Will you enumerate the different sources from which these moneys came? To begin with, when Mr. Rossiter was acting manager he would come repeatedly, and I would say to him, "Mr. Rossiter, you had better have a settling up of money matters with me." I did not say to him, distinctly or separately, "Deceased inmates' moneys—I want to hand these moneys over to you." I said this in a general way, in the same way that I said it to Mr. Maxted, "I want to have money matters settled with you." Fat money I spoke of distinctly as wishing to settle up.

Did she speak distinctly about fat money? Well, I do not remember. You must remember that there were four institutions to look after, and I was very short-handed. I had only two clerks to assist me in the clerical duties, and to look after the management and everything, and I cannot remember every detail.

2413. Do you recollect seeing Mrs. Cunynghame's evidence in print since this inquiry has been instituted? Yes; I have glanced through it.

2414. Did you, on seeing that evidence, say it was not true that she had offered moneys to you? I do not remember doing so. I do not remember seeing that she had said she had offered me moneys.

2415. Did you, furthermore, say to anybody, "Do you think it at all likely I would refuse to take money"? No.

2416. Did you ever write to Mr. Maxted in connection with this matter? Yes.

2417. Would you know your own handwriting? Certainly.

2418. Is that your signature? Yes.

2419. Listen to this: "In the case of moneys belonging to deceased inmates, these are, when of small amounts, treated as Government property, and I should have accepted them as such, and paid them into the public Treasury?" That is quite right.

2420. And this: "I never remember Mrs. Cunynghame offering me any moneys during the time I was acting as Manager of Asylums, except for refunds of servants' wages. To the best of my belief no such offer has ever been made by Mrs. Cunynghame?" Yes, that is quite right.

2421. Did you keep any book in the office in which to record a list of the dead men's moneys handed in? As I have said, I never received these moneys.

2422. Mr. Ritchie.] You are cognizant of the work of the office and the books that are kept? All matters in reference to the receipt of moneys were kept in a small cash-book, of which Mr. King had entire control. I never touched the money receipts or anything while Mr. King was there, and after Mr. King left all I dealt with were the receipt from Liverpool, because that institution used to render a monthly account of all their collections, and their payments used to come in on vouchers, and everything was clear, and I used to take those moneys of course and pay them into the Treasury. In reference to the other institutions I would not touch the moneys at all. I would not take the responsibility of interfering with them.

2423. Mr. Kidd.] But it must have been passing through your mind that something was brought under your notice by Mrs. Cunynghame with regard to a settlement, because you seem to have been impressed with with the idea that as soon as the matter was definitely settled as to whether you were going to be appointed manager, you would keep the accounts differently to what they had been kept? Exactly. But I did not speak then in reference to Macquarie-street alone. There are four other institutions, and I referred to the system in reference to all of them.

Mr.
F. A. Rossiter.

2424. That is your answer with regard to a specific question being put as to certain moneys;—that your impression now is that you had made up your mind not to have anything to do with the moneys until you became manager? Exactly.

2425. Mr. Ritchie.] Then you must have thought that the management of this particular matter was irregular? Yes. I may say that I had a conversation with Mr. King in reference to the matter, and it was upon his advice that I acted.

2426. Was anything done to remedy the matter after Mr. Maxted's appointment? After Mr. Maxted was appointed we had a petty-cash fund allowed for each institution, and things were on a different system altogether.

2427. And the men's deposits were not used for petty cash? No.

2428. I asked a question on the same point a little while ago—are you quite sure that the men's deposits were not used for petty cash at any time in Mrs. Cunynghame's institution? As I have said, after Mr. Maxted took charge I did not have the examination of the asylum books at all. I had nothing to do with them, so that I do not know how the money was used. I know that I used to receive the voucher of petty cash, and used to check it, but whether that money was paid out of inmates' moneys or not I could not say, although I do not think so.

2429. But those vouchers contained nothing that would show whether the men had deposited money or not? No, those vouchers would not.

2430. Mr. Williamson.] Do you recollect the Treasury inspector coming round? Yes.

2431. Do you recollect in October, 1887, opening a public account with the Bank of Australasia? I remember opening a public account.

2432. For what purpose? I had five public accounts opened.

2434. But, in October, 1887, you opened this particular account, and, as a matter of fact, did you not have moneys received from other institutions in connection with inmates and so forth? I think Mrs. Dennis paid me in a sum of £10 which she found on one man, and I took it because she was frightened to keep it in the house in case it might be stolen.

2435. Did not Mrs. Burnside also pay in some money? Yes; Mrs. Burnside paid in her collections every month, and I accepted them every month, because that had been the regular custom for years in connection with that institution, and everything was clear.

2436. Did not Mrs. Hicks also? No.

2437. Do you say that? I say that Mrs. Hicks did not pay in her accounts monthly.

2438. Did you not pay into that account at the Bank of Australasia a sum of £18 16s. 8d. received from Mrs. Hicks? Before Mr. Maxted was appointed? I do not think so. Mr. Maxted settled up with her himself.

2439. You have a recollection of opening an account for this purpose;—did you intimate to Mrs. Cunynghame that it was essential for her when you opened this account to furnish you a list of the inmates' moneys and the dead men's moneys? I have a recollection of sending to the superintendents some minute as to the way their collections were to be paid in. This was after Mr. Maxted's appointment.

2440. When was Mr. King superseded? In 1887—Mr. King retired.

2441. Was it when Mr. King retired that you opened this account for your own protection? Yes.

2442. Then you are satisfied that after Mr. King was superseded, in the month of October, 1887, you opened this account? Yes.

2443. When you opened this account in 1887, did you send a notification to the respective superintendents asking them to furnish a list of the inmates' moneys and the collections? No; I do not remember doing so.

2444. What was the notification then? I understood you to be speaking of the time after Mr. Maxted was appointed, because we then made some different banking arrangements.

2445. If you opened this account for a particular purpose, what was the necessity for opening it if you did not furnish the superintendents with a notification to pay the moneys? For this reason: Moneys were paid into my hands, not necessarily by the superintendents, but when inmates came to apply for admission into an asylum and they had money I did not want to keep the money in the office, but thought it proper to pay it into a banking account. That was the purpose for which I opened the account.

2446. What about the moneys the superintendents would pay? As I have said, the only moneys I received from the superintendents were moneys received from the Liverpool Asylum, which I would pay into the Treasury on the 1st of the following month.

2447. None from Mrs. Dennis? I think a sum of £10, which Mrs. Dennis had from one man, which I have already mentioned.

2448. Are you sure that is the only sum? That is the only sum I remember; I do not think there was any other sum, but my books will show.

2449. What was done then with the fat at Newington and George-street Asylums? The same system that went on under Mr. King went on then, and I gave the superintendents to understand that they would have to settle up with whoever was appointed manager.

2450. So far as the fat moneys were concerned? So far as the collections were concerned. I do not say anything about fat in particular.

2451. Do you not know that immediately after Mr. Maxted was appointed they were all settled up with, with the exception of Mrs. Cunynghame? Of course they were all settled up with.

2452. Take first of all the Newington Asylum—you see, according to the statement I hand you, that on the 7th August, 1888, seven days after Mr. Maxted's appointment, £15 was paid in for fat? Yes.

2453. And right on subsequently up to June, 1889, payments were made? Yes, quite so.

2454. Did you ever speak to Mrs. Cunynghame after Mr. Maxted's appointment as to how it was she did not pay her fat money in or pay her deceased inmates' money in? No, I do not remember doing so.

2455. This occurs in Mrs. Cunynghame's evidence, question 2208 :—

Then you did offer all the dead inmates' moneys you had to Mr. Rossiter before Mr. Maxted's appointment? Repeatedly; they were not very large sums, but I never liked to keep them, and I paid them over about every month or six weeks.

Mr.
F. A. Rossiter.
15 July, 1890.

Is that true? She never paid them over to me.

2456. Is it a fact that she repeatedly offered them to you? I do not remember her doing so.

2457. But if she repeatedly offered them to you you would recollect? I do not remember any money being offered to me at all.

2458. And when you wrote the statement I showed you everything was fresh in your memory;—it was written two years ago, on the 9th August, 1888? That was twelve months after I had given up charge.

2459. Surely, if she had repeatedly offered them to you, you would remember? If she had repeatedly offered them to me I think I should have remembered.

2460. Mr. Kidd.] How long were you there after Mr. Maxted was appointed? I was there until within three months ago.

2461. Mr. Williamson.] Did you never make any inquiries at all about fat money? No. As I say, I did not go into the accounts at all. I was expecting my successor to be appointed.

2462. Were you aware that Mrs. Cunynghame was receiving money for the fat in lieu of soap? No; I did not know what practice was carried out in reference to those matters. I had nothing whatever to do with the collections at all. Mr. King had those matters all in his own hands.

2463. But after Mr. King was superseded, were you aware that he had been receiving moneys for the fat in lieu of soap? I had an idea that soap was received occasionally. I did not know what the arrangements were, but I knew soap was received, because when the accounts came in I used to notice some difference in the quantity of soap charged for the month, and I would draw Mr. King's attention to it, and he would say, "Oh, that is in consequence of the fat being exchanged for soap." That is all the information I had with regard to it. I hope the Committee will understand that although I may appear by this evidence not to have given very much attention to such a matter as fat, yet I had the whole management of the four institutions, with only two clerks to assist me with the clerical work, and having 2,000 people to look after, my time was fully occupied, without looking after little trifling matters such as these. That must be my excuse for not going into these little matters so fully as I should otherwise have done.

2464. Mr. Frank Farnell.] Has the staff been increased since you left? Oh, yes.

2465. Mr. Kidd.] And I suppose an additional reason is that you had no suspicion of anything going wrong? No; I had no idea of it.

2466. That is to say, if anything did go wrong you had no suspicion of anything of the sort? I had no suspicion whatever.

2467. This evidence was given by Mr. Maxted, question 118 :—

Why were they there then? There were certain men kept about the institution to do work. Mrs. Cunynghame kept a number of these men in her own private kitchen—and I am sorry to say this, because it reflects upon Mrs. Cunynghame's honesty—rationed them from the Government stores. She put them down on the pay-sheet as holding fictitious positions. For instance, her cook was put down as the head wardman, a position which he never filled. This was the plan adopted. There was a man in the institution named Thomas Ghost. That man, between the years 1885 and 1888, was put down on the pay-sheet, and paid by the Government £19 15s. 5d. He is variously named on the Government pay-sheet as cook, as having charge of the reading-room, as a deputy in No. 4 hospital, as gate-man, and soil-heap man; yet he states that he never held those positions, but was employed in Mrs. Cunynghame's kitchen during the whole of the time.

First of all with regard to the fictitious pay-sheets; you have heard this statement of Mr. Maxted that men were employed in Mrs. Cunynghame's kitchen, and put down in the capacity of wardmen, soil-heap man, gatemen, and so forth;—were you aware that that was going on? During Mr. King's time he used to allow the superintendents a great deal of latitude as to putting down men on the pay-sheet. A man would not necessarily occupy the same billet for the whole month, and Mr. King used to allow the superintendents a great deal of latitude in rearranging the pay-sheets. So long as the work was done, and the amount charged to the Government each month did not exceed what he thought was a fair thing, he used to be satisfied.

2468. Was he satisfied then with fictitious pay-sheets—a man employed in the kitchen as Mrs. Cunynghame's servant being put down in the pay-sheet as head wardman or gatekeeper? Oh, no; a man who was on a permanent job was supposed to be put down on a permanent position.

2469. I will read the following extract from Mrs. Cunynghame's evidence, question 2631.

Will you read the document? It is as follows :—

Macquarie-street Asylum, 8/4/85.

Memo.—In reference to your memo., 1/4/85, relative to the services of deputy in cancer ward, also the services of the fever-cottage warder and female erysipelas wardwomen, although absolutely they are not in this case doing duty, their money is distributed amongst others whose avocations are not shown in the pay-abstract, viz.: carpenter, tinsmith, shoemaker, milkman, and second gardener, and others.

The Manager.

S. CUNYNGHAME.

Will you read the endorsement on that memo? The endorsement is as follows :—

This explanation shows that you receive £1 16s. 2d. for which you do not produce receipts. Allen, Fleming, and Jackson have signed for what they have not received. This arrangement must not be continued. If it is necessary that the carpenter, tinsmith, &c., should receive pay their names should appear on the pay-sheet. You are exposed to much blame in this matter, as the pay-sheet is wrongly acquitted.—F. KING, 10/4/85.

Did you ever see that memo? Yes.

2470. After having seen that letter, were you aware that that system was still being carried on? But I did not see that letter until recently.

2471. You knew there were certain pay-sheets made out? Yes.

2472. Were you aware that men who occupied positions in Mrs. Cunynghame's kitchen were put down as wardmen, gatemen, soil-heap men, and in other capacities? No.

2472½. If you had, would you have allowed it to continue as manager? No, I should have allowed no irregularities whatever. If the superintendent required the reasonable services of any of the inmates not otherwise employed she could always obtain them.

Mr. F. A. Rossiter.
15 July, 1890.

2473. Mr. Frank Farnell.] If a man were engaged three-fourths of his time as gatekeeper or soil-heap man, and the other fourth of his time in Mrs. Cunynghame's kitchen, would it be a proper system to put the man down according to his occupation during the three-fourths of his time? No; he would be allowed so much a day, say 2d., 3d., or 4d.

2474. But supposing he were a gatekeeper and he worked a fourth of his time in the kitchen he would be returned as gatekeeper? Yes. The principle acted upon was that the superintendents were allowed to get whatever service they could out of the inmates, so long as the work of the institution was properly carried out. In fact, as far as I was concerned, I rather encouraged the principle that men who were able to work should work, because I objected to so many people loafing about in the asylums and doing nothing at all.

2475. Mr. Kidd.] Supposing one man occupied four different positions during the month, and in each position he was entitled to 3d. a day, would you consider it a very grave irregularity if he chanced to be cook at the end of the month and were put down as cook for the whole period? No, certainly not.

2476. Mr. Ritchie.] Were there different rates of pay? Yes.

2477. A gatekeeper would not get as much as a man in the kitchen? Not necessarily. The gatekeeper at some institutions was paid more than at others.

2478. A man who would cut wood would get more than a man who would keep the gate? Well, it might be so, or it might not.

2479. Still there would be a difference? Yes; very often it would depend on a man's character what he would get.

2480. If a man were employed in the kitchen and he were put down as a gatekeeper, would you consider that proper? No, certainly not.

2481. And vice versa, if he were gatekeeper and were returned as being in the kitchen? Certainly not. The idea should be that men should be put down to the duties they performed as nearly as possible.

2482. Could any difference be made in the pay-sheets or the amount of pay by misrepresenting the positions which the men filled? The way in which it was done was this: There was a certain amount allowed every month to each institution, and there were certain duties to be performed. At the end of the month I used very carefully to check the accounts to see that they did not exceed the amount of the previous month, and if so, it used to be my duty to query that and to find out why such was the case, and where the authority of the superintendent was for such increase in pay. In this way I know as a matter of fact that if there was a man who had worked well, say as a whitewasher, and whom the superintendent thought deserving of some little encouragement, and another man who was wardsman left, say, on the 15th of the month, this deserving man would be allowed to be put down in that position and to draw the extra salary as an inducement for him to keep on working at the asylum.

2483. Mr. Bourke.] The whitewasher would be allowed to be put down as wardsman? He would be allowed to draw the pay as wardsman.

2484. Mr. Frank Farnell.] In the Railway Department—and it is the case in other Government departments—a man may be put down as porter and be paid porter's wages, though at the same time he would have to discharge other duties, such as those of assistant guard or shunter, or he may be looking after a gate. Although he performs these other duties, it is not regarded as an irregularity if the man is put down on the pay-sheet as John Smith, porter, at so much a day. If a similar system were adopted in your department, and a man worked for a fourth of his time as cook, or in any other capacity other than that for which he was returned on the pay-sheet, would you consider such a thing a dereliction of duty on the part of the superintendent? It would be quite unnecessary in our case, because we have so much extra labour to be utilized.

2485. Mr. Williamson.] The point is this: Supposing these men were employed in Mrs. Cunynghame's private kitchen for her benefit, were they entitled to be paid out of the Treasury, and to be put on the pay-sheet as gatemen, wardsmen, and soil-heap men? No.

2486. Have you ever known it to be done at any other of the institutions—at Newington, Liverpool, or George-street; in those institutions have men been employed privately for the benefit of the superintendent, and then been put down in the pay-sheet as wardsmen and soil-heap men? No; I think not.

2487. Mr. Frank Farnell.] Do you know of your own knowledge that this was done in the Macquarie-street Asylum? No, I do not. There used to be a very bad system in reference to paying these people. They would have an office put down at 2d. a day. Well, an inmate perhaps might have an assistant to help him. They would have perhaps 12s. during the month to draw, and out of that they would have to give 2s. 6d. to one man, and 1s. to another for assisting them. Instead of getting three receipts they would only get one receipt, and the inmate would divide the money between himself and the others who assisted him.

2488. Mr. Ritchie.] It is a fact that Mrs. Cunynghame had a private kitchen of her own, and that there was also a public kitchen? Yes.

2489. You were not aware of these men being employed in Mrs. Cunynghame's private kitchen, and being paid out of the Government fund? Just so, although I was aware of their being employed.

2490. Mr. Kidd.] I suppose anyone in Mrs. Cunynghame's position was allowed some latitude with regard to employing inmates;—even although it was termed her own private kitchen it was all within the establishment? Oh, yes. As far as I was concerned I always encouraged it, so as to make everybody work who was able to work.

2491. Mr. Frank Farnell.] You spoke of Mrs. Cunynghame being impetuous;—could that be construed into meaning harshness? No; I think Mrs. Cunynghame was a very strict disciplinarian. She had a very awkward and bad lot to do with, and she was very strict no doubt, and for that reason I used to be in the habit of sending disagreeable cases to her, because the institution is closed in, and you can keep a better eye on the people there than you can at George-street.

2492. How long were you connected with the Department of Charities? About nine years.

2493. How long were you acting manager? I was acting manager the last time about ten months. I had previously whenever Mr. King was absent taken his position temporarily.

2494. And during the time you were acting for Mr. King, and after he severed his connection with the institution, did you ever find Mrs. Cunynghame guilty of neglect of duty? No; I do not remember any occasion on which I had cause to find fault with her in that respect.

2495. Did you ever find it occur that when you issued an order to her there was wilful disobedience of that order on her part? No. We used to get on very well together. She used to assist me all she could.

2496. During your term as acting manager, did you ever know Mrs. Cunynghame to be guilty of untruthfulness? No. It never struck me that she was untruthful.
2497. So that with regard to the charges of harshness to the inmates, neglect of duty, repeated disobedience of orders, and general untruthfulness, as far as your knowledge goes in your position of Acting Manager of Charities, you never had occasion to have one of those charges brought under your notice? Not personally, I had not. Of course these things happened after I had given up altogether.
2498. Do you know Mr. Hugh Robison? Yes.
2499. Have you ever heard why it was that he did not attach his name to the report of the Royal Commission? Because he believed the Commission was such a farce. I may mention in reference to the Commission that the asylums in those days were under a kind of triple authority. First of all there was the Manager of Government Asylums; there was the Medical Adviser, who appointed the medical officers, and the medical officers had charge of the hospital patients and all medical matters; and, thirdly, there was the Inspector of Charities. The Commission was composed of the Inspector of Charities, not the Medical Adviser but the Deputy Medical Adviser, and a magistrate. The asylums were not represented on the Board; the other two departments were.
2500. Mr. Ritchie.] You referred once or twice to insubordination on the part of some of the inmates of the Macquarie-street Asylum;—what was the character of that insubordination? At the previous inquiry there were several men who had been brought into notoriety, and they were too big altogether for any institution. There was a man named Baird and several others. They were a very bad lot indeed, and they were never satisfied with anything. If I had not been very firm with them the place would have become unmanageable.
2501. Were they specially sent to Mrs. Cunynghame's institution? No; I do not remember that they were specially sent there, although I have frequently sent men that I wished to keep an eye upon into Mrs. Cunynghame's institution, because, as I have said, you could keep a better eye upon them there.
2502. If you did not send that class of insubordinate characters to the institution, would the insubordination of which you have spoken not arise from some other cause, such as laxity of discipline? It might be so. But in the days of which I speak there was no officer in the place to look after the institution except the superintendent; there was not a paid officer in the whole building, and I do not mean to say that the discipline was as it should be, or as I should have wished it to be. We had to do the best we could with the material at our disposal.
2503. Did you have anything to do with the dietary scale prior to Mr. Maxted's appointment? Yes.
2504. And after Mr. Maxted was appointed? No, not afterwards.
2505. You did not know whether Mrs. Cunynghame was capable of carrying that dietary scale out according to Mr. Maxted's orders? I knew nothing at all about the matter after Mr. Maxted took charge.
2506. You never had an opportunity of observing that? No; I had nothing to do with the asylums then.
2507. Mr. Kidd.] Did I understand you to say that while you were acting manager extremely difficult cases were sent to this asylum? Yes—bad cases—men I wanted to keep an eye upon—men, for instance, who were not quite right in their heads, and whom I did not want to wander away from the place. We had a means of shutting the gates there, which we had not got at any of the other institutions.
2508. But you had full confidence in the management of Mrs. Cunynghame or you would not have sent them there? Oh, yes; I had full confidence.
2509. Mr. Frank Farnell.] Did any of the men ever make any complaint to you? Oh, yes, they made complaints; but I do not know of anything of a serious nature.
2510. Mr. Ritchie.] What was the character of some of the complaints? Oh, they were frivolous complaints, such as old people are apt to make.
2511. The want of any particular thing? No; they were of a very trifling nature, as a rule. Sometimes they would complain of having their tobacco stopped.
2512. Did you ever hear an instance of any of them requiring slippers or spectacles, or anything of that kind, that was necessary to their comfort;—did you ever hear them complain that they could not get these? No; but I have known cases over and over again where I have had to reprimand the superintendent for allowing the men to cut their boots. These old people have bad feet, and when they get new boots they cut them across, and on several occasions I have had to complain of this.
2513. Would it not be better that they should cut their boots than that they should suffer? Yes; but they should be given old boots or slippers.
2514. I suppose that frequently occurs at all these institutions? Yes.
2515. But you do not consider that a serious matter? No, certainly not.
2516. She could not be with the inmates all the time? No; but I thought that Mrs. Cunynghame might have given instructions to the wardsmen that if a man had sore feet he should be supplied with old boots, and not new ones.
2517. Mr. Kidd.] And then I suppose they would grumble? Yes, I dare say they would.
2518. Mr. Ritchie.] I suppose while you were acting manager you had very little opportunity of observing Mrs. Cunynghame's management, with the exception of a hasty official visit that you would make? I was there at all times of the day, and sometimes at all times of the night, up to midnight.
2519. What was your business there during those times? The reason I went there at night was that I heard a complaint on one occasion that the men were not allowed to talk in the night, and I wanted to go and see for myself how matters stood.
2520. And you stayed there a number of hours? I went up on purpose, and went in late, unexpectedly.
2521. Were you there very frequently in that way? No, not very frequently—several times.
2522. Were you there much in the day-time? Yes.
2523. For a long time on each occasion? I used generally to stop about a couple of hours.
2524. Mr. Williamson.] Did you sign the book every time? No, I did not.
2525. Mr. Ritchie.] What was your general impression of Mrs. Cunynghame's manner to the inmates generally—you must have had a good opportunity of judging? Yes; the opinion I formed was that, as long as a man was sick, and there was anything the matter with him, and he was well-behaved, he got very well looked after and considered; but if he was inclined to be obstreperous, and disagreeable to himself and everybody else, he got very little sympathy.
2526. Mr. Kidd.] And, I suppose, you did not think he deserved much? No.
2527. Mr. Ritchie.] What was Mrs. Cunynghame's general bearing towards those quiet old men who were

Mr.
F. A. Rossiter.
15 July, 1890.

Mr. F. A. Rossiter. 15 July, 1890. were not giving any trouble at all, but who were passing their lives in the place in a quiet unassuming way? She was kind and attentive to them.

2528. Did she appear to take much interest in them? She was interested in them. She did not gush over them, or anything of that kind, but I was very well satisfied that she fulfilled her duties towards them.

2529. Mr. Frank Farnell.] What is your opinion of the buildings at Macquarie-street? They are most unsuitable. They are old stables converted. When I took charge of the place that is now the hospital it had stone flags in it, and I took the responsibility of having the floor taken up and boarded.

2530. Mr. Ritchie.] I suppose you are aware that the eastern wing was originally a series of old workshops? I believe it was, and also stables and barracks. The buildings were in a dreadful state when the Department took charge of them, and there was no roof on them.

2531. Mr. Williamson.] But Mr. Maxted has made a wonderful improvement in the place in regard to management and so forth? Oh, no doubt.

2532. He has achieved a wonderful success in that direction? Yes, although I take a great deal of that credit to myself. During the whole time I was in charge there were no complaints whatever.

2533. Mr. Frank Farnell.] You were preparing for the appointment; you were indirectly promised as Manager of Public Charities? Exactly. I was not promised the position, but I certainly expected to obtain it on account of my successful reorganization.

2534. Mr. Kidd.] I suppose when you get command of the purse-strings it is easy to manage? Well, they were always very good to me. I never recommended anything that was not carried out.

2535. Mr. Williamson.] After Mr. Maxted was appointed there was no difficulty with the old men, was there? Oh, no.

2536. There was no keeping your eye on old men, then, and all that kind of thing? Perhaps you misunderstood me about keeping my eye upon them. I mean to say that if a man is a semi-imbecile he wants to be enclosed.

2537. You were asked with regard to Mr. Robison: "Do you not know, as a matter of fact, that the reason why Mr. Robison did not sign the report of the Royal Commission was because of his being implicated by the report in the general mismanagement of the asylums?" That was certainly not what Mr. Robison told me.

2538. Mr. Frank Farnell.] What did he tell you? He told me that the report was absurd, and that he could not put his name to it.

2539. Mr. Ritchie.] What had he to do with the institution? He inspected it—he was Inspector of Public Charities.

2540. And he would, to some extent, be responsible for the proper management of these institutions? Not for the proper management, but if they were mismanaged he would be responsible for reporting the fact.

2541. Then he would have an indirect responsibility upon him? Certainly.

2542. Mr. Williamson.] The following occurs in Mr. Maxted's evidence before this Committee, question 582:—

Mr. Williamson.] You have a synopsis of the pay-sheets? Yes; it is as follows:—Joseph Wallace, now in Macquarie-street Asylum, was employed as cook in Mrs. Cunyngame's kitchen in June and July, 1883; he was paid £1 9s. 6d. Government money, and was entered on the pay-sheet as a hospital wardsman. Thomas Beale, from February to May, and from August to October, 1883, was employed as cook in Mrs. Cunyngame's kitchen, for which he received £5 6s. of Government money, and he was entered on the pay-sheet as a hospital wardsman. H. Le Chong, whereabouts not known, was employed in Mrs. Cunyngame's kitchen as cook in November and December, 1883, and in January, 1888, for which he received £2 6s., and he was entered as a hospital wardsman on the pay-sheet. Hugh Farley was employed in Mrs. Cunyngame's kitchen from February to December, 1888, and in January, 1885; he was paid £9 3s. Government money, and was entered as a hospital wardsman on the pay-sheet. William Millar, now in Liverpool Asylum, was employed as cook by Mrs. Cunyngame from February to December, 1885, and from January to July, 1886, for which he received £13 13s. Government money, and he was entered as a hospital wardsman on the pay-sheet. Thomas Ghost was employed from March to December, 1885, as butler by Mrs. Cunyngame during these periods—from January to December, 1886; from January to December, 1887; January, 1888; from February to May, 1888; and June and July, 1888; for which he received £19 15s. 5d. Government money, and he was variously entered on the pay-sheets as third cook, as being in reading-room, as being a deputy in No. 4 hospital, as being a gateman, and as being a soil-heap man. Peter Bottana was employed by Mrs. Cunyngame as cook—from August to October, 1886; from January to February, 1887; for which he received £3 15s. 6d.; he was entered as a hospital wardsman. James Heathcote was employed as cook by Mrs. Cunyngame in November and December, 1886, for which he received £1 10s. 6d. of Government money; he was entered as a hospital wardsman. John Pearman was employed as cook during half of March, 1887, by Mrs. Cunyngame; he received 7s. 9d., and is entered as a hospital wardsman. Felix Cummings was employed the other half of March, and from April to November, 1887, and also from February to June, 1888, as cook by Mrs. Cunyngame, for which he received £10 5s. 3d. Government money; he was entered as a hospital wardsman. Henry Halmarick was employed in January, 1888, and from February to August in the same year, as cook by Mrs. Cunyngame, for which he received £6 2s. of Government money, and he is variously entered as hospital wardsman, and as having had charge of the reading-room. These different amounts represent a total of £73 13s. 11d.

Have you gone through those pay-sheets? I went through them at the time, certainly.

2543. Did you believe at the time when you went through them and checked them that those men were employed in the positions set forth in the pay-sheets? Certainly. I see that some of these men are put down as hospital cooks. The food of some of the hospital patients used to be prepared in Mrs. Cunyngame's private kitchen.

2544. Was that within your knowledge? Yes.

2545. Was the work in Mrs. Cunyngame's kitchen done by these men continually, or only periodically? I could not say, of course, whether it was done by these particular men.

2546. Mr. Kidd.] Your evidence is, that you passed these pay-sheets believing that they were correct, and you know nothing more about them? Yes.

2547. Mr. Bourke.] The answer to the question that has just been read to you is, that you know nothing more about it, except what you see there? No; I know nothing more about it.

2548. For instance, it says here—"Joseph Wallace, now in Macquarie-street Asylum, was employed as cook in Mrs. Cunynghame's kitchen in June and July, 1883";—do you know whether he was employed as cook or not? I really could not say; the period you refer to was seven years ago.

2549. Do you know whether the memo. on this paper is in Mr. King's handwriting? It is.

2550. Whose handwriting is on the other side? It is a memo. from Mrs. Cunynghame, and is as follows:—
Macquarie-street Asylum, Parramatta, 22 April, 1878.

To the Manager of Infirm and Destitute Asylums, Sydney.

MEMO.—Be kind enough to authorize the following payments, viz., J. Ramsay, for attending on Chinaman supposed to be suffering from leprosy, 4d. per day; Peter Connolly, 1d. per day extra; John Renfrey, for attending to coal and firewood, 2d. per day; and 6d. per day to John Elms, for acting as overseer to workmen in yard.

S. CUNYNGHAME,
Matron.

Mr.
F.A. Rossiter.
15 July, 1899.

2551. Will you kindly read the memo. on the back of that, initialed by Mr. King? It is as follows:—

"Let Ramsay appear as wardman to the erysipelas ward at 3d., and leave out the leprosy. I will give Ramsay 10s. for taking care of the case. The other increases are approved. Renfrey is not entered."

2552. Does not that memo. authorize Mrs. Cunynghame to employ a man as a leprosy wardman, and to put him down as an erysipelas wardman? Yes, it does.

2553. You said you knew that all the superintendents had inmates' moneys? Yes.

2554. And they were authorized to pay small sums to the inmates as they wanted them? Yes.

2556. You were there for ten months as acting manager, and as a matter of fact you would not take any of these moneys over? What I said was that I would take a specific item. For instance, suppose a man came in and £10 was found on him, and the superintendent said, "I cannot keep this money"—in such a case I would take the money from her and put it into a trust account, but I would not take over moneys which had been received during a lengthened period (and out of which expenditure had been met) without being duly authorized to do so.

2557. Mr. Kidd.] But I think you gave evidence of this kind—that you expected almost every week that you would get this appointment, and you did not want to arrange about these accounts until you were appointed as manager? Exactly.

2558. You did not know but that the appointment would be made at any moment? I thought it was going to happen every day.

2559. Mr. Bourke.] And consequently if Mrs. Cunynghame or any other superintendent had an accumulation of ten months' moneys in her possession you would not consider that she was dishonest? No, certainly not; she would have a right to have them.

2560. And you acknowledge yourself that it was a bad system of paying the men? Oh, yes; I say it was a bad system.

2561. Whose fault was it that it was a bad system? Well, we were very short-handed, and the superintendents had no assistance whatever.

2562. It was not the superintendent's fault? It was not done at her request certainly. The thing grew from a very small thing up to what it was then. The Macquarie-street Asylum grew from fifteen patients to what it is at the present time. At some time, Mrs. Cunynghame had nearly 400 men under her charge.

2563. Did Mrs. Cunynghame ever have an accountant to keep her books? No; she had the assistance of one of the inmates.

2564. Did she ever have a set of books given to her with orders as to the way in which she should keep the separate moneys? Not to my knowledge.

2565. She was simply to keep them as best she could—was that so? As far as my knowledge goes it was. As I have said, I knew nothing at all about these moneys previous to my taking charge.

2566. Mr. Ritchie.] She was at liberty then to pay these moneys into her own account whilst she had them in charge? I do not think the superintendents had any instructions given them in reference to that.

2567. Was she entitled to put the money into her own account? She was not entitled to do so. A public officer ought to open a public account for that purpose.

2568. Would you approve of her paying them into her own private account? No; if it had come to my knowledge I would not have done so.

2569. Then you never thought it your duty while you were acting manager to inquire about that matter? I should have considered it my duty if I had known I was going to be in the position for anything like a period of ten months.

2570. But expecting the matter to be settled almost every day you put the thing off? Exactly.

2571. Mr. Bourke.] There were some moneys paid in from the Macquarie-street Asylum even while you were acting manager? I remember receiving the surplus from the pay-sheet, as I have already mentioned (surplus wages). It occurred in this way: Suppose a sum of £20 were sent to the asylum to pay the servants for the month; if any of the men had left during that period the sum so represented would be refunded, and I would pay it back into the Treasury to meet the requirements of the Audit Office, but this money is altogether different from the moneys you were formerly asking about, which are known as collections.

2572. If one man got 3d. a day as gateman and another man 4d. a day as wardman, would the extra 1d. be given owing to the position or because the recipient was a better man? It was very frequently because the man was a better man.

2573. It was a personal thing? A man's character had a great deal to do with it.

2574. And it was not attached to the position at all? Not necessarily attached to the position.

2575. Mr. Ritchie.] Do you remember the rates that these men were paid for the various positions they filled? They were paid from 1d. a day up to 1s. a day.

- Mr. F. A. Rossiter. 2576. Could you enumerate how they were paid, beginning, say, with the gatekeeper? A gatekeeper would get about 3d. a day, a wardman would get from 4d. to 6d. a day, and I think the erysipelas hospital wardman used to get 1s. a day.
- 15 July, 1890. 2577. What would the cooks get? Some of the cooks would get 4d., some 6d. a day; the gardener, I think, got 6d. a day, the whitewasher got 4d., and the night-soil man, I think, got 4d.
2578. Mr. Bourke.] Do you know whether Mrs. Cunynghame wanted to settle these money matters with Mr. Maxted? No, I do not.

William Richard Sterling called in, sworn, and examined:—

- Mr. W.R. Sterling. 2579. Mr. Bourke.] What are you? By profession a solicitor's managing clerk.
- 15 July, 1890. 2580. You have been for some time past an inmate of the Macquarie-street Asylum? I was an inmate up to the 26th October last.
2581. What are you now? I am clerk at the asylum.
2582. Then you are paid now as a Government clerk? I am.
2583. When did you go into the asylum first? I think it was on the 13th November, 1888.
2584. Were you in bad health? Yes. I met with an accident in Sydney by which my leg was broken. I was taken to the Sydney Hospital, where I remained a month, and after my leg was put in plaster they told me they were going to send me to a convalescent home, and they sent me from there to the Macquarie-street Asylum.
2585. And you were there from the 13th November till the following October;—you were engaged, were you not, in collecting evidence in connection with this inquiry for Mr. Maxted? Yes, I have been round and collected evidence.
2586. Who authorized you to collect this evidence? In the first place, Mr. Maxted asked me to do it.
2587. Did you take some of the evidence that was given before the Public Asylums Inquiry Board amongst the inmates and show it to them? No.
2588. Or to the attendant? No.
2589. Did you have it there at all in the asylum? No.
2590. Did you make any promises to any of these men? None whatever.
2591. Or use any threats? Not the slightest in any way. On the contrary, they were only too anxious to volunteer the evidence to me.
2592. What pay did you receive? None whatever.
2593. But you have since been rewarded by a clerkship at the Government expense? After my leg was well enough for me to move about I wanted, naturally, to do something. Mr. Abbott was clerk at that time, and I offered to help in the office, as he was getting old and decrepit, which I did. I acted at the office until the time of Mr. Abbott's death without any fee or reward. When he died—shortly before his death I should say—I was appointed in his place, and since then I have had his pay.
2594. And you have been down here in Sydney in attendance outside at every meeting of this Committee? I have. I have been coming for my chief, Mr. Maxted.
2595. For what purpose were you present? To look after things that it was very necessary to look after—our papers here to-day, for instance.
2596. Who paid your fare to Sydney and back? The Government, of course; I am a Government official.
2597. Are you getting any extra pay for attending? No.
2598. Mr. Frank Farnell.] What pay do you get? I am getting the magnificent salary of £4 3s. 4d. a month, and board and lodging.
2599. Mr. Williamson.] As a matter of fact, were you not requested by Mr. Maxted simply to take the statements of these men, and to make no threats or promises, but to let them give their evidence as they thought fit? That is so.
2600. Mr. Maxted informed you that he did not want to come into contact with any of these men, so that they might give their evidence impartially and free from any control? That is so.
2601. When did you go to the asylum? I think it was the 13th November, 1888.
2602. That was before Mrs. Cunynghame's dismissal? Yes. I saw her twice when I was in the hospital.

MRS. CUNYNGHAME, LATE SUPERINTENDENT OF MACQUARIE-STREET
ASYLUM FOR INFIRM AND DESTITUTE, PARRAMATTA.

APPENDIX.

[Handed in by the Chairman.]

A 1.

My dear Mrs. Cunynghame, Ashfield, 29 November, 1888.
I was much surprised to see by the daily papers that you were suspended, and that you are accused of insubordination and untruthfulness.

I can only think that you are considered to have acted in an insubordinate manner because you have failed to carry out some direction which you felt, from your experience as to the internal management of the institution, would be subversive of discipline and the good order of the Asylum; but I am confident that you would not willingly commit any act which could fairly be considered insubordinate. I have known you for twelve years in your present position, and, of course, as Manager of the Asylums, till the 31st December, 1887, had every opportunity of noticing your action, and I can safely assert that a more obedient, painstaking, and trustworthy officer could not be found in the Civil Service, while the skill with which you worked up the Erysipelas Hospital, which was started in 1875, to the large Asylum as it now stands, has been so apparent that it has elicited approval from all parties, and must assure the Government that in you they have a highly efficient and reliable officer.

I never knew you to be untruthful, and cannot believe for a moment that you would be guilty of deception, or would try to mislead those with whom you are connected.

Your kindness to the inmates and attention to their wants have been testified to so frequently by the old people of the Asylum, and by those who have had ample opportunities of observing your action, that I cannot think you can be justly charged with harshness and vindictiveness towards those placed under your care.

Hoping that your suspension will be speedily recalled, and that you will be reinstated to a position which, in my opinion, you are so well qualified to fill.

Yours, &c.,
FREDERIC KING.

A 2.

Dear Mrs. Cunynghame,

Ashfield, 16 June, 1890.

On reading the report on your case which is now being inquired into by the Parliamentary Committee, I find that my letter to Mr. Rossiter, dated 6th May, 1887, has been used to show that I had lost confidence in your management of the inmates of the Macquarie-street Asylum. I merely intended that Mr. Rossiter should point out to the Principal Under Secretary that unless your authority was upheld by the Colonial Secretary, and the order "that no inmates were to be discharged for ill-behaviour" was withdrawn, it was quite impossible that such inmates as Roy, Rooney, and Baird, whose conduct at that time was much complained of, could be controlled. I regret that my note to Mr. Rossiter should have been used to show that it was my opinion that you should be dismissed. I always had the greatest confidence in your management, and considered you a most capable and reliable Superintendent.

Your kindness to the inmates was testified to by hundreds of the old people, and I never knew you to be harsh in your treatment of them. I also notice that you are blamed for utilizing the help of the inmates in your kitchen house, and I am able to state that you were quite authorized in this action, especially as much of the cooking for the hospital patients and the erysipelas wards was prepared in your kitchen.

With regard to the inmates' money, you quite carried out my directions in retaining any money found on inmates under £2, so that you could dispense it in small sums, as the old people wished to have it; generally 1s. 6d. or 2s. was allowed per week; all amounts over £2 were paid to me, to be returned to you as the money in your hands became exhausted.

As to untruthfulness, I never, during the eleven years you worked under my management, found that you deceived me, and I always found you a very straightforward matron, and one particularly anxious to do your duty.

Mrs. Cunynghame.

I remain, &c.,
FREDERIC KING.

A 3.

Sir,

21 November, 1888.

I have the honor to report that, in accordance with the Colonial Secretary's directions, I have suspended Mrs. Cunynghame from her office of Matron-Superintendent of Macquarie-street Asylum for Infirm and Destitute, Parramatta.

(2.) Pending a permanent arrangement, I have placed the institution in charge of Mrs. Brooke. I know this lady to be highly qualified, and I therefore venture to respectfully recommend her appointment in event of Mrs. Cunynghame's dismissal.

I have, &c.,
SYDNEY MAXTED,
Director.

Critchett Walker, Esq.,
Principal Under Secretary.

A 4.

Dear Mrs. Brooke,

9 December, 1888.

Kindly adhere to the weights, &c., in the dietary cards I furnished you with. Mr. Abbott will be able to help you with the calculations. I am acting under advice, intentionally staying away from the Asylum until after Monday, when Mrs. Cunynghame will be away. Acting also under advice, I did not let you know you were to be appointed, but I find an indiscreet friend did so; there was a motive in keeping this from you; you were really appointed before you left the Colonial Secretary's office the other day. I will see you early on Tuesday morning, all being well, and then after frequently.

Yours, &c.,
SYDNEY MAXTED.

Mrs. Brooke,
Macquarie-street Asylum, Parramatta.

A 5.

Dear Madam,

I am summoned by the Cardinal to Sydney at 11 to-morrow, on important business of the Church, and must attend, of course.

I would most gladly attend your Commission and bear my testimony to the efficient manner in which I saw you managing the Macquarie-street Asylum at Parramatta during the many years that I was visiting clergyman to that institution.

I always considered your superintendence both kind and considerate, as well as efficient, in your very trying circumstances.

Prospect, 24 September, 1889.

I am, &c.,
JOHN RIGNEY,
Archdeacon.

A 6.

Dear Mrs. Cunynghame,

St. John's, Parramatta, 15 November, 1889.

My attention has been drawn to a letter of mine, addressed to Mr. Maxted and printed in the Progress Report of the Select Committee, on your case. If, as I gather, the letter is used to show that I have changed my opinion, and that my note of sympathy addressed to you in November of last year no longer expressed my views, allow me to assure you that I still adhere to my statement, viz., that I always considered you attentive to your duties and kind in the treatment of the men under your charge. My experience is also that of the curate's, who held services and visited regularly, and that of the lady visitors.

Dr. Rutter and Dr. Brown have, on several occasions, spoken to me about your work in the highest terms.

The conversation I had when I accidentally met Mr. Maxted, for a few minutes in the train, had no reference to your general work, but, so far as I remember, to the consequences that would necessarily follow if you neglected, as he maintained you did, to carry out his instructions with reference to the diet of the inmates, and to the disposal of their money entrusted to your care.

I regret that I cannot find time to read through the Progress Report. I need hardly say that I shall be very much surprised if the charges which have led to your dismissal can be proved.

My knowledge of the Asylum extends over the whole period during which you had charge, and though my visits were not so frequent latterly under our present division of ministerial work, there was a time when I visited regularly—two and three times a week.

Yours, &c.,
W. J. GUNTHER.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MRS. CUNYNGHAME.
(PETITION OF—TO BE HEARD BY COUNSEL.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 8 May, 1890.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales.

The Petition of Sarah Cunynghame, now residing at Parramatta, in the Colony of New South Wales, the wife of George Cunynghame of the same place,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

1. That, on the first day of May instant, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, your Honorable House appointed a Select Committee, with power to send for persons and papers, to inquire into and report upon the removal of Mrs. Cunynghame, your Petitioner, from the position of Superintendent of Macquarie-street Asylum for Infirm and Destitute.

2. And your Petitioner humbly prayeth that your Petitioner may be heard by Counsel or Attorney before the Select Committee of this Honorable House appointed to inquire into and report on the said matter.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will every pray.

S. CUNYNGHAME, Parramatta.

MRS. CUNYNGHAME.

(PETITION FROM SYDNEY MAXTED TO BE REPRESENTED BY COUNCIL BEFORE SELECT COMMITTEE SITTING ON CASE OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 8 May, 1890.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of Sydney Maxted, Director of Government Asylums and Boarding-out Officer, of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales,—

HUMBLY SHOWETH:—

1. That on the thirtieth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, your Honorable House appointed a Select Committee, with power to send for persons and papers, to inquire into and report upon the removal of Mrs. Cunynghame from the position of Matron Superintendent of Macquarie-street Asylum for Infirm and Destitute, which removal it became the painful duty of your Petitioner, Sydney Maxted, to recommend, in his official capacity, to the Government.

2. That your Petitioner humbly prayeth that he may, in his official capacity, be represented by Attorney before the Select Committee of your Honorable House appointed to inquire into and report on the said matter, with the right to call witnesses and adduce evidence, and examine and cross-examine such witnesses as may give evidence before the said Committee.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

SYDNEY MAXTED.

MR. CHARLES EGESON, LATE MAP-COMPILER, OBSERVATORY.
(CORRESPONDENCE RESPECTING REMOVAL OF, FROM PUBLIC SERVICE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 28 November, 1890.

CORRESPONDENCE respecting charges of insubordination and neglect of duty against Mr. Charles Egeson, late Map-compiler, and respecting his subsequent removal from the Public Service.

(3.) DISMISSAL OF MR. EGESON FROM OBSERVATORY:—Mr. McCourt asked the Minister of Public Instruction,—

- (1.) Has Mr. Egeson been dismissed from his position at the Observatory?
- (2.) Was an inquiry held at the Observatory into Mr. Egeson's conduct?
- (3.) If so, who conducted the inquiry; what was the nature of the charges; and the decision arrived at?
- (4.) Will he lay all papers in regard to Mr. Egeson's dismissal upon the Table of this House?

Mr. Brunker answered,—

- (1.) Yes.
- (2.) No, as the nature of his conduct rendered an inquiry unnecessary.
- (3.) Mr. Egeson was charged with neglect of duty and insubordination.
- (4.) Yes.

MR. CHARLES EGESON, LATE MAP-COMPILER, OBSERVATORY.

No. 1.

The Government Astronomer to The Under Secretary for Public Instruction.

Sir,

Observatory, 1 August, 1890.

I have the honor to report that Mr. Charles Egeson has absented himself from duty for the past three days, viz., July 29th, 30th, and 31st, without leave, and without excuse either by letter or medical certificate.

On several previous occasions Mr. Egeson has absented himself in the same way, and after the last one I called his attention to the necessity for his obedience to office rules.

I enclose my memos. and his replies. The latter breathe a spirit of insubordination, which, if not checked, will render it impossible to maintain order in the Observatory.

The same disregard for my authority is shown by Mr. Egeson in minor matters, and when I spoke to him quietly about this, he told me "he would do as he liked." Already I can see signs of his example affecting some of the other officers, and I therefore recommend that Mr. Egeson be reprovved sharply for disregarding official rules.

I regret, however, to add that I am convinced it would be better for the Public Service if Mr. Egeson's services were dispensed with altogether.

Memo. for Mr. Egeson.

20 May, 1890.

You were absent without leave on the 7th, and again on the 8th, of this month. It will be necessary for you to obtain leave for these days, or furnish satisfactory reasons for your absence.

H. C. RUSSELL.

20 May, 1890.

Sir, In the attendance-book will be found this entry on the 9th instant :—" Absent on 7th and 8th through illness," which should be satisfactory reason and sufficient explanation for the same.

H. C. Russell, Esq.

CHAS. EGESON.

20 May, 1890.

MR. EGESON must know that it is the rule in the Observatory that any absence without leave during office hours is to be reported to me on the first opportunity, either verbally or by letter, and Mr. Egeson must conform to the rule.

H. C. RUSSELL.

21 May, 1890.

Sir, I object to the use of the word "must." It is I who have to decide whether I must or must not.

H. C. Russell, Esq.

CHAS. EGESON.

Submitted in connection with 90-36,183, also submitted herewith.—E.J., 4/8/90.

It seems to me that Mr. Egeson is becoming so grossly insubordinate and offensive to his superior officer that his services will be of little use in view of the trouble he may cause. I think that he should be reprimanded for his breach of official rules re leave of absence (which may be now granted), and his attention called to his grossly insubordinate memo. to Mr. Russell, which tone must not be repeated.—J.H.C., 6/8/90.

Mr. Egeson informed in terms of Minister's minute.—G.K.S., 6/8/90.

The Government Astronomer to The Under Secretary for Public Instruction.

Sir,

Observatory, Monday, 4 August, 1890.

I have the honor to report that Mr. Egeson called for his cheque on Saturday morning, 2nd August, and sent in the enclosed letter and application for leave for 4th and 5th of this month, to which I replied that, having reported his absence without leave, I could not grant the leave asked for, but that I had no doubt if he sent in a medical certificate leave would be granted.

Notwithstanding leave of absence was refused, Mr. Egeson did not go on with his work on Saturday, and has not come to-day.

No. 4.

The Government Astronomer to The Under Secretary for Public Instruction.

Sir,

Observatory, 1 September, 1890.

I have the honor to bring under your notice a serious breach of discipline on the part of Mr. C. Egeson. The papers and correspondence herewith contain all the particulars; but stated shortly, the case is this: On 25th August the Superintendent of Telegraphs wrote to me an official letter, and sent it by a special messenger. When it came, Mr. Egeson opened it, and detained it until the next day, and then sent it to me without apology, simply stating he had opened it in mistake. It seemed strange to me, and I inquired how it had been sent, and then obtained the enclosed envelope, which is a fac-simile of the one opened by Mr. Egeson. I then wrote to Mr. Egeson for explanation (Appendix A), and got in reply letter B, which virtually admits what a reply to my memo. C fully admits, viz., that he has been in the habit of deliberately disregarding my written instructions about telegrams addressed to me, and further admits having previously opened memos. in official envelopes addressed to me.

I again called Mr. Egeson's attention to this, and pointed out that, if he could not see his way to explain, I should bring the matter under the notice of the Minister. No explanation having been furnished after two days, I am compelled to submit the case. Appendix E.

It is obvious that if such conduct, viz., the deliberate opening of my letters, and the disregard of my written instructions (Appendix F), were to pass unrebuked, it would be impossible to maintain order in the Observatory.

Personally, I should be satisfied with a written apology, and an assurance that in future my instructions would be carried out; but the offence is so serious, as an example in the Civil Service, that I feel it is not simply a personal matter, but one which can only be dealt with by the Minister himself.

I have, &c.,

H. C. RUSSELL,

Government Astronomer.

Memo. for Mr. Egeson.

29 August, 1890.

ON Tuesday forenoon, 26th instant, I received from you without cover the attached letter from the Superintendent of Telegraphs, with a message that you had opened it in mistake, and when I asked for the envelope, the reply was, that it could not be found.

I have made inquiry, and find that this letter was sent here by a special messenger in the forenoon of Monday, 25th, and was then enclosed in an official envelope (foolscap size), and addressed to me personally.

It appears, therefore, that you deliberately opened an official letter addressed to me and detained it for a day.

Have you any explanation to offer?

H. C. RUSSELL.

Mr. Cracknell's letter was attached to the original of this; Mr. Egeson has detained it.—H.C.R.

(B.)

Sydney Observatory, 29 August, 1890.

With reference to the letter opened by me, I beg to state, that in the ordinary routine of my duties I had occasion to send to the manager of the Telegraph Department a note requiring an answer to certain inquiries regarding Queensland telegrams. This note was sent in your name, as has been my custom with your knowledge for years, and the replies, though always addressed to you, have always been opened by me. I have asked hundreds of such questions, and have received and opened the letters from the Manager of the Telegraph Department containing the replies, though addressed to you, and in official envelopes, some of which are still in my possession, and do not think I have exceeded my duties thereby.

The letter which I sent to the Manager of the Telegraph Department was sent in the forenoon, and the one addressed to you, which I supposed was an answer thereto, was received by me in the afternoon—I think during lunch, or later. Having opened it and found it not mine, and also comparatively unimportant, I placed it in my pocket with the intention of having it sent to you later on, but forgot about it till the next morning. Regarding the envelope—having sent you the letter with an explanation that I opened it, for what purpose should I detain the envelope? I never prevaricate—yet you seem to insinuate this. You say that I have deliberately opened your letters, but those who do so also deliberately destroy them—at least it seems to me to be the only sequence to such conduct. I have never done a mean or cowardly act or one of which I need to be ashamed or could not justify, and as your letter to me contains charges of which I should be ashamed, I shall take steps to vindicate myself unless you withdraw them and apologise in writing.

H. C. Russell, Esq.

Your obedient servant,

CHAS. EGESON.

(C.)

Memo. for Mr. Egeson.

29 August, 1890.

AM I to understand from your letter of the 29th instant that you have been in the habit of disregarding my written instructions, to the effect that no telegrams addressed "H. C. Russell" should be opened by you, and continued the practice of opening such telegrams?

H. C. RUSSELL.

(D.)

Sir,

Sydney Observatory, 30 August, 1890.

In reply to your memo. of this day, I do not understand how you can ask such a question, seeing that you are at least once a week receiving such telegrams opened by me, and having reference to the supply or breakage of instruments, requisition for telegram-books, &c., &c.; also, frequently, daily rainfall and other matters concerning my particular duties, which, by the way, I generally do not send you at all, but file in my office; and if the office I hold has not that charge or responsibility, the sooner you get a schoolboy to do my work the better.

The telegrams addressed "H. C. Russell," which I am in the habit of opening, are marked by distinctive numbers or calls, by which I know their nature as having reference to our meteorological stations, and I take it that your instructions re the opening of telegrams had no reference to such matters, or else I am at a loss to explain why you have not taken objection before, as you have received many dozen telegrams lately opened by me.

I am about getting full of this petty persecution and fault-finding, and unless it comes to an immediate end I shall have my little say in the matter.

Awaiting an early reply to my letter of yesterday,—

H. C. Russell, Esq.

Yours, &c.,

CHAS. EGESON.

(E.)

(E.)

Memo. for Mr. Egeson.

30 August, 1890.

YOUR letter of even date admits opening telegrams addressed "H. C. Russell," instructions to the contrary notwithstanding, and it raises another important question.

Since my written instructions as to the opening of telegrams addressed "H. C. Russell" such telegrams were very frequently brought to me, and now and then one came opened, with the excuse that you had opened it in mistake, and when telegrams addressed to me were sent without envelope or excuse I assumed that they had come addressed "Government Astronomer," and concluded that my instructions were being carried out; but now it appears, from your letter above referred to, that some telegrams addressed "H. C. Russell" were sent to me, and others detained and opened by you; whatever the reason or intention of this course of action, the effect was that it misled me.

I shall be glad if you can see your way to fully explain the questions at issue, because if they are not explained I shall be obliged to bring this correspondence under the notice of the Minister for Public Instruction.

H. C. RUSSELL.

(F.)

Memo., re telegrams, for Mr. Egeson.

28 September, 1889.

In future some private as well as official telegrams will be coming in addressed "H. C. Russell."

In order to avoid mistakes in opening such telegrams, all so addressed are to be treated as letters and put on my table.

H. C. RUSSELL.

Copy of address on envelope.

H. C. RUSSELL, Esq.,
Government Astronomer.

Explanatory.

EVERY day many (twenty or thirty) telegrams come to the Observatory about weather; these and all letters are, during office hours, delivered in the office at the front door. All telegrams addressed "Government Astronomer" or "Observatory" are opened there, but written instructions were given nearly twelve months since that all telegrams addressed "H. C. Russell" should be treated as letters and put on my table.—H.C.R.

Submitted.—E.J., 3/9/90.

These papers show a spirit of gross insubordination in Mr. Egeson, even after repeated warnings, and especially conspicuous after my minute of 6th August, 1890. Mr. Russell has just seen me, and it is clear that the Observatory is being disorganised by the conduct of Mr. Egeson towards the Government Astronomer. In the public interest such a state of affairs can no longer be tolerated, and Mr. Egeson must be suspended until he withdraws his insubordinate and offensive letters, and complies with Mr. Russell's request for an explanation in the matter, and undertakes to submit himself entirely to the rules of the Government service. If such explanation is not forthcoming within seven days, and is not entirely free from an insubordinate spirit, Mr. Egeson must be called upon to show cause why he should not be dismissed from the Public Service for persistent insubordination and disregard of official orders and requests. Mr. Russell to be asked to give Mr. Egeson's record, and show how he came into the Public Service, his qualifications before and since.—J.H.C.

Letters to Mr. Egeson and Treasury.—W.J.D., 3/9/90.

The Government Astronomer,—Will you be good enough to note the Minister's minute hereon, comply with the directions contained in the latter part of the minute, and return these papers to this office.—E.J., 3/9/90.

Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 3 September, 1890.

I am directed to acquaint you that the Minister of Public Instruction has had under notice a communication from the Government Astronomer in which he reports you for disregarding his written instructions respecting the opening of official correspondence addressed to him.

2. In view of the matters disclosed by this and previous reports, and of your generally insubordinate conduct, the Minister has directed that you be suspended from duty until such time as you withdraw your offensive letters to Mr. Russell and comply with that officer's request for an explanation, and also undertake to submit yourself entirely to the rules of the Government service. If such explanation be not forthcoming within seven days, and be not altogether free from an insubordinate spirit, Mr. Carruthers will recommend for the approval of His Excellency the Governor in Council that you be called upon to show cause why you should not be removed from the Public Service for persistent insubordination and disregard of official orders.

3. You are to regard the receipt of this letter as an intimation of your suspension from duty.

Mr. C. Egeson to The Minister for Public Instruction.

Sir, Victoria House, Bellevue-street, Lyndhurst, Glebe, 4 September, 1890.

Being in receipt of your letter No. 41,412, of yesterday, I called on the Government Astronomer personally, with the request to be informed as to the nature of the explanation required concerning the opening of certain telegrams, &c., seeing that I had previously explained the matter most fully, and to the best of my knowledge. The Government Astronomer would not, however, enlighten me on the subject, and wished me to leave his office.

In consequence, I regret that I cannot comply with your instructions regarding the said explanation, and can now only request that you will be kind enough to at once recommend for the approval of His Excellency the Governor in Council that I be called upon to show cause why I should not be removed from the Public Service, as intimated in your letter to me, this being the only means I see for vindicating myself.

In the meantime I have complied with your order suspending me from duty.

In order to enlighten Mr. Egeson, and to give him every chance before he forces me to take an extreme step, inform him that he may have copies of Mr. Russell's letters and memoranda, showing what he has to explain. Also that the insubordinate letters and memos. will be produced to him, and any other reasonable information afforded to him to enable him to comply with my minute of 3rd October, 1890.—J.H.C.

I am to state further that any other reasonable information respecting the matter will also be furnished to you upon application to this Department.

Sir, Observatory, noon, 4 September, 1890.

I have the honor herewith to enclose a letter just received from Mr. Egeson.

At 10 a.m. this morning Mr. Egeson walked into my room, and said, "I want to know what explanation you want, for I do not understand." I replied that I had written all I had to say, and if he would read my memos. he would see; I must therefore decline to discuss the matter verbally with him; if he would put what he had to say in writing I would give it careful consideration. He said, "I have a letter from the Minister, telling me to give the explanation, and I want to know what you mean; it is as much for your good as mine." I again told him that I must decline to discuss the matter verbally; but he persisted in loud talking, and a third time I had to tell him that I would not discuss the matter verbally, and would thank him to walk out of my room. He left, and at 11:30 a.m. the enclosed letter was delivered to me, and I told the messenger there was no answer; and reading the letter over calmly, I cannot see that any reply is needed, for I had told him that if he would read my memos. he would see what I meant.

No. 10.

Mr. C. Egeson to The Government Astronomer.

Sir, Sydney Observatory, 4 September, 1890.

With reference to your letter of 30th August, requiring an explanation to certain questions which I had previously explained, I have this day received a letter from the Minister for Public Instruction, wherein he requires me to give the explanation. In consequence, I called on you personally, requesting to be informed as to the nature of the explanation [required, as I did not know how to more fully explain the matter than I had already done.

Your refusal to in any way enlighten me on the subject, and ordering me to leave your office, can therefore only result in my inability to comply with the Minister's instructions, and the necessity for my requesting him to at once recommend for the approval of His Excellency the Governor in Council that I be called upon to show cause why I should not be removed from the Public Service, as intimated in his letter to me.

As I am in the meantime to consider myself suspended from duty, I shall leave the office at once.

Memorandum

Memorandum in reference to Mr. Egeson's connection with the Civil Service.

IN November, 1884, I received by post a scientific essay, the subject of which I have forgotten now. It was signed "Charles Egeson."

I thought from the style of the essay that I might be of use to the author, and in accordance with my habit of trying to help any worker in science, I wrote to Mr. Egeson, and asked him to call; he did so, and I had a long conversation with him about the essay and himself; he told me that he had been a railway guard in Ceylon, and that, in consequence of the depression there, he had lost his position, and had come to Sydney seeking employment, but that he had failed to find it in any capacity on the railways or other works that he was capable of, and that to keep his family from starvation he had taken to clearing land—work for which he was physically unfitted. I promised that I would help him if I could. Shortly after this the man who had been working as extra clerk in the Observatory left, and I took Mr. Egeson to see if he could do the work, the salary being, as usual, £100 per annum. He proved himself to be a painstaking and most useful clerk.

In August, 1885, his salary was raised to £125 per annum; he had in the meantime learned to do the daily weather map, which it was Mr. Bladen's duty to make up.

In January, 1886, Mr. Bladen was transferred to the Government Printing Office, and Mr. Egeson being the only junior in the office capable of taking his place, he was put into it; his zeal and good work fully justified this step, and there was no falling off in this respect up to the time I left for England—February, 1887.

Upon my return from Europe, in October, 1887, a great change had come over Mr. Egeson in his conduct towards me; he was insubordinate, and at times abusive. I, however, passed these over, thinking they resulted from anger that would pass away, and I continued to give him instruction and every facility for learning his duty, or rather, what he was required to know for the due performance of his duties. I knew he was writing something, and when he said he had not the means of getting it published I told him if he would show it to me in manuscript, and the work was such as I could approve, I would be very glad to get it published for him; but he would not show it to me, and finally got it printed. From that time onwards his conduct has been most insubordinate and abusive to me at odd times, and I attributed these to fits of uncontrollable temper, and passed them over.

My recent letters contain the further development of Mr. Egeson's conduct up to date.

No. 11.

The Government Astronomer to The Under Secretary for Public Instruction.

Sir,

Observatory, 4 September, 1890.

In continuation of my report in reference to Mr. Egeson's connection with the Civil Service, I have the honor to send the following short abstract of the correspondence referred to in the former part.

Abstract.

15th October, 1889.—Letter from Under Secretary to Astronomer. "Mr. Egeson to be informed that Mr. Carruthers disapproves of the course taken by him in publishing his recent weather predictions, and that he must in future abstain from similar action."

21st October, 1889.—Astronomer to Under Secretary, calling attention to the fact that in the Daily Telegraph of 19th October Mr. Egeson had again written about the drought.

28th October.—Under Secretary to the Astronomer, enclosing copy of the Minister's minute. "Under the circumstances, I am not prepared to enforce the rule in this case, as it arises out of a previous publication which was not ultra vires, and which has been assailed."

14th March, 1890.—Astronomer to the Under Secretary, enclosing a cutting from the Daily Telegraph, in which it appears that Mr. Egeson had given that paper a weather prediction in direct opposition to your instructions in letter of 15th October, 1889 (No. B. 89-8,214.)

20th and 21st May, 1890.—Mr. Egeson grossly insubordinate in two memos. to the Astronomer. Reported on 1st August.

5th July, 1890.—Astronomer to the Under Secretary, enclosing a review of a supplement to Mr. Egeson's "weather system," contained in Herald of 4th July.

11th July.—Under Secretary wrote to Mr. Egeson, informing him that he had deliberately acted contrary to the Minister's instructions, and a further breach of orders will be met by his summary removal from the Public Service.

1st August, 1890.—Astronomer to the Under Secretary, reporting his absence without leave on 29th, 30th, and 31st July, and at the same time enclosing Mr. Egeson's grossly insubordinate replies to questions asked about his absence on 20th and 21st May.

6th August.—Under Secretary to Mr. Egeson, reprimanding him for breach of rule and proceeding. "You were guilty of gross insubordination, as evidenced by your memos. of 20th and 21st of May, the latter especially being highly improper; and Mr. Carruthers desires me to say that the tone adopted by you in replying to your superior officer's memos. must not be repeated."

1st September, 1890.—Astronomer to the Under Secretary, reporting a serious breach of discipline on the part of Mr. Egeson, who had opened and detained an official letter; also in opening telegrams addressed "H. C. Russell," in direct disobedience of written instructions, and in a repetition of the tone of reply to the Astronomer's memos.; expressly forbidden by the Minister on 6th August.

Observatory.—Mr. Russell's charges against Mr. Egeson.

I BEG to report for the Minister's information that Mr. Egeson called upon me yesterday afternoon ostensibly to obtain copies of the Astronomer's complaints against him.

He expressed an inability to reply, as desired by the Minister, to the charge of insubordination, inasmuch as he was unaware that he had been insubordinate, and he requested me to explain the matter to him. While endeavouring to do this, Mr. Egeson, who throughout the interview laboured under great excitement and displayed a very objectionable manner, interrupted me in the middle of a sentence, and declined to allow me to finish it. He accused me of a desire to insult him, and added that he did not require copies of the complaints against him. I thereupon terminated the interview.

The Chief Clerk was present at our interview.

Sir,

"Victoria House," Bellevue-st., Lyndhurst, Sydney, 23 September, 1890.

In reply to yours of the 17th instant, I have the honor of submitting for the consideration of His Excellency the Governor in Council the grounds upon which I based my letters to Mr. Russell, Government Astronomer, of 29th and 30th August, and that of 4th September to the Minister of Public Instruction, viz., that my conduct towards Mr. Russell has always been guided by his conduct towards me, in that I have simply resented in a manly, straightforward way the intolerable tyranny, overbearing, dictatorial, and unscrupulous to provocation—the trumpery fault-finding and petty jealousy towards his subordinates generally, but particularly towards me, thereby destroying the efficiency and well-being of the establishment under his direction, which it is simply a disgrace to call a scientific Observatory.

I feel sure that the Government will not countenance such administration of any one of its Departments, and that in the interests of the Observatory, the Civil Service, and the public, it will appoint a special Commission, or direct the Civil Service Inquiry Commission to investigate the administration of the Observatory by Mr. Russell, when I shall be prepared to give evidence which will elicit the general incapacity and negligence of Mr. Russell, both as a scientist and as the head of a scientific Observatory—nay, as unfit to be in charge of men (who by mere chance are his subordinates), whom he treats like dogs, while he fawns to those in authority to him—a state demoralising in the extreme.

In view of the appointment of a commission of investigation I have not availed myself of the privilege of perusing the papers submitted by Mr. Russell against me. In the meantime, having made every preparation for a lecturing tour in the country, I would only be prepared to resume my official duties—should such decision be arrived at—on condition of complete independence of the Government Astronomer.

Sir,

Observatory, 30 September, 1890.

In reference to Mr. Egeson's letter of 23rd September, sent to me, B.C. 25/9/90, I have the honor to report that the papers in this case show that from first to last I have treated Mr. Egeson with consideration and kindness; that I have passed over many acts of his which deserved a different treatment; and that it was not until his conduct became so grossly insubordinate as to threaten to disorganize the Observatory that I reported him to the Minister.

The charges of "intolerable tyranny and fault-finding" made by Mr. Egeson have no foundation on fact, and could only originate in a perverted view of the circumstances.

I have never treated him with harshness, much less with tyranny, and my instructions having been given in writing, remain to prove that the charge is unfounded.

And I certainly have never found fault with him, thinking that his conduct must be due to ignorance of how he ought to conduct himself in his official capacity. I have taken no notice of it, trusting that he would gradually learn from those about him the common rules which guide men in their official intercourse. In this expectation I have unfortunately been disappointed.

It seems hardly necessary to refer to other charges.

I have had control of the Observatory for twenty-one years, and during that time it has steadily risen in usefulness and in the estimation of astronomers in other countries, both for its meteorological and astronomical work, and its present position is a sufficient answer, if answer is required, to Mr. Egeson's charges of incompetence and negligence.

One thing alone need be mentioned as indicative of the opinions of other astronomers: At the recent congress of astronomers at Paris, at which all the leading astronomers of the world (sixty in number) were present, to Sydney Observatory was accorded the high honor of having given to it one-twentieth share of the greatest and most important astronomical work of the Century—the photographic charting of the heavens.

No. 1.

Mr. S. H. de M. Bromley to The Comptroller-General of Prisons.

Sir, Regimental Office, Phillip-street, Sydney, 22 March, 1890.

Being most anxious to obtain employment in the Department of Prisons, and believing that there are vacancies existing for governors at several gaols in the Colony, I have the honor to apply for appointment to such a position.

Having been educated for the medical profession, but being obliged, owing to reverses in fortune and circumstances over which I had no control, to relinquish my studies at an early age (19), and finding myself cast entirely upon my own resources, I enlisted in the Imperial Service, where I remained for a period of nearly five years, after which I obtained my discharge and came to the Colonies, where I have been ever since.

I am at present serving as an instructor on the Permanent Military Staff of the Colony, which position I have held since 1885.

I may state that my service with the Imperial and Colonial Governments has been almost continuous since 1877, during which time I have constantly had the control of bodies of men, and have always been regarded as a thorough disciplinarian.

Understanding that the governorship of Darlinghurst is vacant, I would respectfully request that my application be regarded as specially applying to that post, but, in the event of someone more experienced being selected to fill the position, I would of course most gratefully accept any other post for which I may be considered fitted.

I am in my thirty-third year. Please find credentials in support of my application attached hereto.

I have, &c.,

SIDNEY H. DE MONTFORD BROMLEY.

Acknowledge and say that application will receive due consideration.—G.M., 28/3/90. Done,

Sir, I have much pleasure in certifying to the efficient manner in which you discharged the duties of Clerk of Petty Sessions and Registrar of the Small Debts Court at Cobargo, and to the satisfaction you gave to the Bench of Magistrates there during the time you held those offices.

Bega, 31 October, 1885.

Yours, &c.,

JOHN DAVIS,
Police Magistrate.

Mr. Sydney de Montford Bromley.

I HAVE much pleasure in testifying to the general good character of Sergeant Bromley since he has been on the Military Permanent Staff. Having been attached to the 1st Regiment nearly the whole time, I can speak most highly of him both for his attention to duties, ability as an instructor, and great steadiness.

Head-quarters, Sydney, 2 April, 1886.

C. F. BARTLETT, Capt.,
Adj., 1st Reg. Infy.

Mount Kembla Coal Co., 22, Bridge-street, Sydney, 26 October, 1886.

UNDERSTANDING that Mr. Sidney M. Bromley is a candidate for an office in connection with the District Court, I have much pleasure in stating that during the four years I have known Mr. Bromley he has impressed me most favourably as a young man well educated, active, industrious, sober, extremely anxious to improve his position, and to maintain the honor of his family, several members of which I know.

His education, punctual and methodical habits, eminently qualify him to fill such an office as is now vacant with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of his employers.

I have every confidence in testifying to the qualifications of Mr. Bromley, and to his character, which, I believe, is unblemished.

Yours, &c.,

JAMES R. M. ROBERTSON, M.D., F.G.S., &c.

CORPORAL Bromley has been a soldier for four years and eighty-eight days, of which two years and seventy-seven days were in the Grenadier Guards.

His conduct while in the service has been very good, and I can recommend him for any position of trust.

I may also state that he is an excellent and thoroughly efficient drill instructor.

R. G. SHARMAN CRAWFORD, Lt.,
Adjutant, 16th (Queen's Lancers).

York, 9 November, 1881.

LANCE-SERGEANT BROMLEY has served in the 1st Battalion Grenadier Guards for a period of two years seventy-seven days, and is now leaving at his own request by purchase.

During the time he has been in the regiment his conduct has been exemplary, and I can confidently recommend him as a thoroughly efficient drill instructor.

Adj., 1st Battn. Grenr. Gds.

PARCHMENT certificate of discharge of No. 1868. Rank, corporal; name, Sidney Montford Bromley, 16th Regiment of Lancers. Born in the parish of Southwater, near the town of Southwater, in the county of Sussex. Enlisted at New Windsor on the 6th August, 1877, for Grenadier Guards, at the age of 19 years 9 months. He is discharged in consequence of his own request on payment of £28 under scale III, royal warrant, 1st May, 1878. Service abroad, nil years. He has served 2 years 11 days, and 4 years 88 days reckon towards pension. Medals, nil. His conduct and character while with the colors have been very good. He was, when promoted, in possession of one good-conduct badge, and would, had he not been promoted, have been now in possession of one good-conduct badge. He is in possession of a second-class school certificate.

Dear Mr. Miller,

Judge's Chambers, Supreme Court, Sydney, 24 March, 1890.

Mr. Sidney Bromley informs me that he is applying for an appointment as governor of one of the gaols. I shall be much pleased to hear of the success of his application, as he is a gentleman well suited for the post, and, I think, deserving of some better place than the one he now occupies in the Brigade Office.

Yours truly,

WILLM. C. WINDEYER.

No. 2.

Mr. S. H. de M. Bromley to The Comptroller-General of Prisons.

18 April, 1890.

PLEASE find enclosed herewith, in support of my application for an appointment under the Department of Prisons, a testimonial from Major-General Richardson, C.B. (Commanding N.S.W. Military Forces), under whose command I am at present serving; also from the undermentioned gentlemen, viz.:—

Lieut.-Col. Farrell, Commanding 1st Regiment Infantry.

Major Bartlett, Adjutant, 1st Regiment Infantry.

Claude Solomon, Esq., Chief Paymaster to Military Forces.

H. C. L. Anderson, Esq., Director of Agriculture.

SIDNEY H. DE MONTFORD BROMLEY.

[Enclosures.]

Memorandum from General Officer Commanding Military Staff Office, Sydney, to The Comptroller-General.

18 April, 1890.

STAFF-SERGEANT Bromley has served under my command from 8th December, 1885, during which period he has conducted himself with steadiness and sobriety, and entirely to my satisfaction. He is a fair drill, good orderly-room clerk, and good disciplinarian.

JOHN S. RICHARDSON,
Major-General.

Regimental Office, 17 April, 1890.

I HAVE much pleasure in certifying that Staff Color-Sergeant Bromley has been attached to the 1st Regiment Infantry for over four years, and during that period he has performed his duties and conducted himself with entire satisfaction, being a steady, sober, industrious man, a good drill instructor, a first-class orderly-room clerk, firm, yet respectful in his demeanour.

W. J. FARRELL, Lt.-Col.,
Commanding 1st Regiment.

Head-quarters,

Head-quarters, 1st Regiment Infantry, Sydney, 18 April, 1890.

I HAVE much pleasure in testifying to the steadiness, sobriety, and thorough discipline displayed by Staff Color-Sergeant Bromley during the past four years he has been attached to the 1st Regiment as an Instructor of the Permanent Staff. He has performed the duties of orderly-room clerk faithfully and well. Being immediately under me, I can speak in the highest terms of him.

C. F. BARTLETT, Major and Adjutant, Permanent Staff.

I HAVE much pleasure in testifying to the thorough steadiness displayed by Mr. Bromley in the performance of his duties as orderly-room clerk of the 1st Regiment V.I. during the last four years. He is, in my opinion, a good disciplinarian, and should fill the position of governor or deputy-governor of a gaol to your satisfaction.

The Comptroller-General of Prisons.

C. SOLOMON,
Chief Paymaster, 18/4/90.

The Comptroller-General of Prisons,—
Dear Mr. Miller,

Sub-Department of Agriculture, Sydney, 17 April, 1890.

Allow me to say a good word for Mr. Bromley, who is applying for a position in your department. His five years' experience in the Household Guards and 16th Lancers, and his subsequent service in the military forces of this Colony, have given him a very valuable training for a position such as governor or deputy-governor of a gaol. I have seen a good deal of him while serving on the staff of the 1st Regiment, and can testify that he is in every way respectable, and well appreciated by his superior officers.

He keeps himself as a gentleman, is very smart in his duties, and would be a good disciplinarian.

I am of opinion that you will not regret giving him a chance to show what he is fit for.

Believe, &c.,
HENRY C. L. ANDERSON.

No. 3.

The Comptroller-General of Prisons to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Department of Prisons, New South Wales,
Comptroller-General's Office, Sydney, 21 April, 1890.

Application from Mr. S. de M. Bromley for an appointment as Governor of a Gaol.

In forwarding the accompanying application from Mr. Bromley for an appointment under this department for the Minister's consideration, I desire to say that, from the testimonials which he has submitted, as well as from inquiries which I have made respecting him, I believe him to be well fitted by age, education, and disciplinary experience for the position of deputy-governor of a gaol. I think it very desirable that the services of men of his class should be secured by this department for the higher positions in the gaols, and I therefore venture to recommend that he be appointed to the position of Deputy-Governor of Berrima Gaol, on probation, for six months, vice Mr. Thompson, who is to be transferred to Maitland, where a vacancy has occurred through the resignation of Major Hunt.

The salary attached to post of Deputy-Governor at Berrima is £200 per annum.

In connection with this matter, it may not be out of place to quote here the following extract from a report of the late Comptroller-General, when recommending the appointment of an officer to fill the position of Deputy-Governor of Bathurst Gaol:—

I have carefully considered the qualifications of the senior officers remaining in the lesser grades after the selections for advancement already made, and without in any way detracting from their efficiency in their present positions, I do not feel justified (unless there was no alternative) in nominating one from among them to this post.

GEORGE MILLER,
Comptroller-General.

The Acting Under Secretary of Justice to The Comptroller-General of Prisons.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 23 April, 1890.

Referring to your minute of the 21st instant, recommending Mr. Sidney H. de Montford Bromley for the position of Deputy-Governor of Berrima Gaol, I am directed to inform you that the Minister of Justice has approved of Mr. Bromley being appointed Acting Deputy-Governor at that gaol, with salary at the rate of £200 per annum, to take effect from the date of commencing duty.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

(MR. CASWELL, POLICE MAGISTRATE, DUBBO—INFORMATION RESPECTING SALARY, FEES, &c., &f.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 18 June, 1890.[Laid upon the Table in accordance with a promise made in answer to Question No. 15, Votes No. 21, Thursday, 12th June, 1890.]

Questions.

- (15.) MR. CASWELL, POLICE MAGISTRATE AT DUBBO:—MR. CRICK asked THE MINISTER OF JUSTICE,—
- (1.) What is the salary of Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate at Dubbo?
 - (2.) Has any money been received by Mr. Caswell over and above his salary from the Consolidated Revenue during the three years ending 31st March, 1890; if so, what amount?
 - (3.) Is it a fact that Mr. Caswell is more than half his time away from Dubbo?

Answers.

- (1.) £550 per annum.
- (2.) Return showing amount of money received by Mr. Caswell, Police Magistrate, &c., at Dubbo, for salary, travelling expenses, and fees for three years ending 31st March, 1890, as far as can be readily ascertained from the records of this Department:—

Police Magistrate, salary	1,650	0	0
" travelling expenses*	565	15	3
Coroner	108	2	6
" fees	91	0	0
Mines, travelling expenses	61	10	0
Total	£2,476	7	9

* To 23th February, 1890.

MEMO.:—In explanation of the amount paid for travelling expenses, it may be mentioned that Mr. Caswell, in his capacity of Police Magistrate and Mining Warden, has to attend Courts at Nyngan, Warren, Dandaloo, Obley, and Peak Hill, and that he (Mr. Caswell) reports that during the period stated he travelled about 36,000 miles, and that a large portion of the expense was for conveyance.

- (3.) This would not appear to be a fact, as I am informed that during the period from 1st of January, 1890, to 31st of May last, Mr. Caswell was absent from Dubbo on public duty for sixty-nine days.

No. 1.

The Chief Clerk, Department of Public Instruction, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 11 November, 1889.

Sir, I do myself the honor to make application to the Minister of Justice for the position of Comptroller-General of Prisons, which is now vacant.

In support of my application, I may state that 27½ years of my life have been passed in the Civil Service of this Colony (two years in the Account Branch of the General Post Office, over three years in the Colonial Secretary's Office, and twenty-two years and five months in the Education Department). While in the Colonial Secretary's Office, I acted as Private Secretary to Mr. (afterwards Sir Charles) Cowper and Mr. William Forster respectively. I have held the office of Chief Clerk of the Education Department for upwards of fifteen years, and during that period I have frequently acted as head of the Department. On one occasion I performed the duties of Under Secretary for eighteen months, and on another for ten months. The experience thus gained, both in a clerical and an administrative capacity, in a department where business of a most varied, technical, and responsible character is carried on, should, I respectfully submit, render me fully qualified for the appointment which I now apply for.

As regards the manner in which my duties have been performed, I beg to invite the Minister's attention to the accompanying printed testimonials.

I have, &c.,

GEORGE MILLER.

[Enclosures.]

My dear Trickett,

Wentworth Court, 27 May, 1884.

Mr. Johnson, the Chief Inspector, asked me some time ago to give him a note as to my opinion of the way in which he performed his duties whilst I was Minister, and I gave him with pleasure a note in reply, expressive of the extremely high opinion I hold in reference to Mr. Johnson in every respect.

Mr. Miller, the Acting Under Secretary, has not applied to me for any similar letter, probably out of a delicacy arising out of our long personal friendship and intimacy; but I think it right and due to him to state that, whilst I was Minister, he also performed his duties with unvarying zeal and great efficiency, and gave me reason to form the most favourable opinion of him as Acting Under Secretary.

I wish you to understand that I do not desire to recommend the claims of one officer as superior to those of the other; my simple desire is to do justice, so far as I am concerned, to both.

Yours, &c.,
G. H. REID.

My dear Mr. Miller,

Sydney, 26 May, 1884.

In enclosing to you the accompanying document, I feel that I should inadequately discharge my obligations to you if I failed to thank you for the frank and loyal co-operation and the valuable assistance you have given me during the whole period of our official connection. Above all, permit me to thank you for the kindly way in which you have undertaken the heavy burden of my duties during the time of my enforced absence from office, and to express the hope that your future career may be in the highest degree prosperous.

I am, sincerely yours,
W. WILKINS.

George Miller, Esq.

Department of Public Instruction, Sydney, 26 May, 1884.

MR. GEORGE MILLER has served with me under the late Council of Education and the present Department of Public Instruction for about seventeen years. Commencing in one of the subordinate positions of the service, he has, by his own merit, obtained promotion step by step, and now holds the highest rank in the office next to the Under Secretary. In every position he has filled, his duties have been performed with assiduity and efficiency, and he has uniformly exhibited a courteous demeanour and an obliging disposition, whilst to myself he has rendered on all occasions ready and valuable assistance.

Mr. Miller has also made himself acquainted with the work of the several branches into which the office has been divided, and the knowledge thus acquired has doubtless proved of essential service to him while acting as Under Secretary during my absence on leave.

W. WILKINS,
Under Secretary.

Dear Mr. Miller,

137, Macquarie-street, 27 April, 1885.

If you think that any testimony of mine would be of avail in helping you to a better classification in the Civil Service I gladly offer it.

Under the Council of Education you were always known to me as an assiduous and hard-working officer, and from the beginning of 1875, when you obtained the position of Chief Clerk, you not only had the heavy work of your own office to carry on, but, in consequence of the bad state of Mr. Wilkins' health, you were frequently called upon to undertake, in addition, the responsible and anxious position of Secretary to the Council. Yet under these trying circumstances the work of the office was well kept up.

I am aware also that, after the retirement of Mr. Wilkins, you acted as Under Secretary of the Department for eighteen months, and I thought at the same time that it was very hard on you to be simply remitted back to the position of Chief Clerk, after having the control of the office for such a long time.

I have no copy of the Civil Service Act by me, and I do not remember what discretionary powers the Board may possess, but I am quite sure that you deserve to be treated with the utmost consideration that the terms of the Act will allow.

Believe me, yours faithfully,
J. SMITH.

George Miller, Esq.

Sir,

Marinella, Manly, 6 October, 1886.

You have done me the honor, in placing fully before me the circumstances under which you have, as you apprise me, temporarily withdrawn an official application for promotion in rank, to solicit my attention to your case, as one which occurred during my occupation of office as Acting Colonial Secretary and Premier. In that case, as you manifestly appear to be convinced, you conceive yourself to be the victim of an injustice, which did not rest at your being then passed over in the public service, but which may involve the consequence of entirely arresting your official career. As you must be aware, I can be of no service in entertaining the consideration of your case with the object of now assisting you; but at the same time I cannot decline, at your request, to communicate my view of your situation, of which view you can make use in any way that you may deem advisable to employ it, with the single limitation that I may not be exposed to the imputation of endeavouring to exercise any influence by addressing this letter to you. I shall not attempt any other statement of your position in the office of Public Instruction, as it seemed to me, than that to which I gave open expression at the time to which you refer. You were at that time, and had been for a considerable period, the Acting Under Secretary for the Department, to which office you were appointed, as I then understood, upon the distinct recommendation of the permanent head of the Department. To pass you over by giving the office to another was, in your particular case, practically to remove you from the office which you then actually held, and had with perfect satisfaction filled for a considerable time. In this proceeding I, with much reluctance, and after repeated protests against its impropriety, was compelled to acquiesce. But I never imagined, nor have I the least reason to suppose that any of my colleagues apprehended, that your long and honorable career, your satisfactory discharge of public duty, and your peculiar, and, in my view, superior claims to the office were to be again disregarded in the event of the office being again vacant. I can with difficulty realize the infliction of so gross an injustice, nor will I believe its perpetration possible. Meanwhile, as you request my guidance, I would recommend you to place the whole matter in the hands of your Ministerial chief, and endeavour to obtain a clear and distinct settlement of your position.

I am, &c.,
WILLIAM B. DALLEY.

George Miller, Esq., Department of Public Instruction.

Dear Mr. Miller,

Department of Public Instruction, 17 December, 1887.

Mr. Johnson has officially notified to me his wish to resume duty on the 1st prox. It may be of interest to you, and is certainly a pleasure to me, to subjoin the minute I have written on his letter. It is thus:—

“As Mr. Johnson wishes himself to curtail the unexpired portion of his leave, and to personally supervise the production of the Annual Report, I have no objection to his resuming duty as from the 1st January, 1888. It is only due to Mr. Miller, who has been Acting Under Secretary, to put on record that a more competent, courteous, able, and industrious officer could not well be found. I have been under great obligations to Mr. Miller for his unvarying readiness, his great knowledge of every detail of the work of the Department, and his marked ability and gentlemanly demeanour in the discharge of his official duties.”

Yours truly,
JAS. INGLIS.

George Miller, Esq.

No. 2.

The Under Secretary of Justice to Mr. G. Miller.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 13 November, 1889.

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 11th instant, applying for appointment as Comptroller-General of Prisons, and to inform you that the same will receive due consideration.

Mr. G. Miller to The Minister of Justice.

Dear Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, N.S.W., 25 November, 1889.

I take the liberty of enclosing for your perusal a letter that I have received from Mr. Barton, which perhaps you will kindly cause to be placed with my application for the position of Comptroller-General of Prisons.

Yours, &c.,

GEORGE MILLER.

[Enclosure.]

Dear Miller,

Denham Chambers, 21 November, 1889.

Since you told me that you thought of applying to be appointed to the office of Comptroller-General of Prisons, which the unfortunate loss of Mr. Harold Maclean has rendered vacant, I have been turning the matter over in my mind. I hope you will not think I take any liberty in venturing to tell you that I consider you possess strong qualifications for the office. You have successfully administered a most important department, constantly engaged in fresh work of organization, and exacting from those who manage it the exercise of much tact, nicety of discrimination, and judgment in the adjustment of conflicting rights and claims. Your kindly temperament is balanced by firmness and conscientiousness. Your career in the public service is very long, and its record is without blemish. There will, one must expect, be other worthy candidates for the important position of Comptroller; but if the choice falls upon you I shall look forward with every confidence to your success in the discharge of its difficult duties, and the judicious introduction of improvements and reforms. I certainly do not see any reason which should deter you from sending in your application, and I regret that my attitude of opposition to the existing Administration debars me from expressing in the proper quarter the opinion which I hold in your favour.

Yours, &c.,

EDMUND BARTON.

Mr. G. Miller to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Dear Sir,

Department of Public Instruction, N.S.W., Thursday, 12 December, 1889.

Would you have the kindness to place the accompanying letter from Sir Alfred Stephen with the papers in connection with my application for the position of Comptroller-General of Prisons?

When I received it I sent it to a friend to read, and he, unfortunately, mislaid it; hence the reason for the delay in forwarding it to you.

Yours, &c.,

GEORGE MILLER.

Submitted with reference to other applications for this appointment now before Minister.—A.C.F., 13/12/89. Seen.—A.J.G., 16/12/89.

[Enclosure.]

My dear George Miller,

Wollongong, Monday, 18 November, 1889.

I suppose that by this time you have become reconciled to your position in the Public Instruction Department, although, as you may have known or guessed, I thought years long ago that you ought to have been appointed to the higher post. (I speak of the time when I held a seat on the Board of Education, and was no idle or unobservant member.) But I have no doubt that you have done your duty in all loyalty and faithfulness throughout the years which have passed, and now—as a friend suggests to me—the opportunity has come for well-deserved promotion. The office and duties of Comptroller-General, so long discharged by poor Harold Maclean, seem to me to be well—perhaps singularly well—suited to you, and I do not hesitate to say that I am sure you would fulfil honorably and creditably every such duty, to the advantage of that important department. If the expression by me of that opinion would be (on the supposition of your candidature) of service to you with the Premier and his Cabinet, you or your more closely connected friends have my leave to convey it to Sir Henry and any other proper quarter.

I am, &c.,

ALFRED STEPHEN.

The Secretary to the Civil Service Board to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Civil Service Board, Sydney, 24 January, 1890.
The Civil Service Board desire to be informed of the reasons, if any, why the provisions of section 27 have not been carried out by you, as head of the Department of Justice, in reference to the vacancy of the position of Comptroller-General of Prisons, occasioned by the death of Harold Maclean, Esq.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Secretary to the Civil Service Board.

Sir, Department of Justice, Sydney, 29 January, 1890.
I have the honor to state, for the information of the Civil Service Board, that I submitted your letter of the 24th instant, respecting the appointment of the Comptroller-General of Prisons, to the Minister of Justice, who desires me to return the letter for the reconsideration of the Board with reference to the terms thereof, which do not appear to him to be such as should have been used in applying for information from this Department.
I have, &c.,
ARCH. C. FRASER,
Under Secretary.

No. 9.

The Chairman of the Civil Service Board to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Civil Service Board, Sydney, 5 February, 1890.
I have the honor, by direction of the Civil Service Board, to acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 27th January, returning for the reconsideration of the Board their letter of the 24th idem.
I am further directed to inform you that the correspondence was submitted to the Board at their meeting of 30th January, and they fail to see any reason for your submission of their letter to the Honorable the Minister for Justice, whose name should not have been introduced at the present stage of the business.
The 27th section of the "Civil Service Act, 1884," defines the respective functions of the head of the Department, of the Board, and of the Minister.
A statutory obligation is laid upon the head of each public department to report to the Board when a vacancy shall occur. This duty is limited to your own personality and office in the case of a vacancy occurring in your Department, and the Minister's functions do not come into operation until, acting on your report to them, the Board make their recommendation.
As you have failed to report the vacancy of the office of Comptroller-General of Prisons, and have given the Civil Service Board no reason for the course pursued by you in the matter, it only remains for them to place on record that they have been debarred from performing the duties laid upon them in the section referred to by your default in failing to make the report required by the statute.
I have, &c.,
THO. LITTLEJOHN,
Chairman.

Sir, Department of Justice, Sydney, 6 February, 1890.

ARCH. C. FRASER,
Under Secretary.

No. 11.

The Under Secretary of Justice to The Chairman of the Civil Service Board.

Sir, Department of Justice, Sydney, 22 March, 1890.
I have the honor to inform you that owing to my absence from the Colony I have been prevented until now from dealing with your letter of the 5th ultimo respecting the appointment of the Comptroller-General of Prisons.
In that letter the Board take exception to my having submitted their communication of the 24th January last to the Minister of Justice, "whose name," they say, "should not have been introduced at the present stage of the business"; and they further say that such action on my part was a breach of the statutory obligation laid upon me by section 27 of the Civil Service Act.
I quite disagree with the view thus advanced by the Board.
My reason for submitting the letter of the 24th January to the Minister was that it did not appear to me to be couched in terms which the Board were entitled to address to this Department, and before taking the unusual step of returning the letter to the Board for reconsideration, I thought it only right to obtain the approval of the Minister to that course. I cannot see how this action in any way affected my position under the statute.

I observe that the Board have not chosen to modify the terms of their letter of 24th January ; but, as I am anxious to have no further conflict with them than is necessary to uphold important principles, I will now merely proceed to deal with those remarks in their last letter, in which they lay down the line of conduct which, as Under Secretary, I should have pursued in reference to the recent vacancy of the office of Comptroller-General of Prisons.

The Board write to me as follows :—“ A statutory obligation is laid upon the head of each public department to report to the Board when a vacancy shall occur. This duty is limited to your own personality and office in case of a vacancy occurring in your department.” * * * * “ They have been debarred from performing the duties laid upon them in the section referred to by your default in failing to make the report required by the statute.” I find nothing in the section requiring the head of the Department to make any report of the kind.

The section provides that the superior officer of the Department in which a vacancy shall occur shall transmit to the Board, through the head of the Department, a report in writing, &c., but only says that the head of the Department, may, in like manner, make a report, &c. In the case under consideration, therefore, there was no obligation thrown upon me by the statute to report. Further, the fact of there being no “ superior officer ” in this case would appear to take it entirely out of the 27th section, and entitle it to be treated in a similar way to that, say, of an Under Secretary, Stipendiary Magistrate, the Clerk of the Peace, or the Crown Prosecutor for Sydney, whose offices, when vacant, have, for the same reason, with the tacit consent of the Board, never been reported to them. The recent appointment of the present Commissioner for Roads, who was promoted by the Government without any reference having been made to the Board, in the first instance, is also a case in point.

In the case now in question, when reporting the vacancy in the office of the Comptroller-General of Prisons to the Minister of Justice, I invited his attention, at the same time, for the sake of extra precaution, to the 27th section of the Civil Service Act. The Minister informed me that he considered this was an appointment which did not come within the section, and that the Government would deal with it independently of the Board. Under these circumstances, and not seeing that the Civil Service Act put any obligation upon me of making a recommendation, also taking into consideration the practice which previously obtained in the cases above referred to, I did not feel called upon to interfere in the matter.

Setting the consideration of this case aside, which, as before stated, does not in my view come within the 27th section, I may mention, with reference to the Board’s remark, “ The Minister’s functions do not come into operation until, acting on my report to them, the Board make their recommendation,” that in dealing with appointments under the section referred to it appears to be clearly the duty of an Under Secretary to consult with his Minister before taking any steps towards the filling of a vacancy ; and this in order to learn whether it is the intention of the Government to fill it, and, in such event, what the salary of the new incumbent is to be, and what new conditions, if any, are to be attached to the office. When the necessary information has been obtained, and not until then, it is for the Under Secretary (provided the appointment is to be made) to ascertain what officers are eligible and willing to accept the appointment, and after selection to make his recommendation to the Board.

In sending this reply to the Board’s last letter, I wish it to be understood that I do not consider the Board entitled to call me to account in the manner they have done for what they may conceive to be a default on my part in administering my functions under the Act, but merely desire to place on record a defence against what I cannot help regarding as a somewhat discourteous attack made upon me while in the proper discharge of my public duties as head of this Department.

I have, &c.,
ARCH. C. FRASER,
Under Secretary.

No. 12.

The Secretary to the Civil Service Board to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Civil Service Board, Sydney, 9 April, 1890.

I have the honor, by direction of the Civil Service Board, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 22nd ultimo, in answer to their communication of 5th February.

I am to inform you in reply that the Board are equally desirous with yourself of upholding important principles, and they hope that this can be done without conflict.

The point at issue between the Board and yourself rests entirely upon the proper construction of the following words in the 27th clause :—“ The head of the Department may, in like manner, make a report and recommendation,” which duty you consider to be not obligatory upon, but at the discretion of, the head of the Department.

The main scope of the “ Civil Service Act, 1884,” is to protect the Civil Servants in their just claims for promotion, which, before the passing of that Act, were in many cases subject to the caprice or prejudice of heads of departments. It was intended, by the appointment of a Board, to afford to every officer in the Public Service a guarantee that his claim should be fully inquired into, and promotions made on just principles.

Section 27 of the Act puts the matter plainly enough. The proceedings authorized by that section follow each other in three successive stages. First :—When a vacancy occurs the superior officer of the Department in which such vacancy occurs shall transmit to the Board, through the head of the Department, a report in writing, and may recommend * * * ; one duty being obligatory, and the other discretionary. Second :—At the second stage of the business “ the head of the Department may, in like manner, make a report and recommendation.”

Now, as every word in an Act of Parliament has its significance, how are the words “ in like manner ” to be interpreted ? The Board’s interpretation of the words “ in like manner ” is that they mean that the head of the Department shall transmit or make a report in writing, and may recommend if he see fit. Otherwise how is it “ in like manner ” ? This view is confirmed when we come to the third stage of the requirements of the clause, “ the Board shall report to the Minister.”

This is surely imperative enough ; but how can the Board act if the head of the Department at the second stage of the business fail in his part of the duty ?

If it be contended, as you contend, that the head of the Department is entitled to use his own discretion in forwarding or furnishing the report of the vacancy, it is then in the power of the head of the Department, who takes that view, and acts upon it, to nullify the effect of one of the most important clauses of the Act.

I am to add that to prevent any further misconception of the obligations laid by the clause upon the head of the Department, steps will be taken in the contemplated amendment of the Act to have this important point submitted to the Minister with a view to such amendment as will place the clause beyond the possibility of misinterpretation.

I have, &c.,
E. G. W. PALMER,
Secretary.

Sir,

Department of Justice, Sydney, 6 June, 1890.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 9th April last, further respecting the appointment of the Comptroller-General of Prisons, and to state that I am still of opinion the views expressed in my letter of the 22nd March are correct.

I may mention that absence from the Colony, and pressure of business since my return, have prevented this letter being sent at an earlier date.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.

(RETURN RESPECTING COMPOSITORS IN.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 20 August, 1890.

[Laid upon the Table in answer to Question No. 11, of the 5th August, 1890.]

Questions.

11. COMPOSITORS, GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE:—MR. SCHEY asked THE COLONIAL TREASURER,—
- (1.) Will he please lay upon the Table a Return showing the names of compositors employed in the Government Printing Office, date when first employed, also date of promotion to permanent staff, in cases where such has occurred?
 - (2.) Are the permanent staff compositors required to possess greater ability than those on the temporary staff?
 - (3.) Are the permanent staff compositors called upon to execute work of a more special or higher character than that which is required from those on the temporary staff?
 - (4.) Is it a fact that a number of compositors on the permanent staff have been employed for a less period than some of those on the temporary staff?
 - (5.) Are the permanent staff compositors entitled to any superior treatment in the matter of payment for holidays, or in any other way, beyond that given to those on the temporary staff; if so, please specify?
 - (6.) What are the special qualifications necessary to entitle the temporary staff compositors to the same privileges?

Answers.

- (1.) See Return attached hereto.
- (2.) Yes, and those only upon the temporary staff who possess the required ability are eligible for promotion.
- (3.) Yes, in special cases.
- (4.) Yes.
- (5.) Yes; permanent staff compositors are paid for holidays, temporary hands are not.
- (6.) Those which entitle the temporary compositor to promotion to the permanent staff.

The Government Printer desires to add that when compositors engage as temporary hands they sign rules which distinctly stipulate that they shall have no claim for payment for holidays, or for any time that the office may be closed. They are paid one penny per hour more for day-work than is paid under the Typographical Society's rules in private establishments in Sydney; and, in regard to piece-work, they also have the advantage of not being kept waiting for type, or sent away for short periods on account of waiting for "copy," as is frequently the case in private printing offices. In private establishments neither permanent nor temporary compositors, as a rule, receive payment for holidays. In the interests of the Department and the Public Service, it is considered that the system of employing temporary hands is a wise one, and that in no other way could the fluctuating exigencies of a large establishment like this be met, unless, of course, it were to be saddled with an unnecessarily large and expensive permanent staff. That the temporary staff of compositors is not harshly treated is amply proved by the fact that in several cases positions on the permanent staff have been offered to temporary hands, but refused by them; while, in other instances, permanent hands have requested to be put back again on the temporary staff, from which they had been promoted.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

APPOINTMENT OF DR. C. LÉPÉRVANCHE AS GOVERNMENT MEDICAL OFFICER AT NARRABRI.

(CORRESPONDENCE RELATING TO.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 9 October, 1890.

RETURN to an Order made by the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 17th September, 1890, That there be laid upon the Table of this House,—

- “ (1.) Copies of all papers and correspondence relating to the appointment of Dr. C. Lépervanche as Government Medical Officer at Narrabri.
“ (2.) Copies of all complaints, reports, and evidence, with all letters and correspondence in reference to Dr. Lépervanche’s want of qualifications for the position, and reports thereon by the Board of Health.”

(Mr. J. P. Abbott.)

L. Segol, Esq., M.D., to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Narrabri, 15 November, 1870.

I have been for the last three years Government Vaccinator at Narrabri. I am now removing to Tenterfield. I beg to propose, as my successor, Dr. Lépervanche, a legally-qualified medical practitioner of the Board of New South Wales.

L. SEGOL, M.D.,
Narrabri Hospital.

The Medical Adviser to the Government for report.—H.H., B.C., 25/11/70. There cannot be any objection to Dr. Segol’s proposal. The office of Government Medical Officer is also vacant.—C.M.K., 25/11/70. The Principal Under Secretary. May, perhaps, be approved.—C.C., 29/11/70.

Minute Paper for the Executive Council.

Colonial Secretary’s Office, Sydney, 21 December, 1870.

I RECOMMEND that Charles Mezierè de Lépervanche, Esquire, be appointed Government Medical Officer and Vaccinator for the district of Wee Waa, in the room of Louis Segol, Esquire, left the district.

CHARLES COWPER.

Approved.—B., 14/12/70. The Executive Council advise that the appointments herein recommended be approved and carried into effect.—ALEX. C. BUDGE, Clerk of the Council. Min. 70-48, 5/12/70. Confirmed, 6/12/70.

The Principal Under Secretary to C. M. de Lépervanche, Esquire, M.D.

Sir, Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 15 December, 1870.
I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you that His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to appoint you to be Government Medical Officer and Vaccinator for the district of Wee Waa in the room of Louis Segol, Esquire, left the district, and that a notification of your appointment will be published in to-morrow's Government Gazette.

I have, &c.,
HENRY HALLORAN.

Extract from Government Gazette, 16 December, 1870.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 15 December, 1870.
His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to appoint the undermentioned gentlemen to be Government Medical Officers and Vaccinators for the districts specified in connection with their names respectively, viz. :—

Wee Waa.—CHARLES MEZIERÈ DE LÉPERVANCHE, Esquire.

CHARLES COWPER.

The Police Magistrate, Narrabri, to The Under Secretary of Justice.

Sir, Court-house, Narrabri, 29 July, 1890.
It having been reported to me by Dr. A. Macqueen, of this place, that he is in receipt of a letter from the University of Paris to the effect that one Charles Mezierè de Lépervanche, registered as M.D., Univ. Paris, 1869, is unknown at that University, and as this gentleman (de Lépervanche) holds the appointment of Government Medical Officer for this district, I deem it my duty to report the matter to you, so as to enable you to take such steps as you may think necessary.

I have, &c.,
JNO. F. KENYON, P.M.

P.S.—Since writing the above I have received the attached letter from Dr. de Lépervanche.—Jno. KENYON, P.M., 30/7/90.

Might be referred to the Government Medical Adviser. Submitted.—A.C.F., 31/7/90. Approved.—A.J.G., 4/8/90. The Secretary to the Government Medical Adviser.—T.E.M'N.; B.C., 5/8/90. Dr. Macqueen should be asked for the evidence on which he has made report to P.M. at Narrabri.—F.N.M., 6/8/90.

[Enclosure.]

Sir, Narrabri, 29 July, 1890.
I am credibly informed that an official letter has been communicated to you, purporting to show that I am not a Doctor in Medicine of the Faculty of Paris, as I represent myself to be; therefore, that the position I have held as Government Medical Officer for nearly twenty years has been usurped by means of false pretences, and my life in this country has been but a living lie.

Such an insult to my character as a gentleman, to my professional honour as a physician (M.D.) of a school second to none in the world, calls for prompt redress; and I earnestly entrust you, the highest Government Officer here, to communicate at once with the Minister for Justice, that an inquiry may be instituted without delay, and my fair name (a name which, I may proudly say, has for centuries been synonymous of honour and probity) vindicated from such a foul aspersion. Your prompt action in this matter will entitle you to the everlasting gratitude of

Yours, &c.,
C. M. DE LÉPERVANCHE, M.D.,
Government Medical Officer for the District of Narrabri.

J. F. Kenyon, Esq., P.M., Narrabri.

The Secretary, Board of Health, to A. J. Macqueen, Esq.

Sir, Board of Health Office, 127, Macquarie-street, Sydney, 6 August, 1890.
The Police Magistrate at Narrabri having reported to the Government that you have informed him of the receipt of a letter from the University of Paris to the effect that the name of Dr. C. M. de Lépervanche is there unknown, I am directed by the Medical Adviser to the Government to ask you to have the goodness to forward the evidence upon which you made report to Mr. Kenyon.

I have, &c.,
EDMUND SAGER,
Secretary.

A. J. Macqueen, Esq., to The Secretary, Board of Health.

Sir, Narrabri, 11 August, 1890.
Replying to yours of the 6th instant, I have to state that on 23rd April last I wrote to the University of Paris respecting the qualification of the Government Medical Officer here, and received reply, dated 6th June, as follows.

On 25th July last I reported the matter to the Secretary of the Medical Board for official inquiry.

I have, &c.,
ARCH. J. MACQUEEN.

[Enclosure.]

[Enclosures.]

The Registrar, University of Paris.

Dear Sir,

Narrabri, New South Wales, Australia, 23 April, 1890.

A person, giving his name as Charles Mezierè de Lépervanche, is practising in this district as a medical man, and states that he obtained a qualification in Paris in 1869.

Some doubt having arisen as to his bona-fides, I shall esteem it a favour if you will consult your records and reply at your early convenience, informing me whether any one bearing this name (C. M. de Lépervanche) secured any qualification in Paris during 1869.

If so, will you kindly state what diploma was obtained (M.D. or Officier de Santé), and the present residence of the candidate to whom the diploma was granted, if known to you.

I am, &c.,

A. J. MACQUEEN.

Réponse à la lettre du 23 Avril.

Monsieur,

Faculté de Médecine, Paris, 6 Juin 1890.

M. Charles Mezierè de Lépervanche qui fait l'objet de votre lettre du 23 Avril dernier, est inconnu à la Faculté de Médecine de Paris.

Ce renseignement m'est fourni par M. l'Archiviste de la Faculté.

Agréez Monsieur l'expression de mes sentiments très-distingués.

Le Secrétaire,

PUSSRY.

Monsieur Macqueen, Narrabri, New South Wales, Australie.

The Secretary to the Medical Board of New South Wales.—F.N.M., 13/8/90. The matter was considered by the Medical Board prior to the receipt of this.—A.H., 20/8/90.

As this is a matter affecting an officer of this Department, an inquiry appears to be necessary at as early a period as possible, and I shall be glad to learn at what conclusion the Medical Board arrives, so that the Colonial Secretary may be informed.—F.N.M., B.C., 22/8/90. Urgent. The Secretary, Medical Board.

The Medical Board of New South Wales having considered the case of Dr. Charles Mezierè de Lépervanche, find that he was placed on the Medical Register of New South Wales in 1870 as a Doctor of Medicine of the University of Paris, and they are satisfied that he possesses that degree. They are also satisfied, from documentary evidence, that the gentleman before the Board is the Dr. Lépervanche residing at Narrabri.—A.H., 27/8/90. The Medical Adviser.

The Police Magistrate should be informed, in accordance with minute from Medical Board, and the papers forwarded for the information of the Colonial Secretary.—F.N.M., 28/8/90.

The Secretary, Board of Health, to The Police Magistrate, Narrabri.

Sir,

Board of Health Office, 127, Macquarie-street, Sydney, 28 August, 1890.

Referring to your letter of the 29th ultimo to the Under Secretary of Justice, respecting Mr. Macqueen's statement that Dr. C. M. de Lépervanche is unknown at the University of Paris, I am directed by the Medical Adviser to the Government to inform you that the papers were duly considered by the Medical Board, and to forward you, on the other side, a copy of that body's decision.

"The Medical Board of New South Wales having considered the case of Dr. Charles Mezierè de Lépervanche, find that he was placed on the Medical Register of New South Wales in 1870 as a Doctor in Medicine of the University of Paris, and they are satisfied that he possesses that degree. They are also satisfied, from documentary evidence, that the gentleman before the Board is the Dr. Lépervanche residing at Narrabri."

I have, &c.,

EDMUND SAGER,

Secretary.

A. J. Macqueen, Esq., to The Secretary, Board of Health.

Dear Sir,

Narrabri, 8 September, 1890.

I have received from the Secretary of the Medical Board a letter stating the conclusions arrived at by the Board at its inquiry into the professional status of Dr. C. M. de Lépervanche.

As the finding is so distinctly opposed to the clear statement of the Paris authorities, and as their statement reached you through me, may I be permitted to ask—

1. Whether the diploma produced bore the name as registered here?
2. If not, whether such alteration was made with the knowledge and sanction of the Paris University?
3. Is the registration here correct in its present form as a registration of the document in question?

I have, &c.,

A. J. MACQUEEN.

Dr. Macqueen may be informed that his letter has been forwarded to the Medical Board, who did not furnish this Department with any reasons for the decision arrived at.—F.N.M., 11/9/90. The Medical Board,—F.N.M., 11/9/90. Copy of letter addressed to Dr. Macqueen herewith. The Medical Adviser.—A.H., 13/9/90.

The Secretary, Board of Health, to A. J. Macqueen, Esq.

Sir,

Board of Health Office, 127, Macquarie-street, Sydney, 11 September, 1890.

I am directed by the Medical Adviser to the Government to inform you that your letter of the 8th instant has been referred to the Medical Board, who did not furnish this Department with any reasons for the decision arrived at in the case of Dr. C. M. de Lépervanche.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND SAGER,

Secretary.

The

The Secretary, Medical Board, to A. J. Macqueen, Esq.

Sir,

Medical Board of New South Wales, Sydney, 13 September, 1890.

In reply to your letter of the 8th instant, addressed to the Secretary, Board of Health, making certain inquiries with reference to the conclusions arrived at by this Board at its inquiry into the professional status of Dr. C. M. de Lépervanche, I beg to inform you that the Board, having duly inquired into the case, and having fully satisfied themselves that he is a duly qualified medical practitioner, I have no further information to afford you on the subject.

I have, &c.,

ANDREW HOUISON,

Secretary.

These papers might, perhaps, be placed with others in Dr. Lépervanche's case, now with the Principal Under Secretary.—F.N.M., 16/9/90. The Principal Under Secretary. Have a short précis made.—C.W., 4/9/90. Précis herewith, 8/9/90.

Précis.

Certain allegations against Dr. C. M. de Lépervanche, of Narrabri.

1890.

THE Police Magistrate at Narrabri reports to the Minister of Justice that it is alleged by Dr. Macqueen, of Narrabri, that Dr. C. M. de Lépervanche, the Government Medical Officer at that place, who is registered in this Colony as an M.D. of Paris University, 1869, is not legally entitled to that diploma, and that he is unknown to that University. Mr. Kenyon also encloses to the Minister of Justice a letter addressed to him by Dr. de Lépervanche, in which he says he is aware of these allegations against him, and asking for an inquiry to be made to vindicate his character.

5th August,
1890.

The matter is referred to the Medical Adviser to the Government, who asks Dr. Macqueen to substantiate his allegations.

6th August,
1890.

Dr. Macqueen in reply, forwards a copy of a letter received by him from the Faculty of Medicine, Paris, stating that Mr. Charles Mezierè de Lépervanche is unknown to that institution.

1890.

The matter being then sent to the Medical Board of New South Wales for their information, they state that they are satisfied that Mr. Charles Mezierè de Lépervanche is an M.D. of Paris University.

22nd August,
1890.

The decision of the Medical Board has been communicated to the Police Magistrate at Narrabri.

28th August,
1890.

Nothing further required.—C.W., 9/9/90.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

(MEMORANDUM BY CLERK OF PARLIAMENTS, AND THE PRESIDENT'S MINUTE THEREON, IN REFERENCE TO INCREASES OF SALARIES OF CERTAIN OFFICERS OF.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 9 December, 1890.

Proposed increase of salaries of Clerk of the Parliaments and Clerk Assistant of the Legislative Council.

MEMO.

17 September, 1890.

The Honorable the Speaker having recommended that, on the Supplementary Estimates for the current year, the salary of the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly should be increased to £1,000, and that of the Clerk Assistant to £750 per annum, I feel that I may justly ask that you will recommend the proportionate increase of my salary as Clerk of the Parliaments and that of the Clerk Assistant of the Legislative Council to £800 and £600 respectively. This would only involve in my case an increase of £40 and in that of Mr. Clapin of £50 per annum, and such increases would merely place our respective salaries on a fairly proportionate scale to those paid to the officers holding corresponding positions in the Legislative Assembly. As the senior officers of Parliament I may, I think, fairly claim for Mr. Clapin and myself kindly and favourable consideration at your hands in this matter.

I may mention that the appointment of so many additional members to the Legislative Council has unquestionably materially increased the work of this Department.

JOHN J. CALVERT.

Memo.

I have no hesitation in supporting the very reasonable application, on behalf of the Clerk of the Parliaments and the Assistant Clerk of Council, for an increase of their salaries from £760 to £800 in the one case, and from £550 to £600 in the other. I have for a long time refrained from proposing any increase in these salaries, though the Council were uniformly of opinion that its highest officers, having very responsible duties to perform, should receive a higher remuneration than the other branch of the Legislature seemed willing to admit; and now, in the face of more liberal provision for the officers of similar rank and responsibility, and considering the length of time during which Mr. Calvert and Mr. Clapin have held the positions which they now occupy, as they have always occupied them, with perfect efficiency, I cannot but feel that their claims ought to be recognised. With that feeling I have ventured to place these small increases in my Estimate for the Department in the hope and wish that they will be assented to as an acknowledgment of long and good service.

MR. J. B. CASEY.

(PETITION OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 18 December, 1890.

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of John Bartholomew Casey, late Clerk of Petty Sessions, Agent for the sale of Crown Lands, Registrar of the District Court, Warden and Mining Registrar, Officer of Customs, Registrar of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, Kempsey, Visiting Magistrate to the Bellinger River and to Gladstone at the Macleay River, praying that consideration of his claim for a pension of compensation for the period from the 19th April, 1853, until 1st July, 1883, during which he held and performed the duties incumbent on the offices which are abovenamed.

This Petition respectfully sheweth that your Petitioner was appointed clerk in the Audit Department on the 19th April, 1853, and that in a few months after he was placed on the permanent establishment of the Civil Service as a third class clerk, having passed the examination then required before the Examiners, Mr. Macpherson, Clerk to the Legislative Assembly, Mr. Riddell, Colonial Treasurer, and Mr. F. L. S. Merewether, Auditor-General. On the 1st July, 1860, your Petitioner was appointed Clerk of Petty Sessions at West Kempsey, Macleay River, having been sent for by Sir Charles Cowper (then Mr. Cowper), Colonial Secretary formerly, on four different occasions, and offered the following offices: Assistant Registrar of the District Court, Sydney, Clerk of Petty Sessions, Kiama, Clerk of Petty Sessions, Dungog, Clerk of Petty Sessions, Burrowa. Each of these offices your Petitioner accepted but not one was conferred upon him; each of the offices just named were bestowed upon another. Your Petitioner's duty as Clerk of Petty Sessions at West Kempsey was considerable; more than one hundred and twenty cases were disposed of annually. In cases where the accusation alleged a capital offence the evidence covered frequently more than sixty folios, which had to be entered before they were forwarded to the Law Department.

The duty of Crown Land Agent was difficult and laborious. There was an avidity amongst all classes to obtain land which caused warm competition. When he ceased to hold office there were nearly three thousand selections for the District of Bellinger River, and Nambucca River, now forming a separate Land Agency, were included in the West Kempsey Agency, and had to be attended to by your Petitioner. It is not an exaggeration to describe the work that your Petitioner had to meet as overwhelming; he was never able to be absent from his office between the hours of 9 a.m. and midnight on each day of the week.

The auction sales of land were onerous; at each sale there was much competition, many records had to be kept, many returns had to be prepared. There was much correspondence.

That as Registrar of the District Court your Petitioner had very laborious and important duties to perform; the average number of cases at each sitting was forty. Throughout the district there was a desire for litigation. The documents which had to be prepared, the records which had to be kept, and the correspondence occupied much time and required constant attention. Every Judge who presided at the different sittings of the Kempsey District Court expressed unreserved approval of your Petitioner's performance of the duties of Registrar.

As Warden and Mining Registrar very responsible and difficult work devolved upon your Petitioner. He had to visit Nanna Creek Gold-field, 147 miles north of Kempsey; he had to visit the Coorangula Antimony Mines, 16 miles west of Kempsey; he had to prepare and issue every miner's right and license and furnish to the Department of Mines returns that occupied much time to prepare.

As Registrar of Births, Deaths, and Marriages he had records to keep and returns to furnish that were intricate and laborious.

As officer of Customs your Petitioner had to clear in and out steamers and other vessels coming to and going from the Macleay. Occasionally steamers anchored at the heads of the Macleay, which required your Petitioner to travel 72 miles; the head of the Macleay being 36 miles from Kempsey occasions occurred when this journey had to be made during the night. A petition from the inhabitants caused your Petitioner to be appointed District Commissioner in Insolvency; many cases occupied much time in taking evidence and preparing the documents necessary for transmission to the Chief Commissioner in Insolvency with the evidence.

In 1866 your Petitioner unexpectedly on his part was placed in the Commission of the Peace. The notification that this position was conferred upon him came upon your Petitioner by surprise, for he never made any application for it, and it was wholly unknown to your Petitioner that anybody had done so.

Shortly after your Petitioner was appointed Visiting Justice to Boat Harbour, on the Bellinger River, 70 miles from Kempsey. He was the first magistrate that visited Boat Harbour and held a Court of Petty Sessions there. He visited and held a court there once a month for nearly two years, when a Police Magistrate was appointed to reside at Boat Harbour. Then your Petitioner ceased to visit. Previous to leaving, an address was presented to your Petitioner, conveying in decisive words the confidence of the inhabitants and their approval of his performance of the duty of Visiting Justice.

At the period when your Petitioner visited Boat Harbour the journey had to be made over a very rough country—no defined road—over deep creeks, and over the Nambucca River frequently at night. A well made road now traverses the distance from Kempsey to Boat Harbour; the creeks and Nambucca River have been for some years spanned by substantial bridges. The journey can now be performed with facility. When your Petitioner had to travel to Boat Harbour it was a journey of difficulty and danger. Of the great many cases which your Petitioner investigated during the period that he was Visiting Justice to Boat Harbour no complaint in any instance was made, his decision was not questioned in any case.

When he ceased to be Visiting Justice to Boat Harbour your Petitioner applied to be appointed Police Magistrate in conjunction with his office of Clerk of Petty Sessions at Kempsey.

Your Petitioner's application was approved, and for two years the item "Police Magistrate and Clerk of Petty Sessions, Kempsey," appeared on the Estimates, and was voted, but his appointment was never officially notified owing to prevalence of influence hostile to him, and for which your Petitioner never gave any provocation.

A petition from the inhabitants, very numerous signed, solicited that your Petitioner might be appointed Police Magistrate and Clerk of Petty Sessions at Kempsey.

It was ineffectual and acknowledged, but your Petitioner had to perform the duties incumbent on both those offices.

When a Court of Petty Sessions was proclaimed at Gladstone, situate on the Belmore River, your Petitioner was appointed Visiting Justice to that place; he held the office for nearly seven years, and until he ceased to hold office at Kempsey, of the great number of cases which your Petitioner heard and decided upon, in not one instance was his action questioned.

The work which your Petitioner had to perform was divergent, calling him to places widely apart, frequently requiring him to be at two localities at one time, in truth and in fact requiring him to be superhuman.

Twice he was summoned to attend and give evidence before the Supreme Court, Sydney. Your Petitioner addressed telegrams to the Department of Justice, describing the difficulty of obeying, owing to the urgent and important work he had to perform at the time, owing to the District Court being about to sit and the impossibility of your Petitioner procuring a competent or reliable person to act for him when absent.

Your Petitioner had to obey; he was detained one month on each occasion which was the law's delay not that of your Petitioner.

On his return your Petitioner found the accounts in a state of confusion, the records wholly unattended to; it was impossible to unravel them, and sums of money paid during my absence had disappeared which your Petitioner had to pay from his private means. The person who he had to employ as his locum tenens professing thorough clerical aptitude, but he was a worthless drunkard; your Petitioner was not a defaulter to any amount, for he adjusted every account, paid every sum that had been collected during his absence, from his private means.

The member for the district and the bench of magistrates seeing how crushing was the work which he had to contend with, represented his condition, and urged that the clerical assistants granted in other districts should be extended to your Petitioner.

These representations were of no avail, the assistance that was urgently required was not granted.

When ever duty called your Petitioner to any of the localities previously named your Petitioner had to employ a person to be his locum tenens, otherwise the public business at Kempsey, in the Court of Petty Sessions and Land Office, must have been interrupted—completely stopped.

Your Petitioner had to pay from his private means the person who was his locum tenens when your Petitioner was absent at any of the places where duty frequently called him.

Your Petitioner was removed from the Public Service on the 1st July, 1883.

The offices which he had held and the duties which he had performed for more than twenty-three years, the following persons were appointed in succession to your Petitioner:—

- i. Clerk of Petty Sessions and Registrar of the District Court,—Mr. Stevenson.
- ii. Agent for the Sale of Crown Lands, and Registrar of Births, Deaths, and Marriages,—Mr. C. A. Grubb.
- iii. Warden and Mining Registrar,—Mr. J. Ducat.
- iv. Officer of Customs,—Mr. Jackson, the pilot at the Macleay River.
- v. Visiting Justice to Gladstone, Belmore River,—Mr. J. W. Wilson.

After many representations and the fullest explanations by your Petitioner he was offered the appointment of Acting Clerk of Petty Sessions at Moama, with pay at the rate of £200 per annum. The pay which your Petitioner received at Kempsey was £400 per annum, exclusive of the fees which came to him from offices of Commissioner in Insolvency, Commissioner for taking Affidavits, and Registrar of the Small Debts Court.

His necessitous condition compelled your Petitioner to accept the position offered to him at Moama.

Moama is a border village. Most of the necessaries of life had to be procured from Victoria; the cost of living was much greater than at Kempsey.

In some months after he became Acting Clerk of Petty Sessions at Moama he was appointed Licensing Magistrate and Coroner for the district.

He was not the Police Magistrate, but as at Kempsey he had to perform the duties of that office.

Your Petitioner was for years afflicted with a malady that no treatment would alleviate or subdue—paralysis agitans. There was no professional assistance procurable at Moama, for no doctor resided there. Your Petitioner went twice to Victoria for the purpose of consulting a medical man. The result was an intimation that the malady was incurable and might end fatally at any moment. When deprived of his office your Petitioner forwarded a medical certificate describing his condition.

It is not customary in any service to punish an officer of any grade for non-performance of duty when disabled by no fault of his own, or to hold him accountable for delays, mistakes, and omissions that occurred when he was prostrated by a malady that a medical certificate pronounced beyond cure and endangered his life.

Your Petitioner furnished every account, rectified every mistake, paid every amount, and gave a clear and definite statement of the unavoidable cause of the delay which had occurred.

Your Petitioner respectfully solicits that his letters to the Hon. the Minister for Justice, dated 22nd February, 1889, and 24th December, 1889, may be produced.

Your Petitioner is 71 years old. His means are worse than straitened. He served the Government of New South Wales for more than thirty-four years.

Your Petitioner was granted the sum of £41 13s. 4d. in October, 1889, being compensation at the rate of one month's pay for the period that he served at Moama.

Your Petitioner respectfully prays that inquiry into the premises set forth and consideration of his claim for a pension or compensation for the period from the 19th April, 1853, to 1st July, 1883, under Statute 4th and 5th William 4th. And he approaches your Honorable House with the prayer that his case may be examined and weighed, and that justice and consideration may be meted out to him; and, as in duty bound, your Petitioner will ever pray.

COAST HOSPITAL, LITTLE BAY.

(REPORT ON, FOR 1889.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

The Medical Adviser to the Government to The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 1 April, 1890.

I do myself the honor to submit the Annual Report on the working of the Coast Hospital at Little Bay for the year 1889, with appendices containing the usual returns.

The statistics of the Hospital have been prepared on the same plan as in former years and show with accuracy the work for the year, but the method adopted presents some objections, inasmuch as it differs somewhat from that usually followed by hospitals, and the returns cannot be completed as early as is desirable.

It is proposed in future years to adopt a new system, and to include in the returns only the work of the Hospital from January 1 to December 31.

Table I is a general statement, showing in a condensed form the movement of patients for the period under consideration. The total number of patients admitted was 1,813, which with 4 from last year makes a total of 1,817 under treatment. Of these 1,369 were discharged well, 253 better, and 32 unimproved; 53 were transferred to Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, 4 to public Hospitals, and 7 to Hospitals for the Insane; whilst 99 died. On comparison with a similar statement for the year 1888 it will be seen that 119 more patients were admitted, and that the proportional number discharged well has considerably increased.

TABLE I.—General Statement, showing total admissions, transfers, discharges, deaths, average stay, and average daily number in Hospital, 1889; mortality, per cent., 5.44.

* The deaths of persons dying in 1890 who were admitted in 1889 are included; also the death of 1 of the 4 patients remaining in from 1888.

† This number includes lepers.

The average stay in Hospital was 39.9 days, being a trifle less than in the previous year; and the average daily number in Hospital was 198.9, as against 197.12 in 1888. The death rate shows a slight diminution on the low death rate of 1888.

Table II shows the channels through which the patients admitted during the year reached the Hospital.

Through the Medical Adviser's office 395 patients were received, a large proportion of these being cases of typhoid fever; 1,339 patients came with orders from the Hospital Admission Depot; and 33 presented themselves at the Hospital and were admitted by the Medical Superintendent. Of the cases transferred from other institutions 25 (mostly cases of whooping cough) were sent from the Benevolent Asylum in Pitt-street, 12 from the Sydney, 4 from the North Shore, 2 from the Children's, and one from the Prince Alfred Hospitals, these being mostly cases of infectious diseases. One case was received from the Hospital for the Insane, Callan Park, and 1 from the Asylum for the Infirm and Destitute at Parramatta.

Tables III, IV, and V deal, as in former years, with the statistics of typhoid fever. In Table III these cases are shown distributed under age and sex. The total number was 342 as against 241 in 1888. The death-rate was 7·01 per cent., and the average stay in Hospital 39·2 days. The death-rate was slightly higher than that for 1888, which was 6·20; but this record is still a highly satisfactory one, and reflects credit on the skill and care of the medical officers and nursing staff of the Hospital.

Table IV shows the channel through which the typhoid fever patients reached the Hospital, and, as will be seen, 252 out of the total were sent through the Medical Adviser's Office, admission being sought on the certificate of the medical practitioners who had been called in to see the patients.

Table V shows the district from which the typhoid fever patients were received. It will be seen that these cases were sent from nearly every part of the metropolitan and suburban area, and from places as far distant as Brisbane Water and Taree. No less than 29 cases were received from the North Shore, and the necessity for some provision for these cases in that district, so that they may be spared the long, trying, and really dangerous journey to the Coast Hospital, is yearly becoming more apparent.

* Two of these patients, who were admitted during 1889, died during 1890.

Table VI deals with infectious diseases, and shows the form of disease, the number of cases of each disease admitted, and the localities from which the cases were received. The total number of cases of infectious diseases, exclusive of erysipelas, received during the last seven years, 1884-9 inclusive, will be seen by the following figures:—

Cases of infectious diseases admitted	1884.	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.

In 1889 52 cases of erysipelas were also admitted. The return shows a falling off in the number of cases of measles and scarlet fever, and an increase in those of diphtheria and whooping-cough. The latter was unusually prevalent in Sydney and the suburbs for some months.

The deaths of persons dying during 1890, but who were admitted during 1889, and of those remaining in from 1888, are included.

Table VIII shows the number of lepers, and that this number was increased by two during the year. It was pointed out in the report on this Hospital for 1888 that the accommodation for these patients was altogether inadequate; the site of the buildings is objectionable in relation to the water supply of the Hospital, and the whole arrangements in the highest degree unsatisfactory.

Such steps as were possible have been taken to secure the water supply from pollution, and some improvements have been made with regard to the quarters for the newly-admitted European patients, but it was imperative that a new site should be chosen and new buildings on improved plans erected. During the last session of Parliament a vote was taken for the buildings, a site has been selected, and the preparation of plans by the Colonial Architect approved.

It is hoped that in two or three months will see these buildings erected and the whole Leper Hospital placed on a more satisfactory footing.

The necessity for a Leper Act, providing for the compulsory detention and isolation of persons afflicted with leprosy, is apparent, and should if possible be passed during the next session of Parliament

Tables IX and X show the expenditure of the Coast Hospital for the year, and the expenses for the maintenance and treatment of patients in detail. The total expenditure has increased from £9,873 19s. to £11,729 7s. 10d. The cost per head has been £11 13s. 5d, exclusive of the ambulance service, and £51 18s. 6½d, inclusive of this.

The increase in the cost of maintenance has been due (1st) to the necessity for some increases to the staff which before was not sufficiently large to allow of the members receiving such holidays and relief from duty as was necessary for health, and (2nd) to the high contract rate for provisions during the year.

The ambulance service, always a very large but unavoidable expense, has been unusually costly by reason of the price of forage being about 50 per cent higher than in 1888, and from the necessity of replacing several of the ambulances which have been running for several years by new and more suitable conveyances. A serious ambulance accident, in which one vehicle was wrecked and a nurse severely injured, also added to the cost.

In Appendix A will be found a classification of the diseases treated, showing that febricula has been carefully distinguished from typhoid fever. The occurrence of 14 deaths from phthisis, out of a total of 53 admissions, would seem to point to the unfitness of the site of this Hospital for phthical cases.

Appendix B shows particulars relative to the patients who died in hospital, and the dietary scales, &c., are given in Appendix C.

In reviewing the work of the Hospital for the year it will be seen that this work has been large and varied, and has been carried out, on the whole, satisfactorily and at a reasonable cost. The Hospital, indeed, forms an important and, at present, indispensable part of the Metropolitan Hospital system, and though it may be at once conceded that a number of the general Hospital cases could have been as well treated in a Sick Asylum or Poor-house Hospital, the cases of fever and infectious disease could have had no more fitting retreat or been so satisfactorily attended to elsewhere. It will be seen that the cases of typhoid fever under treatment increase in number from year to year, that the cases of infectious fevers are much larger in number, during the last two years, than when the Hospital was first reopened on its present basis, and that the cases of erysipelas and syphilis have also increased in number. Looking to the future it would appear that this Hospital might most fitly be devoted entirely to the reception and treatment of cases of infectious diseases, including typhoid fever, scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria, chicken-pox, whooping-cough, erysipelas, syphilis, and leprosy.

Its usefulness for this purpose is becoming every year more apparent, and when an Act is passed for the due notification of infectious diseases—a measure which cannot long be delayed—the need for hospital care and isolation for these cases will be even more felt than it is at present.

The accommodation of the Hospital and the facilities for treatment have been increased during the year, by the erection of four small isolated rooms for delirious and other special cases. New stores and dispensary are in course of erection, and will permit of an improvement in the officers' quarters, and the conversion of a room at present used as a store into a hall for religious services and other gatherings. Plans for a laundry for the lock wards, improvements to the water supply, and new closets and bath-rooms have been prepared, and are about to be carried out. These works will increase the resources of the Hospital, render its sanitary arrangements more satisfactory, and remove some of the more serious obstacles to its successful management.

The Medical Superintendent points out the great want of accommodation for married members of the staff, who are now obliged to locate their families at a great distance from the hospital, and live in considerable discomfort. It is clearly time that some provision should be made for the domestic comfort of those who are serving the institution faithfully, and may be reckoned as permanent members of the staff.

Dr. Peirce has carried out the duties of Medical Superintendent during the year with his usual energy and skill, and is to be again congratulated on the successful results of his work. His report of the conduct of the officers and staff is satisfactory, and such vacancies as have occurred have been filled by the appointment of competent persons. Mrs. Mackay has continued to act as Matron, and has displayed a warm interest in, and a high capacity for, the duties of the position.

I have, &c.,

F. NORTON MANNING, M.D.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

VACCINATION.

(REPORT FOR 1889.)

Printed in accordance with Resolutions of both Houses of Parliament.

The Medical Adviser to the Government to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Sydney, 28 February, 1890.

I have the honor to forward herewith the Annual Returns of Vaccinations performed during the year 1889 by the Government Vaccinators in New South Wales.

These returns show that 2,288 vaccinations were performed, of which 2,252 were successful, and of these 642 were done in Sydney and its suburbs and 1,610 in the country districts. The number of births in the Colony during the year was 37,235, so that the proportion of vaccinations to births was 1 to 16, leaving a large residuum to swell the already large number of unvaccinated, and therefore—so far as small-pox is concerned—unprotected children in the Colony,

Of the successful cases during the year 1889, 343 were under 1 year, 829 from 1 to 5 years, 886 from 5 to 10 years, and 194 upwards of 10 years of age. The unsuccessful cases were 36, or 1.57 per cent. of the total number. (See Return No. 2.)

With a view to encourage vaccination as far as possible it was decided, in issuing fresh instructions to vaccinators, which was done during the year, to pay for vaccinations over ten years of age and for successful cases of revaccination; and as some vaccinators have pointed out, apparently with just cause, that a multiplication of public vaccinators in the same district tends rather to increase their difficulties in keeping up a constant supply of fresh lymph (which can only be maintained by a constant succession of fresh cases) without in any way increasing the number of vaccinations, vacancies which have occurred in the office of public vaccinator in districts where there was already one or more such officers, have not been filled.

The large majority of public vaccinators in their reports for the year have pointed out the apathy and the occasional distrust with which vaccination is regarded, and expressed an opinion that nothing but a compulsory Vaccination Act will secure a thorough vaccination of the population of the Colony.

Owing to various causes, among which is the comparatively small number of vaccinations carried out by the Government vaccinators for Sydney, it has been found extremely difficult to keep up a full and satisfactory supply of lymph. The supply obtained monthly from England, owing probably to the death of the gentleman primarily responsible for its collection and despatch, was found ineffective, and advantage was taken of the Hon. Dr. MacLaurin's presence in England to secure a supply from another source. Arrangements were kindly made by him for a supply from a country-district in Scotland which promised at first to remove all difficulties, but which in time completely failed, and Dr. MacLaurin has recently reported the conclusion of arrangements for a supply from another and, it is believed, permanent and satisfactory source, having the guarantee of a physician of eminence that he will satisfy himself of the health of each child from whom lymph is taken.

In the absence of a supply of humanized lymph, calf lymph, obtained from Victoria and New Zealand, has been distributed when requested.

I have, &c.,

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

BOROUGH OF REDFERN.

(REPORT OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH ON THE DEPOSIT OF GARBAGE IN—ON SITE FOR BUILDING PURPOSES.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 15 October, 1890.

The Secretary, Board of Health, to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Board of Health Office, 127, Macquarie-street, Sydney, 11 September, 1890.

I have the honor to inform you that the enclosed letter from the Borough Council of Redfern, requesting a sanitary examination of and report on a portion of their district, together with a report by the Chief Medical Inspector on the locality, and a memorandum by the President thereon, were considered at a meeting of the Board of Health yesterday, when the President's memorandum was adopted, and it was directed that all the papers in the case should be forwarded for the Colonial Secretary's information, with a suggestion that the matter is of such importance that it should be made public.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND SAGER,
Secretary.

[Enclosure.]

Memo. by The President, Board of Health.

Board of Health Office, 127 Macquarie-street, Sydney, 8 September, 1890.

THE Borough of Redfern having drawn the attention of the Board of Health to the state of a portion of the land on the Cooper Estate, in the Surry Hills Ward of that Borough, on which a number of houses have been and are being erected, and asked for a report as to the sanitary state of this area, the Chief Inspector has, by direction of the Board, furnished a report thereon, a copy of which, with plans and photographs, is forwarded herewith.

The Board has, in the absence of special legislation on this subject, no power to prevent or remedy the evils pointed out in this report, and can only submit the matter for the consideration of the Colonial Secretary.

The evils to which the report so forcibly directs attention, are, in the opinion of the Board, very real and very serious ones; and this is unfortunately by no means an isolated instance. Attention was called, in a report by the Chief Medical Inspector and Mr. George Stayton, C.E., then of the Sewerage Branch of the Public Works, made early in 1889 (at the instance of the Minister for Public Works), on an outbreak of fever in the Municipalities of Newtown and Macdonaldtown, to the danger of building on areas either naturally unhealthy by reason of site and defective drainage, or made unhealthy by the deposit of garbage. The evil influences on health of similar areas was also pointed out in the Chief Medical Inspector's report on an outbreak of typhoid fever at Waverley and Randwick in the beginning of the present year. Areas of the kind indicated either already exist or are being deliberately manufactured in several of the suburbs of Sydney.

The health of every community is largely dependent upon the soil upon which its houses are built, and it appears to be the height of unwisdom, whilst spending money freely in costly and elaborate schemes of water supply and sewerage, to allow the building of houses which must, from their very situation, be unwholesome residences, and which no water supply, however pure, or sewerage however perfect, can render fit for human habitation in a sanitary point of view.

Under a proper system for the notification and registration of infectious disease, the insanitary condition of these areas would be at once demonstrated, and this would perhaps do much to prevent persons settling in houses on these areas; but this is not sufficient. The erection of dwelling-houses on land which is too swampy or too low to be properly drained, or on sites made up of garbage, street-sweepings, and other similar materials, should be forbidden by law. Sydney and its suburbs cannot expect to be reckoned among healthy districts, or to show other than a high rate of mortality, until such plague spots as those described in the accompanying report become impossible.

F. NORTON MANNING,
President.

The Council Clerk, Redfern, to The Secretary of the Board of Health.

Sir,

Town Hall, Redfern, 8 August, 1890.

I have the honour, by direction of the Council, to draw attention to the state of a portion of the land on the Cooper Estate, in the Surry Hills Ward of this Borough, in the vicinity of which a number of houses have been and are being erected, and am directed to ask that a report as to the sanitary state of same may be submitted to this Council.

I have, &c.,

R. W. GRIERSON,
Council Clerk.

6 September, 1890.

THE matter to which the Council of the Borough of Redfern draw the Board's attention in the letter attached hereto is the deposit of garbage and street sweepings upon an area within the Borough, "in the vicinity of which a number of houses have been and are being erected." I visited the Council Chambers on 19th August, and, after hearing a statement by the Council Clerk (Mr. R. W. Grierson), I repaired to the place complained of, in company with the Inspector of Nuisances (Mr. Holland).

2. The area constitutes the western half of a paddock, whose boundaries are shown in the appended plan; but Marriott-street, which is the eastern boundary, is not as yet completely laid out. I have been informed that it was originally a market garden. It was then occupied as a dairy-cow paddock for several years; but the registration of it was cancelled by the Council (who are the local authority for Redfern under the Dairies Supervision Act), because they considered that the swampy character of its lower or southern half rendered it unfit for that purpose. The Cleveland-street frontage was built upon towards the end of 1888; and the rest of the area was subdivided and let on long building leases immediately afterwards.

3. Instead of giving a verbal description, which, after all, could not convey a vivid idea of the details of this case, I present herewith a plan* and six photographs†, all of which have explanatory notes upon them; but as no sections are included, it is necessary to mention that the natural surface of the area lies about 12 feet below the level of Cleveland-street on the north, and that between that boundary and Cooper-street on the south it has a fall of a few feet. About Cooper-street it becomes nearly level, and so continues until a slight rise is met with to the south of Boronea-street. To this level part surface-water from the whole paddock (both eastern and western halves) gravitates, and it used to form a large pond there. Young and Marriott Streets both stand several feet above the natural surface at the northern boundary, their height diminishing as Boronea-street is approached. However, this elevation can be seen in Marriott-street only at its northern end for the present. The soil of the area is a black earth at the upper part; towards the south it becomes mixed with beds of sand, and south of Boronea-street deep beds of blown sand are met with which overly the rock. One of the heads of Shea's Creek used to run as an open drain down Young-street. This was converted into a pipe-drain by the Sewerage Department a year or two ago, and was conducted easterly along Boronea-street. Upon application to the Board of Water Supply and Sewerage, the Redfern Borough Council was permitted to open up a connection with this drain at the intersection of Marriott and Boronea Streets by shallow trench (see plan); and thus the greater part of the water which used to maintain the pond has been drained off; but the sub-soil remains undrained.

4. It will be seen from the foregoing details that the lower part of the area, from about Cooper-street to beyond the south side of Boronea-street, forms the bottom of a very shallow valley, and must have a wet subsoil. In order to demonstrate this important point, I include the photograph No. 6, which shows the eastern part of the terrace on the south side of Boronea-street, numbered 89 (not shown) to 71, the latter being at the corner of Marriott-street. In the yard, and against the eastern wall of this house, the builder has put in a shallow bricked well; and with aid of this permanent arrangement a man was (at the time of photographing) pumping out water which gravitated from under the whole row to the well. A brick knocked out of the back foundation-wall allowed the water which had risen within the foundation-walls and under the flooring boards to reach the well easily. After three weeks of fine weather, and after two or three days pumping, this shallow well still held about six inches of water, and showed that the ground-water was not far below the yard-level, and still stood much above the footings of the walls. I have been informed that these good-looking houses were built by, and are the property of, Alderman Butterfield (Redfern). Here I may also conveniently mention that a pool of water and thick mud, after the same term of fine weather, still stood against the shallow plateau of sand on which the four houses at the south of Marriott-street are built (photographs Nos. 2 and 4) on its northern side. Farther, although the trench running north from Boronea-street along Marriott-street (see plan), by means of which the communication with the Boronea-street drain mentioned above is effected, is but a few inches deep, a slender stream of water was still constantly flowing down it during and at the end of that period of fine weather. (The plan and photographs in the Appendix should now be examined.)

5. Garbage (or house-refuse) consists of ashes, bones, dead animals, disused bedding, decayed fruit and fragments of vegetable matter, broken meat, pieces of textile fabrics that have served their turn (or rather, have almost served it; for these are picked out and sold to the flock-makers, who tear them up without any previous purification, to sell to upholsterers, who use it to stuff, or partly stuff, all classes of furniture), leather, paper, straw, shop sweepings, tin cans, and all the other odds and ends which result from the wear and tear of civilised life. When these matters are collected in heaps, they form a mass of loose texture; air permeates it freely, and in the course of the putrefaction which ensues a great heat is evolved. While this process is going on—and it lasts until the last shred of putrescible matter has been resolved—an especially offensive odour is given off. Dangerous and inflammable gases are produced in large quantities. These have been found to issue from old garbage deposits in Sydney, and have been revealed by their accidental ignition. Thus, this phenomenon was seen about eighteen months ago during many days or weeks at Wentworth Park (which was for long the Tophet of the City); the gases were conducted to the surface in volume by crevices in the adjoining sandstone cliff, and become ignited. So, also, in Redfern Park, of which the southern end is made up with garbage to a depth of many feet, it was possible a short time ago to get a jet of flame by puncturing the surface and applying a match to the gases which escaped—an experiment which amused the children in that neighbourhood for several weeks. In this concentrated form these gases are deadly. In a more dilute form—that, namely, in which they escape into houses which are built upon or abutting upon garbage—they steadily deteriorate the health of the inhabitants who respire them, and are seen to be fatal at last, although the true cause of death is generally masked by special symptoms (such as fever, inflammation of the lungs, diarrhœa, convulsions), which are secondary to it. Water which has trickled through heaps of garbage issues from them possessed of all the characters of sewage. Street sweepings consist primarily of road-detritus; but when derived from town-roads, they contain from 30 to 40 per cent. of horse-dung. Putrefying animal excreta do not greatly differ in their effects upon health from putrefying human excreta.

* Appendix A. † Appendix B.

6. I imagine that it must be obvious that houses which are built actually upon masses of such abominably filthy material as I have just described, will be unhealthy; but it is perhaps necessary to point out that houses are likely to be unhealthy, although there may be no garbage actually beneath them, if one or other of their outside walls abut upon garbage, which has been employed either to make up the yards behind them, or to form a so-called foundation for roads and side-walks in front. The reason is that the putrid and deadly gases referred to pass very easily through bricks and mortar—through the bricks themselves and through the mortar itself—and especially through such walls as are put in by the jerry-builder. They are drawn from the adjacent foul soil by the greater heat of the houses; and this force is aided by pressure of the gases themselves, which, after a time, are confined by consolidation of the surface above them, or by paving-stones upon it, so that they cannot easily escape in a perpendicular direction to the outer air.

7. With regard to the origin and use of this garbage, I beg leave first of all to quote from a former report a sentence with which I concluded a section which dealt at length with this particular cause of unhealthiness to localities:—

“The conclusion of this matter may be stated in few words, if it be wished to single out the persons who are responsible. Municipal Councils are the only bodies who become possessed of large quantities of garbage. Landlords who acquire irregular sites, which are useless until they are levelled or made up, are the only persons who can put it to profitable use—profitable to themselves; that is, provided they do not occupy the houses they build on it, otherwise fatal to them, as they must observe it to be to their unsuspecting tenants. In committing this crime, therefore, two parties are concerned, both of whom must be considered in attempting to prevent its continued perpetration.” (Report upon an outbreak of typhoid fever at Newtown and Macdonaldtown. Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 6th March, 1889).

A small part of the garbage has in this case been contributed by the complainant borough, most of their share being that which is cast to form a “foundation” for Cooper-street; but I have reason to believe that some small part of that which has been shot to make up building lots has been also contributed by them, although (as I am informed) contrary to orders. Some other small part has in all probability been shot by contractors to other adjacent municipalities, although I do not know that this is so; but the greater part by far of the refuse recently cast, nearly all that with which the allotments owned by Messrs. Fogarty and Rollings are made up, has been contributed by the city of Sydney. On August 19 I saw the Sydney Municipal Corporation cart No. 72 drive on to the ground with its load of refuse, and I heard the Inspector of Nuisances for Redfern forbid the carter to shoot it there. The carter then withdrew; but on August 20 this same cart, No. 72, drove up again, and tipped its load at the southern end of Mr. Rollings’ terrace in Marriott-street. On the latter occasion I also noted the S.M.C. carts Nos. 46, 47, 59; but many others came too. Secondly, as to the application of the refuse to these private properties, the manner in which it is shot, piled up, levelled, and subsequently utilised, shows plainly that it is deposited not only with the consent, but in accordance with the directions of the leaseholders.

8. The Borough Council, through the Council Clerk, say that they are unable to stop the deposit of this refuse, and, as it appeared, this alleged inability was the ground of their complaint to the Board. They have the following By-law:—

128. No kind of rubbish or offensive matter shall be cast upon any public or private property within the Borough without permission first obtained from the Municipal Council, and the owner or owners of such property. Persons found guilty of a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding £2, nor less than 10s.

