With the increase of buildings comes naturally an increase of correspondence and other clerical work. I have five clerks employed in this work, whose salaries in the aggregate amount only to £675. The letters and other documents received and despatched this year amount to 12,824, and there have been prepared and executed 646 sets of contract documents. This work, with the necessary book-keeping and keeping of the official registers, has given full employment to the clerical staff.

Official staff.

I am happy in being able to report that the officers under me are, as a whole, competent and diligent, and have during the past year done the work of the office as well as their limited number allows. That there have been occasional delays has arisen, not from individual shortcomings, but from the extreme pressure of a mass of work at times beyond their power to cope with.

I have already laid before the Minister my reasons for thinking that the salaries of several of my assistants should be increased and I have only now to repeat that I still hold the same opinion on that point.

Architect for Public Schools.

APPENDIX XVII.

PRINCIPAL SCHOOL ATTENDANCE OFFICER'S REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1883.

I HAVE the honor to submit, for the information of the Minister, my report for the year 1883 upon the working of the compulsory clauses of the Public Instruction Act of 1880.

Considerable progress has been made during the year in extending the operations of this branch of the Education Department. Districts Nos. 78 to 92 have been proclaimed as portions of the Colony where the attendance of children at school may be enforced, and thirteen additional officers have, after careful training in the performance of their duties, been appointed to the charge of the new districts. According to the policy which has characterized the development of this branch—that of commencing operations on a small scale and enlarging the circle of action gradually—all except the outlying and most thinly populated parts of the Colony have been in three years brought under the provisions of the compulsory clauses.

At the close of the year there were 92 Public School Districts, with a staff of 45 attendance officers and 4 assistant officers. The officers have, with one or two exceptions, performed their work with commendable zeal and judgment. They have, as directed, followed the course of explanation and conciliation, but not threatening prosecution, with the best results, and careless parents have been induced to send their children to school in 3,761 cases. The success achieved is made more apparent by the fact that the teachers of 211 schools have reported that they have no case of deficient attendance at their respective schools. It was a pleasing duty last year to draw the Minister's attention to the fact that about 100 teachers had sent in a like report, and to note it as a gratifying index of the rapidly improving habits of parents in connection with the attendance of their children at school. This year the result is still more cheering, and points to progress in this most important element of school education. Much difficulty has been experienced in allocating officers in the far distant and sparsely inhabited portions of the Colony, care being taken to place them as near the centre of their work as circumstances would allow, in order to economize their labour and prevent unnecessary travelling expense.

During the year 48,635 cases of alleged or suspected default in attendance at school were investigated. Of this number, 13,832 were in the metropolitan and 34,803 in the country district. These cases were reported officially by teachers, or privately by clergymen, magistrates, and others who take an interest in children, or they were observed personally by the officers. Particular attention was given to the cases of children of school age seen in the streets, by-ways, and recreation grounds during school hours. Except in a few cases these children attended some school, though in some instances it was not worthy of the name. Those not attending school were, for the most part, children impossible to reach unless by means of a reformatory, the parents being often in gaol and of vicious or drunken habits. As the law requires attendance at school for fourteen weeks only out of the twenty-six in the half-year, children often run about during the remaining twelve and still make up the required attendance.

In 43,112 cases the default was only apparent, or the officer had no power to pursue the investigation further, having to take the assurance of the parent or guardian or that of a teacher whose interest it might be to conceal the truth. As the onus of proof in every particular lies with the attendance officer, many doubtful cases were of necessity allowed to pass: for instance, it is in many cases impossible to prove the age of a child, there being no available record as to birth, the child having been born elsewhere. The fact that some evade the law because of the impossibility or difficulty of proof has had a bad effect on other parents or guardians who are more or less indifferent to the education of their children.

In 10,870 cases the children made up the required attendance at two or more schools or were taught at home. When the children attended Public Schools, church schools or private schools of the better class, the question as to full attendance was, as a rule, easily settled; but in the case of many so-called private schools the matter was very doubtful. These schools are often a mere retreat, sometimes a very unhealthy one, for the children of careless parents who take advantage of this means of evading the law, parents and teachers combining to deceive and hinder the attendance officer. The unpunctual, irregular, and desultory attendance at these so-called schools has a baneful influence on the habits of children at other schools, inducing an idle and truant tendency. Such schools are a growing evil, in a high degree serious, threatening to nullify to a large extent the beneficial effects of the compulsory provisions of the law.

In 8,375 cases the children were sick or infirm or reasonably liable to infection. There was an unusual amount of sickness during the year, the diseases most prevalent being typhoid fever, low fever, measles, scarlet fever, ophthalmia, and diphtheria. When any of these was the cause of absence the question was usually settled at once with certainty; but in the case of less serious ailments, the truth of the parent's statement was often a matter of doubt or disbelief. Sickness of one kind or another was often alleged as a cause for deficient attendance, but it was sometimes a mere pretext to cover the guilt of parents who, for some trivial convenience or sordid gain, deprive their children of the means and advantages of education so happily placed within their reach.

The cause of deficient attendance was more or less reasonable in 23,867 other cases. In this number are included new residents, children who left the district before the end of the half-year, visitors for a short period, children under or over school age, those resident over school distance, those educated up to the standard, children unable to make up the required attendance through the temporary closing of a school or through the opening of a new school late in the half-year, and those unable to attend in consequence of some other unavoidable cause.

In 5,523 cases the default was ascertained beyond doubt: 883 were cases of truancy, and in 4,640 cases the children were sent out to work, or kept at home to help, or allowed to play. Among the cases of actual default, 2,445 were cases of non-attendance, the remainder, 3,078, being cases of short attendance. In all these cases a careful and particular report was prepared dealing with every circumstance in connection with each case. The cases most deserving of prosecution were then laid before the Minister, no cases being allowed to be taken into court without his special permission.

Prosecution

Prosecution was authorized in 2,689 cases ; of this number 997 were in the metropolitan and 1,692 in the country districts. The result was 2,335 convictions, 199 withdrawals, and 78 dismissals ; in 77 cases the prosecution was not completed. The attendance of children at school being the all-important consideration, no action was taken in those cases where the defaulters, after being spoken to, made reasonable efforts to comply with the law. Though convicted and fined several times, the cupidity of some parents is so great that they still keep their children from school. As the penalty is small and can be enforced only once in six months, they think lightly of it, the children's earnings soon making up the fine. The fines during the year, with costs of court, amounted in the aggregate to nearly £1,500.

School Attendance Officers have during the year been employed in the collection of arrears of school fees. The sum of £832 18s. 1d. has been thus realized. Debts owing to the Department by parents who sent their children to Certified Denominational Schools previous to their severance from the State have been collected. In some instances great obstinacy was displayed by these persons in the payment of arrears, and recourse to the law was rendered necessary before payment was obtained. In the case of parents and guardians who send their children to the Public Schools and allow their arrears to accumulate, officers have investigated the reasons of this indebtedness, and where real inability to pay fees has been shown a recommendation to the Minister for the exemption of such parents from payment of fees has been made, and in cases of arrears to have them cancelled. During the year 989 certificates of such exemption have been issued, affecting 2,973 children ; and 586 debts, amounting in the aggregate to £890 15s., have been cancelled. The investigation into the inability to pay fees has disclosed the mournful fact that many applicants for immunity from payment of fees are mothers—often with large families—whose husbands have deserted them, and have left home ostensibly to find work elsewhere, but have neglected when away to communicate with their wives and families. In other cases the disastrous drought has rendered very many families almost destitute and quite unable to pay fees. Instead of officers receiving moneys owing by parents and furnishing this office with the amounts collected, as was done formerly, they are now instructed to see that the defaulter in fees pays the amount owing to the teacher of the school where the debt was contracted, except in some exceptional instances where policy dictates the securing of arrears on the spot.

House-to-house Teaching.—This new and interesting feature of the educational machinery has been introduced during the year. By its means children in the bush and remote from any established school will be placed within reach of instruction, and thus numbers will have conferred upon them the inestimable benefits of education who otherwise would be brought up in ignorance. In order to become acquainted with these isolated homes, School Attendance Officers were required to make every inquiry and report upon the discovery to this office. In this manner numerous instances in point have been forwarded to the Acting Under Secretary for consideration and determination. Some officers have been particularly successful in the discovery of these educationally neglected families.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

EDUCATION.

(REPORT OF DR. CLARK ON THE SANITARY CONDITION OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN THE CITY OF SYDNEY AND SUBURBS; ALSO REPORT OF DR. MACKELLAR.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 27 February, 1884.

[Presented to Parliament pursuant to promise of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, in reply to question of Mr. Burns in the Legislative Assembly, 23 January, 1884.]

The Acting Under-Secretary, Public Instruction, to Edward Combes, Esq., C.M.G., M.P.

Sir,

I am directed by the Minister of Public Instruction to acquaint you that His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to appoint you to be a member, and also Chairman, of the Board which has been constituted for the purpose of advising as to the best means of improving the sanitary condition of existing Public School premises, and as to the adoption of plans for future schools, to be designed on the most improved sanitary principles.

2. The Board will consist of yourself and the gentlemen named in the margin; and Mr. Reid will be glad if you will be so good as to convene a meeting of the Board as early as practicable.

I have, &c.,

G. MILLER,

Acting Under-Secretary.

Reports of Dr. Mackellar and Dr. Clark herewith.

Messrs. C. K. Mackellar, M.B., C.M.; E. Johnson, Chief Inspector of Schools; W. E. Kemp, Architect for Public Schools.

Dr. Mackellar to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

In returning the attached report upon the sanitary condition of the Public Schools of the Metropolitan District, I may be permitted to express great satisfaction at the thoroughness with which Dr. Charles Dagnall Clark has accomplished the task entrusted to him.

I observe with regret that in a large number of cases he found that the children attending those institutions were placed under conditions which were hygienically defective, and this apparently from three main causes:—

1st. Where the schools were well designed, but very much overcrowded.

2nd. Where the design of the schoolrooms was defective.

3rd. Where the necessary accommodation in the shape of latrines, urinals, &c., was at fault.

The first defect noted, and one that should certainly be remedied with the least possible delay, is the overcrowding which obtains in many of the old and several of the new and otherwise excellent schools.

The crowding of a large number of people in a close room is undesirable at all times, but vitiated air is a thing to be especially avoided where a large number of very young children are confined even for a few hours during the day, or where active brain work is being carried on either by old or young.

Some of the most glaring instances of crowding are amongst the comparatively new schools; for instance, at Cleveland-street, in some of the class-rooms only 26·33 cubic feet of space is allowed for each child. It is almost superfluous to say that, in spite of the means of ventilation being good and the windows open, Dr. Clark found that this room "was very close indeed." Other less flagrant cases of defect in respect to overcrowding may be found at Burwood, where the space in the class-rooms was 34·5 cubic feet, and at Paddington, where it amounted to 36 cubic feet.

In the year 1877 the Board of Education of Brooklyn, U.S.A., passed the following resolution with regard to the question of the capacity of schools:—

"The seating capacity of all school-houses, school, and class-rooms, of 16 feet height of ceiling, ought to be limited to 9 square feet of floor space and 150 cubic feet of air space for each occupant. And it is hereby recommended that all local committees, as soon as practicable, reduce the number of pupils to conform to this basis. In rooms of less than 16 feet height of ceiling the ratio of floor space should be proportionately increased."

And I have before me information to the effect that the Commissioner of Health of Brooklyn "ordered a school to be closed and forbade its re-opening without his special permit," because of the deficiency of cubic space (50 feet) for each of the children attending it, and because of other sanitary defects.

I may here state that the resolution of the Brooklyn Board has not been practically attained, but I think that the example of aiming at perfection in this respect should be followed, and in any case 100 feet should be the minimum space for each infant, and 150 for each of the older children.

As to floor space in some schools as at Balmain, Burwood, Cleveland-street, and at Paddington, it was found in some rooms to be less than 4 square feet, whereas 6 or 7 feet should be the minimum for infants and 8 feet for the older children.

The leased buildings are generally much inferior to those belonging to the Department—some of them appear to have been built with as little idea of architectural beauty as of hygienic excellence, whilst in some of the comparatively new

Departmental schools real efficiency appears to have been to a certain extent sacrificed to outside effect; probably the Palmer-street school is the worst example that can be adduced amongst the leased buildings, it being defective in every possible way; and in the new schools several, notably Cleveland-street and Paddington, in which the windows are not so constructed as to afford the best light obtainable.

The desks and seats provided are not constructed according to the most recent ideas; I would therefore suggest that where new ones are being provided some improved form should be obtained. I would also point out the desirability of carrying out Dr. Clark's suggestion that blinds should be provided, to exclude the sun's direct rays from the rooms.

With regard to the question of latrines, it cannot be too strongly urged that where it is possible to connect with the main sewage system, water-closets should be constructed; where this is impossible, the dry earth system should be used. The old fashioned cesspit is well described as "a relic of a bygone and barbarous age"; it is at once filthy, expensive, and dangerous, and I agree that no time should be lost in substituting some other system.

Dr. Clark's report gives in very minute detail the alterations and improvements which it is necessary to carry out without delay; I therefore have the honor to refer you to it for particulars.

Considering that the State has now made it imperative that children shall go to school, it should follow as a natural consequence that the schools provided should be constructed and maintained in accordance with the dictates of sanitary science, or in such a way as will at any rate not be detrimental to the physical welfare of those attending them; and I would point out that the question whether a child shall be permanently endowed with a sound and robust constitution or with a weak and puny frame may be, and, in my opinion, often is decided in the schoolroom.

I have, &c.,

CHARLES K. MACKELLAR,
President of the Board of Health, and Medical Adviser to the Government.

The Minister of Public Instruction.—A.S., 2/1/84. The Under Secretary of Public Instruction, B.C., 2/1/84.—O.W.

Dr. Clark to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

I have the honor to submit to you my report on the sanitary condition of the Public Schools in Sydney and the immediate neighbourhood.

I shall endeavour here to give the general conclusions I have arrived at, after considering carefully the various conditions observed during my inspections, reserving for a supplementary report detailed descriptions of conditions in any school calling for notice.

The points to which I shall call attention are:—

1. The site of the schools.
2. The construction and general arrangements of the buildings.
3. The ventilation and cubic space.
4. The desks and forms.
5. The lighting.
6. The condition of the water supply, lavatories, and latrines.
7. The general health of the scholars.

1. The site of the schools.

The majority of the schools are situated in positions which are extremely healthy, away from other buildings, in large playgrounds, and fully exposed on all sides to the prevailing winds. In others, whatever prejudicial influence the crowded character of the neighbourhood might have is obviated to a great extent by the elevation of the site. Only a small minority can be said to be absolutely badly situated, of which that at Palmer-street, Woolloomooloo, may be said to be the worst.

It is of course necessary that schools shall everywhere be within a reasonable distance of the homes of the children attending them; and where these are in a crowded, smoky, unhealthy neighbourhood, every effort should be made to neutralize these disadvantages by providing large airy rooms and large playgrounds. Unfortunately in some of the largest schools the playgrounds are very small, as for example at Sussex-street and Cleveland-street.

Playground

A few schools have been built too near to dusty roads; this is objectionable, because it encourages the shutting of windows in windy weather. The playgrounds of many are objectionable for a similar reason; many are asphalted, and this should also be done where the surface is sandy, as at Waterloo, where the feet sink in at every step. Sandy playgrounds are not an unfrequent cause of ophthalmia.

In very few instances have trees been planted or seats provided in playgrounds. In cases where they are, the rest and shade afforded are much sought after, and as children are not naturally given to lounging it may be inferred that on the hot days of summer they supply a real want. Their effect in relieving the monotony of the bare stony playgrounds would be very great.

2. The construction and general arrangements of the buildings.

Construction of buildings.

The public school buildings exhibit considerable diversity of plan, though the principle on which they are built is much the same in all. The temporary leased schools deviate most from the ordinary type, and are generally much inferior. The buildings are ordinarily constructed indifferently of brick or stone according to the locality, and one appears as good as the other. The temporary wooden buildings are excellent on the whole.

Tent schools.

The tent schools are I hear to be discontinued. I found them either very draughty or very close in all cases; they are very difficult to ventilate, very hot and close in summer and cold in winter, and very damp on wet days. The light is very bad, and on windy days the whole structure keeps up a continuous flapping, very distracting to both pupils and teachers. The latter spoke invariably of them in terms of disapprobation.

Schoolrooms.

Painting of walls

The schoolrooms are generally, and especially in those more recently built, lofty, spacious, cheerful, and well-lighted, clean rooms. The walls are usually painted of a light French grey colour, a few are white, but this is not to be recommended,—it is too glaring, and ophthalmia has been considered to have been caused by it in England in some institutions. In almost all the schools the walls were dry. In buildings of two storeys the staircases are generally well lighted and ventilated.

3. The ventilation and cubic space.

Mode of testing purity of air.

It was not possible, owing to the large number of schools to be inspected, to make any special analysis of the air of the rooms, but in most cases it was carefully tested by the sense of smell, which it is well known yields very fairly accurate results. If the organic matter in the air be perceptible to the smell, it may be concluded that the room is not perfectly ventilated or that it is overcrowded.

Conclusions with respect to ventilation.

I have arrived at the following conclusions with respect to the schools I visited:—

1. That where there is a proper construction and arrangement of doors and windows and a sufficiency of cubic space, the rooms on most days of the year can be efficiently ventilated by them.
2. That there are but few days when some windows at least cannot be opened with comfort and safety, the exceptions being the cold windy days of winter and the days on which a hot wind blows in summer.
3. That with the accessory means of ventilation alone (Tobin's tubes, gratings, &c.) the windows being shut and no fire lighted, the ventilation is not thoroughly satisfactory in any school.
4. That when the amount of cubic space is insufficient the air will be close, notwithstanding that the windows are open.

Cubic space required.

1. The amount of cubic space per head necessary has been differently estimated. In Canada the regulations compel the provision of at least 100 cubic feet per head; in Germany the range is from 120 to 284 cubic feet (Combes). The general opinion is that 300 cubic feet is the standard to be aimed at, though not often reached. The majority of the Sydney schools have less than 200 cubic feet per head, and very few as much as 300. I found that when windows and doors were open open the atmosphere was fairly sweet as long as the cubic space exceeded 100 cubic feet but that the most satisfactory results were obtained where the space exceeded 200 cubic feet. In most instances where less than 100 cubic feet, were allowed the air was very close.

In calculating the amount of cubic space I have not counted the space above the wall-plate which exists in most of the rooms, owing to the roof being open. It is not sufficient to increase the height of a room in order to increase the cubic space in it. According to Corfield (Dwelling-houses, p. 15), it is unnecessary to regard any height above 12 feet. I have, however, in calculating cubic space, reckoned the height to the wall-plate, which in some instances exceeds, in others falls short of, that amount. Practically I did not find the atmosphere of rooms with an open roof any better than that of rooms with a ceiling. The reason is that the organic matter given off with the breath does not immediately ascend to the highest part of the room, but is diffused more or less horizontally. No deductions have been made for the furniture of the rooms or the persons of the children.

2. I found as a rule school teachers fully alive to the importance of open windows; and as school hours go on during the warmest part of the day, on average winter days windows could be opened more or less widely. In fact, the question of ventilation is a very different one here to what it is in England, where for several months of the year windows must be to a great extent shut, and consequently more or less artificial methods must be adopted.

3. In almost all rooms visited, when windows and doors were shut, I found the rooms close, even those most recently built, where Tobin's tubes and other inlets are more liberally provided. Parkes states the required area of inlets other than windows and doors at 24 square inches per head, and the same for outlets; but in the best schools here only about half this amount is provided.

This I think should be sufficient, if fires were lighted when it is absolutely necessary to close windows, and there is no doubt that the ventilation and comfort of all the schools would be very much improved thereby. A limited amount of coal or wood might be allowed, with the understanding that it is only to be used on exceptionally cold or wet winter days. Without fires, the only way in which a circulation of air is kept up in the rooms is by the perflating force of the wind, which is not always sufficient. Fires advisable under certain conditions.

The best ventilated rooms were those where Tobin's tubes, in conjunction with gratings near the ceiling are used; the efficiency of the former, however, is diminished in some cases by the aperture in the room being covered over with lids pierced with small holes—often very few. The effect of this is to convert the tube, however large its sectional area, into one of sectional area no greater than that of the combined area of the small holes, which of course is much less. These lids should not be used under ordinary circumstances. Best ventilated rooms.

I should recommend that the temporary wooden buildings be furnished with shafts passing through the roof to carry off foul air from the top of the room, in the corners furthest away from the fire-place, of a sectional area at the rate of 1 square inch for every 50 feet of cubic space for the two combined. Ventilation of temporary wooden buildings.

The windows might be provided with boards about 4 inches wide, for insertion beneath the lower sash when it is raised. A considerable quantity of air would then be projected upwards into the room without causing draught through the space between the meeting bars of the upper and lower sashes. The same principle is carried out at the Prince Alfred Hospital, where, however, the bars of the sashes do not meet, so that even when the window is shut air can pass freely in. The same principle, being very inexpensive and simple, might be adopted in many schools provided with sash windows and an insufficient number of accessory apertures.

4. In a certain number of rooms, even though windows and doors were both open, the air was very bad, chiefly in infants' class-rooms. In all these cases the cubic space and floor space were deficient in quantity. In some cases the former amounted to between 30 and 50 cubic feet, and the latter to between 3 and 4 square feet. At Cleveland-street, which is the worst example, the floor space per head in one of the class-rooms is 3.11 square feet, and the cubic space 26.33 cubic feet, whilst the means of ventilation are very defective. Badly ventilated rooms.

I consider that in no room should less than 100 cubic feet of cubic space and 9 square feet floor space be allowed per head, and that the numbers should be reduced in all those rooms where at present a less amount is provided.

It will be seen from the table that generally speaking far less cubic space is allowed to the infants than to the other children, owing apparently to the facility with which they can be packed together on forms. Considering the necessity there is for fresh air for carrying on the processes of nutrition, so active at an early age, I should recommend that the quantity allowed them be not less than 100 cubic feet of cubic space and 7 square feet of floor space.

4. The desks and forms.

The same model of desks and forms is used in almost all the schools, the exceptions being in the case of the temporary leased buildings, where older patterns are found. On the average about eight children sit at each. In some schools they are all of the same size, in others there are two or more different sizes. In many rooms there was considerable disproportion between the height of the desk and the seat, and children were thrown into an unnatural positions in consequence. Model of desk.

In England and America desks for one or two children only are being generally used, and this admits of children being accommodated with desks suitable to their size, which is impossible when a class containing boys of different sizes is seated at a few long desks. It is the unanimous opinion of the highest authorities that it is of great importance that the desks and forms should be proportionate to the height of the pupils, both for the sake of the eyesight and of the figure; and also that the seats should have backs to them. These are provided in many of the infant, but in almost none of the primary schools. I consider the provision of these of the first importance. Although the teachers evidently make every effort to keep the children sitting straight, the backs of the majority of them were much curved, especially of the girls engaged in sewing. In the schoolrooms the children supply their places by leaning against the desk behind them, but this is uncomfortable, and does not meet the part of the back, where support is most required. I found the teachers almost unanimous in their opinion of the necessity of backed forms being supplied. Backs to forms.

I would suggest that in some of the new schools a trial be made of the American single or double desks exhibited at the Engineers Exhibition, which appeared to me to have all the qualities of an excellent desk and form.

5. The lighting of the rooms.

Most of the rooms are well lighted, especially the new ones. The exceptions are found in the older schools and in the temporary leased buildings, in which the light is often insufficient in quantity or badly directed. In most of the schools the greater part of the light comes from behind, the majority of the windows being in one of the long sides of the rooms and the desks being placed parallel to them. This is not the best position, though there is no great fault to be found with it; preferably the light should come from the left and behind. This would be secured by placing the desks at right-angles to the windows. Lighting of rooms.

The windows should be carried as nearly as possible to the top of the wall, and there should be at least 4 feet between the lower sill and the ground. If they are lower the light from the bottom part is intercepted by the boys' backs, and is therefore useless, and when they are opened the head is in a draught. In the new schools the windows are excellent as a rule—those at Bondi especially. Windows.

The combined area of all windows should be equal to one-fifth of the floor space. The average in the schools will be seen in the table.

The chief faults are:—Windows facing the pupils (in which case the light dazzles their eyes); too narrow windows; windows huddled together into one end of a wall, the other part being left bare; insufficiency of quantity; improper glazing, as by diamond panes. Faults in windows.

Verandahs are erected before the windows of some schools, and on dull days cause considerable loss of light. The windows should, as a rule, be built with a southern aspect, and where this is not possible blinds should be provided for keeping out the sun's direct rays. Venetians are preferable, as interfering least with the ventilation. They are much wanted in several schools where to keep out the sun the windows have to be shut, and even then the object is only half secured. The long continuance of an excess is known to be as prejudicial to the eyesight as a deficiency of light.

6. The condition of the water supply, lavatories, and latrines.

In the schools in Sydney and the immediate neighbourhood the water from the main Botany reservoirs is used; those in the outlying districts have large underground tanks in which the rain-water from the roofs is collected. In some cases they have been built too near the cesspits. As long as they are in good order this does not matter, but should any flaw occur in the cement there would be a risk of percolation of impure liquid into them from the subsoil. The water, as a rule, Water supply.

is fairly potable, but always more or less contaminated by impurities from the roofs. It would be a great advantage if filters were provided, especially in the larger schools.

Lavatories.

The lavatories are not much used, as children are supposed to come clean and tidy to school, only those who have dinner at school using them as a rule. Generally speaking, tin basins, movable and filled with water from the pump, are used; but in some of the larger schools there are fixed basins with permanent water supply, discharging by a waste pipe into a drain. Care should be taken in structures of this kind that the waste pipe be trapped immediately below its point of exit from the basin, and that the waste pipe below this should not discharge directly into the drain but on to a grating outside the building leading through another trap into the drain. The space beneath the basins should be covered in in such a way that it can be easily got at for purposes of inspection. I do not think that traps are provided to any of these pipes, and at the Fort-street School, where the lavatory is used as a class-room, frequent complaint is made of an objectionable smell being sensible, which is doubtless owing to sewer gas ascending through this channel.

The question of systematic ablution before school-time of all the children is perhaps rather one of school discipline than of sanitation, but I think the establishment of a "washing parade" could not but be beneficial. In some schools children's faces and hands had anything but a clean appearance, though this was quite exceptional.

Latrines.

The system of excrement disposal is one of the most unsatisfactory features of the Public Schools, and in this respect the new ones, perhaps in other respects excellent, are in no way superior or are even inferior to some of a far earlier date. The latrines are, in the majority of schools, old and new, built over cesspits, in which the excrement accumulates more or less rapidly, and is removed after periods of months or years. In some cases the bottom of the pit is lined with brick or stone, in others it is formed by the earth itself. In the former case, or if the soil happens to be a clay one as it is frequently, the liquids are retained in the mass and aid the decomposition which, in this warm climate, goes on pretty rapidly. Foul gases are being continuously given off, of which generally the only way of exit is through the seat into an often imperfectly ventilated building. When the subsoil consists of loose sand or some equally permeable material the liquid drains away into it, and provided there is no well near or watercourse to pollute, the system is at its best, for decomposition of the solid does not then go on so rapidly. In almost all these places, however, there was a very disagreeable smell, and in some it was almost unbearable. Besides the possibility of injury being gradually done to the health by breathing this atmosphere, if only for a few minutes every day, there is great risk that they may prove centres of infection for typhoid fever, if used by a child suffering from it in the early stage, as is not unlikely to happen. Some cases which occurred at Botany Public School may have been caused in this way. There is also some reason for supposing that an outbreak of diphtheria was connected with them. Where, as at Cleveland-street and others, they are built near the main building, they are more objectionable than ever, foul air from them being often blown through the windows into the schoolrooms, and adding very seriously to the impurity of the atmosphere. They have been universally condemned in England, and can only be looked on as relics of a bygone and barbarous age. The expense of cleaning out the large ones (see report on Glebe school) is very considerable. A disinfectant of uncertain composition is used in several, but all that it can be said to do is to mitigate rather than neutralize the evil odours arising from the pit.

Water-closets are used at Fort-street, William-street, and a few other schools. Where connection with sewers is possible, they are undoubtedly the most satisfactory method of dealing with the question, and their cleanliness and freedom from smell were in marked contrast with the state of the others. In constructing new ones, however, care should be taken to ventilate the soil pipes, which does not appear to have been done in any of the existing ones.

Where, however, water-closets cannot be used, we have to consider what alternative shall be adopted.

There is no doubt that when a regular and sufficient supply of dry earth can be provided, and regular removal of the soil carried out, together with strict supervision, the earth-closet system is the best; and though it may present some difficulties, I believe there are none which could not be overcome. The city of Brisbane is I believe entirely, or at least in great part, sewaged in this way, and successfully. I should recommend that it be adopted experimentally in a few schools, and if successful, which no efforts should be spared to make it, that it be used in all. In schools in the large suburbs, contractors would probably undertake to furnish a regular supply of earth, and in the outlying districts it might be possible to make arrangements with a neighbouring European or Chinese gardener for the carrying out of the system. Of course, to make it a success, the most careful attention to detail is required, and it may be said that it would be difficult to get either teachers or children to conform to it. Though this might be the case in some instances, I do not think it would in all. Many teachers of their own accord complained of the nuisance caused by the present system, and suggested this as an alternative. The chief difficulty would be with the children. But I submit that at the present day, when cities are increasing, and the sewage question one of great importance, the inculcation of the principles and of a practical knowledge of sanitary arrangements is of very great moment, and should be made as much a part of school discipline as anything else. It is well known that the greatest impediment to the spread of sanitary knowledge and practice is the ignorance and apathy of the bulk of the population. The child who at school has been habituated to such a system as the present one will probably think it quite good enough for his home afterwards, where it is a far more serious nuisance even than here, and would be equally alive to the advantages of decency and cleanliness if placed in his way. There are, however, no doubt many places where it would be very difficult or impossible to procure the requisite supply of earth. For these I would suggest the trial of the pail system, as used in Rochdale, and described in the report of the Medical Officer to the Privy Council, New Series, No. II. Something of this kind is used at the Manly Beach school, where a rectangular galvanized iron receptacle is placed beneath the seat, and removed and emptied every week. Even this is far superior to the ordinary state of things, and but little smell was noticeable, but it would be far better if they could be emptied daily, and in a large school it would be absolutely necessary to have them changed at shorter intervals than of a week.

Disposal of urine.

The disposal of the urine offers some difficulty in either of these cases. In the small country schools, where the number of pupils is small, it could be conducted into a bucket from the urinal, which could be emptied daily away from the house, or it could be used in conjunction with the house slops for irrigating the garden, if there were one, or in large schools it might be collected in an iron tank, which could be emptied at certain intervals and removed together with the soil.

Urinals.

The urinals are almost invariably concrete or stone trenches, accommodating from one to six or eight boys. It would be far better if partitions were provided, for the sake of decency.

I have not entered at any length into the question of disinfectants, as with a well conducted system of earth-closets or pails removed at sufficiently frequent intervals they would be but little required, and expense would so far be saved.

The privy buildings are in many cases dark and badly ventilated; in the construction of new ones, I would suggest that the plan carried out at Camperdown school be followed, as securing the largest amount of light and fresh air.

For examples of some of the worst of the present arrangements, reference may be made to the reports on Glebe, Cleveland-street, and Fitzroy-street schools.

It cannot be too strongly insisted that the present system is bad in principle and practice, and there can be no doubt that its abolition would be well worth any reasonable outlay, either on the first cost or the working expenses of a different system.

7. The general health of the children.

General health of children.

The health of the children is on the whole exceedingly good. With the exception of measles, zymotic diseases appear to be not common. Last year (1882) there were twelve cases of typhoid fever at Botany school, the teacher also being attacked, and in the summer of this year several cases of diphtheria occurred among scholars of North Sydney school; in a few others one or two cases of typhoid have occurred within the last two or three years. As might be expected, the children in suburban schools are more rosy and well-looking than those in the city, and there can be no doubt that the appearance of those who are taught in well lighted and ventilated rooms is better than that of those who are in dark or badly ventilated ones. I have indeed no hesitation in saying, that in the most overcrowded and unsuitable rooms, as at Palmer-street, Cleveland-street, Fitzroy-street, and others, the health of the children was manifestly impaired. Their faces were sallow and pallid, their expression listless and weary; fainting, headaches, bleeding at the nose, have been among the more acute manifestations. It is the almost universal opinion that continued breathing of a vitiated atmosphere causes a gradual deterioration of the constitution, a diminished power of resistance and increased predisposition to the attacks of acute diseases, a diminution of mental and bodily vigour during exposure to it. Allowance must be made for the fact that some of the more crowded schools are situated in crowded and, it may, be unhealthy districts, where the children may have sprung in the first instance from an unhealthy stock, and in their own homes may be subjected to unfavourable influence, such as insufficient or improper feeding; and again, to close and overcrowded sleeping-rooms. It is, however, precisely for such children that the most favourable conditions are most necessary. The most overcrowded rooms, as a rule, are in the infants' departments, and the young children are thus exposed to injurious at a time when they are especially in need of salutary influences.

Several

Several cases of sore eyes (granular ophthalmia) were reported from Waterloo schools, due probably to the combined effects of close, badly ventilated rooms, and a sandy neighbourhood. A few isolated cases have been noted at others, but as a rule the schools have been remarkably free from this complaint.

In many schools there is a greater or less number of children under the age of five years. Many teachers object to receiving them so young, and it is very questionable in the first place if at that age the brain is capable of assimilating much; and in the second, if it is advisable to keep children so young for over four hours in an atmosphere often vitiated, and in a cramped and confined position. Simple extension exercises and drill are practised at all the schools, and apparently with the best possible effects, the children, as a rule, walking and standing erect, though some allowance must probably be made for their being under observation at the time.

In one of the large public schools in England a record is kept of the age, height, and weight of every boy at the time of his entering the school, and the change in the two latter particulars noted from time to time. If this were done in the larger schools here, valuable data for estimating the physical characters of the rising generation would be in time accumulated.

The sanitary condition of the Public Schools, as far as regards the health of the children, is on the whole very fair. The most urgent requirements are the diminution of overcrowding in certain rooms, and the reformation of the latrine system.

The former can of course only be provided for by increased accommodation, which will necessarily imply the outlay of a good deal of money; the initial or subsequent cost of the latter I do not think should be very great.

It may, however, be confidently stated that whatever the cost of carrying out any necessary sanitary improvements be, the money will be well laid out, and will bring in an ample return in the increased vigour of both the mind and body of the rising generation.

Ashfield.

Boys' school-room. A very fair type of school. Boys' schoolroom rather close; windows not sufficiently open. There is an insufficient number of ventilating apparatus. Girls' schoolroom close, although windows open; cubic space per head only 80·5 cubic feet. This is in a leased building, adjoining the main school.

Girls' school-room. In the infants' school the forms are placed too far forward on the stages, so that the children's legs hang over the edge of the stages, and cannot reach the ground except by being tucked under the form, which causes them to sit in an uneasy position, and makes them uncomfortable and restless. The forms should be shifted. The children are healthy-looking, and they sit in very fair positions. A few boys with their eyes too near the desks whilst writing. The girls have a tendency to stoop generally. Their forms have no backs.

Privies. The privies are over cesspits; smell decidedly perceptible, but not so bad as in some; they are all clean. The girls' closets are dark. Earth-closets are used in the borough; why should they not be here?

Adolphus-street, Balmain.

Atmosphere of schoolroom. A leased building. The atmosphere of the main school was sweet and the cubic space adequate, but the light is defective in quantity and badly distributed. The windows have diamond panes, and only a small portion of them can be opened.

Forms and desks. The forms are not high enough to suit the size of the desks, and the result is that the children are forced to sit in unnatural positions, and their eyes are brought too near their books. Every requisite for deteriorating the sight exists in this room, though no cases are known to exist.

Infants' school-room. There is a hexagonal class-room used for infants only; there are windows in alternate sides of the room. The children here were not very healthy-looking, but I do not know that this can be attributed to the room; it was not close.

Appearance of children. The children in the rest of the school have a fairly healthy appearance.

Playground. The playgrounds are too small, and adjoin the back yards of the neighbouring houses with their offices.

Balmain.

Boys school—State of ventilation, &c. The boys' schoolroom atmosphere was fairly sweet, the windows being generally open. The only subsidiary ventilation is by an opening between the roof and the wall-plate. It is said to be draughty in winter.

Lighting. The light all comes from windows in front of the scholars, which is wrong; it is sufficient in quantity.

Desks and forms. Desks and forms all of the same size. The boys' positions are good as a rule, and their appearance is healthy.

Boys' class-room. The desks in the boys' class-room are too crowded together: only 1 ft. between them. The atmosphere rather close, though windows open—there is no other means of ventilation.

Girls' school. Girls' school atmosphere rather close—a few windows open. The only other ventilation is by the chimney, five louvres in the roof, and six air-bricks (12" x 6"). The louvres are all on one side of the roof—there is no apparent reason why none should be on the other. The desks all of same size.

Girls' class-room. The girls' class-room is a very fair room, but hats and cloaks are hung up in it; room should be found for them outside.

Infants' school. Infants' school-room a good room on the whole; air sweet.

Forms. The forms should have backpieces. See below, account of infants' class-room.

Playground. The playgrounds are both small, but that for the girls is the larger. Great complaint is made of the dust from them in windy weather, which would be prevented by asphaltting.

Privies. The privies are over cesspits. The accommodation is adequate, but the one for girls smells very badly, and the boys is decidedly unpleasant. Disinfectants are used every fortnight. The cesspit of the girls' side gets filled with water during rain. Decomposition of the excreta must be considerably increased by this, owing to disturbance of the mass and increase of liquid.

Infants' class-room. The air in the infants' class-room is sometimes very bad, though it was not specially so at the time of my visit, on account of a very small attendance. When the full number of children is present the floor space for each is only 3·82 feet, and the cubic space 57·39. The ventilation is defective; it would be improved by making an aperture in the wall opposite the windows and introducing Tobin's tubes in the angles of the room, but the number of children should be reduced one-half at least.

Balmain West.

This is an excellent school on the whole.

Boys' school. The boys' schoolroom is rather close—there are too many in it; cubic space barely 100 cubic feet per head. The ventilation should be good with a smaller number of pupils, but would be improved by more inlets near the ceiling. Blinds are required for west window. It is a well-lighted, cheerful room.

Girls' school. Atmosphere not at all close in the girls' school. The windows were open, and there are several subsidiary ventilators; ten Tobin's tubes, and two large louvred openings in each end wall, with a simple square aperture on each side of them.

Desks. The desks are all of the same size.

Infants' school, No. 1. Infants' school, No. 1. Air is said to be always sweet by the teacher. Children had only just come in at the time of my visit. This is a very well-lighted, cheerful room. Ventilation is greatly assisted by three apertures in the wall opposite the windows (each 3 ft. x 2 ft.), closed by wooden deadlights opening inwards by hinges at lower part.

Forms. The forms of the gallery have back-pieces, but they also are placed too near the edge of the stages. The seat is 15 inches from the floor, and it is impossible for the children's feet to reach the floor.

Infants' room, No. 2. The infants' No. 2 room is a very good room.

Infants' class-room. The infants' class-room was decidedly close, and it is said to be always so. The floor space per head is only 3·5 feet, and the cubic space 45·5 feet, so this cannot be wondered at. The numbers should be reduced at least one-half: at present eighty children occupy a space 20 ft. x 14 ft. in area, and 13 ft. high. About twenty-five to thirty is the ordinary number that should be here.

The

The windows in the No. 2 infants' and girls' schoolroom have coloured glass windows, with pictures of various animals on them. The effect of these is exceedingly pleasing, but of course a good deal of light is lost by them. Windows.

The children all have the appearance of good health. Health of children.

The privies are over cesspits, which have not been cleaned out for some time. Both boys' and girls' departments are badly lighted and ventilated; there are no means of passing a free current of air through the houses. The boys' urinal is inside the house, and the floor is wet and sloppy; the smell is unpleasant. Privies.

The lavatory accommodation is not sufficient. There are only four basins for 280 boys, and the same number for 180 girls and 400 infants respectively. Lavatories.

Balgowlah.

This school is simply a large room in what appears to be an ordinary weatherboard cottage, and is presumably of a temporary character.

I could see nothing specially calling for notice from a sanitary point of view, except that the boys and girls both go to the same privy-house, though different compartments are provided for each.

Bankstown.

The school-building is a very fair one, and calls for no special notice. School-building.

The children were in good health, and, as far as is known, generally have been.

The water-tank, which is used by both teacher and children, is too small. It has run dry three times during the last two years. When this is the case, the only water obtainable is from a waterhole at the bottom of the hill below the school-house. It is muddy to look at, and, according to the teacher, very objectionable to taste. It very possibly receives drainage from the cesspits. Water-tank.

Blakehurst.

The atmosphere of the schoolroom was very close; every window shut. The teacher says there is a good deal of draught, but there is no apparent reason why there should be. Schoolroom.

One case of typhoid fever in a scholar occurred last April. About eighteen children suffered a short time back from sore eyes, but are well now. Cases of illness.

The number of inlets is not sufficient to keep the room sweet without open windows. There are no louvres in the roof; they should be added as in the other schools. Ventilation.

The forms in the infants' gallery have back-pieces, but these are too perpendicular and the seat is too narrow—only 6½ inches. Forms.

Botany.

Air rather close: windows mostly shut in the schoolroom.

In 1882 the head teacher and twelve of the children suffered from typhoid fever; five of the children died. Primary school-room.

The western wall of the schoolroom is damp.

The upper sashes of the windows cannot be opened; this should be attended to, as otherwise they cannot be used so satisfactorily for purposes of ventilation. The water for the teachers' and scholars' use is drawn from a surface well not many yards from his cesspit, and the contamination of it by percolation from the cesspit, the soil being a sandy one, must be considered possible. The water appeared clear and wholesome enough. The pupils' privies are at some distance from well, but are not more than 150 yards from one of the dams containing Sydney water. There was not much smell. No disinfectants are used. I consider that if earth-closets are required anywhere it is here; there is abundance of sandy soil which could be used for them.

Bondi.

Primary Schoolroom.

This is an excellent room. The points specially to be commended are: (1.) The height of the windows from the floor; the sashes are easily raised and lowered by cords and pulleys. (2.) The light is good and well distributed. (3.) The subsidiary ventilation is good, though the amount of ventilating area is not quite equal to the theoretical amount (7 square feet instead of 10). Schoolroom. Ventilation.

The general appearance of the room is very light and cheerful; it is said to be always sweet.

The orifice of the Tobin's tubes is covered with a plate perforated with a few sparsely scattered small holes. The result of this is to convert a wide tube into one of sectional area no greater than the combined area of the small holes. I should suggest the removal of these lids; at the same time it will be necessary to inspect the tubes, lest the children block them with paper, &c. Tobin's tubes.

The general appearance of the children was good.

The privies are over cesspits in separate buildings. In both there is an unpleasant smell, but that in the girls' department is excessively so; the odour is suggestive of a dead animal being in the pit. Appearance of children. Privies.

No disinfectants are used.

Botany-street.

This is a leased school.

The rooms are large; there is abundance of cubic space in the two large schoolrooms.

In the lower room the desks are a great deal too high—2 feet 6 inches to the front edge. The children's eyes are brought too near to their books, and their shoulders are raised unnaturally. The seats are of old-fashioned construction—they have a piece let down from behind, which forms a back for the seat in front.

The children were generally healthy.

West Botany.

The walls of this school are painted white, which makes them very dazzling to the eyes. In England ophthalmia has been found prevalent in institutions with white walls, and I do not think it is to be recommended.

The school building is a very fair one, and calls for no special mention in other respects.

Brisbane-street.

This is only a temporary leased building. The children were not very robust in appearance; this is doubtless in great measure owing to the circumstances in which they live at home. The cubic space is however defective, and the infants were too closely packed in their gallery.

One case of chronic ophthalmia observed.

Burwood.

The boys' school is an extremely light and cheerful-looking room. There is a light green dado running round the room, exceedingly pleasing to the eye. The atmosphere was perfectly sweet. Boys' school.

The infants' schoolroom was rather close at the time of my visit, and it is said to be sometimes very close in summer. The cubic space is only 73.50 cubic feet per head. Infants' school.

The infants' class-room was close, though all the windows were wide open. The cubic space per head is only 34 cubic feet, and the floor space 3 square feet, which are quite inadequate. This room should not contain more than twenty-five to thirty children; as it is, there are eighty in a space 15 feet by 16 feet and 11½ feet high. The forms have no back pieces, they should be furnished with them. Infants' class-room.

The privies are over cesspits. They smell offensively, but not so badly as many others. They were cleaned out some time back, at a cost (according to the teachers) of £50. A short time ago the municipal authorities complained of a disagreeable smell from them being sensible in the road which they adjoin, especially at night. Privies.

The girls' schoolroom is in the Council Chambers, on the opposite side of the road.

The atmosphere was decidedly close, though all the windows open. The cubic space per head only 59.8 cubic feet, and the floor space 4.88 square feet. Girls' school.

Headaches are frequently complained of by the girls.

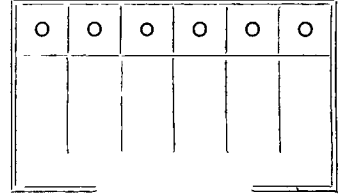

There

There is plenty of light and air in the class-room. The schoolroom is overcrowded, and the numbers should be reduced. The playground is a large one, and I would suggest the advisability of building a temporary girls' schoolroom in it.

There are no back pieces to the forms in the class-rooms, and when I saw them the girls were sitting sewing, with very round backs. The teacher has to be constantly "telling them to sit up straight."

Camperdown.

- This school has been built too near to a very dusty road.
- Boys' school. Boys' school.—Atmosphere not close. A light, well-ventilated room. The seats on the gallery are too narrow for boys—only 6½ inches wide. The windows are at a good elevation—7 feet 6 inches from lower sill to the floor. The desks are all of the same size.
- Girls' school. Girls' school.—A very good room.
- Girls' class-room. Girls' class-room.—The gallery seats are of a size adapted rather to infants. Width 6½ inches, height 12 inches, and height of back piece 9 inches. I saw some girls sitting on them with their bodies bent into all sorts of positions.
- Babies' room. Babies' room.—The children were packed too closely in their gallery, the air near them close. Some had a tired and worn look.
- Privies. The privies are over cesspits. The house is different in plan to most of the others. There is a large wide arched opening in front instead of at the side as in the others. The light and ventilation are very much improved by this plan. I would suggest that future privies be constructed after this plan in new schools. The ventilation would be still further improved by making smaller louvred openings in each compartment, rather than one or two longer ones towards the centre of the wall. The buildings should have been placed more towards the further end of the playground; as it is they are close to the playsheds in the centre of it.

- Playground. The playground is said to be badly drained, and in wet weather to get flooded with water, which will not readily run away.

Canterbury.

- Atmosphere of rooms. The atmosphere of both schoolroom and class-room was very close—worse in the latter, where the children were closely packed. The windows were shut in both rooms. It was a warm day, but the room is said to be draughty when windows are open; it is not apparently more so than others. The white paint on the wall is too glaring. (See Camperdown.)
- Privies. The privies are as usual over cesspits. Earth-closets are not used in the neighbourhood, but there are said to be many Chinese gardens, whose occupants would probably be glad to undertake the removal of the soil if they were used. The general health of the children is to all appearances good.

Chippendale.

Primary Schoolroom.

- Schoolroom. A large but badly ventilated room. The desks are old-fashioned and rickety, and slope too much; they are disproportionate to the size of a good many children. There is a nasty mouldy smell about the room; the windows were shut at the time of my visit, and I dare say are not often opened.
- Playgrounds. The playgrounds are very small.
- Infants' school. The infants' school is said to get very close in summer, it was not specially so at my visit, but there are only 86·14 cubic feet per head. During the last six months five children have had ophthalmia. The room is only ventilated by the windows.
- Privies. The boys' privies smelt very disagreeably though they are disinfected in the usual way twice a week. There is a 4-inch pipe passing from the cesspit through the roof, but it is broken in half at the level of the seat, and should be repaired. The house is badly ventilated, the urinal is inside, and the floor is wet and sloppy with urine which leaked from it.
- Lavatory. The girls' closets are cleaner. The lavatory accommodation is very defective. The girls only have a small trough, and the boys have to wash at the tap.

Cleveland-street.

