1	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: I want to raise a few examples with you. My understanding is that you for a period of time were a director at the Chifley Research Centre. Is that correct? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Many years ago, yes. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: The records that I have show that you were actually a director from 6 May 2011 to 12 September 2019. Is that correct? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'd have to take the exact dates on notice but that sounds about right. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: You did a parliamentary disclosure from 1 July 2019 to the end of December 2019 but you didn't reference that position at all. Why did you leave that off your — The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I suspect it's because I had resigned prior to then but that the Chifley Research Centre had not updated their records, but I can take that on notice. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Okay, because, as I said, they say that you ceased on 12 September so there's a gap there. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: My recollection is that I had ceased to be a director of that organisation some time, I think, prior to then. But they may not have updated their records. But I can take that on notice. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Did you ever get paid for that position? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: No. It was an unpaid role. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Thank you. If you could, just check the date because, as I said, we have some official records here that would suggest otherwise. If you could provide updates to the Committee, that would be useful. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Absolutely.	I ceased being a director of the Chifley Research Centre on 12 September 2019.
2	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: I just also want to take you now to your directorship with the Whitlam Institute at Western Sydney University. Do you know when you began that position? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I don't recall off the top of my head. It was prior to the recent anniversary of the fiftieth year of Gough Whitlam being elected Prime Minister — prior to 2022. Maybe 2021. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Again, we didn't see that appear on your disclosures until 2022. Again, there's another six-month gap there in that position? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: It may have been in 2022. I was not a director of the Whitlam Institute for very long. I came on around 2022 and then, unfortunately, had to resign when I was elected as a Minister. I did that almost immediately. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Sure. I have an ASIC document here that indicates you were appointed on 27 July 2021 to that particular role, again, which would indicate there's about a six-month gap where that wasn't disclosed. Can you respond to that? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I can take that on notice. Yes. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Did you ever get paid for that position? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: No. It was unpaid. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: If you could, just clarify it because, obviously, that's a couple of areas where the records don't match your disclosure. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Absolutely. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: It would be good to get that rectified for the Committee in terms, I guess, of the transparency and probity that is expected as members of Parliament and as Ministers.	I began my appointment on 27 July 2021 and ceased my appointment on 1 May 2023.

3	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Did you go to Splendour in the Grass? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I did, yes. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: No. I was invited to attend Splendour in the Grass. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: With a staff member, on taxpayer money? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I was invited to attend Splendour in the Grass, which I have fully disclosed, as both the Minister for the North Coast and the Minister for Youth.	As Minister for Youth and North Coast, I attended Splendour in the Grass. My office received 7 tickets for use by myself, my family and staff, which were disclosed on the Ministerial gift register. Meetings undertaken by Ministers are publicly available online. As the Member will see I attended a number of meetings and events on those dates including with Byron Bay Writers Festival, Northern Rivers Performing Arts, Fletcher St Cottage and Byron Shire Council.
4	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Did your staff member get gifted a ticket, as well? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I understand that they did. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Was that disclosed through the appropriate processes? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I understand it was, yes. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Can you update or provide further clarification to the Committee that that was the case? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I will do that.	Please see answer to question 3.
5	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Thank you, Chair, Minister, how many tickets did you have to Splendour in the Grass? How many did you receive? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I can't recall. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Was it more than two? There was you and a staff member. Did you get more than two? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Yes. My husband came as well. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: So three? Or more than that? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'll have to check how many were given to the office. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Do you think you could check and come back to us – The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Yes, I can. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: – maybe after morning tea? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'll have a check, yes.	Please see answer to question 3.
6	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: It's so awesome that you went briefly? Can I check, Minister, my understanding is you got seven tickets to that festival. Would that be right? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I will check. I don't have that. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Other than your staff member and your husband, you don't remember who else you might've given those tickets to or who else was there with you in the group? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Apologies? The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Do you remember who else was there with you in the group, if that seven figure is correct? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: My children came along. As I recall, I don't know if they needed tickets, but it may be that the tickets were for them. That's why I need to check. I'm just not sure. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: If you could check and come back to us, preferably in the hearing, that would be useful. I will hand over to my colleague now.	Please see answer to question 3.
7	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Welcome to your first estimates. Minister, how many full-time staff are employed in your ministerial office? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Again, I could try and take that on notice. I think it's six, maybe – seven if you include the SRA. But that's not in the ministerial office.	I am advised that Ministerial staff numbers and grades are published on the NSW Government website: https://www.nsw.gov.au/departments-and-agencies/the-cabinet-office/access-to-information/premier-and-ministers-staff-numbers

Q #	Question	Answer
8	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Are you aware of any complaints that were made about you or your staff? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: No, I'm not. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Are you aware of any complaints that have been made to your departments about you or your staff and their employment? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: No, I'm not. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Can I ask that same question of the officials? I'll start with Ms Willcox in relation to Health. Are you aware of any complaints that have been made about the Minister or her staff? DEB WILLCOX: I'm not aware of any. I'd have to take it on notice. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Ms Jones? AMANDA JONES: I'm not aware of any. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Mr Tidball? MICHAEL TIDBALL: I'm not aware of any. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Are you happy to take that question on notice to clarify? DEB WILLCOX: Yes. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Are there any other officials representing departments here? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: These guys are from DCJ, Land and Housing? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I'm not aware of any. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Aboriginal Housing Office? There's the State-owned corporations. I don't know if you want to ask them. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That's okay. I'm clarifying that the majority will be taking that on notice. If possible, if you could get back to me by the end of the hearing today to clarify if there is anything there? Thank you very much.	I am advised: The NSW Ministry of Health has not received any complaints regarding the Minister or the Minister's Office. Sydney Water has not received any complaints regarding the Minister or the Minister's Office. Hunter Water has not received any complaints regarding the Minister or the Minister's Office. The Department of Planning and Environment has not received any complaints that have been made about the Minister or her staff. The Land and Housing Corporation has not received any complaints that have been made about the Minister or her staff. Aboriginal Housing Office has not received any complaints that have been made about the Minister or her staff. The Department of Communities and Justice has not received any complaints that have been made about the Minister or her staff. The Department of Regional NSW has not received any complaints that have been made about the Minister or her staff.

Q #	Question	Answer
9	The CHAIR: How many people are currently on the waitlist for community-supported housing through the Housing and Accommodation Support Initiative and the Pathways to Community Living Initiative? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Deb or Brendan, do you have that? I could see if I've got that. BRENDAN FLYNN: I would have to take that on notice. I know that it's a dynamic waitlist and that, at times, positions can become available quite quickly. Also, if a position is available for an individual in one part of New South Wales, that's not going to necessarily work for people outside of that area. I can take on notice, though, an absolute numerical — The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We can try and get back to you by this afternoon's session or see if it's in the various folders.	I am advised: NSW Mental Health Community Living Programs support more than 1,900 adults daily with severe mental illness to live in the community through recovery orientated, community-based psychosocial supports. Programs include the Housing and Accommodation Support Initiative (HASI), Community Living Supports (CLS), Mental Health Community Living Supports for Refugees, and HASI Plus. Of these programs, only HASI Plus provides accommodation. HASI Plus is a recovery focused program aimed at transitioning consumers to independent living. Participants access the program, including accommodation, for an average of 36 months. There are currently no consumers on the HASI Plus waitlist. Although the HASI and CLS programs do not provide accommodation, they do support consumers to access social housing for the first time, or to access more suitable social housing than they were living in. There are around 220 people on the HASI/ CLS waitlist. The Pathways to Community Living Initiative (PCLI) works with people who have, or at risk of, long-stays and who are experiencing severe and persistent mental illness with complex needs. PCLI works to support their transitions to existing community services where possible, including the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), CLS, HASI and HASI Plus. There is no waitlist for community-supported housing through PCLI. On 30 June 2023: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 197 people have a length of stay of over one year in a NSW mental health unit • Since it started, the initiative has provided support for over 1,500 people.
10	The CHAIR: How many young people are currently waiting for admission into a youth mental health inpatient unit and how many are currently being — inappropriately — treated in an adult facility? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Okay. Well, again, we'll probably just take that one and see if we can get that information to you.	I am advised: NSW Health does not have a waiting for admission data source. Children and young people are admitted according to clinical acuity. From 1 January to 4 October 2023, people aged under 18 received 2,519 completed episodes of hospital care in NSW specialist mental health units. Most of these (92%) occurred in Child and Adolescent Mental Health units, providing short-term assessment or emergency care (psychiatric emergency centres or assessment units) or eating disorder services. There have been 208 episodes where a person aged under 18 completed an episode of care in other mental health units. Most of these occurred in 16 to 17-year-olds. 27 episodes occurred in people aged 13 to 15, and no episodes occurred in children aged 12 and under.

11	The CHAIR: Thank you. This is my last one before I go to Ms Higginson. Which local health districts have the highest need for suicide aftercare and postvention services? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Do you know that one, Brendan? BRENDAN FLYNN: I don't because I don't know that it's directly related to the suicide rate because our aftercare services are already working where there is significant need. I can take that on notice in terms of if we have identified particular districts or networks that should be first in line for further aftercare investment. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Look, we've turned up to provide information so we've noted that and we'll get back to you with what information you have. The CHAIR: I look forward to those answers on notice.	I am advised: Universal aftercare As part of the transition to universal aftercare under the Bilateral Schedule to the National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Agreement, the NSW Government has committed to ensuring universal access to aftercare services across the state following a suicide attempt or significant suicidal crisis. In 2023-24, the NSW Government allocated funds to establishing 19 new aftercare services across NSW. These additional services complement current established aftercare services funded by NSW. These include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 10 The Way Back NSW services • Grand Pacific Health's Next Steps in Illawarra Shoalhaven and Southern NSW • HealthWISE's aftercare program in New England North West NSW • The Youth Aftercare Pilot located in Coffs Harbour, Tamworth, Bankstown, and Blacktown/Mount Druitt • ACON's statewide LGBTQ+ Crisis Support and Aftercare Service. From 2023-24, aftercare services will be available in all local health districts and corresponding Primary Health Networks. Districts and Networks work closely with the NSW Ministry of Health to identify local geographical priority areas to establish new services or expand current services. This is supported by data from the NSW Suicide Monitoring System and emergency department presentations for self-harm and suicidal crisis. From 2024-25, Bilateral schedule funding will be available to further expand aftercare service provision across all Districts and Networks to ensure service access across all geographical areas of NSW. Postvention Statewide postvention support is available to ensure all people in NSW who are bereaved or impacted by suicide have access to support services, including families and friends, witnesses, first responders such as police and paramedics, and service providers. Postvention support is delivered by StandBy Support After Suicide, co-funded by the NSW and Australian governments through the Bilateral Schedule to the National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Agreement. StandBy provides coordinated support services, including bereavement counselling, peer and family-based support, support dealing with police and coroners' investigations, and group sessions for schools, workplaces, and communities.

Q #	Question	Answer
12	Ms SUE HIGGINSON: I didn't. The New South Wales Government has committed $610.1 million over four years to 1,500 new social housing dwellings under the Social Housing Accelerator agreement. Given the over-representation of First Nations people in New South Wales social housing, what percentage of the 1,500 new social dwellings will be dedicated Aboriginal houses? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'll take the exact percentage on notice, but it is around, what, 20? It's around 20 or 25 per cent	I am advised: 15%
13	Ms SUE HIGGINSON: With respect to the $38.4 million to the Aboriginal Housing Office, how many houses and upgrades do you anticipate? Has that kind of modelling been done on what it will deliver? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Famey Williams, the CEO, is saying 220, but we can take those exact figures on notice. But, yes, in answer to your question, Ms Higginson, that modelling has been done. We do have a clear line of sight on how many houses both the Aboriginal Housing Office and our Aboriginal community housing partners will be delivering as part of that commitment.	I am advised: The SHAF allocation provided to the AHO is $130mil (not $38.4mil) which will deliver 222 new homes. This includes the refurbishment of approximately 34 currently untenable homes across the Aboriginal Community Housing Partner Sector. AHO has a pipeline of projects that are being progressed through early preliminaries and development applications. This pipeline along with the AHO demand model has been utilised to create a program totalling 222 homes.
14	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: I am just going to take you back to the visit to Byron Bay on 21 July. You mentioned that your husband was travelling with you, and he paid for himself, and that your children were as well. Who paid for their travel? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I can't recall. I may have. It may be the case that Oscar, my son, travelled with me as a dependant, but I can't recall. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Okay. Could you provide advice? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I can take that on notice.	Please see answer to question 3.

15	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: — as a regional member who was also a Minister for six years. But I guess my question to you is around the legitimacy of the travel — whether or not you claimed your children going with you. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I just continue to — The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: If you could just provide that advice. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Yes, I will provide that advice. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: And just in terms of your staff member, did they not claim accommodation either because they stayed privately as well? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I think they stayed at Splendour, as I said, because they had a ticket. My understanding is that that was fully disclosed — but I am checking that — and that they stayed onsite. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Right. Okay. So you only went to the official function. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: That's correct. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: There were others who were in your party. You can't remember who the seven were, but you're hopefully going to get us that at some point today. Did your staff stay beyond the official function? It sounds like they did, if they stayed the night out there. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'll have to check what they did. But, yes, my understanding is that that's the case. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Right. So they stayed there, but travelling for taxpayer money, but they stayed for additional time without you, presumably, if you only went to the function and then left. They spent the rest of the weekend at the music festival. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: They came with me. They went to the meetings that I went to and then they stayed onsite. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Right. But then flew back with you the next day on a taxpayer flight. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: That is my recollection — that they travelled with me. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: But they weren't with you the entire time by the sound of it because you left the festival, you said. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: No. They weren't with me the entire time. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Right. As I said, if you could provide that, particularly who those other tickets went to? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I will confirm that. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: That would be good, thank you.	Please see answer to question 3.