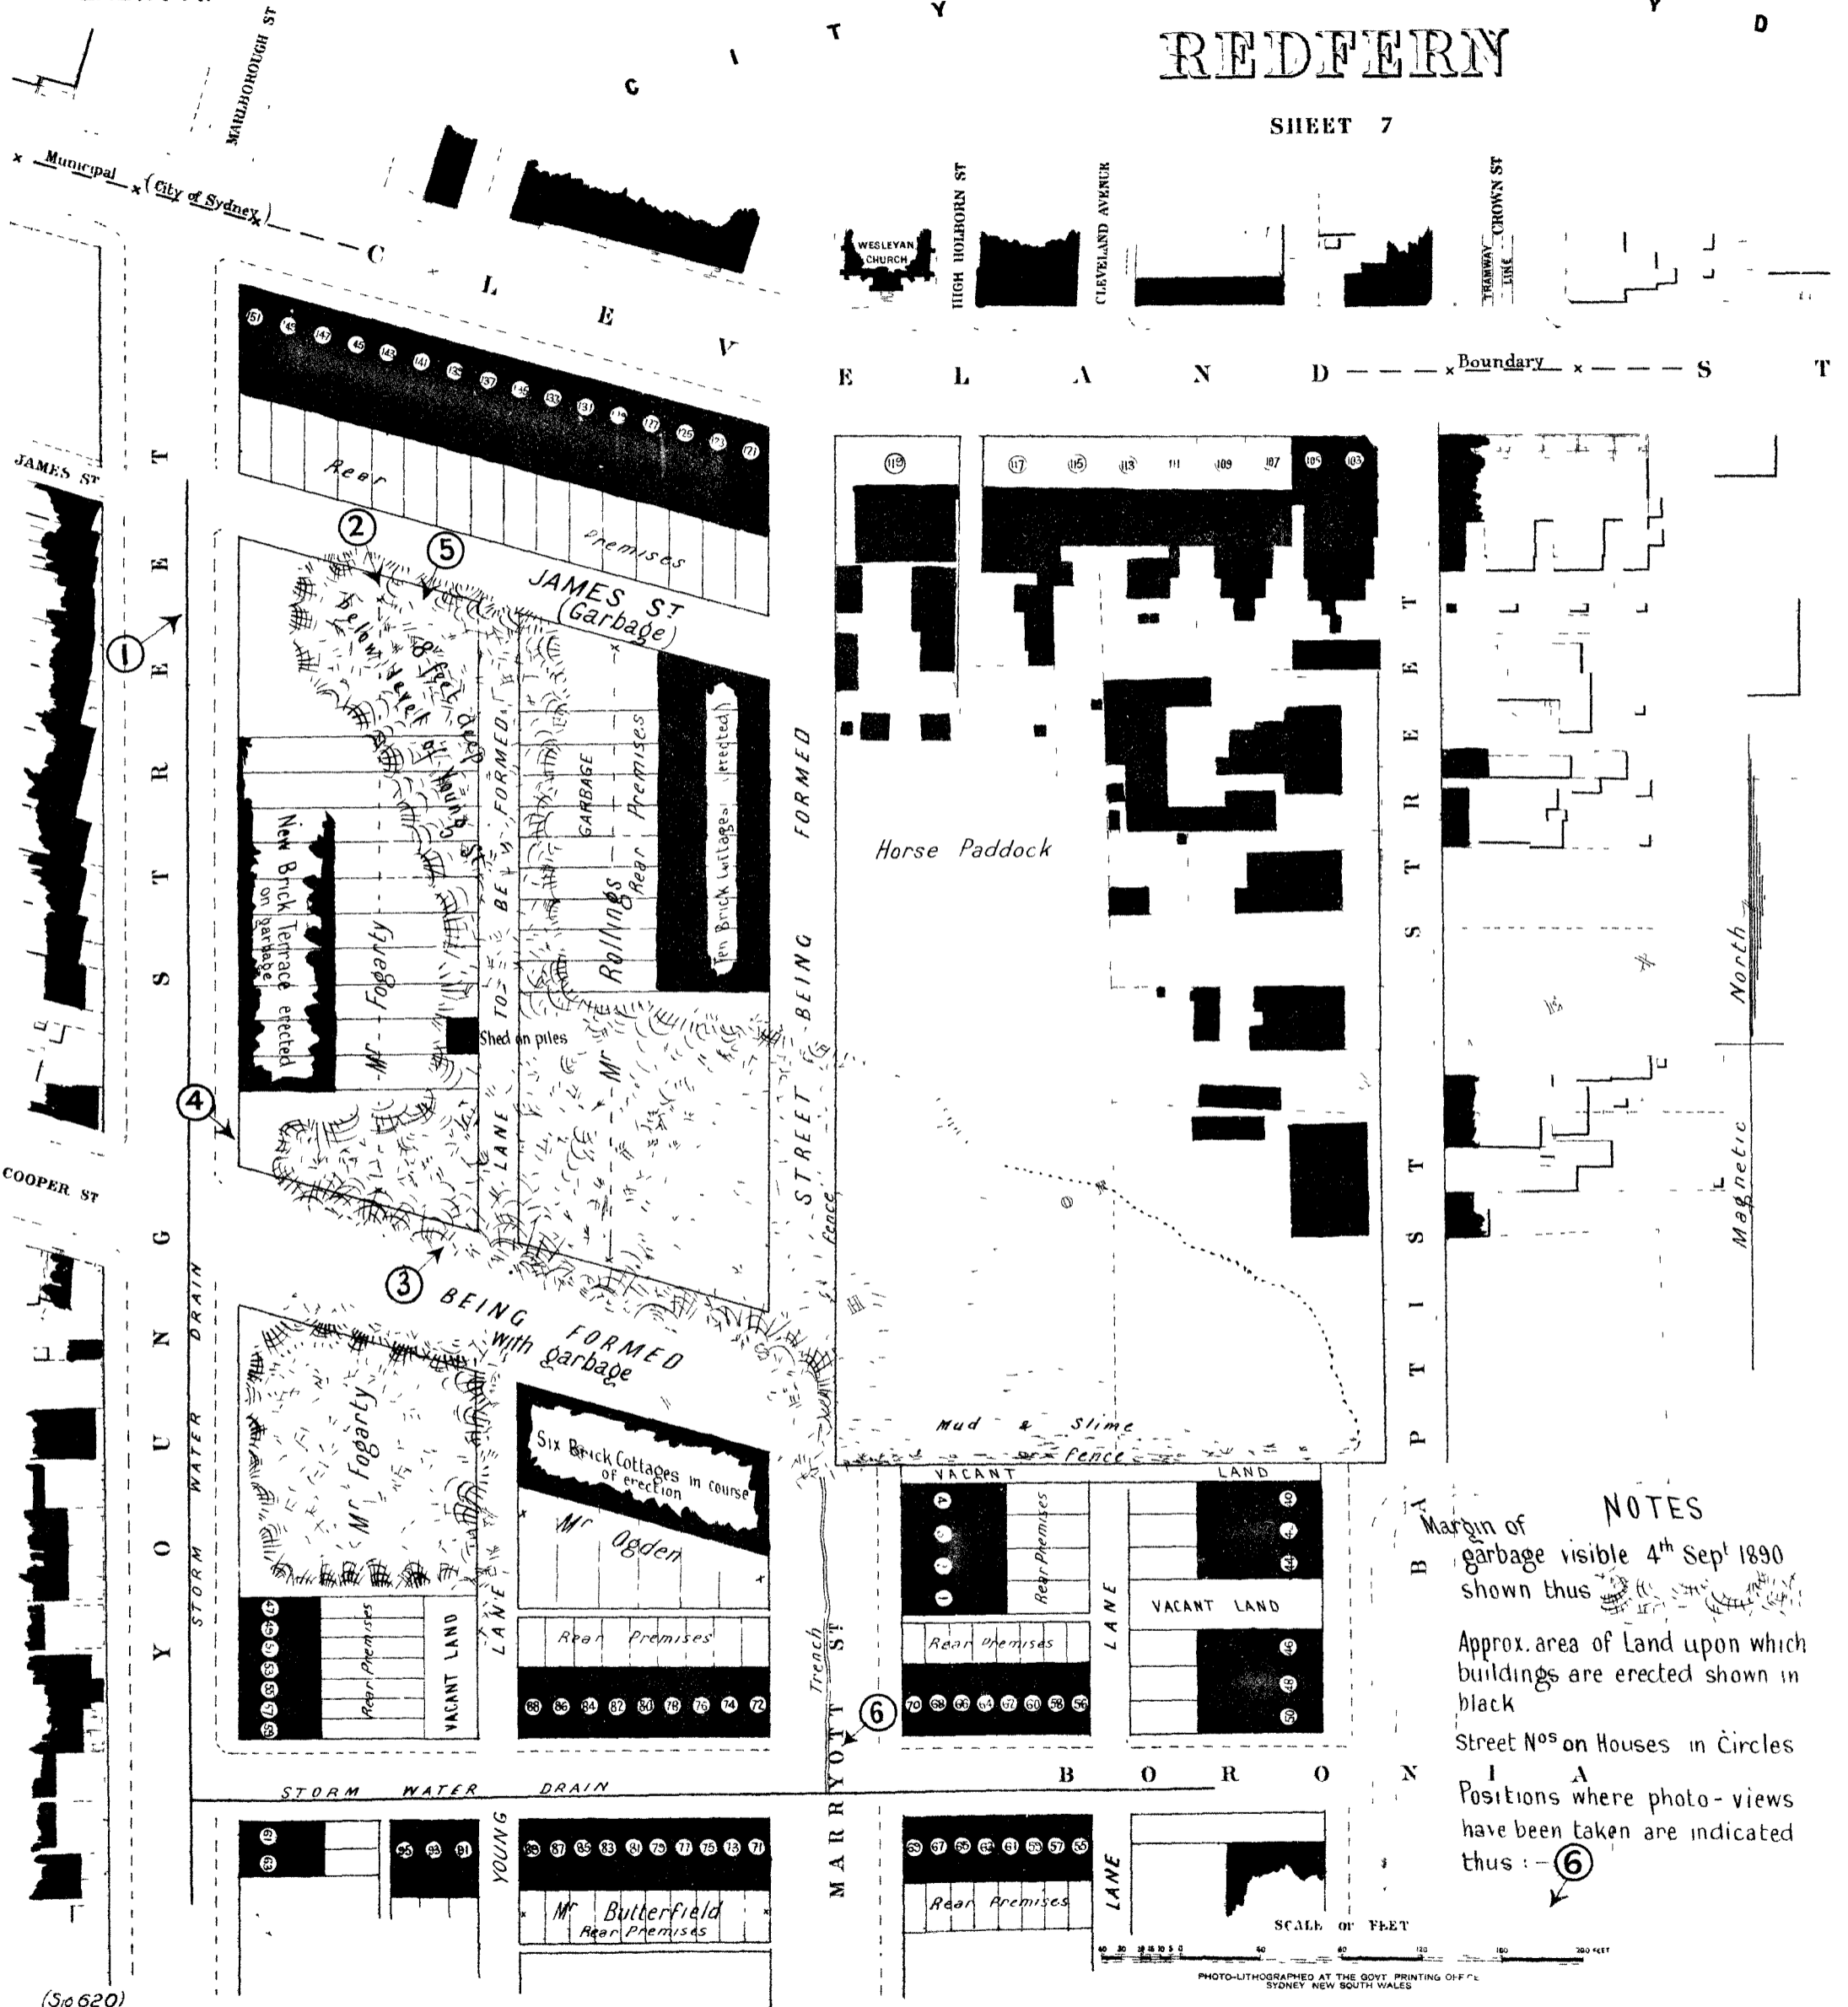

This By-law, they say, is inoperative, for the following reasons:—When scavenging is let out to a contractor it cannot be proved that he directed his men to shoot the offensive rubbish on private property, and therefore it is necessary to summon the carter who actually makes the deposit. This has been done; but it is found that although the summons may have been served the defendant does not appear, and when search for him is made it happens that he has left the employment in which he committed the offence, and cannot be traced. Secondly, as to that provision of the By-law which touches the owner of the property on which the deposit has been made, it is said that the latter’s defence would be that the deposit was made without his consent and behind his back, and that if anybody be at fault it is the Inspector of Nuisances, who is especially appointed to prevent such offences. This, as I understood it, is the difficulty in which the Borough Council find themselves. But I believe the following facts put another complexion on the matter. The City Corporation do not put this work out to contract, but do it themselves by their own servants; and therefore, if remonstrance with the Corporation officer actually responsible for this branch of the Corporation work should prove unavailing, as I am informed it has in this case, the Borough Council might then take action against them. Next, the owners of property might probably be convicted under the By-law if they were prosecuted (as they have not been), since the use to which they have put the refuse would doubtless be considered sufficient evidence of consent. Yet they could at most be fined but £2 for want of a continuing penalty; and that, in the business of house-building, would be a matter of no consequence to them. But they might otherwise be proceeded against, I suppose, under the 132nd section of the Municipalities Act, of which the concluding sentence seems to cover such a case as the present. It gives the Council power to cause the owner or occupier to “remove or abate” the nuisance. But it will be noticed that in the present case, while one Council has not chosen to attempt to put the section in force, another (or more than one) is the delinquent in committing an offence which it, and it alone, is appointed to prevent within its own boundaries. Subject to correction by a legal authority, it appears to me that the Borough Council have not done all in this matter that they might have done; but also that the law is not, in its present form, effectual to protect the public health when it is threatened in the manner here described.

10. With especial reference to the City Corporation, it must now be pointed out that they have always been ready to tip garbage on request, wherever a greedy landholder or other misguided person may wish; and their complacency continues to this date, as is shown by the present instance, by an immense accumulation made against the eastern wall of the Victoria Barracks (where all the space between that wall and Park Road has quite recently been converted into a plateau with garbage, which stands from 3 to 5 feet deep), and by that other, and monstrous accumulation with which a very large hollow was filled during 1889 at the Moore Park entrance to the Centennial Park. This principal corporation may almost be named the chief offender against the public health in this respect—by example, at least, they are so; and it will be observed that the poorer classes are the sufferers, while the richer reap the profit, whether they be incorporated bodies or landowners. In my reports to the Board I have always recommended burning as the only practicable method with this refuse—safe, that is to say, and economical. This improvement may, in course of time, be expected, and the City Council will be relieved of a difficulty, and of expense, when they adopt it; but the deadly use of garbage for building purposes, and its noxious use in festering masses for purposes of landscape-gardening, have not, even in the past, been the only alternatives to its cremation. If, therefore, the existing law and the existing methods were both amended, yet is there no public security that the law would be executed with due regard for the public health if its administration were left (as at present) in the uncontrolled hands of municipal bodies.

11. To sum up, it appears that the law does not at present provide any effectual means of preventing the grave evil which is exemplified—and only exemplified—by this case; but the law does compel connection of all the houses upon the area with the public water service, and (when in three or four months at the most the sewerage reticulation of Redfern shall have passed its boundaries) with the southern sewerage system. More, even, than this: The law provides that the house connections of both kinds shall be made by qualified tradesmen, working faithfully under immediate supervision of the competent Inspectors to the Board of Water Supply and Sewerage, and according to the stringent, but necessary, By-laws adopted by that Board. Yet, were vital statistics collected in ways at all calculated to serve purposes of practical sanitation, they might, in the future, be so compiled as to reveal the character of this area in relation to human life; and then the abstracts would certainly distinguish it from other areas by excessive rates of mortality under one year of age, and by excessive rates of illness from the zymotic diseases. The case, therefore, stands thus: All the care and cost expended to secure a pure water supply and safe sewerage are here to be nullified by an illegal, but practically unavoidable, collusion between Municipal Councils and house-builders.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

TYPHOID FEVER.

(REPORT BY BOARD OF HEALTH ON OUTBREAK OF, AT WAVERLEY AND RANDWICK.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 20 August, 1890.

Sir,

Board of Health Office, 6 August, 1890.

In forwarding a report by the Chief Medical Inspector on an outbreak of typhoid fever at Waverley and Randwick, the Board of Health fully concurs in the conclusion arrived at by Dr. Ashburton Thompson, that this outbreak was due to polluted milk distributed by a dairyman named John Farrelly, Frenchman's Road, Randwick, and that the probable cause of pollution was a foul well on this dairyman's premises. These conclusions are indeed inevitable from the facts adduced.

Besides numerous individual cases of typhoid fever, and several minor outbreaks of this disease, which have become known to the Board as directly traceable and due to polluted milk, there have been, during the last five years, four considerable outbreaks due to this cause. Each of these outbreaks involved much individual suffering and loss; each inflicted on the public a heavy charge, since a considerable proportion of the cases required hospital care and treatment; and each resulted in a serious and lamentable loss of life.

The outbreak in the municipal district of Leichhardt in 1886 occurred prior to the passing of the Dairies Supervision Act, and was the immediate cause of legislation in this direction; but the other three outbreaks—one in the municipal district of St. Leonards in 1887, another in the same district in 1889 (the details of which have not been made public), and the late outbreak in Waverley and Randwick—were all due to a want of care and stringency on the part of the local authorities, the Municipal Councils of the districts, in carrying out the provisions of this Act. The Dairies Act came into force in Randwick on January 1st, 1887. Since August 10th of that year, when the first inspection by the officers of the Board was made, and when John Farrelly's premises were described as in a "disgustingly filthy state," and a recommendation was made to "fill up the well," the Board have repeatedly urged on the Council a more careful and stringent application of the Act, and specially with regard to John Farrelly's dairy.

Without going into details, it may be at once stated that had the Municipal Council of Randwick properly carried out the provisions of the Dairies Act, and paid ordinary heed to the advice and admonition of the Board, the catastrophe which resulted in so much suffering and loss of life would not have occurred.

The Board desires to point out the difficulties met with in conducting this inquiry, owing—

1st—To the absence of an Act for the compulsory notification of disease;

2nd—To defects in the Dairies Supervision Act; and 3rd—To the absence in the districts involved of any proper and conspicuous naming of the streets, and of any consecutive numbering, or indeed of any numbering whatever, of the majority of the houses.

Had

Had the Bill for the compulsory notification of disease which has been drafted by the Board and submitted to the Colonial Secretary passed into law, the Board would not only have received early intimation of this outbreak, and of its particular incidence, but would have been able to take prompt measures to inquire into its cause, and probably to have stayed the plague in its early stages.

Under existing circumstances the Board is left to glean information from reports as to the number of typhoid cases admitted to hospitals, only a minor part of the total; from reports from municipal bodies, when their attention is specially called to the subject by the number of cases being startling or unusual; and from reports voluntarily made by physicians practising in the neighbourhood. In the present instance the municipal authorities of Waverley and a physician practising in the neighbourhood called the attention of the Board to the subject, and one of the first actions taken by the Board was to obtain from medical practitioners, resident in and practising in the neighbourhood, lists and reports of all the cases of typhoid fever they were attending, together with some particulars as to the milk supply. As these reports seemed to point to John Farrelly's dairy, the local authorities were requested to obtain a list of Farrelly's customers, in accordance with the provisions of the Act, and to forward them for the information of the Board. When forwarded these lists did not afford all the information necessary; and it would appear to be a defect in the Act that the Board is not authorized to demand these lists, but must obtain them through the local authorities, and that no provision is made, either by the Act or regulations under it, for keeping these lists in definite forms, so as to show both past and present customers. With all the information thus procurable, the Board found itself without the means either of obtaining the whole number of typhoid fever cases, or of arriving at any full and definite conclusion as to the cause, and was compelled to direct a house-to-house visitation for the purpose of completing the inquiry. This visitation, undertaken at the cost of the Board, by persons accustomed to similar inquiries, and having a knowledge of the particular neighbourhood, took a considerable time, as inquiries had to be made at no fewer than 2,553 dwelling-houses, and this inquiry had to be followed by special visitations on the part of the Chief Medical Inspector to all houses at which typhoid fever in the present or the immediate past was reported. Here, as well as in the preliminary stages of the inquiry, difficulties were met with in exactly fixing the houses and streets in which the cases had occurred, by reason of the want of care on the part of the Councils in performing the plain municipal duty of properly naming the streets and numbering the houses therein. Dr. Ashburton Thompson reports in this particular, a "state of confusion, which may well be called chaotic, everywhere outside the city of Sydney," Waverley and Randwick being in no better position in this respect than other suburbs.

In connection with this inquiry, and as tending in a measure to complicate it in its early stages, the attention of the Board was directed to the fact that the municipal authorities of Waverley had, in a manner unfortunately not without precedent in other municipal districts, allowed large deposits of night-soil to be buried in Waverley Park, thus converting a spot intended for public recreation into a nuisance dangerous to the public health, and also that there existed within the district, and in its immediate neighbourhood, several other insanitary areas in which zymotic disease was said usually to prevail.

Dr. Quaife, early in February, drew the attention of the Board to cases of typhoid fever in houses in Bennett-street, Bondi Road, within the borough of Waverley, and on inquiry being made the Chief Medical Inspector made a report to the following effect:—"The eastern boundary of the park was raised some 7 or 8 feet above a narrow street, containing three detached houses, and called Park Parade, which ran parallel with it; and 40 or 50 yards farther to the east was Bennett-street, running parallel with Park Parade. Inside the park fence, on the top of the bank, the outlines of many filled trenches in which night-soil had been buried at dates more than nine months earlier were visible. The soil was pure sand with clay-bands running through it, and in Park Parade offensive soakage was seen issuing from the bank, and standing on the surface. It immediately became hidden again in the loose sand, to the surface of which it had been conducted by a clay-band; and its course thereafter, judged by the contour of the surface, was east and by north, into a natural depression which ran to the sea-beach, some three-fourths of a mile distant. The experience of the neighbouring residents as to

to preventable illness had been as follows :—Of the three households residing in Park Parade one case of typhoid fever had occurred at the end of 1888, and three cases of scarlet fever in January, 1889, in the household “B,” and one case of typhoid in January, 1890, in the household “M.” Of eight households residing in Bennett-street three cases of typhoid fever had occurred in the household “L” in December and January, 1889–90; in the household “C” one case of typhoid in January, 1889; in the household “D” one case of typhoid in November, 1889; and in the household “T” diphtheria in 1886, one case of typhoid in January, 1889, and four cases of typhoid in December to February, 1889–90. Thus six out of eleven houses (at the least, or without inquiry after tenants removed) on the east side of Park Parade and the west side of Bennett-street were ascertained to have been invaded by diseases of the preventable sort from time to time during three years past. The reason was not far to seek. The site had many natural advantages; it was on a long slope, which consisted of sand chiefly, falling towards the sea; next above it was the large area of vacant land furnished by the park and reaching nearly to the top of the slope; the houses were set at fair distances from each other, and were open to the sun on all sides, and to every wind; the buildings themselves were of good class (as judged by rents alone), and the whole neighbourhood was but thinly built over. In these circumstances houses should be free from invasion by zymotic diseases if by judicious choice of site anything can be done to keep them out; and comparatively free they would have been without doubt had the Municipal Council not spoilt the neighbourhood by converting into a depôt for night-soil a public park which had been dedicated by the Government to the benefit and enjoyment of the ratepayers. By this deposit the air was befouled, and not for residents alone, but also for persons coming from a distance; and, although soakage from it appeared temporarily at the surface, the whole eventually sank to the stream of ground-water flowing below the earth, and befouled what was originally pure and harmless enough.”

The other insanitary areas are described by Dr. Ashburton Thompson as follows:—“One such area is that part of Woollahra which lies to the north of the Old South Head Road, and is bounded on the north by Australia-street. This includes the Grafton Estate, a considerable part of which was used as a garbage-tip, and which was first examined in 1886, when complaint was made to the Board by the then small number of neighbouring inhabitants. At that time I found the land in course of being made up with garbage, and it now carries a large number of dwelling-houses, no power to restrain Councils from this abominable and fatal practice yet existing. This area, and that north of Edgecliffe Road, through which Australia-street runs, are both undrained, so that during the late wet weather large tracts about and including Australia-street were swampy, and not to be traversed without precaution. Another such insanitary area lies to the north of Orange-street, Randwick, and includes Orange, Market, and one or two other streets. I was credibly informed that fever is never absent from this area. The land is not only undrained, and in part a swamp, but it has been used, I believe, for market-gardens, and in relation to house-building may be regarded as little better than a night-soil tip. Many of the houses built upon these and upon some other such areas are full of structural defects; and from combination of bad buildings with bad sites disease has arisen of kinds in the strictest sense preventable.”

If the course taken by the municipal authorities in allowing the defiling of the public park and the practice of building over insanitary areas were not directly the cause of some of the cases of typhoid fever in the district, they, without doubt, tended to deteriorate the general health of the inhabitants, to lower their vital energies and power of resistance to disease, and so to render them more susceptible to and less able to throw off the germs of typhoid fever when introduced in other ways.

There is clearly a necessity for some supervision over the action of municipal authorities in so far as their operations affect the public health, and, as the Board has already and repeatedly pointed out, for stringent legislation to prevent the erection of dwellings on insanitary areas such as have been described.

In conclusion, the Board would direct special attention to the necessity for a more careful inquiry on the part of local authorities under the Dairies Act, as to the purity of the water supply on dairy premises, and for more decided action in closing underground sources of supply, which are liable to pollution, especially when when a supply can be obtained from the public mains. There is abundant evidence before the Board that in cases in which a public supply is available, and is indeed laid on to the premises, water from underground tanks and wells, although avowedly used for washing carts and cow-bails only, is also still used for washing dairy utensils, if not for direct admixture with the milk. The danger of this is not sufficiently appreciated, despite frequent admonitions on the part of the Board; and it will be well if the disastrous results which have ensued in Waverley and Randwick act as a warning, and rouse municipal authorities to a keener appreciation of this danger, and of their duties in this particular.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

F. NORTON MANNING,

President.

The Colonial Secretary.

[Enclosure.]

REPORT to the Board of Health upon an outbreak of Typhoid Fever, due to polluted milk (Waverley and Randwick).*

By J. ASHBURTON THOMPSON, M.D., D.P.H., Chief Medical Inspector of the Board.

REPORT.

On February 13 the local authority under the Dairies' Supervision Act for the Borough of Waverley suggested that certain cases of typhoid fever were due, not to unhealthiness of locality, but to consumption of milk supplied by John Farrelly; this trader being a cow-keeper residing in Randwick, and registered under the Act mentioned by the local authority for the Borough of Randwick. Thereupon the Board advised the local authority for Waverley that if the evidence seemed to them to necessitate inquiry they could, under the 8th section of the Act enter Randwick, and demand of the trader named a list of his customers to aid them in investigating the matter. At the same time an officer of the Board was sent to inspect John Farrelly's premises; he found on them, still in use, a well which the local authority for Randwick had been urged to close nearly three years before. The water on being analysed proved unfit for use. The Board therefore desired the local authority for Randwick to close this well.

On March 21 the local authority for Waverley reported that inquiry had been made by them, and they forwarded a list of nine households within their district in which fever and consumption of John Farrelly's milk had coincided; and they requested that the Board should undertake a full investigation. Thereupon the Board directed the local authority for Waverley to procure and forward a list of John Farrelly's customers. On April 10 the Board received a communication from a physician in which he stated that he had under his care fever cases in five households, all of which were supplied with the milk already mentioned. Thereupon, on April 11, a fresh request for the list of customers was sent to Waverley, and it was at last handed in on April 17. On April 16 the local authority for Randwick forwarded a list showing all the cases of fever which had lately occurred in their district, as far as they had been able to discover them, and the milk-supply to each. Eight of the invaded households were said to have been supplied by John Farrelly; they yielded twelve cases, two of which had already ended fatally. Upon this information the Board, on April 18, directed that systematic investigation into the cause of illness should be made.

Upon review of the information at hand, I considered that an inquiry which should reveal the total incidence of fever upon Waverley and Randwick (which two municipalities will be referred to henceforward as "the District"), and the circumstances under which cases arose, would furnish material for ascertaining the cause or causes of illness; and if the result of this branch of the inquiry should point strongly to virulence of John Farrelly's milk, that a farther quest among those of his customers who resided outside the District would afford an efficient check upon that result. As to the time over which the inquiry should extend, I thought it necessary to go back as far as the beginning of the usual "fever season," or October 1. The forward limit was to be set by termination of a house-to-house visitation within the District; and this turned out to be on May 31. The space of time between October 1 and May 31 may for convenience be henceforward spoken of as "the Period."

The District was found to contain 2,553 dwelling-houses; but 305 of them were unoccupied, and at the close of the visitation, for one or other reason, particulars remained defective in respect of 25 more. It had been ascertained, however, that no fever had occurred in the latter during the Period, and, as it was not worth while to spend time in ascertaining the details as to milk supply of so small a proportionate number, they were written off. Full particulars as to incidence of fever, and as to supply of milk, were gathered, therefore, in respect of 2,223 out of the total 2,248 inhabited dwellings. It was found that 102 of these 2,223 households had been invaded by fever during the Period; in 22 of them more than one case had occurred, so that the 102 houses represented 133 cases; and the deaths were 9. [Appendix, Table I.]

* In a report upon an outbreak of Typhoid Fever in the Municipal District of Leichhardt, due to polluted milk, 1886, and in a report upon an outbreak of Typhoid Fever in the Municipal District of St. Leonards, due to polluted milk, 1887, I described at length the several steps of inquiry, and set out the evidence which each of them led up to. Much was then necessary by way of explanation, which now need not be repeated.

Some particulars regarding illness in the 102 invaded households are given in Tables II and IIA [Appendix]; but the details are complete only as regards 89 households and 118 cases. The remaining 13 households, yielding 15 cases, are placed apart in Table IIA. That they were invaded was learned from the lists already referred to; and the nature of the milk supply to four of them was got, as to James Farrelly,* from the doctor who attended upon the case, but, as to John Farrelly, from the list of his customers supplied by him. Dates of attack form an important part of the information required in such investigations as this, and Table II gives them; however, they are approximate only.

The next datum is the distribution of the eighty-nine invaded households over the District in point of space. This is shown in Map A, where households (or first cases alone) are denoted by letters. The arrangement of letters also serves to keep in mind the distribution of attacks in point of time, each being assigned to a different seven-day term within the Period. The letters are consecutive, but they are drawn in two colours for a purpose which appears later. [See Appendix, Map A.]

Typhoid fever is a miasmatic-contagious disease; and so, while defective sewers, infected water, and infected milk, may cause either sudden outbreaks or long-continued and more insidious epidemics according to varying circumstances of infection of air, water, &c., in any long period must occur (it may be co-incidentally with the former) a number of cases due to such remediable pollutions of soil and defective house-construction, as are well-known to be among the potent causes of endemic fever in Sydney and in other cities of New South Wales.

Defective sewers, as a possible cause, are easily excluded. There is but one sewer in the District; in a part of Randwick, namely, where out of 899 dwellings only about 200 in one neighbourhood are connected with it. However defective house-connections may be, a glance at the appended map A shows at once that but a few cases could be thus accounted for.

The water supply to the District is in small part local; that is, from old wells and from underground tanks. These exist, however, in but very small proportion; they could not account for many cases (there is no public well or tank among them), and in connection with such as there are it should be mentioned that pan-closets are now universal in the District, and that they are emptied by the appointed scavengers—householders not being allowed to empty them except in some few rural spots which are beyond the scavenger's reach. 85 per cent. of the dwellings, however, are connected with the public water service. This water flows from the catchment area to the Prospect Reservoir, and thence to Crown-street; and from Crown-street it is pumped first to the Woollahra Reservoir, and thence to the Waverley Reservoir. These two reservoirs supply by separate mains two different parts of the District which are on different levels. This public water, then, might be polluted at Prospect, or it might be polluted at Crown-street; but had this accident happened there would no doubt have been an unusual incidence of fever upon the whole of Sydney, whereas, in fact, the incidence has this year been smaller than usual. Or, the water might be polluted at Woollahra; but if that had happened, although the effects would have been manifested in all parts of the District, they would have been felt in other populous areas fed from that reservoir as well, which, in fact, have suffered during the present season rather less than usual, like the rest of the Metropolitan area. Lastly (pollution of water in local sub-mains being excluded by the equal distribution of infected houses over the District—equal, that is to say, over equally populous parts), the water might have got polluted in the district mains. The equal distribution of infected households over the District, however, makes it necessary to suppose that the same kind of pollution (if any) must have found access to the two district mains which run through separate lines of country; and this hypothesis may be dismissed unless failure of all other explanations should make further consideration of it necessary. Water supply of all sorts is thus excluded as the cause of fever in the District during the Period, or is excluded provisionally.

The third, and, under the circumstances, the only remaining cause of epidemic fever is a polluted milk supply. In Table III [Appendix] the 2,223 inhabited dwellings will be found classified according to their source of milk; and against each group is set the number of households which were invaded, except nine (for which, see Appendix, Table IIA), and the number of cases that occurred in them. In connection with this table it is to be remembered that typhoid fever gains access to man by many other channels than infected milk affords, and that every considerable business must, during the fever season, include among its customers some households in which illness has arisen quite independently of the milk consumed in them. Due regard being had to the probability of some slight error in this Table: error, that is to say, not as to the number of invaded households set down in it, nor as to the number of households there ascribed to John Farrelly as customers of his, because both of these matters were subject of special inquiry; but some proportionately slight error in the number of households ascribed to each of the other traders there mentioned: it will be at once noticed, first, that the number of invaded households served by John Farrelly is very much greater than the number served by any other trader, and, secondly, that this number, absolutely large, is greater still if the proportion of invasions to total households supplied be considered. Thus, John Farrelly supplied 121 households, and 38 of them were invaded; the Fresh Food and Ice Company supplied 494, and 11 were invaded. Now, 11 is less than a third of 38, if merely the absolute numbers be regarded; but the proportionate number of invasions to households supplied is about 35 per cent., and about 2 per cent. respectively, so that the incidence on John Farrelly's customers was about 17 times as great as upon those of the company named. If a smaller trader (Owen and Griffith) be taken for another comparison of the same kind—and that the trader among the smaller ones who had most cases of fever next to John Farrelly in proportion to the number of households served—yet the incidence of fever on his customers was but a fifth of the incidence upon John Farrelly's. But when small numbers are taken percentages are liable to produce a false impression. It will be better to compare Farrelly's business with all the others taken together. Thirty-four traders are mentioned in the table by name, and they had among them 43 households invaded; or, if the 24 additional traders who are included under the heading "Miscellaneous" (because they supplied between them only 38 households) be included, then 58 suppliers furnish only 45 invaded households (or rather less than 1 a-piece), while John Farrelly furnishes for himself alone no less than 38. The numbers thus far mentioned refer to households only: but some households furnished multiple cases; and the proportion of these among Farrelly's customers is not less strikingly in excess of the proportion among the other businesses taken together than is the number of invasions ascribed to him. Out of 64 invaded households supplied from various sources (but in mentioning 64 an advantage is given to John Farrelly, because 10 are included to which the nature of the supply was not ascertained—(see Table IIA), only 8 yielded more than one case a-piece; but of 38 invaded households supplied by John Farrelly,

no

*James Farrelly and John Farrelly carry on separate and independent businesses in different districts.

no less than 15 yielded more than one case, the respective proportions being 12·5 per cent. and 39 per cent. Or, if cases be counted, then the 64 households supplied from various sources yielded 74 cases, but John Farrelly's 38 households yielded 59 cases. Had the 64 suffered as the 38 did, they would have furnished 99 cases instead of 74. These facts afford a strong presumption that John Farrelly's milk did possess virulent qualities, and did determine typhoid fever among those who consumed it. It is just possible, however, that if his trade were confined to extremely unhealthy spots, while the other traders served in healthy spots, that the connection between it and the fever might after all be no more than a coincidence; the place where and not the thing which constituting the link between the two. On Map A, where the letters indicate the position of 89 of the 102 invaded households, the red letters show those which were supplied from any of the other sources mentioned in Table III, while the blue letters show those which were supplied by John Farrelly. It will be noticed, not merely that wherever a blue letter is set red letters are to be found not far away, but that the converse statement does not hold good—red letters are to be found where there are no blue letters. And further, in Map B the position of John Farrelly's 121 customers is marked approximately, the 38 invaded households being distinguished by a blue circle traced round the dots; and upon comparing the two maps it will be found, for instance, that whereas there are many red letters on that area which is bounded by Birrell-street to the north, and westerly by the branch to Randwick tram-line, there are very few blue letters, so that it appears at first sight as though the explanation were merely that on that area Farrelly had but few customers: whence the inference is easy that Farrelly's customers suffered rather because he did supply his milk in unhealthy areas than because it was virulent, and itself a cause of disease—or, in other words, that all the cases were due to local influences, and therefore arose independently of any milk whatever. But that inference would be mistaken: and it would be mistaken because in drawing it the imperfection of maps, which cannot display all the circumstances of the case, is left out of account. To demonstrate this it is sufficient to take any small area of sufficient size, on which both red and blue letters occur, and to distribute the houses within it under their various sources of milk supply, just as all the houses in the District are distributed in Table III. This being done it is found that the number of blue letters in proportion to houses served by John Farrelly is greater than the proportion of red letters to the number of houses served by any of the other suppliers within that area. And, therefore, as houses standing on the same area are exposed practically to identical local influences, this result serves to strengthen the provisional conclusion already foreshadowed and now to be stated; namely, that John Farrelly's milk did possess qualities which determined typhoid fever among those who consumed it.

I call this a provisional conclusion, because the District does not include all the households served by this trader. It was mentioned at first that the investigation was to be based upon facts discovered within the District, and that the result was to be checked by comparison with the result of inquiry among his customers residing outside it. If his milk were virulent at all, it must have produced similar effects wherever it was distributed—that is, provided the whole quantity of milk left his premises in the same state. Table IV [Appendix] shows the result of an inquiry made with assistance of the list of customers supplied by John Farrelly to the local authority of Waverley about April 17. It will be noticed that between his list for the District and the list made after a house-to-house inquiry, which was checked off by a second visitation, there is a discrepancy by defect of twenty-eight names; and it may be observed here that the correction operated entirely in John Farrelly's favour, no fresh cases of fever being included among them. But as to the other three municipalities it was, of course, out of the question to continue the house-to-house visitation, and it is, therefore, impossible to say whether the list rendered is accurate or not, or, if supposed inaccurate, whether the variation is in favour of the accused milk or against it. This Table IV [Appendix] shows an equality of incidence of the fever upon the five groups of customers who lived (in all respects except that of milk supply) under different local conditions which is striking. About 30 per cent. of the households supplied by John Farrelly suffered in each district; and 30 per cent. is the proportion that suffered among the total supplied by him in all the Municipalities together. Thirty-one per cent. was the proportion of invaded households among his customers that yielded multiple cases outside the District, which proportion within it was (on larger totals) 39 per cent. And the number of cases in proportion to invaded households, within and outside the District, was also close; within the District 38 households served by him yielded 59 cases; outside it 29 households served by him yielded 53 cases. So that the provisional conclusion formed after examination confined to the District, is confirmed by the result of examination of the fate of customers in three municipalities outside it.

The milk was virulent then; that is the important conclusion warranted by the events thus far described. A separate matter is inquiry as to the way in which the milk acquired its virulence. It is not often that this can be discovered beyond reasonable doubt.

The dairy premises stand on an outcrop of rock between Frenchman's Road and Orange-street, Randwick; they are indicated on the two maps by a cross. They are rather extensive; the number of cows milked is usually between forty and fifty. The situation of these premises is suitable enough; the several buildings are well spaced out; and the cows run upon large areas of uninhabited land near by. The closets are pails, emptied by the public scavenger. The water supply is from the public mains, by taps placed at several convenient points. This water is (in the case of such business premises) paid for by meter. Before water was laid on, a well situated at a low point of the yard, and inadequately guarded against inflow of surface water was the source of supply. This well remained unclosed until (probably) the last day of March or the first day of April in the present year. No disease among the cows was discovered. This establishment has always been very dirty and ill-kept, and has largely occupied the attention of the Board since August 10, 1887. But, upon the whole, the only positively dangerous circumstance about it was the well; and on the date last mentioned its closure was first urged upon the local authority. It remained unclosed, however, until the end of March last, as mentioned above. Other important points are the following:—On November 20, 1888, M.G., a man employed by John Farrelly, was admitted to hospital suffering from typhoid fever; and on January 15, 1889, M., another of his hands. On December 1, 1889, W.M., one more of his hands, suffered for three weeks from fever, having been admitted to hospital at the end of the first week; his illness was described in the hospital books as "febricula." On March 14, 1890, an officer of the Board visited the premises for reasons mentioned, and found the well still open, and (as usual in similar cases) said to be retained only for cartwashing. On the same day, John C. Farrelly was stopped as he was distributing milk by the Inspector of Dairies for the City of Sydney, in the ordinary course of duty, and a sample was taken. He said the milk was not his father's, but had been purchased at a depôt which he named. On analysis the milk proved to be adulterated with water; and proceedings were taken against John Farrelly for having adulterated milk for sale, and against John C. Farrelly for selling it. Both were convicted and fined; but, owing to adjournments, not until nearly a month later. I have been informed by the officers who conducted the prosecution that, at hearing of the case, John C. Farrelly admitted that the milk was not purchased, but was his father's, and that his father had watered it.

In connection with these circumstances Table V [Appendix] may be considered: it shows cases known to have occurred among John Farrelly's customers during the Period, irrespective of the neighbourhood in which they lived, arranged in order of approximate dates of attack; first cases in households are numbered and distinguished by black type. This table, with addition of 3 households, equal to 5 cases, and 1 death, from Table IIA (omitted from Table V because their dates of attack are not known), shows what was the incidence of fever during the season 1889-90, upon 218 households, between whom the sole bond was supply of milk from this common source. All of these cases, however, cannot have been due to the virulent milk; these households were open to the usual influences of locality and season to cause fever, and some of these persons doubtless did contract fever independently of the milk: yet, on the other hand, some who were infected from the milk would not have suffered if they had not lived under unhealthy local influences. Taking this into consideration it is not easy to say when the milk first began to have virulence. Doubtless, evidence on this point is deducible from the proportionate number of cases which occurred in March and February (when all the deaths, except one, happened) and perhaps in January; but in this view the virulence of the milk must have been uniform over the months mentioned, but must have gradually increased in potency to infect from the beginning of January to the end of March. One thing, however, the Table shows unmistakably: it is that the milk ceased to be virulent at the end of March—that is to say, that within the District (where the house-to-house inquiry did not begin until April 29) no case occurred in households served with it after April 16, and no household was freshly invaded after April 5. Now a curve constructed from the mortality from typhoid fever month by month over the Metropolitan area, deduced from records for a series of years, and expressed as a rate per 10,000 of population, shows a gradual ascent from October to the end of May, when after an abrupt fall occurs to the minimum at the end of the following September. Deaths, of course, do not occur in constant proportion to number of cases; but in the case of this disease it may be taken that the average death-rate during a series of years indicates the incidence of disease with tolerable accuracy. Then if the increasing incidence of fever upon the general population of Sydney, thus deduced from the mortality, be compared with the increasing incidence of fever upon the consumers of the milk, as shown by Table V [Appendix], it appears that the virulence of the milk increased to the end of March, exactly as the virulence of the general causes (following seasonal development) increases year after year; but that at the end of March it suddenly lost its virulence altogether, although the virulence of general causes of fever was (following the experience of a series of years) continuing still to increase for two months more—that is, until the end of May. These two circumstances are both of them striking. As to the abrupt cessation of virulence in the milk, it coincides exactly with the date on which the well was filled up. And it may be suggested with regard to accord between the gradually-increasing potency of the virulent milk and the gradually-increasing seasonal activity of fever, that if the well were permanently infected with the typhoid poison the virulence of its water would probably follow the same seasonal development in point of potency. If, therefore, it were used frequently, but not necessarily every day, for washing the cans, the milk would show its virulence increasing as the season progressed, just in the way in which it did increase, which is so striking, and which cannot be easily explained in any other way.

The conclusion thus reached is that during the fever season, 1889-90, the milk distributed by John Farrelly possessed poisonous qualities, which determined typhoid fever in those who drank it. The number of households known to have consumed this milk was 218 (but I have no means of learning whether that is the whole number), and sixty-seven of them were infected. 112 members of these sixty-seven households suffered, and nine died. It seems strongly probable that a foul well on the dairy premises was the source of virulence for the milk.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

TYPHOID FEVER IN SYDNEY AND SUBURBS.

(FROM 1876 TO 1889.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 7 May, 1890.

The Secretary to the Board of Health to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Board of Health Office, 127 Macquarie-street, Sydney, 13 March, 1890.

I have the honor, by direction of the Board of Health, to forward you the enclosed paper on the prevalence and mortality of Typhoid Fever in the City of Sydney and Suburbs during last fourteen years, which has been prepared from the records in this Office for the information of the Colonial Secretary.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND SAGER,
Secretary

[Enclosure.]

TYPHOID Fever in the City of Sydney and its Suburbs from 1876 to 1889.

THE accompanying tables, which have been carefully prepared for the information of the Colonial Secretary, contain certain interesting facts with reference to the prevalence and mortality of typhoid fever in the city of Sydney and suburbs during the last fourteen years, and are a continuation of returns previously furnished, completed to the 31st December last.

In table I a statement is given of the number of deaths in each month of the ten years ending 31st December, 1885, together with the ratio calculated per 100,000 of the population, as estimated on the 30th June in each year. From this it will be seen that during the decennial period there was a very large increase in the mortality from this disease, viz., from 46·67 per 100,000 in 1876 to 102·17 in 1885.

Table II gives a similar statement for 1886, 1887, 1888, and 1889. From this it will be seen that the mortality from typhoid fever has of late undergone considerable diminution; thus in 1886 the rate per 100,000 was 90·90; in 1887 it was 58·11; in 1888 it was 51·42; and in 1889 it was 55·77.

Table III, which contains a return of the number of cases of typhoid fever admitted to the metropolitan hospitals of Sydney, and of the number of deaths which have occurred in these institutions during 1886, 1887, 1888, and 1889. From this it appears that there were 814 cases admitted, with 123 deaths; in 1887 there were 598 cases with 81 deaths; in 1888 there were 648 cases with 82 deaths; and in 1889 there were 851 cases with 88 deaths; the death rates being 15·72, 13·54, 12·65, and 10·34 per cent. on cases admitted during each year respectively. From these figures it will be noted with much satisfaction that the death rates have been progressively diminishing for the past four years, and that, although the number of cases admitted in 1889 is greater by 203 than that of cases admitted in 1888, the number of deaths is almost the same. Experience has shown that the chances of recovering from typhoid fever are very much increased if the patients are placed under suitable treatment in the earlier stages of the disease.

Table IV shows the number of persons suffering from typhoid fever who were admitted to the metropolitan hospitals during the twelve months ending December 31st, 1889, arranged according to the localities from which they were removed, together with a calculation of the ratio of cases per each 10,000 of the population.

Table V shows the deaths which took place in the hospitals among the cases mentioned in the previous table; in this it has not been deemed necessary to calculate the ratio per 10,000.

From the two latter returns it appears that the West Central District (comprising Newtown, St. Peters, Camperdown, and Macdonaldtown), and the East Central District (comprising Redfern, Waterloo, Alexandria, Botany, and Darlington), have again supplied by far the largest proportion of typhoid fever patients to the hospitals. From the West Central District came 114 cases, giving a ratio of 33·59 per 10,000 of the population, the municipality of Newtown furnishing no less than 57 of the cases; and from the East Central District 127 cases were removed, giving a ratio of 30·90 per 10,000 of the population. From the borough of Redfern alone 46 cases were removed.

It would have been more satisfactory if a return could have been given of the cases of typhoid fever actually occurring in the city and suburbs during the period in question; but, owing to the absence of any provision for the notification and registration of infectious disease, no data exist on which such a return could be founded.

In submitting returns for previous years, the Board pointed out that typhoid fever is essentially a preventable disease, and makes its ravages chiefly among the younger and more vigorous members of the community. By well-concerted sanitary measures the prevalence of the disease can be very greatly reduced, and much sickness and death may be spared to the community. The necessity for a Public Health Act is, in the opinion of the Board, more and more urgent.

By order,

EDMUND SAGER,

Secretary to the Board of Health.

Sydney, 12 March, 1890.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEPROSY IN THE AUSTRALASIAN COLONIES.
(REPORT ON.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 7 May, 1890.

The Secretary to the Board of Health to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir, Board of Health Office, 127 Macquarie-street, Sydney, 20 March, 1890.

I have the honor, by direction of the Board of Health, to forward herewith, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, a statement respecting the prevalence of leprosy in the Australasian Colonies, prepared from information supplied by the Boards of Health and other authorities in the various Colonies.

In forwarding this information, the Board would again point out the advisability of causing the Leper Bill, which was recently drafted and submitted, to be introduced to Parliament as soon as possible.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND SAGER,

Secretary.

[Enclosure.]

Leprosy in the Australasian Colonies.

THE following information has been obtained from the Boards of Health, and other authorities, as to the prevalence of Leprosy in Australasia.

The total number of lepers under official cognisance at the close of 1889 was 30, and the following return shows the number in each colony and the nationality :—

Colony.	Number.	Nationality.
		New South Wales.	China.	Java.	Fiji.	New Hebrides.	Solomon Islands.	Malacca.	Strait Settlements
New South Wales.....	12	2	9	1
Victoria	4	...	4
South Australia	2	...	2
Queensland	6	...	4	1	1
Tasmania
West Australia	1	...	1
New Zealand.....
Fiji.....	5	2	2	1
Total	30	2	20	1	2	2	1	1	1

The tuberculated or nodulated, and the anæsthetic or macular forms of Leprosy are represented in about equal proportions. Besides the persons under direct enumeration it would appear that in some of the colonies there are others of whom no account is taken. In a report from the Chief Medical Officer of Fiji it is stated that, in addition to the five under Government care, "there are cases—almost all of the macular or anæsthetic type—among the aboriginal race of Fiji, who are to a limited extent segregated by the order of the native district chiefs," and the Under Secretary of the Colonial Secretary's Office, New Zealand, in reporting that there are no hospitals for the special treatment of leprosy patients, and no lepers under treatment in any hospital, states that "the disease is not absolutely unknown in New Zealand." There is indeed reason to believe that it exists in several districts among the native race, the sufferers being kept somewhat apart from their fellows within the boundaries of the native pahs.

In Tasmania alone does the disease appear to be unknown, the Secretary of the Central Board of Health reporting that "no case has been known, though inquiry has been made at all the centres of Chinese population on the Island." It is also stated that there is a comparatively large Chinese population, and incoming Chinese are all examined under the Chinese Immigration Act.

In

In New South Wales the patients are kept in a separate portion of the grounds of the Coast Hospital, which is 10 miles from Sydney, and receives infectious diseases, as scarlet-fever, diphtheria, measles, erysipelas, &c., as well as typhoid fever and general hospital cases.

In Victoria they are detained in weatherboard huts in a separate enclosure within the limits of the general Quarantine Station at Point Nepean, but in a secluded situation.

In Queensland the leper station is on Dayman Island, near Thursday Island.

In South Australia the disease is confined to the northern territory, and the patients occupy bark huts isolated on the proclaimed leper station at Middle Point, and

In Western Australia the single patient is kept in a hut erected for his accommodation outside the Quarantine Ground at Woodman's Point, a neck of land projecting into the sea, about 6 miles from Fremantle.

In New South Wales, New Zealand, Queensland, and Fiji there are no laws or regulations in force dealing with lepers. In the first-named colony the want of some legal enactment for the segregation and care of these cases has been greatly felt, and a Bill has been drafted under the direction of the Board of Health. In Fiji the question is under consideration, but it is "not intended to submit any measure to the Council until the inspection of lepers, and investigation of the subject as it affects the colony at present being carried out by the Chief Medical Officer's Department, is completed."

In South Australia steps are taken for the segregation of the cases under the provision of the Public Health Act; and "should any case occur in Tasmania it would be dealt with under the Public Health Acts of 1885 and 1887."

In Western Australia the sole patient is now isolated "under regulations made pursuant to an order of the Governor in Council, dated August 12th, 1889, under the provisions of the Public Health Act."

In Victoria, leprosy is specially dealt with under section 8 of the Public Health Law Amendment Act of 1888, and the patients are sent to the Quarantine Station, or other appointed place, by order of the Board of Health, on the certificate of the Health Officer of the Board, and two legally-qualified medical practitioners. In the report of the Board of Health for the years 1888-9 a full description is given of the four cases under care. Three of these have been in the Colony for periods of eighteen, twenty, and thirty years respectively, and the disease has existed for sixteen years in the first, nearly twenty years in the second, and twenty-two or twenty-three years in the third, of these cases. The fourth patient has only been in the Colony three years, and the disease made its appearance soon after his arrival.

Of the cases under care in New South Wales two were admitted in 1883, one in 1885, three in 1886, one in 1887, four in 1888, and two in 1889, and of the Asiatics, the majority developed the disease in periods varying from six months to four years after arriving in the Colony. In one case, however, six years, in another, seven years, and in a third, ten years elapsed between the time of arrival and the appearance of leprosy.

It will be seen that, with the exception of two cases in N.S.W., all the sufferers belong to dark-skinned races—Chinese, Javanese, or South Sea Islanders.

The occurrence of the disease in persons of European extraction is a matter of very considerable interest, especially in view of the fact that, in addition to the two cases now under care, a case of death from leprosy in a man of European parentage was reported to the Board by the City Coroner during the year 1889. In this case the death was certified as due to leprosy by two medical practitioners, one of whom saw the patient repeatedly during life, and there appeared no doubt as to the accuracy of the diagnosis. The individual had never been separated from his family, or specially isolated with them, and there is reason to believe that there are several other cases in the Colony not in any way isolated, and under no official cognizance or care.

Particulars of the two cases in persons of European extraction, taken at the date of the cases being reported to the Board of Health, are given in the Appendix to this Report, from which it will be seen:—

- 1st. That the patients are natives of New South Wales, and have never been out of the Colony.
- 2nd. That they are both sons of persons of British extraction, who were either born in, or have spent all their lives in, the Colony.
- 3rd. That they are members of large families, none of the others of whom are affected with leprosy, and that there is no evidence of the disease being hereditary.
- 4th. That they have always been in a position to obtain a full and varied dietary.
- 5th. That the disease existed in one case for eight years, and in the other for four years, before report was made to the Board of Health, and the patients isolated.
- 6th. That in both cases there has been communication with the Chinese, and though there is no satisfactory evidence that this communication was other than of a very casual character, there is some reason to believe that in one of the cases it was of an intimate nature.

APPENDIX.

F.G. is 27 years old, and was born at Penrith; his father and mother being natives of the Colony, of British extraction. He has always lived in New South Wales; was weakly during infancy, but has had no important illnesses since. He lived with his parents at Penrith, Goulburn, and Bathurst until he was 11 years old; the family then came to Sydney, and he has lived there with his mother ever since. His mother is in good health; she has, besides F., three other sons and two daughters, who are said to have good health. His father died aged 42; he had had good health previously, and his illness did not last very long. On leaving school F.G. spent one year in the service of a cordial-maker; he then helped his mother, who kept a restaurant, his duty being to buy vegetables in the markets, frequently from Chinamen, and he did this for another year or more. Being about 17 he became a carter, drawing building materials; and after a little he began to learn plastering. After some months of this work, during which his chief business had been to beat up bullock's hair and mortar with a trowel, and being between 19 and 20, he found the trowel had broken the skin over the outer side of the right fore-finger; and with this sore his present illness seems to have begun. The finger swelled, and has never recovered its natural size or appearance; and, according to his brother's account, anæsthesia of the hands and feet was among the earliest symptoms, it being observed that he sometimes burnt or injured himself himself without being aware of it. Three or four years later he had an attack which is described as erysipelas and rheumatic fever, and from this the general swelling and distortion of his hands and feet date. Two years later still he began to get a disease of the eyes which has produced opacities of the cornea, and adhesions of the iris, and has rendered his sight very imperfect. Lastly, a few months ago, he tried to cut his throat, but his mother and brother saw no reason at the time to suppose him insane. He now seems to have a fair amount of strength. His hands and feet are much distorted, and some of his fingers have lost the terminal phalanges by absorption, the skin of the face and ears is thickened and roughened, and in all those situations there is very imperfect sensation—so that on being pricked with a needle he only felt that he was being touched. The patient's family have always been in comfortable circumstances.

H.B., aged 17.

His descent is as follows:—

Mother and father Irish.		Mother and father English.
Father born Penrith, New South Wales. Always lived in New South Wales.	=	Mother born at sea before arrival in Australia. Lived always in New South Wales.
H.B., æt. 17 (and nine other children in good health), born and lived always on the Meroo.

Until 13 years of age he was well, strong, intelligent, and active. The fingers of the left hand then began to contract, and the muscles of the fore-arm wasted somewhat, so that a doctor supposed he had injured the limb, and that it was wasting from disuse. Next, blebs appeared on the fingers, and loss of sensation to a small extent was observed. At about 15 years of age discoloured spots of reddish-brown colour appeared on the trunk, and later on the extremities; under some treatment these disappeared or nearly disappeared a few months later, but they reappeared of a pure brown colour without the reddening. The right hand and foot in the meantime had become contracted and swollen, and lastly, about the age of 16, his face began to get discoloured, to swell, and to be disfigured.

On examination:—

The face (being the mask alone) is disfigured by an irregular swelling or infiltration, which is rather hard; a few distinct tubercles are to be seen; in colour it is uniformly reddened, but more deeply in places, so that it looks patchy; the nose is broadened and thickened, the eyelids thickened, the eyebrows thickened and prominent; the ears have the lobe slightly thickened, but not hardened, but the tragus is both thickened and hardened, and proportionately more deformed.

Eyesight unaffected.

Hands.—The fingers on both sides are contracted moderately and thickened; there is swelling, or thickening at, and immediately above, both wrists.

Feet.—Right foot is generally thickened and deformed, but the toes are scarcely contracted; it is discoloured (reddish or purplish); a blister appeared on the sole about a year ago, which broke, healed, appeared again and healed, and at last left an ulcer, which is now present. Left foot, discolouration only.

Trunk and Limbs.—These show very numerous patches of discolouration of irregular shape, which are of a quite clear brown, of the same shade as the back of a sunburnt hand; there is no reddening of these patches as usually seen. They are anæsthetic, but the patient (as usual) denied this until he was shown that he could not distinguish between a touch with the head of a pin and a prick with the point, and that he could not feel the former at all.

The boy's father, formerly a publican, is now a selector and labourer, living on the Meroo (Mudgee), and has always been in fairly comfortable circumstances. This is an old gold-field, and there have always been Chinese there within his recollection; but communication of this family with them has always been strictly limited to purchases of tea and sugar, and occasionally such articles as boots, at a store kept by some of them. Those who keep the store are said to have been there very long and to be well. All other conditions seem to have been those usual in the bush.

DAIRIES SUPERVISION ACT.

(ADMINISTRATION OF, DURING YEARS 1887-8-9.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 2 July, 1890.

The Secretary to the Board of Health to The Principal Under Secretary.

Sir,

Board of Health Office, 127, Macquarie-street, Sydney, 17 June, 1890.

I have the honor, by direction of the Board of Health, to forward herewith, for the information of the Colonial Secretary, a report on the administration of the Dairies Supervision Act for the years 1887, 1888, and 1889.

I have, &c.,

EDMUND SAGER,

Secretary.

[Enclosure.]

THE Dairies Supervision Act, 50 Victoria No. 17, which was the outcome of a report made by the Board of Health on an outbreak of typhoid fever at Leichhardt, caused by polluted milk, received the assent of His Excellency the Governor on the 30th of September, 1886, and immediately came into force in the Metropolitan Police District; three months, however, being allowed for persons engaged in the sale or supply of milk to become registered. The Act did not therefore come into full operation until the 1st of January, 1887.

During the year 1887 the Act was extended to the Borough of Hunter's Hill and the Municipal District of Penrith. In the year 1888 it was extended to the Municipal District of Hamilton, the Borough of West Maitland, the Municipal Districts of Adamstown and Wickham, the Borough of Narrandera, the County of Argyle, the City of Newcastle, the Counties of Northumberland, Durham, Gloucester, and Camden, and those portions of the County of Cumberland in which it was not already in force.

In 1889 it was extended to the Municipal Districts of Balranald and Broken Hill.

The portions of the Colony to which the Act has been extended, and a list of the local authorities charged with the administration thereof, in accordance with the second section, will be found in Appendix A.

Prior to the passing of the Dairies Supervision Act, all business requiring ministerial sanction was referred by the Board of Health to the Colonial Treasurer, the Board being a department under the Treasury. As, however, in accordance with the provisions of the Act, it was necessary for the Board to be in frequent communication with various municipalities, the official business relating to which is under the ministerial control of the Colonial Secretary, representations on the subject were made to the Colonial Treasurer, who, on the 12th October, 1886, approved of the Board being "permitted to correspond direct with the Colonial Secretary's Department on all matters other than those appertaining to the quarantine laws of the Colony."

The Act was passed for the purpose of establishing sanitary regulations in respect to the production and distribution of milk, and chiefly to provide against the spread of infectious disease by means of the milk supply. Its administration was placed in the hands of certain authorities named in the Act, under the supervision of the Board of Health, which was empowered by the 14th section to carry out its provisions in default of action by the local authorities. The first step taken under the Act was the proclamation under section 12, of the following as infectious diseases, for the purpose of the Act:—

A.—In human beings :

Cholera,
Enteric Fever,
Small Pox,
Scarlet Fever,
Diphtheria,
Measles,
Syphilis.

B.—In animals :

Aphthæ,
Cancer,
Pleuro Pneumonia,
Splenic Fever,
Tuberculosis,
Udder—inflammations, eruptions,
or warts of.

No alteration has since been made in these lists,

*124—A

Regulations,

Regulations, including forms of application for registration and of registration as required by the 15th section of the Act, were approved by the Governor in Council, under date November 18, 1887; and on the 2nd of November of the same year the form of annual report by the local authorities, under sub-section 5 of section 3 of the Act, was approved. [See Appendix B.]

From personal observation during inspections made by the officers of the Board and from inquiries made of the Board by the officers of the local councils, it was apparent that the local authorities charged with the administration of the Act were neither fully acquainted with its provisions nor with the regulations made under it, and on 1st October, 1889, the Board drafted and issued printed suggestions [Appendix C] for the guidance of local authorities, to which were appended copies of the Act and all regulations made under it.

In Appendix D will be found an abstract of reports on registered premises in the Metropolitan District for the year ending December 31st, 1889, showing the steps taken by the Board to enforce the provisions of the Act. It will be seen that thirty-seven districts were visited, and in these 534 dairies and 200 milk-vendors' premises were inspected. In addition to these inspections, reinspections were made in a number of cases, and special visits were paid to individual dairies, to ascertain if the directions of the Board had been carried out by the local authorities, and to inquire into cases of disease reported on dairy premises.

In the country, all the districts coming under the provisions of the Act were inspected by officers of the Board except Balranald, Broken Hill, Narrandera, Gosford, Muswellbrook, Singleton, South Singleton, and Windsor.

In Appendix E will be found a summary of the annual reports, from local authorities charged with the administration of the Act for the year 1889, required by sub-section 5 of section 3 of the Act.

It will be seen that most of the local authorities report that the Act has been fully administered, and that all except Parramatta, Liverpool, Mittagong, Moss Vale, Broughton Vale, Broughton Creek, Gerringong, Kiama, and Penrith, report that some action under its provisions has been taken.

The authorities in the large Municipal districts along the Southern Coast—including Wollongong, Shellharbour, Kiama, Central and North Illawarra, Gerringong, and Broughton Vale, to which the Act was extended in October, 1888, and from which very large supplies of milk are forwarded for use in Sydney and its suburbs—objected to the provisions of the Act being applied in their districts on the grounds that it was not intended for country districts where the cows were all grass fed, but they appear to have ignored the fact that typhoid fever and other infectious diseases communicable through the medium of milk are not by any means unknown in the Southern district, and are as likely to occur in isolated homesteads occupied by milk producers as elsewhere,* and that the dairy cattle of this district, whilst not exempt from any of the diseases in animals declared infectious by proclamation under the Act, are specially subject to "coast cough," which in most cases, if not in all, arises from tuberculosis.

The main objection on the part of the Municipal Councils to putting into operation the provisions of the Act in this district would appear to lie in the expense which must necessarily be incurred in securing proper inspection and supervision, whilst no provision is made under the Act for charging fees for registration by which these expenses could be partly or perhaps wholly met.

The municipal authorities have in a number of cases carried out the registration and inspection of dairies under the Act with vigour and discretion, and have shown themselves willing to adopt the recommendations of the Board; but in certain districts the administration has been very perfunctory and unsatisfactory, and in others it has only been after repeated remonstrances on the part of the Board that any action under its provisions has been taken.

In the following municipal districts it was found necessary to cite the authorities under the 14th section of the Act, which gives the Board power to carry out its provisions in default of action by the local authorities, and in each instance the local authority has ultimately undertaken to administer the Act:—

1. Five Dock.
2. Randwick.
3. Wollongong.
4. Central Illawarra.

In Parramatta, where the condition of the dairies was found by the officers of the Board in the highest degree faulty, no action was taken until the beginning of the year 1890, and the Board only delayed exercising the powers conferred on them by the Act on the assurance that the Mayor, newly elected, would take steps to carry out its provisions.

In districts where officers of police are charged as local authorities with the administration of the Act its provisions have, as a rule, been strictly enforced, and the dairies have, on inspection, been found in a cleaner and more orderly condition than in the majority of the districts under municipal government.

As a very large part of the milk consumed in Sydney and its suburbs is supplied by large milk vending companies, the Board considered it advisable that these establishments should be specially visited and reported on. The Chief Medical Inspector, on October 4, 1889, visited the stores of the Fresh Food and Ice Company, the N.S.W. Co-operative Ice and Cold Storage Company, and the Farmers' and Dairymen's Milk Supply Company. The arrangements at the latter establishment were then, to some extent, incomplete, but were otherwise found to be satisfactory. In the case of the other two companies, the premises and adjuncts were open to grave objection, both as to construction and administration. Various alterations were suggested to render the sanitary condition of matters more complete, and to obviate the danger of infection. In the case of the Fresh Food and Ice Company, the directors at once took steps to carry out the suggestions made by the Board, and on a subsequent visit of inspection, paid on November 6, the majority of these had been carried out, and others were either in progress or were about to be undertaken. In the case of the N.S.W. Ice and Cold Storage Company a serious accident at the works delayed progress with certain alterations proposed, but the directors expressed themselves as wishful to carry out these alterations as soon as possible.

The twenty-five dairies situated within the boundaries of the City of Sydney were inspected in February, 1889, by the Chief Medical Inspector, and, on the whole, were not found in so cleanly or so creditable a condition as is desirable.

The

* An outbreak of typhoid fever occurred at Albion Park in March, 1889.

The importance of the purity of the water supply in dairy premises can scarcely be over-estimated but has heretofore been little appreciated by the officers charged under local authorities with the inspection of dairies; it being in many instances deemed sufficient if the supply was ample and free from such obvious contamination as could be detected by taste and smell.

In a number of instances which have come under the notice of the Board, water was obtained from underground wells, and other sources liable to pollution, although the Sydney supply was available, and in some instances, although the latter supply was laid on to the premises, underground wells and tanks were still resorted to for dairy purposes.

In twenty-five cases in which analysis has been made of the water supply on dairy premises by the Government Analyst, during the year 1889, this was found so far polluted as to be unfit for domestic purposes, and the local authorities were informed accordingly, and advised that the wells or tanks should be immediately closed under the provisions of the Act.

In the future it is the intention of the Board to direct the examination of all water on dairy premises from other sources than the Sydney supply, and to insist on all wells and tanks found to contain water unfit for domestic purposes being closed.

The Board, feeling that the local authorities, do not attach sufficient importance to the evils arising from diseases in dairy cattle, have instructed their officers, whilst inspecting dairy premises, to very carefully examine into the condition of the cattle supplying milk, and to report every instance in which they are found to be suffering from a disease proclaimed under the Act, and with a view of assisting the local authorities a circular letter was issued by the Board on the 7th of May, 1889, informing them that a competent veterinary surgeon would be despatched to inspect any animal reported as diseased or apparently unhealthy without expense to the local authority. The very great importance of excluding from dairies every animal suffering from tuberculosis in any form will be better appreciated when it is known (1) that the tubercle bacillus can be detected not only in the lactiferous products of animals in whose udders tubercular lesions exist, but also in that product, in a very large proportion of cases, where the gland, to all appearance, is perfectly healthy, and the disease exists only in other organs,—and (2) that there is great danger attending the consumption of milk from tuberculous animals in whatever condition they may be, and whether or not the disease is localised only.

Having in view that the products of milk—cream, butter, and butter milk, from tuberculous animals have been shown, by Professor Bang, of Copenhagen, and other authorities, to be as infective as the milk itself, and that other diseases are undoubtedly communicable by means of these articles, it became a question how far the provisions of the Act applied to vendors of ice-cream which is largely composed of milk, and to dairymen who produced milk for the manufacture of butter and cheese. The Attorney-General, on cases being submitted to him, gave opinions:—

1st. That the article sold as ice-cream is not milk within the meaning of the Act.—19/4/88.

2nd. That a dairyman who provides milk for the manufacture of butter and cheese, and who does not engage in the sale or supply to other persons of milk in any district, need not be registered under the Act.—7/12/88.

The latter opinion not only exempted dairymen producing milk for the manufacture of butter and cheese, but practically all butter and cheese factories from registration and inspection under the provisions of the Act.

The attention of the Board, however, was called to the insanitary conditions surrounding some of the butter factories, and to the nuisance caused by pollution of the water supply in a creek at Barrengarry, and on the occasion of a visit of the Chief Medical Inspector to the Coast District an opportunity was taken of inspecting most of the butter factories in that district.

The factories which have been inspected are as follows:—Barrengarry, Cobbitty, Berry, Unanderra, Dapto, Albion Park, Dunmore, Omega, and Gerringong.

The inspection disclosed the fact that, whilst some of these, and notably the factory at Gerringong, were conducted in a cleanly and highly creditable manner, and under arrangements which were very satisfactory from a sanitary point of view, others were so managed as to cause nuisances dangerous to public health in their neighbourhood, and in a manner which rendered the butter produced highly likely to be a cause of disease.

In one—happily exceptional—case the butter-milk from the factory was run into pig sties, the drainage from these found its way into a creek, and from this creek below the pollution the water was taken for all the operations, including the manufacture of butter, within the factory building, so completing the uncleanly circle.

The Board deemed it advisable to address letters to the directors of all the factories which were in an unsatisfactory condition, pointing out the defects in the sanitary arrangements at, and protesting against evident nuisances in connection with these establishments, and received from most assurances that steps would be taken to remedy the evils pointed out. From late reports, however, it appears that very little has been done, and the Board has little expectation of any real improvement until these establishments are placed under official inspection.

The administration of the Act during a period of three years has made it evident to the Board that the following amendments in its provisions are necessary:—

1st. Registration should be annual, a certificate of registration should be issued and the local authorities should be empowered to charge an annual fee. The opinions of the Attorney-General, dated 5th May, 1888, and 22nd June, 1888, show that annual registration and fees cannot be insisted on under the Act, as it at present stands, or any regulations made thereunder.

2nd. The officers of the Board should have similar powers of entry and inspection to those now possessed by the local authorities under the Act.

3rd. The Act should be extended so as to include the "products of milk" and milk produced for making butter and cheese—and should provide for the registration and inspection of all butter and cheese factories.

Several of the local authorities and notably the Municipal Council of Newcastle, as also the Sydney and Suburban Dairymen's Society, have pointed out the necessity for annual registration and the advisability of charging either a fixed fee or fees on a graduated scale according to the number of cows kept. The objections raised by certain municipalities to carrying out the Act would be at once met in this way—the grievance being the want of funds for its proper administration.

Further

Further amendments have been suggested in the direction of preventing the adulteration of milk ; but as this is only one of many articles of food subject to adulteration the Board is of opinion that the question of adulteration would be better dealt with either by a special Adulteration Act, or by clauses dealing with the subject of the adulteration of food generally in a comprehensive Health Act.

In the meantime the Board has procured from America samples of lactometers, which have been placed in the Government Analytic Laboratory as standard instruments, and a report on the use of these instruments by the Government Analyst will be found in Appendix F.

The Board does not deem it necessary to enter into details with regard to the condition in which the dairy premises have been found on inspection, but consider it only right to state that a number on the first visit of the Board's officers were in an appallingly filthy condition, the cows being kept and the milk stored under circumstances and with surroundings which set at defiance every sanitary law. Under the operations of the Act, the condition of the dairies, in the Metropolitan districts, has shown a satisfactory improvement, and a number of the producers who have failed to comply with its provisions have either been struck off the Register or have voluntarily ceased to keep cows.

On the whole the Act has worked satisfactorily, and under its provisions there has been a marked improvement in dairy premises and milk stores, both as regards order and cleanliness. There can be no question as to its public utility. It has tended largely to increase the purity of the supply, and to prevent disease, and the production and distribution of milk are now carried out in the districts in which the Act is in full operation under sanitary conditions which did not previously obtain.

By order of the Board of Health,
EDMUND SAGER,
Secretary.

Sydney, 17 June, 1890.

APPENDIX D.

SUGGESTIONS for the guidance of Local Authorities charged with the administration of the Dairies Supervision Act, 50 Victoria No. 17.

On the Act being extended to any district, three months' grace is allowed before its provisions come into full operation. (Vide sections 5 and 6.) During this time the Local Authority should take the initiatory action to carry out the provisions of the Act.

The Local Authority should, on the Act being extended, and at least once every year, cause a notice to be inserted in the local press, drawing the attention of persons engaged in the milk trade to the requirements of the Act.

Should the Local Authority be a Municipal Council, its first duty will be to appoint an officer to inspect and report on the premises of all persons applying for registration.

All persons required to be registered should at once make application to the Local Authority in the form given in Appendix "a" to the Act. (Vide Regulation No. 1.) On the receipt of this application, the Local Authority or its officer should make a careful examination of the premises, and should they be found in a sanitary condition or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of the Act, the name of the applicant should be duly registered, and particulars entered in the Register, which must in every case be signed by the Local Authority granting registration, but in all cases in which the provisions of the Act are not complied with registration should be refused.

Before any person can be considered as registered, the particulars of registration must be duly signed in the Register by the Local Authority. In case where the Local Authority is a Municipal Council, the Register should be signed by the Mayor or the Council Clerk.

A record of the particulars of all premises which are refused registration should be carefully kept. In the case of Municipal Districts all refusals should be by the express resolution of the Council (section 4, sub-section iv).

All registered dairy premises and milk stores, and the cattle, appliances, and utensils used for the production or distribution of milk, shall be inspected by the Local Authority at least once in every three months, and the date and result of every such inspection shall be entered in the Register. (Vide Regulation 37, section 3, sub-section iv.)

Should the premises be found in any respect to be in an insanitary condition, the dairyman or milkvendor should be required to make the necessary improvements within a fixed time, failing which the registration should be cancelled, (Section 4, sub-sections ii and iv.)

The names and addresses of all persons who shall have retired from the business, or become disqualified, should be struck off the Register, and the date of such cancellation should be duly noted thereon. (Section 3, sub-section ii.)

STATUTORY NOTICES.

All persons registered must affix and maintain upon their premises and vehicles the words "Registered Dairyman" or "Registered Milkvendor," as the case may be. Any person infringing this provision is liable to a penalty of £20. (Sections 5 and 11.)

a. The notice on the premises should be placed in some conspicuous place, and should be in capital letters, not less than two inches in length.

b. The notice on carts and other vehicles should be in capital letters, not less than one inch in length, on the side or tail-board of every cart or vehicle.

SANITARY CONDITION OF PREMISES.

The following suggestions are made under this head. The Local Authorities must, however, use their own discretion and judgment in dealing with each case:—

(1.) General Cleanliness.

The cow-yards, bails, mangers, and fittings should be kept thoroughly clean, and the inner walls of all buildings limewashed once in every three months at least. Where the paddocks in which cows are allowed to run are of small size, the manure should be collected, and the paddocks kept clean and free from refuse, &c

(2.)

(2.) Lighting and Ventilation.

Cowsheds should be welllighted and ventilated.

(3.) Drainage.

Yards and cowsheds should have a hard surface properly graded to a sufficient gutter and drain. A proper place or bin of brick or other material should be provided for all dung and litter. In places where there is a sewerage system the drains should be connected with the sewers, and in other places the drainage should be conveyed by gullies to a suitable pit.

(4.) Lavatory Accommodation.

Means should be provided for thoroughly cleansing the hands of persons employed as milkers, and also for cleansing the udders of the cows, if necessary; and provision should be made on the premises for a supply of hot water for cleansing the utensils and appliances.

(5.) Privy Accommodation.

a. All premises registered under this Act should be provided with a water-closet or with a pan-closet, as the case may allow. No cesspit should be allowed to remain on such premises.

b. The contents of pan-closets should be removed from registered premises by the Local Authority at least once a week. But if it be necessary to allow such emptying to be done by the owner, then a suitable place of deposit should be defined by the Local Authority, and the occupier should there bury the said contents.

(6.) Water Supply.

Whenever there is a town water-supply accessible, its use should be insisted on, unless the supply is satisfactory, and in the absence of this service the water supply should be carefully examined as to its purity and freedom from pollution by drainage, &c. No premises should be registered unless there is an ample supply of water available, and no water should be used upon registered premises which is drawn from any outside source, nor should the cattle be allowed to have access to any water except that upon the registered premises. In all cases in which the water supply is of doubtful purity it should be analyzed, and directions for collection will be found in Appendix B.

(7.) Milk-store or Room.

A room of sufficient size, according to the quantity of milk produced, and the manner in which it is dealt with, should be provided and set apart for straining and storing the milk, and for keeping the appliances, vessels, and utensils used. This room should be well lighted and ventilated, should not be in direct communication with any living or sleeping room, or under the same roof with the cow sheds, stable, or fodder store, and should not be used for keeping forage, clothing, or other stores in, or for any other purpose.

This room should not have within it any sink or drain communicating directly with a sewer; but all waste and drain-pipes from such room should discharge in the open air over gullies connected with the drain or sewer.

a. All appliances and utensils used in the collection, straining, cooling, storage, or distribution of milk, should be scalded every time after use, and should be kept clean and bright at all times. All such vessels should be kept in the milk-room, except when in actual use, for collection or distribution of milk.

b. All vehicles, measures, cans, &c., used for the distribution of milk, should be thoroughly cleansed after each delivery. The cans and measures should, immediately on return from delivery, be placed in the milk-room after being scalded.

Any dairy establishments which do not fulfil the above requirements should be considered to be in an insanitary condition, and registration should be refused or cancelled in accordance with section 4, sub-section IV.

UNREGISTERED PERSONS SELLING MILK.

The Local Authority should, from time to time, ascertain if any person not registered under the Act is selling milk (section 11). All persons so trading are liable to a penalty of £20 (section 11). Information should be immediately laid in accordance with section 13.

INFECTIOUS DISEASES IN HUMAN BEINGS.

Special attention is drawn to section 7 and regulation 4. Should any medical practitioner, householder, or occupier fail to report a case of infectious disease on any dairyman's or milkvendor's premises, in accordance with section 7, they are liable to a penalty of £20 (section 11), and information should be immediately laid in accordance with section 13.

The following have been declared to be infectious diseases:—

a. In Human Beings.

Cholera.
Enteric fever (Typhoid).
Small-pox.
Scarlet fever.
Diphtheria.
Measles.
Syphilis.

b. In Animals.

Aphthæ.
Cancer.
Pleuro-pneumonia.
Splenic fever.
Tuberculosis.
Udder—inflammations, eruptions, or warts
of.

Attention is also drawn to section 9, in which it is provided that persons suffering from, or having been exposed to infectious diseases, are not to assist in any dairyman's or milkvendor's business.

No dairyman or milkvendor should allow any person suffering from an infectious disease, or who has been recently exposed to any infectious disease, to take part in any dairy operations, or assist in the sale, storage, production, or distribution of milk (section 9); and any person infringing the requirements of this section is liable to a penalty of £20 (section 11).

SALE OR SUPPLY OF UNWHOLESOME MILK.

Any person (1) who keeps or deposits milk in any room used for sleeping or dwelling in, or in any other way or place calculated to render such milk unwholesome or injurious to health; or (2) who sells or supplies milk produced from any diseased animal, or which has been exposed to infection from any person suffering from any infectious disease, is liable to a penalty of £20 (vide sections 10 and 11), and the attention of Inspectors under the Act should be specially directed to these provisions.

REGISTRATION OF MILK VENDORS ONLY.

a. When the premises of any person required to be registered as a milkvendor only are situated within the district of another Local Authority, it is not necessary that such premises should be inspected, but it should be ascertained from the outside Local Authority whether such premises are duly registered, and, if so, particulars of the entry should be obtained, and entered with the name of the milkvendor on the register.

b. When the premises of the milk-vendor are situated within the district, a careful inspection of them should be made before registration is granted. Special care should be taken to see that proper accommodation is provided for keeping and storing the milk and all utensils or appliances used, either in a special room or in a safe or cupboard, according to the quantity sold.

Issued by order of the Board of Health,

EDMUND SAGER,
Secretary.

Sydney, 1st October, 1889.

VISION ACT.

administration of the above Act for the year ending 31st day of December, 1889.

DAIRIES.
Number.	Number registered during 1889.	Number registered and trading on 31st December, 1889.	Condition of premises, specifying any in which the requirements of the Act have not been complied with (if any).	How often has each dairy been inspected during the previous twelve months.	Number of wells closed in accordance with section 4, sub-section 3, of the Act.	Number refused registration during 1889.	Number of registrations cancelled during 1889.	State if any prosecutions have been taken under the Act, and give particulars of such cases.	Special observations.
1	3	Very good; none	Every three months.	Two of the registered dairies are in other municipalities.
2	8	28	In fair condition; regulations fairly complied with.	Four times	8	Fairly satisfactory.
3	4	20	Good; all have complied with the requirements of the Act	About four times.	1	11
4	4	24	Good with two exceptions, both cancelled; Act complied with in all cases.	About six times on an average	None; all have city water but three.	16	Of the existing dairies, 21 have city water, 2 have wells, and 1 has iron tanks. There have been 193 inspections in all during 1889.
5	9	9	All have complied with the Act.	Twice	No wells in the district	One, since granted.
6	69	52	2 very good, 54 good, 9 fair, 2 indifferent, 1 bad (written notice given to clean).	Four times.	Nil (water from springs and creeks very good)	Three on the ground of dirty premises.	One cancelled, fifteen discontinued.	Four—Two for selling without being licensed, one discontinuing without giving notice, and one having no notice on cart.	On the first inspection pig-tubs, salt beef, fresh beef, old clothes, groceries, &c., were found in the dairies, and milk kept in the living rooms. At many of the farms there were no closets, and a second and third visit was necessary before registration.
7	4	All in a satisfactory condition.	Three times
8	8	7	According to the report of Dr. Thompson only that of Mr. Angus is near the mark.	"	1	The above are registered as dairymen and milk vendors.
9	4	4	Good	"	Dairies not registered here till April, 1889; very little milk is sold. The residents are nearly all cattle owners.
10	15	15	All have complied with the requirements of the Act.	Five times..	3	The Act only came into force on the 1st November, 1889. The work of fitting up in accordance with the regulations is still going on.
11	Producers of milk in this district sell to butter factories.
13	1	9	Fairly kept but no proper drainage.	Threetimes	My appointment dates from the 1st July, 1889, and as no proper register was kept by my predecessor, I can only state particulars for myself.
14	15	13	Clean and healthy	Four times	2	Local authority writes stating that the Council has not yet taken over the duties under the Dairies Act, from the Police Officer.
17	27	27	In every instance clean, and free from unhealthy smells.	Twice, in some cases three times	9	In every instance I found the milk vessels very clean, the water supply pure, and the cattle healthy looking.
18	3	8	Four times	7	One—but withdrawn
19	3	10	No milk-room at one, and insufficient drainage at another.	Seventimes	4
20	No dairies in the municipality.
21	5	9	Good—except Bolton who has been cautioned.	Monthly
22	1	1	Very clean and healthy	Twice
23	45	45 nominally registered.	All inspected complied with the spirit of the Act.	Only about six dairies have been inspected, consequently only nominally registered.	The weather being bad impossible to inspect unless by special officer.
24	2	15	Generally clean and satisfactory.	Once and twice a month.	2	2	Seven—for selling milk without being registered. Fined in all £34 and costs.
25	..	1	Six times..	1
26	4	4	One—Mr. Gould's was dirty but now attended to.	1	Mr. James Bell was directed to close the well on his premises, and Mr. N. Thompson to discontinue using water from a certain creek.
27	1	1	Premises clean	Four times.	Milk distributed as taken from the cows.
28
29	..	3	Premises in good condition.	Once a month.
30	13	13	Clean. Several small improvements were made where directed.	Threetimes
31	5	14	Premises of H. Lynott were badly kept, but now in good order. All others clean.	Twice, monthly.	3	The dairies in the municipality are fairly kept, and at present in a clean and satisfactory condition.
32	In the Gerringong Municipality the Act has not been put in force, as all the milk is converted into butter.
33	11	None. Requirements of the Act complied with in all cases.	Once a week	3	Dairies gradually dying out on account of having to keep premises clean, and being subject to inspection so often, also the price of milk.
34	4	10	Fair	Once every quarter.	One, temporarily.	4	All small dairies having but one or two cows.

MILK-VENDORS.
Number.	Name of District or Local Authority.	Number registered during 1889.	Number registered and trading on 31st December, 1889.	Condition of premises, specifying any in which the requirements of the Act have not been complied with (if any).	How often has each milk-store been inspected during the previous twelve months.	Number refused registration during 1889.	Number of registrations cancelled during 1889.	State if any prosecutions have been taken under the Act, and give particulars of such cases.	Special observations.
35	Gosford	1	7	Good. No refusals to comply with the Act.	Twice officially.	2	The observations as to dairies applies also to the vendors of milk.
36	Goulburn (a)	1	1	Fair	Four times	1
37	Goulburn	6	10	Clean and well kept....	Twelve times.	1
38	Granville.....
39	Hamilton	6	17	Fair to good.	Three times	6
40	Hunter's Hill.....	1	3	Satisfactory in all cases.	Four times on an average.
41	Hurstville
42	Kiama (a)
43	Kiama
44	Kogarah
45	Lambton	1	1
46	Leichhardt	8	14	Good. Many have refused to register sooner than comply with the Act.	Every five or six weeks.	About ten.	During 1888 I took a stand against all milk-vendors, and compelled them to provide a milk-room or an ice-chest to keep their milk in.
47	Liverpool (a)
48	Liverpool	7	7	Conditions complied with.	Ten times..	7
49	Macdonaldtown.....	2	3	Satisfactory; all requirements have been attended to.	Five official visits and numerous inspections.	1	1	Of the three registered two keep grocers shops, the other one is devoted to the sale of milk, butter, &c.
50	Maitland (a)	14	24	Fairly clean in all cases	Quarterly..	One registration was temporarily cancelled, owing to the vendor's wife having typhoid-fever.
51	Manning River (a)	4	4	All clean and in good order.	Three times	This district being an agricultural one, only a small trade is carried on by the milk vendors.
52	Manly	3	5	Good.....	Every month.
53	Marrickville	1	3	Three times
54	Merewether	4	11	Twice in six months.	1	5	I observe that all seem to try and comply with the Act.
55	Mittagong
56	Morpeth	1	Good. Usual farm buildings.	At least once.
57	Moss Vale
58	Muswellbrook	9	9	Very good. Act complied with.	Three times	Cattle in good condition. No well water used, river water only.
59	Narrandera.....	2	2	Good condition	Sixteen times.	Milk vendors are in connection with dairies, see clause 8.
60	Newcastle (a).....	47	47	Several are in good order. All have been improved under the Act, and many are giving effect to suggested improvements.	Many three times, some twice, and a few once.	Four temporarily.	There are now sixty-nine registered premises in this district, a number too many to be looked after by the police, hence the necessity for a special appointment for the district.
61	Newcastle	10	48	Four times	Many milk vendors are in business as green-grocers, &c., and the milk is kept in the shops. I should like to be informed if the Act intends that milk-stores should be erected apart from such premises.
62	New Lambton	22	22	Twice in 1890.	Notice given to two persons to clean their premises. Was only appointed 16th January, 1890. No inspections made in 1889.
63	Newtown.....	25	28	In one case the back premises were in a filthy condition.	Three times officially and many inspections	3	15	One under the Municipal By-law.	Milk-vendor require greater supervision than dairymen, and it is from that source in my opinion that disease is likely to emanate. A registration fee of £2 would meet the evil and curtail the number.
64	North Botany	1	1	Four times
65	North Illawarra
66	North Willoughby
67	Paddington.....	16	49	Clean; all have complied with the requirements of the Act but seven.	Twelve times.	6	30	The seven who have not complied with the Act have been informed that they will not be allowed to sell milk till they do so.

APPENDIX F.

Sir, Government Laboratory, Sydney, 22 January, 1889.

In reply to your minute of the 18th instant I have now the honor to submit the following remarks :—
The lactometer is an instrument that has been entirely discredited by the large majority of analysts, chiefly owing to its severe condemnation by Mr. Wanklyn.

When this gentleman, in 1873, wrote his little book on Milk Analysis* it was a very rare occurrence to analyse milk, the only tests used being the indication afforded by the lactometer, or lacto densimeter.

As the method of milk-analysis came into vogue the lactometer was gradually discarded, the question of adulteration and sophistication with water being in every case decided by chemical analysis.

But notwithstanding this, I know from personal knowledge that many analysts relied upon the specific gravity as affording valuable and reliable evidence of watering, excepting in such cases where there were abnormal features in the milk under examination. In my own practice, following as I do, the method adopted by the late Dr. Voelcker, then of the Cirencester Agricultural College; I invariably take the specific gravity as accurately as possible at the standard temperature of 60° Fah. employing ice and salt, or some freezing mixture, to reduce the temperature. This result at once determines whether it is necessary to proceed further with the analysis, other things being equal. I have maintained this practice with the full knowledge of the contents of chapter II. of Mr. Wanklyn's book here referred to.

Such being the case I am by no means surprised to find that a more extended use of the lactometer should be advocated, especially when perfected and corrected in the manner mentioned by the writer of the article you refer to, indeed, I was told two years ago that it was then customary to base, and maintain prosecutions on the results of the lactometer in New York city.

I have carefully read Dr. Munsell's paper on the lactometer, and have no reasonable doubt as to its use and efficiency in testing milk generally, although some caution should be exercised in its use whereby the following conditions could be fulfilled :—

1. That a standard be adopted in the graduation of the instrument so that 100 degrees shall be equal to a specific gravity of 1.0,290, being the average gravity of good healthy milk. That such a standard be deposited with the Board of Health, and no lactometer be lawful unless tested and certified by the Board.
2. That the Inspector be duly instructed as to its use and in addition to the observations taken, that the appearance, colour, and taste, shall each be noted. In case of salt or sugar being suspected, or any substance affecting the gravity of the milk, the sample shall in such cases be set aside and sealed for analysis.
3. That where the appearance, taste, and general conditions are found to be normal, the milk percentages be taken direct from the lactometric observations.
4. That samples of milk registering 80 degrees and under be submitted to chemical analysis.
5. That lactometric observations indicating as high as 20 per cent. of added water taken by a properly appointed Inspector be accepted as evidence of watering.
6. That fraudulent additions to milk, for the purpose of obscuring and falsifying the action of the lactometer, be punished by fine and imprisonment.

I am of opinion that the article referred to is one worthy of the consideration of the Board of Health, and that the improved form of lactometer will answer the purpose for which it is intended, except in certain cases, when recourse must be had to chemical analysis.

I have, &c.,
WILLIAM M. HAMLET,
Government Analyst.

P.S.—I would suggest that a couple of standard lactometers be obtained from New York, as the instruments obtained here are not sufficiently accurate for my recommendation.
The Medical Adviser to the Government.

Sir, Government Laboratory, Sydney, 5 May, 1890.

I have the honor to report that the New York Board of Health standard lactometer and the thermo-lactometer made for the State Dairy Commission by Wm. Spencer, New York, have both been carefully tested, and compared with analyses made of the same milk, and the same admixtures of milk and water, and were found to give accurate results at the temperature of 60° Fahrenheit, and 30 inches barometric pressure. They may accordingly be used for milk testing, and their indications, i.e., percentages, based on specific gravity, may be relied upon for the mere admixture of milk with water.

The addition of { Sugar,
Salt,
Starch,
Condensed milk,
Glycerine,
Salicylic acid, cannot, of course be indicated, and recourse must, in such cases, be had to chemical analysis for the detection of these falsifications.

However, for many reasons the above substances are rarely used, the general practice of adulteration being simple addition of water.

I beg to request that these two lactometers remain in the Government Laboratory as standard instruments.

I have, &c.,
WILLIAM M. HAMLET,
Government Analyst.

EPIDEMIC OF INFLUENZA.

(REPORT ON, IN NEW SOUTH WALES DURING 1890.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 17 December, 1890.

REPORT.

The Chief Medical Inspector to The President of the Board of Health.

Sir,

December 10th, 1890.

Influenza having begun to appear early in March, 1890, a collective inquiry was determined upon towards the latter part of that month; and, by your direction, a circular was drawn up. This was forwarded to every practitioner whose address was known, on April 16th; and on June 2nd, and again on August 18th, further copies were sent out to supply defects in the result of the first application. The following questions were appended to it:—

1. Date of the first case of influenza seen by you in New South Wales?
2. Brief abstract of its symptoms and duration?
3. Brief abstract of symptoms, and average duration, of cases in general as observed by you?
4. Does the present illness differ from the epidemic catarrh often seen in this Colony?
5. What are the symptoms that distinguish the two diseases?

Upon the answers furnished by the members of the medical profession I now have the honour to make general report.

2. In planning the inquiry a single object was held mainly in view: namely, to learn the degrees by which the epidemic spread. In order to that, care was taken to so frame the questions as to avoid inadvertent confusion in the written answers, both between names and between diseases, as completely as possible; and it seemed the more necessary to observe this precaution in the present case that a disease is annually seen whose clinical symptoms place it very near to influenza, as well as the usual bronchial catarrh (of Hirsch), which is a seasonal illness. After repeated perusal of the whole body of replies, it appears that the object mentioned has been attained; and therefore that the reports, in as far as they speak of "influenza," may be relied upon. However, the data which are given in several appendices are sufficiently detailed to enable some independent opinion to be formed on that point; and it is only necessary to say that as the returns apply to ninety-four distinct districts, which represent about six-sevenths of the total estimated population, the information regarding manner of spread, or progress, is nearly complete.

3. The foregoing seemed to be the point at present most important to investigate closely; but others claimed attention. Some of them were incidentally touched. Thus, the general character of the disease as it appeared here may be gathered from Appendix I, Table B; and the uncertainty of the signs which (in the opinion of individual reporters) distinguished the general run of cases from seasonal catarrh on the one hand, or from shearing-shed fever on the other, may be inferred from the frequency with which the comparative degree is used in making answer to questions 4 and 5, as exemplified in Appendix I, Table D, in Table E, and in Appendix VII, Nos. 1, 2, and 3. Other matters were subjects of direct inquiry. To assist in forming an idea of the severity of the epidemic special reports were obtained from many public institutions, and from some public offices, which are printed in Appendices III and IV; and the conclusion they warrant is that the disease was distinctly, but not severely, felt in Sydney, while from Appendix II, Tables F, G, H, I, K, and the map, it appears that it reached every inhabited district of importance in the country. There is every reason to suppose that this opinion would be supported by more general experience; but unfortunately it has not been found possible to bring forward any useful mortality return, from which a safe inference might otherwise have been drawn. As to the question of contagion under its local aspect, no attempt was made to elicit the opinions of individual practitioners; the experience of public institutions, and a general review of the progress of the epidemic, were relied upon instead (Appendix IV). Information as to meteorology, epizootics, and insect plagues, &c., is given in Appendix V. Lastly, special inquiry was made as to the symptoms and behaviour of a disease thought to resemble influenza closely, which is met with every year in some or many rural localities, and which (in New South Wales, at all events) seems to be usually associated in its origin with assemblage of large numbers of men and sheep in the sheds at the shearing season. This disease is sometimes called "fog fever"; however, for the reason hinted at, and because fogs are not common in sheep-country, it seems better to speak of it provisionally under the trivial name "shearing-shed fever." Only three accounts were returned, but they will be found extremely interesting (Appendix VII). They suffice to show that this disease is deserving of very careful investigation.

4. The first cases brought to notice by the present inquiry occurred at Hillston, a small and remote township in the Riverina, little exposed to communication with the rest of the Colony by travellers (see map). These occurred on July 15th, and in August, 1889; and probably no doubt will be felt that they were really cases of influenza, after perusing the account furnished by Dr. C. H. Soutar (Appendix VI). The next reported case occurred at Albury on December 6th, and the next to that in Sydney, on December 25th. As to the first-mentioned cases, doubtless they were sporadic, and merely exemplify the statement usually made—that influenza is at all times occasionally to be met with; but as to the later two, information from neighbouring provinces, when it becomes available, may possibly help to decide whether they were erratic, or whether they, too, were sporadic. It is scarcely possible (for the present, at least) to regard them as belonging to the local epidemic period, for the next reported cases did not occur until nine weeks afterwards. These last mark the beginning of the period of local epidemicity.

5. The following table shows the number of first cases reported during successive seven-day periods by different practitioners in Sydney, and by different practitioners in different country places :—

§ See Appendix II, Table K, Albany.

* For the meaning of the letters (a) and (b) see Appendix I. In this table the reports thus distinguished are included under each corresponding figure, and are not additional. † Including Broken Hill and Silverton, which are reached by rail through South Australia. ‡ H.M.S. "Rapid" and "Orlando" entered Port Jackson on April 2 and 3; a large proportion of the crews of these ships had suffered, or were suffering, on arrival. The sick were confined on board until a few days after recovery, and shore visitors were interdicted.

During the first four weeks it will be noticed that there was a small but increasing number of invasions in Sydney; then the two succeeding weeks each yielded a large number of fresh invasions; in the seventh week the number lessened considerably, and during the eighth and ninth weeks the outbreak declined more rapidly to its close during the tenth. The course observed in the country was similar, but prolonged; that is to say, during the second, third, fourth, and fifth weeks (of the Sydney period) very few country places were invaded; in the sixth the number of fresh invasions increased largely, and during the seventh and eighth the greatest numbers of fresh invasions were reported; thereafter the numbers declined, although one or more fresh invasions occurred in every week down to the seventeenth; after the seventeenth intervals began to occur, and the last report of a fresh invasion was made during the twenty-ninth week. In Sydney the epidemic ceased not much after the tenth week, although few and scattered cases were heard of as late as the end of October, or about the thirty-fifth week.

6. This course of the epidemic, both in Sydney and in the country, appears to me to be consistent with what is observed in some communicable diseases. Nothing seems clearer after examination of the map, of the table given above, and of the other tables contained in Appendix II (but of F and K especially) that the phenomenon of simultaneous attack over very large areas of country was not exemplified here. Everywhere is found the same evidence of gradual extension of the disease. In Sydney and others among the larger cities, if its progress were not actually slow it was at all events anything rather than exceedingly swift; and, when areas of country come to be regarded, it appears that its extension was deliberate, and—to use a familiar phrase—in no case faster than a man could (very easily) travel. On the other hand, the reports printed in Appendix III furnish nearly conclusive evidence that direct contagion between sick and well was not a cause of the observed epidemic prevalence.

7. An inquiry confined to a small part of the earth's surface touching a disease which has pandemicity for a characteristic, cannot furnish sufficient ground for a formal induction; its value will appear only when it comes to be collated with the results of other such inquiries. In the meantime, however, the data may be reasonably searched for clues useful to guide investigation of a larger body of facts; and when they are attentively regarded with that object in view, the following appear to be the more important of the questions they suggest:—Is not human intercourse necessary to transport the contagion of this disease? Is not some stage intermediate between man and man necessary to its spread in epidemic form? Is the condition, which for convenience has been called aërial, of more consequence in production of epidemics of influenza than it is in production of epidemics of other diseases which at times do, and at other times do not, assume the epidemic form?

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. ASHBURTON THOMPSON.

APPENDIX I.

INFLUENZA having begun to appear during the month of March, 1890, a collective investigation was determined upon. On April 16th a circular, to which the following questions were appended, was issued to every medical practitioner in New South Wales whose name and address stood on record; and on June 2nd, and again on August 18th, further copies were sent out to supply defects in the result of the first issue:—

- *1. Date of the first case of influenza observed by you in New South Wales?
2. Brief abstract of its symptoms and duration?
3. Brief abstract of symptoms, and average duration of cases in general, as observed by you?
4. Does the present illness differ from the epidemic catarrh often seen in this Colony?
5. What are the symptoms which distinguish the two diseases?

NOTE.—If no cases have been seen by you, please write "no cases seen" and return.

* The accompanying letter showed that the first question had reference to the present epidemic only.

The total number of circulars issued was 675. The replies received numbered 306, but thirty-six of them were in response to a second application made to gentlemen who at an earlier date had reported "no cases seen."

The total number of available replies was therefore 270, and of them 130 were from Sydney (the Metropolitan Registration Division), and 140 from the country. Of the latter, forty-three were secondary, that is, replies were furnished by more than one reporter in some places, and four were imperfect; so that the number of different towns and districts from which reports were received was 94, Sydney being reckoned as one place.

Classification of the Replies.

I have used the following classification:—

- (I.) = Influenza reported;
(O.) = Influenza reported not to have occurred, and no other disease mentioned;
(a) = Epidemic catarrh described, and the disease said to be the same as that usually met with about autumn and spring;
(b) = An epidemic disease observed; said not to differ, or not to differ much, from epidemic catarrh, but the description betokening influenza;
(X) = Imperfect reports; and to each class I have assigned for convenience the symbol shown above.

Treatment of the Classes.

Include (I), (a), and (b) in the same lists, distinguishing only (a) and (b).

Place (O) reports in separate lists.

Neglect (X) reports.

Exhibit secondary reports, distinguishing their character, in separate lists headed by their respective primary reports.

The following table A shows the 270 available replies classified in accordance with the foregoing rules:—

TABLE A.—Showing the character of 270 replies, namely, 130 from Sydney, and 140 from country towns and districts.

Sydney.		Country.			New South Wales.
Number of reports.	Character.	Number of Reports.	Secondary Reports.	Character.	Number of Reports.	Secondary Reports.	Character.
98	I	80	20	I	178	20	I
10	O	30	9	O	40	9	O
7	a	17	11	a	24	11	a
8	b	9	3	b	17	3	b
7	X	4	X	11	X
130		140	43		270	43

NOTE.—Sydney = Metropolitan Registration Division, estimated population, 1889, 381,730. Country = Cities, towns, and districts, outside the M.R.D., estimated population, 1889, 740,470.

So the number of separate reports was 270; of useful reports $270 - 11 = 259$; of primary reports $259 - 43$ (for which see table K) = 216; and the number of primary reports from distinct places was 94.

The following abstract shows the general tenour of the notes and descriptions furnished by 178 reporters who made (I) reports:—

TABLE B.—Showing the general tenour of 178 (I) reports.

Onset.—Often noted to be sudden; time of onset sometimes mentioned, and always said to be at early morning hours, except once, when afternoon is named. An antecedent period of ill-health is mentioned by one reporter as occurring in about 10 per cent. of all his cases, and lasting from eight to ten days; two reporters mention an incubative (prodromal?) stage of two or three days, and of four days.

Rigors (initial).—Noted often.

Temperature.—Very early rise to summit noted often; height very often mentioned, and stated at or between 101° and 104° F.; defervescence often said to be complete by end of forty-eighth hour.

Pains.—In head almost invariably mentioned, and almost invariably named frontal, or frontal and general. In spine, or back, or loins, almost invariably noted. In muscles (of legs, of arms less often) almost invariably. In abdomen (or only tenderness) often noted.

Coryza and lachrymation.—Absence of these (or of "catarrhal symptoms," which context shows to mean these) often specifically mentioned, and as a characteristic. Rather often one or both mentioned as being present. Occasionally suffusion of conjunctivæ without lachrymation is noted.

Otitis.—This is mentioned by one reporter as having occurred in several of his cases.

Respiratory

Respiratory mucous membrane.—General tendency to affection of this is often noted. Feeling of constriction about chest sometimes mentioned alone. Capillary bronchitis is named three times; bronchitis, often. Pneumonia or pleurisy, or broncho-pneumonia, are occasionally noted as being late complications or sequela. Aggravation of pre-existent lung-disease is noted two or three times. Cough is commonly noted, but most often either as irritative or as appearing only after acute symptoms have passed over. When catarrh is specified it is often distinguished as "post-nasal" or "pharyngeal."

Digestive mucous membrane.—Affection of this, noted often. Vomiting is commonly mentioned; diarrhoea, less often; constipation as frequently as diarrhoea. When appetite is referred to, it is only to specify anorexia.

Liver.—Several reporters note congestion, hepatitis, or peri-hepatitis; one, catarrhal jaundice; one, hepatic symptoms.

Bladder.—Cystitis is once mentioned.

Depression.—This is commonly, but not invariably, noted.

Prostration.—Almost invariably noted; sometimes distinguished from depression.

Heart.—"Great cardiac depression;" "præcordial anxiety, with tendency to syncope"; and "præcordial pain, livid face, and tendency to syncope," are noted by three observers, and apparently as symptoms commonly present among their patients.

Insomnia.—Occasionally mentioned.

Rashes.—These were noted by five reporters. "Papular sweat-rash in two cases"; "herpes, chiefly about the mouth, common." "In about one-half of my cases there has been a rash, either like scarlet-fever or like chicken-pox; the scarlet-fever rash not lasting for more than from twelve to twenty-four hours." "Erythema of chest and face" (in more than one case seems implied); "erythema in seven of my cases."

Neuralgia.—Sometimes mentioned, and then as a sequela, but occasionally as accompanying the acute stage.

Duration.—The statements vary considerably, and between three days and three weeks. The majority fall between four and fourteen days: seven days is very common. (The answers except complicated cases, and occasionally mention that duration depends on the care taken during the first days of illness.)

Convalescence.—In uncomplicated cases is generally noted to be slow; in complicated cases is said to vary with nature of complication. Said in a few instances to be marked by anæmia or pallor.

Contagiousness.—Purposely no question was framed as to contagiousness, but several reporters mention this point. In about equal numbers these allege, as a distinction between influenza and epidemic catarrh, that the present illness is more contagious, and that it is less contagious, than the latter disease. Three make note that in their experience the present illness never ran through households, but that solitary cases were alone seen.

The following table, C, gives examples verbatim of the replies to questions 4 and 5 made by twenty-four reporters who furnished (a) reports; the characteristic determining them to a separate class being the declaration that the reporter in each case was unable to say that the prevalent disease under his notice differed from the usual, or seasonal, epidemic catarrh:—

TABLE C.—Giving, verbatim, examples of the replies to Questions 4 and 5 made by twenty-four reporters who furnished (a) reports.

Report 2 (a).—Q. 5. Does the illness differ from the epidemic catarrh often seen in this Colony? No; exactly the same as the epidemic we had four years ago (in Cootamundra). Q. 4. Brief abstract of symptoms, and average duration, of cases in general as observed by you? Ushered in usually suddenly with chilliness (or coldness down the spine), succeeded with flushes of heat; loss of appetite, nausea, great prostration of strength; feverishness slightly increased towards evening; anxiety, frontal headache, as well as pains in the balls of the eyes, limbs, and back; tongue covered with yellowish creamy fur; suffusion of the eyes, and thin acrid discharge from nostrils (not in all cases); dry hard cough, accompanied with tightness across chest; expectoration scanty at first, but later on more copious, and yellowish; pulse 80 to 90. Free perspiration usually sets in towards the end of the attack, and except for complications or in aged persons the duration is from three to ten days.

51 (a).—Q. 5. No difference. Q. 4. Feeling of chilliness; T. 102; slight bronchitis; running from the nose; in some cases depression. Convalescent in about three days.

66 (a).—Q. 5. Epidemic catarrh is nothing more or less than influenza under another name, and differing in severity in the different epidemics seen. Q. 4. Pain in popliteal space, extending to the thigh, and to the lumbar region, followed by headache, rigors, and high temperature; coryza and bronchial discharge. The above are the usual symptoms of the severer cases; the milder cases present the symptoms of ordinary colds. Under treatment duration should not be more than two days.

94 (a).—Q. 5. No, so far as I have yet seen. Q. 4. Catarrh, fever, headache, cough; duration, six days.

97 (a).—Q. 5. No. Q. 4. Rigors; pains over body, particularly lumbar region and head; oppression of chest; after two days a metallic cough; little or no expectoration. Duration, three days.

108 (a).—Q. 5. Any cases seen by me would seem to be referable to the category of epidemic catarrh as observed from time to time in Australia. Q. 4. Up to date of present return I have not seen any cases which seemed to me to present distinctive features. I have seen a great number of cases of catarrh, some of considerable severity as regards pain in the head, approaching delirium, pain in the loins, and elevation of temperature. These symptoms six or seven years ago I have observed, and from the suddenness of the onset used to style the complaint "lightning catarrh."

121 (a).—Q. 5. As seen by me, no. Q. 4. Weakness, pains over body, with frontal headache and pains in eyes, with watery discharge from eyes and nose. Symptoms generally last about three days, and the patient is all right in a week.

173 (a).—During the present month there have been several cases of a severe form of catarrh in this town and district. As far as I have observed the present epidemic differs in no way from the usual ones we have either in spring or autumn. I am of opinion that the present epidemic is, in this district at least, in no way to be distinguished from epidemic catarrh.

246 (a).—No disease presenting any peculiar symptoms has occurred under my observation. Catarrh sometimes severe, but in no way differing from what is usually met with.

Table D gives verbatim the replies made by seventeen reporters—eight Sydney, nine country—who made (b) reports:—

TABLE D.—Giving verbatim the answers made to Questions 4 and 5 by seventeen reporters who made (b) reports:—

Report 11 (b).—Q. 5. I really think not. I think chiefly in its severity. The worse kinds of epidemic catarrh, are accompanied by headache and other nervous symptoms, and by gastric disorder. But still it is a fact that in many of the cases I have seen the disturbance of the respiratory function has been but trifling. If there be really any other distinction than the severity of the attack, it would seem to lie in the nervous intoxication. The characteristic feature of the present epidemic would seem to be the nervous prostration and pyrexia. Q. 4. Most marked symptoms on the whole are diarrhoea and colic, with perhaps retching. Fever and headache, also invariable with prostration. But no thoracic disorder of any degree of severity. Duration about ten days.

13 (b).—Q. 5. There was not much difference. Q. 4. Pains in back, with great prostration; running from nostrils; slight bronchitis.

20 (b).—Q. 5. Not in character, but the symptoms are more severe. Q. 4. Headache, pain in back and legs, high temperature, commencing with rigor. Duration, five to six days.

86 (b).—Q. 5. While a well-marked case of influenza differs from epidemic catarrh in the severity of its chief symptoms, I must confess that I find it impossible to say where one ends and the other begins. Q. 4. Fever, 101°-105°, with feelings of chilliness. Gastric derangement usually severe, with constipation, and great anorexia. Headache, often referred to back of eyes and forehead. Pains all over, especially severe in lumbar spine and thighs. Cough often severe, and out of proportion to physical signs; slight expectoration. Duration, four to ten days.

87 (b).—I have found in the present epidemic a higher temperature and less tendency to bronchitis than in the former epidemics of catarrh. Q. 4. Rigors, coryza, slight cough, muscular tenderness. Headache, principally over orbits, great prostration. Pulse, 120°; temperature, 103°. This was the first case, and the others differed from it very little, although none was as severe.

96. (b).—Q. 5. In my opinion, in the majority of cases very little, except the intensity of the headache and the peculiarity of the dorsal pains, and the minor urgency of the catarrhal symptoms, and the longer continuance of the weakness in the present epidemic. Q. 4. Usually headache, more or less severe, but not always constant either in severity or situation; followed by pains generally in the back over the loins, and of such a nature (not severity) as to render the patient incapable of resting in bed. Pulse usually above 80° the first day or two; temperature, seldom above 100°. Tongue clean; bowels natural, or slightly confined. Seldom any catarrhal or bronchitic symptoms.

98 (b).—Q. 5. Only in the severity of some of the symptoms. Q. 4. Rigors, lividity, high pulse and temperature, general prostration. Duration six to ten days.

112 (b).—Q. 5. I noticed but little difference from the ordinary acute catarrh, beyond the extreme prostration, and severity of pains in the limbs and back. Q. 4. Very great and extreme prostration and depression; general chilliness; rheumatic pains, or pains as if beaten or bruised in the back or limbs; intense frontal headache; cough; high temperature; in a few cases only, discharge from nose; duration four to seven days.

151 (b). Q. 5. Epidemic catarrh often occurs here especially in the shearing-season, when it starts in the sheds and spreads. Taking case with case I cannot state any difference in the symptoms. Q. 4. 1.—Catarrhal cases; fever, prostration; duration about a week. 2.—Cases without nasal or bronchial catarrh; sore throat, or dysentery, or gastric disturbance; often herpetic eruptions on face or ears; prostration even more marked; duration about a week. 3.—Children's cases; drowsiness, fever, rapid loss of flesh, sore throat; herpes on lips or about nose; tendency to pneumonia; duration longer, one to three weeks.

180 (b). Q. 5. So far as I have seen the present epidemic is marked by less coryza, no tendency to pneumonia, less tendency to troublesome bronchitis. In many cases, however, in young children symptoms simulating croup are present. Q. 4. Headache with pains about the eyes; slight coryza and sore throat; cough, slight in adults, often croupy in children; pains in back and limbs; duration one week on an average, often leaving much prostration (two other practitioners in the same city made (I) reports about the same time).

203 (b).—Q. 5. I think not to any appreciable degree. Q. 4. Shivering, general prostration, frontal headache and a sensation as of tightness, pain in the back and lower extremities, cough, pain along margin of false ribs; duration, seven days.

205 (b).—Q. 5. In my opinion it differs but slightly. Q. 4. Pain at base of occipital bone; vomiting, or an inclination to nasal defluxion; severe pains in muscles of legs and arms; a high temperature for a day or two; spasmodic cough; anorexia; great mental depression; duration, about fourteen days.

213 (b).—Q. 5. Not in my opinion. Q. 4. Frontal headache; congestion of conjunctivæ; fever up to 102° F.; cough and expectoration; prostration; back-ache, pains in limbs; in some cases running from eyes and nose; duration, about seven days.

215 (b).—Q. 5. No. Q. 4. Suddenness of attack; flushings of heat; vomiting; great prostration; continuous brow or headache; extreme cardiac debility during convalescence; duration, five to fourteen days.

221 (b).—Q. 5. Not much if at all. Q. 4. Prostration in some cases very great; severe headache; high pyrexia; bronchitis very severe; tonsils inflamed severely in some cases; pains in loins and limbs; duration five to seven days.

227 (b).—Q. 5. No. Q. 4. General prostration; pain throughout the body, but generally referred to the forehead and lower limbs; sudden onset; catarrh chiefly nasal and pharyngeal; duration, two weeks.

238 (b).—Q. 4. I find a difficulty in distinguishing this epidemic of influenza from epidemic catarrh. In the last influenza epidemic of 1885, pneumonia was a frequent and fatal complication, and children were not attacked. In this there is no pneumonia, and children are frequently attacked. In this epidemic relapses are common, in that of 1885 relapses were rare. Frontal headache was uncommon in 1885, as was nasal catarrh which is common in this epidemic. I should be inclined to call this disease epidemic catarrh, and that of 1885 influenza. Q. 5. Catarrh of frontal sinuses; general fever with pains in joints; anorexia; congestion of the lungs with bronchial catarrh, and in some cases pleurisy; gastro-enteric catarrh; in children sore throat, with sometimes croupy attacks, sometimes diphtheritic; and sometimes bronchitis and diarrhoea; great weakness; duration, about three weeks (relapses common).

In answer to the 4th question, "Does the present illness differ from the epidemic catarrh often seen in this Colony?" 178 reporters who made (I) reports answered in the affirmative; and in answer to the 5th question, the following were cited as distinguishing symptoms, in frequency as shown in the following table, E:—

TABLE E.—Showing the symptoms which were considered by 178 reporters who made (I) reports to distinguish the epidemic described by them from the common epidemic (or seasonal) catarrh, and the number of times each was cited, in Sydney, in the country, and in New South Wales:—

Symptoms.	Sydney.	Country.	New South Wales.
1. Prostration or depression	66	45	111
2. Severity of pains in spine, in muscles, or in bones	51	38	89
3. Absence or late appearance of coryza	47	30	77
4. Rapid and great rise of temperature	42
5. Intensity of cephalalgia	37	24	61
6. Suddenness of onset	30
7. Frequency of gastric derangement (vomiting and diarrhoea)	17	16	33
8. Greater frequency of pulmonary complications	5	6	11
9. Less frequency of pulmonary complications	5	5
10. Close resemblance to onset of typhoid or rheumatic fever	4	4
11. Cardiac weakness, lividity	2	2
12. Greater severity of general symptoms	15	15
13. Subsequent neuralgia	4	4
14. Derangement of hepatic function	4	4

In the map appended hereto is inserted beneath the name of each place from which (I), (a), (b), or (O) reports were received the date on which the first case was observed, or (in the last instance) the date down to which it was reported that influenza had not made appearance; and in all instances the date is preceded and followed by the sign which indicates the character of the report, as above (b) which is reckoned equivalent to (I) being excepted. Railways in actual use, and coach-lines, are also shown; but sea-lines are not shown. It may be said that all places on railway lines are in daily communication with the capital, that places on coach-routes get their mails and passengers from the capital not less than three times a week, with exception of places in the far north-west, which get their mails less often. On the other hand, many such towns receive a daily mail by two or three different routes. Places on the sea-coast, or seated on the larger rivers not very far from their mouths, are usually visited twice or thrice a week by steam-ships, but also by overland coach-routes on intermediate days. In short, nearly every place in the province is so connected with the capital that the traveller may reach it within five days at the most, often within two days, and most often within one day; while he may start upon his journey almost every day of the week. It should be noticed that places on the borders of the province especially must be considered (for the present purpose) in relation to other provinces—these especially, because all the capitals are in direct communication by railway, and the interchange of passenger traffic is large and constant (see the Diagram appended to the Map.)

APPENDIX III.

DATA afforded by the principal Public Institutions which have bearing on the question of contagiousness, and which illustrate the degree in which the epidemic was felt:—

1. SYDNEY HOSPITAL (GENERAL).

Average daily numbers.—Of resident medical staff, 4; of nursing staff, 46; of general staff, 18; of in-patients, 236. Out-patients: At the hospital, approximate average daily attendance, ; branch at Redfern, a mile and a half away, 47.

Position.—In the city.

Cases of Influenza.—First case seen was among hospital out-patients, March 5; and none among Redfern out-patients until April 5. On April 11 a porter at the hospital was attacked. The first in-patient was admitted on April 25, and fifteen others at later dates. On May 2, 8, and 15 three of the resident medical staff fell ill; on May 21 another porter; and on June 14 and 15 two nurses. The total number of cases observed (staff, in-patients, and out-patients) was 239.

Infection and Contagion.—The Resident Medical Superintendent says: "With regard to infection or contagion, the facts point, in my opinion, to there being none." The disease did not appear among patients already in the wards, although the sixteen cases admitted were distributed according to the routine, and without attempt at separation.

WALTER HULL, M.D.,

Resident Medical Superintendent.

Date of report, 28 June, 1890.

2. PRINCE ALFRED HOSPITAL (GENERAL).

Average daily numbers.—Of resident medical staff, 5; of nursing staff, 57; of general staff, 46; of in-patients, 188. Out-patients (at the hospital) approximate average daily attendance, 90.

Position.—Just outside the city.

Cases of Influenza.—The first case occurred April 3; 9 cases were admitted ill, and 8 cases arose in the hospital; 40 of the staff suffered; and about 80 were attended as out-patients.

Infection and Contagion.—The Resident Medical Superintendent says: "The present illness seems not to be capable of transmission from person to person." The nine cases admitted ill were sent to the medical wards according to routine, and no case arose in those wards. The eight cases that arose in hospital occurred in the surgical wards. Cases cropped up among medical and surgical nurses indiscriminately, and as long as the outbreak lasted there were two or three of them suffering at the same time.

J. F. M'ALLISTER, M.B., CH.B.,

Resident Medical Superintendent.

Date of report, 4 June, 1890.

3. ST. VINCENT'S HOSPITAL (GENERAL).

Average daily numbers.—Of staff, ; of in-patients, .

Position.—In the city.

Cases of influenza.—One case was admitted ill on ; no others occurred or were admitted.

JOHN EGAN, M.B., B. CH.,

Resident Medical Superintendent.

Date of report, 17 June, 1890.

4. HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN.

Average daily numbers.—Of nursing staff, 13; of in-patients, 40. No cases occurred or were admitted.

GAVIN MORTON, M.B.,

House Surgeon.

Date of report, 18 June, 1890.

NOTE.—But children were not exempt during this epidemic.

During the weeks not stated no patients suffering from influenza were admitted. (The average daily number of patients was 182; many cases arose in the wards.)

No record of the prevalence of the epidemic among the staff has been kept, as the attacks were not so severe and long-continued as absolutely to necessitate removal to a ward, although the cases were very numerous.

APPENDIX IV.

DATA afforded by the experience of certain Departments, &c., which illustrate the degree in which the epidemic was felt in New South Wales and in Sydney, and which have bearing on the question of contagiousness.

1. DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Number of schools under direct control of the Department, 2,373; teachers, 4,002; gross enrolment of district children, 191,215; average attendance, 114,569; year, 1889.

"The experience of the past six months does not show any special interference with school-work through the ailment in question, notwithstanding the unusual atmospheric changes that have occurred. Occasional applications have been received from teachers for leave of absence on account of colds, but not more frequently than in previous years. No school has been closed through the prevalence of the complaint among the pupils.

APPENDIX V.

1. METEOROLOGY.

"During the first half of 1890 pressure has been normal, and temperature slightly below the average, particularly in April. The characteristic of this period has been the excessive and continuous rainfall which has in amount far exceeded that of any other year since 1840, when observations were begun in this Colony—at least in Sydney."

H. C. RUSSELL, F.R.S.
Government Astronomer.

2. PRECEDENT OR CONCURRENT DISEASES AMONG ANIMALS.

No epizootic disease has been reported to this department as being prevalent in the Colony, during the periods named. (April, 1889, to 30th June, 1890.)

ALEX. BRUCE,
Chief Inspector of Stock.

3. PRECEDENT OR CONCURRENT PREVALENCE OF MOULDS, INSECTS, &C.

THE Pathologist reports that the spores of the common moulds (mucor and penicillium) were unusually abundant in the region of Sydney during the first six months of 1890. His observations, however, did not extend beyond this period.

The Entomologist reports that in October and November, 1889, vast swarms of bugong moths (agrotis spina, Gn.) appeared about Sydney and throughout the coast districts of New South Wales, the caterpillars of which afterwards caused great damage to herbage of various kinds. In January, 1890, a large water-scorpion (belostoma indicum) was extraordinarily abundant about Sydney, often being attracted in tens and twenties by a single conspicuous light. Indeed insects of all kinds were unusually abundant during last summer, owing no doubt to the ample rains and consequent abundance of food.

HENRY CH. ANDERSON,
Director of Agriculture.

APPENDIX VI.

REMARKS upon Sporadic cases at Hillston, of July and August, 1889, reported by Dr. C. H. Soutar.

Upon further application Dr. C. H. Soutar was good enough to furnish the following notes:—

"The case of July 15, 1889, was one of a gentleman holding a Government appointment here; aged 45 to 50; occupation sedentary, and taking very little exercise; healthy theretofore; not removed from the district for any length of time during a year before attack; is married and has a family, but the disease appeared in none of his household other than himself." In his reply to the circular, Dr. Soutar gave the following brief abstract of the symptoms and duration of this case: "Rise of temperature, 102-3; headache, lumbar and muscular pains; vomiting; sleeplessness; want of appetite; pain in chest and abdomen, with corresponding catarrhal symptoms of respiratory and intestinal tracts during convalescence, followed by continued and very severe neuralgia; much prostration; duration of active stage, five or six days." And, in his second communication, Dr. Soutar describes the following case, at the same period, occurring to the housekeeper at a station about 10 miles from Hillston: "Dr. Herbert Evans (now of Brompton, near Adelaide), who was then on a visit here, together with myself, at first took the case to be one of abortive (?) enteric fever; but we came in a day or two to agree that it was undoubtedly influenza. It was of a typical character, viewed in respect to the recent epidemic—orbital and frontal pains, myalgias of extremities and back, pyrexia and intestinal pains being marked features. Apparent mildness of symptoms and disproportionate protractedness of recovery, with fainting fits and great weakness, were in exact accordance with what have marked the general run of later cases." These were isolated cases. They were followed many months later by another series which belong to the epidemic period; these began in a number doubtfully distinguishable from epidemic (seasonal) catarrh, which became mingled with typical cases of influenza, and gradually yielded entirely to that disease.

APPENDIX VII.

REMARKS upon Shearing-shed Fever (sometimes called Fog-fever).

1. Dr. George A. Boodle, Walcha, writes:—

Our epidemics of catarrh of an influenza form are not confined to the shearing season, but may appear at any time; but in my experience of eleven years, chiefly in this district, it always appears more or less at that time, obtains its greatest development in shearing sheds, and appears to spread from them to the surrounding population, as though contagious, though I have no direct evidence to prove that is so. As we have an altogether unusual number of sheds within a few miles of the town, it is more likely to be marked here than in other places.

It is most marked in dry sunny springs, when there is great sun-heat and cold wind, when men get overheated in the sheds or in working in the sunshine, work producing abundant perspiration and the probability of subsequent chill. It was particularly prevalent in the shearing seasons of 1886 and 1887, and much less than usual in 1888 and 1889. Shearing begins here about 1st November and ends early in December, a time when, in this climate, there is apt to be a great daily temperature range (40° or more, sometimes 80° to 30°, and I have taken daily observations for many years), and a great difference between sun and shade temperature.

The complaint usually begins with dryness and soreness of the naso-pharynx, speedily followed by great prostration—the strong men so frequently attacked being forced to lie up—chills, pains in the limbs, frontal headache, fever, and general malaise. The face looks pinched, pale, and dusky, or sometimes flushed, eyes dull, and appearance of severe illness. At first sight, cases often suggest typhoid fever. The duration is about three or four days, and convalescence fairly rapid; but relapses, often repeated, are common. It does not often lead to lung complications, but pneumonia and pleurisy are often prevalent at the same time. As in the late influenza, many of the cases simply follow the course of ordinary catarrh.

The

The great influenza epidemic differs from this only in matters of degree:—

- (1.) A far larger number of people were attacked.
- (2.) A greater number of cases (something less than half) had no respiratory catarrh, and gastro-intestinal affections were more common.
- (3.) A greater proportion of children were attacked.
- (4.) The fever, I am inclined to think, was as a rule higher.

To sum up,—I should have no reason to suppose that the shearers' affection was a distinct form of catarrh, following as it usually does certain climatic conditions, and predisposing conditions of employment, and being, as it often is, much mixed up with other results of the same causes. But it is worthy of notice for the following reasons:—

- (1.) It has acquired popular recognition as a distinct disease, known as the "dog disease," or "shearers' cold."
- (2.) Its remarkable likeness to the late influenza epidemic.
- (3.) Its appearance of contagiousness and spreading from the sheds.
- (4.) Many cases equal in severity the worst cases in the late epidemic.

Walcha, 21 July, 1890.

I am, &c.,
GEORGE A. BOODLE, M.R.C.S., L.S.A., Government Medical Officer.

2. Dr. Colpe, of Nymagee, draws the following distinctions between influenza and shearing-shed fever:—Influenza (as observed during present epidemic); mostly sudden onset, but in about 10 per cent. of cases previous eight or ten days of ill-health. Violent pains over eyes and in eyeballs, pains in back and limbs; temperature 100 to 102; cough in many cases. It differs from the epidemic catarrh often seen in this Colony. It closely resembles the catarrh common here among shearers at shearing time only; but, the elevation of temperature is higher; the pains are not limited to the back and lower ribs, but are almost invariably also in forehead, often in lower limbs. Complicating symptoms are, tinnitus, spasm in arms and legs, tenesmus vesicæ, vomiting not infrequent. He also writes:—"To give information about the so-called 'shearing-shed catarrh' as correctly as possible, I decided to watch the disease more closely this year than I had done before, but to my regret all sheds have cut out now, without any fresh cases occurring. The disease, as it comes under the notice of the general practitioner, usually offers little clinical interest, the patients being rarely seen personally by their medical attendant; the sheds are mostly far away from town, the men are apparently not dangerously ill, and therefore the station-manager usually only sends a letter roughly describing the symptoms under which a number of the hands took ill; the medicine is then sent out to them—mostly expectorants and powders of acetanilid and Dover's powder in equal doses. Some of the men ride into town, but when seen by the doctor they usually are already greatly under influence of drink, and are no good subjects for observation. A number of cases, however, become complicated later on with true croupous pneumonia, of which I saw seven instances last year, and eight the previous year, in a district and amongst a population where pneumonia otherwise is extremely rare. Of the not complicated cases I have, I must admit, hitherto taken but little notice; and I regret that, at this season, for the first time, the disease did not appear. * * * Shearing having been delayed this year into the warmer season, on account of the various strikes, has possibly been the cause of the immunity this time."

I am, &c.,
J. COLPE, M.D. (Leipzig).

3. Dr. Lyttleton, of Adelong, gives the following account:—"I regret to say that I have but few notes re fog fever, shearers' catarrh, or in Temora, euphoniouly called Temora rot. I have been here eight years, but saw no fog fever till 1885 to 1889. There has been none this year, which is curious considering the influenza epidemic and the specially rough, cold, and wet season. Fog fever here has generally, temperature 103-105, pains all over especially in head, always more or less bronchitis, with patches of mild pneumonia, sometimes capillary bronchitis. The pneumonia is usually of a mild type, but in 1886 there were three deaths from severe pneumonia. The influenza here was not very severe except a few cases amongst children; symptoms much the same as fog fever, but pain in head and limbs more severe, attack of shorter duration, but in almost every case leaving severe pain in thorax, or in my own case pain for six weeks in right iliac fossa. This after pain has in many cases been very severe and far more annoying than the actual attack. Whether the pain was in thorax or abdomen, in no case could I find any cause, and it usually wore off after a longer or shorter period, not exceeding two months. In influenza here there was great lassitude for a considerable time after the attack was over. I cannot believe either complaint to be contagious, as in many cases only one member of a large family was attacked. In my own household, I was the only one. I do not see that there is any practical difference either in symptoms or treatment between fog fever and influenza."

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
NEW SOUTH WALES.

MAINTENANCE OF SICK PAUPERS.

(REPORT ON VOTES FOR THE YEARS 1887, 1888, 1889.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be printed, 7 May, 1890.

The Medical Adviser to the Government to The Colonial Secretary.

Board of Health Office,
127, Macquarie-street, Sydney,
1st May, 1890.

Sir,

I do myself the honor to submit herewith a Report on the administration of the Votes for the Maintenance of Sick Paupers for the years 1887, 1888, and 1889.

In addition to the vote taken annually for the "Maintenance of Sick Paupers" special votes are taken for the Maintenance of the Coast Hospital, for Medical Attendance on Aborigines, for expenses contingent on special outbreaks of disease, and also votes in aid of the metropolitan, suburban, and country hospitals "on condition of an equal amount being raised by private contribution."

In the case of all the hospitals, it is understood that in consideration of this vote in aid of the funds, the Directors or Committees will admit free of charge all accidents and urgent cases brought to their doors, and in the case of the country hospitals, there is the additional condition that "the Government, through Police Magistrates or other approved officers, have the right of recommending the admission of patients." In the case of the two main metropolitan hospitals this condition is not imposed, and they are thus treated with greater liberality than the country and suburban institutions. This has apparently arisen from a consideration of the much greater number of accidents which occur in the metropolis and the large number of urgent and necessitous cases which flock into Sydney from country districts for medical relief.

The number of patients who have been taken to the metropolitan hospitals by the police, or on whose account urgent orders have been issued from the Medical Adviser's Office during the years 1887-8-9, is shown in the following return, which will be again referred to in a subsequent part of this Report. These numbers include such cases of typhoid fever as could not for special reasons be taken to the Coast Hospital. All the cases were paid for by the Government at the rate of 3s. per diem. For cases admitted under similar conditions into country hospitals no payment is made.

ORDERS issued by the Medical Adviser in urgent cases, and in cases taken to Hospital by the Police, or transferred from Government Institutions for special treatment:—

* Includes also orders given on the Moorcliff Ophthalmic Hospital.

The history of the administration of the vote which is taken annually for the "maintenance of sick paupers" is, briefly, as follows:—

Up to the year 1884 the orders for admission to the Metropolitan Hospitals of patients chargeable to this vote were issued from the Colonial Secretary's Office on recommendations signed by clergymen, magistrates, and a number of other official and unofficial persons. But little inquiry appears to have been made into the pecuniary circumstances of the applicants. In many cases forms of recommendation were taken direct to the hospitals, the applicants were admitted, and the recommendations exchanged for orders by the hospital authorities at the Colonial Secretary's Office once a month or at other fixed times. In some instances large numbers of recommendations were issued by persons who had no means of ascertaining the position of the applicants, and it is on record that one gentleman who had no official position issued about 300 of these recommendations annually.

In August, 1884, the Colonial Secretary, on the recommendation of Dr. Mackellar, then Medical Adviser to the Government, approved of a special Hospital Admission Depôt being established under the control of the Inspector of Public Charities at 407 Pitt-street, and the system of issuing orders direct from the Colonial Secretary's Office was practically abolished, though these orders have occasionally been issued in special cases since this and up to the present date. At the Hospital Admission Depôt under the altered arrangements an officer of the Public Charities Department made inquiries into the pecuniary condition of the applicants, and a medical practitioner, specially engaged for the service, examined the patients as to their fitness for hospital care and issued admission orders on the hospital in which they could be most fitly treated for the ailments under which they were suffering.

This arrangement continued up to November, 1886, when some difficulties having arisen, and there appearing to be reason for exercising a more complete medical control over the administration of the votes for pauper patients, the Inspector of Public Charities ceased to perform the duties in connection therewith, and, under the direction of the Colonial Secretary, the Medical Adviser undertook the administration of the vote. At the same time the supervision of the issue of orders for urgent cases and for patients taken to hospital by the police, was also placed in the hands of the Medical Adviser. The general arrangements were not at once altered. The Depôt remained at 407 Pitt-street, a medical practitioner was still specially employed, and the inquiry as to the pecuniary circumstances of applicants was undertaken by an officer of the Medical Adviser's Department; but on January 3rd, 1887, new arrangements were made. The Depôt was changed to rooms at the top of King-street, near the District Court. The Government Medical Officer for Sydney undertook the medical examination of the applicants and their assignment to the hospitals or asylums for which the nature, severity, or special circumstances attending their ailment rendered them fit subjects, and attended at the Depôt from 10 to 12 o'clock daily, and the inquiries as to pecuniary means were continued by an officer of the Medical Adviser's Department under improved arrangements which rendered anything like imposition more difficult.

The arrangements made in January, 1887, have been continued with but little alteration until the present time, and the following returns show the general work done at the Depôt for the years 1887, 1888, and 1889, and give the number of applications for medical relief in each month and each year, and the mode in which they were dealt with. The returns for the year 1887 are somewhat less complete as to details than those for the two following years.

From these returns, it will be seen that the number of applications was 3,141 in 1887, 4,190 in 1888, and 4,753 in 1889; but that it was not necessary to give orders for medical or hospital treatment to more than 2,411 in 1887, 2,870 in 1888, and 2,648 in 1889, the other cases receiving recommendations for admission to the Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, orders for out-door hospital treatment, or for trusses—or being refused as unfit subjects for State relief.

The number of recommendations for admission to the Government Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute rose from 494 in 1887 to 717, and 806 in 1888 and 1889 respectively; and the number refused relief in the latter year was much larger than in the two preceding.

The arrangements have on the whole worked satisfactorily, and there is good reason to believe that the sick poor receive more prompt and suitable hospital relief than was formerly the case, at a diminished cost to the Government.

In addition to the orders for admission to hospitals issued from the Hospital Admission Depôt, a number of other orders are issued, as has already been shown, from the Medical Adviser's Office for urgent cases—for cases taken to the Hospital by the police or the Government officials, for transfers from Government Institutions, and for special cases of typhoid fever. These orders numbered 1,459 in 1887, 788 in 1888, and 777 in 1889.

During the time that the vote for pauper patients was under the charge of the Inspector of Public Charities a system had grown up under which the Directors of the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals claimed and received orders for payment in the case of all patients suffering from urgent sickness who presented themselves at the hospital doors. In these cases little, if any, inquiry was made as to the pecuniary means of the applicants; and the system was open to other abuses. In the course of time the number who applied direct to the hospitals was nearly as large as the number making application at the Hospital Admission Depôt. In a memo. on the subject by the Medical Adviser, dated December, 1887, it was shown that during the first eleven months of that year at the Prince Alfred Hospital only 501 patients were sent from the Depôt, whilst 617 were admitted direct by the Hospital authorities, for whose treatment payment was from the Pauper Vote; and at the Sydney Hospital 639 were sent from the Depôt, and 431 admitted by the Hospital authorities, and payment made from the same Vote.

There was thus practically no check on the part of the Government over nearly one-half of the large expenditure incurred. In November, 1885, the Medical Adviser, Dr. MacLaurin, pointed this out to the Colonial Secretary, and, at his suggestion, lists with reports in each case were asked for from the hospital authorities at the end of each month, and these were submitted to the review of the medical officer attached to the Hospital Admission Depôt before the vouchers for payment were passed. This check was not, however, found sufficient to prevent abuses at that time, or even after the management of the vote had passed into the hands of the Medical Adviser.

From the returns showing the number of urgent cases admitted in 1887, it will be seen that 1,147 patients were admitted direct into the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals in this way, as against 1,228 admitted during the same year through the Admission Depôt. At the Prince Alfred Hospital the number admitted direct was 665, as against 532 admitted through the Hospital Depôt. On 1st December, 1887, the Medical Adviser pointed out to the Colonial Secretary that the metropolitan hospitals were doing little or nothing—except admitting accidents free of cost—for the annual grant of £4,000 made to each of them on the understanding that they, as well as the country hospitals, should admit all urgent and necessitous cases, as well as accidents, on condition of receiving £ for £, according to the amount of subscriptions collected; that the vote for medical relief to pauper patients had been much exceeded; that the expenditure under this head was rapidly increasing, and that nearly three-fourths of the patients in the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals were paid for by the Government, who, in addition, were at the sole charge of supporting the Coast Hospital at Little Bay, and besides subsidised the metropolitan hospitals to the extent of £4,000 a year each.

The Medical Adviser recommended that no persons should be allowed to become a charge upon the Pauper Vote, excepting those who were sent to the Hospital through the Hospital Admission Depôt, through the police, or through the recognised Government officer. These recommendations were approved by the Colonial Secretary on December 20th, 1887, and have been acted on since January 4th, 1888, the date on which the Colonial Secretary's decision was conveyed by letter to the hospital authorities.

The Directors of both hospitals appealed to the Colonial Secretary, in 1888, to alter the decision arrived at; but the Directors of the Sydney Hospital appear to have since acquiesced therein, and accepted the situation—the Directors of the Prince Alfred Hospital made a further appeal early in the present year.

The following returns show in half-yearly periods the number of patients admitted into the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals at the Government expense during the years 1887, 1888, and 1889, together with the average daily stay of each patient in hospital; the cost to the Government, and other particulars. The returns for the first half of 1887 are less complete than those for the subsequent periods. In those for the last half of 1889 the cost of patients at the Ophthalmic Hospital, Moorcliff, is given separately. It should be noted that burial fees, besides ambulance and other charges, are paid by the Government. On a comparison of these returns, which show the admissions to the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals, with the returns previously given showing the number of Government orders given, it will be seen that in 1888 72, and in 1889, 39 of the orders issued were not made use of by the persons to whom they were given.

The following return is a summary of the payments made for the maintenance of patients in both hospitals during the three years 1887, 1888, and 1889. From this it will be seen that the Sydney Hospital, including the Moorcliff branch for Ophthalmic cases, has received £17,300 2s., or an average of upwards of £5,766 a year; and the Prince Alfred Hospital £14,819 19s. 9d., or an average of upwards of £4,939 a year for this period. These sums it will be understood are in addition to the £4,000 a year given as a conditional endowment to each of these hospitals.

The Sydney Hospital is further benefited by the Government paying £400 a year for the rent of "Moorcliff," Miller's Point, which is used as an Ophthalmic Hospital in connection with the Sydney Hospital. For this special payment there does not appear to be any good and sufficient reason, since all the patients sent to this institution on Government orders—who constitute three-quarters of the total number of inmates—are paid for by the Government at the rate of 3s. a day, whilst the cost for medical treatment, nursing, and care of this class of patients, is very decidedly less than for ordinary hospital cases. The total sum paid by the Government to the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals during the three years 1887, 1888, 1889, exclusive of subsidies for special purposes, was £57,320 1s. 9d., or an average of upwards of £19,106 a year.

The expenses of the Coast Hospital, which are borne entirely by the Government, amount to an average of £9,735 a year for the same period, so that about £30,000 a year is spent by the Government in medical relief in the metropolis; in addition to grants to suburban and country hospitals, payments for attendance of aborigines, expenses attending special outbreaks of disease in country districts which are met from the general medical vote, and the maintenance in the Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute of a large number of chronic and incurable hospital cases.

RETURN showing the Payments made for the Maintenance of Pauper Patients during each half-year from January, 1887, to December, 1889.

NOTE.—For the last half-year the amounts paid for treatment of patients in Sydney and the Moorcliff Hospitals are shown separately.

During part of the year 1887, in consequence of special directions from the Colonial Secretary, whose attention had been directed to the temporary character of some of the buildings at the Sydney Hospital, their liability to fire, and the imperfect means of dealing with this, should it at any time occur, Government male patients were not sent to the Sydney Hospital; but with the exception of this period, the Government patients have been distributed between the two establishments, having regard to the number of vacant beds and the special accommodation available. The falling off in the number of the Government patients sent to the Prince Alfred Hospital during the year 1889 is explained by the Government Medical Officer charged with the examination of patients at the Admission Depot, as follows:—

"1st. The Hospital used to send their ambulance regularly; now it only comes occasionally, and the distance of the Prince Alfred Hospital from where the tram stops precludes my sending patients unless they are able to walk a quarter of a mile. A cab from the Admission Depot to the Hospital costs 3s.

"2nd. From July 13th to September 24th the wards of the Prince Alfred Hospital were closed, except for urgent cases, owing to painting, cleaning, &c."

Dr. Strong further reports:—"The Sydney Hospital being in the centre of population, and the Prince Alfred Hospital almost on its outskirts, pauper patients naturally apply at the former for admission, and the Medical Superintendent sends them to me for an order for admission, which in most cases I comply with.

"Then, again, the Sydney Hospital places a greater number and a better variety of special beds at my disposal, including beds for female 'lock' and ophthalmic cases.

"Could I do as I would wish, I should send more pauper patients to the Prince Alfred Hospital, for the authorities there are particularly obliging, and have never refused admission to any case sent with my orders, which I cannot say of the sister hospital."

The system on which selection of the cases for the different hospitals is made, is that every morning a return of the number of vacant beds at the Coast, the Sydney, and the Prince Alfred Hospitals is placed before the Government Medical Officer, such return specifying the beds available for the male and female cases and the wards in which they are placed, as "General Medical," or "General Surgical," "Special," "Fever," "Infectious Diseases," "Ophthalmic," "Lock," &c., &c. The applicants are sent to fill the vacant beds, regard being had to the special nature and severity of the cases and their ability to reach the more distant hospitals without aggravation of their symptoms—the advisability of sending as many of the cases as possible to the Coast Hospital, where the expenses are less than at the Metropolitan Hospital, being always kept in mind.

The following statement shows the disbursements from votes for the maintenance of sick paupers, 1887–1889, and includes, as will be seen, a sum of £2,000 19s. 6d., properly chargeable to the year 1886.

In connection with the subject of medical relief to the sick poor, it may be advisable to give a general statement of the number and classification of all patients admitted to the two metropolitan hospitals during the years 1888 and 1889, taken from returns furnished by the hospitals themselves.

* 3 of these patients were admitted under the "Bed Donors" regulations recently made by the Directors of the hospital.

From the figures for the two years it will be seen:—

- 1st. That the percentage of accidents and urgent cases admitted, without charge, at the Sydney on the total admissions is 44·62; at the Prince Alfred, 29·19; and at Moorcliff, 6·41.
- 2nd. That the percentage of pauper patients paid for by the Government on the total admissions at Sydney is 31·39; at Prince Alfred is 28·88; and at Moorcliff is 77·47.
- 3rd. That the percentage of cases paying towards their maintenance at Sydney is 9·92; at Prince Alfred is 41·93; and at Moorcliff is 10·81.
- 4th. That the percentage of patients admitted on subscribers' orders at Sydney is 14·07; at Prince Alfred is nil; and at Moorcliff is 5·31.

In estimating the work done for the Government endowment of £4,000 per annum it will be seen that in the two years 1888 and 1889 the Sydney Hospital admitted 2,493 accidents and urgent cases, and the Prince Alfred Hospital 1,292, or little more than half that number; and in relation to the relief of the sick poor it should be remarked that the Sydney Hospital admitted 786—presumably persons unable to pay for medical relief—on the orders of subscribers, whilst no patients were admitted in this method into the Prince Alfred Hospital, although, as the Directors of this hospital receive subscriptions on the understanding that these will be applied to the relief of "such persons afflicted with acute diseases as are unable to procure the same at their own expense," it would appear that a certain proportion of the urgent medical and surgical cases on whose account appeals have been made by the Prince Alfred authorities for maintenance on the part of the Government should be classed as receiving aid from the contributions of the subscribers.

The arrangements under which the sick poor now receive hospital relief are, briefly, as follows:—

- 1st. Accidents and urgent and necessitous cases taken to the hospital are admitted at once provided there are beds, and the cost met by the hospitals from the annual subsidy granted by the Government.
- 2nd. Cases of sickness discovered either in the streets or elsewhere by the police are admitted at once by the hospital authorities provided there are vacant beds, and orders are subsequently granted from the Medical Adviser's officer for payment at the rate of 3s. per diem from the vote for the maintenance of sick paupers.
- 3rd. In certain urgent and necessitous cases reported to the Medical Adviser by medical practitioners, orders are given for admission, and the patients are paid for at 3s. a day from the vote above mentioned.
- 4th. The Hospital Admission Dépôt, at the top of King-street, is open from 10 to 12 daily, except Sunday, Good Friday, and Christmas Day. All sick persons applying are examined by the Government Medical Officer as to their sickness, and an officer of the Medical Adviser's Department as to their means. All who are in necessitous circumstances are given orders to either the Coast, the Sydney, or the Prince Alfred Hospital, according to the special nature of the illness and the beds vacant at the respective hospitals, and, in the case of the Sydney and Prince Alfred Hospitals, payment is made by the Government at the rate of 3s. a day.

Cases which, on examination, appear not to need hospital treatment, and to be suitable for the Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute, are given recommendations for those Institutions.

CITY OF SYDNEY IMPROVEMENT BOARD.

(ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT.)

Presented to Parliament by Command.

City of Sydney Improvement Board Offices,
131, Macquarie-street, Sydney, 31 August, 1890.

To the Honorable the Colonial Secretary,—
Sir,

The members of the City of Sydney Improvement Board have the honor to submit the Eleventh Annual Report of their proceedings, and in so doing they are pleased to be able to state that the business transacted during the year now concluded much exceeds that of any previous year since the establishment of the Board in 1879.

Although during the past year the members of the Board have been allowed an opportunity of extending their usefulness as a public body, as shown herein, the power, at any time, to limit or extend their operations, and even to give effect to their decisions or orders, or to refrain from so doing, practically rests with the City Council, as already explained in preceding reports, for it may be remembered that the officer, whose duty it is to report to the Board ruinous and dangerous or other buildings requiring attention (and without which report the Board is unable legally to take action), viz., the City Building Surveyor, in addition to being (under the provisions of the City of Sydney Improvement Act) the initiative and executive officer of the Board, is also the paid servant of the City Council, who appoints him, and under whose control he therefore must necessarily be. Hence arises the remarkable fluctuations in the quantities of useful work performed by the Board and reported to you from year to year. This anomalous state of affairs members consider to be most unsatisfactory, and one which should be altered with the least possible delay.

Eighty-two references have been dealt with, affecting 129 ruinous or unsafe buildings, walls, and other structures within the city, all of which have been carefully inspected, and the owners or occupiers afforded an opportunity, which many of them accepted, of appearing before the Board prior to decisions being come to, or orders made to give effect thereto. In two cases rehearings have been allowed upon the special application of owners, so as to permit of their bringing additional evidence before the Board with respect to their buildings.

There have been, altogether, twenty-four (24) meetings held, irrespectively of the time occupied by the Chairman and various members in making special surveys of buildings, and in conferring at different periods with yourself and with the Mayor and others, in connection with subjects pertaining to the work of the Board.

It is found that when the powers possessed by the Board are thus more frequently brought into action, considerable benefit is also indirectly experienced through the voluntary removal by owners of many unsafe and undesirable tenements. In some instances references have been withdrawn by the City Building Surveyor, owing to buildings reported by him being taken down by owners when it became known to them that this Board was about to be set in motion.

Complaints have likewise been made by the public to the Board as to the condition of certain indicated buildings within the city. In all such cases the necessary steps have been taken to deal with them so far as the imperfect machinery at the command of the Board would permit.

Notwithstanding the foregoing facts, and the increase in the business referred to, the pressing necessity for an amendment of the Act 42nd Victoria No. 25 (under which the Board exercises its functions) still remains, as more fully urged and set forth in former annual reports, wherein this question has been repeatedly brought under notice, and the defects and deficiencies of the Act, together with the proposed remedies, frequently pointed out, strong and definite representations on these subjects having previously been made from time to time.

It is, therefore, hoped that the state of public business may allow, at an early date, of the consideration by the Government of the measures contained in the Amending Bill submitted by this Board, which, it is believed, are of sufficient importance to the inhabitants in and around Sydney, and some of the larger cities in the Colony, to warrant immediate attention.

Mr. Benjamin Backhouse was re-elected, by the unanimous vote of members, Chairman of the Board for the year lately closed.

Owing to the expiration of the lease of the offices in Castlereagh-street, occupied for more than ten years, it became necessary to secure other premises, and, with your approval, rooms at No. 131, Macquarie-street have been taken for offices for the Board, for a term commencing from the 1st of January, 1890.

We have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servants,

BENJAMIN BACKHOUSE, CHAIRMAN.

BOROUGH OF ENFIELD.—BY-LAWS.

PART I.

Regulation of Proceedings.

Days of Ordinary Meetings.

1. The Council shall meet every alternate Tuesday, at the hour of half-past seven in the evening, or at such other day and at such hour as may, by resolution of the Council, be from time to time appointed

Course of Procedure.

2. The following shall be the course of procedure at such meetings, viz. :—

- (1.) The reading and confirmation of the minutes of the previous meeting.
- (2.) The reading of official correspondence.
- (3.) The presentation of petitions.
- (4.) Reports brought up from Committees.
- (5.) Motions of which notice has been given.
- (6.) Orders of the day.
- (7.) Such other business as may lawfully be brought before the Council.

Petitions.

3. All petitions shall be received as the petitions of the persons signing the same only; and it shall be incumbent on any Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the language thereof, and report to the Council that he considers it unobjectionable.

Petitions and Correspondence may be dealt with without previous notice

4. The Council may at any meeting resolve, without previous notice, that any petition be received, and that the same, or any correspondence read, be referred to a Committee.

Mayor to Preserve Order.

5. The Mayor shall preserve order, and may at any time call to order any Alderman that may appear to him to be out of order.

Calls to Order.

6. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor to any Alderman being out of order, or to any point of order.

Mayor's decision on points of order final.

7. Every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor thereon shall be conclusive.

Mayor may take part in proceedings.

8. The Mayor may take part in all the proceedings of the Council.

Questions put by Mayor.

9. The Mayor shall put all questions first in the affirmative and then in the negative, and may do so as often as may be necessary to enable him to determine the sense of the Council thereon, and thereupon he shall declare his decision, which shall be final.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience of Aldermen.

10. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor shall decide which of them shall be entitled to pre-audience.

No Alderman to speak twice on the same question or amendment except in Committee.

11. No Alderman shall speak twice on the question unless in Committee, or in explanation where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood: Provided that any Alderman, although having previously spoken, may speak once on every amendment; and that the mover of every question shall always have the right of final reply.

No Alderman to make personal reflections.

12. No Alderman shall digress from the matter under discussion, or make personal reflections on or impute motives to any other Alderman.

No Alderman to speak more than ten minutes.

13. No Alderman to speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer period than ten minutes, without the consent of the Council.

Alderman using offensive expressions to apologise.

14. When any Alderman shall make use of any language or expression offensive or capable of being applied offensively to any Alderman the Alderman offending shall be required by the Mayor, or if in Committee, by the Chairman of such Committee, to withdraw such language or expression, and to make an apology satisfactory to the Council.