- Boys' school. The air was rather close in the boys' schoolroom, though windows were open. Cubic space only 122 cubic feet, and floor space 6 square feet. The light of the room is not well distributed—some parts are dark, and others have too much light. The windows are too much huddled together. The upper sashes will not open.
- Basement and lavatory. Classes are held in the basement and lavatory; the light in the former is not good in the afternoon. In the basement part no forms have back pieces.
- Boys' class-room. The boys' class-room was close. In the inner wall are two rectangular windows opening into the basement room. This simply allows foul air to pass from one room into another. There is no ventilation otherwise than by windows, and as these and the doors are on the same side of the room it is difficult for the room to get thoroughly flushed.
- Girls' school-room. Girls' schoolroom.—This is a very fair room. The desks are all of the same size, and there are no back pieces to the gallery forms.
- Infants' school room. Infants' schoolroom.—A large room and the air good, but for ventilation there is nothing but eight louvres in the roof, beside the windows. The seats in the gallery have no backs. The desks are in height 2 feet 2 inches to the front edge, and the corresponding forms 16 inches high and 8 inches wide. They are both too large for the majority of the children, and smaller should be substituted. The children are forced to keep their eyes a great deal too near their books.
- Hat-room. A hat and cloak room is used as a class-room; it has only one window, and the air entering through the door comes directly from the latrines. The atmosphere of this room was abominably close. It should not be used as a class-room.
- Infants' class-room in basement. The atmosphere of the infants' class-room in the basement was very close indeed. The floor space per head is only 3·11 square feet, and the cubic space 41·65 cubic feet. There were about sixty girls present (this is the average number), and the dimensions of the room are 21 ft. x 14 ft., with a height of 8½ ft. The girls sew in here; they are said to often complain of sickness and to get headaches. The forms have no back pieces, which causes them to sit round-shouldered at their work. They did not look healthy. This room is, if possible, worse than the last described, as, in addition to being overcrowded, what air from the outside does reach the room comes charged with cesspit effluvium. It is not suitable for a class-room.
- Girls' class-room in basement. This is certainly one of the worst rooms in all the schools in its present state. Girls' class-room in basement.—This room is only 7 yards distant from the privies, and the smell of the disinfectant used in them could be distinctly perceived. The atmosphere was extremely close; the floor space per head was only 4·9 square feet, and the cubic space 41·65 cubic feet. There were about sixty girls present (this is the average number), and the dimensions of the room are 21 ft. x 14 ft., with a height of 8½ ft. The girls sew in here; they are said to often complain of sickness and to get headaches. The forms have no back pieces, which causes them to sit round-shouldered at their work. They did not look healthy. This room is, if possible, worse than the last described, as, in addition to being overcrowded, what air from the outside does reach the room comes charged with cesspit effluvium. It is not suitable for a class-room.
- Playgrounds. The playgrounds are both too small, but the boys play also in the Prince Alfred Park. They are both asphalted.
- Privies. The privies are over cesspits. The boys' does not smell much, though the house is only ventilated by louvres in the front wall. It is dark; the only light is through the side doors and the louvres. Disinfectants are used two or three times a week, and certainly seem in this case to have some influence in keeping down smell. The boys have a urinal, which can be flushed with water from a tap, and is said to discharge into the cesspit. If this be so, the fluid presumably finds its way from there into the subsoil. There is much more smell in the girls' privy, and this is too near the main building. The urinal connected with it cannot be flushed, and should have water laid on. It is advisable, if it can be done, to replace these cesspits by water-closets discharging into the sewers. Coogee.

Coogee.

A strong westerly wind was blowing at the time of my visit, and all the school windows were shut. The only other means of ventilation is through eight louvres in the roof, and though the cubic space per head is 263·2 cubic feet the air was close. A fire in the room would have greatly improved matters in this respect. Ventilation and state of atmosphere in school-room.

The general health of the children was good, but a child died of typhoid in April; there is no special reason to suppose it was contracted at school, except that the water from the tank (to be mentioned) may have been drunk; that is said, however, to have been closed for some time past. There have been cases of it in the neighbourhood, and two children have been sent home on account of other members of the family being attacked. Health of children.

The water in the tank collecting rain-water from the roofs was exceedingly foul and turbid, and had not been used for some time. The schoolmaster attributes it to possible defects at the part where the drain-pipe from his house-sink crosses the down pipe from the roof; at any rate an investigation should be made. At present water is drawn from a well 5 feet or so in depth, at the lower part of the playground; it appeared, and is said to be invariably, sweet and good.

The privies are in the highest part of the playground, which is on the slope of the hill. The smell was noticeable from the outside, but was not so disagreeable as in some of the other schools. Privies.

There is a market garden at the bottom of the playground, the owner of which has professed his readiness to take the soil if earth-closets were used, if paid for doing so.

Crown-street.

There is nothing calling for special notice in the boys' schoolroom and class-room—they are both fairly lighted and ventilated. Boys' school-room and class-room.

The small boys' class-room contained between forty and fifty boys, and was very close and stuffy. Small boys' class-room.

The girls' school and class rooms are also good rooms, especially the former. Girls' school and class-rooms.

The infants' rooms are all very fair, except the head infants' class-room, where there is a complaint of much draught on cold days. A good deal of cold air apparently comes through two large iron gratings in the roof, which often act as inlets rather than as outlets. Infants' rooms.

Waterclosets are used here, and were all except one or two in good order and free from unpleasant smells. Latrines.

The lavatories are the same as at Fort-street in construction, and in good order. Lavatories.

This is decidedly one of the best of the older schools. The remarks on desks and forms made in the general report are applicable here, but there is nothing else except the reduction of the numbers in the boys' class-room (small) calling for special attention. Fifteen or twenty is the largest number that should be taught here. General.

Devonshire-street.

This is a leased building, and only infants are received. There is no playground. There is nothing particularly objectionable from a sanitary point of view.

Darlinghurst.

These are temporary wood buildings, and are the same in character as the others.

In the infants' schoolroom the forms are pitched too near the edge of the stages, as in some of the other schools, and should be placed further back. Blinds are wanted for the windows, as the sun shines directly in during part of the day. The windows are shut, with the effect of only partially mitigating the light, whilst ventilation is checked. Venetians are the most suitable, as they do not interfere with the latter.

Water-closets are used, and were in good order. There is no ventilation of the soil pipe, but there was no smell sensible, and the arrangements contrast most favourably with the usual cesspit privies. Privies.

Druitt Town.

This school is in a satisfactory condition generally.

The schoolroom walls are painted a glaring white; this should not be done again.

Double Bay.

At the time of my visit a temporary wooden building was being used, but as the new buildings were finished and shortly to be occupied, I paid attention chiefly to them.

The health of the children was to all appearances good.

The rooms in the new buildings are generally well lighted cheerful rooms. The ventilation is good, though not theoretically perfect.

The walls have been painted white, which is objectionable, for reasons stated in another report. The Burwood schoolroom may be taken as a model of how these rooms should be painted.

Venetians will be required for the primary school windows, also for the infants' schoolroom and infants' class-room.

The lavatories are very good. Lavatories.

The privy houses are loftier and better lighted and ventilated than usual. It is to be regretted that the cesspitsystem is to be used. Privies.

Dundas.

This school calls for no special remark except that there is a very disagreeable smell in the privies; the surface of the soil is within about 4 feet of the seat. Girls and boys have different compartments in the same house. The sooner the cesspit is cleared out and done away with the better.

Darlington.

The school is too near to a dusty road. The rooms are well lighted and ventilated, with the exception of the infants' room in which the light is bad in dull weather. The girls' schoolroom is a very good one, and the children appeared very healthy and bright.

The usual cesspit arrangements smell no worse than usual. Disinfectants used twice a week. Privies.

The discharge pipe of the infants' urinal was apparently blocked, as it had overflowed and there was a large pool of stagnant urine on the floor of the adjoining closet. This should be attended to.

Enfield.

A leased building.

There are no means of ventilating the primary schoolroom except by open windows, and if these have to be shut the room gets at once very close.

The desks are old-fashioned—the top slopes too much. The forms are too high.

The class-room was close and stuffy; it used to be a room of the teacher's residence.

The playground is small, and boys and girls play together in it. The privies are in adjacent corners. Playground

There is no urinal provided for the boys, who make water on the ground inside the court. I could see one doing it from the middle of the playground. The boys' privy is in a dilapidated condition. Part of the back wall immediately below the roof has fallen in, and the bricks have fallen through the seat and partly filled the space beneath it. The feces are scattered over them, and the whole appearance is very disgusting. The ground in the court is covered with stinking mud and small pools of urine. Privies.

The girls' closet is clean and there is not much smell, but the walls are rotten and appear ready to fall at a moment's notice.

The remedy for these conditions is obvious.

Five Dock.

There is nothing calling for special notice about this school, except for the latrine arrangements; it is a good one. Fort-street,

Fort-street.

- Boys' and girls' schoolrooms. Boys' and girls' schoolrooms.—The atmosphere was rather close in both these rooms, though windows were open. The door is at the end of the rooms, and there is no facility for passing a current of air from side to side. The windows are all opposite the pupils, consequently the light shines in their face ; it is sufficient in quantity. The forms are all of the same height, and without back pieces. There are two sizes of desk. The teacher has to be constantly telling the girls to keep their backs straight ; those whom I saw sewing were sitting with their shoulders very rounded.
- Boys' class-room in detached shed. The boys' class-room, in a detached shed, is an extremely draughty room, and teachers and boys have to sit with their hats on in cold weather. There is a space left between the bottom of the side walls and the floor about 2 inches wide, through which, in winter, wind blows, and is very cold to the feet. Another cause of cold feet is the floor, which is paved with Field's tiles. Cocoa-nut matting should be provided for next winter, and the air space closed up at the floor level if the room be still used. The light is bad. The roof in parts requires repairs.
- Boys' lavatory. This room is very unsuitable as the class-room of so important a school. I should suggest that it be pulled down, and one of the ordinary wooden temporary buildings erected instead.
- Boys' class-room. The boys' lavatory is used as a class-room. Unpleasant smell is sometimes noticed in the morning ; it is probably due to sewer gas coming through the sink pipes ; whether they are trapped or not does not matter, for they are never used. The outlets in the basins should be plugged. A room in front of the buildings has lately been used as a class-room for boys. It is a close, dark, and dismal room, and the cubic space per head (69·8 cubic feet) is insufficient. The light is cut off by a deep verandah outside.
- Infants' school. The infants' schoolrooms, Nos. I and II, are both very fairly lighted and ventilated rooms. The seats have no back pieces.
- Babies' room. The babies' room adjoins, and is similar to the boys' class-room last mentioned. The light is equally bad, and the cubic space per head is only 53·13 cubic feet. To remain in it long must have a depressing effect on both teacher and pupils. The children were not very healthy looking ; they come from some of the back slums of Sydney, and fresh air and light are more than ordinarily necessary for them. Its construction is such that I do not know what could make it a suitable room.
- Girls' lavatory. The girls' lavatory is used as a class-room. The teacher complains of a very disagreeable smell—worse at some times than others, and especially on Monday mornings, after the basins have been disused for two days. It is probably due to sewer gas rising through the waste pipe of the basins. The basins are of patent construction : the water enters and leaves them by the same hole in the bottom. I could not ascertain whether the waste pipes are trapped or not, the space beneath the basins being boarded in. This should never be done in any future work of the kind, as it is always desirable that waste pipes should be readily inspected. The air in Sydney sewers is probably always more or less high pressure, and it is quite possible that trapping would not deal entirely with the evil. I should suggest that instructions be given always to keep the basins full of water, so that the waste pipe would be sealed. The room should not, however, be used, in view of the possible risk of contamination of the air. Sewer gas is a potent cause of insidious deterioration of the health, and a not infrequent one of acute febrile disorders.
- Infants' lavatory. The space below the basins is also boarded in in the infants' lavatory ; water gets spilt and paper thrown down, so that the place is always more or less damp.
- Privies. Water-closets are provided for all the children. The pans are of the hopper construction, and were all clean, and the houses were free from unpleasant smell, except one of the infants' compartments, which is opposite to a shed in which the urinal is placed, and through which fresh air must pass before reaching the closet. The urinal itself is out of order, and should be repaired. In the court immediately outside there is a good deal of wet mud, the apparent result of leakage from the urinal. The infants' closets have self-flushing apparatus, and all have water-waste prevention apparatus, which, however, is out of order in the boys' closets.

Fitzroy-street.

- Primary school. A leased building. The atmosphere of the primary schoolroom was close and stuffy, though the windows were open. The cubic space per head is 108·47 feet nearly. Both children and teachers often complain of headache, and some have fainted and have had to be carried out from time to time. During the last six months two children have been affected with typhoid and two with scarlet fever. The only ventilation besides the windows is effected by two lanterns in the roof. It is not sufficient, but in any case the room is overcrowded, so the numbers should be reduced by at least one-third, and preferably by one-half. The light is bad ; it comes from behind the scholars, but a good deal is intercepted by the heads of those at the top of the platform. The forms are badly proportioned to the size of the desks ; in some cases they are too high, so that the children stoop ; in others too low, so that their eyes are brought too near their books. The general appearance of the children was not very good ; several had a worn and anxious look about the eyes.
- Infants' school-room. The atmosphere of the infants' schoolroom was a little close. The windows must always be kept open, even in bad weather, or the room at once becomes very close. It is rather draughty. The children have not the look of robust health in this room, but there are no complaints of acute illness as in the others. They were sitting in faulty positions in many cases, their eyes being too near the desks ; this is to be attributed to the forms not being high enough for the desks. The desks are old-fashioned and rickety. There are thirty children in this school under five years of age.
- Infants' class-room. The infants' class-room atmosphere was very close. The cubic space per head is only 52·65 cubic feet, and the floor space nearly 4 square feet. The windows were only half open ; there are no other means of ventilation. The light is only fair. The forms have no back-pieces. The children again were not looking robust, but there were no special complaints.
- Playgrounds. Both playgrounds are far too small.
- Privies There are three seats on the boys' and girls' sides respectively, without partitions. They are over cesspits, which emit a smell decidedly sensible, though not so bad as in some others. The white paint on the walls has in places been completely blackened ; this is doubtless owing to the sulphuretted hydrogen in the emanations from the pit having combined with the lead in the paint. The inhalation of this gas is well known to be prejudicial to health. It must be considered that this school is unsuitable for the number of children, and that the arrangements generally are not at all satisfactory. I do not see how they can be remedied without going to almost as much expense as the erection of a new school would entail, and this would be far more satisfactory in the end.

Forest Lodge.

I inspected the temporary school-building, but there was nothing calling for special remark, and I understand that the permanent school is soon to be opened.

Lower Fort-street.

- Primary school-room. The primary school-room is not well lighted in all parts ; on dull days it is dark. An unpleasant smell sometimes is noticed coming from the latrines. Hats and cloaks are hung up in the room, and in wet weather give rise to very disagreeable effluvia.
- Infants' room. The smaller infants' room was very close, although the children had only been in it for a very short time. The room is overcrowded, and children packed too tightly on their forms. These have no backs, and the children get very round-shouldered. Teachers have to be constantly exercising them to keep them sitting straight.
- Infants' school-room. The large infants' room is roomy, and better ventilated than the last, but the opening of windows is interfered with by the sun in the morning. Blinds should be provided, and the desks which now face the windows should be turned round the other way.
- Latrines. The latrines are water-closets. As long as there is a good supply of water there is no smell, but sometimes this is cut off, and then they are very offensive.
- Suggestions. The numbers in the infants' class-room should be diminished.

Gladesville.

There is nothing calling for notice from a sanitary point of view, except that if earth-closets were substituted for the existing cesspits the earth might be supplied from the adjoining Asylum for the Insane. Glebe.

13

Glebe.

There is nothing special to be said about the boys' and girls' schools. The latter is in a leased building. Boys' and girls' school-rooms. Babies' class-room.—This room is too crowded; there were from seventy-five to eighty children in it. Its dimensions are 19 ft. x 18 ft., and height 9 ft.; the cubic space per head is 41.04 cubic feet, and area 4.56 square feet. There should not be more than thirty here. Babies' class-room.

In the primary infants' room an unpleasant smell is noticed; it comes from the water-closets, which are only about 10 yards away. Primary infants' room.

A shed, where infants are taught, is adjacent to them. Infants' shed, Privies.

The privies are built over cesspits. There was a very disagreeable smell in them, and it is said to be very much worse in warm, calm weather. The urine from the urinal goes into the cesspit, and as there are 220 boys in the school there must be a good deal discharged into it. Say each boy contributes on the average $\frac{1}{4}$ th of a pint, on 250 days of the year the total amount would be about 859 gallons; and this I do not think can be considered an unfair estimate. The bulk of this probably finds its way into the subsoil, polluting it wherever it goes. A certain amount ascends by capillary attraction through the walls of the building, which were damp and mildewy. The same thing doubtless occurs in all these privies, but it was very evident in these. The only ventilation of the cesspit is through the seats, and of the house through the door, outside which, at a distance of $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet, is a wall, so that a free circulation of air probably never takes place through the house.

According to the head teacher the pit has to be cleaned out every six months, at a cost of about £20; it takes three nights to do it.

If there is any place where earth-closets, or at least some alteration of existing circumstances, is required it is here. I should suggest that earth-closets be used, and should not anticipate that their cost would be greater than that of maintaining the present condition.

Greenwich.

This is a well situated and well lighted little school. The air was rather close, all windows being shut, at the time of my visit.

The south wall is damp; during wet weather the rain comes through the bricks.

Hunter's Hill.

This is a very fair school.

The light from the windows behind the children has been cut off by a building erected by the last head master; most of what there is comes from the front and right-hand windows, which is inadvisable, but it is sufficient in quantity.

Hurstville.

The light in this schoolroom is very bad at times; on dull days the teacher says it is almost impossible to give a lesson. Most of the light comes from the front windows, but a good deal of it, and of that coming through the lights at the back, is intercepted by the projection of the roof beyond the wall. The teacher said, without having been questioned on the point, that he thought that the badness of the light was causing nearness of sight amongst the children. Some have to put their eyes very near to the book when reading. Primary school.

The remedy I should suggest for the evil would be to enlarge the windows behind.

The children's general health is said to be always good. I was not able to ascertain for myself the condition of the children's sight, as the school had dispersed at the time of my visit.

The lavatory floor has been eaten by white-ant, and should be repaired. The other arrangements call for no special remark. Lavatory.

Leichhardt.

A new school is in course of construction, so that any detailed account is hardly necessary. The sanitary condition of the rooms at present used is not very good, but there is nothing calling for immediate attention.

Leichhardt West.

This is a temporary wooden building, and the condition is much the same as in all of them.

Blinds should be provided for the windows, as the sun shines in upon the boys' heads and in the teacher's eyes.

Kogarah.

This is a very fair little school.

During this quarter about twenty children have been away owing to measles, which have been very prevalent in the neighbourhood, but otherwise the health of the children is and has been good.

Longueville.

The schoolroom atmosphere was very close; all the windows shut, for no apparent reason.

Six children are now away from school, said to be suffering from itch. The children present were in good health apparently.

The privies have been placed at the bottom of the playground at the foot of a steep slope, so that in rainy weather the floors get very wet.

La Perouse.

This school is in a room in an old wooden building. The room is very draughty: there is no ventilation except through the windows. One of the two windows is very rickety and rotten—the framework barely held together by nails, and two panes have been broken away. The room gets very close; there are fourteen native children attending, whose bodies smell very disagreeably.

The children are in good health now, but last February the school was closed for a week; the schoolmaster, two white, and three native children had "fever." The black children are continually having sore eyes; when this is the case they are made to stay at home.

Two privies have lately been put up over cesspits, but there are no doors and they face the south-east, so that in wet weather they get flooded with water and children have to stand on the seats, which are thus often soiled. Doors at least should be provided. There is a very unpleasant smell in them, and if earth-closets could have been provided it would have been far more satisfactory. This school should be rebuilt.

Macdonaldtown.

A new school is in course of construction here. At the time of my visit children were in tents, about which nothing special need be said here.

Manly Beach.

This is one of the recently constructed schools. The lighting is very good and the ventilation fair, but windows must be opened or the rooms get close. General characters.

Instead of cesspits a large rectangular galvanized iron vessel has been placed beneath each seat, and these are emptied every week. There was very little smell, and the soil hardly covered the bottom. Dry earth should however be provided, and in this neighbourhood should not be a matter of difficulty. Even in their present state these boxes must be looked upon as a vast improvement on the cesspit system, and should have a more extended trial. Privies.

The arrangements generally at this school are very good.

Marrickville.

The light in this schoolroom is not very good. The majority of the windows are in front, and a good deal of light is intercepted by the verandah outside; otherwise it is a good room. Boys' school.

The

Infants' class-room.

The atmosphere in the infants' class-room was very close and oppressive. The teacher complained much of the closeness of the room, and says that children get heavy and stupid in the afternoon. There are generally over 100 present, and the room is 18 feet by 19 feet in dimensions and 13 feet high. The floor space per head is 3.42 square feet, and the cubic space 44.46 cubic feet. The only ventilation beside the windows is by two louvres in the roof. Inlets should be inserted in the outer walls, and the number of children should be reduced to between thirty and forty at most. Blinds are wanted for the windows.

The shed however is used in summer and on warm days; it is in the winter that the necessity for carrying out these suggestions arises.

Newtown.

Certain conditions injurious to health in this school have been already made the subject of an interim report, and have been rectified. The girls' class-room was close—the cubic space allowed per head is only 72.87 cubic feet. The numbers should be reduced one-half. The observations made on the privies at the Glebe applies equally to these. There is nothing else calling for special remark.

Newtown North.

Primary school-room.

The air in this school was very close and oppressive, all the windows being shut. They cannot be kept open during the morning, on account of the sun. Blinds are urgently called for here; venetians would be preferable, as interfering less with ventilation. As in the other schools of this kind, the only ventilation is through the windows.

Infants' school

The same observations apply to the infants' schoolroom.

Paddington.

This school is not generally satisfactory. Most of the class-rooms are over-crowded. The windows in most of the rooms are good examples of what windows should not be—narrow, with pointed arches, and insufficient in area.

The school is built too near the road, the dust from which is at times very objectionable, and interferes with the proper opening of the windows.

Boys' school.

Boys' school.—This is a fair room, only not very well lighted and rather close, though most of the windows were open.

Boys' class-room

The boys' class-room was very close, though the windows were open. The teacher complains much of the closeness of the room—has had headache all the afternoon. The boys have headaches not infrequently, and ask to go out. The cubic space per head is 80.76, and the window area is very small, only about one-fifteenth of the floor space. The number in this room requires reduction.

Boys' shed.

The boys' shed was also close, but not so bad as the last-mentioned room. It would be improved by some form of roof ventilation, say Mackinnel's tubes or louvres, with inlets in the walls near the wall-plate.

Girls' school-room.

The girls' school is badly lighted and ventilated. It is said to be very draughty if the windows are opened in winter. The teachers often suffer from headaches, owing to the closeness of the air when the windows have to be kept shut. In the afternoon the sun's direct rays shine in the faces of the pupils through windows opposite to them; on dull days the room is dark and gloomy.

Girls' class-room.

The girls' class-room is also very close, especially in summer; it is very insufficiently lighted and ventilated. The window space is 1.29th of the floor space, and the cubic space per head only 91.42 cubic feet.

Infants' school-room.

The ventilation in this room is better, but the light as defective as in the last room.

Infants' No. II. schoolroom.

The infants' No. II. school-room is a great contrast to the other rooms. The windows are wide and rectangular, have sashes, and the atmosphere is said to be never unduly close. The forms are without backs.

Infants' shed.

The infants' shed is exactly similar in construction to the boys', and the atmosphere in it was equally close and disagreeable.

Latrines.

The latrines occupy the sides of an octagonal building, through the centre of which a large ventilating shaft passes into the pit. Notwithstanding this, however, a certain quantity of gas must pass up through the seats, which here, as elsewhere, have no lids, into the building. This is however the only structure of the kind in which any attempt at all at efficient ventilation has been made. There was still however a certain amount of smell, though less than in other schools of the same size.

Playground.

The playground is small considering the size of the school, but has a small avenue of trees with seats beneath them, which are much appreciated by the children.

Suggestions.

The ventilation of most of the rooms of this school would be considerably improved by the introduction of Tobin's tubes.

Blinds should be provided for the windows in the girls' schoolroom.

The numbers in the crowded rooms should be reduced.

Palmer-street, Woolloomooloo.

In its general character this school is certainly the worst that I have seen. The building forms one of a row of houses on the west side of the street, and its door opens immediately on to it.

Primary school-room.

With the primary schoolroom there is more fault to be found I believe from a teaching than from a sanitary aspect. There is abundance of cubic space, though the sources from which air enters it may not be very pure. There is said to be a good deal of draught at times. The desks are old-fashioned and slope too much. The children did not look robust—of course in this and other rooms some allowance must be made for the neighbourhood from which they came.

Infants' school-room.

The infants' schoolroom is in the basement of the building. The walls are very grimy and dirty, and have not been painted for a very long time. Two of them are very damp and mildewy. The windows are in one side of the room only, on the same side as the door. In the opposite wall is a door leading into a narrow space between the floor of the room above and the back, which has been apparently excavated to allow of this room being built. This space contained rubbish of various kinds, and there was a musty stale smell coming from it. The teachers open this door in summer for the sake of the draught, this being the only way in which air can be made to flow freely through the room, but then they have to put up with the smell. The ceiling of the room is of canvas, which was once painted; it is giving way in places, and rats can be heard running along the top of it. The windows are fitted with very ragged-looking blinds, which are not sufficient to prevent the sun's rays pouring in of an afternoon on to the front desks and in the eyes of the children. On dull days, however, the light is very bad, and on any day at the back of the room. The infants, as a rule, did not look at all well, less well in fact than in any school I have seen. Their complexions were pallid and pasty, and there were dark rings beneath the eyes of some of them.

Immediately outside the windows of this room, on each side of the playground, are two pumps supplying drinking water to the children. Beneath them each is a trapped drain, but a very disagreeable smell finds its way up through them sometimes, and comes in through the windows into the schoolroom.

Playground.

The playground is a paved court, only about 13 yards square; it is separated by a narrow street from a row of houses which overlook it. In this street larrikins collect at times and interfere with the discipline of the school. Both boys and girls are supposed to play together here. The privies for each and the teachers are in adjacent corners of the yard. There are two water-closets in each, without partitions between them. The houses for both are very small, and the only openings for light and ventilation, besides the door, are four holes made by removing bricks, and the entrance of air through the door, is impeded by a brick partition immediately inside. The seats in the boys' house were very dirty, and the floor very wet; one pan was blocked up; in both the smell was simply sickening, and is said to be much worse in summer by the teachers, though I could hardly conceive anything worse. No disinfectants were said to be used. There was no apparent ventilation of the soil pipe.

Privies.

The site and building of this school are so defective that I can see no way of dealing with it other than closing it altogether.

Petersham.

Boys' school-room.

The boys' schoolroom is a very cheerful, well lighted and ventilated room, and the atmosphere was perfectly sweet.

Boys' class-room.

The boys' class-room is also a very good room. The seats in the gallery are furnished with back-pieces, and the result is a great improvement in the straightness of the boys' backs. The windows require blinds to keep out the sun.

The

The girls' school-room is a very fair room. One row of desks in this room is of smaller size than the other, but here the biggest girls are put, so that they have to bend forward too much when writing. Girls' school.

The light is not good in either of the infants' rooms, more especially in the senior infants'.

Owing to the number of scholars the halls are used as class-rooms for the infants, but are very unsuitable. There is a door at each end, but no windows, and they are either very draughty or very close, according as both doors are open or not. Hats and cloaks are hung up here, and do not add to the purity of the atmosphere. There are fifty children under five years of age at this school. Infants' school-rooms.
Halls used as class-rooms.

The general health of the children is apparently good.

Pyrmont.

This is a leased building.

The primary schoolroom was a close, stuffy room,—all the windows shut. There is one playground for boys and girls, but boys are kept at one end of it and girls at the other. The privies are in different compartments of the same building. The seats have no partitions between them, and are in a rickety state.

Parramatta-street.

This is a leased building, and it is said will not be used for very much longer. The arrangements are decidedly better than in most of them. The rooms are fairly ventilated, but the babies' room is overcrowded; there are eighty children in a room 20 ft. x 15 ft. and 12 ft. high. The floor space per head is 3.75 square feet, and the cubic space 45 cubic feet. The numbers should be reduced at least one-half. The room is close even when windows are open, and especially on hot, still days.

The primary class-room is of the same dimensions, and sixty children are in it, which again is too many; not more than thirty at most should be here.

The privies are in excellent order; water-closets were provided.

Randwick.

This is a temporarily leased building. There is nothing about it calling for special comment.

Lane Cove.

This is a very fair building, much the same as other schools of the same class.

The head master has been laid up for three weeks with fever (of what nature?), but I do not think typhoid. I think this may very probably have been brought on by emanations from filth left in the yard by the previous occupant, which he had been engaged in cleaning up. There was nothing wrong with the water, as far as appearances went, but the tank is too near to the privy. If there were any flaw in the cement, there might be risk of contamination from this. The two should always be kept as widely apart as possible.

The children all have good health.

Redfern.

This is on the whole an excellent school. The rooms are cheerful, well lighted, and ventilated.

One of the evils of the cesspit system was exemplified here some months back, when a child fell through into the pit and died shortly after being rescued.

Banks' Meadows.

A new school is being constructed here; at the time of my visit a tent was being used, which had the usual evils attendant upon them.

Gardiner's Road.

This is one of the temporary wooden buildings, and in character is much the same as the others.

The seats in the infants' gallery are at the edge of the stages, and should be placed further back. Five months ago there were six cases of ophthalmia, but there are none now.

Rocky Point.

This is one of the cleanest and most cheerful of the leased schools. There is nothing calling for special comment about the building itself. The external accommodation is defective, but there is nothing calling for immediate attention, if it be true that the school will shortly remove from here.

Rookwood.

The schoolroom is a cheerful, well-lighted and ventilated apartment, but the class-room atmosphere gets close. One of the children is at present suffering from diphtheria, but the rest are apparently in very good health.

Ryde.

This is a very fairly lighted and ventilated school. There is nothing calling for special mention.

North Ryde.

The atmosphere in the schoolroom here was very close and offensive. The windows were mostly shut. There is no reason why the air should not be pure if the windows were kept open, but there is not enough accessory ventilation to allow these to be dispensed with. The day was fine and warm, and there was no apparent reason for their being shut. The appearance of the children was fairly healthy, but there have been cases of bleeding from the nose and headaches occasionally, the probable effect of vitiated air.

St. Peter's.

The air of the primary schoolroom was close, though the windows were open. The room is overcrowded. There are at present eight children away on account of "sore eyes." There are one or two cases of headache every week. The light is not good. The children do not look so well as in some of the better ventilated schools. They are said by the teacher to get listless and languid on cold days when the windows have to be shut. Smell from the privies is perceptible at times through the windows of the schoolroom, to which they are quite close. Primary school-room.

Cesspits are used here as usual. The soil reaches to the level of the ground outside, and some of the liquid portion has flowed into the playground through an angle of the wall of the building, presumably through a defect in the same. The walls are saturated with the effluvium and the smell is very offensive. The teacher thinks that subsoil water has found its way in lately. Privies.

The tank for collecting rain-water from the roof is only at 8 yards distance from the cesspit, but the water has not been ever bad as far as is known.

The infants' school is too crowded; cubic space per head only 48.77 cubic feet.

The sanitary state of this school cannot be considered satisfactory. The rooms are overcrowded, and cesspits at least require to be emptied. The proximity of the latrines to the schoolroom is however a very objectionable matter, and they should be removed to the further end of the playground. Infants' school

St. Leonards.

This is on the whole an excellent school; the girls' schoolroom and the senior infants' school are especially good. The lids should be removed from the Tobin's tubes, as they impede the entrance of fresh air very considerably.

The Corporation of this place undertake the removal of night-soil weekly, and there is no reason why earth or pail closets should not be provided here. The cesspits here smell offensively at times, and are complained of by people living in a neighbouring house.

St.

St. Leonards North.

This school has the same characters as the other temporary wooden buildings. The windows require blinds. There is a very offensive smell in the privies, which is said to be worse after rain. The same remarks as were made for St. Leonards school apply here.

Summerhill.

A temporary wooden building, and much the same as the others. The cesspit smells very unpleasantly, but I understand that earth-closets are to be provided here.

Tempe.

This is much the same as the other small suburban schools, but the cubic space per head is only 87·27 feet, which cannot be considered sufficient. The health of the children is apparently good.

Ultimo.

The sanitary condition of this school is on the whole good.

Watson's Bay.

This school is in a satisfactory condition on the whole.

William-street.

Main rooms. The main schoolrooms are very fairly lighted and ventilated. The infants' shed was rather close, and is said to be very draughty in cold weather, if windows are opened. I should suggest ridge ventilation, combined with Sheringham valves or Tobin's tubes for these closed sheds.

Lighting. The rooms in this school have generally windows in front as well as behind, which is not considered advisable. The light is in all of them sufficient in quantity.

Desks. The desks in the boys' and girls' schoolrooms are all of the same size; smaller ones should be provided for the smaller boys.

Privies. Water-closets are used, and were in good order.* The soil pipes as usual are not ventilated.

Woollahra.

The sanitary condition of this school and the structure of the building are very good as a whole. The infants' schoolroom is overcrowded and was very close.

The midden system is, I think, seen at its best in this school; the soil being very sandy the liquid portion readily drains away, and the solid matter does not undergo such rapid decomposition.

Waterloo.

Infants' schools. An interim report on certain conditions existing here has already been sent in and action taken. The infants' school atmosphere was very close indeed, there being 220 children in a room 35' x 18½' and 11¼' high, allowing on the average about 2·5 square foot of floor-space, and nearly 34 cubic feet per head.

The school is very close to a very dusty road, along which trams are continually passing, and is situated in a playground, the entire surface of which is composed of fine sand which is blown in clouds into the windows during windy weather. Any permanent school in this locality should certainly have an asphalted playground, and the erection of a new school is certainly urgently required.

Boys. The boys have latterly been moved to a temporary wooden building.

Girls. The girls' school is held in the Alexandria Town Hall. This is a spacious well-lighted room. The desks are too low for the size of the girls, and cause them to round their shoulders.

Waverley.

The condition of this school is very fair. The infants' shed was very close. There should be some roof ventilation provided, either along the ridge or by a couple of Mackinnel's tubes, with inlets also along the top of the walls.

The other rooms can be kept well ventilated provided windows are open.

Mossman's Bay.

A new school, unfinished at the time of my visit, is shortly to be opened here. From what I could see of the arrangements I should say they were very satisfactory.

Camdenville.

A tent-school has been held here for the last twelve months whilst the new one is being built. The present arrangement has all the faults common to these structures.

* The self-flushing apparatus in two of the girls' closets was out of order.

No. 1.

Rev. P. Fitzgerald to Secretary, Council of Education.

Dear Sir,

The Manse, Moruya, 8 May, 1868.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated the 1st of May, respecting the memorial for a Public School at Moruya, and beg to state that I will give all the aid in my power to Mr. Inspector M'Intyre whenever he may visit the district.

I have been requested by the friends of public education in Moruya to request you will kindly furnish them with information on the following subjects:—

- I. Whether it is in accordance with the Regulations of the Council of Education that teachers of Public Schools may be, and exercise the functions of, preachers of the particular denominations to which they belong.
- II. Whether it is by the sanction or within the knowledge of the Council of Education that the teacher of the Public School at Kiora fills the office and acts as local preacher of the Wesleyan denomination in this district.

An early reply to the information sought above will greatly oblige.

I have, &c.,

PATRICK FITZGERALD.

Sir,

Council of Education Office, Sydney, 19 June, 1868.

I have the honor, by direction of the Council of Education, to acquaint you that it has been reported to the Council that you are filling the office of, and acting as, local preacher of the Wesleyan denomination in the district of Moruya.

2. As this is a practice in contravention of the Regulations of the Council, I am instructed to caution you against continuing it for the future.

Rev. Sir,

Council of Education Office, Sydney, 19 June, 1868.

I have the honor, by direction of the Council of Education, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 8th May ultimo, and, in reply to the inquiries therein contained, I am instructed to acquaint you—

- I. That it is not in accordance with the Regulations that teachers of Public Schools should exercise the functions of preachers.
- II. That it is not by the sanction or within the knowledge of the Council that the teacher of the Public School at Kiora fills the office and acts as local preacher of the Wesleyan denomination in the Moruya district.

2. I am further instructed to acquaint you that the teacher, Mr. Todd, has been cautioned not to exercise such functions.

No. 4.

Mr. R. Todd to The Secretary, Council of Education.

Sir,

Kiora Public School, 30 June, 1868.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 19th instant, stating that it has been reported to the Council of Education that I am filling the office of, and acting as, a local preacher of the Wesleyan denomination, which practice is affirmed to be a contravention of the Regulations, and I am therefore warned to discontinue the same. In reply, I beg to state that the report mentioned is erroneous, inasmuch as, though I have preached, it has not been in the capacity of a local preacher at the appointment of the Superintendent of the Circuit, but at the request of the parents of the children attending the school, and in compliance with the wish of the Provisional Committee.

2. Feeling confident that the Council of Education would not have interfered had not my preaching been misrepresented, I respectfully demand the names of those parties who have thus unfairly acted.

3. I also beg to state that I was not aware of the existence of any regulation of which the practice of preaching would be a contravention, and the Council have omitted to mention to which Regulation they refer. As I have no desire to question the authority of my superiors, but only wish to obey intelligently, I shall be thankful if the Council of Education will please to assist me by explaining the matter. I may be allowed to add, that the question of teachers in charge of Public Schools taking part in religious instruction on the Sabbath was mooted in the training-room during last session; and the Inspectors at the time being in conference, it was thought to be advisable to obtain the benefit of their experience; whereupon the subject was referred to them, and they were reported to express their conviction that such a course, when prudently regulated, did not impair the usefulness of a teacher; and I am persuaded that the Council of Education will agree with their Inspectors.

4. That my preaching has done no harm to the Public School at Kiora is evident from the fact that all the parents who signed the requisition send their children, and others who were not previously favourable have been moved to do the same; and it is worthy of remark that they are not all of one denomination.

5. Trusting the Council of Education will not deny me the luxury of doing good, I beg to assure them that I will endeavour to act prudently, and shall thankfully adopt such measures as their wisdom may suggest.

I have, &c.,

RICHARD TODD.

Sir,

Council of Education, Sydney, 12 August, 1868.

I am directed by the Council of Education to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 30th June last, explanatory of the charge preferred against you of acting as a local preacher in connection with the Wesleyan Methodist Church of Kiora.

2. In reply I am instructed to point out the unsatisfactory nature of your explanation. The Council regards it as immaterial to the main question whether you preached by the appointment of another person or commenced the practice of your own freewill. The matter complained of was simply that you preached in public, and this the Council views as a sufficient ground for interference.

3. As the fact of your preaching has not been misrepresented, the Council deems it inexpedient to comply with your demand for the names of the persons who furnished information on the subject.

4. With respect to the Regulation of which the practice of preaching would be a contravention, I am to point out that, as it was never supposed that a Public School Teacher could so far misunderstand the principle on which the Public Schools Act is based as to become a public preacher, no regulation was framed expressly to meet such contingency. It may be observed, however, that a teacher who felt desirous of carrying out the provisions of the Act would have found the 54th Regulation a sufficient indication of the course he ought to adopt in reference to this question.

5. The Council, however, has no wish to rely upon this Regulation alone, but would prefer to test the practice of preaching by the fundamental principle of the Public School system. It should have been known to you that Public Schools are founded on the principle of religious neutrality. They are intended to provide for the education of children of various religious denominations, without offence to the peculiar convictions of any. The whole of the arrangements are made to support this view; and the teacher is required so to guard both his conduct and instruction as to inspire confidence in the parents of his pupils that he will not take advantage of his position to instil into the minds of his charge doctrines or observances differing from those of the denomination to which they respectively belong. But by assuming the character of a minister of religion, and therefore bound to preach doctrines characteristic of one denomination only, a Public School Teacher forfeits the confidence of parents, and is likely to destroy that harmonious co-operation of different sects in school matters which it is the design of the Public Schools Act to create and foster.

6. The Council cannot, therefore, consistently with a due observance of the provisions of the Act, sanction the practice of public preaching, on the part of yourself or any other teacher employed in a Public School.

W. WILKINS,

Secretary.

My dear Sir,

You were good enough to intimate that you would furnish a copy of a letter which you addressed to the teacher of the Public School at Kiora. May I request that you will kindly oblige me with a copy. I am persuaded that it will serve an excellent purpose and remove much misapprehension. My wish is to do good, and to aid in communicating correct information.

Mr. Henry Saxby to The Council of Education.

Gentlemen,

Gunning, 14 August, 1869.

I take the liberty to address you on a subject now dividing the community of Gunning, on the principles of Public Schools, viz., the action the Council of Education has taken in forbidding certain teachers of Public Schools to employ themselves in preaching or teaching on the Sabbath day.

I have been asked again and again of late why does the Council of Education allow the Public School teacher at Gunning to preach for the Church of England, whilst they have forbidden the teacher at Moruya so to be employed by the Wesleyan Church. This is a question I have not been able to answer, and one that threatens seriously to interfere with the prosperity of the Public School at Gunning. The Wesleyans, as a body, have refused any assistance in building a public school-house here until the matter is set at rest.

I am, &c.,

HENRY SAXBY.

The Rev. W. Curnow to The Secretary, Council of Education.

Sir,

Goulburn, 14 August, 1869.

I beg to call the attention of the Council of Education to the following copies of letters addressed to me by the Rev. John Clifton, of Gunning:—

Rev. and dear Sir,

Gunning, 24 July, 1869.

I just write you a line to say that since you were in Gunning I have ascertained that Mr. Goldsmith, the Public School teacher, has been constantly preaching in the town, for the Church of England. He preached in the church here on last Sabbath morning, 18th July. I may add that our people feel very much annoyed that the Church of England should do, or be allowed to do, what they have declared in our Church to be a contravention of the Public Schools Act, and what, through their interference, has been put a stop to in our Church. Will you be so kind, as Chairman of this District, to represent the case to the Council of Education or the Council's Secretary.

With, &c.,

JOHN CLIFTON.

Rev. W. Curnow.

Dear Sir,

Gunning, 9 August, 1869.

I wrote you some time since about Mr. Goldsmith's preaching. I have heard nothing from you, nor do I think anything has been said to Mr. G. by the Council of Education about it, as he still continues to preach nearly every Sabbath in Gunning. Why should all our men be stopped from preaching, and the Church of England men allowed to do it? If nothing is done within a few days, I intend to call a public meeting here to protest against such proceedings.

Yours, &c.,

JOHN CLIFTON.

To the Rev. the Chairman of the District.

I have, &c.,

Chairman of the Wesleyan Church, Goulburn District.

I have the honor, by direction of the Council of Education, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th instant, forwarding copies of letters addressed to you by the Rev. J. Clifton, in which that gentleman complains that the teacher of the Public School at Gunning is in the habit of preaching in connection with the Church of England.

2. In reply, I am to acquaint you that the Council, having had the matter under consideration, has informed Mr. Goldsmith that he must at once discontinue that practice.

HAVING had under consideration the above communication, together with a report from Mr. Inspector Allpass upon the subject mentioned therein, the Council desires me to state that the Council regards public preaching by teachers in its service as an occupation not of a distinctively educational character, and as not being entitled to its sanction under clause 36 of the Council's Regulations. It is requested, therefore, that you will discontinue the practice.

Chief Inspector's Report.

Cooma—Question of Appointment of Teacher.

MR. KNOPP had charge of a Roman Catholic Denominational School up to the end of 1882. In January last he was placed as a supernumerary in the Goulburn Public School, and in April, when the Cooma School became vacant, he was sent to take temporary charge of it, pending arrangements for the appointment of a teacher.

It was not intended that Mr. Knopp should remain at Cooma, because, in the first place, he had already served for five years in the country, and, as I understood, desired removal to a school nearer Sydney; and, secondly, the assistant teacher—Miss Redmond—being a Roman Catholic, I did not deem it advisable to recommend the appointment of a principal teacher belonging to the same religious denomination.

Apart from the foregoing reasons, it may be observed that the policy of the Department is, when schools in or near Sydney are vacant, to give the preference, other things being equal, to those teachers who have served longest in the outlying districts. I therefore nominated Mr. Knopp for Mittagong Public School, that school being much easier of access from Sydney than Cooma is, and being, in my opinion, one which that gentleman would willingly accept. For the Cooma School I nominated Mr. Larkin, who belongs to the Church of England denomination, holds Class II, Section A—the same certificate as that held by Mr. Knopp—and has proved his efficiency by conducting satisfactorily a city school for two years. Mr. Larkin has not, however, done any country service since being trained, and it seemed to me, therefore, only fair that he should be required to go to the more distant school—Cooma,—the more eligible appointment—Mittagong Public—being conferred on Mr. Knopp.

Under-Secretary, B.C., 9th July, 1883.

E. JOHNSON,
Chief Inspector.

Inform the Mayor of the substance of this.—G.H.R., 10/7/83.

The Acting Under-Secretary to The Mayor of Cooma.

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 12 July, 1883.

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under notice your telegram of the 6th July instant, expressing the general regret of the residents of Cooma at the removal of Mr. Knopp from the temporary charge of the Public School at that place.

2. In reply, I am to inform you that when Mr. Knopp was placed in charge of the Cooma School it was not intended that he should remain there, because, in the first place, he had already served for five years in the country, and, it was understood, desired removal to a school nearer Sydney; and, secondly, the assistant teacher being a Roman Catholic, it was not deemed advisable to appoint a principal teacher of the same religious denomination.

3. Apart from the foregoing reasons, it may be observed that when schools in or near Sydney become vacant the policy of the Department is to give the preference, other things being equal, to those teachers who have served longest in outlying districts. Mr. Knopp was therefore selected to fill a vacancy at Mittagong Public School, which is much easier of access from Sydney than is Cooma.

Mr. Smalley to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

Roseville, Mittagong, 7 July, 1883.

I do myself the honor of laying before you the following:—

In the Public School at this town (Mittagong), all Protestants with the exception of three families, a new head-master has been sent, a Roman Catholic. We have now the District Inspector a Roman Catholic, the Local Inspector a Roman Catholic, the teachers Roman Catholic, and to have the head-master one is more than the parents can bear, and would feel greatly obliged by your giving the matter early attention; the parents cannot submit to such treatment, and beg to leave the removal in your hands.

I am, &c.,

R. F. SMALLEY.

The Chief Inspector, for report.—G.H.R., 9/7/83.

Under-Secretary.—The District-Inspector stationed at Goulburn is a Roman Catholic, as is also the Inspector, who resides at Mittagong. The teacher of the Mittagong Public School belongs to the same religious denomination. This result is owing to accident, and the case is, I think, not one that calls for the Minister's interference. I recommend that the writer be so informed.—E.J., B.C., 23/7/83.

Approved.—G.H.R., 25/9/83.

No. 2.

The Acting Under-Secretary to Mr. Smalley.

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 27 July, 1883.

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under notice your letter of the 7th July instant, calling attention to the fact that the District Inspector and Local Inspector of Schools at Mittagong, as well as the teacher of the Public School at that place and the pupil-teachers under him, are all of the Roman Catholic denomination.

2. In reply, Mr. Reid desires me to inform you that the state of things of which you complain is purely the result of accident, and that he does not consider any interference on his part necessary.

I have, &c.,

G. MILLER,

Acting Under-Secretary.

No. 3.

The Chairman of District School Board to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

Moss Vale, 14 July, 1883.

I wish to bring under notice of the Department some urgent matters in connection with the Mittagong Public School.

Within the past few days a Mr. Knopp has been appointed head-master of this school, he being a Roman Catholic. The whole of the teachers (Miss O'Byrne and Miss Ford) belonging to this school, as well as the Inspector (Mr. O'Byrne, father of the young lady previously mentioned), who resides in the township, are Roman Catholics.

Already, in consequence of this, thirty children have been withdrawn, and I am quite sure at least thirty more will follow, it being the intention of the Protestant parents to engage a master of their own.

In the interests of the successful working of the school alone, and not in any way wishing to disparage the efficiency of present teachers, I would respectfully suggest a change as soon as possible in the staff now engaged.

Minute of Minister of Public Instruction.

Mittagong Public School.

AT first sight I was inclined, from a desire to maintain the success of the Public School at Mittagong, which is seriously threatened, and to meet what I am credibly informed are the wishes of most of the parents of the children attending the school, to attach great weight to the representations made to me by a deputation from the locality, and confirmed in a letter from the Chairman of the School Board; and so long as the head-master, against whom they offer no objection, except on the score of his creed, was promoted to a better position, in consequence of their action, it might seem that he would have no cause for complaint.

But after fully considering the whole matter, I have come to the conclusion that I should commit a serious error in principle if I acted in this case upon any grounds of expediency.

It so happens in the district which includes the Mittagong Public School that the District Inspector and the Local Inspector are Roman Catholics, and that the teacher in the Mittagong Public School is of the same creed. The facts of the case, which I have inquired into, show that this is simply one of those coincidences which will happen in any large school service—and there are about 3,000 teachers in this Department—which is not regulated by sectarian rules. There are many other Public Schools in the Colony where all the teachers happen to be Protestants, and where all the Inspectors over them also happen to be of the same creed. What would be the reply to Roman Catholics if they complained of this state of things in

in one of our Public Schools, and asked for the removal of a Protestant head-master upon such grounds, however numerous their children in that particular school happened to be?

Underlying all considerations of expediency in particular cases, there is, it appears to me, in this case a vital principle of civil and religious equality at stake. The parents at Mittagong to whom I have referred do not impugn the efficiency or the faithfulness of the head-master, Mr. Knopp. They do not attempt to impute to him any sectarian bias in the performance of his duties. In point of fact, Mr. Knopp has gained promotion to Mittagong as the reward of conspicuous success in the service; and the Chief Inspector informs me that he is one of the most estimable teachers in the Department. His removal from the post he has won is asked simply on the ground that he professes the faith of a Roman Catholic. I cannot conscientiously remove him from the Public School at Mittagong upon any such grounds, even to a better school. I cannot, even if I could thus restore perfect harmony at Mittagong—which I very much doubt—give way to representations which are conceived in a spirit so foreign to that of the Public School system of New South Wales, as I understand, and as I am determined to administer it. That system looks neither at the creed of the teacher nor at the creed of the parents of the pupils, but treats them all upon a common ground of civil and religious equality.

If a Public School teacher of any creed deliberately makes use of his or her position to present to the minds of children in the Public Schools that sectarian form of religious belief which he or she may profess, the severest punishment should follow, whether that sectarian teaching be Protestant or Catholic. And upon the same principles, so long as Public School teachers keep themselves free from reproach, do their duty faithfully and well, their creed, whatever it may be, must remain a matter between themselves and their Creator. As Minister for Public Instruction, I will not inquire into it, nor in my administration of this Department can I ever consent to be influenced by it.

