This percentage is considerably less than that for 1883, and below the average for the last ten years. The percentage was highest at Cook's River, where it was 63.15, and lowest at the criminal division of the Hospital at Parramatta, where it was 13.79 only, and where the class of patients, from various circumstances, is not one in which a high percentage can be expected. At Newcastle, where all the patients received are congenitally weak in intellect, there were no recoveries, and without calculating the admissions to this Hospital, the percentage of recoveries was 37.60. In addition to the patients discharged from Hospitals, 19 under lunacy certificate, and 250 under remand were discharged as recovered from the Reception House during the year.

All patients who have attained what may be considered a normal standard of mental health, which differs in individuals, and may be modified by temperament, idiosyncrasy, education, and habits, should be calculated among those recovered, and all who, though fit for conditional or unconditional discharge, fall short of that standard, among those relieved; but it must always depend more or less on the opinion of the Medical Superintendent in which category certain patients are placed, since the line between sanity and insanity is an indefinite one, and the views of even those skilled in psychological medicine differ on this subject.

Discharge of the Unrecovered.

During the year 28 patients were discharged as relieved, the great part of them being given in charge to friends able to find them a home, and willing to exercise such supervision over them as their mental condition rendered necessary. In one case payment was made to the friends under the provisions of the Lunacy Act for the maintenance of a patient so discharged; and application was made in one or two other instances for allowances under similar circumstances. The terms asked however were so much in excess of the maintenance rate in Hospitals that the applications could not be entertained, especially as there was no reason to believe that the change would tend to the patient's recovery, or that any benefit commensurate with the increased expenditure would accrue to his mental condition.

Boarding Out.

A Royal Commission now sitting to inquire into the condition and management of the Hospitals for the Insane in Victoria, has in a progress report very strongly recommended the "boarding out" of lunatic patients as a mode of relieving the overcrowding of the existing asylums, and rendering the increase of asylum accommodation unnecessary; but this recommendation has been made on the assumption that suitable "guardians" could be found, and on the calculation that patients suitable for boarding out cost the sum of 18s. 9d. a week, and therefore the Government could afford to pay this sum to persons taking charge of them. This calculation is arrived at by the process of adding the rent per bed, calculated at 7 per cent. on the average cost of construction per bed of Hospitals, built especially either for acute cases or for all classes of insane patients, to the average weekly maintenance rate of all classes of inmates in these Hospitals. It is well known that patients who would be suitable by reason of their mental quietude for boarding out require less attendance, less clothing, and often less food and extras than acute or even ordinary cases, and it has been shown over and over again in English Asylums that, with the removal of these to poor-houses or to special Institutions, the maintenance rate for those left rises very considerably. It is also a matter of common knowledge that the quiet and chronic insane, from which class patients for "boarding out" would be taken, can be accommodated in buildings of a much less costly character than ordinary Hospitals for the Insane—in buildings in fact much more approaching poor-houses in their structure and fittings.

In the Hospital for the Insane at Parramatta, which is mainly occupied by chronic cases, the maintenance rate is now, without deducting collections, 10s. 7d. a week. At this Hospital 60 criminal lunatics—a very expensive class by reason of the extra attendance necessary—are maintained, 60 to 70 new cases are received annually, and there are a number of ex-criminal and bad cases. If the Hospital was devoted to chronic cases only, the maintenance rate would assuredly be less, and probably nearer 8s. than 9s. a head.

The cost for buildings specially designed and erected for quiet chronic patients has ranged in this country from £35 to £100 a bed, and the average cost of accommodation for more than 800 patients of this class has been £80 a bed. The interest on this at 5 per cent. is £4 a bed, or something over 1s. 6d. a week, and this added to the maintenance rate of from 8s. to 9s., gives from 9s. to 10s. 6d. a week as the sum which these patients cost the Government in Hospitals. Even should the Government consent to pay 12s. 6d., or a larger sum per week, is it likely, with the present rate of wages, that suitable guardians willing to accept such a sum could be found? Several years ago, when the Hospitals in this Colony were more overcrowded than usual, suitable persons to receive and take charge of patients were sought, and indeed advertised for, with a negative result, and there is no reason to believe that conditions and circumstances have in any way altered since that time.

Because

Because "boarding out" has been a success with regard to pauper children it is assumed that it will be a success with lunatics, whereas the conditions are altogether different. The feeling of affection which grows up between a boarded out child and its foster parents is never likely to exist between an adult lunatic—often of objectionable habits—and his caretaker. The increase of helpfulness which repays the foster parent for much labour and care in the early stages of the relationship, seldom comes in the case of the lunatic who, in most cases, would be going down the vale of years.

Boarding out in the case of lunatics has been fairly successful in some districts of Scotland under very exceptional conditions, but there has for some years been a decline rather than an increase in the number of patients thus provided for, and in some districts it has not been found practicable at all.

"The system of boarding out has never been very successful in my experience. Inspectors of poor in Forfarshire at least experience great difficulty in finding suitable guardians for such patients," writes Dr. J. C. Howden, the able Medical Superintendent of the Royal Lunatic Asylum of Montrose in his report for the year 1884, and it would not be difficult to quote the experience of other Medical Superintendents to the same effect.

The system, as it exists at Gheel, in Belgium, may be left altogether out of consideration. It is not by any means an unmixed success, and no one can wish to see in Australia the antecedent conditions which render such a Colony possible.

There are undoubtedly in the Hospitals in this Colony patients who could be boarded out if suitable homes could be found for them, and the necessary supervision and inspection provided, but it does not seem probable that any large number can, for some years to come, be accommodated in this manner.

Transfers.

THE following returns shows the number of Patients transferred from one Institution to another during the Year.

The total number of these transfers was 149, and they were in every instance authorised by the Colonial Secretary, under the 80th section of the Lunacy Act. The main reasons for transfer were the closing of the Temporary Hospital at Cooma, and the necessity of removing patients from the Hospital for the Criminal Insane on expiry of sentence or change of status. A few patients were removed from Gladesville to relieve overcrowding; all weak-minded children admitted to other Hospitals were removed to Newcastle; such vacancies as occurred by death among the Government patients at Cook's River have been filled; and individual patients have been transferred for change of air or scene, or so as to be nearer to relatives or friends desirous of visiting them frequently.

Escapes.

The number of escapes was 34. Of these 24 were from Gladesville, 7 from Callan Park, 2 from Parramatta, and 1 from Cook's River. In 8 cases the patients were brought back within an hour, in 15 within 12 hours, in 4 within 2, and in 2 within 7 days, and 1 was returned after 19 days, and 4 remained at large when the statutory period within which they could have been retaken had expired. In 3 of the cases the patients who remained at large were convalescent when they escaped, were allowed considerable liberty, and were only detained in Hospital because in the opinion of the Medical Superintendent a somewhat longer period of probation was desirable.

The following statement shows the number of Escapes during the last 3 years:—

Year.	Number of escapes.	Returned to Hospital.	Not returned to Hospital.
1882 .....	30	27	3
1883 .....	31	30	1
1884 .....	34	30	4

During the year 1883 the number of escapes from asylums in Scotland was 318, or 38 per thousand of the number of patients. The proportion in New South Wales in 1884 calculated on the average asylum population was less than 14 per thousand.

In no case so far as I am aware has any serious accident or danger, either to the patient himself or to any one else, resulted from an escape.

Deaths.

The number of deaths was 181, and calculated on the average number resident gives a percentage of 7.43 per cent. This rate though the highest for the last ten years is still below the average death rate in English asylums which was 9.85 per cent. for the ten years ending 1883. The highest death rate was at Newcastle, 10.33 per cent., and the Hospitals at Gladesville and Callan Park where the largest number of of acute cases were received come next with percentages of 9.76 and 8.92 respectively. At the institutions where the majority of patients were suffering from chronic insanity, and the admissions were few, the death rate was a very low one. At Parramatta (free) it was 5.46, at Cook's River 4.05, and at Cooma 3.70. In the division for criminals at Parramatta the death rate was 1.88 per cent. only.

The causes of death are shown in table 4.

In 75 cases the cause of death was ascertained by post mortem examinations.

Leave of Absence.

The Superintendent of any Hospital or Licensed House for the Insane may, under the provisions of the Lunacy Act with the consent of the Inspector-General, permit any patient to be absent from the Hospital or Licensed House upon trial for such period as may be thought fit, and such permission has been granted to 64 patients—18 males and 46 females—during the year, so that including the numbers who were absent on 31st December, 1883—17 males and 25 females, a total of 42—no less than 106 patients have been absent for various periods. Of these 34—14 males and 20 females were discharged recovered, 34—10 males and 24 females were returned to Hospital, and 38—11 males and 27 females remained on leave at the end of the year. The numbers removed on probation from each establishment are shown in the following return:—

Institution.	Remaining on leave, 31st Dec., 1883.			Granted leave, during 1884.			Discharged Recovered.			Returned to Hospital.			Died whilst on leave.			Remaining on leave, 31st Dec., 1884.

The system is proved by the results to be an excellent one and might I think be even more largely adopted than it has yet been. It gives an opportunity of testing the fitness of patients for discharge, and for living without the restraints of asylum life, it calls forth on the part of certain classes of patients a resolution and an effort at self-control which they would not practice if discharged at once fully and unconditionally, and is thus a stimulant to mental health and an incentive to resist temptation, and it enables certain patients who are subject to recurrent attacks of insanity or exacerbations of mental disturbance to spend at home and among friends the brighter and better periods of their sad and straitened existence.

Total number under care.

The total number of patients under care was 3,068—1,905 males and 1,163 females, an increase of 111 on the number under care during 1883. The daily average number resident was 2,435—1,503 males and 932 females, or 88 in excess of the average for the preceding year.

Number remaining at close of the year.

The number of patients on the registers of the Hospitals at the close of 1884 was 2,374—1,545 males and 829 females; and the number on the register of the Licensed House, 150—7 males and 143 females, of whom 125 were maintained at the expense of the Government.

The completion of the Hospital at Callan Park makes a large addition to the Hospital accommodation, which is for the first time for many years somewhat in excess of what is immediately required. The accommodation is now as follows:—

Name of Institution.	Number for whom there is accommodation.
	Male.	Female.	Total.
Gladesville .....	423	244	667
Parramatta { Free.....	601	350	951
{ Criminal.....	56	.....	56
Callan Park .....	412	354	766
Newcastle .....	111	70	181
Total.....	1,603	1,018	2,621

At the close of the current year the contract under which 125 Government patients are provided for at Cook's River expires, and these patients will be removed to Callan Park, and if, as seems probable, the increase of numbers for the year 1885 is equal to that for 1884 the whole of the surplus accommodation will be occupied, and unless further provision be made the overcrowding, which has for many years embarrassed the management, lessened the comfort and impeded, and in not a few instances prevented, recovery of patients, will recommence. The only building now in progress is a cottage for 12 patients at Callan Park, and it is clearly time that some steps should be taken to provide additional accommodation accommodation. After full consideration I see no reason to modify the recommendations I made in my reports for previous years. These were—

- 1st. That some of the buildings now occupied as Orphan Schools, but soon likely to be vacated owing to the "boarding out" of the children, should be handed over to this department for the accommodation of chronic, incurable, and demented patients.
- 2nd. That a new Hospital should be commenced on the estate at Kenmore, near Goulburn, purchased for the purpose some years since.

The accumulation in the wards of Gladesville and Callan Park of demented, aged, and incurable patients, of a class who would in Great Britain be relegated to the lunatic wards of poor-houses, is now very large, and it is extremely unwise to allow patients of this hopeless class to occupy buildings planned and intended for patients suffering from mental disease in its more acute, demonstrative, and curable stages, and to inconvenience and crowd out these cases.

The buildings occupied as Orphan Schools, especially the one now known as the Protestant Orphanage, would, with little alteration, serve for the accommodation of aged and demented patients, and the new Hospital at Kenmore which, if commenced at once would not be ready for occupation for three or four years, would serve for the reception of acute cases from the Southern District.

Accidents.

It is now a rule of the department that all accidents of a serious nature are reported to me by the Superintendents as soon as possible after they occur, and I have reason to believe that this rule is followed, and all injuries of a serious character was brought under my notice. The accidents during the year have been more than usually numerous, and three resulted in death. In the first a female patient at Parramatta managed to abstract from a grate a small bit of live coal, which she wrapped up in a rag and carried off with the intention, as she herself stated, of lighting a pipe of which she had obtained possession. Her clothes caught fire and she was so badly burned before they could be extinguished that death resulted. In the second an elderly and convalescent patient at Gladesville, who was allowed to go to the garden and river bank, slipped off the rocks into the Parramatta River and was drowned. In neither of these cases was there any suspicion of suicide, and in the second case there was reason to believe that sudden faintness, caused by heart disease, had contributed to the fatal result. In the third case a patient at Gladesville, who had for seven years been employed in the kitchen, and who appeared in his usual mental condition, committed suicide by cutting his throat.

In eleven cases there was fracture, and in one dislocation. In three of the cases of fracture the injury was due to accidental falls, in two to falls caused by slight interference on the part of fellow-patients, in four to assaults by or during struggles with fellow-patients, and in one to a struggle with an attendant. The dislocation was of the terminal joint of the finger, and occurred during a quarrel.

In four cases there were wounds, two being caused by self mutilation—the removal of testicles,—one by an attempt at suicide, and one by a blow from a fellow-patient, and in one case there was severe bruising and injury to the thigh caused by a fall. Three of the more severe accidents, two at Gladesville and one at Parramatta, occurred in the dormitories at night during quarrels between patients. With a larger number of single rooms these accidents might have been avoided, and with less overcrowding of the wards it is probable that the accidents which occurred during the day, would have been fewer.

The number of single rooms, both at Parramatta and Gladesville, especially at the former, is too small, and throughout the year the wards at Gladesville have been greatly overcrowded, causing irritating propinquity and contact, which resulted in quarrels.

In the accidental fracture of ribs, which occurred during a struggle between an attendant and patient, the Medical Superintendent of Parramatta took the very proper course, as the case was a peculiar one, of immediately suspending the attendant and reporting the matter to me with a request that I would hold the necessary inquiry. I found that the attendant had acted hastily but entirely in self-defence and to protect himself from injury, and feeling that no blame could be attached to him he was allowed to resume duty. In addition to the accidents above mentioned one attendant fell whilst holding a violent patient and sustained a fracture of the forearm, and another received a kick, which resulted in death from peritonitis. The kick was not at the time thought to be severe, and the attendant resumed the duty on which he was engaged, but serious and indeed fatal symptoms soon supervened. This is the first fatal accident which has occurred to a member of the staff of any of the Institutions for the Insane, in a service by no means devoid of danger, since the death of Dr. Greenup.

In all cases of death by accident or injury and of sudden and unexpected death notice is at once given by the Superintendents to the Coroner of the district.

Changes among Attendants, Nurses, and Servants.

The whole number of changes among the attendants and nurses was 39, and among the servants (including cooks, laundresses, gatekeepers, &c.), 16. According to returns furnished by the Superintendents, the causes of leaving or dismissal among the attendants and nurses were as follows:—Left voluntarily by resignation, 25—11 attendants and 14 nurses; dismissed for incompetence, 4—2 attendants and 2 nurses; for insubordination, 2 attendants; for drunkenness, 1 attendant; for unsatisfactory conduct, 1 attendant; and for leave-breaking, 1 attendant. Two attendants retired on gratuity—one after very prolonged service—and 2 attendants and 1 nurse died. Both the attendants who died held the position of senior attendants in charge of wards, and were highly valued members of the staff at Gladesville. Death in one case was due to an accident, to which I have referred in a previous part of this report, and in the other to inflammation of the lungs. The nurse who had been for some years on the Newcastle staff also died from inflammation of the lungs.

Of the servants, 4 resigned, 8 were dismissed for incompetence, 1 for insubordination, 1 absconded, and 2—a gatekeeper at Gladesville, and a senior laundress at Parramatta—died.

It is extremely unfavourable to the interests of patients that the changes among attendants and nurses who are immediately in charge of them, and in whom experience of their special work gives a daily increasing value to service, should be frequent, and it is satisfactory to find that these changes have been much fewer than during the years 1882 and 1883, in which 45 attendants and nurses left by resignation or dismissal. It is clear that a considerable number of changes will always take place. A certain proportion of both attendants and nurses find themselves, or are found by the officers in charge, to be unfit for their special duties, and marriage causes a number of changes among the nurses in every year.

Causation of Insanity.

During the last five years the statistics of the Institutions for the Insane have been prepared upon a uniform plan, and the returns showing the causation of insanity in all the cases admitted during that period have been tabulated in the following form:—

This return is admittedly an imperfect one as is shown by the cause of insanity in nearly 33 per cent. of the cases being tabulated as "unknown," but even in this respect a confessed ignorance is better than a fancied knowledge, and it is really impossible in a large number of cases, even with far better means of obtaining information than is attainable in this Colony, where nearly one-half of the patients have so far as is known no friends and their prior history cannot be ascertained, to fix upon the exact cause of the mental condition. The three generations supposed to be necessary according to the old adage to make a gentleman are certainly in a large number of cases occupied in, if not necessary to the production of a lunatic. The neurotic and crazy folk of one generation are not unfrequently the progenitors of the insane of the next, and deep set hereditary predisposition and morbid susceptibilities to disease go with numerous depressing influences to make up that complex concurrence of conditions which results in insanity. In not a few instances the predisposing causes—often complicated in their nature—are unknown, and the cause tabulated is the exciting cause only, the final strain which has been sufficient to overturn a weak or predisposed organism, but which would have had little or no effect upon a strong and healthy one. Still a collection of statistics prepared by independent observers, and therefore free from the errors incident to individual fancy or bias cannot fail to be of some interest and value, and may help towards the elucidation of this important question.

It will be noticed that intemperance in drink is shown as given the highest percentage of cases, 11·24, and I have reason to think that this fairly represents the percentage of cases of insanity due to this cause which reach the hospitals in this Colony. The percentage is less than that given in the statistics of the English Lunacy Commissioners, which as shown by Dr. Herbert Major,* who has carefully examined them for six years from 1876 to 1882, give a percentage of between 13 and 14 per cent. as due to this cause, cause, but it must be remembered that a number of the more transient cases of insanity due to intemperance in drink recover under treatment in the Reception House and gaols, and do not reach our hospitals, whilst such cases are admitted directly into the Hospitals in England. The percentage of cases due to intemperance in drink counted on the number of inmates of our Hospitals at any one time is much less than the percentage on the admissions, since the form of insanity due to drink is to a great extent curable, and comparatively few remain among the accumulated and incurable cases of insanity. A return was prepared to an order of the Legislature on the 15th May last, which showed 2,450 as the total number of insane persons under care, and 137 or 5½ per cent. as the number "whose disease had been brought on by the use or abuse of drink."

The causes next in potency appear to be hereditary influence, to which 5·81 per cent., congenital defect, to which 4·80 per cent., and epilepsy, to which 4·64 per cent. are attributed. Congenital defects and epilepsy are both largely due to hereditary influence, and the three causes together give a percentage of 14·25 per cent.; but this is far below the real truth, which so far as hereditary influence is concerned it is impossible to arrive at in this Colony. Whilst English statistics show that the percentage of cases due to congenital defects and epilepsy are very close to those in this Colony, the percentage attributed to hereditary influence alone is shown as averaging over 20 per cent.

In England the family history of a large proportion of the patients can be traced; here nothing whatever is known of the family history of the great majority. Even where the relatives can be found they often know nothing of the family history, and hereditary influence is a point on which they seldom or never volunteer and frequently deny information. Experience leads me to believe that the amount of insanity due to hereditary influence is much larger than the statistics show, and in my visits to the Hospitals I am frequently able to trace family connections between present and former patients of which the present Medical Superintendents, comparatively new to office, have no knowledge.

The following is an extreme instance, but by no means an isolated one, of hereditary influence:—A woman who was in Gladesville during Dr. Campbell's tenure of office had six sons and one daughter. Five of the sons were admitted to Gladesville under my care, two died in Hospital and three are still inmates, the sixth son has been four times insane and is now an inmate of Callan Park, and I accidentally discovered a short time since that two of the children of the daughter are now in the Asylum for Idiots at Newcastle.

Mental anxiety, including worry and overwork; religious excitement; and parturition, including the puerperal state; come next on the list with percentages of 3·30, 3·09, and 3·05 respectively. Under the head of religious excitement the operations of the Salvation Army have in some cases during the last two years been included as a cause of insanity.

Domestic trouble, adverse circumstances, sunstroke, disease of the skull and brain are each credited with over 2 per cent. of the cases and accident and injury. Self-abuse, privation and overwork, and isolation come next in the order named as appreciable and well-defined causes.

The peculiar features of life in this Colony are responsible for a considerable number of cases of insanity which are classified under the heading of "unknown," owing to the difficulty of wrapping up the causes, which are complex, in any one word or phrase. The sufferers are for the most men, whose history has been somewhat as follows:—First, an isolated emigration, next the peculiar mode of life of the miner and bushman, with the shifting from place to place in search of work, and the absence of all home ties and all active sympathy—circumstances which lead to a dwarfing of all the better feelings which are fostered and flourished in home life, and the development of a miserable selfishness with distrust and suspicion of ever changing and often questionable associates. Next, absolute delusions of suspicion and fear make their appearance, frequently due directly to a "drinking bout," but remaining long after the more transient effects of this are over. Sometimes commencing at this stage, but oftener at a much earlier period comes idleness; (partly begotten by high wages, which with intermittent and infrequent exertion serve to furnish the necessaries of life; partly of a genial climate which renders shelter and warm clothing superfluities for months in the year; and partly of the free-handed gift of rations at all the larger stations), which is in itself fatal to mental health, and ends in incurable vagrancy first and incurable insanity afterwards. This vagrant stage often lasts for years, and the individuals travel from Colony to Colony before the mental symptoms are so pronounced as to call for action on the part of the police or other authorities. Once in the Hospitals these patients, a large class, are among the most idle, the most hopeless, and sometimes the most troublesome of the inmates.

Cost of Maintenance.

The receipts of the Department from all sources amounted to £3,000 8s. 9d., being £1,121 6s. 5d. more than during the year 1883, and the details are shown in the following return:—

The chief increase is in the amount of collections by the Master in Lunacy, which amounted to a larger sum than in any previous year, and £1,042 19s. more than during the year 1883.

The collections for maintenance made by the Master are still small with regard to the total expenditure, but it should be remembered that a large number of patients have neither property of their own or friends to contribute towards their support.

On the 31st of July, the following return was prepared, showing the number of Patients in the Hospitals, the number who had relatives and friends, and the number who, so far as was known, were friendless:—

This return shows that more than one half of the inmates of Hospitals had no relatives who could be expected to contribute in any way towards their support, and that 1,020 out of a total of 2,457 were absolutely, so far as could be ascertained, without a friend in the world.

Add to this condition of things, that insanity is more largely prevalent among the poor than the well-to-do, and that it is in itself directly pauperising, by completely cutting off all means of obtaining a livelihood, and lasts for months and years, instead of like ordinary illness, for days and weeks, and the amount of collections will not appear so small as they would without these considerations.

The total expenditure for the year was £84,457 7s. 8d., and was made up as follows:—Maintenance of patients, Hospitals for the Insane, £72,957 2s. 1d.; maintenance of Government patients in Licensed House, Cook's River, £7,317; maintenance of patients in Reception House, £1,746 1s. 1d.; and general expenses, including cost of Inspector-General's Office, allowances to official visitors, maintenance of steam launch, and payments to friends towards maintenance of patients, £2,437 4s. 6d.

The cost of maintenance in Hospitals was £1,446 1s. 4d. more than in the preceding year, but the total number of patients under care was 105 more, and the daily average number 85 more than during 1883. The cost of maintenance in the Reception House was £317 16s. 8d. more than in 1883, but the number of patients increased from 579 in 1883 to 685 in 1884. The cost of each patient in the Reception House was £2 9s. 6d. in the former, and £2 10s. 11d. in the latter year.

The following tables give the particulars of expenditure in the hospitals:—

Average weekly cost without deducting collections, 12s. 3½d., or, deducting collections, 10s. 11½d.

The average weekly cost, without deducting collections, was 12s. 3d. as against 12s. 5d. in 1883, and after deducting collections, 10s. 11d. as against 11s. 5d. in 1883.

The cost at Gladesville and Newcastle is very close to that for the year 1883. The cost at Parramatta has decreased by upwards of £2 a head, and the cost at Cooma by £1 7s. 6d. The cost at Callan Park has increased by nearly £4 a head. This increased cost was due mainly to cost of clothing and stores required as an outfit for the new Hospital, and the new patients received. The following return shows the cost of weekly maintenance at Hospitals for the Insane during the years from 1870 to 1884 inclusive.

* First year, and including cost of stores and outfit. † Opening of new Hospital.

Reception House for the Insane, Darlinghurst.

On 31st December, 1883, there were 2 patients under lunacy certificate and 9 under remand by order of Magistrates in this Institution, and during the year, 326—205 males and 121 females were received under certificate; and 359—269 males and 90 females were admitted under magistrates' order. The number of cases under treatment was therefore 696. Of these, however, 93 were first admitted under remand by magistrates and then readmitted under medical certificates, so that the total number of persons under care and treatment was 592.

This is by far the largest number under care in any one year, and 93 in excess of the number in 1883. Taking the two classes separately it appears that of the 328 under lunacy certificate 302 were forwarded to Hospital, 2 died, 19 recovered and were discharged, and 5 remained at the end of the year; and of the 368 under remand 250 were discharged as sane, 93 were sent to the Police Court certified as insane and returned to the Reception House, 9 died, and 16 remained at the close of the year.

Of the total number it appears, therefore, that 269 were discharged recovered, the mental symptoms being arrested at an early stage.

I paid twelve visits of inspection during the year, and on every occasion found the Institution thoroughly clean and in excellent order. At each of my visits I saw all the patients and inquired into their mental condition. On three occasions a patient was in restraint by muffs, and on each the special circumstances of the case seemed to render this mode of treatment advisable.

The Institution, from its opening in the year 1868 to the close of 1883, received 4,457 patients, and among all these no serious accident of any kind occurred. During the past year, however, there have been two cases of suicide. Both these, and also a case of sudden death, were made the subjects of inquiry before the Coroner, with the result that no blame was attributed to the officers of the Institution. I deemed it necessary to make special inquiries in the cases of suicide. Both were remarkable, by reason of means adopted and the determination displayed; and whilst concurring in the verdict of the Coroner's jury, I have thought it necessary to recommend an increase in the staff of the Institution, so as to ensure a more thorough supervision of the patients at night.

The arrangements of the Institution have been improved by the enlargement of the enclosed verandah in the male division, so as to serve as a dining-hall, by some alterations in the dormitories and by panelling the verandahs. The building is in excellent repair throughout.

The following tables give the statistics of the Institution.

I regret that no action has been yet taken to establish wards in Public Hospitals or Reception Houses for temporary treatment of the insane in any of the country towns of the Colony. The Prisons are still the only refuge for the insane in those places, and I am indebted to the Comptroller General of Prisons, as in former years, for a return showing the number of cases treated:—

Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville.

In this Hospital the number of patients was 801 at the beginning, and 846 at the close of the year, the average number resident being 819. The accommodation of the Hospital is for 667 only, and there was on an average 152 patients in excess of this, with the result of seriously embarrassing the Medical Superintendent and the officers acting under him in the management of the Institution.

The recoveries give a percentage of 39·68 on the admissions, and the deaths a percentage of 9·76 on the average number resident.

The statistics of the Hospital are given at length in the report of the Medical Superintendent and the tables attached thereto. (Vide Appendix).

The official visitors, Sir Alfred Roberts, Mr. William Owen, Q.C., who resigned during the year and was succeeded by Mr. Charles J. Manning, Barrister-at-law, and Dr. Cox paid eleven visits of inspection. I have had an opportunity of perusing all their reports, which contain no recommendation or suggestions calling for comment.

I visited the Hospital on February 12th, March 24th and 25th, April 21st and 22nd, May 29th and 30th, June 30th, July 23rd and 24th, September 2nd, 3rd, and 8th, and November 17th and 20th, and the following are copies of the entries made in the Inspector's book at two of these visits:—

March 24th and 25th.—I have spent a large part of these two days in an inspection of this Hospital, which now contains 808 patients, 494 males and 314 females, an increase of 31 since December 31st, 1883. Besides those in Hospital, 5 males and 24 females, a total of 29, are on leave of absence, and still retained on the register. The admissions since January 1st have been at the rate of more than one a day, and the increase is rendering the wards very overcrowded, and shows the necessity for the opening of some of the wards at Callan Park as soon as possible. I saw and signed the statutory books, which are correctly kept, and I have taken several opportunities of examining the case books, which are kept by Dr. Ross with great care.

From the Medical Journal it appears that there has been no instance of restraint in the female division for some time, and at the time of my visit there was only one patient, a very destructive general paralytic, in restraint by camisole. I saw all the papers received with patients since the last official visit, and found them correct. I visited the whole of the wards, both in the male and female divisions of the main building, and at the Hill-branch, and found all in good order.

The

The female division was as usual thoroughly clean and well kept, and I am glad to be able to speak in like terms of both wards of the Hill-branch. In the male division of the main building some minor matters require attention, especially the bedsteads, which require repainting, and in the stone buildings of No. 6 the attendants evidently require overlooking.

The patients were clean, reasonably tidy, and remarkably free from noise or excitement. The general health of the hospital is good. There is no epidemic ailment, and including all cases, there were only 2 patients in bed in the female and 13 in the male division.

In the female division one of the cases in bed was E—P—, who has sustained some injury to the elbow joint in a struggle with one of the nurses. The injury does not appear to be serious, and the whole circumstances attending its causation are set forth in the Medical Journal. Two patients, 1 male and 1 female, were in seclusion owing to the noise made at the medical rounds, and the danger in one case of an attack on the medical officers. I heard no complaint of harsh or unkind treatment in the main building; but one patient at the Hill complained of rough treatment by the attendants, and this charge I made enquiry into, with the result that I cannot find that blame attaches to the attendants. The patient is suffering from rheumatism affecting the shoulders and other parts, shrinks at the slightest touch, and has delusions that people work on him and cause the pains in some mysterious way at night. His complaints are evidently only a part of his general morbid condition.

The night reports show a large list (averaging 30) of wet, and some 6 or 8 dirty, patients. The day reports show that the number of persons actively employed is maintained, but there is rather a falling off than an increase in the number attending divine service.

I visited the laundry, stores, kitchen, wood-yard, carpenters' and tailors' shops and other buildings. In the laundry there was the usual number employed. In the coarse laundry the new boiling tubs answer well, and it is proposed to place two similar ones in the fine laundry and do away with the present coppers, which are unsightly and inconvenient, and besides, consume much fuel. In the store I saw various articles of provisions which were of good quality. There were some complaints with regard to the contractor for milk, and I have recently had to inflict on him a fine of £5; but the reports as regards other contractors are, as a rule, favourable, though the meat has not been satisfactory once or twice lately, and has been rejected.

The kitchen was clean, but all the wood-work requires repainting, and some minor repairs are also needed. I notice in the wards a desire on the part of the Medical Superintendent to make the place more cheerful by painting, pictures, and other means, and the whole Institution gives evidence of careful and judicious management.

I did not find the usual number of male patients employed, owing to a number being absent with officers and attendants at a cricket match at the Parramatta Hospital. These matches between the officers and patients of different institutions, to which a number of working patients besides those actually engaged in the match are sent, involve little expense except the cost of transit, and seem to afford more enjoyment to the patients than can be got in any other way.

July 23rd and 24th.—I visited this Hospital on both these days. On the first, I inspected all the wards in the female and on the second all the wards in the male divisions, including the Hill branch. I also visited the laundry, kitchen, stores, wood-yard, stables, artisan shops, and other out-buildings.

The Medical Superintendent accompanied me to every part of the Hospital.

The number of patients on the Register was as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
In the Hospital .....	516	324	840
On leave .....	7	24	31
Total .....	523	348	871

The increase of numbers in the Hospital since December 31st, 1883 has been: males, 45; females, 18; total, 63; and during the last few weeks the admissions have been more than usually numerous and the cases of a very hopeless character. Since the last official visit on June 11th no less than 54 patients have been received, and of these 16 were over 50 years of age suffering almost without exception from insanity of an incurable character. It has been found necessary, owing to the increase in numbers, to place beds in the passages of the male division, and the wards, especially in the male division, are very inconveniently crowded. I saw and signed the statutory books, which were in proper order, and I examined also the recent case books, in which I found all the cases up to within a period of two days fully entered, and the books generally kept with the most commendable care and fulness. From the Medical Journal it appears that there has been one accident, resulting in the death of an attendant, the circumstances relating to which were fully reported to the Colonial Secretary; one sudden death in an epileptic, of which a report was made to me and to the Coroner, who did not deem an inquest necessary; and one case of self-mutilation, in which the patient recovered without bad symptoms.

The amount of seclusion since the last official visit was small, and at the last entry there were two patients only in restraint. I found the female division of the Hospital thoroughly clean in every part and in most satisfactory order. The bedding was ample and good, and the clothing of the patients quite satisfactory. I noticed only 2 ticken dresses in use. At my visit 1 patient was in restraint by gloves for persistent picking of face causing troublesome and disfiguring sores, 2 were in seclusion, 1 during the visit of the medical officers to whom she always clings and requires several nurses to manage at those times, and one owing to the violence of acute mania, and four were in bed all suffering from somewhat severe bodily ailment. The only complaints made to me were by Mrs. S— in No. 2 ward, and though couched in very strong language were very indefinite in character, and amounted mainly to charges of rudeness against two of the nurses. This patient is prone to take violent likes and dislikes, and to express both in terms of great vehemence. She has repeatedly been changed from ward to ward, and in the impossibility of ascertaining if she really has a grievance or if her complaints are due to her very peculiar mental habit I have advised Dr. Sinclair, who is thoroughly conversant with her peculiarities, to try her in another ward among other nurses. At the Hill branch I found the wards in good order, and the patients quiet and free from complaints. One patient who has frequent severe epileptic attacks was in bed. The kitchen and out-buildings were clean and in good order, except the attendants' mess-room which is ill kept, and far from as neat and nice as desirable. I recommend that it should be repainted and put into thorough order with proper furniture and matting on the floor, and that it should be given into the special charge of one of the senior attendants. The tanks at this division in which the water has been in some way contaminated, have not yet been repaired, though requisitions have been made on the Colonial Architect's Department for this service. I notice that the cement floors in one of the large rooms and in the pantries are much out of repair, and that a number of the sandstone steps are much worn; all these should be repaired at an early date. In the kitchen some additional steamers are required, and steps should be taken to provide these at once. In the male division of the main Hospital I found the patients with 2 or 3 exceptions quiet and free from excitement, and all were reasonably tidy in dress—the number in canvas was 2 only, and these are both persistently destructive. One patient was in restraint by camisole for reasons which appeared to me sufficient, and 1 was in the protection bed, 9 were in bed (5 in single rooms), 3 in Hospital, and 1 in a crib room. I made enquiries in any cases in which I saw bruises or sores, and found all properly and satisfactorily accounted for. In the case of an aged man who had a mark on his forehead, I ascertained that the injuries were caused by his wandering about the dormitory at night, and on one occasion coming into conflict with a fellow-patient whose bed clothes he attempted to appropriate. The Medical Superintendent has given orders for him to sleep in a single room in future. I heard no complaint except the usual ones of detention, and of persecution by electric and other agencies. Since my last visit many of the bedsteads have been repainted and a quantity of mattresses remade. There is, however, need of further attention to the bedding in No. 2 ward, and in several places I noticed broken windows and a want of attention to details which show an absence of care on the part of the Chief-attendant. In several parts of this division there is a great need of repainting the wood-work, and as soon as the winter and wet weather are over a number of the single and other rooms might, with advantage, be painted instead of whitewashed as at present. In the laundry I found a large number of women at work, a new dash-wheel is being fitted and new steam boilers are much needed. Both laundry and kitchen require repainting and whitewashing throughout. The latter was by no means as orderly and well kept as usual, and I am glad to find that though two cooks employed during the last two months have been dismissed and others engaged.

Experience shows the great need for more spacious and convenient workshops, and I spent some time in conferring with the Medical Superintendent on this subject. I am of opinion that new workshops for carpenters and painters as well as a large room for hair-picking and mat-making are absolutely necessary. All these might be built at comparatively small expense. At present the industrial employment of the patients is seriously interfered with owing to the limited space in the shops, and in wet weather a number are idle with the usual result of idleness, mischief, and mental relapse. In the stores I have had opportunities opportunities of seeing most of the articles provided for the patients and found all good in quality. The tailor's shop was visited on the 24th instant, when the number of patients employed was smaller than usual. The room requires repainting and decorating. In the gardens and grounds I saw a number of patients employed, and heard no complaints.

The returns for the half-year ending June 30th, show that the number usefully employed is slightly increasing, and the Medical Superintendent appears anxious to encourage the occupation of all who are in any way fit for work. An effort has been recently made to introduce the picking of horse-hair in the wards, and will I hope be persevered in.

The proportion of attendants and nurses to patients at the close of the year was as follows:— Attendants, 1 to 11; nurses, 1 to 14. Of the total number 5 attendants and 3 nurses are employed on night duty. The proportion of nurses to patients was somewhat less than usual at this period as the number of patients had increased, and with the daily expectation of being able to transfer a number of patients to Callan Park, Dr. Sinclair had not thought it advisable to apply for an increase in the staff of nurses.

No additional accommodation was provided during the year, and the improvements and alterations are noted in the Medical Superintendent's report.

The dormitory accommodation for 78 male patients is in rooms built of white wood with iron roofs which are very liable to fire, and which are much eaten by white ant. It is very desirable that these buildings which are a constant expense for repairs, and in which it is necessary to keep an extra night attendant should be replaced as soon as possible by buildings of a more permanent and substantial character.

Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta.

The number of patients in this Hospital increased from 943 on December 31st, 1883, to 956 on December 31st, 1884, and at the latter date were 5 in excess of the number for whom there was room.

The recoveries show a percentage of 43.33 on the admissions, and the deaths one of 5.46 on the average number resident.

The statistics are given at length in the report of the Medical Superintendent and the tables thereto attached. (See Appendix.)

The official visitors, Sir Alfred Roberts, William Owen, Esquire, Q.C., who was succeeded by C. J. Manning, Esq., Barrister-at-Law, and Dr. Cox, visited the Hospital on 10 occasions during the year, and forwarded a copy of their entry made in the Inspector's book after each visit. The chief suggestions made during the year were that the paths in the yards attached to the division for women should be laid with tar asphalt, and that more single rooms should be built. The former suggestion has been postponed to more urgent requirements, the latter I have on more than one occasion urged on the notice of the Colonial Secretary, and have recently expressed my thorough concurrence with the recommendation of the visitors.

I visited the Hospital on February 13th, April 5th and 10th, June 12th and 17th, August 6th, September 23rd, October 23th, November 13th, and December 4th, and at each visit inspected either the whole or some part of the Hospital. The following are copies of my reports at the visits made at two of these visits:—

April 5th and 10th.—I have spent some part of both these days in a visit of inspection to this Hospital. On the first I visited the whole of the weatherboard buildings, both for males and females, and saw the laundry, kitchen, stores, and other out-buildings attached to them; and on the second I inspected the main building, visiting all the wards, the stores, artisan's shops, &c., &c. On both days I was accompanied by the Medical Superintendent and Assistant Medical Officer. The number of patients on the 10th instant was as follows:—In Hospital, 597 males, 338 females, total 935. On leave, 1 male, 1 female; total 2. I notice that whilst there has been some decrease in the number of female patients the steady increase in the male division which has been noticed during the past three years still continues, and that the number at present is 2 more than at the close of the year 1883. I found all the inmates reasonably tidy and clean in dress, and the number of canvas or ticken dresses, in both male and female divisions, exceptionally small. The general health is excellent.

The improvement in the appearance of patients in the female division is still maintained, and notwithstanding the vast number of aged patients only 1 female and 3 males were in bed. No one was in seclusion, and on the 5th only 1 female in restraint. On the 10th the Medical Officers were able to report that there was neither seclusion nor restraint, which, considering that the number of inmates is close upon 1,000, is most satisfactory.

In examining the night report I noticed that amongst the males there were only 16 wet and 6 dirty at night out of 647. The female division showed 15 wet and 7 dirty, and as the number of patients is 344, this is not so satisfactory a record as is shown in the male division. Considering the immense saving in washing and the advantage to the patients which a close attention to their condition at night brings about I shall be glad to see some improvement in this particular in the female division. The rooms occupied by the patients were clean and tidy, and with some exceptions well ventilated.

At the weatherboard division (male) the day rooms were stuffy, and I think an improvement would be made by hanging the blinds some inches lower so as to be below instead of above the top opening. In the weatherboard division (male) and in some other parts the bedsteads require repainting, and I think this work might be undertaken in the wards, a few being done at a time by the patients and attendants instead of taking away the painter from the decoration of the female division on which he is now engaged. I notice with satisfaction that efforts are being made to increase the number of workers, and that 12 are now engaged with the tailor. The question of turning one of the rooms in the old dispenser's quarters into a tailor's shop was discussed with the Medical Superintendent.

I pointed out to the Medical Superintendent the advisability of closely examining the chronic patients of both sexes with a view of discovering if any were in such a mental and general condition that they could be managed in one of the poor-houses. A periodical examination with this view is, I conceive, of importance, as changes are apt to pass unnoticed among this class, and it is important that every one who is capable of sufficient self-control should be discharged either to the world, or to a poor-house if too old and feeble to work or face the troubles and cares of existence out of a public institution.

I found the out-buildings and offices at the weatherboard in excellent order and thoroughly clean. In the stores I inspected various articles of provisions and found all good except the bread on the first day of my visit. I found that it had on several occasions been rejected, and that the contractor had been warned on the subject. On the 10th the supply was satisfactory. I saw and signed the statutory books, and saw the more recent case books in which the entries are full and satisfactory. I discussed with the Medical Superintendent a number of minor matters in connection with the management of the Hospital, and among other things pointed out the advisability of having a printed copy of the bath rules in each bathroom. Several changes have recently taken place in the staff of attendants and nurses, and the vacancies appear, as a rule, to have been satisfactorily filled. I noticed with regret the very great delay which occurs in the matter of all requisitions on the Colonial Architect's Department. This delay appears to have a tendency to increase to the great inconvenience of the hospital. There are at the present time requisitions for buildings and repairs urgently required outstanding for ten or twelve months.

On the 12th June I inspected all the male, and on the 17th all the female, wards of this hospital. The numbers on the former date were 600 males and 349 females; and these, with those on the criminal lists, make up a total of 1,003 in the hospital, in addition to which 2 males and 2 females are on leave. Out of this very large population I found only two patients on the 12th, and only one on the 17th, in bed. The amount of sickness, never large at this Hospital, is now reduced to a minimum, and the general appearance of the patients, although a number are aged and infirm, denotes a most satisfactory sanitary condition. I found very little noise or excitement in any part, and the complaints were very few, and call for but little remark. One female patient made a number of complaints as to her treatment by the nurses, but as I have on several occasions enquired into complaints made by this woman at Cook's River, Gladesville, and Parramatta, and found them groundless, I did not think it necessary to make any special enquiry. The clothing was, as a rule, in good order, and the bedding clean.

clean and sufficient. The majority of the pillows in the female division are now stuffed with kopuk, and the change is much appreciated by the patients. All the newer parts of the Hospital were thoroughly clean, and the old buildings are, perhaps, as clean as they can be made. The energy and care bestowed in cleaning some of the rooms, owing to their dilapidated condition, is not a very pleasant task, and the result is inadequate to the labour bestowed. The rooms in the women's quarters are being painted and decorated with excellent taste by the artisan attendant and patients working with him, and the grounds in this division, and also in the weatherboard division for men, are slowly improving in appearance under the constant care and attention of patients and attendants.

I visited the engine and boiler house, which requires whitewashing and painting throughout; the laundry, which was in good order, the sewing-room, in which the number of patients employed has much increased; the carpenters' and tailors' shops, in the latter of which I was pleased to notice that the increased number of patients is kept up; and the stores, where I found all articles of provision good in quality, except the cheese. I visited also the kitchen and other offices. The kitchen in the female division was in excellent order, the patients employed clean and tidy, and the whole arrangements creditable to the cook. I saw the dinner served in the weatherboard division, and in all the male wards, except one, and am glad to notice the marked improvement which has taken place within the last few months in the manner of serving, and in the conduct of the patients.

I saw and signed the statutory books, and examined the papers received with all patients since the last official visit. On looking over the reports I found the number of wet and dirty patients at night very small, and I noticed that the number of female patients employed is steadily rising. The number of men employed still continues small in proportion to the population, and it is painful to see the number in the wards who are altogether unoccupied. I have discussed the question with the Medical Superintendent, who is fully alive to the importance of occupation, and has undertaken to make enquiries as to whether hair-picking can be introduced with advantage.

I regret to find that a number of long outstanding requisitions on the Colonial Architect's Department are still unattended to.

The new buildings for women, which were opened in 1883, and were described in my last report, have been found to answer the purpose for which they were built in an admirable manner, and having been painted and decorated, and the grounds around them improved by levelling, planting, &c., are now among the most cheerful, homely, and serviceable buildings in the department.

The new ward for male patients, commenced last year, and which command a pleasant view of the Parramatta Park, is approaching completion, and will probably be furnished and ready for occupation by the middle of 1885. This will allow of the demolition of another block of the old and miserable-looking buildings which have so long given this Institution such a forlorn and depressing appearance. It must, however, not be forgotten that a number of these old buildings still remain, in which about 120 patients are still domiciled. Steps should be taken for the removal of all those which are beyond repair, and the renovation of all those which are fit for this at as early a time as possible. Under existing circumstances it is impossible to keep them thoroughly clean, and their very appearance is depressing to the inmates, and calculated rather to cause than to alleviate mental disturbance. The Medical Superintendent has, in his report, again pointed out the necessity for a large hall for amusement and recreation, and I hope to be able in my report for the current year to state that some steps have been taken for the erection of this building, which, in a large Institution of this kind, containing 1000 patients, is an absolute necessity.

Various minor improvements have been carried out, and all the more recent buildings are in good repair.

The farm shows some improvement in arrangement and cultivation, but nothing has been done towards new buildings, which are much needed. A bridge has, however, been built across the river so as to facilitate access to the farm, and is the first step to a thorough reorganisation of this adjunct to the hospital.

There have been no changes among the officers since my last report, and the changes among the subordinate members of the staff have been comparatively infrequent.

The proportion of attendants and nurses to patients at the close of the year was 1 to 14 and 1 to 18 respectively.

Hospital for the Criminal Insane, Parramatta.

The number of patients on 31st December, 1883, was 56—50 males and 6 females, and 29 patients—25 males and 4 females—were admitted during the year, giving a total of 85—75 males and 10 females—under care and treatment. Of these 4 recovered, 23 were transferred to other Hospitals on expiration of sentence or on becoming no longer subject to criminal disability, and 1 died, leaving 57—50 males and 7 females—on 31st December, 1884, classified as follows:—

The very dangerous character of the patients confined in this Hospital is apparent. No less than 40 are confined for offences against the person:—murder, and attempt at murder, manslaughter, cutting and wounding, and shooting with intent, and of the total number 22 have absolutely committed murder,

I visited and inspected the Hospital on February 13th, June 12th and 17th, August 6th, October 28th, and December 4th, and at two of these visits I checked the register and took care to see and speak to every patient. At none of my visits was any patient either in seclusion or restraint.

The following is a copy of the entry made in the Inspector's book after visits on June 12th and 17th:—

I visited this Institution on both the above days. On the first I accompanied the Medical Superintendent on his usual morning visit and saw all the patients—48 in number. I found all in good average health, no one was in seclusion or restraint, and there was an entire absence of noise, excitement, or complaint. All were tidily and sufficiently clad and the bedding was clean and sufficient. The rooms, corridor, and all parts of the ward were in good order and clean.

The Medical Superintendent is endeavouring to find occupation for as many as possible, and the number employed is slowly increasing, but owing to the absence of any place from which escape would be difficult it is not yet possible to resort to gardening work, and in the absence of this some other form of occupation is evidently desirable. I can see no objection with this class of patient to introducing the teasing of old rope or oakum, and I have consulted with the Medical Superintendent with a view to enquiries being made as to the possibility of securing a constant supply of this material. The inadequacy of the bathing and lavatory arrangements has for a long time been apparent, both to the officers in charge and myself, and the Medical Superintendent has now pointed out that the seclusion yards are very rarely used, and that by roofing in the larger of these a large bath-room and lavatory and a dressing-room, which would be for the criminal and adjoining yards, could be made at comparatively little expense. By this arrangement the present bathroom could be made into a clothes store, and the present clothes store used as a single room. The necessary steps should, I think, be taken to carry out these alterations by means of requisition on the Colonial Architect's Department. I saw the patients at dinner which consisted of meat pie and potatoes. It was served with order and tidiness, and the articles were excellent in quality and well cooked. I think, however, that water should be supplied to each patient and more salt cellars used, and there is no reason why pepper castors should not also be allowed.

I saw and signed the statutory books which are properly kept. There has been no accident or disturbance in this ward for a long time, and no instance of either restraint or seclusion since April 3rd.

The 6 female patients on the criminal list are in the ordinary wards.

Plans for a new bath-room and lavatory have been prepared and are now under consideration by the Colonial Architect. I consider it necessary that steps should be taken for the better ventilation of the single sleeping-rooms, which are close, and in hot weather offensive after occupation.

Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park.

The number of patients in this Hospital increased from 150 on 31st December, 1883, to 273 on 31st December, 1884. The recoveries show a percentage of 22·80 on the admissions, which is considerably below the average for the last four years; and the deaths a percentage of 8·92 on the average number resident.

The statistics of the Hospital are given in the report of the Medical Superintendent and the tables thereto attached. (Appendix.)

I inspected the Hospital on February 9th, March 29th, April 17th, June 7th, July 26th, September 4th, October 21st and December 27th, and besides paid frequent visits during the year to consult with the Colonial Architect, and to supervise the details of the new buildings.

Towards the close of the year I found it necessary to remove my offices to some of the unoccupied rooms of the administrative building, and I have thus had an opportunity of frequent consultation with the Medical Superintendent during the opening and first occupation of the new wards.

The following are copies of my entries in the Inspector's book at three of my visits:—

June 7th. I visited this Hospital to-day and passed through all the wards with the Medical Superintendent. The number on the register is 161, and of these 1 is on leave of absence. The only changes since my last visit have been 4 admissions (3 direct and 1 by transfer from Gladesville), 2 discharges (1 by recovery and 1 on transfer), and 1 death. I saw the papers received with the recent admissions and found them correct, and I examined and signed the statutory books, and saw also the case book, which is written up to date. The Medical Journal shows that there has been no accident beyond a fall in an epileptic fit, and that neither seclusion nor restraint had been necessary since my last visit, except in one instance, where muffs were used to prevent the removal of dressing from a scalp wound in an epileptic patient. I found the wards in good order, and except in one or two instances there was complete freedom from noise and excitement among the patients. The dress of the patients was reasonably clean and tidy and suited to the weather. The dormitories were in excellent order, the mattresses in several having been recently restuffed, and the bedding was thoroughly clean and ample in quantity. In examining the patients there were the usual complaints of detention and requests for discharge, and the only serious complaint was one of ill-treatment against an attendant. On inquiry, however, this completely broke down, the patient asserting that it happened some years before in Albury Gaol, when the attendant attempted to murder him, because the patient asked to be repaid £150 due to him, the whole being evidently a delusion. This patient frequently makes charges which, on inquiry, are due entirely to delusion or are also distorted by exaggeration out of all semblance to truth. The general health of the inmates is satisfactory; 5 were in bed, 2 suffering from advanced general paralysis, 1 from frequent epileptic fits, 1 from a sore on the leg, and the 6th from chronic insanity. The kitchen and laundry were in good order. In the latter, the day being Saturday, no patients were employed, the work for the week being nearly over. The Medical Superintendent reports favourably of the contractors, and the meat under the new contract is very good. I saw the supply for the day's dinner cooked and ready for serving in the wards, and consider it satisfactory. Progress is still being made in laying out the grounds around the new building; but it is much interfered with by the presence and carelessness of contractors' workmen.

September 4th. I have to-day visited this hospital, and have examined and signed the statutory books. The changes since last visit have been as follows:—9 admissions—6 direct and 3 by transfer; 1 death and 1 discharge on recovery. The number of patients on the register is 167, and of these 1 is absent on leave and another without leave, the latter being convalescent was allowed considerable liberty, and took the opportunity of effecting his escape. He has now been absent for upwards of three weeks, and his name will be removed from the register unless he is heard of within the period prescribed by the Lunacy Act. I carefully checked the Register, and saw every patient in the Hospital except one, and this one I saw within the last week, on the occasion of a visit to the new Hospital with the Clerk of the Works. I found the patients free from excitement and noise, and I heard no complaints except such as were obviously due to delusion. In the course of my visit I spoke to nearly all of the patients, and gave every one an opportunity of speaking to me. The general appearance of the patients as to the health, dress, and general tidiness was extremely satisfactory. The bedding was clean and in excellent order, the dormitories clean and well ventilated, and the whole of the rooms occupied by patients showed care on the part of attendants and careful supervision on the part of officers. The closets in one of the wards of the old building were offensive; but they are badly constructed and faultily placed, and I fear that nothing but complete reconstruction on a better plan will make it possible to keep them free from offence. I found no one in seclusion or restraint. 8 were in bed—3 owing to epilepsy, 1 in the last stage of general paralysis, 1 from ulcer, and 3 from mental symptoms, which seemed to render rest and quiet advisable. I visited the artisans shops, laundry, and kitchen, all of which were in good order, and in all of which patients were employed. Two large working parties are employed in the grounds adjoining and belonging to the new buildings, and one under the gardener in the vegetable garden. I visited all these, and found the laying out of the new gardens and grounds making satisfactory progress.

The first ward of the new Hospital which has been opened now contains 27 patients, and is working satisfactorily, though all the furniture required has not yet been received. The rooms are thoroughly clean and well kept, and arrangements are being made to prepare a second ward for occupation.

December 17th.—I have to-day visited this Hospital, and have inspected all parts of the new Institution occupied by patients. The number on the register is 270—258 males and 12 females, and 1 male is on leave. During the past month, with very considerable labour on the part of the attendants, and no small anxiety and trouble on the part of the Superintendent and officers, the whole of the patients have been removed from the old buildings; 61 males have been received from Cooma, and a considerable number admitted, and during the last few days 12 females were received from Gladesville. The whole of the wards in the male division are now opened and occupied, and the whole staff has been engaged in cleaning and in the multifarious duties connected with the opening of a new Institution, of which those without experience can have very little idea. I found the whole of the wards in fair order, and, considering the condition in which they were left by the contractors, reasonably clean—cleaner in fact than I had expected. It will, however, be a very considerable time before the day rooms and dormitories are in thorough order, and have the homely and comfortable look which should characterise an Institution of this kind. At present the furniture is not yet all provided, numerous accessories are wanting, and the minor ornaments and pictures which are an essential have yet to be supplied. The patients were quiet, and I heard no complaints which had any foundation in real grievances; as usual a few were clamorous for discharge, but in no case did I consider this advisable or safe. The general health was good, but 13 were in bed—2 after epileptic seizures, 2 who were refusing food, and in whom rest was essential, 1 from general paralysis, 1 dying from heart disease, 1 from carbuncle, and 6 with more or less acute symptoms. No one was in seclusion or restraint. The 12 female patients were admitted from Gladesville only a day or two before my visit, and were purposely selected with a view of cleaning the wards and preparing for the number of female patients whom it is proposed to transfer from Gladesville to Callan Park at as early a date as possible. The kitchen, store-rooms and other offices have been taken possession of, and also the laundry, but are not yet in full working order, owing to the want of various minor conveniences and fittings. The large amusement hall is not yet ready for occupation, owing to the want of furniture and to no provision having been made for screening off the furniture to be used at Divine Service. The absolute necessity for this, and also for the seats, &c., has been made the subject of special representations by the Medical Superintendent, and meantime arrangements have been made for holding Divine Service in one of the wards.

Official visitors have not yet been appointed to this Hospital. I am of opinion that such appointments should not be delayed beyond the close of the current year, by which time the number of patients will be nearly 500.

The new hospital was, when handed over by the contractors, nearly ready for occupation, but numerous fittings were found to be required, and there was considerable delay in the supply of the furniture necessary. The buildings will accommodate 766 patients, distributed as follows:—In the main Hospital, 636—318 of each sex; in detached building, containing two wards for special classes of male patients, 90; in cottages, 36; and in gate lodges, &c., 4. A contract for an additional cottage for twelve patients was taken immediately before the close of the year. Arrangements have been made under which this Hospital will in future receive the whole of the new cases of insanity occurring in the Metropolitan District, except such as the friends of patients may prefer sending to other institutions. Gladesville will still remain the receiving Hospital for the South and Coast, and Parramatta for the Western District.

Dr. Blaxland was in sole medical charge of the Hospital throughout the year, and is to be congratulated on being able to report that no serious accident occurred during a particularly anxious and trying time in the history of this Institution.

Hospital for the Insane, Newcastle.

The number of patients on December 31st, 1883, was 246—134 males and 112 females. During the year 1884, 8 patients were admitted direct, and 15 were transferred from other Hospitals, making a total of 269—144 males and 125 females under care and treatment. Of these 2 were discharged relieved, 1 was transferred to Parramatta and 25 died, leaving 241—129 males and 112 females on the register at the close of the year. One female was at the date absent on trial.

The average daily number resident was 242, and the death rate was 10.33 per cent. on this. The death rate has been higher than in any year since 1875, but the Hospital has been free from any epidemic disease, and the chief cause of death, apart from cerebral lesions, has been scrofula in its various forms.

No accident except of the most trivial kind has occurred. The Institution has been managed during the year with care and success. The patients are well clothed and well fed, and great pains are taken to promote their happiness and well being, but the weak points are the want of systematic teaching and the need for a much larger employment in industrial occupations.

The number of inmates under 20 years of age at the close of the year was 148—85 males and 63 females, and 241 out of the total number resident were natives of New South Wales or the neighbouring colonies.

I visited the Hospital on February 17th, April 29th and 30th, July 2nd, October 1st, and December 29th, and the following are copies of my entries in the Inspector's book at two of these visits:—

February 17th and 18th.—I visited this Hospital on both the above days. On the first I found religious service (conducted by the Rev. Mr. Simmons, acting as Deputy for the Church of England Chaplain), in progress, and attended by 68 patients. It was held in one of the dining-rooms, the room usually set apart for this service being under process of alteration and decoration. On the 18th, I went through all the wards both in the male and female division, and found them as usual, clean and in good order. I saw all the patients and found them quiet, free from complaint, and apparently well cared for. In the male division 8, and in the female 2, were in bed, the majority suffering from chronic disease. There was no case of contagious or epidemic disease.

The Hospital contained 242 patients classified as follows:—

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Over 16 years.....	86	77	163
Under do .....	45	34	79
	131	111	242

Since my last visit there have been five deaths, 2 patients have returned from leave, but there have been no admissions. I saw and signed the statutory books which are correctly kept, and spent a considerable time in examining the case books and departmental records which are in good order. From the Medical Journal it appears that there has been no serious accident since my last visit, or indeed during the year 1883, and restraint has only been recently employed in two cases, both by reason of severe sores caused by picking the skin. The form of restraint has been varied, and a sleeved jacket for the most part employed. At the time of my visit only one patient was wearing this. In the official visitor's book I noticed that the visits of the Catholic Chaplain are not regularly recorded. The Superintendent reports that Divine Service is held by this officer at least once a fortnight, and I think it advisable that he should sign his name at each visit, so as to prevent mistakes and misapprehension. Some works are in progress under the Colonial Architect's authority, but a number of important matters still await consideration.

The great want of the Institution at present is rain, the garden is bare, and the supply of vegetables scanty, and although there has been so far no absolute want of water for ordinary use it has been very scarce, and its distribution involves a large amount of labour. It is mainly obtained from the fine well near the Superintendent's quarters, and the supply appears almost inexhaustible, but from this source it can at present only be raised by hand labour, and at this work a number of patients are more or less constantly occupied somewhat to the neglect of other work which has to be postponed to this urgent requirement. I met the visiting Medical Officer at the Hospital and consulted with him as to some of the patients. I found the kitchen range in process of repair, and the kitchen not in such good order as usual. In the stores the articles were all of fair quality except the flour which contained numerous weevils rendering it unfit for use. I saw the patients at dinner which consisted of soup and bread with boiled beef and potatoes for those in good health, and minced meat and vegetables with rice and milk for the feeble and sick.

In all three dining-rooms the dinner, of which the materials were thoroughly good and well cooked, was served with cleanliness and care.

The tailor has now only two boys with him, and I think steps should be taken by the nurse in charge, and by the tailor to teach some of the younger boys to sew, this being an employment at which a considerable number might be advantageously and profitably employed. If they do but little at first, a number of them would soon prove extremely useful, and almost if not quite all the clothing might soon be made on the premises.

December 29th.—I have spent the whole day in a visit of inspection to this Hospital, and in the course of it have seen the day rooms and dormitories, the rooms occupied by nurses and attendants, the kitchen, laundry, stores, and other out-buildings, and have besides visited the artisan shops, the garden and grounds, and all places where patients were employed. The number of patients on the Register is 241—129 males and 112 females, and of these 79—43 males and 36 females are under 16 years of age. The remainder are for the most part adults, but all are children in intellect, the mental weakness being either congenital or having made its appearance in early life. Of the total number 36 males and 40 females suffer from epileptic fits, a considerable number are paralysed and helpless, some are deformed, and a few blind. One patient is on leave of absence.

I saw all in the Hospital taking care to mark off every one from my lists, and spoke to and conversed with all who displayed any degree of intelligence. The general condition of the patients is satisfactory, their persons cleanly, their dress tidy, and their whole appearance indicates that they are well cared for. In the female division this is especially marked, and reflects great credit on the matron and nurses. No complaints of any kind were made to me, and the confidence in, and in many cases the evident affection felt for, the attendants and nurses impressed me most favourably. The general health is good, and only 2 patients were in bed in the female, and 6 in the male division, all suffering from paralysis or from some enfeeblement connected with their mental condition. Unfortunately, ophthalmia made its appearance about three weeks ago, and there are 6 cases in the female and 4 in the male division. These have been isolated as far as possible, and the form of disease is not severe. It appears to be due mainly to the flies, which this year are more than usually troublesome in this as in other parts of the Colony.

Four of the patients were in a mild form of restraint, their hands being fastened in jackets made of light pinafore linen. I enquired into all these cases; one was to prevent the rubbing of the eyes suffering from ophthalmia, another to prevent the eating of grass, dirt, and rubbish, and a third to prevent the irritation of a minor wound. In all I considered the restriction of movement necessary and desirable, and the means adopted seemed to me the best possible under the circumstances. One patient, a strong healthy lad, is precluded from active occupation by a very large inguinal hernia, and the case appears to me to be one in which operative interference is advisable. I found the rooms throughout clean and in good order, though some in the male division require whitewashing and painting. Some of those in the female division are now undergoing painting and renovating, and the Superintendent proposes to undertake the work in those in the male division at an early date. The bedding was in good order, but the pillows in the male division were very hard, and require repicking badly. The kitchen, laundry, and store were in fair order.

I examined various articles of provision supplied by contractors, among others rice, tea, sugar, bread, butter, and potatoes, and found all good in quality and equal to sample.

The patients' dinner consisted of soup, with boiled beef or mutton and potatoes, and for the more feeble minced meat and vegetable, and rice and milk. I saw this served in all three dining-rooms with the most commendable order and care. All the provisions were well cooked. I spent some time in examining the statutory books and the departmental records. The former and also the case books are written up to a recent date, and are correctly kept. I notice from an examination of the Medical Journal that there has been no serious accident, indeed nothing beyond slight bruising in epileptic fits during the last twelve months. From the day reports it appears that yesterday (Sunday) 127 patients attended Divine Service, and to-day I find that 49 males and 27 females are usefully employed. The importance of increasing the number at work has been pressed on the Superintendent on this as during former visits. From the night reports it appears that in the male division 13 are wet and 9 dirty on an average at night, and 14 are wet and 8 dirty in the female division. The night nurse, who I had the opportunity of seeing, is an intelligent active woman, and appears to carry out her duties properly. The works that were in progress at my last visit are approaching completion. The new boundary wall on the eastern side serves to increase the privacy of the Hospital grounds, and the additional dormitories for nurses are a great improvement. Some enlargement of the single-room windows, and the cementing of brick walls in various situations, are much needed, but the great want now is a thorough reorganisation of the system of steam and hot water supply for the laundry, bath-rooms, and other services. The present method of supply is costly and inefficient. The changes since my last visit are as follows:—admission by transfer from Gladsville, 5; admission direct, 3; deaths, 6; discharged to care of friends, 2; transferred to Parramatta, 1.

I saw all the cases recently admitted, and examined them carefully. All are fit subjects for the Institution. The Superintendent reports very favourably of the general staff under his orders.

During the year additional accommodation for nurses, which I mentioned in my last annual report as necessary, has been provided, and the most pressing wants at present are a fuller water supply, which cannot be obtained till the scheme for the city of Newcastle is complete, and a complete re-arrangement of the steam hot water supply for laundry, kitchen, bathing, and other purposes. The present arrangement is unsafe and expensive, and the necessity for a change has been reported by the Inspector of boilers.

Temporary Hospital for the Insane, Cooma.

The number of patients on 31st December, 1883, was 60, and 5 were admitted during the year 1884, making a total of 65 under care. Of these 2 were discharged recovered, 2 died, and 61 were transferred to the Hospital for the Insane at Callan Park during the months of November and December. On the 31st December, 1884, the Hospital contained no patients, and was closed by the authority of the Colonial Secretary.

The average daily number of patients resident was 54. The recoveries, calculated on the admissions, give a percentage of 40 per cent., and the deaths a percentage of 3.70 on the average number resident.

The members of the staff of the Hospital, with the exception of the Superintendent, were removed with the patients to Callan Park.

I visited the Hospital on May 13th and 14th, and the following is a copy of my report:—

May 13th and 14th.—The number of patients in this Institution is now 59, and the following have been the changes since my last visit: admissions, 2; deaths, 2; and discharged, 1. I examined the papers received with the two patients admitted, and found them correct, and I consider the patients fit subjects for the Hospital. The two patients who died had been ailing for a long time, and their deaths were due to chronic disease. The patient discharged had recovered after a long period of absence on trial.

I visited the whole of the rooms occupied by patients, and found them all clean and in excellent order. The bedding was ample, and thoroughly clean, and satisfactory in quality. I saw every patient in the Institution, and gave each one an opportunity of speaking to me and stating any complaint he might wish to make. The only complaint was one of insufficient bread, but there was nothing in the patient's appearance to render it probable that he needed more food, and he could at any time have procured an extra supply by stating his wants to the Superintendent. Several patients expressed a wish for removal to Gladesville, being apparently tired of their present surroundings, and as is usual with some of them, glad of any change of scene. The general aspect of the patients was satisfactory. With few exceptions they are in excellent health, and there is really no one sick or requiring special medical care; their clothing was sufficient, clean, and in good order. There was an entire absence of noise or excitement. No one was in bed, or in either restraint or seclusion, and it appears from the Medical Journal that the former has not been found necessary in any case since my last visit, and the latter only in few and exceptional instances. I visited the laundry, kitchen, stores, and other out-buildings, all of which were in good order. In the laundry a number of patients were employed, and there was also a working party in the wood-yard, and patients in the artisan's shops and various offices.

In the store I examined the bread, cheese, rice, sugar, and various other articles which were all thoroughly good, and I am glad to find that the Superintendent reports very favourably of all the contractors under the new contracts, both as to the quality and regularity of the supplies. The well has not served for the complete supply of the Hospital during the last droughty season, but the quantity yielded by it has been large, and there is reason to believe that in any ordinary seasons it would be ample. I saw the patients at dinner, which consisted of meat pie with potatoes and bread, and at which the service was orderly and comfortable.

The Superintendent reported that the clothing asked for by recent requisitions on the Store Department had not yet been supplied, and that in the need for socks he had taken the proper course of purchasing a supply for immediate needs in the town.

The fabric of the Hospital is in excellent repair, and the wood-work well protected by paint. The only work necessary is some alteration in the main drain, which at present opens on a sandy piece of ground near one of the town streets, and is at times so far offensive that the Municipal authorities have seen reason to complain of it. A letter has been forwarded to the Colonial Architect, suggesting an extension of the drain, and some alteration in the method of opening.

I saw and signed the statutory books, which are properly kept, and I examined all the Departmental records, which are in good order. The day reports show an average of 33 patients usefully employed, and the night reports an average of only 2 wet and 1 dirty.

The Medical Officer met me at the Hospital, and from the official visitor's book I see that his visits, and also that of the chaplains, are paid regularly and with proper frequency.

A second visit of inspection was not paid to the Hospital owing to the removal of the patients. This temporary Hospital was opened in the year 1877 to relieve the extreme overcrowding then existing at Gladesville. The buildings were borrowed from the Department of Prisons, and as the number of single rooms was large, the patients selected for transfer were for the most part suffering from the more violent and demonstrative forms of insanity. The Institution was open for nearly 8 years, and during this period the recoveries calculated on the admissions gave a percentage of 47.36, whilst the death rate was only 2.68 per cent. on the average number resident.

During the whole 8 years no serious accident and no case of suicide occurred. Mechanical restraint was very rarely employed, and during the last 5 years was not resorted to in any single case. The number usefully employed averaged over 50 per cent.

The Hospital was throughout under the Superintendence of Mr. John M'George, to whose ability and care these successful results are largely due. The chief drawbacks in the management of the Hospital were the prison character of the buildings, the high rate of maintenance owing to the prices of provisions and stores, and the very isolated position of the establishment.

