March quarter Muir was paid for a pot of ointment, but in his account sent to me there is no mention of it? A. Yes, it was got for the horses, the same as the "Farmer's Friend," which I have in my possession, and can show it to you. Q. Have you got Mr. Muir's accounts? A. No, they are destroyed. I kept them for a time, and they got destroyed lying about the room. The account for March quarter, 1882, I forwarded to your office with a slaughtering notice of Cheesebrough's, to prove that the letter complaining of C. Hill playing billiards, signed by Muir, was written by Cheesebrough; if you look at it you will see that Muir tells a falsehood; there is no mention of tongs in that account. (Vide paper marked H.)

I then saw Mr. Muir and he appeared very much incensed against the Police, brought about no doubt by his being punished upon several occasions at their instance for breaches of the law. Q. I received a letter from you Mr. Muir, asking whether you were to sign any more vouchers, including private work entered as horses shod; subsequently I received an account from you particularising work done and paid for by the Police Department; what was the object in sending them to me? A. Well, Flanagan trod upon my toes and I thought I would tread upon his. Q. I don't understand you? A. Well, Hill and Flanagan assaulted and locked me up without any provocation. Q. According to your statement, if true, you have received more money from the Department than was due; how do you account for that; did you know you were doing wrong? A. Well, no I did not, I thought perhaps the Police were allowed to have private jobs done in that way. Q. Then what made you ultimately think you were doing wrong? A. I thought it best to ask the question before I done any more private work for the Police. Q. Is the account you sent me correct, and you make an entry at any time of the work done and date? A. The account I sent is copied from the ledger; my son has it; he is absent or you could see it with pleasure. I gave S.-C. Flanagan a bill at the end of each quarter an exact copy of that which I sent you. Q. I notice you have omitted December quarter, 1881,—how is that? A. There was nothing owing, all the private work was paid for.

Mr. Muir's account for March (marked H) quarter 1882, which he gave Flanagan, does not correspond with the account he sent me; there is no mention of "tongs 4s. 9d." in it; again there is a discrepancy in Muir's account as to the amount he said he received for June quarter of 1s. 6d., and September quarter of 1s. 10d.; having made these mistakes he may have made others.

In conclusion, I must say that the whole affair is to say the least suspicious, without doubt the statements of one or the other are false. I could get no information from the Police how many times their horses were shod, or shoes removed during the quarter; they could or would not tell; they had no record; S.-C. Flanagan simply made out his requisition from Mr. Muir's account; right or wrong it did not matter so long as it corresponded with it; all the bills sent in by Muir have been destroyed, except the one marked H; this is unfortunate; if they were forthcoming they would have cleared the matter up one way or the other; S.-C. Flanagan is culpable in either case. Supposing Muir's statement to be utterly false, it is impossible that the horses were shod as stated; there are three horses on the Station, one very seldom worked; according to the March quarter, 1881, there were three sets of new shoes for two horses; and two sets of new shoes and five removes for the third horse; in fact the number of new shoes and removes for the whole period is excessive.

I have, &c.,
C. SANDERSON, Superintendent.

---

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 11 August, 1882.

Muir's farriery accounts, Barraba.

I now forward the vouchers with requisitions for the whole of 1881-2, to enable Mr. Sanderson if possible to probe this very unsatisfactory business further.

Had the requisitions contained, as they should have done according to instructions, the particulars of the date of each horse by No., when shod, and when shod previously, the matter could be cleared up.

The Clerk in the Superintendent's office, also the examiner in mine, are to blame for the omission as well as S.-C. Flanagan, but the latter chiefly, as in addition he should have recorded the dates of shoeing each horse in the station-books.

He must now be called upon to furnish these particulars in detail.

Perhaps if the papers be shown to Mr. Garland he might be able to throw some light on the matter.

S.-C. Flanagan should not be transferred until the business is disposed of, and no pains must be spared to elicit further information.

E.F.

FARRIERY Requisitions rendered by Barraba Police.

FARRIERY Account rendered by N. Muir &amp; Son, July, 1882.