Debate may be adjourned.

15. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the same day, or to another day.

Alderman adjourning debate entitled to precedence on resumption.

16. The Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to precedence on the resumption of the debate.

Division—Penalty for refusing to vote.

17. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and vote of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for, and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings, or more than forty shillings.

Divisions to be entered on minutes.

18. All divisions of the Council shall be entered on the minutes of the proceedings.

Questions to be read when required.

19. Any Alderman may require the question or matter under discussion to be read for his information, and upon such request the question or matter under discussion shall be read.

How amendments to be put.

20. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing. If an amendment be carried the question as amendment thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved. If any amendment upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on: Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Adjournments.

21. Any motion for adjournment, if seconded, shall be immediately put without discussion, but if such motion be negatived it shall not be competent for any member to make a similar motion until thirty minutes shall have elapsed from the period of moving the motion, which shall have been so negatived.

Motions must be seconded.

22. No notice shall be taken by the Mayor of any motion unless it be seconded.

Motions to be in writing and not withdrawn without leave.

23. The Council Clerk shall put every motion into writing, which shall be signed by the mover; and every motion when seconded, and read by the Council Clerk, shall be considered the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the Council.

Council Clerk to give notice of Committee Meetings.

24. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Duration of Special Committees.

25. The appointment of Special Committees shall continue until the specific duty for which they shall have been appointed shall have been discharged: Provided that such Committee may at any time be dissolved by vote of the Council.

Rules to be observed in Committee of the Whole, &c.

26. The Rules of the Council shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, except the rule limiting the number of times of speaking.

Report of Committee—how signed.

27. Every report of a Committee shall be signed by the chairman thereof.

Proceedings—By-laws may be suspended on emergency.

28. Any of these by-laws relating to or affecting proceedings at meetings of the Council may be suspended pro tempore in cases of emergency if all the members of the Council then present deem such suspension necessary.

Protection of Funds and Records.

Officers of Council may not be surety.

29. In cases where security is required by the Municipalities Act, it shall not be competent for the Council to accept as surety any of their members nor any person holding office under the Council.

Treasurer's Account to be laid before Council.

30. The treasurer's accounts to be laid before the Council once in each month, or oftener if required by the Council.

Expenses of proposed works to be first ascertained—Accounts to be examined by Finance Committee.

31. No work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been previously ascertained by the Council, and all accounts to be paid by the Council shall be examined by a Finance Committee, and reported on by them before any warrant shall be issued for the payment thereof.

Mayor and two Aldermen may authorize expenditure of ten pounds on emergent works.

32. The Mayor and any two Aldermen, or, in the absence of the Mayor from the Municipality, any three Aldermen may, in writing, order any sum not exceeding ten pounds to be expended in repairing any public work under the control of the Council which may be suddenly damaged: Provided it shall appear to them that such repair cannot be delayed until the next sitting day of the Council; and then may appoint a proper person to execute such repairs: Provided always that the making of such order shall be reported at the next meeting of the Council; and provided also that not more than one such order to be made between the termination of one meeting and the commencement of another.

Records, &c., to be kept private.

33. Excepting as otherwise provided by law, if any person shall, without the permission of the Council first had and obtained, show, lay open, or expose any of the books, papers, or records of the Council to any person, not being a member of the Council, the person so showing, laying open, or exposing the said books, papers, or records, shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds, and on every subsequent conviction, a penalty of not less than two pounds.

Custody of records, seal, &c.

34. The common seal and all charters, deeds, muniments, papers, and records of the Council, shall be kept in the Council Chambers or office of the Council in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order, for any purpose, and the common seal shall not be used without the express authority of the Council, and every impression thereof so authorized shall be verified by the signature of the Mayor and Council Clerk.

Records, &c., not to be defaced or altered.

35. Any person who shall deface, alter, or destroy, or attempt to deface, alter, or destroy any such common seal, charter, deed, muniment, paper, or record, shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay for the first offence a penalty not exceeding five pounds, nor less than two pounds, and upon every subsequent conviction a penalty of not less than twenty pounds.

Nor removed.

36. Any person who shall remove, or attempt to remove, any such seal, charter, deeds, muniments, paper, or record from the Council Chamber, without leave from the Council first had and obtained, shall on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than twenty pounds, nor less than two pounds, and for every subsequent offence a penalty of not less than five pounds.

Duties of Council Clerk.

37. The Council Clerk shall perform all the duties of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other by-laws thereunder, he may be required to perform. He shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Borough under the provisions of the Municipalities Act. He shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council, and he shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor.

Special powers of Mayor.

38. The Mayor may from time to time define the duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation, and shall exercise a general supervision over all such officers and servants, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statement, or the giving of such explanation or information.

PART II.

Collection and Enforcement of Rates.—Times and modes of collection.

Rates under section 164, of the 31st Vic. No. 12; how collected.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council, under the provisions of section 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by yearly instalments. Each such instalment shall, as to every such rate, and every such instalment thereof, be held to be due or payable on and after such day as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate,

Special Rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167, of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purpose mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may by resolution, at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Rates to be paid at the Council Chambers.

3. All persons liable to pay any rates as aforesaid, shall pay the amount thereof within the time prescribed by the said Act into the Council Chambers, during the office hours, that is to say, from six o'clock to seven o'clock on Tuesday evening, and from three o'clock to five o'clock on every Saturday afternoon; public and bank holidays excepted.

Defaulters.

4. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons whose rates are unpaid at the expiration of the times fixed for payment of the same as aforesaid.

Enforcement of Distress.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to lay such list before the Council; and the Council cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a court of competent Jurisdiction, or cause distress warrants to issue against all such persons, and cause such warrant to be enforced.

Bailiff.

6. The bailiff shall be appointed by the Council, and shall give such security as the Council shall approve, for the faithful performance of the duties of such office.

Bailiffs' Sureties.

7. The bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of twenty-five pounds each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duty of Bailiff.

8. It shall be the duty of the bailiff to make all levies of distress for the recovery of rates in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of Distress.

9. All levies and distress shall be under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid with costs as hereinafter provided on or before the expiration of five days, the bailiff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof by public auction either on the premises or at such other place within the said Borough as the bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose; and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

11. At the time of making a distress, the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf, resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made, and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayers on demand at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The Bailiff on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates, as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person soever, after the expiration of five days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such places or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case, be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress

14. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within twenty-four hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. These shall be payable to the Bailiff, for the use of the Council for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunder annexed, marked C

PART III.

Streets and Public Places.—Public Health and Decency.—Streets, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been examined by the Committee for Works, and reported on to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new roads, &c., to be adopted.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Borough shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation, through, or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, or park, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

3. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans, so signed as aforesaid, shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council, and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, park, or place to public use or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Committee of Works for general purposes; and such further instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Committee of Works to fix street levels, &c.

4. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the supervision of such Committee, shall be subject to such orders as shall from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, lay out and fix the levels of all public roads, streets, and ways within the Borough, and the carriage and footways thereof; and it shall be the duty of such Committee, officer, or person to place posts at the corners of intersections of any such public roads and streets, and of the carriage-ways and footpaths of such roads and streets, wherever the same may be considered necessary or desirable by the Council: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street or way, until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council, as hereinafter directed.

Change of street levels.

5. Wherever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cuttings to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for fourteen days for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Borough that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or chairman, and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

6. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove, or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material, in or from any part of the carriage or footway of any street or other public place within the said Borough, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any such carriage or footway, shall on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound. That every owner or occupier, upon whose land or premises are found growing any weeds known as the Bathurst Burr, Scotch Thistle, Sweetbriar, or other noisome weeds, shall, on being required by the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer of the Council, cause the same to be destroyed, failing which shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £2 (two pounds), nor less than ten shillings.

Holes to be enclosed.

7. Any person or persons who shall dig or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left any hole, adjoining or near to any street or public place within the said Borough, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other building, or for any purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner, to the satisfaction of the Committee of Works of the said Borough, or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued any such enclosure for any time which shall be longer than absolutely necessary in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights upon each side of the said enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the footways to be enclosed under penalty.

8. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, premises, or land, within the said Borough, having an entrance area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building, lot, water-hole, or excavated space, adjoining the footway of any street or public place in such Borough, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient rails, fences, or other enclosures, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he shall be convicted of such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fences, or other enclosures as aforesaid, within seven days after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this by-law.

9. When any road, street, or lane has been formed and the pathways put in order, the owners of all houses or other structures abutting thereon shall so arrange the roofs of such structures, by spouting or otherwise, as shall prevent the rain from flowing therefrom on to such pathway; and any owner or occupier who shall refuse or neglect to carry out this by-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence, after due notice given, any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Wells to be covered over.—Penalty.

10. Every person who shall have a well situated between his or her dwelling house, or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or footway, within the limits of the said Borough, or at the side of, or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or footway shall cause such well to be securely and permanently fastened over; and if any person having such well as aforesaid shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing, shall have been given to him, or to her, by any officer of the said Council, or shall have left for such person at his or her usual, or last known place of abode, or on the said premises shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open or uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this by-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

11. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, land, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this by-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

12. Any person who shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Borough, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing, which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place, to the injury thereof, or to hang over any part of the street beyond the breadth of the said vehicle or barrow, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay for such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings, nor less than five shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving carriage, &c., on footways, and throwing filth, &c.

13. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay; or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing, in or upon the carriage-way or footway of any street or public place in the said Borough, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, lamb, or other animal in or so near to any such street or other public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any or either or any such carriage or footway, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheel, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, or truck, and hogshead, cask, or barrel; or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride, any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings; for the second offence, a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds, nor less than one pound for each such offence; and should the person in charge of such waggon, cart, dray, or other vehicle, refuse to give his name and address, the owners of the same may be prosecuted under this by-law for causing a breach of the same.

Entrances to public roads to have watertables kept free from obstruction

18. Where an entrance has been made from any land by the occupier, tenant, or owner thereof, to any public road within the Municipality, and the traffic caused by such entrance crosses the watertable and footpath of such public road, the occupier, tenant, or owner of any such land from which such entrance is made, shall keep the said watertable and footpath for a reasonable distance on each side clear of all obstructions; failing to do the same he or she shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence, in addition to the cost of clearing such watertable and footpath as aforesaid. The owner or occupier of any property having an entrance for vehicles across the footway into his or her premises shall, at his own cost, put down cube sets or other substantial material on such crossing, to the satisfaction of the Council; and where such owner or occupier shall fail to put down such cube sets or other material within one month after receiving notice so to do from the overseer of work, the Council may have the work done at his cost, and recover the same in the usual way.

As to private avenues.

21. Any owner or occupier of any house or place within the said Borough, who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, yards, and ways within the said premises, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

22. The owner or person in charge (excepting travellers) of any cow, horse, or any other animal within the boundary of the Municipality who shall, to the annoyance of any inhabitant, suffer a bell to be attached to such animal, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings for every such offence.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, &c.

23. It shall not be lawful for any person to prosecute his or her trade by slaughtering any cattle, sheep, or pigs within the limits of the Borough; and the Inspector of Nuisances or any other person appointed by the Council, shall have full power, without any other than this by-law, to go upon any premises for the purpose of ascertaining whether a breach of this by-law has been committed; and any person who shall be guilty of such offence shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds.

24. Upon the representation of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, drains, ash-pits, or hog-styes of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the officer of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this by-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose, and if any such premises shall be found to be a nuisance or otherwise offensive, notice in writing shall be given to the proprietor or resident of such premises that it, within forty-eight hours after the service of such notice, the nuisance shall not be removed, the Council may, by the Inspector, cause the same to be removed, the proprietor, tenant, or occupant of the aforesaid premises shall, upon conviction, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, in addition to the cost of such removal, where it shall have been done by the Council.

Various obstructions and annoyances.—Placing carriages, goods, &c.—No removing same when required.—Replacing the same after removal.

25. Every person who, in any street or other public place or passage within the said Borough, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences shall, on conviction for such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty for the first offence, of a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings; for the second offence, a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and for a third and every subsequent offence, a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds:—

(a) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place, the carcass of any newly slaughtered animal, without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment of public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

(b) Any person who shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping block, show board (on hinges or otherwise), basket-ware, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever, in or upon or over any carriage or footway in any street or public place within the said Borough, or shall place any coach, cart, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage, upon any such carriage-way or footway, except for the necessary time of loading and unloading, or taking upon or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals, or if any person shall set or place or cause to be placed, in or upon or over any such carriage or footway any timber, stones, bricks, lime, or other materials or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of any such footway or carriageway, or over any area of any house or other building or premises, and shall not immediately and permanently remove all or any such matter or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other proper officer of the Council.

(c) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger and annoyance of any person.

(d) Every person who shall throw or cast from any house or other building, or any part of any house or other building any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing, (unless within a hoard or enclosure), when any house or building is being erected, pulled down or repaired.

(e) Every person who shall, within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling house, burn any rags, bones, cork, or other offensive substance, to the annoyance of any inhabitant.

Loitering.

26. All persons standing or loitering upon any of the carriage-ways, footways, or other public places in the Borough of Enfield, to the inconvenience of passers by, or in any way interrupting the traffic, who shall not discontinue to do so upon being required by any officer or servant of the Council of the said Borough, or by any police officer, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Offences against public decency.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

27. Any person who shall bathe near to or within view of any inhabited house, bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Borough, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and eight in the evening, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Penalty for indecent exposure of person.

28. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street or public place within the said Borough, or in the view thereof, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Building Fees.

29. Every person before commencing to erect any house, building, or fence, in any thoroughfare or street in this Borough, shall give notice of his intention in writing to the Borough Council, failing which he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

30. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamps or lamp posts, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Borough, shall over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

PART IV.

Noisome and Offensive Trades.

No noisome or offensive trades to be carried on to injury of any inhabitants.

1. No person shall carry on any noisome or offensive trade within the said Borough, so as to injure or be a nuisance as hereinafter stated, to the inhabitants thereof.

Definition of "Noisome and Offensive Trades."

2. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of or in connection wherewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on, any gas, vapour, effluvia, or smoke, shall be calculated to injure or be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said Borough, shall be considered a "noisome and offensive trade" within the meaning of these by-laws.

Complaint.—Inquire and Report.—Orders of Council thereon.—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

3. Upon complaint in writing by any householder that any noisome or offensive trades being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property as to injure his or her health, or the health of any member of his or her family, or to be a nuisance to such householder, and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report, and after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on, as aforesaid, is a "noisome and offensive trade" within the meaning of these by-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not less than thirty days, nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these by-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Borough. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid, within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when "Noisome and Offensive" trade is about to be introduced.—Penalty.

4. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid wherever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these by-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them, not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measures as shall effectually prevent the same from becoming "noisome and offensive"; within the meaning of these by-laws, to any resident within the Borough. And any person who shall in any case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these by-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds, nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notice.—Liabilities.

5. Service of any notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon such person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service for such notice for all the purposes of these by-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation within the meaning and for all the purposes of these by-laws.

PART V.

Fee for opening footways to lay pipes.

1. That a uniform charge of five shillings be made in every case where, for laying gas, water, or sewerage pipes, or any other purpose, the kerbing, asphaltting, or paving of any footpath within the Borough, or any roadway within the Borough, requires to be cut into, broken, or disturbed; that permission to be first obtained in writing from the Council Clerk for the time being, and the said fee of five shillings be paid before any such work is commenced, the Council undertaking the repair of such kerbing, asphaltting, paving, or roadway; that a uniform charge of ten shillings be made in every case where, for building or other purposes, it is necessary to cart material over the kerbing, asphaltting, or paving, a width of not more than eight feet: that permission be first obtained from the Council Clerk for the time being, and the said fee of ten shillings be paid, before such carting is commenced, the Council undertaking the proper repair of such kerbing, asphaltting, or paving. Any person failing to comply with any of the provisions of this by-law shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings, in addition to the fees herein imposed.

Nuisances.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public watercourse, &c.

2. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public watercourse, sewer, or waterhole—or who shall suffer slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such watercourse or waterhole—or who shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the Borough—or shall permit or cause, by means of pipes, channels, shoots, or other contrivances, filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public watercourse, gutter, or waterhole—or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer, watercourse, or creek, shall, on conviction, forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and cleanse same.

3. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupants of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any persons shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired or cleansed, according to the direction of the said Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Drains for discharge of surface water from land.

4. Every owner or occupier of land in, adjoining to, or near any street, if such land shall be so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow, or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any footway of such street, shall within seven days after the service of the notice by the Council for that purpose, construct, and lay from such point such land being near to the footway, as shall be specified in such notice by plan appended or otherwise, and higher in level than the bottom of the channel at the outer edge of the footway to the said channel, and through, under, and transversely to the footway, and keep in good condition such covered drain or trunk, as and subject to the inspection of the Council or its proper officers; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid, or with the provisions of this section, such owner or occupier shall forfeit any payment not exceeding five pounds. And if within seven days after such conviction, such owner or occupier shall still have failed to comply with such notice, or be otherwise in default as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and for every further such offence he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds. And every such owner or occupier who shall still have made default as aforesaid for more than seven days after such second or any future conviction, shall be held guilty of a further offence within the meaning of this section.

Placards not to be affixed to walls, &c., without consent.

5. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard or other paper upon any wall, house, fence, or erection; or by chalk or paint, or in any other manner, unless with the consent of the owner thereof; and every person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty shillings, nor less than five shillings.

Keeping swine—Penalty.

6. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other hereditament situate or being in or within forty yards of any street or public place, or any dwelling-house in the said Borough, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any ass, mule, sheep, goat, or cattle belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Passed by the Municipal Council of the Borough of Enfield, this second day of September, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

EDWARD A. PYMAN,
Council Clerk.

(I.S.) JAMES EVE,
Mayor.

1890.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BURROWA.—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 6th January, 1890.

BURROWA MUNICIPALITY—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Burrowa, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

SECTION I.

Meetings of Council.

1. The Council shall meet at the Council Chambers every alternate Tuesday at the hour of 7.30 p.m., but if such day be a public holiday, then on such day and hour as the Mayor may determine.

Chairman in Mayor's Absence.

2. If the Mayor shall be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for the holding of any meeting, the Aldermen present shall choose a Chairman, provided always that if the Mayor shall attend, such Alderman shall leave the chair to be taken by the Mayor.

No quorum.

3. Whenever any meeting shall lapse, or be adjourned for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be recorded by the Town Clerk, and such record shall be read at the next meeting of the Council.

Order of Business.

4. The business of each ordinary meeting shall be transacted in the following manner, viz. :—

1. Reading and confirming of minutes of last meeting.
2. Reading correspondence, and reception of reports and petitions.
3. Questions.
4. Adjourned motions, and motions of which notice has been given.
5. Orders of the day, which shall comprise all business set down for the day by order of any previous meeting, or necessarily arising out of the proceedings of a former meeting.
6. Tenders.

Provided that the Council may, by resolution, take any particular matter out of the regular order on the paper.

Power to suspend By-law.

5. The Council shall have power to suspend pro tem. one or more of the By-laws : Provided that no such suspension shall be allowed for the purpose of voting money, and that two-thirds of the members present consent.

Postponement of Debate or Motion.

6. Any debate or order of the day when called on may be postponed to another time to be duly specified : Provided that no discussion shall be allowed upon such motion for postponement, and the Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to open the debate on resumption.

Motions to be in Writing and Seconded.

7. All resolutions shall be in writing, and no motion or amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motion not to be Withdrawn.

8. No motion of which notice has been given shall be withdrawn if any Alderman object ; and if any Alderman who has given notice of motion fail, or decline to move it, the Mayor or any other Alderman may move the same.

Questions—Twenty-four hours' notice to be given.

9. No question shall be put to the Mayor, unless twenty-four hours' notice in writing shall have been given thereof to the Town Clerk.

Amendments—Order of.

10. When any motion of Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman may move an amendment thereon ; and if an amendment be carried, the question, as amended thereby, becomes itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved. If any amendment shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on : Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for Adjournment.

11. Any motion for adjournment shall be put immediately without discussion. If such motion be negatived, the business then under consideration, or the next in order on the business paper, shall be discussed before any notice for adjournment may be moved.

Alderman may call for Division.

12. Any Alderman may call for a division. In such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative, and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded; and any Alderman present when a division is called for, who shall not vote (not being disabled by law from so doing), shall be liable, for every such offence, to a penalty not less than ten shillings nor more than forty shillings.

Motions which would Rescind Motions Previously Passed.

13. No motion, the effect of which, if carried, would be to rescind any resolution passed by the Council during the current municipal year, shall be entertained, unless at a special meeting of the Council called for that purpose; and no such motion, if negatived by the Council at such special meeting, shall be again entertained during the same municipal year.

Aldermen not to speak twice, nor longer than ten minutes, on any motion or amendment.

14. No Alderman shall speak twice on any motion or amendment, except in Committee, or in explanation where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood. The mover of every question shall have the right of reply; Provided that no Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer period than ten minutes, without the consent of the Council.

Aldermen to stand and address the Chair.

15. Every Alderman shall stand when speaking, and shall address the Chair.

Offensive personal reflections not to be permitted.

16. No Alderman shall make offensive personal reflections, upon, or impute discreditable motives to, any other Alderman. Any Alderman so offending shall, immediately upon being thereto required by the Mayor or presiding Alderman, withdraw the offensive expressions, and retract any such imputation of motive, and make an apology satisfactory to the Council. Any Alderman declining so to apologise and to withdraw the offensive expressions, or to retract the imputation of motive, shall be liable, on conviction, to a fine or penalty not less than one pound nor more than five pounds for every such first offence, and on a second conviction for a like offence he shall be liable to a fine or penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

Committees.

17. The Rules of the Council shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, except the rule as to standing, and that limiting the number of times of speaking.

Points of order.

18. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any Alderman being out of order; and every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor or Chairman thereon shall be conclusive.

Speaking.

19. Any Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Petitions to be examined before being presented.

20. Any Alderman presenting a petition shall satisfy himself that the wording thereof is unexceptionable. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the persons signing the same, and no debate shall take place upon the presentation of a petition until notice has been given in the usual manner.

Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

21. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time negativing such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been remitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after due notice as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed Business.

22. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the next meeting at the point where it was so interrupted.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties, &c.

23. Such suits or informations for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," or of any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute, the operation of which may have been extended to the Municipality, as may have been directed by the Council, shall be so commenced or laid by the solicitor of the Municipality, or by any officer named by the Council for that purpose imposing the penalty sought to be enforced. And no such suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council, or Auditor, or servant, except on an express resolution of the Council.

How notices are to be published.

24. In all cases where the public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law, such notice shall be given and published by advertising the same in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

25. In all cases not herein provided for resort shall be had to the rules and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

Business at Special Meetings.

26. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or the Alderman at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Business paper for Ordinary Meeting—how prepared.

27. The business paper for every meeting of the Council, other than a special meeting, shall be made up by the Council Clerk or other person acting as his substitute not less than forty-eight hours before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter upon such business paper a copy or the substance of every notice of motion and of every requisition or order as to business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of section 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction, shall have been received.

Business paper for Special Meeting.

28. The business paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Alderman calling such meeting.

Summons to Members.

29. The summons to Members of the Council of every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How business paper is to be disposed of.

30. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall at such meeting be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall cause a note to be made upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with, and such business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

After business paper made up all notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

31. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all the said notices of motion, requisitions, and directions as to which entries have been made thereon shall be the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended, without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committee.

32. There shall be three Standing Committees, namely, a By-law, a Works, and a Finance. These Committees shall be re-appointed every year, at the first meeting of the Council, which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Mode of re-appointing Standing Committees.

33. The re-appointment of the three Standing Committees may, on resolution of the Council, be made by ballot. In such case a list or lists of the members shall be handed to each then present, who shall mark against the name of each such member the title of the Committee to which, in his opinion, such member ought to belong; and the Mayor or Chairman shall thereupon examine such lists so marked, and shall declare the result, and if there shall be an equal number of votes for the appointment of any two or more members to any one of such Committees, such Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such members shall be appointed.

By-law Committee.

34. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council, drafts of all such by-laws as may be required for the good government of the Municipality.

Works Committee.

35. The Committee for Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other public places under the care and management of the Council; they shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

36. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect or to be likely to affect the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Records of transactions in Committee.

37. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Reports to lie on table twenty-four hours.

38. All reports of Standing Committees shall lie on the table, for inspection of Aldermen, at least twenty-four hours prior to the meeting at which such reports shall be received.

Probable cost of work to be ascertained before expenditure.

39. No work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be determined upon until the probable expense shall have been first ascertained by the Council, on the report of some officer nominated for the purpose, or the report of the Works Committee.

Works to be let by tender.

40. Works undertaken by the Council, and estimated to cost over (5) five pounds, shall be let by tender; and no tender shall be entertained unless it be accompanied by an agreement, signed by one or more respectable parties as sureties, for due performance of the contract. All tenders shall be accompanied by a cash deposit of ten per cent. of the amount of tender.

Members of Council or its officers not to be surety.

41. It shall not be competent for the Council, when surety is required for officers, servants, or contractors, to accept as such surety any of its members, or any person holding office under the Council.

Urgent works may be ordered to be done.

42. The Mayor and two Aldermen, or, in the absence of the Mayor from the Municipality, any three Aldermen may, in writing, order any sum not exceeding (5) five pounds to be expended in repairing any public work under the control of the Council which may be suddenly damaged, and such order shall be reported at the next meeting of the Council.

Vacancies—appointments to be advertised.

43. No appointment to any office shall be made until public notice be given inviting applications for the same, and stating the salary affixed to such office; and every appointment may be by ballot or show of hands; and all officers shall give bonds for the faithful discharge of their duties, in such sums as the Council may determine.

Cash balance.

44. The Treasurer shall produce the cash-book and bank pass-book, balanced, at the regular meetings of the Council.

Payments to be certified.

45. No money shall be paid by the Council until the account for the same shall have been examined and reported upon by the Finance Committee, except in case of men employed daily or weekly, and cases of emergency.

Rates to be collected half-yearly.

46. The rates of the Municipality shall be collected half-yearly, and shall be due and payable on such days as the Council shall determine.

Rates to be paid to the Town Clerk.

47. All persons liable to pay rates or assessments shall pay the same to the Town Clerk, at the Municipal Council Chambers, during office hours, or in such other manner as the Council may from time to time direct.

Bailiff.

48. The Bailiff shall be appointed by the Council or the Mayor, and shall find two sureties to the extent of ten pounds each for the faithful performance of his duties.

49. The Bailiff shall make all levies and distress under warrant, in the form of the Schedule hereunto annexed and marked with the letter A, under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorised to perform the duties of that office.

50. The Bailiff shall be paid for every entry and levy made under these By-laws, according to the Schedule hereunto annexed and marked with the letter B.

51. The Bailiff, and such assistants as he may take with him, shall enter into any part of the land, building, or tenement in respect of which a warrant has been issued for the recovery of any rate or rates as aforesaid, and to distrain the goods therein or thereon, and to remain in such building, tenement, or other property, in charge thereof; and if the sum for which such distress shall have been made or taken shall not be paid on or before the expiration of two days, it shall be lawful for the Bailiff to sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, and, if the party distrained upon shall so require, by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the Municipality as the Bailiff may think proper to remove thereto, such party consenting in writing to pay the charges of the auctioneer, if sold; and the surplus, if any remain after deducting the amount distrained for, together with the expenses attendant upon such distress and sale, shall be paid over to the owner of the goods so sold: Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to the sale of any produce whatever which may be growing upon the land at the time of making the distress: Provided always, that no distress shall be made on the goods of any casual visitor, or on the goods of any lodger in any house or apartment ordinarily let or used as a lodging-house or apartment.

52. At the time of making a distress, the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of the Schedule hereto annexed and marked with the letter C, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person for his or her behalf, resident at the place where the distress has been made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress has been made.

53. The Bailiff, in making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the distress so made of what nature or kind soever it may be, in such place or part of the land or premises chargeable with the rate as shall be most fit or convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whatsoever, after the expiration of the two days hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where any distress shall be impounded, in order to view or buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

54. The owner of any goods so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be offered for sale: and the said goods and chattels shall in such case be sold according to such direction.

55. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk, or the Treasurer, all proceeds of such distress, immediately after having received the same, with the particulars of the goods distrained, and of the sale thereof.

56. The Bailiff, with the sanction of the Mayor of the Municipality, may authorize any person to act temporarily as his deputy; and the person thus authorized shall have and exercise for the time being, all the powers of the Bailiff himself; but the Bailiff and his sureties shall, in every case, be held responsible for the acts of his deputy.

Receipt for documents.

57. Every person removing any document or record with such consent as aforesaid, shall give a receipt under his hand for every such document, which receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the document or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed.

Penalty for destroying or defacing records.

58. Any person destroying or defacing, or wilfully or improperly altering any books, papers, or records, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

Notice to candidates.

59. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council shall take place until notice shall have been given as hereinafter provided, inviting applications from qualified candidates for the same. The salary or allowance attached to the office shall in every case be fixed before such advertisement is published, and shall be stated in such advertisement.

Mode of appointment.

60. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot, in such mode as may at the time be determined upon.

Appointment of officers, &c.

61. The officers of the Council shall be appointed, and the engagement of any officer may be determined at any time by a vote of a majority of the whole Council: Provided that one month's notice shall be given to every such officer whose services are to be so dispensed with, and that any officer may resign his appointment by giving to the Council one month's notice in writing of his desire and intention to do so: And provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be taken or construed in any way to affect the powers of suspending officers, and of dismissing men for misconduct, vested in the Council by the 152nd section of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," 31 Vic. No. 12.

Exceptional cases.

62. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the employment, as may be from time to time found necessary, and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Municipality.

Bonds for good conduct.

63. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties, shall be deposited with the Attorney or Bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

64. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which by the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and the "Municipalities Act of 1867 Amendment Act of 1874," or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Municipality under the provisions of the said Municipalities Acts. He shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of the Mayor, and shall make a half-yearly return of the revenue and expenditure.

Duties of other officers or servants.

65. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation, in addition to the duties which by the present or any other By-laws thereunder may be required to perform, shall be defined by such regulations as may from time to time and in accordance with law be made.

Special powers of Mayor.

66. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement, shall have been already prepared or such return or statement, explanation, or information, already given and on record, or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden and dispensed with the preparation of such return or statement, or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded. All such explanations or information may be either rendered viva voce, or put into writing as the Mayor may direct.

Complaints against officers.

67. All complaints against officers or servants of the Corporation must be in writing, addressed to the Mayor, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining. And no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing, or which is anonymous. And such complaint as aforesaid shall be laid by the Mayor before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be holden after the Mayor shall have received the same, and shall be duly recorded.

Public Amusements.

Places of amusement to be licensed.

68. No dancing saloon, bowling, or skittle alley, shooting gallery, public billiard or bagatelle table, or similar place of amusement (other than entertainments requiring to be licensed by law), shall exist or be established within the Municipality, unless and until such place of amusement shall have been licensed by the Council as hereinafter provided; and in the event of any such licensed place of amusement being improperly conducted or becoming a nuisance, or an annoyance to any inhabitant, or violating public decency, or endangering the public peace, the Mayor shall, on representation to that effect being made, forthwith suspend the said license, and the Council at its next meeting shall, by resolution, cause the said license to be cancelled or otherwise as may appear necessary or desirable; and any person or persons having already established such places of amusement who shall not within thirty days after these By-laws come into force apply for such license, or any person or persons who shall open, establish, or maintain any such place of amusement as aforesaid, without having obtained such license, shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds and not more than fifty pounds.

Mode of granting licenses.

69. Applications for licenses as aforesaid must be in writing, addressed to the Mayor and Aldermen, and must be indorsed by two responsible householders, testifying to the respectability of applicant. The application must describe clearly the nature of the entertainment for which the license is sought, and the premises in which it is to be held.

License fees.

70. Licenses shall be granted by resolution of the Council upon payment of license fees, as follows:—For every license granted between the 1st January and 1st of July, one pound one shilling, and between the 1st July and 31st December, ten shillings and sixpence. All licenses shall expire on the 31st December in each year, and may be renewed by resolution of the Council upon written application, and on payment of the annual fee of one pound one shilling.

71. Licenses shall be issued by the Town Clerk to every person applying to be licensed to hawk or vend with a cart, dray, waggon, truck, or other vehicle, on payment for the same of a fee of ten shillings; and to every person applying to be licensed to hawk or vend with a pack or basket, on payment of a fee of two shillings and sixpence; and every such license shall be in force until the 31st day of December, then next following the date thereof; and the Town Clerk shall keep a register of the names of all such licensed hawkers. But if any such license shall be issued after the 30th June in any year only half of the above fees shall be charged.

No exhibition, &c., on Sundays, &c.

72. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusements on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Processions, parades, &c.

73. Any person desiring to organize or carry out any procession or parade, in any street within the Municipality, shall first apply to the Mayor for the time being for permission for such purpose; and if any person shall organize or head any procession or parade of any kind within or along any of the said streets, for which the permission, in writing, of the Mayor has not been obtained, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and any person who shall join, or take part in any such procession, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds. This by-law shall not apply to any Volunteer Military Corps or Fire Brigade, the members whereof shall be in uniform and in charge of an officer of such corps or brigade.

Public exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

74. No exhibition, otherwise than hereinafter provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the said Municipality, nor shall any bowling-alley, or other place of public amusement other than licensed as hereinafter provided, be held or kept within the Municipality, unless and until the same shall be duly registered, as hereinafter prescribed.

75. It shall and may be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition other than those required to be licensed as hereinafter provided, and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week; and in like manner, to allow any land belonging to the Council to be used for public amusement other than entertainments required to be licensed as hereinafter provided, for one week: Provided always that no such permission shall be given to the injury of any property of the Council, and that it shall be incumbent on such Mayor to inquire strictly into the nature of such exhibitions seeking the permission aforesaid before granting the same, and, in case of any exhibition or amusement being held to be opposed to public decency or endangering the peace of the public, the Mayor shall have power to peremptorily order the nuisance to be abated, under a penalty of forty shillings for every day such exhibition shall be so held; and it shall be lawful for the Mayor to levy a tax of not more than one pound per diem upon any temporary exhibition or amusement which, in his opinion, should contribute to the Municipal revenue.

76. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusements proposed to be conducted as aforesaid in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier; and every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land, who permits any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for a longer period than one week in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration, as hereinafter mentioned, having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence not less than one pound, nor more than twenty pounds.

Registration Fee.

77. For every such registration as aforesaid the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Town Clerk, for the benefit of the said Municipality a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the 31st day of December then next ensuing, and no longer.

Change of Occupancy.—Transfer Fee.

78. The person in whose name the building or ground as aforesaid shall be registered, or the person to whom the Mayor shall grant a temporary license, shall be deemed the occupier of such building or land for all purposes of these By-laws; and any change of occupancy shall be forthwith notified to the Town Clerk, and the Council may sanction the transfer of the license to the new occupier, and shall charge for such transfer the fee of five shillings.

Swine, &c., not to wander about the streets.

79. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure, situate and being in or within forty yards of any street or public place within the Municipality, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of the like nature belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road or public place within the said Municipality shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings, and to be made liable for damages.

Stables, cow-sheds, and pig-styes.

80. The occupier of any land within the Municipality of Burrowa on which there shall be erected any stable, cow-yard, cattle-shed, or pig-stye, shall cause such premises to be kept in such a state, in respect of cleanliness, as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and shall cause all dung, soil, or manure produced or accumulated thereon to be collected in a place (to be approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances) in the yard of such premises, and to be there in an inoffensive condition, and so as not to be productive of any nuisance; and shall cause such dung, soil, or other manure to be, from time to time, removed from such premises, as often as the quantity of the same so collected or accumulated shall amount to two cubic yards. And if at any time the owner or occupier of any such premises, shall neglect or fail to have such dung, soil, or other manure removed therefrom as aforesaid, the same shall be removed by the Inspector of Nuisances, at the expense of such occupier.

Water Closets.

Cleansing of privy cesspools.

81. The occupier of every house, building, or tenement within the Municipality of Burrowa, shall cause every privy cesspool thereon to be emptied and cleansed from time to time, so soon as any portion of the contents of such cesspool shall have so accumulated therein as to be within a distance of one foot from the top of the wall, sides, or lining of such cesspool: Provided that the contents of any privy shall not be removed or discharged therefrom except between the hours of ten (10) p.m. and five (5) a.m.: And provided also that the contents of any privy or cesspool shall not be removed or discharged therefrom until such contents shall have had mixed therewith a quantity of chloride of zinc, carbolic acid, common salt, or some other efficient deodorizer sufficient to effectually deodorize and disinfect the same.

Where cesspools are not provided.

82. The occupier of every house, building, or other tenement on or in which the privy or closet belonging thereto shall not be provided with a cesspool, constructed in accordance with the provisions of the preceding By-law (No. 81), shall at all times cause to be kept in such privy or closet a supply of dry powdered earth, ashes, charcoal, lime, or other material efficient for deodorizing night-soil; and shall cause all night-soil which may be deposited in any box, pan, bucket, or other receptacle in such privy or closet to be immediately, on the deposit thereof, covered with a quantity of dry powdered earth, or other deodorizing material as aforesaid, sufficient to thoroughly and effectually deodorize the contents of such bucket, pan, or other receptacle.

83. No closet shall be erected except in such position as shall be approved of by the Council, or by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council.

Deposit of rubbish, manure, &c.

84. No person shall deposit, or cause or suffer to be deposited in or by the side of any street, or on any road, street, or right-of-way, lane, passage, water-channel, or gutter, or in any creek, river, or reservoir, or in any other public place within the Municipality of Burrowa (not being a manure depot duly appointed by the Municipal Council of Burrowa as a place for the deposit of manure, rubbish, or other such refuse matter) any dust, mud, ashes, rubbish, filth, offal, manure, liquid manure, dung, or soil, and no person shall deposit, or cause or suffer to be deposited on any land, field, or garden within the Municipality of Burrowa any night-soil, blood, offal, or other offensive matter or thing without the written consent of the Mayor or Council, and any such offensive matter or thing which shall with such consent of the said Mayor or Council be so deposited, shall be immediately on the deposit thereof covered over by the person depositing the same with such a quantity of earth as will at once prevent the escape of any noxious or offensive effluvia from any such manure, soil, or other offensive matter before mentioned: Provided that nothing contained in this By-law shall be construed or taken to prevent the use as manure, for any garden or land, of the contents of any earth-closet, or any other privy or closet where such contents are deposited on any such field or land in a perfectly deodorized state, and so as not to cause nuisance or offence either at the time of the deposit of such contents or afterwards.

Stables and Nuisances not removed on complaint, &c.

85. In case any privy, stable, cow-yard, pig-stye, or any other enclosure, place, or thing within the said Municipality shall be or become a nuisance, or shall be so close to a dwelling-house as to become a nuisance or injurious to the health of the inhabitants, it shall be lawful for the Council, by notice in writing, to order that such privy, stable, cow-yard, pig-stye, or other place or thing, being a nuisance or injurious to health, be remedied or removed off the premises within seven days after such notice shall have been given to the owner or occupier of the premises wherein such nuisance shall exist, or shall have been left for such owner or occupier at his or her last or usual place of abode, or on the said premises; and every such owner or occupier neglecting to remedy or remove such nuisance shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Drains, &c.

86. All drains whatsoever, and the water-closets, earth-closets, privies, cesspools, and ash-pits within the Municipality of Burrowa shall be constructed so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so as that there shall be no overflow, soakage, or leakage therefrom, and every cesspool within the said Municipality, which shall be formed or made below the surface of the ground, shall be also constructed so as that the water-tight walls or sides thereof shall project on all sides at least six inches above the surface of the ground in which such cesspools shall be formed or made.

Drains in Footpaths and Slopes, &c.

87. No surface drain shall be made in any footpath, nor any pipes laid under or across the same, without the authority of the Council; and no such drain shall be used for the discharge into any street or roadway of any offensive liquid or matter of any kind whatsoever; and any person who shall offend against this By-law, or any owner, occupier, or tenant from whose premises suds, offensive matter, slops, or filth shall flow over or on any footway, watercourse, street, or lane shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Natural Watercourses.

88. Any person who shall close or intercept, or keep closed or intercepted, any natural watercourse, by building or otherwise, shall provide another outlet for the surface water with pipes or sewers of a size and in a manner to be approved of by the Council; and any person closing or intercepting any such watercourse, and failing to comply with the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds, and each day that such watercourse shall be closed or intercepted shall be a new offence.

Stacking hay or straw.

89. No person shall stack any hay or straw, otherwise than in an enclosed building, nearer than two hundred feet to any building or public way, under a penalty not exceeding (£10) ten pounds.

Live coals or hot ashes.

90. Any person throwing hot ashes or live coals adjacent to any buildings or fences shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds and not less than one pound.

Setting fire to chimneys.

91. Every person who wilfully sets or causes to be set on fire any chimney, flue, smoke vent, or stove-pipe, herein called in common chimney, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Burning shavings, &c., in the street.

92. Any person who shall burn any shavings, rubbish, or any other matter or thing, in any road, street, lane, or public place within the said Municipality, or who shall, within ten yards of any dwelling-house, burn rags, bones, corks, or other offensive substance, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Placards not to be affixed on walls without consent.

93. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard or other paper upon any wall, house, fence, or other erection, or deface any such wall, house, fence, or erection, with chalk, paint, or other matter, unless with the consent of the owner thereof; and every person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall pay a sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Water carts to be kept full.

94. Every owner of a cart or carts supplying water to the citizens for payment shall in each year take out a license for each cart, at the office of the Town Clerk, such license to be signed by the Mayor, and to be in force until the 31st December in each year. A register to be kept by the Town Clerk of all licenses issued, and a fee of five shillings per annum for each registration to be paid upon application.

95. Every owner and driver of a licensed water-cart shall keep such cart loaded with water during all times after sunset and before sunrise, and shall, if any building, premises, or property be on fire within the Municipality, attend at the place of such fire with such cart loaded with water, and, failing to comply with the provisions of this section, shall forfeit a sum not less than five shillings and not exceeding five pounds.

Licensed water carts.

96. Any person hawking or carrying water for sale or hire, otherwise than in a licensed water-cart as aforesaid, shall upon conviction be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound.

Vehicles to be licensed.

The following shall be the regulations for public vehicles :

97. All carriers and owners of vehicles plying or carrying passengers or goods for hire or reward within the said Municipality shall have their vehicles licensed by the Council, and the owners shall have their names painted in legible letters with the word "licensed" on some conspicuous part of such vehicles respectively. The license fee shall be at the rate of ten shillings per wheel, and be in force until the 31st December in each year. And every person driving any unlicensed vehicle with passengers, goods, or loading of any description for hire or reward, or who shall omit or fail to comply with the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings.

98. No person shall act as the driver or the conductor of any such vehicle, within the Municipality of Burrowa, unless licensed in the manner hereinafter described, and paying the fee for such license as provided for in Schedule D.

99. Before any license for plying a vehicle, or to drive or conduct the same, shall be granted, the party requiring such license shall obtain from the Council Clerk, free of charge, requisition in form of Schedule I hereto, or to the like effect, and shall duly fill up and sign the same, and deliver it to the Council Clerk.

100. No license shall be granted in respect of any vehicle which, in the opinion of the Mayor and By-law Committee, shall be unsafe, or in bad repair, or otherwise unfit for the accommodation and conveyance of passengers.

101. Licenses for proprietors and drivers of vehicles shall be in form of Schedule H hereto, or to the like effect.

102. When a licensed vehicle shall be under repair, if the proprietor shall so desire, he may be permitted to substitute another for a period to be hereby specified by endorsement on the license under the hand of the Council Clerk.

103. No license shall be granted to any person to drive any vehicle unless he be 16 years of age or over.

104. All licenses shall be made out by the Council Clerk, and numbered consecutively.

105. No proprietor shall be at liberty to part with or lend his license, nor to part with his licensed vehicle, to any person without the knowledge and approval of the Mayor and By-law Committee, and the registry of the name of the purchaser in the books of the Council.

106. The person or persons in whose name or names a license shall appear to have been obtained shall be deemed the owner of the vehicle in respect of which the same shall have been taken out.

107. The Mayor and By-law Committee may revoke any license to the proprietor or driver of any vehicle granted under this part of these By-laws whenever they shall think fit. Provided, however, such proprietor or driver shall have an opportunity to show cause against such revocation.

108. The Mayor and By-law Committee shall, as often as they deem it necessary, cause an inspection to be made of all licensed vehicles or of any such vehicles, and of the harness and horse or horses used in drawing the same ; and if any such vehicle, horse or horses, or harness, shall at any time be found by them unfit for public use, notice of the same shall be given by the Inspector of Vehicles to the proprietor of such vehicle ; and if after such notice he shall use or let to hire such vehicle, or suffer the same to be used or let, until the same or the harness or horse or horses used in drawing the same, as the case may require, shall be in a fit condition for public use, the said Committee may suspend, for such time as they may deem proper, the license of such vehicle ; and in case any person shall neglect or refuse to attend with his licensed vehicle before the said Committee when called upon for the purpose of having the same inspected, the said Committee may suspend the license of such vehicle.

109. The number of the license granted for every omnibus or car, in figures not less than three inches in height, and for every carriage or cab in figures not less than two inches in height, white upon a black ground, shall be painted outside on a pannel of the door of such vehicles, or on a plate or plates affixed thereon.

110. No omnibus shall ply for hire within the said Municipality, unless there shall be painted the number of the license of such vehicle, and the number of persons such vehicle is licensed to carry according to these By-laws in words at length, in the following form, that is to say—Licensed to carry inside, and outside.

111. Any person having taken his or her seat in any licensed vehicle, and not paying the fare when demanded at the beginning of the ride, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay to the owner or driver of such omnibus or car such amount of over damages, cost and expenses for loss of time or otherwise, as the convicting Justices shall in their discretion think proper.

112. Every driver, whilst engaged in taking up or setting down any passenger, shall, during such taking up or setting down, place his vehicle as near as conveniently may be to that side of the street, and at a line with the kerb-stone or edge of the footpath, at which the taking up or setting down is required.

113. The driver of every licensed vehicle shall be constantly attendant upon the same when standing, or whilst plying or engaged for hire.

114. Every licensed vehicle plying or engaged after sunset shall be provided with a light on each side, and shall keep the same lighted until sunrise, if so long plying or engaged.

115. The owner of every licensed vehicle at the time of obtaining the license for the same, and every driver of any such vehicle at the time of registering his license, shall, without any charge, have a printed copy of this part of these By-laws delivered to him, certified by the signature of the Council Clerk.

116. Such person or persons as may from time to time be in that behalf appointed by the Council shall be Inspector or Inspectors, during the pleasure of the said Council, of all licensed vehicles plying for hire within the Municipality, and such Inspector or Inspectors shall every three months examine all such vehicles, and report to the Mayor and By-law Committee, and shall at all times see that, as far as possible, these By-laws are duly observed.

117. No person suffering from any infectious disease shall ride in or upon any licensed vehicle, and no driver or conductor shall knowingly carry or permit to be carried any such person, or (except to some police office or watch-house) any corpse, or any person in a state of intoxication, or who is so noisily or violently conducting himself or otherwise so misbehaving as to occasion any annoyance or to disturb the public peace ; and no passenger shall carry on any licensed passenger-carrying vehicle any animal or any substance of any offensive character, or that might soil or damage the vehicle or the apparel of other passengers, and no driver or conductor shall sleep in or upon any licensed vehicle, or use the same for eating his meals therein.

118. All hackney carriages and cabs carrying passengers shall (except when turning street corners, or going over crossings) proceed at a speed of not less than six miles an hour, unless when attending funerals, or when otherwise ordered by the hirer.

119. The driver of any licensed vehicle shall not stand or loiter at any place in any public street within the said Municipality excepting he be bonâ fide waiting for a passenger.

120. The places specified in Schedule G hereto annexed are hereby respectively appointed public stands for licensed vehicles. The Council may, by resolution, from time to time as they may see fit, alter the position of such stands or increase their number.

121. The fares payable by persons hiring licensed vehicles shall be those provided for in Schedule E hereto annexed.

122. The fees payable by persons hiring van or dray shall be those provided for in Schedule F hereto annexed.

123. Copies of Schedule E shall be placed in each licensed vehicle by the proprietors thereof, in such a position to be easily seen by passengers.

124. For every offence against the provisions of this part of these By-laws to which no specific penalty has been attached herein, the offender shall pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

125. Whenever the word "vehicle" shall be used in this part of these By-laws, the same shall be understood to apply to either an omnibus, car, hackney-carriage, or cab ; and an omnibus shall be meant to be a vehicle upon four wheels drawn by one or more horses ; and a car is a vehicle upon two wheels drawn by one horse, and for which omnibus licenses have been taken out ; and a hackney-carriage shall mean a vehicle upon four wheels, drawn by two or more horses ; and a cab, a vehicle upon two wheels for which hackney-carriage licenses have been taken out.

Vehicles to carry lights after dark.

126. Every carriage, cart, dray, buggy, or other wheeled vehicle usually drawn by horses, which shall be in or upon any street, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality earlier in the day-time than one hour before sun-rise or later in the night-time than one hour after sun-set shall have attached to it one or more sufficient lights which shall be kept burning conspicuously in order to prevent collisions and accidents.

Signboards and other obstructions

127. It shall not be lawful for any signboard or other obstruction of any kind to be erected across the footpaths, except with the consent of the Council, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds and not less than one pound.

Public Health.

Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

128. If upon the certificate of any duly qualified medical practitioner it appears to the Council that any house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in such filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the white-washing, cleansing, purifying, or fumigating of any house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice, in writing, to the owner or occupier of such house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to white-wash, cleanse, purify, or fumigate the same, as the case may require; and if the person to whom the notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within the time specified in the said notice he or she shall be liable to a penalty of not less than forty shillings first offence nor more than ten pounds: Provided that each day during which such house shall, after such notice as aforesaid, remain uncleansed or unfumigated shall be a separate offence. Provided also that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than ten pounds.

Exposing infected articles.

129. No kind of rubbish or offensive matter shall be thrown upon any public or private property within the Municipality without permission first obtained from the Municipal Council and the owner or owners of such property. Persons found guilty of a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, &c.

130. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipality, and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, fellmongering establishments, and manufactories in the said Municipality, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing of the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, and establishments and manufactories, both within and without, as to him shall feel needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery establishment, or manufactory, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Slaughter-houses.

Inspection of animals, &c.

131. Every Inspector of Slaughter-houses shall, upon receiving information of any cattle having been slaughtered, or of any cattle being intended to be slaughtered, and also in all cases in which notice shall have been given to him, or left at his usual place of residence, of the intention to slaughter any cattle, repair without delay to the place where such slaughtering has taken place, or is intended to be done, and shall examine and inspect the said cattle slaughtered or intended to be slaughtered, and shall take a particular description thereof, with the colour, mark or marks, brand or brands, sex, and apparent age, together with the name or names of owner or owners thereof, and of the time and place of slaughter, which particulars he shall carefully enter, or cause to be entered, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, which book such inspector shall, when required, produce for examination by the Council, or by any person or persons deputed by the Council to make examination thereof.

Notice of intention to slaughter, &c.

132. Every person intending to slaughter any cattle within the limits of the said Municipality shall first give twelve hours' notice in writing to the Inspector of Slaughter-houses of the cattle intended to be so slaughtered, specifying the place and time, under the penalty of five pounds for each and every head of cattle which shall be so slaughtered without such notice having been given as last mentioned, unless it shall be made to appear to the Justices before whom such fine shall be sought to be recovered that such notice could not have been given, and that owing to some unforeseen accident it was necessary that such cattle should have been immediately slaughtered; and in all cases in which any cattle shall have been slaughtered within the said Municipality without having been previously inspected as aforesaid notice thereof shall be immediately given to the said inspector, and the skins of such cattle shall be kept or preserved for three days, and be produced upon demand at the place of slaughter to the inspector for the Municipality, under the penalty of five pounds or every skin so neglected to be preserved and produced.

Where inspection to be made.

133. Every inspection of cattle or sheep shall be made in the yards adjoining a licensed slaughter-house; and the owner or occupier of any such licensed slaughter-house shall keep the melts or spleens and lungs of all animals slaughtered therein for twelve hours after the same have been slaughtered, unless the inspector shall have previously examined such melts, spleens, or lungs, and every owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall neglect or refuse to comply with these provisions, or any of them, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Slaughter of diseased animals.

134. If the owner or occupier of any such slaughter-house shall knowingly cause, permit, or suffer any animal infected with any disease affecting the melt, or spleen, or lungs to be slaughtered in any such slaughter-house, or if, after the slaughter of any animal, it shall be found to be diseased, and such owner or occupier, as soon as the animal is inspected and condemned, shall not immediately thereupon cause the entire carcass to be destroyed by fire in the presence of the inspector, such owner or occupier shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds, nor less than ten pounds: Provided, however, that should the owner of any animal which may be condemned by the inspector object to the decision of that officer, such owner shall be at liberty to appoint some veterinary surgeon or other competent person as arbitrator in his behalf; and in the event of the inspector and such veterinary surgeon or other competent person not agreeing, it shall be

Inspector may enter shops, &c., for certain purposes.

135. Any such inspector may, and he is hereby empowered, at all reasonable times, with or without assistants, to enter into and inspect any shop, building, stall, or place kept or used for the sale of butchers' meat, or as a slaughter-house, and to examine any animal, carcass, meat, or flesh which may be therein; and, in case any animal, carcass, meat, or flesh appear to him to be intended for the food of mankind, and to be unfit for such food, the same may be seized; and if it appear to a Justice of the Peace, upon the evidence of a competent person, that any such animal, carcass, meat, or flesh is unfit for the food of mankind, he shall order the same to be destroyed or to be so disposed of as to prevent its being exposed for sale or used for such food; and the person to whom such animal, carcass, meat, or flesh belongs, or in whose custody the same is found, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every animal or carcass, piece of meat or flesh, so found.

Cleansing of slaughter-houses.

136. Every slaughter-house within the said Municipality shall be thoroughly washed and cleansed within one hour after any animal shall have been slaughtered therein; and the blood, offal, and filth of all such animals as may be slaughtered in any slaughter-house, or in the premises or appurtenances thereto belonging, shall be removed once at least in every twenty-four hours; and any owner or occupier of any slaughter-house who shall neglect to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay, on conviction for every such offence before any two or more Justices of the Peace in a summary way, any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Slaughtering in unlicensed premises.

137. If any person or persons shall slaughter or cause to be slaughtered any animal in any house or place not licensed for such purpose according to law, such person or persons shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for each and every animal so slaughtered.

Animals slaughtered for home consumption.

138. Nothing in these By-laws contained shall extend to or affect any person or persons slaughtering at his or her or their own residences within the said Municipality, animals for the personal consumption of himself, herself, or themselves, or of his, her, or their family, servants, or labourers: Provided that the place where any such animal so slaughtered be not less than fifty yards from any street or other public place, or from any residence other than the residence of such person or persons so slaughtering, as in the By-law aforesaid.

Streets and public places, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

139. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been examined by the Improvement Committee, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new roads, &c., to be deposited.

140. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan, or plans signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, park, or other place as aforesaid. And he or they shall execute an instrument dedicating such road, street, way, park, or other place as the Council may consider necessary.

Roads and streets, and encroachments thereon, &c.

141. The surveyor of the Municipality, or other proper officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for making out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out, when and where necessary in the opinion of the Council or Improvement Committee, the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot-ways thereof which now are, or shall hereafter, be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. And it shall be the duty of such surveyor or officer to place posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage, and 12 feet for the footway on each side, where the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide, and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council, of any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than 66 feet: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided.

Change of street levels.

142. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the street level of any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cuttings to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality that such plan is so open to inspection, and no objection thereto shall be entertained by the Council unless made within twenty-one days after such notice shall have been given. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk, and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Footways may be levelled.

143. The surveyor may cause all footways to be levelled, and made as nearly as practicable of equal height and breadth and with an equal slope and inclination; and for this purpose may remove any flagging, steps, or other matter, thing, or obstruction that may injure or obstruct the said footway, or render it unequal or inconvenient, and which now is or may hereafter be erected or placed on the space marked out for any of the said footways.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs.

144. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such committee, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purposes; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

No encroachment allowed on streets, &c.

145. Whenever any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare has been marked out in manner herein provided, no house, shop, fence, or other structure shall be allowed, except as hereinafter mentioned, to project or encroach on any part thereof; and it shall not be lawful for any person, unless for any temporary or other purpose permitted by the Council, to erect or put up any building, erection, obstruction, fence, or enclosure, or make any excavation, or hole, on or near such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, unless due notice of the same shall have been given to the Council of the Municipality at least one week before any such building, erection, obstruction, fence, or enclosure, excavation, or hole, as aforesaid, shall be commenced to be erected or put up or made, and the assent of the Council first obtained. Any person or persons offending against this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than forty shillings; and on every successive conviction for a similar offence shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than five pounds.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

146. The Surveyor or other officer of the Council may at any time, on the order of the Council, give seven days' notice in writing, directing the removal of any building, fence, sign-board, obstruction, encroachment, or erection of any kind, in and upon any reserve, road, street, lane, footway, thoroughfare, or place, under the charge of the Council, and such notice shall be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such erection, obstruction, or encroachment belongs, or who has erected the same, or caused it to be erected; and shall state that in the event of such notice not being complied with within ten days the work will be done at the risk and expense of the person served with such notice. And in any case where, after service of notice as aforesaid, the person served shall not comply therewith it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same under the superintendence of its officer, and the cost thereof to be recovered from the person so served as aforesaid; and the person neglecting to comply with such notice shall, in addition to the cost of removal, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty-five pounds nor less than one pound; and in case of every successive offence the penalty on conviction shall not be less than five pounds.

No balcony, &c., to project more than 18 inches.

147. It shall not be lawful for any awning, verandah, portico, balcony, coping, parapet, overhanging eaves, cornice, windows, stringcourse dressing, or other erection or construction of any kind, to project more than eighteen inches beyond the alignment of any street, road, or thoroughfare, except with the consent of the Council first obtained, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Or may proceed by action.

148. Notwithstanding the above By-law the Council shall be at liberty to proceed by action for trespass in respect of any such excavation, obstruction, or encroachment.

To apply also to obstructions by Digging, &c.

149. The provisions, remedies, and penalties contained in the last two By-laws shall apply in all cases of obstruction, injuries, or encroachments by excavating under, digging, or taking away any portion of any reserves, road, fence, street, lane, footway, thoroughfare, or place within the Municipality or under the charge of the Council.

Persons obstructing overseer, &c.

150. Any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the surveyor or other officers of the Council, on any person acting for or under him or them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Public Property.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

151. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every expense any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

152. Any person who shall damage any building, toll-gate, toll-bar, toll-board, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, watercourse, or other public property within the said Municipality, shall pay the cost for repairing the same, and if such damage be wilfully done shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Planting trees.

153. Upon any ratepayer applying to the Council to have trees planted opposite his or her premises, on any street or road within the Municipality, and such ratepayer paying to the Council the sum of ten shillings for each tree, the Council may direct the Works Committee to have such trees planted at the cost of the Council.

Damaging trees.

154. Any person who shall wilfully and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood, growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Obstructing public pathways.

155. That the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipality who shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any path or footway on the side of any such street or road, so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and who on demand made by the Council, or their overseer or inspector, shall not cut, or cause to be cut, lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants to the height of eight feet at least, the said Council and their servants, labourers, and workmen may cut, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and to remove or burn any portion of such trees, plants, or shrubs so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist, or in any manner forcibly oppose, the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," every person so offending, shall on conviction, for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &c.

156. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials; and every person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for twenty-four hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a second offence against this By-law.

Inflammable Fences, &c.

157. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as or for the covering of any such stack any inflammable material, so as to endanger contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit on conviction for every such offence a penalty of not more than five pounds, and fails to remove such fence, stack, or covering, within a reasonable time after such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a second offence against this By-law.

Setting fire to matter without notice.

158. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever in the open air, within five yards of any dwelling-house or other building or boundary or dividing fence within the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the land adjoining the land upon which such matter is, that it is his or her intention so to do, or between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day, and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Wilful trespass.

159. Every person who shall wilfully let in or knowingly suffer to enter upon the reserves or public recreation ground any animals without due authority shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Penalty for destroying boundary marks.

160. Any person pulling down, destroying, defacing, or injuring any marks, or any fence, or other erection without the authority of the Council, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds or less than one pound.

Erection of houses, &c.

161. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place in the Borough without first serving notice, in writing, on the Mayor or Council Clerk, on any lawful day, between the hours of eight o'clock a.m. and eight o'clock p.m., stating such intention, and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and without having received an authority from the Mayor or Council Clerk, who will give the required level and alignment, if in a proclaimed street, on a payment of a fee of ten shillings. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building line in any street, or lane, by the erection of houses, verandahs, doorsteps, fences, or any other obstruction whatever.

Houses, &c., to be spouted.

162. All proprietors of houses within the Municipality having a frontage to any main thoroughfare shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with down pipe, to be carried under the surface of the footpath into the gutter, under a penalty of ten shillings on conviction; and if not remedied at the expiration of seven days after such conviction the offender shall be again liable to a like conviction and penalty also for every succeeding seven days.

Using bark for building in the main thoroughfares.

163. No person shall erect any building of bark or roofed with that material or with calico within the populous parts of the town, except by express permission of the Council, and then for a temporary purpose only; any person so offending shall on conviction be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten

164. Any person who shall bathe near or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public wharf, quay, bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Municipality, between the hours of seven in the morning and eight in the evening, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of person.

165. Any individual who shall offend against decency, by exposure of his or her person in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or in the view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Blasting Rock.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

166. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street or public place or dwelling-house in the said Municipality, shall give notice in writing, twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same shall take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast or cause to be blasted any rock within the limits aforesaid without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the said Council Clerk, he or she shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters, cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

167. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter especially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses—Expenses authorized to be reported—Outlay to be in accordance with the orders of the Council.

168. For emergent matters, and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlay to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Works, or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor, for necessary current expenses, to the extent of ten pounds.

Provided that in every case, a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting, such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works, or the Mayor.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

169. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee, before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order—Certificates to be attached to report.

170. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate or memorandum from the Committee or Mayor, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons for its non-fulfilment, before recommending payment. And provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers, employed at fixed rates of payment by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for payment of such amount shall be a sufficient authorization for such payment.

Common seal and records of the Council—Common seal and press, how secured—Care of same.

171. The common seal, and the press to which the same is attached, shall be secured by a cover or box, which—except when such seal and press are in use—shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock of this cover or box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor, and the other by the Council Clerk. Such common seal and press shall be in the custody and care of the Council Clerk.

When and how common seal to be used.

172. The common seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How books of account, &c., be kept.

173. All books, deeds, memorials, letters, documents, and other records of the Council, except as hereinafter mentioned, shall be kept at the Council Chambers, in the custody and care of the Council Clerk, who shall be responsible for the safe custody of the same, but the Mayor or Council Clerk may for any special purpose authorize their removal.

Books, &c., not to be shown or exposed to view without leave

174. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to show, lay open, or expose any of the books, papers, or records of the Council to any person not a member of the Council, without the written permission of the Mayor. Any member or officer who shall commit a breach of this section shall be liable on conviction to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than two pounds: Provided always that the rate-books shall at all reasonable times be open for inspection by ratepayers.

Records not to be removed

175. Any person removing any such book, paper, or record from the Council Chambers, without leave from the Mayor or Council Clerk, in writing first had and obtained, shall be subject to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have received such book, paper, or record, and shall not have returned the same, to prosecution for stealing such book, paper, or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same, as the circumstances of the case may warrant.

GENERAL BY-LAWS.

Cellars or Openings, &c.

Cellars or openings beneath footways prohibited.

176. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any cellar or any opening, door, or window in or beneath the surface of the footway of any road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or other public place within the said Municipality; and if any person shall offend in the premises he shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds over and above the expense of remedying or removing any such cellar, opening, door, or window, such expense to be assessed and allowed by the convicting Justice or Justices, provided that such expense and penalty shall not together exceed fifty pounds.

Wells to be covered.

177. Every person who shall have a well situated between his or her dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof and any street or footway within the limits of the Municipality, or at the side thereof, or in any yard or place open and exposed to such street or footway, shall, within the space of three calendar months from the 1st of August, 1887, cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having such well as aforesaid, shall fail to cover and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open or uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Throwing of orange-peel or other substances on the footpaths.

178. Any person who shall cast or throw orange-peel, or any other vegetable substances, or any offensive or noxious substance, upon any footpath within the Municipality shall forfeit and pay for each offence a fine not exceeding ten shillings.

For Preventing obstructions of any Streets or Footways.

179. Any person congregating with others in any street or footway within the city so as to obstruct the free passage and traffic through, along, or upon the same, who shall refuse or neglect to move on so as to cease from and discontinue such obstruction upon being requested so to do by any police-constable or officer, or by any inspector or other officer of the Corporation, such person so offending shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than five shillings and not exceeding forty shillings.

Driving or Riding on Footway.

180. 181. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing, in or upon the carriage-way or footway of any street or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or so near to any such street or other public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow up or over or be on any or either of any such carriage or footway, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, handbarrow, or truck, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound for each such offence.

Riding and driving round corners, &c.

182. Any person who shall ride or drive round the corner of any road, street, or lane within the said Municipality at a faster pace than a walk shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

183. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Placarding or chalking on walls, &c.

184. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard or other paper upon any wall, house, footpath, fence, or building within the limits of the said Municipality, nor to deface any such wall, house, or building by chalk or paint or in any other manner; and any person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall, upon the complaint of the owner or occupier of any such wall, house, or building, forfeit and pay, on conviction, the sum of ten shillings.

Trees in streets.

185. The Council shall have power to plant trees, shrubs, and plants in the streets and public ways of this Municipality and any person wilfully injuring or destroying any of such trees, or any railing, fence, or thing protecting the same, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds nor less than one pound, in addition to the value of the trees, railing, fence, or thing so injured.

Fireworks.

186. Every person who, without leave of the Council previously had and obtained, shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or firework upon or within sixty yards of any public or private street or any public place; or who shall sell gunpowder, squibs, rockets, or other combustible matter, by gas, candle, or other artificial light, shall forfeit for every such offence a sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Stacking or Storing Empty Cases in the Open Air.

187. Every person who, being the occupier of, or having the control and use of any vacant land, yard, right-of-way, or passage of whatsoever description within the city shall place, or cause or permit to be placed, or suffer to remain after being placed in the open air on any vacant land, or in any yard, street, right-of-way, or passage, any cases, paper, shavings, or crates whether containing merchandise or not, packed with straw or other inflammable substance, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound and not exceeding ten pounds; and each day's continuance of the same unabated or unremoved shall be deemed a separate offence, and every person so offending shall forfeit and pay a penalty of one pound for every day the nuisance shall remain and continue.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of absence.

188. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman otherwise than by a resolution of Council, adopted after due notice.

Mode of calling for tenders.

189. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any material supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work, or the supply of such material, shall be called for by public notice as hereinafter provided.

Draft of intended By-laws.

190. A draft of every intended By-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by the Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer, who may desire to inspect the same; and public notice shall be given as hereinafter provided, that such draft is so lying for inspection.

(BOROUGH OF WAGGA WAGGA—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10th March, 1890.

BOROUGH OF WAGGA WAGGA.—BY-LAWS.

THE undermentioned By-laws, made by the Council of the Borough of Wagga Wagga, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," for the regulation and management of Public Vehicles, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the provisions of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BOROUGH OF WAGGA WAGGA.

BY-LAWS for fixing and locating stands for public vehicles, cars, hackney-carriages, cabs, omnibuses, and passenger-carrying vehicles, and for regulating the management and the fares to be charged by the proprietors, drivers, and conductors of such vehicles:—

1. The places specified in Schedule A hereto annexed are hereby respectively appointed public stands for licensed vehicles. The Council may by resolution from time to time, as they may see fit, alter the position of such stands or locate additional stands.

2. No person suffering from any infectious disease shall ride in or upon any licensed vehicle, and no driver or conductor of such licensed vehicle shall knowingly carry or permit to be carried any such person or (except to some police office or watch-house) any corpse, or any person in a state of intoxication, or who is so noisily or violently conducting himself or otherwise so misbehaving as to occasion any annoyance or to disturb the public peace; and no passenger shall carry on any licensed passenger-carrying vehicle any animal or any substance of any offensive character, or that might soil or damage the vehicle or the apparel of other passengers, and no driver or conductor shall sleep in or upon any licensed vehicle or use the same for eating his meals therein.

3. The driver of any hackney-carriage or cab carrying passengers shall (except when turning street-corners or going over crossings) proceed with such hackney-carriage or cab at a speed of not less than six miles an hour, unless when attending funerals, or when otherwise ordered by the hirer.

4. The driver of any licensed vehicle shall not stand or loiter at any place in a public street within the said Borough excepting he be bona fide waiting for a passenger.

5. The fares payable by persons hiring licensed passenger-carrying vehicle shall be according to the scale fixed by Schedule B hereto annexed.

6. Copies of Schedule B shall be placed in each licensed vehicle by the proprietors thereof in such a position as to be easily seen by passengers.

7. For every offence against the provisions of this part of these By-laws to which no special penalty has been attached the offender shall pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

8. Whenever the word "vehicle" shall be used in this part of these By-laws the same shall be understood to apply to either an omnibus, car, hackney-carriage or cab; and an omnibus shall be meant to be a vehicle upon four wheels drawn by two or more horses; and a hackney-carriage shall mean a vehicle upon four wheels drawn by one or more horses; and a cab, a vehicle upon two wheels drawn by one horse.

9. No proprietor or driver of any hackney-carriage or cab within the said Borough shall demand, receive, or take more than the several fares or sums mentioned or set forth in the Schedule B to these By-laws, or such other sums as the Council of the said Borough shall from time to time determine or appoint in substitution thereof as hereinafter provided; and every proprietor, driver, or conductor failing to comply with this By-law shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty or sum of not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

10. No driver of any hackney-carriage or cab shall refuse to take up any passenger or passengers unless already engaged for hire, nor refuse to convey such passenger or passengers to such place or places within the said Borough as he, she, or they may reasonably desire; and every person failing to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty or sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

11. No driver of any licensed vehicle shall be or remain at such a distance from his horse or horses, while attached to his vehicle, anywhere within the said Borough as not to have immediate and full control over the same; and every person so doing shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty or sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

12. The owner of every cab or hackney-carriage must provide, and the driver is bound to give every passenger on demand a printed ticket containing a copy of Schedule B of these regulations, and on such ticket there shall be written or printed the number of the vehicle and the owner's name and address.

13. The driver of any cab or hackney-carriage who shall stand with his vehicle at any place within the Borough which is not included in Schedule A hereto, or has not been fixed or determined by resolution of the Council to be a Stand within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding sixty shillings.

SCHEDULE A.

No. 1 Stand: For cabs.—On the north-eastern side of Fitzmaurice-street, from its intersection with Little Gurwood-street to the Commercial Bank.

No. 2 Stand: For cabs and hackney-carriages.—On the north-western side of Little Gurwood-street, from its intersection with Fitzmaurice-street to the lock-up.

No. 3 Stand: For cabs and hackney-carriages.—On the eastern side of Baylis-street, from its intersection with Edward-street to the railway gates.

SCHEDULE B.

Scale of fares to be charged by persons plying cabs and hackney-carriages :—

For any time not exceeding one quarter of an hour, for each passenger 1s.

For every subsequent quarter of an hour or part thereof, for each passenger 1s.

But if engaged for more than one hour then for each passenger, for every additional quarter of an hour or part thereof 9d.

Vehicles to travel at the speed of not less than six miles per hour, except when otherwise ordered by the hirer.

Double fare after 10 o'clock p.m.

For journey within the Borough, to or from any train arriving at the railway station after midnight, and before 5 o'clock a.m., for each passenger 2s. 6d.

The above By-laws were passed at a duly convened meeting of the Borough Council of Wagga Wagga, held on the 19th of December, 1889.

BOROUGH OF LITHGOW.—BY-LAWS.

The following By-laws, made by the Council of the Borough of Lithgow under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

PART I.

Meetings of Council.

Ordinary Meetings.

1. The Council shall meet for despatch of business at the hour of 7.30 p.m. every alternate Monday, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case, the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.—Adjournment for want of quorum.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting, to give place to the Mayor if he should arrive at any later hour during meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down, and shall be recorded in the minute book.

Order of Business.

Business of Ordinary Meetings.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings :—

- (1.) The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected, if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
- (2.) Correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
- (3.) Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
- (4.) Reports from Committee and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon.
- (5.) Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council, or any of its Committees or officers, to be made.
- (6.) Motions of which notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
- (7.) Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

4. Provided it shall be competent to the Council at any time, by resolution without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; also, and in like manner, to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business at Special Meetings.

5. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor, or the Alderman at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Business paper for Ordinary Meeting—how prepared.

6. The business paper for every meeting of the Council other than a special meeting shall be made up by the Town Clerk or other person acting as his substitute, not less than forty-eight hours before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy or the substance of every notice of motion, and of every requisition or order as to business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of section 4 of this Part of these By-laws, in the same order as such notice requisition, or direction shall have been received.

Business paper for Special Meeting.

7. The business paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Aldermen calling such meeting.

Summons to Members.

8. The summons to members of the Council of every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How business paper is to be disposed of.

9. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meeting, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with, and such business paper so noted shall be record of the Council.

Notices of motion, &c.

10. All notices of motion and all requisitions from Aldermen, and directions from the Mayor as to the entry of any particular matters of business for the consideration of the Council at its then next or any future meeting, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received; and each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the minute book of the manner in which such matter has been disposed of shall have been duly verified as required by section 1 of clause 3 of this Part of these By-laws: provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

Motions and Amendments.

Motions how to be moved.

11. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed, shall be struck from such business paper and be considered to have lapsed.

Absence of proposed mover.

12. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper shall, as hereinafter provided, be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by the consent of the Council, when it shall be competent for any Alderman present to move it on behalf of the absent Alderman.

Motions to be seconded.

13. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

14. When a motion in Council has been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

15. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall be reduced to writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

16. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amended questions.

17. If an amendment be carried, the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How amendments to be put.

18. Any number of amendments may be proposed on a motion before the Council, and when more than one amendment shall have been moved and seconded, the question shall first be put on the last amendment, then on the next preceding the last, and so on in inverse order to that in which they shall have been moved, unless when such motion or amendment shall relate to the fixing of salaries, rates, or other matters of finance, in which case the lowest sum shall be put first, then the next lowest, and so on to the highest.

Motions for adjournment.

19. No motion for adjournment of the Council shall be discussed; if seconded, such motion shall be put at once; if negatived, no similar motion will be permitted to be made until half-an-hour has elapsed after putting the one that has been negatived, and the subjects on the business paper shall be proceeded with in order.

Motions to be in writing and not withdrawn without leave.

20. The Town Clerk shall put every motion into writing which shall be signed by the mover; and every motion, when seconded and read by the Clerk, shall be considered the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the Council.

Orders of the Day.

Of what Orders of the Day shall consist.

21. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or which the Mayor or Chairman, or any Committee of the Council, shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration, and all such matters may be dealt with by the Council as if due notice of motion had been given in respect thereof.

How they are to be dealt with.

22. The Alderman who has the usual charge of, or who has previously moved in reference to the particular business to which any such order of the day relates, shall be the person called upon to move: Provided that the Mayor or Chairman for the time being may, as to any order of the day entered by his direction, arrange with and call upon any Alderman to move the same.

Petitions.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

23. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions how received.

24. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

How petitions are to be dealt with.

25. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned, or that it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Correspondence.

Duties of Mayor as to correspondence.

26. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council before directing the same to be read as by section 23 of this Part of these By-laws is imposed on Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letters addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Letters sent not to be discussed, but every letter may be subject of motion.

27. No discussion shall be permitted in reference to any letters which have been written and sent by the Mayor or Council Clerk, and copies of which may be read to the Council: Provided, however, that any notice of motion consistent with good order may be entertained with reference to any letters, whether read or not, or with reference to any letters addressed to the Council which the Mayor or presiding Alderman may not have ordered to be read as aforesaid.

Reports from Committees—Minutes from Mayor—Form of report.

28. All reports from Committees shall be written on foolscap paper with a margin of at least one-fourth of that paper, and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or on his behalf by some other member of the same.

Mayor's minutes.

29. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written on paper of the same kind and with the same margin as a report from a Committee, and shall be signed by such Mayor.

Questions and Statements.

Limitations.

30. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order, or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of section 4 of this Part of these By-laws.

Notice to be given.

31. Twenty-four hours' notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto, to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or to documents.

Answer not compulsory.

32. It shall not be compulsory upon any person questioned as aforesaid to answer the question so put to him.

Question to be put without argument, &c.

33. Every such question must be put categorically, without any argument or statement of fact.

Similar provision as to statements.

34. Every such statement must be made without argument.

No discussion on question, &c.—Rights of objection and of subsequent motion reserved.

35. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement, at the time when such question is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question, or reply or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of Debate.

Mode of addressing the Council.

36. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way, or for any other purpose, address observations to the Council, shall, while so doing, stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from so doing by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in a like manner; but in every such case the question so put, and the answer thereto, shall be subject to every legal objection on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations—as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

37. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order as hereinafter provided.

Limitation as to number of speeches, &c.

38. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendments moved thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman, other than the mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion, and on every amendment thereon. No Alderman shall speak longer than fifteen minutes nor oftener than once upon any question other than a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observations than may be necessary for the purposes of such explanation.

Mover and seconder.

39. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Aldermen using offensive expressions to apologize.

40. When any member of the Council shall make use of any language or expression offensive or capable of being applied offensively to any Alderman, the member so offending shall be required to withdraw such language or expression, and to make an apology satisfactory to the Council; and if any Alderman shall refuse to withdraw such language and apologize, he shall be deemed guilty of misconduct, and be liable to a fine of not less than twenty shillings nor more than five pounds.

Adjournment of debate.

41. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

42. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Aldermen may require questions to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

43. Any Alderman may request the matter or question under discussion to be stated or read for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon any such question or matter. No such request or requisition shall be made so as to interrupt any Alderman when speaking.

Mayor or Chairman not to move or second motion, &c., but may address Council thereon.

44. The Mayor or Chairman shall not move any motion or amendment, nor put any question, as provided for by section 4 of this Part of these By-laws, except as is further provided for by section 37 of the same; but such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking (unless as in section 37), but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.

Mayor may call members to order.

45. The Mayor or Chairman for the time being may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order, whenever in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman there shall be a necessity for so doing; and if any Alderman shall so persist as to interfere with the proper conduct of the business of the Council, the Mayor may at once adjourn the said Council meeting to another day.

Decision of points of order.

46. The Mayor or Chairman for the time being, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provision, rule, or practice which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting on the same.

Motion out of order to be rejected.

47. Whenever it shall have been decided as aforesaid that any motion, amendment, or other matter before the Council is out of order, the same shall be rejected.

Mode of Voting.

How questions to be put.

48. The Mayor or Chairman for the time being shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and declare the sense of the Council thereon.

Division.—Penalty for refusing to vote.

49. Any Alderman may call for a division, and the votes shall be taken by a show of hands. In such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman present when a division is called for who shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds.

Committee of whole Council.

Business in Committee.

50. The Council may at any time resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole for the consideration of any matter affecting the Borough, and the business of such Committee of the whole Council shall be conducted according to the rules hereinbefore provided as near as the same shall apply, except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded.

Calls of the Council.

How to be made.

51. A call of the Council may be made by any resolution which may be moved, without previous notice, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before the Council.

Calls to be compulsory in certain cases.

52. No motion, the effect of which if carried would be to rescind any resolution, order, or decision of the Council, shall be entered on the business paper, unless a call of the Council has been duly made and granted for such purpose.

Mode of proceeding.

53. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered shall be moved or considered; and all absent members shall be liable to a penalty of five shillings for such absence, recoverable in a summary manner; provided that the said Council may excuse such absence for any reasonable cause.

Standing Committees.

54. There shall be two permanent Committees, a "Works" and a "Finance" Committee, and these Committees shall be appointed every year by ballot at the first meeting of the Council.

55. The Works Committee shall have the general direction of all works ordered and sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other public places under the care and management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

56. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect or to be likely to affect the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Records of transactions in Committee.

57. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

58. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, within seven days after their appointment.

59. The Chairman of every Committee shall be the convener thereof, or any two members, and may direct the Council Clerk to call meetings whenever he shall think it expedient.

60. Every report of a Committee shall be signed by the Chairman thereof.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters, cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

61. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses—Expenses authorized to be reported—Outlay to be in accordance with the orders of the Council.

62. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

- (1.) By order of the Improvement Committee, or of the Mayor, and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of five pounds.
- (2.) By order of the Mayor, for necessary current expenses, to the extent of ten pounds.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting, such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Improvement Committee or the Mayor.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

63. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order.—Certificates to be attached to report.

64. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate or memorandum from the Committee or Mayor showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons for its non-fulfilment before recommending payment; and provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at fixed rates of payment by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for payment of such amount, shall be a sufficient authorization for such payment.

Custody of records, seal, &c.

65. The common seal and all charters, books, papers, and records of the Council shall be kept in the Council Chambers or office of the Council, in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order for any purpose; and the common seal shall not be used except with the signature of the Mayor.

How books of accounts, &c., be kept.

66. All books, deeds, memorials, letters, documents, and other records of the Council, except as hereinafter mentioned, shall be kept at the Council Chambers, in the custody and care of the Council Clerk, who shall be responsible for the safe custody of the same; but the Mayor or Council Clerk may, for any special purpose, authorize their removal.

67. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to show, lay open, or expose any of the books, papers, or records of the Council to any person not a member of the Council, without the written permission of the Mayor. Any member or officer who shall commit a breach of this section shall be liable, on conviction, to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than two pounds.

68. Any person removing any such books, papers, or records from the Council Chambers without leave from the Mayor or Council Clerk in writing first had and obtained, shall be subject to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have received such book, paper, or record, and shall not have returned the same, to prosecution for stealing such book, paper, or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same as the circumstances of the case may warrant.

69. Every person removing any document or record with such consent as aforesaid shall give a receipt under his hand for every such document, which receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the document or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed.

Penalty for destroying or defacing records.

70. Any person destroying or defacing, or wilfully or improperly altering any books, papers, or records, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

71. A detailed account of all moneys received and of all sums disbursed on behalf of the Council, up to the end of each month, and also the cash-book and bank pass-book, balanced, shall be laid before the Council by the Town Clerk at each monthly meeting, or oftener, if required.

72. Every contractor shall be required to find approved securities for the due performance of his contract.

73. In no case shall the Council accept as surety for the due and faithful performance of any duty or contract, any member of the Council nor any person holding office or employment under the Council.

Officers and Servants.

Notice to Candidates.

74. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council shall take place until notice shall have been given as hereinafter provided, inviting application from qualified candidates for the same.

Mode of appointment.

75. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot, in such mode as may at the time be determined upon, whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Exceptional cases.

76. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the employment, as may be from time to time found necessary, and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Municipality.

Bonds for good conduct.

77. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the attorney or bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Town Clerk.

78. The Town Clerk, in addition to the duties which by the "Municipalities Act of 1867" and the "Municipalities Act of 1867 Amendment Act of 1874," or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Municipality under the provisions of the said Municipalities Acts; he shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council; he shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records; he shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of the Mayor, and shall make a half-yearly return of the revenue and expenditure.

Duties of officers and servants.

79. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation, in addition to the duties which by the present or any other By-laws thereunder they may be required to perform, shall be defined by such regulations as may from time to time and in accordance with law be made.

Special powers of Mayor.

80. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such return or statement, explanation, or information already given and on record, or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statement or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded. All such explanations or information may be either rendered viva voce or put into writing as the Mayor may direct.

How complaints against officers be dealt with.

81. All complaints against officers or servants of the Corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing, or is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the case before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same; and if any such complaint be made to the Council or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to and investigated by the Mayor before it shall be in any way (otherwise than by such reference) ordered upon or dealt with by such Council: Provided at every report, explanation, and information which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaint shall be in writing; and such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation, and his opinion as to what order, if any, ought to be made in connection therewith; and such complaints, with all reports, explanations, and information as aforesaid, in connection therewith, and the Mayor's statement as aforesaid thereon, shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be holden after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the special power conferred upon the Mayor by section 152 of "Municipalities Act of 1867," or any other special power which now is or hereafter may be conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Leave of absence.

82. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or any Alderman otherwise than by a resolution of Council adopted after due notice.

Mode of calling for tenders.

83. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any material supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice as hereinafter provided.

Draft of intended By-laws.

84. A draft of every intended By-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by the Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same; and public notice shall be given as hereinafter provided that such draft is so lying for inspection.

Motions for the rescission of previous orders.

85. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negativing such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been remitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after due notice as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed business.

86. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration shall in such case be resumed at next meeting, at the point where it was so interrupted.

How notices are to be published.

87. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law, such notice shall be given and published by advertising the same in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

88. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, as far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

Suspension of By-laws.

Any of these By-laws relating to or affecting proceedings at meetings of Council may be suspended, pro tempore, in cases of emergency by resolution of the Council.

PART II.

Collection and enforcement of Rates.

Rates when due and payable.

1. All rates levied and imposed by the Council shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council shall by resolution, without any notice of motion, from time to time appoint.

Time and place of payment.

2. All such rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Defaulters.

3. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid within thirty days after the day appointed for payment thereof shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor from time to time with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

4. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to take proceedings to enforce the payment of all rates in default, either by action at law or by issuing warrants of distress upon the goods and chattels of the defaulter.

Bailiff, how appointed.

5. The Bailiff of the Municipality shall be appointed by the Council, and may from time to time be removed by them.

Bailiff to find sureties.

6. The Bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Council to the extent of (£25) twenty-five pounds each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duties of Bailiff.

7. It shall be the duty of the Bailiff to make levies by distraint for the recovery of rates in manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

8. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

9. It shall be lawful for the Bailiff or his deputy, and such assistants as he may take with him, to enter into any part of the land, building, tenement, or other property, in respect of which such rate or rates shall have been made as aforesaid, and to distrain the goods therein or thereon, and to remain in such building, tenement, or other property in charge thereof. And if the sum for which any such distress shall have been made or taken, together with the costs of such distraint, shall not have been paid on or before the expiration of three clear days, the Bailiff or his deputy may, between the hours of eleven in the morning and two in the afternoon, on the next day thereafter, cause the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, to be sold by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the Municipality as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and the costs of such distraint, to the owner of such goods so sold, on demand by such owner; and any person interfering with the said Bailiff in the execution of any of the duties devolving upon him under these By-laws, or hindering or preventing him from delivering to the purchaser thereof any property so sold by the said Bailiff, shall be liable to a penalty of (£5) five pounds.

Inventory.

10. At the time of making a distress, the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the Council Clerk.

Goods may be impounded.

11. The Bailiff on making a distress as aforesaid may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of three days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

12. The owner of the goods or chattels so distrained upon may at his or her option direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold; and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

13. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Deputy.

14. The Bailiff may, with the sanction in writing of the Mayor, or in his absence with the sanction of any two Aldermen of the Municipality, authorize by writing under his hand any person to act temporarily as his deputy; and the person so authorized shall have and exercise all the powers of the Bailiff himself, but the Bailiff and his sureties shall in every case be responsible for the acts of such deputy.

Costs.
 15. There shall be payable to the Bailiff for the use of the Council for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

PART III.

Preventing and extinguishing fires.

Fire or Combustible material, &c.

1. Every person who shall place or knowingly permit to be placed in any house, yard, workshop, outhouses, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds; and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials; and every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for twenty-four hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Inflammable fences, &c.

2. Every person who shall erect any fence or brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as or for the covering of any such stack, any inflammable material, so as to endanger contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit on conviction for every such offence a penalty of not more than five pounds, and also shall remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after such conviction as aforesaid, or shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Setting fire to matter without notice.

3. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever in the open air, within five yards of any dwelling-house or other building or boundary or dividing fence within the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the land adjoining the land upon which such matter shall be, of his intention so to do, or between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Fireworks.

4. Every person who shall light any bonfire, tar barrel, or fireworks upon or within ten yards of any public or private street, or any public place, or shall discharge any fire-arms without lawful cause within two hundred yards of any dwelling within the boundaries, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

5. Any person who shall wilfully set, or cause to be set, on fire any chimney, flue, smoke-vent, or stove-pipe, herein called in common "chimney," within the said Municipality, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Negligently suffering chimneys to be set on fire.

6. If any chimney accidentally catch or be on fire, the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimneys are situated, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings: Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be incurred if such persons prove to the satisfaction of the Justices before whom the case be heard, that such fire was in nowise owing to the omission, neglect, or carelessness, whether with respect to cleansing such chimneys or otherwise, of himself or his servants.

Water-carts attending fires.

7. There shall be paid out of the funds of the said Municipality to the owner of every licensed water-cart, who shall have attended with any water at the place of any fire, as herein provided, and delivered the same as required for the extinguishing such fire, such reasonable compensation as the Council shall by resolution have appointed in that behalf; and also to such owners of such carts as shall have been first and second in order, attended with loads of water, such further sums by way of reward as the Council may by similar resolution have fixed.

PART IV.

Streets and public places, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been examined by a Committee for Works, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new road, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation, through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, park, or other place as aforesaid. If the Council determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans, so signed as aforesaid, shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council, and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, reserve, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Council, and such further instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

The Works Committee to fix street-levels, &c.

3. The Works Committee, or any officer or person acting under the supervision of such Committee, shall, subject to such orders as shall from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, fix and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, and ways within the Municipality, and the carriage and footways thereof; and it shall be the duty of such Committee, officer, or person, to place posts at the corners or intersections of any such public roads and streets, and of the carriage-ways and footways of such roads and streets, wherever the same may be considered necessary or desirable by the Council: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, or way, until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter directed.

Change of street levels.

4. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level more than one foot of any such public road, street, or way, as aforesaid, the Works Committee shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed cuttings and fillings, to be exhibited at the Council Chambers fourteen days, for the information and inspection of the ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating within the Borough that such plan is open for inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman of such meeting, and countersigned by the Council Clerk; and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of Council.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

5. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove, or cause to be removed, any turf, gravel, sand, loam, or other material, in or from any part of the carriage or footway of any street or road, or any reserve or any other public place within the Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council or from the Mayor, or who shall wantonly break up or damage any such carriage or footway, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

No encroachment, &c.

6. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building-line in any street or lane by the erection of houses, verandahs, doorsteps, fences, or any other obstruction whatever; and all proprietors or lessees of houses within the Borough, having a frontage to any main thoroughfare, shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with down-pipes to carry below the level of the footway in the street gutter.

Footways may be levelled.

7. When any footway shall have been marked out in the manner herein directed, the surveyor or other person as aforesaid may cause the same to be levelled and made as nearly as practicable of equal height and breadth, and with an equal slope and inclination, and may remove any flagging, steps, or other matter, thing, or obstruction that may injure or obstruct the said footpath, or render it unequal or inconvenient, and which now is or may hereafter be erected or placed on the space marked out for the said footway.

Temporary stopping of traffic for repairs, &c.

8. The Mayor, or any officer or person acting under the authority of the Council, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by traveling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by destroying or removing any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty and sum not exceeding five pounds.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

9. Any person who shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipality any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place to the injury thereof, or to hang over any part of any such vehicle or barrow, so as to occupy or obstruct the street beyond the breadth of the said vehicle or barrow, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not more than forty shillings, nor less than five shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving carriages, &c., on foot-ways, and throwing filth, &c.

10. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing in or upon the carriage-way or foot-way of any street or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or near to any such street or other public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over or be on any or either of any such carriage or foot-way, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street or public place any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, handbarrow, or truck, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, or do, or cause to be done, any damage to the kerbing, streets, footways, roads, lanes, or gutters of the Municipality shall after conviction forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound for each such offence.

Council may remove encroachments.

11. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment upon any footpath or roadway, the person causing the same shall not remove it within thirty days, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same, under the superintendence of its own proper officer, and at the cost of the person so offending: Providing that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds, or at the Council's option to proceed against the offender for breach of By-law, the penalty not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor be less than five pounds; and in case of every successive offence the penalty on conviction not to be less than five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

12. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment, or to proceed as for a breach of such By-law as aforesaid.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

13. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to obstructions by digging or excavation; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Surveyor or other officer as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him, or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Surveyor or officer, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

No balcony, &c.

14. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any awning, verandah, portico, balcony, coping, parapet, overhanging, eaves, cornice, windows, string-course, dressing, or other architectural decoration forming part of, or attached to any external wall, to project beyond the building line of any street or road, except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony, or any other external projection as aforesaid, which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, except with the consent of the Council first obtained: Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street less than 30 feet wide: Provided also that any person desiring to erect such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Cellars or openings beneath the footways, &c.

15. Any person who shall make any cellar or opening, door or window in or beneath the surface of the footway of any street or public place, unless the plans thereof have been previously submitted to and approved by the Council, and the erections and openings made to the satisfaction of the Council, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay the sum of five pounds over and above the expense of filling up, remedying, or removing such cellar, opening, door, or window, so as the same shall not exceed fifty pounds.

Holes to be enclosed.

16. Any person who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave, or cause to be left, any hole adjoining or near to any street or public place within the said Municipality, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations of any other building or house, or for any other purpose whatsoever; or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same, and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner, to the satisfaction of the surveyor or other officer or person as aforesaid, or shall keep up, or cause to be kept up and continued, any such enclosure for any time longer than shall be necessary, in the opinion of the surveyor or other officer or person as aforesaid, and shall not place lights upon each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning between sunset and sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not less than forty shillings nor exceeding five pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the footways to be enclosed under penalty.

17. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, premises, or land within the said Municipality having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space adjoining the foot-way or public place in such Municipality, or any quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground, or any premises within 6 feet of any such foot-way or public place, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and re-passing; and any such owner or occupier of any house, building, premises, or land having any steps adjoining the foot-way of any such street or public place, shall, in like manner, protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and re-passing; and on failure thereof any such owner or occupier as often as he shall be convicted of such offence, shall forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; and every such owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fences, or other enclosures as aforesaid within one month after any conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Wells to be covered over.

18. Every person who shall have a well situated between his or her dwelling-house, or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or foot-way, or at the side thereof; or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or foot-way within the said Municipality, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having such well as aforesaid shall fail to cover and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the Council, or shall have been left for such person at his or her last known place of abode, or the said premises, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open or uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on footways, &c. Not removing when required. Re-placing the same when after removal. Not to prevent awning being erected in front of shops.

19. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board, (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed or cleansed any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel, in or upon, or over any carriage or foot-way in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or shall set out, lay or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage, upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading and unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set, or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage or foot-way, any timber, stones, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as herein directed), or any other matters or things whatsoever; or, shall hang out or expose, or shall cause, or permit to be hung out or exposed any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house, or other building or premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other building or premises, over or next unto any such street or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being there to required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other proper officers of the Council; or, if any person who having in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid removed or caused to be removed any such stall-board, show-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stones, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other matters or things, shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose or put out, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, exposed, or put out, the same or any of them, or any other stall-board, show-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, goods, timber, stones, bricks, lime, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, truck, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, meat, offal, or other things or matters whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any such carriage or footway, or next unto any such street, or public place as aforesaid; shall, upon conviction, for every such offence, forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings, nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds, nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house, in such manner as that such awning shall be at least ten feet above the height of the foot-way, and that the posts be placed close to the curb-stone or outer edge of such foot-way, and a plan must be submitted to the Council prior to its erection.

Riding on drays, careless driving, &c.

20. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse and driver or guided with reins only excepted); or, if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage or in such a situation, whilst it shall be passing upon such street, that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same; or, if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever meeting any other carriage shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage, on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare; or, if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care upon such street, or by negligence or misbehaviour, prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same; every driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Riding or driving furiously, &c.

21. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street or public place within the said Municipality so negligently, carelessly, or furiously that the safety of any other person shall or may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Swine, &c., not to wander about the streets.

22. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure, situate and being in or within fifty yards of any street or public place within the Municipality, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of the like nature belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or public place, within the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings, and be made liable for damages.

23. Every person driving any vehicle within the Borough between sunset and sunrise shall carry a light on such vehicle in a conspicuous place. Any one offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound.

24. No person shall be allowed to remove loam, sand, gravel, or other material from any reserve or other lands of the Municipality without authority in writing of the Council or their duly authorised officer, under a penalty not exceeding two pounds. Any person offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not less than one pound nor more than forty shillings. The driver of any vehicle shall, for the purpose of the By-law, be held and taken to be the owner thereof until the contrary be shown.

Blasting Rock.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

25. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street or public place or dwelling house in the said Municipality, shall give notice in writing, twenty-four hours previously, to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast or cause to be blasted any rock within the limits aforesaid without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the said Council Clerk, he or she shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Public Property.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

26. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

27. Any person who shall damage any public building, toll-gate, toll-bar, toll-board, wall, parapet, fence, sluice, bridge, culvert, sewer, watercourse, or other public property, within the said Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same, and if such damage be wilfully done, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

28. If any person or persons shall paste or cause to be pasted, or otherwise affix any placard or other paper or chalk or paint upon any wall, house, fence, culvert, kerbstone, pathway, handrail, or other property of the Council, or in any other manner deface the same without authority of the Council, he or they shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such separate offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

29. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood, growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Obstructing public pathways.

30. That the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipality who shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such street or road, so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and who, on demand made by the Council, or their overseer or inspector, shall not cut or cause to be cut, lopped or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs or plants, to the height of eight feet at the least, the said Council, and their servants, labourers, and workmen may cut, or cause to be cut or lopped all such overhanging trees, plants and shrubs and to remove or burn any portion of such trees, plants, or shrubs so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen, in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," every person so offending shall, on conviction for every such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Injuring public fountains, &c.

31. Any person who shall injure any public fountain, pump, cock, waterpipe, or any other thing connected with the preservation or supply of water to the Municipality, or to any portion thereof, shall forfeit and pay the amount of such damage, and any further sum not exceeding twenty pounds, nor less than one pound; and any person who shall bathe and wash himself, or shall wash any clothes or other article at or in any river, reservoir, channel, fountain, or basin provided for public use, or who shall in any other way foul the water preserved or used for the purpose aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings.

Obstructions.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public places, reserves, watercourses.

32. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public watercourse, sewer, waterhole, river, creek, or canal, or who shall suffer slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the Municipality, or shall permit or cause by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, filth of any kind whatever to flow into any public watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or canal, or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or watercourse, river, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Hog-styes and nuisances not removed on notice, &c.

33. In case any privy, hog-sty, any sink, cesspool, yard, enclosure, or any matter or thing which shall at any time be in any place within the said Municipality, shall be or become a nuisance, it shall be lawful for the Council, or for the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council, after due investigation, by notice in writing, to order the removal of the said nuisance within seven days after such notice shall have been given to the owner or occupier of the premises wherein such nuisance is situated, or shall have been left for such owner or occupier at his or her last or usual place of abode, or on the said premises; and every such owner or occupier refusing or neglecting to remove or abate such nuisance, pursuant to such notice, and to the satisfaction of the Council, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than twenty shillings.

Allowing dead animals to remain on premises.

34. Any owner or occupier of any land or premises who shall suffer or permit any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any other offensive matter, to remain upon the said land or premises after notice shall have been given by the Inspector of Nuisances to remove the same, shall be subject to a penalty of not exceeding two pounds, nor less than ten shillings for every day that the same shall so remain.

Cattle, &c., not allowed to go about the streets, &c.

35. It shall not be lawful for any person whomsoever to suffer any kind of cattle, horse, ass, mule, sheep, swine, or goats belonging to him, or under his or her charge, to depasture, stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or public place within the said Municipality; and any person who shall so offend shall forfeit and pay in respect to every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

As to private avenues, &c.

36. Any owner or occupier of any house or place within the said Municipality who shall neglect to keep clean any private avenues, passages, yards, and ways within the said premises, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, &c.

37. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fell-mongering establishments in the said Municipality, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, or establishment, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Inspection of premises.

38. Upon the reasonable complaint in writing, of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person appointed by the Council, shall make any inspection of the premises complained of; and the officer of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises at a reasonable hour during the daytime for the aforesaid purpose.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

39. Every person who in any street or other public place or passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds:—

Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted, or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.

Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place, the carcass, or any part of the carcass of any newly-slaughtered animal without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butchers' meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger or annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window near to any street or public place without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.

Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or repaired).

Every blacksmith, whitesmith, anchormith, nailmaker, metal-founder, limeburner, brickmaker, potter, or other person using a forge, furnace, or kiln, and having a door, window, or aperture fronting or opening into or towards any street, lane or passage, and not enclosing such door, or not fastening the shutters or other fastenings of such window, and closing such aperture, and placing a screen before the same every evening, within one hour after sunset, so as effectually to prevent the light from showing through the doorway, window, or aperture next or upon such street, lane, or passage.

Every person who shall be the keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right of way or use of any private yard alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

Premises in state to endanger public health.

Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

40. If upon the certificate of any two duly qualified medical practitioners, it appears to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in a filthy or unwholesome condition, that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same as the case may require: and if the person to whom such notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

Definition of "Noisome and Offensive Trades."

41. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of, or in connection therewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on, any gas, vapour, or effluvia, or any large quantities of smoke, shall be evolved or discharged, which gas, vapour, effluvia, or smoke shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life, or in any other way to injure or be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said Municipality, shall be considered a "noisome and offensive trade" within the meaning of these By-laws.

Complaint—Inquiry and Report—Order of Council thereon—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

42. Upon the complaint in writing of any householder that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property, as to injure his or her health, or the health of any member of his or her family, or to be a nuisance to such householder, and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint and shall report thereon to the said Council; and if the said Council shall on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a "noisome or offensive trade" within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade, to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome or offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipality; and if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid, within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid, shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; for a second offence, a sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence, a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when "Noisome or Offensive Trade" is about to be commenced.—Penalty.

43. The like proceeding shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove "noisome or offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except that the notice to be given as aforesaid shall be given to the person or persons about to enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or take such measures as shall effectually prevent the same from becoming "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the Municipality; and any person who shall in such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall in any way be "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notices.—Liabilities.

44. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such owner or occupier, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws; and every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

Miscellaneous.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14 Victoria, No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the said Municipality; nor shall any bowling alley, skittle alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or a place for temporary amusement, be used as such for hire and profit within the said Municipality, unless and until permission in writing be granted by the Mayor; or, in his absence, by any two Aldermen.

No Exhibition, &c., on Sundays, &c.

2. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held or kept open, or used for the purpose of such public amusements, on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Wilful trespass.

3. Every person who shall wilfully let in or knowingly suffer to enter upon the reserves of public recreation ground any animals, without due authority, shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass, and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Penalty for destroying boundary marks.

4. Any person pulling down, destroying, defacing, or injuring any marks, or any fence or other erection thereon, without the authority of the Council, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Erection of houses, &c.

5. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or other building, in any street, lane, or place, in the Municipality, without first serving notice, in writing, on the Mayor or Council Clerk, on any lawful day between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 o'clock p.m., stating such intention, and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and without having received an authority from the Mayor or Council Clerk, who will give the required level and alignment, if in a proclaimed street, on a payment of five shillings. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building-line in any street or lane, by the erection of houses, verandahs, door-steps, fences, or any other obstruction whatever.

Houses, &c., to be spouted.

6. All proprietors of houses within the Municipality having a frontage to any main thoroughfare shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with down pipe, to be carried under the level of the footpath into the gutter, under a penalty of ten shillings on conviction; and if not remedied at the expiration of seven days after such conviction, the offender shall be again liable to a like conviction and penalty also for every succeeding seven days.

Using bark for building in the main thoroughfares.

7. All persons are prohibited from erecting buildings any portion of which shall be constructed of bark, palings, or other dangerously inflammable material; and any person or persons erecting such buildings shall forfeit, on conviction of every such offence, a penalty of not more than twenty pounds.

8. Any person who shall convey or carry, or cause to be conveyed or carried, along any street or thoroughfare within the Municipality, the carcass, or any portion thereof, of a slaughtered animal, or of an animal which has apparently been slaughtered, without a sufficient cloth or other covering to conceal the same from public view, shall be liable, upon conviction, to a penalty not exceeding two pounds for every such offence.

9. No person shall obstruct any road, street, pathway, or public thoroughfare, by building material, drays, carts, or anything calculated to prevent a free passage to persons using the said passages, nor leave waterholes, excavations, or cellars, or dangerous openings of any kind whatever, whereby the public safety shall or may be endangered, without sufficient fencing or other means of security against risk to individuals, nor allow any obstruction necessarily created to remain without providing lights thereat, to prevent accidents, between sunset and sunrise, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

10. Any person or persons riding or driving into or out of any yard or alley abutting on any street or road within the Municipality shall so do at a walking pace, and any one offending against this By-law shall, on conviction, be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds.

11. Any person wantonly or maliciously breaking or injuring any lamp post, or street name plate, or extinguishing any light set up for public convenience, or damaging any corporation property whatsoever, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than twenty shillings, nor more than five pounds, to be recovered in a summary way before two Justices in Petty Sessions.

12. Every person guilty of a breach of any of the provisions of the foregoing By-laws, shall be liable for every such offence, when not otherwise expressly provided for, to a fine or penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Passed by the Municipal Council of the Borough of Lithgow, this eleventh day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF WINGHAM.—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 158.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15th March, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF WINGHAM.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-Laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Wingham, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

SECTION I.

By-laws for the Municipal District of Wingham, 1889.

BY-LAWS made and passed by the Municipal Council of Wingham, for regulating the proceedings of the Council in the duties of their office and servants; for compelling residents to keep their premises clean; and, generally, for the proper government of the Municipal District, in accordance with the requirements of the Municipalities Act of 1867.

1. The ordinary sittings of the Council shall be on the second and fourth Tuesday in every month, at the hour of 7 p.m., unless such day shall be a public holiday; in that case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor shall appoint.

2. If the Mayor shall be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for the holding of any meeting, the Aldermen present shall choose a Chairman, provided always that if the Mayor shall afterwards attend, such Alderman shall leave the chair, to be taken by the Mayor.

3. Whenever any meeting shall lapse or be adjourned for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be recorded by the Council Clerk.

4. The business of such ordinary meeting shall be transacted in the following manner, viz.:—

- (1.) Reading and confirming minutes of previous meeting or meetings.
- (2.) Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
- (3.) Correspondence to be read and dealt with.
- (4.) Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented, and orders made thereon.
- (5.) Payments.
- (6.) Questions as to any matter under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council, or any of the Committee or Officers, to be made.

* Business at special meetings.

5. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and confirmed, which shall be done in the same manner as at any ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or Alderman at whose instance the special meeting shall be called may have directed; and no other than the special business for which the meeting has been convened shall be entertained.

Powers to suspend By-laws.

6. The Council shall have power to suspend, pro tem. one or more of the By-laws, provided that no suspension shall be allowed for the purpose of voting money, and that two-thirds of the members present consent.

Postponement of debate on motion.

7. Any debate or order of the day when called on may be postponed to another time, to be duly specified: Provided that no discussion shall be allowed upon such motion for adjournment, and the Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to open the debate on resumption.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter disposed of.

8. All notices of motions, &c., for consideration at general meetings shall be delivered to the Council Clerk, at least four days before such meeting, in writing, and shall be numbered by him as they are received, and entered on the business paper according to their number, and each notice shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of: Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, &c., shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

Motions to be in writing and seconded.

9. All resolutions proposed, and all amendments shall be submitted in writing, and no motion or amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions not to be withdrawn.

10. No motion, of which notice has been given, shall be withdrawn if any Alderman objects, and if any Alderman who has given notice of motion fails or declines to move it, the Mayor or any other Alderman may move the same.

Questions may be put.

11. No questions shall be put to the Mayor when in Council requiring the production of papers, or which cannot be replied to without reference to books or papers, unless twenty-four hours notice in writing shall have been given thereof to the Council Clerk.

Amendments may be moved.

12. When a motion shall have been moved and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed until it be seconded.

Only one amendment at a time.

13. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of; if any amendment be carried, the amendment shall become the question before the Council, whereon any further amendment may be moved.

Motions for adjournment.

14. Any motion for adjournment, if seconded, shall be put immediately without discussion. If such motion be negatived, the business then under consideration or next in order on the business paper shall be discussed before any notice for adjournment may be moved.

Any Alderman may divide Council.

15. It shall be competent for any Alderman to divide the Council on any question, both in full Council and in Committee of the whole Council; and no Alderman shall leave his seat or place till the name of the Alderman, and how voting, shall have been taken by the Council Clerk or person officiating for him. All divisions of the Council shall be entered on the minutes of the proceedings. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is so called for, and shall not vote on such division (not being disabled by law from so voting), shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings or more than two pounds.

Motions that would rescind.

16. No motion, the effect of which if carried would be to rescind any resolution passed by the Council during the current Municipal year, shall be entertained, unless at a special meeting of the Council called for that purpose; and no such motion, if negatived by the Council at such special meeting, shall be again entertained during the same Municipal year.

No Alderman to speak twice on the same question or amendment, except in Committee.

17. No Alderman shall speak twice on the same question unless in Committee, or in explanation where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood, and then only by leave of the Mayor or Chairman: Provided that any Alderman, although having previously spoken, may speak once on every amendment, and that the mover of every question shall always have a right of final reply.

Alderman to stand when speaking, &c.

18. Every Alderman shall stand while speaking, and shall address the Chair, and all members of the Council shall on all occasions when in such Council address and speak of each other by their official designation, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be; and no Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order.

Privilege of Mayor or Chairman.

19. The Mayor or Chairman shall have the same privilege as any other Alderman in making or seconding a motion, and have the right of speaking on any subject or amendment introduced. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking, but shall be considered as still presiding.

Offensive personal statements.

20. No Alderman shall make offensive personal reflections upon or impute discreditable motives to any other Alderman. Any Alderman so offending shall immediately, upon being thereto requested by the Mayor or Presiding Alderman, withdraw the offensive expressions and retract any such imputation of motive, and make an apology satisfactory to the Council. Any Alderman declining so to apologize and to withdraw the offensive expressions or to retract the imputations of motive, shall be liable on conviction to a fine or penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds for the first offence, and on the second conviction for a like offence he shall be liable to a fine or penalty of not less than two pounds. Any Alderman may move without notice that the offensive words be taken down, and when this has been done, it shall be prima facie evidence of such words having been used.

Committee of the Council.

21. The rules of the Council shall be observed in Committee of the whole, except the rule as to standing and that limiting the number of times of speaking. It shall be competent for any Alderman to move that any subject matter, motion, or order of the day be considered in Committee; and should the Council so decide that such business be considered in Committee, the Council, as may thereupon be decided, may go into Committee or otherwise.

Points of order.

22. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any Alderman being out of order, and every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor or Chairman thereon shall be conclusive.

Speaking.

23. Any Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon, but no Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Petitions.

24. Any Alderman presenting a petition shall satisfy himself that the wording thereof is respectful and in order. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the persons signing the same; and no debate shall take place upon the presentation of a petition until notice has been given in the usual manner.

Committees.

25. There shall be three standing Committees—the Finance, Improvement of Works, and By-laws Committees, and each such Committee shall consist of three Aldermen, and may be called together at any time by direction of any one member of such Committee.

Reports from Committees.

26. All reports upon standing committees to be presented in writing and signed by the Chairman or any two members of such committee. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction by a minute in writing.

Tenders for works.

27. Tenders to be called for all work estimated to exceed £10 (ten pounds) in value and if the tender is considered excessive, the Council may have the work done by day labour.

28. The Mayor, or in his absence any two Aldermen of Works Committee, may order any sum not exceeding ten pounds to be expended in repairing any public work under the control of the Council which may be suddenly damaged, and such order shall be reported at the next meeting of Council.

Payment how made.

29. No money shall be paid by the Council until the account for the same shall have been examined by the Finance Committee and approved of by the Council.

Common seal, &c.

30. All charters, deeds, muniments, and records of the Municipal District of Wingham shall be kept in the office thereof in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order. All papers, deeds, contracts, and agreements requiring to be sealed with the common seal shall be witnessed by the Mayor and the Council Clerk. For the purpose of authenticating documents, the common seal may be attached thereto, witnessed by the Mayor and Council Clerk, for which a fee of five shillings shall be paid.

Rates to be paid.

31. The rates of the Municipality shall be collected half-yearly, and shall be due and payable on such days as the Council shall determine at the time of making the assessment, or in such other day as the Council may direct. All persons liable to pay rates or assessments shall pay the same to the Council Clerk, or such other officer as may be appointed for that purpose, at the Municipal Council Chambers during office hours, on such days as may from time to time be appointed by the Council.

Duties of the Council Clerk.

32. The Council Clerk, in compliance with the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other By-laws made thereunder, shall perform the following duties, namely:—

- (1.) Attend all Council meetings.
- (2.) Attend all Committee meetings.
- (3.) Attend all Courts of Revision and Appeal.
- (4.) Attend the members of the Council to all Council or Committee meetings.
- (5.) Take notes of all meetings and prepare reports of all Committees.

- (6.) Conduct all correspondence ordered by the Council, under the direction of the Mayor, and give all other officers instructions as directed by the minutes.
- (7.) To see that the accounts are audited and the balance-sheet duly submitted twice a year, within the times specified by law.
- (8.) To see to the gazetting of all By-laws and necessary advertisements.
- (9.) To see that the Assessment Books and the Municipal lists and rolls are duly prepared, and made out and exhibited at the Council Chambers.
- (10.) Make all necessary arrangements for the elections, preparing all papers, &c., for presiding officers and poll clerks.
- (11.) Prepare all bonds of officers, see that the guarantees are given and arrangements duly signed, &c., and reports sent to the Council.
- (12.) Advise with the officers from time to time as to their duties and the mode of carrying them out.
- (13.) See that all levels and names of streets have been duly advertised as provided for by law, and authenticated by the Mayor's signature.
- (14.) To keep a copy of all correspondence.
- (15.) To bring under the notice of the Mayor any matter or thing requiring his prompt attention.
- (16.) He shall likewise have charge of all the records of the Council, except such books or documents as may be intrusted to any other officer of the Council, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council.
- (17.) He shall enter into a bond for not less than double the amount of his salary for the faithful discharge of his duties.

SECTION II.

Determining the time and modes of collecting and enforcing payment of the rates, either current or in arrears.

rates—Levying rates—Collecting of rates.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 164, 165, 166, 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution at the time of making or imposing such rates on any of them, have appointed. All such rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers at the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Rate Collector to furnish list of defaulters.

2. Any person not paying his or her rates at the time appointed shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Rate Collector to furnish to the Mayor and Council, or any Committee as directed, with lists of all persons so in default. In the event of any premises being wholly or partially destroyed by fire, the Council shall have power to accept any equitable proportion of the assessed rates for the remainder of the Municipal year.

Bailiff.

3. The Bailiff shall be appointed by a resolution of the said Council, and shall be at any time removable by a like resolution.

Bailiff's sureties.

4. The Bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor to the extent of twenty-five pounds each for the faithful discharge of his duties.

Duty of the Bailiff.

5. It shall be the duty of the Bailiff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

6. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

7. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the Bailiff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at some other place within the Municipal District of Wingham, as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose; and shall pay over the surplus (if any), that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for and costs as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventories.

8. At the time of making a distress, the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf, resident of the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with which such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

9. The Bailiff making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained of what nature or kind soever in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as will be most fit and convenient for this purpose, and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of five days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

10. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold; and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

11. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk, all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

12. There shall be payable to the Bailiff, for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this by-law the cost and charges in the Schedule hereto affixed marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

I, _____, Mayor of the Municipal District of Wingham, do hereby authorize you, _____, Bailiff of the said Municipal District of Wingham, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house, or in or upon the land and premises of _____, situate at _____, for the sum of £ _____ being the amount of Municipal rates due to the said Municipal District of Wingham to the _____ day of _____ for the said dwelling-house, land, or premises, as the case may be, and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.

Dated this day of _____, 18 _____

Mayor.

SCHEDULE B.

Inventory.

I HAVE this day, in virtue of a warrant under the hand and seal of the Mayor of the Municipal District of Wingham, dated _____, distrained the following goods and chattels in the dwelling-house or in and upon the land and premises of _____, situate at _____, within the said Municipal District of Wingham, for the sum of £ _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Municipal District of Wingham to the _____ day of _____, 18 _____.

Bailiff.

SECTION III.

Streets, and Public Places, &c.

New roads to be reported upon, &c.

1. No new public roads, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been examined by the Committee for Works, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new roads, and to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Municipal District of Wingham shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation thereon or upon such land, or shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place, be or they shall furnish the Council with the plan or plans signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, park, or other place as aforesaid. If the Council determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed as aforesaid shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council, and the proprietor or proprietors shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, reserve, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Council, and such further instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council, but the Council shall not be compelled to take charge of or spend moneys on, or vote money for any new street, road, lane, or thoroughfare that is not forty feet wide including pathway, and unless such street, road, lane, or thoroughfare, or other place is first proclaimed, and properly formed, and completed to the satisfaction of the Council at the expense of the owner or owners of the land through which such road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or other place is carried.

Roads and streets and encroachments thereon.

3. The Surveyor of the Municipal District of Wingham, Clerk of Works, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out levels of all public roads, streets, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot way thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land with frontage to the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare in question shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Surveyor, Clerk of Works, or officer to place posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares wherever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the foot-way on each side where the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide, and in proportion and in the discretion of the Council in any such street, road, lane, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than 66 feet; provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereafter stated: Provided further that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to "The width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1881."

Change of street levels.

4. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the levels of any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed alteration to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipal District that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk, and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Foot-paths may be levelled.

5. When any foot-way shall have been marked out in manner hereinbefore directed, the Surveyor, or such officer or person so authorized hereinbefore mentioned, may cause the same to be levelled and made so nearly as practicable of equal height and breadth, and with an equal slope and inclination; and for this purpose may remove any flagging, steps, or other matter, thing, or obstruction that may injure or obstruct the said foot-way, or render it unequal or inconvenient, and which now is or may hereafter be erected or placed on the space marked out for any of the said foot-ways.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

6. The Mayor may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose, and any person who shall travel on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or remove or destroy any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay the penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

No encroachment allowed on streets, &c.

7. Whenever any road, street, or lane has been marked out in manner herein provided, no house, shop, fence, or other structure shall, except as hereafter mentioned, be allowed to project or encroach on any part thereof; and it shall not be lawful for any person to erect or put up any building, erection, obstruction, fence, or enclosure, or make any excavation, hole, or opening in, under, upon, or near to any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, unless the consent of the Council or

Mayor has been obtained to the erection or making of any such building, erection, obstruction, fence or enclosure, excavation, hole, or opening, as aforesaid; and every person offending against this By-law shall forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding five pounds, and for the second and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Obstructing public footways.

8. If the owner or occupier of any land situated on the side of any street or road in the Municipal District of Wingham shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant to the height of 8 feet, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such street or road, and, on demand made by the Council, shall not cut, lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, the said Council, by their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut, or cause to be cut and lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, or shrubs, and to remove or burn any such trees, plants, or shrubs, so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and the Council shall charge the owners all expenses of such removal; and in case any person or persons shall resist, or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen in due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every person so offending shall on conviction of every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

No balcony, &c., to project.

9. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any awning, verandah, portico, balcony, or window forming part of or attached to any external wall to project beyond the building line of any street or road, except with the consent of the Council first obtained, nor shall any balcony or any external projection as aforesaid which may hereafter be added to any existing building be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, except with the consent of the Council first obtained: Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street less than 30 feet wide: Provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council, such structure not to be less than 9 feet in height.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

10. The Surveyor, or other such officer or person may, at any time, on the order of the Council and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroachment structure belongs, or who has erected the same, or caused it to be erected.

The Council may remove encroachments.

11. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within thirty days, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same, under the superintendence of its own proper officer, and at the cost of the person so offending: Provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds, or at the Council's option to proceed against the offender for breach of By-law, penalty not to exceed twenty five pounds nor to be less than two pounds, and in every case of every successive offence the penalty on conviction not to be less than five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

12. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed, unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council either to direct such removal and to pay all the cost thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action by trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment, or to proceed as for a breach of such By-law as aforesaid.

To apply also to obstruction by digging, &c.

13. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to obstruction by digging or excavating; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Surveyor or other officer as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him, or either of him, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Surveyor or officer shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Hoads or fences to be erected.

14. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the Municipal District of Wingham, or to cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be done, where any street or footway will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, obtain permission of the Council, and cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on, from the street, with a convenient platform and hand-rail, or upon the public street or road within a distance of less than ten and not more than fifteen feet from the building line thereof, if there be room enough to leave a footway for passengers outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence with such platform and hand-rail as aforesaid, standing in good condition to the satisfaction of the officer of the Council of the said Municipal District of Wingham during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall in all cases in which it is necessary in order to prevent accidents, cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night, and every such person who shall fail to put up such fence or hoard or platform with such hand-rail as aforesaid, or to continue the same respectively standing in good condition as aforesaid during the same period of such building or taking down, or who shall not while the said hoard or fence is standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted in the night, or who shall not remove the same when directed by the officer of the Council of the said Municipal District of Wingham within a reasonable time afterwards shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds for every day such default is continued.

SECTION IV.

Offences—Nuisances—General good order of the Municipal District of Wingham.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

1. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipal District of Wingham, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for such offence a sum not more than one pound nor less than five shillings.

Trees and enclosures.

2. The Council shall have power to plant trees on the public streets and ways of the said Municipal District of Wingham, and any person who shall wilfully or without the authority of the Council cut, bark, or root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, or in or upon any public reserve or park, shall forfeit a sum of not exceeding ten pounds.

Extirpation of noxious weeds.

3. Any owner or occupier of land within the Municipal District of Wingham who shall permit to grow or remain on the said land or upon the public streets or roads within a distance of twelve feet from the boundary line thereof any of the weeds known as "Bathurst burr," "Scotch thistle," "prickly pear," "sweet briar," "cockspur," or any other noxious weed, or who shall fail to extirpate or destroy the same within thirty days, after the receipt of notice in writing by post or otherwise, from the Council or proper officer of the Council to do so, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay the sum not exceeding five pounds.

Throwing dead animals into any water-course, &c.

4. Any person who shall throw or cast any filth, rubbish, saw-dust, or any other matter which shall be adjudged by the Council to be a nuisance, or any dead animal, or any animal, with intent to drown the same, into any water-hole, water-course, creek, or canal, or who shall permit or suffer slops, suds, night-soil, sewage matter, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the Municipal District of Wingham, or shall permit or cause by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, night-soil, sewerage matter, slops, suds, or filth of any kind whatsoever to flow or to be cast in any water-course, water-hole, creek, or canal, or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or water-course, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than one pound, and shall in addition to any such forfeiture pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction, or of restoring such water-course or canal into its proper channel.

Throwing filth on roadway, &c.

5. If any person shall, in any street, road, lane, or public place, throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, any bottle-glass, ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or so near to any of the said streets or roads, as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over or be on any carriage or foot way, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any footway any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, any wheelbarrow or truck, or any pack, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse or other beast upon any footway aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds. No kind of rubbish or offensive matter shall be thrown upon any public or private property within the Municipal District of Wingham without permission first obtained from the Municipal Council of Wingham and the owner or owners of such property. Persons found guilty of a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Placing goods, &c., on roadway, &c.

6. If any person shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall, showboard, basket, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any cask or vessel in or upon or over any road, footway, or public place within the said Municipal District of Wingham, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause, or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed any coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, or other carriage upon any footway, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in, upon, or over any of the said carriage or footways any stone, timber, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed, as hereinbefore directed), or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or any thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or premises over any part of such footways or carriage-ways, or over any area of any house or premises, or any other matter or thing from, and on, the outside of any part of any house or premises over or next to any such street or road, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Council or any officer thereof, and shall not continue and keep the same so removed; or if any person having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed or cause to be removed any such stall, show-board, basket, goods, coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, carriage, timber, stone, brick, lime, meat, or offal, or other matter or things, and shall at any time thereafter again set or lay, or place, expose, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, or exposed the same or any of them, or any other article or thing whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any of the carriage or foot ways of or next into any streets or roads as aforesaid, in every such case every person so offending shall forfeit a sum not exceeding two pounds.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

7. If any person shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any street, road, or public place, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled carriages, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing that shall be carried principally or in part upon wheeled carriages to drag or trail on any part of such carriage-way so as to occupy or obstruct the street or road beyond the breadth of such carriage, every such person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds over and above the damages occasioned thereby: Provided that such penalty and damages shall not together exceed the sum of five pounds nor be less than one pound.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without leave.

8. Any person who, from any part of the road, street, thoroughfare, reserves, or other lands, or public places, shall remove or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other materials without leave first had and obtained from the officers or persons having lawful charge of such roads, streets, thoroughfares, reserves, or other lands or public places, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage a part of the said lands, streets, thoroughfares, reserves, or other lands or public places, shall, on conviction, pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings, and for every subsequent offence shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than one pound.

The driver of any vehicle shall, for the purpose of this By-law, be held and taken to be owner thereof until the contrary be shown.

No driver to ride on vehicle without a person to guide his beast (vehicle with reins excepted), or to go a distance from his vehicle, or drive on the wrong side, &c.

9. If the driver of any cart, waggon, dray, or vehicle of any kind shall ride upon the same in any street, road, or thoroughfare, not having some person on foot to guide the animals drawing the same (such vehicles as are drawn by horses, driven or guided with reins, only excepted); or if the driver of any carriage or vehicle whatsoever shall wilfully be at some distance from such carriage or vehicle, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon any such street, road, or thoroughfare, that he cannot have the direction or government of the horse or horses, or cattle, drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, coach, carriage, or other vehicle, shall not drive on the left or near side of such road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any vehicle under his or her care, upon such road, street, or thoroughfare, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any person or vehicle or carriage in or upon the same: Every such driver or person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence the sum not exceeding two pounds.

Name and place of abode, &c.

10. The owner of every such waggon, cart, dray, or vehicle of any kind plying for hire who shall allow the same to be driven through the Municipal District of Wingham, without having his name and place of abode painted on the off-side legibly, the driver or person in charge of any such waggon, cart, or dray as aforesaid, who shall refuse to give his and the owner's name and address shall forfeit and pay for every such offence the sum not exceeding one pound.

Lights on vehicles.

11. Every person whilst driving, leading, or riding upon any cart, carriage, van, buggy, or other vehicle whatsoever, drawn by any horse, ass, mule, or other animal, through any part of the Municipal District of Wingham, between the hours of sunset and sunrise, shall carry a lighted lamp affixed in a conspicuous place on the off-side of such cart, van, waggon, buggy, or other vehicle, under a penalty of five shillings for the first offence, and for every subsequent offence not less than ten shillings nor more than two pounds.

As to riding or driving improperly through streets, &c.

12. Any person who shall ride or drive through any road, street, or public place, negligently, carelessly, or furiously, or so as to endanger the life or limb of any person, or to the common danger of the passengers, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Riding or driving around corners, &c.

13. Any person who shall ride or drive round the corner of any street, road, or any public place within the Municipal District of Wingham, at a pace faster than a walk, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings for every such offence.

Erection of houses, &c.—Fee for permission.

14. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or any other building in any street, lane, or place within the Municipal District of Wingham, without having first served notice in writing to the Mayor or Council Clerk before commencing the same, stating his intention and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and shall at the time the said notice is given as aforesaid pay to the Council Clerk a fee of five shillings for permission to erect any such house, shop, or building in any street, lane, or other place within the said Municipal District of Wingham, and every owner thereof, and every contractor for such house, shop, or building, or any part thereof, commencing to build or work thereon, without such notice having been given, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Affixing placards on the walls and chalking thereon.

15. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste, affix, damage, deface, or destroy any placard or other paper upon any wall, fence, house, or building, or to deface any such wall, fence, house, or building by chalk, or paint, or in any other manner, unless with the consent of the owner thereof; and any person who shall be guilty of any such offence, shall forfeit and pay the sum not exceeding ten shillings. It shall not be lawful for any person (other than the person affixing the same, or the owner of the premises to which such may be affixed) to wantonly deface or destroy any placard not out of date which may have been lawfully affixed to any such wall, fence, or house; and any person guilty of such offence shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten shillings.

Restriction on certain trades.

16. It shall not be lawful for the business of a soap-boiler, tallow-melter, tanner, currier, pig-keeper, or any occupation, trade, or manufacture of any obnoxious or unwholesome nature prejudicial to the health of, or otherwise offensive to any of the inhabitants thereof, to be commenced or established within the limits of that portion of the Municipal District of Wingham, to be defined from time to time by resolution of this Council, without consent of the Council first had and obtained, and whosoever shall offend against this By-law shall forfeit and pay on conviction a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, and a further sum of ten shillings for each and every day during which he continues to offend.

Discharging fire-arms, &c.

17. Any person who shall discharge any fire-arms without lawful cause, or let off any fire-works or other explosive matter within forty yards of any road, street, or public place, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Entrances to cellars, &c., to be covered, &c.

18. If the owner or occupier of any premises having any rails or bars over the areas or openings to any kitchen or cellar, or other part of the said premises, beneath the surface of the footway or any street or public places, or having any doorway or entrance into the basement or cellar story thereof, shall not either keep the same, or the rails of such kitchen, cellars, or other parts, in sufficient and good repair, or constantly keep the same securely guarded by rails, or cover the same over with a strong flap or trap-door, according to the nature of the case, and so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; or if any such owner or occupier shall leave open, or not sufficiently nor substantially keep covered and secured, any coal or other hole, funnel, trap-door, or cellar flap, belonging to or connected with his premises, save and except only during reasonable time for use, alteration, or repairs; or if such owner or occupier shall not repair and from time to time keep in good order and substantial repair all and every or any such rails, guard-rails, flaps, trap-doors, and other covering, then and in every such case the person neglecting so to do shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay the sum not exceeding five pounds.

Cellars or openings beneath footways prohibited.

19. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any cellar, or any opening, door, or window, on or beneath the surface of the footway of any road, street, or public place, within the said Municipal District of Wingham, except by permission of the Council, and if any person shall so offend he shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds over and above the expense of remedying or removing any such cellar, opening, door, or window, such expense to be assessed and allowed by the convicting Justice or Justices: Provided that such expense and penalty shall not together exceed fifty pounds.

Wells to be covered over, &c.

20. Every person who shall have a well situated between his dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof, and any public place, road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Municipal District of Wingham, or at the side of such public place, road, street, or footway, or in any yard or place opened out to such public places, road, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having such a well as aforesaid shall fail to cover and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given him or her by any authorised officer of the said Council, or shall have been left at such person's usual or last known abode, or at the said premises, in the manner and with such materials as the Council or its officer shall direct, and to their satisfaction, such person shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten shillings every day that such well shall remain open or uncovered contrary to the provisions thereof: Provided that with respect to wells open at the time when this By-law shall come into operation, such penalty shall not be recoverable if the same be properly covered within one week thereafter.

Notices not to be painted on pavements.

21. Any person who shall stamp, stain, paint, write, or post any advertisement or notice upon any footway or kerbstone within the Municipal District of Wingham, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds.

Offensive or indecent placards.

22. Any person who shall, in any street or public place within the Municipal District of Wingham, post, write, expose to view, or distribute any placard, handbill, or other document whatever, of any offensive or indecent character, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

Musicians to move on.

23. Any street musician or vocalist, who shall not, when requested by any householder within the Municipal District of Wingham, or his servant, or by any officer or servant of the Council of the Municipal District of Wingham aforesaid, or by any police officer, depart from the neighbourhood of the premises of such householder, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds.

Persons not to stand or loiter in the streets.

24. All persons standing or loitering upon any of the carriage-ways, foot-ways, or other public places in the Municipal District of Wingham, to the inconvenience of passers-by, or in any way interrupting the traffic, who shall not discontinue to do so on being requested by any authorised officer or servant of the Council of the said Municipal District of Wingham, or by any police officer, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds.

Holes made for collars, &c., to be enclosed, &c.

25. If any person shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave, or cause to be left, any hole in or adjoining any street, road, lane, or public place for the purpose of making any cellar or cellars, on the foundation or foundations to any house or other building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, and shall not forthwith enclose the same in a good or sufficient manner, and keep up, or cause to be kept up and continue, any such enclosure, or shall not when thereunto requested by the said Council or authorised officer thereof, well and sufficiently fence or enclose any such hole within the time and in the manner provided by the preceding By-laws, and shall not place a light upon the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise, during the continuance of such enclosure, then and in every such case the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence, and for every refusal or neglect, any sum not exceeding five pounds, and on conviction for every subsequent offence not less than ten shillings.

Excavations, &c., to be protected by fence or wall.

26. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground on any property adjoining or near to any public road or foot-path within the limits of the Municipal District of Wingham, until the owner or occupier of the said property shall have erected a good substantial fence or wall, at the least four feet high, around such parts of the said property as adjoin such public road or foot-path, and any such person neglecting or refusing to enclose any premises upon which any such quarry or excavation shall be made shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds. And all existing quarries, excavations, precipices, situated within the limits of the Municipal District of Wingham shall be closed and protected in the manner aforesaid, within twenty-four hours after due notice to that effect shall have been given by the said Council, and in the event of the failure or neglect of the owner or occupier of any such last mentioned property to enclose the same, after notice as aforesaid, such person so offending shall be subject to the penalty beforementioned.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

27. Every person who, in any street or public place or passage, within the said Municipal District of Wingham, shall commit any of the following offences, shall, on conviction for any and for every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds.

Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.

Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed in any street or public place the carcass or any part of the carcass of any slaughtered animal without sufficient and proper cloth covering the same, for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger or annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window near to any street or public place without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.

Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or being repaired).

Every blacksmith, metal-founder, lime-burner, brick-maker, potter, or other person using a forge, furnace, or kiln, and having a door, window, or aperture fronting or opening into or towards any street, lane, or passage, and not enclosing such door, or not fastening the shutters or other fastenings of such window, and closing such aperture, or placing a screen before the same every evening within one hour after sun-set so as effectually to prevent the light from showing through the door-way, window, or aperture next or upon such street, lane, or passage.

Every person who shall within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house, burn any rags, bones, cork, or any offensive substance (garden refuse excepted) to the annoyance of any inhabitant.

Every person who shall carry goods, tools, implements, ladders, scaffolding, or any frame upon any footway to the annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall be a keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private way, alley, street, or other place within the said Municipal District of Wingham.

Polluting water, reservoirs, &c.

28. Whoever shall bathe in any reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to or under the management or control of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, or throw, or cause to enter therein any animal (whether alive or dead), or any rubbish, filth, or thing of any kind whatsoever, or shall cause or permit, or suffer to run, or to be brought therein the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine, or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome or improper liquid, or shall wash any clothes at any public fountain or pump, or in or at any such stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks as aforesaid, or shall do anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, shall be fouled, obstructed or damaged, shall, for the first offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; for a second offence, not more than ten pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence, a sum not more than twenty pounds.

29. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Nuisances to report without delay the existence of any nuisance arising from live or dead animals, of any kind or species, within the Municipal District of Wingham, and to give notice to the owner or owners thereof, or the owner or occupier of the premises upon which such animals may be, to remove and destroy the same (if very offensive) within a period of six hours; and if not removed or destroyed within that period, to cause the removal and destruction of the said nuisance without delay; and the owner or owners thereof, or the owner or occupiers of the premises in default, and on conviction thereof, before any two Justices of the Peace, in each case shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds in addition to all legal and other expenses incurred in the proceedings, and in the removal and destruction of said nuisances.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

30. Any person who shall bathe near to or within view of any inhabited house, or any public wharf, quay, bridge, street, road, or other public place of public resort within the limits of the said Municipal District of Wingham, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening, shall on conviction pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound. This penalty does not apply to persons wearing bathing dresses.

Swine not to wander about the streets.

31. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure, situated and not being in or within thirty feet of any street or public place in the Municipal District of Wingham, or who shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of like nature belonging to him or under his charge to stray or go about or be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or other public place within the Municipal District of Wingham between sunrise and sunset (except in the case of swine, which shall not be allowed to stray at any hour) shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings. Nothing in the above rule will prevent pigs being driven through the Municipal District of Wingham for shipment.

SECTION V.

Sewerage and Drainage.

No private sewers to be made to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

1. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains, sewers, or channels, or to any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith without such notice or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds, and shall, at his own expense, make good all roads, streets, kerbing, &c., which shall have been injured by or through any such work; and all such repairs shall be performed to the satisfaction of such officer as the Council shall appoint to superintend such work, and any person who shall do or perform anything contrary to this clause, or shall neglect to make good all such damage as aforesaid, shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and clean same.

2. All private drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the Council or officer thereof, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired and cleansed, according to the direction of the Council, he shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Water from the roof, &c.

3. Every owner or occupier of any dwelling-house, shop, or other building who shall permit rain-water to fall from any roof, balcony, or other projection upon any street, road, lane, or foot-way, or to flow over the pathway of any such street, road, or lane, or shall cause or permit any such roof or rain-water to be discharged by any pipe upon any such street, road, lane, or foot-way, shall, if such nuisance be not abated within seven days after notice in writing to abate shall have been given by the Council, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Drains and foot-paths.

4. No surface drain shall be made in any foot-way, nor any pipes laid under or across the same, without the authority of the Council; and no such pipe or drain shall be used for the discharge into any street or roadway of any offensive liquid or matter of any kind whatsoever, and any person who shall so offend shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Natural water-courses.

5. Any person who may have closed, or shall close or intercept any natural water-course, by building or otherwise, shall provide another outlet for the surface water with pipes or sewers of a size and in a manner to be approved by the Council. Any person failing to comply with the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds.

SECTION VI.

Preventing and extinguishing fires.

Fires or combustible materials, &c.

1. Every person who shall place or knowingly permit to be placed in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable article of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable article. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or other combustible or inflammable article to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Inflammable fences, &c.

2. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, and place as or for the covering of any such stack any inflammable material, or shall place, keep, or store any hay, straw, or other inflammable material in any building so as to endanger contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit on conviction for every such offence a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound, and also remove such fence, stack, covering, or inflammable material within forty-eight hours after such conviction. And any person failing to remove such fence, stack, covering, or inflammable material, within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Burning shavings, &c., in the street.

3. Any person burning any shavings or other matters or things in any street, road, or public place, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

4. Every person who wilfully sets or causes to be set on fire any chimney, flue, smoke-vent or stove-pipe, herein called in common a "chimney," shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

SECTION VII.

By-laws for the regulating and licensing of public carriers, carters, water-drawers, and public vehicles, omnibuses, cars, hackney carriages, cabs, water-carts, drays, carts, or vans, and the drivers or conductors of passenger-carrying vehicles.

1. No vehicle shall ply or be used for hire within the Municipal District of Wingham, until, and unless the same be duly licensed in the manner hereafter described.

2. Before any license for plying a vehicle or to drive or conduct the same, shall be granted, the party requiring such license shall deliver to the Council Clerk a requisition in the form of schedule hereunto annexed, marked with the letter A, duly filled up and signed; and in case of drivers or conductors, shall obtain a certificate from two respectable ratepayers to the effect that the applicant is of good character, and competent to act as such driver or conductor as the case may be.

3. No license shall be granted in respect of any vehicle which, in the opinion of the Mayor or such officer as may be duly appointed for that purpose, is unsafe or in bad repair, or otherwise unfit for the accommodation and convenience of passengers therein, nor until the number of such vehicle be painted thereon, on a plate or plates affixed thereon outside on the panel of each door of such vehicle, or on such other place or places, and in such manner as the Mayor, or in his absence, two Aldermen may direct.

4. Licenses for proprietors, drivers, and conductors of vehicles shall be in the form contained in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked with the letter B.

5. Every license granted under these by-laws shall be under the common seal of the Council, Municipal District of Wingham, and signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Council Clerk, and shall be in force from the date of such license until the 31st day of December next ensuing, and no such license shall include more than one vehicle: Provided that where the licensed vehicle shall be under repair, if the proprietor desire, he may be permitted to substitute another for the period to be thereby specified by endorsement on the license signed by the Mayor and countersigned as aforesaid.

6. For every such license there shall be paid to the Municipal fund, annually the several rates set forth in the Schedule hereunto annexed, and marked with the letter C.

7. No license shall be granted to any person to drive any passenger-carrying vehicle who shall be under the age of seventeen years.

8. All licenses shall be made out by the Council Clerk, and numbered consecutively.

9. The person in whose name a license shall appear to have been obtained shall be prima facie deemed to be the owner of the vehicle in respect of which the same shall have been taken out.

10. The Mayor shall, as often as he shall deem it necessary, cause an inspection to be made of all or any licensed vehicles, and of the harness, horse or horses, and if any such vehicle, harness, horse or horses shall at any time be found to be unfit for use the Mayor may cancel the license of such vehicle.

11. The number of the license granted to every omnibus, or car in figures not less than four-inches in height, and for every hackney carriage and cab in figures not less than two-inches in height and of proportionate breadth, white upon a ground of black shall be painted outside, on the panel of the door, or doors of such vehicle, or on such other part or parts thereof as the Mayor may direct and such numbers shall be kept legible and undefaced during all the time such vehicles shall ply or be used for hire at the expense of the licensee.

12. Carters (plying for hire) of water-carts, drays, or vans, are to be registered at the Council Chambers and receive a license upon payment of the rate set forth in Schedule C, hereunto annexed.

13. The name, place or abode, number of license and the words "licensed cart," dray, or van, as the case may be, are to be painted in letters one-inch long upon the right or off side of such cart, dray, or van at the expense of the licensee.

14. Whenever the word "vehicle" shall be used in these By-laws, the same shall be understood to apply to either an omnibus or car, hackney carriage or cab, and an omnibus shall be meant to be a vehicle upon four wheels, drawn by two or more horses, and a cab a vehicle upon two wheels for which an omnibus license has been taken out, and a hackney carriage shall mean a vehicle on four wheels drawn by two or more horses, and a cab a vehicle on four wheels for which a hackney carriage license has been taken out; and the word "carters" shall be understood to apply to carts, drays, or vans plying for hire.

15. For every offence against the provisions of these By-laws the offender shall be liable to and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds, nor less than ten shillings.

16. No timber-carriage, truck, trolley, or other vehicle used for a like purpose, or dray attached for the conveyance of timber or other material, will be allowed to ply or work within the Municipal District of Wingham unless the same be licensed. No timber carriage, as heretofore mentioned, shall be licensed unless the tires of the wheels be at least five inches in width.

17. The owners of any such timber carriage as aforesaid shall have their names painted in legible letters, with the word "licensed," on some conspicuous part of such timber carriage respectively. The license fee shall be at the rate of ten shillings per wheel per annum, and shall be issued in January, April, July, and October in each year, and anyone who shall omit or fail to comply with the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

18. All drays, carts, timber carriage, trolleys, waggonettes, used for carriage of produce, passing through the Municipal District of Wingham, must have the owner's name painted thereon in legible letters, and for every offence against the provisions of this By-law the owner shall be liable to pay not more than twenty shillings, nor less than two shillings and sixpence.

19. All penalties recovered under any of these By-laws shall be paid to the Municipal Council of Wingham, to be appropriated towards the general revenue of the Municipality.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF DUBBO—AMENDED BY-LAWS.

THE following Amended By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Dubbo under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAW No. 1, PART 1.

Ordinary Meetings.

The Council shall meet for the transaction of business every alternate Monday, at the hour of half-past seven p.m. during the months April to September, both inclusive, and at the hour of eight p.m. during the months October to March, both inclusive, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint.

BY-LAW No. 116, PART 4.

Driving round Street Corners.

No person shall ride or drive any horse attached to a vehicle at a pace faster than a walk round street corners or over street crossings that may or shall be proclaimed "Walk over Crossings," and notified in the Government Gazette and local newspaper. Any person offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of twenty shillings for each such offence.

Amended and passed by the Municipal Council of Dubbo, this 24th day of March, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

NEW LAMBTON MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Borough of New Lambton under the Municipalities Act of 1867, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAWS OF THE BOROUGH OF NEW LAMBTON.

PART I.

Proceedings of the Council and Committees.—Duties of Officers and Servants, &c.

Ordinary meetings.

1. The Council shall meet for the transaction of business on such days and at such hours as the Council may from time to time appoint.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman, to act during the absence of the Mayor. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down and recorded in the minute book.

Business of ordinary meetings.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council, other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected, if erroneous, and signed by the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Correspondence to be read, and order made thereon, if expedient.
3. Petitions (if any) to be read and dealt with.
4. Reports from committees and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented, and orders made thereon.
5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to, and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council, or any of the committees or officers, to be made.
6. Motions, of which notice has been given, to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
7. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Business may be taken out of regular order.

Provided that the Council may, by resolution without notice, entertain any particular motion, or deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper without any formal suspension of this section, and may in like manner direct that any particular or matter of business may have precedence at a future meeting.

General duties of the Mayor or presiding Alderman.

Order.

4. The Mayor or presiding Alderman shall preserve order, and his decision on all disputed points shall be final, but he is to give his decision without argument or comment.

The Mayor may take part in proceedings.

5. The Mayor or presiding Alderman may take part in all proceedings of the Council.

Putting questions.

6. The Mayor or presiding Alderman shall put all questions and declare the sense of the Council thereon.

Pre-audience.

7. If two or more members rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or presiding Alderman shall decide which member is entitled to pre-audience.

Not to speak a second time.

8. The Mayor or presiding Alderman may, without waiting for the interposition of any member of the Council, call to order any member proceeding to speak a second time on the same question, except in explanation, and without introducing any new matter. The member introducing the motion to have the right of reply; and every member shall have the liberty of speaking once on every amendment as well as on the original motion.

Questions put by Mayor.

9. The Mayor or presiding Alderman shall on every motion made and seconded put the question, first in the affirmative and then in the negative, and he may do so as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion from the show of hands as to which party has the majority.

Not speaking to question.

10. No member shall deviate from the subject under debate or make personal reflections upon any other member.

Time for speaking.

11. No member shall speak on any motion or amendment longer than ten minutes.

Offensive expressions.

12. No member shall make use of any expression capable of being applied offensively to any other member.

Adjournment of debate.

13. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the same day or to another day specified.

Member entitled to pre-audience.

14. The member upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the debate.

Calls to order.

15. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor to any Alderman being out of order, or to any other point of order.

Motion for adjournment.

16. Any motion for adjournment if seconded shall be immediately put without discussion, but if such motion be negative, it shall not be competent for any member to make a like motion until the lapse of a quarter of an hour.

Motions must be seconded.

17. No notice shall be taken by the Mayor or presiding Aldermen of any motion unless it be seconded.

Notices must be in writing.

18. All notices of motion shall be in writing, dated and signed by the Alderman proposing the same, previous to being handed to the Council Clerk, and shall not be withdrawn from the business paper unless by consent of a majority of the Council then sitting.

Call of the whole Council.

19. No motion, the effect of which if carried would be to rescind any motion which has already passed the Council, shall be entered on the business paper unless a call of the whole Council has been duly made and granted for that purpose.

How ordered.

20. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution of which due notice has been given, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

How voting determined.

21. The Council shall vote by show of hands; but any Alderman may divide the Council on any question, both in full Council or in Committee of the Whole, in which case every Alderman there present shall be compelled to vote, and divisions shall be entered in the minute book.

Questions to be read when required.

22. Any member may require the question under discussion to be read for his information at any time during the debate, but not so as to interrupt any other member whilst speaking.

How amendments to be put.

23. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon; but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced to writing.

Council Clerk to give notice of Committee Meetings.

24. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested to do so by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Petitions.—The debate.

25. On the presentation of a petition, no debate shall take place until notice has been given in the usual manner, and the only question that can be entertained by the Council on the day of its presentation shall be that the petition be received or that it be referred to a Committee.

Language of petitions.

26. It shall be incumbent on any Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the language thereof, and to report to the Council that he considers it unobjectionable.

Petitions of parties signing.

27. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

Committees.

28. Besides such special Committees as from time to time shall be found necessary, there shall be a standing Finance Committee, which shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the revenues of the Borough. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect or be likely to affect the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon. Such Committee shall be appointed by resolution of the Council within thirty days after the election of the Mayor for the Municipal year.

Chairman of Committees.

29. The Mayor shall be Chairman of all Committees of which he shall be a member, and every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee; and such Chairman may direct the Council Clerk to call meetings whenever he shall think it expedient.

Records of transactions in Committee.

30. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Report to be signed.

31. Every report of a Committee shall be signed by the Chairman thereof.

Funds of Municipality.

32. No work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense be first ascertained by the Council; and all accounts to be paid by the Council shall be examined before any warrant shall be issued for the payment thereof: Provided that in cases of emergency, and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Works, or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee—for repairs or emergent works to the extent of five pounds.

2. By order of Mayor—for necessary current expenses to the extent of two pounds.

3. By order of the Mayor and any two Aldermen, or without the Mayor, or any four Aldermen—for any emergent purpose to the extent of five pounds.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting; such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works, or the Mayor, or the Mayor and Aldermen, or the Aldermen without the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorized. Also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council, and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence be thus authorized.

Security.

33. In cases where security is required by the Municipalities Act of 1867, no security shall be accepted otherwise than by a vote of the Council.

Books and papers not to be shown.

34. No officer or servant appointed by the Council shall be at liberty to show, lay open, or expose any of the books, papers, or records of the Council to any person not a member of the Council, without leave from the said Council, except as provided by law.

Common Seal.

35. The common seal shall not be affixed to any document without the express authority of the Council; and every impression thereof shall be verified by the signatures of the Mayor and Council Clerk.

Seal, charter, &c., where kept.

36. The seal of the Municipality, and all charters, deeds, and records of the Council, shall be kept in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order.

PART II.

Collection and enforcement of Rates.

Times and modes of collection.

37. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provisions of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and for the purposes mentioned in the said Act, shall be collected once a year; and such rate shall be held to be due and payable on and after such days as the Council may from time to time appoint.

Rates to be paid at office of Council Clerk.

38. All rates made and authorized by the Council shall be paid within the time prescribed by the Act, on such hours and days and at such places as the Council may from time to time appoint.

Unpaid rates.

39. The Council Clerk shall prepare, at such times as may be ordered by resolution of the Council or the Mayor, a list of the names of all persons whose rates are unpaid at the expiration of the time fixed for the payment of the same; and the Mayor may take immediate proceedings, either by summons or by the issue of distress warrants, against defaulters.

Bailiff.