The

The transfer of the patients from Cooma to Callan Park, involving a journey by coach of 84 miles, and by rail of about 180, was owing to the excellent arrangements made by Mr. E. M. Betts, the Assistant Superintendent of Gladsville, who undertook this duty at my request, and the courtesy of the Officers of the Railway Department, and Messrs. Topham and Angus, the contractors for the railway extension from Tarago to Bungendore, effected without accident or difficulty.

The following return shows the main statistics of the Hospital from 1877 to 1884 inclusive:—

Licensed House for the Insane, Cook's River.

On 31st December, 1883, the number of patients on the register of this Institution was 146—7 males and 139 females.

During the year 19 patients were admitted for the first time and 7 were transferred from Hospitals, making a total of 172—16 males and 156 females—under care and treatment.

Of these 12 recovered, 1 was discharged relieved, 3 were transferred to Hospitals, 6 died, and 150—7 males and 143 females,—of whom 3 were absent on leave, remained on the register on 31st December, 1884.

The average daily number resident was 148. The recoveries show a percentage of 63.15 on the admissions, and the deaths a percentage of 4.05 on the number resident, both of which must be regarded as very satisfactory. Of the deaths 4 were due to apoplexy or paralysis, 1 to disease of the brain, and 1 to pulmonary disease. There has been no serious or fatal accident. The number of Government patients is the same as at the end of last year—vacancies caused by death having been filled by transfer from other Institutions; but the increase has been in the private patients, who have slowly become more numerous during the last two or three years. The number in the Institution at the close of the year was only three short of the number for which the buildings are licensed.

I paid visits of inspection on 15th February, 21st March, 8th May, 10th June, 8th August, 8th September, 19th November, and 24th December, and the Institution has also been inspected by the official visitors about once in every month.

At my visits I have always seen the patients recently admitted, and examined the papers on which they were received. I have visited all the day-rooms and dormitories, and, as a rule, stayed some time in the room, so as to speak to the patients and give every one who so wished an opportunity of speaking to me and making complaints. On three occasions I have fully investigated complaints made by patients either verbally or in writing, and on one occasion the patient seemed so unhappy and discontented with her surroundings that I thought it advisable to recommend her transfer to another Institution, a change which I regret to say was not followed by any increase of contentment or any diminution in the number of complaints concerning all with whom she was brought in contact. On two occasions I saw the dinner served to the patients; the supply was unstinted, the provisions good in quality, and the service orderly and comfortable. At one of my visits I found that the Church of England chaplain had not visited the Institution for several weeks. The Medical Superintendent explained that the absence was occurred by illness, and undertook to see that if this was prolonged some one else should be asked to undertake the duty.

There has been no change in the buildings or the arrangement for Government patients, and the only changes in the accommodation for private patients have been a rearrangement of the day-rooms and dormitories, so as to allow of a better classification of the inmates. Some of the closets in the division for Government patients require alteration, and the Medical Superintendent has promised that this shall be carried out. The laundry is very hot for the patients employed in it, and needs improving in various ways. At present the proper performance of the laundry work must present considerable difficulties.

It is extremely desirable that hydrants in connection with the Sydney water mains should be placed all round the buildings, and I am of opinion that such an arrangement should precede the renewal of the license, which expires in the course of the present year.

The two following tables give the main statistics of the Institution :—

Observation Ward, H.M. Gaol, Darlinghurst.

The number of persons in this ward on 31st December, 1883, under the provisions of the Lunacy Act was 7, and the number admitted during the year 67, making a total of 74 under care and observation. Of these, 38 were returned to the ordinary wards as of sound mind and fit for prison discipline; 21 were sent to Hospital for the Insane; 2 were discharged to the Police Courts; and 13 remained at the close of the year.

The ward has admirably fulfilled the objects for which it was established, and has enabled the Medical Officer of the Gaol to gauge the mental condition of the prisoners placed in it and to defeat malingering.

In addition to the prisoners placed in it under the provisions of the Lunacy Act, the ward has been used for the accommodation of 5 prisoners awaiting trial at the Supreme or Districts Courts, in whose cases questions as to mental responsibility had arisen, and of 132 under sentence or on remand from Police Courts who displayed some mental peculiarity.

I visited the ward for the purposes of inspection on March 19th, June 27th, September 16th, and November 28th, and on several occasions to see individual prisoners, and have always found it in excellent order, and the treatment of the inmates judicious. The following is a copy of my entry at my last visit.

November 28th.—The number on the register of the ward is 18, and of these 1 was away at the Police Court. At the time of my visit 3 were in Hospital owing to bodily ailments, and the remainder were in the ward. I saw all in the ward and in Hospital, spoke to every one and gave all an opportunity of speaking to me and stating any grievances if they were so disposed. The only complaints made were of unjust conviction and sentence, matters entirely beyond my province. No one was in seclusion, and there was neither excitement nor noise. Of the total number 3 were under remand from the Police Court, one was awaiting trial for murder, and the remainder were serving sentences ranging in length from two months to "life." 3 of the patients were epileptics, and these with some other patients subject to fits, but not mentally affected thereby, are sleeping in an associated dormitory where special arrangements which appear to me satisfactory are made for them. The ward was in excellent order as usual. The records were complete to date, and the entries concerning every patient full and complete, displaying intelligence and special knowledge, and affording all necessary information.

The following return gives the statistics of the ward for the year :—

APPENDIX.

The Medical Superintendent, Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir.

Hospital for the Insane, Gladesville, 28 March, 1885.

I have the honor to forward, for your information, a report upon this Hospital for the year ending 31st December, 1884, accompanied by the usual statistical tables.

At the beginning of the year there were 801 patients in the Hospital. During the year 322—158 men and 164 women—were admitted. The whole number under treatment was 1,123, and the average number resident, 819. There were discharged 277—of whom 125 had recovered, 21 were relieved, 48 were transferred to other Hospitals, 3 escaped, and 80 died. There remained at the close of the year 846—498 being men and 348 women.

The admissions this year were more numerous than in 1883, 15 more being received. This increased number is made up entirely of women, they being 22 more than last year, while the men were 7 fewer. Many more men would, however, have been admitted but for the opening of the new wards at Callan Park and the rearrangement of the districts from which patients are received, giving to Callan Park a larger admission area, and an increased admission list.

The number of patients in the Hospital has steadily increased from 801 to 846, men and women increasing in nearly equal proportion. The wards have consequently for some months been much overcrowded on both sides of the Hospital, with the result that the comfort of the patients has been lessened, and the difficulties of management increased. The opening of Callan Park will afford a much needed relief to the unwholesome condition of matters at this Institution.

The section of the Act which allows requests for admission, to be signed by friends and relatives of the patients, is still being extensively used, a larger number than ever before having this year been received. Of the 322 admissions—160 were by request and 162 by order and transfer warrant.

The recoveries are considerably below the average for the past two or three years, but only slightly below that of the last ten years. The percentage of those discharged recovered, calculated on the admissions, was, for 1884, 39.68; for 1883, it was 44.66; but the average for the last ten years was 40.22. The diminished recovery list is in some degree due to the large number of old people admitted, in whom no improvement can be hoped for, and who only require ordinary care and nursing. The admissions include 29 who were over 50 years of age, 17 over 60, 9 over 70, and 2 over 80 years of age.

Three men escaped, and having remained away for the twenty-eight days allowed by statute, their names were removed from the Hospital books. These patients had greatly improved in mental health, and in two cases their discharge was under consideration.

The percentage of deaths has been somewhat higher than usual. The causes are shown in table 4. Of the total number 40 were due to disease of the brain, 18 to disease of the heart and lungs, 8 to abdominal disease, and the remainder to various causes, among which old age and debility were most prominent. In 38 cases the cause of death was ascertained by post mortem examination. One of the men who died had been upwards of 46 years in Hospital and was the oldest inhabitant.

The system by which leave of absence is granted under the provisions of the Lunacy Act is found each year of increasing value, and is taken advantage of to a large extent. By its means it is possible to give patients, whose mental condition is doubtful, a trial at home, to discharge others somewhat earlier than would otherwise be possible, and to allow those who suffer from periodical attacks of insanity to spend the intervals with their friends, returning to Hospital on the recurrence of their mental illness.

The following table gives the particulars of leave granted during 1884:—

Remaining on leave 31st Dec., 1883.			Number granted leave during year 1884.			Discharged recovered.			Returned to Hospital.			Died whilst on leave.			Remaining on leave 31st Dec., 1884.

There were several accidents to patients during the year. They include a fracture of the leg, one of the forearm, two of the neck of the femur in old people, a fracture of the skull, and a case in which a patient injured his testicles. In two others a fatal result ensued—one by accidental drowning, and one by self-inflicted wound of the throat. Each of these cases formed the subject of careful inquiry, conducted in the two fatal ones by the Coroner, and in the others by myself, a full report being forwarded to you at the time.

I regret to have to record that three members of the Hospital staff died during the year. Robert Colvin, who had for many years past been a valued senior attendant, and in charge of one of the wards, received injuries in the Hospital which resulted in his death. I am glad to be able to state that the Government awarded his widow a liberal sum as some compensation for the loss sustained. John Sinclair, also a senior attendant, died from pleurisy. Uniformly kind and good-natured, and yet strict in the performance of his duties, he is much missed by both patients and attendants, and his place will be very difficult to fill. George Preston, for 3 years gatekeeper at the Hill branch, died from typhoid fever. He was a painstaking, careful attendant, and was thoroughly trusted in his somewhat responsible position.

The fabric of the Hospital has been kept in good repair by the artisans employed on the staff, assisted by the patients working under their charge, and the following additions and improvements have been made under the direction of the Colonial Architect:—A cottage for the night attendants has been built in the grounds, and has been found most useful in allowing those employed at night to secure due rest during the day, which was almost impossible in the main building owing to the noise and bustle of work. It will be advisable to erect a similar cottage for the nurses as soon as possible. A large number of the single rooms, which were found close and insufficiently ventilated, have been improved by large openings into the corridor, which add much to their comfort. Additional closets have been placed in one of the female wards, and some improvements have been made in the laundry and in the hot water supply to some of the wards: the tanks at the Hill branch, which were found to leak, have been relined and provided with ventilating openings. The whole Hospital has been fitted with pipes, lamps, pendants &c., in anticipation of the supply of gas, for which a vote has been passed. The contract for the necessary buildings for gas works was taken at the end of the year. Large numbers of patients have been employed in clearing the reserve, which has lately been fenced, and on which it is proposed to keep cows and supply the Institution with milk, and in enlarging the dam so as to store a larger supply of water for the service of the Hospital.

The question of water supply is becoming every year more serious. Several times the store of water has been on the point of failing, and it has been found necessary to reduce the quantity used below the amount requisite for efficient cleanliness often for weeks at a time. Twice during the past 10 years the water has failed altogether, and great expense has been incurred in procuring a supply from Sydney. The land through which the creek supplying the dam flows is being more built on every year, the water consequently becoming less fit for any but cleansing purposes. The improvements at present being made in the dam will greatly enlarge its area, and by introducing a new settling basin will render the supply better and purer than heretofore. There will still, however, be the constant dread of failure enforcing a need for care in its use, and preventing the expenditure of as large a quantity as is to be desired in an Institution of this nature. The completion of the new waterworks for Sydney and to the extension of the pipes to the Hospital would furnish a solution of the difficulty by supplementing the present supply and preventing the possibility of an entire failure.

The changes in the staff have been more numerous than usual, but this has been due to a difficulty in obtaining competent men as cooks. The vacancies among attendants and nurses have been readily filled up, a sufficient number of suitable applicants being always obtainable.

There have been no changes among the officers.

The following donations to the amusement fund have been received:—From Mr. W. D. Armstrong, £21 (through Dr. Manning); a friend, £12; Mrs. Barton, £5; from various friends, £15, £3 3s., and three sums of £1 1s.; illustrated and other papers have been sent by Mr. J. H. Adger, Mr. T. Salter, Mr. C. E. Riddell, Miss Morehead, the Secretary of the Australian Club, Miss Walker, of Yaralla, Mr. E. O. Smith, Miss Bedford, the Proprietors of the Sydney Morning Herald, Mr. W. Owen, and Mr. Rose; Mr. C. W. Lawson, of Mudgee, kindly sent 7 white and mottled pea-fowls; Mr. Ross, of Gladesville, 2 seagulls; Mr. Moore, a parrot; Dr. Blaxland, a kangaroo; and Mr. G. R. Johnston, 3 white rats. All those donations are very welcome, the papers and animals serving to brighten the wards, and the money being spent for the amusement of the patients.

I have also to thank the Hunter's Hill Private Dramatic Society, the Sydney Amateur Comedy Company, the Redmyre Glee Club, the sailors of H.M.S. "Nelson," and Madame Marius and Miss Eva Thompson, for their kindness in visiting the Hospital and giving entertainments, theatrical and musical. These are much appreciated by the patients, and do great good in promoting their recovery.

Many pleasant afternoons, too, have been spent in listening to the following bands:—The band of H.M.S. "Nelson," of the Concord Public School, the City Band, that from the Training Ship "Vernon," and the Hunter's Hill Band.

I have to thank Dr. Chisholm Ross, and the officers and members of the staff generally, for their most willing and efficient assistance.

I have, &c.,

ERIC SINCLAIR,
Medical Superintendent.

The Medical Superintendent, Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta, to the Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Hospital for the Insane, Parramatta, 10 March, 1885.

I do myself the honor to forward, for your information, a report upon the Hospitals for the Insane at Parramatta, for the year 1884, together with the usual statistical tables.

The number of Patients on the 31st of December, 1883, was 1,000, classified as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	595	349	944
Criminal.....	50	6	56
Total.....	645	355	1,000

The total number Admitted and Re-admitted in 1884 was 89, classified as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	51	9	60
Criminal.....	25	4	29
Total.....	76	13	89

The total number of Patients transferred from other Institutions was 41, classified as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	26	15	41
Criminal.....	.....	.....	.....
Total.....	26	15	41

The total number under Care was 1,130, classified as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	672	373	1,045
Criminal.....	75	10	85
Total.....	747	383	1,130

The total Discharged was 32, as follows:—

	Discharged Recovered.			Discharged Relieved.
	Male.	Female.	Total.	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free.....	21	5	26	.....	2	2
Criminal.....	4	.....	4	.....	.....	.....
Total.....	25	5	30	.....	2	2

The total number of Deaths during the year was 53, classified as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free .....	38	14	52
Criminal .....	1	.....	1
Total .....	39	14	53

The total number of Patients transferred to other Institutions was 31, classified as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free .....	6	2	8
Criminal .....	20	3	23
Total .....	26	5	31

The total number of Patients in the Hospitals on the 31st of December, 1884, was 1,014, distributed as follows:—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Free .....	607	350	957
Criminal .....	50	7	57
Total .....	657	357	1,014

Comparing the above tables with those of the previous year it will be observed that the total number of admissions into the Free Hospital has considerably decreased, being 47 less than in 1883. The total number of patients transferred from other Institutions to this Hospital was 41, as against 150 last year. One patient only was readmitted during the year after having been discharged recovered. The percentage of recoveries on the total number of admissions and readmissions during the year shows little change as compared with 1883, being 44.57 in the latter, and 43.33 in the former, a percentage, 3.33, were considered sufficiently well in mental health to be discharged to the care of their friends. The proportion of deaths calculated on the average number resident during the year was 5.46 per cent., and although still very low was slightly higher than in the previous year.

Diseases of the chest again carried off a large proportion of those patients who died, 13 having succumbed to pulmonary consumption.

One melancholy case of accidental death occurred at the commencement of the year, a full report of which was forwarded to you at the time, together with the result of the inquiry held by the Coroner.

In all the cases of sudden death the Coroner was communicated with, but did not think an inquiry necessary except in one case.

The general health of the patients, both male and female, has remained very good.

In the early part of the year an epidemic of measles of a very mild type threatened to establish itself in the male weatherboard division, but by dint of practising thorough isolation in the case of those infected, and close observation over all the patients in these wards, it was stamped out, after having attacked twelve patients, each one of whom made a complete and rapid recovery.

All the dining and day rooms in the female division of the Hospital have been repainted and decorated very tastefully by patients under the supervision of the artisan attendant. Pictures of various kinds have been hung in them and in some of the dormitories, which add very considerably to their appearance, and render them more cheerful and attractive. No greater contrast could be imagined than that between the buildings occupied by the female patients now and those of two years ago.

There were but few instances in which patients made their escape, and in each case they were returned to the Hospital within a few hours.

The new ward, intended mainly to accommodate convalescent and industrious patients, is fast approaching completion, and I have no doubt will be ready for occupation before many weeks are over.

The bathing arrangements in connection with Nos. 3 and 5 wards are very defective, and it is hoped that ere long an arrangement will be carried out, by which one-half of a small yard in the criminal division will be converted into a bath-room and the other into a dressing-room, which will add very considerably to the convenience and comfort of the patients in those divisions on bathing days.

A bridge which has been built over the river at the back of the Institution has added very materially to the proper carrying out of the different operations on the farm.

A number of the patients have been usefully employed in various occupations, such as in the garden and grounds, laundry, wood-yard, kitchens, stores, farm, &c.

The usual Sunday services have been regularly conducted, both morning and evening, and a great number of the patients derive no inconsiderable amount of benefit from them.

I cannot urge too strongly the necessity of providing some commodious room specially adapted for holding Divine Service and as a recreation hall, the space at disposal at the present time being limited and not at all of the desired kind.

Every attention has been paid to the amusement of the patients, and thanks are due to those lady and gentlemen amateurs who from time to time have volunteered their services in promoting this object.

There

The Medical Superintendent, Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, to The Inspector-General of the Insane.

Sir,

Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, 1 April, 1885.

I do myself the honor to submit for your information a report upon the Hospital for the Insane at Callan Park, accompanied by the usual statistics.

The number of patients remaining in the Hospital on 31st December, 1883, was 150. During the year 147 males and 12 females were received; of these 56 were admitted for the first time, 1 was re-admitted, and the remainder were transferred from other Hospitals, viz., 61 males from the Temporary Hospital at Cooma, 12 females from Gladesville, and 29 males from Parramatta and Gladesville.

The total number of cases under care was 309, and the average number resident 163.

The number discharged during the year was 15, of whom 13 are classed as recovered, and 2 as relieved; 5 were transferred to other Hospitals; 1 escaped, and was not retaken; and 15 died.

The number remaining on the books on 31st December, 1884, was 273, of whom 1 was absent on trial. This number is nearly double that at the same date last year. The patients admitted for the first time were 16.

The patient who was readmitted was removed, strongly against advice, by his wife, who found it necessary to return him to the Hospital in a few days.

The percentage of recoveries on the number admitted during the year was 22.80. The percentage is less than during previous years, and is due in part to the fact that a large proportion of the new cases were received towards the close of the year, and there was not time for recovery.

The deaths numbered 15, showing a percentage of 8.92 on the average number resident. A reference to table 4 shows cerebral disease to have been the chief cause.

No case of accidental or sudden death occurred. There were no serious accidents and no epidemic disease. The general health of the patients was good.

The escapes were not numerous; one patient escaped, and was not recaptured within the time allowed by the Lunacy Act of 1878; he was convalescent at the time of escape, and had been informed that he would be discharged in a few days, but being a foreigner he did not quite understand, and fancied he was to be transferred to another Hospital, to which he had an objection. A second patient escaped a few days before the close of the year, and had not been retaken on 31st December. No blame attached to any one in these cases, as both were allowed considerable liberty within the grounds.

An average of about 4½ per cent. of the patients have been usefully employed about the grounds, in the wards, and in the various artisans shops. The cricket ground has been enlarged, a tennis-lawn formed within the enclosure, and the plantations about it increased. The shrubs have already made good growth and add greatly to its appearance. The wards in the Male Division have been laid out, grassed, and planted with trees, and some progress has been made with the laying out of the east front.

The great feature of the year was the occupation of the new Hospital. One ward was opened on the 1st July, and worked in connection with the old building, and towards the end of the year all the patients were transferred to the new wards, the change being effected in a few days and without any hitch, thanks to the energy and zeal of the officers and attendants.

At first the whole of the cooking had to be done in the old kitchen, the new one not being quite ready; as soon as possible, however, it was put in working order, and so far has given every satisfaction.

As soon as the wards were somewhat settled, 61 male patients were transferred from Cooma. They were sent down in parties of from 12 to 17 at a time. No accident or escape occurred during the transit, which is creditable to the officers and attendants who accompanied them, and who speak in high terms of the courtesy and willing assistance rendered by the police on the journey.

Divine Service was held as usual on Sundays, and was attended by very fair congregations. Mr. Frederick Russell again kindly attended the Church of England services to play the harmonium, and during the winter devoted one night a week to choir practice.

Amusement and change for the patients was promoted as much as possible. Cricket was played daily during the season, and matches on Saturday afternoons. Trips in the steam launch and picnics were organised, and during the winter a number attended the dances at Gladesville through the courtesy of the Medical Superintendent of that Hospital.

I have to express thanks to the Sydney Amateur Dramatic Company and the Gladesville Snowflake Minstrels for giving dramatic entertainments for the amusement of the patients.

The following donations were received during the year, and are acknowledged with thanks:—Mr. David Finlayson, several parcels of illustrated papers; Miss Bedford, 3 cases of magazines; Messrs. Hyde & Sons, a handsome cast-iron garden seat; Mr. W. Deemer, a 20-gallon cask of ale; through Dr. Manning—Mrs. C., £4 4s.; H.M.S. "Lark," two pairs of handsome South Sea Island shells and some native weapons; anonymously, a parcel of magazines.

The staff of attendants has been largely increased, and vacancies have been satisfactorily filled. I have again to thank both officers and attendants for maintaining the discipline of the Institution.

I have, &c.,
H. BLAXLAND,
Medical Superintendent.

To the Honorable the Colonial Secretary,—

Sir, Office of the Aborigines Protection Board, Sydney, 27 April, 1885.

A year having elapsed since we presented to the Government our first Report regarding the condition of the Aborigines, together with certain recommendations made with a view to the amelioration of their condition, we have now the honor to furnish the following information respecting the operations of the Board during the past twelve months, and some particulars regarding the condition of the aborigines, which cannot, we think, fail to be of interest to the Government and the Country generally.

The Census returns which we referred to in our former Report have been again corrected up to a recent date by the police throughout the country, and the following figures will explain the changes which have taken place in the number and condition of the race during the year.

We should explain again that half-castes are taken into account as aborigines when they live with them in camps and under the usual conditions of the life they follow.

There are at the present time 390 aboriginal and half-caste children receiving instruction, chiefly in Public and other Schools.

We were much gratified to receive an intimation from the Department of Public Instruction, dated 3rd December, 1884, to the effect that "The Minister is of opinion that in all localities where a sufficient number of aboriginal children can be grouped together for instruction it would be advisable to establish a school for their benefit exclusively ; but in places where there are only a few such children, there will be no objection offered to their attending the nearest Public School, provided they are habitually clean, decently clad, and that they conduct themselves with propriety both in and out of school."

Any prejudice which may have existed against the admission of aboriginal and half-caste children into the Public Schools will, it is to be hoped, be now entirely removed. We have striven to induce parents to send their children to school, offering every inducement to them to do so, chiefly by providing decent clothing for them and granting a half-ration of food to all who regularly attend.

The results so far are most gratifying : we have received specimens of the children's handwriting, and are informed that they and their parents are proud of their improvement under instruction, and we look forward hopefully to such children being in time reclaimed from the uncivilized and degraded condition in which they have hitherto existed, and taking their place—as they are well fitted by their natural intelligence to do—amongst the industrial classes.

If we can extend these benefits generally to all the young, that alone would amply reward us for the labour we have undertaken.

The following extracts from reports we have received will show further that many of the adult aborigines have been induced by timely aid and advice to engage in pursuits which have afforded them ample means of support for themselves and those dependent upon them.

POLICE REPORTS.

Locality—North-eastern District.

Inspector Harrison reports :—"The aborigines are behaving well, intoxication has decreased, and a great inclination shown to cultivate land. The blacks on Pelican Island and Fattorini Island and Lower Macleay have grown a considerable quantity of maize, and are working most satisfactorily. No complaints have been made against them. Their fishing-net is well cared for, also the boat.

"On the Nulla Nulla Creek ten able-bodied blacks with their families are settled, have built themselves comfortable quarters, and are clearing the Reserve (40 acres). Mr. Toose, Telegraph-master, looks after them. A great improvement in their condition.

"At Rollands Plains and Hastings River some are cultivating, and others are industriously employed.

"At the Manning one full-blood family farm and bring fowl eggs to market ; another takes contracts for clearing, &c., and employs others. There are ten children at school.

"At the Nambuccra they intend to clear and cultivate a portion of the Boura Reserve (20 acres).

"As regards the attendance of children at school, the instructions issued to the school teachers have been so recent, no noticeable effect is perceived.

"Twelve publicans fined within the year for selling liquor to aborigines."

Brewarrina.

Sergeant Steele reports :—"Since the removal of the blacks from the vicinity of the town, there has been less drunkenness. A number of the women who are able to work find employment in the town and go back to camp in the evening. They are now on a reserve about two miles from the town, on the opposite side of the river. The half-caste children require special care." The establishment of an Aboriginal Home would be very desirable in this locality.

The Board hope to be able to take action in this direction.

Jervis Bay.

Sergeant Brayne reports :—"22 half-castes and aboriginals attending school : most of them are quick at learning. Some of them come a distance to school, leave home on Monday, and return on Friday evening. They live in a hut with an old aboriginal couple, who cook the food for them and keep them clean ; they appear eager to learn. Mr. Beetson, Public School Teacher, also Mrs. Beetson, take a great interest in them. Mrs. Beetson gave great assistance in making the clothes for them. The aborigines and half-castes in the district are all very comfortable, none in want of necessaries of life. Most of the young men work and have given up wandering. No drunkenness. Messrs. Dwyer and Pitt, Inspectors of Schools, were surprised at the intelligence of the children when they examined the school."

Narrandera.

Sub-inspector Brennan reports :—"They are exceptionally well treated, and have a splendid reserve (1,280 acres). There is nothing to suggest, as the Board has done all that is possible on their behalf. They are contented and comfortable. They very rarely are under the influence of drink now. A few of the gins do washing and are paid for it. Some seed and farming implements have been supplied."

Whilst the Board have been guided by certain principles and rules in distributing the funds placed at their disposal, they have applied themselves to ascertain the condition of the aborigines, not only when congregated in considerable numbers in camps, but have investigated the cases of individuals requiring aid and dealt with them,

Their

Their wants are various. Some, with the aid of a boat, can support several families by fishing; others inland, with slight assistance, can provide for themselves by cultivating the reserves allotted to them; others, with occasional assistance for children and the infirm, can earn a livelihood on farms and stations.

But little progress has been made in furtherance of the desire of the Board to establish aboriginal homes in different parts of the Colony. One would be of great benefit on the Darling, and another is required on one of the northern rivers—the Clarence or Richmond. When suitable reserves (which have been applied for) are appropriated for the purpose, further action will be promptly taken.

The objects sought to be attained are to provide asylums for the aged and sick, who are dependent on others for help and support; but also, and of at least equal importance, to train and teach the young—to fit them to take their places amongst the rest of the community. The half-caste girls especially deserve consideration. If trained to industrious and civilized habits they would readily find employment in domestic service. The males can always obtain work.

There are many aged, crippled, and sick aborigines throughout the Colony, whose condition is such as to excite the gravest commiseration. In example, the following is an extract from a report received by the Board from the Clarence Heads:—

Four very old aboriginals and a gin have come to Iluka from the Freshwater River.

“King Peter,” about 60 years old, and almost naked, tries to earn something by carrying wood, but the people do not like to see him about their places.

“Old Harry,” about 65 years old, and almost naked, also tries to earn something by carrying wood.

“Cranky Charlie,” about 65 years old, wanders about through the bush, sometimes naked.

“Old Charlie,” about 55 years old, has better clothes than any of the others, and also earns a little by cutting wood.

“Herriette,” or “Emmitte,” a very old gin, has had her back injured, and can scarcely walk about. The other blacks supply her with food.

Under such circumstances common humanity demanded that these poor creatures should be provided with food and clothing, and when practicable, that they should be housed in some aboriginal asylum. The Board have liberally disbursed the funds at their disposal in this direction and for which, so far, Parliament has made sufficient provision.

Several Magistrates and country residents have manifested a great interest in the welfare of the aborigines in their neighbourhood, but we have had mainly to depend upon the agency of the police to carry out our wishes and instructions, and we cannot express too strongly our grateful acknowledgments of the prompt and effective assistance rendered by all the officers with whom we have corresponded; without their valuable aid our operations would have been almost useless.

With this experience, and as the Inspector-General has been able to attend our meetings more regularly than other members, and as he is constantly at hand to give instructions to the Secretary regarding the business of the Department, we unanimously decided upon electing Mr. Fosbery to the position of Chairman of the Board, which he accepted in deference to our wishes, whilst earnestly desiring that another selection should be made.

Permanent arrangements have not yet been finally made for the management of the Mission Stations at Warengesda and Maloga.

Liberal provision was voted by Parliament in aid of the funds of the Aborigines Protection Association in which the control of the Institutions is vested. In accordance with the views of the Premier, the Honorable Alex. Stuart, communicated to the Board by minute dated 25 February, 1884 (vide Appendix A), we have confined our action to a supervision of the proposed expenditure by the Society which is to be provided out of Government grant.

We are desirous of seeing a more definite and responsible system of management of these Stations, though not without misgiving that their cost will be out of proportion to the aid accorded to the aborigines generally.

The selections of the Messrs. Matthews at Maloga (about 781 acres), upon which the Mission Station is built, should be resumed if the Institution is to be continued, as the land is peculiarly well situated for a Station, and suitable for cultivation; without it the Government reserve of 1,800 acres would be comparatively useless.

The selections, however, are valued by the owners at between three and four thousand pounds. The huts and other buildings on the Station require to be replaced, as they are dilapidated and uninhabitable.

The Department of Public Instruction provides a school-teacher at each Station. In addition to which the Association proposes to appoint a general superintendent and matron, also an overseer of works, who should be competent to instruct and supervise in several trades, such as rough carpentry, blacksmith's work, fencing, and ploughing.

The necessary buildings, together with the equipment of tools, implements, stock, and vehicles, will however cost a considerable sum, exceeding the amount available on the vote.

It will be seen from the annexed statement (Appendix B) that the Board have expended in the various districts, in the supply of rations, clothing, work done, &c., for the tribes, as well as clothing supplied from the Government Stores, for forty-one males, forty-nine females, and fifty-one children at Grafton, and twenty-five males and twenty-five females on the M'Intyre River, £2,417 13s. 6d. The Board has also paid to the Aborigines Protection Association, for the maintenance of and supplies for the Warangesda and Maloga Stations, £750; salary of Secretary, £200; house rent, £58; total, £3,425 13s. 6d.

APPENDIX A.

Minute by Colonial Secretary upon Aboriginal Mission Stations.

In a letter from the Secretary to the Aborigines Protectorate to the Principal Under Secretary, dated 22nd ultimo, it is stated that before the Board can make any report on the application made by Mr. Matthews at Maloga for Government aid, it will be necessary that the positions of the Mission Stations should be clearly defined, as to their relation to the Government or the Board.

The position may be defined as follows :—

1. I have laid it down as a principle (see my minute of 5/2/83, appointing the Board) that, in administering the funds voted by Parliament for the aborigines, advantage should be taken of any movement dictated or impelled by the benevolent or religious instincts of persons working for the benefit of these people. I also stated that one of the main objects of the Protection Board should be to supplement the funds raised by private benevolence and expended by voluntary Associations.
2. I would prefer the Government aid passing through the Protectorate, and have only given it hitherto direct to the Society in fulfilment of engagements made before the appointment of the Board.
3. I consider that the Society for the Protection of the Aborigines is the best channel through which to pass the money aid. The object of that Society is to raise funds voluntarily and distribute to the two Missions, and it seems to me that these funds are those which should be supplemented.
4. While I consider this a better way of distributing the aid than by giving it as a direct payment from the Government to these Institutions, I consider it most desirable that the Protectorate should have a watchful inspection of and control over them—care being taken, while not interfering with their religious aspects, that the physical welfare of the aborigines is cared for, in accordance with general principles approved of for their benefit.

5. I have considered it necessary that additional lands should be set aside, so as to make these settlements to some larger extent than heretofore self-supporting, and I understand that these are being fenced in by the Mission Station's labour.
6. I do not consider it desirable that any portions should continue to be private property, and have intimated to Mr. Matthews that the land heretofore held by him and his relatives as mineral conditional purchase or otherwise should form part of the public estate of the Mission Stations, for it is obvious that the Government or the Board might lose all control over them.
7. I consider that, by applying that tact and wisdom in their administration which the members of the Board possess, which will enable them to wisely discriminate between insisting upon the application of such general principles as will insure care for the physical condition of the people and interference with the religious and moral training they may receive, much good will be accomplished.

(SECOND SESSION.)

NEW SOUTH WALES.

GOVERNMENT ASYLUMS FOR THE INFIRM AND DESTITUTE.

(REPORT FOR 1884.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Manager of the Government Asylums to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 31 August, 1885.

I have the honor to transmit the usual returns in connection with the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute for the past year, and for the information of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary it is my duty to report.—

1st. The statistics of the Macquarie-street Asylum at Parramatta, formerly known as the Brysipelas Hospital, have hitherto been kept separate from those of the other Asylums, but these returns include them, as the Hospital has gradually merged into an Asylum for the Infirm and Destitute, although the wards for infectious cases are still maintained, and are very largely used for cases which are refused admission to the Sydney Hospital. It is, as I have reported before, satisfactory to know that there is one Hospital whose doors are open to cases of all kinds of disease.

2nd. The applications for admission, amounting to 3,387, largely exceeded those of former years. Of these 331 were from the out-lying parts of the Colony, 69 were new arrivals, principally immigrants, suffering from phthisical diseases, 186 were recommended by the Inspector of Public Charities from his office, for the admission of hospital cases as, in his opinion, more fit for the Asylums than for the Sydney Hospitals.

Of the 3,387 applicants 2,911 were admitted, showing an increase in the number of admissions of 147 of those of the previous year.

The effect of the admission of so large a number of invalids, who, although desirous of being treated in the Sydney, Prince Alfred, or Little Bay Hospitals, were compelled to content themselves with the shelter of the Government Asylums, has been to crowd the Hospital wards of the Asylums with patients for whose reception and treatment the Asylums were never intended. These admissions could not be refused without serious consequences to the invalids; but it was very apparent that the Asylum's accommodation was not so suitable for their care as that of the Hospitals where proper appliances and trained nurses were obtainable.

The Asylum hospital wards are largely and properly used by the invalids among the infirm and destitute, but when their numbers are supplemented by cases other than chronic much inconvenience must occur.

A Lock Ward was opened at the Macquarie-street Asylum to relieve the Sydney Hospitals, but the patients were found to be of a class so difficult to control that it was given up as impracticable.

One effect of the conversion of the Asylums in such a large measure into Hospitals has been to increase the expenditure for medicines and medical appliances, and this is particularly applicable at the Parramatta Asylums. Although much inconvenience is experienced by the admission of unsuitable cases to the Asylums, it is quite apparent that it is a considerable saving to the Public Revenue, as the paupers are maintained, with such treatment as the Asylum can afford, at a very low rate compared with that charged by the Hospitals.

These remarks are intended to show that the Asylums having gradually become, in a large degree, Convalescent Hospitals, are now Institutions where cases requiring active treatment are frequently admitted.

The daily average number of the inmates of the four Asylums was 1,683, or 85 in excess of the previous year. This increase may be easily accounted for by the increased facilities offered by the Railway extensions and by the forced admission, as above stated, of Hospital patients.

The 69 new arrivals, alluded to in the first paragraph, had evidently sought to recruit their health in this climate; these cases were so frequently brought under my notice that I felt it my duty to report a case in point to the Government, with a view of showing that immigrants were not subjected to proper medical examination before leaving England, as almost immediately on their arrival some were forced, by want of means and inability to work, to seek the shelter of the Asylums.

The total expenditure for the year was £25,074, or £14 17s. 11d. per head; as compared with the previous year a slight saving of 3s. 3½d. per head was effected. On examination of these returns it will be found that the travelling expenses have been largely increased. In 1874 the travelling expenses amounted to £132 4s. 11d., or 2s. 3d. per head on the daily average of inmates; in 1884 they reached £339 8s. 9d., or 9s. 11½d. per head. The transport of such a large number of paupers from the far out-lying districts to the Central Asylums causes a large expenditure, over which there is little control. This considerable increase under only one heading seriously affects the total average rate as compared with former years.

The Hyde Park Asylum has been overcrowded during the whole year, and during the winter months the inmates were much inconvenienced. No serious illness occurred in consequence, and this must no doubt be attributed to the strict attention to proper sanitary rules, and the constant efforts on the part of the officers of the Institution to the welfare of the inmates. When it is known that 310 inmates, many of whom were afflicted with grievous diseases, have been crowded into an Asylum capable of accommodating only 250, the question arises as to the continuance of such a state of things. The erection of the new Asylum at Newington has been looked for as the relief required, and, although it has not yet arrived at completion it cannot be long before the old women will be moved to more capacious quarters. The Asylum has been carried on as usual. There has been no serious illness; indeed, it is satisfactory to be able to state that there has not been one case of typhoid fever among the inmates of any of the Government Asylums, and this at a time when this disease was very prevalent in the city and suburbs. The percentage of deaths has been slightly heavier during the year 1884 than the previous year, but the average age at time of death has been higher.

The Liverpool Asylum has maintained its good name. The arrangements are very suitable for the purposes of the Asylums, and there is little more to be said than that it is a first class Asylum, and is managed by Dr. W. E. Strong, with the assistance of Mrs. Burnside, in a most satisfactory manner.

The George-street Asylum, Parramatta, is gradually becoming a large institution. The extra accommodation afforded by the new premises known as the Tweed Mill has served to prevent overcrowding at the other asylums. The number sheltered last year was 351, as compared with 280 in 1883. A large detached hospital ward has been completed, and affords very suitable accommodation to the large number of invalids.

The Macquarie-street Asylum, Parramatta, has been continued as formerly,—an Hospital for the reception and treatment of infectious cases, both male and female, and as an Asylum for the infirm and destitute. The average expenditure per head is considerably influenced by the large number of hospital cases requiring special treatment. The treatment of eye diseases, for which a special surgeon is appointed, is most unsatisfactory, and must continue to be so until an hospital specially adapted for the treating of persons suffering from ophthalmic and other eye diseases can be opened. I understand that this matter is now under consideration, and I trust it will, in the interests of the old people, be speedily acted upon.

The Asylums have been particularly free from any epidemic. There are constantly 500 inmates in the Hospital wards, but no sickness has been attributed to defective sanitary arrangements.

There has been no change in the staff, and I am gratified to report that all the officials have co-operated with me in a most zealous manner in maintaining cleanliness, discipline, and order.

I have, &c.,

STATE CHILDREN RELIEF ACT OF 1881.
(REGULATION UNDER.)

Presented to Parliament pursuant to Act 44 Vic. No. 24, sec. 6.

---

Colonial Secretary's Office,

Sydney, 17th September, 1885.

HIS Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to make, under section 6 of the "State Children Relief Act of 1881," the following Regulation providing for the placing of State children in Cottage Homes established by public or private charity.

ALEX. STUART.

CHILDREN may be placed in Cottage Homes established by public or private charity, subject to the consent and under the responsible control of the proprietors of such homes, provided that the homes shall be open to the inspection of the Board or their officers at any time, and that the children may be forthwith removed if such a proceeding is considered necessary. The official known as the "Mother of the Home" for the time being shall be the licensed guardian of the children, for whose regular attendance at school, church, and Sunday school (when practicable), and religious and moral training generally, she shall be responsible, as in the case of ordinary foster parents; and such Mother shall further be liable to all penalties that may be imposed under Act 44 Vic. No. 24 and the Regulations made in accordance therewith upon foster parents who neglect or ill-treat their foster children, or otherwise fail to carry out the terms of their agreement as guardians under the Board.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

SOUDAN EXPEDITION CONTINGENT.

(CORRESPONDENCE RESPECTING RETURN OF.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 8 September, 1885.

Telegram from Agent-General to Acting Colonial Secretary.

London, 12 May, 1885.

LORD Hartington desires me to say that the aspect of affairs being now peaceful he thinks it would be unfair, after the good services rendered by the Contingent, to keep it a moment longer than necessary in such climate as that of the Soudan after active operations have ceased, and suggests whether the time has not arrived for your Government to consider the subject of the disposal of the force. Instruct.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Agent-General.

Sydney, 13 May, 1885.

THIS morning we sent you a cablegram on the subject of your message just received, which we have arrested. We are prepared to bring Contingent home by Orient steamer leaving London 20th instant and calling at Suakim on 5th of June, or if disengaged troopships are at Suakim we will charter one of them for immediate transport. If this meets wishes of Imperial Government and does not disturb their plans, inform us at once, so that we may complete arrangements either here with the Orient Company or at Suakim. We desire you on the part of the Colony to thank Imperial Government for the honors conferred upon our troops, and to say that though the men are no longer required for the service of the Empire, the spirit which animated the Country in despatching them is strengthened by the generous way in which the services of the men have been recognized by England.

Telegram from Agent-General to Acting Colonial Secretary.

London, 13 May, 1885.

CONFIDENTIAL. Believe Government would bring portion of Contingent here as compliment, if agreeable to you.

Telegram from Colonel Richardson to Acting Colonial Secretary.

Suakim, 13 May, 1885.

EXPECT embark shortly Sydney, no reply to cablegrams re disposal horses.

Telegram from Agent-General to Acting Colonial Secretary.

London, 14 May, 1885.

ADMIRALTY will undertake transport our Contingent from Suakim to Sydney at entire cost of Imperial Government, to embark at once. If you approve, I suggest you authorize me to arrange with War Office to take horses at a valuation, quantity of surplus Martini ammunition at Suakim which can be obtained and sent in same ship if you desire. Reply quickly.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Agent-General.

Sydney, 14 May, 1885.

WE are grateful for suggested destination, but would prefer direct return of Contingent for which we are now engaged in making arrangements. We await reply to message of yesterday.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Colonel Richardson.

Sydney, 14 May, 1885.

VERY urgent. In communication with Imperial Government and with Orient Company about your return home. Ascertain whether Indian Government will purchase horses, and at what price. Blanchard will arrange for disposal of stores and forage. Reply at once.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Agent-General.

Sydney, 15 May, 1885.

CONVEY to Imperial Government the hearty thanks of the Colonists of New South Wales for their generous offer, which we accept with gratitude. Hand over the horses to War Office as a gift from the Colony. Make immediate arrangements. Inform me at once of the date of departure of Contingent.

Telegram from Agent-General to Acting Colonial Secretary.

London, 15 May, 1885.

HAVE seen War Office and Admiralty. Contingent will embark in transport "Arab," now ready Suakim. I will report when sailed. War Office present to Colony 9-pounder field battery used by Contingent with ammunition to go in same vessel, and request me to convey to you thanks for horses.

Telegram from Agent-General to Acting Colonial Secretary.

London, 15 May, 1885.

LORD Wolseley suggests to Imperial Government that he should send about eighty men of our Contingent to England for short visit, and then send them home. Please say quickly if you concur in this.

Telegram from Colonel Richardson to Acting Colonial Secretary.

Suakim, 15 May, 1885.

SUGGEST acknowledgments be wired General Graham and staff, General Fremantle and staff, Colonel Nicholson, R. E., Surgeon-General Barrett, for consideration and kindness shown Contingent. Self on board "Ganges" for couple days' rest, otherwise well. Leave in "Arab" at once.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Agent-General.

Sydney, 16 May, 1885.

THANKFUL for the courtesy of Lord Wolseley's suggestion to send selected men to England, but this Colony would prefer the return of the whole Force at the same time and by the same vessel.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Colonel Richardson.

Sydney, 16 May, 1885.

HEARTY congratulations to you. We shall all be delighted to see you back again. * * * * * Shall do what you desire as to acknowledgments of services rendered to you. Cable me at once exact time of departure.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Agent-General.

Sydney, 16 May, 1885.

SEND earliest intelligence of departure of Contingent from Suakim and express our hearty thanks to Imperial Government for presentation of 9-pound field battery. The Colony is deeply sensible of and grateful for the marks of Imperial favour bestowed upon our soldiers. Colonel Richardson has requested me to convey to General Graham and staff, General Fremantle, Colonel Nicholson, R. E., and Surgeon-General Barrett, the thanks of the Colony for the constant care and distinguished consideration shown to the Contingent from the moment of its arrival. Will you, through the Secretary for the Colonies, express the deep gratitude of the Government and people of this Country to those Imperial Officers for their sympathy and assistance.

Telegram from Colonel Richardson to Acting Colonial Secretary.

Suakim, 16 May, 1885.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

SOUDAN EXPEDITION CONTINGENT.

(FURTHER EMPLOYMENT OF, IN INDIA OR ELSEWHERE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 8 September, 1885.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Agent-General.

Sydney, 23 April, 1885.

ASCERTAIN from War Office what will be destination and employment of Contingent if Imperial troops are withdrawn from Egypt. Telegraph fully and at once.

Telegram from Acting Colonial Secretary to Colonel Richardson.

Sydney, 23 April, 1885.

CONFIDENTIAL.—If Soudan evacuated, ascertain what your movements will be and inform me at once. What about Contingent serving in India, if deemed necessary by Imperial authorities?

Telegram from Colonel Richardson to Acting Colonial Secretary.

Suakim, 23 April, 1885.

NOTHING yet known by authorities about our destination. Consulted officers re India; majority opinion present service practically concluded with present war, therefore Contingent should volunteer afresh; think with few exceptions would do so. Officers think their status with Imperial officers should be defined; in justice to families, they should not be called upon incur risk ruining health by fresh obligations unless retiring allowances are granted as Imperial service; most would volunteer any case. Infantry moves forward Otao morrow.

Telegram from Agent-General to Acting Colonial Secretary.

London, 24 April, 1885.

CONFIDENTIAL. Have again seen Lords Derby and Hartington. Am to inform you that it is impossible to state at present the destination of the troops now at Suakim. A portion will remain at Suakim, but it is not probable that active operations there will be resumed; the remainder may either proceed to India, to take the place of troops moved to the front, or they may be withdrawn to Egypt or to the Mediterranean, to be available for any service for which they may be required. As it is not probable that they will be called on for immediate active service in Africa, and as the Colonial Contingent may be required for the defence of their own Colony, Her Majesty's Government will, under the altered circumstances, be guided by the wishes of your Government. Reply. Position regard to war unchanged.

Minute of the Acting Colonial Secretary.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 27 April, 1885.

"MINUTE of the Acting Colonial Secretary, for the consideration of the Cabinet in re employment of Contingent:—

"I desire to submit to my colleagues for their immediate determination a matter which seems to me, under existing circumstances, one of an urgent character. As far as can be ascertained, it would appear to be a part of the policy of the Imperial Government to withdraw immediately all English troops from the Soudan. As soon as I became aware of this intention I sought for information as to whether any suggestions had been made concerning the movements of the troops so withdrawn in connection with our Contingent. As will be perceived from the telegram from the Agent-General just received by me, which I now submit to the Cabinet, the information given is of a somewhat vague and unsatisfactory character. Lord Derby and Lord Hartington, with both of whom the Agent-General had an interview, were unable to state precisely the destination of the troops now at Suakim and its neighbourhood. It was intimated that some would probably remain there, though it was improbable that any active operations would be resumed; that the remainder might either proceed to India to take the place of troops moved to the front, or might be withdrawn to Egypt or the Mediterranean in readiness readiness for any military service for which they might be required. Their Lordships further intimated that if the Contingent was needed for the defence of the Colony, Her Majesty's Government would under the altered circumstances of our situation be guided by the wishes of the Colony. I now submit for the consideration of my colleagues the expediency of at once despatching a telegram to the Imperial Government, intimating that, as there is no probability of the military employment of the Contingent in Egypt, for which its services were offered and for which it was enrolled, the Government of New South Wales would approve, if the Contingent volunteered for service, of its employment if necessary in India, and of its maintenance there by the Colony on the same terms as in Egypt; and the same might be said of its occupation for military service of any place in the Mediterranean. It seems to me that only in this way can we render effective the assistance which we endeavoured to furnish to the Imperial Government. The limitation of the sphere of action of the Contingent to the Soudan was only made because it was supposed that at that place we could most promptly and effectively aid the Empire. Our purpose was to assist the arms of England wherever our help was needed. The evacuation of the Soudan by Imperial troops renders the presence of our Contingent there unnecessary; but it is manifest that if our aid were ever necessary its necessity is not now diminished, but on the contrary, from the alarming news received each day, England is menaced with heavier engagements and larger perils. It is not to be thought of that, by reason of a change of military policy, probably essential to the safety of the Empire, which abandons a particular position, that our relation to the Empire is in any way changed. Wherever our Contingent can be useful it should be available for the Mother-country. This was clearly our intention in organizing it and despatching it; and it was clearly also the view taken by Parliament when it endorsed our action. It is unnecessary to advert to the way in which our conduct in this respect was appreciated and approved all over the world. It seems to me that it is simply impossible for us, because of the evacuation of the Soudan, to call back the troops which we have offered for the help of England. It would be unfair to the soldiers themselves, to the reputation of this country, whose action has been the subject of universal praise and of the gratitude of the Empire. It may be said that the men are required for the defence of this country. But, as a matter of fact, we have since their departure not only brought up our defence to the state in which it was when they left our shores, but we have at the present moment a very much larger force than we ever before possessed, while the Imperial Government has within the last fortnight made extraordinary provision, at enormous cost, for our protection. In the matter of the external defence of our coast and commerce an immense outlay has been undertaken by the Naval Commander-in-Chief of this station. Under all these circumstances, I invite my colleagues to authorize me to adopt the course which I have suggested we should pursue. If this is approved of, I shall also despatch a telegram to Colonel Richardson informing him that if the Contingent volunteers for service in India or elsewhere, the Colony will maintain its members as it has undertaken to do in Egypt, requesting him to communicate with the General on this subject, and intimating that such members of the Contingent as desire to return here will be brought back at the expense of the Colony.

WILLIAM BEDE DALLEY,
Acting Colonial Secretary.

Cabinet approves. Let the accompanying cablegrams be sent at once.—W.B.D.

As no probability of military employment of Contingent in Egypt, for which their services were enrolled, this Government will approve, if Contingent volunteers for the service, of their employment, if necessary, in India, and of their maintenance there by this Colony on the same terms as in Egypt. Same may be said of occupation of any place for service in the Mediterranean. Have cabled to Colonel Richardson as to volunteering of Contingent. Reply at once.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

VOLUNTEER FORCE REGULATION ACT OF 1867.
(AMENDED REGULATIONS UNDER.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 5, sec. 50.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 16th June, 1885.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to make the following amended Regulations, Nos. 4, 6, 9, 24, 25, 26, 27, 38, 46, and 105, under the Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867.

ALEX. STUART.

REGULATIONS.

CONSTITUTION.

4. The Volunteer Military Force shall consist of the following arms:—

Cavalry,
Artillery,
Engineer,
Torpedo,
Mounted Infantry or Rifles,
Infantry,

which may be formed into Corps partially paid for services rendered, and into Reserve Corps or portions thereof serving gratuitously, which shall be connected by a regimental organization with such partially-paid Corps; but Corps formed under the system of partial-payment may be supplemented as to numbers by the affiliation to them, or to any portion of them, of a reserve serving gratuitously.

* * * * *

PRECEDENCE.

6. The different arms of the Volunteer Military Force rank in the following order, viz. :—

Cavalry,
Artillery,
Engineer,
Torpedo,
Mounted Infantry or Rifles,
Infantry.

* * * * *

9. Officers of the Force rank with Officers of Her Majesty's Regular and Militia Forces within the territory of New South Wales and its dependencies as the juniors of their respective ranks, and with the Officers of the Permanent Forces of the Colony according to dates of commissions; but Officers of the Reserve Force shall in all cases rank with the rest of the Forces as juniors of their respective ranks.

* * * * *

COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

24. All candidates for first commissions must produce a certificate of having passed the Civil Service Examination of the Colony, or an examination of a higher degree; exceptions, however, may be made on the recommendation of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, subject to the approval of the Governor, in the Country Corps where it is frequently found that persons are candidates for commissions, who, although holding responsible positions, may not have passed the Civil Service Examination; and for commissions in the Reserve Corps the educational qualification necessary should, if possible, be as high as that of the Civil Service Examination, and must be such as in the opinion of the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force is sufficient to entitle the applicant to appointment, which may be made upon recommendation of that Officer, subject to approval of the Governor, and except in the case of persons possessing special military experience, will not be eligible for appointment as Subalterns if over thirty years of age in the Volunteer Force, and thirty-five in the Reserve, or as Captains or Field Officers if over forty in the Volunteer Force, and fifty in the Reserve.

25. Subalterns appointed direct must, within one year from the date of appointment, present themselves for examination; and candidates for commission from the ranks must, prior to appointment, pass an examination before a Board of Officers in the undermentioned subjects:—

CAVALRY AND MOUNTED INFANTRY OR RIFLES.

- (a.) Drilling a Troop or Company in the prescribed evolutions, including dismounted service.
- (b.) Riding.
- (c.) Sword exercise, as also carbine or short rifle drill.
- (d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

ARTILLERY CORPS.

- (a.) Company drill in close order.
- (b.) Duties of guards.
- (c.) Carbine or rifle exercises, and drill of one description of gun used by the Corps.
- (d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

ENGINEER CORPS.

- (a.) Company drill in close order.
- (b.) Duties of guards.
- (c.) Rifle exercises.
- (d.) Military engineering (Sapper's Manual):—
  1. Hasty defences.
  2. Defence of posts. Field-works.
  3. Throwing up earth-works.
  4. Revetting materials.
  5. Revetments.
- (e.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

TORPEDO CORPS.

- (a.) Company drill in close order.
- (b.) Duties of guards.
- (c.) Rifle exercises.
- (d.) Signalling—flags, lights, electric telegraph, &c., &c.
- (e.) Electricity in connection with submarine warfare, and how applied—batteries required, how constructed, and kind generally used.

Magneto-electricity for exploding submarine mines.
Galvanometers.

- (f.) Torpedoes—electro, contact mines, ground mines, mechanical mines, circuit closers—how arranged and exploded.

Aggressive Torpedoes—Harvey's, Whitehead's, outrigger for boats.

Fuzes and detonators—how constructed and applied—charges: powder, gun-cotton, dynamite, and lithofracteur—relative values.

Cases—sizes of cases for certain quantities of explosives and for different depths.

Firing by observation, and cross-bearings by shutter apparatus.

Testing table.

Cables for submarine mines.

Testing the same.

- (g.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

Examination for the rank of Captain and Field Officer will be of a more extended nature in the above subjects than is required of Subalterns, with the addition of—

- (a.) Battalion drill in close order, and proper mode of route marching.
- (b.) Standing Orders of the Force.

INFANTRY CORPS.

- (a.) Squad and Company Drills.
- (b.) Duties of guards and outposts.
- (c.) Rifle exercises.
- (d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

26. Captains appointed direct must within one year from date of appointment present themselves for examination, and Subalterns, prior to promotions to the rank of Captain, must pass an examination before a Board of Officers in the under-mentioned subjects:—

CAVALRY AND MOUNTED INFANTRY OR RIFLES.

- (a.) Drilling a Troop or Company in the prescribed evolutions, including dismounted service.
- (b.) Riding.
- (c.) Sword exercise, as also carbine or short rifle drill.
- (d.) Formation of advanced and rear guards, and reconnoitring an enemy.
- (e.) Aiming drill, and orders at the firing point.
- (f.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

ARTILLERY CORPS.

- (a.) Company drill and command of a Company in battalion in close order.
- (b.) Duties of guards.
- (c.) Service of description of ordnance worked by the special branch of the Corps to which they belong.
- (d.) Exercise with or without machines with the same guns.
- (e.) General knowledge of the ordnance served by the special branch of the Corps to which they belong, as regards ammunition, stores, and carriages, care of magazines and shell-rooms, flight of projectiles, ranges, and penetration.
- (f.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Force.

ENGINEER CORPS.

In addition to the subjects specified in examination for Subalterns:—

- (a.) General knowledge of battalion drill and proper mode of route marching.

(b.) Military engineering:—

1. Defflade and obstacles, &c.
2. Batteries.
3. Execution of the work in connection with throwing up earthworks.
4. Detail of batteries.
5. Field kitchen. Boring and levelling. From instruction.
6. Trenches. From instruction.

(c.) Standing Orders of the Force.

Examination for rank of Field Officer will be of a more extended nature in the above subjects than is required of Subalterns and Captains.

INFANTRY CORPS.

- (a.) Company drill and command of a Company in battalion.
- (b.) Duties of guards and outposts, and proper mode of route marching.
- (c.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Force.

27. Field Officers appointed direct must, within one year from date of appointment, present themselves for examination; and Captains, prior to promotion to the rank of Field Officer, must pass an examination before a Board of Officers in the undermentioned subjects:—

CAVALRY AND MOUNTED INFANTRY OR RIFLES.

- (a.) Evolutions of a Regiment of Cavalry, the examination being as far as possible practical in the field.
- (b, c, and d.) As laid down for Captains, unless the Officer has already passed in these subjects.
- (e.) Volunteer Act and Regulations.

ARTILLERY CORPS.

- (a.) Battalion drill in close order, and the command of a battalion in brigade.
- (b.) Duties of guards and proper mode of route marching.
- (c.) Drill of guns in use in the Corps, and exercise with or without machines with the same.
- (d.) General knowledge of the ordnance used by the Corps—ammunition, stores, carriages, &c., care of magazines, shell-rooms, flight of projectiles, ranges, and penetration.
- (e.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Force.
- (f.) Riding.

INFANTRY CORPS.

- (a.) Battalion drill.
- (b.) Knowledge of movements of battalion in brigade—field manoeuvres and tactics.
- (c.) Duties of guards and outposts, proper mode of route marching.
- (d.) Volunteer Act and Regulations and Standing Orders of the Force.
- (e.) Riding.

They must further be in all respects eligible to take command of the Corps or Regiment in the absence of the Commanding Officer.

All Officers will be expected to be practically acquainted with the exercises in which they have been theoretically examined.

* * * * *

MEMBERS.

38. No person below the age of eighteen, or above the age of forty years, is to be enrolled as a Volunteer in any Corps except the Reserve, in which the maximum limit shall be fifty years.

* * * * *

46. The normal standard height for Volunteers is 5 feet 6 inches for Cavalry, Mounted Infantry or Rifles, Infantry, Engineer, and Torpedo Corps, and 5 feet 7 inches for Artillery. But it shall be competent for the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force, when he deems it desirable, to reduce the standard to 5 feet 4 inches for Cavalry, Mounted Infantry or Rifles, Infantry, Engineer, and Torpedo Corps, and to 5 feet 6 inches for Artillery.

* * * * *

DRILL, TRAINING, EXERCISE, AND EFFICIENCY.

105. No Officer or Volunteer under the system of partial payment shall, except as noted in paragraph 23, be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st January of any year unless during the previous year he has fulfilled the requirements hereunder specified: provided that Field Officers of the regimental staff will not be prejudiced as regards efficiency for non-attendance at night drills; but it is required that a general superintendence and occasional presence at such drills shall be given by them.

- (a.) Continuous training and exercise for six days at Easter or other convenient time, and at such place as the Governor may appoint.
- (b.) Twelve daylight attendances (including Annual Inspection) out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (c.) Twelve night attendances out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (d.) Shot practice for Artillery Volunteers—Attendance at two lectures in the case of Volunteers of the Engineer and Torpedo Corps, and a course of Musketry for Cavalry, Mounted Infantry or Rifles, and Infantry Volunteers will be required annually, or less frequently when found necessary, for which attendance as follows will be allowed:—
Shot practice—Two attendances under sub-section (c).
Lectures—Two attendances under sub-section (c).
Musketry—Three attendances under sub-section (c) for Volunteers who may qualify for first class.
Two attendances under sub-section (c) for Volunteers who may qualify for second class.
- (e.) If absent from Annual Inspection, with leave of the Commanding Officer, or through sickness duly certified, one attendance will be required in addition to those enumerated in (b).

No Officer or Volunteer of the Reserve shall, except as notified in paragraph 23, be entitled to classify as an efficient on the 1st of January of any year unless during the previous year he has fulfilled the requirements hereunder specified.

- (a.) Eight daylight attendances (including Annual Inspection) out of twelve ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (b.) Twelve night attendances out of sixteen ordered for training, exercise, and instruction, at such times and places in any part of the district to which his Corps or Regiment belongs, as the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force may appoint.
- (c.) Shot practice for Artillery Volunteers—Attendance at one lecture in the case of Volunteers of the Engineer and Torpedo Corps will be required annually, and a course of Musketry for Cavalry, Mounted Infantry or Rifles, and Infantry Volunteers will be required biennially for which attendances as follows will be allowed:—

Shot practice—Two attendances under sub-section (b).

Lecture—One attendance under sub-section (b).

Musketry—Three attendances under sub-section (b) for Volunteers who may qualify for 1st class.
Two attendances under sub-section (b) for Volunteers who may qualify for 2nd class.

- (d.) If absent from Annual Inspection, with leave of the Commanding Officer, or through sickness duly certified, one attendance will be required in addition to those enumerated in (a).

Nevertheless the Officer Commanding Volunteer Force shall have power to direct any Volunteer to be classed as a non-efficient for want of proficiency, whether in drill, musketry instruction, or a knowledge of the special duties of his position.

IMPORTED STOCK ACT OF 1871, AND THE IMPORTED STOCK ACT AMENDMENT ACT OF 1884.

(REGULATIONS UNDER.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 35 Vic. No. 6. sec. 7.

Department of Mines,
Sydney, 10th April, 1885.

IMPORTED STOCK ACT OF 1871, AND THE IMPORTED STOCK ACT AMENDMENT ACT OF 1884.

HIS Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to cancel Nos. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 of the Regulations of 5th January last, issued under the abovenamed Acts, and to substitute the following Regulations in lieu thereof, which are hereby published for general information.

JOSEPH P. ABBOTT.

SHEEP FROM AUSTRALIAN COLONIES BY SEA.

1. No sheep shall be landed at any port or place in this Colony except at the port of Sydney.

2. No Colony shall be deemed to be a clean Colony in which scab or catarrh or any other infectious or contagious disease exists, or is suspected to exist, nor any Colony in which scab shall have existed within the next preceding two years, and no sheep shall be imported except from a clean Australian Colony.

3. No sheep shall be imported except by vessels that have not traded to any but a clean Australian Colony within the next preceding twenty-four months, nor by any vessel which shall within the period hereinbefore mentioned have had any sheep on board from any Colony other than a clean Australian Colony.

4. Every vessel on which it is intended to carry any such sheep shall be thoroughly cleansed and disinfected before the sheep have been shipped.

5. All such sheep shall be accompanied by a certificate and declaration to the effect of Form 2 hereto, that they have been examined one by one by the Chief and another Inspector for the Colony from which they are exported, certifying that they have been so examined, and that they are free from any infectious or contagious disease, and that scab has not existed in such Colony for the next preceding two years.

6. No sheep from any clean Australian Colony shall be landed in this Colony until they shall have been examined and a certificate granted by an Inspector of Stock and a duly qualified veterinary surgeon that they are not infected to the effect of Form 4 hereto.

7. If any such sheep brought by sea into a port or place in this Colony be found to be infected, they may be forthwith destroyed at their owner's expense, without compensation, or otherwise disposed of as the Minister may direct.

8. Sheep brought by sea from any clean Australian Colony may, if found on inspection to be not infected, be landed and taken by a conveyance to the quarantine proclaimed for such sheep, where they shall be quarantined and dipped under the supervision and direction of the Inspector; and the length of such quarantine, the medicaments to be used in dipping, the temperature and duration of the bath, the number of dippings, and the fees to be charged for the keeping and dipping of the sheep shall be as follows, viz. :—

- (1) The quarantine shall extend to at least eighteen days prior to dipping.
- (2) The medicaments to be used in dipping shall be good sound tobacco, or tobacco leaves and flowers of sulphur, at the rate of 1 lb. of each to every 5 gallons of water, the tobacco to be put into boiling water and infused for five hours at least, and the sulphur to be added to the infusion in the dip.
- (3) The temperature shall not be less than 100 nor more than 110 degrees Fahrenheit.
- (4) The sheep shall swim and be completely immersed while in the bath, and the bath shall last from one to two minutes, according to its temperature, and as the case may require.
- (5) The sheep shall receive one dipping.
- (6) The rates to be charged for the keeping and dressing of sheep in quarantine shall be as follows, viz. :—

	s.	d.
Sustenance and attendance per day or part of a day, per sheep .....	0	6
Dipping each sheep .....	1	0

9. Sheep imported from any clean Australian Colony into any other clean Colony and intended to be introduced overland into this Colony may be admitted if their owner produce the prescribed certificates for the same and the sheep are found on inspection by an Inspector of this Colony to be not infected; but all such sheep, unless they shall have been quarantined and dipped in such last-mentioned Colony, in accordance with these Regulations and under the supervision of an Inspector of this Colony, shall on crossing the border be placed in quarantine and kept and dipped in the same manner in every respect as next hereinbefore provided with respect to seaborne sheep, and the expenses of such Inspector shall be borne by the owner of the sheep that are desired to be sent into this Colony.

10. Stud and show sheep brought from any of the inland districts of this Colony or introduced overland from any adjoining clean Colony which shall be in Sydney or in any of the suburbs during the time that any imported sheep shall remain in Sydney or the suburbs, shall, prior to their leaving the coast district, be dipped the same as if they were imported Australian sheep.

11. Every Inspector or other person who shall have superintended any dipping, dressing, or disinfecting, shall make and subscribe and transmit with due dispatch to the Chief Inspector a declaration to the effect of Form 5 hereto.

12. No such sheep shall be released from quarantine until they shall have been examined by the Chief Inspector and a duly qualified veterinary surgeon in consultation and a certificate granted by them to the effect of Form 6 that such sheep have been duly quarantined and dressed, as prescribed by Regulations, and are free from infection.

13. In any case where a special quarantine has been granted, an attendant may, where necessary, be placed by the Chief Inspector of Stock in charge of the sheep in such quarantine; and the person to whom such quarantine has been granted shall pay the expense of such attendant.

14. No fodder or other food or straw which shall have been used for, with, or about imported sheep, nor any litter, manure, nor any fittings on board any vessel for such sheep shall be landed, and all cases or cages brought with such sheep shall be cleansed and disinfected as the Chief Inspector shall direct.

15. Should any sheep be imported into this Colony by a vessel which shall not have been cleansed and disinfected as provided by these Regulations, or should any such sheep have been examined by one Inspector instead of two in the Colony from which the sheep are exported, then such sheep may, with the sanction of the Minister, be admitted to quarantine; but shall in every such case receive three dippings at intervals of not less than ten nor more than fifteen days.

IMMIGRATION.

The Agent-General to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

5 Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., 3 July, 1885.

I have the honor to advise you of the sailing of the s.s. "Abergeldie," on the 30th ultimo, with 612 emigrants on board, equal to 517½ statute adults, and to enclose herewith,—

- 1st. Alphabetical list of emigrants, giving names, ages, and occupations, together with the total sum received in this department for passage money of applicants selected by me, and the amounts received where insufficient deposits have been made in the Colony on account of relatives desirous of accompanying their respective families. These sums have been paid into the London and Westminster Bank.
- 2nd. A Return of the number of emigrants embarked in the "Abergeldie," distinguishing those nominated in the Colony from the applicants selected in this country; also, showing their various nationalities.
- 3rd. A copy of Dr. M'Donagh's reports of his examination of the emigrants at the Plymouth Depot, together with a certificate given by that officer relative to their embarkation, and of his inspection of the medicine-chest, provisions, and the accommodation provided for the emigrants during the voyage.
- 4th. A list of emigrants per "Abergeldie" who obtained at Plymouth Bank drafts payable in Sydney for the amounts set against their respective names. (£1,064 14s.)
- 5th. Copies of certificates relative to the condensing apparatus, supply of fresh water and coals.
- 6th. Copy of letter of appointment sent to the matron, showing the terms of remuneration, and conditions under which such appointment was made.

I have, &c.,

SAUL SAMUEL.

Madam,

5 Westminster Chambers, London, S.W., 9 June, 1885.

You are hereby informed that I have appointed you to the office of matron of the s.s. "Abergeldie," to sail from Plymouth on or about the 26th instant with emigrants for Sydney.

On that day you are to report your arrival at the Depot to the Emigration Officer of this department, not afterwards absenting yourself from the building without previously obtaining his permission.

You will distinctly understand that you are the servant of the Government of New South Wales, and that you will be required to obey their authorized instructions only. Should any directions be conveyed to you by persons not in the service of the Government, you will bear in mind that you are not at liberty to act upon them, unless my sanction has been previously obtained thereto.

Your reports of the voyage must also be addressed exclusively to me, or to the Immigration Agent in Sydney.

These special instructions are given in order that there may be no doubt in regard to a proper performance of the duties required of you by this appointment, and that the authority of the Surgeon-superintendent may be exercised without question.

Your remuneration will consist of a free passage to Sydney and a gratuity of £40, payable in the Colony, provided your duties have been discharged to the satisfaction of the Government.

Printed instructions for your guidance are enclosed herewith.

You will be good enough to acknowledge the receipt of this appointment by return of post.

I am, Madam,

SAUL SAMUEL.

66 Mark-lane, London, E.C., 24 June, 1885.

WE hereby certify that we have shipped, per the steamer "Abergeldie," on the above date (say) 1,117½ tons of bunker coal.

J. & C. HARRISON.

S.S. "Abergeldie," 27 June, 1885.

I HEREBY certify that I have received on board this vessel 80 tons of steam coal from s.s. "Altnacraig."

CROSBY FOX,

Chief Engineer.

136 Narrow-street, Limehouse, London, E., 26 June, 1885.

I CERTIFY that the forty-two 400-gallon tanks supplied to the s.s. "Abergeldie" have been tested by being filled with water, and found water-tight.