Q #	Question	Answer
16	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Mr Leon Walker, the Deputy Secretary for Homes, Property and Development for New South Wales, told PC No. 4 last week that, with the creation of Homes NSW, there is also a new entity called the land asset working group that is considering residential opportunities for allocation between LAHC, Landcom and AHO. Does that sit under you? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Yes. It's the LAWG. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: The LAWG. Thank you very much. Who is on the LAWG? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: The LAWG actually doesn't exist yet. It is part of the process of creating Homes NSW which, as I said, comes into existence in February next year. From my recollection, the membership of the LAWG is a representative of the Land and Housing Corporation within Homes NSW, someone from Property and Development NSW, someone from Landcom and someone from Treasury. There may be others on it. I can take that on notice. It does not exist yet, because Homes NSW does not exist yet.	This matter falls under the portfolio responsibilities of the Minister for Lands and Property.
17	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Minister, can I ask about something that sits across both your portfolio as the Minister for Mental Health and in regard to Homes NSW? Through your department, have you put forward for housing to be put on the Macquarie Hospital site? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We are just not at that point yet. Every single piece of surplus land is going into the land audit. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Has that gone into the land audit? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I can check with Health Infrastructure NSW. Just to be clear, the mental health branch is not doing the land audit for NSW Health. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: That's NSW Health. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Health Infrastructure NSW is doing that. If it is surplus land, then I expect that it has gone into the land audit. That would be my expectation. Obviously, there is going to be a substantial amount of land that goes into the land audit that's not suitable for residential housing. Of course, we accept that. But the whole point of doing the comprehensive audit is to actually get all of that information in one place so that we can comprehensively go through it and identify which sites are suitable and which sites aren't suitable. But the first step is, everyone has got to come and be part of this process and identify sites that are surplus to their needs. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: So you wouldn't rule out housing development on the Macquarie Hospital site. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I am not ruling anything in or out at the moment	I am advised: NSW Health has submitted the Macquarie Hospital site to Property and Development NSW to assess for social and affordable housing under the Property and Land Audit. NSW Health included conditions in its submission to ensure that NSW Health service requirements for the Macquarie Hospital site are considered, and continuity of health services for the community are met.

18	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Turning back to the Waterloo south project and development on that site, with the increase to 50 per cent of social and affordable housing in the Waterloo south renewal, what additional financial contribution is the State Government going to pay to this project? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We are still working through the procurement process with our delivery partners and finalising how we are going to deliver that. So the answer to your question is TBC. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Has any work been done on the viability of the project with the change to 50 per cent social and affordable housing and the cost to the State Government? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Absolutely. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: And what was the development projected to cost the taxpayer before the changes were made? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'll have to take that on notice.	I am advised: Prior to the change to 50% social and affordable housing, LAHC would bear all costs associated with securing a rezoning approval, procuring a delivery partner, and relocations.
19	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Fantastic. When did you request an updated feasibility study on Waterloo south about the change in cost to the development when considering the changes that you announced on 21 August? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I will have to take that on notice. I have to say, on my very first incoming government brief with the Land and Housing Corporation, I said, "I am not delivering Waterloo south with 30 per cent social and affordable housing. Forget that. This is a major project and a prime piece of government land. We have 57,000 people on our social housing waiting list. If we are going to do this, we are going to do it with 50 per cent social and affordable housing, and I need you guys to work with me in order to make that happen." I suspect that the process of discussing how we could deliver on my priority of actually uplifting social and affordable housing through these projects kicked off from my first meeting with the Land and Housing Corporation. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Will you provide that feasibility study to this Committee? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I will have to see whether that is a document that I can publicly release.	I am advised: The project feasibility and any estimated cost to government supports a live procurement and is cabinet in confidence.
20	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: What is the current number and percentage of Aboriginal people in the Waterloo estate? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I will have to take that on notice.	I am advised: There is currently 288 Aboriginal tenants in the Waterloo Estate which equates to 12% of tenants (as at 14 November 2023)

21	Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: I want to start with some questions around mining and water because some of it is relevant to the Water portfolio. Firstly, are you aware that the CSIRO has undertaken some new research into the water tables, groundwater connectivity, in the Narrabri region in relation to the Narrabri CSG project? The CSIRO has recently published that new research. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'm not aware of that new research. Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: The research has shown that there is an increased likelihood of connectivity between the coal seams that are targeted by the Narrabri coal seam gas project and the Great Artesian Basin. Has DPE Water, your agency, engaged in that research at all? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I am not aware of that. Amanda, are you aware if your department has engaged in that? AMANDA JONES: I'm not aware. I'll have to take that on notice.	I am advised: CSIRO is undertaking a project called "Understanding connectivity between coal seams and aquifers". DPE Water is regularly updated on progress of CSIRO's groundwater related projects by the CSIRO project team.
22	Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: I might come back to that later today. Again, mining and water – this is in relation to the mining that's taking place in Sydney's water catchment, possibly a little closer to home for you. There has been an independent analysis undertaken regarding the Metropolitan coalmine's environmental performance and extensive fractures opening up beneath the streams. This is all the Woronora special area. There has been a kilometre of perennial stream called the Eastern Tributary going dry since early 2017. There is cracking, underground diversion of streams and the discharge of dissolved metals in a vital water storage. This essentially indicates that it is beyond what was originally submitted to planning in the EIS. We know that underground mining in water catchments always results in a certain degree of subsidence, which isn't ideal in itself, but this is far worse in terms of this research and what it has uncovered. I understand that this report has been sent to the Independent Advisory Panel on Underground Mining seven months ago. Has it come to your department, Ms Jones? Have you seen it? AMANDA JONES: I'm not aware. I'll have to take that on notice. Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: Minister, is this a concern in whether the right people are getting this information, whether they're acting on it – again, in terms of the degree of destruction within Sydney water catchment as a result of underground mining? What is happening from your end at least in terms of getting on top of the extent of the issue? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: As Amanda said, it may well be that people in her team have seen it. There are 900-odd people who work in DPE Water. She has taken on notice the extent to which we have been included in those conversations	I am advised: The Department's Water Group recently received and is considering a report from the Independent Expert Advisory Panel for Mining titled Advice re: Report Titled: Metropolitan Coal Mine: Independent review of environmental performance to 2022 (Dupen, 2023).

23	The CHAIR: Minister, the Albury project implements a community-of-schools-and-services approach, which is locally driven. It's a shift from a crisis-driven system to an early-intervention approach. This is low cost. It costs less than $500,000 per year. It's demonstrated to be working. Will you extend its funding beyond December 2024? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Ms Cohn, I enthusiastically welcome representations in relation to effective programs, particularly those that are low cost. I have to say I'm not as familiar with that project as, evidently, you are. But I will take on notice having a look at it. As an example, the universal service support project, the Albury project in relation to early intervention in youth homelessness, received a representation — great project delivering great results; credit to Justin Clancy, member for Albury, for bringing that to my attention. We continued its funding. I just point to that as evidence that we are willing to receive feedback about things that are working and try and find ways to continue them. I'll have to take those specific details on notice. The CHAIR: Thank you. I look forward to your answer on notice and note that for, particularly, not-for-profit programs to have that requirement to constantly reapply for funding is actually taking resources away	I am advised: The Universal Screening and Support Program screens high school students to identify young people 'at risk' and then offers wrap around support to the young person and their family. The program will be extended in Albury where the evaluation found the program to be very effective. Based on the external evaluation and discussion with the participating schools, the program will cease in Mount Druitt. A new model will be explored with the Mt Druitt community as part of the development of the new homelessness strategy so that children and young people can be supported in the most effective way. Further funding (to extend Albury and/or to introduce the program at new sites) will be considered under the new homelessness strategy.
24	The CHAIR: Thank you. In 2018 the previous Government introduced the controversial inner-city allocation policy, which excludes anyone with a conviction for a serious drug offence in the prior five years from being allocated a Land and Housing Corporation property in Surry Hills, Redfern, Waterloo or Glebe. How many people have been turned away from homes in the Sydney inner city as a result of the policy since it was introduced? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I will have to take that on notice. I'm not sure if anyone here has that at their fingertips. We'll get that information to you, Ms Cohn.	I am advised: Between 17 April 2018 and 26 October 2023, 180 people were excluded from housing in the inner city under the Local Allocation Strategy (LAS) policy. 146 of these returned a positive result on the LAS for drug convictions, the remaining 34 did not provide consent for the LAS to be undertaken.
25	The CHAIR: How many upgrades are being planned for energy efficiency and thermal performance in social housing? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I might ask Michael if he's got that figure at his fingertips. He's saying "about 9,000", but he's confirming that. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: We can come back to you to confirm that number. The CHAIR: Thank you. While you're following it up, can you please confirm how much money's been allocated in that in the 2023-24 and 2024-25 financial years? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Yes, we can do that.	I am advised: Land and Housing Corporation (LAHC) will be contributing $30.2 million over the next three financial years to partner with the Commonwealth Government to undertake further energy efficiency upgrades to social housing dwellings. In 2024/25, $10 million has been budgeted for 8,800 properties. In 2023/24, LAHC's co-contribution is $400,000 ($800,000 total program) for a solar sharing pilot project at 6 complexes comprising 80 properties in Western Sydney, as well as installing solar systems at 13 properties, 6 roof replacements to accommodate solar systems, and a heat pump pilot project at 50 properties.

26	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Minister, are you familiar with the National Mental Health Workforce Strategy? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Not in detail but, yes – its existence. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: It does report that there's currently a 32 per cent shortfall in mental health workers compared to 2019, and this figure is expected to grow. Do you have figures for New South Wales vacancies in relation to mental health, particularly psychiatrists, adult, adolescent – The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I can ask the officials if they've got figures at their fingertips, although I would indicate there is absolutely a shortfall. We acknowledge that. There was a discussion earlier about the workforce challenges. If there are figures, Deb, that you have at your fingertips, perhaps you might provide them. DEB WILLCOX: I don't have any figures on me at the moment. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We'll take the exact figure on notice. But the premise of your question is accepted – that there are shortfalls and that we are facing real workforce challenges in mental health. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: When taking that question on notice, can you also provide a breakdown for psychiatry – as I said, adolescent and adult psychology, mental health nurses, as well as other allied health professionals?	I am advised: In isolation, vacancies or advertised positions may not be a reliable indication of workforce shortages. Organisations the size and scale of NSW Health have a workforce turnover of over 10%, with vacancies available and recruited to at any time. The NSW mental health workforce continues to grow with more than 10,400 FTE staff working across NSW Mental Health services at June 2023. NSW Health has considerable investment in building mental health services with the psychiatry workforce, including psychiatrists, trainees, and career medical officers, comprising about 10% of NSW Health's mental health workforce. NSW Health provide ongoing funding to support mental health services including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • $3.4 million a year to support psychiatry training networks, supplementing the efforts of the local health districts. • $2.7 million to maintain a minimum 28 FTE peer worker positions – of which $1.32 million is provided to rural and regional areas. • The Health and Education Training Institute (HETI) invests $1.29 million to deliver post graduate psychiatric medicine courses and a further $1.32 million to deliver post graduate Applied Mental Health Studies through HETI Higher Education. • Funding has been allocated to support up to 70 FTE peer workers as part of the NSW Government's Towards Zero Suicides initiatives. This major commitment in suicide prevention has an investment of $143.4 million over 4 years until 2025-26.

27	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Minister, have you read the 2023 New South Wales street count technical paper? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I have seen the street count results but I don't recall reading the technical paper. PORTFOLIO COMMITTEE NO. 2 - HEALTH The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: It's only about 10 pages, but that's all right. It's mostly a graph of a breakdown. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I think that the suggestion that I'm not across the detail is — The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Minister, are you aware of how many rough sleepers there are currently in the Clarence Valley? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Not off the top of my head. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That's okay. Does anyone else have those figures? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Has someone got the street count figures per LGA? We can look that up. ANNE CAMPBELL: I think I do, Minister. Actually, I don't have it but I can provide it this afternoon. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: There were 300 in Bryon, I think, but I don't recall all of them. MICHAEL TIDBALL: Yes, you're right, Minister. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That's okay, I've brought a copy. The figures for 2023 for the Clarence Valley are 69 — The Hon. GREG DONNELLY: Point of order: I think it's moving too quickly. The information was being sought through the Minister to the officers. As far as I can tell, the information might be present now. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Well, no, Mr Tidball was just confirming that when I said it was 300 in Byron, I was correct on that. I was just indicating that I am aware of the ones at the top of the list — the most pressing — but I don't have in my mind the street count for every single LGA. We are looking that up. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: No, I understand you've a very big number of portfolios but I do have a copy of the spreadsheet and the count that was provided on your website. In relation to Clarence Valley, for 2023 it was 69 and in 2022 it was 11. As you said, Byron was 300 this year and 138 last year. Recently you announced additional community outreach support for the region. How much was that for? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Eleven million dollars. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: How many LGAs does it cover? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I think it covered five. I can't recall the exact number. I think it was five. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Do you know which ones? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We'll take it on notice. It was definitely Byron, Ballina, Lismore, and I think it was Clarence and Richmond. We will clarify. That is my recollection. ANNE CAMPBELL: I think you're right, Minister. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We will clarify but that is my recollection. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Okay. How many rough sleepers are in Eurobodalla LGA? Do you have that? Are you aware of it? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'm not aware, but I do know Eurobodalla has a particular challenge. Every time you fly into Moruya Airport you can see the homeless encampment there. It's clearly a challenge. I've spoken to the mayor about that on a number of occasions. One of the first things that we did when I was Minister — and I thank the department for collaborating with me — was snap up the opportunity to grab a few cabins that	I am advised: Following the 2021 Street Count sector consultation, Eurobodalla Shire Council and the Department of Communities and Justice (DCJ) identified 55 households sleeping rough at the Moruya North Head and Mystery Bay campgrounds. In response, DCJ provided $390,000 (excl. GST), from 2022 to June 2024, to local service provider The Family Place Inc., to lead an assertive outreach team, in partnership with DCJ, Specialist Homelessness Services (SHS) and Southern NSW Local Health District, to support these people at the campgrounds into housing. People sleeping rough in Byron Bay will receive better access to support thanks to a NSW Government funding injection of $125,000 for a key local community service. In addition, approximately $1 million will be invested to expand Assertive Outreach in the region. This is in addition to the NSW Government's 2023-24 $11 million investment for homelessness services in Northern NSW, which covers the LGAs of Ballina, Byron Shire, Clarence Valley, Kyogle, Lismore, Richmond Valley and Tweed. In regard to funded SHS in the Northern NSW District, there are two lead service providers delivering eight services across the District.