Date of Service.	Date of Payment.	Particulars of Service.	Amount.	Date of Service.	Particulars of Service.	Amount.	Remarks.
1881. March quarter	Commercial Bank account at Barraba.	8 sets new shoes at 4s. 9d., 5 sets removes, and 1 pot ointment.....	£ s. d. 2 16 6	1881. March quarter	6 sets new shoes at 4s. 9d..... 3 sets removes at 3s. 0 9 0	£ s. d. 1 8 6 0 9 0 1 17 6
June do	19th Aug., 1881..	7 sets new shoes at 4s. 9d., 3 sets removes at 3s. ....	2 2 3	June do	5 sets new shoes at 4s. 9d..... 2 sets removes at 3s. 0 6 0	£ s. d. 1 3 9 0 6 0 1 9 9	4 2 6 2 16 6 received.
Sept. do	19th Oct., 1881 ..	6 sets new shoes at 4s. 9d., 2 sets removes at 3s. ....	1 14 6	Sept. do	4½ sets new shoes at 4s. 9d..... 1 set removes at 3s. 0 3 0	£ s. d. 1 1 4 0 3 0 1 4 4	2 15 9 2 3 9 do
1882. March quarter	1882. 26 April, 1882....	6 sets new shoes at 4s. 9d., 2 sets removes at 3s., 1 bottle Farmer's Friend .....	1 19 0	1882. March quarter	5 sets new shoes at 4s. 9d..... 2 sets removes at 3s. 0 6 0 1 bottle Farmer's Friend .....	£ s. d. 1 3 9 0 6 0 0 4 6 1 14 3 0 4 9	1 16 4 1 16 4 do
			£ 8 12 3		1 pair tongs .....	£ 1 19 0	1 19 0 do
						£ 10 13 7

The Inspector-General of Police to Superintendent Sanderson.

Police Department, Inspector-General's Office, Sydney, 31 August, 1882.

HAVING carefully read all the attached papers I regret to find that they do not exonerate S.-C. Flanagan.

He has been guilty of a serious disregard of his duty in not making entries of the dates upon which each horse was shod, stating name or No. He has also neglected to make an entry of the particulars on the requisition and butt.

He cannot produce the accounts, which should have been filed. He cannot account for the excessive number of sets of shoes charged for, though evidently in excess of the requirements of the station. He cannot produce any receipts for payments made or alleged to have been made by him to Muir.

It seems impossible now to elicit any further facts in proof or disproof of the very serious charges made; but S.-C. Flanagan's neglect of duty is clearly proved. He may be allowed to offer his defence or submit an explanation in writing to show cause why he should not be reduced and removed to another station.

EDM. FOSBERY,
I.G.P.

Superintendent Sanderson to The Inspector-General of Police.

Sir,

Superintendent's Office, Tamworth, 29 August, 1882.

In re complaint of Mr. Muir, farrier, of Barraba, against S.-C. Flanagan and C. Hill,—I have the honor to report for your information that I proceeded to Barraba on the 23rd instant, with the view of eliciting further information in reference to the above. The memo. marked I was forwarded to S.-C. Flanagan on the 15th instant. His reply thereto, marked J, and the paper marked K, is Mr. Muir's account for the December quarter, 1882.

On the 24th instant I saw Mr. Muir and his son, in the presence of S.-C. Flanagan. Mr. Muir produced his books, which were kept by his wife and his son. Mr. Muir, sen., cannot read. Upon examination I found the entries tally with the account marked E. I asked Mr. Muir whether he ever did any private work for S.-C. Flanagan. Answer: Yes, on several occasions. Q. Did S.-C. Flanagan pay you? A. Yes. Q. How? A. By a cheque for some and by Government vouchers for others. The work he paid me for I have not entered in the account forwarded to you. Q. What work was paid for by vouchers? A. A pair of fire-dogs and fire-stand and a pair of tongs; the first came to £2 5s., and the tongs I charged 4s. 9d. for. Q. What made you charge 4s. 9d.—that is the price of a new set of shoes? A. Yes, I know; Flanagan told me to put down a horse for the tongs. Q. Then on the 16th February there was no horse shod; in fact there was no police horse shod in that month? A. No. Q. You have told me that you always gave Flanagan a bill at the end of each quarter, an exact copy of your book. In the bill for the March quarter, '82, there is no mention of tongs; but upon reference to your book I find the following entry:—February 18th, pair of tongs, 4s. 9d.;—how do you account for that? A. Well, Flanagan told me to put a horse down, that is the reason. Q. According to the voucher for the March quarter, 1881, you were paid for a pot of ointment. There is no mention of it in your book or account forwarded to me? A. No; I never supplied any ointment; I supplied a bottle of "Farmer's Friend" some time in the present year. Q. Your account against the Barraba Police for March quarter, 1881, was £4 2s. 6d., and you received £2 16s. 6d.. How was that? Did you have any conversation with Flanagan about the matter? A. No; the balance was carried over from quarter to quarter and I was paid in full.