F. G. SMYTHE.

S.S. "Abergeldie."

West India Warehouse and Factory, West India Dock Road, London, E., 25 June, 1885.

THESE certify that I have repaired the compactum fresh water distiller No. 109 on board the above steamer, and that it is capable of making 2,500 gallons fresh water per day of twenty-four hours, that it has been passed by the Board of Trade surveyor, and that the chief and second engineers understand the working of the apparatus.

Pro JOHN KIRKCALDY.

JAMES KIRKCALDY.

5 Fenchurch Avenue, London, 27 June, 1885.

WE hereby certify that there is on board the s.s. "Abergeldie" 3,600 gallons water in ship's tanks, and 16,400 gallons in forty-one tanks in hold.

ANDERSON, ANDERSON, & CO.

Plymouth, 1 July, 1885.

I HEREBY certify that I have put on board the s.s. "Abergeldie" 1,000 gallons fresh water for use of emigrants and crew.

JOHN E. DAVIS.

Dr.

Dr. McDonagh to The Agent-General.

Sir,

Emigration Depôt, Plymouth, 29 June, 1885.

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day completed the medical examination of the emigrants proceeding to Sydney by the s.s. "Abergeldie," and I have approved of them, finding them in a fit state to embark and form suitable persons for earning their livelihood in the Colonies. Two families, however, named Garry and Dixon, respectively, I have detained, the children having exhibited symptoms of whooping-cough.

I have, &c.,

JOHN M. McDONAGH, M.D.

The Agent for Immigration to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Immigration Office, Sydney, 10 September, 1885.

I have the honor to report the arrival, on the 24th ultimo, of the s.s. "Abergeldie" from Plymouth, with immigrants, having left that port on 30th June, thus completing the voyage in forty-five days. The contract price as per charter-party is at the rate of £15 per head for the first 400 adults, and £14 10s. for the balance.

2. On arrival the steamer was placed in Quarantine on account of the prevalence of measles during the voyage. A few of the married people and children who were not considered convalescent were taken to the Sanitorium, Little Bay. The steamer was thoroughly fumigated and was released on the 26th.

The Board of Immigration inspected the steamer on her arrival at Neutral Bay, and found that all arrangements for the comfort and convenience of the immigrants during the voyage had been made.

3. The immigrants consisted of 58 married couples, 117 single men, 208 single women, and 168 children. Their nationality is noted in the margin.

English	....	357
Irish	....	117
Scotch	....	117
Other countries	....	18
		609

In addition to the sum of £124 paid by depositors in the Colony, a further sum of £1,381 was paid direct to the Agent-General in London, making a total of £1,505 paid by the immigrants or their friends towards their cost of passage.

Many held drafts on the Bank of New South Wales, amounting to a total of £1,064 14s. This sum is irrespective of Bank drafts and moneys held by them of which I was unable to obtain any positive information.

4. Hereto is annexed an abstract return of the disposal of the immigrants. During the voyage there occurred five deaths of young children under two years of age. There were also two births.

5. On examination of the single women at the Depôt, and of the married people and single men on board the steamer, all expressed themselves well satisfied with their treatment during the voyage, and with the sufficient quantity and good quality of the provisions issued to them.

6. The married women (with their children) who had come to join their husbands, and the single women were, as usual, received into the Depôt, whence a large number were discharged on the same day to their respective husbands or friends, leaving seventy-four for hire as domestic servants. These readily obtained engagements on the hiring day at an average rate of wages of 10s. 9d. per week.

7. Free passes by rail and by steamer were issued to those who wished to avail themselves of this privilege, as shown in the following summary:—

Why proceeding.	Married.	Children.	Single Men.	Single Women.
Hired .....	6	17	24	3
To or with friends .....	1	6	1	2
Seeking employment in districts selected by themselves.....	11	24	24	17
Grand total..... (154)	18	47	49	22

These proceeded to thirty-two different localities. The remainder of the immigrants left the steamer without notifying their proposed destination.

8. The Surgeon-superintendent, John M. McDonagh, Esq., appears to have discharged his duties most efficiently. He is therefore entitled, under the minute of the Colonial Secretary, dated 2 July, 1884, to receive the gratuity of £327 5s., being 10s. per head on a maximum of 700 immigrants, deduction being made of 5s. per head on ninety-one immigrants short of that number arrived. Dr. McDonagh is also entitled to receive a return passage to England.

9. The Surgeon-superintendent reports that the matron, Miss Jones, discharged her duties in the most efficient and satisfactory manner. It is therefore recommended that she receive the usual gratuity of £40, also an additional gratuity of £10, which, under a special letter from the Agent-General, and upon the favourable report of the Surgeon-superintendent, it is recommended that she should receive, in consequence of the very large number (227) of women and children who were placed under her as matron in sole charge of the female immigrants, and that she be provided with a second-class return passage to London.

10. Other gratuities, as per letter of instructions from the Agent General, are payable as follows:— To the schoolmaster, £5; hospital assistant, £3; w.c. constable, £5; 4 married people's constables at £2,—£8; 10 single men and women constables at £3,—£30; 6 sub-matrons at £2,—£12; lamp-trimmer, £3; and, upon the recommendation of the Surgeon-Superintendent, to the nurse, £5; assistant nurse, £2. Total, £73.

In accordance with the minute of the Colonial Secretary, dated July 22, 1885, the Board of Immigration disbursed the amount of £40 placed at their disposal in the following manner:—To the captain, £15; chief officer, £10; purser, £5; storekeeper, baker, and cook, £2 each,—£6; cook's assistant and baker's assistant, 25s. each,—£2 10s.; carpenter, £1 10s. Total, £40.

11. The Agent-General appointed a dispenser, of whom Dr. McDonagh reports that he discharged his duties satisfactorily; he is therefore entitled to receive a gratuity of £20, and a second-class passage to England should he return within three months from date of his arrival in Sydney.

12. The Surgeon-superintendent reports that the general health of the emigrants during the voyage was good. The principal disease which occurred during the voyage was measles.

13. Dr. McDonagh states that the water supplied was plentiful and good.

I have, &c.,

---

The Agent-General to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir, 5, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., 22 May, 1885.

I have the honor to advise you of the sailing of the s.s. "Chimborazo," on the 19th instant, with 726 emigrants on board, equal to 61½ statute adults, and to enclose herewith:—

- 1st. Alphabetical list of emigrants, giving names, ages, and occupations, together with the total sum received in this Department for passage money of applicants selected by me, and the amounts received where insufficient deposits have been made in the Colony on account of relatives desirous of accompanying their respective families. These sums have been paid into the London and Westminster Bank.
- 2nd. A Return of the number of emigrants embarked in the "Chimborazo," distinguishing those nominated in the Colony from the applicants selected in this country, also showing their various nationalities.
- 3rd. A certificate of Dr. R. D. M'Master, relative to his examination of the emigrants at the Plymouth Depôt, also of the medicine-chest, provisions, and accommodation provided for their use during the voyage.
- 4th. A list of emigrants per "Chimborazo" who obtained, at Plymouth, bank drafts, payable in Sydney, for the amounts set against their respective names.
- 5th. Copies of certificates relative to the condensing apparatus, supply of fresh water, and coals.
- 6th. Copy of Dr. M'Master's report of his examination of the emigrants at the Plymouth Depôt.
- 7th. Copy of letter of appointment sent to the matron, showing the terms of remuneration and conditions under which such appointment was made.

I have, &c.,
SAUL SAMUEL.

Madam, 5, Westminster Chambers, London, S.W., 11 May, 1885.

You are hereby informed that I have appointed you to the office of matron of the s.s. "Chimborazo," to sail from Plymouth on or about the 14th instant, with emigrants for Sydney.

On that day you are to report your arrival at the Depôt to the Emigration Officer of this Department, not afterwards absentsing yourself from the building without previously obtaining his permission.

You will distinctly understand that you are the servant of the Government of New South Wales, and that you will be required to obey their authorised instructions only. Should any directions be conveyed to you by persons not in the service of the Government, you will bear in mind that you are not at liberty to act upon them unless my sanction has been previously obtained thereto.

Your reports of the voyage must also be addressed exclusively to me, or to the Immigration Agent in Sydney.

These special instructions are given in order that there may be no doubt in regard to a proper performance of the duties required of you by this appointment, and that the authority of the Surgeon-superintendent may be exercised without question.

Your remuneration will consist of a free passage to Sydney, and a gratuity of £40, payable in the Colony, provided your duties have been discharged to the satisfaction of the Government.

Printed instructions for your guidance are enclosed herewith.

You will be good enough to acknowledge the receipt of this appointment by return of post.

I have, &c.,
SAUL SAMUEL.

The Agent for Immigration to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Immigration Office, Sydney, 30 July, 1885.

I have the honor to report the arrival, on the 5th instant, of the steamship "Chimborazo," from Plymouth, with immigrants having left that port on the 19th May, thus completing the voyage in forty-seven days.

The contract price as per charter-party is at the rate of £15 per head for the first 400 adults, £14 10s. for the next 200, and £14 for the balance.

2. On arrival the steamer was placed in Quarantine, on account of the prevalence of measles during the voyage. Many of the married people and children who were not considered convalescent were landed at the Quarantine Station. The steamer was thoroughly fumigated, and was released on the 5th instant. On inspection of the steamer on her arrival in Neutral Bay, by the Board of Immigration, it was found that all arrangements for the comfort and convenience of the immigrants were most excellent.

3. The immigrants by this vessel consisted of 101 married couples, 152 single men, 173 single women, and 193 children.

Their nationality is noted in the margin.

In addition to the sum of £89 paid by depositors in the Colony, a further sum of £1,737 was paid direct to the Agent-General in London, making a total of £1,826 paid by the immigrants or their friends towards their cost of passage.

Many held drafts on the Bank of New South Wales, amounting to a total of £1,061 17s. This sum is irrespective of bank drafts and moneys held by them, of which I was unable to obtain any positive information.

4. Hereto is annexed an abstract return of the disposal of the immigrants. During the voyage there occurred one birth and seven deaths, which consisted of young children of four years old and under.

5. On examination of the single women, married people, and single men on board the steamer, all expressed themselves well satisfied with their treatment during the voyage, and with the sufficient quantity and good quality of the provisions issued to them. Those who were for a short time detained at the Quarantine Station were subsequently examined, and with the same satisfactory result.

6. The married women (with their children) who had come to join their husbands, and the single women, were received into the Depôt, whence a large number were discharged to their husbands or friends, leaving only sixty-six for hire as domestic servants; these readily obtained engagements on the hiring day at an average rate of wages of 10s. 6d. per week.

7. Free passes by rail and by steamer were issued to those who wished to avail themselves of this privilege, as shown in the following

These proceeded to forty-three different localities. The remainder of the immigrants left the steamer without notifying their proposed destination.

8. The Surgeon-superintendent, R. D. M'Master, Esq., appears to have discharged his duties most efficiently; he is therefore entitled, under the minute of the Colonial Secretary, dated 2nd July, 1884, to receive the gratuity of £350, being 10s. per head on a maximum of 700 immigrants, with an additional 5s. per head on the extra number of twenty beyond the limit of 700. Dr. M'Master is also entitled to receive a first-class return passage to England in one of the Orient line of steamers.

9. The Surgeon-superintendent reports that the matron, Mrs. Stevens, discharged her duties in the most efficient and satisfactory manner. It is therefore recommended that she receive the promised gratuity of £40, and that she be provided with a second-class return passage in one of the Orient steamers.

10. Other gratuities as per letter of instructions from the Agent-General are payable as follows:—To the schoolmaster, £5; hospital assistant, £3; w.-c. constable, £5; five ordinary constables (married), £2 each—£10; ten ordinary constables (single), £3 each—£30; two sub-matrons, £5 each—£10; lamp-trimmer, £3; assistant matron, £10; and on the special recommendation of the Surgeon-superintendent, nurse (married), £5; nurse (single), £4. Total, £85.

11. The Agent-General specially appointed a dispenser to act under the Surgeon-superintendent, of whom Dr. M'Master reports that he discharged his duties satisfactorily. He is therefore entitled, in accordance with his letter of appointment from the Agent-General, to receive a gratuity of £35, also to receive a second-class passage to England, should he wish to return within three months from the date of his arrival in Sydney.

12. The Surgeon-superintendent reports that the general health of the emigrants during the voyage was good, especially considering the large number of women and delicate children.

The principal disease which occurred during the voyage was measles.

13. Dr. M'Master states that the water supplied during the voyage was plentiful and good.

Steamship "Gulf of Mexico."

The Agent-General to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

5, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., 30 January, 1885.

I have the honor to advise you of the sailing of the s.s. "Gulf of Mexico" on the 27th instant, with 582 emigrants on board, equal to 493½ statute adults, and to enclose :—

- 1st. Alphabetical list of emigrants, giving names, ages, and occupations, together with the total sum received in this Department for passage money of applicants selected by me, and the amounts received, where insufficient deposits have been made in the Colony, on account of relatives desirous of accompanying their respective families. These sums have been paid into the Bank of New South Wales.
- 2nd. A return of the number of emigrants embarked in the "Gulf of Mexico," distinguishing those nominated in the Colony from the applicants selected in this country, also showing their various nationalities.
- 3rd. A certificate of Dr. L. R. Huxtable, relative to his examination of the emigrants before embarkation, also of the medicine-chest, provisions, and accommodation provided for their use during the voyage.

- 4th. A list of emigrants per "Gulf of Mexico," who obtained at Plymouth bank drafts payable in Sydney for the amounts set against their respective names.
 5th. Copies of certificates relative to the condensing apparatus, supply of fresh water, and coals.
 6th. Copy of Dr. Huxtable's report of his examination of the emigrants at Plymouth depôt.
 7th. Copies of letters of appointment sent to the matrons, showing the terms of remuneration and conditions under which such appointments were made.

I have, &c.,
 SAUL SAMUEL.

Madam, 5, Westminster Chambers, London, S.W., 30 December, 1884.

You are hereby informed that I have appointed you to the office of matron of the s.s. "Gulf of Mexico" to sail from Plymouth on or about the 23rd January with emigrants for Sydney.

On that day you are to report your arrival at the depôt to the Emigration Officer of this Department, not afterwards absenting yourself from the building without previously obtaining his permission.

You will distinctly understand that you are the servant of the Government of New South Wales, and that you will be required to obey their authorized instructions only. Should any directions be conveyed to you by persons not in the service of the Government, you will bear in mind that you are not at liberty to act upon them, unless my sanction has been previously obtained thereto.

Your reports of the voyage must also be addressed exclusively to me or to the Immigration Agent in Sydney.

These special instructions are given in order that there may be no doubt in regard to a proper performance of the duties required of you by this appointment, and that the authority of the Surgeon-superintendent may be exercised without question.

Your remuneration will consist of a free passage to Sydney and a gratuity of £40, payable in the Colony, provided your duties have been discharged to the satisfaction of the Government.

Printed instructions for your guidance are enclosed herewith; and as an unusually large number of single women will be placed in your charge, I have appointed an assistant matron, who will act under your direction generally in the performance of all necessary duties during the voyage.

You will be good enough to acknowledge the receipt of this appointment by return of post.

I am, &c.,
 SAUL SAMUEL.

Miss J. Chicken, 120 Stainsby Road, East India Road, E.

Madam, 5, Westminster Chambers, London, S.W., 3 January, 1885.

You are hereby informed that I have appointed you to the office of second matron of the s.s. "Gulf of Mexico," to sail from Plymouth about the 23rd instant with immigrants for Sydney.

On that day you are to report your arrival at the Depôt to the Emigration Officer of this Department, not afterwards absenting yourself from the building without previously obtaining his permission.

During the voyage you will act under the instructions of the matron, so far as they may have reference to your duties in exercising a proper supervision over the single women, in which object you will endeavour to assist the matron by every means in your power, always subject, however, to the superior direction and control of the Surgeon-superintendent.

Your remuneration will consist of a free passage out and home and a gratuity of £35, payable in the Colony, provided your duties have been discharged to the satisfaction of the Government.

You will be good enough to acknowledge the receipt of this appointment by return of post.

I have, &c.,

The Agent for Immigration to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Immigration Office, Sydney, 22 April, 1885.

I have the honor to report the arrival, on the 24th March, of the steamship "Gulf of Mexico," from Plymouth, with immigrants, having left that port on the 27th January, 1885, thus completing the voyage in fifty-six days.

The contract price, as per charter-party, is at the rate of £15 per statute adult for 400, and at the rate of £14 10s for the remaining, statute adults.

2 The vessel on arrival was placed in Quarantine for forty-eight hours for general laundry work and fumigation. On arrival at Neutral Bay the Board of Immigration most carefully examined the steamer, and expressed their very decided opinion that steamers of the type of the "Gulf of Mexico" are unsuitable for the Immigration Service, and should not be chartered for the conveyance of immigrants. A full report from the Board of Immigration has been forwarded for the information of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary. It was found necessary to coal the steamer at Teneriffe, and again at Cape Town.

3. The immigrants by this vessel consisted of 36 married couples, 162 single men, 182 single women, and 165 children. Their nationality is noted in the margin.

In addition to the sum of £738 paid by depositors in the Colony, a further sum of £782 10s. was paid direct to the Agent-General in London, making a total of £1,520 10s. paid by the immigrants and their friends towards the cost of their passage.

Many of the immigrants held drafts on the Bank of New South Wales, amounting to a total of £521. This sum is irrespective of bank drafts and of moneys held by them, as to the amount of which I was unable to obtain any information.

4. Hereto is annexed an abstract return of the disposal of the immigrants. During the voyage there occurred one death (an infant's): there were no births.

5. On examination by the Board of Immigration of the single women at the Dépôt, and of the married people and single men on board the steamer, all expressed themselves well satisfied with their treatment during the voyage, and with the sufficient quantity and good quality of the provisions issued to them.

6. The single women and married women (with their children) who had come to join their husbands, were received into the Dépôt, whence a large number were discharged to their husbands or friends; the remainder, numbering forty-nine, were hired as domestic servants at an average rate of wages of 10s. per week.

7. Free passes by rail and by steamer were issued to those who wished to avail themselves of this privilege, as shown in the following

SUMMARY.

Why proceeding.	Married.	Children.	Single Men.	Single Women.

To or with friends ... ..	2	9	43	21
Seeking employment in districts selected by themselves ..	12	24	29	...
General total ... (182 souls)	16	38	79	33

These proceeded to fifty-two different localities. The remainder of the immigrants left the steamer without notifying their proposed destination.

8. The Surgeon-superintendent, L. R. Huxtable Esq., appears to have discharged his duties most efficiently; he is therefore entitled under the minute of the Colonial Secretary, dated 2nd July, 1884, to receive the gratuity of £320 5s, being 10s. per head on a maximum of 700 immigrants (deduction being made of 5s. per head on 119 immigrants short of this number arrived).

9. In consequence of the large number of married women (coming to join their husbands) and of single women, two matrons were appointed by the Agent-General. As to the appointment of two matrons the Surgeon-superintendent reports, "even with a large contingent of single women the appointment of two matrons seems unnecessary and undesirable." A similar opinion has been expressed by Dr. Beattie and Dr. McMaster. Dr. Huxtable reports of the chief matron, Miss Chicken, that "throughout

"throughout the voyage she performed her duties most efficiently, and on several occasions when heavy seas were shipped and special danger and loss of life threatened her conduct was worthy of all admiration and her example, composure, and presence of mind in time of imminent peril to the ship controlled and animated the women," and was of great value. Dr. Huxtable considers her worthy of special notice; it is therefore recommended by the Board of Immigration that an extra gratuity of £15 be accorded to Miss Chicken beyond the promised sum of £40 granted for this her eleventh voyage in charge of immigrants. It is also recommended that the second matron, Miss Titchmarsh, should receive her promised gratuity of £35, and that each one should be provided with a return second-class passage to England.

10. Other gratuities as per letter of instructions from the Agent-General are payable as follows, viz.:—To the schoolmaster, £5; w.c. constable, £5; six ordinary constables (each £3)—£18; six ordinary constables (each £2)—£12; five sub-matrons (each £2)—£10; hospital assistant, £3; lamp-trimmer, £3; also, on the special recommendation of the Surgeon-Superintendent, one nurse, £5; assistant nurse, £3; hospital assistant, £2; lamp trimmer, £2. Total, £68.

11. The Agent-General specially appointed a Dispenser to act under the Surgeon-superintendent, of whom Dr. Huxtable reports that he satisfactorily discharged "his especially arduous duties," during the recent voyage; he is therefore entitled (in accordance with his letter of appointment from the Agent-General) to receive gratuity of £35; also, to receive a second-class passage to England, should he elect to return within three months from the date of his arrival in Sydney.

12. Dr. Huxtable reports that there was an abundant supply of excellent water throughout the voyage.

13. Dr. Huxtable reports that the only disease which occurred during the voyage was scarlatina.

Sir,

Emigrants' Depôt, Plymouth, 13 April, 1885.

I have the honor to inform you that my inspection of the emigrants now in the Depôt, which was commenced on 11th instant, has this day been completed.

With reference to the health of the people generally I have to report most favourably. They appear to me to be a very eligible class of emigrants, of good physical development and condition, and respectable appearance and deportment.

In the course of my examination I found a girl named Margaret Good, who is proceeding with her parents, to be suffering from blindness of left eye; her age is fourteen; also a girl named Annie Laird, æt. twelve, to be suffering from a partial paralysis of right leg; this child can walk lamely without a crutch, and is stated by her mother to be able to discharge ordinary domestic work. A few of the nursing women are delicate, and some of the infants suffer from catarrh and bronchitis, the result probably of recent travelling, &c., &c.

The absence of all infectious and contagious disease amongst the assembled people, and their ascertained statements as to freedom from all association with the same for three months at least, warrant our anticipation of a favorable voyage.

I have, &c.,
J. A. BEATTIE.

The Agent-General for New South Wales.

Sir,

Sir,

Emigrants' Depôt, Plymouth, 14 April, 1885.

I have the honor to furnish you with this supplementary report in reference to the two families named as follows:—Richard Sneddon and wife, with two children, and Henry Huggins and wife, with three children, whom I have been obliged to detain for following reasons:—

Called this morning at 8.15 to attend a child "seriously ill." I found upon my arrival at the Depôt, the girl Marion Sneddon, æt. 2½, apparently in articulo mortis from persistent cerebral convulsions, cold, rigid, and quite anaesthetic. Three subsequent visits to the child revealed no improvement in its condition, despite the application of appropriate remedies.

The second case is that of an infant named Robert Huggins, æt. nine months, which I found this morning to exhibit the symptoms and signs of an attack of measles. Two other children of this family had measles some time ago, and even apart from the presence of specific fever in the case of the infant in question, the condition of the pulmonary functions would sufficiently contra-indicate embarking at present.

I have, &amp;c.,

J. A. BEATTIE.

The Agent-General for New South Wales.

The Agent for Immigration to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Immigration Office, Sydney, 26 June, 1885.

I have the honor to report the arrival, on the 5th instant, of the steamship "Bombay" from Plymouth, with emigrants, having left that port on the 14th April, thus completing the voyage in fifty-one days.

The contract price as per charter-party is at the rate of £15 per head for the first 400 adults, and £14 10s. for the balance.

2. On arrival the steamer was placed in quarantine on account of the great prevalence of measles on board, which appeared shortly after the steamer left Plymouth, and lasted throughout the voyage.

After landing the patients, and thoroughly fumigating the steamer, she was released on Tuesday, the 9th instant.

On inspection, the Board of Immigration regret to have to report that the sleeping-berths for the married people and children were, in very many instances, altogether insufficient and overcrowded; there was a great absence of central space for dining, ventilation, and exercise, and considering the crowded and insanitary arrangements of the bunks, which retained the foul air, the Board was much surprised that the death rate amongst the children was so small.

3. The immigrants by this vessel consisted of 73 married couples, 160 single men, 138 single women, and 176 children.

Their nationality is noted in the margin.

In addition to the sum of £121 paid by depositors in the Colony, a further sum of £1,499 was paid direct to the Agent-General in London, making a total of £1,620 paid by the immigrants or their friends towards the cost of their passage.

Many of the immigrants held drafts on the Bank of New South Wales, amounting to a total of £1,236 19s. This sum is irrespective of bank drafts, and moneys held by them, of which I was unable to obtain any positive information.

4. Hereto is annexed an abstract return of the disposal of the immigrants. During the voyage there occurred two births, and seven deaths, which consisted of children under four years of age.

5. On examination by the Board of Immigration of the single women, married people, and single men on board the steamer, all expressed themselves well satisfied with their treatment during the voyage, and with the sufficient quantity and good quality of the provisions issued to them.

6. The married women (with their children) who had come to join their husbands, and the single women were received into the Depôt, whence a large number were discharged to their husbands or friends, leaving only forty-six for hire as domestic servants; these readily obtained engagements on the hiring day, at an average rate of wages of 11s. per week.

7. Free passes by rail and by steamer were issued to those who wished to avail themselves of this privilege as shown in the following

These proceeded to forty-five different localities. The remainder of the immigrants left the steamer without notifying their proposed destination.

8. The Surgeon-superintendent (Dr. Beattie) appears to have discharged his duties most efficiently; he is therefore entitled to receive the gratuity of £350 as per minute of the Colonial Secretary, 18th July, 1884. Dr. Beattie is also entitled to a first-class return passage to England in one of the Orient line of steamers.

9. The Surgeon-superintendent reports that the matron, Mrs. Eagar, "discharged her duties in the most efficient and satisfactory manner." She had an exceptionally large number of single girls, married women, and children under her charge. It is therefore recommended by the Board of Immigration, at the suggestion of the Surgeon-superintendent, that Mrs. Eagar should receive an extra gratuity of £10, beyond the promised gratuity of £40, for this her twelfth voyage in charge of female immigrants; she is also entitled to a second-class return passage to England in one of the Orient line of steamers.

Total, £68.

11. A duly qualified dispenser was appointed, of whom the Surgeon-superintendent reports most favourably; he is therefore entitled as per letter of instructions from the Agent-General to receive the agreed gratuity of £20, and should he wish to return to England within the limit of three months he is further entitled to receive a second-class passage by one of the Orient line of steamers.

12. The Surgeon-superintendent reports that the general health of the emigrants during the voyage was good, especially considering the exceptionally severe weather, and the unusually large number of women and delicate children.

The principal diseases which occurred during the voyage was measles.

13. Dr. Beattie states that the water supplied during the voyage was ample and good.

Steamship "Aberdeen."

The Agent-General to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,
5, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, London, S.W., 6 March, 1885.
I have the honor to advise you of the sailing of the s.s. "Aberdeen," on the 27th ultimo, with 662 emigrants on board, equal to 340 statute adults, and to enclose:—

1st. Alphabetical list of emigrants, giving names, ages, and occupations; together with the total sum received in this Department for passage-money of applicants selected by me, and the amounts received, where insufficient deposits have been made in the Colony, on account of relatives desirous of accompanying their respective families. These sums have been paid into the Bank of New South Wales.

2nd. A return of the number of emigrants embarked in the "Aberdeen," distinguishing those nominated in the Colony from the applicants selected in this country, also showing their various nationalities.

3rd.

- 3rd. A certificate of Dr. F. Antill Pockley relative to his examination of the emigrants at the Plymouth Depôt; also of the medicine-chest, provisions, and accommodation provided for their use during the voyage.
- 4th. A list of emigrants per "Aberdeen" who obtained, at Plymouth, Bank drafts payable in Sydney for the amounts set against their respective names.
- 5th. Copies of certificates relative to the condensing apparatus, supply of fresh water, and coals.
- 6th. Copies of letters of appointments sent to the matrons, showing the terms of remuneration, and conditions under which such appointments were made.

I have, &c.,
SAUL SAMUEL.

Madam, 5, Westminster Chambers, London, S.W., 9 February, 1885.

You are hereby informed that I have appointed you to the office of matron of the s.s. "Aberdeen," to sail from Plymouth on or about the 23rd instant with immigrants for Sydney.

On that day you are to report your arrival at the Depôt to the Emigration Officer of this Department, not afterwards absenting yourself from the building without previously obtaining his permission.

You will distinctly understand that you are the servant of the Government of New South Wales, and that you will be required to obey their authorized instructions only. Should any directions be conveyed to you by persons not in the service of the Government, you will bear in mind that you are not at liberty to act upon them unless my sanction has been previously obtained thereto.

Your reports of the voyage must also be addressed to me, or to the Immigration Agent in Sydney.

These special instructions are given in order that there may be no doubt in regard to a proper performance of the duties required of you by this appointment, and that the authority of the Surgeon-superintendent may be exercised without question.

Your remuneration will consist of a free passage to Sydney and a gratuity of £40, payable in the Colony, provided your duties have been discharged to the satisfaction of the Government.

Printed instructions for your guidance are enclosed herewith, and as an unusually large number of single women will be placed in your charge, I have appointed an assistant matron, who will act under your direction, generally, in the performance of all necessary duties during the voyage.

You will be good enough to acknowledge the receipt of this appointment by return of post.

I have, &c.,
SAUL SAMUEL.

Mrs. A. Osborne, 230, Cornwall Road, W.

Madam, 5, Westminster Chambers, London, S.W., 12 February, 1885.

You are hereby informed that I have appointed you to the office of second matron of the s.s. "Aberdeen," to sail from Plymouth about the 23rd instant, with emigrants for Sydney.

On that day you are to report your arrival at the Depôt to the Emigration Officer of this Department, not afterwards absenting yourself from the building without previously obtaining his permission.

During the voyage you will act under the instructions of the matron, so far as they may have reference to your duties in exercising a proper supervision over the single women, in which object you will endeavour to assist the matron by every means in your power, always subject, however, to the superior direction and control of the Surgeon-superintendent.

Your remuneration will consist of a free passage out and home, and a gratuity of £25, payable in the Colony, provided your duties have been discharged to the satisfaction of the Government.

You will be good enough to acknowledge the receipt of this appointment by return of post.

I am, &c.,
SAUL SAMUEL.

This is to certify that I have supplied the s.s. "Aberdeen" with 1,400 gallons of fresh water for use of emigrants and crew.

JOHN E. DAVIS.

The Agent for Immigration to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Immigration Office, Sydney, 29 April, 1885.

I have the honor to report the arrival on the 13th instant of the steamship "Aberdeen," from Plymouth, with immigrants, having left that port on the 27th February, 1885, thus completing the voyage in forty-four days.

The contract price, as per charter-party, is at the rate of £15 for 400 statute adults, of £14 10s. for the remainder.

2. The vessel on arriving was placed in quarantine for forty-eight hours for general laundry work and fumigation. On arrival at Neutral Bay the vessel was found to be in perfect order; all arrangements for the comfort of the immigrants were most satisfactory.

The steamer called at the Island of Tenneriffe for coal.

3. The immigrants by this vessel consisted of 80 married couples, 161 single men, 124 single women, and 219 children.

Their nationalities are noted in the margin.

In addition to the sum of £207 paid by depositors in the Colony, a further sum of £1,421 was paid direct to the Agent-General in London, making a total of £1,628 paid by the immigrants or by their friends towards the cost of their passage.

Many of the immigrants held drafts on the Bank of New South Wales, amounting to a total of £1,113 12s. This sum is irrespective of Bank drafts, and moneys held by them, of which I was unable to obtain any positive information. The captain of the steamer, however, informs me that upwards of £2,000 in drafts and gold were deposited for safe keeping in his hands by many of the immigrants. This sum is in addition to the amount of drafts previously mentioned.

4. Hereto is annexed an abstract return of the disposal of the immigrants.

During the voyage there occurred three births and one death, that of an infant.

5. On examination by the Board of Immigration of the single women at the Dépôt, and of the married people and single men on board the steamer, all expressed themselves well satisfied with their treatment during the voyage, and with the sufficient quantity and good quality of the provisions issued to them.

The Board subsequently held several meetings relative to certain matters which had come to their knowledge in reference to the want of discipline which was said to have prevailed during the voyage. A full report on this subject has been submitted in a separate communication.

6. The single women and married women (with their children) who had come to join their husbands were as usual received into the Dépôt, whence a large number were discharged to their husbands or friends; the remainder, numbering thirty-four, were hired as domestic servants at an average rate of wages of 11s. 6d. per week.

7. Free passes by rail and by steamer were issued to those who wished to avail themselves of this privilege, as shown in the following

SUMMARY.

These proceeded to forty-four different localities. The remainder of the immigrants left the ship without notifying their proposed destination.

8. The Surgeon-superintendent, F. A. Pockley, Esq., appears to have discharged his duties efficiently. He is therefore entitled, under the minute of the Colonial Secretary, dated 2nd July, 1884, to receive the gratuity of £341, being 10s. per head on a maximum of 700 immigrants, deduction being made of 5s. per head on thirty-six immigrants short of that number arrived. Dr. Pockley is also entitled to receive a return passage to England.

9. In consequence of the large number of married women (coming to join their husbands) and of single women, two matrons were appointed by the Agent-General.

Dr.

Dr. Pockley reports of the two matrons, Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Bellamy, that "they did not get on well together; they appeared to thwart one another as far as possible." In the report forwarded by the Board of Immigration the following are the recommendations made respecting the two matrons, viz.:— That "Mrs. Osborn should not again be placed in charge of female immigrants. That the assistant matron, Mrs. Bellamy, who was especially careless in her supervision of the girls, and who neglected to keep a journal as directed by the Emigration Officer," should not again be placed in charge of female immigrants, should not receive a return passage to England, and that £5 should be deducted from the gratuity of £25 which she would otherwise have received.

With regard to Mrs. Osborne, it is recommended that she receive the gratuity of £40, as per letter of instructions from the Agent-General; also that she receive her return passage to England.

10. Other gratuities, as per letter of instructions from the Agent-General, are payable as follows:—To the schoolmaster, £5; w.c. constable, £5; four ordinary constables, each £3—£12; eight ordinary constables, each £2—£16; four sub-matrons, £2 each—£8; hospital assistant, £3; lamp-trimmer, £3; also on the special recommendation of the Surgeon-superintendent, one nurse for fever case, £2; one midwife, £3; one nurse, scarlet fever, £3; one nurse, typhoid fever, £3. Total, £63.

11. The Agent-General specially appointed a dispenser to act under the Surgeon-superintendent, of whom Dr. Pockley reports that he discharged his duties satisfactorily. He is therefore entitled, in accordance with his letter of appointment from the Agent-General, to receive a gratuity of £20, also to receive a second-class passage to England should he elect to return within three months from the date of his arrival in Sydney.

12. Dr. Pockley reports of the condensing apparatus that the daily supply of water was 600 gallons, "till the break-down on the 19th March, after which date 350 to 400 gallons were produced per diem; this was supplemented from the tanks."

13. Dr. Pockley reports that the diseases which occurred during the voyage were bronchitis, typhoid fever, and diarrhoea.

(SECOND SESSION.)

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(BY-LAWS—MUNICIPALITY OF BLAYNEY.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 13th April, 1885.BLAYNEY MUNICIPALITY.—AMENDED BY-LAWS.

THE following amended By-laws made by the Council of the Municipal District of Blayney, under the Municipalities Act of 1867 and the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above cited Acts.

JAMES S. FARNELL.

Amended By-laws, Municipal District of Blayney.

PART I.

PROCEEDINGS of the Council and Committees—preservation of order at Council meetings—duties of Officers and Servants, &c.

Meetings of the Council.Ordinary Meetings.

1. The Council shall meet for the dispatch of business at the hour of eight p.m. every alternate Thursday, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor shall appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor. Adjournment for want of a quorum.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect, from among themselves, a Chairman for such meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down, and shall be recorded in the Minute Book.

Order of Business.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special ones:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
3. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
4. Reports from Committees, and minutes from the Mayor and Council Clerk, to be presented and ordered upon.
5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances, requiring attention by the Council or any of its Committees or officers, to be made.
6. Payments may be authorized.

27—A

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

4. Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time, by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order upon the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; or such particular motion or business may be adjourned to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Business paper—how prepared.

5. The business paper for every meeting of the Council shall be made up by the Council Clerk, and delivered to the Mayor and Aldermen, or left at their respective residences at least twenty-four hours before the time appointed for such meeting. The Council Clerk shall enter on such business paper a copy or the substance of every notice of motion proposed to be entertained at such meeting which he shall have received.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter disposed of.

6. All notices of motion, &c., for the consideration of the Council at its next meeting, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they shall be received, and entered on the business paper according to their number, and each notice shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of.

Business at Special Meetings.

7. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or the Alderman, at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Motions and amendments.

8. All notices of motion shall be in writing, dated and signed by the Alderman proposing the same, previous to being handed to the Council Clerk, and shall not be withdrawn from the business paper without the leave of the majority of the Council.

9. No motion, the effect of which, if carried, would be to rescind any motion which has already passed the Council, shall be entered on the business paper, unless a "call of the whole Council" has been duly made and granted for that purpose.

10. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution, of which due notice shall have been given, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

11. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper shall be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman.

Motions to be seconded.

12. No motion in Council shall be discussed until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

13. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed until it be seconded.

Amended Questions—Further amendment may be moved thereon.

14. If an amendment be carried the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

Motions for adjournment.

15. No motion for adjournment of the Council shall be discussed. If seconded, such motion shall be put at once—If negatived, no similar motion will be permitted to be made until half an hour has elapsed after putting the one that has been negatived, and the subjects on the business paper shall be proceeded with in order.

Orders of the Day.

Of what orders of the day shall consist.

16. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at any previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or which the Mayor or chairman or any committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

17. The Alderman who has the usual charge of, or who has previously moved in reference to, the particular business to which any such order of the day relates shall be the person called upon to move: Provided that the Mayor or Chairman for the time being may, as to any order of the day entered by his direction, arrange with, and call upon, any Alderman to move the same.

Petitions.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

18. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same; and all petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

How petitions are to be dealt with.

19. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that it be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned, or that it be received; and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Reports from Committees and minutes from Mayor.

Form of Report.

20. All reports from Committees shall be written on foolscap paper, with a sufficient margin, and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or in his absence by some other member of the same.

Mayor's minute.

21. The Mayor or Council Clerk shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance, by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written on paper of the same kind, and shall be signed by such Mayor or Council Clerk.

How reports, &c., are to be dealt with—Duties of Chairman, &c., in certain cases.

22. No motion shall be permissible on the presentation of a report from a committee or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, or that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute or if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may be moved or considered in due course.

Order of Debate.

23. Every Alderman in Council shall stand while speaking, and shall address the Mayor or Chairman: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case the question so put and the answer thereto shall be subject to every legal objection, on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions, when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted, if in order.

24. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided; and any Alderman using, whilst in Council, any offensive or insulting language, the same to be written down, and on being asked to do so, withdrawn; and if any Alderman shall refuse to withdraw such language and apologize, he shall be deemed guilty of misconduct, and be liable to a fine of not less than twenty shillings nor more than five pounds, to go to the Council funds.

Limitations as to number of speeches.

25. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendment thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman, other than the mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion, and on every amendment thereon. No Alderman shall speak longer than ten minutes nor oftener than once upon any question other than a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observations than may be necessary for such explanation.

Mover and seconder.

26. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment, without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Speaker not to digress.

27. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, or impute improper motives to, any other Alderman.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

28. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall first be heard.

Alderman may require questions to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

29. Any Alderman may request the question or matter under discussion to be read or stated, for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such question or matter as are readily accessible: Provided, however, that no such request or requisition shall be so made as to interrupt any other Alderman when speaking, or materially to interrupt the discussion.

Mayor or Chairman not to move or second motion, &c., but may address Council thereon.

30. The Mayor or Chairman shall not move any motion or amendment, but such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking, but shall be considered as still presiding.

Question of order.

31. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and may at any time call to order any Alderman who may appear to be out of order. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor to any Alderman being out of order, or to any point of order. Every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor or Chairman thereon shall be conclusive.

Penalties for persisting in disorderly conduct.

32. Any member of the Council, either in Council or Committee, who shall have been called to order by the Mayor or Chairman, and who shall still persist in any line of conduct or argument which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable, on conviction of the first offence, to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than twenty shillings; and on a second conviction for a like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than two pounds; and for every further conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound, nor more than five pounds.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

33. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of the Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as it may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions.—Penalty for refusing to vote.

34. Any Alderman may call for a division; the question shall be put first in the affirmative, and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman present when a division is called for, and shall refuse to vote on such division, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than one pound.

Protests.

Mode of protesting.—Protest to be recorded.

35. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council; notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed, or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be ordered.

36. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution, of which due notice shall be given, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

37. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered shall be moved or considered, such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all the members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name so called; and if any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such member shall have previously been granted, or if such an excuse in writing, shall be forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.—Further call when question adjourned.

38. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, if absent and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness or any other sufficient cause he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than one pound. Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration; and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call. And if there shall be more than one adjournment this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committees.

39. There shall be three Standing Committees, namely, a By-law, a Works, and a Finance. These Committees shall be re-appointed every year at the first meeting of the Council which shall be held after the election of the Mayor.

Mode of re-appointing Standing Committees.

40. The re-appointment of the three Standing Committees may, on resolution of the Council, be made by ballot. In such case a list or lists of the members shall be handed to each then present, who shall mark against the name of each such member the title of the Committee to which, in his opinion, such member ought to belong. And the Mayor or Chairman shall thereupon examine such lists so marked, and shall declare the result. And if there shall be an equal number of votes for the appointment of any two or more members to any one of such Committees, such Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such members shall be appointed.

By-law Committee.

41. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Municipality.

Works Committee.

42. The Committee for Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council; and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other public places under the care and management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

43. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect or to be likely to affect the finances of the municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature, as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Records of transactions in Committee.

44. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Special Committees.

45. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and no standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been entrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution, after due notice, and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such Special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as, in his opinion, ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members elected by ballot. The appointment of every Special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the right of the Council to re-elect such Special Committee in the same manner and at the same time as Standing Committees.

Chairman of Committee.

46. Every Committee, of which the Mayor shall not be a member, shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, within seven days after their appointment.

Committee Meetings.—How called.

47. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the Chairman, or any two members of such Committee, or the Chairman thereof may call a meeting, if he shall think fit.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

48. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses.—Expenses authorized to be reported.—Outlay to be in accordance with orders of the Council.

49. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Works, or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor for necessary current expenses, to the extent of two pounds.

Provided in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting; such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works, or the Mayor, by whom such outlays shall have been authorized. Also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council; and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of the Council shall on any pretence be thus authorized.

All claims to be examined and reported on by Finance Committee.

50. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council, shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's Order.—Certificates to be attached to report.

51. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate or memorandum from the Committee or Mayor, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons for its non-fulfilment, before recommending payment: And provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at fixed rates of payment, by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for payment of such amount, shall be a sufficient authorization for such payment.

Common Seal and Records of the Council.

52. The common seal shall be in the custody and care of the Council Clerk, and shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or, in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

Records of the Council defined.—Provisions for proper keeping of same.

53. The minute book, letter book, and all rate and assessment books, books of account, records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, municipal rolls, and other records relating to elections, business papers, reports from committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions, letters on Municipal business addressed to the Council, or to the Mayor, or to any officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda relating to Municipal business, drawings, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council, shall be deemed records of the Council. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect, or appearance of inefficiency, which they may discover in the keeping of such records.

Records not to be removed.—Penalties.—Exceptional circumstances.—Receipt to be given in every case before document received.—Proviso as to use of records as matter of evidence.

54. Any person removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid, from the Council Chamber, without leave for such removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action-at-law for detention of the same: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk or the Treasurer by the Mayor, in order that such Clerk or Treasurer may post up entries, or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform; also, that the Mayor, or the Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any such Chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution or suit at law by, against, or at the instance of the Council; but in all such cases such Clerk, Treasurer, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for every document so removed, and every receipt shall be preserved among the records until the book or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed: And provided also, that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council, who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a Court of Law, shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as may be; and every such person so removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

55. Any person destroying, defacing, or wilfully or improperly altering any record of the Council, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

Notice to candidates.

56. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council shall take place until notice shall have been given, as hereinafter provided, inviting applications from qualified candidates for the same; the salary or allowance attached to the office shall in every case be fixed before such advertisement is published, and shall be stated in such advertisement.

Bonds for good conduct.

57. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the Attorney or the Bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

58. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which by the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and the "Municipalities Act of 1867 Amendment Act of 1874," or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder, he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Municipality under the provisions of the said Municipalities Acts; he shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council; he shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records; he shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of the Mayor, and shall make a half-yearly return of the revenue and expenditure.

Duties of other officers and servants.

59. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation, in addition to the duties which by the present or any other By-laws thereunder, they may be required to perform, shall be defined by such regulations as may from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made.

Complaints against officers.

60. All complaints against officers or servants of the Corporation must be in writing, addressed to the Mayor, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing, or which is anonymous. And such complaint as aforesaid shall be laid by the Mayor before the Council at the next meeting thereof, which shall be holden after the Mayor shall have received the same, and shall be duly recorded.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of absence.

61. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman otherwise than by a resolution of the Council, adopted after due notice.

Mode of calling for tenders.

62. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed, or any materials supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work, or the supply of such material, shall be called for by public notice.

Lapsed business.

63. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid, at the next fortnightly meeting.

How notices are to be published.

64. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law, such notice shall be given and published by advertising the same in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality.

Power of Council as to laying down general rules, &c.

65. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman in any question of order or practice may, by motion on notice, respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar questions of order, or of practice which may thereafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding upon all parties, unless and until it be rescinded, but shall have no retroactive operation: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to bind any Mayor or Chairman to put any motion to the Council which, in his opinion, is contrary to law.

Power to suspend, temporarily, any portion of these By-laws.

66. Any of the foregoing By-laws which relate to or affect the proceedings at meetings of the Council may be suspended pro tempore, without notice in cases of emergency, if all the members of the Council then present shall deem such suspension necessary.

PART II.

COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF RATES.

Rates when due and payable.

1. All rates levied and imposed by the Council shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council shall, by resolution, from time to time appoint.

Rates to be paid at office of Council Clerk.

2. All persons liable to pay any rates as aforesaid shall pay the amount thereof within the time prescribed by the said resolution, into the office of the Council Clerk, during the office hours appointed by the Council.

Defaulters.

3. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid within thirty days after the day so appointed for payment thereof shall be deemed a defaulter; and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor, from time to time, with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

4. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to take proceedings to enforce the payment of all rates in default, either by action at law or by issuing warrants of distress upon the goods and chattels of the defaulter.

Bailiff.

5. The Bailiff of the Municipality shall be appointed by the Council, and may from time to time be removed by them; he shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor to the extent of (£50) fifty pounds each, for the faithful performance of his duty; it shall be his duty to make levies by distraint for the recovery of rates in manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

6. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of the office.

Distress and sale, &c.

7. It shall be lawful for the Bailiff, or his deputy, and such assistants as he may take with him, to enter into any part of the land, building, tenement, or other property, in respect of which such rate or rates shall have been made as aforesaid, and to distrain the goods therein or thereon, and to remain in such building, tenement, or other property in charge thereof; and if the sum for which any distress shall have been made or taken, together with the costs of such distraint, shall not have been paid on or before the expiration of three clear days, the Bailiff, or his deputy, may, between the hours of eleven in the morning and two in the afternoon, on the next day thereafter, cause the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, to be sold by public auction, either on the premises, or at such other place within the Municipality as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them for such purpose; and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for and the costs of such distraint, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand by such owner.

Inventory.

8. At the time of making a distress the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the Council Clerk.

Goods may be impounded.

9. The Bailiff making a distress as aforesaid may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of three days, as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded or secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same, on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner direct order of sale.

10. The owner of the goods or chattels so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods and chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

11. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

12. There shall be payable to the Bailiff for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed, marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of Distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Municipal District of Blayney, do hereby authorize you, _____ the bailiff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____ situate at _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Municipality to the day of _____ for the said dwelling-house, or land, or premises, as the case may be, and to proceed for the recovery of the said rates according to law. PART III.

PREVENTING AND EXTINGUISHING FIRES.

Erection of bark buildings.

1. All persons are prohibited from erecting buildings in any public street, &c., any portion of which shall be constructed of bark, or other dangerously inflammable substance, and any person or persons erecting such building shall forfeit, on conviction, a penalty of not more than twenty pounds.

Fire or combustible materials.

2. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds; and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials, to remain as aforesaid for twenty-four hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Inflammable fences.

3. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as or of the covering of any such stack, any inflammable material, so as to endanger contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit, on conviction for every such offence, a penalty of not more than five pounds, and also shall remove such fence, stack, or covering, within a reasonable time after such conviction. And any person failing to remove such fence, stack, or covering, within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Discharging fireworks, firearms, &c.

4. Every person who shall light any bon-fire, tar barrel, or firework upon or within sixty yards of any public or private street, or shall discharge any firearm without lawful cause within three hundred yards of any dwelling within this Municipality, or on any road, street, or public place, or shall sell gunpowder, fireworks, or other combustible matter by gas, candle, or other artificial light, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Setting fire to matter without notice.

5. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever in the open air within five yards of any dwelling-house or other building, or boundary, or dividing fence within, the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the land adjoining the land upon which such matter should be, of his intention so to do, or between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

6. Every person who wilfully sets, or causes to be set, on fire, any chimney-flue, smoke-vent, or stove-pipe herein called a chimney, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds: Provided always that nothing herein contained shall exempt the person so setting or causing to be set on fire any chimney from liability to be informed against or prosecuted before any Criminal Court for such act as for an indictable offence.

Compensation of attendance at fires.—Rewards.

7. There shall be paid out of the Municipal funds, to the owner of every water-cart who shall have attended with any water at the place of fire, and delivered the same as required for extinguishing such fire, such reasonable compensation as the Council shall, by resolution, have appointed in that behalf.

PART IV.

Streets and public places.—Public health, decency.

1. No new public road, street, way, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or reserve shall have been examined by the Committee for Works and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plan of proposed new road, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Municipality shall open any road, street, way, park, or other place for public use or recreation, through, or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, or park, &c., he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, or park; and if the Council shall determine to take charge of such place as aforesaid, the plan so signed as aforesaid shall be preserved as a record of the Council, and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, or place to public use as may be considered necessary by the Council, and such further instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council; but the Council shall not be compelled to take charge of, or spend moneys on, or vote money for, any new street, road, lane, or thoroughfare that is not forty feet wide, including pathway, and unless such street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or other place is first proclaimed.

Erection of houses.

3. No person shall be permitted to erect any fence, house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place in the Municipality without first serving notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk, stating such intention, and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and without having received an authority from the Mayor or Council Clerk, who will give the required level and alignment on payment of a fee of five shillings. Awnings extending over the footpaths to be 12 feet in clear width and 7 feet clear height; permit to erect awning, 2s. 6d.; permit to erect fence, 2s. 6d. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building line in any street or lane by the erection of houses, verandahs, door-steps, fences, or any other obstruction whatever.

Committee for Works to fix street levels.

4. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the supervision of such Committee, shall, subject to such orders as shall from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, fix and lay out the level of all public roads, streets, and ways within the Municipality, and the carriage and foot ways thereof; and it shall be the duty of such Committee, officer, or person to place posts at the corners or intersections of any such public roads and streets, and of the carriage-ways and foot-ways of such roads and streets, wherever the same may be considered necessary or desirable by the Council. Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, or way, until the same shall have been submitted to, and adopted by the Council, as hereinafter directed.

Change of street levels.

5. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, or way, as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cuttings, to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify, by advertisement in some paper circulating in the Municipality, that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman, and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Encroachments to be removed.

6. When any foot-way has been marked out, the Surveyor or other officer may with the sanction of the Council cause the same to be levelled and made of equal breadth and slope, and for this purpose may, after thirty days' notice given, remove any flagging, steps, fence, or other matter or thing that may injure or obstruct the said foot-way, or render it unequal or inconvenient, and which now is, or may hereafter be erected or placed on the space marked out for any of the said foot-ways, the before-mentioned notices to be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroaching structure belongs, or who has erected the same, or caused it to be erected.

Holes to be enclosed.

7. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave, or cause to be left, any hole, adjoining or near to any street or public place within the said Municipality, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner, to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works, or shall keep up, or cause to be kept up, and continued any such enclosure, for any time which shall be no longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights upon each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the foot-ways to be enclosed.

8. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, or premises having an entrance area, garden, or other space open adjoining the foot-way of any street or public place within the Municipality beneath the level of the kerbstone or exterior edge of such foot-way, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient rails, fences, or other enclosures, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and in failure thereof every such owner or occupier shall, upon conviction for every such offence before any two Justices of the Peace, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs.

9. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drains for discharge of surface water from land.

10. Every owner or occupier of land in, adjoining to, or near any street, if such land shall be so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any foot-way of such street, shall, within seven days next after the service of notice by the Council for that purpose, construct and lay from such point upon such land being near to the foot-way, as shall be specified in such notice by plan appended or otherwise, and higher in level than the bottom of the channel at the outer edge of the footway to the said channel, and through, under, and transversely to the foot-way, and keep in good condition such covered drain or trunk, as and subject to the inspection of the Council or its proper officers; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid, or with the provisions of this section, such owner or occupier shall forfeit any payment not exceeding five pounds. And if within seven days after such conviction such owner or occupier shall still have failed to comply with such notice, or be otherwise in default, as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and for every further such offence he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds. And every such owner or occupier who shall still have made default as aforesaid for more than seven days after such second or any future conviction shall be held guilty of a further offence within the meaning of this section.

Rain not to be carried on to foot-paths.

11. It shall not be lawful for any person whomsoever, to carry, by means of pipes, gutters, or other contrivances, any rain water from the roof of his or her premises or house upon any of the foot-ways of any street or public place within the said Municipality; and any owner or occupier of any such house or premises who shall neglect or refuse to remedy or remove any such pipes, gutters, &c., when required to do so by any officer of the Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten shillings, and a like sum for every seven days that the same shall not be remedied or removed; Provided that the owner or occupier of any such house or premises may convey any such rain water by means of pipes laid under the surface of such foot-ways into the gutters adjoining the same; and provided also, that all such pipes shall be laid down to the satisfaction and under the superintendence of the officer appointed by the Council.

Drawing or tralling timber.

12. Any person who shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles, or to drag or trail upon any part of such street to the injury thereof, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damages occasioned thereby.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on foot-ways, &c.—Not removing when required.—Replacing same after removal.

13. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever, in or upon or over any carriage or foot way in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or shall place, or cause to be placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck or other carriage upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading and unloading, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage-way or foot-way any timber, stones, bricks, lime, or other materials or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises over any part of any such foot or carriage way, or over any area of any house or other building or premises, and shall not immediately and permanently remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other proper officer of the Council, shall, upon conviction for every such offence, forfeit and pay not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

14. The owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipality, who shall permit any tree or plant to overhang any path or foot-way on the side of any such street or road, so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and who on demand made by the Council, or their officer, shall not cause to be cut all such trees or plants to the height of eight feet at the least, the said Council's servants may cut all such overhanging trees or plants, and remove or burn any portion of such trees or plants so cut, without being deemed trespassers; and in case any person resist in any manner the said Council or their servants in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, any person so offending shall, on conviction, pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

15. Every person who, in any street or other public place or passage within the Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences, shall, on conviction for any and every such offence, pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than five shillings:—

Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in the house fronting any street or public place, and close to the foot-way thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackle.

Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger or annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window, near to any street or public place, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.

Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of a house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or repaired).

Every person who shall be the keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the Municipality.

Cattle not allowed about the streets.

16. It shall not be lawful for any person whomsoever to suffer any kind of cattle, horse, ass, mule, sheep, swine, goats or geese belonging to him, or under his or her charge, to depasture, stray, or go about in any street, road, or public place within the Municipality; and any person who shall so offend shall pay in respect to every such offence any sum not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings.

Riding or driving furiously.

17. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street or public place within the said Municipality, so negligently, carelessly, or furiously, that the safety of any other person shall or may be endangered, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Riding on drays.—Careless driving, &c.

18. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind, shall ride upon any such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse and driver, or guided with reins only, excepted); or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street, that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses, or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever, meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage, on the left or near side of the street, road, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street; or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, or hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, every driver or person so offending shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Public Property.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

19. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

20. Any person who shall damage any building, toll-bar, board, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, water-course, or other public property within the said Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if such damage be wilfully done, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Penalty for destroying boundary-marks.

21. Any person pulling down, destroying, defacing, or injuring any marks, or any fence or other erection, without the authority of the Council, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

22. Any person who shall wilfully and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root-up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood, growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

23. Every person who shall wilfully let in, or knowingly suffer to enter upon the reserves or public recreation ground, any animals without due authority, shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass, and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Placards not to be affixed on walls without consent.

24. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard, or any other paper, upon any wall, house, fence, or other erection, nor deface any such wall, house, fence, or erection with chalk, paint, or other matter, unless with the consent of the owner thereof; and every person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall pay a sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Offences against public decency.

25. Any person who shall bathe near or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the Municipality, between the hours of seven a.m. and eight p.m., shall, on conviction, pay a sum not exceeding one pound for each offence.

Penalty for indecent exposure.

26. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or in the view thereof, shall, on conviction, pay for every such offence not more than ten nor less than two pounds.

PART V.

Driving carriages, &amp;c., on foot-ways, and throwing filth, &amp;c.

1. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing, in or upon the carriage-way or foot-way of any street or other public place of the said Municipality; or shall run, drive, draw, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, drawn, or driven, upon any of the said foot-ways of any such street or public place any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, handbarrow, or truck, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, stand, or permit to stand, or ride, any horse, ass, mule, or any other beast upon any such foot-way, shall, upon conviction, pay for the first offence not more than forty nor less than five shillings; for the second offence not more than five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence not more than ten pounds nor less than one pound for each such offence.

Slop, night-soil, &amp;c., to be conveyed away only at certain hours.

2. Any person or persons who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any cart, or other carriage with any night-soil therein, through or in any street or public place within the said Municipality between the hours of five a.m. and ten p.m., or shall fill any cart or other carriage so as to turn over or cast any night-soil, slop, mire, or channel dirt or filth, in or upon any such street or public place, or shall deposit night-soil, or other offensive matter, nearer to any street, road, or dwelling than shall be directed by the said Council, or by the Inspector of Nuisances; or shall remove night-soil or other offensive matter otherwise than in properly covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles; or shall cause any vehicle used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any road, street, or dwelling than shall be directed by the said Council or the said Inspector of Nuisances, shall for every such offence forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds; and in case the person so offending shall not be known to the said Council or Inspector, then the owner of such cart or carriage in which such night-soil or other offensive matter shall be put or placed, and also the employer of the person so offending, shall be liable to and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

Dead animals not to be thrown into any public watercourse.

3. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public watercourse or waterhole, shall, on conviction, forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds.

4. Any owner or occupier of any land or premises who shall permit any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any offensive matter to remain upon the said land or premises after notice shall have been given to remove the same, shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings for every day that the same shall so remain.

Swine not to be kept.

5. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other hereditament, situate and being in or within thirty yards of any street, or public place, or any dwelling-house in the said Municipality, shall, on conviction, pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Slaughtering in unlicensed premises.

6. If any person or persons shall slaughter, or cause to be slaughtered, any animal in any house or place within the Municipality not licensed for such purpose according to law, such person or persons shall, on conviction before any two Justices of the Peace, forfeit and pay a sum of money not exceeding ten pounds for each and every animal so slaughtered.

Animals slaughtered for home consumption.

7. Nothing in these By-laws contained shall extend to or affect any person or persons slaughtering at his, her, or their own residences within the said Municipality, animals for the personal consumption of himself, herself, or themselves, or for his, her, or their family, servants, or labourers: Provided that the place where any such animal so slaughtered be not less than fifty yards from any street or other public place, or from any residence other than the residence of the person or persons so slaughtering as in the By-law aforesaid mentioned.

Closets.

8. All closets erected henceforth shall be dry earth closets, either Moule's patent self-acting, or supplied with a large soil bucket—an open earth box, and a pint scoop.

Size and description of closets.

9. The inside size of closets shall be not less than four feet by three feet (4 feet x 3 feet) by 6 feet 6 inches high (6 feet 6 inches), with a brick or wooden floor, and shall have a properly hinged door, with inside fastening, and ventilating holes, or a window that will open, seats to have hinged covers. Every closet now built or to be built shall have a child's seat, either separate or hinged over the large seat.

Situation of closets.

10. No closet shall be nearer than 20 feet from any dwelling if it be practicable, and convenient to each earth closet shall be two small sheds or bins for dry earth and for wet earth, each to contain not less than one cubic yard measurement, the sides and tops to be quite watertight.

Notice to be given of erection.

11. Every person about to erect a closet shall give seven days' notice in writing to the Inspector of Nuisances, stating proposed position of closet, which shall be subject to approval by the Inspector of Nuisances, and the work shall not begin before the expiration of the seven days without the sanction in writing of the Inspector of Nuisances, or other authorized officer, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that persons aggrieved by the decision of the Inspector may appeal in writing to the Council within fourteen days from the aforesaid decision.

Separate closets for each tenement.

12. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement, and if it be a dwelling, the number of ordinary occupants must not exceed twelve for one closet; but if it be a factory, or place of business, or school, then one closet shall be provided for every twenty persons, and a separate closet must be provided for each sex. A breach of this By-law shall make the owner or occupier liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Alterations may be compelled.

13. If any alterations are required in any present cesspit or closet, or in any closet to be erected in the future, and the Council adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to public health, or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, or which may present obstacles to the cleansing or emptying of cesspits, and the owner or occupier shall not make the necessary alterations within fourteen days after receiving notice so to do from the Council Clerk, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or other authorized officer, to have the work done at the cost of the owner or occupier of the premises whereon the same may be.

Times for inspection.

14. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other authorized officer, may visit or inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, on all days except Sundays and holidays, between the hours of ten o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the evening, and he shall at once report to the Mayor any existing nuisance, and any person who shall hinder or obstruct any officer of the Council as aforesaid upon such visit, or inspection, or work, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Night-soil may be used.

15. Every person shall be at liberty to use on his own premises all night-soil collected from any earth-closets thereon; but if any nuisance shall arise therefrom he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

No person shall be allowed to use on his premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere without the sanction of the Council, and any person committing a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Cesspits not to be emptied without sanction.

16. Any persons requiring their cesspits to be emptied shall give written notice to the Inspector of Nuisances, and any person emptying or causing to be emptied any cesspit without the sanction of the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer of the Council, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Dépôt for night-soil.

17. The place of deposit for night-soil shall be from time to time determined by the Council.

Removal of night-soil.

18. The night-soil shall be removed in water-tight carts, by contractors, between the hours of ten o'clock at night and five o'clock on the following morning, and shall be deodorized within twenty-four hours after, by the application of dry-earth or chemicals.

The Council may charge dues.

19. The Council may charge such sums for the emptying of cesspits and attendance on earth closets, as may be from time to time decided by resolution of the Council, and the Inspector of Nuisances, on behalf of the Council, may at any time, after seven days' notice shall have been left upon the premises in respect of which such sums are payable, sue for and recover the same from the owner or occupier.

PART VI.

Miscellaneous.

Public exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition, other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14 Victoria No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character specially provided for, shall be held or kept for profit within the said Municipality, nor shall any bowling-alley, skittle-alley, or other place of public amusement other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or a place for temporary amusement, be used as such, for hire or profit, unless and until permission be granted in writing by the Mayor.

No exhibitions, &c., on Sundays, &c.

2. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held or kept open or used for the purpose of such public amusements on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law shall, on conviction, pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Clerk.

3. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock or earth within fifty yards of any road, street, public place, or dwelling, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety, on payment of a fee of five shillings; and if any person shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock or earth within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the Council Clerk, he shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence not less than one nor more than ten pounds.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

4. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove, or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stones, or other material, or any road scrapings or sweepings, in or from any part of the carriage or foot way of any street or other place within the said Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any such carriage or foot way shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Thistles and weeds.

5. All occupiers, lessees, or owners of any land within the Municipality shall grub-up, eradicate, and destroy all weeds known as the black thistle and Bathurst burr during the months of November, December, January, February, and March in each year, and in no case shall such occupiers, lessees, or owners allow the aforesaid weeds to seed upon their land; and it shall be lawful for the proper officer of the Council to serve notice upon any such occupier, lessee, or owner, to destroy the aforesaid weeds, and should the said occupier, lessee, or owner fail to have done so within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to employ labour to destroy the aforesaid weeds and to charge the owner, lessee, or occupier of the land whereon the said weeds have been destroyed with the costs of such labour: Provided further, that if any occupier, lessee, or owner, after having received notice, as aforesaid, shall refuse or neglect to obey such notice, he shall be liable, on conviction, to a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

Spring carts and buggies to carry lights.

6. Any person driving any spring cart, buggy, or other light vehicle at a pace faster than a walk, between sunset and sunrise, shall carry a light in a conspicuous place on the off side of such vehicle. Any one offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(BY-LAWS—BOROUGH OF COBAR.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 28th April, 1885.

COBAR MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

The following By-laws made by the Council of the Municipal District of Cobar, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the "Municipalities Act of 1857."

WILLIAM BEDE DALLEY.

BY-LAWS FOR THE MUNICIPALITY OF COBAR, 1885.

BY-LAWS made and passed by the Municipal Council of Cobar for regulating the proceedings of the Council; the duties of their officers and servants; for compelling residents to keep their premises clean; and generally for the proper government of the Municipality.

1. The Council shall meet for the dispatch of business at the hour of eight p.m. on every alternate Wednesday, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case, the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint.

2. If the Mayor shall be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for the holding of any meeting, the Aldermen present shall choose a Chairman. Provided always, that if the Mayor shall afterwards attend, such Alderman shall leave the chair to be taken by the Mayor.

3. Whenever any meeting shall lapse, or be adjourned for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be recorded by the Council Clerk.

4. The business of each ordinary meeting shall be transacted in the following manner, viz. :—

1. Reading and confirming minutes of previous meeting or meetings.
2. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
3. Correspondence to be read and dealt with.
4. Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor to be presented and ordered upon.
5. Questions as to matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to.
6. Motions on notice to be dealt with in their respective order.
7. Orders of the day, which shall comprise all business set down for the day by order of any previous meeting, or necessarily arising out of the proceedings of a former meeting. The Council may, by resolution, take any particular matter out of the regular order on the business paper.

Power to suspend By-laws.

5. The Council shall have power to suspend, pro tem., one or more of the By-laws. Provided that no such suspension shall be allowed for the purpose of voting money, and that two thirds of the members present consent.

Postponement of debate on motion.

6. Any debate or order of the day, when called on, may be postponed to another time to be duly specified: Provided that no discussion shall be allowed upon such motion for adjournment, and the Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to open the debate on resumption.

Motions to be in writing, and seconded.

7. All resolutions proposed and all amendments shall be submitted in writing, and no motion or amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions not to be withdrawn.

8. No motion of which notice has been given shall be withdrawn if any Alderman object; and if any Alderman who has given notice of motion fail or decline to move it, the Mayor or any other Alderman may move the same.

Questions may be put.

9. No question shall be put to the Mayor when in Council requiring the production of papers, or which cannot be replied to without reference to books or papers, unless twenty-four hours' notice in writing shall have been given thereof to the Council Clerk.

Amendments and order of

10. When any motion of Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman may move an amendment thereon, and if an amendment be carried, the question, as amended, thereby becomes itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved. If any amendment shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question, which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on: Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Fixing salaries.

11. When any motion or amendment relates to the fixing of salaries or rates, or other matters of finance, the lowest sum shall be put first, then the next lowest, and so on to the highest.

Motions for adjournment.

12. Any motion for adjournment shall be put immediately without discussion. If such motion be negatived, the business then under consideration, or the next in order on the business paper, shall be discussed before any notice for adjournment may be moved.

Divisions.

13. Any Alderman may call for a division, in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative, and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded, and any Alderman present when a division is called for who shall not vote (not being disabled by law for so doing) shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of 10s.

Motions that would rescind.

14. No motion, the effect of which if carried would be to rescind any resolution passed by the Council during the current municipal year, shall be entertained unless at a special meeting of the Council called for that purpose, and no such motion, if negatived by the Council at such special meeting, shall be again entertained during the same municipal year.

Aldermen not to speak more than ten minutes.

15. No Alderman shall speak twice on any motion or amendment, except when in Committee, or in explanation where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood; the mover of every question shall have the right of reply, provided that no Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer period than ten minutes without the consent of the Council.

To stand when speaking.

16. Every Alderman shall stand when speaking, and shall address the chair.

Offensive personal statements.

17. No Alderman shall make offensive personal reflections upon or impute discreditable motives to any other Alderman. Any Alderman so offending shall immediately, upon being thereto required by the Mayor or presiding Alderman, withdraw the offensive expressions and retract any such imputation of motive, and make an apology satisfactory to the Council. Any Alderman declining so to apologise, and to withdraw the offensive expressions, or to retract the imputation of motive, shall be liable on conviction to a fine or penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds for the first offence, and on a second conviction for a like offence he shall be liable to a fine or penalty of not less than two pounds. Any Alderman may move without notice that the offensive words be taken down, and when this has been done it shall be prima facie evidence of such words having been used.

Committee of the Council.

18. The rules of the Council shall be observed in Committee of the whole, except the rule as to standing and that limiting the number of times of speaking. It shall be competent for any Alderman to move that any subject matter, motion, or Order of the day, be considered in Committee, and should the Council so decide that such business be considered in Committee, the Council, as may thereupon be decided, may go into Committee or otherwise.

Points of order.

19. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any Alderman being out of order, and every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising and the decision of the Mayor or Chairman thereon shall be conclusive.

Speaking.

20. Any Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon, but no Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Petitions

21. Any Alderman presenting a petition shall satisfy himself that the wording thereof is respectful and in order. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the persons signing the same, and no debate shall take place upon the presentation of a petition until notice has been given in the usual manner.

Committees.

22. There shall be three standing Committees, the Finance, Improvement or Works, and By-law Committees, and each such Committee shall consist of three Aldermen, and may be called together at any time by direction of any one member of such Committee.