The Acting Under-Secretary to The Chairman of District School Board.

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 23 July, 1883.

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under consideration the subject brought to his notice by a deputation of residents of Mittagong a few days ago, and also your letter of the 14th instant, representing that in consequence of the appointment of a Roman Catholic teacher (Mr. Knopp) to the Public School at Mittagong thirty children have been withdrawn, and that you are quite sure at least thirty more will follow, it being the intention of the Protestant parents to engage a teacher of their own; further suggesting that, as the two pupil-teachers are also Roman Catholics, a change in the teaching staff should at once be made.

2. In reply, Mr. Reid desires me to say that, at first sight, he was inclined, from a desire to maintain the success of the Public School at Mittagong, which is seriously threatened, and to meet what he is credibly informed are the wishes of most of the parents of the children attending the school, to attach great weight to the representations made to him by the deputation referred to, and confirmed in your letter, the chief of which was a request for the removal of the head-master to some other school, and so long as the head-master, against whom the deputation offered no objection, except on the score of his creed, was promoted to a better position, in consequence of their action, it might seem that he would have no cause for complaint, if the Minister complied with their request.

3. But, after fully considering the whole matter, Mr. Reid has come to the conclusion that he would commit a serious error in principle if he acted in this case upon any grounds of expediency.

Petition from Residents to the Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

We, the parents and residents of Mittagong, beg most respectfully to request your earnest attention to the following matter, the action of which we complain not only affects our interest prejudicially but aims a blow at honest and independent administration of the whole Civil Service.

For years past we have had substantial reasons for being pleased with the schoolmasters sent to us by your Department, and we have every confidence that your sole aim is to promote the efficiency of the service and to maintain the spirit of the Public Schools Act in its integrity. A teacher's only passport to our confidence lies in his capacity for his work, and in the uprightness of his character. We submit that his religion is a matter for his own conscience—a question with which no man has a right to interfere.

As we are anxious to live in peace and harmony, it has pained us deeply to learn that a few busybodies in this community have objected on the score of religion to the teacher lately appointed by you. We understand that a deputation was not ashamed to wait upon you urging this miserable reason for the removal of Mr. Knopp. We strongly protest against all sympathy with this movement and its promoters. We know nothing of the teacher excepting by report, and that is in every way in his favour. We therefore trust that in the interest of fair dealing, and for the repute of the Department you so ably administer, you will be pleased to uphold the appointment until some better reason can be shown for its cancellation than religious prejudices.

Public School at Mittagong.

ONE of the deputation which waited upon me in reference to this school made a statement which seems perfectly incredible; but should, nevertheless, be inquired into, and an Inspector should be sent from Sydney to make that inquiry. The statement is that in the play-hours the Roman Catholic children attending the Mittagong Public School are kept separate from the Protestant children.

Chief Inspector, for report.—G.M., B.C., 23/7/83. District Inspector John M’Credie,—It is requested that you will be good enough to inquire into this matter, personally, as soon as possible.—E.J., B.C., 25/7/83.

No. 2.

District Inspector M'Creddie to Chief Inspector.

Memorandum to Chief Inspector.

Mittagong (Public): Inquiry into the statement that in the play-hours the Roman Catholic children attending the Mittagong Public School are kept separate from the Protestant children.

In accordance with your instructions of the 25th ultimo, I have visited Mittagong and made inquiry into the correctness of the above statement, and now submit the following report.

From the appended papers it will be seen that all the teachers who have held office in this school during the last three or four years, viz., Messrs. Lumsden, Hall, Whitehead, and Knopp, deny the truthfulness of the assertion, and affirm that Roman Catholics and Protestants mixed freely in all games during play-hours. To this testimony is to be added also that of all the children examined, who tendered similar evidence.

There can therefore be no reasonable doubt, I think, that the statement is unfounded.

Mr. Loseby, who made the statement at the deputation, says in reference thereto—"I do not know this of my own knowledge, but I heard that an attempt had been made to keep the children separate in play-hours." I heard that it was Miss O'Byrne that said so.

At this stage therefore the inquiry assumed the form of a specific charge against Miss O'Byrne, and a Mrs. Westbury was called, who stated as follows:—"I heard Miss O'Byrne say, when the children came out at 11 o'clock, 'Now, you little Catholic children come and play in the shed, and you Protestant children go out there and play.'" This is alleged to have been said in October, 1881, when Mr. Hall was teacher; and, according to the evidence, Miss O'Byrne must have been about 50 yards distant from Mrs. Westbury at the time. Mrs. Westbury's testimony is not corroborated by anyone, but a Mr. Napier states that she spoke of the matter at the time to him. She is contradicted, however, by Messrs. Hall and Whitehead in her statement that she spoke to them on the subject, and Miss O'Byrne denies that she ever gave utterance to such words. There appears to have been some such talk abroad, as Mrs. Whitehead had spoken of it to her husband, and Miss O'Byrne says Mr. Whitehead spoke to her about it—a fact not remembered by him. Teachers and children alike testify that Miss O'Byrne has been in the habit of playing with Roman Catholics and Protestants together without distinction, and that her general character and conduct are directly opposed to the likelihood of her saying such a thing as is alleged by Mrs. Westbury. I think it more reasonable to suppose that at the distance—50 yards or so—Mrs. Westbury made a mistake in thinking she heard the words "Catholic" and "Protestant" used than to believe that Miss O'Byrne was so foolish as to employ them. The order, divested of these two words, is intelligible and proper.

The only other witness who gives a colour to the accusation against Miss O'Byrne is the boy M'Cann. He is unsupported, and dates the occurrence some three years ago, during the time of Mr. Lumsden, when he would be about ten years of age. As Miss O'Byrne had charge of the girls only, it seems strange that she should have given orders to boys. Considering the age of this boy, and the distance of time—three years at least—I think no weight should be attached to his statement, entirely unsupported as it is.

Reviewing the whole inquiry, I am of opinion—

1. That the statement made by Mr. Loseby is not founded on fact, but on hearsay,
2. That Miss O'Byrne should be exonerated from the accusation brought against her.

J. M'CREDDIE,

District Inspector.

Under-Secretary,—I concur.—E.J., B.C., 9/8/83. Approved.—A.S., 14/8/83. For the Minister's perusal. The case has already been submitted to the Colonial Secretary, in the absence of the Minister. Perhaps the Minister will kindly say whether or not Mr. Loseby should be informed of the result of the District Inspector's inquiry.—G.M., 21/8/83. Put by.—G.H.R., 22/8/83.

Statement of John E. Whitehead, Teacher of Public School, Botany.

Public School, Botany, 26 July, 1883.

I was teacher of the Mittagong Public School during the period from midwinter, 1882, to midwinter, 1883. With reference to the statement that the Roman Catholic children of the Mittagong Public School were kept separate from the Protestant children during play-time, I emphatically deny its truth as far as concerns my term of office.

There was not any distinction made, nor did I see the children themselves keep separate during play-time. I may also add that I have never heard of any separation being made by the pupil-teachers.

JOHN E. WHITEHEAD.

30/7/83.

I REMEMBER Mrs. Whitehead speaking to me of hearing that Miss O'Byrne had separated the Catholic children from the Protestants, but I treated the matter as preposterous, and have no recollection of speaking to Miss O'Byrne about the matter. It is a mistake to say that Mrs. Westbury spoke to me on the subject.

JOHN E. WHITEHEAD.

Statement of Thomas N. Hall, late Teacher of the Public School, Mittagong.

Sydney, 30 July, 1883.

With regard to the accusation brought against Miss O'Byrne, Public School, Mittagong, by Mrs. Westbury, of Mittagong, to the effect that during my term of office at the above school Miss O'Byrne had separated the Catholic from the Protestant children while in the playground. I believe such a charge to be utterly false and unfounded. I always supervised the playground during the forenoon recess, and I should have seen or heard of such an unfair proceeding had it really happened.

I have further to say that during the whole term of my office the conduct of Miss O'Byrne, both within the school and in the playground, was most exemplary. She made a habit of conducting the sports of all the girls, Protestants and Catholics alike, which she frequently joined in herself. I never heard her utter a word in relation to the religion of either, and I do not believe she is a young lady capable of such conduct.

I would further state that Mrs. Westbury did not accuse Miss O'Byrne to me of any such conduct.

T. N. HALL,

Former Teacher of Mittagong Public School.

Statement

Statement of the Rev. Stanley Howard (tendered by Miss O'Byrne).

Dear Miss O'Byrne,

St. Jude's Parsonage, Bowral, 30 July, 1883.

I have received your note stating that you are charged with improper sectarian dealings with the children in your charge at the Public School at Mittagong, and requesting a statement from me, as one who visited the school for religious instruction regularly during the years 1879-82 inclusive.

I am glad to be able to say that I never noticed anything to give me the least suspicion that there was anything of the kind in your conduct. As the Minister of Education remarked lately, any such conduct on the part of a Public School teacher would be worthy of severest punishment, as tending to such very serious results if tolerated in the system of public instruction; and I feel sure that no person of the slightest proper feeling would yield to any such inclination in a position of that kind.

And repeating that I have not the slightest suspicion of anything of the kind in your case, and do not think it probable,—

I remain, &c.,
STANLEY HOWARD.

P.S.—I may add that you always behaved with courtesy to myself, and endeavoured to further my work with the classes.—S.H.

Mr. J. E. Whitehead to Mr. Inspector M'Creddie.

Sir,

Public School, Botany, 1 August, 1883.

I beg that you will append the enclosed to my statement re the Mittagong investigation.I am, &c.,
J. E. WHITEHEAD.

Further statement of Mr. John E. Whitehead.

31 July, 1883.

I desire to say that in my opinion Miss O'Byrne would be the last person to offer even the slightest insult to the religious convictions of any section of the community. Indeed, she has shown herself very sensitive on this point, as will be exemplified in the following:—A few months ago I gave four prizes and Miss O'Byrne gave two, as rewards to deserving pupils. It so happened that all the prize-takers were Roman Catholics. Miss O'Byrne was the first to notice this peculiarity, and she felt so sensitive of the danger of false deductions being made by parents that she asked my permission to give another prize to the third in merit, who was a Protestant, and such was done.

JOHN E. WHITEHEAD.

Mr. John Lumsden's statement (tendered by Miss O'Byrne).

Madam,

Public School, South Goulburn, 2 August, 1883.

I have much pleasure in testifying that during my tenure of office as head-master of the Mittagong Public School I never observed anything in your conduct, either in or out of school, that would lead me to believe you were influenced by religious prejudice against any particular sect.

I am morally positive you never favoured any class, as such could not well have taken place without my knowledge.

No complaint was ever made to me by any parent of your attempting to separate the Roman Catholic pupils from the Protestants.

Having had ample opportunity—officially and in private life—of judging your conduct, my opinion is that you would not interfere with the religious belief of any child, nor insult a child by in any way disparaging his or her religious convictions.

I have, &c.,
JOHN LUMSDEN.

No. 3.

Evidence adduced at Inquiry conducted by District Inspector John M'Creddie.

Mittagong, 28 July, 1883.

Inquiry into the following statement:—"That in the play-hours the Roman Catholic children attending the Mittagong Public School are kept separate from the Protestant children."

Present:—Messrs. McCourt, M.P., Childs, and Barrett, members of District School Board.

Statement of Mr. Jacob Knopp:—I entered upon my duties as teacher of the Mittagong Public School on the 9th instant; I have given no order to separate the Roman Catholic children from the Protestant children during play-hours; I have not as a fact observed the Roman Catholic children separate themselves from the others during play; the children of both denominations join in play with one another in all games, so far as I have seen since I came; there has been no quarrel, and they seem to play together with good-will.

JACOB KNOPP, Teacher.

Statement of Mr. Joseph Loseby:—I am a farmer, at Mittagong; I was on the deputation to the Minister of Public Instruction a short time ago; I made a statement to the Minister to the effect that the Roman Catholic children were kept separate from the Protestant children during play-hours; I do not know this of my own knowledge, but I heard that an attempt had been made to keep the children separate in play-hours.

By Mr. Childs: I heard a rumour that one of the pupil-teachers spoke to the Roman Catholic children not to play with the Protestant children lest they might teach them wicked things; I heard that it was Miss O'Byrne who said so; this I believe took place previous to Mr. Knopp's arrival.

JOSEPH LOSEBY.

Statement of Mrs. Sarah Westbury:—I heard Miss O'Byrne say when these children came out at 11 o'clock, "Now, you little Catholic children come and play in the shed, and you Protestant children go out there and play"; I was living then in a cottage opposite the playground, on the other side of the lane; I had one child at school then and I took him away; this was when Mr. Hall was teacher; I spoke of it to him, and he laughed; and I also mentioned it to Mr. Whitehead, who said he wished she would say it to him; there was nobody with me at the time, and I do not think anyone else outside heard it.

MRS. S. WESTBURY.

Statement of Robert Napier:—I am a tailor, and live at Mittagong; Mrs. Westbury came to me twice and asked if I was a member of the School Board; I replied that I was formerly a member of the Local Board, but that I was not a member of the District Board; she said, as nearly as I can recollect, that she was going to take away her child, as they were separating the Roman Catholic from the Protestant children; she said, when I questioned her, that Miss O'Byrne told them to separate, that the Roman Catholic children were to go to the shed and the Protestant out to the playground; I advised her not to take her child away, but to make a complaint; I think this was in Mr. Hall's time; Mr. Lumsden, a former teacher, also spoke to me about Miss O'Byrne separating the Roman Catholic from the Protestant children.

ROBERT NAPIER,

Statement

Statement of Miss Mary Forde:—I am a pupil-teacher in the Mittagong Public School, and am seventeen years old; I have been pupil-teacher for two years; I have never heard anyone tell the Roman Catholic children to separate from the Protestants during play-hours, and I never did it myself; children of all sects mix freely in play, and I never saw them do otherwise since I came to the school two years ago.

MARY A. FORDE.

Statement of Miss Mary O'Byrne:—I am a pupil-teacher in the Mittagong Public School, and am twenty years of age; I am now second-class pupil-teacher, and was appointed in June, 1879; I have been with Mr. Lumsden, Mr. Hall, Mr. Whitehead, and now with Mr. Knopp; I have never seen or heard of the Roman Catholic pupils being separated from the Protestant children; I never told the Roman Catholic children to separate from the Protestants; if anyone states that I said "Now, you little Catholic children come and play in the shed, and you Protestant children go out there and play," I declare it to be untrue; Mr. Whitehead once spoke to me about doing so, as Mrs. Westbury had spoken to him about it; he did not say when it was alleged to have taken place, but I thought he meant when I was dismissing the pupils; I asked him then if he thought I would do such a thing, and he said "No," and I think he said so to Mrs. Westbury; instead of being of such a spirit, I wish to add that I often assist at concerts and bazaars connected with other denominations.

MARY L. O'BYRNE.

Inquiry adjourned to Saturday, 4th August, to enable Mr. Inspector O'Byrne to be present on behalf of his daughter.

Inquiry continued.—Mittagong, 4th August, 1883.

Present:—Mr. Hugh Childs, member of District Board.

Further Statement of Mrs. Westbury:—I do not wish to add anything to my previous statement.

By Inspector: I am quite certain of Miss O'Byrne speaking of "Catholic" and "Protestant," as I said in my previous evidence; Miss O'Byrne was in the shed at the time she said the words; I do not know of anyone else hearing what she said.

By Miss O'Byrne: I did not think it worth my while to speak to you about the matter; I think I spoke to Mr. Hall about it a few days after; I am not sure of the date.

MRS. S. WESTBURY.

Statement of Reuben M'Cann:—I am thirteen years of age, and am a pupil at the Mittagong Public School; I have been with all the teachers—Messrs. Lumsden, Hall, Whitehead, and Knopp; when Mr. Lumsden was teacher Miss O'Byrne once told a lot of us to play—the Protestants by themselves and the Catholics by themselves; Charlie Peet and John Roberts heard it too; they were close to me; I have not talked to them lately about this; nobody asked me to come here to-day; my mother told me to come; I was speaking to her about it; I told my mother about it the day I heard of it two or three years ago.

By Miss O'Byrne: I obey you when you give orders in playground or in school; I did not obey you then; I have seen you playing with the children—Protestants and Catholics; children of both religions usually play together; you were playing rounders at the time; both Catholics and Protestants were playing with you; you stopped playing, and then told the Protestants to go and play by themselves; I was at the boys' closet at the time, near the shed; I have been at school during all the time you have been pupil-teacher, and I only heard you speak that way once; you said it to us boys.

REUBEN M'CANN.

Statement of Miss Emma Draper:—I am twelve years old, and am at school here; I have been at school since Miss O'Byrne came as pupil-teacher; both Protestants and Catholics play together; I never heard Miss O'Byrne tell the Protestants and Catholics to play separately, and none of the other scholars told me that she said that.

By Miss O'Byrne: You always join with us in our games, with both Protestants and Catholics together; I am in the third class, seventh quarter of enrolment; you were my teacher before I came into the third class.

EMMA DRAPER.

Statement of Annie Hudspeth:—I am twelve years old, and am in the fourth class in school here; in play-time both Catholics and Protestants play together, and I never heard anyone tell them not to do so; I never heard Miss O'Byrne tell us to play separately, and none of my school-fellows told me that she ever did; Miss O'Byrne plays with both Catholics and Protestants together.

ANNIE HUDSPETH.

Statement of Miss E. Peet:—I am twelve years old, and am in third class in school here; all the girls play together, whether Catholic or Protestant; I never heard Miss O'Byrne or anyone else tell the Protestants and Catholics not to play together; Miss O'Byrne plays with us—with Protestants and Catholics together; none of my schoolmates ever told me of Miss O'Byrne telling the Protestants and Catholics not to play together.

E. PEET.

Statement of Violet White:—I am eleven years of age, and am in the third class in the school here; both Protestants and Catholics play together, and Miss O'Byrne joins us often in our games; I never heard Miss O'Byrne tell the Protestants and Catholics to play separately, and none of the other scholars told me they had heard it.

VIOLET WHITE.

Statement of William Hilder:—I am twelve years and eight months, and am in fourth class in school here; I have never heard Miss O'Byrne tell the Protestants and Catholics to play separately, and none of my schoolmates told me that she did so; when I looked into the playground I used to see Miss O'Byrne playing with the Protestants and Catholics together; I have not been at school until yesterday since Mr. Knopp came.

WM. HILDER,

Witness has sore hand.

No. 1.

Minute of Minister of Public Instruction.

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 21 July, 1883.
Mittagong Public School.

THE deputation which waited upon me a few days ago in reference to this school brought to my notice the fact that one of the pupil-teachers in the school is a daughter of the Inspector who visits it. This is obviously a most undesirable state of things, and either the pupil-teacher must be removed to another district, or if that would be of great inconvenience to her domestic arrangements, the school must be inspected by the District or some other Inspector in future.

G.H.R.

Chief Inspector, for report.—G.M., B.C., 23/7/83. District Inspector Wm. Dwyer,—It is requested that you will be good enough to make arrangements in accordance with the Minister's directions. Memorandum from Mr. District Inspector M'Credie to Chief Inspector.

Mittagong (Public):—Proposed removal of Pupil-teacher Miss O'Byrne from Mittagong Public School to Sydney.

Sydney, 7 August, 1883.

WHEN at Mittagong, on the 4th instant, Mr. Inspector O'Byrne requested me to state that he wishes the removal of his daughter, Miss Mary O'Byrne, from the Mittagong Public School to Sydney. As the relations with whom Miss O'Byrne would lodge reside in Victoria-street, Darlinghurst, he would be glad if she could be appointed to the Darlinghurst, or, failing that, to some other school in that neighbourhood.

J. M'CREDIE,
District Inspector.

No. 3.

Memo. from Mr. Inspector O'Byrne to Mr. District Inspector Dwyer.

Mittagong, 14 August, 1883.

Mittagong (Public):—The Honorable Minister's minute regarding statements made by a deputation.

THE voluntary removal of my daughter to another district renders any change in the programme of inspection of the Mittagong school unnecessary.

When I heard that objections had been made to her employment in a school which I inspect, you will recollect that, with a view of doing something to restore harmony at Mittagong, I at once suggested the removal of the young lady to another district. I repeated this suggestion to Mr. District Inspector M'Credie, when holding the inquiry here. It is no affectation to say that in taking this course I make some parental sacrifice. I asked for her removal, not because she had done anything rendering her removal necessary, but because I am very unwilling to do anything that may tend to force the department to lay down a rule which may operate harshly in other cases. It is within my knowledge that other parents have children employed in schools which they teach or superintend. Many of us, who have been long years in the service, naturally look to the department for employment for some of our children; and I very respectfully beg to deprecate any hard and fast rule which would place our children in a worse position than those of the general public.

Adverting to the case of my daughter, I beg most respectfully to point out, for the information of the Minister, that she received her appointment at a time when no other young person in the locality could be found to pass the required examination, and that her appointment was received with unanimous satisfaction. She has now been four years in the school, and, so far as I could observe or hear, she has given entire satisfaction both to the teachers and to the parents. Of this Mr. M'Credie obtained abundant evidence at the inquiry.

I crave indulgence to state my firm conviction that when this deputation started from Mittagong they had no intention of making an attack on a young lady who had given them no cause; but finding themselves in the presence of a Minister of the Crown who would have facts they felt themselves forced to cast about for something to support what they must have felt to be a weak case.

G. O'BYRNE,
Inspector.

Memo. Chief Inspector.

MR. INSPECTOR O'BYRNE's report on this matter is appended for your information. The removal of Miss O'Byrne from Mittagong obviates the necessity of any special arrangement.—W.D., Goulburn, 16/8/83. Aged teachers not physically fit for school duty.—Your B.C., No. 82-5,841, of 20th June ultimo.

East Maitland, 1 July, 1882.

THE following list contains the names of the teachers now in the school service of this Colony who, in my opinion, are incapable of performing their school duties satisfactorily from old age, infirmity, or ill-health:—

Matthew Willis, senior, Hamilton.
Malcolm Groat, Cooyal.
Thomas Holmes, West Maitland, C.E.
J. P. Morgan, Hargraves.
B. Lynch, Stanhope.

Memorandum to Mr. Thomas Holmes, teacher of the Certified Denominational C.E. School at Maitland West.

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 18 July, 1882.

BE good enough to furnish me with information on the following points:—

1. Your age?
2. Your length of service as a teacher in this Colony in schools maintained or aided by the State—giving the date on which your employment commenced?
3. Has your employment been continuous; if not, for what periods—specifying dates—were you out of the school service?

The replies to these questions should be given hereunder, without delay.

E. JOHNSON,
Chief Inspector.

Replies.

1. Sixty-four.
2. Twenty-four years; commenced October or November, 1858.
3. Yes, it has been continuous.

No. 3.

The Deputy Chief Inspector to The Under Secretary.

Aged and Infirm Teachers.

HERETO is appended a list containing the names of twenty-eight teachers who have been reported by the Inspectors to be incapable, through old age, infirmity, or ill-health, of performing school duties satisfactorily. A calculation has been made in accordance with the Minister's directions, and it would appear that a sum of £10,000 would be sufficient to provide retiring allowances for these teachers.

Some of the teachers mentioned would, I believe, be found competent to manage, with fair efficiency, smaller schools than those now under their charge. In such cases it would, I think, be advisable to give the teachers the choice of accepting smaller schools, or of retiring on the allowances proposed.

J. C. MAYNARD,
Deputy Chief Inspector.

Under Secretary, B.C., 11th August, 1882. The amount actually required may be placed on the Estimates.—F.B.S., 16/8/82. Urgent.

AGED and infirm teachers. Memo. from Deputy Chief Inspector, dated 11th instant, submitting list containing names of twenty-eight teachers reported to be incapable of performing their duties satisfactorily.

Having considered the question of granting retiring allowances to aged and infirm teachers within this Department, the Minister has directed that the sum actually required shall be placed on the draft Estimates for next year for consideration.

Aged and Infirm Teachers.

ON the 16th August last Mr. Suttor approved of retiring allowances being granted to certain teachers reported to be incapable, through old age or infirmity, of performing school duties satisfactorily.

A sum of money having now been voted for that purpose, the Minister's authority is required for the distribution of the amount voted, so that steps may be taken to relieve those teachers from their schools and to appoint successors.

Retiring allowances to Teachers.

THE retiring allowances to certain teachers voted by Parliament would appear to have been determined upon information obtained from teachers about the middle of last year, and furnished in a list attached to my memorandum of 11th August, 1882. That list contains the names of twenty-eight teachers, and the periods of service were reckoned as terminating in June, 1882. A calculation according to the late Minister's directions was made, based on the principle of allowing a month's pay for each year of service, and that calculation gave £9,000 13s. 9d. as probably the total sum which would then be required. As, however, that amount was only approximate, and it was likely that the allowances would not be available for some time, I suggested that as a margin an additional £1,000 should be appropriated for that purpose. It would seem that that suggestion was not adopted, and that consequently the teachers retiring have not received allowances for the full term of their service.

2. I recommend therefore that if there be not sufficient money available, through the death of one teacher (Mr. Cowper), and the refusal of two (Mrs. Grobety and Mr. Wainwright) to retire, a further sum be put on the Estimates to provide allowances covering the service in each case, up to the 30th June last, and that in calculating these additional allowances the salaries for the last year of service be taken as the basis.

Sir,

Fermoy Cottage, Devonshire-street, Maitland W., 24/7/83.

I have the honor respectfully to invite your attention to the inadequacy of the retiring allowance proposed to be awarded to me after my service of twenty-seven years as a teacher.

The basis of the calculation of your Department has been upon the salary granted me at the Public School at Pokolbin, whereas the allowance should, I submit, be upon the basis of the salary paid me at St. Mary's C. of E. School, Maitland W., from which I was removed away through no fault of my own.

I had charge of that school from 1879 to September, 1882, and it ranked as VI. Allow me to point out the difference, viz. :—

Pokolbin, 27 yrs. × £13..... 27

81
27

which would produce an annuity of £42 3s. 2d.

St. Mary's, 27 yrs. × £18..... 27

216
27

£486 = say £500, or an annuity of £57 4s. 5d.

Trusting that my case may receive your favourable consideration,—

I have, &c.,

THOMAS HOLMES.

Perhaps

Perhaps the Colonial Treasurer will be so good as to inform me how the case of a public officer who retires at a lower salary than he previously received is dealt with in computing the month's pay for every year of service, the reduction of salary being in no way the fault of the officer?—G.H.R., 25/7/83. The Under Secretary for Finance and Trade.—G.M., B.C., 26/7/83. Each and every gratuity is computed on the salary at time of retirement, which is invariably the highest salary enjoyed by the officer during his service. As this case appears to be exceptional, it is suggested that a report be obtained from the Chief Inspector of Schools, for the information of the Minister, as to the actual cause of removal from a higher to a lower grade; the Minister may then be in a position to approve of either rate of allowance to Mr. Holmes.—G.E., B.C., 3/8/83. Mr. Thomas Holmes :—Question of retiring allowance granted to.

In his letter of the 24th ultimo, Mr. Holmes intimates that when at West Maitland C.E. School he received £18 a month. That representation is not correct. During the last six months that he had charge of that school he was paid £15 a month.

So far as the merits of Mr. Holmes' case are concerned, it may be stated :—

1. That he was not qualified for the charge of a school (VI) carrying a salary of £18 a month, nor of one carrying a salary of £15 a month.
2. That as far back as May, 1882, it was decided, on the suggestion of the Chairman of the Local Board, to close the West Maitland C.E. School, as soon as other provision could be made for Mr. Holmes. In September, 1882, he was accordingly appointed to an eighth-class school, salary £13 a month, which accorded with his classification.
3. That the attendance for the last six months of the school's existence was that of an eighth-class school only, the salary attached to which is £13 a month ; but that, out of consideration for Mr. Holmes, the salary for a seventh-class school—£15 a month—was paid up to 30th September, 1882.
4. That the salary (£13 a month) which was made the basis of calculation in determining his retiring allowance is not only the rate at which he had been paid for the nine months ending the 30th June last, but is the rate attached to the class of school (VIII) for which the classification he gained when in health and vigour rendered him eligible.

I am therefore of opinion that Mr. Holmes has been dealt with fairly, and that his present application should be declined.

I have the honor respectfully to invite your attention to my introduction to yourself by the Hon. J. F. Burns on the 23rd July, as to the inadequacy of my retiring allowance, after my service of twenty-seven years as a teacher.

Sir,

Holmes' Retiring Allowance.

I have the honor respectfully to draw to your attention the promise you made 23rd July. Your words were, after having spoken to the Hon. J. F. Burns—"Oh! I quite expected something of this. I understand your case; you write it out. Here is an officer placed to a lower school than what he had when the Public Instruction Act came into force, through no fault of his own, and something arises—such as the retiring allowance; therefore he asks for his case to be considered. Write it out, and if our Department has not precedent, it shall be sent to the Treasury for their decision, which is the usual plan in such like cases."

In corroboration of the above statement allow me to point out that on the 7th August the Hon. H. E. Cohen assured me that my case had been sent to the Treasury.

Certainly, according to the Quarterly Return, June last, I am, with all all due deference, entitled to another grade. My school had increased to a VII Class, the number being more than forty attending; therefore that calculation would be 27 years × £15, instead of 27 years × £13, = another £54, which would be a great deal to me.

Your letter of 11th instant.

ADVERTING to your letter of 11th instant, inquiring if you should not have received £13 instead of £9 15s., as a gratuity for the year ending 30th June last, I am to state that the amount paid you fully represents the sum due.

You are reminded that, on your own showing, you entered the school service in October or November, 1851. Calculating from the 1st of the former month, you had, on 30th June, 1883, served for twenty-four years nine months. You had been previously paid £360 as retiring allowance, representing one month's pay of £15 for twenty-four years of service, that is, up to 30th September, 1882. The additional sum granted therefore—£9 15s.—represents the balance of your service (nine months), calculated at the rate of one month's pay for the full year of service.

In point of fact, you have received more than was actually due to you, inasmuch as the first three months of the last year of service, July, August, and September, were calculated at the rate of £15 for the year, instead of £13.

E. JOHNSON,

Chief Inspector.

No. 20.

Mr. Holmes to The Chief Inspector.

My additional retiring allowance.

Sir,

I have the honor respectfully to state that the statements in yours of the 19th instant, No. 83-13,163, are quite correct. I entered the service in 1858, and I have received £360, and have signed vouchers for £9 15s., therefore say £369 15s., which will produce an annuity of £42 6s. 1d., or 16s. 3d. per week.

Now, what I beg to ask the Minister is, that I be allowed an amount sufficient to produce £1 per week.

Of course, the reason I have so small an allowance is because I entered the service when I was about forty-one years of age; but I trust it is not unreasonable to ask for the amount which will produce that that (£1) per week. In mine to the Minister, dated 24th July, I pointed out that £360 granted would only produce an annuity of £42 3s. 2d., and at our meeting (the Hon. J. F. Burns, the Minister, and self), 23rd July, £1 per week was admitted to be the lowest I should receive, or an amount which would produce that sum.

Had I entered the service at fifteen years of age, and have received (50 years × £15) £750, or an annuity of about £1 13s. per week, why, that would have been a liberal sum; but surely I am not to be punished for not entering the Department earlier. I presume £1 per week, or an annuity of £52, is not too much.

I have repeatedly inquired for employment, as also have I advertised, but have not succeeded in getting anything.

The Australian Mutual Provident Society grant an annuity of £11 8s. 8d. for each £100 at sixty-five years of age, which was mine last birthday; therefore amount required for an annuity of £52, or £1 per week, would be about £455.

Both the Hon. J. F. Burns, M.L.A. for The Hunter, and J. Bruncker, Esq., M.L.A. for East Maitland, say "the least amount granted should be £500."

Trusting the Minister will be so good as to accede to my request,—

I have, &c.,

THOMAS HOLMES.

Under Secretary,—I have already reported fully on Mr. Holmes' application for a retiring allowance in excess of that to which he is entitled. I see no sufficient reason to alter the opinions already expressed, and therefore recommend that the request contained in this letter be declined.—E.J., B.C., 29/10/83. Approved.—G.H.R., 5/11/83.

Removals, 16; other causes, 109; total, 125.

II.—Fees.

Total amount of fees owing, nil.

III.—Organization.

The material condition, aspect, and appointments of this school are highly satisfactory; the accommodation is adequate and the records are complete and well kept. The organization is satisfactory, except as regards the classification, the distribution of the school duties among the teachers, and the examination of the classes.

IV.—Discipline.

The attendance is not satisfactorily regular and punctual. The schoolroom presents a clean and well-ordered appearance; the pupils are clean and decently attired, docile, diligent, and well-behaved; the order in general is good, and the efficiency of the drill is very fair. The government is firm and intelligent but somewhat too stern and demonstrative. The discipline as a whole is good.

V.—Attainments.

The prescribed subjects are taught; the lesson guides are neatly framed and in most respects suitable; and the occupation of the pupils is well sustained, but the classification is a weak feature of the organization; there is no fifth class as required; the fourth class is small and unequal in point of attainments; and the lower classes contain far too many children of advanced ages. The teaching is zealous, painstaking, and diligent, but more or less weak in point of method, thoroughness, and efficiency. The examinations of the classes are not as frequent as prescribed, and the junior teachers are left too much to their own resources. The proficiency of the several classes is as follows:—Lower 2nd (53), fair to v. fair; Upper 2nd, v. fair; Lower 3rd (30), tolerable+; Upper 3rd (33), fair+; 4th (17), tolerable+. Average, fair+.

VI.—Teaching Staff.

Adequate. The teacher is elderly, respectable, and intelligent, and is possessed of good disciplinary and teaching powers, but she is somewhat self-willed, overbearing, and indiscreet, and is not satisfactorily punctual, mindful of her printed instructions, or equitable in her distribution of the school duties. The junior teachers are reported to be earnest, painstaking, and diligent; the work-mistress is dutiful and skilful.

VII.—Summary.

Material condition, highly satisfactory; organization, satisfactory, except as regards the classification, the distribution of the teachers' duties, and the time devoted by the teacher to the instruction and examination of the classes; discipline, good, except as regards the attendance; instruction, zealous, painstaking, and very fairly effective; general condition, very fair to good.

VIII.—Recommendation.

*Existing defects have been pointed out to the teacher, but as she did not receive my suggestions and directions with becoming respect and attention, I am unable to state how far such suggestions will be carried out.

I recommend therefore that the teacher be instructed to be more punctual in her attendance, to pay stricter attention to her printed instructions, and to raise her school to a higher degree of efficiency.

Stanmore, 26 September, 1882.

J. S. JONES,

Inspector.

The teacher is very unpunctual in her attendance, and is generally the first to leave the school in the afternoon. The classes are examined quarterly and not monthly as required. Contrary to the spirit of the regulations, the task of inflicting and recording corporal punishments is delegated to the assistant teacher.

The teacher does not perform a fair share of the school duties appertaining to the drill, the supervision of the playground, the framing of the programmes of lessons, and the keeping of the records, nor does she distribute her time judiciously among the classes as required by her printed instructions.—J.S.J.

The Chief Inspector,—For further report in connection with Minister's minute of even date.—W.W., B.C., 17 Oct., 1882. District-Inspector John McCredie, for report.—E.J., B.C., 17/10/82. Inspector Jones, for report.—J. McC., B.C., 18/10/82.

No. 2.

Memo. from Mr. Inspector Jones to District-Inspector M'Creddie.

Redfern P. (Girls') :—In re the Teacher of:—The Minister's minute, dated 17th October.

WITH reference to Mrs. Bardwell's conduct, when I pointed out the defects in the general management of her school, I beg to report as follows:—

In the mid-day recess I entered the schoolroom, and, finding Mrs. Bardwell alone, I explained the object of my visit, requested her to take a seat by the table, and began to point out from the observation-book the defects in the management of the school. But before I had proceeded far in the matter she rose quickly from her seat, and, in an excited state of mind, spoke loudly of her wrongs in connection with the Crown-street Public School, broke out into bitter invectives against the Examiners, the Training Master, Inspectors M'Creddie and Morris, and Mr. Rooney, and more than once offensively insinuated that my action was a part of the persecution against her. I did my best to pacify her, and to disabuse her mind of of her alleged wrongs, but to no purpose. She persisted in denouncing those officers, and again implied that I was not acting fairly towards her, whereupon I closed the observation-book. Before doing so, however, I had occasion to refer to the inequitable distribution of the school duties among the teachers; and upon finding that I had been questioning the junior teachers as to the extent of their duties, she spoke of them as "understrappers," and called in question the propriety of my action in the matter.

With regard to the Minister's inquiry as to whether Mrs. Bardwell exhibited an insubordinate spirit, I should state that, although she did not positively decline to accept my criticisms, she showed by her demeanour that she was more or less indifferent to them. I consider that she did not treat me with becoming respect, and that her utterances and deportment on the occasion were not becoming of her as a lady or a subordinate.

J. S. JONES,
Inspector.

Chief Inspector,—For your information. For obvious reasons I refrain from expressing any opinion of Mrs. Bardwell's conduct.—J.M.C., B.C., 20/10/82. Under Secretary,—J.C.M., B.C., 21/10/82. Mrs. Bardwell may be called upon to explain her conduct on the occasion referred to.—F.B.S., 11/11/82.

Memo. from Deputy Chief Inspector to Mrs. Bardwell.

Regular inspection, 6th, 7th, 11th, and 12th September last.

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 21 November, 1882.

THE Minister has had under notice Mr. Inspector Jones' report upon the recent inspection by him of the Girls' Department of the Public School at Redfern.

With reference thereto it would appear that you did not receive the Inspector's suggestions and directions in regard to defects noticed by him with becoming respect and attention. Mr. Jones reports:—

"In the mid-day recess I entered the schoolroom, and, finding Mrs. Bardwell alone, I explained the object of my visit, requested her to take a seat by the table, and began to point out from the observation-book the defects in the management of the school. But before I had proceeded far in the matter she rose quickly from her seat, and, in an excited state of mind, spoke loudly of her wrongs in connexion with the Crown-street Public School, broke out into bitter invectives against the Examiners, the Training Master, Inspectors M'Credie and Morris, and Mr. Rooney, and more than once offensively insinuated that my action was part of the persecution against her. * * * She persisted in denouncing those officers, and again implied that I was not acting fairly towards her, whereupon I closed the observation-book. Before doing so, however, I had occasion to refer to the inequitable distribution of the school duties among the teachers, and upon finding that I had been questioning the junior teachers as to the extent of their duties, she spoke of them as 'understrappers,' and called in question the propriety of my action in the matter. * * * Although Mrs. Bardwell did not positively decline to accept my criticisms, she showed by her demeanour that she was more or less indifferent to them."

It is requested that you will at once furnish, for the Minister's information, any explanation you may desire to afford respecting these representations.

Redfern (Girls') Regular inspection, 6th September last.—Mr. Inspector Jones' report on.

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 21 November, 1882.

MRS. BARDWELL has been called on for any explanation she may desire to afford in regard to the representations made by Mr. Inspector Jones as to her conduct towards him.

(For Chief Inspector).

No. 5.

Mrs. Bardwell to The Chief Inspector.

Sir,

Nandamanu, Ocean-street, Woollahra, 7 December, 1882.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your memorandum dated 21st November, in which you inform me that Mr. Inspector Jones reported that I did not receive the suggestions and directions given me at the inspection of the school, in September last, with becoming respect and attention, and further requesting me at once to furnish any explanation I may desire to afford respecting these representations.

2. It is respectfully pointed out that as a period of ten weeks has elapsed since the inspection took place I was unable to reply at once as you desired, and that some time was needed to consult my own records and otherwise to revive my recollections of the occurrences that transpired on the occasion. Domestic circumstances have made it all the more necessary that I should have time for full consideration. However I will endeavour to explain, as clearly as I am able, my view of what took place on the occasion.

3. At the outset I desire to state I had no intention of being disrespectful to Mr. Jones, nor do I consider I was disrespectful. It is true I spoke in an emphatic manner, because I felt deeply; and it is as impossible for me to converse in an indifferent manner on the sufferings I have endured as it would be for any other woman of integrity who had been equally wronged and persecuted. But in referring to the wrong and persecution I had undergone in the past I could have had no design to associate Mr. Jones therewith, so on that point I think he will admit he was mistaken.

4. Candour compels me to state, nevertheless, that some of Mr. Jones' proceedings at the inspection of the school bore to my mind an appearance of unfairness which led to the apprehension that he might possibly participate in the feelings of those who are my avowed and bitter enemies. For example, on entering the school, instead of addressing himself to me, as required, I believe, by the printed instructions to Inspectors, he gave no sign that he was conscious of my presence in the room, but engaged in conversation with a pupil-teacher. He commenced the examination of the school without in any way acknowledging my position or office. When he required the school records, instead of obtaining them from me, their proper custodian, he caused them to be brought to him by a pupil-teacher. In thus persistently ignoring my existence and position as mistress of the school, Mr. Jones seemed to be under the influence of some prejudice which I felt to be injurious to my authority in the school and to my professional standing. When I afterwards discovered that Mr. Jones had questioned the junior teachers privately and separately respecting my actions in the school without giving me any opportunity of knowing what statements they had made to him, the impression made upon my mind by his previous proceedings was confirmed. I am sure I need not point out to an officer so experienced as yourself that dealing with young teachers in such a way is a sure means of producing in their minds indisposition to yield necessary obedience to their superiors, and of rendering the task of directing them more than usually difficult, and as a fact the teachers in question were less amenable to control after than before the inspection.

5. As regards the alleged unequal distribution of the work of the school, I think Mr. Jones must have been misinformed; and in directing me to perform, personally, duties that were not required of my predecessors, or of other teachers holding similar positions to mine, it seemed to me that he allowed himself to go too far. In the matter of corporal punishment, for example, he said I must not delegate it to my first assistant, although there is a printed direction which says that I may. He said I must drill the school myself and keep the records myself, although the records were kept by the first assistant in my predecessor's time. Further, it has been my practice to direct and instruct each pupil-teacher how to frame such a programme as would be suitable for the class under her tuition. All the thought and responsibility devolved upon me, but the mechanical task of writing out the document was regarded as falling directly within the scope of a pupil-teacher's duties; and in insisting that this mechanical work should also be performed by me, I felt Mr. Jones was not treating me fairly.

6. My impression of Mr. Jones' animus was deepened by another circumstance. In examining the class specially taught by myself he was not guided by the Lesson Register, but questioned the pupils upon lessons they had not received. He further discouraged them by contradicting them upon certain points when they answered in accordance with instructions I had given. For example, they stated, in reply to a question, that the atmosphere is invisible; he told them with some severity of manner that they were wrong, for that it is visible; and when they stated there are three calm belts, he said there is but one. The authorities from which I obtained the information on these points are the Glasgow Science Lectures, Maury's Physical Geography of the Sea, and French and German works, all of which state the atmosphere is invisible and there are three calm belts.

7. I have mentioned the foregoing circumstances to show that I had some grounds for believing that Mr. Jones was not disposed to act impartially to me, and that when taken to task by him for supposed delinquencies it became necessary for me to defend myself emphatically in order to remove from his mind any mistaken notions he may have entertained as to my unwillingness or inability to perform the whole of my duties faithfully and efficiently. I felt all the more compelled to take this course because I knew from the observation-book that the mark "excellent" had been awarded to my predecessor for organization, although she had framed no general time-table for the school. The discipline was also highly spoken of, notwithstanding much of the school-drill was performed by the pupils.

8. I admit I was unfortunate enough to use the word "understrappers," though not in the sense Mr. Jones describes. My argument was that it was undignified, as well as unfair, for any officer in a high position to secretly seek information from understrappers to be used to the disadvantage of their immediate superiors. You will perceive from this that the objectionable term was not directly or personally applied to the junior teachers of the school, and I told Mr. Jones that it was not so applied. As regards the procedure itself I would remark that no head of a department would be deemed worthy of ordinary respect or confidence if, from a desire to injure a superior officer, he endeavoured to obtain damaging information by secretly questioning young subordinates.

9. I may add I believed the school duties to be faithfully and judiciously distributed among the teachers, none of whom ever objected, to me, that they were burdened with more than their fair share of the work. On the contrary, they expressed themselves as exceedingly happy under my direction, and pleased that through my management they were able to leave the school three-quarters of an hour earlier every day than under my predecessor; yet not one jot of the proper school duties was ever omitted or performed in a lax or unsatisfactory manner.

I have, &c.,

S. M. BARDWELL.

District-Inspector M'Credie, for report. Urgent.—E.J., B.C., 11/12/82. Inspector Jones, for report.—J.M'C., B.C., 11/12/82.

No. 6.

Memo. from Mr. Inspector Jones to Mr. District-Inspector M'Credie.

Redfern P. (Girls)—In re Mrs. S. Bardwell, the Teacher of.

I HAVE read Mrs. Bardwell's letter (7/12/82), but before dealing with its chief points regarding myself I desire to explain that before I inspected that lady's school my personal acquaintance with her was small; that her school was inspected in the same spirit, manner, and regard to details as other schools were; and that the school was impartially judged upon its merits and in strict accordance with the regulations and the instructions to inspectors and principal teachers respectively.

Mrs. B.'s letter, paragraph 3.—Herein Mrs. Bardwell says she had no intention of being disrespectful to me; considers she was not so, and thinks that I will admit myself to have been mistaken. In reply, I declare declare that I was not at all mistaken, for as I gave her no matter of offence, beyond pointing out her irregularities and shortcomings, I was clearly of opinion that she regarded me as being one with her alleged enemies; and, to judge from the tone of her letter, it would appear that she feels me to be so still.

Paragraph 4.—The matter of this paragraph appears to me to be the result of after-thought, upon the receipt of the Chief Inspector's memorandum (21/11/82), and to have been conceived in the spirit of the legal adage, "No case—abuse the plaintiff." During the inspection of her school Mrs. Bardwell showed not the slightest indication, by word or deed, that I had treated her with discourtesy or of want of due respect for her position; on the contrary, she expressed herself to me as being highly pleased with the manner and thoroughness of my examination, and said it would be well if the same qualities were exhibited in the training school.

Paragraph 4.—Mrs. Bardwell's statement, that when I entered the school I gave no sign of my being conscious of her presence, is, to say the least of it, captious and disingenuous, for she knows well that as I passed from the schoolroom door in the east to the 4th class in the west, which she was teaching, I could not avoid acknowledging the salutations of the teachers of the intervening classes. However, but a few moments elapsed before I addressed myself to her, made known the purport of my visit, and arranged as to the examination of the classes.

As regards the records, the facts of the case are the following:—When I examined the classes I requested the teachers, as I usually do, to produce their lesson registers, and, in two instances, their class-rolls, in order to satisfy myself upon certain points of routine. I clearly remember also that when I first wanted to inspect the admission register and the daily report book I asked Mrs. Bardwell for them, and she pulled them from her drawer and placed them on the table before me. When towards the close of the inspection, however, I wanted the records for further examination, I requested Miss Foreman, in the presence of Mrs. Bardwell, to produce them, never thinking that what I meant to be an act of courtesy would be regarded otherwise.

Mrs. Bardwell's statement, that I questioned the junior teachers privately and separately, is partially true, but in no instance did I disregard the spirit and limits of my instructions; my questions were few and appropriate, and much the same as those which I consider it my duty to ask every junior teacher in my district, viz. :—

1. What are your duties besides that of managing your class?
2. How often has your class been examined since the last inspection of the school?
3. What instruction does your teacher give you in the method of giving lessons?
4. Do you receive regular instruction and home lessons from your teacher?

To some inexperienced minds such questions may appear to be unfair to the teachers concerned, but when you come to consider the number of cases of negligence and irregularity I have discovered by means of such interrogatories the end would appear to justify the means. If, however, the Minister thinks such means objectionable I should be glad to be so informed.

Mrs. Bardwell's statement, that her junior teachers were less amenable to control after than before the inspection, is one I cannot accept, inasmuch as I believe it to have been written with more regard to rhetorical effect than truth. No facts are adduced to support it, and it is clearly at variance with statement (A) in the last paragraph of her letter. Moreover, I do not know of a more earnest, docile, and well-behaved body of junior teachers than those above mentioned.

Paragraph 5.—With regard to my complaint against Mrs. Bardwell as to her unequal distribution of the school duties, I submit that I was not misinformed, nor did I direct her to perform duties not performed by teachers similarly situated as herself. My complaint was based upon her own admissions, my own observations, and the individual statements of the junior teachers as to the extent of their duties; and the conclusion I came to was that she did less work than the head of any other department in my district. In dealing with her, however, in relation to her irregularities, I confined myself strictly to the letter and spirit of the regulations and the instruction to principal teachers, and was studiously kind and forbearing, notwithstanding the singular strangeness of her conduct, described in my B.C. 19/10/82. Moreover, she had promised me to perform her duties with stricter regard to her printed instructions. I would have been satisfied with the hope of seeing a better state of things at the next inspection.

In re corporal punishment.—After observing the assistant teacher cane several batches of late children, and learning that Mrs. Bardwell, rather than cane the children herself, had delegated to her the duty of doing so, I told Mrs. Bardwell that it was her special duty to inflict corporal punishment, and that she was empowered to permit the assistant to punish children occasionally, but that it was never intended that the task of caning pupils should entirely devolve upon the assistant.

In re drill and records.—It is but partially true that I directed Mrs. Bardwell to drill the school and keep the records herself. When she told me that she merely supervised the drill, and entrusted the assistant with the care and keeping of the records-in-chief, I told her that it was her duty to keep at least the admission register, the daily report book, and the fee account; that she should always be present at the assembling and dismissal of the classes; and that she should take a more active part in the drill and the supervision of the playground.