28	The CHAIR: Thank you. I am going to turn to suicide prevention training. I understand that a large proportion of the State's funding for suicide prevention training is being delivered by LivingWorks. Can you tell us what percentage of that training's being delivered regionally or rurally? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I can't, off the top of my head. Do you have a sense of that, Brendan? BRENDAN FLYNN: I would like to take that on notice, Minister. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We're happy to take that on notice The CHAIR: Thank you. Is there a measurement or KPI in place to ensure that that training's being delivered equitably across the State? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Is there a measurement of that in place, Brendan? BRENDAN FLYNN: I believe there is, Minister. I would need to take that on notice as well, but I do understand that discussions with LivingWorks are ongoing. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: But I absolutely can recognise your point, which is that we do see significantly higher presentations of mental ill health and suicide in rural and regional New South Wales. It would be my expectation that programs that we are delivering are going to areas of highest need and that there is a particularly high need in rural and regional New South Wales, particularly as we see drying conditions, as we see bushfires. We acknowledge that that is of real concern, and it is my expectation that programs that we deliver would meet those particular and acute needs. The CHAIR: Thank you. I'm pleased to hear that that's your expectation and look forward to answers to questions on notice as to whether that's actually happening at the moment. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Understood.	I am advised: As of 31 October 2023, LivingWorks has trained 14,685 people in suicide intervention skills. This includes 10,000 school staff, parents, and student peer leaders. To date around 50% of the training has been delivered in metropolitan areas and 50% in regional and rural areas. The NSW Ministry of Health provides LivingWorks with a list of targeted geographical areas of higher need based on modelling to prioritise delivery of training in areas of higher need. The modelling to determine areas of higher need is based on NSW Health data on emergency department presentations for self-harm or suicidal ideation in the younger age groups. The key target audience for this training initiative is people who interact with and support young people. KPIs for regional areas have intentionally not been set to ensure that training delivery is able to flex to reach emerging areas of higher need as they are identified. LivingWorks is required to report quarterly on training delivered for each local health district.
29	The CHAIR: Twenty10 was identified as the suicide prevention training provider for the LGBTIQ+ community living rurally and regionally. In the New South Wales LGBTIQ+ health strategy, I understand that that program wrapped in mid-2022 and now refers back to the Community Gatekeeper Training initiative for which LivingWorks is the primary training provider. Were there any findings of the program being delivered by Twenty10 before it ended? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: As it ended in 2022, and that was prior to my time as Minister, I may ask Dr Flynn or Ms Willcox if anyone is aware of that, or had anything to add; otherwise, we will have to provide that information to you on notice? BRENDAN FLYNN: Look, I think so. I'm aware of that program and I think to specifically answer your question, Dr Cohn, we need to take that on notice.	I am advised: Twenty10 received $120,000 (ex GST) during 2019-22 to provide suicide prevention training targeting the LGBTQIA+ community as part of the Community Gatekeeper Training initiative. Over the period of the contract Twenty10 trained 278 people. The Community Gatekeeper training initiative has been independently evaluated, with the final report received in October 2023. Findings specific to Twenty10 include that they successfully reached their target audience of gender-diverse people at good value per participant, and that training was predominantly delivered in major cities (97%). There were a range of findings and recommendations relating to the Community Gatekeeper Training initiative, which saw 13 providers funded to deliver training across the state. Recommendations will inform the next tranche of the suicide prevention training initiative in NSW (formerly named Community Gatekeeper training) during 2024-26, to begin after the LivingWorks package concludes. The LivingWorks suicide prevention training package, funded through the COVID-19 Mental Health Recovery Package started in 2021-22 and will conclude in June 2024. LivingWorks co-designed suicide prevention skills training tailored to deliver inclusive content and create a safe space for LGBTQIA+ people and communities. LGBTQIA+ skills training workshops are delivered by LivingWorks trainers who identify as part of the LGBTQIA+ community.

30	The CHAIR: Thank you. While I'm on my line of questioning about regional areas, of the $700 million Statewide Mental Health Infrastructure Program, what proportion of that sum has been confirmed for locations in rural and regional areas? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I can take the proportion on notice, but just to reassure you, Ms Cohn, that there is a significant amount of investment in rural and regional areas. I can think of two significant ones off the top of my head — the new Banksia unit in Tamworth, which I was pleased to visit with the member, Kevin Anderson, and really excited to see that new facility getting off the ground. There is obviously the new Maitland Hospital site as well, which also has an integrated new mental health unit there and, again, really hopeful that that is going to provide improved quality care for that community. Those are just two. In terms of the overall percentage, Brendan, what am I missing? BRENDAN FLYNN: I don't have the overall percentage and could take that on notice, but I would certainly add the new mental health unit that will be part of the new Albury-Wodonga hospital. I would add Broken Hill — The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Oh, yes. BRENDAN FLYNN: — which is getting a new mental health unit, and I would add that some of the beds that are being built are statewide beds and are going to be — particularly I'm thinking of the forensic beds that would be available to consumers, no matter where they live, across New South Wales — but would be prioritised for those beds. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We'll take the exact percentage on notice but, I mean, as you can see there is a range of significant projects in key regional areas that feature as part of that program.	I am advised: The Statewide Mental Health Infrastructure Program includes the Broken Hill Hospital Acute Mental Health Inpatient Unit Upgrade, the new Banksia Mental Health Unit at Tamworth Hospital, the new Maitland Mental Health facility, the new Nexus Child and Adolescent Mental Health Unit at John Hunter Hospital, and the new Nolan House Mental Health Unit which will be planned and delivered in conjunction with the $558 million Albury Wodonga Regional Hospital project. Statewide Mental Health Infrastructure Program also includes new statewide services with beds available to consumers from across NSW (for example, new Mother and Baby Units located at Westmead Hospital and Royal Prince Alfred Hospital). Costs are shared across all projects being delivered as part of the Statewide Mental Health Infrastructure Program.

Can you advise the Committee why you had, I think, the entire Labor branch there at the announcement with you, including the former Labor candidate? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Do you have a more specific provider in mind? The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: How long before the announcement did you tell those local social housing providers that you weren't going ahead with the project? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'll have to take it on notice. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Was it the morning of? The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Did you speak to any of the social housing providers up there about the announcement? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: As I said, I don't know who you are referring to. Which social housing providers? The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Did you talk to Mission Australia? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I've met with Mission Australia many times in relation to a range of matters. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: But my point is you can't remember when you had conversations — The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Did I personally call Mission Australia? The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Did you have conversations with providers there about the decision to cancel that project prior to the morning of the announcement? Did you speak to anyone at all locally, on the ground, in Coffs Harbour about that issue? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Absolutely. I have consistently engaged with representatives in the Coffs community in relation to those projects, and no, I did not call Mission Australia and let them know that I would not be proceeding with that redevelopment. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Did you speak to any social housing providers? You can take it on notice, if you don't remember? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I speak to social housing providers every single day of the week. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: But you just said you couldn't remember who may have alerted people locally about that announcement, so it's a bit unclear. I'm happy for you to come back on notice. The Hon. 32	you just mentioned dams. I'm assuming that you would know in terms of water security, particularly, the challenges in the Lachlan Valley. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I met with Lachlan Valley Water yesterday. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Why did you scrap the raising of the Wyangala Dam wall? What was the rationale behind that? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Because it was unfunded. It would never have received regulatory approval through the planning process. It would not have solved the flood-risk issues in those communities, and the water security benefits which it was allegedly to deliver were being delivered to a very small number of landowners and not to the significant needs of the major towns across the Central West. For the billions of dollars unfunded that could have been spent on that project if it ever received regulatory approval, which it never would have, there is so much more that we can do to meet critical human needs in our towns. If you had read the business case for that project, which I released, you could not — The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Not the unredacted one. Would you release the unredacted business case? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: The only reason we made redactions was because some of the information was Cabinet in confidence to the previous Government, which supposedly I can't access. I didn't realise that. So we had to redact that and then a number of sort of small commercial — as I said, we released absolutely everything we could. I wanted the information out there because the information that came through the Water Infrastructure NSW business case and the other assessments that were done through Infrastructure NSW were absolutely definitive that that project did not stack up and would never have been approved. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Minister, will you release the review by Infrastructure NSW that you've just mentioned? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I'm actually not in charge of deciding those matters. They're for the Treasurer. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Will you seek to see whether that could be — will you take that on notice? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Absolutely.	I am advised: The Infrastructure NSW Business Case Summary for the Wyangala Dam Wall Raising Project is available online at Business Case Summary (nsw.gov.au) at https://www.infrastructure.nsw.gov.au/media/uvml2vte/insw-business-case-summary-wyangala-dam-wall-raising-august-2023.pdf

33	Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: There's licensed conditions on all floodplain harvesting licences in the Barwon-Darling at the moment. This is from Mungindi to Louth. It includes a condition that allows extraction from two flood plains — from the Namoi and the Barwon-Darling — so if a property is within the Barwon-Darling flood plain and the lower Namoi flood plain, they can essentially take from both. Are you aware of that? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: You are really stretching the limit of my understanding of the operation of floodplain harvesting in specific valleys. Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: I just want to make sure that you are aware of it and get your thoughts on this. That is the case. There's only one property that is upstream of the confluence of the Namoi and Barwon that meets the criteria, which is Mercadool. That property is owned by Peter Harris. We know the history of Peter Harris. I want to make sure that you're aware of this condition that has allowed for that. Does it concern you to hear that? Do you think you should have a bit more of a look in terms of how that originated within the department — the decision-making process for that? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Absolutely, Ms Faehrmann. As I said, I take seriously specific examples of where decisions may have been made that are inconsistent with the principles of the Water Management Act and inconsistent with the obligations that we have to protect our water resources. I'm more than happy to take that on notice. It's obviously a specific property, a specific example, that I'm not across. But I am now. I'm happy to look at it.	I am advised: Floodplain boundaries are based primarily on flood extent, making the distinction between the adjoining floodplains in hydrologically connected river valleys arbitrary, that is, the floodplains are connected, not isolated from each other. As a result, some floodplain harvesting properties straddle two designated floodplains. It is appropriate that the floodplain harvesting take by properties that span floodplain boundaries be accounted for in the water source where the majority of take occurs, rather than attempting to arbitrarily split it between the two different floodplains. In this specific case, the relevant property holds licences associated with the Barwon-Darling unregulated river water source, but its physical location spans both the Barwon-Darling and Lower Namoi designated floodplains. The take of floodplain harvesting from this property is accounted for in the Barwon-Darling unregulated river water source. To give effect to this, the mandatory condition for all floodplain harvesting licences associated with the Barwon-Darling Unregulated River water source allows take of overland flow from properties that span the Barwon-Darling and Lower Namoi designated floodplains. Importantly, the trade rules prevent trade to a work that is not wholly or partially located in the Barwon-Darling Floodplain to ensure floodplain harvesting associated with the Barwon-Darling water source cannot be accessed by any work that is located entirely outside the Barwon-Darling floodplain. This same situation also arises in the Namoi valley where floodplain harvesting properties span both the Lower Namoi and the Gwydir floodplain. These properties are being treated consistently with the Barwon-Darling property in question.

34	Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: I agree with that. In terms of the modelling — you raised it; the peer reviews — are you 100 per cent confident in terms of the modelling undertaken by your department? As you said, it all comes down to the modelling. There were a lot of concerns raised about the modelling, again, in the floodplain harvesting inquiry. What have you undertaken, since becoming Minister, to give you 100 per cent confidence in the modelling that is undertaken? You mentioned peer reviews. Who is undertaking that? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I would say two things. Am I 100 per cent confident in the models? No. The models are imperfect. They are not intended, in my view, to give you 100 per cent certainty. That is not what — Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: As confident as you — The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: Am I 100 per cent confident that these models are the best effort that we can make to deliver quality planning? Yes, I am. Interrogated is perhaps an overstatement, but I have really clearly questioned the department about exactly these matters, Ms Faehrmann, because I — Ms CATE FAEHRMANN: Who's doing the peer reviews? Sorry to interrupt. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: I might take that on notice. I can't recall. I think it's more than one peer review, if I am correct. AMANDA JONES: We can provide that information. Depending on the catchment and depending on the model, there are different independent experts who do the peer review. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: It is true that there are, on occasion, more than one peer review that occurs for a model. Is that right? AMANDA JONES: Yes. The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: We will take on notice who is doing the peer reviews.	I am advised: The models used to support the licensing of floodplain harvesting have been peer reviewed by a number of experts including Drew Bewsher, Tony Weber, Greg Claydon, Chas Egan, and Nathan Heinrich of Fifteen50. The MDBA periodically commissions independent peer reviews of our models, such as the Fifteen50 review reports. The Fifteen50 reports also contain a summary of previous peer reviews of these models.