Questions put by S.-C. Flanagan to Mr. Muir:—You say you have done private work for me; did I not pay you for all private work you did for me? A. No. Q. Did I not give you several sums for work you did for me? A. Yes; but the fire-dogs, fire-stand, and tongs were paid for as I have stated. It is a very easy matter for you to prove. Produce the bills I gave you at the end of each quarter. Q. Have you not said you would have the blue jackets off myself and C. Hill? A. No.

Mr. Muir, jun., was present the whole time, produced the books, proved to their being correct, also to the quarterly accounts being copied therefrom and given to S.-C. Flanagan,

I regret exceedingly that, so far as I have been able to sift this matter, the charges brought by Mr. Muir against S.-C. Flanagan have some semblance of truth. Upon my first visit to Barraba I had no record or date to refer to. The butts of the requisitions gave the total number only of new shoes and shoes removed for each quarter. The requisitions attached to the vouchers, except December quarter, give the dates, and from those I am led to the opinion expressed above. If the fire-dogs, stand, and tongs have not been paid for, as stated by Mr. Muir, then the frequency which the horses have been reshod and their shoes removed is wholly unaccountable. On the 7th January, 1881, there is three sets of new shoes; on the 17th January, ten days after, two sets of removes; February, two sets of new shoes, and two sets of removes; March, three sets of new shoes and one remove; April, three sets of new shoes and one remove. The shoeing and removes are excessive for the whole period, except February, 1882. According to Mr. Muir's statement no police horse was shod that month. I again requested S.-C. Flanagan to give me a report or reply to the accusations made by Muir against him. He (Flanagan) stated he had none to give; it was all lies and done to injure him. I drew his attention to the frequency the horses had been shod and their shoes removed, there being only two working horses on the station and a spare horse, the latter doing very little or no work. He could not or would not give me any explanation.

It is most unaccountable how the March, June, and September quarter's accounts have been lost. These three accounts, according to Mr. Muir's statement, were exact copies of those marked E. On the March quarter, 1882, account, marked H, there is a memo. at foot in Flanagan's handwriting, to the following effect:—"Contract No. 38, W. Muir & Son, requisitioned for and filed, 2/4/82.—J.F., S.C." It has evidently been on the file; so has the December quarter, 1881, account, marked K. The inference to be drawn therefrom is that all the bills were filed; if so how could they get destroyed?

I have endeavoured to sift this matter thoroughly, and I regret to say that, taking the statements of the Messrs. Muir with the utmost caution, and making every allowance for the ill-feeling that exists, I am of opinion that the private work was done, as stated by Muir, for S.-C. Flanagan; and further, it was paid for in the manner stated by Muir.

I have, &c.,

C. SANDERSON,

Superintendent.

Ex-Superintendent Garland to Superintendent Sanderson.

Tamworth, 30 August, 1882.

MEMO.—Having perused the very unsatisfactory accounts of Senior-constable John Flanagan with Mr. Muir, the contractor for farriery at Barraba, which Superintendent Sanderson has been good enough to submit to me by direction of the Inspector-General, I can only express my regret that the claims for excess of shoeing should have passed through my office without being detected.

JAS. GARLAND,

Ex-Superintendent.

I.

Superintendent Sanderson to Senior-constable Flanagan.