In re Programmes of Lessons.—It is not true that I insisted upon Mrs. Bardwell performing the mechanical task of writing out the programme used by the pupil-teachers. What I did was to read the printed instructions upon the point, and to explain to her that it was clearly intended to mean that such programmes in contradistinction to those framed and written by the assistant-teacher should be framed, written and signed by the teacher. Had I been assured that the programmes had been entirely of Mrs. Bardwell's own framing I would have said nothing about the matter. As it was, the pupil-teacher claimed to have written and framed them, except as regards the Object Lessons.

Paragraph 6.—With regard to Mrs. Bardwell's comments upon my manner of examining her 4th class, I submit,—

1. That it is not true that I was not guided by the Lesson Register. The class was examined upon the subjects for the current quarter, and upon the lessons the pupils acknowledged to have received previously. They were also examined upon matter they ought to have learnt in the second and third classes; and it was chiefly in the elements of Arithmetic, Grammar, and Geography that they showed themselves to the least advantage.

2. It is true that I corrected the pupils' statement that the atmosphere in mass is invisible; but in doing so I was not severe in my manner, for, on the contrary, I found it necessary to be cheerful and encouraging in order to elicit answers to many of my questions. It is not true, however, that I even alluded to the advanced subject of the three calm belts.

Paragraph 7.—With regard to the statements contained herein, I submit,—

1. That Mrs. Bardwell had no real ground for doubting the sincerity and fairness of my action towards her.
2. That I did not in the least call in question her ability or willingness to perform her duties; but that in my opinion she did not perform them with the requisite attention, equity, and efficiency.
3. That as I did not inspect her school in 1881 I am not responsible for the high marks awarded her predecessor for organization and discipline.

Paragraphs 8 and 9.—Finally, I must again disclaim that in inquiring into the condition of the school I had any other motive than that of correcting irregularities, and of placing the school as a whole upon a better footing with due regard to the claims and responsibilities of all concerned.

J. S. JONES,
Inspector.

Chief Inspector,—In consequence of Mrs. Bardwell's previous action against myself, I refrain from submitting any remarks or recommendation in the case.—J.M'C., B.C., 20/1/83.

Under Secretary,—At the close of an inspection it is the duty of an Inspector to point out to the teacher whatever irregularities or shortcomings he may have observed, and to suggest remedies. In his report on the school he states whether or not he has done this, and if the teacher shows a disposition to put matters right no further action is needed.

In this particular case the Inspector did his duty in pointing out defects, but from the manner in which the teacher received his remarks he had no belief that she would attach any importance to them. He therefore recommended that she should "be instructed to be more punctual in her attendance, to pay stricter attention to her printed instructions, and to raise her school to a higher degree of efficiency."

Mrs. Bardwell's letter 7/12/82, and Mr. Jones' memo. on it, in no way show that this recommendation was unnecessary; I therefore now recommend that it be carried out.—E.J., B.C., 29/1/83. Submitted.—G.M., 23/6/83.

Some official explanation of the delay in submitting this is necessary on the papers.—G.H.R., 26/6/83.

For the Minister's information I beg to state that these papers were left, with others, by the Under Secretary, on his handing over charge of the office to me recently. My impression is that he did not submit the papers when received from the Chief Inspector in January last, because Mrs. Bardwell was then under suspension for her conduct in connection with a certain pamphlet.—G.M., 26/6/83.

Seen. The paper should have been submitted in the ordinary course.—G.H.R., 27/6/83.

No. 1.

Petition for a new Public School building, &c., at Wallalong.

To the Honorable the Minister for Public Instruction,—

Sir,

We, the undersigned, the parents and guardians (and others concerned) of the children attending the Wallalong Public School, do humbly request that you may be pleased to take into consideration at once the erection of a new school building, &c., at Wallalong. In extenuation for the request we beg to bring under your notice the very dilapidated condition of the building now in use; also, the fact that it has long since been condemned by the proper officer of the Department as not worth any further repairs, the white ants having so much destroyed the place that it is a very difficult matter to get a nail to hold anywhere. The teachers' residence, too, is very uncomfortable in wet weather, owing to the manner in which the roof, in some places, lets the rain in.

We humbly beg to express our opinion that something ought to be done in the matter as soon as possible, and venture to hope that you will be pleased to grant the request now made, and cause a new building to be erected at an early date.

Your Petitioners ever pray, &c.

HENRY GEERING, SEN.
JOHN FAWCETT.

[Here follow 46 other signatures.]

Wallalong, April, 1882.

I can, from personal observation, indorse the statements contained in this petition.—R.W., 2/5/82. Furnish report.—F.B.S., 2/5/82. The Chief Inspector for report.—W.W., B.C., 6 May, 1882. District-Inspector T. Dwyer, for report.—J.C.M., B.C., 10/5/82.

[Enclosure.]

R. Boag, LL.D., and others, to R. Wisdom, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Enclosed herewith is a Petition for a new School building. We, the undersigned, have the honor to request you to be good enough to present it to the Hon. the Minister of Public Instruction, on behalf of the petitioners, for his consideration, hoping that you will yourself use your efforts to induce the Minister to grant the favour solicited. We beg to add that we do not think the request for a new building at all unduly made, and that all the signatures are those of persons firmly of the opinion that a new building is absolutely necessary.

We beg to subscribe ourselves, yours, &c.,
ROBERT BOAG, LL.D.
H. GEERING.
JOHN PEARSE, J.P., Member S. Board.
ROBERT HAMILTON.
JAMES HESP.

The Chief Inspector,—The Public School at Wallalong is a weatherboard structure, in very bad repair from old age and the ravages of white ants. I am of opinion that this building is past repairing, and that it is therefore desirable to erect new premises without delay. The usual building form is transmitted herewith.—T.D., B.C., 25/5/82.

District-Inspector T. Dwyer,—Should a new school be built on the present site? When Woodville C. E. closes, Iona, Wallalong, and Hinton should meet all demands. Is Wallalong School too close to Hinton?—E.J., B.C., 29/5/82.

Chief Inspector,—Leave of absence from 1st to 10th June ult. has delayed my reply to your inquiries. Since, however, I have made careful inquiry with the following result:—Woodville is only 1 mile from Iona, and there is but one family of four living between Wallalong and Woodville at a distance of $\frac{1}{2}$ a mile from the former school. Hinton school is 1 mile 60 chains from Wallalong. Woodville school children have a good main road to Iona. The distance from Wallalong to Woodville is 2 miles. I beg to recommend the erection of new premises on the present site at Wallalong.—T.D., B.C., 30/6/82.

Wallalong: Before incurring the expense of building a new School will you be good enough to furnish, for the information of the Minister, a rough plan of the locality, showing the positions of the Schools at Hinton, Wallalong, and Iona, and marking on it where the parents reside, whose children at present attend the Wallalong School. It might be well to show also how many of them live within 2 miles of Hinton or Iona Schools. Would any children, now unable to attend, be brought within walking distance, if the Wallalong School were placed a mile or two farther from Hinton in the direction of Seaham?—E.J. Dist.-Inspector T. Dwyer., B.C., 15/7/82.

Chief Inspector,—Map herewith giving required information.*—T.D., B.C., 31/7/82.

District-Inspector T. Dwyer,—It would appear from the map that there is scarcely a family, except the one at the junction of the Woodville and Clarence Town roads, that could not attend at Hinton or Iona. Do you still think a new school should be built under these circumstances?—J.C.M., B.C., 22/8/82.

Deputy Chief Inspector,—It is evident, from your knowledge of this locality, that you are in a far better position to express an opinion on the question than I am, and therefore I leave the matter in your hands.—T.D., B.C., 5/9/82.

District-Inspector T. Dwyer,—This is not an answer to the Deputy Chief Inspector's memo. of 22nd ultimo. Be good enough to furnish a reply thereto. The matter has become very urgent.—E.J., B.C., 20/9/82.

Chief Inspector,—I am still of opinion that a new school should be built at Wallalong.—T.D., B.C., 23/9/82. Under Secretary,—I concur. Building form herewith.—E.J., B.C., 2/10/82. Submitted.—Building form herewith.

Approved.—F.B.S., 10/10/82.

The Architect for Public Schools, for plans and specifications.—W.W., B.C., 12 October, 1882.

[Enclosure.]

Public School at Wallalong.

I ADVISE that schoolroom accommodation be provided for an ordinary attendance of 100 pupils in one department.

In addition to the above one class-room will be necessary for thirty pupils.

A teacher's residence, consisting of four rooms and kitchen, is required.

No. of pupils actually enrolled, 27 boys; 29 girls; total, 56.

Expected enrolment, 56 boys; 44 girls; total, 100.

There is reason to believe that the population of the school district will be permanent and likely to increase.

The buildings should be constructed of bricks, iron roof lined with hardwood.

I estimate the cost, including out-offices, water supply, and furniture, at about £600. The cost per child of the actual enrolment is £10½. The cost per child of the expected enrolment is £6.

Water should be supplied by means of underground tank.

East Maitland, 25th May, 1882.

T. DWYER,
Inspector.

No. 2.

Mr. R. Hamilton to R. Wisdom, Esq., M.P.

Dear Sir,

Wallalong, 28 August, 1882.

I take the opportunity of addressing you, in reference to the new school, &c., for which you were good enough to present a petition to the Minister of Public Instruction some time ago. As yet nothing is known as to what the Minister intends to do. Inquiries were made about two months ago to know if the school could not be removed to a more central position; it could not, I am sure, and all acquainted with the locality are, I am certain, of the same opinion. If it were removed from its present position it would certainly be of little use to anybody; I trust then this will not be an excuse for delay in putting up a new building. I am sure we want a new one badly enough, which you know yourself from personal observation. The appearance of the present building, to say the least, is positively disreputable, and therefore I think we are in common justice entitled to a new one.

Soliciting the favour of you to use your influence again on our behalf,

I am, &c.,

ROBERT HAMILTON.

I can, from personal observation, indorse the statements contained in this letter.—R.W., 8/9/82. Furnish report.—F.B.S., 8/9/82.

The Chief Inspector,—Will you be good enough to cause this matter to be expedited as much as possible.—W.W., B.C., 13 September, 1882. District-Inspector T. Dwyer,—For consideration in connection with papers again referred to you to-day.—E.J., B.C., 20/9/82.

The communication now under notice has been sent to him with a view to the matter being expedited.

No. 6.

Mr. R. Hamilton to R. Wisdom, Esq., M.P.

Dear Sir,

Wallalong, Hinton, 8 January, 1883.

As nobody is aware that anything has been done since the receipt of the letter (dated 12th October last) intimating the decision of the Minister of Public Instruction to erect new school buildings here, I take the opportunity of addressing you to request you, on behalf of several others besides myself, to be good enough to interview the Minister, and ascertain when tenders are likely to be called for.

Any information you may obtain will be very gratefully received. I may state that all who have recently visited the school have expressed their fear of sending their children. One of the corner-posts of the front end of the schoolroom is totally destroyed, and the batten abutting the ends of the weatherboards fallen from its place, having nothing whatever to keep it up. Consequently there is a gap, the whole height of the building and about 4 inches wide, exposed to the view of every one that passes by. There is evidence also that the building has swayed. The front window cannot be opened, lest it should fall to pieces. All are agreed that immediate procedure with the new buildings is a pressing necessity, with which it is hoped you will endeavour to impress the Minister. I may add that had the teacher not been standing by the side of his two little girls, who were playing when the batten fell, they might have been seriously hurt, for he stated, when spoken to, that it would have struck both of them on the head. You will observe that it is three months, within a day or so, since the Minister gave his decision.

I have, &c.,

ROBERT HAMILTON.

The Architect states that plans, &c., will be ready in about a fortnight. Mr. Wisdom informed.—

The Under Secretary of Public Instruction to R. Wisdom, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 11 January, 1883.

With reference to a letter, dated 8th instant, forwarded by you from Mr. R. Hamilton, urging the erection of new Public School buildings at Wallalong as early as possible, I am directed to acquaint you that the Architect has already been instructed to prepare plans and specifications of a new school; and, on inquiry being made of that officer, it has been ascertained that the plans, &c., will be ready in about a fortnight from this date.

I have, &c.,

W. WILKINS,

Under Secretary.

No. 8.

Mr. J. M'Murray and others to R. Wisdom, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Wallalong, 11 April, 1883.

Seeing that it is nearly three months since the Minister for Public Instruction stated that the plans and specification for our new schoolroom, &c., would be ready in about a fortnight, and that tenders have not yet been called for, and that it is getting more and more dilapidated, we, the undersigned, take the opportunity again of requesting you to be so good as to have another interview with the Minister, and try to induce him to have the school proceeded with at once. The present building is a positive disgrace in every sense of the word, and it is by no means the first time it has been taken for a bush shanty, which in appearance it is more like than anything else. We think it a decided injustice to the teacher to expect him to live under a roof in such a leaky condition as the present. Vessels smaller than washing tubs are too small to catch the rain that comes in, in several places in the back rooms; the rain also runs down the inside of the walls, which being ant-eaten and full of powder, become so saturated that they take a very long time to dry. Buckets of water may be caught from the dining-room mantelpiece in the course (say of an hour), during anything like sharp rain.

From what is stated above, we trust you will do all you can to get the Minister to call for tenders at once.

We beg to subscribe ourselves,

Yours, &c.,

JOHN M'MURRAY, JUNIOR,

JOSEPH M'DONALD,

And eleven other signatures.

Any communication in answer may be addressed to Mr. Henry Geering, senior, Hinton. Presented by Mr. Wisdom, M.P.

Information verbally obtained from Architect. Plans, &c., are nearly completed. Tenders will be invited in about a fortnight. Mr. Wisdom informed.—J.H.S., 28/4/83.

Tressingfield, Woodville, 20 August, 1883.

I am requested by the inhabitants of Wallalong to remind you that it is many months since it was determined to erect a new school at that place, and as apparently no further steps have been taken in the matter will you kindly inform me of the cause of delay, or if it is the intention of the department to proceed with the erection at an early date. I beg leave also to remind you that the present building is in such a dilapidated state that it is totally unfit for the purpose for which it is required. Your early attention to the matter will greatly oblige

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 5 November, 1883.

Adverting to your recent inquiries respecting the erection of new Public School buildings at Wallalong, I am directed to acquaint you that plans and specifications for brick buildings, with iron roof, for this school, were prepared in August last. In view, however, of the expensive nature of the works, the Minister of Public Instruction having obtained a further report upon the subject, decided to erect wooden buildings in lieu of those proposed. The architect was accordingly instructed on the 10th ultimo to take the necessary steps in the matter.

2. These buildings will accommodate 100 pupils. The enrolment at the school for the quarter ended September last was 67, the average attendance being 44·8 only.

3. A teacher's residence of four rooms and a kitchen will also be provided.

East Maitland, 17 January, 1884.

WALLALONG is an agricultural settlement on the Paterson River. A Government primary school has been in operation in this locality for the past twenty-four years. The present school buildings are old and unfit for educational purposes. There were 55 children enrolled this morning, and 54 present. Seven more are expected to attend next week. Of these 62 children 22 live 2 miles or less from the Hinton Public School, which is distant from Wallalong 1 mile 60 chains. Five of these 22 children belong to the teacher.

The remaining 40 children live close to the Paterson River. Were the Wallalong school closed they would be outside the operation of the compulsory clause of the Public Instruction Act.

Iona Public School is 4 miles from Wallalong by the ordinary road, and over 2 miles in a straight line. I am of opinion that, as the land stands at present, a school is needed at Wallalong. I therefore recommend the erection of the proposed new buildings.

T. DWYER,

District Inspector.

Under Secretary,—I concur.—E.J., B.C., 22/1/84. Submitted in connection with Minister's minute of 28th ultimo, on paper 32,795-83.—G.M., 23/1/84. Omit residence. Rest approved.—G.H.R., 29/1/84.

The figures show how many attend Wallalong School Six may be added to the number for my own, others attend, but not regularly, so they are not marked.
 The dotted line thus ——— shows a footpath which, however cannot be often used in the morning, the Lucerne being too wet with dew and wetting the children to the waist: they have therefore to go by the dotted roads.

No. 1.

Petition for a new Public School building, &c., at Wallalong.

To the Honorable the Minister for Public Instruction,—

Sir,

We, the undersigned, the parents and guardians (and others concerned) of the children attending the Wallalong Public School, do humbly request that you may be pleased to take into consideration at once the erection of a new school building, &c., at Wallalong. In extenuation for the request, we beg to bring under your notice the very dilapidated condition of the building now in use; also the fact that it has long since been condemned by the proper officer of the Department as not worth any further repairs, the white ants having so much destroyed the place that it is a very difficult matter to get a nail to hold anywhere. The teacher's residence too is very uncomfortable in wet weather, owing to the manner in which the roof, in some places, lets the rain in.

We humbly beg to express our opinion that something ought to be done in the matter as soon as possible, and venture to hope that you will be pleased to grant the request now made, and cause a new building to be erected at an early date.

Your petitioners ever pray, &c.
Wallalong, April, 1882.

HENRY GEERING, SEN.
JOHN FAWCETT.

R. Boag, LL.D., and others, to R. Wisdom, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Enclosed herewith is a petition for a new school building. We, the undersigned, have the honor to request you to be good enough to present it to the Hon. the Minister of Public Instruction, on behalf of the petitioners, for his consideration, hoping that you will yourself use your efforts to induce the Minister to grant the favour solicited. We beg to add that we do not think the request for a new building at all unduly made, and that all the signatures are those of persons firmly of the opinion that a new building is absolutely necessary.

We beg to subscribe ourselves, yours, &c.,

ROBERT BOAG, LL.D.
H. GEERING.
JOHN PEARSE, J.P., Member S. Board.
ROBERT HAMILTON.
JAMES HESP.

The Chief Inspector,—The Public School at Wallalong is a weatherboard structure, in very bad repair from old age and the ravages of white ants. I am of opinion that this building is past repairing, and that it is therefore desirable to erect new premises without delay. The usual building form is transmitted herewith.—T.D., B.C., 25/5/82.

District-Inspector T. Dwyer,—Should a new school be built on the present site? When Woodville C. E. closes, Iona, Wallalong, and Hinton should meet all demands. Is Wallalong school too close to Hinton?—E.J., B.C., 29/5/82.

Chief Inspector,—Leave of absence from 1st to 10th June ult. has delayed my reply to your inquiries. Since, however, I have made careful inquiry, with the following result:—Woodville is only 1 mile from Iona, and there is but one family of four living between Wallalong and Woodville, at a distance of $\frac{1}{2}$ a mile from the former school. Hinton school is 1 mile 60 chains from Wallalong. Woodville school children have a good main road to Iona. The distance from Wallalong to Woodville is 2 miles. I beg to recommend the erection of new premises on the present site at Wallalong.—T.D., B.C., 30/6/82.

Wallalong: Before incurring the expense of building a new school will you be good enough to furnish, for the information of the Minister, a rough plan of the locality, showing the positions of the schools at Hinton, Wallalong, and Iona, and marking on it where the parents reside whose children at present attend the Wallalong School. It might be well to show also how many of them live within 2 miles of Hinton or Iona Schools. Would any children, now unable to attend, be brought within walking distance, if the Wallalong School were placed a mile or two further from Hinton in the direction of Seaham?—E.J. Dis.-Inspector T. Dwyer, B.C., 15/7/82.

Chief Inspector,—Map herewith giving required information.*—T.D., B.C., 31/7/82.

District-Inspector T. Dwyer,—It would appear from the map that there is scarcely a family, except the one at the junction of the Woodville and Clarence Town Roads, that could not attend at Hinton or Iona. Do you still think a new school should be built under these circumstances?—J.C.M., B.C., 22/8/82.

Deputy Chief Inspector,—It is evident, from your knowledge of this locality, that you are in a far better position to express an opinion on the question than I am, and therefore I leave the matter in your hands.—T.D., B.C., 5/9/82.

District-Inspector T. Dwyer,—This is not an answer to the Deputy Chief Inspector's memo of 22nd ultimo. Be good enough to furnish a reply thereto. The matter has become very urgent.—E.J., B.C., 20/9/82.

Chief Inspector,—I am still of opinion that a new school should be built at Wallalong.—T.D., B.C., 23/9/82. Under-Secretary,—I concur. Building form herewith.—E.J., B.C., 2/10/82. Submitted.—Building form herewith. Approved.—F.B.S., 10/10/82.

The Architect for Public Schools, for plans and specifications.—W.W., B.C., 12 October, 1882.

Public School at Wallalong.

I ADVISE that schoolroom accommodation be provided for an ordinary attendance of 100 pupils in one department.
 In addition to the above, one class-room will be necessary for thirty pupils.
 A teacher's residence, consisting of four rooms and kitchen, is required.
 No. of pupils actually enrolled, 27 boys, 29 girls; total, 56.
 Expected enrolment, 56 boys, 44 girls; total, 100.
 There is reason to believe that the population of the school district will be permanent and likely to increase.
 The buildings should be constructed of bricks, iron roof lined with hardwood.
 I estimate the cost, including out-offices, water supply, and furniture, at about £600. The cost per child of the actual enrolment is £10⁵/₈. The cost per child of the expected enrolment is £6.
 Water should be supplied by means of underground tank.

East Maitland, 25th May, 1882.

T. DWYER,
Inspector.

No. 2.

Mr. R. Hamilton to Mr. Wisdom, M.P.

Dear Sir,

Wallalong, 28 August, 1882.

I take the opportunity of addressing you in reference to the new school, &c., for which you were good enough to present a petition to the Minister of Public Instruction some time ago. As yet nothing is known as to what the Minister intends to do. Inquiries were made about two months ago to know if the school could not be removed to a more central position; it could not, I am sure, and all acquainted with the locality are, I am certain, of the same opinion. If it were removed from its present position it would certainly be of little use to anybody; I trust then this will not be an excuse for delay in putting up a new building. I am sure we want a new one badly enough, which you know yourself from personal observation. The appearance of the present building, to say the least, is positively disreputable, and therefore I think we are in common justice entitled to a new one.

Soliciting the favour of you to use your influence again on our behalf,—

I am, &c.,

ROBERT HAMILTON.

I can, from personal observation, indorse the statements contained in this letter.—R.W., 8/9/82.

Mr. R. Hamilton to Mr. Wisdom, M.P.

Dear Sir,

Wallalong, Hinton, 8 January, 1883.
As nobody is aware that anything has been done since the receipt of the letter (dated 12th October last) intimating the decision of the Minister of Public Instruction to erect new school buildings here, I take the opportunity of addressing you to request you, on behalf of several others besides myself, to be good enough to interview the Minister, and ascertain when tenders are likely to be called for

Any information you may obtain will be very gratefully received. I may state that all who have recently visited the school have expressed their fear of sending their children. One of the corner-posts of the front end of the schoolroom is totally destroyed, and the batten abutting the ends of the weatherboards fallen from its place, having nothing whatever to keep it up. Consequently there is a gap, the whole height of the building and about 4 inches wide, exposed to the view of every one that passes by. There is evidence also that the building has swayed. The front window cannot be opened, lest it should fall to pieces. All are agreed that immediate procedure with the new buildings is a pressing necessity, with which it is hoped you will endeavour to impress the Minister. I may add that had the teacher not been standing by the side of his two little girls, who were playing when the batten fell, they might have been seriously hurt, for he stated, when spoken to, that it would have struck both of them on the head. You will observe that it is three months, within a day or so, since the Minister gave his decision.

I have, &c.,

ROBERT HAMILTON.

The Architect states that plans, &c., will be ready in about a fortnight. Mr. Wisdom informed.—

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 11 January, 1883.

With reference to a letter, dated 8th instant, forwarded by you from Mr. R. Hamilton, urging the erection of new Public School buildings at Wallalong as early as possible, I am directed to acquaint you that the Architect has already been instructed to prepare plans and specifications of a new school; and, on inquiry being made of that officer, it has been ascertained that the plans, &c., will be ready in about a fortnight from this date.

No. 8.

Mr. J. M'Murray and others to Mr. Wisdom, M.P.

Sir,

Wallalong, 11 April, 1883.

Seeing that it is nearly three months since the Minister for Public Instruction stated that the plans and specification for our new schoolroom, &c., would be ready in about a fortnight, and that tenders have not yet been called for, and that it is getting more and more dilapidated, we, the undersigned, take the opportunity again of requesting you to be so good as to have another interview with the Minister, and try to induce him to have the school proceeded with at once. The present building is a positive disgrace in every sense of the word, and it is by no means the first time it has been taken for a bush shanty, which in appearance it is more like than anything else. We think it a decided injustice to the teacher to expect him to live under a roof in such a leaky condition as the present. Vessels smaller than washing-tubs are too small to catch the rain that comes in, in several places in the back rooms; the rain also runs down the inside of the walls, which being ant-eaten and full of powder, become so saturated that they take a very long time to dry. Buckets of water may be caught from the dining-room mantelpiece in the course (say) of an hour, during anything like sharp rain.

From what is stated above, we trust you will do all you can to get the Minister to call for tenders at once.

We beg to subscribe ourselves,

Yours, &c.,

JOHN M'MURRAY, JUNIOR,

JOSEPH M'DONALD,

and eleven other signatures.

Any communication in answer may be addressed to Mr. Henry Geering, senior, Hinton. Presented by Mr. Wisdom, M.P.

 Sir, I am requested by the inhabitants of Wallalong to remind you that it is many months since it was determined to erect a new school at that place; and as apparently no further steps have been taken in the matter, will you kindly inform me of the cause of delay, or if it is the intention of the Department to proceed with the erection at an early date. I beg leave also to remind you that the present building is in such a dilapidated state that it is totally unfit for the purpose for which it is required.  Adverting to your recent inquiries respecting the erection of new Public School buildings at Wallalong, I am directed to acquaint you that plans and specifications for brick buildings, with iron roof, for this school, were prepared in August last. In view, however, of the expensive nature of the works, the Minister of Public Instruction having obtained a further report upon the subject, decided to erect wooden buildings in lieu of those proposed. The Architect was accordingly instructed, on the 10th ultimo, to take the necessary steps in the matter,

Wallalong—Proposed new wooden School buildings for.

East Maitland, 17 January, 1884.

WALLALONG is an agricultural settlement on the Paterson River. A Government Primary School has been in operation in this locality for the past twenty-four years. The present school buildings are old and unfit for educational purposes. There were 55 children enrolled this morning, and 54 present. Seven more are expected to attend next week. Of these 62 children, 22 live 2 miles or less from the Hinton Public School, which is distant from Wallalong 1 mile 60 chains. Five of these 22 children belong to the teacher.

The remaining 40 children live close to the Paterson River. Were the Wallalong School closed, they would be outside the operation of the compulsory clause of the Public Instruction Act.

Iona Public School is 4 miles from Wallalong by the ordinary road, and over 2 miles in a straight line. I am of opinion that, as the law stands at present, a school is needed at Wallalong; I therefore recommend the erection of the proposed new buildings.

The Teacher, Wallalong, to The District Inspector.

Sir, Public School, Wallalong, 4 April, 1884.

I beg most respectfully to ask some assistance in obtaining a supply of water. I have been wheeling it on a barrow for nearly three months, from a distance of at least a 1/2 mile; but the supply is likely to become exhausted in a few weeks should the drought continue. I shall not then be able to obtain it without going a distance of 3 miles, which is too far, as I have no means of carrying it so great a distance. I should not, probably, be out of drinking water if the tank did not leak—of doing which there is cause for strong suspicion, as the lower half lasts considerably longer than the upper. The tank has now only an inch or two of water in it, so it would be a good time to examine it. I would also draw attention to the state of all the chimneys in the residence. The kitchen chimney (about 14 feet high) is at least a foot out of the perpendicular, leaning inwards; it is therefore positively dangerous, so I trust I may be permitted to request immediate attention to it. When a fire is lit in the back room of the residence a quantity of smoke penetrates the crevices of the chimney into the schoolroom; a fire cannot be lit at all in the front room, for the same reason. It is needless to say much about the leaky condition of the roof; all I can say is I dread the plight of the residence on the return of wet weather.

I have, &c.,
A. G. HADDOCK,
Teacher.

Chief Inspector,—Rain has since fallen. I am of opinion that a new residence is needed at Wallalong, and recommend that one be erected without delay.—T.D., 16/4/84.

Under Secretary,—I should be glad to know what works have been sanctioned for Wallalong.—E.J., 19/4/84. On the 9th April, instant, Mr. Stuart's tender for erecting a wooden building, without a residence, was accepted. Provision is made in the contract for the supply of two 400-gallon tanks.—J.H.S., 24/4/84.

The Chief Inspector,—Information supplied hereon.—B.C., 24/4/84, G.M.
 Under Secretary,—When the new school is built, the present one, which is attached to the residence, might possibly be used in some way to enlarge the residence. I recommend that the matter be referred to the Architect for report as to whether the buildings are worth repairing.—J.C.M., 26/4/84.

Memorandum from Architect to Acting Under Secretary.

Wallalong—Condition of Public School buildings at. Your B.C., dated 5th instant, on paper No. 84-10,502.

I HAVE had the Public School building at the above-named place inspected, and it is reported to me that the white ants "are entirely swarming throughout the whole of the wood-work," nearly the whole of the lining has been eaten by them, and they are now in the hardwood studs and weatherboards. The building is quite unfit for use and past repair, and will be a source of danger to the new wooden school, which must be erected within a few feet of the old building, and will prove a supply of fresh food for the ants. The best course, if practicable, would be to pull down the old building and burn all the materials on the spot, before beginning the new work, as by this means the ants would be got rid of for a time.

As, however, this course would involve the closing of the school for several months, I presume it will not be considered practicable. I think, therefore, that it would be well to reconsider the whole question, with a view to substituting a cheap brick schoolroom for the proposed wooden one. The contract price for the wooden building is £275. A brick building of the same size, built as slightly as is compatible with safety, and quite plain, could be built for about £100 more.

WILLM. E. KEMP,
 Architect for Public Schools.

The Chief Inspector, for report. Papers appended—G.M., B.C., 27th May, 1884.
 Under Secretary,—Brick recommended, provided the cost be not more than that stated above.—E.J., 2/6/84. Submitted. Approved.—W. J. T., 7/6/84. The Architect for Public Schools. Very urgent. To note, and for necessary action. Arrangements should at once be made with the present contractor for stopping work in regard to the wooden building.—G.M., B.C., 9 June, 1884.

Adverting to my letter, dated 9th April last, notifying the acceptance of Mr. J. Stuart's tender for the erection of a new wooden building for Public School purposes at Wallalong, I am now directed to acquaint you that, having had under notice a report from the Architect, from which it appears that the white ants are very prevalent in the locality, the Minister of Public Instruction has decided to erect a brick building for this school, instead of the proposed wooden one, at an additional cost of about £100.

Dear Sir,

Public School, Wallalong, May 31, 1884.

Owing to the dangerous state of the chimney of the above school, we the undersigned have had to hold a meeting to see what could be done, as the children are certainly in great danger of their lives. We feel that we shall be under the necessity of withholding the children if something is not soon done—say a week. We beg to request that you will represent the matter to the Minister at once, the teacher having sent the Inspector a letter a week ago, and no notice taken of it yet. We consider that we shall not be responsible for taking it down in a week's time from this.

MR. WISDOM, M.P., presented this letter, and the matter seems very urgent, as the chimney may fall and injure some of the children. Let immediate instructions be given to have the chimney pulled down and the space boarded in. If the Department has no one at the place who can do the work, a local man should be employed to do it. Mr. Wisdom says John Lavis, Hinton, would see to it. This is to be carried out to-day.—W.J.T., 4/6/84.

Dangerous state of chimney.

Sir,

Public School, Wallalong, Hinton, 25 May.

About a fortnight ago two bricks fell down from the inside of the chimney, in the front room of the residence, and this morning thirty or forty fell. On examining the back of the chimney, which forms a portion of the schoolroom wall, I found it very much cracked and many of the bricks quite loose. I took one out with my hand (a thing quite easy), whereon there was a hole right through to the flue, showing that in that part the chimney was only one brick thick. I am positive it is too dangerous for the children to be anywhere near it. Should it fall before it is taken down, only the children at the ends of the room would possibly escape injury, if a shock to the system.

There is now no doubt of the necessity of "immediate" attention to this chimney, as well as to the one in the kitchen, which is leaning more visibly every day. Please send word at once what I am to do about carrying on the school, though, if you could, it would be better for you to come and see for yourself, which I much prefer.

I have, &c.,

Chief Inspector,—I have already recommended the erection of a new residence at Wallalong. I now repeat my recommendation, and also advise that this letter be forwarded to the Architect for attention.—T.D., 27/5/84.

Dear Sir,

Wallalong, Hinton, 7 July, 1884.

Will you kindly make inquiries of Minister of Public Instruction as to what is to be done about our teacher's residence at this place, and let me know also if any tender has yet been accepted for the erection of the brick school building. If anything is to be done in regard to the teacher's residence, I should like to know when. I think it wants attention at once, as much as the school, now that there is no chimney in his sitting-room, and the ceiling all broken down. The room is useless during such weather as this, for a light cannot be possibly kept in it for the draught, and he has to keep a large tub in it to catch the rain that comes in through the aperture in the roof for this chimney, it being the one recently taken down for the safety of the children in the school. The residence is not at all fit for any teacher to live in.

Wallalong.—Proposed Public School. Your B.C., dated the 9th ultimo, on paper No. 84-13,498.

I HAVE prepared a plan for a brick building, and have obtained a tender from James Stuart, the contractor, for substituting the erection of the brick building for the wooden one already contracted for. He asks £535, being £260 more than his contract price for a wooden building. I think the brick building would be worth quite that much more than the wooden one in usefulness to the Department, but the difference of price asked is so unreasonable, being more than twice what it should be, that I cannot recommend the acceptance acceptance of the tender; and as the Department is bound to Stuart, only two courses are open to us,—either to let him finish his contract for erecting a wooden building, or to cancel his contract and pay him compensation for the loss of the work, and call for fresh tenders for the erection of the brick building.

I should prefer the latter course, but so much time has already elapsed from various causes that I think it would be better to let the work go on as contracted for.

Sir,

Hinton, 25 June, 1884.

In answer to your letter dated 17th ultimo, asking for tender for a brick building for Public School at Wallalong, in lieu of the wooden building I had agreed to erect, I have the honor to submit the enclosed, which I hope will meet with your approval. In doing so, I beg leave to draw your attention to the fact that the bricks delivered at Wallalong will cost one-third more than at Maitland or any more accessible place in the vicinity.

Abstract of Correspondence.

Wallalong Public School.—As to erection of new buildings.

12 October, 1882.—Architect instructed to prepare plans, &c., of new building and residence to be constructed of brick. Mr. Wisdom, M.P., informed on same date.

11 January, 1883.—Mr. Wisdom informed that Architect states that plans, &c., will be ready in a fortnight.

28 April, 1883.—Architect again consulted, and Mr. Wisdom informed that plans and specifications were nearly completed, and that tenders would be invited in about a fortnight.

27 August, 1883.—Mr. J. Pearse informed that plans were prepared, and that the specifications would be ready shortly, so that it was expected tenders for the work would be invited at an early date.

31 August, 1883.—Architect forwarded plans and specifications of proposed new buildings. Estimated cost, £1,200.

5 September, 1883.—Minister (Mr. Reid) directed that special report be obtained as to incurring proposed expenditure.

26 September, 1883.—Chief Inspector recommended wooden building and residence, to cost about £600. Minister approved.

9 October, 1883.—Architect instructed to prepare plans, &c., of wooden buildings (including residence).

5 November, 1883.—Mr. Wisdom informed of decision to substitute wooden buildings for brick ones.

23 November, 1883.—Architect forwarded plans, &c., of wooden buildings. Estimated cost, £650.

28 December, 1883.—Minister asked for special report as to necessity for work.

22 January, 1884.—Chief Inspector recommended that the proposed wooden buildings be erected in accordance with the plans, &c., prepared.

29 January, 1884.—Minister decided to omit the residence from the plans, and to erect wooden schoolroom only.

31 January, 1884.—Architect instructed to amend plans, &c., by omitting residence.

12 February, 1884.—Architect forwarded amended plans.

9 April, 1884.—Mr. J. Stuart's tender for wooden building accepted. Price, £275.

26 April, 1884.—Chief Inspector reported that, when new school built, the present one might be used to enlarge residence.

5 May, 1884.—Architect asked to report whether existing building is worth repairing.

21 May, 1884.—Architect reported that white ants were swarming throughout the whole of the wood-work of the present building, and that the premises were past repair; also that the best course would be to pull down the building and burn the materials. As this course would, however, involve the closing of the school for several months, the Architect suggested the reconsideration of the whole question, with a view of substituting a cheap brick schoolroom for the proposed wooden one. He estimated the additional cost at about £100 more than the price of the wooden building, which was £275. The Chief Inspector, having been consulted, recommended that a brick building be erected instead of a wooden one, provided the cost be not more than that stated by the Architect, viz., £375. The Minister approved of this, and the Architect was instructed on the 9th ultimo to take the necessary action in the matter.

The

The Architect now forwards plans, &c., of a brick building, and an offer from Mr. Stuart to carry out the work for £535, being £260 more than his contract price for the wooden building. As this offer is not a reasonable one, he does not recommend its acceptance, but points out that two courses are open,—either to let Stuart finish his original contract for a wooden building, or cancel his contract, pay him compensation, and call for fresh tenders for a brick building. Under all the circumstances he thinks that it would be better to adopt the former course, that is to erect a wooden building and not a brick one.

It should be noted, however, that from the Architect's reports as to the prevalence of white ants, it appears that a wooden building would be unsuitable for the district, and he now states that the brick building would be worth even the increased price asked for by Stuart in extra usefulness.—J.H.S., 11/7/94. Submitted.

Mr. Wisdom, M.P., called upon me on Thursday, and complained strongly of the delay in this matter.

In view of the many changes of decision which have taken place since the question of building was first dealt with, I submit that the decision to erect buildings of brick be adhered to, notwithstanding the extra cost. From the Architect's memo. of the 21st May last, it appears that white ants abound at Wallalong. The plans were altered to provide for a brick structure in place of a wooden one, at the Architect's suggestion.—G.M., 14/7/84.

Let the wooden building be built, as per contract, for £275, to prevent any further delay.—W.J.T., 14/7/84. Chief Inspector to note.—15/7/84.

Sir, Superior Public School, Wagga Wagga, 17 December, 1881.
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your memorandum of the 23rd ultimo, in reference to my examination for classification corresponding to the classification of my school.

In view of the onerous duties devolving upon me as principal teacher of this school, I regret I have not been able to make that progress in my special studies for a first-class certificate as to warrant any hope of success at the ensuing examination. The strain consequent upon having to teach three classes (fourth, fifth, and pupil-teachers), to prepare lessons for such classes, and to supervise so large a school as this (attending to the multitudinous duties arising therefrom) is very great, and will, I trust, be considered sufficient to exempt me from such examination, or, failing that, to have it postponed until the December examination of 1882. I beg, therefore, to make application accordingly.

I have, &c.,
JOHN DART.

B.C., Chief Inspector,—Mr. Dart was reminded of the obligation placed upon him to gain class I by examination when the school was raised to class II, and during the current year professes to have been studying with a view to such examination. Owing to the progress of the town and district of Wagga Wagga the school has continued to increase in numbers, and has been promoted to the rank of a Superior Public School. The position of head master of the school is thus an important one, which ought to be held by a teacher of proved attainments and qualifications. Rightly viewed, the arguments advanced by Mr. Dart form a sound reason for the appointment of a first class teacher as required by the regulations, rather than a reason for exempting him from examination for that class. Mr. Dart holds II B. by examination, and is dutiful and assiduous. I am of opinion, however, that he should prove himself, by examination, to be duly qualified to conduct a second class school and to efficiently teach in the prescribed subjects the fifteen boys who pay the extra 7s. per month as pupils of the fifth class of the Wagga Wagga Superior Public School. Mr. Dart has not presented himself for examination at the regular examination which was commenced this morning, and which he was summoned to attend. I would recommend that Mr. Dart should be informed that, in view of the rank and importance of the school, the Minister considers it absolutely necessary that a proved duly qualified teacher should have charge, and that, consequently, he (Mr. Dart) must either obtain a first-class certificate by examination at the regular examination to be held about next Midwinter, or be removed to a school corresponding to his present classification as early as practicable thereafter.—D.S.H., Wagga Wagga, 19 December, 1881.

Under Secretary,—I recommend that this teacher be called upon to show cause why he should not be removed to a less important school. His classification is two degrees below that required to render him eligible for appointment to a school of the class to which the school under his charge belongs. He was summoned to attend examination in order that he might raise his classification, but he failed to obey the summons.—E.J., B.C., 21/12/81.

(No. 82-31.)

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 3 January, 1882.

Your letter dated 17th ultimo, as to examination.

From the Inspector's report it appears that you failed to attend the examination of teachers which was commenced on 19th ultimo, and to which you were duly summoned.

In view of this neglect, and of the fact that your classification is two degrees below that necessary to render you eligible for appointment to a school of the class to which the one now under your charge belongs, the Minister has directed me to call upon you to show cause why you should not be removed to a less important school.

Wagga Wagga—Teacher's failure to attend examination: Your memo. of 19th ultimo.
In view of Mr. Dart's neglect to attend the examination, and of the fact that his classification is two degrees below that necessary to render him eligible for his present position, he has been called upon to show cause why he should not be removed to a less important school.

No. 4.

Mr. J. Dart to The Chief Inspector.

Sir,

Superior Public School, Wagga Wagga, 14 January, 1882.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 3rd instant, No. 82-31, calling upon me to show cause why I should not be removed to a less important school. In reply, I beg to submit for the Minister's consideration:—

1. That my career as a teacher has hitherto been marked with success and advancement. After serving my term of pupil-teachership at the Newcastle Public School, and undergoing the usual course of training, I was appointed fourth assistant in the Model Public School, Fort-street, occupying that position for four years, when I received the appointment of Principal Teacher of the Mudgee Public School, which I held for seven years, the school meanwhile increasing in numbers and efficiency.

To mark its sense of my success in that position the late Council of Education promoted me to class II, section A, and to such success I owe my present position. From the date of my entry upon duty here, viz., 1st October, 1879, the school has steadily increased in numbers, in efficiency, and in popular esteem, notwithstanding the existence of many drawbacks. The number of pupils enrolled for the quarter ending December, 1879, was 445; and for the quarter ending December, 1881, was 669.

As a proof of increased efficiency I beg to point out that the school was, in April last, advanced to the rank of a Superior Public School.

2. Fully recognising the importance of qualifying myself in accordance with the regulations of the 17th June, 1880, for the position I now hold, I am assiduously studying for the next examination, and shall be prepared to sit thereat if permitted.

3. In view of the foregoing, I beg most respectfully to request that I may not be submitted to the degradation of being removed to a less important school, but that an opportunity may be granted me of meeting the requirements of the regulations referred to.

I have, &c.,

JOHN DART.

B.C., Chief Inspector,—Mr. Dart's representations are correct, and establish, I think, valid ground for retaining him in his present position until he is afforded an opportunity at the regular examination, to be held next Midwinter, of gaining the necessary classification (I B.), like the heads of the other Departments. I would recommend that Mr. Dart should be informed that he will be afforded an opportunity of gaining class I B. by examination about next Midwinter, and that meanwhile he will be allowed to retain his present position.—D.S.H., Wagga, 16/1/82.

Under Secretary,—I recommend that this teacher be censured for failing to attend the examination held on 19th December last, to which he was duly summoned, and that he be informed that, should he fail to attend the examination to be held about June next, it will become necessary to remove him to a less important school.—E.J., B.C., 28/1/82.

Submitted. Approved.—F.B.S., 16/2/82.

Your letter of 14th January last, as to your failure to attend examination.

HAVING had under notice your letter of 14th January last, showing cause why you should not be removed to a less important school, on account of your failure to attend the recent examination of teachers, the Minister has directed me to censure you for omission to attend in accordance with the directions of the District Inspector. I am at the same time to caution you that, should you fail to attend the examination to be held in June next, and to obtain a first-class certificate, it will become necessary to remove you to a less important school.

No. 7.

Mr. J. Dart to The Chief Inspector.

Application for leave of absence and postponement of examination.

Sir,

Superior Public School, Wagga Wagga, 15 June, 1882.

I have the honor to inform you that the severe course of study I have undergone during the past half year, together with the performance of the onerous duties of a school of this character, has so affected my health that I have been compelled to seek medical advice and attendance. Dr. Tayler, some weeks weeks ago, forbade any further study on my part and recommended rest and change. I was reluctant to take such advice, but now feel absolutely compelled to.

In consequence of this I am unprepared for the ensuing examination, and respectfully request that it may be postponed till December next, and that leave of absence, from 1st July to 31st August, may be granted me. Owing to the impossibility of obtaining a qualified locum tenens in Wagga Wagga, I am unable to propose any arrangements for the performance of my duties. I would therefore request that such arrangements may be made by the Department.

During the past twelve months I have not had leave of absence, and during the whole of my career as a teacher, extending over nearly eighteen years, I have not asked for leave of absence on account of ill-health, and extremely regret being compelled to do so on this occasion.

Appended hereto is Dr. Tayler's professional certificate.

I have, &c.,
JOHN DART.

B.C., Chief Inspector,—

There is no doubt that Mr. Dart has fallen into a weak and bad state of health, the result of study to prepare himself to conduct a Superior Public School, and to obtain a first-class certificate by examination, added to work connected with Church and Sunday-school affairs.

As to his assiduity and attention to duty there can be no doubt but he obtained postponement of his examination for class I. from last Christmas to the coming Midwinter, and from what I know of him I am inclined to doubt whether, after two months rest and change, he would be able in four months to qualify himself to obtain class I. by examination. He now holds II B. by examination, and his present school is in class II.

In view of his past good services, and of the representations contained in his letter and in Dr. Tayler's certificate (herewith), I think, however, that the Minister might afford him a final chance of retaining his present position by passing examination for class I. next Christmas, and I would recommend that he should be so informed.

I have dealt with the question of granting Mr. Dart two months leave of absence in a separate communication.

D.S.H., 17/6/82.

Under Secretary,—As in other cases of this kind, I recommend that Mr. Dart be informed that he need not attend the examination, but that while he continues to be without the necessary classification he will be liable to removal to a less important school, should the Minister at any time consider such a step expedient.—E.J., B.C., 20/6/82.

The cases of these, and of the unenrolled children, have been submitted by the teacher to the Attendance Officer.

II.—Fees.

III.—

III.—Organization.

The schoolroom provides insufficient accommodation, but a new and commodious one is in course of erection. A good supply of requisites is kept up, and due care is bestowed upon the appearance and preservation of the property generally. The records are properly kept, and suitable lesson programmes and time-table are prepared. The teaching power corresponds to prescribed allowance, but, in view of the special circumstances of the school, appears to me to be insufficient. It is defectively distributed, in so far that the master has left himself too much to do. Some 5th-class boys were prematurely promoted; otherwise the classification is appropriate.

IV.—Discipline.

A good attendance is maintained. The pupils are clean in person and dress, punctual in attendance, respectful in demeanour, orderly, inclined to work, and well drilled. The prevailing spirit is healthy and pleasing.

V.—Attainments.

The course is complete, and in the lower classes the subjects are efficiently taught throughout, and the results are good. Geometry has been introduced as an extra in the 3rd class, the general results in which exceed very fair, Scripture and drawing being weak. The 4th class and the 5th (special) class are taught by the master, but exhibit weaknesses. This is partly owing to the master being taxed with the two classes, and partly owing to his own want of attainments (he has twice failed to respond to summons to examination). The placing of certain boys in the 5th class who are not fit for it has also lowered the general proficiency of that class. Dictation, arithmetic, grammar, drawing, geometry, mensuration, and Latin are not efficiently taught; and home exercises have not been examined and corrected closely. The pupils are very attentive; their mental culture is very fair to good. The general proficiency is good in lower 2nd class, nearly good in upper 2nd, very fair+ in 3rd, very fair in 4th, and fair to very fair in 5th; average, very fair+.

VI.—Teaching Staff.

The strength of the staff is that allowed by the ordinary rules for the attendance, but the special circumstances attaching to the school as a Superior school appear to me to require a special staff. Neither the teacher nor the assistant is duly qualified, the classification of each being two grades below that required. Both are very dutiful and painstaking. The pupil teachers are dutiful and competent, and are duly trained and instructed.

VII.—Summary.

The material organization is very fair, but is being made satisfactory. The internal organization, as far as the teacher is responsible for it, is very fair to good. The discipline is very good. The results of instruction, all round, exceed very fair; the most advanced subjects are the weakest. Considered with relation to the standard which a Superior school ought to reach, the general efficiency may be rated at very fair+. The master's general usefulness as a teacher approaches good, though he has not proved himself fully competent for a school such as this. The assistant has proved himself useful and efficient while in charge of the lower section, but is not capable of anything higher. I rate his general usefulness at fair. Messrs. Patton and Leemon, as pupil teachers, deserve the marks very fair and good+ respectively.

VIII.—Recommendation.

I have given to the master and each of the subordinates necessary information and advice, and I feel satisfied that they will do their best to profit by them. I am of opinion, however, that as a Superior school in a large town the school will not fulfil its intended end until the quality of the teaching power is improved and its amount increased. The present staff consists of a II B. teacher, a III B. assistant, and two pupil teachers. It should, I think, consist of a I B. teacher, a II B. assistant, and three pupil teachers. The questions of the removal of the teacher and the assistant have already been dealt with. I would suggest that, under the special circumstances of the school, I should be authorized to nominate a third pupil teacher.

No. 10.

Memo. from Mr. District-Inspector Hicks to Chief Inspector.

Wagga Wagga Superior, Deniliquin: Proposed exchange of teachers.