35	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: What about the Dee Why tent city? The Hon. ROSE JACKSON: My understanding, from the latest information – although I haven't checked in in the last few days – is that that encampment has been removed entirely and that there are no people there anymore. We ensured that when that action was taken by the council there were some of our service providers – Bridge Housing and others – as part of that. They were there onsite, to try and connect people in with services. I could take on notice exactly how many people took up those offers. It wasn't everyone, but we were there alongside council as that encampment was removed to ensure that people, if they were interested, had service support available to them.	I am advised: On 31 August 2023, the Northern Beaches Council attended the camp at Dee Why Dunes with Bridge Housing, Mission Australia, Community Northern Beaches and the NSW Police to provide assistance to the final two remaining people who were still residing there. The intention was to provide temporary housing for both individuals and remove the encampment entirely. The individuals were offered Temporary Accommodation but refused and the encampment remained in place. Outreach was undertaken again on 31 October 2023, and the following update has been provided by Bridge Housing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The encampment remains in place following outreach support offered by Mission Australia, Community Northern Beaches and Bridge Housing. • Temporary Accommodation was organised for the two individuals and Council advised this was declined by both. • Council's intention, again, was to deconstruct the encampment. However, the decision on the day was not to proceed and to leave one of the individuals onsite. • The other individual is believed to have now left the encampment to another area in Dee Why. This person was a former resident with St George Community Housing but relinquished their tenancy. • The two individuals have been provided with permanent housing offers that they have declined. Both individuals remain on Bridge Housing's case coordination list for discussion every fortnight where further potential property offers are discussed. • Due to safety concerns at the encampment, outreach work did not happen directly onsite. However, risk mitigation strategies are underway and more frequent outreach to this area is being reconvened.
36	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Just in relation to the street count, is it intended that there will continue to be two street counts a year conducted? ANNE CAMPBELL: I think I'd need to take that on notice. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That's fine. ANNE CAMPBELL: Certainly we tend to do them annually because of the resourcing. I know there was one in August. There were a few that we had in the past because of changes in weather and that sort of stuff, but we can take that on notice and talk to the Minister. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Yes, that's fine.	I am advised: DCJ conducts one annual street count per year in February. 37	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: It will be collaboration, okay. Just in relation to the Journey on Home app, which was announced last year, is that still operating and how is it tracking? JAMES TOOMEY: Yes, it is still operating. The Journey on Home app is used by homeless outreach support teams to engage with rough sleepers and then to engage them with other services and opportunities which are available to them for housing and other supports. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Is it 12 months that it has been operating? JAMES TOOMEY: I think that's right, yes. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Do you have any data from that at the moment, how many people have been entered and — JAMES TOOMEY: Not on hand. I can take that on notice specifically. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Is it possible to get it by region or by month, or how it's collated? JAMES TOOMEY: We can certainly get it by month, and we can see what we can get there. I'll have a look and see what can be broken down from that data, yes.	I am advised: The Journey on Home mobile application pilot commenced on 9 May 2022 in Western Sydney Nepean Blue Mountains District. State implementation was completed by 1 August 2022. Refer to Attachment 'Journey on Home Mobile app - Number of Engagements' for data in relation to engagement per month and by each Department of Communities and Justice District.

38	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: In relation to the mobile regional outreach project which was rolled out last year, I'm interested to know – because that was being trialled for about a 12-month period – if there is any update on how that project worked, where it went to? JAMES TOOMEY: The Assertive Outreach program is continuing for rough sleepers in New South Wales and last year there were 3,000 patrols with 4,900 engagements with rough sleepers, which learned that they led to the housing of 340 individuals off the back of those Assertive Outreach patrols, and they are continuing this year. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: And that's the mobile regional outreach project, the one that planned to visit Murrumbidgee, West and Far West areas? JAMES TOOMEY: There was a Tweed Assertive Outreach in Ballina. There are other Assertive Outreach activities which happen in Eurobodalla and in the Bega Valley as well. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: But I'm actually more interested in the actual mobile outreach project which was announced last year in Albury, run by the district, and it went into 40 townships looking at not only homelessness but also housing operations. JAMES TOOMEY: Right. Apologies; I misconstrued the question. Yes, there is an activity, which is a housing support activity, with teams that are going out into regional towns and meeting people on the ground in those towns. That continues, and continues to have success. I can take on notice the outcome of those activities, but they continue to have success in engaging people with housing outcomes. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Are you able to take on notice the towns that it went to during that period and, I suppose, the number of people engaged and the success rate of transitioning them into homes or into housing? JAMES TOOMEY: Yes, that's fine. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: You mentioned Tweed and Eurobodalla as doing outreach programs. Do you have a list of the LGAs where all outreach programs or outreach services are provided and patrols are actually undertaken? JAMES TOOMEY: I don't think I have an actual list of that, but I can provide it on notice as well, yes. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: If you can, list it by LGA and also the number of patrols that have occurred over a 12-month period. JAMES TOOMEY: Yes.	I am advised: Refer to attachment 'Outreach Assistance'. This attachment provides data in relation to the number of outreach patrols from July 2022 to June 2023 across local government areas covered by the Department of Communities and Justice Districts and the number of people engaged. Data has also been provided in relation to the towns visited through the Mobile Housing Outreach, the number of clients that attended this service and a breakdown of client housing outcomes.

39	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: I might actually move to questions in relation to mental health. How many safe havens are currently in operation? DEB WILLCOX: Twenty? BRENDAN FLYNN: Nineteen. DEB WILLCOX: Nineteen currently, yes. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Is that the original target or number that was set? DEB WILLCOX: Yes. We didn't have a target as such, but that's the original number. Is that right? BRENDAN FLYNN: It is. Yes. Look, thanks, Ms Willcox. The target for the number of safe havens, I guess, has varied with what's been able to be delivered with the funding provided. There are 19 currently open. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Yes. Have any opened since April this year? BRENDAN FLYNN: I would have to take that on notice to be definite, but I believe that one has recently opened at Gosford. I'm just not sure whether or not that was since April	I am advised: There are 20 Towards Zero Suicides Safe Havens operated by local health districts. Towards Zero Suicides Safe Haven Location LHD Broken Hill Far West Campbelltown South Western Sydney Darlinghurst St. Vincent's Hospital Network Dubbo Western NSW Gosford Central Coast Griffith Murrumbidgee Kogarah South Eastern Sydney Liverpool South Western Sydney Newcastle Hunter New England Newtown Sydney North Ryde Youth Safe Haven Northern Sydney Parkes Western NSW Penrith Nepean Blue Mountains Port Macquarie Mid North Coast Randwick Youth Safe Haven Sydney Children's Hospital Network Tamworth Hunter New England Tweed Heads Northern NSW Wagga Wagga Murrumbidgee Westmead Western Sydney Wollongong Illawarra Shoalhaven Since April 2023, 2 Towards Zero Suicides Safe Havens have opened – Liverpool Safe Haven (June 2023) and the North Ryde Youth Safe Haven (October 2023 with an official launch pending). To complement the Towards Zero Suicides Safe Havens, an additional 4 pop up Safe Havens are open on the Mid North Coast. 40	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: There has been some work and research done in relation to people presenting to specialist homelessness services and their interaction with the mental health system. I'm interested to find out if there's any work that's been done on the support or the cost effectiveness of the intervention from a mental health perspective, preventing people then seeking homeless support on multiple occasions. BRENDAN FLYNN: I'm happy to take that. DEB WILLCOX: Yes, definitely. BRENDAN FLYNN: I'm aware of mental health service initiatives with specialist homeless services, but they can differ in their local delivery. I'm aware of one on the North Coast that is specific and I don't know that that has specifically been evaluated. Apologies: I may need to go back to the question. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: No, no. BRENDAN FLYNN: But there are some other overlap areas that are primarily funded by mental health. An example of that would be project Embark, which is for people with an intellectual disability who are either sleeping rough or at risk of that. It's a promising program. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: How long has that been running? BRENDAN FLYNN: I don't know how long it's been running. I don't know, I'd have to take that on notice.	I am advised: Through the Housing and Mental Health Agreement 2022, NSW Health and the Department of Communities and Justice support people with severe mental illness to recover and live independently in the community, and to prevent homelessness. The Mental Health Homelessness In-Reach Service is a 2022 Mental Health Agreement partnership project. The Department of Communities and Justice has funded more than $1 million to expand homelessness assertive outreach teams to work directly with the Sydney, South Eastern Sydney, and Central Coast Local Health District mental health inpatient units. Together, specialist homelessness services and local health districts provide integrated assertive support for people in mental health facilities who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. People accessing specialist homelessness services can be referred to the Housing and Accommodation Support Initiative and Community Living Supports programs. These are statewide programs that help people with severe mental illness to live independently and participate in the community in the way they want to. They offer individualised community-based psychosocial support, tailored to each consumer. NSW Health funds Independent Community Living Australia to deliver Project Embark 2. This project supports people with psychosocial disability experiencing, or at risk of homelessness, to access the National Disability Insurance Scheme.
41	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Okay. The other is the mental health homelessness in-reach program. Is that currently still in operation? BRENDAN FLYNN: I'm aware of an example of an in-reach into a homeless service, and I'm sure that there is probably more than the one example that I'm aware of. In terms of a specific mental health funded or LHD or network delivered mental health service for homeless consumers, I'm not aware that we have — we have partnerships but we don't necessarily have standalone services. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Are you happy to take that on notice? BRENDAN FLYNN: Absolutely, yes. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: And, if you could, also identify where it's being provided and how it's being funded at the moment?	I am advised: The Mental Health Homelessness In-Reach Service is a 2022 Housing and Mental Health Agreement partnership project between the Department of Communities and Justice and NSW Health. The Department of Communities and Justice has funded more than $1 million to expand its existing homelessness assertive outreach provider contracts with Wesley Mission and Uniting. Additional specialist staff work directly with the Sydney, South Eastern Sydney, and Central Coast Local Health District mental health inpatient units. Together, the specialist homelessness services, and local health districts provide integrated assertive support for people in mental health facilities who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. NSW Health is funding an additional $231,000 (excl. GST) to evaluate this initiative.
42	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: The other question in relation to mental health is that in the budget they announced an additional 250 school counsellors to support students with mental health needs. Do you know where these are being allocated? BRENDAN FLYNN: No, I don't. I will have to take that on notice.	I am advised: The Department of Education is oversee the recruitment and placement of school counsellors.

43	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Do you have the figure for unaccompanied children 12 to 15? ANNE CAMPBELL: I think it's about 2,300. It's gone down a little bit, but it's still a bit too high. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Do you have that breakdown by region or LGA? ANNE CAMPBELL: I can get that for you. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That's fine. In relation to Aboriginal specialist homelessness services in particular, what work is being done to support ACCOs? Is there any funding in the current budget to support them or grow them? MICHAEL TIDBALL: Yes. There is $12 million, I believe, committed over three years from 2023 to 2026. Through the Aboriginal homelessness sector growth project, the delivery of new homelessness services is designed and delivered by six ACCOs. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Okay. Do you have the names of those ACCOs? MICHAEL TIDBALL: We can provide those on notice. ANNE CAMPBELL: We can take that on notice. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Yes.	I am advised: In 2021-22, Specialist Homelessness Services (SHS) in NSW assisted 2,379 children aged 12-15 years presenting alone. For LGA breakdown by location of SHS agency, refer to attachment 'Specialist Homelessness Services Data 2021-22'. The names of the six new ACCO SHS commissioned under the Aboriginal Homelessness Services Growth Project are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - NSWALC Housing Ltd (trading as Birribee Housing) - Katungul Aboriginal Corporation Regional Health and Community Services - Murra Mia Aboriginal Corporation - Armajun Aboriginal Health Service is the lead contractor with a Joint Working Arrangement (JWA) with Pius X Aboriginal Corporation Moree and Tamworth Aboriginal Medical Service.
44	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: In relation to a question on notice I asked the Minister in relation to how data is collected, I was advised that the department doesn't keep or track SHS numbers based on region or local government area. Is that correct? ANNE CAMPBELL: We tend to — and I'm happy to take this on notice so it's an accurate answer — collect it by LGA and often the questions are about a specific suburb or whatnot, but I'm happy to take that on notice and provide a response. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Yes. The question was breakdown by each LGA and how many SHS providers are there and how many people have been supported. ANNE CAMPBELL: Yes, and I think where the tricky bit is, sometimes a particular service provider goes across a number of LGAs. That makes it difficult to disaggregate. I think that could be the issue and that's not uncommon for an SHS provider to go across a number of LGAs, yes.	I am advised: The Specialist Homelessness Services Collection (SHSC) data cubes published by the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare (AIHW) provides data on SHS client numbers by the LGA of location that the client resided in the week before their first support period in the financial year. Data is available for the period 2014-15 to 2021-22. This information is available at: https://www.aihw.gov.au/reports/homelessness-services/shsc-data-cubes/contents/data-cubes
45	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: I'm going to turn now to the Land and Housing Corporation. What is the number of new social housing dwellings projected to be constructed over forward estimates? We heard 750 for this financial year and 1,000 next financial year. Have you got numbers for the outgoing years? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: That's correct. We continually work on our pipeline beyond that, but we do also deliver social housing through partnerships. We currently have a series of projects that are delivered under partnerships beyond — and they can extend up to 10 years. We have a pipeline of about 5,639 of social housing through those partnerships. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: So that's 5,639 through those partnerships. Do you have a yearly breakdown of those? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I can take that one on notice.	I am advised: LAHC 10 year pipeline <ul style="list-style-type: none"> FY2024 - 750 FY2025 - 993 FY2026 - 877 FY2027 - 545 FY2028 - 519 FY2029 - 539 FY2030 - 314 FY2031 - 358 FY2032 - 455 FY2033 - 558