Reports from Committees.

23. All reports upon Standing Committees to be presented in writing, and signed by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction by a minute in writing.

Work and tenders.

24. Works undertaken by the Council and estimated to cost over ten pounds to be let by tender; estimates of the cost of all works determined upon shall be laid before the Council by the Council Surveyor, or on the report of the Works Committee, before the contract is entered into for such works.

Urgent works may be ordered.

25. The Mayor, or in his absence any two Aldermen, may order any sum not exceeding ten pounds to be expended in repairing any public work under the control of the Council which may be suddenly damaged, and such order shall be reported at the next meeting of Council.

Payment—How made.

26. No money shall be paid by the Council until the account for the same shall have been examined by the Finance Committee, and approved of by the Council.

Common seal, &amp;c.

27. All charters, deeds, muniments, and records of the Municipality shall be kept in the office thereof in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order. All papers, deeds, contracts, and agreements requiring to be sealed with the common seal shall be witnessed by the Mayor and the Council Clerk. For the purpose of authenticating documents the common seal may be attached thereto, witnessed by the Mayor and Council Clerk, for which a fee of five shillings shall be paid.

Rates to be paid.

28. The rates of the Municipality shall be collected half-yearly, and shall be due and payable on such days as the Council shall determine at the time of making the assessment, or in such other way as the Council may direct. All persons liable to pay rates or assessments shall pay the same to the Council Clerk, or such other officer as may be appointed for that purpose, at the Municipal Council Chambers, during office hours, on such days as may from time to time be appointed by the Council.

Bailiff.

29. The Bailiff shall be appointed by the Council, and shall give such surety, if required, for the faithful discharge of his duties, as the Council may determine upon.

30. The Bailiff shall make all levies and distress under warrant signed by the Mayor in the form of Schedule marked A, hereto annexed, and shall be paid for every such entry and levy made under these By-laws the fees as per Schedule B annexed herewith.

Distress and inventory.

31. At the time of making a distress the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of the Schedule hereto annexed and marked C, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person for his or her behalf, resident at the place where the distress has been made.

Preventing and extinguishing fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &amp;c.

32. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, or work-shop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger any buildings, shall, on conviction, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than £10, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for a period of twelve hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Inflammable fences, &amp;c.

33. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as or for the covering of any such stack any inflammable material, so as to endanger any buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit on conviction for every such offence a penalty of not more than five pounds, and shall also remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid; and any person failing to remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Setting on fire wilfully any inflammable matter.

34. Every person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatsoever in the open air, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the land adjoining the land upon which such matter shall be located, and also inform the Town Clerk of his or her intention so to do, and receiving written permission so to do from him and the occupant of said adjoining land, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Lighting bonfires.

35. Any person who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or firework upon or within sixty yards, or shall discharge any firearms within one hundred yards of any public or private street or any public place, or shall sell gunpowder, squibs, rockets, or other combustible matter by gas, candle, or artificial light, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Setting on fire chimney flues.

36. Every person who wilfully sets, or causes to be set, on fire any chimney flue, smoke-vent, or stove-pipe, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

37. If any chimney catch fire through the neglect of any person occupying or using any premises in which such chimney is situated, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings: Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be enforced if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Justices before whom the case is heard that such fire was in nowise owing to the neglect or carelessness, whether with respect to cleansing such chimney or otherwise of himself or his servant.

Water-carts—licensing of.

38. The Council shall from time to time license to ply within the Municipality such carts for the carrying and sale of water and extinguishing fires as shall on inspection be found fit for that purpose. Every such cart or vessel for the holding of water for the purposes aforesaid shall be capable of containing not less than fifty gallons, and shall have the name of the owner and the words "Licensed Water-cart" painted on such cart in legible letters.

How water-cart licenses are to be obtained.

39. Every such license shall be issued on the written application of the owner thereof, in which application shall be set forth the name and surname and place of abode of the applicant; and for every such license there shall be paid to the Council the sum of two shillings and sixpence. And every such license shall be in force until the 31st day of December in each and every year after the granting of said license.

Penalty for hawking or carrying water for sale without license.

40. Any person hawking or carrying water for sale or hire within the Municipality otherwise than in a licensed water-cart as aforesaid, shall, upon conviction, be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound.

Licensed water-carriers to keep vessels loaded with water.

41. Every driver and owner of a licensed water-cart shall keep such cart loaded with water during all times after sunset and before sunrise, and shall if any premises or property shall be on fire within the Municipality attend at the place of said fire with such cart so loaded as aforesaid with water, and shall continue to cart water by full loads to such place, and shall deliver such water in such manner as may be required by the Mayor or by any Alderman or officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf and then present for the purpose of extinguishing such fire; and every such owner or driver who shall without reasonable excuse fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Fees to be paid to the owners of licensed water-carts.

42. There shall be paid out of the funds of the Municipality to the owner of every licensed water-cart who shall have attended with as sufficient water within his power or capability at the place of any fire as herein provided, and delivered the same as required for the purpose of extinguishing such fire, such reasonable compensation as the Council shall by resolution have appointed in that behalf, and also to such owners of such carts as shall have first and second in order attended with loads of water, such further sums of money by way of reward as the Council by similar resolution shall have fixed upon.

Streets and public places—Public health and decency, &c.

New roads to be reported on.

43. No new public road, street, way, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or reserve shall have been examined by the Committee for Works and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new roads to be delivered to the Council.

44. When any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, reserve, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, reserve, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedications of new roads, &c.

45. If the Council determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed as aforesaid, shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, reserve, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Committee for Works, and such instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Committee for Works to fix street levels.

46. The Committee for Works or any officer or person acting under the supervision of such Committee shall, subject to such orders as shall from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, fix and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, and ways within the Municipality, and the carriage and footways thereof. And it shall be the duty of such Committee, officer, or person to place posts at the corners of intersections of any such public roads and streets wherever the same may be considered necessary or desirable by the Council: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, or way, until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter directed. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cutting to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for seven days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality that such plan is so open to inspection; and no objections thereto shall be entertained by the Council unless made within twenty-one days after such notice shall have been given. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Town Clerk, and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Noxious weeds.

47. Any person appointed by the Council may enter upon any land within the said Municipality, and for that purpose may break open gates or take down or remove fences to extirpate the weed known as the Bathurst Burr or Scotch Thistle or other noxious weeds: Provided always that if any gate be broken or fences removed the same shall, immediately after the work then required to be done, be restored to their former condition as nearly as may be, and the expense of extirpating such weeds and restoring such fences may be recovered as an ordinary debt from the owner or occupier of such lands. Any person hindering or obstructing any person so appointed as aforesaid shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of forty shillings. All owners or occupiers of property within this Municipality shall remove and burn all kinds of thistles, Bathurst burr, or other noxious weeds upon lands owned, rented, or occupied by them; and any owner, tenant, or occupier neglecting to comply with this By-law after fourteen days' notice from any officer of said Municipality requiring him to remove and burn such weeds as aforesaid, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than twenty shillings and not exceeding five pounds.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

48. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove, or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material, or any road scrapings or sweepings, in or from any part of the carriage or foot ways of any street or any other public place within the said Municipality, without leave first had and obtained for that purpose from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any such carriage or foot way shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound. And any person who shall have or make any cellar, or any opening, door, or window, in or beneath the surface of the foot way, or any street or public place within the said Municipality, without the consent of the Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of five pounds over and above the expense of filling up, remedying, or removing such cellar, opening, door, or window.

Holes to be enclosed.

49. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left any hole adjoining or near to any street or public place within the said Municipality, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works of the said Municipality, or shall keep up, or cause to be kept up, and continued any such enclosure for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of said Committee, and shall not place lights upon each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continued existence of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding five pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining foot-ways to be enclosed under a penalty.

50. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, or premises, or land within the said Municipality having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, waterhole, or excavated space adjoining the foot-way of any street or public place in such Municipality shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient rails, fences, or other enclosures to be previously approved of by the Works Committee or any officer whose special duty it shall be to attend to such work, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land having any steps adjoining the foot-way of any such street or public place, shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosure, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof every such owner or occupier shall as often as he or she shall be convicted of such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such fences or other enclosures as aforesaid, after fourteen days' notice from the Council or any duly qualified officer, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Penalty for not covering over wells.

51. Every person who shall have a well situated between his or her dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or foot-way within the limits of the said Municipality, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having such well as aforesaid shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left for any such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain so uncovered contrary to the provisions hereinbefore made and provided, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs.

52. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee or of the Council, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c., &c.

53. Any person who shall haul or draw timber, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place, to the injury thereof; or to hang over any part of any such vehicle or barrow so as to obstruct or occupy the street beyond the breadth of the said vehicle or barrow, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving on footpaths, and throwing filth thereon.

54. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing, in or upon the carriage-way or foot-way of any street or public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or so near to any such street or public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over or be on any or either of any such carriage or foot way; or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said foot-ways of any such street or public place any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, handbarrow, or truck, or any hogshcad, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such foot-way, shall upon conviction thereof forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound, for each such offence.

Placing goods, carriages, &c., on the foot-ways. Not removing same when required. Replacing same after removal. Awnings to be exempted.

55. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board, (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed any pipe barrel, cask, or vessel, in or upon or over any carriage or foot-way in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or shall set but, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage, upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading and unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or if any person who shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage or foot way, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other material or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as herein directed), or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, or any other matter or thing, from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other buildings or premises over or next unto any such street or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other proper officer of the Council; or if any person who having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed, or caused to be removed, any such stall-board, show-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stones, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other matters, or things, shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose, or put out, or cause or procure or suffer to be set, laid, exposed, or put out the same or any of them, or any other stall-board, show-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, goods, timber, stones, bricks, lime, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, truck, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, meat, offal, or other things or matters whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid) in, upon or over such carriage or foot way of or next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding 40s. nor less than 5s., for the second offence a sum not exceeding £5 nor less than 10s., and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding £10 nor less than £1. Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house, in such manner as that such awning shall be at least seven feet high above the height of the foot-way, and that the posts be placed close to the kerbstone or outer edge of such foot-way, and a plan of such awning submitted to the Council prior to its erection, and approved of by said Council or any officer duly appointed for the purpose.

Riding on drays careless driving, &c.

56. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse or driver, or guided with reins only excepted), or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same, or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever, meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage, on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare, or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, every driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding 40s.

Nuisances.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public watercourse, &c.

57. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public watercourse, sewer, waterhole, road, or pathway, or who shall suffer slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such watercourse, waterhole, or who shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the foot-ways or streets of the Municipality, or shall permit or cause, by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public watercourse, waterhole, or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or watercourse, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

58. If any animal shall die in any part of the said Municipality, and the owner of such animal or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the Municipality, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Dead animals on road or street, &c.

59. If any animal shall die on any road, street, or public place within the said Municipality, or within half a mile of any road, street, or public place, or of any dwelling-house, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not immediately cause such animal to be effectually removed and destroyed as aforesaid, or removed as aforesaid, on the spot where it shall have died, if a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house, or if such spot shall not be a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house, or if such owner or occupier shall not immediately cause such animal to be effectually removed as aforesaid, or to be removed to some place not less than a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house, and there destroyed as aforesaid, every such owner or occupier shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals on private premises.

60. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the Council of the said Municipality, with his assistant, may at any hour enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipality where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and if necessary to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose; and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding thirty pounds nor less than three pounds.

Dead animals in certain cases to be removed at cost of Municipality.

61. If any animal shall die in any public place or street within the said Municipality, and the owner or any person having charge of such animal cannot at the time be found or ascertained, it shall be immediately removed by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in manner aforesaid at the cost of the Municipality.

Drains.

62. All drains whatsoever, and the water-closets, earth-closets, privies, cesspools, and ashpits within the Municipality of Cobarr shall be constructed so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so that there shall be no overflow, soakage, or leakage therefrom.

Cleansing of privies and cesspits.

63. The occupier of any house, building, or tenement within the Municipality of Cobarr shall cause every privy cesspool thereon to be emptied and cleansed, from time to time, as soon as any portion of the contents of such cesspool shall have so accumulated therein as to be within a distance of one foot from the top of the wall, sides, or lining of such cesspool: Provided that the contents of any privy shall not be removed or discharged therefrom except between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m.; and provided also that the contents of any privy or cesspool shall not be removed or discharged therefrom until such contents shall have had mixed therewith a quantity of chloride of lime, zinc, carbolic acid, common salt, or some other efficient deodorizer sufficient to effectually deodorize and disinfect the same.

Objectionable closets to be altered.

64. If any alteration shall be required in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or any officer of the Council appointed in that behalf for preserving public health or decency, in the case of any existing cesspit or closet, the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council shall report the same to the Council, and if the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to health or opposed to decency, the same shall be altered by the occupier or owner of the premises upon which such cesspit or closet exists, after due notice has been served upon such occupier or owner. And should such occupier or owner neglect or refuse to alter the same, the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall forthwith make the necessary alterations, and the cost of the same shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises wherein the same shall be.

The disposition of night-soil.

65. The place of deposit of night-soil shall be in such locality as may from time to time be determined by the Council, and until otherwise provided by the Council shall be disposed of as authorized by the Inspector of Nuisances.

Prohibition of use of night-soil.

66. No person shall be at liberty, without the permission of the Council, or of the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer of the Council appointed in that behalf, to use on his own premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere. And any person committing a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

Burial of night-soil.

Inspector of Nuisances' report.

68. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Nuisances to furnish the Council with a report, every month, containing a list of persons proceeded against for nuisances within this Municipality, specifying the dates, and giving particulars of each case.

Maximum and minimum penalties where not otherwise provided for.

69. In any case where no special penalty is fixed in these By-laws for any breach of the same, the maximum penalty for any such breach shall be twenty pounds, and the minimum one pound.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, &c.

70. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, fellmongering establishments, and soap-works in the said Municipality, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, soap-works, and establishments, both within and without, as to him shall seem needful; and any butcher or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, soap-works, or establishment, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises, &c.

71. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the said Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the officer of the said Council shall have the full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck filth, soil, or other offensive matter in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

72. Every person who in any street or other public place or passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences shall, on conviction for any and every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds.

1. Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the foot-way thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.

2. Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place, the carcass or any part of the carcass of any newly-slaughtered animal, without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.
3. Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub overhanging the footpath to the danger or annoyance of any person.
4. Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window near to any street or public place without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
5. Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof or any part of any house or other building any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure) when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or repaired.
6. Every person who shall within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house burn any rags, bones, cork, or other offensive substance to the annoyance of any inhabitant.
7. Every person who shall be the keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

Swine not to wander about the streets.

73. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure situate and being in or within sixty chains from the Post Office within the Municipality, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of the like nature, belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered, or depastured in any street, road, or public place within the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings, and to be made liable for damages.

Blasting rock.

No rock, &c., to be blasted without notice and permit.

74. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock or other similar substance within one hundred yards of any street or public place or dwelling-house in the said Municipality, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Town Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the said blasting shall take place, and the said officer shall give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the said Town Clerk or other duly appointed officer of the Council, he or she shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

75. Any person who shall bathe near to or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public wharf, quay, bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Municipality, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and eight in the evening, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

76. Any individual who shall offend against decency, by exposure of his or her person in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or in the view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Houses of ill-fame.

77. Upon representation of any respectable ratepayer that any house or premises within the Municipality, and near to the residence of such ratepayer, is of ill-fame, it shall be lawful for the By-law Committee to cause the residents of such house or premises to furnish to the Council a list of names, ages, sexes, and occupations of all the inmates of the said house or premises; and upon non-compliance with such request, or, if upon consideration, the said Committee consider the house to be one of ill-fame, they shall, with the sanction of the Council, declare the same to be a nuisance, and shall cause a notice in writing to be served upon the holder of such house or premises, or any person resident or being therein, to discontinue or abate the said nuisance within forty-eight hours after the receipt of such notice. And if such nuisance be not so abated, the holder of such house or premises, or other person residing or being therein and acting as such holder, shall be liable to be proceeded against for such nuisance, and shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay any sum not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds. And if such nuisance shall not be abated within forty-eight hours after such conviction, such holder of such house or such other person residing or being therein as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for such second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if a further period of forty-eight hours shall elapse after such second conviction without the abatement of such nuisance, such holder of such house, or other person residing or being therein as aforesaid, shall for such third offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Noisome and offensive trades.

No noisome or offensive trades to be carried on to the injury of any inhabitants.

78. No person shall carry on any noisome or offensive trade within the said Municipality so as to injure or be a nuisance, as hereinafter stated, to the inhabitants thereof.

Definition of noisome and offensive trades.

79. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of or in connection therewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on, such as fellmongering or boiling-down establishments, which shall be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said Municipality, shall be considered a noisome and offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws.

Complaint, inquiry, and report Order of Council thereon. Notice to discontinue, &c. Penalty.

80. Upon complaint in writing by any householder that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property, as to injure his or her health, or the health of any member of his or her family, or to be a nuisance to such householder and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or person appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a "noisome and offensive trade" within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade, to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct; or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipality. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid, within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds, and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES:

(BY-LAWS.—MUNICIPALITY OF COOTAMUNDRA.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15th April, 1885.COOTAMUNDRA MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

The following By-laws, made by the Council of the Borough of Cootamundra, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

JAMES S. FARNELL.

BY-LAWS.

1. That the following be and are hereby confirmed as the By-laws of the Council of the Borough of Cootamundra.

Meetings of the Council.Ordinary meetings.

2. Unless otherwise ordered, the Council shall meet for the dispatch of business on every alternate Thursday, at the hour of 3 p.m., unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such day as the Mayor may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.—Adjournment for want of quorum.

3. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down, and recorded in the Minutes Book.

Course of procedure.

4. The following shall be the course of procedure at such meetings, viz. :—

1. The reading and confirmation of minutes of the proceedings of previous meetings.
2. Reports from committees.
3. Reading of correspondence and presentation of petitions.
4. Adjourned motions, and motions of which notice has been given.
5. Such other business as may lawfully be brought before the Council.

Business at special meetings.

5. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or Alderman, at whose instance the special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Absence of proposed mover.

6. No motion, of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper, shall be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

7. No motion shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motion to be in writing, and not withdrawn without leave.

8. Every motion notice of which has been given shall be in writing, shall be signed by the mover, and no motion when seconded shall be withdrawn without leave of the Council.

Amendments may be moved.

9. When a motion shall have been moved and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Only one amendment at the time.

10. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment shall have been disposed of.

Petitions.

11. The Council may at any meeting resolve, without previous notice, that any petition be received, and that the same, or any correspondence read, be referred to a Committee for report, or that the requests therein contained be granted.

Mayor to preserve order.

12. The Mayor shall preserve order, and may at any time call to order any Alderman who may appear to him to be out of order.

Call to order.

13. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor to any Alderman being out of order, or to any point of order.

Mayor's decision on points of order final.

14. Every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor thereon shall be conclusive, except as hereinafter provided.

Power of Council as to laying down general rules, &c.

15. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice may, by motion on notice respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar question of order or of practice which may hereafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding upon all parties, unless, and until, it be rescinded, but shall have no retrospective operation.

Mayor may take part in proceedings.

16. The Mayor may take part in all the proceedings of the Council or Committees thereof.

Questions put by Mayor.

17. The Mayor shall put all questions, first in the affirmative and then in the negative (provided that where an amendment is moved to any motion, the amendment shall be first put), and may do so as often as may be necessary to enable him to determine the sense of the Council thereon, and thereupon he shall declare his decision, which shall be final, unless a division be called for.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience of Aldermen.

18. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor shall decide which of them shall be entitled to pre-audience.

No Alderman to speak twice on the same question or amendment except in Committee.

19. No Alderman shall speak twice on the same question, unless in Committee, or in explanation, where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood: Provided that any Alderman although having previously spoken, may speak once on every amendment, and that the mover of every question shall always have a right of final reply.

No Alderman to make personal reflections

20. No Alderman shall digress from the matter under discussion, or make personal reflections on, or impute motives to, any other Alderman.

No Alderman to speak for more than fifteen minutes.

21. No Alderman shall speak on any motion or amendment for a longer period than fifteen minutes without the consent of the Council; and every Alderman shall stand when speaking and address the chair.

Alderman using offensive expressions to apologise.

22. When any member of the Council shall make use of any language or expression offensive or capable of being applied offensively, to any Alderman, the member so offending shall be required to withdraw such language or expression, and to make an apology satisfactory to the Council.

Debate may be adjourned.

23. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour the same day, or to another day.

Alderman adjourning debate entitled to precedence on resumption.

24. The Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to precedence on the resumption of the debate.

Adjournments.

25. Any motion for adjournment of the Council, if seconded, shall be immediately put without discussion; but if such motion be negatived, it shall not be competent for any Alderman to make a similar motion until thirty minutes shall have elapsed.

Any Alderman may divide Council.

26. It shall be competent for any Alderman to divide the Council on any question, both in full Council and in Committee of the whole Council; and no Alderman shall leave his seat or place till the names of the Aldermen, and how voting, shall have been taken down by the Council Clerk, or person officiating for him.

Divisions to be entered on minutes.

27. All divisions of the Council shall be entered on the minutes of the proceedings.

Questions to be read when required.

28. Any Alderman may require the question or matter under discussion to be read once for his information, and upon such request the question or matter under discussion shall be read.

Suspension of By-laws.

29. Any of these By-laws relating to or affecting proceedings at meetings of the Council may be suspended, pro tempore, in cases of emergency by resolution of the Council.

Rescinding motion already passed.

30. No motion to rescind any decision of the Council shall be entertained, except at a Council of the whole specially called for the purpose.

Standing and Special Committees.*Standing Committees.

31. There shall be a Committee of Works and Finance Committee. These committees shall be re-appointed every year at the first meeting of the Council, which shall be holden after the election of Mayor.

Committee of Works.

32. The Committee of Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other places under the management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time upon such improvements, repairs, or other matters, as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

33. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues; they shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Rules to be observed in Committee.

34. The rules of the Council shall be observed in a Committee of the whole Council, except the rule limiting the number of times of speaking.

Report of Committee to be signed

35. Every report of a Committee shall be signed by the Chairman thereof.

Protection of funds and records.*Member or officer of Council not to be surety.

36. In cases where surety is required by the Municipalities Act, it shall not be competent for the Council to accept as surety any of their members, or any person holding office under the Council.

Custody of records, seal, &c.

37. The common seal and all charters, deeds, muniments, books, papers, and records of the Council shall be kept in the Council Chambers or office of the Council, in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order for any purpose; and the common seal shall not be used except with the signature of the Mayor and authority of the Council.

Records, &c., not to be defaced or altered.

38. Any person who shall deface, alter, or destroy, or attempt to deface, alter or destroy, any such common seal, charter, deed, muniment, book, paper, or record shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay for the first offence a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds, and upon every subsequent conviction a penalty of not less than twenty pounds.

Not removed.

39. Any person who shall remove, or attempt to remove (except for the purpose of any legal proceedings), any seal, charter, deed, muniment, book, paper, or record from the Council Chamber, without leave from the Council first had and obtained, shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than twenty pounds nor less than two pounds, and for every subsequent offence a penalty of not less than five pounds.

Expense of proposed works to be first ascertained.—Accounts to be examined by Finance Committee.

40. No work shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been ascertained by the Council; and all accounts to be paid by the Council shall be examined by the Finance Committee and reported on by them before any warrant shall be issued for the payment thereof.

Outlay in urgent cases.

41. In cases of emergency arising between meetings of the Council, it shall be lawful for necessary works to be ordered without vote of the Council, viz.:—By the Mayor to the extent of five pounds; and with the consent of three Aldermen any sum not exceeding twenty pounds.

Levying rates, &c.*Due dates for rates—Defaulters.

42. The rates and taxes levied by the Council shall be held to be due and payable on such day or days as the Council shall by resolution from time to time appoint. Every person not paying his or her rates or taxes at the office of the Council, or to the Council Clerk or other proper officer of the Council within thirty days after any of the days so appointed for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter: Provided that due notice of such rate shall have been given in manner as required by the Municipalities Act of 1867.

Council Clerk to furnish list of defaulters.

43. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor and Council, or any Committee as directed, with lists of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

44. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in any Court of competent jurisdiction, or to issue distress warrants against all such persons, and to cause such warrants to be enforced.

Rates on damaged premises.

45. In the event of any premises being wholly or partially destroyed by fire or other accident, the Council shall have power to accept an equitable proportion of the assessed rates of such premises for the remainder of any municipal year.

Streets and Public Places, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

46. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been examined by a Committee of Works, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new road, &c., to be deposited.

47. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation, through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, park, or other place as aforesaid. And he or they shall execute any instrument dedicating such road, street, way, park, or other place, as the Council may consider necessary.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

48. The Council may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this by-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

No encroachment allowed on streets, &c.

49. Whenever any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare has been marked out, no house, shop, fence, or other structure shall be allowed, except as hereinafter mentioned, to project or encroach on any part thereof; and in order that the due alignment of the roads, streets, lanes, or thoroughfares within the said Municipality shall be observed, and that no encroachment shall be made thereon, it shall not be lawful for any person, unless for any temporary or other purposes permitted by the Council, to erect or put up any building, erection, obstruction, fence, or enclosure, or make any excavation or hole on, under, or near such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, unless due notice of the same shall have been given to the Clerk of the Council at least one week before any such building, erection, obstruction, fence, or enclosure, excavation, or hole as aforesaid shall be commenced to be erected, or put up, or made, and the assent of the Council first obtained. And in default of the same the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than forty shillings; and on every successive conviction for a similar offence shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than three pounds.

Obstructing public pathways.

50. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipality shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such street or road so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and on demand made by the Council shall not cut, lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants to the height of eight feet at the least, the said Council by their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and to remove or burn any portion of such trees, plants, or shrubs so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist, or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council, or their servants, labourers, or workmen, in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every person so offending shall, on conviction for every such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Erection of awnings.

51. No person shall erect an awning in front of any house or shop without first making application to the Council, and any person so doing without authority shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and have such awning removed.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

52. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other such officer or person may at any time, on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroaching structure belongs, or who has erected the same or caused it to be erected.

Council may remove encroachments.

53. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same under the superintendence of its own proper officer, and at the cost of the person so offending, provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds, or at the Council's option to proceed against the offender for breach of By-law, the penalty not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor be less than one pound; and in case of every successive offence the penalty, on conviction, not to be less than five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

54. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment, or to proceed as for a breach of such By-laws as aforesaid.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

55. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavation; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him, or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Inspector or officer, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

OFFENCES, NUISANCES—GENERAL GOOD ORDER OF THE BOROUGH.

Damaging public buildings, &c.

56. Any person who shall damage any public building, wall, parapet, sluice, bridge, road, street, sewer, water-course, or other property of the Borough, shall pay the cost of repairing the same; and if the same be wilfully done, shall also forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds: Provided that such cost and penalty shall not exceed in the whole the sum of fifty pounds.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

57. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Borough, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Damaging trees.

58. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Throwing dead animals, &c., into any water-course, &c.

59. Any person who shall throw or cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent to drown the same, into any water-course, river, creek, or canal, or who shall permit or suffer slops, suds, nightsoil, sewerage matter, or any filth of any kind to flow or be cast from his or her premises into any such water-course, waterhole, river, creek, or canal, or who shall permit, or suffer any such slop, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the Borough, or shall permit, or cause by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, nightsoil, sewerage matter, slops, suds, or filth of any kind whatsoever to flow or be cast into any water-course, waterhole, river, creek, or canal, or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or water, course, river, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, and shall, in addition to any such forfeiture, pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction, or of restoring such water-course or canal into its proper channel.

Throwing filth on roadway, &c.

60. If any person shall, in any street, road, lane, or public place, throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or so near to any of the said streets or roads as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any carriage or footway, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any footway, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, or truck, or any cask, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, or other beast upon any foot-way aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging or pulling up alignment marks or posts.

61. Any person pulling down or pulling up, destroying, or injuring any alignment or other boundary marks or stones, notice-boards, public notices, or other erection on any reserve, public place, or road, without the authority of the Council, shall forfeit and pay any amount not exceeding ten pounds.

Placing goods, &c., on roadways, &c.

62. If any person shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall, show-board, basket, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any case or vessels in or upon or over any road, footway, or public place, within the said Borough, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, or other carriage, upon any footway, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in, upon, or over any of the said carriage or footways, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as hereinafter directed), or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other things or matter whatsoever from any house or premises, over any part of such footways, or carriageways, or over any area of any house or premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside or any part of any house or premises, over or next to any such street or road, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Council or any officer thereof, and shall not continue and keep the same so removed; or if any person having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed, or caused to be removed, any such stalls, show-board, basket, goods, coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, carriage, timber, stone, brick, lime, meat, offal, or other matters or things, and shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, or exposed the same or any of them, or any other article or thing whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid) in, upon, or over any of the carriage or footways of or next unto any streets or roads, as aforesaid,—in every such case every person so offending shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

63. If any person shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street, road, or public place, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled carriages, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon wheeled carriages, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place to the injury thereof, or to hang over any part of such carriage so as to occupy or obstruct the street or road beyond the breadth of the said carriage, every such person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence the sum of forty shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby: Provided that such penalty and damages shall not together exceed the sum of ten pounds.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without leave, &c.

64. Any person who from any part of the road, street, thoroughfares, or public places, shall remove, or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material, without leave first had and obtained from the officers or persons having lawful charge of such roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any part of the said roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings, and for every subsequent offence shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than one pound.

No driver to ride on vehicle without a person to guide his beasts (vehicles with reins excepted), or go to a distance from his vehicle, or drive on wrong sides, &c.

65. If the driver of any waggon, dray, or vehicle of any kind shall ride upon the same in any street, road, or thoroughfare, not having some person on foot to guide the animals drawing the same (such vehicles as are drawn by horses driven or guided by reins only excepted), or if the driver of any vehicle whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such vehicle, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street, road, or thoroughfare that he cannot have the direction or government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, coach, carriage, or other vehicle shall not drive on the left or near side of any such road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her on any vehicle under his or her care, upon such street, road, or thoroughfare, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any person or vehicle, or carriage, in or upon the same—every such driver or person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

As to driving or riding improperly through streets.

66. Any person who shall ride or drive through any road, street, or public place negligently, carelessly, or furiously, or so as to endanger the life or limb of any person, or to the common danger of the passengers, or who shall not carry a light upon any vehicle after an hour after sundown to daylight, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls, and chalking thereon.

67. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard or other paper upon any wall, fence, house, or building, nor to deface any such wall, fence, house, or building by chalk, paint, or in any other manner, unless with the consent of the owner thereof. Any person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Cattle, &c., not to wander about streets, &c.

68. It shall not be lawful for any person to suffer any kind of cattle, horse, ass, mule, sheep, swine, or goat, belonging to him or under his charge, to stray, or go about, or to be depastured in any road, street, or public place in this Borough; and any person who shall so offend shall forfeit and pay in respect of every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

As to private avenues.

69. Any owner or occupier of any house, place, or land, within the said Borough, who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, yards, and ways, within the said premises, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, or who shall allow stagnant water to become a nuisance on his land, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings for every such offence; and upon the reasonable complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the officer of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this by-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose.

Placing dead animals on premises.

70. Any person who shall place, or cause or suffer to be placed, upon any land or premises within the Borough, any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any other offensive matter, so as to become a nuisance to the inhabitants thereof, shall, on conviction, suffer and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Allowing dead animals to remain on premises.

71. Any owner or occupier of any land or premises who shall suffer or permit any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any other offensive matter, to remain upon the said land or premises after notice shall have been given to remove the same, shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings for every day that the same shall so remain.

Removal of night-soil.

72. It shall not be lawful for any person or persons to drive, or cause to be driven, any cart or carriage of any kind with any night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, slop, urine, or channel dirt, or filth, in or upon or near to any of the said streets, roads, or other public places; and in order to prevent nuisances it shall not be lawful for any person to deposit night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter, nearer to any street, road, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or its officer; and all night-soil and other offensive matter shall be removed within the hours hereinafter prescribed, in properly covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles; and no vehicles used for this purpose shall be allowed to stand on any premises nearer to any road, street, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or its officer; and every person offending against this by-law shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Hours for removing night-soil, &c.

73. If any person shall take away night-soil from any house or premises within the said Borough, or shall come with carts or carriages for that purpose, except within the hours of ten at night and five in the morning, or if any person or persons shall cast or permit to leak or slope out of any cart or tub, or otherwise, any night-soil in or near any of the streets or public places, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of five pounds for every such offence; and in case the person or persons so offending cannot be found, then the owner or owners of such cart, carriage, or other vehicle employed in and about emptying and removing such night-soil, and also the employer or employers of the persons so offending, shall be liable to and forfeit such penalty as aforesaid.

Discharging fire-arms, &c.

74. Any person who shall discharge any fire-arms without lawful cause, or let off any fireworks or any other explosive matter in or near to any road or street, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council, &c.

75. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within the distance of one hundred feet of any dwelling-house, street, road, or other public place, shall give forty-eight hours' notice to the Council or any Alderman thereof, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as they or he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the said Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Cellars or openings beneath footpaths prohibited.

76. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any cellar, or any opening, door, or window, in or beneath the surface of the footway of any road, street, or public place within the said Borough, except by permission of the Council; and if any person shall so offend he shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds over and above the expense of remedying or removing any such cellar, opening, door, or window, such expense to be assessed and allowed by the convicting Justice or Justices: Provided that such expense and penalty shall not exceed fifty pounds.

Wells to be covered over, &c.

77. Every person who shall have a well between his dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof, and any public place, road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Borough, or at the side of such public place, road, street, or footway, or in any yard or place open and exposed to such public place, road, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having such a well as aforesaid shall fail to cover and secure the same within forty-eight hours after notice in writing shall have been given him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left at such person's usual or last known abode, or at the said premises, in the manner and with such materials as the Council or its officer shall direct, and to their satisfaction, such person shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five shillings every day that such well shall remain open or uncovered contrary to the provisions hereof: Provided that, with respect to wells or underground tanks open at the time when this By-law shall come into operation, such penalty shall not be recoverable if the same be properly covered in one month thereafter.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

78. Every person who in any street or other place or passage within the said Borough shall commit any of the following offences, shall, on conviction, for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds.

Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.

Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place, the carcass, or any part of the carcass of any newly slaughtered animal, without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same, for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger or annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall, within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house, burn any rags, bones, or cork, or other offensive substance (garden refuse excepted), to the annoyance of any inhabitant.

Every person who shall be the keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person in any street or other public place within the said Borough.

Every person or persons who shall persist in playing, in a public place any musical instrument or instruments to the annoyance of any ratepayer who may object to it.

Water from roofs, &c.

79. Every owner or occupier of any dwelling-house, shop, or other building, who shall permit rain-water to fall from any roof, balcony, or other projection, upon any street, road, lane, or footway, or shall cause or permit any such roof or rain-water to be discharged by any pipe upon any such street, road, lane, or footway, shall, if such nuisance be not abated within seven days after notice to abate the same shall have been given by the Council, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Drains to footpaths.

80. No surface drain shall be made in any footpath, nor any pipes laid under or across the same without the authority of the Council; and no such pipe or drain shall be used for the discharge into any street or roadway of any offensive liquid or matter of any kind whatsoever; and any person who shall so offend shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Drains for discharge of surface water from land.

81. Every owner or occupier of land so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow, or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any road, lane, or footway, shall within seven days next after the service of notice by the Council abate such nuisance where possible; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid such owner or occupier shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Natural water-courses.

82. Any person who shall close or intercept any natural water-course, by building or otherwise, shall provide another outlet for the surface water with pipes or sewers of a size and in a manner to be approved by the Council, and any person failing to comply with the provisions of this by-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.

Fires or combustible material, &c.

83. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, work-shop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible, or inflammable article of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings (except with the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof), shall on conviction of every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable article; and every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable article to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this by-law.

Water Supply.

Polluting water, reservoirs, &c.

Damming up water without consent.

85. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment in or across any river, creek, or natural water-course, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds, and if, after such second conviction, such person shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time, he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if within a reasonable time after a third or any further conviction he shall fail to remove any such dam or embankment, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Supply of water in time of drought.

86. In time of drought or scarcity of water, the Council may, by resolution to that effect, cause water to be supplied to the inhabitants of this Borough by water carts or otherwise, and shall, by such resolution as aforesaid, fix a price to be charged for water so supplied.

Conduct of Business.

Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

87. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negating such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Modes of proceeding in cases not provided for.

88. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

PART II.

Collection and enforcement of rates.—Rates under section 164 of the 31st Victoria, No. 12, to be collected half-yearly.

Times and modes of collection.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provision of section 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purpose mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by half-yearly instalments. Each such instalment shall, as to every such rate and every such instalment thereof, be held to be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing of such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Office hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Defaulters.

4. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons whose rates are unpaid at the expiration of the time fixed for the payment of the same as aforesaid.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to issue distress warrants against all such persons, and to cause such warrants to be enforced, or to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a Court of Petty Sessions for small debts or District Court.

Bailiff.

6. A Bailiff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailiff sureties.

7. The Bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of twenty-five pounds each for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duty of bailiff.

8. It shall be the duty of the Bailiff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates, in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorised to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the Bailiff shall sell the goods as distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises, or at such other place within the said Borough as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose; and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

11. At the time of making a distress the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer, on demand, at any time within one month after such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The Bailiff on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold; and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

14. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. There shall be payable to the Bailiff for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the cost and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of Distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Municipal Borough of _____, do hereby authorise you, _____, Bailiff of the said Borough, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____ situated at _____, for _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Borough to the day of _____, for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises as the case may be) and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CONCORD—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 24th June, 1885.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CONCORD.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Concord, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

ALEX. STUART.

BY-LAWS for regulating the proceedings of the Council of the Municipal District of Concord, and the duties of the officers and servants of such Council; for preserving order at meetings of the said Council; for determining the times and modes of collecting and enforcing payment of rates; for preventing and extinguishing fires; for suppressing nuisances and houses of ill-fame; for preventing or regulating and licensing exhibitions held or kept for hire or profit, bowling-alleys, and other places of amusement; compelling residents to keep their premises free from offensive or unwholesome matters; opening new public roads, ways, and parks; aligning and cleansing roads and streets; regulating the supply and distribution of water, sewerage, and drainage; preserving trees and shrubs; regulating free libraries; preventing or regulating the bathing or washing the person in any public water near a public thoroughfare; preserving public decency; providing for the health of the Municipality and against the spreading of contagious or infectious diseases; restraining noisome and offensive trades; and generally maintaining the good rule and government of the said Municipal District.

PART I.

PROCEEDINGS of the Council and Committees—preservation of order at Council meetings—duties of officers and servants, &c.

Meetings of the Council.

Ordinary Meetings.

1. The Council shall meet for the dispatch of business at the hour of eight p.m. on every alternate Thursday, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor. Adjournment for want of quorum.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect, from among themselves, a Chairman for such meeting.

Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down, and shall be recorded in the Minute Book.

Order of Business.

Business of Ordinary Meetings.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
3. Correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
4. Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon.
5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council, to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council or any of its Committees or officers to be made.
6. Motions of which notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
7. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time, by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; also, and in like manner, to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business at Special Meetings.

4. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor, or the Aldermen at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Business paper for Ordinary Meeting—how prepared.

5. The business paper for every meeting of the Council, other than a special meeting, shall be made up by the Council Clerk, not less than two nor more than three days before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy of the substance of every notice of motion, and of every requisition or order as to business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter, in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of section 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws, in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction shall have been received.

Business paper for Special Meeting.

6. The business paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Aldermen calling such meeting.

Summons to Members.

7. The summons to members of the Council for every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How business paper is to be disposed of.

8. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meeting, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with, and such business paper so voted shall be a record of the Council.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter disposed of, unless withdrawn before business paper made up.

9. All notices of motion, and all requisitions from Aldermen, and directions from the Mayor as to the entry of any particular matters of business for the consideration of the Council at its then next or any future meeting, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received; and each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the minute book of the manner in which such matter has been so disposed of shall have been duly verified as required by section 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws: Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

After business paper made up, all notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

10. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all the said notices of motions, requisitions, and directions, as to which entries have been made thereon, shall be the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions and Amendments.*Motions—how to be moved.

11. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed, shall be struck from such business paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Absence of proposed mover.

12. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper, shall, except as hereinafter provided, be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

13. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

14. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

15. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

16. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amended question—further amendment may be moved thereon.

17. If an amendment be carried, the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

18. If any amendment, either upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on: Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

19. No discussion shall be permitted on any motion for adjournment of the Council; and if, upon the question being put on any such motion, the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration, or the next in order on the business paper, or any other on such paper that may be allowed precedence, shall be discussed before any subsequent motion for adjournment shall be receivable.

Requisitions from Aldermen how to be dealt with.

20. Every requisition by an Alderman, that any particular matter of business be brought before the Council, shall be regarded and treated as a notice of motion by such Alderman that such business be taken into consideration by the Council. And he shall be called upon in due order to move that such business be so considered, or to make any other motion which he may think fit in reference thereto, which shall be consistent with the notice of such business, and with good order. And if such Alderman be absent, or, if being present and so called upon, he shall make no such motion, then it shall be open to any other Alderman to make such motion. And when any such motion shall have been made, it shall be dealt with in precisely the same manner as if notice thereof had been given, subject, however, to any objection which may exist as to its not being in accordance with the notice actually given of such business or with good order. And if no motion shall be made in reference to such business, the entry relating thereto shall be struck from the business paper.

Orders of the Day.*Of what orders of the day shall consist.

21. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or which the Mayor or any committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

How they are to be dealt with.

22. Section 20 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered applicable to orders of the day. And the Alderman who has the usual charge of, or who has previously moved in reference to, the particular business to which any such order of the day relates, shall be the person called upon to move: Provided that as to any order of the day entered as aforesaid, by direction of the Mayor, such Mayor may arrange with any Alderman to move, and may in such case call upon the Alderman with whom he has so arranged.

Petitions.*Petitions to be respectfully worded.

23. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—how received.

24. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

How petitions are to be dealt with.

25. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that it be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned; or that it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Correspondence.*Duties of Mayor as to correspondence.

26. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by section 23 of this "Part" of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent, and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Section 25 to apply to letters.

27. Section 25 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council as to petitions.

Letters sent not to be discussed, but every letter may be subject of motion.

28. No discussion shall be permitted in reference to any letters which have been written and sent by the Mayor, or by any officer of the Council, and copies of which may be read to such Council: Provided, however, that any notice of motion, consistent with good order, may be entertained with reference to any such letters, whether read or not, or with reference to any letters addressed to the Council, which the Mayor or presiding Alderman may not have ordered to be read as aforesaid.

Reports from Committees, and Minutes from the Mayor.

Form of Report.

29. All reports from Committees shall be written on foolscap paper, with a margin of at least one-fourth of the width of such paper; and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or in his absence by some other member of the same.

Mayor's minute.

30. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance, by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written upon paper of the same kind, and with the same margin as a report from a Committee, and shall be signed by such Mayor.

How reports, &c., are to be dealt with.—Duties of Chairman, &c., in certain cases.

31. No motion shall (unless as hereinafter provided) be permissible on the presentation of a report from a committee or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, or that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may, if otherwise unobjectionable, be moved or considered in due course. And whenever any such report or minute embodies any recommendation which cannot legally be carried out without any due notice, and it is nevertheless desirable that such report or minute shall be definitely ordered upon during the meeting of the Council at which such report or minute is presented, it shall be the duty of the Chairman, or member of such Committee signing such report, or of such Mayor, as the case may be, to give or transmit to the Council Clerk such a notice of motion, requisition, or direction as aforesaid, as will enable such Council Clerk to make the necessary entry on the business paper, and to give such due notice.

Questions and Statements.

Limitations as to questions and statements.

32. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order, or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of section 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws.

Notice to be given.

33. Sufficient notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto, to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or to documents.

Answer not compulsory.

34. It shall not be compulsory upon any person questioned as aforesaid to answer the question so put to him.

Question to be put without argument, &c.

35. Every such question must be put categorically without any argument or statement of fact.

Similar provision as to statements.

36. Every such statement must be made without argument.

No discussion on question, &c. Rights of objection and of subsequent motion reserved.

37. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement, at the time when such question is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question, or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Mode of addressing the Council, &c.

38. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way, or for any other purpose, address observations to the Council, shall, while so doing, stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from so doing by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor, or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case the question so put and the answer thereto shall be subject to every legal objection, on the ground of disorder or irrelevance. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions, when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

39. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided.

Limitations as to number of speeches, &c.

40. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendments moved thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman, other than the mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion, and on every amendment thereon. No Alderman shall speak oftener than once upon any question other than a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observations than may be necessary for the purposes of such explanation.

Mover and seconder.

41. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Speaker not to digress, &c.

42. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, or impute improper motives to, any other Alderman.

Adjournment of debate.

43. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned, shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

44. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Alderman may require questions to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

45. Any Alderman may request the question or matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such question or matter which are readily accessible: Provided, however, that no such request or requisition shall be so made as to interrupt any other Alderman when speaking, or materially to interrupt the discussion. Also, that if any such request or requisition shall appear to the Mayor or Chairman not to have been made bona fide it shall not be complied with.

Mayor or Chairman not to move or second motion, &c.; but may address Council thereon.

46. The Mayor or Chairman shall not move or second any motion or amendment, nor put any question, as provided for by section 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws, except as is further provided for by section 38 of the same. But such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking (unless prevented by some bodily infirmity from so doing), but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

47. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final, except in so far as the same may be questioned, as in the manner hereinafter provided.

Acts of disorder.

48. Every member of the Council who shall commit a breach of any section of this "Part" of these By-laws, or who shall move or attempt to move any motion or amendment embodying any matter as to which the Council has no legal jurisdiction, or who shall in any other way raise or attempt to raise any question, or shall address or attempt to address the Council upon any subject which the said Council has no legal right to entertain or to discuss, or who shall use any other language which according to the common usage of gentlemen would be held disorderly, or who shall say or do anything calculated to bring the Council into contempt, shall be out of order.

Mayor, &c., may call Member to order.

49. The Mayor or Chairman may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order, whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman, there shall be a necessity for so doing.

Any Member may raise question of order.

50. Every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument, or observation, moved, used, or made by any other member which such first-named member may consider out of order.

Mode of proceeding thereon.

51. A member called to order shall withdraw while the question of order is being discussed and decided upon, unless specially permitted to offer an explanation, retraction, or apology; but on obtaining such special permission such member may explain, retract, or apologize for the matter or remark alleged to have been out of order. And if such explanation, retraction, or apology be deemed satisfactory, no further discussion on the question of order shall be permitted. If any member, on being called to order, shall ask such permission to explain, retract, or apologize as aforesaid, the Mayor or Chairman may, of his own authority, grant or refuse such permission as he may think fit, unless any member shall require the sense of the Council to be taken on this question. In such case it shall be the duty of the Mayor or Chairman to take the sense of the Council at once, and without discussion, as to whether such permission shall be granted. And when any such explanation, retraction, or apology shall have been made, or offered by permission of the Mayor or Chairman, the latter shall in like manner decide, or, if required so to do, shall take the sense of the Council as to whether such explanation, retraction, or apology is considered sufficient. If such permission be refused, or if such explanation, retraction, or apology be considered insufficient, the question of order shall be considered and decided before any further business is proceeded with: Provided that if such Mayor or Chairman shall have decided the question of order before any member shall have required the sense of the Council to be taken in reference thereto, such question of order shall not be re-opened. And provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the right of such Mayor or Chairman to decide finally, as hereinbefore provided, upon any such point of order, after the same shall have been discussed.

Decision of points of order.

52. The Mayor or Chairman, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provision, rule or practice which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting upon the same.

Motions out of order to be rejected.—Members to explain, retract, or apologize, &c.

53. Whenever it shall have been decided as aforesaid that any motion, amendment, or other matter before the Council is out of order, the same shall be rejected; and whenever anything said or done in Council by any Alderman shall be similarly decided to be out of order, such Alderman shall be called upon by the Mayor or Chairman to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as the case may require.

Penalties for persisting in disorderly conduct.

54. Any member of the Council who shall have been called to order, and who, after having been twice directed to withdraw as aforesaid, shall refuse to do so, or who shall persist in any line of conduct or argument, or of observations, which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, or who shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as aforesaid when required so to do, or who shall be guilty of any other act of disorder, as defined in section 48 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable, on conviction for the first offence, to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds; and on a second conviction for the like offence, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and on the third conviction, and for every further conviction for the like offence, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Power of Council as to laying down general rules, &c.

55. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice, may, by motion on notice, respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar questions of order or of practice which may thereafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding upon all parties, unless and until it be rescinded, but shall have no retroactive operation: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to bind any Mayor or Chairman to put any motion to the Council which in his opinion is contrary to law.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

56. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions.—Penalty for refusing to vote.

57. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for, and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

Protests.

Mode of protesting.—Protest to be recorded, but may under certain circumstances be expunged.

58. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council; notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed, or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the minute-book; but if, in the opinion of the Council, it be inconsistent with the truth, or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution or notice) be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with reference in the margin to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Committees of the whole Council.

Rules applicable to business in Committee.

59. The following sections of this "Part" of these By-laws shall (except as herein excepted) be taken to apply to the conduct of business in Committee of the whole Council, namely sections 13, 14 (except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded) 15, 16, 17, 18, 33, 39, 42, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 56, and 57.

Disorderly conduct in Committee.—Refusal to vote.

60. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order, within the meaning of section 54 of this "Part" of these By-laws, it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting, and that such matter be reported; and if such motion be carried, such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the minute-book; and whenever any Alderman shall have failed to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by section 57 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the facts shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the minute-book: Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid, no special motion that the Council resume its sitting shall be necessary; but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the Whole, in making his report of the proceedings in such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which such Alderman has so failed to vote.

Decisions in Committee on points of order may be reported.

61. Whenever a decision upon any question of order shall have been given by the Chairman of a Committee of the whole Council, under the provision of section 47 of this "Part" of these By-laws, any Alderman may move that such decision be embodied in the report to the Council of the proceedings in such Committee; and if such motion be carried, such decision shall be so embodied in such report, whenever the same shall be made.

How progress may be reported, &c.

62. Any Alderman may at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress, as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on any further day, or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried, the Council shall resume its sittings, and a report shall be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion, and if the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another such motion shall be receivable.

Reports of proceedings in Committee.—Want of quorum in Committee.

63. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council, vis a voce by the Chairman of such Committee; and a report of such proceedings shall be made in every case, except when it shall be found, on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Committee, that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case, the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Committee shall be considered to have lapsed: Provided, that in making of any such report as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the result, general effect, or substance of such proceedings.

How reports are to be dealt with.

64. All such reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the minute book; but except as hereinafter mentioned, no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council, until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption, or for the granting of such leave. And every such motion for the adoption of a report, or for the granting of leave as aforesaid, and the order of debate on such motion shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council, and the order of debate on such other motions: Provided, however, that where a report shall have been made under section 60 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of disorderly conduct in Committee, or under section 57 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of failure to vote on division, or of any decision in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall, so far as it relates to such facts, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof; and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretext whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be ordered.

65. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution of which due notice shall have been given, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Such call compulsory in certain cases.

66. There shall, without any special order to that effect, be a call of the Council for the consideration of every motion which may be made under section 55 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and of every motion for the rescission of any resolution, order, or decision of such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

67. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered, or is required to be made by the last preceding section, shall be moved or considered, such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all the members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name as so called, and if any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such member shall have previously been granted, or if such an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.—Further call when question adjourned.

68. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, being absent, shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness or any other sufficient cause, he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds. Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day, there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration; and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence, shall have reference to such further call. And if there shall be more than one adjournment, this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committees.

69. There shall be three Standing Committees, namely, a By-law Committee, a Committee for Works, and a Finance Committee. These Committees shall be re-appointed every year at the first meeting of the Council, which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Constitution of Standing Committees.

70. Each of the three Committees in the last preceding section shall consist of three members.

Mode of re-appointing Standing Committees.

71. The re-appointment of the three said Committees may, on resolution of the Council, be made by ballot. In such case, a list or lists of all the members of the Council shall be handed to each member then present, who shall mark against the name of each such member the title of the Committee to which, in his opinion, such member ought to belong. And the Mayor or Chairman shall thereupon examine such lists so marked, and shall declare the result. And if there shall be an equal number of votes for the appointment of any two or more members to any one of such Committees, such Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such members shall be appointed to such Committee.

By-law Committee.

72. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Municipality. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws, and of any statute of which the operation has been or may be extended to the Municipality, and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention or punishment of offences against such By-laws or statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order, and decency.

Committee for Works.

73. The Committee for Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other public places under the care and management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

74. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect, or to be likely to affect, the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Special Committees.

75. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a Special Committee ought to be appointed. And no Standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been entrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution, after due notice; and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such Special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as, in his opinion, ought to constitute such Committee; or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot; and in the latter case, or if an amendment to the effect that such Special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, each member then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council, from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom, in his opinion, such Special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such list, and shall declare the result. And in the event of its becoming necessary, through an equality of votes to decide as to which of two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committee.

76. Every Committee, of which the Mayor shall not be a member, shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee within seven days after their appointment.

Term of service in Committee.

77. Appointments to the By-law Committee, the Committee for Works, and the Finance Committee, shall be for the whole municipal year. The appointment of every Special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the right of such Committee to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another such Chairman in his stead, or to militate against the general provisions as to Committees in sections 109 and 110 of the Municipalities Act of 1867; and that so much of this By-law as relates to the appointment, powers, and duties of Committees, shall be read and interpreted in connection with such last-mentioned general provisions.

Committee meeting—how called.

78. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the Chairman, or any two members of such Committee.

Records of transactions in Committee.

79. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters, cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

80. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses.—Expenses authorized to be reported.—Outlay to be in accordance with orders of the Council.

81. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Works, or of the Mayor, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor for necessary current expenses to the extent of two pounds.

Provided, that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting; such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee for Works, or the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorized. Also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council; and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence be thus authorized.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

82. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council, shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order.—Certificates to be attached to report.

83. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate or memorandum from the Committee, from the Mayor, or from the office of the Council to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons for its non-fulfilment, before recommending payment: Provided, however, that such special report as last herein mentioned may be embodied with the report by which payment of the amount in question is recommended: Provided also, that in cases of special expenditure under section 81 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the report directed by that section to be laid before the Council shall, if the outlay shall have been lawfully incurred, be deemed a sufficient certificate: And provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at fixed rates of payment, by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to any such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for the payment of such amount, shall be a sufficient authorization for such payment; and such certificates, memoranda, and authorizations shall be attached respectively to the reports from the Finance Committee on the payments or outlays to which such certificates, memoranda, or authorizations have reference.

Common seal and records of the Council.

Common seal and press—how secured.—Care of same.

84. The common seal and the press to which the same is attached shall be secured by a cover or box, which, except when such seal and press are in use, shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock of this cover or box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor and the other by the Council Clerk. Such common seal and press shall be in the custody and care of the Council Clerk.

When and how common seal to be used.

85. The common seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How books of account are to be kept and inspected.

86. The Treasurer shall keep such books of account and such records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, in such manner and form as the Council may from time to time direct. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to inspect all such books of account, records, statements, and memoranda, from time to time, to ascertain that the same are properly kept, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect, or appearance of inefficiency which they may have discovered in the keeping of the same; also, to report to the Council from time to time any changes which such Committee may think advisable in the mode of keeping the accounts.

Records of the Council defined.—Provisions for proper keeping of same.

87. The minute book, letter book, and all rate and assessment books, books of account, records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, electoral rolls, and other records relating to elections, business papers, reports from Committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions, letters on municipal business, addressed to the Council or to the Mayor or to any officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda, relating to Municipal business, drawings, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council, shall be deemed records of the Council. All such records other than the minute book and other books, and other than electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, shall be numbered and filed in due order, and shall be duly registered by the Council Clerk in a book to be kept by him for that purpose. Upon the face of every document thus registered, to which there is any reference to the minute book, there shall be a note of the page wherein it is so referred to. And when any order has been made by the Council, or a report has been brought up by any Committee thereof in reference to any document so registered as aforesaid, a note of such order or report shall be made upon such document. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may discover in the keeping of such records.

Impression of seal not to be taken, &c., without leave of Council.—Penalties.

88. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to take any impression of the corporate seal, or to show, lay open, or expose any of the books or records of the Council to any person other than a member of the same, without leave from such Council, except as otherwise provided by law. Any member or officer of the Council who shall be guilty of a breach of this section shall be liable on conviction for the first offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds; for a second offence to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds.

Records not to be removed, &c.—Penalties.—Exceptional circumstances.—Receipt to be given in every case before document received.—Proviso as to use of records as matter of evidence.

89. Any person removing any such book or other record of the Council as aforesaid, from the Council Chamber, or the place where by direction of the Council such book or other record is usually kept, without leave for such removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal, as hereinafter provided, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid, and shall not have returned the same, to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same, as the circumstances of the case may warrant: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk or the Treasurer by the Mayor, in order that such Clerk or Treasurer may post up entries, prepare returns, or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform; also, that the Mayor, or the Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any such Chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution or suit at law by, against, or at the instance of the Council: but in all such cases, such Clerk, Treasurer, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for every document so removed, and every such receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the book or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed: And provided also, that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council, who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a Court of Law, shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purposes of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as may be, and shall before removing the same leave at the Council Chamber a receipt for such book or other record as aforesaid; and every such person so temporarily removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid, shall be legally responsible for the safe-keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

90. Any person destroying, defacing, or altering any record of the Council, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

Notice to candidates in certain cases.

91. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council, to which a salary or allowance of fifty pounds per annum, or a salary or allowance exceeding that amount, is attached, shall be made until public notice shall have been given, as hereinafter provided, inviting applications from qualified candidates for the same; the salary or allowance attached to such office shall in every case be fixed before such notice is given, and shall be stated in such notice.

Mode of appointment.

92. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot in such mode as may at the time be determined on, whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Exceptional cases.

93. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the employment as may be from time to time found necessary, and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Municipal District.

Bonds for good conduct.

94. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties, shall be deposited with the Attorney or the Bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

95. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which by the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Municipal District under the provisions of the said Municipalities Act. He shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may (as hereinafter provided) be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor.

Duties of Treasurer, &c.

96. The Treasurer shall have charge of such books of account and other records of the Council as are mentioned in section 86 of these By-laws, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of the same; any other officer of the Council may have any other records thereof committed to his charge by an order of the Council, and in such case shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records.

Duties of other officers and servants.

97. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation shall be defined by such regulations as may from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made as follows, viz.:—As to the duties of the Council Clerk and his assistants (if any)—by the Mayor. As to the Treasurer and all collectors of rates, bailiffs, bailiffs' assistants, and other officers and servants employed in and about the collection of revenue, whose superintendence is not hereinafter specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Finance Committee. As to all surveyors, architects, clerks of works, overseers, inspectors of water supply, sewerage, or drainage, or other officers and servants employed in and about the public works of the Municipal District, and in the supply of water therefor, or the sewerage or drainage thereof, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Committee for Works. As to the Attorney for the Corporation, Inspector of Nuisances, and other officers and servants employed in and about the carrying out and enforcement of the general provisions of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and of any other statute of which the operation has been extended to the Municipal District, and of the By-laws for the general good government of such Municipal District, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the By-law Committee. And as to librarians, managers of public institutions or reserves under the charge of the Council, and all other officers and servants employed in or about any matter over which the Council has control, and whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—the Mayor: Provided that all such regulations shall be in writing, and shall be in all cases laid before the Council at the first meeting thereof, which shall be held after the making of any such regulations, and shall be in strict accordance with any such orders or directions as may have been at any time given by such Council touching the matters to which any such regulations may have reference.

Special powers of Mayor.

98. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is on record as hereinafter provided; or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statement, or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded. All such explanation or information may, except as hereinafter provided, be either rendered  viva voce, or put into writing as the Mayor may direct.

How complaints against officers, &c., are to be dealt with.

99. All complaints against officers or servants of the Corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining. And no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing, or is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the same before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same. And if any such complaint be made to the Council, or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to and investigated by the Mayor before it shall be in any way (otherwise than by such reference) ordered upon or dealt with by such Council; Provided that every report, explanation, and information which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaint, shall be in writing. And such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation and his opinion as to what order (if any) ought to be made in connection therewith; and such complaint, with all reports, explanations, and information, as aforesaid, in connection therewith, and the Mayor's statement as aforesaid thereon, shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof, which shall be held after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the special power conferred on the Mayor by section 152 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or any other special power which now is or hereafter may be conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of absence.

100. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman otherwise than by a resolution of the Council, adopted after due notice.

Subdivisions and change of property.

Change of occupier.—Subdivisions of property.

101. If the owner, tenant, or occupier of any property within the Municipal District for which he or she is assessed shall give up the possession of such property, he or she shall within seven days from the date of giving up the possession thereof deliver to the Council Clerk a notice in writing, showing and setting forth the name and address in full of the person to whom possession of such property has been given. And if any property shall be subdivided in the interval between one assessment and another, and let to two or more persons, the tenant or owner who previously occupied the whole of such property, or who is still in possession of a portion thereof, shall within seven days from the time of such subdivision being made deliver to the Council Clerk a notice in writing, showing and setting forth the area, the rent, and the names in full of the occupier or occupiers of such subdivisions. And any such owner, tenant, or occupier failing or neglecting to give such notice, as is herein required, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

102. Wherever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council, shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negating such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council, with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after due notice, as hereinafter provided, and in due course of law of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed business.

103. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration may be ordered by resolution of the Council after due notice, and such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties, &c.

104. Such suits or informations for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or of any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute, the operation of which may have been extended to the Municipality, as may have been directed by the Council or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid, shall be so commenced or laid as follows, namely:—When against a member of the Council, or an Auditor, or any officer of the Corporation—by the Council Clerk, unless such Council Clerk shall be the officer to be proceeded against, and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose; when against any other person, by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or By-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been entrusted; and if there shall be no such officer, then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council or the By-law Committee, or the Mayor, as the case may be, on directing such suit or information as aforesaid; and no such suit shall be brought on information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council, or Auditor, except by order of such Council; nor shall any similar proceeding be taken against any officer of the Council, except on the order of such Council, or of the Mayor, nor against any other person, except upon the order of the Council, or of the Mayor, or of the By-law Committee. And no such suit shall be directed to be brought, nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid, except on an express resolution of the Council; in any case where the bringing of such suit, or the laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction by such Council; or where, on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information, the same shall have been dismissed on the merits: Provided that in any such case the conduct or prosecution of any such suit or information may, on the order of the Council, be entrusted to an attorney.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

105. In all cases not herein provided for resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

Power to suspend, temporarily, certain portions of this By-law.

106. Any such section or sections of this "Part" of these By-laws, or any portion or portions of such sections or sections as are not hereinafter excepted, may be suspended by resolution, on notice at any meeting of the Council: Provided that there shall be a distinct statement in every such resolution, and in the notice of the motion whereon the same shall have been adopted, of the purpose for which such suspension is required, and that for every separate matter or business as to which such suspension is so required there shall be a separate resolution as aforesaid: And provided also that the following sections hereof shall never be suspended, nor shall any one of them, nor any portion of any such sections, be suspended on any pretence whatever, namely:—Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21, 22, 23, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 34, 38, 39, 42, 44, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 80, 81 to 90 inclusive, 94, 97, 98, 99, 100, 102, 104, and 105.

PART II.COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF RATES.Times and modes of collection.

Rates under sec. 164 of the 31st Vict., No. 12, to be collected half-yearly.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provisions of section 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by half-yearly instalments. Each such instalment shall, as to every such rate and every such instalment thereof, be held to be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Office hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Defaulters.

4. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons whose rates are unpaid at the expiration of the times fixed for payment of the same as aforesaid.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to issue distress warrants against all such persons, and to cause such warrants to be enforced, or to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

Enforcement by Distress.Bailiff.

6. A bailiff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailiff's sureties.

7. The bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of twenty-five pounds each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duty of Bailiff.

8. It shall be the duty of the bailiff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates, in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the bailiff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises, or at such other place within the said Municipal District as the bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose; and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

11. At the time of making a distress, the bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf, resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place, with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand, at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The bailiff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days, as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon, may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

14. The bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. There shall be payable to the bailiff for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed, marked C.

SCHEDULE A.Warrant of Distress.*

I, Mayor of the Municipal District of _____ do hereby authorize you _____ the bailiff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____ situate at _____ for _____ being the amount of rates due to the said Municipal District to the _____ day of _____ for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises as the case may be) and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.

Dated this _____ day of _____ 188 .

Mayor.

PART III.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &amp;c.

1. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds; and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials, to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Inflammable fences, &amp;c.

2. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as or for the covering of any such stack, any inflammable material, so as to endanger contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit, on conviction for every such offence, a penalty of not more than five pounds, and also shall remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after such conviction. And any person failing to remove such fence, stack, or covering, within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Fireworks.

3. Every person who shall light any bon-fire, tar-barrel, or firework upon or within sixty yards of any public or private street, or any public place, or shall sell gunpowder, squibs, rockets, or other combustible matter by gas, candle, or other artificial light, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

4. Every person who wilfully sets, or causes to be set on fire, any chimney-flue, smoke-vent, or stove-pipe, herein called in common a "chimney," shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds: Provided always that nothing herein contained shall exempt the person so setting or causing to be set on fire any chimney, from liability to be informed against or prosecuted before any Criminal Court for such act as for an indictable offence.

Water carters to attend at fires.

5. Every owner and driver of a licensed water-cart shall keep such cart loaded with water during all times after sunset and before sunrise; and shall, if any building, premises, or property shall be on fire within the Municipal District, attend at the place of such fire with such cart loaded with water, and shall continue to cart water by full loads to such place, and shall deliver such water in such manner as may be required by the Mayor or by any alderman or officer, or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, and then present, for extinguishing such fire; and every such owner or driver who shall, without reasonable excuse, fail to comply with the provisions of this section, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Compensation for attendance at fires.—Rewards.

6. There shall be paid out of the Municipal District funds, to the owner of every licensed water-cart who shall have attended with any water at the place of any fire as herein provided, and delivered the same as required for extinguishing such fire, such reasonable compensation as the Council shall, by resolution, have appointed in that behalf, and also to such owners of such carts as shall have first and second in order attended with loads of water, such further sums, by way of reward, as the Council may, by similar resolutions, have fixed.

PART IV.

Notices, Streets, and Public Places.—Public health and decency, &amp;c.

Mode of calling for tenders.

1. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any materials supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice, as hereinafter provided.

Drafts of intended By-laws.

2. A draft of every intended By-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by such Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same; and public notice shall be given as hereinafter provided that such draft is so lying for inspection.

How notices are to be published.

3. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation done, made, or passed, or proposed to be made, done, or passed by the Council, or by any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the said Council, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same twice in some newspaper circulating in the Municipal District.

Persons obstructing officers of the Council.

4. Any person or persons who shall obstruct any officer of the said Council, while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing, or performing, or going to perform, or returning from the performance of any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threats, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language towards the said officer, in any street, road, or other place within the said Municipal District, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

New roads to be reported upon.

5. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been formed by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee for Works or other duly authorized officer, or until the said road, street, way, or park shall have been duly examined by the Committee for Works, or other duly authorized officer, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee or other duly authorized officer.

Dedication of new roads, &amp;c.

6. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans, so signed aforesaid shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council, and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, park, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Council; and such further instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Change of street levels.

7. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, or way, as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed cuttings, to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify, by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipal District, that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman, and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Roads and Streets, and encroachments thereon, &amp;c.

8. The Committee for Works, or the Surveyor of the Municipal District, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and footways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land, with frontage to the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare in question shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee for Works, or Surveyor, or other officer to place posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of forty-two feet for the carriage-way and twelve feet for the foot-way on each side, where the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare shall be sixty-six feet wide, and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council in any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than sixty-six feet: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided: Provided further, that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to "The Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1881."

Kerbing, flagging, and tar-paving.

9. The Council of the Municipal District may cause the foot-way or path-way in front of any house or ground, along any street, private street, or lane within the Municipal District, to be kerbed and flagged or asphalted in such manner as the Council may think fit; that one-half the amount of the cost of kerbing be borne and paid by the owner of such house or ground, and one-half the expense of asphaltting be borne and paid by the said owner of such house or ground. Owners of property along Government roads within the Municipal District, where kerbed, shall have such flagging or asphaltting done free of cost. Such costs may be recovered from the owner of such house or ground in a summary way before any two Justices of the Peace: Provided also, that no proceeding for the recovery thereof shall be taken until at least one month after a requisition for payment of the amount, together with an account of the total expenditure, signed by the Council Clerk, has been delivered to such owner.

Erection of house—fee for permission, &c.

10. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or other building, in any street, lane, or place within the said Municipal District without first serving seven days' notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk, or other duly authorized officer before commencing the same, stating his intention, and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and every owner of, and every contractor for such house, shop, or other building, or any part thereof, commencing to build or work thereon without such notice having been given, and shall at the time the said notice is given as aforesaid, pay unto the Council Clerk or other duly authorized officer, a fee of five shillings for permission to erect any fence, or any such house, shop, coach-house, stables, or other detached buildings, to be so erected on any premises, street, lane, or other place within the said Municipal District, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Pipes, gutters, &c.

11. It shall not be lawful for any person to carry by means of pipes, gutters, or other contrivances, any rain-water from the roof of his or her premises or house upon any of the foot-ways of any street or public place within the said Municipal District; and any owner or occupier of any such house or premises who shall neglect or refuse to remedy or remove any such pipes, gutters, or contrivances when required to do so by any officer of the said Council, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings. Provided that the owner or occupier of any such premises or house may convey any such rain-water by means of pipes laid under the surface of any such foot-ways into the gutter adjoining the same, subject to the approval of the Committee for Works or other duly authorized officer.