Superintendent's Office, Tamworth, 15 August, 1882.

MEMO.—In re farriery account Barraba police horses, quarters ending March, June, September, and December, 1881, and March, 1882, Senior-constable Flanagan will furnish as soon as possible to this office a detailed account of the date each horse was shod for the period named, to be distinguished by regimental number or name. He will also obtain from Mr. Muir an account for work done, for which cheque £1 19s. 6d. was paid.

C. SANDERSON,

Superintendent.

J.

Senior-constable Flanagan to Superintendent Sanderson.

Police Station, Barraba, 18 August, 1882.

WITH reference to the Superintendent's minute herewith, Senior-constable Flanagan begs to state that he is unable to give the dates when each horse was shod, inasmuch as when removing the Court furniture and documents from the Police Station to the new Court-house, 1st December last, he destroyed nearly all the old documents that were not likely to be of any further use.

In turning over all his old files he found the annexed bill, which he now forwards to be compared with Mr. Muir's claim for the December quarter of last year. Mr. Muir's bills for farriery for the June and March quarters of this year have been already forwarded.

Messrs. Muir and Son refuse to furnish any accounts to Senior-constable Flanagan. Constable Hill was present.

JOHN FLANAGAN,

Senior-constable.

K.

Barraba, December 28, 1881.

		Police, Dr. to Wm. Muir,—				£ s. d.
October 1st to 31st	—Three sets of new shoes, at 4s. 9d.	...	...	...	...	0	14	3
Do do	—One set removed	...	...	...	...	0	3	0
November	—Three sets of new shoes	...	...	...	...	0	14	3
Do	—One set removed	...	...	...	...	0	3	0
December	—Two sets of new shoes	...	...	...	...	0	9	6
						£2 4 0

A.

Mr. S. M'D. Muir to The Inspector of Police, Tamworth.

Sir,

Barraba, 1/7/82.

For some time past Senior-constable Flanagan and Constable David Hill have been in the habit of getting odd private jobs done at my forge, such as firestands, tongs, bolts, &c., and having them entered in

in

in the voucher as horses shod. I do not consider it right to sign any false statements of this kind. I wish to know whether I am to do any more work of like kind. If you will kindly advise me on this matter you will oblige

Yours, &c.,

SAMUEL M'D. MUIR.

Memo.—What is the meaning of this? A report required.—C. SANDERSON, Supt., Tamworth, 4 July, /82. Senior-constable Flanagan.

(No. 10,971.) To the Manager of the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney.

Barraba, 22 March, 1882.

PAY Wm. Muir, or bearer, the sum of one pound nineteen shillings and sixpence sterling (£1 19s. 6d.), on account of
JOHN FLANAGAN.
£1 19s. 6d.

This cheque is a true copy of the one cashed on 30th March.—H. B. M'KEE, Mgr.

B.

Senior-constable Flanagan to Superintendent Sanderson.

Police Station, Barraba, 7 July, 1882.

WITH reference to Samuel McD. Muir's letter of complaint herewith, Senior-Constable Flanagan begs to report that Muir's father did do private work for him on or about the month of January last, for which he paid Muir by cheque (copy of cheque herewith).

The Senior-constable respectfully asks his Superintendent to examine Muir's account for farriery for March quarter last, which was attached to another explanatory report of Muir's which was submitted on the 16th ultimo.

The Senior-constable begs to add that Muir's letter is a tissue of falsehoods.

JOHN FLANAGAN, S.-C.

Memo.—What was the private work done by Mr. Muir for Senior-constable Flanagan, and date?—C. SANDERSON, Supt. Supt.'s Office, Tamworth, 20/7/82. Papers to be returned. Senior-constable Flanagan.

C.

Constable Hill to Superintendent Sanderson.

Police Station, Barraba, 7 July, 1882.

RE attached report of Samuel McD. Muir, complaining of Senior-Constable Flanagan and Constable Hill getting private blacksmith's work done, and charging it to the Police Farriery Account, Constable David Hill (No. 3,444) reports, for the information of his Superintendent, that neither Samuel Mc D. Muir or his father ever did any private blacksmith's work for him.