46	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: With respect to the increasing cost of building materials – you'd acknowledge that has been a key driver in recent years – what do you envisage the escalation costs will be in terms of construction over the forward estimates? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I'll take that question on notice.	I am advised: The Quantity Surveying team within Land and Housing Corporation has currently adopted a figure of 6 percent per annum for escalation for use on construction estimates. As escalation and inflation are both variable and quite volatile, this figure is updated regularly to reflect trends presented by various sources, including current construction tenders, ABS, various Construction Cost Guides and Publications, the Australian Institute of Quantity Surveyors, etc.
47	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: This is for both you and for the Aboriginal Housing Office. There has been an announcement in terms of the self-assessment that both the Land and Housing Corporation and Aboriginal Housing Office will now have. Have you taken on any planners in order to conduct this self-assessment? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: We already have significant resources in-house. We already have self-assessment powers, and our workload and our pipeline has those resources to do those self-assessments. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Do you believe you're adequately staffed, in terms of planners, to be able to do those self-assessments? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: At the moment, yes. And as we develop new strategies and new funding strategies in the forward years, we will look at the resources needed to deal with that future pipeline. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: With respect to the Aboriginal Housing Office, is that the same situation, or is there a need for planners in order to be able to do those self-assessments? FAMEY WILLIAMS: At this point in time, I'll have to take that on notice.	I am advised: This was responded to in the hearing. P.65 - Famey Williams answers: I have one response in relation to the honourable member Mr Farlow around the self assessment. We currently have 10 part 5 self assessments underway, and we use external planners.
48	The CHAIR: I'm interested in discussing the Mental Health Acute Assessment Team program in further detail. I did ask a couple of questions about it this morning. I understand that when that program was initiated it functioned with an extended care paramedic who had an extended set of clinical skills to be able to provide treatment outside of hospital, and that was then downgraded to a regular paramedic. Why was that decision made? BRENDAN FLYNN: I'm going to take that on notice. Can I just clarify, Ms Cohn, if you're mentioning the particular team in Western Sydney? The CHAIR: Yes. I understand that trial, at the moment, is in Western Sydney. BRENDAN FLYNN: Yes. I might take that on notice. The CHAIR: While you're taking that on notice, I'm also interested in who was consulted as a part of that decision. BRENDAN FLYNN: We can put that as part of the answer, yes	I am advised: A Mental Health Acute Assessment Team Proof of Concept evaluation identified that less than 1% of patients attended during the proof-of-concept period had conditions that specifically required an Extended Care Paramedic intervention. NSW Ambulance paramedics are registered health care professionals through the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency. They are highly trained and equipped to assess patients and deliver a broad range of interventions and high-quality out of hospital care. All paramedics, regardless of skill set, form part of the integrated clinical services model of NSW Health. Extended Care Paramedics and qualified paramedics receive the same mental health training and can use the mental health clinical nurse consultant for their expertise as needed

49	The CHAIR: Thank you. On a different topic within mental health, with reference to 15 and 16 of the budget measures statements, I'm interested in the planned expenditure to ensure aftercare is available to people who have survived suicide attempts and how this compares to spending in the previous year. BRENDAN FLYNN: Aftercare is a core part of the bilateral funding. I'd have to look up the exact amount – perhaps now or in a moment – but the key activity for NSW Health this year is to expand aftercare to make it genuinely universal across the State, which is one of the abilities that the agreement and the schedule that sits under it, as I understood it, do. In the last financial year our priority has been to extend the services in New South Wales that already had aftercare, and now the priority is to work with PHNs, districts and networks to get the extra services onboard. The CHAIR: You mentioned the agreement. Are you talking about the co-funding with the Federal Government? BRENDAN FLYNN: That's right – the bilateral, yes. DEB WILLCOX: Ms Cohn, I was going to add, that allows us to extend from the existing nine sites up to 35, and the four-year funding from 2022 to 2026 is $60.65 million under the bilateral agreement. The CHAIR: With that agreement, can you detail how the $60.7 million from the previous financial year has been expended, to date? BRENDAN FLYNN: I can say that we have extended our contract with the existing providers to make sure that that's the first thing we've done, but extra expenditure since then I'd have to take on notice. It may not have happened yet because we're in the process of working with our partners to get the right providers on board to extend it across the State. The CHAIR: I'm happy for you to take that on notice so that the detail is correct. In doing that, I'm particularly interested in how that expenditure is broken up by region or by local health district as well, if that's alright. BRENDAN FLYNN: Yes.	I am advised: The NSW Government has committed total funding of $60.65 million over 5 years to 2026-27 for the transition to universal aftercare in NSW. This forms part of a joint NSW and Australian Government universal aftercare total funding contribution of $121.3 million over 5 years to 2026-27. In 2022-23, the NSW Government committed $3.27 million to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Extend the current 9 primary health network commissioned The Way Back NSW aftercare services • Provide additional funding to ACON's statewide LGBTQ+ Crisis Support and Aftercare Service to expand service capacity. In 2023-24, NSW has allocated $13.8 million in funding to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Establish 19 new The Way Back NSW aftercare services across NSW. • Extend the Youth Aftercare Pilot across 4 sites in NSW. • Continue providing additional funding to statewide ACON's LGBTQ+ Crisis Support and Aftercare Service to ensure enhanced service capacity. • Establish Aftercare Coordinator positions in each local health district and speciality health network to enhance service integration and referral pathways. • Establish an Older People's Aftercare Referral Pathway Trial in 2 local health districts to ensure older people can access dedicated aftercare supports. • Continue funding of NDIS Mental Health Officers in each local health district and speciality health network to support people with psychosocial disability to access aftercare services. • Establish a statewide model of service delivery for universal aftercare in NSW. Primary funding for universal aftercare services is provided to primary health networks that co-lead the commissioning of aftercare services with local health districts. 50	The CHAIR: I will ask those questions to planning. Over the last financial year, how many properties belonging to the Land and Housing Corporation were sold to a private owner? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: We'll take that question on notice, if that's alright. The CHAIR: Sure. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I might be able to get back to you before the end of the session. The CHAIR: Thank you. While you're looking, on notice, can I add some extra detail to that question as well? I'm interested in how many were sold to a private owner and how many were transferred to registered community housing providers as well. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Okay.	I am advised: In 2022-23 the Land and Housing Corporation sold 258 residential dwellings of which 173 were sold to private owners, 32 to private Pty Ltd entities, 2 to Trusts, 10 to Community Housing Providers, and 41 to Government entities.
51	The CHAIR: In the last financial year, how much money did LAHC spend on legal representation responding to cases brought against it by tenants in NCAT? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: We'll definitely have to take that one on notice. The CHAIR: That's alright. I understand, with the quantitative questions, you're trying to give us an accurate answer. On that question as well, I'm interested to understand how that quantum of expenditure compares with the expenditure on the same line item in the previous financial year. I'd also like to understand if you engage private solicitors for that purpose or if there are in-house resources. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: As far as I'm aware, generally, they're dealt with by in-house resources, but we'll take the details on notice.	I am advised: In 2022/23, Land and Housing Corporation did not expend funds on private solicitors as there are in-house resources to respond to cases brought against it by tenants in NCAT.
52	The CHAIR: I'm also interested in understanding how many cases brought by tenants are currently active in NCAT, and how many of those relate to maintenance issues. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Again, I'll have to take that one on notice.	I am advised: There are currently 86 tenant initiated active NCAT matters that are maintenance related.
53	The CHAIR: With the current staffing levels for Housing, how many tenants are there per client service officer? JAMES TOOMEY: I will take that on notice, but in broad terms it's around about 300. The CHAIR: I'm interested in understanding the trend with that over time. Are you able to tell us if that's increasing? Is it decreasing? How does it compare to, say, five years ago? JAMES TOOMEY: I'll take that on notice in terms of the trend over time. The CHAIR: Sure. How many vacancies have you currently got for those positions? JAMES TOOMEY: I definitely have to take that on notice. The CHAIR: While you're taking that on notice, how many of those staff are permanent as opposed to contractors? JAMES TOOMEY: I'll provide that information as well.	I am advised: The average number of public housing and Aboriginal Housing Office tenancies per Client Service Officer (CSO) in 2022/23 is 239 compared to 253 in 2018/19. The 5.3% drop is primarily the result of 5.3% drop in tenancies from 101,108 as at 30 June 2019 to 95,728 as at 30 June 2023. CSO positions only decreased by 0.9% The figure of 300 provided in the Budget Estimates hearing refers to the number of CSOs responsible for one aspect of tenancy management which is client service visits. The total number of CSO staff engaged in tenancy management as at 30 June 2023 was 401.4 FTE. Not all tenancy management staff carry out client service visits and not all tenancies will require a visit in a financial year 94.0% of CSO staff in the Department of Communities and Justice Districts were in ongoing roles as at end June 2023. Of those positions, 6.5% were not filled. Note that this relates to staff involved in tenancy management and access and demand functions. There is a total of 4 contractors employed in CSO roles of which 2 contractors are currently employed in Districts and 2 in the Housing Contact Centre.

54	The CHAIR: For those who are currently on the social housing waitlist, how much was spent in the past financial year on providing either temporary accommodation or private rental subsidies? JAMES TOOMEY: I would need to take that on notice as well. The CHAIR: I've got plenty more numerical questions so I'm just going to get them all on the record now and then you have all afternoon to look them up for me, please.	I am advised: For applicants live on the NSW Housing Register as at 31 October 2023, the total expenditure on temporary accommodation and private rental assistance products during 2022/23 is estimated at $41,125 million. Out of the 57,902 applicant households currently on the NSW Housing Register: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 7,598 were assisted with temporary accommodation during 2022/23. Expenditure on providing temporary accommodation for applicants currently on the waiting list is estimated at $16,464 million (average temporary accommodation expenditure in 2022/23 per household was $2,167) • 2,028 households were assisted with Rentstart (Advance Rent or Rent Arrears). Expenditure is estimated at $1,573 million (average Rentstart expenditure in 2022/23 per household was $776) • 1,756 households were assisted with Rent Choice products during 2022/23. Expenditure is estimated at $11,698 million (average Rent Choice expenditure in 2022/23 was $6,662 per household) 897 households were assisted with Private Rental Subsidy (PRS). Expenditure is estimated at $11,390 million (average PRS expenditure per household in 2022/23 was $12,698).
55	The CHAIR: At the end of September 2023, as I understand there were 57,411 households on the social housing waiting list. JAMES TOOMEY: That's correct. The CHAIR: Of those, how many have been on that waiting list for more than 10 years? JAMES TOOMEY: We can provide that; we'll take that on notice. The CHAIR: I'm interested in how many have been on the waiting list for more than 10 years, more than five years, more than two years or more than a year and how many of those require properties with one bedroom, two bedrooms, three bedrooms or more than three bedrooms. I certainly wouldn't expect you to know that one off the top of your head. JAMES TOOMEY: Thank you. The CHAIR: I also understand as at 31 August 2023 there were 3,416 LAHC-owned public housing dwellings vacant in New South Wales. How does that compare with the number of vacant dwellings at the same time last year? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Vacancies vary over time. We have up to between 8,000 and 10,000 people moving in and out of the houses annually and the number does change, and the number changes at any time and it depends on the normal process of tenants leaving or moving to other accommodation. The vast bulk of vacancies at any one time are that regular process of a tenant leaving and moving to another accommodation. So the number does go up and down but it hovers around that over a period of time.	I am advised: Refer to attachment 'Waitlist'. This attachment provides a breakdown of the 57,411 households at 30 September 2023 by the number of bedrooms required and length of time the household has waited.

56	The CHAIR: That's helpful to understand. Are you able to tell me how many of those have been vacant for more than six months? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: We will take that question on notice. The CHAIR: I understand some of the vacant properties are either habitable or not habitable. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Yes. The CHAIR: How many of the non-habitable properties have been vacant for more than six months and how many habitable properties have been vacant for more than six months? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Yes, okay.	I am advised: The number of vacant properties as at 31/8/2022 is 3113. The number of vacant properties greater than 6 months is 1179 based on the analysis previously completed for 31/10/2023, including those being held for redevelopment All properties at the time were considered uninhabitable.
57	The CHAIR: Has there been any costing done for how much it would cost to house all approved applicants on the social housing list, whether that's through the construction of new properties, acquisition of existing properties or headleasing? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Not that I'm aware of. The CHAIR: It hasn't been costed? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: The total waitlist? The 57,000 people? The CHAIR: Yes. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: No. We'll take that on notice but I'm not aware that it has been done because to understand each of those applicant's needs in terms of bedrooms – so we'll take that one on notice and confirm.	I am advised: The Land and Housing Corporation has undertaken no costing on housing the total number of households on the waiting list.
58	The CHAIR: I'm just interested. We had that commitment from the Minister this morning about what the aim is for Housing in the State and I would imagine that trying to understand how much it would actually cost to house everyone on the waitlist would be part of that work. What is the land valuation for the Waterloo public housing estate? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I will take that one on notice. The CHAIR: There's two more of these. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Yes. The CHAIR: I'm also looking for Waterloo South and Explorer Street. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Yes.	I am advised: Land values for proposed or potential redevelopments are Cabinet in Confidence.
59	The CHAIR: This year, as I understand it, DCJ has spent about $47.9 million headleasing properties on the private market for approved applicants on the social housing waitlist. How does that figure compare with the amount spent on headleasing in the previous financial year? JAMES TOOMEY: I can provide that on notice. The CHAIR: Sorry, I feel like I'm creating a lot of homework for you. How much money is budgeted for headleasing in the upcoming financial year? JAMES TOOMEY: Again, I would have to take that on notice as well.	I am advised: The amount the Department of Communities and Justice has spent (expenditure) for headleasing in 2022/23 was $42,598,658. The 2023/24 budget for headleasing is $46,294,880.
60	The CHAIR: In November 2022 it was reported that DCJ are headleasing units in the private development at the site of the former Rachel Forster Hospital in Redfern, which I understand was sold off under the lemma Labor Government in 2007. Can you confirm, firstly, whether that's the case? Is my understanding correct? JAMES TOOMEY: We do have a headlease in there. I would have to ask whether we're thinking about the same building. I'm not sure what was there before, apologies.	I am advised: Any former decisions regarding the Rachel Forster Hospital site fall within the portfolio responsibilities of the Minister for Planning.