40. The Bailiff shall be appointed by resolution of the Council, and shall be at any time removable by a like resolution, and shall give such security as the Council shall approve of for the faithful performance of the duties of the office.

Levies and distresses.

41. The Bailiff shall make all levies and distresses for the recovery of rates under the warrant of the Mayor; such warrant to be made in accordance with the form in Schedule hereto annexed marked A.

Entry and levy.

42. The Bailiff shall be paid for entry and levy made under these By-laws, according to the Schedule annexed marked C.

Making a distress.

43. At the time of making a distress, the Bailiff shall forthwith make out a written inventory in the form or to the effect of the Schedule annexed marked B, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person in his or her behalf resident in the place where the distress has been made; and in case there shall be no such person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted in some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress has been made; and the Bailiff shall deliver a copy of such inventory to the Council Clerk for the information of all parties concerned.

Bailiff to enter upon land.

44. It shall be lawful for the Bailiff, and such assistance as he may require, to enter into any part of the land, building, tenement, or other property, in respect of which a warrant has been issued for the recovery of any rate or rates as aforesaid, and to distrain the goods therein or thereon, and to remain in such tenement, building, or other property in charge thereof; and if the sum for which such distress shall have been made or taken shall not be paid on or before the expiration of five days, it shall be lawful to sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at such place within the Borough as the said Bailiff may think fit to remove them to for such purpose; and the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the sum distrained for, together with the expenses attendant upon such distress, shall be paid over on demand to the owner of the goods so sold: Provided always that nothing herein contained as to the time of sale shall apply to any crops of cereals, fruit, or vegetables which may be growing at the time when such distress shall be made.

The Bailiff may impound.

45. The Bailiff, when making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the distress so made, of what nature or kind soever it may be, in such places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with the rate, as shall be most fit and convenient for that purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whatsoever, after the expiration of the five days hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land and premises where any distress shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and to carry off and remove the same, on account of the purchaser thereof.

Goods how to be sold.

46. The owner of any goods so distrained upon may, by writing, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold; and the said goods and chattels shall in each case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of sale to be paid to Council Clerk.

47. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of such distresses within twenty-four hours after such sale, also the copy of every inventory and account of every such sale or sales.

Bailiff may appoint deputy.

48. The bailiff, with the sanction of the Mayor, may authorize any person to act temporarily as his deputy; and the person thus authorized shall have and exercise, for the time being, all the powers of the Bailiff himself; but the Bailiff and his sureties shall in such case be held responsible for the act of such deputy.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Borough of New Lambton, do hereby authorize you, _____, Bailiff of the said Borough, to distrain the goods and chattels of _____, which are in the dwelling-house, or in and upon the land and premises of _____, situate at _____, for the sum of £ _____, being the amount of Municipal rates due to the said Borough for the Municipal year ending _____, 18 _____, for the said dwelling-house, land, or premises, as the case may be, and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.—Dated this _____ day of _____, 18 _____.

Mayor.

SCHEDULE B.

Inventory.

I have this day, in virtue of a warrant under the hand of the Mayor of the Borough of New Lambton, dated _____, of which a copy is attached hereto, distrained the goods and chattels set forth at foot hereof, in the dwelling-house, or in and upon the land and premises of _____, situate at _____, within the said Borough, for the sum of £ _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Borough for the Municipal year ending _____ 18 _____.—Dated this _____ day of _____ 18 _____.

Bailiff.

SCHEDULE C.

Costs.

	s	d.
For every warrant of distress	2	0
For serving every warrant and making levy	2	0
For making and furnishing copy of inventory	2	0
For man in possession, each day or part of a day	5	0
For sale and delivery of goods—one shilling in the pound on the gross proceeds of the sale, in addition to the costs of advertisements, if any.

PART III.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &c.

49. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any yard, horse, work-shop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction of every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds; and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or other combustible and inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or other combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this by-law.

Fireworks.

50. Every person who shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause, or who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or fireworks, upon or within ten yards of any public or private street or any public place, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Negligently allowing chimney to be on fire.

51. If any chimney accidentally catch or be on fire, or if a chimney emits sparks to endanger the property of persons within this Borough, the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimney is situated shall forfeit a sum not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings.

PART IV.

Suppression of Nuisances.

52. No householder or resident in the said Borough shall be allowed to permit his or her premises, yards, closets, or drains to be offensive or a nuisance to the adjoining householders or residents.

Offensive trade.

53. No noisome or offensive trade shall be permitted to be carried on in any premises to the inconvenience of the residents of adjoining or other houses.

Notice to proprietor.

54. Upon complaint being lodged at the Council Chamber with the Council Clerk that the yards, closets, or drains of any premises is or are a nuisance or offensive, and after inspection such shall be found to be the case, notice shall be given in writing to the proprietor or tenant to remove or abate such nuisance within forty-eight hours after such notice; and if after such notice the nuisance shall not be removed or abated, the proprietor or tenant of the said premises shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Wells to be covered over.

55. Every person who shall have a well situated between his or her dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof and any road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Borough, or at the side of or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having any such well as aforesaid shall fail to cover and secure the same within (24) twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last-known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay not less than two shillings and sixpence nor more than twenty shillings, and for every twenty-four hours after such notice that such well shall remain open and uncovered contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Drawing or hauling timber.

56. Any person who shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Borough, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing, which shall be carried principally or in part upon a wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place to the injury thereof, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings, over and above the damages occasioned thereby.

Conveying animals slaughtered.

57. Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any vehicle, in any street or public place, the carcase or any part of the carcase of any newly-slaughtered animal without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment thereof from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher meat without covering the same as aforesaid, shall be liable on conviction to a penalty of any sum not exceeding two pounds for every such offence.

Rubbish not to be thrown on streets.

58. No person shall be allowed to throw rubbish, sweepings, broken glass, dead animals, or other offensive matter or thing, or deposit of any kind whatever, on the streets, pathways, or channels, or in any public place within this Borough.

Injury to kerbstones, guttering, &c.

59. No driver, carter, or other person shall wilfully or negligently do or suffer, or cause to be done, any damage or injury to the kerbstones, gutters, or pathways of any street or roadway; and no person shall be at liberty to ride on horseback, or drive a wheeled vehicle of any kind, on the footways.

Cattle straying.

60. It shall not be lawful for any person whomsoever to suffer any horses, cattle, swine, or goats belonging to him or under his charge, to stray in any public road or thoroughfare within the said Borough.

Careless riding or driving.

61. No person shall ride or drive through or upon any street or public place so negligently, carelessly, or furiously that the safety of any other person shall or may be endangered.

Destroying pathways or roads.

62. No person shall be allowed to alter, cut up, or destroy the pathways or roads, or to remove loam, sand, or gravel from any of the streets or roads of the Municipality without the authority of the Council, and for such authority a fee of one shilling shall be paid.

Placing material on streets or pathways.

63. No person shall be allowed to place on the streets or pathways building material otherwise than is absolutely necessary, and by the sanction, in writing, of the Mayor or Council Clerk; and no person shall be allowed to have water-holes or excavations for cellars or other purposes in or adjoining any public place unfenced, or in such manner as to be dangerous to passers-by; and all places where buildings are being carried on, or where any obstruction to the danger of the passer-by exists, the person causing such obstruction shall be required to place lights on either side, and keep the same lighted from sunset to sunrise.

Damaging trees and shrubs.

64. No person shall destroy or damage any shrub or tree growing in any street or thoroughfare or other public place within this Municipality, or injure any hedge, fence, gate, or building in such street, thoroughfare, or public place; or to set fire to any shrubs or trees, or to cut or remove any timber from any such street, thoroughfare, or public place aforesaid; or to destroy, tear, deface, or otherwise injure any notice, proclamation, or other document purporting to be under the authority of the Council, or of any officer of the said Council, which shall be affixed in any public place.

Exposing goods for sale.

65. No person shall place or expose for sale on the pathways or streets, carts, goods, parcels, or produce of any kind whatever, to the obstruction of the public.

Made and passed at a meeting of the Borough Council of the Municipality of New Lambton, this 14th day of May, 1890.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF GUNDAGAI—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 19th August, 1890.

GUNDAGAI MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Gundagai, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

1. That the following be and are hereby confirmed as the By-Laws of the Council of the Municipal District of Gundagai.

Meetings of the Council.Ordinary Meetings.

2. Unless otherwise ordered, the Council shall meet for the dispatch of business on every alternate Wednesday, at the hour of 7:30 p.m., unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such day as the Mayor may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.—Adjournment for want of quorum.

3. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a chairman for such meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down and recorded in the minute-book.

Course of procedure.

4. The following shall be the course of procedure at such meetings, viz. :—

- I. Reading and confirming minutes of previous meeting or meetings.
- II. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
- III. Correspondence to be read and dealt with.
- IV. Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor to be presented and ordered upon.
- V. Questions as to matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to.
- VI. Motions on notice to be dealt with in their respective order.
- VII. Orders of the Day, which shall comprise all business set down for the day by order of any previous meeting or necessarily arising out of the proceedings of a former meeting, the Council may, by resolution, take any particular matter out of the regular order on the business paper,

Business at Special Meetings.

5. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or Alderman at whose instance the special meeting shall have been called may have directed.

Absence of proposed mover.

6. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper, shall be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

7. No motion shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motion to be in writing, and not withdrawn without leave.

8. Every motion, notice of which has been given, shall be in writing, shall be signed by the mover, and no motion when seconded shall be withdrawn without leave of the Council.

Amendments may be moved.

9. When a motion shall have been moved and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Only one Amendment at the time.

10. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment shall have been disposed of.

Petitions.

11. The Council may at any meeting resolve, without previous motion, that any petition be received, and that the same or any correspondence read, be referred to a Committee for report, or that the requests therein contained be granted.

Mayor to preserve order.

12. The Mayor shall preserve order, and may at any time call to order any Alderman who may appear to him to be out of order,

Calls to order.

13. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor to any Alderman being out of order, or to any point of order.

Mayor's decisions on points of order final.

14. Every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor thereon shall be conclusive, except as hereinafter provided.

Power of Council as to laying down general rules, &c.

15. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice may, by motion on notice respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar question of order or of practice which may thereafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding upon all parties, unless and until it be rescinded, but shall have no retrospective operation.

Mayor may take part in proceedings.

16. The Mayor may take part in all the proceedings of the Council or committees thereof.

Questions put by Mayor.

17. The Mayor shall put all questions, first in the affirmative and then in the negative (provided that where an amendment is moved to any motion the amendment shall be first put), and may do so as often as may be necessary to enable him to determine the sense of the Council thereon, and thereupon he shall declare his decision, which shall be final, unless a division be called for.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience of Aldermen.

18. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor shall decide which of them shall be entitled to pre-audience.

No Alderman to speak twice on the same question or amendment except in Committee.

19. No Alderman shall speak twice on the same question, unless in Committee, or in explanation, where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood. Provided that any Alderman, although having previously spoken, may speak once on every amendment, and that the mover of every question shall always have a right of final reply.

No Alderman to make personal reflections.

20. No Alderman shall digress from the matter under discussion, or make personal reflections on or impute motives to any other Alderman.

No Alderman to speak more than fifteen minutes.

21. No Alderman shall speak on any motion or amendment for a longer period than fifteen minutes without the consent of the Council; and every Alderman shall stand when speaking and address the Chair.

Aldermen using offensive expressions to apologize.

22. When any member of the Council shall make use of any language or expression offensive or capable of being applied offensively to any Alderman, the member so offending shall be required to withdraw such language or expression and to make an apology satisfactory to the Council.

Debate may be adjourned.

23. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour the same day, or to another day.

Alderman adjourning debate entitled to precedence on resumption.

24. The Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to precedence on the resumption of the debate.

Adjournments.

25. Any motion for adjournment of the Council, if seconded, shall be immediately put without discussion; but if such motion be negatived it shall not be competent for any Alderman to make a similar motion until thirty minutes shall have elapsed.

Any Alderman may divide Council.

26. It shall be competent for any Alderman to divide the Council on any question, both in full Council and in Committee of the whole Council; and no Alderman shall leave his seat or place till the names of the Aldermen, and how voting, shall have been taken down by the Council Clerk or person officiating for him.

Divisions to be entered on minutes.

27. All divisions of the Council shall be entered on the minutes of the proceedings.

Questions to be read when required.

28. Any Alderman may require the question or matter under discussion to be read once for his information, and upon such request the question or matter under discussion shall be read.

Suspension of By-laws.

29. Any of these By-laws relating to or affecting proceedings at meetings of the Council may be suspended pro tempore in cases of emergency by resolution of the Council.

Rescinding motion already passed.

30. No motion to rescind any decision of the Council shall be entertained except at a Council of the Whole specially called for the purpose.

Questions may be put.

31. No question shall be put to the Mayor when in Council requiring the production of papers, or which cannot be replied to without reference to books or papers, unless twenty-four hours' notice in writing shall have been given thereof to the Council Clerk.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committees.

32. There shall be a Committee of Works and Finance Committee. These Committees shall be reappointed every year at the first meeting of the Council which shall be holden after the election of Mayor.

Committee of Works.

33. The Committee of Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other places under the management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time upon such improvement, repairs, or other matters as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

34. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect the finances of the municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

By-law Committee.

35. The By-law Committee shall prepare, for the consideration of the Council, drafts of such by-laws as may be required for the good government of the municipality.

Rules to be observed in Committee.

36. The rules of the Council shall be observed in a Committee of the whole Council, except the rule limiting the number of times of speaking.

Report of Committee to be signed.

37. Every report of a Committee shall be signed by the Chairman thereof.

Special Committees.

Appointment of special Committee to be made by resolution after due notice.

38. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a special Committee ought to be appointed; and no standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may, for the time being, have been entrusted to any such special Committee. The appointment of every such special Committee shall be made by resolution, after due notice, and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as, in his opinion, ought to constitute such Committee; or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members, to be appointed by ballot. And in the event of its becoming necessary, through an equality of votes, to decide as to which of two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committees, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

A Chairman to be elected by Committee.

39. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee within seven days after their appointment.

Protection of Funds and Records.

Member or officer of Council not to be surety.

40. In cases where surety is required by the Municipalities Act it shall not be competent for the Council to accept as surety any of their members, or any person holding office under the Council.

Custody of records, seal, &c.

41. The common seal and all charters, deeds, muniment^c books, papers, and records of the Council shall be kept in the Council Chambers or office of the Council, in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order for any purpose; and the common seal shall not be used except with the signature of the Mayor and authority of the Council.

Records, &c., not to be defaced or altered.

42. Any person who shall deface, alter, or destroy, or attempt to deface, alter, or destroy, any such common seal, charter, deed, muniment, book, paper, or record, shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay for the first offence a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds, and upon every subsequent conviction a penalty of not less than twenty pounds.

Nor removed.

43. Any person who shall remove, or attempt to remove (except for the purpose of any legal proceedings), any seal, charter, deed, muniment, book, paper, or record from the Council Chamber, without leave from the Council first had and obtained, shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than twenty pounds nor less than two pounds, and for every subsequent offence a penalty of not less than five pounds.

Expense of proposed works to be first ascertained—Accounts to be examined by Finance Committee.

44. No work shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been ascertained by the Council; and all accounts to be paid by the Council shall be examined by the Finance Committee and reported on by them before any warrant shall be issued for the payment thereof.

Outlay in urgent cases.

45. In cases of emergency arising between meetings of the Council it shall be lawful for necessary works to be ordered without vote of the Council, viz. :—By the Mayor to the extent of five pounds; and with the consent of three Aldermen any sum not exceeding twenty pounds.

Levying Rates, &c.

Due dates for rates—Defaulters.

46. The rates and taxes levied by the Council shall be held to be due and payable on such day or days as the Council shall by resolution from time to time appoint. Every person not paying his or her rates or taxes at the office of the Council, or to the Council Clerk or other proper officer of the Council, within thirty days after any of the days so appointed for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter. Provided that due notice of such rate shall have been given in manner as required by the Municipalities Act of 1867.

The Council Clerk to furnish list of defaulters.

47. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor and Council, or any Committee as directed, with lists of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

48. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in any Court of competent jurisdiction, or to issue distress warrants against all such persons, and to cause such warrants to be enforced.

Rates on damaged premises.

49. In the event of any premises being wholly or partially destroyed by fire or other accident, the Council shall have power to accept an equitable proportion of the assessed rates of such premises for the remainder of any municipal year.

Streets and Public Places.

New roads to be reported upon.

50. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been examined by a Committee of Works and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new roads, &c., to be deposited.

51. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation, through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, park or other place as aforesaid. And he or they shall execute any instrument dedicating such road, street, way, park, or other place, as the Council may consider necessary.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

52. The Council may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this by-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

No encroachment allowed on streets, &c.

53. Whenever any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare has been marked out, no house, shop, fence, or other structure shall be allowed, except as hereinafter mentioned, to project or encroach on any part thereof; and in order that the due alignment of the roads, streets, lanes, or thoroughfares within the said municipality shall be observed, and that no encroachment shall be made thereon, it shall not be lawful for any person, unless for any temporary or other purposes permitted by the Council, to erect or put up any building, erection, obstruction, fence, or enclosure, or make any excavation or hole on, under, or near such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, unless due notice of the same shall have been given to the Clerk of the Council at least one week before any such building, erection, obstruction, fence, or enclosure, excavation, or hole as aforesaid shall be commenced to be erected, or put up, or made, and the assent of the Council first obtained. And in default of the same the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than forty shillings; and on every successive conviction for a similar offence shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than three pounds.

Obstructing public pathways.

54. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this municipality shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such street or road so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and on demand made by the Council shall not cut, lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants to the height of eight feet at the least, the said Council, by their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and to remove or burn any portion of such trees, plants, or shrubs so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council, or their servants, labourers, or workmen, in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Erection of awnings.

55. No person shall erect an awning in front of any house or shop without first making application to the Council, and any person so doing without authority shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and have such awning removed.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

56. The Inspector of Nuisances or other such officer or person may at any time, on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroaching structure belongs, or who has erected the same, or caused it to be erected.

Council may remove encroachments.

57. In any case where after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same under the superintendence of its own proper officer, and at the cost of the person so offending, provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds, or at the Council's option to proceed against the offender for breach of by-law, the penalty not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor be less than one pound; and in case of every successive offence, the penalty, on conviction, not to be less than five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

58. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council either to direct such removal, and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment, or to proceed as for a breach of such by-laws as aforesaid.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

59. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavation; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him, or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these by-laws imposed, or cast on the said inspector or officer, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds or more than twenty pounds.

Erection of houses, &c.

60. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place in the borough without first serving notice, in writing, on the Mayor or Council Clerk, on any lawful day, between the hours of eight o'clock a.m. and eight o'clock p.m., stating such intention, and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and without having received an authority from the Mayor or Council Clerk, who will give the required level and alignment, if in a proclaimed street, on payment of a fee of ten shillings. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building-line in any street or lane, by the erection of houses, verandahs, doorsteps, fences, or other obstruction whatever.

Houses, &c., to be spouted.

61. All proprietors of houses within the municipality having a frontage to any main thoroughfare shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with down pipe, to be carried under the surface of the footpath into the gutter, under a penalty of ten shillings on conviction; and, if not remedied at the expiration of seven days after such conviction, the offender shall be again liable to a like conviction and penalty also for every succeeding seven days.

Offences—Nuisances—General Good Order of the Borough.

Damaging public buildings, &c.

62. Any person who shall damage any public building, wall, parapet, sluice, bridge, road, street, sewer, watercourse, or other property of the borough shall pay the cost of repairing the same; and if the same be wilfully done shall also forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds: Provided that such cost and penalty shall not exceed in the whole the sum of fifty pounds.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

63. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said borough, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Damaging trees.

64. Any person who shall wilfully and without the authority of the Council cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood, growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Throwing dead animals, &c., into any watercourse, &c.

65. Any person who shall throw or cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal, with intent to drown the same, into any watercourse, river, creek, or canal, or who shall permit or suffer slops, suds, nightsoil, sewerage matter, or any filth of any kind, to flow or be cast from his or her premises into any such watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or canal, or who shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the borough, or shall permit or cause by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, nightsoil, sewerage matter, slops, suds, or filth of any kind whatsoever, to flow or be cast into any watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or canal, or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or watercourse, river, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, and shall, in addition to any such forfeiture, pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction, or of restoring such watercourse or canal into its proper channel.

Throwing filth on roadway.

66. If any person shall in any street, road, lane, or public place, throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or so near to any of the said streets or roads as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over or be on any carriage or footway, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any footway, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow or truck, or any cask, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse or other beast upon any footway aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging or pulling up alignment marks or posts.

67. Any person pulling down or pulling up, destroying, or injuring any alignment or other boundary marks or stones, notice-boards, public notices, or other erection on any reserve, public place, or road, without the authority of the Council, shall forfeit and pay any amount not exceeding ten pounds.

Placing goods, &c., on roadways, &c.

68. If any person shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall, show-board, basket, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any case or vessels in or upon or over any road, footway, or public place, within the said borough, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, or other carriage upon any footway, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in, upon, or over any of the said carriage or footways, any timber, stones, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as hereinafter directed), or any other matters or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other things or matter whatsoever, from any house or premises, over any part of such footways or carriage-ways, or over any area of any house or premises, or any other matter or thing, from and on the outside or any part of any house or premises, over or next to any such street or road, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Council or any officer thereof, and shall not continue and keep the same so removed; or if any person having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed, or caused to be removed, any such stalls, show-board, basket, goods, coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, carriage, timber, stone, brick, lime, meat, offal, or other matters or things, and shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, or exposed, the same or any of them, or any other article or thing whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any of the carriage or footways or next unto any streets or roads as aforesaid,—in every such case every person so offending shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

69. If any person shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street, road, or public place, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled carriages, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing, which shall be carried principally or in part upon wheeled carriages, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place to the injury thereof, or to hang over any part of such carriage so as to occupy or obstruct the street or road beyond the breadth of the said carriage, every such person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence the sum of forty shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby; provided that such penalty and damages shall not together exceed the sum of ten pounds.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without leave, &c.

70. Any person who from any part of the road, street, thoroughfares, or public places, shall remove or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material without leave first had and obtained from the officers or persons having lawful charge of such roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any part of the said roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings, and for every subsequent offence shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one pound.

No driver to ride on vehicle without a person to guide his beasts (vehicles with reins excepted) or go to a distance from his vehicle, or drive on wrong sides, &c.—As to driving or riding improperly through streets.

71. If the driver of any waggon, dray, or vehicle of any kind, shall ride upon the same in any street, road, or thoroughfare, not having some person on foot to guide the animals drawing the same (such vehicles as are drawn by horses driven or guided by reins only excepted), or if the driver of any vehicle whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such vehicle, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street, road, or thoroughfare, that he cannot have the direction or government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same, or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, coach, carriage, or other vehicle, shall not drive on the left or near side of any such road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her on any vehicle under his or her care upon such street, road, or thoroughfare, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any person or vehicle or carriage in or upon the same, every such driver or person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

As to driving or riding improperly through streets.

72. Any person who shall ride or drive through any road, street, or public place, negligently, carelessly, or furiously, or so as to endanger the life or limb of any person, or to the common danger of the passengers, or who shall not carry a light upon any vehicle after an hour after sundown to daylight, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls and chalking thereon.

73. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard or other paper upon any wall, fence, house, or building, nor to deface any such wall, fence, house, or building, by chalk, paint or in any other manner, unless with the consent of the owner thereof. Any person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Cattle, &c., not to wander about streets, &c.

74. It shall not be lawful for any person to suffer any kind of cattle, horse, ass, mule, sheep, swine, or goat belonging to him or under his charge to stray, or go about, or to be depastured in any road, street, or public place in this borough; and any person who shall so offend shall forfeit and pay in respect of every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

As to private avenues.—Placing dead animals on premises.

75. Any owner or occupier of any house, place, or land within the said borough who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, yards, and ways within the said premises, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, or who shall allow stagnant water to become a nuisance on his land, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings for every such offence; and upon the reasonable complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the officer of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose.

Placing dead animals on premises.

76. Any person who shall place, or cause or suffer to be placed, upon any land or premises within the borough any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any other offensive matter, so as to become a nuisance to the inhabitants thereof, shall, on conviction, suffer and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Allowing dead animals to remain on premises.

77. Any owner or occupier of any land or premises who shall suffer or permit any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any other offensive matter, to remain upon the said land or premises after notice shall have been given to remove the same shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings for every day that the same shall so remain.

Removal of night-soil.

78. It shall not be lawful for any person or persons to drive, or cause to be driven, any cart or carriage of any kind with any night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, slop, urine, or channel dirt or filth, in or upon or near to any of the said streets, roads, or other public places; and in order to prevent nuisances it shall not be lawful for any person to deposit night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter nearer to any street, road, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or its officer; and all night-soil and other offensive matter shall be removed within the hours hereinafter prescribed, in properly-covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles; and no vehicles used for this purpose shall be allowed to stand on any premises nearer to any road, street, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or its officer; and every person offending against this by-law shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Hours for removing night-soil, &c.

79. If any person shall take away night-soil from any house or premises within the said borough, or shall come with carts or carriages for that purpose, except within the hours of ten at night and five in the morning, or if any person or persons shall cast or permit to leak or slop out of any cart or tub, or otherwise, any night-soil in or near any of the streets or public places, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of five pounds for every such offence; and in case the person or persons so offending cannot be found, then the owner or owners of such cart, carriage, or other vehicle employed in and about emptying and removing such night-soil, and also the employer or employers of the persons so offending, shall be liable to and forfeit such penalty as aforesaid.

Discharging firearms, &c.

80. Any person who shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause, or let off any fireworks or any other explosive matter in or near to any road or street, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council, &c.

81. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within the distance of one hundred feet of any dwelling-house, street, road, or other public places, shall give forty-eight hours' notice to the Council or any Alderman thereof, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place and give such other directions as they or he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the said Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Openings or cellars beneath footpaths prohibited.

82. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any cellar, or any opening, door, or window, in or beneath the surface of the footway of any road, street, or public place within the said borough, except by permission of the Council; and if any person shall so offend he shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds over and above the expenses of remedying or removing any such cellar, opening, door, or window, such expense to be assessed and allowed by the convicting Justice or Justices. Provided that such expense and penalty shall not exceed fifty pounds.

Wells to be covered over, &c.

83. Every person who shall have a well between his dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof and any public place, road, street, or footway, within the limits of the said borough, or at the side of such public place, road, street, or footway, or in any yard or place open and exposed to such public place, road, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently closed over; and if any person having such well as aforesaid shall fail to cover and secure the same within forty-eight hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left at such person's usual or last known abode, or at the said premises, in the manner and with such materials as the Council or its officers shall direct, and to their satisfaction, such person shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five shillings every day that such well shall remain open or uncovered contrary to the provisions hereof. Provided that with respect to wells or underground tanks open at the time when this by-law shall come into operation such penalty shall not be recoverable if the same be properly covered in one month thereafter.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

84. Every person who, in any street, or other place, or passage within the said borough, shall commit any of the following offences shall on conviction, for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds:—

Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.

Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place, the carcass, or any part of the carcass, of any newly-slaughtered animal without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger or annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall, within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house, burn any rags, bones, or cork, or other offensive substance (garden refuse excepted) to the annoyance of any inhabitant.

Every person who shall be the keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person in any street or other public place within the said borough.

Any person or persons standing or loitering upon any of the streets, footways, or other public places in the said municipal district, to the inconvenience of the passers-by, or in any way interrupting the traffic, shall discontinue to do so on being required by any officer or servant of the said municipal district, or by any police officer.

Any person who shall, in any street or place within the said municipal district, post, expose to view, or distribute any placard, handbill, or other document whatever of an offensive or indecent character.

Every person or persons who shall persist in playing in a public place any musical instrument or instruments to the annoyance of any ratepayer who may object to it.

Water from roofs, &c.

85. Every owner or occupier of any dwelling-house, shop, or other building who shall permit rain-water to fall from any roof, balcony, or other projection, upon any street, road, lane, or footway, or shall cause or permit any such roof or rain-water to be discharged by any pipe upon any such street, road, lane, or footway, shall, if such nuisance be not abated within seven days after notice to abate the same shall have been given by the Council, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Drains to footpaths.

86. No surface drain shall be made in any footpath, nor any pipes laid under or across the same, without the authority of the Council; and no such pipe or drain shall be used for the discharge into any street or roadway of any offensive liquid or matter of any kind whatsoever; and any person who shall so offend shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Drains for discharge of surface water from land.

87. Every owner or occupier of land so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow, or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any road, lane, or footway, shall within seven days after the service of notice by the Council abate such nuisance where possible; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid such owner or occupier shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Natural watercourses.

88. Any person who shall close or intercept any natural watercourse, by building or otherwise, shall provide another outlet for the surface water with pipes or sewers of a size and in a manner to be approved by the Council, and any person failing to comply with the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Noxious Weeds.Bathurst burr, &c.

89. Any occupier or owner of lands within this municipal district allowing any Bathurst burrs or any other noxious weeds to grow in or upon such lands, after receiving due notice from the Council for their destruction, shall neglect to destroy such weeds within twenty-one days after receiving such notice, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five pounds.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.Fire or combustible material, &c.

90. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable article of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings (except with the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof), shall, on conviction of every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable article; and every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable article to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this by-law.

Water Supply.[Polluting water, reservoirs, &c.]

91. Whosoever shall bathe in any stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to or under the management of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, throw, or cause to enter therein, any animal, whether alive or dead, or any rubbish, filth, or thing of any kind whatsoever, or shall cause or permit to suffer to run or to be brought therein, the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine, or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome, or improper liquid; or shall wash any clothes at any public fountain or pump, or in any such stream, reservoir, conduit, or other waterworks as aforesaid, or shall do anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, shall be fouled, obstructed, or damaged, shall, for the first offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; for a second offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Damming up water without consent.

92. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment in or across any river, creek, or natural watercourse, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds, and if, after such second conviction, such persons shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time, he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if within a reasonable time, after a third or any further conviction, he shall fail to remove any such dam or embankment, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Supply of water in time of drought.

93. In time of drought or scarcity of water the Council may, by resolution to that effect, cause water to be supplied to the inhabitants of this borough by water-carts or otherwise, and shall, by such resolution as aforesaid, fix a price to be charged for water so supplied.

General.Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

94. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negativing such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed by-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any by-law for the repeal or amendment of any other by-law.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

95. In all cases not herein provided for resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

PART II.Collection and Enforcement of Rates.

Rates under Section 164 of the 31st Victoria No. 12 to be collected half-yearly.

Times and modes of collection.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provision of section 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purpose mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by half-yearly instalments. Each such instalment shall, as to every such rate and every such instalment thereof, be held to be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall, by resolution, appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days, as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing of such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Office-hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Bailiff.Bailiff's sureties.

4. The Bailiff shall be appointed by resolution of the Council, and shall be, at any time, removable by a like resolution, and shall find two sureties of £25 each for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office.

Levy and Distress.Warrant of distress.

5. The Bailiff shall make all levies and distress, under warrant signed by the Mayor, in the form of Schedule marked A hereunto annexed, and shall be paid for every such entry and levy made under these by-laws the fees as per Schedule C annexed hereto.

Distress and sale, &c.

6. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the Bailiff shall sell the goods as distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the said borough as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose; and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

7. At the time of making a distress the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand at any time within one month after such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

8. The Bailiff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days, as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy and in order to carry off and remove the same, on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

9. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may at his or her option direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

10. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

11. There shall be payable to the Bailiff, for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this by-law, the cost and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

Deputy.

12. The Bailiff may, with the sanction in writing of the Mayor, or, in his absence, with the sanction of any two Aldermen of the municipality, authorize, by writing under his hand, any person to act temporarily as his deputy; and the person so authorized shall have the exercise of all the powers of the Bailiff himself, but the Bailiff and his sureties shall in every case be responsible for the acts of such deputy.

SCHEDULE A.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF TENTERFIELD—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 21st August, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF TENTERFIELD.—BY-LAWS.

THE following amended By-laws, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," made by the Council of the Municipal District of Tenterfield, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

AMENDED BY-LAWS OF THE MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF TENTERFIELD.

BY-LAWS Nos. 64, 127, and 128, published on the 29th day of May, 1888, are hereby repealed.

By-law in lieu of No. 127, repealed.

127. For carts, drays, waggons, &c., plying for hire within the Municipality of Tenterfield:—That from and after the passing of this By-law, any person who shall be desirous to ply with any car, cab, or other vehicle, or with any cart, dray, or waggon for hire or reward, or to draw or to carry with any cart, dray, or waggon, any wood, water, butcher's meat, bread, dairy farm or other produce, bricks, stone, or any building materials, or any merchandise or other property whatsoever for hire or reward within the said Municipality, shall, on being approved of by the Mayor, register his name and place of abode in the office of the Council Clerk, and shall thereupon, and from time to time thereafter, on payment by him of the rate according to the scale hereinafter mentioned, receive from the Council Clerk a license, on which shall be written his name, place of abode, and number of vehicle so approved; and if any person shall ply with any car, cab, or other vehicle, or with any cart, dray, or waggon without being so licensed, or shall cause or procure any person to ply not being so licensed, within the said Municipality, or if any person shall draw or carry any wood or water with any cart, dray, or waggon for the supply of the inhabitants of the said Municipality without being so licensed, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound. The following is the scale of fees for licenses above mentioned:—

	£	s.	d.
For every four-wheeled waggon, an annual sum of	2	0	0
For every bullock dray, an annual sum of	1	10	0
For every car, cab, dray, water cart, or light cart, an annual sum of	1	0	0

Payable on the first day of January in each year: Provided such licenses may be issued for a term of three months at one-fourth of the rate of the annual licensing fee, to take effect from the first day of January, the first day of April, the first day of July, and the first day of October, and may be issued at any date during the year but subject to such quarterly term.

By-law No. 64, in lieu of No. 64, repealed.

No person shall be allowed to obstruct any road, street, or public thoroughfare within the Municipality by building materials, drays, carts, or anything calculated to obstruct or hinder free passage, without the sanction of the Council in writing; and no person shall be allowed to leave water-holes or excavations for cellars or other purposes unfenced, or in such a manner as to be dangerous to passers-by, but shall erect such a fence around the same to protect the public against any possible harm as the Council may direct, within seven days of being notified by the Council.

By-law No. 151.—Blasting Rock.

Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street, or public place, or dwelling-house in the said Municipality, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Mayor, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the Mayor, he or she shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of Tenterfield, this 16th day of June, 1890.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BOWRAL—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 25th August, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BOWRAL.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Bowral, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAWS of the Bowral Municipal Council for the Licensing of Vehicles, &c.

1. All carriers and owners of vehicles plying or carrying passengers or goods for hire or reward within the said Municipality, shall have their vehicles licensed by the Council, and the owners shall have their names painted in legible letters, with the word "Licensed" on some conspicuous part of such vehicles respectively. The license fee shall be at the rate of two shillings and six pence per wheel, and be in force until the 31st December each year. And every person driving any unlicensed vehicle with passengers, goods, or loading of any description for hire or reward, or who shall omit or fail to comply with the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings.

2. No person shall act as the driver or the conductor of any such vehicle within the Municipality of Bowral unless licensed in the manner hereinafter described, and paying the fee for such license as provided for in Schedule D.

3. Before any license for plying a vehicle or to drive or conduct the same shall be granted, the party requiring such license shall obtain from the Council Clerk, free of charge, requisition in form of Schedule I hereto, or to the like effect, and shall duly fill up and sign the same, and deliver it to the Council Clerk.

4. No license shall be granted in respect of any vehicle which, in the opinion of the Mayor and By-law Committee, shall be unsafe, or in bad repair, or otherwise unfit for the accommodation and conveyance of passengers.

5. Licenses for proprietors and drivers of vehicles shall be in form of Schedule H hereto, or to the like effect.

6. When a licensed vehicle shall be under repair, if the proprietor shall so desire, he may be permitted to substitute another for a period to be hereby specified by endorsement on the license under the hand of the Council Clerk.

7. No license shall be granted to any person to drive any vehicle unless he be sixteen years of age or over.

8. All licenses shall be made out by the Council Clerk, and numbered consecutively.

9. No proprietor shall be at liberty to part with or lend his license, nor to part with his licensed vehicle to any person without the knowledge and approval of the Mayor and By-law Committee, and the registry of the name of the purchaser in the books of the Council.

10. The person or persons in whose name or names a license shall appear to have been obtained shall be deemed the owner of the vehicle in respect of which the same shall have been taken out.

11. The Mayor and By-law Committee may revoke any license to the proprietor or driver of any vehicle granted under this part of these By-laws whenever they shall think fit. Provided, however, such proprietor or driver shall have an opportunity to show cause against such revocation.

12. The Mayor and By-law Committee shall as often as they may deem it necessary cause an inspection to be made of all licensed vehicles, or of any such vehicles and of the harness and horse or horses used in drawing the same; and if any such vehicle, horse or horses, or harness, shall at any time be found by them unfit for public use, notice of the same shall be given by the Inspector of Vehicles to the proprietor of such vehicle, and if after such notice he shall use or let to hire such vehicle, or suffer the same to be used and let until the same or the harness, or horse or horses used in drawing the same as the case may require, shall be in a fit condition for public use, the said Committee may suspend, for such time as they may deem proper, the license of such vehicle; and in case any person shall neglect or refuse to attend with his licensed vehicle before the said Committees, when called upon for the purpose of having the same inspected, the said Committee may suspend the license of such vehicle.

13. The number of the license granted for every omnibus or car, in figures not less than three inches in height, and for every carriage or cab, in figures not less than two inches in height, white upon a black ground, shall be painted outside on the panel of the door of such vehicles, or on a plate or plates affixed thereon.

14. No omnibus shall ply for hire within the said Municipality unless there shall be painted the number of the license of such vehicle, and the numbers of persons such vehicle is licensed to carry according to these By-laws in words at length, in the following form, that is to say,—licensed to carry inside, and outside.

15. Any person having taken his or her seat in any licensed vehicle, and not paying the fare when demanded at the beginning of the ride, shall on conviction forfeit and pay to the owner or driver of such omnibus or car, such amount of over damages, cost, and expenses for loss of time or otherwise, as the convicting Justices shall in their discretion think proper.

16. Every driver, whilst engaged in taking up or setting down any passenger, shall, during such taking up and setting down, place his vehicle as near as conveniently may be to that side of the street and at a line with the kerbstone or edge of the footpath at which the taking up or setting down is required.

17. The driver of every licensed vehicle shall be constantly attendant upon the same when standing, or whilst plying or engaged for hire.

18. Every licensed vehicle plying or engaged after sunset shall be provided with a light on each side, and shall keep the same lighted until sunrise, if so long plying or engaged.

19. The owner of every licensed vehicle, at the time of obtaining the license for the same, and every driver of any such vehicle at the time of registering his license, shall, without any charge, have a printed copy of this part of these By-laws delivered to him, certified by the signature of the Council Clerk.

20. Such person or persons as may from time to time be on that behalf appointed by the Council, shall be Inspector or Inspectors, during the pleasure of the said Council, of all licensed vehicles plying for hire within the Municipality, and such Inspector or Inspectors shall every three months examine all such vehicles and report to the Mayor and By-law Committee, and shall at all times see that, as far as possible, these By-laws are duly observed.

21. No person suffering from any infectious disease shall ride in or upon any licensed vehicle, and no driver or conductor shall knowingly carry or permit to be carried any such person, or (except to some police office or watch-house) any corpse, or any person in a state of intoxication, or who is so noisily or violently conducting himself or otherwise so misbehaving as to occasion any annoyance, or to disturb the public peace; and no passenger shall carry on any licensed passenger-carrying vehicle any animal or any substance of an offensive character, or that might soil or damage the vehicle or the apparel of other passengers; and no driver or conductor shall sleep in or upon any licensed vehicle, or use the same for eating his meals therein.

22. All hackney carriages and cabs carrying passengers shall (except when turning street corners, or going over crossings) proceed at a speed of not less than six miles an hour, unless when attending funerals, or when otherwise ordered by the hirer.

23. The driver of any licensed vehicle shall not stand or loiter at any place in any public street within the said Municipality, excepting he be bona fide waiting for a passenger.

24. The Council may, by resolution from time to time, as they may deem necessary, fix stands for all licensed vehicles.

25. The fares payable by persons hiring licensed vehicles shall be those provided for in Schedule E hereto annexed.

26. The fees payable by persons hiring van or dray shall be those provided for in Schedule F hereto annexed.

27. Copies of Schedule E shall be placed in each licensed vehicle by the proprietors thereof, in such a position as to be easily seen by passengers.

28. No licensed vehicle shall be drawn past a place of public worship on Sundays, during Divine service, at a quicker pace than a walk.

29. For every offence against the provisions of this part of these By-laws to which no specific penalty has been attached herein, the offender shall pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

30. Whenever the word "vehicle" shall be used in this part of these By-laws the same shall be understood to apply to either an omnibus, car, hackney carriage, or cab; and an omnibus shall be meant to be a vehicle upon four wheels, drawn by one or more horses; and a car is a vehicle upon two wheels, drawn by one horse, and for which omnibus licenses have been taken out; and a hackney carriage shall mean a vehicle upon four wheels, drawn by two or more horses, and a cab, a vehicle upon two wheels for which hackney carriage licenses have been taken out.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BINGARA—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 21st August, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BINGARA.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Bingara, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BINGARA MUNICIPALITY BY-LAWS.

PART I.

PROCEEDINGS of the Council and Committee, Duties of Officers and Servants, and preservation of order at Council meetings.

Meetings of the Council.

Ordinary meetings.

1. Unless otherwise ordered, the Council shall meet for despatch of business on every alternate Monday, at the hour of 7:30 p.m., unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such day as the Mayor may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.

Adjournment for want of a quorum.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of thirty minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down and recorded in the Minute Book.

Business of ordinary meetings.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and signed by the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and orders made thereon.
3. Correspondence to be read, and order made thereon, if expedient.
4. Petitions (if any) to be read and dealt with.
5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to, and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council, or any of the Committees or Officers to be made.

6. Motions of which notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.

7. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper: Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time by resolution without notice to entertain any particular motion or to deal with any particular matter of business out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; and also, in like manner to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business at special meetings.

4. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and confirmed, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or Aldermen at whose instance the special meeting shall be called may have directed.

Business papers for ordinary meetings—how prepared.

5. The business paper for every meeting of the Council, other than a special meeting, shall be made up by the Council Clerk not less than one, or more than four days before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy or the substance of every notice of motion, and of every requisition or order as to business proposed to be transacted at such meeting, which he shall have received or shall have been required or directed so to enter in due course of law—and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made (subject to the provision of Section IV, of this "Part" of these By-laws) in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction shall have been received.

Summons to members.

6. The summons to members of the Council for every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How business papers shall be disposed of

7. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meeting, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with. And each business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received and preserved until disposed of, unless withdrawn before the business paper is made up.

8. All notices of motion and all requisitions from Aldermen and directions from the Mayor as to the entry of any particular matter of business for the consideration of the Council at the then next or any future meeting, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the Minute Book of the manner in which such matter has been so disposed of shall have been duly verified, as required by Section IV, of this "Part" of the By-laws. Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk, shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of such business paper.

Motions and amendments.

Motions—how to be moved.

9. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from such business paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Absence of proposed mover.

10. No motion, of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper, shall be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first named Alderman.

Motions to be seconded.

11. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions to be in writing and not withdrawn without leave.

12. Every notice of motion shall be in writing, dated and signed by the Alderman proposing the same, and no motion shall be withdrawn without leave of the Council. No motion, the effect of which, if carried, would be to rescind any motion which has already been passed by the Council, shall be entered upon the business paper unless a call of the whole Council has been duly made, and granted for that purpose.

Amendment may be moved.

13. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Only one amendment at a time.

14. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Requisition by an Alderman.

15. Every requisition by an Alderman that any particular matter of business be brought before the Council shall be regarded and treated as a notice of motion by such Alderman, and such business be taken into consideration by the Council.

Aldermen presenting petitions to make themselves acquainted with the contents.

16. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting same.

Petitions and correspondence.

17. The Council may at any meeting resolve without previous notice, that any petition be received, and that the same or any correspondence read be referred to a Committee to report, or that the requests contained therein be granted.

Mayor to preserve order.

18. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and may at any time call to order any Alderman who may appear to him to be out of order.

Calls to order.

19. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any Alderman being out of order, or to any point of order.

Mayor's decision of points of order to be final.

20. Every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor or Chairman thereon shall be conclusive, except as hereinafter provided.

Power of Council as to laying down general rules, &c

21. Any alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice may, by motion on notice, respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar question or order or of practice which may hereinafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding on all parties unless, and until it be rescinded, but shall have no retrospective operation.

Mayor may take part in proceedings.

22. The Mayor may take part in all proceedings of the Council or Committees thereof.

Questions put by the Mayor.

23. The Mayor shall put all questions, first in the affirmative, and then in the negative (provided that where an amendment is moved to any motion, the amendment shall be first put) and may do so as often as may be necessary to enable him to determine the sense of the Council thereon, and thereupon he shall declare his decision, which shall be final, unless a division be called for.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience of Aldermen.

24. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time the Mayor shall decide which of them shall be entitled to pre-audience.

Aldermen to stand while speaking.

25. Every Alderman shall stand while speaking, and shall address the chair.

No Alderman to speak twice on the same question or amendment except in Committees.

26. No Alderman shall speak twice on the same question unless in Committee, or in explanation, where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood: Provided that any Alderman, although having previously spoken, may speak once on every amendment, and that the mover of every question shall always have a right of final reply.

No Alderman to make personal reflection.

27. No Alderman shall digress from the matter under discussion or make personal reflections on, or impute motives to any other Alderman, or speak on any question more than fifteen minutes.

Aldermen using offensive expression to apologize.

28. When any member of the Council shall make use of any language or expression offensive, or capable of being applied offensively to any Alderman, the member so offending shall be required to withdraw such language or expression, and to make an apology satisfactory to the Council.

Debate may be adjourned.

29. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the same day, or to another day.

Aldermen adjourning debate entitled to precedence on resumption.

30. The Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to precedence on resumption of the debate.

Adjournments.

31. Any motion for adjournment, if seconded, shall be immediately put without discussion, but if such motion be negatived, it shall not be competent for any Alderman to make a similar motion until thirty minutes shall have elapsed.

Any Alderman may divide Council.

32. It shall be competent for any Alderman to divide the Council on any question, both in full Council and in Committee of the whole Council; and no Alderman shall leave his seat or place till the name of the Alderman, and how voting, shall have been taken down by the Council Clerk, or persons officiating for him.

Divisions to be entered on minutes.

33. All divisions of the Council shall be entered on the minutes of the proceedings.

Questions to be read when required.

34. Any Alderman may require the question or matter under discussion to be read once for his information, and upon such request the question or matter under discussion shall be read.

Suspension of By-laws.

35. Any of these By-laws relating to or affecting proceedings at meetings of Council, may be suspended pro tempore in cases of emergency by resolution of the Council.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

36. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

Standing Committees.

37. There shall be an Improvement Committee and a Finance Committee. These Committees shall be reappointed every year after the first meeting of the Council, which shall be holden after the election of Mayor.

Improvement Committee.

38. The Improvement Committee shall have the general direction of all roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other places under the care and management of the Council. They shall also require and report from time to time upon such improvements, repairs, or other matters as they think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

Finance Committee.

39. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed, by resolution of the Council, to inquire into and report upon.

Special Committees.

40. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty, which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and for which in the opinion of the Council a special Committee ought to be appointed, and no Standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time have been intrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution, and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be intrusted to such Special Committees. The mover of any such resolution may name therein any such members as in his opinion ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consists of a certain number of member, to be appointed by ballot; or an amendment to the effect that such Special Committee be appointed by ballot, may be carried.

Rules to be observed in Committees.

41. The rules of the Council shall be observed in a Committee of the whole Council, except the rule limiting the number of times of speaking.

Reports of Committee to be signed.

42. Every report of a Committee shall be signed by the Chairman thereof.

Protection of Funds and Records.

Member or Officer of Council not to be surety.

43. In cases where surety is required by the Municipalities Act, it shall not be competent for the Council to accept as surety any of their members, or any person holding office under the Council.

Duties of the Council Clerk.

44. The Council Clerk shall attend at the office of the Council for the purpose of receiving payment of rates and transacting the ordinary business of the Council, at such time and place as may be determined by the Council from time to time.

45. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which by the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder, he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of Revision Courts held in the Municipality under the provisions of the said Municipalities Act; he shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council; he shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council, and the duties of such Mayor.

Custody of records, seal, &c.

46. The common seal, and all charters, books, papers, and records of the Council, shall be kept in the Council Chambers, or office of the Council, in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order for any purpose, and the common seal shall not be used except with the signature of the Mayor.

Bonds for good conduct and deeds of real and personal estate.

47. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties, and deeds of real and personal estate, shall be deposited with the bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order, and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any such officer or servant.

Records, &c., not to be defaced or altered.

48. Any person who shall deface, alter, or destroy, or attempt to deface, alter, or destroy any such common seal, charter, deed, muniment book, paper, or record shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay for the first offence a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds; and upon every subsequent conviction a penalty of not less than twenty pounds.

Nor remove.

49. Any person who shall remove or attempt to remove (except for the purpose of any legal proceedings) any such seal charter, deed, muniment, book, paper, or record from the Council Chambers, without leave from the Council, first had and obtained, shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than twenty pounds nor less than two pounds, and for every subsequent offence a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Expenses of proposed works to be first ascertained—Accounts to be examined by Finance Committee.

50. No work shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been ascertained by the Council; and all accounts to be paid by the Council shall be examined by the Finance Committee, and reported on by them before any warrant shall be issued for the payment thereof.

Outlay in urgent cases.

51. In cases of emergency arising between meetings of the Council it shall be lawful for necessary work to be ordered without vote of the Council, viz., by the Mayor, to the extent of ten pounds (£10): Provided that in the absence of the Mayor any four Aldermen shall have that power.

Duties of other officers and servants.

52. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation shall be defined by such regulations as may from time to time be moved by the Council.

Special power of Mayor.

53. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or any information by any such officer or servant, as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have already been prepared or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is on record, as hereinbefore provided, or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statement or the giving of such explanation or information; all such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded; all such explanation or information may, except as hereinafter provided, be either recorded viva voce or put into writing as the Mayor may direct.

Statement of accounts.

54. Not later than the months of March and September in each year the Mayor shall lay before the Council for its adoption the Treasurer's account for the previous half year duly audited; but should any Auditor not attend for the purpose of auditing the account when required by authority of the Mayor to do so, or refuse to certify to the correctness of the account, unless he can prove to the satisfaction of the Council that the account is incorrect, he shall pay a fine of ten (10) pounds to be recovered in a summary way before any two Justices of the Peace, the said fine to be carried to the credit of the Municipal funds.

How complaints against officers, &c., are to be dealt with.

55. All complaints against officers or servants of the Corporation must be in writing and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing or is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the same before the Council shall have power to investigate the same, and if any such complaint be made to the Council, or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to and investigated by the Mayor before it shall be dealt with by such Council: Provided that every report, explanation, and information which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaints shall be in writing; and such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation, and his opinion as to what order (if any) ought to be made in connection therewith; and such complaints, with all reports, explanations, and information as aforesaid in connection therewith, and the Mayor's statement as aforesaid thereon, shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be holden after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided further that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the special power conferred on the Mayor by Section 152 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or any other special power which now is, or hereinafter may be, conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Leave of absence.

56. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman otherwise than by a resolution of the Council adopted after due notice.

Mode of calling for tenders.

57. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any material supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work, or the supply of such material, shall be called for by public notice as hereinafter provided.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties, &c.

58. Such suits or information for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breaches of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or of any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute, the operation of which may have been extended to the Municipality as may have been directed by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid, shall be so commenced or laid as follows, namely:— When against a member of the Council, or an Auditor, or any officer of the Corporation, by the Council Clerk, unless such Council Clerk shall be the officer to be proceeded against, and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose. When against any other person, by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or By-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been entrusted; and if there shall be no such officer, then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or the Mayor, as the case may be, on directing such suit or information. And no such suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council or Auditor except by order of such Council, nor shall any similar proceedings be taken against any officer of the Council except on the order of such Council, or by the Mayor, nor against any other person except upon the order of the Council, or of the Mayor, or of the By-law Committee. And no such suit shall be directed to be brought, nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid except on an express resolution of the Council, in any case where the bringing of such suit or the laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction by such Council, or where on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information the same shall have been dismissed on the merits: Provided that in any such case the conduct or prosecution of any such suit or information may, on the order of the Council, be entrusted to an attorney.

How notices are to be published.

59. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law such notice shall be given and published by advertising the same in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality.

Rates when due and payable.

60. All rates levied and imposed by the Council shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council shall by resolution, without any notice of motion, from time to time appoint.

Council Clerk to furnish list of defaulters.

61. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor and Council, or any Committee as directed, with list of persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

62. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in any Court of competent jurisdiction, or to issue distress warrants against all such persons, and to cause such warrants to be enforced.

Enforcement of Distress.

63. The bailiff shall be appointed by resolution of the said Council, and shall be at any time removable by a like resolution.

64. The bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of fifty pounds sterling each, for the faithful performance of his duties.

65. It shall be the duty of the Bailiff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates, in the manner hereinafter provided.

66. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant, in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

67. If the sum for which any distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs, as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the Bailiff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the Municipality as the said bailiff may think proper to remove them for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

68. At the time of making a distress the bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf, resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress was made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer, on demand, at any time within one month after making such distress,

SCHEDULE A.

Streets and Public Places.

New roads to be reported upon.

69. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council, until after such road, way, park, or street shall have been examined by a committee of works, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new road, &c., to be deposited.

70. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said municipal district shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation, through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place; he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, park, or other place as aforesaid. And he or they shall execute any instrument, dedicating such road, street, way, park, or other place, as the Council may consider necessary.

Roads and streets, and encroachments thereon, &c.

71. The Surveyor of the municipal district, or other officer, or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes and thoroughfares, and the carriage and footways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under, or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land with frontage to the road, street, lane, or thoroughfares in question shall have been sold or let; and it shall be the duty of such surveyor or officer to place posts at the corner or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way; and 12 feet for the footway on each side; where the road, lane, street, or thoroughfare, or other place of other width than 66 feet; provided that there shall be no change of level, in any such public road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, or public place, until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided: Provided further that this By-law shall be read, subject in all respects to "The Width of Streets and Lands Act of 1881."

Change of street levels

72. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid; the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed alteration to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers; and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipal District, that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman, and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk; and such plan and section so signed and countersigned, shall be a record of the Council.

Footways may be levelled.

73. When any footway shall have been marked out in manner hereinbefore directed, the surveyor, or such officer or persons so authorized as hereinbefore mentioned, may cause the same to be levelled and made as nearly as practicable of equal height and breadth, and with an equal slope and inclination; and for this purpose may remove any flagging, steps or other matter, thing, or obstruction that may injure or obstruct the said footway, or render it unequal, or inconvenient; and which now is or may hereafter be erected or placed on the space marked out for any of the said footways.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs.

74. The Mayor may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person who shall travel on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or remove or destroy any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

No encroachments allowed on streets, &c.

75. Whenever any road, street, or lane has been marked out in manner herein provided, no house, shop, fence, or other structure shall, except as hereinafter mentioned, be allowed to project or encroach on any part thereof. And it shall not be lawful for any person to erect or put up any building, erection, obstruction, fence, or enclosure, or to make any excavation, hole, or opening, in under, or upon, or near to any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, unless the consent of the Council, or Mayor, has been obtained to the erecting or making of such building, erection, obstruction, fence or enclosure, excavation hole, or opening, as aforesaid; and every person offending against this By-law shall forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds, and for every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than three pounds.

76. If the owner or occupier of any land situated on the side of any street or road in this Municipal district, shall permit any tree, shrub or plant kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such street or road, and on demand of the Council, shall not cut, lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs or plants, to the height of eight feet at the least, the said Council, by their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, or shrubs, and to remove or burn any such trees, plants, or shrubs, so cut or lopped without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist, or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council, or their servants, labourers, or workmen, in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867. Every person so offending shall, on conviction of every such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

No balcony &c., to project.

77. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any awning, verandah, portico, balcony, or window forming part of, or attached to, any external wall, to project beyond the building line of any street or road, except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony, or any other external projection as aforesaid, which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds, except with the consent of the Council first obtained: Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony, shall be permitted to be erected in any street less than thirty feet wide: provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

78. The Surveyor, or other such officer or person, may at any time, on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building fence, or other obstruction or encroachment, in and upon any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroaching structure belongs, or who has erected the same, or caused it to be erected,

Council may remove encroachments.

79. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within thirty days, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same under the superintendence of its own proper officer and at the cost of the person so offending: Provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds, or at the Council's option, to proceed against the offender for breach of By-law, the penalty not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor be less than five pounds, and in case of every successive offence the penalty, on conviction, not to be less than five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

80. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment, or to proceed as for a breach of such By-law as aforesaid.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

81. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to obstructions by digging or excavation; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Surveyor, or other officer as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him, or either of them in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Surveyor or officer, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Offences, Nuisances--General Good Order of the Municipal District.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

82. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipal District shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for such offence a sum not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Damaging trees.

83. Any person who shall wilfully, or without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, or root up or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood, growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, or in or upon any public reserve, or park, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten pounds, or less than two pounds.

Throwing dead animals, &c., into any water-course, &c.

84. Any person who shall throw or cast filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animals with intent to drown the same, into any water-course, waterhole, creek, or canal, or who shall permit or suffer slops, suds, night-soil, sewage matter or filth of any kind to flow or be cast from his or her premises into any such water-course, waterhole, creek, or canal, or who shall permit or suffer any slops, suds, night-soil, sewage matter or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the Municipal District, or shall permit, or cause by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, night-soil, sewage matter, slops, suds or filth of any kind whatsoever to flow or be cast in any water-course, waterhole, creek, or canal, or who shall obstruct, or divert from its channel, any sewer: or water-course, creek or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five (5) pounds nor less than one pound, and shall, in addition to any such forfeiture, pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction, or of restoring such water-course or canal into its proper channel.

Throwing filth on roadway, &c.

85. If any person shall, in any street, road, lane or public place, throw, cast or lay, or shall cause, permit or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood or other filth, or shall slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb or other animal, in or so near to any of the said streets or roads as that any blood or filth shall run, or flow upon or over, or be on any carriage or footway, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any footway any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage on any wheelbarrow, truck, or any cask, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, or other beast upon any footway aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Placing goods, &c., on roadway, &c.

86. If any person shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall, showboard, basket, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash or cleanse, or cause to be hooped, washed, placed or cleansed any cask or vessel in or upon or over any road, footway, or public place within the said Municipal District, or shall set out, lay or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed any coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, or other carriage upon any footway, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed in, upon, or over any of the said carriage or footways, any timber, stones, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as hereinafter provided), or any other matters or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed any meat or offal, or other things or matter whatsoever from any house or premises over any part of such footways or carriage ways, or over any area of any house or premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of any part of any house or premises, over or next to any such street or road, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matter or things being thereto required by the Council or any officer thereof, and shall not continue and keep the same so removed; or if any person, having in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid removed, or caused to be removed, any such stall, showboard, basket, goods, coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, carriage, timber, stone, brick, lime, meat offal, or other matter or things, and shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, or exposed, the same, or any of them, or any other article or thing whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid) in, upon, or over any carriage ways or footways of or next into any streets or roads as aforesaid;— in every such case every person so offending shall forfeit a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

87. If any person shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn upon any part of any street, road, or public place, any timber, stone, or other thing otherwise than upon wheeled carriages, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon wheeled carriages, to drag or trail upon any part of such carriage-way so as to occupy or obstruct the road or street beyond the breadth of such carriage, every such person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence the sum of two pounds over and above the damages occasioned thereby: Provided that such penalty and damages shall not together exceed the sum of five pounds nor less than one pound.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without leave, &c.

88. Any person who from any part of the roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places, shall remove, or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material without leave first had and obtained from the officers or persons having lawful charge of such roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places, or who shall wantonly break or otherwise damage a part of the said roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings, and for every subsequent offence shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than one pound.

No driver to ride on vehicle without a person to guide his beasts (vehicles with reins excepted), or go to a distance from his vehicle, or drive on wrong side, &c.

89. If the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or vehicle of any kind shall ride upon the same in any street, road, or thoroughfare, not having some person on foot to guide his horses or animals during the same (such vehicles as are drawn by horses driven or guided with reins only excepted) or if the driver of any carriage or vehicle whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage or vehicle, or in such a situation, whilst it shall be passing upon such street, road, or thoroughfare, that he cannot have the direction or government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, coach, or other vehicle, shall not drive on the left or near side of any such road or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any vehicle under his or her care, upon such road, street, or thoroughfare, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any person, or vehicle, or carriage, in or upon the same, every such driver or person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than two shillings and sixpence.

Name and place of abode

90. The owner of every such waggon, cart, dray, or vehicle of any kind as last above mentioned who shall allow the same to be driven through the said Municipal District of Bingara without having his name and place of abode painted in full length, on the off side legibly, the driver or person in charge of such waggon, cart, or dray as aforesaid who shall refuse to give his and the owner's name and address shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

As to riding or driving improperly through the streets, &c.

91. Any person who shall ride or drive through any road, street or public place negligently, carelessly or furiously, or so as to endanger the life or limb of any person, or to the common danger of the passengers, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings.

Swine, &c., not to wander about streets.

92. Any person who shall feed, breed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure, situate and being in or within forty yards of any street or public place in the Municipality or who shall suffer any swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of like nature belonging to him or under his charge, to stray or to go about or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or public place within the Municipality, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Restrictions on certain trades, &c.

93. It shall not be lawful for the business of soap boiler, tallow melter, tripe boiler, tanner, currier, pig keeper or any occupation, trade, or manufacture of an obnoxious or unwholesome nature, prejudicial to the health of, or otherwise offensive to, any of the inhabitants thereof, to be commenced or established within the limits of this Municipal District without consent of the Council first had and obtained: And whosoever shall offend against this by-law shall forfeit and pay on conviction a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds, and a further sum of two pounds for each and every day during which he continues to offend.

Hours for removing night-soil, &c.

94. Any person who shall remove any night-soil or ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter, or shall come with carts or carriages for that purpose, between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning and 10 o'clock at night, or shall at any time remove any such night soil or ammoniacal liquor otherwise than in properly covered and watertight carts or vehicles, or in such a manner so as to upset, cast, spill, or strew any of the said night soil or ammoniacal liquor, slop, urine, or filth in, or upon or near to any of the streets, roads, public places, or footways of this Municipal District, or shall deposit or throw night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter near to any street, road, or dwelling-house, than shall from time to time be directed by the Council, or by the Inspector of Nuisances, or shall allow vehicles used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any road, street, or dwelling-house, other than shall from time to time be directed by the Council or by the Council or Inspector of Nuisances, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay, for every such offence, a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, and in case the person or persons so offending cannot be found, then the owner or owners of such carts, carriages, or other vehicles employed in and about emptying or removing such night-soil, or other offensive matter, and also the employer or employees of the person or persons so offending, shall be liable to and forfeit and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

95. If any person shall take away night-soil from any house or premises within the said Municipal District, or shall come with carts or carriages for that purpose, except within the hours of 10 at night and 5 in the morning, or if any person or persons shall cast, or permit to leak or slop out of any cart or tub, or otherwise, any night-soil in or near any of the streets or public places, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of five pounds for every such offence, and in case the person or persons cannot be found, then the owner or owners of such cart, carriage, or any other vehicle employed in and about emptying and removing such night-soil, and also the employer or employees of the person so offending, shall be liable to, and forfeit and pay, such penalty as aforesaid.

Inspection of premises—Yards, &c., to be kept clean.

96. Upon the reasonable complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of; and the officers of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose. Any occupier or owner of any house or place within the said Municipal District who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, yards, paddocks, and ways within, attached to, or occupied in conjunction with the said house or place, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds, and not less than ten shillings.

Discharging firearms, &c.

97. Any person who shall discharge any fire-arms without lawful cause, or let off any fire-works or other explosive matter in or near to any road or street, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the surveyor, &c.

98. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within the distance of fifty yards of any dwelling-house, street, road, or other public place, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the said Council or Surveyor thereof, who shall appoint in writing a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as they or he may deem necessary for the public safety. And if any person or persons shall blast or cause to be blasted any rock within the limits as aforesaid without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the said Council or Surveyor, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound, and for every subsequent offence shall pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Entrance to cellars, &c., to be covered, &c.

99. If the owner or occupier of any premises having any rails or bars over the areas or openings to any kitchen or cellars, or other part of the said premises beneath the surface of the footway of any street or public places, or having any doorway or entrance into the basement or cellar storey thereof, shall not enter, keep the same, or the rails of such kitchen, cellars, or other parts, in sufficient and good repair, or constantly keep the same securely guarded by rails, or cover the same over with a strong flap or trap-door, according to the nature of the case, and so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; or, if any such occupier or owner shall leave open, or not sufficiently nor substantially keep covered and secured, any coal or other hole, trap-door, funnel, or cellar-flap belonging to or connected with his premises (save and except only during reasonable time for use, alteration, or repair), or if such owner or occupier shall not repair, and from time to time keep in good and substantial repair, all and every, or any such rails, guard-rails, flaps, trap-doors, and other covering, then, and in every such case, the person neglecting so to do shall, for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than two pounds.

Cellars or openings beneath footways prohibited.

100. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any cellar, or any opening, door, or window, in or beneath the surface of the footway, of any road, street, or public place within the said Municipal District, except by permission of the Council, and if any person shall so offend he shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds over and above the expense of remedying or removing any such cellar, opening, door, or window, such expense to be assessed and allowed by convicting Justice or Justices: Provided that such expense and penalty shall not together exceed fifty pounds.

Wells to be covered over, &c.

101. Every person who shall have a well situated between his dwelling-house and appurtenances thereof and any public place, road, street, or footway, within the limits of the said Municipal District, or at the side of such public place, road, street, or footway, or in any yard, open or exposed, to such public road, place, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person shall have such a well as aforesaid, and shall fail to cover and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left at such person's usual or last-known place of abode, or at the said premises, in the manner and with such materials as the Council or its officers shall direct, and to their satisfaction such person shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten shillings nor less than five shillings for every day that such well shall remain open or uncovered contrary to the provisions hereof: Provided that with respect to well open at the time when this By-law shall come into operation, such penalty shall not be recoverable if the same be properly covered within one week thereafter.

Persons not to stand or loiter in streets.

102. All persons standing or loitering upon any of the carriageways, footways, or other public places in the Municipal District of Bingara, to the inconvenience of passers by, or in any way interrupting the traffic, who shall not discontinue to do so on being required by any officer or servant of the Council of the said Municipal District, or by any public officer, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Holes made for cellars, &c., to be enclosed, &c.

103. If any person shall dig, or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left any hole, in or adjoining any street, road, lane, or public place, for the purpose of making any cellar or cellars, or the foundation or foundations, to any other house or building, or for any purpose whatsoever, and shall not forthwith enclose the same in a good or sufficient manner, and keep up, or cause to be kept up, and continued, any such enclosure, or shall not when thereunto required by the said Council or officer thereof well and sufficiently fence or enclose any such hole within the time and in the manner provided by the preceding By-laws, and shall not place a light upon the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, and then in every such case the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence, and for every such refusal or neglect, any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings,—and on conviction of every subsequent offence not less than one pound.

Excavations, &c., to be protected by fence or wall.

104. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground on any property adjoining or near to any public road or footpath within the limits of this Municipal District until the owner or occupier of the said property shall have erected a good substantial fence or wall at the least four feet high around such part of the said property as adjoin such public road or footpath; and any person neglecting or refusing to enclose any premises upon which any such quarry or excavation shall be made shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and all existing quarries, excavations, or precipices situated within the limits of this Municipal District shall be closed and protected in the manner aforesaid within one week after due notice to that effect shall have been given by the said Council, and in the event of the failure or neglect of the owner or occupier of any such last-mentioned property to enclose the same after notice as aforesaid, such person so offending shall be subject to the penalty before mentioned.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

105. Every person who, in any street or other public place, or any other place within the said Municipal District shall commit any of the following offences shall, on conviction for any and for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than five shillings:—

Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.

Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed in any street or public place the carcasses, or any part of the carcasses of any slaughtered animal without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butchers' meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger or annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall place any flowerpot in any upper window near to any street or public place, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.

Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building any slate, brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or repaired).

Every person who shall, within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house, burn any rags, bones, cork, or other offensive substance (garden refuse excepted) to the annoyance of any inhabitant.

Every person who shall carry goods, tools, implements, ladders, scaffolding, or any frame upon any footway to the annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any bird, dog, or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person, or shall otherwise be a nuisance within the said Municipal District.

Noisome and offensive trades.

No noisome or offensive trades to be carried on the injury of any inhabitants.

106. No person shall carry on any noisome or offensive trade within the said Municipal District, so as to hinder or be a nuisance as hereinafter stated to the inhabitants thereof.

Definition of noisome and offensive trades.

107. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of, or in connection wherewith, or from the premises where same is conducted, followed, or carried on any gas, vapour, effluvia, liquid, or any large quantities of smoke shall be evolved or discharged, which gas, vapour, effluvia, liquid, or smoke shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life, or in any other way to injure or be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said municipal district, shall be considered a noisome and offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws.

Complaint.—Inquire and report.—Order of Council thereon.—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

108. Upon complaint, in writing, by any thirty ratepayers by petition to the Council, that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property, as to injure his or her health, or health of any member of his or her family, or to be a nuisance to such householder; and to his or her family the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds of such complaints, and shall report thereon to the said Council, and if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid is a noisome or offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such, to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his or her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the time named in such notice as aforesaid any person, conducting, following, carrying such trade as aforesaid shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; for a second offence, a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds; and for a third, and every subsequent offence, a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Mode of proceeding when a "noisome and offensive trade" is about to be commenced:—Penalty.

109. The like proceedings shall be taken whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove "noisome or offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, and the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon the same, and the Council shall take such measures as shall effectually prevent and permanently prevent the same from becoming "noisome or offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within this municipal district, and any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operations that the same shall be in any way "noisome or offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Service of Notice.—Liabilities.

110. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted followed or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place, or abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws, and every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged, and employed in any such manufacture trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or occupation within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

Public Health.

Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

111. If upon the certificate of any duly qualified medical practitioner, it appears to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises is in a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, purifying, or fumigating of any house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, purify, or fumigate the same as the case may require, and if the person to whom notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within the time specified in the said notice, he or she shall be liable to a penalty of not less than forty shillings, nor more than ten pounds. Provided that each day during which such house shall, after such notice as aforesaid remain uncleansed or unfumigated, shall be a separate offence. Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than fifty pounds.

Sale or letting of infected premises or goods.

112. If any person shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, any dwelling-house or part thereof, of premises occupied in connection therewith in the said Municipal District, which then is or shall have been, within thirty days prior to the date of such sale or letting, occupied by any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, without giving due notice thereof to the person or persons purchasing, renting, or hiring any such house or premises, the person so selling, letting, or causing to be sold or let shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds, nor less than ten pounds; any person who shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, in the said Municipal District any article of furniture, bedding, household or personal effects, knowing the same to have been within three months prior to the date of such sale or letting, used by any person or persons suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Exposing infected articles.

113. Any person who shall expose or cause to be exposed in any road, street, public place, or unenclosed land adjacent to any dwelling, road, street, or public place any article whatsoever, knowing the same to have been in the use or occupation of any person suffering from any infectious or contagious diseases within thirty days prior to the date of such exposure as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Rubbish or other offensive matter, &c.

114. No kind of rubbish or offensive matter shall be thrown upon any public or private property, within the Municipal District, without permission first obtained from the Municipal Council, and the owner or owners of such property. Persons found guilty of a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds, nor less than ten shillings.

Severage and drainage.

No private sewers to be made to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

115. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council, or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains or sewers, or in any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith without such notice or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds, and shall at his own expense make good all roads, streets, kerbing, &c., which shall have been injured by or through any such work; and all such repairs shall have been performed to the satisfaction of such officer as the Council shall appoint to superintend such work, and any person who shall do or perform anything contrary to this clause, or shall neglect to make good all such damage as aforesaid shall, on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than one pound.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and clean same.

116. All private drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed accordingly under the inspection and direction of the Council or officer thereof, at the cost and charges of the occupiers of the house, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong, and in case any person shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired and cleansed according to the direction of the Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Water from roofs.

117. Every owner or occupier of any dwelling-house, shop, or other building who shall permit rain water to fall from any roof, balcony, or other projection upon any street, road, lane, or footway, or to flow over the pathway of any such street, road, or lane, or shall cause or permit any roof or rain water to be discharged by any pipe upon any such street, road, lane, or footway shall, if such nuisance be not abated within seven days after notice to abate the same shall have been given by the Council, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Drains in footpaths.

118. No surface drain shall be made in any footpath, nor any pipes laid under or across the same without the authority of the Council; and no such pipe or drain shall be used for the discharge into any street or roadway of any offensive liquid or matter of any kind whatsoever, and any person who shall so offend shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Drains for discharge of surface-water from land.

119. Every owner or occupier of land so situated that surface or storm-water, from or upon the same, shall overflow or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any road, lane, or footway, shall within seven days next after the service of the notice by the Council, abate such nuisance where possible, and in default of compliance with any such notice, within the period aforesaid, such owner or occupier shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds; and if within seven days after such conviction such owner or occupier shall still have failed to comply with such notice, or be otherwise in default as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than one pound; and every such owner or occupier who shall still have made defaults as aforesaid for more than seven days after such second, or any future conviction, shall be held guilty of a further offence, within the meaning of this section.

Natural water-courses.

120. Any person who shall close or intercept any natural water-course, by building or otherwise, shall provide another outlet for the surface-water with pipes or sewers of a size and in a manner to be approved of by the Council; and any person failing to comply with the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds, nor less than one pound.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.—Fires or Combustible Materials, &c.

121. Any person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed in any house, yard, workshops, out-offices or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustibles or inflammable articles of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings (except with the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof), shall, on conviction for every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds, nor less than one pound, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible, or inflammable article; and every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable article to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Inflammable fences, &c.

122. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, hay, straw, or other inflammable material, so as to endanger contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit, on conviction of every such offence, a penalty of not more than five pounds, nor less than one pound, and also remove such fences or inflammable material within forty-eight hours after such conviction. And any person failing to remove such fence or inflammable material within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Burning shavings, &c., in the streets.

123. Any person burning any shavings or other matters or things in any streets, road, or public place shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Fireworks.

124. Every person who shall light any bonfire, tar barrel, or fireworks upon or within sixty feet of any building, public or private street, or any public place, or shall sell gunpowder, fireworks, or other combustible matter, by any artificial light other than gas, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

125. Every person who wilfully sets, or causes to be set on fire any chimney, flue, smoke vent, or stove pipe, herein called in common a "chimney," shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Unlawful games.

126. No games with dice or other games of chance for money, prize fighting, or any dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other entertainment opposed to public morality, or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause a breach of the peace, shall be established, held, or given within this Municipal District; and any person or persons who shall establish, hold, give, or cause to be established, held, or given any such game, exhibition, or entertainment, shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum of not less than five shillings.

Places of amusement to be licensed.

127. No dancing saloon, skating rink, boxing, bowling, or skittle alley, shooting gallery, or similar place of amusement held or kept for hire or profit (other than entertainments required to be licensed by law) shall exist or be established within this Municipal District, unless and until such place of amusement shall have been licensed by the Council as hereinafter provided, and in the event of any such licensed place of amusement being improperly conducted, or becoming a nuisance, or an annoyance to any inhabitant, or violating public decency, or endangering the public peace, the Mayor shall, on representation to that effect being made, forthwith suspend the said license, and the Council, at its next meeting, shall, by resolution, cause the said license to be cancelled or otherwise, as may appear necessary or desirable, and any person or persons having already established such places of amusement, who shall not, within thirty days after these By-laws come into force, apply for such license, or any person or persons who shall open, establish, or maintain any such place of amusement as aforesaid without having obtained such license, shall forfeit and pay a sum of not more than ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Mode of granting licenses.

128. Applications for licenses as aforesaid must be in writing addressed to the Mayor and Aldermen, and must be endorsed by two householders, testifying to the respectability of the applicant. The application must describe clearly the nature of the entertainment for which the license is sought and the place and premises in which it is to be held.

License fees.

129. Licenses shall be granted by resolution of the Council upon payment of license fees as follows:—For every license from 1st January to 31st December two guineas, and from 30th June to 31st December one guinea. All licenses shall expire on the 31st December in each year, and may be renewed by resolution of the Council upon written applications and on payment of the annual fee of two guineas.

Polluting water, reservoirs.

130. Whosoever shall bathe in any stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks used by the public belonging to or under the management or control of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, throw, or cause to enter therein any animal whether alive or dead, or any rubbish, filth or thing of any kind whatsoever, or shall cause or permit or suffer to run or to be brought therein the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome or improper liquid, or shall wash any clothes at the public fountain or pump, or in or at any such stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct or other waterworks, as aforesaid, or shall anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterworks belonging to the said Council or under their management or control shall be fouled, obstructed or damaged, shall for the first offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; for a second offence, any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence, a sum not more than twenty pounds, nor less than five pounds.

Supply of water in time of drought.

131. In the time of drought or scarcity of water, the Council may, by resolution to that effect, cause water to be supplied to the inhabitants of this Municipal District by water-carts or otherwise, and shall, by such resolution as aforesaid, fix a price to be charged for water so supplied.

Trees in streets.

132. The Council shall have power to plant trees in the streets and public ways of this Municipal District, and any person wilfully injuring or destroying any of such trees, or any railing or fence protecting the same, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds, nor less than one pound, in addition to the value of the tree, railing, or fence so injured or destroyed.

For the purposes of these By-laws.

133. Summer months shall mean and be taken to be the months from October to March inclusive; and winter months shall mean and be taken to be the remaining months of the year.

Construction of terms.

134. In the construction of the foregoing By-laws, the provision of the Act 16 Victoria No. 1, shall be applied as far as the same be applicable.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF WALCHA—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 9th October, 1890.WALCHA MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Walcha, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAWS made and passed by the Council of the Municipal District of Walcha, for regulating the proceedings of the said Council, the duties of the officers and servants and contractors with said Council, for compelling residents to keep their residences clean, and generally for the proper government of the Municipality under the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

PART I.Meetings of Council.

1. The Council shall meet on every alternate Tuesday at 7-30 o'clock p.m., from 1st April to 30th September, and at 8 p.m., from 1st October to 31st March, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday; in the latter case, the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint. Special meetings may be called by the Mayor, or in his absence by any two Aldermen.

Chairman in Mayor's absence.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent, at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present (being a quorum) shall proceed to elect for themselves a Chairman for such meeting.

Order of Business.

3. The following shall be the order of business of all meetings of the Council, other than special meetings.

- (1.) The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and signed by the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted, except as to whether the minutes are correct.
- (2.) Correspondence to be read and orders made thereon if expedient.
- (3.) Petitions (if any) to be read and dealt with.
- (4.) Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor to be presented and orders made thereon.
- (5.) Questions, as to matters under the jurisdiction or official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to, and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council or any of the Committees or officers to be made.
- (6.) Tenders.

- (7.) Motions, of which notice has been given, to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
- (8.) Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand upon the business paper.

Provided that the Council may, by resolution, take any particular matter out of the regular order on the paper.

Business at Special Meetings.

4. At special general meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and signed, which shall be done in the same manner as at ordinary meetings, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or Aldermen at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed, and no other business shall be transacted.

Business Paper for Ordinary Meetings.

5. The business paper for every meeting of the Council, other than special meetings, shall be made up by the Council Clerk not less than one nor more than three days before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy or the substance of every notice of motion, and of every requisition or order as to business proposed to be transacted at such meeting, which he may have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made (subject to the provisions of section 3 of this Part of these By-laws) in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction shall have been received, and a copy of such business paper shall be served or posted to all members of the said Council.

Business Paper for Special Meeting.

6. The business paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Alderman calling such special meeting.

How Business Paper to be disposed of.

7. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meeting, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with; and such business paper, so noted, shall be a record of the Council.

Notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

8. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all notices of motion, requisitions, and directions as to which entries have been made thereon, shall be the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions—how to be made.

9. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed, shall be struck from such business paper, and shall be considered to have lapsed.

Absence of mover.

10. No motion of which notice shall be entered on the business paper shall be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-mentioned Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

11. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendment may be moved.

12. When a motion or amendment shall have been made or seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon; but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

13. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

14. No second amendment shall be taken into consideration until the first amendment shall have been disposed of.

Amended questions—Further amendments may be moved thereon

15. If an amendment be carried, the question amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

16. If any amendment, either upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved, and so on: Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

17. Any motion for adjournment shall, if seconded, be put at once without discussion. If negatived, a similar motion shall not be made until half an hour has elapsed after moving the one that has been negatived.

Orders of the day.

18. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters, other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or which the Mayor shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

How they are to be dealt with.

19. The Alderman who has the usual charge of, or who has previously moved in reference to, the particular business to which any such order of the day relates, shall be the person called upon to move: Provided that the Mayor may, as to any order of the day entered by his direction, move the same.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

20. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—how received.

21. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

How petitions to be dealt with.

22. No motion, other than for the reception of a petition, shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on presentation thereof, except that the same be referred to a Committee, or that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to the subject of any petition, or if the consideration of the subject of any petition shall have been made an order of the day, and such petition shall have been presented before such motion or order of the day shall have been called on, such order of the day, or the said motion, if otherwise unobjectionable, shall be considered in order.

Correspondence.

23. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council before directing the same to be read, as by section 20 of this Part of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions—if not read to be returned to the writer, and reported to the Council. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letters addressed to the Council, or any of its officers, shall be presented and read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent, and shall not have examined any such letters, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Section 22 to apply to letters.

24. Section 22 of these By-laws shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council, or any of its officers, as to petitions.

Reports from Committees.

25. Every report from a Committee shall be written on foolscap paper, with one-third margin, and signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or, in his absence, by some other member of the same.

Mayor's minutes.

26. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance, by a minute in writing signed by him.

How reports, &c., are to be dealt with.

27. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a report from a Committee or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, or that it be received and its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or if the consideration of any such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such orders of the day or such motion, if otherwise unobjectionable, may be moved and considered in due course; and whenever any such report or minute embodies any recommendation which cannot legally be carried out without due notice, and it is desirable that such report or minute should be ordered upon during the meeting of the Council at which such report or minute is presented, it shall be the duty of the Chairman, or member of such Committee signing such report, or of the Mayor, as the case may be, to give or transmit to the Council Clerk such a notice of motion or requisition as will enable the Council Clerk to make the necessary entry on the business paper, and to give such due notice.

Questions and statements.

28. No question shall be put to the Mayor unless twenty-four hours' notice in writing shall have been given thereof to the Council Clerk.

29. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order.

Questions to be put without argument.

30. Every question must be put categorically, without any argument or statement of fact.

No discussion on question, &c.—Right of objection and of subsequent motion reserved.

31. No discussion shall be permitted as to any question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any statement at the time when such question is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice as hereinbefore provided, of any matter properly arising out of or relating to any such question, or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of Debate.

Mode of addressing the Council.

32. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall take part in any debate or discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way, or for any other purpose, address observations to the Council, shall, while doing so, stand up in his customary place, unless he shall be prevented from so doing by reason of some bodily infirmity, and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case, the question so put and the answer thereto shall be subject to every legal objection on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted.

33. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order as hereinafter provided.

Offensive language.

34. If any Alderman uses, whilst in Council, any offensive or insulting language, the words shall be written down, and he shall be asked to withdraw them. If he refuse to withdraw such language and apologise, he shall be deemed guilty of misconduct, and be liable to a fine of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Aldermen not to speak more than ten minutes.

35. No Alderman shall speak twice on any motion or amendment without the consent of the Council, except when in Committee or in explanation, where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood. The mover of every question shall have the right of reply: Provided that no Alderman speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer period than ten minutes.

Mover and seconder.

36. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Speaker not to digress, &c.

37. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make any personal reflections on, nor impute improper motives to any other Alderman.

Adjournment of debate.

38. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned, shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the debate.

Privilege of Mayor or Chairman.

39. The Mayor or Chairman shall have the same privilege as any other Alderman in making or seconding a motion, and have the right of speaking on any subject or amendment introduced. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking, but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

40. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final, except in so far as the same may be questioned, as in the manner hereinafter provided.

Acts of disorder.

41. Every member of the Council who shall commit a breach of any section of this Part of these By-laws, or who shall move or attempt to move any motion or amendment embodying any matter as to which the Council has no legal jurisdiction, or who shall in any other way raise or attempt to raise any question, or shall address or attempt to address the Council upon any subject which the said Council has no legal right to entertain or to discuss, or who shall use any other language which, according to the common usage of gentlemen, would be held disorderly, or who shall say or do anything calculated to bring the Council into contempt, shall be deemed to be out of order.

Points of order.

42. Any Alderman may at any time call the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any Alderman being out of order, and every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising, and the decision of the Mayor or Chairman thereon shall be conclusive, unless such decision shall be questioned by any Alderman, when the sense of the majority shall be taken without discussion.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

43. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions—Penalties for refusing to vote.

44. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for, and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

Motions for rescissions of previous orders.

45. No motion, the effect of which, if carried, would be to rescind or be repugnant to any resolution which has been passed by the Council, shall be entertained within three months, unless a call of the whole Council has been duly made for that purpose; and no such motion, if negatived by the Council, shall be again entertained during a period of three months.

Protests.

Mode of protesting—Protest to be recorded, but may, under certain circumstances, be expunged.

46. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council; notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not less than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the minute book, but if, in the opinion of the Council, it be inconsistent with the truth, or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution on notice) be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with reference in the margin to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Committees of the whole Council.

Business in Committee.

47. The Business Committees of the whole Council shall be conducted in accordance with the rules hereinbefore provided for meetings of the Council as nearly as the same shall apply, except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded.

Disorderly conduct in Committee.—Refusal to vote.

48. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order within the meaning of section 34 of this Part of these By-laws, it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting, and that such matter be reported; and if such motion be carried such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the minute book; and whenever any Alderman shall have failed to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by section 44 of this Part of these By-laws, the facts shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the minute book: Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid, no special motion that the Committee resume its sitting shall be necessary, but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the whole, in making his report of the proceedings in such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which such Alderman has failed to vote.

How progress may be reported, &c.

49. Any Alderman may, at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council, move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress, as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on some other day, or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried, the Council shall resume its sitting, and a report shall be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion, and if the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another such motion shall be receivable.

Reports of proceedings in Committee—Want of quorum in Committee.

50. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council, viva voce, by the Chairman of such Committee; and a report of such proceedings shall be made in every case, except when it shall be found, on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Committee, that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Committee shall be considered to have lapsed: Provided that in making any such report as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the result, general effect, or substance of such proceedings.

How reports are to be dealt with.

51. All such reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the minute book; but except as hereinafter mentioned, no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council, until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption, or for the granting of such leave. And every such motion for the adoption of a report or for the granting of leave as aforesaid, and the order of debate on such motion, shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council, and the order of debate on such other motions: Provided, however, that where a report shall have been made under section 48 of this Part of these By-laws, of disorderly conduct in Committee, or under section 44 of this Part of these By-laws, of failure to vote on division, or of any decision in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall, as far as it relates to such facts, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof; and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretence whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How calls may be ordered.

52. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution, of which due notice shall have been given, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Such calls compulsory in certain cases.

53. There shall, without any special order to that effect, be a call of the Council, for the consideration of every motion for the rescission of any resolution, order, or decision of such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

54. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered, or is required to be made by the last preceding section, shall be moved or considered, such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all the members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer his name as so called; and if any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such member shall have previously been granted, or if such an excuse, in writing, shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse, and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.

Further call when question adjourned.

55. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, being absent, shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent, and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness or any other sufficient cause he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than one pound: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration; and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call. And if there shall be more than one adjournment this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Powers to suspend temporarily certain portions of these By-laws.

56. Any of the foregoing By-laws or any portion thereof which relate to or affect the proceedings at meetings of the Council, may be suspended pro tempore without notice in cases of emergency, if all the members of the Council then present shall deem such suspension necessary.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committees.

57. Besides such special Committees as may from time to time be found necessary, there shall be four Standing Committees of the Council, each consisting of not less than three members, namely, a Finance Committee, an Improvement (or Works) Committee, a By-law Committee, and a General Committee.

Finance Committee.

58. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenue. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect the finances of the said Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Improvement Committee.

59. The Improvement Committee shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, and other public places under the care and management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

By-law Committee.

60. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Borough. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws, and of any statute of which the operation has been or may be extended to the Borough, and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention or punishment of offences against such By-laws or statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order, and decency.

General Purposes Committee.

61. All matters which the Council may think fit to refer to a Committee, and which do not fall within the province of any other Standing Committee, shall be referred to the Committee of General Purposes: Provided, however, that the Council may at any time refer such matters to a committee appointed for that particular purpose.

Special Committees.

62. Special Committees may consist of any member or members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully intrusted to a Committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a special Committee ought to be appointed; and no standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being, have been intrusted to any such special Committee. The appointment of every such special Committee shall be made by resolution after due notice; and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be intrusted to such special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as in his opinion ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot; and in the latter case, or if an amendment to the effect that such special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, each member then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council, from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom in his opinion such special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such lists, and shall declare the result. And in the event of its becoming necessary, through an equality of votes, to decide as to which of two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

63. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, who may direct the Council Clerk to call meetings whenever he shall think it desirable.

Cost of works to be estimated before undertaken.

64. No works affecting the funds of the Municipality, except as hereinafter is mentioned, shall be undertaken until an estimate of the probable expense thereof shall have been submitted to the Council and a vote taken for the cost thereof.

Works to be let by tender.

65. Works undertaken by the Council, and estimated to cost over (£20) twenty pounds, shall be let by tender; and no tender shall be entertained unless it be accompanied by an agreement, signed by one or more respectable parties as sureties, for due performance of the contract. All tenders shall be accompanied by a cash deposit of ten per cent. of the amount of tender.

Cases of emergency and current expenses.

66. For emergent matters, and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Improvement Committee, or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of three pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor, for necessary current expenses, to the extent of two pounds.

Completion of works to be reported by Improvement Committee.

67. No works undertaken by the Council shall be deemed to have been completed, and no order shall be made for the payment in full of the same, except upon a report or certificate to that effect from the Improvement Committee, except for emergent works, as provided for in section 67 of this Part of these By-laws.

Common Seal—how secured.

68. The seal shall be secured by a cover or box, which shall be kept at the Council Chambers in the custody of the Council Clerk. There shall be two locks to this cover or box, and one key shall be kept by the Mayor and the other by the Council Clerk.

When and how Common Seal to be used.

69. The seal of the Council shall not be affixed to any document without the express authority of the Council; and every impression thereof so authorized shall be verified by the signature of the Mayor, or, in case of illness or absence of the Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk, but, for the purpose of authenticating documents, the Mayor may alone fix the Seal, and charge a fee for so doing of (£1) one pound, such fee or fees to form Relief Fund, to be administered by the Mayor.

70. All charters, deeds, muniments, and records of the Municipality shall be kept in the offices thereof in the custody of the Town Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order.

Cash balance.

71. The Treasurer shall produce the cash-book and bank pass-book, balanced, at the regular meetings of the Council.

Books, &c., not to be shown or exposed without leave.

72. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to show, lay open, or expose any of the books, papers, or records of the Council to any person not a member of the Council without the written permission of the Mayor, unless as otherwise provided by law. Any member or officer who shall commit a breach of this section shall be liable on conviction to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds.

Records not to be removed.

73. Any person removing any such book, paper, or record from the Council Chambers without leave of the Mayor in writing first obtained, shall be subject to a penalty of not less than ten shillings or more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book, paper, or record, and shall not have returned the same, to any action at law for the detention of such book, paper, or record, or to prosecution for stealing the same, as the case may warrant.

Penalty for defacing or destroying records.

74. Any person destroying, defacing, or wilfully or improperly altering any book, paper, or record shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Bonds for good conduct.

75. All bonds given by officers and servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited in such custody as the Council may order; and no member, officer, or servant of the Council shall be received as a surety for any officer or servant.

Duties of the Council Clerk.

76. The Council Clerk shall attend at the office of the Council, for the purpose of transacting the ordinary business of the Council, on every Tuesday, from 2 to 4 p.m., and on every Friday from 10 to 12 a.m.

77. The Council Clerk, in compliance with the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other By-laws made thereunto, shall perform the following duties, namely:—

1. Attend all Council meetings.
2. Attend Committee meetings when required.
3. Attend all Courts of Revision and Appeal.
4. Summon the Members of the Council to all Council or Committee meetings.
5. Take minutes of all meetings, and prepare reports of all Committees.
6. Conduct all correspondence ordered by the Council, under the direction of the Mayor, and give all other officers instructions as directed by the Minutes.
7. To see that the accounts are audited, and the balance sheet duly submitted twice a year, within the time specified by law.
8. To see to the gazetting of all By-laws and necessary advertisements.
9. To see that the Assessment books and the Municipal lists and rolls are duly prepared, examine proofs of latter, and arrange for distribution of copies on payment, to electors, prior to the elections.
10. Make all necessary arrangements for the elections, preparing all papers, &c., for Presiding Officers and Poll Clerks.
11. Prepare all bonds of officers, see that the guarantees are given, and arrangements duly signed, &c., and reports sent to the Council.

12. Advise with the officers from time to time as to their duties, and the mode of carrying them out.

13. See that all levels and names of streets have been duly advertised as provided for by law, and authenticated by the Mayor's signatures.

14. To bring under the notice of the Mayor any matter or thing requiring his prompt attention.

15. He shall have charge of all the records of the Council, except such books or documents as may be intrusted to any other officer of the Council, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council.

16. He shall enter into a bond for not less than £50 (fifty pounds) for the faithful performance of his duties.

Special powers of Mayor.

78. The Mayor may from time to time define the duties of all officers and servants of the Council, and shall exercise a general supervision over all such officers and servants, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant, as he may think necessary, unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statement or the giving of such explanation or information.

Drafts of intended By-laws.

79. A draft of any intended By-law shall be in the office of the Council at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by the Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same. No By-law shall be passed until it has been reported upon by a Committee of the whole Council, nor until it has been twice read in Council on different days.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties.

80. Suits or informations for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breaches of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or of any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute, the operation of which may have been extended to the Municipality, shall be commenced or laid as follows, viz.:—When against a Member of the Council, or any Auditor, or any officer of the Corporation, by such officer as shall be named for that purpose by the Council; when against any other person, by the Inspector of Nuisances; and if there shall be no such officer, then by such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council or the Mayor, as the case may be, on directing such suit of information as aforesaid. And no such suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council, or Auditor, except by order of such Council; nor shall any similar proceeding be taken against any officer of the Council, except on the order of the Council or of the Mayor. And the conduct or prosecution of any suit or information may, on the order of the Council or of the Mayor, be intrusted to an attorney.

PART II.

Collection and enforcement of Rates.

Rates, when due and payable.

1. All rates levied and imposed by the Council shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council shall, by resolution, from time to time appoint.

Time and place of payment.

2. All such rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Defaulters.

3. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid, within thirty days after the day so appointed for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter; and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor from time to time with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

4. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to take proceedings to enforce the payment of all rates in default, either by action at law or by issuing warrants of distress upon the goods and chattels of the defaulter.

Bailiff—how appointed.

5. The Bailiff of the Municipal Borough shall be appointed by the Council and may from time to time be removed by them.

Bailiff to find sureties.

6. The Bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of fifty pounds (£50) each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duties of Bailiff.

7. It shall be the duty of the Bailiff to make levies by distraint for the recovery of rates in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

8. All levies and distress shall be made under warrant under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be authorized to perform the duties of that office; such warrant to be in the form or to the effect of the Schedule hereunto annexed and marked A.

Inventory.

9. At the time of making a distress warrant, the Bailiff shall make a written inventory in the form or to the effect of the Schedule marked B, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distressed, or to some person resident in the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted in some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailiff shall deliver a copy of such inventory to the Council Clerk.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. It shall be lawful for the Bailiff or his deputy, and such assistants as he may take with him, to enter into any part of the land, building, tenement, or other property, in respect of which such rate or rates shall have been made as aforesaid, and to distrain the goods therein or thereon, and to remain in such building, tenement or other property, in charge thereof. And if the sum for which any such distress shall have been made or taken, together with the cost of such distraint, shall not have been paid on or before the expiration of five clear days, the Bailiff or his deputy may, between the hours of eleven in the morning and two in the afternoon on the next day thereafter, cause the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, to be sold by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the Municipal Borough as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for and the costs of such distraint, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand by such owner.

Goods may be impounded.

11. The Bailiff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods and chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rate, or in such other place as shall be most fit and convenient for that purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of two clear days, as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such part of the said land and premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchase thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

12. The owner of any goods and chattels so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods and chattels shall in such cases be put up for sale according to such directions.

Proceeds of distress.

13. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within twenty-four hours after having received the same.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of distress against tenant actually rated, and occupant.

To and his assistants.
Whereas the person whose name appears in the Schedule hereunder written has been rated by the Municipal Council of the Municipal District of Walcha, in respect of the property also appearing in the said Schedule at the sum and for the purpose set down opposite his or her name. And whereas the said sum was and still is due and payable on account of such rate, and default having been made in the payment thereof to the treasurer although demand has been made as is required by law. These are therefore to authorize you forthwith to make distress of the goods and chattels in the first place upon those of the person named in the Schedule if he or she be then resident in the said premises, and have any goods and chattels there, and in case of a change of possession, then upon the goods and chattels of any person who shall then be the occupier thereof, or upon the goods and chattels of the person in possession of the said premises so appearing in the said Schedule at the time of executing the warrant. And if within the space of five days after the making of such distress the said sum of money set opposite to his or her name at which the person was so rated as aforesaid shall not be paid together with costs, that then you do sell the said goods and chattels of the person so by you distrained, and out of the money arising by such sale you retain the sum so due and owing for the premises in the same Schedule mentioned and occupied by the party whose goods you shall have sold together with costs, rendering to him or her the overplus, and that you certify to me on or before the day of _____, what you shall have done by virtue of his warrant.

PART III.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.

Fire or combustible material.

1. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, or office, or other premises within the said Municipality, fire, gun powder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger any building, shall on conviction thereof for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than five pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gun powder, or combustible or inflammable materials; and for each and every period of twenty-four hours after such conviction that such person shall suffer fire, gun powder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid, such person shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By law.

Setting fire to matter without notice

2. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever in the open air, within five yards of any dwelling-house or other building, or boundary or dividing fence, within the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the land adjoining the land upon which such matter shall be of his intention so to do, or between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Erecting brushwood fences, &c.

3. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or any other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw or other produce, or place as or for the covering any such stack any inflammable materials, so as to endanger any contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or any produce thereof, or any chattels therein, shall forfeit on conviction of every such offence a penalty of not more than five pounds, and shall remove such fence, stack, or covering, within a reasonable time after such conviction; and any person failing to remove such fence, stack, or covering, within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Fireworks.

4. Every person who shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause, or who shall light any bon-fire, tar-barrel, or fireworks upon or within ten yards of any public or private street, or any public place, or shall sell gunpowder, squibs, rockets, or any other combustible matter by gas, candle, or other artificial light within the said Municipality, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

5. Any person who shall wilfully set, or cause to be set, on fire any chimney, flue, smoke-vent, or stove-pipe, herein called in common "chimney," within the said Municipality, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Negligently suffering chimneys to be set on fire.

6. If any chimney accidentally catch or be on fire, the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimneys are situated, shall forfeit a sum of not exceeding forty shillings: Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be incurred if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Justices before whom the case be heard, that such fire was in nowise owing to the omission, neglect, or carelessness, whether with respect to cleansing such chimneys or otherwise, of himself or his servants.

Water carters to attend fires.

7. Every owner and driver of a licensed water-cart shall keep such cart loaded with water during all times after sunset and before sunrise, and shall, if any building, premises, or property, shall be on fire within the Municipality, attend at the place of such fire with such cart loaded with water, and shall continue to cart water by full loads to such place, and shall deliver such water in such manner as may be required by the Mayor, or by any Alderman or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf and then present, for extinguishing such fire; and every such owner or driver who shall, without reasonable excuse, fail to comply with the provisions of this section, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten pounds, nor less than two pounds.

8. There shall be paid out of the Municipal funds to the owner of every licensed water-cart who shall have attended with any water at the place of any fire, as herein provided, and deliver the same as required for extinguishing such fire, such reasonable compensation as the Council shall by resolution have appointed on that behalf, and also to such owners of such carts as shall have first and second in order attended with loads of water, such further sums by way of reward as the Council may by similar resolution have fixed.

Erection of bark buildings.

9. All persons are prohibited from erecting buildings, any portion of which shall be constructed of bark or other dangerously inflammable material; and any person or persons erecting such buildings shall forfeit, on conviction of every such offence, a penalty of not more than twenty pounds: Provided that this By-law shall only be enforced within the town boundary, that is to say, within the following boundaries:—On the north by Hill-street; on the east by Angle-street; on the west by Thee-street; and on the south by Croudace-street.

PART IV.

Public vehicles.

1. That from and after the passing of this By-law, any person who shall be desirous to ply with any car, cab, or other vehicle, or with any cart, dray, or waggon, for hire or reward, or to draw, or to carry, with any cart, dray, or waggon, any wood, water, butcher's meat, bread, dairy farm or other produce, bricks, stone, or any building materials, or any merchandise or other property whatsoever, for hire or reward within the said Municipality shall, register his name and place of abode in the office of the Council Clerk, and shall thereupon, and from time to time thereafter, on payment by him of the rate according to the scale hereinafter mentioned, received from the Council Clerk a license, in the form set forth in schedule hereunto annexed, on which shall be written his name, place of abode, and number of vehicle so approved—every such license to continue and be in force until the thirty-first day of December in each and every year, and no longer; and if any person shall ply with any car, cab, or other vehicle, or with any cart, dray, or waggon, without being so licensed, or shall cause, or procure any person to ply, not being so licensed, within the said Municipality, or if any person shall draw or carry any wood or water with any cart, dray, or waggon, for the supply of the inhabitants of the said Municipality, without being so licensed, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than one pound.

The following is the scale of fees for licenses above mentioned:—

For passenger carrying vehicles 2s. 6d. per annum for each carrying number.

For every cart, dray, or waggon per annum, £1.

For every car, cab, or night-cart per annum, 10s.

2. The above fees shall be payable on the first day of January, in each year, and not later than the thirty-first of the same month: Provided always, that upon any such license issued after the thirty-first day of March, in each year, there shall be demandable three-fourths of the above fee mentioned, and any such license issued after the thirtieth day of June, in each year, there shall be demandable one-half of the above-mentioned fee, for the same, and no more.

3. And be it further ordered and directed that when any person shall have in his employ any servant licensed as aforesaid, and such servant shall leave such employment before his license shall have expired, then, and in any such case, the license of such servant shall, and may be, transferred to any other person, by registering such transfer in the office of the Town Clerk. And be it further ordered and directed that the name of every person licensed as aforesaid, together with the number of his licensed cart, dray, waggon, or other vehicles as the case may be, shall at all times be legibly painted in letters not less than one inch in length upon the off side of the cart, dray, waggon, or other vehicle with which he shall ply for hire or carry as aforesaid. And if any such person shall at any time fail or neglect to keep his name, the number of his license, and the words licensed cart, dray, waggon, or other vehicle, as the case may be, legibly painted as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay for every offence not less than ten shillings nor more than one pound sterling; and if any person not duly licensed as aforesaid shall ply or draw, or carry wood or water, other property, or merchandise, with a cart, dray, waggon, or other vehicle, on which there shall be painted licensed, or the words licensed cart, dray, waggon, or other vehicle, as the case may be, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence not less than one pound nor more than five pounds sterling.

PART VI.

Public Exhibitions, &c.

Public exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition, otherwise than hereinafter provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the said Borough, nor shall any bowling-alley, or other place of public amusement other than licensed as hereinafter provided, be held or kept within the Borough, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

2. It shall and may be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition other than those required to be licensed as hereinafter provided, and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week; and in like manner, to allow any land belonging to the Council to be used for public amusement other than entertainments required to be licensed as hereinafter provided, for one week: Provided always that no such permission shall be given to the injury of any property of the Council, and that it shall be incumbent on such Mayor to inquire strictly into the nature of such exhibitions seeking the permission aforesaid before granting the same; and, in case of any exhibition or amusement being held to be opposed to public decency or endangering the peace of the public, the Mayor shall have power to peremptorily order the nuisance to be abated, under a penalty of forty shillings for every day such exhibition shall be so held; and it shall be lawful for the Mayor to levy a tax of not more than one pound per diem upon any temporary exhibition or amusement which, in his opinion, should contribute to the Municipal revenue.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier; and every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land, who permits any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for a longer period than one week in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration, as hereinafter mentioned, having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence not less than one pound, nor more than twenty pounds.

Registration fee.

4. For every such registration as aforesaid, the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Town Clerk, for the benefit of the said Borough, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the 31st day of December then next ensuing, and no longer.

Change of occupancy.—Transfer fee.

5. The person in whose name the building or ground as aforesaid shall be registered, or the person to whom the Mayor shall grant a temporary license, shall be deemed the occupier of such building or land for all purposes of these By-laws; and any change of occupancy shall be forthwith notified to the Town Clerk, and the Council may sanction the transfer of the license to the new occupier, and shall charge for such transfer the fee of five shillings.

Public Amusements.

Places of amusement to be licensed.

6. No dancing saloon, skating rink, bowling or skittle alley, shooting gallery, or similar place of amusement (other than entertainments requiring to be licensed by law), shall exist or be established within the Borough, unless and until such place of amusement shall have been licensed by the Council as hereinafter provided; and in the event of any such licensed place of amusement being improperly conducted or becoming a nuisance, or an annoyance to any inhabitant, or violating public decency, or endangering the public peace, the Mayor shall, on representation to that effect being made, forthwith suspend the said license, and the Council at its next meeting shall, by resolution, cause the said license to be cancelled or otherwise, as may appear necessary or desirable; and any person or persons having already established such places of amusement, who shall not within thirty days after these By-laws come into force apply for such license, or any person or persons who shall open, establish, or maintain any such place of amusement as aforesaid, without having obtained such license, shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds and not more than fifty pounds.

Mode of granting licenses.

7. Applications for licenses as aforesaid must be in writing, addressed to the Mayor and Aldermen, and must be endorsed by two responsible householders, testifying to the respectability of applicant. The application must describe clearly the nature of the entertainment for which the license is sought, and the premises in which it is to be held.

License fees.

8. Licenses shall be granted by resolution of the Council upon payment of license fees, as follows:—For every license granted between the 1st January and 1st July, one pound one shilling, and between the 1st July and 31st December, ten shillings and sixpence. All licenses shall expire on the 31st December in each year, and may be renewed by resolution of the Council upon written application, and on payment of the annual fee of one pound one shilling.

PART VII.

Streets and public places.—Public health, decency, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public road, street, way, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the charge or management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or place shall have been examined by the Improvement Committee, or other Committee appointed for this purpose, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plan of proposed new road, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the Municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management thereof, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads.

3. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, way, or place as aforesaid, the plan or plans, signed as aforesaid, shall be preserved as a record of the Council, and the proprietor or proprietors shall execute such further instrument, dedicating such road, way, or place to public use or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Council, which said instrument shall be preserved as a record of the Council.

Who to mark out roads, &c.

4. The Surveyor of the Municipal Borough, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out when and where necessary the roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, which now are, or shall hereafter be under or subject to the care, construction, or management of the Council, and the carriage or foot ways in each of such roads, streets, lanes, or thoroughfares.

No encroachment, &c.

5. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building line in any street or lane by the erection of houses, verandahs, doorsteps, fences, or any other obstruction whatever; and all proprietors or lessees of houses within the Borough, having a frontage to any street, shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with downpipe to carry under the surface of the footway in the street gutter. It shall not be lawful for any signboard or other obstruction of any kind to be erected across the footpaths, except with the consent of the Council, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds and not less than one pound.

No balcony, &c.

6. With regard to buildings, it shall not be lawful for any awning, verandah, portico, balcony, coping, parapet, overhanging eaves, cornice, windows, string-course, dressing, or other architectural decoration forming part of, or attached to any external wall, to project beyond the building line of any street or road; nor shall any balcony, or any other external projection as aforesaid, which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

7. The Surveyor or other officer of the Council may at any time, on the order of the Council, give seven days' notice in writing, directing the removal of any building, fence, signboard, obstruction, encroachment, or erection of any kind, in and upon any reserve, road, street, lane, footway, thoroughfare, or place, under the charge of the Council, and such notice shall be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such erection, obstruction, or encroachment belongs, or who has erected the same, or cause it to be erected; and shall state that in the event of such notice not being complied with within ten days, the work will be done at the risk and expense of the person served with such notice. And in any case where, after service of notice as aforesaid, the person served shall not comply therewith, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same under the superintendence of its officer, and the cost thereof to be recovered from the person so served as aforesaid; and the person neglecting to comply with such notice shall, in addition to the cost of removal, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty-five pounds nor less than one pound; and in case of every successive offence, the penalty on conviction shall not be less than five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

8. Notwithstanding the above By-law of the Council shall be at liberty to proceed by action for trespass in respect of any such excavation, obstruction, or encroachment.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

9. The provisions, remedies, and penalties contained in the last two By-laws shall apply in all cases of obstruction, injuries, or encroachments by excavating under, digging, or taking away any portion of any reserves, road, fence, street, lane, footway, thoroughfare, or place within the Borough or under the charge of the Council.

Footways may be levelled.

10. When any footway shall have been marked out in the manner herein directed, the surveyor or other person as aforesaid may cause the same to be levelled and made as nearly as practicable of equal height and breadth, and with an equal slope and inclination, and may remove any flagging, steps, or other matter, thing, or obstruction that may injure or obstruct the said footpath, or render it unequal or inconvenient, and which now is or may hereafter be erected or placed on the space marked out for the said footway.

The Improvement Committee to fix street levels.

11. The Improvement Committee, or any officer of the Council, acting under the supervision of such Committee, shall, subject to such orders as may from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, fix and lay out the level of all public roads, streets, and ways within the Municipality, and the carriage-ways and footways thereof: Provided that there shall be no change of levels in any such public road, street, or way, until the same shall have been submitted to and certified by the Council as hereinafter directed.

Change of street levels.

12. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level more than one foot of any such public road, street, or way, as aforesaid, the Improvement Committee shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed cuttings and fillings, to be exhibited at the Council Chambers fourteen days, for the information and inspection of the ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating within the Borough that such plan is open for inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman of such meeting, and countersigned by the Council Clerk; and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

13. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove, or cause to be removed, any turf, gravel, sand, loam, or other material, in or from any part of the carriage or foot way of any street or road, or any reserve or any other public place within the Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council or from the Mayor, or who shall wantonly break up or damage any such carriage or foot way, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Temporary stopping of traffic for repairs, &c.

14. The Mayor, or any officer or person acting under the authority of the Council, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by destroying or removing any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty and sum not exceeding five pounds.

Cellars or openings beneath the footways prohibited.

15. Any person who shall make any cellar or opening, door or window in or beneath the surface of the footway of any street or public place, unless the plans thereof have been previously submitted to and approved by the Council, and the erections and openings made to the satisfaction of the Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of five pounds over and above the expense of filling up, remedying, or removing such cellar, opening, door, or window, so as the same shall not exceed fifty pounds.

Enclosures and scaffolding.

16. If any person shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left, any hole in or adjoining to any street, road, or public place, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other buildings, or for any other purposes whatsoever, and shall not forthwith enclose the same in a good and sufficient manner, and shall keep up, or cause to be kept up and continued, any such enclosure for any time which shall be longer than shall be reasonably required, or shall not, when thereunto required by the said Council or its officer, well and sufficiently fence or enclose any such hole within twenty-four hours after he shall be required to do so by the said Council or officer, and in the manner and with such materials as they or he shall direct, and to their and his satisfaction, and shall not place a light upon the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, or shall fail to place or erect a fence, rail, or boarding around any scaffolding or ladder that may be required during the repairs or erection of any building (such fence, rail, or boarding not to extend beyond the footway of the street), or fail to keep, during the existence of such fence, rail, or boarding, a light burning from sunset to sunrise at each corner of the same; then and in every case the person so offending shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence, and for every such refusal or neglect any sum not exceeding five pounds or less than forty shillings.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the footways to be enclosed under penalty.

17. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, premises, or land within the said Municipality having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space adjoining the footway or public place in such Municipality, or any quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground, or any premises within six feet of any such footway or public place, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient fences, rails or other enclosures, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and any such owner or occupier of any house, building, premises, or land having any steps adjoining the footway of any such street or public place, shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof any such owner or occupier as often as he shall be convicted of such offence, shall forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; and every such owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fences, or other enclosures as aforesaid within one week after any conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Wells to be covered over.

18. Every person who shall have a well situated between his or her dwelling-house, or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or footway, or at the side thereof or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or footway within the said Municipality, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having such well as aforesaid shall fail to cover and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the Council, or shall have been left for such person at his or her last known place of abode, or the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open or uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Throwing filth on roads, driving carriages, and leading horses on footways.

19. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or remain, any dead animal, offal, dung, soil, ashes, rubbish, or any other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing in or upon the footway or carriage-way of any street, road, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal in or so near to any street or other public place, as that any blood shall run or flow upon or over or be on any carriage or foot way, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon the footway of any street, road, or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, wheel, or truck, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, ride, or stand any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, and for the second and every subsequent offence a sum not less than ten shillings nor more than forty shillings.

Persons not to stand or loiter in the streets.

20. Any person or persons standing or loitering upon any of the footways or other public places in this Municipality, to the inconvenience and annoyance of the inhabitants or passers by, or in any way interrupting the traffic, and shall not discontinue to do so on being requested by any officer or servant of the Municipal Council of this Municipality, or any police officer, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

21. No kind of rubbish or offensive matter shall be thrown upon any public or private property within the Borough without permission first obtained from the Municipal Council and the owner or owners of such property. Persons found guilty of a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Throwing filth into watercourses.

22. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal, with intent of drowning such animal, into any public watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or canal, or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer, canal or watercourse, within the said Municipality, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and shall in addition to such penalty pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction, or of restoring such watercourse, sewer, or canal, to its proper channel, so as the same shall not exceed fifty pounds.

Water from roofs, &c.

23. Every owner or occupier of any dwelling-house, shop, or other building who shall permit rain-water to fall down from any roof, spout, balcony, or other projection, upon or over any street, road, lane, or footway, or shall cause or permit any such roof or rain water to be discharged by any pipe upon any such street, road, lane, or footway, shall, if such nuisance be not abated within seven days after written notice to abate the same shall have been given by the Council or its officer, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that any tenant of such premises who shall erect any spouting or pipe in accordance with any such notice may deduct the cost thereof from the rent of the said premises.

Drains in footpaths and slopes, &c.

24. No surface drain shall be made in any footpath, nor any pipes laid under or across the same without the authority of the Council; and no such drain shall be used for the discharge into any street or roadway of any offensive liquid or matter of any kind whatsoever; and any person who shall offend against this By-law, or any owner, occupier, or tenant from whose premises suds, offensive matter, slops, or filth shall flow over or on any footway, watercourse, street, or lane, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Drains for discharge of surface water from lands.

25. Every owner or occupier of land in, adjoining to, or near any street, if such land shall be so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any footway of such street, shall within seven days after the service of notice by the Council for the purpose, construct and lay from such point being near to the footway, as shall be specified in such notice and described by plan appended, a covered drain, subject to the approval of the Council when inspected by the officers appointed; and in default of compliance with such notice within the time specified, such owner or occupier shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound and not exceeding five pounds. And if, within seven days of such conviction, the owner or occupier shall still have failed to comply with such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds and not exceeding ten pounds; and for every additional seven days' default, such owner or occupier shall be liable to forfeit not less than five pounds and not more than twenty pounds.

Placing goods, &c., on roadway, &c.

26. If any person shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall, showboard, basket, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any cask or vessel in or upon or over any road, footway or public place within the said Municipality, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, or other carriage upon any footway, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in, upon, or over any of the said carriage or footways any timber, stone, brick, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as hereinbefore directed), or any other matters or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal or other thing or matter whatsoever from any house or premises over any part of such footways or carriage-ways, or over any area of any house or premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside or any part of any house or premises over or next to any such street or road, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things being thereto required by the Council or any officer thereof, and shall not continue and keep the same removed; or if any person having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed or caused to be removed any such stall, showboard, basket, goods, coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, carriage, timber, stone, brick, lime, meat, offal, or other matter or things, and shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, or exposed the same or any of them, or any other article or thing whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid) in, upon, or over any of the carriage or foot ways of or next unto any streets or roads as aforesaid, in every such case every person so offending shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings, nor less than ten shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Erection of houses, &c.—Fee for permission.

27. No person shall build, erect, put up, or remove, or cause to be built, erected, put up, or removed, any building, house, shop, warehouse, wall, or fence, fronting any public street, road, or thoroughfare, unless he shall have previously given seven days' notice in writing to the Council Clerk before commencing the same, stating his intention and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and shall at the time the said notice is given as aforesaid pay to the Council Clerk a fee of five shillings for permission to erect or removal any such house, shop, or building, wall, or fence in any street, lane, or other place within the said Municipal District of Waicha, and every owner thereof, and every contractor for such house, shop, or building, or any part thereof, commencing to build or work thereon, without such notice having been given, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Damage to public buildings.

28. Any persons who shall damage any public building, lamp, wall, parapet, sluice, bridge, road, street, sewer, watercourse, or other property of the Council of the said Municipality, or improperly extinguish any lamp lit for public or private convenience, shall pay the cost of repairing the same; and if the same be wilfully done, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds, in addition to the cost of repairing the same, so as the same shall not exceed fifty pounds.

29. No person shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer in any public road or street, lane or thoroughfare, or shall cut up the surface of any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, upon any pretence whatever, without leave in writing from the Mayor.

30. No person shall be allowed to throw rubbish, sweepings, or deposits of any kind whatsoever, on the streets, pathways, or gutters of the Municipality.

31. Any driver, carter, or other person who shall wilfully or negligently do, or suffer or cause to be done, any damage or injury to the kerbstones, gutters, alignment stones, or pathways of any street or roadway, or who shall drive a wheeled vehicle of any kind, or ride or drive, lead or stand, or permit to stand, any animal (other than dogs) on the pathway within the Municipality, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

32. Any person who shall damage any public building, wall, parapet, bridge, road, street, sewer, watercourse, sluice, pump, fountain, cock, water-pipe, shoot, embankment, or other public property in the possession of the Council, shall pay the costs of repairing the same, and if such damage be wilfully done, shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than five shillings and not exceeding ten pounds.

33. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamppost, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the same or injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Riding in drays, careless driving, &c.

34. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street, road, or thoroughfare within the said Municipality, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse and driven or guided with reins only excepted), or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall negligently be at a distance from such carriage, or in such situation whilst it shall be passing along such street, road, or thoroughfare that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever, meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, bridge, or thoroughfare; or if any persons shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him, or any carriage under his care upon such street, road, or thoroughfare, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage in or upon the same, every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Interrupting free passage, &c.—Driving on wrong side of road, &c.

35. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse, and driven or guided with reins only accepted), or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses, or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever, meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Riding or driving furiously.

36. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street, road, or other public place within the said Municipality negligently, carelessly, or furiously shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

Riding or driving round corners, &c.

37. Any person who shall ride or drive round the corner of any street, road, or public place within the said Municipality at a pace faster than a walk, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds for every such offence.

Breaking horses, &c.

38. It shall not be lawful for any person or persons in any street, road, or public place within the said Municipality to drive any carriage or carriages, for the purpose of breaking, trying, or exercising horses, or to ride, drive, or lead any horse, mare, or gelding for the purpose of airing, exercising, trying, breaking, showing, or exposing for sale any such horse, mare, or gelding, otherwise than by passing quietly through such streets or public places: Provided further that no person or persons shall be allowed within the said Municipality to furiously or carelessly drive any horse, mare, or gelding to or from any public watering place, creek, or river, or pasture or elsewhere; and the person or persons in charge thereof shall be prima facie presumed to be the owner of the said animal or animals, and shall be liable accordingly; and every person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

39. Any person who shall haul or draw, or shall cause to be hauled or drawn upon any of the streets, roads, or public ways or places within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other material or thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled carriage or barrow, to drag or trail upon any part of any such street, road, or public place, to the injury thereof, or to hang over any part of such carriage or barrow so as to occupy or obstruct the street or road shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings, over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Hours for driving cattle.

40. No person shall drive or cause to be driven through any street or public thoroughfare of the said Municipality any live stock between the hours of eight o'clock a.m. and two p.m., or between the hours of four o'clock p.m. and nine p.m., except calves and foals under the age of one year, quiet milch cows, horses or cattle broken to saddle or draught, and pigs, sheep, and goats; and any person or persons who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any live stock except those above mentioned through any street or thoroughfare of the Municipality, between the hours above mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Horses, cattle, &c.

41. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure, situate and being in or within forty yards of any street, dwelling-house, or public place within the Municipality, or who shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of the like nature belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or public place within the said Municipality, excepting on the permanent and temporary common, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Inspector may impound.

42. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person duly authorized by the Council, shall have power to impound in the Walcha Public Pound all animals of every description found straying in any street, roadway, or thoroughfare within the said Municipality of Walcha.

Burning shavings, &c., in the streets.

43. Any person who shall burn any shavings, rubbish, or any other matter or thing in any road, street, lane, or public place within the said Municipality, or who shall, within ten yards of any dwelling-house, burn rags, bones, corks, or other offensive substance, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Placards not to be affixed on walls nor bridges without consent.

44. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard or other paper upon any wall, house, fence or other erection, or deface any such wall, house, fence, bridge, or erection with chalk, paint, or other matter, unless with the consent of the owner thereof; and every person who shall be guilty of any such offence, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings. Any person or persons who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp, or lamppost, or injure or extinguish any light set up for public safety and convenience within the said Borough, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Mayor, &c.

45. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within fifty yards of any road, street, public place, or private dwelling within the said Municipality, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Mayor or any two Aldermen, who shall appoint a time when the same shall take place, and give such directions as he or they may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the Mayor or any two Aldermen aforesaid, he shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds.

Cleansing private avenues.

46. Any owner or occupier of any house or place and premises who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, yards, and ways within or leading to the said premises, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Placing dead animals on premises.

47. Any person who shall place, or who shall cause or suffer to be placed, upon any land or premises within the said Municipality any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or other offensive matter, shall on conviction suffer and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Allowing dead animals to remain on premises.

48. Any owner or occupier of any land or premises who shall suffer or permit any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any other offensive matter to remain upon the said land or premises after notice shall have been given by the Inspector of Nuisances to remove the same, shall be subject to a penalty of not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings for every day that the same shall so remain.

Hog-styes and nuisances not removed on notice, &c.

49. In case any privy, hog-sty, any sink, cesspool, yard, or enclosure, or any matter or thing which shall at any time be in any place within the said Municipality, shall be or become a nuisance, it shall be lawful for the Council, or for the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council, after due investigation, by notice in writing, to order the removal of the said nuisance within seven days after such notice shall have been given to the owner or occupier of the premises wherein such nuisance is situated, or shall have been left for such owner or occupier at his or her last or usual place of abode, or on the said premises; and every such owner or occupier refusing or neglecting to remove or abate such nuisance, pursuant to such notice, and to the satisfaction of the Council, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than forty shillings.

Penalty for not removing offensive matter on notice.—Council may abate nuisance.—Right of entry for such purposes.

50. Any person who shall suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter to remain in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality for the space of twenty-four hours after written notice to him or her from the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council to remove the same, or shall allow the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings, and a further sum of ten shillings for every day the offence shall be continued; and the Council may remove or abate, or cause to be removed or abated, every such nuisance, and do what shall be needful for preventing a continuation or recurrence thereof; and the officers of the said Council shall, for such purpose, have power from time to time to enter any house or premises; and the expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of the By-law shall be paid to the Council by the occupier or owner of the premises upon which the same exists, in addition to the penalty aforesaid, so as the same do not exceed fifty pounds in the whole.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, &c.

51. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances or for any other officer appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shops, soap and candle manufactories, private avenues, passages, yards, and ways within the premises of any owner or occupier, &c., fellmongering establishments, and tanneries within the said Municipality, and to give such direction with respect to the cleansing of the same, respecting both within and without, as to him shall seem needful. And any owner or occupier of any such premises aforesaid who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Planting trees, &c.

52. The Council shall have power to plant trees on the public streets and ways of the Municipality, and shall reserve the power to grant permission to any person so to do. Any person who shall wilfully and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood, or pull down, destroy, deface, or injure any marks, or any fence, or other erections under the management of the Council, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Newly slaughtered carcasses.

53. Every person who, within the said Municipality shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any public street or place, the carcase, or any part of the carcase, of any newly slaughtered animal, without sufficient and proper cloth or covering to conceal the same from public view, shall be liable on conviction to a penalty of any sum not exceeding forty shillings for every such offence.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

54. Any person who shall bathe near to or within view of any inhabited house, public bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Municipality between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and eight in the evening shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding twenty shillings.

Weeds.

55. Any person appointed by the Council may enter upon any lands within the said Municipality to extirpate the weed known as Bathurst burr, Scotch thistle, sweet-briar, or other noisome weeds, and the expense of extirpating such weeds may be recovered as an ordinary debt from the owner or occupier of such lands. Any person hindering or obstructing any person so appointed as aforesaid shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of forty shillings. All owners or occupiers of property within this Municipality shall remove and burn all kinds of thistles, Bathurst burr, sweet-briar, or other noisome weeds, upon lands owned, rented, or occupied by them; and any owner, tenant, or occupier neglecting to comply with this By-law after seven days' notice from any officer of the Municipality requiring him to remove and burn such weeds as aforesaid, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than twenty shillings, and not exceeding five pounds.

Obstructing public pathways.

56. If the owner or occupier of any premises situate on the side of any street or road in this Borough shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footway, street, or road, and on demand made by the Council or their overseer or inspector, shall not cut or cause to be cut, lop or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, the said Council and their servants and workmen may cut or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and to remove or burn any portion of such trees, plants, or shrubs, so cut or lopped without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and the Council may recover the cost of such work from the owner of the premises; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants or workmen in carrying out this By-law, every person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Musicians to move on.

57. Any street musician or vocalist, who shall not, when requested by any householder within the Municipal District of Walcha, or his servant, or by any officer or servant of the Council of the Municipal District of Walcha aforesaid, or by any police officer, depart from the neighbourhood of the premises of such householder, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds.

Indecent exposure of person.

58. Any person who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street or public place within the said Municipality or in view thereof shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

59. Every person who, in any street or public place or passage, within the said Municipal District of Walcha, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds.

Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.

Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed in any street or public place the carcase or any part of the carcase of any slaughtered animal without sufficient and proper cloth covering the same, for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger or annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window near to any street or public place without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.

Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a board or enclosure when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or being repaired).

Every blacksmith, metal-founder, lime-burner, brick-maker, potter, or other person using a forge, furnace, or kiln, and having a door, window, or aperture fronting or opening into or towards any street, lane, or passage, and not enclosing such door, or not fastening the shutters or other fastenings of such window, and closing such aperture, or placing a screen before the same every evening within one hour after sunset so as effectually to prevent the light from showing through the doorway, window, or a perture next or upon such street, lane, or passage.

Every person who shall within the distance of one hundred yards, from any dwelling-house, barn any rags, bones, cork, or any offensive substance (garden refuse excepted) to the annoyance of any inhabitant.

Every person who shall carry goods, tools, implements, ladders, scaffolding, or any frame upon any footway to the annoyance of any person.

Every person who shall be a keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or other place within the said Municipal District of Walcha.

Suppression of Nuisances.

60. No householder or resident shall be permitted under a penalty of any sum not exceeding ten pounds, to allow his or her premises, yards, closets, or drains to be offensive or a nuisance to the neighbouring householders or residents.

61. No noisome or offensive trade shall be permitted, under a penalty of any sum not exceeding ten pounds, to be carried on in any premises, to the inconvenience or annoyance of the residents of neighbouring or adjoining houses or premises.

62. Upon representation by any respectable householder that the house, premises, yard, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the officer of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose, and if any such premises be found to be a nuisance, notice in writing shall be given to the proprietor or resident of such premises, that if, within seven days after the service of such notice, the nuisance shall not be removed, the proprietor, tenant, or occupant of the aforesaid premises, shall upon conviction be liable to any penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Exposing infected articles.

63. Any person who shall expose, or cause to be exposed, in any street, road, or public place, or unenclosed land adjacent to any dwelling, road, street, or public place, any article whatsoever, knowing the same to have been in the use or occupation of any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease within thirty days prior to the date of such exposure as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Premises in a state to endanger public health—Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

64. If, upon the certificate of any two duly qualified medical practitioners, it appears to the Council that any house, or part thereof, or of the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the said Municipality, is or are in such a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious diseases, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash cleanse or purify the same, as the case may require, and if the person to whom notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he or she shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he or she continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

Inspector of Nuisances may take legal proceedings.

65. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other person appointed by the Council, may, without any other authority than these By-laws, take legal proceedings against any person or persons committing any offence or offences against any of the By-laws of the said Municipality.

Penalties to be paid over to Treasurer.

66. All penalties under any of these By-laws shall be paid over to the Treasurer of the said Municipality, to be appropriated as the Council may direct.

Interpretation of "Mayor" and "Municipality."

67. Whenever in any of these By-laws the word "Mayor" is made use of, it shall, unless a context shall indicate a contrary distinction, be construed also to signify and include any Alderman lawfully acting for the time being in the place or stead of the Mayor; and whenever the word "Municipality" is made use of in the said By-laws it shall be understood to signify the "Municipal District of Walcha."

As to interference with officer of the Council in enforcing By-laws.

68. Any person who shall obstruct or interfere with any officer of the Council or other person doing or performing any duty or act under any of the By-laws of the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

These By-laws were made and passed by the Municipal Council of Walcha, and the Seal of the Municipality was authorized to be affixed thereto, on the 1st day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

MUNICIPALITIES.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF MURRURUNDI—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 2nd December, 1890.

MURRURUNDI MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

The following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Murrurundi, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAWS OF THE MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF MURRURUNDI.

PART I.

Meetings of Council

1. The Council shall meet for the transaction of business on every alternate Friday, at 8 o'clock p.m., unless such day shall happen on a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint.

Standing Orders of the Municipality of Murrurundi.

2. The Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order shall be final.

3. When the Chairman is required or called upon to decide a point of order or practice, he is to state the rule, custom, or precedent applicable to the case without argument or comment.

4. The Mayor or Chairman for the time being may take part in all the proceedings of the Council.

5. The Mayor or Chairman shall put all questions to the meeting, and declare the sense of the Council thereon.

6. The Mayor or Chairman for the time being, in case of an equality of votes upon any division, shall give a casting vote in addition to his vote as Alderman.

7. If two or more members rise to speak at the same time, the Chairman shall decide which member is entitled to pre-audience.

8. The Chairman may, without waiting for the interposition of any member of the Council, call to order any member proceeding to speak a second time on the same question, except in explanation and without introducing any new matter.

9. The Council shall vote by show of hands, but any Alderman may call for a division upon any question.

10. The Chairman shall, on every motion made and seconded, put the question first in the affirmative and then in the negative, and he may do so as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion from the show of hands as to the majority.

11. In special cases, such as the accepting of tenders, the appointment of Committees or any officers, the Council may, if they deem it expedient, have recourse to the ballot (which may be done on motion without notice), and cause the names of the tenderers or candidates to be written on slips of paper, of which one shall be handed to each Alderman; having struck out the names of all but those for whom he votes, each Alderman shall fold his paper and hand it to the Chairman. The ballot papers having been first mixed, so as to prevent identification, shall then be examined by the Chairman in the presence of the Aldermen, and the result ascertained and recorded.

12. Every member shall stand when speaking and address the Chair.

13. Except in Committees, no member shall speak twice on the same question, unless in explanation, when he has been misrepresented or misunderstood: Provided, however, that the mover be allowed to reply, and that every member shall be entitled to speak once upon every amendment as well as on the original motion.

14. No Alderman, when discussing any matter, shall be interrupted unless by a call to order, when he shall sit down; the Alderman calling him to order shall then be heard, and the question of order decided before the debate or any other business is resumed.

15. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, nor make personal reflections on members, nor impute motives; and all personal reflections shall be considered highly disorderly, and any member so offending shall be required by the Mayor or Chairman to withdraw the expression, and to make a satisfactory apology to the Council or Committee thereof.

16. In all divisions every member present shall be compelled to vote.

17. All divisions of the Council shall be entered in the minutes of proceedings.

18. Any member may require the question or matter under consideration or discussion to be read for his information at any time during the debate, but not so as to interrupt any other member while speaking.

19. The order of the day shall include all business of which due notice has been given, and all matters arising out of former meetings of the Council.

20. Any motion entered on the business paper, and the Alderman who has given notice of the same being absent, and no Alderman having been deputed to bring it forward, such motion, when business is called in order, shall be permitted to lapse.

21. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the same day, or to another day specified, and the member moving the adjournment shall be entitled to precedence on the resumption of the same.

22. If the Mayor be not present within ten minutes after the time appointed for the meetings of the Council, any Alderman may be elected Chairman for that particular meeting.

23. The business of each ordinary meeting of the Council shall be transacted in the following order, viz. :—

1. The reading and confirmation of the minutes of the previous meeting.
2. The reading of official correspondence.
3. The presentation of petitions.
4. Reports brought up from Committees.
5. Miscellaneous business.
6. Motion of which notice has been given.
7. Notices of motion.
8. Order of the day.

24. Any number of amendments may be proposed on a motion before the Council, and when more than one amendment is moved and seconded the question shall be first put on the last amendment, and then on the next to the last, and so on in the reverse order in which they are moved, except when such motion or amendment shall relate to the fixing of salaries, rates, or other matters of finance, in which case the lowest sum shall be put first, then the next to the lowest, and so on to the highest.

25. Any motion for adjournment, if seconded, shall be put from the Chair, but if such motion be negatived it shall not be competent for any member to make a similar motion until half an hour at least shall have elapsed from the moving of the one that has been negatived.

26. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it be seconded.

27. All notices of motion shall be signed, dated, and given to the Council Clerk four days previous to meeting, and shall be considered the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the Council.

28. No motion the effect of which if carried would be to rescind any motion which has already passed the Council, shall be entertained for a period of three months from the date of such resolution, excepting matters connected with public works, unless a call of the Council has been duly made for that purpose; and no motion for rescinding any resolution of the Council which has been negatived shall be again put for three months from the time it has been so negatived.

Petitions.

29. On the presentation of a petition no debate shall take place until notice has been given in the usual manner, and the only question that can be entertained by the Council on the day of its presentation shall be that the petition be received, or that it be referred to a committee.

30. It shall be incumbent on any member presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the language thereof, and to report to the Council that he considers it unobjectionable.

31. That all petitions be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

Committees.

32. Besides such Special Committees as may from time to time be found necessary there shall be two standing Committees, namely, a Finance and an Improvement Committee.

33. All Committees of the Council shall consist of three members, two of whom shall form a quorum. The Mayor shall be a member of all Committees.

34. The Mayor, as Chairman of every Committee, shall be convenor thereof, and may direct the Council Clerk to call meetings whenever he shall think it expedient.

35. The appointment of Special Committees shall continue until the specific duty for which they are appointed shall have been discharged: Provided that such Committee may at any time be dissolved by a vote of the Council.

36. The orders of the Council shall be observed in Committee of the whole Council, except the order limiting the number of times speaking.

37. Every report of a Committee shall be signed by the Chairman thereof.

38. The Finance Committee, in addition to the duty of examining all accounts, shall deliberate and report on all questions affecting the finances of the Municipality which may be committed to it by a resolution of the Council. It shall be the duty of this Committee to watch generally over the financial affairs and administration of the Municipality; and it shall have the right of calling the attention of the Council by a report to any matters connected with such administration which may seem to require such attention.

39. The Improvement Committee shall have the general inspection of all public works in progress throughout the Municipality, and shall have the right of calling the attention of the Council by report to any matters connected with such works, or with the state of any public thoroughfare which may require such attention. It shall also consider and report upon any questions of an analogous nature to those which may be referred to it by a resolution of the Council.

40. Every Committee shall have a right to take evidence upon any question or questions of fact referred to it by a resolution. A minute of the evidence thus taken, or of its substance, must however in all cases of this character be appended to the Committee's report.

41. The Standing Committees shall be appointed within thirty days after the commencement of each Municipal year.

42. Any member moving for a Special Committee may propose certain Aldermen as members of the same, but if demanded the selection of the Committee shall be made by ballot.

43. Every member proposing the appointment of a Select Committee, and naming its proposed members, must name himself as one of them.

Miscellaneous.

44. In cases where security is required by the Municipalities Act of 1867, the sureties offered shall be approved of by the Council, and it shall not be competent for them to accept as surety any of its members, or any person holding office under the Council; and in all cases in which security for due and faithful performance of any duty or contract is required, the expenses of preparing the bond of such security shall be borne by the Council.

45. No work affecting the funds of the Corporation shall be undertaken until the probable expense be first ascertained by the Council; and all accounts to be paid by the Council shall be examined by the Finance Committee, and reported on by them before any warrant shall be issued for the payment thereof: Provided always that in cases of emergency, the Mayor, with the assent of any three Aldermen, may authorise the expenditure of any sum not exceeding ten pounds, and such expenditure shall be reported to the Council at next sitting.

46. The Treasurer's accounts and the bank-book of the Council shall be laid before the Council as often as required.

47. No officer appointed by the Council shall be at liberty to show, lay open, or expose any of the books, papers, or records of the Council to any person not a member of the Council without leave from such Council except as otherwise provided by law.

48. No By-laws shall be decided on without due notice, as in cases of motions.

49. Any member may record his protest against any decision of the Council, provided the same be made in writing before the next meeting of the Council and couched in respectful language and be consistent with truth. Notice of such intention however must be given on the adoption of the resolution.

50. No election to any paid office at the disposal of the Council shall take place until seven days' notice be given in a local newspaper, inviting applications for the same.

51. The Council Clerk shall have the charge of the common seal of the Corporation, and shall be responsible for the safe custody and proper use of the same, each impression thereof being duly verified by the signature of that officer; and he shall not affix the seal to any corporate document without the express order of the Council, nor unless such documents have the signature of the Mayor.

52. Any one or more of the standing orders of the Council may be suspended pro tempore in cases of emergency: Provided that the majority of the members present deem it necessary.

Collection of rates.

53. The rates shall be levied and collected yearly, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day as the Council shall by resolution appoint from time to time.

54. All persons liable to pay any rates or assessments shall pay the amount within the time prescribed by the Act into the office of the Council Clerk during office hours, viz., from 10 to 12 a.m., and 2 to 4 p.m., on Wednesdays and Saturday.

55. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Council with a list of the names of all persons whose rates are unpaid at the expiration of the notice thereof given pursuant to the Municipalities Act of 1867.

The Bailiff and his duties.

56. The Bailiff shall be appointed by a resolution of Council, and may at any time be removed in a similar way.

57. The Bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor to the extent of fifty pounds each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

58. The Bailiff shall make all levies and distresses for the recovery of rates, under warrant in the form of the schedule hitherto annexed and marked with the letter A, under the hand of the Mayor or any person who may for the time being be duly authorised to perform the duties of that office.

59. At the time of making a distress, the Bailiff shall forthwith make out a written inventory in the form or to the effect of the schedule annexed hereto, and marked with the letter B, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress has been made, and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress has been made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer, on demand, at any time within one month after the making of such distress.

60. It shall be lawful for the Bailiff and such assistance as he may take with him to enter in to any part of the land, building, tenement, or other property in respect of which a warrant has been issued for the recovery of any rate or rates as aforesaid, and to distrain the goods therein or thereon, and to remain in such building, tenement, or other property in charge thereof; and if the sum for which such distress shall have been made or taken shall not be paid on or before the expiration of five days, it shall be lawful for such Bailiff to sell the goods so distrained or a sufficient portion thereof by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the Municipality as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose, and the surplus, if any, that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, together with the expenses attendant upon such distress, shall be paid over on demand to the owner of the goods so sold: Provided always, that nothing herein contained as to the time of sale, shall apply to any corn, grass, hops, roots, fruits, pulse, or other products whatever which may be growing at the time of the same being seized as a distress.

61. The Bailiff in making a distress as aforesaid may impound or otherwise secure the distress so made, of what nature or kind soever it may be, in such places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with the rate as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where the distress shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

62. The owner of any goods so distrained upon may at his or her option direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods and chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

63. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of such distresses within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

64. The Bailiff, with the sanction of the Mayor of the Municipality, may authorise any person to act temporarily as his deputy, and the person thus authorised shall have and exercise for the time being all the powers of the Bailiff himself, but the Bailiff and his sureties shall in every case be held responsible for the acts of such deputy.

65. The Bailiff shall be paid for every levy made under these By-laws according to the schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of Distress.

I, _____, the Mayor of the Municipality of Murrurundi, do hereby authorise you _____, the Bailiff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house or in and upon the lands and premises of _____, situate at _____ for the sum of _____ being the amount of municipal rates due to the Municipality to the _____ day of _____, for the said dwelling-house, land, or premises, as the case may be, and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.—Dated this _____ day of _____, 18 _____.

Mayor.

SCHEDULE B.

Inventory.

I have this day, in virtue of a warrant under the name of the Mayor of the Municipality of Murrurundi, dated _____, distrained the following goods and chattels in the dwelling-house, or in and upon the land and premises of _____, situate at _____, within the Municipality of Murrurundi, for the sum of _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Municipality to the _____ day of _____, 18 _____.

Bailiff.

SCHEDULE C.

Fees to Bailiff.

For making entry and inventory, three shillings; if in possession more than five hours, three shillings additional; and for every subsequent day whilst in possession, five shillings, and five per cent. on the net amount of sale, in addition to cost of advertisements (if any).

PART II

Suppression of Nuisances.

Allowing slops filth, &c., to flow, and nuisances to accumulate.

66. No balcony, &c.

112. Any person about to erect a verandah or balcony over a footway shall give due notice thereof to the Council, and furnish plans of the same; and no balcony or verandah shall be erected unless the construction of the same shall have been approved by the Council; no room or apartment shall be erected on such balcony.

Footways may be levelled.

113. When any footway shall have been marked out in manner herein directed, the surveyor or any other person as aforesaid may cause the same to be levelled and made as nearly as practicable of equal height and breadth, and with an equal slope and inclination, and may remove any flagging, steps, or other matter, thing, or obstruction that may injure or obstruct the said footway or render it unequal or inconvenient, and which now is or may hereafter be erected or placed on the space marked out for the said footway.

Fixing street levels.

114. Any officer acting under the supervision and subject to such orders as may from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, shall fix and lay out the level of all public roads, streets, and ways within the Municipality, and the carriage-ways and footways thereof: Provided that there shall be no change of levels in any such public roads, streets, or ways until the same shall have been submitted and certified by the Council as hereinafter directed.

Change of street levels.

115. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public street, road, or way as aforesaid, the Council shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed cuttings and fittings, to be exhibited at the Council Chambers fourteen days for the information and inspection of the ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating within the Municipality that such plan is open for inspection; at a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Council Clerk, and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Obstructing public pathways.

116. That the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipality who shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such street or road, so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and who, on demand made by the Council, or their Overseer or Inspector, shall not cut or cause to be cut, lopped, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, to the height of eight feet at the least, the said Council and their servants, labourers, and workmen may cut, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and to remove or burn any portion of such trees, plants, or shrubs so cut or lopped without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist, or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council, or their servants, labourers, or workmen in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Wilful trespass.

117. Every person who shall wilfully let in, or knowingly suffer to enter upon the reserves or public recreation grounds, any animals, without due authority, shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass, and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Penalty for destroying boundary marks.

118. Any person pulling down, destroying, defacing, or injuring any marks, or any fence, or other erections thereon, without the authority of the Council, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Destroying kerb-stones, gutters, pathways, &c.

119. No driver, carter, or other person, shall wilfully or negligently do or suffer, or cause to be done, any damage or injury to the kerb-stones, gutters, or pathways of any street or roadway; and no person shall be at liberty to drive a wheeled vehicle of any kind, or ride, or drive, lead, or stand, or permit to stand, any horse or horses, or other animals, on the pathways within the Municipality; and every person so offending shall for such offence forfeit and pay a fine or sum not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings in excess of any damage done.

Driving and riding round street corners.

120. Any person who shall ride or drive round the corners of any street within the Municipality at a pace faster than a walk, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Fixing placards on walls, and chalk-ing thereon.

121. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise to fix any placards or other paper upon any wall, fence, house, or building within the limits of the said Municipality, nor to deface any such wall, house, fence, or building by chalk or paint, or in any other manner, unless with the consent of the owner thereof; and any person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings.

Premises in state to endanger public health.—Houses to be purified on certificate of a medical practitioner.

122. If, upon the certificate of a duly qualified medical practitioner, it appears to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in such a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the white-washing, cleansing, or purifying of any house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house, or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same as the case may require; and if the person to whom notice was so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he or she shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings nor less than five shillings for every day during which he or she continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

Drains for discharge of surface water from land.

123. Every owner or occupier of land so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any road, lane, or footway shall, within seven days next after the service of notice by the Council, abate such notice where possible; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid, such owner or occupier shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds; and if within seven days after such conviction such owner or occupier shall still have failed to comply with such notice, or be otherwise in default as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and for every further such offence he shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds; and every such owner or occupier who shall still have made default as aforesaid for more than seven days after such second or any future convictions shall be held guilty of a further offence within the meaning of this section.

Natural water-courses.

124. Any person who shall close or intercept any natural watercourse, by building or otherwise, shall provide another outlet for the surface water with pipes or sewers of a size and in a manner to be approved by the Council, and any person failing to comply with the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds.

PART IV.Preventing and extinguishing Fires.Fire or combustible material.

125. Every person who shall place or knowingly permit to be placed in any yard, house, workshop, out-office, or other premises within the said Municipality, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind in such a manner as to endanger any buildings, shall on conviction thereof for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than ten shillings and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials, and every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for twenty-four hours after such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Fireworks.

126. Every person who shall discharge any firearms within the Municipality, or who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or fireworks, upon or within 60 yards of any public or private street, or public place, or shall sell gunpowder, squibs, rockets, or any other combustible matter, by gas or candle, or other artificial light within the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Inflammable fences, &c.

127. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as, or for the covering of any such stack, any inflammable materials so as to endanger any contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or any other produce thereof, or any chattels therein, shall forfeit on conviction for every such offence, a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and shall remove such fence, stack, or covering, within a reasonable time after any such conviction; and any person failing to remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

128. Any person who shall wilfully or negligently set, or cause to be set on fire, any chimney, flue, smoke-vent or stove-pipe, herein called in common a chimney, within the said Municipality, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound: Provided always that nothing herein contained shall exempt the person so setting or causing to be set on fire any chimney from liability to be proceeded against or prosecuted before any criminal court for such act, as for an indictable offence.

Water carters to attend and at fires.

129. Every owner or driver of a licensed water-cart shall keep such cart loaded with water during all times after sunset and before sunrise, and shall if any building, premises, or property, shall be on fire within the Municipality, attend at the place of such fire with such cart loaded with water, and shall continue to cart water by full loads to such place, and shall deliver such water in such manner as may be required by the Mayor, or by any Alderman, or person duly authorised by the Council in that behalf, and then present for extinguishing such fire; and every such owner or driver who shall, without reasonable excuse fail to comply with the provisions of this section, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Compensation for attendance at fires—Rewards.

130. There shall be paid out of the Municipal funds, to the owner of any licensed water-cart who shall have attended with any water at the place of any fire as herein provided, and delivered the same as required for extinguishing such fire, such reasonable compensation as the Council shall by resolution have appointed on that behalf, and also to such owners of such carts as shall have first and second in order attended with loads of water, such further sums by way of reward, as the Council may by similar resolution have fixed.

PART V.

Licensing public vehicles.

Vehicles, &c., plying for hire to be licensed.

131. All water carters, firewood carters, and owners of vehicles plying or carrying passengers, goods, or other materials for hire, shall be licensed by the Council; and the owners shall have their names painted in legible letters with the word "licensed" on some conspicuous part of such vehicles respectively. The license fee shall be at the rate of ten shillings per wheel per annum, and all such licenses shall be issued for a period of twelve months, terminable on the 30th June in each year; and every owner who shall omit or fail to comply with the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Licensing timber carriages.

132. No timber carriage or vehicle used for that purpose, or dray attached as a substitute for the conveyance of timber or other material will be allowed to ply or work within the Municipality unless the same be licensed. This clause only to apply to timber carriages and other vehicles attached as aforesaid working for hire or drawing timber to or from railway station. The owners of any such timber carriage as aforesaid shall have their names painted in legible letters with the word "licensed" on some conspicuous part of such timber carriage respectively. The license fee shall be at the rate of one pound per wheel per annum, and all such licenses shall be issued for a period of twelve months, terminable on the 30th June in each year; and every owner who shall omit or fail to comply with the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

133. The Inspector of Nuisances or other person appointed by the Council may take legal proceedings against any person or persons committing any offence or offences against any of the By-laws of the said Municipality.

134. Any words in these By-laws appearing in the singular number shall be taken to include the plural number, and any words in the plural number shall be taken to include the singular number, and any words in the masculine gender shall be taken to include the feminine gender, and vice versa.

135. The word "animal" shall for the purpose of these By-laws be held to include any horse, foal, ass, mule, cattle, calf, sheep, lamb, pig, goat, dog, cat, goose, fowl, and any other domesticated quadruped, marsupial, or bird, and the words "die of any disease" shall be held to apply to all cases of death other than death caused by killing or slaughtering.

136. Whenever in any of these By-laws the word "Mayor" is made use of, it shall, unless a context, shall indicate a contrary distinction, be construed also to signify and include any Alderman lawfully acting for the time being in the place or stead of the Mayor; and whenever the word "Municipality" is made use of in the said By-laws, it shall be understood to signify the Municipality of Murrurundi.