No balcony, &c., to project.

12. With regard to buildings, hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any awning, verandah, portico, balcony, coping, parapet, overhanging eaves, cornice, windows, string-cornice, string-course, dressing, or other architectural decoration forming part of or attached to any external wall, to project beyond the building line of any street or road, except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony or any other external projection as aforesaid, which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, except with the consent of the Council first obtained: Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street less than thirty feet wide: Provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

13. The Surveyor or other such officer or person may at any time, on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare under the charge of the Council. Notice shall, in this case, be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroachment in structure belongs, or who has erected the same, or caused it to be erected.

Council may remove encroachments.

14. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same, under the superintendence of its own proper officer, and at the cost of the person so offending: Provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds, or at the Council's option, to proceed against the offender for breach of By-law, the penalty not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor be less than one pound; and in case of every successive offence the penalty, on conviction, not to be less than five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

15. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council, either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment, or to proceed as for a breach of such By-laws as aforesaid.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

16. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavations; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Surveyor or other officer as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him, or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Surveyor or officer, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Hoards or fences to be erected.

17. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the Municipal District, or to cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be done where any street or foot-way will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street with a convenient platform and hand-rail, if there be room enough to leave as a foot-way for passengers outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence, with such platform and hand-rail as aforesaid standing in good condition, to the satisfaction of the officer of the Council of the said Municipal District during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall in all cases in which it is necessary, in order to prevent accidents, cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night; and every such person who shall fail to put up such fence, or hoard, or platform with such hand-rail as aforesaid, or to continue the same respectively standing in good condition as aforesaid during the period of such building or taking down, or who shall not, while the said hoard or fence is standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted in the night, or who shall not remove the same when directed by the officer of the Council of the said Municipality within a reasonable time afterwards, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day such default is continued.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

18. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain, or sewer, or remove or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material, in or from any part of the carriage or foot-way of any street or other public place within the said Municipal District, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any such carriage or foot-way shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Holes to be enclosed.

19. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave, or cause to be left, any hole, adjoining or near to any street or public place within the said Municipal District for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works of the said Municipal District, or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued any such enclosure for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights upon each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding five pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the foot-ways to be enclosed under penalty.

20. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, premises, or land within the said Municipal District, having any entrance area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, waterhole, or excavated space, adjoining the foot-way of any street or public place in such Municipal District, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient paling fence, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land, having any steps adjoining the foot-way of any such street or public place shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he shall be convicted of such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fences, or other enclosures as aforesaid, within seven days after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Wells to be covered over.—Penalty.

21. Every person who shall have a well or underground tank, used for domestic or other purpose, situated between his or her dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or foot-way within the limits of the said Municipal District, or at the side of, or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or foot-way, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person, having such well or underground tank as aforesaid, shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open or uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

22. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Trees in streets.

23. Any ratepayers may, with the consent and approval of the Council, be at liberty to plant trees on any street, lane, or thoroughfare within the Municipal District for the benefit of such Municipal District.

24. The Council shall have power to plant trees in the streets and public ways of the Municipal District, and any person wilfully injuring or destroying any of such trees, or any railing or fence protecting the same, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds nor less than two pounds in addition to the value of the tree, railing, or fence so injured or destroyed.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

25. Any person who shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipal District, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place, to the injury thereof; or to hang over any part of any such vehicle or barrow, so as to occupy or obstruct the street beyond the breadth of the said vehicle or barrow, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings, nor less than five shillings over and above the damages occasioned thereby.

Driving carriages, &c., on foot-ways, and throwing filth, &c.

26. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing, in or upon the carriage-way or foot-way of any street or other public place in the said Municipal District, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or so near to any such street or other public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any or either of any such carriage or foot-way; or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said foot-ways of any such street or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheel, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, or truck, or any hogshend, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride, any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such foot-way, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound for each such offence; and should the person in charge of such waggon, cart, dray, or other vehicle, refuse to give his name and address, the owner of the same may be prosecuted under this By-law for causing a breach of the same.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on foot-ways, &c.—Not removing when required.—Replacing the same after removal.—Not to prevent awnings being erected in front of shops.

27. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleaned any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel, in or upon or over any carriage or foot-way in any street or public place within the said Municipal District, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit or suffer, to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading or unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage or foot-way any timber, stones, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as herein directed) or any other matters or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of any such foot-way or carriage-way, or over any area of any house or other building or premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other building or premises over or next unto any such street or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other proper officer of the Council, or if any person who having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed, or caused to be removed, any such stall-board, show-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stones, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other matters or things, shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose, or put out, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, exposed, or put out, the same or any of them, or any other stall-board, show-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, goods, timber, stones, bricks, lime, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, truck, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, meat, offal, or other things or matters whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any such carriage or foot-way of or next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house in such manner as that such awning shall be at least seven feet above the height of the foot-way, and that the posts be placed close to the kerb-stone or outer edge of such foot-way.

Obstructing public pathways.

28. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipal District shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any foot-path or foot-way on the side of any such street or road, and on demand made by the Council, shall not cut, lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants to the height of ten feet at the least, the said Council, by their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, or shrubs, and to remove or burn any such trees, plants, or shrubs so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council, or their servants, labourers, or workmen in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf, by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Slop, night-soil, &c., to be conveyed away only at certain hours.

29. Any person or persons who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any cart or other carriage with any night-soil or ammoniacal liquor therein, through or in any street or public place within the said Municipal District, between the hours of five o'clock in the morning and ten o'clock at night, or shall fill any cart or other carriage so as to turn over or cast any night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, slop, mire, or channel dirt or filth, in or upon any such street or public place, or shall deposit night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter, nearer to any street, road, or dwelling-house, than shall be directed by the said Council, or by the Inspector of Nuisances; or shall remove night-soil or other offensive matter otherwise than in properly covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles; or shall cause any vehicle used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any road, street, or dwelling-house, than shall be directed by the said Council or the said Inspector of Nuisances, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; and in case the person so offending shall not be known to the said Council or Inspector, then the owner of such cart or carriage in which such night-soil or other offensive matter shall be put or placed, and also the employer of the person so offending, shall be liable to and forfeit and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

Riding on drays, careless driving, &c.

30. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind, shall ride upon any such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse and driver, or guided with reins only, excepted); or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street, that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses, or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever, meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage, on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care upon such street; or by negligence or misbehaviour, prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Riding or driving furiously, &c.

31. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street or public place within the said Municipal District, so negligently, carelessly, or furiously, that the safety of any other person shall or may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Blasting rock.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

32. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street or public place, or dwelling-house in the said Municipal District, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the said Council Clerk, he or she shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Discharging firearms, &c.

33. Any person who shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause, or let off any fireworks or other explosive matter in or near to any road or street, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Droving horses, &c.

34. No person shall be permitted to drove horses, sheep, or cattle on any part of the Municipal District, except Concord Road, and anyone infringing this By-law, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every offence.

Public Property.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

35. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipal District, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

36. Any person who shall damage any public building, toll-gate, toll-bar, toll-board, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, water-course, or other public property within the said Municipal District, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if such damage be wilfully done, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

37. If any person or persons shall paste, or cause to be pasted, or otherwise affix any placard or other paper, or chalk or paint, upon any wall, fence, culvert, kerbstone, pathway, hand-rail, or any other property of the Council, shall forfeit and pay for every such separate offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

38. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root-up, or otherwise destroy, or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood, growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Nuisances.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public watercourse, &c.

39. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public water-course, sewer, water-hole, river, creek, road, or pathway; or who shall suffer slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such water-course, waterhole, river, creek, or canal, or who shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the foot-ways or streets of the Municipal District, or shall permit or cause, by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public water-course, waterhole, river, creek, or canal; or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or water-course, river, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

Dead animals—Mode of removal.

40. If any animal shall die in any part of the said Municipal District, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of, that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the said Municipal District, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Dead animals on road or street, &c.

41. If any animal shall die on any road, street, or public place within the said Municipal District, or within half a mile of any road, street, or public place, or of any dwelling-house, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not immediately cause such animal to be effectually removed and disposed of as aforesaid, or destroyed as aforesaid on the spot where it shall have died if a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house; or if such spot shall not be a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house, if such owner or occupier shall not immediately cause such animal to be effectually removed as aforesaid, or to be removed to some place not less than a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house, and there destroyed as aforesaid, every such owner or occupier shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals on private premises.

42. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the said Council of the said Municipal District, with his assistant, may at any hour enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipal District where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and if necessary to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose, and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding thirty pounds nor less than three pounds.

Dead animals, in certain cases, to be removed at cost of Municipality.

43. If any animal shall die in any public street or place within the said Municipal District, and the owner or any person having charge of such animal cannot at the time be found or ascertained, it shall be immediately removed by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in the manner aforesaid, at the cost of the said Municipal District.

Hogsties to be one hundred feet from streets, and animals suffered to stray, &c.

44. Any person who shall breed or keep any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other place situated and being within forty feet of any street or public place in the said Municipal District, or shall suffer any kind of swine, any horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or any other animal of a like nature, belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or public place, shall on conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for such and every animal so bred, kept, suffered to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street, road, or public place, as aforesaid; and the owner or occupier of any house or premises, or other place within the said Municipal District, wherein any such swine, horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or other animal is kept, fed, milked, or used in in any way whatsoever, shall, within the meaning of these By-laws, be deemed the owner of every such animal so bred, kept, suffered to stray, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid; and the words "any house," "building," "yard," "garden," or "other place," wherein any kind of swine shall be bred or kept as aforesaid, shall respectively be deemed hogsties within the meaning of these By-laws; and the word "horses" shall be sufficient designation for any entires, geldings, mares, or foals, and the word "cattle" for any bulls, oxen, cows, or calves, when more than one is the subject of any information and summons under the provisions of these By-laws.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, &c.

45. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipal District and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments, in the said Municipal District, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery or establishment, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises, &c.

46. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer appointed by the said Council shall make an inspection of the premises complained of; and the officer of the said Council shall have the full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter, in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipal District, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

47. Every person who, in any street or other public place or passage within the said Municipal District, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house, fronting any street or public place, and close to the foot-way thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place the carcase or any part of the carcase of any newly-slaughtered animal, without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same, for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.
- (3.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub overhanging the footpath, to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (4.) Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window, near to any street or public place, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (5.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a board or enclosure when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or repaired).

- (6.) Every person who shall, within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house, burn any rags, bones, cork, or other offensive substance, to the annoyance of any inhabitant.
- (7.) Every person who shall carry goods or any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the foot-way of any street or other public foot-way.
- (8.) Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipal District.

Premises in state to endanger public health.

Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

48. If, upon the certificate of any two duly qualified medical practitioners, it appear to the Council that any house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipal District, is in such a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same, as the case may require; and if the person to whom notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith, within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

49. Any person who shall bathe near to or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public wharf, quay, bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Municipal District, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and eight in the evening, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

50. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street or public place within the said Municipal District, or in the view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five pounds.

Houses of ill-fame.

51. Upon representation of any respectable ratepayer, that any house or premises within the Municipal District, and near to the residence of such ratepayer, is of ill-fame, it shall be lawful for the By-law Committee to cause the residents of such house or premises to furnish to the Council a list of names, ages, sexes, and occupations of all the inmates of the said house or premises; and upon non-compliance with such request, or if, upon consideration, the said Committee consider the house to be one of ill-fame, they shall, with the sanction of the Council, declare the same to be a nuisance; and shall cause a notice, in writing, to be served upon the holder of such house or premises, or any person resident or being therein, to discontinue or abate the said nuisance within forty-eight hours after the receipt of such notice. And if such nuisance be not so abated, the holder of such house or premises, or other person residing or being therein and acting as such holder, shall be liable to be proceeded against for such nuisance, and shall on conviction thereof forfeit and pay any sum not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds. And if such nuisance shall not be abated within forty-eight hours after such conviction such holder of such house or such other person residing or being therein as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for such second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if a further period of forty-eight hours shall elapse after such second conviction without the abatement of such nuisance, such holder of such house, or other person residing or being therein as aforesaid, shall for such third offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

PART V.

Noisome and Offensive Trades.

No noisome or offensive trades to be carried on to injury of any inhabitants.

1. No person shall carry on any noisome or offensive trade within the said Municipal District, so as to injure or be a nuisance, as hereinafter stated, to the inhabitants thereof.

Definition of "noisome and offensive trades."

2. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of or in connection wherewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on, any gas, vapour, or effluvia, or any large quantities of smoke shall be evolved or discharged, which gas, vapour, effluvia, or smoke shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life, or in any other way to injure or be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said Municipal District, shall be considered a "noisome and offensive trade" within the meaning of these By-laws.

Complaint.—Inquire and report.—Order of Council thereon.—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

3. Upon complaint in writing by any householder that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property, as to injure his or her health, or the health of any member of his or her family, or to be a nuisance to such householder, and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry, as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a "noisome or offensive trade" within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive, within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipal District. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid, within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid, shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds; and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when "noisome and offensive trade" is about to be commenced.—Penalty.

4. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measures as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming "noisome or offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, to any resident within the Municipal District. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notice.—Liabilities.

5. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person of the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

PART VI.

Public Exhibitions, &c.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition, other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14th Victoria No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the said Municipal District, nor shall any bowling-alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or a place for temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, be used as such, for hire or profit, within the said Municipal District, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

Temporary license by Mayor.—Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid (other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act), and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week, and in like manner to allow any place within the said Municipal District to be used for purposes of public amusement other than entertainments requiring to be licensed as aforesaid for not more than one week: Provided that it shall be incumbent upon such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting such permission, and to refuse such permission if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Municipal District. Every person holding or keeping any such exhibition, or using any place within the said Municipal District for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting such place to be so used, without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept, or such place shall be so used for public amusement as aforesaid.

Public buildings, &c., to be registered.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid, in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier. And every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land who permits, any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for a longer period than one week, in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration as hereinafter mentioned having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Certificates of registration, &c.

4. The Council, upon the written application of any such occupier as aforesaid, stating the particulars aforesaid, and if, upon inspection by the proper officer, the building or land shall have been found to be secure and proper for the purpose stated, and if the proposed exhibition or amusement shall not be such as to require a license from the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, and shall not be thought likely to entail any violation of public decency, or to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitants of the said Municipal District, the said Council shall cause the aforesaid premises to be registered in a registry book to be kept for that purpose, and shall thereupon grant to the applicant a certificate of such registration of such premises. And the said Council may at any time and for any of the causes hereafter mentioned, suspend for a stated period the effect of or cause of any such registration, and shall forthwith give notice of such suspension or cancellation to the occupier of the registered building or land; and during such suspension, or after such cancellation, such premises shall be deemed to be unregistered in respect of the purpose mentioned in the certificate of registration, and such certificate shall be of no force or virtue.

Inspection.

5. The proper officer of the Council may at all reasonable times enter into or upon and inspect any such registered building or land.

No exhibitions, &c., on Sundays, &c.

6. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusements on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Registration fee.—Time for which registration shall be in force.

7. For every such registration as aforesaid the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Council Clerk, for the benefit of the said Municipal District, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing and no longer.

Certificate of registration to operate as license for exhibition, &c., named therein and no other.

8. The certificate of registration aforesaid shall be regarded as a license from the Council for the holding or keeping of the exhibition or for carrying on of the public amusements therein mentioned, but for none other. Any occupier of such building or land who shall hold or keep therein or thereon any exhibition, or who shall use such building or land for any public amusements other than such exhibition or amusements mentioned in such certificate or license, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Unlawful games and exhibitions.

9. No license shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any games with dice, or other games of chance for money, or any bull-baiting, dog-fighting, cockfighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace, are proposed to be had or carried on; and the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid, who shall permit any such game of chance or exhibition or amusement as is in the section before-mentioned, to be had, held, or carried on in or upon such building, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Suspension or revocation of license—Notice to be given, and licensee to be allowed to show cause.

10. The effect of any such registration as aforesaid may be suspended, or such registration may be cancelled, as the Council shall think fit, for any of the following causes, namely—Whenever the occupier of the registered building or land, or the manager of any such exhibition or amusement as aforesaid, held, kept, conducted, or carried in or upon such building or ground, shall have been twice convicted of offences against these By-laws within a period of twelve months, or whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the said Council that the superintendent, director, or manager, or other person in charge of any such exhibition or amusement is a confirmed drunkard, or that such exhibition or amusement is being conducted in such a manner as to violate public decency, to endanger the public peace or become a nuisance to any inhabitants of the said Municipal District: Provided that before any such suspension or cancellation as aforesaid the occupier of such registered building or land shall have notice of the fact that the said Council is about to consider whether there shall be any such suspension or cancellation, and of the causes of this proceeding, and shall be allowed to show cause against such suspension or cancellation before the same shall be ordered.

Construction of term "occupier."—Change in occupancy—False statement.

11. Any person who shall superintend, direct, or manage, or shall be otherwise in charge of any such exhibition or public amusement as aforesaid, in or upon any such building or land as aforesaid, or who shall reside in or upon any such building or land wherein or whereon any such exhibition or public amusement shall be held, kept, or carried on; or who, being the owner, lessee, or tenant of any such building or land, shall permit the same to be used for the purposes of any such exhibition or public amusement, shall be deemed the occupier of such building or land for all the purposes of these By-laws. And the said By-laws shall be held to be as applicable in every case to any number of such occupiers as to any single occupier. And every such occupier whose name shall have been so registered as aforesaid shall be deemed and taken to be, and continue to be, such occupier for all the purposes of these By-laws: Provided that in the event of any change in the occupancy of any such building or ground as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the parties concerned to notify the same, by writing under their hands, to the said Council Clerk, who shall lay such notification before the Council at its next meeting; and if after such inquiry, as such Council may deem necessary, there shall seem to be no valid objection to such change of occupancy, a corresponding entry shall be made in the registry aforesaid, and a new certificate shall be issued, which shall be in force until the then next ensuing 31st day of December, and no longer. And for every such new certificate a fee of five shillings shall be paid to the said Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Municipal District. And any person who shall make any false statement in any such application or notice, as aforesaid, as to any of the facts or particulars required by these By-laws to be stated in such application or notice, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

PART VII.

Water Supply.

Polluting water reservoirs, &c.

1. Whosoever shall bathe on any stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to or under the management or control of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, throw, or cause to enter therein, any animal whether alive or dead, or any rubbish, filth, stuff, or thing of any kind whatsoever, or shall cause or permit or suffer to run, or to be brought therein the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine, or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome, or improper water, or shall wash any clothes at any public fountain or pump, or in or at any such stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks as aforesaid, or shall do anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, shall be fouled, obstructed, or damaged, shall for the first offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; for a second offence any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds; and for the third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Wasteful waste of water.

2. Whosoever being supplied with water by the Council from any waterworks, fountain, or reservoir of or belonging to, or under the control or management of the said Council, or having access to any such waterworks, fountain, or reservoir, for the taking water therefrom, shall wilfully or negligently suffer any water to run to waste from any pipe, pump, or conduit, from or by which he shall be so supplied, or to which he shall have such access, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not exceeding five pounds; for a second offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence, any sum not less than five pounds nor more than forty pounds.

Damming up water without consent.

3. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment, or allow any accumulation of drift or silt to accumulate in or across any river, creek, or natural watercourse, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if after such second conviction such person shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time, he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if, within a reasonable time after a third or any further conviction, he shall still fail to remove such dam or embankment, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Diverting water from reservoirs of Council in certain cases.

4. In any case in which the Council shall have the exclusive right of collecting for the supply of any reservoir or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, the storm water having fallen on any gathering ground, whosoever shall, by any means whatsoever, divert any such water from the course of its natural flow, so that the same shall tend to flow elsewhere than to such reservoir or waterworks, or some watercourse leading thereto, or shall flow to the same respectively in a foul state, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds; for a second offence any sum not less than two pounds nor more than forty pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence, any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

PART VIII.

Sewerage and Drainage.

No private sewers to be made to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

1. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council, or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council may make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains, sewers, or channels, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the said public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith, without such notice, or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and cleanse same.

2. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired and cleansed, according to the direction of the said Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Drains for discharge of surface water from land.

3. Every owner or occupier of land in, adjoining to, or near any street, if such land shall be so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any foot-way of such street, shall, within seven days next after the service of notice by the Council for that purpose, construct and lay from such point upon such land being near to the foot-way, as shall be specified in such notice by plan appended or otherwise, and higher in level than the bottom of the channel at the outer edge of the foot-way to the said channel, and through, under, and transversely to the foot-way, and keep in good condition such covered drain or trunk, as and subject to the inspection of the Council or its proper officers; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid, or with the provisions of this section, such owner or occupier shall forfeit any payment not exceeding five pounds. And if within seven days after such conviction such owner or occupier shall still have failed to comply with such notice, or be otherwise in default, as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and for every further such offence he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds. And every such owner or occupier who shall still have made default as aforesaid for more than seven days after such second or any future conviction, shall be held guilty of a further offence within the meaning of this section.

PART IX.

Public Libraries and Museums, &c.

Hours.

1. Every public library or museum belonging to or under the control or management of the Council shall be open to the public on every lawful day from half-past six of the clock, p.m., to nine of the clock p.m.

Visitors' book to be signed.

2. Every person who shall enter any such public library or museum shall immediately on entering the same write his or her name and address in a book to be kept for such purpose at each such library and museum, and to be called the "Visitors' Book"; and if such person shall be unable to write, then such name and address may be so written by any other person, or shall be so written by the proper officer of the Council at such library or museum, at the request of such person; and no person who shall refuse to comply with this regulation shall be permitted to enter or remain in such museum; and it shall be the duty of the officer of the Council in charge of such library or museum to enforce this By-law.

Misconduct, &c., in library or museum.

3. Every person who shall, being intoxicated, enter or remain in any such public library or museum, or who shall use therein any abusive, improper, or unbecoming language, or who shall by unnecessary loud talking, or any unnecessary noise, or otherwise, disturb or annoy the persons using or resorting to such library or museum, or who shall without lawful excuse, but without felonious or larcenous intent, remove any property from such library or museum, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds; and every such person may be forthwith removed by any officer of the Council in charge of such library or museum.

Applicants for books, &c., to be served in due order.—Special permission for removal of books, &c.

4. Every person who at any such library shall desire to read or to refer to any book or other publication placed or deposited in such library for public use, shall have the same handed to him in his turn by the officer in charge of such library, or his assistant, and shall have the exclusive use in such library of such book or other publication for such time as by regulation made by the said Council in that behalf, as hereinafter stated, may have been prescribed. But no person shall remove any such book or other publication from such library without the permission in writing of the Mayor or of two Aldermen of the said Municipal District; and every such permission shall specify the book or other publication to which it has reference, and the time for which the same is to be permitted to be removed from the said library. And no such permission shall be of any force, or shall be attended to, or shall be taken to authorize the conversion of the library into a circulating library, totally or in part, which shall in any way conflict with or be opposed to any regulation made by the said Council as aforesaid. And every such permission shall be recorded by the officer in charge of such library, and the Mayor or Alderman granting the same shall be responsible for the return, in proper time and in good order, of the said book or other publication; and it shall be the duty of the officer of the Council in charge of such library or museum to carry out and enforce this By-law in every respect.

Rules as to use of apparatus, &c.

5. The like rule shall in every respect apply to the use of any apparatus, model, or specimen belonging to any such library or museum as aforesaid, except that in such case such apparatus, model, or specimen shall only be removed on the written permission of the Mayor and two Aldermen, or of four Aldermen without the Mayor, and then only for the purpose of preparing any lecture to be given in the said Municipal District, and for so long a time only as may be necessary for the preparation of such lecture.

Applications for use of books, &c., to be made to officer in charge.

6. Any person who may, at any such library or museum, desire to read or to refer to, or to use or examine any such book, publication, apparatus, model, or specimen as aforesaid, shall apply for the same to the officer of the Council in charge of such library or museum, and shall return the same to such officer after having read, referred to, used, or examined the same; and it shall be the duty of such officer to carry out and enforce this By-law in every respect.

Loan or deposit of books or apparatus, &c., on special conditions.

7. It shall be lawful for any person, with the consent of the Council, to lend to or deposit at any such library or museum any book or other publication, or any apparatus, model, or specimen for public use or inspection, subject to such special restrictions as to such use or inspection as such person may prescribe; and the officer of the Council in charge of such library or museum shall in such case hold every such book, publication, apparatus, model, or specimen in trust for the person so lending or depositing the same, and shall carry out and enforce such restrictions as such person may have so prescribed as aforesaid.

Use of library, &c., by society for mutual improvement, &c.

8. Any society or class for mutual improvement or instruction, or for study or experiments, may, with the consent of the Council, be formed in connection with, or may hold its meetings, or carry on its studies or experiments at any such library or museum: Provided that the general free access to and use of the said library or museum by persons who are not members of such society or class be not thereby interfered with: Provided, however, that no rule made by the members of any such society or class for the management of the same shall be of any force until the same shall have been submitted to and sanctioned by the said Council, nor in any case if the same shall conflict in any way with this "Part" of these By-laws, or with any regulation made by the said Council hereunder.

Record of donations.

9. A record shall be made of every donation to each such library or museum, which book shall be opened to the inspection of all persons visiting such library or museum.

Further regulations.

10. The Council shall from time to time make such regulations as may be required for any of the following purposes:— For determining the order in which any book or other publication, or any apparatus, model, or specimen shall be handed to persons desiring to read or to refer to, or to use or examine any such apparatus, model, or specimen; and the time during which each such person shall be allowed to retain the exclusive use as aforesaid of any such book or other publication, apparatus, model, or specimen; for defining the conditions on which any special permission may be given as aforesaid for the removal of any book or other publication, or of any apparatus, model, or specimen, from any such public library or museum, and for prohibiting the removal of any such book, publication, apparatus, model, or specimen; for defining the conditions on which the Council will consent to the loan on deposit as aforesaid of any book or other publication, apparatus, model, or specimen with special restrictions relative to the use or inspection of the same as aforesaid, and the carrying out or enforcement of such restrictions; for defining the conditions on which any such public library or museum may be used as aforesaid by any society or class for mutual improvement or instruction, or for study or experiments; for regulating the marking of books or other publications; for defining the mode in which the books and records of any such library or museum shall be kept, and in which the duties of any officer in charge thereof, or any assistant employed thereat, shall be carried out; for prescribing any additional precautions which may be considered necessary for the safe keeping and care of any such books, publications, apparatus, models, or specimens as aforesaid. It shall be the duty of the officer of the Council in charge of every such public library or museum to carry out and enforce this By-law and the regulation so made thereunder.

Copy of By-laws to be kept at library, &c., for reference.

11. A copy of this "Part" of these By-laws, and copies of all regulations made thereunder as aforesaid shall be kept at every such public library or museum, and it shall be the duty of the officer of the Council in charge of such library or museum to allow visitors to the same, who may desire so to do, to refer to any such copy.

Penalty for damaging visitors' book, &c.

12. Any person who shall wilfully damage any visitors' book, catalogue, copy of By-laws, or other book, or record kept at any such library or museum, for the general uses thereof, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Passed by the Municipal Council of Concord, this twenty-second day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four.

ALFRED L. BRAY,
Mayor.

By order of the Council,
JOHN CANDISH, Council Clerk.

WHARF OF CONCORD.Use of wharf.*

1. The eastern side of the said wharf shall be reserved and appropriated for and to the use of private persons, boatmen conveying passengers for hire, and the owners or managers of ferry boats, for the purpose of landing or taking off passengers, and for persons bringing by boat fish or fruit for sale in the Municipality, and shall be used by them free of charge. Western side of the said wharf shall be reserved and appropriated for the loading and unloading of farm produce and general merchandise, subject to the payment of such tolls and dues as are hereinafter particularised.

Appointment of wharfinger.

2. The Council may from time to time appoint a wharfinger, who shall have charge of the said wharf, and the Council may from time to time suspend or remove the same.

Duties of wharfinger.

3. The wharfinger shall preserve order and regularity on the said wharf, and may remove therefrom any person making a riot or disturbance, or guilty of cursing or swearing, or using gross or indecent language, or offending against decency, or being drunk, or in any other way misconducting himself or herself.

Wharf to be kept clear.

4. The said wharfinger will also be required to keep the wharf free from all rubbish, and to keep the passengers' waiting-room and sheds clean, and take charge of all light parcels.

Tolls and dues.

5. The wharfinger shall be entitled to demand and receive the tolls and dues, set out in the Schedule hereto, from all persons using any portion of the said wharf.

Restrictions against use of wharf for certain purposes.

6. No person shall be allowed to bring to or put in any wharf house, or other buildings erected for public convenience, or use any horse or other animal, or to use such wharf house, or other building for any purpose other than that for which the same was erected.

Time allowed for removal of timber, firewood, coal, &c.

7. No timber, firewood, coals, bricks, or any other description of goods whatsoever shall be allowed to remain on the wharf more than forty-eight hours, except in the case of cargo exceeding ten tons, when, by written permission, signed by the Mayor or any two members of the Council, the term may be extended.

Landing manure, &c.

8. Any manure landed upon the said wharf must be taken away within twenty-four hours after landing the same, and must be landed in bags or casks, provided that if the said manure shall be so offensive as to be a nuisance, the same shall not be placed on the wharf.

Wharfinger shall set apart space for empty cases, &c.

9. All empty cases, kegs, casks, boxes, fowl-coops, crates, &c., shall be kept in such places as may be set apart by the wharfinger for their reception.

Landing fresh meat, &c.

10. All fresh meat killed in carcass or otherwise, landed on the said wharf, must be covered with clean cloths, and placed clear of the space allowed for passengers to and from the steamers.

Regulation as to carts, &c.

11. No dray, cart, or other vehicle shall be allowed to remain on the wharf longer than the time actually occupied in loading or unloading the same, and no such vehicle shall at any time be left upon the said wharf or entrance thereto, unless in charge of a person competent to manage the same.

Defacing, &c., of buildings on wharf.

12. No person shall be allowed to deface or injure wharf houses, sheds, or other buildings, by posting notices, cutting the seats, defacing signboards, breaking windows, or any other way.

Penalties.

13. Every person who shall commit any breach of or offend against any section of this part of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not more than forty shillings (40s).

ALFRED L. BRAY,
Mayor.

By order of the Council,
JOHN CANDLISH, Council Clerk.

(SECOND SESSION.)

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF NOWRA—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15th June, 1885.MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF NOWRA.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

ALEX. STUART.

BY-LAWS.Premises in state to endanger public health.*

If, upon the certificate of any two duly qualified medical practitioners, it appear to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in such a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is, or may be liable to be, affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same, as the case may require; and if the person to whom notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith, within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds. And the said Council shall, if they shall think fit, cause such house, building, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to be whitewashed, cleansed, or purified; and for such purposes the proper officers, servants, and workmen of the said Council shall have power to enter the same, and the expense incurred by the Council in so doing shall be paid by the owner or occupier.

Made and passed by the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

THOMAS EDWARDS, Council Clerk.

Change of street levels.

Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cuttings and fillings to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Made and passed by the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

(L.S.) HY. MOSS, Mayor.

THOMAS EDWARDS, Council Clerk.

1. It shall not be lawful for any person without notice to the Council or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council may make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith, and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the said public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith, without such notice, or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds.

2. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall, from time to time, be repaired and cleansed, under the inspection and direction of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired and cleansed, according to the directions of the said Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

3. Every owner or occupier of land in, adjoining to, or near any street, if such land shall be so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any footway of such street, shall within seven days next after the service of notice by the Council for that purpose, construct and lay from such point upon such land being near to the footway as shall be specified in such notice by plan appended or otherwise and higher in level than the bottom of the channel at the outer edge of the footway to the said channel, and through, under, and transversely to the footway, and keep in good condition such covered drain or trunk as, and subject to, the inspection of the Council or its proper officers; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid, or with the provisions of this section, such owner or occupier shall forfeit any payment not exceeding five pounds. And if, within seven days after such conviction, such owner or occupier shall still have failed to comply with such notice, or be otherwise in default as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds, and for every further such offence he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds. And every such owner or occupier who shall still have made default as aforesaid for more than seven days after such second or any future conviction, shall be held guilty of a further offence within the meaning of this section.

Made and passed by the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five,

THOMAS EDWARDS, Council Clerk.

Loitering on highways.

All persons standing or loitering upon any of the carriage-ways, footways, or other public place, in the Municipal District of Nowra, to the inconvenience or annoyance of passers by, or residents, or in any way interrupting the traffic, who shall not discontinu to do so on being so requested by any member or officer of the Council of said Municipality, or any police officer, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Made and passed by the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

THOMAS EDWARDS, Council Clerk.

1. No person shall carry on any noisome or offensive trade within the said Municipality so as to injure or be a nuisance, as hereinafter stated, to the inhabitants thereof.

2. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of or in connection wherewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on, any gas, vapour, or effluvia, or any large quantities of smoke, shall be evolved or discharged, which gas, vapour, effluvia, or smoke shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life, or in any other way to injure or be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said Municipality, shall be considered a noisome and offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws.

3. Upon complaint in writing by any householder that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property as to injure his or her health, or the health of any member of his or her family, or to be a nuisance to such householder and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a noisome or offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinu the same within such reasonable time, not being less than two days nor more than seven days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipality. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid, within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

4. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except that the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measures as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming noisome or offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, to any resident within the Municipality. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so as that the same shall be in any way noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

5. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last-known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all purposes of these By-laws; and every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

Made and passed by the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

(L.S.) H.Y. MOSS,

THOMAS EDWARDS,
Council Clerk.

Mayor.

Public Exhibitions, &c.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid, other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act, and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week; and in like manner to allow any place within the said Municipality to be used for purposes of public amusement, or than entertainments requiring to be licensed as aforesaid, for not more than one week; provided that it shall be incumbent upon such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting such permission, and to refuse such permission, if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Municipality. Every person holding or keeping any such exhibition, or using any place within the said Municipality for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting such place to be so used without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept or such place shall be so used for public amusement as aforesaid.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall, in each year, register at the office of the Council, such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid, in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier. And every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land who permits, any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for a longer period than one week, in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration as herein-after mentioned having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

4. The Council, upon the written application of any such occupier as aforesaid stating the particulars aforesaid, and if upon inspection by the proper officer the building or land shall have been found to be secure and proper for the purpose stated, and if the proposed exhibition or amusement shall not be such as to require a license from the Colonial Secretary, as aforesaid, and shall not be thought likely to entail any violation of public decency, or to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitants of the said Municipality, the said Council shall cause the aforesaid premises to be registered in a registry-book to be kept for that purpose; and shall thereupon grant to the applicant a certificate of such registration of such premises. And the said Council may at any time, and for any of the causes hereinafter mentioned, suspend for a stated period the effect of, or cancel any such registration, and shall forthwith give notice of such suspension or cancellation to the occupier of the registered building or land; and during such suspension, or after such cancellation, such premises shall be deemed to be unregistered in respect of the purpose mentioned in the certificate of registration, and such certificate shall be of no force or virtue.

5. The proper officer of the Council may, at all reasonable times, enter into or upon and inspect any such registered building or land.

6. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusements on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday. And every person offending against this By-law in this behalf shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

7. For every such registration as aforesaid, the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Council Clerk, for the benefit of the said Municipality, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing, and no longer.

8. The certificate of registration aforesaid shall be regarded as a license from the Council for the holding or keeping of the exhibition, or for carrying on of the public amusements therein mentioned, but for none other. Any occupier of such building or land who shall hold or keep therein or thereon any exhibition, or shall use such building or land for any public amusements other than such exhibition or amusements mentioned in such certificate or license, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

9. No license shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any games with dice, or other games of chance for money, or any bull-baiting, dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality, or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace, are proposed to be had, held, or carried on. And the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid, who shall permit any such game of chance or exhibition, or amusement, as are in the section before-mentioned, to be had, held, or carried on, in or upon such building, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

10. The effect of any such registration as aforesaid may be suspended, or such registration may be cancelled, as the Council shall think fit, for any of the following causes, namely:—Whenever the occupier of the registered building or land, or the manager of any such exhibition or amusement as aforesaid, held, kept, conducted, or carried on, in, or upon such building or ground shall have been twice convicted of offences against these By-laws within a period of twelve months, or whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the said Council that the superintendent, director, manager, or other person in charge of any such exhibition or amusement is a confirmed drunkard, or that any such exhibition or amusement is being conducted in such a manner as to violate public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to become a nuisance to any of the inhabitants of the said Municipality: Provided that before any such suspension or cancellation as aforesaid, the occupier of such registered building or land shall have notice of the fact that the said Council is about to consider whether there shall be any such suspension or cancellation, and of the causes for this proceeding, and shall be allowed to show cause against such suspension or cancellation before the same shall be ordered.

11. Any person who shall superintend, direct, or manage, or shall be otherwise in charge of any such exhibition or public amusement as aforesaid, in or upon any such building or land as aforesaid; or who shall reside in or upon any such building or land wherein or whereon any such exhibition or public amusement shall be held, kept, or carried on; or who, being the owner, lessee, or tenant of any such building or land, shall permit the same to be used for the purposes of any such exhibition or public amusement, shall be deemed the "occupier" of such building or land for all the purposes of these By-laws. And the said By-laws shall be held to be as applicable in every case to any number of such occupiers or to any single occupier. And every such occupier whose name shall have been so registered as aforesaid, shall be deemed and taken to be and continue such occupier for all the purposes of these By-laws: Provided that, in the event of any change in the occupancy of any such building or ground as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the parties concerned to notify the same, by writing under their hands, to the said Council Clerk, who shall lay such notification before the Council at its next meeting; and if after such inquiry as such Council may deem necessary, there shall seem to be no valid objection to such change of occupancy, a corresponding entry shall be made in the registry aforesaid, and a new certificate shall be issued, which shall be in force until the then next ensuing 31st day of December, and no longer. And for every such new certificate, a fee of five shillings shall be paid to the said Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Municipality. And any person who shall make any false statement in any such application or notice as aforesaid as to any of the facts or particulars required by these By-laws to be stated in such application or notice, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Made and passed by the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF COONAMBLE—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 158.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 27th August, 1885.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF COONAMBLE—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-Laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Coonamble, for the regulation and licensing of public carriers, and having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

ALEX. STUART.

BY-LAWS for the regulation and licensing of public carriers, carts, water-drawers, and public vehicles, omnibuses, cars, hackney carriages, cabs, water-carts, drays, carts, or vans, and the drivers and conductors of passenger-carrying vehicles.

1. No vehicle shall ply or be used for hire within the Municipality unless the same be duly licensed in the manner herein described.
2. Before any license for plying a vehicle, or to drive or to conduct the same, shall be granted, the party requiring such license shall obtain from the Council Clerk, free of charge, a requisition in the form of the Schedule A hereto, or to the like effect, and duly fill up and sign the same, and deliver it to the Council Clerk; and, in the case of drivers or conductors, shall also obtain a certificate from two respectable householders, to the effect that the applicant is of good character, and competent to act as such driver or conductor, as the case may be.
3. No license shall be granted in respect of any vehicle, which in the opinion of three Aldermen, who shall be appointed by a resolution of the Council of the said Municipality, is unsafe, or in bad repair, or otherwise unfit for the accommodation and conveyance of passengers therein, nor until the number of such vehicle be painted thereon on a plate or plates affixed thereon outside on the panel of each door of such vehicle, or on such other place or places, and in such manner as the said three Aldermen may direct.
4. Licenses for proprietors, drivers, and conductors of vehicles shall be in the form contained in the Schedule hereto annexed, marked with the letter B, or the like effect; and any person plying, driving, or conducting any vehicle for hire with passengers without such license, shall be deemed guilty of a breach of these by-laws.
5. Every license granted under these by-laws shall be under the common seal of the Council, and signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Council Clerk, upon production of a certificate signed by the Aldermen who shall be appointed as aforesaid, and shall be in force from the date of such license until the 31st day of December next ensuing, subject to the conditions in by-law 10; and no such license shall include more than one vehicle: Provided that where the licensed vehicle shall be under repair, if the proprietor shall so desire, he may be permitted to substitute another for a period to be then specified, and endorsed on the license signed by the Mayor and countersigned as aforesaid.
6. No license shall be granted to any person to drive any passenger-carrying vehicle who shall be under the age of eighteen years.
7. All licenses shall be made out by the Council Clerk and numbered consecutively.
8. The person in whose name a license shall appear to have been obtained shall be prima facie deemed to be the owner of the vehicle in respect of which the same shall have been taken out.
9. The three Aldermen aforesaid shall, as often as they may deem it necessary, cause an inspection to be made of all or any licensed vehicles, and of the harness, horse, or horses; and if any such vehicles, harness, horse, or horses, shall at any time be found by the said Aldermen to be unfit for use, the Mayor may cancel the license of such vehicle on the written report of the said Aldermen.
10. The number of the license granted to every omnibus or car, in figures not less than 4 inches in height, and for every hackney carriage or cab, in figures of not less than 2 inches in height, of proportionate breadth, white upon a ground of black, shall be painted outside on the panel of the door or doors of such vehicle, or on such other part or parts thereof as the Aldermen aforesaid shall direct; and such numbers shall be kept legible and undefaced during all the time such vehicle shall ply or be used for hire.

11. The number of the license of every hackney carriage or cab on a card or plate 6 inches by 3 inches, painted or printed in clear legible figures, and the table of fares fixed by the Council shall be affixed at the upper part of the front panel, or in such other place or places inside of such carriage or cab as the three Aldermen aforesaid may direct; and such card or plate shall be kept so affixed and legible and undefaced during all the time the carriage or cab shall ply or be used for hire.

12. So far as concerns fares in these By-laws any vehicle of whatever form or construction, for which a hackney carriage license has been taken out, if drawn upon four wheels, shall be deemed to be a hackney carriage, and if drawn upon two wheels a cab.

13. The Council shall from time to time license to ply within the Municipality such carts for the sale and carrying of water as shall upon inspection be found fit for that purpose. Every such cart shall be, or shall contain or carry a vessel or tank capable of containing not less than fifty gallons, and shall have the name of the owner, and the words "licensed water-cart" painted on such cart in legible letters.

14. Every such license shall be issued on the written application of the owner thereof, in which application shall be set forth the name and surname and place of abode of the applicant; and for every such license there shall be paid to the Council the sum of twenty shillings; and every such license shall be in force until the 31st day of December next ensuing after the granting of the said license.

15. Any person hawking or carrying water for sale or hire, otherwise than in a licensed water cart as aforesaid, shall upon conviction be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound.

16. The name and place of abode, number of license, and the words "licensed cart," "dray" or "van," as the case may be, are to be painted in letters 1 inch long upon the right or off side of such cart, dray, or van.

17. All vehicles licensed to carry passengers shall be provided with suitable carriage lamps, to burn candles, one to be fixed on each side of the driver's box, and a third one inside of all omnibuses and closed coaches; and the same shall be lighted not later than one hour after sundown and be kept burning while the vehicles are on the stand or running in the streets, either with or without passengers.

18. When any carriage is submitted for inspection by the owner or other applicant, with a view to obtain a license, the Aldermen appointed by the Council for that duty shall then determine upon the number of passengers the vehicle shall be permitted to carry and give a certificate to that effect, such number to be mentioned in the license.

19. The number of passengers the vehicle is licensed to carry and the legal fare shall be painted or printed in legible characters and affixed within and without the vehicle in such place as the inspecting Aldermen shall direct.

20. For every offence against the provisions of these By-laws, the offender shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than twenty pounds nor less than twenty shillings.

21. No licensed vehicle shall be drawn by any animal or animals past a place of public worship on Sundays during Divine service at a faster pace than a walk, and no bugle, horn, whistle, or other instrument shall be used on that day for the purpose of attracting the attention of passengers.

22. No person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease shall ride in or upon any licensed vehicle, and no driver or conductor shall knowingly carry, or permit to be carried, any such person or (except to some police office or watch-house) any corpse, or any person in a state of intoxication, or who is so noisily or violently conducting himself, or otherwise so misbehaving, as to occasion any annoyance or to disturb the public peace; and no passenger shall carry inside any vehicle, except a dray, any animal or any substance of an offensive character, or that might soil or damage the vehicle or the apparel of other passengers, and no driver or conductor shall sleep in or upon any licensed vehicle, nor use the same for eating his meals therein.

23. No driver or conductor shall admit to the inside, or allow on the outside, of any omnibus at any one time, a greater number of passengers than the number it shall be licensed to carry, inside or outside, as the case may be; and no omnibus shall be licensed for more passengers than the same will accommodate upon fit seats properly cushioned, allowing for each passenger a space of 18 inches, measuring in a straight line lengthwise on the front of each seat; nor shall any vehicle be taken off the line of road for which it shall be licensed: Provided that no child under five years of age sitting on the lap shall be deemed to be a passenger within the meaning of these By-laws; no passenger to carry more than one child.

24. No owner, driver, or conductor of any omnibus shall demand, receive, or take from any passenger a larger fare than shall be shown in large unmovable figures in some conspicuous place inside and outside the omnibus, as the fare for which such omnibus plies: Provided that no fare shall be increased, except between the hours of 10 o'clock at night and 5 o'clock in the morning. And no driver or conductor of an omnibus shall neglect or refuse to admit and carry any person for whom there is room, and to whom no reasonable objection can be made under these By-laws; nor in cases of accident or other unavoidable cause shall any driver or conductor stop such vehicle upon any place where foot passengers usually cross the carriage-way.

25. Any person having taken his seat in or upon an omnibus shall pay the fare when demanded after the commencement of his journey. The owner of every omnibus plying for hire shall provide the same with a licensed driver and a licensed conductor.

26. For every license issued under the By-laws in force for the time being in that behalf within the said Municipality, there shall be paid to the Council of the said Municipality, by delivering the same to the Council Clerk or other person authorized to receive the same, the several sums mentioned or set forth in Schedule C to these By-laws for the general purposes of the said Municipality.

27. Whenever the word "vehicle" shall be used in these By-laws the same shall be construed to extend and apply to any omnibus, car, hackney carriage, or cab. The word "omnibus" shall extend and apply to any vehicle upon four wheels drawn by two or more horses, having seat accommodation for more than ten passengers and a driver. The word "car" shall extend and apply to any vehicle upon two or four wheels, drawn by one or more horses, having seat accommodation for not more than ten or less than five passengers and a driver. The word "hackney carriage" shall extend and apply to any vehicle upon four wheels, drawn by two or more horses, and having seat accommodation for not more than five passengers and a driver, and in respect of which a hackney carriage license within the said Municipality shall have been obtained. The word "cab" shall extend and apply to any vehicle upon two wheels, and having seat accommodation for not more than two passengers and a driver, in respect of which a cab license within the said Municipality shall have been obtained. The word "cart" shall extend and apply to any cart, dray, van, or waggon, drawn by one or more horses or other animals, used wholly and for the carriage of goods and parcels. The word "water cart" shall extend and apply to any cart used for the carriage of water within the said Municipality, in respect of which a water cart license shall have been obtained.

28. No proprietor or driver of any hackney carriage or cab within the said Municipality shall demand, receive, or take more than the several fares or sums mentioned or set forth in the Schedule D to these By-laws, or such other sums as the Council of the said Municipality shall from time to time determine or appoint in substitution therefor as hereinafter provided; and every proprietor, driver, or conductor failing to comply with this By-law shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty or sum of not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

29. The Council of the said Municipality may from time to time, by resolution passed in that behalf, alter and vary, or amend the said Schedule D and the respective sums chargeable thereunder, or any of them, and such alterations, variations, or amendments shall become of full force and effect so soon as the same shall have been publicly notified by advertisement in the New South Wales Government Gazette, and at least one newspaper circulating in the said Municipality, and the Council of the Municipality shall not be responsible for any loss which such alterations or amendments may have or may be alleged to have occasioned to the holders of licenses for the time being or any of them.

30. All tolls to be paid by the hirer of any hackney carriage or cab in addition to the ordinary fare.

31. No driver of any hackney carriage or cab shall refuse to take up any passenger or passengers unless already engaged for hire, nor refuse to convey such passenger or passengers to such place or places within the said Municipality as he, she, or they may reasonably desire; and every person failing to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty or sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

32. The Council shall, by resolution, to be publicly notified as in By-law 30 of this part, from time to time appoint any place or places within the said Municipality as stands for licensed hackney carriages and cabs within the said Municipality.

33. No driver of any licensed vehicles shall be or remain at such a distance from his horse or horses, while attached to his vehicle, anywhere within the said Municipality as not to have immediate and full control over the same; and every person so doing shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty or sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

34. All hackney carriages and carts carrying passengers shall (except when turning street corners) proceed at a speed of not less than six miles an hour, unless when attending funerals, or when otherwise ordered by the hirer; and every driver of any such carriage or cab failing to comply with this by-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

35. Copies of these and of all other By-laws passed by the Council of the said Municipality, for the regulation of licensed vehicles, and still remaining in force, shall be delivered with each license issued, unless the person shall have previously received copies thereof.

36. All proprietors and drivers of licensed vehicles shall at all times be amenable to and observe and comply with the By-laws for the time being in force for the care and management of the public roads, public streets, and public thoroughfares within the said Municipality, and for every breach thereof shall incur the same penalties as other persons.

37. Any person offending against any of these By-laws shall, except when otherwise expressly provided, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings for every such offence.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF RAYMOND TERRACE.—BY-LAWS.

The following By-laws made by the Council of the Municipal District of Raymond Terrace, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

ALEX. STUART.

PART I.

PROCEEDINGS of the Council and Committees—preservation of order at Council meetings—duties of officers, servants, &c.

Meetings of the Council.

Ordinary Meetings.

1. The Council shall meet for the despatch of business at the hour of 7.30 p.m. on every alternate Wednesday unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may direct.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor. Adjournment for want of a quorum.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves, a Chairman for such meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be recorded in the Minute Book.

Business at Special Meetings.

3. At special meetings of the Council the business shall be taken in such an order as the Mayor, or, in his absence, the Aldermen at whose instance such special meetings shall have been called, may direct.

Business of Ordinary Meetings.

4. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings :—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
3. Correspondence to be read, and if necessary, dealt with.
4. Reports from Committees, and minutes from the Mayor to be dealt with.

5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council, to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances, requiring attention by the Council or any of its Committees or officers, to be made.

6. Motions of which notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.

7. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time, by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; also, and in like manner, to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Motions—how to move them.

5. Except by leave of the Council motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck out and considered to have lapsed.

Absence of proposed mover.

6. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper, shall, except as hereinafter provided, be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given; unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

7. No motion in Council shall be discussed until it has been seconded.

Motion to be in writing, and not withdrawn without leave.

8. Every motion of which notice has been given shall be in writing, shall be signed by the mover, and no motion when seconded shall be withdrawn without leave of the Council.

Amendments may be moved.

9. When a motion shall have been moved and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Only one Amendment at a time.

10. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment shall have been disposed of.

Of what orders of the day shall consist.

11. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or which the Mayor or any committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

How they are to be dealt with.

12. Section 19 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered applicable to orders of the day. And the Alderman who has the usual charge of, or who has previously moved in reference to, the particular business to which any such order of the day relates, shall be the person called upon to move: Provided that as to any order of the day entered as aforesaid, by direction of the Mayor, such Mayor may arrange with any Alderman to move, and may in such case call upon the Alderman with whom he has so arranged.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

13. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—How received.

14. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

How Petitions are to be dealt with.

15. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that it be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned; or that it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Duties of Mayor as to correspondence

16. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by section 13 of this "Part" of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent, and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Mode of addressing the Council, &c.

17. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way, or for any other purpose, address observations to the Council, shall, while so doing, stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from so doing by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor, or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case the question so put and the answer thereto shall be subject to objection on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy; and all members of the Council shall, on all occasions, when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted, if in order.

18. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided. No Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer period than ten minutes, without the consent of the Council.

Aldermen using offensive language to apologise.

19. When any member of the Council shall make use of any language or expression offensive, or capable of being implied offensively, to any Alderman, the member so offending shall be required to withdraw such language or expression, and to make an apology satisfactory to the Council or Committee thereof.

No Alderman to speak twice on the same question or amendment except in Committee.

20. No Alderman shall speak twice on the question, unless in Committee, or in explanation where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood. Provided that any Alderman, although having previously spoken, may speak once on every amendment, and that the mover of every question shall always have a right of final reply.

Speakers not to digress, &c.

21. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflection on, or impute improper motives to, any other Alderman.

Adjournment of debate.

22. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the debate.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

23. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Mayor to preserve order.

24. The Mayor shall preserve order, and may at any time call to order any Alderman who may appear to him to be out of order.

Calls to order.

25. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor to any Alderman being out of order, or to any point of order.

Mayor's decision on points of order final.

26. Every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor thereon shall be conclusive, except as hereinafter provided.

Power of Council as to laying down General Rules, &c.

27. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice may, by motion or notice, respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar question of order or practice which may hereafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding upon all parties, unless and until it is rescinded, but shall have no retrospective operation.

How Questions are to be put.

28. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinions as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions.

29. It shall be competent for any Alderman to divide the Council upon any question put from the Chair, either in full Council or in Committee of the whole Council, and upon such division those who are on the affirmative side shall place themselves on the Mayor or presiding Alderman's right hand, and those on the negative side shall place themselves on the left, and no Alderman shall leave his place until the names of the Aldermen present have been taken down by the Council Clerk or person officiating for him.

Divisions to be entered in the Minute-book.

30. All divisions of the Council shall be entered in the minutes of the proceedings.

Standing Committees.

31. There shall be a Committee of Works and a Finance Committee. These Committees, which shall each consist of three or more members, shall be reappointed every year at the first meeting of the Council which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Committee of Works.

32. The Committee of Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other places under the care and management of the Council. They may also report from time to time upon such improvements, repairs, or other matters as they may think necessary.

Finance Committee.

33. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall enquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect the finances of the Municipality.

Committee of General Purposes.

34. All matters which the Council shall think fit to refer to a Committee, and which do not fall within the province of any other Standing Committee, shall be referred to the Committee of General Purposes; provided, however, that the Council may at any time refer such matters to a Committee appointed for that particular business.

Rules to be observed in Committee.

35. The rules of the Council shall be observed in a Committee of the whole Council, except the rule limiting the number of times of speaking.

Reports of Committee to be Signed.

36. Every report of a Committee shall be signed by the Chairman thereof.

Expenses of Proposed Works to be first ascertained—Accounts to be examined by Finance Committee.

37. No work shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been ascertained by the Council; and all accounts to be paid by the Council shall be examined by the Finance Committee, and reported on by them before any warrant shall be issued for the payment thereof.

Outlay in Urgent Cases.

38. In cases of emergency arising between meetings of the Council it shall be lawful for necessary work to be ordered without vote of the Council, viz.:—By the Mayor to the extent of £30, provided that in the absence of the Mayor any four Aldermen shall have the power.

Leave of Absence

39. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman otherwise than by a resolution of the Council, adopted after due course.

Mode of Calling for Tenders.

40. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed, or any material supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice, as hereinafter provided.

How Notices are to be Published.

41. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law, of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation done, made or passed, or proposed to be made, done, or passed by the Council, or by any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the said Council, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same twice in some newspaper circulating in the Borough.

PART II.

COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF RATES.

Times and Modes of Collection.

Rates under Sec. 164 to be collected half-yearly.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provisions of sec. 164 Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by half-yearly instalments. Each such instalment shall, as to every such rate and every such instalment thereof, be held to be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Officers' hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Defaulters.

4. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid upon the day or days so appointed for payment thereof shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor from time to time with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to take proceedings to enforce payment of all rates in default either by action at law or by issuing warrants of distraint upon the goods and chattels of the defaulter.

Enforcement by Distress.

Bailiff.

6. A bailiff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailiff's sureties.

7. The bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of twenty-five pounds each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duty of bailiff.

8. It shall be the duty of the bailiff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates, in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &amp;c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the bailiff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises, or at such other place within the said Municipality as the bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purposes; and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

11. At the time of making a distress the bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand, at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The bailiff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise seize the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days, as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same, on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

14. The bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. There shall be payable to the bailiff for the use of the Council, for every levy of distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed, marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of distress.

I, Mayor of the Municipal District of Raymond Terrace, do hereby authorize you the bailiff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of situate at for being the amount of rates due to the said Municipality to the day of for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises, as the case may be) and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.

PART III.

Preventing and extinguishing fires.Fire or combustible materials, &c.

1. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger the contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds; and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible materials to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this by-law.

Inflammable fences, &c.

2. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as or for the covering of any such stack, any inflammable material so as to endanger contiguous buildings, or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit, on conviction for every such offence, a penalty of not more than five pounds, and also shall remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after such conviction. And any person failing to remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after such conviction as aforesaid shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this by-law.

Fireworks.

3. Every person who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or firework upon or within sixty yards of any public or private street, or any public place, or shall sell gunpowder, squibs, rockets, or other combustible matter by gas, candle, or other artificial light, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

4. Every person who wilfully sets or causes to be set on fire any chimney-flue, smoke-vent, or stove-pipe, herein called in common a "chimney," shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Burning grass, &c., without notice.

5. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any grass, stubble, or any other inflammable material, in the open air, within the Municipality, without giving at least twenty-four hours' notice of his intention to do so to the owners or occupiers of the adjoining land or premises, shall be liable, upon conviction, to pay a penalty of not more than five pounds.

Water-carts to attend fires.

6. Every owner and driver of a licensed water-cart shall keep such cart loaded with water during all times after sunset and before sunrise, and shall, if any building, premises, or property shall be on fire within the Municipality, attend at the place of such fire with such cart loaded with water, and shall continue to cart water by full loads to such place, and shall deliver such water in such manner as may be required by the Mayor, or by any Alderman or officer, or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, and then present, for extinguishing such fire; and every such owner or driver who shall, without reasonable excuse, fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Compensation for attendance at fires—Rewards.

7. There shall be paid out of the Municipal funds to the owner of every licensed water-cart who shall have attended with any water at the place of any fire as herein provided, and delivered the same as required for extinguishing such fire, such reasonable compensation as the Council shall, by resolution, have appointed in that behalf, and also to such owners of such carts as shall have first and second in order attended with loads of water, such further sums, by way of reward, as the Council may, by similar resolutions, have fixed.

PART IV.

Streets and Public Places, Public Health, Decency, &c.New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been formed by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee of Works or other duly authorized officer, or until the said road, street, way, or park shall have been duly examined by the Committee of Works, or other duly authorized officers, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee or other duly authorized officer.

Plans of proposed new road, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, park, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

3. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed aforesaid shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council, and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, park, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid as may be considered necessary by the Committee for general purposes; and such further instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Committee for works to fix street levels, &c.

4. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the supervision of such Committee, shall, subject to such orders as shall from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, fix and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, and ways within the Municipality, and the carriage and foot ways thereof; and it shall be the duty of such Committee, officer, or person to place, or cause to be placed, posts at the corners or intersections of any such public roads and streets, and of the carriage-ways and foot-ways of such roads and streets, wherever the same may be considered necessary or desirable by the Council: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, or way until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council, as hereinafter directed.

Change of street levels.

5. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any public road, street, or way as aforesaid, to an extent exceeding 3 feet, the Committee of Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cuttings to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers; and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk; and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

6. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material in or from any part of the carriage or foot way of any street or other public place within the said Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break or otherwise damage any such carriage or foot way, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Holes to be enclosed.

7. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left any hole, adjoining or near to any street or public place within the said Municipality, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults or the foundation or foundations to any house or other building, or for any other purpose whatsoever,—or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works of the said Municipality,—or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued any such enclosure for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights upon each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure—shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding five pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the foot ways to be enclosed under penalty.

8. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, premises, or land within the said Municipality, having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building, lot, waterhole, or excavated space, adjoining the foot-way of any street or public place in such Municipality, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and re-passing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land, having any steps adjoining the foot-way of any such street or public place, shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof, every such owner or occupier shall as often as he shall be convicted of such offence forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fences, or other enclosures as aforesaid within seven days after any such conviction as aforesaid shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this by-law.

Wells to be covered over—Penalty

9. Every person who shall have a well situated between his or her dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Municipality, or at the side of or in any yard or place open or exposed to such street or foot-way, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having such well as aforesaid shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode or on the said premises, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open or uncovered contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

10. The Committee of Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

11. Any person who shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipality any timber, stone, or other thing otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or any other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place to the injury thereof, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damages occasioned thereby.

Slop, nightsoil, &c., to be conveyed away only at certain hours.

12. Any person or persons who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any cart or other carriage with any nightsoil or ammoniacal liquor therein, through or in any street or public place within the said Municipality, between the hours of five o'clock in the morning and ten at night, or shall fill any cart or carriage, so as to turn over or cast any nightsoil, ammoniacal liquor, slop, mire, or channel dirt or filth, in or upon any such street or public place, or shall deposit nightsoil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter nearer to any street, road, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or by the Inspector of Nuisances, or shall remove nightsoil or other offensive matter otherwise than in properly covered and watertight carts or other vehicles, or shall cause any vehicle used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any road, street, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or the said Inspector of Nuisances shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; and in case the person so offending shall not be known to the said Council or Inspector, then the owner of such cart or carriage in which such nightsoil or other offensive matter shall be put or placed, and also the employer of the person so offending, shall be liable to forfeit and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

Erection of closets, &c.

13. Where two or more closets adjoin each other there shall be a dividing wall between each two closets of not less thickness than nine inches, commencing from the bottom of the pit and extending to the ceiling or roof, as the case may be, in order to effect a complete separation between each two closets. A separate closet shall be provided for each tenement.

Earth closets may be used.

14. In the event of any person wishing to use the earth-closet instead of a cess-pit, each closet may be used if proper provision be made for that purpose to the satisfaction of the Council, and if it be constructed in accordance with instructions in writing, which shall be given by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council in that behalf.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

15. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

16. Any person who shall damage any public building, toll-gate, toll-bar, toll-board, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, water-course, alignment post, or other public property within the said Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if such damage be wilfully done shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Affixing Placards.

17. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard, or any other paper upon any wall, house, fence, or other erection, nor deface any such wall, house, fence, or erection with chalk or other matter unless with the consent of the owner thereof; and every person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall pay a sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Trees in streets.

18. The Council shall have power to plant trees in the streets and public ways of this Municipality, and any person wilfully injuring or destroying any of such trees, or any railing or fence protecting the same, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds nor less than two pounds, in addition to the value of the tree, railing, or fence so injured or destroyed.

Damaging trees.

19. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root-up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, plant, or underwood, growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Extirpation of noxious weeds.

20. The Council shall have power, in respect to all lands within the boundaries of the Municipal District of Raymond Terrace, where the lands are under cultivation, or have been cleared and fenced, to order and compel the extirpation of the weeds known as the Bathurst burr, the Scotch thistle, and the cotton plant, or other noxious weeds detrimental to good husbandry; and thirty days' notice by advertisement in a local newspaper or by a written or printed notice signed by the Council Clerk or other officer appointed for that purpose, left at or sent through the post to the last known residence or place of business of the person upon whose land such weeds may exist, shall be deemed sufficient notice to owners or occupiers of property. And if, after the expiration of thirty days from the first publication of such notice by advertisement, or the delivery or posting of such written or printed notice, the owner or occupier of the land shall neglect or refuse to extirpate such weeds, by cutting, pulling, or grubbing and burning them, the Council shall have power, in a summary manner, before two Justices, to recover a fine not exceeding ten pounds, together with costs of Court by levy and distress upon the goods and chattels of the person or persons so offending. When noxious weeds are found growing upon land unoccupied, the owner or owners of which are unknown, the Council shall have power at any time to enter upon and clear the weeds from such lands.

Driving carriage, &c., on footways, and throwing filth, &c.

21. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or allow to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing, in or upon the carriage-way or foot-way of any street or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or so near to any such street or other public place, as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or cover, or be on any, or either of any such carriage or foot ways; or shall run, roll, drive, draw, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said foot-ways of any such street or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheel, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, or truck, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride, any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall upon conviction, forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound for each such offence; and should the person in charge of such waggon, cart, dray, or other vehicle, refuse to give his name and address, the owner of the same may be prosecuted under this by-law for causing a breach of the same.

Riding on drays, careless driving, &c.

22. If the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same—or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever, meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare—or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever shall leave the same unattended in any street, whether public or private, or shall go for a distance of more than five yards from the side of such waggon, dray or coach, or other carriage, being in any street, without passing through the near wheel thereof a suitable strap, so as to prevent the rotation of such wheel, every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on footways, &c.—Not removing when required.—Replacing the same after removal.—Not to prevent awnings being erected in front of shops.

23. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever; or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel, in or upon or over any carriage or foot way in any street, or public place within the said Municipality, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage upon any such carriage way, except for the necessary time of loading or unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or over any such carriage or foot way any timber, stones, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as herein directed) or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of such foot-way or carriage-way, or over any area of any house or other building or premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other building or premises over or next unto any such street or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other proper officer of the Council; or if any person, who having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed, or caused to be removed, any such stall-board, show-board, chopping block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stones, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other matters or things, shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose or put out, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, exposed or put out, the same or any of them, or any other stall-board, show-board, chopping block, basket, wares, merchandise, goods, timber, stones, bricks, lime, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, truck, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, meat, offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any such carriage or foot way or of next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house, provided that no person shall erect any awning without first making application to the Council, and submitting plans, the same to be accompanied with a fee of five shillings, and any person offending shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and to have such awning removed.

Cleaning of hog-styes.

24. Any owner or occupier of any house or place who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, privies or closets, hog-styes, yards, and ways within the said premises, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance, by offensive smell or otherwise, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings for every such offence. And upon the reasonable complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of; and the officers of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose.

Closets, stables, &c., not built in conformity with this Act, or being a nuisance, to be altered or removed.

25. If any stable, cow-shed, or other out-house, or any closet, privy, and cesspit is or shall be, in the opinion of the Council or Mayor and the Inspector of Nuisances, a nuisance, from its too close proximity to any adjoining premises, or from any other cause, or is not kept in repair and clean, the Council or Mayor may, by notice in writing, given to the owner or occupier, order the same to be taken down, altered, repaired, or cleaned, as the case may require; and if any such order be not obeyed within seven days from the service of such notice the Council or Mayor may, without any further notice, cause the same to be pulled down, destroyed, altered, repaired, or cleaned, and shall be entitled to recover all expenses that may be incurred from the owner in a summary way at the suit of the Council.

Nuisance to be removed.

26. Any occupant or owner of any premises within the Municipality shall, within seven days after receiving a written notice to that effect from the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed for that purpose by the Council, remove any gutter, drain, closet, cesspit, or well which shall be adjudged by the Council to be a nuisance, or in default shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Encroachment beyond building-line.

27. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building-line in any street or lane by the erection of houses, verandahs, door-steps, fences, or any other obstruction whatsoever.

Houses to be spouted.

28. All proprietors of houses within the Municipality having a frontage to any street, lane, or thoroughfare, shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with down pipe, to be carried under the surface of the footpath into the gutter.

Verandahs, &c., to be spouted.

29. All proprietors of houses within the Municipality having any verandah, balcony, or colonnade, or any part thereof, overhanging any footpath or any part thereof, shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with a down pipe so as to carry the water into the gutter.

Swine not to be kept, nor Swine, Horses, Goats, &c., suffered to wander about the Streets.

30. Any person who shall brood, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other hereditament, situate and being in or within forty yards of any street or public place or any dwelling-house in the Municipality, or shall suffer any kind of swine or any horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, or other cattle belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go abroad, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Riding and Driving round corners.

31. Any person who shall ride or drive round corners at the intersections of King and William Streets, and William and Port Stephens Streets, at a pace faster than a walk, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

As to Riding or Driving improperly through Streets, &c.

32. Any person who shall ride or drive through any road, street, or public place so negligently or furiously that the safety of any person may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

Discharging firearms, &c.

33. Any person who shall discharge any firearms within the Municipality without lawful cause shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Dead animals not to be thrown into any public watercourse.

34. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public watercourse or waterhole shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Natural watercourse.

35. Any person who shall close or intercept any natural watercourse by building or otherwise shall provide another outlet for the surface water with pipes or sewers of a size and in a manner to be approved by the Council; and any person failing to comply with the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds, and shall remove any such obstruction within such time as the Council may determine.

Driving cattle.

36. No cattle intended for sale or slaughter, or horses for sale, shall be driven through any part of the said Municipality, except between the hours of 6 of the clock in the afternoon and 8 of the clock in the morning; and every person who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any such cattle or horses as aforesaid into or through any part of the said Municipality at any other hour shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty shillings for each and every head of cattle or horses so driven.

For the better prevention of accidents, the owner or owners of any such cattle or horses as last aforesaid shall, whilst the same shall be driven through any part of the said Municipality, be bound to provide and have a sufficient number of persons in actual attendance, charge, or custody thereof, so that one of such persons at least shall be in advance or in front of the same.

In the construction of the last two By-laws the word "cattle" shall extend to and include bulls, bullocks, cows, heifers, and steers, provided that nothing in this By-law shall be held to apply to milk cows or cattle in teams or to working cattle.

Houses to be purified on certificate of medical practitioner.

37. If, upon the certificate of any duly qualified medical practitioner, it appears to the Council that any house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in such a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same, as the case may require; and if the person to whom notice is given shall fail to comply therewith, within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

Offences against public decency.

38. Any person who shall bathe near or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the Municipality, between the hours of eight a.m. and seven p.m. shall on conviction pay a sum not exceeding one pound for each offence.

Erection of houses, &c.—Fee for permission

39. No person shall be permitted to erect any fence, house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place within the Municipality without having first served notice in writing to the Mayor or Council Clerk before commencing the same, stating his intention and describing the proposed situation of the building, or erection, and shall at the time said notice is given as aforesaid pay to the Council Clerk a fee of five shillings for permission to erect any such fence, house, shop, or building, in any street, lane, or other place within the said Municipality, and every owner thereof, and every contractor for such fence, house, shop, or other building, or any part thereof, commencing to build or work thereon without such notice having been given, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Dead animals—mode of removing.