DAVID HILL,

Constable, No. 3,444.

D.

Senior-constable Flanagan to Superintendent Sanderson.

Police Station, Barraba, 21 July, 1882.

RE Mr. Muir's complaint, further explanation. Senior-constable Flanagan begs to state that Mr. Muir made an iron bar for him to stay a private building some time in the months of December or January last. The exact date the S.-C. is unable to state.

JOHN FLANAGAN, S.-C.

E.

POLICE DR. to William Muir & Son,—

		Barraba, July.
		£	s.	d.
1881.
Jan.	7—Horse shod	...	0	4 9
"	10—Fire-dogs and fire-stand	...	2	5 0
"	17—Horse shod, 4s. 9d. ; 21st, horse shod, 4s. 9d.	...	0	9 6
Feb.	4—Horse shod, 4s. 9d. ; 16th, removes, 3s.	...	0	7 9
"	28—Removes, 6s. ; Mar. 17th, horse shod, 4s. 9d.	...	0	10 9
Mar.	25—Horse shod	...	0	4 9
			4	2 6
	Money received	...	2	16 6
	Balance	...	£1	6 0
<hr/>
Mar.	29—Balance of account	...	1	6 0
"	29—Horse shod, 4s. 9d. ; April 11—removes, 3s.	...	0	7 9
Apr.	29—Horse shod, 4s. 9d. ; May 21—horse shod, 4s. 9d.	...	0	9 6
May	27—Horse shod, 4s. 9d. ; June 27—horse shod, 4s. 9d.	...	0	9 6
	Shoes removed	...	0	3 0
			2	15 9
	Cash received	...	2	3 9
	Balance	...	£0	12 0

1881.

1881.		£	s.	d.
	Balance of account ... ..	0	12	0
July	11—Horse shod, 4s. 9d.; 18th, horse shod, 4s. 9d. ... ..	0	9	6
"	29—Horse shod ... ..	0	4	9
Aug.	9—Shoes on horse, 2s. 4½d. ... ..	0	2	4½
"	20—Horse shod, 4s. 9d. ... ..	0	4	9
Sept.	7—Removes ... ..	0	3	0
Paid.		£1 16 4½
1882.
Jan.	11—Removes ... ..	0	3	0
"	18—Horse shod, 4s. 9d.; 27th, two horses shod, 9s. 6d. ... ..	0	14	3
Feb.	16—Shoes removed ... ..	0	3	0
"	18—Pair of tongs ... ..	0	4	9
March	1—Horse shod ... ..	0	4	9
"	4—Bottle of Farmer's Friend ... ..	0	4	6
"	6—Horse shod ... ..	0	4	9
		£1 19 0

WILLIAM MUIR & SON,
Barraba.

F.

Senior-constable Flanagan to Superintendent Sanderson.

Police Station, Barraba, 2 August, 1882.

SENIOR-CONSTABLE Flanagan begs to state, with reference to Mr. Muir's complaint against him, that it is a tissue of falsehoods, based upon spleen and malice. Mr. Muir and his son have been recently fined in the sum of £12 14s. 6d., which is the cause of them endeavouring to get satisfaction, having failed by summons and false swearing. The discrepancy in Mr. Muir's statement is a proof of his vindictive design. The senior-constable would respectfully ask his Superintendent to examine the March quarter bill, which is in his own handwriting, and which was submitted to the Superintendent before this complaint existed.

JOHN FLANAGAN, S.-C.

H.

		Barraba, 28 March, 1882.
		£	s. d.
	Police—Dr. to William Muir.
Jan.	10—Removes ... ..	0	3 0
"	18—Set ... ..	0	4 9
"	27—Two sets ... ..	0	9 6
Feb.	16—Removes ... ..	0	3 0
"	16—Set ... ..	0	4 9
Mar.	1—" ... ..	0	4 9
"	4—One bottle of Farmers' Friend ... ..	0	4 6
"	6—Set of shoes... ..	0	4 9
		£1 19 0

Contract No. 38—(Wm. Muir and Son) requisitioned for and filed.—J.F., S.-C., 2/4/82.