137. Any person found committing any offence against these By-laws, on being required to give his name and place of abode, who shall give any false or fictitious name or place of abode, shall be fined not less than two pounds nor more than five pounds.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of Murrurundi, this eighth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF MITTAGONG.—AMENDED BY-LAW.

PART IV, No. 4.

Roads and Streets and Encroachments.

THE Committee for Works, or the Surveyor of the Municipality, or other officer or person duly authorised by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot ways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land with frontage to the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare in question shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee for Works, or Surveyor, or other officer or person as aforesaid, to place, or cause to be erected, posts at the corners, or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares, whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 46 feet for the carriage-way and 10 feet for the footway on each side, where the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council, in any such road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than 66 feet: Provided there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, way, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided: Provided further that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to the "Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1881."

(SILVERTON FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153.Department of Public Instruction,
Sydney, 31st October, 1890.

THE following By-laws for the regulation of the Free Public Library at Silverton, which have been made by the Municipal Council of Silverton, and confirmed by His Excellency the Governor in Council, are published in accordance with the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

J. H. CARRUTHERS.

BY-LAWS adopted by the Silverton Municipal Council for the management of the Free Library.

1. The Library shall be open every day except Sundays during such hours as Council may from time to time by public notice determine and direct, and the Council shall have the power to close the Library and Reading Room at any time during the year for the purpose of revising the lists of books in the Library, such time of closing not to exceed fourteen days.

2. Every person who shall enter the Library or Reading Room shall, immediately on entering the same, write his or her name and address in a book to be kept for the purpose at such Library or Reading Room (to be called the Visitors' Book), and if such person be unable to write, then such name and address may be written by any other person, or shall be so written by the proper officer of the Council at such Library or Reading Room at the request of such person; and no one who shall refuse to comply with this regulation shall be permitted to remain in such Library or Reading Room, and it shall be the duty of the Officer in charge of such Library or Reading Room to enforce this By-law.

3. Any person who, being intoxicated, shall enter such such Library or Reading Room shall be at once removed from the premises, or any person who shall therein use any abusive, improper, or unbecoming language, or who shall, by any unnecessarily loud talking, or by any noise, disturb or annoy the persons resorting to such Library or Reading Room, or who shall, without lawful excuse, but without felonious or larcenous intent, remove any property from such Library or Reading Room, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds; and any such person may be forthwith removed by any officer of the Council in charge of such Library or Reading Room.

4. Any person who shall wilfully damage any visitors' book, catalogue, copy of by-laws, or other book or record kept at such Library or Reading Room for the general use thereof, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

5. It shall be the duty of the Librarian to report to any meeting of the Library Committee any infringement of these By-laws, or any injury to the books.

6. Newspapers shall not be detained more than a quarter of an hour, or periodicals more than half an hour, if required by any other person, he or she having intimated his or her wish to the person reading the same.

7. Any ratepayer may propose books for addition to the library on entering titles, prices, and other particulars in a book to be kept for the purpose.

8. The foregoing rules shall be printed, framed, and suspended in the Reading Room for the information of visitors.

The foregoing By-laws were made and passed at a meeting of the Municipal Council of Silverton, held this thirty-first day of July, 1890.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF ADAMSTOWN.—AMENDED BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 24th January, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF ADAMSTOWN.—BY-LAWS.

The following amended By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Adamstown, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

The following amended By-Laws have been made by the Municipal Council of Adamstown, for the better carrying out and into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," within the Municipal District of Adamstown.

The By-laws published in supplement to New South Wales Government Gazette of Friday, 31st August, 1888, are hereby repealed and in lieu thereof the following By-laws have been made and passed according to law:—

1. No person shall erect or commence to erect any closet except in such place or position, and of such dimensions and description as contained in By-law No. 2 of these By-laws, unless by the written authority of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council. Any person or persons violating this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings. But any person who shall feel aggrieved by the decision of such Inspector or other officer may appeal against the same to the Council.

2. The dimensions of each closet shall be 4 feet deep and not less than 3 feet wide (inside measurement) and 6 feet 6 inches high from sole plate to wall plate, and to be built of material approved of by the Council or the Inspector of Nuisances.

3. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement. In schools and factories, where a number of persons shall attend or be employed, separate closets, with a door to fasten on the inside, shall be provided for each sex; and a separate closet shall be provided for every twenty persons so attending or employed. All closets hereafter to be built shall be constructed of 4½ inches brickwork or approved sawn timber. Where two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a dividing brick wall between each of not less than 4½ inches in thickness to effect a complete separation; and any person offending against any of the provisions of this By-law shall incur a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds, and a like penalty for every succeeding seven days.

4. Every closet, whether already built or hereafter to be built, shall be provided by the occupier or owner with a galvanized iron pan not exceeding 18 inches in depth nor more than 17 inches in diameter, and of a pattern to be approved of by the Council or their authorized officer, the Nuisance Inspector. Any owner or occupier committing a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings or more than two pounds (£2), such pans to be kept in good order to the satisfaction of the Nuisance Inspector.

5. No person or persons shall bury or cause to be buried on his or her premises or any other persons premises any night-soil collected therefrom without the sanction of the Council or Inspector of Nuisances; any person or persons committing a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound or more than ten pounds.

6. If, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances, any alteration is required in existing cesspits or closets, he shall report the same to the Council, which shall determine what alteration is necessary for the preservation of health or decency, and such alteration shall forthwith be made by the owner or occupier of the premises after receiving seven days' notice to that effect, under a penalty of not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

7. If at any time the earth closet pan in any premises shall overflow or become a nuisance, the owner or occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

8. No person shall be permitted to connect any closet with any drain, watercourse, or sewer without the sanction of the Council, and any person so offending shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

9. The night-soil shall be removed by contract in properly constructed carts, between such hours as the Council may determine, and the contractor will be held responsible for the careful conveyance of the night-soil to the appointed dépôt, and shall dispose of the same as directed. For any breach of the conditions of this By-law he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

10. If the night-soil or any portion thereof shall be sold or given away by the Council, the person removing the same shall do so only at such times and in such manner as the Council may direct, and shall dispose of the same so as not to cause a public nuisance, and the person purchasing or obtaining it, and so dealing with or disposing of it as to cause a nuisance, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

11. The Inspector of Nuisances shall have power to visit and inspect any premises on any lawful day, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.; and any person refusing admittance or obstructing or hindering such inspector in the discharge of his duty shall incur a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

12. The place of deposit shall be in such locality as may from time to time be determined upon by the Council.

13. Written notice must be given to the Council or the Inspector of Nuisances, by all persons about to construct new or alter existing closets, to enable the Inspector to visit and report on the same, under a penalty for neglect not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and closets constructed without such notice being given must be removed or altered, if judged necessary by the Council, under a further penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

14. The Council shall from time to time fix the charges to be made for emptying and removing night-soil from closets, which shall be emptied every fourteen days or oftener as may be necessary in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances.

15. Persons requiring their closets emptied shall send written notice to the Council or the Inspector of Nuisances.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of Adamstown, this twenty-sixth day of November, 1889.

WILLIAM LEE,
Council Clerk.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF PARKES.—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 20th February, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF PARKES.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Parkes, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAWS FOR THE DRY-EARTH CLOSET SYSTEM.

On and after the 1st day of July, 1890, the Dry-earth Closet System be adopted within the following boundaries, within the town and suburban lands of Parkes, viz.: Mitchell-street on the north, Bogan, Dalton, and Welcome Streets on the west, to Austral-street on the south; thence by Talbott-street, Currajong, and Clarinda Streets to Hill-street; and thence by that street to Mitchell-street, both sides of all streets named to be included. And that, on and after the above date, all night-soil which may be deposited in any box, pan, bucket, or other receptacle in such closets to be immediately, on the deposit thereof, covered with a quantity of dry powdered earth or other deodorising material sufficient to thoroughly and effectually deodorise the contents of such bucket, pan, or other receptacle, and that all such pans or other receptacles be emptied from time to time so as not to become a nuisance.

Meantime, By-laws 60 and 64 shall remain in force for all portions of the Municipality not now brought under the above system.

The Council to have the power at any time to extend the "Dry-earth Closet System" to any or all parts of the Municipality.

The foregoing By-laws were adopted at a general meeting of the Council held on Monday, 2nd day of December, 1889.

(L.S.) JOHN A. ROSE,
Mayor.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF WINGHAM—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 2nd July, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF WINGHAM.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Wingham, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

SECTION VIII.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF WINGHAM,—By-laws under the "Nuisances Protection Act, 1875."

BY-LAWS of the Municipal District of Wingham, for the suppression of certain nuisances prejudicial to public health, and for improving the sanitary condition of the Municipal District of Wingham, in accordance with the provisions of the Nuisance Prevention Act, 1875.

1. Every person about to erect a closet or form a cesspit shall, before he commences any such work, give to the Council Clerk seven days' notice in writing of his intention and of the proposed position of such closet or cesspit, and in default thereof, or in case of his commencing such work without such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

2. No closet shall be erected or cesspit formed except in such position as shall be approved of by the Council, or by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council.

3. No cesspit shall be built under any dwelling-house nor at a less distance than 20 feet therefrom (if the area will permit) nor less than 12 feet in any case, nor in such position that the same cannot be emptied without the contents thereof being carried through any dwelling-house.

4. No cesspit shall be less than 3 feet 6 inches by 3 feet 6 inches by 4 feet deep, and every such pit shall be laid with 4½-inch brick laid in cement with 6-inch puddle at the back made water proof, to be built not less than 6 inches above the surface, the superstructure or closet to be placed two-thirds over the pit, so as to leave one-third of an opening for cleaning out, such opening to be covered with slab or stone.

5. Every such closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened on the inside, and shall have ventilating holes 4½ inches wide.

6. When two or more closets adjoin each other there shall be a brick or stone dividing wall of not less than 4½ inches in thickness between every two closets, and each wall shall extend from the bottom of the cesspit through the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation.

7. A separate closet shall be provided for every dwelling-house, and a breach of this By-law shall make the owner or occupier of any premises upon which there shall be a joint closet liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

8. In dwelling-houses where the number of persons who shall ordinarily sleep therein shall exceed twelve, the capacity of the cesspit shall be increased by 4 cubic feet for every person beyond the number of twelve persons or fraction of twelve persons.

9. In schools or factories or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall reside to be occupied or employed, one closet shall be provided for every twelve persons with the capacity of not less than 80 cubic feet, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex.

10. If any alteration shall be requisite in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer appointed by the Council in that behalf for preserving public health or decency in the case of any existing cesspit or closet, the owner or occupier of such premises shall receive twenty-one days' notice to remove or alter the same; and if he fail to do so, and the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be either injurious to the health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, the same shall be altered by such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer, and the cost of such alterations shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises whereon the same shall be.

11. The place of deposit for night-soil shall be in such locality as may be from time to time determined upon by the Council, subject to the approval of the Governor; and no night-soil shall be deposited in any other locality within the Municipal District of Wingham, except as allowed by the Council.

12. Until otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be removed from cesspits by the servants of or contractors with, the Council in water-tight covered vehicles, between the hours of 11 o'clock in the evening and 5 o'clock in the morning.

13. Until and unless otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth.

14. In case the Council shall sell or give away any night-soil, the same shall be removed in the manner as above provided, and on being removed from the vehicles in which it is carried, it shall be deodorized by chemicals or in some other manner, or covered with earth so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom.

15. Any person desirous of erecting an earth-closet shall be at liberty to do so; but all night-soil shall be removed therefrom once in seven days if required by the Inspector; and every person having such a closet and occupying premises where the inmates do not exceed twelve in number, shall be at liberty to use the night-soil from such earth-closet on his own premises, provided that he shall occupy a clear area of not less than 2 rods; but if any nuisance shall arise therefrom such person shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

16. Any person having a cesspit cemented, shall be at liberty to use the night-soil on his own premises, provided the owner occupies a clear area of not less than 2 rods and the inmates do not exceed twelve in number; but if any nuisance shall arise therefrom such person shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

17. No person shall be at liberty to use on his premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere.

18. The owner or occupier of any house, building, passage, yard, or premises within the Municipal District of Wingham, shall cause the yard or ground adjoining or belonging thereto, to be kept in a cleanly condition, and so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health.

19. Any person allowing night-soil from any closet to fall into the street, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

20. Any person wilfully allowing filth of any kind or accumulation thereof, or any substance or substances from which noxious effluvia arises to remain on his premises, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

21. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Nuisances to report without delay the existence of any nuisance arising from live or dead animals of any kind or species within the Municipal District of Wingham, and to give notice to the owner or occupier of the premises upon which such animals may be, to remove and destroy the same (if very offensive) within a period of six hours, and if not removed or destroyed within that period, to cause the removal and destruction of the said nuisance without delay; and the owner or owners thereof, or the owners or occupiers of the premises in default, and on conviction thereof before any two Justices of the Peace, in each case shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than forty shillings in addition to all legal and other expenses incurred in the proceedings and in the removal and destruction of said nuisances.

22. If at any time the cesspit or dry earth-closet on any premises shall overflow, the owner or occupier shall within twenty-four hours give notice to the Inspector of Nuisances, otherwise such owners or occupiers shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds. If at any time the cesspit become so full that the night-soil reaches within six (6) inches of the top, or if a dry earth-closet on any premises overflow, such owner or occupier shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

23. The Council may recover and the owner or occupier of the premises shall pay such sums for the emptying of cesspits as may be decided upon from time to time by resolution of the Council.

24. The Inspector of Nuisances shall be furnished annually with a list copied from the rate-books of the Council, showing the names of owners and occupiers of all household property or business premises within Municipal District of Wingham, the list to be furnished within three months after the filling up of the said rate-book in each year.

25. The Inspector of Nuisances shall be provided by the Council with a supply of printed forms of notices or other documents (as by the Act prescribed) from time to time when required for service upon the owners or occupiers of premises.

26. The Inspector of Nuisances shall obtain from the contractor or nightman a list showing the names of occupiers or owners of premises where water-closets have been emptied, and the situation of such premises, and shall submit the said list to the Council quarterly, viz., the end of March, June, September, and December in each year, with a view of carrying out the 10th section of the Nuisances Prevention Act.

27. The Inspector of Nuisances shall report to the Mayor for the time, or to any authorized officer of the Council, where any water-closet is connected with any drain or sewer, and take such action as may be directed by the said Mayor or officer with a view of carrying out the purposes of the Act.

28. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Nuisances to report the existence of any gutter, drain, or filthy premises that may be brought under his notice, and take such action as may be directed by the Mayor or other authorized officer of the Council in accordance with the provisions of the Nuisances Prevention Act.

29. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Nuisances to furnish the Council every three months with a list of the persons who have been proceeded against and fined for nuisances within the Municipal District of Wingham together with the dates and amounts of such fines respectively.

30. The owner or occupier of any premises within the Municipality or of any other person who shall erect upon his premises any closet or cesspit otherwise than in accordance with these By-laws, or who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of any of the preceding By-laws, or who shall commit any breach thereof, shall in cases where no special penalty is provided forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

31. All words occurring in these By-laws and which also occur in the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, shall have the like meanings assigned to them as are provided in the 4th section of the said Act.

32. By these By-laws "night-men" means and includes any and every person employed by the Council to remove or assist in removing night-soil from cesspits or earth-closets, whether as servants of the Council or as contractors thereunder, or as servants of such contractor. "Night cart" means any vehicle used by any night-man for the purpose aforesaid. "Depôt" means a depôt for the deposit of night-soil.

Night-soil depôts.

33. Such depôts as shall from time to time be named by resolution of Council, subject to the approval of the Governor, shall be depôts for the disposal of night-soil.

Unauthorized persons not to act as night-men.

34. No persons shall act as night-men or drive any night-cart within the limits of the Municipal District of Wingham, unless such person be authorized so to do by the said Council.

Certificate.

35. Such authority shall be evidenced by a certificate under the hand of the Mayor or Council Clerk, which shall contain the name and place of abode of the holder, and shall be duly numbered and registered, such certificate shall be according to the form in the Schedule to these By-laws.

Revocation of Certificate.

36. Any such certificate may be revoked, cancelled, or suspended at the will of the said Council, and thereupon such authority shall cease.

Change of abode to be notified.

37. Any authorized night-man changing his place of abode, shall within two days after so doing attend the Council Clerk, who shall note the change upon his certificate, and register the same.

Certificate to be carried and produced.

38. Every night-man whilst engaged in removing night-soil or in driving any night-cart, shall carry with him his certificate, and shall produce the same when required by any officer of the Council or member of the Police Force of New South Wales. No night-man shall on any pretence part with or lend his certificate to any other person.

Night-carts to be made watertight and covered.

39. Every night-cart or vessel used in the business of a night-man shall be kept by the owner thereof watertight and free from leakage, and shall be provided with a proper covering so as to effectually prevent the dropping, splashing, slopping, or spilling of anything carried therein.

Hours for emptying cesspits, &c.

40. No person shall empty any privy, cesspool, or remove any night-soil within the Municipal District of Wingham, or shall use or drive or permit or suffer to be used or driven any night-cart or other vehicle for that purpose except between the hours of 11 o'clock at night and 5 o'clock in the morning, or shall put, place, leave, spill, or cast out any night-soil in or upon any of the streets or public places of the Municipal District, or shall not carefully sweep up and cleanse every place in which any offensive matter is slopped or spilled: Provided that before commencing such works it shall be the duty of the night-man to report his intention so to do to the Inspector at least twelve hours before commencing such work.

Night-soil shall not be brought into the Municipal District.

41. No person shall bring or convey night-soil to any depôt within the limits of the said Municipal District from any place beyond the said limit.

Night-soil to be buried.

42. Every night-man shall upon arriving with his cart at the depôt make or cause to be made a pit or trench 5 feet in depth and of sufficient length and width to allow of a deposit of night-soil 1 foot 6 inches in depth; and all night-soil shall be buried in accordance with the agreement for the removal and depositing of the same between the contractor and the Council, and no offensive matter shall be permitted or placed in any place but that provided by the Council.

Particulars to be given at Inspector's Office.

43. Every registered night-man, when he shall use any night-cart or vessel for the removal of any night-soil or other offensive matter, shall within twelve hours after the performance of such work, report to the Inspector or other officer appointed in that behalf at his office the name of the occupier of the premises and the name of the street in which such premises are situated where he has been so employed, and also state the place where the contents of such night-cart or vessel were deposited.

44. For every offence against any of the provisions of these By-laws the offender shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than twenty shillings.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(BOROUGH OF DRUMMOYNE—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 30th July, 1890.

DRUMMOYNE MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Borough of Drummoyne under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAWS of the Borough of Drummoyne, made under and for carrying into effect the provisions of the Nuisances Prevention Act.

1. Every person who shall be about to erect a closet, or form, excavate, or make a cesspit, shall, before he shall commence to erect such closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit, deliver to the Council Clerk of the Borough of Drummoyne a notice in writing of the intention of such person to erect such closet, or form, excavate, or make such cesspit, and of the place or position in which it is intended that such closet shall be erected, or such cesspit formed, excavated, or made; and if any person shall commence or erect any closet, or form, excavate, or make any cesspit within the said Borough without having given such notice in writing as aforesaid, and before the expiration of seven days after the delivery of such notice (except by the written authority of the Inspector of Nuisances for the said Borough, or other officer for the time being appointed by the Council of the said Borough in that behalf), he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

2. No person shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit, except in such place or position as shall be approved by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid; and any person who shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit, without having obtained the approval of the said Inspector or other officer, or in any place or position other than the place or position approved of by the said Inspector or other officer as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than forty shillings. But any person who shall feel aggrieved by the decision of such Inspector or other officer may appeal against the same to the Council.

3. Every cesspit to be constructed within the Borough shall be built of 9-inch brickwork, set in cement, floor as well as walls; and the top of such cesspit shall be at least 6 inches higher than the highest part of the surface of the ground immediately adjoining such cesspit; and no cesspit shall be formed, excavated, or made under any dwelling-house, nor at a less distance than 20 feet therefrom, area permitting. If any person shall so form, excavate, or make any cesspit which shall not be in accordance with the provisions of this By-law, or shall form, excavate, or make any cesspit under any dwelling-house, or at a less distance than 20 feet, area permitting, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than two pounds.

4. For houses containing not more than four rooms and out-offices, the cesspit shall not be less than 3 by 4 feet and 5 feet deep, inside measurement; for houses containing more than four rooms and out-offices, the cesspit shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches by 4 feet and 5 feet deep, inside measurement.

5. Every closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened inside, and with a man-hole in the floor not less than 2 feet square, clear internal measurement, to be covered with a trap door; and every person who shall build or erect any closet which shall not be in accordance with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

6. Where two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a sufficient dividing-wall not less than 9 inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the cesspit up to the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and if any person shall erect any two or more closets adjoining each other and not in accordance with this By-law, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

7. A separate closet shall be provided for each tenement, and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

8. In schools, factories, or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside or be occupied or employed, one closet shall be provided for every twenty persons, with a cesspit of a capacity of not less than 80 cubic feet, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against this by-law, or fail to provide the number of closets and of the capacity in this by-law mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than two pounds.

9. If any alteration shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council in their behalf, for preserving public health or decency in case of any existing cesspit or closet, and the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to the health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, and the owner or occupier shall not make the necessary alterations after receiving fourteen days' notice from the Council Clerk, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council to remove the said nuisance, and any expense incurred thereby may be sued for and recovered in a summary way before any two or more Justices of the Peace.

10. Owners of existing closets and soil-pits may be required to alter or improve them in such manner as may be necessary in order to bring them into conformity with these regulations, on notice being given by the Inspector of Nuisances to that effect. Persons failing to make such alterations or improvements within one month after the receipt of such notice, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor exceeding the sum of three pounds for each and every week or portion of a week during which they shall fail to comply with the terms of said notice.

11. The night-soil shall be removed by contract or otherwise, in properly constructed water-tight covered vehicles, between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m. from the first day of October to the last day of March, and between the hours of 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. from the first day of April to the last day of September.

12. Persons desirous of using earth-closets may be permitted to do so on making written application to the Council, and intimating the arrangements to be made for their construction and management, provided that such arrangements shall be approved by the Council.

13. The Inspector of Nuisances or other officers appointed by the Council may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the Nuisances Prevention Act of 1875 therein, on all days except Sundays and holidays; and any person who shall hinder or obstruct any Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid upon any such visitation or inspection, or in the doing or performing of any work, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

14. All expenses incurred by the Council in emptying any cesspit or earth-closet shall be repaid to the Council by the owner or occupant of the premises whereon such cesspit or earth-closet is situated, within one week after a written demand of the amount made by the Council or Inspector of Nuisances shall have been served upon him, otherwise the same may be recovered in a summary way before any two Justices of the Peace.

15. The Inspector of Nuisances or other person authorized by the Council shall furnish the Council with a monthly return, showing the number of cesspits emptied, the amount due and payable for each cesspit, and the amount of arrears due for emptying cesspits, he shall collect the amounts so due and payable, and account therefor to the Council at least once in every month, as may be determined upon by such Council.

16. Every person who shall obstruct the Council or any person employed by them for removing night-soil, in the performance of anything which such Council is empowered or required to do by law for removing night-soil, shall incur a penalty of not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of the Borough of Drummoyne, at a meeting held on the 2nd day of July, 1890.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF HAMILTON—AMENDED BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 20th August, 1890.HAMILTON MUNICIPALITY.—AMENDED BY-LAWS.

THE following Amended By-laws, made by the Council of Municipal District of Hamilton, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

THE following Amended By-laws have been made by the Municipality of Hamilton for the better carrying out of the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," within the Municipal District of Hamilton.

By-law No. 3 of the By-laws published in the Government Gazette of 5th August, 1886, is hereby repealed, and in lieu thereof the following By-laws Nos. 2, 3, 4 shall stand as No. 3 of the aforesaid By-laws:—

1. No person shall bring or convey any night-soil to any depôt within the limits of the said Municipality of Hamilton from any place beyond the said limits; and any person or persons offending against the provisions of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, nor less than five pounds.

2. That underground cesspools for the reception of night-soil, being injurious to the public health, shall be done away with, and any existing underground cesspits shall therefore be emptied, and be filled with dry earth and quick-lime on or before the 1st day of February, 1891; any person refusing or neglecting to empty or fill up any such cesspit in accordance with this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five pounds.

3. On and after the 1st day of February, 1891, no person or persons shall dig, make, or construct, or cause or permit to be dug, made, or constructed on any premises within the boundaries of the Municipality any open closet or cesspit for the deposit of fæcal matter; and all closets or privies from and after the said date shall be constructed and made on the dry-earth system only, and any person or persons offending against any of the provisions of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

4. No person shall cover up, or cause or permit to be covered up, any existing cesspit with earth or other material unless and until the same shall be properly emptied, and also inspected by the Inspector of Nuisances; and any person or persons offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, nor less than one pound.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of the Municipal District of Hamilton, this second day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

NUISANCES PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF COOMA—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 39 Vic. No. 14, ser. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10th September, 1890.

COOMA MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Cooma, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been approved by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAWS for the purpose of carrying out more effectually the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," within the Municipal District of Cooma.

By-laws Nos. 7 and 8 of the 4th December, 1888, are hereby repealed, and By-laws No. 4 and No. 13 of the said date have been amended as hereunder:—

No. 4 as amended. In schools, factories, or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside, or be occupied or employed, one earth closet or cesspit shall be provided for every twenty persons, with separate closets for each sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against this By-law, or who shall fail to provide the number of closets, and of the capacity in these By-laws mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

No. 13 as amended. All dry-earth closets shall be supplied with iron pans, of a pattern to be approved by the Council; such pans to be kept in good order to the satisfaction of the Inspector of Nuisances. Any owner or occupier committing a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

In lieu of the By-laws hereby repealed and amended, and in addition to former By-laws, the following By-laws have been adopted:—

1. On and after the confirmation of these By-laws no person or persons shall dig, make, or construct on any premises within the boundaries of the Municipality of Cooma, any open closet or cesspit for the disposal of faecal matter, unless the same shall be built with brick or stone and be cemented as hereinafter provided.

2. Every cesspit to be constructed within the Municipality shall be built of brickwork, set in cement, floor as well as walls to be so set, and be rendered three quarters of an inch thick with cement inside in such manner as to make it perfectly water-tight. The top of such cesspit shall be at least six inches higher than the highest part of the surface of the ground immediately adjoining such cesspit; and no cesspit shall be formed, excavated, or made under any dwelling-house nor at a less distance than twenty feet therefrom, area permitting. If any person shall so form, excavate, or make any cesspit which shall not be in accordance with this By-law, or shall form, excavate, or make any cesspit under any dwelling-house or at a less distance than twenty feet therefrom, area permitting, he or they shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than two pounds.

3. The contents of cesspools, cesspits, privies, earth closets, or other receptacles for night-soil shall be removed in perfectly constructed water-tight carts, approved of by the Council, by persons who have been duly authorised to perform such work by the said Council; and no person shall be allowed to perform the duties of nightman without having first obtained such authority from the said Council; and any person infringing this part of this By-law shall on conviction thereof be subject to a penalty for every such offence of not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds.

4. The nightman authorised by the Council for the removal of nightsoil shall, under the direction of the Inspector of Nuisances for the time being, or other officer or officers appointed by the said Council, make a trench on the dépôt fixed upon by the said Council, for the purpose of depositing therein all night-soil that shall from time to time be taken thereto, and the whole of such night-soil shall, as deposited, be covered with earth so as to prevent any nuisance arising therefrom; and any nightman or other person who shall deposit night-soil either on the appointed dépôt or on other land within this Municipality without covering the same with earth shall be liable to a penalty of not less than forty shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Made and passed by the Cooma Municipal Council this twenty-second day of July, 1890.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT OF 1867, AND NUISANCES
PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CAMDEN.—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Acts 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 158, and 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 7th January, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CAMDEN.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Camden, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," respectively, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

CAMDEN MUNICIPALITY BY-LAWS.

PART I.

Proceedings of Council and Committees.—Preservation of Order at Council Meetings.—Duties of Officers and Servants, &c.

Meetings of the Council.

Ordinary Meeting.

1. The Council shall meet for the despatch of business at such times and days as may be by resolution appointed.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting. Provided if the Mayor shall afterwards attend, the Chair shall be vacated and taken by him.

Order of Business.

Business of Ordinary Meetings.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor, or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
3. Correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
4. Reports from Committee and minutes from Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon.
5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council or any of the Committee or officers to be made.
6. Matters which have been specially ordered to be placed on the business paper by the Mayor.

7. Motions, of which notice has been given, to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
8. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; also, and in like manner, to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business at Special Meetings.

4. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the Minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at any ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or the Alderman at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Business paper for ordinary meeting—how prepared.

5. The business paper for every meeting of the Council other than special meetings, shall be made by the Council Clerk, or other person acting as his substitute, not less than forty-eight, nor more than seventy-two hours before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy of the substance of every notice of motion and of every requisition or order as to the business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter, in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of section 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws, in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction shall have been received.

Business Paper for Special Meetings.

6. The business paper for each Special Meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Alderman calling such meetings.

Summons to Members.

7. The summons to members of the Council for every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How Business Paper is to be disposed of.

8. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meetings, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with; and such business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter disposed of, unless withdrawn before Business Paper made up.

9. All notices of motion and all requisitions from Aldermen, and directions from the Mayor as to the entry of any particular matters of business for the consideration of the Council at its then next or any future meetings, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received; and each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the Minute Book of the manner in which such matter has been disposed of shall have been duly verified as required by section 1 of clause 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws. Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

After Business Paper made up, all notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

10. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all such notices of motions, requisitions, and directions, as to which entries have been made thereon, shall be the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions and Amendments.

Motions—how to be moved.

11. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from the business paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Notice to be given.

12. Four clear days' notice of every motion intended to be made in the Council shall be given to the Council Clerk, to enable him to place the same on the business paper.

Motion to be seconded.

13. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

14. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

15. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

16. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amended question—further amendment may be moved thereon.

17. If an amendment be carried, the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

18. If any amendment, either upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on. Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

19. No motion for adjournment of the Council shall be discussed. If seconded, such motion shall be put at once. If negatived, no similar motion shall be permitted to be made until half an hour has elapsed after putting the one that has been negatived, and the subjects on the business paper shall be proceeded with in order.

Orders of the Day.

Of what Orders of the Day shall consist.

20. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters, other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or any committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business-paper for consideration.

Petitions.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

21. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—how received.

22. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing at the same time.

How Petitions are to be dealt with.

23. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that if it be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned, or to some special Committee appointed to consider and report on the same; or that if it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Correspondence.

Duties of Mayor as to Correspondence.

24. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by section 21 of this "Part" of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent, and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Section 23 to apply to Letters.

25. Section 23 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council as to petitions.

Reports from Committees and Minutes from the Mayor.

Form of Report.

26. All reports from Committee shall be written on foolscap paper, with a margin of at least one-fourth of the width of such paper, and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or, in his absence, by some other member of same.

Mayor's Minute.

27. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written upon paper of any kind, and with the same margin as the report from a Committee, and shall be signed by such Mayor.

How Reports, &c., are to be dealt with—Duties of Chairman, &c., in certain Cases.

28. No motion shall (except as hereinafter provided) be permissible on the presentation of a report from a Committee, or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, that it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or, if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may, if otherwise unobjectionable, be moved or considered in due course. And whenever any such report or minute embodies any recommendation which cannot legally be carried out without due notice, and it is nevertheless desirable that such report or minute shall be definitely ordered upon during the meeting of the Council at which such report or minute is presented, it shall be the duty of the Chairman or member of such Committee signing such report, or of such Mayor, as the case may be, to give or transmit to the Council Clerk such a notice of motion, requisition, or direction as aforesaid, as will enable such Council Clerk to make the necessary entry on the business-paper, and to give such due notice.

Report of Finance Committee on Payment of Accounts.

29. The adoption of the report of the Finance Committee on the payment of accounts shall take precedence of every other report.

Questions and Statements.

Limitations as to Questions and Statements.

30. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order, or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of section 33 of this "Part" of these By-laws.

Notice to be given.

31. Twenty-four hours' notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto, to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or to documents.

Answer not Compulsory.

32. It shall not be compulsory on any person questioned as aforesaid to answer the question so put to him.

Question to be put without Argument, &c.

33. Every such question, must be put categorically, without any argument or statement of fact.

Similar Provisions as to Statements.

34. Every such statement must be made without argument.

No Discussion on Question, &c. ; Rights of Objection and of subsequent Motion reserved.

35. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement, at the time when such question is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question, or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of Debate.

Mode of addressing the Council, &c.

36. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or any discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way, or for any other purpose address observations to the Council, shall while so doing stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from doing so by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or Officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in a like manner; but in every such case the question so put, and the answer thereto, shall be subject to every legal objection, on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

37. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided.

Limitation as to number of Speeches, &c.

38. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendments moved thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman, other than mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion, and on every amendment thereon. No Alderman shall speak upon any question other than a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observations than may be necessary for the purpose of such explanation.

Mover and Seconder.

39. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Limited time of speaking on motion or amendment.

40. No Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer time than fifteen minutes, except by permission of the Council.

Speaker not to digress, &c.

41. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, or impute improper motives to, any other Alderman.

Adjournment of debate.

42. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

43. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time the Mayor or Alderman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Aldermen may require questions to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

44. Any Alderman may request the question or matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such question or matter which are readily accessible: Provided, however, that no such request or requisition shall be so made as to interrupt the discussion. Also, that if any such request or requisition shall appear to the Mayor or Chairman not to have been made bona fide it shall not be complied with.

Mayor or Chairman may move or second motion, &c., and may address Council thereon.

45. The Mayor or Chairman may propose or second any motion, and such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking (unless prevented by some bodily infirmity from so doing), but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

46. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final, except in so far as the same may be questioned, as in the manner hereinafter provided.

Acts of disorder.

47. Every member of the Council who shall commit a breach of any section of this "Part" of these By-laws, or who shall move or attempt to move any motion or amendment embodying any matter as to which the Council has no legal jurisdiction, or who shall in any other way raise or attempt to raise any question, or shall address or attempt to address the Council upon any subject which the said Council has no legal right to entertain or to discuss, or who shall use any language which, according to the common usage of gentlemen, would be held disorderly, or who shall say or do anything calculated to bring the Council into contempt, shall be out of order.

Mayor, &c., may call member to order.

48. The Mayor or Chairman may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman; there shall be a necessity for so doing.

Any member may raise question of order.

49. Every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or the Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument, or observation moved, used, or made by any other member which such first-named member shall consider out of order.

Mode of proceeding thereon.

50. A member named by the Mayor or Chairman as being disorderly shall withdraw while the question of order is being discussed and decided upon, unless specially permitted to offer an explanation, retraction, or apology; but on obtaining such special permission such member may explain, retract, or apologise for the matter or remark alleged to have been out of order. And if such explanation, retraction, or apology be deemed satisfactory, no further discussion on the question of order shall be permitted. If any member, on being called to order, shall ask such permission to explain, retract, or apologise as aforesaid, the Mayor or Chairman may, of his own authority, grant or refuse such permission, as he may think fit, unless any member shall require the sense of the Council to be taken on this question. In such case it shall be the duty of the Mayor or Chairman to take the sense of the Council at once, and without discussion, as to whether such permission shall be granted. And when any such explanation, retraction, or apology shall have been made or offered by permission of the Mayor or Chairman, the latter shall in like manner decide, or, if required so to do, shall take the sense of the Council as to whether such explanation, retraction, or apology is considered sufficient. If such permission be refused, or such explanation, retraction, or apology be considered insufficient, the question of order shall be considered and decided before any further business is proceeded with. Provided that if such Mayor or Chairman shall have decided the question of order before any member shall have required the sense of the Council to be taken in reference thereto, such question of order shall not be re-opened. And provided further that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the right of such Mayor or Chairman to decide finally, as hereinafter provided, upon any such point of order, after the same shall have been discussed.

Decision of points of order.

51. The Mayor or Chairman when called upon to decide points of order or practice shall state the provision, rule, or practice which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting on the same.

Motion out of order to be rejected.—Members to explain, retract, or apologise, &c.

52. Whenever it shall have been decided as aforesaid that any motion, amendment, or other matter before the Council is out of order, the same shall be rejected; and whenever anything said or done in Council by any Alderman shall be similarly decided to be out of order, such Alderman shall be called upon by the Mayor or Chairman to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as the case may require.

Penalty for persisting in disorderly conduct.

53. Any member of the Council who shall have been named by the Mayor or Chairman as being disorderly, and who, after having been twice directed to withdraw as aforesaid, shall refuse to do so, or who shall persist in any line of conduct or argument, or of observations which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, or who shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as aforesaid, when required to do so, or who shall be guilty of any other act of disorder, as defined in section 48 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable on conviction for the first offence, to a penalty of not less than ten shillings, nor more than five pounds, and on second conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound, nor more than ten pounds; and on the third conviction and every further conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds, nor more than twenty pounds.

Power of Council to dissent from ruling.

54. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice, may, by immediate action, respectfully worded, invite the Council to dissent from such decision. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to bind any Mayor, or Chairman, to put any motion to the Council which, in his opinion, is contrary to law.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

55. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions.—Penalty for refusing to vote.

56. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put, first in the affirmative and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

Protests.

Mode of protesting.—Protest to be recorded, but may under certain circumstances be expunged.

57. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council. Notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed, or such vote is arrived at; and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the Minute-book; but if, in the opinion of the Council, it be inconsistent with the truth, or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution on notice) be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with reference in the margin to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Rules applicable to business in Committee.

58. The following sections of this "Part" of these By-laws shall (except as is herein excepted) be taken to apply to the conduct of business in Committee of the whole Council, namely:—Sections 14 (except that it shall not be necessary that any mention or amendment in Committee shall be seconded), 15, 16, 17, 18, 35, 36, 39, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 55, and 55.

Disorderly conduct in Committee.

59. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order within the meaning of section 5) of this "Part" of these By-laws, it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting, and that such matter be reported; and, if such motion be carried, such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the Minute-book; and whenever any Alderman shall have failed to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by section 56 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the fact shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the Minute-book: Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid, no special motion that the Council resume its sitting shall be necessary; but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the Whole, in making his report of the proceedings in such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which such Alderman has so failed to vote.

Decisions in Committee on points of order may be reported.

60. Whenever a decision upon any question of order shall have been given by the Chairman of a Committee of the whole Council, under the provision of section 46 of this "Part" of these By-laws, any Alderman may move that such decision be embodied in the report to the Council of the proceedings in such Committee; and, if such motion be carried, such decision shall be so embodied in such report, whenever the same shall be made.

How progress may be reported, &c.

61. Any Alderman may, at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council, move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress, as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on any further day; or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried, the Council shall resume its sittings, and a report shall be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion; and if the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another such motion shall be receivable.

Reports of proceedings in Committee.—Want of quorum in Committee.

62. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council visa voce by the Chairman of such Committee, and a report of such proceedings shall be made in every case, except when it shall be found, on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Committee, that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case, the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Committee shall be considered to have lapsed: Provided that in making of any such report as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the result, general effect, or substance of such proceedings.

How reports are to be dealt with.

63. All such reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the Minute-book; but except as hereinafter mentioned no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption or for the granting of such leave. And every such motion for the adoption of a report or for the granting of leave as aforesaid and the order of debate on such motion shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council and the order of debate on such other motions. Provided, however, that where a report shall have been made under section 59 of this "Part" of these By-laws of disorderly conduct in Committee, or under section 56 of this "Part" of these By-laws of failure to vote on division, or of any decision in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall, so far as it relates to such facts, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof, and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretext whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be ordered.

64. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution, of which due notice shall have been given, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

65. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered shall be moved or considered. Such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all the members in their alphabetical order, each member present shall answer to his name as so called. If any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such members shall have previously been granted, or if an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse—further call when question adjourned.

66. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, being absent, shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent, and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness, or any other sufficient cause, he has been unable to send an excuse in writing at aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business, as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day, there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration, and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call. And if there shall be more than one adjournment, this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees.

67. There shall be four Standing Committees, viz, a By-law Committee, Committee for Works, Finance Committee, and Committee for General Purposes. Each of these Committees shall be re-appointed every year at the first meeting of the Council, which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Constitution of Standing Committees.

68. Each of the Committees shall consist of the whole Council, three to form a quorum.

By-law Committee.

69. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Municipality. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws and of any Statute of which the operation has been or may be extended to the Municipality, and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention or punishment of offences against such By-laws or Statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order, and decency.

Committee for Works.

70. The Committee for Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, and reserves under the care and management of the Council. They shall inquire and report from time to time, as directed, as to such improvements and repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

71. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect, or be likely to affect, the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Committee for General Purposes.

72. The Committee for General Purposes shall take cognizance of every matter, subject, or question within the jurisdiction of the Council, not coming within the province of one or other of the beforementioned Standing Committees, and shall from time to time inquire into and report upon any such subject, matter, or question as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

Special Committees.

73. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a Special Committee ought to be appointed. And no Standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time-being have been entrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution of the Council, and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such Special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as, in his opinion, ought to constitute such Committee; or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot, and, in the latter case, or if an amendment to the effect that such Special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, each member then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council, from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom, in his opinion, such Special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such list, and shall declare the result. And, in the event of it becoming necessary, through an equality of votes, to decide as to which of the two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

74. Every Committee, of which the Mayor shall not be a member, shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, within seven days after their appointment.

Term of Service in Committees.

75. Appointments to the By-law Committee, the Committee of Works, and the Finance Committee, shall be for the whole municipal year. The Chairman of these three Committees, as appointed to or removed from the Chairmanship of the same, shall be thereby, and without further order, regarded as having been appointed to or removed from the Committee for general purposes. The appointment of every Special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the right of such Committee to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another such Chairman in his stead, or to militate against the general provisions as to Committees in sections 109 and 110 of the Municipalities Act of 1867; and that so much of this By-law as relates to the appointment, powers, and duties of Committees shall be read and interpreted in connection with such last-mentioned general provisions.

Committee Meeting—How called.

76. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Records of transactions in Committee.

77. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters, cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

78. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council; and tenders for the execution of such work, or the supply of such material, shall be called for by public notice.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses.—Expenses authorised to be reported.—Outlay to be in accordance with orders of the Council.

79. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Works or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee for repairs or urgent works, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor for necessary current expenses, to the extent of ten pounds.
3. By order of the Mayor and any two Aldermen, or without the Mayor or any four Aldermen, for any emergent purpose, to the extent of five pounds.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting: such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works or the Mayor, or the Mayor and Aldermen, or the Aldermen without the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorised. Also that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council, and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence whatever be thus authorised.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

80. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order.—Certificate to be attached to report.

81. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate memorandum from the Committee, Mayor, or officer of the Council to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorised or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons of its non-fulfillment before recommending payment: Provided, however, that such special report as last herein mentioned may be embodied with a report by which payment of the amount in question is recommended: Provided also that in cases of special expenditure under section 79 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the report directed by that section to be laid before the Council shall, if the outlay shall have been lawfully incurred, be deemed a sufficient certificate. And provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at a fixed rate of payment, by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to any such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for payment of such amount shall be a sufficient authorisation for such payment; and such certificates, memoranda, and authorisations shall be attached respectively to the reports from the Finance Committee on the payment or outlays to which such certificates, memoranda, and authorisations have reference.

Common Seal and Records of the Council.

Common Seal and Press, how secured.—Care of same.

82. The Common Seal and the Press to which the same is attached shall be secured by a cover or box, which, except when such seal and press are in use, shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock or cover of this box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor and the other by the Council Clerk. Such Common Seal and Press shall be in the custody and care of the Council Clerk.

When and how Common Seal to be used.

83. The Common Seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such Common Seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or in the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How Books of Account are to be kept and inspected.

84. The Council Clerk shall keep such books of account and such records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure in such manner and form as the Council may from time to time direct. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to inspect all such books of account, records, statements and memoranda from time to time, to ascertain that the same are properly kept, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may have discovered in the keeping of the same; also to report to the Council from time to time any changes which such Committee may think advisable in the mode of keeping the accounts.

Records of the Council defined.—Provisions for proper keeping of the same.

85. The Minute-book, Letter-book, and all rate and assessment books, books of account, records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, electoral rolls, and other records relating to elections, business papers, reports from committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions, letters on municipal business addressed to the Council or the Mayor, or to any other officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda relating to municipal business, drawings, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council, shall be deemed records of the Council. All such records, other than the minute-book and other books, and other than electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, shall be numbered and filed in due order, and shall be duly registered by the Council Clerk in a book to be kept by him for that purpose. Upon the face of every document thus registered, to which there is any reference in the minute-book, there shall be a note of the page wherein it is so referred to. And when any order has been made by the Council, or a report has been brought up by any Committee thereof, in reference to any document so registered as aforesaid, a note of such order or report shall be made upon such document. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may discover in the keeping of such records.

Impression of Seal not to be taken, &c., without leave of Council.—Penalties.

86. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to take any impression of the corporate seal, or to show, lay open, or expose any of the books or records of the Council to any person other than a member of the same, without leave from such Council, except as otherwise provided by law. Any member or officer of the Council who shall be guilty of a breach of this section shall be liable on conviction for the first offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds, for a second offence to a penalty not less than one pound or more than ten pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds.

Records not to be removed, &c.—Penalties.—Exceptional Circumstances.—Receipt to be given in every case before Document received.—Proviso as to use of Records as matter of evidence.

87. Any person removing any such book or other record of the Council as aforesaid from the Council Chamber, or the place where by direction of the Council such book or other record is usually kept, without leave for such removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal, as hereinbefore provided, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book, or other record as aforesaid, and shall not have returned the same, to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same, as the circumstances of the case may warrant. Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk by the Mayor, in order that such Clerk may post up entries, prepare returns, or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform. Also, that the Mayor, or Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any such Chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution at suit at law by, against, or at the instance of, the Council; but in all such cases such Council Clerk, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for any document so removed, and every such receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the book or other document to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed: And provided also that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council, who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a court of law, shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as may be, and shall, before removing the same, leave at the Council Chamber a receipt for such book or other record as aforesaid, and every such person so temporarily removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying Record.

88. Any person destroying, defacing, or altering any record of the Council shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

89. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council, to which a salary or allowance of fifty pounds per annum, or a salary or allowance exceeding that amount, is attached, shall be made until public notice shall have been given, as hereinafter provided, inviting applications for qualified candidates for the same; the salary or allowance attached to such office shall in every case be fixed before such notice is given, and shall be stated in such notice.

Mode of Appointment.

90. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot in such mode as may at the time be determined on, whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Exceptional Cases.

91. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the appointment by the Council, without advertisement, of any salaried officer or servant of the Corporation to any other permanent office or employment at the disposal of the Council to which no further salary is attached, or to prevent the appointment in like manner of any such officer or servant to any other office or employment of which the duties require only occasional attention, and are to be paid by allowances proportionate to the extent of such duties; or to prevent any similar appointment or employment by the Mayor or by any committee or officer of the Council under the authority of any by-laws; or to prevent the employment as may be from time to time found necessary, and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Municipality.

Bonds for good conduct.

92. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the Council Clerk or the bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order, and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

93. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which, by the "Municipalities Act of 1867," or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Municipality under the provisions of the said Municipalities Act. He shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may by order of the Council (as hereinafter provided) be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor, and shall, when ordered by the Mayor or Finance Committee, make a half-yearly return of the revenue and expenditure.

Duties of Treasurer, &c.

94. Any officer of the Council, other than the Council Clerk, may have any records of the Council other than those mentioned in section 82 of this "Part" of these By-laws, committed to his charge by an order of the Council, and he shall in such case be responsible to the Council for the safe keeping of such records.

Duties of other Officers and Servants.

95. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation shall be defined by such regulations as may, from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made, as follows, viz.:—As to the duties of the Council Clerk, other than those under section 93 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and his assistants (if any)—by the Mayor or Council; as to the duties of the Council Clerk, under section 84 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of all collectors of rates, bailiffs, bailiffs' assistants, and other officers and servants employed in and about the collection of revenue, whose superintendence is not hereinafter specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Finance Committee; as to all surveyors, architects, clerks of works, overseers, inspectors of water supply, sewerage, and drainage, or other officers and servants employed in and about the public works of the Borough, and in the supply of water therefor, or the sewerage or drainage thereof, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Committee of Works. As to the attorney for the Corporation, Inspector of Nuisances, and other officers and servants employed in and about the carrying out and enforcement of the general provisions of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and of any other statute of which the operation has been extended to the Borough, and of the By-laws for the general good government of such Municipality, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the By-law Committee. As to managers, overseers, workmen, and other officers and servants employed in and about any public reserves and other public places under the care and management of the Council—by the Parks Committee. As to the librarians, managers of public institutions under the charge of the Council, and all other officers and servants employed in or about any matter over which the Council has control, and whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee or to the Mayor—by the Committee for General Purposes: Provided that all such regulations shall be in writing, and shall be in all cases laid before the Council at the first meeting thereof which shall be holden after the making of any such regulations, and shall be in strict accordance with any such orders or directions as may have been at any time given by such Council touching the matters to which any such regulations may have reference.

Special Powers of Mayor.

96. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is so on record as hereinbefore provided; or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statements, or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded. All such explanation or information may, except as hereinafter provided, be either rendered viva voce or put into writing, at the Mayor may direct.

How Complaints against Officers to be dealt with.

97. All complaints against officers or servants of the corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing or which is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the case before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same. And if any such complaint be made to the Council, or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to, and investigated by the Mayor before it shall be in any way (otherwise than by such reference) ordered upon and dealt with by such Council: Provided that every report, explanation, and information which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaint shall be in writing. And such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation, and his opinion as to what order (if any) ought to be made in connection therewith; and such complaints, with all reports, explanations, and information as aforesaid thereon, shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be holden after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided further, nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the special power conferred upon the Mayor by section 152 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or any other special power which is now, or hereafter may be, conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of Absence.

98. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman, otherwise than by a resolution of the Council after due notice.

Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

99. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negativing such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the re-construction and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after the notice as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed Business.

100. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration may be ordered by resolution of the Council, after due notice; and such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid.

Suits and Prosecutions for Penalties, &c.

101. Such suits, or information for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or if any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute the operation of which may have been extended to the Municipality, as may have been directed by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid as follows, viz.:—When against a member of the Council, or an Auditor, or any officer of the Corporation—by the Council Clerk, unless such Council Clerk shall be the officer to be proceeded against, and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose; when against any other person by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or By-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been entrusted; and if there shall be no such officer, then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council, or the By-law Committee, or the Mayor, as the case may be, or directing such suit or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council or Auditor, except by order of such Council; nor shall any similar proceedings be taken against any officer of the Council, except on the order of such Council, or of the Mayor, nor against any other person, except upon the order of the Council, or of the Mayor, or of the By-law Committee. And no such suit shall be directed to be brought, nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid, except on an express resolution of the Council, in any case where the bringing of such suit or the laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction by such Council, or where, on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information, the same shall have been dismissed on its merits: Provided that in any such case the conduct or prosecution of any such suit or information may, on the order of the Council, be entrusted to an attorney.

Mode of calling for tenders.

102. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any materials supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice, as hereinafter provided.

Drafts of intended By-laws.

103. A draft of every intended By-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by such Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same, and public notice shall be given as hereinafter provided that such draft is so lying for inspection.

How notices are to be published.

104. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation done, made, or passed by the Council, or by any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the said Council, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same twice in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality.

Persons obstructing officers of the Council.

105. Any person or persons who shall obstruct any officer of the said Council while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing or performing, or going to perform, or returning from the performance of, any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threats, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language, towards the said officer, in any street, road, or other place within the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power to suspend temporarily certain portions of this "Part" of these By-laws.

106. Any such section or sections of this "Part" of these By-laws, or any portion or portions of such section or sections as are not hereinafter excepted, may be suspended by resolution on notice at any meeting of the Council. Provided that there shall be a distinct statement in every such resolution, and in the notice of the motion whereon the same shall have been adopted, of the purpose for which such suspension is required, and that for every separate matter or business as to which such suspension is so required there shall be a separate resolution as aforesaid. And provided also that the following sections hereof shall never be suspended, nor shall any one of them nor any portion of any such sections be suspended on any pretence whatever, namely:—Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 32, 36, 37, 40, 41, 43, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 52, 77, 78 to 87 inclusive, 89, 90, 91, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

107. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

PART II.

Collection and enforcement of rates.—Times and modes of collection.

Rates under section 164 of the 31st Vic., No. 12, to be collected half-yearly.

1. All rates or levies imposed by the Council under the provisions of section 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by annual or half-yearly instalments, as the Council shall from time to time direct, and shall be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special Rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Office Hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council by resolution from time to time for that purpose.

Defaulters.

4. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid, within thirty days after the day so appointed as aforesaid for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor either to issue distress warrants against all such persons so in default as aforesaid, and to cause such warrants to be enforced, or to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Enforcement by Distress.

Bailiff.

6. A Bailiff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailiff's Sureties.

7. The Bailiff shall find two sureties, to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of £25 each, for the faithful performance of his duties.

Duty of Bailiff.

8. It shall be the duty of the Bailiff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of Distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman who may for the time-being be duly authorised to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and Sale, &c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the Bailiff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the said Municipality as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

11. At the time of making a distress the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at the place with whom such inventory can be left aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be Impounded.

12. The Bailiff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchase thereof.

Owner to direct order of Sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon shall at his or her option direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of Distress.

14. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. There shall be payable to the Bailiff for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed, marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of Distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Municipal District of _____, do hereby authorise you, _____ the Bailiff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, for _____, being the amount of rates due to said Municipality to the day of _____, for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises, as the case may be), and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates, according to law.

Dated this _____ day of _____, 18 _____.

Mayor.

SCHEDULE B.

Inventory.

I have this day, in virtue of the warrant under the hand of the Mayor of the Municipal District of _____, dated _____, distrained the following goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, within the said Municipality, for _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Borough to the day of _____.

Dated this _____ day of _____, 18 _____.

Mayor.

PART III.

Preventing and extinguishing Fires.

Fire or combustible Materials, &c.

1. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-office, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or other combustible or inflammable materials of any kind in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Setting fire to Matter without Notice.

2. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever in the open air within five yards of any dwelling-house or other building, or boundary or dividing fence within the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the lands or premises adjoining the lands or premises upon which such matter shall be, of his intention so to do, or shall wilfully set fire to such inflammable matter as aforesaid between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Discharging Firearms, &c.

3. Any person who shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause, or let off any fireworks or other explosive matter in or near to any road or street within the limits of the town shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

4. If any chimney catch or be on fire the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimney is situated shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings. Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be incurred if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Stipendiary Magistrate before whom the case is heard that such fire was in nowise owing to the omission or carelessness, whether with respect to cleansing such chimney or otherwise, of himself or his servant.

Burning shavings, &c., in the street

5. Any person who shall burn any shavings, rubbish, or any other matter or thing, in any road, street, lane, or public place within the said Municipality, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

PART IV.

Streets and Public Places.—Public Health and Decency, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public or intended public road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, shall have been levelled by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee of Works, or some officer of the Council duly authorised in that behalf, or until the said road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, shall have been duly examined by the Committee of Works, or such duly authorised officer as aforesaid, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee or duly authorised officer as aforesaid.

Plan of proposed new roads, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the Municipality shall open any road, street, lane, or way, or lay out any park, reserve, or other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place, he, she, or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself, herself, or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, lane, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

3. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed as aforesaid shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietor or proprietors as aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place, use, or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Council, and such further instrument or dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Roads and streets and encroachments.

4. The Committee for Works, or the Surveyor of the Municipality, or other officer or person duly authorised by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and footways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land, with frontage to the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare in question, shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee for Works, or Surveyor, or other officer or person as aforesaid, to place, or cause to be erected, posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares, whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the footway on each side, where the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide, and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council in any such road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than 66 feet: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, way, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided. Provided further that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to "The Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1831."

Change of street levels.

5. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cuttings to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipal District that such plan is so opened to inspection; and no objections thereto shall be entertained by the Council unless made within twenty-one days after such notice shall have been given. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk; and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Footway or pathway when flagged or asphalted not to be interfered with without permission.

6. Whenever the footway or pathway in front of any house or the ground along any road, street, private street, or lane within the Municipality has been flagged or asphalted by the Council, the same and the asphalt or flagging thereon shall not be removed, taken up, or otherwise interfered with by any person whosoever without the permission of the Mayor or Committee for Works first being had and obtained. And every person removing, taking up, or otherwise interfering with such footway or pathway, or the flagging or asphalt thereon, without first obtaining the permission of the Mayor so to do, and any person wilfully or maliciously injuring or destroying such footway or pathway, or the flagging or asphalt thereon, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than five shillings.

Erection of house—fee for permission, &c.

7. Any person intending to erect or put up any fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, in or upon the building line of any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, place, or premises within the Municipality, shall, either by himself or by his contractor, serve, or cause to be served, seven days' notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk, or other duly authorised officer, before commencing the same, stating his intention, and describing the proposed situation of the proposed fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, and shall at the time the said notice is given as aforesaid pay unto the Council Clerk, or other duly authorised officer, a fee of five shillings for permission to erect any such fence, or any such house, shop, or other erection or building; and every owner of every such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, who shall, by himself or his contractor, commence to put up or erect any such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, without having given such notice as aforesaid, or without having paid such fee as aforesaid, shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings, nor less than five shillings.

Pipes, gutters, &c.

8. It shall not be lawful for any person to carry by means of pipes, gutters, or other contrivances, any rain water from the roof of his or her premises or house upon any of the footways of any road, street, lane, or public place within the Municipality. Any owner or occupier of any such house or premises who shall neglect or refuse to remedy or remove any such pipes, gutters, or contrivances when required so to do by any officer of the said Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings. Provided that the owner or occupier of any such premises or house may convey any such rain water by means of pipes laid under the surface of any such footways into the gutter adjoining the same, and subject to the approval of the Committee for Works, or some officer of the Council duly authorised in that behalf.

No balcony, &c., to project.

9. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any verandah, portico, or balcony, to project beyond the building line of any street, road, lane, or thoroughfare, except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony, or any other external projection as aforesaid which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds, except with the consent of the Council first obtained. Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street, road, or thoroughfare less than thirty feet wide. Provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

10. The Surveyor or other officer or person duly authorised by the Council on that behalf may at any time on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally, or at the usual or last known abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroachment in structure belongs, or who has erected the same or caused it to be erected.

Council may remove encroachments.

11. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same, under the superintendence of its Overseer of Works, or other proper officer duly appointed in that behalf, and at the cost of the person so offending (provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds), or at the Council's option to proceed against the offender for the breach of this By-law, the penalty for the first offence not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor to be less than one pound; and in the case of the second and every successive offence, the penalty on conviction not to be less than two pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

12. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council, either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

13. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavations; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Overseer of Works, or other such officer as aforesaid, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Hoads or fences to be erected.

14. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the Municipality, or cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be done, where any street, road, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or any part thereof will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street with a convenient platform and hand-rail, if there be room enough to leave as a footway for passengers outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence, with such platform and hand-rail as aforesaid standing in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council of the Municipality duly appointed in that behalf, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall, in all cases in which it is necessary, in order to prevent accidents place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise; and every such person who shall fail to put up such fence or hoard or platform, with such hand-rail as aforesaid, or to continue the same respectively, standing in such good condition as aforesaid, during the period of such building or taking down, or who shall not, while the said hoard or fence is standing, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise, or who shall not remove the same when directed by the Overseer of Works or such other officer of the Council of the Municipality within a reasonable time afterwards as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day such default is continued.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

15. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material in or from any part of the carriage or footway of any street, road, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage such carriage or footway, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Holes to be enclosed.

16. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left, any hole adjoining or near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other buildings, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner, to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works or Foreman of Works of the said Municipality, or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued, any such enclosure, for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary, in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights on each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise, during the continuance of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding ten pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the footways to be enclosed, under penalty.

17. Every owner or occupier of any land, house, building, or premises within the said Municipality, having any entrance, arca, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, waterhole, quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground adjoining or near to any foot-way of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place in such Municipality, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient fence, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and re-passing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land having any steps adjoining the footway of any such street or public place shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and re-passing; and on failure thereof, every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he shall be convicted for any such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner and occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fence, or other enclosures as aforesaid, within seven days after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Wells to be covered over.—Penalty.

18. Every person who shall have a well or underground tank, used for domestic or other purposes, situated between his or her dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Municipality, or at the side of, or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if every person having such well or underground tank as aforesaid shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours, after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by the Overseer for Works or other officer of the Council duly authorised in that behalf, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open and uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs.

19. The Mayor, or any officer of person acting under the authority of the Mayor, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any other necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

20. Any person who shall haul, draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or other public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other material or thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or draw, or trail upon any part of such street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or public place, to the injury thereof, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings, nor less than five shillings, over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving carriages, &c., on footpath; and throwing filth, &c.

21. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or any matter or thing in or upon the carriage-way, footpath, gutter, or water-table of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or public place in the said Municipality; or shall kill, slaughter, dress, or cut up any beast, swine, sheep, lamb, or other animal in or so near to any such street, or public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any or either of any such carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table; or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, truck, or any bicycle or tricycle, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel; or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on footways, &c.—Not removing when required.—Replacing the same after removal.—Not to prevent awnings being erected in front of shops.

22. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatever; or shall hoop, place, wash or cleanse; or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed or cleansed any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel in or upon or over any carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality; or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading or unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or taking up or setting down any fare; or waiting for passengers when actually hired; or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage-way, foot-way, gutter, or water-table, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other material or things for building whatsoever (unless the sanction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council duly authorised in that behalf has been first had and obtained, or unless the same shall be enclosed to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or such other officer as aforesaid) or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of any such foot-way, carriage-way, gutter, or water-table, or over any area of any house or building premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other building or premises over or next unto any such street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council duly authorised in that behalf; or if any person who, having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed or caused to be removed any such stall-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stone, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other things, or matter whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any such carriage or foot way of or next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shilling nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house in such manner as that such an awning shall be at least eight feet above the proper level of the foot-way, and that the posts be placed close to the kerb-stone or outer edge of such foot-way, and that the said posts and any framework be erected to the satisfaction of the Council, and as may from time to time be directed by the Council.

Public Health.

23. All drains, earth-closets, privies, and cess pits, and ash-pits, on any premises in the said Municipality constructed shall be maintained and kept by the owner, occupant, or agent of such premises, so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so as that there shall be no overflow or soakage therefrom.

24. No person shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, through, upon, or over any street, or public place in the said Municipality, except within the hours of ten o'clock at night and five in the morning, any unwholesome or offensive matter of any kind whatsoever, and nothing herein contained is to have the effect of repealing any By-law now in force for the mode and times of removal of nightsoil.

Sale of blown Meat, &c., forbidden.

25. No person shall sell, or expose, or have for sale, or keep on his premises, any meat or any other article intended, but unfit for human food, or shall expose or have for sale any adulterated butter, meal, bread, or other article of food, or any adulterated milk, knowing either of them to be so adulterated; and any person offending against this By-law shall, for every such offence, be liable on conviction to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and shall also be liable to a further penalty, not exceeding five pounds, for every day during which any forbidden article shall be kept on the premises of such person.

No Person to keep Meat unfit for Food.

26. No person shall keep or have in his possession, or retain in any building, shop, or other place, exposed for sale, any dead animal, carcass, meat, poultry, or fish, intended for, but unfit for human food, and every person offending against this By-law shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such forbidden thing shall be kept or retained by any such person.

Sale or Letting of Infected Premises or Goods.

27. If any person shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, any dwelling-house, or part thereof, or premises occupied in connection therewith in the said Municipality, which then is, or shall have been within thirty days prior to the date of such sale or letting, occupied by any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, without giving due notice thereof to the person or persons purchasing, renting, or hiring any such house or premises, the person selling, letting, or causing to be sold or let, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds, nor less than ten pounds. And any person who shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, in the said Municipality, any article of furniture, bedding, household or personal effects, knowing the same to have been within three months prior to the date of such sale or letting used by any person or persons suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Exposing Infected Articles.

28. Any person who shall expose, or cause to be exposed in any road, street, public place, or unclosed land adjacent to any dwelling, road, street, or public place, any article whatsoever, knowing the same to have been in the use or occupation of any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease within thirty days prior to the date of such exposure as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Regulation of Traffic in Streets.

29. Any person or persons riding or driving into or out of any yard or alley abutting on any street or road within the Municipality, shall do so at a walking pace, and anyone offending against this By-law shall, on conviction, be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds.

30. All persons conducting or taking horses along any street, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, shall keep them secured by means of a halter or bridle, and shall lead them, and no person shall run or drive, or cause to be run or driven, any horse or horses loose through any such street, thoroughfare, or public place, as aforesaid; nevertheless that horses being taken to the public pound, and afterwards impounded therein or mobs of horses being driven to or from market, shall not be within the meaning of this By-law. Every such person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds.

31. No driver of any vehicle shall be or remain at such a distance from his vehicle, anywhere within the said Municipality, so as not to have immediate and full control over the same, unless he shall have previously locked the wheels thereof. Every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Riding Bicycles or Tricycles on Footpaths.

32. Any person who shall ride a bicycle or tricycle along or upon any of the footpaths within the Municipal District of Camden shall, upon conviction before two Justices of the Peace, forfeit and pay any sum not more than two pounds nor less than five shillings.

33. Any person who shall ride a bicycle or tricycle upon or along any street in the said Municipality without having a light attached to the same, between sunset and sunrise, shall, upon conviction before two Justices of the Peace, forfeit and pay any sum not more than two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Riding or driving furiously.

34. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, so negligently, carelessly, or furiously as to create alarm, or so as that the safety of any other person or of any property shall or may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Damage to kerbstones, gullies, &c.

35. No driver or carter or other person shall wilfully or negligently do or suffer, or cause to be done, any damage or injury to any culvert, kerbstone, gutter, or pathway in any street or roadway in the Municipality aforesaid; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall for every offence forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings over and above the damage done.

Loitering in the streets, &c.

36. Any person loitering or standing on the footway or carriage-way of any road, street, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, so neglecting or refusing without reasonable cause or excuse to move on after having been requested so to do by any constable or other police officer, or any officer duly authorized by the Council of the said Municipality in that behalf, shall on conviction forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

Blasting Rock.No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

37. Any person or persons who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or dwelling-house in the Municipality, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person or persons shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him or them by the said Council Clerk, he, she, or they shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Public Property.Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

38. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality shall, over and above the necessary expense for repairing the injury committed, be liable to forfeit any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

39. Any person who shall damage any public building, gate, rail, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, watercourse, or other public property within the Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if any damage be wilfully done, shall be liable to forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

40. If any person or persons shall paste, or cause to be pasted, or otherwise affix any placard or other paper, or chalk, or paint upon any wall, house, fence, culvert, kerbstone, pathway, hand-rail, or other property of the Council, or in any other manner deface the same without authority of the Council, he or they shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such separate offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

41. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood growing in or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, reserve, park, or public place under the management of the Council, shall be liable to forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Obstructing public pathways.

42. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or other public place within the Municipality, shall permit any shrub or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath, footway, or carriage-way, on the side of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or other public place, so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and shall not, on demand made by the Council, or their Inspector, Overseer, or other officer duly authorized on that behalf, cut or cause to be cut, or lop or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, to the height of eight feet at the least, the Council and their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut, lop, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and may remove or burn, or cause to be removed or burnt, any portion of such trees so cut and lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," every such person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Injuring public fountains, &c.

43. Any person who shall injure any public fountain, pump, cock, water-pipe, or any other thing connected with the preservation or supply of water to the Municipality, or to any portion thereof, shall forfeit and pay the amount of such damage, and any further sum not exceeding ; and any person who shall bathe and wash himself, or shall wash any clothes or other article at or in any reservoir, channel, fountain, or basin provided for public use, or who shall in any other way foul the water preserved or used for the purpose aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public water-courses, &c.

44. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public watercourse, sewer, waterhole, river, creek, road, or pathway; or who shall suffer any slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways, water-tables, or streets of the Municipality; or shall permit or cause by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, any such suds or filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or watercourse, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds, and shall pay cost of restoring such obstructed or diverted watercourse, creek, or canal.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

45. If any animal shall die in any part of the Municipality, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the said Municipality, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals or private premises.

46. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the Council of the Municipality, may at any hour in the daytime enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipality where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and, if necessary, to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose; and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding thirty pounds nor less than three pounds.

Dead animals, in certain cases, to be removed at cost of owner.

47. If any animal shall die in any public street or place within the Municipality, it shall be immediately removed by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in the manner aforesaid, at the cost of the owner.

Hog-sties to be forty yards from streets, and no animals suffered to stray, &c.

48. Any person who shall keep, breed, or feed any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other place, situated and being within forty yards of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, park, reserve, or public place in the Municipality or nearest dwelling-house, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or any other animal of a like nature, or any poultry belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street, road, lane, park, reserve, thoroughfare, or public place, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for each and every animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray, or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid, and the owner or occupier of any house or premises, or other place within the said Municipality, wherein any such swine, horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or other animal is kept, fed, milked, or used in any way whatsoever, shall within the meaning of these By-laws, be deemed the owner of such animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid; and the words "any house," "building," "yard," "garden," or "other place," wherein any kind of swine shall be bred or kept as aforesaid, shall respectively be deemed hog-sties within the meaning of these By-laws; and the word "horses" shall be sufficient designation for any entires, geldings, mares, or foals, and the word "cattle" for any bulls, oxen, cows, or calves, when more than one is the subject of any information and summons under the provisions of these By-laws.

Stables, cow-sheds, and pig-sties.

49. The occupier of any land or premises within this Municipality, on which there shall be erected any stable, cow-yard, fowl-house, cattle-shed, or pig-sty, shall cause such premises to be kept in such a state in respect to cleanliness as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and shall cause all dung, soil, or manure, produced or accumulated thereon to be collected in a place (to be approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances) in the yard of such premises, and there to be in an inoffensive condition, and so as not to be productive of any nuisance; and shall cause such dung, soil, or other manure, to be from time to time removed from such premises, as often as the quantity so collected shall amount to one cubic yard. And if at any time the owner or occupier of any such premises shall neglect or fail to have such dung, soil, or other manure removed therefrom as aforesaid, the same shall be removed by the Inspector of Nuisances, at the expense of such occupier. For an offence against this By-law any person shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Premises in state to endanger public health.

Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

50. If up the certificate of any two duly qualified medical practitioners it appears to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in a filthy or unwholesome condition, that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same, as the case may require; and if the person to whom such notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default. Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

As to private avenues, or dirty or unwholesome premises.

51. Any owner or occupier of any house, building, yard, garden, premises, or other place within the Municipality, who shall neglect to keep clean any private avenues, passages, yards, thoroughfares, and ways within the said premises so occupied or belonging to him, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, &c.

52. For preserving the cleanliness of the Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he, they, or any of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments, manufactory, factory, or establishments in the Municipality, and give such directions concerning the cleansing of the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him, them, or any of them, shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, or establishment, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds, and not less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises, &c.

53. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the said Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council as aforesaid, shall have full power, without any other authority than this by-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter to remain and be in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

54. Every person who, in any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, park, reserve, or other public place or passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers in or through the Municipality, shall commit any of the following offences, shall, on conviction for any and every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted, or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey or cause to be carried or conveyed in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, the carcass or any part of the carcass of any newly-slaughtered animal without a sufficient clean and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Throwing filth, &c., on footways, &c.—Killing animals.

- (3.) Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, slops, suds, or filth, or annoyance, or any matter or thing, into any public watercourse, sewer, or canal, or in or upon the carriage-way, footway, or water-table of any street, lane or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal for the purpose of sale, upon any premises within one mile of the Post Office, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a fine not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, and shall in addition to any such forfeiture pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction.
- (4.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole, across any street, road, lane, passage thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub to overhang the footpath to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (5.) Every person who shall haul, place, or cause to be hauled or placed, any boat, gear, or spars, upon any of the reserves within the Municipality aforesaid, and refusing to remove the same when lawfully requested so to do.
- (6.) Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (7.) Every person who shall place, hang, or affix any sign-board, post, house-ticket, notice, or other similar thing, otherwise than close and parallel to or flat upon the wall of the house, shop, or building to which the same belongs.
- (8.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure when any house or buildings are being erected, pulled down, or repaired).
- (9.) No person shall deposit, or cause or suffer to be deposited, in or by the side of or on any road, street, right-of-way, lane, passage, water-channel, or gutter, or in any creek, or in any other public place within the Municipality, any dust, mud, ashes, rubbish, filth, offal, manure, liquid manure, dung, or soil; and no person shall deposit or cause or suffer to be deposited, any night-soil or any other offensive matter on any land, field, or garden, within the Municipality.
- (10.) Every person who shall carry goods on any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the footway of any street, road, lane, or other public footway.
- (11.) Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right of way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

Passengers, &c., not to be interrupted by dusting.

- (12.) Between the hours of eight o'clock in the morning and seven o'clock in the evening of any day, no person shall cause interruption, annoyance, or inconvenience to passengers along the streets or footpaths of the said Municipality, by raising or discharging dust upon or across any such street or footpath, whether from buildings in process of erection or demolition, or otherwise howsoever.

- (13.) Any person who, being the owner or person in charge of any pigeons, shall permit any such bird to be at large within the Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, nor less than ten shillings, and any person duly authorized by the Council may destroy such bird without being responsible to any person claiming the ownership of such bird.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

55. Any person who shall, except in proper costume, bathe near or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort, within the limits of the Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

56. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, or in view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds, nor less than one pound.

PART V.

Noisome and Offensive Trades.

Complaint.—Inquire and report.—Order of Council thereon.—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

1. Upon the complaint in writing by any householder, that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property, as to injure his or her health, or the health of his or her family, or to otherwise annoy, injure, or be a nuisance to such householder and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a noisome or offensive trade, within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling or operation as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipality. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid, shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence, a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when noisome or offensive trade is about to be commenced.—Penalty.

2. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measure as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the Municipality. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notice.—Liabilities.

3. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

PART VI.

Public Exhibitions, &c.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition, other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14th Victoria, No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the Municipality, nor shall any bowling alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement, other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or place for temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, be used as such, for hire or profit, within the Municipality, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

Temporary license by Mayor.—Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid (other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act), and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week, and in like manner to allow any place within the Municipality to be used for purposes of public amusement other than entertainments required to be licensed as aforesaid for not more than one week: Provided that it shall be incumbent upon such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting such permission, and to refuse such permission if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid; or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Municipality. Every person holding or keeping such exhibition, or using any place within the Municipality for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting such place to be used, without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept, or such place shall be used for public amusement as aforesaid.

Public buildings, &c., to be registered.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier. And every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land who permits any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for longer than one week in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration as hereinafter mentioned having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Certificates of registration, &c.

4. The Council, upon the written application of any such occupier as aforesaid, stating the particulars aforesaid; and if, upon inspection by the proper officer, the building or land shall have been found to be secure and proper for the purpose stated; and if the proposed exhibition or amusement shall not be such as to require a license from the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, and shall not be thought likely to entail any violation of public decency, or to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitants of the said Municipality, the said Council shall cause the aforesaid premises to be registered in a registry book, to be kept for that purpose, and shall thereupon grant to the applicant a certificate of such registration of such premises. And the said Council may at any time, and for any of the causes hereinafter mentioned, suspend for a stated period the effect of or cause of any such registration, and shall forthwith give notice of such suspension or cancellation to the occupier of the registered building or land; and during such suspension, or after such cancellation, such premises shall be deemed to be unregistered in respect of the purpose mentioned in the certificate of registration, and such certificate shall be of no force or virtue.

Inspection.

5. The proper officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf may at all reasonable times enter into or upon and inspect any such registered building or land.

No exhibition, &c., on Sundays, &c.

6. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid, shall be held, except by permission of the Council, or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusement on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Registration fee.—Time for which registration shall be in force.

7. For every such registration as aforesaid the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Council Clerk, for the benefit of the said Municipality, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing, and no longer.

Certificate of registration to operate as license for exhibition, &c., named therein, and no other.

8. The certificate of registration aforesaid shall be regarded as a license from the Council for the holding or keeping of the exhibition, or for carrying on the public amusements therein mentioned, but for none other. Any occupier of such building or land who shall hold or keep therein or thereon any exhibition, or shall use such building or land for any public amusements other than such exhibitions or amusements mentioned in such certificate or license, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings, nor more than ten pounds.

Unlawful games and exhibitions.

9. No license shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any game with dice or other games of chance for money, or any bull-baiting, dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality, or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace, are proposed to be had or carried on, and the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid who shall permit any such game of chance, or exhibition, or amusement as are in the section before-mentioned, to be had, held, or carried on, in, or upon such building, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten shillings, nor more than ten pounds.

Suspension or revocation of license.—Notice to be given and licensee to be allowed to show cause.

10. The effect of any such registration as aforesaid may be suspended, or such registration may be cancelled, as the Council may think fit, for any of the following cases, namely: Whenever the occupier of the registered building or land, or the manager of any such exhibition or amusement, as aforesaid, held, kept, conducted, or carried on, in, or upon such building or ground, shall have been twice convicted of offences against these By-laws within a period of twelve months, or whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the said Council that the Superintendent, Director, or Manager, or other person in charge of any such exhibition or amusement, is a confirmed drunkard, or that such exhibition or amusement is being conducted in such a manner as to violate public decency, to endanger the public peace, or become a nuisance to any inhabitants of the Municipality: Provided that before any such suspension or cancellation as aforesaid, the occupier of such registered building or land shall have notice of the fact, the said Council is about to consider whether there shall be any such suspension or cancellation, and of the causes of this proceeding, and shall be allowed to show cause against such suspension or cancellation before the same shall be ordered.

Construction of term "occupier"—Change of occupancy—False statement.

11. Any person who shall superintend, direct, or manage, or shall be otherwise in charge of any such exhibition, or public amusement as aforesaid, in or upon any building or land as aforesaid, or who shall reside in or upon any such building or land wherein or whereon any such exhibition or public amusement shall be held, kept, or carried on; or who, being the owner, lessee, or tenant of any such building or land, shall permit the same to be used for the purposes of any such exhibition or public amusement, shall be deemed to occupier of such building or land for all the purposes of these By-laws. And the said By-laws shall be held to be as applicable in every case to any number of such occupiers as to any single occupier; and every other occupier whose name shall have been so registered as aforesaid shall be deemed and taken to be, and continue to be such occupier for all the purposes of these By-laws. Provided that in the event of any change in the occupancy of any such building or ground as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the parties concerned to notify the same, by writing under their hands, to the Council Clerk, who shall lay such notification before the Council at its next meeting; and if, after such inquiry as such Council may deem necessary, there shall seem to be no valid objection to such change of occupancy, a corresponding entry shall be made in the registry aforesaid, and a new certificate shall be issued, which shall be in force until the then next ensuing thirty-first day of December, and no longer. And for every such new certificate a fee of five shillings shall be paid to the said Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Municipality. And every person who shall make any false statement in any such application or notice as aforesaid as to any of the facts or particulars required by these By-laws to be stated in such application or notice, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

PART VII.

Water Supply.

Polluting water, reservoirs, &c.

1. Whosoever shall bathe in any stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to or under the management or control of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, throw, or cause to enter therein any animal, whether alive or dead; or any rubbish, filth, stuff, or thing of any kind whatsoever; or shall cause or permit, or suffer to be run or to be brought therein, the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine, or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome, or improper water; or shall wash any clothes at any public fountain or pump, or in or at any such stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks as aforesaid; or shall do anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, shall be fouled, obstructed, or damaged, shall, for the first offence, be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than ten pounds, and for a third, and every subsequent offence, any sum not less than ten pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Wilful waste of water.

2. Whosoever, being supplied with water by the Council from any waterworks, fountain, reservoir, or standpipe, or belonging to, or under the control or management of the said Council, or having access to any such waterworks, fountain, or reservoir, for the taking of water therefrom, shall wilfully or negligently suffer any water to run to waste from any pipe, pump, or conduit, from or by which he shall be so supplied, or to which he shall have such access, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not exceeding five pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than forty pounds.

Damming up water without consent.

3. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment, or allow any accumulation of drift or silt to accumulate in or across any river, creek, or natural watercourse, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if after such second conviction such person shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds, and if within a reasonable time after a third or any further conviction he shall still fail to remove such dam or embankment he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Diverting waters from reservoirs of Council in certain cases.

4. In any case in which the Council shall have the exclusive right of collecting for the supply of any reservoir or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, the storm-water having fallen on any gathering ground, whosoever shall, by any means whatsoever, divert any such water from the course of its natural flow, so that the same shall tend to flow elsewhere than to such reservoir or waterworks, or some watercourse leading thereto, or shall flow to the same respectively in a foul state, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than two pounds nor more than forty pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

PART VIII.

Sewerage and Drainage.

No private sewers to be made to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

1. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council, or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council may make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains, sewers, or channels, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the said public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith, without such notice, or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and cleanse same.

2. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair or cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired or cleansed according to the directions of the Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Disposal of sewerage, &c.

3. The Council shall have power from time to time to enforce the adoption or alteration of any system which to them may appear necessary for the better regulation, disposal, or treatment of night-soil, sewerage, or other drainage, and may suspend the use or further extension of any system which to them may appear detrimental to public health. Any person refusing to comply with any requisition made under this By-law after receiving notice from the Council or an officer under them shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound for each offence.

PART IX.

By-laws for the Municipality of Camden for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

1. No cesspit, closet, or pit to contain faecal matter shall be allowed to be made. Every person about to erect an earth closet shall, before he commences any such work, give to the Council Clerk seven days' notice in writing of his intention, and of the proposed position of such earth closet, or in default thereof, or in case of his commencing such work without such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

2. No earth closet shall be erected except in such position as shall be approved by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council, or shall be approved by the Council, and any person being guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

3. Every earth closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide, and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened from the inside, and shall be ventilated; and every person building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound, nor more than five pounds.

4. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement. In schools or factories, where a number of persons shall be employed, separate closets shall be provided for each sex, with a door to fasten on the inside; where two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a dividing wall between each to effect a complete separation, and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall incur a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

5. Every earth closet already built, or hereafter to be built, shall be provided with an iron pail, capable of containing not less than six gallons, and having handles attached to two sides thereof, and also with a box or compartment containing dry earth or ashes, and provided with a pint scoop, to enable any person using the closet to throw a pint of dry earth or ashes through the seat into the iron pail.

6. The owner of every house let to a tenant for a shorter term than one year, or his agent employed to let the house, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds, for neglecting or refusing to supply the articles mentioned in Section 5 of this Part of these By-laws.

7. When two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a sufficient dividing brick or stone wall not less than nine (9) inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the closet through the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and every person building closets adjoining each other contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

8. In schools, factories, or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside, or be occupied, or employed, one closet shall be provided for every twenty persons, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex; and every owner, occupier or tenant of such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against this By-law, or fail to provide the number of closets and of the capacity in this By-law mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

9. Every closet shall be built in such a position that the same may be emptied without the contents being carried through any dwelling house; and every person building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound, nor more than five pounds.

10. If any alteration shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances, or any officer appointed by the Council in that behalf, for preserving the public health or decency, in the case of any existing closet, and the Council shall adjudge such closet to be either injurious to health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, the same shall be altered by such Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer, and the cost of such alterations shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises whereon the same shall be.

11. All night-soil shall be removed by the contractor to the Council in carts to be constructed in an approved and water-tight manner to the satisfaction of the Council, and between the hours of ten p.m. and five a.m. The contractor shall convey the same without delay to an appointed depot, and shall dispose of the same by burying in the earth to a depth of two feet from the top of the night-soil, and covering with earth, so as to prevent any nuisance. And any contractor neglecting to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds, and not less than ten pounds for every such offence.

12. The place of deposit shall be in such locality as may be from time to time determined upon by the Council and approved of by the Governor.

13. Until otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil from existing closets shall be removed from cesspits by contract in water-tight covered vehicles between the hours of eleven o'clock in the evening and five o'clock in the morning.

14. Until and unless otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth.

15. In case the Council shall sell or give away any night-soil, the same shall be removed in the same manner as above provided, and on being removed from the vehicles in which it is carried shall be deodorized by chemicals or in some other manner, or covered with earth, so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom. Any person guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be punishable by a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

16. When any new building is about to be erected, the builder thereof shall first erect and fence off with a close-paling fence, five feet high, on the premises a temporary closet, not less than three feet by two feet six inches, for the use of the workmen employed on such building; and any person neglecting to conform to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and not less than two pounds.

17. All earthclosets shall be emptied once in seven days, or oftener, and the contents buried in the earth; and every person infringing this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than two pounds.

18. No person shall be at liberty, without the permission of the Council, to use on his own premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere; and in the event of his so doing, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

19. The Council may recover such sums for the emptying of any closet as may be decided upon from time to time by resolution of the Council.

20. On and after the first day of October, in the year of our Lord (1839) one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, no persons shall be permitted to have in their premises an open closet or cesspit for the deposit of faecal matter, and any person or persons allowing any such closet or cesspit to remain after receiving seven days' notice to remove the same, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than one pound; and after such conviction, if not removed within a further period of seven days, shall forfeit a further sum not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds for every day that the same shall remain unaltered or unremoved.

21. No person shall be permitted to cover up, or cause to be covered up, any existing cesspit with earth or other material, unless and until the same shall be properly emptied by the Council's contractor. Any person offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding five pounds, nor less than one pound.

22. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council, may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," therein, on all days except Sundays and public holidays, between the hours of ten o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the evening.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of the Municipal District of Camden, this 26th day of October, A. D. 1839.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF NOWRA.—BY-LAWS.

The following By-Laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," the "Nuisances Prevention Act 1875," and the "Public Parks Act of 1884" respectively, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

PART I.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL AND COMMITTEES.—PRESER-VATION OF ORDER AT COUNCIL MEETINGS.—DUTIES OF OFFICERS AND SERVANTS, &C.

By-laws repealed.

1. All existing By-Laws of the Council of the Municipal District of Nowra, published in the Government Gazette from time to time prior to the adoption of the following, shall be and are hereby repealed.

Meetings of the Council.

Ordinary meetings.

2. The Council shall meet for the dispatch of business at such times and days as may be by resolution appointed.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor—adjournment for want of quorum.

3. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman, to act during the absence of the Mayor. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down and recorded in the minute book.

Order of Business.

Business of ordinary meetings.

4. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
3. Correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
4. Reports from Committee and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon.

5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council or any of the Committee or officers to be made.
6. Matters which have been specially ordered to be placed on the business paper by the Mayor.
7. Motions of which notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
8. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; also, and in like manner, to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business at special meetings.

5. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor, or the Aldermen at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Business paper for ordinary meeting—how prepared.

6. The business paper for every meeting of the Council, other than a special meeting, shall be made by the Council Clerk, or other person acting as his substitute, not less than forty-eight nor more than seventy-two hours before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy of the substance of every notice of motion and of every requisition or order as to business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter, in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of section 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws, in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction shall have been received.

Business paper for special meeting.

7. The business paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Aldermen calling such meetings.

Summons to members.

8. The summons to members of the Council for every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How business paper is to be disposed of.

9. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meeting, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with; and such business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter disposed of, unless withdrawn before business paper made up.

10. All notices of motion, and all requisitions from Aldermen, and directions from the Mayor as to the entry of any particular matters of business for the consideration of the Council at its then next or any future meeting, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received; and each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the minute book of the manner in which such matter has been disposed of shall have been duly verified as required by section 1 of clause 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws: Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

After business paper made up, all notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

11. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all the said notices of motions, requisitions, and directions, as to which entries have been made thereon, shall be the property of the Council and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions and Amendments.Motions—how to be moved.

12. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from such business paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Notice to be given.

13. Four clear days' notice of every motion intended to be made in the Council, shall be given to the Council Clerk, to enable him to place the same on the business paper.

Motion to be seconded.

14. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

15. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

16. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

17. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amended question—further amendment may be moved thereon.

18. If an amendment be carried, the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

19. If any amendment, either upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on: Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

20. No motion for adjournment of the Council shall be discussed. If seconded, such motion shall be put at once. If negatived, no similar motion shall be permitted to be made until half an hour has elapsed after putting the one that has been negatived, and the subjects on the business paper shall be proceeded with in order.

Orders of the Day.Of what orders of the day shall consist.

21. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or any committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

Petitions.Petitions to be respectfully worded.

22. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—how received.

23. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing at the same time.

How petitions are to be dealt with.

24. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that it be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned, or to some special Committee appointed to consider and report on the same; or that it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Correspondence.Duties of Mayor as to correspondence.

25. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by section 22 of this "Part" of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent, and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Section 24 to apply to letters.

26. Section 24 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council as to petitions.

Reports from Committees and Minutes from the Mayor.Form of Report.

27. All reports from Committee shall be written on foolscap paper with a margin of at least one-fourth of the width of such paper, and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or, in his absence, by some other member of same.

Mayor's minute.

28. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance, by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written upon paper of any kind, and with the same margin as a report from a Committee, and shall be signed by such Mayor.

How reports, &c., are to be dealt with.—Duties of Chairman, &c., in certain cases.

29. No motion shall (unless as hereinafter provided) be permissible on the presentation of a report from a Committee or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may, if otherwise unobjectionable, be moved or considered in due course. And whenever any such report or minute embodies any recommendation which cannot legally be carried out without due notice, and it is nevertheless desirable that such report or minute shall be definitely ordered upon during the meeting of the Council at which such report or minute is presented, it shall be the duty of the Chairman or member of such Committee signing such report, or of such Mayor, as the case may be, to give or transmit to the Council Clerk, such a notice of motion, requisition, or direction as aforesaid, as will enable such Council Clerk to make the necessary entry on the business paper, and to give such due notice.

Report on Finance Committee on payment of accounts.

30. The adoption of the report of the Finance Committee on the payment of accounts shall take precedence of every other report.

Questions and Statements.

Limitations as to questions and statements.

31. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order, or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of section 34 of this "Part" of these By-laws.

Notice to be given.

32. Twenty-four hours' notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto, to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or to documents: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained, shall prevent any question being put and answered without notice, by the permission of the Mayor and Council.

Answer not compulsory.

33. It shall not be compulsory upon any person questioned as aforesaid to answer the question so put to him.

Question to be put without argument, &c.

34. Every such question must be put categorically, without any argument or statement of fact.

Similar provision as to statements.

35. Every such statement must be made without argument.

No discussion on question, &c.—Rights of objection and of subsequent motion reserved.

36. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement, at the time when such statement is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of Debate.

Mode of addressing the Council, &c.

37. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or any discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way or for any other purpose address observations to the Council, shall, while so doing, stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from doing so by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case the question so put and the answer thereto shall be subject to every legal objection, on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Aldermen, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

38. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided.

Limitation as to number of speeches, &c.

39. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendments moved thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman, other than mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion and on every amendment thereon. No Alderman shall speak upon any question other than upon a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observation than may be necessary for the purpose of such explanation.

Mover and seconder.

40. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Limited time of speaking on motion or amendment.

41. No Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer time than ten minutes except by permission of the Council.

Speaker not to digress, &c.

42. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, or impute improper motives to any other Alderman.

Adjournment of Debate.

43. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

44. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Alderman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Aldermen may require questions to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

45. Any Alderman may request the question or matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such question or matter which are readily accessible: Provided, however, that no such request or requisition shall be so made as to interrupt the discussion. Also, that if any such request or requisition shall appear to the Mayor or Chairman not to have been made bona fide, it shall not be complied with.

Mayor or Chairman may move or second motion, &c., and may address Council thereon.

46. The Mayor or Chairman may propose or second any motion, and such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking (unless prevented by some bodily infirmity from so doing), but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

47. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final, except in so far as the same may be questioned, as in the manner hereinafter provided.

Acts of Disorder.

48. Every member of the Council who shall commit a breach of any section of this "Part" of these By-laws, or who shall move or attempt to move any motion or amendment embodying any matter as to which the Council has no legal jurisdiction, or who shall in any other way raise or attempt to raise any question, or shall address or attempt to address the Council upon any subject which the said Council has no legal right to entertain or to discuss, or who shall use any language which, according to the common usage of gentlemen, would be held disorderly, or who shall say or do anything calculated to bring the Council into contempt, shall be out of order.

Mayor, &c., may call Member to order.

49. The Mayor or Chairman may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman, there shall be a necessity for so doing.

Any Member may raise question of order.

50. Every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or the Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument, or observation moved, used, or made by any other member which such first-named member may consider out of order.

Mode of proceeding thereon.

51. A member named by the Mayor or Chairman as being disorderly, shall withdraw while the question of order is being discussed and decided upon, unless specially permitted to offer an explanation, retraction, or apology; but on obtaining such special permission such member may explain, retract, or apologise for the matter or remark alleged to have been out of order. And if such explanation, retraction, or apology be deemed satisfactory, no further discussion on the question of order shall be permitted. If any member, on being called to order, shall ask such permission to explain, retract, or apologise, as aforesaid, the Mayor or Chairman may, of his own authority, grant or refuse such permission, as he may think fit, unless any member shall require the sense of the Council to be taken on this question. In such case it shall be the duty of the Mayor or Chairman to take the sense of the Council at once, and without discussion, as to whether such permission shall be granted. And when any such explanation, retraction, or apology shall have been made or offered by permission of the Mayor or Chairman, the latter shall in like manner decide, or, if required so to do, shall take the sense of the Council as to whether such explanation, retraction, or apology is considered sufficient. If such permission be refused, or such explanation, retraction, or apology be considered insufficient, the question of order shall be considered and decided before any further business is proceeded with: Provided that if such Mayor or Chairman shall have decided the question of order before any member shall have required the sense of the Council to be taken in reference thereto, such question of order shall not be reopened: And provided further that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the right of such Mayor or Chairman to decide finally, as hereinbefore provided, upon any such point of order, after the same shall have been discussed.

Decision of points of order.

52. The Mayor or Chairman, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provision, rule, or practice which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting upon the same.

Motion out of order to be rejected.—Members to explain, retract, or apologise, &c.

53. Whenever it shall have been decided as aforesaid that any motion, amendment, or other matter before the Council is out of order, the same shall be rejected; and whenever anything said or done in Council by any Aldermen shall be similarly decided to be out of order, such Alderman shall be called upon by the Mayor or Chairman to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as the case may require.

Penalty for persisting in disorderly conduct.

54. Any member of the Council who shall have been named by the Mayor or Chairman as being disorderly, and who, after having been twice directed to withdraw as aforesaid, shall refuse to do so, or who shall persist in any line of conduct or argument, or of observations which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, or who shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as aforesaid, when required so to do, or who shall be guilty of any other act of disorder, as defined in section 48 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable, on conviction for the first offence, to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds; and on second conviction for the like offence, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and on the third conviction and for every further conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Power of Council to dissent from ruling.

55. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice, may, by immediate motion, respectfully worded, invite the Council to dissent from such decision: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to bind any Mayor or Chairman to put any motion to the Council which, in his opinion, is contrary to law.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

56. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions.—Penalty for refusing to vote.

57. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative, and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for, and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

Protests.

Mode of protesting.—Protest to be recorded, but may, under certain circumstances, be expunged.

58. Every Member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council; notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed, or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the minute book; but if, in the opinion of the Council, it be inconsistent with the truth, or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution on notice), be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with reference in the margin to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Rules applicable to business in Committee.

59. The following sections of this "Part" of these By-laws shall (except as is herein excepted) be taken to apply to the conduct of business in Committee of the Whole Council, namely—sections 15 (except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded), 16, 17, 18, 19, 36, 37, 40, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 55, 56, and 57.

Disorderly conduct in Committees—Refusal to vote.

60. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the Whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order within the meaning of section 51 of this "Part" of these By-laws, it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting, and that such matter be reported; and if such motion be carried such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the minute book; and whenever any Alderman shall have failed to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by section 57 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the facts shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the minute book: Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid, no special motion that the Council resume its sitting shall be necessary, but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the Whole, in making his report of the proceedings in such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which such Alderman has so failed to vote.

Decisions in Committee on points of order may be reported.

61. Whenever a decision upon any question of order shall have been given by the Chairman of a Committee of the whole Council, under the provision of section 47 of this "Part" of these By-laws, any Alderman may move that such decision be embodied in the report to the Council of the proceedings in such Committee; and if such motion be carried, such decision shall be so embodied in such report, whenever the same shall be made.

How progress may be reported, &c.

62. Any Alderman may at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress, as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on any further day; or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried, the Council shall resume its sittings, and a report shall be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion, and if the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another such motion shall be receivable.

Reports of proceedings in Committee—Want of quorum in Committee.

63. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council, vis à voce by the Chairman of such Committee; and a report of such proceedings shall be made in every case, except when it shall be found on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Committee, that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Committee shall be considered to have lapsed: Provided that in making of any such report as aforesaid it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the result, general effect, or substance of such proceeding.

How reports are to be dealt with.

64. All such reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the minute book; but except as hereinafter mentioned, no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption or for the granting of such leave. And every such motion for the adoption of a report or for the granting of leave as aforesaid and the order of debate on such motion shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council and the order of debate on such other motions: Provided, however, that where a report shall have been made under section 60 of this "Part" of these By-laws of disorderly conduct in Committee, or under section 57 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of failure to vote on division, or of any decision in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall, so far as it relates to such facts, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof; and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretext whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be ordered.

65. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution of which due notice shall have been given for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

66. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered shall be moved or considered. Such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name as so called; and if any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such members shall have previously been granted, or if such an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.—Further call when question adjourned.

67. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, being absent, shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent, and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness or any other sufficient cause he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day, there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration; and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call. And if there shall be more than one adjournment this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committees.

68. There shall be five Standing Committees, namely—a By-law Committee, a Committee for Works, a Finance Committee, a Parks Committee, and a Committee for General Purposes. These Committees shall be reappointed every year, at the first meeting of the Council which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Constitution of Standing Committees.

69. Each of the Committees shall consist of the whole Council, three to form a quorum.

By-law Committee.

70. The By-law Committee shall prepare, for the consideration of the Council, drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Borough. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws and of any statute of which the operation has been or may be extended to the Borough, and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention or punishment of offences against such By-laws or statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order, and decency.

Committee for Works.

71. The Committee for Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges and reserves under the care and management of the Council. They shall inquire and report from time to time, as directed, as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

72. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to effect, or be likely to effect, the finances of the Borough, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Parks Committee.

73. The Parks Committee shall have the care, custody, and control of all public reserves and other public places under the care and the management of the Council; and all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council to be made therein shall be under their general direction. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Committee for General Purposes.

74. The Committee for General Purposes shall take cognizance of every matter, subject, or question within the jurisdiction of the Council not coming within the province of one or other of the before-mentioned Standing Committees, and shall from time to time inquire into and report upon any such subject, matter, or question as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

Special Committees.

75. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a Special Committee ought to be appointed. And no Standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been entrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution of the Council; and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such Special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as, in his opinion, ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot; and in the latter case, or if an amendment to the effect that such Special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, each member then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council, from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom, in his opinion, such Special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such list, and shall declare the result. And in the event of its becoming necessary, through an equality of votes, to decide as to which of two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

76. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, within seven days after their appointment.

Term of Service in Committees.

77. Appointments to the By-law Committee, the Committee of Works, the Finance Committee, and the Parks Committee shall be for the whole municipal year. The Chairman of these four Committees as appointed to or removed from the Chairmanship of the same, shall be thereby and without any further order regarded as having been appointed to or removed from the Committee for General Purposes. The appointment of every Special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the right of such Committee to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another such Chairman in his stead, or to militate against the general provisions as to Committees in sections 109 and 110 of the Municipalities Act of 1867; and that so much of this By-law as relates to the appointment, powers, and duties of Committees shall be read and interpreted in connection with such last-mentioned general provisions.

Committee Meeting, how called.

78. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Records of transactions in Committee.

79. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters, cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

80. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Borough shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses.—Expenses authorized to be reported.—Outlay to be in accordance with orders of the Council.

81. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Works, or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor, for necessary current expenses, to the extent of ten pounds.
3. By order of the Mayor, and any two Aldermen, or without the Mayor, or any four Aldermen, for any emergent purpose, to the extent of five pounds.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting; such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works, or the Mayor, or the Mayor and Aldermen, or the Aldermen without the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorized. Also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council, and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence be thus authorized.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

82. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order.—Certificate to be attached to report.

83. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate memorandum from the Committee, Mayor, or officer of the Council to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that the requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons for its non-fulfilment, before recommending payment. Provided, however, that such special report as last herein mentioned may be embodied with a report by which payment of the amount in question is recommended. Provided also, that in cases of special expenditure under section 81 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the report directed by that section to be laid before the Council shall, if the outlay shall have been lawfully incurred, be deemed a sufficient certificate. And provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at fixed rates of payment, by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to any such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for the payment of such amount, shall be a sufficient authorization for such payment; and such certificates, memoranda, and authorizations shall be attached respectively to the reports from the Finance Committee on the payments or outlays to which such certificates, memoranda, or authorizations have reference.

Common seal and records of the Council.

Common seal and press, how secured.—Care of same.

84. The common seal and the press to which the same is attached shall be secured by a cover or box, which, except when such seal and press are in use, shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock of this cover or box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor and the other by the Council Clerk. Such common seal and press shall be in the custody and the care of the Council Clerk.

When and how common seal to be used.

85. The common seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or, in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How books of account are to be kept and inspected.

86. The Council Clerk shall keep such books of account and such records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure in such manner and form as the Council may from time to time direct. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to inspect all such books of account, records, statements, and memoranda from time to time, to ascertain that the same are properly kept, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may have discovered in the keeping of the same; also, to report to the Council from time to time any changes which such Committee may think advisable in the mode of keeping the accounts.

Records of the Council defined.—Provisions for proper keeping of the same.

87. The minute-book, letter-book, and all rate and assessments books, books of account, records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, business papers, reports from Committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions, letters on municipal business, addressed to the Council or to the Mayor, or to any officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda relating to municipal business, drawing, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council, shall be deemed records of the Council. All such records other than the minute-book and other books, and other than electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, shall be numbered and filed in due order, and shall be duly registered by the Council Clerk in a book to be kept by him for that purpose. Upon the face of every document thus registered, to which there is any reference in the minute-book, there shall be a note of the page wherein it is so referred to. And when any order has been made by the Council, or a report has been brought up by any Committee thereof, in reference to any document so registered as aforesaid, a note of such order or report shall be made upon such document. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may discover in the keeping of such records,

Impression of seal not to be taken, &c., without leave of Council.—Penalties.

88. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to take any impression of the corporate seal, or to show, lay open, or expose any of the books or records of the Council to any person other than a member of the same, without leave from such Council, except as otherwise provided by law. Any member or officer of the Council who shall be guilty of a breach of this section shall be liable on conviction for the first offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds, for a second offence to a penalty not less than one pound or more than ten pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence to a penalty of not less than five pounds or more than twenty-five pounds.

Records not to be removed, &c.—Penalties.—Exceptional circumstances.—Receipt to be given in every case before document received.—Proviso as to use of records as matter of evidence.

89. Any person removing any such book or other record of the Council as aforesaid from the Council Chamber, or the place where by direction of the Council such book or other record is usually kept, without leave for such removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal, as hereinafter provided, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to effect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid, and shall not have returned the same, to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same, as the circumstances of the case may warrant: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk by the Mayor, in order that such Clerk may post up entries, prepare returns, or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform: also, that the Mayor, or the Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any such chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution at suit at law by, against, or at the instance of the Council; but in all such cases such Council Clerk, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for every document so removed, and every such receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the book or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed: And provided also, that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council, who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a Court of law shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as may be, and shall, before removing the same, leave at the Council Chamber a receipt for such book or other record as aforesaid; and every such person so temporarily removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

90. Any person destroying, defacing, or altering any record of the Council shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

Notice to candidates in certain cases.

91. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council, to which a salary or allowance of fifty pounds per annum, or a salary or allowance exceeding that amount, is attached, shall be made until public notice shall have been given, as hereinafter provided, inviting applications for qualified candidates for the same; the salary or allowance attached to such office shall in every case be fixed before such notice is given, and shall be stated in such notice.

Mode of appointment.

92. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot in such mode as may at the time be determined on, whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Exceptional cases.

93. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the appointment by the Council, without advertisement, of any salaried officer or servant of the Corporation to any other permanent office or employment at the disposal of the Council to which no further salary is attached; or to prevent the appointment in like manner of any such officer or servant to any other office or employment of which the duties require only occasional attention, and are to be paid by allowances proportionate to the extent of such duties; or to prevent any similar appointment or employment by the Mayor or by any Committee or officer of the Council under the authority of any By-laws; or to prevent the employment as may be from time to time found necessary, and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Borough.

Bonds for good conduct.

94. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the Council Clerk or the Bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

95. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which, by the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder, he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Borough under the provisions of the said Municipalities Act. He shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may by order of the Council (as hereafter provided) be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor; and shall, when ordered by the Mayor or Finance Committee, make a half-yearly return of the revenue and expenditure.

Duties of Treasurer, &c.

96. Any officer of the Council, other than the Council Clerk, may have any records of the Council, other than those mentioned in section 84 of this "Part" of these By-laws, committed to his charge by an order of the Council, and he shall in each case be responsible to the Council for the safe keeping of such records.

Duties of other officers and servants.

97. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation shall be defined by such regulations as may, from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made, as follows, viz.:—As to the duties of the Council Clerk other than those under section 95 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and his assistants (if any)—by the Mayor or Council. As to the duties of the Council Clerk under section 86 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of all collectors of rates, bailiffs, bailiffs' assistants, and other officers and servants employed in and about the collection of revenue, whose superintendence is not hereinafter specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Finance Committee. As to all surveyors, architects, clerks of works, overseers, inspectors of water supply, sewerage, or drainage, or other officers and servants employed in and about the public works of the Borough, and in the supply of water therefor, or the sewerage or drainage thereof, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Committee of Works. As to the attorney for the Corporation, Inspector of Nuisances, and other officers and servants employed in and about the carrying out and enforcement of the general provisions of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and of any other statute of which the operation has been extended to the Borough, and of the By-laws for the general good government of such Borough, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the By-law Committee. As to managers, overseers, workmen, and other officers and servants employed in and about any public reserves and other public places under the care and management of the Council—by the Parks Committee. And as to librarians, managers of public institutions under the charge of the Council, and all other officers and servants employed in or about any matter over which the Council has control, and whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee or to the Mayor—by the Committee for General Purposes: Provided that all such regulations shall be in writing, and shall be in all cases laid before the Council at the first meeting thereof, which shall be held after the making of any such regulations, and shall be in strict accordance with any such orders or directions as may have been at any time given by such Council touching the matters to which any such regulations may have reference.

Special powers of Mayor.

98. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is so on record as hereinbefore provided; or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statements or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing and shall be recorded. All such explanation or information may, except as hereinafter provided, be either rendered viva voce or put into writing, as the Mayor may direct.

How complaints against officers be dealt with.

99. All complaints against officers or servants of Corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing, or is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the case before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same. And if any such complaint be made to the Council, or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to, and investigated by the Mayor before it shall be in any way (otherwise than by such reference) ordered upon or dealt with by such Council: Provided that every report explanation, and information which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaint shall be in writing. And such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation, and his opinion as to what order (if any) ought to be made in connection therewith; and such complaints, with all reports, explanations, and information as aforesaid, in connection therewith, and the Mayor's statement as aforesaid thereon, shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be held after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the special power conferred upon the Mayor by section 152 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or any other special power which now is, or hereafter may be, conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of absence.

100. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Aldermen, otherwise than by a resolution of the Council adopted after due notice.

Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

101. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negativing such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after the notice as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed business.

102. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration may be ordered by resolution of the Council, after due notice; and such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties, &c.

103. Such suits or information for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or of any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute the operation of which may have been extended to the Borough, as may have been directed by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid, shall be so commenced or laid, as follows, namely—When against a member of the Council or an auditor, or any officer of the Corporation—by the Council Clerk, unless such Council Clerk shall be the officer to be proceeded against, and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose; when against any other person, by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or By-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been entrusted, and if there shall be no such officer, then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council, or the By-law Committee, or the Mayor, as the case may be, on directing such suit or information as aforesaid; and no such suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council or Auditor, except by order of such Council; nor shall any similar proceedings be taken against any officer of the Council, except on the order of such Council or of the Mayor, nor against any other person, except upon the order of the Council, or of the Mayor, or of the By-law Committee. And no such suit shall be directed to be brought, nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid, except on an express resolution of the Council, in any case where the bringing of such suit or the laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction by such Council, or where, on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information, the same shall have been dismissed on the merits: Provided that in any such case the conduct or prosecution of any such suit or information may, on the order of the Council, be entrusted to an attorney.

Mode of calling for tenders.

104. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed, or any materials supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice, as hereinafter provided.

Drafts of intended By-laws.

105. A draft of every intended By-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by such Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same; and public notice shall be given as hereinbefore provided that such draft is so lying for inspection.

How notices are to be published.

106. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation done, made, or passed, or proposed to be made, done, or passed by the Council, or by any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the said Council, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same twice in some newspaper circulating in the Borough.

Persons obstructing officers of the Council.

107. Any person or persons who shall obstruct any officer of the said Council while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing or performing, or going to perform, or returning from the performance of any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threats, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language, towards the said officer, in any street, road, or other place within the said Borough, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

108. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

Power to suspend, temporarily, certain portions of this Part of these By-laws.

109. Any such section or sections of this "Part" of these By-laws, or any portion or portions of such sections or section as are not hereinafter expected, may be suspended by resolution on notice at any meeting of the Council: Provided that there shall be a distinct statement in every such resolution, and in the notice of the motion whereon the same shall have been adopted, of the purpose for which such suspension is required, and that for every separate matter or business as to which such suspension is so required, there shall be a separate resolution as aforesaid: And provided that the following sections hereof shall never be suspended, nor shall any one of them nor any portion of any such sections, be suspended on any pretence whatever, namely:—Sections 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 21, 22, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 33, 37, 38, 41, 42, 44, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 79, 80 to 89 inclusive, 91, 92, 93, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106 and 107.

PART II.

Collection and Enforcement of Rates.—Times and modes of Collection.

Rates under sec. 164 of the 81st Vic. No. 12 to be collected half-yearly.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provisions of section 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by annual or half-yearly instalments, as the Council shall from time to time direct and shall be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Office hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council by resolution from time to time for that purpose.

Defaulters.

4. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid within thirty days after the day so appointed as aforesaid for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to issue distress warrants against all such persons so in default as aforesaid, and to cause such to be enforced, or to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

Enforcement by Distress.

Bailliff.

6. A bailliff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailliff's sureties.

7. The bailliff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of £25 each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duty of Bailliff.

8. It shall be the duty of the bailliff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates, in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may, for the time being, be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the bailliff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the said Borough as the bailliff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

11. At the time of making a distress, the bailliff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf, resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the bailliff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer, on demand, at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The bailliff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days, as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon shall, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

14. The bailliff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. There shall be payable to the bailliff, for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the cost and charges in the hereunto annexed, marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Municipal District of _____, do hereby authorize you _____, the bailliff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, for _____, being the amount of rates due to said Municipality to the _____ day of _____, for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises, as the case may be) and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.

Dated this _____ day of _____, 188 _____.

Mayor.

SCHEDULE B.

Inventory.

I have this day, in virtue of the warrant under hand of the Mayor of the Municipal District of _____, dated _____, distrained the following goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, within the said Municipality, for _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Borough, to the day of _____.

Dated this _____ day of _____, 188 _____.

PART III.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &c.

1. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Setting fire to matter without notice.

2. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever in the open air within five yards of any dwelling house or other building, or boundary or dividing fence, within the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the lands or premises adjoining the lands or premises upon which such matter shall be, of his intention so to do, or shall wilfully set fire to such inflammable matter as aforesaid between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Fireworks.

3. Every person who shall light any bon-fire, tar-barrel, or firework, upon or within ten yards of any public or private street, or any public place, or shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause within one thousand yards of any dwelling within the boundaries, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

4. If any chimney catch or be on fire, the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimney is situated shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings: Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be incurred if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Magistrate before whom the case is heard that such fire was in no wise owing to the omission or carelessness, whether with respect to cleanse such chimney or otherwise, or himself or his servant.

Burning shavings, &c., in the streets.

5. Any person who shall burn any shavings, rubbish, or any other matter or thing, in any road, street, lane, or public place within the said Municipality, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

PART IV.

Streets and public places—Public health and decency, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public or intended public road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid shall have been levelled by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee of Works or some officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf, or until the said road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid shall have been duly examined by the Committee of Works or such duly authorized officer as aforesaid, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee or duly authorized officer as aforesaid.

Plan of proposed new roads, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the Municipality shall open any road, street, lane, or way, or lay out any park, reserve, other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place, he, she, or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself, herself, or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

3. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans, so signed as aforesaid, shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietor or proprietors as aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid as may be considered necessary by the Council; and such further instrument or dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Roads and streets, and encroachments thereon, &c.

4. The Committee for Works, or the Surveyor of the Municipality, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot ways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land, with frontage to the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare in question, shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee for Works, or Surveyor, or other officer or person as aforesaid, to place, or cause to be erected, posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares, whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the foot-way on each side, where the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide, and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council in any such road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than 66 feet: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as herein-after provided: Provided further, that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to "The Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1881."

Change of street levels.

5. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed cuttings, to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify, by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality, that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council, the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Footway or pathway, when flagged or asphalted, not to be interfered with without permission.

6. Whenever the footway or pathway in front of any house or the ground, along any road, street, private street, or lane within the Municipality has been flagged or asphalted by the Council, the same, and the asphalt or flagging thereon, shall not be removed, taken up, or otherwise interfered with by any person whomsoever without the permission of the Mayor or Committee for Works first being had and obtained. And every person removing, taking up, or otherwise interfering with such footway or pathway, or the flagging or asphalt thereon, without first obtaining the permission of the Mayor so to do, and every person wilfully or maliciously injuring or destroying such footway or pathway, or the asphalt or flagging thereon, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than five shillings.

Erection of house.—Fee for permission, &c.

7. Every person intending to erect or put up any fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, in or upon the building line of any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, place, or premises within the Municipality, shall, either by himself or by his contractor, serve, or cause to be served, seven days' notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk or other duly authorized officer before commencing the same, stating his intention, and describing the proposed situation of the proposed fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, and shall at the time the said notice is given as aforesaid, pay unto the Council Clerk, or other duly authorized officer, a fee of five shillings for permission to erect any such fence, or any such house, shop, or other erection or building; and every owner of every such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building who shall, by himself or his contractor, commence to put up or erect any such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, without having first given such notice as aforesaid, or without having paid such fee as aforesaid, shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Pipes, gutters, &c.

8. It shall not be lawful for any person to carry, by means of pipes, gutters, or other contrivances, any rain-water from the roof of his or her premises or house upon any of the foot-ways of any road, street, lane or public place within the Municipality. Any owner or occupier of any such house or premises who shall neglect or refuse to remedy or remove any such pipes, gutters, or contrivances when required so to do by any officer of the said Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings: Provided that the owner or occupier of any such premises or house may convey any such rain-water by means of pipes laid under the surface of any such footways into the gutter adjoining the same, and subject to approval of the Committee for Works or some officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf.

No balcony, &c., to project.

9. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any verandah, portico, or balcony to project beyond the building line of any street, road, lane or thoroughfare, except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony or any other external projection as aforesaid, which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than one pound, except with the consent of the Council first obtained: Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street, road, or thoroughfare less than 30 feet wide: Provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

10. The Surveyor or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf may at any time, on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally, or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroachment in structure belongs, or who has erected the same or caused it to be erected.

Council may remove encroachments.

11. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same under the superintendence of its Overseer of Works or other proper officer duly appointed in that behalf, and at the cost of the person so offending (provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds), or at the Council's option, to proceed against the offender for the breach of this By-law, the penalty for the first offence not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor to be less than one pound; and in case of the second and every successive offence, the penalty on conviction not to be less than two pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

12. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds it shall be open to the Council either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

13. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavations; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him, or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Overseer of Works or other such officer as aforesaid, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Hoards or fences to be erected.

14. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the Municipality, or to cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be done, where any street, road, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or any part thereof will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street with a convenient platform and hand-rail, if there be room enough to leave as a foot-way for passengers outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence, with such platform and hand-rail as aforesaid standing in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council of the Municipality duly appointed in that behalf, during such times as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall in all cases in which it is necessary, in order to prevent accidents, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise; and every such person who shall fail to put up such fence, or hoard, or platform with such hand-rail as aforesaid, or to continue the same respectively standing in such good condition as aforesaid during the period of such building, or taking down, or who shall not, while the said hoard or fence is standing, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise, or who shall not remove the same when directed by the Overseer of Works or such other officer of the Council of the Municipality within a reasonable time afterwards as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day such default is continued.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

15. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove, or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material in or from any part of the carriage or foot way of any street, road, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage such carriage or foot way, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Holes to be enclosed.

16. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave, or cause to be left, any hole adjoining or near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner, to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works or Foreman of Works of the said Municipality, or shall keep up, or cause to be kept up, and continued, any such enclosure, for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights on each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding ten pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the foot-ways to be enclosed, under penalty.

17. Every owner or occupier of any land, house, building, or premises within the said Municipality, having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, water-hole, quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground adjoining or near to any foot-way of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place in such Municipality, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient five-foot paling fence at the least, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land, having any steps adjoining the foot-way of any such street or public place, shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof, every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he shall be convicted for any such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner and occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fences, or other enclosures as aforesaid, within seven days after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Wells to be covered over--Penalty.

18. Every person who shall have a well or underground tank, used for domestic or other purposes, situated between his or her dwelling-house, or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or foot-way within the limits of the said Municipality, or at the side of or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or foot-way, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if every person having such well or underground tank as aforesaid fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open and uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

19. The Mayor, or any officer or person acting under the authority of the Mayor, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same or for any other necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

20. Any person who shall haul, draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or other public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other material or thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or draw or trail upon any part of such street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or public place, to the injury thereof, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving carriages, &c., on foot-paths; and throwing filth, &c.

21. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or any matter or thing in or upon the carriage-way, foot-way, gutter, or water-table of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, or cut up any beast, swine, sheep, lamb, or other animal in or so near to any such street or public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any or either of any such carriage-way, foot-way, gutter, or water-table; or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said foot-ways, of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, truck, or any bicycle or tricycle, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such foot-way, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on foot-ways, &c.—Not removing when required.—Replacing the same after removal.—Not to prevent awnings being erected in front of shops.

22. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board, (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatever; or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel in or upon or over any carriage-way, foot-way, gutter, or water-table, in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality; or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading or unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage-way, foot-way, gutter, or water-table, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other material or things for building whatsoever (unless the sanction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf has been first had and obtained, or unless the same shall be enclosed to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or such other officer as aforesaid) or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of any such foot-way, carriage-way, gutter, or water-table, or over any area of any house or building premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other building or premises over or next unto any such street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf; or if any person who, having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed, or caused to be removed, any such stall-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stones, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other matter or things, shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose or put out, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, exposed, or put out, the same or any of them, or any other stall-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, goods, timber, stones, bricks, lime, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, truck, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, meat, offal, or other things, or matters, whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any such carriage or foot-way of or next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence, a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence, a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house in such a manner as that such an awning shall be at least eight feet above the proper level of the foot-way, and that the posts be placed close to the kerbstone or outer edge of such foot-way, and that the said posts and any framework be erected to the satisfaction of the Council, and as may from time to time be directed by the Council.

Public Health.

23. No person shall keep, or permit, or suffer to remain on any premises within the said Municipality, any vehicle, article, or thing whatsoever, from which any unwholesome or offensive smell arises.

24. All drains, earth-closets, privies, and cesspits and ash-pits, on any premises in the said city constructed, shall be maintained and kept by the owner, occupant, or agent of such premises, so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so as that there shall be no overflow or soakage therefrom.

25. No person shall carry or convey, or caused to be carried or conveyed, through, upon, or over any street or public place in the said Municipality, except between the hours of ten o'clock at night and five o'clock in the morning, any unwholesome or offensive matter of any kind whatsoever, and nothing herein contained is to have the effect of repealing any By-law now in force for the mode and times of removal of night-soil.

26. The occupant of every factory and the owner of every steam engine in the said Municipal District shall construct the fire-place or furnace and chimney of such factory or steam engine in such manner as to consume, as far as practicable, the carbonaceous matters or gases, commonly called smoke, arising from the fuel used therein, or shall affix proper and suitable apparatus to such fire-place or furnace and chimney as aforesaid, so as to cause such chimney to consume such carbonaceous matters or gases as aforesaid.

Sale of blown meat, &c., forbidden.

27. No person shall sell or expose, or have for sale, or keep on his premises, any meat or any other article intended, but unfit for human food, or shall expose or have for sale any adulterated butter, meal, bread, or other article of food, or any adulterated milk, knowing either of them to be so adulterated; and any person offending against this By-law shall, for every such offence, be liable on conviction to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and shall also be liable to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any forbidden article shall be kept on the premises of such person.

No person to keep meat unfit for food.

28. No person shall keep, or have in his possession, or retain in any building, shop, or other place, exposed for sale, any dead animal, carcass meat, poultry, or fish intended for, but unfit for human food, and every person offending against this By-law, shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such forbidden thing shall be kept or retained by any such person.

Sale or letting of infected premises or goods.

29. If any person shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, any dwelling-house, or part thereof, or premises occupied in connection therewith, in the said Municipality, which then is, or shall have been within thirty days prior to the date of such sale or letting, occupied by any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, without giving due notice thereof to the person or persons purchasing, renting, or hiring any such house, or premises, the person so selling, letting, or causing to be sold or let, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds. And any person who shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, in the said Municipality any article of furniture, bedding, household or personal effects, knowing the same to have been within three months prior to the date of such sale or letting used by any person or persons suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Exposing infected articles.

30. Any person who shall expose, or cause to be exposed, in any road, street, public place, or unclosed land adjacent to any dwelling, road, street, or public place, any article whatsoever, knowing the same to have been in the use or occupation of any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease within thirty days prior to the date of such exposure as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Regulation of traffic in streets.

31. No person driving or riding within the Municipality shall allow his horse or horses to go out of a walking pace whilst turning any of the street corners, nor whilst passing over crossings at the intersection of streets, nor whilst passing to and from any entrance to premises intersecting the foot-paths, nor propel any bicycle or tricycle or other wheeling vehicle over any crossing or intersection of streets within the said Municipality at a pace faster than a walk.

32. All persons conducting or taking horses along any street, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, shall keep them secured by means of a halter or bridle, and shall lead them, and no person shall run or drive, or cause to be run or driven, any horse or horses loose through any such street, thoroughfare, or public place as aforesaid, nevertheless that horses being taken to the public pound and afterwards impounded therein, or mobs of horses being driven to or from market, shall not be within the meaning of this By-law.

33. No driver of any vehicle shall be or remain at any such a distance from his vehicle, anywhere within the said Municipality, so as not to have immediate and full control over the same, unless he shall have previously locked the wheels thereof. Every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Slop, night-soil, &c., to be conveyed away only at certain hours.

34. Any person or persons who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any cart or other carriage with night-soil or ammoniacal liquor therein, through or in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, between the hours of five o'clock in the morning and ten o'clock at night; or shall fill any cart, or other carriage, so as to turn over and cast any night-soil ammoniacal matter, slop, mire, or channel dirt or filth in or upon such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place; or shall deposit night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter nearer to any street, road, or dwelling-house, than shall be directed by the said Council or by the Inspector of Nuisances; or shall remove night-soil or other offensive matter, otherwise than in properly covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles; or shall cause any vehicle used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any such road, passage, thoroughfare, public place, or dwelling-house, than shall be directed by the said Council or the said Inspector of Nuisances, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds; and in case the person so offending shall not be known to the said Council or Inspector, then the owner of such cart or carriage in which such night-soil or other offensive matter shall be put or placed, and also the employer of the person so offending, shall be liable to and forfeit and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

Riding on drays, careless driving, &c.

35. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse and driven or guided with reins only excepted); or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it is passing upon such street, road, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or any other carriage whatsoever meeting any other carriage shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street; or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage, or person in or upon the same, every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Lights to carriages, &c.

36. The driver of any carriage, buggy, waggon, wain, cart, dray, bicycle, tricycle, or other wheeled vehicle, when driving the same in or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, between the hours of sunset and sunrise, shall provide such carriage, buggy, waggon, wain, cart, dray, bicycle, tricycle, or other wheeled vehicle, with a lamp on each side of the same, outside, and shall keep such lamps lighted; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall for every offence forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Riding or driving furiously.

37. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, so negligently, carelessly, or furiously as to create alarm, or so as that the safety of any other person or of any property shall or may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Damage to kerbstones, gullies, &c.

38. No driver or carter or other person shall wilfully or negligently do or suffer, or cause to be done, any damage or injury to any culvert, kerbstone, gutter, or pathway in any street or roadway in the Municipality aforesaid; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall for every offence forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings over and above the damage done.

Loitering in the streets, &c.

39. Any person loitering or standing on the foot-way or carriage-way of any road, street, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, so neglecting or refusing without reasonable cause or excuse to move on after having been requested so to do by any constable or other police officer, or any officer duly authorized by the Council of the said Municipality in that behalf, shall on conviction forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

Blasting Rock.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

40. Any person or persons who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or dwelling-house in the Municipality, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same shall take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person or persons shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him or them by the said Council Clerk, he, she, or they shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Public Property.Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

41. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall, over and above the necessary expence of repairing the injury committed, be liable to forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

42. Any person who shall damage any public building, gate, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, water-course, or other public property within the Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if such damage be wilfully done, shall be liable to forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

43. If any person or persons shall paste, or cause to be pasted, or otherwise affix any placards or other paper or chalk or paint upon any wall, house, fence, culvert, kerbstone, pathway, hand-rail, or other property of the Council, or in any other manner deface the same without authority of the Council, he or they shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such separate offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

44. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root-up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood growing in or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, reserve, park, or public place under the management of the Council, shall be liable to forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Extirpation of noxious weeds.

45. Any owner or occupier of any premises or land within the Municipality who shall permit to grow on the premises or land, or place upon the public streets or roads, weeds known as Bathurst burr, Scotch thistle, prickly-pear, sweet-briar, or any noxious weed, and who shall fail to extirpate or destroy the same within thirty days after the receipt of a notice in writing, by post or otherwise, from the Council, or proper officer of the Council, so to do, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Obstructing public pathways

46. If the owner or occupier of any land situated on the side of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or other public place within the Municipality, shall permit any shrub or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any foot-path, foot-way or carriage way on the side of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or other public place, so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and shall not, on demand made by the Council or their Inspector, Overseer, or other officer duly authorised on that behalf, cut, or cause to be cut, or lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, to height of eight feet at the least, the Council and their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut, lop, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and may remove or burn, or cause to be removed or burnt, any portion of such trees so cut and lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen in their due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every such person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Injuring public fountains, &c

47. Any person who shall injure any public fountain, pump, cock, water pipe, or any other thing connected with the preservation or supply of water to the Municipality, or to any portion thereof, shall forfeit and pay the amount of such damage, and any further sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Dead animals, &c, not to be thrown into any public water courses, &c.

48. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public water-course, sewer, water-hole, river, creek, road, or pathway; or who shall suffer any slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such water-course, water-hole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the foot-ways, water-tables, or streets of the Municipality; or shall permit or cause, by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, any such suds or filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public water-course, water-hole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or water course, creek or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds, and shall pay cost of restoring such obstructed or diverted water-course, creek, or canal.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

49. If any animal shall die in any part of the Municipality, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the said Municipality, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals on private premises.

50. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the Council of the Municipality, may at any hour in the daytime enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipality where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and, if necessary, to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose; and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding thirty pounds nor less than three pounds,

Dead animals, in certain cases, to be removed at cost of owner

51. If any animal shall die in any public street or place within the Municipality, it shall be immediately removed by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in the manner aforesaid, at the cost of the owner.

Hog sties to be forty yards from streets, and animals suffered to stray, &c.

52. Any person who shall keep, breed, or feed any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other place, situated and being within forty yards of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, park, reserve, or public place in the Municipality or nearest dwelling-house, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or any other animal of a like nature, or any poultry belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, lane, park, reserve, thoroughfare, or public place, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings for each and every animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid; and the owner or occupier of any house or premises, or other place within the said Municipality, wherein any such swine, horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or other animal is kept, fed, milked, or used in any way whatsoever, shall, within the meaning of these By-laws, be deemed the owner of such animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray, or to be tethered, or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid; and the words "any house," "building," "yard," "garden," or "other place," wherein any kind of swine shall be bred or kept as aforesaid, shall respectfully be deemed hog-sties within the meaning of these By-laws; and the word "horses" shall be sufficient designation for any entires, geldings, mares, or foals, and the word "cattle" for any bulls, oxen, cows, or calves, when more than one is the subject of any information and summons under the provisions of these By-laws.

Stables, cow sheds, and pig sties

53. The occupier of any land or premises within this Municipality on which there shall be erected any stable, cow yard, fowl house, cattle-shed, or pig-sty, shall cause such premises to be kept in such a state in respect to cleanliness as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and shall cause all dung, soil, or manure, produced, or accumulated thereon to be collected in a place (to be approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances) in the yard of such premises, and there to be in an inoffensive condition, and so as not to be productive of any nuisance; and shall cause such dung, soil, or other manure, to be from time to time removed from such premises, as often as the quantity so collected shall amount to one cubic yard. And if at any time the owner or occupier of any such premises shall neglect or fail to have such dung, soil, or other manure removed therefrom, so aforesaid, the same shall be removed by the Inspector of Nuisances at the expense of such occupier. For an offence against this By-law any person shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Premises in state to endanger public health.

Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

54. If upon the certificate of any two duly qualified medical practitioners it appears to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in a filthy or unwholesome condition, that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same as the case may require; and if the person to whom such notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default. Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

As to private avenues, or dirty or unwholesome premises.

55. Any owner or occupier of any house, building, yard, garden, premises, or other place within the Municipality, who shall neglect to keep clean any private avenues, passages, yards, thoroughfares and ways within the said premises so occupied or belonging to him, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, slaughter houses, &c.

56. For preserving the cleanliness of the Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he, they, or any of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments, manufactory, factory, or establishments in the Municipality and give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, slaughter houses, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him, them, or any of them shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter house, tannery, or establishment who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises, &c

57. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer appointed by the said Council shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council as aforesaid shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter to remain and be in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cess-pool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

58. Every person who, in any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, park, reserve, or other public place of passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers in or through the Municipality, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare or public place, and close to the foot way thereof without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, the carcass or any part of the carcass of any newly-slaughtered animal, without a sufficient clean and proper cloth covering the same, for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale, without covering the same as aforesaid.

Throwing filth, &c., on foot-ways, &c.—Killing animals.

- (3.) Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, slops, suds, or filth, or annoyance, or any matter or thing, into any public water-course, sewer, or canal, or in or upon the carriage-way, foot-way or water-table of any street, lane, or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal for the purpose of sale, upon any premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a fine not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, and shall in addition to any such forfeiture, pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction.
- (4.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub to overhang the foot path, to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (5.) Every person who shall haul, place, or cause to be hauled or placed, any boat, gear, or spars, upon any of the reserves within the Municipality aforesaid and refusing to remove the same when lawfully requested so to do.
- (6.) Every person who shall place any flower-pot in an upper window near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (7.) Every person who shall place, hang up, or affix any sign-post, board, house-ticket, notice or other similar thing, otherwise than close and parallel to or flat upon the wall of the house, shop, or building to which the same belong.
- (8.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard of enclosure when any house or building are being erected, pulled down, or repaired).
- (9.) No person shall deposit, or cause or suffer to be deposited, in or by the side of or on any road, street, right-of-way, lane, passage, water-channel, or gutter, or in any creek, or in any other public place within the Municipality, any dust, mud, ashes, rubbish, filth, offal, manure, liquid manure, dung, or soil; and no person shall deposit, or cause or suffer to be deposited, any night-soil or other offensive matter on any land, field, or garden within the Municipality.
- (10.) Every person who shall carry goods on any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the footway of any street, road, lane, or other public footway.
- (11.) Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb or any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

Passengers, &c., not to be interrupted by dusting.

- (12.) Between the hours of eight o'clock in the morning and seven o'clock in the evening of any day, no person shall cause interruption, annoyance, or inconvenience to passengers along the streets or footpaths of the said Municipality, by raising, or discharging, dust upon or across any such street or footpath, whether from buildings in process of erection or demolition, or otherwise however.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

59. Any person who shall, except in proper costume, bathe near or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public wharf, quay, bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

60. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, or in the view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

PART V.

Noisome and Offensive Trades.

Complaint.—Inquire and report.—Order of Council thereon.—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

1. Upon the complaint in writing, by any householder, that any noisome or offence trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property as to injure his or her health, or the health of his or her family, or to otherwise annoy, injure, or be a nuisance to such householder and to his or her family, the inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complaint, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a noisome or offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipality. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds; and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when noisome and offensive trade is about to be commenced.—Penalty.

2. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacturer, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measure as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming noisome or offensive within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the Municipality. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notice—Liabilities.

3. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

PART VI.

Public Exhibitions, &c.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition, other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14th Victoria No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the Municipality, nor shall any bowling-alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement, other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or place for temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, be used as such, for hire or profit within the Municipality, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

Temporary license by Mayor —Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid (other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act), and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week, and in like manner to allow any place within the Municipality to be used for purposes of public amusement other than entertainments requiring to be licensed as aforesaid for not more than one week: Provided that it shall be incumbent upon such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting such permission, and to refuse such permission if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Municipality. Every person holding or keeping such exhibition, or using any place within the Municipality for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting such place to be used, without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept, or such place shall be used for public amusement as aforesaid.

Public buildings, &c., to be registered.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier. And every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land who permits any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for a longer period than one week, in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration as hereinafter mentioned having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Certificates of registration, &c.

4. The Council, upon the written application of any such occupier as aforesaid stating the particulars aforesaid, and if, upon inspection by the proper officer, the building or land shall have been found to be secure and proper for the purpose stated, and if the proposed exhibition or amusement shall not be such as to require a license from the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, and shall not be thought likely to entail any violation of public decency, or to endanger the public peace, or be a nuisance to any inhabitants of the said Municipality, the said Council shall cause the aforesaid premises to be registered in a registry book to be kept for that purpose, and shall thereupon grant to the applicant a certificate of such registration of such premises. And the said Council may at any time, and for any of the causes hereafter mentioned, suspend for a stated period the effect of or cause of any such registration, and shall forthwith give notice of such suspension or cancellation to the occupier of the registered building or land; and during such suspension, or after such cancellation, such premises shall be deemed to be unregistered in respect of the purpose mentioned in the certificate of registration, and such certificate shall be of no force or virtue.

Inspection.

5. The proper officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf may at all reasonable times enter into or upon and inspect any such registered building or land.

No exhibition, &c., on Sundays, &c.

6. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held, except by permission of the Council, or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusements on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Registration fee —Time for which registration shall be in force

7. For every such registration as aforesaid the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Council Clerk, for the benefit of the said Municipality, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing, and no longer.

Certificate of registration to operate as license for exhibition, &c., named therein and no other.

8. The certificate of registration aforesaid shall be regarded as a license from the Council for the holding or keeping of the exhibition, or for carrying on the public amusements therein mentioned, but for none other. Any occupier of such building or land who shall hold or keep therein or thereon any exhibition, or shall use such building or land for any public amusements other than such exhibition or amusements mentioned in such certificate or license, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Unlawful games and exhibitions

9. No license shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any game with dice or other games of chance for money, or any bull-baiting, dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace, are proposed to be had or carried on; and the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid who shall permit any such game of chance or exhibition or amusement as aforesaid in the section before mentioned, to be had, held, or carried on in or upon such building, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Suspension or revocation of license —Notice to be given, and licensee to be allowed to show cause

10. The effect of any such registration as aforesaid may be suspended, or such registration may be cancelled, as the Council shall think fit, for any of the following causes, namely: Whenever the occupier of the registered building or land, or the manager of any such exhibition or amusement as aforesaid, held, kept, conducted, or carried on, in or upon such building or ground, shall have been twice convicted of offences against these By-laws within a period of twelve months; or whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the said Council that the superintendent, director, or manager, or other person in charge of any such exhibition or amusement, is a confirmed drunkard, or that such exhibition or amusement is being conducted in such a manner as to violate public decency, to endanger the public peace, or become a nuisance to any inhabitants of the Municipality: Provided that before any such suspension or cancellation as aforesaid, the occupier of such registered building or land shall have notice of the fact, the said Council is about to consider whether there shall be any such suspension or cancellation, and of the causes of this proceeding, and shall be allowed to show cause against such suspension or cancellation before the same shall be ordered.

Construction of term "occupier" —Change in occupancy.—False statement.

11. Any person who shall superintend, direct, or manage, or shall be otherwise in charge of any such exhibition or public amusement as aforesaid, in or upon any such building or land as aforesaid; or who shall reside in or upon any such building or land wherein or whereon any such exhibition or public amusement shall be held, kept, or carried on; or who, being the owner, lessee, or tenant of any such building or land, shall permit the same to be used for the purposes of any such exhibition or public amusement, shall be deemed the occupier of such building or land for all the purposes of these By-laws. And the said By-laws shall be held to be as applicable in every case to any number of such occupiers as to any single occupier; and every other occupier whose name shall have been so registered as aforesaid shall be deemed and taken to be, and continue to be, such occupier for all these purposes of these By-laws: Provided that in the event of any change in the occupancy of any such building or ground as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the parties concerned to notify the same, by writing under their hands, to the said Council Clerk, who shall lay such notification before the Council at its next meeting; and if, after such inquiry as such Council may deem necessary, there shall seem to be no valid objection to such change of occupancy, a corresponding entry shall be made in the registry aforesaid, and a new certificate shall be issued, which shall be in force until the then next ensuing, 31st day of December, and no longer. And for every such new certificate a fee of five shillings shall be paid to the said Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Municipality. And any person who shall make any false statement in any such application or notice as aforesaid as to any of the facts or particulars required by these By-laws to be stated in such application or notice, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

PART VII.

Water Supply.

Polluting water, reservoirs, &c.

1. Whosoever shall bathe in any stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to or under the management or control of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, throw, or cause to enter therein any animal, whether alive or dead, or any rubbish, filth, stuff, or thing of any kind whatsoever; or shall cause or permit, or suffer to be run or to be brought therein, the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine, or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome, or improper water; or shall wash any clothes at any public fountain or pump, or in or at any such stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks as aforesaid; or shall do anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterwork belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, shall be fouled, obstructed, or damaged, shall for the first offence be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; for a second offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than ten pounds; and for the third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than ten pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Wilful waste of water.

2. Whosoever being supplied with water by the Council from any waterworks, fountain, reservoir, or standpipe or of belonging to, or under the control or management of the said Council, or having access to any such waterworks, fountain, or reservoir, for the taking of water therefrom, shall wilfully or negligently suffer any water to run to waste from any pipe, pump, or conduit, from or by which he shall be so supplied, or to which he shall have such access, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not exceeding five pounds; for a second offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than forty pounds.

Damming up water without consent.

3. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment, or allow any accumulation of drift or silt to accumulate in or across any river, creek, or natural water-course, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds; and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if, after such second conviction, such persons shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time, he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if, within a reasonable time after a third or any further conviction, he shall still fail to remove such dam or embankment he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Diverting water from reservoirs of Council in certain cases.

4. In any case in which the Council shall have the exclusive right of collecting for the supply of any reservoir or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, the storm-water having fallen on any gathering ground, whosoever shall, by any means whatsoever, divert any such water from the course of its natural flow, so that the same shall tend to flow elsewhere than to such reservoir or waterworks or some water-course leading thereto, or shall flow to the same respectively in a foul state, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds; for a second offence any sum not less than two pounds nor more than forty pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

PART VIII.

Sewerage and drainage.

No private sewers to be made to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

1. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council, or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council may make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains, sewers, or channels, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the said public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith, without such notice, or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and cleanse same.

2. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired and cleansed according to the direction of the Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Disposal of sewage, &c.

3. The Council shall have power from time to time to enforce the adoption or alteration of any system, which to them may appear necessary, for the better regulation, disposal, or treatment of night-soil, sewerage or other drainage, and may suspend the use or further extension of any system which to them may seem detrimental to public health. Any person refusing to comply with any requisition made under this By-law after receiving notice from the Council or an officer under them, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Public Parks, &c.

Appointment of ranger.

4. The Council may appoint a ranger, bailiff, or overseer over the reserves and other public places within the said Municipality, with powers and authorities necessary to enable him to perform his duties as they may from time to time think fit.

Ranger to protect reserves and remove disorderly persons.

5. The said ranger, bailiff, or overseer, or any officer of the Council shall protect the said reserves, and for that purpose shall remove or be at liberty to call in the aid of the police for the removal, by force if necessary, of any person or persons who shall be found committing a breach of these By-laws, or who shall by disorderly or insulting conduct cause annoyance or inconvenience to any person on the said reserves, or any of them, or going to or coming from the same; and such person so offending shall also forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Penalty for removing firewood and setting fire to timber, &c.

6. Any person who shall remove any firewood or timber from any of the said reserves, or who shall wilfully destroy or damage any of the said trees or shrubs growing thereon, or who shall wilfully set fire to any grass, tree, or shrub, or timber growing thereon, or shall injure any fence, gate, seat, or turnstile therein, shall on conviction before any two or more Justices of the Peace forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

9. No tents, booths, or stalls shall be erected on any of the said reserves, without the consent of the Council first had and obtained, under a penalty of not exceeding ten pounds.

Penalty for horse-racing, &c.

10. No horse-racing or horse-breaking shall be allowed on any of the said reserves under a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

Penalty for depositing rubbish and removing material.

11. Any person who shall deposit any rubbish on any of the said reserves, or who shall remove any rock, stone, earth, or other material therefrom, without the leave of the Council first had and obtained, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not exceeding ten pounds.

Power to grant right of pasturage, &c.

12. The Council may annually let from year to year, or for any less term, by public auction or by public tender, the exclusive right to depasture stock on, or to cut or remove grass from, all or any of the said reserves, and may delegate to any lessee power to impound any swine, goats, horses, sheep, or cattle straying thereon.

Power to grant right to cut timber, &c.

13. The Council may also annually let from year to year, or for any less period, by public auction or by public tender, the exclusive right to remove any trees, firewood, or timber not required for ornamental purposes from any of the said reserves; and they may make such regulations as may be necessary from time to time for the protection of trees and shrubs required for ornamental purposes.

Power to distrain and impound trespassing stock.

14. The Ranger or any other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf shall have power to distrain and impound any cattle or other stock found trespassing upon the said reserves or other public places, or any of them, and also to claim and demand and recover such damage (not exceeding ten pounds) in respect of such cattle or other stock so distrained or impounded as could or might be claimed by the owner of private land in respect of animals found trespassing and doing damage upon the same.

Penalty for crossing fences except by proper openings.

15. If any person shall cross or pass, or attempt to cross or pass, any fence on or enclosing any of the reserves or other public places within the Municipality, otherwise than by the gates or other openings left for passage, he shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty for each offence of not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Wilful trespass.

16. Every person who shall wilfully let in or knowingly suffer to enter upon the said reserves, or any of them, any animals, without due authority, shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass, and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Penalty for persons causing annoyance in use of reserves.

17. Any person who shall unlawfully cause any annoyance or inconvenience to any other persons in the free use and enjoyment of the said reserves, or any of them, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

18. No person shall climb any of the trees, or shall climb any of the seats, or jump over or in any way get over or under any fence or rail erected in any of the said parks or reserves, or shall stand or lie on any of the seats therein.

19. No person shall cut any name, word, or mark on any of the seats, or buildings, or trees, or shall write thereon, or otherwise deface the same, or shall stick any bill on any such seat, or building, or any tree, fence, wall, pillar, or rail in any of the said parks or reserves.

20. No person going in the direction of any path therein shall walk on the grass bordering such path.

21. No person shall engage in any race or game, or train for any race or game, without the written permission of the Mayor or Council, or throw any stone or other missile, or light a fire in any of the said parks or reserves, or deposit thereon any rubbish or night-soil, or other offensive matter or thing, or any dead animal, broken glass, bottles, cast-off clothing, or litter of any kind, nor shall, without such written permission, discharge any firearms therein. Every person so offending may be forthwith removed from the said parks or reserves, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

22. No public meeting of any kind, or assemblage of persons together to the number of 12 or more for any purpose shall be allowed in any of the said parks or reserves without the written permission of the Mayor or Council first had and obtained, and every person in any such meeting or assemblage who being desired by any officer of the Council, or police officer, to depart from any of the said parks or reserves, shall refuse, or wilfully neglect to do so, may be forthwith removed from the said parks or reserves, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

23. Every person in the said parks or reserves in a state of intoxication, or behaving in a disorderly manner, or creating or taking part in any disturbance, or being a reputed thief, or wilfully injuring any building, fence, tree, shrub, flower, rail, wall, pillar, fountain, or seat, or other property therein, or removing any tree, shrub, flower, rail, lamp, or seat therefrom, or obstructing any officer or workman of the Council, or interfering, not being a player, with any game or sports therein, or swearing or making use of any profane or obscene language, or using insulting words or gestures towards any person, or otherwise misbehaving himself or herself, shall be forthwith removed from the said parks and reserves, and shall be liable to fine not exceeding five pounds.

24. No performance or entertainment of any kind shall be permitted in any of the said parks or reserves without a written permission from the Council or Mayor.

25. No person shall depasture any horse, cattle, sheep, or stock of any kind in any of the parks or reserves without a written permission from the Council or Mayor. The owner of any goats or poultry found trespassing in the public parks or reserves, without written permission of the Council or Mayor, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound nor less than one shilling each head so trespassing.

26. The Council may, with the consent of the Minister for Lands, or any other of Her Majesty's Ministers who may have charge of public parks for the time being, set apart any portion or portions of the said park or reserves not exceeding one-fourth, for the purpose of cricket, football, or any other lawful game or sports, and from time to time grant to any club, or association of clubs, upon such terms and conditions as the Council or a majority thereof may think fit, the use of the grounds so set apart, and authorize the erection, alteration, and removal by such club or association of clubs, of any building or pavilions thereon; but the Council, or a majority thereof, shall have power at any time to revoke such grant or authority, and to order the removal of such buildings or pavilions, and nothing in such grant or authority shall limit or affect the right of entry or control over the said grounds by the Council, or their servants or agents.

27. Any person who shall be found committing any breach of any By-law affecting the said reserves, or any of them, in respect of which a penalty is not expressly provided for in this "Part" of these By-laws, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

PART IX.

By-laws for the Municipality of Nowra, for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

1. No cesspit, closet, or pit to contain faecal matter, shall be allowed to be made. Every person about to erect an earth-closet shall, before he commences any such work, give to the Council Clerk seven days' notice, in writing, of his intention, and of the proposed position of such earth-closet; or in default thereof, or in the case of his commencing such work without such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

2. No earth-closet shall be erected except in such position as shall be approved by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council, or shall be approved by the Council; and any person being guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

3. Every earth-closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened from the inside, and shall be ventilated; and every person having or building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

4. Every earth-closet already built, or hereinafter to be built, shall be provided with a galvanized-iron pail, capable of containing not less than six gallons, and having handles attached to two sides thereof, and also with a box or compartment containing dry earth or ashes, and provided with a pint scoop, to enable any person using the closet to throw a pint of dry earth or ashes through the seat into the galvanized-iron pail.

5. The owner of every house let to a tenant for a shorter term than one year, or his agent employed to let the house, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds for neglecting or refusing to supply the articles mentioned in section 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws.

6. When two or more closets adjoin each other there shall be a sufficient dividing brick or stone wall not less than 9 inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the closet through the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and every person having or building closets adjoining each other contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

7. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement; and a breach of this By-law shall make persons using a joint closet liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Number of closets for factories or where numbers of persons are employed.

8. In factories or other places where a number of persons shall ordinarily reside, or be occupied or employed therein, one earth-closet shall be provided for every ten persons or under, and separate closets at the same rates shall be provided for either sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of any such factory or other place, and every other person who shall offend against this By-law, or fail to provide the required number of earth-closets as stated in this By-law, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

9. Every closet shall be built in such a position that the same may be emptied without the contents being carried through any dwelling-house; and every person having or building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

10. If any alteration shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or any officer appointed by the Council in that behalf, for preserving the public health or decency in the case of any existing closet, and the Council shall adjudge such closet to be either injurious to health, or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, the same shall be altered by such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer, and the cost of such alterations shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises whereon the same shall be.

11. All night-soil shall be removed by the contractor to the Council in carts to be constructed in an approved and water-tight manner to the satisfaction of the Council, and between the hours of 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. The contractor shall convey the same without delay to an appointed depot, and shall dispose of the same by burying in the earth to a depth of two feet from the top of the night-soil, and covering with earth, so as to prevent any nuisance. And any contractor neglecting to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds and not less than ten pounds for every such offence.

12. The place of deposit shall be in such locality as may be from time to time determined upon by the Council with approval of Governor.

13. Until otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil from existing closets shall be removed from cesspits by contract, in water-tight covered vehicles, between the hours of 11 o'clock in the evening and 5 o'clock in the morning.

14. Until, and unless otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth.

15. In case the Council shall sell or give away any night-soil, the same shall be removed in the same manner as above provided; and, on being removed from the vehicles in which it is carried, shall be deodorized by chemicals, or in some other manner, or covered with earth, so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom. Any person guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be punishable by a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

16. When any new building is about to be erected, the builder thereof shall first erect and fence off with a close paling fence, five feet high, on the premises a temporary closet, not less than three feet by two feet six inches, for the use of the workmen employed on such building; and any person neglecting to conform to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and not less than two pounds.

17. All earth-closets shall be emptied once in seven days, or oftener, and the contents buried in the earth; and every person infringing this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than two pounds.

18. No person shall be at liberty, without the permission of the Council, to use on his own premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere; and in the event of his so doing, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

19. The Council may recover such sums for the emptying of any closet as may be decided upon from time to time by resolution of the Council.

20. On and after the first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, no persons shall be permitted to have in their premises an open closet or cesspit for the deposit of faecal matter, and any person or persons allowing any such closet or cesspit to remain after receiving seven days' notice to remove the same, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and after such conviction, if not removed within a further period of seven days, shall forfeit a further sum not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds for every day that the same shall remain unaltered or unremoved.

21. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council, may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the "Nuisances Prevention Act 1875," therein, on all days except Sundays and public holidays, between the hours of 10 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the evening.

Subdivision and change of property.

Change of occupier—Sub-division of property.

22. If the owner, tenant, or occupier of any property within the Municipality for which he or she is assessed shall give up the possession of such property, he or she shall, within seven days from the date of giving up the possession thereof, deliver to the Council Clerk a notice in writing, showing and setting forth the name and address in full of the person to whom possession of such property has been given. And if any property shall be subdivided in the interval between one assessment and another, and let to two or more persons, the tenant or owner who previously occupied the whole of such property, or who is still in possession of a portion thereof, shall, within seven days from the time of such subdivision being made, deliver to the Council Clerk a notice in writing, showing and setting forth the area, the rent, and the names in full of the occupier or occupiers of such subdivision; and any such owner, tenant, or occupier failing or neglecting to give such notice as is herein required, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings for every such offence, with costs.

BY-LAWS for the Impounding of Cattle on the public thoroughfares of the Municipality.

1. The Mayor shall be empowered to issue instructions in all cases to any officer or servant of the Council, to impound all horse and cattle stock, ass, mule, swine, sheep, goat, or other animal found straying, tethered, or depasturing on the public roads, streets, reserves, cemetery, or other public places within the boundaries of the Municipality, or within certain defined boundaries therein, as may be agreed to by the Council for such impounding to take place, and to drive, lead, or convey, said animals so trespassing to the nearest Pound, and set the amount in the Schedule hereunder as a trespass and driving fee thereon: Provided always that the terms of the Impounding Act relating to the publicity, keep, sustenance, release, and sale of the said animals so impounded be complied with.

BY-LAWS for regulating the Driving of Cattle within the Municipality of Nowra.

1. No cattle, except quiet cattle, will be allowed to be driven on, through, or along any street or highway within the town of Nowra and suburbs, and the roads leading from Nowra to the Nowra Bridge and to the Municipality of Central Shoalhaven, unless one horseman is sent in advance, not less than 100 and not over 200 yards, to warn travellers of their approach, to save accidents.

2. Any person committing a breach of the said By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds and not less than ten shillings for every such offence.

WILFUL TRESPASS.

EVERY person who shall wilfully let in or knowingly suffer to enter upon the Public Common or Recreation Ground under the control of the Council any animals without due authority, shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass, and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

TO REGULATE THE NOWRA COMMON AND RECREATION.

All persons found guilty of the undermentioned offences to be liable to a penalty for each offence not exceeding ten pounds and not less than five shillings, together with the amount of damage incurred:—

- Removing timber, stone, gravel, or any other material.
- Trespassing on said Common with firearms; and felling, or attempting to fell, any trees thereon.
- Wilfully breaking and opening, or attempting to open, and injure or injuring the boundary fence of the said Common, or any of the gates attached thereto.
- Driving or placing bulls and stallions on said Common for agistment, without reporting same to person in charge.

All charges for agistment of stock on said Common be fixed from time to time by resolution of Council, and that a monthly return of same be made by the person in charge to the Council, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds and not less than ten shillings, such monthly returns, on being exhibited to the first ensuing meeting of Council, to be signed by the Mayor and copied by the Council Clerk, as a public record of the receipts from the said Common, for the information of all interested.

BY-LAWS FOR REGULATING THE NOWRA FREE LIBRARY.

1. The books purchased with the Government grant in aid of the Nowra Free Library, together with all other books presented by the public, and such other books which the Nowra Council may hereafter procure for that institution, either by purchase or otherwise, shall constitute a library, to be called the "Nowra Free Library."

2. The Council shall appoint a Librarian, who shall make out and keep a catalogue of all books in the Library.

3. It shall be the duty of the Librarian to be in attendance at the Library between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. every day on which municipal business may be legally transacted.

4. The Librarian shall keep a book in which he shall enter the name and number of every book issued, the name of the person taking the book, and the date on which it was issued.

5. No more than one book shall be issued to any person at one time, nor shall any person be allowed to take a book from the Library.

6. Any book or books lost or damaged by any person shall be replaced at his or her expense within one month, and in default, the person or persons so offending may be sued for the value of such book or books by the officer in charge of the Library.

7. Any person in a state of intoxication applying for a book shall not be entitled to receive one.

8. Any person behaving in a disorderly manner while in the Library or on the premises, or damaging any property in such Library, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine of not less than five shillings, and shall replace the damaged property.

9. Fines.—(See sec. 183 of Municipalities Act)—such fines so recovered, shall be paid over to the Treasurer of the Municipal Council, together with costs, within seven days, and may be applied to defray the working expenses of the Library; and in default of such payment being made, the amount may be recovered by levy and distress on the goods and chattels of the person so defaulting.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of Nowra,

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF MANLY.—AMENDED BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Acts 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 158, and 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 3rd January, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF MANLY.—AMENDED BY-LAWS.

THE following Amended By-Laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Manly, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," and the "Public Parks Act of 1884," respectively, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

PART I.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL AND COMMITTEES.—PRESERVA-TION OF ORDER AT COUNCIL MEETINGS—DUTIES OF OFFICERS AND SERVANTS, &C.

By-laws repealed.

1. All existing By-laws of the Council of the Municipal District of Manly, published in the Government Gazette from time to time prior to the adoption of the following, shall be and are hereby repealed.

Meetings of the Council.

Ordinary meetings.

2. The Council shall meet for the despatch of business at such times and days as may be by resolution appointed.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.—Adjournment for want of quorum.

3. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman, to act during the absence of the Mayor. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down and recorded in the minute-book.

Order of Business.

Business of ordinary meetings.

4. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
3. Correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
4. Reports from Committee and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon,

5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council or any of the Committee or officers to be made.
6. Matters which have been specially ordered to be placed on the business paper by the Mayor.
7. Motions of which notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
8. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; also, and in like manner, to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business at special meetings.

5. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor, or the Aldermen at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Business paper for ordinary meeting—how prepared.

6. The business paper for every meeting of the Council, other than a special meeting, shall be made by the Council Clerk, or other person acting as his substitute, not less than forty-eight nor more than seventy-two hours before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy of the substance of every notice of motion and of every requisition or order as to business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter, in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of section 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws, in the same order as such notice, requisition or direction shall have been received,

Business paper for special meeting.

7. The business paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Aldermen calling such meetings.

Summons to members.

8. The summons to members of the Council for every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How business paper is to be disposed of.

9. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meeting, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with; and such business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter disposed of, unless withdrawn before business paper made up.

10. All notices of motion, and all requisitions from Aldermen, and directions from the Mayor as to the entry of any particular matters of business for the consideration of the Council at its then next or any future meeting, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received; and each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the minute-book of the manner in which such matter has been disposed of shall have been duly verified as required by section 1 of clause 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws: Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

After business paper made up, all notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

11. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all the said notices of motions, requisitions, and directions, as to which entries have been made thereon, shall be the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended, without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions and Amendments.Motions—how to be moved.

12. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from such business paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Notice to be given.

13. Four clear days' notice of every motion intended to be made in the Council, shall be given to the Council Clerk, to enable him to place the same on the business paper.

Motion to be seconded.

14. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

15. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

16. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

17. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amended question—further amendment may be moved thereon.

18. If an amendment be carried, the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

19. If any amendment, either upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on: Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

20. No motion for adjournment of the Council shall be discussed. If seconded, such motion shall be put at once. If negatived, no similar motion shall be permitted to be made until half an hour has elapsed after putting the one that has been negatived, and the subjects on the business paper shall be proceeded with in order.

Orders of the Day.Of what orders of the day shall consist.

21. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or any committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

Petitions.Petitions to be respectfully worded.

22. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—how received.

23. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing at the same time.

How petitions are to be dealt with.

24. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that if it be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned, or to some special Committee appointed to consider and report on the same; or that if it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable be considered in order.

Correspondence.Duties of Mayor as to correspondence.

25. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by section 22 of this "Part" of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent, and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Section 24 to apply to letters.

26. Section 24 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council as to petitions.

Reports from Committees and Minutes from the Mayor.Form of Report.

27. All reports from Committee shall be written on foolscap paper with a margin of at least one-fourth of the width of such paper, and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or, in his absence, by some other member of same.

Mayor's minute.

28. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance, by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written upon paper of any kind, and with the same margin as a report from a Committee, and shall be signed by such Mayor.

How reports, &c., are to be dealt with.—Duties of Chairman, &c., in certain cases.

29. No motion shall (unless as hereinafter provided) be permissible on the presentation of a report from a Committee or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may, if otherwise unobjectionable, be moved or considered in due course. And whenever any such report or minute embodies any recommendation which cannot legally be carried out without due notice and it is nevertheless desirable that such report or minute shall be definitely ordered upon during the meeting of the Council at which such report or minute is presented, it shall be the duty of the Chairman or member of such Committee signing such report, or of such Mayor, as the case may be, to give or transmit to the Council Clerk, such a notice of motion, requisition, or direction as aforesaid, as will enable such Council Clerk to make the necessary entry on the business paper, and to give such due notice.

Report on Finance Committee on payment of accounts.

30. The adoption of the report of the Finance Committee on the payment of accounts shall take precedence of every other report.

Questions and Statements.

Limitations as to questions and statements.

31. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order, or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of section 34 of this "Part" of these By-laws.

Notice to be given.

32. Twenty-four hours' notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto, to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or to documents: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent any question being put and answered without notice, by the permission of the Mayor and Council.

Answer not compulsory.

33. It shall not be compulsory upon any person questioned as aforesaid to answer the question so put to him.

Question to be put without argument, &c.

34. Every such question must be put categorically, without any argument or statement of fact.

Similar provision as to statements.

35. Every such statement must be made without argument.

No discussion on question, &c.—Rights of objection and of subsequent motion reserved.

36. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement, at the time when such question is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question, or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of Debate.

Mode of addressing the Council, &c.

37. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or any discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way or for any other purpose address observations to the Council, shall, while so doing, stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from doing so by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case the question so put and the answer thereto shall be subject to every legal objection, on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

38. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided.

Limitation as to number of speeches, &c.

39. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendments moved thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman, other than mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion and on every amendment thereon. No Alderman shall speak upon any question other than upon a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observation than may be necessary for the purpose of such explanation.

Mover and seconder.

40. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Limited time of speaking on motion or amendment.

41. No Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer time than ten minutes except by permission of the Council.

Speaker not to digress, &c.

42. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, or impute improper motives to any other Alderman.

Adjournment of Debate.

43. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

44. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Aldermen may require questions to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

45. Any Alderman may request the question or matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such question or matter which are readily accessible: Provided, however, that no such request or requisition shall be so made as to interrupt the discussion. Also, that if any such request or requisition shall appear to the Mayor or Chairman not to have been made bona-fide, it shall not be complied with.

Mayor or Chairman may move or second motion, &c., and may address Council thereon.

46. The Mayor or Chairman may propose or second any motion, and such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking (unless prevented by some bodily infirmity from so doing), but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

47. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final, except in so far as the same may be questioned, as in the manner hereinafter provided.

Acts of disorder.

48. Every member of the Council who shall commit a breach of any section of this "Part" of these By-laws, or who shall move or attempt to move any motion or amendment embodying any matter as to which the Council has no legal jurisdiction, or who shall in any other way raise or attempt to raise any question, or shall address or attempt to address the Council upon any subject which the said Council has no legal right to entertain or to discuss, or who shall use any language which, according to the common usage of gentlemen, would be held disorderly, or who shall say or do anything calculated to bring the Council into contempt, shall be out of order.

Mayor, &c., may call Member to order.

49. The Mayor or Chairman may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman, there shall be a necessity for so doing.

Any Member may raise question of order.

50. Every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or the Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument, or observation moved, used, or made by any other member which such first-named member may consider out of order.

Mode of proceeding thereon.

51. A member named by the Mayor or Chairman as being disorderly, shall withdraw while the question of order is being discussed and decided upon, unless specially permitted to offer an explanation, retraction, or apology; but on obtaining such special permission such member may explain, retract, or apologise for the matter or remark alleged to have been out of order. And if such explanation, retraction, or apology be deemed satisfactory, no further discussion on the question of order shall be permitted. If any member, on being called to order, shall ask such permission to explain, retract, or apologise as aforesaid, the Mayor or Chairman may, of his own authority, grant or refuse such permission, as he may think fit, unless any member shall require the sense of the Council to be taken on this question. In such case it shall be the duty of the Mayor or Chairman to take the sense of the Council at once, and without discussion, as to whether such permission shall be granted. And when any such explanation, retraction, or apology shall have been made or offered by permission of the Mayor or Chairman, the latter shall in like manner decide, or, if required so to do, shall take, the sense of the Council as to whether such explanation, retraction, or apology is considered sufficient. If such permission be refused, or such explanation, retraction, or apology be considered insufficient, the question of order shall be considered and decided before any further business is proceeded with: Provided that if such Mayor or Chairman shall have decided the question of order before any member shall have required the sense of the Council to be taken in reference thereto, such question of order shall not be reopened: And provided further that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the right of such Mayor or Chairman to decide finally, as hereinbefore provided, upon any such point of order, after the same shall have been discussed.

Decision of points of order.

52. The Mayor or Chairman, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provision, rule, or practice, which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting upon the same.

Motion out of order to be rejected.—Members to explain, retract, or apologise, &c.

53. Whenever it shall have been decided as aforesaid that any motion, amendment, or other matter before the Council is out of order, the same shall be rejected; and whenever anything said or done in Council by any Alderman shall be similarly decided to be out of order, such Alderman shall be called upon by the Mayor or Chairman to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as the case may require.

Penalty for persisting in disorderly conduct.

54. Any member of the Council who shall have been named by the Mayor or Chairman as being disorderly, and who, after having been twice directed to withdraw as aforesaid, shall refuse to do so, or who shall persist in any line of conduct or argument or of observations which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, or who shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as aforesaid, when required so to do, or who shall be guilty of any other act of disorder, as defined in section 48 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable, on conviction for the first offence, to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds; and on second conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and on the third conviction and for every further conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Power of Council to dissent from ruling.

55. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice, may, by immediate motion, respectfully worded, invite the Council to dissent from such decision; Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to bind any Mayor or Chairman to put any motion to the Council which, in his opinion, is contrary to law.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

56. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions—Penalty for refusing to vote

57. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for, and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

Protests.

Mode of protesting.—Protest to be recorded, but may, under certain circumstances, be expunged.

58. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council; notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed, or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the minute book; but if, in the opinion of the Council, it be inconsistent with the truth, or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution on notice) be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with reference in the margin to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Rules applicable to business in Committee.

59. The following sections of this "Part" of these By-laws shall (except as is herein excepted) be taken to apply to the conduct of business in Committee of the whole Council, namely—sections 15 (except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded), 16, 17, 18, 19, 33, 37, 40, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 56, and 57.

Disorderly conduct in Committees.—Refusal to vote.

60. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the Whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order within the meaning of section 51 of this "Part" of these By-laws it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting, and that such matter be reported; and if such motion be carried such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the minute-book; and whenever any Alderman shall have failed to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by section 57 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the facts shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the minute-book: Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid, no special motion that the Council resume its sitting shall be necessary, but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the Whole, in making his report of the proceedings in such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which such Alderman has so failed to vote.

Decisions in Committee on points of order may be reported.

61. Whenever a decision upon any question of order shall have been given by the Chairman of a Committee of the whole Council, under the provision of section 47 of this "Part" of these By-laws, any Alderman may move that such decision be embodied in the report to the Council of the proceedings in such Committee; and if such motion be carried, such decision shall be so embodied in such report, whenever the same shall be made.

How progress may be reported, &c.

62. Any Alderman may at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on any further day; or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried, the Council shall resume its sittings, and a report shall be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion, and if the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another such motion shall be receivable.

Reports of proceedings in Committee.—Want of quorum in Committee.

63. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council, in voce by the Chairman of such Committee; and a report of such proceedings shall be made in every case, except when it shall be found on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Committee that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Committee shall be considered to have lapsed: Provided that in making of any such report as aforesaid it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the result, general effect, or substance of such proceeding.

How reports are to be dealt with.

64. All such reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the minute-book; but except as hereinafter mentioned, no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption or for the granting of such leave. And every such motion for the adoption of a report or for the granting of leave as aforesaid and the order of debate on such motion shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council and the order of debate on such other motions: Provided, however, that where a report shall have been made under section 60 of this "Part" of these By-laws of disorderly conduct in Committee, or under section 57 of this "Part" of these By-laws, or failure to vote on division, or of any decision in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall so far as it relates to such facts, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof; and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretext whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be ordered.

65. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution of which due notice shall have been given for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

66. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered shall be moved or considered. Such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name as so called; and if any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such members shall have previously been granted, or if such an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.—Further call when question adjourned.

67. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, being absent, shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent, and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness or any other sufficient cause he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day, there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration; and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call. And if there shall be more than one adjournment this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committees.

68. There shall be five Standing Committees, namely—a By-law Committee, a Committee for Works, a Finance Committee, a Parks Committee, and a Committee for General Purposes. These Committees shall be reappointed every year, at the first meeting of the Council which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Constitution of Standing Committees.

69. Each of the Committees shall consist of the whole Council, three to form a quorum.

By-law Committee.

70. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council, drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Borough. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws and of any statute of which the operation has been or may be extended to the Borough, and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention or punishment of offences against such By-laws or statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order, and decency.

Committee for Works.

71. The Committee for Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges and reserves under the care and management of the Council. They shall inquire and report from time to time, as directed, as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

72. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to effect, or be likely to effect, the finances of the Borough, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Parks Committee.

73. The Parks Committee shall have the care, custody, and control of all public reserves and other public places under the care and the management of the Council; and all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council to be made therein shall be under their general direction. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Committee for General Purposes.

74. The Committee for General Purposes shall take cognizance of every matter, subject, or question within the jurisdiction of the Council not coming within the province of one or other of the before-mentioned Standing Committees, and shall from time to time inquire into and report upon any such subject, matter, or question as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

Special Committees.

75. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and for which in the opinion of the Council a Special Committee ought to be appointed. And no Standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been entrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution of the Council; and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such Special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as, in his opinion, ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot; and in the latter case, or if an amendment to the effect that such Special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, each member then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council, from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom, in his opinion, such Special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such list, and shall declare the result. And in the event of its becoming necessary, through an equality of votes, to decide as to which of two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

76. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, within seven days after their appointment.

Term of Service in Committees.

77. Appointments to the By-law Committee, the Committee for Works, the Finance Committee, and the Parks Committee shall be for the whole municipal year. The Chairman of these four Committees as appointed to or removed from the Chairmanship of the same, shall be thereby and without any further order regarded as having been appointed to or removed from the Committee for General Purposes. The appointment of every Special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the right of such Committee to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another such Chairman in his stead, or to militate against the general provisions as to Committees in sections 109 and 110 of the "Municipalities Act of 1867;" and that so much of this By-law as relates to the appointment, powers, and duties of Committees shall be read and interpreted in connection with such last-mentioned general provisions.

Committee Meeting, how called.

78. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Records of transactions in Committee.

79. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters, cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

80. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Borough shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses.—Expenses authorized to be reported.—Outlay to be in accordance with orders of the Council.

81. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Works, or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor for necessary current expenses, to the extent of ten pounds.
3. By order of the Mayor and any two Aldermen, or without the Mayor, or any four Aldermen, for any emergent purpose, to the extent of five pounds.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting; such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works, or the Mayor, or the Mayor and Aldermen, or the Aldermen without the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorized. Also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council, and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence be thus authorized.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

82. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order.—Certificate to be attached to report.

83. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate memorandum from the Committee, Mayor, or officer of the Council to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons for its non-fulfilment, before recommending payment. Provided, however, that such special report as last herein mentioned may be embodied with a report by which payment of the amount in question is recommended. Provided also, that in cases of special expenditure under section 81 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the report directed by that section to be laid before the Council shall, if the outlay shall have been lawfully incurred, be deemed a sufficient certificate. And provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at fixed rates of payment, by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to any such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for the payment of such amount, shall be a sufficient authorization for such payment; and such certificates, memoranda, and authorizations shall be attached respectively to the reports from the Finance Committee on the payments or outlays to which such certificates, memoranda, or authorizations have reference.

Common seal and records of the Council.

Common seal and press, how secured.—Care of same.

84. The common seal and the press to which the same is attached shall be secured by a cover or box, which, except when such seal and press are in use, shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock of this cover or box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor and the other by the Council Clerk. Such common seal and press shall be in the custody and the care of the Council Clerk.

When and how common seal to be used.

85. The common seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or, in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How books of account are to be kept and inspected.

86. The Council Clerk shall keep such books of account and such records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure in such manner and form as the Council may from time to time direct. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to inspect all such books of account, records, statements, and memoranda from time to time, to ascertain that the same are properly kept, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may have discovered in the keeping of the same; also, to report to the Council from time to time any changes which such Committee may think advisable in the mode of keeping the accounts.

Records of the Council defined.—Provisions for proper keeping of the same.

87. The minute-book, letter-book, and all rate and assessment books, books of account, records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, business papers, reports from Committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions letters on municipal business, addressed to the Council or to the Mayor, or to any officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda relating to municipal business, drawings, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council, shall be deemed records of the Council. All such records other than the minute-book and other books, and other than electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, shall be numbered and filed in due order, and shall be duly registered by the Council Clerk in a book to be kept by him for that purpose. Upon the face of every document thus registered, to which there is any reference in the minute-book, there shall be a note of the page wherein it is so referred to. And when any order has been made by the Council, or a report has been brought up by any Committee thereof, in reference to any document so registered as aforesaid, a note of such order or report shall be made upon such document. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may discover in the keeping of such records.

Impression of seal not to be taken, &c., without leave of Council.—Penalties.

88. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to take any impression of the corporate seal, or to show, lay open, or expose any of the books or records of the Council to any person other than a member of the same, without leave from such Council, except as otherwise provided by law. Any member or officer of the Council who shall be guilty of a breach of this section shall be liable on conviction for the first offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings, nor more than two pounds, for a second offence to a penalty not less than one pound or more than ten pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence to a penalty of not less than five pounds or more than twenty-five pounds.

Records not to be removed, &c.—Penalties.—Exceptional circumstances.—Receipt to be given in every case before document received.—Proviso as to use of records as matter of evidence.

89. Any person removing any such book or other record of the Council as aforesaid, from the Council Chamber, or the place where, by direction of the Council, such book or other record is usually kept, without leave for such removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful course for such removal, as hereinafter provided, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid, and shall not have returned the same, to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same, as the circumstances of the case may warrant: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk by the Mayor, in order that such Clerk may post up entries, prepare returns, or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform: also, that the Mayor, or the Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any such Chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution at suit at law by, against, or at the instance of the Council; but in all such cases, such Council Clerk, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for every document so removed and every such receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the book or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed: And provided also, that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council, who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a Court of law shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as may be, and shall, before removing the same, leave at the Council Chamber a receipt for such book or other record as aforesaid; and every such person so temporarily removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

90. Any person destroying, defacing, or altering any record of the Council shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds, nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

Notice to candidates in certain cases.

91. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council, to which a salary or allowance of fifty pounds per annum, or a salary or allowance exceeding that amount, is attached, shall be made until public notice shall have been given, as hereinafter provided, inviting applications for qualified candidates for the same; the salary or allowance attached to such office shall in every case be fixed before such notice is given, and shall be stated in such notice.

Mode of appointment.

92. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot in such mode as may at the time be determined on, whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Exceptional cases.

93. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the appointment by the Council, without advertisement, of any salaried officer or servant of the Corporation to any other permanent office or employment at the disposal of the Council to which no further salary is attached; or to prevent the appointment in like manner of any such officer or servant to any other office or employment of which the duties require only occasional attention, and are to be paid by allowances proportionate to the extent of such duties; or to prevent any similar appointment or employment by the Mayor or by any committee or officer of the Council under the authority of any By-laws; or to prevent the employment as may be from time to time found necessary, and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Borough.

Bonds for good conduct.

94. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the Council Clerk or the bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

95. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which, by the "Municipalities Act of 1867," or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder, he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Borough under the provisions of the said Municipalities Act. He shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may by order of the Council (as hereafter provided) be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor; and shall, when ordered by the Mayor or Finance Committee, make a half-yearly return of the revenue and expenditure.

Duties of Treasurer, &c.

96. Any officer of the Council, other than the Council Clerk, may have any records of the Council, other than those mentioned in section 84 of this "Part" of these By-laws, committed to his charge by an order of the Council, and he shall in such case be responsible to the Council for the safe keeping of such records.

Duties of other officers and servants.

97. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation shall be defined by such regulations as may, from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made as follows, viz.:—As to the duties of the Council Clerk other than those under section 95 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and his assistants (if any)—by the Mayor or Council. As to the duties of the Council Clerk under section 86 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of all collectors of rates, bailiffs, bailiffs assistants and other officers and servants employed in and about the collection of revenue, whose superintendence is not hereinafter specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Finance Committee. As to all surveyors, architects, clerks of works, overseers, inspectors of water supply, sewerage, or drainage, or other officers and servants employed in and about the public works of the Borough, and in the supply of water therefor, or the sewerage or drainage thereof, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Committee of Works. As to the attorney for the Corporation, Inspector of Nuisances, and other officers and servants employed in and about the carrying out and enforcement of the general provisions of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and of any other statute of which the operation has been extended to the Borough, and of the By-laws for the general good government of such Borough, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the By-law Committee. As to managers, overseers, workmen, and other officers and servants employed in and about any public reserves and other public places under the care and management of the Council—by the Parks Committee. And as to librarians, managers of public institutions under the charge of the Council, and all other officers and servants employed in or about any matter over which the Council has control, and whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee or to the Mayor—by the Committee for General Purposes: Provided that all such regulations shall be in writing, and shall be in all cases laid before the Council at the first meeting thereof, which shall be holden after the making of any such regulations, and shall be in strict accordance with any such orders or directions as may have been at any time given by such Council touching the matters to which any such regulations may have reference.

Special powers of Mayor.

98. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is so on record as hereinbefore provided; or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statements or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing and shall be recorded. All such explanation or information may, except as hereinafter provided, be either rendered viva voce or put into writing, as the Mayor may direct.

How complaints against officers be dealt with.

99. All complaints against officers or servants of Corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing, or is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the case before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same. And if any such complaint be made to the Council or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to, and investigated by the Mayor before it shall be in any way (otherwise than by such reference) ordered upon or dealt with by such Council: Provided that every report, explanation, and information which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaint shall be in writing. And such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation, and his opinion as to what order (if any) ought to be made in connection therewith; and such complaints, with all reports, explanations, and information as aforesaid, in connection therewith, and the Mayor's statement as aforesaid thereon, shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be holden after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the special power conferred upon the Mayor by section 152 of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," or any other special power which now is, or hereafter may be, conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of Absence.

100. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor to any Alderman, otherwise than by a resolution of Council adopted after due notice.

Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

101. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negative, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negating such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after the notice as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed business.

102. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration may be ordered by resolution of the Council, after due notice; and such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties, &c.

103. Such suits or information for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," or of any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute the operation of which may have been extended to the Borough, as may have been directed by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid, shall be so commenced or laid, as follows, namely—When against a member of the Council or an Auditor, or any officer of the Corporation—by the Council Clerk unless such Council Clerk shall be the officer to be proceeded against and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose; when against any other person, by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or By-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been entrusted, and if there shall be no such officer, then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council, or the By-law Committee, or the Mayor, as the case may be, on directing such suit or information as aforesaid; and no such suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council or Auditor, except by order of such Council; nor shall any similar proceedings be taken against any officer of the Council, except on the order of such Council or of the Mayor, nor against any other person, except upon the order of the Council, or of the Mayor, or of the By-law Committee. And no such suit shall be directed to be brought, nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid, except on an express resolution of such Council, in any case where the bringing of such suit or the laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction by such Council, or where, on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information, the same shall have been dismissed on the merits: Provided that in any such case the conduct or prosecution of any such suit or information may, on the order of the Council, be entrusted to an attorney.

Mode of calling for tenders.

104. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any materials supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice, as hereinafter provided.

Drafts of intended By-laws.

103. A draft of every intended By-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by such Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same; and public notice shall be given as herein-after provided that such draft is so lying for inspection.

How notices are to be published.

106. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation done, made, or passed, or proposed to be made, done, or passed by the Council, or by any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the said Council, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same twice in some newspaper circulating in the Borough.

Persons obstructing officers of the Council.

107. Any person or persons who shall obstruct any officer of the said Council while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing or performing, or going to perform, or returning from the performance of any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threats, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language, towards the said officer in any street, road, or other place within the said Borough, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

108. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

Power to suspend, temporarily, certain portions of this Part of these By-laws.

109. Any such section or sections of this "Part" of these By-laws, or any portion or portions of such sections or section as are not hereinafter excepted, may be suspended by resolution on notice at any meeting of the Council: Provided that there shall be a distinct statement in every such resolution, and in the notice of the motion whereon the same shall have been adopted, of the purpose for which suspension is required, and that for every separate matter or business as to which such suspension is so required, there shall be a separate resolution as aforesaid: And provided also that the following sections hereof shall never be suspended, nor shall any one of them nor any portion of any such sections, be suspended on any pretence whatever, namely:—Sections 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 21, 22, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 33, 37, 38, 41, 42, 44, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 79, 80 to 89 inclusive, 91, 92, 93, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, and 107.

PART II.

Collection and Enforcement of Rates.—Times and modes of Collection.

Rates under sec. 134 of the 31st Vic. No. 12 to be collected half-yearly.

1. All rates or levies imposed by the Council under the provisions of section 164 of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by annual or half-yearly instalments, as the Council shall from time to time direct, and shall be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special Rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the said "Municipalities Act of 1867," and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Office hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council by resolution from time to time for that purpose.

Defaulters.

4. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid within thirty days after the day so appointed as aforesaid for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor either to issue distress warrants against all such persons so in default as aforesaid, and to cause such warrants to be enforced, or to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

Enforcement by distress.

Bailliff.

6. A bailliff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailliff's sureties.

7. The bailliff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of £25 each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duty of Bailliff.

8. It shall be the duty of the bailliff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the bailliff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the said Borough as the bailliff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose; and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory:

11. At the time of making a distress, the bailliff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the bailliff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand, at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The bailliff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same, on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon shall at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold; and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

14. The bailliff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. There shall be payable to the bailliff for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Municipal District of _____, do hereby authorize you _____, the bailliff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, for _____, being the amount of rates due to said Municipality to the _____ day of _____, for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises, as the case may be) and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.

PART III.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &c.

1. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Setting fire to matter without notice.

2. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever in the open air, within five yards of any dwelling house or other building, or boundary or dividing fence, within the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the lands or premises adjoining the lands or premises upon which such matter shall be, of his intention so to do, or shall wilfully set fire to such inflammable matter as aforesaid between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning or the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Fireworks.

3. Every person who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or firework, upon or within ten yards of any public or private street, or any public place, or shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause within one thousand yards of any dwelling within the boundaries, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

4. If any chimney catch or be on fire, the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimney is situated shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings: Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be incurred if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Stipendiary Magistrate before whom the case is heard that such fire was in no wise owing to the omission or carelessness, whether with respect to cleanse such chimney or otherwise, of himself or his servant.

Burning shavings, &c., in the streets.

5. Any person who shall burn any shavings, rubbish, or any other matter or thing, in any road, street, lane, or public place within the said Municipality, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

PART IV.

Streets and public places.—Public health and decency, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public or intended public road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid shall have been levelled by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee of Works or some officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf, or until the said road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid shall have been duly examined by the Committee of Works or such duly authorized officer as aforesaid, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee or duly authorized officer as aforesaid.

Plan of proposed new roads, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the Municipality shall open any road, street, lane, or way, or lay out any park, reserve, or other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place, he, she, or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself, herself, or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

3. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans, so signed as aforesaid, shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietor or proprietors as aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid as may be considered necessary by the Council; and such further instrument or dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Roads and streets, and encroachments thereon, &c.

4. The Committee for Works, or the Surveyor of the Municipality, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for making out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and footways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land, with frontage to the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare in question, shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee for Works, or Surveyor, or other officer or person as aforesaid, to place, or cause to be erected, posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares, whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the footway on each side, where the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide, and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council in any such road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than 66 feet: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as herein-after provided: Provided further, that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to "The Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1881."

Change of street levels.

5. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed cuttings, to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify, by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council, the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Footway or path-way, when flagged or asphalted, not to be interfered with without permission.

6. Whenever the footway or path-way in front of any house or the ground, along any road, street, private street, or lane within the Municipality has been flagged or asphalted by the Council, the same and the asphalt or flagging thereon shall not be removed, taken up, or otherwise interfered with by any person whomsoever without the permission of the Mayor or Committee for Works first being had and obtained. And every person removing, taking up, or otherwise interfering with such footway or path-way, or the flagging or asphalt thereon, without first obtaining the permission of the Mayor so to do, and every person wilfully or maliciously injuring or destroying such footway or path-way, or the asphalt or flagging thereon, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than five shillings.

Erection of house—fee for permission, &c.

7. Every person intending to erect or put up any fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, in or upon the building line of any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, place, or premises within the Municipality, shall, either by himself or by his contractor, serve or cause to be served seven days' notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk or other duly authorized officer before commencing the same, stating his intention, and describing the proposed situation of the proposed fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, and shall at the time the said notice is given as aforesaid, pay unto the Council Clerk or other duly authorized officer a fee of five shillings for permission to erect any such fence, or any such house, shop, or other erection or building; and every owner of every such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building who shall, by himself or his contractor, commence to put up or erect any such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, without having first given such notice as aforesaid, or without having paid such fee as aforesaid, shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings

8. It shall not be lawful for any person to carry, by means of pipes, gutters, or other contrivances, any rain water from the roof of his or her premises or house upon any of the footways of any road, street, lane or public place within the Municipality. Any owner or occupier of any such house or premises who shall neglect or refuse to remedy or remove any such pipes, gutters, or contrivances when required so to do by any officer of the said Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings. Provided that the owner or occupier of any such premises or house may convey any such rain water by means of pipes laid under the surface of any such footways into the gutter adjoining the same, and subject to the approval of the Committee for Works or some officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf

No balcony, &c, to project

9. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any verandah, portico, or balcony to project beyond the building line of any street, road, lane, or thoroughfare, except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony or any other external projection as aforesaid, which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than one pound, except with the consent of the Council first obtained. Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street, road, or thoroughfare less than 30 feet wide. Provided also, that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Encroachments must be removed on notice

10. The Surveyor or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf may at any time, on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally, or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroachment in structure belongs, or who has erected the same or caused it to be erected

Council may remove encroachments

11. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same, under the superintendence of its Overseer of Works or other proper officer duly appointed in that behalf, and at the cost of the person so offending (provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds), or at the Council's option, to proceed against the offender for the breach of this By-law, the penalty for the first offence not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor to be less than one pound; and in case of the second and every successive offence, the penalty on conviction not to be less than two pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds

Or may proceed by action

12. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council, either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c

13. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavations, and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Overseer of Works or other such officer as aforesaid, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Hoads or fences, to be erected

14. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the Municipality, or to cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be done, where any street, road, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or any part thereof will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street with a convenient platform and hand-rail, if there be room enough to leave as a foot way for passengers outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence, with such platform and hand-rail as aforesaid standing in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council of the Municipality duly appointed in that behalf, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall in all cases in which it is necessary, in order to prevent accidents, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise; and every such person who shall fail to put up such fence, or hoard, or platform with such hand-rail as aforesaid, or to continue the same respectively standing in such good condition as aforesaid during the period of such building, or taking down, or who shall not, while the said hoard or fence is standing, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise, or who shall not remove the same when directed by the Overseer of Works or such other officer of the Council of the Municipality within a reasonable time afterwards as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day such default is continued.

No turf, gravel, &c, to be removed from streets without permission

15. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material in or from any part of the carriage or footway of any street, road, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage such carriage or footway, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Holes to be enclosed

16. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left, any hole adjoining or near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner, to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works or Foreman of Works of the said Municipality, or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued, any such enclosure for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights on each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding ten pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the foot ways to be enclosed, under penalty

17. Every owner or occupier of any land, house, building, or premises within the said Municipality, having any entrance area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, water hole, quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground adjoining or near to any footway of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place in such Municipality, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient five-foot paling fence at the least, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land, having any steps adjoining the footway of any such street or public place, shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof, every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he shall be convicted for any such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner and occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fences, or other enclosures as aforesaid, within seven days after any such convictions aforesaid shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law

Wells to be covered over —Penalty

18. Every person who shall have a well or underground tank, used for domestic or other purposes, situated between his or her dwelling house or the appurtenances thereof and any road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Municipality, or at the side of or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if every person having such well or underground tank as aforesaid shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by the Overseer for Works or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open and uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

19. The Mayor, or any officer or person acting under the authority of the Mayor, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same or for any other necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

20. Any person who shall haul, draw, or caused to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street, road, lane thoroughfare, passage or other public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other material or thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or draw or trail upon any part of such street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or public place, to the injury thereof, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving carriages, &c., on foot-paths; and throwing filth, &c.

21. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood or any matter or thing in or upon the carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, or cut up any beast, swine, sheep, lamb, or other animal in or so near to any such street or public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any or either of any such carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table; or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, truck, or any bicycle or tricycle, or any hogshead, cask or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on footways, &c.—Not removing when required.—Replacing the same after removal.—Not to prevent awnings being erected in front of shops.

22. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board, (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatever; or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel, in or upon or over any carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table, in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality; or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading or unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other material or things for building whatsoever (unless the sanction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf has been first had and obtained, or unless the same shall be enclosed to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or such other officer as aforesaid) or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of any such footway, carriage-way, gutter, or water-table, or over any area of any house or building premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other building or premises over or next unto any such street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf; or if any person who, having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed or caused to be removed, any such stall board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stones, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other matters or things, shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose or put out, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, exposed, or put out, the same or any of them, or any other stall-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, goods, timber, stones, bricks, lime, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, truck, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, meat, offal, or other things, or matters, whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any such carriage or footway of or next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house in such a manner as that such an awning shall be at least eight feet above the proper level of the footway, and that the posts be placed close to the kerb-stone or outer edge of such footway, and that the said posts and any framework be erected to the satisfaction of the Council, and as may from time to time be directed by the Council.

Public Health.

23. No person shall keep, or permit, or suffer to remain on any premises within the said Municipality any vehicle, article, or thing whatsoever, from which any unwholesome or offensive smell arises.

24. All drains, earth-closets, privies, and cesspits, and ash-pits, on any premises in the said city constructed, shall be maintained and kept by the owner, occupant, or agent of such premises, so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so as that there shall be no overflow or soakage therefrom.

25. No person shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, through, upon, or over any street, or public place in the said Municipality, except between the hours of ten o'clock at night and five o'clock in the morning, any unwholesome or offensive matter of any kind whatsoever, and nothing herein contained is to have the effect of repealing any By-law now in force for the mode and times of removal of night-soil.

26. The occupant of every factory and the owner of every steam-engine in the said Municipal District shall construct the fire-place or furnace and chimney of such factory or steam-engine in such manner as to consume, as far as practicable, the carbonaceous matters or gases, commonly called smoke, arising from the fuel used therein, or shall affix proper and suitable apparatus to such fire-place or furnace and chimney as aforesaid so as to cause such chimney to consume such carbonaceous matters or gases as aforesaid.

27. Any person offending against any of these By-laws shall, for each offence, upon conviction before one or more of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Sale of blown meat, &c., forbidden.

28. No person shall sell or expose, or have for sale, or keep on his premises, any meat or any other article intended, but unfit for human food, or shall expose or have for sale any adulterated butter, meal, bread, or other article of food, or any adulterated milk, knowing either of them to be so adulterated; and any person offending against this By-law shall, for every such offence, be liable on conviction to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and shall also be liable to a further penalty, not exceeding five pounds, for every day during which any forbidden article shall be kept on the premises of such person.

No person to keep meat unfit for food.

29. No person shall keep or have in his possession or retain in any building, shop, or other place, exposed for sale, any dead animal, carcass meat, poultry, or fish intended for, but unfit for human food, and every person offending against this By-law, shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds and to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such forbidden thing shall be kept or retained by any such person

Sale or letting of infected premises or goods.

30. If any person shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, any dwelling-house, or part thereof, or premises occupied in connection therewith in the said Municipality, which then is, or shall have been within thirty days prior to the date of such sale or letting, occupied by any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, without giving due notice thereof to the person or persons purchasing, renting, or hiring any such house, or premises, the person so selling, letting, or causing to be sold or let, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds. And any person who shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, in the said Municipality any article of furniture, bedding, household or personal effects, knowing the same to have been within three months prior to the date of such sale or letting used by any person or persons suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Exposing infected articles.

31. Any person who shall expose or cause to be exposed in any road, street, public place, or unclosed land adjacent to any dwelling, road, street, or public place, any article whatsoever, knowing the same to have been in the use or occupation of any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease within thirty days prior to the date of such exposure as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Regulations of traffic in streets.

32. No person driving or riding within the Municipality shall allow his horse or horses to go out of a walking pace whilst turning any of the street corners, nor whilst passing over crossings at the intersections of streets, nor whilst passing to and from any entrance to premises intersecting the foot-paths, nor propel any bicycle or tricycle or other wheeling vehicle over any crossing or intersection of streets within the said Municipality at a pace faster than a walk.

33. All persons conducting, or taking horses along any street, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, shall keep them secured by means of a halter or bridle, and shall lead them, and no person shall run or drive, or cause to be run or driven, any horse or horses loose through any such street thoroughfare, or public place as aforesaid, nevertheless that horses being taken to the Public Pound and afterwards impounded therein, or mobs of horses being driven to or from market, shall not be within the meaning of this By-law.

34. No driver of any vehicle shall be or remain at such a distance from his vehicle, anywhere within the said Municipality so as not to have immediate and full control over the same, unless he shall have previously locked the wheels thereof. Every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Slop, night-soil, &c., to be conveyed away only at certain hours.

35. Any person or persons who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any cart or other carriage with night-soil or ammoniacal liquor therein, through or in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, between the hours of five o'clock in the morning and ten o'clock at night; or shall fill any cart or other carriage so as to turn over and cast any night-soil ammoniacal matter, slop, mire, or channel dirt or filth, in or upon such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or shall deposit night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter nearer to any street, road, or dwelling-house, than shall be directed by the said Council or by the Inspector of Nuisances; or shall remove night-soil or other offensive matter, otherwise than in properly covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles; or shall cause any vehicle used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any such road, passage, thoroughfare, public place, or dwelling-house, than shall be directed by the said Council or the said Inspector of Nuisances, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds; and in case the person so offending shall not be known to the said Council or Inspector, then the owner of such cart or carriage in which such night-soil or other offensive matter shall be put or placed, and also the employer of the person so offending, shall be liable to and forfeit and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

Riding on drays, careless driving, &c.

36. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse and driven or guided with reins only excepted); or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it is passing upon such street, road, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or any other carriage whatsoever meeting any other carriage shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray or coach or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street; or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Lights to carriages, &c.

37. The driver of any carriage, buggy, waggon, wain, cart, dray, bicycle, tricycle or other wheeled vehicle, when driving the same in or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, between the hours of sunset and sunrise, shall provide such carriage, buggy, waggon, wain, cart, dray, bicycle, tricycle, or other wheeled vehicle, with a lamp on each side of the same, outside, and shall keep such lamps lighted: and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall for every offence forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Riding or driving furiously.

38. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, so negligently, carelessly, or furiously as to create alarm, or so as that the safety of any other person or of any property shall or may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Damage to kerb-stones, gullies, &c.

39. No driver or carter or other person shall wilfully or negligently do or suffer, or cause to be done, any damage or injury to any culvert, kerb-stone, gutter, or pathway in any street or roadway in the Municipality aforesaid; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall for every offence forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings over and above the damage done.

Loitering in the streets, &c.

40. Any person loitering or standing on the footway or carriage-way of any road, street, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, so neglecting or refusing without reasonable cause or excuse to move on after having been requested so to do by any constable or other police officer, or any officer duly authorized by the Council of the said Municipality in that behalf, shall on conviction forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

Blasting Rock.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

41. Any person or persons who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or dwelling-house in the Municipality, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person or persons shall blast or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him or them by the said Council Clerk, he, she, or they shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Public Property.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

42. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, be liable to forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

43. Any person who shall damage any public building, gate, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, water-course, or other public property within the Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if such damage be wilfully done, shall be liable to forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

44. If any person or persons shall paste, or cause to be pasted, or otherwise affix any placard or other paper or chalk or paint upon any wall, house, fence, culvert, kerb-stone, pathway, hand-rail, or other property of the Council, or in any other manner deface the same without authority of the Council, he or they shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such separate offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

45. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood growing in or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, reserve, park, or public place under the management of the Council, shall be liable to forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Extirpation of noxious weeds.

46. Any owner or occupier of any premises or land within the Municipality who shall permit to grow on the premises or land, or place upon the public streets or roads, weeds known as Bathurst burr, Scotch thistle, prickly pear, sweet-briar, or any noxious weed, and who shall fail to extirpate or destroy the same within thirty days after the receipt of a notice in writing, by post or otherwise, from the Council, or proper officer of the Council, so to do, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Obstructing public pathways.

47. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or other public place within the Municipality, shall permit any shrub or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any foot-path, footway, or carriage-way on the side of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or other public place, so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and shall not, on demand made by the Council or their Inspector, Overseer, or other officer duly authorized on that behalf, cut or cause to be cut, or lop or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, to the height of eight feet at the least, the Council and their servants, labourers, and workmen may cut, lop, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and may remove or burn, or cause to be removed or burnt, any portion of such trees so cut and lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," every such person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Injuring public fountains, &c.

48. Any person who shall injure any public fountain, pump, cock, water-pipe, or any other thing connected with the preservation or supply of water to the Municipality, or to any portion thereof, shall forfeit and pay the amount of such damage, and any further sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public water-courses, &c.

49. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning into any public water-course, sewer, water-hole, river, creek, road, or pathway; or who shall suffer any slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such water-course, water-hole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the foot-ways, water-tables, or streets of the Municipality; or shall permit or cause, by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances any such suds or filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public water-course, water-hole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or water-course, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds, and shall pay cost of restoring such obstructed or diverted water-course, creek, or canal.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

50. If any animal shall die in any part of the Municipality, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the said Municipality, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals on private premises.

51. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the Council of the Municipality, may at any hour in the day-time enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipality where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and, if necessary, to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose; and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding thirty pounds nor less than three pounds.

Dead animals, in certain cases, to be removed at cost of Owner.

52. If any animal shall die in any public street or place within the Municipality, it shall be immediately removed by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in the manner aforesaid, at the cost of the owner.

Hog-sties to be forty yards from streets, and animals suffered to stray, &c.

53. Any person who shall keep, breed, or feed any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other place, situated and being within forty yards of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, park, reserve, or public place in the Municipality or nearest dwelling-house, or shall suffer any kind of swine or any horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or any other animal of a like nature or any poultry belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, lane, park, reserve, thoroughfare, or public place, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings for each and every animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid; and the owner or occupier of any house or premises, or other place within the said Municipality, wherein any such swine, horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or other animal is kept, fed, milked, or used in any way whatsoever, shall, within the meaning of these By-laws, be deemed the owner of such animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid; and the words "any house," "building," "yard," "garden," or "other place," wherein any kind of swine shall be bred or kept as aforesaid, shall respectively be deemed hog-sties within the meaning of these By-laws; and the word "horses" shall be sufficient designation for any entires, geldings, mares, or foals, and the word "cattle" for any bulls, oxen, cows, or calves, when more than one is the subject of any information and summons under the provisions of these By-laws.

Stables, cow-sheds, and pig-sties.

54. The occupier of any land or premises within this Municipality on which there shall be erected any stable, cow-yard, fowl-house, cattle-shed, or pig-sty, shall cause such premises to be kept in such a state in respect to cleanliness as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and shall cause all dung, soil, or manure, produced or accumulated thereon to be collected in a place (to be approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances) in the yard of such premises, and there to be in an offensive condition, and so as not to be productive of any nuisance; and shall cause such dung, soil, or other manure, to be from time to time removed from such premises, as often as the quantity so collected shall amount to one cubic yard. And if at any time the owner or occupier of any such premises shall neglect or fail to have such dung, soil, or other manure removed therefrom, as aforesaid, the same shall be removed by the Inspector of Nuisances, at the expense of such occupier. For an offence against this By-law any person shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Premises in state to endanger public health.

Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

55. If upon the certificate of any two duly qualified medical practitioners it appears to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in a filthy or unwholesome condition, that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same as the case may require; and if the person to whom such notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

As to private avenues, or dirty or unwholesome premises.

56. Any owner or occupier of any house, building, yard, garden, premises, or other place within the Municipality who shall neglect to keep clean any private avenues, passages, yards, thoroughfares, and ways within the said premises so occupied, or belonging to him, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence,

Cleansing butcher shambles, slaughter-houses, &c.

57. For preserving the cleanliness of the Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he, they, or any of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments, manufactory, factory, or establishments in the Municipality, and give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries and establishments, both within and without, as to him, them, or any of them shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, or establishment who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises, &c.

58. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer appointed by the said Council shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council as aforesaid, shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment, or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter to remain and be in any cellar or place within any dwelling house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy or cesspool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

59. Every person who, in any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, park, reserve, or other public place or passage, within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers in or through the Municipality, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist, or cause to be hoisted, or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare or public place, and close to the footway thereof without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, the carcass or any part of the carcass of any newly-slaughtered animal, without a sufficient clean and proper cloth covering the same, for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Throwing filth, &c., on footways, &c.—Killing animals.

- (3.) Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, slops, suds, or filth, or annoyance, or any matter or thing, into any public water-course, sewer, or canal, or in or upon the carriage-way, footway, or water-table of any street, lane, or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill any beast swine, calf, sheep, lamb or other animal for the purpose of sale, upon any premises, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a fine not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, and shall, in addition to any such forfeiture, pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction.
- (4.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole, across any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare or public place within the Municipality, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub to overhang the foot-path, to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (5.) Every person who shall haul, place, or cause to be hauled or placed, any boat, gear, or spars, upon any of the reserves within the Municipality aforesaid, and refusing to remove the same when lawfully requested so to do.
- (6.) Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window, near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (7.) Every person who shall place, hang up, or affix any sign-post, board, house-ticket, notice, or other similar thing otherwise than close and parallel to or flat upon the wall of the house, shop, or building to which the same belong.

(8.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure when any house or buildings are being erected, pulled down, or repaired).

(9.) No person shall deposit, or cause or suffer to be deposited, in or by the side of or on any road, street, right-of-way, lane, passage, water-channel or gutter, or in any creek or in any other public place within the Municipality, any dust, mud, ashes, rubbish, filth, offal, manure, liquid manure, dung, or soil; and no person shall deposit or cause or suffer to be deposited, any night-soil or other offensive matter on any land, field, or garden, within the Municipality.

(10.) Every person who shall carry goods on any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the footway of any street, road, lane, or other public footway.

(11.) Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb or any person who may have the right of way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

Passengers, &c., not to be interrupted by dusting.

(12.) Between the hours of eight o'clock in the morning and seven o'clock in the evening of any day, no person shall cause interruption, annoyance, or inconvenience to passengers along the streets or footpaths of the said Municipality, by raising, or discharging, dust upon or across any such street or foot-path, whether from buildings in process of erection or demolition, or otherwise howsoever.

(13.) Any person who, being the owner or person in charge of any pigeons or other birds, shall permit any such bird to be at large within the Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings, and any person duly authorized by the Council may destroy such bird without being responsible to any person claiming the ownership of such bird.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

60. Any person who shall, except in proper costume, bathe near or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public wharf, quay, bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

61. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, or in the view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

PART V.

Noisome and Offensive Trades.

Complaint—Inquire and report—Order of Council thereon—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

1. Upon the complaint in writing, by any householder, that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property as to injure his or her health, or the health of his or her family, or to otherwise annoy, injure, or be a nuisance to such householder and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a noisome or offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipality. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds, and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when noisome and offensive trade is about to be commenced.—Penalty.

2. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacturer trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measure as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming noisome or offensive within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the Municipality. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notice—Liabilities.

3. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

PART VI.

Public Exhibitions, &c.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition, other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14th Victoria No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the Municipality, nor shall any bowling-alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or place for temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, be used as such, for hire or profit within the Municipality, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

Temporary license by Mayor—Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid (other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act), and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week, and in like manner to allow any place within the Municipality to be used for purposes of public amusement other than entertainments requiring to be licensed as aforesaid for not more than one week; Provided that it shall be incumbent upon such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting such permission, and to refuse such permission if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Municipality. Every person holding or keeping such exhibition, or using any place within the Municipality for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting such place to be used, without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept, or such place shall be used for public amusement as aforesaid.

Public buildings, &c., to be registered.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier. And every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land, who permits any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for a longer period than one week, in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration as hereinafter mentioned having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Certificates of registration, &c.

4. The Council, upon the written application of any such occupier as aforesaid, stating the particulars aforesaid, and if upon inspection by the proper officer, the building or land shall have been found to be secure and proper for the purpose stated, and if the proposed exhibition or amusement shall not be such as to require a license from the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, and shall not be thought likely to entail any violation of public decency, or to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitants of the said Municipality, the said Council shall cause the aforesaid premises to be registered in a registry book to be kept for that purpose, and shall thereupon grant to the applicant a certificate of such registration of such premises. And the said Council may at any time, and for any of the causes hereafter mentioned, suspend for a stated period the effect of or cause of any such registration, and shall forthwith give notice of such suspension or cancellation to the occupier of the registered building or land: and during such suspension, or after such cancellation, such premises shall be deemed to be unregistered in respect of the purpose mentioned in the certificate of registration, and such certificate shall be of no force or virtue.

Inspection.

5. The proper officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf may at all reasonable times enter into or upon and inspect any such registered building or land.

No exhibition, &c., on Sundays, &c.

6. No such exhibition or place of public amusement, as aforesaid shall be held, except by permission of the Council, or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusements on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Registration fee.—Time for which registration shall be in force.

7. For every such registration as aforesaid the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Municipality, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing and no longer.

Certificate of registration to operate as license for exhibition, &c., named therein and no other.

8. The certificate of registration aforesaid shall be regarded as a license from the Council for the holding or keeping of the exhibition, or for carrying on the public amusements therein mentioned, but for none other. Any occupier of such building or land who shall hold or keep therein or thereon any exhibition, or shall use such building or land for any public amusements other than such exhibition or amusements mentioned in such certificate or license, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Unlawful games and exhibitions.

9. No license shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any game with dice, or other games of chance for money, or any bull-baiting, dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace, are proposed to be had or carried on; and the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid who shall permit any such game of chance or exhibition or amusement as are in the section before mentioned, to be had, held, or carried on in or upon such building, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Suspension or revocation of license—Notice to be given, and license to be allowed to show cause.

10. The effect of any such registration as aforesaid may be suspended, or such registration may be cancelled, as the Council shall think fit, for any of the following causes, namely: Whenever the occupier of the registered building or land, or the manager of any such exhibition or amusement as aforesaid, held, kept, conducted, or carried on, in, or upon such building or ground shall have been twice convicted of offences against these By-laws within a period of twelve months; or whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the said Council that the superintendent, director, or manager, or other person in charge of any such exhibition or amusement is a confirmed drunkard, or that such exhibition or amusement is being conducted in such a manner as to violate public decency, to endanger the public peace, or become a nuisance to any inhabitants of the Municipality: Provided that before any such suspension or cancellation as aforesaid, the occupier of such registered building or land shall have notice of the fact, the said Council is about to consider whether there shall be any such suspension or cancellation, and of the causes of this proceeding, and shall be allowed to show cause against such suspension or cancellation before the same shall be ordered.

Construction of term "occupier"—Change in occupancy—False statement.

11. Any person who shall superintend, direct, or manage, or shall be otherwise in charge of any such exhibition or public amusement as aforesaid, in or upon any such building or land as aforesaid; or who shall reside in or upon any such building or land wherein or whereon any such exhibition or public amusement shall be held, kept, or carried on; or who, being the owner, lessee, or tenant of any such building or land, shall permit the same to be used for the purposes of any such exhibition or public amusement, shall be deemed the occupier of such building or land for all the purposes of these By-laws. And the said By-laws shall be held to be as applicable in every case to any number of such occupiers as to any single occupier; and every other occupier whose name shall have been so registered as aforesaid shall be deemed and taken to be, and continue to be, such occupier for all these purposes of these By-laws: Provided that in the event of any change in the occupancy of any such building or ground as aforesaid it shall be competent for the parties concerned to notify the same, by writing under their hands, to the said Council Clerk, who shall lay such notification before the Council at its next meeting; and if, after such inquiry as such Council may deem necessary, there shall seem to be no valid objection to such change of occupancy, a corresponding entry shall be made in the registry aforesaid, and a new certificate shall be issued, which shall be in force until the then next ensuing 31st day of December, and no longer. And for every such new certificate a fee of five shillings shall be paid to the said Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Municipality. And any person who shall make any false statement in any such application or notice as aforesaid as to any of the facts or particulars required by these By-laws to be stated in such application or notice, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

PART VII.

Water Supply.

Polluting water, reservoirs, &c.

1. Whosoever shall bathe in any stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to or under the management or control of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, throw, or cause to enter therein, any animal whether alive or dead, or any rubbish, filth, stuff, or thing of any kind whatsoever; or shall cause or permit, or suffer to be run or to be brought therein, the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine, or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome, or improper water; or shall wash any clothes at any public fountain or pump, or in or at any such stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks as aforesaid; or shall do anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterwork belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, shall be fouled, obstructed, or damaged, shall for the first offence be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than ten pounds, and for the third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than ten pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Wilful waste of water.

2. Whosoever being supplied with water by the Council from any waterworks, fountain, reservoir, or standpipe of or belonging to, or under the control or management of the said Council, or having access to any such waterworks, fountain, or reservoir, for the taking of water therefrom, shall wilfully or negligently suffer any water to run to waste from any pipe, pump, or conduit, from or by which he shall be so supplied, or to which he shall have such access, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not exceeding five pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than forty pounds.

Damming up water without consent.

3. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment, or allow any accumulation of drift or silt to accumulate in or across any river, creek, or natural water-course, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if after such second conviction such person shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time, he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if within a reasonable time after a third or any further conviction he shall still fail to remove such dam or embankment he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Diverting water from reservoirs of Council in certain cases.

4. In any case in which the Council shall have the exclusive right of collecting for the supply of any reservoir or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, the storm-water having fallen on any gathering ground, whosoever shall, by any means whatsoever, divert any such water from the course of its natural flow, so that the same shall tend to flow elsewhere than to such reservoir or waterworks or some water-course leading thereto, or shall flow to the same respectively in a foul state, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than two pounds nor more than forty pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

PART VIII.

Sewerage and drainage.

No private sewers to be made to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

1. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council, or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council may make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains, sewers, or channels, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the said public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith, without such notice, or otherwise than as aforesaid every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and cleanse same.

2. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired and cleansed according to the direction of the Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Disposal of sewage, &c.

3. The Council shall have power from time to time to enforce the adoption or alteration of any system, which to them may appear necessary, for the better regulation, disposal, or treatment of night-soil, sewerage or other drainage, and may suspend the use or further extension of any system which to them may seem detrimental to public health. Any person refusing to comply with any requisition made under this By-law after receiving notice from the Council or an officer under them, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound for each offence.

PART X.

By-laws for the Municipality of Manly, for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

1. No cesspit, closet, or pit to contain faecal matter, shall be allowed to be made. Every person about to erect an earth-closet shall, before he commences any such work, give to the Council Clerk seven days' notice, in writing, of his intention, and of the proposed position of such earth-closet; or in default thereof, or in the case of his commencing such work without such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

2. No earth-closet shall be erected except in such position as shall be approved by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council, or shall be approved by the Council; and any person being guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

3. Every earth-closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened from the inside, and shall be ventilated; and every person having or building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

4. Every earth-closet already built, or hereafter to be built, shall be provided with a galvanized-iron pail, capable of containing not less than six gallons, and having handles attached to two sides thereof, and also with a box or compartment containing dry earth or ashes, and provided with a pint scoop, to enable any person using the closet to throw a pint of dry earth or ashes through the seat into the galvanized-iron pail.

5. The owner of every house let to a tenant for a shorter term than one year, or his agent employed to let the house, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds, for neglecting or refusing to supply the articles mentioned in section 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws.

6. When two or more closets adjoin each other there shall be a sufficient dividing brick or stone wall not less than 9 inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the closet through the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and every person having or building closets adjoining each other contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

7. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement; and a breach of this By-law shall make persons using a joint closet liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Number of closets for factories or where numbers of persons are employed.

8. In factories or other places where a number of persons shall ordinarily reside or be occupied or employed therein, one earth-closet shall be provided for every ten persons or under, and separate closets at the same rates shall be provided for either sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of any such factory or other place, and every other person who shall offend against this By-law or fail to provide the required number of earth-closets as stated in this By-law, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

9. Every closet shall be built in such a position that the same may be emptied without the contents being carried through any dwelling-house; and every person having or building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

10. If any alteration shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances, or any officer appointed by the Council in that behalf, for preserving the public health or decency in the case of any existing closet, and the Council shall adjudge such closet to be either injurious to health, or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, the same shall be altered by such Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer, and the cost of such alterations shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises whereon the same shall be.

11. All night-soil shall be removed by the contractor to the Council in carts to be constructed in an approved and water-tight manner to the satisfaction of the Council, and between the hours of 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. The contractor shall convey the same without delay to an appointed depot, and shall dispose of the same by burying in the earth to a depth of two feet from the top of the night-soil, and covering with earth, so as to prevent any nuisance. And any contractor neglecting to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds and not less than ten pounds for every such offence.

12. The place of deposit shall be in such locality as may be from time to time determined upon by the Council with approval of Governor.

13. Until otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil from existing closets shall be removed from cess-pits by contract, in water-tight covered vehicles, between the hours of 11 o'clock in the evening and 5 o'clock in the morning.

14. Until, and unless otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth.

15. In case the Council shall sell or give away any night-soil, the same shall be removed in the same manner as above provided; and on being removed from the vehicles in which it is carried, shall be deodorized by chemicals, or in some other manner, or covered with earth, so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom. Any person guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be punishable by a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

16. When any new building is about to be erected, the builder thereof shall first erect and fence off with a close paling fence five feet high on the premises a temporary closet, not less than three feet by two feet six inches, for the use of the workmen employed on such building; and any person neglecting to conform to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and not less than two pounds.

17. All earth closets shall be emptied once in seven days, or oftener, and the contents buried in the earth; and every person infringing this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than two pounds.

18. No person shall be at liberty, without the permission of the Council, to use on his own premises any night-soil, and in the event of his so doing, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

19. The Council may recover such sums for the emptying of any closet as may be decided upon from time to time by resolution of the Council.

20. On and after the first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, no persons shall be permitted to have in their premises an open closet or cesspit for the deposit of faecal matter, and any person or persons allowing any such closet or cesspit to remain after receiving seven days' notice to remove the same, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and after such conviction, if not removed within a further period of seven days, shall forfeit a further sum not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds for every day that the same shall remain unaltered or unremoved.

21. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council, may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the "Nuisances Prevention Act 1875," therein, on all days except Sundays and public holidays, between the hours of 10 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the evening.

MANLY MUNICIPAL BATHS.

By-laws to regulate Bathing in the Public Baths in the Municipal District of Manly.

WHEREAS it is necessary for the good rule and government of the Municipal District of Manly that provision should be made for regulating bathing and the conduct of persons using the public baths, and known respectively as the Manly Municipal Baths in the Municipal District of Manly: It is therefore hereby ordered by the Mayor, Aldermen, and residents of the Municipal District of Manly, in pursuance of the power and authority in them in that behalf vested, that the following By-laws shall be and the same are hereby passed:—

1. No public bath in the Municipal District of Manly shall be opened or kept open for the use of bathers, except between the hours of 4 in the morning and 9 o'clock in the evening, on week days; nor on Sundays except between the hours of 4 o'clock in the morning and noon, unless by permission of the Council.

2. No person using or visiting any public baths in the Municipal District of Manly shall misconduct himself in any way therein, nor make use of any indecent, obscene, or offensive language, nor be guilty of any disorderly conduct therein.

3. No person shall, when in a state of intoxication, enter or remain upon any public bath within the said Municipal District of Manly, nor be guilty of any disorderly conduct therein.

4. No person visiting or using any public bath within the said Municipal District of Manly shall take with him or allow to remain therein any dog.

5. No person shall bathe in or use any public bath within the said Municipal District of Manly without paying the fee demandable from such person, and shall use a proper bathing costume.

6. The Manly Public Baths may be leased annually or for a term of years.

7. The purchaser of every such lease shall within seven days from the date of purchase, and from time to time thereafter, pay into the funds of the Council or their agent the amount of the purchase-money or rent for six months in advance, and shall also execute the lease when called upon.

8. Such lessee shall also within the time specified in the above clause, provide two sureties who shall execute a bond to the Council in a penal sum to be fixed by the Council for the faithful discharge of all the covenants of the said lease, and all the expenses in connection with such bond and lease shall be paid by the said lessee.

9. The lessee shall from the date of his lease be entitled to receive and collect all fees and dues sanctioned by these By-laws, as in Schedule "A" hereunto annexed, and shall not demand or receive any other fee than those therein specified.

10. The lessee shall provide and have placed at convenient places at the baths, at least two life-buoys, and ropes for the same, and keep the same constantly ready and fit for use.

11. The lessee shall cause to be affixed near the said baths a notice board setting forth in plain letters the name of the baths and the lessee, the scale of charges, and a table of the hours when the baths are open to the public.

12. The lessee shall be responsible for the maintenance of good order of persons using the baths, and shall remove therefrom any person causing a disturbance, riot, or being guilty of cursing or swearing, or behaving in an indecent manner.

13. Every person guilty of a breach of these By-laws shall be deemed guilty of an offence, and shall be liable to a fine of not less than one shilling nor more than ten pounds, to be recovered before any Court of Petty Sessions.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT OF 1867, AND NUISANCES
PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF HILLSTON—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Acts 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 158, and 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 4th February, 1890.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF HILLSTON.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Hillston, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," respectively, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

By-laws of the Hillston Municipality.

THE following By-laws, made by the Municipal Council of Hillston, for regulating the proceedings of the Council; and the duties of the officers and the servants of such Council; for preserving order at meetings of said Council; for determining the times and modes of collecting and enforcing payment of rates; for suppression of nuisances; for preventing or regulating and licensing exhibitions held or kept for hire or profit, bowling or skittle-alleys, and other places of amusement; compelling residents to keep their premises free from offensive or unwholesome matter, the killing of cattle and sale of butcher's meat, opening new public roads, streets, ways, and reserves; for protection of public fountains and water-courses; aligning and cleansing roads and streets; for regulating the supply and distribution of water, sewerage, and drainage; for preserving trees, shrubs, and other public property, to extirpate weeds; for preventing or regulating the bathing or washing the person in any public water near a public thoroughfare; for preserving public decency; for providing for the health of the Municipality, and for the prevention of contagious or infectious diseases; for restraining noisome trades; and generally for maintaining the good rule and government of the said Municipality.

PART I.

Meetings of the Council.

Ordinary Meetings.

1. The Council shall meet for the despatch of business at the hour of 7.30 p.m. every alternate Wednesday, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor or the Council may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.

Adjournment for want of a quorum.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent, at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting, to give place to the Mayor if he should arrive at any later hour during the meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down and shall be recorded in the minute book.

Order of Business.

Business of ordinary meetings.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected, if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes except as to whether they are correct.
2. Correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
3. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
4. Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon.
5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council or any of its Committees or officers to be made.
6. Motions of which notices have been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business-paper.
7. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business-paper, but it shall be competent to the Council at any time, by resolution without notice to entertain any particular motion or to deal with any particular matter of business out of its regular order on the business-paper, or without any formal suspension of this section; also in like manner to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business of special meetings.

4. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or the Aldermen, at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Business-paper for ordinary meetings.

5. The business-paper for every meeting of the Council, other than a special meeting, shall be made up by the Town Clerk or other person acting as his substitute not less than forty-eight hours, and not more than three days before the day appointed for such meeting; he shall enter upon such business-paper a copy or the substance of every notice of motion, and of every requisition or order as to the business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter in due course of law and as hereinafter provided; every such entry shall be made subject to provisions of section 3 of this Part of these By-laws in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction shall have been received.

Business-paper for special meetings.

6. The business-paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Aldermen calling such meeting.

Summons to members.

7. The summons to members of the Council of every meeting thereof, shall be prepared from the business-paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business-paper.

How business-paper is to be disposed of.

8. The business-paper for each meeting of the Council, shall at such meeting be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall cause a note to be made upon such business-paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with, and such business-paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

All notices of motion to be numbered.

9. All notices of motion and all requisitions from Aldermen, and directions from the Mayor, as to the entry of any particular matter of business for the consideration of the Council, at its then next or any further meeting, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received; and each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the minute-book of the manner in which such matter has been so disposed of shall have been duly verified, as required by section 3 of this Part of these By-laws; provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk, shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business-paper.

After business-paper made up all notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

10. After the business-paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all the said notices of motion, requisitions, and directions, as to which entries have been made thereon, shall be property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered or amended without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions and amendments—motions, how to be moved.

11. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business-paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from such business-paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Absence of proposed mover.

12. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper shall, except as hereinafter provided, be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

13. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

14. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded any alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

15. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

16. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amended question—further amendment may be moved thereon.

17. If any amendment be carried, the question as amended thereby, shall itself become the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

18. If any amendment either upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on; provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereon shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

19. No discussion shall be permitted on any motion for adjournment of the Council, and if, upon the question being put on any such motion, the same being negatived, the subject then under consideration, or the next in order on the business or any other on such paper, they may be allowed precedence, shall be discussed before any subsequent motion for adjournment shall be receivable.

Requisitions from Aldermen, how to be dealt with.

20. Every requisition by an Alderman that any particular matter of business be brought before the Council shall be regarded and treated as a notice of motion by such Alderman that such business be taken into consideration by the Council, and he shall be called upon in due order to move that such business be so considered, or to make any other motion which he may think fit in reference thereto, which shall be consistent with the notice of such business and with good order, and if such Alderman be absent, or if being present and so called upon, he shall make no such motion, then it shall be open for any other Alderman to make such motion; and when any such motion shall have been made it shall be dealt with in precisely the same manner as if notice thereof had been given subject, however, to any objection which may exist as to its not being in accordance with the notice actually given of such business or with good order. And if no motion shall be made in reference to such business, the entry relating thereto shall be struck from the business-paper.

Orders of day, of what they shall consist.

21. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or which the Mayor or any Committee shall have directed to be entered on the business-paper for consideration.

How they are to be dealt with.

22. Section 20 of this Part of these By-laws shall be considered applicable to orders of the day, and the Alderman who has the usual charge of, or who has previously moved in reference to the particular business to which any such order of the day relates, shall be the person called upon to move; provided that as to any order of the day entered as aforesaid by direction of the Mayor, or chairman, such Mayor may arrange with any Alderman to move, and may in such case call upon the Alderman with whom he has so arranged.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

23. It shall be incumbent upon every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council; the nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions how received.

24. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

How petitions are to be dealt with.

25. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition except that the same be received, or that it be received and referred to one of the Permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned, or that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting; provided however that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable be considered in order.

Correspondence.Duty of Mayor as to correspondence.

26. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by section 23 of this part of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions; the Mayor shall direct as to order in which all correspondence shall be read and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the mayor be absent and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid then the duties imposed by the section shall devolve upon the presiding Aldermen.

Section 25 to apply to letters

27. Section 25 of this part of these By-laws shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council as to petition.

Letters sent not to be discussed, but every letter may be subject of motion

28. No discussion shall be permitted in reference to any letters which may have been written and sent by the Mayor or by any officer of the Council, and copies of which may be read to such Council. Provided however that any matter of motion consistent with good order may be entertained with reference to any such letters whether read or not or with reference to any letters addressed to the Council which the Mayor or presiding Alderman may not have ordered to be read as aforesaid.

Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor—Form of Report.

29. All reports from Committees shall be written on foolscap paper with a margin of at least one fourth of the width of such paper, and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or in his absence by some other member of the same.

Mayor's minute

30. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance, by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written on paper of the same kind, and with the same margin as a report from a Committee, and shall be signed by such Mayor.

How reports, &c, are to be dealt with —duties of Chairman, &c, in certain cases

31. No motion shall (unless as hereinafter provided) be permissible on the presentation of a report from a Committee, or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, or that it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting; provided, however, that any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may, if otherwise unobjectionable, be moved or considered in due course; and whenever such report or minute embodies any recommendation which cannot legally be carried out without any due notice, and it is nevertheless desirable that such report or minute shall be definitely ordered upon during the meeting of the Council at which report or minute is presented, it shall be the duty of the Chairman or member of such Committee signing such report, or of such Mayor, as the case may be, to give or transmit to the Council Clerk such a notice of motion, requisition, or directions as aforesaid as will enable such Council Clerk to make the necessary entry on the business paper, and to give such due notice.

Questions and Statements.

Limitations as to questions and statements

32. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made when inconsistent with good order or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of section 3 of this part of these By-laws.

Notice to be given

33. Sufficient notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or to documents.

Answer not compulsory

34. It shall not be compulsory upon any person questioned as aforesaid to answer the questions so put to him.

Questions to be put without argument, &c

35. Every such question must be put categorically, without any argument, or statement, or fact.

Similar provision as to statements

36. Every such statement must be made without argument.

No discussion on questions, &c

Rights of objection and of subsequent motion reserved

37. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such questions, or as to any reply, refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement, at the time when such question is put, or such reply, or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, as due notice as hereinbefore provided of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of debate

Mode of addressing the Council, &c

38. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way or for any other purpose address observations to the Council, shall, while so doing, stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from so doing by reason of some bodily infirmity) and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding. Provided that in the case of a question such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case the question so put and the reply thereto shall be subject to every legal objection on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy; and all members of the Council shall on all occasions when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

39. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided; and any Alderman using, whilst in the Council, any offensive or insulting language, the same to be written down, and on being asked to withdraw; and if any Alderman shall refuse to withdraw such language, and apologise, he shall be deemed guilty of misconduct, and be liable to a fine of not less than twenty shillings, nor more than five pounds.

Limitation as to number of speeches, &c

40. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendments moved thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman other than the mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion, and on every amendment thereon, no Alderman shall speak oftener than once upon any question other than a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observations than may be necessary for the purposes of such explanation.

Mover and seconder

41. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon, but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment, without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Speaker not to digress, &c

42. No Alderman shall digress upon the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, or impute improper motives to any other Alderman.

Adjournment of debate

43. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified, and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre audience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to pre audience

44. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the one time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be heard first.

Alderman may require questions to be stated, &c, under certain restrictions

45. Any Alderman may request the question or matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such question or matter which are readily accessible; provided, however, that no such request or requisition shall be so made as to interrupt any other Alderman when speaking, or materially to interrupt the discussion; also, that if any such request or requisition shall appear to the Mayor or Chairman not to have been made bona fide, it shall not be complied with.

Mayor or Chairman not to move or second motion, &c, but may address Council thereon.

46. The Mayor or Chairman shall not move or second any motion or amendment, or put any question, as provided for by section 4 of this part of these By-laws, except as is further provided for by the section 38 of the same; but such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking (unless prevented by some bodily infirmity from so doing), but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order

47. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final, except in so far as the same may be questioned, as in the manner hereinafter provided.

Acts of disorder

48. Every member of the Council who shall commit a breach of any section of this part of these By-laws, or who shall move or attempt to move any motion of amendment embodying any matter as to which the Council has no legal jurisdiction, or who shall in any way raise or attempt any question, or shall address or attempt to address the Council upon any subject which the said Council has no legal right to entertain or to discuss, or who shall use any other language, which, according to the common usage of gentlemen, would be held disorderly, or who shall say or do anything calculated to bring the Council into contempt, shall be out of order.

Mayor, &c., may call member to order.

49. The Mayor or Chairman may without the interposition of any other member of the Council call any Alderman to order whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman, there shall be a necessity for so doing.

Any member may raise question of order.

50. Every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument, or observation, moved, used, or made by any other member, which such first-mentioned member may consider out of order.

Mode of proceeding thereon.

51. A member called to order shall withdraw while the question of order is being discussed and decided upon, unless specially permitted to offer an explanation, retraction, or apology; but on obtaining such special permission, such member may explain, retract, or apologise for the matter or remark alleged to have been out of order; and if such explanation, retraction, or apology, be deemed satisfactory, no further discussion on the question of order shall be permitted. If any member on being called to order, shall ask such permission to explain, retract, or apologise, as aforesaid, the Mayor or Chairman may, of his own authority, grant or refuse such permission as he may think fit, unless any member shall require the sense of the Council to be taken on this question; in such case it shall be the duty of the Mayor or Chairman to take the sense of the Council at once, and without discussion, as to whether such permission shall be granted; and when any such explanation, retraction, or apology is considered sufficient, if such permission be refused, or if such explanation, retraction, or apology be deemed insufficient, the question of order shall be considered and decided before any further business is decided upon: Provided that if such Mayor or Chairman shall have decided the question of order before any member shall have required the sense of the Council to be taken in reference thereto, such question of order shall not be reopened; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the right of such Mayor or Chairman to decide finally, as hereinbefore provided, upon any such point of order after the same shall have been discussed.

Decision on points of order.

52. The Mayor or Chairman, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provision, rule, or practice, which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting upon the same.

Motions out of order to be rejected, members to explain, retract, or apologize, &c.

53. Whenever it shall have been decided as aforesaid that any motion, amendment, or other matter before the Council is out of order, the same shall be directed; and whenever anything said or done in Council by any Alderman, shall be similarly decided to be out of order, such Alderman shall be called upon by the Mayor or Chairman to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as the case may require.

Penalties for persisting in disorderly conduct.

54. Any member of the Council who shall have been called to order, and who after having been twice directed to withdraw as aforesaid, shall refuse to do so, or who shall persist in any line of conduct or argument, or of observations which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, or who shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as aforesaid when required to do so, or who shall be guilty of any other act of disorder as defined in section 48 of this part of these by-laws, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable on conviction of the first offence, to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds; and on a second conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds, and on the third conviction and for every other conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Power of Council as to laying down general rules, &c.

55. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice may, by motion of notice, respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar questions of order or practice which may thereafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding upon all parties unless and until it be rescinded, but shall have no retroactive operation; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to bind any Mayor or Chairman to put any motion to the Council which in his opinion is contrary to law.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

56. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such question thereon, and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion of the majority.

Divisions—Penalty for refusing to vote.

57. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be first put in the affirmative, and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by a show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present when a division is called for shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for and shall not vote on such division (not being disabled by law from so voting) shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

Protests.

Mode of protesting—protest to be recorded, but may under certain circumstances be expunged.

58. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council. Notice in writing of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the minute-book, but if in the opinion of the Council it be inconsistent with the truth or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution on notice) be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with reference in the margin to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Committees of the whole Council.

Rules applicable to business in Committee.

59. The following section of this part of these By-laws shall (except as herein excepted) be taken to apply to the conduct of business in Committee of the whole Council, namely, sections 14 (except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded) 15, 16, 17, 18, 38, 39, 42, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 56, and 57.

Disorderly Conduct in Committees.

Refusal to vote.

60. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order within the meaning of section 54 of this part of these By-laws, it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting and that such matter be reported; and if such motion be carried such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the minute book; and whenever any Alderman shall have refused to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by section 56, of this part of these By-laws, the facts shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the minute-book. Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid no special motion that the Council resume its sitting shall be necessary, but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the whole, in making his report of the proceedings of such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which Alderman has so failed to vote.

Decisions in Council on Points of Order may be reported.

61. Whenever a decision upon any question of order shall have been given by the Chairman of a Committee of the whole Council under the provision of section 47 of this part of these By-laws, any Alderman may move that such decision be embodied in the report to the Council of the proceedings in such Committee, and if such motion be carried such decision shall be so embodied in such report whenever the same shall be made.

How progress may be reported, &c.

62. Any Alderman may at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress, as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on any further day, or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried the Council shall resume its sittings, and a report be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion, and if the same be negatived the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another motion shall be receivable.

Report of proceedings in Committee.—Want of quorum in Committee.

63. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council viva voce by the Chairman of such Committee, and the report of such proceedings shall be made in every case except when it will be found on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Council that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Council shall be considered to have lapsed; provided that in making of any such report as aforesaid it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the results, general effect, or substance of such proceedings.

How reports are to be dealt with.

64. Any such report of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the minute-book, but except as hereinafter mentioned no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption or for the granting of such leave. And every such motion for the adoption of a report or for the granting of such leave as aforesaid, and the order of debate on such motion, shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council and the order of debate on such motions; provided however that where a report shall have been made under section 60 of this part of these By-laws of disorderly conduct in Committee, under section 57 of this part of these By-laws, of failure to vote on division, or of any division in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall, so far as it relates to such facts, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof, and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretext whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How calls may be ordered.

65. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution of which due notice shall have been given for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Such calls compulsory in certain cases.

66. There shall, without any special order to that effect, be a call of the Council for the consideration of every motion which may be made under section 55 of this part of these By-laws and of every motion for the rescission of any resolution, order, or decision of such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

67. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered or is required to be made by the last preceding section shall be moved or considered. Such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all the members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name as so called, and if any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such member shall have been previously granted, or if such an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record of such excuse shall be made and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.—Further call when question adjourned.

68. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, being absent, shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent and not so excused shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness or any other sufficient reason, he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than one pound: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day, there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration, and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call; and if there shall be more than one adjournment, this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committee.

69. There shall be three Standing Committees, namely: a By-law Committee, a Committee for Works, and a Finance Committee. These Committees shall be reappointed every year at the first meeting of the Council, which shall be holden after the election of Mayor.

70. Each Standing Committee shall consist of three members.

Mode of reappointment of the three Standing Committees.

71. The reappointment of the three Standing Committees may, on resolution of the Council, be made by ballot. In such case a list or lists of the members shall be handed to each then present, who shall mark against the name of each such member the title of the Committee to which, in his opinion, such member ought to belong; and the Mayor or Chairman shall thereupon examine such lists so marked, and shall declare the result; and if there shall be an equal number of votes for the appointment of any two or more members to any one of such committees, such Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such members shall be appointed.

By-law Committee.

72. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Municipality. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws and of any statute of which the operation has been or may be extended to the Municipality; and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention or punishment of offences against such By-laws or Statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order, and decency.

Committee of Works.

73. The Committee of Works shall have the general directions of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other public places under the control and management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements and repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

74. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect, or be likely to affect the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Special Committees.

75. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duties which may be lawfully entrusted to a committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a Special Committee ought to be appointed; and no Standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been entrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution after due notice, and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such Special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as in his opinion ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot; and in the latter case, or if an amendment to the effect that such Special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, such members then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom, in his opinion, such Special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such list and shall declare the result; and in the event of its becoming necessary, through an equality of votes, to decide as to which of two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

76. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, within seven days after their appointment.

Term of service in Committee.

77. Appointments to the By-law Committee, the Committee of Works, and the Finance Committee shall be for the whole municipal year; the Chairman of these three Committees, as appointed to or removed from the chairmanship of the same, shall be thereby, and without any further order, regarded as having been appointed to or removed from the Committee for general purposes. The appointment of every special committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which Committee has been appointed shall have been fully performed; provided however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to effect in any way the right of such Committee, to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another such Chairman in his stead; or to militate against the general provisions as to Committee in sections 109 and 110 of the Municipalities Act of 1867; and that so much of this By-law as relates to the appointment, powers, and duties of Committees shall be read and interpreted in connection with such last-mentioned general provisions.

Committee meeting—how called.

78. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested to do so by the Chairman, or any two members of such Committee.

Records of transactions in Committee.

79. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make or cause to be made in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Expenditure.

Except in urgent matters, cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken

80. With the exception of urgent matters, hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have first been ascertained by the Council.

Urgent matters and necessary current expenses—Expenses authorized to be reported—outlay to be in accordance with orders of the Council

81. For urgent matters and for necessary current expenses, during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

- (1) By order of the Committee for Works, or of the Mayor, and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of £5.
- (2) By order of the Mayor and any two Aldermen, or without the Mayor, of any four Aldermen, for any urgent purpose, to the extent of £5
- (3) By order of the Mayor for necessary current expenses, to the extent of £2.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting, such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works, or the Mayor, or the Mayor and Aldermen, or the Aldermen without the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorized; also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction of functions of the Council; and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council, shall on any pretence be thus authorized.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by the Finance Committee.

82. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order—Certificates to be attached to reports.

83. No payment shall be ordered unless there shall be a certificate or memorandum from the Committee, from the Mayor, or from the officer of the Council to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into; it shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reason of its non-fulfilment before recommending payment; provided also that in cases of special expenditure under section 80 of this part of these By-laws the report directed by that section to be laid before the Council shall, if the outlay shall have been lawfully incurred, be deemed a sufficient certificate; and provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at fixed rates of payment, by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amounts due to any such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for the payment of such amount will be a sufficient authorization for such payment; and such certificates, memoranda, and authorizations shall be attached respectively to the reports from the Finance Committee on the payments or outlays to which such certificates, memoranda, or authorizations have reference.

Common seal and records of Council.Common seal and press, how secured—Care of same

84. The common seal and the press to which the same is attached, shall be secured by a cover or box which, except when such seal and press are in use, shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock of this cover or box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor, and the other by the Council Clerk.

How and when common seal to be used.

85. The common seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order from the Council; in every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How books of accounts are to be kept and inspected

86. The Treasurer shall keep such books of account, and such records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure in such manner and form as the Council may from time to time direct; it shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to inspect all such books of accounts, records, statements, and memoranda from time to time, to ascertain that the same are properly kept, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may have discovered in the keeping of the same; also to report to the Council from time to time any changes which such Committee may think advisable in the mode of keeping the accounts.

Records of the Council defined—Provisions for proper keeping of the same.

87. The minute-book, letter-book, and all rate and assessment books, books of accounts, records, statements, and memoranda of receipt and expenditure, electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, business papers, reports from Committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions, letters, or municipal business addressed to the Council or to the Mayor, or to any officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda relating to municipal business, drawings, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council shall be deemed records of the Council; all such records other than the minute-book and other books, and other than electoral rolls and other records relating to elections shall be numbered, and filed in due order, and shall be duly registered by the Council Clerk, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose. Upon the face of every document thus registered to which there is any reference in the minute-book there shall be a note of the page wherein it is so referred to, and when any order has been made by the Council, or a report has been brought up by any Committee thereof in reference to any document so registered as aforesaid, a note of such order or report shall be made upon the document. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect, or appearance of inefficiency which they may discover in the keeping of such records.

Impression of seal not to be taken, &c., without leave of the Council—Penalties.

88. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to take an impression of the corporate seal, or to show, lay open, or expose any of the books or records of the Council to any person other than a member of the same, without leave from such Council, except as otherwise provided by law. Any member or officer of the Council who shall be guilty of a breach of this section shall be liable on conviction, for the first offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds; for the second offence to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence, to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds.

Records not to be moved, &c.—Penalties—Exceptional circumstances—Receipt to be given in every case before document received—Proviso as to use of records as matters of evidence.

89. Any person removing any such book or other record of the Council as aforesaid from the Council Chamber, or the place where, by direction of the Council, such book or other records is usually kept, without leave for such removal having been first obtained by such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal as hereinafter provided; shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid, and shall not have returned same, to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action at law for detention of same, as the circumstances of the case may warrant: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Town Clerk or the Treasurer by the Mayor, in order that such Clerk or Treasurer may post up entries, prepare returns, or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he or they should perform; also, that the Mayor or Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for such Chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purpose of any prosecution or suit at law, by, against, or at the instance of the Council, but in all cases such Clerk, Treasurer, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for every document so removed, and every such receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the book or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed; and provided also that the Mayor, Town Clerk, or other officer of the Council who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a court of law shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return book or record as speedily as may be, and shall before removing the same leave at the Council Chamber a receipt for such book or other record of the Council as aforesaid, and shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

90. Any person destroying, defacing, or altering any record of the Council shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

Notice to Candidates.

91. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council shall take place until notice shall have been given as hereinafter provided, inviting applications from qualified candidates for the same. The salary or allowance attached to the office shall in every case be fixed before such advertisement is published, and shall be stated in such advertisement.

Mode of appointment.

92. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot in such mode as may at the time be determined upon, whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Exceptional cases.

93. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the employment, as may from time to time be found necessary, and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Municipality.

Bonds of good conduct.

94. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties, shall be deposited with the Attorney or the Bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council or any member of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Town Clerk.

95. The Town Clerk, in addition to the duties which by the "Municipalities Act of 1867," or by the present or any other By-law thereunder he may be required to perform, shall be the clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Municipality under the provisions of the said Municipalities Act; he shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council; he shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may as hereinafter provided, be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records; he shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor; he shall be required to give security in the sum of double the amount of his salary.

Duties of Treasurer.

96. The Treasurer shall have charge of such books of account and other records of the Council as are mentioned in section 86 of these By-laws, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records.

Duties of other officers and servants.

97. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation, other than the Council Clerk and Treasurer, shall be defined by such regulations as may from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made by the Council.

Special power of Mayor.

98. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Council, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is on record as hereinafter provided; or, unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statement, or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded; all such explanation or information may, except as hereinafter provided, be either rendered viva voce, or put into writing, as the Mayor may direct.

How complaints against officers, &c., are to be dealt with.

99. All complaints against officers or servants of the corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining, and no notice whatever will be taken of any complaint which is not in writing or is anonymous; all such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who immediately upon the receipt of such complaint, and without laying the same before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same; and if any such complaint be made to the Council or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to and investigated by the Mayor before it shall be in any way (other than by such reference) ordered upon or dealt with by such Council: Provided that every report, explanation, and information, which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaint shall be in writing, and such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation, and his opinion as to what order (if any) ought to be made in connection therewith; and the

Mayor's statement as aforesaid thereon shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be held after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided further that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the special power conferred on the Mayor by section 152 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or any other special power which now is or hereafter may be conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of absence.

100. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman otherwise than by resolution of the Council, adopted after due notice.

By-laws, draft of, to lie in office seven days, &c.

101. A draft of every intended by-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft is taken into consideration by the Council, and shall be open to the inspection of every ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same; and public notice shall be given as hereinafter provided that such draft is so lying for inspection.

Motions for rescission of previous orders.

102. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negativing such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed by-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council, with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage after due notice as hereinafter provided, and in due course of law of any by-law for the repeal or amendment of any other by-law.

Lapsed business.

103. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present the resumption of such consideration may be ordered by resolution of the Council after due notice, and such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties.

104. Such suits or information for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or of any by-law made thereunder, or of any statute the operation of which may have been extended to the Municipality as may have been directed by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid, shall be so commenced or laid as follows, namely:—When against a member of the Council, or an Auditor, or any officer of the Council, by the Town Clerk, unless he shall be the officer to be proceeded against, and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose, when against any other person, by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or by-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been entrusted; and if there shall be no such officer, then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, as the case may be, on directing such suit or information as aforesaid; and no such suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council or Auditor except by order of such Council, nor shall any similar proceeding be taken against any officer of the Council except by order of such Council or of the Mayor, nor against any other person except upon the order of the Council, or of the Mayor, or of the By-law Committee; and no such suit shall be directed to be brought, nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid, except on express resolution of the Council, in any case where the bringing of such suit or laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction of such Council, or where on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information may on the order of the Council be entrusted to an attorney.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

105. In all cases not herein provided for resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

Power to suspend temporarily any portion of these By-laws.

106. Any of the foregoing By-laws which relate to or affect the proceedings at meetings of the Council may be suspended pro tempore with notice in cases of emergency, if all the members of the Council then present shall deem suspension necessary.

PART II.

Collection and enforcement of rates.

Rates when due and payable.

1. All rates levied and imposed by the Council shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council shall, by resolution, from time to time appoint.

Time and place of payment.

2. All such rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Special Rates.

3. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned in the said sections, shall be collected in such manner and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may by resolution at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Mayor to enforce payment.

4. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to issue distress warrants against all such persons, and to cause such warrants to be enforced, or to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

Bailliff—How appointed.

5. The bailliff of the Municipality shall be appointed by the Council, and may from time to time be removed by the said Council.

Enforcement by distress bailliff.

6. A bailliff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailliff's sureties.

7. The bailliff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of twenty-five pounds each, for the faithful performance of his duties.

Duty of bailliff.

8. It shall be the duty of the bailliff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman who, for the time being, may be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. It shall be lawful for the bailliff or his deputy, and such assistants as he or they may take with them, to enter into any part of the land, building tenement, or other property in respect of which such rate or rates shall have been made as aforesaid, and to distrain therein or thereon, and to remain in such building or other property in charge thereof. And if the sum for which any distress shall have been made or taken, together with the costs of such restraint, shall not have been paid on or before the expiration of three clear days, the bailliff or his deputy may, between the hours of 11 in the morning and 2 in the afternoon on the next day thereafter, cause the goods so distrained or a sufficient portion thereof to be sold by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the Municipality as the bailliff may think proper to remove them for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for and the cost of such distraint, to the owner of such goods so sold on demand by such owner.

Inventory of goods seized to be delivered to ratepayer.

11. At the time of making a distress the bailliff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B, hereto which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owners of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made, and the bailliff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The bailliff on making a distress as aforesaid may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind whatever, in such place or places or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of three days, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct, and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

14. The bailliff shall hand over to the Town Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within twenty-four hours after having received the same.

Bailliff's fees.

15. There shall be payable to the bailliff for the use of the Council for every levy and distress made under this By-law the costs and charges in Schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

PART III.

Preventing and extinguishing Fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &c.

1. Every person who shall place or knowingly permit to be placed in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or other combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger any buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials; and every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for a period of twelve hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Setting fire to matter without notice.

2. Every person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatsoever in the open air, within five yards of any dwelling-house or other building, or boundary, or dividing fence within the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupier of the land adjoining to the land upon which such matter shall be of his intention so to do, or between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Lighting bonfires.

3. Any person who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or firework upon or within sixty yards, or shall discharge any firearms within one hundred yards of any public or private street or any public place, or shall sell gunpowder, squibs, rockets, or other combustible matter by gas, candle, or artificial light, shall forfeit a sum of not exceeding five pounds.

Setting on fire chimney flues.

4. Every person who wilfully sets or causes to be set on fire any chimney flue, smoke vent, or stove pipe, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Chimneys catching fire by neglect.

5. If any chimney accidentally catch or be on fire the person occupying or using any premises in which such chimney is situated, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty pounds. Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be enforced if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Justices before whom the case is heard that such fire was in no way owing to the neglect or carelessness, whether with respect to cleansing such chimney or otherwise, of himself or his servant.

6. Any person throwing hot ashes or live coals nearer to any buildings or fences than 25 feet, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

PART IV.

Streets and Public Places.

Public health and decency, &c.—New roads to be reported on.

1. No new public road, street, way, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the care and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or reserve, shall have been examined by the Committee of Works, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new roads to be delivered to the Council,

2. When any proprietor or proprietors of land within the Municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park, or other place for public use or recreation, through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, reserve, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way reserve, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads.

3. If the Council determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed as aforesaid, shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietors or proprietor aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, reserve or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Committee of Works, and such instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Committee for Works to fix street levels.

4. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the supervision of such committee, shall, subject to such orders as shall from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, fix and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, and ways, within the Municipality, and the carriage and footways thereof, and it shall be the duty of such committee, officer, or person, to place posts at the corners of intersections of any such roads and streets whenever the same may be considered necessary or desirable by the Council: provided that there shall be no change of level in any public road, street, or way, until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter directed.

Change of street levels.

5. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cutting, to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality that such plan is so open for inspection, and no objection thereto shall be entertained by the Council unless made within twenty-one days after such notice shall have been given. At a subsequent meeting of the Council, the said plan and section, if adopted, shall be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk, and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Noxious Weeds.

6. Any person appointed by the Council may enter upon any land within the said Municipality, and for that purpose may break open gates or take down or remove fences to extirpate the weed known as the Bathurst burr. Provided always that if any gate be broken or fences removed, the same shall, immediately after the work then required to be done, be restored to their former condition as nearly as may be, and the expense of extirpating such weeds and restoring such fences may be recovered as an ordinary debt from the owner or occupier of such lands. Any person hindering or obstructing any person so appointed as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of two pounds. All owners or occupiers of property within this Municipality shall remove and burn Bathurst burr upon lands owned, rented, or occupied by them; and any owner, tenant, or occupier neglecting to comply with this By-law after fourteen days' notice from any officer of the said Municipality requiring him to remove and burn such weeds as aforesaid, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound and not exceeding five pounds.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from street without permission.

7. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or any other material, or any road-scrappings or sweepings, in or from any part of the carriage or footways of any street or any other public place within the Municipality without leave first had and obtained for that purpose from the Municipality, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any such carriage or footway, shall, on conviction, pay and forfeit for every such offence, any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and every person who shall have or make any cellar or any opening, door, or window, in or beneath the surface of the footway, or any street or public place within the said Municipality, without the consent of the Council, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay the sum of five pounds, over and above the expenses of filling up, remedying, or removing such cellar, opening, door, or window.

Holes to be enclosed.

8. Any person or persons who shall dig or make or cause to be made or dug any hole, or leave or cause to be left any hole adjoining or near to any street or public place within the said Municipality for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or buildings, or for any other purpose whatever, or shall erect or pull down building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same, and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner to the satisfaction of the Committee of Works of the said Municipality, or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued any such enclosure for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of such Committee, and shall not place lights upon each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same continually burning, from sunset to sunrise, during the continued existence of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than two pounds nor exceeding five pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining footways to be enclosed under a penalty.

9. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, or premises, or land within the said Municipality, having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, water-hole, or excavated space adjoining the footway of any street or public place in such Municipality, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient rails, fences, or other enclosures, to be previously approved of by the Works Committee or any officer whose special duty it shall be to attend to such work, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing, and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, or premises, or land having any steps adjoining the footway of any such street or public place shall in like manner protect and guard the same fences, rails, or other enclosure, so as to prevent the like danger in persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he or she shall be convicted of such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not less than two pounds nor more than five pounds; and every such owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such fences or other enclosures as aforesaid, after fourteen days' notice from the Council or any duly qualified officer, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Penalty for not covering over wells.

10. Every person who shall have a well situated between his or her dwelling house or the appurtenances thereof and any road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Municipality shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person, having such well as aforesaid, shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice shall have been given in writing to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left for any such person at his or her usual or last-known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum of ten shillings, and for every day after such notice that such well should remain so uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereinbefore made and provided, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs.

11. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee or of the Council, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c., &c.

12. Any person who shall haul or draw timber, or cause to be hauled or drawn upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipality any timber, stone, or other thing otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place to the injury thereof, or to hang over any part of any such vehicle or barrow so as to obstruct or occupy the street beyond the breadth of the said vehicle or barrow, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not more than two pounds nor less than five shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving on footpaths and throwing filth thereon.

13. Any person who shall cast, lay, or throw, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animals, blood, or other filth and annoyance, or any matter or thing in or upon the carriageway or footway of any street or public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, or other animal, in or so near to any street or public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or cover or be on any or either of any such carriage or footways, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street or public place any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, handbarrow, or truck, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully drive, ride, or lead any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall, upon conviction thereof, forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound, for each such offence.

Placing goods, carriages, &c., on footways, not removing same when required—replacing same after removal—awnings to be exempted.

14. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall, board, chopping-block, show-board (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel, in or upon or over any carriage or footway in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage, upon any such carriageway except for the necessary time of loading and unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage—or if any person who shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed in or upon or over any such carriage or footway any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other material or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as herein directed), or any such matter or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatever, from any house or other building or premises, or any other matter or thing, from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any other house or other buildings or premises over or next unto any such street or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other proper officer of the Council; or if any person who, having in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, remove, or cause to be removed any such stall board, show-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, meat, offal, or other things or matters whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid) in, upon, or over such carriage or footway, of or next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall, upon conviction for every such offence, forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house, in such manner as that such awning shall be at least 7 feet high above the height of the footway, and that the posts be placed close to the kerbstone or outer edge of such footway, and a plan of such awning submitted to the Council prior to its erection and approved of by such Council or any officer duly appointed for the purpose.

Riding on drays—careless driving, &c.

15. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse or driven or guided with reins only excepted), or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses, or cattle drawing the same, or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, coach, or other carriage whatsoever meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, coach, or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare, or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, every driver or person so offending shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding two pounds.

PART V.

Nuisances.

1. Any person who shall within the boundaries of the Municipality, cast any filth, rubbish, sewerage, water, suds, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent to drown same into the Lachlan River, or any lagoon, billabong, or water-course flowing therein, or who shall suffer slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into such river, lagoon, billabong, or water-course, either by drains, pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, shall forfeit for the first offence any sum not exceeding twenty-five pounds nor less than five pounds, and for a second offence any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

2. If any animal shall die in any part of the said Municipality, and the owner of such animal or occupier of the place, if private property where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the Municipality, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

Dead animals, or bogged animals in Lachlan River.

3. If any horse, bull, cow, bullock, sheep, goat, pig, or other animal become bogged or drowned in the Lachlan River, or any water-course flowing therein within the Municipality, the owner or person in charge of such animal shall immediately remove such animal from out of such river or water-course, and if the same be dead shall effectually destroy such animal, and if the owner or person in charge of such animal shall neglect so to do within twelve hours after receiving notice of such animal being bogged or drowned, such owner or person in charge shall forfeit any sum not exceeding twenty-five pounds nor less than two pounds.

Animals on private premises.

4. The Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer appointed by the Council of the said Municipality with his assistant may, at any hour, enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipality where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and if necessary to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for anyone or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose, and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds or less than two pounds.

Dead animals in certain cases to be removed at cost of the Municipality.

5. If any animal should die in any public place or street within the said Municipality, and the owner or any person having charge of such animal cannot at the time be found or ascertained, it shall immediately be removed by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in the manner aforesaid at the cost of the Municipality. Provided that the expenses incurred shall be a charge upon the owner when discovered, and may be recovered from him as a debt due to the Council.

Drains.

6. All drains whatsoever and the water-closets, earth-closets, privies, cesspools, and ashpits, within the Municipality shall be constructed so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so that there shall be no overflow, soakage, or leakage therefrom; and every cesspool within the said Municipality, which shall be formed or made below the surface of the ground shall be also so constructed so as that the water-tight walls or sides thereof shall project on all sides at least 6 inches above the surface of the ground in which such cesspools shall be formed or made.

Cleansing of privies and cesspits.

7. The occupier of any house, building, or tenement within the Municipality shall cause every privy, cesspool, therein to be emptied and cleansed from time to time as soon as any portion of the contents of such cesspool shall have so accumulated therein, as to be within a distance of 1 foot from the top of the walls sides, or lining, of such cesspool; provided that the contents of such privy shall not be removed or discharged therefrom, except between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m., and provided also that the contents of any privy or cesspool shall not be removed or discharged therefrom until such contents shall have been mixed there with a quantity of chloride of lime, zinc, carbolic acid, common salt, or some other efficient deodorizer sufficient to effectually deodorize and disinfect the same.

Where cesspools are not provided.

8. The occupier of every house, building, or other tenement on or in which the privy or closet belonging thereto shall not be provided with a cesspool, constructed in accordance with the provisions of the preceding By-law, shall at all times cause to be kept in such privy or closet a supply of dry powdered earth or other deodorizing material as aforesaid, sufficient to thoroughly and effectually deodorize the contents of such bucket, pan, or other receptacle.

Erection of new closets.

9. Every person about to erect a closet or form a cesspit, shall, before commencing any such work, give to the Town Clerk seven days' notice, in writing, of his intention, and of the proposed position of such closet or cesspit, and in default thereof, or in case of his commencing such work without such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound or more than five pounds; and no such closet shall be erected, or cesspit formed, except in such position as shall be approved by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council, and any person being guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Every tenement to have closet.

10. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement, and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Objectionable closets to be altered.

11. If any alteration shall be required in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances, or any officer of the Council appointed in that behalf, for preserving public health or decency, in the case of any existing cesspit or closet, the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council shall report the same to the Council, and if the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to health or opposed to decency, the same shall be altered by the occupier or owner of the premises upon which such cesspit or closet exists, after due notice has been served upon such owner or occupier; and should such owner or occupier neglect or refuse to alter the same, the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council, shall forthwith make the necessary alterations, and the cost of the same shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises wherein the same shall be.

Power to inspect any premises by Inspector of Nuisances.

12. The Inspector or other officer appointed by the Council may visit and inspect any premises or do any work authorized by the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, therein in all days except Sundays and public holidays, between the hours of 10 in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Prohibition of use of night-soil.

13. No person shall be at liberty without the permission of the Council or Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer of the Council appointed on that behalf, to use on his own premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere; and any person committing a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

Burial of night-soil.

14. Every person shall be at liberty to use on his own premises all night-soil collected thereon, by burying the same at least two feet in the earth; but if any nuisance shall arise therefrom, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound and not more than five pounds.

Inspector of Nuisances report.

15. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Nuisances to furnish to the Council, with a report, every three months, containing a list of persons proceeded against for nuisances within this Municipality, specifying the dates, and giving particulars of each case.

Cost of emptying cesspits, &c.

16. The Council may, after due application, recover such sums for the emptying of cesspits or attendance on earth-closets at such rates as may from time to time be decided upon and fixed by the Council to be charged in respect of such services.

Maximum and Minimum penalties where not otherwise provided for.

17. In any case where no special penalty is fixed in these By-laws for any breach of the same, the maximum penalty for any such breach shall be twenty pounds, and the minimum one pound, unless otherwise provided for by the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

Cleansing butchers' shambles, &c.

18. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer or officers appointed by the Council, from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughtering-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, fellmongeries, soap-works, and wool-washing establishments in the said Municipality, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing of such shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, soap-works, and wool-washing establishments, both within and without, as to him shall seem needful; and any butcher or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, soap-works, or wool-washing establishments who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises, &c.

19. Upon the complaint of any householder, that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the officer of the said Council shall have the full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally or by any person in his employment, or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspit to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

20. Every person who in any street or public place or passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passenger, shall commit any of the following offences shall, on conviction for any and every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds.

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted, or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from an opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place, the carcass or any part of the carcass of any newly slaughtered animal, without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butchers' meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.
- (3.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub overhanging the footpath to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (4.) Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window near to any street or public place without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (5.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure) when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or repaired.
- (6.) Every blacksmith, whitesmith, anchor-smith, nail-maker, metal-founder, limeburner, brickmaker, potter, or other person using a forge, furnace, or kiln, and having a door, window, or aperture fronting or opening into or towards any street, lane, or passage, and not enclosing such door, or not fastening the shutters or other fastenings of such window and closing such aperture, or placing a screen before the same every evening within one hour after sunset, so as effectually to prevent the light from showing through the doorway, window, or aperture next or upon such street, lane, or passage.
- (7.) Every person who shall within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house burn any rags, bones, cork, or other offensive substance, to the annoyance of any inhabitant.
- (8.) Every person who shall carry goods or any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the footway of any street or public footway.
- (9.) Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal, which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.
- (10.) Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure, situate and being in or within forty yards of any street or public place within the Municipality, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of the like nature, belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street or public place within the Municipality shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds, and to be made liable for damages.

Premises in state to endanger public health.—House to be purified on certificate of one medical practitioner.

21. If, upon the certificate of any duly qualified medical practitioner, it appear to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith within the limits of the said Municipality, is in such a filthy state or unwholesome condition, that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the white-washing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council would give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same as the case may require; and if the person to whom the notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as will be specified in the said notice, he should be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default; provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

Offences against public decency.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

22. Any person who shall bathe near to, or within view of, any inhabited house or of any public wharf, bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Municipality, between the hours of six in the morning and eight in the evening, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Noisome and offensive trades.

No noisome or offensive trades to be carried on to the injury of any inhabitants.

23. No person shall carry on any noisome or offensive trade within the said Municipality so as to injure or to be a nuisance, as hereinafter stated, to the inhabitants thereof.

Definition of "noisome and offensive trades."

24. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of, or in connection wherewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on, any gas, vapour, effluvia, or smoke, shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life, or in any other way to be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said Municipality, shall be considered a noisome and offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws.

Complaint, injury, and report—Order of Council taken thereon—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

25. Upon complaint, in writing, by any householder, that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property, so as to injure his or her health, or the health of any member of his or her family, or to be a nuisance to such householder, and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the Council; and if the said Council shall, on consideration of such report, or after any further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of the opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a "noisome and offensive trade" within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade, to cease and discontinue the same within reasonable time, not being less than thirty days, nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct; or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the Municipality, and if such trade be not discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid, within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid, shall, for the first offence, forfeit and pay a sum not less than two pounds or more than five pounds; for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds, nor more than twenty pounds; and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not less than ten pounds, nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when noisome and offensive trade is about to be commenced—Penalty.

26. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid, whenever there shall be complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or profession, is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or profession, and shall require him, her, or them, not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measures as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming noisome or offensive, within the meaning of these By-laws, to any resident within the Municipality; and any person who shall in any case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way noisome or offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds, nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notice—Liabilities.

27. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the owner or occupier of any premises or land, wherein or whereupon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last-named place of abode of such owner or occupier, or upon any person of the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws; and every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

PART VI.

Public Exhibitions.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary, under the provisions of the Act 14th Victoria No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the said Municipality, nor shall any bowling-alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement, other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or a place of temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, to be used as such for hire or profit within the said Municipality, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

Temporary license by Mayor—Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid (other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act) and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week, and in like manner to allow any place within the said Municipality to be used for purposes of public amusement other than entertainments requiring to be licensed as aforesaid, for not more than one week; provided that it shall be incumbent on such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting permission, and to refuse such permission if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Municipality, every person holding or keeping any such exhibition or using any place within the said Municipality for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting any place to be so used without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings or more than two pounds, for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept, or such place shall be so used for public amusement as aforesaid.

Public buildings, &c., to be registered.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council, such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid, in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier; and every person who causes every such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for a longer period than one week, in or on any such building or land, not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration as hereinafter mentioned, having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not less than one pound or more than twenty pounds.

Certificates of registration.

4. The Council, upon the written application of any such occupier as aforesaid, stating the particulars as aforesaid, and if upon inspection by the proper officer, the building or land shall have been found to be secure and proper for the purpose stated; and if the proposed exhibition or amusement shall not be such as to require a license from the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, and shall not be thought likely to entail any violation of public decency, or to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the said Municipality, the said Council shall cause the aforesaid premises to be registered in a registry book to be kept for that purpose, and shall thereupon grant to the applicant a certificate of such registration of such premises, and the said Council may at any time, and for any of the causes hereafter mentioned, suspend for a stated period the effect or cause of any such registration, and shall forthwith give notice of such suspension or cancellation to the occupier of the registered building or land, and during such suspension and after cancellation of such premises, shall be deemed to be unregistered in respect to the purpose mentioned in the certificate of registration, and such certificate shall be of no force or virtue.

Inspection.

5. The proper officer of the Council may at all reasonable times enter into or upon, and inspect any such registered building or land.

No exhibition, &c., on Sundays, &c.

6. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid, shall be held or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusements, on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf, shall, on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Registration fee—Time for which registration shall be in force.

7. For every such registration as aforesaid, the occupier of the building or land so registered, shall pay to the Council Clerk, for the benefit of the said Municipality, a fee of £1; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the 31st day of December then next ensuing and no longer.

Certificate of registration to operate as license for exhibition, &c., named therein, and no other.

8. The certificate of registration aforesaid shall be regarded as a license from the Council for the holding or keeping of the exhibition, or for carrying on of the public amusement therein mentioned, but for none other; any occupier of such building or land who shall hold or keep therein or thereon any exhibition, or shall use any building or land for any public amusement other than such exhibition or amusement mentioned in such certificate or license, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Unlawful games and exhibitions.

9. No license shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any games with dice or other games of chance for money, or any bull baiting, dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality, or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace are proposed to be had or carried on, and the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid, who shall permit any such game of chance, or exhibition or amusement as are in the section before-mentioned to be had, held, or carried on, in, or upon such building, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Suspension or revocation of license—Notice to be given and licensee to be allowed to show cause.

10. The effect of any registration as aforesaid may be suspended, or such registration may be cancelled, as the Council may think fit, for any of the following causes, namely:—Whenever the occupier of the registered building or land or the manager of any such exhibition or amusement as aforesaid, held, kept, conducted, or carried on, in or upon such building or land shall have been twice convicted of offences against these By-laws within a period of twelve months, or whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the said Council that the superintendent, manager, director, or other person in charge of any such exhibition or amusement, is a confirmed drunkard, or that such exhibition or amusement is being conducted in such manner as to violate public decency, to endanger the public peace or to become a nuisance to any inhabitant of the said Municipality: Provided that before any such suspension or cancellation as aforesaid, the occupier of such registered building or land shall have notice of the fact that the said Council is about to consider whether there shall be any such suspension or cancellation, and of the causes of this proceeding, and shall be allowed to show cause against such suspension or cancellation before the same shall be ordered.

Construction of term "occupier"—Change in occupancy—False statement.

11. Any person who shall superintend, direct, or manage, or shall be otherwise in charge of any such exhibition or public amusement as aforesaid, in or upon any such building or land as aforesaid, or who shall reside in or upon any such building or land, wherein or whereon any such exhibition or public amusement shall be held, kept, or carried on, or who, being the owner, lessee, or tenant of any such building or land, shall permit the same to be used for the purposes of any such exhibition or public amusement, shall be deemed the occupier of such building or land for all the purposes of these By-laws; and the said By-laws shall be held to be as applicable in every case to any number of such occupiers as to any single occupier; and every such occupier whose name shall have been so registered as aforesaid shall be deemed and taken to be, and continue to be such occupier for all the purposes of the By-laws: Provided that in the event of any change in the occupancy of any such building or ground as aforesaid it shall be competent for the parties concerned to notify the same by writing under their hand to the said Council Clerk, who shall lay such notification before the Council at its next sitting; and if after such inquiry, as such Council may deem necessary, there shall seem to be no valid objection to such change of occupancy, a corresponding entry shall be made in the registry aforesaid, and a new certificate shall be issued, which shall be in force until the next ensuing thirty-first day of December, and no longer; and for every such new certificate a fee of 5s. shall be paid to the said Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Municipality, and any person who shall make any false statement in any such application or notice as aforesaid as to any of the facts or particulars required by these By-laws to be stated in such application or notice, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Wilful trespass.

12. Every person who shall wilfully let in or knowingly suffer to enter upon the reserves or public recreation ground any animals without due authority, shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass, and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Penalty for destroying boundary marks.

13. Any person pulling down, defacing, or injuring any marks, survey pegs, alignment posts, or any fence or other erection without the authority of the Council, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound

Lights for carts.

14. The driver of every cart, buggy, and every other vehicle, which shall, during the hours after sunset of any day, and before sunrise of the following day, be in any public place or street within the said Municipality, shall keep a light attached to or suspended from the off or right side of such cart, so as to be plainly visible to the driver of any carriage proceeding along or through such place or street in a contrary direction to that in which such first-mentioned cart shall be directed, and in the case of a nightcart only such light shall be such and be so disposed as to appear white in front and red at the outer side, and every driver who shall fail to comply with this section shall forfeit a sum not exceeding two pounds.

Made and passed by the Hillston Municipal Council, this fourth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT OF 1867, AND NUISANCES
PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

* (BOROUGH OF WATERLOO.—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Acts 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 158, and 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15th April, 1890.

BOROUGH OF WATERLOO.—BY-LAWS.

THE undermentioned By-laws, made by the Council of the Borough of Waterloo, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867" and the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," respectively, having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the provisions of the above-cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

BOROUGH OF WATERLOO.

BY-LAWS of the Borough of Waterloo, made under the Municipalities Act of 1867 and the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, respectively.

PART I.

By-laws repealed.

All existing By-laws of the Council of the Borough of Waterloo (save and except the By-laws relating to the Free Public Library) are hereby repealed.

Proceedings of the Council and Committees.—Preservation of order at Council Meetings.—Meetings of the Council.—Ordinary Meetings.

1. The Council shall meet for the despatch of business on every alternate Thursday, at the hour of half-past seven p.m., or not later than eight p.m., or on such other day and at such hour as may by resolution of the Council be from time to time appointed.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.—Adjournment for want of a quorum.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of twenty minutes after the time appointed for the holding of such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for the want of a quorum, the names of the members then present shall be taken down and recorded in the minute-book.

Order of business.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of last meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and signed by the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Outward correspondence to be read.
3. Inward correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
4. Presentation of Petitions.
5. Statement of accounts, showing the moneys received and paid since last meeting, with the balance in the bank to the credit of the Municipality.

6. Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor to be presented and ordered upon.

7. Motions of which notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.

8. Orders of the day.

9. Such other business as may lawfully be brought before the Council.

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

4. It shall be competent for the Council at any time by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section.

Motions and amendments.

5. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed, shall be struck from such business paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Motions not to be withdrawn without consent.

6. No notice of motion which has been seconded shall be withdrawn, without the consent of the majority of the Aldermen then present at such meeting.

Absence of proposed mover.

7. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper shall, except as hereinafter provided, be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given; but it shall be competent for some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman, to move such motion on his behalf.

Motions to be seconded.

8. No motion shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

9. When a motion shall have been moved and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless it be seconded.

Only one Amendment at a time.

10. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous one has been disposed of.

Petitions.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

11. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council; the nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—how received and dealt with.

12. The Council at any meeting may resolve that any petition be received, and that the same be referred to a committee for report, or that the requests therein contained be granted.

Mayor or Chairman's decision on points of order final.

13. Every point of order shall be taken into consideration immediately upon its arising and the decision of the Mayor or Chairman thereon shall be conclusive, except as hereinafter provided.

Power of Council as to laying down general rules.

14. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman may move that the meeting disagree with the ruling of the Mayor or Chairman. If it be seconded it shall then be put without discussion; but no vote so taken shall have bearing upon any matter other than the one in question.

Questions put by Mayor or Chairman.

15. The Mayor or Chairman shall put all questions, first in the affirmative and then in the negative (provided that where an amendment is moved to any motion, the amendment shall be first put), and may do so as often as may be necessary to enable him to determine the sense of the Council thereon, and thereupon he shall declare his decision, which shall be final, unless a division be called for.

Mayor to decide as to precedence of Aldermen.

16. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of them is entitled to precedence.

No Alderman to speak twice on same question or amendment—except in Committee.

17. No Alderman shall speak twice on the same question, unless in Committee, or in explanation where he shall have been misunderstood or misrepresented. Provided that any Alderman, although having previously spoken, may speak once on every amendment, and that the mover of every question shall have a right of final reply.

No Alderman to make personal reflections.

18. No Alderman shall digress from the matter under discussion, or make personal reflections or impute motives to any other Alderman.

No Alderman to speak more than ten minutes.

19. No Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer period than ten minutes, without the consent of the Council.

Alderman to stand while speaking.

20. Every Alderman shall stand while speaking, and shall address the Chair.

Alderman using offensive expressions to apologise.

21. When any member of the Council shall make use of any language or expression offensive to any Alderman, the member so offending shall be required to withdraw such language or expression, and to make an apology satisfactory to the Council.

Debate may be adjourned.

22. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the same day, or to any other day.

Alderman adjourning debate entitled to precedence on resumption.

23. The Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to precedence on the resumption of the debate.

Adjournments.

24. Any motion for adjournment, if seconded, shall be immediately put without discussion, but if such motion be negatived it shall not be competent for any Alderman to make a similar motion until thirty minutes have elapsed.

Divisions.

25. It shall be competent for any Alderman to divide the Council upon any question put from the Chair, either in full Council, or in Committee of the whole Council, and upon such division those who are on the affirmative side shall place themselves on the Mayor or presiding Alderman's right hand, and those on the negative side shall place themselves on the left, and no Alderman shall leave his place until the names of the Aldermen present, and how voting shall have been taken down by the Council Clerk or person officiating for him.

Divisions to be entered in the Minute-book.

26. All divisions of the Council shall be entered in the minutes of the proceedings.

Motions for Rescission of previous Orders, &c.

27. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion, to the same effect, shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negativing such first-mentioned motion. Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been remitted to the Governor for confirmation and may have been remitted to the Council, with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage after due notice as hereinbefore provided and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed Business.

28. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not being present the resumption of such consideration shall, in such case, be resumed at the next meeting at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid.

Suspension of By-laws.

29. Any By-law relating to or affecting proceedings at meetings of Council may, by resolution of the Council, be suspended pro tempore in cases of emergency.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committees.

30. There shall be a Committee of Works, a Finance Committee, a By-laws Committee, a Library Committee, a Lighting Committee, a House Committee, and a Sanitary Committee. These Committees shall be reappointed every year at the first meeting of the Council which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Chairman of Committees.

31. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee within seven days after their appointment.

Works Committee.

32. The Works Committee shall have the general care of all roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other places under the care and management of the Council; they shall also inquire into and report from time to time upon such improvements, repairs or other matters as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

Finance Committee.

33. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues; they shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect the finances of the Borough, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

By-law Committee.

34. The By-laws Committee shall prepare and submit for the consideration of Council drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Municipality.

Library Committee.

35. The Library Committee shall have the general control of the Public Library, and shall once at least in each year submit to the Council a written report upon the same as to its efficacy, usefulness, and the manner in which it is conducted; and may also recommend the purchase of additional books, or any other matter or thing which they may consider will be of benefit.

Lighting Committee.

36. The Lighting Committee shall once at least in each year make an inspection of the Borough, and shall recommend the erection of any additional public lamps which they may consider necessary, or the removal of any existing lamps.

House Committee.

37. The House Committee shall have charge of the Council Chambers, hall, and premises, and shall prepare a tariff of charges for the use of the hall; and shall also recommend in writing any repairs, alterations, and additions which they may consider necessary.

Special Committees.

38. The appointment of Special Committees shall continue until the specific duty for which they shall have been appointed shall have been discharged, provided that such Committees may at any time be dissolved by vote of the Council.

Reports of Committees to be in writing, and signed.

39. Every Report of a Committee must be in writing, and signed by the Chairman thereof.

Records of transactions in Committee.

40. The Chairman of each Committee shall make or cause to be made, in a book kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Committee meeting—how called.

41. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee, when requested by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

42. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

PART II.

Protection of funds and records.—Duties of officers and servants

Expenditure.

1. No work affecting the funds of the Borough shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council, excepting in the cases hereinafter provided for, viz. :—

1. By order of the Committee for Works or of the Mayor, and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works to the extent of ten pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor for necessary current expenses, to the extent of five pounds.

Certificate required with each Claim.

2. No payments shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate or memorandum from the Finance Committee, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized.

Member or Officer of Council not to be surety.

3. In cases where security is required by the Municipalities Act, it shall not be competent for the Council to accept as surety any of their members, or any person holding office under the Council.

Custody of records, seal, &c.

4. The common seal and all charters, deeds, muniments, books, papers, and records of the Council, shall be kept in the Council Chambers or office of the Council, in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the Council shall otherwise order for any purpose, and the common seal shall not be used without the express authority of the Council; and every impression thereof so authorized, shall be verified by the signatures of the Mayor and Council Clerk.

Duties of Council Clerk.

5. The Council Clerk shall attend at the office of the Council, at the Town Hall, for the purpose of receiving payment of rates, &c., and transacting the ordinary business of the Council (public holidays excepted) during the following hours, viz. :— On Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 to 3 p.m., and 7.30 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which, by the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other By-laws, thereunder, he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of the Revision Court held in the Borough under the provisions of the Municipalities Act. He shall, also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council, and shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor.

Duties of other Officers and Servants.

6. The duties of all officers and servants of the Council shall be defined by regulations as may from time to time be moved by the Council.

Bonds for good conduct.

7. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the Attorney or Bankers of the Corporation as the Council may order.

Complaints against Officers—how dealt with.

8. All complaints against officers or servants of the Corporation must be in writing, and must, in every case, be signed by the person or persons complaining, and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing or is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the same before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same and report thereon at the next meeting of the Council, or he may, if necessary, suspend such officer or servant till the Council shall have dealt with the charge.

Special powers of Mayor.

9. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is on record (as hereinbefore provided), or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statement, or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded, all such explanations or informations may, except as hereinafter provided, be either viva voce, or put into writing as the Mayor may direct.

Statement of Accounts.

10. Not later than the months of March and September in each year, the Mayor shall lay before the Council for its adoption, the Treasurer's account for the previous half-year duly audited.

Leave of absence.

11. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman, otherwise than by a resolution of the Council adopted after due notice.

Mode of calling for tenders.

12. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any material supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such works or the supply of such materials, shall be called for by public notice as hereinafter provided.

How notices are to be published.

13. Except where otherwise provided by the Municipalities Act of 1867, in all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation done, made, or passed, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same twice in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality.

PART III.

Levying rates, &c.

Collection and enforcement of rates.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 164, 165, 166, and 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may by resolution at the time of making or imposing such rates or any of them have appointed.

Time and place of payment.

2. All such rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers, during the hours appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Defaulters.

3. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid, within the time so appointed, shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor from time to time with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

4. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to take proceedings to enforce payment of all rates in default, either by action at law, or by issuing warrants of distress upon the goods and chattels of the defaulters.

Enforcement by distress.

5. The Bailiff shall be appointed by resolution of the Council, and shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Council for the faithful performance of his duties, and it shall be the duty of the Bailiff to make all levies for rates, by distress in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

6. All levies and distress shall be made under warrant, in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman, who may for the time being, be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

7. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid with costs, as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days the bailiff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction either on the premises or at such other place within the Borough as the said bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for and costs as hereinafter provided to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

Goods may be impounded.

8. At the time of making a distress, the bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf, resident at the place where the distress shall be made, and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the said land or premises on which the distress is made, and the bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand at any time within one month after the making of such distress, and also may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained in such place, as is most convenient for that purpose.

9. There shall be payable to the bailiff for the use of the Council for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereto annexed and marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

PART IV.

Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.

Burning shavings, &c., in the streets.

1. Any person who shall burn any shavings, rubbish, or any other matter or thing in any road, street, lane, or public place within the said Borough, or who shall within ten yards of any dwelling house, burn rags, bones, corks, or other offensive substance, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds, nor less than ten shillings.

Fireworks, &c.

2. Every person who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or fireworks upon or within ten yards of any public or private street or any public place, or shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause within the Borough, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding two pounds, nor less than ten shillings.

Fires in yards.

3. Any person having or lighting any open or other fire in any yard or premises so close to the neighbouring premises as to be a nuisance or dangerous thereto, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds, nor less than ten shillings.

PART V.

Streets and public places, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public road, street, way, park or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council, until after such road, street, way, park, or other place shall have been examined by a Committee for Works, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee, and the Council shall have decided to take the charge and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place.

Plans of proposed new road, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the Borough shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, park, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans signed by himself or themselves showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, park, or other place as aforesaid, and he or they shall execute any instrument dedicating such road, street, way, park, or other place which the Council may consider necessary.

Roads and streets, levels, &c.

3. The Surveyor of the Borough, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot ways thereof which now are, or shall be hereafter, under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council; in marking out such roads, streets, lanes and thoroughfares recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land with frontage to the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare in question shall have been sold or let; and it shall be the duty of such Surveyor or officer to place posts at the corners or intersections of such roads, streets, lanes and thoroughfares, whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the footway on each side, when the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council in any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other than 66 feet; provided there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, or other public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided. Provided further that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to the Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1881.

Change of street levels.

4. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed alteration to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Borough, that such plan is open to inspection; at a subsequent meeting of the Council, the said plan and section, shall, if adopted be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk, and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Footways may be levelled, &c.

5. When any footway shall have been marked out in the manner hereinbefore directed, the Surveyor or such officer or persons so authorized as hereinbefore mentioned, with the consent of the Council, may cause the same to be levelled, and made as nearly practicable of equal height, and breadth, and with an equal slope and inclination; and for this purpose may remove any flagging, steps, or other matter, or thing that may injure or obstruct the said footway, or render it unequal or inconvenient, and which now is or may be hereafter erected or placed on the space marked out for any of the said footways.

No encroachments allowed on street, &c.

6. Whenever any road, street, or lane has been marked out in manner hereinbefore provided, no house, shop, fence, or other structure, shall except as hereinafter mentioned, be allowed to project or encroach on any part thereof, and it shall not be lawful for any person to erect or put up any building, erection, obstruction, fence or enclosure, or to make any excavation, hole or opening in, under, upon, or near to any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare unless the consent of the Council or Mayor has been obtained for the purpose, and every person offending against this By-law, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds, nor less than two pounds.

No balcony to project.

7. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any person to construct, erect, or place any awning, balcony, verandah, portico, or window forming part of, or attached to, any external wall, projecting beyond the building line of any street, or road except with the consent of the Council first obtained, nor shall any awning, balcony, verandah, portico, window, or other external projection as aforesaid be constructed, erected, placed or added to any existing building, excepting with such consent as aforesaid—any person or persons who shall so construct, erect, place, or add the same, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than three pounds for every such offence. Provided that no such balcony, verandah, awning, portico, shall be permitted to be erected in any street less than thirty feet wide. Provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure as aforesaid, shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Obstructing public pathways.

8. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in the Borough shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant, to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such road or street as aforesaid, and on demand made by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer shall not cut or lop all such trees shrubs or plants to the height of nine feet at the least, the Council or their servants may cut or lop the same, without being deemed trespassers, and the costs of so cutting or lopping shall be charged to the owner or occupier as hereinbefore mentioned.

Hoards or fences to be erected.

9. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the Borough or to cause the same to be done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any building or to cause the same to be done, when any street or footway will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be erected (and the same to be whitewashed) in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street, and also to erect a convenient covered platform (7 feet in height and one-third ($\frac{1}{3}$) the width of the footway, with handrail) if there be room enough for such, outside of such hoard or fence, for the convenience of foot passengers, and shall continue such hoard or fence and platform as aforesaid in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council of the said Borough, during such time as the safety of the public or convenience requires, and shall in all cases cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night, or who shall not remove the same when such building is completed as aforesaid, when directed by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer, within a reasonable time afterwards, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings for every such day default is continued.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

10. The Council may at any time, cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person who shall travel on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or remove or destroy any obstruction that may be placed thereon, for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

PART VI.

Offences, Nuisances.—General good order of the Borough.

Damaging public buildings, &c.

1. Any person who shall damage any public building, wall, parapet, sluice, bridge, road, street, footway, sewer, water-course, or other property of the Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same, and if the same be wilfully done, shall also forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

2. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Borough shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than two pounds nor less than one pound.

Driving or riding on footway.

3. Any person who shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any footway, any waggon, omnibus, cart, dray, stage, bicycle, carriage, wheelbarrow, truck, cask, or vehicle, or shall lead, drive, ride, or place any horse, cattle, or other beast upon any footway, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Riding or driving round corners.

4. Any person who shall ride or drive round the corner of any street, road, or lane within this Borough at a pace faster than a walk, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound nor less than ten shillings.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

5. If any person shall haul or draw or cause to be hauled or drawn upon any part of any street, road, or public place, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled carriages, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing, which shall be carried principally or in part upon wheeled carriages, to drag or trail upon any part of such carriage so as to occupy and obstruct the street or road beyond the breadth of such carriage, every person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings, as well as the amount of the damage occasioned thereby: Provided that such penalty and damages shall not exceed the sum of fifty pounds.

As to persons riding or driving improperly through streets, &c.

6. Any person who shall ride or drive through any road, street, or lane in the said Borough, negligently, carelessly, or furiously, or so as to endanger the life or limb of any person, or to the common danger of the passengers, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding one pound nor less than ten shillings.

Loading or unloading vehicles, &c.

7. All vehicles standing in the streets or lanes to load or unload goods, shall stand with one wheel only in the gutter, and parallel with the kerb, and any driver so offending shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Name and place of abode.

8. The owner of every such waggon, cart, dray, or vehicle of any kind as hereinbefore mentioned, who shall allow the same to be drawn or driven through the Borough without having his or her name or place of abode or residence painted in full length, legibly, on the off side of the said vehicle, and any driver or person in charge of any such waggon, cart, or vehicle as aforesaid, who shall refuse to give his or name, or the owner's name and address, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding three pounds nor less than one pound.

No turf, gravel, sand, &c., to be removed from streets.

9. Any person who from any part of the roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places within the Borough, shall remove or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, or other material, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any part of the said roads, streets, thoroughfares, or public places, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Plumbers, &c., to give notice and pay fee for permission to open roadway, &c.

10. Every plumber or other person desiring to open the roadway or pathway for the purpose of laying down pipes for water or drainage shall give notice to the Council Clerk or other Officer of the Council before commencing such work, and shall also pay the sum of two shillings and sixpence for such permission before opening such roadway or pathway, and shall replace the same in good order to the satisfaction of the Council's Officer; and any person or persons neglecting to comply with the provisions of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Registration fee—erection of houses, &c.

11. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place, within the Borough, without having first paid into the office of the Council Clerk a registration fee of five shillings for each and every house, shop, or other building so proposed to be erected, and describing the nature and situation of the proposed building as aforesaid, and every contractor for such house, shop, or building, or any part thereof, commencing to build or work thereon without having first paid the aforesaid registration fee, and describing the nature and situation of such building, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Placing goods, &c., on roadway, &c.

12. If any person shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall, show-board, basket or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or cause to be hooped, washed, or cleansed, any cask, vessel, carriage, cart, or any other kind of vehicle, in or upon or over any road, footway, or public place within the Borough, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, or permit to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, or other carriage, upon any footway, or if any persons shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in, upon, or over any of the said carriage or foot ways, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other materials for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as hereinbefore directed) or any matters or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed any meat or offal, or other thing whatsoever, from any house or premises over any part of such footways or carriage ways, or over any area of any house or premises, over or next to any such street or road, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Council or any officer thereof, and shall not continue to keep the same so removed; or if any person having in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed or caused to be removed any such stall, showboard, basket, goods, coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, carriage, timber, stone, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other matter or thing, and shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, or exposed the same or any of them, or any other article or thing whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any of the carriage or foot ways of or next unto any streets or roads as aforesaid; in every case every person so offending shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding three pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

13. If any person shall paste or cause to be pasted or otherwise affix any placard or other paper, or chalk, or paint upon any wall, fence, culvert, kerbstone, pathway, handrail, or any other property of the Council, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Persons not to stand or loiter in the streets.

14. All persons standing or loitering upon any of the carriage or footways, or other public places within the Borough, to the inconvenience of passers by, or in any way interrupting the traffic, who shall not discontinue to do so on being required by any officer or servant of the Council of the said Borough, or by any police officer, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Swine, cattle, &c., not to wander about streets.

15. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure situate and being in or within four hundred yards of any street or dwelling-house, or other public place within the Borough, or who shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of like nature belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or to go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or public place within the Borough, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings. Provided that after due inquiry shall have been made, and the owner thereof cannot be discovered, it shall be lawful for the said Council, or any officer thereof, to destroy any swine or goats so straying and injuring property of any description.

Entrance to cellars, &c., to be covered.

16. If the owner or occupier of any premises, having any rails or bars over the areas or openings to any kitchen or cellars, or other part of the said premises beneath the surface of the footway of any streets or public places, or having any doorway or entrance into the casement or cellar-story thereof, shall not either keep the same, or the rails of such kitchen, cellars, or other parts in sufficient and good repair, or constantly keep the same securely guarded by rails, or cover the same over with a strong flap or trap-door, according to the nature of the case, and so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing, or if any such owner or occupier shall leave open, or not sufficiently nor substantially keep covered and secured, any coal or other hole, funnel, trap-door, or cellar-flap belonging to or connected with his premises, save and except only during reasonable time for use, alteration, or repair, or if such owner or occupier shall not repair, and from time to time keep in good and substantial repair, all and every or any such rails, guard-rails, flaps, trap-doors, and other covering, then and in every such case the person neglecting so to do shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

Cellars or openings beneath footways prohibited.

17. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any cellar, or any opening, door, or window, in or beneath the surface of the footway of any road, street, or public place within the Borough; and if any person shall so offend he shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds, over and above the expense of remedying or removing any such cellar, opening, door, or window, such expense to be assessed and allowed by the convicting Justice or Justices of the Peace.

Excavations, &c., to be protected by fence or wall.

18. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground on any property adjoining or near to any public road or footpath, within the limits of the Borough, until the owner or occupier of the said property shall have erected a good substantial fence or wall, at the least 4 feet high around such parts of the said property as adjoin such public road or footpath; and any person neglecting or refusing to enclose any premises upon which any such quarry or excavation shall be made, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds; and all existing quarries, excavations, or precipices situated in the Borough shall be closed and protected in the manner aforesaid, within one week after due notice to that effect shall have been given by the Council or Inspector of Nuisances; and in the event of failure or neglect of the owner or occupier of any such last-mentioned property to enclose the same after notice as aforesaid, such persons so offending shall be subject to the penalty aforesaid.

Offensive or indecent placards.

19. Any person who shall in any street or place within the Borough, post, expose to view, or distribute any placard, handbill, or other document whatever of an offensive or indecent character, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Throwing dead animals, &c., into any watercourse.

20. Any person who shall throw or cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal into any street, lane, or public place, or any animal, with intent to drown the same, into any drain, gutter, watercourse, waterhole, creek, or canal; or who shall permit or suffer slops, suds, night-soil, sewerage, or other offensive fluid or matter or filth of any kind to flow or be cast from his or her premises into any such drain, gutter, watercourse, waterhole, creek, or canal; or who shall cast, permit, suffer, or cause any such slops, suds, nightsoil, or offensive fluid or matter or filth to flow from his or her premises into, over, or upon any of the footways, streets, lanes, or other public places within the Borough; or who shall permit or cause, by means of drains, pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, night-soil, sewerage, slops, suds, offensive fluid, or matter or filth of any kind whatsoever, to flow or be cast in or upon any gutter, watercourse, waterhole, creek, or canal; or who shall obstruct or divert from its channel any drain, gutter, sewer, watercourse, creek, or canal, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, and shall, in addition to such forfeiture, pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction, or of restoring such drain, gutter, watercourse, sewer, creek, or canal into its proper channel.

Throwing filth, &c., on roadway.

21. If any person shall in any street, road, lane, or public place, throw, cast, lay, or bury, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, laid, or buried, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, night-soil, or other filth, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal in or so near to any of the said streets or roads as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over or be upon any carriage or foot way of the Borough shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Sweeping rubbish.

22. Any person sweeping or throwing refuse of any kind into the gutters, pathways, or roadways shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Allowing filth to remain on premises.

23. Any person or persons allowing any filth or offensive matter to be or remain on his or their premises shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds.

Stables to be erected only on site chosen by officer.

24. No stable, cow-shed, or other out-house shall be erected except upon a site approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances, and every stable, cow-shed, or other out-house already built or hereafter to be built, shall be drained, paved, ventilated, and provided with a properly constructed pit for the receipt of manure and drainage therefrom, to the satisfaction of the Council and Inspector of Nuisances under a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Closets, stables, &c., not built in conformity with this and the preceding By-law, to be altered, or repaired, or removed.

25. If any stable, cow-shed, or other out-house, or any closet, privy, and cesspit is or shall be, in the opinion of the Council and Inspector of Nuisances, a nuisance from its too close proximity to any adjoining premises, or from any other cause, or is not kept in repair or clean, the Council may by notice in writing given to the owner or occupier order the same to be taken down, altered, repaired, or cleansed, as the case may require, and if any such order be not obeyed within fourteen days from the service of such notice, the Council or Mayor may, without any further notice, cause the same to be pulled down, destroyed, altered, repaired, or cleansed, and shall be entitled to recover all expenses that may be incurred from the owner or occupier in a summary way at the suit of the Council.

Inspection of premises.—Yards, &c., to be kept clean.

26. Upon the reasonable complaint of any householder, that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the officers of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose, and any owner or occupier of any house or place within the Borough who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, yards, paddocks, and ways within, attached to, or occupied in conjunction with the said house or place, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance or offensive smell, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Slaughtering prohibited.

27. Any person slaughtering or causing to be slaughtered any cattle, sheep, or swine, or other beast within this Borough, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, nor less than one pound for every animal so slaughtered.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, &c.

28. It shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council, when and as often as they shall see occasion, to visit and inspect any butcher's shambles, shops, boiling-down and fellmongering establishments, tanneries, soap-works, breweries, or places of a like nature in the Borough, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing of the said shambles, shops, boiling-down or fellmongering establishments, tanneries, and other establishments as aforesaid, both within and without as to him or them shall seem needful, and any butcher or the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time (not exceeding seven days), after being so directed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Vehicular entrances to private premises to be paved, &c.

29. Any person or persons desirous of having a vehicular entrance to his or her premises over any of the footways of the said Borough, must make application to the Council for such permission, and upon the same being granted, the owner or occupier of the said premises shall cause the said vehicular entrance to be paved with stone or otherwise to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works within seven days after such permission is granted, and in default he or she shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than two pounds for every such offence. Provided also that all vehicular entrances as aforesaid now in existence, shall be paved with stone or otherwise to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works as aforesaid, within one month from the date of service of such notice to that effect on the owner or occupier of the premises as hereinbefore mentioned, and upon default, he or she shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Hours for removing night-soil, offal, &c.

30. Any person or persons who shall remove any night-soil, offal, ammoniacal liquor, bones, or other offensive matter, or shall come with carts or carriages for that purpose, except between the hours of half-past ten p.m. and five a.m., or shall at any time remove any such night-soil or ammoniacal liquor, otherwise than in properly covered and water-tight carts or vehicles, or in such a manner as to upset, cast, spill, or strew any of the said night-soil, offal, ammoniacal liquor, slop, urine, or filth, in or upon or near to any of the streets, roads, public places, or footways of the Borough, or shall deposit or throw night-soil, offal, ammoniacal liquor, bones, or other offensive matter nearer to any street, road, or dwelling-house, than shall from time to time be directed by the Council or by the Inspector of Nuisances, or shall allow vehicles used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any road, street, or dwelling-house, other than shall from time to time be directed by the Council or Inspector of Nuisances, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence; and in case the person or persons so offending cannot be found the owner or owners of such carts, carriages, or other vehicles employed in and about emptying or removing such night-soil, offal, ammoniacal liquor, bones, or other offensive matter, and also the employer or employers of the person or persons so offending shall be liable to and forfeit and pay such a penalty as aforesaid.

Restrictions on certain trades, &c.

31. It shall not be lawful for the business of a soapboiler, fellmonger, tallow melter, tripe boiler, tanner, Japan manufacturer, currier, pig-keeper, or any occupation, trade, or manufacture of an obnoxious or unwholesome nature, prejudicial to the health of, or otherwise offensive to, any of the inhabitants thereof, to be commenced or established within the limits of the Borough, without consent of the Council first had and obtained; and whosoever shall offend against this By-law shall forfeit and pay on conviction a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds, nor less than ten pounds, and a further sum of two pounds for each and every day during which he continues to offend against the provisions of this By-law.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

32. Every person who, in any street or other public place or passage within the Borough, shall commit any of the following offences shall, on conviction for any and for every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than two pounds.

33. Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted, or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.

34. Every person who shall carry or convey or cause to be carried or conveyed in any street or public place the carcass or any part of the carcass of any newly slaughtered animal, without a sufficient or proper cloth covering the same, for to conceal the same from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale, without covering the same as aforesaid.

35. Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon, to the danger or annoyance of anyone.

36. Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window near to any street or public place, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.

37. Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof or any part of any house or other building any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure), when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or repaired.

38. Every person who shall carry goods or any frame to the annoyance of any person upon any public footway, or erect or cause to be erected any gate or door which opens outwards upon or obstructs any footway, street, lane, road, or public place.

39. Every person who shall feed any horse or other animal upon any street, lane, or road within the Borough.

40. Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person in any street or public place within the Borough.

Noisome and Offensive Trades.

No noisome or offensive trades to be carried on to the injury of the inhabitants.

41. No person shall carry on any offensive or noisome trade within the said Borough so as to injure or be a nuisance as hereinafter stated to the inhabitants thereof.

Definition of noisome and offensive trades.

42. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of, or in connection wherewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on, any gas, vapour, effluvia, liquid, or any large quantities of smoke, shall be evolved or discharged, which gas, vapour, effluvia, liquid, or smoke shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life, or in any other way to injure or be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said Borough, near to the place where such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is conducted, followed, or carried on, shall be considered a noisome and offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws.

Complaint.—Inquire and report—Order of Council thereon.—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

43. Upon complaint in writing by any householders that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of their residences or properties, as to injure the health of or be a nuisance to such householders, the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer or persons appointed by the Council shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on, and of the premises or properties of complainants, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint and shall report thereon to the Council; and if the said Council shall on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a noisome or offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such, to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws to the said complainants or other residents within the said Borough; and if such trade or calling shall not be discontinued, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade or calling as aforesaid, shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than five pounds nor more than ten pounds, and for a second and every subsequent offence a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when noisome and offensive trade is about to be commenced.—Penalty.

44. The like proceedings shall be taken whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, and the notice to be given as aforesaid shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, and the Council shall take such measures as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming noisome or offensive within the meaning of these By-laws to any residents within the Borough. And any person or persons who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way noisome or offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than twenty pounds.

Service of Notice.—Liabilities.

45. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice as aforesaid for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person or persons who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid shall be liable to, and be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade or operation within the meaning of and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

Public Health.

Houses to be purified on Certificate of two Medical Practitioners.

46. If upon the certificate of two Medical Practitioners it appears to the Council that any house or part of house, or the premises occupied in connection therewith within the limits of the Borough, is in such a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, purifying, or fumigating of any house or part thereof or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof of the premises occupied in connection therewith to whitewash, cleanse, purify, or fumigate the same, as the case may require; and if the person to whom notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within the time specified in the said notice he or she shall be liable to a penalty of not less than three pounds nor more than twenty pounds. Provided that each day, during which such house or part thereof shall, after such notice as aforesaid, remain uncleansed or unfumigated shall be a separate offence. Provided also that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than fifty pounds.

Sale or letting of infected premises or goods.

47. If any person shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let any dwelling house or part thereof or premises occupied in connection therewith in the said Borough, which then is or shall have been within thirty days prior to the date of such sale or letting, occupied by any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, without giving due notice thereof to the person or persons purchasing, renting, or hiring any such house or premises, the person so selling, letting, or causing to be sold or let shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds; and any person who shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let in the said Borough, any article of furniture, bedding, household or personal effects, knowing the same to have been within three months prior to the date of such sale or letting used by any person or persons suffering from any infectious or contagious disease shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Exposing infected articles.

48. Any person or persons who shall expose or cause to be exposed in any road, street, or public place, or unenclosed land, adjacent to any road, street, dwelling house, or public place, any article whatsoever knowing the same to have been in the use or occupation of any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease within thirty days prior to the date of such exposure as aforesaid shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

No rubbish to be thrown upon private property without leave.

49. No kind of rubbish or offensive matter shall be thrown upon any private property within the Borough, without permission first obtained from the owner or owners of such property. Persons found guilty of a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Drainage, &c.

No private sewers or drains to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

50. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council or Inspector of Nuisances, or otherwise than according to such plans and directions, as such Council or Inspector of Nuisances may give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith without such notice, and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith without such notice or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds, and shall at his or her own expense make good all roads, streets, kerbing, &c., which shall have been injured by or through any such work, and all such repairs shall be performed to the satisfaction of such officer as the Council shall appoint to superintend such work, and any person who shall do or perform anything contrary to this By-law, or shall neglect to make good all such damage as aforesaid shall on conviction thereof forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Proprietors of private drains, sewers, &c., to trap, repair, and cleanse same.

51. All proprietors of private drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer now or hereafter constructed, shall have the same properly trapped, and when necessary shall cleanse and repair the same under the inspection and direction of the Council or officer thereof, at the cost and charges of the occupiers or owners of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises, to which the said private drains or sewers shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to trap, repair, and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be trapped, repaired, and cleansed according to the direction of the said Council or officer thereof, he or she shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Owners or lessee to construct drains, &c., and connect to sewers.

52. The owner or lessee of every tenement or premises which shall have a frontage to, or abut upon any street or lane in which a public sewer or drain is made, laid, or constructed, or may be so made, laid, or constructed, shall make, lay, or construct, or cause to be made, laid, or constructed a drain or sewer of such size and material as the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council may deem sufficient to carry the drainage of such tenement or premises; the said drain or sewer to be connected with the aforesaid public drain or sewer; any person after having received seven days' notice thereof and in default of any of the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence. Provided that after conviction every seven days' default shall be deemed a further and separate offence.

Water from roofs, &c.

53. Every owner or occupier of any dwelling-house, shop, or other building who shall permit rainwater to fall down from any roof, spout, balcony, or other projection upon or over any street, road, lane, or footway, or shall cause or permit any such roof or rainwater to be discharged by any pipe upon any such street, road, lane, or footway, shall, if such nuisance be not abated within seven days after written notice to abate the same shall have been given by the Council or Inspector of Nuisances, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound. Provided that any tenant of such premises who shall erect any spouting or pipe in accordance with any such notice as aforesaid may deduct the cost thereof from the rent of the said premises.

Drains in footpath.

54. No surface drain shall be made in any footpath, nor any pipes laid across the same, without the authority of the Council, and no such pipe or drain shall be used for the discharge into any street, roadway, or gutter of any offensive liquid, or matter of any kind whatsoever; and any person who shall so offend shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Proper drains to be provided.

55. A properly constructed drain shall be provided to receive and convey the drainage from every tenement by the owner or lessee thereof; such drain to be provided with proper pipes, sinks, and traps, and laid to the satisfaction of the Council or its officers. Any person neglecting to comply with any of the provisions of this By-law after having received seven days' notice from the Council or its officers shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than one pound. Provided that after conviction every seven days' default shall be deemed a further and separate offence.

Drains for the discharge of surface water from land.