40. If any animal shall die in any part of the said Municipal District, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed or disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the said Municipal District, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Dead animals on road or street, &c

41. If any animal shall die on any road, street, or public place within the said Municipal District, or within half-a-mile of any road, street, or public place, or of any dwelling-house, and the owner of any such animal, or the occupier of such place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not immediately cause such animal to be effectually removed and disposed of as aforesaid, or destroyed as aforesaid on the spot where it shall have died if a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house, or if such spot shall not be a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house, if such owner or occupier shall not immediately cause such animal to be effectually removed as aforesaid, or to be removed to some place not less than a quarter of a mile from any dwelling-house, and then destroyed as aforesaid, every such owner or occupier shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals on private premises.

42. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the said Council of the said Municipal District, with his assistants, may at any hour enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipal District, where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and, if necessary, to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose; and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding thirty pounds nor less than three pounds.

Cleansing Butchers' Shambles, Slaughter-houses, &c.

43. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments in the said Municipality, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing of the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, or establishment, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting Dirty Premises, &c.

44. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the said Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of; and the officer of the said Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter, to remain in or upon any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cess-pool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various Obstructions and Annoyances.

45. Every person who, in any street or other public place or passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences shall on conviction for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place the carcass, or any part of the carcass, of any newly-slaughtered animal, without a sufficient and proper cloth covering for the same, for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.
- (3.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub overhanging the footpath, to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (4.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure), when any house or building is being erected or pulled down.
- (5.) Every blacksmith, whitesmith, anchorsmith, nail-maker, metal-founder, limeburner, brickmaker, potter, or other person using a forge, furnace, or kiln, and having a door, window, or aperture fronting or opening into or towards any street, lane, or passage, and not closing such door, or not fastening the shutters or other fastenings of such window, and closing such aperture, or placing a screen before the same every evening, within one hour after sunset, so as effectually to prevent the light showing through the doorway, window, or aperture next or upon such street, lane, or passage.
- (6.) Every person who shall be the keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

46. No person shall erect any building of bark or roof the same with that material or with calico within the Municipality except by express permission of the Council; any person so offending shall on conviction be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and shall be bound to remove the aforesaid building within such period as the Council may determine.

Loitering in Streets, &c.

47. Any person or persons remaining or loitering in or obstructing any road, street, foot-way, or other public place within the Municipality shall be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds; and for any subsequent conviction shall be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Gambling in Streets, &c.

48. Any person playing or betting at any unlawful game, or playing or betting at or with cards, money table, implement or instrument of gaming, in any street, road, foot-way, reserve, or other open or public place, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than forty shillings nor more than ten pounds; and for every subsequent conviction shall be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Disorderly or indecent behaviour.

49. Every person who shall in any street or public place within the said Municipality be guilty of any riotous, disorderly, or indecent behaviour shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Noisome or offensive trades.

50. No person shall carry on any noisome or offensive trade or calling within the said Municipality so as to injure or be a nuisance as hereinafter stated to any of the inhabitants thereof, and the business of a soap-boiler, tallow-melter, boiler-down, glue-maker, blacksmith, tanner, currier, or cow-keeper, or any other business, manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in connection wherewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on, any gas, vapour, effluvia, liquid, or any large quantities of smoke shall be evolved or discharged, which gas, vapour, effluvia, liquid, or smoke shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life or in any other way to injure or be a nuisance to any of the inhabitants of the said Municipality, shall be considered a "noisome and offensive trade or calling" within the meaning of these By-laws. And if the Council or Mayor shall, after such inquiry as may be necessary, be of opinion that any manufacture, trade, or calling, so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a "noisome or offensive trade or calling" within the meaning of the said By-laws, it shall be lawful for the said Council or Mayor to give to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade or calling notice to cease and discontinue the same in such reasonable time, not being less than twenty days nor more than sixty days, as the Council or Mayor may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, as that in such reasonable time as aforesaid the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the said Municipality; and if such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation shall not be discontinued or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive by the end of the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person thereafter conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; for a second offence a sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when a "Noisome or offensive Trade" is about to be commenced—Penalty.

51. The like proceedings as in the last By-law may be taken whenever any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove "noisome or offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws; and notice may be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same; and any person who shall, after such notice, commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way "noisome or offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notice—Liabilities.

52. Service of any such notice as the aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, managing, or who shall in any other way be actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, or on any premises where the same is about to be established, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation within the meaning, and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

53. Unless where hereinbefore otherwise directed, all complaints of offences against these By-laws shall be heard and determined within three months from the committal of the offence complained of, and no such complaint shall be entertained by the Council unless within one month from the time when such shall have been committed.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of the Municipal District of Raymond Terrace, the fifteenth day of October, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(BOROUGH OF RANDWICK—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 27th August, 1885.

BOROUGH OF RANDWICK.

BY-LAWS UNDER "NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT."

THE following By-laws made by the Council of the Borough of Randwick, for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act 1875," have been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, and published in accordance with the requirements of the above cited Act.

ALEX. STUART.

BY-LAWS FOR THE BOROUGH OF RANDWICK FOR CARRYING INTO EFFECT THE PROVISIONS OF THE "NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875."

1. Every person who shall be about to erect a closet, or form, excavate, or make a cesspit before he shall commence any such work, shall give to the Council Clerk seven days' notice in writing of his intention, and of the proposed position of such closet or cesspit, and in case of his commencing such work without having given such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

2. No closet shall be erected, or cesspit formed, excavated, or made, except in such position as shall be approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances of the said Borough, or other officer for the time being appointed by the Council of the said Borough in that behalf; and every person being guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds; but any person who shall feel aggrieved by the decision of such Inspector or other officer, may appeal against the same to the Council.

3. Every cesspit within the said Borough shall be 4 feet by 4 feet internal measurement, and 4 feet deep, with a fall of 3 inches to back part of cesspit, which is to be 5 feet deep for 2 feet by 4 feet below the ground surface; and any person making a cesspit contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

4. Every cesspit within the said Borough shall have a man-hole out side and at back of closet 2 feet by 2 feet. The cover of the same shall consist of a stone flag 4 inches thick properly fitted to man-hole, and two rings leaded into stone to lift the same off for the purpose of emptying the remaining portion of cesspit; outside of closet to be covered with two flags to match the cover of man-hole; all joints to be made air-tight. In no case shall there be more than 18 inches by 4 feet of cesspit inside of closet. The floor of closet to be cemented up to front of riser, and all seats to have a flap hung on hinges to cover hole; the whole to be done to the satisfaction of the Inspector of Nuisances, and any person having or making a cesspit contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

5. The walls of every cesspit shall be built of brick or stone of a thickness of not less than 9 inches, and shall be built in cement floors as well as walls, and rendered  $\frac{1}{2}$  of an inch thick, with cement inside in such manner as to make it perfectly watertight; and every person having or constructing a cesspit contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

6. No cesspit shall be built under any dwelling-house, nor at a less distance than 6 feet therefrom; and any person having or building a cesspit contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

7. Every closet having a cesspit shall be built of brick or stone, with walls not less than 6 feet 6 inches high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches by 4 feet 6 inches internal measurement, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened from the inside; and every person having or building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

8. Where two or more closets adjoin each other there shall be a sufficient dividing wall not less than 9 inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the cesspit through the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and every person having or building closets adjoining each other contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

9. The top of every cesspit shall not be less than 6 inches higher than the highest part of the ground immediately adjoining it; and every person having or building a cesspit contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

10. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement, and a breach of this By-law shall make persons using a joint closet liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

11. Every closet now or hereafter to be erected in the said Borough, and which shall be situated at a distance from the cesspit belonging thereto, and every cesspit now or hereafter to be formed, excavated, or made in connection with such closet subject to the approval of the Inspector of Nuisances or some other Officer for the time being appointed by the said Council in that behalf,—the cesspit shall, in such cases, be covered over with earth 12 inches in thickness, and in such a manner that the said covering of earth shall not be raised to a higher level than the ground immediately surrounding such cesspit; and no person shall be allowed to empty such cesspit except by having the contents put into a watertight cart and taken away between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m., and then only by the person employed by the Council; any person being guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds.

12. In schools, factories, or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside or be occupied or employed, one closet at least shall be provided for every twenty persons, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of any such school, factories, or other place of business who shall be guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

13. Every cesspit shall be built in such a position that the same may be emptied without the contents thereof being carried through any dwelling-house; and every person having or making, forming or excavating a cesspit contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

14. The place of deposit of night-soil shall be in such locality as may be from time to time determined upon by the Council of the said Borough.

15. Until otherwise provided by the said Council all night-soil shall be removed from cesspits by contract in watertight covered vehicles between the hours of 11 o'clock in the evening and 5 o'clock in the morning.

16. Until and unless otherwise provided by the said Council all night-soil shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth.

17. The Inspector of Nuisances or other Officer for the time being appointed by the said Council in that behalf may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, therein on all days except Sundays and Public Holidays, between the hours of 10 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

18. Any person desirous of erecting an earth-closet shall be at liberty to do so after giving notice of his intention so to do to the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer for the time being appointed by the said Council in that behalf but all the night-soil shall be removed therefrom not less than once in every four days during the time that the said earth-closet shall be used and the same shall be removed by contract in a watertight covered vehicle between the hours of eleven o'clock in the evening and five o'clock in the morning, and shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth, and every person infringing this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than two pounds.

19. In the event of any closet or cesspit now existing or which shall hereafter exist on any premises in the said Borough not being built, formed, excavated, or made in accordance with these By-laws or any one of them the said Council or the Mayor of the said Borough with the Inspector of Nuisances or other Officer for the time being appointed by the said Council in that behalf may by a notice in writing to the owner, occupier or lessee of the said premises require him to remove, alter, rebuild, fill in, or altogether destroy such closet or cesspit respectively within seven days from the date of the service upon him of such notice, and in the event of the owner, occupier, or lessee not complying with the terms of such notice he shall be liable to a penalty of not more than ten pounds nor less than two pounds; and in the event of such noncompliance as aforesaid the said Council or Mayor, with the said Inspector or other Officer as aforesaid, may take or cause to be taken necessary steps for such removal, alteration, rebuilding, filling in, or entire destruction of such closet or cesspit in accordance with the terms of the said notice, and the costs of such works shall be borne by such owner, occupier, or lessee.

20. Every receptacle used in earth-closets, to hold faecal matter or urine shall be subject to the approval of the Inspector of Nuisances or other Officer as aforesaid; and any person who shall continue to make use of any such receptacle after the expiration of seven days from the receipt by him of a written notice from such Inspector or other Officer of his disapproval thereof, and indicating the kind of receptacle which should be substituted therefor, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

21. The said Council may recover such sums for the emptying of cesspits or earth-closets as may be decided upon from time to time by resolution of the said Council.

Made and confirmed by the Council this 9th day of June, 1885, and corporate seal attached.

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10th June, 1885.

BOROUGH OF NEWTOWN.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Borough of Newtown, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," for regulating the depositing of night-soil, &c., at Waltersfield, in the Municipal District of St. Peters, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

ALEX. STUART.

BOROUGH OF NEWTOWN.

BY-LAWS for regulating the depositing of night-soil and house refuse, &c., at Waltersfield, in the Municipality of St. Peters.

1. Any person or persons found depositing night-soil or refuse of any kind on the Waltersfield property, without having first obtained the sanction of the Borough Council of Newtown, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £20.
2. Any person depositing night-soil at the depôt before the hour of ten o'clock in the evening, or after five o'clock in the morning, shall be liable to a penalty of £5.
3. All night-soil deposited in the trenches at this depôt shall be immediately covered with earth; and any contractor or person in charge of this depôt who shall wilfully neglect to cover such night-soil as hereby directed shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £5.
4. Any Council, contractor, or person other than the servants of the Borough Council of Newtown depositing night-soil in his depôt shall do so subject to the following rules, viz. :—
  - 1st. Upon payment to the Borough Council of Newtown such rental as may be agreed upon.
  - 2nd. Subject to such directions that may be given by the officer in charge of the depôt.
  - 3rd. Should the Borough Council of Newtown at any time be deprived of the use of this depôt for the purposes herein mentioned, any agreement or contract made hereunder between any Council, contractor, or person shall at once become null and void, and such Council, contractor, or person shall not be entitled to any claim or compensation whatever for the breaking of such agreement. And the said Borough Council of Newtown reserves to itself the right to annul any agreement made hereunder at any time the said Council may deem it expedient to do so, by giving to the said parties fourteen days' notice in writing.

Passed by the Borough Council of Newtown this twenty-sixth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BALRANALD--BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 28th August, 1885.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BALRANALD--BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Balranald, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above cited Act.

ALEX. STUART.

BY-LAWS for the Prevention of Nuisances in the Municipality of Balranald.

1. Every person about to erect a closet or form an earth-closet shall, before he shall commence any such work, give to the Town Clerk seven days' notice in writing of his intention, and of the proposed position of such earth-closet; and in default thereof, or in case of his commencing such work without such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £10.

2. No closet shall be erected or earth-closet formed except in such position as shall be approved of by the Council, or by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council.

3. Every closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide, and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened from the inside, and shall have ventilating holes 4 inches wide.

4. When two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a brick or stone dividing wall, of not less than 9 inches in thickness, between every two closets; and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the earth-closet through the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation.

5. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement, and a breach of this By-law shall make the owner or occupier of any premises upon which there shall be a joint closet liable to a penalty not exceeding £5.

6. In dwelling-houses where the number of persons who shall ordinarily sleep therein shall exceed twelve, the capacity of the earth-closet shall be increased by 4 cubic feet for every person beyond the number of twelve, or else a separate closet shall be provided for every twelve persons or fraction of twelve.

7. In schools or factories or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall reside or be occupied or employed, one closet shall be provided for every twenty persons, with a pan of a capacity of not less than four pans, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex.

8. If any alteration shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the Council in that behalf, for preserving public health or decency, in the case of any existing earth-closet or closet, the owner or occupier of such premises shall receive fourteen days' notice to remove or alter the same; and if he fail to do so, the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer shall report the same to the Council, and if the Council shall adjudge such earth-closet or closet to be either injurious to the health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, the same shall be altered by such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer, and the cost of such alteration shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises wherein the same shall be situated.

9. The place of deposit for night-soil shall be in such locality as may from time to time be determined upon by the Council; and no night-soil shall be deposited in any other locality within the Municipality, except as allowed by By-laws 15 and 16 hereinafter following.

10. Until otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be removed from earth-closets in watertight covered vehicles, between the hours of eleven o'clock in the evening and five in the morning; such vehicles to be subject to inspection by the Council or officer appointed by them, and to be subject to a license fee of £1 per annum, payable on the first of January in each year.

11. Until and less otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth 2 feet deep.

12. In case the Council shall sell or give away any night-soil, the same shall be removed in the same manner as above provided, and on being removed from the vehicles in which it is carried it shall be deodorized by chemicals, or in some other manner, or covered with earth, so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom.

13. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council, may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorised by the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, on all days except Sundays and public holidays, between the hours of ten o'clock in the morning and four in the afternoon.

14. Any person desirous of erecting an earth-closet shall be at liberty to do so after giving notice of his intention to do so to the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council; but all night-soil shall be removed therefrom once in four days or oftener, and shall be buried in the earth 2 feet deep; and this By-law shall apply to earth-closets already in use, as far as practicable.

15. Every person shall be at liberty to use on his own premises all night-soil collected thereon, but if any nuisance shall arise therefrom he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £5.

16. No person shall be at liberty, without the permission of the Council, or of the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed on their behalf, to use on his premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere.

17. The owner or occupier of any house, building, or passage, yard, earth-closet, or premises within this Municipality, shall cause the same and any part thereof to be kept in a cleanly condition, and so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health.

18. Any person allowing night-soil to fall or escape into any street, right of way, water channel, gutter, creek, river, or reservoir, or any other public or private place, except as herein provided for, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding £20 nor less than £2.

19. If at any time the earth-closet in any premises shall overflow or become a nuisance, the owner or occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £10.

20. The Council may recover from, and the owners or occupiers of the premises shall pay such sums for the emptying of earth-closets as may be decided upon from time to time by resolution of the Council.

21. The owner or occupier of any premises within the Municipality, or any other person who shall have or erect upon his premises any closet or earth-closet, otherwise than in accordance with these By-laws, or who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of the preceding By-laws, or who shall commit any breach thereof, shall, in cases where no special penalty is provided, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding £5; and any person not being duly licensed or authorised by the Council who shall remove any night-soil or empty any earth-closet shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding for the first offence £5, and for every subsequent offence £10.

22. All words occurring in these By-laws, and which also occur in the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, shall have the like meanings assigned to them as are provided in the 4th section of the said Act.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of Balranald, this 13th day of April, in the year of our Lord 1885.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF LISMORE—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vict. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 25th March, 1885.

LISMORE MUNICIPALITY—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws made by the Council of the Municipal District of Lismore, for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above cited Act.

WILLIAM BEDE DALLEY.

BY-LAWS to carry into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," within the Municipality of Lismore.

1. Every person who shall be about to erect a closet, or form, excavate, or make a cesspit, shall before he shall commence to erect such closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit, deliver to the Council Clerk of the Municipality a notice in writing of the intention of such person to erect such closet, or form, excavate, or make such cesspit, and of the place or position in which it is intended that such closet shall be erected, or such cesspit formed, excavated, or made; and if any person shall commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit within the said Municipality without having given such notice in writing as aforesaid, and before the expiration of seven days after the delivery of such notice (except by the written authority of the Inspector of Nuisances for the said Municipality, or officer for the time being appointed by the Council of the said Municipality on that behalf), he shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

2. No person shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit, except in such place or position as shall be approved by said Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid; and any person who shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit without having obtained the approval of the said Inspector of Nuisances or other officer, or in any position or place other than the place or position approved of by the said Inspector or other officer as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence; but any person who shall feel aggrieved by the decision of the said Inspector or other officer as aforesaid may appeal against the same to the Council.

3. Every cesspit to be constructed within the Municipality shall be built of nine-inch brickwork set in cement, and the top of such cesspit shall be at least nine inches above the surface of the ground, and shall also, if deemed desirable by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer as aforesaid, be plastered with cement, the floor as well as the wall of such cesspit; and no cesspit shall be formed, excavated, or made under any dwelling-house, nor at a less distance than twenty feet therefrom (area permitting). Every person who shall so form, excavate, or make any cesspit which shall not be in accordance with the provisions of the By-law, or shall form, excavate, or make any cesspit under any dwelling-house, or at a less distance than twenty feet therefrom (area permitting), shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

4. All cesspits to be hereafter built shall not be more than five feet deep, four feet wide, and four feet six inches long, inside measurement, except as hereinafter provided.

5. Every closet shall be built with walls seven feet high, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened inside, and with a manhole in the floor not less than two feet square, internal measurement, to be covered with a trap door; and every person who shall build or erect any closet which shall not be in accordance with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

6. Where two closets adjoin each other there shall be a sufficient dividing brick wall, not less than nine inches in thickness, between such closets as aforesaid, and such walls shall extend from the bottom of the cesspit up to the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and if any person shall erect any two closets as aforesaid, and not in accordance with this By-law, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

7. A separate closet shall be provided for each tenement; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

8. In schools, factories, or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside or be occupied or employed, one closet shall be provided for every forty persons, with a cesspit of a capacity of not less nor more than 90 cubic feet, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against the provisions of this By-law, or fail to provide the number of closets in this By-law mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five pounds, and shall be guilty of a separate offence for every day during which the provisions of this By-law shall not be complied with.

9. If any alteration shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council in their behalf for preserving public decency or health, in case of any existing cesspit or closet, and the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, and the owner or occupier of the premises on which such cesspit or closet shall be, shall not make the necessary alterations after receiving fourteen days' notice from the Council Clerk, or Inspector of Nuisances, it shall be lawful for the said Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council to remove the said nuisance, and any expense incurred thereby may be sued for.

10. Persons desirous of using earth-closets may be permitted to do so on making written application to the Council and intimating the arrangements to be made for their construction and management, provided that such arrangements shall be approved by the Council.

11. Until otherwise provided for by the Council, all night-soil shall be removed by contract, in watertight covered vehicles, between the hours of 10 p.m. and 5 a.m.; and if any person shall remove from any cesspit any nightsoil in any other manner or at any other time than as provided by this By-law, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

12. In case the Council shall sell or give away any nightsoil, the same shall be removed in the same manner and between the same hours as aforesaid, and on being removed from the vehicles from which it is carried shall be deodorized by chemicals or some other effective manner, or covered with earth, so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom. On breach of this By-law, the person or persons to whom the said nightsoil shall be sold or given shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

13. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council, may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, therein, on all days except Sundays and holidays; and every person who shall hinder or obstruct any Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid upon any such visitation or inspection, or in the doing or performing of any work, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

14. The Inspector of Nuisances shall furnish the Council with a monthly return showing the number of cesspits emptied, the amount due and payable for each cesspit, and the amount of arrears due for emptying cesspits. He shall collect the amounts so due and payable, and account therefor to the Council at least once in every month, or as may be determined upon by such Council.

15. The operation of and the penalties imposed by these By-laws shall only extend and apply to persons residing within the town and suburban boundaries of the town of Lismore and such persons who reside in that portion of Lismore known as the Lismore Estate Subdivision.

16. All expenses incurred by the Council in emptying any cesspit shall be repaid to the Council by the owner or occupant of the premises whereon such cesspit is situated, within one week after a written demand of the amount made by the Inspector of Nuisances shall have been served upon him or her.

17. For every offence against the provisions of these By-laws, except as otherwise provided, the offender shall be liable to and shall pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

The foregoing By-laws were finally passed by the Municipal Council of the Municipal District of Lismore, at a meeting held on Monday, February 2, 1885.

(L.S.) JAMES BARRIE,
St. HELIER PEARD, Council Clerk. Mayor.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF WENTWORTH—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 23th August, 1885.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF WENTWORTH—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Wentworth, for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act 1875," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the abovesaid Act.

BY-LAWS MADE BY THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF WENTWORTH FOR CARRYING OUT THE PROVISIONS OF THE "NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875."

PART 6.

To regulate the construction, situation, and keeping of privies, cesspools, cesspits, and earth-closets.

1. All water-closets, earth-closets, privies, cesspools, and cesspits within the Municipal District of Wentworth shall be constructed and kept so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so as that there shall be no overflow or soakage or leakage therefrom; and every cesspool within the said Municipal District which shall be formed or made below the surface of the ground shall be also constructed so that the walls or sides thereof shall be watertight, and shall project on all sides at least six inches above the surface of the ground in which such cesspools shall be formed or made; and shall be built of 9-inch brick-work in cement, floor as well as walls, and rendered  $\frac{1}{2}$  an inch thick, with cement mixed in the proportion one cement to three of clean sharp sand; each cesspool shall be provided with a covered opening or man-hole outside and attached to the closet sufficiently large to admit of wood ashes being deposited therein, and the contents of the cesspool removed therefrom. In no case, where practicable, shall any cesspool or closet be situated within 40 feet of a dwelling; should there not be sufficient area to admit of this arrangement being carried out, the said Council, or any person they may appoint, shall determine the site of such cesspool or cesspit.

Closest accommodation to be supplied, as well as urinals, &c.

2. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement, and when two or more closets adjoin each other there shall be a 9-inch brick dividing wall between each, commencing at the floor and terminating at the ceiling or roof, as far as may be. For houses containing not more than four rooms and out-offices the cesspools or cesspits shall not be less than 2 feet 6 inches by 4 feet and 5 feet deep inside measurement. For houses containing more than four rooms and out-offices the cesspools or cesspits shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches by 4 feet and 5 feet deep inside measurement. In workshops and factories the closet accommodation shall be, where ten or more persons are employed, not less than 4 feet 6 inches by 5 feet deep inside measurement. Each hotel shall be provided with one or more public closets, built in accordance with the foregoing dimensions, and not less than one private one. The aforesaid measurements shall be exclusive of the outside opening or man-hole referred to in previous By-law. One or more properly constructed urinals shall be erected on each hotel premises, and shall be erected in such a situation as the said Council or their duly appointed officer or officers may decide upon; they shall be kept in such condition so as not to be injurious to health.

When existing closets are injurious.

3. When any existing closet, cesspool, or cesspit, or similar appliance of any kind, shall in the opinion of the said Council or their duly appointed officer or officers be injurious to public health, or be or become a nuisance, or opposed to common decency, the owner or owners thereof shall upon receiving seven (7) days' notice from the Council, or from their duly appointed officer for that purpose, make such alterations as may be ordered by the said Council, or by such officer, within the time prescribed by such notice; any owner or occupier neglecting or refusing to comply with the terms of such notice the said Council shall and may have the required alterations carried out at the cost and expense of the said owner or occupier thereof.

Owners of existing closets shall be compelled to alter, &c.

4. Any owner or owners of existing closets or soil-pits may be required to alter and improve them in such manner as may be deemed necessary by the said Council in order to bring them into conformity in all respects with these By-laws, on notice being given by the said Council or by their duly appointed officer for that purpose to that effect; owners or occupiers failing to make such alterations or improvements within one month after the receipt of such notice shall be liable to a penalty of not less than £1 nor exceeding the sum of £3 for each and every week or portion of a week during which they shall fail to comply with terms of the notice aforesaid.

The Council to appoint depôts.

5. The said Council may from time to time by regulation or regulations appoint depôts within the said Municipal District wherein the contents of closets, cesspools, cesspits, and other offensive matter shall be deposited, and disinfectants shall on all occasions where nightsoil is deposited be used, so that it shall not become a nuisance or injurious to health: Provided also that nothing herein contained shall prevent the said Council from making arrangements to deposit nightsoil and other manures or disposing of such by sale or otherwise if such deposits or sales be made in accordance with the general provisions of these By-laws.

Nightsoil to be removed by contract, charges to be recovered, &c.

6. The contents of cesspools, cesspits, privies, earth-closets, or other receptacles for nightsoil shall be removed by contract in properly constructed water-tight carts; and the said Council is hereby empowered to enter into any contract or contracts with any person or persons for the due performance of any or all matters connected with the removal and deposit of nightsoil, and may make regulations from time to time as to them may seem necessary respecting such contract or contracts; and may also by like regulations determine the price which the owner or owners or occupants of any premises shall pay or be liable to pay the said Council for emptying and cleansing or causing to be emptied and cleansed their cesspools, cesspits, privies, or earth-closets aforesaid, and the said Council may recover such charges as have been fixed by the said Council duly assembled by resolution or otherwise.

To prevent cesspits, earth-closets, &c., becoming a nuisance to neighbouring householders.

7. All privies, earth-closets or other receptacles wherein nightsoil may be deposited shall be kept in such a state of cleanliness so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and no householder or resident shall allow or permit any such premises to be a nuisance or offensive to neighbouring householders or residents under a penalty of not less than £10.

Cleansing of privy, cesspools, earth-closets, pans, &c.

8. The occupier of every house, building, or tenement within the said municipal district shall cause every cesspool, cesspit, or privy therein to be emptied and cleansed from time to time as soon as the portion of the contents of such shall have so accumulated therein as to be within a distance of 1 foot from the top of the wall sides or lining thereof respectively. Provided that the contents of any cesspool, cesspit, privy, or closet-pan, shall not be removed or discharged therefrom except by some nightman or nightmen duly authorized or licensed as such by the aforesaid Council, and only between the hours of 11 o'clock p.m. and 5 o'clock a.m. No cesspool, cesspit, or privy, shall have connected therewith any pipe or other appliances capable of being used for the purpose of discharging or removing the contents of such cesspool, cesspit, or privy upon or under the surface of any adjoining ground, or into any drain or sewer, or into any other place or places whatsoever; any person or persons wilfully violating this By-law in any respect shall be liable to and forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Where cesspools not provided.

9. The occupier of every house, building, or other tenement on or in which the privy or closet belonging thereto shall not be provided with a cesspit constructed in accordance with the provisions of the preceding By-law No. 2, shall at all times cause to be kept in such privy or closet a supply of dry powdered earth, ashes, charcoal, lime, or some other material efficient and sufficient for deodorizing the night-soil deposited therein, and shall also cause all such night-soil which may be deposited in any box, pan, bucket, or other receptacle in such privy or closet to be immediately on the deposit thereof covered with a quantity of dry powdered earth or such other deodorizing material as aforesaid, sufficient to thoroughly and efficiently deodorize the contents of such bucket, pan, or other receptacle.

Removal of night-soil, &c.

10. Contractors for the removal of night-soil shall, under the Inspector for Nuisances for the time being or other officer or officers for the time being appointed by the said Council, make a trench on the depot fixed upon and set apart by the said Council for the purpose of depositing therein all night-soil that shall from time to time be taken thereto, and the whole of such night-soil shall as deposited be covered with earth and disinfectants so as to prevent any nuisance to arise therefrom, and the person or persons who shall be so appointed to the said duty shall be responsible for duly carrying out this By-law, and in default shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound.

Inspection of premises.

11. It shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer or officers for the time being duly appointed by the said Council, he or they having reasonable grounds for believing that any nuisance exists, to demand admission into and upon the premises from the owner or occupier to inspect any premises within the said Municipal District, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of sections 25, 26, and 27 of the aforesaid Act, between the hours of 10 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p.m., on any lawful working day.

Complaint of nuisances, &c.

12. Upon complaint or notice in writing by any householder to the said Council that any cesspool or cesspools, cesspits, or other receptacles wherein night-soil is deposited, any neighbouring or adjoining premises is or are a nuisance, the said Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons duly appointed as aforesaid by the said Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the said officer or officers of the said Council shall have full power without any other authority than this By-law to go on such premises for the aforesaid purpose, and if any such premises shall be found to be a nuisance or otherwise offensive, notice in writing by the said officer or officers shall be given by delivering the same to such proprietor or resident, or by leaving the same at the house or dwelling of such proprietor or resident; that if within seven days after the service of such notice the said nuisance shall not be removed the proprietor, tenant, or occupier of the aforesaid premises shall upon such neglect or default, and upon conviction thereof, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Cesspools or cesspits to be built, &c.

13. Every cesspool or cesspit shall be built in such a position that the same may be emptied without the contents thereof being carried through any dwelling-house, and any person or persons having or building any cesspool or cesspit contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Substituting earth-closets for cesspools, &c.

14. Any person or persons desirous of substituting any earth-closet for existing cesspools, cesspits, or privies shall be at liberty so to do, after giving notice of his or their desire to the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer or officers duly appointed by the said Council, who shall within forty-eight (48) hours after the receipt of such notice inspect the premises mentioned, and decide as to the eligibility of the site or otherwise for effecting such substitution; all earth-closets shall be emptied and cleansed at least once in each week by the said Council's nightman or nightmen or other duly appointed person or persons for that purpose.

Intention to construct closets, &c.

15. Any person or persons within the said Municipal District who intend to construct any privy, cesspool, cesspit, or earth-closet shall give notice in writing to the Inspector of Nuisances for the time being of his, her, or their intention so to do, and the said Inspector shall within forty-eight (48) hours inspect the premises on which such is intended to be constructed, and shall report the same to the Mayor for the time being, the size, breadth, depth, and width, nature of soil, how situated, and generally upon the matter, and if such closet is of sufficient accommodation for the premises; and the said Council shall within seven (7) days of approval give a written permission through their Council Clerk for the time being for the construction of the said closet. Any person constructing a closet, cesspool, cesspit, or other receptacle for nightsoil without giving such notice and receiving such permission shall be liable to a fine or penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Impeding Council or Officers, &c.

16. Any person or persons wilfully obstructing the Council or their duly appointed officers, or contractors, or any or either of them, in the execution of their duty in any way or manner shall be liable to a fine or penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Requiring cesspools, &c., to be emptied.

17. Any person or persons requiring their cesspools, cesspits, closets, or earth-closets emptied shall leave a written notice at the said Council Chambers, addressed to the Inspector of Nuisances, who shall forthwith, or as early as practicable, apprise the night-soil contractor of the work for which such notice has been given and received. Any person or persons emptying or causing to be emptied any receptacle for the deposit of night-soil or not delivering such notice as aforesaid shall be liable to a fine or penalty of not exceeding twenty pounds.

Breach of By-laws.

18. Every person guilty of breach of the provisions of the foregoing By-laws shall be liable for every such offence (when not otherwise expressly mentioned) to a fine or penalty of not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five shillings.

(BOROUGH OF NEWCASTLE—AMENDED BY-LAW.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 26th May, 1885.

BOROUGH OF NEWCASTLE.—AMENDED BY-LAW.

THE following amended By-law, made by the Council of the Borough of Newcastle, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, is published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

ALEX. STUART.

BOROUGH OF NEWCASTLE.

BY-LAWS UNDER THE "NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875."

THE twelfth section of the existing By-laws, made under the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," and published in the Government Gazette, numbered 287, of Monday, 17th July, 1882, is hereby repealed, and the following By-law, in substitution of clause 12, relating to the emptying of cesspits, &c., and the hours for so doing, is hereby declared, shall stand in the place of By-law 12.

1. Cleansing of privy, cesspools, earth closets, pans, &c.

The owner or the occupier of every house, building, or tenement within the said Municipality shall cause every cesspool, cesspit, or privy therein to be emptied and cleansed from time to time as soon as the portion of the contents of such shall have so accumulated therein as to be within a distance of one foot from the floor thereof. Provided that the contents of any cesspool, cesspit, privy, or closet-pan shall not be removed or discharged therefrom, except by some nightman or nightmen duly authorized or licensed as such by the aforesaid Council, and only between the hours of 12 o'clock p.m. and 5 o'clock a.m. No cesspool, cesspit, or privy shall have connected therewith or attached thereto any pipe or other appliance capable of being used for the purpose of discharging or removing the contents of such cesspool, cesspit, or privy upon or under the surface of any adjoining ground, or into any drain or sewer, or into any other place or places whatsoever. Any person or persons wilfully violating this By-law in any respect, shall be liable to and forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than twenty shillings.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF GLEN INNES—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15th September, 1885.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF GLEN INNES—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Glen Innes, for carrying into effect the provisions of the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above cited Act.

ALEX. STUART.

BY-LAWS of the Municipal District of Glen Innes, made under and for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

1. Every person who shall be about to erect a closet, or form, excavate, or make a cesspit, shall, before he shall commence to erect such closet or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit, deliver to the Council Clerk of the Municipal District of Glen Innes, a notice in writing of the intention of such person to erect such closet, or form, excavate, or make such cesspit, and of the place or position in which it is intended that such closet shall be erected or such cesspit formed, excavated, or made; and if any person shall commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit within the said Municipal District without having given such notice in writing as aforesaid, and before the expiration of seven days after the delivery of such notice (except by the written authority of the Inspector of Nuisances for the said Municipal District of Glen Innes, or other officer for the time being appointed by the Council of the said Municipal District in that behalf), he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

2. No person shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit, except in such place or position as shall be approved by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid; and any person who shall erect, or commence to erect, any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit without having obtained the approval of the said Inspector or other officer, or in any place or position other than the place or position approved of by the said Inspector or other officer as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than 10s. nor more than 40s. But any person who shall feel aggrieved by the decision of such Inspector or other officer may appeal against the same to the Council.

3. Every cesspit to be constructed within the Municipal District of Glen Innes shall be built of 9-inch brick-work, set in cement, floor as well as walls, and the top of such cesspit shall be at least 6 inches higher than the highest part of the surface of the ground immediately adjoining such cesspit, and no cesspit shall be formed, excavated, or made under any dwelling-house, nor at a less distance than 20 feet therefrom, area permitting. If any person shall so form, excavate, or make any cesspit which shall not be in accordance with the provisions of this By-law, or shall form, excavate, or make any cesspit under any dwelling-house, or at a less distance than 20 feet, area permitting, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than two pounds.

4. For houses containing not more than four rooms and out-offices the cesspit shall not be less than 3 feet by 4 feet, and 5 feet deep, inside measurement; for houses containing more than four rooms and out-offices the cesspit shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches by 4 feet, and 5 feet deep, inside measurement.

5. Every closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide, and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened inside; and every person who shall build or erect any closet which shall not be in accordance with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

6. Where two or more closets adjoin each other there shall be a sufficient dividing wall not less than 9 inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the cesspit up to the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and if any person shall erect any two or more closets adjoining each other, and not in accordance with this By-law, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

7. In schools, factories, or other places of business, where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside, or be occupied or employed, one closet shall be provided for every twenty persons, with a cesspit of a capacity of not less than 80 cubic feet, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against this By-law, or fail to provide the number of closets and of the capacity in this By-law mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

8. If any alterations shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council in their behalf, for preserving public health or decency, in case of any existing cesspit or closet, and the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to the health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, and the owner or occupier shall not make the necessary alterations after receiving fourteen days' notice from the Council Clerk, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council to remove the said nuisance, and any expense incurred thereby may be sued for and recovered in a summary way before any two or more Justices of the Peace.

9. Owners of existing closets and soilpits may be required to alter or improve them in such manner as may be necessary in order to bring them into conformity with these regulations on notice being given by the Inspector of Nuisances to that effect; persons failing to make such alterations or improvements within one month after the receipt of such notice shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor exceeding the sum of three pounds for each and every week or portion of a week during which they shall fail to comply with the terms of the said notice.

10. The night soil shall be removed by contract in properly constructed water-tight, covered vehicles, between the hours of 11 p.m. and 4 a.m., from the first day of October to the last day of March, and between the hours of 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. from the first day of April to the last day of September.

11. Persons desirous of using earth-closets may be permitted to do so on making written application to the Council, and intimating the arrangements to be made for their construction and management, provided that such arrangement shall be approved by the Council.

12. The Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," therein, on all days except Sundays and holidays; and any person who shall hinder or obstruct any Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer as aforesaid, upon any such visitation or inspection, or in the doing or performing of any work, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

13. All expenses incurred by the Council in emptying any cesspit shall be repaid to the Council by the owner or occupant of the premises whereon such cesspit is situated within one week after a written demand of the amount made by the Council shall have been served upon him, otherwise the same may be recovered in a summary way before any two Justices of the Peace.

14. The Inspector of Nuisances shall furnish the Council with a monthly return showing the number of cesspits emptied, the amount due and payable for each cesspit, and the amount of arrears due for emptying cesspits. He shall collect the amounts so due and payable, and account therefor to the Council at every general meeting, or as may be from time to time determined upon by such Council.

NEWCASTLE PAVING AND PUBLIC VEHICLES REGULATION ACT.
(BOROUGH OF NEWCASTLE—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 36, sec. 9.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 4th September, 1885.

BOROUGH OF NEWCASTLE—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Borough of Newcastle under the "Newcastle Paving and Public Vehicles Regulation Act," 39 Victoria, No. 36, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above cited Act.

ALEX. STUART.

BY-LAWS UNDER THE NEWCASTLE PAVING AND PUBLIC VEHICLES REGULATION ACT OF 1876, 39 VICTORIA, No. 36.

The Council of the Municipality of Newcastle do, by virtue of the authority vested in them by the "Newcastle Paving and Public Vehicles Regulation Act of 1876," hereby make and establish the following additional By-laws and Time-table for the regulation of public vehicles within the City of Newcastle, and generally for carrying into effect the purposes and provisions of the said Act.

1. Any driver who shall stop short of the distance for which he is licensed to ply shall, on representation of the circumstances to the Inspector, be temporarily suspended from driving, and such suspension shall be reported to the Council, who shall have power to further suspend in proportion to the offence, or to dismiss the offender altogether, and shall notify the same to the other Municipalities.

2. The driver of any bus, or other vehicle for the carrying of passengers other than cabs, shall not follow too closely on the preceding one; but if hindered in its progress by the loitering of the driver of the vehicle immediately before him shall report the same to the timekeeper, and the offence shall be dealt with in the same manner as in the preceding clause.

3. No driver of any passenger vehicle shall be licensed unless he is not only steady but also of such physical strength as to be able to control a pair of horses under accident or difficulty.

SHOWETH :—

1. That in pursuance of the provisions contained in section 56 of the Act 31 Victoria, No. 12, certain ratepayers in the said Borough of Waterloo gave notice to the Council Clerk of the said Borough on or before the fourteenth day of January last in the form in Schedule B to the said Act, claiming to have their names inserted in the Municipal lists of the said Borough for the then ensuing Municipal year.

2. That the Mayor of the said Borough gave the notice required by the 57th section of the said Act of the holding of an open Court at the Council Chamber, for the purpose of revising the Municipal lists thereof, on the twenty-third day of January last.

3. That on the said twenty-third day of January the said Court of Revision lapsed in consequence of there being no quorum, and the said Mayor adjourned the said Court to the twenty-eighth day of January last, and on the said twenty-eighth day of January the said Court wholly lapsed as there was no quorum present.

4. That three Aldermen, members of the said Revision Court, absented themselves from the said Court on the said twenty-third and twenty-eighth days of January, and in consequence certain of the ratepayers aforesaid were deprived of the rights and privileges of electors of the said Borough.

5. That in consequence of the conduct of the said Aldermen, and of the said lapsing of the said Revision Court as aforesaid, the names of several ratepayers of the said Borough were omitted from the Municipal list of the said Borough, and were so deprived of the privileges and rights of electors.

6. That it is desirable that the said Act should be so amended that provision may be made for the holding of such Revision Courts in such a manner that ratepayers might not be excluded from the privileges and rights of electors by the wilful misconduct of members of such Revision Courts.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will take the premises into favourable consideration, and make such provision as in the wisdom of your Honorable House may be deemed expedient to prevent a recurrence of the violation of the rights of your Petitioners.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

HAY GAS BILL.

(PETITION IN FAVOR OF—MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF HAY.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 29 September, 1885.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the Municipal Council of the Municipal District of Hay,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners have carefully read and considered a Bill to enable Alfred George Stranger and Arthur Budden to construct Gasworks within the Municipal District and suburbs of Hay which has already been or is intended to be introduced into your Honorable House.

That your Petitioners are in favour of the said Bill being passed into law, and believe that the powers thereby intended to be conferred will be for the benefit and advantage of the Municipal District of Hay and the residents thereof.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will favourably consider the said Bill.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

The Corporate Seal of the Municipal District of Hay was affixed hereto at a duly convened corporate meeting of the Municipal Council of the said Municipal District held on the third day of September, 1885.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

NEWCASTLE STREETS BILL.

(PETITION AGAINST—PROPERTY-HOLDERS AND RATEPAYERS OF NEWCASTLE.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 29 September, 1885.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Property-holders and Ratepayers of the Borough of Newcastle,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:—

1. That it appears from the reports of the press of the proceedings of your Honorable House that a Bill, entitled "The Newcastle Streets Bill," has been read a second time, and your Petitioners find on inquiry to their astonishment and alarm that such Bill confers most extraordinary and arbitrary powers on the Borough Council of Newcastle for which not the slightest necessity exists.

2. That although the said Council may have discussed the provisions of the said Bill in committee to which the public are not admitted, no such discussion took place in open Council. No copy of the said Bill was furnished to the local press, nor were the ratepayers invited to express any opinion on it, and every care seems to have been taken by the said Council to avoid drawing attention to the fact that they were endeavouring to obtain such extraordinary and dangerous powers, and it was only by accident that your Petitioners at the last moment became aware of what was being done.

3. That with reference to the preamble of the said Bill your Petitioners assert there are two streets only in Newcastle which are too steep for vehicular traffic, and that such streets could not be rendered fit for such traffic by lessening the width and lowering the levels of the intersecting streets or by lessening their own width. Were an attempt made to improve Brown-street and Perkins-street by the means proposed, the result would be that the traffic in the intersecting streets, which are main thoroughfares, would be obstructed and rendered dangerous without effecting any useful alteration in the others. Your Petitioners would suggest that a far cheaper and much less injurious method to adopt would be for the said Council to purchase a small piece of land at the corner of each street and make a cross road joining it with the intersecting street.

4. That the levels of the different streets in the said Municipality have been given to the various property-owners who have built according to such levels, and whose property would run risk of being ruined by the exercise of the powers conferred by the said Bill. Valuable properties would be deprived of their means of access in the main thoroughfares in the vain attempt to improve the access of comparatively valueless properties in by-streets.

5. That your Petitioners observe that the said Bill gives the said Council power to deal with all the streets in the Municipality and not merely with those alleged to require special treatment.

6. That your Petitioners find on inquiry that no skilled witness was examined before the Select Committee of your Honorable House on the said Bill; and that the evidence of one witness only—namely, Alderman Creer, who is an auctioneer and furniture broker—was taken.

7. The statement of the said Alderman Creer in his evidence, that the said Council had received no protests or petitions against the said Bill, is perfectly true; but the absence of such protests or petitions arose from the fact that no one outside the Council was aware of what was being done.

8. With reference to another statement of the said Alderman Creer, that a former Mayor had reported opinions said to be expressed by their Honors the Judges on the merits of an application for an injunction to prevent the said Council from blocking up and diverting Wolfe-street, on the ground that it was too steep to construct in the ordinary manner, your Petitioners assert the said report much exaggerates what was said by their Honors, who spoke under an erroneous impression of the facts of the case. Had the injunction not been granted the Council would soon have been obliged, at an enormous expense, of their own accord to have pulled down their works and construct the street in the ordinary manner, in order to get rid of the obstruction and danger to traffic, the round-about course and steepness of the gradients both in Wolfe-street and King-street, which intersects, resulting from the plan they were desirous of carrying out. As it is Wolfe-street has since been constructed with easy gradients, which could have been made easier still had not the Council, for some inexplicable reason, lowered the street at the bottom of the incline and raised that at the top, and had they started at the bottom of the incline instead of unnecessarily some distance from it. There is no gradient in the street as steep as it was made in the plan the Council proposed to adopt.

9. That your Petitioners are of opinion that the powers conferred by the said Bill are too great to be entrusted to any public body, particularly as no right of objection or appeal is given to persons who may be affected by any of its powers, however unnecessary or injurious the work proposed to be done may be; and there is no provision for compensation.

10. That your Petitioners believe that the powers conferred by "The Municipalities Act of 1867," if exercised with only a moderate amount of skill, care, and fairness, are amply sufficient for dealing with the streets of Newcastle to the best advantage; and in confirmation of this view they would beg to point out that in other Municipalities, where much greater difficulties existed than in Newcastle, excellent streets have been made without resorting to extraordinary powers.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will be pleased to reject the said Bill at its third reading; and your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON

UTHER ESTATE LEASING BILL.

WEDNESDAY, 30 SEPTEMBER, 1885.

Present:—

MR. McLAUGHLIN,		MR. TEECE.
MR. TRICKETT,		MR. TARGETT,
MR. WITHERS.

JOHN McLAUGHLIN, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. John Parkinson appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

Frederick Rudolph Barlee, Esq., called in and examined:—

1. Mr. Parkinson.] You are custodian of wills? Yes.
2. Do you produce to the Committee the original will of the late Reuben Uther? Yes. (Produced and certified copy handed in.) F. R. Barlee, Esq.
3. Chairman.] What is the date of the will? 20 November, 1873.
4. What is the date of the codicil? The first codicil is dated 18th November, 1873; the second, 25th 30 Sept., 1885. August, 1876; the third, 26th January, 1877; and the fourth, 6th July, 1880. Mr.
W. M. Barker.
30 Sept., 1885.

Mr. William Mandeville Barker called in and examined:—

5. Mr. Parkinson.] You are a solicitor? Yes.
6. And your firm are solicitors to the Trustees of the late Mr. Reuben Uther's Estate? Yes.
7. Do you produce to the Committee the probate of the will and codicils mentioned in the preamble to this Bill? Yes. (Produced.) Mr.
W. M. Barker.
30 Sept., 1885.
8. Do you also produce, for the purpose of lodging with the papers, a copy of the will, examined and certified, in your office? Yes. (Handed in.)
9. You have read the preamble of this Bill? Yes.
10. Is the effect of the will and codicils properly and correctly recited in that preamble? Yes.
11. You are connected with the family yourself? Yes.
12. Are the persons whose names are recited in the preamble the sole persons interested under the will? Yes.
13. Is it the fact that the children referred to are under age? Yes.
13. Chairman.] What is the age of the youngest? A mere baby—two or three years old.
15. Mr. Parkinson.] I believe it is the fact that under this will the Trustees are only empowered to grant leases for terms not exceeding seven years in possession? Yes.
16. Having regard to the condition of the property, and the altered state of affairs since the death of the testator, is that clause of the slightest use? No. 17.

17. Speaking from your own personal knowledge of the estate, will it be a great benefit to all concerned if the Trustees have the power to grant leases for twenty-one years as proposed in the Bill? It will.
18. On behalf of the Trustees, and as solicitor for the Trustees, you seek this power? Yes.
19. Chairman.] Do all the persons interested who are of age approve of the Bill? They do.
20. Mr. Parkinson.] Speaking of your own personal knowledge of the family, as connected with them, is there any person who will be damaged by this power being given? No.
21. And the whole family, of your own knowledge, are consenting parties? Yes.
22. Have you yourself checked the schedule of the Bill, and can you vouch to the Committee that it is correct? Yes, I have; and I can certify that it is correct; I myself prepared the descriptions from the original deeds.

---

Mr. Charles Burford Dawson called in and examined:—

- Mr. C. B. Dawson. 23. Mr. Parkinson.] You are a duly licensed surveyor? Yes.
24. With considerable experience of Sydney property? Yes.
- 30 Sept., 1885. 25. Have you surveyed the property mentioned in the schedule to the Bill now before the Committee? Yes.
26. Speaking as a surveyor, is it in your opinion desirable and beneficial for the infant beneficiaries that the Trustees should have power to grant leases for twenty-one years? Yes, it is.
27. Do you think a term of seven years is of any practical use at all? No, I do not.
28. Will a very considerable addition be made to the value of the estate, and permanent improvement be effected by the granting of this power? Yes.
29. You have personally surveyed all the properties mentioned in this schedule? Yes.

---

Mr. Walter Iredale Uther called in and examined:—

- Mr. W. I. Uther. 30. Chairman.] Are you a son of the testator and one of the Trustees of the estate and a promoter of this Bill? Yes.
31. Mr. Parkinson.] Is that the original will of your father;—do you know the signature? Yes.
- 30 Sept., 1885. 32. Chairman.] The signature to the will and codicils is in your father's handwriting? Yes.
33. Mr. Parkinson.] When did your father die? On the 10th of July, 1880.
34. You have seen the schedule to this Bill? Yes.
35. Can you state from your personal knowledge that that schedule properly describes the lands referred to in the will affected by the power now sought for? Yes.
36. Is there any, the slightest, objection in the family to this Bill? No, they are all well satisfied that it should go through.
37. Are you satisfied, as a Trustee, that it would be for the benefit of all concerned? Yes.

ON THE

ST. MARY'S, WAVERLEY, CHURCH OF ENGLAND LAND SALE BILL.

---

WEDNESDAY, 30 SEPTEMBER, 1885.

Present:—

MR. McLAUGHLIN,	MR. WITHERS,
MR. TRICKETT,	MR. TEECE,
MR. SEE,	MR. FREMLIN.

JOHN McLAUGHLIN, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

---

Mr. John Parkinson appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

Mr. Robert Atkins called in and examined:—

1. Chairman.] What is your position? Bishop's Secretary for the Diocese of Sydney.
2. Mr. Parkinson.] Do you produce the written consent of His Lordship the Bishop of Sydney to this Bill? Yes.
3. Attested by yourself? Yes.
4. And signed by the Bishop in your presence? Yes. (Produced.)
5. Chairman.] Have you spoken to the Bishop yourself upon this matter? No farther than to obtain his signature to the Bill.
6. You know that he has read the Bill and has approved of it? Yes; I know that he has approved of the Bill; I submitted it to him, and he said, "Yes;" he assented to it, and he signed the assent in my presence.

Mr. R. Atkins.
30 Sept., 1885.

---

Mr. William Henry Simpson called in and examined:—

7. Mr. Parkinson.] Are you one of the Trustees of certain land in the parish of St. Mary, Waverley, referred to in the Bill now before the Committee? Yes.
8. Your co-Trustees are Mr. James Vickery and Mr. William Ransome Gullick? Yes.
9. They are both in attendance here, and are parties to this Bill? Yes.
10. You have read the preamble? Yes.
11. Of your own knowledge, as a Trustee, are the facts stated there correctly as to the land vested in the Trustees? Yes.
12. Mr. Sec.] Was this land granted before the present church was built? Yes; the land on which the present church is built was purchased after this land was granted.
13. Mr. Parkinson.] Is the land you are now seeking power to deal with suitable for the purposes of the church? It is not; it is not required, because the church is built too close to it to necessitate its use for the purpose for which it was granted.
14. Mr. Sec.] The present church is on a hill? Yes.
15. Where is this land? Just on the boundary of the Randwick Borough, on what is called the old Lugár Brue Estate.

Mr. W. H. Simpson.
30 Sept., 1885.

- Mr. W. H. Simpson. 16. Mr. Parkinson.] Is it at present available for the purposes of the church? No, it is not.
17. Mr. Sec.] You say the Trustees bought the land on which the present church exists? Yes.
18. It was not a grant? No.
- 30 Sept., 1885. 19. And this land is not suitable? No; it is not required, because it is too close to the present church. We propose to devote the money realised by the sale of this land to the building of churches and schools about Bondi and other places where they are required.
20. Mr. Parkinson.] Is the population of the parish largely increasing, and has it largely increased since the grant was made? Yes.
21. Will it be necessary for you to enlarge and improve the present church and parsonage, and to purchase sites for additional buildings in connection with the church? Yes.
22. Is that the object for which you are now asking for power to sell this land? Yes.
23. Do you know of your own knowledge, as a Trustee and one of the congregation, that the proposal is approved by the clergyman and the parishioners? Yes, it has been approved at a public meeting.
24. Was that meeting duly convened? Yes.
25. Are the properties referred to in the Schedules to the Bill the properties you have been speaking of? Yes.
26. The properties of which you are now a Trustee, and which you now desire to sell? Yes.
27. Your sole desire is to purchase other property within the same parish for the benefit of the church as proposed in the Bill? Yes.
28. Mr. Fremlin.] Do I understand that the proceeds of this property is to be devoted entirely to church purposes? That portion belonging to the church; the other portion will be devoted to school purposes.
29. Mr. Parkinson.] They will be devoted to the same purposes as the trusts on which the present land is held.

---

Mr. William Mandeville Barker called in and examined:—

- Mr. W. M. Barker. 30. Mr. Parkinson.] Are you solicitor for the Trustees of the Waverley Church of England property mentioned in this Bill? Yes.
- 30 Sept., 1885. 31. Do you produce the several deeds referred to in the preamble of the Bill? Yes; three grants, all of the same date, 22nd October, 1872, and all for the same purposes. (Produced.)
32. Have you yourself compared the descriptions in the four schedules with the descriptions in the deeds? Yes.
33. Are they correct? They are.
34. Are these properties now vested in the Trustees? Yes.
35. Do you know, as solicitor to the Trustees, that the clergyman of the parish is personally in favour of this Bill? Yes.
36. Do you also know that the parishioners are in favour of it? Yes.
37. Residing, as you have done so long, close to the spot, can you corroborate what has been stated, that the lands referred to in the Bill are unsuitable for the present exigencies of the church? Yes; I do say that certainly.
38. Is it desirable in the interests of the church and school that the power of sale should be conferred? Yes; I think so.
39. In your opinion can any possible injury accrue to the parish or any person interested? No.
40. Chairman.] Do you know that the Rev. Dr. Barker is dead? Yes.
41. And Dr. Barry is now Bishop? Yes.

ON

BARKER'S ESTATE BILL.

WEDNESDAY, 30 SEPTEMBER, 1885.

Present:—

MR. McLAUGHLIN,		MR. WITHERS,
MR. TEECE,		MR. SEE,
MR. TARGETT,		MR. SUTHERLAND.

JOHN McLAUGHLIN, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. John Parkinson appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

Mr. Frederick Rudolph Barlee called in and examined:—

1. Chairman.] Do you produce the will of the late William Barker, dated 24th August, 1877? I do. (Produced.)

Mr.
F. R. Barlee.
30 Sept., 1885.

Mr. William Mandeville Barker called in and examined:—

2. Chairman.] Will you look at the will produced by Mr. Barlee and say if that is the signature of the testator? It is.
3. Did he die on the 24th of January, 1879? Yes.
4. Do you produce an attested copy of that will and probate? Yes.
5. Mr. Parkinson.] You produce the probate, and put in an attested copy? Yes. (Probate produced, and attested copy put in.)
6. Chairman.] Do you produce a deed-poll of the 26th May, 1879, by which Hugh Barker renounced the trusts of the will? Yes. (Produced.)
7. Mr. Parkinson.] You are solicitor for the Trustees—your mother and the Reverend Hulton S. King? Yes.
8. Are you also acting as solicitor for your sister, Emma Jane Barker, who is interested in the will? Yes.
9. Chairman.] Is your sister of age? Yes, she is over twenty-one.
10. Is she unmarried? Yes.
11. Mr. Parkinson.] Are the clauses of the will correctly recited in the preamble of the Bill now before the Committee? They are.
12. You have yourself checked them? Yes.
13. The property it is now sought to obtain power to sell is a property in a considerable state of dilapidation? Yes, it is a very old property.
14. To make it practically available it will require extensive repairs? Yes.
15. The only persons interested in this property as affected by this Bill are your mother, who has a life interest, and your sister? Yes.
16. Chairman.] And your sister's children, if she marries? Yes, they would have the remainder after my sister's death.

Mr.
W. M. Barker.
30 Sept., 1885.

17.

- Mr. W. M. Barker. 17. Mr. Parkinson.] The Trustees are not prepared to lay out the money that will be required to make these houses habitable? It will be impossible to do it, owing to the dilapidated condition of the buildings.
- 30 Sept., 1885. 18. In fact they should be pulled down and entirely rebuilt? Yes.
19. Is it to the interest of all concerned that this property should be sold? Yes.
20. Will any person be prejudiced by such sale? No.
21. Do your mother and sister consent? Yes.
22. They have signed the petition for the Bill? Yes.
23. And the Trustees also consent? Yes.
24. Chairman.] Is there any power in the will to mortgage? No.
25. Is it necessary to give power to purchase other property with the proceeds of the sale of the property dealt with in the Bill? We have no intention to buy other property. Power to invest the proceeds on mortgage and other securities will be quite satisfactory to everybody concerned.

---

Mr. Charles Burford Dawson called in and examined:—

- Mr. C. B. Dawson. 26. Mr. Parkinson.] You are a surveyor in Sydney, of extensive experience? Yes.
- 30 Sept., 1885. 27. Have you, at the request of Mr. Barker's Trustees, made a thorough personal examination and survey of the property referred to in this Bill? Yes.
28. I believe it is in a state of very considerable dilapidation, and in fact uninhabitable? Yes.
29. Looking at its present condition, is it available at all for present use; will it not require to be almost pulled down and rebuilt? It is in a very dilapidated condition.
30. Almost unavailable? Yes.
31. Chairman.] Is it occupied by any tenants? Yes, in two or three of the houses.
32. How many houses are there? Five.
33. Mr. Parkinson.] Are they houses which, if taken in hand by the City Improvement Board, stand a very good chance of being condemned? Yes.
34. Would it be possible to put them in order, short of pulling them down and rebuilding them? The whole property will have to be rebuilt.
35. To make the property properly available the houses now on it will have to be pulled down and rebuilt? Yes.
36. Of course that would entail a large expenditure? Yes.
37. Chairman.] Do you know the rent obtained now? No.
38. Mr. Parkinson.] Speaking in the interest of the parties concerned is it your opinion that an immediate sale is desirable? Yes, I think so.
39. Chairman.] Are these premises that could be let with advantage on a building lease? I think not.
40. Mr. Parkinson.] You think a sale would be far better? I think a sale would be more advantageous.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

BALMAIN TRAMWAY BILL.

WEDNESDAY, 30 SEPTEMBER, 1885.

Present:—

MR. YOUNG,		MR. FREMLIN,
MR. HUTCHINSON,		MR. TEECE.

WILLIAM HALSTON HUTCHINSON, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

William H. Pigott, Esq., appeared as Solicitor for the Bill.

Jacob Garrard, Esq., M.P., called in, sworn, and examined:—

1. Chairman.] You are the Mayor of Balmain? Yes.
2. Can you name an instance in which the powers which it is proposed in this Bill to confer upon the Municipal Council of Balmain have been given in any previous legislation in this country—I refer especially to the power to make an agreement of the nature provided for in this Bill? I think that similar power to enter into an agreement was given in the case of Saywell's Tramway Bill, and in the case of the Wagga Wagga Gas Company's Bill.
3. Do you think it would be wise to make the Commissioner for Railways a party in the agreement to purchase, so that either the Corporation or the Commissioner for Railways could purchase? I think not, because this work is entirely separate from any Government Railway or Tramway. It is confined to the streets of the Borough of Balmain, and I do not think the Government are at any time likely to require to tack it on to any of their own works.
4. If the Government should construct a tramway from Sydney to Balmain, and intersect this tramway, would it not be desirable to give to the Commissioner power to take over the tramway in the same way as the Borough Council would do if there were an intersection? I do not think so. I look upon the proposal contained in this Bill as an extension of the principle of Local Government. The Government now propose to take away such powers as these from the central Government, and to confer them upon the municipal authorities.
5. Has the Borough Council of Balmain authorized the bringing of this Bill before Parliament? It has been discussed and passed by the Borough Council, and there is a petition under the seal of the Council in favour of it.
6. Is it likely that any objection will be raised to the construction of this tramway? Not at all. The Borough Council are unanimous as to the desirableness of carrying out the work, and they were moved to it by a large and unanimous meeting of the ratepayers. The progress of the Bill is watched with the greatest interest by the whole of the inhabitants. I have not heard of anyone dissenting from it.
7. I suppose the owners of property in the streets over which the tramway will run approve of it? That is the case with every one of them with whom I have come into contact, and I come into contact with some of them every day.

J. Garrard,
Esq., M.P.

30 Sept., 1885.

- J. Garrard,
Esq., M.P.
30 Sept., 1885.
8. Mr. Young.] Was the meeting held after the ratepayers had seen the Bill? The proposition put before the public meeting, and upon which it petitioned the Council, was to give more powers than the Council were prepared to give.
9. To give powers to the Council or to the contractor? To the contractor. It was proposed to make the terms far more stringent than the Council were prepared to do.
10. Chairman.] Does the Bill give to the Council power to purchase? Yes.
11. Would there be any objection to give to the Government, as well as to the Council, power to purchase? There is an objection on the part of the Tramway Company to have the Government made a party in the arrangement. They think the power might possibly be used in an arbitrary way. They would rather trust to the representatives of the ratepayers than to the Government. I desire to point out that, owing to the severe gradients in a portion of the borough, it will be absolutely necessary that cable tramways should be used.
12. Could you say whether the principle embodied in this Bill is contained in the legislation of any other country upon this subject? In the New Zealand Tramways Act of 1872 the power is given to local bodies, in sections 4 and 5, to agree to contract with any companies for the construction of tramways; and, in accordance with that Act, the local authorities of Dunedin, Invercargill, Christchurch, and Wellington have had tramways constructed. The proposition which the Municipal Council of Balmain has before it is from a company which has successfully constructed several tramway lines in the places I have mentioned.
13. Mr. Fremlin.] Can you say over what streets in the Borough of Balmain the tramway will pass? The only road probably which will be utilized is that which extends from one end of the Borough of Balmain to the other on the ridge.
14. Do you not think it would be wise to induce the framers of the Bill, if possible, to name the route? No, because it is possible that it may subsequently become necessary to construct a branch to Long Nose Point.
15. Mr. Fremlin.] Could not that be provided for in the Bill? If it is right to give to the Council power to arrange for the construction of the tramway over streets, surely some latitude should be allowed as to the streets over which it should be run.
16. Mr. Young.] Suppose a proposition were made in the House to-morrow giving to the Government power to make tramways over such streets as they might think proper, would you vote for it? Not if it was proposed to run through municipalities. The Government have no right, unless with the consent of the municipalities, to do what you propose. I may say that the Government is very chary about interfering with the rights of corporations in the absence of their consent.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE

TAKEN BEFORE

THE SELECT COMMITTEE

ON THE

ASHFIELD CHURCH OF ENGLAND SCHOOL BILL.

THURSDAY, 1 OCTOBER, 1885.

Present:—

MR. HAMMOND,		MR. BARBOUR,
MR. DE SALIS,		MR. LEE,
MR. MURRAY.

M. J. HAMMOND, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. C. J. Manning appeared as Counsel and Mr. F. Villeneuve-Smith as Solicitor for the Bill.

Mr. Francis Villeneuve-Smith, Solicitor for the Bill, examined:—

1. Mr. Manning.] You are solicitor for the petitioners? Yes.
2. Do you produce an indenture, dated 13th August, 1866, being a conveyance from James Mullins and another to S. H. Smyth and others, mentioned in the preamble of the Bill? Yes. (Produced.)
3. Annexed to it is another indenture, of the 14th August, 1885, being the appointment of the new trustees, whose names are mentioned in the preamble? Yes.
4. Do you produce also a vesting order by the Court of Equity, vesting in the new trustees the estate of the Rev. Mr. Cave in this property? Yes. We should have had to get Mr. Cave's signature to the deed which I produced just now, conveying his estate to the new trustees; and in order to save expense the petitioners applied to the Court for this vesting order, vesting Mr. Cave's estate in the new trustees. (Vesting order referred to produced.)
5. By that deed before you now the new trustees appointed are the persons mentioned in the preamble of the Bill? Yes.
6. And they are the present trustees of the property and petitioners for this Bill? Yes.
7. Do you produce a plan showing the position of the church, the cemetery, and the school land? I do. (Plan produced.)

Mr. F.
Villeneuve-
Smith.
1 Oct., 1885.

Mr. Edward Henry Rogers called in and examined:—

8. Mr. Manning.] You are one of the trustees of the land referred to in the Bill before the Committee? Yes.
9. How long have you known this land? About thirteen years.
10. Were you ever a churchwarden? Yes, I was last year, up to last March.
11. What is the present value of this land? The building and land, I think about £1,500. It has two frontages, and contains over half an acre.
12. What has it been used for up to the present time? It is not used for any purpose now beyond parochial meetings and the Sunday-school.

Mr.
E. H. Rogers.
1 Oct., 1885.

- Mr. E. H. Rogers.
1 Oct., 1885.
13. Is it let? It is not let now; it was let till within the last few months at a rental for some time of 2s. 6d. a week, which was afterwards raised to 5s.; it was 5s. for about six months. Once or twice it has been let for entertainments for which some few shillings were received, but very rarely.
14. You are now one of the petitioners for this Bill? Yes.
15. Are you taking this action in consequence of any meeting of the parishioners having been held on the subject? Yes.
16. Was this resolution passed at a meeting of the parishioners? Yes; that is in my handwriting. (Resolution read and handed in. See Appendix A.)
17. Have you applied to the Bishop for his sanction? Not for his sanction to deal with this land. The Bishop is not a trustee of it; it is a piece of parish property that the trustees have power to deal with, with the concurrence of the Bishop. The Bishop's concurrence was asked to enable us to build a schoolroom on the church property. I might explain that the church grounds were originally intended for a church, cemetery, and parsonage; then steps were taken for the erection of a parsonage, and the site not being thought altogether suitable the parishioners purchased a site elsewhere, on which the parsonage now stands. It is on the ground originally intended for the parsonage that we have asked the Bishop's permission to erect this schoolroom. The Bishop has seen the ground, and there is a letter from him giving his consent.
18. Are there any objections on sanitary grounds to the position in which it is proposed to build the school? No. As a matter of fact there are residences nearer to the graves than the proposed schoolroom will be. I would not mind living there myself.
19. Will it be more convenient for general purposes to have the school there? Very much more so. It will be much more convenient to have it on the church ground.
20. Is the present building a fit building for the purpose? By no means; it requires considerable alterations and repairs.
21. Have you any funds available for that purpose? No, there are no funds in hand.
22. If you are permitted to sell this land you will have the means to build a good schoolroom, and also funds in hand to keep it in repair? Yes; of course the land on which we propose to build the new schoolroom we get free of cost, and therefore all the money will be available for building a good one.
23. Can you give an idea of the cost of the new schoolroom? From £700 to £1,000.
24. I see you ask power to invest the balance and apply the income; first, in connection with the new schoolroom, if required, and if not required, for any purpose the parishioners and seatholders may direct? Yes.
25. As a matter of fact Mr. Smyth has been residing out of the parish for some time? Yes, for some years; I could not say how long, but it is certainly about five years.
26. And Mr. Cave, who was the clergyman of the parish, left the Colony some years ago? Yes; I have been in Ashfield for thirteen years, and he has not been there during my time.
27. Mr. De Salis.] How far will this new schoolhouse be from the graves in the cemetery? I could show you on the plan. (Witness referred to plan, and explained.) The nearest graves are very old—some fifteen or sixteen years. The newer graves are further away. There are houses nearer the graves than the schoolroom will be.
28. Mr. Lee.] I presume it is the intention of the authorities to fence in the school? Yes, we will enclose the schoolroom.
29. Mr. Manning.] Do you produce a letter from the Primate, which was referred to just now, approving of the building of the new schoolroom on the site referred to? I do. (Letter read and handed in. See Appendix B.)
30. Do you also produce a certificate of the death of Mr. Woodhouse, one of the original trustees? Yes. (Produced.)
31. This shows that he died in October, 1875? Yes.

APPENDIX.

[To the Evidence of Mr. E. H. Rogers, 1 October, 1885.]

A.