Senior-constable Flanagan to Superintendent Sanderson.

Police Station, Barraba, 5 September, 1882.

WITH reference to the Inspector-General's minute, dated the 31st ultimo, respecting horse farriery at this station, Senior-constable John Flanagan, No. 914, begs to state—

1. That, as already reported, owing to the removal of the Court furniture from the Police Station, the check account kept by him as well as Mr. Muir's bill were destroyed, not thinking that they would be again required.
2. The accounts since then have been filed and sent to the Superintendent's office, extending from the 1st October, 1881, to the 30th June, 1882.
3. During the March quarter of 1881 the duty on this station was extra severe, collecting the electoral roll and searching for offenders, which caused extra shoeing; and for the December quarter of the same year Mr. Muir made two stays for the police stable, a work of instant necessity, to prevent it from falling down, and was charged in the farriery.
4. He forwarded bank duplicate cheque, which shows that he paid Muir for the private work alleged by Muir to have been charged in the farriery.
5. He respectfully requests that the Inspector-General will be pleased to hand him all the papers connected with this matter, with permission to place the same in the hands of a solicitor; or otherwise, if the Inspector-General would be pleased to allow an investigation before the Bench of Magistrates at Tamworth, inasmuch as if inquired into at Barraba it might be said that the senior-constable was favoured by the Barraba Magistrates. The senior-constable begs to add that in June last, while Messrs. Muir & Son were contractors, he was compelled to get the horses shod elsewhere, owing to Muir's intemperance, and on reporting same Muir's tender was cancelled. Muir was locked up for drunkenness, disorderly conduct, obscene language, and assaulting the police, and fined, on June 7, '82, £5. Muir, junr., on same date was fined £4 for similar conduct; and on July 5, '82, Muir, senr., was fined £3 9s. 8d. for obscene language and threatening language towards the police. Muir publicly stated that he would have his revenge for this.

The

The senior-constable therefore, under all these circumstances, respectfully asks that the Inspector-General of Police will take this matter into consideration before coming to a final decision, and afford him full liberty to enter a criminal action against Messrs. Muir & Sons as the only course now open to him in order to vindicate his reputation.

JOHN FLANAGAN, S.-C.

Superintendent's Office, Tamworth, 11 September, 1882.

MEMO.—Forwarded for the information of the Inspector-General of Police.—C. SANDERSON, Supt.

Before making any further comment I wish to understand if S.-C. Flanagan permitted these iron stays being charged for as horse-shoes?—E.F., 12/9/82.

Superintendent's Office, Tamworth, 14 September, 1882.

MEMO.—When at Barraba I saw the stays mentioned by S.-C. Flanagan; they were to secure the centre tie-beam to the wall plates, to keep the roof from spreading. Mr. Muir admitted having been paid for the work "as shoes," and as there is no account other than for shoeing in the petty contingents ledger paid Mr. Muir, neither does there appear to be any application "in the office" from S.-C. Flanagan for permission to have the work done, no doubt his statement is true; the work would cost about 9s., or the price of two sets of shoes. Mr. Muir made no charge against S. C. Flanagan for having any private work done in December quarter, 1881.—C. SANDERSON, Supt. The Inspector-General of Police, Sydney.

Senior-constable Flanagan having been guilty of the gross irregularities pointed out, I am unable to retain him in charge of a station; I therefore direct his reduction to the rank of constable (1st class), and removal to another station.—EDMUND FOSBERY, I.G.P., 15 Sept., 1882. Superintendent Sanderson.

First-class Constable Flanagan to The Superintendent of Police, Tamworth.

Police Station, Murrurundi, 18 May, 1883.

First-class Constable John Flanagan (No. 914) begs to state that he is at present suffering from rheumatic pains, and pains in his chest, and spitting blood very frequently of late, and believes it to be the result of a severe fall from troop horse "Toby" at Haydonton, on 22nd January last, whilst serving juror's summonses.

The constable did not wish to complain heretofore, believing he might get better, but only finds he is getting worse every day.

He has been attended to by Dr. Bell, ever since his fall, whose certificate he has attached.