61	The CHAIR: While you're looking that one up on notice, can you advise us what the current expenditure is for headleasing properties at that particular site and how many apartments that is, and for what duration, please? JAMES TOOMEY: Okay.	I am advised: The annual rental cost of the leases taken out by the Department of Communities and Justice at the site in Redfern is $6.5 million. This cost covers 110 leases.
62	The CHAIR: How much money is budgeted in the upcoming financial year for air conditioners or solar photovoltaics? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: In this current financial year? The CHAIR: Yes, please. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: If you just give me a moment, I'll get you that number. The CHAIR: It's one that you don't then have to take on notice. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I might have to take that one on notice. Next financial year is $10 million, but this year, I think, I just need to check that.	I am advised: Land and Housing Corporation (LAHC) will be contributing $30.2 million over the next three financial years to partner with the Commonwealth Government to undertake further energy efficiency upgrades to social housing dwellings. In 2024/25, $10 million has been budgeted for 8,800 properties. In 2023/24, LAHC's co-contribution is $400,000 ($800,000 total program) for a solar sharing pilot project at 6 complexes comprising 80 properties in Western Sydney, as well as installing solar systems at 13 properties, 6 roof replacements to accomodate solar systems, and a heat pump pilot project at 50 properties.
63	The CHAIR: I have some questions for Ms Robinson. I understand that your office has recently done some work with young people looking at their attitudes to vaping. ZOË ROBINSON: Yes. The CHAIR: And I'm interested in what recommendations for government have come out of that work? ZOË ROBINSON: Yes, we have just released a report on young people's perspective on vaping. The qualitative includes 231 children and young people who participated in this as well as quantitative work around it as well. Some of the recommendations that they talk about is support around cessation, so an app to assist them, but they also talk about there being access to further education in schools. They also talk about peer-to-peer support, so being peer led in that response as well. I suppose probably one of the recommendations that people have read with great interest is that they have suggested that smoke detectors are not an appropriate investment in terms of trying to solve the problem of vaping. They also talked about the cost of them and that they are quite accessible, but then they also made an overarching statement that perhaps there should be more work done by adults to stop children and young people getting access to them so easily. The CHAIR: What was the consultation process you went through in developing those recommendations from young people? ZOË ROBINSON: Obviously this is a particularly difficult kind of report to do because you do actually require young people to acknowledge that they may be vaping or have vaped. And so, firstly, we had to create a space where children and young people felt like they could come forward and do so in a way that didn't have judgment necessarily. So we do have a reflection in there that talks about children and young people who didn't vape and could talk about why they wouldn't vape, children and young people who may have vaped, and children and young people who were talking about their peers and what they've seen amongst their peers. We also made sure that we covered off both metro and regional areas as well, as we do in all of our work, and I can come back to you with the exact schools. That is not top of mind to me in terms of that breakdown.	I am advised: The Young People's Perspectives on Vaping in 2023 report details the finding of 25 focus groups conducted in May and June 2023. Of the consultations that took place in schools, four were in regional NSW and five in the Greater Sydney region. For further details on how the consultations led to the recommendations, see attachment 'Vaping recommendations research'.

64	The CHAIR: In that answer I think you mentioned presenting it at the Premier's round table. ZOË ROBINSON: The Deputy Premier's round table on vaping. Yes. The CHAIR: When is that happening? ZOË ROBINSON: On 16 November. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Can I just follow on while I've got you, just in relation to those vaping reports. Have you met with any of the Ministers about the report? ZOË ROBINSON: We haven't met with the Ministers since the publication of the report, but all Ministers have it. But I would suggest I'll take it on notice that we have sent it to everyone, but we haven't met with Ministers since then.	I am advised: All Members of Parliament were sent the Young People's Perspectives on Vaping in 2023 report on 19 October 2023. Minister Carr, Minister Jackson, Minister Washington and Minister Park received an early copy on 13 October 2023.
65	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Has either the Minister for Youth or any other Minister come back to you about those recommendations and a time line of when they intend to respond to them? ZOË ROBINSON: I'll take it on notice. I haven't received any specific update from my team.	The Minister for Youth has not responded formerly to the recommendations, however the Advocate for Children and Young People and the Minister's staff continue to work together around a number of matters impacting young people.
66	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Turning to a few more questions with respect to some of the existing projects, how many new and replacement dwellings have been completed by LAHC between January 2022 and present? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Just give me a moment. I can confirm those figures. I might have to take that one on notice. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: That's fine. When you take it on notice, if you could also — MICHAEL WHEATLEY: In 2021-22, we completed 516. In 2022-23, we completed 663 social housing. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: How many were replacement dwellings in each of those years? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: When you say "replacement dwellings", can you — The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Where, for instance, a site might not have been suitable for use any more but you constructed a new property on the same site, replacing like for like, effectively. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I'll take that one on notice.	I am advised: Replacement dwellings 2021-22 83 2022-23 113
67	MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Yes. Modular is quite important and an effective solution for regional areas. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: When do you think that the first people will be moving into these modular homes? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I'll have to take that one on notice.	I am advised: The first homes will be completed in 2024-25.

68	Ms SUE HIGGINSON: I've got some water questions. I did ask the Minister earlier about the Dunoon Dam. I know that she said it's a Rous project and I understand that. I want to know, though, is the department cognisant of where that's up to in terms of Rous? AMANDA JONES: I understand it's a project that the local water utility is investigating. We'll continue to work with Rous to look at how that project might fit into the overall regional scheme in terms of water security. Ms SUE HIGGINSON: Are you aware of what stage that project is up to? AMANDA JONES: I'm not specifically aware of where Rous is up to with that work. We can report back to you on that. Ms SUE HIGGINSON: Thank you. Obviously it would have to be a State-injected, funded project and I'm interested to know whether you've looked at what that would cost or if we've got to that point at all, or we've got that on radar? AMANDA JONES: I'm not aware that we've undertaken any costings on the project, but I can confirm that for you. Ms SUE HIGGINSON: Thank you. It's such a controversial project. It's been on the books since a long, long time ago and it was taken off the books for a long, long time because it wasn't a viable project, and then it popped up. I'm curious. I think it was in a previous regional water strategy of some sort produced by WaterNSW — AMANDA JONES: I understand it is in the mix, in the regional water strategy for that catchment, and so are a number of competing ideas or complementary ideas. Whether that dam is the most viable option or whether other interconnecting pipelines or reuse or other projects are more viable is something to be proven up. Ms SUE HIGGINSON: Just on that, what is the department's view? What's the primary option for increasing water security on the North Coast? AMANDA JONES: I think that we're still doing the analysis and working with Rous to prioritise which it is. It might not be one option. It might be that there are a number of opportunities, including water efficiency, that could be complementary to deliver the best outcome for water security. Ms SUE HIGGINSON: Has small-scale desalination been considered as part of a security option? AMANDA JONES: I have to take that on notice.	I am advised: The NSW Government is investing $2 million to explore the feasibility of a range of infrastructure options that could increase water supply for Ballina, Byron, Lismore, Richmond Valley and Casino, including de-salination. The Far North Coast Regional Water Strategy will support local water utilities to explore local and regional solutions for water security and reliability.

Q #	Question	Answer
69	Ms SUE HIGGINSON: How, then, is the department of water doing that? Where does that happen in the instruments of the machinery of government? What is happening? AMANDA JONES: For major developments, like the mining developments that we were asked about this morning by Cate Faehrmann – Ms SUE HIGGINSON: Sorry, I understand that. I don't mean in terms of where do you feed in to harmful projects to make them less harmful. Do we have anything in the water agency that is actually working on recovering, say, the Richmond River? Could you point to anyone and say, "Hey, this person here has a project and it is how to recover or revive the Richmond River"? AMANDA JONES: Yes, so in the State Water Strategy that you referred to this morning there was a key action which was about this question of bringing land use management and water management more closely together. We are about to release some work that we've been undertaking on a road map to improve that – those policy areas becoming better aligned – so happy to provide that to you as soon as we finalise that work.	I am advised: The Department of Planning & Environment – Water Group is currently undertaking a project under Action 4.4 of the NSW Water Strategy called 'Better Integrating Land Use Planning and Water Management'. This project is ongoing with key improvements planned for implementation in June 2024. Water quality, water availability and catchment-scale planning are key focuses of the project. The project seeks to ensure that policy, legislation, regulation and advisory functions pertaining to development impacting water catchments are fit for purpose. With respect to the Richmond River, action 1.1 of the Marine Estate Management Strategy is to improve water quality and trial projects in specific catchments. One of the projects under action 1.1 is to develop and trial a governance framework for the Richmond River catchment to improve waterway health. This work is being led by Environment and Heritage Group. The Department of Planning & Environment – Water Group is also examining the roles and responsibilities for water quality management and monitoring across NSW. This project aims to improve water quality governance arrangements across NSW.
70	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: I've got just a couple of questions. In relation to temporary accommodation, how many people were assisted in the last financial year? MICHAEL TIDBALL: Some 26,149 households were assisted with temporary accommodation in 2022-23. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Thank you very much. Is that collected by local government area or by region? JAMES TOOMEY: It can be provided. MICHAEL TIDBALL: We can take that on notice. We're happy to provide it.	I am advised: Refer to attachment '2022-23 TA breakdown by Districts', which provides a breakdown of the 26,149 households assisted with temporary accommodation by the 16 Department of Communities and Justice Districts during 2022/23.
71	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: And if I could get a breakdown of the number of households supported by each, whether it's the LGA or by region – whichever way the data is collected. Just in relation to SHS and accreditation, are the SHSs on track for their accreditation? I think it's all due by next year. Is that correct? ANNE CAMPBELL: That's correct, Minister Maclaren-Jones – The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: "Tash". ANNE CAMPBELL: Ms Maclaren-Jones, certainly we're looking at that at the moment. As you may know, the Minister has extended the contracts for SHS providers for two years. At the moment probably – and I'll double-check this – about 60-70 per cent are on track and we're just looking at the other providers.	I am advised: As at October 2023, 89% of providers have either achieved or are in the process of completing the accreditation process. Remaining providers have advised the Department of Communities and Justice that they will finalise accreditation assessments before 30 June 2024.

72	The Hon. SUSAN CARTER: I just have a couple of questions for Ms Robinson. I'm interested in the Youth Advisory Council. I can see on the website how to apply. I can't see who the members are. Could you tell me how many members, the gender balance and some information about the council members? ZOË ROBINSON: Absolutely, and your timing is impeccable, because it's just been announced – this year's Youth Advisory Council. Every year there are 12 members of the Youth Advisory Council, and it reflects the diversity of the State, as much as we can. I do have the actual information here, so bear with me whilst I go through a folder. I should say that this year it is chaired by a young Aboriginal man from Walgett, but I will find that information and come back to you in terms of demographics, regional and metrics. The Hon. SUSAN CARTER: If you could take that on notice, that's great.	I am advised: On 16 November 2023, a joint media release with the Advocate for Children and Young People was issued publicly announcing the 12 young leaders for the Youth Advisory Council (YAC). For the demographics of the YAC members see attachment 'YAC Demographics'.
73	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Ms Robinson, you mentioned the tracking data. When is the next set of data to be released? ZOË ROBINSON: That will be released in early 2024. The aim of the office, and I can come back to you with the exact date, is February 2024.	I am advised: The 2023 Tracking Report for the NSW Strategic Plan for Children and Young People 2022-2024 will be released in February 2024.