Moved by Mr. Edw. H. Rogers, seconded by ——"That the churchwardens be requested, and they are hereby authorized, to petition the Legislature to pass an Act to enable the Trustees to sell, either by private contract or public auction, the piece of land, with the buildings thereon, situate at the junction of William and Bland Streets, Ashfield, and held in trust by them for a Church of England school; to apply a portion of the net proceeds of such sale towards the erection of a building on the church grounds, suitable for a school, and to invest the balance on mortgage on or in real estate, Government debentures of any of the Australian Colonies, or Bank fixed-deposit receipts; the income or interest arising therefrom to be available for any fund in connection with the Church of England within the ecclesiastical boundaries of the parish of St. John the Baptist, Ashfield, as the parishioners may from time to time direct."

I have no objection to the course above proposed.—J. H. SMYTH, 16 May, 1884.

B.

The Primate to The Rev. Dr. Corlette.

My dear Dr. Corlette,

Diocesan Registry, 29 September, 1885.

As I understand that it is requisite for me to give formal consent to the erection of school buildings at Ashfield, on the proposed plot of ground, for which I am trustee, I am most happy to express that consent in writing, as I have already expressed it, after inspecting the ground, by word of mouth.

Yours, &c.,

ALFRED SYDNEY.

If this is not technically sufficient, perhaps the solicitor who is charged with preparing the Bill will call on me.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

PHYLLOXERA VASTATRIX.

(REPORT OF DIRECTOR OF BOTANIC GARDENS THEREON.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 10 September, 1885.

[Laid upon the Table of this House by the Colonial Secretary, in answer to Mr. Lyne's Question No. 25 of the 10th September, 1885.]

The Director, Botanic Gardens, to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Botanic Gardens, Sydney, 1 September, 1885.

I do myself the honor to forward, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, the following report on the Phylloxera disease in this Colony.

Towards the end of March last my attention was called to the reported existence of the disease among the vines at Camden Park, and shortly after I made a personal inspection of the place, and found it prevailing over a considerable portion of the vineyard. In my letter of 21st April last I recommended the employment of experts in order to ascertain to what extent the disease had spread. The proposal having been approved of, I employed Mr. H. Bonnard as chief expert, and Mr. E. G. Edelfelt as assistant, with workmen to open up the ground, and directed them to commence their duties in the Camden district. These gentlemen have been engaged in this work continuously from 27th April to 31st ultimo, and have examined during that period 239 vineyards, representing an area of 585 acres, within the districts of Camden, Picton, Narellan, Campbelltown, Fairfield, Parramatta, Ryde, Rooty Hill, and Penrith. The result of the inquiry is that Phylloxera vastatrix has been found only in Camden district—in five vineyards, comprising an area of about 15 acres, within a radius of 5 miles of Camden. Although the insect has not yet been detected elsewhere there cannot, in my opinion, be any doubt as to its having migrated to some at least of the other adjoining vineyards, in which it now exists most probably in a latent state, and where it will, in all likelihood, develop itself during the ensuing summer. On the 22nd June last I reported by letter that I had made a personal examination and every inquiry with regard to the possible existence of the disease in the vineyards of Albury and Wagga Wagga districts, as well as those of Messrs. Wyndham, in the Hunter River district; but in none of these places was it found or heard of. With the exception of a rumour that the insect had been discovered in one of the Parramatta vineyards—of which no trace had been found by the experts—no other report of vineyards being infested has reached me up to the present. Presuming that some measures will be taken towards the eradication of this disease, I would venture to submit, for the consideration of the Government, the following alternative suggestions:—

1. All vineyards within a radius of (say) 15 miles of Camden to be destroyed and uprooted, and trenched or subsoil-ploughed and disinfected to a depth of 2 feet.
2. To similarly destroy only those vineyards that are known as infected.
3. If, instead of destroying the vineyards, remedial measures be applied by means of approved disinfectants, the work should be carried out under official supervision, half the cost to be at the public expense, the other half at the owners. The owner of any infected vineyard refusing to apply the treatment prescribed, the Government should be empowered to destroy such vineyard at the owners' expense.
4. All vineyards within the abovementioned radius should be quarantined; that is, no plants, cuttings, or leaves of vines to be allowed to be removed beyond the district. For better supervision hereafter I would recommend that all vignerons in the Colony should be compelled to register their vineyards at the nearest Police office respectively. I am induced to make the foregoing suggestions in consequence of what transpired at the meetings of the Phylloxera Board, recently held at Melbourne, at which I was the representative of this Colony. The decision of the Board was that, as the efforts there made to eradicate the disease had proved almost a total failure, and costing about £30,000, some still more stringent measures should be adopted. The resolution then arrived at was similar in effect to the first suggestion herein proposed. At the Intercolonial Conference held in 1880, at

Melbourne, the following was moved and agreed to :—“That this Conference considers that the alarming extension of the vine disease, Phylloxera vastatrix, in Victoria, is a matter of more than local importance, seriously affecting as it may all the Colonies where wine is made, and in that view agrees that it is desirable that prompt and thorough measures should be taken to eradicate the disease, and the Colonies represented will contribute equally to the necessary expenses, not exceeding in the first instance £20,000. This principle of joint contribution is to be applied to any Colony where the disease may hereafter break out.”

I have only to add that I am aware that the vigneron of Victoria and of South Australia are awaiting with anxiety the decision of our Government in this matter, as the existence of the disease here seriously adds to the danger of its spreading to their respective Colonies.

I have, &c.,
CHARLES MOORE.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

FEDERAL COUNCIL OF AUSTRALASIA.

(CORRESPONDENCE RELATING TO THE BILL FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 8 September, 1885.

No. 1.

His Excellency the Governor to The Secretary of State for the Colonies.

(New South Wales, No. 52.)

My Lord,

Government House, 27 March, 1884.

With reference to Mr. Heydon's motion, in the Legislative Assembly, referred to in my confidential despatch of the 25th instant, on the question of federation, I have the honor to enclose copies of the speech, as also the rejoinders of Mr. Stuart, the Colonial Secretary, and of Sir John Robertson, the leader of the Opposition.

2. The terms of the resolution, which was agreed to without a division, are as follow:—

“That, as the proceedings of the Delegates at the late Intercolonial Conference, including the Federal Council Bill, prepared and sent by them to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, for enactment in the British Parliament, have not yet been submitted to this House for its consideration, and it is stated in the London telegrams that the British Cabinet is about dealing with the said Bill, this House resolves that, in its opinion, it is desirable, before the said Federal Council Bill, or any Bill based upon it, be passed into law by the British Parliament, that such Bill should be submitted to the Parliament of this Colony.” 2.
“That the above Resolution be communicated by Address to His Excellency the Governor, with the request that he will transmit the same to the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies.”

3. From the tenor of the speeches herewith enclosed, and of leading articles from the Press, your Lordship will see how little sympathy exists in the Legislative Assembly, or in the public opinion of this Colony, in regard to the question of Federation.

I have, &amp;c.,

AUGUSTUS LOFTUS.

[Enclosures.]

Extract from Sydney Morning Herald, 26 March, 1885.

THE resolution moved by Mr. Heydon last night contained a declaration of opinion, and set forth certain reasons why such a declaration should be made. The principle asserted by the resolution was sound. The Intercolonial Conference that sat in Sydney in November and December last adopted a Draft Bill to be submitted to the Imperial Parliament as the basis of Imperial legislation for the establishment of a Federal Council for Australasia. The establishment of such a Council would indirectly affect the position, relations, and interests of this Colony, even if we abstained from bringing ourselves directly within the range of its jurisdiction. The Conference had no instruction or delegated authority from our Parliament to draft such a Bill, or take any step to procure its introduction into the Imperial Parliament. It is, therefore, not merely “desirable,” as Mr. Heydon's resolution affirmed, but a matter of right and justice, that “before the Federal Council Bill, or any Bill based upon it, be passed into law by the British Parliament, such Bill should be submitted to the Parliament of this Colony.” The opinion of the Colonial Legislature ought, in fact, to be clearly expressed before the introduction of any such Bill into the British Parliament. Imperial legislation has given us a Constitution, and power to amend it; and before the Imperial Parliament is moved to pass a law for the purpose of setting up machinery which under certain conditions would override the constitutional powers of self-government we now possess, our own Parliament should have the right to fully discuss and accept or reject any suggested basis for such proposed Imperial action. The reason assigned in Mr. Heydon's resolution for asserting this principle now was, that London telegrams had represented that the British Cabinet was about dealing with the Conference Bill. That reason was out of date, seeing that we have been aware for some time past of the official statement in the House of Lords that the Government would not deal with the matter prior to the receipt of resolutions from all the Australasian Colonies. As we pointed out recently, the Imperial Government could hardly act otherwise, having been informed by the Conference that its members had pledged themselves to invite their respective Legislatures to pass addresses praying Her Majesty to cause a measure to be introduced for the purpose of constituting a Federal Council upon the basis of the Draft Bill adopted by the Conference. This implied that, directly or indirectly, the Draft Bill should be submitted to the Colonial Legislatures for discussion.

But although the reason set forth in the resolution had been superseded, it cannot be said that Mr. Heydon's action was altogether uncalled for or fruitless. It is not surprising under the circumstances that there was no adequate discussion last night upon the merits or demerits of the Conference policy. The effect of the motion was, however, to elicit from the Premier a fairly definite intimation of the policy and intention of the Government upon one point that had before been somewhat doubtful. Mr. Stuart left it to be plainly understood that the Bill would be submitted to Parliament. He did that, not merely by giving a general support to Mr. Heydon's resolution, but also by a declaration of the principles by which he had been governed at the Conference. Now before this, the only formal statement of the views of the Government which had been made was that of the Attorney-General, in the carefully prepared address he delivered to the Legislative Council on the 19th December last. On that occasion Mr. Dalley said,—“Abundant opportunity will be afforded of discussing the whole matter. In all probability this will be done, not by the submission of this Bill to the Legislature, but by the submission of certain well-considered resolutions, clearly defining what the Legislature is or is not disposed to confide to such a body as that proposed to be established, and which will form the basis of that Imperial legislation on the subject which, after all, any Colony may or may not accept.” There is a palpable difference between this statement and the one made by the Premier last night. Which is the more authoritative?

Mr. Stuart's statement is more in agreement with the resolutions of the Conference and with his own explanation of the principle upon which the Conference acted. According to one of the resolutions, the Draft Bill was adopted as defining the matters upon which united action was desirable and practicable, and as embodying the provisions best adapted to secure that object. According to Mr. Stuart, the Bill which, in his opinion, provided fully against the rights of any Colony being overridden by the others, was prepared as a Bill, in order to prevent the Imperial Parliament legislating capriciously, or in a way that would be unsatisfactory to the Colonies. It is easy to see that a series of resolutions, however well considered, would not, when submitted as a basis for legislation, tie the hands of the Imperial Parliament so effectually as a complete and technically drafted Bill would. It is, therefore, hard to see how the policy of the Conference could be carried out by submitting to the Colonial Legislatures a series of resolutions, instead of the Bill, as the basis to be submitted to the Imperial Parliament. The policy of the Conference was that the Bill, substantially as it stands, should be accepted both here and in England.

It is important that this should be borne in mind. It is quite possible that a series of resolutions might be carried where the Bill, submitted as a whole for acceptance or recognition, would not. It is also possible that such resolutions, though falling far short of an adoption of the Bill as it stands, might be regarded by the Home Government as of equivalent effect. The draft Bill is already in the hands of the Home Government, and if some of the Colonies should directly recommend it as the basis of legislation, whilst we, evading so clear an issue, passed resolutions that might be construed as of similar effect, we should be practically committed to an assent to the scheme.

Mr. Stuart defended the Bill as one that left the independence of each Colony untouched. He points out that when passed in England it would not come into force in any Colony without the consent of the local Legislature; but he made no reference to what is, at this preliminary stage, one of the most important aspects of the question. Should the Colonial Parliaments accept this Bill as the basis of legislation, and should the Imperial Parliament legislate upon this basis, what will be the result? A constitution will be set up for the Federal Council that is to be the possible, and the only possible Supreme Legislature for Australasia, which will either make it a source of mischief or an object of contempt. Let the Imperial Parliament legislate upon this basis, and the constitution and character of any future Federal Council will be settled. The Colonies, on calm consideration, may conclude that it is wise not to call such a body into existence; but it will be very certain that they will then be unable to create anything better; and should they desire anything better, their only resource will be to go to the Imperial Parliament again with a prayer that it will undo the work so badly done at their request, and make a fresh start. The Conference, as Mr. Stuart explains, deliberately and elaborately laid a formal basis for Imperial legislation in this matter. As that basis was forwarded by the Conference to the Imperial Government, it is for our Parliament to accept it or repudiate it—to take it with all its faults, or reject it because its faults are essential and incurable. The action of the Conference leaves no other course open with safety.

Extract from Daily Telegraph, 26 March, 1884.

Sir John Robertson on Federation.

IN the Assembly last night, Sir John Robertson took advantage of Mr. Heydon's motion, re the Federal Council Bill, to make a speech which may be described as an exaggerated expression of the anti-federation sentiment of the Colony. Sir John's views on this subject are in no sense, and in no degree, determined or coloured by the accident of his leading the Opposition to a Government which rashly committed itself, not only to the principle of federation, but also to a scheme for its realization. We have little doubt that if a popular vote could be taken, it would be found that the Ministry are either ahead or behind the vast majority of the people in regard to this question. The federationists, with natural vanity, believe they are ahead of the anti-federationists. They have a blind sort of faith in an inevitable union of these Colonies. How or when or why federation should take place they cannot exactly say, but they evidently find much consolation in circulating sonorous generalities about what Sir Henry Parkes, with befitting magnificence of language, has called the British States of Australasia. They are the advanced dreamers of the Southern World. They are the large souls who are ever seeking to expand the sentiment of patriotism. They have the prophetic instinct which anticipates the future. But the people who possess uncommon sense are not always ahead of the people who possess only common sense. Sir John Robertson exhausted his uncommon sense over his land law, and brings nothing more than common sense to the criticism of the recent federation movement. To his clear and practical mind the hollowness of the whole business cannot be disguised. He has always resisted, with characteristic vigour, the blandishments which thinly cover the intended encroachments of Victoria. There is always war in his eyes when he looks across the Murray. He ridicules the comparative poverty of the sister Colony, and pricks the pride of her public men. He sees bumptious pretenders to pre-eminence strutting about in a cabbage-garden or a vineyard, and he cannot withstand the temptation to “poke fun” at them. He believes that Victoria blundered when she separated from New South Wales, and he is just as sure that New South Wales would blunder if she were to federate with Victoria.

Victoria. Few persons in this Colony would follow the veteran throughout his protestations and denunciations. Perhaps there are not many who do not think that his anti-Victorian sentiment is in danger of becoming a bitter prejudice. But we believe that he has almost the whole population at his back, when he declares that Messrs. Service and Berry want to smuggle federation into our political system, because they want to annex Riverina, and control our tariff to suit their protected industries. New South Wales, certainly, does not want federation. We have much to lose, and little to gain, by joining the proposed union. We are satisfied with the present adjustment of boundaries and our present measure of independence; and therefore, without endorsing Sir John Robertson's contempt for Victoria and Victorian public men, we can heartily wish him absolute success in his determination to defy and defeat Victorian diplomacy.

My Lord,

Government House, 3 April, 1884.

In reference to my despatch, No. 52, of the 27th ultimo, on the question of Mr. Heydon's motion in relation to the Federal Council Bill, I have the honor to enclose to your Lordship the resolution, as presented to me by the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly.

(1.) That the proceedings of the Delegates at the late Intercolonial Conference, including the Federal Council Bill prepared and sent by them to the Secretary of State for the Colonies for enactment in the British Parliament, have not yet been submitted to this House for its consideration, and it is stated in the London telegrams that the British Cabinet is about dealing with the said Bill,—This House resolves that, in its opinion, it is desirable before the said Federal Council Bill, or any Bill based upon it, be passed into law by the British Parliament, that such Bill should be submitted to the Parliament of this Colony.

(2.) That the above Resolution be communicated by Address to His Excellency the Governor, with the request that he will transmit the same to the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

My Lord,

Downing-street, 9 May, 1884.

Her Majesty's Government have not lost sight of the Resolutions adopted by the Convention of representatives of the Australasian Colonies at Sydney in December last, and have considered the provisions of the draft Bill for constituting a Federal Council which the representatives pledged themselves to submit to the Legislatures of their respective Colonies. I had been led to believe that addresses in favour of this Bill would be adopted by the Colonial Legislatures in time to enable Her Majesty's Government to introduce the measure during the present Session of Parliament with a good prospect of its being passed; but the necessary action does not appear to have been yet taken in any Colony. As, therefore, the probability of legislation during this year is diminishing, it appears desirable to consider the position of Her Majesty's Government and of the Colonial Governments in regard to the proposals of the Convention.

I CONSIDER that undue haste has been used in London to procure the Enabling Bill, and thus I deemed it necessary yesterday to send to our Agent-General the following telegram:—"We consider Gladstone's proposed submission Federation Enabling Bill premature until our Legislature considers Convention's resolutions, which it cannot do until present land legislation is disposed of. Federation without New South Wales not truly Australian, and this Colony claims the fullest freedom in deciding whether to sanction or decline the Convention's proposals." I have from the first told you that we could not imperil our most important question of land legislation by risking the discussion of the Federal Council Bill. However inconvenient delay in your opinion may be, I do not think your object would be gained by acting without New South Wales. The Land Bill passed the third reading this morning, sixty-five to thirty. I hope its final settlement may not be much delayed, after which we will give Parliament the opportunity of discussing the Convention's resolutions.

Telegram from Premier of Victoria to Colonial Secretary of New South Wales.

Melbourne, 9 August, 1884.

I HAVE received your telegram, and fail entirely to see what object was to be gained by it. The passing of an Enabling Act could not in the slightest degree affect the fullest freedom of the New South Wales Legislature in deciding whether to sanction or decline the Convention's proposals. The Bill would neither compel New South Wales to come in nor to stand out. Your statement that federation without New South Wales would not be truly Australian seems to imply that a Federal Council cannot be or should not be formed unless New South Wales agree; but the Bill which was passed by the Convention, and to which we all assented, clearly contemplates the possibility that unanimity might not result, and expressly sets forth that the Council may be established if four of the Colonies agree. No one desires unanimity more than I do, and I would yield almost anything—everything in fact but federation itself—to see New South Wales going heartily with the rest of the Colonies. The action which you characterize as undue haste was intended solely to prevent undue delay arising from political complications at home, and was not intended in the slightest degree to show disrespect to New South Wales, or an appearance of indifference about her co-operation.

I may point out that the telegram referred to in Mr. Meade's letter was a copy of yours of the 7th instant, commencing, "We consider Gladstone's proposed, &c.," and that the newspapers containing the Prime Minister's replies, referred to in Mr. Meade's letter, to Mr. M'Carthy and Sir Stafford Northcote, were sent to you by the mail of the 15th instant.

I am directed by the Earl of Derby to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th instant, enclosing a telegram from the Government of New South Wales, respecting the proposed Imperial Bill to enable the Australian Colonies to confederate for certain purposes.

You may have since observed that, on the 12th instant, Mr. Gladstone stated in the House of Commons, in reply to Mr. M'Carthy, that Her Majesty's Government have decided not to introduce such a measure this session, and in reply to Sir S. Northcote that, in the view of Her Majesty's Government at present, the consideration of any other subject but the Franchise Bill would be out of place in the autumn session.

The President of the Legislative Council to His Excellency the Governor.

Legislative Council Offices, Sydney, 31 October, 1884.

May it please your Excellency,

In accordance with the seventy-third section of the Standing Orders of the Legislative Council, I have the honor to transmit herewith an address, adopted on the motion of Mr. Dalley, communicating to your Excellency certain resolutions in reference to Federation, &c.

I have, &c.,
JOHN HAY,
President.

(1.) That this House, having under consideration the following Resolutions adopted at the Australasian Convention, held in Sydney in November and December, 1883, namely—

"(1.) That, having regard to the geographical position of the island of New Guinea, the rapid extension of British trade and enterprise in Torres Straits, the certainty that the island will shortly be the resort of many adventurous subjects of Great Britain and other nations, and the absence or inadequacy of any existing laws for regulating their relations with the native tribes, this Convention, while fully recognizing that the responsibility of extending the boundaries of the Empire belongs to the Imperial Government, is emphatically of opinion that such steps should be immediately taken as will most conveniently and effectively secure the incorporation with the British Empire of so much of New Guinea and the small islands adjacent thereto as is not claimed by the Government of the Netherlands:

"(2.) That the Governments represented at this Convention undertake to submit and recommend to their respective Legislatures measures of permanent appropriation for defraying in proportion to population such share of the cost incurred in giving effect to the foregoing Resolutions as Her Majesty's Government, having regard to the relative importance of Imperial and Australasian interests, may deem fair and reasonable:

"(3.) That the Convention protests in the strongest manner against the declared intention of the Government of France to transport large numbers of relapsed criminals to the French possessions in the Pacific, and urges upon Her Majesty's Government to use every means in its power to prevent the adoption of a course so disastrous to the interests of Australasia and the Pacific Islands.

"(4.) That the Convention expresses a confident hope that no penal settlement for the reception of European criminals will long continue to exist in the Pacific, and invites Her Majesty's Government to make to the Government of France such serious representations on this subject as may be deemed expedient:"

records its approval of the said Resolutions.

(2.) That this House, recognizing that the time has not yet arrived at which a complete Federal union of the Australasian Colonies can be attained, but considering that there are many matters of general interest with respect to which united action would be advantageous, recommends the adoption in substance of the accompanying Draft Bill for the constitution of a Federal Council, as defining the matters upon which such united action is both desirable and practicable, and as embodying substantially the provisions best adapted to secure that object.

(3.) That a humble Address be presented to Her Majesty, praying that Her Majesty may be graciously pleased to cause a measure to be submitted to the Imperial Parliament for the purpose of constituting a Federal Council of Australasia upon the basis of the Draft Bill adopted by the Convention held in Sydney in the months of November and December, 1883.

(4.) That an Address be presented to His Excellency the Governor, communicating the foregoing Resolutions, accompanied by a copy of the Draft Bill therein referred to.

His

His Excellency the Governor to The President of the Legislative Council.

Honorable Sir,

Government House, Sydney, 3 November, 1884.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 31st ultimo, transmitting an address adopted by the Legislative Council on the motion of the Honorable Mr. Dalley communicating certain Resolutions in reference to Federation, the incorporation of New Guinea with the British Empire, the transport of relapsed criminals to the French possessions, and to the confident hope that no penal settlement for the reception of European criminals will long continue to exist in the Pacific seas. In the address, your Honorable House further recommends the adoption in substance of the Draft Bill submitted to it by the Sydney Convention for the constitution of a Federal Council for Australasia; also that a humble address be presented to Her Majesty, praying that Her Majesty may be graciously pleased to cause a measure to be submitted to the Imperial Parliament for the purpose of constituting a Federal Council of Australasia, upon the basis of the Draft Bill adopted by the Convention held in Sydney, in the months of November and December, 1883.

I shall take the earliest opportunity of submitting to Her Majesty's Government, through Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies, the Resolutions of the Legislative Council.

To the Chief Secretary, New South Wales.

The Federation of the Empire by means of local self-government. By W. Cave-Thomas.

PART 1.

DEBATING Societies have for many years been increasing in number and in importance, but the form of Local Parliaments which they have in some instances recently assumed—as at Liverpool, Hackney, Kensington, and elsewhere—suggests matter for reflection, for it is a transformation that to my mind indicates a means of effecting in the course of a few years a great reform of the representative system not only of England itself but of the Empire at large, and of establishing a new mode of carrying on the legislative work of this vast Queendom, both as regards local and general affairs.

The Local Parliaments, as they are at present constituted, strictly observe the forms and the procedure of the House of Commons, and the debates are carried on with perfect decorum. Why, then, should not the entire Kingdom—nay, the whole Empire—be divided into Electoral Districts, each of which should have its Local Parliament to rule over its special destinies, and all the powers vested in it that now belong to the Magistracy, Highway Commissioners, Educational and Sanitary Authorities, Municipal Bodies, &c., &c., and not only this, but which should also be competent to discuss all the great questions that affect the general interests of the Empire, to divide upon such questions, and to put its decisions upon record? The members of these Local Parliaments would, in the event of such institutions becoming a part of the recognized legislative machinery of the realm, be elected by the local or district constituencies.

These Local Parliaments would in due course become schools for legislators, for in them administrative talent would soon be recognized and come to the front. Local Parliaments would become stepping-stones to the great Central Imperial Parliament, in which by these means the administrative genius of the Empire would gradually be centered, for the ablest men in the Local Representative Assemblies would in all probability be promoted in due course to the Central Legislative Assembly of Dependency, and ultimately the very highest ability to the Imperial House of Commons.

Moreover, in this project for the establishment of Local Parliaments may be discerned a means for facilitating the transaction of Imperial affairs; for instead of prolonged discussions, as at present, in the Imperial or Central Legislative Assembly—the House of Commons—which often delay the consideration of very important measures, great questions could be fought out, talked out, in all the Electoral Districts by the Local Parliaments, and the decisions arrived at, and the reasons for those decisions could be briefly recapitulated by the District and the Federal Members in their places in the Imperial Commons. Thus step by step the general opinion of the whole Empire upon any great question would be recorded, and the Imperial policy influenced. The project we are describing is nothing more nor less than a project for the complete representation of the whole Empire—than a way to universal “home rule,” which would disarm all malevolent attempts to lacerate by “separation.” But let us be prompt lest an enemy be at our gates.

PART 2.

In any final scheme of “redistribution,” the division of the country into Electoral Districts will form a prominent feature. In my project of Federation the Electoral District is regarded as the territorial unit of representation; next to this, the entire area of a Colony, or Dependency, and finally the total length and breadth of the Empire itself. The Electoral District would have its Assembly or Parliament; the Colony, or Dependency, its General Assembly, and the Empire, its Imperial House of Commons. The District would be the first circle; the Dependency or Colony the second circle; and the Empire, the outer or all-including circle of representation.

In

In suggesting the establishment of Local or District Parliaments, it is not intended that the members of these assemblies should be extremely numerous, but that their numbers shall, in most cases, be in some way determined by the number of parishes comprised in the Electoral District. Whilst regarding the Electoral District as the territorial unit of representation, I am not unmindful that this would include the home and the parish. The constitution of parochial government, however, would have to be modified, and the duties of Vestrymen to be limited to the surveillance of all works initiated for the parochial common weal, the care of the poor, &c., &c. But the Vestry would be subordinate to and under the supervision of the District Assembly, which would have the power of suspending, and even of dissolving it, if it should be convicted of neglect of duty. Each parish would have the privilege of electing one, or two members, as may hereafter be determined, to represent it in the District Assembly, and every parishioner enfranchised would be entitled to vote at this election. All the Civil Servants of a District would be appointed by the District Assembly, or Local Parliament. Every member of a District Parliament would be entitled to bear the affix to his name of M.L.P. (Member Local Parliament). Each Electoral District of a Colony or Dependency would be empowered to return one or two members to the General Assembly or Parliament of that Dependency or Colony, and the members of this General Assembly would be entitled to the affix M.G.A. (Member General Assembly). The General Assembly itself would be empowered to return either one or more members to the House of Commons or Central Imperial Parliament, at Westminster.

In England, Scotland, and Ireland, the Electoral Districts themselves would return representatives direct to the Imperial Parliament. The immediate concern of the District or Local Governments would of course be the special affairs of the District. They would also have the power of discussing Imperial affairs on days set apart for that purpose, and fixed so that there should be no danger of local interests being neglected.

London and Ireland would possibly find the difficulties of local self-government solved by some modification of the general system of Federation proposed. The first, by its wards or parishes being magnified into Districts, and thus entitling it to have its own General Assembly, and Ireland by being empowered to have her General as well as her Local Assemblies.

All laws, all measures touching land and property, and the administration of justice, as well as the levying of taxes, would be the function alone of the Imperial Parliament, or at all events subject to its sanction, if direct Imperial legislation were in some cases impossible. In my suggestions of Military Reforms, I contemplated the ultimate coincidence of the Electoral and Military Districts—the coherence, if I may so express myself, of localization throughout the Empire. Depend upon it, in this principle of localization—of local self-government—we have left as yet untried the most powerful instrument of conquest, for in course of time peoples outside our bounds of Empire would desire to become federated with an Empire established in equity.

This project of Federation was first put forward in 1881–2.

No. 12.

The Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies to His Excellency the Governor.
(New South Wales, No. 97.)

My Lord,

Downing-street, 11 December, 1884.

Her Majesty's Government have given much consideration to the proposal, first made at the end of the last session of Parliament, and renewed on several occasions during the present session, that they should, without further delay, proceed with the legislation necessary for the establishment of a Federal Council of Australasia, as proposed by the Convention held at Sydney at the end of last year.

Your Government will have understood, from the answers given in Parliament to questions on this subject, that notwithstanding the reluctance of Her Majesty's Government to bring forward, during the autumn session of this year, any other business than that for the consideration of which Parliament was specially summoned, they would not have been unwilling to introduce a Bill for the establishment of a Federal Council, if the condition of public business should have appeared favourable, and if there should have been a prospect of such unanimity with regard to the principle and the details of the measure as might have encouraged the hope of its passing without discussion.

There appears, however, to have been some misapprehension as to the scope and character of the Bill which Her Majesty's Government would be prepared to introduce. They have not at any time had it in contemplation to bring before Parliament any other measure than that of which the draft was settled by the Convention at Sydney, subject, of course, to such amendments as that draft might be found to require. But from expressions which have been used, both in this country and in Australia, and from the apprehensions which have been entertained, more particularly in New South Wales, as to the course likely to be taken, it would seem to have been supposed that Her Majesty's Government have had under consideration the introduction of a Bill to unite the Colonies, or to enable them to unite, in a complete confederation, such as that of the Dominion of Canada, under which the existing independent Colonial Constitutions would be (except for certain provincial purposes) effaced by the establishment of a single controlling Government and Legislature.

It is, perhaps, hardly necessary to explain that Her Majesty's Government have had, and could have had, no such intention. There has been no expression of the desire of the Australasian Colonies for a union of that nature; and if there had been a general feeling in favour of it, it would have been impossible to proceed in the matter without very full consideration of principles and details, in consultation with representatives of the Colonies specially empowered to negotiate. Moreover, the Imperial Parliament would not have consented to legislate on the subject without being assured that the wishes and interests of each Colony had been duly ascertained and considered; and still less would it have been possible to pass a measure enabling Her Majesty in general terms to create an Australasian Dominion on conditions to be subsequently settled with the Colonies. It was, therefore, the Bill drafted by the Sydney Convention which Her Majesty's Government would have been willing to proceed with this year if they had been in a position to do so; and as this has not been practicable, I have thought it desirable to take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the adjournment of the sittings of Parliament until next year, and to invite the Colonial Governments to consider some amendments which it appears desirable to introduce into the Draft Bill.

This measure appears to be generally well-considered, providing as it does for the association of any four or more of the Colonies, by means of a "Federal Council," in such legislation and action as their common concern in certain specified matters of external interest may render desirable without any diminution of their independent power of internal self-government, and without compelling the co-operation of or seeking to bind any Colony which, for whatever reason, may not desire to be represented in the Federal Council. By this commencement of united action an important step will have been taken towards that completer federation which many desire to see accomplished; and it will have become possible to ascertain, with greater certainty than in any other manner, whether circumstances are likely to be favourable to such federation at an early date, or whether the independent constitutions under which the Colonies now enjoy signal prosperity and good government should be maintained for a prolonged term in their present form.

I transmit to you copies of the Draft Bill, which I have had reprinted so as to show the amendments in it, which, as at present advised, Her Majesty's Government are disposed to think desirable. Many of these are little more than verbal, and require no special explanation. The 3rd clause may be conveniently omitted, as the 15th clause sufficiently confers the legislative power which it was intended to provide. In the 5th clause it seems desirable to make provision for the enlargement of the Council, should that course become expedient in consequence of the increasing importance of the business to be dealt with.

In the 15th clause it will be desirable to omit the words purporting to give the Federal Council legislative authority "over all Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia, and over all British ships sailing between them," because no language should be used which could be construed as implying that the authority conferred on the Federal Council derogates from, or conflicts with, the authority of the separate Colonial Legislatures in regard to all matters of internal policy and administration; and further, because there may be many cases in which it would not be right or practicable to vest in the Federal Council unlimited control over British ships sailing between Her Majesty's possessions. And as it is possible that there will be additional subjects not at present under notice in respect of which it may be convenient that the Council should have authority, it is proposed to reserve to the Queen the power of referring to the Council any matter which Her Majesty may think it desirable to bring under its jurisdiction.

No Order in Council would, of course, be issued for this purpose, except with the concurrence of the Colonies sending representatives to the Federal Council. It has been questioned whether it would be constitutional and expedient for the Crown to delegate to the Council an unlimited power of dealing with the matters specified in sub-sections (a) (b) and (c) of this 15th clause, amongst other reasons because they are matters affecting, possibly to a considerable extent, the subjects of Foreign Powers. It has not been thought necessary to exclude any of these matters from the jurisdiction of the Federal Council, but it will be desirable that all Bills dealing with any of them should be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure, or the proposed Bills previously submitted for the consideration of Her Majesty's Government.

It is proposed to introduce into the 20th clause words making the legislation of the Council applicable to British ships sailing from or arriving in a British Colony or Possession.

In the 26th clause an important addition is suggested as to which it is desirable that I should learn the wishes of the Colonial Governments.

The Draft Bill does not touch the question of the provision of funds for carrying out the action determined upon by the Federal Council in respect of any matter within its authority. If it were to be necessary to obtain from each separate Legislature a vote or an Act of Parliament whenever expenditure has to be provided for, much delay must ensue, and in the event of one or more Legislatures declining to vote the required proportion, there would be serious financial complications. The subject appears to deserve careful consideration, and it has occurred to Her Majesty's Government that the Colonies may prefer that any Bill of the Federal Council involving expenditure beyond a limited small amount should be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure, in order to afford an opportunity for considering such representations as any Colonial Government may desire to make upon it.

Lastly, a new clause is proposed, to follow the 30th clause of the Draft Bill, in order to provide for the retirement from the Federal Council of any Colony which may so determine. It appears right and reasonable that there should be this power of ceasing to take part in the Council, although I trust that it will not be exercised. In the case of a complete Federal Union there would be obvious and grave objections to the insertion of any clause to this effect; but as the present limited co-operation is of an experimental nature, and as it may hereafter be found that the proceedings and expenditure of the Council are connected, to a greater extent than may be now foreseen, with subjects not directly concerning some one or more of the Colonies, the decision to co-operate should not be irrevocable.

I have now noticed the principal alterations which the Draft Bill seems to require, and I shall be glad to receive any observations which your Government may desire to make upon them, at the earliest possible date, and, if practicable, by telegraph. I cannot, of course, bind Her Majesty's Government to adopt any suggestions that may be made, as it will be necessary for them to take that course which may be most in accordance with the wishes and interests of the Colonies generally, but they will give the most careful consideration to the views of your Government, and I trust that it will be found practicable at an early period of next year to pass a satisfactory measure, and that before many months a Federal Council representing all the Colonies which took part in framing the Draft Bill at the Convention of Sydney will be in full operation.

I have, &c.,

AUSTRALASIAN FEDERAL COUNCIL DRAFT BILL.

Suggestions for Revision of Draft.

[NOTE.—The words in obliterated type are proposed to be omitted, those in italics are proposed to be inserted.]

A Bill intituled an Act to constitute a Federal Council of Australasia.

WHEREAS it is expedient to constitute a Federal Council of Australasia, for the purpose of dealing with such matters of common Australasian interest, in respect to which united action is desirable, as can be dealt with without unduly interfering with the management of the internal affairs of the several Colonies by their respective Legislatures: Be it enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of Her Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. In this Act, unless the context otherwise require, the following terms shall bear the meanings set opposite to them respectively:—

“Colonies.”—The Colonies (including their respective dependencies) of Fiji, New Zealand, New South Wales, Queensland, Tasmania, Victoria, and Western Australia, and the province of South Australia, and any other Colonies that may hereafter be created in Australasia, and their respective dependencies, or those of the said Colonies in respect to which this Act is in operation:

“Crown Colony.”—Any Colony in which the control of public officers is retained by Her Majesty's Imperial Government:

“Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia.”—The Colonies ~~and their dependencies~~, and such other territories as Her Majesty may from time to time declare by Order in Council to be within the operation of this Act: ~~Proclamation~~:

“Council.”—The Federal Council as hereby constituted:

“Governor.”—The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, or other officer administering the Government of the Colony referred to, with the advice of his Executive Council, except in the case of a Crown Colony, in which case the word shall mean the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, or such other officer alone.

2. There shall be in and for Her Majesty's Possessions in Australasia a Federal Council, constituted as hereinafter provided, and called the Federal Council of Australasia, which shall have the functions, powers, and authority hereinafter defined.

~~3. Within such Possessions Her Majesty shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Council, to make laws for the purposes hereinafter specified.~~

4. A Session of the Council shall be held once at least in every two years.

5. Each Colony shall be represented in the Council by two Members, except in the case of Crown Colonies, which shall be represented by one Member each. Her Majesty may by Order in Council from time to time increase the number of representatives for each Colony.

6. The Legislature of any Colony may make such provision as it thinks fit for the appointment of the representatives of that Colony, and for determining the tenure of their office.

7. The first Session of the Council shall be held at Hobart, in the Colony of Tasmania. Subsequent Sessions shall be held in such Colony as the Council shall from time to time determine.

8. The Council shall be summoned and prorogued by the Governor of the Colony in which the Session shall be held; and shall be so summoned and prorogued by Proclamation, published in the Government Gazette of each of the Colonies; and shall meet at such time and at such place as shall be named in the Proclamation.

9. The Governor of each Colony shall from time to time transmit to the Governors of the other Colonies the names of the Members appointed to represent the Colony of which he is Governor.

10. Notwithstanding any vacancy in the representation of any Colony, the Council shall be competent to proceed to the despatch of business, and to exercise the authority hereby conferred upon it.

11. At the request of the Governors of any three of the Colonies, a special Session of the Council shall be summoned to deal with such special matters as may be mentioned in the Proclamation convening it. Until the Council shall make other provision in that behalf, any such special Session shall be summoned by the Governor of Tasmania, and shall be held at Hobart.

12. The Council shall in each Session elect one of its Members to be President.

13. The presence of a majority of the whole number of Members of the Council for the time being, representing a majority of the Colonies with respect to which this Act is in operation, shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the despatch of business; and all questions which shall arise in the Council shall be decided by the votes of a majority of the Members present, including the President.

14. No Member of the Council shall sit or vote until he shall have taken and subscribed before the Governor of one of the Colonies the oath of allegiance contained in the Schedule hereto: Provided that every Member authorized by the law of the Colony which he represents to make an affirmation instead of taking an oath may make such affirmation instead of the oath hereby required to be taken.

15. Saving Her Majesty's prerogative, and subject to the provisions herein contained with respect to the operation of this Act, the Council shall have legislative authority ~~over all Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia, and over all British ships sailing between them~~, in respect to the several matters following:—

- (a) The relations of Australasia with the Islands of the Pacific.
- (b) Prevention of the influx of criminals.
- (c) Fisheries in Australasian waters beyond territorial limits.
- (d) The service of civil process of the Courts of any Colony within Her Majesty's Possessions in Australasia out of the jurisdiction of the Colony in which it is issued.
- (e) The enforcement of judgments of Courts of law of any Colony beyond the limits of the Colony.

- (f) The enforcement of criminal process beyond the limits of the Colony in which it is issued, and the extradition of offenders (including deserters of wives and children, and deserters from the Imperial or Colonial naval or military forces).
- (g) The custody of offenders on board ships belonging to Her Majesty's Colonial Governments beyond territorial limits.
- ( ) Any matter which Her Majesty by Order in Council shall think fit to refer to the Council.
- (h) Such of the following matters as may be referred to the Council by the Legislatures of any two or more Colonies, that is to say—general defences, quarantine, patents of invention and discovery, copyright, bills of exchange and promissory notes, uniformity of weights and measures, recognition in other Colonies of any marriage or divorce duly solemnized or decreed in any Colony, naturalisation of aliens, status of corporations and joint stock companies in other Colonies than that in which they have been constituted, and any other matter of general Australasian interest with respect to which the Legislatures of the several Colonies can legislate within their own limits, and as to which it is deemed desirable that there should be a law of general application: Provided that in such cases the Acts of the Council shall extend only to the Colonies by whose Legislatures the matter shall have been so referred to it, and such other Colonies as may afterwards adopt the same.

Every Bill in respect of the matters marked (a), (b), or (c), shall, unless previously approved by Her Majesty through one of Her Principal Secretaries of State, be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure.

16. The Governors of any two or more of the Colonies may, upon an Address of the Legislatures of such Colonies, refer for the consideration and determination of the Council any questions relating to those Colonies or their relations with one another, and the Council shall thereupon have authority to consider and determine by Act of Council the matters so referred to it.

17. Every Bill passed by the Council shall be presented, for Her Majesty's assent, to the Governor of the Colony in which the Council shall be sitting, who shall declare, according to his discretion, but subject to the provisions of this Act and to Her Majesty's instructions, either that he assents thereto in Her Majesty's name, or that he withholds such assent, or that he reserves the Bill for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure, or that he will be prepared to assent thereto, subject to certain amendments to be specified by him.

18. When the Governor assents to a Bill in Her Majesty's name, he shall, by the first convenient opportunity, send an authentic copy of the Act to one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and if Her Majesty, within one year after receipt thereof by the Secretary of State, thinks fit to disallow the Act, such disallowance (with a certificate of the Secretary of State of the day on which the Act was received by him) being signified by such Governor by message to the Council, or by Proclamation in the Government Gazette, of all the Colonies affected thereby, shall annul the Act from and after the day of such signification.

19. A Bill reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure shall not have any force unless and until within one year from the day on which it was presented to the Governor for Her Majesty's assent, such Governor signifies, by message to the Council, or by Proclamation published as last aforesaid, that it has received the assent of Her Majesty.

20. All Acts of the Council, on being assented to in manner hereinbefore provided, shall have the force of law in all Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia in respect to which this Act is in operation, or in the several Colonies to which they shall extend, as the case may be, and on board all British ships other than Her Majesty's ships of war, whose last port of clearance or port of destination is in any such possession or Colony.

21. Every Act assented to in the first instance shall be proclaimed in the Government Gazette of the Colony in which the Session of the Council at which it was passed was held, and shall also be transmitted by the Governor assenting thereto to the Governors of the several Colonies affected thereby, and shall be proclaimed by them within the respective Colonies of which they are Governors.

22. If in any case the provisions of any Act of the Council shall be repugnant to, or inconsistent with, the law of any Colony affected thereby, the former shall prevail, and the latter shall, so far as such repugnancy or inconsistency extends, have no operation.

23. The Council may from time to time make and adopt such standing rules and orders as may be necessary for the conduct of its business, and all such rules and orders shall be binding on the members of the Council.

24. The Council may appoint temporary or permanent Committees of its members, to perform such duties, whether during the Session of the Council or when the Council is not in Session, as may be referred to them by the Council.

25. The Council may appoint such officers and servants as may be necessary for the proper conduct of its business, and may direct the payment to them of such remuneration as it may think fit.

26. The necessary expenditure incurred by connected with the business of the Council shall be defrayed in the first instance by the Colony wherein the expenditure is incurred, and shall be ultimately contributed and paid by the several Colonies in proportion to their population. If any Act of the Council involves expenditure the Council may provide therein that such expenditure shall be contributed and paid by the several Colonies in proportion to their population. The amounts payable by the several Colonies shall be assessed and apportioned, in case of difference, by the Governor of the Colony of Tasmania.

27. It shall be the duty of the Governor of each Colony to direct the payment by the Colonial Treasurer or other proper officer of the Colony of the amount of the contribution payable by such Colony under the provisions of the preceding section.

28. Whenever it shall be necessary to prove the proceedings of the Council in any Court of Justice, or otherwise, a certified copy of such proceedings under the hand of the clerk or other officer appointed in that behalf by the Council shall be conclusive evidence of the proceedings appearing by such copy to have been had or taken.

29. The Council may make such representations or recommendations to Her Majesty as it may think fit with respect to any matters of general Australasian interest, or to the relations of Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia with the possessions of Foreign Powers.

30. This Act shall not come into operation in respect of any Colony until the Legislature of such Colony shall have passed an Act or Ordinance declaring that the same shall be in force therein, and appointing appointing a day on and from which such operation shall take effect, nor until four Colonies at the least shall have passed such Act or Ordinance.

31. This Act shall cease to be in operation in respect to any Colony in which the Legislature shall have passed an Act or Ordinance declaring that the same shall cease to be in force therein: Provided, nevertheless, that all Acts of the Council passed while this Act was in operation in such Colony shall continue to be in force therein, unless altered or repealed by the Council.

32. This Act shall be styled and may be cited as the "Federal Council of Australasia Act, 1884."

Telegram from Colonial Secretary of New South Wales to Premier of Victoria.

Sydney, 11 March, 1885.

In the great demand upon the time and attention of Ministers here, made by recent events, the consideration of the question of the submission of our views concerning the Amended Enabling Bill by the Imperial Government has been necessarily delayed.

As I perceive, you propose at once transmitting through South Australia the views of all the Colonies. I hasten to inform you of our position on this question. As you are aware, we are embarrassed in submitting any distinct proposals by the circumstance that our Parliament has declined to sanction the course of procedure resolved upon by the Convention.

In order to enable us to speak authoritatively a definite expression of parliamentary opinion should be obtained; and, in the absence of this, my colleagues feel unable to suggest anything concerning the measure.

No. 19.

The Colonial Secretary of Queensland to The Colonial Secretary of New South Wales.

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 20 March, 1885.

I have the honor to forward to you the accompanying copies of a letter which I have addressed to His Excellency the Governor of Queensland on the subject of the proposed amendments in the Draft Bill for the constitution of a Federal Council, as proposed by the Convention held at Sydney at the end of 1883.

I have, &c.,
S. W. GRIFFITH.

[Enclosure.]

Sir,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Brisbane, 16 March, 1885.

I regret the delay which has occurred in furnishing your Excellency with the observations of this Government upon the amendments suggested by Lord Derby in the Draft Bill for the constitution of a Federal Council as proposed by the Convention held at Sydney at the end of 1883, a delay which has arisen from a desire that unanimity of opinion on the part of the several Australasian Governments might be secured before making a formal report to Your Excellency.

I have lately had the opportunity of conferring at length with Mr. Service in Melbourne, Mr. Dalley in Sydney, and Mr. Douglas in Hobart, on the subject of Lord Derby's despatch of 11th December; but although I have been for some time in possession of the views of all the Governments except that of New South Wales, until yesterday no formal reply was received from Mr. Dalley.

2. I yesterday had the honor to forward to your Excellency at Southport a telegram shortly stating the opinion of this Government as to the several suggested amendments, and I now propose to state more fully the reasons which have led it to these conclusions.

3. The third clause of the Draft Bill, which it is now suggested should be omitted, was inserted as the cardinal provision of the Bill, empowering Her Majesty to make laws with the consent of the Council to be constituted under it. In the Constitutions of the Colonies of New South Wales, Victoria, and Queensland a similar clause is found; and it appears to us that in its absence legislative authority would be formally conferred (if at all) upon the Council with the consent of Her Majesty, instead of being conferred upon Her Majesty with the advice and consent of the Council. It is hardly necessary to point out that the latter form of enactment is in accordance with the accepted view of the constitution of Legislatures in the British Dominions.

4. The suggested amendment in the fifth clause, empowering Her Majesty to increase the number of representatives for each Colony, raises a question which was very fully and anxiously debated in the Convention. The arguments in favour of representation in proportion to population, as opposed to a uniform delegation of two members from each self-governing Colony, were carefully weighed, and it was finally resolved that as it was intended that the Council should not have any power to authorize the expenditure of money except for purposes connected with its own business, but should rather be of the nature of a Conference whose agreements or treaties should have binding authority, it would be better that each constituent Colony of the same class should have equal representation.

In the event, however, of a change being found desirable in this respect, we think it should be made by the Imperial Parliament, after addresses to Her Majesty from the Federal Council and the Legislatures of the several Colonies.

I do not quite understand whether, by the suggested amendment, it is intended that Her Majesty should have power to increase the number of representatives of some Colonies to the exclusion of others, or that the representatives of each Colony of the same class should always be equal in number. If the amendment were retained this should be made clear.

I hope, however, that so important a departure will not be made from the scheme adopted by the Convention, for it will be very important that, when the Legislature of any Colony is asked to pass an Act adopting the provisions of the Federal Council Bill, it should distinctly know the constitution of the body to which it is committing such important powers, and the weight which its own representatives will have in the decisions of the Council.

5. With respect to the first suggested amendment in the fifteenth clause, omitting the words purporting to give to the Federal Council legislative authority over all Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia and over all British ships sailing between them, we have no objection to offer. The intentions of the Convention would, as I understand them, have been met by substituting the words "on board of" for "over," which covers more than is necessary. The proposed amendment in the twentieth clause confers the power to an even larger extent. I am not, however, able to admit the force of the argument, that no language should be used which could be construed as implying that the authority conferred on the Federal Council derogates from, or conflicts with, the authority of the separate Colonial Legislatures in regard to matters of internal policy and administration. Such a conflict must, to a certain extent, exist, and it is contemplated and distinctly dealt with in the twenty-second clause of the Draft Bill, which, I observe, it is not proposed to alter.

6. This Government is unable to agree to the proposed amendment in the fifteenth clause, conferring upon the Federal Council legislative authority upon any matters which Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, think fit to refer to the Council. The Colonies have already, under their Constitution Acts, full legislative authority within their boundaries "in all cases whatsoever." The last sub-section (h) of the fifteenth clause comprises all matters with respect to which the several Colonies can legislate within their own limits, and as to which it is desired that there should be a law of general application. This general description appears, therefore, to comprise every matter whatever relating to the Colonies themselves, but the authority of the Council is made subject to a prior reference of the matter to the Council by two or more Colonies or a subsequent acceptance of the Council's enactments by them. This provision, we think, covers all that it is desirable to include in the present Bill. I do not for a moment anticipate that any matter would be referred to the Council by Her Majesty without the consent of the Colonies, but I think that the existence of so elastic a power might tend at least to delay the adoption of the Bill by the Colonies.

7. The amendment suggested in the twenty-sixth clause, to the effect that if any Act of the Council involves expenditure, the Council may provide that such expenditure shall be contributed and paid by the several Colonies in proportion to their population, raises a question of great importance, than which none was more carefully considered by the Convention. A power to authorize the expenditure of money necessarily involves not only an authority to raise the necessary revenue, but an authority to superintend its disbursement. In some form, therefore, such a provision would necessitate the creation of a Federal Treasury, and the appointment of Federal Executive Officers. Moreover, the individual Legislatures might, and probably would, be reluctant to delegate to a body constituted in the manner proposed by the Draft Bill any power to expend money, which would carry with it a power to compel taxation, and consequently interfere with the fiscal arrangements of the several Colonies.

Such a proposal as that contained in this amendment would therefore involve a reconsideration of the Constitution as well as of the functions of the Council. These and other arguments were fully weighed by the Convention, with the result that a provision of the kind now suggested was intentionally omitted.

I do not anticipate any real difficulty, however, in the event of any Act of the Federal Council involving expenditure. The case would no doubt be dealt with by common agreement, as in the case of the contributions to the expenses of the New Guinea Protectorate.

For the reasons I have stated, this Government is unable to assent to the proposed amendment.

8. The suggested new clause 31 appears to us to be highly undesirable. Its effect would be that if at any time four Colonies only were represented in the Federal Council, any one of them would have the power to break up the Council altogether. Such a provision would, I think, seriously hamper the authority and usefulness of the Council; nor do I think that its insertion in the Bill would tend to encourage a reluctant Colony to come into the Union. We, hope, therefore, that the proposed amendment will be withdrawn. I should add that the proviso in this clause appears somewhat ambiguous, as it is not not quite clear whether it is intended that, on the retirement of a Colony, any Act previously passed should cease to operate as to that Colony on its being subsequently altered in any respect, or that the Council should have power to alter the Act to any extent it might think fit, and still bind the retiring Colony by the altered provisions.

9. To the other suggested amendments this Government has no objections to offer.

I have, &c.,

S. W. GRIFFITH.

[Enclosure.]

[48 Vict.] Federal Council of Australasia.

A Bill to constitute a Federal Council of Australasia.

WHEREAS it is expedient to constitute a Federal Council of Australasia, for the purpose of dealing with such matters of common Australasian interest, in respect to which united action is desirable, as can be dealt with without unduly interfering with the management of the internal affairs of the several Colonies by their respective Legislatures:

Be it enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of Her Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. In this Act, unless the context otherwise require, the following terms shall bear the meanings set opposite to them respectively:—

“Colonies”—The Colonies (including their respective dependencies) of Fiji, New Zealand, New South Wales, Queensland, Tasmania, Victoria, and Western Australia, and the Province of South Australia, and any other Colonies that may hereafter be created in Australasia, or those of the said Colonies in respect to which this Act is in operation:

“Crown Colony”—Any Colony in which the control of public officers is retained by Her Majesty's Imperial Government:

“Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia”—The Colonies and such other territories as Her Majesty may from time to time declare by Order in Council to be within the operation of this Act:

“Council”—The Federal Council as hereby constituted:

“Governor”—The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, or other officer administering the government of the Colony referred to, with the advice of his Executive Council, except in the case of a Crown Colony, in which case the word shall mean the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, or such other officer alone.

2. There shall be in and for Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia a Federal Council, constituted as hereinafter provided, and called the Federal Council of Australasia, which shall have the functions, powers, and authority hereinafter defined.

3. Within such possessions Her Majesty shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Council, to make laws for the purposes hereinafter specified, subject to the provisions herein contained respecting the operation of this Act.

4. A session of the Council shall be held once at least in every two years.

5. Each Colony shall be represented in the Council by two members, except in the case of Crown Colonies, which shall be represented by one member each. Her Majesty, at the request of the Legislatures of the Colonies, may by Order in Council from time to time increase the number of representatives for each Colony.

6. The Legislature of any Colony may make such provision as it thinks fit for the appointment of the representatives of that Colony, and for determining the tenure of their office.

7. The first session of the Council shall be held at Hobart, in the Colony of Tasmania. Subsequent sessions shall be held in such Colony as the Council shall from time to time determine.

8. The Council shall be summoned and prorogued by the Governor of the Colony in which the session shall be held; and shall be so summoned and prorogued by proclamation, published in the Government Gazette of each of the Colonies; and shall meet at such time and at such place as shall be named in the Proclamation.

9. The Governor of each Colony shall from time to time transmit to the Governors of the other Colonies the names of the members appointed to represent the Colony of which he is Governor.

10. Notwithstanding any vacancy in the representation of any Colony, the Council shall be competent to proceed to the dispatch of business, and to exercise the authority hereby conferred upon it.

11. At the request of the Governors of any three of the Colonies, a special session of the Council shall be summoned to deal with such special matters as may be mentioned in the Proclamation convening it. Until the Council shall make other provision in that behalf, any such special session shall be summoned by the Governor of Tasmania, and shall be held at Hobart.

12. The Council shall in each session elect one of its members to be President.

13. The presence of a majority of the whole number of members of the Council for the time being, representing a majority of the Colonies with respect to which this Act is in operation, shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the dispatch of business, and all questions which shall arise in the Council shall be decided by the votes of a majority of the members present, including the President.

14. No member of the Council shall sit or vote until he shall have taken and subscribed before the Governor of one of the Colonies the oath of allegiance contained in the Schedule hereto: Provided that every member authorized by the law of the Colony which he represents to make an affirmation, instead of taking an oath may make such affirmation instead of the oath hereby required to be taken.

15. Saving Her Majesty's prerogative, and subject to the provisions herein contained with respect to the operation of this Act, the Council shall have legislative authority in respect to the several matters following:—

- (a) The relations of Australasia with the Islands of the Pacific.
- (b) Prevention of the influx of criminals.
- (c) Fisheries in Australasian waters beyond territorial limits.
- (d) The service of civil process of the Courts of any Colony within Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia out of the jurisdiction of the Colony in which it is issued.
- (e) The enforcement of judgments of Courts of law of any Colony beyond the limits of the Colony.
- (f) The enforcement of criminal process beyond the limits of the Colony in which it is issued, and the extradition of offenders (including deserters of wives and children, and deserters from the Imperial or Colonial Naval or Military Forces).
- (g) The custody of offenders on board ships belonging to Her Majesty's Colonial Governments beyond territorial limits.
- ( ) Any matter which at the request of the Legislatures of the Colonies Her Majesty by Order in Council shall think fit to refer to the Council.
- (h) Such of the following matters as may be referred to the Council by the Legislatures of any two or more Colonies, that is to say,—general defences, quarantine, patents of invention and discovery, copyright, bills of exchange and promissory notes, uniformity of weights and measures, recognition in other Colonies of any marriage or divorce duly solemnized or decreed in any Colony, naturalization of aliens, status of corporations and joint stock companies in other Colonies than that in which they have been constituted, and any other matter of general Australasian interest with respect to which the Legislatures of the several Colonies can legislate within their own limits, and as to which it is deemed desirable that there should be a law of general application: Provided that in such cases the Acts of the Council shall extend only to the Colonies by whose Legislatures the matter shall have been so referred to it, and such other Colonies as may afterwards adopt the same.

Every Bill in respect of the matters marked (a), (b), or (c), shall unless previously approved by Her Majesty through one of Her Principal Secretaries of State, be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure.

16. The Governors of any two or more of the Colonies may, upon an address of the Legislatures of such Colonies, refer for the consideration and determination of the Council any questions relating to those Colonies or their relations with one another, and the Council shall thereupon have authority to consider and determine by Act of Council the matters so referred to it.

17. Every Bill passed by the Council shall be presented, for Her Majesty's assent, to the Governor of the Colony in which the Council shall be sitting, who shall declare, according to his discretion, but subject to the provisions of this Act and to Her Majesty's instructions, either that he assents thereto in Her Majesty's name, or that he withholds such assent, or that he reserves the Bill for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure, or that he will be prepared to assent thereto, subject to certain amendments to be specified by him.

18. When the Governor assents to a Bill in Her Majesty's name, he shall by the first convenient opportunity, send an authentic copy of the Act to one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State; and if Her Majesty, within one year after receipt thereof by the Secretary of State, thinks fit to disallow the Act, such disallowance (with a certificate of the Secretary of State of the day on which the Act was received by him) being signified by such Governor by Message to the Council, or by Proclamation in the Government Gazette of all the Colonies affected thereby, shall annul the Act from and after the day of such signification.

19. A Bill reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure shall not have any force unless and until within one year from the day on which it was presented to the Governor for Her Majesty's assent such Governor signifies, by Message to the Council, or by Proclamation published as last aforesaid, that it has received the assent of Her Majesty.

20. All Acts of the Council, on being assented to in manner hereinbefore provided, shall have the force of law in all Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia in respect to which this Act is in operation, or in the several Colonies to which they shall extend, as the case may be, and on board all British ships other than Her Majesty's ships of war, whose last port of clearance or port of destination is in any such possession or colony.

21. Every Act assented to in the first instance shall be proclaimed in the Government Gazette of the Colony in which the session of the Council at which it was passed was held, and shall also be transmitted by the Governor assenting thereto to the Governors of the several Colonies affected thereby, and shall be proclaimed by them within the respective Colonies of which they are Governors.

22. If in any case the provisions of any Act of the Council shall be repugnant to, or inconsistent with, the law of any Colony affected thereby, the former shall prevail, and the latter shall, so far as such repugnance or inconsistency extends, have no operation.

23. The Council may from time to time make and adopt such standing rules and orders as may be necessary for the conduct of its business, and all such rules and orders shall be binding on the members of the Council.

24. The Council may appoint temporary or permanent committees of its members to perform such duties, whether during the session of the Council or when the Council is not in session, as may be referred to them by the Council.

25. The Council may appoint such officers and servants as may be necessary for the proper conduct of its business, and may direct the payment to them of such remuneration as it may think fit.

26. The necessary expenditure connected with the business of the Council shall be defrayed in the first instance by the Colony wherein the expenditure is incurred, and shall be ultimately contributed and paid by the several Colonies in proportion to their population. The amounts payable by the several Colonies shall be assessed and apportioned, in case of difference, by the Governor of the Colony of Tasmania.

27. It shall be the duty of the Governor of each Colony to direct the payment of the Colonial Treasurer, or other proper officer of the Colony, of the amount of the contribution payable by such Colony under the provisions of the preceding section.

28. Whenever it shall be necessary to prove the proceedings of the Council in any Court of justice, or otherwise, a certified copy of such proceedings, under the hand of the clerk or other officer appointed in that behalf by the Council, shall be conclusive evidence of the proceedings appearing by such copy to have been had or taken.

29. The Council may make such representations or recommendations to Her Majesty as it may think fit with respect to any matters of general Australasian interest, or to the relations of Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia with the possessions of Foreign Powers.

30. This Act shall not come into operation in respect of any Colony until the Legislature of such Colony shall have passed an Act or Ordinance declaring that the same shall be in force therein, and appointing a day on and from which such operation shall take effect, nor until four Colonies at the least shall have passed such Act or Ordinance.

31. This Act shall cease to be in operation in respect to any Colony the Legislature of which shall have passed an Act or Ordinance declaring that the same shall cease to be in force therein: Provided nevertheless that all Acts of the Council passed while this Act was in operation in such Colony shall continue to be in force therein, unless altered or repealed by the Council, or unless repealed as to such Colony by the Legislature thereof.

32. This Act shall be styled and may be cited as the Federal Council of Australasia Act, 1884.

THE SCHEDULE.

I, _____, do swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Victoria and her Successors in the Sovereignty of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland: So help me God.

NOTE.—The name of the Sovereign of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the time being is to be substituted from time to time, with proper terms of reference thereto.

The Premier of New Zealand to The Colonial Secretary of New South Wales.

Sir,

Premier's Office, Wellington, 2 May, 1885.

I have the honor to forward to you a memorandum adopted by this Government respecting the proposed Imperial Act for constituting an Australasian Federal Council, and to express the hope that the document may be promptly and favourably considered by your Government.

I have, &c.,

ROBERT STOUT.

[Enclosure.]

Memorandum by New Zealand Ministers on the proposed Imperial Act for constituting an Australasian Federal Council.

THE Government of New Zealand appeal to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and to the Governments of the Australasian Colonies, to reconsider the question of the Federal Council Bill, so far as to provide that no legislation of the Federal Council shall have effect within any Colony until the Legislature of that Colony shall have approved of such legislation. This Government consider it would be quite impossible, without the insertion of such a provision, to recommend its acceptance to the Parliament of New Zealand; and equally impossible, if any Government were to recommend it, that the Parliament of New Zealand would consent to such an utter abnegation of its powers as would be involved by its accepting the Federal Council under the Bill proposed. If the Bill become an Act of the Imperial Parliament, it will have no effect within any Colony that does not elect through its Legislature to adopt it; but when once a Colony has accepted the Act, it would place itself in the position of allowing a number of laws relating to most important subjects to be passed without any larger share in the legislation than would be comprised in the presence of two of its representatives in the Council. In other words, the Legislature of a constitutional Colony would be asked to name two persons who, in company with many persons from other Colonies—Crown and constitutional—would have a final legislative power over a large number of questions of the utmost moment to the Colony.

The Parliament of New Zealand is very jealous of the exercise of its legislative power, and it is quite certain that no Government would be able to obtain from it the right to finally legislate upon any subject that could be proposed. How, then, is it possible that it would be willing to confide to two representatives associated with many other persons (who for the purpose of discussion may be considered strangers to the Colony), powers of final legislation on a number of subjects? There is no reason to believe that the Parliaments of other Colonies are less disposed to guard their functions.

It appears to this Government that the proposal is altogether inconsistent with the autonomous powers which are vested in the Legislatures of the various Colonies. Any Act by which it is proposed to bind a Colony has now to pass through a number of well-considered stages, during any of which a revision of the proposed legislation may be accomplished and public opinion brought to bear on the question. Not only has the measure to pass through one Chamber, but it has to pass through both Chambers before it can become law. It is quite possible that many people may have the opinion that two Chambers are not a necessity, but it is clear that, as long as two Chambers are the established practice within the constitutional Colonies as the medium for passing laws of any kind, it is quite inconsistent with that practice that the probably most important questions with which a Colony can deal should be left to one Chamber or Representative Committee.

Ministers venture to express these opinions to the Secretary of State for the Colonies and to the Ministers of the other Australasian Colonies, in the hope that they may see fit to reconsider the question. This course is pursued with the more confidence because the Government of New Zealand are of opinion that if the Imperial Bill be enacted it will remain a dead-letter, that is to say, that the Legislatures of no four Colonies within the Australasian group would agree to adopt the Act, and by so doing commit, as has already been described, some of the extensive powers of legislation which each Parliament now itself possesses to be finally dealt with by two representatives only, associated with a large number of representatives of other Colonies.

The amendments proposed to be made in the Act by Her Majesty's Government do not affect the point to any extent. The clause allowing the withdrawal of a Colony is not important, seeing that the laws which already have been passed will not be repealed by such withdrawal. Whenever the time shall arrive that a Colony may wish to withdraw, the desire will have been occasioned because of some legislation to which it objects; and its withdrawal, instead of cancelling the legislation, may be the means of permanently sustaining it. If the views of this Government could be acceded to by the other Colonies, the establishment of a Federal Council thus sanctioned would still be an important step, and experience would show whether it sufficiently answered the purposes desired of it to enable the Legislatures of the Colonies to dispense with the approval of Acts subsequent to their passing the Council, which is now asked for. This Government, however, feels that in holding out this hope they would be wanting in candour, and they must therefore say that, in their opinion, however well the Federal Council may work, the Parliaments of the various Colonies will not agree to relinquish to a Council, such as is proposed by the Bill, powers of final legislation on any subject whatever.

If the powers of the Council were limited as suggested, the Government are of opinion it might be very useful in assisting to frame laws of common interest to all the Colonies, whilst it would strengthen the bonds of union between them.

The Premier of Victoria to The Colonial Secretary of New South Wales.

Sir,

Premier's Office, Melbourne, 21 May, 1885.

Referring to the memorandum of the 23rd April, submitted by the Government of New Zealand to the several Australasian Governments on the subject of the Federal Council Bill now before the Imperial Parliament, I beg to transmit herewith, for your information, a few copies of a letter, dated 20th May instant, which I have addressed to the Premier of New Zealand in reply.

I have, &c.,
JAMES SERVICE,
Premier.

P.S.—Please hold this as confidential until this letter (which was posted yesterday) shall have had time to reach New Zealand.

[Enclosure.]

Sir,

Premier's Office, Melbourne, 20 May, 1885.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt on the 12th instant of your letter of the 30th April, conveying a copy of a memorandum adopted by your Government respecting the proposed Imperial Act for constituting an Australasian Federal Council. The memorandum enclosed appeals to the Australasian Governments to have inserted in the Bill a provision that no legislation of the Federal Council shall have effect within any Colony, until the Legislature of that Colony shall have approved of such legislation; and the ground of this request is, that your Government supposes that the proposed powers of the Federal Council are inconsistent with the autonomous powers of the several local Legislatures.

2. I thank you for thus communicating your views in so clear and able a document as that now submitted. Bearing in mind, however, that you had not the advantage of hearing and participating in the discussions of the Convention which framed the Bill, I could have wished that the step which you have now courteously taken of placing your views before the other Australasian Governments had been resorted to at an earlier stage, when you might yet have been open to weigh and consider such answers to your objections as might be submitted, and I shall be extremely glad if you are even now able to reconsider the matter and possibly to modify the attitude taken by your representative in London towards the Bill. It is in the hope that this may be the case that I now offer the following remarks.

3. The objection taken, namely, that the Bill would interfere with local autonomy in the several Colonies is one which in the abstract, and if it could be shown to apply in any injurious way, I should be disposed to agree with. From the first I felt it important not to give to the Federal Council any powers with which the local Legislatures could not freely and safely entrust it; but I submit that the objection, though it appears formidable as a theoretical principle, is one which vanishes when the practical bearings of the matter are looked into. For the range of subjects on which the proposed Council will have power to legislate is not unlimited; it is confined to—

1. The matters specifically defined in sub-clauses a to g of clause 15 of the Bill, and
2. The other subjects mentioned or referred to in sub-clause h.

4. With regard to the former class, it is difficult to see how any local Legislature could feel that its functions were at all interfered with through any one of these subjects being dealt with by the Federal Council. Take, for instance—

(a) The relations of Australasia with the Islands of the Pacific;

this is a subject not subtracted from the domain of local Legislatures, for it has never yet belonged to it; it is a new matter for the Colonies, one which could not be satisfactorily legislated upon by individual Colonies, and which therefore of itself seems to require a central body to deal with it.

5. The other matters enumerated, viz.:—

- (b) Prevention of the influx of criminals;
- (c) Fisheries in Australasian waters beyond territorial limits;
- (d) The service of civil process of the Courts of any Colony within Her Majesty's possessions in Australasia out of the jurisdiction of the Colony in which it is issued;
- (e) The enforcement of judgments of Courts of law of any Colony beyond the limits of the Colony;
- (f) The enforcement of criminal process beyond the limits of the Colony in which it is issued, and the extradition of offenders (including deserters of wives and children, and deserters from the Imperial or Colonial Naval or Military Forces);
- (g) The custody of offenders on board of ships belonging to Her Majesty's Colonial Governments, beyond territorial limits; are all of them affairs of the external relations of the Colonies, such as no Legislature of any one Colony could deal with.

6. As regards the other class of subjects, none of them could come before the Council except on the request of the Legislatures of at least two Colonies.

I need only point out the immense safeguard thus afforded; there is the deliberate process of any such request through two Legislative Chambers of at least two Colonies; there is scrutiny at various stages in each Chamber; there is the force of public opinion which may be brought to bear at any one of these stages; and I think it must be apparent that ample security is thus afforded that no subject could be remitted to the Federal Council on which there would be any danger of legislation unacceptable to individual Colonies. I apprehend, indeed, that those subjects only would be dealt with by the Federal Council on which there was a matured public opinion and a felt need of federal action.