56. Every owner or occupier of land so situated that surface or storm water from or upon the same shall overflow or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any road, street, lane, or footway, shall within seven days next after the service of notice to abate such nuisance, abate the same where possible; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid such owner or occupier shall still have failed to comply with such aforesaid notice, or be otherwise in default as aforesaid, he or she shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and every such owner or occupier who shall still have made default as aforesaid for more than seven days after such second or any future conviction shall be guilty of a further offence within the meaning of this By-law.

Natural watercourses.

57. Any person who shall close or intercept any natural watercourse, by building or otherwise, shall provide another outlet for the surface water with pipes or sewers of a size and in a manner to be approved of by the Council; and any person closing or intercepting any such watercourse, and failing to comply with the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Unoccupied lands, sand, &c.

58. If any owner or owners of occupied or unoccupied lands within this Borough shall allow or permit any sand to flow or drift from such lands over any of the footways, streets, gutters, roadways, or lanes of the Borough, he or they shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence in addition to the cost of removing the same.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

59. If any animal shall die in any part of the Municipality, and the owner of such animal or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have been thrown, placed, or died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately (that is to say within six hours after receiving notice from the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council), destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom, he or they shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds, in addition to the cost of removing the same by the said Council.

Indecent exposure of the person.

60. Any person who shall offend against decency by the exposure of his or her person, or by indecent behaviour, or by committing a nuisance in any street or public place or uninclosed land within the said Borough, or in view thereof, or in any public conveyance, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

61. Any person who shall bathe near to or within view of any inhabited house, or of any bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Borough, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings for every such offence.

Public Amusements.

Unlawful games.

62. No games with dice, or other games of chance for money, prize-fighting, cock-fighting, dog-fighting, or other entertainment opposed to public morality, or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause a breach of the peace, shall be established, held, or given within the Borough; and any person or persons who shall establish, hold, give, or cause to be established, held, or given, any such game, exhibition, or entertainment, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Places of amusement to be licensed.

63. No dancing saloon, bowling or skittle alley, shooting gallery, or similar place of amusement (other than entertainments requiring to be licensed by law) shall exist or be established within the Borough unless and until such place of amusement shall have been licensed by the Council as hereinafter provided; and in the event of any such licensed place of amusement being improperly conducted or becoming a nuisance or an annoyance to any inhabitant, or violating public decency or endangering the public peace, the Mayor shall on representation to that effect being made, forthwith suspend the said license, and the Council at its next meeting shall by resolution cause the said license to be cancelled or otherwise as may appear necessary or desirable, and any person or persons having already established such places of amusement as aforesaid who shall not within thirty days after these By-laws come into operation apply for such license or any person or persons who shall open, establish, or maintain any such place of amusement as aforesaid, without having obtained such license, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Mode of granting licences.

64. Applications for licences as aforesaid must be in writing, addressed to the Mayor and Aldermen, and must be endorsed by two householders testifying to the respectability of the applicant. The application must describe clearly the nature of the entertainment for which the license is sought, and the premises in which it is to be held.

License fees.

65. Licenses shall be granted by resolution of the Council, upon payment of license fees, as follows:—For every license granted between the first day of January and the thirty-first day of December, one pound one shilling (£1 1s.). All licenses shall expire on the thirty-first day of December in each year, and may be renewed by resolution of the Council, upon written application fourteen days previous to the expiry of such license, and on payment of the annual fee of one pound one shilling (£1 1s.).

PART VII.

BY-LAWS made under and for carrying into effect the provisions of the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875.

1. Every person who shall be about to erect a closet, or form, excavate, or make a cesspit, shall before he shall commence to erect such closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit, deliver to the Council Clerk of the Borough a notice in writing of the intention of such person to erect such closet, or form, excavate, or make such cesspit, and of the place or position in which it is intended that such closet shall be erected, or such cesspit formed, excavated, or made; and if any person shall commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit within the said Borough or cause such to be done without having given such notice in writing as aforesaid, and before the expiration of seven days after the delivery of such notice (except by the written authority of the Inspector of Nuisances for the said Borough or officer for the time being appointed by the Council of the said Borough on that behalf) he shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds, nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

2. No person shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit, except in such place or position as shall be approved by said Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid, and any person who shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit or cause such to be done without having obtained the approval of the said Inspector of Nuisances or other officer, or in any position or place other than the place or position approved of by the said Inspector or other officer as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence; but any person who shall feel aggrieved by the decision of the said Inspector or other officer as aforesaid, may appeal against the same to the Council.

3. Every cesspit to be constructed within the Borough shall be not more than five feet deep, four feet wide, and four feet six inches long, nor less than four feet deep, three feet wide, and four feet long, inside measurement (except as hereinafter provided); such cesspit shall be built of 9-inch brick-work set in cement, and the top of such cesspit shall be at least nine inches above the surface of the ground; and shall also if deemed desirable by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council aforesaid be plastered with cement the whole or any portion thereof; the whole of the work done and the material used in the construction of said cesspit to be of good quality, and approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid, and no cesspit shall be formed, excavated, or made under any dwelling-house nor at a less distance than twenty feet therefrom (area permitting), every person who shall so form, excavate, or make any cesspit under any dwelling-house, or at a less distance than twenty feet therefrom (area permitting) or cause such to be done shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

4. Every closet shall be built with walls not less than six feet six inches high, measured from floor level to top of wall-plate, and covered with corrugated iron, slates, tile, or shingles, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened on the inside, and with a man hole in the floor not less than two feet square clear measurement, such man hole to be covered with a trap door; the whole of the work done and the material used in the construction of such closet to be of good quality and approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid, and any person who shall build or erect or cause to be built or erected any closet which shall not be in accordance with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

5. When necessary in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances, the owner, occupier, or lessee of any premises shall cause the closet attached to the same to be lime washed; and any person neglecting to comply with this By-law after having received seven days' notice shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding one pound nor less than ten shillings.

6. Where two closets adjoin each other there shall be a sufficient dividing wall, not less than nine inches in thickness, between such closets as aforesaid, and such walls shall extend from the bottom of the cesspit up to the roof of the closet so as to effect a complete separation, and if any person shall erect any two closets as aforesaid, and not in accordance with this By-law, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

7. A separate closet shall be provided for each tenement by the owner or lessee of such tenement, and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

8. In schools, factories, or other places of business, where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside or be occupied or employed, one closet shall be provided for every twenty persons, with a cesspit of a capacity of not less nor more than 90 cubic feet, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex, and every owner, occupier, or tenant of such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against the provisions of this By-law, or fail to provide the number of closets in this By-law mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five pounds, and shall be guilty of a separate offence for every day during which the provisions of this By-law shall not be complied with.

9. If any alteration shall be requisite in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council in their behalf for preserving public decency or health, in case of any existing cesspit or closet, and the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to health or opposed to decency, by exposure or otherwise, and the owner or occupier of the premises on which such cesspit or closet shall be, shall not make the necessary alterations after receiving fourteen days' notice from the Council Clerk or Inspector of Nuisances, it shall be lawful for the said Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council, to remove the said nuisance, and any expense incurred thereby may be sued for and recovered in a summary way before any one or more Justices of the Peace.

10. Until otherwise provided for by the Council, all night-soil shall be removed from cesspits by contract, in watertight covered vehicles, between the hours of half-past 10 p.m. and 5 a.m.; and if any person shall remove, or cause, permit or suffer to be removed from any cesspit any nightsoil in any other manner or at any other time than as provided by this By-law, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

11. In case the Council shall sell or give away any night-soil, the same shall be removed in the same manner and between the same hours as aforesaid, and on being removed from the vehicles in which it is carried shall be deodorized by chemicals, or in some other effective manner, or covered with earth, so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom; on breach of this By-law the person or persons to whom the said nightsoil shall be sold or given shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

12. The Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, therein, on all days except Sundays and holidays, and every person who shall hinder or obstruct any Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid, upon any such visitation or inspection, or in the doing or performing of any work, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

13. All expenses incurred by the Council in emptying any cesspit shall be repaid to the Council by the owner or occupant of the premises whereon such cesspit is situated, within one week after a written demand of the amount made by the Inspector of Nuisances shall have been served upon him or her, otherwise the same may be recovered in a summary way before any two Justices of the Peace, and the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall prosecute in all cases for the recovery of the hereinbefore mentioned expenses, as well as any breaches of these By-laws.

Passed by the Council of the Borough of Waterloo, this 3rd day of October, 1889.

Closing existing cemeteries.

89. After the gazetting of this By-law, no person or persons, other than those owning land therein, shall bury or cause to be buried any corpse in any existing cemetery now open for burial in the Municipal District of Ryde (excepting the General Cemetery on the Field of Mars Common) within the distance of one hundred yards from any public building, place of worship, schoolroom, dwelling-place, public pathway, street, road, or place whatsoever; and no person or persons owning land in any existing cemetery now open for burial (with the above-named exception on the Field of Mars Common) shall bury or cause to be buried any corpse in any such cemetery within the aforesaid distances of the aforesaid places after the 31st day of December, 1899: Provided, however, that said owners of land may bury after said 31st day of December, 1899, on obtaining permission from the Secretary for Lands to do so. Any person or persons who shall commit a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Riding or driving round corners.

90. Any person who shall ride or drive round corners at the intersections of Parkes and Church Streets, Glebe and Church Streets, Morrison Road and Church-street, Glebe and Belmore Streets, and the corner at the "Steamboat Inn," at a pace faster than a walk, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Remaining or loitering on footpaths.

91. Any person or persons remaining or loitering in or obstructing any road, street, footway, or other public place within the Municipality after being requested by any member of the police force or some officer of the Municipality to desist from so remaining or loitering on or obstructing, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than five pounds, and for every subsequent conviction shall be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Breeding or keeping swine.

92. Any person or persons who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other hereditament, situate or being within forty yards of any street or public place or any dwelling-house in the said Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Slaughtering sheep, cattle, &c., within the Municipality.

93. It shall not be lawful for any person to slaughter or cause to be slaughtered, for purposes of sale, any cattle, sheep, swine, or any other beast, in any house, enclosure, or place within the Municipality of Ryde, other than licensed slaughter-houses; and any person offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than twenty shillings nor more than ten pounds for every such offence.

The foregoing By-laws were made and passed by the Ryde Municipal Council, at a meeting held in the Ryde Council Chambers on the 2nd day of April, 1890.

(I.S.) GEORGE LOVELL,
Mayor.

W. SHORT, Council Clerk.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF RYDE.

REPEAL OF BY-LAWS under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

THAT By-laws Nos. 1, 4, and 13, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," and published in the Government Gazette of 26th June, 1889, be and the same are hereby repealed.

ADDITIONAL BY-LAWS made by the Municipal Council of Ryde, under the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

Filling up existing cesspits.

1. That the dry-earth closet system be adopted exclusively throughout the Municipal District of Ryde, and that all existing cesspits be cleaned out and filled up. Any person infringing the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound, nor more than three pounds.

Dimensions of closet, pan, dry-earth box, &c.

4. Every closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide, and 4 feet 6 inches long, shall be provided with a box or other receptacle for dry-earth or ashes, of which a sufficient quantity to deodorize the excreta therein shall be deposited in the closet-pan daily, and must further be provided with a pan 14 inches square (unless permission be given by the Council in writing to use a pan of other dimensions); and every person who shall erect any closet not in accordance with this By-law, or use pans of other dimensions than those specified shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than forty shillings, and shall be compelled to remove the same within one month of receipt of notice to that effect, or be liable to a further penalty of not more than ten pounds.

Burial of night-soil by those who have obtained permission.

13. All night-soil shall be removed by those persons who have obtained permission from the Council to bury the same once in seven days or oftener if necessary, and buried in the earth; and every person infringing or not complying with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Temporary closets to buildings in course of erection.

18. When any new building is about to be erected the builder or builders thereof shall first erect or cause to be erected on the premises a temporary closet not less than 3 feet 6 inches by 3 feet for the use of the workmen employed in the construction of the new building; and any person neglecting to conform to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Obstructing contractor for the removal of night-soil.

19. No person or persons shall refuse to permit or cause any other person or persons to obstruct any of the Council's contractors, servants, or nightmen in entering on any premises for the purpose of removing the contents of any closet. Any person or persons who shall commit a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds, and no allowance will be made on account of such closet not being emptied.

Notice on leaving premises.

20. The occupant or owner of any premises on leaving or removing to any other premises shall immediately give notice to the Inspector of Nuisances, otherwise no allowance shall be made for any error that may occur through such neglect.

The foregoing By-laws were made and passed by the Ryde Municipal Council, at a meeting held in the Ryde Council Chambers on the 2nd day of April, 1890.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT OF 1867, AND NUISANCES
PREVENTION ACT, 1875.
(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF KOGARAH—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Acts 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 158, and 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10th September, 1890.

KOGARAH MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Kogarah, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and "Nuisances Prevention Act 1875," having been respectively confirmed and approved by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF KOGARAH.—BY-LAWS.

BY-LAWS made by the Council of the Municipal District of Kogarah, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867."

Ordinary Meeting of Council.

1. Unless otherwise ordered the Council shall meet for dispatch of business on every alternate Monday, at the hour of 7 30 p.m., unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In such case the Meeting shall be held on such day as the Mayor may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting.

Adjournment for want of quorum.

3. In the event of a quorum not being present at any meeting of the Council within half an hour after the time appointed for the holding of such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall be entered in the Minute-book by the Council Clerk, and the meeting shall lapse. Should it appear at any time during the holding of any meeting that there is not a quorum of members present the Mayor, shall have power to adjourn such meeting, or intended meeting, to some other time.

Order of business.

4. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings :—

First. The minutes of the preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and signed by the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes except as to whether they are correct.

Second. Correspondence to be read and orders made thereon, if expedient.

Third. Reports from Committees and Minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and orders made thereon.

Fourth. Petitions (if any) to be read and dealt with.

Fifth. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to, and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council, or any of the Committees or Officers to be made, or any other special business, but shall not be debated.

Sixth. Orders of the day.

Seventh. Motions of which due notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.

Eighth. Tenders to be opened and dealt with.

Other motions.

5. Provided that it shall be competent for the Council, by consent of all members present, at any time to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section.

Business paper for Special Meetings.

6. The business paper for a special meeting shall contain only such matter as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Aldermen calling such meeting.

Minutes—how confirmed.

7. The question for confirming the minutes shall be proposed and seconded immediately upon their being read, and shall be to the effect that the minutes now read be confirmed as a correct record of the proceedings, and no discussion shall be allowed thereon, except on the point of accuracy. Minutes of the previous meetings to be read and verified at special meetings.

Answer to questions.

8. It shall not be compulsory for the Mayor to give official replies to questions put to him, unless he shall have had twenty-four hours' notice thereof.

Business paper—how prepared. See Sec. 104 of Act.

9. The business paper for every meeting of the Council shall be made up by the Council Clerk and sent by post to the Mayor and Aldermen, or left at their respective residences, at least twenty-four hours before the time appointed for such meeting,

The Council Clerk shall enter on such business paper a copy, or the substance of every notice of motion, and of every order referring to business proposed to be entertained at such meeting.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter is disposed of.

10. All notices of motion, &c., for consideration at general meetings, shall be delivered to the Council Clerk at least four days before such meeting, in writing, and shall be numbered by him as they are received and entered on the business paper according to their number; and each notice shall be preserved by such clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of. Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, &c., shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

Motion, &c., withdrawn or altered.

11. No notice of motion, &c., shall be withdrawn from the business paper, altered, or amended, without leave having been first obtained from the Council.

Motion to rescind by call of Council.

12. No motion, the effect of which if carried would be to rescind any motion which has already passed the Council during the preceding twelve months, shall be entertained, unless a "Call of the whole Council" has been duly made and granted for that purpose, and no such motion shall be discussed until the previous resolution be rescinded.

How business paper is to be disposed of.

13. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall at such meeting be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with; and such business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

Motions—how to be moved.

14. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand in the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from such business paper and be considered to have lapsed.

Amount of vote to be included on business paper.

15. All notices of motion and orders of the day involving an expenditure must include the probable amount proposed to be expended. No amendment shall be proposed to incur a greater expenditure than the original motion of which due notice has been given to the Aldermen, nor shall there be entertained any motion incidentally involving an expenditure without such notice. (See also By-laws 63 and 65.)

Motion for adjournment.

16. No discussion shall be permitted on any motion for adjournment of the Council; and if upon the question being put on any such motion the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration, or the next in order on the business paper, or any other on such paper that shall be allowed precedence, shall be disposed of before any subsequent motion of adjournment shall be in order.

Of what orders of the day shall consist.

17. The orders of the day shall consist of all matters (other than notices of motion) which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or which shall necessarily arise out of the proceedings of a former meeting, or which the Mayor or any Committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

Petitions.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

18. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same; and all petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

How petitions are to be dealt with.

19. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that it be received and referred to a Committee, or that it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Reports from Committees.

Form of report.

20. All reports from Committees shall be in writing, and signed by the Chairman of such Committee.

Mayor's Minutes.

21. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance by a minute in writing signed by himself.

How Reports, &c., are to be dealt with.

22. No motion shall be permissible on the presentation of a report from a Committee or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, or that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may be moved or considered in due course.

Order of Debate.

Amendments—how disposed of.

23. Whenever an amendment is moved upon an original proposition, no second amendment shall be taken into consideration until the first amendment has been disposed of. If the first amendment be carried it shall displace the original question and become itself the question subject to any further amendment. If the first amendment be negatived, then a second amendment may be moved upon the original question under consideration; but only one amendment shall be submitted to the Council for discussion at one time.

Mode of addressing the Council, &c.

24. Every Alderman who shall propose or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take part in any debate or discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way or for any other purpose address observations to the Council, shall, while so doing, stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from doing so by some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may by permission of such Mayor or Chairman be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case the question so put and the answer thereto shall be subject to every legal objection on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

25. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided.

Speaker not to digress, &c.

26. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, nor impute improper motives to any other Alderman.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

27. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Aldermen may require question to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

28. Any Alderman may request the subject matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such matter which are readily accessible: Provided, however, that no such request shall be so made as to interrupt any other Alderman when speaking, or materially to interrupt the discussion: Provided also that if any such request shall appear to the Mayor not to have been made bona fide, it shall not be complied with.

Lapsed business.

29. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the consideration of such question shall in such case be resumed, at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid, at the next fortnightly meeting and in its proper order.

Previous question.

30. On the previous question being moved and seconded, no debate shall be permitted.

Motion, debate, &c., may be adjourned.

31. Any particular motion or business may be adjourned to a later hour or to any other day specified. A debate also may be so adjourned, and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Members speaking.

32. No member shall speak on any motion or amendment longer than ten minutes, without the consent of the Council.

Absence of proposed mover.

33. No notice of motion which shall have been entered on the business paper shall be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

34. No motion shall be discussed until it be seconded.

Motion may be divided.

35. The Mayor shall have power to order a complicated question to be divided and put to the meeting separately.

Limitation as to number of speeches, &c.

36. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of one general reply to any objections which may have been made in reference to such motion (but not otherwise), and shall not introduce any new matter, the word objections to mean amendments and motions to postpone. Every other Alderman shall be at liberty to speak once upon such motion, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he may by permission of the Mayor be permitted to explain only, without adding any further observations.

Mover and seconder.

37. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but any Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment, as the case may be.

Amendment may be moved.

38. When a motion has been proposed and seconded any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, in writing, but no such amendment shall be discussed until it be seconded.

Amendments to be in writing.

39. All amendments must be in writing, signed by mover and delivered to the clerk, who shall add thereto the name of the seconder. Any member, excepting the mover and seconder, having previously spoken to the original motion, shall not at this stage speak, but may do so on the amendment becoming the question before the Council.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

40. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final in that particular case; and the Mayor or Chairman may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman, there shall be a necessity for so doing; and every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument, or observation moved, used, or made by any other member which such first-named member may consider out of order. And the Mayor or Chairman, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provisions, rule, or practice which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting upon the same.

Penalties for persisting in disorderly conduct.

41. Any member of the Council, either in Council or Committee, who shall have been called to order by the Mayor or Chairman, and who shall still persist in any line of conduct or argument which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable on conviction for such offence to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds sterling.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

42. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the decision of the majority of members present.

Division—penalty for refusing to vote.

43. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative, and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman present when a division is called for, and in any way refusing to vote on such division, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds sterling.

Protests.

Mode of protesting. Protest to be recorded.

44. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council; notice of the intention so to protest must however be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice.

Special powers of Mayor.

45. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any return or statement, or the giving of any explanation or information by any such officer or servant in connection with his duties as he may think necessary.

Usage of Houses of Parliament to be observed unless other provision made

46. In all cases not herein provided for resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and practices of the New South Wales Parliament, which shall be followed as far as they can be applied to the proceedings of this Council.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be made.

47. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution of which due notice shall have been given, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

48. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered shall be moved or considered. Such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all the members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name so called; and if any members are absent, a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such member shall have previously been granted, or if such an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse, and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.—Further call when question adjourned.

49. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who being absent shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent, and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness or any other sufficient cause he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds sterling: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day, there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration; and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call: And if there shall be more than one adjournment, this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees

Standing Committees.

50. There shall be four Standing Committees, viz., Works or Improvement, Finance, By-laws, and Lighting, each to consist of not less than three Aldermen. These Committees shall be reappointed every year at the first meeting of the Council which shall be held after the election of the Mayor, and shall hold office until their successors are appointed.

Works of Improvement Committee.

51. The Works Committee shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves, and other public places under the care and management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed, by resolution of the Council, to inquire into and report upon.

Finance Committee.

52. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect or to be likely to affect the finances of the Borough; and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed, by resolution of the Council, to inquire into and report upon.

By-law Committee.

53. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council drafts of all such By-laws as may be required. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may discover in the keeping of such records. They shall also consider and report in due course upon any matter referred to them by the Council.

Lighting Committee.

54. The Lighting Committee shall carefully consider all matters referred to them by the Council from time to time in connection with or appertaining to the lighting of the Municipal District, the supply of gas or otherwise under control; and such Committee shall without delay report to the Council in writing, with such recommendations as they may deem necessary.

Special Committees.

55. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully intrusted to a Committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a special Committee ought to be appointed. And no standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been intrusted to any such special Committee. The appointment of every such special Committee shall be made by resolution, after due notice, and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be intrusted to such special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as in his opinion ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members.

Chairman of Committee.

56. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a Chairman of such Committee.

Term of service in Committees.

57. The appointment of every special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the right of such Committee to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another Chairman in his stead.

Committee Meetings—How called.

58. The Council Clerk shall, by giving twenty-fours' notice, except in case of emergency, call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee, or the Chairman thereof may call a meeting if he shall think fit.

Records of transactions in Committee.

59. The Chairman of each standing Committee shall make or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

60. No person, except a member of a Committee, shall be admitted at any meeting of such Committee without the consent of the Chairman, and the approval of the majority of members present.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters, cost of all works to be estimated before undertaken.

61. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Borough shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses—Expenses authorized to be reported.—Outlay to be in accord with orders of the Council.

62. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—
1. By order of the Works Committee or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee,—for repairs or emergent works in one place, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor,—for necessary current expenses, the extent of two pounds.

Provided in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting; such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Works Committee or the Mayor, by whom such outlay shall have been authorized. Also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council; and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence be thus authorized.

Expenses of proposed works to be first ascertained—Accounts to be examined by Finance Committee.

63. No work shall be undertaken, the cost of which shall exceed twenty pounds, until the expediency thereof shall be reported upon by the Works' Committee and the probable expense thereof shall have been ascertained by the Council; and all accounts to be paid by the Council shall be examined by the Finance Committee and reported on by them before any warrant shall be issued for the payment thereof.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

64. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Special Committee for that purpose before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.

65. No payment shall be ordered unless there shall be a certificate or memorandum from the Committee, Mayor, or officer of the Council to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled before recommending payment: Provided that in cases of special expenditure under section 62 of this Part of these By-laws, the report directed by that section to be laid before the Council shall, if the outlay shall have been lawfully incurred, be deemed a sufficient certificate.

Common Seal and Records of the Council.Common Seal.

66. The common seal shall be in the custody and care of the Council Clerk, and shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or, in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

Records of the Council defined.

67. The minute-book, letter-book, and all rate and assessment books, books of account, records, statements and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, electoral rolls, and records relating to elections, business papers, reports from Committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions, letters on municipal business addressed to the Council or to the Mayor, or to any officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda relating to municipal business, drawings, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council, shall be deemed records of the Council.

Records not to be removed &c.—Penalties.—Exceptional circumstances.—Receipt to be given in every case before document received.—Proviso as to use of records as matters of evidence.

68. Any person removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid from the Council Chamber, without leave for such removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal as hereinafter provided, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk or the Treasurer by the Mayor in order that such Clerk or Treasurer may post up entries or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform; also that the Mayor, or the Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any such Chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution or suit at law, by, against, or at the instance of the Council; but in all such cases such Clerk, Treasurer, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for every document so removed, and every such receipt shall be preserved among the records until the book or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed. And provided also that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council, who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a Court of Law, shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as possible; and every such person so removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

69. Any person destroying, defacing or altering any record of the Council, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than fifty pounds.

70. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council to which a salary or allowance of fifty pounds or exceeding that amount is attached, shall be made until public notice shall have been given as hereinafter provided, inviting applications from qualified candidates for the same, the salary or allowance attached to such office shall in every case be fixed before such notice is given and shall be stated in such notices.

71. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the employment as may be from time to time found necessary and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Municipality.

Officers and Servants.Bonds for good conduct.

72. All bonds of officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the attorney or bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

73. The Council Clerk, in compliance with the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other By-laws made thereunder, shall perform the following duties, viz. :—

1. Attend all Council Meetings.
2. Attend all Courts of Revision and Appeal.
3. Summon the members of the Council to all Council or Committee Meetings.
4. Take notes of all minutes and prepare reports of all Committees.
5. Conduct all correspondence ordered by the Council, or under the direction of the Mayor, and give all other officers instructions as directed by the minutes.
6. To see that the accounts are audited and the balance sheet duly submitted twice a year within the times specified by law.
7. To see the Gazetting of all By-laws and necessary advertisements.
8. To see that the Assessment Books, and the Municipal Lists and Rolls are duly prepared; examine proofs of latter, and arrange for distribution of copies, on payment, to electors, prior to the elections.
9. Make all necessary arrangements for the elections, preparing all papers, &c., for presiding officers and poll clerks.
10. Prepare all bonds of officers; see that the guarantees are given and agreements duly signed, &c., and report same to the Council.
11. Advise with the officers from time to time as to their duties and the mode of carrying them out.
12. See that all levels and names of streets have been duly advertised as provided for by law, and authenticated the Mayor's signature.
13. To bring under the notice of the Mayor any matter or thing requiring his prompt attention.
14. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of the Council, except such books or documents as may be intrusted to any other officer of the Council, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council.
15. He shall enter into a Guarantee Society's Security for an amount fixed by the Council from time to time for not less than £300, for the faithful performance of his duties.
16. And otherwise as provided for by any Act in force relating to the Municipal District of Kogarah.

Complaints against officers, &c., how dealt with.

74. All complaints against officers or servants of the Corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing or is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the same before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same, and report thereon at the next meeting; or he may, if necessary, suspend such officer or servant till the Council shall have dealt with the charge.

Miscellaneous.Leave of absence.

75. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman otherwise than by resolution of the Council, adopted after due notice.

PART II.Collection and enforcement of Rates.

Times and modes of collection.—Rates to be collected yearly.

76. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provisions of the Municipalities Act of 1867 and its amendments, shall be levied and collected for the year and be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rates.

Rates on damaged premises.

77. In the event of any premises being wholly or partially destroyed by fire or other accident, the Council shall have power to accept an equitable proportion of the assessed rates of such premises for the remainder of any municipal year.

Rates to be paid at office of Council Clerk.

78. All persons liable to pay any rates as aforesaid shall pay the amount thereof, within the time prescribed by the said resolution, into the office of the Council Clerk, during the office hours appointed by the Council.

Defaulters.

79. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons whose rates are unpaid at the expiration of the times fixed for payment of the same as aforesaid.

Mayor to enforce payment.

80. The Mayor shall issue distress warrants against all such persons, and cause such warrants to be enforced, or cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

Enforcements by Distress.Bailiff.

81. A Bailiff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Council, and the said Bailiff shall find sureties to the satisfaction of the Council, to the extent of not less than twenty pounds each, for the faithful performance of his duties; and it shall be the duty of the Bailiff to make all levies, by distress, for the recovery of rates, in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

82. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A. hereto, under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

83. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid with costs, as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the Bailiff shall cause to be sold the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the said Municipal District as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

84. At the time of making a distress the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to such person, on demand, at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

85. The Bailiff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same, on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

86. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

87. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

88. There shall be payable to the Bailiff, for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under these By-laws the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

SCHEDULE A.Warrant of distress.

89. I, _____ Mayor of the Municipal District of Kogarah, do hereby authorize you, _____ the Bailiff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Municipality to the _____ day of _____ for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises as the case may be), and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said Rates according to law.

PART III.

Preventing and extinguishing fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &c.

92. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, or workshop, out offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable material of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds; and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for twenty-four hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Inflammable fences, &c.

93. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as or for the covering of any such stack any inflammable material, so as to endanger contiguous buildings or properties, or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties, shall forfeit on conviction for every such offence a penalty of not more than five pounds, and also shall remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after such conviction. And any person failing to remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Discharging fireworks, firearms, &c.

94. Every person who shall light any bonfire, tar barrel, or fireworks, or shall discharge any firearms, or who shall light any combustible matter to the endangering of property upon or within sixty yards of any public or private street, or any public place, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Wilfully setting fire to chimneys.

95. Every person who wilfully sets or causes to be set on fire any chimney flue, smoke-vent, or stove-pipe herein called in common a "chimney," shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Tenders.

96. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or material supplied to exceed the sum of £15, the same shall be executed or supplied by contract, and tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice as hereinafter provided. Each tender must be accompanied by an undertaking from two approved persons who are willing to become sureties for the due performance of the work by the person tendering. The Council shall not be bound to accept any tender, but in all cases the preference shall be given to the lowest tender if the price and sureties be approved of.

Notices.

97. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation of the Council or any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the said Council, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same twice in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality.

Persons obstructing officers of the Council.

98. Any person or persons who shall obstruct any officer of the said Council, while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing or performing, or going to perform or returning from the performance of any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threat, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language towards the said officer in any street, road, or other place within the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

New roads to be reported on.

99. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been formed by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee of Works or any duly authorized officer, or until the said road, street, way, or park shall have been reported upon to the Council by such Committee or duly authorized officer.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

100. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, way or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed as aforesaid shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, park, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Works Committee, and such further instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Change of street levels.

101. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cuttings to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for fourteen days for the information and inspection of ratepayer, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality that such plan is open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council, the same plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section, so signed and countersigned, shall be a record of the Council.

Roads and streets and encroachments therein, &c.

102. The Committee of Works or the Surveyor of the Municipality, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot ways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had when practicable to the plans under which the land with frontage to the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare in question shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee of Works or Surveyor or other officer to place posts at the corners of intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares, whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the footway on each side where the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide, and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council in any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than 66 feet. Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or public place, until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council, as hereinafter provided.

This By-law shall be subject in all respects to "The Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1881" (45 Vic. No. 28).

Kerbing, &c.

103. The Council may cause any work such as kerbing, guttering, road-making, and other required works to be executed under its control in any case, upon receiving a request for the same to be done, and upon the person requesting same agreeing to pay the cost of the same, authorized from time to time by the Council.

Erection of houses, &c.

104. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place, within this Municipality, without his serving notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk, stating such intention and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, nor without having received an authority from the Mayor or Council Clerk, who will give the required level on payment of a fee of five shillings. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building line in any street or lane by the erection of verandahs, overhanging balconies, doorsteps, fences, or any other obstruction whatever. Any person offending against this By-law shall be liable to a fine of not less than ten shillings and not exceeding ten pounds; and in the case of encroachment shall be liable to a further fine of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds for every day the same shall remain unremoved or unaltered after receiving seven days' notice to that effect.

Subdivision of land

105. Any person or persons being desirous of subdividing any land into allotments shall submit a plan to the Council for their approval, showing the extent of each such proposed subdivision and the provision for drainage, one month prior to disposal of the same being made. For neglecting to do so they shall be liable to a penalty of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Change of street names.

106. The Council shall have power from time to time, as they may deem expedient, to alter the name of any street, road, lane, avenue, or other public road situate within the Municipality, and so soon thereafter as may be convenient shall cause a notification thereof to be inserted in the Government Gazette and one or more daily newspapers circulating within the Municipality.

No Private Sewers to be made to communicate with the Public Sewers without notice.

107. It shall not be lawful for any person, without permission from the Council, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the said public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith, without such notice, or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such offence on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds, and shall close such private drain under a further penalty of two pounds a week or part of a week so long as such private drain remains after such conviction.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and cleanse same.

108. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the authorized officers of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired and cleansed, according to the direction of the said officer, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Drains for discharge of surface water from land.

109. Every owner or occupier of land in, adjoining to, or near any street if such land shall be so situated that surface or storm water from, or upon the same shall overflow or shall tend naturally, if not otherwise discharged, to overflow any footway of such street, shall, within seven days next after the service of notice from the Council for that purpose, construct and lay a covered drain from such point upon such land being near to the footway, as shall be specified in such notice by plan appended or otherwise, and higher in level than the bottom of the channel at the outer edge of the footway to the said channel, and through, under, and transversely to the footway, and keep in good condition such covered drain, as and subject to the inspection of the Council or its proper officers; and in default of compliance with any such notice within the period aforesaid or with the provisions of this By-law, such owner or occupier shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings. And if after such conviction, such drain shall not be constructed as herein specified, or kept in good condition, such owner or occupier shall forfeit any sum not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds per day for each and every day after such conviction.

Houses, &c., spouted.

110. All proprietors of houses within the Municipality having a frontage to any street shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted, and the down pipe carried under the surface of the footpath into the gutter, under a penalty of ten shillings on conviction; and if not remedied at the expiration of seven days after such conviction, the offender shall be again liable to a like conviction and penalty, also for every succeeding seven days.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

111. Any person who shall form, dig or open any drain or sewer, or remove or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material used in the formation of the streets, in or from any part of the carriage or footway of any street, or other public place within the said Municipal District, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall break up or otherwise damage any such carriage or footway, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Digging holes, &c.

112. If any person shall make, or dig, or cause to be made or dug any hole, or leave or cause to be left any hole in or adjoining to any street, road, or public place within the said Municipality for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, and shall not forthwith enclose the same in a good and sufficient manner, or shall keep or cause to be kept up and continued any such enclosure for any time which shall not be longer than shall be reasonably required, or shall not when thereunto required by the said Council, well and sufficiently fence or enclose any such hole within twenty-four hours after he shall be required to do so by the said Council, and in the manner and with such materials as they shall direct, and to their satisfaction, and shall not place a light upon the said enclosure and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, then and in every such case the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence and for every such refusal or neglect any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Lights on obstructions, hoardings, &c.

113. Any person who shall have caused building materials, or hoarding enclosing such building materials, or any obstruction whatever to be placed on any portion of the footway or roadway in any street or streets of this Municipality, without having first obtained permission from the Council, and paid a fee of five shillings, and shall also keep the same properly lighted from sunset to sunrise, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs, &c.

114. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

115. Any person who shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles, or to drag or to trail upon any part of such street or public place, to the injury thereof, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damages occasioned thereby.

Throwing filth, &c., on footways, &c.—Killing animals.

116. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, slops, suds, or filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing, into any public, water-course, sewer or canal, or in or upon the carriage way, footway or water table of any street, lane, or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal for the purpose of sale, upon any premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a fine not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, and shall in addition to any such forfeiture pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction.

Driving carriages, &c., on footways.

117. Any person who shall run, drive, draw, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, driven or drawn upon any of the said footways of any such street or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, handbarrow or truck, or any hogshead, cask or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse or other beast upon any such footway, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for the offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on footways, &c.—Not removing when required—Replacing the same after removal.

118. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever, in or upon or over any carriage or footway in any street or public place within the said Municipality; or shall place or cause to be placed any coach, cart, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, or any carriage upon any such carriage-way or footway, except for the necessary time of loading or unloading, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually lired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals; or if any person shall set or place or cause to be placed in or upon or over any such carriage or footway any timber, stones, bricks, lime, or other materials or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of such footway or carriage-way, or over any area of any house or other building or premises, and shall not immediately and permanently remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other proper officer of the Council, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay—for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Obstructing public pathways.

119. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipality shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such street or road, and, on demand made by the Council, shall not cut, lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs or plants to the height of eight feet at the least, the said Council, by their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut or cause to be cut or lopped, at the expense of such owner or occupier, all such overhanging trees, plants or shrubs, and to remove or burn any such trees, plants or shrubs so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Notices not to be painted on pavement.

120. Any person who shall stamp, stain, paint, write, or post any advertisement or notice upon any footway or kerbstones within this Municipality, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Offensive or indecent placards.

121. Any person who shall in any street or place within this Municipality post, expose to view, or distribute any placard, handbill, or other document whatever of an offensive or indecent character, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Placards not to be fixed to walls, &c., without consent.

122. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard or other paper upon any wall, house, fence, or other erection, nor deface any such wall, house, fence, or erection by chalk or paint, or in any other manner, unless with the consent of the owner thereof; and every person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

123. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock or earth within fifty yards of any road, street, public place, or dwelling, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety, on payment of a fee of five shillings; and if any person shall blast or cause to be blasted any rock or earth within the limits aforesaid without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the Council Clerk, he shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds.

Slop, night-soil, &c., to be conveyed away only at certain hours.

124. Any person or persons who shall drive or cause to be driven any cart or other carriage with night-soil therein through or in any street or public place within the said Borough, between the hours of five o'clock in the morning and ten o'clock at night—or shall fill any cart or other carriage so as to turn over, cast any night-soil, slop, mire or channel-dirt, or filth, in or upon any such street or public place—or shall deposit or cause to be deposited any night-soil or other offensive matter nearer to any street, road or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or by the Inspector of Nuisances—or shall remove night-soil or other offensive matter otherwise than in properly covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles—or shall cause any vehicle used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any street, road or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or the said Inspector of Nuisances—shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and in case the person so offending shall not be known to the said Council or Inspector, then the owner of such cart or carriage in which such night-soil or offensive matter shall be put or placed, and also the employer of the person so offending, shall be liable to and forfeit and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

Riding on drays, careless driving, &c.

125. If the driver of any vehicle whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such a vehicle, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon any street or road that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses, or by negligence or misbehaviour, prevent, hinder or interrupt the free passage of any other vehicle or person in or upon the said thoroughfare,—every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Riding or driving furiously, &c.

126. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street or public place within the said Municipality so negligently, carelessly, or furiously that the safety of any other person shall or may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

127. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

128. Any person who shall damage any public building, toll-gate, toll-bar, toll-board, wall, parapet, fence, sluice, bridge, culvert, sewer water-course, or other public property within the said Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if such damage be wilfully done, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Persons not to stand or loiter in streets.

129. All persons standing or loitering upon any of the footways or other public places in this Municipality to the inconvenience of the passers-by or in any way interrupting the traffic, and shall not discontinue to do so on being requested by any officer or servant of the Municipal District or any police officer shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Rubbish.

130. No kind of rubbish or offensive matter shall be thrown upon any public or private property within the Municipality without permission first obtained from the Municipal Council or the owner or owners of such property. Persons found guilty of a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

131. All vehicles driven upon any roads, streets, lanes, or thoroughfares within the said Municipality after sunset and before sunrise, shall carry on the off side a lamp to be kept lighted. Any person neglecting to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds, and not less than ten shillings.

Nuisances.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public water-course, &c.

132. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into a public water-course, sewer, or waterhole—or who shall suffer slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such water-course, sewer, or waterhole—or who shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the Municipality,—or shall permit or cause, by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public water-course, gutter, or waterhole,—or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer, water-course, or creek,—shall on conviction forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Swine not to be kept.

133. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other hereditament situate and being in or within forty yards of any street or public place or any dwelling-house in the said Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Cattle, &c., straying in the streets.

134. Any person who shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, or other cattle belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Stables, cow-sheds, and pig-sties.

135. The occupier of any land within this Municipality on which there shall be erected any stable, cow-yard, cattle-shed, or pig-sty, shall cause such premises to be kept in such a state, in respect to cleanliness, as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and shall cause all dung, soil, or manure produced or accumulated thereon to be collected in a place (to be approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances) in the yard of such premises, and there to be in an inoffensive condition, and so as not to be productive of any nuisance; and shall cause such dung, soil, or other manure to be from time to time removed from such premises, as often as the quantity so collected shall amount to two cubic yards. And if at any time the owner or occupier of any such premises shall neglect or fail to have such dung, soil, or other manure removed therefrom as aforesaid, the same shall be removed by the Inspector of Nuisances, at the expense of such occupier. For an offence against this By-law, any person shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to private avenues, &c.

136. Any owner or occupier of any house, place or land within this Municipality who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, yards, and ways within the said premises, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, or who shall allow stagnant water to become a nuisance on his land shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings for every such offence; and upon the reasonable complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains, of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any person appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of; and the officer of the Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, &c.

137. It shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council, as often as he shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments or manufactories in the Municipality, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him shall seem needful; and any owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, or establishment, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Placing dead animals on premises.

138. Any person who shall place, or shall cause or suffer to be placed, upon any land or premises within the Municipality any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any other offensive matter so as to become a nuisance to the inhabitants thereof, shall on conviction suffer and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Deposit of rubbish, manure, &c.

139. No person shall deposit or cause or suffer to be deposited in or by the side of or on any road, street, right-of-way, lane, passage, water-channel or gutter, or in any creek, or in any other public place within the Municipality, any dust, mud, ashes, rubbish, filth, offal, manure, liquid manure, dung or soil; and no person shall deposit or cause or suffer to be deposited on any land, field or garden within the Municipality any night-soil, blood, offal or other offensive matter or thing without the written consent of the Mayor or Council, and any such offensive matter or thing which shall with such consent of the said Mayor or Council be so deposited, shall immediately on the deposit thereof be covered over by the person depositing the same, with such a quantity of earth as will at once prevent the escape of any noxious or offensive effluvia from any such manure, soil, or other offensive matter before mentioned.

Planting trees.

140. The Council shall have power to plant trees in the streets and public ways of this Municipality, and any person wilfully injuring or destroying any of such trees, or any railing or fence protecting the same shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds nor less than two pounds, in addition to the value of the trees, railing or fence so injured or destroyed.

Damaging trees.

141. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub or underwood growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Allowing dead animals to remain on premises.

142. Any owner or occupier of any land or premises who shall suffer or permit any dead animal, blood, offal, night-soil, or any other offensive matter to remain upon the said land or premises after notice shall have been given to remove the same, shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings for every day that the same shall so remain.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

143. Every person who in any street or other public place or passage within the Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted or lower, or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling,

- (2.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (3.) Every person who shall place any flower-pot, box, or other thing, in any upper window, near to any street or public place, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown out.
- (4.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure), when any house or building is being erected, pulled down or repaired.
- (5.) Every person who shall, within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house, burn any rags, bones, cork, or any other offensive substance, to the annoyance of any inhabitant.
- (6.) Every person who shall carry goods or any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the footway of any street or other public footway.
- (7.) Every person who shall be the keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right of way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the Municipality.

Offences against public decency.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

144. Any person who shall bathe except in proper costume near to or within view of any inhabited house, or of any bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort, within the limits of the Municipality, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and eight in the evening, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Noisome and offensive Trades.

No noisome or offensive trades to be carried on to injury of any inhabitants.

145. No person shall carry on any manufacture or trade, in the conducting or carrying on of which, or from the premises where the same is carried on, any gas, vapour, or effluvia, or any large quantities of smoke shall be evolved or discharged, which shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life, or in any other way to injure or be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the Municipality; and upon complaint in writing by any householder that any offensive trade is being so conducted or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property as to injure his or her health or the health of any member of his or her family, or be a nuisance to such householder,—the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the Council. And if the Council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time as the Council may direct. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be offensive within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting or carrying on such trade as aforesaid shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty shillings nor more than five pounds, for a second offence a sum of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds, and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when noisome and offensive trade is about to be commenced.

146. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon, which is likely to prove offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measures as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming offensive, within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the Municipality. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue, any such manufacture, trade, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Service of Notice—Liabilities.

147. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, or calling is being carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last-known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

Damming up without consent.

148. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment in or across any creek or natural water-course, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if after such second conviction such person shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time, he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if within a reasonable time after a third or any further conviction he shall still fail to remove such dam or embankment, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds sterling.

Disposal of sewage, &c.

149. The Council shall have power from time to time to enforce the adoption or alteration of any system, which to them may appear necessary, for the better regulation, disposal, or treatment of night-soil, sewerage, or other drainage, and may suspend the use or further extension of any system which to them may seem detrimental to public health. Any person refusing to comply with any requisition made under this By-law after receiving notice from the Council or an officer under them, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound for each offence.

150. No corpse shall be interred in any existing cemetery now open for burials within 100 yards from any public building, place of worship, schoolroom, dwelling-house, public pathway, street, road, or place whatsoever, within the Municipality. No corpse shall be interred in any new cemetery that may hereafter be opened within the distance of 100 yards from any such public building, place of worship, schoolroom, dwelling-house, public pathway, street, road, or place whatsoever, within the said Municipality; and any person or persons having the charge of any cemetery, or other person or persons who shall knowingly inter, or cause or permit to be interred, any corpse within the Municipality contrary to the provisions of this By-law, or otherwise commit a breach thereof, shall for such offence be liable to any penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than five pounds, and for every subsequent offence to any penalty not exceeding the first-mentioned amount and not less than ten pounds.

Making By-laws.

151. No By-law shall be passed until it has been reported upon by the By-law Committee.

Made and passed by the Municipal Council of the Municipal District of Kogarah, this twenty-fourth day of March, A.D. 1890.

This seal was affixed by order of the Council.

(L.S.) P. HERRMANN,
E. T. SAYERS, Council Clerk. Mayor.

BY-LAWS made by the Municipal Council of Kogarah in accordance with the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

1. No persons shall hereafter be permitted to have on their premises any gutter, drain, or well which may be adjudged by the Council to be injurious to the health, or which may hereafter be made or constructed or placed contrary to the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act of 1875," or to any of these By-laws.

2. No persons shall hereafter be permitted to have on their premises any cesspits or closets which shall be adjudged by the Council to be (1) injurious to public health, or (2) to be opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, or (3) which may present obstacles to the emptying or cleansing of cesspits, or (4) which may hereafter be made or constructed or placed contrary to the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act of 1875," or to any of these By-laws.

And for the purposes of this By-law, the following shall be deemed to be contrary thereto:—

- (a) All cesspits excavated in the ground and not bricked and cemented at the sides and bottom.
- (b) All cesspits constructed within 20 feet at the nearest point from the nearest part of any well.
- (c) All cesspits constructed within 30 feet of any street, or within 5 feet of any lane or other thoroughfare.
- (d) All closets or cesspits which are not enclosed by a close fence, constructed of paling or other material to a height of five feet at least.
- (e) All closets or cesspits which may from their construction be liable to leak or soak into the adjoining soil.

(f) All cesspits constructed within 20 feet of any tenement now or hereafter to be erected.

3. No person shall be permitted to cover up or cause to be covered up any existing cesspit with earth or other material covered up any existing cesspit with earth or other material unless and until the same shall be properly emptied by the person appointed by the Council for that purpose. Any person offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

4. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement, in schools or factories, where a number of persons are employed. separate closets shall be provided for each sex, with a door to fasten on the inside; where two or more closets adjoin each other there shall be a dividing wall between each to effect complete separation; and any person offending against any of the provisions of this By-law shall incur a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds for each such offence.

5. No pan or bucket used as a receptacle in a dry-earth closet shall exceed in measurement more than one and a half cubic feet.

6. Any person desirous of having the Council's contractor to attend to their premises for the removal of refuse from a dry-earth closet, must provide a galvanized iron pan or bucket to hold such refuse, with two handles, and not of a larger capacity than to hold one and a half cubic feet.

7. All night-soil shall be removed by the contractor to the Council in carts to be constructed in an approved and water-tight manner to the satisfaction of the Council, and between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m. The contractor shall convey the same without delay to an appointed depot, and shall dispose of the same by burying in the earth to a depth of two feet from the top of the night-soil and covering with earth, so as to prevent any nuisance. And any contractor neglecting to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds and not less than ten pounds for every such offence.

8. The Council shall from time to time fix the charges to be made for emptying and removing night-soil from closets, which shall be emptied as often as may be necessary in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances. And no person shall remove such night-soil unless appointed so to do by the Council or permitted under By-law 11 hereafter.

9. No person shall hereafter make or place any cesspit upon any part of his premises, nor place any closet upon any part of his premises which may not be fenced off from any public street, lane, or thoroughfare, or adjoining property by a paling or other close fence at least five feet high, and distant from such street, lane, or thoroughfare at least twenty feet, and any person so offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds. And in case of breach of this By-law by any person, the Inspector of Nuisances is authorized to remove such closet and fill up such cesspit, and thereupon the person so offending shall also be liable to pay all expenses incurred thereby, to be recovered as in the said Act provided.

10. When any new building is about to be erected, the builder thereof shall first erect and fence off with a close paling fence five feet high on the premises a temporary closet, not less than three feet by two feet six inches for the use of the workmen employed on such building, and any person neglecting to conform to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and not less than two pounds.

11. Persons requiring the cesspits or closets on their premises to be emptied shall send written notice to the Inspector of Nuisances, and any person desiring to use the contents of any dry-earth closet may be permitted to do so upon request in writing, and upon making proper provision for emptying the same to the satisfaction of the Inspector of Nuisances: Provided that such permission shall be in writing from the Council, and signed by the Inspector of Nuisances.

12. No person shall permit, or cause or suffer to be permitted, or conceal any nuisance by the careless use of any closet, or by the careless emptying of the same. And any person so offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

13. Written notice must be given to the Council or the Inspector of Nuisances by all persons about to construct new, or alter existing closets, to enable the Inspector to visit and report on the same, under a penalty for neglect not exceeding five pounds and not less than two pounds. And all closets constructed without such notice given must be removed or altered, if judged necessary by the Council, under a further penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings for each and every day they may remain unremoved or unaltered after due notice to that effect.

14. The maximum penalty for a breach of any of these By-laws shall in each case be ten pounds, and the minimum penalty two pounds, unless otherwise provided for.

PART I.

PROCEEDINGS of the Council and Committees.—Preservation of order at Council Meetings.—Duties of officers and servants, &c.

By-laws repealed.

1. All existing By-laws of the Council of the Borough of St. Leonards, published in the Government Gazette from time to time prior to the adoption of the following, shall be and are hereby repealed.

Meetings of the Council.

Ordinary meetings.

2. The Council shall meet for the despatch of business at the hour of 7-30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesday in every calendar month, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case, the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.—Adjournment for want of quorum.

3. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down and recorded in the minute book.

Order of Business.

Business of ordinary meetings.

4. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings:—

1. The minutes of the last preceding meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Petitions (if any) to be presented and dealt with.
3. Correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.

4. Reports from Committees and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon.
5. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council or any of the Committees of officers to be made.
6. Matters which have been specially ordered to be placed on the business paper by the Mayor.
7. Motions of which notice has been given to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
8. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time, by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; also, and in like manner, to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business at special meetings.

5. At special meetings of the Council, the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at an ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor, or the Aldermen at whose instance such special meetings shall have been called, may have directed.

Business paper for ordinary meeting—how prepared.

6. The business paper for every meeting of the Council, other than a special meeting, shall be made up by the Council Clerk, or other person acting as his substitute, not less than forty-eight nor more than seventy-two hours before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy or the substance of every notice of motion and of every requisition or order as to business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter, in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of section 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws, in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction shall have been received.

Business paper for special meeting.

7. The business paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Aldermen calling such meeting.

Summons to members.

8. The summons to members of the Council for every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How business paper is to be disposed of.

9. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meeting, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with; and such business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter disposed of, unless withdrawn before business paper made up.

10. All notices of motion, and all requisitions from Aldermen, and directions from the Mayor as to the entry of any particular matters of business for the consideration of the Council at its then next or any future meeting, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received; and each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the minute book of the manner in which such matter has been so disposed of shall have been duly verified as required by section 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws: Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

After business paper made up, all notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

11. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all the said notices of motions, requisitions, and directions, as to which entries have been made thereon, shall be the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions and Amendments.

Motions—how to be moved.

12. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from such business paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Absence of proposed mover.

13. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper shall, except as hereinafter provided, be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given, unless by some other Alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first-named Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

14. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

15. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

16. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

17. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amended question—further amendment may be moved thereon.

18. If an amendment be carried, the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

19. If any amendment, either upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on: Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

20. No discussion shall be permitted on any motion for adjournment of the Council; and if, upon the question being put on any such motion, the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration, or the next in order on the business paper, or any other on such paper that may be allowed precedence, shall be discussed before any subsequent motion for adjournment shall be receivable.

Requisitions from Aldermen how to be dealt with.

21. Every requisition by an Alderman, that any particular matter of business be brought before the Council, shall be regarded and treated as a notice of motion by such Aldermen that such business be taken into consideration by the Council. And he shall be called upon in due order to move that such business be so considered, or to make any other motion which he may think fit in reference thereto, which shall be consistent with the notice of such business and with good order. And if such Alderman be absent, or, if being present and so called upon, he shall make no such motion, then it shall be open to any other Alderman to make such motion. And when any such motion shall have been made, it shall be dealt with in precisely the same manner as if notice thereof had been given, subject, however, to any objection which may exist as to its not being in accordance with the notice actually given of such business, or with good order; and if no notice shall be made in reference to such business, the entry relating thereto shall be struck from the business paper.

Orders of the Day.

Of what orders of the day shall consist.

22. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or any Committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

How they are to be dealt with.

23. Section 21 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered applicable to orders of the day. And the Alderman who has the usual charge of, or who has previously moved in reference to, the particular business to which any such order of the day relates, shall be the person called upon to move.

Petitions.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

24. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—how received.

25. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing at the same time.

How Petitions are to be dealt with.

26. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that it be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned, or to some special Committee appointed to consider and report on the same; or that it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Correspondence.Duties of Mayor as to correspondence.

27. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by section 24 of this "Part" of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent, and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Section 26 to apply to letters.

28. Section 26 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council as to petitions.

Letters sent not to be discussed, but every letter may be subject to motion.

29. No discussion shall be permitted in reference to any letters which have been written and sent by the Mayor or by any officer of the Council, and copies of which may be read to such Council: Provided, however, that any notice of motion, consistent with good order, may be entertained with reference to any such letters, whether read or not, or with reference to any letters addressed to the Council, which the Mayor or presiding Alderman may not have ordered to be read as aforesaid.

Reports from Committees and Minutes from the Mayor.Form of Report.

30. All reports from Committees shall be written on foolscap paper with a margin of at least one-fourth of the width of such paper, and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or, in his absence, by some other member of same.

Mayor's minute.

31. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written upon paper of any kind, and with the same margin as a report from a Committee, and shall be signed by such Mayor.

How reports, &c., are to be dealt with.—Duties of Chairman, &c., in certain cases.

32. No motion shall (unless as hereinafter provided) be permissible on the presentation of a report from a Committee or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, or that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may, if otherwise unobjectionable, be moved or considered in due course. And whenever any such report or minute embodies any recommendation which cannot legally be carried out without any due notice, and it is nevertheless desirable that such report or minute shall be definitely ordered upon during the meeting of the Council at which such report or minute is presented, it shall be the duty of the Chairman or member of such Committee signing such report, or of such Mayor, as the case may be, to give or transmit to the Council Clerk such a notice of motion, requisition, or direction as aforesaid as will enable such Council Clerk to make the necessary entry on the business paper, and to give such due notice.

Report of Finance Committee on payment of accounts.

33. The adoption of the report of the Finance Committee on the payment of accounts shall take precedence of every other report.

Questions and Statements.Limitations as to questions and statements.

34. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order, or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of section 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws.

Notice to be given.

35. Four clear days' notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto, to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or to documents: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent any question being put and answered without notice, by the permission of the Mayor and Council.

Answer not compulsory.

36. It shall not be compulsory upon any person questioned as aforesaid to answer the question so put to him.

Question to be put without argument, &c.

37. Every such question must be put categorically, without any argument or statement of fact.

Similar provision as to statements.

38. Every such statement must be made without argument.

No discussion on question, &c.—Rights of objection and of subsequent motion reserved.

39. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement, at the time when such question is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question, or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of Debate.Mode of addressing the Council, &c.

40. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way or for any other purpose address observations to the Council, shall, while so doing, stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from so doing by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in like manner; but in every such case the question so put and the answer thereto shall be subject to every legal objection, on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions, when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

41. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided.

Limitation as to number of speeches, &c.

42. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendments moved thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman, other than mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion and on every amendment thereon. No Alderman shall speak upon any question other than a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observation than may be necessary for the purpose of such explanation.

Mover and seconder.

43. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Limited time of speaking on motion or amendment.

44. No Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer time than ten minutes except by permission of the Council.

Speaker not to digress, &c.

45. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, or impute improper motives to, any other Alderman.

Adjournment of debate.

46. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

47. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Aldermen may require questions to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

48. Any Alderman may request the question or matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such question or matter which are readily accessible: Provided, however, that no such request or requisition shall be so made as to interrupt the discussion. Also, that if any such request or requisition shall appear to the Mayor or Chairman not to have been made bona fide it shall not be complied with.

Mayor or Chairman not to move or second motion, &c., but may address Council thereon.

49. The Mayor or Chairman shall not move or second any motion or amendment, nor put any question, as provided for by section 4 of this "Part" of these By-laws, except as is further provided for by the section 39 of the same. But such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking (unless prevented by some bodily infirmity from so doing), but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

50. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final, except in so far as the same may be questioned, as in the manner hereinafter provided.

Acts of disorder.

51. Every member of the Council who shall commit a breach of any section of this "Part" of these By-laws, or who shall move or attempt to move any motion or amendment embodying any matter as to which the Council has no legal jurisdiction, or who shall in any other way raise or attempt to raise any question or shall address or attempt to address the Council upon any subject which the said Council has no legal right to entertain or to discuss, or who shall use any other language which according to the common usage of gentlemen would be held disorderly, or who shall say or do anything calculated to bring the Council into contempt, shall be out of order.

Mayor, &c., may call Member to order.

52. The Mayor or Chairman may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman, there shall be a necessity for so doing.

Any Member may raise question of order.

53. Every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or the Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument, or observation moved, used, or made by any other member which such first-named member may consider out of order.

Mode of proceeding thereon.

54. A member called to order shall withdraw while the question of order is being discussed and decided upon, unless specially permitted to offer an explanation, retraction, or apology; but on obtaining such special permission such member may explain, retract, or apologise for the matter or remark alleged to have been out of order. And if such explanation, retraction, or apology be deemed satisfactory, no further discussion on the question of order shall be permitted. If any member, on being called to order, shall ask such permission to explain, retract, or apologise as aforesaid, the Mayor or Chairman may, of his own authority, grant or refuse such permission, as he may think fit, unless any member shall require the sense of the Council to be taken on this question. In such case it shall be the duty of the Mayor or Chairman to take the sense of the Council at once, and without discussion, as to whether such permission shall be granted. And when any such explanation, retraction, or apology shall have been made or offered by permission of the Mayor or Chairman, the latter shall in like manner decide, or, if required so to do, shall take the sense of the Council as to whether such explanation, retraction, or apology is considered sufficient. If such permission be refused, or if such explanation, retraction, or apology be considered insufficient, the question of order shall be considered and decided before any further business is proceeded with: Provided that if such Mayor or Chairman shall have decided the question of order before any member shall have required the sense of the Council to be taken in reference thereto, such question of order shall not be reopened: And provided further that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the right of such Mayor or Chairman to decide finally, as hereinbefore provided, upon any such point of order, after the same shall have been discussed.

Decision of points of order.

55. The Mayor or Chairman, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provision, rule, or practice which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting upon the same.

Motion out of order to be rejected—Members to explain, retract, or apologize, &c.

56. Whenever it shall have been decided as aforesaid that any motion, amendment, or other matter before the Council is out of order, the same shall be rejected; and whenever anything said or done in Council by any Alderman shall be similarly decided to be out of order, such Alderman shall be called upon by the Mayor or Chairman to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as the case may require.

Penalties for persisting in disorderly conduct.

57. Any member of the Council who shall have been called to order, and who, after having been twice directed to withdraw as aforesaid, shall refuse to do so, or who shall persist in any line of conduct or argument or of observations which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, or who shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as aforesaid, when required so to do, or who shall be guilty of any other act of disorder, as defined in section 49 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable, on conviction for the first offence, to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds; and on second conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and on the third conviction and for every further conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Power of Council as to laying down general rules &c.

58. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice, may, by motion on notice, respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar questions of order or of practice which may thereafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding upon all parties, unless and until it be rescinded, but shall have no retroactive operation: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to bind any Mayor or Chairman to put any motion to the Council which, in his opinion, is contrary to law.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

59. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions.—Penalty for refusing to vote.

60. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative, and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for, and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

Protests.

Mode of protesting.—Protest to be recorded, but may, under certain circumstances, be expunged.

61. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council; notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed, or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the minute-book; but if, in the opinion of the Council, it be inconsistent with the truth, or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution on notice) be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with reference in the margin to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Rules applicable to business in Committee.

62. The following sections of this "Part" of these By-laws shall (except as is herein excepted) be taken to apply to the conduct of business in committee of the whole Council, namely—sections 15 (except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded), 16, 17, 18, 19, 39, 40, 43, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 59, and 60

Disorderly conduct in Committees.—Refusal to vote.

63. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the Whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order within the meaning of section 54 of this "Part" of these By-laws, it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting, and that such matter be reported; and if such motion be carried, such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the minute-book; and whenever any

Alderman shall have failed to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by section 60 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the facts shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the minute-book: Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid, no special motion that the Council resume its sitting shall be necessary, but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the Whole, in making his report of the proceedings in such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which such Alderman has so failed to vote.

Decisions in Committee on points of order may be reported.

64. Whenever a decision upon any question of order shall have been given by the Chairman of a Committee of the whole Council, under the provision of section 50 of this "Part" of these By-laws, any Alderman may move that such decision be embodied in the report to the Council of the proceedings in such Committee; and if such motion be carried, such decision shall be so embodied in such report, whenever the same shall be made.

How progress may be reported, &c.

65. Any Alderman may at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress, as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on any further day; or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried, the Council shall resume its sittings, and a report shall be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion, and if the same be negatived, the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another such motion shall be receivable.

Reports of proceedings in Committee.—Want of quorum in Committee.

66. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council, viva voce, by the Chairman of such Committee; and a report of such proceedings shall be made in every case, except when it shall be found, on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Committee, that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Committee shall be considered to have lapsed: Provided that in making of any such report as aforesaid it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the result, general effect, or substance of such proceeding.

How reports are to be dealt with.

67. All such reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the minute-book; but except as hereinafter mentioned, no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption or for the granting of such leave. And every such motion for the adoption of a report or for the granting of leave as aforesaid, and the order of debate on such motion shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council and the order of debate on such other motions: Provided, however, that where a report shall have been made under section 63 of this "Part" of these By-laws of disorderly conduct in Committee, or under section 60 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of failure to vote on division, or of any decision in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall, so far as it relates to such fact, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof; and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretext whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be ordered.

68. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution of which due notice shall have been given for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Mode of proceeding.—Such call compulsory in certain cases.

69. There shall, without any special order to that effect, be a call of the Council for the consideration of every motion which may be made under section 56 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and of every motion for the rescission of any resolution, order, or decision of such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

70. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered, or is required to be made by the last preceding section, shall be moved or considered. Such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name as so called; and if any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such member shall have previously been granted, or if such an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.—Further call when question adjourned.

71. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, being absent, shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness or any other sufficient cause he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day, there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration; and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call. And if there shall be more than one adjournment this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees.

Standing Committees.

72. There shall be five Standing Committees, namely—a By-law Committee, a Committee for Works, a Finance Committee, a Parks Committee, and a Committee for General Purposes. These Committees shall be reappointed every year, at the first meeting of the Council which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Constitution of Standing Committees.

73. Each of the three Committees first named in the last preceding section shall consist of three members, of whom one shall be taken from among the Aldermen of each Ward. The Parks Committee shall consist of three members chosen from any of the Aldermen, irrespective of the Wards they represent. The Committee for General Purposes shall consist of the Chairmen of the three said first-named Committees.

Mode of reappointing Standing Committees.

74. The reappointment of the three said first-named Committees may, on resolution of the Council, be made by ballot. In such a case a list or lists of the members for each Ward shall be handed to each member then present, who shall mark against the name of each such member the title of the Committee to which, in his opinion, such member ought to belong. And the Mayor or Chairman shall thereupon examine such list so marked, and shall declare the result. And if there shall be an equal number of votes for the appointment of any two or more members to any one of such first-named Committees, such Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such members shall be appointed to such Committee.

By-law Committee.

75. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council, drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Borough. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws and of any statute of which the operation has been or may be extended to the Borough; and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention or punishment of offences against such By-laws or statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order, and decency.

Committee for Works.

76. The Committee for Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, and bridges under the care and management of the Council, with the exception of any reserves set apart, or dedicated by the Government and Executive Council for recreation or other public purposes. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

77. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect, or to be likely to affect, the finances of the Borough, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Parks Committee.

78. The Parks Committee shall have the care, custody, and control of all public reserves and other public places under the care and the management of the Council; and all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council to be made therein shall be under their general direction. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Committee for General Purposes.

79. The Committee for General Purposes shall take cognizance of every matter, subject or question within the jurisdiction of the Council not coming within the province of one or other of the before-mentioned Standing Committees, and shall from time to time inquire into and report upon any such subject, matter, or question as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

Special Committees.

80. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a Special Committee ought to be appointed. And no Standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been entrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution of the Council; and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such Special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as, in his opinion, ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot; and in the latter case, or if an amendment to the effect that such Special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, each member then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council, from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom, in his opinion, such Special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such list, and shall declare the result. And in the event of its becoming necessary, through an equality of votes, to decide as to which of two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

81. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, within seven days after their appointment.

Term of service in Committees.

82. Appointments to the By-law Committee, the Committee of Works, the Finance Committee, and the Parks Committee shall be for the whole municipal year. The Chairman of these four Committees, as appointed to or removed from the chairmanship of the same, shall be thereby and without any further order regarded as having been appointed to or removed from the Committee for General Purposes. The appointment of every Special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the right of such Committee to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another such Chairman in his stead, or to militate against the general provisions as to Committees in sections 109 and 110 of the Municipalities Act of 1867; and that so much of this By-law as relates to the appointment, powers, and duties of Committees shall be read and interpreted in connection with such last-mentioned general provisions.

Committee Meeting, how called.

83. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Records of transactions in Committee.

84. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

85. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Borough shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses—Expenses authorized to be reported.—Outlay to be in accordance with orders of the Council.

86. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Work, or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor for necessary current expenses, to the extent of ten pounds.
3. By order of the Mayor and any two Aldermen, or without the Mayor, of four Aldermen, for any emergent purpose, to the extent of five pounds.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting; such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works, or the Mayor, or the Mayor and Aldermen, or the Aldermen without the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorized. Also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council, and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence be thus authorized.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

87. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order.—Certificate to be attached to report.

88. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate memorandum from the Committee, Mayor, or officer of the Council to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons for its non-fulfilment, before recommending payment: Provided, however, that such special report as last herein mentioned may be embodied with a report by which payment of the amount in question is recommended: Provided also, that in cases of special expenditure under section 83 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the report directed by that section to be laid before the Council shall, if the outlay shall have been lawfully incurred, be deemed a sufficient certificate: And provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at fixed rates of payment, by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to any such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for the payment of such amount, shall be a sufficient authorization for such payment; and such certificates, memoranda, and authorizations shall be attached respectively to the reports from the Finance Committee on the payments or outlays to which such certificates, memoranda, or authorizations have reference.

Common seal and records of the Council.

Common seal and press how secured.—Care of same.

89. The common seal and the press to which the same is attached shall be secured by a cover or box, which, except when such seal and press are in use, shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock of this cover or box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor and the other by the Council Clerk. Such common seal and press shall be in the custody and the care of the Council Clerk.

When and how common seal to be used

90. The common seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or, in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How books of account are to be kept and inspected.

91. The Council Clerk shall keep such books of account and such records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure in such manner and form as the Council may from time to time direct. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to inspect all such books of account, records, statements, and memoranda from time to time, to ascertain that the same are properly kept, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may have discovered in the keeping of the same; also, to report to the Council, from time to time, any changes which such Committee may think advisable in the mode of keeping the accounts.

Records of the Council defined.—Provisions for proper keeping of the same.

92. The minute book, letter book, and all rate and assessment books, books of account, records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, business papers, reports from Committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions, letters on municipal business, addressed to the Council or to the Mayor, or to any officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda relating to municipal business, drawings, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council, shall be deemed records of the Council. All such records other than the minute book and other books, and other than electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, shall be numbered and filed in due order, and shall be duly registered by the Council Clerk in a book to be kept by him for that purpose. Upon the face of every document thus registered, to which there is any reference in the minute book, there shall be a note of the page wherein it is so referred to. And when any order has been made by the Council, or a report has been brought up by any Committee thereof, in reference to any document so registered as aforesaid, a note of such order or report shall be made upon such document. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may discover in the keeping of such records.

Impression upon seal not to be taken, &c., without leave of Council.—Penalties.

93. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to take any impression of the corporate seal, or to show, lay open, or expose any of the books or records of the Council to any person other than a member of the same, without leave from such Council, except as otherwise provided by law. Any member or officer of the Council who shall be guilty of a breach of this section shall be liable, on conviction, for the first offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds; for a second offence, to a penalty not less than one pound or more than ten pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence, to a penalty of not less than five pounds or more than twenty-five pounds.

Impression of seal not to be taken, &c., without leave of Council.—Penalties.—Records not to be removed, &c.—Penalties.—Exceptional circumstances.—Receipt to be given in every case before document received.—Proviso as to use of records as matter of evidence.

94. Any person removing any such book or other record of the Council, as aforesaid, from the Council Chamber, or the place where, by direction of the Council, such book or other record is usually kept, without leave for such removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal, as hereinafter provided, shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid, and shall not have returned the same, to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same, as the circumstances of the case may warrant: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk by the Mayor, in order that such Clerk may post up entries, prepare returns, or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform; also, that the Mayor, or the Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any such Chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution at suit at law by, against, or at the instance of the Council; but in all such cases, such Council Clerk, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for every document so removed, and every such receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the book or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed: And provided also, that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council, who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a Court of law shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as may be, and shall, before removing the same, leave at the Council Chamber a receipt for such book or other record as aforesaid; and every such person so temporarily removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

95. Any person destroying, defacing, or altering any record of the Council shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

Notice to candidates in certain cases.

96. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council, to which a salary or allowance of fifty pounds per annum, or a salary or allowance exceeding that amount, is attached, shall be made until public notice shall have been given, as hereinafter provided, inviting applications for qualified candidates for the same; the salary or allowance attached to such office shall in every case be fixed before such notice is given, and shall be stated in such notice.

Mode of appointment.

97. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot, in such mode as may at the time be determined on, whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Exceptional cases.

98. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the appointment by the Council, without advertisement, of any salaried office or servant of the Corporation to any other permanent office or employment at the disposal of the Council to which no further salary is attached; or to prevent the appointment in like manner to any such office or servant to any other office or employment of which the duties require only occasional attention, and are to be paid by allowances proportionate to the extent of such duties; or to prevent any similar appointment or employment by the Mayor or by any Committee or officer of the Council under the authority of any By-laws; or to prevent the employment as may be from time to time found necessary, as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Borough.

Bonds for good conduct.

99. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the Council Clerk or the Bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order; and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

100. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which, by the Municipalities Act of 1867 or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder, he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Borough under the provisions of the said Municipalities Act. He shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may, by order of the Council (as hereafter provided), be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor; and shall, when ordered by the Mayor or Finance Committee, make a half-yearly return of the revenue and expenditure.

Duties of Treasurer, &c.

101. Any officer of the Council, other than the Council Clerk, may have any records of the Council, other than those mentioned in section 90 of this "Part" of these By-laws, committed to his charge by an order of the Council, and he shall in such case be responsible to the Council for the safe keeping of such records.

Duties of other officers and servants.

102. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation shall be defined by such regulations as may, from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made, as follows, viz:—As to the duties of the Council Clerk other than those under section 90 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and his assistance (if any)—by the Mayor or Council. As to duties of the Council Clerk under section 91 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of all collectors of rates, bailiffs, bailiff's assistants, and other officers and servants employed in about the collection of revenue, whose superintendence is not hereinafter specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Finance Committee. As to all surveyors, architects, clerks of works, overseers, inspectors of water supply, sewerage, or drainage, or other officers and servants employed in and about the public works of the Borough, and in the supply of water therefor or the sewerage or drainage thereof, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Committee of Works. As to the attorney for the Corporation, Inspector of Nuisances, and other officers and servants employed in and about the carrying out and enforcement of the general provisions of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and of any other statute of which the operation has been extended to the Borough, and of the By-laws for the general good government of such Borough, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the By-law Committee. As to managers, overseers, workmen, and other officers and servants employed in and about any public reserves and other public places under the care and management of the Council—by the Parks Committee. And as to librarians, managers of public institutions under the charge of the Council, and all other officers or servants employed in or about any matter over which the Council has control, and whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee or to the Mayor—by the Committee for General Purposes: Provided that all such regulations shall be in writing, and shall be in all cases laid before the Council at the first meeting thereof, which shall be holden after the making of any such regulations, and shall be in strict accordance with any such orders or directions as may have been at any time given by such Council touching the matters to which any such regulations may have reference.

Special powers of Mayor.

103. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is so on record as hereinbefore provided; or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statements, or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded. All such explanation or information may, except as hereinafter provided, be either rendered viva voce or put into writing, as the Mayor may direct:

How complaints against officers be dealt with.

104. All complaints against officers or servants of Corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing, or is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the case before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same. And if any such complaint be made to the Council or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to, and investigated by, the Mayor before it shall be in any way (otherwise than by such reference) ordered upon or dealt with by such Council: Provided that every report, explanation, and information which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaint shall be in writing. And such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation, and his opinion as to what order (if any) ought to be made in connection therewith; and such complaints, with all reports, explanations, and information as aforesaid, in connection therewith, and the Mayor's statement as aforesaid thereon, shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be holden after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to effect in any way the special power conferred upon the Mayor by section 152 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or any other special power which now is, or hereafter may be, conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of absence.

105. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman, otherwise than by a resolution of the Council, adopted after due notice.

Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

106. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negativing such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the reconsideration and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after the notice as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed business.

107. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration may be ordered by resolution of the Council, after due notice; and such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties, &c.

108. Such suits or information for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or of any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute, the operation of which may have been extended to the Borough, as may have been directed by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid, shall be so commenced or laid as follows, namely:—When against a member of the Council or an Auditor or any officer of the Corporation—by the Council Clerk, unless such Council Clerk shall be the officer to be proceeded against, and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose; when against any other person, by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or By-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been entrusted, and if there shall be no such officer, then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council, or the By-law Committee, or the Mayor, as the case may be, on directing such suit or information as aforesaid; and no such suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council or Auditor, except by order of such Council; nor shall any similar proceedings be taken against any officer of the Council, except on the order of such Council or of the Mayor, nor against any other person, except upon the order of the Council, or of the Mayor, or of the By-law Committee. And no such suit shall be directed to be brought, nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid, except on an express resolution of the Council, in any case where the bringing of such suit or the laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction by such Council, or where, on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information, the same shall have been dismissed on the merits: Provided that in any such case the conduct or prosecution of any such suit or information may, on the order of the Council, be entrusted to an attorney.

Mode of calling for tenders.

109. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed, or any materials supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice, as hereinafter provided.

Drafts of intended By-laws.

110. A draft of every intended By-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by such Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same; and public notice shall be given as hereinafter provided that such draft is so lying for inspection.

How notices are to be published.

111. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation done, made, or passed, or proposed to be made, done, or passed by the Council, or by any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the said Council, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same twice in some newspaper circulating in the Borough.

Persons obstructing officers of the Council.

112. Any person or persons who shall obstruct any officer of the said Council while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing or performing, or going to perform, or returning from the performance of any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threats, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language, towards the said officer, in any street, road, or other place within the said Borough, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

113. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

Power to suspend, temporarily, certain portions of this Part of these By-laws.

114. Any such section or sections of this "Part" of these By-laws, or any portion or portions of such sections or section as are not hereinafter excepted, may be suspended by resolution on notice at any meeting of the Council: Provided that there shall be a distinct statement in every such resolution, and in the notice of the motion whereon the same shall have been adopted, of the purpose for which such suspension is required, and that for every separate matter or business as to which such suspension is so required there shall be a separate resolution as aforesaid: And provided also, that the following sections hereof shall never be suspended, nor shall any one of them, nor any portion of any such sections, be suspended on any pretence whatever, namely:—Sections 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 21, 22, 23, 24, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 36, 40, 41, 44, 45, 47, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 84, 85 to 94 inclusive, 98, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 107, 108, 109, 110, and 112.

PART II.

Collection and enforcement of Rates.—Times and modes of Collection.

Rates under sec. 164 of the 31st Vic. No. 12 to be collected half-yearly.

1. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provisions of section 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by annual or half-yearly instalments, as the Council shall from time to time direct, and shall be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Office hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council by resolution from time to time for that purpose.

Defaulters.

4. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid within thirty days after the day so appointed as aforesaid for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor either to issue distress warrants against all such persons so in default as aforesaid, and to cause such warrants to be enforced, or to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

Enforcement by Distress.Bailiff.

6. A bailiff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailiff's sureties.

7. The bailiff shall find two sureties to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of £25 each, for the faithful performance of his duty.

Duty of Bailiff.

8. It shall be the duty of the bailiff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the bailiff shall sell the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the said Borough as the bailiff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose; and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain, after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

11. At the time of making a distress, the bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand, at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The bailiff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places, or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same, on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold; and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

14. The bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. There shall be payable to the bailiff for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

SCHEDULE A.Warrant of distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Borough of _____, do hereby authorize you _____, the bailiff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, for _____, being the amount of rates due to said Borough to the _____ day of _____, for the said dwelling-house (or land, or premises, as the case may be) and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.
Dated this _____ day of _____, 188 ____.

Mayor.

SCHEDULE B.Inventory.

I have this day, in virtue of the warrant under the hand of the Mayor of the Borough of _____, dated _____, distrained the following goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, within the said Borough, for _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Borough to the _____ day of _____, 188 ____.

PART III.Preventing and Extinguishing Fires.*Fire or combustible materials, &c.

1. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, work-shop, out-offices, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible, or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall, on conviction for every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible, or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Setting fire to matter without notice.

2. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever, in the open air, within five yards of any dwelling-house or other building, or boundary or dividing fence, within the said Borough, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the lands or premises adjoining the lands or premises upon which such matter shall be, of his intention so to do, or shall wilfully set fire to such inflammable matter as aforesaid between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Fireworks.

3. Every person who shall light any bon fire, tar barrel, or firework upon or within 20 feet of any public or private street, or any public place, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Negligently suffering chimneys to be on fire.

4. If any chimney accidentally catch or be on fire, the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimney is situated shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings: Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be incurred if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Stipendiary Magistrate before whom the case is heard, that such fire was in no wise owing to the omission or carelessness, whether with respect to cleanse such chimney or otherwise, of himself or his servant.

Burning shavings, &c., in the streets.

5. Any person who shall burn any shavings, rubbish, or any other matter or thing, in any road, street, lane, or public place within the said Borough shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

PART IV.Streets and public places.—Public health and decency, &c.*New Roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public or intended public road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid shall have been formed by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee of Works or some officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf, or until the said road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid shall have been duly examined by the Committee of Works or such duly authorized officer as aforesaid, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee or duly authorized officer as aforesaid.

Plan of proposed new roads, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the Borough shall open any road, street, lane, or way, or lay out any park, reserve, or other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place, he, she, or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself, herself, or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

3. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans, so signed as aforesaid, shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument, dedicating such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid as may be considered necessary by the Council; and such further instrument or dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Roads and streets and encroachments thereon, &c.

4. The Committee for Works, or the Surveyor of the Borough, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot ways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land, with frontage to the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare in question, shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee for Works, or Surveyor, or other officer or person as aforesaid, to place or cause to be erected, posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares, whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the footway on each side, where the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide, and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council, in any such road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare, or other public place, of other width than 66 feet: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided: Provided further, that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to "The Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1881."

Change of street levels.

5. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section, showing the proposed cuttings, to be exhibited at the Council Chamber for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify, by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Borough, that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council, the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section, so signed and countersigned, shall be a record of the Council.

Footway or pathway, when flagged or asphalted, not to be interfered with without permission.

6. Whenever the footway or pathway in front of any house or ground, along any road, street, private street, or lan within the Borough, has been flagged or asphalted by the Council, the same, and the asphalt or flagging thereon, shall not be removed, taken up, or otherwise interfered with by any person whomsoever without the permission of the Mayor or Committee for Works first being had and obtained. And every person removing, taking up, or otherwise interfering with such footway or pathway, or the flagging or asphalt thereon, without first obtaining the permission of the Mayor so to do, and every person wilfully or maliciously injuring or destroying such footway or pathway, or the asphalt or flagging thereon, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than five shillings.

Erection of house, fee for permission, &c.

7. Every person intending to erect or put up any fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, in, upon, or near to any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, place, or premises within the Borough shall, either by himself or by his contractor, serve or cause to be served seven days notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk or other duly authorized officer before commencing the same, stating his intention, and describing the proposed situation of the proposed fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, and shall at the time the said notice is given as aforesaid, pay unto the Council Clerk or other duly authorized officer a fee of five shillings for permission to erect any such fence, or any such house, shop, or other erection or building; and every owner of every such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building who shall, by himself or his contractor, commence to put up or erect any such fence, house, shop, or other erection, or building, without having first given such notice as aforesaid, or without having paid such fee as aforesaid, shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Pipes, gutters, &c.

8. It shall not be lawful for any person to carry, by means of pipes, gutters, or other contrivances, any rain-water from the roof of his or her premises or house upon any of the footways of any road, street, lane, or public place within the Borough. Any owner or occupier of any such house or premises who shall neglect or refuse to remedy or remove any such pipes, gutters, or contrivances when required so to do by any officer of the said Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings: Provided that the owner or occupier of any such premises or house may convey any such rain-water by means of pipes laid under the surface of any such footways into the gutter adjoining the same, and subject to the approval of the Committee for Works or some officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf.

No balcony, &c., to project.

9. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any verandah, portico, or balcony to project beyond the building line of any street, road, lane, or thoroughfare, except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony or any other external projection as aforesaid, which may be hereafter added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than one pound, except with the consent of the Council first obtained: Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street, road, or thoroughfare less than 30 feet wide: Provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

10. The Surveyor or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf may at any time, on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally, or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroachment in structure belongs, or who has erected the same, or caused it to be erected.

Council may remove encroachments.

11. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same, under the superintendence of its Overseer of Works or other proper officer duly appointed in that behalf, and at the cost of the person so offending (provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds), or at the Council's option, to proceed against the offender for the breach of this By-law, the penalty for the first offence not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor to be less than one pound; and in case of the second and every successive offence, the penalty on conviction not to be less than two pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

12. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

13. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavations; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Overseer of Works or other such officer as aforesaid, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds, nor more than twenty pounds.

Hoards or fences to be erected.

14. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the Borough, or to cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be done, where any street, road, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or any part thereof will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street with a convenient platform and hand-rail, if there be room enough to leave as a footway for passengers outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence, with such platform and hand-rail as aforesaid standing in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council of the Borough duly appointed in that behalf, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall, in all cases in which it is necessary, in order to prevent accidents, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise; and every such person who shall fail to put up such fence, or hoard, or platform with such hand-rail as aforesaid, or to continue the same respectively standing in such good condition as aforesaid during the period of such building or taking down, or who shall not, while the said hoard or fence is standing, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise, or who shall not remove the same when directed by the Overseer of Works or such other officer of the Council of the Borough within a reasonable time afterwards as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day such default is continued.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

15. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material in or from any part of the carriage or foot way of any street, road, lane, or other public place within the said Borough, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage such carriage or foot way, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Holes to be enclosed.

16. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left, any hole adjoining or near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Borough, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner, to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works or Foreman of Works of the said Borough, or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued, any such enclosure, for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights on each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise during the continuance of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding ten pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the footways to be enclosed, under penalty.

17. Every owner or occupier of any land, house, building, or premises within the said Borough, having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, waterhole, quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground adjoining or near to any footway of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place in such Borough, or within six feet of any such footway, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient five feet paling fence at the least, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land, having any steps adjoining the footway of any such street or public place, shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he shall be convicted for any such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner and occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fences, or other enclosures as aforesaid, within seven days after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Wells to be covered over.—Penalty.

18. Every person who shall have a well or underground tank, used for domestic or other purposes, situated between his or her dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof and any road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Borough, or at the side of or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having such well or underground tank as aforesaid shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by the Overseer for Works or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open or uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs &c.

19. The Mayor, or any officer or person acting under the authority of the Mayor, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same or for any other necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

20. Any person who shall haul, draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or other public place within the said Borough, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other material or thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag, or draw, or trail upon any part of such street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or public place, to the injury thereof, shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damages occasioned thereby.

Driving carriages, &c., on footways; and throwing filth, &c.

21. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or any matter or thing in or upon the carriageway, footway, gutter, or water-table of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or other public place in the said Borough, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, or cut up any beast, swine, sheep, lamb, or other animal, in or so near to any such street or public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any or either of any such carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table; or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, truck, or any bicycle or tricycle, or any hoghead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on footways, &c.—Not removing when required.—Replacing the same after removal.—Not to prevent awnings being erected in front of shops.

22. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandize, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever; or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel, in or upon or over any carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table, in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Borough, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading or unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the sanction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf has been first had and obtained, or unless the same shall be enclosed to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or such other officer as aforesaid) or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of any such footway, carriage-way, gutter, or water-table, or over any area of any house or other building premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other building or premises over or next unto any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf; or if any person who, having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed or caused to be removed, any such stall-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandize, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stones, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other matters or things, shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose or put out, or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, exposed, or put out, the same or any of them, or any other stall-board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, goods, timber, stones, bricks, lime, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, truck, wheelbarrow, hand-barrow, sledge, meat, offal, or other things or matters whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid) in, upon, or over any such carriage or footway of or next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house in such a manner as that such an awning shall be at least eight feet above the proper level of the footway, and that the posts be placed close to the curbstone or outer edge of such footway, and that the said posts and any framework be erected to the satisfaction of the Council, and as may from time to time be directed by the Council.

Slop, night-soil, &c., to be conveyed away only at certain hours.

23. Any person or persons who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any cart or other carriage with night-soil or ammoniacal liquor therein, through or in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Borough, between the hours of five o'clock in the morning and ten o'clock at night; or shall fill any cart or other carriage so as to turn over or cast any night-soil, ammoniacal matter, slop, mire, or channel dirt or filth, in or upon any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or shall deposit night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter nearer to any street, road, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or by the Inspector of Nuisances; or shall remove night-soil or other offensive matter otherwise than in properly covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles; or shall cause any vehicle used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any such road, passage, thoroughfare, public place, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or the said Inspector of Nuisances, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds; and in case the person so offending shall not be known to the said Council or Inspector, then the owner of such cart or carriage in which such night-soil or other offensive matter shall be put or placed, and also the employer of the person so offending, shall be liable to and forfeit and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

Riding on drays, careless driving, &c.

24. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public places within the Borough, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse and driven or guided with reins only excepted); or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it is passing upon such street, road, passage, thoroughfare, or public place that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses or cattle drawing the same; or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray or coach, or any other carriage whatsoever meeting any other carriage shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street; or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or persons in or upon the same, every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Lights to carriages, &c.

25. The driver of any carriage, buggy, waggon, wain, cart, dray, bicycle, tricycle, or other wheeled vehicle, when driving the same in or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Borough, between the hours of sunset and sunrise, shall provide such carriage, buggy, waggon, wain, cart, dray, bicycle, tricycle, or other wheeled vehicle with a lamp on each side of the same, outside, and shall keep such lamps lighted; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall for every offence forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Riding or driving furiously.

26. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Borough, so negligently, carelessly, or furiously as to create alarm, or so as that the safety of any other person or of any property shall or may be endangered, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Loitering in the streets, &c.

27. Any person loitering or standing on the footway or carriage-way of any road, street, lane, or other public place within the said Borough, so neglecting or refusing without reasonable cause or excuse to move on, after having been requested so to do by any constable or other police officer, or any officer duly authorized by the Council of the said Borough in that behalf, shall, on conviction, forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

Blasting Rock.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

28. Any person or persons who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place or dwelling-house in the Borough, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person or persons shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him or them by the said Council Clerk, he, she, or they shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Public Property.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

29. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Borough shall, over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, be liable to forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

30. Any person who shall damage any public building, gate, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, watercourse, or other public property within the Borough, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if such damage be wilfully done, shall be liable to forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

31. If any person or persons shall paste, or cause to be pasted, or otherwise affix any placard or other paper, or chalk or paint upon any wall, house, fence, culvert, curbstone, pathway, hand-rail, or other property of the Council, or in any other manner deface the same without authority of the Council, he or they shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such separate offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

32. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root-up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood growing in or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place under the management of the Council, shall be liable to forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Obstructing public pathways.

33. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or other public place within the Borough, shall permit any shrub or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath, footway, or carriage-way on the side of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or other public place so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and shall not, on demand made by the Council or their Inspector, Overseer, or other officer duly authorized on that behalf, cut or cause to be cut, or lop or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, to the height of eight feet at the least, the Council and their servants, labourers, and workmen may cut, lop, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and may remove or burn, or cause to be removed or burnt, any portion of such trees so cut and lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every such person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Injuring public fountains, &c.

34. Any person who shall injure any public fountain, pump, cock, waterpipe, or any other thing connected with the preservation or supply of water to the Borough, or to any portion thereof, shall forfeit and pay the amount of such damage, and any further sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public watercourses, &c.

35. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public watercourse, sewer, waterhole, river, creek, road, or pathway; or who shall suffer any slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways, water-tables, or streets of the Borough; or shall permit or cause, by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, any such suds or filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or watercourse, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds, and shall pay cost of restoring such obstructed or diverted watercourse, creek, or canal.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

36. If any animal shall die in any part of the Borough, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the said Borough, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals on private premises.

37. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the Council of the Borough, may at any hour in the daytime enter upon any premises or place within the said Borough where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and, if necessary, to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose; and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding thirty pounds nor less than three pounds.

Dead animals, in certain cases, to be removed at cost of Municipality.

38. If any animal shall die in any public street or place within the Borough, it shall be immediately removed by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in the manner aforesaid, at the cost of the owner.

Hog-ties to be one hundred feet from streets, and animals suffered to stray, &c.

39. Any person who shall keep, breed, or feed any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden or other place situated and being within sixty feet of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or public place in the Borough, or near-st dwelling house, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or any other animal of a like nature belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or public place, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings for each and every animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid; and the owner or occupier of any house or premises, or other place within the said Borough, wherein any such swine, horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or other animal is kept, fed, milked, or used in any way whatsoever, shall, within the meaning of these By-laws, be deemed the owner of such animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place, as aforesaid; and the words "any house," "building," "yard," "garden," or "other place," wherein any kind of swine shall be bred or kept as aforesaid, shall respectively be deemed hog-ties within the meaning of these By-laws; and the word "horse" shall be sufficient designation for any entire, geldings, mares, or foals, and the word cattle for any "bulls," oxen, cows, or calves, when more than one is the subject of any information and summons under the provisions of these By-laws.

As to private avenues, &c.

40. Any owner or occupier of any house, building, yard, garden, premises, or other place within the Borough, who shall neglect to keep clean any private avenues, passages, yards, thoroughfares, and ways within the said premises so occupied or belonging to him, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, &c.

41. For preserving the cleanliness of the Borough and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he, they, or any of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butcher's shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments, manufactory, factory, or establishments in the Borough, and give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him, them, or any of them shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, or establishment who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises, &c.

42. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer appointed by the said Council shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council as aforesaid have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter to remain and be in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Borough, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

43. Every person who, in any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or other public place or passage within the said Borough, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers in or through the Borough, shall commit any of the following offences, shall, on conviction for any and every such offence, forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted, or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, the carcass or any part of the carcass of any newly-slaughtered animal, without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same, for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale, without covering the same as aforesaid.
- (3.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Borough, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub to overhang the footpath, to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (4.) Every person who shall place any flowerpot in any upper window, near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Borough, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (5.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure when any house or buildings are being erected, pulled down, or repaired).
- (6.) Every person who shall carry goods or any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the footway of any street, road, lane, or other public footway.
- (7.) Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right of way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Borough.

Offences against public decency.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

44. Any person who shall bathe without proper dress near to or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public wharves, quay, bridge, street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, public place, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Borough, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and eight in the evening, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

45. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place within the said Borough, or in the view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five pounds.

Houses of ill-fame.

46. Upon representation of any respectable ratepayer that any house or premises within the Borough, and near to the residence of such ratepayer, is of ill-fame, it shall be lawful for the By-law Committee to cause the residents of such house or premises to furnish to the Council a list of names, ages, sexes, and occupations of all the inmates of the said house or premises; and upon non-compliance with such request, or if, upon consideration, the said Committee consider the house to be one of ill-fame, they shall, with the sanction of the Council, declare the same to be a nuisance, and shall cause a notice in writing to be served upon the holder of such house or premises, or any person resident or being therein, to discontinue or abate the said nuisance within forty-eight hours after the receipt of such notice. And if such nuisance be not so abated, the holder of such house or premises, or other person residing or being therein and acting as such holder, shall be liable to be proceeded against for such nuisance, and shall on conviction thereof forfeit and pay any sum not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds. And if such nuisance shall not be abated within forty-eight hours after such conviction, such holder of such house, or such other person residing or being therein as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for such second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if a further period of forty-eight hours shall elapse after such second conviction without the abatement of such nuisance, such holder of such house, or other person residing or being therein as aforesaid, shall for such third offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

PART V.

Noisome and Offensive Trades.

Complaint.—Inquiry and report.—Order of Council thereon.—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

1. Upon the complaint, in writing, by any householder that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property as to injure his or her health, or the health of his or her family, or to otherwise annoy, injure, or be a nuisance to such householder and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a noisome or offensive trade within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Borough. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid, within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds, and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when noisome and offensive trade is about to be commenced.—Penalty.

2. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measure as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming noisome or offensive within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the Borough. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of Notice.—Liabilities.

3. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

PART VI.

Public Exhibitions, &c.

Exhibitions, & to be licensed

1. No exhibition, other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14th Victoria, No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the Borough, nor shall any bowling-alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or a place for temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, be used as such, for hire or profit, within the Borough, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

Temporary license by Mayor.—Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid (other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act), and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week, and in like manner to allow any place within the Borough to be used for purposes of public amusement other than entertainments requiring to be licensed as aforesaid for not more than one week: Provided that it shall be incumbent upon such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting such permission, and to refuse such permission if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Borough. Every person holding or keeping any such exhibition, or using any place within the Borough for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting such place to be used, without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept, or such place shall be used for public amusement as aforesaid.

Public buildings, &c., to be registered.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council, such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid, in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier. And every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land who permits, any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for a longer period than one week, in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration as hereinafter mentioned having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Certificates of registration, &c.

4. The Council, upon the written application of any such occupier as aforesaid, stating the particulars aforesaid, and if, upon inspection by the proper officer, the building or land shall have been found to be secure and proper for the purpose stated and if the proposed exhibition or amusement shall not be such as to require a license from the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, and shall not be thought likely to entail any violation of public decency, or to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitants of the said Borough, the said Council shall cause the aforesaid premises to register in a registry book to be kept for that purpose, and shall thereupon grant to the applicant a certificate of such registration of such premises. And the said Council may at any time, and for any of the causes hereinafter mentioned, suspend for a stated period the effect of, or cause of, any such registration, and shall forthwith give notice of such suspension or cancellation to the occupier of the registered building or land; and during such suspension, or after such cancellation, such premises shall be deemed to be unregistered in respect of the purpose mentioned in the certificate of registration, and such certificate shall be of no force or virtue.

Inspection.

5. The proper officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf may at all reasonable times enter into or upon and inspect any such registered building or land.

No exhibition, &c., on Sundays, &c.

6. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusements on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Registration fee.—Time for which registration shall be in force.

7. For every such registration as aforesaid the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Council Clerk, for the benefit of the said Borough, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing and no longer.

Certificate of registration to operate as license for exhibition, &c., named therein and no other.

8. The certificate of registration aforesaid shall be regarded as a license from the Council for the holding or keeping of the exhibition or for carrying on the public amusements therein mentioned, but for none other. Any occupier of such building or land who shall hold or keep therein or thereon any exhibition, or shall use such building or land for any public amusements other than such exhibition or amusements mentioned in such certificate or licence, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Unlawful games and exhibitions.

9. No licence shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any game with dice, or other games of chance for money, or any bull baiting, dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace, are proposed to be had or carried on; and the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid who shall permit any such game of chance or exhibition or amusement as are in the section before-mentioned, to be had, held, or carried on in or upon such building shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Suspension or revocation of license.—Notice to be given, and licensee to be allowed to show cause.

10. The effect of any such registration as aforesaid may be suspended, or such registration may be cancelled, as the Council shall think fit, for any of the following causes, namely:—Whenever the occupier of the registered building or land, or the manager of any such exhibition or amusement as aforesaid held, kept, conducted, or carried on, in, or upon such building or ground shall have been twice convicted of offences against these By-laws within a period of twelve months; or whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the said Council that the superintendent, director, or manager, or other person in charge of any such exhibition or amusement is a confirmed drunkard, or that such exhibition or amusement is being conducted in such a manner as to violate public decency, to endanger the public peace, or become a nuisance to any inhabitants of the Borough: Provided that before any such suspension or cancellation as aforesaid, the occupier of such registered building or land shall have notice of the fact, the said Council is about to consider whether there shall be any such suspension or cancellation, and of the causes of this proceeding, and shall be allowed to show cause against such suspension or cancellation before the same shall be ordered.

Construction of term "occupier."—Change in occupancy.—False statement.

11. Any person who shall superintend, direct, or manage, or shall be otherwise in charge of any such exhibition or public amusement as aforesaid, in or upon any such building or land as aforesaid; or who shall reside in or upon any such building or land wherein or whereon any such exhibition or public amusement shall be held, kept, or carried on; or who, being the owner, lessee, or tenant of any such building or land, shall permit the same to be used for the purposes of any such exhibition or public amusement, shall be deemed the occupier of such building or land for all the purposes of these By-laws. And the said By-laws shall be held to be as applicable in every case to any number of such occupiers as to any single occupier; and every such occupier whose name shall have been so registered as aforesaid shall be deemed and taken to be, and continue to be, such occupier for all these purposes of these By-laws: Provided that in the event of any change in the occupancy of any such building or ground as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the parties concerned to notify the same, by writing under their hands, to the said Council Clerk, who shall lay such notification before the Council at its next meeting; and if, after such inquiry as such Council may deem necessary, there shall seem to be no valid objection to such change of occupancy, a corresponding entry shall be made in the registry aforesaid, and a new certificate shall be issued, which shall be in force until the then next ensuing 31st day of December, and no longer. And for every such new certificate a fee of five shillings shall be paid to the said Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Borough. And any person who shall make any false statement in any such application or notice as aforesaid as to any of the facts or particulars required by these By-laws to be stated in such application or notice, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

PART VII.

Water Supply,

Polluting water, reservoirs, &c.

1. Whosoever shall bathe in any stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to or under the management or control of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, throw, or cause to enter therein, any animal whether alive or dead, or any rubbish, filth, stuff, or thing of any kind whatsoever; or shall cause or permit or suffer to be run or to be brought therein, the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine, or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome, or improper water; or shall wash any clothes at any public fountain or pump, or in or at any such stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks, as aforesaid; or shall do anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterwork belonging to the said Council; or under their management or control, shall be fouled, obstructed, or damaged, shall for the first offence be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds, and for the third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Wilful waste of water.

2. Whosoever being supplied with water by the Council from any waterworks, fountain, reservoir, or standpipe of or belonging to, or under the control or management of the said Council, or having access to any such waterworks, fountain, or reservoir, for the taking of water therefrom, shall wilfully or negligently suffer any water to run to waste from any pipe, pump, or conduit, from or by which he shall be so supplied, or to which he shall have such access, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not exceeding five pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than forty pounds.

Damming up water without consent.

3. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment, or allow any accumulation of drift or silt to accumulate in or across any river, creek, or natural watercourse, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if after such second conviction such person shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time, he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if within a reasonable time after a third or any further conviction he shall still fail to remove such dam or embankment, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Diverting water from reservoirs of Council in certain cases.

4. In any case in which the Council shall have the exclusive right of collecting for the supply of any reservoir or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, the storm-water having fallen on any gathering ground, whosoever shall by any means whatsoever divert any such water from the course of its natural flow, so that the same shall tend to flow elsewhere than to such reservoir or waterworks or some watercourse leading thereto, or shall flow to the same respectively in a foul state, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds; for a second offence any sum not less than two pounds nor more than forty pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

PART VIII.

Sewerage and drainage.

No private sewers to be made to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

1. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council, or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council may make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains, sewers, or channels, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the said public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith, without such notice, or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and cleanse same.

2. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair and cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired and cleansed, according to the direction of the said Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

PART IX.

Public Parks, &c.

Appointment of Ranger.

1. The Council may appoint a ranger, bailiff, or overseer over the reserves and other public places within the said Borough, with powers and authorities necessary to enable him to perform his duties as they may from time to time think fit,

Ranger to protect reserves and remove disorderly persons.

2. The said ranger, bailiff, or overseer, or any officer of the Council shall protect the said reserves, and for that purpose shall be at liberty to call in the aid of the police for the removal, by force if necessary, of any person or persons who shall be found committing a breach of these By-laws, or who shall by disorderly or insulting conduct cause annoyance or inconvenience to any person on the said reserves, or any of them, or going to or coming from the same; and such person so offending shall also forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Penalty for removing firewood and setting fire to timber, &c.

3. Any person who shall remove any firewood or timber from any of the said reserves, or who shall wilfully destroy or damage any of the trees or shrubs growing thereon, or who shall wilfully set fire to any grass, tree, or shrub, or timber growing thereon, or shall injure any fence, gate, seat, or turnstile therein, shall on conviction before any two or more Justices of the Peace forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

Penalty for injuring dams, &c.—Injuring water.

4. Any person who shall injure or destroy any dam, well, fountain, or reservoir in any of the said reserves; or who shall wash any clothes, or the person, or any animal, or in any way pollute the water in any such stream, dam, well, fountain, or reservoir; or who shall bathe in any of the said waters (except such as may be set apart for bathing purposes, and during the hours appointed for such purposes), shall on conviction before any two or more Justices of the Peace forfeit and pay a penalty of not exceeding ten pounds.

Penalty for offending against decency.

5. Any person who shall offend against decency by the exposure of his or her person in any of the said reserves, or in view thereof, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not exceeding ten pounds.

Penalty for erecting tents, &c., without permission.

6. No tents, booths, or stalls shall be erected on any of the said reserves, without the consent of the Council first had and obtained, under a penalty not exceeding ten pounds.

Penalty for horse-racing, &c.

7. No horse-racing or horse-breaking shall be allowed on any of the said reserves under a penalty of not exceeding ten pounds.

Penalty for depositing rubbish and removing material.

8. Any person who shall deposit any rubbish on any of the said reserves, or who shall remove any rock, stone, earth, or other material therefrom, without the leave of the Council first had and obtained, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not exceeding ten pounds.

Power to grant right of pasturage, &c.

9. The Council may annually let from year to year, or for any less term by public auction or by tender, the exclusive right to depasture stock on all or any of the said reserves, and may delegate to any lessee power to impound any swine, goats, horses, sheep, or cattle straying thereon.

Power to grant right to cut timber, &c.

10. The Council may also annually let from year to year, or for any less period, by public auction or by public tender, the exclusive right to remove any trees, firewood, or timber not required for ornamental purposes from any of the said reserves; and they may make such regulations as may be necessary from time to time for the protection of trees and shrubs required for ornamental purposes.

Power to distrain and impound trespassing stock.

11. The Ranger or any other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf shall have power to distrain and impound any cattle or other stock found trespassing upon the said reserves or other public places or any of them, and also to claim or demand and recover such damage (not exceeding ten pounds) in respect of such cattle or other stock so distrained or impounded as could or might be claimed by the owner of private land in respect of animals found trespassing and doing damage upon the same.

Penalty for crossing fences except by proper openings.

12. If any person shall cross, or pass or attempt to cross or pass any fence on or enclosing any of the reserves or other public places within the Municipality, otherwise than by the gates or other openings left for passage, he shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty for each offence of not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Wilful trespass.

13. Every person who shall wilfully let in or knowingly suffer to enter upon the said reserves, or any of them, any animals, without due authority, shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass, and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Penalty for persons causing annoyance in use of reserves.

14. Any person who shall unlawfully cause any annoyance or inconvenience to any other persons in the free use and enjoyment of the said reserves, or any of them, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

15. Any person who shall be found committing any breach of any By-law affecting the said reserves, or any of them, not expressly provided for in this "Part" of these By-laws, or who shall, by disorderly or insulting conduct in the immediate neighbourhood of such park or public recreation ground, cause annoyance or inconvenience to persons on the said reserves, or any of them, or going to or coming from the same, may be removed by force by any Ranger or other proper officer appointed by the Council, which officer shall have the power to call in the aid of the police; and such persons so offending shall also forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

BY-LAWS made under and for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

1. Every person about to erect a closet, or form, excavate, or make a cesspit, shall, before commencing to erect such closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit, deliver to the Council Clerk of the Borough of St. Leonards a notice in writing of his intention to erect such closet, or form, excavate, or make such cesspit, and of the place or position in which it is intended that such closet shall be erected, or such cesspit formed, excavated, or made; and if any person shall commence to erect any closet or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit within the said Borough without having given such notice in writing as aforesaid, and before the expiration of seven days after the delivery of such notice (except by the written authority of the Inspector of Nuisances for the said Borough, or other officer for the time being appointed by the Council of the said Borough in that behalf), he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

2. No person shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit, except in such place or position as shall be approved of by the said Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid; and any person who shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit, without having obtained the approval of the said Inspector or other officer, or in any place or position other than the place or position approved of by the said Inspector or other officer as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds. But any person who shall feel aggrieved by the decision of such Inspector or other officer may, at any time within fourteen days after such Inspector or other officer shall have made his decision, appeal in writing against the same to the Council.

3. Every cesspit shall be at least 4 feet long by 3 feet wide, internal measurement, and shall be at least 4 feet (but not more than 6 feet, below the surface of the ground; and the top of such cesspit shall be at least 6 inches higher than the highest part of the surface of the ground immediately adjoining such cesspit; and every such cesspit shall have walls on each side of brick or stone of at least 9 inches thick, and such wall shall be built in cement and rendered at least $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch thick inside with cement in such manner as to make such walls thoroughly water-tight; and no cesspit shall be formed, excavated, or made under any dwelling-house, nor at a less distance than 20 feet therefrom; neither shall any cesspit be formed, excavated, or made at a less distance than 20 feet from any well or underground tank, whether on the same property in which the cesspit is intended to be formed, excavated, or made, or on the adjoining property. And if any person shall form, excavate, or make any cesspit which shall not be in accordance with the provisions of this By-law, or shall form, excavate, or make any cesspit under any dwelling-house, or at a less distance than 20 feet therefrom or from any such well or underground tank as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

4. Every closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened inside, and each seat shall have a movable cover, and the closet be ventilated; and every person who shall build or erect any closet which shall not be in accordance with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than forty shillings.

5. Where two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a sufficient dividing wall not less than 9 inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the cesspit or closet up to the roof of the closet so as to effect a complete separation; and if any person shall erect any two or more closets adjoining each other, and not in accordance with this By-law, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

6. A separate closet shall be provided for each tenement; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than five pounds.

7. In dwelling-houses where the number of persons who shall ordinarily sleep there exceed twelve, the capacity of the cesspit shall be increased by at least 4 cubic feet for every person beyond the number of twelve persons, or else a separate closet shall be provided for every twelve persons or fraction of twelve; and any person guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound and not more than five pounds.

8. In schools, factories, or other places of business, where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside or be occupied or employed, one closet shall be provided for every twenty persons, and if a cesspit is used in connection with any such closet, with a cesspit of a capacity of not less than 80 cubic feet for every such twenty persons, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of any such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against this By-law, or fail to provide the number of closets and of the capacity in this By-law mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

9. Every closet shall be built in such a position that the same may be emptied without the contents being carried through any dwelling-house; and any person having or building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds and not more than ten pounds.

10. If any alteration shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council in that behalf, for preserving public health or decency in case of any existing cesspit or closet, and the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to the health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, and the owner or occupier shall not make the necessary alterations after receiving fourteen days' notice so to do from the Council Clerk, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council to make the necessary alteration, and the cost of such alteration shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises whereon the same shall be.

11. Until otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be removed from cesspits, by contract, in water-tight covered vehicles, between the hours of eleven o'clock in the evening and five o'clock in the morning; and if any person shall remove from any cesspit any night-soil in any other manner or at any other time than is provided by this By-law, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

12. Until and unless otherwise provided for by the Council, all night-soil shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth.

13. The place of deposit shall be in such locality as may from time to time be determined by the Council.

14. In case the Council shall sell or give away any night-soil, the same shall be removed in the same manner and between the same hours as above provided, and on being removed from the vehicles on which it is carried shall be deodorized by chemicals or in some other effective manner, or covered with earth, so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom; and if any offensive smell shall arise therefrom, the person or persons to whom the said night-soil shall be sold or given shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

15. Any person desirous of erecting an earth-closet, or using an earth-closet in place of cesspit, must deliver to the Council Clerk seven days previous notice in writing of his intention so to do, and make provision for emptying the same to the satisfaction of the Inspector of Nuisances; and any person causing a nuisance from the careless use of such closet shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

16. All earth-closets shall be emptied once in seven days, or oftener if required, and the contents buried in the earth; and every person infringing this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than two pounds.

17. Every person shall be at liberty (with the sanction of the Mayor) to use on his own premises all night-soil collected therefrom, by burying the same at least one foot in the earth, but if any nuisance shall arise therefrom he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound and not more than five pounds.

18. No person shall be at liberty, without the permission of the Council, or the Inspector of Nuisances, or the officer appointed by the Council in that behalf, to use on his own premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere; and any person committing a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

19. The Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," therein, on all days except Sundays and holidays; and any person who shall hinder or obstruct any Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid upon any such visitation or inspection, or in the doing or performing of any work, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than forty shillings.

20. The Inspector of Nuisances shall furnish the Council with a monthly return showing the number of cesspits emptied and earth-closets attended upon, the amount due and payable for each cesspit and earth-closet attended upon, and the amount of arrears due for emptying cesspits and attending on earth-closets. He shall collect the amounts so due and payable and account therefor to the Council, at the least once in every month, or as may be determined upon by such Council.

21. Any persons requiring their cesspits emptied shall send written notice to the Council or Inspector of Nuisances; and persons emptying or causing to be emptied any closet without the sanction of the Council or Inspector of Nuisances shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

22. The Council may charge such sum for the emptying of cesspits or attendance upon earth-closets as may be decided upon from time to time by resolution of the Council, and the Council, or the Inspector of Nuisances on their behalf, may at any time after seven days previous notice of their or his intention so to do shall have been left upon the premises in respect of which such sums are payable, sue for and recover the same.

23. Every closet hereafter to be built shall either have a separate child's seat or a child's seat over the centre of the larger one; and any person committing a breach of this By-law shall forfeit a sum not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings.

24. Every earth-closet hereafter to be built shall be provided with a galvanized iron pail, capable of containing not less than six gallons, and having handles attached to two sides thereof.

25. Every earth-closet, whether already built or hereafter to be built, shall be provided with a box or earth compartment, such box or earth compartment to be without lid, and provided with a pint scoop for each occupant to throw in a pint of the stored dry earth or dry ashes through the seat into the galvanized iron pail.

26. The Inspector of Nuisances shall not take any legal proceedings under these By-laws without informing the Mayor of his intention so to do.

Amended and passed by the Municipal Council of the Borough of St. Leonards, this fourth day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven.

ST. LEONARDS MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAW.

The following By-law, made by the Council of the Borough of St. Leonards under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, is published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAW adopted by the Council of the Borough of St. Leonards, this twenty-first day of May, one thousand eight hundred and eighty nine:—

ANY person desirous of opening any street, roadway, lane, or footpath within this Borough, for the purpose of laying service-pipes for water, or drain-pipes, or for any other purpose whatsoever, shall before doing so give notice to the Council Clerk, at his office, and receive from him a permit for same, and pay therefor a fee of two shillings and sixpence. In every case where the footpath has been laid the full width thereof with asphalt or other paving, an extra fee of two shillings and sixpence must be paid. Any person failing to comply with any of the provisions of this By-law shall, upon conviction, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty-shillings nor less than five shillings, in addition to the fees herein imposed.

Sealed with the Corporate Seal, by order of the Council, this twenty-third day of May, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine,—

(L.S.) FRANCIS PUNCH,
Mayor.
W. BARNETT SMITH,

MITTAGONG MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Mittagong under the "Municipalities Act of 1867" and the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been respectively confirmed and approved of by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

PART I.

Proceedings of the Council and Committees.—Preservation of order at Council Meetings.—Meetings of the Council.—Ordinary Meetings.

1. The Council shall meet for the despatch of business on such day and at such hour as may by resolution of the Council be from time to time appointed.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.—Adjournment for want of a quorum.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent at the expiration of twenty minutes after the time appointed for the holding of such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a Chairman for such meeting. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting for the want of a quorum, the names of the members then present shall be taken down and recorded in the minute book.

Order of business.

3. The following shall be the order of business at all meetings of the Council other than special meetings :—

1. The minutes of last meeting to be read, corrected if erroneous, and signed by the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes, except as to whether they are correct.
2. Outward correspondence to be read.
3. Inward correspondence to be read, and, if necessary, ordered upon.
4. Presentation of Petitions.
5. Reports from Committee and minutes from Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon.
6. Questions as to any matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to; and statements as to any facts, matters, or circumstances requiring attention by the Council or any of the Committee or officers to be made.
7. Matters which have been specially ordered to be placed on the business paper by the Mayor.

8. Motions, of which notice has been given, to be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.
9. Orders of the day to be disposed of as they stand on the business paper.

Business may be dealt with out of regular order.

Provided that it shall be competent to the Council at any time by resolution, without notice, to entertain any particular motion, or to deal with any particular matter of business, out of its regular order on the business paper, without any formal suspension of this section; also, and in like manner, to direct that any particular motion or matter of business shall have precedence at a future meeting.

Business at special meetings.

4. At special meetings of the Council the business, after the minutes shall have been read and verified, which shall be done in the same manner as at any ordinary meeting, shall be taken in such order as the Mayor or the Alderman at whose instance such special meeting shall have been called, may have directed.

Business paper for ordinary meeting—how prepared.

5. The business paper for every meeting of the Council other than special meetings shall be made by the Council Clerk, or other person acting as his substitute, not less than forty-eight nor more than seventy-two hours before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on such business paper a copy of the substance of every notice of motion and of every requisition or order as to the business proposed to be transacted at such meeting which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter, in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided. Every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of section 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws, in the same order as such notice, requisition, or direction shall have been received.

Business paper for special meetings.

6. The business paper for each Special Meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have been specially ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Alderman calling such meetings.

Summons to members.

7. The summons to members of the Council for every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting, and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

How business paper is to be disposed of.

8. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall, at such meetings, be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with; and such business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

Notices of motion, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter disposed of, unless withdrawn before business paper made up.

9. All notices of motion and all requisitions from Aldermen, and directions from the Mayor as to the entry of any particular matter of business for the consideration of the Council at its then next or any future meetings, shall be numbered by the Council Clerk as they are received; and each such notice, requisition, and direction shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of, and the record in the Minute Book of the manner in which such matter has been disposed of shall have been duly verified as required by section 1 of clause 3 of this "Part" of these By-laws: Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, requisition, or direction to the Council Clerk shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

After business paper made up, all notices, &c., to be the property of the Council.

10. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all such notices of motions, requisitions, and directions, as to which entries have been made thereon, shall be the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions and Amendments.

Motions—how to be moved.

11. Except by leave of the Council, motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from the business paper, and be considered to have lapsed.

Notice to be given.

12. Four clear days' notice of every motion intended to be made in the Council shall be given to the Council Clerk, to enable him to place the same on the business paper.

Motion to be seconded.

13. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Amendments may be moved.

14. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded, any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon, but no such amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

15. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

16. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amended question—further amendment may be moved thereon.

17. If an amendment be carried, the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before the Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

18. If any amendment, either upon an original question or upon any question amended as aforesaid, shall be negatived, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first-mentioned amendment was moved, and so on: Provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

19. No motion for adjournment of the Council shall be discussed. If seconded, such motion shall be put at once. If negatived, no similar motion shall be permitted to be made until half an hour has elapsed after putting the one that has been negatived, and the subjects on the business paper shall be proceeded with in order.

Orders of the Day.

Of what Orders of the Day shall consist.

20. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters, other than motions on notice which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or any committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

Petitions.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

21. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same.

Petitions—how received.

22. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing at the same time.

How petitions are to be dealt with.

23. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition, except that the same be received, or that if it be received and referred to one of the permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned, or to some special Committee appointed to consider and report on the same; or that if it be received, and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion, the said motion shall, if otherwise unobjectionable, be considered in order.

Correspondence.

Duties of Mayor as to correspondence.

24. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by section 21 of this "Part" of these By-laws is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent, and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

Section 23 to apply to letters.

25. Section 23 of this "Part" of these By-laws shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council as to petitions.

Reports from Committees and Minutes from the Mayor.

Form of report.

26. All reports from Committee shall be written on foolscap paper, with a margin of at least one-fourth of the width of such paper, and shall be signed by the Chairman of such Committee, or, in his absence, by some other member of same.

Mayor's minute.

27. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance by a minute in writing. Every such minute shall be written upon paper of any kind, and with the same margin as the report from a Committee, and shall be signed by such Mayor.

How reports, &c., are to be dealt with—Duties of Chairman, &c., in certain cases.

28. No motion shall (except as hereinafter provided) be permissible on the presentation of a report from a Committee, or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, or, if an order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may, if otherwise unobjectionable, be moved or considered in due course. And whenever any such report or minute embodies any recommendation which cannot legally be carried out without due notice, and it is nevertheless desirable that such report or minute shall be definitely ordered upon during the meeting of the Council at which such report or minute is presented, it shall be the duty of the Chairman or member of such Committee signing such report, or of such Mayor, as the case may be, to give or transmit to the Council Clerk such a notice of motion, requisition, or direction as aforesaid, as will enable such Council Clerk to make the necessary entry on the business paper, and to give such due notice.

Report of Finance Committee on payment of accounts.

29. The adoption of the report of the Finance Committee on the payment of accounts shall take precedence of every other report.

Questions and Statements.

Limitations as to questions and statements.

30. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order, or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of section 33 of this "Part" of these By-laws.

Notice to be given.

31. Twenty-four hours' notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto, to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or to documents.

Answer not compulsory.

32. It shall not be compulsory on any person questioned as aforesaid to answer the question so put to him.

Question to be put without argument, &c.

33. Every such question must be put categorically, without any argument or statement of fact.

Similar provisions as to statements.

34. Every such statement must be made without argument.

No discussion on question, &c.; rights of objection and of subsequent motion reserved.

35. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement, at the time when such question is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question, or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of Debate.Mode of addressing the Council, &c.

36. Every Alderman who shall make or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or any discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way or for any other purpose address observations to the Council, shall while so doing stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from doing so by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor or other Chairman then presiding: Provided that in the case of a question, such question may, by permission of such Mayor or Chairman, be put directly to the Alderman or Officer to be questioned, and may be replied to in a like manner; but in every such case the question so put, and the answer thereto, shall be subject to every legal objection, on the ground of disorder or irrelevancy. And all members of the Council shall, on all occasions when in such Council, address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

37. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking, unless for the purpose of calling him to order, as hereinafter provided.

Limitation as to number of speeches, &c.

38. Every mover of an original motion shall have a right of general reply to all observations which may have been made in reference to such motion, and to any amendments moved thereon, as well as a right to speak upon every such amendment. Every Alderman, other than mover of such original motion, shall have a right to speak once upon such motion and on every amendment thereon. No Alderman shall speak upon any question other than a question of order, unless when misrepresented or misunderstood, in which case he shall be permitted to explain, without adding any further observations than may be necessary for the purpose of such explanation.

Mover and seconder.

39. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same, shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Limited time of speaking on motion or amendment.

40. No Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer time than fifteen minutes, except by permission of the Council.

Speaker not to digress, &c.

41. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make personal reflections on, or impute improper motives to, any other Alderman.

Adjournment of debate.

42. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day, or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to pre-audience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to pre-audience.

43. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Alderman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Alderman may require questions to be stated, &c., under certain restrictions.

44. Any Alderman may request the question or matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such question or matter which are readily accessible: Provided, however, that no such request or requisition shall be so made as to interrupt the discussion. Also, that if any such request or requisition shall appear to the Mayor or Chairman not to have been made bonâ fide it shall not be complied with.

Mayor or Chairman may move or second motion, &c., and may address Council thereon.

45. The Mayor or Chairman may propose or second any motion, and such Mayor or Chairman shall have the same right as any other Alderman to speak once upon every such subject or amendment. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking (unless prevented by some bodily infirmity from so doing), but shall be considered as still presiding.

Questions of Order.Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

46. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final, except in so far as the same may be questioned, as in the manner hereinafter provided.

Acts of disorder.

47. Every member of the Council who shall commit a breach of any section of this "Part" of these By-laws, or who shall move or attempt to move any motion or amendment embodying any matter as to which the Council has no legal jurisdiction, or who shall in any other way raise or attempt to raise any question, or shall address or attempt to address the Council upon any subject which the said Council has no legal right to entertain or to discuss, or who shall use any language which, according to the common usage of gentlemen, would be held disorderly, or who shall say or do anything calculated to bring the Council into contempt, shall be out of order.

Mayor, &c., may call member to order.

48. The Mayor or Chairman may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman, there shall be a necessity for so doing.

Any member may raise question of order.

49. Every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or the Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument, or observation moved, used, or made by any other member which such first-named member shall consider out of order.

Mode of proceeding thereon.

50. A member named by the Mayor or Chairman as being disorderly shall withdraw while the question of order is being discussed and decided upon, unless specially permitted to offer an explanation, retraction, or apology; but on obtaining such special permission such member may explain, retract, or apologise for the matter or remark alleged to have been out of order. And if such explanation, retraction, or apology be deemed satisfactory, no further discussion on the question of order shall be permitted. If any member, on being called to order, shall ask such permission to explain, retract, or apologise as aforesaid, the Mayor or Chairman may, of his own authority, grant or refuse such permission, as he may think fit, unless any member shall require the sense of the Council to be taken on this question. In such case it shall be the duty of the Mayor or Chairman to take the sense of the Council at once, and without discussion, as to whether such permission shall be granted. And when any such explanation, retraction, or apology shall have been made or offered by permission of the Mayor or Chairman, the latter shall in like manner decide, or, if required so to do, shall take the sense of the Council as to whether such explanation, retraction, or apology is considered sufficient. If such permission be refused, or such explanation, retraction, or apology be considered insufficient, the question of order shall be considered and decided before any further business is proceeded with: Provided that if such Mayor or Chairman shall have decided the question of order before any member shall have required the sense of the Council to be taken in reference thereto, such question of order shall not be re-opened. And provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the right of such Mayor or Chairman to decide finally, as hereinafter provided, upon any such point of order, after the same shall have been discussed.

Decision of points of order.

51. The Mayor or Chairman, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provision, rule, or practice which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting on the same.

Motion out of order to be rejected—Members to explain, retract, or apologise, &c.

52. Whenever it shall have been decided as aforesaid that any motion, amendment, or other matter before the Council is out of order, the same shall be rejected; and whenever anything said or done in Council by any Alderman shall be similarly decided to be out of order, such Alderman shall be called upon by the Mayor or Chairman to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as the case may require.

Penalty for persisting in disorderly conduct.

53. Any member of the Council who shall have been named by the Mayor or Chairman as being disorderly, and who, after having been twice directed to withdraw as aforesaid, shall refuse to do so, or who shall persist in any line of conduct or argument, or of observations which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, or who shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as aforesaid, when required to do so, or who shall be guilty of any other act of disorder, as defined in section 48 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable on conviction for the first offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds, and on second conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds, and on the third conviction and every further conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Power of Council to dissent from ruling.

54. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any such question of order or of practice, may, by immediate action, respectfully worded, invite the Council to dissent from such decision: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to bind any Mayor or Chairman to put any motion to the Council which, in his opinion, is contrary to law.

Mode of Voting.

How questions are to be put.

55. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of such Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the opinion of the majority.

Divisions.—Penalty for refusing to vote.

56. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put, first in the affirmative and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds.

Protests.

Mode of protesting.—Protest to be recorded, but may under certain circumstances be expunged.

57. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council. Notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed, or such vote is arrived at; and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the Minute Book; but if, in the opinion of the Council, it be inconsistent with the truth, or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution on notice) be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with reference in the margin to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Rules applicable to business in Committee.

58. The following sections of this "Part" of these By-laws shall (except as is herein excepted) be taken to apply to the conduct of business in Committee of the whole Council, namely:—Sections 14 (except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded), 15, 16, 17, 18, 35, 36, 39, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 55, and 56.

Disorderly conduct in Committee.

59. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the Whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order within the meaning of section 50 of this "Part" of these By-laws, it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting, and that such matter be reported; and, if such motion be carried, such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the Minute Book; and whenever any Alderman shall have failed to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by section 56 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the fact shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the Minute-book: Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid, no special motion that the Council resume its sitting shall be necessary; but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the Whole, in making his report of the proceedings in such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which such Alderman has so failed to vote.

Decisions in Committee on points of order may be reported.

60. Whenever a decision upon any question of order shall have been given by the Chairman of a Committee of the whole Council, under the provision of section 46 of this "Part" of these By-laws, any Alderman may move that such decision be embodied in the report to the Council of the proceedings in such Committee; and, if such motion be carried, such decision shall be so embodied in such report, whenever the same shall be made.

How progress may be reported, &c.

61. Any Alderman may, at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council, move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress, as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on any further day; or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried, the Council shall resume its sittings, and a report shall be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion; and if the same be negative, the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another such motion shall be receivable.

Reports of proceedings in Committee.—Want of quorum in Committee.

62. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council viva voce by the Chairman of such Committee, and a report of such proceedings shall be made in every case, except when it shall be found, on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Committee, that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case, the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Committee shall be considered to have lapsed: Provided that in making of any such report as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the result, general effect, or substance of such proceedings.

How reports are to be dealt with.

63. All such reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the Minute-book; but except as hereinafter mentioned, no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council, until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption or for the granting of such leave. And every such motion for the adoption of a report or for the granting of leave as aforesaid and the order of debate on such motion shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council and the order of debate on such other motions: Provided, however, that where a report shall have been made under section 59 of this "Part" of these By-laws of disorderly conduct in Committee, or under section 56 of this "Part" of these By-laws of failure to vote on division, or of any decision in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall, so far as it relates to such facts, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof, and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretext whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be ordered.

64. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution, of which due notice shall have been given, for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Mode of proceeding.

65. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered shall be moved or considered. Such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all the members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name as so called. If any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such members shall have previously been granted, or if an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk, as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such absent member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse and of the reasons for the same.

Penalty for absence without legal excuse.—Further call when question adjourned.

66. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name as aforesaid, or who, being absent, shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent, and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness, or any other sufficient cause, he has been unable to send an excuse in writing as aforesaid, or who, having answered to his name as aforesaid, shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day, there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration, and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call. And if there shall be more than one adjournment, this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing and Special Committees.

67. There shall be four Standing Committees, viz., a By-law Committee, Committee for Works, Finance Committee, and Committee for General Purposes. Each of these Committees shall be appointed every year, at the first meeting of the Council which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Constitution of Standing Committees.

68. The By-laws Committee, Works Committee, and Finance Committee shall each consist of three members. The Chairman of each Committee shall form the Committee for general purposes.

Mode of re-appointing Standing Committees.

69. The appointment of the three first-named Standing Committees may, on resolution of the Council, be made by ballot. In such case, a list or lists of the members shall be handed to each then present, who shall mark against the name of each such member the title of the Committee to which, in his opinion, such member ought to belong; and the Mayor or Chairman shall thereupon examine such lists so marked, and shall declare the result, and if there shall be an equal number of votes for the appointment of any two or more members to any one of such Committees, such Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such members shall be appointed.

By-law Committee.

70. The By-law Committee shall prepare for the consideration of the Council, drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Borough. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws and of any statute of which the operation has been or may be extended to the Borough, and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention or punishment of offences against such By-laws or statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order, and decency.

Committee for Works.

71. The Committee for Works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, and reserves under the care and management of the Council. They shall inquire and report from time to time, as directed, as to such improvements and repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Finance Committee.

72. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect, or be likely to affect, the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Committee for General Purposes.

73. The Committee for General Purposes shall take cognizance of every matter, subject, or question within the jurisdiction of the Council, not coming within the province of one or other of the beforementioned Standing Committees, and shall from time to time inquire into and report upon any such subject, matter, or question as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

Special Committees.

74. Special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully entrusted to a Committee, and for which, in the opinion of the Council, a Special Committee ought to be appointed. And no Standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been entrusted to any such Special Committee. The appointment of every such Special Committee shall be made by resolution of the Council, and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be entrusted to such Special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as, in his opinion, ought to constitute such Committee; or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot, and, in the latter case, or if an amendment to the effect that such Special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, each member then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council, from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom, in his opinion, such Special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such list, and shall declare the result. And, in the event of it becoming necessary, through an equality of votes, to decide as to which of the two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee, such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

75. Every Committee, of which the Mayor shall not be a member, shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee, within seven days after their appointment.

Term of service in Committees.

76. Appointments to the By-law Committee, the Committee of Works, and the Finance Committee shall be for the whole municipal year. The Chairman of these three Committees, as appointed to or removed from the chairmanship of the same, shall be thereby, and without further order, regarded as having been appointed to or removed from the Committee for general purposes. The appointment of every Special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the right of such Committee to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another such Chairman in his stead, or to militate against the general provisions as to Committees in sections 109 and 110 of the Municipalities Act of 1867; and that so much of this By-law as relates to the appointment, powers, and duties of Committees shall be read and interpreted in connection with such last-mentioned general provisions.

Committee Meeting—how called.

77. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested so to do by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Records of transactions in Committee.

78. The Chairman of each Standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Expenditure.

Except in emergent matters, cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

79. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council; and tenders for the execution of such work, or the supply of such material, shall be called for by public notice.

Emergent matters and necessary current expenses.—Expenses authorized to be reported.—Outlay to be in accordance with the orders of the Council.

80. For emergent matters and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

1. By order of the Committee for Works or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee, for repairs or urgent works, to the extent of five pounds.
2. By order of the Mayor, for necessary current expenses, to the extent of ten pounds.
3. By order of the Mayor and any two Aldermen, or without the Mayor or any four Aldermen, for any emergent purpose, to the extent of five pounds.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting; such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee of Works or the Mayor, or the Mayor and Aldermen, or the Aldermen without the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorized. Also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council, and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence whatever be thus authorized.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee.

81. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands.

Certificate required with each claim.—Salaries and wages to be payable on Mayor's order.—Certificate to be attached to report.

82. No payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate memorandum from the Committee, Mayor, or officer of the Council to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one, and has been duly authorized or inquired into. It shall be the imperative duty of the Finance Committee to see that this requirement is fulfilled, or to report specially as to the reasons of its non-fulfilment before recommending payment: Provided, however, that such special report as last herein mentioned may be embodied with a report by which payment of the amount in question is recommended: Provided also, that in cases of special expenditure under section 79 of this "Part" of these By-laws, the report directed by that section to be laid before the Council shall, if the outlay shall have been lawfully incurred, be deemed a sufficient certificate. And provided further, that in regard to salaries and wages of labour for officers, servants, and labourers employed at a fixed rate of payment, by order of the Council, the certificate of the Mayor of the amount due to any such officer, servant, or labourer, and the order of such Mayor for payment of such amount shall be a sufficient authorization for such payment; and such certificates, memoranda, and authorizations shall be attached respectively to the reports from the Finance Committee on the payment or outlays to which such certificates, memoranda, and authorizations have reference.

Common Seal and Records of the Council.

Common seal and press, how secured.—Care of same.

83. The common seal and the press to which the same is attached shall be secured by a cover or box, which, except when such seal and press are in use, shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock or cover of this box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor and the other by the Council Clerk. Such common seal and press shall be in the custody and care of the Council Clerk.

When and how common seal to be used.

84. The common seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document, such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or in the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How books of account are to be kept and inspected.

85. The Council Clerk shall keep such books of account and such records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure in such manner and form as the Council may from time to time direct. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to inspect all such books of account, records, statements and memoranda from time to time, to ascertain that the same are properly kept, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may have discovered in the keeping of the same; also to report to the Council from time to time any changes which such Committee may think advisable in the mode of keeping the accounts.

Records of the Council defined.—Provisions for proper keeping of the same.

86. The minute-book, letter-book, and all rate and assessment books, books of account, records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure, electoral rolls, and other records relating to elections, business papers, reports from committees, minutes from the Mayor, petitions, letters on municipal business addressed to the Council or the Mayor, or to any other officer or servant of the Council, orders, reports, returns, and memoranda relating to municipal business, drawings, maps, plans, contracts, specifications, agreements, and all other books and papers connected with the business of the Council, shall be deemed records of the Council. All such records, other than the minute-book and other books, and other than electoral rolls and other records relating to elections, shall be numbered and filed in due order, and shall be duly registered by the Council Clerk in a book to be kept by him for that purpose. Upon the face of every document thus registered, to which there is any reference in the minute-book, there shall be a note of the page wherein it is so referred to. And when any order has been made by the Council, or a report has been brought up by any Committee thereof, in reference to any document so registered as aforesaid, a note of such order or report shall be made upon such document. It shall be the duty of the By-law Committee to inspect the records from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept as aforesaid, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may discover in the keeping of such records.

Impression of seal not to be taken, &c., without leave of Council.—Penalties.

87. No member or officer of the Council shall be at liberty to take any impression of the corporate seal, or to show, lay open, or expose any of the books or records of the Council to any person other than a member of the same, without leave from such Council, except as otherwise provided by law. Any member or officer of the Council who shall be guilty of a breach of this section shall be liable on conviction for the first offence to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds, for a second offence to a penalty not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds.

Records not to be removed, &c.—Penalties.—Exceptional circumstances.—Receipt to be given in every case before document received.—Proviso as to use of records as matter of evidence.

88. Any person removing any such book or other record of the Council as aforesaid from the Council Chamber or the place where by direction of the Council such book or other record is usually kept, without leave for such removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal, as hereinbefore provided, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid, and shall not have returned the same, to prosecution for stealing such book or record, or to an action at law for detention of the same, as the circumstances of the case may warrant: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk by the Mayor, in order that such Clerk may post up entries, prepare returns, or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform. Also, that the Mayor, or Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any such Chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution at suit at law by, against, or at the instance of, the Council; but in all such cases such Council Clerk, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for any document so removed, and every such receipt shall be carefully preserved among the records until the book or other document to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed: And provided also, that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council, who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a Court of law, shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as may be, and shall, before removing the same, leave at the Council Chamber a receipt for such book or other record as aforesaid; and every such person so temporarily removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

89. Any person destroying, defacing, or altering any record of the Council shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

90. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council, to which a salary or allowance of fifty pounds per annum, or a salary or allowance exceeding that amount, is attached, shall be made until public notice shall have been given, as hereinafter provided, inviting applications for qualified candidates for the same. The salary or allowance attached to such office shall in every case be fixed before such notice is given, and shall be stated in such notice.

Mode of appointment.

91. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot in such mode as may at the time be determined on, whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Exceptional cases.

92. Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the appointment by the Council, without advertisement, of any salaried officer or servant of the Corporation to any other permanent office or employment at the disposal of the Council to which no further salary is attached, or to prevent the appointment in like manner of any such officer or servant to any other office or employment of which the duties require only occasional attention, and are to be paid by allowances proportionate to the extent of such duties; or to prevent any similar appointment or employment by the Mayor or by any committee or officer of the Council under the authority of any By-laws; or to prevent the employment as may be from time to time found necessary, and as may be ordered by the Council, of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Municipality.

Bonds for good conduct.

93. All bonds given by officers or servants of the Council for the faithful performance of their duties shall be deposited with the Council Clerk or the bankers of the Corporation, as the Council may order, and no officer or servant of the Council shall be received as surety for any other such officer or servant.

Duties of Council Clerk.

94. The Council Clerk, in addition to the duties which, by the "Municipalities Act of 1867," or by the present or any other By-laws thereunder he may be required to perform, shall be the Clerk of all Revision Courts held in the Municipality under the provisions of the said Municipalities Act. He shall also, under the direction of the Mayor, conduct all correspondence which may be necessary on the part of the Council. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of such Council, except such books or documents as may by order of the Council

(as hereinafter provided) be entrusted to any other officer, and shall be responsible for the safe keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council and the duties of such Mayor, and shall, when ordered by the Mayor or Finance Committee, make a half-yearly return of the revenue and expenditure.

Duties of Treasurer, &c.

95. Any officer of the Council, other than the Council Clerk, may have any records of the Council other than those mentioned in section 82 of this "Part" of these By-laws, committed to his charge by an order of the Council, and he shall in such case be responsible to the Council for the safe keeping of such records.

Duties of other officers and servants.

96. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation shall be defined by such regulations as may, from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made, as follows, viz.:—As to the duties of the Council Clerk, other than those under section 83 of this "Part" of these By-laws, and his assistants (if any)—by the Mayor or Council; as to the duties of the Council Clerk, under section 84 of this "Part" of these By-laws, of all collectors of rates, bailiffs, bailiff's assistants, and other officers and servants employed in and about the collection of revenue, whose superintendence is not hereinafter specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Finance Committee; as to all surveyors, architects, clerks of works, overseers, inspectors of water supply, sewerage, and drainage, or other officers and servants employed in and about the public works of the Borough, and in the supply of water therefor, or the sewerage or drainage thereof, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the Committee of Works. As to the attorney for the Corporation, Inspector of Nuisances, and other officers and servants employed in and about the carrying out and enforcement of the general provisions of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and of any other statute of which the operation has been extended to the Borough, and of the By-laws for the general good government of such Municipality, whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee—by the By-law Committee. As to managers, overseers, workmen, and other officers and servants employed in and about any public reserves and other public places under the care and management of the Council—by the Parks Committee. As to the librarians, managers of public institutions under the charge of the Council, and all other officers and servants employed in or about any matter over which the Council has control, and whose superintendence is not herein specially entrusted to any other Committee or to the Mayor—by the Committee for General Purposes: Provided that all such regulations shall be in writing, and shall be in all cases laid before the Council at the first meeting thereof which shall be holden after the making of any such regulations, and shall be in strict accordance with any such orders or directions as may have been at any time given by such Council touching the matters to which any such regulations may have reference.

Special powers of Mayor.

97. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants of the Corporation, and may order the preparation of any such return or statement, or the giving of any such explanation or information by any such officer or servant as he may think necessary, unless such return or statement shall have been already prepared, or such explanation or information already given, and such return, statement, explanation, or information is so on record as hereinbefore provided; or unless the Council shall have expressly forbidden or dispensed with the preparation of such return or statements, or the giving of such explanation or information. All such returns or statements as aforesaid shall be in writing, and shall be recorded. All such explanation or information may, except as hereinafter provided, be either rendered viva voce or put into writing as the Mayor may direct.

How complaints against officers to be dealt with.

98. All complaints against officers or servants of the Corporation must be in writing, and must in every case be signed by the person or persons complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing or which is anonymous. All such complaints may be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the case before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same. And if any such complaint be made to the Council, or to any member or officer thereof, it shall be referred to and investigated by the Mayor before it shall be in any way (otherwise than by such reference) ordered upon and dealt with by such Council: Provided that every report, explanation, and information which may be made or rendered in reference to every such complaint shall be in writing. And such Mayor shall state in writing the result of every such investigation, and his opinion as to what order (if any) ought to be made in connection therewith; and such complaints, with all reports, explanations, and information as aforesaid thereon, shall be laid before the Council at the next meeting thereof which shall be holden after the Mayor shall have made such statement, and shall be duly recorded: Provided further, nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the special power conferred upon the Mayor by section 152 of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," or any other special power which is now or hereafter may be conferred by statute upon such Mayor.

Miscellaneous.

Leave of absence.

99. No leave of absence shall be granted to the Mayor or to any Alderman, otherwise than by a resolution of the Council after due notice.

Motions for rescission of previous orders, &c.

100. Whenever a motion for the rescission of any order, resolution, or vote of the Council shall have been negatived, no other motion to the same effect shall be permissible until a period of three months shall have elapsed from the time of negativing such first-mentioned motion: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prohibit the re-construction and amendment of any proposed By-law which may have been submitted to the Governor for confirmation, and may have been remitted to the Council with suggested amendments of the same, or the passage, after the notice as hereinbefore provided, and in due course of law, of any By-law for the repeal or amendment of any other By-law.

Lapsed business.

101. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the resumption of such consideration may be ordered by resolution of the Council, after due notice; and such consideration shall in such case be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid.

Suits and prosecutions for penalties, &c.

102. Such suits, or information for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or of any By-law made thereunder, or of any statute the operation of which may have been extended to the Municipality, as may have been directed by the Council, or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid as follows, viz.:—When against a member of the Council, or an Auditor, or any officer of the Corporation—by the Council Clerk, unless such Council Clerk shall be the officer to be proceeded against, and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose; when against any other person—by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or By-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been entrusted; and if there shall be no such officer, then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for the purpose by the Council, or the By-law Committee, or the Mayor, as the case may be, or directing such suit or information as aforesaid; and no such suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council or Auditor, except by order of such Council; nor shall any similar proceedings be taken against any officer of the Council, except on the order of such Council, or of the Mayor, nor against any other person, except upon the order of the Council, or of the Mayor, or of the By-law Committee. And no such suit shall be directed to be brought, nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid, except on an express resolution of the Council, in any case where the bringing of such suit or the laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction by such Council, or where, on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information, the same shall have been dismissed on its merits: Provided that in any such case the conduct or prosecution of any such suit or information may, on the order of the Council, be entrusted to an attorney.

Mode of calling for tenders.

103. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any materials supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work or the supply of such material shall be called for by public notice, as hereinafter provided.

Drafts of intended By-laws.

104. A draft of every intended By-law shall lie in the office of the Council for at least seven days before such draft shall be taken into consideration by such Council, and shall be open to the inspection of any ratepayer who may desire to inspect the same, and public notice shall be given as hereinafter provided that such draft is so lying for inspection.

How notices are to be published.

105. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, act, order, or regulation done, made, or passed by the Council, or by any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the said Council, such notice shall be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days.

Persons obstructing Officers of the Council.

106. Any person or persons who shall obstruct any officer of the said Council while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing or performing, or going to perform, or returning from the performance of, any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threats, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language, towards the said officer, in any street, road, or other place within the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power to suspend temporarily certain portions of this "Part" of these By-laws.

107. Any such section or sections of this "Part" of these By-laws, or any portion or portions of such section or sections as are not hereinafter excepted, may be suspended by resolution on notice at any meeting of the Council: Provided that there shall be a distinct statement in every such resolution, and in the notice of the motion whereon the same shall have been adopted, of the purpose for which such suspension is required, and that for every separate matter or business as to which such suspension is so required there shall be a separate resolution as aforesaid: And provided also that the following sections hereof shall never be suspended, nor shall any one of them nor any portion of any such sections be suspended on any pretence whatever, namely:—Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 20, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 32, 36, 37, 40, 41, 43, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 52, 77, 78 to 87 inclusive, 89, 90, 91, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105.

Mode of proceeding in cases not provided for.

108. In all cases not herein provided for, resort shall be had to the rules, forms, and usages of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, so far as the same are applicable to the proceedings of the Council.

PART II.

Collection and enforcement of rates—Times and modes of collection.

Rates under section 164 of the 31st Vic., No. 12, to be collected half-yearly.

1. All rates or levies imposed by the Council under the provisions of section 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by annual or half-yearly instalments, as the Council shall from time to time direct, and shall be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Special rates.

2. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under sections 165, 166, and 167 of the said Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said sections, or under the provisions of any of the said sections, or for any of the purposes mentioned therein, shall be collected in such manner, and shall be held to be due and payable on and after such day or days as the Council may, by resolution, at the time of making or imposing such rates, or any of them, have appointed.

Office hours.

3. All rates shall be paid at the Council Chambers during the hours appointed by the Council by resolution from time to time for that purpose.

Defaulters.

4. Every person not paying his or her rates as aforesaid, within thirty days after the day so appointed as aforesaid for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter, and it shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons so in default.

Mayor to enforce payment.

5. It shall be the duty of the Mayor either to issue distress warrants against all such persons so in default as aforesaid, and to cause such warrants to be enforced, or to cause such defaulters to be sued for the amount of such rates in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Enforcement by Distress.

Bailliff.

6. A Bailliff shall, when found necessary, be appointed by the Mayor.

Bailliff's sureties.

7. The Bailliff shall find two sureties, to the satisfaction of the Mayor, to the extent of £25 each, for the faithful performance of his duties.

Duty of Bailliff.

8. It shall be the duty of the Bailliff to make all levies by distress for the recovery of rates in the manner hereinafter provided.

Warrant of distress.

9. All levies and distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor, or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorized to perform the duties of that office.

Distress and sale, &c.

10. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid, with costs as hereinafter provided, on or before the expiration of five days, the Bailliff shall sell the goods so distrained or a sufficient portion thereof, by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the said Municipality as the Bailliff may think proper to remove them to for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, as hereinafter provided, to the owner of the goods so sold, on demand of such surplus by such owner

Inventory.

11. At the time of making a distress the Bailliff shall make out a written inventory in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at the place with whom such inventory can be left aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made; and the Bailliff shall give a copy of the inventory to the ratepayer on demand at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

12. The Bailliff, on making a distress as aforesaid, may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained, of what nature or kind soever, in such place or places or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for this purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whomsoever, after the expiration of the five days as hereinbefore mentioned, to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded and secured as aforesaid, in order to view and buy, and in order to carry off and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner to direct order of sale.

13. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon shall, at his or her option, direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods or chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

14. The Bailliff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

Costs.

15. There shall be payable to the Bailliff for the use of the Council, for every levy and distress made under this By-law, the costs and charges in the Schedule hereunto annexed marked C.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of Distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Municipal District of _____, do hereby authorize you, _____, the Bailliff of the said Municipality, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, for _____, being the amount of rates due to said Municipality to the day of _____, for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises, as the case may be), and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates, according to law.

Dated this _____ day of _____, 18 ____ Mayor.

PART III.

Preventing and extinguishing fires.

Fire or combustible materials, &c.

1. Every person who shall place, or knowingly permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-office, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or other combustible or inflammable materials of any kind in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for forty-eight hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Setting fire to matter without notice.

2. Any person who shall wilfully set fire to any inflammable matter whatever in the open air within five yards of any dwelling-house or other building, or boundary or dividing fence within the said Municipality, without having given notice in writing to the occupiers of the lands or premises adjoining the lands or premises upon which such matter shall be, of his intention so to do, or shall wilfully set fire to such inflammable matter as aforesaid between the hours of six in the afternoon of any day and six in the morning of the following day, shall for every such offence forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds not less than one pound.

Discharging firearms, &c.

3. Any person who shall discharge any firearms without lawful cause, or let off any fireworks or other explosive matter in or near to any road or street within the limits of the town, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

4. If any chimney catch or be on fire, the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimney is situated shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings: Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be incurred if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Court before which the case is heard that such fire was in no wise owing to the omission or carelessness, whether with respect to cleanse such chimney or otherwise, of himself or his servant.

Burning shavings, &c., in the street.

5. Any person who shall burn any shavings, rubbish, or any other matter or thing, in any road, street, lane, or public place within the said Municipality, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

PART IV.

Streets and Public Places.—Public Health and Decency, &c.

New roads to be reported upon.

1. No new public or intended public road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public, shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, shall have been levelled by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee of Works, or some officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf, or until the said road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, shall have been duly examined by the Committee of Works, or such duly authorized officer as aforesaid, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee or duly authorized officer as aforesaid.

Plan of proposed new roads, &c., to be deposited.

2. Whenever any proprietor or proprietors of land within the Municipality shall open any road, street, lane, or way, or lay out any park, reserve, or other place for public use or recreation through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place, he, she, or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans, signed by himself, herself, or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such road, street, way, lane, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

3. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed as aforesaid shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietor or proprietors as aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, street, lane, way, park, reserve, or other place, use, or recreation as aforesaid, as may be considered necessary by the Council, and such further instrument or dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Roads and streets and encroachments.

4. The Committee for Works, or the Surveyor of the Municipality, or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officer for marking out, and shall fix, mark, and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot ways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, ways, and thoroughfares, recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land, with frontage to the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare in question, shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee for Works, or Surveyor, or other officer or person as aforesaid, to place, or cause to be erected, posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, and thoroughfares, whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the footway on each side, where the road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide, and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council in any such road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare, or other public place of other width than 66 feet: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, way, thoroughfare, or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided: Provided further that this By-law shall be read subject in all respects to "The Width of Streets and Lanes Act of 1831."

Change of street levels.

5. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such road, street, lane, way, or thoroughfare as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cuttings to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days, for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipal District that such plan is so opened to inspection; and no objections thereto shall be entertained by the Council unless made within twenty-one days after such notice shall have been given. At a subsequent meeting of the Council the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Council Clerk; and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Footway or pathway when flagged or asphalted not to be interfered with without permission.

6. Whenever the footway or pathway in front of any house or the ground along any road, street, private street, or lane, within the Municipality has been flagged or asphalted by the Council, the same and the asphalt or flagging thereon shall not be removed, taken up, or otherwise interfered with by any person whomsoever without the permission of the Mayor or Committee for Works first being had and obtained. And every person removing, taking up, or otherwise interfering with such footway or pathway, or the flagging or asphalt thereon, without first obtaining the permission of the Mayor so to do, and any person wilfully or maliciously injuring or destroying such footway or pathway, or the asphalt or flagging thereon, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than five shillings.

Erection of house—fee for permission, &c.

7. Any person intending to erect or put up any fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, in or upon the building line of any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, place, or premises within the Municipality, shall either by himself or by his contractor, serve, or cause to be served, seven days' notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk, or other duly authorized officer, before commencing the same, stating his intention, and describing the proposed situation of the proposed fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, for permission to erect any such fence, or any such house, shop, or other erection or building; and every owner of every such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, who shall, by himself or his contractor, commence to put up or erect any such fence, house, shop, or other erection or building, without having given such notice as aforesaid, shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Pipes, gutters, &c.

8. It shall not be lawful for any person to carry by means of pipes, gutters, or other contrivances, any rain water from the roof of his or her premises or house upon any of the footways of any road, street, lane, or public place within the Municipality. Any owner or occupier of any such house or premises who shall neglect or refuse to remedy or remove any such pipes, gutters, or contrivances when required so to do by any officer of the said Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty shillings nor less than five shillings: Provided that the owner or occupier of any such premises or house may convey any such rain water by means of pipes laid under the surface of any such footways into the gutter adjoining the same, and subject to the approval of the Committee for Works, or some officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf.

No balcony, &c., to project.

9. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any verandah, portico, or balcony, to project beyond the building line of any street, road, lane, or thoroughfare, except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony, or any other external projection as aforesaid which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid, under a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds, except with the consent of the Council first obtained: Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street, road, or thoroughfare less than thirty feet wide: Provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Encroachments must be removed on notice.

10. The Surveyor or other officer or person duly authorized by the Council on that behalf may at any time on the order of the Council, and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place under the charge of the Council. Notice shall in this case be served either personally, or at the usual or last known abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroachment in structure belongs, or who has erected the same or caused it to be erected.

Council may remove encroachments.

11. In any case where, after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same, under the superintendence of its Overseer of Works, or other proper officer duly appointed in that behalf, and at the cost of the person so offending (provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds), or at the Council's option to proceed against the offender for the breach of this By-law, the penalty for the first offence not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor to be less than one pound; and in the case of the second and every successive offence, the penalty on conviction not to be less than two pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds.

Or may proceed by action.

12. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council, either to direct such removal and to pay all the costs thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment.

To apply also to obstructions by digging, &c.

13. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavations; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him or either of them, in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said Overseer of Works, or other such officer as aforesaid, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds or more than twenty pounds.

Hoards or fences to be erected.

14. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the Municipality, or cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be done, where any street, road, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or any part thereof will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street with a convenient platform and hand-rail, if there be room enough to leave as a footway for passengers outside of such hoard or fence, and shall continue such hoard or fence, with such platform and hand-rail as aforesaid standing in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or other officer of the Council of the Municipality duly appointed in that behalf, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall, in all cases in which it is necessary, in order to prevent accidents, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise; and every such person who shall fail to put up such fence or hoard or platform, with such hand-rail as aforesaid, or to continue the same respectively, standing in such good condition as aforesaid, during the period of such building or taking down, or who shall not, while the said hoard or fence is standing, place lights on each side of the said hoards or fences, and keep the same burning from sunset to sunrise, or who shall not remove the same when directed by the Overseer of Works or such other officer of the Council of the Municipality within a reasonable time afterwards as aforesaid, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day such default is continued.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

15. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material in or from any part of the carriage or foot way of any street, road, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage such carriage or foot way, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Holes to be enclosed.

16. Any person or persons who shall dig or make, or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left, any hole adjoining or near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or other buildings, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner, to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works or Foreman of Works of the said Municipality, or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued, any such enclosure, for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary, in the opinion of the said Committee, and shall not place lights on each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise, during the continuance of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding ten pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the footways to be enclosed, under penalty.

17. Every owner or occupier of any land, house, building, or premises within the said Municipality, having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, waterhole, quarry, excavation, or opening in the ground adjoining or near to any footway of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place in such Municipality, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient fence, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land having any steps adjoining the footway of any such street or public place shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he shall be convicted for any such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner and occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fence, or other enclosures as aforesaid, within seven days after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Wells to be covered over.—Penalty.

18. Every person who shall have a well or underground tank, used for domestic or other purposes, situated between his or her dwelling-house or the appurtenances thereof, and any road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Municipality, or at the side of, or in any yard or place open or exposed to such road, street, or footway, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if every person having such well or underground tank as aforesaid shall fail to cover over and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by the Overseer for Works or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain open and uncovered, contrary to the provisions hereof, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs.

19. The Mayor, or any officer or person acting under the authority of the Mayor, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any other necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

20. Any person who shall haul, draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or other public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing, otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other material or thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or draw, or trail upon any part of such street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or public place, to the injury thereof, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings, nor less than five shillings, over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving carriages, &c., on footpath; and throwing filth, &c.

21. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood or any matter or thing in or upon the carriage-way, footpath, gutter, or water-table of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, passage, or public place in the said Municipality; or shall kill, slaughter, dress, or cut up any beast, swine, sheep, lamb, or other animal in or so near to any such street, or public place as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any or either of such carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table; or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to be run, rolled, driven, drawn, or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, truck, or any bicycle or tricycle, or any hogshead, cask, or barrel; or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Placing carriages, goods, &c., on footways, &c.—Not removing when required. Replacing the same after removal.—Not to prevent awnings being erected in front of shops.

22. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall-board, chopping-block, show-board (on hinges or otherwise), basket, wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatever; or shall hoop, place, wash or cleanse; or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed or cleansed any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel in or upon or over any carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality; or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading or unloading such cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or taking up or setting down any fare; or waiting for passengers when actually hired; or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage-way, footway, gutter, or water-table, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other material or things for buildings whatsoever (unless the sanction of the Overseer for Works or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf has been first had and obtained, or unless the same shall be enclosed to the satisfaction of the Overseer of Works or such other officer as aforesaid) or any other matters or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house or other building or premises, over any part of any such footway, carriage-way, gutter, or water-table, or over any area of any house or building premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house or other building or premises over or next unto any such street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council duly authorized in that behalf; or if any person who, having, in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid, removed or caused to be removed any such stall board, chopping-block, basket, wares, merchandise, casks, goods, coach, cart, wain, waggon, dray, wheel-barrow, hand-barrow, sledge, truck, carriage, timber, stone, bricks, lime, meat, offal, or other things, or matter whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any such carriage or foot way or next unto any such street or public place as aforesaid, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings, and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house, in such manner as that such an awning shall be at least eight feet above the proper level of the footway, and that the posts be placed close to the kerbstone or outer edge of such footway, and that the said posts and any framework be erected to the satisfaction of the Council, and as may from time to time be directed by the Council.

Public Health.

23. All drains, earth-closets, privies, and cesspits, and ash-pits, on any premises in the said Municipality constructed shall be maintained and kept by the owner, occupant, or agent of such premises, so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so as that there shall be no overflow or soakage therefrom.

24. No person shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, through, upon, or over any street, or public place in the said Municipality, except within the hours of ten o'clock at night and five in the morning, any unwholesome or offensive matter of any kind whatsoever, and nothing herein contained is to have the effect of repealing any By-law now in force for the mode and times of removal of night-soil.

Sale of blown meat, &c., forbidden.

25. No person shall sell, or expose, or have for sale, or keep on his premises, any meat or any other article intended, but unfit for human food, or shall expose or have for sale any adulterated butter, meal, bread, or other article of food, or any adulterated milk, knowing either of them to be so adulterated; and any person offending against this By-law, shall for every such offence, be liable on conviction to pay a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and shall also be liable to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds, for every day during which any forbidden article shall be kept on the premises of such person.

No person to keep meat unfit for food.

26. No person shall keep or have in his possession, or retain in any building, shop, or other place, exposed for sale, any dead animal, carcass, meat, poultry, or fish, intended for, but unfit for human food, and every person offending against this By-law, shall, for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such forbidden thing shall be kept or retained by any such person.

Sale or letting of infected premises or goods.

27. If any person shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, any dwelling-house, or part thereof, or premises occupied in connection therewith in the said Municipality, which then is, or shall have been within thirty days prior to the date of such sale or letting, occupied by any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, without giving due notice thereof to the person or persons purchasing, renting, or hiring any such house or premises, the person selling, letting, or causing to be sold or let, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds. And any person who shall sell, let, or cause to be sold or let, in the said Municipality, any article of furniture, bedding, household or personal effects, knowing the same to have been within three months prior to the date of such sale or letting used by any person or persons suffering from any infectious or contagious disease, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Exposing infected articles.

28. Any person who shall expose, or cause to be exposed in any road, street, public place, or unclosed land adjacent to any dwelling, road, street, or public place, any article whatsoever, knowing the same to have been in the use or occupation of any person suffering from any infectious or contagious disease within thirty days prior to the date of such exposure as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Regulation of traffic in streets.

29. Any person or persons riding or driving into or out of any yard or alley abutting on any street or road within the Municipality, shall do so at a walking pace, and anyone offending against this By-law shall on conviction be liable to a penalty of not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds.

30. All persons conducting or taking horses along any street, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, shall keep them secured by means of a halter or bridle, and shall lead them, and no person shall run or drive, or cause to be run or driven, any horse or horses loose through any such street, thoroughfare, or public place, as aforesaid; nevertheless that horses being taken to the public pound, and afterwards impounded therein or mobs of horses being driven to or from market, shall not be within the meaning of this By-law. Every such person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds.

Riding on drays—careless driving, &c.

33. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray, of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse or driven or guided with reins only excepted), or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses, or cattle drawing the same, or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, coach, or other carriage whatsoever meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, coach, or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare, or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care, upon such street, or by negligence or misbehaviour prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, every driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding two pounds.

Name and place of abode.

34. The owner of every vehicle used for the conveyance of goods who shall allow the same to be driven through the Municipality without having his name and place of abode painted in full on the off side legibly and the driver of any such vehicle who shall refuse to give his and the owner's name and address when called on to do so, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding £2.

Hours within which cattle may not be driven through certain streets.

35. That any person or persons who shall drive or cause to be driven through Main-street, between Pioneer-street and Fitzroy-street; Queen-street, between Main-street and Edward-street; Victoria-street, between Main-street and Edward-street; Station-street, between Main-street and Regent-street; Alice-street, between Main-street and Edward-street; Helena-street, between Main-street and Edward-street; any cattle other than milking cows and working bullocks, between the hours 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., except by permission in writing from the Mayor or any two Aldermen, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that this By-law shall not interfere in any way with cattle being driven by the shortest route to the public pound.

Riding or driving furiously.

36. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the said Municipality, so negligently, carelessly, or furiously as to create alarm, or so as that the safety of any other person or of any property shall or may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Damage to kerbstones, gullies, &c.

37. No driver or carter or other person shall wilfully or negligently do or suffer, or cause to be done, any damage or injury to any culvert, kerbstone, gutter, or pathway in any street or roadway in the Municipality aforesaid; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall for every offence forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings over and above the damage done.

Loitering in the streets, &c.

38. Any person loitering or standing on the footway or carriage-way of any road, street, lane, or other public place within the said Municipality, so neglecting or refusing without reasonable cause or excuse to move on after having been requested so to do by any constable or other police officer, or any officer duly authorized by the Council of the said Municipality in that behalf, shall on conviction forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five shillings.

Blasting Rock.

No rock to be blasted without notice to Council Clerk.

39. Any person or persons who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within one hundred yards of any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, or dwelling-house in the Municipality, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person or persons shall blast, or cause to be blasted, any rock within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him or them by the said Council Clerk, he, she, or they shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Public Property.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

40. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality shall, over and above the necessary expense for repairing the injury committed, be liable to forfeit any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

41. Any person who shall damage any public building, gate, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, watercourse, or other public property within the Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same; and if any damage be wilfully done, shall be liable to forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

42. If any person or persons shall paste, or cause to be pasted, or otherwise affix any placard or other paper, or chalk, or paint upon any wall, house, fence, culvert, kerbstone, pathway, hand-rail, or other property of the Council, or in any other manner deface the same without authority of the Council, he or they shall be liable to forfeit and pay for every such separate offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

43. Any person who shall wilfully, and without the authority of the Council, cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood growing in or upon any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, reserve, park, or public place under the management of the Council, shall be liable to forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Obstructing public pathways.

44. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, or other public place within the Municipality, shall permit any shrub or plant, kept for ornament or otherwise, to overhang any footpath, footway, or carriage-way, on the side of any such street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or other public place, so as to obstruct the passage thereof, and shall not, on demand made by the Council, or their Inspector, Overseer, or other officer duly authorized on that behalf, cut or cause to be cut, or lop or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, to the height of eight feet at the least, the Council and their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut, lop, or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and may remove or burn, or cause to be removed or burnt, any portion of such trees so cut and lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," every such person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Injuring public fountains, &c.

45. Any person who shall injure any public fountain, pump, cock, water-pipe, or any other thing connected with the preservation or supply of water to the Municipality, or to any portion thereof, shall forfeit and pay the amount of such damage, and any further sum not exceeding five pounds; and any person who shall bathe and wash himself, or shall wash any clothes or other article at or in any reservoir, channel, fountain, or basin provided for public use, or who shall in any other way foul the water preserved or used for the purpose aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown into any public watercourses, &c.

46. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public watercourse, sewer, waterhole, river, creek, road, or pathway; or who shall suffer any slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways, water-tables, or streets of the Municipality; or shall permit or cause by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, any such suds or filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public watercourse, waterhole, river, creek, or sewer; or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or watercourse, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds, and shall pay cost of restoring such obstructed or diverted watercourse, creek, or canal.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

47. If any animal shall die in any part of the Municipality, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire, or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the said Municipality, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding fifty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals or private premises.

48. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the Council of the Municipality, may at any hour in the daytime enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipality where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and, if necessary, to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid, in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose; and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding thirty pounds nor less than three pounds.

Dead animals, in certain cases, to be removed at cost of owner.

49. If any animal shall die in any public street or place within the Municipality, it shall be immediately removed by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in the manner aforesaid, at the cost of the owner.

Hog-sties to be forty yards from streets, and no animals suffered to stray, &c.

50. Any person who shall keep, breed, or feed any kind of swine in any house, building, yard, garden, or other place, situated and being within forty yards of any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, park, reserve, or public place in the Municipality or nearest dwelling-house, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or any other animal of a like nature, or any poultry belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street, road, lane, park, reserve, thoroughfare, or public place unless by permission of the Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings, for each and every animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray, or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid, and the owner or occupier of any house or premises, or other place within the said Municipality, wherein any such swine, horse, ass, mule, sheep, goat, cow, or other animal is kept, fed, milked, or used in any whatsoever, shall within the meaning of these By-laws, be deemed the owner of such animal so kept, bred, fed, suffered to stray, or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid; and the words "any house," "building," "yard," "garden," or "other place, wherein any kind of swine shall be bred or kept as aforesaid, shall respectively be deemed hogsties within the meaning of these By-laws; and the word "horses" shall be sufficient designation for any entires, geldings, mares, or foals, and the word "cattle" for any bulls, oxen, cows, or calves, when more than one is the subject of any information and summons under the provisions of these By-laws.

Stables, cow-sheds, and pig-sties.

51. The occupier of any land or premises within this Municipality, on which there shall be erected any stable, cow-yard, fowl-house, cattle-shed, or pig-sty, shall cause such premises to be kept in such a state in respect to cleanliness as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and shall cause all dung, soil, or manure, produced or accumulated thereon to be collected in a place (to be approved of by the Inspector of Nuisances) in the yard of such premises, and there to be in an inoffensive condition, and so as not to be productive of any nuisance; and shall cause such dung, soil, or other manure, to be from time to time removed from such premises, as often as the quantity so collected shall amount to one cubic yard. And if at any time the owner or occupier of any such premises shall neglect or fail to have such dung, soil, or other manure removed therefrom as aforesaid, the same shall be removed by the Inspector of Nuisances, at the expense of such occupier. For an offence against this By-law any person shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

Premises in state to endanger public health.

Houses to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

52. If upon the certificate of any duly two qualified medical practitioners it appears to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in a filthy or unwholesome condition, that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, to whitewash, cleanse or purify the same, as the case may require; and if the person to whom such notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

As to private avenues, or dirty or unwholesome premises.

53. Any owner or occupier of any house, building, yard, garden, premises, or other place within the Municipality, who shall neglect to keep clean any private avenues, passages, yards, thoroughfares, and ways within the said premises so occupied or belonging to him, so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, &c.

54. For preserving the cleanliness of the Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the council from time to time, and when and as often as he, they, or any of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments, manufactory, factory, or establishments in the Municipality and give such directions concerning the cleansing of the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him, them, or any of them shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, or establishment, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds and not less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises, &c.

55. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer appointed by the said Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer appointed by the Council as aforesaid, shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter to remain and be in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Noxious weeds.

56. All owners or occupiers within this Municipality shall remove and burn all kinds of thistles, Bathurst burr, or other noxious weeds upon lands owned, rented, or occupied by them, and any owner, tenant, or occupier neglecting to comply with this By-law, after fourteen days notice from any officer of the said Municipality requiring him to remove and burn such weeds as aforesaid, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than twenty shillings and not exceeding five pounds.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

57. Every person who, in any street, road, lane, thoroughfare, park, reserve, or other public place or passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers in or through the Municipality, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted, or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tackling.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey or cause to be carried or conveyed in any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place, the carcass or any part of the carcass of any newly-slaughtered animal without a sufficient clean and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or carry about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.

Throwing filth, &c., on footways, &c.—Killing animals.

- (3.) Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, slops, suds, or filth, or annoyance, or any matter or thing, into any public watercourse, sewer, or canal, or in or upon the carriage-way, foot-way, or water-table of any street, lane, or other public place in the said Municipality, or shall kill any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal for the purpose of sale, upon any premises within the Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a fine not exceeding five pounds and shall in addition to any such forfeiture pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction.

- (4.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole, across any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub to overhang the footpath to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (5.) Every person who shall haul, place, or cause to be hauled or placed, any boat, gear, or spars, upon any of the reserves within the Municipality aforesaid, and refusing to remove the same when lawfully requested so to do.
- (6.) Every person who shall place any flower-pot in any upper window near to any street, road, lane, passage, thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (7.) Every person who shall place, hang, or affix any sign-board, post, house-ticket, notice, or other similar thing, otherwise than close and parallel to or flat upon the wall of the house, shop, or building to which the same belongs.
- (8.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof, or any part of any house or other building, any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure when any house or buildings are being erected, pulled down, or repaired).
- (9.) No person unless by permission of the Council shall deposit, or cause or suffer to be deposited, in or by the side of or on any road, street, right-of-way, lane, passage, water-channel, or gutter, or in any creek, or in any other public place within the Municipality, any dust, mud, ashes, rubbish, filth, offal, manure, liquid manure, dung, or soil; and no person shall deposit or cause or suffer to be deposited, any night-soil or any other offensive matter on any land, field, or garden, within the Municipality.
- (10.) Every person who shall carry goods on any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the footway of any street, road, lane, or other public footway.
- (11.) Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right of way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

Passengers, &c., not to be interrupted by dusting.

- (12.) Between the hours of eight o'clock in the morning and seven o'clock in the evening of any day, no person shall cause interruption, annoyance, or inconvenience to passengers along the streets or footpaths of the said Municipality, by raising or discharging dust upon or across any such street or footpath, whether from buildings in process of erection or demolition, or otherwise howsoever.
- (13.) Any person who, being the owner or person in charge of any pigeons, shall permit any such bird to be at large within the Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings, and any person duly authorized by the Council may destroy such bird without being responsible to any person claiming the ownership of such bird.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

58. Any person who shall bathe near or within view of any inhabited house or of any public bridge, street, road, or other place of resort, within the limits of the Municipality, between the hours of six in the morning and eight in the evening, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

59. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street, road, lane, passage, or thoroughfare, or public place within the Municipality, or in view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds, nor less than one pound.

PART V.

Noisome and offensive trades.

Complaint.—Inquire and report.—Order of Council thereon.—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

1. Upon the complaint in writing by any householder, that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property, as to injure his or her health, or the health of his or her family, or to otherwise annoy, injure, or be a nuisance to such householder and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises where such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council. And if the said Council shall, on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of, and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a noisome or offensive trade, within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as that within such reasonable time as aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipality. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade as aforesaid, shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds; and for a third and every subsequent offence, a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding when noisome or offensive trade is about to be commenced.—Penalty.

2. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, her, or them not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measures as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the Municipality. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Service of notice.—Liabilities.

3. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all the purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

PART VI.

Public Exhibitions, &c.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

1. No exhibition, other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14th Victoria, No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the Municipality, nor shall any bowling-alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement, other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or place for temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, be used as such, for hire or profit, within the Municipality, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

Temporary license by Mayor.—Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid (other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act), and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week, and in like manner to allow any place within the Municipality to be used for purposes of public amusement other than entertainments required to be licensed as aforesaid for not more than one week: Provided that it shall be incumbent upon such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting such permission, and to refuse such permission if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid; or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Municipality. Every person holding or keeping such exhibition, or using any place within the Municipality for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting such place to be used, without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings nor more than forty shillings for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept, or such place shall be used for public amusement as aforesaid.

Public buildings, &c., to be registered.

3. Every occupier of any building or ground in which any exhibition is held or kept, or any public amusement conducted as aforesaid, shall in each year register at the office of the Council such building or ground, together with the situation and description thereof, and of the exhibition proposed to be held or kept, or the public amusement proposed to be conducted as aforesaid in or upon such building or ground, and the name of such occupier. And every person who causes, and every occupier of any such building or land who permits any such exhibition to be held or kept, or any public amusement to be conducted for longer than one week in or on any such building or land not being registered for the purpose, or without such certificate of registration as hereinafter mentioned having been obtained for the same, shall forfeit for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

Certificates of registration, &c.

4. The Council, upon the written application of any such occupier as aforesaid, stating the particulars aforesaid; and if, upon inspection by the proper officer, the building or land shall have been found to be secure and proper for the purpose stated; and if the proposed exhibition or amusement shall not be such as to require a license from the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, and shall not be thought likely to entail any violation of public decency, or to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitants of the said Municipality, the said Council shall cause the aforesaid premises to be registered in a registry book, to be kept for that purpose, and shall thereupon grant to the applicant a certificate of such registration of such premises. And the said Council may at any time, and for any of the causes hereinafter mentioned, suspend for a stated period the effect of or cause of any such registration, and shall forthwith give notice of such suspension or cancellation to the occupier of the registered building or land; and during such suspension, or after such cancellation, such premises shall be deemed to be unregistered in respect of the purpose mentioned in the certificate of registration, and such certificate shall be of no force or virtue.

Inspection.

5. The proper officer of the Council, duly authorized in that behalf, may at all reasonable times enter into or upon and inspect any such registered building or land.

No exhibition, &c., on Sundays, &c.

6. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid, shall be held, except by permission of the Council, or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusement on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Registration fee.—Time for which registration shall be in force.

7. For every such registration as aforesaid the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Council Clerk, for the benefit of the said Municipality, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing, and no longer.

Certificate of registration to operate as license for exhibition, &c., named therein, and no other.

8. The certificate of registration aforesaid shall be regarded as a license from the Council for the holding or keeping of the exhibition, or for carrying on the public amusements therein mentioned, but for none other. Any occupier of such building or land who shall hold or keep therein or thereon any exhibition, or shall use such building or land for any public amusements other than such exhibitions or amusements mentioned in such certificate or license, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than ten shillings, nor more than ten pounds.

Unlawful games and exhibitions.

9. No license shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any game with dice or other games of chance for money, or any bull-baiting, dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality, or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace, are proposed to be had or carried on, and the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid who shall permit any such game of chance, or exhibition, or amusement as are in the section before-mentioned, to be had, held, or carried on, in or upon such building, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Suspension or revocation of license.—Notice to be given and licensee to be allowed to show cause.

10. The effect of any such registration as aforesaid may be suspended, or such registration may be cancelled, as the Council may think fit, for any of the following cases, namely: Whenever the occupier of the registered building or land, or the manager of any such exhibition or amusement, as aforesaid, held, kept, conducted, or carried on, in or upon such building or ground, shall have been twice convicted of offences against these By-laws within a period of twelve months, or whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the said Council that the superintendent, director, or manager, or other person in charge of any such exhibition or amusement, is a confirmed drunkard, or that such exhibition or amusement is being conducted in such a manner as to violate public decency, to endanger the public peace, or become a nuisance to any inhabitants of the Municipality: Provided that, before any such suspension or cancellation as aforesaid, the occupier of such registered building or land shall have notice of the fact, the said Council is about to consider whether there shall be any such suspension or cancellation, and of the causes of this proceeding, and shall be allowed to show cause against such suspension or cancellation before the same shall be ordered.

Construction of term "occupier"—Change of occupancy—False statement.

11. Any person who shall superintend, direct, or manage, or shall be otherwise in charge of any such exhibition, or public amusement as aforesaid, in or upon any building or land as aforesaid, or who shall reside in or upon any such building or land wherein or whereon any such exhibition or public amusement shall be held, kept, or carried on; or who, being the owner, lessee, or tenant of any such building or land, shall permit the same to be used for the purposes of any such exhibition or public amusement, shall be deemed to be the occupier of such building or land for all the purposes of these By-laws. And the said By-laws shall be held to be as applicable in every case to any number of such occupiers as to any single occupier; and every other occupier whose name shall have been so registered as aforesaid shall be deemed and taken to be, and continue to be such occupier for all the purposes of these By-laws: Provided that in the event of any change in the occupancy of any such building or ground as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the parties concerned to notify the same, by writing under their hands, to the Council Clerk, who shall lay such notification before the Council at its next meeting; and if, after such inquiry as such Council may deem necessary, there shall seem to be no valid objection to such change of occupancy, a corresponding entry shall be made in the registry aforesaid, and a new certificate shall be issued, which shall be in force until the then next ensuing thirty-first day of December, and no longer. And for every such new certificate a fee of five shillings shall be paid to the said Council Clerk for the benefit of the said Municipality. And every person who shall make any false statement in any such application or notice as aforesaid as to any of the facts or particulars required by these By-laws to be stated in such application or notice, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

PART VII.

Water Supply.

Polluting water, reservoirs, &c.

1. Whosoever shall bathe in any stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks belonging to or under the management or control of the Council, or shall wash, cleanse, throw, or cause to enter therein any animal, whether alive or dead, or any rubbish, filth, stuff, or thing of any kind whatsoever; or shall cause or permit, or suffer to be run or to be brought therein, the water of any sink, sewer, drain, engine, or boiler, or other filthy, unwholesome, or improper water; or shall wash any clothes at any public fountain or pump, or in or at any such stream, reservoir, conduit, aqueduct, or other waterworks as aforesaid; or shall do anything whatsoever whereby any water or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, shall be fouled, obstructed or damaged, shall, for the first offence, be liable to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than ten pounds, and for a third, and every subsequent offence, any sum not less than ten pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Willful waste of water.

2. Whosoever, being supplied with water by the Council from any waterworks, fountain, reservoir, or standpipe, or belonging to, or under the control or management of the said Council, or having access to any such waterworks, fountain, or reservoir, for the taking of water therefrom, shall wilfully or negligently suffer any water to run to waste from any pipe, pump, or conduit, from or by which he shall be so supplied, or to which he shall have such access, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not exceeding five pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than forty pounds.

Damming up water without consent.

3. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment, or allow any accumulation of drift or silt to accumulate in or across any river, creek, or natural watercourse, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall move such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if after such second conviction such person shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds, and if within a reasonable time after a third or any further conviction he shall still fail to remove such dam or embankment he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Diverting waters from reservoirs of Council in certain cases.

4. In any case in which the Council shall have the exclusive right of collecting for the supply of any reservoir or waterworks belonging to the said Council, or under their management or control, the storm-water having fallen on any gathering ground, whosoever shall, by any means whatsoever, divert any such water from the course of its natural flow, so that the same shall tend to flow elsewhere than to such reservoir or waterworks, or some watercourse leading thereto, or shall flow to the same respectively in a foul state, shall forfeit and pay for the first offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, for a second offence any sum not less than two pounds nor more than forty pounds, and for a third and every subsequent offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

PART VIII.

Sewerage and Drainage.

No private sewers to be made to communicate with the public sewers without notice.

1. It shall not be lawful for any person, without notice to the Council, or otherwise than according to such plans and directions as such Council may make and give, to make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the public drains, sewers, or channels, or into any drain or sewer communicating therewith; and in case any person or persons shall make or branch any private drain or sewer into any of the said public drains or sewers, or into any drain or sewer communicating or to communicate therewith, without such notice, or otherwise than as aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Proprietors of private sewers, &c., to repair and cleanse same.

2. All drains or sewers communicating with any public drain or sewer shall from time to time be repaired and cleansed under the inspection and direction of the Council, at the costs and charges of the occupiers of the houses, buildings, lands, and premises to which the said private sewers or drains shall respectively belong; and in case any person shall neglect to repair or cleanse, or cause any such private drain or sewer to be repaired or cleansed, according to the directions of the Council, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds.

Disposal of sewerage, &c.

3. The Council shall have power from time to time to enforce the adoption or alteration of any system which to them may appear necessary for the better regulation, disposal, or treatment of night-soil, sewerage, or other drainage, and may suspend the use or further extension of any system which to them may appear detrimental to public health. Any person refusing to comply with any requisition made under this By-law after receiving notice from the Council or an officer under them, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound for each offence.

PART IX.

By-laws for the Municipality of Mittagong for carrying into effect the provisions of the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875."

1. No cesspit, closet, or pit to contain faecal matter shall be allowed to be made. Every person about to erect an earth closet shall, before he commences any such work, give to the Council Clerk seven days' notice in writing of his intention, and of the proposed position of such earth closet, or in default thereof, or in case of his commencing such work without such notice, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

2. No earth closet shall be erected except in such position as shall be approved by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council, or shall be approved by the Council; and any person being guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

3. Every earth closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide, and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened from the inside, and shall be ventilated; and every person building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

4. A separate closet shall be provided for every tenement, in schools or factories, where a number of persons shall be employed, separate closets shall be provided for each sex, with a door to fasten on the inside; where two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a dividing wall between each to effect a complete separation; and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall incur a penalty not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

5. Every earth closet already built, or hereafter to be built, shall be provided with an iron pail, capable of containing not more than six gallons, and having handles attached to two sides thereof, and also with a box or compartment containing dry earth or ashes, and provided with a pint scoop, to enable any person using the closet to throw a pint of dry earth or ashes through the seat into the iron pail.

6. The owner of every house let to a tenant for a shorter term than one year, or his agent employed to let the house, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds for neglecting or refusing to supply the articles mentioned in section 5 of this Part of these By-laws.

7. When two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a sufficient dividing brick or stone wall not less than nine (9) inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the closet through the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and every person building closets adjoining each other contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

8. In schools, factories, or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twenty shall ordinarily reside, or be occupied or employed, one closet shall be supplied for every twenty persons, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against this By-law, or fail to provide the number of closets and of the capacity in this By-law mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

9. Every closet shall be built in such a position that the same may be emptied without the contents being carried through any dwelling-house; and every person building a closet contrary to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

10. If any alteration shall be requisite, in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances, or any officer appointed by the Council in that behalf, for preserving the public health or decency, in the case of any existing closet, and the Council shall adjudge such closet to be either injurious to health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, the same shall be altered by such Inspector of Nuisances, or other officer, and the cost of such alterations shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises whereon the same shall be.

11. All night-soil shall be removed by a contractor or other authorized servant to the Council in carts to be constructed in an approved and water-tight manner to the satisfaction of the Council, and between the hours of ten p.m. and five a.m. Such contractor or other authorized servant shall convey the same without delay to an appointed depot, and shall dispose of the same to the satisfaction of the Council. And such contractor or servant neglecting to comply with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds and not less than ten pounds for every such offence.

12. The place of deposit shall be in such locality as may be from time to time determined upon by the Council and approved of by the Governor.

13. Until otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil from existing closets shall be removed from cesspits by contract or otherwise in water-tight covered vehicles, between the hours of eleven o'clock in the evening and five o'clock in the morning.

14. Until and unless otherwise provided by the Council, all night-soil shall be disposed of by burying it in the earth.

15. In case the Council shall sell or give away any night-soil the same shall be removed in the same manner as above provided, and on being removed from the vehicles in which it is carried shall be deodorized by chemicals or in some other manner, or covered with earth, so as to prevent any offensive smell arising therefrom. Any person guilty of a breach of this By-law shall be punishable by a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds.

16. When any new building is about to be erected, the builder thereof shall first erect and fence off, with a close-paling fence five feet high on the premises, a temporary closet, not less than three feet by two feet six inches, for the use of the workmen employed on such building; and any person neglecting to conform to this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and not less than two pounds.

17. All earth-closets shall be emptied once in seven days, or oftener, and the contents buried in the earth; and every person infringing this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than two pounds.

18. No person shall be at liberty, without the permission of the Council, to use on his own premises any night-soil brought from elsewhere; and in the event of his so doing, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

19. The Council may recover such sums for the emptying of any closet as may be decided upon from time to time by resolution of the Council.

20. On and after the first day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, no persons shall be permitted to have in their premises an open closet or cesspit for the deposit of faecal matter; and any person or persons allowing any such closet or cesspit to remain after receiving thirty days' notice to remove the same, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound; and after such conviction, if not removed within a further period of seven days, shall forfeit a further sum not less than five shillings nor more than two pounds for every day that the same shall remain unaltered or unremoved.

21. No person shall be permitted to cover up, or cause to be covered up, any existing cesspit with earth or other material, unless and until the same shall be properly emptied by the Council's contractor or authorized servant. Any person offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

22. No owner, occupier, or lessee of land shall use on premises owned, occupied, or leased by him or her, any night-soil taken from closets on such premises unless he or she shall have obtained permission in writing from the Council to do so, and in the event of he or she doing so without the aforesaid permission, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

23. The Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorized by the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," therein, on all days except Sundays and public holidays, between the hours of ten o'clock in the morning and four in the evening.

Made and passed by the Council of the Municipal District of Mittagong, this 29th day of May, 1890.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT OF 1867, AND NUISANCES
PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(PORT MACQUARIE—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Acts 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 153, and 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 15th October, 1890.

PORT MACQUARIE MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

THE following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Port Macquarie, under the "Municipalities' Act of 1867" and the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been respectively confirmed and approved by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF PORT MACQUARIE.—AMENDED
BY-LAWS.

BY-LAWS made and passed by the Municipal Council of Port Macquarie, for regulating the proceedings of the Council, the duties of their officers and servants, for compelling residents to keep their premises clean, and generally for the proper government of the Municipality in accordance with the requirements of "Municipalities Act of 1867."

1. The Council shall meet for the dispatch of business at the hour of 3 p.m. on every alternate Monday, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday; in the latter case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint.

2. If the Mayor shall be absent at the expiration of twenty minutes after the time appointed for the holding of any meeting, the Aldermen present shall choose a Chairman: Provided always that if the Mayor shall afterwards attend such Alderman shall leave the chair, to be taken by the Mayor.

3. Whenever any meeting shall lapse, or be adjourned for want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be recorded by the Council Clerk.

4. The business of each ordinary meeting shall be transacted in the following manner, viz. :—

1. Reading and confirming minutes of previous meeting or meetings.
2. Petitions, if any, to be presented and dealt with.
3. Correspondence to be read and dealt with.
4. Reports from Committees and Minutes from the Mayor to be presented, and ordered upon.
5. Questions as to matters under the jurisdiction or within the official cognizance of the Council to be put and replied to.
6. Motions on notice to be dealt with in their respective order.
7. Orders of the day, which shall comprise all business set down for the day, by order of any previous meeting or necessarily arising out of the proceedings of a former meeting. The Council may, by resolution, take any particular matter out of the regular order on the business paper.

Power to suspend By-laws.

5. The Council shall have power to suspend pro tem. one or more of the By-laws: Provided that no such suspension shall be allowed for the purpose of voting money, and that two-thirds of the members present consent.

Postponement of debate on motion.

6. Any debate or order of the day when called on may be postponed to another time to be duly specified: Provided that no discussion be allowed upon such motion for adjournment; and the Alderman upon whose motion any debate shall be adjourned shall be entitled to open the debate on resumption.

Notices of motions, &c., to be numbered as received, and preserved until matter is disposed of.

7. All notices of motion, &c., for consideration at general meetings, shall be delivered to the Council Clerk at least four days before such meeting, in writing, and shall be numbered by him as received, and entered on the business paper according to their number; and each notice shall be preserved by such clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of: Provided, however, that the person giving or forwarding any such notice of motion, &c., shall be at liberty to withdraw the same at any time before the making up of the business paper.

Motions to be in writing and seconded.

8. All resolutions proposed and all amendments shall be submitted in writing, and no motion or amendment shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded.

Motions not to be withdrawn.

9. No motion of which notice has been given shall be withdrawn if any Alderman object; and if any Alderman who has given notice of motion fail or decline to move it, the Mayor or any other Alderman may move the same.

Questions may be put.

10. No question shall be put to the Mayor when in council requiring the production of papers, or which cannot be replied to without reference to books or papers, unless twenty-four hours notice in writing shall have been given thereof to the Council Clerk.

Amendments and order of.

11. Any number of amendments may be proposed on a motion before the Council, and when more than one amendment is moved and seconded, the question shall be put on the last amendment, and then on the next to the last, and so on in the reverse order in which they are moved, except when such motion or amendment shall relate to the fixing of salaries, rates, or other matters of finance, in which case the lowest sum shall be put first, then the next to the lowest, and so on to the highest.

Motions for adjournment.

12. Any motion for adjournment shall be put immediately without discussion. If such motion be negatived, the business then under consideration, or the next in order on the business paper, shall be discussed before any notice for adjournment may be moved.

Divisions.

13. Any Alderman may call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative, and then in the negative; and the Aldermen shall vote by show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded, and any Aldermen present when a division is called for who shall not vote (not being disabled by law from so doing) shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty of ten shillings.

Motions that would rescind.

14. No motion, the effect of which if carried would be to rescind any resolution passed by the Council during the current Municipal year, shall be entertained, unless at a special meeting of the Council called for that purpose; and no such motion, if negatived by the Council at such special meeting, shall be again entertained during the same Municipal year.

Aldermen not to speak more than ten minutes.

15. No Alderman shall speak twice on any motion or amendment without the written consent of the Council, except when in Committee or in explanation, where he shall have been misrepresented or misunderstood. The mover of every question shall have the right to reply: Provided that no Alderman shall speak upon any motion or amendment for a longer period than ten minutes.

To stand when speaking.

16. Every Alderman shall stand when speaking, unless prevented by bodily infirmity, and shall address the Chair.

Privilege of Mayor or Chairman.

17. The Mayor or Chairman shall have the same privilege as any other Alderman in making or seconding a motion, and have the right of speaking on any subject or amendment introduced. The Mayor or Chairman shall rise when so speaking, but shall be considered as still presiding.

Offensive personal statements.

18. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, nor make personal reflections on members, nor impute motives, and all personal reflections shall be considered highly disorderly; and any member so offending shall be required by the Mayor or Chairman to withdraw the expression, and to make a satisfactory apology to the Council or Committee thereof.

Committee of the Council.

19. The rules of the Council shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, except the rule as to standing and that limiting the number of times of speaking. It shall be competent for any Alderman to move, that any subject, matter, motion, or order of the day, be considered in Committee; the Council, as may thereupon be decided, may go into Committee or otherwise.

Points of order.

20. No Alderman when discussing any matter shall be interrupted unless by a call to order, when he shall sit down; the Alderman calling him to order shall then be heard, and the question of order decided before the debate or any other business is resumed.

Speaking.

21. Any Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon, but no Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion, or amendment without any further observation than that he had seconded the same shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment.

Petitions.

22. Any Alderman presenting a petition shall satisfy himself that the wording thereof is respectful and in order. All petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the persons signing the same, and no debate shall take place upon the presentation of a petition until notice shall have been given in the usual manner.

Committees.

23. Besides such special Committees as may from time to time be found necessary, there shall be two Standing Committees, namely, a Finance and an Improvement Committee.

Reports of Committees.

24. All reports upon Standing Committees to be presented in writing, and signed by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction by a minute in writing.

Works and Tenders.

25. Works undertaken by the Council, and estimated to cost over five pounds, to be let by tender. Estimates of the cost of all works determined upon shall be laid before the Council, on the report of the Works Committee, before the contract is entered upon for such works.

Urgent works may be ordered.

26. The Mayor, or in his absence any two Aldermen of the Works Committee, may order any sum not exceeding five pounds, to be expended in repairing any public work under the control of the Council, which may be suddenly damaged, and such order shall be reported at the next meeting of the Council.

Payment how made.

27. No money shall be paid by the Council until the account for the same shall have been examined by the Finance Committee, and approved of by the Council.

Common Seal, &c.

28. All charters, deeds, muniments, and records of the Municipality shall be kept in the office thereof, in the custody of the Council Clerk, unless the contract shall order otherwise. All papers, deeds, contracts, and agreements requiring to be sealed with the Common Seal shall be witnessed by the Mayor and the Council Clerk. For the purpose of authenticating documents the Common Seal may be attached thereto, witnessed by the Mayor and the Council Clerk, for which a fee of five shillings shall be paid.

Rates to be paid.

29. The rates of the Municipality shall be collected half-yearly, and shall be due and payable on such days as the Council shall determine at the time of making the assessment, or on such other days as the Council may direct. All persons liable to pay rates or assessments shall pay the same to the Council Clerk, or such other officer as may be appointed for that purpose, at the Municipal Council Chambers, during office hours, on such days as may be appointed by the Council.

Council Clerk.

30. The Council Clerk shall be required to enter into an approved bond in double the amount of his salary for the faithful performance of his duties.

Bailiff.

31. The Bailiff shall make all levies and distress under warrant signed by the Mayor in the form of schedule marked A hereto annexed, and shall be paid for every such entry and levy made under these By-laws, the fees as per Schedule B annexed herewith. He shall enter into a bond for the due performance of his duties.

Distress and inventory.

32. At the time of making a distress the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory in the form of the schedule hereto annexed and marked C, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the premises, or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person for his or her behalf resident at the place where the distress has been made.

Persons obstructing Officers of the Council.

33. Any person or persons who shall obstruct, assault, or resist any officer of the said Council while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing or performing, or going to perform or returning from the performance of any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threat, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language towards the said officer in any street, road, or other place within the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Preventing and extinguishing fires.—Fire or combustible materials, &c.

34. Every person who shall place or knowingly permit to be placed in any house, yard, or workshop, outhouses, or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind in such a manner as to endanger any buildings, shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than ten pounds, and shall forthwith remove such fire, gunpowder, or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for a period of twelve hours after any such conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Discharging fireworks, firearms, &c.

35. Every person who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, or fireworks, or shall discharge any firearms, or who shall light any combustible matter upon or within sixty yards of any public or private street or any public place, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Setting on fire chimney-flues.

36. Every person who shall wilfully set or cause to be set on fire any chimney-flue, smoke-vent, or stove-pipe shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Chimney catching fire by neglect.

37. If any chimney catch fire by the wilful neglect of any person occupying or using any premises in which such chimney is situated, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings: Provided always that such forfeiture shall not be enforced if such person prove to the satisfaction of the Justices before whom the case is heard that such fire was in no wise owing to the neglect or carelessness, whether with respect to cleansing such chimney or otherwise, of himself or his servant.

Water carts, licensing of.

38. The Council shall from time to time license to ply within the Municipality, such carts for the carrying and sale of water, and extinguishing fires as shall on inspection be found fit for that purpose. Every such cart or vessel for the holding of water for the purposes aforesaid shall be capable of containing not less than fifty gallons, and shall have the name of the owner, and the words "Licensed Watercart" painted on such cart in legible letters.

Licensing vehicles, carts, &c.

39. All owners of vehicles plying or carrying passengers, goods, or other material for hire, all water, firewood, and coal carters, and all owners of vehicles used for selling milk, or hawking vegetables and fruit in the Borough, shall be licensed by the Council, and the license fee shall be at the rate of five shillings per wheel per annum.

Streets and public places. Health, and decency, &c. New roads to be reported on.

40. No new public road, street, way, reserve, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or reserve shall have been examined by the Committee for Works, and reported upon to the Council by such Committee.

Plans of proposed new road to be delivered to the Council.

41. When any proprietor or proprietors of land within the said Municipality shall open any road, street, or way, or lay out any park or other place for public use or recreation, through or upon such land, and shall be desirous that the Council shall undertake the care and management of such road, street, way, reserve, or other place, he or they shall furnish the Council with a plan or plans signed by himself or themselves, showing clearly the position and extent of such roads, street, way, reserve, or other place as aforesaid.

Dedication of new roads, &c.

42. If the Council determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed as aforesaid shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council; and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, reserve, or other place to public use or recreation as aforesaid as may be considered necessary by the Committee for Works; and such instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Committee for Works to fix street levels.

43. The Committee for Works or any officer or person acting under the supervision of such Committee, shall, subject to such orders as shall from time to time be made by the Council in that behalf, fix and lay out the levels of all public streets, roads, and ways within the Municipality, and the carriage and foot ways thereof. And it shall be the duty of such Committee, officer, or person to place posts at the corners of intersections of any such public roads and streets, wherever the same may be considered necessary or desirable by the Council: Provided that there shall be no change of level in any such public road, street, or way, until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter directed. Whenever it may be deemed necessary to alter the level of any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed cutting to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for seven days for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality, that such plan is so open to inspection; and no objections thereto shall be by the Council, unless made within twenty-one days after such notice shall have been given at a subsequent meeting of the Council. The said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption, and countersigned by the Town Clerk; and such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

43½. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove, or cause to be removed any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone or other material, or any road scrapings or sweepings in or from any part of the carriage or foot ways of any street or any other public place within the said Municipality without leave first had and obtained for that purpose from the Council, or who shall wantonly break-up or otherwise damage any such carriage or foot way, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound. And any person who shall have or make any cellar or any opening, door, or window, in or beneath the surface of the footway or any street or public place within the said Municipality, without the consent of the Council, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of five pounds over and above the expense of filling up, remedying, or removing such cellar, opening, door, or window.

Holes to be enclosed.

44. Any person or persons who shall dig or make or cause to be dug or made, any hole, or leave or cause to be left, any hole adjoining or near to any street or public place within the said Municipality for the purpose of making any vault or vaults, or the foundation or foundations to any house or building, or for any other purpose whatsoever, or shall erect or pull down any building, and shall not forthwith enclose the same and keep the same enclosed in a good and sufficient manner to the satisfaction of the Committee for Works of the said Municipality, or shall keep up or cause to be kept up and continued any such enclosure for any time which shall be longer than shall be absolutely necessary in the opinion of said Committee, and shall not place lights upon each side of the said enclosure, and keep the same constantly burning from sunset to sunrise, during the continued existence of such enclosure, shall forfeit and pay for every such refusal or neglect any sum not being less than forty shillings nor exceeding five pounds.

Open spaces and steps adjoining footways to be enclosed under a penalty.

45. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, or premises, or land within the said Municipality having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building lot, water-hole, or excavated space adjoining the footway of any street or public place in such Municipality, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient rails, fences, or other enclosures, to be previously approved of by the Works Committee or any officer whose special duty it shall be to attend to such works, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land having any steps adjoining the footway of any such street or public place, shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosure, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof, every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he or she shall be convicted of such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds; and every such owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such fences or other enclosures as aforesaid, after fourteen days' notice from the Council or any duly qualified officer, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Penalty for not covering over wells.

46. Every person who shall have a well or excavation situated between his or her dwelling-house, or the appurtenances thereof, and every road, street, or footway within the limits of the said Municipality, shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over; and if any person having any such well as aforesaid shall fail to cover up and secure the same within twenty-four hours after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left for any such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum of ten shillings, and for every day after such notice that such well shall remain so uncovered contrary to the provisions hereinbefore made and provided, such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage to traffic for repairs.

47. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee of the Council, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof, to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of any sum not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber.

48. Any person who shall haul or draw timber, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow, to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place to the injury thereof, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damage occasioned thereby.

Driving on footpaths, and throwing filth thereon.

49. Any person who shall throw, cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing in or upon the carriage-way or footway of any street or public place within the said Municipality, or shall kill, slaughter, dress, scald, or cut up any beast, swine, calf, sheep, lamb, or other animal in or so near to any such street or public place, as that any blood or filth shall run or flow upon or over, or be on any or either of any such carriage or foot way, or shall run, roll, drive, draw, place, or cause, permit, or suffer to run, rolled, driven, drawn or placed upon any of the said footways of any such street or public place, any waggon, cart, dray, sledge, or other carriage, or any wheelbarrow, handbarrow, or truck, or any hoghead, cask, or barrel, or shall wilfully lead, drive, or ride any horse, ass, mule, or other beast upon any such footway, shall upon conviction thereof forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for a third and every subsequent offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound for every such offence.

Lights to be placed on vehicles.

50. Every person driving any vehicle within the Borough between sunset and sunrise shall carry two lights, one on each side of the outside of such vehicle in a conspicuous place; and every person riding on a bicycle or tricycle as aforesaid shall carry a conspicuous light attached thereto. Any one offending against this By-law shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound nor less than two shillings and sixpence.

Destroying kerbing, gutters, pathways, &c.

51. No driver, carter, or other person shall wilfully or negligently do, or suffer, or cause to be done any damage or injury to the kerbing, gutters, or pathways of any street, or roadway; and no person shall be at liberty to drive a wheeled vehicle of any kind, or ride, or drive, lead any horse or horses, or any animals on the pathways within the Municipal District; and every person so offending shall for such offence forfeit and pay a fine or sum not exceeding one pound nor less than five shillings in excess of any damages done.

Licensing timber carriages

52. No timber carriage or vehicle used for that purpose, or dray attached as a substitute for the conveyance of timber or other material will be allowed to ply or work within or through the Municipal District, unless the same be licensed. This clause only to apply to timber carriage and other vehicles attached as aforesaid working for hire or drawing timber to saw-mills, railway station, or for shipment. The owners of any such timber carriage as aforesaid shall have their names painted in legible letters, with the word "licensed," and the number of the license on some conspicuous part of such timber carriage respectively. The license fee shall be at the rate of ten shillings per wheel per annum, and all such licenses shall be issued for a period of three months, terminable on the last day of each quarter in each year. And every owner or driver who shall omit or fail to comply with the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

53. No timber carriage or truck will be allowed to ply or work at such time as the Council shall think the roads unfit for traffic, and the Council Clerk shall give notice to owners of such timber carriages to the effect that they must cease work for a specified time, not longer than seven days; and every owner who shall fail to comply with this By-law shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings for each offence.

Placing goods, carriages, &c., on the footways—not removing the same when required—replacing same after removal—awnings to be excepted.

54. Any person who shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set, or placed, any stall, board, chopping-block, show-board, (on hinge or otherwise), basket wares, merchandise, casks, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash or cleanse, or shall cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleansed, any pipe, barrel, cask, or vessel, in or upon or over any carriage or foot way in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set out, laid or placed, any coach, cart, waggon, dray, wheelbarrow, handbarrow, sledge, truck, or other carriage, upon any such carriage-way, except for the necessary time of loading and unloading such cart, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage, or taking up or setting down any fare, or waiting for passengers when actually hired, or harnessing or unharnessing the horses or other animals from such coach, cart, waggon, dray, sledge, truck, or other carriage; or if any person who shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in or upon or over any such carriage or foot way, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as herein directed), or any other matter or things whatsoever; or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed, any meat, or offal, or other thing or matter whatsoever, from any house, or other buildings or premises, or any other matter or thing, from and on the outside of the front or any other part of any house, or other buildings or premises, over or next unto any such street, or public place, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances, or other proper officer of the Council, shall upon conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay for the first offence a sum not exceeding forty nor less than five shillings; for the second offence a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings; and for the third and every subsequent offence, a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from placing an awning in front of his or her shop or house, in such a manner as that such awning shall be at least seven feet high above the height of the footway, and that the posts be placed close to the kerbing or outer edge of such footway, and a plan of such awning submitted to the Council prior to its erection, and approval of by said Council, or any officer duly appointed for the purpose.

Riding on drays, careless driving, &c

55. If the driver of any waggon, cart, or dray of any kind, shall ride upon any such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such cats as are drawn by one horse, or driver, or guider, with reins only excepted); or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such distance from such carriage or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street, that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse, or horses, or cattle drawing the same, or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach or other carriage whatsoever, meeting any other carriage, shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street, or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her, or any carriage under his or her care upon such street, or by negligence or misbehaviour, prevent, hinder, or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon the same, every driver or person so offending shall upon conviction, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Nuisance.

Dead animals, &c., not to be thrown in any public water-course.

56. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animal, or any animal with intent of drowning, into any public water-course, sewer, water-hole, road, or pathway, or who shall suffer slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises into any such water-course or water-hole, or who shall permit or suffer any such slops, suds, or filth to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the Municipality, or shall permit or cause by means of pipes, shoot-, channels, or other contrivances, filth of any kind whatsoever to flow into any public water-course or water-hole, or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or water-course, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Dead animals—Mode of removal.

57. If any animal shall die in any part of the said Municipality, and the owner of such animal, or the occupier of the place, if private property, where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately removed and destroyed by fire, or so effectually disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the Municipality, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Power of Inspector as to dead animals on private premises.

58. The Inspector of Nuisances, or any officer appointed by the Council of the said Municipality, with his assistant, may at any hour enter upon any premises or place within the said Municipality where any animal has died, and require the owner or occupier of such premises or place immediately to destroy such animal by fire, and, if necessary, to remove the same for that purpose, as such Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council shall direct, or otherwise forthwith effectually to remove and dispose of the same as aforesaid; in default of which it shall be lawful for any one or more of such officers to cause such animal to be removed for that purpose; and every owner or occupier of such premises or place failing, neglecting, or refusing to comply with such requisition shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than one pound.

Dead animals in certain cases to be removed at cost of Municipality.

59. If any animal shall die in any public place or street within the said Municipality, and the owner or any person having charge of such animal cannot at the time be found or ascertained, it shall immediately be removed by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the said Council, and destroyed in manner aforesaid at the cost of the Municipality.

Drains.

60. All drains whatsoever, and the water-closets, earth-closets, privies, cesspools, and ash-pits within the Municipality of Port Macquarie, shall be constructed so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and so that there shall be no overflow, soakage, leakage therefrom.

Cleansing privies and cesspits.

61. The occupier of any house, building, or tenement within the Municipality of Port Macquarie, shall cause every privy, cesspool, thereon to be emptied and cleaned from time to time as soon as any portion of the contents of such cesspool shall have so accumulated therein as to be within a distance of 1 foot from the top of the wall sides or lining of such cesspools: Provided that the contents of any privy shall not be removed or discharged therefrom, except between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m., and provided also that the contents of any privy or cesspool shall not be removed or discharged therefrom until such contents shall have had mixed therewith a quantity of chloride of lime, zinc, carbolic acid, or some other efficient deodoriser sufficient to effectually deodorise and disinfect the same.

Objectionable closets to be altered.

62. If any alteration shall be required in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or any officer of the Council appointed in that behalf, for preserving public health or decency in the case of any existing cesspit or closet, the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council shall report the same to the Council, and if the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to health or opposed to decency the same shall be altered by the occupier or owner of the premises upon which such cesspit or closet exists after due notice has been served upon such occupier or owner; and should such occupier or owner neglect or refuse to alter the same, the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council shall forthwith make the necessary alterations, and the costs of the same shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the premises wherein the same shall be.

Earth-closets.

63. Where it is considered by the Council, on report from the Inspector of Nuisances, that any water-closet or cesspit within the Municipal District is offensive or injurious to public health, such water-closet or cesspit shall be converted into an earth-closet, according to plans to be provided by the Council: Provided that no person shall be permitted to cover up, or cause to be covered up, any existing closet or cesspit with earth or other material unless and until the same shall be properly emptied. Any owner or occupier upon whose premises such water-closets or cesspit exists who shall fail after fourteen days, shall upon conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

The disposition of night-soil.

64. The place of deposit of night-soil shall be in such locality as may from time to time be determined by the Council, with the approval of the Governor, and, until otherwise provided by the Council, shall be disposed of as authorised by the Inspector of Nuisances.

Prohibition of use of night-soil.

65. No person shall be at liberty without the permission of the Council, or of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer of the Council appointed in that behalf, to use on his own premises any night-soil. And any person committing a breach of this By-law shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than ten pounds.

Cost of emptying cesspits, &c.

66. The Council may, after due application, recover such sums for emptying of cesspits or attendance on earth-closets at such rates as may from time to time be decided upon and fixed by the Council to be charged in respect of such services.

Inspector of Nuisances' report.

67. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Nuisances to furnish the Council with a report every month, containing a list of persons proceeded against for nuisances within this Municipality, specifying the dates, and giving particulars of each case.

Cleansing butchers' shambles, &c.

68. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipality and the health of the inhabitants hereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances, or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, slaughter-houses, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, fellmongering establishments, and soapworks, in the said Municipality, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, slaughter-houses, tanneries, soapworks, and establishments, both within and without, as to him shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner, or occupier, of any such shamble, slaughter-house, tannery, soapworks, or establishments, who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises.

69. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, closets, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any officer appointed by the said Council, shall make an inspection of the premises complained of, and the officer of the said Council shall have the full power without any other authority than this By-law to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspool, to overflow or soak therefrom shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Premises in such state to endanger public health. House to be purified on certificate of one medical practitioner.

70. If upon the certificate of any one duly qualified medical practitioner it appear to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connexion therewith, within the limits of the said Municipality, is in such a filthy state or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and that the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith would tend to prevent or check infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof or the premises occupied in connection therewith to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same as the case may require; and if the person to whom the notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

Driving and riding round street corner.

71. Any person who shall ride on horseback, or on any bicycle or tricycle, or drive in a vehicle round the corner of any street within the Borough, at a pace faster than a walk, shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not more than one pound nor less than two shillings and six pence.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

72. Every person who, in any street or other public place or passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds:—

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place and close to the footway thereof, without sufficient and proper ropes and tacking.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed in any street or public place, the carcase or any part of the carcase of any newly slaughtered animal without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from public view, or shall hawk or convey about butcher's meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.
- (3.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any tree or shrub overhanging the footpath to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (4.) Every person who shall place any flowerpot in any upper window near to any street or public place without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (5.) Every person who shall throw or cast from the roof or any part of any house or other building any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a board enclosure) when any house or building is being erected, pulled down or repaired.
- (6.) Every person who shall within a distance of 20 yards from any dwelling-house, burn any rags, bones, cork, or other offensive substance to the annoyance of any inhabitant.

(7.) Every person who shall be the keeper of, or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right of way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

Persons not to stand or loiter, &c. on streets.

73. All persons standing, lying, sitting, kneeling down, or loitering upon any of the footways, carriage-ways, or other public places in the Borough to the inconvenience of the passers by, or in any way either singly or collectively interrupting the traffic, who shall not discontinue to do so on being required by any officer of the Council of the Borough, or by any Police Constable, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two pounds nor less than five shillings.

Swine not to wander about streets.

74. Any person who shall breed, feed, or keep any kind of swine in any house, yard, or enclosure, situate, and being in or within 60 feet of any street in the Municipality, or shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass, cattle, mule, sheep, goat, or any other animal of a like nature belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge, to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or public place within the said Municipality, between sunset and sunrise, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding forty shillings, and to be made liable for damages.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

75. Any person who shall bathe without sufficient covering to prevent indecency near to or within view of any inhabited house, or of any public wharf, quay, bridge, street, road, or other place of public resort within the limits of the said Municipality, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and eight in the evening, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

76. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or in view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

77. No exhibitions other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of Act 14, Victoria No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the said Municipality, nor shall any bowling-alley, dancing-saloon, or other place of public amusement, other than a place licensed as aforesaid, or a place for temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, to be used as such for hire or profit within the said Municipality, unless and until the same shall be duly registered as hereinafter prescribed.

Temporary license by Mayor—Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license.

78. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, by writing under his hand, and without charge, to permit any such exhibition as aforesaid (other than an exhibition requiring to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the said Act), and which shall not be held or kept for more than one week, and in like manner to allow any place within the said Municipality to be used for purposes of public amusement, other than entertainments requiring to be licensed as aforesaid, for not more than one week: Provided that it shall be incumbent upon such Mayor to inquire strictly as to the nature of such proposed exhibition or amusement before granting such permission, and to refuse such permission if it shall appear that such proposed exhibition or amusement is of such a nature as to require to be licensed by the Colonial Secretary as aforesaid, or if there shall be reasonable cause for believing that such exhibition or amusement will be likely to entail any violation of public decency, to endanger the public peace, or to be a nuisance to any inhabitant of the Municipality. Every person holding or keeping any such exhibition, or using any place within the said Municipality for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing or permitting any place to be so used without such permission of such Mayor shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five shillings or more than forty shillings for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept or such place shall be so used for public amusement as aforesaid.

Registration Fee.—Time for which registration shall be in force.

79. For every such registration as aforesaid, the occupier of the building or land so registered shall pay to the Council Clerk, for the benefit of the said Municipality, a fee of one pound; and every such registration, whenever the same may be made, shall be in force until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing and no longer.

No exhibition, &c. on Sundays, &c.

80. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held or kept open or used for the purposes of such public amusement on Sundays, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Unlawful games and exhibitions.

81. No license shall be granted as aforesaid to or for any building or land wherein or whereon any games with dice or other games of chance for money, or any bullbaiting, dog-fighting, cock-fighting, or other exhibitions or amusements opposed to public morality or involving cruelty to animals, or likely to cause any breach of the peace are proposed to be had or carried on; and the occupier of any building or land so registered as aforesaid, who shall permit any such game of chance or exhibition or amusement as are in the section before-mentioned to be had, held, or carried on, in, or upon such building, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten shillings nor more than ten pounds.

Wilful trespass.

82. Every person who shall wilfully let in or knowingly suffer to enter upon the reserves or public recreation ground any animals without due authority shall be deemed guilty of wilful trespass, and shall be liable for every such offence to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

Penalty for destroying boundary marks.

83. Any person pulling down, defacing, or injuring any marks or any fence or other erection without the authority of the Council shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Public and private property.—Erection of houses, &c.

84. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place in the Municipality, without first serving notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk, on any lawful day between the hours of eight o'clock a.m. and eight o'clock p.m., stating such intention, and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and without having received an authority from the Mayor or Council Clerk. No person shall be at liberty to encroach beyond the building line in any street or lane by the erection of houses, verandahs, door steps, fences, or any other obstruction whatever.

Houses must have spouting and down pipe.

85. All proprietors of houses within the Municipality having a frontage to any street, shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with down-pipe to be carried underneath the surface of the footpath into the gutter, unless water dripping from the roof be otherwise prevented from flowing on footpath, under penalty of ten shillings on conviction; and if not remedied at expiration of seven days after such conviction the offender shall be again liable to a like conviction and penalty also for every succeeding seven days.

Using bark for building in main thoroughfare.

86. No person shall erect any building of bark, nor roofed with that material, or with calico, within the populous part of the town except by express permission of the Council, and then for a temporary purpose only. Any person so offending shall on conviction be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, to be recovered in a summary way, and shall be bound to remove the aforesaid building within such period as the Council may determine.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

87. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings.

88. Any person who shall damage any public building, wall, parapet, fence, sluice, bridge, culvert, sewer, water-course, tree-guard, or other public property within the said Municipality, shall pay the costs of repairing the same, and if such be wilfully done, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor not less than one pound.

Affixing placards on walls, &c.

89. If any person or persons shall paste, or cause to be pasted, or otherwise affix any placard, or other paper, or chalk or paint upon any wall, fence, culvert, kerbing pathway, handrail, or any other property of the Council, shall forfeit and pay for every such separate offence, a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Damaging trees.

90. Any person who shall wilfully and without the authority of the Council cut, break, bark, root up, or otherwise destroy or damage the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, or underwood growing in or upon any street or place under the management of the Council, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Obstructing public pathways.

91. That the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipality, who shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant kept for ornaments or otherwise to overhang any path or footway on the side of any such street or road so as obstruct the passage thereof, and who, on demand made by the Council, or their overseer or inspector, shall not cut, or caused to be cut, lopped, or to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, to the height of eight feet at least, the said council and their servants, labourers, and workmen may cut, or cause to be cut, or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, and shrubs, and to remove or burn any portion of such trees, plants, or shrubs, so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council or their servants, labourers, or workmen, in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf by virtue of the "Municipalities Act of 1867," every person so offending shall on conviction for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds.

Neglecting to keep clean private avenues.

92. Any owner or occupier of any house or place within the said Municipality, who shall neglect to keep clean all private avenues, passages, yards, and ways within the said premises so as by such neglect to cause a nuisance by offensive smell or otherwise, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Legal proceedings against offenders.

93. The Inspector of Nuisances, any police constable, or other person appointed by the Council, may take legal proceedings against any person or persons committing any offence or offences against any of the By-laws of the said Municipality.

Maximum and minimum penalties where not otherwise provided for.

94. In any case where no special penalty is fixed in these By-laws, for any breach of the same, the maximum penalty for any such breach shall be twenty pounds, and the minimum one pound.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

MUNICIPALITIES ACT OF 1867, AND NUISANCES
PREVENTION ACT, 1875.

(MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF KATOOMBA—BY-LAWS.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Acts 31 Vic. No. 12, sec. 158, and 39 Vic. No. 14, sec. 18.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 10th December, 1890.

KATOOMBA MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAWS.

The following By-laws, made by the Council of the Municipal District of Katoomba, under the "Municipalities Act of 1867," and the "Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875," having been respectively confirmed and approved by His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, are published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Acts.

HENRY PARKES.

MUNICIPALITY OF KATOOMBA.—BY-LAWS.

Ordinary Meetings of Council.

1. The Council shall meet for the dispatch of business at the hour of half-past seven p.m. on every alternate Monday, unless such day shall happen to be a public holiday. In the latter case the meeting shall be held on such other day as the Mayor may appoint.

Election of Chairman in absence of Mayor.

2. If at any meeting of the Council the Mayor be absent, at the expiration of fifteen minutes, after the time appointed for holding such meeting, the Aldermen then present shall proceed to elect from among themselves a chairman for such meeting.

Adjournment for want of a quorum.

2A. Whenever there shall be an adjournment of any such meeting, for the want of a quorum, the names of the members present shall be taken down and recorded in the Minute-book.

Order of Business.

3. Motions and adjourned motions, of which notice has been given, shall be dealt with in the order in which they stand on the business paper.

Minutes.

4. The minutes of the last preceding meeting shall be read, corrected if erroneous, and verified by the signature of the Mayor or other Chairman. No discussion to be permitted on such minutes except as to whether they are correct.

Reports.

5. Reports from committees and officers, and minutes from the Mayor (if any) to be presented and ordered upon.

Accounts.

6. Statement of accounts showing moneys received and paid since last meeting, with the balance in the bank to the credit of the Municipality shall be laid before the meeting.

Lapsed business.

7. Whenever the consideration of any motion or matter of business shall have been interrupted by reason of a quorum not having been present, the consideration of such motion or matter of business in such case, shall, subject to By-law 4, be resumed at the point where it was so interrupted as aforesaid, at the next regular meeting of the Council.

Business paper.

8. The business paper for every meeting of the Council other than a special meeting shall be made up by the Council Clerk or substitute not less than two nor more than three days before the day appointed for such meeting. He shall enter on each business paper a copy or the substance of every notice of motion and of every requisition or order, as to business, proposed to be transacted at such meeting, which he shall have received, or shall have been required or directed so to enter in due course of law, and as hereinafter provided every such entry shall be made subject to the provisions of By-law 3 in the same order as such notice, requisition, or directions shall have been received.

Business paper for Special Meetings.

9. The business paper for each special meeting shall contain only such matters as shall have specially been ordered to be entered thereon by the Mayor or Aldermen calling such meeting.

Summons to Members.

10. The summons to members of the Council for every meeting thereof shall be prepared from the business paper for such meeting and shall embody the substance of such business paper.

11. The business paper for each meeting of the Council shall at such meeting be laid before the Mayor or Chairman, who shall make a note upon such business paper of the mode in which each matter entered thereon has been dealt with, and such business paper so noted shall be a record of the Council.

Notices of motion to be numbered and preserved.

12. All notices of motion for consideration at the meetings of the Council shall be delivered to the Council Clerk at least four days before such meeting in writing, and shall be numbered by him as they are received and entered on the business paper according to their number; and each notice shall be preserved by such Clerk until after the matter to which it relates shall have been disposed of.

After Business Paper made up all notices to be property of the Council.

13. After the business paper shall have been made up as aforesaid, all the said notices of motion, requisitions, and directions, as to which entries have been made thereon shall be the property of the Council, and shall not be withdrawn, altered, or amended, without leave having been first obtained from the Council for such withdrawal, alteration, or amendment.

Motions, how to be moved.

14. Except by leave of the Council motions shall be moved in the order in which they stand on the business paper, and if not so moved or postponed shall be struck from such business paper and be considered to have lapsed. Or if negated a similar motion shall not be brought on again for one month.

Absence of the proposed mover.

15. No motion of which notice shall have been entered on the business paper shall, except as hereinafter provided, be proceeded with in the absence of the Alderman by whom such notice shall have been given unless by some other alderman producing a written authority for that purpose from such first named Alderman.

Motion to be seconded.

16. No motion in Council shall be discussed unless and until it be seconded. But the mover shall have the right to speak in favour of his motion when moving it.

Amendment may be moved.

17. When a motion in Council shall have been made and seconded any Alderman shall be at liberty to move an amendment thereon; no such amendment shall be discussed except by the Alderman moving such amendment unless and until it be seconded.

Motions and amendments to be in writing.

18. No motion or amendment shall be discussed until it shall have been reduced into writing.

Only one amendment at a time.

19. No second or subsequent amendment shall be taken into consideration until the previous amendment or amendments shall have been disposed of.

Amendment carried.

20. If an amendment be carried the question as amended thereby shall become itself the question before Council, whereupon any further amendment upon such question may be moved.

How subsequent amendments may be moved.

21. If an amendment either upon an original motion or upon any question amended as aforesaid shall be negated, then a further amendment may be moved to the question to which such first mentioned amendment was used, and so on, provided that not more than one question and one proposed amendment thereof shall be before the Council at any one time.

Motions for adjournment.

22. No discussion shall be permitted on any motion for adjournment of the Council, and if, upon the question being put on any such motion, the same be negated, the subject then under consideration, or the next in order on the business paper, or any other on such paper that may be allowed precedence, shall be discussed, before any subsequent motion for adjournment shall be receivable.

Requisitions from Aldermen—how to be dealt with.

23. Every requisition by an Alderman that any particular matter of business be brought before the Council shall be regarded and treated as a notice of motion by such Alderman that such business be taken into consideration by the Council, and he shall be called upon in due order to move that such business be so considered, or to make any other motion which he may think fit, in reference thereto, which shall be consistent with the notice of such business and with good order; and if such Alderman be absent, or if being present and so called upon he shall make no such motion, then it shall be open to any other Alderman to make such motion. And when any such motion shall have been made, it shall be dealt with in precisely the same manner as if notice thereof had been given; subject however, to any objection which may exist as to its not being in accordance with the notice actually given of such business, or with good order. And if no motion shall be made in reference to such business, the entry relating thereto shall be struck from the business paper.

Orders of the day.

Of what Orders of the Day shall consist.

24. The orders of the day shall consist of any matters other than motions on notice, which the Council shall at a previous meeting thereof have directed to be taken into consideration, or which the Mayor or any Committee of the Council shall have directed to be entered on the business paper for consideration.

How they are to be dealt with.

25. By-law 23 shall be considered applicable to orders of the day; and the Alderman who has the usual charge of, or who has previously moved in reference to, the particular business to which any such order of the day relates shall be the person called upon to move: Provided that as to any order of the day, entered as aforesaid, by direction of the Mayor, such Mayor may arrange with any Aldermen to move, and may in such case call upon the Alderman with whom he has so arranged.

Petitions.

Petitions to be respectfully worded.

26. It shall be incumbent on every Alderman presenting a petition to acquaint himself with the contents thereof, and to ascertain that it does not contain language disrespectful to the Council. The nature and prayer of every such petition shall be stated to the Council by the Alderman presenting the same; and all petitions shall be received only as the petitions of the parties signing the same.

How Petitions are to be dealt with.

27. No motion shall, unless as hereinafter provided, be permissible on the presentation of a petition except that the same be received; or that it be received and referred to one of the Permanent Committees hereinafter mentioned; or that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice of a motion in reference to any petition, and such petition shall have been presented before such Alderman shall have been called upon to move such motion; the said motion shall if otherwise unobjectionable be considered in order.

Correspondence.

Duties of Mayor as to Correspondence.

28. The Mayor shall have the same duty in reference to letters addressed to the Council, before directing the same to be read, as by By-law 26 is imposed upon Aldermen presenting petitions. The Mayor shall direct as to the order in which all correspondence shall be read, and no letter addressed to the Council shall be presented or read by any Alderman. If the Mayor be absent and shall not have examined any such letters addressed to the Council, or have given any such directions as aforesaid, then the duties imposed by this section shall devolve upon the presiding Alderman.

29. By-law 27 shall be considered as fully applicable to letters addressed to the Council as to petitions.

Letters sent not to be discussed, but every letter may be subject to motion.

30. No discussion shall be permitted in reference to any letters which have been written and sent by the Mayor, or by any officer of Council, and copies of which may be read to such Council: Provided, however, that any notice of motion, consistent with good order, may be entertained with reference to any such letters, whether read or not, or with reference to any letters addressed to the Council, which the Mayor or presiding Alderman may not have ordered to be read as aforesaid.

Reports from Committees.

Form of report.

31. All reports from Committees shall be in writing and signed by the Chairman of such Committee.

Mayor's Minutes.

32. The Mayor shall have the right of directing the attention of the Council to any matter or subject within its jurisdiction or official cognizance by a minute in writing signed by himself.

How reports or minutes are to be dealt with.

33. No motion shall be permissible on the presentation of a report from the Committee or a minute from the Mayor, except that the same be received, or that it be received and that its consideration stand an order of the day for some future meeting: Provided, however, that if any Alderman shall have given due notice in reference to any such report or minute, and if any order for the consideration of such report or minute shall have been entered among the orders of the day, such motion or order may be moved or considered in due course.

Questions and Statements.

Limitations as to questions and statements.

34. No question or statement shall be allowed to be put or made which is inconsistent with good order, or is not in strict accordance with the requirements of By-law 33.

Notice to be given.

35. Sufficient notice of every question shall be given to the person who is expected to reply thereto, to allow for the consideration of such reply, and, if necessary, for a reference to other persons or documents.

Question to be put without argument, &c.

36. Every such question must be put categorically without any argument or statement of fact.

Similar provision as to statements.

37. Every statement in reply to any such question must be made without argument.

No discussion on question, &c.—Right of objection and of subsequent motion reserved.

38. No discussion shall be permitted as to any such question, or as to any reply or refusal to reply thereto, or as to any such statement at the time when such question is put, or such reply or refusal to reply is given, or such statement is made: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the taking of any objection as to any such question or statement being out of order, or shall prevent the discussion, after due notice, as hereinbefore provided, of any matters properly arising out of or relating to any such question, or reply, or refusal to reply, or any such statement as aforesaid.

Order of Debate.

Mode of addressing the Council.

39. Every Alderman who shall propose or second any motion, or shall propose or second any amendment, or shall take any part in any debate or discussion, or shall put or reply to any question, or shall make any statement, or shall in any other way or for any other purpose address observations to the Council, shall while so doing stand up in his customary place (unless he shall be prevented from so doing by reason of some bodily infirmity), and shall address himself to the Mayor or Chairman. And all members of the Council shall on all occasions when in such Council address and speak of each other by their official designations, as Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be.

Speaker not to be interrupted if in order.

40. No Alderman shall be interrupted while thus speaking unless for the purpose of calling him to order as hereinafter provided.

Limitation to number of speeches.

41. Except in Committee, no member shall speak more than once on the same question (unless in explanation, with the consent of the Mayor or Chairman): Provided, however, that the mover of any question shall be allowed the liberty of reply, and that every member shall be at liberty to speak once on any amendment as well as on the original motion; but the right of reply shall not extend to the mover of an amendment.

Speeches by mover and seconder.

42. An Alderman who has moved any motion or amendment shall be considered to have spoken thereon; but an Alderman who shall have seconded any such motion or amendment without any further observation than that he seconded the same shall be at liberty to speak on such motion or amendment as the case may be.

Speaker not to digress.

43. No Alderman shall digress from the subject under discussion, or shall make any personal reflections on, or impute improper motives, to any other Alderman.

Speaker to withdraw offensive expressions.

44. When any Alderman uses any expression which the Mayor or Chairman thinks capable of being applied offensively to any other Alderman, the Alderman so offending shall be required by the Mayor or Chairman to withdraw the expression if required, and shall make a satisfactory apology to the Council.

Adjournment of debate.

45. A debate may be adjourned to a later hour of the day or to any other day specified; and the Alderman upon whose motion such debate shall have been so adjourned shall be entitled to preaudience on the resumption of the same.

Mayor to decide as to preaudience.

46. If two or more Aldermen rise to speak at the same time, the Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such Aldermen shall be first heard.

Alderman may require question to be stated under certain restrictions.

47. Any Alderman may request the subject matter under discussion to be read or stated for his information, or may require the production of any records of the Council bearing upon such matter: Provided, however, that no such request shall be so made as to interrupt any other Alderman when speaking or materially to interrupt the discussion: Provided, also, that if any such request shall appear to the Mayor or Chairman not to have been made bona fide it shall not be complied with.

Mayor may discuss motion.

48. The Mayor or presiding Alderman may take part in discussions and proceedings of the Council.

Questions of Order.

Mayor or Chairman to decide points of order.

49. The Mayor or Chairman shall preserve order, and his decision on disputed points of order or practice shall be final in that particular case; and the Mayor or Chairman may, without the interposition of any other member of the Council, call any Alderman to order, whenever, in the opinion of such Mayor or Chairman, there shall be a necessity for so doing; and every member of the Council shall have the right of calling the attention of the Mayor or Chairman to any motion, amendment, statement, argument or observation moved, used, or made by any other member, which such first-named member may consider out of order; and the Mayor or Chairman, when called upon to decide points of order or practice, shall state the provision, rule, or practice which he shall deem applicable to the case, without discussing or commenting upon the same.

Penalties for persisting in disorderly conduct

50. Any member of the Council (either in Council or Committee) who shall have been called to order, and who, after having been twice directed to withdraw any disorderly observations as aforesaid shall refuse to do so, or who shall persist in any line of conduct or argument, or of observations, which shall have been decided as aforesaid to be disorderly, or who shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology as aforesaid when required so to do, or who shall be guilty of any other act of disorder as defined in By-law 49, and shall refuse to make such explanation, retraction, or apology, as a majority of the Aldermen then present shall consider satisfactory, shall be liable on conviction for the first offence to a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than five pounds; and on a second conviction for the like offence he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds; and on a third conviction, and for every further conviction for the like offence, he shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Power of Council as to altering rules on points of order.

51. Any Alderman who is dissatisfied with the decision of the Mayor or Chairman on any question of order or of practice, may, by motion respectfully worded, invite the Council to lay down a different rule or principle for the determination of any similar questions of order, or of practice which may thereafter arise. Any rule or principle thus laid down shall be binding upon all parties, unless and until it be rescinded.

Mode of voting.

How questions are to be put.

52. The Mayor or Chairman shall put to the Council all questions on which it shall be necessary that a vote be taken, and shall declare the sense of the Council thereon; and he shall be at liberty to put any such question as often as may be necessary to enable him to form and declare his opinion as to the decision of the majority of the members present.

Divisions—Penalty for refusing to vote.

53. Any Alderman shall be at liberty to call for a division; in such case the question shall be put first in the affirmative and then in the negative, and the Aldermen shall vote by a show of hands, and the names and votes of the Aldermen present shall be recorded. Any Alderman who shall be present when a division is called for and shall not vote on such division, not being disabled by law from so voting, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Protests.

Mode of protesting—Protest to be recorded, but may under certain circumstances be expunged.

54. Every member of the Council (the Mayor included) may protest against any resolution or vote by the Council. Notice of the intention so to protest must, however, be given at the meeting when such resolution is passed, or such vote is arrived at, and the protest itself must be handed or sent to the Council Clerk not later than seven days after such notice. The Council Clerk shall enter every such protest in the minute book, but if, in the opinion of the Council, it be inconsistent with the truth, or disrespectfully worded, it may (by resolution on notice) be ordered to be expunged. In such case the expunction shall be made by drawing a perpendicular line with the pen through the entry of such protest, with a reference in the margin, to the resolution ordering such expunction.

Committee of the Whole Council.

Business in Committee.

55. The Business Committees of the whole Council shall be conducted in accordance with the rules hereinbefore provided for meetings of the Council as nearly as the same shall apply, except that it shall not be necessary that any motion or amendment in Committee shall be seconded.

Disorderly conduct in Committee—Refusal to vote.

56. Whenever any member of the Council shall, while the Council is in Committee of the Whole, be considered guilty of an offence against good order within the meaning of By-law 50, it shall be competent to any Alderman to move that the Council resume its sitting, and that such matter be reported; and if such motion be carried, such matter shall be reported accordingly, and an entry of such report shall be made in the minute book, and whenever any Alderman shall have failed to vote on any occasion in Committee of the whole Council, as required by By-law 53, the facts shall be reported to the Council, and such report on such facts shall be duly recorded in the minute book: Provided that in the case of an Alderman failing to vote as aforesaid, no special motion that the Council resume its sitting shall be necessary, but it shall be the duty of the Chairman of such Committee of the Whole in making his report of the proceedings in such Committee, whenever such report may be made, to include in such report a statement of such failure to vote as aforesaid, and of the question as to which such Alderman has so failed to vote.

Decisions in Committee on points of order may be reported.

57. Whenever a decision upon any question of order shall have been given by the Chairman of a Committee of the whole Council, under the provisions of By-law 49, any Alderman may move that such decision be embodied in the report to the Council of the proceedings in such Committee; and if such motion be carried such decision shall be so embodied in such report, whenever the same shall be made.

How progress may be reported.

58. Any Alderman may at any time during the sitting of a Committee of the whole Council move that the Chairman report progress (or no progress, as the case may be), and that leave be asked to sit again at a later period of the same day, or on some other day, or that no leave be asked to sit again; and if any such motion be carried the Council shall resume its sitting, and a report shall be made accordingly; but no discussion shall be permitted on any such motion, and if the same be negatived the subject then under consideration shall be discussed before another such motion shall be receivable.

Reports of proceedings in Committee, and want of quorum in Committee

59. All reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be made to the Council viva voce by the Chairman of such Committee; and a report of such proceedings shall be made in every case, except when it shall be found, on counting the number of members during the sitting of any such Committee, that there is not a quorum present. In the latter case the sitting of the Council shall be resumed without any motion for that purpose, and the proceedings in Committee shall be considered to have lapsed: Provided that in making any such report as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to report any such proceedings in extenso, but only to state the result, general effect, or substance of such proceedings.

How reports are to be dealt with.

60. All such reports of proceedings in Committee of the whole Council shall be recorded in the Minute-book; but, except as hereinafter mentioned, no such report shall be considered as adopted by the Council, nor shall any such application as aforesaid for leave to sit again be considered to have been granted by such Council, until a motion shall have been made and passed for such adoption, or for the granting of such leave, and every such motion for the adoption of a report, or for the granting of leave as aforesaid, and the order of debate on such motion, shall be subject to all the same rules as other motions in Council, and the order of debate on such other motions: Provided, however, that where a report shall have been made under By-law 56 of disorderly conduct in Committee, or under By-law 53, or failure to vote on division, or of any decision in Committee upon any question of order, such report shall, so far as it relates to such facts, be regarded and recorded as a statement thereof; and to that extent shall not, unless for the correction of a manifest error, be interfered with upon any pretext whatever.

Calls of the Council.

How call may be ordered.

61. A call of the Council may be ordered by any resolution of which due notice shall have been given for the consideration of any motion or matter of business before such Council.

Such call compulsory in certain cases.

62. There shall, without any special order to that effect, be a call of the Council for the consideration of every motion which may be made under By-law 51, and of every motion for the rescission of any resolution, order, or decision of such Council.

Modes of proceeding thereon.

63. The call shall be made immediately before the motion or business for which such call has been ordered shall be moved or considered. Such call shall be made as follows:—The Council Clerk shall call the names of all the members in their alphabetical order; each member present shall answer to his name as so called, and if any members are absent a record shall be made of such absence; but if leave of absence to any such member shall have been previously granted, or if such an excuse in writing shall have been forwarded to the Mayor or Council Clerk as a majority of the Council then present shall consider satisfactory, such member shall stand excused, and a record shall be made of such excuse, and of the reasons for the same.

Call of the Council—Penalties and exemptions.

64. Any member of the Council who, having had notice of such call of the Council, shall not answer to his name, or who being absent shall not be legally excused as aforesaid, or who, if absent and not so excused, shall fail to show that by reason of extreme illness, or any other sufficient cause, he has been unable to send an excuse in writing, or who having answered to his name shall not be present when a vote is taken on the motion or business as to which such call has been made, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than five pounds: Provided that if the consideration of every such motion or matter of business be adjourned to a future day there shall be a further call on the resumption of such consideration; and the provisions herein as to penalties for absence shall have reference to such further call; and if there shall be more than one adjournment this proviso shall be taken to extend to the resumption of the consideration of such motion or matter of business after every such adjournment.

Standing Committees.

65. There shall be four standing Committees, namely,—A By-law Committee, a Committee for Works, a Finance Committee, and a Committee for General Purposes. These Committees shall be reappointed every year at the first meeting of the Council, which shall be holden after the election of the Mayor.

Constitution of standing Committees.

66. Each of the three Committees first named in the last preceding section shall consist of three members. The Committee for General Purposes shall consist of the Chairman of the three said first named Committees.

Mode of reappointing standing Committee.

67. The reappointment of the three said first-named Committees may, on resolution of the Council, be made by ballot. In such case a list of the members shall be handed to each member then present, who shall mark against the name of each such member the title of the Committee to which, in his opinion, such member ought to belong; and the Mayor, or Chairman, shall thereupon examine such lists as marked, and shall declare the result; and if there shall be an equal number of votes for the appointment of any two or more members to any of such first-named Committees, such Mayor or Chairman shall decide which of such members shall be appointed to such committee.

By-law Committee.

68. The By-law Committee shall prepare, for the consideration of the Council, drafts of all such By-laws as may be required for the good government of the Municipal District. They shall also watch over the administration of the By-laws, and of any statute of which the operation has been, or may be, extended to the Municipality, and shall take such steps as may be necessary for the prevention, or punishment of offences against such By-laws or statutes, and for the preservation of public health, order and decency.

Committee for Works.

69. The Committee for works shall have the general direction of all works ordered or sanctioned by the Council, and the general inspection of all streets, roads, ways, bridges, public reserves and other public places under the care and management of the Council. They shall also inquire and report from time to time as to such improvements or repairs as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report thereon.

Finance Committee.

70. The Finance Committee shall examine and check all accounts, and shall watch generally over the collection and expenditure of the Municipal revenues. They shall inquire and report from time to time as to all matters which they may consider to affect, or to be likely to affect, the finances of the Municipality, and as to such matters or subjects of the like nature, as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire and report upon.

Committee for General Purposes.

71. The Committee for General Purposes shall take cognizance of every matter, subject, or question within the jurisdiction of the Council not coming within the province of one or other of the beforementioned standing Committees, and shall from time to time inquire into and report upon any such subject, matter, or question as they may think necessary, or as they may be directed by resolution of the Council to inquire into and report upon.

Special Committees.

72. The special Committees may consist of any number of members, and may be appointed for the performance of any duty which may be lawfully intrusted to a Committee, and for which in the opinion of the Council a special Committee ought to be appointed; and no standing Committee shall interfere with the performance of any duty which may for the time being have been entrusted to any such special Committee. The appointment of every such Committee shall be made by resolution, after due notice, and it shall be incumbent on the mover of such resolution to embody therein a statement of the duties proposed to be intrusted to such special Committee. The mover of any such resolution may name therein such members as in his opinion ought to constitute such Committee, or he may propose that such Committee consist of a certain number of members to be appointed by ballot; and in the latter case, or if any amendment to the effect that such special Committee be appointed by ballot be carried, each member then present shall receive a list of all the members of the Council, from which list he shall strike out all names but those of the persons of whom, in his opinion, such special Committee ought to be composed; and the Mayor or Chairman shall examine such list, and shall declare the result. And in the event of its becoming necessary through an equality of votes to decide as to which of two or more Aldermen shall serve on such Committee such Mayor or Chairman shall so decide.

Chairman of Committees.

73. Every Committee of which the Mayor shall not be a member, shall elect a permanent Chairman of such Committee within seven days after their appointment.

Term of service in Committee.

74. Appointments to the By-law Committee, the Committee for Works, and the Finance Committee, shall be for the whole Municipal year. The Chairman of these three Committees as appointed to or removed from the Chairmanship of the same, shall be thereby and without any further order regarded as having been appointed to or removed from the Committee for General Purposes. The appointment of every Special Committee shall be considered to endure until the duties for which such Committee have been appointed shall have been fully performed: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to affect in any way the right of such Committee to remove any Chairman of such Committee, or to appoint another such Chairman in his stead, or to militate against the general provisions as to Committers in Sections 109 and 110 of the Municipalities Act of 1867; and that so much of By-law 65 as relates to the appointment, powers, and duties of Committees shall be read and interpreted in connection with such last-mentioned general provisions.

Committee meeting—how called.

75. The Council Clerk shall call a meeting of any Committee when requested to do so by the Chairman or any two members of such Committee.

Record of transactions in Committee.

76. The Chairman of each standing Committee shall make, or cause to be made, in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, memoranda of all the transactions of such Committee, which book he shall, on ceasing to be such Chairman, hand over to his successor.

Only members of Committee entitled to be present at Committee meetings.

77. No person, except a Member of a Committee, shall be admitted at any meeting of such Committee without the consent of the Chairman and the approval of the majority of members present.

Expenditure.

Except on emergent cases cost of all work to be estimated before undertaken.

78. With the exception of emergent matters hereinafter specially provided for, no work affecting the funds of the Municipality shall be undertaken until the probable expense thereof shall have been first ascertained by the Council.

Emergent matters and necessary current expense—Expenses authorised to be reported—Outlay to be in accordance with orders of the Council.

79. For emergent matters, and for necessary current expenses during the intervals which may elapse between the meetings of the Council, outlays to the following extent may be incurred:—

- a. By order of the Committee for Works, or of the Mayor and one member of such Committee, for repairs or emergent works, to the extent of ten pounds.
- b. By order of the Mayor for necessary current expenses to the extent of two pounds.
- c. By order of the Mayor and any two Aldermen, or without the Mayor, or any four Aldermen for any emergent purpose to the extent of ten pounds.

Provided that in every case a detailed report in writing of every such outlay shall be laid before the Council at its next meeting, such report to be signed by the Chairman of the Committee for Works, or the Mayor, or the Mayor and Aldermen, or the Aldermen without the Mayor, as the case may be, by whom such outlay shall have been authorised; also, that such outlay shall only be permissible in reference to matters coming strictly within the jurisdiction or functions of the Council, and that no outlay involving a disobedience or evasion of any order or resolution of such Council shall on any pretence be thus authorised.

All claims to be examined and reported upon by Finance Committee—Certificate required with each claim.

80. All accounts and demands of money against or from the Council shall be examined and reported on by the Finance Committee before any order shall be made for payment of such accounts or demands, and no payment shall be so ordered unless there shall be a certificate or memorandum from the Committee, from the Mayor, or from the officer of the Council, to whom the direction or guardianship of such expenditure properly belongs, showing that the demand is a legitimate one and has been duly authorised or claim inquired into.

Common Seal and Records of the Council.

Common Seal and Press, how secured—care of same.

81. The common seal and the press to which the same is attached shall be secured by a cover-box which, except when such seal and press are in use, shall be kept locked. There shall be duplicate keys to the lock of this cover or box, of which keys one shall be kept by the Mayor and the other by the Council Clerk. Such common seal and press shall be in the custody and care of the Council Clerk.

When and how Common Seal to be used.

82. The common seal shall not be attached to any document without an express order of the Council. In every case when such common seal has been ordered to be attached to any document such document shall also be signed by the Mayor, or in case of the absence or illness of such Mayor, by two Aldermen, and countersigned by the Council Clerk.

How books of account are to be kept and inspected.

83. The Treasurer shall keep such books of accounts and such records, statements, and memoranda of receipts and expenditure in such manner and form as the Council may from time to time direct. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to inspect all such books of accounts, records, statements, and memoranda from time to time to ascertain that the same are properly kept, and to report at once to the Council any act of neglect or appearance of inefficiency which they may have discovered in the keeping of the same; also to report to the Council from time to time any changes which such Committee may think advisable in the mode of keeping the accounts.

No officer to show books or papers of Council without leave from Council.

84. No officer of the Council shall be at liberty to show, lay open, or expose any of the books, papers, or records of the Council to any person other than an Alderman without leave from the Council except as otherwise provided for by Section 108 of Municipalities Act of 1867.

Records not to be removed, &c.—Penalties—Exceptional circumstances. Receipt to be given in every case before document received—Provision as to use of records as matters of evidence.

85. Any person removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid from the Council Chamber without leave of such a removal having been first obtained from such Council, or without other lawful cause for such removal as hereinafter provided shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor more than ten pounds. And nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the further liability of any person who shall have removed such book or other record as aforesaid to prosecution for stealing such book or record or to an action at law for detention of the same: Provided that leave for temporary removal of a book or other record may be granted to the Council Clerk or the Treasurer by the Mayor in order that such Clerk or Treasurer may post up entries or perform any other duty which it may be necessary that he should perform; also that the Mayor, or the Chairman of any Committee, or any Alderman acting for any chairman, may temporarily remove any record necessary for the preparation of a minute or a report, or for the purposes of any prosecution or suit at law by, against, or at the instance of the Council; but in all cases such Clerk, Treasurer, Mayor, Chairman, or Alderman, as the case may be, shall give a receipt under his hand for every document so removed, and every such receipt shall be preserved among the records until the book or other record to which it refers shall have been returned, when such receipt shall be destroyed: And provided also that the Mayor, Council Clerk, or other officer of the Council who may be subpoenaed to produce any book or other record of the Council in a court of law shall have the right to remove such book or other record for the purpose of obeying such summons, but shall return such book or record as speedily as possible, and every such person so removing any book or other record of the Council as aforesaid shall be legally responsible for the safe keeping and return of the same.

Penalty for defacing or destroying record.

86. Any person destroying or defacing or altering any record of the Council shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Officers and Servants.

Public notice of proposed appointments to any permanent office to be given.

87. No appointment to any permanent office at the disposal of the Council to which a salary or allowance of at least fifty pounds per annum is attached, shall be made until public notice shall have been given inviting applications from qualified candidates for the same; the salary or allowance attached to such office shall, in every case, be fixed before such notice is given and shall be stated in such notice: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the employment as may be found necessary of any workmen or labourers on the public works of the Borough.

Mode of appointment.

88. Every such appointment shall be made by ballot in such mode as may at the time be determined on whenever there is more than one candidate for such permanent office.

Bonds for good conduct of officers.

89. In cases where security is required by clause 151 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, no sureties shall be accepted otherwise than by a vote of the Council; and it shall not be competent for the Council to accept as sureties any of its own members, nor any person holding office in the Council.

Duties of Council Clerk.

90. The Council Clerk, in compliance with the Municipalities Act of 1867, or by the present or any other By-laws made thereunder, shall perform the following duties, viz. :—

1. Attend all Council meetings.
2. Attend all Committee meetings.
3. Attend all Courts of Revision and Appeal.
4. Summon the members of the Council to all Council or Committee meetings.
5. Take notes of all minutes, and prepare reports of all Committees.
6. Conduct all correspondence ordered by the Council, or under the direction of the Mayor, and give all other officers instructions as directed by the minutes.
7. To see that the accounts are audited, and the balance-sheet duly submitted twice a year within the time specified by law.
8. To see to the gazetting of all By-laws and necessary advertisements.
9. To see that assessment books and the Municipal lists and rolls are duly prepared, examine proofs of latter, and arrange for distribution of copies on payment, to electors prior to the elections.
10. Make all necessary arrangements for the elections, preparing all papers, &c., for presiding officers and poll clerks.
11. Prepare all bonds of officers, see that the guarantees are given, and agreements duly signed, &c., and report same to the Council.
12. Advise with the officers from time to time as to their duties, and the mode of carrying them out.
13. See that all levels and names of streets have been duly advertised, as provided for by law, and authenticated by the Mayor's signature.
14. To bring under the notice of the Mayor any matter or thing requiring his prompt attention.
15. He shall likewise have charge of all the records of the Council except such books or documents as may be intrusted to any other officer of the Council; and shall be responsible for the safe-keeping of such records. He shall generally assist the Mayor in carrying out the orders of the Council.
16. Prepare and lay before each regular meeting of the Council a statement of all works passed by the Council and not completed, setting forth in order the dates of votes for the same, together with the amount of such votes and the sum expended.
17. He shall enter into a guarantee society's security or such other security, as the Council may think sufficient for an amount fixed by the Council from time to time for not less than £200 for the faithful performance of his duties.

Duties of Treasurer.

91. The Treasurer shall have charge of such books of accounts and other records of the Council as are mentioned in By-law 60, and shall be responsible for the safe-keeping of the same. Any other officer of the Council may have any other records thereof committed to his charge by an order of the Council, and in such case shall be responsible for the safe-keeping of such records.

Duties of other officers and servants.

92. The duties of all officers and servants of the Corporation shall be defined by such regulations as may from time to time, and in accordance with law, be made.

Special powers of the Mayor

93. The Mayor shall exercise a general supervision over all officers and servants and all employees of the Council, and may order the preparation of any return or statement, or the giving of any explanation or information by any such officer or servant or employee of the Council in connection with the duties as he may think necessary.

Miscellaneous—Mode of calling for tenders.

94. Whenever it is decided that any work shall be executed or any materials supplied by contract, tenders for the execution of such work, or the supply of such materials, shall be called for by public notice.

Powers to suspend By-laws.

95. Any of the foregoing By-laws which relate to the proceedings at meetings of the Council may be suspended pro tempore without notice in case of emergency, if all the members of the Council then present shall deem such suspension necessary.

Office hours.

96. The Council Clerk or other person duly authorised by the Council shall attend at the Municipal Council Chambers for the purpose of receiving payment of rates and transacting the ordinary business of the Council at such times as the Council shall direct: Provided that the Council's office shall not be open for business on any days appointed for public holidays.

How notices are to be published.

97. In all cases where public notice is or shall be required to be given by any By-law of any appointment, resolution, Act, order, or regulation of the Council, or of any Committee thereof, or by the Mayor or any officer of the Council, such notice shall, unless otherwise provided for by law, be given and published by posting the same on or near the outer door of the Council Chambers for the space of seven days, and by advertising the same in some newspaper circulating in the Borough.

How complaints against officers to be dealt with.

98. All complaints against officers or servants of the Council shall be in writing, and in every case be signed by the person complaining; and no notice whatever shall be taken of any complaint which is not in writing or is anonymous. All such complaints shall be addressed to the Mayor, who, immediately upon the receipt of any such complaint, and without laying the same before the Council, shall have power to investigate the same and report thereon at the next meeting, or he may if necessary suspend such officer or servant till the Council shall have dealt with the charge.

Miscellaneous.Suits and prosecutions for penalties.

99. Such suits or informations for the enforcement of penalties for or in respect of breach of the Municipalities Act of 1867, or of any By-laws made thereunder, or of any statute, the operation of which may have been extended to the Municipality as may have been directed by the Council or by the By-law Committee, or by the Mayor, to be commenced or laid shall be so commenced or laid as follows:—When against a member of the Council or an Auditor, or an officer of the Corporation, by the Council Clerk, unless such Council Clerk shall be the officer to be proceeded against, and in such case by any other officer named by the Council for that purpose; when against any other person by the officer to whom the carrying out of the statutory provision or By-law imposing the penalty sought to be enforced has been intrusted, and if there shall be no such officer then by any such officer or person as shall be appointed for that purpose by the Council or the By-law Committee or the Mayor, as the case may be, on directing such suit or information as aforesaid; and no suit shall be brought or information laid as aforesaid against any member of the Council or Auditor except by order of such Council, nor shall any similar proceedings be taken against any officer of the Council except on the order of such Council or of the Mayor, nor against any other person except upon the order of the Council or of the Mayor or of the By-law Committee. And no such suit shall be directed to be brought nor shall any such information be directed to be laid as aforesaid, except on an express resolution of the Council in any case where the bringing of such suit or the laying of such information will be adverse to any previous direction by such Council, or where, on the trial or hearing of any such suit or information, the same shall have been dismissed on its merits: Provided that in any case the conduct or prosecution of any suit or information may, on the order of the Mayor, be intrusted to an attorney.

Works over twenty pounds to be tendered for.

100. Works undertaken by the Council and estimated to cost over £50 (fifty pounds) shall be let by tender, and no tender shall be entertained unless it be accompanied by an agreement signed by one or more respectable parties as sureties for due performance of the contract, and accompanied by a deposit of 5 per cent. of the amount of each tender. Such deposit may be forfeited at the discretion of the Council.

Collection and enforcement of rates.—Times and modes of collection.

How rates under section 164 of Municipalities Act to be collected.

101. All rates levied or imposed by the Council under the provisions of 164 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and for the purposes mentioned in the said section, shall be collected by annual or half-yearly instalments, as the Council shall from time to time direct, and shall be due and payable on and after such days as the Council shall by resolution appoint at the time of making or imposing such rate.

Rates on damaged premises.

102. In the event of any premises being wholly or partially destroyed by fire or other accident the Council shall have power to accept an equitable proportion of the assessed rates of such premises for the remainder of any municipal year.

Levying rates, &c.

Due dates for rates—Defaulters.

103. The rates and taxes levied by the Council shall be held to be due and payable on such day or days as the Council shall, by resolution, from time to time appoint. Every person not paying his or her rates or taxes at the office of the Council or to the Council Clerk or other proper officer of the Council within thirty days after any of the days so appointed for payment thereof, shall be deemed a defaulter: Provided that due notice of such rate shall have been given in manner as required by the Municipalities Act of 1867.

List of defaulters to be furnished.

104. It shall be the duty of the Council Clerk to furnish the Mayor with a list of the names of all persons whose rates are unpaid at the expiration of the times fixed for payment of the same as aforesaid.

Mayor to enforce payment.

105. It shall be the duty of the Mayor to take proceedings to enforce payment of all rates in default either by action at law or by issuing warrants of distraint upon goods and chattels of the defaulter.

Bailiff to find sureties.

106. A Bailiff for the purpose of enforcement of rates shall be appointed by the Mayor, and shall be liable to removal from office in the same manner, and shall well and truly perform all the duties imposed upon him as such bailiff.

Enforcement by distress.

Warrant of distress.

107. All distresses shall be made under warrant in the form of Schedule A hereto, under the hand of the Mayor or any Alderman who may for the time being be duly authorised to performed the duties of that office.

Distress and sale.

108. If the sum for which any such distress shall have been made shall not be paid with costs as hereinafter provided on or before the expiration of five days from the time of such distress being made, the Bailiff shall cause to be sold the goods so distrained, or a sufficient portion thereof by public auction, either on the premises or at such other place within the Municipal District as the Bailiff may think proper to remove them for such purpose, and shall pay over the surplus (if any) that may remain after deducting the amount of the sum distrained for, and costs, as hereinafter provided to the owner of the goods so sold on demand of such surplus by such owner.

Inventory.

109. At the time of making a distress the Bailiff shall make out a written inventory of the goods levied on in the form of Schedule B hereto, which inventory shall be delivered to the occupant of the land or premises or the owner of the goods so distrained, or to some person on his behalf resident at the place where the distress shall be made; and in case there shall be no person at such place with whom such inventory can be left as aforesaid, then such inventory shall be posted on some conspicuous part of the land or premises on which the distress is made, and the Bailiff shall give a copy of the inventory to such person on demand at any time within one month after making such distress.

Goods may be impounded.

110. The Bailiff on making a distress as aforesaid may impound or otherwise secure the goods or chattels so distrained of what nature or kind soever in such place or in such part of the land or premises chargeable with rates as shall be most fit and convenient for the purpose; and it shall be lawful for any person whosoever after the expiration of five days as hereinbefore mentioned to come and go to and from such place or part of the said land or premises where such goods or chattels shall be impounded or secured as aforesaid in order to view and buy and remove the same on account of the purchaser thereof.

Owner may direct order of sale.

111. The owner of any goods or chattels so distrained upon may direct and specify the order in which they shall be successively sold, and the said goods and chattels shall in such case be put up for sale according to such direction.

Proceeds of distress.

112. The Bailiff shall hand over to the Council Clerk all proceeds of every such distress within forty-eight hours after having received the same.

SCHEDULE A.

Warrant of distress.

I, _____, Mayor of the Municipality of Katoomba, do hereby authorize you, _____, to distrain the goods and chattels in the dwelling-house (or in and upon the land and premises) of _____, situate at _____, being the amount of rates due to the said Municipality to the _____ day of _____ for the said dwelling-house (or land or premises as the case may be) and to proceed thereon for the recovery of the said rates according to law.

Fire or combustible materials, endangering buildings.

113A. Every person who shall place, or knowing permit to be placed, in any house, yard, workshop, out-offices or other premises, fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials of any kind, in such a manner as to endanger contiguous buildings, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than twenty shillings, and shall forthwith remove such powder or combustible or inflammable materials. And every such person who shall suffer any such fire, gunpowder, or combustible or inflammable materials to remain as aforesaid for twenty-four hours after any such conviction shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Inflammable fences endangering buildings.

114. Every person who shall erect any fence of brushwood, bushes, or other inflammable material, or shall make or place any stack of hay, corn, straw, or other produce, or place as, or for the covering of any such stack any inflammable material so as to endanger contiguous buildings or properties or any trees, shrubs, or other produce of such properties, or any chattels in or upon such buildings or properties shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than twenty shillings, and also shall remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after such conviction. And any person failing to remove such fence, stack, or covering within a reasonable time after such conviction as aforesaid shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against this By-law.

Discharging fireworks or firearms.

115. Every person who shall light any bonfire, tar-barrel, combustible matter, or firework in such a manner as to endanger any building, or shall discharge any firearms upon or within sixty yards of any street or public place shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Negligently suffering chimney to be on fire.

116. If any chimney accidentally catch or be on fire the person occupying or using the premises in which such chimney is situated shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings: Provided always that such penalty shall not be incurred if such person prove to the satisfaction of the magistrate before whom the case is heard that such fire was in no wise owing to the omission or carelessness whether with respect to cleanse such chimney or otherwise of himself or his servant.

Fireworks.

117. Every person who shall light any bonfire, open fire, tar-barrel, or firework upon or within sixty feet of any building, public or private street, or any public place, or shall sell gunpowder, fireworks, or other combustible matter, by any artificial light other than gas, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than five shillings.

Manufacture of substances liable to sudden explosion.

118. It shall not be lawful for any person to establish or to carry on either in any building or vault, or in the open air, any business for the manufacture of gunpowder or detonating substances, or of matches ignitable by friction or otherwise, or other substances liable to sudden explosion, under a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Manufacture of inflammable substances—Penalty.

119. It shall not be lawful for any person to establish or to carry on either in any building or vault or in the open air, at a less distance than forty feet from any public way or than fifty feet from any other building or any vacant land belonging to any other person than the landlord, any business for the manufacture of vitriol, or turpentine, or naphtha, or varnish, or fireworks, or oil, or oilcloth, or other things dangerous on account of the liability of materials or substances employed therein to cause sudden fire or explosion; and if any person shall establish or carry on any such business contrary to this By-law, he shall be liable, for every day during which such business shall be so carried on, to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than ten pounds.

Notices—Streets and public places—Public health and decency.

Persons obstructing officers of the Council.

120. Any person or persons who shall obstruct any officer of the said Council while in the performance of his duty, or who shall interfere with any officer of the said Council doing or performing or going to perform or returning from the performance of any duty or act under these By-laws, by using any threats, offensive language, hindrance, or insulting language towards the said officer in any street, road, or other place within the said Municipality, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds.

New roads to be reported upon—Dedication of new roads, &c.

121. No new public road, street, way, park, or other place proposed to be dedicated to the public shall be taken under the charge and management of the Council until after such road, street, way, or park shall have been formed by the proprietor or proprietors to the reasonable satisfaction of the Committee of Works or any duly authorised officer, or until the said road, street, way, or park shall have been duly examined and reported upon to the Council by such Committee or authorised officer. If the Council shall determine to take charge of any such road, way, or other place as aforesaid, the plan or plans so signed as aforesaid shall be preserved as a record or records of the Council, and the proprietor or proprietors aforesaid shall execute such further instrument dedicating such road, way, park, or other place to the public use or recreation as aforesaid as may be considered necessary by the Committee for general purposes; and such further instrument of dedication shall also be preserved as a record of the Council.

Change of street levels.

122. Whenever it may be deemed necessary by the Council to alter the level of any such public road, street, or way as aforesaid, the Committee for Works shall cause a plan and section showing the proposed alterations to be exhibited at the Council Chambers for fourteen days for the information and inspection of ratepayers, and shall notify by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the Municipality, that such plan is so open to inspection. At a subsequent meeting of the Council, the said plan and section shall, if adopted, be signed by the Mayor or Chairman and the proposer and seconder of the motion for such adoption and countersigned by the Council Clerk. And such plan and section so signed and countersigned shall be a record of the Council.

Roads and streets and encroachments thereon.

123. The Committee for Works, or the surveyors of the Municipality, or other officer or person duly authorised by the Council in that behalf, shall be the proper officers for marking out, and shall fix marks and lay out the levels of all public roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares, and the carriage and foot ways thereof, which now are or shall hereafter be under or subject to the control, construction, care, or management of the Council. In marking out such roads, streets, lanes, and thoroughfares recourse shall be had, when practicable, to the plans under which the land with frontage to the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare in question shall have been sold or let. And it shall be the duty of such Committee for Works or surveyor; or other officer to place posts at the corners or intersections of such streets, roads, lanes, or thoroughfares whenever the same may be deemed necessary or desirable by the Council, so as to give a width of 42 feet for the carriage-way and 12 feet for the footway on each side. Where the road, street, lane, or thoroughfare shall be 66 feet wide and in proportion, and in the discretion of the Council in any such road, street, lane, or thoroughfare or other public place of other width than 66 feet wide: Provided that there be no change of level in any such public road, street, lane, or thoroughfare or public place until the same shall have been submitted to and adopted by the Council as hereinafter provided.

Erection of house, fee for permission, &c.

124. No person shall be permitted to erect any house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place within the said Municipality without first serving notice in writing on the Mayor or Council Clerk or other duly authorised officer before commencing the same, stating his intention, setting out a plan and giving particulars of the proposed building; and every owner of and every contractor for such house, shop, or other building, or part thereof, commencing to build or work thereon without such notice having been given, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than five shillings.

Houses must have spouting and down-pipe.

125. All proprietors of houses within the Municipality, having a frontage to any street, shall be bound to have the same sufficiently spouted with down-pipe, to be carried under the surface of the footpath into the gutter, under a penalty of ten shillings on conviction; and if not remedied at the expiration of seven days after such conviction, the offender shall be again liable to a like conviction and penalty, also for every succeeding seven days during which the same shall not be remedied.

No balcony, &c., to project.

126. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, it shall not be lawful for any awning, verandah, portico, balcony, coping, parapet, overhanging eaves, cornice, windows, string-cornice, string-course, dressing, or other architectural decoration forming part of or attached to any external wall to project beyond the building line of any street or road except with the consent of the Council first obtained; nor shall any balcony or any other external projection as aforesaid, which may hereafter be added to any existing building, be allowed to project as aforesaid under a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound except with the consent of the Council first obtained: Provided that no such awning, verandah, portico, or balcony shall be permitted to be erected in any street less than 30 feet wide: Provided also that any person desiring to erect any such structure shall first submit a plan for the approval of the Council.

Encroachments must be removed on notice—Council may remove same or proceed by action—Applies also to obstructions by digging.

127. The surveyor or other such officer or person may at any time on the order of the Council and upon due notice of thirty days, direct the removal of any building, fence, or other obstruction or encroachment in and upon any road, street, lane, or thoroughfare under the charge of the Council. Notice shall, in this case, be served either personally or at the usual or last known place of abode of the person to whom such obstruction or encroachment in structure belongs or who has erected or caused it to be erected. In any case where after service of notice for the removal of any obstruction or encroachment as aforesaid, the person causing the same shall not remove it within a reasonable time, it shall be lawful for the Council to direct the removal of the same under the superintendence of its own proper officer, and at the cost of the person so offending: Provided that the expenses thereby incurred shall in no case exceed the sum of ten pounds, or at the Council's option to proceed against the offender for breach of this By-law, the penalty not to exceed twenty-five pounds nor to be less than one pound, and in case of every successive offence the penalty on conviction not to be less than five pounds. In every case where the obstruction or encroachment cannot be removed unless at a greater cost than ten pounds, it shall be open to the Council either to direct such removal and to pay all the cost thereof above ten pounds from the funds of the Council, or to proceed by action for trespass against the person causing such obstruction or encroachment or to proceed for a breach of such By-laws as aforesaid. The foregoing provisions shall be equally applicable to all obstructions by digging or excavations; and any person who shall wilfully obstruct or interfere with the surveyor or other officer as aforesaid, or any person acting for or under him, or either of them in the exercise of any of the duties or powers by these By-laws imposed or cast on the said surveyor or officer, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than two pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Hoards or fences to be erected.

128. Every person intending to build or take down any building within the limits of the Municipality, or cause the same to be so done, or to alter or repair the outward part of any such building, or to cause the same to be done where any street or footway will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall before beginning the same cause sufficient hoards or fences to be up in order to separate the building where such works are being carried on from the street with a convenient platform and handrail as aforesaid, standing in good condition to the satisfaction of the officer of the Council of the said Municipality during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall in all cases in which it is necessary in order to prevent accident cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night; and any such person who shall fail to put up such fence or hoard or platform with such handrail as aforesaid during the period of such building or taking down, or who shall not while the said hoard or fence is standing keep the same sufficiently lighted in the night, or who shall not remove the same when directed by the officer of the Council of the said Municipality within a reasonable time afterwards, shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day such default is continued. The foregoing provisions having reference to hoards or fences in front of buildings apply equally to any hole, pit, cellar, vault, or foundation in course of digging or construction.

No turf, gravel, &c., to be removed from streets without permission.

129. Any person who shall form, dig, or open any drain or sewer, or remove, or cause to be removed, any turf, clay, sand, soil, gravel, stone, or other material in or from any part of the carriage or foot way of any street or public place within the said Municipality, without leave first had and obtained from the Council, or who shall wantonly break up or otherwise damage any such carriage or foot way, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Open spaces and steps adjoining the footways to be enclosed under penalty.

130. Every owner or occupier of any house, building, premises, or land within the said Municipality having any entrance, area, garden, or other open space, or any vacant building, lot, waterhole, or excavated space adjoining the footway of any street or public place in such Municipality, shall protect and guard the same by good and sufficient paling fence, so as to prevent danger to persons passing and repassing; and every such owner or occupier of any such house, building, premises, or land having any steps adjoining the footway of any such street or public place shall in like manner protect and guard the same by fences, rails, or other enclosures, so as to prevent the like danger to persons passing and repassing; and on failure thereof every such owner or occupier shall, as often as he shall be convicted of such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not being less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds. And every such owner or occupier as aforesaid who shall fail to erect such rails, fence, or other enclosures as aforesaid, within seven days after any such conviction as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a further offence against the By-law.

Wells to be covered under penalty.

131. Every person who shall have a well or underground tank on his or her premises used for domestic purposes shall cause such well to be securely and permanently covered over to the satisfaction of the duly appointed officer of the Council; and if any person having such well or underground tank as aforesaid shall fail to cover over and secure the same within seven days after notice in writing shall have been given to him or her by any officer of the said Council, or shall have been left for such person at his or her usual or last known place of abode, or on the said premises, shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings; and for every day after such seven days' notice that such well or underground tank shall remain open or uncovered contrary to the provisions hereof such person shall be deemed guilty of a separate offence against this By-law.

Temporary stoppage of traffic for repairs.

132. The Committee for Works, or any officer or person acting under the authority of such Committee, may at any time cause the traffic of any street, lane, or thoroughfare, or any portion thereof to be stopped for the purpose of repairing the same, or for any necessary purpose; and any person or persons offending against this By-law, either by travelling on such street, lane, or thoroughfare, or by removing or destroying any obstruction that may be placed thereon for the purpose of suspending the traffic, shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

Drawing or trailing timber, &c.

133. Any person who shall haul or draw, or cause to be hauled or drawn, upon any part of any street or public place within the said Municipality, any timber, stone, or other thing otherwise than upon wheeled vehicles or barrows, or shall suffer any timber, stone, or other thing which shall be carried principally or in part upon any wheeled vehicle or barrow to drag or trail upon any part of such street or public place to the injury thereof, or to hang over any part of any such vehicle or barrow so as to occupy or obstruct the street beyond the breadth of the said vehicle or barrow, shall upon conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum of not more than forty shillings nor less than five shillings over and above the damages occasioned thereby.

Throwing filth, &c., on footways or streets.

134. Any person who shall throw cast, or lay, or shall cause, permit, or suffer to be thrown, cast, or laid, or to remain, any ashes, rubbish, offal, dung, soil, dead animal, blood, slops, suds, or other filth or annoyance, or any matter or thing in or upon the carriage-way, footway, or water-table of any street, lane, or other public place in the said Municipality, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a fine not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, and shall, in addition to any such forfeiture, pay the cost of removing such filth or obstruction, or of restoring such water-table into its proper channel.

Placing goods, &c., on roadways, &c.

135. If any person shall set or place, or cause or permit to be set or placed, any stall, show-board, basket, or goods of any kind whatsoever, or shall hoop, place, wash, or cleanse, or cause to be hooped, placed, washed, or cleaned, any cask or vessel in or upon or over any road, footway, or public place within the said Municipality, or shall set out, lay, or place, or shall cause or procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, or placed, any coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, or other carriage upon any footway, or if any person shall set or place, or cause to be set or placed, in, upon, or over any of the said carriage or foot ways, any timber, stone, bricks, lime, or other materials or things for building whatsoever (unless the same shall be enclosed as hereinbefore directed) or any other matters or things whatsoever, or shall hang out or expose, or shall cause or permit to be hung out or exposed any meat or offal or other thing or matter whatsoever from any house or premises over any part of such footways or carriage-ways, or over any area of any house or premises, or any other matter or thing from and on the one side or any part of any house or premise, over or next to any such street or road, and shall not immediately remove all or any such matters or things, being thereto required by the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other officer of the Council, and shall not continue and keep the same so removed; or if any person having in pursuance of any such requisition as aforesaid removed or caused to be removed any such stall, show-board, basket, goods, coach, cart, dray, barrow, truck, carriage, timber, stone, brick, lime, meat, offal, or other matter or things, and shall at any time thereafter again set, lay, or place, expose or cause, procure, permit, or suffer to be set, laid, placed, or exposed the same, or any of them, or any other article or thing whatsoever (save and except as aforesaid), in, upon, or over any of the carriage or foot ways of or next unto any streets or roads as aforesaid, in every such case every person so offending shall forfeit a sum not exceeding forty shillings nor less than ten shillings.

Obstructing public pathways.

136. If the owner or occupier of any land situate on the side of any street or road in this Municipality shall permit any tree, shrub, or plant kept for ornament or otherwise to overhang any footpath or footway on the side of any such street or road, and on demand made by the Council shall not cut, lop, or cause to be lopped, all such trees, shrubs, or plants, to the height of ten feet at least, the said Council, by their servants, labourers, and workmen, may cut or cause to be cut or lopped, all such overhanging trees, plants, or shrubs, and to remove or burn any such trees, plants or shrubs so cut or lopped, without being deemed a trespasser or trespassers; and in case any person or persons shall resist, or in any manner forcibly oppose the said Council, or their servants, labourers, or workmen, in the due execution of the powers given in this behalf, by virtue of the Municipalities Act of 1867, every person so offending shall, on conviction for every such offence, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than one pound.

Slops, night-soil, &c., to be conveyed away only at certain hours.

137. Any person or persons who shall drive or cause to be driven any cart or other carriage with any night-soil or ammoniacal liquor therein, through or in any street or public place, within the said Municipality, between the hours of 5 o'clock in the morning and 11 o'clock at night, or shall fill any cart or other carriage so as to turn over or cast any night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, slop mire, or channel dirt, or filth in or upon any such street or public place, or shall deposit night-soil, ammoniacal liquor, or other offensive matter nearer to any street, road or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or by the Inspector of Nuisances; or shall remove night-soil or other offensive matter otherwise than in properly covered and water-tight carts or other vehicles, or shall cause any vehicle used for this purpose to stand on any premises nearer to any road, street, or dwelling-house than shall be directed by the said Council or the said Inspector of Nuisances, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds; and in case the person so offending shall not be known to the said Council or the said Inspector, then the owner of such cart or carriage in which such night-soil or other offensive matter shall be put or placed, and also the employer of the person so offending shall be liable to forfeit and pay such penalty as aforesaid.

Riding on drays and careless driving.

138. If the driver of any waggon, wain, cart, or dray of any kind shall ride upon any such carriage in any street as aforesaid, not having some person on foot to guide the same (such carts as are drawn by one horse and driver, or guided with reins excepted) or if the driver of any carriage whatsoever shall wilfully be at such a distance from such carriage, or in such a situation whilst it shall be passing upon such street that he cannot have the direction and government of the horse or horses, or cattle drawing the same, or if the driver of any waggon, cart, dray, or coach, or other carriage whatsoever meeting any other carriage shall not keep his waggon, cart, dray, or coach or other carriage on the left or near side of the road, street or thoroughfare; or if any person shall in any manner wilfully prevent any other person or persons from passing him or her on any carriage under his or her care upon such street; or by negligence, or misbehaviour, prevent, hinder or interrupt the free passage of any carriage or person in or upon same, or shall ride or drive round the corner of any street, road, or thoroughfare faster than a walk, every such driver or person so offending shall upon conviction forfeit any sum not exceeding forty shillings.

Riding or driving furiously.

139. Any person who shall ride or drive through or upon any street or public place within the said Municipality so negligently, carelessly, or furiously that the safety of any other person shall or may be endangered, shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds.

Blasting Rock.

No rock to be blasted without notice to the Council Clerk.

140. Any person who shall be desirous of blasting any rock within 100 feet of any street or public place or dwelling-house in the said Municipality, shall give notice in writing twenty-four hours previously to the Council Clerk, who shall appoint a time when the same may take place, and give such other directions as he may deem necessary for the public safety; and if any person shall blast or cause to be blasted any rocks within the limits aforesaid, without giving such notice, or shall not conform to the directions given to him by the said Council Clerk, he or she shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than five pounds nor more than twenty pounds.

Public Property.

Injuring or extinguishing lamps.

141. Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously break or injure any lamp or lamp-post, or extinguish any lamp set up for public convenience in the said Municipality, shall over and above the necessary expense of repairing the injury committed, forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not less than one pound nor more than five pounds.

As to damaging buildings, &c.

142. Any person who shall damage any public toll-gate, toll-bar, toll-board, wall, parapet, fence, sluice-bridge, culvert, sewer, water-course, or other public property within the said Municipality, shall pay the cost of repairing the same; and if such damage be wilfully done, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than five pounds.

Placing notices on footways or kerb-stones—Distributing or affixing anything of an offensive or indecent character.

143. Any person who shall stamp, stain, paint, write, or post, any advertisement or notice upon any footway or kerb-stone within this Municipality, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings. Any person who shall in any street or place within this Municipality, post, expose to view, or distribute any placard, hand-bill, or other document whatever of an offensive or indecent character, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Affixing placards on walls and chalking thereon.

144. It shall not be lawful for any person to paste or otherwise affix any placard or other paper upon any wall, fence, house, or building by chalk or paint, or in any other manner unless with the consent of the owner thereof. Any person who shall be guilty of any such offence shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty shillings.

Dead animals not to be thrown into any public water-course.

145. Any person who shall cast any filth, rubbish, or any dead animals, or any animal with intent to drowning, into any public water-course, sewer, water-hole, river, creek, road, or pathway, or who shall suffer slops, suds, or filth of any kind to flow from his or her premises over any of the footways or streets of the Municipality, or shall permit or cause by means of pipes, shoots, channels, or other contrivances, filth of any kind whatsoever, to flow into any public water-course, water-hole, river, creek, or canal, or shall obstruct or divert from its channel any sewer or water-course, river, creek, or canal, shall forfeit any sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds.

Dead animals—mode of removal.

146. If any animal shall die in any part of the said Municipality and the owner of such animal or the occupier of the place, if private property where such animal shall have died, shall not cause such animal to be immediately destroyed by fire or so effectually removed and disposed of that no nuisance can possibly result therefrom in any part of the said Municipality, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds: Provided if the occupier of the premises on which such dead animal shall have been found be not the owner of such dead animal, the owner when found shall be liable for the cost of destroying or removing such animal as in this By-law aforesaid.

Swine not to be kept.

147. Any person who shall keep any kind of swine in any building, yard, or any other premises situate within forty yards of any street, lane, or any public place or any dwelling-house, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty (40s.) shillings nor less than five (5s.) shillings.

Animals suffered to stray.

148. Any person who shall suffer any kind of swine, or any horse, ass mule, sheep, goat, cow, or any other animal of a like nature belonging to him or her, or under his or her charge to stray or go about, or to be tethered or depastured in any street, road, or public place shall on conviction forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding forty shillings, nor less than five shillings for such and every animal so kept, suffered to stray or go about, or to be tethered, depastured in any such street, road, or public place as aforesaid, and the owner or occupier of any house or premises or other place within the said Municipality, wherein any such horse, mule, ass, sheep, goat, cow or other animal is kept, fed, milked, or used in any way whatsoever shall within the meaning of these By-laws be deemed the owner of every such animal so bred, kept, suffered to stray or to be tethered or depastured in any such street or public place as aforesaid. And the word "horses" shall be sufficient designation for any entires, geldings, mares, or foals, and the word "cattle" for any bulls, oxen, cows, or calves, when more than one is the subject of information and summons under the provisions of these By-laws.

Slaughtering.

149. Any person slaughtering or causing to be slaughtered any cattle, sheep, swine, or other beasts in any house, enclosure, or place within the Municipality for the purpose of sale, without the written sanction of the Council, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than two (2) pounds nor more than ten (10) pounds for every animal so slaughtered.

Private persons slaughtering for their own use.

150. Nothing in these By-laws contained shall extend to or affect any person or persons slaughtering at his or her, or their own residences within the said Municipality, animals for the personal consumption of himself, herself, or themselves, and of his or her or their family, servants, or labourers: Provided that the place where any such animal so slaughtered be not less than fifty feet from any street or other public place, or from any residence other than the residence of such person or persons so slaughtering, as in the By-laws aforesaid.

Power of officers of Council to inspect butchers' shops.

151. The Inspector of Nuisances or other officer duly authorised by the Council may, and is hereby empowered at all reasonable times, with or without assistants, to enter into and inspect any shop, building, stall, or place kept or used for the sale of butcher's meat, and to examine any carcase, meat, or flesh, which may be therein, and in case any carcase, meat, or flesh appear to him to be intended for the food of mankind, and to be unfit for such food, the same may be seized; and if it appear to a Justice of the Peace, upon the evidence of a competent person, that any such carcase, meat, or flesh is unfit for the food of mankind, he shall order the same to be destroyed, or to be disposed of so as to prevent its being exposed for sale or use for such food, and the person or persons to whom such carcase, meat, or flesh belongs, or in whose custody the same is found, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds for every carcase or piece of meat or flesh so found.

Cleaning butchers' shambles.

152. For preserving the cleanliness of the said Municipality and the health of the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances or for any other officer or officers appointed by the Council from time to time, and when and as often as he or either of them shall see occasion, to visit and inspect the butchers' shambles, boiling-down establishments, tanneries, and fellmongering establishments in the said Municipality, and to give such directions concerning the cleansing the said shambles, tanneries, and establishments, both within and without, as to him shall seem needful; and any butcher, or the owner or occupier of any such shamble, tannery, or establishment who shall refuse or neglect to comply with such directions within a reasonable time shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Complaints respecting dirty premises.

153. Upon the complaint of any householder that the house, premises, yards, close's, or drains of the neighbouring or adjoining premises are a nuisance or offensive, the Inspector of Nuisances or any other officer appointed by the said Council shall make an inspection of the premises complained of; and such officer of the said Council shall have full power, without any other authority than this By-law, to go upon such premises for the aforesaid purpose; and any person who shall personally, or by any person in his employment or under his control, suffer any waste or stagnant water, or any muck, filth, soil, or other offensive matter to remain in any cellar or place within any dwelling-house or premises within the said Municipality, or shall in like manner suffer the contents of any water-closet, privy, or cesspool to overflow or soak therefrom, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound.

Various obstructions and annoyances.

154. Any person who in any street or other public place or passage within the said Municipality, to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers, shall commit any of the following offences, shall on conviction for any and every such offence forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds.

- (1.) Every person who shall hoist or cause to be hoisted, or lower or cause to be lowered, goods of any description from any opening in any house fronting any street or public place and close to the footway thereof without sufficient and proper ropes and tacklings.
- (2.) Every person who shall carry or convey, or cause to be carried or conveyed, in any street or public place, the carcase or any part of the carcase of any newly slaughtered animal without a sufficient and proper cloth covering the same for the concealment from the public view, or shall hawk or carry about butchers' meat for sale without covering the same as aforesaid.
- (3.) Every person who shall place any line, cord, or pole across any street, lane, or passage, or hang or place clothes thereon, or allow any shrub or tree overhanging the footpath to the danger or annoyance of any person.
- (4.) Every person who shall place any flower pot in any upper window near to any street or public place without sufficiently guarding the same from being thrown down.
- (5.) Any person who shall throw or cast from the roof or any part of any house or other building any slate, brick, part of a brick, wood, rubbish, or other material or thing (unless within a hoard or enclosure, when any house or building is being erected, pulled down, or repaired).
- (6.) Every blacksmith, whitesmith, anchormith, nail-maker, metalfounder, limsburner, bricker, potter, or other person using a forge, furnace, or kiln, and having a door, window, or aperture fronting or opening into or towards any street, lane, or passage, and not enclosing such door, and not fastening the shutters or other fastenings of such windows and closing such aperture or placing a screen before the same every evening within one hour after sunset, so as effectually to prevent the light from showing through the doorway, window, or aperture next or upon such street, lane, or passage.
- (7.) Every person who shall, within the distance of one hundred yards from any dwelling-house, burn any rags, bone, cork, or other offensive substance to the annoyance of any inhabitant.
- (8.) Every person who shall carry goods or any frame to the annoyance of any person upon the footway or any street or other public footway.
- (9.) Every person who shall be the keeper of or have any dog or other animal which shall attack or endanger the life or limb of any person who may have the right-of-way or use of any private yard, alley, street, or any other place within the said Municipality.

Premises in state to endanger public health.

House to be purified on certificate of two medical practitioners.

155. If, upon the certificate of two duly qualified medical practitioners, it appears to the Council that any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, within the Municipality, is or are in such a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is or may be liable to be affected or endangered thereby, and the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of any house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith, would tend to prevent or cheque infectious or contagious disease, the said Council shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of such house or part thereof, or the premises occupied in connection therewith to whitewash, cleanse, or purify the same, as the case may require; and if the person to whom notice is so given shall fail to comply therewith within such time as shall be specified in the said notice he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues in default: Provided that no such penalties shall collectively amount to any greater sum than twenty pounds.

Closets, stables, &c., not built in conformity with this By-law, or being a nuisance, to be altered, or repaired, or removed.

156. If any stable, cowshed, or other out-house, or any closet, privy, or cesspit is or shall be, in the opinion of the Council and Inspector of Nuisances, a nuisance from its too close proximity to any adjoining premises, or from any other cause, or is not kept in repair or clean, the Council may by notice in writing given to the owner or occupier order the same to be taken down, altered, repaired, or cleansed, as the case may require; and if any such order be not obeyed within fourteen days from the service of such notice, the Council or Mayor may, without any further notice, cause the same to be pulled down, destroyed, altered, repaired, or cleansed, and shall be entitled to recover all expenses that may be incurred from the owner or occupier in a summary way at the suit of the Council.

Offences against public decency.

Bathing prohibited within certain limits.

157. Any person who shall bathe near to or within view of any inhabited house, or of any bridge, street, road or other place of public resort within the limits of the Municipality, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and 8 in the evening shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one pound nor less than ten shillings for every such offence.

Penalty on indecent exposure of the person.

158. Any individual who shall offend against decency by exposure of his or her person in any street or public place within the said Municipality, or in view thereof, shall on conviction forfeit and pay for every such offence a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than five pounds.

Throwing rubbish on private property without permission.

159. No kind of rubbish or offensive matter shall be thrown upon any public or private property within the Municipality without permission first obtained from the Municipal Council and the owner or owners of such property. Persons found guilty of a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay for every such offence any sum not exceeding two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

Planting trees in streets.

160. The Council shall have the power to plant trees, shrubs, or plants, in the streets or public ways of the Municipality, and any person wilfully or carelessly injuring or destroying any of such trees, shrubs, or plants, or any railing fence or thing protecting the same shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds nor less than two pounds, in addition to the value of the trees, shrubs, plants, railing, fence or thing so injured.

Noisome and offensive trades.

No noisome or offensive trade to be carried on to the injury of any person.

161. No person shall carry on any noisome or offensive trade within the said Municipality so as to injure or be a nuisance as hereinafter stated, to the inhabitants thereof.

Definition of "Noisome and offensive trades."

162. Any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation in the conducting, following, or carrying on of which, or in consequence of, or in connection wherewith, or from the premises where the same is conducted, followed, or carried on any gas, vapour, or effluvia, or any large quantities of smoke, shall be evolved or discharged, which gas, vapour, effluvia, or smoke, shall be calculated to injure animal or vegetable life, or in any other way to injure or to be a nuisance to the inhabitants of the said Municipality, shall be considered a "noisome and offensive trade" within the meaning of these By-laws.

Complaint—Inquire and report—Order of Council thereon—Notice to discontinue, &c.—Penalty.

163. Upon complaint in writing by any householder that any noisome or offensive trade is being so followed, conducted, or carried on in the vicinity of his or her residence or property as to allow his or her health or the health of any member of his or her family, or to be a nuisance to such householder and to his or her family, the Inspector of Nuisances, or any other person or persons appointed by the Council, shall make an inspection of the premises in which such trade is alleged to be so conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid and of the premises or property of the complainant, and shall inquire into the grounds for such complaint, and shall report thereon to the said Council: And if the said Council shall on the consideration of such report, or after any such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, be of opinion that the said complaint is well-founded, and that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so complained of and so being conducted, followed, or carried on as aforesaid, is a "noisome and offensive trade" within the meaning of these By-laws, notice shall be given to the person or persons conducting, following, or carrying on such trade to cease and discontinue the same within such reasonable time, not being less than thirty days nor more than sixty days, as the said Council may direct, or so to conduct, follow, or carry on his, her, or their manufacture, trade, calling, or operation so that within such reasonable time as that aforesaid, the same shall wholly and permanently cease to be noisome and offensive within the meaning of these By-laws, either to the said complainant or to any other resident within the said Municipality. And if such trade shall not be discontinued as aforesaid, or shall not be so conducted as that it shall wholly cease to be noisome and offensive as aforesaid, within the time named in such notice as aforesaid, any person conducting, following, or carrying on such trade aforesaid shall for the first offence forfeit and pay a sum not less than forty shillings nor more than five pounds, for a second offence a sum of not less than five pounds nor more than twenty-five pounds, and for the third and every subsequent offence a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Mode of proceeding where "noisome and offensive trade" is about to be commenced—Penalty.

164. The like proceedings shall be taken as aforesaid whenever there shall be a complaint as aforesaid, that any manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is about to be commenced or entered upon which is likely to prove "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, save and except the notice to be given as aforesaid, shall be given to the person or persons about to commence or enter upon such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, and shall require him, or her, or them, not to commence or enter upon the same, or to take such measures as shall effectually and permanently prevent the same from becoming "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws to any resident within the Municipality. And any person who shall in any such case commence, enter upon, or continue any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation, so that the same shall be in any way "noisome and offensive" within the meaning of these By-laws, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten pounds nor more than fifty pounds.

Inspector of Nuisances may take legal proceedings.

165. The Inspector of Nuisances, or other person appointed by the Council, may take legal proceedings against any person or persons committing any offence or offences against any of the By-laws of the said Municipality.

Service of notice—Liabilities.

166. Service of any such notice as aforesaid upon the occupier or owner of any premises or land wherein or whereon any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation is being conducted, followed, or carried on, or is about to be commenced or entered upon, or at the last known place of abode of such occupier or owner, or upon any person on the said premises or land, shall be a good and sufficient service of such notice for all purposes of these By-laws. And every person who shall be actually engaged in superintending, directing, or managing, or who shall be in any other way actually engaged or employed in any such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation as aforesaid, shall be liable to be regarded and treated as a person conducting, following, or carrying on such manufacture, trade, calling, or operation within the meaning and for all the purposes of these By-laws.

Penalties to be paid over to Treasurer.

167. All penalties under any of these By-laws shall be paid over to the Treasurer of the said Municipality to be appropriated as the Council may direct.

Interpretation of Mayor and Municipality.

168. Whenever in any of these By-laws the word "Mayor" is made use of it shall, unless the context shall indicate a contrary intention, be construed also to signify and include any Alderman lawfully acting for the time being in the place or stead of the Mayor; and whenever the word "Municipality" is made use of in the said By-laws it shall be understood to signify the "Municipality of Katoomba."

Public Exhibitions.

Exhibitions, &c., to be licensed.

169. No exhibition other than exhibitions licensed by the Colonial Secretary under the provisions of the Act 14 Vic. No. 23, or exhibitions of a temporary character hereinafter specially provided for, shall be held or kept for hire or profit within the said Municipality; nor shall any bowling-alley, dancing saloon, or other place of public amusement other than places licensed as aforesaid, or a place for temporary amusement hereinafter specially provided for, be used as such for hire or profit within the said Municipality, unless and until permission in writing be granted by the Mayor.

Penalty for exhibiting, &c., without license.

170. Every person holding or keeping any such exhibition, or using any place within the said Municipality for public amusement as aforesaid, or causing, or permitting such place to be so used without such permission of such Mayor, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than twenty shillings nor more than ten pounds for every day that such exhibition shall be so held or kept, or such place shall be so used for public amusement as aforesaid.

No exhibitions on Sundays, &c.

171. No such exhibition or place of public amusement as aforesaid shall be held or kept open or used for the purpose of such public amusement on Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday; and every person offending against this By-law in this behalf shall on conviction forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding five pounds nor less than two pounds for every such offence.

Miscellaneous.

Damming up without consent.

172. Whosoever shall, without the consent in writing of the Council, construct or place any dam or embankment or allow any accumulation of drift or silt to accumulate in or across any river, creek, or natural water-course, shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than one pound nor more than twenty pounds, and shall remove such dam or embankment within a reasonable time after such conviction, or shall forfeit and pay any sum not less than five pounds nor more than fifty pounds. And if after such second conviction such person shall fail to remove such dam or embankment within a further reasonable time he shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty pounds nor more than fifty pounds; and if within a reasonable time after a third or further conviction he shall fail to remove such dam or embankment, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum of fifty pounds.

Nuisances Prevention Act By-laws.

173. Every person who shall be about to erect a closet, or form, excavate, or make a cesspit, shall, before he shall commence to erect such closet, or to form, or excavate, or make any such cesspit, deliver to the Council Clerk a notice in writing, of the intention of such person to erect such closet, or form, excavate, or make such cesspit, and of the place or position in which it is intended that such closet shall be erected, or such cesspit formed, excavated, or made; and if any person shall commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit within the said Municipality without having given such notice in writing as aforesaid, and before the expiration of seven days after the delivery of such notice (except by the written authority of the Inspector of Nuisances for the said Municipality, or other officer for the time being appointed by the Council of the said Municipality in that behalf), he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

173a. No person shall erect or commence to erect any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any cesspit, except in such place or position as shall be approved by the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer aforesaid; and any person who shall erect, or commence to erect, any closet, or to form, excavate, or make any such cesspit without having obtained the approval of the said Inspector, or other officer, or in any place or position other than the place or position approved of by the said Inspector or other officer as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than ten shillings nor more than forty shillings. But any person who shall feel aggrieved by the decision of such Inspector or other officer may appeal against the same to the Council.

174. Every cesspit to be constructed within the Municipality shall be built of nine-inch brickwork, set in cement; that it be puddled with not less than 6in. of clay outside all round; floor, as well as walls to be set in cement. The top of such cesspit shall be at least six inches higher than the highest part of the surface of the ground immediately adjoining such cesspit, and no cesspit shall be formed, excavated, or made under any dwelling-house, nor at a less distance than twenty feet therefrom, area permitting. If any person shall so form, excavate, or make any cesspit which shall not be in accordance with the provision of this By-law, or shall form, excavate, or make any cesspit under any dwelling-house, or at a less distance than twenty feet, area permitting, he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than two pounds.

175. For houses containing not more than four rooms and out-offices, the cesspit shall not be less than 3 feet by 4 feet and 5 feet deep, inside measurement; for houses containing more than four rooms and out-offices, the cesspit shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches by 4 feet and 5 feet deep, inside measurement.

176. Every closet shall be built with walls 7 feet high, and shall not be less than 3 feet 6 inches wide and 4 feet 6 inches long, and shall be provided with a door capable of being fastened inside, and with a manhole in the centre not less than 2 feet square, clear internal measurement, to be covered with a trap-door; and every person who shall build or erect any closet which shall not be in accordance with this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

177. Where two or more closets adjoin each other, there shall be a sufficient dividing wall not less than 9 inches in thickness between every two closets, and such wall shall extend from the bottom of the cesspit up to the roof of the closet, so as to effect a complete separation; and if any person shall erect any two or more closets adjoining each other, and not in accordance with this By-law he shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

178. A separate closet shall be provided for each tenement, and any person offending against the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than two pounds.

179. In schools, factories, or other places of business where a number of persons exceeding twelve shall ordinarily reside or be occupied or employed, one closet shall be provided for every twenty persons, with a cesspit of a capacity of not less than 80 cubic feet, and separate closets shall be provided for each sex; and every owner, occupier, or tenant of such school, factory, or other place of business, and every other person who shall offend against this By-law, or fail to provide the number of the closets and of the capacity in this By-law mentioned, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than five pounds nor less than one pound.

180. If any alterations shall be requisite in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council in their behalf, for preserving public health or decency in case of any cesspit or closet, and the Council shall adjudge such cesspit or closet to be injurious to the health or opposed to decency by exposure or otherwise, and the owner or occupier shall not make the necessary alterations after receiving fourteen days' notice from the Council Clerk, it shall be lawful for the Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council to remove the said nuisance, and any expense incurred thereby may be sued for and recovered in a summary way.

181. Owners of existing closets and soil-pans may be required to alter or improve them in such manner as may be necessary in order to bring them into conformity with these Regulations, on notice being given by the Inspector of Nuisances to that effect. Persons failing to make such alterations or improvements within one month after the receipt of such notice, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than one pound nor exceeding the sum of three pounds for each and every week or portion of a week during which they shall fail to comply with the terms of the said notice.

182. The night-soil shall be removed by contract in properly-constructed water-tight vehicles, between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m.

183. Persons desirous of using earth-closets may be permitted to do so on making written application to the Council, and intimating the arrangements to be made for their construction and management, and providing a plan of an approved shape, not exceeding 16in. high by 16in. across the top and 14in. across the bottom, and with handles on each side. No person shall be at liberty to use on his own premises night-soil collected thereupon; but permission for its use may be granted on application in writing to the Council, should the owner or occupier of the premises have sufficient area of land for its proper and sufficient disposal. Such permission may be granted on the approval of the Inspector of Nuisances. Any person or persons committing a breach of this By-law shall forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding £5 nor less than £2.

184. The Inspector of Nuisances or other officer appointed by the Council may visit and inspect any premises, or do any work authorised by the Nuisances Prevention Act, 1875, therein, on all days except Sundays and holidays; and any person who shall hinder or obstruct any Inspector of Nuisances or other officer as aforesaid upon any other such visitation or inspection, or in the doing or performing of any work, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not more than two pounds nor less than ten shillings.

185. All expenses incurred by the Council in emptying any cesspit or earth-closet shall be repaid to the Council by the owner or occupant of the premises whereon such cesspit or earth-closet is situated within one week after a written demand of the amount made by the Council or Inspector of Nuisances shall have been served upon him, otherwise the same may be recovered in a summary way.

186. The Inspector of Nuisances shall furnish the Council with a monthly return showing the number of cesspits emptied.

187. The Council shall from time to time fix the charges to be made for emptying cesspits and earth-closets, which shall be emptied as often as may be deemed necessary in the opinion of the Inspector of Nuisances. All such charges shall be paid to the Council Clerk or the officer whom the Council may from time to time appoint by the owner or occupant of the premises whereon such closet is situated. All charges for emptying such cesspits and earth-closets shall be paid in advance, and in default thereof the charges together with any additional charges occasioned by such non-payment may be recovered in a summary way.

188. No person shall hereafter be permitted to have on their premises any open closet or cesspit for the deposit of faecal matter; and any person allowing any such closet or cesspit to remain after receiving twenty-one (21) days' notice to remove the same shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than one pound, and shall also be liable to a further penalty of not less than five shillings or more than two pounds for every day that such closet or cesspit shall remain.

(BOROUGH OF EAST MAITLAND—BY-LAW.)

Presented to Parliament, pursuant to Act 43 Vic. No. 20, sec. 2.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 16th October, 1890.

EAST MAITLAND MUNICIPALITY.—BY-LAW.

THE following By-law, made by the Council of the Borough of East Maitland under the "Maitland Cattle Driving Amendment Act, 1880," having been confirmed by His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, is published in accordance with the requirements of the above-cited Act.

HENRY PARKES.

BY-LAW of the Borough of East Maitland, for regulating the passage of cattle intended for sale, slaughter, or shipment.

WHEREAS it is expedient that provisions should be made for the purpose of regulating, within the boundaries of the Municipality of East Maitland, the passage of cattle intended for sale, slaughter, or shipment, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Borough Council of East Maitland, on the 6th day of August, 1890; and in virtue of the power and authority vested in them in that behalf, it is ordered that the following By-law do now take effect, and that they are hereby established for the purposes aforesaid:—

1. That no cattle intended for sale, slaughter, or shipment, or conveyance by rail (except quiet milch cows), shall be driven into or through any part of the Municipality of East Maitland, except between the hours of 2 and 4 of the clock in the afternoon, and between the hours of 5 o'clock in the evening and 7 o'clock in the morning, from the 1st day of April to the 30th day of September inclusive; and between the hours of 2 and 4 of the clock in the afternoon, and between the hours of 6 o'clock in the evening and 6 o'clock in the morning, during the other portion of the year; and the route to be taken by persons driving such cattle through the said Municipality shall be from the bridge over Wallis Creek, at Trappaud Road; thence along the new road resumed by the Government as far as Wallis-street; thence along Wallis-street to Banks-street; thence along Banks-street to Adams-street; thence along Adams-street to Glebe-street; thence along Glebe-street to Flinders-street; thence along Flinders-street to George-street; thence along George-street to Brisbane-street; thence along Brisbane-street to Victoria-street; thence along Victoria-street to Newcastle-street; and along Newcastle-street to the south-east boundary of the Municipality. Cattle being driven from the north-east or any other part of the said Municipality shall be driven along the route as above described. The route to be taken to and from the Railway Station for the passage of cattle for conveyance by rail or arriving by rail, shall be from Day-street to Rous-street along Williams-street; thence along Rous-street to Banks-street; thence along Banks-street to Wallis-street; thence along Wallis-street to the bridge at Trappaud Road over Wallis Creek; and that no such cattle shall be driven into or through any part of the said Municipality without having one or more persons on horseback in front for the purpose of better controlling and guiding the same; and every person who shall drive, or cause to be driven, any such cattle as aforesaid into or through any part of the said Municipality, at any other hour or by any other route than hereinbefore provided, shall on conviction in a summary way before any two Justices in Petty Sessions forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding twenty shillings for each and every head of cattle so driven.

PROPOSED WIDENING OF MOORE-STREET.

PETITION FROM CHARLES E. PILCHER, CHAIRMAN OF PUBLIC MEETING OF CITIZENS IN FAVOUR OF.)

Received by the Legislative Assembly, 21 October, 1890.

To the Honorable James Henry Young, Speaker, and the Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly.

This Petition of Citizens of Sydney assembled in Public Meeting at the Town Hall, George-street, Sydney, the sixteenth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and ninety,—

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH :—

That the following resolution was adopted :—

That this meeting is of opinion that advantage should be taken of the opportunity afforded by the recent destruction by fire of the buildings on the north side of Moore-street to widen that street between Pitt and Castlereagh Streets, and that the Chairman of the Meeting be requested to forward a copy of this resolution, signed by him on behalf of said meeting, to be presented to the Legislative Assembly.

That your Petitioner humbly prays that your Honorable House will be pleased to take the foregoing resolution into your favourable consideration.

And your Petitioner will, as in duty bound, ever pray.

CHAS. E. PILCHER,
Chairman.