WAGGA WAGGA is a Superior Public School in class II, and is the only school in my district requiring a first-class teacher. The present master, Mr. J. Dart, holds only II B. by examination, but before being sent to Wagga Wagga gained II A. by service under the late Council of Education. It is now some two years since Wagga Wagga school was raised to class II, and Mr. Dart has during that time been repeatedly warned as to his obligation to gain I.B. by examination. He has, however, three times failed to attend the regular examinations of teachers, and his general usefulness and capacity for work are certainly not increasing. The necessity and demand for a first-class man to hold his position are at the same time becoming stronger, and a belief is gaining ground among the parents (and not without reason) that Mr. Dart does not possess the attainments or the ability to secure to his pupils the advantages to be expected in a Superior School and for which a special fee of 7s. per month is charged.

Deniliquin is a 4th-class school in charge of Mr. D. Gollagher, who is the only I. B. teacher in the district. He gained that grade—which is a step higher than that required for his school—by examination since his appointment to Deniliquin.

To secure to the Wagga Wagga Superior School a duly qualified teacher, to put Mr. Gollagher in a position corresponding to his status, and at the same time to place Mr. Dart in charge of an important school more suitable to his powers without unduly disrating him, I would recommend that Mr. Dart and Mr. Gollagher should exchange positions.

Wagga Wagga, Deniliquin—Question of exchange between Mr. Dart and Mr. Gollagher: Your recommendation of 10 February.

YOUR memo. of the 10th instant is forwarded herewith for further report regarding the Minister's minute of the 22nd.

D. J. COOPER,
(For Chief Inspector.)

B.C., Chief Inspector,—I can only answer the Minister's question of 22nd ultimo in the negative. Mr. Dart, of Wagga, would certainly not voluntarily exchange with Mr. Gollagher, of Deniliquin. This I knew perfectly well when I submitted my recommendation of the 10th ultimo; but I thought then, as I do now, that the views and inclination of Mr. Dart should no longer be allowed to stand in the way of effecting a change which is consistent with the regulations and demanded by the merits of the case.—D.S.H., 1/3/83.

Under Secretary,—Mr. Dart would certainly be unwilling to exchange.—E.J., B.C., 9/3/83.

Submitted in connection with the Minister's inquiry on paper 4,565-83.—W.W., 13/3/83.

I will not consent to the disrating of Mr. Dart unless I am specifically assured that he does not as a matter of fact possess the necessary qualifications.

Statements that Mr. Dart has failed to attend examination, or that a belief is gaining ground amongst the parents, &c., are not enough in a case like this. G.H.R., 14.

District-Inspector Hicks,—For further report.—E.J., B.C., 15/3/83.

B.C. Chief Inspector,—

To enable me to deal with the question as it is now presented, I must beg to be allowed to refer to:—

1. My report of 19 December, 1881, on teacher's (Mr. Dart's) application for exemption from or postponement of his examination for class I.
2. My report of 16 January, 1882, on Mr. Dart's examination for class I. or removal.
3. My report of 17 June, 1882, as to Mr. Dart's examination.

Mr. G. W. Commins and others to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Residents of Wagga Wagga re Public School.

Sir,

Wagga Wagga, 1 March, 1883.

We, the undersigned, being parents of children attending the Wagga Wagga Superior School, beg most respectfully to draw your attention to the fact that the school is insufficiently supplied with teachers, and those in charge do not hold the necessary qualification.

The 4th class, the highest but one, is now and for a length of time past, has been in charge of a pupil-teacher; the consequence is the boys are taken over and over the same ground, and are learning absolutely nothing, presumably because the teacher cannot take them beyond a certain point; when that is reached they go back to the beginning.

The 5th class ought by the Act to receive instruction in subjects which the head master is not competent to teach, his classification being two points too low.

Wagga

Wagga Wagga is a large town, the number of children on the roll exceeds 600. We respectfully request therefore that you will take the necessary steps to place the school in a state of efficiency, and that it be a "Superior" school in fact as well as in name.

We have, &c.,

The Chief Inspector,—For report.—W.W., B.C., 5 Mar., 1883. District-Inspector Hicks,—For report.—E.J., B.C., 12/3/83.
B.C., Chief Inspector,—

This communication refers to the Boys' Department of the Wagga Wagga Superior Public School.

The staff consists of a teacher, an assistant, and two pupil teachers. There is also at present a Mr. Reid temporarily employed to assist in the school. The attendance is about 140. The teaching power is therefore sufficient in quantity.

The pupil-teacher who ordinarily has charge of the fourth-class is quite competent to teach it, under supervision of a duly qualified master, who should have the fifth (special) class. As a matter of fact, however, Mr. Reid, who is a II B. trained teacher, has recently been placed in charge of the fourth-class.

The classification, by examination, of Mr. Dart, the master, is only II B, or two points below that properly required for his position, as stated by the petitioners. The necessity for placing the school in charge of a thoroughly qualified and competent teacher I have already dealt with in the ordinary and regular performance of my duties; and I am of opinion that it would be sounder in principle and juster to the school and the teacher to make my report and not this letter the basis of the Minister's action.

No. 13.

Memo. from Mr. District-Inspector Hicks to Chief Inspector.

Wagga Wagga, 3 April, 1883.

Wagga Wagga Superior—Question of removal of teacher, Mr. J. Dart: Your B.C. memo. of 15 ult., on Minister's minute of 14th.

ON 19th December, 1881, I reported—

"Owing to the progress of the town and district of Wagga Wagga the school has continued to increase in numbers, and has been promoted to the rank of a Superior Public School.

"The position of head-master of the school is thus an important one, which ought to be held by a teacher of approved attainments and qualifications. Rightly viewed, the arguments advanced by Mr. Dart form a sound reason for the appointment of a first-class teacher, as required by the regulations, rather than a reason for exempting him from examination for that class. Mr. Dart holds II B. by examination, and is dutiful and assiduous. I am of opinion, however, that he should prove himself by examination to be duly qualified to conduct a second-class school, and to efficiently teach in the prescribed subjects the fifteen boys who pay the extra 7s. per month as pupils of the fifth class of the Wagga Wagga Superior Public School. Mr. Dart has not presented himself for examination at the regular examination, which was commenced this morning, and which he was summoned to attend.

"I would recommend that Mr. Dart should be informed that in view of the rank and importance of the school the Minister considers it absolutely necessary that a proved duly qualified teacher should have charge, and that, consequently, he (Mr. Dart) must either obtain a first-class certificate by examination next Midwinter or be removed to a school corresponding to his present classification as early as practicable thereafter."

After considering a statement from Mr. Dart on the matter, the Minister approved of your recommendation, "that Mr. Dart be censured for failing to attend the examination held 19th December, 1881, to which he was duly summoned: and that he be informed that, should he fail to attend the examination to be held about June, 1882, it will become necessary to remove him to a less important school."

On 17th June, 1882, in reporting on Mr. Dart's application for postponement of his examination I recommended postponement to Christmas, 1882, but expressed the opinion that that chance should be a final one. On this the Minister decided that Mr. Dart need not attend the examination, "but that while he continues to be without the necessary classification he will be liable to removal to a less important school, should the Minister at any time consider such a step expedient.

On 13th July, 1882, in my report on the inspection of the Wagga Wagga School, I stated—

"The 4th class and the 5th (special) class are taught by the master, Mr. Dart, but exhibit weaknesses. This is partly owing to the master being over-taxed with the two classes, and partly owing to his own want of attainments. He has twice failed to respond to summons to examination. * * * Dictation, arithmetic, grammar, drawing, geometry, mensuration, and Latin are not efficiently taught. * * * Neither the teacher nor the assistant is duly qualified, the classification of each being two grades below that required. * * * The most advanced subjects of instruction are the weakest. * * * The master's general usefulness as a teacher approaches good, though he has not proved himself fully competent for a school such as this. * * * I am of opinion that as a superior school in a large town the school will not fulfil its intended end until the quality of the teaching power is improved and its amount increased. The present staff consists of a II B. teacher, &c., &c. It should I think consist of a I B. teacher, &c., &c. The questions of the removal of the teacher and the assistant have already been dealt with."

On

On the 10th February, 1883, after Mr. Dart had again failed to attend examination—December, 1882,—I reported in due sequence—

“Mr. Dart’s general usefulness and capacity for work are certainly not increasing. The necessity and demand for a first-class man to hold his position are at the same time becoming stronger; and a belief is gaining ground among the parents, and not without reason, that Mr. Dart does not possess the attainments or the ability to secure to his pupils the advantages to be expected in a Superior School, and for which a special fee of 7s. per month is charged.”

On the 1st March ultimo I reported that the superseding of Mr. Dart by a first-class teacher would be “a change consistent with the regulations and demanded by the merits of the case.”

My recent reports and recommendation are thus the last links of a chain of representations, and go—

1. To indicate that the defects I had previously reported were producing their natural result, dissatisfaction amongst the parents, which must in the end lead to the loss of the “superior” peculiarities of the school.
2. To confirm and emphasize what had been previously indicated, viz., that Mr. Dart does not possess the necessary qualifications for the office of master of a Superior Public School such as Wagga Wagga.
3. To give necessary practical effect to the Minister’s former decisions.

All papers returned herewith.

Be good enough to report as soon as possible what course you propose to adopt in this matter.

Mr. J. Dart to The Chief Inspector.

Sir,

Superior Public School, Wagga Wagga, 11 May, 1883.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your memorandum, No. 83-4,606, and in reply thereto beg to state that ill-health has hitherto prevented me from undergoing examination for the grade (I B.) corresponding with the school under my charge.

Being thus retarded in my studies, I shall scarcely be able to sit for examination in June, and therefore respectfully request that I may be allowed until December next, and that the following information may be given me respecting regulation 27 of the 4th May, 1880, and Appendix A (if still in force):—

1. Whether each of the branches under the head of “Natural Science” (viz., Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Zoology, Botany, and Physiology) is regarded as an “alternative subject”?
2. Whether all the branches of Mathematics specified, viz., Algebra, Plane Trigonometry, Geometry, and Elements of Mechanics must be taken?
3. Whether intending examinees can ascertain (as in Manual of Public Examinations and University Calendar) the portions of English Literature and Latin to be read?

I have, &c.,
JOHN DART.

Mr. Dart's letter of the 11th instant as to his examination for class I.

MR. DART might be referred to the existing regulations, Appendix A, as containing nearly all the authorized data at present known. The alternatives are there shewn in three groups:—

1. In Mathematics the full group is expected to be taken.
2. In the Natural Science group one subject is not sufficient.
3. Latin is only part of the group, and will not alone suffice for class I. I would suggest that books 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the Æneid be studied.
4. No limitation as to range in English Literature has yet been published for class I.

TEACHING STAFF.

Teacher, Mr. J. Dart	II B.
Assistant, Mr. J. W. Treehy	III B.
Pupil-teacher, David T. Patton	II.
„ John Leemon	III.

1.—Attendance.

No. of pupils enrolled: Boys, 159. No. of pupils present: Boys, 129. No. of pupils in ordinary attendance: Boys, 116. No. in average attendance last quarter: 119.9. No. of children within 2 miles of school between 6 and 14 years of age: Boys, 500; girls, 500; total, 1,000 (approximately). No. of pupils pupils who have attended for a period of not less than seventy days per half year ended 31st December, 1882: Boys, 131. No. of pupils who have attended for periods of less than seventy days per half year ended 31st December, 1882: Boys, 67,—the cases of whom have already been submitted to the Principal Attendance Officer.

2.—Fees.

Total amount of fees owing, 10s. No. of pupils whose fees are in arrears, 9, all of whom are likely to pay up.

3.—Organization.

The schoolroom is new, amply commodious, well designed and appointed, and sufficiently furnished. Great care is taken of the property by the teacher. External appointments, &c., about to be commenced will complete the material organization. The records are properly kept. Suitable lesson programmes and time-table are in place along with the required other documents. The pupils are suitably classified, and the teaching power is properly distributed.

4.—Discipline.

The numbers show a slight downward tendency. The government is firm, vigilant, and effective throughout. The boys are well drilled, well behaved, thoroughly obedient, and in excellent order. A healthy moral tone pervades the school.

5.—Attainments.

The course of instruction is complete, and up to the fourth class the range corresponds with standard requirements. The fifth (special) class is languishing however; in neither numbers nor attainments does it reach the prescribed standard, and the deficiency is most prominent in those branches which ought to be the strong points, viz., mathematics, Latin, use of the English language, and drawing. The reason for this is simply that the teacher's own attainments do not qualify him to teach anything above an ordinary fourth class. The parents and pupils have found this out, and as a consequence the fifth class is in danger of disappearing altogether and the school losing its superior character. In the other classes the work of instruction is carried on with system, energy, and effectiveness; but in the fifth the mark (fair) for general proficiency has been gained by those subjects which the boys could have learned equally well as fourth class pupils. Subjoined are the summarized results:—

	Lower Second Class.	Second Class.	Third Class.	Fourth Class.	Fifth Class.	Average.
Attention	Very good.	Good.	Very good.	Very good.	Very good.	Very good (only).
Mental effort	Very good.	Very good.	Very good.	Good.	Good.	Good to very good.
Mental culture	Good.	Very fair to good.	Good.	Good.	Fair.	Very fair to good.
General proficiency ...	Good.	Very fair to good.	Very fair to good.	Good.	Fair.	Very fair to good.

6.—Teaching Staff.

The teaching power is that allowed by the prescribed scale. In every respect but the one of primary importance already alluded to the master (Mr. Dart) discharges the duties of his office in a satisfactory manner. His skill and usefulness as the master of an ordinary fourth-class school would be nearly good, but he is not competent for the charge of a Superior Public School. The assistant (Mr. Treehy) is dutiful and able in school, and performs his duties to the letter; but as a young teacher he loses sight of the career of usefulness open to him, by failing to duly qualify himself by study even for the position he now temporarily occupies. His skill and general usefulness may be rated at very fair. Both pupil-teachers are dutiful, industrious, and apt. Their instruction and training are duly attended to. Mr. Patton's skill approaches, Mr. Leemoon's reaches, good.

7.—Summary.

When contracted-for improvements are effected the material provisions will be excellent. The internal organization (as far as the teacher is responsible) and the general discipline are excellent. The results of instruction, all round, are very fair to good; but the features which should characterize a "Superior" Public School are far from being realized. As an ordinary Public School the school is in a state of efficiency approaching good.

8.—Recommendation.

I have left with the teacher a full report with necessary suggestions, and have also given to each member of the staff necessary verbal advice.

A few minor material works will form the subject of a separate communication.

Beyond these the one thing wanted is to put the school in charge of a teacher duly qualified and competent for his position. As the Minister has already decided to give Mr. Dart a further time allowance until next Christmas to qualify himself for his position, I am, of course, not in a position to submit any recommendation on the matter here.

No. 23.

Mr. W. J. Taylor to The Under Secretary of Public Instruction.

Sir,

The Australian Joint Stock Bank, Wagga Wagga, 24 July, 1883.

In February last I, with others, signed a petition, addressed to the Minister for Education, and sent through Mr. Hicks, Public School Inspector, calling his attention to the very unsatisfactory state of the Superior Public School in this town. Nothing has to my knowledge been done to remedy the evils complained of, and the loss to the boys attending the school is incalculable.

On behalf of a number of residents I beg respectfully to seek your interest in the matter.

Of my own knowledge I can say the teaching of the elder boys is most unsatisfactory. I have at present three boys attending the school; they have been regular attendants for the last three years (nearly); their ages are fourteen, twelve, and eleven; and yet they are all doing the same exercises, and frequently the elder boy has no exercise to do. His time is simply being wasted, and has been for many months past.

I spoke to the Inspector upon the subject last week; he promised to look into the matter, but up to the present has not done so.

A boy from the Third Class in the Bathurst school, who came here for a short time, was at the head of the school; but on the removal of his parents to Braidwood he was not able to get above the Third Class there.

Last year a fee of £1 1s. a quarter was charged for the eldest boys, and willingly paid, although the instruction provided by the Act was not given; latterly, however, this charge has not been made.

There is hardly a parent of the older boys who does not complain bitterly of the slow progress made by them; and yet the Wagga Wagga school is supposed to be a Superior Public School.

We have waited patiently many months for a change, and something should be done, and that quickly.

I have, &c.,

W. JNO. TAYLOR.

The Chief Inspector, for report.—G.M., B.C., 27 July, 1883. District-Inspector Hicks, for report. See also Mr. Williamson's letter herewith.—E.J., B.C., 8/8/83. B.C., Chief Inspector,—I have deemed it necessary to send separate reports on this letter and Mr. Williamson's. Herewith all papers.—D.S.H., 18/8/83.

No. 24.

Mr. J. T. Williamson to The Under Secretary of Public Instruction.

Presented by Mr. Jones, M.P., Mr. Loughnan, M.P.—G.H.R., 30/7/83.

Sir,

Wagga Wagga, 27 July, 1883.

I have the honor to inform you that the statements hereunder have been made by letter signed by a leading citizen to my committee, and I am instructed to lay them before you, with the request that you will have the goodness to direct that an inquiry be made as to their truthfulness or otherwise.

My Committee are of opinion that there is a considerable amount of truth in the statements referred to. On several anterior occasions have these charges been discussed by them, and Mr. Hicks, the District Inspector, has been interviewed by heads of families in reference to the method which at present obtains in Wagga Wagga Public School of imparting instruction to the pupils, but nothing has come of these discussions and interviews.

I am therefore instructed to say that nothing short of a public inquiry into the working of the school will elicit the truth of the charges made against its conduct; and my Committee therefore deem it desirable that such inquiry, with your approval, should, in the interests of children, parents, and the Department itself, be at once initiated.

I enclose the statements referred to.

I have, &c.,

J. T. WILLIAMSON,
Sec., Wagga Wagga Progress Committee.

Extract referred to in letter herewith.—J.T.W.

Wagga Wagga, 14 July, 1883.

In February last several of our leading townsmen addressed a letter to the Minister of Education on the subject of our Superior Public School, pointing out that there were not sufficient teachers in the school, and that those in charge did not hold the necessary qualifications.

It is a fact that the head-master does not hold a certificate to qualify him for such a school as ours; the consequence is that the subjects which ought to be taught in a "Superior Public School" are not taught. For a time the fees for teaching such subjects were charged; but the parents pointed out that the children did not receive the instruction, and the collection of the fees (£1 1s. per quarter) was thenceforward discontinued. This fact alone proves that something is wrong.

We cannot get a "High School," but we now have a "Superior School," but unfortunately in name only, for our teachers are not qualified for such a school.

I trust you will be good enough to bring the matter before your Committee, and endeavour to obtain teachers—in fact have the school placed on the true footing of a "Superior School."

I have been personally informed by teachers from Fort-street School, Sydney, that the best boys in our school are lamentably deficient, and not to be compared to the third class boys in Sydney, presumably because the boys in Sydney have better and more of them.

I desire a special report upon this school and these statements without delay.—G.H.R., 30/7/83. The Chief Inspector, for report. Urgent.—G.M., B.C., 1 Aug., 1883. B.C., Chief Inspector. Full report herewith.—D.S.H., 18/8/83.

No. 25.

Mr. G. W. Commins to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Wagga Wagga Superior School.

Sir,

Wagga Wagga, 10 August, 1883.

In February last certain residents of the town of Wagga Wagga had the honor of addressing you on the subject of the Superior Public School, pointing out that such school was inadequately supplied with teachers, and that those in charge were not properly qualified; as no reply has been received to the letter, I respectfully request that you will be good enough to inform me whether you have any intention of granting the prayer of the petition. I was under the impression that a letter signed by half-a-dozen respectable men would have as much weight as a numerously signed petition, as in either case the matter would be referred to the District Inspector for report, and if that officer reported favourably the desired change would be made; if otherwise, the petitioners would be so informed, and there the matter would end.

The present state of the school is most unsatisfactory; the head master is teaching four classes; it is obvious no one could do that (as it ought to be done); the inevitable result is, the boys are reduced to the level of the lowest class, and all receive the same instruction. I have four children at the school, and I can see plainly that it is retrograding, and although I have two sons in the highest class they are receiving the same instruction as their brother who is years younger and only in the lower fourth-class; practically there is no fifth-class; it exists only in name. I saw the so-called fifth-class stuck up at the twelfth proposition in the first book of Euclid. There has been a good deal of correspondence in the local papers lately on the subject, and knowing that you take great interest in the Department I beg to refer you to a letter in the Riverine Evening Star, of 31st July last, and if you doubt the truth of the statements set forth in that letter please refer to the District Inspector for a report.

I have been informed that you would have some difficulty in sending a man qualified to take charge of a "Superior" School. If such is the case we would be glad to have one competent to educate our children up to the standard of an ordinary Public School or more teachers, for it is simply impossible for the present master to conduct such a large school and teach four classes. With all due deference I submit that one class is quite sufficient for the head master of any large school; he has not only to attend to the routine of the school, all correspondence, Departmental returns, etc., but to attend to anyone who goes to the school on business (on one occasion the "geography lesson" consisted of one question), and when the master is engaged with a visitor four classes, under the present state of affairs, are idle.

I have, &c.,

GEORGE W. COMMINS.

The Chief Inspector, for report.—G.M., B.C., 16 August, 1883.

No. 26.

Memo. from Mr. District-Inspector Hicks to Chief Inspector.

Wagga Wagga (Boys): Letter of Mr. J. Williamson, Secretary of Progress Committee, submitting certain representations affecting efficiency of Teaching Staff, &c.

THIS is a desire for "a public inquiry into the working of the school."

In my opinion the request should be met by a distinct and emphatic refusal, and I base this opinion on three main grounds:—

1. That the persons (a "Progress Committee") making the request should not be recognized as competent to prefer it in the public interest.
2. That the representations which led up to and which are given in support of the request are inadequate and in some respects incorrect.
3. That such inquiry (if held) could elicit nothing which has not been made known to the Minister in the proper way, i.e., through the reports of his responsible officers, and would rob the teacher of that protection and support from the Department to which he is entitled.

Many months have now passed since the Progress Committee first addressed the Minister regarding the school, and I had occasion then to show that this committee was little better than a self-constituted body, and could not lay such a claim to representative functions as would entitle its representations to be regarded as of serious weight. In these respects the committee has deteriorated rather than improved, and at its recent meeting, when it sat in judgment on the school and its teacher, and directed the Secretary to forward the letter now under consideration, only five members (about one-fourth, I believe, of the whole committee) were present. These five comprised a bank manager, a newspaper proprietor, a clerk in a stock and station office, a publican, and a miller, not one of whom has ever sent children to the school, and two of whom have none to send. It is significant too, that, as if conscious of their declining importance, these men at this very meeting resolved to hold their meetings monthly instead of fortnightly in future.

These five men met under such circumstances, make an extract from a letter to them by a "leading citizen," and without even giving his name express the opinion that there is a considerable amount of truth in his statements, and submit the matter to the Minister through the local Members of Parliament and request a public inquiry. My own opinion is that throughout they arrogated to themselves a position to which they had no valid claim.

As to the representations of the "Progress Committee," "leading citizen," and Secretary, I have to state:—

1. That it is quite true that in March (not February) last a letter complaining of the management of the school, &c., and signed by several influential parents and others, was sent to the Minister. I am of opinion that had that letter been replied to it is probable that the "Progress Committee" would not have received their "leading citizen's" letter.
2. That, as pointed out in my official reports, the qualifications of the master and the assistant are not up to the requirements of the school, and the collection of the special fees has been discontinued.
3. That if the third-class boys in Sydney are (as stated) superior in attainments to the best boys in the Wagga school, the classification in the Sydney schools must be a flagrant violation of the Department's Regulations. This, I cannot believe, and I therefore think that the leading citizen's statement is untrue.
4. It is true that heads of families have spoken to me regarding the school. Though I did not disclose to them the whole contents of my reports, I have in such reports made known everything which was necessary as a basis for the Minister's action.

My duty in connection with this school has been a somewhat unpleasant one, but while I have extended to Mr. Dart (the teacher) every reasonable consideration consistent with the efficiency of the school and the educational requirements of the place, I have been at last compelled to express the opinion that Mr. Dart has been fairly tried and found wanting for his position, and to recommend his removal.

Though unprepared to go as far as I thought necessary, the Minister has decided to bring matters to a final issue at the end of this year. I am satisfied that it is simply vain to expect that Mr. Dart will take first-class by examination, and the other alternative, his removal to a less important position, will, I presume, then be carried out.

To allow the interference of the "Progress Committee" to influence the Minister's decision already arrived at, would be cruel in its particular effect (to Mr. Dart), and pernicious in its general effect on the service generally, while to recognize the Committee's demand for a public inquiry would be simply a confession of weakness in the administration of the Department, and the supervision of its schools. At the same time I think that the letter of 1st March last, signed by Messrs. G. W. Commins, W. J. Taylor, H. B. Fitzhardinge, and others, deserves a reply, and that it should be answered now though late.

Recommendations.

1. That the "Progress Committee" be informed that the Minister deems a public inquiry into the working of the Wagga Wagga Public School to be unnecessary.
2. That Mr. G. W. Commins be informed, in reply to the letter of 1st March last, signed by him and others, that the Minister has taken such action in respect of the Wagga school as will, as early as practicable, consistently with a due consideration for the present teacher, remove ground of complaint regarding the qualifications of the staff, and the character of the instruction.

Former papers herewith.

The school underwent general inspection only two months ago, and my report thereon gives a description of its condition.

Memo. from Mr. District-Inspector Hicks to Chief Inspector.

Gundagai, 18 August, 1883.

Wagga Wagga (Boys): Mr. W. J. Taylor's letter herewith, being reminder to petition respecting unsatisfactory state of, &c.

As to the general condition of the school, and the character and effectiveness of the instruction in the highest class (to which Mr. Taylor's eldest boy belongs), I have nothing to add to the contents of the inspection, and other reports I have furnished at different intervals for more than two years past. The "petition" referred to by Mr. Taylor was reported upon and submitted to you in the usual way.

Relative to Mr. Taylor's complaints about his boy's exercises, I have to report that on 19th July ultimo, Mr. Taylor did verbally complain to me in the matter. I at once wrote to Mr. Dart a memo., copy of which (marked A) is enclosed. On receipt of Mr. Dart's reply (enclosure B), I, on 24th ultimo, informed Mr. Taylor that Mr. Dart gave a general denial to his (Mr. Taylor's) representations, that the matter did not appear to be one demanding a formal official investigation, unless he (Mr. Taylor) first failed to gain satisfaction by speaking to Mr. Dart on the matter complained of, and that as a condition to the holding of a formal investigation it would be necessary for him (Mr. Taylor) to forward a written statement of his complaint. I apprised Mr. Dart of the terms of this memo. of mine to Mr. Taylor. Hearing nothing further from Mr. Taylor up to 9th instant, I, on that date, wrote him a memo. (enclosure C), to which he forwarded the reply (enclosure D) forwarded herewith.

Enclosure A
Enclosure B.Herewith enclosed

The only "boy from the Bathurst School" to whom Mr. Taylor can refer is Edward Casey, son of Police Sub-Inspector Casey, who came to Wagga from Bathurst, and was subsequently removed to Braidwood. I enclose memoranda from the teachers of the Bathurst and Braidwood Schools, which give a plain and unqualified contradiction to Mr. Taylor's statements, and refutation to the implication they contain.

Mr. Taylor's representations regarding the guinea fee, and the dissatisfaction amongst the older boys are, I believe, true.

Mr. Taylor and other parents "have waited many months for a change," but I do not think they have waited patiently as alleged.

I think Mr. Taylor might be informed,—

1. That his representations about the boy from Bathurst have been found to be untrue.
2. That action has already been taken to remedy defects in the management of the school, and that other measures are in progress.

(Mr. Taylor is one of those who signed the letter of 1st March last, which, in a separate report of to-day, I recommend should be answered.)

D. S. HICKS,
District Inspector.

Under Secretary,—I concur.—J.C.M., B.C., 23/8/83. Approved.—G.H.R., 10/9/83.

Memo. from Mr. District-Inspector Hicks to Mr. J. Dart.

Wagga Wagga, 19 July, 1883.

MR. W. J. Taylor has this morning complained to me that:—

1. For some days since the reopening of the school this quarter his son Ernest had no home lessons.
2. His sons received two different home lessons from a subordinate teacher, and from yourself, for the same day, and that they appeared not to rightly understand what they were to do.
3. His eldest son, Ernest, had the same home work as his two younger boys, who are not nearly so far advanced.

Will you be good enough to submit a report on the matter.

D. S. HICKS,
District Inspector.

[Enclosure B.]

Memo. from Mr. J. Dart to Mr. District-Inspector Hicks.

Home Lessons: Mr. W. J. Taylor's complaint as to.

21 July, 1883.

In reference to the above, I have the honor to report as under:—

Paragraph 1.—This is a pure fabrication. Apart from this, the value of the complaining statement can be at once seen from the fact that Ernest Taylor has attended since the reopening this quarter, on three days only, viz., 17th, 18th, and 19th instant. At the time Mr. Taylor made his complaint the boy had attended only two days, which fact tends to show an impatient desire to complain. The term "some days" is, I respectfully submit, rather an exaggeration when applied to two days.

Paragraph 2.—Paragraph 2 is grossly false in its former part. The latter part is, to say the least, perplexing, for every exercise prior to its being given has been either fully explained or worked out on the board, and the question has been directly put to the class: "Do you understand what you have to do?" Enquiries have then been answered, and any necessary explanations given.

Paragraph 3.—This is a suppressio veri statement in one respect, and deliberately false in another. My system of home lessons divides them into two—written and mental (vide printed circular attached hereto). The written exercises given on the dates Ernest Taylor was present comprised grammar (given on the 17th, to be brought in on the 18th) arithmetic (given on the 18th, to be brought in on the 19th), and mensuration (given on the 19th, to be brought in on the 20th). Taylor being absent on the 20th could not of course bring in his work. Hence his father's complaint narrows itself down to two exercises actually brought in. But, taking the three, I may explain that the grammar included analysis and parsing, the parsing only being being expected from the junior boys, including George and Harry Taylor, just promoted to fourth class. The arithmetic and mensuration comprised some phases of these subjects new to the junior boys, and in which the senior boys were somewhat weak. But each day's work was capable of being treated, and was so expected to be treated—"high" by the seniors (fifth class boys)—"low" by the juniors (fourth class boys). This explanation, I respectfully submit, proves the statement in one respect to be a suppressio veri. In reference to the mental work, I have to explain, that Harry and George Taylor, knowing nothing of Latin, are just commencing its study, and have only mastered the definitions, postulates, and axioms of geometry. Ernest being in fifth class had to prepare last week the first twelve exercises and vocabularies in Smith's Principia Latina by way of revision, and the definitions and first two propositions of the Third Book of Euclid. In justice to myself and the school, I beg to request that you will be good enough to hold an investigation into the matter of Mr. Taylor's complaint, and favour me with a copy of the evidence given on oath or affirmation by whatever witnesses may be called.

Date of posting, 23/7/83.

PUBLIC SCHOOL, WAGGA WAGGA.

Memo. to

I BEG to inform you that daily home lessons are set for each pupil attending this school. As a rule they will not take more than an hour or an hour and a half to prepare. The lessons are divided into written and mental; the former include such subjects as arithmetic, grammar, geography, object lessons, composition, derivation, &c., and require to be written out in an Exercise Book; the latter include spelling, geometry, Latin, recitations, &c., and require to be committed to memory. The home lessons are dictated or written on the Board each day for the boys to take a copy of, so that no possible excuse can be made for non-preparation. The advantages accruing from these lessons are many and invaluable, for they enable a scholar to learn more; they create habits of obedience to motives not suggested by the dictation or presence of the master; they produce a spirit of self-dependence, of self-reliance, with a resolution to overcome difficulties, and encourage a learner to think for and educate himself. These lessons also give children home tastes and domestic habits which may hereafter preserve them from many dangers.

I regret to inform you that during the past month Master ——— neglected ——— home lessons ———
Your co-operation is earnestly requested to prevent a repetition of this neglect.

Mr. W. J. Taylor to The Under Secretary of Public Instruction.

Sir,

The Australian Joint Stock Bank, Wagga Wagga, 7 September, 1883.

I had the honor of addressing you on 4th July last, calling attention to a petition of residents of Wagga Wagga, respecting the unsatisfactory state of the "Superior" Public School in this town, sent some months previously.

I received your reply of 26th July that the subject was under consideration. May I respectfully inquire when we may reasonably expect to have the matters complained of remedied?

G. C. Loughnan, Esq., M.P., to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

Sydney, 18 September, 1883.

I have the honor to forward for your perusal a letter I have received on a subject upon which I have had an interview with you before this, viz., the position of the Wagga Wagga Public School as regards its teachers.

Will you oblige me by letting me have a reply as early as possible to the enclosure.

I have, &c.,

GEO. C. LOUGHNAN.

If Mr. Hicks has not yet left Sydney I should like to see him in reference to this school.—G.H.R., 20/9/83. District-Inspector Hicks. For attention, see Minister's minute above.—E.J., B.C., B.C., Chief Inspector, 22/9/83.

I have seen Mr. Reid on this matter. My former reports leave no necessary point untouched as far as the requirements of the school and town are concerned. The carrying out of a part of my recommendation has somewhat improved the teaching power. Mr. Connelly, a II A. teacher, competent to teach the fourth and fifth classes, has superseded Mr. Treehy (III B., and not competent to teach a class higher than a third) as assistant. I believe that Mr. Dart, the master, has actually placed Mr. Connelly in charge of the fourth and fifth classes, instead of the lower ones, in recognition of his qualifications. This, though anomalous, is for the good of the school. Yet Mr. Commins entirely ignores Mr. Connelly when writing to Mr. Loughnan. The "two boys" who, Mr. Commins says, are the only persons Mr. Dart has to assist him, are two youths approaching manhood, and are dutiful and capable pupil-teachers in classes II and III respectively. Mr. Commins' present letter is another result of the omission to answer the letter signed by him and others, and sent in early in March last. I have already recommended terms in which I think that communication should be answered, and I would now urge that the answer should be sent as soon as possible.

The inaccuracy of the contents of Mr. Commins' letter herewith only confirms me in the opinion I have already expressed, that the necessary change at Wagga should neither be, nor appear to be, effected as the result of agitation. Long before either parents, progress committee, or Members of Parliament, moved in the matter, the true state of things was made known in the proper and legitimate way, i.e., by the Department's responsible officer in the exercise of his duty; and his report, and not local agitation, should, I venture again to say, be the basis of the Minister's action. I would recommend that Mr. Commins should be informed that the representations contained in his letter to Mr. Loughnan are incorrect, and that, as a matter of fact, the teaching staff of the Wagga Wagga Boys' School has been improved by the appointment of a well-qualified assistant, that there are also a master and two capable pupil-teachers, and that, in accordance with a decision already arrived at, the Minister will still further improve the teaching staff as early as practicable.—D.S.H., 22/9/83.

Under Secretary,—I concur.—E.J. Submitted.—G.M., 2/10/83. Approved.—G.H.R., 2/10/83.

[Enclosure.]

Mr. G. W. Commins to G. C. Loughnan, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Wagga Wagga, 3 September, 1883.

In February last a letter was sent to the Department of Public Instruction on the subject of our Public School, and although that letter was signed by the leading men of Wagga Wagga we cannot get a reply to it.

I wrote again last month, Mr. Taylor, A.J.S. Bank, has written frequently, but with no better result. Is it possible that the Minister for Education will not answer letters written on such subjects? I cannot understand the matter, and I now write to you hoping that you will kindly go to the Department and ask if any change is to be made. At the present time the staff of teachers is worse than ever, the best we had have been removed, and the only male teachers are Mr. Dart and two boys named Leemon and Paton, I think a disgraceful state of affairs in such a town as Wagga Wagga, and I doubt very much whether Mr. Reid knows how matters stand.

The District School Inspector, Mr. Hicks, is now in Sydney, and if you would kindly go to Mr. Reid he might send for Mr. Hicks, and you could then ascertain whether the desired change is likely to be made. If a petition would do any good I will get one signed and forwarded, but I refrained from such a course out of consideration for Mr. Dart; it would be very unpleasant for that gentleman to find that a public petition was going down asking for his removal. I believe if you could urge Mr. Reid to send for Mr. Hicks, and ask him personally whether Mr. Dart is a competent teacher or not, it would go a long way towards settling the matter. If Mr. Hicks says he is, then Mr. Reid will not remove him, and we will have to get up a petition and have it laid before Parliament, for it is monstrous for a town like Wagga, with nearly 700 children on the school-books, to have a man and two boys without any classification whatever in charge of the school.

Will you ask Mr. Reid to obtain copy of Inspector's report on the various classes at the last examination, as it appears in the observation book at the school. I have heard that junior classes obtained from 750 to 800 marks out of a possible 1,000, while Mr. Dart's class got only 600; that is, the highest class in the school was pronounced little better than half as good as it ought to be.

It was decided that you and the Members of the Ministry who visited Wagga lately were not to be bothered about business matters while you were up here, or I would have called on you. I was surprised to find that a deputation had waited on you, in contravention of the arrangements made before you came.

I have four children at the Wagga school, and I am anxious to obtain the best schooling procurable for them in the town, and when necessary send them to a higher school in Sydney, but they are yet too young to be sent away, and I would not be doing my duty to them if I did not endeavour to have competent teachers in the only school in the town, and I feel certain that if Mr. Reid could be made thoroughly acquainted with the state of the case he would at once set matters right. If you will see him we will at least get an answer to the letter sent.

I have, &c.,

GEORGE W. COMMINS.

The Acting Under Secretary for Public Instruction to Mr. W. J. Taylor.

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 18 September, 1883.

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under notice your letter dated 24th July last, referring to a communication signed by yourself and others, and forwarded to this Department in February last, in which attention is called to the unsatisfactory state of the Boys' Department of the Superior Public School at Wagga Wagga.

2. Having considered a report from the Chief Inspector of Schools upon an inquiry into this matter, the Minister desires me to inform you that action has already been taken to remedy the defects complained of in the management of the Boys Department, and that other measures are in progress.

3. With regard to your statement respecting the boy from Bathurst, who attended the Wagga Wagga school for a short period, and then removed to Braidwood, I am to state that from information furnished by the teachers of the Public Schools at Bathurst and Braidwood, it appears that your representations as to the classes in which he was enrolled as a pupil in those schools are not correct.

Acting Under Secretary.

Mr. G. W. Commins to The Acting Under Secretary of Public Instruction.

Sir, Wagga Wagga, 21 September, 1883.

With reference to your letter of 21st instant, addressed to W. J. Taylor, Esq., which has been handed to me, I find it necessary to reply to the 3rd paragraph of your letter, in which you state that our "representations to the effect that a boy who had been in the third class in Bathurst, the fifth in Wagga, and afterwards in the third in Braidwood, are found to be incorrect."

I have the honor to inform you that the boy referred to was Master Casey, and our informant was his father; I cannot conceive that he would have any object in misrepresenting the case, especially as he had left the town.

With reference to the changes which have been made, we regret that the best teachers have been removed, both in the boys' and girls' department, and now trust that the further changes which you contemplate will be in the right direction; at present the school appears to be in a state of disorganization.

I have, &c.,

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister for Public Instruction has had under notice your letter dated 27th July last, respecting the teaching staff of the boys' department of the Superior Public School at Wagga Wagga, and requesting that a "public" inquiry may be held into the working of the school.

2. In reply I am to state that, in view of a report furnished by the Chief Inspector of Schools, the Minister deems a public inquiry in this case to be unnecessary.

Sir, Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 25 September, 1883.

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under notice your letter dated 1st March last, signed also by ten other gentlemen, representing the inefficiency of the teaching staff of the boys' department of the Superior Public School at Wagga Wagga.

2. In reply I am to state that the Minister has caused such action to be taken in reference to the above school as will, as early as practicable, consistently with a due consideration for the present teacher, remove ground for complaint regarding the qualifications of the staff and the character of the instruction.

3. The delay in replying to your letter has arisen from the necessity for obtaining full reports as to the working of the school.

Memo. from Mr. District-Inspector Hicks to Chief Inspector.

Wagga Wagga, 13 October, 1883.

Wagga Superior: Minister's minute of 21st ultimo on papers herewith.

THE past three years' experience of Mr. Dart leads me to believe that there is little prospect of his improving his attainments in, or his ability to teach, the subjects, and up to the standard required by the classification of his school.

He has indeed voluntarily handed over the highest classes to the newly-appointed assistant, Mr. Connelly, so that for the present the most advanced subjects and pupils are being satisfactorily attended to. The arrangement is a somewhat anomalous one; but in the interests of the school it is most desirable that it should not be disturbed until the time—the end of this year—arrives for giving effect to the Minister's decision regarding Mr. Dart.

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under notice your letter dated 3rd September ultimo, addressed to Mr. G. C. Loughnan, M.P., with reference to the position of the Superior Public School at Wagga Wagga as regards its teaching staff.

2. In reply, I am to state that having considered a report furnished by the Chief Inspector of Schools, the Minister is of opinion that the representations contained in your letter to Mr. Loughnan are incorrect. As a matter of fact, the teaching staff of the above school has been improved by the appointment to the boys' department of a well qualified assistant. There are also a master and two capable pupil teachers in that department; and in accordance with a decision already arrived at, the Minister will still further improve the teaching staff as soon as practicable.

No. 1.

Constable O'Brien to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

Cessnock, 3 July, 1883.

I beg to bring under your notice the conduct of Mr. Brettell, our Public School teacher. Since his arrival here, some thirteen months ago, he has been a constant tippler, and I myself have taken him half-way home in an intoxicated state on many occasions. I done this for the purpose of trying to keep up the respectability of the service, having a son who intends to follow the profession. I have heard him call two respectable men (because they shook hands) "two damned Fenians"; the two men referred to are Michael Carroll and a man named Hewin; the words were used in the public-house bar, and while he was under the influence of liquor. He has continually remained at the public-house drinking until a very late hour at night, and rowing with his family when he goes home; in fact he has come drunk to me and wanted me to go home with him for fear his wife would shoot him. He has also come to the post-mistress in an intoxicated state to forbid her giving any letters to any member of his family only himself. He is the talk of the district, and many parents are complaining as well as me. I had to withdraw my children from the school, but not wishing to make myself officious, I started my son, who waits his appointment under the Council, to teach my own family. Mr. Brettell no sooner heard of my intention to keep my children at home than he rose a report that I was opposed to the Public School. Now it is well known here that I am a supporter of the Public School. But I cannot send my children to a man who is the talk of the district. And worse to-day: In the presence of Miss Penchin, Miss Picton, Mrs. Ingle, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Gouldsbury, Miss Sherdan, myself, and Mr. Doyle, and many of the children who attend the school, he fell in the middle of the street drunk and unable to get up until Mr. John Doyle lifted him up and took him to the public-house. Now those people look with horror at being compelled to send their children to school to such a man; and they say their children could not respect such a master.

master. After my long silence on this matter I could not overlook his conduct to-day without bringing it under your notice. On inquiry being made it will be found that I have only taken a mild view of reporting the matter, as there can be a lot more brought forward. Hoping, for the good of the Department, you will cause an inquiry to be made,
I have, &c.,

JOHN T. O'BRIEN.

Certain Residents of Cessnock to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Presented by F. J. Burns, Esq., M.P.

Sir,

Cessnock, 19 July, 1883.

We the undersigned parents and others, resident in and around Cessnock, hereby beg to testify to the abilities of Mr. Brettell as our teacher. He has always been punctual in the discharge of his duties, kind though firm, to his pupils, and so far as our knowledge tends in every way a worthy possessor of the teachership of our school. We have never seen Mr. Brettell drunk or intoxicated, but on the contrary have always met him with the greatest respect, and from him received similar return, jovial in disposition, a good friend, and the urbanity he has shown to all, whether foe or friend. The reports promulgated by Constable O'Brien will have no weight with us in attempting to injure the character of Mr. Brettell, either as a teacher or neighbour or friend.

Mr. T. Miller to Mr. G. Brown.

Sir,

In reference to the inquiry to be held re the conduct of Mr. H. C. Brettell, Public School teacher, Cessnock, I beg to state that Mr. Brettell has been a constant visitor to my house, and I have been repeatedly in his company; and that I have always found him straightforward, upright, and gentlemanly in his conduct, and have never seen him the worse of intoxicating liquor although had plenty of opportunities if such was his failing.

West Maitland, 23 July, 1883.

Yours, &c.,
TOBIAS MILLER.

Mr. G. Hall to Mr. G. Brown.

Dear Sir,

You can sign my name to the petition for Mr. Brettell as I have no fault to find with him. My son always speaks highly of him.

Yours, &c.,

Mr. M. Jones to The School Inspector, Cessnock.

Sir,

With much reluctance I address you, but being informed that an inquiry is about to be held in reference to the Cessnock Public School Teacher's conduct, and believing my son, J. A. Jones, to be implicated in the report against the teacher, I look upon him with shame, knowing that he took Mr. Brettell in with a horse which is a rank job, and perfectly useless. My son after selling him the horse boasted how he had taken him in. At this time Mr. Brettell was getting his butcher's supplies off my son, and finding out how he had been treated with the horse withdrew his custom, and this has been the cause of the present ill-feeling; and to have his revenge he assisted in opening an opposition school for the purpose of injuring Mr. Brettell. I am sorry my son has taken this step, for I've often met Mr. Brettell at Cessnock and Wollombi, and always found him a thorough gentleman. I can say with confidence that I have never seen him the worse of liquor or under the influence of it, but have had many opportunities of seeing him if such were his failing. I believe the report has originated through spite, and my son has been influenced by Mr. O'Brien.

Yours, &c.,
MOSES JONES.

Mr. G. B. Harrison to Mr. School-Inspector Morris.

Sir,

As a proof that Mr. O'Brien has been watching Mr. Brettell for some considerable time past, I forward you this statement: When I was leaving Cessnock on the 16th of last January, O'Brien met me in Coleman's Hollow, which is about half-way between Cessnock and Maitland, and told me that Lappan had left that day, that he had been trying for the last three months to get him a situation, and that between himself, Stafford, and Gouldsbury they had succeeded in collecting him £13 to pay his expenses to Sydney. He said that Lappan's children and mine leaving the school would reduce the classification, and that he would watch Brettell, and if possible have him removed before three months. I should have made this statement to-day but did not have an opportunity; however, seeing that Mr. O'Brien is so spiteful against Mr. Brettell, I feel it my duty to communicate to you these statements, which I am prepared to make on oath if required.

Yours, &c.,
G. B. HARRISON.

Mr. J. Walton to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Hon. Sir,

Cessnock, 3 August, 1883.

I being present to give evidence on behalf of Mr. Brettell in the late inquiry as to his character and habits as the Public School Teacher, Cessnock, but not being examined in the matter, I beg most respectfully to submit the following as my testimony: Have known Mr. Brettell some considerable time, during which I have had ample opportunities of observing his habits. I have never on any occasion seen Mr. Brettell the worse for liquor, and to my knowledge have never noticed by his appearance that he had been drinking. On Monday, the 11th of June, I heard Constable O'Brien say he would take the b——y pride out of the Brettells, and that he had taken his children away to spite them, and as he could get Jones', Doyle's, and Gouldsbury's children he would open a private opposition school; he lost some before and would lose more yet, and that his influence alone would do that. I saw Mr. Brettell on the 3rd July, 1883, about 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon, a quarter of a mile from his home. I did not see any signs of liquor on him then; he was carrying a large parcel and leading a dog. I was talking to him about twenty minutes. I saw Mr. Brettell again that night at an evening party; he was lively but not the worse for liquor. I saw him arrive there and also leave for home. From conversation I have heard about this inquiry my full belief is that the whole affair is got up through spite.

Sir,

Cessnock, 6 August, 1883.

I most respectfully beg to inform you to apply to Mr. R. N. Morris, M.A., School Inspector, for a report of the conduct of Mr. Brettell's family and some of the witnesses called on his behalf at the late inquiry at Cessnock.

I remain, &c.,

J. A. JONES.

District Inspector,—I saw nothing myself of the conduct complained of, and what I heard was, of course, ex parte. Still I think it would be a good thing to request Mr. Brettell to take care that there may be no reasonable grounds for offence in the behaviour of any of his family towards the school children or their parents. I so recommend.—R.N.M., 20/8/83, 83-1,551. Chief Inspector,—I concur.—T.D., B.C., 83-2,749, 21/8/83.

No. 5.

Inspector Morris' Report.

Singleton, 16 August, 1883.

INQUIRY into charges preferred by Constable O'Brien against Mr. Brettell, teacher of the Cessnock Public School.

I COMMENCED this inquiry on July 31, at 2 o'clock, sitting till 8 that night, and from 9 till 8 on the two following days, finishing at noon on Aug. 3.

The minutes of evidence are attached.

Analysis.—The complaint divides itself into two main branches:—

I. Calling two men d——d Fenians.

II. Excessive use of strong drink.

The first charge is proved, and is not really denied by Mr. Brettell, who only endeavours to show that the words were used jocularly.

As to the second charge Mr. O'Brien endeavours to prove—(1st) that Mr. Brettell is a constant tippler; (2nd) that on several specified occasions he exceeded—(a) on May 24, 1882; (b) on the night of Mr. O'Gorman's wake; (c) on the second day of the last Cessnock races; (d) at Wollombi, on the occasion of a cricket match; (e) on July 3, 1883.

On the charge of being a constant tippler seven witnesses say they have often seen him drinking at the "Cessnock Hotel," and that he was often the worse of drink. Twenty witnesses say they have seen him at the hotel, and have seen him drink; and many of them say they have drunk with him, but they never saw him take more than two glasses on one occasion; and that they have never seen him, either there or elsewhere, the worse of drink.

Coming now to specified cases. Four witnesses say that on May 24, /82, he was tipsy, three say that signs were visible by which you could tell he had drunk something, and six say he had not even drunk enough to shew signs of drink. As to the night of O'Gorman's wake, one witness says he saw him make three attempts before he succeeded in mounting his horse, but sat quite straight when once on. On charge (c) there is no direct evidence at all. While on charge (d) all the evidence is in Mr. Brettell's favour.