The constable now finds he is unable to perform his duties satisfactorily, and wishes to retire on gratuity or pension, having served nearly twenty-one years.

JOHN FLANAGAN,
First-class Constable.

Submitted.—JAMES BRENNAN, Sergt.

I HEREBY certify that Constable John Flanagan since receiving a heavy fall from his horse in January, 1883, has been subject to frequent vomitings of blood, which indicate some internal injury and prevents him performing his duty efficiently.

RUFUS BELL, M.B.,
Government Medical Officer.

Murrurundi, May 16th, 1883.

Memo. from Superintendent Sanderson to Sergeant Palmer.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office,

North-western District, Tamworth, 19 May, 1883.

DOES S. Palmer know anything about this, he being in charge of Murrurundi Station up to 21st March? No report was made to me although I visited the station frequently, neither does Constable Flanagan appear on the duty returns "sick" at any time after the 21st March.

C. SANDERSON,
Superintendent.

Sergeant Palmer to Superintendent Sanderson.

North-western District, Gunnedah Police Station, 19 May, 1883.

SERGEANT PALMER (No. 2,375) reports for the information of his Superintendent in reference to the fall Constable Flanagan (No. 914) got from off "Toby," No. 451, when serving summonses in Haydonton, the sergeant did not at the time consider the fall a severe one. Constable Flanagan was not laid up at all in consequence of the fall.

The sergeant did not report Constable Flanagan receiving the fall, as he (the sergeant) considered it of so slight a nature.

Constable Flanagan's statement about the fall from "Toby," causing him to spit blood, is false, as he (Constable Flanagan) was spitting blood before he left Barraba, and was treated by the Catholic priest, who is a doctor at Bingera, for same.

Constable Hill (No. 3,444) told the sergeant that Constable Flanagan had been spitting blood for the last two years.

EDWIN PALMER,
Sergeant.

Memo. from Superintendent Sanderson to The Inspector-General of Police.

Tamworth, 22 May, 1883.

THIS is the first I have heard about Constable Flanagan's fall from his horse, or spitting blood, although I have frequently visited the station since the 22nd January, neither has he been returned unfit for duty.

C. SANDERSON,
Superintendent.

Constable Flanagan is only forty-nine years of age. Pensions are not granted to men under sixty, unless physically unfit for further service. He very recently applied for promotion, and I presume then he thought himself fit for service. He may be sent to Sydney, when there is an escort, for medical examination and treatment if necessary.—EDM. FOSBERY, I.G.P., B.C., 23/5/83.

Memorandum

Memorandum from Superintendent Sanderson to The Inspector-General of Police.

Police Department, Superintendent's Office,

North-Western District, Tamworth, 19 June, 1883.

CONSTABLE Flanagan proceeds to Sydney this day for medical examination.

C. SANDERSON,
Superintendent.

Inspector Ryeland,—Please obtain Dr. Egan's report.—E.F., 20/6/83.

21 June.

I HAVE examined Constable Flanagan, who complains of pains in his limbs at times, and occasional spitting of blood on the slightest exertion, which he says was caused by a fall from his horse, on police duty. I cannot find any disease, internal or otherwise, which would cause such symptoms, and I can see nothing to prevent him from performing his duty, as usual, if so inclined.

M. EGAN,
Police Surgeon.

It is pretty clear that there is little or nothing the matter with Constable Flanagan, who is a strong, able-bodied man. I have told him that there is no prospect of his getting a pension for many years to come, and that he must return to his station and resume duty.—E.F., 22/6/83. Superintendent Sanderson.

Constable Flanagan to The Superintendent of Police, Tamworth.

Police Station, Murrurundi, 25 July, 1883.

1st Class Constable John Flanagan (No. 914) begs to tender his resignation, and respectfully requests that the Inspector-General of Police will grant him his immediate discharge.

JOHN FLANAGAN,
Constable.

Tamworth, 30/7/83. Recommended.—C. SANDERSON, Supt. The Inspector-General of Police, Sydney. Immediate discharge approved.—E.F., 31 July, /83. Superintendent Sanderson.

Memorandum from Superintendent Sanderson to The Inspector-General of Police.