74	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: We will follow that up with the Minister in due course perhaps. I wanted to ask now – and it kind of probably goes to Sydney and Hunter and Water NSW – a broad question in terms of customers getting financial support for financial hardship, so bill support effectively. My understanding is that all three agencies have some sort of support for that when you're the billing agency. I'm just after data in terms of (a) what is available and (b) – and you can take it on notice – how many might have been applying for any of those hardship provisions and how that compares to, say, the same time last year. They're broad questions, I know, but I'm happy for any or all of you to provide any insights in that space. DARREN CLEARY: I can start, if you'd like, with respect to Hunter Water. There is a pension rebate that is provided, and that is supported by the Government. It's a community service obligation that is provided back to Hunter Water. It is $380 per eligible property. That is for people who are receiving a Commonwealth benefit. The total cost of the rebate last year was $20 million, and it's roughly 46,000 households in our area that receive that rebate. Beyond the pension rebate, we have a range of support measures that we extend to customers who are potentially under financial hardship, payment extensions as well as a payment assistance scheme. This year, with the support of the Government, we have extended that payment assistance scheme not only to residential customers but also small business, recognising the current cost-of-living challenge. We have seen an increase in people seeking access to the payment assistance scheme and payment extensions. I'd have to take on notice the exact numbers. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: If you could take on notice the detail, that's fine. We're just interested in that. DARREN CLEARY: Absolutely. ROCH CHEROUX: It's a very similar situation for Sydney Water. We've got a number of schemes supporting our customers when they cannot pay their bill. It includes all sorts of payment plans and rebates as well. We also have seen an increase, which is about 20 per cent compared to the same time last year, but I'll get back with the precise number. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: That would be great.	I am advised: Sydney Water customers are able to contact Sydney Water for assistance if they have difficulty paying their bill. Different levels of support are available based on individual circumstances. Bill Assist Program: A customer is assigned a dedicated case coordinator to help manage their account until the balance is paid off. Every quarter, the case coordinator reaches out to the customer to review their circumstances and adjust their payment arrangement as necessary (2021-22 6,131 properties, 2022-23 5,543 properties, 2023-24 (up to 30 September 2023) 1,149 properties. Payment Assistance Scheme credits Program: Bill credits (PAS) for eligible customers having difficulty paying their water bill. (2021-22 $1,107,345.66 assisting 3,256 properties, 2022-23 $1,045,597.76 assisting 2,644 properties, 2023-34 (up to 30 September 2023) $355,058.35 assisting 825 properties. Pensioner Rebate Program: Customers who own and occupy their property and that receive a valid pension from Services Australia or the Department of Veterans' Affairs are entitled to a concession on their service charges. Currently, eligible customers receive a rebate of 100% of the water service charge, 86% of the wastewater service charge and 50% of their stormwater service charge, if applicable. Sydney Water receives funding from NSW Treasury under Community Service Obligations to fund these concessions. (2021-22 On average 216,466 pensioners received a concession during 2021-22 for charges amounting to $111,026,541.00, 2022-23 On average 212,231 pensioners received a concession during 2022-23 for charges amounting to $115,654,104.50, 2023-34 (up to 30 September 2023) On average 210,805 pensioners received a concession during the period for charges amounting to $31,386,078.76. Payments Extensions Program: Full amount of a current bill is deferred to a later date before the next bill issues. Sydney Water offer payment extensions online through My Account, through a teleprompter service and through its general enquiries phone and email channels. Payment extensions are available to all account holders or authorised contacts. (2021-22 10,999 payment extensions, 2022-23 9,544 payment extensions, 2023-34 (up to 30 September 2023) 2,486 payment extensions. Payment Plans Program: Current debt and future bills are calculated to be a set amount on a set frequency for between 6 and 24 months or extended to 36 or 48 months. (2021-22 32,712, 2022-23 40,621, 2023-34 (up to 30 September 2023) 11,732. Plumb Assist Program: Sydney Water's PlumbAssist service provides for emergency and essential plumbing repairs in a customer's home for free if they are experiencing financial difficulty. e.g. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - repair or replace leaking or broken toilets, taps, showerheads and pipes. - find and repair hidden leaks. (2021-22 $241,948.66 supporting 325 customers, 2022-23 $313,572.60 supporting 391 customers, 2023-34 (up to 30 September 2023) $96,427 supporting 87 customers. Deductions from Centrelink payments: Centrepay is a voluntary bill-paying service which is free for Centrelink customers. Customers can use Centrepay to arrange regular deductions from their Centrelink payment. (2021-22 55,548 Centrelink payments, 2022-23 54,620 Centrelink payments, 2023-34 (up to 30 September 2023) 13,137 Centrelink payments.

Q #	Question	Answer
75	The CHAIR: I'm going to give myself one last follow-up. Specifically, the question not necessarily of patients who have experienced trauma, but the proportion of patients in community mental health services who have that ongoing, enduring relationship with one clinician. BRENDAN FLYNN: Sorry, the data around that? The CHAIR: Yes. BRENDAN FLYNN: Off the top of my head, I don't have that data. I would be cautious about putting that on notice because I'm not sure that I can easily access that but I could certainly promise to come back with some thoughts around how we may best answer that question. To answer that question properly would involve an in-depth look. We have approximately 150,000 consumers of our community mental health teams in New South Wales and I just don't know how we could check for all of them around long-term continuity of clinical care. That's not to say that we shouldn't do it, but it just strikes me as something I want to pretend I can get back to you this afternoon	I am advised: Data is not available to identify the proportion of mental health consumers receiving community mental health care through an ongoing relationship with one clinician. Notwithstanding this, it should be noted that a large proportion of consumers will only require short-term, rather than ongoing, contact with a community mental health team. If data was available, it would be necessary to determine a measure of ongoing and enduring relationship to provide this information. For consumers who receive a level of ongoing care, it may be appropriate for them to receive that care from more than one team or person to ensure a service is being responsive to their needs. For example, it may be important for them to have contact with an after-hours or crisis team.
76	The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: I'm assuming the councils are making some sort contribution and Sydney Water is as well? ROCH CHEROUX: Correct. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Sorry, I didn't word that very well, but that's what I'm after. ROCH CHEROUX: In these sort of smart irrigation schemes we are actually supporting the council, but the council will do the investment. The principle that is we are supporting the council to install soil moisture probes. They would be based on the weather data that is available. Based on this information, then we've got an algorithm that tells them it's better to water the parks and the gardens at that time of the day for this sort of time. We are basically supplying the software to support the councils to do smart irrigation. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: And that's because the councils are trying to have a water reduction between 10 and 20 per cent, is my understanding. ROCH CHEROUX: Correct. The objective is to help the councils to reduce their water consumption. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Are you doing that just with these two council areas? ROCH CHEROUX: No, it is open to all the councils. That's something that we have offered to all the different councils. Some of them have taken that as a trial and we are supporting them. It's absolutely open to all of the councils. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: Okay, that's great. If there's anything more on notice, you can provide it. A breakdown would be useful.	I am advised: The initial Smart irrigation trial was designed as a proof of concept, to ensure Sydney Water's digital systems were compatible with the hardware and software that are needed for the Smart irrigation project. This was done with three councils – Penrith, Liverpool and Ryde. The investment from Sydney Water for these three councils was approximately $60,000, with the councils contributing through in-kind support for the trial. A total of 17 parks were set up across the three councils. The City of Sydney has signed a commercial agreement to trial smart irrigation at five of its sites. City of Sydney Council is covering all costs for its sites. Although the equipment was installed last summer, the cooler, wetter conditions meant that minimal irrigation occurred in council parks. This summer will provide more favourable conditions for gaining data regarding the water savings that can be achieved through smart irrigation. While the councils will gain a benefit from a reduction in water use, Sydney Water will also benefit through this initiative contributing to its water conservation requirements. With drier summers forecast for at least the next two years, Sydney Water is investigating how the smart irrigation project could help with drought response, enabling parks to remain green and cool, for community benefit, but only using the minimal volume of water.

77	ANDREW GEORGE: Yes, so we entered an agreement with Ason Australia, who is the proponent for the project. They are undertaking the planning work to deliver that project and we're supporting them, if and when required. That is being led by Ason Australia. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: I am happy if you can do this on notice, but is there anything that they can provide to the Committee about that project, and particularly anything in terms of how transmission line planning will work? I appreciate that you've entered into it with Ason, but if there is anything that we can get from them that would be useful to the Committee. ANDREW GEORGE: I believe the transmission line question would be better directed to EnergyCo as part of the REZ. The Hon. SARAH MITCHELL: All right, I will leave that one with you then and hand over to my colleague.	I am advised: Transmission lines required to connect the power station to the high voltage transmission network are a matter for developers and will be included in the projects planning assessment.
78	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Have any consultancy firms been engaged by the Department of Communities and Justice to advise on the establishment of Homes NSW? MICHAEL TIDBALL: Off the top of my head, no, but can I take that on notice as I would want my response to be accurate? The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: That's fine, yes. If so, can you tell us which consultancy firms and the cost of that engagement? MICHAEL TIDBALL: Of course.	I am advised: Two consultancy firms were engaged by DCJ. Departmental consultancy costs are reported in the annual report.
79	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: The application process for the CEO of Homes NSW closed just last Sunday, 29 October. Are you able to report how many applicants there are for the role? MICHAEL TIDBALL: No, I'm not, because I have not inquired. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: That's fine. Can that be taken on notice at all? MICHAEL TIDBALL: I'm very happy to take that on notice, yes. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: And come back with whatever appropriate response? MICHAEL TIDBALL: Yes.	I am advised: The recruitment process is expected to be completed in December 2023.
80	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Okay, so that's $35 million additional in maintenance this financial year. Thank you very much. What was spent on social housing maintenance in the financial year 2022-23? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: In 2022-23 there was approximately $501 million spent on maintenance. Maintenance is spent in two categories: There's recurrent operating repairs and maintenance and there's also capital upgrade maintenance. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Could you provide us with a breakdown of each? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I'll take that on notice.	I am advised: In 2022-23 LAHC spent total of $635M on repairs and maintenance which includes recurrent maintenance expenditure of $326.1M and capital maintenance expenditure of $308.9M.
81	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Yes, that's fine. How many urgent requests for maintenance to social and public properties were made in the financial year 2022-23? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: In 2022-23 there were 450,000 work orders. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: What is the average wait time for fulfilment of social and public housing maintenance? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: It does depend on the nature of the request, but I will take that on notice and come back to you.	I am advised: The Department of Communities and Justice's Housing Contact Centre and the Land and Housing Corporation's maintenance contractors both undertake tenant satisfaction surveys on an ongoing basis.

82	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Thank you very much. How many maintenance requests remain unfulfilled as of today? I expect you'll probably take that one on notice. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Absolutely. That will change on a daily basis. I'll get you that on notice.	I am advised: At any point in time there will always be work orders that have been raised but have not yet been completed.
83	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: What is the average waiting time for a maintenance request to be resolved for a plumbing issue, for instance? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Again, it depends on the nature of the plumbing incident. Obviously, a replacement kitchen or a replacement toilet will take a lot longer, but we do categorise our responses based on the urgency and the essential nature of it. Something like a broken toilet we absolutely prioritise, and our contracts have minimum standard times in terms of hours. If it is not an urgent thing like a broken toilet, the response time may be a bit longer. We can look at an average. I'm not quite sure we can give you an average because it does very much depend on the urgency and the priority of the request. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Whatever you can give us on notice, that would be appreciated; similarly, any average waiting time you have in terms of requests for mould issues to be resolved in a property as well. How many requests for maintenance to social and public properties were made in the financial year of 2022-23?	I am advised: Any maintenance reported, such as leaks, are assessed using the Asset Maintenance Services Contract's criticality repairs matrix, which is prioritised on safety and risk. All maintenance work is delivered within the established timeframes set by the criticality repairs matrix. There are multiple response timeframes within the matrix that vary between 2 hours and 20-days. For example, a reported faulty smoke detector within a building is required to be repaired within 2 hours, while a clothesline is required to be repaired within 20 days. LAHC develops upgrade programs based on Property Condition Surveys and prioritise properties of most need. As properties are assessed, additional upgrades are planned and works undertaken. At any point in time there will always be work orders that have been raised but have not yet been completed.
84	The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Has there been a tenant satisfaction survey conducted with respect to maintenance on properties? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: I would have to take that on notice. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Also, if you want to take it on notice, if it hasn't been done, is there one that is intended to be undertaken. MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Yes.	I am advised: The Department of Communities and Justice's Housing Contact Centre and the Land and Housing Corporation's maintenance contractors both undertake tenant satisfaction surveys on an ongoing basis.
85	MICHAEL WHEATLEY: We're going through a review process with INSW at the moment. Subject to that and getting that through the Gateway process to access the funds, we'll be able to confirm the timing. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Has any work been done on identifying the two other locations for that mental health housing? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: Yes. We're working with the provider, Haven, to finalise the other sites. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: What's the funding envelope for each of those locations? Is it equal apportionment of funding for each location? MICHAEL WHEATLEY: It depends on which site we choose. I will take that one on notice. The Hon. SCOTT FARLOW: Thank you very much.	I am advised: The NSW Government's funding envelope for each of the three locations will be within the total $20 million budget for the program. The Haven Foundation may contribute additional funds or finance which would increase the funding envelope for one or more of the 3 sites. As sites have not been finalised, associated costs for each site are not yet known.

86	The CHAIR: I wanted to ask about the Your Experience of Service survey. We've also heard evidence that it is perhaps not as accessible as it should be to consumers. What kind of consultation process did you go through to develop that survey in its current form? BRENDAN FLYNN: I admit that I did not hear that evidence. I've tried to attend most of the hearings, but I didn't hear that. I may outline what I know and, if there's anything else, I will take it on notice. The Your Experience of Service survey is a national tool. That is used along with a carer experience of service – the YES and CES surveys – that we take very seriously, because they tell us how we are doing both in terms of inpatient care and community care. Our community results are actually, generally – there is always more work to do, but they are generally quite positive. Again, I am happy to take this on notice, but I think there potentially are issues for people who may have English as not their first language. Sometimes they are offered on an iPad. That may be difficult for some people. If someone has issues with literacy, the traditional pen and paper pathway may be difficult. The thing that we can do most about, which we do work very hard on, is ensuring our staff offer the Your Experience of Service survey option for consumers both in their community and inpatient units to fill out. But I may be missing some information that was presented in evidence around other difficulties. The CHAIR: You have named a couple of those groups already, and I am not open to the right page; I am open to home visit safety. If I recall correctly, off the top of my head, it was people with intellectual disability where we'd heard that evidence. BRENDAN FLYNN: Yes, okay. DEB WILLCOX: In the last survey, Dr Cohn, just over 21,000 consumers participated. It's a reasonable spread, but we expect there would be many more people of the nature that you have described where we could get greater penetration. The CHAIR: Absolutely. What work is done to ensure that sample is actually representative? If you know you have a certain number of patients with intellectual disability, is there any data analysis to actually assess whether you are getting the expected number of surveys from that group? BRENDAN FLYNN: Yes. I can take that on notice. I suspect the answer might be something along the lines of the proportion of individuals who are identified as having an intellectual disability and the proportion of returns that we get. We can do our best to answer that. The CHAIR: I would be really interested in people with intellectual disabilities as well as the other groups that you named.	I am advised: The Your Experience of Service (YES) questionnaire is a national tool used across Australian public mental health services. NSW has the largest and most representative YES feedback across Australia. Where most surveys use a sampling method to ensure representativeness, NSW offers YES on a continuous basis so that all consumers have an opportunity to provide feedback on their experience. In NSW, YES is available both on paper and online. It has been translated into 35 community languages. Since YES was implemented in 2015, more than 157,000 surveys have been completed about hospital and community mental health services. YES feedback is broadly representative of the people accessing care in NSW public mental health services. In community settings, young people (less than 24 years) and people receiving care for less than 24 hours are underrepresented. The YES Advisory Committee, which has representatives from each local health district, specialty health network, consumer and carer peak bodies and NSW Ministry of Health, continues to support services to reach these groups. To understand how representative YES feedback is, responses to demographic questions in the survey are compared to demographic information collected about people accessing services. As YES does not ask people to include information about their diagnosis or if they have an intellectual disability, there is currently no way to determine how many people with an intellectual disability complete the survey.