Touching his state on July 3, /83, three witnesses say they saw him leave the coach; that he fell on the road through intoxication; that he had to be carried to the hotel, and laid on the sofa.

No one who was present on July 3, on the arrival of the coach, was called for the defence. Several state that they saw him from one to two hours after, and that he seemed sober. The coach gets in about 1, and several saw him, they say, going home about 3 carrying a number of parcels quite steadily.

Conclusions:—I believe Mr. Brettell used the words mentioned in charge I.; that he used them jocularly, and without intending to give offence. I think the words profane, and totally unfit, for other reasons, to be even used in a jocular way.

As

As to his use of drink, it appears to me that the evidence establishes the following points:—1. That Mr. Brettell was too often to be seen in the public-house drinking, and was too ready to drink with all sorts of men, but that the term constant tippler is too strong. 2. That on July 3, /83, he was so far intoxicated as to be, to a large degree, incapable. 3. That a presumption is raised that on May 24, /82, he had taken rather much.

As to the other specified cases the evidence is quite inconclusive.

Recommendation:—That Mr. Brettell be informed:—(1.) That the Minister highly disapproves of the use of such language as that applied by Mr. Brettell to Messrs. Carroll and Hewens, and that he regards the offence more serious through being committed in a public-house bar. (2.) That the Minister thinks his (Mr. Brettell's) habits, in the use of liquor, open to much exception; and that his conduct on July 3, /83, was highly reprehensible. (3.) That the Minister will require him strenuously to guard himself against a repetition of such offences.

R. N. MORRIS,
Inspector.

Chief Inspector,—I concur,—T.D., B.C., 83-2,710, 20/8/83. Under Secretary,—I concur, with the addition that should he again misconduct himself he will be removed from the Public Service.—J.C.M., B.C., 24/8/83. Approved.—G.H.R., 29/8/83.

No. 6.

Enquiry into charges preferred by Constable J. T. O'Brien against H. C. Brettell, Teacher of the Public School, Cessnock.

Charge I.—That Mr. Brettell is intemperate in the use of liquor.
" II.—He called two men "damned Fenians."
Plea.—Not guilty.

Constable J. T. O'Brien (36): The letter read is a correct copy of the one sent by me on 3rd July, 1883, and I wish to adhere to all therein contained; I had charge of the Cessnock Police Station from the latter end of the year 1880 till the 10th July, 1883, and am now in charge at Cooranbong; I saw Mr. Brettell on the day he arrived to take charge of the school at Cessnock; he was drunk when he arrived, and a guardian of one of the pupils asked me if I did not think he was an acquisition to the district; on the next day he told me on the quoit-ground that he had been removed through the d——d Orange clique from his last school; I said he would find no sectarian feeling here; he was then under the influence of liquor; I beg to hand in a written statement. (Statement attached, marked A.)

To Mr. Brettell: By a tippler I mean a person who is constantly drinking; I do not remember ever giving you drink in my house, or anywhere else, but once, when I treated you and Mr. Lavan at the "Cessnock Hotel"; I do not think it my duty to see intoxicated men home, but I did see you home for the good of the department; the high words referred to in Annex A. were between you and Mr. M. Carroll; as to your starting a report about my opening a school in opposition to the Public School, I cannot say to whom you first mentioned it; I took away children on account of your conduct, and because they were not progressing; that was the sole reason; I did not use any improper language in reference to the removal of my children previously to their removal, nor use threats.

JOHN T. O'BRIEN.

John A. Jones (33): I am a hotel-keeper; I saw Mr. Brettell on the day of his arrival to take charge of Cessnock Public School; I thought he was under the influence of drink—but he was able to walk about; I have never seen him what I call drunk, but I have often seen him intoxicated; still he could always walk about; I call a man drunk when he falls and cannot get up; I think Mr. Brettell was under the influence of drink on the night of the railway meeting; I remember an altercation in my bar between Mr. Brettell and Mr. M. Carroll; Carroll and Hewens shook hands, and Mr. Brettell said, "There are two d——d Fenians shaking hands," when Carroll said, "I will break your nose if you say that again," and I had to interfere; Mr. Carroll seemed very vexed; Mr. O'Brien came up, and I left them on the verandah; I could not say whether he was drunk or not on that occasion; I had before checked Mr. Brettell for calling men Fenians in the bar; Mr. G. Browne said to me that he was likely to be made a J.P., and so was not going to associate with a drunken man like Brettell, and asked me not to give him so much drink; I have myself cautioned Mr. Brettell in the presence of his wife with respect to his drinking habits, and told him that he would be liable to be reported; I have always looked upon Mr. O'Brien as being Mr. Brettell's friend; I never at any time heard Mr. O'Brien speak ill of Mr. Brettell.

To the Inspector: It is about three months since I last saw Mr. Brettell the worse of liquor, and all my evidence refers to a date earlier than that.

To Mr. Brettell: Before you called Carroll a Fenian you and he were, I believe, the best of friends, and I have seen no difference in your friendship since; I have heard you call others Fenians; I do not know with what intention, whether you used the words offensively or not.

J. A. JONES.

John Doyle, storekeeper (42): I was at the post-office in Cessnock on the 3rd July, 1883; I saw Mr. Brettell there with Constable O'Brien, and about 10 minutes after I saw him stagger and fall on his back; I ran over and lifted him up, and helped him towards the public-house; when we got close to the verandah I held him against the palings while I asked Miss Sheridan's permission to take him into the house, and Miss Sheridan helped me to take him in and lay him on the sofa; on several other occasions I have seen Mr. Brettell under the influence of liquor; I have never heard Mr. Brettell use any improper language.

To Mr. O'Brien: I believe that the reason of his falling at the time I picked him up was drunkenness; I have said, since this occurred, that I would not send my child to school to him again; I have never heard you speak ill of Mr. Brettell till the evening of the 3rd July, 1883, and then you said you would report him to the Minister.

To

To Mr. Brettell: When I say you were under the influence I mean that the sign of drink was upon you, so that anyone could tell you had been drinking, and on one occasion I made the remark that you were making a fool of yourself; I do not know whether you have neglected duty through drink; I have heard the children say that they smelt grog on you, and that you did not teach them on that day properly.

JOHN DOYLE.

Thomas Scott, farmer (32): I have seen Mr. Brettell under the influence of liquor, but not incapable of conducting himself properly; I may have seen him that way a couple of times at the most.

To Mr. O'Brien: I lived three months on the Myall within the last fourteen months; Mr. Brettell has come and asked me to come to his house to contradict his own wife, who was accusing him of being drunk; at this time he seemed to me to be sober enough, but very excited about something; I used to live opposite to Mr. Brettell, at a distance of about 300 yards; I have heard loud words coming from Mr. Brettell's house; I cannot say if quarrelling was going on; I do not remember any of the words that I heard.

THOMAS SCOTT.

Margaret Gouldsbury (40): I am postmistress at Cessnock; I remember seeing Mr. Brettell on July 3, 1883; he got out of the coach; I saw him after, lying on his back in the road; I saw Mr. Doyle take him up; I saw Mr. Brettell about an hour after, when he asked me what he had done with his parcels; he seemed to me not to be sober when he came out of the coach.

To Mr. O'Brien: When he came back after the parcels he walked unsteadily; he accused you of poisoning his horse; you advised him to go home; one of Mr. Brettell's own family complained to me, saying Mr. Brettell would break down the school if he did not discontinue his drunken habits; the sole reason for my not sending my niece is that she was not getting on; I produce books in proof; I have on other occasions seen Mr. Brettell the worse of drink; I remember him giving me a note on one occasion, and in the note he told me not to give his letters to any members of his family, but only to himself or order; he asked you to be a witness; he said his wife would not let him read letters from certain members of his family; he appeared very excited, and seemed to be under the influence of liquor.

To Mr. Brettell: I know the difference between anger and drunkenness, and I think you were tipsy.

MARGARET E. GOULDSBURY.

Elizabeth Sheridan (19): I live at the "Cessnock Hotel."

To Mr. O'Brien: I remember helping Mr. Doyle to bring Mr. Brettell into the hotel on 3rd July, 1883; he was drunk; I saw him fall on the road, and saw Mr. Doyle pick him up; I have before seen him the worse of drink; when Mr. Brettell fell on the road three or four children were on the verandah.

ELIZABETH SHERIDAN.

Michael Carroll (54): I am a farmer; I remember shaking hands with a young man named Hewens in Jones's bar, and Mr. Brettell said to Jones, "Here are those two d—d Fenians shaking hands; let you and me shake hands;" I considered that he insulted me, and I thought it very strange, for he and I were good friends previously; I said, "If it were not for your position I'd knock you down;" I do not remember anything more occurring at the time.

To Mr. O'Brien: Mr. Jones came round the bar and got between me and Mr. Brettell, thinking I was going to hit Mr. Brettell, and said it was not a proper word to be used in a bar; I do not remember Mr. Brettell throwing down his hat and saying, "If you feel offended hit me;" I remember you coming up and I told you what Mr. Brettell had said; I cannot say he was drunk; he was under the influence of drink; it was the day of the athletic sports, I think; I have often heard him say to me, and to others "I'm a Protestant and you're a Catholic;" I took no notice, as I knew before that I was a Catholic and that he was a Protestant; I did not know what he meant by it; I never heard any sectarian cry in Cessnock before this, and now such a cry is very common.

To Mr. Brettell: You and I have been friends from the time of my arrival, and continue so now; when you saw that I was offended with the words "d—d Fenians," you apologised and we shook hands.

MICH. CARROLL.

John A. Jones, re-called (to Mr. O'Brien): Wm. Jackson told me this morning that he was to get a day's pay for to-day, August 1st, 1883.

J. A. JONES.

John A. Jones (to Mr. Brettell): You have had business transactions with me; you have never refused to pay an account.

To Mr. O'Brien: Mr. Brettell has been a customer of mine since the transaction about the horse, and has run an account; last week he paid me a beef account; he owes me a grog account now; he owed it at the time the beef account was paid; Mrs. Brettell paid the beef account in her husband's presence; the house account and Mr. Brettell's personal account are kept separately; I sent in both accounts at once; I never showed Mr. T. Blick my books or accounts except what referred to him.

To Mr. Brettell: You have never refused to pay the grog score now owing, and I am sure you will pay it, as you have always acted honorably.

J. A. JONES.

Thomas O'Neil (19): I work on my father's farm; I attend Mr. Brettell's night-school; I remember the night of Mr. Gorman's wake; I saw Mr. Brettell there that night; I saw him trying to get on a horse there; he got on; I do not know if anyone helped him on, and no one did; he was not sober, he was not drunk, he was betwixt and between; he tried two or three times before he got on; he rode straight enough when he got on; on the occasion of a dance in the old schoolroom in Mr. Jones' paddock I saw Mr. Brettell and he was not sober on that night, but he was able to start for home; at least I saw him leave the room; I think he was considerably on.

To Mr. O'Brien: You told me to tell Mr. Brettell that you had gone away; you did not tell me why.

To Mr. Brettell: The horse you were trying to mount was a tall horse; I do not know whether you are a good horseman; I never saw you on a horse to my knowledge till that night; you asked me to come to this inquiry and I said I would come, on last Wednesday week; when you told me of the adjournment

I said I would come if at home; you told me what the inquiry was about; I did say in the presence of other pupils that I had never seen you tipsy; I did not think of having seen you tipsy till after this; Mr. O'Brien also asked me to come as a witness last night (1/8/83); it was not on account of any particular preference that I came as Mr. O'Brien's witness and not yours.

To Mr. O'Brien: If Mr. Brettell had called me to-day I would have come in and said just the same as I have now said.

THOMAS O'NEILL.

Wm. Jackson (39), labourer (to Mr. O'Brien): I have three children at school; I removed my son from this school; I have not seen Mr. Brettell drunk, but several people have told me that they have seen him drunk; my children have told me four or five times on returning from school that they have smelt grog on the teacher in school; the ages of my children are 10, 8, and 6; my boys never told me that Mr. Brettell once drank something purporting to be tea out of a cup, and that some of the other boys smelling the cup found the odour of grog; one reason why I did not like to send my children to school is what I have heard about him with respect to his drinking habits.

To Mr. Brettell: I decline to say who told me about your drinking habits; Mr. O'Brien did not stay with me last night as a guest, nor was he at my place this morning; I was talking to Mr. O'Brien on the road this morning; I did not say to anyone that you were reported through spite.

To Mr. O'Brien: The persons who told me of Mr. Brettell's drinking habits have no children at school; I met you at the gate this morning; I was here all day on Tuesday ready to give the evidence I have given now.

To the Inspector: I have never heard of Mr. Brettell living unhappily with his wife.

MR. BRETTELL'S DEFENCE.

H. C. Brettell (42): I am teacher of the Public School at Cessnock; I wish to show that this charge was made through spite; I deny the charges alleged, and now call witnesses to refute the statements made against me

HENRY C. BRETTELL.

Martin Bouffier (32): I am a vigneron; I have known Mr. Brettell for six months in different places; I have met him twice in Maitland, and seven or eight times in Cessnock; I have never seen him the worse of liquor; I have had a boy attending this school since May 7, 1883; he is between eight and nine years of age; I have no complaint to make as to the management or teaching of the boy.

To Mr. Brettell: He has never made any remarks to me about your condition in school as to your sobriety.

To Mr. O'Brien: I came to live in Cessnock in April, 1883; I have heard people say that he drinks; I have never heard you speak disrespectfully of Mr. Brettell.

MARTIN BOUFFIER.

To the Inspector: I did not see Mr. Brettell on the 3rd July, 1883.

MARTIN BOUFFIER.

John Moore (18): I am a splitter; I have never seen Mr. Brettell drunk in any place.

To Mr. Brettell: I have never noticed the smell of liquor in your breath during night-school.

To Mr. O'Brien: I cannot say that Mr. Brettell was not drunk on July 3, 1883, for I did not see him; since Mr. Brettell came here I have been on an average about four days a week in the bush; this is the fourth week of my attendance at the night-school; there was night-school a month before I came; I do not know in what month the night-school began; I never heard you say anything against Mr. Brettell.

JOHN MOORE, Cessnock.

James Love (42): vigneron: I have often seen Mr. Brettell since he came to Cessnock passing to and from Allandale; I never saw him drunk; he has called on several occasions.

To Mr. Brettell: My children never said to me that you smelt of liquor in school.

To Mr. O'Brien: One of my sons told me that he saw Mr. Brettell fall in Cessnock and nearly fall on a little dog, remarking that he was drunk; the boy is nine years old; I have seen him with the sign of liquor on him; I may have heard people say that he drinks.

JAMES LOVE.

Recalled—To Mr. O'Brien: I never heard you say anything against Mr. Brettell.

JAMES LOVE.

James M'Gann (55), farmer: I have seen Mr. Brettell on many occasions, and in many places, and never saw the sign of drink on him.

To Mr. O'Brien: I cannot say he does not drink; I live 5 miles from Cessnock; I may have seen Mr. Brettell on an average once a fortnight; I met him once in the evening at a meeting in the "Cessnock Hotel"; he was perfectly sober then; I never heard you say anything against Mr. Brettell.

To Mr. Brettell: The meeting I speak of was a Railway meeting.

JAMES M'GANN.

J. J. Farrell (25): I am teacher of the Public School, Wollombi; I have been in Mr. Brettell's company several times since he came to Cessnock; whenever I have been with him I have not seen him drink to excess; I remember seeing him arrive in Cessnock on May 24, 1882; on his arrival he sent for me; we went into the "Cessnock Hotel," and Mr. Brettell called for some Rhine wine; I left Mr. Brettell in company with some people at the "Cessnock Hotel," and I came down to the school with Mrs. Brettell; when I went up again Mr. Brettell and I went into the hotel parlour, and he lay down and went to sleep; I sat down beside him for about an hour and then woke him, and we walked to the school.

To Mr. Brettell: In my opinion you slept in consequence of fatigue and not drink; it is hard for me now so to recall the facts as to form an opinion of the cause of your sleeping, it is so long since; you have called me a Fenian; I understood you to be jesting; I have called you an Orangeman in return.

To Mr. O'Brien: When I first met Mr. Brettell I thought he was sober; I was with Mr. Brettell at Mr. Bouffier's on a Sunday, about the 25th March; I heard Mrs. Bouffier and Mr. Brettell arguing about a disturbance, and I heard her say, "Now, Mr. Brettell, you were as bad as any of them;" I have seen seen Mr. Brettell in Wollombi; I have not seen him with signs on him of having drunk to excess; I have heard of prayers being read over Mr. Brettell in Wollombi while lying asleep, and that a pair of tongs were put in bed with him.

To Mr. Brettell: It was at Mr. M. Jones, senior's, hotel that the tongs were put in bed with you, and prayers read over you (as was alleged).

To Mr. O'Brien: I cannot say whether Mr. Brettell stayed at my house on the second night of his first visit to Wollombi; I remember being in Maitland with Mr. Brettell on one occasion, and he walked on fast and then sat down on Hodgson's door-step to wait for me to come up; he also chased a mob of horses about 10 yards with his stick.

To Mr. Brettell: I think you were in fun when you chased the horses and sat on the door-step.

To Mr. O'Brien: Mr. Coady and I stayed about an hour and a half with him after he chased the horses.

JOHN J. FARRELL.

George B. Harrison (36): I am a sawyer; I saw Mr. Brettell on the day of his arrival in Cessnock, May 24, 1882; I was next door neighbour to him for six months; I have never seen Mr. Brettell drunk; I have often had a drink with Mr. Brettell.

To Mr. Brettell: My children never said anything to me about smelling grog on you; you were not drunk when you got out of the coach on May 24, 1882.

To Mr. O'Brien: I sometimes get tipsy—just merry; I came here of my own free will; I told Mr. Brown I wanted to come; I do not expect to be paid; when I lived near Mr. Brettell I was 400 yards away, and during part of the time Mr. Lappan was living between me and the school.

G. B. HARRISON.

David Gallagher (50), blacksmith: I saw Mr. Brettell on May 24, 1882, and he was not drunk then; I could not tell he had been drinking; I heard about a week ago that he was on the road; I have never seen him drunk; my shop is a quarter of a mile from the hotel; I might be at the hotel once a fortnight; I do not remember seeing him with the sign of drink at any time; I have seen him about once a month.

To Mr. O'Brien: I did not see Mr. Brettell on the evening of May 24, 1882; I have been fined for drunkenness, but I do not admit I was drunk; the publicans have been prohibited from serving me.

DAVID GALLAGHER.

Wm. Pinchen, (52): I am a farmer; I live five or six hundred yards from the school; I have seen Mr. Brettell three or four times a week when at home; I might have seen him once a week to speak to; I never saw him the worse for liquor; I have not seen him with signs of drink on him; I saw Mr. Brettell coming home about 4 o'clock on July 3, 1883; I was about 200 yards away; I did not notice anything peculiar about him; I was not near enough to judge as to his sobriety.

To Mr. O'Brien: I am not prepared to say whether he was drunk or sober, except on those occasions when I was conversing with him; I have never heard of his being worse of drink; I have had a drink with Mr. Brettell.

WM. PINCHEN.

George Campbell (67): I am a vigneron; I live 6 miles from here; I have seen Mr. Brettell on an average about once a fortnight; I have seen him in the school-ground as I passed, and also up at the hotel three or four times; I saw him one day at the hotel and I was told that he had just arrived to take charge of the school, and when I saw him he was sober and had no appearance of drink on him whatever; so far as I know him his drinking habits are correct.

To Mr. Brettell: I saw you at Mr. Bouffier's on a race day; I did not see you on your horse; when I saw you you were in a fit state to do any business; you did not create any disturbance; you were, I consider, a peace-maker.

To Mr. O'Brien: I decline to say whether I could tell at 30 or 40 yards whether a man was perfectly sober, and this was about the distance at which I saw Mr. Brettell in the school-ground; I had had several drinks at Bouffier's, but I was quite capable of doing business; I did not on that night point to a picture on the wall at Mrs. Bouffier's; I did not say, "That's the b——y Pope"; Mr. Love pointed to a picture, and I said, "Who's that?" and he said, "The Pope," and I said, "It is a good likeness"; I then said, "Your prayers are as good as the Pope's"; a row took place; when you came up I was not shut in a paddock on the side of the road opposite to Mr. Bouffier's house; I was not drunk; you told me to leave Mrs. Bouffier's or you would have to remove me; I started; a trace broke; my son-in-law and you mended it; Mr. Brettell and I have had drinks together.

GEO. CAMPBELL.

James Love, re-called (to Mr. O'Brien): When you came up Mr. Campbell was in the paddock on the side of the road opposite to Mr. Bouffier's, and the gate was shut; I will say nothing of anyone at Bouffier's that night except Mr. Brettell, who took no part in the row, and so far as I know he was sober.

JAMES LOVE.

John Watt (42): I am a splitter; I have been much in Cessnock during the time Mr. Brettell has been here, and I lived three or four months at the hotel; I have seen Mr. Brettell at odd times, about once in three weeks; I saw Mr. Brettell on the day of his first coming to Cessnock, about mid-day, again in the afternoon—all day, in fact; I mean that I saw him repeatedly; when I saw him he was not under the influence of drink, or at least he did not show it; he was not the worse for drink; I have never seen him the worse of drink, though I have been in his company a good deal on and off at odd times.

To Mr. O'Brien: I am not prepared to say that Mr. Brettell was perfectly sober when he arrived at Cessnock on May 24, 1882; I left the sports towards evening; I did not see Mr. Brettell asleep on that day; I did not see him lie down, so do not know whether he was drunk or not when he laid down; I have several times met him at the hotel and he treated and I returned the compliment on a subsequent occasion; I could not say whether I ever returned the compliment on the same occasion.

JOHN WATT.

John Watt (15): I work with my father.

To Mr. Brettell: I saw you several times while boarding at the "Cessnock Hotel"; I can't say I ever saw you drunk, nor the worse of liquor.

To

To Mr. O'Brien : I was about two months at Port Stephens and about three months at Cape Hawke since Mr. Brettell came here ; I have seen Mr. Brettell take a glass ; I never noticed if he took more ; I have seen Mr. Brettell pretty often at the public-house.

To Mr. Brettell : I have seen your daughters visiting at the " Cessnock Hotel " two or three times.

JOHN WATT.

William Sweetman (25) : I am a carrier ; I have lived for eight or nine months in Cessnock ; I have seen Mr. Brettell on various occasions—sometimes once or twice a week, and perhaps a week not at all ; I have seen him in Cessnock, and in Maitland, and never saw him the worse of liquor anywhere.

WILLIAM SWEETMAN.

Joseph Austin (19) : I work in a saw-mill ; I have been between five and six months in Cessnock ; I have seen Mr. Brettell a dozen times ; I never saw him the worse of liquor ; I have seen him take a glass or two ; I have never seen him that I could tell he had been drinking ; I saw Mr. Brettell on the 3rd July, 1883, between 1 and 2 o'clock, on Mr. Jones's verandah, speaking to some gentlemen there ; he seemed sober enough then ; he was carrying a parcel and leading a dog.

To Mr. O'Brien : I am in Mr. Brown's employ ; I know Mr. Brown has taken a great interest in this case ; I am not being paid for to-day ; I left Mr. Brettell at the hotel on July 3, 1883, and I went to work ; I did not notice him as I passed ; I did not see him picked off the road ; I heard he was ; I am prepared to say he was not drunk when I saw him ; I did not notice him except to see who it was.

George Elliott (20) : I am a labourer ; I live at Pokolbin ; I have seen Mr. Brettell close a dozen times ; I have seen him twice at the hotel ; I never saw him with the signs of drink on him ; I did not see Mr. Brettell on July 3, 1883, nor May 24, 1882.

To Mr. O'Brien : I am in Mr. Brown's employ ; it is my business whether I am paid for to-day or not ; in my opinion Mr. Brown has taken some interest in this case, more or less.

GEORGE ELLIOTT.

Francis Morton (32), contractor : I have been in the habit of seeing Mr. Brettell since he came here about once a fortnight ; I have seen him at sports, at Mr. G. Brown's, at the hotel ; I have seen him have a glass, but not more than one on the same occasion ; I saw Mr. Brettell on the day of his first coming to Cessnock ; I just saw him to know that it was he ; I only remember seeing him once on that day ; I do not remember at what time ; it might have been 4 o'clock ; I did not see Mr. Brettell on July 3, 1883 ; I never heard of anything happening on that day in connection with Mr. Brettell ; I have never seen him with the signs of liquor on him.

To Mr. O'Brien : When I saw Mr. Brettell on May 24, 1882, I did not notice so much as to tell if he was sober or drunk ; I have had a drink with him at the public-house ; on May 24, 1882, I was at the sports in Cessnock.

FRANCIS MORTON.

Jacob Wetzler (56), shoemaker : I live about four or five hundred yards from the " Cessnock Hotel ; " I have never been with Mr. Brettell at the hotel ; I did not see Mr. Brettell on 24 May, 1882 ; I did not see him on July 3, 1883 ; I seldom saw him except when he came to my place for boots.

To Mr. O'Brien : Mr. Brettell never had wine with him when coming to my place, and never sent me for wine ; I did not tell you that my daughter said that the cause of the coolness between Mrs. Brown and Mr. Brettell was because Mr. Brettell had told his daughter to inform Mrs. Brown how to speak the word " often."

JACOB WETZLER.

Wynter V. Blick (41), carpenter : I have seen Mr. Brettell about once a fortnight since I came here—three months ago ; I used to see him occasionally before ; I did not see him on May 24, 1882 ; I saw him on July 3, 1883 ; when I first saw him he was walking down the verandah at the hotel ; I think it was about 3 o'clock ; I was then about 60 yards off ; as far as I could tell from that distance I would say he was not intoxicated ; I did not see him get out of the coach ; I did not hear of his having fallen on the road ; I have never seen him with signs such that I could tell he had been drinking.

WYNTER V. BLICK.

Wm. Jackson (37), carpenter : I have lived in Cessnock between four and five months ; I have seen Mr. Brettell three or four times, twice at the hotel and twice at other places ; I did not see Mr. Brettell on July 3, 1883 ; I heard that he fell on the road ; when I saw him at the hotel he was yarning ; I saw him have one drink, and I had a drink with him ; I did not stay long ; I had the drink about 5, and when I returned at 6 he had gone ; on any of these occasions I never saw him with signs of liquor on him.

To Mr. O'Brien : I never returned Mr. Brettell's treat ; when I came at 6 I did not see him, but I do not know of my own knowledge whether he had gone ; I cannot say whether he was in the house drunk or not when I came back at 6 ; I am not to get a day's pay for to-day ; I drink pretty freely myself sometimes ; Mr. Brown discharged me on a charge of drunkenness.

Witness—J. A. JONES.

Thomas Blick (30), carpenter : I am working on a building belonging to Mr. G. Brown ; I have known Mr. Brettell ever since he came to Cessnock ; I have been working in and about Cessnock during all that time ; I have seen Mr. Brettell on many occasions—sometimes once a week and sometimes twice a week, sometimes at the " Cessnock Hotel," sometimes at Mr. Brown's, sometimes at the post-office, sports, and other places ; I am positive he is not a drunkard at all ; I have seen him take a glass, perhaps two ; I have seen him take two, but not at the same time, that is not one immediately after the other, but perhaps an hour or two after ; I did not see Mr. Brettell on the day of his first coming ; I did not see Mr. Brettell on 3rd July, 1883 ; I did hear that Mr. Brettell was reported for something that occurred on that day ; I never heard Mr. Brettell use language calculated to rouse the enmity of any section of the community ; I was not at Mr. Bouffier's on the night of the races.

To

To Mr. Brettell: I heard Mr. Jones say publicly, on the verandah of the hotel at Cessnock, that he knew Leggett was a rogue, and he only went out to get his money; he was a witness in favour of Mr. Leggett, and denied everything he told me before about Leggett; I have seen your daughters visiting at the "Cessnock Hotel;" I have seen you come in the evening to escort them home on half a dozen occasions or more; I have seen Mr. O'Brien leave with you to come towards your house; I have seen you ask him to come with you; I have seen you start with your daughters, and seen Mr. O'Brien come over and meet you and walk down the road towards the school; I have never seen you the worse of drink; the coolness between you and Mr. Jones was in consequence of a transaction over a horse; you were a customer of Mr. Jones's before that; I have never seen you do any business with him; it might be four months since the horse transaction; I cannot say why Mr. Jones appears hostile to you, but I have my own opinion; the horse you bought from Mr. Jones turned out a rank "jib"; I have seen you in Maitland, and you were perfectly sober.

To Mr. O'Brien: To the question, "Have you ever been drunk?" I reply, "It has nothing to do with the case"; I make the same reply to the question, "Were you ever locked up and fined for drunkenness?" I have no reason for having an ill-feeling against Mr. Jones; Mr. Jones holds a verdict against me from the District Court; he never ordered me out of his house for bad conduct; it might be what he called bad conduct—that is, something not suiting him, a conversation between him and me, a growling match; you know I am a red hot pill against you in Cessnock, as I thought you no proper officer to be in Cessnock; I never fought with Hungerford in Mr. Jones's bar; I am prepared to say that the coolness between Mr. Brettell and Mr. Jones was over a horse; Mr. Jones is a publican; I cannot say positively that at the time of the horse-dealing he did not owe a grog score and had refused to pay it; I do not think he did owe it, for Mr. Jones showed me a lot of accounts, and Mr. Brettell's was not among them.

THOMAS H. BLICK.

Moses Jones (28): I am a hotel-keeper; I have seen Mr. Brettell twice in Wollombi, and two or three times in Cessnock; he was in my house in Wollombi, in company with Mr. Farrell and Mr. Coady; they were in the parlour; they had drinks, and I had one with them; shortly after they left; Mr. Brettell was perfectly sober; on the second occasion I merely saw him pass my house; on the few occasions when I have seen him he was not under the influence of drink.

MOSES JONES, JUN.

Edward Gallagher (15): I work with my father in the forge; I have known Mr. Brettell ever since he came here; I have attended the night-school for the last two or three months—in fact, ever since it began; the school was held three nights a week; I was a regular attendant; I never noticed anything in Mr. Brettell while in school to suggest to me that he had been drinking; I have often seen Mr. Brettell at other times; I work in Cessnock; I have never seen Mr. Brettell drunk; I have seen him at the hotel, but I have never seen him drink; I have seen him so that I could tell he had been drinking; he was just a little merry, you know; I saw Mr. Brettell, on May 24, 1882, about the middle of the day, sitting in the coach; I did not see Mr. Brettell in the middle of the day on July 3, 1883; I saw him in the evening at a dance held in Mr. Scott's late residence; he was just a little merry; that was the night he came out of Sydney; he seemed like as if he had been drinking, talking a little merry; I did not see him at Bouffier's on the night of the races.

To Mr. Brettell: You were able to dance that night (July 3, 1883); I saw you dance three or four times that evening; I saw you first at 7, and I saw you leave I think about 12.

To Mr. O'Brien: I cannot tell where Mr. Brettell was on the nights when he was not keeping school, and so cannot say whether he was drunk on those nights; I do not know in whose coach he was sitting on the 24th May, 1882; I did not see him at 1 o'clock on July 3, 1883; when I saw him at 7 he was a little merry; when you ask me, "If he was merry at 7, what must have been his state at 1, supposing he got no drink between?" I say, "How do I know he did not get drink between 1 and 7? but if he did not I suppose he would be pretty bad at 1 o'clock."

EDWARD GALLAGHER.

Jos. Pinchen (14): I am a pupil of the school; I have never noticed any thing in Mr. Brettell to make me think he had been drinking.

JOSEPH PINCHEN.

Thomas Blick, re-called (to Mr. Brettell): I know Constable O'Brien reported his superior officer; Mr. O'Brien went in favour of Mr. Leggett, after refusing to shake hands with him and taking the bailiff to his house; from what I know of the relations between you and Mr. O'Brien, and Mr. O'Brien and myself, if I had been told that he had reported you for drunkenness I would not believe the report that was sent in.

THOMAS H. BLICK.

John Picton (29): I am a butcher in Cessnock; I have known Mr. Brettell ever since he came here; I have seen him—not very often—several times, on an average, I dare say, once a fortnight; I did not see him on the day he first came to Cessnock; I did not see him on July 3, 1883; I understood my girl, who was present, to say that Mr. Brettell, as he was getting out of the coach, slipped and fell; I have twice seen Mr. Brettell at the hotel; I saw him have one drink,—it was with me—but only one; I was there with him perhaps five minutes; I saw him at the last races; I was not at Mr. Bouffier's on the night of the races; on none of these occasions, from what I could see in him, could I tell that he had been drinking.

To Mr. Brettell: I do not remember what my daughter Alma said in reference to Mr. O'Brien's speaking to you after leaving the coach on 3rd July, 1883; I remember her saying something about a little dog.

JOHN PICTON.

George Moore (54), Government Contractor: I know Mr. Brettell ever since he came up with Mr. Farrell to the public-house; I saw them come on to the foot-race ground about 2 or 3 o'clock; I saw him frequently after dinner; I did not see him in the parlour of the hotel on that day; I spoke to him, it might be an hour after he came on the ground, and I saw no sign of liquor on him; I did not notice him particularly after; I did not see Mr. Brettell on the 3rd July, 1883; I may have seen him ten times since he came to Cessnock; I have seen him take a glass with myself—one, sometimes two glasses; I cannot say that we had any more; sometimes this would be within half-an-hour, and sometimes three hours; I have not been in the habit of noticing, when I see a man, to tell whether he has been drinking or not, and I never noticed in Mr. Brettell's case.

To Mr. O'Brien: I hold a contract from the Government to supply a number of sleepers; I am working myself at sleeper-getting, and men are working for me, who are paid so much a sleeper; I have been tried and committed for disfiguring sleepers, but the case was not proved.

To Mr. Brettell: I gave something to Mr. O'Brien's testimonial on leaving Cessnock.

G. MOORE.

David Ingle (21), farmer and vigneron: I live about 3 miles from the "Cessnock Hotel"; I have seen Mr. Brettell about twice a week, on an average, during the last thirteen months; I did not see him on May 24, 1882, nor on the 3rd July, 1883; I have seen Mr. Brettell a dozen times or more at the hotel; I have had a drink with him, and more than one on the same evening; I have had two drinks with him within two hours,—never more than two on the same occasion; I cannot say that I ever saw him the worse for liquor; I have never seen him so that I could tell he had been drinking, from anything in his appearance or manner; I could not tell he had been drinking unless I saw him drink it.

To Mr. Brettell: Last winter I came to you for music lessons, once, and occasionally twice, a week, for seven or eight weeks; sometimes, when I arrived, you were at Cessnock; you always came home by 7 o'clock or a very little after, and you were always quite sober.

To Mr. O'Brien: I never saw Mr. Brettell the worse of drink; I remember coming from Allendale to Cessnock one night with Mr. and Mrs. Brettell; he drove, and it was a very dark night; there were a few words between Mr. and Mrs. Brettell on the road; they were not cross words; I never told anyone that Mr. Brettell put his stick across Mrs. Brettell's mouth to stop her talking, and such a thing did not occur; I did not tell anyone coming to the school last night that if I gave evidence I would have to say that Mr. Brettell was drunk; I heard about the 8th July, 1883, that Mr. Brettell fell on the road, I did not hear where; on the 3rd July, 1883; I decline to say who told me, but it was not my sister-in-law nor mother.

D. H. INGLE.

Joseph Bouffier (27), wine-grower: I have known Mr. Brettell ten or eleven months; sometimes I would not see him for a month on a stretch; I think I have seen him ten times or more since I first knew him; to the best of my opinion I have never seen the signs of liquor on him; I cannot say whether I ever saw him take more than one or two glasses on the same occasion; I did not see him on the 3rd July, 1883; I saw him at our place on the night of the races; I saw him in the house for three or four hours; I could not say whether he appeared to have been drinking, but he did not seem the worse of liquor; I did not see him get on his horse or go away that I can remember; I know that he left early; I do not know whether Mr. O'Brien was at our place before Mr. Brettell left.

To Mr. Brettell: I think Mr. O'Brien came to our place on account of a bit of a row; you were not mixed up in it—not to my knowledge.

To Mr. O'Brien: My brother keeps a wine-shop, and I am in partnership with him in the vineyard; the one or two glasses I speak of were had at my brother's wine-shop; I cannot say whether, after he left our place, he had any more liquor or not; I do not know whether he was riding or walking; whenever he rides he must either go through private property or go within 50 or 60 yards of the hotel; I was not present when the altercation began on the night of the last races; I cannot tell whether he took any part in it; I do not know whether he was there after the row outside; I did not see him; I think the two who were hitting one another were the worse for drink; as I did not see Mr. Brettell when he went away, I do not know in what state he went away; I decline to answer any questions concerning my own drinking habits; I heard my sister-in-law say that Mr. Campbell was to blame for the row, but I did not hear her say that Mr. Brettell was to blame for it; when you came up Mr. Campbell was in the paddock on the side of the road opposite to our house; he was shut in there to keep him from fighting.

H. J. BOUFFIER.

Alfred Ingle (33), farmer: I live about 3 miles from Cessnock; I have seen Mr. Brettell on an average three or four times a fortnight; I have seen him at the hotel taking a drink; I do not believe I have seen him take more than one, and I never saw him the worse of drink; I heard something about him falling on the road, on 3rd July, 1883; I heard he was not drunk, but walked home quite well, and carried a load shortly after.

To Mr. O'Brien: I decline to answer the question, "Can you say of your own knowledge whether Mr. Brettell was drunk or not on 3rd July, 1883?" I believe he was not drunk, for my wife told me so; it is my business whether I have a contract from Mr. Brown that I want to throw up; I decline to say whether I told you on Tuesday morning that I was in a fix and did not know whether Mr. Brown would press me; I did tell you I had signed papers; you said if I had property I must fulfil the contract; it is my business whether we have come to terms, on condition of my coming to give evidence; I know that Mr. Brown has taken an active interest in this inquiry; I saw Mr. Brettell the day of his first coming to Cessnock, and he did not seem to be under the influence of liquor; I did not see Mr. Brettell at Bouffier's on the last night of the races; he was not drunk in the day-time on the day I was there—that was the first day but not on the second.

To Mr. Brettell: I delivered the tools and the contract to Mr. Brown before coming here; I do not know whether Mr. Brown is going to carry on the contract at my risk; Mr. Brown said he would do so.

To Mr. O'Brien: I delivered up the tools after I saw you on Tuesday morning; whether I have received a clearance from Mr. Brown is no business of yours.

ALFRED INGLE.

Thomas Blick, re-called (to Mr. Brettell): On last Tuesday morning Mr. Jackson told me that he knew nothing against Mr. Brettell's character; that the whole of this was spite, one side against the other.

THOMAS H. BLICK.

Matthew

Matthew Jones (22), storekeeper in Wollombi: I have seen Mr. Brettell once every fortnight or three weeks since he has been here, at Cessnock, Wollombi, and Millfield on various occasions; I have seen him twice at Wollombi; on one of the occasions I saw little of him, as he stayed at Mr. Farrell's.

To Mr. Brettell: I saw you at Wollombi at the cricket match; I never saw you the worse for liquor in Wollombi or anywhere else; my mother made you a bed on the sofa, and you went to bed about 11, and you were sober then, and your clothes were carefully hung up; Mr. O'Brien told me after you had been here three months, that you were a d——d fine fellow; I believe that my brother John's hostile attitude to you is through a transaction about a horse, and your consequent withdrawal of your custom; I have had difficulty in mounting the horse "Darkie," which you bought from my brother John; I have known Mr. O'Brien to take an opposite direction so as to screen a brother officer who was frequently drunk, and helped to carry him home and put him to bed, and this drunken policeman told me that Mr. O'Brien did not report him because he assisted Mr. O'Brien in writing his reports against fellow officers and superiors; I saw you on the evening of the 3rd July last at a dance; you were jolly; you were not drunk; you were not the worse for liquor; your natural disposition, so far as I have seen you, is jovial, even when you have had nothing at all to drink.

To Mr. O'Brien: I am aware that my brother John lost Mr. Brettell's custom, for my brother John told me so.

M. V. JONES.

Edward Jones (20): I am a horse-dealer.

To Mr. Brettell: I saw you arrive in Cessnock on 24th May, 1882, and saw you perhaps seven or eight times on that day, and each time you were sober; I did not notice any sign of liquor; I saw you twice at Wollombi, and you were perfectly sober; I never saw you in any place or at any time the worse for liquor; I have known Mr. O'Brien to screen a drunken fellow officer, and I afterwards heard the man in question tell my brother Mat that Mr. O'Brien screened him because he helped Mr. O'Brien to write his reports about other policemen; I have several times seen Mr. O'Brien come part of the way home with you at night and in the evening; I have heard him say he came with you to have a chat.

To the Inspector: I have never heard anything to lead me to suppose that Mr. Brettell lives unhappily with his wife.

EDWARD JONES.

George Brown (30), proprietor of a saw-mill (to Mr. Brettell): I saw you arrive, May 24, 1882; you were sober; I have seen you on an average two or three times a week, and never saw you drunk; I believe you to be a sober man; I was with you in Wollombi all the time, and you were sober; Mr. O'Brien never spoke against you to me as far as drink was concerned, though we have spoken of you to one another.

To Mr. O'Brien: I kept the "Cessnock Hotel" at one time; I cannot say how many robberies were committed in it during my holding; I have not been accused of taking a cheque from one of my hired servants.

GEORGE BROWN.

George Smith (29), laborer: I live about 200 yards from the school, and have seen Mr. Brettell nearly every day during the last five or six months; on no occasion did I see him the worse of drink; on a certain day Mr. O'Brien said to me and my mate, "I'll take the b——y pride out of the Brettell's; he said he had taken his children away for spite; he could get Jones's and Gouldsbury's; that Mr. Brettell had lost some before and he would lose more yet; he said, "My influence alone can do that."

To Mr. Brettell: I saw you on July 3, 1883, about 3 or 4 o'clock, coming down the road towards home; I did not see anything wrong in you; you were carrying a tremendous load, a lot of parcels, and leading a dog; I was talking to you for some little time, and I did not see any signs of drink on you; I saw you at the dance in the evening; you were full of life, but not the worse for liquor.

To Mr. O'Brien: When you ask me if I have been summoned by you for drunkenness, I say I will answer no questions not connected with this case; "Were you summoned and fined both here and in Wollombi for drunkenness?"—(No answer).

GEORGE SMITH.

ANNEX A.

John T. O'Brien, states: I am a constable, and had charge of Cessnock Police Station from the latter end of 1880 to the 10th July instant; I am now in charge of Cooranbong; on the 24th May, 1882, I saw Mr. Brettell arrive in Cessnock; he was intoxicated when he arrived, and I was asked if he was not an acquisition to the district by a guardian of a child attending the school; on the following day, the 25th, he came on to the ground where some sports were being carried out, and was introduced to me; I welcomed him to the district and hoped he would be successful in his school duties; he replied, "I think I will be able to pull along; I got on very well where I came from only for the damned Orange clique"; because I would not join them they conspired against me, and although I have been removed, I think I came to a better district; I, in the presence of ex-schoolmaster Lappan, told him if he intended to open a school in Cessnock never to mention those words again, otherwise he might close his school at once, telling him that there was no sectarian feeling here; he thanked me and said he would take my advice; on this occasion he was under the influence of liquor; after this I saw him several nights weekly drinking at the public-house until a late hour; on several occasions, in order to keep him out of view of my children who attended his school, and for the respectability of the service, I took him home of a night when he was very much under the influence of liquor, and continually told him he left himself open to report for his habits; on one occasion, while under the influence of drink, he called me over to the post-office and said, "You are witness to me giving Mrs. Gouldsbury that note" (Mrs. Gouldsbury is post-mistress at Cessnock); he said, "It is a notice commanding her not to give any letter addressed to any member of my family only to myself," stating that his wife had called him a drunken wretch, and refused to allow him to read his son's letter; he also said that his wife accused me of taking him home drunk; I then advised him not to let the people know of the disagreement in his family as it would injure his school; he said, "I do not care what happens, I throw myself on you for protection, and ask you to come home with me for fear my wife will shoot me"; I said, "Nonsense man, your wife is for your good"; "Well I am not safe, and I won't go home without you come with me"; it was then about sundown, and I promised to go with him after tea; I saw him after tea and and asked him if he was ready; he said, "In a minute"; he remained at the public-house rinking until it closed, and then went to a room where a dance was held, and remained there until ten minutes to 12 o'clock; he then came to me to go home with him, which I refused to do, telling him that if he was afraid of his wife he would be at home before—that he was drunk, and I would not go with him; he said, "If I am dead in the morning, you are accountable for it"; I went down to the school residence on the next day (Sunday) and saw him; he told me that when he come home on the night before, his wife called all her children into the bedroom to see their drunken father come home at 2 o'clock in the morning; that she had not spoken to him all day and was gone out, but he did not know where; on another occasion I saw him in the public-house bar, and heard some high words between him and a Mr. Carroll; I went over, and by the time I got there they were on the verandah; Mr. Brettell threw his hat off in the verandah, and said, "Hit me then"; I asked what was the matter, and Mr. Carroll told me that he and a friend in the bar had shook hands, and Mr. Brettell accused them of being too damned Fenians; Mr. Brettell was tipsy on this occasion, and I told him it would become him better to be at home; on the night of the 20th March last; I was called to a row that took place at a wine-shop, and after I dispersed the crowd I saw Mr. Brettell on horseback; he was drunk and scarcely able to sit on the horse, and I was informed he was one of the principal aggressors in the row that had taken place; I had four children attending the school, and had to withdraw them on account of their not progressing; I can produce one of my younger son's exercise books for an example; it is a mass of mistakes, and not one of them shown to be corrected; I withdrew my children through the same; on the 3rd of this month I saw Mr. Brettell arrive by coach in Cessnock; he was very drunk; he came on to the verandah of the post-office and fell down; there was a lot of children who attend the school present; he tried to get up an argument with me about taking my children from the school, and I drew his attention to the number of his pupils present and advised him to go home; after some time he staggered out on to the middle of the road, and fell on his back; he could not get up, and had to be picked up by Mr. Doyle, who carried him into the public-house; on this occasion if Mr. Doyle had not picked him up I would have locked him up; I then took steps to bring his conduct under the notice of the Minister of Public Instruction.

JOHN T. O'BRIEN.

No. 7.

The Acting Under Secretary to Mr. J. T. O'Brien.

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 1 September, 1883.

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under notice your letter of the 3rd July last, complaining of the intemperate habits of Mr. Brettell, teacher of Cessnock Public School, and reporting that, on one occasion, when under the influence of liquor, he was guilty of using improper language.

2. Having considered a report from the Chief Inspector of Schools upon an inquiry into the matters of complaint, the Minister has caused such action to be taken as the circumstances appear to warrant.

I have, &c.,

G. MILLER,

Acting Under Secretary.

Memo. from Chief Inspector to Mr. H. C. Brettell.

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 7 September, 1883.

Memorandum from the Chief Inspector to Mr. H. C. Brettell, Teacher of the Public School at Cessnock: Complaints preferred against you by Mr. John O'Brien.

THE Minister has had under notice Mr. Inspector Morris' report upon his inquiry into the charges preferred by Mr. John O'Brien against you as teacher of the above school.

Having considered the evidence adduced in the case the Minister has directed me to state:—

1. That he highly disapproves of the use of such language as that applied by you to Messrs. Carroll and Hewens, and that he regards the offence as more serious in that it was committed at a public-house bar.
2. That your habits in respect to the use of intoxicating liquors are, in his opinion, open to serious exception, your conduct on the 3rd July last being reprehensible in a high degree.
3. That it is expected that you will strenuously guard against offending in a similar manner in future. Should you again misconduct yourself it will be necessary to consider the question of your removal from the Public Service.

E. JOHNSON,
Chief Inspector.

Mr. Brettell has been informed in accordance therewith, and that should he again misconduct himself the question of his removal from the Public Service will have to be considered.

6. The School is not yet classed.
7. Mr. Hardy's classification by examination does not render him eligible for appointment to a school like Darlinghurst Public School; but, in placing him in charge of that School, the usual practice of the Department has been followed. Mr. Hardy has intimated his intention to again present himself at examination, with a view to improve his classification.
8. Seventh class. Mr. Hardy has been teaching at Darlinghurst for about twenty-five years, and has proved himself a successful and popular teacher. On these grounds it was deemed but fair, on the withdrawal from the Department of Darlinghurst C.E. School, in which he taught during the whole of that period, that he should be placed in charge of the Public School opened in the same neighbourhood. This was no promotion to Mr. Hardy, as the new School was smaller than the Church of England School. As already stated, the course thus followed was strictly in accordance with rule.

EDUCATION.

(CROWN-STREET PUBLIC SCHOOL—ALLEGED DRUNKENNESS OF A TEACHER.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 16 April, 1884.

[Presented to Parliament pursuant to promise of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, in reply to question asked by Mr. Withers in the Legislative Assembly, 4 April, 1884.]

Teacher of Crown-street Public School to Chief Inspector.

Sir,

Superior Public School, Crown-street, 18 February, 1884.

In view of the statements made in Parliament on Friday last by Mr. Withers, to the effect that a teacher of this school had been guilty of drunkenness in the presence of his pupils, I have the honor to request that a searching inquiry as to the truth of the matter be held forthwith.

The whole of the teachers of the school join me in this request.

I have, &c.,
E. BANKS,
Teacher.

Very urgent.—District-Inspector John M'Credie, for report. I would suggest that you place yourself in communication with Mr. Withers in reference to this matter.—E.J., B.C., 18/2/84.

Report by Mr. District-Inspector M'Credie.