7. But, further; while your proposal is that no Act of the Federal Council shall have effect until adopted by the local Legislatures, there actually is a provision in the Bill which, if not identical with the one you propose, appears to me amply conservative in character, namely, that in the case of the subjects which under sub-clause h are referable to the Council by the Legislatures of two Colonies, the Acts of the Council passed thereupon shall extend only to the Colonies by whose Legislatures the matter shall have been so referred to it, and to such other Colonies as may afterwards adopt the same.

8. Thus, then, in the case of subjects referred to the Council by two Colonies, the sequential legislation would only be binding upon those two; and, as regards the others, their position would be just exactly that which is proposed by your memorandum.

It seems to me that in this respect the Bill (so to say) exercises a wise discrimination; that is, that legislation which has only been asked for by two Colonies should only bind those two, but that it should be optional with the other Colonies to adopt it or not.

9. The proposal of your memorandum, however, is more sweeping; it is that there should be no finality in any of the Acts of the Council. This would deprive the Council at once of all legislative power and character; it would reduce it to a mere Intercolonial Conference, or a drafting Committee. I cannot regard this otherwise than as a retrograde step.

10. Our past experience of Intercolonial Conferences suffices to show their inconclusiveness. It was the very fact of their impotence and ineffectiveness that gave rise to the desire for some central or federal body with power to act and legislate; but, with a Council shorn of all legislative power, we should be just where we were before. Suppose, for instance, that the Council have met and deliberated; if every item of their decisions has to be submitted to the various Legislatures for re-discussion and consideration, when can any general law be reasonably expected to be passed? How many of the local Legislatures may not be in recess? or how many Colonies may not be undergoing a general election, or a Ministerial crisis? And, with all the local Legislatures exercising their right of amendment, can it be expected that a law of general application would ever emerge from such a process? So remote, indeed, appears to me the prospect of any practical result from a body so crippled and restricted, that I quite fail to see wherein its utility would lie.

11. But, moreover, when it is recollected that the Council is itself to consist of representatives of the several Australasian Colonies, I conceive that the Colonies would be almost stultifying themselves if they adopted such a restriction on the powers of the Council as that proposed.

12. The idea of the Council is that it would consist necessarily of the most experienced and distinguished representative men in the Colonies. Is it to be supposed that such men would seek, would indeed indeed accept a seat at it, if, instead of the body proposed by the Convention, it were degraded into a mere drafting Council to prepare measures for enactment by the several Colonial Legislatures?

13. It is because (as before mentioned) you were not present at the detailed and elaborate discussions of the Convention that I venture to lay before you these remarks, and to ask your kind reconsideration of the position.

It will be a matter of profound satisfaction in Victoria, and I think in all those Colonies which have accepted the Federal Council, if the important Colony of New Zealand takes its place amongst those consenting to this measure and this form of Federation.

I have, &c.,

Minute by Colonial Secretary.

Imperial Federation and Earl Grey's suggested Board of Advice for the Colonies.

I HAVE carefully perused the article in the Pall Mall Gazette of January 9th upon Earl Grey's suggestion for the formation of a Colonial Council or Board of Advice, whose duty it would be to advise the Secretary of State for the Colonies on all matters of Colonial interest.

The suggestion ingeniously gets over some of the difficulties, and may be accepted as a valuable contribution to the difficult question of Imperial Federation; nevertheless, I am constrained to take a view adverse to it, as I do not think it would be found to work well for the Colonies, whilst at times it might seriously embarrass the Imperial Government, and hamper its responsible action.

Suppose a case of Australian interest in which even tolerable unanimity amongst the Australian Agents-General were to prevail, their views might be overborne by the other members of the Board, who, however ably they might represent their own Colonies, might be in no way specially fitted to judge of our requirements; or take the case alluded to by Earl Grey, viz., the Fisheries—notably those of Newfoundland—the Australian Agents-General would have no special fitness to decide what advice the Board should tender, and yet by their vote they might possibly add to the embarrassment of the situation. The Imperial Government might find it convenient to fortify a “do-nothing policy” under such a vote; but how could the suffering Colony obtain redress, or make its discontent officially known?

Unpleasant though it may be for a Colony to have its wishes—involving, perhaps, its dearest interests—set aside or ignored, a refusal by a responsible Minister of the Crown, after full argument heard, would be much more palatable and less offensive than an adverse vote of an irresponsible Board at which its own Agent's voice may have been overruled. Colonial statesmen generally would consider it as a great departure from the principle of individual autonomy of the Colonies, were their interests on such vital questions as required the concurrence of the Imperial Government to be subject to the approval or disapproval of an irresponsible body, but yet carrying certain weight from its official position: the less their autonomy is interfered with the better. In all internal matters each Colony is best able to judge for itself; it is only on matters which infringe upon Imperial interests that it is necessary to go beyond itself; and it would be better that such form the subject of direct negotiation with the Imperial Government than that resort should be had to any intermediate body for a solution of the difficulty.

Imperial Federation, to whatever proportion it may ultimately attain, must necessarily be of slow or gradual growth; and, with momentous issues depending upon its soundness, it is well that no hasty action of a defined character be adopted, which may turn out to be unsuited to the end in view; that which is immediately required, and which may serve until further discussion shall have paved the way for some more elaborate system, is that there shall be a distinct recognition on the part of the Imperial Government as a constitutional principle, that before definite action be taken on any Colonial subject, the Colony or Colonies interested be consulted, and for that purpose the direct channel of the Agent-General should be recognized; and he should be entitled to ask for and to receive all information and papers which the Secretary of State for the Colonies, or his Department, could furnish.

Hitherto the only officially recognized channel of communication has been the Governor of the Colony, who, by minute of the Chief Minister, is requested to convey the views of the Colonial Government. Recently there has been growing up a sort of tacit acquiescence in the position of Agent-General, which should be extended to a full official recognition. The Agent-General, although not a Minister, is directly responsible to the Colonial Ministry, and can be removed; or where, as in New Zealand, he holds his position for a fixed period, it would probably be found inexpedient to make him removable, if he fail adequately to represent their views. If, in the course of negotiation with the Secretary of State, any doubt or difficulty, or any new aspect of the question arise, he can within twenty-four hours be in possession by telegraph of the views of the Colonial Ministry thereon. No channel of communication could therefore probably be devised to bring more promptly the two Governments—Imperial and Colonial—en rapport with each other's views. The Colonial Ministry, acting under a sense of responsibility to the Colonial Parliament, would have its views tempered thereby, and modified also by those of the Imperial Government as communicated through the Agent-General; while the Imperial Government, having the actual mind of the Colony before it, and acting under its responsibility to the Imperial Parliament, would be in a position to decide fairly and promptly upon the question; and in the spirit of mutual trust and forbearance thereby engendered, would be the truest and most lasting Federation of the whole Empire; a Federation which neither Colonial Representation in the House of Commons nor Colonial additions to the Peerage in the House of Lords could ever effect.

It may be objected that this would ignore, and consequently would lower, the position of the Governor. Not so: the Governor is not only the Representative of Her Majesty in the Colony, but is the confidential Agent and Adviser of the Imperial Government, and the Secretary of State for the Colonies has a right and ought to receive his views before making his final decision; it should therefore be the recognized duty of the Colonial Government to furnish the Governor with copies of all such instructions given to the Agent-General, so that he may either at the time forward his views thereon to the Secretary of State, or be in a position to answer any questions which the Secretary of State may put to him.

I need not point out that, if the voice of a Colony should thus be heard before action be taken on any matter of Colonial interest, a fortiori the voice of many Colonies, acting in unison, as in the recent case of

of New Guinea, should have deep weight with the Imperial Government, and should not be lightly thrown aside or ignored. Had Queensland been the only Colony to urge the annexation, it might have been argued that the somewhat impulsive action of Sir Thomas McIlwraith was stimulated by selfish interests—not personal but Colonial—which might have justified hesitation on the part of the Secretary of State for the Colonies; but the unanimously expressed voice of all other Colonies in the Australasian group should have convinced him that it was no mere question of land aggrandisement which animated them, nor a reckless course in which the position of England's foreign relations was ignored. On the contrary, it was with a recognition derived from local experience and observation of the strategic importance of the command of Torres Straits, and with the knowledge that these waters were navigated by large and valuable fleets of English as well as Colonial ships and steamers, and which it should be England's aim to keep free from the risk of hostile occupation, that Australasia saw that the step was necessary for the honor of England herself and for the protection of English as well as of Colonial interests.

An important difference might have been observed with regard to the proposition emanating from Victoria, that England should annex the New Hebrides group and all the unappropriated Islands of the Western Pacific. No such unanimity was manifested; for there were those who recognized that England's honor required her to keep faith with France, with regard to the former; while, in the wholesale annexation of the latter, it could not be shown that England had any special right over other nations; whilst in event of war it would be impossible to defend so many points, which would thus become sources of weakness instead of strength.

Too much has been made of the possible separation of the Australasian Colonies from the Mother Country. There is no such desire on the part of the Australian Colonies. On the contrary, not only are they thoroughly loyal, but they glory in their connection with the Old Country; and England may keep that loyalty and feeling alive as long as she likes, by listening to and promptly granting all reasonable and unanimously expressed wishes of the Colonies, and can endanger and extinguish such feeling only by treating them with indifference and neglect. The Colonies are not likely to insist on any demand which will militate against the honor and peace of the whole Empire; in its continuance and glory they rejoice, and, as forming a part of that unity, they feel that their own onward progress is more assured than it could be under a separate existence; nor is it necessary for true federation that there be a participation by the Colonies in the general government of the Empire. The recent action of the Colonies in offering assistance to England in her Egyptian difficulties has shown in an unmistakable manner that, while we have separate domestic interests, we have one common interest,—the preservation of the unity and glory of the Empire; and in this feeling lies the foundation of the truest and most lasting federation.

[Enclosure.]

EXTRACT from Pall Mall Gazette, 9 January, 1885.

A PRACTICAL SUGGESTION.

FOR some time past Imperial federation has been in the air. Every one has been talking about it, and writing about it, for months. It is now about time that the general desire both at home and in the Colonies should assume a practical shape. Otherwise there is some danger that the movement may end in smoke.

It is therefore with considerable satisfaction that we publish this morning a proposal put forward by the Nestor of English Colonial Ministers for giving practical effect to the universal aspiration in favour of maintaining the unity of the Empire. Lord Grey, in the course of a conversation with our representative upon the enormous difficulties in the way of contriving any scheme for the Federal Government of the Empire, drew from his inexhaustible armoury of precedents an expedient which would enable us to take a long stride towards the realization of our ideal. Why not, Lord Grey asks, reconstitute the Committee of Privy Council for Trade and Plantations formerly attached to the Board of Trade, and attach it as a Colonial Council to the Colonial Office? In this scheme the usual objection to taking action, the impossibility of carrying any but absolutely indispensable Bills through the House of Commons, disappears. The Colonial Board of Advice, Council of the Colonies, or however it might be named, could be revived to-morrow by the Royal prerogative and attached to the Colonial Office, of course with purely advising or consultative functions. This might be regarded as a mere Departmental matter of no great importance, were it not for the method in which Lord Grey proposes to constitute his Colonial Council. Instead of creating a Board by collecting a heterogeneous number of notables depending for their position solely upon the will of the Crown, the Queen under this scheme would constitute the Council by appointing as members of her Committee of Privy Council the official representatives of the Colonies now in London. That is to say, the Council for the Colonies would consist primarily of the High Commissioner for Canada and the Agents-General for the Cape, South Australia, Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland, and New Zealand. To this Council the Crown might add nominated representatives of the Crown Colonies; say, for instance—although Lord Grey does not make this suggestion—one for the West Indies, another for West Africa, and a third for the Eastern Settlements, from Mauritius to Hong Kong. That, however, is a detail. The central principle of the proposal is that the Agents of the self-governing Colonies should be officially associated with the Colonial Office in their corporate capacity as the representatives of the great and growing England beyond the sea. To some extent we may see how such a scheme would act by the example of the India Council, which, however, has no standing but that given it by the appointment of its members by the Crown, and which represents, not the India of to-day, but the India of yesterday. In both those respects it would differ from the proposed Colonial Council. The Agents-General represent the actualities of Colonial life and policy. They have a position, and a great position, entirely independent of the Crown. Their authority, therefore, would be much greater than that of the India Council, and it is an authority that would grow.

Without pledging ourselves to all the details of the proposed scheme, it is obvious that it possesses enormous advantages over all other suggestions yet made public. (1.) In the first place, it could be adopted to-morrow if the Cabinet decided that it would be well to strengthen the Colonial Office by the presence of the accredited representatives of the Colonies with which the Secretary of State has to do. (2.) Alone of all projected schemes it can be carried out without an Act of Parliament. (3.) It is a modest proposal, amounting to little more than the formal recognition of existing facts, and a regulation of the present position and functions of the Agents-General. (4.) It is entirely in harmony with the tendency tendency of the time, which year by year has exalted the importance of the Agents-General, and made them more and more influential in the settlement of Imperial questions. (5.) It secures the representation of the Colonies at the heart of the Empire by the representatives of the actual Colonial Governments. The High Commissioner for Canada, for instance, or the Agent-General for Victoria, is not merely the representative of these great Colonies, but he is the responsible delegate of the existing administrations, which alone can speak in the name of Canada and Victoria. All our self-governing Colonies are connected by cable with London, and there is therefore no danger that the members of the Council for the Colonies would lose touch with their respective Governments, or fail to represent accurately the views of the political units which together make up Greater Britain. (6.) It would give the representatives of the Colonies a locus standi in their dealings with the Colonial Office which they at present lack. Agents-General occasionally combine to lay regular siege to the Colonial Office, but they have no footing inside. They have no right to demand official information as to what is going on—say in relation to the New Hebrides—and they have no more responsibility for the advice they may tender to the Colonial Secretary than if they were so many men in the street. (7.) By giving the representatives of each self-governing Colony an official and influential position among the confidential advisers of the Crown we should confer upon them a privilege far more important and much less exposed to abuse than if every Colony were to be directly represented by a dozen members in the House of Commons. (8.) The idea, as we have made it our duty to ascertain, would probably be warmly approved by the Colonies, and if it is not vigorously supported by the Agents-General it is because they naturally shrink from what might be misrepresented as a magnifying of their own office.

We might easily multiply the arguments in favour of Lord Grey's suggestion, but we content ourselves for the present with placing the proposal prominently before the public, in order to invite attention and to challenge discussion both at home and in the Colonies.

THE FIRST STEP TOWARDS FEDERATION: A SUGGESTION BY EARL GREY.

THE report of our representative's interview with Lord Grey which we published on Wednesday broke off somewhat abruptly with the declaration that he thought "it is unreasonable to expect that in their present advanced condition our more important Colonies should be expected to submit to the Imperial authority unless they have some real influence in deciding upon the measures to be adopted by it." The conversation did not stop at that point. Our representative having remarked that in that case some sort of federation was essential to the maintenance of the unity of the Empire, Lord Grey replied:—

"The difficulty of devising any mode of enabling the Colonies to exercise any real influence in the Imperial Government is very great, and I must confess myself quite unable to propose one which would be altogether satisfactory. But, in the absence of any better arrangement, I am still of opinion that a suggestion I threw out in an article I contributed to the Nineteenth Century of April, 1879, might be adopted with advantage. What I proposed was that we should revert to what was the practice up to the middle of the last century, of making large use of a Committee of the Privy Council in the management of Colonial affairs. The Board of Trade, under the name of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade and Plantations, took an effective part with the Secretary of State in Colonial administration. This practice has long fallen into disuse, and the amount of other business now assigned to the Board of Trade makes it undesirable that it should be revived; but I think advantage would be derived from giving the Colonial Secretary the assistance of another Committee appointed for that purpose, which might also be made the means of enabling the most important Colonies to exercise the influence they ought to have in directing the policy of the Government in all matters affecting the common interests of the whole Empire. With this view the Queen might be advised to appoint to be members of Her Privy Council such of the Agents of the principal Colonies as might receive from the Legislatures they represent sufficient salaries to enable them to reside in this country and perform the duties assigned to them. To a Committee composed of these colonists, with such other members of the Privy Council as Her Majesty might from time to time direct to be summoned to it, the Colonial Secretary might be empowered to refer such questions as he should think proper for their advice. The reports of this Committee would, of course, have no legal authority till confirmed by the Queen, on the advice of Her Ministers, whose responsibility for all the acts of the Government would thus remain unaltered. But the Colonial Agents representing the several Legislatures would exercise a powerful influence in guiding the policy of the Government. Questions arise which more immediately affect the Colonies but on which peace or war for the Empire may eventually turn—such as those relating to the maintenance of British rights of fishery. These would naturally be referred to such a Committee; and if a quarrel with some Foreign State should arise from the course taken by our Government, it would have far more hearty support from the Colonies if they had, through their representatives, been consulted on the steps that had led to it. There are very many other matters on which the wishes and opinions of the Colonies ought to have weight in deciding on the measures of the Government, and on all these the proposed Committee would enable them to make themselves heard. The Imperial Government would not rightly resist what might be found from the proceedings of the Committee to be the general wish of the Colonies; and, on the other hand, it would derive from it valuable support in resisting unreasonable wishes sometimes put forward by the Colonies. That unreasonable wishes and demands are sometimes urged by the Colonies is very clear. Nothing, for instance, can, I think, be more unreasonable than the demand which seems now to be made by the Australian Colonies that England should set up a claim to dominion over the whole Pacific, with a right to exclude all other nations from islands which neither she nor her Colonists are able to occupy and administer. If this demand were gravely put forward in the Colonial Committee which I have suggested, the Secretary of State would almost certainly find himself supported in opposing so preposterous a demand by representatives of all the Colonies not immediately concerned. At the same time the claim of the Cape colonists that no Foreign Power should be allowed to occupy Zululand would probably be supported by the whole Committee. In short, the English at home would be able to secure support for their opposition to manifestly unreasonable Colonial propositions among the reasonable Colonial representatives, but when the English beyond the sea were unanimous in opposing home policy, there would be a free presumption that we were in the wrong. Such at least (said Lord Grey) seems to me to be a reasonable and a practical suggestion, which only needs to be worked with prudence and common sense in order to arrest the tendencies working in favour of disintegration and to operate directly in favour of the restoration and the maintenance of the unity of the Empire.

The Agent-General to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

5, Westminster Chambers, Westminster, S. W., 5 June, 1885.

Referring to the Bill to constitute a Federal Council for Australasia, I have the honor to forward herewith, for your information, a printed copy of a letter on the subject addressed to the Secretary of State for the Colonies by the Agent-General for New Zealand, Sir F. D. Bell, dated 2nd instant.

I have, &amp;c.,

SAUL SAMUEL.

[Enclosure.]

The Agent-General for New Zealand to The Colonial Office.

Sir,

7, Westminster Chambers, 2 June, 1885.

Before the House of Commons takes up the Bill to constitute a Federal Council of Australasia, I beg permission to submit to the Earl of Derby, on the part of the New Zealand Government, a suggestion by which it may perhaps be possible to reconcile the difference that have arisen between the Colonies upon the 31st clause, providing for the retirement of a Colony from the federation.

It will be in Lord Derby's recollection that I submitted to him, some time ago, the opinion of my Government that, inasmuch as the scheme of a Federal Council could only be a success on condition of a real concert between the Colonies, it would be good policy to put off the Bill until they should be better agreed. His Lordship, however, felt that he could not postpone the measure consistently with his promise to the respective Governments; and I thereupon expressed the wish of New Zealand for the insertion of a clause providing that laws passed by the Federal Council should only have operation in a Colony if brought into force by the Legislature of that Colony. His Lordship having also declined to entertain that suggestion, I then pressed (at the interview with which he honored the Agents-General on the 30th March) for the retention of the 31st clause, because (among other reasons) if the Bill were to be passed at all, it was at any rate desirable to pass it in the shape that would be least likely to keep New Zealand and New South Wales out of the federation.

In the course of the communications that afterwards took place between the Australasian Governments upon the Bill, the Prime Minister of Queensland (Mr. Griffith) suggested that the wishes of New Zealand might be met by the insertion of a clause providing that any Colony adopting the Bill might enact, in its adopting Act or Ordinance, that Federal Council laws should be subject to the subsequent confirmation of that Colony's Legislature. My Government think the suggestion a good one, and have directed me to bring it under Lord Derby's favourable consideration.

It may, perhaps, be admitted that such a clause would be open to the same objection as was made against the 31st, namely, that it strikes directly at the principle of federation, and that to set up a Federal Council to make laws which are only to come into force when confirmed by a local Legislature is no better than to allow a Colony which had once joined the federation to retire from it. But I may be permitted to point out, in the first place, that this suggestion by Queensland not only showed an evident desire to make a concession for the sake of bringing New Zealand into the federation, but was also one which, if it brought in New Zealand, must obviously have a tendency to bring in New South Wales as well; while even if New South Wales stood out in the end, a federation of Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, Tasmania, and New Zealand must be a more important thing in the Pacific than one that only embraced four of the Australian Colonies. In the second place, supposing these four Colonies not to wish for such a power themselves, its exercise by another Colony could do them no possible harm, as they would pass their own adopting Acts without the reservation, and bring the federal laws into force at once within their limits.

Supposing Lord Derby to entertain the idea of such a clause, I venture to suggest a form which might probably make it least distasteful to any Colony. If the subjects be examined on which the Bill confers a legislative authority upon the Council, it will be seen that there are many where the Colonies are sure to agree, while the occasions of probable difference are not likely to be numerous. The legislative authority, indeed, is in itself not wide, being confined to certain specified subjects. It is improbable that there should be any serious differences over federal legislation on such questions as the prevention of an influx of French recidivists, the service of civil process, the enforcement of judgments and criminal process, or the extradition of offenders; while as regards general defences, bills of exchange, uniformity of weights and measures, mutual recognition of marriage and divorce, and other "matters of general Australasian interest," it is already settled that the Federal Council shall only legislate at the request of two or more Colonies, and such legislation will only extend to those Colonies, or any others afterwards adopting it. The principle of "subsequent adoption" is therefore already in the Bill; and it is conceivable that when the Council is really established, a Colony that might at first have been disposed to apply the reservation to all federal laws may think it quite sufficient to extend it only to a few. So far as New Zealand is concerned, for instance, while the reservation would almost certainly embrace a federal law affecting "the relations of Australasia with the islands of the Pacific," it might not be at all required for a law relating to the service of civil process.

I would accordingly suggest that the power be so expressed as to allow of a Colony either extending the reservation generally to all federal legislation, or making it only applicable to particular laws. A power so given would tend to heal the differences between the Colonies, and help to make the Federal Council more of a reality than it can be now; and as it would do all that the power to retire from the federation secured, and do it in a better way, New Zealand would then no longer urge the retention of clause 31.

It is this healing of the differences among ourselves that is really wanted. A federation of Australia with New South Wales left out will never work; and a Federal Council "of Australasia" is a misnomer without New Zealand. It is only make-believe to invoke the unanimity of 1883 to hide the dissensions of 1885. If the Convention were sitting to-day, it is not too much to say that the Imperial Government would not be asked to pass this Bill at all; nor is it an unfair conjecture, that if Lord Derby had been asked to bring it in by only four of the Colonies, Her Majesty's Government might have hesitated before empowering eight gentlemen to pass laws affecting, perhaps for years to come, the destiny of Australasia in the Pacific. If I am right in this, a suggestion tending to bring in all the Colonies may not be unwelcome, and the proposal just made by Queensland may commend itself to Lord Derby and to Parliament.

I have, &amp;c.,

F. D. BELL.

FEDERAL Council Bill distasteful to this Colony in present shape. If following amendments be made, there is more chance of this Colony coming in. I cannot guarantee its joining even then, but it is worth the chance, for without this Colony and New Zealand the whole thing will be a fiasco. In fifth clause, line thirteen, after word "each" insert "or such enlarged number but in same proportion as the Council may from time to time determine"; clause fifteen, sub-section i, line eight, after word "desirable" insert "by the Legislatures of all the Colonies"; clause sixteen, omit in line twenty "relating to those Colonies or their relations with one another" and insert "which such Legislatures are empowered to refer under clause fifteen"; clause nine, line fifteen, after word "interest" insert "which have been referred to it by the Legislatures of all the Colonies"; clause thirty-one must be retained—we prefer it to that suggested in Dillon Bell's letter, 2nd June; remember our Parliament alone can give its assent; my present object is to make a possible opening for that assent; see Secretary for Colonies at once; represent strongly these views, and that without them I do not think this Colony will join; explain that to-morrow official telegram will reach him to this effect through Governor.

READ my telegram with following alterations. Omit fourth word; substitute for "the whole thing will be a fiasco" the words—"it cannot be truly a Federal Council of Australasia." Omit from suggested amendment of fifth clause the words—"but in some proportion." Make proposed insertion in sub-section i govern the whole clause by substituting for the words—"two or more" in second line the words—"all the," which involves alteration of sixteenth clause, first line, by omitting "any two or more."

The Colonial Secretary to His Excellency the Governor.

My dear Lord Augustus,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 15 July, 1885.

Observing that the present Imperial Government intend to proceed with the Federal Council Bill, this Cabinet has had under its consideration whether it should take any, and what, steps with respect thereto. We have decided to inform the Agent-General that, in our opinion, the Bill in its present shape will not be adopted by this Colony; but that, if certain alterations are made, there might be a better chance of its becoming acceptable, although that question can only be decided by Parliament, which is not now in Session, and that without New South Wales and New Zealand it cannot be truly an Australasian Federal Council.

The details of those alterations appear in the accompanying copy of the telegram sent to the Agent-General last night. The effect of them is that the concurrence of the Legislatures of all the Colonies is necessary instead of two or more, as appears in the Bill, and that the 31st clause be retained as a safeguard for any Colony whose views may be overruled by the Council. See Nos. 27 & 28

I will be obliged if your Excellency will send a telegram to the Secretary of State, stating that your Government suggests certain alterations in the Bill, with the hope that it may make the way easier for obtaining this Colony's concurrence. The details have been sent to the Agent-General.

TELEGRAPHED to Samuel yesterday my opinion that Federal Council Bill will not be accepted by this Colony if thirty-first clause be left out, also if sub-section i of clause fifteen is governed by two Legislatures instead of all. I cannot say that this Colony will accept it even then, but I would be willing again to submit it to Parliament for consideration; but in present form and without clause thirty-one such submission would be useless, and without New South Wales and New Zealand the Council, whatever it would be, would not be truly Federal Council of Australasia. I have just received a telegram from Agent-General that consideration of Bill in Committee has been postponed until Monday.

Clause 29, line 15, after word "interest" insert "which have been referred to it by the Legislatures of all the Colonies." Clause 31 must be retained—we prefer it to that suggested in Dillon Bell's letter 2nd June. Remember our Parliament alone can give its assent; my present object is to make a possible opening for that assent. See Secretary for Colonies at once; represent strongly these views, and that without them I do not think this Colony will join. YESTERDAY morning I received telegram from Agent-General as follows:—"Sydney telegraphs Samuel urging postponing Bill, proposing large alteration, yet not consenting federate; suggest wiring protest against delay. Advised Commons cannot proceed Committee until Monday—MURRAY SMITH." I subsequently received yours. The 31st clause was not of course in the Bill agreed on at Convention, but the Colonies now acting in concert agreed long ago that though the majority were opposed to that clause they would not object to it as originally introduced, that is giving a withdrawing power if it would tend to secure the co-operation of New South Wales or New Zealand; the subsequent addition giving local Parliaments power to abrogate was unanimously rejected and was abandoned by Lord Derby. If, therefore, you are willing to submit the measure to your Parliament with the 31st clause in its original form, I think I would be justified in wiring to Agent-General to abandon the opposition to it. I cannot, however, understand your allusion to sub-section i, there is no such sub-section; I fancy you mean h, as you speak of two Legislatures; but then I cannot understand how that should be objected to, as under it no Colony can be coerced against its will, and I think this sub-section was highly approved by all of us at the Convention.

MURRAY Smith's information not quite correct, for I did not suggest any delay, but seeing that the Bill was to have been in Committee to-night and that the Government was said to be inclined to accede to the omission of the 31st clause, and believing that that omission would prevent this Colony joining, even if other objections were overcome, I deemed it right to let our Agent-General know my views, and instruct him to place them before the Minister in charge of the Bill. My reference to what I believed to be the latest edition of the Bill, in which there is a sub-section i to clause 15, sub-section h being a new one, giving the Queen power by order in Council to refer at request to Legislatures, thus making the original h into i. Strong objection has been made here to reference of important matters by two Colonies only; for although only the two Colonies would be bound thereby, yet the decision would have gone forth as the pronouncement of the Federal Council, and thus we would have one portion of the Colonies ruled by Council law while others were outside of it, and might find themselves almost forced to adopt it against their better judgment. I have sent you by post the full text of my telegram; the alteration in the fifth clause was suggested to enable the Council to recognize the strongly-expressed opinion that the body was too small, and enable it to rectify that objection. I think the 31st clause paradoxical, though it may appear to be a guarantee for continuance, inasmuch as it will tend to keep the Council from proceeding to legislation which may be repugnant to the strongly-expressed opinion of any particular Colony. In order that there may be no misunderstanding as to what the 31st clause is, to which my telegram referred, I quote it as follows, being taken from the most recent copy of the Bill received from Lord Derby:—"31. This Act shall cease to be in operation in respect to any Colony the Legislature of which shall have passed an Act or Ordinance declaring that the same shall cease to be in force therein; provided, nevertheless, that all Acts of the Council, passed while this Act was in operation in such Colony, shall continue to be in force therein, unless altered or repealed by the Council, or unless repealed as to such Colony by the Legislature thereof."

YOUR recent telegrams raise some points which there is absolutely no time to discuss without risk of losing Bill. If we had known your mind sooner, we might all have agreed on some important amendments; meantime, with a view to remove what appears to be your greatest obstacle, I shall, with the concurrence of the other Colonies, arrange to withdraw the opposition to clause 31 as originally introduced. First session Federal Council will probably be occupied by passing measures on which all Colonies are already agreed—such, for example, as affect absconding debtors, &c.; and when once Council is at work, desirable amendment in constitution can be easily made, and would pass Imperial Parliament without delay when we spoke unitedly. Let us make a start without being too critical; our common interests cannot be antagonistic.

ALTERATION suggested in sub-section i is almost more important as regards prospect of securing this Colony's co-operation than the thirty-first clause, which you say you are willing should remain as first introduced. Observe, however, that I refer to that clause as now in the Bill. I sent you a copy in former telegram, that there might be no misunderstanding. Why do you go back upon the former, which is very different in effect? I regret the late period of my amendments, but circumstances prevented their being sent forward earlier, and I did not wish my silence to appear to be consenting to the passing by the new Government of a Bill which I felt would not be accepted here, without making an effort to have some of its objectionable features removed.

I HOPE you will see your way to withdraw your opposition to sub-section i of clause 15. It may easily happen that many matters of common concern (say) to two neighbouring Colonies, or to all the continental Colonies, or to one Colony and another separated by sea, will arise, over which the limited territorial jurisdiction of the separate Colonies prevent them from effectually legislating, but as to which there could be no difference of opinion. If you remember, at the Convention this territorial limitation of authority was one of the main grounds for inserting the general provision of sub-section i. To insist on previous unanimity would certainly weaken the usefulness of the Council very much. As to section 31, this Colony has already expressed its willingness to withdraw opposition if it would have the effect of inducing New South Wales to join the Council.

THE feeling in this Colony very strong against Federal Council dealing with subjects other than those specified, except when referred by all the Colonies; for although their decision would only be law in the Colonies referred to, yet as it would go forth as Federal Council law, it would carry a prestige which sooner or later would override the opinion of non-consulting Colonies. The evils you conjure up would be slight in comparison with the non-acceptance of the Council by this Colony; and so strong is the feeling here that I would not ask Parliament's assent to the Bill as it now stands.

The Colonial Secretary of New South Wales to The Premier of Victoria.

My Dear Service,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 7 August, 1885.

I sent you a telegram yesterday saying that the Federal Bill as passed would prevent this Colony from joining. I deem it due to you to let you understand the grounds upon which I base this opinion, and I take this opportunity of assuring you that my endeavouring at the eleventh hour to get some alterations made in the Bill was not from any desire to prevent the Bill from passing, but solely with a desire to get it into a shape such as might disarm some of its adverse critics, and enable us with some prospect of success to bring the matter again before our Parliament. I am as anxious as you are to see some degree of federation amongst the Colonies, but I have always felt that to ensure a lasting federation it must be based on the widest possible popular sympathy and must embrace all the Colonies. There is no doubt, whatever, that the Bill as it stands does not, in this Colony at least, command that wide sympathy which is essential to success.

I think a great mistake was made by all the Colonies in not submitting the Bill as drawn by the Convention for discussion in their respective Parliaments. I am quite aware that the same course was pursued here in my absence; but it was always my intention, had I been able to submit the matter myself, to have put the resolutions in such a way as would have given Parliament an opportunity of discussing the Bill itself, and of embodying in the resolutions such amendments to the Bill as the House might deem desirable. In other words, I would have invited the House to give their assent to the Federal Council if such modifications could be introduced into the Bill.

I never understood that at the Convention we guaranteed that our respective Parliaments would accept the Bill as it stood, and when asked in the House on the 25th March, 1884, on a motion by Mr. Heydon, that the Bill be submitted to the Parliament of this Colony, I stated my entire concurrence with that motion, and explained that the Convention itself did not arrogate such superior wisdom in framing the Bill as to suppose that in its discussion by the seven Parliaments some suggestions might not be made of a most valuable character. The terms of the resolution in the Convention itself evidently implied that it was only to be used as the basis of a Bill which was to be prepared by the Imperial Government; and it did seem to me that any suggestions which might be made would come most naturally from the representatives of the various peoples whose consent was to be asked to the placing of power in the Federal Council. The Imperial Government have made certain alterations to suit their views, and why should they not have been asked to make alterations in accordance with the views of any individual Parliament?

This appears to me to have been a great mistake, and it has given rise—in this Colony, at least—to a degree of suspicion regarding the whole movement, which is much to be regretted.

As to the alterations which I suggested, I would like now to explain why I proposed them: In the 5th clause I proposed to give an elasticity to the numbers, because it is very strongly felt here that the Council is too small a body with which to entrust such important measures; and, secondly, that we made a mistake in not recognizing population to some extent as a basis of representation. As to subsection i, it is strongly felt here that the force of Federal Council law, based upon an application of two Colonies only, will be much weakened in comparison with what it would be if it were the result of application by all the Colonies.

It is quite true that the Convention limited the operation of such law to the Colonies who referred it, but still this does not remove the weakness to which I have referred, and it is felt that it would be better to delay a question until public opinion in each Colony was ripe for referring it to the Council, rather than perpetuate a system of partial legislation which cannot be truly said to be "Federal." With regard to clause 31, the proviso now struck out might well have been retained without in any way destroying the efficiency of the Federal Council. The whole measure is but a tentative one, and had it been left open when a Colony retired to abrogate the law which was passed while it was in the Council, it would, I think, have given greater confidence to every Colony, and have had a restraining influence upon the Council when pressing any legislation which was known to be distasteful to any particular Colony, for to be really a success the Council must acquire the entire confidence of the whole group of Colonies in its sphere of action. I have taken this opportunity of giving you these, my views, because I feel a very strong desire to see all the Colonies united upon some satisfactory basis; and although these views are only the views of myself as an individual, yet I think they embody to a considerable extent the views of most men in this Colony who have carefully thought the matter out, and they may serve, when your Council meets, to indicate the lines upon which you will have to ask for an amendment of your constitution, if you have a desire, as I believe you have, to induce this Colony to join with you.

Apologising for the length to which I have trespassed on your time,

I remain, &amp;c.,

ALEX. STUART.

No. 55.

The Premier of Victoria to The Colonial Secretary of New South Wales.

My Dear Stuart,

Premier's Office, Melbourne, August 11, 1885.

Yours of 7th received on Saturday (the 8th).

I have for a good while past been sorely perplexed to understand your real feelings towards the scheme of Federation so auspiciously initiated in November, 1883, under your presidency. Dalley's action in your Legislative Council, and your letter to me enclosing notes of the speech you intended to make in your Assembly if you had been able to be present when the subject was discussed, showed clearly enough that up to that point you were with us heart and soul. But since then what a change!

Not

Not only have you never spoken a word of sympathy with the rest of us who were struggling to carry to a successful issue the movement which was begun in your company, but you have gradually drifted into a position of antagonism to those of us who, owing to the defection of New South Wales, were left to bear the burden and heat of the day. In place of sending us an occasional note of encouragement, or speaking a seasonable word of sympathy, or aiding us with your counsel, or kindly telling us that on some points of the Bill you had altered your mind, and mentioning them for our consideration, we never heard either from or of you excepting via London, when our Agents-General advised us that you were taking certain steps which in our opinion could only operate to delay and defeat the Bill. And when the other day, at the eleventh hour (as you happily phrase it), you proposed certain alterations, how was it done? By sending us a copy of a telegram you had sent to Samuel with instructions to oppose the Bill unless these alterations were conceded! And the first news we got of that message to Samuel was not from Sydney but from London. Now, that was hardly a reasonable course for you to take. Would it not have been more reasonable and friendly if you had first communicated your views and wishes to the other Colonies, to see if they would fall in with your proposed alterations? Surely there can be no difference of opinion on this point. Instead of this, however, New South Wales transmits her ultimatum to Westminster, and says if these alterations are not granted she washes her hands of the whole affair! And the amendments you did propose, why was the discussion of them left till the eleventh hour or rather to the stroke of midnight? If they were of vital importance it was all the more necessary that they should have been fully considered. You are well aware that the other Colonies were anxious to meet New South Wales in every way, and would have gone a long way round to have kept her in company, so that any suggestion made by you would have received instant consideration.

And now a word or two as to the nature of your objections to the Bill as it stands: Your two principal points are: First the expunging of the abrogating power, and second the power conferred on two or more Colonies to remit a matter to the Federal Council. As respects the first: How, for example, would the abrogating power work under your own proposed system of coastal defence, or indeed, under any joint defence arrangements whatever. The Federal Council, say, passes an Act to carry out your scheme, with which Act all the Colonies entirely concur. It means not only joint contributions but a joint management. On the faith of this Act we all commit ourselves to the Imperial Government, but in a year or two some one Colony withdraws from the union and abrogates this Act so far as she is concerned. Where would the rest of us be? As respects your second objection, I confess I cannot even imagine any evil result flowing from the power of two or more Colonies to remit. What you say may be perfectly true, but is it a sufficient reason for declining to work the Bill? As you very properly say, the Bill is a tentative measure, and will probably require amending at an early date. But the important matter is to make a beginning, and having done that, we have constructed the machinery for making improvements.

By the way, about the fifth clause: I observe you have got your own way there. The power to increase the numbers is retained; and I am not sorry, for with you, I think the present number too small, especially if all the Colonies do not come in. But that is easily mended.

I cannot agree with you at all about the desirability of each Parliament making amendments, if it thought fit, in the Bill as originally drafted. How would that have worked? Suppose the seven Colonies had made but one amendment each, all different but all important, and some possibly conflicting. Should we then have required another Convention to consider these, and agree about them? And if, as would have been certain—the new Convention would have amended them—agreed with some, perhaps, and disagreed with others, were their amendments again to be submitted to the respective local Parliaments and so on, ad infinitum? Or were the amendments of each colony to be sent direct home to the Secretary of State, to let him pick and choose which he would insert and which reject, without any of the Colonies having a word to say about any of these amendments, except its own?

That course was simply impracticable, and the more I reflect on the whole subject the more strongly I am impressed with the wisdom of the course we adopted, and with the perspicacity manifested by the Committee which drafted the model Bill.

In thinking over this matter you must not forget that not only did the Bill—substantially the same as now passed by the Imperial Parliament—meet your own approval and that of your colleagues at the Convention, but it received the endorsement of your own Legislative Council, which sent an address to the Queen, asking her to graciously give her assent to it.

It seems odd, does it not, that the Attorney-General of the Stuart Administration should have been that mover of the Bill in the Council, and of that Address to the Queen, only a few short months ago, and now the Prime Minister of that Administration does not see his way to make even a commencement under the Bill! How is it that New South Wales differs from all the other Australian Colonies on this question? Does she run any greater risk than the rest of us, of being injured by this Federal Union? What risk does any of us run? Our local autonomy is not interfered with in the least; and if we should differ in the Federal Council as to whether, for example, a warrant issued in one Colony for the apprehension of an absconding debtor should be endorsed in another by a Police Magistrate or by a County Court Judge, what harm can arise to anybody?

In conclusion, as my letter is getting too long, I can see no earthly reason for New South Wales not taking her seat with the other Colonies at the first meeting of the Federal Council, which I hope will take place at the beginning of next year. I never concealed from myself nor from you that the union would be defective without her, and in saying that I am still ready to do anything reasonable to secure her co-operation. I know I am expressing the sentiments of the other Colonies as well as those of Victoria.

Yours truly,
JAMES SERVICE.

Telegram from Premier of Victoria to Colonial Secretary of New South Wales.

Melbourne, 12 August, 1885.

I REGRET your present feelings about the Federal Council Bill, but I still hope that on further consideration you will find that there are no substantial reasons why New South Wales should stand aloof from the other Colonies.

No. 57.

The Colonial Secretary of New South Wales to The Premier of Victoria.

My dear Service,

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 17 August, 1885.

I am sorry to hear of your ill-health, with which I can thoroughly sympathise, as I have been suffering for the past few days from influenza, and am hardly able to hold up my head.

I am desirous, however, that your letter of 11th instant should not longer remain unreplyed to.

You think it strange that we postponed until so late a period our objections to the Bill. The fact is that we had never fully realised that the matter would have been pushed on in the way that it has been; and my own long absence, and the multifarious duties which were awaiting my return, prevented me from giving it my earlier attention. This appeared to me to be of the less consequence when I realised the fact that New Zealand had still to be reconciled to the Bill, and I certainly may be excused from believing that without these two Colonies (New South Wales and New Zealand) the forcing of the Bill would be proceeded with. When the change of Government at home took place, I considered that it was virtually shelved for this season, and I was in hope that I would therefore be able to bring the matter again before our Parliament with the view of ascertaining how far we could raise a platform upon which we could cordially join with you; but when I saw by a telegram one day (a Tuesday, I think), that your Agent-General had interviewed the new Secretary of State, and urged him to bring the matter on immediately, and that he had assented to bring it forward on the following Thursday, and to omit the power to withdraw clause, I saw that there was no further time to be lost, and that to have communicated first with you and the other Premiers would have been useless. I therefore telegraphed direct to our Agent-General that unless certain alterations were made I felt it would be impossible for this Colony to join. I instructed a telegram to be sent to you on the following morning—it was midnight when I telegraphed to Samuel—but by some misadventure it was not sent until the following day, and did not reach you until after your telegram from London, although its doing so within a few minutes of the other must have shown you that there was no intention whatever to conceal from you what I had done.

The whole question, however, resolves itself into this:—Which was the better plan, to get a Bill (no matter whether generally acceptable or not) passed quickly, or to have been content that it move more slowly and carry with it the general assent of the people of all the Colonies? It was not Mr. Stuart nor Mr. Dalley whom you had to carry with you, but the body of the people who might have been influenced by the arguments brought forward by these gentlemen. It is true, as you state, that our Legislative Council, under the influence of Mr. Dalley, addressed the Queen in favour of it; but it is equally true that our Legislative Assembly, led by Mr. Dibbs in my absence, declined to take it into consideration at that time, and this, I think, was as direct an intimation as could be given that they declined to accept the measure as it then stood, although they were not prepared to go the length of altogether negating it; or, at all events, that they did not think that sufficient thought had been given to it. I never myself doubted, and I think I so told you when I had the pleasure of seeing you as I passed through Melbourne, that with some modifications they could be induced to accept it; and I certainly intended to give them the opportunity of considering it again, and of suggesting what those modifications should be. The best way of getting Sydney's assent would have been by delaying action until then, and not by forcing it on without their assent. The haste with which the Bill has been rushed through the Imperial Parliament makes that now, I fear, impracticable, or, at all events, greatly increases the difficulty.

I regret that you do not agree with me that it would have been desirable to have elicited the views of all the Parliaments upon the draft Bill itself. It possibly would have necessitated another meeting of the Convention; but it certainly would not have necessitated the constant reference backwards and forwards which seems to have troubled you. You have, I think, overlooked the fact that we (the Convention) were a self-constituted body, and not the creation of the Parliaments; but if the Parliaments had referred the matter back to us to consider various amendments, which they or some of them had suggested, we would then have been able to act with an authority which we did not possess before; and even though all the amendments had not been adopted, the various Parliaments would have felt that they had had an opportunity of expressing their views, which they certainly have not now had.

The case you mention with regard to the consideration of the naval defences, as illustrative of the danger of allowing the abrogating clause to remain, seems to me a singularly inconclusive one, unless you intend to work the Federal Council Bill in a way which I certainly never understood.

The Federal Council, as I understand it, is to have no power of taxation, but is to depend upon the respective Colonies, by their own laws, carrying out the Acts of the Federal Council. In the case you take as an example the Federal Council would have given its approval to a certain plan of outside naval defence; this plan being considered by the various Colonial Legislatures, would have received its vitality by their passing Acts which would have recognized a contract with the Imperial Government, which would still remain in force even if the Colony withdrew from the Federal Council, and, therefore, the evil which you fear could not possibly occur; but as you have taken one supposed instance to show what you fancy would be the evil of retaining the abrogating clause, allow me to take another to show the necessity of having it. Suppose two Colonies or more were to refer the matter as to whether the principle of protection or free-trade were best for the interests of the Australian Colonies generally, and suppose the Federal Council were to record its determination that it was essential for the well-being of the Australian Colonies that a protective policy should be generally adopted, and suppose that New South Wales were to continue to hold its strong views in favour of free-trade, it appears to me that its representatives would be obliged to separate themselves from their brethren, and to recommend to their own Parliament to withdraw entirely from the Federal Council. Would it not then be most unjust that this Colony should be compelled to keep on its records that such was the desirable policy for the Australian Colonies generally, the very policy which compelled its withdrawal; and what possible good could such do even to the others who might choose to remain and adopt the policy?

But enough of this! The more I think of it the more I am convinced that the Federal Council to be a real benefit to the community must carry with it a more hearty assent of the people than the present Bill does in this Colony; or else that it be surrounded by such safeguards as I intimated in my telegrams to Sir Saul Samuel.

I remain, &amp;c.,

ALEX. STUART.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

HARBOUR DUES, MAURITIUS.
(PAPERS RESPECTING.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Treasury, New South Wales,
5th May, 1885.

THE following letter from the Colonial Secretary of Mauritius, covering copy of an Ordinance lately passed to reduce the Harbour dues and to amend and consolidate the laws relative thereto, and of a Proclamation reducing the Light dues leviable for defraying the expenses of maintaining Light-houses and Lights on the coast of Mauritius, ie, with such enclosures, hereby published for general information.

GEORGE R. DIBBS.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Mauritius, 1st April, 1885.

Sir,

I am directed by His Excellency the Governor of Mauritius to transmit to you, for the information of your Government, copies of an Ordinance lately passed to reduce the harbour dues and to amend and consolidate the laws relative thereto.

I am also to transmit to you copies of a Proclamation issued by the Governor reducing the light dues leviable for defraying the expenses of maintaining light-houses and lights on the coast of Mauritius.

By these enactments some of the charges previously levied on vessels entering the harbour of Port Louis have been reduced, others have been totally abolished, the reductions on the whole amounting to at least 50 per cent. of the charges hitherto levied.

I have, &c.,
CHAS. BRUCE,
Colonial Secretary.

the Chief Secretary to the Government of New South Wales.

- c. Immigrant vessels landing Coolies or surplus stores from Bell-buoy.
- d. Vessels touching at Port Louis without entering the harbour, on their way to some other port.

Abolition of charges on port clearances.

3. The charges hitherto levied on port clearances are hereby abolished.

Vessels abandoned.

4. All vessels abandoned in the harbour and sold, shall either be broken up or fitted for sea within six months from the date of sale, subject to a charge of Rs. 10 per diem for every day that every such vessel shall remain not broken up or not fitted for sea after the lapse of six months.

Abandoned vessels to have keepers and proper moorings.

5. The owners of vessels abandoned in the harbour shall be bound to have a keeper and two men on board of each such vessel, and to moor it securely with four bower anchors—two ahead and two astern—in such situation as shall be pointed out by the Harbour-Master. Any such owner failing to comply with the provisions of this Article shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 500.

Tonnage, how determined in certain cases.

6. For the purpose of levying the dues imposed by this Ordinance, the tonnage of a vessel shall be deemed to be the tonnage denoted in the certificate of registry or other national papers of the vessel, whenever such vessel shall be of British nationality, or of any foreign country touching which a Royal Order in Council made by virtue of the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1882, shall have directed that the vessels of such foreign country shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in their certificates of registry or other national papers.

Tonnage, how determined in other cases.

7. In regard to vessels not within the scope of the provisions of the last preceding Article, the tonnage shall, for the levying of the dues imposed by this Ordinance, be ascertained by measurement, as directed by Article 1 of Ordinance 18 of 1871 and all the provisions of the said Article shall apply to such vessels.

Governor may remit or reduce Harbour Dues.

8. The Governor in Executive Council shall have power to remit or to reduce the harbour dues chargeable on any vessel under this Ordinance.

To whom dues shall be paid.

9. The dues leviable under this Ordinance shall be levied by and paid to the Collector of Customs.

Repealing clause.

10. The following laws are hereby repealed :—

1. Ord. 6 of 1852.
2. Ord. 32 of 1852.
3. Ord. 38 of 1875.
4. Sections a to g inclusive of Schedule C appended to Ordinance 19 of 1877.
5. Ord. 45 of 1882.
6. Ord. 18 of 1883.

Short title.

11. This Ordinance shall be styled "The Harbour Dues Reduction Ordinance, 1884-85."

Commencement of Ordinance.

12. This Ordinance shall come into effect from the day of its publication.

Passed in Council at Port Louis, Island of Mauritius, this third day of February, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

G. LUMGAIR,

Secretary to the Council of Government.

Published by order of His Excellency the Governor.

CHAS. BRUCE,

PROCLAMATION No. 6.

In the name of Her Majesty Victoria, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India, &c., &c., &c.

J. POPE HENNESSY.—By His Excellency Sir JOHN POPE HENNESSY, K.C.M.G., Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Colony of Mauritius and its Dependencies, &c., &c., &c.

WHEREAS it is provided by Ordinance 22 of 1885, intituled an Ordinance "For providing ways and means for defraying the expenses of maintaining light-houses and lights on the coast of Mauritius," that the Governor may, with the advice of the Executive Council, reduce the light dues leviable on vessels entering the harbour or discharging or shipping cargo or immigrants in the roadstead of Port Louis: And whereas it is expedient to reduce the rate of R.0.09 now leviable as light dues on such vessels: Now, therefore, in virtue of the powers in me vested as aforesaid, and with the advice of the Executive Council, I do order and proclaim that from and after the date of this Proclamation the rate of R.0.09 per ton now leviable for light dues on such vessels as aforesaid shall be and is hereby reduced to R.0.05 per ton.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

Given at Government House, Mauritius, this 14th day of February, 1885.

By Command of His Excellency the Governor.

The Treasury, New South Wales,
7th May, 1885.

His Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Circular Despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, transmitting a copy of an Order of the Queen in Council, dated 27th January last, exempting from re-measurement, at any port or place in Her Majesty's dominions, Japanese vessels, the tonnage of which is denoted in the certificates of Japanese Registry, or other national papers issued after 1st July, 1884.

GEORGE R. DIBBS.

(Circular.)

Downing-street,
18th February, 1885.

Sir,

I have the honor to transmit to you, for information and publication in the Colony under your Government, a copy of an Order of the Queen in Council, dated the 27th January last, exempting from re-measurement, at any port or place in Her Majesty's Dominions, Japanese Vessels, the tonnage of which is denoted in the Certificates of Japanese Registry or other national papers issued after the 1st of July, 1884.

I have, &c.,
DERBY.

The Officer Administering
the Government of New South Wales.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 27th day of January, 1885.

Present :

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by the "Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862," it is enacted that "whenever it is made to appear to Her Majesty that the rules concerning the measurement of tonnage of merchant ships for the time being in force under the principal Act have been adopted by the Government of any foreign country and are in force in that country, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by Order in Council, to direct that the ships of such foreign country shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in their certificates of registry or other national papers, and thereupon it shall no longer be necessary for such ships to be remeasured in any port or place in Her Majesty's Dominions, but such ships shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in their certificates of registry or other papers in the same manner, to the same extent, and for the same purposes in, to, and for which the tonnage denoted in the certificates of registry of British ships is deemed to be the tonnage of such ships":

And whereas it has been made to appear to Her Majesty that the rules concerning the measurement of tonnage of merchant ships now in force under "The Merchant Shipping Act, 1854," have been adopted by the Government of His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Japan and are in force in the Japanese dominions:

Her Majesty is hereby pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to direct that the ships of Japan, the certificates of Japanese registry or other national papers of which are dated on or after the 1st day of July, 1884, shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in the said certificates of registry or other national papers.

PUBLIC WATERING-PLACES ACT OF 1884.
(REGULATIONS UNDER.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 48 Vic. No. 16, sec. 14.

Department of Mines, Stock Branch,
Sydney, 28th April, 1885.

PUBLIC WATERING-PLACES ACT OF 1884.

THE following Regulations made by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, for the purpose of carrying out the above Act and of regulating the management, maintenance, and control of Watering-places, are hereby published for general information.

JOSEPH P. ABBOTT.

GENERAL.

1. All water within the area of any Public Watering-place shall be held to belong to such Watering-place; and any person using such water shall pay on demand to the lessee or caretaker of such Watering-place, the authorized charges.

2. Inspectors and Overseers of Public Watering-places and other persons appointed under the abovenamed Act, or any person acting under the authority of the Minister for Mines, shall have free ingress and egress to and from any Public Watering-place, and access to any appliance or appurtenance thereon, and to the books and papers relating thereto, and may also when necessary examine and test the machinery and appliances at such Watering-places, and with that view the lessee or caretaker in charge thereof shall, when called upon, supply, as the case may be, the necessary steam, horse, or manual power, and provide such tools and implements as may be required to make such test or examination.

RULES OF WATERING.

3. No stock, except travelling stock in charge of a drover supplied with a travelling statement or permit (as required by the Act 41 Vic. No. 19, or by any Act amending or repealing the same), or teams and horses used by travellers, or stock which an Inspector may specially authorize, shall be supplied with water by the lessee or caretaker; but the lessee may water not more than thirty head of his own stock.

4. Drivers, to ensure prompt supply, must, if possible, give six hours notice to the lessee or caretaker of their intention to water at a Watering-place; and any person requiring water shall, on the request of the lessee or caretaker, render every assistance to enable him to supply water safely and promptly.

5. In order that the water shall be kept free from pollution no stock shall be allowed to camp or linger in the neighbourhood of the Watering-place so that their droppings may be carried into the water. And the carcasses of all stock dying in the neighbourhood of the Watering-place shall be removed and burnt by the drover.

6. Lessees and caretakers shall make all arrangements necessary for the safety and convenience of stock watering, and shall replenish and keep the supply tank full.

7. All travelling stock shall be fully and promptly supplied with water in the order of their arrival at the Watering-place upon prepayment of the authorized rates. Working horses and working cattle shall be served before travelling stock.

WATERING CHARGES.

8. All persons in the Public Service and members of the police force shall be allowed water for their horses free of charge, upon the lessee or caretaker being satisfied of the position or occupation of such persons.

9. The charges for water which the lessee or caretaker may collect, shall be as follows:—

	s.	d.
Horses per head .....	0	2
Cattle „ .....	0	1
Sheep per hundred or portion of hundred .....	1	0

Any other animals according to agreement between the lessee or caretaker and the owner of such animals.

10. Horses belonging to mail contractors running over the road near which the Watering-place is situated shall be charged one-third of the above rates.

11. Horses belonging to any coach proprietor used in coaches running regularly over such road, other than those of the mail contractor, will be held to be teamsters' horses, and shall be entitled to water at the authorized rates at all Public Watering-places near such road.

12. A copy of the scale of charges, with the name of the Watering-place and of the lessee or caretaker attached, shall be placed in a position and maintained where it can be seen by all persons coming to the Watering-place.

SALES OF LEASE BY AUCTION.

13. Where it is desired to offer the lease of a Public Watering-place for sale by public auction, such sale shall be held at such time and place and by such person as may be appointed by the Minister.

14. A sealed envelope containing the upset price reserved by the Minister for the lease of the Watering-place to be offered shall be forwarded to the person who shall act as auctioneer previous to the sale of such Watering-place; and such envelope shall only be opened upon the lease of such Watering-place having been knocked down by the auctioneer to the person making the highest bid.

15. If such person's bid be found to be equal to or exceed the upset price, and if he shall have deposited the sum of £5 with the auctioneer, and signed the prescribed form, he shall be declared the purchaser, and shall, subject to the stipulations and conditions set forth in these Regulations and to the conditions of sale, be held and deemed to be the lessee of the Public Watering-place for which his bid shall have been made.

16. Should any dispute arise between the bidders, or between the bidders and the seller, previous to the name of the highest bidder being declared as aforesaid, the lease shall be then and there put up again by auction.

17. The purchaser and his sureties shall be present at such auction, or if unable to be present, shall have a person duly authorized in that behalf to represent him and them thereat, whose signature shall be binding on the purchaser and his sureties.

18. Should the lease of any Public Watering-place not be disposed of by auction, it may be disposed of by tender or otherwise, as the Minister shall direct.

TENDERS FOR WATERING-PLACES.

19. A separate tender shall be made for the lease of each Public Watering-place, and shall be sealed and endorsed "Tender for Public Watering-place."

20. Every such tender shall be placed by the tenderer or his agent in a box kept for that purpose at the office of the Minister; and any tender transmitted by post shall be forthwith placed in such box unopened.

21. Every tender shall be accompanied, under the same envelope, by a Bank draft for £5, or by a receipt showing that that sum has been deposited in the Colonial Treasury; and in the event of the ultimate acceptance of the tender the tenderer shall receive credit for the amount of such payment or deposit in the rent; and in the event of the tender being rejected the amount shall be returned to the tenderer.

22. The Tender Board appointed for that purpose shall open the tender box at noon on the first Tuesday after the date fixed for tenders to be sent in, and all tenders found in the box shall be recorded by the Board.

23. Neither the highest nor any tender shall necessarily be accepted, and fresh tenders may at any time be called for, as the Minister shall direct.

24. Upon the tender for a lease of a Public Watering-place being accepted the acceptance shall be notified in the Gazette, and the tenderer shall thereupon be held to be the lessee of such Watering-place, but subject to all the conditions and stipulations contained in these Regulations.

CONDITIONS OF LEASE.

25. The lease of a Public Watering-place shall confer upon the lessee the right to collect and retain for his own use the charges authorized for the watering of stock at such Watering-place, and the right of depasturing his own and any other stock on the grazing land let to him under such lease.

26. No lease shall confer any right to purchase in virtue of improvements or otherwise any land comprised within the lease.

27. The lessee and two sureties resident in the Colony, approved by the Minister, shall, within thirty days of the date of the purchase by him at auction of the lease of any Public Watering-place, or, as the case may be, within thirty days of the date of notice in the Gazette of the acceptance of his tender for a Watering-place, execute a lease and enter into a bond, in a sum equal to two years rent of such Watering-place, to secure the due payment of the rent, and for the due fulfilment by him of all the stipulations and conditions of these Regulations and of the provisions of the abovenamed Act.

28. The rent of such Watering-place shall be paid to the Colonial Treasurer, at Sydney, in equal quarterly instalments in advance, and if not paid within ten days after the same falls due each instalment shall bear interest, at the rate of eight pounds per centum per annum, from the day of default until paid; and if the rent be not paid when due, the Minister may direct an officer to take possession of such Watering-place and collect the charges payable thereat, without prejudice to any right to cancel the lease, or to enforce any claim against the lessee hereunder.

29. The lessee shall, not later than fourteen days from the date of his being declared the purchaser of a Public Watering-place, or of the date of the notification in the Gazette of the acceptance of his tender, give a warrant of attorney to enter up judgment as a collateral security for the due payment of the several quarterly instalments of rent within the period hereinbefore specified, as well as of all sums which may become due and payable by him under the abovenamed Act or these Regulations or under any lease or bond granted thereunder.

30. The lessee, on the execution and delivery to the proper Officer, of the lease and bond, and on payment of the first quarter's rent in advance, will receive due notice to attend at the Watering-place for which his offer has been accepted; and if, after receiving such notice, he fail to attend and take delivery as requested, a caretaker shall be engaged for the Watering-place at his risk and expense, and his deposit shall be forfeited.

31. If the lessee of a Public Watering-place fail for more than thirty days after the date of his purchase, or of the notice of the acceptance of his tender, to attend and take delivery of such Watering-place, the Minister may cancel the lease, and cause the same to be put up for lease by auction or let by tender, and the lessee and his sureties shall be liable for all loss or damage which may be incurred, and all costs, charges, and expenses entailed thereby; and the amount of such loss, damages, costs, charges, and expenses, may be recovered from the lessee and his sureties, as provided by the Act or the Regulations.

32. If the lessee attend according to notice a statement of the works, appliances, and appurtenances at the Watering-place, and of the state and condition thereof at the time they are handed over to him, shall be prepared in duplicate, and shall be signed by the lessee and the officer delivering the works over to him, as an acknowledgment of the condition, and state thereof, and one copy of such statement shall be retained by the lessee, and the other by such officer.

33. At the termination of the lease the lessee shall surrender to the overseer, or such other person as the Minister shall authorize in that behalf, the works, appliances, and appurtenances leased to him, in the same good order and condition, reasonable tear and wear excepted, in which they were received by such lessee; and if the works, appliances, or appurtenances so surrendered be then such as to require repairs or alterations, the lessee shall pay to the Colonial Treasurer, the cost of such repairs or alterations.

34. The lease shall be liable to forfeiture upon the breach or failure of any of its conditions, and the fact of such breach or failure shall be determined by the Minister.

35. The lease of any Public Watering-place shall also be liable to forfeiture upon the rent being in arrear or if the lessee shall become insolvent, or if he shall assign his estate for the benefit of his creditors; or upon his conviction of illicit traffic in liquor, or of keeping a disorderly house, or of harbouring improper characters, or other offences against the Vagrant Act,—the lessee and his sureties being liable for any loss arising from the re-letting of such Watering-place.

36. No sub-letting nor transfer of lease of a Public Watering-place shall be permitted without the sanction of the Minister.

37. Should the lessee desire to renew his lease, he shall give the Minister three (3) months' notice of such desire.

38. The lessee of a Public Watering-place shall, during the term, keep the works, buildings, fences, gates, gauges, drains, inlets, valves, pipes, embankments, approaches, and all machinery, appliances, and appurtenances thereto belonging, in good order, repair, and condition.

39. Upon receipt of notice in that behalf from the proper officer, the lessee shall forthwith make the necessary repairs; and if he fail to do so within fourteen days after the receipt of such notice, they may be made by order of that officer, or of any officer appointed by the Minister in that behalf at the lessee's expense; and the payment of the cost of such repairs by the lessee or his sureties shall be enforced, as provided by these Regulations.

40. Every precaution shall be taken by the lessee during floods to prevent injury or damage to the Watering-place, appliances, or appurtenances, and he shall be liable for all loss and injury caused by negligence in any such case.

41. No remission of rent will be allowed on account of damage by flood or otherwise.

42. The lessee shall be accountable for the proper conduct and be responsible for the acts of his employees, one of whom shall always be in attendance at the Watering-place.

43. A book, which will be supplied for the purpose, shall be kept by the lessee containing an exact statement of all stock watered, and such book shall be open at all times for the inspection of the Inspector and Overseers of Public Watering-places or any other officer authorised by the Minister.

44. The lessee shall forward to the Inspector of Public Watering-places, Sydney, and to the overseer for his district, at the end of each month, upon forms which will be supplied, a return giving the number of each description of stock watered during the month, and a statement of the depth of water at the end of each week during the month, as shown by the gauge in a tank or dam, or by sounding in a well, and state whether or not the works are in efficient repair.

45. The Minister may dismiss any agent or caretaker, appointed by the lessee, whom he considers unfit for the charge of the works.

46. The lessees of Public Watering-places will be furnished with copies of the Watering-places Act and Regulations and the conditions thereunder which they shall produce when asked for by any person requiring water.

47. Should the Minister decide to repair or alter any tank, dam, or well, or any appliance or appurtenance thereof the lessee shall, on receiving eight days' notice, allow and permit such repairs or alterations to be promptly and fully carried out.

48. If the Minister considers such a course necessary he may, on giving the lessee three months' notice, cancel any lease granted hereunder, and the lessee shall have no claim for compensation on account of such cancellation.

WATER TRUSTS.

49. Where a Public Watering-places is situated within the municipal or population boundaries of any town or village and the Minister shall decide to place such Watering-place in the control of Trustees it shall be so placed subject to these Regulations so far as the same are applicable under the following rules and conditions, namely:—

1. The number of Trustees shall be either three or five as the Minister shall decide.
2. The Trustees may engage and discharge a caretaker who will be under their immediate control and direction, and his remuneration will be fixed by the Minister.
3. The Trustees shall see that the works, appliances, and appurtenances are kept in a thoroughly efficient state, and they will, as the necessity arises, make requisition to the Minister for repairs, alterations, or additions.
4. In urgent cases the Trustees will also send copies of their requisitions to the Superintendent of Roads for the District.

5. Persons residing within certain limits, to be fixed in each case by the Minister, will be entitled to obtain water from any such Public Watering Place for domestic purposes, free of charge, and for stock at the following rates, namely:—

	s.	d.
Horses, per head.....	0	0½
Cattle, „ .....	0	0½
Sheep, per hundred, or portion of a hundred .....	0	4
Goats, per score .....	0	1

6. All travellers, teamsters, and drovers entitled to obtain water at a Public Watering-place shall, on payment of the fees prescribed by Regulation No. 9, be equally entitled at Public Watering Places under Trustees.

7. All watering charges collected at Watering-places under the control of Trustees shall be paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

FORFEITURES AND PENALTIES.

50. No person shall, except at the request of the lessee, caretaker, or proper officer, interfere with the machinery or appliances of a Public Watering-place, and no drover or person in charge shall allow his stock to water except where directed by the lessee or caretaker.

51. The lessee shall not, under pain of forfeiture of his lease, allow stock to be admitted to the main or conserving tank.

52. If any person other than a lessee, caretaker, or trustee shall violate or neglect any of the foregoing Regulations for which a penalty is not provided for by the Act, such person shall, on conviction for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding £2.

(SECOND SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

BOMBALA STEAM CARRYING COMPANY.

(PETITION IN FAVOUR OF BILL TO REGULATE—RESIDENTS OF BOMBALA DISTRICT.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 23 September, 1885.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales,—

1. We, the undersigned, residents of the Bombala district, beg most respectfully to call the attention of your most Honorable House to the following:—

2. A certain Company, styled the Bombala Steam Carrying Company, have within the last six months commenced running a steam traction engine from Bombala to the seaport, via the Tantiwangilo Mountain road.

3. The said road down the mountain consists of a series of narrow cuttings and sharp curves—a high bank on one side and preeipitous sidings of several hundred feet on the other.

4. The lives of the travellers on this road, either on horseback or buggies or vehicles of any description, are most seriously endangered by the running of this steam-motor on the said road.

5. That the said motor occupics and blocks up and obstructs the whole of the centre of the said road down the mountain, and several narrow escapes from most serious accidents have already occurred from horses taking fright and endeavouring to bolt down the sidings when suddenly coming in sight of the said motor, and, in fact, in most cases refuse to pass it altogether.

6. Your Petitioners humbly pray for an abatement of this nuisance, and that a short Bill be passed through the Assembly restraining and regulating the running of steam traction engines or motors on these narrow and dangerous roads to the injury of the public.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

(SECOND SESSION.)

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PATENT LAWS.

(PETITION FOR AMENDMENT OF—ENGINEERING ASSOCIATION OF NEW SOUTH WALES.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 23 September, 1885.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament.

The humble Petition of the undersigned, the President, Members of Council, and Members of the Engineering Association of New South Wales, a Society incorporated by Act of Parliament (19 August, 1884),—

SHOWETH:—

That your Petitioners are aware that the present system of granting Letters of Registration (Patents) for inventions in New South Wales entails great hardships upon inventors and others interested in developing new ideas.

That, in New South Wales, an inventor has no means of protecting his ideas, the result perhaps of many years of patient toil and thought and of great expense; and while he seeks monetary or practical aid to perfect and introduce to the public his device he must place his chance of obtaining reward in the shape of a patent at the mercy of those to whom he may apply for assistance.

That in all or most of all civilized countries it is possible to “provisionally protect” an invention, during the currency of which protection the applicant may safely publish and exhibit his ideas without prejudicing his right to a patent, but in New South Wales no such boon is available.

That, as a matter of fact, in New South Wales, an inventor has no legal protection for an invention until Letters of Registration for the same have been granted and issued, and though he might make early application for the same yet he would not receive them until after at least one month, more often two months, and sometimes three months or more, during which time it is not safe for him to publicly work or exhibit the invention, and which time is therefore absolutely lost time.

That the payment of so large a fee as twenty pounds (£20) upon application for Letters of Registration is prohibitory in the majority of cases to inventors of small means, and it would be desirable that such payment be reduced; and, failing a reduction, it should be spread over a number of years.

That most of the Australasian Colonies have, during the last few years, amended their laws relating to Patents, and have smoothed the pathways of inventive genius, and the same improvement has been accomplished in the Mother Country, Great Britain, while New South Wales still works under a defective law, passed as far back as the year 1852.

That a liberal Patent Law would promote the best interests of the people of New South Wales.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will, in its wisdom, see fit to speedily amend the Patent Laws of New South Wales.

And your Petitioners will ever pray.