87	The CHAIR: It's something that I've had feedback that can be really highly variable between local government areas. What should the State Government be doing to improve the platform of young people with local government? ZOË ROBINSON: We have done work previously with the Minister for Local Government, and actually we have run a number of training sessions for local governments who have come to us and said that they want to have a youth advisory council. We have a very clear document that helps people set up a youth advisory council, and we've had some key councils who have come to us. I can provide that list on notice in terms of those councils that we've worked with in terms of establishing their own youth advisory council. The CHAIR: Please. ZOË ROBINSON: I don't think, off the top of my head, we've done anything this year but I know previously we've done a lot of work in terms of local governments sharing the information of the work that we're doing, sharing in terms of how children and young people can participate. Always there's work to be done to ensure children and young people are participating at all levels of government. But certainly we have run a number of training sessions, and I can provide them on notice. The CHAIR: Thank you. I'd really appreciate that list of councils on notice.	I am advised: ACYP collaboration and engagement with NSW Local Government and Local Council representatives Specialised training ACYP have provided a range of trainings to children and young people, local council child & youth staff teams. These trainings have included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Advocacy training - Child Right training - Participation and voice training Councils who have undertaken the training provided include Camden Council, Canterbury Bankstown Council, Tamworth Council, Griffith Council, Albury Council, Lake Macquarie Council, George's River Council, Shoalhaven and Albury City Council. Events Between 2021 and 2023 the ACYP team have collaborated with a range of local councils to arrange children and young people activities in communities NSW. These have included forums, workshops and events in Eurobodalla Shire Council, Tweed Shire, Canterbury Bankstown Council and Albury Council. Presentations The ACYP team frequently attend and provides presentations at online forums, and face to face events for local council staff. During these events ACYP provided information and guidance regarding best practice when engaging with children and young people, child protection, Child Safe standards, participation in practice, Child Rights and Advocacy. These have included: Youth Development Network LGYDN (ongoing) - The Local Government Youth Development Network LGYDN is a network of youth development workers in local government areas who facilitate youth services that engage young people and support them. 88	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Following on from the last question in relation to the villages up north, did you receive any feedback from young people about any anti-social behaviour or any challenges that they may face living in their villages? ZOE ROBINSON: We have received feedback in terms of children and young people, from their perspective, being able to have friends come and access to see them like you would in a normal capacity of having friends over. We've certainly had that feedback. I have more detailed notes in this folder that I'm happy to share with the Committee. But I know that we've certainly heard in terms of their engagement with their friends being able to come and visit, and I think there have been matters in terms of safety that have been raised, but I can provide detail to that on notice.	I am advised: The ACYP has consulted with children and young people living in pod villages, and asked about their biggest worry living in the pods. Young people have described some anti-social behaviour amongst other key challenges such as the following (in their words): - <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - security – "too relaxed – arrive to the scene after conflict finishes/yelling at us" - There is a need for front and rear security – more present - Design of pods - Not enough lights - Belongings being stolen - Not having a fenced perimeter means anyone can walk through the village at any given time - "Bad People" entering the villages, syringes in the gardens - Dogs around off lead - Struggling with school assignments – no internet. The ACYP Recovery Youth Support Service team works closely with the village housing providers and the Reconstruction Authority to elevate this feedback and collaboratively seek to address it.
89	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That'd be fine. Just in relation to youth, so following on more broadly – and these might be more for Mr Tidball – in relation to the announcement that was in the budget around the multicultural youth network program, does your department have any dealing or oversight of that? I'm happy for you to take it on notice. MICHAEL TIDBALL: My initial answer is no, but I will confirm that and report back.	I am advised: Multicultural NSW is leading the multicultural youth network program – to be delivered in early 2024.
90	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: If it is under the Minister for Youth, I'm interested to know the selection process for the new platform, they call it, and also the budget that has been allocated to it as well. In relation to Youth Week, how much has been allocated this financial year for it? MICHAEL TIDBALL: I will need to take that on notice.	The 2023/2024 budget has allocated $500,000 for Youth Week.
91	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That's fine. The other thing is in relation to the youth participation and inclusion budget and also the rural and remote subsidy. I'm interested to know, and happy for you to take on notice, how many councils were eligible for the subsidy – that is the rural and remote subsidy – and how many councils took up that subsidy, and then also how much has been allocated in the budget for the youth participation and inclusion budget and if there is an allocation of funds for the future year. MICHAEL TIDBALL: I'll take those on notice, if I may.	I am advised: The Regional, Rural and Remote Subsidy is a component of the funding that is provided to NSW Local Councils in support of Youth Week. 95 Local Councils were eligible annually. 83 Local Councils took up the subsidy available for Youth Week 2023. The Youth Participation and Inclusion Budget in 2023/24 is $4,630,230. The Youth Participation and Inclusion Budget is recurrent.

92	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That's fine. The next one is in relation to mental health and the Youth Aftercare Pilot. Interested to know when does the pilot end. BRENDAN FLYNN: I would have to take that on notice. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: If you could also take on notice how many participated in the pilot, funding that was allocated for the pilot, whether or not the pilot will be evaluated and also — I understand that it is or has been operating in Bankstown, Blacktown, Coffs Harbour, Tamworth, and it was announced that a new site would be up and running in Western Sydney — whether or not that has occurred. BRENDAN FLYNN: We'll take that on notice. DEB WILLCOX: I could just add, if I may, that you're quite right, of course: four sites — Mount Druitt, Coffs Harbour, Tamworth and Bankstown — for young people at increased risk of suicide, as you stated, or self-harm. Eleven million dollars from 2021 has been invested as part of it. It's a partnership between NSW Health and the Australian Government through the Health Innovation Fund. The service is currently funded till 30 June next year. We'll follow up on those additional questions that you asked and the evaluation.	I am advised: Funding of $10.4 million supports the four pilots until June 2024, inclusive of an independent evaluation. Presently, there are no plans to establish an additional Western Sydney pilot beyond the current Blacktown/Mt Druitt pilot site. All pilot sites have worked to expand their catchments within relevant local health districts as capacity and service links have been established. Between June 2021 and October 2023, 480 children and young people have been accepted into the Youth Aftercare pilots across the 4 sites
93	The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: That'd be good. Thank you. The other one is the suicide prevention outreach teams. I'm interested to know the number of services that are actually operating. BRENDAN FLYNN: There are currently 10 SPOT teams. That's rural and regionally. But I'd have to take the total number in New South Wales on notice, unless I can come up with that in a moment. But they have been, in fact, quite pleasingly, rolled out since we've had the funding for those under Towards Zero. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: How long has it been funded for? BRENDAN FLYNN: The Towards Zero funding is over four years. From memory, it's till 2026. After that we would need to be presenting its evaluation to the Minister and to go from there. The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Then I'm happy for you to take this on notice: how many people it has assisted and whether that is available by region or LGA? BRENDAN FLYNN: For the SPOT teams? The Hon. NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES: Yes. BRENDAN FLYNN: Yes. We'll take that on notice. Thank you.	I am advised: There are 17 Suicide Prevention Outreach Teams. Suicide Prevention Outreach Teams are funded under Towards Zero Suicides over 4 years to 2025-26. Question on Notice 63 - Attachment
Vaping recommendations and research

Recommendations	Findings from vaping research
As proposed as new legislation at the time of drafting, the Australian Government Department of Health and Aged Care should expand existing legislation related to tobacco advertising, plain packaging and graphic health warnings to include e-cigarette products.	The flavour, packaging and taste were seen as appealing to young people. Vaping was also seen as cost-effective. There were also discussions in the groups about companies glamourising vapes to seem cool or fun, making them colourful and creating flavours that appeal to young people. Most focus groups noted that changing the appearance would make vaping less appealing.
The eSafety Commissioner should explore opportunities to prohibit advertising of e-cigarettes, if able to be classified as Class 2 material "inappropriate for children and young people under 18 years old" under the Online Safety Act 2021, on social media platforms.	ACYP's research highlighted the widespread promotion of vaping online, and that they found it hard to access factual information. However, in contrast to the promotion of factual information, many young people did speak about seeing vape sale ads; videos of people doing "tricks with vapes" which encouraged young people to vape as a fun activity. Photos of high-profile athletes vaping in uniform and in their personal capacity deepens the misconception that vaping as relatively harmless. The few young people that reported seeking information relating to vaping said they found it extremely difficult and confusing. They reported there were a lot of mixed messages and a lack of consistent factual information online.
Invest in NSW Health inspectors to continue existing enforcement work regarding the illegal sale of e-cigarettes in retail settings and online.	Young people explained there are few barriers preventing them from obtaining vapes and could list several different methods to access vapes, regardless of whether they lived in a regional or metropolitan area. Methods included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Buying vapes from shops themselves or with the help of an older friend or family member; •Buying from the internet, "Snapchat dealers" or other messaging platforms; and •Using shared vapes between groups of friends, or less commonly, family. •Cost was rarely seen as a barrier to vaping however it was sometimes provided as a reason not to vape. Accessibility also played a significant role in the reasons why young people vape. The majority of young people shared vapes and noted that vapes can be easily purchased or accessed from peers, even if they do not access it themselves. All young people agreed and reiterated on numerous occasions that stopping the sale of vapes is fundamental to reducing vaping amongst young people. Easy access to vapes encourages young people to start, and also discourages them from quitting, reporting them as being "everywhere". There is an understanding among some young people, especially those that openly admit to vaping, that the lack of regulation implies vaping use is not harmful.
Local councils should continue to invest in free and accessible recreation programs and spaces to provide young people with positive alternatives to engaging in vaping. This will also act as a diversion away from engaging in alcohol and other drugs, as well as promoting positive community engagement.	Asked about what supports would help young people stop vaping, they rated alternative hobbies, as well nicotine gum as the second most preferred option. Young people suggested this include providing young people with information about: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Alternative activities like fidget toys and sports that can promote natural endorphins rather than fabricated "happy chemicals"; and •Stress-relief behaviours and practices including
Advertising campaigns should include a variety of different information points to remain fresh and equip young people with a deeper understanding of the health harms of vaping. ACYP welcomes the ongoing commitment to test advertising campaigns with young people.	Young people spoke about using social media and influencers, or other people that young people relate to and connect with, to deliver education messaging around the dangers and negative impacts of vaping use. A few young people noted banning vaping by influencers on social media would prevent this being another factor that encourages young people. Young people also saw themselves as playing an important role in developing the messaging.

Supports for young people should be co-designed with, tested and evaluated by young people.

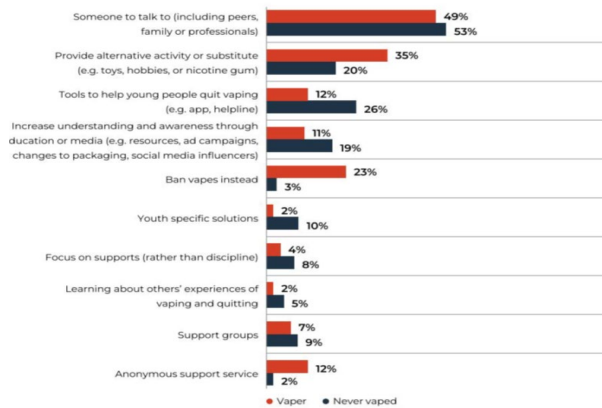

Develop a suite of supports, rather than a single approach, to ensure more young people are able to find a support suitable for them.

Young people in consultations reported someone to talk to was the most important feature of supports to help a young person to quit vaping. Confidentiality and trust were key to this, as was any support being provided by a young person (under 35 years).

In discussions, young people agreed the top three choices were in-person support, app-based support, and social media. At an overall level, young people reported an in-person peer support group was the support they were most likely use (44% reported they were somewhat or very likely to use it) and it ranked it as the most preferred option overall (35%). However, there was some variation between those who vape compared to those who do not. Those who vape were most likely to use an app (43%) and were more likely to indicate this was their preferred option overall (29%). Those who do not vape were most likely to use an in-person peer support group (46%) and more likely to rate this as their preferred option (36%). ACYP notes this difference may account for the fact many young people raised the fear of judgement or awkwardness in relation to accessing face-to-face support which is somewhat removed through an app and social media.

When asked about what supports would help young people to quite vaping, they spontaneously suggested a variety of supports, and these differed according to vaping status, as per the graph to the right. Students in the consultations also supported different ideas to assist them in stopping, whilst someone to talk to was the most popular option by both vapers and non-vaper, there were differences in how students viewed the likelihood of other supports.

Groups across schools spoke about the lack of awareness of websites and support available. A few groups strongly recommended that there should be more effort through paid advertising on social media to make young people aware that these websites exist. Instagram reels or stories, Snapchat, and Tik Tok were all identified as great ways to get information to young people. These suggested promotions should be led by role models, sporting stars, celebrities, and influencers for maximum impact, and would be far more effective than from health departments. However, they should point to reliable, government websites with important information.