Chief Inspector,—

On Tuesday evening I saw Mr. Withers and ascertained that the teacher referred to was Mr. Gallagher, second assistant in the Crown-street Superior Public School, and that Mr. Whiddon had told him what his son had reported to him.

I saw Mr. Whiddon yesterday and found that he could not, from his business arrangements, attend an inquiry on that day (Wednesday); I therefore arranged to hold an inquiry to-day, which was held in the presence of Mr. Whiddon, and Messrs. Banks and Gallagher.

From the evidence adduced at the inquiry it will be seen that there is no proof whatever that any one has seen Mr. Gallagher under the influence of drink. There has been talk among the schoolboys about Mr. Gallagher drinking, but the inquiry failed to discover its origin. One boy heard it from another boy, and that one from some one else, and so on, but none could be found to state that he had seen Mr. Gallagher under the influence of drink or in the hands of the police.

As the matter stands, there is no proof. Mr. Gallagher emphatically denies the charge, and the teachers all testify in his favour, so far as his connection with the school is concerned.

I am of opinion that Mr. Banks should be informed that the inquiry has elicited no evidence in proof of any teacher in the Crown-street Superior Public School being guilty of drunkenness in the presence of his pupils, and that the teachers are, therefore, exonerated from such an accusation. I recommend accordingly.

At the conclusion of the inquiry Mr. Whiddon volunteered the statement that the charges were, in his opinion, without foundation.

Ashfield, 21 February, 1884.

J. M'CREDIE,
District-Inspector.

Under Secretary.—There appear to have been no grounds for these charges.—E.J., 25/2/84.
Submitted.—G.M., 29/2/84. Appd.—G.H.R., 3/3/84.

Evidence adduced at Inquiry.

Crown-street Superior Public School, 21 February, 1884.

Inquiry into statement of alleged drunkenness on the part of Mr. Gallagher, second assistant in the Superior Public School, Crown-street.

Mr. Samuel T. Whiddon's statement:—I have a son attending the Crown-street Superior Public School; on 11th instant, I think, at midday, my boy came home from school and, as usual, I asked him how he had got on at school to-day, he said, "All right, but we have got a new teacher this morning"; I said, "How does that come about?" he said, "I don't know, but I heard a boy named Russell telling several boys that he (R.) saw their teacher, Gallagher, tipsy that morning, and taken by a policeman"; I asked him if he was quite sure; he replied, "I am quite sure that the boy said it"; I asked him if he had heard anything of this kind before; he said, "Yes, the first day I was at this school Alfred Wigzell asked me if I knew my teacher's name, and I said to him "I do not, what is his name?" Wigzell said, "Gallagher, do you know what he (G.) does?" my boy said, "No"; "He (G.) gets tipsy, and before the holidays he was several times tipsy"; I afterwards asked the boy Wigzell if there was any truth in the statement, and he said "Yes"; I may say that I mentioned the matter only incidentally to Mr. Withers, and I did not ask him to take any action thereon; my boy came to school on the 14th January last.

S. T. WHIDDON.

Statement of Arthur Samuel Whiddon:—I am about 11 years of age, and am at Crown-street Superior Public School; I am in Upper Third-class, and Mr. Gallagher is my teacher; I came to school the day after the holidays; Alfred Wigzell told me on my first day at school something about Mr. Gallagher; he said, "Do you know your teacher's name?" I said, "No"; he said, "His name is Mr. Gallagher, and he is in the habit of getting tipsy"; he then said, "He (Mr. G.) was taken up for being tipsy just before the holidays"; that is all he told me that afternoon; on the 11th instant I heard Edward Russell saying something to other boys about Mr. Gallagher; he said "Mr. Gallagher was taken away this morning from the school steps by a policeman"; that is all I remember him saying; I do not think I would know the boys again to whom Russell spoke; I was near Russell when he spoke; I have never seen Mr. Gallagher either drunk or under its influence in school or out of it; I have smelt drink once or twice on him in school.

SAMUEL ARTHUR WHIDDON.

Statement of Alfred Wigzell:—I am 13 years of age, and am a pupil in Lower Fourth-class in Crown-street Superior Public School; I was told by one of the scholars that Mr. Gallagher was taken up for being drunk; I don't remember what scholar told me so; I told Arthur Whiddon what I had heard about Mr. Gallagher; I am not sure of the day I told him—it may have been the first day; I only heard that he was taken up once—I did not hear that he was in the habit of drinking; I never saw Mr. Gallagher under the influence of drink in or out of school.

ALFRED WIGZELL.

Statement of Edward Russell:—I am about 11½ years old, and was a pupil in the Crown-street Superior Public School till lately, in the Upper Third-class, of which Mr. Gallagher was the teacher; a lot of boys told me that Mr. Gallagher had been in gaol for being drunk—I heard the boy Moore say so—he said it to other boys; this was a few days after Gallagher came to the Crown-street School; it was before Christmas; I remember one day Mr. Gallagher being away from school last week; I did not see or hear of Mr. Gallagher being taken away from the school steps on any day last week by a policeman; I told Arthur Whiddon one day last week that Mr. Gallagher had been taken to gaol, but I meant not that day but some time before Christmas, as I heard from the boys; I have never seen Mr. Gallagher under the influence of drink in or out of school.

E. RUSSELL.

Statement of Frank Moore:—I am 12 years old, and am a scholar in Upper Third-class in the Crown-street Superior Public School; I have heard that Mr. Gallagher was in gaol for being drunk; I heard that he was taken up in Begg-street—I heard Pringle say so in the play-ground—he said it to me alone; I have never seen Mr. Gallagher under the influence of drink in or out of school; Pringle told me since Christmas.

F. MOORE.

Statement of Robert Pringle:—I am 12 years old, and am in Upper Third-class in Crown-street Public School; Mr. Gallagher is my teacher; I heard two or three of the boys talking about Mr. Gallagher being taken up for drink by a policeman; I don't know in what street he was taken up—I know nothing of it myself—I only heard it; I don't know the names of the boys whom I heard speaking of it—I could not pick them out; they are scholars in this school; this talk was about a fortnight ago, 11th instant; it was on the day Mr. Gallagher was absent; I have never seen Mr. Gallagher under the influence of drink in or out of school; I did not talk to any boy about it.

R. PRINGLE.

Further statement of Edward Russell:—I heard other boys tell Pringle about Mr. Gallagher being drunk, and then Pringle told Moore about it.

E. RUSSELL.

Statement of Mr. D. Gallagher:—I emphatically deny the charge preferred against me—the whole thing is without foundation.

DONALD GALLAGHER.

Statement

Statement of Mr. E. Banks, Principal Teacher :—Mr. Gallagher was absent from school on Monday, the 11th February last; I received a note from him on that day stating that he was too unwell to attend; under these circumstances I granted him leave of absence for that day; I have never seen Mr. Gallagher under the influence of drink either in school or outside.

E. BANKS.

Statement of the Assistant Teachers :—We hereby certify that we have never seen Mr. Gallagher of this school under the influence of liquor, nor up to the time of the inquiry relative to him have we heard that he has been so, that is while in connection with this school.

J. D. CROSBY, First Assistant.
T. N. HALL.
PETER D. M'CORMICK.
JAMES DONOHUE.

Further statement volunteered by Mr. Whiddon :—Having been present at this inquiry into the alleged drunkenness of Mr. Gallagher, and having heard all the evidence produced, I wish to state that the charges, in my opinion, are without foundation.

(INSPECTION OF ROMAN CATHOLIC DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOLS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 14 November, 1883.

[Laid upon the Table in accordance with a promise made in answer to Question No. 8, Votes No. 13, Wednesday, 31st October, 1883.]

SCHEDULE.

no.

1. Roman Catholic Bishop of Goulburn to Minister of Public Instruction, 28th February, 1883, and Minister's minute thereon.
2. Under-Secretary to Roman Catholic Bishop of Goulburn, 13th March, 1883.

No. 1.

The Roman Catholic Bishop of Goulburn to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Hon. Sir,

Goulburn, 28 February, 1883.
At the close of last year Government aid was withdrawn from twelve R. C. Schools in this Diocese; of these we are, at the sole expense of the Catholic people, supporting eleven. We have in the Diocese a greater number of other schools similarly supported.

Now the Government will have to give statistics of schools, and these must be defective and misleading, unless the statistics of our R. C. Schools are also given.

Moreover, statistics would be more satisfactory if the condition of the schools were known by inspection. For these reasons I wish to invite the Minister for Public Instruction to direct the inspectors to visit our R. C. Schools in this Diocese (the names of which I shall be prepared to give), and to examine and report the condition of secular instruction in those schools.

I have, &c.,

† WM. LANIGAN.

Inform that this request cannot be complied with.—G.H.R., 12/3/83.

No. 2.

The Under Secretary of Public Instruction to The Roman Catholic Bishop of Goulburn.

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 13 March, 1883.
I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under consideration your letter of the 28th February, requesting that the school inspectors under this Department may be instructed to visit the Roman Catholic Schools in the Diocese of Goulburn, and to examine and report upon the condition of secular instruction in those schools.

2. In reply, Mr. Reid desires me to state that your request cannot be complied with.

I have, &c.,

W. WILKINS,
Under Secretary.

Questions.

1. MR. HUGH TAYLOR to ask THE MINISTER FOR PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,—

- (1.) What was the amount of school fees received by the Educational Department during the years 1880, 1881, 1882, and 1883 respectively?
- (2.) How many School Attendance and Payment Officers were employed during the years 1880, 1881, 1882, and 1883 respectively?

- (4.) How much greater was the average school attendance in 1883 than in 1880, and what amount of school fees accrued from the increase in school attendance between the end of 1880 and the end of 1883?
- (5.) In how many cases of default in payment of arrears of school fees during the year 1883 have Attendance Officers reported, after investigation, that the parents or guardians were unable to pay; and what was the amount of such debts cancelled in consequence?
- (6.) How many children, on application by parents or guardians, were allowed free education during the year 1883, after their cases had been investigated and reported upon by School Attendance Officers?

(4.)	Attendance. 16,517.	Fees. Nil.*
(5.)	586 cases were reported, and the amount of debts cancelled was £890 15s.
(6.)	2,973.

* The total amount of fees collected in 1880 and 1883 was respectively £56,800 12s. 2½d. and £51,209 7s. 1d.; i.e., the amount collected in 1880 exceeded that collected in 1883 by £5,591 5s. 1½d. It should be explained, however, that, under the Public Instruction Act (which did not come into operation until 1st May, 1880), the scale of fees was greatly reduced, and that, had fees been collected at the reduced rate for the whole year, the total amount received for 1880 would probably not have exceeded £41,328. Taking this amount for comparison with the amounts received in 1881, 1882, and 1883, the amount of fees which "accrued from the increase in school attendance between the end of 1880 and the end of 1883" would be found to be about £24,884 18s. 4d. It should further be explained that in 1882 the sum of £3,005 4s. 6d. was collected in Certified Denominational Schools under the Department, and that as such schools ceased to be under the Department from the 31st December, 1882, no fees were received from them in 1883.

CHARLOTTE BRENNING.
(PETITION OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 30 September, 1884.

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of Charlotte Brenning,—

HUMBLY AND RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

That your Petitioner has served as Teacher under the Department of Public Instruction of New South Wales for three years, having entered the Service on or about the thirteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

That in consequence of having been sent to places where great hardships had to be contended against, the health of your Petitioner became greatly affected.

That your Petitioner applied to the Department, on the seventh day of March last, setting forth your Petitioner's urgent need for removal from the Portland Head School, of which she had then the charge, in consequence of failing health, owing to the unfavourable situation of the place, and received a reply, dated about the twenty-ninth day of the same month, from the Department, to the effect that your Petitioner's resignation as Teacher of the school had been accepted, to take effect from the thirty-first day of that month, and requesting that all the money which had been advanced for travelling expenses should be refunded, thereby implying that your Petitioner tendered her resignation. The Department now decline to grant your Petitioner any further employment.

Your Petitioner therefore most humbly prays that your Honorable House will be pleased to cause inquiries to be made, and take this case into their favourable consideration, with a view to securing to your Petitioner such employment as on examination may appear to be in accordance with the circumstances, and for the reasons set forth in the above Petition.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Dated this thirtieth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four.

10. Additional leave-of-absence for a period of twelve months from the meetings of the Senate has been granted to Sir Charles Nicholson.
11. With much regret the Senate has to report the death of one of its number—the Honorable William Forster. Mr. Forster was first elected a Fellow in 1871. During his absence in England his seat became vacant by effluxion of time, but he was re-elected in March, 1880. At a convocation held for the election of his successor, the Honorable Sir Patrick A. Jennings, K.C.M.G., was chosen to fill the vacant seat.

12. The Senate has the pleasure to announce the following donations to the University for the year :—

- (a) A sum of £50 from Randolph C. Want, Esq., to provide for two years for the Scholarship for Practical Chemistry which he initiated in 1881.
- (b) A further sum of £50 from Mr. Justice Faucett, to be applied as a prize for Law.
- (c) Three volumes of very valuable autographs, presented by the Honorable Sir Henry Parkes, on behalf of the Government of the Colony.

13. During the year the Senate has been actively engaged in making the necessary arrangements for carrying out the extended scheme of teaching adopted on the 23rd of December, 1881, in consequence of the increased endowment granted for the year 1882. The Senate learned with satisfaction that this scheme was approved by the Minister for Public Instruction.

On the 4th of January a Committee was appointed to remodel the by-laws, so as to make provision for the new Faculties and Schools which had been determined upon. This Committee, after numerous meetings, brought up its report on the 17th of May, embodying a series of resolutions which subsequently formed the basis of a new code of by-laws. These by-laws were, after careful consideration, adopted by the Senate on the 22nd of June, and were formally sanctioned by His Excellency the Governor on the 29th of September.

14. After careful consideration the Senate decided that it would be impossible for operations to be commenced in the new Schools in the beginning of the academical year 1882-83 (June). The difficulties were mainly these : (1) the want of space accommodation ; (2) the impossibility of providing the apparatus necessary for the proposed teaching in the Schools of Medicine, Science, and Engineering ; and (3) the difficulty of finding in the Colonies a gentleman capable of performing the duties of Professor of Anatomy and Physiology and head of the Medical School. No time, however, has been lost, for as the new by-laws require all candidates for Degrees in Medicine or Science, or Certificates in Engineering, to pass through one year in the Faculty of Arts, those students who matriculated in June, 1882, will be enabled to proceed in their respective courses when the first professional lectures in these departments are given in March, 1883.

15. In order to provide space accommodation for the Schools of Medicine and Science the Senate has made application to the Government for the sum of £2,000 for the erection of a temporary building. In the meantime it has been decided to apply £1,000 of the funds immediately available for a building for the Medical School, as being the more urgently required, in the hope of a reimbursement of this sum from the Government.

The erection of the temporary building for the Medical School has been placed in the hands of the Colonial Architect, and it is hoped that the building will be ready by March, 1883.

An application has also been made to the Government for the sum of £20,000 for the erection of a permanent building for the accommodation of these Schools, and it is proposed that if this be granted a part of it shall be applied in building a detached Chemical Laboratory. The object of this would be to release some valuable space in the present main building for class-rooms which will be required, and at the same time to supply more accommodation for Laboratory Students, and to obviate the danger of retaining the laboratory in its present place.

16. The Senate has appropriated upwards of £2,000 from the new endowment to provide apparatus for illustration of the courses of lectures to be delivered under the new by-laws.

17. The Senate has not yet seen its way to the establishment of a regular School of Law, but it hopes to make a commencement in 1883, by establishing an efficient lectureship in general law.

18. Early in the year the new professorship of Natural History was filled by the election of Mr. W. J. Stephens, M.A., late Fellow and Tutor of Queen's College, Oxford, and first head-master of the Sydney Grammar School, and this gentleman has delivered several courses of lectures upon subjects falling under his department during the year.

19. For the election of a Professor of Anatomy and Physiology the Deans of the various Medical Schools in the United Kingdom were requested to nominate gentlemen qualified for the office. Numerous nominations were received, and the choice of the Senate fell upon Mr. T. P. Anderson Stuart, M.D., who has highly distinguished himself as a student, as Demonstrator of Anatomy, and as acting Professor of Physiology in the University of Edinburgh. Professor Stuart's active duties will commence in March, 1883, and it is believed that he is now on his way to the Colony.

20. The following further appointments have also been made :—

Lecturer in Practice of Midwifery	Thos. Chambers, F.R.C.S. (Eng.) ; F.R.C.P. (Edin.)
Lecturer in Practice of Medicine	James C. Cox, M.D. (Edinburgh) ; F.R.C.S. (England).
Lecturer in Practice of Surgery	Frederick Milford, M.D. (Heidelberg and Sydney) ; L.R.C.P. (Lon.) ; M.R.C.S. (E).
Lecturer in Medical Jurisprudence	W. H. Goode, M.A., M.D., Ch. M. (Dublin).
Lecturer in Materia Medica and Therapeutics	Thomas Dixon, M.B., M. Ch. (Edinburgh).
Demonstrator in Comparative Anatomy and Physiology and in Histology.	William A. Haswell, M.A., B. Sc. (Edinburgh).
Lecturer in Modern History	Douglas B. W. Sladen, B.A. (Oxon).
Lecturer in Mathematics	F. J. Horner, B.A. (Cam.)
Lecturer in Modern Languages	Etienne Thibault, Docteur et Lettres, University of Paris.
Lecturer in Engineering	W. H. Warren.

21. The leave-of-absence granted to Mr. Hugh Kennedy, Registrar, having expired in May, and it having been ascertained that the state of his health would not allow him again to resume active duties, Mr. H. E. Barff, B.A., was appointed to the office.

22. The organ which, at the end of last year, was in course of erection in the Great Hall, has been completed, and has been performed upon several times. It proves to be an instrument of very high character.

23. Appended is an account of the receipts and disbursements of the University for the year, certified by the Auditor, the Honorable Geoffrey Eagar.

H. E. BARFF,
Registrar.

9. Three examinations similar to that prescribed for Matriculation, for candidates for articles of clerkship with Solicitors were held ; at these fifty-three candidates presented themselves, and twenty-six gained certificates.

10. The Senate has to report with regret the loss of one of its original members, the Hon. Sir Charles Nicholson, Bart., whose seat became vacant in June by effluxion of time. Sir Charles Nicholson was appointed a Fellow of the Senate with others by a Royal Proclamation issued on the 24th of December, 1850 ; he was the first to hold the office of Vice-Chancellor in 1851, which office he retained until he was elected Chancellor in the year 1854. This office he held until his departure for England in 1862, when he was succeeded by the Hon. F. L. S. Merewether.

To fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Sir Charles Nicholson, a convocation of electors was held on the 1st and 11th of August, which resulted in the election of H. N. MacLaurin, Esq., M.D.

11. The Senate reports with regret the retirement of the Rev. Canon Allwood from the office of Vice-Chancellor on account of ill-health. That gentleman was first elected Vice-Chancellor in the year 1869, and annually re-elected to the office until the time of his resignation in October last.

At a special meeting of the Senate held on the 26th of October, His Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer was duly elected to fill the vacancy caused by Canon Allwood's retirement.

12. In March a letter was received from Sir William Manning, in which he offered to resign the office of Chancellor, in consequence of his intention to pay a twelve months visit to Europe in order to recruit his health. At a special meeting held on the 12th of February, the Senate refused to accept his resignation on account of his many great services to the University, and twelve months leave of absence was accordingly granted to him.

13. The Senate has much pleasure in announcing the following donations to the University during the year :—

- (a) A sum of £10 from Arthur Renwick, Esq., M.D., to be awarded as a prize for excellence in Anatomy.
- (b) A sum of £1,000 from John Struth, Esq., to found an Exhibition for Students, who without some pecuniary assistance would be unable to obtain a University Education. As the founder expressed a wish that Medical Students in particular should participate in the benefits of this endowment; the Board of Studies have suggested that it should be awarded at the first year examination of the Arts' course to a student who intends to proceed to the M.B. degree.
- (c) A sum of 50 guineas from the Right Hon. the Earl of Rosebery, to provide two prizes of 25 guineas each, to be awarded for English Essays to Graduates and Under Graduates respectively.
- (d) A sum of £500 from Sir G. Wigram Allen to be added to a similar sum previously given by him for the purpose of establishing a Scholarship for Law, when a School of Law shall have been founded.

14. At the beginning of the Academic year in March, a commencement was made in the work of the Schools of Medicine and Engineering. The newly appointed Professor of Anatomy and Physiology, Professor Anderson Stuart, reached Sydney in February, and commenced with seven students the first course of lectures on Anatomy in the temporary buildings erected for the purpose. The classes of the Lecturer in Engineering were attended at their opening by three Matriculated Students—Candidates for the Engineering Certificate.

15. Great inconvenience has been felt during the year both by the Lecturers and the Students through the deficiency in accommodation for lecturing purposes. The Lecturer in Modern Languages has been obliged to use the University Library; the Stenhouse Library has been used by the Professor of Natural History as well as the Lecturer in Classics; the room occupied by the Lecturer in Engineering has been much too small to contain the apparatus required for the illustration of his lectures; and the Mathematical Lecturer has been compelled to use the Great Hall. A temporary building, however, has been put up in the rear of the main building for the Departments of Natural History and Engineering, and application has been made to the Government for additional accommodation for other departments. This latter building will also be required by the remaining Lecturers in the Medical School, for whom sufficient rooms have not yet been provided.

16. One urgent requirement, however, has not been met by these temporary additions, viz :—The removal of the Chemical Laboratory from the main building. It is intended, however, that this shall form a part of the new permanent buildings, for which Parliament last year voted the sum of £20,000, and plans for which are now being prepared by the Colonial Architect. These buildings will also provide for the Museum of Natural History bequeathed to the University by the Hon. William Macleay.

17. In November, Mr. W. C. Wilkinson, M.B., London, was appointed Lecturer in Pathology, and that gentleman has since gone to Vienna to collect Pathological specimens for the illustration of his lectures, the sum of £250 having been placed at his disposal for the purpose. In March, Mr. A. M'Cormick, M.B., Ch.M., Edin., was appointed Demonstrator in Anatomy and Physiology.

18. In October a letter was received from the Hon. the Minister for Public Instruction, in which he requested a communication from the Senate upon the subject of a letter written by Professor Badham to the Sydney Morning Herald, wherein he suggested the expediency of establishing a system of University evening lectures, enabling those who were engaged teaching or otherwise during the day to obtain a degree. At the same time a petition, signed by upwards of a thousand residents of Sydney and the suburbs, praying for the establishment of such a system, was laid before the Senate. The whole question was, on the 13th of November, referred to the Board of Studies for their report. The report of that Board, which was brought up and adopted by the Senate on the 5th of December, stated that a system of evening lectures, which should qualify for a Degree in Arts, might be established upon the following basis :—

- (a) That evening students desirous of graduating should be required to show to the satisfaction of the Senate that their circumstances are such as to preclude the possibility of their attendance during the day.
- (b) That the whole course should extend over a period of five years.
- (c) That evening students should be required to pass the same Matriculation Examination, and the same three Examinations as other students, and should be subject to the same by-laws and regulations.
- (d) That the scale of fees for evening lectures should be so adjusted that the total amount payable by evening students in five years should be equal to that paid by other students in three years.
- (e) That the sum of £1,800 per annum would be sufficient to defray the expense of the evening courses.

The Senate accordingly communicated at once with the Minister of Public Instruction, and requested him to place the required amount upon the Estimates for the coming year.

19. Appended is an account of the receipts and disbursements of the University for the year, certified by the Auditor, the Hon. Geoffrey Eagar.

UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY.

(INFORMATION AS TO REMISSION OF FEES, &c.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 27 August, 1884.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 30th July, 1884, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“ A Return, showing the total number of applications from intending “ Students received this year, from 1st January to date, by the Senate of “ the Sydney University, for remission of fees, for grace in the matter of “ time of payments, and for reduction of fees, stating the several faculties “ in relation to which the indulgence was requested, the number of such “ applications granted, and the number refused, together with copies of the “ reasons given for such refusals.”

(Mr. Poole.)

SINCE January 1st, 1884, two applications have been made to the Senate for exemption from fees—one in the Faculty of Medicine and one in the Faculty of Science; and one application has been made for grace in the matter of time of payment for an indefinite period. All these applications were refused in consequence of a principle laid down by the Senate that no exemptions from fees should be granted in the Professional Schools. Of the three two have continued their studies, paying the prescribed fees.

Two students in the Faculty of Medicine, who made application before the abovementioned principle was laid down, received exemption from fees, and still continue to hold that privilege.

In the Faculty of Arts there are twenty students not paying fees, of whom sixteen hold bursaries of the value of £50 or £25 per annum.

No applications for reduction of fees have been received.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SYDNEY GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

(ANNUAL REPORT, 1882.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 18 Vic, No. 16.

The Secretary to Trustees, Sydney Grammar School, to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

Sydney Grammar School, 23 June, 1883.

I have the honor, by direction of the Trustees of the Sydney Grammar School, to transmit to you, for the purpose of being laid before Parliament, the following Report of their proceedings and the progress of the school during the year 1882.

The Trustees, at a Special Meeting held on the 4th January, re-elected the Hon. Sir George Wigram Allen Chairman of the Board, and at a subsequent meeting M. H. Stephen, Esq. was elected Vice-Chairman for the year.

The Mathematical Mastership, vacant by the resignation of Mr. Edward Pratt, was on the 18th February filled up by the appointment of Mr. Wm. Newbery, M.A., late Fellow of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, to that office, at a salary of £600 per annum, and Mr. Arthur Giles, B.A., of Queen's College, Cambridge, was subsequently appointed Second Mathematical Master, at a salary of £300 for the first year and £350 after the termination of that period.

Mons. Marie was also appointed Master of Modern Languages for three months, at a salary at the rate of £250 a year, in the room of Mr. R. A. Martin resigned.

On the 18th January the Trustees received a letter from Mr. Edward Meyrick resigning his position of Second Classical Master. This office is at present in abeyance, but the vacancy in the Staff of Masters was filled up by the appointment of Mr. J. H. Linden, late Scholar of Trinity College, Cambridge, and B.A. of that University, as an Assistant Master, at a salary of £300 per annum. At the same meeting Mr. Francis' salary was raised from £350 to £400, Mr. Goldie's from £200 to £250, Mr. L. Whitfeld's from £200 to £250, and Mr. Hewlett's from £250 to £300.

On the 27th March, Rules and Regulations were passed for the issue of Licenses to the Masters to keep boarding-houses in connection with the Sydney Grammar School, under the Act 18 Victoria. These Regulations are hereto appended.

Mr. H. I. Carter, B.A., late Scholar of Jesus College, Cambridge, was also appointed an Assistant Master, and entered upon his duties on the 21st February, at a salary of £250 per annum.

At the same meeting the Trustees received and accepted Mr. Anderson's resignation, in consequence of his having been appointed an Examiner in the Department of Public Instruction. Mr. Anderson had been more than nine years in the service of the Trustees. To fill this vacancy Mr. J. N. Dalton, of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, was appointed an Assistant Master, at a salary of £250 per annum.

The Trustees have much pleasure in reporting that they have secured, through the kindness of the Mayor and City Council, a cricket-ground of between 4 and 5 acres in extent, in Moore Park, for the use of Grammar School boys, on the understanding that the occupation is permissive only, and not to the exclusion of the public.

In view of the greater stress laid upon the teaching of modern languages by the new University curriculum, notice was given on the 27th November to Mons. Marie that his services would not be required after the 31st January.

The Mastership of Modern Languages has since been filled up by the appointment of Dr. Max, at a salary of £250 a year, to teach French and German.

At the request of the Trustees, the yearly examination was conducted by Mr. C. H. Randall, B.A., Lecturer at Trinity College, Melbourne, Mr. A. Leeper, M.A., Warden of Trinity College, Melbourne, and Mr. A. P. Canaway, B.A., of Christ Church, Oxford, in Classics; and Mr. T. Harlin, M.A., late Fellow of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, in Mathematics. Their reports are highly satisfactory, and are hereto annexed.

Since the date of the last Report the Trustees have not found it necessary to make any further regulations for the management of the School.

The average attendance of pupils during the year was 406½.

An account of the whole income and expenditure of the School during the year is hereto appended.

I have, &c.,

W. H. CATLETT,

Secretary.

APPENDIX.

SYDNEY GRAMMAR SCHOOL, DECEMBER, 1882.

Reports of the Examiners.

Mr. C. H. Rendall, B.A., Lecturer at Trinity College, Melbourne, late Scholar of Hertford College, Oxford, reports as follows of the Classical work of the Sixth and Fourth Forms:—

To the Trustees of the Sydney Grammar School,—
Gentlemen,

Trinity College, Melbourne, 16 December, 1882.

I have had the pleasure of examining the Sixth and Fourth Forms of Sydney Grammar School in Classics; and to look over the work has been really a pleasure, owing to the great excellence of almost every paper. In both forms there is very close competition for the first place, and it has been attained by exceptionally good work.

In the Sixth Form Russell (I) and Broomfield are considerably above the rest; and the work of both is exceedingly good, particularly the prepared translations and verses, both of which obtained nearly full marks. After much careful examination and revision, I have placed Russell (I) slightly first, a position gained by greater accuracy and superiority in work outside the appointed books. The weakest parts are those in Latin Prose, Latin Unseen, and Greek Syntax, in which the work of neither can be considered of first-rate excellence. Sydney Grammar School may be congratulated on possessing at the same time two scholars of such great promise. In the rest of the Sixth, as must always be the case in a head form, the work is not very even, but it is exceedingly satisfactory throughout—the books being accurately and intelligently translated by even the least advanced members of the form—the Latin prose being fairly done by all—and every individual showing that scholarly care in the master and steady application in the boy had combined to produce a most satisfactory result. The weakest subjects are Latin and Greek Syntax, and Latin and Greek Unseen Translation, which subjects cannot be considered on a level with the rest of their work. The neatness of papers and arrangement of answers is a most noticeable feature of all the work; in this respect I have never seen better papers. An essay written by Broomfield on "Satire" deserves special mention.

The Fourth Form deserves all the praise that can be bestowed upon it. The master of this form must be most warmly congratulated on his work; in Latin and Greek alike the grammar and parsing are almost faultless, the translation is accurate, and incidental questions are answered with great correctness. But the best feature of the examination is the wonderful level teaching—in a form of twenty-two not one boy breaking down in any paper or failing thoroughly to grasp the principles of Latin and Greek construction. This was especially evident in some catch sentences set in Latin and Greek prose, which were admirably translated, several boys obtaining nearly full marks. The Alcestis paper was the least well done, but this was owing to the work of several boys being much broken in this subject.

Leibius deserves special praise for his work in the whole examination, which combines accuracy and style with the greatest clearness and neatness. An essay by Walker, on the Alcestis, was very thoughtful and well expressed.

It is pleasant to be able to write so favourable a report; but it has been well earned by masters and pupils alike. The work of the Fourth Form is sufficiently high to pass the Matriculation Examination of Melbourne University; and the work of the Sixth Form resembles in standard and character that of a great English School.

Mr. Alexander Leeper, M.A., Warden of Trinity College, Melbourne, Late Scholar of St. John's College, Oxford, and Scholar of Trinity College, Dublin, appends the following note to Mr. Rendall's report:—

Trinity College, Melbourne, 16 December, 1882.

I HAVE examined one paper set to the sixth form, viz., that in Aristophanes. I consider the papers of the first three boys, Russell, Broomfield, and Neill, exceedingly creditable.

Russell I place slightly ahead of Broomfield, on account of his greater accuracy, but both are deserving of much praise. I have examined a good many boys in leading schools of Australia, but I have not seen any classical work equal to that of Russell and Broomfield.

Mr. A. P. Canaway, B.A., Late Junior Student of Christ Church, Oxford, reports as follows of the Classical work of the rest of the School.

To the Trustees of the Sydney Grammar School,—
Gentlemen,

The King's School, Parramatta, 19 December, 1882.

I have the honor to submit the following report on the results of that part of the Classical Examination at the Sydney Grammar School which was entrusted to me.

The Lower Forms of the Upper School seem to me in a satisfactory state; none of them is without a fair proportion of boys of good calibre and promise for the future; each has a compact main body of boys who, if not brilliant, are at least good workers, good learners, and well taught; and there is no Form, so far as I can see, encumbered, more than is necessary from the nature of things, with the sluggish and the dull. The several Form-masters are to be congratulated on the solid results they have obtained.

The Upper Remove A passed a tolerable examination in Cæsar and Latin Prose Composition; it passed a somewhat better examination in Greek accidence and Exercise-writing; in each language Oliver did very well.

Close on this Form presses the Upper Remove B, of which the standard is relatively higher both in Latin and in Greek. In Latin Construe, Grammar, and Composition, McInnes;—in Greek Accidence and Exercise-writing, Stephen I, McNeil I, and Stephen 2;—acquitted themselves very creditably.

The first moderns distinguished themselves as a form in Latin grammar and in Horace; the composition of about two-thirds of the form was creditable—Vickery, Brereton (1), Adams, White (1), Fosbery, Woolcott, and Marks (1), are all worthy of especial commendation.

Moderns II, in spite of the form's containing a 2nd division of considerably lower attainments than the upper boys, passed well in Latin Construe, Composition, and Grammar; Belisario (1), Binnie, and Cohen, all gained first classes, or more than two-thirds of the full number of marks. In the Shell, Watt (3) and North passed creditably in the limited range of subjects which are studied in that form.

In the Lower School, III A and III B were examined in Latin Accidence, Construe, and Composition. The results were extremely gratifying. The work of the two forms was marked by neatness and great accuracy. From III A, Weigall, Wallace, Reid, Ross, Kerr (2), Hungerford (2), King (2); from III B, Glanville, Cadell, Palmer, Rofe, Elphinston, Ramsay (2), Addison, Uther, and Hedgeland, are worthy, one and all, to be singled out as boys of diligence, ability, and promise. I have to add that the general level of both these forms is unusually high. In II A and II B also the answers were given with pleasing accuracy. In II A Belisario (2) and Humphries (2) passed with first class honors; and if in II B no boy came up to the first class standard, it was not from the want of real merit in many boys, but because a grammar paper, given to them in common with the divisions of the Lower School lying above them, went considerably beyond the standard they had arrived at; yet in spite of this disadvantage the average of the whole form was over half marks.

In the Lower Remove 50 per cent. of the boys got more than three-quarters of full marks—a result which may be allowed to speak for itself.

In Form I, composed of beginners, one-third of the boys reached an equally high level.

Finally, taking the Lower School as a whole, I have the honor to report that the classes appear to me to be duly graduated and well organized, the boys to be thoroughly grounded in the rudiments of Latin, and the teaching to be intelligent, careful, and effective. In the matter of the discipline and the behaviour of the boys, so far as I could judge during the oral examination of several classes, they seemed to me to leave nothing to be desired.

Mr.

Mr. Thomas Harlin, M.A., late Fellow of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, reports as follows of the Mathematical work of the School:—

To the Trustees of the Sydney Grammar School,—

Gentlemen,—

The Sydney Grammar School, 19 December, 1882.

I had great pleasure in again accepting your invitation to undertake the Mathematical Examination of the Sydney Grammar School. This is the fourth occasion on which you have entrusted me with that duty; and the pleasure which I naturally derive from these repeated marks of your confidence has been much enhanced, since my arrival in Sydney, by finding myself able to report more favourably than I have ever previously done as to the general mathematical state of the school. I saw at the end of last year that the mathematical side of the school was at length in the fair way of being as thoroughly organized as the classical side long has been; and I therefore ventured to set harder papers for the examination of this year than I had ever set before. The result, speaking generally, has been both very gratifying and very satisfactory; for not only is the average of the marks gained by the several mathematical divisions higher than it was a year ago, but the amount of written work which I have had to examine has been so large as not only to tax my own energies to the utmost, but also to lead me to the conclusion that pluck under difficulties is markedly characteristic of a large majority of the boys of the Sydney Grammar School. It is quite evident to me that at the late examination a large proportion of the boys have done their very best; and the high percental averages which are shown in the detailed appendix to this general report are amply sufficient to justify me in the very favourable opinion which I have formed as to the zeal and efficiency of the members of the mathematical staff, and as to the docility and diligence of most of the boys entrusted to their care.

To this general expression of satisfaction there is one exception, however, to which I must pointedly draw your attention. I have found that the lowest part of the Upper School consists of three divisions, each of which is more or less a mixture of big fellows and little boys—the big fellows being, many of them, in a backward and not very hopeful state. Now I am quite ready to admit that in every large public school it is necessary to provide places of refuge for such of the boys as may be either deficient in industry or comparatively destitute of brains; but at the same time, I do not think it desirable that little boys should be worked either in company or in competition with big fellows belonging to either of these classes. I am, therefore, of opinion that the three divisions of which I am unable to report favourably ought to be re-classified in such manner that little boys, many of whom may still have a creditable future before them, shall not be taught hereafter in combination with big fellows who have little or no chance of ever holding prominent positions in the intellectual life of the school. So far as I can see, there is no practical difficulty in the way of giving effect to this suggestion. I am sure you will agree with me that its adoption will tend to minimize the area of disappointing and disheartening work, for which, as I have said already, provision must be made in every large public school, but within which it is impossible for the efforts even of the most competent teachers either to satisfy themselves, or to secure the commendation of the examiner whom you may honor with your confidence.

I will only add that the appendix attached to this report contains full details as to the examination work done in each of the mathematical divisions of the school. Similar details as to the classical examination work are given in the corresponding appendix to the reports of my co-examiners on the classical side.

Signed, on behalf of self and co-examiners,

THOMAS HARLIN, M.A.,

Senior Examiner.

Mathematical Master of the Church of England Grammar School, Melbourne, late Fellow of St. Peter's College, Cambridge.

CLASSICS—UPPER AND LOWER SCHOOL.

Form.	Subjects.	Percental Results.			Remarks.
		Average.	Highest.	Lowest.
UPPER :—
VI. 17 Boys.	Latin— Livy Book I. Unseen Latin. Ovid. Horace. Prose, verse and critical Paper. Greek— Homer. Demosthenes. Sophocles. Aristophanes. Unseen Greek. Prose and critical paper.	45	80	28	Latin papers— Livy as a rule satisfactory, especially seven papers which are excellent. Translation of Ovid and Horace uniformly good—the passage from the Odes of Horace especially so. Prose as a rule very grammatical. Vocabulary fairly good, in one or two cases very good, but very little style. The first two sets of verses are of great merit. The critical questions were very poor. Greek papers— Translation of Homer and Demosthenes as a rule excellent; history generally poor. Aristophanes remarkably well done by the first three boys; passages well translated, and good answers to critical questions. The Greek prose is the worst paper; the critical work was weak, and shows want of arrangement.
IV. 22 Boys.	Latin— Cæsar and Latin Grammar. Horace. Prose Composition Greek— Xenophon and Greek Grammar Euripides-Alcestis Prose Composition	61*	85	26	Latin papers— Translation of Cæsar satisfactory—grammar excellent. Sentences with a few exceptions admirably done. Horace. A most excellent paper, very accurately done—the marks of the first few boys being wonderful. Translation only lacks style, which cannot be looked for in the fourth, otherwise as good as sixth form work. Latin prose. A good paper for a fourth form. Greek papers— Translation of Xenophon good; parsing excellent. Paper as a whole very satisfactory. The Alcestis weaker than the Xenophon. Essay generally remarkably good, in one case brilliant. Greek sentences most excellent.
Upper Remove A. 22 Boys.	Latin— Cæsar, Book I. Latin Composition Greek Grammar to end of Verbs in μ Exercises from Initia Græca	47	84	25	On the whole rather a weak form. Weak in composition and not very strong in accidence.
		49	76	24

* NOTE.—This average is lower than it ought to have been because, owing to absences, thirteen papers were not shown up, some of which would have carried very high marks.

CLASSICS—UPPER AND LOWER SCHOOL—continued.

Form.	Subjects.	Percental Results.			Remarks.
		Average.	Highest.	Lowest.
Upper Remove B. 23 Boys.	Latin— Bennett's Latin Stories Ihne's Latin Syntax	53	78	26	Work up to nearly the same standard as the boys of Remove A, and on the whole do better.
First Modern. 28 Boys.	Greek— Grammar to end of Verbs in 10 exercises from Initia Græca	50	82	11
Second Modern. 34 Boys.	Latin— Horace Odes Book III. Grammar and Composi- tion	54	85	31	Composition done tolerably by two-thirds of the boys. Construe paper in Horace answered fairly by almost all. Grammar with one exception good.
Third Modern. 43 Boys.	Latin— Bennett's Latin Stories Accidence and Composi- tion.	56	86	17	Average spoiled by the weak work of the second division of the form. Do not learn Latin.
Shell. 35 Boys.	Latin— Grammar and Easy Exercises	55	82	6	Work of the Upper Division fair. Lower Division very weak.
LOWER :— III. A. 27 Boys.	Latin— Bennett's Latin Stories Ihne's Latin Syntax	70	99	39	Excellent work.
III. B. 27 Boys.	Latin— Same as III. A.	68	90	42	Work very even, and very good.
II. A. 27 Boys.	Latin— Principia Latina	66	81	23	This form seems to be very thoroughly grounded.
II. B. 33 Boys.	Latin— Principia Latina	54	66	17	The paper in Latin Grammar was a little too hard for the boys of this form. Up to a certain point, their knowledge, as tested by viva voce examination, is very accurate.
Lower Remove. 32 Boys.	Latin— Principia Latina	66	98	50	This form is very well grounded in the declensions of nouns and adjectives. Verbs not thoroughly known.
I. 30 Boys.	Latin— Principia Latina	55	89	20	Work at the top of the form fair, but at the bottom very weak.
MATHEMATICS—UPPER AND LOWER SCHOOL.
UPPER :—	Euclid I.—VI. Arithmetic.	69	97	30	Too wordy ; otherwise very satisfactory.
		66	93	28	Some really excellent work ; much very good work ; minimum of stupid work.
	Algebra.	55	93	31	The best work very good indeed ; the worst, creditable as regards quality ; deficient as regards range.
I. 25 Boys.	Trigonometry and Geometrical Conics.	57	77	35	Work of only four boys reckoned in this average, the remaining sixteen who are studying these subjects being mere beginners.
	Euclid Book XI. Higher Algebra. Analytical Geometry. Elementary Statics.	47	82	27	Five beginners, whose work is good as far as it goes, but is not included in the averages. Of the four whose marks are reckoned, three work well, and have been evidently well taught ; the fourth, Russel I, is a boy of most exceptional mathematical ability.
II. 25 Boys.	Euclid I.—IV. Arithmetic.	65	82	32	Bookwork good, but too wordy. No riders.
		61	89	34	Great deal of very good work, but also a considerable proportion of inaccurate work.
	Algebra to Progressions-	57	86	36	Work on the whole very good, but fractions and indices weak in a few cases.
	Euclid I.—III.	59	100	14	Very few riders attempted ; but the bookwork of Books I. and II. though too wordy, as in Divisions I. and II., was generally very good. The questions set from Book III. were beyond the reading of many of the boys ; and as a rule, when they were tried at all, they were not well done.
III. 29 Boys.	Arithmetic.	58	85	25	The marks of the three worst boys, amounting in all only to 20 in 100, excluded from the average. As to the rest, much of their work was honest and good ; but the grounding is in many cases unsatisfactory ; and the absence of nous or ordinary common sense is characteristic of several of the boys.
	Algebra to Quadratics.	46	79	17	This set of boys consists of two subdivisions—the standard of work of the higher of the two being taken as the standard for calculating percentages ; hence the lowness of the average result, the work of the division, on the whole, being quite satisfactory.
	Euclid I. II.	54	98	19	Bookwork generally good. The standard for calculating percentages is the propositions set from Books I. II. ; but many of the boys have not yet begun to learn the second book.
IV. 28 Boys.	Arithmetic.	51	89	25	Fair proportion of thoughtful work ; but also, in too many cases, inaccurate work and insufficient grounding.
	Algebra to Simple Simul- taneous Equations.	49	91	10	Two boys absent. As regards the rest, very good work in four cases ; good work in eight ; fair work in nine ; unsatisfactory work in five.
	Euclid Book I. Algebra to end of Simple Equations.	50	87	18	Euclid unusually good. Algebra very satisfactory.

Form.	Subjects.	Percental Returns.			Remarks.
		Average.	Highest.	Lowest.
V. 28 Boys.	Arithmetic.	47	90	10	As a rule, the boys of this division show their common sense by trying to do only what they know they can do correctly and well. As regards quantity, their work is somewhat limited; but as regards quality, it is generally good, and in the case of the three top boys particularly so.
VI. 30 Boys.	Euclid I. 1-15- Arithmetic. Algebra to Simple Equations.	Not calculated.	Not inserted.	Not inserted.	Each of these divisions is made up of a mixture of big and little fellows, most of the big fellows being extremely backward for their age. Their work, with the exception of ten or twelve sets of papers, is bad throughout; and consequently, any attempt to make percental comparisons would be a mere waste of time.
VII. 30 Boys.	Arithmetic. Algebra to Simple Equations.
VIII. 29 Boys.	Arithmetic. To Simple Interest.
LOWER :—
Group I. Division I. 25 Boys.	Euclid Book I. Algebra to Fractions.	44	76	21	In calculating these averages allowance has been made for the fact that the work of half the boys of this division does not cover so much ground as the work of the boys of the other half; also, two results are struck out, of which one is 11 per cent. and the other 2 per cent. The results on the whole are very satisfactory.
Division II. 29 Boys.	Arithmetic to Compound Interest. Arithmetic to Practice.	57	96	22	Good and generally accurate.
Group II. Division I. 21 Boys.	Euclid Book I. Algebra to Greatest Common Measure.	69	96	18	The papers sent up by seven of the boys of this division are very unsatisfactory, the percentage of the marks allotted to them varying between 12 and zero. In calculating the average these results are omitted. The work of the rest of the division is in every case creditable, and in two cases very good indeed.
II. 24 Boys.	Arithmetic to Compound Interest. Arithmetic to Practice.	68	90	50	Good, thoughtful, and, on the whole, accurate.
III. 30 Boys.	Arithmetic to end of Decimals.	46	100	25	Some really excellent work obtained in this division, which is certainly well taught, and which contains a fair proportion of thoughtful and intelligent boys.
IV. 25 Boys.	Arithmetic to end of Decimals.	41	82	11	Work generally accurate, frequently well thought out, and well arranged.
V. 22 Boys.	Arithmetic to Easy Fractions.	36	80	15	Much of the work of this division inaccurate. Several of the boys failed in notation and numeration; and only a very few succeeded in doing sums requiring thought as well as power of correct calculation.
	Arithmetic to Reduction.	Not calculated.	67	0	In a few cases the work was thoughtful, and in several it was accurate up to the prescribed limits. On the other hand, many of the boys did little or nothing, and several failed in notation and numeration.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SYDNEY GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

(ANNUAL REPORT, 1883.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Section 16 of the Grammar School Act, 18 Vict.

The Secretary to Trustees, Sydney Grammar School, to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

Sydney Grammar School, 7 July, 1884.

I have the honor, by direction of the Trustees of the Sydney Grammar School, to transmit to you, for the purpose of being laid before Parliament, the following proceedings and progress of the school during the year 1883.

The Trustees at their first meeting elected Mr. M. H. Stephen Chairman, and Mr. Alfred J. Cape Vice-Chairman, of the Board for the year.

Mr. J. H. Lindon, an Assistant Master in the school, being in ill health, leave of absence, without pay, was granted to him for twelve months, and Mr. A. P. Canaway was appointed as his substitute.

Owing to the funds at the Trustees' disposal being inadequate to carry out necessary repairs and improvements to the school premises, and to provide for the payment of proper salaries to the Masters on the School staff, a deputation waited upon the then Minister of Education (the Honorable G. H. Reid), to ask for an increase of the School Endowment, as well as to enable the Trustees to meet the question of salaries to the Masters as to provide for absolutely necessary reparations and additions to the school premises. Although the Minister's reply to this deputation was favourable, the Trustees regret to report that they have not as yet had any further funds placed at their disposal.

The Trustees respectfully urge upon yourself and the Government the urgent necessity of increasing the School endowment, to enable them to retain their present efficient staff of Masters and to effect much needed improvements in the school buildings. Bearing upon this question, the Trustees beg to submit herewith extracts from a report furnished to them by the Head Master on the 20th September last, and to which they desire to draw your especial attention.

During the year Mr. E. G. Ellis resigned his office as one of the Trustees of the school in consequence of failing health, and Mr. W. W. Wardell also resigned his seat at the Board owing to pressure of his private business. These resignations were duly accepted.

On 9th July last, at a special meeting of the Trustees, Sir George Wigram Allen and Mr. Justice Windeyer were elected Trustees in the room of the above-mentioned gentlemen.

The Trustees have also to report that the seat of Mr. George Knox, as a Trustee, became vacant by reason of his having accepted the office of Lecturer in Law in the Sydney University.

On 30th July last Mr. Alfred J. Cape intimated his intention of giving "a prize for the best translation of a passage into Latin Elegiac or Latin Hexameter verse, or of a Latin passage into English verse, at the option of the candidate."

At the request of the Trustees the yearly examination was conducted by Mr. C. H. Rendall, B.A., Lecturer at Trinity College, Melbourne, late scholar of Hertford College, Oxford, in Classics, and Mr. Thos. Harlin, M.A., late fellow of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, in Mathematics.

Their reports, which are very satisfactory, are hereto appended.

At the end of the year Mr. J. N. Dalton and Mr. W. G. Armstrong resigned their assistant masterships in the school.

Since the date of the last Report the Trustees have not found it necessary to make any further regulations for the management of the school.

The average number of pupils during the year was 401½.

The account of the whole income and expenditure of the school during the year is hereto annexed.

I have, &c.,

W. H. CATLETT,
Secretary.

EXTRACTS from the Head Master's Report, dated 20th September.

THE Grammar School offers a far higher standard of education than any other school in New South Wales. As the Grammar School is the only school in this Colony that annually offers its work to be tested by outside examiners, the unquestionable superiority of its standard can only be indirectly ascertained (1) from what is generally known of the work of other schools; (2), from the fact that for the last ten years no other school in New South Wales, except the Newcastle school on one occasion, has ever won a scholarship at the entrance examination at the local University. Far the larger proportion of these scholarships have been taken by Sydney Grammar School boys; a few of the scholarships have been secured by the Brisbane Grammar School. The subsequent career of the Sydney Grammar School boys at the University has fully maintained the promise of their entrance examination. These statements can be substantiated by statistics. (3) Of those who during the last few years have won distinction for New South Wales at the home Universities all, with possibly one exception, have been educated at the Sydney Grammar School. The honors they have won include, amongst others of less importance, an Exhibition at Balliol College, Oxford; a Scholarship at St. John's College, Cambridge; a Demysip at Magdalen College, Oxford; a Senior Moralist at Cambridge; a First Class at Classical Moderations, Oxford; a D. Sc. Cap, London; the best Medical Degree of the year at London and at Edinburgh; the Studentship at the Temple.

2 The moral and physical tone of the boys, in spite of many serious drawbacks in the material surroundings of the school, is unquestionably high, and is yearly improving. To secure this improvement the Trustees have at various times imported Masters from England, all of whom have been educated at schools of repute, and have all graduated in honors at the English Universities. These gentlemen have brought with them the traditions, the discipline, and the spirit of the English Public Schools, in these respects confessedly the best schools in the world. To this they have added the intellectual training and associations of the Universities, and have thus assisted, as no other class of men could, in raising the mental and moral tone of the boys, who will soon be the men, of New South Wales. But though these gentlemen bring with them the results of the best education that England can give, have been willing to come out upon absurdly small salaries—less, in fact than is paid to a 5th or 6th grade Public Schoolmaster in this Colony, it will be impossible for the Trustees to retain their services unless something is done to pay them at a more adequate rate. The Trustees are not able to raise the salaries out of the limited funds at their disposal, nor is it possible to reduce the number of the Teaching staff. In fact, the school is at present undermastered.

If the school is to maintain and to improve the character of its work—and the work at present is acknowledged to be good—it is absolutely necessary that the endowment, which is the same now with 400 pupils as when the attendance was only forty, should be substantially increased.

The reports of the School Examiners, annually presented to Parliament, will from time to time afford an evidence of the extent to which the money is being utilized for the highest interest of the country.

APPENDIX.

SYDNEY GRAMMAR SCHOOL, DECEMBER, 1883.

Reports of the Examiners.

Mr. Charles H. Rendall, M.A., Tutor and Lecturer Trinity College, Melbourne, late Scholar Hertford College, Oxford, reports as follows of the Classical work of the School:—

To the Trustees of the Sydney Grammar School,—
Gentlemen,

I have the honor to submit to you my report of the Classical work of the Sydney Grammar School. I am happy to say that it is generally most favourable. With but few exceptions the work appointed has in every form been thoroughly and efficiently done; and in fact, being well acquainted with many Australian schools, I can confidently affirm that the standard and style of work indicated by the results now laid before you are the best with which I have come in contact. This gratifying result must be attributed not only to the well known erudition and energy of the present head master, but also to the qualifications of the gentlemen now working under him, whose power of imparting knowledge and maintaining strict discipline I consider it would be hard to equal even in England. I have appended detailed particulars concerning the papers set throughout the school, and consequently it is not necessary for me to make more than brief general remarks as to the work of the separate forms.

The Sixth Form has done altogether better than last year, having attained a higher standard, and as is far more important, being much more on a level. The whole form have done well, the first five admirably. I would, however, offer a suggestion that next year some portions of the prose authors should be prepared minutely, translated on paper, and learnt by heart; this would lead to an improvement in the style of composition; and also in the style of translation, which is somewhat weak, the boys aiming too much at mere correctness, a standard which is not high enough for the form. This would necessitate covering a somewhat smaller amount of ground, but I feel certain that it would lead to good results. The boys of the form have more knowledge of the history involved in their reading than they had last year, and it is satisfactory to find that the suggestion offered in my former report has led to solid results.

Russell (1), who is first in the form, has done remarkably well; and Thompson (1), who is second, has done such exceedingly good work, and made such great progress during the year, that I feel it my duty and pleasure to strongly recommend him for a special prize.

The Fifth Form has not done such satisfactory work, though a fair standard has been maintained in the upper part of it. This, however, is almost entirely due to their work being broken by the Junior Examination; and also to the form's attempting too much in taking almost the same work as the Sixth. I would recommend that next year a less amount should be read, and that some portion, however small, of prose authors should be selected for repetition and careful translation on paper. I would also suggest that the candidates for whom the Junior Examination is a necessity should remain in the Fourth Form. It is absolutely unnecessary, prima facie, that boys intended to reach the Sixth Form and enter for the Senior Examination should pass the Junior Examination at all. But the standard of the Fifth ought not to be lowered to meet the special requirements of any boys for whom this is desired; and such boys should remain where the work may be better adapted for the Junior Examination.

The Fourth Form is excellent in every way; they know a good deal and know it well; and their master deserves every credit for level teaching.

The Remove has not done so well; it is unsatisfactory to see so many failures in a form in such an important position in the school.

The Modern Forms have done very well, especially the Shell and the first three boys of the highest form. The Second Modern Form is not so satisfactory. The standard of all these forms is higher than it has been in past years.

All the forms of the Lower School have done exceedingly well,—III B, perhaps the best. The teaching of elementary work is exceedingly thorough, and in every case the Grammar is excellently known. It would be hard anywhere to find a parallel to such a series of satisfactory forms; and the master of the Lower School must be congratulated upon arranging and preserving an admirable system; and the masters upon carrying it out with great energy and success. In all the vidæ voce examinations I found the discipline thoroughly satisfactory.

From the Sixth Form to the First there is abundance of the best material; and I have no doubt that under favourable conditions even a higher standard, especially in Forms VI and V, will be reached next year.

Mr. Thomas Harlin, M.A., late Fellow of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, reports as follows of the Mathematical work of the school:—

To the Trustees of the Sydney Grammar School,—
Gentlemen,

I have great pleasure in reporting in very favourable terms of the present state of the Mathematical side of the Sydney Grammar School. The work of the various divisions is well and carefully graduated; the style in which the boys reproduce what they have been studying during the year is, generally speaking, creditable both to their own intelligence and to the diligence and efficiency of the masters who have been placed in charge of the various divisions; and not only are the average results shown in the detailed appendix to this report satisfactory in themselves, but they also compare favourably with the corresponding records of the Mathematical Examinations of 1882. At the same time I am bound to add that as regards the important matter of accuracy in the simpler Arithmetical and Algebraical operations there is still much room for improvement in all but the two highest Mathematical divisions of the school. On the other hand, there are not more than ten among the two hundred and forty sets of Euclid papers which I have had to examine, of which I should feel justified in speaking in terms of unqualified censure. This is so small a proportion of a relatively very large total, that I have no hesitation in saying that the Geometrical work of the school is at present in an unusually sound and satisfactory state. You will perhaps remember that I spoke about it in very different terms when I first acted as your Mathematical Examiner. I congratulate both you and your masters on the improved state of matters which I find now; and which is, to some extent at all events, the result of the system of appointing external examiners, which you introduced six years ago.

As to Arithmetic, I was rather surprised to hear on my arrival in Sydney that many of the boys had pronounced the harder of my two Arithmetical papers to be too easy for them. But judging from the very high marks obtained by a very large proportion of the upper divisions of the Upper School, I am quite ready to acknowledge now that the verdict pronounced pronounced in regard to my paper was perfectly fair. Yet I remain of the opinion that the questions which I set were sufficiently hard to test the Arithmetical knowledge of any average Public School; and I congratulate the boys of the Sydney Grammar School on having even better Arithmeticians in their ranks than I expected to find there. Moreover, there is plenty of promise in the works of the Juniors of the Lower School; and I have little doubt that hereafter they, in their turn, will receive a similar compliment.

As regards the Algebraic work, it is everywhere good in point of style. But with the exception of the leading divisions of the school there is a want of accuracy about the simpler Algebraic operations, from which I infer that some of the masters have attempted to teach the boys of their divisions more of Algebra than they were capable of grasping during the year. This, I grant, is a fault in the right direction—but it is a fault which ought to be counterbalanced by test examinations, at regular intervals, on the elementary rules and principles of the subject.

Lastly, with reference to the higher Mathematical papers, I have to report that I am quite satisfied with the work of the three first boys of the first division, and that a large proportion of the rest of the boys of that division have mastered the early difficulties which many boys find in beginning to learn Trigonometry.

CLASSICS—UPPER AND LOWER SCHOOL.

Form.	Subjects.	Percental Results.			Remarks.
		Average.	Highest.	Lowest.
UPPER :—	Critical Paper and Verse.	38 65	67 74	21 27	The critical paper is not strong : all the syntax is fair. Russell is easily first by superior syntax work ; but his English writing is weak. Five copies of verse were done, of which two were fair. Garran wrote two excellent couplets.
VI. 12 boys. 2 absent. 1 omitted from average.	Composition— Greek Prose.....	54	73	32	As a whole very creditable—almost all writing sound and intelligible Greek.
	Latin Prose.....	62	89	33	Very good as a whole ; very few grammatical mistakes ; fair vocabulary ; much better than last year.
	Latin Authors— Livy, Tacitus, Cicero, Horace, Virgil.	66	86	37	The translations are good ; the accuracy better than the style. The allusions are only fairly well explained ; but all comprehend well the style of their authors, and some write well about them.
	Greek Authors— Homer, Aristophanes, Demosthenes.	69	90	34	Translation excellent—especially of Aristophanes ; two boys do excellent essays. A remarkably good paper in every way.
	Extra Paper— Thucydides.....	53	77	23	The translations, as a rule, are in good style, and very accurate. Russell, Thompson, and Leibius do first-rate work. Some of the questions seem to have been rather beyond them, and have spoilt the average of an excellent paper.
V. 15 boys. 2 absent. 1 part absent.	Unprepared Translations. Greek. Latin.	66	88	46	The Lucian is fairly done by three ; but many are puzzled by the colloquial form. The Greek play is very fair ; Russell's work excellent. Thompson and Leibius show great promise in all of the paper. I think the standard very satisfactory. All made out the Sallust, but did not attempt to grapple with the difficulties of making a good translation. The Catullus was fairly done.
	Greek Prose— Unprepared Translation. Grammar.	40	69	18	The Greek prose set seems, as a rule, somewhat above the heads of the form, though two do it excellently. Most show intelligence in the unprepared translation. All seem to have a thorough knowledge of grammar.
	Latin Authors— Livy, Cicero, Horace, Virgil.	60	77	24	A good paper on the whole in construing, though two or three boys break down.
	Greek Authors— Homer, Demosthenes, Xenophon.	51	76	11	In some respects an exceedingly good paper ; the Demosthenes is excellently translated by some of the boys ; the Homer is not nearly so good, tenses not being accurate, and many words mis-translated. The Homeric parsing is poor ; the historical question also is not well answered.
	Latin Prose— Unprepared Translation. Grammar.	48	67	22	The Latin prose is fair as a rule, the vocabulary being above the average, but style is almost totally absent. Style is even more lacking in the unprepared translation, which all construe, but none render into readable English.
IV. 29 boys. 2 absent. 2 excluded from average.	Latin Authors— Cæsar, Cicero, Virgil...	60	82	36	The construing is uniformly good, and the averages of the form high ; but they seem unable to analyse a construction, and are much in want of a definite form in which to parse words.
	Greek Authors— Euripides, Xenophon...	56	83	31	The translations are good ; parsing very fair ; critical questions remarkably good ; accident and composition both fairly good.
REMOVE. 33 boys.	Grammar & Composition. Latin Composition and Grammar.	55	77	33	The grammar is good ; composition good throughout the form, and very good in the case of some boys, but critical knowledge very poor.
	Latin Author— Cæsar.....	58	82	23	The construing is uniformly good and correct, and the form are in this respect well together. The parsing is weak, and the form appear to require a fixed method.
	Latin Grammar and Composition.	34	55	17	Accidence, as a rule, good. Composition badly done, as may be seen by the marks ; none doing well. The weakness in this respect is more conspicuous, when contrasted with the work of the fourth form. The paper on the whole is not well done.
MODERNS, I. 18 boys. 2 absent.	General Greek Paper.....	36	77	11	Generally an unsatisfactory paper, though one or two boys—Anderson especially—have done remarkably well.
	Latin Authors— Cæsar, Cicero.....	52	80	26	Not a very even form—but some have done very good translation ; they seem to recognize no model, some being too literal, others too free. They have a good knowledge of grammar, parsing being much stronger than in the other parallel forms.
	General Latin Paper.....	51	75	30	The paper was rather easy for the best boys of the form. All show a thorough knowledge of accidence, and many do the sentences excellently.

Form.	Subjects.	Percental Results.			Remarks.
		Average.	Highest.	Lowest.
MODERNS, 2. 29 boys.	Latin Sentences; Latin Paper.	49	75	18	Construing only fair, few obtaining full marks. Sentences weak, but one or two good. In many cases grammar very weak; no intelligent knowledge of syntax shown. Not a satisfactory form. Construing excellent; accidentance excellent; what syntax they have done they understand. In grammar paper much better than Moderns 2.
SHELL. 27 boys. 1 absent.	General Latin Paper—Principia Latina, Part I.	49	82	7
LOWER: III. A. 35 boys. 2 absent.	Latin Translation—Latin Grammar.	50	73	22	In construing, this form is hardly so strong as that below it, being especially weak in knowledge of particles. Syntax very fair; accidentance excellent.
III. B. 27 boys. 1 absent.	Latin Translation and Grammar.	56	79	24	Construing excellent—very few failures; accidentance excellent; an excellent form.
II. A. 32 boys.	Latin Translation and Grammar.	53	89	21	Construing excellent; accidentance excellent; but syntax weak.
II. B. 31 boys. 1 absent.	Latin Translation and Grammar.	51	81	22	A good form; very level; few failures; accidentance excellent.
I. A. 36 boys. 1 absent.	Latin Grammar and Translation, viva voce .	54	74	33	Accidentance excellent; construing very fair; but no intelligent knowledge of theory.
I. B. 35 boys. 2 absent. 2 omitted from average.	Latin Grammar	52	79	24	What accidentance they have learnt they know thoroughly.

Division.

MATHEMATICS—UPPER AND LOWER SCHOOL.

UPPER: I. 25 boys. 2 absent.	Euclid I—VI	55	98	31	Bookwork, though not faultless, good throughout. Considerable number of riders tried—fair proportion done correctly.
25 boys. 2 absent.	Arithmetic	79	100	54
25 boys. 2 absent.	Algebra	58	98	26	Considering that the arithmetic paper was one of quite average difficulty, the work shown up was exceptionally good, the best in point of style and arrangement being done by Smith and Oliver. Two sets of papers excellent; ten very good; three good; four fair; three very poor. It may be added, however, that the three boys whose papers are unsatisfactory do not seem to have read nearly so much of the subject as the rest of the division.
5 boys.	Euclid, Book XI. Trigonometry.	90	100	72	Excellent work throughout.
4 boys.	Geometrical Conics. Higher Algebra.	56	90	35	One paper admirable; one satisfactory; two fair.
12 boys.	Elementary Trigonometry	38	60	15	Three papers good; four satisfactory; one passable; four limited in quantity, but fair in point of quality.
2 boys.	Elementary Statics. Higher Trigonometry.	...	80	55	The first paper very good; the second quite satisfactory.
1 boy.	Analytical Geometry. Differential Calculus.	...	60	...	Quite satisfactory work.
II. 27 boys. 1 absent.	Euclid I—VI. 19	56	81	32	Book work without exception good. A few riders sent up correctly done. Relatively to division I. this division is apparently not so strong as in 1882.
28 boys.	Arithmetic	63	89	37	The papers sent up by this division, though quite satisfactory, if regarded as ordinary school papers, are relatively weak when compared with the usually good work done by the boys of division I.
28 boys. 2 absent.	Algebra to Binomial theorem.	67	91	26	Attainments in Algebra of the boys of this division very level; their work, on the whole, very accurate; and all the papers sent up by them—with the exception of four—entitled to more than one-half of the attainable marks.
III. 26 boys. 3 absent.	Euclid I—IV	49	79	23	Two boys absent—one not classed. Very few riders even tried. Bookwork of Books I and II written out well; of Book III passably; of Book IV very indifferently. This division seems to have tried to cover too much ground.
26 boys. 2 absent.	Arithmetic	56	91	36	Work of the boys of this division on the whole fair—although several of them failed in the questions requiring thought, and more of them made slips in the simple operations of multiplication and division.
“ “	Algebra to end of Quadratics.	62	97	35	Work sent up sufficient in point of quality, and, generally speaking, creditable in point of accuracy. Style too, as a rule, methodical and good.
IV. 28 boys.	Euclid I—III	61	91	38	Three boys absent—one not classed. A few of the boys of this division have some knowledge of Euclid Book III; but the work of the great majority of them is confined to the bookwork of Books I, II, and is very good indeed.
28 boys. 2 absent.	Arithmetic	57	93	26	As a rule the harder parts of the paper better done than the easier. Work, however, only moderately good on the whole, there being many mistakes in simple arithmetical calculations, and many failures in attempts to work out the questions requiring thought.
28 boys. 5 absent.	Algebra to beginning of Quadratics.	45	94	11	Very uneven in point of attainments—several failing in questions beyond division—the rest handling fractions and solving equations fairly well. Nearly all manipulate algebraic quantities neatly and in good style, but as yet not with sufficient care and accuracy.

Division.	Subjects.	Percental Results.			Remarks.
		Average.	Highest.	Lowest.
V. 27 boys. 3 absent.	Euclid I—II, 1-7. Algebra to Simple Equations of two unknowns.	61	92	26	Marks of one boy who does not learn Euclid not included in the average. Speaking generally, the Euclid book work is well and carefully done; and the Algebra, though not so good as the Euclid, is on the whole fair.
	Arithmetic	50	79	19	Manipulation of questions involving fractions often weak and inaccurate. Compared with division 10, range of work shown up by the boys of this division is limited, but, speaking generally, the results obtained are moderately good, while the five best boys have all done satisfactory papers.
VI. 24 boys	Euclid, I, 1—32. Algebra to Simple Equations of one unknown.	55	92	32	Marks of one boy not included in the average. Euclid well written out—almost without exception. Algebra neatly and well done.
	Arithmetic	48	81	25	The work of this division is evidently in a sound and promising state. Speaking generally, the results are fair, though only a few of the papers sent up are absolutely satisfactory. The boys of this division manipulate fractions with but little skill, and, moreover, many mistakes have been found in questions requiring a knowledge of the principles of proportion, and numerous errors also in questions involving nothing but the simpler arithmetical operations.
VII. 19 boys. 1 absent.	Algebra to Fractions	67	85	36	Work very good throughout.
	Arithmetic to Compound Proportion.	63	89	36	Considerable amount of inaccurate work, but not much absolutely stupid work. Results, on the whole, satisfactory.
VIII. 18 boys.	Arithmetic to Decimals...	56	89	25	Some very good work indeed. Arithmetical operations generally correct, but power of applying the reasoning faculties to the comprehension of the terms of the questions set often conspicuous by its absence.
LOWER: I. 30 boys. 1 absent.	Euclid I—II. Algebra to Easy Fractions	53	80	26	The work shows some signs of hurry and carelessness. The Euclid is better than the Algebra, in which the boys have apparently not done themselves justice.
	Arithmetic to Compound Interest.	74	98	50	One boy not classed. Most of the work good, neat, and well arranged. Proportion of inaccurate calculation, and incorrect thinking, very moderate indeed.
II. 30 boys. 1 absent.	Euclid, I, 1—5. Algebra to Fractions	These beginners have done very fairly.
	Arithmetic to Simple Interest.	72	95	42	One boy disqualified for copying. Very large amount of good work—but also considerable proportion of inaccuracy and misapprehension of the meaning of the questions set.
III. 30 boys. 2 absent.	Elementary Algebra	Fair work for beginners.
	Arithmetic to Compound Proportion.	62	89	26	Knowledge of arithmetic good; proportion of inaccuracy in simple arithmetical operations too large. Recommended that the masters of both these divisions should take frequent opportunities of drilling their boys in elementary work.
IV. 30 boys. 2 absent. 2 not classed.	Arithmetic to end of Decimals.	55	97	23
V. 29 boys. 3 absent. 1 not classed.	Arithmetic to Decimals...	53	72	32	Work on the whole, good. Several failures, however, in notation, and in the first four simple rules.
VI. 29 boys. 5 absent.	Arithmetic to Addition of Fractions.	43	78	13	As regards simple arithmetical operations, fairly accurate. Too many failures, however, in notation and numeration; several cases, also, of figures being written down without thought, and even without reading the questions to which they profess to be sent up as answers.
VII. A. 16 boys. 2 absent.	Arithmetic to Least Common Multiple.	53	85	22	Work on the whole reasonably accurate. It is evident that the elementary rules have been carefully taught.
VII. B. 7 boys.	Arithmetic, the Four Simple Rules.	48	75	9

SYDNEY FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

(REPORT FROM TRUSTEES, FOR 1883-4.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Trustees of the Free Public Library to The Minister of Public Instruction.

Sir,

Sydney, 7 March, 1884.

I have the honor to transmit to you the Annual Report of the Trustees, for the year 1883-4.

In submitting to you their thirteenth Report, the Trustees regret that they have to record the death of Professor Badham (one of the first appointed Trustees of the Library), which took place at the University of Sydney, at 10 o'clock p.m. on Wednesday, the 27th ultimo. At a special meeting held on the 7th instant, it was unanimously resolved,—

That this Board desires to record its sense of the great loss which has been sustained by the Free Public Library, and the Colony at large, in the decease of the Rev. Charles Badham, D.D., Professor of Classics and Logic in the University of Sydney, and desires to express the same to the surviving members of his family.

On the 13th April, 1883, he tendered his resignation of the appointment of Chairman of the Board, held by him since the year 1870. In 1878 he had made a similar request to the Board to be relieved of these responsible duties, owing to the encroachment upon his time, and the difficulty he experienced in attending at the meetings of the Board, but on the strong remonstrance made by his co-Trustees against his retirement he consented to retain the position, upon certain conditions that would lessen the tax upon his time. His failing health, however, compelled him to relinquish the duties of Chairman, and at a meeting of the Board, held on the 11th May last, the following resolution was unanimously carried:—

That in accepting the resignation of Professor Badham, as Chairman of the Board, the Trustees of the Free Public Library desire to record their regret that such resignation should have become necessary, and their sense of the obligation under which he has placed the Institution by the valuable services which he has rendered during the period of thirteen years for which he has held the office of Chairman, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Dr. Badham in due course.

By the unanimous vote of the Trustees, at a meeting held on the 8th June, the office of Chairman was conferred upon W. A. Duncan, Esq., C.M.G.

It is gratifying to the Trustees to be able to report that the uses of the Library, as indicated in the Returns given in the Appendix, continue to extend themselves in a rapidly increasing ratio, the number of visits being 155,431, or 3,395 in excess of any previous year, while the total number of visits to the Institution since the opening day, in 1869, has reached 1,415,776. The number of volumes in the Library has been increased by 4,617, of which 404 were donations. The total number of volumes in the Library on the 31st December was 59,554. The number of volumes issued each day in the Reference Library, and the issue of volumes from the Lending Library, averaged together 1,076 per diem. The Reference Library was kept open for 357 days, including Sundays.

The Lending Branch was open during the year 346 days, including Sundays, for the issue of books, being two days more than in last year, and the number of tickets issued to borrowers was 4,046, or 324 more than in the previous year. The number of visits made to the Branch by borrowers was 57,795, which shows an increase of 4,164, and the number of books issued 74,410, giving an increase of 3,123 on the previous year's issue. There is a slight increase in the attendance on Sundays in both departments, but the small number of volumes issued from the Lending Branch on Sundays clearly shows that very little use is made of the Sunday opening. The Trustees are therefore of opinion that no real benefit is conferred upon the public by keeping the Lending Library open on Sunday, and that this practice might, without disadvantage to readers, be discontinued.

It must be expected that with so large a number of visitors, who have free access to the Reference Library, and with the large issue of books supplied by the Lending Branch, which are lent on the sole guarantee of the borrowers, nine-tenths of whom are strangers to the officers of the Institution, some volumes will be occasionally lost, and the Trustees regret that so large a number as exhibited in Appendix F should be found to be missing this year. Several volumes were stolen from the Reference Library, but all have been recovered except nine, and by the aid of Mr. Mulqueeny, of the Detective Force, the Trustees were able to prosecute to conviction a man named Thos. Godfrey, an educated man, who received in consequence a sentence of three months in Darlinghurst Gaol. The whole of the nine missing volumes were not taken by Godfrey, as some were only missed since his sentence, and the Trustees are in hopes of detecting the other offender.

There

There are fifty volumes not yet returned by borrowers from the Lending Branch; some of these will probably be recovered, as the holders are absent from their homes, and have failed to comply with the regulations through negligence, but for the majority incorrect addresses have been given, whether by design or not, while others have removed from their places of abode and no traces of them can be found. The Trustees are also of opinion that sufficient care is not exercised by Magistrates and others, authorized by the regulations to give recommendations for tickets, in ascertaining the character and integrity of the persons to whom their orders are given, and that it may become necessary to restrict the powers now conceded, and thereby render it more difficult for applicants to obtain tickets. This course would be proposed by the Trustees with reluctance, and they are willing to hope that after this notice recommendations for tickets will be given with more discrimination than heretofore.

On the Estimates for 1883 the sum of £1,180 was voted by Parliament for the purpose of establishing a system of loans of boxes of books to Country Libraries, but no steps could be taken to establish it until the passing of the Appropriation Act had made the money available, which did not take place until the 2nd May.

As soon as the Trustees were informed that the money voted was available for this purpose, they proposed a code of regulations under which loans of books should be granted, and, as soon as these regulations had been approved and gazetted, a careful selection of suitable books was made by the Board; but, as most of the books had to be procured from England, it was not until the month of August that any issues took place. The purchases made filled fourteen boxes, all of an equal size, being 1 foot 3 inches deep, 1 foot 4 inches wide, and 2 feet in length. These boxes, which are made expressly for the purpose, are of stout oak, lined with baize, and hold about sixty volumes each.

The Trustees, in making this selection, considered that it would be injudicious to provide such cheap books as can be easily procured in the Colony at low prices, and therefore selected only well known standard authors, and the most valuable of recent publications which are too costly for the slender incomes of country libraries. All the boxes yet available have been issued, and they appear to give great satisfaction to the borrowers.

By the course now adopted, the Trustees are of opinion that £1,000 per annum spent in this manner will confer greater benefits upon readers and students in country districts than if £10,000 had been voted for distribution amongst these numerous institutions in small sums, to be expended by the local Committees.

No charge is made against the borrowers for freight, cartage, or insurance; and, by regularly exchanging the boxes, which are lent for a period of four months—with sometimes an extension of time where the distances are great—the various libraries can obtain a continuous supply of new, valuable, and instructive books.

In Appendix I a copy of the Regulations, together with all instructions and forms necessary for obtaining these country loans, is supplied.

On the 27th June last the Trustees had under consideration a letter from the Acting Under Secretary of Public Instruction, in which they were informed that the Government had determined to erect a Free Public Library on the block of Crown land at the top of King-street.

In answer to this communication, the Trustees caused a letter to be addressed to the Acting Under Secretary of Public Instruction, of which the following is a copy, viz. :—

Sir,

27th June, 1883.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 20th instant, stating that the Government has determined to erect a Free Public Library on a block of Crown land at the top of King-street, where the Immigration Barracks, District Court, and the Colonial Architect's Office now stand, and that provision is to be made in the plans of the proposed building for an Industrial College, a School of Design, and a Technological Museum.

2. The Trustees of the Free Public Library request me to state, for the information of the Minister of Public Instruction, that they learn with much satisfaction not only that the position of the site for the Library has been finally determined, but that one so eminently suitable in every respect for the Institution has been found.

3. With reference, however, to the announcement that provision is to be made in the plans of the proposed building for an Industrial College, a School of Design, and a Technological Museum, the Trustees, without desiring to exceed their functions, venture to state that there are many objections to this amalgamation, which they hope will not be carried out without the fullest consideration.

4. As the great difficulty of fixing upon a proper site has now been overcome, and a large amount of money has been voted by Parliament for constructing a new Library Building, the Trustees desire me to give the following cogent reasons for the work being proceeded with at the earliest date possible.

5. The books (now comprising about 60,000 volumes) are divided into two sections.

6. One section forms the Reference Library, and contains all the principal works of reference that the funds placed at the disposal of the Trustees have enabled them to procure, among which are many rare and costly books that it would be difficult to replace or find in any market; and the present building is altogether inadequate for the requirements of such a Library, and does not afford proper nor sufficient accommodation for readers seeking access to the valuable literature which it contains.

7. The second section is formed of a cheaper class of books (about 17,000 volumes), which are at the present time placed in an iron building lined with wood and paper, situated in Macquarie-street, away from the main building. This building has been recently appropriated temporarily for this purpose, but it is more than probable that in a very short time the land upon which it stands will be required for other important public buildings. Under these circumstances, a heavy expenditure will soon have to be incurred in order to provide suitable accommodation for storing these books, and carrying on the work of the Lending Branch. Both the position and the design of this building are well adapted for a Library, but in other respects it is altogether unsuitable; the internal structure being of a very inflammable nature, and in the summer months it is so hot as to make it unhealthy and unbearable for the officers. The work could also be carried on more satisfactorily and economically if both the Reference and Lending Departments were conducted under the personal supervision of the Principal Librarian in one building.

8. In the Reference Library every contrivance which could safely be resorted to has been adopted for shelving the books, and so soon as some shelves which are now being constructed are filled with volumes that have been recently received, there will be no more space left for exhibiting books in such a manner as to give visitors and students access to them.

9. The sitting space of the reading-room has already been greatly encroached upon by the presses holding the books, and much of the light and ventilation of the room has thereby been cut off. At times the reading-room is so overcrowded that students and visitors can only with difficulty find a seat or table-space, for copying out such notes as they may wish to take, and it is quite impossible for them to pursue any study, owing to the want of a convenient place to work in without being interrupted, while the atmosphere of the room, owing to the overcrowding, makes it unbearable and unhealthy for the officers and others who may desire to remain long in the Library. Such a state of things the Trustees consider should not exist.

10. On the Estimates for the present year provision has been made by Parliament for lending books to Country Libraries, in boxes containing about sixty volumes each. The books which have been selected and ordered for this purpose are of a high class of literature, and such as are beyond the means of Libraries with small incomes to procure for general reading. The issuing of these books will probably be commenced at the beginning of August, but the work will have to be carried on under much difficulty, owing to the want of sufficient space for properly carrying on the duties.

11. The Trustees consider that this wise provision of the Government and the liberality of Parliament in voting money for such a service will, under the liberal regulations recently approved of by Mr. Reid, greatly extend the advantages of the Institution, by making some of the valuable literature of the Free Public Library of Sydney available for all parts of the Colony.

12. For the reasons now given, the Trustees desire me to remark that they cannot find language sufficiently strong for urging upon the Government the necessity for immediate action being taken to have designs prepared, and the construction of the new building commenced without delay, for whatever despatch may be used it will necessarily take two or three years before the building can be so far completed as to admit of the books being placed in the new Library.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

R. C. WALKER,
Principal Librarian.

The Trustees do not think that any reasons need be added by them to those already stated in the foregoing letter, as they clearly show the urgent necessity for making some provision to meet the rapidly increasing requirements of this very useful and popular Institution, which has during the last year assisted individual study, or intellectual recreation, on more than 200,000 occasions, as may be seen from the appended returns.

On the 31st August Mr. James Barnet, the Colonial Architect, at your request submitted to the Trustees a design and sketch plans for the proposed new Free Public Library, to be erected on the site chosen by Government, and after a careful examination of the drawings, which were explained by Mr. Barnet to the Board, the following resolution was passed unanimously, viz. :—

That, so far as this Board can judge, the design and plans submitted are eminently satisfactory.

The substance of this resolution was communicated in a letter addressed by the Principal Librarian to your Department, and a vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Mr. Barnet, by the Trustees, for the great skill he had displayed in preparing a design and plans so very satisfactory to their wishes and requirements.

The Trustees were therefore somewhat disappointed to receive at the close of the year a letter from your Department stating "that this matter had been deferred for the present, but would be kept in view," and they now hope that at an early date an order may be given for the work to be carried out on a design similar to the one submitted to them.

A list of the contributions from several donors, which the Trustees have to record as having been presented during the year, is given in Appendix G, and a rough list, continued from last year, of books either printed in or specially relating to Australasia will be found in Appendix H.

In closing their Report, the Trustees are gratified to be able to express their belief that the vote granted annually by Parliament to the Free Public Library is in every respect justified by the very satisfactory results now shown.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

W. A. DUNCAN,
Chairman.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

(PROPOSED TRANSFER OF PERIODICALS, &c., TO LENDING BRANCH.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 26 March, 1884.[Submitted in accordance with promise of the Minister of Public Instruction, in reply to Question of Mr. Poole in the Legislative Assembly, on 25th March, 1884.]

Free Public Library, Sydney, 22 March, 1884.

THE Trustees of the Free Public Library are of opinion that to hand over the bound copies of the periodicals now in the Library to the Lending Branch would be most objectionable, because such works of reference should be always accessible to the public generally for reference.

2. That the loss of any one volume of a series, which must necessarily occur in lending out so large a number of volumes, would destroy the value of the whole series.

3. There does not appear to the Trustees any necessity for this transfer, as the Reference Library is always open to the public from 10 o'clock a.m. to 10 o'clock p.m. every week-day, and from 2 o'clock to 6 o'clock p.m. on Sundays.

4. The Trustees desire to point out that the course proposed will seriously interfere with private enterprise.

R. C. WALKER,
Principal Librarian.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

AUSTRALIAN MUSEUM.

(REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES FOR 1883.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 17 Vict. No. 2, sec. 9.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR AND EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

The Trustees of the Australian Museum, incorporated by the Act 17 Victoria No. 2, have the honor to submit to your Excellency in Council, in accordance with the 9th section of that Act, this their thirtieth Annual Report.

1. The Museum has continued open to the public during the year 1883 daily (except on Mondays), and the steady increase in the numbers availing themselves of it for instruction or recreation shows how extensively it is appreciated. The largest attendance on any one day was on the 26th December, when 1,707 persons were registered at the doorway. The greatest Sunday attendance was 1,473, on the 26th August. The average daily number of visitors throughout the year was 330 on week-days and 986 on Sundays.

2. The Museum collections have been very much enlarged, by means of purchases, exchanges, and collecting expeditions, as well as by donations received during the year. Among the principal specimens acquired may be mentioned a large assortment of New Guinea birds and above 2,000 ethnological specimens:—the latter comprising implements of war and of industry, articles of clothing, canoes, &c., from the Islands. There have also been received skeletons and skins of a gorilla and an hippopotamus, with a number of lemurs and other foreign mammals. These have been mounted on the premises; and some cartilaginous skeletons of sharks and other fishes have also been admirably prepared by the employes of the Museum.

3. Considerable progress has been made in the erection of show-cases for the display of specimens. A portion of the upper floor has been fitted, at a cost of £1,500 and upwards, with wall cases, in which the Australian and foreign birds have been arranged. Numerous other cases have been provided where required, admitting the display of a great number of specimens which had hitherto been in the store-room.

4. The want of sufficient room in the present building is continually felt, and the Trustees again desire respectfully to urge on the Government the necessity for its enlargement. An annual allowance of £200 would enable the Curator to procure a suitable residence, and thereby place at the disposal of the Trustees the rooms hitherto necessarily occupied by him and his family. An additional shed is being erected in the grounds, which will be used as a store for empty boxes, timber, and other material. By relieving the cellars of the Museum, this will give a little more room for the storage of undisplayed specimens.

5. The cataloguing of the contents of the Museum is still in progress. Catalogues of the Fossils and of the Minerals have been published, and one of the Hydroid Zoophytes is in the printer's hands. The Library has also been arranged, and a complete descriptive catalogue of the books been printed. A Guide to the Museum, prepared under the direction of the Trustees, by Mr. Haswell, the Acting Curator, has been published in a popular form, containing information useful equally to the student and to casual visitors. This was issued about the end of October, and by the close of the year about 1,000 copies were sold.

6. At the instance of the Fisheries Commission, the Trustees sent a large collection of fishes to the International Fisheries Exhibition in London. Mr. Ramsay, Curator of the Museum, was commissioned by the Government to proceed to London in charge of the exhibits, and was granted leave of absence by this Board for the purpose. His reports, as well as information received otherwise, convey very gratifying intelligence regarding the success of the New South Wales Court, the honors obtained, and the probable advantages to the Colony and to Australia generally as the results of the Exhibition.

7. Mr. Ramsay's absence in Europe has been taken advantage of by the Trustees by instructing him to visit various Museums, Zoological Stations, and Aquaria, to gain any information which may be made available for the improvement of this Museum on his return.

8. Exhibits have also been sent from the collections of this Museum to the Exhibitions held at Amsterdam and at Calcutta. These will be advantageously used for purposes of exchange.

9. Mr. W. A. Haswell, M.A., B.Sc., was appointed Acting Curator during Mr. Ramsay's absence; and he has performed all the duties of that office with great zeal and ability, to the entire satisfaction of the Board.

10. The only change among the elective Trustees has been the election of W. J. Stephens, Esq., M.A., Professor of Natural History at the University, in the place of the Honorable A. Stuart, who on taking his present position became an Official Trustee. The seat of Chr. Rolleston, Esq., C.M.G., late Auditor-General, is now occupied by his successor in office, E. A. Rennie, Esq.

11. Annexed to this Report are the following Appendices, giving details of many of the subjects referred to in the preceding paragraphs:—

- I.—Annual Balance-sheet.
- II.—Attendance of Visitors.
- III.—Attendance of the Trustees.
- IV.—Specimens purchased.
- V.—Exchanges.
- VI.—Donations.
- VII.—Specimens collected.
- VIII.—Books acquired.
- IX.—Work done by Taxidermist and Articulator.
- X.—Specimens sent to Fisheries Exhibition.

The Common Seal of the Museum is affixed by order of the Board, this sixth day of May, 1884.

S. SINCLAIR,
Secretary.

(L.S.)

ALFRED STEPHEN,
Crown Trustee and Chairman.

[Supplement to the Australian Museum Report for 1883.]

1883-4.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

TECHNOLOGICAL, INDUSTRIAL, AND SANITARY MUSEUM.

(REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT FOR 1883.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 17 Vic. No. 2, sec. 9.

To His Excellency the Governor and Executive Council,—

The Trustees of the Australian Museum, incorporated by the Act 17 Victoria No. 2, have the honor to submit to your Excellency in Council, in accordance with the 9th section of that Act, this the Fourth Annual Report of the Committee of Management of the Technological, Industrial, and Sanitary Museum.

1. The business of the Museum has been conducted by the same Committee as in the previous year, namely, Sir Alfred Roberts, M.R.C.S., E. (Chairman); Professor Liversidge, F.R.S.; and Mr. Robert Hunt, F.G.S., Deputy-Master of the Mint.

2. The Museum (located at present in the Agricultural Hall in the Outer Domain), was thrown open to the public on the 15th December, 1883, and has already been visited by large numbers of people. It has been decided to open the Museum from 1 to 6 p.m., from the 1st October to the 31st March inclusive, and from 1 to 5 p.m. from the 1st April to the 30th September, while on Sundays the hours will be from 1 to 5 p.m. throughout the year.

3. Plans have been prepared, by order of the Government, for the accommodation of the Museum with the Free Public Library, in a large and handsome building to be erected at the eastern extremity of King-street. The Committee hope that the collections, which are rapidly increasing, may be placed at no distant date in a building more substantial and suitable, than the present one, for so important a Museum.

4. The number of specimens at present in the Museum amounts to about 5,000, and additions are received almost daily. Those acquired during the year amount to 2,943. It will be observed (from the Appendices to this Report) that many of the specimens are of great intrinsic value as well as of high educational worth. The efforts of the Committee to obtain specimens by donation have been very successful.

5. Special endeavours are being made to collect the raw products and samples illustrative of the industries and manufactures of the Australian Colonies, and the Committee have already secured a considerable number of native vegetable and mineral products, and a comprehensive series of specimens of wool.

6. The gentlemen who kindly consented to act as a British Committee for the purpose of securing specimens (vide Report for 1882), have continued their good offices, to the great advantage of the Museum.

The Honorable Sir Saul Samuel, K.C.M.G., Agent-General for the Colony, has been good enough to transmit specimens forwarded to his care, and the Director and Assistant-Director of the Royal Gardens at Kew (Sir Joseph Hooker, K.C.B., M.D., F.R.S., &c., and Professor Thiselton Dyer, F.R.S., C.M.G., &c.), have generously continued to present highly valuable specimens of economic botany to the Museum.

To the Trustees of the Public Library, Museums, and National Gallery of Victoria, the Committee are indebted for a large number of specimens. The Baron Ferdinand von Mueller, K.C.M.G., F.R.S., &c., Melbourne, and Mr. Thomas Twining, of London, have kindly aided the Committee with valuable suggestions.

7. The Committee hope shortly to be in a position to reciprocate to some extent the kindness of the authorities of those Museums and other public Institutions who have forwarded specimens, but the acquisition of duplicates has up to the present been slow.

8. A Catalogue of the contents of the Museum is in course of preparation, and a brief Guide will be published with as little delay as possible.

9. It is the intention of the Committee that lectures shall be delivered on the contents of the Museum, explanatory of the history, uses, modes of occurrence, manufacture, and all other particulars relating to the exhibits of raw or natural products. In this way it is hoped that the utility of the Museum will be greatly enhanced, and that the public may be induced to take an intelligent interest in the various collections gathered together for their benefit.

10. The Committee beg to add to this their Report the following Appendices:—I. Balance-sheet for the year ending 31st December, 1883; II. A List of Specimens presented to the Museum; III. A List of Specimens purchased for the Museum; IV. A List of Specimens lent to the Museum; V. A List of Books, &c., presented to the Museum; VI. A List of Books, &c., purchased for the Museum; VII. A List of Diagrams, Maps, Photographs, &c., presented to the Museum; VIII. A List of Diagrams, Photographs, &c., presented to the Museum.

The Common Seal of the Museum is affixed by order of the Board, this 6th day of May, 1884.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

TEMPORARY ART GALLERY.

(RETURN RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 12 August, 1884.

RETURN in answer to Question No. 3 of 7th August, 1884.

3. MR. BURDEKIN to ask THE MINISTER FOR PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,—

- (1.) Did the Minister, on receiving a report from the Trustees of the Art Gallery as to the unsuitability of the present building, submit the same to the Colonial Architect, the duly recognized Officer of the Government, for his report in the matter?
- (2.) If not, will the Minister call for a report from this Officer as to the state, condition, and fitness of the present Art Gallery for its purpose?
- (3.) Who proposed the erection of the present Art Gallery, who was the architect, and also the builder?
- (4.) Has anything transpired to make the building more unfit for its temporary purpose now than when it was originally designed and contained the pictures of the different Nations exhibiting at the Exhibition?
- (5.) How long were these valuable pictures exhibited there, and did they suffer from being exhibited there; if so, did the different Governments and owners make any claim on the Government for this depreciation?
- (6.) Were the principal objections to the present temporary structure raised before the present Government came into power—the variability of the temperature in the building and the danger from fire?
- (7.) Did not the Colonial Architect suggest that a sum of about £4,500 would put a brick case round the present building and a duplicate roofing?
- (8.) Are the ravages of white ants of a serious or somewhat trivial character, and has the timber so affected been removed and replaced with stone?
- (9.) Does the present building show any signs of damp, or such signs of damp as to make it unfit as a receptacle for pictures?
- (10.) Will he say if the present temporary building, with the alterations mentioned above (cased round with brickwork), the estimate for which was submitted during Mr. Suttor's tenure of office as Minister for Education, answers the purpose of an Art Gallery until a more substantial edifice could be erected?
- (11.) If the present building cannot be made satisfactory, is there wall space at the Museum to hang all pictures of value?

Replies.

(1.) I have not submitted this matter to the Colonial Architect, but I am informed that, under instructions from the late Minister (Mr. G. H. Reid), the Colonial Architect was invited to meet the Trustees on the proposed site in the Domain, and that he met Sir Alfred Stephen and Mr. Du Faur, two of the Trustees; and, after discussing their views, a diagram plan was handed to Mr. Barnet showing the present requirements of the Trustees as to the wall and floor space, and illustrating the proposed internal arrangements of the Gallery, as designed, and he was asked to submit a plan and consider the matter, but no official or other reply ever reached the Trustees from the Colonial Architect.

(2.) No. I have by personal inquiry and by inspection of the Gallery satisfied myself on these points.

(3.) The history of the present Gallery has been as follows:—When the "Garden Palace" was approaching completion, it was proposed to allot to the "Art Section" the side galleries therein. The members of the Advisory Committee of that Section inspected the galleries, and addressed the Commission, pointing out their unsuitability for the proposed purpose; the Colonial Architect said that the objections were premature in judging of the building in its unfinished state—i.e., before it would have been too late. On the arrival of the Commissioners for France and Germany, they visited the Garden Palace galleries with several of the Trustees and Advisory Committee of the Art Section, with the result that they notified the Commission that, unless they were afforded the accommodation and lighting for which their respective Governments had previously stipulated, they would decline to land or open their cases containing Art exhibits. The Commission realized the position, and obtained authority for the erection of a suitable temporary Gallery, properly lighted. A design was proposed by Professor Reuleaux (Commissioner for Germany), and the present Art Gallery was erected by Mr. Young, contractor, the architect being Mr. Wardell. I am informed that, at the close of the International Exhibition, and after the departure of the foreign Commissioners, the Colonial Architect advised the demolition of the Gallery, and the removal of the works of art, which had been collected by the Trustees before and at that Exhibition, to the Garden Palace. By strenuous efforts, and the representations of a deputation to the Minister, the latter was induced to allow the temporary building to remain, and thus saved in the course of events the collection (by that time valued at £27,000) from complete destruction at the Garden Palace fire.

(4.) A wooden building of a temporary character cannot possibly be equally fit and stable after five years service and wear and tear.

(5.) About six months during the summer, from October to April. The liability of the building to constant atmospheric changes was a source of anxiety to Professor Reuleaux and others who were conversant with the damage likely to accrue to valuable paintings under such conditions. Every precaution was taken; registering thermometers were placed in each room and recorded twice daily; the Commissioners insisted on a system of water supply by which a spray could be thrown over all parts of the roof when necessary, to reduce the temperature, and by these precautions any ill effects during that short period were presumed warded off. I am informed that on the Gallery being handed over to the Trustees this water supply was cut off by the Colonial Architect without notice, and, though its restoration was subsequently obtained by the Trustees, the scarcity during the last two years has prevented its use, except on very urgent occasions, and the system itself has not been kept in proper working order.

(6.) Yes, it has been a subject of constant remonstrance and appeal from the Trustees to the Government since January, 1882. At least six written appeals have been made, and very many personal interviews have taken place between the Trustees and successive Ministers on the subject.

(7.) I believe so, but the scheme would not touch the roots of the mischief now going on, and the pictures would have to be moved during the alteration.

(8.) The ravages of white ant were very serious when first pointed out. The Trustees were advised that they had been traced even high up in the internal walls. A large number of the under-floor supports, which were completely riddled, have been replaced, not by stone, but fresh timber with stone footings. The watchmen have from time to time pointed out much affected timber, and have constantly endeavoured and still are endeavouring to stay the ravages by auguring the posts and pouring in and washing with "kerosene tar," thereby causing an additional risk in case of fire. The large oak tree at the north end of the building is perforated with nests of white ants, and "swarms" have been seen to issue from it from time to time; the watchman has stated that the ground under the building is saturated with them.

(9.) Yes, especially in wet weather. In southerly wet weather, after sundown, even when not raining, the moisture may be seen lying on the hand-rails, and on the faces of the oil paintings, so much so that the remark has been made that they might almost as well be out in the Domain. The water-colours and engravings have been crumpled by expansion from moisture absorbed, and the next day (with a west wind) stretched as tight as a drum-head. The canvas is similarly affected. To obviate this as much as possible, the Trustees have, at a large expense, had all the oil paintings backed with "artists' prepared canvas," so as to present the back surface similar to the front. One large oil painting, at the urgent request of the artist, to whom it was returned to England for repairs, has been protected by plate-glass—about 24 square feet. Our most valuable water-colour has been thrice unframed during the last twelve months, for the removal of mildew.

(10.) No; the hanging space is insufficient, the floor space is altogether inadequate for the 2,000 to 5,000 persons who congregate there on Sundays and public holidays. The casing would not protect either basement or walls from white ant; it would not admit of the equalization of the hygrometric condition of the internal atmosphere, by the use of hot-air pipes; it would not reduce the cost of insurance and watching (at present £700 per annum), and the increased danger while the work was going on would necessitate the removal of the pictures to a safe place of storage, from which the Trustees would be loth to bring them again into so risky a building.

(11.) Certainly not for exhibition. The Museum walls are mainly obstructed by cases and exhibits far above "the hanging line," and otherwise would only admit of the pictures being placed between windows, where they could not be seen, or facing windows, or between cross-lights, equally fatal to their exhibition, even if not "skied" out of sight.
